Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DEVICE: (Q.) I am a girl, age 16, going with a boy, age 17, and I have a question. I am too timid to ask my boy friend and I know my mother and father would not tell me. They tell me nothing.

Here is the question. In intercourse, which I know very little about, a man or boy wears a rubber device. Why? — Uninformed in Pennsylvania.

(A.) The device is a contraceptive. Its purpose is to keep the female from becoming pregnant. There are several ways of preventing pregnancy. This is one of the older and simpler methods.

If you are saying to me that your friend and you are having intercourse and you are completely uninformed about sex, you are in considerable danger. Your parents should have talked to you about the facts of sex. I must assume they haven't. Go to your school or public library and ask for a book on the subject suitable for girls your age. Study it, carefully.

Longer Weekends And Fatter Check

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — About 200 of the 4,000 employees at the Texas Instruments plant here will go on a New York schedule Dec. 1 that will result in longer weekends and bigger paychecks.

A Texas Instruments spokesman said the new schedule is "a compressed work week" with four teams of employees. Each team will work three 12-hour shifts a week plus a fourth 12-hour shift every other week.

Weekly pay checks officials said, should be higher for the 200 workers affected because of overtime premiums.

'True' Demo, Says Connally

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally says if he were to seek political office again it would again be as a Democrat.

The former Texas governor told newsmen Sunday he will not change political parties. His comment came in response to a question about speculation he might be President Nixon's vice presidential choice next year.

Connally agreed there are rumors that Nixon might offer him the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket in 1972 if the administration's economic program is successful, but he said there already is resentment within the Republican party to his cabinet appointment.

Russian Jew Emigres Gain

GENEVA (AP) — Some 8,000 to 9,000 Soviet Jews were allowed to leave Russia and were helped to Israel by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration this year. John F. Thomas, American director of ICEM, told newsmen Friday the year's total of Soviet Jewish emigrants compares with only about 200 annually in previous years.

year I had to go to bed at eight o'clock. I am now 12 and in the seventh grade and I asked my father if I could not stay up until nine. He said yes, and he said my 10-year-old sister could also stay up until 9. My eight-year-old sister still has to go to bed at eight.

I like my new bedtime but don't think it is fair that I had to go to bed at eight for two years longer than my sister did. What do you think? — Upset in Oregon.

(A.) Look at it this way: You are a pioneer. Older sisters and brothers often find themselves in this role. They break the trail and the younger ones have easier going. But breaking trails makes a person strong and resourceful. By being the oldest you get this extra benefit.

Whipping A Dead Horse

Democratic farm state senators may well be whipping a dead horse in their attacks on Earl L. Butz, President Nixon's choice for secretary of agriculture.

The theme of their verbal assault is familiar: They fear the President's nominee won't show a great enough zeal in saving that cherished symbol of a simpler time, the small family farm.

There's just one trouble with this complaint. Politicians have been in the business of saving the small family farm since the 1930s with the result that the number of farms has steadily grown smaller, while their size has grown larger.

The simple truth is that the business of agriculture has been revolutionized like most other forms of endeavor.

Mechanization has produced vast changes. One of these is the rapid decline in the need for unskilled farm labor which has caused a great migration of unemployed to the cities where they have swelled welfare rolls. There has been little concern with this among members of the farm bloc, just as there has been a lack of concern by urban solons for problems pertaining to agriculture.

The other change, of course, is the trend to larger farms which can properly and economically utilize the great new breakthroughs in farm technology. This is a trend that will continue regardless of who sits as secretary of agriculture.

Good Direction Needed

An authoritative publication, Jane's Weapons Systems 1971-72, has come up with a report that the Soviet Union is outstripping the West in weapons technology.

Predictably, this led immediately to Senate critics of military spending to blame the weapons lag on Pentagon waste, not efforts by Congress to trim defense money.

The Jane's editors cited Soviet advances in naval armaments, an operational antimissile system around Moscow, an early-warning radar system and "fragmentary evidence" of a number of other emerging weapons including a supersonic swinging bomber.

There is waste in the Pentagon. But there has always been waste in the Pentagon and the West has still managed to maintain a clear lead in the development of sophisticated weapons in the past.

What is needed is direction. The lesson is there in the history of our space program. When we lagged in that area, our best efforts were channeled to that program. Startling advances were the result. The same can be accomplished with military technology, and should be. More than prestige is involved here.

That 20-Hour Week

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another: What will you do for leisure when the 20-hour work week gets here? Many of the profound thinkers of our time think it's coming soon.

"WE MUST CREATE a stable economy in which the average person works only 20 hours a week," the noted author of the best-selling "The Population Bomb," Paul Ehrlich, said recently.

Ehrlich maintains that by trimming the average workweek to 20 hours, we can effectively double the number of jobs and soothe everyone's puritan ethic.

THE ANSWER? Let's see, that figures out to four five-hour days, or five four-hour days. Some people I know who have a great appetite for work put in that many hours in one day's work schedule.

Regrettably, those kind of people never trust leisure, never know how to relax. For some reason, they get the idea they're living in sin if they get a couple of days off.

They grouse about their aches and pains and the proximity of the grindstone, but I don't think they'd live very long if they enjoyed perfect health and had a weekly duty assignment that never exceeded 20 hours.

HAVE YOU EVER wondered about how your obituary will read? You're in the minority if you haven't. As the year stretch out behind, that becomes a fascinating part of the paper for many newspaper readers.

I've long subscribed to the theory that most obituaries are too impersonal, that there is something in every person's life with which he can point with pride, that sets him apart from his fellow man. Newcomers to the newspaper industry are often assigned to writing obituaries. The theory is that it is the easiest assignment. Many an obituary is treasured by a family, however, especially if they are done well.

I LIKED THE STORY of that woman who went into the office of a small town paper several years ago to insert an obituary of her husband in the next issue.

She supplied the writer with a glowing account of her husband's contribution to her family's happiness and to mankind in general. On the morning after the story was printed, she returned to the author to say:

"That was a fine write-up. I only wish he could have lived a day or two longer because he sure would have liked it."

HOUSTON IS A GREAT and thriving city with a zest for living, a community with economic muscle. To me, it is also one of many cities which has grown too fast too quickly where you can wake up in the morning to the sounds of birds coughing.

Who Checks It?

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although the Senate has passed a bill which permits each taxpayer to designate on his income-tax return a contribution to a political party for financing a presidential campaign, the fate of the measure — if it should get through the conference committee with the House — is in doubt. President Nixon could veto it, and a two-thirds vote to override his action is not likely.

BUT EVEN IF, as is possible under the Senate bill, 20 million dollars were made available to the Democrats and 20 million dollars to the Republicans and 6 million dollars to a third party, this is not all the expense that would be incurred in a political campaign. Indeed, the government would have to pay a large sum to see that the funds were used properly. It would require either law-enforcement machinery of considerable size or else the time and expense of existing agencies.

For when money is spent by political parties during campaigns, many acts can be committed which are not legal. How would the money from the federal treasury be spent by the parties? There could, of course, be organizations set up with personnel in the different states authorized to build up vote-getting groups in various localities. But in what ways would money be expended to attract voters? Would there be luncheons and dinners and other free meals given to prospective supporters of a particular candidate as campaigns are planned? Could taxpayers' money be used for any kind of gifts or souvenirs to win the attendance of citizens at political meetings?

PAID WORKERS would be more numerous than ever before, and they could be making pledges to prospective voters. Would they promise, for instance, that the party's candidate might give supporters rewards if he wins the election? The use of money to get votes has always been a controversial subject, and it has been difficult to fix the blame for assurances given to citizens during campaigns about some form of reward if they vote for a certain ticket.

IF TAXPAYERS' funds are provided to help a political party win an election, wouldn't the federal government have the responsibility to supervise campaigns more closely and determine whether the money is being properly spent?

For many decades, both of the major parties have had little difficulty collecting funds from citizens to help finance the cost of campaigns in the states and cities. National nominees have, of course, had the benefit of these drives to get votes for the party ticket.

MOST REPUBLICANS in Congress are against the bill that would make possible the use of taxpayers' funds for political financing, while the Democrats overwhelmingly favor it. The final decision will have to be made by President Nixon if the tax-cut bill contains this provision when it reaches him. His refusal to sign the bill would delay enactment of the law which he has asked for as part of his new economic program. Mr. Nixon feels that the progress of the country on the economic side would be helped if the tax reductions in the proposed legislation were allowed to be enacted soon.

SO THE COUNTRY is seeing another example of what happens when Congress is controlled by the Democratic party while a Republican holds the presidency.

Education Makes Money?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The question will always be debated: Does higher education lead to greater income, or is educational achievement merely evidence of the same drive that later makes a person a money-maker?

Most people feel there is a direct cause-effect relationship, that the person with the college degree has learned skills that sell for the highest rate in the marketplace.

But who can deny that there isn't an element of the other position, that the allegedly superior person is so ambitious to succeed that he seeks out the education? Is the relationship cause-effect or incidental?

RELATIONSHIP

While the debate goes on, the empirical evidence shows that the higher the educational achievement the higher the income, and that anyone who wishes to challenge the cause-effect proponents does so at great risk.

The Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan finds that among families with incomes of $25,000 or more, 69 per cent of the family heads had at least some college training. By contrast, of those families with income of less than $3,000 some 65 per cent of the breadwinners had less than 12 grades of education.

Findings such as this by the center makes it one of the nation's great storehouses of information for those who wish to keep up with the Joneses—or at least not far behind—although its real purpose is far more academic and serious.

HALF IN DEBT

How do you compare in your use of installment credit? The Center's 1970 survey shows that slightly less than half of all American families had outstanding installment debt in early 1970.

Thirteen per cent of families were found to have more than $2,000 in bills, and about 11 per cent were trying to pay off bills ranging from $1,000 to $2,000.

This doesn't mean that Americans don't have savings side by side with debt. Many families do. In fact, during the same period, only 16 per cent of families had no savings at all.

Close to two-thirds of all families were found to have savings accounts—maybe it should be said that one-third don't—and the percentage holding more than $5,000 in cash deposits and bonds were determined to be 21 per cent.

SAVINGS ACCOUNT

The survey showed that the median holding—half above, half below—was $1,300 for savings accounts, and that 75 per cent of all families had checking accounts, with the median holding being $250.

From The Mail Bag

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The older you get the more likely you are to need a hospital. One out of four people over 65 is hospitalized each year, compared with one out of seven for people between the ages of 45 and 64.

Why driving and drinking don't mix: taking just three drinks before driving will increase your chances of having an accident by one thousand per cent.

Buddhist monks in Thailand lead lives of barest poverty. Their only possessions are an alms bowl for begging, a sling to carry it, and a set of saffron robes. The robes are traditionally marked only with a circle not to be larger "than the pupil of the eye of a peacock."

COOL, MAN, COOL

Feel like going swimming? Members of the Walrus Club in Leningrad are pledged to take a swim in the Neva River every day of the year. They plunge in even when the temperature dips to 20 degrees below zero and a channel has to be hacked in the ice.

When migrating, male redwing blackbirds make a stag party of it by flying ahead first. The females trail after them a few weeks later.

Quotable notables: "A man never sees all that his mother has been to him until it is too late to let her know that he sees it."—William Dean Howells.

BAD MONDAY

Folklore: Servant girls break more dishes on Monday than any other day. Tuesday is the only day of the week on which it is unlucky to meet a left-handed person the first thing in the morning. Wednesday is a lucky day to be born on but a bad day to begin a journey. Thursday is a good day to complete a difficult task.

It was Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr., who observed, "Life is a great bundle of little things."

Woodpeckers have drilled and filled with acorns as many as 30,000 holes in a single tree.

Worth remembering: "Never trust a woman who tells her real age. A woman who would tell that would tell anything."

Items worth forgetting: The largest railroad shipment of matches in the history of the United States—its 20 carloads contained 810 million matches—went from Wheeling, W.Va., to Memphis, Tenn., on Aug. 26, 1933. So far as is known, not a match was lost.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I believe that most of the problems of this world are caused by ignorance. If we had more educated people there would be fewer problems. H.Y.

There is a vast difference between possessing knowledge and applying it to our lives. I have heard drunkards argue about the evils of alcohol, and yet they were not able to conquer the lust for drink in their own lives. Most narcotic addicts are fully aware of the consequences of addiction, but are helpless to help themselves. All of us are acquainted with doctors who lecture their patients about over-eating, and they themselves are unable to cope with their weight problem.

I disagree that education in itself is the answer to our moral and spiritual problems. It is one thing to believe a thing in your head, and another to let it be seen in your life. That is why, after observing human nature on every continent, that I am more convinced than ever that Jesus was right when He said we must be born again. I have seen highly educated people go bad morally. They knew better, but they were powerless to do better. Education is important, but it must be coupled to life, and faith in God gives us the capability to do this. The Bible holds the promise that for those who trust Him "sin shall not master you."

A Devotion For Today . . .

God . . . richly furnishes us with everything to enjoy. (1 Timothy 6:17, RSV)

PRAYER: God, give me clear vision and a firm purpose that I may live worthily of my calling in Christ. Amen.

Violence Toll In Texas Heavy During Holiday

By The Associated Press
Seven persons died in private plane crash and eight motorists perished in a highway collision as the toll from violence in Texas soared during the Thanksgiving weekend.

In addition to air and ground traffic, shootings and other causes helped swell the number of fatalities to 55 during the holiday period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

The total included 31 deaths on streets and highways.

A collision on a curve near Del Rio, so violent it was described as sounding like an explosion, killed seven persons in a station wagon and the lone occupant of a car Saturday.

Those in the station wagon were Jose Villanueva, 31, of San Antonio; his wife Victoria, 21; their sons Frank 2, and Eddie, 1; Sylvia Villanueva, 20, a sister of Jose; and two cousins of the family, Juan Cardena, 18, and his sister Lupe, 17. Joe K. York III, 18, of Brackettville was driving the car.

Among others who died were: Ben Willis and his daughter Ray Annette, 12, of Greenville died in a one-car accident near the edge of Dallas while en route home from a family reunion at Temple. Mrs. Willis and two other children were injured.

An auto crash eight miles west of Van Horn on Interstate 10 Sunday took the lives of Raul Mollineade, 59, of Carrollton and his wife Clara, 61.

Russell Pineda, 24, was stabbed Sunday night at Rockport and died about an hour later at a Corpus Christi hospital. Police held a suspect.

Stanley Crockett, 29, of Dallas died Sunday of a gunshot wound. A medical examiner ruled that Crockett shot himself Saturday after killing his wife.

Barnes Calls For Restoring 'Sanity To Welfare System'

MERCEDES, Tex. (AP) — Taking his gubernatorial campaign to the people, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes told an appreciation bar-becue crowd Sunday that Texas must "restore some sanity to the welfare system."

"We must break the cycle of poverty that traps thousands of people from the day they are born until the day they die. But we will never do it with welfare alone and we won't survive as a society unless we restore some sanity to the welfare system," he told the largest crowd yet of his campaign.

Barnes cited the close alliance of supporters from 30 South Texas counties with a sprinkling of Spanish phrases and the ad-words of the import-export problems on the Rio Grande.

"I think the 10 per cent sur-charge on imports from Mexico has created more problems than lives, or how much money he makes or the color of his skin dent Nixon will lift the sur-charge," he said.

Several small boys waved placards reading: "Ben is Bear," "Ben is Groovy" and "Ben for President."

borgs give their citizens the same duty-free allowance on goods purchased on this side of the border that we give our citizens on goods bought in Mexico," he added.

Everybody Fights

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (AP) — Two teenage amateur boxers stopped mixing it up in the ring and burst out crying when they saw their fathers fighting in the audience. The parental dispute became free for all when would-be peacemakers started brawling.

Veterans Day

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am really teed off! All my life I have celebrated Veterans Day on Nov. 11. Now, all of a sudden it has been changed to Oct. 25. I realize that when a holiday falls on Friday or a Monday it gives the working people an extra bonus of a three-day weekend, but to actually change the date of a national holiday in order to make it come out that way is absolutely stupid! Nobody flew their flags on Veterans Day this year. And who could blame them! It just didn't seem like Veterans Day. Next thing you know, they'll be changing Christmas and the Fourth of July. Sign me: DISGUSTED IN CHICAGO

DEAR ABBY: Re "Mad in Maine" — the parents who were mad because an uncle took their children out of camp for an evening without their permission: The camp was badly at fault for releasing the children to anyone, even though he claimed to be their uncle, without express approval from the parents. And the uncle was at fault for not making his arrangements through the parents.

Sorry, I had to disagree with you when you said the parents were needlessly overexercised. I am an old-timer, and both a parent and former headmaster in a boys' boarding school. E. A. BOCA RATON, FLA.

DEAR E. A.: Mea culpa! Ten whacks with a ruler, or never you headmasters used whack the boys with when they needed it.

DEAR ABBY: Do you remember the Greenleaf kidnapping of 18 to 20 years ago?

A couple arrived at a private school here in Kansas City, said they were Bobby's aunt and uncle, and walked out with the boy. He was later found — murdered.

Today, we do not let a child out of school in this town. Abby, please don't encourage any more uncles.

Yorty To Attend Texas Demo Meet

AUSTIN (AP) — Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, announced Democratic presidential candidate, plans to attend the Texas Democratic state-wide fund-raising dinner in Austin Dec. 6. Texas Democratic Chairman Roy Orr said Saturday.

Yorty joins Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., whose attendance already has been announced.

The $25 a plate dinner is to be preceded by a $1,000 per person reception.

Orr said other prominent Democratic figures have been invited to join the Austin gathering which the party considers its kickoff for the 1972 campaign.

Kinds Of Milk

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would this does not alter the protein, calcium or phosphorus values, but does reduce the vitamins A and D.

Many pediatricians recommend 2 per cent milk because youngsters all need the protein and mineral content, but not all need as much fat as whole milk provides. It depends on the child. If the 2 per cent milk isn't already fortified with vitamins A and D, the doctor can prescribe a vitamin supplement.

Skim milk goes a long step farther in removing the fat, leaving only about 0.1 or 0.2 per cent. This brings down the calorie level, and also reduces the vitamin content to a very low figure, but the protein and minerals (calcium and phosphorus) are still there.

Evaporated milk has about half of the water removed. Vitamin D is added. This can be reconstituted by adding water.

Condensed milk is evaporated milk to which milk sugar (lactose) has been added, increasing the calorie value.

Still another (and often useful) form is dried non-fat milk, frequently used when calories must be limited. It is, when you get right down to it, skim milk with all the water removed, so when it is reconstituted by adding water, you have the same characteristics as skim milk.

Buttermilk has the same food value as skim milk.

Yogurt can be made from either whole milk or skim milk, so the food value will correspond to whatever was used. Again the protein-calcium-phosphorus content is maintained.

Suggesting which kind of milk to give a growing child depends on the child, on what else he eats, whether he is too fat or too thin. Best let your doctor guide you on this, but in general the overweight child is far better off with low fat or skim milk, while the thin child can make good use of the calories in whole milk.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Where does the term "plastic surgery" come from, and does cosmetic surgery of the nose leave prominent scars? Would you recommend plastic surgery for someone emotionally bothered by a misshapen feature? — E.D.

"Plastic" means that something has the capability of being molded, or shaped, so "plastic surgery" involves the reshaping of some part of the body (not always the face). The terms reconstructive and cosmetic surgery are also used.

Surgery on the nose usually leaves no visible scars at all, since the incisions ordinarily can be made inside the nose.

In your final question, yes, plastic surgery is quite often done because someone is emotionally bothered by some feature. The question has to be answered in terms of how much emotional turmoil is involved and how truly misshapen the feature is.

Gap Between Rich And Poor Major Disaster

EDITOR'S NOTE — South of the border there's a saying: "Poor Mexico — so far from God and so near the United States!" You see money has built up the economy of the United States and poverty. The present of this situation is detailed in this and the subsequent articles showing the problems the Mexican government is trying to deal with.

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Luis Echeverria, entering his second year as leader of the Mexican people, is beset on all sides by problems so huge they forecast basic structural changes in every phase of life.

Many of the problems the 49-year-old president faces are natural in any rapidly developing nation. Some are especially Mexican; these are giving him the most trouble.

FANCY TALK

If Echeverria can find solutions to even half those problems before his six-year term ends he will become one of the greatest leaders in Mexican history. Otherwise his countrymen will write him off as another politician who made a lot of fancy talk.

The problems enter all phases of Mexican life. They include high unemployment and a widening gap between the wealth of few and the poverty of many, as well as corruption, fear and oppression.

The president, who finishes his first year Tuesday, brought some of his difficulties on himself by facing things previous presidents ignored or fostered. He has created enemies within his own party, alienated some businessmen, scared foreign investors and increased distrust from extremists while moving the Mexican government steadily to the left of center.

SOLID FOUNDATION

As many see it, the president has a solid foundation on which to stand while he tries to push Mexico toward the social, political and economic balance he seeks. For almost half a century this foundation has made Mexico look like a stable, growing developed world. The growth of its gross national product over the past four decades has been surpassed by only two or three nations in the world. For 10 consecutive years that rate of increase has been at least 6 per cent. Last year it topped 7 per cent for the second time.

U.S. investment has poured into the country. The Bank of Mexico estimates there is $2.94 billion in direct, private U.S. investment in Mexico. The U.S. Embassy believes 75,000 Americans live in the country. Millions more cross the 2,013-mile border each year to sample the taste and culture of Mexico.

First-time tourists are surprised to find Mexico City a metropolis of almost eight million people. They see hundreds of thousands of cars jamming the capital's wide boulevards and narrow 17th century streets. They sleep in luxurious hotels and dine in restaurants which can hold their own with almost any in the world.

WAY OF LIFE

But there is a different Mexico, where poverty is a way of life. It is a Mexico where 40 per cent of the homes have one room.

The gap between rich and poor has become a major disaster in the Mexican economy. Echeverria is dedicating much of his energy and efforts to this problem. And these efforts are creating problems for him among those who have controlled the nation's wealth.

As Mexico emphasized its industrial growth the government gave special advantage to the captains of commerce. Low taxes, protectionism, low wages and tame unions produced high profits and heavy investment.

While holding the door open for business, and thereby creating an upper-class elite, Mexico did less for those on the bottom of the pile than many other major Latin-American countries.

To force a redistribution of the country's resources, Echeverria has started measures the business community views as overly drastic. He reworked the tax law to increase revenue from corporations, pushed through a 10 per cent luxury tax, started taxing all capital gains, reduced depreciation writeoffs and put more teeth in laws governing personal income tax.

He has started rural irrigation and modernization plans and has other plans which his aides feel will give the lower classes a bigger share in national income.

FARMING REFORM

The country has been a leader in agriculture reform. Millions of Mexicans receive benefits from a forward-looking social security-medical care program. Mexico has been a leader in labor legislation and public education.

Agriculture reform has not solved the country's rural problems. Hundreds of thousands of people till land so marginal they cannot properly feed themselves, much less produce a cash crop.

Mexico's revolution was basically an agrarian revolution. Yet a tiny percentage of farms, large holdings still in private hands, account for more than half the farm produce.

More than a third of the Mexican work force tills the land. For all but a few the income is marginal, the existence almost subhuman. A person living in direct poverty in the United States would be considered wealthy in some parts of rural Mexico. There almost 13 million people have a per capita income of $2 a day. Almost half a million exist on 16 cents a day.

MAOIST FASHIONS — These knit fashions for spring were shown by John Carr Doughty at the designer's showing in London Saturday. The Shanghai trouser suits are worn with tunics featuring bold Chinese slogans in Oriental pink, Chinese brick and celestial yellow. The phrases were selected from the "thoughts of Chairman Mao" and were chosen for their aesthetic qualities of design rather than their meaning, which is unknown to the designer.

A LOVELIER YOU Ideas For Whispering In Your Santa's Ear

By MARY SUE MILLER

Do you remember how you stuck up before a childhood visit to the true and only Santa at your family's favorite department store? That day, if ever, little girls brushed their hair to shining perfection. You whispered your hopes in Santa's ear and vowed to be good forever.

Have you been good? Certainly! Is your hair shining perfection? Certainly not! Who's your favorite Santa? Here are some "whisper" ideas:

"Please, Santa, I crave a Care Conditioning Mist Hair-setter. With a flick of the switch it would mist on protein conditioner and set my curls at the same time. Works on a dry roll-up, too. There are 20 rollers, 3 sizes, in a case that is small enough to pack in luggage."

"Could you manage an Air Brush Styling Dryer? For my wash-and-wear hairdo, it's the answer. Masses of warm air dry the hair while the brush polishes it. Or, by moving the brush, cooler air flows through the brush to groom and style dry or slightly damp locks. Imagine, you can get a fluffy, floppy or satiny smooth effect."

"A Steam Comb is my desire. The gadget is said to control natural waves you could do without. A hidden chamber holds enough water or conditioner for a week of combing. Three attachments — fine comb, coarse comb and touch-up brush — cover styling problems. Tote bag portable."

"You'd do a kindness by gifting me with a triplicate makeup mirror, lighted with broad spectrum, True-To-Light lamps with four settings to cover day, office, evening and home situations."

Good whispering to you!

Sunday Tea Held For Miss Motl

An informal tea was held Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Dealon Stanley, 613 Tulane, honoring Miss Joyce Motl, bride-elect of her nephew, Lynn Stanley of Vernon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Stanley, 1730 Purdue.

The honoree greeted guests with her mother, Mrs. Eugene L. Motl of San Angelo, and her fiancé's mother. Others attending from out-of-town were Mrs. Laura Hoiks of Abilene and Mrs. Laura Stanley of Winters, grandmother of the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Motl was attired in a purple dress with white embroidery trim. She and both mothers were presented corsages of orchid and white mums.

The honoree's chosen wedding colors of orchid and white were carried out in a floral arrangement which centered the refreshment table. Appointments were crystal and silver.

The couple plans to be married Dec. 11 in the Sacred Heart Cathedral in San Angelo.

Putting Right Person On The Job Is A Habit

Success in finding a job or in finding the right person to fill a position is better assured by consulting a professional employment service such as Big Spring Employment Agency, located in the Permin Building.

Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements of the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants. With this in mind, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Ruby Taroni, the experienced personnel counselors at Big Spring Employment Agency, carefully evaluate each applicant before he (or she) is sent for an interview.

They spend many hours screening job applicants so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements.

Thus, fewer rejections plague the employer or the applicant. The employer sees fewer people, and fewer rejections make for better public relations. There is also a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employes tends to rise.

Many highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity.

Big Spring Employment Agency carries on an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

Both the employment counselors and the employers may refer to these tests as an indicator of future possibilities.

All services are handled on a confidential basis.

From the $75-a-week clerk to the $25,000-a-year executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment Agency because they know private agencies are specialists in job-hunting and can, because of experience and contacts, place them in desirable jobs sooner than they could locate jobs themselves.

Applicants desiring employment in other parts of the state or country can be referred for agencies.

George Meany Is Resting Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany is listed in satisfactory condition today at George Washington University Hospital although a spokesman said the labor leader would remain in an intensive care unit at least through Sunday.

Meany was admitted Thursday after suffering chest pains. A preliminary diagnosis indicated the pains resulted from "a possible spasm in the coronary arteries," Dr. Marvin Fuchs said.

HOSTAGES UNHURT Florida Prison Break Quelled

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP) — A specially trained emergency squad of about 20 guards armed with nightsticks and tear gas has captured six knife-wielding prisoners and rescued four hostages following an escape attempt at Raiford State Prison.

Check Notes On Murders Of 7 Girls

HOUSTON (AP) — Peace officers from Houston and Galveston will meet here Tuesday to compare notes on the recent and possibly related murders of seven girls and a young woman.

Speculation arose last week that a single slayer or group of slayers might be involved in those cases after the skeletons of Colette Anise Wilson, 13, of Alvin and Gloria Ann Gonzales, 19, of Houston were found near Addicks Reservoir in Northwest Harris County.

Deputy Sheriff Loyd Frazier of Harris County said Sunday his department was "getting literally up in the hundreds of calls from people in the United States who have females — daughters, wives and so on—who were living in Houston and were lost."

Tuesday's meeting "will give all law enforcement agencies in the area that have an interest in these cases a chance to pool their knowledge and see if we can come up with a common denominator or mode of operation on subjects or cases that might parallel these," Frazier said.

Labor Union Monitors Prices

ODESSA — A cost of living board has been established by the Odessa Central Labor Union to monitor area prices in connection with the Nixon-Connelly phase II economic controls, according to D. L. Willis, president of the Central Labor Union.

"America's workers are bearing the burden of controlling inflation under the Nixon game plan," he said. "The administration has no effective machinery to control prices; therefore, we in the labor movement intend to do what we can to provide some families and the public get some protection should price gouging occur in this area," said Willis.

The board will provide information on price and rent controls to interested persons, follow through on complaints and report all developments to the National AFL-CIO for appropriate action.

UNITED FUND UP SLIGHTLY

The United Fund reported $87,132 Monday, up from $86,181 Friday.

The Montgomery Ward employees were 100 per cent contributors to the fund, which has a goal of $110,000 this year.

"The progress is slow, but we are approaching our goal," said Morris Robertson, campaign chairman.

Local Schools Are Re-Accredited

Sam M. Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring public schools, has announced that the three secondary schools in the Big Spring Independent School District have been continued as accredited schools by the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

The action was taken at the annual meeting of the Association held Sunday through Tuesday in Miami Beach, Fla.

Mystery Oil Being Tapped Beneath Lake

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A mysterious oil supply is being tapped from beneath the Great Salt Lake.

It's probably the only offshore drilling operation in an American desert.

Situated off the north shore of the Great Salt Lake near Promontory, Utah, the oil at Rozel Point has puzzled geologists and frustrated nearly every attempt to remove it.

The oil supply was discovered in 1861 by an army battalion. The first well was drilled in 1904 under 10 feet of water, and to date, 32 holes have been sunk into the lake bottom.

In warm weather, the black stuff oozes to the surface, forming a gooey carpet of tar on the lake bottom, sticking to nearly everything which touched it and occasionally trapping people.

According to one estimate, 21 million barrels of crude oil are down beneath the Great Salt Lake, waiting to be tapped. The trouble is, the crude is very thick and almost impossible to pump by ordinary means. Over the years, many different methods have been tried, including mining in vertical shafts, an enterprise which met with little success.

But one man who is not discouraged by past failures is Max Cazier of Brigham City, Utah.

Cazier had been a crewman for the last three companies to lease the oil field, but today, except for occasional help from his son Ellis, Cazier's oil field is a one-man operation.

Shoplifting Session Is Set Thursday

Recognizing the possible losses local merchants might receive this holiday season due to shoplifting, the Big Spring Police Department has scheduled a seminar on shoplifting for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Spring High School auditorium.

All area merchants and their personnel are invited to attend the seminar which will be at no charge, police chief Vance Chisum said.

Opening the merchant security session, Sgt. Peter Stone, Identifications Department BSPD, will bring the introduction, and Chisum will make the opening remarks. Mayor Arnold Marshall will welcome all seminar members.

Leftist Coalition Trails In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — A leftist coalition is trailing in returns from Uruguay's national election, but neither of the country's two major parties appeared likely to win a strong mandate to rule.

A constitutional amendment that would have allowed President Jorge Pacheco Areco to serve a second term also appeared doomed.

With Pacheco Areco, the uncompromising foe of the Tupamaro guerrillas, and Liber Seiregn of the leftist Broad Front apparently eliminated, the major contenders for the presidency were Agriculture Minister Juan Maria Bordaberry and Sen. Wilson Ferreira Aldunate of the National Party.

Pacheco had named Bordaberry to head an alternate ticket, anticipating defeat for the two-term amendment.

With 811,518 votes counted out of an estimated 1.6 million, the Colorados had 299,325, the Nationals 268,845, the Broad Front 165,530 and minor parties the rest.

Nearly 1.9 million persons were eligible to vote, voting was compulsory and the turnout was estimated at 85 per cent. All the elected offices in the country were at stake, but it appeared that no single party would control the 31-seat Senate and 99-seat House of Deputies when it convenes in March.

Spock Leads New Ticket

DALLAS (AP) — Baby doctor Benjamin Spock led the ticket Sunday as the People's Party candidate for president in closing sessions of the group's four-day convention.

Spock shared the national ticket with Washington, D.C. educator Julius Hobson, a Negro.

About 200 of the 2,000 expected delegates showed up for the nominating convention at which they changed the party's name from the New Party to People's Party.

Panel To Hear Lady Fleming

NEW YORK (AP) — Lady Amelia Fleming, who was expelled from her native Greece, plans to appear before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in Washington this week.

The 62-year-old widow of Sir Alexander Fleming, the Scottish discoverer of penicillin, arrived here from London Saturday to plead for an end of American aid to the Greek government.

"If foreign aid were refused, then the junta would fold," she told an airport news conference.

Lady Fleming was banished from Greece two weeks ago after serving less than a month of a 16-month sentence for plotting to free from prison a would-be assassin of the Greek premier.

Kills Estranged Wife, Himself

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Police said Gilberto Bernae, about 65, shot and killed his estranged wife and then himself early today after breaking into the house where she was staying with two small children.

Bernae pulled a gun after bursting into the house and his wife Maria, 37, fled next door. Her husband followed and fired a bullet into her head. Then he stepped outside, put the gun to his head and pulled the trigger.

Pro Game Heard By George Meany

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany felt well enough to sit up in his hospital room Sunday and listen to a radio broadcast of the Washington Redskins-Philadelphia Eagles pro football game.

The 77-year-old Meany was hospitalized Thursday after suffering chest pains. A preliminary diagnosis indicated the pains may have resulted from a spasm of the coronary arteries.

A union spokesman said Sunday that "everything is coming along fine," but said there has been no decision on when Meany will be released from the hospital.

Case Weakening Against Man Held In Three Dallas Slayings

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Everett Clinton Harris has been jailed here since Oct. 27 while authorities in Dallas try to gather enough evidence to convict him of the slayings of three Mesquite persons, two of them teenagers.

Meanwhile, at Houston and Texas City, officers are trying to piece together details of the killings of four teen-age girls. Two were found bound, shot full of holes, floating in Texas city's Turner Bayou. At Houston, officers found the headless bodies of two more teen-age girls.

But there are indications the case against Harris in the Mesquite killings is falling apart. And he was in jail when the two girls were killed at Texas City.

FOOD DONATED
While Harris waits for officers to decide what to do about him, his widowed mother subsists on donated food and money in the mobile home in Quinlan, Tex., where they lived.

Harris was charged in the killing of Forrest Covey of Mesquite. Covey and his wife, Jena, 19, were apparently abducted from the grocery where Mrs. Covey worked, and slain. Their bodies were found trussed up and shot near here. Officers also felt Harris was a central figure in the apparent abduction of Susan D. Shaw, 16, who was hauled away from the doughnut shop where she worked, tied up and shot to death.

But officers are no longer so sure they can make a case against Harris.

Mesquite Police Chief Glen Grayson told the Dallas News that progress in the case has come to a standstill.

LUBBOCK GIRL
Other investigators have hint that his release will be coming soon while Hunt County officers are apparently hesitant about taking the case to the grand jury.

After his arrest, five persons identified Harris as either being near where the Coveys vanished or near the scene where their bodies were found later.

The deaths bore a similarity to killings in Utah and Colorado and police hinted he may have been involved in the slaying of a Lubbock girl.

But the case against him keeps falling apart and Harris, who has maintained his innocence all along, seems less likely to be held much longer.

The Dallas News said it has learned that bullets taken from the Coveys' bodies and compared by the FBI with bullets taken from the Colorado girl were so badly damaged they were worthless in ballistics tests.

Sheriff R. W. "Red" Wood of Hunt County said no weapon has been found, but newsmen learned that police are searching for a .32 caliber Gerstenberger revolver and possibly a .22 caliber weapon.

WATCHING TV
The slayings of two teenage girls whose bodies were found in Turner's Bayou near Texas City also were compared to the Mesquite killings. But Harris was in the Hunt County jail when they were killed, about as good an alibi as a man could have.

Anyway, the only similarity drawn was the fact that both of the Texas City girls were tied in the same manner as the Coveys. A homicide detective in Galveston said his office has been in contact with Mesquite authorities, but no leads were developed.

Friends and relatives of the 36-year-old Harris, who has worked on various construction jobs around Dallas, believe he is innocent. One neighbor said Harris was with him until 10 p.m. on the night the Coveys disappeared. They were watching television, the neighbor said.

Texas Rangers and other investigators, including the FBI, have not found a second man who was reported seen at the

Programs Should Aid Cotton Raisers
LUBBOCK — Two recent developments indicate "things may be looking up" for the U.S. cotton producer's best customer, the domestic textile industry, and the brighter outlook for textile mills should in turn provide benefits to cotton producers themselves, according to Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Revised regulations governing textile product prices under Phase 2 of President Nixon's new economic plan will be most immediately and most directly helpful to producers, Johnson believes.

The other development, the negotiation of textile import control agreements with four major exporters of textile products to the U.S., should expand markets.
