

'Robin Hood' Vanishes With $200,000

WOODLAND, Wash. (AP) — An airplane hijacker has vanished with two parachutes and $200,000, and the search for him has ended for all but the FBI.

A University of Washington sociologist calls the sky piracy an "awesome feat in the battle of man against the machine."

Dr. Otto Larsen said the sky-jacker apparently has won public admiration as "one man overcoming, for the time being anyway, technology, the corporation, the establishment, the system."

Thus, Larsen said, the hijacker "comes off as a kind of curious Robin Hood, taking from the rich—or at least the big and complex. It doesn't matter whether he gives it to the poor or not."

FBI officials in Portland, Ore., and Seattle say they will continue their pursuit of the man who apparently bailed out of the hijacked Northwest Airlines jetliner last week as it flew from Seattle to Reno, Nev.

But local law enforcement agencies have turned to other chores.

"There's nothing new and we've taken our men off unless something else turns up," a spokesman for the Clark County, Wash., sheriff's office said

Monday of the search for the hijacker in the brushy, timbered Cascade Mountain foothills of southwest Washington.

The FBI continued questioning dozens of persons who believed they recognized a composite sketch of the hijacker, but the investigators reported no success in finding a definite lead.

Officials said they had concentrated the search around Woodland because the jetliner's flight recorder had indicated small shifts in the plane's air position as it passed over the area.

Law enforcement officers searching for the hijacker were faced with three major disadvantages—surprise, piecemeal evidence and the meticulous planning which apparently went into the deed, the first involving the escape of a hijacker by parachute.

The air pirate seized control of the plane Thanksgiving Eve, passing a note to stewardess Florence Schaffner which said he had a bomb and would blow up the plane unless he got what he wanted.

His demands—bizarre at the outset—in retrospect provided an insight into the careful planning which apparently went into his operation.

He asked for $200,000, which he received in $20 bills, and for two parachutes. And he said he wanted to go to Mexico.

The plane circled over Seattle for 2½ hours while the money and parachutes were obtained.

When the plane landed so the hijacker could pick up the money and the chutes, he ordered two more parachutes—sports chutes which could be opened by hand during a free fall. The first ones were military chutes which could be opened only by a static line attached to plane.

He released the 36 other passengers and two of the aircraft's six crew members and then specified to pilot William Scott how the plane should be flown to a refueling stop at Reno, Nev., en route to Mexico—altitude no more than 10,000 feet, the rear boarding door open, the landing gear extended and flaps lowered to slow air-speed to 200 miles per hour.

The type of aircraft—a Boeing 727—may have been involved more by choice than chance. A Boeing spokesman said the 727 is the only commercial jetliner from which a person could bail out successfully. The passenger stairs lower vertically from the tail, and "it would be a very safe drop . . . away from the flaps and engines," the spokesman said.

As the plane took off for Reno, the hijacker stayed in the rear of the plane and the four crew members in the cockpit, as he ordered.

The last words the crew had with the hijacker over the aircraft intercom system came about the time the aircraft lumbered through cloudy, night skies over the Woodland area.

Nixon To Arrive In Peking Feb. 21

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will arrive in Peking on Feb. 21 for talks with Chinese leaders—a historic mission he hopes "will become a journey for peace . . ."

The White House announced the long-awaited date on Monday, although presidential adviser Henry Kissinger reached agreement on the trip's timing during his second trip to Peking a month ago.

Further details, including the length of Nixon's visit, were to be made public today, according to White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

A terse joint statement released simultaneously in Washington and Peking said: "The government of the People's Republic of China and the government of the United States of America have agreed that President Nixon's visit to China shall begin on Feb. 21, 1972."

It followed a week of announcements about a series of presidential summit meetings in December and January with allied leaders.

The Peking trip will come about three months before Nixon travels to Moscow in late May for talks with Soviet leaders. He will be the first American president to visit either Peking or Moscow.

In December and early January, Nixon will hold separate talks with the leaders of France, Britain, West Germany, Japan and Canada. White House officials say these meetings, all announced within the past week, are intended to collect allied views prior to the Peking and Moscow trips.

Ziegler, after reading Monday's statement, harked back to Nixon's bombshell announcement July 15 that the China trip was being arranged.

He noted that Nixon said then the purpose of the meeting "is to seek the normalization of relations between the two countries and also to exchange views on questions of concern to the two sides."

Nixon also has said he anticipates the Peking trip will be "a very busy, working visit" and that "ceremony . . . will be at an absolute minimum."

In the weeks ahead, another team of White House officials is expected to fly to mainland

China to work out remaining technical details for the President's trip. Contrary to some published and broadcast reports, Ziegler said Monday that preparations for Nixon's visit "continue to go well . . ."

BAREFOOT SANDERS

Sanders Enters Senate Race

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Democrat Barefoot Sanders announced for the U.S. Senate today, claiming that the Republican incumbent, Sen. John Tower, is loafing on the job.

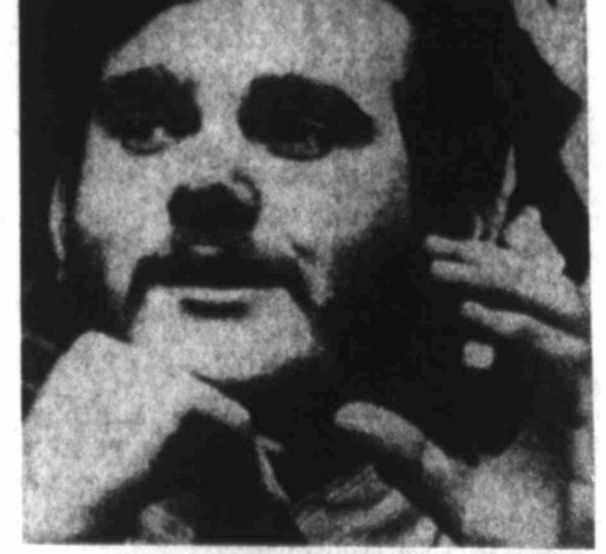

Sanders, 46, a former state legislator and U.S. attorney of Dallas, told a Capitol news conference that Tower does not measure up to the standards that Texans want in a senator.

"As to hard work, he regularly misses important votes — last year he missed nearly half of the votes, and he continues this year to miss important votes," Sanders said.

"Nor has he been constructive for Texas. In 10½ years in the Senate the only bill he has been prominently identified with was the measure to give Lockheed, a California corporation, a $250 million subsidy. In fact Texans only hear from the Republican senator in the year before election time — when he does get very busy with talk and promise."

Sanders said he was seeking the Democratic nomination in the May 6 primary because "I believe that Texans are entitled to better and more constructive representation in the Senate than the present Republican senator is giving . . . I believe that a Democratic senator in a Democratic Senate can do better for Texas — and we must do better."

In answering questions, Sanders said he was in the Senate race "without regard to who else gets in it." He said he had not talked with former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, also considered a possible senatorial candidate, but had talked with former President Lyndon Johnson.

More Housing For Elderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new $1-million grant program aimed at opening more housing for the elderly was announced today by George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

In a speech at the White House Conference on Aging, Romney said HUD "will contract with experienced public and private non-profit organizations to provide a variety of technical assistance and information to inexperienced non-profit sponsors of low- and moderate-income housing."

Romney said his department also is preparing new regulations for congregate housing to "avoid expensive and often premature placement of aged in institutions," and is considering a plan giving the elderly an option of moving into living units if they find they are "house poor" because of rising property taxes.

'Tiger Woman' Free At Last

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — Trunk murderer Winnie Ruth Judd has injected an aura of mystery into her forthcoming parole just as she did in her trial in the 1930s.

The state Board of Pardons and Paroles agreed Monday to release the 67-year-old "Tiger Woman" who was convicted of the 1931 dismemberment slaying of one of her two roommates. Their bodies were found in Los Angeles, stuffed in two trunks which had been shipped from Arizona.

City Commissioners Trying To Trim 1972 Expenditures

By BRIAN PEAY

City commissioners in budget work session Monday night made efforts to cut departments' budget expenses to offset a financial deficit facing the local government in fiscal year 1971-72.

Approximately $4,600 was trimmed from the water department and police department's budget expenses recommended by the city manager on the preliminary budget. Some of the commission members were not satisfied with the amount cut.

"We have only cut an insignificant $4,000 to $5,000 out of two departments' budgets which represent more than $1 million," said Jack Watkins, commissioner, at the end of the 3½ hour work session.

CUT FAT
Watkins indicated that the water and police departments were two of the most available budgets for cutting back on "unnecessary and fat expenses."

computer director, $40,490 was cut from the two departments' original budget requests.

However, two units in the water department accounted for an additional expense pickup for next year of $40,991. Water purchased from the Colorado River Municipal Water District will be approximately the same price as last year, according to Nagel. But budget requests in that department are $33,427 higher than last year's expenditures.

ANTICIPATE HIGH
"In making up the budget, we usually anticipate our expenses to be high and our revenues to be low," Nagel said.

"The budget figure in the water purchasing unit is an average of water costs in previous years, and depending on whether or not the summer will be wet or dry, the budget could be high or low."

The second portion of the expense increase was in the sewage collection unit, due to the television inspection program conducted on city sewage lines and because of other maintenance pickups. The preliminary budget figure stands at $44,574 compared to the original department request of $37,110.

Most of the budget trimming by the commissioners involved clothing and uniform categories and furniture purchasing for the two departments.

One account was completely eliminated, which in turn increased expenses in the other departments.

"We have done away with the garage department and rental account. The total amount of gasoline, oil and maintenance on each department's vehicles has been prorated to each department," said Nagel.

AUTO EXPENSE
Now each department will be responsible for the vehicle expense. In the past vehicle expense was set up on a rental basis with all service charges going into the one garage account.

"The rental theory is a good one, because each department rents cars from the garage department, in actuality, and the rental is retained to pay for new vehicles in the departments. However, in the past the rental fund transfer was only on paper, and no actual money was put in the bank, so we cut this function out," said Nagel.

In other areas the work session group stressed thrift in budgeting. A vacant supervisor position in the water department will not be filled this fiscal year, but will be revised into a consumer relations position.

METER READER
A city water meter read will be moved into a position, where his responsibility will be that of a liaison man between water customers and the water department. The revision of the jobs will mark an approximate savings of $4,000 per year, Nagel said.

Nagel pointed out that he has talked to all departments about the amount of overtime hours accrued during the year.

For example the police detectives presently are being paid 10 hours overtime each month on a regular basis. "We have looked into the possibility of overlapping shifts and other means by which to cut down on the amount of overtime being paid by the city," in this case said Nagel.

Also in the police department, two vacant patrolman positions have not been budgeted, indicating a savings of approximately $12,000 per year.

Nagel said that at any time this next fiscal year the budget may be amended to fit department operations.

STARTED IN KITCHEN FOUR YEARS AGO 'Antique Monthly' Zooms To Top In Publishing Field

By BOB INGLE
Associated Press Writer

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — It started in the kitchen, advanced to the bedroom and wound up in the dens of about 100,000 homes.

The brief, but true, history of an infant publication, Antique Monthly, born of a hobby, nourished by enthusiasm and reared by hard work until — at age four — it's the big boy on its block, a giant of the industry.

Mother of the enormously successful enterprise is Gray D. Boone, wife of newspaper publisher James Boone.

Always a housewife, she combined her husband's publishing know-how, and a few of his supplies, with an equal measure of love for antiques, a flair for writing, a way with people and a sense of adventure.

It all started on a kitchen table in Suffolk, Va., where Boone was publisher of the News Herald. "I told Jim I wanted to put out a newspaper on antiques," Mrs. Boone remembered.

"So we sat at the kitchen table and he would tell me how many pages I would have to type to fill the space in the paper."

It took three nights at the table to put together the first small edition. It was distributed locally to about 3,000 persons — free.

Boone, who admits he didn't think his wife's paper would blossom into an internationally distributed 68-page monthly with 100,000 circulation, told her he'd go along with it provided she did two things: consult a lawyer and a public accountant and follow their advice.

The first edition caught on, advertising came in and the whole operation became so big it had to be moved to a spare parking lot from Boone's paper publisher of the Tuscaloosa News, the antique paper came too, and was set up in another spare bedroom.

The staff of six full-time and six part-time employees left the bedroom two years ago for a modern new building across the parking lot from Boone's paper. It has its own press and circulation center. The offices are carpeted, paneled and furnished with antiques.

The family always comes first, says Mrs. Boone, an attractive, energetic woman with a big smile and zippy way about her. "We have a housekeeper but I spend much time at home."

The Boones have three children: Kenneth, 11; Buford, 9, and Mary Frances, 6.

Her interest in antiques began very early, Mrs. Boone says. A native of Baytown, Tex., near Houston, she spent the summers with a relative in Ashland, Va., who had "a big old house and a love for history."

"That interest grew with time. When we were first married our home was early attic," Mrs. Boone says.

The antique business is booming today, she adds. She attributes it to a trend toward conservatism and appreciation of early America; a revival of old-fashioned patriotism.

"Antiques are a key to a culture. Our forefathers were not all backwoodsmen. Paul Revere, for instance, was an artist and a silversmith. Thomas Jefferson designed furniture."

Mrs. Boone admits the publication's success was a shock and had she known what it was to become, and the work involved, it would have never crossed her kitchen table.

Psychiatrists Cannot Cure, Warns Doctor

"A psychiatrist cannot cure you; he can only help you cure yourself," said Dr. Murray Banks in a taped program presented Monday in the First Federal Community Room for TOPS Pound Rebels.

"There is a reason for everything we do," continued Dr. Banks. "Every human wants to live forever and wants to feel important. Everyone wants someone to love them, and everyone wants a variety of experiences. If we are going to do something and then worry about it, it is best not to do it. Laughter is sunshine to the soul, and the most important lesson we will learn in life is how to laugh."

Dr. Banks said that the difference between a sane person and an insane one is the way they handle anxiety.

"Life is like climbing a hill," he said, "you climb and slip, climb and slip."

Mrs. Donald Carlisle, the presiding officer, also presented the program. A free hairdo was won by Mrs. Lewis Collins.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Dec. 6 in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College.

Bride's Party Held Monday

The home of Mrs. Jimmie Taylor, 2309 Allendale Road, was the scene Monday evening of a bridal shower honoring Mrs. Dickie Hull, the former Donna Martin.

Cohostesses with Mrs. Taylor were Mrs. Buford Hull, Mrs. Paul Warren, Mrs. Dalton Carr, Mrs. Melvin Newton, Mrs. Fred Phillips, Mrs. Denver Harris, Mrs. Pete Anderson, Mrs. D. C. Porter, Mrs. Bert Harris, Mrs. Pete Anderson, Mrs. D. Mrs. Bernard Young, Mrs. Harold Hall, Mrs. Dee Foster Jr. and Mrs. Pamela Foster. The hostesses wore corsages of small bells tied with blue ribbon.

The honoree received guests with her mother, Mrs. O. G. Martin; her husband's mother, Mrs. Ted Hull; and his grandmothers, Mrs. Earl Hull and Mrs. Earl Phillips. Attired in a blue and white peasant dress, the bride was presented a white carnation corsage. The other women wore blue carnation corsages.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with an ecru cloth and appointed with crystal. The centerpiece was a crystal vase arranged with blue carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Hull were married Nov. 20 and are residing in Big Spring.

A LOVELIER YOU Soothing Therapy To Settle Hectic Days

By MARY SUE MILLER

When things pile up so that you can hardly face a day or evening, try a bit of baththerapy. Make for the tub and begin to fill it with tepid (not hot) water. As the water runs, add a cleanser that soothes the skin.

This will help to offset the season's wither and weather. There are several 1972 models of skin-coddling bath products. Body soap gel combines a famous, mild soap with special skin emollients. Dispensed from an atomizer bottle, one squirt produces loads of foam. Hypoallergenic and bio-degradable, too.

Emollient bath crystals smooth as well as scent the skin. While a fragrance that is said to "shake the world" pervades the air and gives you pleasure, your skin undergoes a satinating treatment.

Whatever you add to bath water, the idea is to loll in it. Stretch out, relax your mind and body. Then wake up with a stimulating massage with a friction mitt or loofah sponge. Rinse with splashes of cool water. Finish with a brisk towel and lotion massage.

The routine takes not more than a half hour. And that's pretty quick when you consider it puts you on top of unsettling hustle and bustle. Looking it and feeling it, too!

STRICTLY PERSONAL

Everything you need to know about deodorants, antiperspirants and depilatories is contained in my leaflet, "Strictly Personal." All doubts are cleared up about why, what, when and how to use these safeguards of femininity. Lawyers For Mutscher Seek Sharp Testimony

AUSTIN (AP)—House Speaker Gus Mutscher's attorneys want access to Houston promoter Frank Sharp's grand jury testimony, claiming he told different things to different juries.

The request for access to transcripts of Sharp's testimony is one of several motions filed with state District Judge Tom Blackwell by Mutscher's lawyers.

Blackwell may rule on the motions at a pre-trial hearing Thursday.

Sharp testified before both the Travis County Grand Jury, which indicted Mutscher on bribery charges Sept. 23, and a federal grand jury in Houston.

WANTING INFO

"The defendant has information that the testimony of Frank Sharp given before the United States Grand Jury differs extensively from that given before the Travis County Grand Jury," the motion said.

Another motion asks Blackwell to move Mutscher's trial, now scheduled for Jan. 10, to another city.

Twenty-five Austinites—including four prominent lobbyists—signed affidavits saying there was so great a prejudice against him... that he cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial.

The lobbyists are Harry P. Whitworth, who represents the chemical industry on such legislative matters as pollution and taxes; Jim Stewart of the Texas Public Employees Association; Philip W. Gauss Jr., executive director of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, which is interested in defeating no-fault car insurance, a potential special session issue; and Howard Rose, whose clients include the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, Lumbermen's Association of Texas and the Texas Automobile Dealers Association.

IF ACQUITTED

If Mutscher is acquitted, he might preside over the House in next year's special legislative session.

Mutscher is charged with accepting a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp in return for his efforts to win passage of two banking bills in 1969. Speaker's aide Rush McGinty, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Mutscher are charged with conspiracy to accept a bribe.

The Frees Without Bond Texan Charged In Killing

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Everett Clinton Harris, held since Oct. 27, in the deaths of three Mesquite residents, is free today.

Harris was quietly released without bond Monday night from the Hunt County jail, but the Quinlan resident is still charged with the slaying of Forrest Covey of Mesquite.

"Because of a lack of physical evidence in the case, we are releasing him," said Sheriff R.W. Wood. "We have conducted an extensive investigation and still have nothing but circumstantial evidence. We couldn't hold him forever on what we had. We're just as safe with him out (without bond) because we can certainly find him if we need him."

"I realize the charges are still pending," Harris, 36, said. "I have no intentions of leaving Quinlan. I just hope the right person is caught."

"I just would like to know why those people picked me as being the one in the vicinity where the bodies were found," Harris said upon his release.

The Hunt County grand jury convenes Wednesday. Harris said he has hired two attorneys but plans no legal actions unless brought before a grand jury.

Harris was charged with the slaying of Forrest Covey and was under investigation in connection with the slayings of Covey's 19-year-old wife, Jenn, and Susan Darlene Shaw, 16. All three disappeared in October from stores in Mesquite. Mr. and Mrs. Covey disappeared from the grocery store where she worked while Miss Shaw was apparently abducted from the doughnut shop where she was employed.

The three were found later, bound and shot. The young couple was found in a barn and Miss Shaw near a lake.

Several persons testified they saw a man matching Harris' description at either the places where they disappeared or where their bodies were found.

One of Harris' neighbors, however, has said Harris was with him the night the Coveys disappeared.

son disappeared from a bus stop as she waited for her mother after band practice.

Kern said 200 to 300 heavily overgrown acres near the location where both bodies were discovered need to be searched.

Houston police discovered a coffee can full of deteriorating flesh and bone late Sunday night about a mile southeast of the area where the remains of the two slain girls were found.

TESTS MADE

The can was taken to the Harris County morgue where tests are being made to determine if the contents are human.

The officers said they also found a small child's red pull-over sweater, cut from waist to throat, near the can.

The young Wilson girl's clothing and a clarinet which she was known to be carrying have not been found. Kern did not rule out the possibility of finding even more bodies on the government land.

Killer Manson Draws Life Imprisonment

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charles Manson, facing death in the seven Tate-La Bianca murders, has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the murder of a movie stuntman and a musician.

Manson, 37, shouted his disgust at jurors and courtroom spectators after Monday's decree despite its possibility of parole.

"You're in prison! You're in prison! You're in prison!" he said with a direct stare each time at a different reporter in the front row of spectators.

He whirled in his swivel chair toward the jurors and said, "The only thing they can judge is what they are told to judge."

The Sharon Tate trial, which lasted 9½ months, resulted in the death sentences for Manson and three women codefendants for the August 1969 murders of Miss Tate and four friends in her mansion and of a wealthy market owner, Leno La Bianca and his wife.

Monday's verdict involved the asserted death of Hollywood stuntman, Donald "Shorty" Shea, 37, whose body was never found, and for the slaying of local musician Gary Hinman, 34.

Learn Name, Description Of Key Suspect In Murders

HOUSTON (AP)—Sheriff C.V. Kern said Monday he expects an arrest in the next few days in the brutal slayings of Colette Anise Wilson, 13, and Gloria Ann Gonzales, 19, whose bodies were found last week in a deserted area on a government reservoir.

AT BUS STOP

Kern said he had the name and description of a suspect from a woman who was abducted at a Houston bus stop earlier this month but escaped after the man tried to get her to perform an act of sodomy.

The announcement came after a meeting of more than 60 Texas lawmen, including deputies from Dallas County, which was held to coordinate the investigation of seven deaths in and near Harris County and three near Dallas.

Earlier in the day Kern said his suspect in the Wilson and Gonzales cases could possibly be involved in the Dallas area crimes.

Kern later said further discussion with Dallas lawmen had changed his mind that the five deaths might be related.

Miss Wilson, of Alvin, disappeared June 17. Her skeleton, minus the skull, was found Friday in northwest Harris County by deputies looking for additional evidence surrounding the discovery of Gloria Gonzales' body two days earlier.

HEAD SEPARATED

Miss Gonzales, of Houston, was last seen alive Oct. 28. Her body, with the head separated, was found by a treasure hunter in the isolated reservoir area.

Kern speculated that animals in the area had scattered the remains and that Miss Gonzales had not been decapitated.

The bodies of five other Harris and Galveston County girls have been located, victims of brutal slayings, since Miss Wil-

Kern said the suspect he has in mind forced a 20-year-old waitress into his car Nov. 14 while she was waiting for her husband to pick her up.

In a statement to sheriff deputies the woman described the man as being between 27 and 30 years old, weighing about 175 pounds with thick sandy brown hair.

SEX ACTS

She said the man asked her to perform unnatural sex acts and told her he was crazy.

The man told her he hoped the police would catch him for things he had done in the past for which he said he would "burn in hell," the woman said.

She said she managed to jump from the car as the man slowed down near a downtown hotel.

Kern said his office has also talked to two or three other women who have contributed information on the subject.

Meanwhile deputies will continue searching the Addicks Reservoir area.

son disappeared from a bus stop as she waited for her mother after band practice.

Kern said 200 to 300 heavily overgrown acres near the location where both bodies were discovered need to be searched.

Houston police discovered a coffee can full of deteriorating flesh and bone late Sunday night about a mile southeast of the area where the remains of the two slain girls were found.

TESTS MADE

The can was taken to the Harris County morgue where tests are being made to determine if the contents are human.

The officers said they also found a small child's red pull-over sweater, cut from waist to throat, near the can.

The young Wilson girl's clothing and a clarinet which she was known to be carrying have not been found. Kern did not rule out the possibility of finding even more bodies on the government land.

On The Trail Of Persons Who Hid Trio

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—New Mexico authorities say they are on the trail of the persons who hid three wanted men for 19 days between Nov. 8, when a state policeman was murdered and Friday when a plane was hijacked from Albuquerque to Cuba.

Michael R. Finney, 20, of San Francisco and Berkeley, Calif.; Ralph L. Goodwin, 24, of Berkeley; and Charles Hill, 21, of Albuquerque were named in murder warrants one by one as the days passed after the shooting of State Police officer Robert Rosenbloom, 28.

But although state, city and federal officials virtually cordoned off Albuquerque with roadblocks, conducted house to house searches in some areas, and questioned dozens of persons, no one was found.

Then last Friday, the three men surfaced, seized a passenger jet, and flew to Cuba.

"We're working on several leads which might lead to our finding out who was harboring these people," State Police Chief Martin Vigil said Monday. He refused to elaborate, noting that no arrests had been made yet.

Horoscope

TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when there is considerable activity because of the strong influence of the Full Moon which will cause you to be tempted to dash around without much purpose. You can correct all that by making an intelligent plan of action for yourself and scrupulously following it.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you want to get all that routine work finished properly, you had better schedule your time well with partner. Reread letters, reports, so you know they are correct. Make sure the meaning is right.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Try to take economy measures on get over that financial hump or property trouble that has been bothering you. Talk over business matters with experts. Follow only the best advice.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use self-control in the face of all those desires of a personal nature that you have today. People could get on your nerves, especially close friends, so do something about improving your health. Get fit and feel happier.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you make an impersonal study of those problems that have had you puzzled, you know just how to solve them. Assist a good friend who comes to you for help that is sorely needed. Get to bed early tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You had better postpone that gathering with friends until a more propitious time. Concentrate on your plans for the future and take constructive steps toward them. Know where you are going and how to get there.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take care you do not irritate anyone who has power over your affairs, and be sure to use wise words. Follow every rule and regulation that concerns you. Taking chances now could be very expensive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Not a good day for adding to present activities, but fine for investigating new outlets. Listen to what an attractive person has to say. Don't fall for this overly glib flattery.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You give responsibilities you simply have to handle now, otherwise you are apt to get into trouble later on. Your hunches are quite off-base so do not follow through on them. Use your logic.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your associates are touchy now and an argument could ensue over some thoughtless word, so be most careful in speaking. Show that you have poise. Make sure you keep any real promises you have made to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You had better get all that work early which only you can do and which is your own particular responsibility. You and co-workers have some differences, but don't bring them up now. Use the tactful approach.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Spend spare time with friends enjoying amusements that have given satisfactory in the past. However, do not be extravagant in such. Praise others lovingly. They deserve it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Show devotion to kin at home and give them the benefit of any doubt that may arise. Get rid of whatever has been causing disharmony at home. Make some plans now for the holidays ahead.

'I MADE NO EFFORT TO COVER IT UP' Henderson Sums Up His Defense

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — 'I made no attempt to cover it up. I made every effort to look into it as any commander would have.'

With those final words in cross-examination, Col. Oran K. Henderson Monday summed up his defense to charges that the March, 1968, My Lai massacre went unreported because of his actions in the days following a U.S. infantry sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet.

All that remains in the three-months-long court-martial is the reading of some 16 character affidavits—closing arguments by attorneys, instructions to the seven-officer jury and the deliberation for a verdict.

The three charges against Henderson, 51, carry a maximum penalty of 39 months in prison. They specify that he wilfully failed to conduct an adequate investigation, failed to notify superiors that war crimes had been alleged, and lied to Pentagon investigators.

Henderson, former commander of the 11th Infantry Brigade, maintained through three days on the witness stand that had he been told that more than 100 civilians died in the My Lai operation, he would have conducted a more formal investigation.

The number reported to him, Henderson said, was that 20 noncombatants died accidentally along with 128 Viet Cong.

'I was not thinking in terms of an atrocity,' he said.

He said he had dismissed a report by helicopter pilot Hugh C. Thompson of wild shooting in the village as that of an excitable young man inexperienced in combat.

He said he followed up one aspect of that report—that Capt. Ernest L. Medina had killed a woman—and believed Medina's story that he acted in self-defense.

Thompson also had reported a confrontation on the ground with an officer whose troops were advancing on a cluster of women and children.

Henderson said he made no effort to locate the officer, previously identified as Lt. William L. Calley Jr., or to inquire about the cause of the confrontation.

PRETTY AS A PICTURE — Louise Stewart, 2, from Northumberland, England, has a chance to admire her own portrait which she in turn had unveiled Monday in London. She had been chosen as Britain's prettiest little girl in a competition sponsored by a soap company. The painting was done from photographs because the youngster was too young to sit for the artist.

'Phony Check' Alert Issued

Police reported today that local merchants should be on the lookout for fraudulent checks that are being passed by a trio of counterfeiters.

A state-wide alert message was sent over the police teletype Monday night in reference to a large number of counterfeit checks being passed in New Mexico and Texas.

The checks have been passed in Gallup, Eunice, Lovington, Las Cruces and Hobbs, N.M., and Pecos, Van Horn, and Big Spring. The last checks to be passed were at Hemphill Wells Department store here. The check was given for $150 worth of clothing.

Mobile Home Park OK, Says Attorney

Passage of the Bill Chranec mobile home park issue on third and final readings has been ruled acceptable by James Gregg, new city attorney.

Gregg ruled this morning that the zone change ordinance only required a simple majority vote of the city commission for passage.

As the zoning ordinance states, there must be more than 30 per cent of the landowners within 200 feet of the property up for change, before a four-fifths majority vote is required for passage, and there is not in

Robison Holds Snyder Crusade

SNYDER — Evangelistic services in the James Robison Crusade will continue at 7:30 p.m. today in the Scurry County Auditorium. The services will continue each night through Sunday and are open at no charge to the public.

The Rev. Robison is the dynamic young evangelist who has held crusades through out Texas, has held more than 360 nationwide crusades, and is featured each week in his own television evangelism show, "Get Together With James Robison."

For the city-wide crusade here, the Rev. Robison has brought his entire evangelistic team. John McKay, soloist, will lead in the singing for the crusade, organist Richey Craig will provide service accompaniment, and the Rev. T. D. Hall, executive director of the James Robison Evangelistic Association, is also present for the local crusade.

Methodist Scholarships

NORFOLK, Va. — Four students have received National Methodist Scholarships totaling $1,000 for the fall semester at Virginia Wesleyan College.

The four are James Patrick Embrey, a senior from The Plains, Va.; Linda Kay Lawrence, a senior from Arlington, Va.; Patricia Ann Macklin, a junior from Big Spring, Tex.; and Charles Parmer Wesley, Jr., a senior from Norfolk, Va.

National Methodist Scholarships are awarded by the Board of Education of the United Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn. The awards are $250 per student per semester.

DEATHS

Mrs. Warren, Services Today

Mrs. Angie L. Warren, 69 former resident of Coahomua died Thursday morning in Brawley, Calif. Services were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Brawley.

Local services were set for 2 p.m. today in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Guy White, First Baptist Church of Coahomua, officiating and burial in Trinity Memorial Park.

Survivors include three sons, two brothers, three sisters, two brothers-in-law, one sister-in-law and several nieces and nephews. Her husband, Aubrey Lee Warren, died Oct. 9, 1963.

Palbearers were to be Ralph White, Cliff Harrison, Robert Helm, James McDonald, Donald Webb and Bill Milliken.

Funeral Pends

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home for Byron Lillie, who died early today in a local hospital.

Some Mail Slow

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A bank here didn't hear from one of its borrowers at the appointed time in June, 1970, and mentioned it to him. He vowed he'd mailed the $40 payment.

Recently mail exonerated him. The bank got a letter dated June 21, 1970, and enclosed was a $40 check dated the same day. It apparently had been mailed a year and four months earlier — by the man who lived 12 blocks from the bank.

Mrs. Shaw, Funeral Today

Services for Mrs. Lorena Ollie Shaw, 52, who died at her home at 1618 E. 16th, were set for today at 3:30 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel.

Officiating was to be the Rev. Fred Smith, Colorado City, assisted by the Rev. E. G. Newcomer, Ackery.

Survivors include her husband, one daughter, her mother, two brothers and two grandchildren.

Palbearers were to be Pat Boatler, Billy Bob Whittington, J. C. Woodard, Lloyd Thomas, Richard Reagan and George Blair.

Mrs. Hawkins, Mexia Services

Mrs. Zela Iona Hawkins, 70, died in a local hospital Monday afternoon.

Services will be in charge of Blair-Stubbs Funeral Home in Mexia.

Evening Lions Collect Glasses

Members of the Big Spring Evening Lions Club are collecting eyeglasses to be sent overseas.

Persons are invited to take their old glasses to Wackers in the Eleventh Place Shopping Center. The glasses will be distributed to needy people in several foreign countries.

Five Directors Are Announced For Chamber

Five new Chamber of Commerce directors were named today by John Currie, head of the ballot committee.

Elected were Clyde McMahon Jr., Dr. Carl B. Marcum, Tom Locke, Dan Wilkins and R. W. Whipkey.

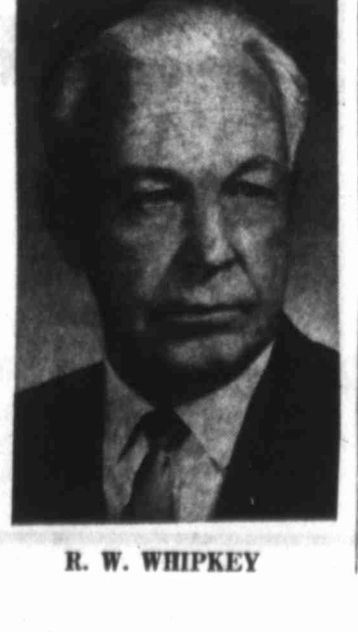

The men were elected by the chamber membership to serve three-year terms vacated by John Burgess, R. E. Hickson, Ken Perry, A. J. Prager and Jack Worsham.

The new directors will be introduced at the regular monthly meeting of the directors Dec. 13. New chamber officers will be elected at that time.

The chamber is still interviewing prospective chamber managers, according to R. W. Whipkey, acting manager.

A large group of supporters of the industrial foundation will meet at 4 p.m. today at the chamber meeting room to hear a progress and financial report, according to Tom Locke, chairman of the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting is to broaden the base of support of the industrial foundation.

THEFTS

Weldon Claxton, Fina Warehouse, 800 E. 3rd, reported that someone had broken into the warehouse and had stolen $30 worth of $20 bills and 30 cents in change.

Sarah Burks, 1109 E. 13th, reported a theft of the battery from her car Monday. Value of the battery was placed at $40.

FORECAST

Figures Show Low Temperatures Expected

Widely-scattered snow flurries are forecast for Tuesday. Snow is expected in the Northeast, the northern Plains, the northern Rockies, southern Colorado and northern New Mexico. Rain or showers are expected from the Carolinas to Florida and part of West Texas. Cold weather is forecast for the Northeast, warmer weather elsewhere.

OIL Well Tests Show Gas, Oil

Strong shows of gas, together with free oil, were lodged into a drillstem test of the Adobe No. 3 Meek, an original Spraberry Trend test which now will attempt completion as an amended Sale Ranch Strawn field producer.

The venture, bottomed at 10,824, is six miles northwest of the di coverly and lone producer in the field, the Adobe No. 2 Glasscock.

After a heavy increase in gas flow during a second drillstem test, the well was shut in and all pressures were said to be building.

Near the Adobe No. 2 Glasscock, the Strawn discovery, Adobe No. 1 Hillger was preparing to run tests above 10,482.

Frazier Is Found Guilty Of Five Shooting Deaths

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — A jury has found one-time auto mechanic John Linzey Frazier guilty of first degree murder in the shooting deaths of wealthy eye surgeon Dr. Victor Ohta and four other men.

The longhaired, slightly built 25-year-old Frazier showed no emotion as he sat with his back to the jury Monday while Court Clerk William Sitnek read the verdict.

Frazier had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity in the Oct. 19, 1970, murders of Ohta, 45; his wife Virginia, 43; their sons, Derrick, 12, and Taggart, 11, and Ohta's secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader, 38.

Their bodies were found in the swimming pool of Ohta's $250,000 hilltop mansion near Santa Cruz, 80 miles south of San Francisco by firemen seeking water to put out several liberately set blazes at the home.

The eight women and four men who found Frazier guilty of murder return to court Thursday to determine whether he was sane when he committed the crime. The jury deliberated 21 hours over three days before reaching the guilty verdict.

If he is found sane, the same jury must then set the penalty—death or life imprisonment. Prosecutor Peter Chang Jr. said that if Frazier is ruled insane, he would be committed to a mental hospital until such time as he is considered sane. At that point, he said, Frazier could be freed.

Patients Shop For Christmas

This evening is the time for the annual shopping tour by patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Between the hours of 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. residents at the hospital will be shuttled by bus to the Woolworth store where Herman Bauer and his sales force are giving their time to help the visitors with shopping.

Most patients have some spending money in their trust funds at the hospital to make purchases.

After each round of shopping, the residents will be served hot coffee and chocolate through courtesy of Bauer and Bill Kuykendall, and donuts through courtesy of Ira Bigham of Bunny Bread, Louis Harrell, BSSH driver, and Airman Frank Wilcox of Webb AFB will operate the buses on several round trips between the hospital and store, and city police will assist with the parking and unloading.

Job Is Open

The United States Postal Service has announced examinations for custodian cleaner and custodial laborer for assignment in the Big Spring office. Starting pay is $2.93 per hour. For information, contact the civil service examiner at the post office prior to Dec. 15.

SHUN PTA Teachers Are Getting Younger, Work Harder

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Education Association said Monday that school teachers are younger, better educated, work harder but are shunning formal organizations like the PTA.

These trends were uncovered in a survey the NEA takes every five years among a selected cross-section of the elementary-secondary teaching profession.

DEGREES GALORE

A 64-item questionnaire sent to 1,819 public school teachers drew 1,543 responses.

The median age of all teachers is now 35 years as compared with 40.9 in 1961, the report said. The age of women teachers contributes most to the decline. It's dropped from 45.5 in 1961 to 37 in 1971.

There has been an immense improvement in the credentials held by teachers, the report showed. Less than three per cent lack a bachelor's degree compared with 15 per cent 10 years earlier. Nearly 27 per cent of the teachers have earned master degrees.

In keeping with the educational community's declaration that professionals must keep returning to school, 61 per cent of the responding teachers said they had earned college credits in the last three years.

The squeeze on the hard-pressed private colleges and universities for students is underscored by the increasing number of teachers who get their degrees from public institutions. In 1971, 76 per cent of the teachers got their bachelor and master degrees from public institutions, compared with 71 per cent of the bachelor and 66 per cent of the master degrees in 1966.

NON-JOINERS

The survey showed that teachers are still "spending 47 hours weekly on school duties." But the report added only "eight hours are non-compensated duties as compared to 11 hours five years ago."

The teachers reported that they had been busy in activities outside the classroom, serving on curriculum committees and participating in school workshops.

But, they indicated they are becoming non-joiners insofar as formal organizations are concerned. Over the 10-year period, the survey showed, church or church-related membership dropped from 87 to 78 per cent; youth-serving groups from 21 to 18 per cent; fraternal or auxiliary from 33 to 15; and in the past five years teacher membership in the PTA slipped from 78 to 66 per cent.

'OPEN DOOR' POLICIES FADE No Blackout On Austin News

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

There's no blackout on official news in Austin but it gets dim now and then.

The "open door" policies promised by high state officials generally begin to weaken the longer they are in office—particularly if they do not plan to seek re-election.

OH, HAPPY DAY

It was a bright day for Capitol news reporters back on Jan. 24, 1969, when newly-elected Gov. Preston Smith told his first news conference that, "We are going to be available to you whenever we are in this office. I know your responsibility is to keep the people informed, and I know you cannot do this unless you have access to the governor and the people on his staff who have the information you need."

There were a large number of scheduled press conferences during Smith's first term. In addition there were several semi-social gatherings at the mansion of Texas businessmen, including newspaper publishers and editors, at which Smith's program was explained in detail and the visitors were asked for their comment.

SMITH HERE

Smith said he wanted businessmen and the press to share with him the problems of financing state projects.

Back in 1969, and maybe into 1970, a telephone call to the governor's office might be answered: "Preston Smith talking."

However, only three or four scheduled press conferences were called by the governor this year. The last was Aug. 29 when Smith spent about 20 minutes talking about his fuss with President Nixon over the wage-price freeze. No other questions were answered.

And a telephone call now to Smith usually is answered by his press aide, Jerry Hall—who just resigned to join the Ben Barnes-for-governor campaign.

QUESTIONS

However, it must be said in defense of Smith's "open door" policy that reporters who are fast on their feet can ask him a question or two when he appears once or twice weekly in his reception room to sign proclamations. The usual procedure is for reporters to line up against the east door of the reception room, blocking the governor's path back to his private office. Then while Smith threads his way through the roadblock he is bombarded with questions.

The so-called "impromptu" conferences generally are jovial with considerable good-natured banter both by the governor and the reporters. Sometimes the exchange produces a story, other times just conversation.

At times on out of town trips Smith has news conferences for the local newspapers and radio-TV reporters, but not always.

On a June visit to Dallas, a crowd of reporters tried to corner Smith after a downtown speech and ask questions, particularly about the stock fraud scandal. Smith ignored all questions and ran down a stairway to get away. The governor's companion, Larry Teaver, who recently was named State Insurance Board member, grabbed a pursuing television reporter's microphone and broke the cord. But Smith's record on press conferences is no better or worse than other top officials in the Capitol.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has adopted a "low profile campaign" since announcing for governor in the midst of the stock scandal investigation. He conducts interviews and makes frequent public appearance almost daily throughout the state, but only for local newspapermen and radio-TV. His office does not even distribute for statewide use a travel itinerary, which is usually furnished by politicians.

And there is nothing but silence at the House end of the Capitol. Occasionally Speaker Gus Mutscher's office distributes

Tech Students Learn Chinese

LUBBOCK — Chinese presents something of a paradox to educators. Although it is the native language of approximately one-fourth of the world's population and is regarded as an exciting challenge by budding linguists, it is rarely taught in the American Southwest — largely because there is a dearth of qualified teachers.

At Texas Tech University, however, a group of students is seeking to master the intricacies of the ancient and complex language under the tutelage of Mrs. Jean Koh, a graduate of the University of Shanghai and a longtime resident of the U.S.

The task is not as formidable as might be supposed. One new lesson with 10 vocabulary words is taught each week with primary emphasis on reading, until at the completion of the course, students have a command of 350 characters and their 800 special combinations that give a working knowledge of the language. The second year's study stresses conversation.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

GIFT GONE: (Q.) Do you think it is fair that my mother took my money? I got $12 for my birthday and she let me spend $3. Then the rest disappeared.

PLEASE DON'T TELL ME TO TALK TO HER ABOUT IT. I DID AND SHE SAID FOR ME TO FORGET IT. — $9 Short in South Dakota.

(A.) A mother or father has a right to, and should, advise a child on how to spend money he has received as a gift or in any other honest way.

A parent has a right to borrow money from a child if the money is needed — and parents are often in need.

A parent has a right to forbid a child to spend money for something the parent believes to be unwise or harmful.

But no parent should take without discussion or explanation money that rightfully belongs to a child.

If this was money you had honestly and openly received as a gift from some relative or friend, and your mother took it without explanation, then she is being unfair.

I think she knows this and that the knowledge is hurting her conscience. You may not get the $9 back, but I do not believe that in the future she will take money from you without talking to you about it.

NOT MUTUAL: (Q.) I went with a girl for four months. Then she said she loved me. I said, "I'm sorry, but I don't love you." She ran away crying. Now she tells girls I date that I raped her. Should I slap her across her face? — Lied About in Massachusetts.

(A.) Slapping her might give the other girls the idea that she is telling the truth about you. Your best course is to be such a gentleman when you are with other girls that they will know she is lying.

Also try to be kinder to the other girls than you were to her. Tell them the truth, but do not tell it so bluntly that you make them cry.

Bus Drivers Slap Offer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Officials of the local bus drivers union, working without a contract since August, labeled management's latest offer "unacceptable" Monday and predicted it will be rejected.

Management proposed a seven per cent pay hike, provided the federal Wage Board permits it. The 500-member union is to vote on the offer Wednesday.

"I think the union will turn them down unanimously," said local union President Wilson Parker, noting the bus drivers rejected a similar offer earlier this month.

He declined to speculate on whether a strike would be called, saying it would be "up to the membership." Drivers struck for 16 days here in 1969.

Parker said he felt the union would accept an earlier offer of 8.23 per cent if it included fringe benefit improvements and a cost of living escalator clause. That proposal was made before the national wage-price freeze took effect.

The drivers originally rejected the 8.23 per cent hike because it included a fair increase and contained no cost of living provisions, Parker said.

Wiretap Trial Due To Resume

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Testimony resumed today in the trial of a former South Texas police chief charged with tapping the telephones of the local United Auto Workers headquarters.

Prosecution witnesses testified Monday that a wiretap on the UAW telephone lines led to a nearby building rented by the former officer, Robert Leslie Forsche.

Forsche, 47, is charged with "intercepting and endeavoring to intercept telephone conversations" at the UAW headquarters during 1970.

Most recently employed by a private detective agency here, Forsche was police chief at Mission, Tex., in 1960 and 1961 and at Baytown in 1965. He also had served as an intelligence officer at the Kingsville Naval Air Station and as a policeman at Harlingen.

On the opening day of testimony in federal court Monday.

UAW organizer Roy Hernandez said the telephone company was called several times when office staffers noted static and other problems on two of the office telephone lines.

Ivan Gordon, a telephone repair supervisor, testified that a tap was discovered on lines leading from the UAW office.

Other lines led from the tap to a building two blocks away, Gordon said. Although no equipment was connected to the alleged wiretap lines at the time they were discovered, the lines were still "live," Gordon testified.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Herb Novak told the jury that the prosecution will show Forsche intercepted and tape-recorded phone conversations that took place at the UAW headquarters.

The purpose of the alleged wiretap was not disclosed Monday. Defense lawyer James Gillespie maintained the government will not be able to prove any illegal acts on the strength of what he called the purely circumstantial evidence available.

USDA Cites Stock Dealer

WASHINGTON — R. L. Tate, a livestock dealer and market agency, of Big Spring, has been charged with violating payment and recordkeeping requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today. The agency charged in an administrative complaint that R. L. Tate issued insufficient funds checks in payment for over $46,000 worth of livestock purchased at stockyards in March and April, 1971. He has since paid in full for these purchases.

P&SA also charged that Tate failed to keep complete accounts and records which correctly disclosed all transactions involved in his dealer and market agency business under the Act.

Livestock dealers are required under P&S regulations to pay for livestock by no later than the close of business on the day following purchase, unless credit has been arranged in advance.

RESTLESS NEIGHBOR-II

The Forgotten Man Of Mexico

Editor's Note: Our neighbor Canada is strictly 20th century. In contrast, Mexico stands now about where the United States stood at the Reconstruction period after the Civil War. In the appraisal of California Prof. John A. Crow, author of the book "Mexico Today," some of the things that make this so are discussed in this article, second in a series of three by the AP's chief correspondent in Mexico.

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A toothless farmer, barefoot and wearing tattered clothes, stood on the edge of a crowd of about 250 men who till communal farmland in Mexico's sweltering state of Tabasco.

In the center of the crowd stood a tall Mexican of 49 years, wearing a sport shirt and slacks. Luis Echeverria, president of Mexico, was listening to the forgotten man of Mexico, the "campesino" farmer who survives on the very edge of this country's flourishing economic growth.

HE STOPPED

The farmers had flagged down the president's bus as he toured Tabasco State on one of the tours he has made since taking office a year ago. They wanted paving of the rutted, dirt road on which they stood.

Echeverria promised that if they would terrace the roadbed at government expense he would send in the paving equipment. That way, he explained, they could help themselves, earn a daily wage and end the seasonal isolation of their four villages.

"At least he stopped," the toothless farmer said. "A lot of presidents wouldn't."

It was one of thousands of stops Echeverria has made. He traveled 27,460 miles in his first 11 months in office, pushing for reforms he feels must be made to end corruption, oppression, fear and the increasing gap between Mexico's rich and poor.

This country has a reputation as one of the most rapidly developing nations in the Third World. Economic statistics reflect years of stable and sure growth.

STATISTICS LIE

But as far as that farmer is concerned the statistics lie. For him, and for millions of peasants and laborers, the situation is desperate. Their share of nation's growth is hard to find.

"It is obvious, at this point of Mexican development, that there can no longer be a postponement of the measures meant to reduce . . . unbalances," says the National Bank of Foreign Trade in a report on Echeverria's policies. "A more equitable income distribution among the different strata of population must be achieved."

Government protection of developing industries, the report suggested, has to taper off. Consumer goods are priced out of reason with the cost of production. An appliance which sells for $10 in another country may cost $20 here even though labor costs are lower.

Many Mexicans blame part of this on heavy U.S. investment. They say subsidiaries of American firms set retail prices keyed to high profits. Sixty-five per cent of this country's foreign trade is with the United States. Many of Mexico's exports are produced by subsidiaries of American companies and sold on the world market by the parent firm or by U.S. middlemen.

There are economists who say American dominance in Mexican technology, commerce and finance has made this country an economic stepchild of U.S. demand.

The 1970 census found 29,788,308 Mexicans economically active. But 40 per cent of them had an average monthly income of $40 or less. Only slightly more than 100,000 Mexicans reported monthly income of $800 or more.

The Roman Catholic Church, seeing social responsibilities in this country where almost 97 per cent of the people are Catholic, circulated this fall a document called "Social Justice in Mexico". It severely criticized the government, and the Church, for allowing the poor to drift along in a marginal existence.

The report pointed out that Mexico's agriculture reform, basis of the 1910-17 revolution, has not worked as well as some people claim. In 1976 there were 819,504 people tilling "ejido" or communal farm land. Often their plots are so tiny, and the land so poor, they could not feed themselves properly much less raise a cash crop.

They Judge 'Dirt' Girl

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A 19-year-old coed from Cornell University who says she would rather play in the dirt than study, found that "playing in the dirt" paid off. She is now rated the top intercollegiate soil judge in the Northeast.

Jackie Mangum, in her first try at soil judging, out scored 80 other competitors in the regional soil judging competition at Rutgers University and led Cornell's team to a surprise second place in the six-school competition.

Miss Mangum was one of only four women among the 80 competitors. Maryland's all-male team that has traditionally been victorious in the competition did voice a complaint—"she's too distracting."

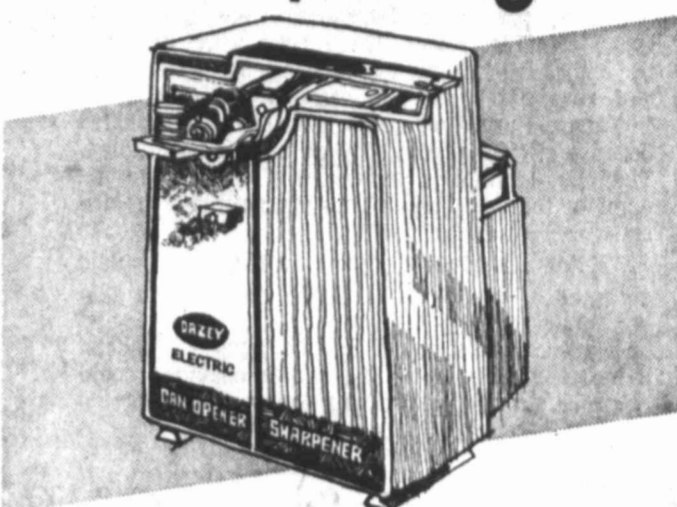

Miss Mangum emerged from the judging pits with 714 points, more points than any other individual contestant.

She explained that a soil judging contest consists of 25 minutes of concentrated judging time in each of four dirt pits with diversified types of soil. She said there are 75 different characteristics to consider when analyzing a section of soil.

Miss Mangum is a junior from Huntsville, Ala., majoring in government.

TALKS ON NOMINATION — Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., speaks out Monday at a news conference where he discussed the nomination of Dr. Earl Butz to be the new Secretary of Agriculture. Noting that the Senate will vote this week to confirm or deny the nomination, Harris said the vote involves the ordering of national priorities. The senator leads the forces opposing the nomination.

Favors Corporate Farming, Foes Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid increasing Senate opposition to the nomination of Dr. Earl L. Butz as secretary of agriculture, one Democratic senator has suggested that Kansas Republican Sen. James Pearson be named to the post.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre of New Hampshire said Monday that Pearson, as a representative of a major agricultural state, would be the ideal Republican to speak for rural America in the President's Cabinet.

To confirm Butz, McIntyre said in a statement, "would be as inappropriate and insensitive as making George Wallace chairman of the Civil Rights Commission or Abbie Hoffman attorney general."

Pearson himself wrote to President Nixon last week asking that the nomination of Butz, 62, a former Purdue University dean, be withdrawn.

McIntyre and Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., made the same plea Monday and repeated in separate statements the case opponents have made against Butz so far.

They said he favors corporate farming over family farming, often ignores the interests of the poor and hungry, and is not responsive to pleas of environmentalists.

Harris said at least 35 senators are prepared to vote against Butz's nomination. He said he hopes a vote can be blocked when the matter reaches the Senate floor Wednesday.

In fact, Harris said, he would like action delayed until early next year so Senate researchers can delve more deeply into Butz's background.

Some Senate sources said the number of votes against Butz is up to 41.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said, however, a head count taken by the White House shows Butz has a majority. If all senators are present, 51 comprises a majority.

Senators from farm states, however, reported their mail continued to be heavy on the subject with most of it against confirmation.

Honor Grant Applicants Taken

Applications for the 1972-73 Clarence E. Riley Scholarship Honor Grant are now being accepted by the Texas City Management Association.

The grant includes $2,000 to the recipient and $500 to the graduate program of the school in which he enrolls. The latter must be applied to an urban management project developed by the graduate program director and approved by TCMA.

Each year TCMA awards a grant to a graduate student pursuing a course of study in a certified Texas college or university which leads to a career in urban management.

Application forms and information are available from TCMA, in Austin, and deadline for receiving applications is March 1, 1972. Award announcements will be made April 15, 1972.

Since the program's inception in 1957, there have been 21 scholarships accepted, and of these 21 recipients, 17 have entered urban management or related professional fields.

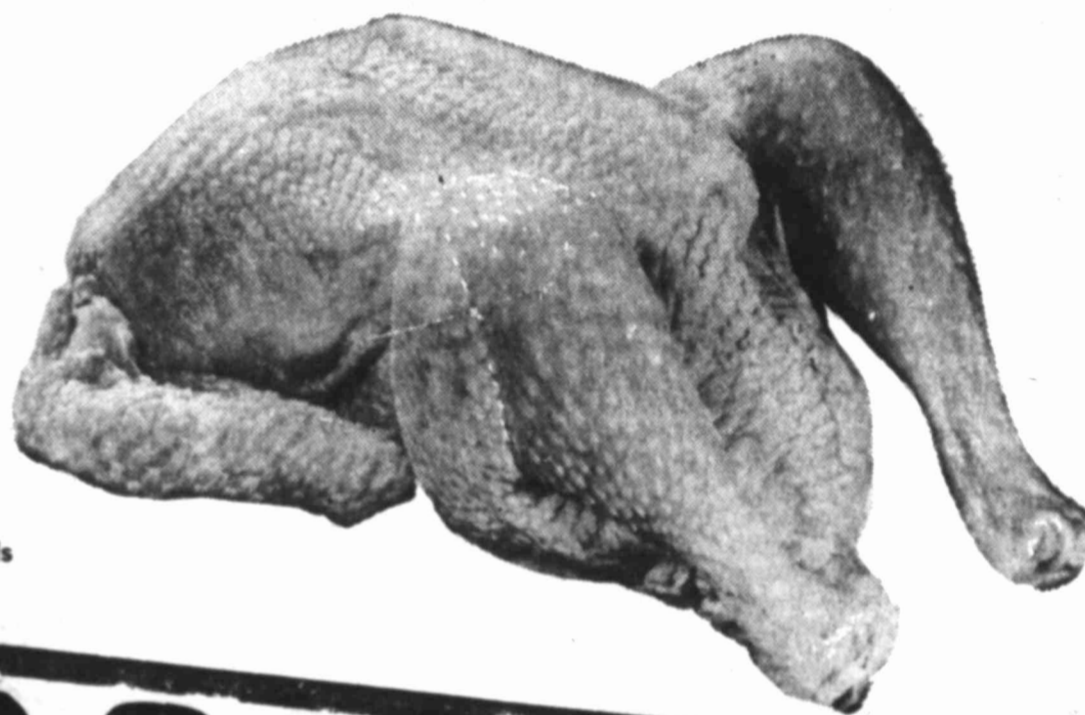

'No Contest'

KAMPALA (AP) — Police had to search for the organizer of the Miss Uganda contest which was to have decided the beauty to compete in the Miss World contest in London.

He disappeared — along with the prize money, leaving 19 local beauty queens and 530 guests in the lurch, and the contest unresolved.

Grandma's Lye Soap Return?

So what's a mother to do? Use phosphate detergents or not? This soap opera would be comic except for the confusion on serious matters brought about by the governmental agencies which deal with health and the environment.

First, phosphate detergents were hailed for great cleaning power. Then they were attacked by environmentalists for causing aging in lakes and streams. Then U.S. Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld urged women to go back to phosphates because of the hazards of more caustic substitutes. Then Dr. Steinfeld's position was modified to the point of total confusion by other government officials.

Enter enzyme detergents. After large public acceptance, the Federal Trade Commission late last year decided to propose a health warning be placed on packages of enzyme laundry products. Some medical studies had shown enzymes could cause skin irritation and pulmonary problems.

Earlier this month the Food and Drug Administration in effect disputed the FTC. A one-year $19,300 study gave enzymes a near clean bill of health. The FDA suggested enzyme-based products might well replace phosphate detergents.

These reversals of positions on phosphates and enzymes leave housewives with doubts about both. Do they trust the FTC, the FDA or the surgeon general? Meanwhile, grandma's lye soap may be making a comeback amid the bureaucratic bumbling.

Poverty Not That Remote

Three University of Texas geographers have collaborated on a study using "remote sensing" to determine where urban poverty neighborhoods abound.

Remote sensing is an "eye-in-the-sky" technique whereby aerial-borne devices such as cameras (using conventional and infrared film), optical-mechanical scanners or other electronic sensors allow man to "see the largely invisible images generated along the different wavelengths of the entire electromagnetic spectrum."

Applying the remote sensing technique to urban geography, the UT men (a graduate student and two faculty members) undertook to assess differences in the quality of housing between middle-income and low-income neighborhoods, and at the same time to determine suitable indicators of urban blight.

Among the evidence revealed by their photographs was that middle-income houses were almost twice as large as those in low-income areas and that they set back from the property line.

Hoo, boy! Frankly, we never thought it necessary to go 20,000 feet in the air to find poverty. It isn't that remote.

Just For Today

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

We all have inspirational things lying around the house — a sentence, a poem, a few words composed by someone wiser, more idealistic (or less human) than ourselves. And for a shining moment, the reminders of a more noble nature make us vow to become a better human being.

BUT I AM weak, and there is no certainty that I will be stronger tomorrow.

The philosophers ask so much, so soon. More to my liking is the personal pledge that only promises a day at a time. I do not know the author.

"JUST FOR TODAY, I will try to live through this day only, and not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do something for 12 hours that would appall me if I felt I had to keep it up for a lifetime.

"Just for today I will be happy. This assumes to be true what Abraham Lincoln said — that "most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be." I will adjust myself to what is and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my "luck" as it comes and fit myself to it.

"JUST FOR TODAY I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful. I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

"Just for today I will exercise my soul in three ways: I will do somebody a good turn and not get found out; if anybody knows of it, it will not count. I will do at least two things I don't want to do — just for exercise. I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt; they may be hurt, but today I will not show it.

"JUST FOR today I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, dress becomingly, talk low, act confidently, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything and not try to improve or regulate anybody but myself. I will have a programme. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two pests: hurry and indecision.

"JUST FOR today I will have a quiet hour all by myself, and relax. During this hour, sometime, I will try to get a better perspective of my life.

"Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially, I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me."

About Campaigns

William F. Buckley Jr.

The most offensive features of political campaigning via the broadcasting media are the most difficult to crack. There is the length of the campaign. I happen to like George McGovern. He is a very nice man. (Never mind that I would depart for Australia if he were elected president.) But the prospect of George McGovern (or for that matter Abraham Lincoln) night and day for maybe 24 months (yes, he launched his campaign approximately two years before the election) is more than body and soul can bear.

BUT WHAT does one do about it? Everybody agrees that the strain on the candidates themselves is inordinate, and that although it made sense in the earlier days of our republic to campaign for six months before the election, since it took that much time to familiarize themselves with voters strewn about the country in their log cabins, it is no longer the case. Television and radio and the national press can make anybody a household word in a matter of days, and there are all sorts of tricks available to the resourceful campaigner that are useful for getting a lot of attention. Two years ago a girl won election as class president at Stanford University, springing from obscurity to notoriety by the simple expedient of distributing campaign posters of herself nude, or rather seminude (at Stanford they exercise a dignified moderation).

A POLITICIAN struggling for higher office can gain a great deal of attention by, say, advertising himself as having discovered a formula for world peace without any need for an army, navy, air force, or poison ivy. There are as many glib people as there are prudent people, and it doesn't take long, in the age of instant communication, to engage their attention; and, every now and then, George McGovern is elected president of their class. Will the public tune out the politician who keeps telling us that we can have peace for nothing?

ON THE OTHER hand, there isn't very much that can be done about it. Something, yes. For instance, the two major parties could agree to schedule their conventions on the first and second weekends in September, and that would shorten the campaign itself. And the states might agree to hold their primaries on the same day, let us say three weeks before the conventions. If the candidates wanted to campaign a whole year ahead of time, well: perhaps the broadcasters and the newspapers would find them less than exciting.

AS REGARDS quality, and honesty, that is a real problem, and I doubt that in our time we are going to lick it. It was only seven years ago that Lyndon Johnson authorized a television commercial that showed a little girl, while engaged in picking daisies, interrupted by an atomic bomb, which the viewer was all but shown candidate Goldwater personally detonating. Pat Brown, running against Ronald Reagan, had one television spot featuring a little Negro shoeshine boy professing his gratitude at the emancipation of his forefathers by Abraham Lincoln, at which point Brown said, "You remember who killed Abraham Lincoln, don't you son? It was an actor."

THAT KIND of thing can't be curbed by public or private regulation. Certainly Congress is not going to come up with a Pure Campaign Commission, which will pass on politicians' television commercials. That is up to the public: to assert itself in resentment against those politicians who have hitched their wagon to the voters' ignorance or gullibility. At this moment, that ignorance and gullibility are being given a very high rating, and the politicians often give the impression that they are returning the favors of the Beverly Hillsbillies; but any attempt to work it up into an enforceable code is doomed to failure, and probably should be.

Real-Life Villains

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Recent night-time visitors to the Never-Never Land young people's tourist attraction were not exactly nursery rhyme characters. The gift shop was broken into and $952 worth of transistor radios, toys, costume jewelry, Eskimo figures and other articles were stolen.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Recently I became a Christian, but I have been going around with the wrong crowd and doing things that I know are wrong. What can I do? K.B.

You failed your first test, but that doesn't mean that you are doomed to fail all the rest. You were given opportunity to show your friends that your life had been changed, but instead of being a "witness," you conformed to the old ways.

But do not despair! It is interesting to note in the Scriptures that Christ selected rejects and failures to do His work. Peter who denied Him, James and John, who in pride sought position and status. Zachaeus, a hated tax collector. The scarlet woman of Samaria, who had failed in five marriages. All these were transformed and used by our Lord.

So you have failed! But the remorse you have suffered by your failure should show you how miserable your life is going to be, if you abscond, and walk apart from the Savior.

If you stub your toe, you don't lie in the road and say, "I tried and failed; there is no use for me to get up and try again." The Bible says, "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Enter by the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is easy that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. For the gate is narrow and the way is hard, that leads to life, and those who find it are few." (Matthew 7:13-14, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear God, we want to find the real life. Help us to turn to Christ as our pilot, in His name we pray. Amen.

In Defense Of Boogie

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Washington is still in shock from a boogie incident that took place at the last Redskins home football game at RFK Stadium. It seems that the Redskins fans who had been euphoric about the team's early winning streak started to boo Coach George Allen because he refused to replace quarterback Billy Kilmer with Sonny Jurgensen, who had been out with injuries.

THE FACT that the Redskins fans would boo a team they had been cheering a few games back even shook up President Nixon, who made a surprise visit to the Redskins camp to reassure the players that he was rooting for them.

While most responsible people in Washington deplored the boogie, my friend Lem Katcaewer defended it.

"Boogie is as American as apple pie," he said to me. "If we can't boo at a football game, we're no better than the Russians."

"BUT LEM," I protested, "you're not supposed to boo your own team."

"That's how much you know about boogie. Everyone knows that boogie is a form of emotional release. There was a time, I'll admit, when boogie the other side was sufficient to get the juices flowing. But in the world we live in today the only real satisfaction fans get is boogie their own team."

"It seems awfully cruel," I said.

"PERHAPS," said Lem, "but everyone is doing it and not just at football games. Children are boogie grownups, grownups are boogie long hairs, voters are boogie politicians, students are boogie speakers and rank-and-file workers are boogie their own labor leaders. There is 75 per cent more boogie going on in this country than there was 20 years ago."

"Why is that?"

"Everybody is mad," said Lem, "and they have to take it out on somebody. All of us have been brought up on the axiom that the only thing that counts in life is to win. So when somebody is losing, the natural thing to do is to boo him."

"But maybe if you cheered, it would help him win," I protested.

"THAT'S OLD HAT," Lem said. "There's so little to cheer about any more that people actually feel silly when they do it. Besides nobody pays any attention to people who cheer. It's the man who boos that everyone worries about."

"I don't know, Lem, but there has to be something."

"Look, when I was young I used to do a lot of cheering myself. I cheered the Flag, I cheered the President, I cheered for my school, I cheered for the sake of cheering. But now that Americans don't know which side they're on any more, the safest thing to do is to boo."

"IT'S AWFULLY tough on people who are trying their hardest," I said.

"That's too bad," Lem said. "But if I don't boo, people will think I don't care what happens."

START OF THE FLOOD?

Cold, Calculating, Cautious

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — In their conversations, in speeches and in the letters they write, businessmen today seem uncertain and concerned. Cold, calculating, cautious, they don't see much fun ahead and so they don't make big plans.

Every observer of business knows that such moods change from depression to manic as events, or the interpretation of them, take on different shapes and patterns. But uncertain and concerned is the current mood.

UNCERTAIN: A new economic program has been adopted and nobody is at all sure that it will work, or even whether it is temporary or permanent. Prices, wages and profits are hard to forecast.

One company watches the other, hoping that the inevitable errors will be their competitors' rather than theirs.

Seldom have more eyes scrutinized more intently more economic statistics and indicators. Slight fractional changes receive exaggerated examination. Signs and portents are sought.

Not helping the situation is the tendency for the statistics to be a bit unreliable. The index of leading indicators is announced and later revised. What are you to make of a preliminary index that shows a decline and a final index showing an advance? It has happened.

The Federal Reserve made a similar error last week. With many businessmen worried that the money supply would be contracted too sharply, the Fed made the untimely mistake of underestimating the supply by $400 million.

That error was a clean one. But how do you find a trend in statistics that fluctuate on either side of plus or minus, or which change by a tenth of one per cent or are in conflict with a whole set of other figures? With uncertainty prevailing, one company watches for the other to move, hoping thereby to profit by its mistakes. It should be the other way around, with the rewards going to the risk taker.

President Nixon, Treasury Secretary John Connally and Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns have repeatedly expressed their confidence in the future, hoping thereby to supply the spark that lights the fire.

Past experience has shown, however, that assurances repeated too often can have the opposite effect when sown in worried minds. "Things must be bad indeed," the listener says, "if they feel compelled to talk it up."

The impasse more likely can be broken by assertive action by the risktakers, the companies which, despite doubts, feel that the potential rewards are worth going after. There are examples to be followed in this regard.

Shock Waves

Marquis Childs

TOKYO — The Nixon shock No. 1, recorded on Japan's political earthquake scale, was the announcement of the Presidential visit to Peking. Shock No. 2 one month later was the Nixon New Economic Policy. For a people long dependent on the United States in both trade and diplomacy it is hard to say which was the greater blow.

JAPANESE OFFICIAL reaction to the Peking visit is curiously ambivalent. On the one hand, it is taken as a betrayal of a relationship of trust and confidence. Like a bolt of lightning the Nixon announcement ended 25 years of cooperation that had been particularly close regarding China.

On the other hand, as Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda put it in an interview with this reporter, the Nixon initiative means the beginning of a dialogue which has been sadly lacking in Asia. In Europe, where the NATO powers confront the Soviet Union and the Warsaw Pact nations, there has long been a dialogue. Now the United States and the People's Republic of China are opening a path beyond confrontation and containment.

BUT FUKUDA, too, weighs the cons as well as the pros. Japan was bypassed by a shock to the political life of the country felt even within his own Liberal-Democratic party. The Foreign Minister, widely believed to be the next Prime Minister when Eisaku Sato steps down, spoke of the communique issued in Washington just two years ago when Sato conferred with Nixon. They promised to maintain the closest cooperation on every diplomatic front.

TO THE OPPOSITION, and even within the Liberal Democratic party, as Fukuda pointed out, this looked like American betrayal of Japan in "dual diplomacy." It was a deal, with Communist China joining in collusion to try to oppress Japan's economic strength. The leftists were given still another reason for the violent demonstrations rocking this capital coincidental with ratification by the Diet of the Okinawa treaty granting the United States bases and 50,000 troops on the island after the Japanese take-over.

On the Nixon economic policy, Fukuda said he recognized that the United States had to take such measures to protect the dollar and correct the imbalance of trade. Without American stability there can be no stability anywhere in the world.

THE DANGER, as the Foreign Minister sees it, is that if the process is long drawn out other nations will take countermeasures to match the American surcharge of 10 per cent. Denmark has already imposed a surcharge. If the economy deteriorates the world will face a tragedy like that of the 1930s when protectionism initiated by the United States touched off a worldwide depression.

THE CONFLICT over the surcharge, which has already cast a shadow over Japan's flourishing economy, should be resolved not later than next March. If it is prolonged beyond that deadline the American presidential campaign will have begun in earnest and it will be impossible to keep the issue of protectionism out of partisan debate.

THE VISITOR cannot but feel, however, that the Japanese industrial drive is so powerful, the habit of work and discipline so ingrained that the economy can survive even the 10 per cent levy. China is a far greater preoccupation. As Fukuda says, Japan has been a close neighbor of China for 2,000 years and a way must be found to renew a relationship broken off when the Japanese invaded China in the late '30s.

Success Is Relative

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

We are taught almost from birth to be ambitious and get as much out of life as possible. But anyone in his 80s who aspires to live into his 90s is regarded as vain or stubborn, not ambitious. When we become something of a nuisance to others, we are all expected to be polite and die gracefully and without making too much of a bother about it.

A thing we've never heard—and never expect to—is for a pro football quarterback to ask heaven for a white Christmas.

More acquaintanceship doesn't always lead to knowledge. A city-born friend of mine confessed the other day he hadn't seen a live cow until his 15th birthday. When I asked him how many milk faucets there were on a cow, he com-fessed he didn't know. "I was just interested in what a cow looked like," he said, "not how she did her work."

As a matter of fact, probably half the population of America today doesn't know the number of faucets on a cow. The answer is four—usually.

Nothing gives a man more of a feeling of mortality than having a tooth pulled—or finding a hole in his shoe.

Success is relative, but about the hardest thing for anyone to put up with is a relative who becomes a success.

Where there is no friction in a marriage, there isn't likely to be very much real love or real hate either.

Whatever happened to the old-fashioned kitchen match? I haven't even seen one for years. Has it struck out?

The trouble with Christmas gifts is that they often aren't

Be Friends, Too

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him Norm) has taken an interest in a co-worker. (A buddy-type friendship she says.) She's divorced and has a child and lots of problems. For some reason, I don't trust her.

Norm says she's a good girl who dates occasionally, but if she has nothing to do on weekends, she gets bored and lonely. Anyway, Norm told her she was welcome to drop in at our house when she wanted company. (So far she hasn't taken him up on it.) He even offered to tune up her car and change her oil.

Last Saturday he suggested that instead of just the two of us spending the evening alone, we invite this girl over to play cards with us. When I told him my discover that she's a good girl who's had a lot of bad luck. Give her a chance.

DEAR ABBY: I read only two things in the newspaper. The obituary column and Dear Abby. (And in that order.) Why on earth did you print that cheap barroom story about the man pinning $2 to his wife's pillow, and she gave him a dollar back saying she never charged anybody more than a dollar?

That story has been around since World War I. Can you honestly say you didn't know you were being had? TIM IN WIS.

DEAR TIM: If I had known I was being had, he wouldn't have had me.

DEAR ABBY: With regard to that minister who was tempted by other women because his marriage had grown cold: Following a family crisis, I took my problems to my pastor only to find that I left my heart with him. Double trouble. I feel there is a real need within the church for women counselors. It would give the ministers more time to be with their wives and families, instead of having to devote so much time to troubled (and in some cases, conniving) women.

NOT TALKING

DEAR NOT: Your suggestion makes so much sense, I'm surprised it has never been suggested before. (Or has it?)

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to WISER NOW — "Never answer an angry word with an angry word. It's the second one that makes the quarrel!" — was just beautiful! I was so impressed with it that I am embroidering it on cloth and shall frame it!

Skin Turns

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My skin turns black wherever it is in contact with jewelry with a high non-gold alloy content.

An 18-K ring leaves only a slight smudge. A costume jewelry watch and other 14-K rings create large dirty-looking areas for several inches surrounding the area of contact. This is not easily washed off except with soap, water and scrubbing.

The same reaction occurs with silver service. I can take a clean spoon and actually "write" on my arm with it. Could you explain this? No one seems to have ever heard of it.

It's not as uncommon as you may think. It is the result of a reaction of chemicals in perspiration (usually sulphides) and metals in the jewelry.

Pure gold does not easily combine with other things — but pure gold is too soft to make good jewelry so other metals are alloyed with gold to make it stronger and wear better.

Exactly why some people have traces of chemicals in their perspiration that cause a chemical reaction with metals, I do not know, but it is a complaint one encounters fairly regularly.

Jewelers, I understand, have pretty good success in overcoming the trouble by coating metal, where it comes in contact with the skin, with a transparent plastic, or coating it with rhodium.

As to table silver, the best suggestion I can make is to wash hands very thoroughly before dinner, and — this is important — dry them very thoroughly. The less skin moisture, the less chance of chemical reaction.

subdue attacks, but the drugs to lower the uric acid should be used permanently. Most physicians don't object to moderate alcohol, but excessive alcohol intake is definitely unwise for a gout sufferer.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am enclosing 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for literature on gout. My son, 42, is bothered with severe pain in either his big toe or ankle at various times. It is swollen and he can't stand to have even a sheet touching it. It generally lasts three to four days. Do you have a diet for it? Are alcoholic drinks harmful? — Mrs. E.R.S.

I've sent you a copy of my booklet, "Gout, The Modern Way to Stop It."

Moderation in diet (explained in the booklet) is helpful in controlling gout, but paramount importance is in use of one or another of the medications which keep the uric acid level down.

OU Students Have Faith In Sooners

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: Best sign last week at the Nebraska-Oklahoma game was the one strung out across the top of one of the dorms at Norman, Okla. It didn't come true, but it read:

"We're gonna annihilate bomb cream destroy eliminate flunk grind humiliate incapacitate jinx kill liquidate massacre nail obliterate pop quunch (sic) rip shuck trounce upset victimize wishbone x-terminate yank zork Nebraska."

Saddest memory? Oklahoma's Chuck Fairbanks, after being grilled in the locker room, showing up later at a post-game reception and saying in a soft voice:

"Probably the most disappointing thing about the game is that we've got a great bunch of young men on this team. We worked five years trying to get a group of people together to play the way we wanted. They worked real hard to get in this position and not being able to fulfill what the kids worked for is disappointing."

"But just reacting themselves in a position to challenge for No. 1 is quite an accomplishment. We just ran out of holes. We needed one more burdie. But it was the greatest game I've ever been involved in... a classic game."

When you cheat your secondary toward the line to head off the explosive wishbone ground attack, it means you can't play a zone defense. And unless you can cover receivers man-for-man—and Oklahoma's Jon Harrison gave Nebraska a defender Bill Kosch fit—it makes you vulnerable to the bomb.

It's been a typical eventful year in the Joe Paterno domain at University Park, Pa.

In 1969, Paterno made headlines when he blasted President Nixon for declaring Texas No. 1. A year ago, he challenged Eastern champion Dartmouth to come out of its Ivy League shell and settle matters on the field.

This year, Paterno and the rest of the Penn State clan have been engaged in a running battle with segments of the Eastern press over the merits of running back Lydell Mitchell and Cornell's Ed Marinaro.

Sands Claims 4th Straight

ACKERLY — Sands' boys flogged New Home, 117-51, but the New Home girls won, 54-46, here Monday evening.

Now 4-0, the Sands boys will swing back into action at 8:30 o'clock here this evening against Coahoma. The Sands girls will open their district season against Gail in a 7 p.m. engagement. Girls' B teams of the two schools clash at 5:30 p.m.

Bobby Beall played an outstanding game for Sands' boys, scoring 48 points and contributing ten assists. Stan Smith, who had 18 rebounds for the Mustangs, also scored 29 points.

Janette Nichols paced the Sands girls with 27 points. Sealy tallied 25 for New Home.

In the back courts, Susie Rodriguez, Dorinda Graham and Diane Bowlin did well for Sands.

The Sands girls' B team edged New Home in a preliminary contest, 36-32.

Gwen Skinner counted 23 points for Sands and Wuensche 18 for New Home in that one.

Nebraska, Alabama Are 1-2 In Football Poll

By The Associated Press

All-winning Nebraska came within 14 points of a perfect score in this week's Associated Press poll, while equally unbeaten Alabama climbed into second place and set up college football's version of the Super Bowl.

It will take place on New Year's Night in Miami's Orange Bowl when the two leaders clash with the national championship at stake.

Nebraska's defending champions received 48 first-place votes and 1,086 points in the 11th annual regular-season poll from a national panel of 55 sports writers and broadcasters. The Cornhuskers won last week's 1-2 showdown with Oklahoma 35-31.

Alabama, an impressive 31-7 winner over previously unbeaten Auburn, earned four top votes and 938 points while Oklahoma slipped from second to third with 851 points. Many voters still rated the Sooners No. 2.

Michigan, which finished its regular season a week ago with a 11-0 record, remained fourth with two first-place votes and 764 votes while Penn State picked up the remaining top

Viking-Dolphin Collision Foreseen By Bear Coach

MIAMI (AP) — Jim Dooley, standing amid a pack of sweaty and slaughtered Chicago Bears, already had a Super Bowl pairing in mind.

"If I had to pick two teams now," said the Bears' coach, "it'd be the Minnesota Vikings against the Miami Dolphins."

Chicago had just absorbed a 34-3 prime time licking from Miami in ABC's Monday night TV game but, although professionally delighted, Dolphin Coach Don Shula wasn't ready to pack for New Orleans and the Jan. 16 title game.

"You guys can write what you want," he told a sports writing mob, "but I'm not looking past next week's game against the New England Patriots."

The Dolphins have the National Football League's finest record, an eighth-straight triumph making Miami 9-1-1 with a 1½-game division lead over the world champion Baltimore Colts.

The Bears are 6-5 and non-competitors.

Bob Griese passed for two scores, hiking his NFL-leading touchdown total to 19. Larry Csonka plowed for 104 yards, recapturing the American Conference rushing lead with 878. Garo Yepremian booted field goals from 43 and 35 yards plus extra points to increase his NFL-topping scoring total to 98.

An ocean-to-ocean television audience saw the Dolphins at their best. "Maybe we convinced a few people elsewhere," said linebacker Nick Buoniconti, "that we're a pretty good team."

Shula wasn't worrying about impressions.

"I'm just concerned with our performance, not what people think," said the former Colt headcoach. "Notice will come if you keep winning. There's no way you can lobby for recognition."

This is THE BIG ONE

COACH OF YEAR — Iowa State University coach Johnny Majors was today named by AP sportswriters and sportscasters as the Big Eight Coach of the Year following his football team's rise to an 8-3 year and an upcoming Dec. 18 Sun Bowl game.

Steers Host Hawk Frosh

Just to keep their hand in, the Big Spring Steers will host Howard County JC's freshmen in an 8 o'clock game in Steer Gym this evening.

Actually, the HC team will not include Russell Frontz, Ben Gay and Herbert Lee, all of whom have clocked playing time with the HC varsity.

Coach Harold Wilder has recruited a couple of players out of the school's PE classes to fill out his lineup. Those players, of course, have had basketball experience in high school.

The Steers, now 2-2, are marking time for the Plainview Tournament, which starts Thursday.

The Longhorns open play in that event at 11:30 a.m., at which time they tangle with Lubbock Dunbar.

Harold Wilder, the Jayhawk coach, likely will start a team composed of Bobo Watkins and Tony Geoke at guards and Richard Bullard, Dan Florence and Warren Cunningham up front.

Blip Cummings and Steve Haxton will be pressed into duty from time to time for HC. Wilder has also enlisted the help of Harold Rosser, Billy Graves and Kenneth Demerson from the school's PE classes.

Big Spring has beaten Plainview and Crane and has dropped decisions to Amarillo Palo Duro and Odessa Ector.

Ron Plumlee, the Big Spring coach, is apt to go with Mike Randle, Robert Wallace, Johnny Tonn, Ted Smith and Larry Pierce as his starters.

Sands is sending its B team down to oppose the Big Spring JVs in the preliminary contest, scheduled for 6:15 p.m.

Bobcats Defeated By Lamesa Five

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Bobcats lost their fourth straight game here Monday evening to Lamesa's Golden Tornadoses, 75-59.

Ken McCurley paced the visitors with 20 points and 14 rebounds. Ted Jackson added 13.

For San Angelo, Sandy Lawrence tossed in 18.

Lamesa didn't take charge until the third period, when it outscored San Angelo, 21-11.

San Angelo will be the host team in a tournament scheduled next weekend.

Forzano Returns As Navy Coach

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Rick Forzano will return as the head football coach at the U.S. Naval Academy next fall.

The academy's Athletic Association announced Monday that it has renewed Forzano's coaching contract. The length of the new contract was not disclosed, but it was assumed to be for one year.

Forsan On Road

FORSAN — Three Forsan teams visit Robert Lee this evening for basketball games, with the boys' B contest starting at 5 p.m.

Mavericks Win Over SA Lee

SAN ANGELO — Big Spring teams broke even in starts against San Angelo Lee here Monday evening.

Goliad's eighth graders won, 77-63, but the Big Spring Toros were blistered by Lee's ninth graders, 79-33.

Jimmy Ray counted 39 points for Goliad, the only Big Spring player to hit in double figures. Ronnie Hooker led Lee with 13.

Lee's ninth graders moved out front, 23-9, at the end of the opening period and never had any trouble the rest of the way.

Terry Tredaway led the Toros with 13 points. Ronnie Izard counted 20 for Lee.

Forsan JH Trips Klondike Twice

KLONDIKE — Forsan won both ends of a junior high school basketball doubleheader from Klondike here Monday evening.

The eighth graders won in a double overtime, 42-35, after the seventh graders had prevailed, 38-19.

Paul Bedwell tallied 13 points and Gary Turner 12 for Forsan in the eighth grade contest. The eighth graders are now 3-2.

Jimmy Bradford paced Klondike with 16.

Gary Tidwell led the Forsan seventh graders with 12 points while Brian Harris had eight for Klondike. Forsan's seventh graders are 2-0.

The Forsan teams return to play in Grady next Monday.

Lee May, Tom Helms Acquired By Astros

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs and Oakland A's did it, the Houston Astros and Cincinnati Reds did it and the Cleveland Indians and San Francisco Giants did it. In fact, it seems that almost everyone was doing it Monday at the wild and woolly opening of the winter baseball meetings. Trading, that is.

As quickly as one could say "Sudden Sam" McDowell, the Indians' strikeout king was delivered to the Giants to top off an explosive day of swapping that involved 13 players, many of them big names.

The Indians, who had their problems with the temperamental but talented left-hander, landed right-handed ace Gaylord Perry and infielder Frank Duffy as the big leagues roared through one of their biggest dealing days in history.

TOMMY HELMS IS ELATED

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Tommy Helms of Charlotte, Cincinnati second baseman who was traded to the Houston Astros Monday along with Lee May and Jimmy Stewart, says, "The trade could be the beginning of a whole new future for me."

"I am not mad with the general manager or anybody in the Cincinnati organization."

"I think it's going to be a trade that will benefit both clubs. I think Lee May is the key to the trade as far as Houston is concerned."

"I talked to McDowell and he said: 'Thank you, I hope I live up to the faith you have in me,'" said San Francisco manager Charlie Fox, obviously elated with grabbing one of the game's top southpaws.

Everyone else was happy with his acquisitions, too.

"The game today is speed—and that's what I traded for," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, whose Reds acquired quick-footed second baseman Joe Morgan from Houston.

Morgan and four other Astros—infielder Denis Menke, pitcher Jack Billingham, outfielder Cesar Geronimo and minor league outfielder Ed Armbrister—went to the Reds for slugger Lee May, second baseman Tommy Helms and outfielder Jimmy Stewart.

Anderson didn't mind giving up the power-hitting May, the majors' third best home run hitter last season.

"Sure, we gave up power but I think this deal now gives us a chance to play the kind of baseball I like—the running game," said Anderson. "I look to Morgan to steal 50 bases for us this coming season."

Just a couple of hours before this stunning, eight-player swap, the Cubs started things by sending southpaw Stan Holtzman to the pitching-hungry A's for outfielder Rick Monday.

"We hated to give up Monday, he's a fine ballplayer," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "But to get something good you've got to give up something good."

REAL GEM

The A's, forced to trade for a pitcher because of the uncertainty of injury-plagued Chuck Dobson and John "Blue Moon" Odum, got "something good" all right. In Holtzman, they receive one of baseball's leading left-handers with two career no-hitters to his credit.

"He'll be the perfect partner for Vida Blue," the A's Most Valuable Player, Williams agreed.

"Holtzman is our insurance for next year," said Williams, whose A's won the American League West with ease last season but were crushed in three straight games by the Baltimore Orioles in the playoffs.

As happy as Williams was to have his new addition, Holtzman was just as thrilled to leave the Chicago organization. He was one of the dissidents during a period of open player rebellion against Manager Leo Durocher.

"The air is cleared now," said Holtzman from his home in St. Louis. "I wouldn't have cared if the Cubs had traded me for two dozen eggs."

NEEDS OUTFIELDER

Durocher unflinchingly parted with Holtzman for a player of "Monday's quality." The embattled manager said he would use the speedy center fielder as a leadoff man.

"We can fly," said Durocher. "The game has changed, with that Astor, if you can't run, you're in trouble."

Monday, a member of the American League's All-Star team in 1968, batted 245 last season with 18 home runs and 56 RBI. Holtzman fell below career standards with a 30-9-15 mark last year, but notched his second major league no-hitter.

There was no question that May was the most coveted player when the Astros dealt the big first baseman launched 39 homers last year, helping him to drive in 98 runs. In Tommy Helms, the Astros get a Golden Glove second baseman who is one of the game's best in making double plays.

The McDowell-Perry deal was a swap of superstars.

McDowell, despite a sub-par 13-17 season, flashed his strikeout pitch past 192 batters. The quick-dealing southpaw has notched 2,159 strikeouts in eight seasons, an impressive figure that ranks 17th on the all-time list.

Club Won't Meet

TOP CHOICES IN THE BASEBALL DRAFT — Veteran outfielders Steve Hovley, left, and Brant Aleya were among the players selected in opening round of baseball's annual winter draft Monday at Scottsdale, Ariz. Hovley goes from Oakland A's to the Kansas City Royals. Aleya was chosen by Oakland from the Minnesota Twins organization.

LOOKING 'E.I.' OVER With Tommy Hott

Sports dialogue:

STEVE WRIGHT, tackle for the Chicago Bears:

"The thing that's keeping this team together is misery. Nobody's real happy. The Bears have everything it takes to be a winning team. All the good players, though, are playing for themselves."

RAY SCHOENKE, veteran lineman for the Washington Redskins:

"You can influence Bob Lilly out of the hole. It will take two or three men to get him out of there, but you can do it. That leaves man-to-man blocking on a job. Don't think, and he kills you. He is just too tough now for one man to handle."

DAN PASTRINI, freshman quarterback for the Houston Oilers, when asked how he felt about his job:

"The way I look at it, it's like being an apprentice in any other profession — a carpenter, a bookkeeper, a quarterback. Everybody makes mistakes when they're even sports writers. I don't think it helps to sit around and watch. A lot of coaches could play right away, but coaches are against it. I'm anxious to get ahead, of course. But I've got 22 years more to play. I'm only 22 and I plan to play until I'm 44. Wouldn't that be something? I'd love to beat George Blanda's record."

WEEB EWANK, plump coach of the New York Jets, explaining he isn't in as bad shape as his team:

"The other day while some of the players were having their blood pressure taken, I had mine checked, too. It was perfect. 142 over 84. That sounds like a great play but I won't use it Sunday because somebody would drop the ball."

Negro golfer LEE EIDER, talking about his upcoming trip to South Africa:

"How do I expect to be treated there? I guess other people call it an honorary white."

MIAMI fullback LARRY CSOKA discussing an incident that happened after a Pittsburgh Steeler punt returner had slipped on the Orange Bowl's much maligned Polyurf and fumbled the ball away to the Dolphins:

"Jim Riley (a 250-pound defensive tackle) was standing next to me on the sidelines when that happened. When Curtis Johnson recovered, that crazy Riley leaned down and kissed the turf."

WILT CHAMBERLAIN, always a terrible free toss shooter in basketball:

"I'm shooting terrible. Even for me. As you know, even my best night from the line would be considered slumps for most players, but it's so bad now it's a slum, even for me."

MARIO PIERRETTI, one-time big league pitcher:

"The biggest press interview I ever had happened the day I gave up the 2,000th hit to Joe DiMaggio."

BOB HOPE:

"That Jack Nicklaus is so strong, he shanked a golf ball and Cuba shot back. He is sort of slow, though. On one hole they changed the pin placement three times while he was lining up a putt."

Spot Five Bullet Wounds In Head

DALLAS (AP) — Passersby came upon the body of a man killed by gunfire in a South Dallas street soon after midnight Monday.

Police said papers in a pocket identified him as Enrique Florez Rodriguez of suburban Mesquite. There were five bullet wounds in the head.

Officers said he apparently was pushed from an automobile after the shooting.

UTILITY RATES WILL BE EYED CAREFULLY Ford Price Hike OK'd By Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has become the third big auto-maker to win approval of a price hike from the Price Commission.

In approving the 2.9 per cent hike for 1972 Ford cars, trucks and optional equipment Monday, the panel also put large public utilities on notice their rate increases are subject to rollback.

Utilities with annual revenues of $50 million or more were told to report to the commission when they ask for increases from state regulatory bodies.

Even if a regulatory agency approves an increase, the commission said it "reserves the right to reduce the rates if necessary."

FIRST TIME
The panel said utility rates would be eyed carefully for inflation trends, though expansion to meet future power and service needs would be allowed.

In other business, the commission for the first time denied a price increase on grounds that a firm's profits have been too high to allow it.

Though Oscar Meyer Co. had asked approval of a modest 1.3 per cent price rise, the commission said when compared with the base period, the company's pre-price-freeze profit margins were sufficient to cover added productivity costs.

But productivity costs for Ford, the commission ruled, were sufficient to permit an increase. The company had originally asked an okay for a 2 per cent hike, but upped the figure to 4.4 per cent before the commission acted.

Among the other auto makers, American Motors has won approval of a 2.5 per cent increase and Chrysler a 4.5 per cent hike. Chrysler said, however, it would raise prices only 3 per cent.

GM NEXT
The commission has yet to be heard from on a 3 per cent price increase proposed by General Motors, the nation's largest car maker.

Meanwhile, there were these other economic developments:

—Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt telegraphed congratulations to two Cincinnati union locals for turning down pay increases they were to receive Dec. 1. "The patriotic self-restraint displayed in your action is most commendable," Boldt said.

PROS HELP COURT DIVIDE Padre Island Treasure

AUSTIN (AP) — A 418-year-old treasure recovered off Padre Island was examined Monday by four experts who will give their estimate of its value to U.S. District Court Judge Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville.

The judge ordered the appraisal to assist him in dividing the treasure between the state of Texas and Platoro, Ltd., an Indiana firm that recovered the treasure.

Carl Clauson, Florida marine archeologist, examined the treasure for Texas.

Dr. and Mrs. Roderick Webster of the Abner Planetarium of Chicago and Henry Grunthal, curator of medieval and modern coins for the American Numismatic Society of New York, represented Platoro.

Platoro claims in a suit in Garza's court that former Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler agreed to a 50-50 split of the treasure.

Sadler has said he went through the motions of making a contract with Platoro in order to persuade the firm to return the treasure. He never actually signed a contract, Sadler said.

Truett Lattimer, executive director of the Texas Historical Survey Committee and a member of the Texas Antiquities Committee, said the judge intends to divide the treasure between Platoro and Texas. Lattimer said he did not know if the judge would permit Texas to keep the entire treasure and give Platoro the money value for half of it.

—The Civil Aeronautics Board said airlines may again begin asking for approval for fare increases. The board had stopped accepting rate-hike requests Aug. 17.

JOBLESS RATES
—The Labor Department removed seven metropolitan areas from its list of cities suffering heavy unemployment: Binghamton, N.Y.; Flint, Kalamazoo and Saginaw, Mich.; Dayton, Ohio; Shreveport, La.; and Fort Worth, Tex. Two other areas—Johnstown, Pa., and San Juan, Puerto Rico, were added to the list of those with 6 per cent or greater jobless rates.

—The department also reported that the total of 540 strikes across the nation in October was the lowest in any month since 1962.

—Jittery money managers in New York learned that a $400 million clerical error by the Federal Reserve Board was the cause of last week's sharp rise in interest rates and tightening of the money supply.
