IF CONGRESS FORCES END TO DOCK STRIKE

Threatens World Shipping Tie-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Bridges, boss of the striking West Coast dock workers, today threatened a worldwide shipping tie-up if Congress forces an end to the strike by compulsory arbitration.

Bridges, testifying before a House Labor subcommittee, said any law Congress passes to end the strike will affect ships only when they touch at U.S. docks.

"These ships go overseas," he said, "and we've got a few friends in other countries, and they will respond to our call for help. It may reach the point where the ships won't come back here."

President Nixon has asked Congress to pass emergency legislation that would create a three-member board with the power to settle the strike by compulsory arbitration.

Edmund J. Flynn, president of the Pacific Maritime Association (PMA), which represents the shippers, endorsed the bill, saying he saw little prospect of settling the dispute by negotiation.

But Bridges emphatically rejected it and indicated his longshoremen might ignore the law if it were enacted.

"We have no intention of submitting to such legislation unless that is the will of our members as expressed in a secret ballot," he said.

Bridges said he did not blame the PMA for accepting Nixon's proposal.

"We have these blokes on the ropes," he told the subcommittee. "We're going to whip them and they are depending on Congress to save them."

Bridges and Flynn appeared by subpoena before a special subcommittee of the House Labor Committee headed by Rep.

Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J.

Bridges said the parties to the dispute are close together and he urged that Congress let them settle it.

He denied there is an emergency in Hawaii, where he said the union has made special provisions to handle the export of sugar and has permitted special voyages to bring in necessary supplies.

"The emergency has been manufactured in the facile minds of some of the members of Congress from that state—and in the mind of the present assistant secretary of Labor who was formerly employed by the Hawaii Employers Council."

Bridges said the principal items in disagreement are the effective date of the wage increase of 72 cents an hour, which the union wants retroactive to Nov. 14; paid holidays; employer-paid prescription drugs for employees; an increase in insurance coverage and wages for certain skilled differentials.

Even if the bill is passed, Bridges said, he would recommend that the 15,000-member International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) return to work only if they elect to do so by secret vote.

"In saying this, I mean no disrespect or defiance of President Nixon or his high office," Bridges said. "I simply mean to say that in this instance he is trying by methods that won't work to force an end to our strike."

Bridges said not even President Nixon claims the strike must be ended because the national health and safety is in danger.

He said the ILWU is working all cargo designated as essential by the military, and loaded wheat at the special request of the President for emergency relief for Pakistan.

He said that the union is negotiating with shippers of wheat and foodstuffs and are near settlement on a separate agreement to permit normal shipments of grain and foodstuffs to begin immediately.

Edmund Flynn was on the subcommittee witness list as representative of the shippers.

OPPOSITES — Labor leader Harry Bridges, foreground, and his opponent in the West Coast dock strike negotiations, Edmund J. Flynn who represents the shippers, go before a House Labor subcommittee today. Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said the parties are close together and he urged Congress to let them settle it. Flynn, president of the Pacific Maritime Association, said chances for a voluntary settlement are not good.

Webb AFB Copters To Aid Victims In Rural Sections

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has decided to make permanent and expand to 14 more states a free aerial ambulance service using military helicopters to aid accident victims in rural areas.

The project is an outgrowth of an experiment set up in five western states in 1970. Army and Air Force helicopters taking part in it had flown 915 patients on 704 mercy flights as of last October. About half of those assisted were injured in traffic accidents.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Thursday the experiment proved successful and that within a few weeks the departments of Transportation, Defense and Health, Education and Welfare will announce "a very much expanded program."

FIVE STATES

Pentagon sources said 29 Army and Air Force installations in 19 states—including the five states where the project is already underway—have been designated as operating centers for the aerial ambulance service known as MAST, or Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic.

Pentagon officials said the bases have the equipment and medical personnel for the job, but before they begin operating they must insure that no commercial helicopter ambulance service is already provided.

In addition, local law-enforcement agencies will be required to provide the communications equipment needed, and landing facilities will have to be provided at or near hospitals.

The military ambulances will serve only those communities within a 100-mile radius of their base that have requested the service through the Transportation Department.

AVOID GIGS

These requirements are intended to avoid further criticism from private helicopter companies, who, according to a government study of MAST, view the project as "an encroachment... into what they consider to be the domain of private enterprise."

MAST was first proposed by Laird in 1969 as a way of applying lessons learned in Vietnam to use in treating accident victims in this country.

The death rate from wounds received in combat in Vietnam has been cut to near zero by using helicopters to evacuate men to hospitals for quick treatment.

MAST was first tried at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., and the experiment was later put into Luke Air Force Base, Ariz.; Ft. Carson, Colo.; Mountain Home AFB, Idaho and Ft. Lewis, Wash.

These will remain as MAST sites in addition to Craig AFB, George AFB and Ft. Ord, Calif.; MacDill AFB, Fla.; Ft. Benning, and Ft. Stewart, Ga.;

Oahu, Hawaii; Ft. Riley, Kan.; Ft. Knox, Ky.; England AFB, La.; Ft. Meade, Md.; Kirtland AFB, N.M.

Also, Nellis AFB, Nev.; Seymour Johnson AFB and Ft. Bragg, N.C.; Ft. Sill, Okla.; Ft. Jackson and Myrtle Beach AFB, S.C.; Ft. Hood, Ft. Bliss and Webb AFB, Tex.; Ft. Belvoir and Ft. Eustis, Va.; and Fairchild AFB, Wash.

MINOR FIRE DAMAGE REPORTED

Local Explosion Sends Man, Wife To Hospital

An explosion at the residence of Teddy J. Whitaker, 801 W. 8th, Thursday evening resulted in injuries to Whitaker and his wife, Mary, and severe damage to their home.

Authorities have not definitely determined the actual place of ignition, however, feel that the explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas in the structure.

The blast occurred at 9:50 p.m., and police and fire units were dispatched to the scene shortly after neighbors reported the incident to authorities. Also officials from Pioneer Natural Gas Company were present at the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker were taken to Medical Arts Hospital by an alert ambulance following the blast. They were both reported in fair condition this morning with burns on their hands, arms and faces.

According to police, the entire rear of the structure was blown out, and most of the windows in the front portion of the house were broken, including the front door.

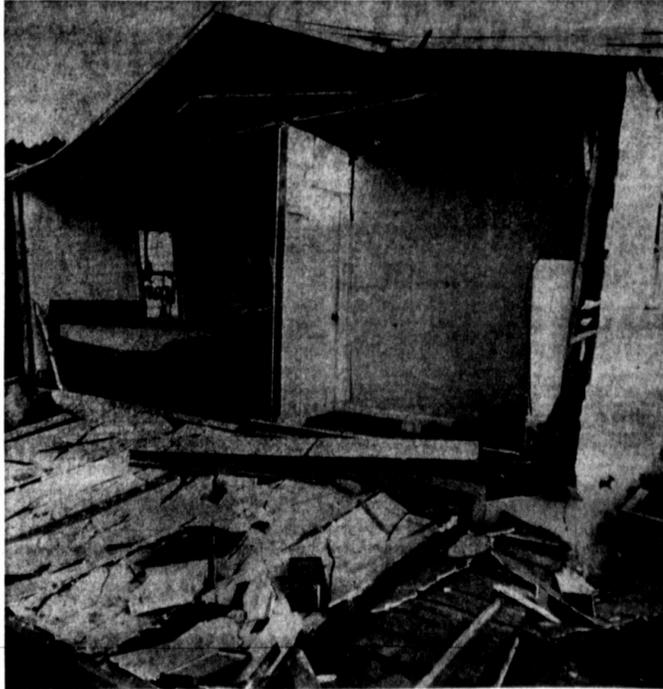

Police said that Mrs. Whitaker was in bed at the time of the explosion. Mr. Whitaker was returning home from work, and had just opened the front door when the explosion occurred.

Firemen in two units at the scene extinguished what little flames were caused by the blast, but only small items were reported to have been ignited into flames by the explosion. There was little fire damage to the house.

Gas company officials and fire officials are still conducting investigations today into what might have caused the leaking gas, and what set off the ignition.

No damage estimate on the home has been determined.

5.9 PER CENT Unemployment Rate Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down from 6 to 5.9 per cent last month, the government reported today.

Although the actual number of jobless increased 752,000 to 5,447,000, it usually increases much more in January and the Labor Department figured it as a decline of 56,000 on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The nation's total employment rose 240,000 to 80,636,000 on a seasonal basis, although the unadjusted figures showed a drop of more than one million.

The report, by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said nonfarm payroll employment on a season basis reached an all-time high of 71.4 million.

"Employment has advanced strongly since last summer," the bureau said.

The bureau said the January unemployment figures represented essentially no change.

The report also said average hourly earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose three cents an hour to $3.53, but that a larger than usual cut in the length of the average work week reduced weekly earnings to $129.20, a drop of $1.35 from December.

It said weekly earnings were up $7.32 or 6 per cent over the past year. Inflation of 3.4 per cent over the same period reduced the gain to $2.93.

The average work week dropped 18 minutes to 36.9 hours, the report said.

The biggest drop was in manufacturing where the work week fell off 24 minutes to 39.9 hours.

DON'T CHEAT

Few Tax Returns Audited Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fewer individual and corporate tax returns were examined last year than in 1970 under the audit program of the Internal Revenue Service.

Only one of every 56 individual income-tax returns was audited in 1971, compared to one out of 46 the year before, the fiscal 1971 report of IRS Commissioner Johnnie R. Walters disclosed today.

Lest taxpayers think this means it is getting easier to cheat, however, the report shows that the computer-aided system of selecting the right returns for examination resulted in a bigger cash gain for the Treasury. Computers rank returns according to error potential; those with the highest probability of error are selected for audit.

Some $3.4 billion in additional tax payments resulted from the 1971 audits of individual and corporate returns, or $300 million more than a year earlier, even though about 350,000 fewer returns were chosen for examination by revenue agents.

The diminishing percentage of returns audited has caused concern at IRS, however, and President Nixon asked for more money for IRS in his budget message last week.

Nixon asked enough funds for processing 2.1 million more returns in fiscal 1973 than in the current fiscal year, and earmarked an additional $10.7 million for manpower "to audit a greater number of tax returns."

Revised List Of Filing Fees For Local Election Officials

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A revised, streamlined list of filing fees for political candidates, that will cost the voters more money, was announced today by local election officials.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock announced the revised schedule Thursday following instructions from a Dallas federal court. The court outlawed Texas' old filing fee system, which allowed levies of $7,000 and $8,000 for some county offices, then gave Bullock authority to set new and "reasonable" fees for this year.

Bullock stressed the new fees were not designed to raise revenue to pay for the May 6 Texas Democratic and Republican primaries and the June 3 runoff.

FEE SYSTEM

Other sources estimated the new fees might raise as much as $500,000 toward the cost of the elections.

Gov. Preston Smith has said he will try to transfer funds already appropriated by the 1971 legislature to furnish the estimated $1.2 million or $1.3 million additional that will be needed.

Formerly all costs of primary elections were paid by candidates' fees. The Dallas federal court held that this system put an illegal burden on the candidates and kept many from seeking public office.

The previous system called for a $1,000 fee to run for most statewide offices.

The fee system sent to all local election officials Thursday by Bullock calls for a $400 filing fee for all statewide offices, $300 for U. S. representative positions, $150 for state senator, $100 for state representative, $50 for district judges, for district attorneys and most county officials with four-year terms. County commissioners would have a $50 fee and justices of peace, fees of $25 to $50.

MUST BE PAID

If a candidate can not pay the filing fee, election officials were told to certify him if he

Says DWI Cases Aren't Prosecuted Vigorously

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Cameron County grand jurors declared in a strongly worded report Thursday that the district attorney's office has not vigorously prosecuted persons charged with driving while intoxicated.

Grand jury foreman George Young of Harlingen read the lengthy report to district court Judge H. A. Garcia.

Dist. Atty. F. T. "Dut" Graham of Cameron County and his staff did not work with the grand jury on the report since they have been disqualified from working with this panel.

In addition to issuing the report, grand jurors spent the entire day listening to testimony from four justices of the peace and county officials as part of an investigation of bail bond practices in the Lower Rio Grande Valley county.

BAIL BOND PUZZLE

Young said the bail bond investigation will continue until the jury's term expires at the end of March.

The report on driving while intoxicated noted that "almost half the DWI cases filed in the first 10 months of last year have not been resolved."

Continuing, the jurors noted that of 267 persons arrested on that charge by Texas Department of Public Safety officers, furnishes a petition signed by qualified voters. Statewide offices would take 2,500 signatures and local races as low as 25 signatures.

The fees must be paid before the fourth Monday in February. "No intimidation of any sort may be used to encourage candidates who file for office to contribute to the party," Bullock's order said.

Bullock told local elections officials, they would be informed "the next few days" of procedures to get the rest of the money for elections. Meanwhile, Bullock said, political parties "shall spend no money collected under the fee schedule."

Today is the last day to send in coupons in the Pride People clean-up campaign.

Coupon returns have been disappointing, according to Pride People spokesmen.

"Only a few coupons have come in. We think the cold weather is causing the low response," they said.

Coupons appearing in The Herald are to be mailed to the chamber today. The coupons have a space for the address of the trash pickup.

City crews will use the completed coupons in determining the pickup routes for next week. They will pick up any trash two men can put in a truck.

The program is patterned after the successful cleanup campaign held in November, 1971, and is expected to be continued at intervals during the year.

People unable to move trash to the curb, because of age or illness, may call the chamber for help in moving the trash. The Alpha Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha has volunteered to help in the campaign.

Bob Butler, Pride People chairman, urged Big Springs to mail in the coupons and again help clean up Big Spring.

Justice Breakdown

Eight recommendations, ranging from the proper posting of bail bonds to a halt in the practice of granting numerous continuances in county court-at-law for persons under DWI charges, were included in the report.

The grand jury also noted that the convenience of defense lawyers should not be considered a good cause for granting a continuance and suggested that cases should be resolved within 30 days after they are filed.

Foreman Young also told Judge Garcia the grand jury wanted the report passed on to each future grand jury and asked the judge to order further grand jurors to determine if the situation has improved.

"Although there are a number of contributing factors, we have reached the conclusion that the greatest single factor in what we consider to be a breakdown of justice in this instance is the lack of responsible, vigorous prosecution on the part of the district attorney," the report concluded.

HE LIKES A LONG WALK — So he can write a book about his adventures, retired farmer Andy Horujko walked 15,000 miles from Anchorage, Alaska, to Ushuaia, Tierra del Fuego, in South America, in two years. On way to his Chase, Mich., home he paused to look at a shoe in Grand Rapids.

4 Degrees Above Zero At Marfa

By The Associated Press

Winter kept most of Texas in a deep freeze this morning but prospects were seen for a little warming during the weekend—that is, until the next cold front hits the northwest part of the state Sunday.

Thermometers skidded to the lower levels again near dawn although most places were a few degrees less chilled than the day before.

The mercury dipped to 4 degrees above zero at Marfa in the West Texas mountain country, and to 11 at Dalhart, 14 at Amarillo and Junction, and 15 at Lubbock.

It was freezing as far south as Kingsville in South Texas but a light freeze failed to develop as expected in the semi-tropical Lower Rio Grande Valley, where it was 34 at Brownsville and McAllen.

The warmest spots near daybreak were Galveston at 36 degrees and Corpus Christi at 41. Except for a few clouds to help keep temperatures up in the Lower Valley, skies were crystal clear throughout the state.

Elsewhere in the freezing belt, Childress recorded 18 degrees, Tyler 19, San Antonio 20, El Paso, Fort Worth and Mineral Wells 21. Longview, Midland and San Angelo 22, Austin, College Station, Lufkin and Waco 24, Palacios and Wichita Falls 25, Dallas, Texarkana and Victoria 26, Cotulla and Del Rio 27 and Alice 29.

The early morning marks compared with highs Thursday afternoon ranging from 40 at Tyler and Longview up to 53 at McAllen.

Forecasts promised clear to partly cloudy skies and gradual warming in most sections this weekend except in Northwest Texas, where cooler air was expected to start arriving Sunday.

WEATHER

NORTHWEST TEXAS: Clear and warmer this afternoon. Clear to partly cloudy and some warmer tonight and Saturday. High this afternoon 56 to 58. Low tonight 28 to 30. High Saturday 61 to 65.

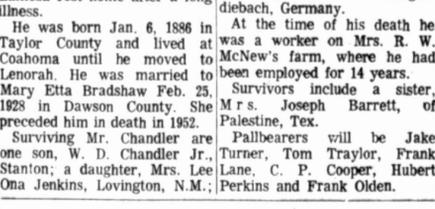

SOUTHWEST TEXAS, WEST OF THE PECOS: Partly cloudy and a little warmer through Saturday. High today 52 to 62. Low tonight 26 to 42. High Saturday 60 to 74.

Police Seek Purse Thief

Police are currently searching for a man who reportedly stole two purses from women at the Classic Laundromat Thursday afternoon.

Units summoned to the laundry on Eleventh place in reference to the theft, however, were unable to apprehend a suspect.

One woman in Wacker's Store, next door to the laundromat, said she saw the man get into a green 1969 model car, with Colorado State license tags, KC1142.

Police ran a 10-29 check through ICR in Austin and the return showed that the vehicle had been stolen in Colorado Springs, Colo., Jan. 18. Authorities then notified all law enforcement offices in the area by radio and teletype to be on lookout for the suspect.

The victims reported that credit cards, papers, and a total of $108 in cash were in the two purses. Also there was a check from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring to Jessie Robinson in one of the purses.

Authorities have not been able to obtain any clues as to the man's location today.

Alcoholic Sales Charges Made

Two warrants have been issued by the Howard County Sheriff's office for two persons alleged to have made alcoholic beverages available to minors.

One man has been arrested, charged and released on bond.

Manuel Puga Sr., 67, of 1105 Lindbergh, was arrested Thursday afternoon on the liquor violations charge, and released on $250 bond set by Peace Justice Jess Slaughter.

Organizational structure for the Heritage Museum was announced Thursday by Mrs. Clyde Angel, president.

She appointed committee chairmen, who with other officers, will constitute the executive committee. She also established quarterly trustee meetings dates.

The executive committee set June 1 as a target date for opening the next spotlight exhibit — this one to remain in place during the summer months. As an accommodation for the expected summer tourist volume, the exhibit will be a general one under the theme "winning of the West" and it will seek to tell of the early development of this particular area.

The current, and so far the most popular, spotlight exhibit on Pioneer Women, will remain on display until about the first or second week in May.

At that time, the board hopes to hold a one or two-week showing of the paintings and memorabilia of H. W. Caylor, who painted here in the pioneer days. To this end, those who own Caylor paintings, or have other things which belonged to him, are asked to let the museum borrow these for the display.

"We hope to make this the largest single collection and showing of Caylor paintings ever," said Daryl Hoherts,

$4,400 IS RAISED Dystrophy Drive Workers Honored

Members of the Midland-Big Spring Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America honored workers and groups at a banquet Thursday night who had participated in efforts to raise funds to combat Muscular Dystrophy.

To date, the Midland-Big Spring chapter has contributed $4,400 to the national MDAA to help finance research into a cure and better treatment for MD. Bulk of the funds collected came from a door-to-door drive conducted in Midland — a Big Spring-neighborhood drive will be conducted March 3.

Mrs. Joyce White, district director for West Texas MDAA chapters, traveled from Lubbock to present awards to outstanding local chapter workers.

Award recipients were Mrs. Jane Ray, coordinator of the 1971-MD Teletthon over KWAB-TV Station; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Benjamin accepted an award on behalf of KWAB for its participation in the teletthon in conjunction with the national teletthon conducted by comedian Jerry Lewis; Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, whose members answered telephones on the teletthon to receive pledges of contributions from viewers; Mrs. Maurine Morris, who obtained facilities in a Midland bank for use as teletthon headquarters in Midland; and the Sisters of Immaculate Heart of Mary who also served as telephone answerers for the teletthon.

Other recipients were the PBX Club of Midland whose members participated in the teletthon; Mrs. Thelma Rains in behalf of the Big Spring PBX Club for its members' work with the teletthon; Midland chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha for displaying collection canisters in businesses in Midland and for delivering 1,432 campaign kits to workers for use in the Midland neighborhood campaign; Former Big Spring Fire Chief A. D. Meadows for assisting the Big Spring group in placing 200 collection canisters in local businesses; Jim Baum of KBYG Radio for his help in publicizing the work of the MDAA; The Herald for its work in publicizing MDAA projects; George Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ducky Robertson, for his work in raising $150 through a neighborhood youth carnival and for his work in organizing a bowling tournament at Bowl-A-Rama Lanes to raise funds for MDAA; and Bowl-A-Rama Lanes for conducting the tournament.

The victims reported that credit cards, papers, and a total of $108 in cash were in the two purses. Also there was a check from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring to Jessie Robinson in one of the purses.

Authorities have not been able to obtain any clues as to the man's location today.

We Change

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

CHANGE: (Q.) My best friend went to Florida for a month and when he came back he wasn't nearly as friendly as he was when he left.

I try to talk to him but he doesn't seem to listen. Could you please tell me how to get him back? — Unhappy Boy in Texas.

(A.) You may not be able to get him back. If so, do not be unhappy or angry at him. As we grow we change. Our friendships change along with other things.

Treat him as you did before. Be friendly but not too friendly. Don't insist on anything. As time passes and the impact of his trip lessens, he may fall back into his old habits and again be the same old friend he was to you.

If so OK, if not OK. Should your old closeness not return, look around for other boy friends. Also girls.

SAME DOCTOR: (Comment) I know what "Filling Out" feels like — sitting in a pediatrician's office with a bunch of kids and babies.

Last year I thought about asking my parents to let me change to another doctor, because I too was filling out, and I felt silly among all those infants.

Then I remembered that when I was an infant my doctor saved my life. He discovered a defect in my heart, arranged for an operation, and the trouble was repaired. I am alive and healthy now, thanks to him.

I'm glad I decided to stay with my pediatrician. Maybe this letter will help "Filling Out" to make up her mind. — Glad To Be Here in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Loyalty is something we could use a lot more of in this world. I think you know what loyalty is.

To Withdraw Voters Plea

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin planned to withdraw at once an appeal the state had filed in the U.S. Supreme Court over a San Antonio federal court order that Texas election judges must add those who cannot read or write in marking their ballots.

Gov. Preston Smith had a letter personally delivered to Martin, asking him to withdraw the appeal. Smith said the attorney general had filed it Jan. 31 "without my approval."

A spokesman for Martin said it would be recalled immediately.

The San Antonio case grew out of a case filed by the Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund in 1970 that claimed thousands of Mexican-Americans who could not read or write were denied their voting rights.

Smith said in his letter "there is no acceptable logic or moral argument, in my opinion, to refuse voter assistance to qualified voters, who happen to be illiterate."

Cable Television Gets Boost From FCC Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has granted cable television operators limited rights to import nonlocal television signals into the nation's largest cities as long as the imported programs do not duplicate those being shown by local stations.

Thus, in a comprehensive set of rules issued Thursday, the FCC in a 4-2 vote took the middle ground on the major issue of controversy between cable operators and broadcasters.

NEW RULES
The new rules will permit established stations in the major markets to explain control over program materials, holding the line to a considerable extent on cable TV's development in the big cities. At the same time cable TV will be able to expand in the nation's rural areas and smaller cities.

But FCC Commissioner Nicholas Johnson, a key force behind liberalization of cable regulations, objected to the new rules. Johnson charged that White House officials, FCC Chairman Dean Burch and leaders of the film, cable and television industry railroaded the rules through the commission.

Johnson was joined by Commissioner Robert E. Lee, who said the rules had been presented only to the largest parties involved, "perhaps in violation of the legal requirements of the Administrative Procedures Act."

Cable operators have maintained there should be no restrictions on which signals they carry, even if it meant giving customers the options of tuning in the same program on more than one channel.

PROFIT MOTIVE
But that position has been strongly opposed by broadcasters, who feared losses in advertising revenue by having the audience for network or syndicated programs split among more than one station.

The new rules, to take effect March 31, establish four market categories, based on size, with different regulations for each.

The categories and rules: —The top 50, where cable operators would be expected to carry three full network channels and three independent channels.

—Markets 51 through 100, where cable operators would be expected to carry three full network channels and two independent channels.

—Markets below the top 100, but served by local stations, where cable operations would be expected to carry three full network channels and one independent.

—Remote areas unserved by regular broadcasting.

The new rules, however, will hold the line on cable TV's unlimited growth. As an example, broadcasters in the top 50 markets will be able to buy exclusive rights to movies and

Kennedy, Airman of the Quarter, was lauded by Colonel Ryan in a letter which read, "This selection was based upon your outstanding performance of duty, military bearing and desire to excel in your military career... it will serve as an

No Contest Plea By Getty Oil Co.

HOUSTON (AP) — Getty Oil Co. has pleaded no contest to a federal pollution charge and will be fined March 6.

Getty had pleaded not guilty and filed several motions but changed its plea to no contest Thursday.

The U.S. attorney's office here filed on the firm last May for an alleged crude oil spill into Trinity Bay from a production platform in September, 1970.

The Department of Justice has been filing pollution charges against oil firms under the 1899 refuse statute which forbids dumping of refuse into navigable waters. Fines range from $500 to $2,500.

Opening lead: Eight of ♠ West did not harbor hopes for establishing one of his aemic four card suits against South's three no trump contract, and in an effort to do something for his partner, he opened the eight of spades—which proved to be an effective choice. The deuce was played from dummy and East signaled encouragingly by overtaking with the nine. Declarer won the trick with the king.

Inasmuch as there was no quick entry to dummy, South cashed the ace of diamonds in the vague hope that the king might drop. When only small cards appeared, he continued with another diamond and East was in with the king. The latter returned a small spade away from the ace to permit his partner to retain a card in the suit with which to reach East later in the play.

North was in with the jack of spades and declarer proceeded to cash three diamond tricks, on which East discarded one club and two hearts while West parted with two clubs and one heart. South had only eight top tricks at this point and in an attempt to develop the ninth, he led the queen of clubs for a finesse. West won the trick with the king and a spade return was taken by East's ace. The latter proceeded to cash his long spades to send the declarer down to defeat.

South missed an opportunity to cinch his contract at the opening gun. Inasmuch as he wishes to be in dummy for the diamond finesse, he should put up the jack of spades when that suit is led. If the jack wins, he can lead the queen of diamonds next.

If East covers the jack of spades with the ace and returns the suit, declarer is in his hand as before—the difference, however, is that he is well on his way to severing his opponent's line of communications. South leads the ace and another diamond, putting East in with the king. The latter can clear the spade suit by leading a third round, but when the club finesse loses to West subsequently, the latter is unable to put East in since he has no more spades and the defense is limited to three tricks on the deal—one spade, one diamond, and one club.

TG&Y FAMILY CENTER
... Penny Hill shows flowers

BY PENNY HILL Flower Arrangements Made At TG&Y Store

Flowers of all types, colors and sizes are available year-round at TG&Y Family Center in College Park Shopping Center.

The large selection of artificial flowers is so real that people stop and try to smell the flowers, according to Penny Hill, a florist with 12 years of experience available to serve TG&Y customers.

"Thousands of green, blue, yellow, orange, pink, red and purple artificial flowers are the basis of beautiful flower arrangements made by Penny Hill. She will make an arrangement to order, and if you want, you can call and tell her what you want and then come down and pick-up the completed arrangement.

"I have made arrangements for just about all occasions," said Penny Hill.

Weddings, bridal showers, baby showers, formal parties, patio parties, Mother's Day, anniversary's, and birthday's can be completely outfitted with floral arrangements made at TG&Y Family Center.

"Customers can bring in their own planters and containers on their own flowers and we can furnish whatever they need for a complete arrangement, or they can bring in everything, including live flowers, and I can make an arrangement for them," said Penny Hill.

Penny Hill also teaches a class in flower arranging at Howard County Junior College, and can furnish all the supplies needed by the woman — or man — who wants to arrange their own flowers.

TG&Y Family Center has artificial greenery, flowers, fruit, vegetables, vases, hanging wrought iron bird cage planters, artificial birds (and live ones in another department of the store), all sizes of styrofoam, flower picks, floral tape, florists wire, flower holders, floral clay, stem wrap and, in another department, ribbon of all types and colors.

Ready-made floral arrangements are always on hand, and your made-to-order arrangement can usually be completed in about 20 minutes.

"Now is the time to begin thinking about an arrangement for one of the holidays such as Mother's Day, Valentine's Day and Easter," said Penny Hill.

Come by TG&Y Family Center at College Park Shopping Center and visit the flower section, and then browse through the rest of the complete TG&Y Family Center.

TG&Y also has a charge card available that you can use to charge anything in the store. Ask one of the friendly salesmen or saleswomen for information about the charge plan, and they will be happy to help you at TG&Y Family Center, the friendly store.

Council Hosts Luncheon For 'Senior' Group

The Howard County Council on Aging sponsored its first city-wide luncheon Wednesday, and John Clancey, council president, said it is hoped that such activities will become monthly events.

The luncheon was held in the Boys' Club, 231 E. 3rd, with volunteers from the City Home Demonstration Club and the Circuit Riders, of Big Spring State Hospital, assisting as hostesses. Approximately 40 guests attended the covered dish affair.

Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County home demonstration agent, has represented the Texas A&M University Extension Service in working with the council to plan events such as the luncheon and the recent senior citizens' Talent Fair at Highland Center Mall. Clancey expressed the hope that the council can work with other organizations in the city to further a planned program of activities for older residents of the community.

It was announced that the XYZ (Extra Years of Zest) Club meets every first and third Thursday at 6 p.m. in Wesley United Church. Older persons who are interested in social activities are invited to attend the meetings.

RESULTS, USE THE HERALD'S WANT ADS!

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks: Over the years I have received so many, many letters from all parts of the country complaining about the irritating "little things" that unthinking people do in grocery stores — a real nightmare!

And I gather from your strong words on the subject, that it is a universal complaint. It seems that no matter what part of the country the complaints come from, they are all alike.

So I'm going to let you in on a few of the typical complaints, and hope that none of you is guilty of these grocery shopping no-nos.

First of all, there is the very social-minded grocery shopper who uses the grocery store to visit with her friends and neighbors — this means their carts are parked side by side blocking the aisle while they catch up on the latest news. And you stand on first one foot and then the other hoping against hope they will finally notice you and let you by.

Then there are the "pinchers" — no fruit or vegetable is safe when they are on the loose. You can almost hear the avocados and peaches yell "ouch."

Or have you ever been hit from behind by a speeding grocery care as Junior races the cart up and down the aisles? Mom is in fast pursuit screaming at the top of her lungs — which tends to unnerve even the most composed shoppers.

And we must not forget the "thinker" — her cart is parked right in front of the very item you want and there is no way to reach around her — she must be, she's just got to be, planning her entire week's menu right there in front of the canned beans.

Don't forget, too, the gal who has forgotten an item — leaves the grocery cart parked in mid-aisle, and wanders all over the store.

And I would really be remiss if I didn't mention the shopper with two carts loaded to the brim (sideboards would be helpful), and where does she end up but in the express line where the sign plainly says in ten-inch block letters, "No More Than Six Items Checked out in This Line."

There is a line a mile long backed up behind her so what can the poor checker do but check her out?

Another rather common offender is the dieter who suddenly remembers four aisles later that she is on a diet and shouldn't have taken the half-gallon of ice cream. So what does she do but take it out of her basket and sit up on the shelf with the dried beans.

Finally, you've reached the checkout counter. You're behind a woman with three carts of groceries — she stands there until the checker has totaled the amount and then, and only then, does she start to dig in that oversized, overnight bag of a pocketbook for her checkbook. After emptying everything on the counter, she finally finds it, but then doesn't have a pen, and, last but not least, starts all over with a frantic search for her driver's license.

Finally (and this is a real test of strength of character), you get your bags in the car and arrive home completely exhausted, nerves frazzled beyond repair, battered and bruised and your bank balance a heck of a lot lower than when you started. And your dear, sweet husband greets you with a big smile and says that he hopes you enjoyed shopping. (Everyone deserves some social life!) He says it does you good to get out of the house once in a while and that is when you smile your sweetest and suggest that he might enjoy shopping sometime.

I just had to share some of the more common complaints with you. They have given me quite a chuckle, especially when I happen to recognize one of the offenders when I'm shopping.

So stop, and take a good long look at your own shopping habits — heaven forbid that any of us could possibly be guilty! But it wouldn't hurt to make just one more resolution so we'll all enjoy...

Happy grocery shopping! Heloise

Hears Talk By Dentist

Dr. John Q. Long of Odessa was guest speaker at a Thursday dinner meeting of the Permian Basin Dental Assistants Society. The group met at Furr's Cafeteria in Odessa with Mrs. Ralph Wilson of Big Spring presiding.

In a talk entitled "Patients — Patience", Dr. Long said that each patient is a different personality; dental assistants must "tune their wave lengths" to match each patient. He emphasized that making patients comfortable is necessary and that the assistant controls the atmosphere in the office.

A LOVELIER YOU Weight Loss Takes More Than Dieting

By MARY SUE MILLER
Dieting wisely and faithfully takes off weight — almost any amount you desire. But, in the process, nothing is said about "where." A woman's weight might become ideal and yet her figure could still be plagued by heavy spots.

To make certain of good proportions you have to exercise while dieting. That's what pares the bulges for sure. For busy women, the most practical kind of workout is spot exercise. Let's get to work on a most crucial spot, the waistline:

1. Stand erect with weight on left foot. Slide right foot directly right, about 24 inches. Reach behind head with left arm and touch fingers to right ear. Now bend to right and slide right hand down outer side of right leg, as far as possible. Straighten up slowly and repeat 10 times, working off increased reach. Reverse position and bend left.

Former Spoiled Debutante Says Movie Of Her Life Is Authentic

NEW YORK (AP) — A tiny cheery old lady travels the lecture circuit these days telling how faith in God rescued her from a life wrecked by wealth, self-indulgence and booze.

"Churches call it witnessing or giving a testimonial," says Gert Behanna. "I call it a pitch."

Mrs. Behanna, 77, a pert, snappy woman with merriment in her lined face, is the subject of a current movie, "The Late Liz," starring Anne Baxter, with an underlying religious message.

Based on Mrs. Behanna's autobiography, it portrays her monied, party-going descent through hedonistic flings, three broken marriages and deepening alcoholism to a point of utter desperation and attempted suicide.

There, at the bottom, she cries out, "If there is another way, could I reach for it? Show me the way, God! Oh dear God, is it possible? I do not believe!" From then on, groping at first, uncertain, she starts back up the road to authentic life.

"That's the way it was," she said in an interview, after watching a preview of the movie. "That was me."

In actuality, the turning point came 14 years ago, and ever since Mrs. Behanna, now of San Antonio, Tex., has kept up a heavy schedule of talks, about 300 yearly, before churches, college and other groups, recounting her experience. "I just tell them what God did for somebody like me," she said. "I don't say what they should do — I just tell what happened to me. All I know is that I was blind and now I can see."

Although she's now an Episcopalian, a member of St. Peter's church of San Antonio Mrs. Behanna said that in temperament, she is "about as unchurchy as you can get."

"I'm shocked at the lack of love shown by most people in churches," she added. "Christ said He had come to find those who are lost. But if a drunk comes into a church, who will ever move over?"

In her own case, she said, her conversion came like that of Paul in the New Testament. "Christ knocked him down," she remarked. "For most people though, it's not by spontaneous combustion like that, but a slow process."

She also had some help at the start from an Episcopal priest, the Rev. Tom Rogers now associated with the Episcopal Cathedral in Chicago — played by Jack Albertson — with whom this conversation is depicted in the movie.

"I hope God sticks around through my growing pains," Miss Baxter says. "You're the one who has to stick around," says the priest, advising her to read the Bible daily and that through it God will speak to her.

the late millionaire industrialist Samuel Ingram, turned her fortune over to a charitable trust after her conversion, to devote it to helping others.

"I was spoiled by wealth, by things, by junk," she said. "I had to get rid of it, to make a fresh start."

Usher Board Sets Meeting Sunday

The Baker Chapel usher board holds its federated usher meeting at the church beginning at 3 p.m. Sunday. Guest speaker will be Rev. Mrs. E. Hearn.

The Mount Bethel Baptist Church will participate in the meeting, offering a short program preceding the sermon.

Willie Graham, president of the Baker Chapel usher board, together with T. S. Hastings, president of the Mount Bethel usher board, and Mrs. Bobbie Williams, president of the Federated Ushers' board, have issued an invitation to the public to attend.

Delegates Were Church Workers

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A poll of 7,310 registered representatives to the Southern Baptist convention in St. Louis last June showed that a whopping 84.4 per cent of them were members of a church staff, the wife of a church staff member or denominational worker.

Church Of God To Move To New Site

A dream which began approximately five years ago has come true for the congregation of the Church of God, West Fourth and Galveston. Sunday services led by the Rev. O. D. Robertson, pastor, will be held in the church's newly acquired facilities at the site of the former Stadium Baptist Church, 603 Tulane.

When it became apparent that the church, which now has a membership of 110, was outgrowing its facilities, land was purchased on State Street five years ago for the construction of a new church.

Approximately a year ago, it was decided to acquire the former Stadium Baptist Church if possible, because facilities there were suited to the church's needs. The Tulane site was formally acquired early in December, 1971.

A special dedicatory revival is being planned in honor of the acquisition of the new church, which will afford its members a larger capacity sanctuary and a larger number of classrooms for Sunday school use.

Schedule of services and activities at the new church is Sunday school, 9:45 a.m.; morning worship, 11 a.m.; Sunday evangelistic service, 6:30 p.m.; Family Training, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday; and prayer meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The Rev. Robertson, who has been pastor of the church since July 4, 1969, cordially invites everyone to worship in the new facilities of the Church of God, 603 Tulane.

Prayer Breakfast Held At Webb AFB

The Presidential Prayer Breakfast was held Tuesday morning for invited non-commissioned officers and officers at the Officers' Open Mess.

The ceremony began with an invocation by Chaplain Kenneth Summy followed by a recorded message from President Richard M. Nixon.

Chaplain (Capt.) Eugene Welsh presented the guest speaker, the Rev. Kenneth Patrick of the First Baptist Church, who spoke on the plight of the American prisoners of war and missing in action in Southeast Asia. As an ex-Air Force officer he also touched on Air Force heritage. Chaplain (Capt.) Robert Cheesman lead the benediction.

Rev. Calvin Takes Post Of Contact Chaplain

Pastor Donald Calvin, Evangel Temple, 2205 Goliad, has been assigned as contact chaplain for the Assemblies of God for Webb AFB and the Veterans Administration Hospital here.

His duties will include ministering to Assemblies of God servicemen at Webb and VA Hospital patients. Mrs. Calvin will assist him in his duties as chaplain.

"It is my desire to work closely with other chaplains in this area and other denominations also," Rev. Calvin commented.

Pastor Calvin (Lt. USMC, retired) is a veteran of more than 20 years military service. He retired in September, 1970, from the Marine Corps at Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif.

He served in a chaplain's capacity with the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, Danang, South Vietnam where he received the Navy Commendation Medal with Combat "V."

Service later included the White House-Pentagon area. Then he was transferred to the Western White House, San Clemente, Calif., where he met incoming flights of President Nixon's "Air Force One."

Rev. Calvin also holds the Korean Presidential Unit Citation for Korean Service. He assumed pastoral duties with Evangel Temple in December, 1970.

While on active duty, he served churches in Southern and Northern California and Arlington, Va. His active duty ministry has also included Hawaii and Japan.

do cats laugh?

We don't mean to offend any cat-lover, but we don't believe cats laugh.

Laughter is a muscular response to appreciated humor. And we're inclined to view humor as one of those high-level responses which are characteristic in humans only. And thank the Lord for humor. Without laughter this would be a sorry world.

Religion is another human characteristic not evident in animals. Our belief in and worship of God, coupled with our conscientious effort to live according to moral principles — these are not found in the animal world.

Whether cats laugh is not a question of great moment. But whether man is living up to the religious capacity God has given him is another matter. Our awakening to our spiritual potential is a great moment!

Deals Shake Confidence

The Pay Board and the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee have undermined themselves badly.

The boards told the committee in charge of construction wages to keep their awards secret because news of the settlements was undermining efforts to establish guidelines of 5.5 per cent for most unions and 7 per cent for exceptions.

The secrecy — along with approvals for hikes of around 10 per cent — undermines nothing as badly as the integrity of the boards' members. Plea that it was all a misunderstanding compounds the damage. The only possibility for misunderstanding was the extent of reaction to secrets exposed.

The construction tradesmen had been gouging the public, anyway. Construction pay had spiraled so far above real market value that President Nixon slapped a freeze on that industry long before the general freeze hit. That worked average settlements to around 19 per cent increases.

The Pay Board's secret deals cut that in half, approximately, which is some progress, but instead of taking credit for that gain the secrecy rule was tried and all credit for trying to do right was lost.

The 5.5 per cent yardstick has been fractured in a few cases, openly and with explanations.

With a construction boom in being, a case for market demand might be made that would win public acceptance. Craftsmen and laborers are no doubt in brisk demand. Pressure to keep building going is heavy. So why the secrecy? Better yet, why the cave-in? If inflation is, indeed, everybody's business, the construction trades ought to be included, too.

Rich Historical Lode

Former President Johnson has opened a rich lode of historical diggings to scholars with access to the Johnson Library in Austin. He will open more later when he makes available the considerable collection on civil rights.

President Johnson's papers are destined to form the basis of a great chapter in American history. He played a more prominent part in American affairs for a longer period of time than anyone in recent history, certainly. His years as protege of Sam Rayburn, as congressman and senator, as Senate leader, vice president and President spanned this country's most challenging years since the Civil War and its most exciting years since the American Revolution.

The President early recognized the value of his papers. His sense of history was second nature. The diggings will be rewarding.

Spread Thin

Around The Rim

Brian Peay

Not too often do many people pay enough attention to year-end stories. As have been published in The Herald over the past few weeks.

BUT ONE OF the year-end stories published Jan. 30 in The Herald in particular should have opened the eyes of the citizens to a problem that someday might grow to immense proportions.

In that story it was pointed out crime has increased 8.2 per cent in 1971 over the number of crimes committed in 1970 in the city. That might not sound too serious, but let's take another look at it.

ONE OF THE categories in which crime increased was murders or homicides. There were eight murders committed in the city during 1971 as compared to one committed in 1970. And already the number of murders for this year has started with the first in the county and city being recorded this past weekend.

The other main category is burglaries. The number of burglaries in the city increased by 49 over 1970 for a new total of 309 during 1971. This increase does not seem too bad unless you consider it is 19 per cent, or until you add the amount of property stolen.

POLICE REPORTED that $156,310.46 of merchandise was taken in 1971, compared to $26,750.45 worth stolen in 1970. Therefore, although the number of thefts and burglaries in the city during 1971 increased by only one-fifth, the loss multiplied nearly seven times.

These statistics are shocking, but an even deeper analysis of the problems might leave most businessmen uneasy if not scared. During a regular evening in the city there are never more than four squad cars on patrol.

And to make matters worse, there is usually never more than one patrolman to a car on any given eight-hour shift. Therefore, the town is constantly guarded at most times by approximately six policemen.

THE FEDERAL average of commissioned officers per 1,000 population of a city is 2.6. That would mean for a town the size of Big Spring, 70.3 commissioned officers would be required to meet federal standards.

Currently there are only 38 commissioned personnel in the Big Spring police department, and less than a third of that number is on duty during each shift. But, then policemen are on a five day week, so the number of patrolmen on duty normally is less than the one-third. It's apparent that even with the increase over the past year in crime in the city, the small number of officers working are doing one good job.

IT SEEMS TO me one of the main priorities of the city should be to see that adequate personnel is provided for in the police department, else the old saying "crime runs rampant in the streets," may become more than just a saying in Big Spring, if it already hasn't.

Sleep well tonight merchants, chances are that one of the patrolmen guarding the city just might happen to be in the right place at the right time to catch that burglar stealing you blind.

A New Trend

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There is a new trend in the Indo-China situation. Despite all the talk of peace, it is apparent that the Hanoi government is getting ready for a massive offensive about the middle of February which will test the strength of the South Vietnamese. There have already been minor assaults in which North Vietnamese forces have shelled bases guarding the demilitarized zone in the heaviest attacks along the northern border since last autumn.

MILITARY MEN here have been expecting the offensive and are confident that the South Vietnamese will be able to deal with it. American combat troops will not be involved, but surely U.S. air power will be used to assist the South Vietnamese. The senior American civilian adviser to military region 2 in South Vietnam was quoted recently in Saigon as saying:

"It is absolutely certain that an offensive will take place. There isn't any question as to what the enemy's intentions are."

An attack now would be undertaken to create a dilemma for President Nixon while he is in Red China. It is even being hinted in North Vietnamese circles that the time to inflict decisive blows against the United States and South Vietnam would be just at the moment that Mr. Nixon is visiting Peking.

RED CHINA has been assisting North Vietnam for a long time. But the Soviet Union has gone into the situation with more aid than Red China has given, and Peking may be inclined to consider how it could be of help to the United States. The expectation here is that the government of Mainland China would exert an influence toward the making of peace in Vietnam. So it is conceivable that the North Vietnamese offensive now being planned was not inspired by Peking but was due to the strategy of Moscow.

But any large-scale fighting between North and South Vietnam would certainly show that Hanoi cannot get any advantage and might sustain huge losses. The use of American air power would be dangerous to the North Vietnamese, and it looks as if the Hanoi government is taking a big risk in undertaking the major attacks now coming.

DURING A TELEVISION interview recently Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird declined to indicate what form retaliation against North Vietnamese attacks might take, but declared that "we will protect the remaining American forces." He added that we will "certainly keep our options open as far as the use of airpower is concerned." He did not wish to speculate on or rule out the resumption of United States bombing of North Vietnam. He did say that President Nixon would not consider sending American troops back into Vietnam.

What might be forthcoming, therefore, is a real test of South Vietnam's armed forces and what they can do to ward off attacks by the North Vietnamese. Unquestionably, the peace talks will be delayed until after the military actions have taken place and north and South Vietnam have had a chance to weigh the full effects of the assaults.

Men Behind The Men

Garth Jones

Now that most of the expected big names are on the May 6 primary ballot a good many people are beginning to look at the men behind the man.

THERE'S A lot of big names there too — in state campaign headquarters staffs, fund raisers and public relations experts extraordinary.

When Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes officially filed as a Democratic candidate for governor the other day he frankly estimated it would take a minimum of $750,000 in the coming primary for a gubernatorial candidate "to run a good media campaign."

That means paying for the radio and television advertising contracted by campaign headquarters, the considerable cost of printing and direct mailing of posters, letters and such; for the daily or sometimes several times a day press releases and for the men who handle all this.

Barnes' estimate may be low compared with some off-the-record estimates given in the past by gubernatorial and senatorial candidates.

ONE VETERAN Austin public relation firm executive estimated the other day it would take $7,500 to $10,000 for a statewide candidate to pay for the public relations expenses of merely announcing for office and running a bare bones campaign until May 6. This does not include any advertising or radio-TV time or any state headquarters operational expenses.

"We talk to a lot of people who are ambitious and they change their minds after they get the figures," the PR executive said.

There have been no campaign expense accounts filed so far and none are required by state law until April 28, with a final expense accounting for the first primary due May 16.

WHERE DOES the money go?

In Barnes' campaign a goodly portion likely will go to two big name public relations and political relations firms—Read Poland-Poland Inc. and Christian-Miller and Honts Inc. Julian Read was one of former Gov. John Connally's closest advisors in all his campaigns and while Connally was governor. George Christian was an aide to Connally, former Gov. Price Daniel and former President Lyndon B. Johnson and a mainstay in the successful campaign of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., in 1970. Those directly helping with the Barnes campaign include Jerry Hall, former press aide to Gov. Preston Smith, and Sam Kinch Jr., veteran capital political reporter, recently retired from the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

SMITH, WHO does a lot of campaign policy work himself, has his son, Mickey Smith, as campaign manager as he did in his re-election campaign of 1972. Otice Green, Lubbock public relations man, has been his campaign director since 1956 and Jerry Conn, Austin public relations man, has been with Smith since 1967.

DOLPH BRISCOE, South Texas rancher and banker opposing Smith and Barnes in the primary, is just getting his statewide headquarters organization under way although he has spent considerable time setting up local units throughout the state. His state headquarters has been in San Antonio with George Lowrance, a veteran of the Bentsen senatorial campaign as state campaign manager. An Austin firm, Jack Canson Associates, has handled advertising and speeches and press releases. Recently Briscoe put on the payroll DeLoss Walker, 40, of Memphis, Tenn., a nationally known image maker who managed the darkhorse 1970 election of Dale Bumpers for Arkansas governor over Orval Faubus.

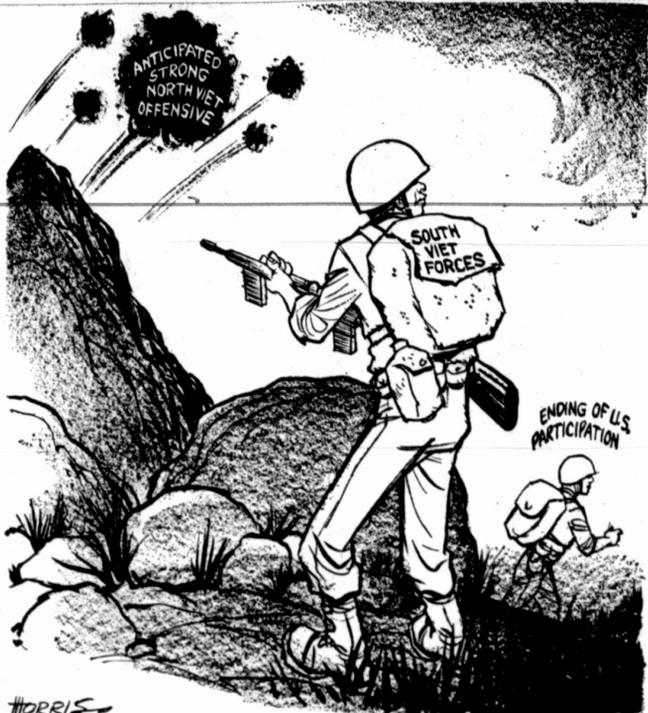

SEN. JOHN Tower, R-Tex., seeking re-election, has the distinction of having a woman campaign manager, attractive Nola Smith of Austin who is a veteran worker in Tower campaigns and his Austin office. Kyle Thompson, veteran wire service reporter of Houston and Austin and press director of the Eugene Locke gubernatorial campaign in 1968, is his media director.

Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, also, is a late comer in getting a state headquarters organized. He also likes to do much of the policy making himself. When he announced early in January, Yarborough said at the same time that Bernard Rapoport, wealthy Waco insurance executive, would be his state finance chairman. Cliff Holmes, formerly with the State Bar of Texas, is assistant campaign manager and T. Scott Bunton, formerly with the Baptist General Convention of Texas, is public relations aide.

BAREFOOT SANDERS, Dallas attorney opposing Yarborough in the Democratic primary, is being handled through the media by an Austin firm that includes Neal Spelce, who has worked closely in the past with Connally and with former President Lyndon Johnson, and Hank Smith, who has had experience in several previous campaigns. Spelce has at times worked closely with Read and with Christian, including several Barnes special events this year.

The Spelce-Smith combination also handles the lieutenant governor's media campaign of Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE for lieutenant governor, Sen. Wayne Connally, Floresville, has as his campaign manager a brother, Merrill Connally of Floresville, who successfully handled the gubernatorial campaigns of a third brother, John B. Connally, now secretary of Treasury.

SO MUCH DEPENDS ON THE BIG TEST!

An Old, Old Story

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — There are elements of an old, old story in the report just released by the Securities and Exchange Commission on restructuring the nation's stock markets to make them simple, direct and open.

There will be three working committees, for example, whose job will be to study, report and propose on the policies outlined. Inherent in such recommendations, necessary as they might be, is delay.

There are fresh elements too. The SEC confirmed its intention of seeking one tape to report the prices of stocks on all exchanges — and even the prices of some stocks not so listed.

Under the existing system, each exchange has its own tape. Any investor reading that tape would never know if the stock he seeks is available elsewhere at a lower price.

Broadly summarized, the SEC sees the necessity for more competition among brokers and exchanges by bringing them into one central marketplace.

It intends to end the situation in which large institutions hold exchange seats mainly to trade for their own accounts. It hopes to bring more competition to large orders by lowering to $300,000 from $500,000 the level at which negotiated rather than fixed commissions are charged. The recommendations, especially for one tape, would certainly make for securities markets "as simple, as direct and as open as we can," in the words of William J. Casey, the SEC chairman.

But implementing those intentions could be another thing. This is testy ground on which reside many powerfully vested financial interests. In addition, depending upon the amount of cooperation among exchanges, the antitrust laws conceivably could be tested.

Moreover, the implementation of any major changes in these billion-dollar market places must always be restrained by consideration for unknown and possibly adverse affects on the entire economy.

The old, old story is the slowness with which progress takes place. Change in the securities markets, no matter how badly needed, cannot come quickly. It takes time and courage to change practices whose origins are in another century.

The present market was structured more by self-interest, especially in its early days, than by planning for the public good. What worked for the private interest took precedence over the public.

Quite odd practices developed. There still exists the situation in which brokers who make a living selling stock are presented as financial advisers. This is not just a dual role but often a conflicting one.

There remains the almost insoluble problem of the specialist, who is assigned to maintain an orderly market in stocks even if it means trading against himself, or buying stocks that nobody else wants at the price.

And there has existed — now to be ended — a practice on some exchanges of permitting institutional traders to trade for their own accounts, thus avoiding commissions and in effect obtaining stock at a discount.

Operations of the securities markets, said Casey, "have become too complicated, with too many transactions structured, contrived and carried out in a particular place or in an unnatural way or without public disclosure."

He concluded in a statement about the report: "The steps spelled out in this report are designed to put competition to work for the investor, to move from reciprocal and rebative practices."

But then comes a return to the old script. The untangling in the public interest will be entrusted largely to a market establishment that permitted or encouraged the tangle for its own interest.

Thinks Man Will Stay On Moon For Months

HOUSTON (AP) — America is halting lunar exploration for a decade, but when Americans return to the moon, they'll go there to stay for months, a space official said here Thursday.

Dr. Wernher Von Braun, an associated administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said that after Apollo 17 later this year, the space agency will turn its attention from the moon to the earth. Research, he said, will be directed toward earth benefits.

"We will abandon the moon perhaps for 10 years," said the silver-haired, German-born rocket expert. "Instead we'll concentrate the space program toward benefiting earth."

Most of the NASA's work, he said, will be toward developing the reusable space shuttle and improving weather, communications and earth resources satellites.

In about a decade, he said, when the shuttle is developed, the new craft will be used to put large payloads into space at a tenth of the present cost.

Later on, he said, the shuttle will ferry laboratory modules into orbit. These will be transferred to a "space tug" which will haul them to the moon. The modules will be joined together to form science stations where scientists can stay and do research for months on end, "just like is done now in the antarctica."

Von Braun said advanced satellites are being developed to improve weather prediction and study the resources of earth.

Wise Man Learns Fast

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Any husband whose wife packs a liverwurst or baloney sandwich more than twice a week in the lunch he carries to work is entitled to a divorce. But a man is unlikely to run away from his home if his wife shows a little imagination in fixing him the meal he eats away.

A dog may dwell in luxury on Park Avenue, but he leads an underprivileged existence if never even once in his life he has the pleasure of scratching a flea.

Chopping up or sawing logs to warm his home has been one of man's commonplace chores for thousands of years. But so accustomed are we today to having other people do our work that a man who cuts up a fallen tree in his backyard feels he is a hero and equal to his pioneer ancestors. It is to him a feat of great virtue, and for a week he bores everybody at the office bragging about it.

A man is sometimes shaken to discover how quickly his physical condition deteriorates after 40. But no man needs to rush to a doctor—even at 80—if he can do a somersault easily or leap confidently over a three-foot-high barrier.

One of the pleasant surprises in marriage is how much a wife's advice to her husband improves after they have celebrated their silver anniversary.

She has learned to separate the possible from the impossible.

Every man yearns at one time or another to become a millionaire, but today the achievement of that ambition is only another form of anonymity. Money still talks, but a million dollars doesn't shout—it only murmurs.

The difference between a wise man and the rest of us is that he learns from experience the first time. Most of us have to come back for a second lesson to get the message.

Three out of five Americans don't know what chilblains are—but feel that if they needed them in a hurry they could always pick them up at the supermarket.

My Answer

Every night I have from five to eight different dreams. Many of these dreams are about people who have died: my parents, relatives, friends, and people I have worked with over the years. Is this some sort of wish to be dead, or a wish to be with my dead friends, or thoughts of my old age and approaching death? I will be sixty years of age shortly. A.R. I am not an authority on dreams. But, in my opinion your life associations have been very pleasant, and your subconscious recalls those experiences of the past in the form of dreams.

When we reach the age of sixty, although it is not old by today's standards of physical fitness, we do know that most of our life is behind us. Few people live beyond eighty, so three fifths of your life is gone. I know when I reached the age of fifty, it dawned upon me that most of my life was behind me. But, this thought should not bring frustration. We have learned enough in the school of life to know that some things people strive for are not worth the effort. We have learned by reading the Bible that God has a concern for the aged. David said, "I have been young, and now I am old; yet I have never seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread." Psalm 37:25. Sixty is a wonderful age to broaden and deepen our spiritual life. Bible-reading has never been more thrilling to me than in the past year. Charles Darwin is reported to have once said, "If I had my life to live over, I would spend it in development of my spiritual life, rather than in scientific pursuits."

Don't worry too much about your dreams, but face the reality of your relationship to God.

A Devotion For Today . .

See what love the Father has given us, that we should be called children of God. —1 John 3:1
PRAYER: Our Father, help us recognize the results of our separation from You. May we accept Your love and live the life You intend for us. Amen.

Whose Secretary?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a feelings secretary for a very nice man. He is a wonderful person to work for, except for one thing. He is always bringing me his kids' essays or term papers or book reports to type up. Also his wife is active in club work, and she sends lots of letters and speeches to the office for me to type. I wouldn't mind doing this once in a while, Abby, but I think I am being taken advantage of but I don't have the nerve to tell my boss how I feel.

Maybe if you print this letter in your column, he will see it wrong with asking the ailing and take the hint. Or perhaps person himself, or a relative or some of your readers have close friend about the nature some suggestions on how I can of the illness? I have asked refuse to do work for the whole three different people this question family without hurting anyone's tion, and I got the following answers: 1. It is "bad taste." 2. It is an invasion of privacy. 3. Some illnesses are "embarrassing" to reveal. Very truly yours, BRONX DUMMY DEAR DUMMY: My answer would be a combination of all three.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WILL WAIT FOREVER FOR HIM IN ODESSA": You may have to be divorced. It doesn't matter whether they have been "separated" for six months or sixty years.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Actress Dies
DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Jessie Royce Landis, 67, stage, film and television actress, died Wednesday. Miss Landis, whose stage career began in 1924, appeared in 45 plays and numerous movie and television dramas.

DEAR ABBY: My question: When someone is ill, what is in your column, he will see it wrong with asking the ailing and take the hint. Or perhaps person himself, or a relative or some of your readers have close friend about the nature some suggestions on how I can of the illness? I have asked refuse to do work for the whole three different people this question family without hurting anyone's tion, and I got the following Harmones Aid?

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it safe glaucoma may have some other for a glaucoma patient to take medical problem for which a daily dosage of hormones? I hormones are the preferred should that anyone with glaucoma treatment. Indeed, by the time should not take hormones as we get to the "glaucoma age" they retain fluid in the body — most of us are pretty likely to have something or other else M.S.

It is true that some hormones the matter with us which needs (the female hormones) can cause water retention in the tissues. And too much fluid retention can be an undesirable influence with glaucoma, tending to increase pressure in the eyes, and that is just what must be avoided.

But please note that I say it "can be" a factor, and distinctly do not say that it will be.

The point I'm trying to make is this: some patients with cases should be a hard and fast rule. It's something for the physician to keep in mind. If eye pressure (the glaucoma) can't be reduced to a reasonable level, then in certain cases the use of hormones might be reduced or halted, but when the eye pressure remains satisfactory, I see no reason to worry about the hormones.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any cure for fungus under the toenails and fingernails? I have been patiently waiting for an answer. — Z.C.

If you mean a home remedy, no. But a dermatologist, and sometimes your regular physician, can usually cure it. Depending on the type of fungus, medications sometimes do the job. Other times it is necessary to remove the nail, so medication can be applied more directly to the fungus.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend of ours claims that he has a special substance or acid in his lungs that prevents nicotine and tar buildup. He also claims he can breathe in 90 per cent air pollution without any ill effects. Is it possible? — B.F.

I've spent enough time trying to explode some of the ancient old wives' tales — so now I guess I'll have to do the same for some of the new nonsensical notions — like the above. Utterly ridiculous.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I understand that hardening of the arteries was prevalent among my ancestors, and from symptoms I believe I may have the same affliction. I am particularly alarmed about my vision.

Would a physician be able to prescribe medication to help control this malady? — F.E.T.

Only within certain limits. There is no way to "unharden" arteries, but one of the principal consequences of hardened arteries is high blood pressure, which can be harmful in a variety of ways. Also, high cholesterol may be a factor.

You certainly should see a doctor, find out whether your blood pressure and cholesterol are too high, and if so start treatment to reduce both. The eyes can, indeed, be affected by high blood pressure, so if I were you I would get after this right away.

BEFORE HOMEFOLK IN BROWNWOOD Barnes Campaigning For Governor

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Supporters whom Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes calls homefolk heard him formally kick off his campaign for governor Thursday night.

And Barnes, bidding for the Democratic nomination, told them bluntly to look for sharp personal attacks on him before they go to the polls.

The lieutenant-governor is from De Leon, 43 miles northeast of here in Central Texas. He first won election to the legislature from this area in 1960 while just 21 years old.

Barnes has claimed that many efforts have been made to link him to the Texas insurance stock scandal.

PERSONAL ATTACKS
He declared, "Over the past months, many of you have been distressed by personal attacks against me, but I'm afraid that you might as well expect a great deal more of smear and slander in the weeks and months ahead."

NOT THEIR MAN
He told his audience, however, that "If the people of Texas really want a stand-pat governor, then I'm not their man."

He has often accused Smith of not providing leadership and of wanting to be governor for the ceremonial aspects.

"If they're satisfied with doing nothing, joke-telling, ribbon-cutting state leadership, then they should vote for somebody else in this governor's race," Barnes said.

"They can vote for men whose boots are so stuck in the mud of yesterday that they can't find the solid ground of today... and they sure can't see the promises of tomorrow. I offer the alternative to that."

Barnes said he had reported his assets and liabilities and "made public my income, including my private business (in Brownwood) that supplements my part-time salary from the state. I'm curious to know when my opponents are going to do the same."

"What are they waiting for?"

Mystery Cloaks Hunt For Tanker

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Ships and planes searched the choppy Gulf of Mexico waters south-southeast of here again today for a missing tanker with 40 persons aboard.

The 572-foot vessel, V. A. Fogg, with a crew of 36 and five maintenance men aboard, became the object of a search Wednesday when she did not arrive here as expected after sailing from Freeport.

The U.S. Coast Guard reported Thursday night a life jacket was found floating about 60 miles south of here where a pilot had seen smoke Tuesday. A Coast Guard spokesman said the preserver contained no markings and could not be identified as belonging to the tanker.

The tanker was to clean 18 empty tanks of highly explosive benzene residue, then deliver to Galveston two tanks of xylene, not considered highly explosive.

There has been no radio contact with the vessel since it left port.

The cleaning location was to be about 50 miles offshore, as required by federal regulations.

However, a Coast Guard spokesman said the search area had been widened to include areas as far as 150 miles off the Galveston coast.

Winds in excess of 30 miles per hour and waves up to 14 feet high hampered search efforts.

A column of smoke about two miles high was reported Tuesday in the area where the ship was to have cleaned the tanks.

The vessel is owned by Texas City Tanker Corp., a division of Texas City Refinery Corp. A spokesman for the firm said no names of crewmen would be released until all next of kin had been notified of the ship's disappearance.

Two Coast Guard Cutters, the Valiant and the Gentian, both out of Galveston, and four aircraft from Houston, Corpus Christi and New Orleans searched the Gulf Thursday.

The Coast Guard said 17,000 square miles of the Gulf was searched Thursday.

The missing ship stirred memories of another tanker which disappeared nine years ago today. The Marine Sulphur Queen, carrying over 15,000 tons of liquefied sulphur from Beaumont to Norfolk, Va., vanished Feb. 4, 1963 off Florida. No trace of the ship nor the 39 crew members was ever found.

ACCUSES PEPPARD OF ASSAULT — Joan McLaughlin, 24, a Boston nurse's aide and occasional model, has filed complaints of assault and attempted rape against movie actor George Peppard. She played a bit part in the movie "Bananahead" which was filmed in Boston and starred Peppard. In Hollywood, Peppard said in a statement, "The charge is completely false and without foundation."

Smith Rally At Odessa

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has chosen Odessa for his official campaign opening because, he said, the people there were so excited about it. Smith will open his campaign next Tuesday.

He announced some time ago that he would seek re-election in the Democratic Party primary.

"We have chosen Odessa for our kickoff because of the enthusiastic invitation that has been extended to me by people there urging me to begin my re-election campaign in their city," Smith said.

The governor said he would follow the opening in Odessa with "21 more area campaign kickoff receptions."

Stock Buyer Seeks Errant Brief Case

Leonard J. Seaback, Amarillo, laid his brown vinyl zippered brief case and suit bag on top of his car when departing from the Holiday Inn.

"I put in my suit bag and forgot the brief case," said Seaback. Somewhere near there or along IS 20 east, the brief case took off.

In it were a personal checkbook as well as one for Wilson Beef and Lamb Co. of Hereford, for whom he is a buyer. Even more important, he had a list of telephone numbers and other private papers which are extremely important to him in his work. The Holiday Inn will forward the case to him if anyone finds it.

His First Steps As Candidate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Beaumont and Orange were on Sen. Ralph Hall's campaign schedule today—his first steps after filing as a candidate for lieutenant governor in the Democratic Party primary.

Hall, fighting off the flu which had kept him in bed for a week, filed at party headquarters Thursday and contributed $1,000 to the party in lieu of a filing fee, which has been declared unconstitutional by a federal court.

"I've had the flu for the last seven days, and I want all my opponents to have equal time," he quipped.

Hall, 48, was elected to the Senate in 1962 from Rockwall in northeast Texas.

As your business grows, maybe your trucks should shrink.

It's basic math. More business, more trucks, more fuel and maintenance. If you're expanding, may we offer this small suggestion: the Datsun Pickup. It delivers up to 25 miles per gallon. It requires less maintenance simply because there's less to maintain. Yet it hauls the goods just like any other self-respecting half-ton in town. The Datsun Pickup is America's number one selling import truck. Pure and simple. Drive a Datsun... then decide.

DESPITE FALLING MILITARY STRENGTH
Reserve Bonuses Plan Dims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although military reserve strength still is falling, the Nixon administration has backed away from proposed enlistment and re-enlistment bonuses to stem the drop.
The action comes despite repeated statements by top officials that they have promoted the National Guard and Reserves to front rank in preparedness while cutting the regular armed forces toward their lowest level in nearly a quarter-century.

Y Member Drive Reports Are Due

The participating division of the YMCA reached 60 per cent in its current membership push Thursday evening.
A final report session is scheduled for this evening and campaign leaders are expecting another substantial surge forward.
The total registered through Thursday was $8,042.50, and there were three new quota busters — Mrs. Pete Cook, Frank Hardesty and Ben Bancroft. Quota for the participating division is $13,500.

SHARP controlled the insurance company and also the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank of Houston.
The banking bills would have permitted state banks to insure their deposits with a state corporation and thus avoid federal bank examiners.
Mutscher says he suffered a net loss on the stock because of subsequent investments just before it plummeted.
