DEBT CEILING

It Appears Tax Increase Inevitable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's administration has no plans to seek additional taxes despite deficits that led to a record request for increasing the national borrowing limit, two top fiscal spokesmen said today.

Members of the House Ways and Means Committee, opening hearings on the administration's request for raising the debt ceiling from $430 billion to $480 billion, said it appeared some tax increase is inevitable.

But both Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally and Management and Budget Director George P. Shultz insisted administration policy is to control spending while economic recovery increases the government's tax revenues.

"We don't adopt the theory . . . that we necessarily have to have a tax increase," Connally said.

'Hair'assment By Grand Dragon

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Four Tulsa men, including the grand dragon of the Oklahoma Ku Klux Klan, attempted a citizens' arrest of the cast of the musical "Hair" during a nude scene Sunday night.

The four contended the performance violated eight city ordinances including laws against obscenity, profanity, sexual innuendo and perversion. City prosecutor Jake Morgan refused to authorize police to enforce the arrests on the ground the federal courts had ruled no such laws were violated by the production.

The Klansmen, including Grand Dragon Lloyd French, left the theater peacefully but with security guards at their sides.

The men were seated about 10 rows from the stage of the city-owned theater, and the lights had just dimmed for the nude scene. About 12 cast members stood nude facing the audience.

The four jumped from their seats and rushed down the aisle toward the stage during the 15 seconds the cast members stood naked. Klansman Donald A. Burris grabbed a microphone.

At that point, the house lights were turned on. It was a regularly scheduled intermission.

Burris, standing center stage, told the audience of about 2,000 that the four men were making a citizens' arrest.

About a third of the audience rose and booed.

AMBASSADOR RECALLED FROM BRITAIN

Bombing In Retaliation

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army retaliated with bombs and the Irish Republic summoned home its ambassador in Britain today on the heels of the killing of 13 civilians in a battle with British army troops in Londonderry.

An announcement by the Irish government of Prime Minister Jack Lynch in the south said the Dublin Cabinet is satisfied that British troops opened an unprovoked attack on unarmed civilians Sunday in the Roman Catholic Bogside district of Londonderry.

SHOOTINGS QUIZ
Lynch's government also launched a campaign for an international inquiry into the killings.

Lynch announced the action after a hastily called Cabinet meeting. He said his foreign minister, Patrick Hillery will go to New York for talks with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim. Hillery will also visit "heads of friendly governments" to explain the Irish government's position in a bid to set up an international inquiry into the shootings.

In London, the British government announced it would start an independent inquiry into the shootings.

Lynch called for an immediate withdrawal of the troops from Londonderry, cessation of the harassment of the minority population, the ending of internment without trial in Northern Ireland, and a declaration of intent by the British government to achieve a final solution of the Irish question by calling a conference for that purpose.

This action related to internment, responsibility for security forces in Northern Ireland and the continuing existence of the Protestant-dominated Parliament in its present form.

Lynch's decision to call home Ambassador Donal O'Sullivan from London does not mean a break in diplomatic relations between British and the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republic.

COMMISSIONERS FIELDING THAT ONE

Are Child Abuse Problems Great Enough For Agency?

Names, times, places and circumstances concerning child neglect or abuse or other problems concerning children will have to be furnished county commissioners before they will act in establishing a state child welfare office here.

Commissioners met with Mrs. Audrey D. Pryce, representative of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. William F. Martin and Carroll Crum, of the State Welfare Regional Office at San Angelo, concerning need for such an office here.

Mrs. Pryce presented facts from a survey of the need for a child welfare or child protection service locally which showed at that time that there had been 492 cases reported in that year that should come under the jurisdiction of such an office.

WOULD COST $16,000

Operational costs of such an office, including salary for a full-time case worker and a secretary, was estimated at $16,000 per year. According to Crum, an agreement could be worked out by which the county paid $8,000 and the state paid $8,000. The county would also have to furnish office space.

"I don't feel like our need is great enough for a full-time man. I agree that we've got problems, but not that great. Perhaps we need a district worker to work in Howard County twice a month or so," said County Judge A. G. Mitchell.

"I talk with Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer, and Keith Jones, our juvenile officer, every day, and I asked Jones how things were going and he said, 'everything is just fine.' If we had a problem like you say we have, they would have told me about it, and I would know about it," added Judge Mitchell.

Crum said that some type of arrangement might be worked out where a state representative could come into the county to determine its needs. He also said that Howard County is the only one of comparable-sized counties in the area not to have a child welfare worker.

Crum also pointed out that the program would not be used to pay out money for food, clothing and rent to families as a program for that was already established, but would serve only to intervene or counsel in problems concerning minor children.

MANY DUTIES

Some of the duties would include licensing and paying for foster care, working with the court in placing children removed from their natural homes because of abuse, neglect or unsatisfactory conditions and working with unwed mothers to arrange for pre-natal care and adoption of the babies after birth.

"There is a need here for a central medium to which children can go to report problems in their homes. They must have someone they can talk to," Crum said.

Snow Blankets Area, Hands Weatherman Big Surprise

What is cold, white, wet and comes usually when the weatherman doesn't predict it? That's right . . . snow, and Big Spring got plenty of it today starting at approximately 8:30 a.m.

Weather officials at the Big Spring Experiment Station reported at 11:30 a.m. that approximately one inch of the white stuff had fallen since 8:30 this morning.

They also predicted that by this afternoon two inches would have fallen upon the unsuspecting town.

Police received teletype reports from the Midland and Odessa police departments that entire District 6, which includes the major portion of our area, had received from three to six inches of snow this morning, and that the storm was headed in an easterly direction toward Big Spring.

All roads in the Midland and Odessa area were reported slick with snow and ice and very dangerous, and roads in the local area by noon were becoming hazardous. The police department reported that four minor accidents have occurred today since the beginning of the snow fall. They asked everyone to stay indoors and do little driving. Also the snow was causing other problems around the city.

Johnny Shortes, in the city's electrical repair truck-unit 90, was kept busy most of the morning repairing street light signals, and starting some of the ones hung up.

Officials reported that most of the electrical problems were caused by the falling snow.

James Campbell, city director of public works, said this morning that his trucks and crews were on standby, waiting for the conditions to get worse and for the ice to start collecting on the roads and streets. He said that they would begin to cover the streets with gravel and sand when the snow began to accumulate, adding they would work throughout the night if necessary.

All surrounding areas reported this morning that the ground was covered with a thick layer of the frozen moisture, however, there were no official estimates of how much snow had actually fallen in those places.

No county crews have been dispatched to sand down county roads.

The forecast for today and Tuesday called for conditions that would make for hazardous driving due to wet snow on the highways. Cloudy and cold with intermittent snow this afternoon and tonight were conditions also expected, with the high today being 35 and the low tonight 28.

Tower Makes It Official

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., Texas' first Republican senator since 1870, announced for re-election today.

Tower pledged he would put his responsibilities to Texas above those of the GOP national administration or his party. He said he had already received promises of support from many Democrats.

"I have paid strict attention to the concerns of Texans, even when these concerns have conflicted with administration policy regardless of which party was in control at the White House; and I have tried to reflect the thinking of Texans on national and international matters," Tower said.

In answering questions at a news conference at the State Senate chamber in Austin, Tower said he supported administration matters 68 per cent of the votes during his 11 years in the senate "but I have also broken with the administration a number of times. I intend to run on my convictions and my record."

Tower, 46, planned to make similar announcements later in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

UNUSUAL ANTICS OF JET STREAM

Erratic Winter Weather Traced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unusual antics of the jet stream, a meandering, 300-mile-an-hour river of air coursing miles above the earth, are primarily responsible for the nation's erratic winter weather this winter, according to government meteorologists.

They say the jet stream, which hasn't behaved in its current manner for 20 years, accounts for such unlikely winter weather as:

—Frequent unseasonably warm weather in the eastern third of the nation; unusually cold weather in the western third; erratic changes in weather in the remaining third.

—What might be called reversed vertical weather, a frequent occurrence this season. The dividing line for cold and warm weather often has run in a roughly vertical pattern, more or less along the Mississippi River. In other winters, the line usually runs horizontally, separating north and south.

ELEPHANT EARS

—Relatively rapid changes in temperature for short periods of time, mostly in the Midwestern states. Examples are a 72-degree drop in temperature to 20 below zero in the Indianapolis area during 72 hours and a 33-degree drop to 13 below zero in the Duluth, Minn., area during 18 hours.

Resulting oddities during the fall and winter have ranged from circus elephants suffering frosted ears and feet in a major October snowstorm in Wyoming to the sudden blooming of Japanese cherry trees during the Christmas season in Washington.

Scientists at the National Weather Service say the jet stream, a major factor in determining weather at earth's surface, has upset usual winter patterns because it is north of its normal position as it passes high above the eastern and southern parts of the nation. The result is unusually warm temperatures so far in these areas.

SUCKED SOUTH

At the same time, the stream has been south of its normal course as it moves over the western United States.

Another weather factor, interplaying with the off-course jet stream, has been extremely cold surface air over Canada and Alaska these past few months.

The frigid air, 15 degrees colder than normal, at times has been sucked southward more quickly than usual by weather processes linked with the jet stream. This largely accounts for the rather sudden drops in temperature in some areas.

Meteorologists describe the jet stream as a 100-mile mass of rapidly moving air that whirls west to east around the Northern Hemisphere at an altitude of four to seven miles.

Characterized by huge dips and rises, it controls the pattern and direction of the earth's storm tracks, intermittent areas of low pressure that tend to produce rainy or snowy weather.

Giving details on what's been happening since October, meteorologist James Wagner of the weather service said that in an ordinary winter the jet stream passes relatively close to the Gulf and Atlantic Coasts.

STORMS ABSENT

The warm air it sucks northward from the Gulf travels a relatively short distance before it hits larger amounts of cold air sucked down from the north. This situation results in snowy or cold weather over the mid-western and northeastern United States.

Author Dodges Grand Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — Clifford Irving's appearance before a Manhattan grand jury was postponed today without a new time being set for questioning the author, whose unpublished book on Howard Hughes has spawned mysteries about the authenticity of the purported autobiography and what became of checks to the billionaire.

A spokesman for Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan reported the postponement came at the request of Irving's lawyer, Maurice M. Nessen. It had been reported that Nessen, an expert in criminal law, wanted more time to be briefed by his client.

The grand jury is investigating what became of the $650,000 McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. gave Irving to transmit to Hughes as payment for the book. It was reported that Irving would ask for a delay in his grand jury appearance so he could brief his new attorney on the case.

The latest speculation restored some of the uncertainty dispelled when Irving, 41, admitted through his attorney last week that his wife Edith had deposited three checks totaling $650,000 in a Swiss bank account under the name "Helga R. Hughes."

Irving and his lawyer, Maurice Nessen, said Mrs. Irving later withdrew the money at the request of Hughes and redeposited the sum intact in a second Swiss bank.

But CBS and Time magazine reported Sunday that Mrs. Irving deposited only $450,000 in the second bank. The network said in its "60 Minutes" program that Irving spent $50,000 of the money, while Time claimed the author was "frantically trying to raise $200,000."

In Zurich, Swiss authorities reported today that they have found the second bank account into which the Hughes payments had been redeposited. Police said the new account was opened at the Swiss Bank Corp. in the name of Hannah Rosenkrantz, which CBS has said is another pseudonym of Mrs. Irving's.

The amount of money in the account was not given.

Time also reported that the 999-page autobiography Irving says was compiled after more than 100 meetings with the reclusive billionaire may be partially based on a computer printout.

Time said it had learned of the existence of a computerized document that "contains virtually everything that has ever been published about Hughes, as well as thousands of memoranda dictated for and by Hughes—material enough for a dozen 'authentic' books."

Banquet Ticket Deadline Near

The deadline for Chamber of Commerce banquet tickets is today at 5 p.m., according to Chamber officials.

"We need to let the high school know how many people will attend," they said.

The banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the high school cafeteria. The speaker for the event will be Tom J. Vandergriff, mayor of Arlington.

Waves Of B52s Pounding Buildups Along Frontier

SAIGON (AP) — More waves of U.S. B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese troop and supply buildups today along a 200-mile stretch of South Vietnam's western border, from the demilitarized zone to the central highlands. They were the heaviest raids there in four months.

About 20 of America's biggest bombers unleashed more than 500 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese positions inside the southern half of the demilitarized zone, at the northern entrance to the A Shau valley and west and northwest of Kontum, in the central highlands, which U.S. advisers say may be one target of the anticipated offensive.

AIR ATTACKS

The heavy air attacks came as Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. Army chief of staff, told a Saigon news conference that North Vietnam is preparing for a multiphase offensive next month in South Vietnam just below the demilitarized zone and in the central highlands.

Westmoreland, who commanded U.S. forces in Vietnam in 1965-68, said the Communists may "have some temporary success." But he said he and top U.S. and South Vietnamese officers are confident Saigon's forces can handle any enemy offensive.

22 WOUNDED

The South Vietnamese Command reported that its air force destroyed three North Vietnamese tanks Sunday just inside the border, about 32 miles west-northwest of Kontum.

On the DMZ front, North Vietnamese forces bombarded South Vietnamese bases along the zone with more than 200 rockets and mortar shells, and four ground clashes were reported.

The South Vietnamese command claimed 54 North Vietnamese troops were killed and said government losses were nine killed and 22 wounded. It was the heaviest action along the DMZ since last fall.

U.S. military sources said thousands of fresh North Vietnamese troops, including a division usually held in reserve in North Vietnam, are on the move across the DMZ into northern Quang Tri province as well as down the Ho Chi Minh trail toward the central highlands.

In Vientiane, the Laotian capital, informed sources said half of a Laotian battalion is missing after being routed from positions 20 miles north of Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

A spokesman for the Laotian Defense Ministry said nine positions near Luang Prabang and three of them held by one battalion were overrun. He claimed that 20 North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao were killed.

Fishing Fleet News Blackout

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Attorneys have been ordered not to discuss the case of three Soviet fishing fleet officers charged with violating the U.S. 12-mile fisheries zone.

The news blackout imposed over the weekend by U.S. District Court Judge James von der Heydt followed speculation that defense attorney James Wammamaker and U.S. Atty. Gen. Kent Edwards were negotiating a possible out-of-court settlement.

The three are charged with fisheries support activities in the U.S. fisheries zone, a violation of international treaty.

PARIS (AP) — The sailor suit has already spilled out of the Paris couture showings this week and into the Boulevard St. Germain. But you can pay more for it at Patou in navy and white crepe. Givenchy sews a sailor collar onto almost every-thing, including his bride.

The antebellum belle has also been tittering her way through the salons this week. Patou, Ricci and even Courreges have a couple. There's nothing wrong with plaid taffeta, white frills and ruffles, but the dress is not the same without a hoop.

The bare look is important, too, specially when you take fabric prices into account. If you don't want to wear a halter, try Givenchy's long dresses with cutouts or his linen pants and tops with the bare midriff.

Laroche likes a jeweled bra for evening. Patou and Lanvin prefer a bathing suit top, even if it does hide the navel. Patou's is in sashed navy silk crepe, Lanvin's in gold lame. Everyone has a mile or so of ruffles, lace and frills, including Givenchy, whose trademark is the ruffle.

It's dangerous to talk about Ungaro. Either you like him or you don't, but either way you feel strongly about it. His clothes are printed as always in daisies, checks and slashes of conflicting colors, but many people objected to the 1940 turbans or the bushy hair his models wore.

He was one of the few to show a mini, in flounced satin, and shorts, baggy enough to fit a tubby golfer. Feraud had white minis with wool roses and Courreges also had shorts, with t-shirts, which looked like what a truck driver would take a nap in.

Navy, white and red are classic, but the designers have more fun with prints, especially roses. Givenchy's roses are green, Dior's are white, and Gres likes thousands of daisies for fluttering chiffon dresses.

Lanvin goes in for ladybugs. You can wear your coat bulky and sashed at Dior or with short sleeves to show a printed shirt at Patou. But please don't forget your hat.

Dior is making the smallest berets this season and Givenchy has the stiffest ones. Everyone has either a Maurice Chevalier straw boater, black at Feraud, or a Sunday school roller with grosgrain ribbon. Chanel's straw wears its brim down, gangster-style, and Patou has the biggest hat of all, to balance evening dresses with floating pleated skirts.

The pants are the best thing this season, in crepe, silk and soft wools. They come with printed shirts and blazers, checked or chalk and awning-striped. The long sashed cardigan is even softer, whether over pants or printed to match the new pleated shirtdress, as at Ricci.

Designers May Need 'Commercial Security'

By ODETTE MINGIN
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Valentino, the Italian designer who counts first and shows last, concluded the showings of spring and summer collections in Rome with a resounding affirmation of delicate femininity.

Pants, yes, but not for evening wear, he said.

Other designers had similar inclinations. When they didn't, they widened trouser legs to the fullness of skirts.

The novelties in the collections included low-shouldered coats with sleeves that were often cut in one piece with the body. Ruffles on boa scarves, dresses and sleeves flourished in the evening. Many designers placed them vertically to run the length of the arm. Pleats and lace added frothiness to the gowns.

As lengths settled on the knee for daytime wear, designers flared skirts, sometimes to a full circle. There were not many suits, but pleated skirts and blouses or shirtwaist dresses found a place in most collections.

These were on the whole more feminine but also more classical, indicating that designers looked for commercial security. As prices rose along with labor costs, buyers appeared to be fewer. Some of the lesser-known fashion houses seemed to feel the pinch, and six of them canceled their showings.

A number of houses, following an agreement with textile firms to boost the industry, used the same fabrics. This gave a touch of monotony to their collections.

Valentino, Mila Schoen and a few others continued to use exclusive materials and prints. Valentino launched printed tulle for evening dresses, and Mila Schoen worked fine lace designs into hers. Both encrusted their double-faced wool coats with knitted yokes, waistlines and pockets.

For the evening, Valentino printed roses and flower sprays on light flowing dresses and wrapped ground-length veils of matching fabric on the models as a sort of cloak.

"For reasons of ecology," Capucci used natural material—bamboo and pebbles for belts, necklines and sleeve tops, raffia and even sackcloth for gowns.

Fashions For Eternal Spring

Adele Simpson calls her collection for the season ahead "continuous spring." Spring, she figures, is based on the social calendar and is determined by "where the sun is."

She says spring starts in the heart, with a longing for change, with wanderlust, spontaneous parties, exciting events, new adventures. See?

Bottle Cutter Is Handy Gadget

A bottle cutter will sever any glass surface. The manufacturer says an individual can learn to cut any round bottle in five minutes.

Among things to make: Glasses of all kinds, hanging lamps, vases, planters, candleholders. All you need is the cutter and discarded glass bottles, jugs, jars.

COOLIE LOOK—Following the fashion trend to oriental inspiration, Italian designer Lancetti offers a coolie look for the 1972 Rome spring and summer collection. Model wears yellow trousers with a sleeveless jacket and platform shoes. Coolie hat and square glasses add finishing touch.

Designers Revive 'Topper' Coat

Part of fashion's looking backward to the '40s means a shed smoking jacket revival of the short "topper" emerging as the classic partner coat, with loose swinging back for pantsuits come spring. One-It's usually shown with the button blazers also pair with wide-legged pants. The princess, pants, with wide legs. There slim-fitted coat also returns, also are smock, middy and flaring at the bottom with back cardigan jackets making the pleat or bias fullness. daytime scene.

Describes Types Of Muscular Dystrophy

"There are actually several types of muscular dystrophy," said Mrs. Joyce White of Lubbock to Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Ken Lord, 2707 Carol. "Of the four most common types of the disease, three are known to be hereditary," continued Mrs. White, district director for Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America in West Texas.

"Muscular dystrophy is a muscle-destroying disease that disables its victims, often weakening them so much that a common cold can kill them," said Mrs. White. "It can affect anyone, but the most prominent type is Duchenne which strikes young children." Duchenne symptoms are a swayback, waddling gait and difficulty in rising or climbing stairs. Afflicted children usually die within 15 years.

Other types of MD outlined by Mrs. White included facio-scapulo-humeral, which afflicts young adults with a lack of raising arms and slouched shoulders. Its progression is slow and eventually causes great disability, but seldom shortens an average life span.

Limb-girdle MD can strike any time from the first to third decades of life, and causes weakness of pelvic and shoulder muscles. Its progression varies from slow to fast, and some patients live to old age.

Appearing at the age of 40 or 50, MD of late onset affects both sexes and causes a weakness of pelvic muscles. Its progression is also slow, and it is not known to be hereditary. There is no treatment for any of the four types of MD mentioned above, but Mrs. White said physical therapy helps delay disuse of healthy muscles and antibiotics control secondary illnesses.

Mrs. White explained that money donated to MDAA is used for research, patient camping programs, quarterly clinics and machinery and equipment needed by patients.

There are four MD patients in Big Spring, and Mrs. White said donations collected here pay all medical expenses for these people, including equipment such as wheelchairs when necessary.

The ESA District 8 project is MD, and members of Alpha Chi have assisted in various fundraising events for the association. They will assist with "shamrock for dystrophy" sales St. Patrick's Day. A local telethon is scheduled March 3.

Mrs. Clovis Hale presided, and Mrs. Frank Perry, ways and means chairman, announced a bake sale is scheduled March 25 at Highland Center Mall.

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 10 in the home of Mrs. Bill Narrall, 2505 Larry.

Check Labels

Always check the washability and shrinking information on the bolt labels before you buy any home sewing material. Remember, too, that one of the best ways to stretch the clothing budget is to take a professionally taught sewing course.

'Sex, Drugs, Alcoholism Are Temporary Escapes'

"Public preoccupation with sex, drug-addiction and alcoholism are some of the temporary escapes from reality being used today," said Mrs. H. M. Rowe for Modern Woman's Forum Friday in the home of Mrs. C. R. Moad, 702 Abrams.

Mrs. Rowe's program, "America's Social Problems," emphasized the present-day trend toward escapism and defeatism, which she said have become the biggest social problems of our time.

"In a time when men are seeking to explore the stars, they are finding it increasingly difficult to solve the problems on this planet," said Mrs. Rowe.

Mrs. S. R. Nobles assisted with the program and spoke about "Citizen Crime Fighters." She said a recent story in U.S. News and World Report magazine told about a group of concerned citizens in several large cities of the country that are rallying to help police halt the terrifying rise in crime.

"The success of this system has been most gratifying," said Mrs. Nobles, "and a neighborliness is being redeveloped that was common in this country 25 years ago. The lesson is gradually getting through to Americans from coast to coast that they must help. In various ways they are joining the fight in the hope of seeing a reduction in the spiraling rate and cost of crime."

Mrs. T. G. Adams discussed the "salute to volunteers" luncheon held recently at Big Spring State Hospital. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting is at 3 p.m., Feb. 11 in the home of Mrs. Margaret White, 1203 Douglas.

A LOVELIER YOU Diet Talk Hard On Everyone Concerned

By MARY SUE MILLER
When you are on a diet, one of the surest ways to weaken your resolve is to talk about it. You look at the beautiful chocolate cake, wring your hands and say, "I wish I could have a piece, but I'm dieting."

Your friends who are so bored hearing about your diet, allow as how you should have an eensy-weensy sliver. "Well, just this once," you say. And there goes your calorie allowance for the day.

Yes, ma'am, harping on your diet regimen highlights your privations, triggers those nasty little food cravings, undermines your will power and turns off your companions (including your family). So do let silence reign.

In resolution's further cause, try these persuasive measures: Keep busy, so busy that thoughts of food are pushed aside by other interests. If you have time on your hands, find and get involved in a new activity.

Pretend you are already slim. Were you slim, you would then be as steady about your calorie intake as the figure-proud girls. You would dine deliciously, not deleteriously.

Buy a dress — a knockout — in the size you hope to be. Hang it in the forefront of your wardrobe. You might even tie a big red bow on the hanger. What a jog it will prove to effort every time you open your closet door.

The results will speak for themselves.

CALORIE COUNTER
Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our leaflet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. ## Rain doesn't always make things grow.

Last year bad weather helped kill over 11,000 people. Good-weather drivers did the rest. Drivers who drive like it's summer all year long.

Slick streets greatly increase the chances of a skid, but that doesn't make the good-weather driver go any slower. Rain, ice, and snow almost double the distance needed to stop, but that doesn't stop him from following too closely. Bad weather can drastically limit visibility, but that doesn't make him any more cautious.

You know the kind of driver we mean. Watch out for him. And make sure you're a good bad-weather driver. We want you and your family to be around to enjoy the good weather.

Some Of Leverage Lost

Debate within the Nixon administration over stepped-up trade with the Soviet Union defines the philosophical differences of the top officials, including the President.

The President's "tilt" toward a hard line has to assume he holds enough trump cards to make a difference in Moscow. That is by no means an unassailable assumption.

Current U.S. sales to Russia are about $200 million a year. That isn't enough to make much difference, either. Former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, after a November negotiating trip to Russia, estimated that a comprehensive trade agreement would amount to billions of dollars a year.

Moscow took the initiative to expand trade but the sticking point is mainly the "not very cooperative" stance Moscow took in the India-Pakistan war just ended. Even that viewpoint by the White House is subject to analysis.

Prevailing White House view was that India intended to subdue West Pakistan as well as East Pakistan, now Bangladesh. That view was based upon C.I.A. information (according to information leaks now certified as genuine) as of Dec. 8. Yet, on Dec. 9 information (published in Washington on Dec. 10), the move on West Pakistan, favored by Indian generals, was in check.

Since the Bangladesh incident was provoked by Pakistan's refusal to let a valid election stand in the Bangladesh region, and since refugees by the million swamped Indian resources with no relief in sight, Indian intervention — as cruel and bloody as it was — had some political validity.

Thus, the bargaining leverage on trade agreements may be less than the Nixon-Kissinger view allows.

There is strong argument in favor of building better political relations from better commercial relations. If the Soviets want a big truck factory, for example, one should suppose they will get it. If not from us, then from somebody else. Indeed, if we helped them motorize their society for greater productivity, it doesn't necessarily follow that they will build a bridge across the ocean and roll over us. Having a taste of better things, their people may demand more of them. Historically, only the "have nots" are hard to get along with.

Haste Makes Loophole

James R. Hoffa, former Teamsters Union president, was freed from federal prison with the condition that he stay out of labor management until 1980.

President Nixon commuted Hoffa's sentence four years early and set the conditions. Unfortunately, the undue haste with which the clemency petition was handled apparently has left a large loophole.

The U.S. Parole Board loses jurisdiction over Hoffa next year. It is uncertain what agency will be responsible for enforcing the presidential conditions. The justice department had no comment. The administration's haste to gain support from at least one branch of organized labor may backfire unless someone accepts responsibility for Hoffa.

Reality Of Deficits

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Many people are probably bewildered by all the figures about "deficits." But to understand them, one must realize that the dollar of today is not the same in purchasing power as it was years ago.

THUS, THERE are still persons alive now — 70 years old or more — who may recall that prior to 1917, when the United States entered World War I, the receipts of the federal government were $710 million and expenditures were $760 million. But by 1919 there were changes, as the receipts were $1.1 billion and the outgo was $1.5 billion. The deficits, however, stopped in 1920 and were not resumed until the depression in the 1930's and the outbreak of World War II — each of which required substantial increases in America's spending.

Basically, the dollars then were worth more than they are at present, and yet the word "dollar" has been used throughout the years as government expenses have enlarged considerably in the categories of domestic and foreign policy requirements.

THE NATION'S ECONOMY is so immense and its output so great that the amount of income it can produce in terms of dollars can be higher than anticipated. Everything depends on business conditions and on whether war or the necessity to spend more money for national defense absorbs a larger and larger part of the budget.

But when a country is as big as the United States now has become and when the national output is as huge as it is, the deficits can be overcome within two or three years if economic factors are favorable. It could happen that one year or two years of economic prosperity could materially reduce the deficits.

THE TRUTH is that the economy of the United States has developed to such an extent that the production potential is difficult to forecast. When times are good, business grows at a rapid rate.

While deficits are in the headlines nowadays, once the machinery of economic recovery has been made to work there can be budgets close to balance. The dollar, of course, will not buy as much as it did before. Unfortunately, this has been dramatically true in recent years, as prices have steadily gone up. But incomes as well as salary schedules are being improved. The wages paid labor currently are far in excess of what they were 20 or 30 years ago, and they will continue to rise, because inflation will not be totally curbed and man-hour output will keep on expanding.

THE GOVERNMENT itself has to spend whatever money is necessary to take care of the needs of a growing population. The danger of war still exists, and money must be appropriated for defense purposes. Until, therefore, the receipts from taxes are large enough to offset the expenditures and leave a balance, the federal government will have to keep on increasing its national debt and pay interest thereon. The days of surplus may or may not be far off, but economic recovery is essential. In the meantime, the administration in power cannot possibly carry on the activities of the government without a deficit until business is better and tax receipts grow in a substantial manner.

'THIS MAKES IT PERFECTLY CLEAR'

Economic Excesses

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — If the country has learned anything from the economic excesses of the late 1960s, it is that they're easy to commit but 10 times harder to correct.

This is indicated tacitly in the President's economic report to Congress and the annual report of the Council of Economic Advisors. The statements are optimistic, as they must be. But they are also restrained, based on recognition of past defeats and a future unknown.

True, the President set a goal a Gross National Production growth of 9% this year, which is something like creating in one year an economy the size of Canada's, but he still made no promises on employment and inflation.

Those two viruses seem to be immune to everything tried—and just about everything has been tried. And so, where the rhetoric might have been termed "confident" a year ago it seems now to be merely "realistic."

That is, the administration now seeks to get the jobless rate down to the neighborhood of 5 per cent by the end of 1972 from its present 6 per cent. But last year's report saw it going even lower—in 1971.

Inflation is expected to average about 3.25 per cent for the year, but this obviously is just a goal, based on the administration's statement that controls will remain indefinitely.

More realism is seen also in the manner in which the administration arrived at the GNP forecast of $1.145 trillion. It does not, for example, rely heavily on a boom in consumer spending, which has long been forecast.

Last year, if you remember, the administration overstated the GNP by $18 billion, based partly on that expected resurgence of consumer spending. Since the result was hardly a surge, tax revenues fell shorter than forecast.

There is restraint also in the administration's expectations of business spending. In fact, the council lists as a major uncertainty the chance that business, also fearing that consumers aren't ready to splurge, won't spend heavily to build inventories.

In short, the elusiveness of stability, the experience of having overstated its expectations a year ago, and doubts about the ability of any policy to produce quick changes, temper the outlook.

This year's goals are a bit less definite in time and substance. "Will" appears to be replaced by "determined." Specific figures on inflation are hedged by "in the neighborhood of" and "reasonable price stability."

This is because the demon that is being fought refuses to die, and it is no mystery why when you realize it is none other than great expectations, the old American dream of everything getting bigger and better.

Bigger and better may be a legitimate expectation, the nation's leaders seem to be saying, but you have to work for it. It isn't something bestowed; it is a reward earned.

The expectation that has taken hold of the economy in the past half decade or more is that prices and wages will always be higher. Since a race has been declared, the only way to stay in place is to run all the harder—to raise prices if you are a businessman, to demand higher wages if you are an employee.

In the last two weeks the rest allowance was cut from 15 minutes per hour to only 3 minutes while the last 52 1/2 hours were continuous. The prize of $1,000 was equivalent to less than 26 1/2 cents per hour.

He suffered a fractured pelvis and severe spinal damage. One moment Myrtle was gazing peacefully out the airplane window, admiring the view. The next moment the plane struck an air pocket, lurched downward, and tossed Myrtle right out of her seat.

THE JOLT dislocated her shoulder, and in due course she filed a damage suit against the airline.

"As a common carrier," she argued, "the airline was obliged to deliver me safely to my destination. This they failed to do."

However, the court ruled that the plane's sudden plunge was an "act of God," hence nobody's fault. The court said that a bumpy ride is not yet possible under today's technology — and even a common carrier should not be expected to do the impossible.

NEVERTHELESS, it is expected to do all it can. In another case, a pilot neglected to turn on the FASTEN YOUR SEAT BELT sign even though his plane had already entered a zone of turbulence. This time, when a passenger was injured in an accident like Myrtle's, he was held entitled to collect damages from the airline.

In a third case, a man was assured by a stewardess that there was "still time to go to the washroom, just as the plane was approaching a known patch of choppy air. Again, injury. And again, airline liability.

BUT IT IS also true that the passenger must do his share to minimize the risk.

One passenger obediently hooked up his seat belt when the warning sign went on. But he left so much slack in the belt that there was still plenty of room for him to bounce. And when the plane hit turbulence, he did bounce — hard.

AFTERWARD, the man tried to collect damages for the injuries he had sustained. He blamed the stewardess for not double-checking his belt.

But the court threw out his claim. For having suffered an accident he could easily have avoided, said the court, he had no one to blame but himself.

What Others Say

American oil companies having overseas interests are going to have to batten down for a blow.

As a few far-seeing men predicted 23 years ago when the state of Israel was founded with strong backing by the U.S. government, American oil companies were sure to get into trouble if the struggle between Israel and her Arab neighbors dragged on.

The Syrians, ostensibly punishing the United States for supporting Israel, have refused to allow a break to be repaired in the American-owned Trans-Arabian pipeline.

The Libyan government nationalized all oil distribution, although for the moment producing properties have not been expropriated. There is, however, a freeze on new concessions.

Iraq has forced the Western consortium to increase payments 11 per cent.

But if anger against the Americans provides an excuse for Arab moves against American oil companies it must be added that the grab is on against oil companies of other nations, too. Recently the Algerians told the French the royalty paid to the Algerian government must go from $1 to $1.80 on each barrel of crude. And countries that have nothing to do with the Arab-Israel war are pushing everywhere. Peru has seized all the properties of the Jersey-owned International Petroleum Corp. Venezuelan taxes rose three per cent last year and the profits of Creole, another Jersey subsidiary, dropped 14 per cent.

There is cold comfort in the frigid North Sea where Phillips has recently discovered what it believes to be a "giant" field under 240 feet of water in Norwegian offshore territory. The Norwegian government has demanded the stiffest terms yet for such a risky proposition — 56 per cent of net income.

Tbilisi's Man Of Hour

TBILISI, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Probably the most popular man in Tbilisi this week is a quiet American named Shota Davidovich Sagirashvili.

"I've become somewhat of a celebrity around here," says Sagirashvili, 42. "They wine me, they dine me, they're always sending bottles of champagne to my table. I just can't take all this wine drinking. I'll end up in alcoholics anonymous when I get home."

SAGIRASHVILI, of Hyattsville, Md., is a guide at an American exhibit called "Research and Development—U.S.A." which opened in this capital of Soviet Georgia on Monday.

Like all 23 American guides at the exhibit, Sagirashvili speaks Russian. But he also speaks Georgian, the native language of this ancient land astride the Caucasus Mountains and between the Black and Caspian Seas.

HE LEARNED the language from his father, David Sagirashvili, a native of Tbilisi and a member of the Georgian underground during the struggle for independence from Czarist Russia and an official of the Georgian government during a brief period of independence 1918-21.

"They're absolutely thrilled by the fact that I speak Georgian," Sagirashvili said of the native Georgians.

"One lady said to me today: 'We come to see the exhibit, of course, but the whole city knows you are here, and we really came to see you.'"

SAGIRASHVILI was born in Berlin of a Finnish mother who had lived in Georgia. After growing up in Europe, he came to the United States in 1958 and started out as a soda jerk and janitor.

He now works for the Georgian language service of the Voice of America at its Washington headquarters.

"To come to Tbilisi some day was always a dream, a possibility," Sagirashvili said. "But to come back as an official representative of the American government really feels strange."

"THE OTHER day we went up the mountain. The holy mountain, they call it. The one that overlooks the city. That's where my father had a secret meeting place for his underground activities in the Czarist days. To walk around on that mountain, in the same places where my father walked, sure felt funny," Sagirashvili said.

"I have mixed feelings about this place," he continued. "I'll be happy to leave. But it'll be sad too, because these people have been so good to us."

"I'VE HAD some experiences that were very touching. The other day at the exhibit a man stood with the crowd very quietly and shyly. Then when the others had left, he came up and asked: 'Is it true that your name is Sagirashvili? Because I, too, am a Sagirashvili.'"

"Then he told me that he had a picture book of Georgia that he wanted to inscribe and give to me."

"Another man said: 'I'm very glad you speak Georgian because I am a Georgian patriot.' He started to cry and walked away."

What Is A Boudoir?

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Do leg cramps disturb your nightly sleep? Three California doctors have found large doses of Vitamin E helpful in treating them.

Prosperity note: Bankruptcy is the last resort by which Americans now wipe out a billion dollars worth of debt every year. Over 200,000 bankruptcy petitions were filed last year. In 1950, some 22 out of every 100,000 persons filed for bankruptcy. But last year 90 out of every 100,000 did.

Quotable notables: "I's not the young husbands who run away from their wives. Just the opposite. My figures show that out of 100,000 husbands who disappear, close to 85 per cent are men past the age of 40."—Daniel M. Eisenberg.

Dawn to dawn: Many people as they get older complain that the years seem shorter but the days are getting longer. The days are probably getting longer—but not at a rate the average man would notice. Scientists estimate the days are getting one second longer every 100,000 years.

Know your language: What is a boudoir? Today it is an intimate room where a lady can be alone or entertain her close friends or lovers. But in the Middle Ages it was a room where a girl was exiled when she had the sulks. Boudoir comes from the French verb bouder, which means "to pout."

Exit lines: Dying, Joseph Addison said, "See in what peace Christian can die." John Quincy Adams remarked, "It is the last of earth, I am content." As he put his head on the block, King Charles I said, "Remember, Rabelais murmured, 'Let down the curtain, the farce is over.'"

Folklore: When you sneeze, an evil spirit is forced out of your body. If two married women sneeze together, they'll have daughters; if two husbands do, they'll have sons. A sneeze is an indication of illness.

It was Benjamin Disraeli who observed, "The great majority of men exist but do not live."

My Answer

Billy Graham

I guess I am what you call a born loser. I always lose the things that are most important to me. I lost my first Christian fiancée to marry a drunk, whom I was proud of because of his job status, and he lost it. I had a job I was proud of and I lost it. Ten years later my husband had a top executive job and lost it because of alcoholism. Please tell me what makes a "born loser."

Yours is a sad story. But, as I see it, you have concentrated on the wrong things. Jesus spoke about "things that abide," and they were never material things. Your lament is about lost jobs, lost status, lost income, etc. I see in your question little concern about spiritual things, about the things that really last. Perhaps you are a "born loser" because you have sought the wrong things. Jesus said, "The abundance of a man's life consisteth not in the things which he possesseth." Luke 12-15.

I detect a lot of pride in your letter, and the things you have lost have hurt your pride. I suggest you try two things: first seek some humility before God. Jesus said, "He that humbly himself shall be exalted." Luke 14:11. Notice humility is not particularly a gift from God, it is something we can acquire — it is a slant of soul. In pride you have been leaning away from God, but in humility you can lean toward Him.

Second, make Christ your goal instead of self. Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." Matthew 6:33.

A Devotion For Today..

When they were come into the ship, the wind ceased. —Matthew 14:32

PRAYER: O Lord God, help us to have faith to enter into Your presence, where we may find the peace and security we need in these times of uncertainty. We ask in the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

More Important

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What has happened to you? You used to encourage married couples to do everything within their power to save their marriages. Lately, you give the impression that divorce could be the answer for some couples. Why?

FAITHFUL READER: Because I think it's more important to save people than marriages. And in some cases, in an effort to save the marriage, people have destroyed themselves.

DEAR ABBY: Our 7-year-old printed the following letter to Santa: "Dear Santa, all I want for Christmas is for my mommy to quit smoking because I love her very much and don't want her to die. If you brought more toys for me please give them to some other little boy because all I want is a Mommy who doesn't cough anymore, and doesn't get nervous when she can't find a cigaret butt. Thank you."

BILLY: His Mommy cried when she read it. But she's still smoking. Sign me "Billy's father," or more appropriately.

DISGUSTED: Mommy's hooked. If she really wants to kick the habit, she can, but she'll need encouragement and understanding, not contempt.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and I have four big problems. A big nose, two big ears that stick out, and hair that is very thin.

I like to wear my hair straight and plain, but I have to keep brushing it all the time because if I don't, my ears stick out.

I am very self-conscious about my nose, too, especially with these big ears of mine. Can you help me, Abby? I hope so because the rest of me is okay.

Prince Charlie 'Really Dishy'

GRAND HILLS, CALIF. — What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

LONDON (AP) — The presence of Charles, Prince of Wales and heir to the British throne, stopped the show at a performance of the rock musical "Godspell."

The prince arrived secretly, but the cast learned he was there during the first act. Gay Soper, a 26-year-old performer plunged into the audience in a low-cut dress, waving a feather boa singing "Turn Back, O Man," and suddenly called out, "Hi'ya Charlie."

The prince broke out laughing and the audience burst into applause.

Miss Soper, whose role calls for her to go into the audience during each performance but not to hail the prince, said after the show, "Prince Charles is really dishy."

We Change

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Not so long ago we were routinely putting iodine on cuts and other minor wounds. Suddenly the word seems to be, "Throw it away!" Why? — A.M.

Well, I wouldn't put it that strongly, but there has been a change in attitude.

Tincture of iodine isn't such bad stuff, but under certain circumstances it can have certain drawbacks which have been pointed out.

T. of I. is a solution — iodine, in its natural state is in crystalline form, is dissolved in alcohol to make a tincture. After it is applied, the alcohol evaporates, leaving the iodine on the skin. This can be irritating, and when it is used to prepare the site of an operation, for example, most of the excess iodine is rubbed away with more alcohol.

The same sort of irritation can be caused by iodine when used at home, particularly if it is an old bottle of the stuff that has been sitting on the shelf for a few years, with the alcohol gradually evaporating and leaving a stronger and stronger concentration of iodine. That's the principal objection to ordinary home use.

For another point, part of the reason for use of tincture of iodine in the past has been that it stains the skin. You can see where you have applied it, and it gives you a feeling of having "done something." In actual fact, washing an ordinary minor wound with soap and water is usually just as effective.

Iodine (and the alcohol, too) stings. There are effective home antiseptics that do as good a job and don't sting.

I don't see any reason to get worked up about it if somebody keeps an iodine bottle in the medicine cabinet, but there are substitutes that are just as good, and some of them safer, because iodine in any quantity is poisonous. Use it with good judgment, though, and you shouldn't encounter any serious trouble with it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read some time ago that there was more alcohol in a bottle of beer than in an ounce of 100-proof brandy or bourbon. Is that correct? — D.F.C.

It's pretty close. It depends in part on how big a bottle of beer you mean. Beer usually runs somewhere between 3 and a little less than 4 per cent. (Ale, stout, porter, etc., are somewhat higher.)

Let's take a 16-ounce bottle of beer at 3 per cent. Three per cent means 6 proof. Times 16 (Because of 16 ounces), that means that the same amount of alcohol contained in one ounce of fluid would be 96 proof.

Thus a 16-ounce bottle of 3 per cent beer would be just about equivalent to one ounce of 100-proof whisky.

But people don't usually down beer as fast as they do harder drinks or cocktails.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain what my doctor called "duodenitis." I have indigestion all the time. Does this have something to do with it? — H. H.

Decidedly yes. It means irritation or inflammation of the duodenum, which is the first portion of the small bowel — the part of the intestine that comes immediately after the stomach.

The duodenum is the commonest site of peptic ulcers.

Duodenitis can be a precursor of an ulcer — or it may be a secondary result of gall bladder disease. Hence the gall bladder should be checked (if your doctor hasn't already done so). Meantime, treatment of duodenitis is similar to that of an ulcer.

Myers Can Break Own Record This Evening

Howard County returns to the basketball floor here tonight, tangle with arch rival Odessa College in a Western Conference game set for 7:30 p.m.

If the Hawks reasoned they were in for an easy time, a 136-95 victory the Wranglers achieved over New Mexico Military Institute last Thursday night should snap them from their complacency.

Odessa scored 71 points the first half against the Cadets in rolling to its sixth victory of the season, compared to 10 defeats.

In the game, the Wranglers had seven players in double figures. Quincy Wallace led the way with 30 points. Freshman Randy Anderson counted 16, sophomores Allen Carter and Alvin Bailey each had 14. Soph Nat Hearn clipped in with 14 while freshman LaSelle Taylor counted 13.

In conference, Odessa stands at 3-2 and is still very much in contention for the Western Conference championship.

Archie Myers, HC's sensational shot-maker from Cleveland, Miss., is a near clinch to break his own season's record in scoring. He accumulated 920 points last year and the 31 he got against Cochise, Ariz., here Saturday night gave him 918 for the year. The new record could come in the first couple of minutes, although Archie has been slow to warm up in the last couple of games.

Myers now has a career total of 1838 points, which is far and away the greatest number ever accumulated by an HC player. Walter Carter of Gate City, Va., who played in 1962-63, held the old mark at 1345.

Howard county will carry a 5-1 conference record and is 22-5 on the year. On the all-important losing side of the ledger, the local quintet is tied for the lead in the league with Amarillo and South Plains. Each has one loss.

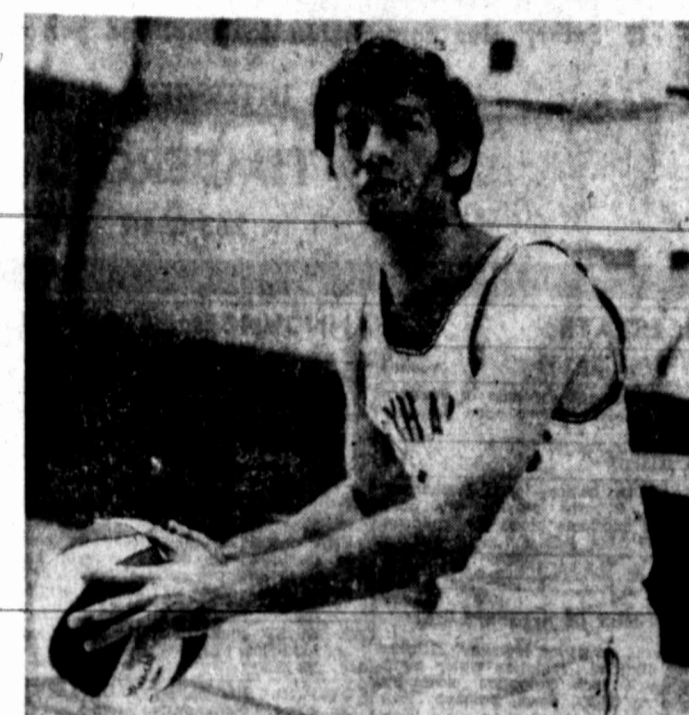

Last year, the Hawks wound up play with a 25-12 record.

Myers will start for Howard County this evening, along with Jim Kroier, Herbert Lee, Harry Miller and Lawrence Young.

HC pops up in Borger Thursday night to tangle with Frank Phillips.

Harney Untempted By Tourney Win

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Will sudden success lure Paul Harney back to a full shot at the rich pro golf tour and its $7.5 million in purses up for grabs this year?

"No," said the smiling gray-haired 42-year-old veteran who collected $30,000 for his victory in the Andy Williams-San Diego Open Sunday.

"I'm not tempted. I have no ambition to go back on the tour."

Harney, who birdied the final hole for a one-stroke victory over struggling young Hale Irwin, is a club pro in Sutton, Mass., and now plays only about 10 tournaments a year. He was on the tour on a fulltime basis for almost a decade before taking the job at Pleasant Valley Golf Club.

Harney, who hadn't won since 1965, had a final-round 70 over the warm and sunny Torrey Pines Golf Club course and finished with a 13-under-par total of 275.

Irwin, 26, appeared to have the tournament in his pocket when he made the turn three strokes in front. But he played the back nine in 39 — including a disastrous three-putt bogey on the 15th — and slipped to a par 72 and 276. He won $17,000.

"He deserves to win it more than I did," Irwin said of Harney.

Veteran Gardner Dickinson had a 68, despite three putts on the final green, for third at 277. Australian Bruce Crampton was alone in fourth with a 72 for 278. Miller Barber, winner of last week's Tucson Open, Canadian George Knudson, Dave Eichelberger and Bert Yancey followed at 279.

Jack Nicklaus, who had won five of six starts going into this one, was well back at 285, tied with Takashi Murakami, the crevicut little Japanese golfer at the end of 36 holes. Lee, who had a share of the lead Trevino took a final 74 for 292, beating only eight players.

Harney, dubbed "the Silver Fox" by his competitors, was playing about two holes in front of Irwin and appeared to be out of it when they finished nine holes.

But Irwin bogeyed two of the next three holes and dropped back into a tie with Harney when he three-putted from 10 feet on the 15th, missing the second from 18 inches.

Westerners Lose

PLAINVIEW — The Wayland Baptist JV team edged Western Texas JC of Snyder, 71-62, here Saturday night. Walter Hanibal led the losers with 17 points.

Johnny Champion Dies In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Funeral services for Johnny Champion, 41, former Southern Methodist football great, are set for Tuesday at Lake Jackson.

Champion died Saturday at his Lake Jackson home of an apparent heart attack. He had been a beer distributor in Freeport for the past seven years.

Survivors include the widow and two sons, Bruce, 14, and Fred, 12.

Champion, a wingback who stood only 5-foot-6 and weighed 165 pounds during his college career, played at SMU along with Kyle Rote and Doak Walker.

He will probably be best remembered for his classic battle against Len Hart, all-American end and Heisman Trophy winner, in the SMU-Notre Dame "game of the half-century" in 1949.

A fun-loving type, Champion taunted Hart all day in the Cotton Bowl and did an amazing job of blocking the 265-pound player although SMU lost 27-20.

Riker Leading Gamecocks' Resurgence

By The Associated Press

Here come South Carolina's Gamecocks, loaded as usual. And the big shot is a tommy gun.

Displaying typical, fast-breaking firepower, Frank McGuire's 11th-ranked basketball team clouted No. 19 Northern Illinois 83-72 Saturday night behind Tom Riker's 34-point blast.

"It was another great night for Riker," said McGuire. "It certainly was. Riker, who scored 42 points to help South Carolina whip Fordham in New York last Thursday, made 15 of his 22 field goal attempts against Northern Illinois.

The blazing shot-making gives him 34 of 43 in the last two games, a little better than 80 per cent from the field.

While McGuire boosted his top gun he also awarded team superlatives.

"This is the second tremendous victory on the road trip," exulted McGuire. "The Fordham win was great, but this one was better."

"Northern Illinois is a tremendous basketball club. They used every defense in the book and hurt us with their press in the second half. They also had the home crowd advantage."

NOISY CROWD

South Carolina earned its victory before a noisy crowd of 16,000 at Chicago Stadium in the first game of a doubleheader. Marquette, the nation's second-ranked club, defeated Loyola of Chicago 69-67 in the second game.

Top-ranked UCLA clobbered outmanned Notre Dame 57-32; fourth-rated Louisville tripped Bradley 52-46; No. 5 North Carolina smashed No. 15 Maryland 92-72; Michigan trounced No. 6 Ohio State 88-78; seventh-ranked Southern Cal lost to Santa Clara 83-73; No. 9 Penn crushed Princeton 82-59; No. 10 Florida State clouted Florida Southern 84-63 and No. 15 Hawaii trounced Redlands 84-50 in other top games.

Marquette put on a full-court press to erase a seven-point halftime disadvantage and the Warriors had to scrap all the way to beat Loyola's upstarts.

"We were fortunate to win," said Marquette Coach Al McGuire. "We played well in the second half and I think we're starting to find ourselves. Everyone thinks that we should win by 25 or 30 points, but it's not in the cards. We're not that good."

Chamberlain Snaps Russell's Record

THOMAS ARRESTED — Duane Thomas, running back for the Dallas Cowboys, stands outside the Greenville County courthouse with one of the officers who arrested him and his younger brother, Bertrand, on marijuana possession charges. The pair was later released on a bond of $5,000 each.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain is still getting revenge on Bill Russell.

When Chamberlain broke into the National Basketball Association in 1959, he was recognized as the greatest scorer the league had ever seen but was regularly slighted in comparison with Russell, the bellwether of Boston's NBA dynasty.

Russell was hailed as the master shot-blocker, rebounder, and team leader, while Wilt pointed to his superior statistics in vain.

Sunday night Chamberlain, now an elder statesman in the NBA at 33, broke Russell's career rebounding record of 12,721 while the Los Angeles Lakers were pounding the Portland Trail Blazers 153-131.

BUCKS WIN

Elsewhere, Milwaukee edged Baltimore 116-112, Boston whipped Philadelphia 130-114, Chicago downed Detroit 109-99, Phoenix shaded Atlanta 105-103 and Buffalo nipped Cleveland 99-98.

It didn't end the controversy over who was the better player, but Chamberlain said it was a mark he would cherish.

"I'm proud because it shows consistency and durability," said the Lakers' 7-foot-1 center and captain. "It means as much to me as my scoring records."

He broke the record in his 932nd game — it took Russell 963 — and went on to collect 24 rebounds, 27 points and praise from both coaches.

"Wilt was awesome," said the Trail Blazers' Roland Todd. "When he plays like this nobody can beat the Lakers."

"I just don't think any center in pro basketball can play better than Wilt is right now," said Lakers Coach Bill Sharman, a Celtic teammate of Russell.

They gave Chamberlain an inscribed backboard and hoop to add to his trophy case, along with mementos of a 50.4 scoring average in 1961-62, a 48.3 career minutes-played average, counting overtime, for the same season, and the honors he will receive soon for becoming the first NBA player to score 30,000 points.

The Lakers reached another record Sunday by breaking the team mark for field goals with 67. Gail Goodrich and Jerry West led with 29 and 28 points, and West added 14 assists. Reserves Stan McKenzie and Larry Steele led the Blazers with 22 and 21 points.

ROSS YOUNGS guided the American League through a fast-paced era.

The three are the newest members of baseball's Hall of Fame. It took only a vote by the Veterans Committee Sunday to place their names among the sport's immortals.

Gomez, the pitching pride of the New York Yankees during the 1930s who did his best when the chips were down, was the most glamorous name of the trio unanimously selected by the 10-man oldtimers' committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Youngs was a reckless runner in the Ty Cobb mold and a switch-hitting stylist with the old New York Giants. Harridge was president of the American League for a record 28 years.

The veterans committee, meeting in conjunction with the annual dinner of the New York chapter of the BBWA, vote on players and officials who have been out of the game for 20 years.

Gomez, whose given name was Vernon long carried the "Lefty" appellation for his southpaw-slanted blazers, never lost a World Series game in six decisions during his golden years, 1931-8.

His obvious talents, which fashioned a fancy 189-102 lifetime mark, were sometimes overwhelmed by legend.

Gomez was most remembered for his airplane-watching penchants while at work. The colorful pitcher used to stop games and gaze at aircraft until they left the Yankee Stadium vicinity.

Quality Horses Entered In Derby At Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The decision to raise the Arkansas Derby prize from $50,000 to $100,000 has had a decided effect on Oaklawn Park.

"We've turned down horses this year that ordinarily would be here," says Allan W. "Doc" Lavin, racing secretary at Oaklawn. "We just had to tell the owners 'no' thanks. They're just not of high enough quality for Oaklawn."

Lavin says the $100,000 prize tag on the derby has put Oaklawn in the "big time."

"Just like in anything else these days, money talks," Lavin said. "To acquire the best horses in the country, you've got to make it worthwhile for the owners to bring their horses here."

"We've been more selective this year than ever, and I know it's greatly because of the derby," Lavin said. "I've turned down offers that would have made my mouth water a couple of years ago. This year Arkansas people will be watching some of the finest horses in the country run."

Oaklawn's 50-day meeting opens Friday.

Fans will get their first look at some of the derby prospects Friday in the $10,000 Dixieland Handicap.

The derby will be on the final day, April 1.

The derby was begun with a purse of $5,000 in 1936, the prize money was increased until it leveled off at $50,000 in 1965.

Other added-money stakes and handicap races included:

- The King Cotton Handicap, $20,000, Feb. 5.
- The Hot Springs Handicap, $20,000, Feb. 12.
- The Arkansas Traveler Handicap, $20,000, Feb. 19.
- The Southwest Handicap, $20,000, Feb. 26.
- The Southland Handicap, $25,000, March 4.
- The Rebel Handicap, $25,000, March 11.
- The Razorback Handicap, $25,000, March 18.
- The Oaklawn Preview, $10,000, March 22.
- The Oaklawn Handicap, $50,000, March 25.
- The Arkansas Futurity, $7,500, March 28.
- The Magnolia Stakes, $20,000, March 29.
- The Ballerina Stakes, $15,000, March 30.
- The Apple Blossom Handicap, $15,000, March 31.

Troubled Thomas Has More Woes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Duane Thomas, the sometimes troubled but always stellar running back of the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football Conference, appeared in deeper trouble today, charged with felony marijuana possession and his football future clouded.

Thomas, 24, and his younger brother, Bertrand, 21, were arrested near Greenville, Tex., Sunday while officers searching for a stolen automobile ran upon two bags of marijuana in their car.

The pair was released on $5,000 bond each posted by a Greenville lawyer, Larry Green, after spending about six hours in custody. The football star, Dallas' ground-gaining backfield performer, wore a yellow stocking cap and yellow knit shirt as he and his brother left the courthouse.

Coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys said soon after Thomas' release that it "is undecided at this time just what the situation would do for Thomas' trade value. Dallas has been considering trading both Thom-

Hudsoeth Named Backfield Coach

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Texas-El Paso head football coach Bobby Dobbs says former Brigham Young University head football coach Tom Hudsoeth will join the Miners as offensive backfield coach.

Hudsoeth, who quit his job at BYU recently, was named Rocky Mountain Coach of the Year by the Coach and Athlete Magazine in 1965 when the Cougars won the Western Athletic Conference Championship.

Hudsoeth had been at BYU eight years and had produced a football record of 39 victories, 42 losses and one tie.

His appointment to the Texas-El Paso position was announced Saturday.

Sam Snead Again Seniors' Champ

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead picked up $4,000 and his fifth PGA Seniors Golf Tournament Sunday when he shot a final round 71 for a 72-hole total of 286 and a one-stroke victory over Julius Boros and Tommy Bolt.

The 59-year-old Slammin' Sammy trailed by three at the beginning of the round, but it was all tied up when Snead, Bolt and Boros reached the 18th green.

Boros, 51, and Bolt, 53, bogied the par 4 hole, but Snead reached the green in two, rolled a 46-foot putt to within 18 inches of the pin and dropped the fourth shot for par and victory.

Jones Shocked Over Trade

LOS ANGELES (AP) — To quarterbacks facing the Los Angeles Rams, the departure of David "Deacon" Jones will be a relief. To Jones it's a shock.

"That hurt me. I'm in shock," the veteran defensive end said Saturday after learning of the trade that sent him to the San Diego Chargers along with two other players for linebacker Jeff Stagg and three draft choices.

His reaction matched that of many fans, who regarded the 6-foot-5, 250-pounder, an 11-year veteran and seven-time All-Pro, as still a peerless defensive player despite injuries which slowed him last season.

But the trade was in line with the youth movement that accompanied Tommy Prothro when he replaced George Allen as head coach of the Rams a year ago.

The coach, who helped negotiate the trade, praised Jones as "a legend in his own time," but also lauded Staggs and added, "If we are as fortunate in drafting as we were last year, this trade not only helps us immediately but assures of outstanding help in the future."

Austrians Due To Appeal Ruling On Star Skier

SAPPORO (AP) — Austrian ski officials were prepared today to appeal the disqualification of Karl Schranz, Austria's former world skiing champion, from the 1972 Winter Olympic Games.

"I can't believe it," said Dr. Karl Heinz Klee, president of the Austrian Ski Federation, after the 33-year-old Schranz was disqualified by the International Olympic Committee for allowing his name to be used for commercial reasons.

"We'll launch any appeals that are possible against this," added Klee.

French ski officials also were upset at the shocking ruling.

Maurice Martel, president of the French Ski Federation, called the decision "very deplorable" and demanded a meeting of his group to discuss the situation.

"I proposed in St. Moritz to both the Austrians and the Germans that we should withdraw our ski team; from the Sapporo Winter Games if only one of our skiers is disqualified," said Martel. "But they merely said it was a good idea and very laudable, but no decision was reached."

Untimely Swats

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SPANKED: (Q.) My 13th birthday was last week and my father gave me a very embarrassing present. At my party, in front of everybody, he came up to me and said, "I want to give you something you really need."
He then put me over his knee, pulled up my dress, and spanked me on my bare buttocks where everyone could see.

I wanted to cry. I know he didn't mean to embarrass me, but I almost died. Is there any way I could tell him not to do it again without hurting his feelings? — Going on 14 in California.

(A.) Your father probably thought his little act would be funny. He was, of course, wrong. He probably realizes that now and would like to take it back, but he can't.

Some day when he is in a good mood, tell him that on your 14th birthday you hope he will remember that you are pretty big for birthday swats. He should understand.

BIG STORY: (Q.) I have a very good friend. In fact she is my best friend. But she tells so many stories I never know if she's telling the truth or not.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠106 ♥3 ♣952 ♦Q107654
Partner opens with two no trump. What is your response?
A.—Strictly speaking, you have not the required four points to justify a raise, but a bid of three no trump is a good gamble in that there is a reasonable chance of bringing in the club suit.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ105 ♥Q52 ♦109 ♠A102
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♦ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—An ace showing bid of five clubs is recommended. When partner makes a first round slam try, as in this case, and then supports your suit, anything at all above a minimum justifies the taking of further action. You haven't much above a minimum but the fact that your hand contains two controls is sufficient reason for giving partner one more chance.

Q. 3—You are South vulnerable with 60 part score and you hold:
♠A7 ♥AJ7 ♦KQ8643 ♠107
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ 2 ♠
3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—The recommended procedure is a cue bid of four hearts, to be followed by a bid of six spades on the next round. Partner has opened the bidding and jumped over the game where a free bid itself would have indicated a strong hand. Since you have better than an opening bid and important key cards, the slam should be a cinch. However, in case a grand slam should be available, it may be necessary for you show control of the adverse suit.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A72 ♥AKQ84 ♦943 ♠A2
What is your opening bid?
A.—One no trump. This hand contains 17 points in high cards, has three suits protected, and is of balanced distribution. An opening bid of one heart is not the best tactic, for it leaves you with no convenient rebid if partner responds with one spade. An opening one no trump bid avoids this difficulty.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠643 ♥A4 ♦A965 ♠KJ53
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 2 ♥ Pass ?
What is your bid?
A.—It is to be hoped that you were not naive enough to show one of your own suits. In this sequence partner is under no obligation to proceed, and you might find it uncomfortable to be left in a contract of three clubs or three diamonds. The proper procedure is to raise to three hearts, or, with a rather timid partner, four hearts.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠5 ♥AQJ72 ♦83 ♠KQ1064
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. This hand is worth only 15 points and is not strong enough to show a new suit at the level of three.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠92 ♥AQ954 ♦942 ♠943
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ INT Pass ?
What is your bid?
A.—Partner's one no trump overall should be treated as though it were an opening bid of one no trump. Inasmuch as you have a balanced hand with only six points, no action by you is indicated. Do not complicate matters with a bid of two hearts.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK95 ♥A73 ♦Q3 ♠AK102
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump, showing a balanced hand with 19 or 20 points in high cards. The major suit is suppressed because there is no spade bid that suits the situation. A rebid of one spade is inadequate, and a rebid of two spades would be just a shade too aggressive inasmuch as it would be forcing to game even if partner had made a shaded diamond response. Partner should be permitted the option to pass if his hand has less than 6 points in high cards.

Biggest Bank Job In History

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Police hunted today for 14 guerrillas who pulled off the biggest bank robbery in Argentine history, but they gave no indication they had any clues to their whereabouts.

The Trotskyite People's Revolutionary Army claimed responsibility for the eight-hour weekend robbery and said its men had made off with $450,000 "to continue our revolutionary war."

The bank did not disclose how much was stolen, but there were reports the guerrillas failed to break into the main depository where the bulk of the reserves were kept.

The guerrillas also said they had stolen "documents that prove the scandalous fraud that bourgeois sectors have committed against the public." The bank, called the National Development Bank, was created a year ago to help struggling businesses and industries in the rural provinces.

Police gave the following account: With the help of two bank workers, the guerrillas made their way into the building, a block away from Argentina's secret police agency, at 10 p.m. Saturday.

Weekend Toll Violence Shrinks

By The Associated Press
Texans drove motor vehicles more cautiously and otherwise conducted themselves more safely over the weekend than during any similar period in a long time.

The Associated Press tally showed only 10 fatalities between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, with eight being victims of traffic accidents.

Among the victims were: Marsha Gill, 12, and Jimbo Gill, 6. The youngsters, children of Baytown police Sgt. Morris J. Gill, were killed late Sunday night in a Baytown car accident.

Alfred Frank Winkler, 19, of Navasota was killed Sunday about three miles south of the Grimes County town of Plattersville when a car struck two parked vehicles and pinned Winkler between them.

John T. Patrick, 26, of Dallas was killed and another rider injured Saturday when their motorcycle hurtled off a 14-foot embankment. Police said neither Patrick nor the other rider wore a helmet.

Charles E. Adams, 28, was killed Sunday in a fire that swept through a trailer house on a farm near Garrison in Rusk County. Authorities said Adams was a transient worker.

Three adults died and two children suffered injuries about midnight Saturday in the collision of two cars on U.S. 59 near Garrison in Rusk County. State police identified the victims as Betty G. Grimes, 45, and Virginia D. Cannon, 60, both of Texarkana, and Robert Lee Thomas, 25, of Garrison.

Alfred Smith of Fort Worth was killed and two other persons were injured Saturday in a two-car crash east of Livingston in Southeast Texas on U.S. 190.

♠5 ♥AQJ72 ♦83 ♠KQ1064
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. This hand is worth only 15 points and is not strong enough to show a new suit at the level of three.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠92 ♥AQ954 ♦942 ♠943
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ INT Pass ?
What is your bid?
A.—Partner's one no trump overall should be treated as though it were an opening bid of one no trump. Inasmuch as you have a balanced hand with only six points, no action by you is indicated. Do not complicate matters with a bid of two hearts.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK95 ♥A73 ♦Q3 ♠AK102
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump, showing a balanced hand with 19 or 20 points in high cards. The major suit is suppressed because there is no spade bid that suits the situation. A rebid of one spade is inadequate, and a rebid of two spades would be just a shade too aggressive inasmuch as it would be forcing to game even if partner had made a shaded diamond response. Partner should be permitted the option to pass if his hand has less than 6 points in high cards.

Says Nation Can't Afford Outmoded Work Practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., contends the United States must not condone outmoded work practices or outdated plant equipment if it is to command a competitive edge in world trade.

"I think we are going to have to face up to the fact that we cannot afford the luxuries of some of the outmoded work practices of the past," said the Texas Democrat.

He added, "I think the evidence is there for organized labor to see."

Bentsen said that "when we talk about devaluation of our currency, we are just dealing with a symptom... the real problem, I think, is in the lack of increase in productivity beyond the increase in prices."

"But when we talk about the productivity of organized labor, we must also talk about the productivity of business and business must invest the capital that is necessary to have the very latest in technical equipment in order that we may do the job better."

A member of the Joint House-Senate Economic Committee, Bentsen made his remarks on a television program.

Smith's Adviser Thinks Special Session 'Cinch'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A top election law adviser to Gov. Preston Smith contends a special session of the legislature to provide a new method of financing primary elections is virtually inevitable.

Randall Wood, director of elections in the secretary of state's office, said on a Sunday radio-television panel show that he is "not hopeful we are going to find any solution short of a special session."

A three-judge federal court in Dallas recently held unconstitutional a new filing fee law passed by the 1971 legislature to pay for the May and June primaries this year.

In a decision Friday, the U.S. Supreme Court declined to stay that decision pending appeal.

Wood said a bill that would have provided state and county financing of the primaries died because "we simply couldn't get the attention of the leadership of either the House or Senate over the problem."
