NIXON SAYS RIVALS SHOULD EXAMINE INDOCHINA GIGS

'State Of The World' Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told his Democratic rivals today that candidates for President should carefully examine any criticism of administration policy in Indochina to make sure their statements do not give "the enemy an incentive for continuing the war."

In a nationally broadcast assessment of his foreign policy, Nixon said he does not question the patriotism or sincerity of those who have criticized his Vietnam course.

But he recalled his own campaign for the White House in 1968, and said candidates should remember that "only the President can negotiate an end to the war."

HONORABLE PEACE

Nixon said there should be free debate and criticism of U.S. policy. "But a candidate for President has a higher responsibility than the ordinary critic," Nixon said.

He said a candidate should make any criticism "he believes can contribute to an honorable peace."

But he said those candidates should carefully examine what they say to make sure it contains nothing that could give the Communists an incentive to continue fighting.

During his 1968 campaign, Nixon refused to discuss in detail his proposed war policies, saying that if he did so, the Communists might hold out awaiting the elections in hopes of getting a better deal from a new administration.

GENEROUS OFFER

Nixon said he has been doing everything in his power to honorably end the war. "... We have made the most generous peace offer in the history of war," he said.

Nixon's comment about the patriotism and sincerity of his critics came only two days after H. R. Haldeman, one of his top aides, said in a television interview that Democratic critics of administration peace terms were consciously aiding the enemy.

Nixon also said in his radio address, which was pointed to Congress and the people alike, that his foreign policy has brought the world closer to a stable peace because the United States has stopped reacting "on the basis of yesterday's habits" and is dealing with "the opportunities of tomorrow."

MORE JOBS

Nixon cited his forthcoming journeys to Communist China and the Soviet Union, said U.S. alliances have been reshaped to reflect allied capabilities to assume greater responsibilities, and declared that new world

Disruption Day Fails To Materialize

BELFAST (AP) — D-for-Disruption Day, a 24-hour campaign by civil rights leaders to bring civic chaos to Northern Ireland, brought no extraordinary violence today.

The British army was alerted for attacks by the Irish Republican Army and police forces were canceled.

At Newry, scene of the massive march in silence Sunday, the main Belfast-Dublin road was blocked by barricades. Automobiles were set afire in Coals and in County Tyrone.

In Belfast and Londonderry, promised protests on a mass scale did not materialize. Most shops, schools and factories in Northern Ireland's two major cities opened normally.

"It is an absolute disaster at the moment," Londonderry civil rights leader Michael Hovard said.

Retaliatory Air Strikes On North Vietnam Shapes

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command abruptly recalled the aircraft carrier Constellation to the Tonkin Gulf today, raising the strong possibility of intensive retaliatory air strikes on North Vietnam should the Communist command launch an all-out offensive, informants said.

The 76,000-ton carrier cut short a port leave in Hong Kong as the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong made about 50 attacks across South Vietnam Wednesday and Tuesday, including the heaviest rocket assault on the Da Nang area in 2½ years.

13 YANKS HIT

Although many of the attacks were small scale, it was the largest number in more than four months, and it appeared to mark the start of a pre-Tet highpoint of activity.

The U.S. Command said attacks on American forces also intensified overnight and at least 13 Americans were wounded.

Communiques and incomplete field reports listed at least 37 South Vietnamese killed and 141 wounded. The Saigon command claimed 147 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and 22 captured.

TONKIN BOUND

In San Diego, Calif., the Navy canceled leaves for crewmen of the carrier Kittyhawk, and the men speculated they would return to the Tonkin Gulf sooner than planned. Sailing had been scheduled for the end of March.

Informants said the Constellation would join the carriers Coral Sea and Hancock in the Tonkin Gulf, forming a 225-plane strike force to attack supply depots and other installations in North Vietnam should the Communist command launch the major offensive that U.S. officials have been predicting for this month.

The United States has about 125 more fighter-bombers at Da Nang and at bases in Thailand.

The sudden return of the Constellation was also considered a show of strength to back President Nixon's repeated assurances that he will protect the remaining American troops in Vietnam.

CEASE-FIRE

Despite the surge in activity, the South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry issued a communique saying allied forces would observe a 24-hour cease-fire beginning at 6 p.m. Saigon time next Monday for the Tet festival of the lunar new year.

Sources said, however, that allied troops would remain on heightened alert and South

Vietnamese leaves would be limited.

The cease-fire applies only to South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong announced last December they would observe a 96-hour cease-fire for Tet beginning at 1 a.m. Saigon time Monday.

In the past, all such limited cease-fires have been violated.

Most of today's war activity centered in the northern and central coastal regions and the central highlands, where U.S. officials have been predicting a major enemy offensive.

LONDON (AP) — It's all getting a little bit like James Bond. The events of the past four days have been in a world of sheer fantasy.

All I keep hearing are two names. One is Howard Hughes, the eccentric millionaire I've never met in my life.

The other is Clifford Irving, the name of a man I have loved and an author I still believe has pulled off the literary coup of the century.

If this affair had not got into the world headlines, I know my affair with Clifford, however indiscreet it was, would still be a secret today.

VERY HAPPY

There is nothing I can do. What damage has been done, has been done, but I fervently hope it will not break his marriage to his wife Edith because I know they are very happy together.

It was 7½ years ago in Ibiza when we found ourselves in a small beach party together.

Clifford—I'd read several of his books and knew him by reputation—was in the party and we discovered we both lived on the island.

I was then living with my husband Frederik and our children.

Ibiza is a small island and it has lots of social life and it wasn't long before I was bumping into Clifford at cocktail parties and other functions. He became a family friend.

It wasn't until last year that our friendship developed into any kind of relationship. Clifford was then married to Edith, his fourth wife, and my own marriage to Frederik had broken up.

WOULD YOU MIND?

One night at my Chelsea home I got a call from Clifford saying he was coming to London and I invited him in to have dinner that same night with our friends.

During his stay, Clifford asked me if I would like to go on holiday with him to Nassau.

We took the plane to New York the next morning—it was Feb. 12 as far as I recall. When we got there, Clifford announced a sudden change of plans. "Would you mind," he said, "if we went to Mexico instead?"

Clifford then told me he had to go to Mexico to meet Howard Hughes, whose autobiography he was writing.

I had to return to London (from Mexico after 3½ days) and on the previous day Clifford went out to arrange my air ticket back.

ONLY TIME

He was gone between one and a half to two hours. That is the only time when he went out alone for any such period.

I have heard that in an affidavit Clifford has sworn that I was with him when he met Howard Hughes. I cannot believe Clifford would say such a thing because I certainly didn't meet Hughes at any time during our stay there.

But if Clifford saw Hughes in Mexico it could only have been during that two-hour period when he got my air ticket.

Last November, Clifford and I met again in Los Angeles. I picked him up at the airport and he was all aglow over his manuscript on Howard Hughes. He had been to New York to see the publishers, McGraw-Hill, and he told me that the serialization rights had been bought by Life magazine.

Clifford had sworn me to secrecy about the whole thing.

At the house we borrowed from a friend I cooked some steaks for Clifford and my manager, John Marshall, and over dinner Clifford told us of the strange meetings he had with Howard Hughes.

IN ANGLY TALK HERE

Treasurer's Role In Scandal Aired

State Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin, the Republican candidate for state treasurer in this year's elections, spoke at noon Wednesday to a luncheon meeting of the West Texas Republican Women's Club at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Mayes.

Rep. Angly, a 31-year-old attorney who is the senior Republican member of the Texas House of Representatives, discussed the role of the incumbent state treasurer in the celebrated stock fraud scandal.

"By increasing state deposits at the Sharpstown State Bank to $10,034,875 in the months preceding the loans by that bank to Speaker Mutscher and the other state officials involved in the scandal, State Treasurer Jesse James provided Frank Sharp with the 'compensating balances' with which to make so many large loans to Mutscher and the others.

"No other bank in the history of Texas has ever received such blatantly preferential treatment in respect to state deposits.

Throughout the period when this bank made loans to Mutscher and the others, approximately one-seventh (1/7) of the total deposits at the Sharpstown State Bank was state funds placed there by James.

Rep. Angly pointed out that while the total deposits made at Frank Sharp's bank by the treasurer were clearly in excess of normal state deposits in banks of comparable size, the treasurer's main abuse of discretion was in placing $4,034,875 of state deposits at this bank in a non-interest bearing checking account.

"Treasurer James placed $6,000,000 in a savings account at the Sharpstown State Bank earning 5 per cent interest, while the balance of $4,034,875 was left 'parked' with Frank Sharp earning no interest whatsoever for over two years.

"State Treasurer James' handling of state deposits at this one bank cost the state approximately $1,000,000 in lost interest, money we would have earned if our treasury were run in a sound business-like manner," Angly said.

Rep. Angly stated that as state treasurer, "I intend to put an end to this sort of lackadaisical mismanagement of state deposits which appears to have cost the taxpayers over $10,000,000 a year."

Rep. Angly is launching his statewide campaign with a tour of West Texas cities. Yesterday he spoke in San Angelo. On Wednesday he made speaking engagements in Sterling City and Big Spring. During the rest of the week, Rep. Angly will visit Midland, Odessa, Monahans and El Paso.

A TIME FOR REFLECTION Cuban Justo Samuels HEARTACHES Walking Cuban 'Lover' Seeks Answer

By TOMMY HART

At 43, Justo Samuels of Oakland, Calif., is a man possessed of an undiminished lust for living but is a victim of unrequited love.

The wife of the Cuban expatriate walked out on him in a fit of pique several months ago and dusted to her father's nest in Houston, leaving him with six kids and a houseful of memories.

Justo wants her back. He tried to contact her by telephone but she wouldn't talk to him. In Justo's mind, there was but one thing to do — go and fetch her.

A prosperous paint contractor and decorator in Oakland, Justo could have flown to Houston in three hours or bused across country in three days. He felt he needed a lot of time to think, however, so he elected to walk every step of the way.

Samuels left his business affairs in the hands of his oldest children and started putting one foot after another in the direction of Texas.

CRAMPS A PROBLEM

Early on the mission, he developed leg cramps and found he could walk only with great difficulty but he consulted a doctor in King City, Calif., and was advised not to overdo it. He's following the regimen to this day and has had no more problems.

Samuels stopped over in Big Spring Tuesday night, checking in at the Ponderosa Motel to rest and get in out of the cold.

A motel stop is rare for Justo. Equipped with a sleeping bag, the one-time resident of the Isle of Pines, Cuba, usually sleeps under the stars — not too far removed from the ribbons of asphalt that are leading him to Houston.

Justo says his father-in-law has threatened to shoot him if he shows up at his house to reclaim his spouse.

For that reason, Samuels hopes a trusted intermediary will help him change her mind.

There are others interested in Justo and his troubled life. An Oakland television station contacts him once a week, checking on his progress. Employees of a video outlet in Houston intercepted news of his trip and talk with him each morning, making sure he has not decided to scrub his mission and return to California.

Why did Justo's helpmate split with him? He says a third party, a woman in this case, planted the seeds of suspicion in Mrs. Samuels' mind — as to Justo's fealty. Samuels says he sometimes likes to play cards with fellows in the neighborhood and couldn't always account for his whereabouts, at least not to the satisfaction of Mrs. Samuels.

LOTS OF COMPANY

If all Americans were so bridled, he laments, 99 per cent of us would be in the soup at home, one time or another.

Justo isn't shaving regularly these days, although he doesn't like the hirsute look. It's just that he reasoned he didn't have room for a razor among the meagre belongings he packed.

Samuels came by way of San Jose, Pinnacle National Monument, Peace Valley, Mesa and El Paso. He's been on the road since Jan. 13 and expects to be walking for another 12 days or so.

How are his feet holding out? No problems, he says. He walks four hours without resting in the mornings, then resumes his pilgrimage at 50-minute intervals before pausing another 10 minutes.

By the time he arrives in Houston, he'll have his sales pitch well rehearsed, he reasons — if he is afforded the opportunity to use it. Getting that chance is something else again.

He's receptive to all ideas. In matters of love, he figures, he's not sailing uncharted seas.

Plea Of Immunity Is Meant As Joke, Bearden Insists

Three jurors have now been selected in the 83rd District Court, Alpine, trial of Whitmer Jean Ballard, 46, charged with the Dec. 2, 1970 shotgun slaying of Glascock County rancher Steve Currie, 71.

Presiding District Judge Charles E. Sherrill, of the 112th Judicial District, recessed court until 1:30 p.m. following the selection of Grover Crone, 58, a highway department employee, and husband of the Alpine County-District clerk.

At 1:30 p.m. today, a second venire of 200 persons was to report for jury selection which is expected to take several days to complete. Attorneys completed questioning of the jurors selected from the first venire of 200 today. The other two jurors selected to hear the case against Ballard are Esteban Rodriguez, 23, a graduate of Sul Ross University, and Mrs. Laura Pattillo, a history instructor at Sul Ross.

Jury selection was interrupted Tuesday by a motion from defense attorney, Bobby Bearden, Midland, that Ballard be granted immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony in behalf of the state.

Today, Bearden said the motion was introduced as a "joke." Wayne Burns, 118th District attorney, told Bearden that he might consider granting immunity if he could hear first what Ballard's testimony might be. Bearden countered that he would agree to the condition if Burns would state under oath that the same procedure was followed in granting Mrs. Judy Dunham, 23, immunity.

Ballard is one of five persons charged in Currie's death, which occurred during a robbery of his fashionable ranch home near Garden City.

Currie was shot when he confronted an intruder in the living room of his home. Mrs. Currie testified that she came downstairs at the sound of shots, and was trussed up by a ski-masked intruder alleged to be Ballard who proceeded to search the house for valuables. Three pistols and some items of jewelry were taken in the robbery.

Orville Davis, 51, was convicted in October, 1971, for his part in Currie's death and sentenced to life in prison by a Midland County jury, largely through the testimony of Mrs. Dunham.

Davis is currently serving a life sentence. Benjamin Thomas Tisdale, 46, is in federal custody and is awaiting trial in San Angelo for Currie's murder.

Floyd Palmer, 41, exiled Sunday the search for him in connection with Currie's death when he plunged 70 feet to his death while attempting to escape from a Piate County, Neb., jail. Palmer had fashioned a rope out of sheets and had sawed out the bars of his window and was climbing down the rope when it gave way. FBI agents identified Palmer through his fingerprints and tattoos.

School To Have Three Vote Boxes

The school board Tuesday evening set the annual school board election for April 1 and provided three polling places.

The polling places are the high school, with Lawrence Robinson as judge; Northside Fire Station, with Bill Estes as judge; and Gay Hill school, with O. R. Crow as judge.

The additional polling places were set after a request for a northside box was made by a delegation led by Gus Ochotorena, chairman of the American GI Forum.

"Turnout in the past has been poor," he said, "but the GI Forum has pushed voting registration, and we believe the turnout will be good if we have a northside box."

"Most of the people on the northside are working people who generally have to work until almost time for the polls to close, and many have to walk to the polls because of lack of transportation," said Ochotorena.

The board voted to add a northside box at the fire station, and then added the Gay Hill box.

"We can't very well add a box two miles from the high school and not add one 20 miles away," said Jerry Jenkins, board member.

Three places will be up for election, including A. K. Guthrie and J. W. Little, whose terms expire, and Tom Fetters, who is filling the remainder of the first year of a three-year term.

The filing deadline was set for Wednesday, March 1. Absentee voting will be March 13-28 at the county clerk's office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, as absentee judge.

The Howard County Junior College board of trustees and the county school trustees are expected to use the same polling places.

Rejects Texas' Challenge Of Redistricting Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U. S. Supreme Court Justice has followed an attempt by the State of Texas to block a U. S. District Court decision that the Texas legislative redistricting plan is unconstitutional.

The Austin court found the redistricting plan for the Senate constitutional, but ruled the House redistricting plan violated the equal protection clause because of population deviations in the districts. It also found that multi-member district plans for Dallas and Bexar counties were unconstitutional.

Powell said the case had received careful attention by the three-judge court in Austin and noted "The order of the court was narrowly drawn to effectuate its decision with a minimum of interference with the state's legislative processes."

Justice Lewis Powell Jr. refused Tuesday to block the order of the district court in Austin and explained that the State of Texas had failed to show that the court's order was erroneous.

The Supreme Court justice added that the state could not prove that implementation of the judgment pending appeal would cause irreparable damage.

It was the second time in two weeks that Powell was called upon to rule in a Texas redistricting case. Last month, he agreed to block the order of a U. S. District Court in Dallas that found the Texas congressional redistricting plan unconstitutional.

The Austin court found the redistricting plan for the Senate constitutional, but ruled the House redistricting plan violated the equal protection clause because of population deviations in the districts. It also found that multi-member district plans for Dallas and Bexar counties were unconstitutional.

Friend Of Mafia Figure Draws Prison Sentence

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jack Harold Halfen, described as a longtime friend of a reputed Louisiana Mafia figure, faced two consecutive five-year prison terms today.

Halfen, 38, of Houston and Collegeport, Tex., received the sentence Tuesday for interstate transportation of forged bank money orders.

U. S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle denied a motion for a new trial.

Halfen was convicted here Jan. 14 after two local businessmen said he gave them money orders totaling $1,321, which were stolen from the Hub City Bank of Lafayette, La.

According to published reports, Halfen is a friend of reputed New Orleans Mafia figure Carlos Marcello.

Halfen was charged in a federal case at Los Angeles with perjury before a grand jury probing fraudulent sales of stocks and securities, court records show.

Records also show he has been in federal custody since his arrest in New Orleans last May, when authorities returned him to the United States from British Honduras.

Life Raft From Texas Tanker Found

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A board to inquire into the disappearance of the tanker V. A. Fogg was announced by the Coast Guard Tuesday as search forces found an empty 10-man life raft from the craft in the Gulf of Mexico about 50 miles south of Freeport.

Rear Adm. Orvan R. Smeder, commander of the 7th Coast Guard District at Miami, Fla., was named to head a four-member board to probe into the disappearance of the ship, missing for over a week with 39 crew members aboard.

The group is expected to convene later this week or early next week in Galveston.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the life raft found Tuesday was "positively identified as coming from the V. A. Fogg."

It turned up in the same general area where a life ring and a life jacket and a door were found earlier. The life ring and jacket bore the name of the Fogg, and a vacationing crew member said the door belonged to the ship.

The Coast Guard spokesman said the life raft was the type that inflated as soon as it hit the water.

Its emergency supplies aboard had not been touched, the spokesman said, adding, "There was no evidence anyone had ever been in it."

The 572-foot tanker left Freeport, Tex., en route to Galveston Feb. 1. She became the object of a massive sea and air search when she failed to reach Galveston the next day. The Fogg was to have sailed 50 miles offshore to clean her tanks of highly volatile benzene residue.

Three DFCs, Bronze Star Are Presented At Webb

Three Distinguished Flying Crosses (DFC) and a Bronze Star medal were presented to four Webb officers in recent ceremonies in the Wing conference room.

Those receiving the DFCs were: Captains Calvin K. McMurray Jr., Jerry A. Ferguson and David W. Jensen; First Lt. Robert F. Tilton received the Bronze Star.

The citation accompanying the DFC to Captain McMurray stated that while in aerial flight as a C123K pilot from Phan Rang AB, Vietnam, on April 24, 1971, "Captain McMurray was called upon to airdrop needed supplies to Free World Forces engaged in operations against an opposing hostile force. Despite intense ground fire, he flew at low altitudes to insure pinpoint delivery of his cargo. Through skillful maneuvering, he accomplished his mission and recovered his aircraft without damage or crew injury."

Captain Ferguson was awarded his DFC for participating in aerial flights as a forward air controller in Southeast Asia and was cited for answering the call of a friendly "round commander whose airdrop of supplies and ammunition had fallen into enemy hands."

"Lieutenant Ferguson ordered fighters and despite intense hostile ground fire, accurately marked and directed the destruction of the supplies and several hostile fighting positions."

The citation accompanying the award to Captain Jensen said, "... while participating in aerial flight as a forward air controller in Southeast Asia on March 2, 1971. On that date, Lieutenant Jensen flew his lightly armed observation aircraft into extremely hazardous air environment to direct air strikes against hostile supply vehicles. Despite marginal weather and intense anti-aircraft fire, Lieutenant Jensen directed air strikes which resulted in several trucks destroyed, one personnel carrier damaged, two large secondary explosions, 80 medium secondary explosions and five sustained fires."

The Bronze Star Medal was awarded to First Lieutenant Robert Tilton for his work as a field maintenance officer at Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam, from Sept. 10, 1970 to Sept. 7, 1971. "During this tour, Lieutenant Tilton exercised outstanding leadership and management to meet all maintenance requirements with superior quality and in a highly efficient manner. "His dedication and rare expertise played an important role in establishing the outstanding maintenance record at Bien Hoa Air Base."

Administrative Contracts Are Extended Year

The Big Spring school board voted Tuesday to extend the contracts of administrative personnel for one year; to not extend the contracts of the high school principals; in order to be on the same basis as other principals, to extend the contracts of the elementary principals; and to take no action on the head coach's contract.

The board, despite opposition from Ralph McLaughlin and Jim Bill Little, extended the contracts of Donald E. Crockett, Donald C. Green, Lynn C. Hise, Noel E. Reed and Keith Swim for one year, giving them two year contracts ending June 30, 1974.

McLaughlin and Little opposed any contract longer than one year, because "it is not fair to commit future boards to actions they may not want to take," said McLaughlin. Both men stressed that they did not oppose none of the men involved, only the principle of contracts longer than one year.

UNIFORM POLICY

The board voted to extend the contracts, in part, because "we extended Supt. S. M. Anderson, so we should give the rest of his administrative team the same type of contracts," said Jerry Jenkins.

The contracts of John F. Smith, senior high school principal, Morris Mopus, Ray Pope and John Talmadge, assistant principals at the high school, and John Bagnall, vocational education administrator at the high school, were not extended by unanimous vote of the board.

The vote was explained by Jenkins, who said "We wanted to put all the principals on the same contract basis. The elementary school principals are on a one-year contract, so by not extending these contracts, we have put them on a one-year basis instead of two."

OTHER CONTRACTS

The next contract to receive attention was that of Ray Lawlis, cafeteria director, and it was extended for one year, until June 30, 1974.

Junior high principals S. A. Walker and Harold Bentley had their contracts extended one year, until June 30, 1973. The elementary school principals and Mrs. Mary Newell, coordinator, special education, had their contracts extended one year, until June 30, 1973.

The board decided to take no action on the contract of Clovis Hale, head coach and athletic director. The contract will expire Jan. 31, 1973 if the board takes no action in the future.

The next board meeting was set for Feb. 24.

Sewing Machines, Satchels Sought

Sewing machines and satchels — these are two things the state hospital could use.

In fact, the hospital is hurting for them, Margaret Lloyd, volunteer coordinator, said Tuesday.

The old machines which women use in various programs are just about beyond repair, and the hospital would be grateful if anyone has a repairable machine — age is not of consequence — he or she could give to the hospital.

The need for luggage also is pressing, because there are numerous patients who, when they are ready to depart for home, have nothing but a sack in which to put their clothing and belongings. Hence, the hospital staff will be thankful for any pieces of luggage which residents would be able to donate.

Mrs. Lloyd asked that anyone able to help with either of these needs call her office at the hospital (267-5216).

Yesterday's Answer: What happens when you encourage a gambler — YOU "A-BET" HIM

And now a word about H&R Block's competition.

Because we think our competition represents more of a threat to you than it does to us, we're going to help you sort them out.

Your Family

The greatest people in the world. Most of the time. Unfortunately, most of the time doesn't include income tax time. Because the last thing you need when you're doing your taxes is an aunt who took an accounting course just before she dropped out of college. Or a father who thinks how much money you make and what you do with it is something the rest of the family should know about.

Your Neighbors

You know the type. The mild-mannered shoe salesman next door who suddenly turns into a mathematical genius just about the time income tax is due. He knows all the angles. Some of which even the Internal Revenue Service doesn't know about yet. And he's willing to share them with you. "Just to be neighborly."

You

Your own worst enemy. All year long you can't balance your check book, but that doesn't stop you. Armed with your W-2's, a few reams of paper and a couple of gallons of coffee you bravely attack that stack of forms. You may be taking deductions you're not entitled to, and entitled to deductions you're not taking. So, should you be doing your own taxes?

Us

We're H & R Block, with over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained tax preparers who eat, sleep, and drink income tax returns. People who set out to save you money and much of the time do it. The cost? Fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million customers we served last year.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

And everyone is eligible to receive our year 'round service which is covered by our one time fee. No extra charge for help with audits, estimates, or tax questions.

We know the people we've just told you about will do your income tax return for less than we can but we don't think you can afford them.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

Dianne Holum Claims Gold Medal For U. S.

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — "An Olympic gold medal is a life's ambition come true," said Dianne Holum, who brought the United States its first in these 11th Winter Games, only hours before the American hockey team went out to try and keep its dream of a gold alive in the showdown match with the Soviet Union.

The 20-year-old brown-haired miss from Northbrook, Ill., already dreaming about two more, got the gold with a record-breaking performance Wednesday in 1,500-meter speed skating, climaxing an incredible 10 years of dedication. She was timed in 2 minutes, 20.85 seconds in her blazing run around the Makomanai Outdoor Rink, then skated joyously into the throng of American teammates and coaches, her hands clasped above her woolly blue cap.

CLOSE WIN — The margin of victory by Miss Holum, who broke the previous Olympic mark of 2:22.40, was a mere fifth of a second over Stein Baas-Kaiser, the world record holder from The Netherlands who finished in 2:21.05. The bronze went to Atje Keulen-Deelstra, also of The Netherlands, with 2:22.05.

As soon as the race ended, Miss Holum was looking ahead.

"There are two more races to come and I can't relax," she said.

"I'm an all-around skater. I started out as a sprinter but all these years I have been trying to build up my times over the longer distances. I vowed I would be a champion in the 1,500 and even the 3,000."

With the 1,500 tucked neatly away, Miss Holum goes after not only Saturday's gold in the 3,000 meters, but after the 1,000-meter title a day earlier.

She said she planned her race very carefully and could remember every second of it—not unlike the life she has led to reach this crowning moment.

At three, she was already taking figure skating lessons. But it was seven years later, when her family moved to Northbrook, a Chicago suburb, that her course was set.

She was within reach of a speed skating rink—and put it to good use. By 16 she was a medalist, taking the silver in the 500 meters and the bronze in the 1,000 at Grenoble. But she still wasn't satisfied.

Saving her earnings as a waitress, she went to Holland, lived a spartan life and trained fiercely under Dutch coaches for Sapporo.

"Being a sprinter doesn't get you very far in the Olympics," she said. "I was determined to build myself up for the longer distances." She did—and got far enough to reach the top.

But from the laughing, triumphant moment, she was brought to the verge of tears at a post-race interview.

"What does your gold medal mean to soldiers in Vietnam?" a North Korean reporter asked.

"I don't understand," she replied. "What does that have to do with speed skating?"

"About Mr. Nixon..." the North Korean continued—then Diane's father, Edward, stepped forward. "Let's go, Dianne," he said. And as he led his distraught daughter from the room, Japanese press officials escorted the shouting, wildly gesturing North Korean away.

Astros Could Hit It Big In 1972

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — With spring training less than two weeks away, the Houston Astros say they have some of the best pitching talent around and this may be the year that they hit it big.

John Mullen, assistant to the general manager, said the Astros actually had the potential last year but their batting fell apart.

"When your key hitters don't come through, you just don't do anything," Mullen told newsmen during a promotional visit here Tuesday.

The Astros began trading after last season's 79 wins and 83 losses and obtained pitcher Dave Roberts from San Diego, "perhaps the best left hander in the National League," Mullen said.

Roberts had the second lowest earned run average in the league last season and rounds out what may shape up to be the best pitching staff in the league, he added.

Also on the pitching staff will be Don Wilson, who had the third lowest ERA in the league last year; Ken Forsch, who had the fourth best ERA; and Larry Dierker, the only 20-game winner in Astro history, who had a 12-6 record despite an arm ailment that shelved him in early August.

Righthander Dierker, who accompanied Roberts, Mullen and others on their visit here, said he has rested his arm for the past six months and it feels "pretty good" now. "I hope it will be all right," he said.

Mullen said the addition of the Texas Rangers American League team in Arlington had nothing to do with the Astros' decision to seek out major trades.

"We think the area is big enough to support two ball clubs," Mullen said, adding that he thinks the Astros are generally a better team. "I think baseball interest, may be increased as a result" of the former Washington Senators club's move to Texas, he said.

"We felt we had been telling the fans long enough that 'We are going to win this year,'" Mullen said, elaborating on the trades for Roberts and other players.

"We may fall flat on our face, but we're very optimistic about the trades we made. And we hope this could be the year," he said.

"I don't understand," she replied. "What does that have to do with speed skating?"

"About Mr. Nixon..." the North Korean continued—then Diane's father, Edward, stepped forward. "Let's go, Dianne," he said. And as he led his distraught daughter from the room, Japanese press officials escorted the shouting, wildly gesturing North Korean away.

TRIPLE WINNER — Two other sets of medals were also handed out in Wednesday's competition as Russia's Galina Koukacova became the Games' third multiple-gold winner by taking the women's five-kilometer cross country and Magnar Solberg of Norway repeated his 1968 victory in the grueling individual biathlon.

Sophs Overcome Rebels, 68-66

The Big Spring Sophomores hung on to edge Midland Lee, 68-66, in a game unrivaled here Tuesday evening.

The Sophs have won their last five games under Coach Rex Schofield and now boast a 7-2 record. They go to Odessa Tuesday for a contest with Odessa High's Sophs.

Jeff Kuykendall scored 21 points and Vicky Woodruff 13 for the Dogies.

Cabots Defeat Jaycee Quint

The Cabots broke into the win column Tuesday evening in the YMCA Adult Basketball league, defeating the Jaycees 75-21.

Tuesday's round completed the first half of play. Big Spring Tool jumped to a 75-54 victory over First Federal Savings and Loan, while Tompkins Oil worked over Baptist Temple 82-40.

Johnny Scott played his best game of the season in the Cabot win, getting 25 rebounds to go with his 43 points. Robert Evans supported him with 23. For the Jaycees, Terry Moore had 30 and Earl Tarbet 11.

Steve New with 31 and R. L. Coats and Bo Bennett with 13 each led the Tool quintet to its victory, while Cliff Riley paced First Federal with 16, followed by Ben Johnson with 14.

Geary Huckaby set the standard for Baptist Temple with 18 points, while Robert Jackson (who has best total of 121 points in four games and best average of 30.3) led Tompkins with 38, followed by Ben Neal with 12.

The scores by halves:

Baptist Temple	17-23	40
Tompkins Oil	37-45	82
Big Spring Tool	37-38	75
First Federal	21-33	54

Lakers Reason They Can Unseat Bucks

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles' Gale Goodrich and Jerry West, the highest scoring pair of guards on one team in a single National Basketball Association season, believe that the high-powered Lakers can short-circuit the Milwaukee Bucks' bid for a second straight league championship.

"I feel this is the best team in the history of the Los Angeles franchise," said Goodrich after firing in 36 points Tuesday night and leading the Lakers to their seventh consecutive victory, a 107-102 triumph over the Knicks.

"This Laker team complements itself better than any in the past, and I think we can go all the way," commented West following a 33-point, seven-assist effort against the Knicks.

The Lakers have been one of the most frustrated teams in NBA history. Since moving to Los Angeles from Minneapolis in 1960, they have won six divisional titles, but not once have they been able to capture the league crown.

However, this season, under new Coach Bill Sharman, the Lakers have been simply devastating, winning 48 of 55 games for a remarkable winning percentage of .873—far ahead of the record pace of .840, set by Philadelphia in the 1966-67 season. In that season, the 76ers finished with a 68-13 mark.

The Lakers already have shattered the single-season winning streak record, posting 33 straight victories earlier this season before being stopped by the Bucks 120-104 on Jan. 9. But the Lakers have won the other two meetings between the clubs. In fact, there is no club in the league that has beaten the Lakers more than once this season.

Their victory over New York was their third in four encounters with the Knicks... but it wasn't easy. Despite the torrid shooting of their brilliant backcourt combination, the Lakers never could get a lead bigger than nine points.

That came early in the fourth period, when West hit seven points in less than two minutes and Jim McMillian added a free throw, pulling Los Angeles from an 83-82 lead into a 91-82 advantage.

Sharman, a former backcourt star with the great Bob Cousy at Boston, said Goodrich and West "are playing together better than any guards I've ever seen."

Bill Bradley paced the Knicks with 26 points and Jerry Lucas scored 25.

In other NBA games, Milwaukee defeated Buffalo 126-108, Chicago beat Cleveland

114-90, Seattle downed Houston 27-119, Phoenix thumped Philadelphia 120-108, Golden State edged Baltimore 111-107, and Portland topped Cincinnati 104-100.

Kareem Jabbar poured in 31 points in Milwaukee's victory but the Bucks had to come from behind in the second half to beat Buffalo, which led in the first half by as much as 12 points. Bob Dandridge scored 25 and Lucius Allen 20 for the Bucks. Fred Hilton paced the Braves with 30 while Bob Kauffman had 20. The loss was the 12th straight at home for the Braves.

Forsan To Clash With Eldorado

FORSAN — Coach Don Stevens has announced his Forsan High School girls' basketball team, already crowned district champion, will oppose powerful Eldorado in Robert Lee at 7 p.m. Thursday. Both teams are marking time for the playoffs.

The two Forsan teams will host Blackwell in district competition this evening. The boys' B team start the action at 5 p.m.

McCamey Tips Buffs, 71-63

STANTON — McCamey handed the Stanton Buffaloes their eighth defeat in 10 5-AA starts here Tuesday night, 71-63. The Bisons return to play here Friday evening against Ozona.

In B team competition, Stanton won, 40-39. Gene Louder paced Stanton in that one with 13 points while Sammy Carrasco led McCamey with 17.

STANTON (63) — McCamey 2-48; Dowdell 2-21; Wilson 3-24; Parsons 5-13; Swanson 3-17; McMeans 3-17; Springer 3-12; Totals 22-19-63.

MCCAMEY (71) — Stevenson 15-32; Bowman 6-13; Bolet 7-21; Smith 2-4-4; Stanton 9-1-1. Totals 30-11-71.

Steers Again Decision Midland Lee, 72 To 63

By TOMMY HART
Big Spring beat Midland Lee at its own game here Tuesday night, 72-63, thereby earning its first win in second half 5-AAAA play.

The success, and sweet it was, insured coach Ron Plumlee of a 500 season. The Steers are now 16-13, with just three contests left to play.

The Bold Gold thus beat Lee for the second time in conference play this season and that may never have happened before. The Rebels were run-ning on a flat wheel — three members of their squad were

DISTRICT 5-AAAA Bulldogs Deflate Bobcats, 88-47

MIDLAND — Midland High remained undefeated in District 5-AAAA play by routing San Angelo, 88-47, here Tuesday night.

Since second half play started, Midland has won four straight games. San Angelo slumped to 0-4.

Runnels Nudged In Volleyball

SNYDER — Big Spring Runnels' girls lost both ends of a volleyball doubleheader to Snyder Lamar here Tuesday.

In B team play, the margin was 16-14, 15-7. Lamar gained the upper hand in A team competition, 15-12, 15-1.

Forsan Buffaloes Topple Blackwell In Three Tilts

FORSAN — The Forsan boys wound up their basketball season here Tuesday night. The girls will be playing on for a while.

The Forsan girls were paced by Brenda Cowley, who had 21 points.

Lamar Hunt Is Named To Pro Football Hall

DALLAS (AP) — The Professional Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, was four years from its birth when Lamar Hunt tried to make a go of the American Football League in 1959. He never dreamed he'd reach the pinnacle in both.

Hunt was officially notified Tuesday that he will be inducted into the Hall of Fame this summer.

The founder of the AFL was quick to quip, "If they find out I never lettered in college they may want to take the award back."

Steer Netters Triumph, 15-4

Novice Kniffen's Big Spring High School tennis team scored a convincing 15-4 victory over Snyder in a series of practice matches here Tuesday.

The Steers go to Lubbock for a meet this weekend and leave for the San Antonio Tournament next Wednesday. Fifteen players will make the trip to Lubbock.

Sands Boys Return To 8-B Title Room

KLONDIKE — The Sands boys made it to the throne room in 8-B basketball play again here Tuesday night, mauling Klondike, 121-62.

The Sands girls weren't so lucky. They lost to Klondike, 53-49, in a game that determined the league tittlet after leading by as much as seven points at one stage.

Sands' boys are now 28-2 in the year and 12-0 in conference. The Mustangs catch Borden County in Ackerly Friday night and coach Bob Davis is seeking

SHOULD WRONG-DOER PAY FOR MISTAKES IN WRECK?

Some Claims Can Take Five Years

(Last Of A Series)
By BARBARA LORD
If no-fault insurance is so inevitable and apparently a definite step in the right direction for reducing cost and providing better service to the public, why isn't it being adopted more rapidly by all of the states? There are several reasons, and I will attempt to outline the pros and cons of the new concept.

Let's start by analyzing what is wrong with our present third-party, tort-liability system. Generally, the answer is easy — high cost and poor service. This is all basically a result of the fact that under this system, an injured person must prove he was blameless in an accident and that the other driver was "at fault." Only when these two facts are established can a policyholder collect compensation from the other driver's insurance company.

HARD TO PROVE
Fault is seldom easy to prove. The lengthy court actions that follow an accident account for the poor service of the present system, and the high cost of the system is also related directly to this court action. There are more than four million accidents in this country each year, and at least one-quarter, perhaps as much as one-third, of the premium dollar is consumed by legal and investigative costs in an attempt to prove fault or innocence. It isn't the insurance company's fault that costs are rising. The legal costs are a necessary evil of our present automobile insurance system which requires determination of "fault" in millions of accidents each year in order to pay policyholders.

COURT CALENDARS are so crowded now that some settlements take as long as five years. The average settlement for a serious injury case takes 16 months. Under this system, some injured parties may be forced to accept less than they deserve simply because they cannot afford to wait for court decisions. In other cases, the affluent, who can afford to wait, often receive much more than their actual losses amounted to. As long as lawsuits are permitted, whether it is between individuals or between insurance companies through subrogation, it will be necessary to determine the person at fault in every accident. The no-fault concept, by at least setting monetary limits at which one has the right to sue, can eliminate a vast majority of the "fender-bender" accidents that now clog our courts.

ONE MAJOR CONCEPT of the no-fault concept is that it removes any liability from the person who is actually at fault in an accident, thereby encouraging a reckless and blasé attitude toward "driving friendly." Advocates of this fear feel the wrongdoer should pay for his mistake.

WHAT ROLE
The real question, however, is if the insurance companies should be concerned with proving fault in an accident, or if their primary responsibility is to provide fast and just reimbursement for accident victims, regardless of fault. It must be remembered that the no-fault concept in no way interrupts the flow of justice. It merely removes the concern of determining fault from the shoulders of insurance companies. Any particular party who is guilty of violating laws concerning criminal or reckless use of a car is still subject to prosecution by law enforcement authorities.

ONE INSURANCE COMPANY is concerned about not having subrogation rights, advocating that this hurts the companies which insure generally better drivers than other companies. They contend that subrogation allows them to recover an appreciable amount of the money it initially pays out in claims. Since about 40 per cent of automobile claims are for less than $500, if these companies pay all of the claims on a no-fault basis, it cannot recover any of that money, and thereby loses income which previously helped keep the cost of premiums for its members at a minimum. I believe, however, that the savings found in reducing court costs will offset the expense of these one-way payments.

THE QUESTION of how to compute payment for pain, suffering and other intangible inconveniences suffered by a victim in an accident remains difficult. A judge in Illinois recently said that state's no-fault law was unconstitutional because one feature of the law limits claims for pain and suffering to half of medical expenses up to $500, and to no more than the total of medical expenses over $500.

THE JUDGE contends the law discriminates against the poor because they use public hospitals where costs are lower. Therefore they could conceivably receive much less money than a rich person who goes to a private hospital, but has identical injuries requiring identical medical treatment.

PAIN AND SUFFERING has always been difficult to determine both in and out of court. Believers in the no-fault system think it will at least provide some basis for calculation by relating payment to medical expenses. Others feel it is unjust to those victims who suffer considerable undiagnosed pain. There is no known way to calculate the value of suffering, but no-fault offers a formula which at least limits the amount of injustice. Under the present system, the rich also have an advantage by being financially able to carry on a long law suit to gain payment for pain and suffering. I believe the unbalanced scale between wealth and poverty is closer to equal with a concrete payment plan which applies to everyone.

SOME INSURANCE COMPANIES and individuals are against no-fault because they say the industry's first responsibility is to reduce traffic accidents which are the cause of all of our auto insurance problems. For this reason, they have neglected the idea of insurance reform.

REDUCING TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS would indeed provide a partial solution, and a more desirable one than merely finding a better way to make payments, but there are many outside factors that must be handled by other elements of society in order to realize this goal. The insurance industry is concerned about improved safety features on cars and highways, about enforcement of licensing and driving regulations, about drunken drivers and about the rising cost of medical services which up the cost of care for the injured. But the industry does not have police, legislative or regulating powers that are needed to correct these circumstances. This brings us back to whether insurance companies primary concern is eliminate automobile accidents or provide just service when accidents occur.

THERE IS NO ASSURANCE that the no-fault concept will lower insurance costs. They, in fact, go up after the inclusion of a no-fault plan, because rates reflect so many conditions outside the control of insurance companies. More than 50,000 people are killed and 5 million people are injured on our highways each year. As long as inflation continues, the cost of medical care and car repair will spiral and these costs directly affect the cost of insurance.

MUCH TO DO
There is a lot to be done to reduce the risk of death and injury resulting from automobile accidents, and not until the conditions are corrected can the public expect any long-lasting stabilization of auto insurance rates. The no-fault concept can't possibly correct these conditions. It will take a consolidated effort from auto manufacturers, state and local authorities, the insurance industry and legal and medical professions to bring them under control. It requires support of individuals to insist on safer cars and improved highways, and most important, a personal dedication to the principles of safe driving. Until all of the outside conditions affecting insurance rates are corrected, insurance costs will be high, but no-fault offers the possibility of a reduction, and more importantly, the probability of faster and more proportionate payments of claims.

Texas needs some reforms in insurance rates and service, and I encourage everyone to write to our state legislators, express an interest in the no-fault concept, and ask them for a copy of any proposed no-fault law being considered for Texas. When you are familiar with the law, write to them again to tell them your opinion of the measure.

A compulsory no-fault program, with realistic limitations on the right to sue, is a sensible approach to better service. It is time that members of the insurance industry and of state and federal legislatures adopt such a plan to put them back in touch with the basic reality that insurance companies should be primarily concerned with good service to policyholders, and not with determining fault or with stabilizing the economy of our country.

Latin Relations To Improve If...

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Relations between Mexico and Cuba, never an ideal situation and often a source of diplomatic irritation, will improve if Cuban Premier Fidel Castro keeps his word, the Mexican ambassador to Havana said here. Ambassador Victor Alfonso Maldonado said during a visit to Mexico City for consultation, that the Cuban Prime Minister promised there will be no Cuban intervention of any sort in Mexico's internal affairs. In recent years Mexico has run into diplomatic conflicts with the Cuban government because of Cuba's refusal to return to Mexico for trial several Mexican citizens accused of hijacking Mexican airplanes.

A Valentine theme of "love" was used for the devotion presented by Mrs. W. B. Stringfellow for members of Dorcas Sunday School Class, Tuesday in the East Fourth Baptist Church.

Danny Shirley, church music director, sang a solo and led group singing. Invocation was by Mrs. Charlie Sullivan, and lunch was served. Mrs. Huey Rogers, teacher, led closing prayer.

Housewarming Fetes Miss Sherry Mullin

A surprise housewarming was held for Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County home demonstration agent, when the HD Council met Monday in her home at 2313 Ann. Miss Mullin was presented a gift from county HD members.

Mrs. Waymon Etchison presided, as Mrs. Bob Wren, citizenship chairman, announced that Jack White of the Texas Department of Public Safety will present a program on new safety laws at 10 a.m., Feb. 23 in the First Federal Community Room. The meeting will be open to the public.

Mrs. J. C. Williams, exhibit chairman, reported that the annual spring exhibit will be April 5 in the Highland Center Mall, and Mrs. Vern Vigar, finance chairman, said the council will be in charge of concessions at the FFA and 4-H stock show March 16-18.

Municipal Water District," said O. H. Ivie, to the 1970 Hyperion Club Tuesday in his home, No. 3 Coachman. Assisting Mrs. Ivie as hostess was Mrs. Alton Marwitz.

Ivie discussed the progress of the CRMWD from the time of its organization in 1951 by the 70,000 combined populace of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder. Today, the 12 directors who represent these member cities are the decision-making body of the district.

Ivie said the CRMWD's water supply facilities have been financed entirely by issuing $61.5 million in revenue bonds since 1951. These bonds were used to construct Lake J. B. Thomas, Lake Spence, about 400 miles of water transmission lines, improvement at Moss Lake and several well fields.

"The latest expansion of the district is the Ward County well field," said Ivie, "which was built to relieve the critical water shortage of the past spring and summer caused by lack of rainfall on water sheds during the past eight or nine years. The field is considered an investment in insurance against future critical shortages."

The use of surface water for secondary recovery of oil was also discussed by Ivie. He stressed that evaporation loss in West Texas is so great that late water will needlessly be lost if not used for this purpose. He said the income from this use is one of the primary measures used to lower cost of water to cities.

Mrs. Robert Knight presided, and introduced Mrs. Tom Locke as a new member. Mrs. Rex Goff, project chairman, reminded members they will assist in April and June with crippled children's clinics at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Johnny Johansen will discuss yard and garden care at the next meeting, at 9:30 a.m., March 14 in the home of Mrs. Don Kruse, 2506 Rebecca.

Girl Watchers: Get Braced For Spring

By ANN HENCKEN Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether a woman has a good throat, a great back or a terrific set of ribs, she'll have a chance to show it off this summer.

Since long evening skirts threaten to obscure tanned legs, designers are busy drumming up interest elsewhere.

The halter look continues to blossom in summer fashions. The bare midriff has made a move. And cut-out dresses are on the way.

At the Givenchy Nouvelle Boutique spring-summer collection shown Tuesday, the bare midriff turned up in a simple brown pants outfit. A caftan was slit to the waist. A dress back was chopped in a circle.

Several couture designers have gone to the halter, but rejected the bare middle as too much: James Galanos, Bill Blass and Geoffrey Beene.

Galanos likes halters for day and night. They're crisped up with neat piping.

Blass has gotten barer for summer. He's showing his halters without the matching wraps he used for spring.

"I don't think the bare midriff is right for couture, it may be just a come on, with tongue in cheek," said Geoffrey Beene, who's adopted the halter for his summer line, priced $175 to $400.

Donald Brooks disagrees.

He's always liked bare middles, "for the couture customer in a smaller size." His halters are draped, Grecian boy style, an outgrowth of the large-ruffled tops he did for spring.

"I have no halters in the summer line. I did that two years ago. They're late," says Rodrigues for Peter Clements, who is making cut-out dresses instead.

When women aren't trailing around in bare-looking evening dresses, they may wear Galanos's covered dresses with pleated skirts or Bill Blass' jersey evening pajamas.

Galanos did not concentrate on pants for day, as he feels women are tired of them. He was more interested in "serviceable and chic" day dresses with their own jackets, or shirt dresses.

Wash Glasses In This Solution

Discoloration in a glass or glass ceramic coffeemaker can most easily be removed by heating a liquid chlorine bleach solution (1 part bleach to eight parts water) in the coffeemaker and letting it stand overnight. Wash as usual in detergent. Caution: don't add anything else to the chlorine solution.

Shades of Carmen Miranda!

Have you seen the new spring shoes for the ladies . . . or should we say, 'women' in these Women's Lib days? The footwear for spring has gone right back to ankle straps and no backs . . . and a lot of us can remember when that was the latest. The heels are still boxy which is probably a good thing because one needs all the help she can get when there is such a little bit of leather to hold the slipper on. And the colors offered are as pretty as the fruit Carmen once wore on her head and feet. Spring is going to be colorful.

Piano Duo To Play Thursday

Ticket holders for the Big Spring Community Concert series will be welcoming "old friends" when Ferrante and Teicher, the famed piano duo, appear on state Thursday evening at Municipal Auditorium. The popular pianists will be making their third appearance here, where their exciting programs have been well received by appreciative audiences.

The two have become known as the "movie theme" pianists through many recordings which have topped best-selling record lists all over the world. Their "Apartment" record sold 750,000 in three weeks.

Both of the artists were child prodigies, whose parents enrolled them in the Juilliard School of Music when both boys were only six years old. During the years of study that followed, they became close friends, eventually combining their talents to become a two-piano team. The decision proved a sound one, and the combination has continued to delight concert audiences for many years.

Arthur Ferrante and Louis Teicher are recognized in the music world for their exceptional ability to improvise and perform creative interpretations.

Another enjoyable evening is in store for music lovers Thursday evening when the curtain goes up on "Ferrante and Teicher."

Hyperion Club Views 'Civilization Of Nile'

Members of the 1930 Hyperion Club met Saturday in the home of Mrs. Adolf Swartz with Mrs. Hubert Stipp as cohostess. Mrs. W. J. Currie, program chairman, introduced Mrs. R. G. Botros who spoke on "Civilization from the Nile."

Mrs. Botros' husband is a native of Egypt, and the couple lived and traveled in the country for a time. Mrs. Botros told of the high level of civilization in Egypt for 3,000 years before the birth of Christ. The Nile River is thought to have greatly influenced this advanced civilization, and consequently, the history of Egypt.

"Even today, only four per cent of the territory is populated, and this is in the area of the Nile delta," said the speaker.

Egypt has a long history of being conquered by outsiders and being ruled by foreigners. From the last of the Pharaohs in 300 B.C. until Nasser took office in 1952, the country of Egypt had no "native" leader.

Mrs. Marvin Miller presided over a brief business meeting and appointed a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach and Mrs. J. R. Farmer.

Refreshments were served, and it was announced that Mrs. Farmer and Mrs. Arch Carson will be hostesses for the March meeting.

Stabbed To Death, Friend Paralyzed

DEAR ABBY: There are too many "MRS. NO NAMES" in the world. I refer to the grandmother who complained because her visiting children and grandchildren stayed up until 2 a.m. watching TV, laughing, playing cards and talking with friends.

DALLAS (AP) — A man was stabbed to death and his roommate paralyzed by stab wounds Monday when a burglar broke into their apartment.

She also complained because she couldn't turn on her dishwasher, sprinkler or radio until noon because her guests slept late. If they are welcome guests, whom I wished to accommodate, I would gladly refrain from making disturbing noises. If not, I'd go about my business and not worry about the noise. And if they didn't like it, they could leave!

George W. Fillmore, 28, died of wounds in the chest. William O. White, 27, was hospitalized by wounds which police said left him paralyzed.

DISGUSTED IN MONTANA

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for that grandma who had spunk enough to write to her married children and tell them it was "doctor's orders" that she could have only one family of visitors at a time.

White told officers he found Fillmore dead in the apartment and was himself attacked by a young intruder while he tried telephoning police.

I have no sympathy for doormats. I have always said that people are doormats because they want to be. MRS. S.C. DEAR MRS. S.C.: And I've always said that no one can be used for a doormat unless he lies down first.

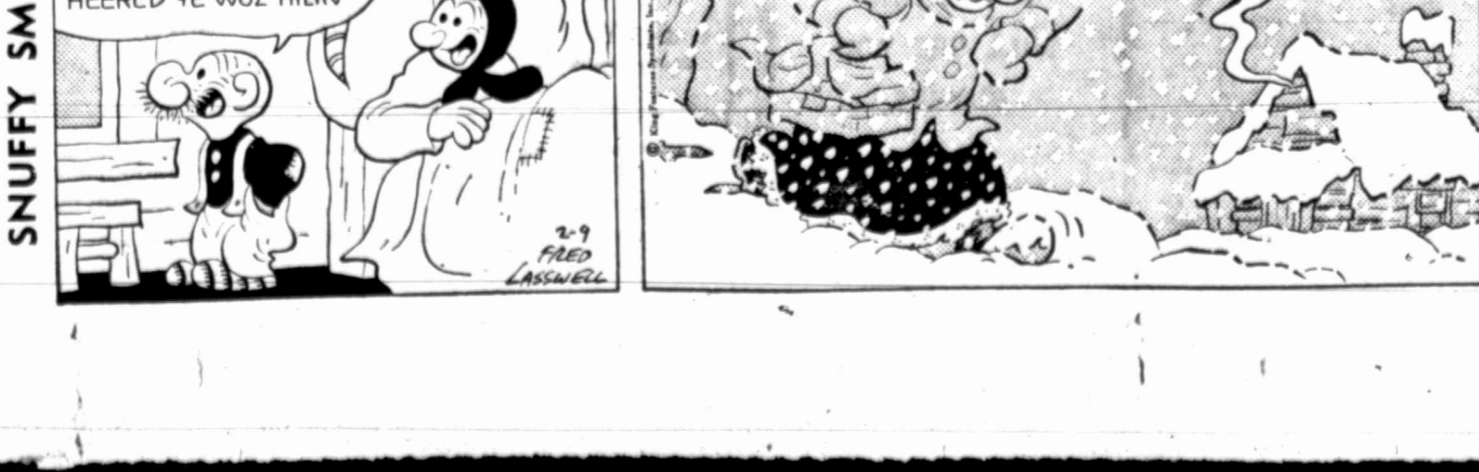

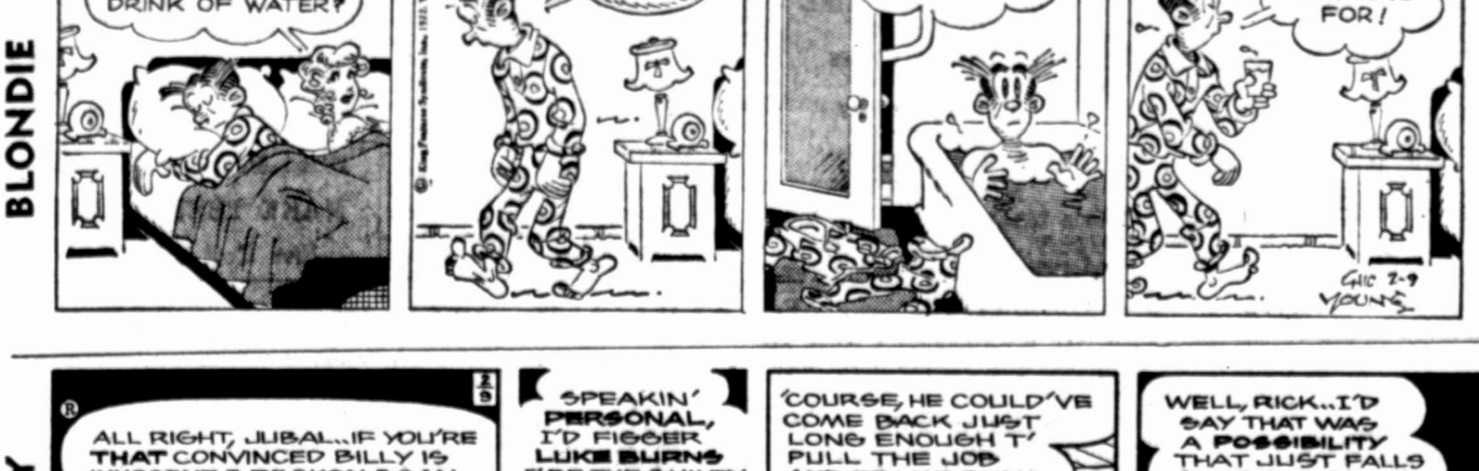

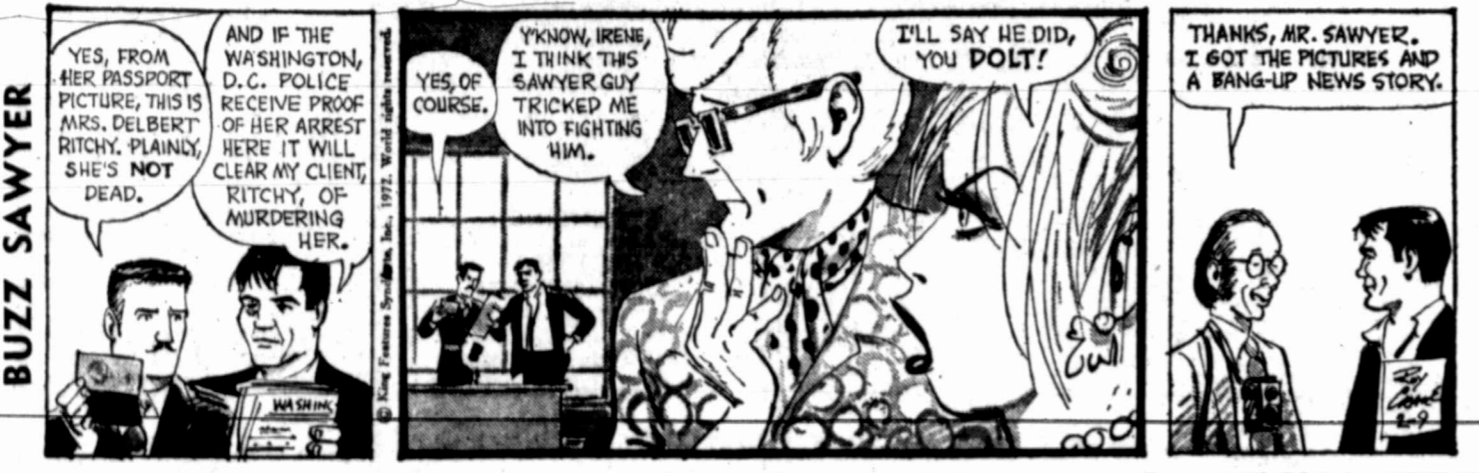

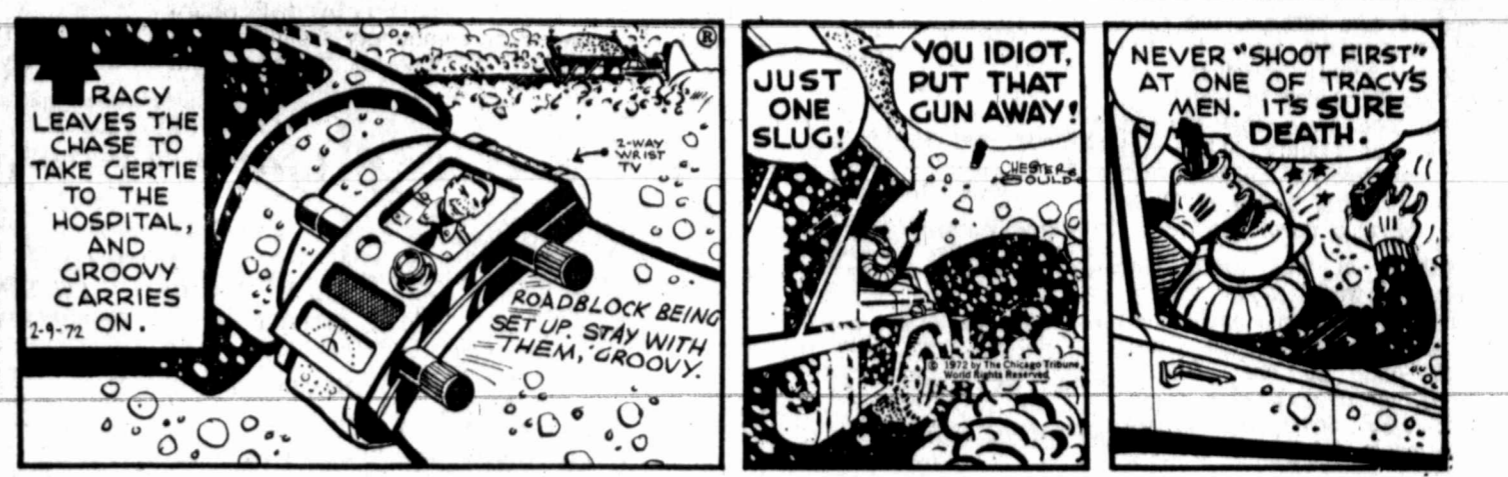

Another tenant summoned police when he heard White's moans for help.

Why doesn't that misguided woman get into "sync" and stay up until 2 a.m., enjoying the fun? Then she wouldn't have any trouble sleeping late along with everyone else.

A blood-drenched hunting knife was found in the kitchen.

Lost Senses

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife, However, it is quite probable that prolonged use of salt water, especially if too strong, could have damaged the tissues enough to cause loss of smell. And since taste is so intimately tied up with odor, the sense of taste is largely lost, too.

Dear Doctor: I read an article about the trace metal zinc being used to treat loss of taste and smell — G.C.S.

Sniffing salt water isn't a good idea, and I have frequently warned against it. The principal objection is washing germs into the sinuses.

However, there are other causes of loss of smell. Certain neurological disorders can do it. This sense also can be disrupted by some infections, particularly those of the flu type, and there have been a good many complaints of this following the last outbreak of so-called Asian flu.

There is no sure-fire way of restoring the sense of smell, although it may improve as time passes.

Yes, I've seen reports of the use of zinc salts taken by mouth to bring about improvement, but I cannot say, as yet, how effective this is. If they are tried, it should be only under guidance of a physician, as such salts can irritate the stomach.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "Diabetes, the Sneaky Disease." I enclose 35 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope. My husband also has neuritis. Does that go with diabetes? Is there any help for the neuritis? — Mrs. H.C.

Neuritis doesn't necessarily go with diabetes, nor does it result from that, naturally. There are other causes. But diabetic neuritis is one of the hazards of diabetes, unless the diabetes is kept under good control.

As a generality, neuritis has to be controlled by subduing whatever the underlying cause is, so if your husband has diabetes, the first thing to check is whether he has been keeping his sugar level under control. If not, see that he accomplishes that as quickly as possible. Such neuritis is one more reason why diabetes deserves to be called "the sneaky disease."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Some time ago you mentioned a book called "Sex After Sixty" or something like that. Who was the author? Could you recommend any other responsible book covering normal sex functioning as one grows older? — Mrs. A.A.

It's "Sexual Life After Sixty," by Isadore Rubin (published by Basic Books). He's not the one who wrote "Everything You Wanted to Know," etc. It's a very sane, readable book.

Tedious Choice

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

WES AND MIKE: (Q.) Wes on as you are, you may lose has really been good to me, both. We have been going steady for nearly a year. But I am falling, or already have fallen, in love with his friend Michael.
SEPARATED: (Q.) I go to a private school where the boys and girls are kept separate. When one of us gets caught talking to a girl, we get a lecture. — Eighth waik home from school Grade Boy in Texas.
MIKE KNOWS WES: My policy and tell her what you about us. He says, however, have told me I believe she will that he would like it better if explain to you that separation I could break up with Wes. of the boys and girls in school. Both boys tell me they love me and I tell both of them I love them. I do love each boy when I'm with him. And I couldn't hurt either one of them. I don't want to break up with Wes and I don't want to lose Mike — Two Loves in Massachusetts.
(A.) You are doing no more than many girls legitimately do — going with two boys at the same time, but you are deceiving one by letting him think he is the only one. Your deception is hurting you, and if you do not end it it may hurt you more.
YOU HAVE THREE CHOICES: 1. Break up with Wes and go only with Mike. 2. Quit seeing Mike. 3. Tell Wes about Mike; tell him you want to date both of them.
BUT THINK NO. 3 IS YOUR BEST CHOICE. With No. 1 or 2 you lose one boy for sure. Going

Harte-Hanks Adds Carolina Papers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., has purchased the morning Independent and the afternoon Daily Mail of Anderson, S.C. The preliminary prospectus was distributed last fall. The public offering was delayed until the Anderson purchase could be consummated. A company spokesman indicated the offering now will proceed.
The Independent has a circulation of more than 53,000. The Daily Mail, established in 1899, has a circulation of nearly 10,000.
Anderson is a manufacturing and agricultural center 123 miles northeast of Atlanta, Ga., in the northwestern region of South Carolina.
Harte-Hanks has newspapers in 14 Texas markets. In 1971, it purchased the Hamilton, Ohio, Journal News; the South Middlesex News, Framingham, Mass.; and the Ypsilanti, Mich., Press. The group now has a total daily circulation of nearly 600,000.
Womack has served as general manager of the Corpus Christi papers for the past year. Before that he was general manager for H.M. Greenspun, owner of the Las Vegas Sun, with responsibilities for two newspapers, two outdoor advertising firms and all real estate development.

A sound sequence of bids landed North and South in the only slam venture that could succeed.
When North responded to the opening one heart bid with two no trump, announcing a balanced hand containing 13-15 high card points, South's thoughts turned to slam, inasmuch as he had every top control plus attractive distribution. With a void, he preferred to play a suit contract and, in an effort to uncover the best fit, he resolved to show every feature of his hand.
His initial rebid was three diamonds over which North gave a heart preference as a temporizing measure to await his partner's next move. South now bid four clubs and North showed his diamond support.

South might well have gone on to slam himself at this point, inasmuch as his partner had cooperated so fully with his efforts. However, he was still not certain of where to play the hand, and in an effort to give North an opportunity to clarify his previous calls, South made a cue bid of four spades. There was little risk attached with this action since hearts had been ostensibly agreed on by North's earlier preference.
North's holding had taken on added lustre as the auction developed since he obviously had so many fitting cards for his partner, and he decided to proceed directly to slam. Holding his best support in diamonds, North favored that suit and in order to correct the impression created by his initial preference for hearts, he leaped to six diamonds. South was content to abide by his partner's judgment and he passed.
The play presented no serious problems. South ruffed the opening spade lead and crossed over to the dummy twice in clubs to trump out the remaining spades. The ace of diamonds was cashed, and the North hand was re-entered with the king of hearts to play the king and another diamond, giving East his trump trick. Declarer's long club provided a parking place for dummy's losing heart.
Observe that if the slam is played in hearts, there is no way for declarer to avoid losing a diamond as well as a heart.
