

Man Who 'Fingered Job' Is Identified

By LINDA CROSS
ALPINE — District Judge Charles E. Sherrill today ruled that no common-law marriage existed between Mrs. Janie Montgomery and Whitmer Jean Ballard, 46, who is on trial here for his life in the murder of Stephen Currie, Glascock County rancher, Dec. 2, 1970.

Mrs. Montgomery, who had been on the stand Tuesday afternoon, was cross examined this morning by Defense Counsel Bobby Bearden as he continued his defense of Ballard.

Today was the first time any reference was made as to who planned the robbery of the Currie ranch home. Mrs. Montgomery testified that Archie Glasgow, the man she earlier identified as the man who had bought the gold coins missing from the Currie home, was the man who "fingered the job."

She said she tried to dissuade "Ballard from going on the job," because she "didn't like anything that Glasgow had anything to do with." She did not know if Glasgow had been in Currie's house or had ever been arrested in connection with robbery of the Currie home, nor did she know of his present whereabouts.

Bearden repeatedly asked her if the prosecution hadn't had her statement concerning Glasgow's involvement for over a year, and she said she supposed this was so. She gave her original statement Jan. 8, 1971.

She added that the men (principals in the robbery) had learned of the coins because they had been seen in an exhibit.

Bearden questioned her on whether she might have been able to prevent the robbery of the Currie home, because of Ballard's love for her. She replied: "It doesn't make any difference who you love, or what they say, because if you have your mind made up, they can't stop you."

WASN'T THERE

Bearden questioned her on her testimony that Ballard told her that he and Currie had exchanged shots about the same instant, and Bearden asked if Ballard might not have said that Currie shot first. She said she didn't know because she wasn't there.

Tuesday afternoon she told the court that Currie had come to the door with a pistol in hand and that Ballard told him to put it down. Instead, he claimed the rancher fired and he (Ballard) did about the same time.

"I gave the statement because I didn't want to go back to prison. I've got two children and I can't raise them from prison walls," Mrs. Montgomery said when Bearden asked why she gave the statement.

"You jumped at the chance for immunity, didn't you," Bearden queried.

"The only thing I can say is that I was taken from California back to Texas and I had two kids out in California and I preferred to be with the kids," she said. She had fled to California with Ballard after Currie's murder.

Bearden drew an outburst from Mrs. Montgomery when she asked if she was lying in any of her testimony. He earlier had asked if she lied to him in February 1971 when she said she had not given a statement to the prosecution, when in reality she had done so.

"Anything in that statement that I had testified to or things that I did, I was there, Honey, and you weren't," she shot back.

"Were you there in Garden City Dec. 2, 1970?" he asked.

"Hell no, I wasn't there," she replied, and Judge Sherrill told her to control herself.

DIDN'T RECALL

Bearden asked her if she could recall a discussion concerning a road in Garden City when the first attempt was made to try Ballard. She said she did not.

"I think it's time to refresh your memory," said Bearden. (See TRIAL, Page 8, Col. 1)

Bitter Floor Battle Looms Over Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today heads into what is expected to be a bitter floor fight over proposals to ban busing of school children to achieve racial integration.

Under consideration is a $23-billion higher-education bill to which the House has tied a $1.5-billion school-desegregation fund asked by President Nixon.

The House tacked onto the $1.5-billion measure three anti-busing amendments. Southern Democratic senators plan to use the same bill as the basis for their own proposals aimed at federal court-ordered busing.

Nixons, Chou Eye Chinese Gymnasts

PEKING (AP) — President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai met for four hours today, then took Mrs. Nixon to the 18,000-seat Capital Gymnasium for an exhibition of gymnastics, table tennis and badminton.

There were a good many empty seats in the stands of the huge hall, but it was the largest crowd that has seen the President since his arrival Monday. Many schoolchildren were present. There were no introductory speeches before the skilled Chinese gymnastic teams began their two-hour exhibition.

With Chou between them and a woman interpreter just behind, the Nixons joined the crowd in enthusiastic applause for each athletic routine.

Absent tonight were China's two first ladies—Chiang Ching, Mao Tse-tung's wife, and Teng Ying-chao, Chou's wife. Both had attended the ballet performance given for the Nixons Tuesday night.

HELLO IN CHINESE

Chou arrived promptly at 2 p.m., and the President greeted him with a hello in Chinese. After responding with a smile, Chou slipped out of his overcoat and, standing with the President for news pictures, asked the newsmen through an interpreter: "How are you all?"

The President cracked: "They're better than they deserve."

Once inside the conference room, Chou commented: "The press must have their time." He added that the photographers should take more pictures of the President than of him.

Nixon responded that American photographers had plenty of pictures of him, and if they had any more "they would burn them."

Nixon asked Chou if he thought the weather—snowy today—would permit him and his wife to visit the Great Wall, some distance outside Peking, on Thursday as planned. The premier assured him the weather would "turn fine."

Seated with Nixon at the conference table were Henry A. Kissinger, his adviser for national security affairs, and two of Kissinger's senior assistants.

TO RECEIVE $273,082 CRMWD Shares In Settlement

Area cities and districts — including the Colorado River Municipal Water District — shared in the $2.4 million out-of-court settlement of an anti-trust suit against pipelines.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will receive a gross of $273,082 and a net of $204,812, plus some modest refund of expenses. The City of Big Spring will receive $18,464.

In this area the City of Midland will receive a gross of $196,469 and Odessa $57,388. A private concern, Great Plains Water Co., Inc. will receive $22,704 for pipe bought for an oilfield water-flood project in Andrews County. All of the 23 litigants will share in the $140,000 for litigation expenses. Payments are on a three-installment basis with 40 per cent immediately, followed by two equal installments, the last of which will draw interest if it goes beyond a year.

The City of Dallas announced Tuesday it had accepted a settlement of $486,074 for its claim against the companies.

Named in the suit were United Concrete Pipe Corp. of Baldwin Park, Calif., U.S. Pipe and Foundry Co. of Birmingham, Ala., Gifford-Hill-American, Inc. of Dallas and Grand Prairie, and Marican Pipe & Construction Co. of Monterey Park, Calif. Plaintiffs alleged that the companies conspired to fix prices on pipe sold from 1952-66.

The CRMWD settlement calls for a net, after payment of attorneys fees, of $204,812 to be paid in three installments, the first $81,924, and the two subsequent ones of $61,443 each. In addition, the district stands to receive about $3,600 in expense refunds.

The agreement is based on an award of $182,002 for pipe purchased between the period July 1, 1957 and Dec. 31, 1961, and $82,467 for pipe bought from July 1, 1962-Dec. 31, 1965; also $3,352 for fittings purchased during both the periods.

Two projects had been undertaken by the district within the time periods specified. The first was a 30-mile 33-inch line from the Martin County well field to Odessa, paralleling the original 27-inch line, in 1958; and the 51.5-mile (21.2 miles of 24-inch and 30.7 miles of 18-in.) line from Lake Thomas to Sun Oil Company in Coke County in 1963 and 5.5 miles of 18-in. lines to Perkins-Prothro in Coke County. Contract price for the pipe and fittings had amounted to $3,606,075.

At the outset of the meeting today, Chou dropped what could be a hint that some U.S. newsmen may be allowed to stay on after Nixon leaves.

"If the press wants to see any more places, they can apply to the Department of Information," Chou remarked to the American reporters and photographers as he sat down with Nixon for their third private conference.

TIME TROUBLE

"You don't have much time here," the premier added.

Chou's remarks sent many of the 37 visiting journalists to the Information Department seeking permission to remain after Nixon leaves China next Monday. These newsmen interpreted Chou's reference to the seven-day limit on their visit and their three-city itinerary as a hint that his government might be prepared to let some of them stay on for a wider look.

The newsmen who heard the premier had no opportunity to question him about his remarks, and soon after they were ushered from the conference room.

Nixon's one-hour meeting with Chou Monday and their four-hour talk Tuesday had been held at the Great Hall of

Bank Case Dismissal

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A federal indictment charging a San Antonio bank with making a loan to a campaign fund for Gov. Preston Smith has been dropped.

Records on file here Tuesday showed that U.S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle granted a government motion to dismiss the case last Friday while on temporary court duty in Midland.

Rep. Dowdy Sentenced

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Rep. John V. Dowdy, D-Tex., was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment and fined $25,000 Wednesday in his bribery conspiracy conviction.

Sentencing was imposed by Judge Roszel C. Thomsen in U.S. District Court where the Texas Democrat's eight-week long jury trial was conducted.

Dowdy and his lawyer had gone into court seeking acquittal of his conviction or a new trial.

The court acted improperly on two occasions, once before the trial and once during jury deliberation, Leon H. A. Pierson, the Texas lawmaker's chief lawyer, told Thomsen.

Approval of telephone taps by the court here was not proper because the court has no jurisdiction in Washington, D.C., where the taps took place, Pierson told the judge who presided over Dowdy's trial.

Pierson also said tapes of those conversations should not have been replayed for the jury while it deliberated a verdict.

Dowdy also spoke on his behalf and argued the government used illegal evidence to gain conviction.

The Democrat from Athens cited the speech and debate clause of the Constitution, saying his transactions with the Monarch Construction Corp. of Silver Spring, Md., were privileged. He said as a U.S. Congressman, he wasn't required to defend his legislative actions and dealings in court.

Dowdy called it "an objective standard" and asked the court to set aside this conviction on charges in the $25,000 bribery-conspiracy.

The veteran legislator had remained silent in previous court proceedings, except for the actual trial.

Open House Is Set By Dress Company

The Big Spring Dress Factory will hold an open house from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

The plant will be in operation with a full crew, and machines will be available to anyone who would like to try their hand at sewing.

"We may even find some hidden talent we can use," said Jack Peery, manager of the factory.

About 155 people are employed by the first industry to locate in Big Spring in 1971. The open house is the first the plant has had, and is being done so that the people of Big Spring can see what the money they put into the Industrial Foundation is doing.

Garments will be on display, and refreshments will be served.

ADEN, South Yemen (AP) — "It wasn't the worst moment of my life," said young Joe Kennedy after his release by Arab plane hijackers Tuesday. "I've been scared before, but it never lasted as long."

For 18 hours Kennedy, the eldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and 117 other male passengers were held aboard a commandeered German jumbo jet parked on a runway at sweltering Aden airport. Five Palestinian hijackers had rigged the plane with explosives before it landed.

Women and children and one elderly man were released hours before the male passengers, and those who didn't wait for their husbands were flown to Beirut to be picked up there today by a flight to Frankfurt.

Lufthansa, the West German airline, sent another 707 jet to Aden to pick up the rest of the passengers. It was due in Frankfurt tonight.

But the 16 crew members remained hostages aboard the plane. The hijackers' demands were not made public, but British Ambassador Arthur Kellas said there were indications they want Arabs held in West Germany released. Diplomats in Beirut said they had reports they were demanding the release of four Palestinians, on trial in Cairo for the assassination of Premier Wasfi Tell of Jordan.

Yemeni authorities informed the British ambassador that there was no question of the plane being blown up. The government also was reported determined that the hijackers would not force the crew to fly them out of Aden.

"This is too much," said 19-year-old Joseph P. Kennedy III as he entered the airport lounge, looking tired and ruffled.

He said he talked briefly with one of the five armed hijackers, but "there was something of a language barrier."

Apparently the hijackers did not know he was aboard at first. But then one of them walked by late Tuesday afternoon and said: "Hello, Mr. Kennedy," it was reported.

Seven Persons Bombed, Hunting Revenge Squad

LONDON (AP) — A leader of the outlawed Irish Republican Army was arrested in Dublin early today as police in Britain hunted an IRA revenge squad that bombed an army base near London.

The blast at the Aldershot headquarters of Britain's 16th Parachute Brigade killed seven persons—five waitresses, a gardener and a Roman Catholic chaplain recently decorated for bravery in Northern Ireland.

An estimated 100 pounds of gelignite blew them to pieces. Seventeen persons were injured.

The IRA's leftist Official wing, assuming responsibility, said the bombing was in retaliation for the deaths of 13 Catholics in clashes with paratroopers of the 16th Brigade during Londonderry's "Bloody Sunday" on Jan. 30.

As British police sealed highways and checked planes and ships leaving the country, Irish detectives arrested Catholic Goulding, Marxist chief of staff of the IRA Officials.

Goulding, a 49-year-old house-painter, was one of four men seized in a series of post-midnight raids in Dublin and its suburbs.

The other three men were members of Sinn Fein, the IRA's political section, including general secretary Tony Heffernan. All were held under the Offenses Against the State Act which permits authorities to detain any person for 48 hours without charge.

The arrests set off speculation that Prime Minister Jack Lynch of Ireland has launched a promised crackdown on the IRA, which is waging guerrilla warfare to oust the British from Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland.

AGAINST FORCE Lynch, who shares the IRA's aim of uniting Ireland but is against the use of force to achieve it, denounced the Aldershot bombing as "cowardly and senseless."

British detectives checked the homes of known IRA sympathizers in London, Birmingham and Manchester.

Scores of extra police were brought into Aldershot, a garrison town 40 miles southwest of London after Tuesday's blast which wrecked the glass-paneled officers' mess hall at Parachute Brigade headquarters.

The bomb, left in a car parked outside, went off about 20 minutes before most officers were due for lunch. "The death toll would have been fantastic if the explosion had come half an hour later," a military spokesman said.

Three Dawsonites On Cotton Board

Dawson County is well represented on the executive committee of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. which serves 25 area counties.

Newly elected to the committee is Lloyd Cline, Lamesa. He joins past president Donnell Echols, Lamesa, who is board chairman, and Paul Bennett, Lamesa, vice president.

Board members, considering a program, agreed to work for 1) a higher cotton loan, more in line with the "true" 90 percent of world market price stipulated in the Agriculture Act of 1970; 2) moving the final date for certification of cotton and feed grain acreage from July 15 to Aug. 1; and 3) permitting farmers who grow wheat to designate set-aside acreage for cotton and grain sorghum at the same time as non-wheat growers instead of May 1 as now required.

Agency Proposes Reducing Lead Content Of Gasoline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reporting the lead content in the air of 27 cities already has passed the danger point, the Environmental Protection Agency has proposed reducing the lead content of gasoline starting in 1974.

In addition, proposals outlined Tuesday by EPA head William D. Ruckelshaus would require refineries to provide at least one grade of unleaded gasoline at all large service stations by July 1, 1974.

The schedule for reducing the lead content of premium and regular gasoline would begin with a two-grams-per-gallon limit on July 1, 1974; then drop to 1.7 grams per gallon in 1975; 1.5 in 1976; and finally to 1.25 on Jan. 1, 1977.

Present lead levels are about 2.5 grams per gallon.

The proposals also would require that a leaded gas be colored and unleaded clear, as is now the practice, and that some auto gas tanks and pump dispensers be made to prevent the discharge of leaded gasoline into cars designed only for unleaded.

EPA would have authority to assess fines of up to $10,000 per day on refiners, distributors or stations violating the regulations.

Ruckelshaus told a news conference the schedule of lead reductions would cut the lead content in city air 60 to 65 percent by 1977.

The cost of regular gasoline would increase by about 1.65 cents a gallon by 1985, EPA estimated. At the same time, it said gasoline mileage would suffer, adding to the cost of driving.

Here is a list of the 27 areas where, EPA said, airborne lead levels averaged over three months have exceeded the level, two micrograms per cubic meter, above which health is endangered:

Oklahoma City 2.1 micrograms per cubic meter; Baltimore, 2.1; Miami 2.1; Kansas City 2.2; Fort Worth 2.3; Cleveland 2.3; Springfield, Mass., 2.4; Shreveport, La., 2.4; Las Vegas 2.4; Richmond, Va., 2.6; New York 2.8; Houston-Galveston 2.8; Seattle 2.9; North-western Nevada 3.0; Detroit 3.2; Denver 3.4; Salt Lake City 3.6; Chicago 3.6; El Paso, Tex., 3.6; Philadelphia 3.6; Phoenix, Ariz., 3.9; San Francisco 3.9; Puerto Rico 4.2; San Diego 4.2; Fairbanks, Alaska, 4.8; Dallas 5.2; Los Angeles 5.7.

U.S. Senate Strengthening Ban On Job Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill providing enforcement authority for the federal ban on job discrimination based on race, religion, sex or national origin.

In an unusual procedure made necessary by the die-hard resistance of two Southern opponents, the Senate actually passed the identical bill twice Tuesday by votes of 73 to 16 and 72 to 17.

The effect of the double vote, forced by Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and James B. Allen, D-Ala., may be to complicate further action on the legislation in the House, which passed a companion bill last September.

The Senate version of the measure is more to the liking of civil-rights forces, even though it is a compromise of the original bill brought up for debate on Jan. 19.

It provides new powers to enforce the prohibition against discriminatory job practices written into the 1964 Civil Rights Act and also extends coverage to additional millions of employees, including those of state and local governments.

Senate passage followed quickly after a 73-21 vote, 10 more than the required two-thirds majority, ended debate on the bill.

On the first passage vote, 38 Democrats and 35 Republicans voted for the bill and 10 Democrats and six Republicans voted against it.

The second vote was identical except that Sen. James L. Buckley, R-Con.-N.Y., switched and voted against passage.

The major issue in the long Senate fight over the bill was the type of enforcement.

The original Senate bill would have armed the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, now limited to seeking voluntary compliance, with power to issue cease-and-desist orders against employers and labor unions.

In the end, the Senate knocked this out of the bill and voted—as the House had—to require the EEOC to bring suits in the federal courts to enforce its findings. Adoption of this amendment made it possible to muster the two-thirds majority necessary to cut off debate.

Another compromise was in the extension of coverage. The original bill would have brought businesses and labor unions with as few as eight employees or members under the law, instead of 25 as at present. As finally passed by the Senate, coverage is provided for those with 15 or more.

$450,000 Fogg Suit By Widow

HOUSTON (AP) — The operators of the sunken tanker V. A. Fogg were hit with a $450,000 damage suit Tuesday by the widow of one of the 39 men aboard when the Fogg sank in the Gulf of Mexico shortly after leaving Freeport, Tex., Feb. 1.

Mrs. Maria D. Robles Garza, whose husband, Oscar, 23, was one of five maintenance employees hired from Marine Maintenance Inc. for the short voyage, filed the suit asking damages in behalf of her and two minor children.

The suit, like those filed last week in Philadelphia, alleges the Fogg sank because of negligence on part of the operator, Texas City Tankers, Inc.

The Philadelphia suit, which asked for $1 million in damages, was filed by surviving family members of the tanker which was bound for Galveston when it apparently blew up and sank about 50 miles southeast of that port city in 90 feet of water.

Coast Guard divers say they will try again today to explore the wreck of the Fogg to seek evidence on the cause of the explosion. The Coast Guard will resume its inquiry into the sinking in Galveston Feb. 29.

Gusty winds and wave action prevented diving Tuesday, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Smith Blasts School Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith departs for Texas late today, leaving in the wake of his brief trip to Washington a blast at busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

Busing of school children for such a purpose, Smith declared, is an inconvenience which "is not and cannot be justified."

He called busing "just a waste of gasoline." The comments came at the midwinter meeting of the National Governors' Conference, and Smith's Austin office released what it said was his statement in Washington.

According to Smith, forced busing "to achieve an artificial balance or a numerical quote does not contribute to our common goal of quality education."

"Continuing the concept of our neighborhood schools, striving to achieve balanced housing distribution and seeking the enrichment of programs, facilities and instruction in deprived schools are all preferable alternatives to arbitrary busing for statistical purposes."

"I am opposed, as I would hope every citizen is today, to racial discrimination," the governor added. "I oppose separation standards of education, or of educational facilities, for various racial or ethnic groups. I oppose denying the fullest possible educational opportunities to any part of our population."

"I recognize that our educational system is not perfect... busing, however, is not a solution to any problem. It only contributes to the problems we already have, rather than remedying any. In most instances, busing to achieve racial balance inconveniences everyone—students, parents and school officials. This inconvenience is not and cannot be justified."

None Of Courts' Business How Texas Handles Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas assistant attorney general told the Supreme Court Tuesday the state's method of dealing out its welfare funds is of no concern to the courts.

The high court heard arguments in a suit attacking the proportionately lower aid stipends to families with dependent children than to other categories of welfare recipients.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Pat Bailey said no one, least of all the courts—should be concerned with the management of Texas welfare funds except the Texas legislature.

According to attorney Steve Cole, the Texas Legislature funneled more money to a welfare category which could deliver more white votes.

Payment of higher benefits to the aged, the blind or the disabled than to families without fathers, in turn, discriminates against blacks and Mexican-Americans, Cole claimed.

At issue are the Texas regulations to provide 50 to 75 percent of the minimum income needs of families under the aid to families with dependent children, while paying 95 to 100 percent of the needs of the aged, the blind or the disabled.

"Because the father of these families is either dead or missing," Cole argued, "the state will only help them purchase 50 per cent of what the state says they need to survive."

The Texas requirements in effect, encourage welfare mothers to stay welfare mothers and makes it advantageous for their husbands to stay out of sight, he said.

Bailey argued before the full court that the elderly, the blind and the disabled are much less likely to obtain jobs and work themselves off the welfare rolls than recipients of aid to families with dependent children.

DAUGHTER OF STALIN RAPS COMMUNAL LIVING

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The husband of Svetlana Stalin said Tuesday divorce appears inevitable because his wife rejects "the real principles of democracy in operation."

"She came here and was anxious to marry me too fast," William Peters said of Svetlana, the daughter of the late Soviet dictator Josef Stalin. "In the face of Svetlana's inability to adjust, it would almost seem that divorce is inevitable."

Mrs. Peters said earlier she disliked communal living and that's the reason she and her husband have moved into a house.

Peters said his wife took their 10-month-old child, Olga, and "walked out on me."

"She has rejected a life pattern which I helped build and I believe in," Peters said. "It was largely a personal matter . . . between herself and myself."

"That's why I left Russia," Mrs. Peters said Monday of communal living. "And that's why I split away from the Talliesin Fellowship."

She and her husband, the chief architect for the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, had been living at Talliesin West since their marriage in 1970.

Altho the defense possessed a very sparse holding in the trump suit in today's hand, West managed to develop the setting trick in the spade suit by means of an uppercut.

Altho South had sufficient high card strength [10 points] for a three spade response over his partner's one no trump bid, North would surely have carried on to four holding a doubleton club and four trumps. Ironically, either three no trump or four spades is impregnable with North as the declarer.

West opened the queen of hearts, the deuce was played from dummy, East followed with the five and South with the six. Altho East was now marked with the ace of hearts, defensive prospects did not appear bright unless he also held the king of clubs and declarer had another heart. West continued with the jack of hearts, North played small and East put up the ace which won the trick.

The shift was to the nine of clubs and West was back in with the ace. From East's play it was clear that the latter did not have the king of clubs and inasmuch as he had returned his highest club — South was market with the K-J-10 of that suit which meant that the defense could not hope to score any more tricks in the side suits, for dummy's jack of diamonds could be discarded on South's third club. Spades offered the only other chance and if West were to score a trump trick, it was essential to find his partner with the jack of spades.

Accordingly, at trick four West returned a third round of hearts. Fortunately East had no recourse but to ruff with the jack of spades. South overruffed with the ace—but by so doing, he established West's queen of spades as a trick and the contract went down to defeat.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Five years ago, when he was a senior in high school, my brother Billy was arrested in a police raid on a house where a group of kids were smoking marijuana and using LSD. Billy wasn't using any, but the police took everybody in and booked them. Only two of the kids were convicted, and charges were dropped against the rest, including my brother.

Billy graduated from college last June with very good grades, but he can't get a job because all the forms he has had to fill out specifically ask if he's ever been arrested, and since then when he has put down, "Yes," he has been passed over. Once he didn't put down yes, and a month later of trouble. Don't you think they let him go because they

After the game started our hostess brought a book to the table and proceeded to read while playing cards. Most of the time she was so absorbed in the book she nearly forgot about the card game.

After we got home, my husband said she was the rudest woman he had ever met. He also said if they ever invite us back he will refuse to go.

Abby, I agree, she wasn't very polite, but I really don't hold it against her. Do you agree with my husband?

DEAR ABBY: My heart beat a little faster when I read that letter in your column from the divorced woman who was still in love with a wonderful Marine she hadn't seen since 1944.

You told her to try to locate him, and if he was also single and felt the same way about her, maybe they could pick up where they left off. That was good advice.

I hope she finds him. And I hope he's single, and I hope they get together again.

Would you believe I found my wonderful gal again after a silence of 50 years? Sign me.

Not Complicated

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Sometime write about ultrasound therapy. I had a frozen shoulder and a series of ultrasound treatments took care of it and it was painless. I kept my arm in a sling to rest the weight, and I prefer ultrasound to cortisone. Also heat gives comfort and aids healing. M.N.B.

I hope other readers won't jump to the conclusion that ultrasound is necessarily the right or only treatment for all frozen shoulders. A "frozen shoulder" (which occurs when a shoulder joint won't move because of arthritis, extended immobility or other changes) can involve a variety of problems.

Sometimes, for instance, cortisone may be the best treatment. In other cases, neither ultrasound nor cortisone may do the job, and more elaborate treatment may be essential.

All the same, ultrasound can be very useful for a number of ailments. It may sound like witchcraft -- using sound to treat people. Actually, it involves an established principle of physics.

Sound consists of vibrations -- vibrations in the air, normally -- but vibrations can pass through other materials, too. Remember when you were a kid, and could make a sort of "telephone" with two tin cans, and a string stretched between them, fastened to the bottom of each can?

You talked into one tin can, the bottom of the can vibrated, and the sound (the vibrations) traveled along the taut string and made the other tin can vibrate, so the fellow at the other end could hear you.

As sound can travel along a piece of string, it can also travel through flesh.

The rate of vibration controls the tone -- low frequency, a low note; high frequency, a high note. An ultrasound means a frequency so high that it is too high for the ear to hear. But it is still vibration, and it represents energy.

So when ultrasound is applied, it means that vibration -- movement -- is applied to the flesh.

This penetrates, and the infinitely tiny movement and the energy it represents creates heat.

In brief, ultrasound is a method of applying heat deep inside the tissues. It gets there in a twinkling of a second instead of having to seep through, as in the case with a hot water bottle or something.

The value of heat in healing and soothing has been recognized for a long time, but ultrasound, if you want to put it that way, is a method of "putting a hot water bottle inside." Inside the shoulder or any other joint. And it is useful. It isn't magic. It isn't mysterious. But it has real value in certain kinds of treatment.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our family likes dogs very much, but my dad has asthma and hay fever. What kind of dog would be acceptable in such a case? We wanted a black Labrador or rat terrier. -- S.M.

When you say your dad has asthma and hay fever, you are saying in effect that he is allergic to various things -- and animal danders are one thing that is likely to bother asthmatic folks.

Assuming that you think more of your dad than you do of dogs, certainly the safest thing is not to risk having any kind of pet around. That is, unless there have been allergy tests which show definitely animal danders are not among the things that bother your dad.

In short, I say forget about having a dog, any color, any

Barnes Predicts He'll Lead Pack Throughout West Texas

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — McGregor before arriving at Li. Gov. Ben Barnes says even dancing girls couldn't help his Temple for an overnight stop. "I feel much, much better about West Texas," Barnes said at the end of his first day's train journey. "We have felt all along our situation in the Panhandle was good but we were pessimistic about the results we will lead the pack throughout from Hale County south to West Texas," the Democratic candidate said Tuesday after the first day of a 758-mile campaign trip from Amarillo to Houston.

FEELING BETTER
It is the first such special campaign train in Texas since former Gov. John Connally, now U.S. treasury secretary, made a successful drive in 1962 from Texarkana to El Paso. Today, Barnes scheduled stops in Comanche, Dublin, Stephenville, Granbury, Fort Worth, Cleburne, Meridian, and

GIFTS GALORE
At each point, Mrs. Barnes said a few words in support of her big, blond husband and accepted gifts from the local people. These gifts included a buffalo head in Canyon, home of the West Texas State University Buffaloes; a 55-gallon drum of detergent in Tulsa, where it is manufactured; mounds of Jimmy Dean sausage in Plainview, where it is manufactured; a Texas Tech blanket in Lubbock, and some fried rattlesnake in Sweetwater, home of the nine-year-old rattlesnake roundup.

Woman With Headache Charged With Murder
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Murder charges were filed Tuesday against the mother of a 10-month-old baby who had been badly beaten and had several teeth knocked out. The charges were filed against Pamela Lois Russell, throughout the performance. They had been notified of the event by club personnel. A television camera crew followed the dancer, draped only in a furry wrap, to her dressing room. There vice squad detectives waited for her to dress and pose for photographs after she emerged to go to the county jail. Also taken into custody were Mr. and Mrs. Don Ludington, operators of the Playgirl Club in south Oklahoma City. Several patrons of the club, obviously puzzled, applauded as Miss Haines left with the detectives. "I'll be back," she said as she was led out the door. Miss Haines won the Miss Nude title last summer in San Bernardino, Calif. A detective said she would be charged with indecent exposure. Oklahoma law requires dancers to use "pasties" in topless performances and outlaws bottomless appearances.
