PARIS (AP) — The United States warned North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today against new "military adventures" they are believed to be planning in South Vietnam.

The warning was sounded by the U.S. peace negotiator, William J. Porter, as the long-deadlocked peace talks resumed following a four-week recess. The acrimonious meeting left the two sides as far apart as ever.

"I wish to caution you that the military efforts you seem to be planning on the western border of South Vietnam and elsewhere in Indochina are not likely to achieve anything to your permanent advantage and will probably entail the loss of many more lives," Porter told the 139th session of the talks.

"I urge you to reflect before you engage in the military adventures you apparently are planning."

North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy and the Viet Cong's Nguyen Van Tien vigorously denounced President Nixon's television interview Sunday. They reiterated that the American prisoners in Communist hands would not be released until the United States has committed itself to total and unconditional withdrawal and repudiated its obligations to Saigon.

Tien flatly denied Nixon's news conference assertion that the United States sought in vain to obtain assurances that Hanoi would release its prisoners in return for total American withdrawal.

Nixon said such a deal had been "under discussion at various times in the Paris talks but... the North Vietnamese rejected it."

Porter complained about the "erratic and highly unsatisfactory movement of mail to and from the prisoners and said it violated the North Vietnamese authorities' own commitments.

Porter also asked the Communist delegates to indicate where the families of Americans captured by the Viet Cong can address their letters. Letters recently received from 18 men held by the Viet Cong were the first signs of life from several hundred Americans missing in South Vietnam, some of them for more than five years.

Porter reiterated that the United States and the Saigon government remain ready to call a general cease-fire throughout Vietnam and to open talks for organizing internationally supervised elections in South Vietnam. North Vietnam and the Viet Cong have repeatedly rejected both proposals.

Nguyen Van Tien told newsmen that the United States has never at any time proposed a total withdrawal of its forces from Vietnam in return for release of Americans held by Hanoi.

Nixon said in a televised interview Sunday such a deal "has been... under discussion at various times in the Paris talks, but... the North Vietnamese totally rejected it."

Planes Drop Nearly 300 Tons Of Bombs

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes made two attacks on North Vietnamese radar installations Wednesday, and American B52 bombers dropped nearly 300 tons of bombs in the southern half of the demilitarized zone in the heaviest attack ever made there, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command announced earlier that an F105 Wild Weasel fighter was believed to have destroyed a radar site 45 miles north of the DMZ in an attack Wednesday morning. Today it reported an attack by a second Wild Weasel Wednesday afternoon on a radar station 64 miles southwest of Hanoi and 22 miles east of the Laotian border.

It was the closest attack to Hanoi reported since the unsuccessful commando raid in November 1970 on the Son Tay prisoner of war camp 23 miles west of the North Vietnamese capital. The two attacks Wednesday were also the first so-called protective reaction strikes into North Vietnam of 1972; 108 were reported in 1971 and 21 in 1970.

Both fighters were escorting U.S. bombers on missions in northern Laos. The U.S. Command said they intercepted North Vietnamese radar signals and crossed the border to attack the sites. Results of the second strike were not known, the command said.

No damage was reported to the American planes.

The B52 attack in the southern half of the DMZ continued an accelerated bombing campaign against North Vietnamese positions threatening Saigon forces in the northern quarter of South Vietnam. Fighting erupted just below the DMZ on Tuesday for the first time in weeks, and three South Vietnamese were killed.

Board Decides Not To Recommend Pay Guide

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board decided today not to recommend any guideline for labor and management to follow in reducing a rejected 12 per cent aerospace pay raise, a spokesman said.

He said the board voted 12 to table a motion that would have recommended a guideline. It was not immediately known what the proposed resolution contained, or who besides Chairman George H. Boldt abstained from the vote.

It appeared that the action left the two unions involved free to renegotiate the vetoed wage package without the appearance of having terms dictated to it by the public and management members of the board, who reportedly wanted the raise trimmed to roughly 8 per cent.

The board has ruled that new contracts can't contain raises of more than 5.5 per cent, except in special cases when the top limit is 7 per cent. However, the board has approved the only other two contracts it had considered previously, even though they exceeded those guidelines.

Reaction by local union leaders was generally low-key disappointment. There were no calls for strikes or job action, and in fact Woodcock accused the aerospace industry because it is depressed, with many workers laid off and thus less likely to strike.

Delinquent Tax Notices Are Sent Out By City

Persons living in the city, owning property on which the back taxes have not been paid, should be advised to straighten out their tax problems, James Gregg, city attorney, said today.

He added that is why there are so many cases pending in the District Court, and indicated they will stay there until some enterprising city attorney takes action on them.

"This is what I intend to do on every case I am involved with," said Gregg.

The attorney has already set one case for trial on Jan. 24, involving property where the old Montgomery Ward building once was.

He said that this case is complicated and involved, and could be the largest tax case of the year, but that he will carry it to the end in legal proceedings.

Juanita Jennings, city tax collector, will prepare approximately 80 delinquent notices per month during this next year, and they will be given to the city attorney for either collection or legal proceedings.

According to Gregg, there is approximately $250,000 worth of delinquent taxes to be collected in the city at present.

The city attorney is given the cases to either secure collection on them, or bring legal action on the cases. He receives 15 per cent of all money collected on back taxes as part of his salary.

He said that already there is a great number of delinquent tax cases pending in District Court, not counting the cases being brought up to date at city hall for this year.

"A city attorney usually has two choices. One, he can take the gravly by just working the cases far enough to get a portion of the cases collected. The other is that he can take the 'gravy' and then also carry the cases to the end through the courts," Gregg said.

The public and business members of the board overruled labor members Wednesday in ordering the panel's first wage veto, a rejection of a 51-cent hourly pay raise in the first year of contracts covering more than 100,000 workers at five aerospace firms. The unions said 34 cents of the raise was cost-of-living catch-up due them under 1968 agreements.

Both the union chiefs, Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers and Floyd E. Smith of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, said they would decide what to do at a joint strategy session of more than 300 union negotiators in St. Louis Saturday.

Woodcock said the board's business and public members had gone back on assurances they gave him last Nov. 8 that the board stopped short of ordering a cutback to a specific figure Wednesday. Business members reportedly were pressing for such a rollback, to 8 per cent or less. But labor members and at least one public member questioned whether the board could legally do so.

'HE SET US AFIRE' Student Faces Bank Robbery, Kidnap Counts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An Okmulgee student was to be arraigned today on federal charges of bank robbery and kidnaping in connection with a pre-dawn holdup Wednesday at the First State Bank of Willow, Okla.

Robert Dewan Dennis, 29, was arrested at his home in Okmulgee late Wednesday by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Dennis is accused of robbing the Willow bank of about $200 and kidnaping three persons — the town marshal, a bank vice president and her husband, locking the hostages in closets of a home and setting it on fire.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley J. Underwood burned to the ground, along with the family's automobile and pickup truck, but the hostages escaped unharmed.

The gunman reportedly went to the home of Town Marshal Robert Watson about 3 a.m. and asked assistance, saying his car had run out of gasoline.

Watson said when he approached the car at a downtown service station, the man held a gun on him.

The gunman handcuffed Watson, robbed the service station cash register and forced Watson to accompany him to the Underwood home outside town. Mrs. Underwood is executive vice president of the bank.

He roused the couple and ordered them outside. Underwood was locked in the trunk of the car and Mrs. Underwood and Watson were ordered to ride in the front.

After driving to the bank, the bandit demanded that Mrs. Underwood unlock the front door, but she didn't have a key.

The determined robber broke in through a back door and forced Mrs. Underwood to open part of the vault.

The safe, where most of the cash was kept, is protected by a time lock, so the gunman grabbed about $200 in change from the vault.

He then forced his captives to accompany him back to the Underwood home, where he robbed them of around $400 and left them in separate closets, naked and bound.

Underwood said he was still locked in the closet when he heard his wife scream, "My God, he set us afire."

Watson told FBI agents he heard the suspect striking matches and later smelled smoke. As soon as he heard the man drive away, he said, "I just kicked the door down. We all got out about the same time."

Burns Reveals He Won't Run

District Attorney Wayne Burns has announced that he will not be seeking a third term in office, but will step down to go into private practice.

Burns said that there isn't a specific reason for his declining to seek re-election, but that his decision was a culmination of a number of reasons.

W. H. Eyssen, county attorney, is considering trying for the district attorney's post.

"I will definitely run for either county attorney or district attorney, but I will have to think everything over carefully before deciding. I will announce my definite intentions within a week and probably within the next two or three days," said Eyssen.

If Eyssen decides to run for re-election as county attorney, he will be seeking his second four-year term.

Burns was elected district attorney in 1964, defeating incumbent Gil Jones, and Burns was re-elected in 1968.

Pledges Fast Action To Close 'Open Season' On Fed Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee is undertaking an inquiry aimed at curbing overuse of the secrecy stamp and closing what the chairman calls the "open season" on government secrets.

See Story, Page 11-B

Without mentioning either columnist Jack Anderson's disclosure of Nixon administration strategy papers or the Indian-Pakistani war or the Pentagon papers, the Louisiana Democrat announced Wednesday a major inquiry by his committee into proper classification and protection of national security secrets.

RIGHT TO CLASSIFY

In the meantime, Anderson reported that Kenneth B. Keating, U.S. ambassador to India, had, in a secret cablegram, challenged Nixon administration statements made to justify U.S. policy toward India and Pakistan.

Herbert indicated that targets of his committee probe, shortly after Congress returns Jan. 18, will include both unnecessary secrecy and "the callous disregard by some individuals" who publicly expose sensitive information.

While federal officials often abuse their right to classify, he said, this does not give any individual "the right to unilaterally ignore any classification action and thereby break existing law."

"Recent events clearly indicate that despite existing law we now have an open season on all classified information in government," Hebert said.

"Our national security requirements therefore demand early and prompt legislative action to correct these apparent deficiencies in the law."

JOB SECURITY

The corrective law, he said, should "strike a proper balance between the right of the public to know and the indispensable ability of our government to function."

Columnist Anderson contended Wednesday the only security involved in the papers he released was the job security of officials responsible for what he called the blunder of America's siding with Pakistan during the Indian-Pakistani war.

Anderson said the papers showed the White House lied. The purported minutes of three White House strategy meetings quoted presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger as saying Dec. 5 that President Nixon "wants to tilt in favor of Pakistan"—before denying publicly Dec. 7 that the administration was anti-India.

The administration has kept silent about Anderson's release of the material. But government agents reportedly are trying to determine who turned over the papers to Anderson.

Hebert said subjects of the House probe will include adequacy of the National Security Act and merits of his own proposed bill to create a national commission on classification and protection of national security information.

SECRET CABLE

Meanwhile, Anderson's agency, Bell-McClure Newspapers Syndicate, released Wednesday night another column carrying what Anderson said was a paraphrased version of a secret cablegram sent by Ambassador Keating to Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Keating was quoted as being "very interested to read" a U.S. Information Agency account of a White House briefing by Kissinger. Anderson said the cablegram was dated Dec. 8.

"While he (Keating) appreciated the tactical necessity of justifying the administration's position, he felt constrained to state that elements of this particular story do not coincide with his knowledge of the events of the past eight months," according to the column.

"BAIL OUT" Anderson wrote that Keating questioned a U.S. statement that a $115-million relief program for East Pakistan was initiated "at the specific request of the Indian government."

According to Anderson, the ambassador referred Rogers to a Keating report on a conversation with Indian Foreign Minister Swaran Singh. The Indian government was said to be "reluctant to see the relief program started prior to a political settlement" because it might "bail out" Gen. Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan, then-president of Pakistan.

Charges of malicious mischief and disturbing the peace were dropped.

Rock-Throwing Incident Closed

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The books have been closed with a suspended sentence for the last of five defendants in a rock-throwing incident in 1970 when President Nixon was campaigning here.

Four others were sentenced earlier on misdemeanor charges.

On Wednesday Municipal Court Judge William J. Harris suspended sentence for Ronald J. Cosetti, 30, of Santa Clara, who had pleaded no contest to a charge of failing to obey a police order. He also was accused of jumping on the roof of a police car as a chanting crowd threw rocks and bottles at the Nixon motorcade leaving a pre-election Republican rally with Gov. Ronald Reagan and then-Sen. George Murphy. No one was injured.

Hunt Two Men Who Drown Girl, Slash Grandmother

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP) — A statewide search is centered today in Southeast Texas for two men who drowned a small girl in a toilet bowl, stabbed her grandmother and tried to burn down her ransacked antique shop.

Mabel McCormick, 54, was beaten with a ball-peen hammer and stabbed, police said, and the child, Leslie Bowman, was found with her head rammed into a commode. Their bodies were discovered in the burning building.

The two men escaped with about $6,000 in antique furniture in a rented truck. Mrs. James Bowman, the child's mother, found the shop ablaze Wednesday afternoon. She and several citizens tried to knock the door down but smoke prevented them from entering the building.

Firemen found Mrs. McCormick's body, with her throat slashed, under a table. The child was found in the restroom.

Hardin County Sheriff Billy Paine said Mrs. McCormick had telephoned her husband before noon and told him two men from Houston who had been in the shop last week were there "acting suspicious."

The sheriff said an insurance adjuster entered the shop and thought the two men worked there when he did not see Mrs. McCormick. They even signed a claim for the freight adjuster, Paine said.

The men had already loaded much of the antique furniture in the truck by the time he arrived, the adjuster told authorities.

A passerby reported the truck still at the shop at 3 p.m., about a half hour before Mrs. Bowman arrived. They said three beds in the shop had been set afire.

Paine described one of the men as being 18-20 years old, 5-7, and weighing 145 pounds. He wore collar length blond hair and blue jeans, he said.

The other suspect was described as being about 6 feet tall, 180 pounds, and in his late 30s. He was said to have dark brown hair, a mustache and to be wearing horned rimmed glasses.

Seeking Ways To Cope With Drinking Drivers

By The Associated Press

Education and rehabilitation are replacing punishment in many parts of the nation as law enforcement officials seek more effective ways to cope with drunken driving.

"The pure penalty program hasn't solved the drinking driver problem," says a Wisconsin judge who helped organize a series of classroom sessions for convicted drunken drivers.

"What we are attempting to do is to get at the behavioral patterns and attempt to change those patterns by self-analysis."

The judge, William G. Callow of Waukesha County Court, says none of the 67 persons who have taken the course since it began in September has been back to court.

The Waukesha program is one of many available in more than half of the states.

The U.S. Department of Transportation has spent $31.5 million in backing 35 alcohol safety action programs in 34 states and Puerto Rico through June 1971.

Nine of the projects started in 1970, and 26 more in 1971. Nine more are scheduled to get under way early this year.

Generally the programs offer classroom studies of traffic rules and behavior, and then self-analysis on the part of the convicted drunken driver, who can avoid license suspensions, fines and jail terms by taking the courses.

Regarding the self-analysis part of the course, Callow says of the program in his area: "The cardinal rule of the course is to get people to examine the 12 hours immediately preceding their arrest, then kick it around. It's an analysis of their way of life and of the frustrations, habits or loneliness which lead to their drinking problem."

Most of the programs are patterned after Phoenix' pioneering Alcohol Research and Re-education Project and feature four 2½-hour evening classroom sessions spread over four weeks.

Dr. Ernest I. Stewart, director of the Phoenix program, says more than 7,000 persons have gone through it and very few graduates have been rearrested.

Stewart says the program revolves around the theme "we can't do anything for you unless you want to help yourselves."

He says the program is divided into four classes, each covering a different area, but designed to make the students realize the dangers of drunken driving.

In the final period, says Stewart, "we try to have students analyze themselves and where they stand in regards to alcoholism. If an intolerable home situation is causing them to turn to drinking, then maybe divorce is the answer; we point out that it's better than killing themselves and others."

JOKES CONTAIN HIDDEN EMOTIONAL REFERENCES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — You may well be under the impression that the reason you laugh at something is because it's funny.

But a seminar on joking held Monday at the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting here went deeper into the question.

Dr. Werner Mendel said we laugh to express anxiety and tension without harming others. Our jokes contain hidden emotional references.

Dr. Mendel, professor of psychiatry at the University of Southern California, focused on the classic "Boston Strangler" joke as an example.

"A husband and wife are having dinner together," he quipped "when the doorbell rings. The husband goes to the door and the man says 'I am the Boston Strangler.' The husband turns around and yells to his wife, 'It's for you, dear.'"

Laughter.

Dr. Mendel explained that the man in the joke expresses "an enormous amount of murderous aggression toward his wife and does it without the husband's taking direct responsibility for the aggression."

Another function of humor, Dr. Mendel continued, is to allow us to say something suspect without serious consequences. It always gets you off the hook to say "I was only joking."

Dr. Mendel said ethnic groups use humor to express social beliefs they are too polite to utter directly.

He cited this joke he said American Indians get a lot of mileage out of:

"A recent survey shows that of all the Indians questioned only 15 per cent thought the United States should get out of Vietnam immediately. Eighty five per cent thought the United States should get out of America immediately."

First Lady Says Husband Will Run For Re-Election

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The President has definitely decided to run for re-election. Mrs. Nixon made the disclosure Wednesday to reporters after her arrival for the second stop of her three-nation West African tour.

Nixon said in a television interview last Sunday that he would announce his decision before Jan. 14, two days before the deadline for candidacies in the New Hampshire primary.

Mrs. Nixon said her husband's re-election chances "are very good." Asked what the campaign might be like, she replied: "It's going to be whatever the other side makes it. It might be easy and it might be very difficult because we don't know who's the candidate on the other side yet."

Mrs. Nixon flew to Ghana from Liberia, where she headed the U.S. delegation to the inauguration of President William Tolbert. Prime Minister Kofia Busia praised her at a dinner in her honor Wednesday night for "excellence as an ambassador of good will."

Mrs. Nixon spent much of the day fielding questions about American aid to Ghana, which was impoverished by the spending of President Kwame Nkrumah, now an exile in Guinea. Ghana received $246 million in U.S. aid during the 1971 fiscal year, and Mrs. Nixon commented at one point: "My husband is for an aid program and his administration is going to be working with Congress to get a decent bill."

Busia, who met with Nixon in Washington last November, said Mrs. Nixon's visit came at "a time when we need it most," since his country is facing "bold and difficult steps" to put its economy in order. The prime minister and other leaders expressed hope Wednesday that they could count on continued U.S. aid.

The banquet was held in the garden of the presidential mansion beside the ocean. The 176 guests had a cold buffet and watched a 50-member cultural troupe put on a spirited show of native dances.

Panel Meeting Moved Back

A meeting of the inter-governmental panel, organized to study the possibility of combining of the county's tax assessing agencies, was to have been scheduled for the latter part of the week, but has been postponed until next week.

Harry Nagel, city manager and member of the panel, said that two other members of the panel, Don Crockett, business manager of the local school system, and County Commissioner Jack Buchanan, are out of town. For that reason the meeting will be held the first part of next week.

Nagel said that the panel will be studying the possibility of combination of the local tax departments to achieve savings for the county, city and school taxpayers.

Two main areas of savings are involved in the panel's study, he stated. One is duplication of postage on tax notification letters, the other on duplication of work by the agencies' tax personnel and machinery.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says if he is elected president he will seek "as close to an immediate withdrawal from Vietnam as possible." But former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he doubts the sincerity of the Maine senator's position.

Both are contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Muskie told newsmen and several hundred supporters in Washington Wednesday he hopes President Nixon will have withdrawn U.S. forces from South Vietnam before the election, but if the President hasn't and Muskie is elected, he will set a deadline and get out.

McCarthy, a Minnesotan who unsuccessfully sought the presidential nomination in 1968 when Muskie was the vice presidential nominee, said the Maine senator "was the most active representative of Johnson administration policy at the 1968 convention."

"We will talk about where people stood in 1968 and what they have done or not done since that time," McCarthy, a peace candidate four years ago, told a Washington news conference.

Muskie said he now believes "our involvement in Vietnam was wrong."

"I did not always believe that to be the case but I believe it now."

In his first public appearance since he formally declared his candidacy Tuesday night, Muskie said he plans to enter the first eight of the 23 state presidential primaries and may enter them all.

In other political developments Wednesday:

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty's supporters in Concord, N.H., filed the mayor's petitions and paid his $500 filing fee to put his name on the New Hampshire ballot.

HOOVER IS 77

President Nixon's supporters filed his name Monday, and Reps. Paul N. McCloskey of California and John M. Ashbrook of Ohio are expected to challenge him today in the Republican primary.

McCloskey, campaigning in Claremont, N.H., said he plans to introduce legislation designed to force elderly federal officials, including FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover "to retire at age 70 or lose all benefits." Hoover is 77.

In Florida, where the second presidential primary will be held March 14, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington staked out a position as the staunchest supporter of the military among the Democratic hopefuls.

"I say thank God for the military."

Price War Flaring In Steel Industry

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Steel industry sources, pointing to a price cut by U.S. Steel Corp. on large tonnage items, say a price war has broken out in the industry.

U.S. Steel announced price cuts Wednesday ranging from $5 to $8 a ton on hot and cold rolled sheet products, used in making autos and appliances, and added a spectacular slash of $25 a ton on merchant quality steel bars, a structural product.

U.S. Steel, the nation's top producer, said there was no cost justification for making the cuts. The firm said it was doing so to meet prices established by the competition.

Industry sources say Inland Steel Co. of Chicago, the nation's seventh largest producer, made the first move.

Although an Inland spokesman would say only his company made price adjustments on Monday, industry sources said Inland offered large customers quantity discounts from published prices on hot and cold rolled steel. There was no public announcement.

When Bethlehem Steel, the second-largest producer, became aware of the move, sources said it cut its affected sheet prices across the board. A Bethlehem spokesman would not confirm nor deny the report.

U.S. Steel's action, however, was announced formally.

Apparently referring to the Inland action, the company said it would not publish a pricing formula of advantage only to the largest users, nor did it provide before-and-after prices of the products affected by the rollback.

Before the cut, the average published price of the most common types of domestic hot rolled sheet steel was $159 per ton, while the average price of most types of domestic cold rolled sheet was $191 per ton.

Trevino Trims Down For Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's a new look to the 1972 model Lee Trevino, a restyled version that's slimmer, trimmer and almost svelter. He's still the brash and brassy guy who gave himself the label "Super Mex," but his self-applied description as "a short, fat man," no longer is apt.

"I've been working pretty hard for about three weeks now," the 1971 PGA Player of the Year said today before teeing off in the first round of the $125,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open, the traditional kickoff tournament for the long, rich pro tour.

"I started about 15 days before I came out here," Trevino said. "I've been playing and beating balls, sometimes up to a thousand, every day for two weeks. I haven't had a drink in that long ... well, a little on New Year's Eve."

SAYS JOHN RALSTON Pros Are Looking To College Ranks

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford football coach John Ralston, who's moving to a new job as pilot of the Denver Broncos, says the pro owners now are looking more to the universities for leadership talent.

"The idea of the inbred sort of thing in professional football is changing," Ralston said. "There's some desire on the part of pro owners to look for men who coach at universities who have the ability to communicate with athletes."

Ralston leaves Stanford with a 55-36-3 record after nine years during which the Indians progressed from Pacific-8 also-rans to two straight years as conference champions and Rose Bowl victors. He coached previously at Utah State, posting a 31-11-1 record, and in high school, but never has played or coached in the pros.

Ralston said he is not sure whether he will accept the National Football League Broncos offer of both the head coach and general manager slots. "I don't want anything to get in the way of my duties as head football coach," he said.

PETERSON WILL FULFILL SPEAKING DATE JAN. 19

Although he has departed the Rice University coaching job for a similar position with the NFL Houston Oilers, Bill Peterson will fill his commitment as chief speaker at the Jan. 19 Quarterback Club banquet honoring the 1971 Big Spring Steers.

Cornerbacks—Jimmy Johnson, San Francisco; Willie Brown, Oakland.

The Jan. 16 Super Bowl against the Dolphins, placed three players among Staubach missing in his bid. The Cowboys making it were tackle Rayfield Wright, guard John Niland and defensive tackle Bob Lilly.

The most interesting vote on the defensive unit was for the middle linebacker spot, which went to Willie Lanier of Kansas City over Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears, the perennial choice. Lanier drew 23 votes while Butkus with second with 14.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Griese of the Miami Dolphins won the first battle of the Super Bowl passers today when he edged Roger Staubach of the Dallas Cowboys for the quarterback's spot on The Associated Press All-Pro football team.

The offensive team also had John Brockington of Green Bay at a running back spot, Otis Taylor of Kansas City as wide receiver, Ron Yary of Minnesota at tackle and Forrest Blue of San Francisco at center.

The offensive team also had John Brockington of Green Bay at a running back spot, Otis Taylor of Kansas City as wide receiver, Ron Yary of Minnesota at tackle and Forrest Blue of San Francisco at center.

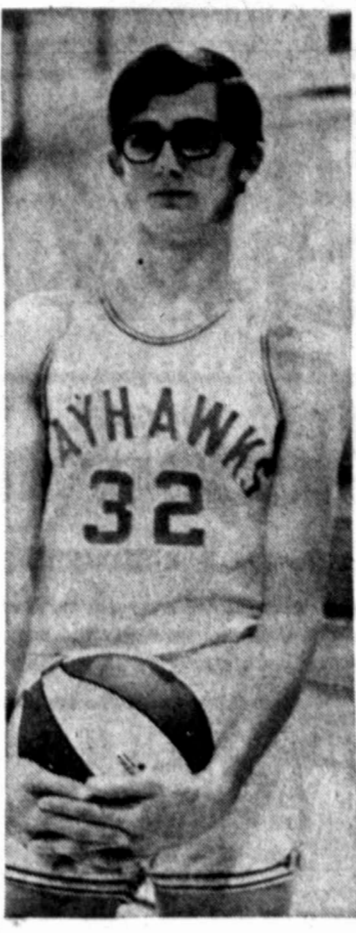

Griese, who passed for 19 touchdowns during the regular season, took the coveted quarterback's spot with 25 votes to 21 for Staubach in the balloting that salutes the top players in the American and National conferences.

The 60-man panel representing each city in the National Football League virtually ignored last year's No. 1 quarterback, John Brodie of San Francisco, who collected just one vote.

In all only four players repeated from the 1970 team—tight end Charley Sanders of the Detroit Lions and three defenders, end Carl Eller of Minnesota, tackle Alan Page of the Vikings and cornerback Jimmy Johnson of the 49ers.

Five of the new faces were from the American Conference champion Dolphins, who took more places on the squad than any other team. Included were Griese, running back Larry Conka, wide receiver Paul Warfield, guard Larry Little and placekicker Garo Yepremian.

Rough Going Due For Torrid Lakers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Cavaliers coach Bill Fitch, who was victim No. 32 in the incredible victory streak of the Los Angeles Lakers, says the Lakers will meet their "strongest challenge" in their next two games.

In addition to Los Angeles, the NBA's three other division leaders won Wednesday night. Milwaukee, in first place in the Midwest Division, beat Cincinnati 115-106. Boston, pacesetter in the Atlantic Division, rallied for a 111-105 victory over Houston, and Baltimore, atop the Central Division, crushed Detroit 111-89.

Cleveland had managed to take a brief five-point lead in the last quarter before the Lakers put on their final drive. Chamberlain and Jim McMillian, who wound up with 29 points, led the game-winning rally.

Olympic Classic Set For 7 p. m. Start

One of sports' biggest bargains for fans, the annual American Basketball Club Olympic Classic, opens a three-night run in the Howard County JC Gym at 7 o'clock this evening.

since Dec. 17, when they knocked off the HSU Buttons in Ahilene. In this type meet, each team plays the other entries one time. A clear-cut champion can be declared if a quarter goes through undefeated. If two teams tie, the winner will be determined by total points scored in the meet.

The tournament is being held a week earlier than it was last year — classes haven't even resumed at HCJC. Tonight's pairings send Schreiner against Jacksonville at 7 p.m., and HCJC against ACC at 9 o'clock.

Archie Myers Is Second Leading Juco Scorer

Howard County JC's Archie Myers is the second leading junior college scorer in the nation in averages and tops the list in total points.

Vincennes, Ind., a perennial national contender, continues to lead the NJCAA poll, reaping 10 first place votes among the 19 in total.

Shula Knows About Pokes

DALLAS (AP) — Although Dallas and Miami have never played each other, Cowboy Coach Tom Landry figures the Dolphins have the edge in familiarity because of Miami Coach Don Shula.

"He's familiar with us because we still have most of the players we had when he was coaching at Baltimore," said Landry Wednesday. "The advantage is in knowing the personnel."

Landry has seen films of the Miami defense and is impressed. "That middle linebacker (Nick Buoniconti) is as quick as we've seen," said Landry. "We've got some blocking to do if we plan to run on him."

Landry said Dallas would fly to New Orleans Sunday evening to begin preparations for the Super Bowl Jan. 16. "We want to try to establish a reckless, hard-running style again," Landry said, noting that the Cowboy ground game has lacked spark in the two playoff contests against Minnesota and San Francisco.

Landry said Dallas hasn't played spectacularly. "We've done what we had to do to win and that's about it," he said.

Night Racing Is Back At Sunland

SUNLAND, PARK, N.M. — The first night program of the spring season is on tap Friday with a band of newly-turned sophomores slated to lock horns in the featured New Mexico State Racing Commission Purse at 5 1/2 furlongs.

Ten races are on the agenda which gets going at 7:30 p.m. Action shifts back to the regular 1:30 p.m. first post on Saturday and Sunday.

As part of the co-ordinated schedule with the Juarez Race Track, night racing on Fridays will continue, uninterrupted, through March.

Dave Noble New Coach Of Rams

SAN ANGELO — David H. Noble has been named an assistant football coach at Angelo State University. He joins a staff being selected by head coach James Cameron.

Noble, a 1968 graduate of Odessa High School, formerly was an assistant to Cameron at Howard Payne College in Brownwood.

Noble once was a junior high coach in Waco and later coached at McKinney.

He will also serve as Angelo's track and field mentor.

G. Grant Resigns

Resignation of the incumbent of the city department, Grady Harry Nagel, city manager, is effective Jan. 9, 1972, due to personal and family reasons.

Grantham has worked for the city since July 9, 1965, as supervisor of the city department since 1970.

Nagel said this is the city's present need for a replacement for position, but that people are men within the that can fill the post.

The city manager position is currently vacant. Dick Nichols, current foreman, will be in the department's office.

Family Bothered By Women's Lib

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A fourth grade girl has been transferred to another class following her parent's complaint that her teacher had been stressing women's liberation.

Vikki Howe was removed from the fourth grade class taught by Pat Jimmerson at Schenk Elementary School because her mother, Mrs. Howard Howe, said she and her husband were concerned about the women's lib issue.

FEDERAL JUDGES TOLD AT AUSTIN

Solons Elected Countywide Represent Negroes Better

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A black Democratic precinct chairman says Negroes get better representation from Texas House members who run countywide than they would from their own neighborhood representatives.

The testimony before a three-judge federal court Wednesday evening marked the beginning of the state and the Democratic party's defense of the present multi-member urban house districts.

"Why?" "Because if a man is running for a state office, he becomes the state man for the district. It (representing the entire county) gives more strength for him to help the whole county."

Victor Robertson, vice president of a Dallas research and public opinion consulting firm, said 561,000 people live in a north Dallas area that consistently elects a Republican congressman and state senator and votes for GOP statewide candidates.

QUICK FINISH

Judges and attorneys hoped the hearing—which began Monday—could finish today.

A quick decision by the tribunal is expected, followed by an almost certain appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court by the losing side.

Dallas County Democratic chairman Earl Luna called the Rev. Lowell H. Brown, a party precinct chairman, as the first defense witness after plaintiffs completed three days of testimony. Republican, Mexican-American and Negro plaintiffs seek a court order requiring urban counties to be cut into single member districts of about 74,000 people.

"Do you prefer single-member or countywide districts?" Luna asked the Rev. Mr. Brown, a black. "Countywide," the witness replied.

Luna also asked who decides what blacks will run for the house, "some downtown group or the black community?" "The black community," the Rev. Mr. Brown replied.

The Rev. Mr. Brown said he was on a committee seeking three qualified blacks to run for the house. Luna earlier said he favors the election of three black representatives from Dallas County this year.

Walter Irvin, a black lawyer, asked what qualities his committee was looking for.

"We are looking for a young, bright fellow, who has got good judgment and is willing to shape his life the American way," the Rev. Mr. Brown replied.

The plaintiffs' testimony concluded with several witnesses who said countywide house elections kept affluent neighborhoods from electing Republican representatives.

But the area's votes are so diluted by Democratic ballots from throughout the county that it usually is unable to swing house elections for GOP candidates, he said.

Tom Crouch, Dallas County Republican chairman, asked Robertson if he thought the north Dallas senate and congressional districts were "safe Republican districts."

"Yes, I do, and from what I've heard from the Democrats, they do too," Robertson said.

He estimated it would take $100,000 to $125,000 for a candidate to win a Dallas County house race but "in a single-member district, you could run an entire campaign on $2,000 to $3,000."

REUNITED — Deborah Brackman Kremniy, left, 22-year-old Long Island woman, smiles after being reunited with her Russian husband Valery Kremniy at Kennedy Airport in New York Wednesday. The couple, who were married in Leningrad last August, were separated when she was not granted a visa to remain in the Soviet Union. Kremniy was finally allowed to come to the U.S. to live permanently.

STILL A LOT OF LOVE AROUND

Good News Roundup

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of people can look forward to better things in 1972 thanks to Americans who used the holiday season to show that Christmas means a lot more than tinsel and trees.

Accompanying the news of civil war in Pakistan, bombings in Northern Ireland and the ups and downs of the economy, were reports such as these:

—Harry L. Jones, a Birmingham, Ala., policeman used his last $6 to buy groceries for a needy family. His good deed was reported and he got letters from around the world. Jones received more than $3,000 which he turned over to charity, commenting: "You can say what you want about the commercialism of Christmas nowadays, but... there's still a lot of love and good will toward men around."

—An 8-year-old Manhattan boy wrote two letters to Santa Claus asking for a wheelchair for his brother, who was stricken at birth with cerebral palsy. The second letter wound up in a Seattle post office and was reprinted in the Seattle Times. Several people offered to buy the wheelchair.

—Off-duty police officers in Lynwood, Calif., teamed up to form a Santa Patrol, giving out small, candy-filled socks to children. The socks carried a message: "The policeman is the children's friend. Go to him when you need help. Merry Christmas."

—A family in Florence, Mass., skipped the usual exchange of Christmas presents and instead sent gifts and supplies to 240 orphans in South Vietnam. The Lucien Pepins took the action after their son, Spec. 4 Bernard A. Pepin, wrote them of the needs at an orphanage in Vietnam where he is stationed.

—Three young parent post deliverymen in Seattle, Wash., volunteered to pick up packages from area families of POWs and speed them directly to Seattle-Tacoma International Airport for shipment to the departure point. They even offered to pay the postage.

—Employees of a city department in Poplar Bluff, Mo., collected $146.51 for a Christmas party. Then they learned of a man who needed kidney transplant and expensive treatment. They turned over their party collection to a fund set up by the city newspaper, the Daily American Republic.

Good news isn't just for the holidays, of course. It's something that goes on all year long, in big cities and small towns, created by large groups and by individuals.

Take the case of Jean Logan. In the course of her job with a Washington State public assistance agency, she discovered that an elderly woman with eight days to wait for her Social Security check had only half a stick of margarine left in the refrigerator.

She learned that many of the people she helped just couldn't make ends meet. So she took the family pick-up truck, painted a sign reading, "Help us help your neighbors" and, with the aid of eight youngsters, started collecting. In the first three months, she got enough food to feed more than 3,000 families.

Court Takes Harder Line

District Judge R. W. Caton has ruled two men in contempt of court this week in 118th District Court for failure to pay child support and sentenced them to six months in Howard County Jail.

According to Judge Caton, the sentences were in line with the stiffer penalties the state legislature has allowed district judges to impose in contempt cases involving failure to pay child support as ordered by the court in a divorce proceeding.

"Before, judges had two measures they could take against a man held in contempt. One was coercive, order the man to pay by a certain date; and the other punitive, a three-day jail sentence," said Judge Caton. The light jail sentence had little effect in spurring men into making their support payments.

Sept. 1, 1971, the legislature stiffened the punitive measure by empowering district judges to assess six-month jail sentences or a $500 fine or both in contempt cases.

According to Judge Caton, the jail sentences with the possibility of an added fine will continue to be assessed in contempt cases in which payment is not forthcoming.

'Last Offer' Vote Booked

HOUSTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board has scheduled a "last offer" election for early February for members of the striking International Longshoremen's Association.

The ILA has been on strike against maritime associations at Atlantic and east Gulf of Mexico ports since last Oct. 1 and at Texas ports since Nov. 15.

The union presently is working under terms of an 80-day cooling-off period injunction. The injunction expires Feb. 14.

The elections presently are scheduled Feb. 7 and 8.

The NLRB must poll the union members prior to expiration of the injunction on whether they wish to accept their employers' last contract offer.

"We are required to hold the election, but I hope it doesn't come to that," said Clifford Potter, director of the NLRB 79-county region headquartered here. "I hope they will come to agreement before that time."

Happy Ways To Start The Days

It's hard to get people to eat a good breakfast. Often, it's simply because they are tired of the same old thing. The alarm clock may get the family up, but only a good nourishing breakfast can wake them up. It's so easy to combine traditionally favorite ingredients in a new way that sparks tired appetites. Try Crunchy Breakfast Parfaits, Oven Breakfast or Breakfast Booster Sandwiches. Then let your imagination see what else it can create for a breakfast that's as easy as the hustle and bustle of a morning requires.

CRUNCHY BREAKFAST PARFAITS
Makes 6 servings
4½ cups crunchy, sweet peanut butter cereal
1 13¼-oz. can pineapple chunks, drained
2 bananas, sliced
6 maraschino cherries
In each of six parfait glasses alternate layers of peanut butter cereal, pineapple chunks and banana slices. Garnish with cherries. Serve with milk or cream.

BREAKFAST BOOSTER SANDWICHES
Makes 6 servings
12 slices bacon

1 9-oz. pkg. frozen waffles
¼ cup creamy or chunk-style peanut butter
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, soft
2 tbsps. strawberry preserves
Fry bacon over medium heat until crisp. Drain on absorbent paper. Prepare waffles in toaster or oven according to package directions. Spread each of 6 waffles with 2 teaspoons peanut butter; top with 2 bacon slices. Beat cream cheese until fluffy and spread on remaining 6 waffles; top each with 1 teaspoon preserves. Serve 1 of each kind to each person.

TEMPTING OVEN BREAKFAST
1½ cups milk
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup quick cream of wheat cereal
2 eggs, beaten
1 8-oz. pkg. brown and serve sausage links
¾ cup maple syrup
3 cooking apples, sliced (about 1 lb.)
1 cup pitted dates, quartered
2 cinnamon sticks
Bring milk and salt to a boil in a small saucepan. Slowly sprinkle in cream of wheat cereal, stirring constantly. Return to a boil, then lower heat and cook for 5 minutes or until thickened, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and add eggs; blend well. Pour into a greased 2-quart shallow baking dish; spread evenly. Top with sausage links. Combine remaining ingredients in a 1½-qt. casserole. Cover and bake with cereal mixture in a preheated 375 degree oven about 30 minutes. Stir apple mixture midway through baking. Cut cereal mixture into 6 squares and top with apple-date mixture. Makes 6 (about 4x2½-inch) servings of cereal and 6 (about ½ cup) servings of apples and dates.

EGG NOG WAFFLES
(Makes 8 waffles)
1½ cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1¼ cups canned egg nog
3 tbsps. salad oil
Into a mixing bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Combine egg nog and salad oil; mix well. With a wire whisk, gradually stir egg nog into flour mixture. Beat only until flour is thoroughly moistened (lumps will not effect the texture of the waffles). Bake batter in a pre-heated waffle iron according to manufacturer's directions. Serve topped with ice cream and frozen strawberries.

BROILED BREAKFAST KABOBS
1 pound smoked ham, cut in 1-inch cubes
1 package (12 oz.) smoked sausage links
8 slices bacon
8 canned spiced crab apples
8 6-inch metal skewers
Cut each sausage in half crosswise. Separate bacon slices and place on rack of broiler pan. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat for 2 to 3 minutes and remove to absorbent paper. Alternately thread ham cubes and halves of smoked sausage links on each of the skewers, at the same time weaving a strip of bacon over, under and between the pieces of meat. Place a crab apple on the tip of each skewer.

Arrange kabobs on broiler pan so surface of meat is 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil 3 minutes or until lightly browned. Turn and continue broiling 3 to 4 minutes or until lightly browned and heated through. Yield: 8 kabobs.

SAUSAGE EGG RINGS
1 pound fresh bulk pork sausage
4 eggs
¼ cup milk
2 tbsps. drippings
Salt and pepper
Shape sausage into 4 doughnut-shaped rings about 4½ inches in diameter. Place in a shallow baking pan and bake in 350 degrees oven 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Pour off and reserve drippings. Combine eggs, milk, salt and pepper in a mixing bowl. Beat with a fork until blended. Heat 2 tablespoons of the drippings in a frying-pan. Pour in egg mixture and cook slowly.

When mixture starts to get on bottom, lift cooked portions and turn gently to cook all portions evenly. Spoon scrambled eggs into sausage "rings." Four servings.

BOOSTER SANDWICHES MIX FAVORITE FLAVORS
Peanut butter, bacon, cheese, jelly

Dill Seed Has 'Flavor Magic'

There is flavor magic in dill. Both dill seed and dill weed are important to the home spice herbs. Dill is a native to the Mediterranean and Black Sea areas. It was grown in the gardens of the Babylonian kings and used widely in drugs both by the Babylonians and Assyrians. Today, dill seed is imported from India and dill weed is grown in California.

The magic of using dill goes back to earliest times. It was and most important of the shelf. Dill is one of the oldest associated with sorcery and was believed to have the power to overcome the sorcerer. To make oneself invulnerable to the "evil eye," a small bag of dill was worn over the heart. Today its magic is in terms of flavor and success in cooking.

Dill seed is well known and is immediately associated with pickles. Dill seed and dill weed both are excellent sprinkled on rolls or used in potato, meat and seafood salads. Dill also improves the flavor of spaghetti and tomato dishes (1/2 teaspoon to 1/4 teaspoon seasons 2 cups of either). Crushed dill seed adds zest to cooked vegetables such as snap beans, peas or celery, using 1/4 teaspoon to 1/2 teaspoon to 2 tablespoons butter. Dill dresses up sauerkraut when sprinkled lightly over it and does wonders when added to butter or margarine and poured over cooked noodles.

Dill seems to have a special affinity for seafoods. As one author states, "No other herb gives fish as much glamour. Don't forget, therefore, to add a few seeds to water when cooking shrimp. Use the seed or weed in sauces that accompany cooked fish and in sauces for cold seafood dishes and salads. Dill weed is especially good in mustard sauce.

Dill weed has a more subtle flavor than dill seed. It is a great favorite of the Danes and Scandinavians. One writer on Persian foods extols its deliciousness, especially on cooked rice and rice dishes. Swedish people maintain that dill weed in the sauce or gravy transforms veal into a party dish.

Dill added to sour cream and cream cheese mixtures for dips produces a delightful flavor. Sprinkle dill weed on whole fish and fish fillets that are to be baked or add it to salmon or tuna fish souffles and casseroles.

Mix it with crumbs or flour for coating fried or baked chicken.

Dill weed sprinkled on sliced fresh cucumbers either in sour cream or vinegar dressing is delicious.

Add dill to creamed vegetables or soups.

Dill weed goes well, too, in egg dishes such as scrambled eggs, omelets or creamed hard-cooked eggs.

Dill weed is found also in herb-seasoned breads, biscuits and muffins that are served with salads.

The use of dill seed and weed can well be said to be "as old as the hills," yet as modern as tomorrow. Their use can be as wide as imagination and tastes envision.

KITCHEN READINESS — Creative abilities of Mrs. Roger Brown have no limitations in her new kitchen, which is equipped with the conveniences and work space needed for any food preparation. The large vent above her "island" sink and counters is not only useful, but an attractive room accent. The double oven provides enough space for her to have dinner cooking while she makes cakes, pies or cookies, which are her "first love" in the kitchen.

Cooking Ability Credited To Excellent Instruction

By BARBARA LORD

There's no shortage of cooks in the Roger Brown family. The majority of meals are prepared by Mrs. Brown (Anna), who said she couldn't do so much as boil water when she married 16 years ago.

"It was no fault of my mother's that I didn't learn to cook," said Mrs. Brown. "I just wasn't interested. But I had to learn in a hurry when I married, and I had an excellent teacher, so I really enjoy it now."

Mrs. Brown's "teacher" was her husband, a local attorney who still enjoys putting around in the kitchen when he has time. He can smoke ham and makes casseroles, barbecue, red beans, chili and many other dishes, and Mrs. Brown said he is a big help when she is planning a party.

The Brown's son, Dale, aged 10, is also a good cook; often fixing a portion of the evening meal, and sometimes, all of it.

Mrs. Brown likes making pastry and desserts best. Pies and cookies are her forte, and during the recent holiday season she was particularly busy preparing variety packs of snacks which she gave as gifts.

About two months ago the Browns moved into a lovely Spanish-style home in Silver Heels. They designed it themselves and carefully watched its progress as it was being built. A large patio area leads to a spacious and comfortable living room which houses a grand piano. Windows fill most of one wall, and bookcases line another. The high ceilings are accented with dark, rustic beams.

Parts of the home come from many places. The dark doors were all hand-made in Mexico, and the fountain on the patio is from Mexico. Other items came from many parts of the country, and the Browns got tired of waiting for things to arrive, that they often drove hundreds of miles to pick something up.

The Browns are still completing some of the finishing touches of the home. He has a little more work to do on the bookcases, and is also building some bar stools which she will paint.

"My husband has an imagination you wouldn't believe," said Mrs. Brown. "This whole house is something he has dreamed of for years, and he can always carry through on any ideas he has."

Brown's ideas aren't limited to things for the house. The family has a hobby barn on their property where he works on many projects. He and another man built a 32-foot self-contained camper for family trips, and he has also made two sailboats.

"We are outdoorsy people," said Mrs. Brown. "We enjoy just about anything we can do outside, including sports." The Browns have a pool table and a trampoline in their hobby barn. They always take a week during winter months to go skiing.

The Browns lived in a smaller house near their new one while it was being completed, and Mrs. Brown began her first garden. However, the results weren't that of a beginner. She grew okra, squash, lettuce, watermelon, carrots, onions and cucumbers. Her corn stalks reached 8 feet high, and she got 90 tomatoes from her six plants. She plans to do some organic gardening also.

Mrs. Brown has other hobbies. She likes to antique and refinish furniture, and she is taking piano lessons and sewing lessons.

"I enjoy anything that can be done as a family," said Mrs. Brown "and I don't get involved in any clubs that will deprive me of family activities. I figure there's time for that after my son is grown."

The Browns enjoy entertaining, but only on a "very" very casual scale. One of her favorite party meals is fondue, because she said it is a good ice breaker for people they don't know real well.

"I usually save my specialty meals for when we have company," said Mrs. Brown, "but my family meals aren't TV dinners."

Mrs. Brown enjoys the modern kitchen in their new home, but said she still uses old methods of cooking with the modern appliances.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Mrs. Roger Brown

SPANISH RICE
1 med. onion, cut in rings
1 med. green pepper, chopped
4 tbsps. bacon grease
2 1/2 cups brown rice, cooked
1 6-oz. can tomato sauce
1/4 15-oz. can stewed tomatoes
1/4 cup chili sauce
2 pieces raw bacon
Salt and pepper to taste
Garlic salt and garlic juice to taste
Dash cumin seed
Dash chili powder
Dash monosodium glutamate
1/4 pkg. Spanish rice (with herbs and spices)
Saute onion and green pepper in bacon grease. Cook until tender, about 15 minutes. Add cooked brown rice, tomato sauce, stewed tomatoes, chili sauce, bacon, salt, pepper, garlic salt, garlic juice, cumin, chili powder, monosodium glutamate and Spanish rice. Simmer slowly for about one hour, stirring frequently.

STUFFED SQUASH
12 small squash
2 tbsps. chopped onions
1 tsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsps. butter
1 cup squash pulp, seed and skin, finely chopped
3 tbsps. bread crumbs
1 hard boiled egg, finely chopped
1 tsp. chopped pimento
Salt and pepper to taste
Cook unpeeled squash in salted, boiling water until tender. Cool, and cut hole in top. Dig centers out with teaspoon, being careful not to break squash. Saute onion and parsley in butter until onion is yellow and soft. Add squash pulp, 2 tablespoons of bread crumbs, egg and pimento. Mix and season to taste with salt.

Kitchen Tip

To unmold custards baked in custard cups, loosen the edges with a thin-blade knife, then invert onto serving dishes.

and pepper. Fill cavities of squash with mixture, and sprinkle with remaining bread crumbs which have been cooked in melted butter. Place squash on a buttered dish and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Serves 6.

CASEROLA
1 1/2 lbs. lean ground beef
1 chopped onion
2 tps. instant coffee powder
1 tsp. chili powder
1 tsp. salt
2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
8 tortillas
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese
Parmesan cheese
Brown beef and onions in skillet. Pour off fat. Stir in seasonings and one can tomato sauce. Simmer three minutes. Spread tortillas with cream cheese, and top with some of meat mixture. Fold tortillas in half, and place them open side up, overlapping, in a shallow baking dish. Fill in spaces around tortillas with remaining meat mixture, and pour on remaining can of tomato sauce. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese, and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

RANCH CASSEROLE
1 10 1/2 oz. can chicken stock
1 pkg. tortillas
1 large fryer or hen, boiled, salted and cut up
1 10 1/2-oz. can cream of mushroom soup
1 large onion, chopped
1 large bell pepper, chopped
1/2 lb. cheddar cheese, grated
1 tsp. chili powder
Garlic salt to taste
1 10 1/2 oz. can cream of chicken soup
1 large can Rotel chili-tomatoes, crushed
Soak tortillas in boiling chicken stock until wilted. Place tortillas in bottom of 9 by 12 inch baking dish. Using all other ingredients except chili-tomatoes, layer in order given, making at least two layers. Crush chili tomatoes and pour over mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes.

SKIER'S OMELET IS FILLING, GOOD
Off-to-the-slopes breakfast

Warm Skier's Heart With Special Omelet

The only way to start an invigorating day of skiing is with a hearty, warming breakfast. Sure-to-please and sure-to-satisfy a skier's appetite is a fluffy omelet filled with Swiss cheese, ham strips, and sliced mushrooms, and sauced with canned chicken giblet gravy. Go-alongs are hot chocolate and cornbread.

SKIERS' OMELET
Omelet:
6 eggs, separated
1/4 cup milk
2 tps. dried chopped chives
Dash pepper
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored beat in milk, chives and pepper; fold into whites. Heat butter in oven-proof skillet; pour in eggs. Cook over low heat about 5 minutes or until lightly browned on bottom. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 10 minutes or until top springs back when pressed with finger.

Sauce:
1 can (4-oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2-oz.) chicken giblet gravy
1/2 cup ham, cut in thin strips
1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
Meanwhile in saucepan, brown mushrooms in butter. Add gravy and ham. Heat; stir over and then. Transfer omelet to platter. Make a shallow cut down center; sprinkle with cheese. Pour part of sauce on; fold in half. Pour sauce over top. Serve extra sauce in sauceboat. Makes 4 servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Making good old-fashioned lemonade with fresh lemons? Count on four lemons yielding about three-quarters cup of juice.

Some cooks like to add a tablespoon of butter or margarine to a cup of rice that's being steamed.

When you are poaching fresh peaches, you may use a medium syrup — one cup of sugar to two cups of water.

Slice unpared Washington apples directly into a skillet with 2 tablespoons melted butter. Sauté until browned. Turn once, cover slices with a little honey and four tablespoons Sherry; cook until done and yum!

Add two cored, diced, unpeeled Washington Red Delicious apples to your next tuna or ham salad. Crispness and tartness will add flavor and nutritional balance, as well as texture, to these of other leftover meat salads.

Leftover pancakes? Wrap in foil and refrigerate. Heat them, wrapped in the foil, in a hot oven. They'll be almost as good as new!

Cream 1 1/2 cups confectioners sugar with a three-ounce package of cream cheese and a teaspoon of vanilla for a quick cake frosting.

After you turn cookie-bar dough into the pan, be sure to spread it evenly. Use a small spatula for this.

Need an extra cookie sheet when you are baking a big batch of cookies? Turn a jelly-roll pan upside down and use the bottom for baking the cookies.

Peel those pears before you simmer or bake them in sugar syrup.

A refreshing taste of the past.

Butter milk
BORDEN Butter milk

Take time to sit back and enjoy a glass of tangy Borden Buttermilk. Rich, tart, cold refreshment. It'll take you back.

If it's Borden, its got to be good.

Priest Tells Of Trouble In Ireland

The Rev. James Delaney discussed problems in northern Ireland for members of Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, Tuesday evening at the Chaparral Restaurant.

Belfast, Ireland is Rev. Delaney's home town. He said although the public is deliberately led to believe the war is a religious one, it is actually a political one that dates back 350 years.

The vocational talk was by Mrs. Louis A. Carillas who discussed interesting and humorous events that happen during her work at La Posada Restaurant.

Mrs. Kyle Cauble presided and announced the ABWA Southwest District meeting will be held at Houston in March. Prayer was by Miss Shirley White and Mrs. Harvey Wooten, and Mrs. Gene Haston led the pledge. Guests were Rev. Delaney and Miss Terry Carillas.

The next meeting will be the chapter's annual Boss' Night, at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 1, place to be announced.

Slides Seen By Club

Al Long, guest speaker Tuesday for the 1955 Hyperion Club, presented a slide program on wild flowers of the Southwest, also showing scenes in the Big Spring area.

The pictures were made by Long and his wife, who include photography among their hobbies. Long, a local insurance agent, also teaches welding at Howard County Junior College.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Walter Ross, Country Club Road, where a brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Charles Bell, president. Co-hostesses were Mrs. W. L. Wilson Jr. and Mrs. Robert Penner.

The next meeting of the club will be Feb. 1.

Flaming Pudding

To bring a flaming plum pudding to the table, sprinkle fine granulated sugar over pudding, heat the liqueur before pouring on, then light for burst of flame.

Mrs. T. A. Rankin was a guest of the Pioneer Sewing Club when it met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Cardwell at Forsan.

During the afternoon, the group worked on individual sewing projects, after which refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Jan. 18 at Big Spring in the home of Mrs. R. A. Chambers, 2113 Warren.

Faubion-Vollmer Rites Performed Saturday

Nuptial rites were performed for Miss Carol Dale Vollmer and Edward Frank Faubion at 7 p.m., Saturday in the Grace Baptist Church. The Rev. Roy Honea conducted the ceremony before an altar flanked by baskets of white carnations.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Vollmer of Highland, Ind., formerly of Big Spring, and Mrs. K. E. Faubion of Big Spring and the late Mr. Faubion.

The bride was attired in a normal-length white gown styled with Empire bodice and sleeves accented with re-embroidered appliques of lace flowers. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle was held by a crown of embroidered white lace flowers. She carried a bouquet of white carnations tied with satin streamers.

Miss Nancy Miller attended the bride as bridesmaid. She wore a floor-length gown of pink satin embossed with gold, and she carried a single white carnation tied with white lace and satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, B. W. Gilliland, and Mike Bolte served as best man.

Faubion, a graduate of Big Spring High School, served four Spinach, Croutons years in the U.S. Navy. Mrs. Faubion is a graduate of Calumet City High School, Calumet City, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Faubion have left for Highland where they will make their home.

Put Candles In Hurricane Lamps

For safety, enclose Christmas candles in hurricane lamps. Soot and candle drippings can be washed off glass chimneys with hot soap or detergent suds. Wash them in the dishpan, right along with ash trays, candy dishes and other holiday accessories that need daily sudsings.

'Don't Touch Me! I've Just Been To The Beauty Parlor'

By ANN HENCKEN
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring hair styles start with a simple pageboy, but they end at a convoluted upsweep.

That "Don't touch me, I've just been to the beauty parlor" look, is back again. It includes such marvels as clots of hair bunched in back, twisted braids, buns, curls, ponytails, pins and ribbons—often all on the same arrangement.

However, women can choose a duck tail cut or a tapered style instead. Or she can go

Chinese with a full length queue from Stan Hagler. Stylists from across the country gathered at a beauty brunch Wednesday at the New York Couture Council's press week, and they see these trends:

The Afro is outpaced by the smaller, softer head. Long, straight hair of the 1960s is still being chopped off. The best solution is a neat angled cut. Sides are shorter, swooping down to a longer back. This is often worn with bangs.

Many stylists are tired of the layered look. It's become an ordinary street fashion and must be replaced.

Short cuts are off the neck, partly to clear the way for backless dresses. Upswept styles are coming back. So is the ducktail. Remember that in the 1950s?

"More complicated, that's the word," says Pierre Hambur of New York City. "Hair styles will be more worked out, without being jazzed up."

Complicated is not the word for some arrangements. The word is confused. Styles range from a three-clump number of "teensy teensy" curls to three fat high-rise, buns in a row.

However, there is hope. It starts with the pageboy, from Mr. Andre of New York, or the bowl cut page boy, from Betty Bagwell of Columbia, S.C.

These are stylists who give a no-teased look—just lots of shiny loose clean hair, but well shaped and never far below the shoulders.

Holiday Visits End As Friends And Relatives Return To Homes

History Of Arbor Day

Mrs. Pete Warren outlined the history of Arbor Day for the Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Garner McAdams, 1313 Dixie.

Mrs. H. H. Squires was co-hostess.

Mrs. Warren said Arbor Day began 100 years ago in Nebraska, and was first observed in Texas in 1889. The day is observed the third Friday in January in Texas. The club will plant a tree at Big Spring State Hospital in observance of the day.

Mrs. J. C. Pickle presided, and Mrs. John Knox led a discussion about planting time for bulbs in this area. Refreshments were served.

Pecans from the Pecan Grower's Association were displayed by Mrs. J. E. Hogan. The association hopes to increase the number of pecan trees throughout the state. Mrs. Hogan has interested local authorities in ordering the pecans for elementary schools, the high school and the parks division of the city. The pecans are free for these groups who want to plant them.

Sewing Club Has Guest Tuesday

Mrs. T. A. Rankin was a guest of the Pioneer Sewing Club when it met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Cardwell at Forsan.

During the afternoon, the group worked on individual sewing projects, after which refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Jan. 18 at Big Spring in the home of Mrs. R. A. Chambers, 2113 Warren.

Col. John Grow Leaving Webb

Webb's air base group commander, Col. John W. Grow, Jr., is leaving this week for duty at Yokota AB, Japan.

Col. Grow will assume command of the 475th Air Base Wing. This will be his first tour as a wing commander, and his command will extend over support units in Kanto Plains, Japan, which is 30 miles from Tokyo and contains about 35,000 military and dependents and civilian employees.

While this will be Col. Grow's first permanent tour in Japan, he has been there several times on temporary duty. His family will accompany him.

Lt. Col. William M. King, director of personnel, will take over Col. Grow's post here temporarily.

Col. Grow has served as air base group commander here since January, 1970. He began his military career as an aviation cadet, completing his training in March, 1942 at what was then Lubbock AA Field, then in 1943 went to Avon Park AFB, Fla. as a combat crew trainee for B-26s.

Following a brief tour at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz., he went to England in Feb. 1944 with the Eighth Air Force and flew B-24s. Returning to the States, he served in Maxwell AFB, Ala., then went to Kirtland AFB, N.M. He left service briefly in Dec. 1945, but was recalled in 1949 to train for the Berlin airlift, being assigned to Malstrom AFB, Mont. before going to Rhein Main AB, Germany and flew 169 cargo missions.

He was at Scott Field, Ill., then at Keesler AFB, Miss., as base communications officer, then went in March, 1952 to Korea. Returning home, he was assigned to Forbes AFB, Kans., in 1953, then to James Connally AFB, Waco for a year. His next assignment took him for 12 years with the ninth bombardment wing, starting in Mountain Home AFB, Idaho.

In 1965 he became pilot instructor at Randolph AFB, then was named squadron commander at Laredo AFB. He returned to Forbes in 1967 as vice base commander, then was sent to Thailand, from whence he came to Webb.

Col. Grow is a native of Roanoke, Va. and is married to the former Anita Lucille Wright of San Antonio. Their eldest son, Charles, is a lieutenant in the U.S. Marines. Two sons, Randy and Jim are married, and two other sons, Robert and Wesley will accompany Col. and Mrs. Grow to Japan.

Texas Star Has Wide Variety

If Hemisfair seems a bit spooky now, all you have to do is hang in there, because some fascinating things are likely to happen there soon.

And even while you wait, there are some interesting attractions around the place, as Jimmy Banks relates in a "Texas Star" article Sunday.

Another feature is by Ernest G. Fischer, who explores the mysteries of water witching and discovers that while nobody can explain it very well, it works — at least some of the time. Even an electronics engineer who doesn't believe in it has seen enough evidence to know there's something to it.

L. A. Wilke takes the reader on a wide-ranging night trip for fish. Go to the lake after dark, says Wilke, and you may fill a stringer with crappie or white bass before the rooster crows. On the coast, you're in business if the trout are running.

The old clock on the courthouse at Eagle Pass is something else. For years it showed 10 minutes to nine, and then a few things happened as Weldon Hart tells in a brightly whimsical article.

Filming 'Rage' Now Under Way

NEW YORK (AP) — "Rage," with George C. Scott in the starring role, is being filmed on location in Arizona and New Mexico.

The Warner Bros. picture is based on an original story by Philip Friedman and Dan Kleinman about a man who seeks revenge for the destruction of his land and the death of his son.

Nixon-Sato Buckle Down To 'Tough' Negotiations

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon and Japan's Prime Minister Eisaku Sato buckle down to hard negotiations today after a bit of informal pre-summit diplomacy by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

Sato, who arrived in Southern California Wednesday, has his first face-to-face talk with Nixon in the President's Western White House office in the afternoon.

Connally jumped the gun a bit, paying a social call on his Japanese counterpart, Finance Minister Miho Mizuta, Wednesday afternoon.

The Treasury chief took wife Nellie along when he saw Mizuta in the Japanese official's resort hotel suite in Newport Beach.

The heavy economic overtones of the two-day summit of Nixon and Sato were further underscored by a Connally appearance at the President's seaside home for dinner Wednesday evening.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren emphasized that "there are obviously trade matters to be discussed" by Nixon and Sato. Such topics will figure prominently in separate sessions to be held between Connally and Mizuta and between Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans and Kakuei Tanaka, Japan's minister of international trade and industry.

The Japanese have been agrieved since Nixon surprised the 70-year-old Sato last summer by arranging a trip to Communist China and imposing a temporary 10 per cent surcharge on imports.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, another summit participant, said Wednesday night in a taped television interview for the American Broadcasting Co. that ideally it would have been a good idea to have forewarned Sato of the China initiative.

Increase in Small Autos Snarls Madrid Traffic

MADRID (AP) — Juan would become a nightmare. The Martinez is a Madrid car bus system is far from meeting mechanic. He is late to work the needs and an estimated an average of four days a 1,500 additional buses will be month and neither his em necessary to solve the mounting players nor he can do anything problem. City hall cannot afford to prevent it. the high expenses.

Juan is one among hundreds of thousands affected by a fast changing Madrid where crushing traffic has become the most serious problem the city fathers ever faced. As a result the streets of the 3.3-million inhabitant capital are a huge parking lot and traffic violations run into the thousands every day.

Things now appear to be on the way toward a drastic change. The government has just passed a series of measures mainly aimed at discouraging people from using their private cars in town.

Parking or traffic violations are liable to fines of $3.50 to $14. Second notice will bear a 20 per cent increase which will grow to a 50 per cent if a third notice is necessary.

If no payment is made, violators will lose their license for periods ranging from one week to three months.

In 1939, Madrid had an estimated 30,000 vehicles. The figure moved upward slowly during the next 12 years. The real boost came in the middle of the '60s. From 400,000 cars in 1965, the number jumped to half a million the next year and their own transportation — 750,000 in 1969. There are 970,000 cars, motorcycles and bikes — vehicles officially registered in dropped them, the subway the Spanish capital.

FDA Plans To Evaluate Nonprescription Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has announced a three-year program to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of hundreds of thousands of nonprescription drugs.

The agency said its concern was illustrated by a recent review of 420 over-the-counter drugs by the National Academy of Sciences which concluded that only about one-fourth are effective.

The new program is similar to a 1966 review, recently completed, of 2,752 individual prescription drugs. Almost 15 per cent failed to live up to claims and 5 per cent were found to be only possibly effective.

Because self-medication is essential to the nation's health-care system, it is imperative that the over-the-counter drugs be safe and effective and have fully informative labeling, said FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards.

Rather than tackle each of the 100,000 to 500,000 nonprescription drugs one at a time, the FDA's staff for years, he said, the agency will utilize expert panels to evaluate ingredients, dosages and conditions for use for at least 26 basic classes of over-the-counter products.

The classes include antacids, laxatives, antiperspirants, sunburn products, vitamin-mineral products, dandruff products, mouthwashes, analgesics, sedatives, stimulants, antihistamines, cold remedies, contraceptives and menstrual products.

The panels will compose standards on active ingredients, labeling, warnings, and directions for use. Each over-the-counter product would have to meet the standards, be reformulated, gain approval as a new drug or be taken off the market.

It Didn't Work

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

CHASERS: (Q.) This may sound crazy, but I have to tell someone. You see, there are two boys that my friend and I like. I don't really know about her, but I really love one of them. The trouble is that I'm afraid that we have blown every little chance that we might have had with them. They don't exactly know us, but in a way they do because we have been quite obvious about our feelings. And I know that chasing a boy is a foolish thing to do. One day my friend decided she would give one of the boys a letter so that she could get to know the one she likes, and I could get to know the one I like. The letter didn't say that we liked them or anything. All it said was, "One of my friends (me) wants to meet your friend." She gave the letter to the boy she likes. Now all we get from the two boys are dirty looks. You always give good advice, so please help us out! We are both 14. — Hurt in Kansas.

(A.) I agree with you that if you did have a chance with these boys, you have now lost it. The correct way would have been to ask someone who knew both you and the boys to introduce you. Or simply to smile at the boys when you saw them and then wait for them to introduce themselves. Instead, you hurried matters in a way that few boys like. And now you are out of luck so far as they are concerned. I am sorry you lost. But at least next time you will know better.

SAYING NO: (Q.) I just found out that my best friend's cousin likes me. I don't like him. My best friend says that he is going to ask me for a date. I have never dated before. When I go out on my first date, and all dates after that, I want to go out with someone I like. How can I tell this boy no without hurting his feelings? — Dreading It in Minnesota. (A.) You probably can't. But say no to him anyway. Millions of girls have said no to millions of boys they do not want to date. The boys get over it. Your friend's cousin will get over it too. Your resolution about dating only boys you like is a good one. I hope you will be able to stick to it. Too many girls get overeager and accept dates with the wrong boys. This can lead to all sorts of unhappiness.

LIVING ROOM SCENE: (Q.) Last Saturday I had some friends over. Well, Mother walked into the living room where we were and didn't like what she saw. One couple was on the couch and my boy friend and I were on the floor. Nothing was happening, but Mother won't let me see my boy friend any more. She has grounded me, too. I can't go anywhere with anybody. Worst of all, she doesn't trust me. How can I get my mother's trust and my boy friend back? — Privileges Lost in Alabama.

(A.) It may take time for your mother to adjust to an idea that may be new to her — the idea of your really liking a boy. But if you honestly were not out of line there on the floor and your friends were not out of line on the couch, I believe she will before too long accept the reality and the rightness of it. Try to talk to her about your boy friend and what you think of him. Tell her you are sorry if you did anything she thought was wrong. Ask for her advice about how to conduct yourself around boys. Ask her to trust your good judgment.

Government Food Aid Record Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government food aid to low-income families and needy school children is at a record high and will rise even further early in 1972, says the Agriculture Department.

In November, the most recent month for statistics, food stamps were being used by 10.9 million persons who pay an average of about $4.50 for coupons worth $10 at grocery stores, the USDA reported Saturday.

That was up about 400,000 from the food-stamp enrollment in October and 14 million more than a year earlier, according to figures issued by the Food and Nutrition Service.

Free or reduced-price lunches were served to 7.8 million school children in November, some two million more than a year earlier. The previous high was 7.3 million last April, the agency said.

Edward J. Hekman, who administers the food programs, said he expects moderate increases in food-stamp enrollment during the next few months. More counties are being added to the stamp program, an expansion of benefits to the neediest families are expected to attract more people, Hekman said in a statement. The new regulations, adopted last year, have stirred criticism among antihunger advocates, expected to become eligible for including a growing number in Congress. Under the new rules, an additional 1.7 million persons are expected to become eligible for food stamps, most of them in the Southern states. But the rules also will reduce benefits for an estimated two million persons whose incomes are at the upper range of the government's poverty scale. Further, it at least 60,000 persons in a dozen states will lose food-stamp eligibility altogether because those states currently have higher income-eligibility standards than those allowed under the new federal rules. Last month, 28 senators asked Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz to block eligibility cuts. The department, however, plans to proceed with the new rules unless forced by Congress to do otherwise. However, congressional pressure sort of lawmakers has forced the Agriculture Department to change its mind before. A recent example was the decision after arm-tasting from Capitol Hill to restore some food items, including scrambled-egg mix, to a special welfare food program available to pregnant women and small children.

'THEY'VE GOT UNTIL 17TH TO SHAPE UP' Posting Of Prices Noncompliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Revenue Service have disclosed widespread noncompliance with government regulations requiring posting of freeze-period ceiling prices.

"We're not satisfied," said Jerry Portney, deputy IRS assistant for stabilization. "They've got until the 17th to shape up."

Jan. 17 is the date set by the Price Commission for final compliance with the posting requirements. But businesses are supposed to be complying now, unless given the extra grace period by IRS.

CLOTHING PRICES

On another Phase 2 front, the Cost of Living Council Wednesday ordered IRS to investigate whether some food and clothing prices have gone up in violation of price controls.

The investigation stems from the latest Consumer Price Index which showed higher prices for most meats, and a 2.8-percent increase in clothing prices during the three months covered by the freeze. The freeze on wages and prices ended Nov. 14.

The spot checks will determine whether stores are exceeding Phase 2 regulations that allow prices to rise only as they reflect increased costs, the council said.

More than 6,000 IRS agents made spot checks of retail outlets beginning last Monday as the requirements for posting freeze-period ceiling prices went into effect.

72 PER CENT

In New York City, checks showed 72 per cent of stores in Brooklyn were not in compliance, and 60 per cent non-compliance in Manhattan.

According to the IRS sampling, the state of Virginia showed a 40 per cent non-compliance, the Southeastern United States 45 per cent, Nebraska 50 per cent, Illinois 45 per cent, and New Mexico 65 per cent.

"They were simply not aware of the regulation," Portney said. "They said, 'We're glad you came in. Now we know what the rules are.'"

Portney said in each case store owners were advised of the regulations, given a sheet of paper explaining them, and were told that agents would be back to check them before Jan. 17.

He said the IRS will refrain

'Was Shocked At The Size Of Sentence'

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge was to hear final arguments today at a writ of habeas corpus hearing for Lee Otis Johnson who received a 30-year prison sentence for giving a marijuana cigarette to a police undercover agent in 1968.

Mayor Louie Welch, Harris County Dist. Atty. Carol Vance and Police Chief Herman Short were among final witnesses Wednesday at the hearing before U. S. District Court Judge Carl O. Bue.

"I was shocked at the size of the sentence," Welch testified. Johnson's attorneys are seeking to prove their client did not receive a fair trial because of racial discrimination in Houston in 1968.

Johnson, 32, was an organizer for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee at Texas Southern University during 1967-68. One policeman was killed in a May 1967 riot on the predominantly Negro TSU campus.

Johnson had been suspended from TSU prior to the riot and was not present during the disorder. At the time he was in county jail charged with unlawful assembly during a demonstration at a local junior high school.

Welch testified he was not questioned on a change of venue for Johnson as he had been in the case of five young men charged after the 1967 riot at TSU.

Welch said the TSU five "had already become heroes. Lee Otis had not. Only after the trial—that made him a martyr."

Johnson twice sought a change of venue. The TSU five did not. Instead, both Vance and the Houston Bar Association filed motions recommending that the TSU five trials be changed to another city.

Welch said Johnson's sentence was "greater than anybody else's on a similar charge."

Vance testified Johnson was the only marijuana case he had tried himself during his six years as chief prosecutor.

from citing stores for violating the rules until Jan. 17. "After Jan. 17, there's no more grace," he said.

Under the Price Commission's rules, retail stores with annual sales of $100,000 or more are required to meet the posting regulations in each department of their stores. In addition, they must post ceiling prices on all nonexempt food items.

The IRS is insisting on prompt posting of prices, saying it is doubtful the government will seek such a fine except in the most extreme cases.

Regulations for stores with annual sales under $100,000 require prominent posting of freeze-period prices on the 40 top items.

The law provides a civil penalty of up to $2,500 for violation of price regulations. But it is doubtful the government will seek such a fine except in the most extreme cases.

Without the aid of a store employee, the law provides a civil penalty of up to $2,500 for violation of price regulations. But it is doubtful the government will seek such a fine except in the most extreme cases.

Car Sales Top 10 Million For First Time In History

DETROIT (AP) — For the first time in the auto industry's history, sales in the United States topped the 10 million mark last year. The 1971 record is due partly to a late year buying surge brought on by the wage-price freeze and repeal of the excise tax.

The final tally for the year, counting imported and domestic cars, was 10,155,411, topping the 9.66 million record set in 1968.

Last year's total sales figure, for the four major U.S. auto makers, was 8,676,294, still nearly 100,000 cars short of 1965's record.

But the final total for 1971 represents a 22 per cent jump over the 1970 count when an economic recession coupled with a 67-day strike against General Motors Corp. to produce the worst sales of recent years.

Even though imported car sales set a record, their percentage share of the total 1971 market remained about the same as last year's—14.6 per cent.

Major importers, including the Big Three automakers, sold 1,479,117 cars, beating the record of 1,228,402 set the previous year.

The sales picture for the imports was very strong at the beginning of the year and at one time held over 16 per cent of the market. But sales late in the year were hampered by the recently revoked 10 per cent import surcharge and dock strikes.

General Motors, recovering from the 1970 strike, led the industry in gains. GM sold 4,633,894 cars in 1971, beating its all-time 1965 record—by 77 cars. GM sales were up 42 per cent from 1970.

Ford Motor Co. posted a 7.6 per cent gain for the year on sales of 2,377,357, compared with 2,209,687 in 1970. Chrysler sales were up 2.5 per cent, with sales of 1,388,070 in 1971, compared with 1,353,304 during the previous year.

Mutscher, Lobbyists Speculating In Land

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post said in a copyrighted story today it had learned that Mutscher's executive assistant, S. Rush McGinty, is a partner in two of the speculative land ventures and the Senate's calendar clerk, Mrs. Arline Morse, is a partner in one of them.

The Post story said records in the secretary of state's office show Mutscher is a limited partner in a limited partnership called Lohman Ford, Ltd.; in a similar entity called Five Point Nine Two, Ltd.; and in another called Town Lake, Ltd.

It said Robert Bowers, an Austin real estate man who has been a registered lobbyist for the Licensed Beverage Distributors, Inc., the Texas Nursing Home Association and the Southland Corp. of Dallas in recent years, is a general partner in each of the three limited partnerships.

The story said Carl W. Burnette and H. C. Carter Jr., other Austin real estate men, also are general partners in Lohman Ford, Ltd., and Burnette is a general partner in Five Point Nine Two, Ltd.

In Town Lake, Ltd., the Post said, other general partners are Burnette, Carter and John P. Watson, an Austin lawyer.

The newspaper said it learned that Austin lobbyists Will D. Davis and Wade Spilman, as well as Bowers, are associated with Mutscher in the partnerships.

The Post said the secretary of state's office shows Mutscher, Davis and Spilman each contributed $10,377.50 to become limited partners in Five Point Nine Two, Ltd.

The Secretary of State's office, according to the Post story, show Mutscher, McGinty and Mrs. Morse are limited partners in Lohman Ford, Ltd. It said they made contributions of $10,400, $5,200 and $2,600, respectively.

The newspaper said records show Mutscher and McGinty contributed $16,800 and $8,400, respectively to Town Lake, Ltd., while Davis contributed $8,400.

Bowers said all three limited partnerships bought their lands strictly for speculation.

Bowers said Mutscher and McGinty "got no special treatment whatsoever." He said they "put their money in just like everybody else" who became a limited partner.

Mutscher and McGinty could not be reached for comment.

Western officials said Wednesday the railroad built and owns the town, but now wants to get out of the community business in Gerlach which has 18 commercial lots and business establishments and 111 lots of dwellings.

Don Brown, president of Land Corp. of Nevada, said his Reno-based firm is considering buying the town, but hasn't come to any figure with the railroad.

Shape Up Or...

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 15 years has suddenly decided that marriage is a "trap," and he wants out. He wants his own apartment so he can come and go as he pleases. (Not divorced, mind you, he just wants to be free to do as he pleases.)

A wise friend suggested a cheaper way. Give him the spare bedroom and let him do as he pleases. The idea appealed to my husband, and that is what he is doing now.

This friend told me to let my husband have his flings and have a ball, and in time he will get tired of it and come back to me. In the meantime I should be pleasant and uncomplaining, and be a good mother to our two teen-agers.

My problem: How can I endure the pain of seeing him come and go as he pleases? Can you give me a few pointers on how to put up with this when my heart is aching? LONELY.

DEAR LONELY: Your friend sounds like she has shredded wheat where her brains should be. You have given up your role as a wife to become the "mother" of a teen-ager who has just discovered the opposite sex.

What are you getting out of this arrangement? The privilege of keeping your husband's room clean, and washing his underwear? What if his "flings" last until he is 80? And in the meantime, what kind of example is he setting for his children.

Tell your husband we all make mistakes, and you made

DEAR ABBY: We had a company for dinner, and served one of the guests a cocktail in a glass which had a crack in it. She said, "Oh, dear me!" Then she went into the kitchen and poured the drink down the sink, and asked for a "good" glass.

I told her there was nothing wrong with that glass, and she said, "Well, if a glass has a crack in it, there are probably germs in the crack, and I wouldn't want to drink from a glass with germs in it."

I asked her how germs could possibly survive the heat of an electric dishwasher, and she said, "I'm no scientist, but I don't want to take any chances."

EMBARRASSED HOSTESS: DEAR EMBARRASSED: The chance for germs surviving the heat of an electric dishwasher are practically nonexistent. And so were your guest's manners.

It's a good policy, however, to toss out cracked glasses. And that goes for cracked dishes, too.

DEAR ABBY: "BUGGED," the office employe who resented having to "kitty in" for an expensive Christmas gift for the Big Boss who had everything he needed or wanted, prompts this letter.

I also resented being asked to kitty in for a Christmas gift for the boss, and here is how I handled it: I faced up to the fact that I could refuse if I was big enough and willing to accept the consequences, whatever they might be. So when the committee approached me, I simply said, "Don't include me in the group gift. I prefer to do my giving on an individual basis."

I gave the boss a box of home-made Christmas cookies, which went over so well that the next November he started to tell me how much he liked last year's Christmas cookies!

Check On Him

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband (49) has always been in good health, eats like a buffalo, sleeps like a lamb except when he has overeaten or drunk too much coffee.

One of his co-workers is a health nut and talked my husband into going to a doctor in a neighboring state who is supposed to be a nutritionist.

He has no receptionist and no secretary, and holds appointments at unheard-of hours. My husband's appointment—he took our 17-year-old son, too—was at 4 a.m.

They had their physicals and were both found in very good physical condition, but the doctor gave them a list of vitamins to take as long as your arm. The next day they headed for the nearest health food store and bought all the vitamins the doctor told them to get. It came to over $134.

Both my husband and son take over 50 vitamin pills a day. They were told to cut out sweets but neither did.

Now maybe I need a doctor, but I think this is the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of—is there any way I can check to see if this doctor is for real? —Mrs. S.A.

You don't need a doctor but those three nuts could exercise a little more common sense. (I presume that the "doctor" is doing very well, financially, with his 4 a.m. customers.)

You might ask your regular physician (if you have one) to check to see what credentials, if any, the "doctor" possesses. Or you could ask your county medical society if it has any record of him. Not that it is likely to do any good with folks who will embark on such a quest for "health" in pill form.

You might ask the Better Business Bureau if it has any pertinent information, too.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am enclosing 20 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet on emphysema. I have emphysema but was not given any information and don't even know what to expect.—R.O.

Emphysema is a loss of elasticity in the lungs, which means an inability to exhale as fully as you used to, and consequently an inability to inhale as much.

I would presume, since you weren't given further information, that yours is not a severe case.

There is no cure for emphysema, so the point is to keep a mild case from getting worse. The prime rule is not to smoke. That goes for every case of emphysema.

If a case becomes more severe, other measures are required: medication to keep the airways fully open; instruction in exercises to promote full breathing; sometimes positive pressure equipment (to help the patient breathe); sometimes occasional use of oxygen.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read that vitamin B injections and all vitamins should never be given to diabetics. Is this true? What are the side effects if any? —Mrs. P.B.

No, that is not true. Of course, vitamins won't cure or control diabetes. As a matter of fact, vitamin B-12 is commonly used for diabetic neuritis, and the B-complex vitamins are frequently given, too.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease—How to Avoid It: How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use your envelope).

CENTERS ON SECURITY COUNCIL

FBI Probes Info Leaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI investigation into the latest leaks of highly classified information to newsmen is centered on the National Security Council headed by presidential adviser Henry Kissinger, administration sources say.

The FBI was ordered into the case last week when columnist Jack Anderson began publishing what he said were verbatim notes of high-level White House conferences and meetings involving American policy decisions in the India-Pakistan war and the Middle East situation.

The White House has never acknowledged the Anderson reports but there never has been a denial of their contents and officials are known to be seriously concerned about the disclosure.

The FBI, which will not comment on ongoing investigations, is said by the sources to have checked the departments of State and Defense last week and found no evidence the leaks to Anderson came from either agency.

When asked if this left the investigation in the National Security Council, the sources said yes, but they would not say if the search has narrowed to any particular person.

There has been no use of lie detectors, some officials say, and the investigation at State and the Pentagon was far more routine than in earlier incidents.

In the last reported FBI search last summer, lie-detector tests were given several officials, including four in the State Department, in trying to determine the source of a published story dealing with U.S. Soviet arms-limitation talks.

It was learned subsequently that State and Defense were cleared in that incident and the leak was traced to the National Security Council.

In his columns Anderson has released some of the contents of notes taken of meetings involving Kissinger, high State Department officials and other important government officials.

These indicated among other things that Kissinger described President Nixon as concerned the administration had not taken a hard-enough position against India's role in the with Pakistan. The notes, according to Anderson, reported meetings in early December when the public administration policy was described by Kissinger as not being anti-India or pro-Pakistan.

Anderson says he has not used any material that would compromise national security and released the material to show real administration views as well as misuse of the classification system.

Sharpstown Four Plead Not Guilty

HOUSTON (AP) — Four men indicted in connection with the collapse of Frank W. Sharp's Sharpstown State Bank pleaded innocent here to a multi-count indictment.

Entering pleas were Douglas N. Lane, 34, Carl Lundquist, 34, and Herman Nelms, 27, all former vice presidents of the defunct bank, and Charles L. Henke, 30, a Houston real estate man.

Lane, Lundquist and Henke were indicted for alleged misapplication of bank funds, making false bank entries and conspiring to perform such acts.

Nelms and Lane in a separate indictment were alleged to have offered a loan or gratuity to a bank examiner.

Pleadings on a massive 230 count indictment which also cites former bank president Joe P. Novotny, 32, and former Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. examiner John T. Knight, 37, along with Lane, Nelms and Henke were postponed Tuesday until Jan. 24.

All of the misapplication and false entry counts can carry penalties upon conviction of up to five years in prison and $5,000 fines. Conspiracy penalties can cost up to five years and $10,000.

Arrest Three Slay Suspects

HOUSTON (AP) — Officers in Jefferson County, Kentucky, have arrested three young men as suspects in the slaying of a Houston man, homicide detective J. P. Paulk reported.

He said they were held without immediate charge in the death of Hubert J. Langley, 64, who was found strangled in his home here last Sunday.

Paulk said Kentucky officers told him they spotted the three, all from Houston and in their early 20s, in a car which apparently belonged to Langley and carrying identification papers of the dead man.

The trio also had a pistol owned by Langley and one was wearing a gold watch with the slain man's initials inside the case, the Houston officer said.

Langley, who once was married to the widow of the late Houston millionaire Jim "Silver Dollar" West, apparently was killed Dec. 30 or 31, detectives said.

Faces Federal Piracy Charges

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — A 39-year-old man faces federal piracy charges here today after being arrested for taking a Texas-based shrimp boat from its owner.

FBI agents in Jackson said Thomas Joe McClenik was arrested Tuesday in Pascagoula for taking the 41-foot "Sea Hunter" from its Brownsville, Tex., port. Officers said McClenik was working as a fisherman for the boat's owner at the time.

He was charged with "feloniously carrying away the vessel."

U. S. Magistrate William Rainey ordered him held under a $20,000 surety bond.

Cross Costs GI Months Of Freedom

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A small silver cross has cost an Alabama soldier four months of freedom.

Pvt. James Stephen Cleghorn, 22, of Huntsville, Ala., was convicted Wednesday of disobeying orders against wearing the cross on a chain around his neck outside his uniform.

Cleghorn listened calmly as the verdict was read. With a salute and a shy smile, he returned to his seat and kissed the cross, which he wore throughout the daylong trial.

A former University of Dallas student, Cleghorn said he wears the cross over his uniform as a form of "conscientious resistance." He said his conviction was "the price of speaking for peace."

The boyish-looking soldier was sentenced to four months' confinement and forfeiture of a total of $768. He could have been assessed a six-month term. His sentence is subject to review by higher Army authorities.

Cleghorn was convicted by a court-martial panel of five officers at Ft. Sam Houston, where he is stationed.

He testified the Army recently granted him conscientious objector status and he also has received approval for an honorable discharge. The court-martial delayed his release.

Cleghorn told newsmen the cross was given him by a Catholic Christian community in Dallas, whose members all wear it.

"In my life it represents everything I believe in, everything that I am," he said in a prepared statement.

He also declared, "If some men receive medals for performing numerous bombing runs while another man is punished for wearing a cross, we must ask what are the values we hold."

He said he once had considered becoming a priest.

Cleghorn was acquitted of a charge of disobeying an order from a commissioned officer but convicted on two other counts—disobeying a non-commissioned officer and violating Army dress regulations.

The military judge, Maj. Robert Byers, vacated the latter count, ruling on an earlier defense motion that the multiplicity of charges grew out of the same offense.

Texas Banks Report Big Year-End Deposit Totals

By The Associated Press

Year-end bank deposits recorded throughout Texas for 1971 were such that Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid would probably sit up and take note.

Only in a few spots did banks fail to report record deposits in their institutions from over a year ago, which also was a record.

Banking authorities had made a routine call for banks to divulge their deposits as of Dec. 31, 1971.

Some of the reports: Harris County (Houston) $6,883,963,892, compared with $5,971,725,874 a year ago.

Dallas County $6,844,649,491 and $5,742,905,216.

Tarrant County (Fort Worth) $1,930,178,538 and $1,724,872,699.

Travis County (Austin) $968,700,000 and $767,600,000.

Taylor County (Abilene) $236,954,911 and $214,130,998.

Waco $326,000,000 and $305,600,000.

Kerrville $48,817,000 and $40,613,174.

Cooke County Gainesville $42,126,664 and $35,821,844.

Victoria $217,727,328 and $191,461,893.

Palestine $42,965,175 and $36,046,411.

Midland $306,028,238 and $282,186,594.

TO WIND SPEED Table Shows Body Reaction

This chart, originally developed by the U.S. Army, explains how wind speeds affect the actual temperature a human body feels.

To read the chart simply find out the temperature and the wind speed. Follow the wind velocity column downward until it intersects the temperature column and that is the "chill factor temperature."

To estimate the wind, if you just feel wind on your face, it is about 10 m.p.h.; at 20 m.p.h. small branches move, dust or snow is raised; at 30 m.p.h. large branches move, wires whistle; and at 40 m.p.h., whole trees move.

Temp.	10	20	30	40
+50	40	32	28	26
+30	18	4	-2	-6
+20	4	-10	-18	-21
+10	-9	-25	-33	-37
0	-21	-30	-48	-53
-10	-33	-53	-63	-69
-20	-46	-67	-79	-85

Burleson Pushing Mills Candidacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texas congressmen attended Sen. Edmund Muskie's news conference Wednesday—one as a committed campaign worker, the other lending only moral support.

The occasion was the Maine senator's first Washington meeting with reporters after announcing his candidacy for president Tuesday.

"I'm all out for Ed," said Rep. Bob Casey, a Houston Democrat who has been an across-the-street neighbor of Muskie's since they came to Washington 13 years ago.

Rep. Jim Wright, a Fort Worth Democrat who was a stalwart campaigner in 1968 for the Hubert Humphrey-Muskie ticket, said he's uncommitted at this point but came to give Muskie moral support because he realized few congressmen were in town.

Wright, who's using the recess to update his book on the job of a congressman, said he thought Muskie did an excellent job of responding to the questions "and handled himself exceptionally well."

Wright has said recently he thinks Humphrey, Muskie or Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington could carry Texas.

Casey and Muskie came to Congress in 1959 and within months had chosen two-story houses on the outskirts of Washington large enough to accommodate their sizable families; Muskie has five children and Casey 10.

Rep. Omar Burleson, a conservative Anson Democrat, has been pushing the candidacy of Ways and Means Chairman Wilber D. Mills of Arkansas, but most others have been silent on their preferences.

Texas Dope Addicts Feed Habit By Staging Crimes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — More than half of the drug offenders confined in the Texas prison system have been involved in other crimes, according to a report from Gov. Preston Smith's Criminal Justice Council.

The 1,936 inmates serving time for drug-related offenses had been found guilty of 1,935 other crimes. They had been committed to jail or prison for offenses ranging from prostitution to murder.

Burglary, felony theft and robbery—the types of property crimes frequently resorted to by addicts to support their habit—were the most common. Such offenses numbered 569 and accounted for 29.81 per cent of the total number of commitments, including those for drug offenses.

Sixty commitments were for forgery, 32 for assault with intent to murder and 20 for murder, 18 for breaking and entering a motor vehicle and 8 for rape.

The information, compiled by the Department of Corrections, Division of Research from computer records, includes all drug offenders in prison on Aug. 21, 1971.

The 1,936 drug offenders comprised 12.4 per cent of the total prison population of 15,600, a 1:8 ratio.

Women made up 3.5 per cent of the total inmate population, but 22.6 per cent of the women were in prison because of drug offenses.

According to the report, the typical drug offender is a 29-year-old Caucasian male serving either a 5-year or a 10-year sentence, and he is most likely from Harris County or Dallas County.

He is of near-average intelligence, has had slightly more than seven years of schooling and is in good physical condition.

More than 60 per cent have had no military service. Thirty-five per cent claimed to be Roman Catholic, a like percentage Baptist.

About 86 per cent had some kind of occupational qualification. Mean intelligence quotient was 92.

Bexar County had 218 of the group, Travis 151, Tarrant 80, Galveston 35, Nueces 32, Jefferson 31, Bell 20, El Paso 18, Denton 17, Midland 15, Ector 14, Potter 12, Lubbock 10.

Special Senate Panel Mulls School Financing

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes scheduled a 2 p.m. hearing today of a special Senate committee studying public school financing.

Barnes named as special advisers to the committee Johnny Clark Jr. of Baytown, Bill Stewart of Lufkin, C.B. Barbee of Bronte, Jay Perry of Floresville and George Coer of Houston.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas heads the interim committee or urban education, which also includes Sen. Jim Wallace of Houston, A.M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, W.E. Snelson of Midland, Charles Herring of Austin and four members of the public school finance subcommittee.

Barnes also instructed a three-member Senate committee studying rising costs of education to serve on the advisory panel to the Mauzy committee.

Another Senate on occupational education should be helpful, Barnes said.

Speaker Gus Mutscher said he planned to appoint a committee of House members and "selected members of the public" to study public school financing.

The committees must deal with a San Antonio federal court ruling Christmas Eve that financing public schools with local property taxes is unconstitutional.

BEGINNING AIR CONDITIONING AND REFRIGERATION and ADVANCED AIR CONDITIONING AND REFRIGERATION will be offered at HCJC on Tuesday—Thursday nights starting Jan. 11, taught by John Freeman and Walter Alexander. Call 267-6311, ext. 70 for further information.
