MAIL GOES WEST

It's Becoming Harder To Get BS Post Mark

Area Mail Processing is scheduled to go into effect Jan. 29 for Big Spring and area, which will result in the majority of local city mail going to Midland before delivery in the city.

The program was announced today by Carl C. Ulsaker, Regional Postmaster General, Southern Postal Region.

"The program is intended to speed the ultimate delivery of the mail and to gain maximum efficiency and economy through full utilization of Midland's mechanized post office," said Ulsaker.

Midland has an automatic canceling machine capable of facing and canceling 30,000 letters per hour. The facer-canceler works in conjunction with mechanized edger-stacker systems for letter mail.

CONSOLIDATION

Area Mail Processing is a plan whereby first class mail originating within a Sectional Center Facility area, including the associate offices of the Sectional Center, will be consolidated at the Center Facility, which is the Midland post office, for complete preparation and processing for outgoing dispatch.

Frank Hardesty, local postmaster, announced today that with the initiation of the program, all mail, including local, collected on the routes by mailmen will be massed and sent to Midland that evening for processing. Hardesty assured, however, that the mail will receive next day delivery.

The plan contemplates that originating mail from all associate offices of the section center be collected and consolidated at the originating associate office, and without further preparation be dispatched to the section center office for canceling, facing, canceling, and distribution preparatory to dispatch.

Hardesty said, however, the local post office will try to cooperate with those citizens wishing their local mail to have a Big Spring postmark.

BOXES SET UP

Three drop boxes will be set up so that all local mail deposited in those boxes will be worked in Big Spring before mailing.

The drop boxes will be situated, one inside the post office, one outside and one behind the county library.

All mail deposited in a designated drop unit at the post office or a letter box designated for local delivery will be postmarked at the local office of origin. And all metered mail will bear the postmark of the office of origin.

Ulsaker urged that customers no longer use the word "City" as an address in place of the name of the city of destination. "Obviously," he added, "in the new system, a letter with just 'City' could lose its identity."

Hardesty pointed out that the reason for the new program is because it is easier and less expensive to work mail by machinery rather than by hand, as it is presently worked at the local office.

BANDITS ESCAPE WITH TI PAYROLL

VILLENEUVE LOUBET, France (AP) — Two armed men held up a branch of the Texas Instruments Co. here today and escaped with the weekly payroll of $121,195.

The men entered the building as a bank employee prepared to distribute the 1,200 pay envelopes, ordered him to put up his hands, stuffed the envelopes into a shopping bag and fled.

MAYOR BLAMES BLACK MUSLIMS

Four Slain In Gunfight

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Mayor W. W. Dumas blames Black Muslims in part for a street gunfight between law enforcement officers and blacks which left four men dead. Seven young Muslims deny their organization was involved. A spokesman for the NAACP

FOUND IN FREEZER — The body of Grace Evelyn Todd, 34, was found Monday night in a deep freezer in a townhouse in northwest Toronto. Police said the body had been frozen for at least six months. The body was found by four teenagers who lived in the townhouse. Police later charged a 38-year-old truck driver David Todd, the woman's husband, with non-capital murder.

says he isn't sure who was involved in the shooting which erupted Monday after police moved in to clear a city street of an impromptu rally at which militants were calling for improved conditions in the city's black community.

SUICIDE PLOT

Gov. John McKeithen blamed the burst of gunfire on a downtown street two miles from Louisiana's capitol on "outsiders."

And Sheriff's Detective Capt. Bryan Clemmons Jr. says "some sort of suicide plot" might have been involved in the shootout which took the lives of two deputies and two blacks.

Twenty blacks were arrested and charged with disturbing the peace after the afternoon shootout and eight of the 20 were later charged with murder in the deaths of the two deputies.

Some 25 persons were treated for injuries, including Baton Rouge Police Chief Eddie Bauer.

BARS CLOSED

Four hundred National Guard troops were called to duty to bolster local and state police in enforcing a dusk to dawn curfew. Bars and grocery stores were ordered closed.

"We have every reason to believe this is a national movement by the Muslims," Dumas said. "The information we get is that this isn't just local."

McKeithen said the city was aware of what he called the outsiders.

"Mayor Dumas called me Monday morning and warned me there could be trouble," McKeithen said, "but he thought they would come to City Hall and talk to him."

NOT NAMED

The seven young men who disclaimed Muslim involvement did so in a statement handed to newsmen after the shooting. These seven, not involved in the shooting, said they were members of the Black Muslim movement in Baton Rouge. They were not identified.

They said the blacks who fought with police apparently were renegades who called themselves Muslims.

Harvey Britton, field director of the Louisiana NAACP, said, "We don't know that there are Black Muslims involved. Or if it is an out-of-town or fractional group. We don't know if it was the Muslims or the NAACP or anyone else."

In speaking of a possible suicide plot, Clemmons said:

"From what we get on the streets, they told people to bring your friends to a meeting Monday and they told them to tell a policeman and you'll see something you've never seen before. So we don't know."

When police arrived at the scene of the rally which had drawn some 100 persons, Bauer said, a group of 18 blacks stood shoulder to shoulder in front of a wall of cars blocking the street.

"They were lined up like a little bunch of tin soldiers, like they wanted us to come up and talk to them," Clemmons said.

"Something was said that they wanted to talk and that's when Maj. Fred Dummigan and Maj. Fred Sloman went up to talk to them. It wasn't but a second when they were jumped," he said.

"There was a lot of struggling and then this one black pulled a gun and there was some gunfire ... and police fired. Then there was more shooting."

OPENED FIRE

Henry Baptiste, a black cameraman for television station WBRZ, said "five or six blacks" fired from between buildings and from alleys with pistols and shotguns.

The blacks opened fire, Baptiste said, when police arrived to move the cars barricading the streets.

SICKLE SLAYINGS TRIAL UNDER WAY

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Jurors were to return today to Superior Court to hear opening arguments in the trial of a man charged with the sickle slayings of two campers and wounding of two others.

The jurors — seven women and five men — were sworn in Monday during the first day of the trial of Clarence Otis Smith, 44, charged with the July 12 attack at a Bear River campground.

Witnesses have said the killer entered tents at the Dog Bar camp, swinging a sickle and "grinning, laughing and growling like an animal."

John Simmons, 29, of Weimar, Calif., and Donna Fitzhugh, 28, of Ontario, Calif., were killed. Kenneth Garbe and Martha Marie Parker survived the attack and are expected to testify in the trial.

Smith has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the two murder counts and two assault charges.

$4.3 Million Grab Reported

NEW YORK (AP) — FBI agents, police and truant officers today hunted a sticky-fingered, sneaker-shod boy thief who snatched an envelope containing $4.3 million in negotiable securities from a Wall Street messenger.

The boy, described as about 14, made the grab at a crowded street corner in the financial district Monday morning and escaped in a waiting car driven by a man.

North Vietnamese Batter Laotian Units With Shells

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's dry season offensive has scored major gains in both northern and southern Laos, sources in Vientiane reported today.

Ten Laotian battalions retreated today from the village of Ban Nhek, in the south after a two-hour battle that broke an enemy siege, but the retreat left the entire Bolovens plateau to the North Vietnamese.

In the north, Laotian troops were driven from Phou Cum, 25 miles north of the Plain of Jars, and Sam Thon, southwest of the plain, while the North Vietnamese kept up their pressure on Long Cheng, the former U.S. Central Intelligence Agency base.

BREAK OUT

The Laotian troops broke out of Ban Nhek, about 17 miles east of Pakse, after other army units launched a diversionary operation. About 200 Laotian soldiers were killed, wounded or missing, informed sources said.

North Vietnamese casualties were not reported.

The North Vietnamese outflanked the Laotians Sunday night and pounded them with artillery and mortar shells, firing more than 1,000 rounds in one 5 1/2-hour period Monday. The source said the North Vietnamese used "hugging tactics," sticking so close to the village that U.S. and Laotian air strikes could not hit the North Vietnamese without causing casualties to the Laotians.

The loss of Phou Cum on the northern front left Bouam Long, 15 miles to the southeast, the only government outpost north of the Plain of Jars.

GROUND WAR

Field reports said government forces abandoned Phou Cum after an artillery and ground attack, and an estimated 3,000 to 4,000 civilians began a 50-mile trek through enemy-controlled mountains to reach the nearest government territory.

Sam Thong, once a major refugee center, was abandoned Monday afternoon after a heavy artillery barrage, but Thai troops continued to hold Fire Base Thunder two miles to the east, sources in Vientiane said.

Military sources said Sam

Thong was attacked from the west and this indicated the North Vietnamese were trying to encircle Long Cheng, six miles to the southwest.

HANGING ON

Semiofficial sources in the Laotian capital said Long Cheng technically has not fallen to the enemy but is no longer serving its original functions as a base for CIA operations and for Gen. Vang Pao's army of Meo tribesmen.

Raid Villages In Retaliation

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli troops crossed the Lebanese border Monday night and attacked two villages in retaliation for a recent increase in attacks by Arab guerrillas from southern Lebanon.

The Israeli command said two Israeli soldiers and an undetermined number of Arab guerrillas were killed and one Israeli was wounded.

The Israelis said they blew up four buildings used as bases by the guerrillas.

It was the first raid into Lebanon that Israel has admitted since last Feb. 1. The guerrillas have accused the Israelis of making repeated attacks across the border.

The Israeli announcement said the attacks were made against terrorist bases in the villages of Bennet Jbail and Kfar Haman.

Bennet Jbail is 2 1/2 miles north of the border and about 17 miles east of the Mediterranean, while Kfar Haman is three miles north of the ceasefire line running along Mt. Hermon.

Several Israeli farm settlements along the border have been the target of rockets from Lebanon since the beginning of the year. On Jan. 6, guerrillas killed and decapitated an Israeli engineer driving on a road in the occupied Golan Heights.

Three days later the mountain town of Safad came under fire for the first time since the 1948 Palestine war. The Israelis later killed three Arab infiltrators they said were responsible for the attack.

Completions Reported

Two completions had been reported in Martin County in the Spraberry Trend area, and Mustang Draw.

Adobe Oil Co., of Midland, No. 1-A Sawyer, was completed to flow an initial potential of 220 barrels of oil daily through 16.64-inch choke, at total depth of 8,850 feet.

Gravity of the oil was 39.8, and the gas-oil ratio was 800-1.

Also a completion in the field) was announced at Com-Mustang Draw, (Devonian) tentential Oil Co. No. 2-147 University, 1,960 feet from north and west lines of Section 14, Block 7, University Landis Survey, and 15 miles northwest of Tarzan.

Initial potential flow of the well was 482 barrels daily, through an 8.64-inch choke, at a total depth of 12,323 feet. Gravity of the oil was 45.2, and the gas-oil ratio was 27-1. It is a second and one location north extension.

Hite Handed Sentence

George Lewis Hite, charged with the July 10, 1969 robbery of a Stanton service station, pleaded guilty Monday in the Martin County Courtroom to a charge of robbery by assault and was sentenced to 25 years in prison.

The 1969 robbery resulted in the death of Marcos Tarango, 47, service station attendant.

Prior to entering the plea of guilty before 118th District Judge R. W. Caton, a Martin County juror ruled that Hite's sanity had been restored and he was fit to stand trial. Hite had been ruled insane by a previous jury and had undergone psychiatric treatment.

Three other persons are currently serving prison terms in connection with their roles in the robbery. Steve Blanchard is enduring a life sentence; Donald Smith is serving a 35-year sentence; and his wife, Wilma, is serving 10 years in prison.

Firemen Battle Pasture Fire

Grassfire destroyed approximately 640 acres of grassland Monday on land adjacent to the railroad near the I.S. 20 and Lomax Road cutoff west of Big Spring. Central fire units battled the fire for approximately three hours before it was extinguished.

First report of the fire came at 2:55 p.m., and a unit from the county barn was dispatched. The unit left the scene, and the fire broke out again at 4:20 p.m., and the county unit was again dispatched.

At 4:50 p.m., another fire unit and an additional water truck were summoned. The fire was reported under control at 5:20 p.m.

No one was injured as a result of the blaze, and no livestock could be found on the land. According to information from the county sheriff's office, the land had been used to pasture horses in the past, but appeared to be unused presently.

IN FIVE YEARS Some Forms Of Cancer Might Be Conquered

HOUSTON (AP) — Some forms of cancer may be conquered within five years but total eradication of the disease may be a dream for several more generations, the director of the National Cancer Institute said here Monday.

Dr. Carl Baker spoke at a news conference during the two-day meeting of 35 top American administrators of cancer-fighting institutes. The participants are members of the American Association of Cancer Institutes, a 10-year-old organization that has 20 member centers.

Dr. Baker speculated that rapidly growing malignancies like leukemias and lymphomas will be brought under control in five years. But he said because cancer is a group of well over 100 diseases with varying causes and control programs it will take long time to seek solutions for them all.

Purpose of the meeting here is to discuss the recent $1.6 billion federal legislation which President Nixon signed Dec. 23.

Dr. Baker and Dr. R. Lee Clark, president of the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, which is hosting the meeting, spoke at the news conference.

Both men agreed that cancers of the large bowel, lung, breast, bladder, prostate, cervix, stomach, pancreas, kidney and the whole group of leukemias and lymphomas are primary targets.

"Of course these cancers kill a lot of people and we ought to concentrate on the biggest killers," Dr. Baker said. "But we also have asked where is the state of the art in dealing with these types and what are the expected payoffs if we devote our monies here."

During the two-day meeting, which opened Monday, the men who largely control the cancer research and treatment money will discuss plans for 15 new centers to be created by the new legislation.

Both Dr. Baker and Clark said it would be premature to say where the new centers would be located. They will be selected in a round of competitive applications and based on geographic need for such complexes, they said.

Dr. Clark said he is especially enthusiastic about a provision in the cancer legislation to establish an international cancer research data bank where all facets of cancer work could be channeled, evaluated and quickly disseminated.

Center Schedules Evening Course

Permian Basin Graduate Center has scheduled a graduate-level course EDCI 5323-Audio Visual Education for Texas Tech University, which will meet on Monday evenings from 6-9 at Odessa College. Instructor for the course will be Dr. Fred Teague. Fee for the course is $150.

Registration may be made at the Graduate Center office, 105 Gulf Building, Midland, before Jan. 14.

Attorney General Ruling Sought On Local Issue

Ten days to two weeks may lapse before county commissioners take any action on the proposed recession of the May 11, 1970, commissioners court motion which created the Howard County Hospital Authority, which encompasses Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

County Attorney Bill Eysen has applied to the state attorney general for an opinion on the matter before advising the commission on possible action. Eysen will be assisted by both opponents and proponents of the authority in drafting the opinion application to the attorney general.

John Ferguson, attorney who submitted a legal brief stating that the present commissioners court did not have the authority to rescind or amend action taken by a previous court, took part in the drafting.

CHALLENGE
 George T. Thomas, attorney and spokesman along with City Commissioner Jack Watkins of the group opposing the authority, contended that the hospital authority had been created illegally and therefore, a successive court has the right to rescind illegal action of a prior court at any time.

Watkins and Thomas allege that the hospital authority proposal was acted on in violation of the 1967 Texas Open Meetings law which calls for public notice of all action to take place in any governmental agency meeting to be posted three days prior to the meeting. Watkins and Thomas are claiming that this was not complied with and that discussion of the hospital authority was never placed on a public agenda prior to its enactment.

Opposition to the hospital authority is based on the tax-exempt status it affords Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

Board members of the Medical Center Memorial Hospital Foundation applied to the commission for the creation of the hospital authority to enable the hospital to raise matching funds to $1 million Hill-Burton grant for expansion of the hospital. To receive the grant, the hospital had to put up matching funds.

The tax-exempt status of the authority enables the hospital to sell revenue bonds to raise the matching funds at a more advantageous rate with more return on the investment.

ADDED FUNDS
 In addition to the Hill-Burton grant, the hospital received a $50,000 Moody Foundation Grant on the contingency that all money be used for the enlargement and improvement of the hospital.

Opposition to the hospital authority was first voiced last Tuesday when the hospital applied to the planning and zoning board in order to expand its facilities. Hospital facilities currently encompass a one-block area from 8th to 9th streets, and proposed additions would enlarge the hospital to a two-block facility encompassing 7th through 9th streets.

Watkins at that time expressed opposition to the hospital's tax-exempt status Wednesday, he requested to see county commissioners court minutes concerning the creation of the district and also the file of agendas of each commissioners court meeting.

According to Watkins, the minutes of May 11, 1970, state that after careful investigation into the need of Howard County for such a hospital authority, the commission agreed to the authority for the betterment of Howard County medical facilities.

Watkins contends that nowhere in the minutes from preceding and following meetings is there any proof of any investigation requested or a report of findings to the commissioners court. He has stated that he failed to find any posting of the authority proposal on any court agendas. Authority officials say a detailed report on findings of a hospital consultant was presented.

CRMWD Holds Line On Rates

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District today increased the amount of revenue transferred from sources other than sale of member cities in order to hold the line on water rates to the cities.

As a result, fixed charges to the cities will be comparable to the past year.

Under the schedule adopted by the board, the monthly fixed charges for Odessa will be $86,007, for Big Spring $36,363, Snyder $10,526. Had not the board applied $1,750,000 revenue other than sale to the cities, the charge would have been Odessa $141,986, per month, Big Spring $69,715, and Snyder $21,041.

Last year's fixed charges, when the district board applied $1,400,000 other revenues, were $88,996 for Odessa, $36,309 for Big Spring, and $10,948 for Snyder. Without the modification the rates would have been Odessa $135,093, Big Spring $62,477, Snyder $19,511.

The actual rate per thousand gallons results from the fixed charge plus six cents per thousand gallons for all water received. In Odessa's case this amounted to 30.90 cents in 1971, whereas the same volume of water would come out to 30.60 cents this year; for Big Spring the actual rate was 23.05 in 1971 and is calculated on the same volume at 23.08; The Snyder actual rate was 22.30 and will come out to 21.67 on the calculated rate for the same amount this year.

The source of the $1,750,000 which directors applied to modify the rates was as follows: $1,334,967 from all companies, $256,000 from other municipalities and miscellaneous sales, $200,000 anticipated interest earned on indentured trust funds.

This, however, does not quite provide the required coverage under the indenture, to the board voted to transfer $265,000 from construction funds to this reserve. This will leave about the same balance in the construction funds.

Nixon Play Is Super Project

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Don Shula guarantees it will be used. Tom Landry figured it would be. Paul Warfield is playing coy about it. Mel Renfro knows he will have to stop it.

Everybody on the Super Bowl teams is talking about it — except Duane Thomas, who isn't talking to or about anything.

What is it?

It's the President's Play. The President's Play is the maneuver President Nixon has suggested that Shula have his Miami Dolphins use in Sunday's Super Bowl game against Landry's Dallas Cowboys — Griese to Warfield.

It hit everyone with about as much surprise as the President's announcement that he would run for re-election since the down-and-in-a maneuver in which Warfield streaks down the left sideline and then veers toward the middle of the field — is used frequently by the Dolphins.

Shula was even willing to take a Joe Namath-like stance and guarantee that Nixon will see it.

"I can guarantee you'll see the play," said Shula. "It's one of our favorites."

That didn't exactly come as a major surprise to Landry, who apparently will have to go into the game without presidential assistance.

"He," said Landry, speaking of Nixon, "picked a play we have a good chance of seeing run — there's a distinct possibility it'll be used."

Shula may guarantee and Landry may anticipate it, but the focal point will be the individual battle between Warfield trying to catch it and Renfro trying to stop it.

And right now Warfield apparently is trying to get a psychological edge — which might help more than Nixon's play-calling.

"I was sort of surprised when he suggested it," Warfield said. "I knew he was a staunch football fan, but to know the exact maneuver ... he's probably seen the play on national television."

"But," said Warfield, throwing in the psychological need for Renfro's edification, "it's not necessarily my best pattern. Just because of the attention doesn't mean I'll go to it or stay away from it."

"If it happens I'll just be thinking of my pattern-making adjustments on my release from the line of scrimmage — to make it successful. Because the President suggested it, doesn't mean there's any additional pressure."

And, then, maybe for Renfro's benefit, he reiterated.

Jim Hess Added To Rams' Staff

SAN ANGELO — Angelo State University's James Cameron has completed his coaching staff with the addition of Jim Hess, formerly of Baytown Sterling.

Hess never had a losing season as a coach. At one time, Hess was a coaching aide at Rice University. He was born in Farmersville.

FORSAN — Three Forsan basketball teams, including the varsity boys and girls, go to Sterling City this evening for district action. The boys' B team starts the competition with a 5 p.m. contest.

Bruins Still Riding Atop AP Cage Poll

After wiping out the state of Oregon, UCLA cleaned up in the college basketball polls.

The Bruins, who trimmed both Oregon State and Oregon over the weekend, continue to ride high, wide and handsome as the nation's No. 1 team today.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters doled out 39 of 41 first-place ballots to UCLA and fattened the Bruins' point margin over runner-up Marquette.

The Bruins, who led the Warriors by 22 points last week, accumulated a 6-point margin this time—816 to 720. Marquette, which defeated No. 4 South Carolina over the weekend, got the other first-place ballots and maintained a strong grip on No. 2.

North Carolina, which walloped Furman last week, remained No. 3 with 630 points while South Carolina stayed No. 4 with 432.

After that, the ranks don't look quite the same as last week.

The Top 20 with first place votes in parentheses, won-lost records through Sunday's games and total points on the basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16 for third, 14 for fourth, 12 for fifth, 10 for sixth, 8 for seventh, 6 for eighth, 4 for ninth, 2 for tenth.

Archer Winner In Links Playoff

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tommy Aarons, who was characterized as thoughtful, soft-spoken, and "it's almost impossible to get George Archer to make a bogey."

Tommy was standing in the fifth fairway while Archer was flailing away in the woods in their 18-hole playoff with Dave Hill for the title in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

He was right.

Archer, a 6-foot-6 former ranch hand from Gilroy, Calif., made a miracle par on the fifth, then clinched it all with a fantastic chip shot that saved par on the 17th hole and went on to a two-stroke victory in the fight for the $25,000 first prize.

Archer shot a five-under-par 66 in the playoff round while Aaron and Hill each had a 68 in the mid, sunny weather that bathed the 6,823-yard Rancho Park Golf Course and the extra-day crowd of about 4,000 who came out to see the three tour-tested veterans.

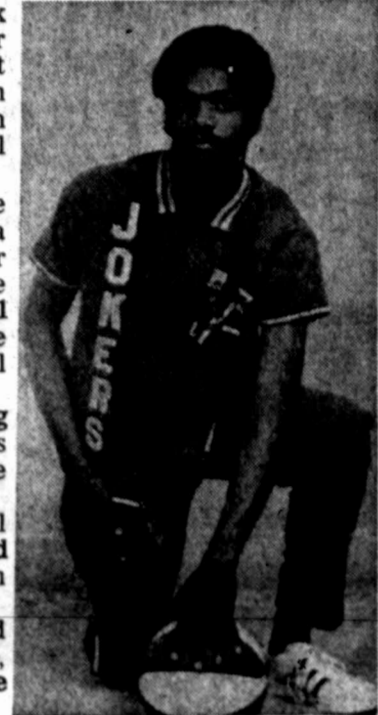

Aaron and Hill, each 34 and each a dozen or more years on the pro tour, took home $11,575 apiece from the total purse of $25,000 in the traditional opening event on the long pro tour—but it was big George all the way.

He and Hill both hid it stiff on the first hole and birdied, but George took the lead when the second hole, and Archer led the rest of the way.

Aaron and Hill each had a shot at him, but Aaron was betrayed by four short putts that wouldn't drop and Dave couldn't keep it all together, finishing with six birdies and three bogies.

The former Masters champion, who had six birdies, pointed to two tough pars as the keys.

The fifth was one, where he hit a terrible drive, had to play his second down an adjacent fairway, then had 160 yards for a third shot. He hit it 15 feet from the pin and rolled in the putt for a par 4.

Famed Harlem Jokers Vie With Coaches Thursday

The Big Spring Quarterback Club, seeking to raise funds for the annual All-Sports Banquet in the spring, will sponsor an appearance of the Harlem Jokers in the high school gymnasium Tuesday night.

A team of coaches will oppose the touring comedians in a game scheduled to get underway at 8 o'clock. Advance tickets can be purchased for $1 (student) and $1.50 (adult). The asking price at the gate will be $1.50 and $2.

The Jokers will be working on a guarantee. All proceeds above expenses will go into the banquet fund.

The Harlem team is well known in the area, have amused spectators here in the past with their comedic bent.

The tickets can be purchased at coach Clovis Hale's office, Gibbs and Weeks Men's Store and the Highland Barber Shop.

Among standouts with the Jokers are James Knighten, a 6-6 product from Mississippi Valley College, who is called Jumping Jack for a very good reason; Ken McGhee, 5-7, Bowie State; James (Flash) Whitehead, 6-3, Johnson C. Smith University; 6-3 Howard Rand Jr., who went straight to the touring pros from high school in Gary, Ind.; Gerald Lockett, Arkansas AM&N and

SW Texas Upsets Jackets, 77-75

BROWNWOOD — Southwest Texas State drilled Howard Payne, 77-75, in a Lone Star Conference game here Monday night. The outcome was determined in overtime.

The loss ended a 12-game winning streak for the Yellow Jackets. In five league assignments, Howard Payne is now 4-1.

Thomas Defended By Other Pokes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Cowboy press day before Super Bowl VI. Everybody got the brushoff.

The moody Thomas, who has not spoken to writers and very few teammates since he returned to the club for the fourth game of the season, had no opinion about the Miami Dolphins, the Super Bowl, or the spring-like weather.

"He did wonder at one point. 'What time is it, man?'"

Several Cowboy players made a point of taking up for the besieged Thomas, who at one point moved his lips and had several writers hustle over at a trot to see if he had finally broken his self-imposed silence curtain.

No such luck.

At another point during filming by a television crew, Thomas was asked to move over six inches. He moved.

Flanker Lance Alworth, standing nearby, said, "Hey, Duane, six inches, not eight."

Thomas smiled. His only smile of the day for the record.

Alworth said, "Thomas works hard and has personal pride. You won't find anyone who works any harder. Duane has had his problems, but I believe he is getting them straightened out. I wish I knew what his problems are so I could help him. He's a great athlete."

Thomas was fined for missing practice last week and had a closed-door talk with coach Tom Landry. There was speculation that Thomas might not even play in the Super Bowl. But this was scotched when he showed up for later practices.

Sands JH Wins 37th Straight

KLONDIKE — The Sands Junior High boys rolled to their 37th straight victory here Monday evening, swamping Klondike, 57-17.

Frosty Floyd had 21 points and Keith Gandy 14 for the winners.

Sands also won the girls' game, 29-27. Ann Nichols hitting 18 points for the Colts. In the backcourts, Dale Davidson and Lynn Hopper played well for Sands.

In Pee Wee games, Sands' boys prevailed, 23-11, in a game that saw Martin Nichols tally five points and David Mosley four for the winners. Klondike salvaged the girls' contest, 31-7, as Bradford led the way with 21 points. Susan Martin had six for Sands.

Hawks Host Phillips Five

Fresh from a sweep achieved in the ABC Olympic Classic Tournament here, the Howard County JC Jayhawks host Frank Phillips College of Borger at 7:30 o'clock this evening in their own gym.

Harold Wilder's team is driving closer to that 20-win plateau again. An HCJC season is considered a failure if the Hawks don't win a minimum of 20 games each year.

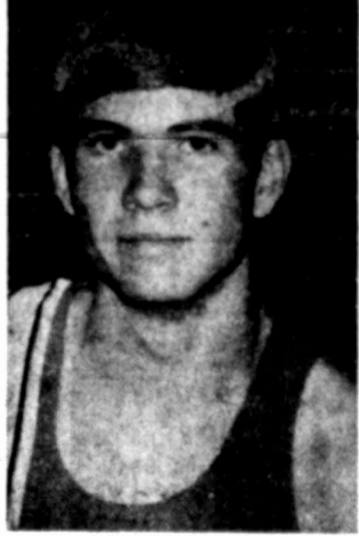

Now 16-4, the Hawks are favored to defeat Frank Phillips and thereby achieve their second Western Conference victory of the year.

HC also plays Saturday night, moving out of the league to test Lubbock Christian College's JVs in Lubbock.

Everytime Archie Myers of HC puts the ball through the hoop, he sets a new scoring record for the school. He now has 649 for the year, which means he is averaging 32.8 on the season. He now has a career total of 1,569, far and away

Steers Seek First Loop Victory Here Tonight

Big Spring plays its first home conference game of the season at 8 o'clock this evening, at which time it tangles with Odessa Permian.

The Longhorns met District 5-AAAA's best on the road in two starts last week and came away second best in each instance.

Ron Plumlee's team tried to run and shoot with Abilene High in its inaugural game last Tuesday night and lost, 114-92. The Steers ventured to Midland Friday evening to exchange thunder bolts with tree-top tall Midland High.

Big Spring played a control-type game all the way in that one but yielded to the Bulldogs, 61-41.

Permian was blown out of the gym by Midland in its opener, 77-66, but came back to measure Abilene High Friday night, 81-70.

Over-all, Permian is a robust 14-3 while Big Spring is 12-8.

Laid Low By Seige, Ex-Buff Due To Rejoin HP Jackets

BROWNWOOD — Two years ago, it was predicted that opponents of Howard Payne College's basketball teams might have trouble keeping up with the Joneses in future seasons.

For it was then that the Jackets signed two recruits from the same general area in West Texas who were cousins and both named Jones.

The two are Tom and David Jones. Yellow Jacket basketball players who have lived up to their billing as standouts on the Baptist court team.

Both Joneses, 6-0 Tom from Crane and 6-3 David of Stanton, started the current game campaign with high hopes of becoming the most potent one-two punch in the records of roundball at HPC.

David, a forward, may have gotten off to a little better start than Tom, a guard, but neither seemed to be performing to potential.

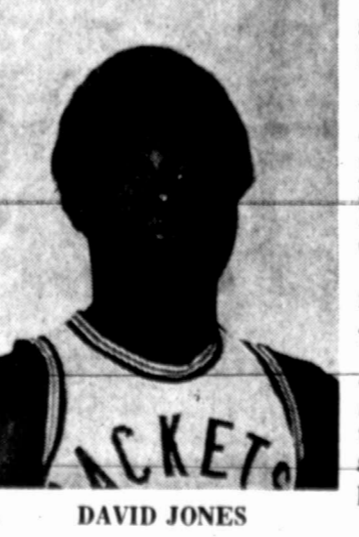

In the early going, Tom was way off his 20.3 ppg average of a year ago when he was named TV Guide first-team little All-America. David also looked a little sluggish at the outset.

About midway through the first of the season, however, the Joneses seemed to come along. David's scoring average climbed to 141 and Tom's average — though still not up to last year's standard — steadily increased to about 14 ppg.

And just when things seemed FORSAN — Forsan's eighth grade girls toppled Coahoma, 33-25, here Monday evening, leaving Coahoma with a 1-4 league record. Over-all, the Bullpups are 5-7.

Becky Snell did practically all the scoring for Coahoma, accounting for 23 points. Letha Strickland had 15 for Forsan.

Coahoma returns to play in Westrook Thursday evening.

In the boys' game, Coahoma edged the Junior Buffs, 26-25, thanks largely to an 11-point output by Paul Bedwell.

The Forsan girls are now 5-0 in league play and 9-3 over-all. The Forsan boys dropped back to 0-5 within the circuit and 5-6 on the year.

Pros Identify Three Basic Building Blocks Of Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Lunar scientists have identified three basic building blocks of the moon and discovered a large region of relatively high radioactivity. Experts reported Monday at the third annual Lunar Science Conference that study of data and rocks gathered on Apollo moon-landing flights disclose these three basic materials from which the moon is constructed: —Iron-rich (basaltic) rock found in the great dry plains on the front side of the moon. Basalt also is a common material found on earth but its chemical composition differs from that on the moon. —Kreep, the mysterious potassium-rich material returned by Apollo astronauts which also is high in such other radioactive elements as uranium, thorium and rare earth metals. This is generally found in the radioactive northwest sector on the front side. —Plagioclase found in most parts of the moon. It is low in radioactivity and high in aluminum, calcium and sodium.

"Now that we have identified these three basic building blocks, we must continue our studies to find how they are related in time and place," reported Dr. Paul W. Gast, chief of planetary and earth sciences at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center. Dr. James Arnold of the University of California at San Diego said the radioactive zone was detected by a gamma-ray experiment operated by astronaut Alfred M. Worden as he orbited the moon alone during the Apollo 15 mission last August. "The radioactivity was detected over a wide area," Arnold said. Arnold said research is under way to determine if the radioactivity is associated with thermal emissions from beneath the surface. He emphasized the dosage is high only in relation to the rest of the moon and that levels are similar to those on earth. Gast said origin of the radioactive kreep rocks "is a crucial clue to the early history of the moon. It's important that we determine when they last crystallized from a liquid." He said experts believe this occurred about four billion years ago, about the time the Mare Imbrium was carved out of the moon by the impact of a giant object from space. This would have been about 500,000 years after the time most lunar scientists believe the moon was created. Dr. James Arnold of the University of California at San Diego reported on the radioactive one detected by a gamma-ray experiment operated by astronaut Alfred M. Worden as he orbited the moon alone on Apollo 15 last August. "The gamma ray spectrometer recorded potassium, uranium and thorium in high concentration in the Western Mare (dry sea) region, on Mare Imbrium and Oceanus Procellarum," he said. "The concentration of radioactivity reached the level of the kreep material found at the Apollo 14 site.

Conoco Employees Study Driving

Continental Oil Company employees in this part of West Texas are going to school to learn about defensive driving. The initial session was held at 12:30 p.m. today in the community building at Forsan, and a second four-hour class will be at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday. Instructor for the course will be Jack White of the Department of Public Safety. The program is part of Conoco's effort to promote safety on highways and streets.

IN QUEEN ELIZABETH FIRE Suspicions Of Sabotage

HONG KONG (AP) — Suspicions of sabotage in the Queen Elizabeth fire mounted today, but Hong Kong's fire chief said he had no evidence to support the speculation. The South China Morning Post said an official of the company that owned the former luxury liner reported the fire broke out simultaneously Sunday in four different locations. The official, W. S. Pau, marine superintendent for shipping magnate, C. Y. Tung's Island Navigation Corp., could not be reached for confirmation of the report, and another company officer, C. S. Wang, denied it. The Elizabeth's last British master, Commodore Geoffrey Marr, said in London on Monday that the flames spread too quickly to have started accidentally. "It must have been sabotage," he said. The Hong Kong fire services chief, Harry Wood, told a news conference he had no evidence to support speculation the fire was started deliberately and he had "no idea where or how the fire started." The fire chief said he was surprised at the intensity of the fire when firemen were called in. But he added that he had never known a big passenger liner to be saved after fire gained a firm hold. The 83,000-ton ship rolled Monday in 50 feet of water near Tsing Yi Island, at the western outskirts of Hong Kong harbor. Approximately half the ship was above the surface, and the fire still burned inside the hull. The Queen Elizabeth was the world's largest passenger liner and the flagship of the Cunard Line until her age and airline competition retired her in 1968. After the failure of attempts to establish her in the United States as a floating hotel and convention center, Tung bought her, renamed her the Seawise University and was converting her into a floating campus for Chapman College of Orange, Calif.

Houston School Board, Barnes Talk Privately HOUSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes met privately with the Houston School Board to talk Monday about problems urban school districts face in financing their activities. Dr. George Oser, a member of the board, called the meeting and invited Barnes to attend. Oser said the board wanted to make Barnes aware of the interest the Houston School district has in developing an equitable finance system for public education. A federal court in San Antonio ruled last month that the Texas Legislature must find a way to finance public schools so that present financial inequities among districts would be eliminated. The court found that public school financing based on local property taxation was unconstitutional. Oser said the board told Barnes the particular problems of urban districts are constraints on expenditures of state money by categories in the state-financed Minimum Foundation Program and inequities in the local fund assignment.

POLITICAL LEADER OF DEMO LIBERALS

Yarborough Running For U. S. Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, political leader of Texas Democratic liberals for almost two decades, said today he will run for the U.S. Senate in the party primary May 6.

The long awaited announcement from the 68-year-old legislative veteran who suffered a surprise defeat in 1970 at the hands of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., was made at a state Capitol news conference.

Field, a 3 p.m. conference at the Sheraton Hotel in downtown Fort Worth and a 5:15 news conference at the swank El Tropicana Motor Hotel in downtown San Antonio.

"We are hopeful that news will reach all Texans before the end of the day Tuesday that a public servant of proven integrity and ability, who will seek to better represent the majority of Texas citizens, is seeking re-election to a statewide office," Yarborough said.

candidate in 1972. He set up a law office in Austin after his senatorial defeat but was seldom reachable there. There have been no reports of his handling any legal business or appearing in court.

Yarborough made four unsuccessful statewide races for attorney general and governor before winning a special senate election in 1957 after Price Daniel quit the U.S. Senate to successfully run for governor. Yarborough won his first full 6-year senate term in 1958. In 1964 he defeated his Democratic runoff candidate, Gordon McLendon, by 470,000 votes. In the primary, then went on to defeat a Republican George Bush, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, by 330,000. Yarborough was chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, ranking member of the Postoffice Committee and a member of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee when defeated by Bentsen.

TALKED ABOUT

Yarborough supporters crowded the Texas House chambers for the most publicized and talked about political coming out party of the 1972 season. They cheered, whistled and shouted when their leader declared himself as a would-be opponent to Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., in the November election.

DEFEATED BUSH

Yarborough's supporters have been distributing for several weeks pamphlets and bumper stickers that read "Yarborough for Texas, without mentioning the job he seeks."

The former senator has spent recent months traveling about the state, carefully concealing which political position he seeks but always hinting broad-at a party at his house, she said. But when she arrived, Mrs. Stewart said, the friend left and she was dragged into a bedroom where she was raped for more than four hours by six men.

"He kept wanting me to get in his car," she said.

Mrs. Stewart said she took a .32-caliber pistol from her purse and tried to shoot Zahn.

"Nothing happened—I had forgotten to take the safety off," she said.

But she said on a second try she shot him once in the head, adding, "I got into my car and drove home. I felt a lot better. I knew I would get caught, but I felt so relieved I wanted to sleep."

Yarborough's plans then call for an 11:30 a.m. news conference at the Rice Hotel in downtown Houston, a 1:45 p.m. news conference at Dallas' Love

Houston (AP) — A mother of three, saying she didn't want people to think she was a cold-blooded killer, told newsmen Monday night she killed one of six men she accused of raping her.

"I want people to know that I'm not a cold-blooded killer and I did my best to defend myself," said Aubrey Jean Buxton Stewart, 23.

"You don't know what it is to be afraid to let your children leave the house, to be afraid of each little noise outside," she said.

Stanton Stock Show Saturday

STANTON — The annual Martin County livestock show, sponsored by the agricultural committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce, will be held Friday and Saturday.

The schedule will be as follows: All entries must be weighed and checked in by 6 p.m. on Thursday. The lamb show will be held at 10 a.m. Friday; the hog show will be held at 2 p.m. Friday; and the steer judging will be on Saturday beginning at 9 a.m.

There will be a barbecue lunch available during the noon hour on Saturday, followed by the annual livestock sale following at 2 p.m. with Eddie Owens, Big Spring, handling the auctioneering.

Chairman Chuck Elmore announced that the judging committee has secured the following to judge this year's show: Bobby Lemon, Mitchell County agricultural agent, Colorado City, the steer show; Fred Wilkerson, Crane County agricultural agent, Crane, will be lamb show judge; Bobby Lee, Wilson FFA teacher from Wilson, the hog show. Superintendents in charge of this year's show will be Craig Beckmeyer, Ackerly, lambs; Bobby O. Kelly, Stanton, hogs, and Owen Kelly, Stanton, Steers.

According to reports from Billy Reager, Martin County agricultural agent, Nolan Parker, Stanton FFA teacher, and Melvin Chisum, Flower Grove FFA teacher, this will be the largest livestock show in the history of Martin County.

Lumbering Cuban Airliner Rips American Air-Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators say failure of U.S. air defenses to spot a lumbering Cuban airliner before it landed at New Orleans last fall demonstrates an enemy attack could be launched from the south "with little risk of being detected in advance."

A report released today by the House Armed Services investigating subcommittee says U.S. authorities—despite three hours' notice—did not know the plane had penetrated American defenses until its pilot radioed for landing instructions.

The report calls the existing American air-defense system "virtually useless" and says a 1,500-mile gap between Florida and California is "virtually devoid of military surveillance and air-defense command and control."

"Since our potential enemies know of the gaping holes in our air defenses," said Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., "I think it is high time that the American people were let in on this open secret."

Hebert's subcommittee urged Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird to speed up lagging development of a new air-defense system—and for now install a sophisticated, new, over-the-horizon radar to cover Cuba and the Gulf of Mexico.

Gen. Seth J. McKee, commander of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), estimated the interim southern coverage would cost $70 million to $125 million. McKee testified NORAD did not know the Russian-built Cuban airliner headed toward New Orleans last Oct. 26 with 21 Cuban sugar conferees had penetrated U.S. defenses until it was informed the pilot had radioed the New Orleans tower for landing instructions 33 minutes earlier.

That report to NORAD was interrupted with the information that the Cuban plane was on the ground, McKee testified. Hebert's subcommittee said Havana had messaged the Miami Air Traffic Control almost four hours earlier with a flight plan, and the information was relayed to a variety of points including NORAD, the State Department, the Federal Aviation Administration headquarters in Washington and the New Orleans control tower.

LGA Starts New Year At January Luncheon

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Stanaland, 1614 E. 17th, announce the engagement of their daughter, Peggy Susan, to Daniel Clifton Porter Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Porter Sr., 1016 Ridgeroad Drive. An early spring wedding is planned by the couple.

New officers and committee chairmen for 1972 were introduced Friday at the first meeting of the year for the Ladies Golf Association of Big Spring Country Club.

Mrs. Morris Rhodes is president, and serving with her on the executive slate are Mrs. Charles Sweeney, vice president; Mrs. Adolph Swartz, secretary; and Mrs. Pete Cook, treasurer.

Mrs. Rhodes announced her committee chairmen for the year, including Mrs. Elmo Wason, bridge; Mrs. Robert Patterson, Christmas; Mrs. Bill Johnson, Easter; Mrs. Monroe Gafford, golf; Mrs. Garner McAdams, house; Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, landscaping; Mrs. Clarence Peters and Mrs. Auriel LaFond, La Gallinas bridge; Mrs. Harvey Williamson, poker; Mrs. Wayne Henry, pool; Mrs. Jo Bright, publicity; Mrs. R. H. Weaver, social; Mrs. Harold Davis and Mrs. Gary McKee, teen; Mrs. Akin Simpson, telephone; Mrs. Dan Wilkins, ways and means; and Mrs. Walter Wheat, yearbook.

Also, an attendance prize was initiated for the monthly luncheons. At the February luncheon, members having paid their LGA dues prior to the meeting will be eligible to win a $5 prize. The amount will be increased each month.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Vernon Swafford, Mrs. Hayes Stripling, Jr. and Miss Marie Hall. The floral centerpiece was won by Mrs. Paul Kasch.

Society Urged To 'Show Concern'

The Rev. Louis Miller spoke to the Altar Society at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, Monday evening about the importance of taking time to visit and show concern for the sick and aged. He distributed a list of sick members of the parish.

Mrs. Fred Hyer presided, announcing a board meeting of one Diocesan Council of Big Spring Catholic Women in early February.

Mrs. Jack Powell outlined programs and projects planned by Church Women United for 1972.

The Altar Society will host a party at Westside Community Center Jan. 21.

Mrs. R. L. Anderson said members will continue to serve refreshments at the Veterans Administration Hospital the fourth Friday of each month, and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins said more volunteers are needed at the hospital.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ava Russell, and Miss Wanda Anderson won the attendance prize. Prayer was by Rev. Miller. The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 7 at the parish hall. Mrs. A. N. Rutherford and Mrs. L. D. Simpson are in charge.

Miss Donetta Sue Coslett Weds R. L. Wolf In Pentecostal Rites

Miss Donetta Sue Coslett and Randel Lee Wolf were married Dec. 18 at Westside United Pentecostal Church, with the Rev. J. D. Coslett performing the ceremony. The Rev. James Zedlitz of Snyder led prayer.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Coslett, 610 E. 16th, and Wolf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wolf of Snyder.

The bride was attired in a formal white gown featuring a high collar and sheer, puffed sleeves. Her veil was held with a cluster of white petals, and she carried a cascade of white carnations and red roses.

Miss Wanda Lewis of Hillsboro was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Reba Lewis, Hillsboro, and Miss Karen Stewart, Colorado City. Serving as flower girl was Jana Miller. The attendants wore royal blue gowns and carried bouquets of shaded blue flowers.

Roy Wolf of Snyder was best man, and groomsmen were Richard Beasley and David Lewis of Hillsboro. Luke Best was ring bearer, and ushers were Jim Strain and Joe Don Lewis of Hillsboro.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. James Zedlitz of Snyder, organist; and Miss Doris Lewis of Hillsboro, vocalist. The bride also sang a selection. A reception was held in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. Serving were Miss Linda Lewis, Miss Elaine Daubney, Miss Nita Morris, Miss Kaye Holland and Miss Pam Huckaba. Miss Linda White presided at the register.

The couple will reside at 805 E. 25th St., Snyder. Wolf is a senior at Snyder High School and is assistant manager of Kentucky Fried Chicken. Mrs. Wolf is a senior at Big Spring High School.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mrs. Billy C. Gatlin of Bryan and M. J. Lewis of Hillsboro, the bride's grandfather.

When crocheting, stick a hatpin firmly into the arm of an upholstered chair and slip the spool of thread over the pin. This will prevent spool from falling to the floor, yet permits it to rotate freely as you work.

PICTURES OF THE PAST — One doesn't have to travel back in time to take pictures of the past — he merely has to travel most any highway in the Pineywoods where antique shops have sprung up to accommodate tourists to East Texas. The shop itself on the highway near Moscow (top left) looks like something out of yesteryear — a bunkhouse. The little brown jugs (bottom left) are worth more today than their contents would have ever brought. And the old farm tools (right) prove that early settlers had a hard row to hoe.

Avocados, Papayas, Bananas Are Labeled 'Miracle Foods'

"What we eat is what we are, so we better find out what is the best 'food,'" said Dr. H. W. Holderby of California on a tape entitled "Miracle Foods" played for members of Organic Soil Makers Monday evening at the U.S. Experiment Station.

"What we eat today — tomorrow it walks and talks and does whatever we do," continued Dr. Holderby. He listed the five miracle foods as avocados, papayas, bananas, grain foods and soy beans.

Dr. Holderby said avocados offer a six course meal from one tree. They have starch, sugar, vitamins B, D and E, and fat. They are also good for diets and stomach ulcers, and are available year around from California or Florida.

"The papaya is sometimes called the 'magic melon' for its good digestive qualities," said Dr. Holderby. He said it has more vitamin C than oranges and, as the fruit ripens, the amount increases. He said it is also a good body cleanser.

Dr. Holderby named the banana as a "total food." It gives quick energy because of its sugar, it is high in potassium, is a natural laxative and soothes peptic ulcers. With its peel, eaters don't have to worry about spray or industrial dust getting to the fruit, and the peel is easily biodegradable. An average banana has about 88 calories.

Grain foods such as barley, corn, wheat, oats, millet and rye, are natural sources of energy, and Dr. Holderby said they contain vitamin B which is good for nerves, and vitamin E which assists in heart regulation. He pointed out that although grains are high in protein, they are somewhat less than they once were because of commercial fertilizers.

"Soy beans are a meat without a bone," said Dr. Holderby. "They can take the place of meat." He said they help maintain proper water balance in the body, and they are superior to any other food for reducing cholesterol in the body. Soy beans are available in many sources. They are used as oil for salad, in soy grits, soy milk, soy sprouts, soy flour and soy sauce.

Dr. Paul Koshi introduced the tape, which was obtained for the club by Mrs. R. L. Nail. The group will meet again at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 14 at the experiment station.

The Charles Rhodes of Victoria have returned home following a visit with her parents, the Billy Gaskins'. Other guests included Jackie Gaskins of Snyder.

Sunday guests of the P. E. Littles were the Gerald Wilborns of St. Lawrence.

The Ira Dements have returned from a visit with their children and families, the Bill Lawrences, Omaha, Neb.; the B. J. Kelleys and the Bill Dements, all of Dubuque Iowa.

The Grady Granthams have moved to Knott from Big Spring.

Guests of the Morris Cockrells during the holidays were her mother, Mrs. Dan Hilliard of Lewisville; their son and daughter, the Billy Wayne Cockrells of Tucson, Ariz.; and the Morris Cockrell's daughter, Gwen Cockrell of Fort Worth. The Louis Harrells returned Saturday from Kerrville where they visited his sister and family, the J. R. Hilliards, and Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Williamson.

Mrs. Angeline Shaw has moved to Big Spring to live with her son, Gene Shaw. Her other son and his family, the Frank Shaws, will reside in her home in Knott.

The Robert Nichols' were guests of his sister and family, the Stanley Martins of Waco during the weekend. Nichols' mother, Mrs. Garland Nichols, returned to Knott with her son and family.

Dances Planned At Webb Center

"Chicago and the Grand Funk Sound" will be presented by Zilker Sunday of Austin at a dance beginning at 9 p.m., Friday at Webb AFB Recreation Center, (formerly John H. Lees Service Club). Admission is $1 for Air Force personnel and their guests.

Other events for January at the center include a dance featuring "Scotty and the 6th Degree South," with go-go girls and a female instrumentalist, at 9 p.m., Jan. 21. Cost per person is $1. Jim Willett of Radio Station KBST will conduct a "platter party" at the center Jan. 29, time to be announced. Prizes will be awarded.

At your service: Enough electricity for today and tomorrow.

Dependable electric power in ample supply helps make good living possible today—and is essential for tomorrow's growth and progress—throughout the area served by Texas Electric.

Providing enough electricity to meet these needs will require over $165 million in new construction in the next two years. That's a lot of money. And about $100 million of this will have to be raised in a competitive market at a time when interest rates are much higher than they were just a few years ago.

This, added to other higher costs of doing business, makes the job of planning and building ahead an even bigger task. At Texas Electric, providing enough electricity is a commitment and a continuing effort that keeps us at your service.

Space Reorientation

Decision of the Nixon administration to proceed this year with a reusable space shuttle is a booster shot for a program that was beginning to wither.

Most immediate impact will be the creation of 50,000 jobs in the aerospace industry, which has been plagued by unemployment since the Apollo moon program entered its final stages.

President Nixon is most conscious of the jobs. He announced the shuttle project in Southern California, where much of the work will be done. The day before the space announcement, Mr. Nixon went to a San Diego shipyard to announce that seven federally subsidized tankers will be built. The space project also will have job impact in Texas and Florida, two other big electoral states.

Politics aside, the space shuttle will be a much cheaper form for space transportation than previous throwaway systems. Space agency officials estimate that the cost per pound of putting a payload into space can be cut from about $600 to $100.

The estimated cost of developing the shuttle is $5.5 billion, a figure most likely to increase if past performance is a guide, yet much cheaper than the $24 billion Apollo project.

Also, the shuttle has more down-to-earth applications than did the moon program. It will be used to ferry men and equipment to orbiting laboratories which will study the earth and space. Scientists, doctors and engineers will be able to work in space without going through long and intensive astronaut training. They can simply ride the shuttle as passengers.

Space research has produced much more than landing men on the moon. A whole new technology has been created, along with new techniques, new processes, new services and new products. Satellites aid communication, navigation, weather forecasting, military intelligence and earth-resource surveys.

Decision to develop the shuttle will keep the space program viable for another decade or more rather than allowing it to decay from inactivity.

Hazardous Business

President Nixon, the nation's No. 1 football fan, exceeded the bounds of political propriety by proposing a play to Miami Dolphins coach Don Shula to use against the Dallas Cowboys in the Super Bowl.

While it's all right for the President to root for the hometown Washington Redskins and get them to run a screen pass, he should be loftily neutral on such an epic event as the Super Bowl.

There are a lot of voters around the country who are fanatic Cowboy fans and might take the President's implied support of Miami personally. Besides that, Mr. Nixon's suggested play is unnecessary. The chief executive proposed a quick slant pass to Paul Warfield. Since Warfield is Miami's top receiver, it is barely possible that Mr. Shula already had considered such a play. Just the same, if the "Nixon" play clicks, the President is in deep trouble with us Cowboy fans.

Bovine Merry Go Round

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

It's been a long time since a can-tankerous cow created udder confusion in our barn.

"BATHSHEBA" was a beautiful, bosomy creature, vain and vindictive, who resented the caress of cold hands. Milking time was never dull, and on hot summer nights, people who ordinarily went down to see the train come in, stopped by our place to watch the action.

Ah, but that was yesterday. Today, the dairy industry is big business — and there's no time for the personal touch. Here's what I mean:

A FELLOW named Jacobs in Valley County, Neb., has borrowed the Europeans' tandem rotary milking parlor concept and has his cows going around in circles.

The milking table with 12 stalls rotates once every four minutes — a cow leaves and another enters every 21 seconds. Assembly line fashion, one man puts on the milking units as cows come in, while another man removes the units as cows complete the circle on the merry-go-round platform.

TWO MEN milk 115 to 120 cows an hour and can slow down the platform when cows are unusually dirty from wet weather and udders need extra wiping. (A problem cow makes a second round on the turntable, rather than stopping it and losing time on all of them). However, cows step onto the moving table without hesitation after a couple of days of finding out they aren't going to get feed until they take the ride.

COWS ARE washed in three automatic prep stalls before entering the milking parlor.

The turntable is driven by an electric-powered wheel. Other parlor features are a floor surface of synthetic Tartan turf; a three-inch stainless steel pipeline that rotates with the table and transports the milk to a 2,000-gallon vacuum tank; and a water line circling the inside of the building that dribbles water down the wall while brushes attached to the rotating platform brush away the dirt.

ALL VERY practical and peaceful.

But, I don't know. Seems to me if a cow is going to give her all, she deserves a little sweet talk and an affectionate slap on the rump.

Difficult To Grasp

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, Democrat of Maine, has made his first campaign speech. It sounded interesting, but he never told his audience how he is going to accomplish the reforms he mentioned or bring about the changes that he urged. He pledged himself to lead the nation in "a commitment to make a new beginning." But he left many of his listeners wondering how he could do so, because there are some factors involved in American policy today which are not readily altered.

THUS, MR. MUSKIE talks as if the problems of the Vietnam War can be swept away. He implies that the Nixon administration is responsible for our involvement in the struggle in Indo-China, when the truth is the fighting began during the Kennedy administration and was intensified under the Johnson administration. The problems were not created by the present administration.

Mr. Muskie complains, in effect, about the lack of success in the negotiations at Paris and the fact that the war has continued. He says:

"We were promised an end to the war. We have been given a continuing war — with more American deaths, more American prisoners taken, and a resumption of the massive bombing which was stopped in 1968."

BUT THE QUESTION is: What would a new administration under Mr. Muskie be able to do with the Vietnam War situation if it is not settled in 1972? The Communists are supporting the Hanoi regime, and it has not been willing to negotiate in a way that indicates clearly how the war may be terminated.

Sen. Muskie also declares that price stability and prosperity were promised in 1968 but that we have been given instead 6 per cent inflation and 6 per cent unemployment as well as "the first trade deficit since 1893, an astronomical balance-of-payments deficit, a world monetary crisis, and forced devaluation of the dollar." He adds: "WE WERE promised domestic peace. We have been given rising crime, a spreading drug culture, intimidation of the press, surveillance of private citizens, restriction of constitutional liberties, and growing distrust of each other and our government."

The Maine senator says that he is not promising to solve the difficulties overnight but argues he merely wants an opportunity to lead "a commitment to make a new beginning."

THERE WASN'T time, of course, in a 10-minute television announcement for Sen. Muskie to explain how he is going to deal with the major problems he mentioned. But if he becomes the presidential nominee of the Democratic ticket, he certainly will find himself intimidated again and again during the campaign as to exactly how he can change the attitude of the North Vietnamese and what measures he can take that will be more effective than those now being utilized by the administration in curbing inflation and reducing unemployment.

Mr. Muskie emphasizes "a new beginning." The administration is involved in many activities that started long ago and can hardly be begun over. They concern dealings with foreign countries, and no chief executive is going to be able to wipe out the relations that have developed between this country and other nations. Foreign policy is one of the most complex questions facing a president of the United States.

THE MAINE senator says he is going to make "a new beginning." But there are many governmental operations today that can hardly be begun again, because the United States must finish some policies which have been started by the two preceding administrations and these cannot be brushed aside without disturbing friendships with certain foreign countries.

Changing Times

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Relating social change to business developments:

Not long ago an anti-establishment person could do his thing by spending a few dollars for a safe-deposit box into which he deposited a dead fish.

The game has now become deadlier, as demonstrated by the finding of time bombs in bank deposit boxes in New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Only one of the bombs exploded, but the incidents did prove how defenseless are the banks.

In renting safe-deposit boxes, banks are in effect renting away not only space but their authority. In payment for a few dollars they give up their rights to the box. What lays hidden within is secret.

Even if they suspect that the law is being violated or that their safety is endangered, they may have a difficult time proving so. The rules on opening boxes are strict; the liability involved is enormous.

The National Safe Deposit Association states that without the proper court papers a bank cannot protect itself no matter how many competent witnesses it has present.

The net effect is to make some banks question the value to them of offering at any price a piece of their property.

There may be little agreement today on the role of business in society. It is changing, on that there is agreement. But the change to be completed in a few years or will business be seeking its new role for years to come?

One indication that the latter possibility is more likely is publication of a scholarly new journal called "Business Society Review," which says its pages are "devoted exclusively to exploring the role of business in a free society."

Founders of the publication, Warren, Gorham & Lamont, Inc., of Boston, are same ones who since 1846 have been publishing the influential "The Bankers Magazine."

In the first issue, Paul Samuelson, Noble Prize economist, predicts that "in the years ahead, the so-called private corporation will find itself subjected to external constraints never dreamed of at Harvard Business School."

J. Kenneth Galbraith maintains that the constraints should be so inclusive that large companies should be publicly owned, not in sense that the public owns shares but that the government controls them.

And Milton Friedman detects a suicidal instinct in the tendency to burden corporations with broad social responsibilities. "Nothing," he says, "would destroy the private enterprise system more than a real acceptance of this doctrine of social responsibility."

The new journal promises to keep its pages open to thoughtful material on every side of the controversy.

Anti-Protocol Office

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — In the super-secret documents that columnist Jack Anderson released, it was revealed that both President Nixon and Henry Kissinger supported Pakistan much more strongly than the country was led to believe, and also were far more hostile toward India than anyone had thought to assume.

THE TRANSCRIPT of one of the high-level meetings held at the White House during the crisis shows that Kissinger took a very tough stand toward India. Part of the minutes read: "Dr. Kissinger also directed that henceforth we show a certain coolness to the Indians; the Indian ambassador is not to be treated at too high a level."

Now while this sounds petty, when you read it in cold print, it is obvious to everyone that the most powerful nation in the world must show its displeasure when it believes another country has let it down.

ONE OF THE ways this is accomplished is to punish the ambassador as Dr. Kissinger recommended.

But how is this done? Deep in the bowels of the State Department there is a bureau whose sole function is to make life miserable for the embassy of a country that the United States is feuding with. It is known as the anti-protocol office and it is at present headed up by Horace Bitterman, a former guard at Attica prison. I talked to Mr. Bitterman the other day, and while he refused to confirm or deny that the screws had been put to the Indian ambassador, he did tell me how the anti-protocol office operates.

"WHEN WE get alerted by the White House that the President wishes to show a certain coolness to a country, we go immediately into action. The first thing we do is notify the sanitation department not to pick up the embassy's garbage. Then we send out a fleet of used cars to block the embassy's driveway.

"We also begin digging a subway station in front of the ambassador's residence with our workers starting to drill at 5 o'clock in the morning. This serves two purposes. It prevents the ambassador from getting any sleep; and the dug-up street makes it impossible for him to hold any diplomatic receptions because people have nowhere to park."

"THAT'S PRETTY good," I said. "What do you do when someone in the White House says that an ambassador is not to be treated at too high a level?"

"When the ambassador requests to see the secretary of state, he is given an audience with a code clerk trainee. We tow his car away while he's in the building."

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a dogcatcher gets tired of hearing:

"Arf, arf, arf—here comes Bozo!"

"Don't worry, Prince. He can't touch you as long as I have you on the leash."

"Why is it you generally catch only little stray dogs, Bozo, and let the big ones get away? You're not scared of them, are you?"

"If the dogs in this town ever start a revolution, Bozo, you're the first one who'll wind up in a wire cage."

"As soon as he starts chasing that small dog on the corner, kids, let's open the rear door of his car and let all the others get away."

"Please, Mr. Barker, can't I have that funny roly poly puppy in the corner? Cross my heart, I promise I'll take real good care of him."

"Sic him, Buck! That's him. Sic him!"

"As soon as I grow up, I'll get me a big net and put it over your head."

"They say that if nobody claims a stray dog at the pound you put him in a place where there's poison gas. You wouldn't do anything like that, would you Mr. Barker? Tell me it's just a joke."

"Pop, can't you get some other job? All the kids tease me, and some won't even play with me because you're the dogcatcher."

"That little skinny poodle you just caught looks awful sick, Mr. Bozo. If we all give you a nickel apiece, will you let us have him? Maybe we can make him well."

"Why are you so mad at dogs, Mr. Barker? Did one of them bite you when you were a little boy—and now you're just trying to get even?"

"They say that at home your wife keeps you in the doghouse, Bozo. How about that?"

"Wonder what Bozo might have become if he hadn't dropped out of Harvard after his first semester."

"Weren't you ever a little boy with a dog all your own, Mr. Barker?"

"Sometimes Mr. Bozo seems real nice, Daddy. He'll stop his car on a rainy day and offer a kid a ride to school, but none of the kids want to ride with him. Then he drives off looking real sad."

Who Was Carl?

William F. Buckley Jr.

This is a story — incomplete, hugely ignorant — based on a small clipping that appeared in the Los Angeles Times, which I reproduce:

"A LOS ANGELES Times carrier was shot and killed early Friday as he made deliveries to apartment buildings on N. Cahuenga Blvd. in Hollywood.

"Carl Benson of 1934 1/2 Park Drive was found lying on the sidewalk beside his jeep at 1961 N. Cahuenga Blvd. Police said he had been shot three times in the chest. Because his wallet was missing, police believe robbery was the motive."

IT IS IN moments like this that one wishes that Truman Capote were a deployable force. He read, a half dozen years ago, a newspaper account about as yawny as this one involving the murder at their home of a husband, wife, son, and daughter. From the investigation we got "In Cold Blood," a masterpiece of investigation and analysis and tale-telling. It didn't give us a motive for the killing of the pathetic Kansas farm family, unless one accounts it an explanation for a killing to demonstrate that there are perverts in the world.

Mysterious, isn't it. I never met "Carl" Benson, but I can tell you this about him. His name was Charles Benson.

A YEAR OR so back, introduced by a distinguished mutual friend who is a top writer and critic of science fiction, Charles Benson sent in a manuscript to National Review, a conservative journal of opinion, of which I am the editor, in which he wrote about the deteriorating strategic situation in the Mediterranean with such profundity, precision, and inventiveness, that the editors immediately published his long article, featuring it on the cover. Mr. Benson concluded by making a most provocative proposal, namely that United States forces "take over" Libya, effective possession of which would absolutely frustrate the grand Soviet play against Israel and, ultimately, the whole of western Europe.

And then, a few weeks later, another manuscript, a most detailed, most knowledgeable description of the deterioration of the defensive capabilities of the U.S. Military.

AT THIS point, reading the second manuscript, I confess that I entertained several doubts about the mysterious Mr. Charles Benson. Was he a Pentagon employee? Perhaps an agent of the CIA? Assigned the job of leaking futuristic analyses, buttressed by information which is not readily available from the Pentagon, and indiscreetly related to the Pentagon? I asked around. The replies were sparse; evasive, you might say. So when "Carl" Benson was killed, I asked our mutual friend, who had been so protective of Carl's privacy, to write a few words about him, as an obituary for National Review.

"This is what he vouchsafed. 'The Department of Defense asked permission to reprint Benson's article, Deterrence Through Defense. It was widely circulated in Congress and elsewhere.'

"CARL WAS a graduate physicist with a degree in optics. He knew computers and ballistics, rocketry and electronics, and he also knew, and delighted in mythology, philosophy, etymology, and music.

"Carl was an example of a phenomenon which has increased to the status of its own terminology: executive dropout. He was vice-president of an important electronics firm when it came to him that what he wanted was to be a writer. He got himself a routine job and a little office, and he wrote. He never took charity or relief or unemployment money; he worked every single night for two years without a day off. He wrote part of a book on polistrategy for the seventies, and the book and many lyrics for a rock opera, and (with George Clayton Johnson) finished a book on revolution. He took music lessons until he had enough know-how to write a dozen country-and-western songs. They're pretty good.

I have heard you say that science and the Bible do not contradict each other. Although I understand the Bible is not a book of science, are there any statements which show that the patriarchs had any advance knowledge? C.U. Ancient scientists, without benefit of telescopes, once declared there were only 1056 stars in the sky. Jeremiah, the prophet, knew otherwise. He said, "The host (stars) of heaven cannot be numbered." Jeremiah 33:22.

Scientists once thought the earth was flat. But in Deuteronomy 4:19, it says: "Lift up your eyes unto heaven . . . and see the stars which the Lord thy God hath divided unto all the nations under the whole heaven." How did He "divide them among the nations?" The earth being round, different stars are seen by nations in the northern hemisphere than are seen by the peoples of the southern hemisphere. Before science discovered the spherical shape of the earth, the Bible declared it to be round.

Less than 100 years ago scientists discovered that it is the dust particles in the atmosphere which gives color to the rainbow, to the blue skies and the sunsets. But Solomon wrote in his Proverbs, "While as yet he had not made . . . the highest part of the dust of the world." Proverbs 8:28. This is an unmistakable reference to the dust particles in the earth's upper atmosphere. And, yet some people believe the Bible is out of date.

I believe the Lord put these little nuggets in the Bible to remind us that everything in the Bible is true.

A Devotion For Today . . . "Gird up your loins; arise, and say to them everything that I command you." Jeremiah 1:17

PRAYER: Almighty God, who hast taught that one finds his life in losing it, stir within us the ultimate courage to seek and to do Thy will. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Cut The List

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is a tough one: How do you suddenly take someone off your Christmas gift list? And let them know in advance, so they will take you off theirs?

We have many friends and relatives with whom we have been exchanging Christmas gifts for years. It started when our children were young. We used to give inexpensive toys, elaborately wrapped, so they would have something under their tree, and the kids would have the excitement of unwrapping them on Christmas morning.

The kids aren't kids anymore. We almost never see most of them. Many have moved out of town. Christmas shopping is not only a big bore, it has become costly. I am sure these people feel the same way about it, but we don't know how to break this vicious circle. So we keep buying the same people Christmas presents every year because we know they'll buy us something.

If you have a solution for this universal problem, Abby, you're a genius.

SICK OF CHRISTMAS
DEAR SICK: I'm no genius, but here's a suggestion: Around Thanksgiving, send them a note saying you are thankful for friends with whom you can be perfectly candid. Then tell them you are trimming your Christmas gift list, and do not plan to send their children (or them, if that's the case) a gift, so in please do likewise. I promise you, it will be the best Christmas gift you could give them.

DEAR ABBY: In the summer of 1944, I met and fell in love with a wonderful marine. I know he loved me too, but for reasons I won't go into we wouldn't marry then.

I tried hard to forget him, but I guess I never really did. I still have his letters, and when I read them and play all those tunes, "I Walk Alone," "I'll Be Seeing You," "Saturday Night Is the Loneliest Night in the Week," etc., I feel he is near.

I know he is still living on the northeast coast, and I would love to see him again.

While trying to forget him, I married a guy I'd known all through school, but it lasted only five years. I guess I didn't love him enough.

Abby, I am told I'm too nice looking to stay alone, but I think I'm one of those women who can only love once. I've never met a man who can measure up to my marine. Any suggestions?

SEMPER FIDELIS
DEAR SEMPER: Quietly investigate and find out if he's married or single. If he's single, maybe you can pick up where you left off. It's worth a try. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: You have to be kidding! A suspicious wife writes her husband has taken an interest in a divorced coworker who is lonely. And you tell her to make a buddy out of this girl, invite her over, get her a date and make it a foursome.

At one time I was happily married, but wanting to do for others, I invited a "poor, lonely friend" to join my husband and me when we went to parties, or entertained.

My husband used to run over to her house and help her fix things. Well, because I was so shortsighted and trusting, you guessed it. My husband fell for her, and he humiliated me like you wouldn't believe. He left me and moved in with her.

It lasted three months. He found out what a fool he'd been and he left her. But first he scooped all the money out of what was by then their joint account. He'd never done anything like that in his life, but he had become so addled, he wasn't responsible. He messed up our lives, but good. We were divorced, washing 20 years down the drain.

Shorter Leg

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've never read about my problem but maybe there are others like me.

I am 28, mother of two children, and in the last three years I've noticed that my left leg is nearly one inch shorter than the right.

I first noticed it when we started wearing the longer length flared slacks. I never noticed it years ago. Now my skirts and dresses hang to the left and it's becoming very noticeable.

I have no pain and do not limp. What could be the cause of this? — T. D. L.

It could be a quirk of development which you've had much longer than you realized. Posture also could be a factor. It's not as easy to predict the condition may in the future bother you or become worse.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can you tell me about migraine headache (blurring of vision, headache over one eye, nausea)? Cause? Prevention? Alleviation?

Could birth control pills aggravate this condition? — A. O.

Migraine is a rather-complicated problem, and I suggest that you read my booklet, "How to Tame Headaches," which contains an entire section just on migraine. Send 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope for the booklet.

In general, the only successful way to handle migraines is to learn to stop them before they really get started, and it is usually possible to learn the signs that indicate one is coming.

Yes, birth control pills, along with many other things, can aggravate migraine — but that isn't saying that birth control pills necessarily contribute to this trouble.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My little niece, 2 months old, died suddenly. We are heartbroken and shocked at the suddenness as she was a perfectly healthy, happy and beautiful baby.

She was put to bed perfectly all right, no fever, cough or cold, yet the next morning she was found dead. She had just had her complete baby checkup two days before.

The firemen took her to the hospital. All they would say was that it was "bronchitis." How could this be? — Mrs. M. S.

These so-called "crib deaths" are a terrible shock. In most cases the only explanation is that, in very small babies, infections can start with frightening abruptness, and they often attack the respiratory organs. The windpipe is so tiny that infection and congestion can close it off very quickly — which is what evidently occurred in this tragic case. Infection in the bronchial tubes ("bronchitis") was the answer. Ways are being sought to prevent these "crib deaths," but the solution is not yet apparent.

Rice Teacher Tests Samples

HOUSTON (AP) — A third member of the Rice University geology faculty has been named a principal investigator for lunar sample analysis.

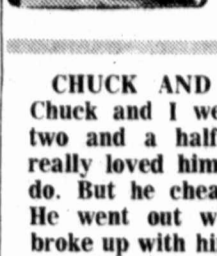

Dr. John A. S. Adams' appointment is effective Feb. 1. Announcement of the appointment by John E. Naugle, National Aeronautics and Space Administration associate administrator for space science and investigations, was made Saturday.

Adams' team will study the emanation of radon from lunar materials. Radon, a heavy radioactive gaseous element, is an inert gas formed by the disintegration of radium.

Working with Adams will be Dr. Ronald B. Clark, Glenn E. Fryer, instrumentation engineer, and Paolo M. Barretto, a graduate student from Brazil attending Rice on a fellowship from the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna, Austria.

Other members of the Rice geology faculty previously named lunar sample principal investigators are Dr. Dieter Herymann and Dr. Ben N. Pover.

CHUCK AND JIM: (Q.) Chuck and I went together two and a half months. I really loved him and I still do. But he cheated on me. He went out with Jane. I broke up with him.

A few days later he moved away, and I started going skating with Jim. I like Jim but I don't love him. I don't love anybody but Chuck.

Well, Chuck wrote my girl friend, Betty, and asked her why I broke up with him. He told her he had already bought a pre-engagement ring and was planning to give it to me. Then I told him it was all over with us.

Betty wrote him and told him it was because he went out with Jane. He wrote Betty back and told her that Jane didn't mean anything — that she was just a friend of his family. He also told Betty he was moving back. He also told her he wanted to go back with me. I don't know what to do. I'm going out once or twice a week with Jim. If Chuck sees us together he will be hurt.

But if Chuck does ask me to go back with him and Jim sees us together, HE will be hurt.

Please help me. —Tangled Up in New Mexico.

(A.) Tell the truth. If Chuck asks you to go with him again, tell him about Jim. If Jim asks you about Chuck, tell him the truth.

You have not, if your story is straight, been dishonest to or deceived either boy. Do not start deceiving now. It does not pay.

I do not think that as things are now it would be wise to accept Chuck's ring or to resume going steady with him.

In addition to being honest with both of them why not try dating both of them. It would be good for you, and maybe for them too.

Savannah Ends Life On Seas

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The nuclear ship Savannah was berthed Monday night in a downtown terminal in Savannah, ending a 10-year life on the high seas.

The ship, first atomic powered vessel in history, will be used to demonstrate peaceful uses of atomic energy at the Eisenhower Peace Center and Maritime Showcase in Savannah.

The 22,000-ton ship was built at Galveston, Tex., but a five-year battle by Savannah officials resulted in the ship being moved here.

The vessel was launched in 1959, christened by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and made its maiden voyage in 1962. It was built at a cost of $85 million.

West opened the ace of diamonds and East — realizing that a continuation might present the declarer with a ruff and discard — followed suit with the three. A shift was clearly called for and West paused to consider his course, for the fate of the contract hinged on his play at trick two.

If he takes the passive course by shifting to a trump, it places South in position to take full charge. The latter can score 11 tricks by overtaking dummy's queen of spades with the king to draw two more rounds of trump with the ace and jack. Now the ten of hearts is led and passed around to East's jack. If the latter returns the queen of clubs, South plays the ace of hearts and then ruffs out West's king on the next round to establish the suit. North's king of clubs provides access to the eight of hearts on which declarer disposes of his remaining club. He loses one diamond and one heart.

There appeared to be little to lose by shifting to the ten of clubs at trick two and that is the play that West chose. This proved to be a lethal thrust. South won the trick in his hand with the king, proceeded to draw three rounds of trumps with his top honors and then led the ten of hearts. West resisted the temptation to cover, following suit instead with the deuce. East was in with the jack of hearts and by returning the queen of clubs, he was able to dislodge dummy's entry before hearts was no way that South could avoid losing a club for the setting trick.

'Bird Talk' Helps Soothe Ill Eagles

APOPKA, Fla. (AP) — Doris Mager's best prescription for sick eagles is bird talk.

"You have to talk to them a lot," Mrs. Mager, a housewife, said Monday. "It helps to soothe and calm them down."

Mrs. Mager, who has played nurse to sick bald eagles for two years, has as her latest ward a bird named Hallie. Hallie was grounded last week by a hunter's bullet which smashed into her wing and shattered the bone. The bald eagle is being kept in a walk-in cage in Mrs. Mager's back yard.

"In two years I have nursed six bald eagles back to health," said Mrs. Mager. "The real thrill comes the day you open the cage door and they fly free."

Mrs. Mager says she feeds the eagles fish, mainly trout or mackerel. "At the moment Hallie gets one big fish a day," she said. "I just put it in the cage and she eats it as she would in the wild."

"I try to have as little contact with the birds as possible," Mrs. Mager added. "I just talk to them when I go into the cage, but otherwise I try not to handle them because I want them to remain wild."

Mrs. Mager became interested in birds of prey when she went to work for the Audubon Society nine years ago. Hallie was found on the banks of the upper St. Johns River and was taken to the society.

WOUNDED EAGLE TREATED — Hallie, a female eagle wounded recently by an unknown hunter, is treated by Mrs. Doris Mager of the Audubon Society (Orlando, Fla.). A fight is under way to have her and also her eggs which are being cared for by a male eagle in a nearby county.

Graduate Center Sets Symposium

MIDLAND — The Permian Basin Graduate Center has announced plans to sponsor what officials described as "an outstanding teaching symposium featuring several distinguished authorities" on the subject "Global Tectonics and Its Relationship to the Exploration for Oil and Gas."

Registration deadline is February 1 for the symposium, scheduled February 3-5, according to Dr. Jack Elam, Midland, PBCC president. Participants will be Dr. John Bird, of the State University of New York at Albany; Dr. John Dewey, formerly at Cambridge and now at SUNY; Dr. Clark Burchfiel of Rice University; Dr. Benjamin Page of Stanford; Dr. Warren Hamilton of the United States Geological Survey, and Dr. Elam.

Livestock Show May Be Delayed

Members of the Sands Livestock Show Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the agriculture building at Sands High School in Ackerly to discuss the possible postponement of the livestock show scheduled for this weekend. Postponement of the show will be necessary for all area farmers to work on bringing in the cotton harvest, according to Lott McDonald, agriculture teacher at Sands High School. Association members will decide upon a date to reschedule the show and will also review membership sales and dues in the meeting tonight.

DAY APPEARS TO BE NEARING 'Test Tube Baby' Birth

By BRIAN SULLIVAN AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The day appears to be nearing when scientists will announce either the implantation, or perhaps even the birth, of a "test tube baby."

Such a dramatic and controversial event would emphasize to the world the developing genetic and biologic revolution, with scientists working to bring man closer to new controls over human life.

IMPLANTED
A test tube baby would be conceived outside the human body—literally in the laboratory—with scientists fertilizing the woman's egg with the man's sperm in a test tube.

GO AHEAD
In England, Dr. Douglas Bevis, a researcher at Jessop

Hospital in Sheffield, said early in January he is ready to implant an artificially impregnated embryo in the womb of a volunteer.

"When I find her, I am in a position to go ahead," he told a British newspaper. "It could be as soon as next week or much longer."

Bevis said he would not announce the implantation.

Also in Britain, Dr. Robert G. Edwards of Cambridge University and Dr. P. C. Steptoe at General Hospital in Oldham said that last October they successfully took an egg from a woman, fertilized it in the laboratory with her husband's sperm and grew it until it was ready for implantation. But they did not take the final step.

This kind of research also could lead to determining the sex of the fetus in the test tube stage. The complications that could develop seem vast. Would a woman hire another woman to carry a fetus created with her own egg and husband's sperm? Whose baby would the baby be?

On the beneficial side, this work might lead to the ability to correct genetic defects before implantation, thus eliminating some diseases.

INTEGRATION PLAN Court Weighs Decision On NAACP Challenge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court panel took under advisement Monday a motion by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Persons (NAACP), which challenges the school desegregation plan ordered in Fort Worth. The judges gave no indication when they would give a ruling.

Judge David W. Dyer of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, one of three jurists who heard oral arguments on the appeal, chided the NAACP for giving the court "nothing to work with."

NEED HELP
"You come up here and say the school board's desegregation plan is wrong and dump it into our lap," he said, adding: "We need some help."

The NAACP was challenging the plan approved by U.S. District Court Judge Leo Brewster. Judge Dyer's comment came during a two-hour hearing on the merits of the plan, which would cluster some Fort Worth schools into groups, with pupils being bused among them.

Judge Walter P. Gevin, presiding, said there were usually three plans to choose from—one by the plaintiff, one by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and one by the school board. This time, there was only one.

representing the NAACP, said the expense in hiring an expert to draw up a plan was too great for the NAACP to bear.

He added that he had never heard of an appeals panel requiring "plaintiff to bear the economic burden of coming up with a plan."

LOUSY PLANS
When asked why he had not requested a plan from HEW, Chackin said, "HEW has been drawing some lousy plans; frank and coarse, your honor, but true."

Under the current desegregation plan, 27 elementary schools are grouped into six clusters. Buses carry white second-grade students from throughout each cluster to schools in a Negro neighborhood. Students in the third, fourth and fifth grades are bused to schools in white neighborhoods.

The NAACP has argued that this is an unfair burden on the blacks, who are bused for three years, while white children are bused only for one year.

The school board says the system is equitable because more whites are affected than blacks.

The school board maintains it is not required to re-integrate schools, nor is it required to integrate every school in a district.

BEGINNING AIR CONDITIONING AND REFRIGERATION and ADVANCED AIR CONDITIONING AND REFRIGERATION will be offered at HCJC on Tuesday-Thursday nights starting Jan. 11, taught by John Freeman and Walter Alexander. Call 267-6311, ext. 70 for further information.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW — CAROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening to get a fresh approach on whatever you wish to do. Let those about you see you conform to what has been proven and is acceptable. You'll run into trouble if you try to get away with something, or put a last one.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Investigate new systems and ideas that will help you reach the top in your field. Contact people who have far more success than you and get their ideas for your further development. Become a friend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Spend more time working out new ideas without neglecting present obligations. Doing those thoughtful things that bring more affection from mate is wise. Be active, keep healthy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The power of the planets' reactions with allies now, so state your aims and needs, and you secure the assistance you need. Listen to their advice and make new worthwhile arrangements. Expand.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't waste a moment of this day when you can accomplish much quickly and well. Shop around now for your new spring wardrobe, which will bring out your finest features and special charm. Stay within your budget, though.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have clever ideas that you can put in action now with fine results. Impressing others with your ability is easy. Show more affection for mate and get right results not possible before.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Put your home in better order so there is more happiness and comfort there. The evening is fine for entertaining friends. Avoid some situation that gradually.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have an excellent plan now for improving your lot in life and can talk it over with associates early. Making appointments to see key people is wise. Don't be late in keeping them, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can get your financial affairs in far better order now through intelligent activity and using good common sense. Plan to make repairs to home, surroundings. Evening is fine for social activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The planets are most favorable and you can go after whatever brings you success and happiness. Meet interesting people, do some entertaining, accept some invitation that is worthwhile. Have a cheerful attitude.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Keep out of the limelight now and study how to make the future more successful and happy. Then confer with some good adviser. Coordinate your efforts and much good comes of this.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Getting together with good friends and working out some satisfactory plan so your mutual personal aims are gained is wise. Doing whatever will most please a good friend brings favors. Take it easy in a.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Discuss with a bigger wheel he can do to make your position in the world of activity much better, and get advice with regard to civic matters. Improve credit matters. You now have the know-how and the wherewithal.

Looking For Cold Front To Invade

By The Associated Press
Wintry air invaded northern areas of Texas anew today and fog again cloaked coastal areas where it was still rather warm. Near dawn the leading edge of the new cold front lay along a line linking Texarkana, Hillsboro, Abilene and Lubbock. In its wake temperatures dropped as low as 16 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Drier air spread over southern sections of the state, and skies were mostly clear in early morning. In the warmer air still flowing north from the Gulf of Mexico, fog hung low before daybreak along the coast, extending as far as 70 miles inland. Houston, Lufkin and Palacios were among the foggy spots. Readings besides the 16 degrees at Dalhart included Marfa 17, Amarillo 20, Wink 24, Midland 25, El Paso 26 and Childress, Lubbock and San Antonio 32. At the same hour it was still 59 at Brownsville and 60 at Galveston on the coast.
