

War Foes Occupy Statue Of Liberty

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen young antiwar veterans barricaded inside the Statue of Liberty said today they would not leave until President Nixon set a date for the withdrawal of all American forces from Southeast Asia.

At Travis Air Force Base in California 18 enlisted men—just back from Vietnam where officials said they used narcotics, seized a floor of an observation ward to protest military drug treatment policies.

When the veterans took over the Statue of Liberty Sunday night, they had vowed to maintain their occupation until New Year's Eve to protest continuation of the Vietnam war. But this morning, after receiving what they called a consensus of veterans' groups the world over, they issued a statement demanding setting of a withdrawal date.

The takeover of the statue in New York Harbor and the protest in California were two of several actions taken around the nation by antiwar veterans and servicemen during the Christmas season.

Liberty Island, the statue site that is regularly visited by excursion boats, was closed to sightseers. Negotiations with the veterans awaited the arrival from Washington of 30 National Park Service officials.

Among the demands of the veterans was that statements on their action be given wide circulation.

The statement of the statue occupiers said in part: "Last spring we threw our medals into the dirt because we thought it would end the war.

"Now, as we sit inside the Statue of Liberty, having captured the hope and imagination of a war-weary nation, we can no longer tolerate the war in Southeast Asia.

"Mr. Nixon, you set the date—we'll evacuate."

The veterans were occupying the 100-foot-square pedestal of the 305-foot-high national monument. Their takeover was described initially by Vietnam Veterans Against the War as "a symbolic action... to show support for any person who refuses to kill."

At Travis Air Force Base, 18 enlisted men just back from Vietnam and identified as having used narcotics there, seized an observation ward floor of a base medical facility.

They said they were protesting military drug treatment policies.

The men, said by officials to have been aided by three members of VVAW, barricaded themselves behind mattresses on the second floor of the facility.

No damage, violence or injury was reported and the hospital commander said he would confer with other military officials before deciding what action to take.

Administrators for the National Park Service, which has jurisdiction over Liberty Island, talked with the group during the night but there was no indication what action officials would take if the men did not leave.

Some of the protesters wore military fatigues and medals, others were in civilian clothes. They mingled with the tourists who took ferryboats to the national landmark Sunday, then hid at closing time.

A night watchman discovered the group about 7 p.m. The group evicted the watchman and used lumber taken from a renovation project inside the statue to barricade the doors.

In a statement issued from the VVAW office in Manhattan shortly before midnight, the group said: "We support any action taken by our brothers in Southeast Asia to end the war and we demand that this message be transferred to our brothers in Southeast Asia."

Al Hubbard, national coordinator of the VVAW, said the demonstrators came from an encampment of veterans near Valley Forge, Pa. He said they would not resist with violence if authorities tried to evict them.

"There will be no violent confrontation with the police," Hubbard declared. "They will use their resourcefulness to prevent the police from dislodging them. They are in good spirits.

"The training the Army gave them was very good and prepared them for all eventualities. Reconnaissance teams were sent out to the statue before this action was taken. We are in constant touch with them," he said.

Jerry D. Wagers, regional director of the National Park Service, arrived on the island about 1:30 a.m. to talk with James Batman, the resident manager, and the demonstrators.

At one point the officials offered to allow the protesters to hold a news conference if they gave up the occupation. There was no immediate indication that the offer would be accepted.

No Military Draft Likely Until April

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird announced today there will be no military draft in January and possibly none until April.

Laird said he would not project the draft for all of 1972 as the Pentagon presses for its goal of a volunteer army by March, 1973.

But his announcement indicated the 1972 draft may go below the 70,000 men drafted in 1962, the lowest since the Korean War.

"We're in a position where we will not have any draft calls in January," Laird told newsmen at a year-end news conference, "and possibly not for the first quarter."

He said four factors will determine the draft call for the remainder of the year. Primarily, he said, they will be the effect of a new $3-billion military pay raise and getting more volunteers and retaining them as well as men already in the armed services.

Laird said two other factors involved are U.S. withdrawal from the Vietnam war and the congressional mandate that the Army be cut to 892,000 men by mid-1972—which Laird called a cut of 70,000 man-years—would also contribute to the low draft calls for the year.

He said all these factors will be analyzed through March to determine drafts for the rest of the year.

Laird's announcement bore out predictions by Selective Service officials that there would be no draft in January.

ARREST SUSPECT Big Spring Officer Shot In Shoulder

Police officer Richard Doane was released this morning from Cowper's Clinic and Hospital where he had been treated for a gunshot wound in the shoulder he received at 12:21 a.m. while attempting to quell a disturbance.

Clarence Yanez Jr., 806 N. Nolan, is charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the wounding of Officer Doane. Charges against Clarence Yanez were filed in Coahoma Peace Justice Lulu Adams court, and she was to set bond at 2 p.m. today. Yanez is under police guard at Medical Arts Hospital where he is being treated for a gunshot wound in the mouth which he received during the melee which resulted in his arrest.

Carolyn Newton, 306 NW 5th, reported to police at 12:40 a.m. Sunday that some men "had guns and were threatening to shoot someone." Officers Leonard Saint, Arvin Henry, Richard Doane and Sgt. Sam Cooley went to the residence where three men ran from the house. Jimmy P. Yanez was arrested at the scene, and is charged with drunkenness in public. He is in custody in city jail.

The incident started at 12:18 a.m., when police received report that two men, with guns, were arguing in the backyard of a home at 508 N. Lancaster, but the suspects were gone when officers Doane and Saint arrived.

Clarence Yanez Jr. was arrested at 12:21 a.m., and was wounded when officers returned his fire after Doane was wounded.

The disturbance was ended with the arrest at 12:30 a.m. of David Yanez by Officer Henry and Detective Jim McCain in an alley behind the suspect's residence at 806 N. Nolan. David Yanez is charged with drunkenness in public.

DEMOS TO MEET

Frank Parker, Howard County Democratic chairman, has called a meeting of all interested Democrats for 7 p.m. today in the Howard County courtroom to name his successor.

He said he is resigning his post with regret, since he is being transferred to Chicago by Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, with which he is associated in the industrial relations department.

Violence marred the Christmas weekend here with a shooting fatality, the wounding of a police officer and an individual he was attempting to arrest, and the injury of a couple in a car mishap near here.

In addition, a Big Spring woman, Mrs. Valtai Reeves, head of Valtai's School of Hair Dressing and Cosmetology at 611 Main, was killed in a three-car collision near Gilmer.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING
Police are investigating a reported accidental shooting at 9:08 p.m. Sunday which resulted in the death at 10:45 p.m. Sunday of Don S. Mince, 30, of 2300 Nolan. Mince was fatally wounded in the head by a shot from a pistol.

The shooting occurred at the residence of Leslie Cooper, 671 McEwen. Cooper, a relative of Mince's told police that he was showing the pistol to Mince when it accidentally fired, wounding Mince in the head. The victim was rushed to Medical Center Memorial Hospital where he died two and a half hours later.

'NUMBER' OF PILOTS CAPTURED 'Round-The-Clock Bombing

SAIGON (AP) — An armada of 350 American fighter-bombers pounded anti-aircraft defenses and supply depots in North Vietnam around the clock tonight. "Every sign points to further operations," said informants, indicating a third day of heavy raids Tuesday.

It was the biggest air attack on North Vietnam since President Johnson's bombing halt three years ago.

North Vietnam claimed that five F4 Phantoms were shot down Sunday, two of them by anti-aircraft fire about 80 miles south of Hanoi. Radio Hanoi said two American airmen were killed when their plane crashed nose first into a rice field. Earlier Radio Hanoi said that other "pilots were killed or captured" but gave no numbers.

The U.S. Command remained silent on Hanoi's claims and withheld details of the raids. But field reports from search and rescue units indicated there had been some American losses.

Informants said President Nixon ordered the raids in retaliation for the loss of six U.S. planes in the past 2½ weeks and as a warning to Hanoi "not to push" the United States too far. It was the ninth large-scale air operation inside North Vietnam that has been announced since May, 1970.

Several hours before the air raids began, Radio Hanoi warned that no American prisoners of war would be released "so long as U.S. warplanes continue to violate North Vietnam and the Nixon administration refuses to take the steps necessary to end the war."

The strikes began Sunday morning from Air Force bases in South Vietnam and Thailand and from the carriers Constellation and Coral Sea in the Tonkin Gulf. The raids continued around the clock.

While informants in Saigon said the raiders were making an all-out assault to lessen the threat of North Vietnamese MIGs, surface-to-air missiles and anti-aircraft artillery, the U.S. Command said the strikes were of "limited duration" and would end at an undisclosed time.

The command said only "military targets" were being hit, but Radio Hanoi claimed that the planes bombed and strafed a hospital in Thanh Hoa, a provincial capital 70 miles south of Hanoi, and populated areas in two other provinces along the Laotian border.

TELLS OF PROTEST — Capt. Dale Wilson, right, spokesman for Travis Air Force Base, Calif., tells newsmen today about 18 U.S. Army soldiers, newly returned from Vietnam, who have peacefully seized the second floor of a drug rehabilitation center at Travis to protest military drug treatment policies. Capt. Wilson said the men used mattresses to barricade themselves into the second floor of the Second Aeromedical Staging Flight Facility.

16 Students Are Fasting

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. (AP) — Sixteen high school students in this Kansas City suburb are fasting during the Christmas holidays to demonstrate their conviction that welfare reform is needed.

"We feel the welfare system is very, very inadequate," said Dan Spivey, 17. "We want the governor and the legislature to hurry up and take action before people starve."

Members of the senior high youth group of the Knox Presbyterian Church began fasting at noon Saturday and planned not to eat until noon today.

After that, they have agreed to live on 15 cents each per day until Friday.

Spivey said the group calculated that recent welfare cuts in Kansas reduced from 32 cents to 21 cents the amount of money provided a welfare recipient per day for his food and personal needs. The group members decided to lower their figure to 15 cents because food is cheaper in suburbs than in poverty districts, he said.

Pope Calling For 'Moral Ecology'

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI has called for a "moral ecology" to safeguard family life.

"We must advocate... that ecology for which today a necessity is at last felt: don't our children need and have a right to live in a healthy atmosphere, not polluted by the seductions of a licentious immorality?" the pontiff said Sunday.

Speaking from his window overlooking St. Peter's Square, Pope Paul described the family as "that small singular and incomparable society in which Christ lived as infant, child, youth and artisan and 'grew in wisdom and grace'."

18 Seize Ward To Protest Military Drug Treatment

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Eighteen Army enlisted men, hours back from Vietnam where officials said they used narcotics, seized a floor of an observation ward here to protest military drug treatment policies.

The men, who officials said were aided by three former soldiers who were members of Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW), used mattresses to barricade themselves on the second floor of the Second Aeromedical Staging Flight Facility Sunday night.

Air Force Col. George E. Reynolds, the hospital commander, said there had been no violence, damage or injuries, and that he would confer with other military officials before deciding what action to take against the protesters. The soldiers had arrived at Travis located 50 miles east of San Francisco, only hours before the takeover, he said.

A spokesman for the group, who said he was Army Spec. 4 Mike Oliver but was later identified as a VVAW official, told a newsman by telephone that the soldiers had taken opium in Vietnam and when they arrived at Travis were told "we aren't fit to walk the streets with other American people and said we were being held for 30 to 60 days."

A spokesman for the VVAW in San Francisco said Oliver was not in the Army but was a national coordinator of the peace group.

Oliver said the soldiers were not addicts and wanted immediate release from the hospital, separation from the military, physicals given by civilian doctors and amnesty for "all military people strung out on drugs."

An Air Force official did not discuss the servicemen's drug problems but noted that the observation ward at the base operates as an overnight ward for returning servicemen awaiting flights to drug rehabilitation centers throughout the nation. No identities were released.

Oliver said the soldiers had been undergoing a complete drug detoxification program before returning to the United States.

The takeover was accomplished peacefully, the Air Force spokesman said, when the 18 men made their plans known to medical technicians who were fit to walk the streets with other members got into the ward after entering the base during the evening under normal visiting procedures.

Although he said he didn't know the men's precise grievances, he said he thought they mainly involved pay procedures for drug patients returning from Vietnam and the length of time patients are held.

It's Warm In Texas

By The Associated Press
 Santa Claus has come and gone but the unseasonably warm weather still blankets Texas and should do so at least through today.

Early today there was a broad band of low clouds extending across much of the eastern two-thirds of the state and high cloudiness stretched across the west and northwest portions of Texas.

Warm southerly winds kept the pre-dawn temperatures mostly in the 50s and 60s across the state and near 70 in the extreme south.

The National Weather Service said there would be little change today with partly cloudy skies and mild to warm temperatures forecast.

A Pacific front in New Mexico will move eastward into Texas Tuesday with a cold front on the Plains moving southward into extreme North Texas later today.

It will be a little cooler behind the Pacific front and much colder behind the Plains front with mild temperatures elsewhere.

With Red Nose?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Police are trying to locate the owner of a stray reindeer that turned up the day after Christmas.

The reindeer is concrete, weighs 100 pounds, and was found on a suburban sidewalk. The police say they will leave it there for a few days in hopes its owner will return for it.

Time Names President As 'Man Of The Year'

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon says his visit to Communist China "is just to open communication" while his summit talk with Soviet leaders will be "basically a substantive meeting," Time magazine reports.

Time, which names the President as "Man of the Year" in its current issue, quoted Nixon as saying that the success of the two visits "will be determined by what follows those meetings, not the communiques that come out of them."

Nixon said the most important decision he made in 1971 was to go to mainland China, but stressed that its importance lay "in terms of building to the long-term future. It may well benefit not the present occupant of this office, but somebody five, 10 or 15 years from now," he said.

On the domestic front, the President said his most difficult decision was his move to impose controls on the economy.

"I don't believe in controls as an end in themselves or on a permanent basis. On the other hand, I am an activist—nobody believed that until this year. Being an activist, I felt we had to jolt the American economy on the inflation side," he said.

Later, talking generally about the decision-making process, Nixon said, "Great decisions, if they are to be good decisions, must be made coolly... The decisions that are important must be made alone."

He said the American people want to think that if there is a crisis, the President "will be cool and sober. They also want to think that he's a human guy who likes his wife and kids and a good time."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Disney, the late entertainment executive willed $4 million to a charitable foundation he created.

Disney, brother of the late Walt Disney, was business manager of the Disney empire. He died Dec. 20 at age 78.

His will, on file in Superior Court, bequeaths $4 million to the Roy and Edna Disney Foundation, which has set up scholarships and donated money to the Motion Picture Artists Relief Fund.

Disney's widow Edna receives the couple's home and stock holdings, and most of the remainder of the estate was placed in trust funds for his son, daughter-in-law, four grandchildren and four other relatives.

Trunk Murderess Winnie Ruth Judd Is A Free Woman

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — Winnie Ruth Judd, the trunk murderess of the 1930s, is a free woman.

Mrs. Judd, now 67, was quickly whisked away from the Arizona State Prison Wednesday by members of her family and presumably was taken to California where she will serve out her parole.

The Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles voted unanimously last month to parole Mrs. Judd, who was returned to prison two years ago following her seventh and final escape from corrections authorities. She had been free for about seven years.

Mrs. Judd, convicted nearly 40 years ago on charges that she chopped up the bodies of two companions and shipped them in a trunk to Los Angeles, will live with and work for Dr. and Mrs. John Blemer of Danville, Calif.

Denies He Bragged About Framing Dowdy

BALTIMORE (AP) — An important prosecution witness denied today that he ever bragged about framing Rep. John V. Dowdy in order to get the government to drop charges against him.

Cohen was the third rebuttal witness on the stand today as the bribery conspiracy trial of Thomsen, who indicated he would limit each side to two hours, could begin late this afternoon or early Tuesday.

Nathan H. Cohen, who said he arranged a $25,000 bribe for the East Texas Democrat in 1965, was recalled to the stand by the prosecution to counter testimony given last week by a defense witness, Grayson Foster of Baltimore.

Foster told the U.S. District Court jury that on one occasion Cohen boasted of having evaded federal prosecution by telling the U.S. attorney for Maryland he paid Dowdy a bribe to get the lawmaker to influence a Justice Department probe into Cohen's now defunct home improvements company.

Cohen, returned to the stand as a rebuttal witness, said that "Grayson Foster accepted from the beginning the fact I had paid Congressman Dowdy for his services."

Cohen was asked by Stephen H. Sachs, a special prosecutor in the Dowdy case, whether he and Foster had ever talked about a frameup.

"The subject was never discussed," Cohen replied.

PLAGUING BUSINESSES Teen Shoplifters Look

CLARKSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Patty, Ann and Kathy are teenage shoplifters, part of a growing army of such youngsters plaguing businesses around the country.

The three, all seniors at southern Indiana high schools, have never been caught, don't expect to be, and only one of them seems to regret what she's doing.

Patty, Ann and Kathy — the names are fictitious — reflect a new kind of antisocial behavior among teenagers. The shoplifting phenomenon cuts across racial and social lines drawing recruits from among the middle class and poor, urban and suburban families.

Why did Patty, Ann and Kathy become thieves? The girls agreed to tell their stories to the Louisville Times after being assured their identities would not be divulged.

Patty, a dark haired, 17-year-old, comes from what she calls a "disgustingly solid middle-class family with a nice house in a nice subdivision and more plastic neighbors than you can shake a stick at." She brags at having stolen about $100 worth of goods from various stores so far this Christmas season and intends to keep most of it for herself.

A veteran of almost two years of shoplifting, Patty sees no reason to stop. She estimated that since she was dared by two friends to take a pair of $10 gloves, she has obtained more than $300 in merchandise.

"I've gotten away with everything from a can of mushrooms in a grocery to half a stereo from one of the discount stores in Clarksville," she bragged.

Ann is an attractive black whose ready smile can't hide a sadness in her eyes. She is the oldest child of a seven-member family.

Her father, with a limited education and lack of skills, has been unemployed more than a year and her mother takes in washing and does some housecleaning.

Ann had never done any shoplifting until November. "I don't like doing it," she said. "I feel I've got to."

There haven't been many really good Christmases in her almost 18 years and she says she is determined to make this a holiday the family can remember.

So far, she has taken more than $60 worth of toys and clothes for her brothers and sisters and more than $30 in merchandise for her parents. She said she hasn't taken anything for herself and doesn't intend to.

Kathy, 18, from a middle class family, became a thief on a dare a little over a year ago and says she has continued for the thrills involved.

Ain't Necessarily So

A small bipartisan band of congressmen are trying to make an honest publication of the Congressional Record. For obvious reasons, they aren't getting much help from their colleagues.

The Congressional Record is a charade foisted off on the taxpayers by members of Congress and the Government Printing Office at an annual cost of $6.8 million.

By using the Record, members of Congress can perform all sorts of deceptions on their constituents. The Record is supposed to be a transcript of what goes on in the Senate and House each day but is no such thing.

Members of both houses can make the Record appear any way they want. A member can be away on vacation, yet have a speech appear in that day's Record. He can revise and amend remarks he doesn't want the homefolks to see. He can extend a minute's floor talk to an hour-long speech.

This is permitted by House and Senate rules. The Congressional Record does not distinguish between what actually happened and what is illusion.

Yet reprints of the Record can be mailed to constituents to make them think their elected representative is on the job.

This deception is under attack by a group of members led by Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H. Wyman's group isn't taking the tough route of making the Record print only what actually occurs.

Timely Service

Five days before Christmas, the Texas Highway Department opened the remaining 25 miles of divided highway on Interstate 20 west of the Parker-Palo Pinto line.

We think someone should say thanks for this timely development. Of course, there is no way of knowing, but there just may be one or more people who are alive today because this last stretch of two-way traffic over winding roads and hilly terrain was converted to safer one-way travel prior to the rush holiday season.

It wants to require the Record to indicate with special type what was actually said on the floor and what was changed or added later.

Even this reform is not making headway. Chances are the Record will remain deceptive. Until some changes are made, remember that it ain't necessarily so if it's in the Record.

Mexico Knows How Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another: The administration could probably take lessons from Mexico on the art of controlling inflation.

OVER THE PAST decade, our neighbors to the south have held inflation to a 2.6 per cent annual rate, one of the world's lowest.

The government has what is referred to as an enlightened monetary policy, involving such traditional measures as tight control over the amount of money in circulation; a system of selective price controls on "basics" — something now being considered by the United States; and establishment of competing government-operated businesses when prices get too far out of line.

UNLESS TOO many more Americans move down there and take advantage of the lower cost of living by relying on their income from investments in the U.S., the Mexicans will likely continue to be blessed by a more stable economy.

About the only way to save money in these inflated times is to have deep pockets and short arms.

THE MOST insufferable kind of telephone conversationalist is the one who answers your call by saying:

"Okay, it's your dime. Start talking."

Right with him is the individual who starts talking abusively without identifying himself, even after you ask him his name. The people who have to listen to the tirade at least deserve to know who is directing the verbal attack.

YOU'VE GOT to admire the teacher who put this notice on his bulletin board:

"Free — each Monday through Friday — knowledge. Bring your own containers."

Why is it most of our superhighways fall into two classes? They're either over-crowded or under construction.

WHY IS IT, too, that your idea, and mine, of a reckless driver is one who passes us on a highway in spite of all our cars can do?

Some one described a rhubarb recently as celery with high blood pressure.

MY DAD once described a neighbor as a "man so stingy he makes three servings out of a chicken wing."

Fairness Doctrine

William F. Buckley Jr.

"All of which would be deplorable if Channel 11 were the only channel in town, and lamentably polarizing if it were one of two. But every TV set in Los Angeles has available to it excellent reception from the following lineup: 2 — CBS, 4 — NBC, 5 — Independent, 7 — ABC, 9 — Independent, 11 — Independent (The Bone of Contention), 13 — Independent, 28 — PBS — plus a couple of other HF's, one of them the Spanish language.

"THIS," the professor remarks, "must be the largest viewer's choice in the country, and it is a real choice, substantially unimpeded by the tall buildings that make reception sp in New York City. . . . Dammit, anyone who wishes his sensibilities massaged by liberal newscasting has Walter Cronkite available to him every evening on Channel 2 at 7 p.m. . . . We are left with an effort to invoke the ultimate sanction against what may be the only TV station in the country that can make a case for employing a Yahoo newscaster, i.e., that there is a public demand for same and that the rest of the public has ample options."

I THINK the professor makes a point which enthusiasts for the Fairness Doctrine, whether of the right or the left, should consider. Are we going to move against every radio station, in every situation, which is insufficiently balanced in its opinions? If we were to do so, the right-wing would be the tactical winner, no doubt about it. But what about the strategic situation?

And while we are at it, are we going to insist that every station has exactly as many minority technicians, broadcasters, researchers, whatever, as reflect the demographic situation? Does that mean that if next year we bring 30,000 Urdu refugees into Los Angeles, one of them has to be hired by Television Station KTTV?

Why television? Isn't the potential bullying of television by the government a logical concern for the not wholly logical American Civil Liberties Union?

Wall Street Opinions

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street thrives on opinions, often valuing them more than facts. It's own opinion of itself, the public's opinion about business, business' opinion of the future.

Following are reports on each: Gerald M. Loeb, one of the grand old men of the securities business, author of two investment classics, "The Battle for Investment Survival" and "The Battle For Stock Market Profits," broker, investor, wit, is also a man of strong opinions.

For years he has been giving advice and a lot of people have profited by it. But day in and day out the advice business sometimes is trying. When you are uncertain you cannot admit to confusion, but sometimes your forecasts are so obviously hedged that they give you away.

"We're all guilty of it," says Loeb. "Anybody who gives advice knows how difficult it is to give good advice regularly — and to accept it."

This holiday season Loeb has decided to send a greeting card that, well, sort of looks into next year. It's theme is a Zodiac containing advice for all investors.

It begins with a general greeting, "A Good And Adverse Year" it says in language as straightforward as that sometimes used by astrologers and investment advisers.

"I do not believe in astrology," Loeb says, but confesses, "one wonders if it can be any worse than the boondoggling that goes on in Wall Street. The gobbledegook of market advisers seems no different from those of the astrologer."

For those born under the sign of Taurus he advises that "Dialing a wrong number when calling your broker is desirable." And for Aries: "Investment decisions made while in the shower can bring possible profit."

Aquarians are informed that "Discussions can be enlightening if ignored." Scorpions are told that "Buying in the a.m. can be unlucky, in the p.m. downright dangerous." Capricorns: "Cancel any orders now. This can be helpful."

Loeb sort of doodled his idea onto paper during some lulls at the San Francisco office of E.F. Hutton, where he works after having officially retired sometime in the dim past.

"I showed the idea to my wife and she thought it was funny and so I thought others would see something in it. You don't think it will offend anyone, do you?"

"Most people will understand the intention is humorous," he was told. But as an afterthought the listener recalled a memorable line from a freshman psychology teacher: "As a man doodles, so he thinks."

Our Hope Of Peace

Omar Bursleson

WASHINGTON, D.C. — More than a thousand years ago in England in the year 878, the celebration of Christmas commenced on Dec. 16 and would have ended according to custom on the 12th night, Jan. 6. At about that time King Alfred the Great was so occupied with Christmas revelry that the invading Danes took him and his army by surprise and he became a fugitive. History goes on to indicate a happy ending. Alfred came back to win. During his successful reign, he united most of England and in the process, brought Christianity to the invaders.

ANOTHER VERY OLD story goes like this: One night in ancient days three horsemen were riding across a desert. As they crossed a dry river bed a voice out of the darkness called "Halt" and they obeyed. The voice then directed them to dismount, pick up a handful of pebbles, put the pebbles in their pocket and remount. The voice said, "You have done as I commanded. Tomorrow at sunup you will be both glad and sorry." Contemplating the mystery and not understanding, the horsemen rode on. As the sun came up, they reached in their pockets to find that a miracle had happened. The pebbles had turned into diamonds, rubies and other precious stones. Then they remembered the warning words. Sure enough they were both glad and sorry — they were glad they had taken the pebbles but sorry they had not taken more.

OBVIOUSLY, THE world is still torn with wars, turmoil, dissension and numerous troubles. Everyone yearns for peace, harmony and tranquility in our individual and national lives. When we don't have those things, we are inclined to forget such words as the old English carol, "God rest ye merrie gentlemen, let nothing you dismay; remember Christ our Savior was born on Christmas Day." With faith in an all powerful Creator, we can joyfully celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ, who is our hope for "peace on earth, goodwill to men." This is our holiday message from our house to yours.

Hal Boyle

By JOY STILLEY (Contributing for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — What can you say about a 20-year-old girl who is a far more accomplished cook than her mother?

You can say "hooray" and turn over to her the mixing spoons, apron and keys to the pantry.

In addition to acquiring a knowledge of history, psychology and French at college, our daughter has learned everything she always wanted to know about cooking but was afraid to ask.

Since I myself didn't become acquainted with the facts of kitchen life until after I was married and the little I know I picked up in supermarkets and on park benches, I admit to being both uninformed and uptight on the subject.

But from the time Gay first noticed there were two kinds of cake—bakery and homemade—

She's Half Baked?

I've tried to answer her questions honestly and keep the lines of communication open. Being admittedly inhibited in the baking department, I may have looked a bit embarrassed the first time she asked me why I couldn't produce a coconut cream pie like Joan's mother or down the block, but I didn't register shock when she asked me what made a soufflé different from a casserole, and I didn't blush at all when she demanded to know where little cupcakes come from.

It wasn't until her junior year in college, when she had moved out of her dorm and was sharing an apartment with two other girls, that we realized she was reading cookbooks as well as schoolbooks.

On one of her visits home she offered to make Swedish pancakes with whipped lime butter. Since I cook from a freezer rather than from a cabinet, this necessitated the purchase of all kinds of raw materials, including flour.

Her efforts met with such enthusiastic response that the next trip she proceeded to make bread—the real thing, starting with yeast.

All the neighbors were called in to admire my talented child and to hear the satisfying "woosh" when she pushed down the risen dough.

But it turned out there was still something she could learn at her mother's knee. It seems she and her roommates always used instant coffee and she wanted instructions on making the percolator kind. I proudly explained to her how to measure, and put her on her own.

A while later I heard a few soft plops and turned to find her dumping the coffee into the water instead of into the basket.

It helped my inferiority complex in the cooking department no end.

Billy Graham

There are so many conflicting ideas about being a Christian. Even churches, good churches, have broad differences of interpretation. How does a common, everyday person like myself find the true way? Please help me.

S.D. John Brown, eighteenth-century English clergyman, had this to say: "When men surrender themselves to the Spirit of God, they will learn more concerning God and Christ and the Atonement and Immortality in a week, than they would learn in a lifetime apart from the Holy Spirit."

When we talk to men we become confused, but when we talk to God, the way becomes clear. When Jesus went into the temple, lettered men asked Him: "How know you letters, having never learned?" He answered: "My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man shall know his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." John 7:16, 17.

"If any man will do his will" means that we become attuned to God. We lay aside all preconceived notions, open our hearts and minds, and let him speak. I have done this on many occasions, and the results have been tremendous.

Faith is not some hazy, impersonal kind of trust, but rapport with a person. Over and over again Jesus said, "He that believeth in me . . ." John 7:38. When I get confused I get a red letter Testament and read the words of Jesus. They do more to give answers, and take away confusion than anything I know.

A Devotion For Today . . .
Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. (Luke 10:27)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, I know without Your strength I will not love as You would have me love. Give me that strength, I pray. Through Christ, our perfect example. Amen.

Soviet Arms Aid To Non-Red Nations Is Sharply Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study by the State Department reports that the Soviet Union's arms-aid commitments to non-Communist countries last year were sharply higher than in 1970. The survey by the State Department's intelligence and research bureau on Communist aid and trade with developing countries in 1970 dealt with pledges which can vary widely from year to year. Actual aid deliveries tend to run lower than the amounts pledged and to fluctuate from year to year. The study estimated that less than half of $11 billion in Communist economic assistance pledged to less-developed countries from 1954 through 1970 has been delivered. It said Communist arms-aid deliveries to these countries lag less than the economic.

Need Statements For Property Gift

Taxpayers who make gifts of property valued at more than $200 are required to furnish an information statement with their tax return to support the deductions for such contributions, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for North Texas, reminded today. For contributions of property other than money, Campbell said, you must give the IRS a statement with the name of each organization and the amount and date of each contribution, as well as the kind of property donated, i.e., used clothing, furniture, books, paintings, or hardware. The original cost, the fair market value and the method of determining it at the time of contribution, and whether the property had appreciated in value.

pledges of $1.1 billion in new economic aid in 1970, Red China committed the lion's share with $709 million—nearly as much as China's entire previous economic aid since 1956. —Moscow's new economic assistance pledges to non-Communist lands in 1970 dropped to $204 million, one-third of its previous year's $662 million and its smallest annual rate since 1962. —Under the Soviet arms-aid program, at least 20,000 trainees have gone to the Soviet Union from less-developed countries since 1955. —Last year the Soviets had 16,100 military advisers in a half dozen of these lands, mainly in Egypt. —About 24,000 Communist economic technicians worked in non-Communist developing countries in 1970, including 10,900 from Russia and 8,110 from Red China. The State Department report ascribed Red China's new venture into large-scale foreign economic aid to a "bid for a greater role as an international power" following China's cultural revolution isolationist stance. The prime item in the Chinese aid program was $400 million pledged to Tanzania and Zambia to help build the Tanzam railroad. Peking also pledged $100 million to Pakistan. The report's aid figures do not include the large amounts devoted by Communist countries to other Communist states such as North Vietnam and Cuba.

Shaves Off His Beard In Pulpit

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — The Rev. James H. O'Brien Jr. shaved off his five-month-old beard Sunday—in the pulpit of his church before his congregation.

He said he did it to make a point about how people judge other people. "The question I asked was, am I different leaving the pulpit clean shaven from the person I was when I entered it with a modest moustache and beard," he said. "Of course, the answer is no. Only the externals have changed."

"I had some weeks ago determined to shave the beard, and I decided I might as well get some mileage out of it," he said. "The time was right to have it."

His wife, Carolyn, said, "I felt like crawling under the pew" while he shaved the beard. But later she said she was pleased. "I think he looks younger without it," she said. The Rev. Mr. O'Brien, 37, who has been minister at the First Parish Congregational Church for eight years, also seemed pleased.

BRANDT TO MEET WITH NIXON Once Labeled An 'Outcast'

BONN, Germany (AP) — Only a few years ago opponents were maligning him as an "emigre and outcast." Now he is West Germany's first Socialist chancellor, and a Nobel laureate.

That's Willy Brandt, guest of President Nixon at this week's session of summitry. He is to visit the President Tuesday and Wednesday in Key Biscayne, Fla.

The stocky, gravel-voiced leader has used his office to lay the groundwork for a change in the political face of Europe. His stature in the 25 postwar years is likely to be rivaled only by Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's first chancellor, and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Since his election in October 1969 Brandt can claim a straight run of success in improving his country's image abroad and its relations with its neighbors, especially in the East.

He is also credited with helping to break a stalemate on enlarging the European Common Market. Its relations with the United States and East-West problems are to be chief topics in his talks with Nixon. The outside world has already paid tribute to Brandt by awarding him the Nobel Peace Prize for 1971. His own countrymen will get a chance to express their views in 1973 when they next vote in a national election. Brandt's success abroad has sometimes obscured the fact he rules with only a six-vote majority in the Bundestag against a parliamentary opposition that does not always share his view on Eastern policy.

Brandt has dealt with these opponents with confidence and conviction. One would be hard put to claim that success has spoiled Willy Brandt. His close aides say he was embarrassed by the Nobel Prize. His public statements have played it down.

An interviewer asked whether he thought the prize strengthened his position at home. "I don't know," Brandt replied. "It was, in any case, a strong encouragement."

But he quickly added he does not want it to become part of "our domestic discussion between government and opposition." The main object of opposition criticism has been the Brandt government's treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland, renouncing the use of force and acknowledging Germany's territorial losses in World War II. The opposition contends he got nothing for the renunciations. Brandt says he gave up nothing that had not been given away long ago.

he lived at the mission. Hamilton entered a convalescent home at Upland, in Southern California, in 1969, and died there last April 4 at the age of 89.

His bequests became known over the weekend. They include $150,000 to the Life Line Mission in San Francisco and $110,000 to Messiah College in Grant-ham, Pa. Both are operated by the Brethren in Christ Church.

Confirming the bequests, the Rev. Paul Hill, superintendent of the mission, said Hamilton also had willed $1,000 each to more than a dozen friends he had made during the 13 years he worked at the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange for many years, and "He apparently picked up some pretty good tips," said Hill.

At the mission he paid $50 a month for his room, always in cash, and earned his meals by helping in the kitchen.

Janitor Picked Up Some Dandy Tips

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sam Hamilton, a shy, quiet man who spent his declining years as a dishwasher in a mission and a janitor at the stock exchange has left a $300,000 fortune.

He worked at the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange for many years, and "He apparently picked up some pretty good tips," said Hill.

At the mission he paid $50 a month for his room, always in cash, and earned his meals by helping in the kitchen.

COMPUTER DATE ALERT

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Beware of computer dating, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin warned.

"Recent experience by consumers with these computerized dating firms indicates that some of them are in financial difficulty and are thus unable to fulfill their commitments," Martin said.

What's more, Martin said, some computer firms apparently match partners more by chance than by scientific selection.

"In one instance a young lady with a college degree was matched with a junior high school dropout," he said.

And other individuals have been notified of a prospective date who resided more than 1,000 miles away.

Anyone with doubts about a dating service should contact the attorney general's Consumer Protection Division in Austin, Martin said.

Thousands Of Spectators Watch Gunmen Loot Bank

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Three gunmen held up a bank opposite the Cologne Cathedral today and drove away with two police hostages. Armed police and thousands of spectators helplessly watched the noon drama.

The gunmen took with them the equivalent of $60,000 in West German marks. The hostages, described as high-ranking police officers, had exchanged themselves for employees of the branch bank. The robbers had seized three employees after being surprised by the arrival of a police patrol. The patrol shot out three of the tires on the robbers' getaway car.

There followed two hours of negotiations between the police and robbers. This ended with the police agreeing to supply a mini-bus as a getaway car and the exchange of police for the original hostages. Then one of the hostages, identified as district Police Chief Hans Krauss, came out of the bank and called out over a megaphone, "Please remain calm."

The crowd responded with silence and one of the gunmen quickly followed the police off-cial. Although the trio had been masked when they entered the bank at 10:15 a.m., their faces were uncovered when they came out.

The gunmen got into the mini-bus with what appeared to be the cash. The others followed. Werner Hamacher, chief of Cologne's criminal police, got behind the wheel and drove the vehicle away through streets lined with thousands of onlookers.

All main routes leaving the city were ordered sealed off and a police helicopter hovered over the area.

A cashier in the bank, Theodor Grain, told a newsman:

"The three came in around ten o'clock and pulled out sub-machine guns and ordered everybody in the bank to lie on the floor. The gunmen were nervous at first but later calmed down."

Grain said he had no chance to give the alarm, but a customer managed to do so.

A patrol car arrived and one of the policemen shot the tires of the getaway car. The patrol withdrew when one of the robbers came out wielding a sub-machine gun.

Cardinal Cooke Walks Among Poorest People

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — "These people are the whole of humanity's concern," Terence

Cardinal Cooke said today as he walked among some of the poorest people on earth.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of New York appeared deeply moved by morning visits to squalid camps for refugees from warfare on the Indian subcontinent.

Before leaving for Bangkok and Saigon, where he is to preside at New Year services as chaplain of the U.S. armed forces, the cardinal called for the world to help India rehabilitate the millions of Bengalis displaced by nine months of military action in their homeland, Bangla Desh.

Cardinal Cooke visited the wooden-hutted and muddy Sait Lake camp where more than 250,000 refugees exist in extremely poor conditions, waiting to return home.

He spoke through an interpreter with some of the bare-foot and blanket-clothed refugees among shells and squalor intensified by a torrid sun.

After Sait Lake, the cardinal was taken by jeep to Mother Teresa's War on Want Hospital near Dum-Dum Airport. He held a religious service and Communion on a makeshift altar the nuns had improvised in a plank road roofed with wood and tarpaulin.

Nearby, in a corner of the long building, elderly people too weak to walk or stand stayed in their beds, and little children sat on the floor.

As the cardinal held his service to this mixed audience, his voice seemed to break at times. After the service, when he saw photographers, the cardinal said, "It is good for the world to see this."

Walking to a children's ward, he told newsmen:

"A blanket means so much to them. Clothes which would be normally thrown away in other parts of the world here would be a prized possession."

"These people are the whole of humanity's concern."

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL HITS 610

Traffic accidents took 610 lives over the three-day Christmas holiday weekend that ended at midnight.

The figure was within the range predicted by the National Safety Council, which had estimated 520 to 620 traffic deaths within the 78-hour period beginning at 6 p. m. Thursday.

California led the nation in number of traffic deaths with 67.

The highest number of persons killed in Christmas traffic accidents in recent years was 720 in 1965. Last year's figure was 509.

Laird Accuses Red Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today U.S. planes will continue to hit North Vietnam when necessary to protect the safety of diminishing U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

At the same time, Laird accused North Vietnam of violating understandings he said they gave in 1968 when the sustained U.S. bombing of North Vietnam ended.

At a news conference called primarily to review Pentagon accomplishments during the past year, Laird refused to go into any detail on the obviously large-scale U.S. air attacks mounted over the weekend after the loss of four U.S. planes in the Laotian-North Vietnamese border area.

The Defense secretary indicated operations were still in progress, saying he does not want to endanger the safety of U.S. pilots.

Under questioning, Laird said the air strikes, which he described as of limited duration, "are primarily for the protection of American servicemen in South Vietnam and declared: "We will continue to take those necessary military actions to protect the remaining forces" in South Vietnam.

Laird denied the current round of U.S. air attacks go beyond the Nixon administration's protective reaction policy and called North Vietnamese claims erroneous.

Although he did not elaborate, Laird apparently was trying to knock down a radio Hanoi accusation that U.S. planes bombed and strafed a hospital in Than Hoa Province and many civilian-populated areas in three provinces.

He said U.S. planes were hitting only military targets.

Laird brought up the subject of alleged understandings between the U.S. and North Vietnam apparently to buttress the justification for intensified U.S. bombing in North Vietnam at this time.

It has been a matter of controversy as to what such understandings involved. North Vietnam has denied entering into any understandings in return for a halt in the U.S. bombing. So far as is known, no understandings were ever put on paper.

Turtle Disease

BALTIMORE (AP) — Regulations placing public health restrictions on the sale of pet turtles have been signed by Dr. Neil Solomon, Maryland's secretary of health.

Solomon estimated that as many as 2,000 cases of salmonella poisoning occur in the state each year as a result of diseased turtles.

Maryland health officers can now take samples of tank water and order the destruction of turtles found to be contaminated.

Scouting Trouble

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Smoke, a pet spaniel, stopped chasing a rabbit to lead his master on a mission of mercy.

Alden McKim Crane said he was hunting when the dog veered from the trail of a rabbit and took him instead to a starving Boston bull terrier with a broken leg.

A veterinarian reports the injured animal will recover.

When Age Helps

NEW YORK (AP) — "Older people appear to cope better than younger ones with the isolation, loneliness and alienation which accompany catastrophic illness," says Dr. Leslie S. Libow, Chief of Geriatric Medicine at Mount Sinai City Hospital Center at Elmhurst, N. Y.

"Being older in America, even if healthy, prepares you fairly well for the isolation that often comes with a catastrophic illness."

His remarks were made before a group of 500 professionals in the medical, legal, religious and social service fields participating in a symposium which has just been published by Cancer Care, Inc., entitled "Catastrophic Illness in the Seventies: Critical Issues and Complex Decisions," price $3.50 a copy.

Speaking at a news conference, the foreign minister indirectly criticized Egypt for setting preconditions on its participation in negotiations.

Eban said the stalled peace mission of U.N. Ambassador Gunnar Jarring will resume in January when the Swedish diplomat meets Israeli and Egyptian officials to discuss how contacts can be promoted.

Eban declined to disclose whether Israel has modified its position on Jarring's efforts. The talks bogged down last spring after Jerusalem rejected a Jarring proposal that it agree before negotiations to withdraw from all Egyptian territory.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twenty-four antiwar veterans took over the historic Betsy Ross home today for 45 minutes in a continuing effort to focus on what they called indiscriminate bombing in Vietnam.

The effort started earlier with 16 young veterans barricading themselves in New York's Statue of Liberty.

"This house is liberated," one of the veterans shouted as the group walked into the house once occupied by the woman who made the first official American flag.

Tourists were herded outside the tiny, three-story building in the historic section of old Philadelphia. Then the doors were jammed and the protestors climbed to the roof.

A clerk at the concession counter said the occupation was peaceful, that there was no shouting and little shouting. Employees were allowed to remain inside.

From the roof, the veterans read a statement to police and a crowd that gathered. Forty-five minutes later, police broke in the front door and the protestors left peacefully.

Larry Schmitz, a spokesman for the veterans, said the men had planned to stay in the building as long as possible, perhaps until New Year's Day.

Twenty-two of the veterans were taken away in police vans but police kept two men—Joseph Bangert of New York City and Gerald Hogan of Philadelphia—separate from the rest of the group as "ring leaders."

Bangert was the author of a statement which he read from the roof of the Ross home at the start of the demonstration.

New Lunar Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — New clues to the age and origin of cosmic rays — mysterious particles that bombard the solar system from all directions in space — will be provided by a special array of detectors to be carried to the moon and back next March by the Apollo astronauts.

The detector array uses various materials — including plastics, glasses and minerals to record tracks of cosmic rays. The shape of each track, after etching, reveals what kind of particle made it.

The lunar surface cosmic ray experiment was designed by scientists at the General Electric Research and development center at Schenectady, N. Y., University of California at Berkeley and Washington University in St. Louis.

IF ACQUITTED OF MURDER-KIDNAP RAPS Victory For The People?

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Black revolutionary Angela Davis says if she is acquitted of murder-kidnap charges it will be a victory for the people, not the judicial system.

However, she said, "If I am convicted, I will see the jurors as having been willing or unwilling accomplices in a conspiracy presented by the state."

As she prepares for trial Jan. 31, she worries that some people are supporting her only because they believe she had nothing to do with the bloody Aug. 7, 1970, shootout at the Marin County Civic Center in which four persons died.

"I had nothing to do with August 7th. That's true and that should be said and I say it also," she said.

But the 27-year-old self-described Communist and former UCLA philosophy instructor said Americans must understand the forces that led to those deaths—and work to eradicate them.

In an interview in a jail visiting room, Miss Davis said: "People have to realize, they have to see August 7th as being more or less a dramatization of things that had been festering under the surface in the prison system for so long."

"I think the fact that Ruchell (Magee) and James McClain and William Christmas had to attempt to gain their freedom in such a way—and I'm not saying that they had any intention of using any violence, and I think the facts will bear this out—it's important to understand what the forces are that led them to that point in the first place. Why?"

McClain and Christmas, both San Quentin convicts, were killed in an attempted escape from the courthouse. Their hostage, Superior Court Judge Harold Haley, and Miss Davis' constant companion, Jonathan Jackson, 17, also were killed and Magee was wounded.

Of Haley's death, Miss Davis said: "I'm very sorry . . . if we could have a revolution without shedding any blood, that's the way it should be."

READS, WRITES
"But when you look at that, when you compare that one act, when you compare that to say one act of rebellion in the black community, when you compare the hundreds and hundreds of years and the millions of people that have been killed, it just doesn't seem to me to be rational for some one to get so upset about one person that they fail to understand the other side.

Right now, however, her world is confined to two 6-by-8 foot cells in the Santa Clara County jail where she says she reads, writes, chain-smokes four packs of cigarettes a day and wears hiking boots and sweaters to keep warm.

She speaks about the isolation of being in jail and not being able "to feel and experience what's happening on the outside." She is under court order not to talk directly about the case.

Miss Davis is accused of furnishing the four guns and helping plot what the prosecution says was an abortive attempt to take hostages in exchange for the freedom of the Soledad Brothers—three black prisoners accused of murdering a white guard Jan. 16, 1970.

IN LOVE
Miss Davis said she was in love with one of the Soledad Brothers, Jonathan's older brother George Jackson, who was killed at San Quentin prison last Aug. 21 in what prison authorities called an abortive escape attempt.

"I felt an extremely profound personal love, man-woman love, as well as political love," she said. "You couldn't take the personal love out of context of the political love because it wouldn't have any meaning."

Miss Davis said George Jackson "personifies the struggle that is emerging inside the prisons and on the outside, also." But she said she doesn't see herself as a symbol and doesn't like the tendency "to overpersonalize me and over-politicize my case."

"When you see the issues you see that it's not just me but it's scores of thousands of other prisoners throughout the country," she said.

Archaeological materials are the ideal sources of data for gaining such knowledge," Wilmsen said in a paper prepared for the 138th annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Wilmsen said the museum analyzed 17 samples of fish remains from three archaeological sites—the Saginaw Valley, near Saginaw, Mich., which is dated between 100 B.C. and 400 A.D.; a site near the confluence of the Illinois River with Apple Creek, of the same era; and the pre-Inca Chilca site on the southern coast of Peru, which dates to about 1200 A.D.

Twelve of the 17 samples contained mercury, Wilmsen said. Even adjusting for wide error, he added, would not alter the fact that "these specimens contain relatively large amounts of mercury."

From these findings, Wilmsen inferred that mercury concentrations in fish from pollution-free waters have been as high at various times in the past as they are now, emphasizing the importance of any additional mercury added by man.

"Such an interpretation is compatible," he said, "with conclusions that, in general, natural environmental mercury distributions have not changed radically through time."

Mercury In Fish Sure Nothing New

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For at least tens of centuries fish have been concentrating mercury in their tissues, a scientist reported today.

"These findings reinforce warnings that continual discharge by man of even small amounts of additional mercury can have locally serious effects upon animals and human life," said Edwin Wilmsen, curator of the University of Michigan's Museum of Anthropology.

Wilmsen added that in order to evaluate adequately the significance of mercury and other elements in the environment today, scientists must know something about these levels in the past.

Yankees Hitting Back At Enemy's Defenses

By GEORGE ESPER
By The Associated Press

SAIGON (AP) — As the United States intensified its air attacks on North Vietnam's supply lines to Laos and South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese intensified their attacks on the American planes. Now the Americans are hitting back at the enemy's antiaircraft defenses in a big way.

The escalation of the air war revolves around two mountain passes on the border between North Vietnam and Laos, the Barthelemy and the Mu Gia passes. Guns, bullets and food flow from the interior of North Vietnam through the passes to North Vietnamese troops fighting in northern Laos, in South Vietnam and in Cambodia.

SLOW THE FLOW
The United States has been hitting these two passes with hundreds of air strikes in efforts to slow the flow of war supplies. But as the United States increased its air strikes, the North Vietnamese increased their attacks on the American planes, trying to keep the passes open.

The Barthelemy pass lies on Highway 7, 15 miles southwest of Hanoi and 235 miles northwest of the demilitarized zone.

Supplies go through the pass to North Vietnamese troops fighting in northern Laos. Despite the heavy U.S. air strikes, the North Vietnamese captured the Plain of Jars last week and inflicted heavy losses on the Laotian defenders.

CHOKE POINT
The Mu Gia pass, 160 miles farther south, is the beginning of the Ho Chi Minh trail, the supply lifeline to North Vietnamese troops in southern Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam. The Ho Chi Minh trail is a complex network of unpaved roads, trails and waterways totaling nearly 3,000 miles, and U.S. strategists consider it better to strike it at its beginning, or "choke point," than to intercept it.

North Vietnam is said to have doubled the number of antiaircraft missiles and large-caliber guns guarding the Barthelemy and Mu Gia passes. And for the first time since the bombing halt three years ago, MIG jets are rising to harass U.S. planes.

Disturbed by the mushrooming buildup of antiaircraft defenses against the diminishing U.S. air forces in Southeast Asia and embarrassed by the loss of six planes since Dec. 10, the United States decided it would take a massive strike force to reduce the enemy threat. President Nixon ordered large-scale "protective reaction" strikes to begin Sunday and today.

U.S. officials do not feel the strikes will lead to a resumption of the full-scale bombing of North Vietnam. They note there have been eight similar large strikes since May, 1970.

NO DOUBT
There is no doubt that the United States has air superiority defenses, the surface-to-air missiles and artillery, that worry the United States.

One U.S. officer said last week: "They don't have the assets to make an all-out air confrontation. They're smart enough to know that if they push us too far, they'll wind up losing their whole damn air force. We can bring so much more to bear on them if they commit themselves to an all-out confrontation."

U.S. officials saw the massive strikes that began Sunday as a warning from Nixon: "Don't push us too far."

A LOOK AHEAD — Angela Y. Davis, black Communist jailed more than a year on murder-conspiracy charges resulting from San Rafael courthouse slaying of a judge and three others, exhales cigarette smoke as she talks during an exclusive interview with Associated Press reporters Edith Lederer and Jeannine Yeomans in tiny green interview room at Santa Clara County jail at Palo Alto.

Kennedy Tops Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts is the leading choice of registered Democratic voters for the party's presidential nomination, the latest Gallup Poll shows.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was listed as second, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, third.

But if Kennedy, stays out of the race, a second Gallup Poll shows Humphrey leading Muskie.

Kennedy, who has repeatedly said he is not a candidate, was the choice of 32 per cent of some 560 Democrats polled in more than 250 communities from Dec. 10 to 13. Muskie drew 25 per cent and Humphrey 19 per cent.

But with Kennedy out of the race, the second poll showed Humphrey leading Muskie by a margin of 34 per cent to 31 per cent.

Find Body In Well Of Plane

CHICAGO (AP) — The body of an unidentified man was found late Sunday in the nose wheel well of a Delta Airlines jet-prop air freighter shortly after it landed at O'Hare International Airport on a flight from Atlanta.

Police said the man may have crawled into the well as a stowaway in Atlanta.

Washington Redskins Coach Receives Call From Nixon

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon has arrived here to meet with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt for the fourth in a series of six summit talks he is having with allied leaders.

"The President feels this is a particularly timely point to have further discussion with Brandt, and he is looking forward to them," Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said after Nixon's arrival here Sunday night.

"He feels they will be productive, as the others have been."

They will meet Tuesday and Wednesday.

Nixon, anticipating his trip to Moscow in late February and to Peking in late May, met earlier this month with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, French President Georges Pompidou and British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

He will confer next week with Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif. At a later date in Washington, he will meet with the Italian prime minister.

The American and West German leaders will talk in one of two bayfront homes Nixon owns here. Secretary of State William P. Rogers flew to Florida with the President and he will meet simultaneously in a nearby hotel with his Bonn counterpart.

part, Foreign Minister Walter Scheel.

Nixon, just before flying here, placed a telephone call to Washington Redskins Coach George Allen to commiserate on the Redskins 24-20 loss to the San Francisco 49ers in the National Football League playoff game in the Bay City.

Ziegler said Nixon watched the contest on television and told Allen afterward: "You can be proud that you had a good season. It was a fine game."

Landing at nearby Homestead Air Force Base, Nixon strode to greet a few score well-wishers and talked mostly about football as he chatted his way along a fence in front of the terminal.

Nixon is expected to return to Washington in time to see his wife Pat, who did not make this trip, off on a 10-day African tour that begins New Year's Day.

Shower Mystery Youth With Christmas Gifts

McPHERSON, Kan. (AP) — Officials and residents showered the young man they think is Everett Eugene Davis with presents Christmas Day.

But they came no closer to solving the mystery that surrounds the uncommunicative youth, discovered in the city Dec. 12.

He has yet to speak and questions asked of him both words and sign language had elicited only in articulate gestures.

About all known about him is a Social Security card which he was carrying when police found him in the downtown area.

Two Die As Car Plunges Off Dam

COLBERT, Okla. (AP) — Two Sherman, Tex., men died late Sunday when their car plunged off the west end of Denton Dam at Lake Texoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol identified the men as John T. Mall, 20, and F. B. Fox, 20. The highway patrol said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed when it went off the road atop the dam.

Actor's Son Faces Battery Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Edward G. Robinson's son was booked for investigation of battery after a woman called the sheriff's office to report a disturbance in a West Hollywood apartment.

Deputies said they arrested Edward G. Robinson Jr., 38, on a complaint by Sylvia Habush, a resident of the apartment building. Miss Habush told authorities she suffered a bruise on her arm during an argument with Robinson on Sunday.

Robinson was also booked on a warrant for investigation of failure to appear in an unrelated drunken driving investigation, deputies said.

He was released after posting a $315 battery bond and a $6,125 warrant bond.

School Aid Major Issue In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Issues certain to be raised in Congress next year are a major increase in federal aid to elementary and secondary schools and the money to finance it.

In outlining the administration plans for 1972 at a year-end news conference, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot Richardson said the questions of revenue-raising and aid to parochial schools remain unresolved.

Among revenue solutions being considered, he said, is a value-added tax—a pyramid sales tax added to a product as it moves through various stages of manufacture and distribution. Aid to parochial schools, he said, might be accomplished through a tax-credit for parents.

Several Democrats have introduced bills calling for a substantial increase in federal aid to elementary and secondary schools and hope to get a bill before the House by March.

Richardson said the impetus for increasing federal school aid comes from a California Supreme Court decision last Aug. 30 that found the state's method of financing education unconstitutional due to inequities in local property taxes. A federal court in Texas made a similar finding Thursday.

Because most communities rely heavily on this method of school financing, the decisions have had widespread repercussions.

school aid is the serious financial plight of many school districts, which have had to cut sessions, lay off teachers, and shorten curricula.

Richardson was one of four Nixon Cabinet officers participating in the year-end news conference last Wednesday. Reports of the conference were embargoed until Sunday.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said the administration will seek $2 billion above the present authorization of $3.1 billion for urban mass transit during the next two years.

What keeps Big Spring running?

Every one of us uses an average of three gallons of oil every day. So do all the other 205 million Americans. Oil and natural gas supply 75 percent of our energy needs: almost all transportation, most of what is used for cooking and heating, more than 40 percent of all our electricity. A country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

Let God Judge

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem in our church. A couple of kids, 16 and 17, got into trouble and had to get married. They appear to be very much in love, and neither shows any shame.

It has been customary for the church to make a party for all newweds and present them with a gift.

Some of the church members feel that by treating this young couple like the others have been treated, it would be condoning their sin. Others feel that we shouldn't discriminate against them because of the circumstances. Both the boy and girl attend church regularly, and their parents have been good and loyal church members.

We hate to hurt the newweds and their parents, but we don't want to give the impression that we condone their sin. How should this be solved?

NO NAME OR LOCATION
DEAR NO NAME: I think the young couple should not be publicly punished by denying them the treatment other newweds have had. And as for their "sin," let God judge them.

DEAR ABBY: Evidently you have never been to Las Vegas or you would know that the guests are expected to take home ashtrays as souvenirs. That's why the hotels put their names all over them. The management just writes it off as "advertising."

MRS. L.
DEAR MRS. L.: The silverware also bears the name of the hotel, and towels have the hotel's name six inches high across the middle. But some "guests" have walked off with service for 12 in silverware, and enough towels to stock a public bathhouse.

DEAR ABBY: My brother and I (both newly married) planned a surprise 25th wedding anniversary luncheon for our parents. We invited 60 of their relatives and close friends. In each invitation, I enclosed a request for $10 per couple to cover the cost of the luncheon and help toward a gift. (The gift was to be two round trip tickets to Hawaii.)

I just got a call from my aunt telling me that my parents will be very unhappy when they find out we asked each couple for $10. This aunt said my brother and I should pay for the luncheon ourselves, leaving the guests to bring any kind of gift they want (or none at all).

As a result of my aunt's call I have written all the guests asking them to disregard my request for $10.

Do you think I was out of line? Please be frank.

DAUGHTER
DEAR DAUGHTER: It is not uncommon for close friends to organize a "No Host" party and ask each couple to kitty in for one grand gift. But it's not usually done by a member of the immediate family. I would have to vote with auntie.

DEAR ABBY: What level of intelligence would you estimate is possessed by a couple which permits their gross, hairy, slobbering English sheepdog to run right through a buffet dinner party in their home? The dozen or so guests had all worn their finest clothes.

Maybe if they read this they will catch on.

Fatty Tumors

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain lipodystrophy, what causes it, and whether you advise removal by surgery. My doctor doesn't advise surgery, but they look like big tumors and get sore sometimes. -- G.E. Lipodystrophy means a disturbance in the metabolism of fatty tissue.

There are two forms. One is when too much fatty tissue accumulates or when the opposite happens -- as an indentation that can develop (especially in youngsters and women) at the site at which insulin is injected. The dents develop because, for complicated reasons, the fat below the skin diminishes. You evidently refer to the other type of lipodystrophy, with lumps of fat accumulating.

These are also known as lipomas, or fatty tumors. The cause is not known. They may be small and not worth bothering about, or they may become unsightly, and sometimes they're even sore, particularly if they are subjected to pressure from a belt, collar, shoulder strap, etc. The question of removing such lipomas is usually a matter of whether they are unsightly, or sore, or large enough to be a nuisance. They only very rarely become malignant. If one shows changes such as increasing in size or soreness, or there is indication that it is pressing on a nerve, it is usually removed. Obviously your doctor doesn't feel there is reason to remove yours, so I'd take his advice and not worry about it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have very dry, itchy skin. My legs more often than not are fish scaly and when I scratch, white powdery skin rains off. On my arms I get a very dark red blotch which takes some time to disappear. I have been troubled like this for many years. I am 65.

I do not believe in dermatologists.

What is your advice? -- D.T.

Dermatologists are physicians who have had some years of specialized training in care of the skin, so I don't quite understand why you'd turn to me instead.

Your trouble sounds like ichthyosis, although of course it's risky to guess at skin troubles unless you see them. Anyway, ichthyosis amounts to an overgrowth of the more or less horny part of the skin.

Principal treatment is to use a lotion for dry skin, although ultra-violet light and other measures sometimes are tried. In some patients, when large parts of the body are affected, even ordinary cooking oils have been used. Avoiding too many baths also helps prevent too much drying of the skin.

Ichthyosis also goes under the names of xeroderma and fish-skin disease.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Concerning "J.M." bothered by a burning tongue, my doctor suggested that perhaps, unknowingly, I was pressing it against the roof of my mouth, through tension. I consciously tried relaxing my tongue (and my nerves) and eventually the burning tongue stopped. Perhaps "J.M." should try it. -- N.J.S.

Well, why not try it?

Dear Thosteson: On the records, has any woman 59 years of age given birth to a baby in Wisconsin?--R.N.

No, nor anywhere else, to my knowledge.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald requesting a copy of his booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

REDISTRICTING CASE

Orr Asks Federal Courts To Appoint New Master

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Democratic Chairman Roy Orr asked the federal courts today to appoint a new master in the legislative redistricting case.

George Schatzki, University of Texas law professor, was the unanimous choice of a three-judge federal court last Wednesday to conduct hearings on Dec. 31 and Jan. 3-6 then make recommendations to the court.

Schatzki "is ineligible under the constitution of the state of Texas to act in the capacity of a special master in this case since he already holds one civil office of emolument as a professor in the law school of the University of Texas," said the motion filed in Orr's name by the state Democratic party's counsel, Earl Luna of Dallas. Orr also protested that Schatzki was formerly associated with the law firm in which Sen. Oscar Mauzy is now a partner and with which Austin attorney David Richards was formerly associated "each of said attorneys being attorneys for the plaintiffs in this cause."

Orr asked the federal district court to find that Schatzki has a "conflict of interest" in the case and "is disqualified to serve as a special master."

Poor Federal Supervision Of American Aid In Peru

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office says it found poor federal supervision and deficient planning by a U.S. contractor in the design and construction of an unfinished, landslide-plagued highway built in Peru with American aid.

The $47 million trans-Andes mountain road was begun in 1966 with $35.1 million from the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) and the Export-Import Bank. The Peruvian government pledged to make up the difference but now is suing two U.S. contractors — Brown and Root Overseas, Inc., of Houston and Morrison-Knudsen, Inc., on charges of poor workmanship, collusion and fraud.

NO EXAMPLES

Work on the 139-mile project has halted with 57 miles not yet started.

Charles Pettis, a former Brown and Root engineer on the project, charged his firm's road design was deficient because no core samples were taken, drainage planning was improper, and inexperienced labor and improper equipment were used in the early stages.

The shortcoming led to numerous landslides and fill washouts, Pettis said. The GAO, asked to investigate Pettis' charges, supported the engineer's contentions.

It also agreed with Pettis that an unidentified Brown and Root employee diverted laborers' food money for construction of a $16,000 house and payment for his wedding, a stereo set, office equipment, table silver and building tools.

A spokesman for the Morrison-Knudsen, in Boise, Idaho, refused comment on the report because "this matter is subject of litigation in the courts of Peru."

Ben Powell, lawyer for

Brown and Root in Houston, said his firm was responsible only for engineering on the project and not construction. He said the engineering recommendations had been approved by AID, the Peruvian highway department and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

OWES MONEY

On the accusation that an employe diverted government funds to his own use, Powell said: "We've terminated this employe after an investigation. I don't want to say if he did it or didn't do it. We reimbursed the government for the funds involved about two years ago."

Powell added the Peruvian government still owes Brown and Root about a half million dollars and Morrison-Knudsen several million dollars in connection with the project.

The U.S. agencies have disbursed $16.3 million of the $35.1 million obligated for the road.

Pettis also claimed he was black-balled from working in international construction after making his charges. The GAO said it could not confirm that, but it noted Pettis had applied for 31 jobs and had received no responses.

Morrison-Knudsen and Brown and Root hold major shares in the huge construction consortium RMK-BRJ, which has handled many of the U.S. building projects in Vietnam.

You Can't Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — After a broken parking meter swallowed his two dimes, Francis J. Colletta sued the city.

"The parking meter is a symbol of this machine age and I'm going to fight it," Colletta, a university student, said in People's Court.

Judge Vern J. Munger Jr. awarded the youth a 20-cent settlement.

But Colletta could not collect it until he paid the court 50 cents for a machine-made copy of the judgment.

China Concludes Russia, U.S. Are Losing Influence

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China assessed its first session at the United Nations today and concluded that the United States and Russia are losing influence there while the medium size and smaller nations are gaining strength.

The editorial said once again that China will never become a superpower but will instead champion the causes of the world's "third countries."

General Assembly is an important sign that it is more and more difficult for the two superpowers to continue to control and monopolize U.N. affairs as in the past.

Lt. Calley Trial Survey Is Released

BOSTON (AP) — A poll by two Harvard social psychologists indicates 58 per cent of the American population disapproved of the trial of Lt. William Calley, convicted by a military court last spring on murder charges stemming from the 1968 massacre at My Lai, South Vietnam.

Herbert Kelman, professor of Social Ethics, Mrs. Lee Lawrence, a Ph.D. candidate in social psychology, said in a report published today that only 34 per cent of the population approved the decision to try Calley.

The report said more than half of those who approve of the trial do so because they believe a soldier must bear individual responsibility for killing defenseless civilians.

Accused In Slaying Near Santa Claus

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tyrone Howard appears in court today for a preliminary hearing on a charge of second-degree murder in the slaying of John Fitzpatrick at a Santa Claus waiting line.

Santa Claus. About 75 persons watched. Howard, 21, is free on $5,000 bond. He has denied stabbing Fitzpatrick.

Witnesses told police the two men struggled over their position in line as Howard tried to move ahead. The murder weapon, described as an 8-inch butcher knife, has not been found.

Attempted To Nab Plane With Blanks

CHICAGO (AP) — Authorities say a man who threatened to blow up a Northwest Airlines jet unless paid $300,000 ransom may have been trying to reenact last month's successful hijacking by a skydiver.

FBI agents said Sunday that the dynamite with which Everett L. Holt, 25, allegedly threatened to blow up the plane Friday was fake, and that the pistol he allegedly held on the plane's pilot may have been loaded with blanks.

and scheduled to appear in court today. Authorities speculated that Holt may have been playing the leading role in an attempted replay of the hijacking in November when a skyjacker parachuted from a jet with $200,000 in cash between Seattle and Reno, Nev.

Chevalier In Bad Shape

PARIS (AP) — Hospital authorities said today that Maurice Chevalier was in serious condition, but his private secretary gave a more encouraging report after visiting the 83-year-old showman.

Chevalier has been undergoing treatment in Necker Hospital for two weeks because of a kidney ailment.

Felix Paquet, Chevalier's secretary, told newsmen after visiting the old man this morning: "He was seated in his armchair. He is all right. He is better... He is lucid. His treatment is continuing."

Machinery To Enforce Phase 2 Controls In Place As '71 Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The machinery to enforce Phase 2 wage, price and rent controls is in place as 1971 nears its end, and administration officials are expressing hope—but not making predictions—that the restraints can be removed before 1972 ends.

President Nixon signed the bill extending his control authority for the full period he asked, through April 30, 1973. The legislation gives him essentially what he requested from Congress and one or two things he did not seek.

One is a pay raise for federal civilian employees and the military Jan. 1 instead of July 1, at an estimated cost of more than $1 billion.

WIN FOR LABOR
The act also specifies that pay raises caught in the freeze are to be paid under certain conditions. AFL-CIO President George Meany hailed this provision as a victory for labor. Among the beneficiaries are an estimated 17 million teachers.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, meeting with newsmen, predicted a strong upsurge in the economy in 1972, perhaps reaching 6½ per cent, which would be the biggest annual gain since 1955.

Asked about the duration of the controls, he said "the decontrol process already is being studied," but that no one now can be sure when Phase 2 will end.

The cost-of-living index moved up two-tenths of 1 per cent for November, the same rate as for October. It reflected the continued effect of the freeze that ended in mid-month and administration officials expressed satisfaction.

Storm Rakes Great Plains

By The Associated Press

Rain, snow and freezing drizzle fell over the northern half of the country today as a storm system swept out of the western Great Plains and raced as far east as New England.

Fair and unusually warm weather was the rule, however, from the southern Great Plains to the southern Atlantic Coast.

The storm in the Western plains brought travelers' warnings and hazardous driving warnings to portions of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota, Oklahoma and Missouri.

Two inches of new snow fell on Helena, Mont., during a six-hour period, and the same period brought an inch of snow to Aberdeen, S.D., Park Falls, Wis., and Burlington, Vt.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 17 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., to 74 degrees at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

39 DIE IN CRASHES Texas Violence

By The Associated Press
Motorists killed themselves and others at a steady rate this Christmas holiday season, with shootings also figuring high in the count.

The department of Public Safety had predicted 52 persons would die on Texas highways in the 78-hour holiday period which began at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The Associated Press counted 59 dead during that period, 39 in motor vehicle accidents. Fifteen were shot to death, two died in a plane crash, two were killed in train mishaps and one died in a fire.

Among those killed Sunday was J. M. Shelton, 37, of Fort Worth. He died when the car in which he was riding collided with another on Texas 123 10 miles north of Stockdale in Wilson County.

HIT-AND-RUN
Rohila Hillier, 32, died Sunday when she stepped in front of a freight train in downtown Houston. An investigation was in progress into the circumstances surrounding her death.

Jose Gonzalez, 65, of an unknown address was killed Saturday night when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver. The accident occurred on a San Antonio street.

William Earl Norris, 16, of Dallas was killed Sunday when his motorcycle left a freeway and crashed. The accident occurred at the intersection of traffic-heavy LBJ Freeway and North Central Expressway in Dallas.

John Gerber, 16, of San Antonio was killed Sunday when an automobile hit the bicycle he was riding. Police said the accident site was a frontage road on Interstate 410 about two miles southwest of San Antonio.

Emil E. Shelburne, 49, of the Mount community Coryell County was killed Sunday night when he was struck by an automobile near his home. Officers said the accident occurred on U.S. 84.

Rene Ramirez, 47, was fatally shot Saturday night as he sat in a restaurant at Zapata in South Texas. Officers held a 60-year-old man in connection with the slaying.

James Fletcher, 20, of Amherst on the South Plains was shot to death late Saturday night. Sheriff E. D. McNeese said he arrested a suspect.

Jorge Ramirez Villareal, 16, was shot and killed Sunday at a street intersection in Corpus Christi. Officers said they were hunting a male suspect.

William R. Kirk, 15, of New Caney was killed Saturday night when his automobile hurtled off a farm road. Officers said the accident occurred in Harris County near Houston.

Doris Ray Green, 34, of Italy was killed near the Central Texas town Christmas Eve when his car veered off Texas 34.

President Park Gains Emergency Powers Bill

SEOUL (AP) — A bill granting President Chung Hee Park sweeping emergency powers was promulgated into law last day after Park's majority in the National Assembly adopted it despite an opposition sit-in.

The bill gives Park power to control prices and wages, restrain labor unions, curb press freedom and take other measures under the state of national emergency he proclaimed Dec. 6. The opposition New Democratic party contended Park's claims that attack by North Korea is imminent were unfounded and charged the emergency powers were designed to set up one-man rule.

To block a vote on the bill, the New Democrats had occupied the speaker's rostrum in the assembly hall since last Tuesday. But early today 111 Democratic Republicans and two independents met in the Foreign Affairs Committee room and adopted the bill without debate. The single-house assembly has 204 members.

The New Democrats charged that the vote was illegal.

Several hundred troops and policemen ringed the assembly buildings when the vote was taken, and the opposition members made no attempt to interfere.

American Among 157 Killed In Hotel Fire

SEOUL (AP) — A U.S. Embassy spokesman today identified an American among 157 killed in a Christmas Day hotel fire as George W. Goodwin, a civilian employe at the nearby Osan Air Force Base.

Goodwin, 49, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ruth Goodwin of Blackwell, Okla., the spokesman said. He was one of nine Americans registered at the Taeyoukang Hotel when fire raged through it Saturday.

At least 157 persons died in the blaze. Some bodies pulled from the ruins were burned beyond recognition, and positive identification of all the victims has been impossible. Goodwin is the only American victim identified so far.

Hotel officials said 203 guests were registered at the 22-story luxury hotel on Christmas Eve and 235 employes were scheduled to be on duty when the fire began at 10 a.m.

It was the worst hotel fire in history, surpassing the 119 killed in the Wineoff Hotel fire in 1946 at Atlanta, Ga.

Officials said the death toll could still rise as the ruins are sifted. More than 100 persons were treated at hospitals for injuries suffered in the fire.

BILLY EARLEY

Earley Seeks Solon's Post

Billy J. Earley, Nacogdoches attorney, has announced he will be a candidate for State Representative from District 4 (comprised of Nacogdoches, Panola and Shelby counties). Earley is the son of Mrs. Helen Earley, 1704 State, and the late Bill Earley. He was born and reared here and graduated from Big Spring High School, playing on the football team which went to the state finals in Class AAA in 1953. While growing up here, he was active in the First Christian Church and in Boy Scouts. He is a graduate of Stephen F. Austin State University with a degree in forestry and of the University of Texas School of Law, from which he earned his law degree in 1955. Prior to deciding upon a career in law, Earley served with the U.S. Forest Service in California, then with the Soil Conservation Service in San Augustine and Sabine Counties. Earley is married to the former Mary Quarles of Alto, and they have two children, Mark, 8, and Jamiann, 2. The home address is 618 Burk Street, Nacogdoches.

Tragedy Hits This Family

MALVERN, Pa. (AP) — A man whose mother was murdered six months after his uncle disappeared into an Asian jungle has been found shot to death in his home. Harrison Wood, 47, died of a bullet wound in the head. Police said today the death did not appear to be a homicide. Wood's mother, Wilmington socialite Katherine Thompson Wood, was found beaten to death in her bed of her home in August, 1967. In March, 1967, Mrs. Wood's brother, James Thompson walked into the jungle while vacationing in Malaysia and was never seen again. Thompson, originally from Delaware, had made a fortune exporting silk from Thailand. In November Wood charged that both the murder of his mother and the disappearance of his uncle were part of a Red plot inspired by Thompson's successful application of free enterprise to Asia. Banker, 73, Dies DEL RAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Francis A. Callery, 73, a New York City investment banker who helped found Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. of San Diego, Calif., died Friday while vacationing. A leading proponent of naval aviation, Callery retired in 1959 as a partner in Lehman Brothers investment banking firm.

Many Are Moved By Fire Tragedy

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Stan Levin and family woke up the morning after Christmas to find their home engulfed in flames. They just managed to escape with little more than the clothes they were wearing. Friends, neighbors and strangers were moved by the tragedy. Within a few hours donations began pouring in and now, much to his dismay, Levin says

Politicians Escape Bombs

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Terrorist bombs exploded early today at homes of two prominent leftist politicians damaging doors and windows but causing no injuries. One victim, Daniel Buquet, president of the Union of Montevideo Professors, said the bombings were by "fascist forces" and jeopardized the lives of children and persons completely removed from educational and union activities. It was the third time since July his house has been bombed. Police said the second bomb went off at the house of Raul Diaz Tomero, a director of the Socialist party.

Sen. Mauzy Resting Well

DALLAS (AP) — State Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas was reported resting well Sunday following a mild heart attack over the holiday weekend. His condition still was listed as serious early today and hospital officials said he would probably remain hospitalized for two to three weeks. Mauzy, 45, is chairman of special Senate committee on the problems of urban education which was to meet Tuesday. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes called the meeting in the wake of the federal court decision Saturday which said the present system of financing public school education in Texas is unconstitutional. However, the meeting was postponed because of Mauzy's illness. Mauzy, a five-year veteran of the Senate, is one of the plaintiff's lawyers in a federal court suit challenging the legislative redistricting plan. The hearings on the apportionment plan is due to begin Friday.

Aw, It's Okay SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Sandra Glass' apartment was broken into twice over the Christmas holidays. On Thursday Miss Glass found her Christmas presents, a television set and some jewelry missing. On Saturday she found them returned, with a note atop the pile: "Sorry I spoiled your Christmas. Just because mine was so bad."

Artist Remembers Americana Scenes

I REMEMBER AMERICA. By Eric Sloane. Funk & Wagnalls, $29.95 until Dec. 31, then $35. With so many Americans turning from what they find meaningless and frustrating in the contemporary to go on a nostalgic kick, pointing this change in direction with taste, discrimination and wit takes extraordinary skill. Eric Sloane obviously has this in generous measure. Sloane has an impressive middle-brow achievement with brush, pencil, and, equally important, typewriter. He belongs to a not very common breed — in the high Renaissance only Leonardo da Vinci, Benvenuto Cellini, and Vasari come to mind immediately — who can write about their art with penetration, humor and charm. Sloane's real name was Everard Jean Hinrichs, but he changed it professionally in his youth. He had the real growth from the soil apprenticeship that used to be a part of the rugged life of American artists.

He once painted a sign atop the roller coaster at Coney Island. He virtually invented the cloudscape, under the inspiration of the late flier Wiley Post. From flying it was natural for Sloane to teach himself meteorology by writing books on it. He raised the funds and created the Hall of Atmosphere at the American Museum of Natural History.

Above all, he became noted for catching the nuances in design of things from an earlier America — its old barns, covered bridges, its weather-vanes and ornamental hinges. From this facet of his career the present book stems.

The abstractionists get some of Sloane's choicest bars. With a brief nod to "these adventurous years of abstract expression," he quickly proceeds to deplore the lost appeal of purposeful creation, declares that "true art, in many ways, is the portrayal of remembrances."

Heart Starter Hopes Growing

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A team of doctors and engineers hopes to perfect an electrical heart starter that would help to save people with cardiac problems.

The aim is to enable a patient to carry the unit in his chest for automatic and instant recharging of a wavering heart beat.

Dr. Michel Mirvovick of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, who heads the project, was interviewed in Minneapolis where he conferred with engineers at Medtronic Inc.

He said a series of successful tests was made on animals with some of the device's systems. Tests also are being made externally on some patients at Sinai Hospital in Baltimore, he said, adding that it is too early to report on any results.

Mirvovick said the device, about the size of a cigarette pack, would be placed in the patient's chest and hooked to his heart.

If his heart stopped an electrical charge of about 10-watt-seconds power would jolt it. This is the type of charge that can often get a heart going again, he said.

Batteries would be replaced about every two years, through surgery.

A Rose Is A Rose Is A... And More Varied Than Ever

By DAVID LANCASHIRE Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Europe's major rose breeders, like scientists pursuing new inventions, are searching for flowers of the future — brilliant new colors, fewer thorns, more blooms, more health, vigor and resistance to disease.

From the bright south of France to breezy east England, flower experts the public rarely hears of are coming closer to developing perfect roses, Britain's Royal National Rose Society reports. Their research could mean more colorful gardens throughout the world.

Most modern roses, says the annual report of the society — which represents 99,330 avid growers in Britain — are descended from the Gallica strain grown in the Middle East more than 2,000 years ago.

EGYPT'S TOMBS Gallica type roses have been found entombed in the pyramid in upper Egypt and appeared in Botticelli's painting of the "Birth of Venus."

French physicians used Gallica petals boiled in white wine to treat gunshot wounds and others prescribed them as heart medicine.

Four dozen different strains of Gallica roses grow in England today, but the search for new blossoms has gone far beyond Gallica. Saluting "the men behind the new roses," art dealer and amateur grower Nigel Raban in an article in the report selected five outstanding breeders.

BREEDERS HONORED Jean Gaujard of France, 68, whose ancestors worked with flowers at Versailles as far back as 1648, runs a research station at St. Remy in Provence where 30,000 seedlings a year are produced to send just three or four types onto the commercial market.

Gaujard, who has won "the most beautiful rose in France" award seven times, is now pursuing new red colors that do not shade to blue, and oranges that do not fade. He believes the "Guitare" rose, coming from "Golden Slippers" and crossed with unnamed seedlings, may provide the blooms he wants.

PEDIGREED PLANTS Roses are named by the growers who breed them, and the names are registered internationally to prevent duplication.

William Kordes, the 80-year-old German whose "Crimson Glory" in 1935 was greeted as a classic rose and parent of modern times, now produces four million rose plants annually. "Koredesii" perpetual flowering climbers are one of Kordes' major successes in a lifetime of hybridizing. Kordes believes a challenge of the future is to reduce the number of thorns appearing on some new varieties, by selecting the proper parents.

Edward Le Grice of England seeks self colors and perfume in hybrid tea roses, such as his "City of Hereford," "Incense" and "Ellen Mary." For the future, he wants "a tall, unfading golden variety, either hybrid tea or floribunda, but despite hundreds of crosses and thousands of seedlings, the goal seems as elusive as ever." Le Grice, 69, has been following his trial and error method of rose breeding since 1920.

ALL AMERICAN Louis Lens of Belgium, whose hybrid tea "Pascall" won the All American award in 1969, looks for attractive form with emphasis on cut flower work.

Working with various crossings, Lens prefers elegance in moderate-sized blooms to the bright colors sought across the border in France.

Sam McGredy started out haphazardly at his greenhouses in Northern Ireland, mixing all the best new European and American roses he could find and scattering pollen "to see what would come out."

Painstaking years later he developed a series of remontant climbers, crossbred from Kordes' "Heidelberg" shrub. Fellow growers say the resulting "Galway Bay," "Swan Lake," "Handel," and "Santa Catalina" are spectacular. McGredy's latest strain is the hardy, free-flowering "Hand-painted" series, the first one called "Picasso."

FLOWER ACT

Britain is so interested in flower growing that an Act of Parliament in 1964 set up the Plant Variety Rights Office to encourage, protect and reward innovation in plant breeding, and provide royalties for growing licenses.

Britain imports 40 million rose bushes a year, and the Royal Society has 1,000 affiliated local societies, each holding a flower show annually, plus the society's own show and count-downs.

Now the society is planning to fly its members to New Zealand in November for the International Rose Convention.

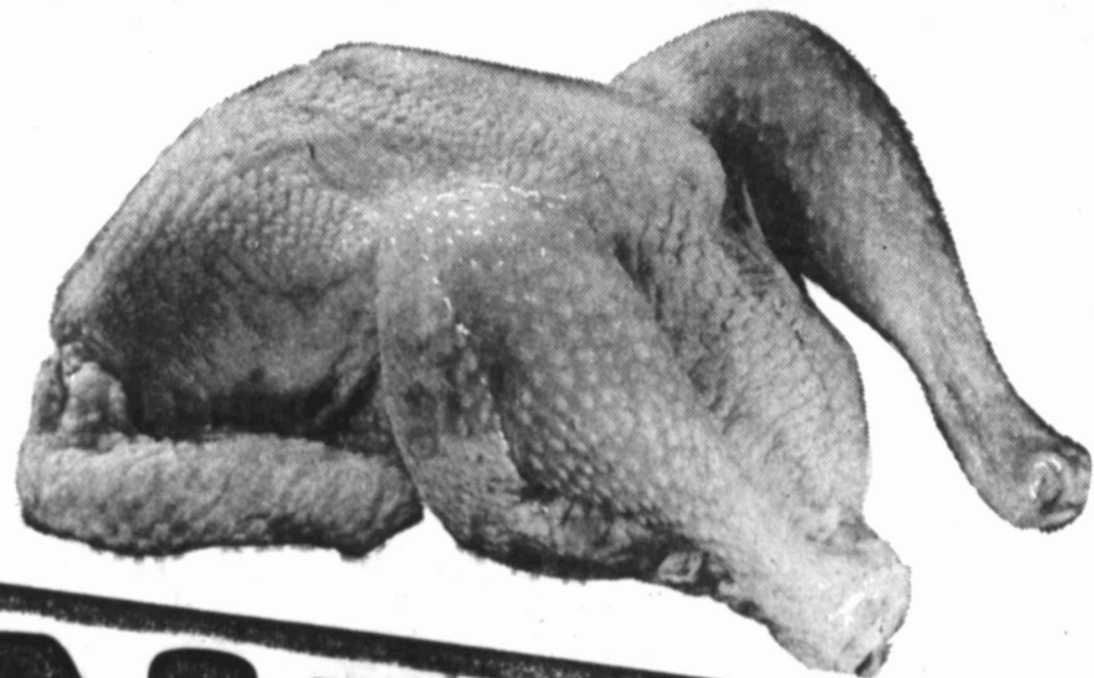

Traps Illegal

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds in Britain has launched a campaign against the illegal pole trap.

Traps are fixed to poles, which seem to offer birds an enticing perch. When the bird alights, steel jaws snap on its legs. Britain's birds of prey — particularly golden eagles, kestrels and owls — are common victims.

A spokesman said the society plans legal action against trap-setters and poisoners.

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Use understanding with others by doing favors they have requested, or you feel they need. Accept invitations from others, since they can bring unexpectedly fine results. Don't be so standoffish.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) You have certain tasks that are hourly fun, but need doing just the same, so get of them early, following every rule and regulation that applies to you is important. Do not take any chances.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Studying into some new plan or small details of one already in operation brings the results you need now. Make new contacts who can alleviate the dull hours of your living. Choose friends wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22) Instead of worrying about all those accumulated tasks awaiting you, get busy at them and they are soon behind you. They have time to look into new interests as well. Follow intuition for best results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able now to discharge those obligations and promises you have made. Everyone will be immensely pleased and you will benefit therefrom. Discussions with others are fine, but not arguments. Tone down your voice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you labor consistently, you can get all those tasks ahead of you in a remarkably efficient manner. Don't give in to that temptation to go off on some tangent, for others, especially family, will be upset. Show you are dependable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you do something to make yourself look and feel more dynamic, you find you have more success both in social and business life. Take care of personal matters, problems, worry and quickly. Take that chip off your shoulder.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Home and family should be first on the agenda. You think how to improve all of home in spare moments. Don't be so critical of kin. There isn't much to worry about where conduct is concerned.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You will get good results from discussing with associates ways to have greater success and harmony in the future. Being more willing to work harder is wise. Sort of those small tasks quickly, and get them behind you.

Bogus Problems

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

UNPRINTED: (Q.) — I wrote you twice with problems that I considered serious. Evidently you didn't agree because you didn't print them.

It seems the only letters you do print are those from kids in trouble.

Or do you just make the letters up? That must be it. I must admit I'll be shocked if you print this. You must enjoy those dirty letters — making them up and answering them yourself. — Getting Wiser in Pennsylvania.

(A.) — get from 1,000 to 2,000 letters a week. I personally answer all letter writers who send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

From all the letters received, I pick about 15 each week for the column. This means that some weeks nearly 2,000 letters have to go unprinted.

I'm printing yours this time because you really do have a problem. You have decided that you are the ONLY teen-ager with problems and that I have to make up the ones I print.

Next time, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my personal answer.

MOTHER MIXUP: (Q.) I have been going with this very nice boy, but his mother hates me. She is afraid we are going to get married. That is crazy because I'm 15 and he's 17.

She wants us to break up and she has just about succeeded in getting what she wants. When we are in school she calls my mother and tells her all kinds of lies.

My mother believes her, and now says I can't go with my boy friend any more. Please help! — Forbidden in Florida.

(A.) Both your mothers sound pretty uptight.

Try first to unwind yours. Ask her to let your boy friend come to see her and you at the same time and discuss anything she wants to discuss.

If he and you have done nothing wrong, and if you are straight and honest with your mother, you should be able to convince her what the facts are.

Then maybe she will talk straight to his mother about what the facts are.

Good luck.

PHONE NUMBER: (Q.) At a beach party I met this great guy. He asked me for my phone number. I told him I would write it down and give it to him.

But before I could, he left. I gave it to a friend of both mine and his and asked the friend to give it to him.

But I'm afraid this boy will forget. If I don't get a call soon, would it be all right to check with the boy I gave the number to? — Eager in California.

(A.) Yes. Ask him if he gave your new friend the number. If he didn't, ask him to give it to him now. If he doesn't want to or can't, write the boy you met a post card.

Enjoyed meeting you. Hope you'll call some time. My number is —.

Webb Honors Lt. Nourse

1st Lt. Robert W. Nourse, 450th Pilot Training Squadron, was recently named that squadron's T-38 Talon Instructor of the Month for December at Webb AFB.

In a letter about the lieutenant, Lt. Col. Robert Hurst, squadron commander, said, "He has consistently performed his duties as a T-38 instructor pilot in an outstanding manner."

In addition to having three students, Lt. Nourse is the D Flight scheduling officer. He has become an expert in determining mission requirements for 23 students and schedules accordingly. Because of his management abilities, D Flight students receive maximum training in the air and on the ground.

Lt. Nourse entered the Air Force in February, 1969. After graduation from Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex., he entered pilot training at Moody AFB, Ga. Following undergraduate pilot training he was sent to Tyndall AFB, Fla., to complete pilot instructor training, then to Webb in October, 1970.

The native of Indianapolis was graduated from Indiana University with a degree in Zoology. He married the former Miss Linda Fairbanks, also from Indianapolis. The couple has one child, Chryl, 2.

Found Shot Dead Beneath A Sign

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A man identified by police as the Rev. Ed Stark, 55, was found shot dead beneath a sign reading, "Prayer changes everything," at an east side rescue mission early today.

Italy's Election Stirs A New Political Crisis

ROME (AP) — Italy got a new president for Christmas and a political crisis that may mean the end of eight years of Center-Left government.

Giovanni Leone, an affable 63-year-old Neapolitan politician, was elected by Parliament after 15 days of voting, talking, screaming insults and a little fighting.

Leone, a Christian Democrat, won as a man of the center. Although partners in the government, his party and the Socialists split over the presidential election and fought bitterly. Observers think it will be a long time before they can get together again in another government.

Avanti, the Socialist party newspaper, accused the Christian Democrats today of a move to the right "that included the Fascists in a repellent and mongrel embrace." The Socialists charge that the neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement, the MSI, which gave Leone the kiss of death in the last election seven years ago, this time gave him the election.

In 1964, the MSI said it would vote for Leone, and he immediately withdrew from the race. This time, the neo-Fascists said they would cast blank ballots. But the voting was secret, Leone won with a majority of only 13 votes, and the leftists charge that he got 36 from the MSI. The Christian Democrats deny this.

No One Will Be Drafted Next Month?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service officials predict that no one will be drafted next month.

The officials say the Pentagon has not issued a new draft call for the first quarter of 1972, and since inductees must have 30 days' notice before they are drafted, it is almost certain there won't be any young men ordered up in January.

Defense Department sources say when the new quarterly call is issued it probably will be in the relatively low 10,000 range, similar to the October-December period now ending.

With the million-man Army due to be pared by more than 100,000 men during the next six months, there are indications the 1972 draft call will fall below the 1971 total of 95,000. It could be the lowest since before the Korean War.

Vietnam draft calls peaked at 364,000 in 1966.

Uncle Sam Giving Santa Claus Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is giving Santa Claus a Christmas present.

The Economic Development Administration announced approval Wednesday of a $160,800 grant to help build a town hall in Santa Claus, Ind.

"The project, aided by a presidential public works program to create new jobs in high unemployment areas, is expected to provide jobs for eight skilled and 41 unskilled workers from the Santa Claus area," EDA said.

Demo National Chairman Will Monitor Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien says he intends to monitor the campaign for his party's presidential nomination, and blow the whistle on any candidate assailing others in a fashion that might help Republicans.

O'Brien said he will spend six more months as "an activist and outspoken" Democratic chairman, prepared to chastise any presidential candidate who breaches agreements on the way the campaign for nomination will be conducted. He presumably will yield the chairmanship next July 14 to a successor chosen by the man nominated for the White House at the Democratic national convention.

In a year-end report, O'Brien said he believes agreements among the candidates on the conduct of the campaign will be observed. "But I will not hesitate to speak out when, in my judgment, personal attacks or other violations of the agreements we have reached are damaging the party's chances to defeat Mr. Nixon and the Republicans in the general election," he said.

O'Brien said the crowded field of Democratic prospects offers the party "an opportunity to present its case to the American people in advance of the general election campaign."

But for that to work, he said, the Democratic contenders will have to hammer away during the primary campaigns at common themes of disagreement with Nixon, and not at each other. The candidates have agreed to that, to limit their primary campaign spending to five cents for each registered voter for television and radio broadcasts, with a similar limit on other forms of campaign advertising.

In addition, O'Brien said, they have agreed to abide by the reforms instituted by the party to insure an open process of delegate selection for 1972.

"The candidates competing for the presidential nomination bear a special burden to see that delegate selection criteria are observed to the letter," O'Brien said.

Such challenges would amount to an effort to unsettle delegates pledged to support a rival candidate.

Pokes, 49ers, Colts And Miami Survive

By The Associated Press
"Don't look back" was the message from the White House. Unfortunately, it went to the Washington Redskins, who have nowhere else to look until next season.

It's San Francisco, Dallas, Baltimore and Miami that aren't looking back today. They're looking forward to the one final step that leads to New Orleans and Super Bowl VI.

The 49ers and Cowboys will go at it next Sunday in Dallas in a repeat performance of their clash of a year ago for the National Conference championship.

Kilmer passed for a pair of touchdowns.
Don Nottingham, subbing for injured Norm "Boo" Bulaich in the Baltimore backfield, wound up with 92 yards rushing and two touchdowns while the Colts limited the entire Cleveland ground game to a mere 69 yards.
"Boo is a better runner overall and he's a better receiver,"

Colts Coach Don McCafferty said. "However, we got a great job from Nottingham here, especially when you consider he's a rookie coming into his home area to play."
While Nottingham was grinding up the Browns and Colts was shredding them—the cagey quarterback completed 13 of 21 passes for 143 yards—Bubba Smith was standing atop a defensive wall that yielded only one field goal. Bubba personally blocked two others.

The Cowboys, with the No. 1 offense in the NFC, finally got it rolling against the Vikings' No. 1 defense after taking only a 6-3 halftime lead. But it was the Dallas defense that actually ignited it.

FIRST SCORE

Cliff Harris' interception of a Bob Lee pass set up the Cowboys' first touchdown, a 13-yard Duane Thomas scamper on the very next play. Then Roger Staubach quarterbacked Dallas 52 yards, capping the drive with a nine-yard scoring pass to Bob Hayes.

The Kansas City-Miami clash was a nerve-rattler from start to finish with the Chiefs repeatedly taking the lead and the Dolphins repeatedly rallying to obliterate it.

Kansas City seemed set to win it in regulation play when Ed Podolak slammed over from three yards out with 6:46 to go. But quarterback Bob Griese brought the Dolphins right back to tie it 24-24 with 1:36 remaining on a five-yard touchdown pass to Marv Fleming.

Then it seemed a sure bet that Kansas City would win it with 35 seconds still on the clock—but, incredibly, Jan Stenerud's 32-yard field goal attempt sailed wide to the right.

He also had a chance to win it for Kansas City in the first overtime with a 42-yarder. But this time Nick Buoniconti blocked the boot.

Then, finally, 22 minutes and 40 seconds after the fourth quarter had ended, and on the 44th play of overtime, Yepremian booted the Chiefs to the sidelines and the Dolphins to victory.

Last Of Majors Ends Collegiate Career

MIAMI (AP) — College Football's first family, the Majors of Tennessee, ends a colorful 19-season era in tonight's Shrine North-South game.

"College football has been great to the Majors family... and I hope we've added something to the game."
Bobby Majors, the last of five brothers, was an All-American safety at Tennessee this year and will patrol the secondary for the South in the all-star charity event.

His big brother, Johnny, will coach the North. The older Majors is now head coach at Iowa State.
Kickoff is scheduled for the nationally televised (ABC) game is set for 9:10 p.m. EST, with the Orange Bowl crowd expected to top 25,000. The North has won the last five games to tie the series at 11-1.

YOUNG ON BOARDS Hawks Ready For Tourney

The Howard County Jayhawks are taking a well earned rest from the hardwood for the two week Christmas break after compiling an impressive 13 wins, 4 losses record in the first half of the season. Next action will be the American Business Club's Olympic Classic on Jan. 6-7-8.

Hawks needed help in the scoring column due to the absence of Myers. JIM KREIER has been seeing double duty as a starting forward and as the first substitute as guard. At 6 feet 4 KREIER is a good passer and can get the ball down the court well. KRFIER is second on the team in scoring and assists and third in rebounding.

From Johnny to Bobby, the sons of Shirley and Elizabeth Majors have added punch to college football for almost two decades. Shirley does his part, too. The father has been head coach at the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn., since 1957.

Johnny was an All-American tailback in 1956 at Tennessee. The second son, Joe, played quarterback at Florida State. Billy was a standout tailback at Tennessee, finishing in 1960.

Larry went with poppa, starting as a Sewanee tailback through 1965. Then came Bobby, a defender and kick returner who may have been the pick of the litter.

The North-South contest is one of two postseason games on Monday's schedule. Arizona State, 10-1, and Florida State, 8-2, clash in the first annual Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz. Arizona State is the nation's eighth-ranked team.

The Fiesta Bowl will match Arizona State's potent ground game, headed by sophomore Woody Green, against Florida State's spectacular passing duo of Gary Huff and Rhett Dawson.

The rest of the week's college schedule:
Tuesday—Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., Toledo vs. Richmond; Blue-Gray Game at Montgomery, Ala.
Thursday—Peach Bowl at Atlanta, Mississippi vs. Georgia Tech.

Friday—Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Georgia vs. North Carolina; East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco; Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Colorado vs. Houston.

Saturday—Orange Bowl at Miami, Nebraska vs. Alabama; Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Oklahoma vs. Auburn; Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., Michigan vs. Stanford; Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Penn State vs. Texas.

Archie Myers, NJCAA's second ranked scorer in the nation, has already racked up 543 points for an average of 33.94 per game. Myers has hit 40 or more points on five occasions, all coming on the road. Myers is hitting 47 per cent from the floor and 65 per cent from the line.

The opponents have come up with varied defenses to stop Myers but so far an injury to his right wrist has been the only thing to slow him down. After missing the HSU game completely, Myers hit just 15 points against New Mexico Military Institute but rebounded for 31 points against Western Texas and 35 points against HSU.

JAYHAWK JOTTINGS... LAWRENCE YOUNG, HCJC's leading rebounder of last season is regaining his form of last year with rebounding efforts of 27 vs. NMMI and 29 vs. HSU. Famed Mechanic Is Death Victim

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — John Willis, renowned auto racing mechanic, died Christmas Day at a Nashville hospital. He was 53.

Willis was chief mechanic for many of the cars that competed at the Indianapolis 500.

He served as head mechanic for cars driven by A.J. Foyt, Tony Bettenhausen, Johnny Bod, Bob Sweickert, Jerry Hot, Don Branson, Johnny Thompson and Bobb Marshall.

Services were set for 2 p.m. today at the Woodlawn Funeral Home in Nashville.

Ali Eyes Another Tuneup Fight After KOing Blin

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — After shooing down Juergen Blin, Muhammad Ali has his sights on another target. It won't be Joe Frazier, though. "Not until late next year, at the earliest," Angelo Dundee, Ali's trainer, said Sunday in answer to questions about a possible rematch with the heavy-weight champion.

Ali, who knocked out Blin in the seventh round Sunday with a crippling right cross, is expected to fight again as early as March in Miami Beach. The opponent hasn't been named yet.

The former champion didn't appear to be looking ahead, though, when he took on the West German butcher before 9,000 fans at Zurich's Hallstadion Arena.

"Blin was tougher than a lot of fights I've had such as Brian London, Buster Mathis and the first Jerry Quarry fight," said Ali, talking over music in his dressing room.

While a brilliantly-dressed African ballet troupe serenaded the flamboyant American boxer, Ali recounted the "difficulties" of the fight.

"Blin was no surprise, he was just tough," said Ali, flashing that well-known handsome smile. "He was hard to hit. He took a lot and just kept coming."

Ali knocked out the German at 2:12 of the seventh round with a "short right cross that came after he was set up by a left hook."

Unmarked by Blin, Ali said that he cut his opponent's cheekbones with left jabs. Blin had often boasted that he had never been cut in the face during a fight.

Ali had built a clear lead as he fired left hooks and jabs in the face of the blond German, whose cheekbones were cut in the fifth round.

Blin attempted to combat the longer reach of the former world champion with brawling charges, forcing Ali into the ropes in every round. But Ali was clearly superior with his blazing lefts that jarred the German from long range.

In the seventh, Blin dropped to his knees on the ropes near his corner, shaking his head. He was obviously unable to rise as referee Sepp Suter of Switzerland counted him out.

Viking Quarterback Says Cowboys Should Win It

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys declared Bob Lee will be counting the championship share of the Super Bowl if they can duplicate their play in a 20-12 Christmas Day victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

"They had one penalty for five yards, no fumbles, no interceptions," the Minnesota quarterback said after the National Football Conference semifinal. "If they play two more games like this one, they'll be world champions."

The Cowboys will play the San Francisco 49ers who lost 17-10 to Dallas in the NFC final in 1970, next Sunday for the right to go to the Super Bowl Jan. 16 at New Orleans. The 49ers defeated Washington 24-20 Sunday.

The Dallas Doomsday Defense gave up 311 yards against the Vikings, but could take most of the credit for the victory by intercepting four passes and recovering a fumble.

"We haven't been making mistakes the last eight games," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose Cowboys are in the playoffs for the sixth straight year and still looking for their first world championship. "Every football game is field position and turnovers. Minnesota thrives on this."

But it was the Cowboys who blew the Vikings out of Metropolitan Stadium before a near sellout crowd of 49,100 by stealing the big play thunder.

"We were conscious that the Vikings make their living on fumbles and interceptions," said Cowboy running back Calvin Hill. "So, we made sure we didn't give up the ball."

Mike Clark gave Dallas a 6-3 first-half lead with field goals of 26 and 44 yards — the first set up by Jethro Pugh's fumble recovery and the second on Chuck Howley's interception of a screen pass while blitzing.

"All we heard all week was how great the Viking defense was," said Howley. "We think our defense is pretty good too."

On the third play of the second half, Cliff Harris swiped a Lee Pass at the Viking 43 and ran to the 13. Duane Thomas exploded out the middle from there for a touchdown and a 13-3 Cowboy lead.

"This was our best defensive game of the year," said Landry. "Harris' interception was the key."

Lee Roy Jordan later intercepted a Gary Guozzo pass on the Dallas 15 to stop a fourth period Viking drive and Herb Adderly picked off a Guozzo attempt on the last play of the game. Lee had two interceptions.

"Too many mistakes... we made too many mistakes," said Lee.

And no team has stopped the Lakers this season when they had Jerry West in the line- up. West has played 32 games—Los Angeles has won them all. In the five games he missed, the team was 2-3.

Against the Rockets, West was sensational. He hit 14 of 17 field goal attempts and 10 of 13 free throws for a game-high 34 points. He also collected 17 as- sists.

Next Saturday night's Orange Bowl game between No. 1-ranked Nebraska and No. 2 Alabama might have, according to ticket people, drawn a crowd of 250,000. Crimson Tide Coach Bear Bryant calls it "the biggest game there's ever been."

That one kicks off at 8 p.m. EST, and the college mood's clear out of the mammoth horseshoe-shaped stadium until nearly midnight.

Next Sunday's 1 p.m. American Football Conference title game between the defending world champion Baltimore Colts and the Miami Dolphins is certain to generate even more enthusiasm among the lo- cal folks.

Tickets go on sale today for the Colts-Dolphins match and they may not last until night- fall.

"You know," Jim McDaniels was saying, "I grew four inches in three months over, and to go to the boards more, he'll really be something."

George Lehman chipped in with 23 points and 13 assists for the Cougars. Joe Caldwell sparked the final period rally with 15 points and finished with 21, while Larry Miller contributed 20.

Carolina's comeback effort a stand-out effort by the Nets' Rick Barry, who scored 44 points.

Indiana used a balanced scoring attack in beating Chicago before a crowd of 14,661 in Louisville. Mel Daniels led the Pacers with 26 points, 9% in the first half when he hit 11 of 13 floor shots. Tom Mont Named To New Position

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (AP) — DePauw University football Coach Tom Mont has been named athletic director and head of the physical education department at the school.

He succeeds Dr. James Lovelless, who will retire in June after 18 years in the positions.

May Prune Costs

DE PERE, Wis. (AP) — An Advisory group investigating ways to reduce costs at St. Norbert College for the 1972-73 school year has proposed that the school drop athletic schol- arships.

Marquette is staying home to host the Milwaukee Classic and the second-ranked Warriors will probably be a prohibitive favorite to win their tourney. Marshall, No. 20, which earlier won the Marshall Memorial Tourney, is given an outside chance in the four-team field.

Staubach, the NFC's regular season passing leader with 1,882 yards and 15 touchdown passes, completed 10 of his 14 attempts against the Vikings for 99 yards and one touch- down, to Bob Hayes. Counting Staubach's two dumps, the Cowboys netted only 85 yards passing and were outgained 311-183 in total offense yardage.

"We didn't get the third down plays, the most critical plays," said Staubach. "Personally I thought we would do better. But we won. The long pass just wasn't in our game plan."

"We've got such a tremendous running team, we didn't have to pass. I played adequately. Our defense did a beautiful job in field position."

Staubach's longest completion was a 30-yarder to Lance Al- with on a 52-yard drive ending with the scrambling quar- terback's nine-yarder to Hayes. An 18-yard pass to Hayes set up the first of two field goals by Mike Clark.

The Vikings front four, led by Alan Page, smeared Staubach for a safety in the fourth period.

"We were gambling to go all the way," said Staubach. "I tried to scramble and I should have thrown it away."

Duane Thomas, who ran 13 yards for the other three-period touchdown, gained 66 yards in 21 attempts and Calvin Hill added 28 yards on 14 carries.

"Dallas has a great ability for moving the ball on the ground," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant. "Their running backs just went like blazes."

Tom Landry, Dallas coach, said: "We ran the ball better on them than most people do— not real well, but better than most people do."

Since Landry gave Staubach the No. 1 quarterback job after a 23-19 loss to Chicago, the Cowboys have won eight straight games with the Dallas coach calling the plays. Landry said he will continue to call plays the rest of the season, but may leave that department to Staubach next season.

Staubach, the 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, said pro ball "is bigger than it was in college. It's a career, a business. There's money involved for the team, and for you. There's more at stake."

If the Cowboys win again next Sunday, it could mean more than $23,000 in the Super Bowl.

Big Weekend Is In Store

MIAMI (AP) — Football's "Super Weekend" is ahead in Miami with the national championship college game plus a pro showdown, giving the Orange Bowl two 77,000 sellouts within 14 hours.

Steers Launch Tourney Play

Big Spring opens play in the Berger Invitational Basketball Tournament at 2:30 p.m., today against Duncan, Okla.

The two teams take the floor knowing absolutely nothing about each other, since there has been no way for either team to scout the other.

Eight teams are entered in the tournament, which continues through Wednesday night.

The meet serves as a final warmup for the Steers before the beginning of conference play next week. The Steers carried a 10-5 record north with them.

In their first round games, Clovis, N.M., was to oppose Spearman at 4:10 p.m., Perryton was to play Vernon at 7 p.m., and host Berger was to clash with Dumas at 3:40 p.m.

The Steers will play again at 2:30 p.m., or 7 p.m., Tuesday, depending on whether they win or lose.

Big Spring defeated Berger, 93-90, in the finals of last year's tournament.

Likely starters for the Longhorns today are Robert Wallace and Mike Randle up front and Ted Smith, David Newman and Johnny Tonn outside.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Butch Hartman, South Zanesville, Ohio, will be honored as the U.S. Auto Club's 1971 stock car champion at the USAC stock division dinner-dance here Jan. 8.

Dallas Could Play Better, Says Staubach

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Roger Staubach, 15-1 as a starting quarterback with Dallas the last three seasons led the Cowboys' high-powered offense could have done better against the Minnesota Vikings.

But Staubach was satisfied with Saturday's end result—a 20-12 National Football Conference semifinal victory that earned the Cowboys a spot in the championship game next Sunday at Texas Stadium and a possible trip to the Super Bowl Jan. 16 at New Orleans.

Counting Staubach's two dumps, the Cowboys netted only 85 yards passing and were outgained 311-183 in total offense yardage.

"We didn't get the third down plays, the most critical plays," said Staubach. "Personally I thought we would do better. But we won. The long pass just wasn't in our game plan."

"We've got such a tremendous running team, we didn't have to pass. I played adequately. Our defense did a beautiful job in field position."

Staubach's longest completion was a 30-yarder to Lance Al- with on a 52-yard drive ending with the scrambling quar- terback's nine-yarder to Hayes. An 18-yard pass to Hayes set up the first of two field goals by Mike Clark.

The Vikings front four, led by Alan Page, smeared Staubach for a safety in the fourth period.

"We were gambling to go all the way," said Staubach. "I tried to scramble and I should have thrown it away."

Duane Thomas, who ran 13 yards for the other three-period touchdown, gained 66 yards in 21 attempts and Calvin Hill added 28 yards on 14 carries.

"Dallas has a great ability for moving the ball on the ground," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant. "Their running backs just went like blazes."

Tom Landry, Dallas coach, said: "We ran the ball better on them than most people do— not real well, but better than most people do."

Since Landry gave Staubach the No. 1 quarterback job after a 23-19 loss to Chicago, the Cowboys have won eight straight games with the Dallas coach calling the plays. Landry said he will continue to call plays the rest of the season, but may leave that department to Staubach next season.

Staubach, the 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, said pro ball "is bigger than it was in college. It's a career, a business. There's money involved for the team, and for you. There's more at stake."

If the Cowboys win again next Sunday, it could mean more than $23,000 in the Super Bowl.

Saban Seeks Modest Gains

BUFFALO (AP) — Lou Saban, the new head coach of the Buffalo Bills National Football League team, said Thursday he would be satisfied if the Bills manage to balance their losses with victories next season.

Saban added he wanted to build and develop the youthful club, but said he was also thinking about trades.

His comments were made in a press conference which heard Bills' owner Ralph Wilson Jr. confirm everybody's hunch—that Saban, Denver's head coach for the past five seasons, was replacing Harvey Johnson at the Buffalo helm.

For Saban, the switch was a return to familiar territory. He coached the Bills from 1962-65 and in the last two seasons saw them win American Football League championships.

Discussing what next year holds in store for the club that just ended a 1-13 campaign, Saban promised no miracles.

"Just to get back to a 7-7 record will be all right with me for . . .," he remarked. "There are too many unpredictables in football, although Harvey said to me he can't see why I shouldn't win 10 games next year."

Wilson revealed he had approached Saban about coming to Buffalo shortly after Saban stepped down as the Broncos coach Nov. 17.

He did not make public the terms of Saban's contract, but said it was one of "many years." Saban's earlier stint with the Bills rested on four one-year pacts.

Johnson will remain with the Bills reverting to his job of last year, that of director of player personnel.

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Herve Filion, world record holder for career victories and most victories in one season by a harness racing driver, has added another mark to his illustrious string.

The little 31-year-old reinsman from Lachute, Que., set a world record at Windsor Park Sunday, piloting seven winners on one card. No driver ever had won more than six on a single program.

Filion, who started driving at 13, smashed the record by winning the first four races, the sixth, the seventh and the featured ninth. He climaxed his sensational performance by driving Dynamic to a half-length victory in the featured $5,000 Fleur de Lis Invitational Trot.

Filion's bid for an eighth victory was foiled when he finished third in the final race. For the 10 races, he had seven victories, two thirds and a fifth.

MRS. CHARLES AULT SCHROEDER

Couple Recites Nuptial Vows

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Rots Elaine Moore and Charles Ault Schroeder of Taylor, at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Marcy Drive Church of Christ.

Paul Keele, minister, performed the ceremony at an altar adorned with candelabra holding white tapers and entwined with greenery. Music was provided by Randall Morton, vocalist.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold E. Schroeder of Westhoff, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Moore of Big Spring.

The bride's floor-length gown was fashioned in white peau de soie with an Empire waistline and a long train. Reembroidered lace appliques accented the sides, and a band of circled pearls highlighted the high collar.

Cape formed the bodice and full bishop sleeves, and her floor-length veil was held with a bow of leaves edged with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and babies' breath.

Miss Sharon Moore served her sister as maid of honor, wearing a formal-length Empire gown of burgundy satin featuring short sleeves and a round neckline.

Douglas Kahlich of Palacios was best man, and serving as ushers were Billy Kahlich of Palacios and Randy Moore, the bride's brother. Altar taper lighters were Robbie Pope of Sand Springs and Daron Moore, the bride's brother.

The couple will reside in Taylor following a trip to the Dallas and Fort Worth area. Mrs. Schroeder is a senior at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos and is student teaching at Del Valley. Schroeder graduated from SWSU and is an industrial arts teacher in the Taylor school system.

The couple was honored at a reception in the First Federal Community Room following the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a white organza cloth and centered with a white candle in a burgundy floral arrangement. The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Serving were Mrs. R. L. Pope, Sand Springs; Mrs. V. J. Kahlich, Palacios; Mrs. P. B. Keele and Miss Elicia Keele. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Allen Bunn, Roseville, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Wolters, Port Lavaca; Lee Moore, Austin; and Capt. and Mrs. Jack Thomas, Abilene.

New Paint Stops Tooth Decay

Tooth decay in children has been reduced drastically with a plastic paint that hardens and seals off pits and fissures in molars, says the National Institute of Dental Research.

The plastic overcoat prevents food particles and bacteria from becoming lodged in the fissures.

Two years after application, 99 per cent of the treated areas on permanent teeth and 87 per cent on "baby" teeth were free of decay, while areas not treated on the other side of the same children's mouths showed decay in 60 per cent of the permanent and 38 per cent of the first teeth.
