AREA CUT OFF

Thousands Homeless After Flood

MAN, W. Va. (AP) — The commander of National Guard troops working in the area where 16 Appalachian coal camps were devastated by floods said today the death toll, which now stands at 67, probably will not exceed 90.

"Most of those that were reported missing are probably alive," said Col. William F. Maroney. There still were about 250 persons listed as missing or unaccounted for after Saturday's flash flood in Buffalo Creek Hollow, but Maroney said he believed most of those were alive but had not come out from the hollow. Normal access to the stricken area was cut off.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS

Relief agencies began in earnest today the task of finding living quarters for the thousands of homeless from the valley coal camps.

It was reported earlier in the day that 30 survivors had been discovered by rescue workers huddled in a coal shaft. The report, which was supplied by an aide to Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr., later proved erroneous, however.

More than 4,000 persons were left homeless following the flood, caused when tons of water broke through a mining company dam and spilled through the hollow.

Officials of federal and relief agencies Monday night cleared the books out of the public library and began setting up offices to provide emergency aid.

Mary Thomas Is Out Of Demo Primary

Mrs. Mary Thomas, candidate for the state legislature, filed a letter with D. A. Brazel, county Democratic Party chairman, formally withdrawing her name from the Howard County Democratic primary, but said later that she was seriously considering filing as an independent candidate for the state legislature.

"As five of the six counties that I filed in thought it was illegal, I decided to withdraw in Howard County," said Mrs. Thomas.

"I am looking into the possibility of running as an independent. I have until 30 days after the second primary to file with the Secretary of State," she said.

It will take petitions signed by three per cent of the voters at the last governor's election to make her eligible to file as an independent, said Mrs. Thomas.

"I have not yet decided to run, but I am seriously considering it," she said.

Gasoline Price War Is Ended

By BRIAN PEAY

Today marked the end of the partial gasoline war waged in the city during the past week. Apparently from all reports, the larger stations and companies were relieved.

During the war, gasoline prices dipped as low as 21 cents per gallon for regular, as most of the independent small stations took up the fight.

Some of the small stations almost conclusively responsible for the war, did not call off the war until early this morning. The city had not seen such a war in years.

The Curtis Vaughn Premier Station, Wasson Road, ended its portion of the war today, after prices at the station dipped to 22.9 cents per gallon of regular and 26.9 cents per gallon of premium, over the weekend.

Friday the small station sold over 1,300 gallons of gasoline, Saturday 1,800 gallons and Sunday 2,000 gallons. The prices have now gone back to regular prices at 32.9 per gallon of regular and 34.9 for premium.

EVEN LOWER

Some of the self-service stations even went lower over the weekend, however, and the bottom on prices threatened to drop even more. The Kent Station, W. U.S. 80, depressed prices to 21.9 per gallon on regular, as did the Gibson's gas station.

Prices began to fall off last Monday morning, according to attendants at the James Premier Station, W. U.S. 80. Prices there fell last Monday to 30 cents per gallon, Tuesday 29 cents, Wednesday 28 cents, Thursday 25 cents, Friday 22 cents, and did not come up until today.

Attendants at the station said sales averaged between 2,000 and 2,500 gallons per day during the war.

Another small independent station, Tyco-Fina, Wasson Road, was a strong participant in the war, but prices at that station were raised back to normal Monday morning.

LITTLE CHANGE

How did it effect the larger stations and oil companies in the city? The question was asked several larger companies' consignees today.

"We did drop our prices approximately 2 cents last week. We hope this is not a trend, because definitely the stations were hurt to some extent," said a consignee.

When asked to comment on the matter, Charlie Harwell, Texaco consignee, said he did not wish to say anything. Owners of larger stations today expressed negative feelings toward publicity given the war over the weekend.

"We are trying to get the little station prices back up, because in the long run, if the prices stay down, the larger companies will have to meet them," said Johnny Mathis of the Phillips 66 Oil Company.

BALLARD TRIAL PROCEEDINGS IN DISARRAY

Defense Contends Witness Got Signals From Jones

ALPINE (Spl) — Bobby Bearden, defense counsel for Whitmer Jean Ballard, who is on trial for the slaying of Steve Currie, Glasscock County rancher, threw proceedings into disarray here today with a claim that Doshie Lee Smith, a previous witness, said she got signals from the prosecution.

This claim was made in the chambers of District Judge Charles E. Sherrill, who called a halt in proceedings until attorneys could take depositions. Bearden told Judge Sherrill that Mrs. Smith had claimed she received signals from Guilford Jones, Big Spring, special prosecutor, during her testimony for the prosecution last week. Jones hotly denied any such allegation, and attorneys from both sides were due to go to Midland to take testimony from Mrs. Smith, who could not come to Alpine because she was said to have the flu.

The defense had opened its case Monday afternoon by calling Mrs. Smith as first witness, but she was not on hand.

After the results of the contacts with Mrs. Smith are revealed in court, the case may head down the home stretch. Bearden indicated Mrs. Smith was his last witness. Underlining this, Judge Sherrill advised members of the jury to come prepared Wednesday to stay all night. He said the jury would be sequestered (isolated) once the case is given to it.

Doshie Smith last week had testified that she saw a sawed-off shotgun in Ballard's possession several days before the Dec. 2, 1970, murder of Currie and that four days after the slaying, Ballard had told her he killed a man near Garden City. She said she thought he was joking. Her testimony did not jibe entirely with other witnesses as to when Ballard allegedly came into possession of a sawed-off shotgun.

TO STAND

If the defense persists in the claim Bearden overheard Mrs. Smith claim she got signals, the court indicated that Bearden will be put on the stand.

Bearden recalled Glasscock County Sheriff Royce Pruitt this morning, had him present patterns from blasts fired by a 12-gauge and a 16-gauge shotgun. Two of the patterns were entered into evidence, but there was no explanation by Bearden.

WITHOUT ABANDONING U.S. ALLIES

He Sowed Seeds For Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Returning from his historic journey to China, President Nixon has told the nation his talks with Communist leaders sowed the seeds for "a more-enduring structure for peace" without secret deals undercutting any ally.

He sought upon his return to soothe conservatives fretting about his pledge to ultimately withdraw all U.S. troops from Taiwan—an effort being continued today in a meeting with congressional leaders.

"We did not bring back any written or unwritten agreement that will guarantee peace in our time," Nixon said in nationally televised remarks minutes after he concluded his 12-day, 20,395-mile trip to the long-hostile and isolated Asian nation.

IMPORANT START

But, he said to the cheers of several thousand persons jammed into a hangar at Andrews Air Force Base for star-spangled welcome-home ceremonies. "We made some necessary and important beginnings."

Nixon delivers a more-detailed private report today at a mid-morning meeting with congressional leaders, then meets with his Cabinet.

Even as he flew home from China and what he called a "week of intensive talks at the highest level," several congressional leaders praised his journey. Among the warm endorsements was one from a longtime administration critic, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

But some conservatives in Nixon's own Republican party fretted about his pledge to ultimately withdraw U.S. troops from Taiwan.

Nixon sought in his airport speech to reassure them that the communique pledge would not undermine the Nationalist Chinese regime of Chiang Kai-shek.

NO SECRET DEALS

The communique restated "established policy" toward Taiwan, he said, adding: "We will not negotiate the fate of other nations behind their backs, and we did not do so in Peking. There were no secret deals of any kind."

The President cited his agreements with Premier Chou En-lai to broaden trade, to develop cultural, educational and journalistic exchanges and to expand contact between the two governments.

Beaming and waving to the crowd after his blue-and-white jet, the "Spirit of '76," poked its nose into the crowded hangar, Nixon went before the television cameras "to sum up the results of the trip and ... put it in perspective."

BUILDING BRIDGE

"We have started the long process of building a bridge across that gulf" which for 22 years has separated the United States and mainland China, he said.

"We have demonstrated that nations with very big and fundamental differences can learn to discuss those differences calmly, rationally and frankly, without compromising their principles. This is the basis of a structure for peace, where we can talk about differences, rather than fight about them."

He said the communique, issued before he left Shanghai where he said his week in China "changed the world," was unique "in honestly setting forth differences rather than trying to cover them up with diplomatic double talk."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate reversed itself today and voted to defeat an amendment of Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., seeking to eliminate power of the federal courts to issue busing orders in school desegregation cases.

The vote was 50 to 47. Last Friday the same proposal was adopted by the Senate 43-40. (See Story, Page 7-A)

MARTIN'S FARMER OF YEAR
Bruce Key (R), with Jake Hodges

BRUCE KEY IS FARMER OF YEAR

Our Youth Is Precious Commodity, Says Kim

By TOMMY HART STANTON — "The most priceless thing we have on earth is our youth," Dr. Thomas Kim, president of McMurry College, told an audience of 100 gathered here Monday evening for the annual Martin County Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Dr. Kim said mankind faces grave threats to its environment and ecology and young people are acutely aware of those problems. It will be up to the young to solve those problems, the speaker said, if man continues to exist.

"If we use up our resources, we will bequeath to our children problems that cannot be solved," Dr. Kim stated.

The McMurry president, who was born in Shanghai of Korean parents, said this generation must also come to grips with the problems of racial equality.

"This nation is the bulwark for racial justice," Dr. Kim stated. "Any American who might have left the county 20 years ago and just returned would instantly realize how many changes had been made, how much progress in racial equality we have made.

"We also live in a world with nuclear reality," the speaker said, adding he was thrilled when the nation's president landed in Peking last week.

"I was proud to be an American at the moment President Nixon alighted from the plane," he stated. That marked the start of conferences, Kim stated, when the nuclear threat once and for all could be put to rest.

He compared the danger of an atomic war to the threat holding Damocles' sword, adding that most kids today are aware of the awesome menace.

"While we live here in this corner of the universe, whether it be in Stanton, or Abilene, or Lubbock, we know we cannot live in a vacuum," Dr. Kim remarked. "We are part of a special relationship. In some small way we all contribute to the decisions of tomorrow."

Bruce Key of the Tarzan community was awarded a plaque as Martin County's Farmer of the Year. That particular trophy was presented by Jake Hodges.

Key was honored for his contributions to the effort made by the Martin County Chamber, for the way he takes care of his land and for the model family life he lives.

Outgoing Chamber president Bob Deavenport said not all had been accomplished during his regime he hoped would be done but lauded the unselfish help extended him by the Chamber in general and by a few key personnel in particular.

Deavenport, too, was presented with a plaque by a grateful directorate. Special thanks, Deavenport said, should go to two directors going off the board, Ed Hall and Jack Ireton.

RICHER BY A RECIPE — Mrs. Carl (Rose) DeDominicis, right, Verona, Pa., and Mrs. Gerald (Isabelle) Collins, left, today were $25,000 richer after winning the top awards in the 23rd "Best of Bake Off" at Houston. Mrs. DeDominicis' Streusel Spice Cake won the grocery product award, and Mrs. Collins' bar cookie made with a fresh crescent dough and an almond-coconut topping won the refrigerated award.

Invests $1.50; Wins $25,000 In 'Bake off' Competition

HOUSTON (AP) — A part-time fashion stylist from Elk River, Minn., and a Pittsburgh, Pa., housewife won $25,000 each as the top prizes in Bake Off 23.

Each of the winning recipes had ingredients costing less than $1.50.

Isabelle Collins of Elk River won with "Quick 'n Chewy Crescent Bars", a recipe containing only fresh crescent roll dough, condensed milk, coconut-almond frosting mix, and butter.

Rose DeDominicis, wife of a Pittsburgh newspaper circulation employee, created a "Streusel Spice Cake" with yellow cake mix, melted chocolate, and a streusel mixture.

Taking $5,000 prizes were Lynne Goldklang, a Los Angeles school teacher who baked "Cheesy Biscuit Rings" with refrigerated biscuits, and Mary Wilson, wife of a Leesburg, Ga., bookkeeper, who won with flour-based "Rocky Road Fudge Bars."

Runnerup $1,000 awards went to Violet M. Hester of Long Beach, Calif., Debra Hilburn, a 15-year-old Piedmont, Ala., resident, Laura Hynek of Lincoln, Neb., and Laura Quigley, New York City.

Dennis Batich, 15, Garwood, N.J., won the $1,000 best consumer value award with a "Frank 'n Beans Biscuit Casserole" chosen from among the 100 final recipes through a computer analysis of nutritional content and ingredients costs.

Both Mrs. Collins and Mrs. DeDominicis were entering the 23-year-old Bake Off contest for the first time. The 100 finalists had seven hours Monday in which to bake their recipes. Each was required to bake one entry for the judges and one for display but each had the option of baking four times and selecting the two for entry and display.

The judges completed their work about 1 a.m. and the announcement of the winners was made at a 6 a.m. news conference. The contestants meanwhile were kept out of touch with telephone, radio and television overnight while having an early breakfast at a restaurant and then taking a bus tour of Houston, returning to the hotel just in time for the awards ceremony.

Mrs. DeDominicis said she learned to cook by watching and helping her mother who came to the United States from Sicily.

"She memorized all her recipes and never measured things," she recalled.

Like her mother, Mrs. DeDominicis said she very seldom bakes anything the same way twice and uses her imagination in selecting ingredients. She and her husband, Carl, have two grown daughters, one in college. They reside in Verona, Pa.

Mrs. Collins, who said she planned to use any prize money she might have won to help finish and decorate a home she and her husband, Gerald, are building on Route 2, Great River Acres, near Elk River. The Collins have a young daughter.

Mrs. Collins' $25,000 recipe: Quick 'n Chewy Crescent Bars — 1 can (8 oz.) Pillsbury refrigerated quick crescent dinner rolls.

14 ounce can (1 1/3 cups) sweetened condensed milk.
1 package (9.9 oz.) Pillsbury coconut almond frosting mix.
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted.
Oven 400 degrees. Makes 3 to 4 dozen bars.
Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Unroll crescent dough; place rectangles in ungreased 15x10 inch jelly roll pan. Gently press dough to cover bottom of pan; seal perforations. Pour condensed milk evenly over dough. Sprinkle with frosting mix. Drizzle with butter. Bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes until golden brown. Cool. Cut into bars. High altitude: no change.

WANT TO TRY THE WINNERS?

Recipes which won the top prizes in Pillsbury's annual Bake Off competition will be printed Thursday on the food page of the Herald. "Quick 'n Chewy Crescent Bars" and "Streusel Spice Cake" each won $25,000, while numerous other recipes won lesser awards for their creators.

Spring Tea Held In Beil Home

The home of Mrs. Charles Beil, 502 Highland, was the scene of a coffee from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday. Hostesses were Mrs. Beil, Mrs. Don Lovelady, Mrs. Bill Johnson and Mrs. Dub Moore.

House party members were Mrs. Louis McKnight, Mrs. Kin Taylor, Mrs. Charles Dunham, Mrs. Leo Gee, Mrs. Lanny Hamby, Mrs. Jim Baum, Mrs. Don McDonald, Mrs. D. H. McDaniel, Mrs. Bill Estes, Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, Mrs. Harold Pearce and Mrs. Jimmy Anderson. Hostesses and members of the house party were attired in long dresses.

A spring theme was used, and green and yellow colors were used in floral arrangements. The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth and appointed with silver.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Beil's mother, Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer, Mrs. Art Hartshorn, Mrs. Louis Mosely and Mrs. Mary Lou Smith, all of Midland; Mrs. Larry R. Shortes and Mrs. Bob Moore, both of Odessa.

Public May View Wild Flower Film

The public is invited to view films of Texas wildflowers at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday in the First Federal Community Room. The program, sponsored by Big Spring Garden Club, will be given by Wyatt Lipscombe of Midland, who is associated with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. The guest day event is open to all interested persons.

Red Cross Director Tells How To Prevent Accidents At Home

"Safety in the home" was stressed by Nathaniel E. Roll, director of the local American Red Cross office, when he was guest speaker for Howard County Young Homemakers Monday in the home of Mrs. Earl Tarbet, Sand Springs.

Roll said the majority of all accidents happen in the home; many resulting from carelessness. He compared an aerosol can to a hand grenade, and said when it explodes it sends bits of tin flying with enough force to decapitate a person.

"Parents tend to underestimate the intelligence of a child," said Roll. "Never tell a child medicine is candy." He said medicine should not be kept under lock and key, but that it is better to educate children about the hazards of taking medicine.

Plugs should be removed from wall sockets by pulling on the plug itself, rather than by yanking on the cord. Roll also said extension cords can be dangerous because they have a tendency to get hotter than room temperature.

"An electric current as mild as 28 volts can kill a person under certain circumstances," Roll said. He also warned that dangling cords are dangerous when small children are around.

For a grease fire, Roll suggested using something that will completely cover it to smother the flame, because flour and baking powder will ignite unless dropped completely on the entire flame.

Roll said old, abandoned refrigerators are still a large hazard, even though there is a year's contest. Committee chairmen appointed were Mrs. R. L. Coach Jr., judges; Mrs. Robert Lindsey, prizes; and Mrs. Eddie Read, publicity.

Mrs. Odell Womack will be guest speaker at the next meeting, at 7:30 p.m., March 27, in the home of Mrs. Read, 1603 Tucson. Her topic will be basic flower arrangements for the home.

Electric Range

It's a fact that electric ranges are the Number One seller in America.

One of the many reasons more women prefer to cook electrically is because an electric range puts less heat into the kitchen air.

An electric oven is insulated all the way around to hold the heat inside. And to give you accurately-controlled heat for better results.

See your appliance dealer soon about a new electric range. You'll always be glad you chose America's favorite.

Senate Votes Today On Women's Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee votes today on a proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee women equal rights with men.

Under an agreement reached Feb. 16, the committee is to vote on this and a rival proposal of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to permit legal distinctions based on "physiological or functional differences" between the sexes.

Although Ervin prevailed by a 6-4 vote in a subcommittee meeting last November, he said he thought the full Judiciary Committee was likely to support the undiluted amendment already approved by the House by a vote of 354 to 23.

Leaders of women's organizations pushing for Senate adoption of the amendment maintained that Ervin's substitute would nullify its purpose and be worse than nothing.

Ervin contends the amendment would wipe out laws needed to protect the health and safety of women.

It provides that equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex.

The AFL-CIO has been one of the chief opponents, contending the amendment could have a destructive effect on such laws as those that bar women from hazardous occupations and limit night work for them.

The proposed equal-rights amendment won overwhelming approval in the House in the last Congress only to die in the Senate, where opponents led by Ervin succeeded in keeping it from a vote.

Outstanding Grads Named In 72-06

Distinguished graduates from undergraduate pilot training class 72-06, graduating today, were named at the class dinner-dance Saturday.

Distinguished graduates were: Capt. Ralph B. Filburn 111, and William R. Noland, First Lt. James Morrison and 2nd Lieutenant Douglas B. Young. Young was also presented the Air Training Command Commander's Trophy and the Flying Training Award.

Two others to receive awards were 2nd Lt. Dennis W. Vander Ven, who was presented the Academic Award, and Capt. Travis O. Young Jr., who walked away with the classes Leadership Award.

The class, called the "Wing Nuts" throughout the training period, began their T-41 Mescalero phase on March 31, 1972. They moved to the T-37 Trainer on May 13, and graduated to the T-38 Talon supersonic jet aircraft phase Sept. 10. The class was under the supervision of Capt. Robert Bryan in the T-37 phase and

(Continued From Page 1) practitioner at Alpine, talked about a hypothetical head injury, which earlier testimony indicated was a type that Ballard had supposedly received Nov. 23, 1970 when struck over the head with a steel chair (Mrs. Janie Montgomery, Ballard's mistress, had said he was hit by a pool cue).

The physician said that such a blow could have produced a brain concussion, a subdural hematoma. Under cross-examination by Jones, Dr. Lockhart said that either probably would have resulted in unconsciousness, the length of which would depend on severity of the blow. A person so affected might, but probably would not be able to react rationally, he said.

QUESTION RAISED

Would a person having had such a blow be able to plan a robbery, hide stolen goods, hide evidence, hide out physically in the open for several days, walk a great distance and be able to recognize the probability and consequences of capture and punishment, Jones asked.

This would be an improbability, but possible," said the doctor. Jones wanted to know if psychiatric tests would show the effects of such injuries. Dr. Lockhart said they would show no subdural hematoma.

Tyrone Wilson, one of the alleged participants in the robbery of the Currie home in which the rancher was killed, was subpoenaed Monday and appeared. However, after a conference with counsel and the court, he was dismissed.

The State rested its case at 3:40 p.m. Monday abruptly after having presented Mrs. Steve Currie, widow of the slain rancher, as its final witness.

Bobby Bearden, defense counsel, then announced the recall of Mrs. Doshie Lee Smith, a Midland bar maid who earlier had testified as a state witness, as his first witness. However, she was not in the courtroom, and this occasioned a huddle by the defense and prosecuting lawyers with Judge Charles E. Sherill, who announced a recess until Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Currie detailed from the stand the events leading to the murder of her husband, how she discovered him dead and was jumped by an intruder lurking behind a piano.

"You shot my husband? You killed my husband?" Mrs. Currie cried at the intruder.

She broke up crying, so much so that the court was obliged to call a 10-minute recess. Then with more composure, Mrs. Currie resumed a recitation of her ordeal the night of Dec. 2, 1970.

Ballard sat impassively during her testimony, except for a nervous tic at one corner of his mouth, watched her intently and occasionally leaned over to confer with Bearden.

Col. Andrew J. Chapman, a command pilot, is a native of Taylor, Tex. He is a graduate of the Air War College, Air Command and Staff College and Air Tactical School. He completed pilot training at Marianna, Fla., in Jan. 1944.

Upon graduation from flight training, the colonel was assigned as an advanced flying instructor in the Southeast Flying Training Command, after returning from duty in the 18th Fighter Group in the Philippines in 1946, he was a primary and basic flying instructor at Randolph AFB, Tex.

While at Randolph he instructed students in the experimental class that led to the introduction of the T-6 as a 1949 to 1952 Col. Chapman served with the 80th Fighter Wing at Neurenberg, Germany, returning to the states in March, 1952. He was then assigned instructor duties at Williams AFB, Ariz., and Pilot Instructors School at Craig AFB, Ala.

His later assignments took him to England, Vietnam and Washington, D. C. In April 1970, he became the vice wing commander of the 401st Tactical Fighter Wing in Vietnam and held that position until his assignment at Maxwell as vice wing commander.

FIRES

The fire department made a run to 4000-B W. U.S. 80 at 12:04 a.m. to extinguish a truck and building fire. Major damage resulted to the truck, but firemen reported the building was not damaged.

According to authorities the fire was started by leaking gasoline from the truck. The building is owned by W. E. Crandall.

THEFTS

David Mohn reported Monday that a tire was stolen from the Highland Texaco Station. No value was reported on the tire.

Mrs. Currie worked her hands loose and untied her feet, but she laid on the couch about 10 minutes for fear the killer would return. She listened for other footsteps outside but she heard none, or other voices.

She ran upstairs to the phone and called her son's home, talking with Pauline, the maid. But Pauline couldn't find the sheriff's number so Mrs. Currie called her neighbors, the Ratliffs.

A short time later her son arrived and she shouted to him not to enter the house.

She said she didn't want him to see his father, and she feared that the intruder might have returned and might kill James (the son).

During her testimony, Mrs. Currie testified that the .38 calibre pistol in evidence looked "very much like" pistols she and her husband kept in the night stand beside their bed.

OTHER WITNESSES

Earlier the state had presented M. S. Baker, who operates jewelry stores in Marfa, Ozona and Eagle Pass. He testified that a diamond ring which had been identified as one stolen from the Currie ranch the night of the murder and later sold to an Odessa jeweler, is worth $7,000 on the retail market. The defense also cross-examined Glasscock County sheriff Royce Pruitt regarding a Texas Department of Public Safety laboratory report which stated that technicians could not determine what gauge shotgun the pellets found in Currie's body came from, nor the wadding found under his head.

BACHELORS TEMPT FATE

Leap Year Frolic

MIAMI (AP) — Fate will be tempted tonight when 35 wealthy bachelors entertain an exotic covey of international beauties aboard a sumptuous yacht featuring a Roman bath full of champagne.

It's a Leap Year lark.

"No local talent allowed," says advertising executive Lee Rosen. "We want to entertain women who come from foreign countries and would normally be at loose ends when they're in Miami. We find it's culturally satisfying for us."

"Us" includes Rosen and fellow members of Bachelors International. Membership demands a minimum annual salary of $29,000 and single marital status. Fringe benefits are unlimited.

The setting for the extravaganza will be Dr. Sydney Sacks' plush houseboat.

Sacks personalized the Greek definition of a man of pleasure—a Sybarite—and christened his floating palace "Sybarite." Its ornaments, beside a sunken marble tub, include a Swiss shower with 18 heads and a whirlpool bath.

There are no plans to activate either during the festivities, Rosen said.

How did he arrive at his guest list?

"We let the foreign consuls and the foreign airlines know

Trades Days Planned Here

A concerted program to promote business in Big Spring and Howard County was approved today by the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

"We're not after promoting any individual, area, or sector, but in promoting the whole," said Sam Schulze, chairman.

Members agreed on a series of Trades Days, which will, in general, coincide with or supplant the traditional Dollar Days, but which will be pushed as a more universal observance.

The first of these will be April 3, first Monday in that month. Most likely they follow the first Monday pattern except where the final Monday of a month is on the 31st.

In addition, the committee agreed on four Special Days when every business in the city and county will be encouraged to offer some really special buys. Finally, there will be a series of four Appreciation Days, starting with Webb AFB May 20. Others will salute agriculture June 14, Industry Sept. 16, and a community imboree on Friday night, July 14, billed as Summer Festival of Fun.

The committee also set machinery in action to develop some criteria for solicitation control, dealing with habitual check checkers, and to reactivate the SOS system to alert businessmen that shoplifters, bogus bill passers, etc. are in town.

Breakfast Honors PTA, School Administrators

More than two score school administrators and PTA officials were honored today at Cokers at a breakfast heralding the annual observance of Texas Public School Week.

Hosts were members of the committee representing the three Masonic lodges in Howard County, which traditionally sponsors the week's spotlighting the contribution of Texas schools.

Supts. S. M. Anderson, Big Spring, W. A. Wilson, Coahoma, Herbie Smith, Forsan, and M. B. Maxwell, Ackerly, headed a group of schoolmen including high school, junior high and elementary school principals and assistants. Presidents of a number of Parent Teacher units also were on hand, as were Mayor J. Arnold Marhsall, Big Spring, and Mayor Jack Cauble, Coahoma.

Whispering masters of the lodges — David Yater of Staked Plains 598, Tolle Hale of Coahoma lodge 992, and George Glenn of Big Spring lodge 1340 — spoke briefly to the group, expressing appreciation for the role of public schools in preserving and fostering the foundation for a democratic society.

Texas Public School Week will be observed March 6-10, and in Big Spring Harold Bentley and Ernie Boyd are heading up the observance committee.

Hosts for the breakfast were Jimmy Felts of 1340, Lee Porter of 598, and Sid Johnston of 992.

DEATHS

Kin Of BS Woman Is Death Victim

Funeral for Melvin Barton, brother of Mrs. Fred Hyer of Big Spring, was held at 2 p.m. Monday in Clements Funeral Home in Bertram. Burial was in the Bertram cemetery.

Mr. Barton died Saturday of a heart attack, which followed on the heels of one about two weeks ago.

His wife preceded him in death. Surviving were one brother, Dudley Barton, Buchanan; four sisters, Mrs. E. Barber, Buchanan, Mrs. E. Loubelle, Brewster, Bertram, Mrs. John Kozowski, Cedar Rapids, Wis., and Mrs. Hyer.

Shockley Rites Set Wednesday

Services for Ethel M. Shockley, 88, who died in a local nursing home Monday, will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the River-Welch chapel. Officiating will be Howard Sweeney and Joe Snyder, both ministers in the Church of Christ.

Burial will follow in the Mount Olive Cemetery under the direction of the River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mrs. Shockley moved to Howard County in 1912 with her late husband, John B. Shockley, and had lived most of her life in this area since that time.

Survivors include three sons, J. B. Shockley, and W. T. Shockley, both of the Knott

Mounted Police Force To Return

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A mounted police force will return to Philadelphia streets next week for the first time in 20 years, Mayor Frank J. Rizzo said Monday.

Rizzo said six horses would be assigned to business areas.

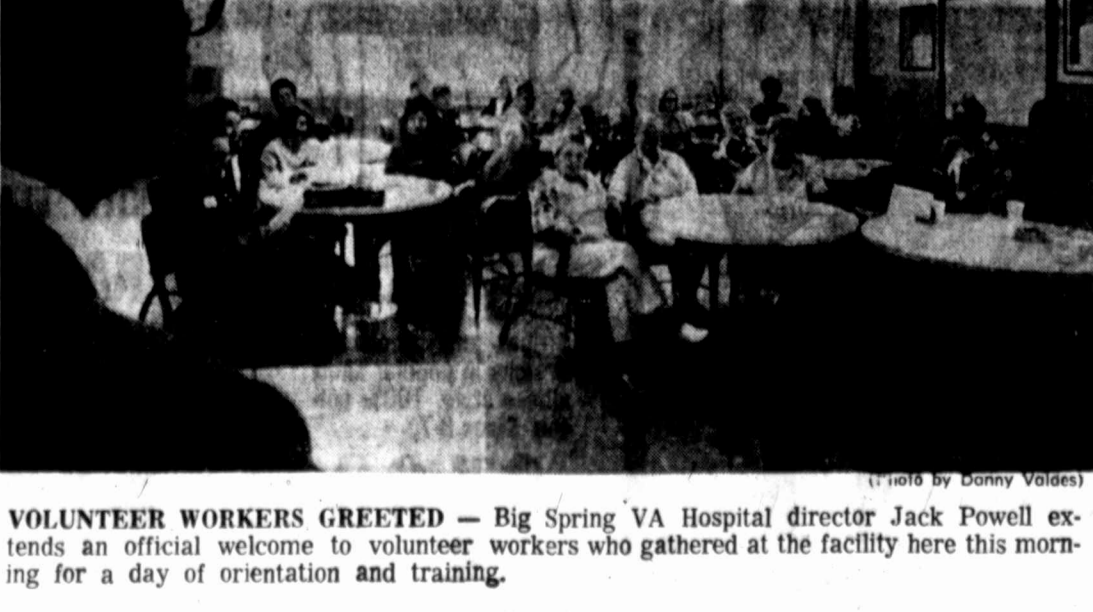

community, and Cecil Shockley, Dimmitt; three daughters, Mrs. W. Y. (Ruth) Crawford, Corpus Christi, Mrs. Jane Dutcher, San Antonio, and Mrs. E. G. (Irene) Harrison, Sulphur, La., 29 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren along with a sister, Mrs. Gale Routh, Presco, Wash., and a brother, George Cox, Tacoma, Wash. Grandsons will serve as pall bearers.

Brother Of Local Woman Succumbs

Mrs. William D. (Bill) Todd was informed Monday of the death in Kilgore earlier in the day of her brother, O. B. Hickman. Mr. Hickman had had heart trouble for the past several years.

Funeral arrangements were pending late Monday. Mr. Hickman had worked for the Continental Oil Company for about 23 years before his retirement about four years ago.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Todd, include his wife, four sons, John Hickman, Dallas, Warner Hickman, Austin, Wally Hickman, South Texas, and Larry Hickman, Temple; his mother, Mrs. Ida Hickman, Haynesville, La., two other sisters, Mrs. C. O. Bailey, Haynesville, La., and Mrs. Onnie Smith, Longview; two brothers, William Major Seth Hickman, Irving, and S. Jay Hickman, Camp Hill, Pa., several grandchildren and several nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Dee Foster, Big Spring.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS GREETED — Big Spring VA Hospital director Jack Powell extends an official welcome to volunteer workers who gathered at the facility here this morning for a day of orientation and training.

KIM

(Continued from Page 1) Basin (of which Stanton is a part) is recognized as the opportunity frontier of Texas, said that "things are happening in Stanton" and he hoped to motivate things that would benefit the community and its people.

Among the goals he hoped the community would work toward:

- (1) That citizens would become more aware of the needs and take appropriate action;
- (2) economic development, through solicitation of new industry;
- (3) help local industry in expansion plans;
- (4) fruition of a plan for a nursing home;
- (5) a community cleanup plan;
- (6) downtown improvement; and
- (7) getting young people interested and involved in local government.

Mike Bly was introduced as the president of the newly organized Stanton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Master of ceremonies Russell McMeans kept the program moving at a fast pace and his audience in good spirits with his light-hearted banter. Rev. Floyd Dunn offered the invocation, Rev. Warren Hall the benediction. The entire program consumed less than two hours.

Delegations from Big Spring, Whittharrel, Midland, Littlefield, Odessa, Lubbock and Fort Worth were present.

The meal was served in the Cap Rock Electric Auditorium.

Charles T. Blocker is the new vice-president of the Chamber. Mrs. Edna Linder is the treasurer. Incoming directors are Bruce Key, Mrs. Linder, Mrs. Betty Gregg, Ed Lawson and Terry Franklin.

Church Delegates To Attend Meet

Members of the local Spanish congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses received news that they have been invited as delegates to the semi-annual circuit convention for the group. The meeting will be held at the City Hall Auditorium in San Angelo March 17-19. Theme of the assembly will be "Conscious of our Spiritual Need."

The announcement was made to the congregation by the presiding minister, Ismael Sanchez.

In explaining to the congregation the purpose of the gathering, Sanchez explained that the three-day program is key factor in promoting the unity of teaching and organization that have come to characterize Jehovah's Witnesses world-wide.

You Too Can Be A Qualified Pilot

Big Spring Aircraft has air taxi service anywhere in the continental United States. Air taxi service is the perfect way for busy business men to travel long distances. They don't have to be at the mercy of commercial airline schedules.

Air taxis can take you almost anywhere you want to go, easier and faster than ground transportation or commercial airlines.

If you are a pilot or if you want to become one, Big Spring Aircraft has the instruction you need to learn to fly or to gain a higher rating.

Several local businessmen and ranchers have learned to fly to facilitate business transactions. They can set their own schedules without depending on commercial airlines. Big Spring Aircraft has an Air Agency Certificate from the FAA that certifies them for basic and advanced ground school, primary and commercial flying school, instrument flying school and flight instructor school.

The latest instructor to join Big Spring Aircraft is Paul Kessler. He will be glad to take you up for your first lesson in one of the many planes available for flight instruction at Big Spring Aircraft.

The Big Spring Aircraft flying school is also approved for VA and non-VA students.

The only problem foreseen by Big Spring Aircraft is the lack of hangar space at the county airport. "There are many people who have planes parked out in the sun that would like to rent hangar space, including at least one local firm that will shortly have a $700,000 jet at the airport," said Bill McClendon, manager.

The county is going to resurface the runways soon, so for a short time only one runway will be open, but the job is not expected to take long and the runways should be much smoother after the repair work.

If you want air taxi service, flight training or a new or used airplane, come out to the Howard County Airport and talk to the personnel at Big Spring Aircraft. They have the men and equipment to get the job you want done finished quickly, comfortably and safely.

HUD Funds Go To San Antonio
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — City Manager Gerald Henckel signed a contract Monday that makes San Antonio one of four Texas cities given the opportunity to participate in an experimental federal funding program.

The program, called "annual arrangements," gives the city full authority to determine priorities for financing projects with funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The city will receive a $15 million block grant for the current fiscal year.

Officials said other Texas cities offered the annual arrangements funding system include Eagle Pass, Laredo and Corpus Christi.

WOOD TRIM — Available at Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. is a complete selection of carved wood panels and wood spindles. On hand to assist are Fidel Tovar, left, Randy Moore and Mike Tovar.

Returns To Bitter Fuss Over Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharply divided Senate today returns to the bitter dispute over busing of school children for desegregation purposes. Forces supporting a tough antibusing stance appeared nearly evenly matched against those backing a milder approach. Because of a complex parliamentary situation, it will take at least five separate votes to produce a settlement, but that could come by day's end.

NOT BAD — The National Weather Service in Washington released these maps Monday showing the 30-day precipitation and temperature outlook for the month of March.

Deadline Nears For Candidates

COAHOMA — Those planning to file for spots on the Coahoma city council must declare their intentions no later than March 4. The election takes place April 4.

Mrs. Ray Echols will serve as election judge. Candidates who have already declared for the three positions open on the council are incumbent Charles Parrish, J. F. Gibson and Joe Barren.

Tommy McFarland and Sid Johnson are incumbents who have not indicated they will again run. Holdover members of the council are Mayor Jack Cauble, C. C. Harrison and Tommy Abernegg.

Tyson Returned From Louisiana

Wayne Gerald Tyson, wanted for alleged violation of parole in connection with a theft case, was returned to Big Spring Monday evening from Monroe, La., where he had been held awaiting arrival of a Howard County deputy. He was brought back by Deputy Kirby after waiving extradition.

The Senate Monday considered other aspects of the bill authorizing $2.5 billion for higher education and $1.5 billion for school desegregation. Senators adopted a proposal aimed at ending discrimination against women from grade school through graduate school.

The Senate has agreed to wind up all work on the bill Wednesday.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Civil rights forces were cautiously hopeful they had the votes to reverse a 43-40 tally last Friday in favor of a far-reaching antibusing rider. They hope to knock it out of the bill.

This rider, sponsored by Republican Whip Robert Griffin, would strip federal courts of the power to issue busing orders in desegregation cases. If its opponents defeat it, they plan to substitute a compromise sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott.

Tax Experts Criticize School Financing Rule

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — The federal government came under fire here Monday because of recent rulings on Texas' school taxes which are based on property valuations.

At a two-day meeting of the Legislative Property Tax Committee, Jim Nugent, Amarillo city tax assessor-collector, defended the Texas system as the "keystone of local government financing." He said the alternative is more income taxes.

Nugent declared that the committee must get to work to make the property tax constitutional or the federal government will take charge.

Subcommittees met Sunday and reported Monday to the full group.

Nugent, also chairman of the subcommittee on collections, said laws now are adequate for tax collectors if the collectors will use them.

As an example, Nugent said collectors can seize property for taxes but they are hesitant to use this power. Searcy German, Mount Houston Independent School District tax assessor-collector and chairman of the data processing subcommittee, recommended that a central data gathering point be set up and that all taxing agencies in Texas be required to report information.

Jack L. Hart of Austin, a member of the full committee, said such an agency existed from 1931 to 1951 but proved ineffective because reporting was not mandatory.

Ken Quevreaux, tax representative for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and head of the exemptions subcommittee, called for a complete review of all state tax laws. He said new rules for exemptions should be drawn up and that taxing agencies should now search for what he called for exemption by omission. He said much property is not taxed because it has not been put on the tax rolls.

Lightning Strikes Oil Storage Tank

By The Associated Press

Fierce thunderstorms hit parts of South Texas and the plains opposite the Lower Texas Coast today, and police reported a tornado spun through the air close to Corpus Christi.

Unofficial gauges caught as much as four inches of rain in parts of Corpus Christi. Street flooding occurred in some sections.

Witnesses told police the funnel cloud whirled over Corpus Christi Bay near the naval air station on the south side of the city. They said it apparently did not touch down.

At Portland, four miles north of Corpus Christi, lightning split the police radio transmitter antenna atop a city water tank.

Gregory, which has a population of about 500, was without electric power when lightning hit a major transformer. Lightning also struck an oil storage tank on the west side of Corpus Christi but did little damage.

At Kingsville, cars were stranded in low-lying streets. The water was two feet deep in places. Some homes were partly flooded, but no one was evacuated.

Thunderstorms or thunder-showers moved toward the northeast over the coastal plains toward the Upper Texas Coast and generally appeared heavier over the Gulf of Mexico than inland.

Official rainfall amounts included 2.56 inches at the Corpus Christi naval air station and 1.97 inches at Alice, both within six hours.

Measurements elsewhere included McAllen .28 inch, Palacios .25, Houston .21, Victoria .02 and Brownsville .01.

Skies were mostly cloudy over the eastern half of Texas and clear to partly cloudy elsewhere.

Early morning temperatures were unseasonably warm in most sections although the mercury dipped to 29 degrees at Wink in far West Texas and 33 at Amarillo. Readings at other points ranged from the higher 30s into the 60s, staying as high as 70 at Brownsville.

Tuesday's top marks climbed into the 70s and 80s throughout the state, going as high as 85 at McAllen and Wichita Falls, and 86 at Childress and San Angelo.

Forecasts promised noticeable cooling in parts of the Panhandle and West Texas with the arrival of another norther by Wednesday. Little change was expected in other sections.

Scout Ranch Bus To Leave Friday

Members of the Boy Scouts Order of the Arrow who plan to attend the March 3-4-5 powwow at the scout ranch near Balmorhea should stand advised that the bus will depart the College Park Shopping Center at 5 p.m. Friday.

Those planning to ride it will need a sack lunch, $2 each for their part of the gasoline and an additional $5.50 for the registration fee at the powwow, as well as 90 cents for the Sunday breakfast.

Those planning on making the trip should contact Tommy Marvin by dialing 393-5502 or Eddie Young at 393-5534.

The bus will return to the College Park shopping area about 1 p.m. Sunday.

Man Is Charged With Auto Theft

for the misdemeanor. The juvenile was transferred to Keith Jones, juvenile officer, for action.

The stolen car was spotted by two Department of Public Safety officers, Don Bates and John Ferguson, and the tape player was located in the car by Deputy Sheriff Bill Whitton, who identified it as one reported stolen from A. G. Genson, Sand Springs. Genson's truck was parked at the 66 Truck Stop on the felony count and $500 at the time.

Speed Reading Course Set To Begin In Big Spring

Arrangements have been made to conduct a 21 hour course in speed reading. The course is open to anyone above the age of 13 and guarantees every graduate a reading speed over 1,000 words per minute and with at least a 15 per cent increase in comprehension.

After the seven week program a person can read an average length book in less than an hour and understand it better. In addition to speed reading the course also emphasizes improved study techniques, better test taking skills and increased concentration and retention abilities.

The course requires a person to attend one class per week on the evening of their choice. For those who would like more information without obligation to enroll, a series of FREE one hour orientation lectures have been scheduled.

These meetings are free to the public and the course will be explained in complete details including entrance requirements, classroom procedures, class schedule and location. You need to attend only one of the meetings whichever is the most convenient for you. These free one hour orientations will be held as follows:

Tuesday, Feb. 29 at 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.
Wednesday, March 1, at 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.
Thursday, March 2, at 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.
Friday, March 3, at 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.
Saturday, March 4, at 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and a final meeting at 2:30 p.m. till 3:30 p.m. Meetings will be held at The Holiday Inn, Big Spring.

Persons under 18 should be accompanied by a parent. —(Adv.)

Houston Mayor, Golfer Called For Bribe Trial

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Mayor Louie Welch and four others today in the bribery conspiracy trial where Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher, more than ever, stands alone as the big target.

Also subpoenaed were four other Houston residents: Golfer Doug Sanders, Houston Baptist College President W. H. Hinton, the Rev. Charles L. Allen and George Weston Conrad.

TWO MORE JURORS

Two more prospective jurors were qualified, bringing the total number of qualified jurors to 18. Forty-eight must be qualified before each side uses its 18 peremptory challenges.

The first 12 remaining on the panel after those strikes will be the jury.

Mutscher has two co-defendants, but their attorneys stressed to jurors Monday that they must look at each defendant separately.

"Make your judgment three separate ways," said A. L. "Dusty" Rhodes, who represents Mutscher's aide, Rush McGinty.

MUST DECIDE

"You must decide each man's guilt separately," said Joe Shannon, representing Rep. Tommy Shannon (no relation of Fort Worth).

"You feel you can reach a verdict on each individual, not all as a group, but each individual?" Rhodes asked one prospective juror.

Mutscher's lawyers, on the other hand, spoke of the defendants only as a group.

All three defendants are accused of conspiring to accept a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp to influence legislation.

Mutscher made the biggest initial profit on stock bought with a loan from Sharp's bank and, being Speaker, had the power to influence legislation.

Shannon sponsored the legislation and had one vote.

McGinty's influence on legislation was relatively tiny, and his attorney obviously wants to move him away from the spotlight on the speaker.

The defense considerably

Questioning of prospective jurors was slow, with lawyers for each defendant as well as the state attorney questioning each person who took the witness stand.

After three hours, only six had been questioned, but Judge Neal Daniel barked: "Let's just move along—it's going much too slowly." And 14 more were questioned over the next two hours.

Barnes was the presiding officer in the Senate in the special session in 1969 when the legislation was rammed through on the last day.

Mutscher, 39, took notes on a legal sized yellow pad during part of Monday's session.

Shannon, 62, looked glum most of the time, mouth turned down and eyes dreamy, as if he were far away in thought.

McGinty, 32, was relaxed, arm thrown over a railing, coat open.

EX-MISS AMERICA

Defense lawyers introduced each defendant's wife and McGinty's parents.

Mrs. Mutscher, who was Miss America in 1964, looked radiant in a white blouse covered by a sleeveless red jacket with blue trim, and a blue skirt. And Mrs. McGinty, a striking blonde, looked as if she could have given Mrs. Mutscher a run for her beauty title.

A panel of 48 must be picked before each side uses its 18 peremptory challenges—18 because each defendant gets six and therefore the state gets a total of 18.

Travis (Austin) County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith told prospective jurors the penalty on conviction was two to five years in prison, then added: "That can be probated if the jury so desires."

Longshoremen Agree To End Long Strike

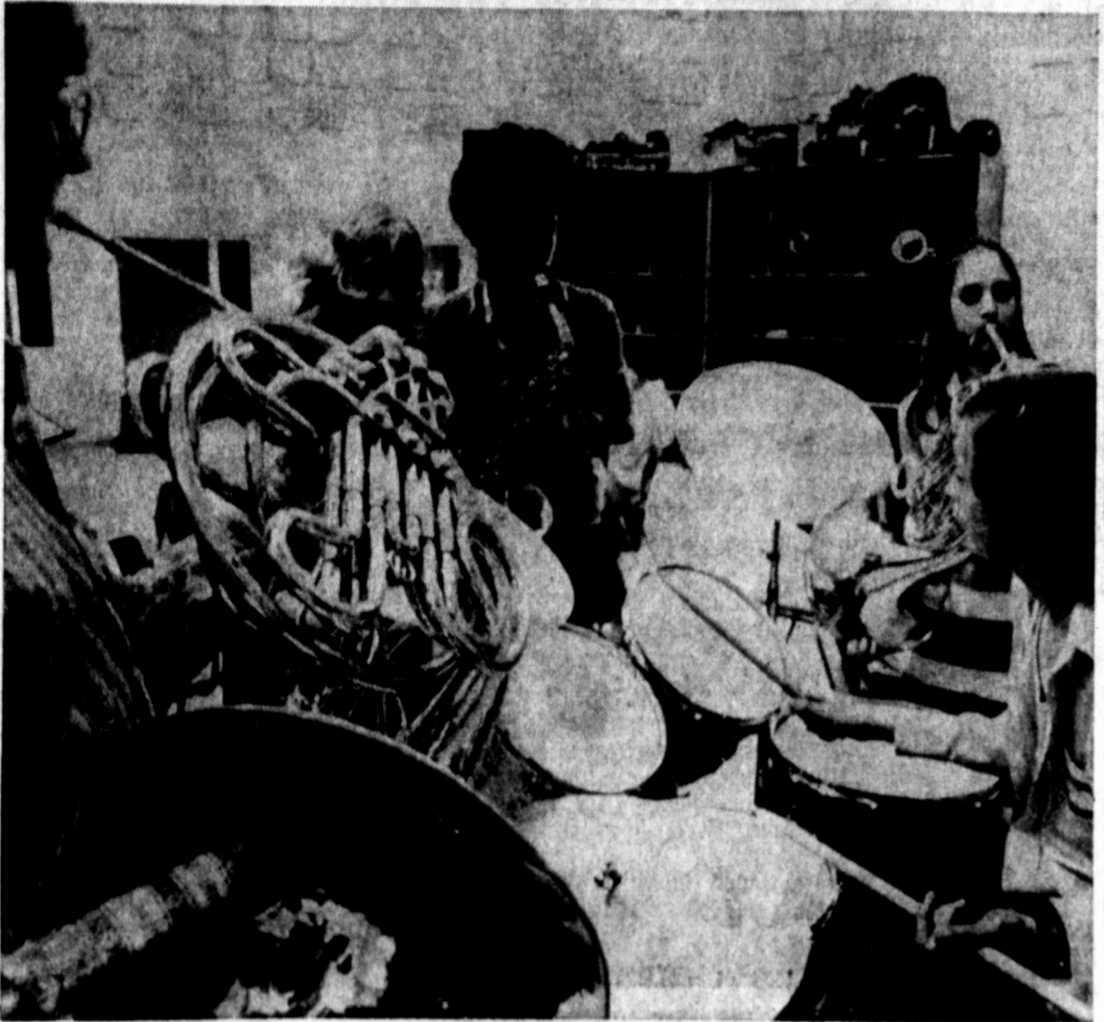

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Association and the management association representing shippers from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex., reached tentative agreement early today on a new three-year contract.

The agreement came after a year of negotiation and a two-week strike which was interrupted by a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Bargainers for the ILA will conduct a formal vote on the new pact Wednesday after proof-reading the final offer from the West Gulf Maritime Association, which represents shippers, agents and stevedores.

The tentative agreement applies only to deepsea locals of the ILA. Clerks and Checkers and other ILA bargaining units still must work out contract terms to avoid a mid-March strike of West Gulf ports.

Denton Fields No. One Band In Festival Here

Top bands at the Texas Stage Band Festival held at Big Spring High School were Denton, the outstanding band of the festival, Monterey (Lubbock), tops in AAAA, R. E. Lee, Houston, first in AAA, and Hamlin High School, first in AA.

Top musician in the festival was Clay Jenkins, Monterey. The two-day festival was judged by Stan Kenton and members of his orchestra. The Stan Kenton orchestra presented a concert Saturday night to a full house of enthusiastic Big Springers and area band members.

The Paschal High School, Fort Worth, band produced the greatest number of All-Star band members despite not placing in the top three in AAA. Paschal had six spots on the 19 member band.

Big Spring managed to earn a superior rating for the senior band and a good rating for the junior band. Two Big Spring band members, Richard Kitchen, trumpet, and Gage Hopkins, trombone, made the All-Star Band.

AA Finish: Hamlin High School, first; Cooper High School, second; and Teague, third. AA ratings: Hamlin, 11; Reagan County, 11; Cooper, 11; Teague, 11; Ardmore (second group), 11; Hamlin, 11; and Abilene, 11. AAA Finish: R. E. Lee, Houston (second group), first; Ardmore, second; and Snyder, third. AAA ratings: Big Spring (second group), 11; R. E. Lee, Houston (second group), 11; Ardmore, 11; Everman, 11; and Midland Lee (second group), 11. AAAA Finish: Denton, outstanding Opening lead: Three of ♠. Also South's six spade contract would have been a reasonable undertaking without an unfavorable trump break, a combination of a nimble performance with some shrewd guesswork enabled him to overcome all adversity and emerge with the prize.

North had 15 high card points, sufficient to make a slam try over a one no trump opening. With a balanced hand, he had the ingredients for a quantitative raise beyond game to four no trump. Holding a four card major, however, he attempted to probe for a suit contract first by bidding two clubs. When South showed his spade suit, North's rebid of three diamonds became a slam try, for—if it had been his desire merely to reach game, he could have proceeded without further ado to four spades.

South bid three hearts showing his second major and North's jump to four spades now confirmed the fit, although a bid of three might have been adequate inasmuch as he has already made one forward move and several of his points consisted of queens and jacks. South's values were all top drawer and he could hardly be restrained from proceeding to six spades. Observe that if North had the king of

Rep. Pickle Cites Energy Shortages

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The brownouts that have occurred in the United States due to energy shortages may turn into blackouts unless plans are made for the future, says Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex.

The Austin congressman issued the statement in conjunction with an announcement that he will be among the speakers at an Energy Conservation Forum here March 14-16.

"We saw how Great Britain was nearly paralyzed by the energy shortage," Pickle said. "One and a half million people were unemployed by the coal strike."

In the larger and more industrial U. S. society, "we operate on a thin margin of energy which is subject to disputes and natural disasters," he said.

"Imagine the consequences if our energy wanes away through neglect and unwillingness to recognize a problem before it becomes acute or even terminal," Pickle continued. "It will be our fault. We must plan for the conservation of energy now."

Pickle is sponsoring a bill that would stabilize contracts

Pileup Hurts 16 Persons

HOUSTON (AP) — A 26-car pileup on Interstate 10 west of here in dense fog Monday morning injured 16 persons, officers reported.

The fog, which spread throughout Southeast Texas, reduced visibility to near zero on the bridge over the Old and Los Rivers branches of the Trinity River.

One person was injured seriously. He is Bill Cleveland, 55, of Beaumont, driver of the first car in the series of collisions.

Others hurt in the crash were treated and dismissed at nearby hospitals.

Chambers County Deputy Sheriff Willie Kilgore said the accident began when Cleveland's car stopped crosswise on the bridge and a second car ran into it. Cleveland's vehicle then caught fire and exploded.

A Timely Discovery

Even Rep. Wilbur Mills, the powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, cannot resist presidential fever.

Normally a low-profile man who makes his shots count, Mills suddenly has found that Social Security benefits can be jumped 20 per cent with only a small increase in Social Security taxes — this year.

The Arkansas Democrat is a presidential hopeful, though he has not been running a big campaign. He is on the ballot in the Florida Democratic primary and his newly found interest in increasing benefits could help him win that retirement haven.

Mills claims that the Social Security program is "overfinanced" and benefits can be increased $8 billion a year. He is proposing that the big increase be made as an amendment to a House-passed Social Security bill pending in the Senate.

This being an election year, the Mills plan is likely to find strong support in Congress. Passage of a 5 per cent increase was certain, but the strong shove from Mills bodes for a larger rise.

The increase must be paid for it and it will come from higher payroll taxes. Mills proposes a slight increase this year, a much bigger bite next year and increases in subsequent years. Payroll taxes are paid by employees and matched by employers.

In the past, Mills had resisted big benefit increases, insisting the program be kept "actuarially sound." Now he has discovered that another formula may be applied in an election year.

Selling White Elephants

The government is moving to get some of its money back on a couple of airplanes that didn't pan out.

Last week the full-sized mock-up of the supersonic transport built by Boeing with federal development funds was up for bid. The 228-foot model which cost $10.7 million went to Marks O. Morrison of Lyman, Neb., for a high bid of $31,119. Lyman plans to display the mock-up at a racing hall of fame at Utah's Bonneville Salt Flats.

An even more expensive aircraft, but one that actually flew, also may be put on the auction block. That is Howard Hughes' "Spruce Goose," a giant experimental plywood seaplane.

The "Spruce Goose" was built for the government in the 1940s for $40 million. It made one flight in 1947, going one mile and reaching an altitude of 70 feet. Since then Hughes, who was at the controls for the flight, has released it from the government for $800 a month. The lease expires next June.

If the current Howard Hughes-Clifford Irving flap carries over into the summer, the government might be able to get more for the "Spruce Goose." The 140-ton wooden plane would make quite a conversation piece for someone.

Little Red Book

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

Compelling events of the past week have seen most Americans eyeing their television sets — (and feeling a little like Peepink Toms) — as the bamboo curtain parted, teasingly, to allow a brief look at the mystique that is China.

DURING THE running commentary, more than one newsman referred to the "little red book" which has been described as perhaps one of the most powerful — and challenging — documents of the century.

"Quotations from Chairman Mao Tse Tung" is the title of "the little red book."

IN CHINA, millions of Red Guards have turned its dictates into reality. In Asia, in Europe, in Africa, in Latin America, other millions read it with fervent belief, fierce anger or chill fear. Here, in a small, insignificant-looking volume are the driving ideas of the man who today controls one-fifth of the earth's people.

CHOOSING A CHAPTER at random, let's look at the one entitled "Discipline." Here's what Chairman Mao has to say:

"We must affirm new the discipline of the Party, namely: 1) the individual is subordinate to the organization; 2) the minority is subordinate to the majority; 3) the lower level is subordinate to the higher level; and 4) the entire membership is subordinate to the Central Committee. Whoever violates these articles of discipline disrupts Party unity."

FURTHER DOWN the page are listed the Three Main Rules of Discipline: 1) Obey orders in all your actions; 2) Do not take a single needle or piece of thread from the masses; and 3) Turn in everything captured.

Below this is detailed the Eight Points for Attention as follows: 1) Speak politely; 2) Pay fairly for what you buy; 3) Return everything you borrow; 4) Pay for anything you damage; 5) Do not hit or swear at people; 6) Do not damage crops; 7) Do not take liberties with women; and 8) Do not ill-treat captives.

I HOPE YOU will be interested enough to read the other 130 pages in "the little red book." Maybe somewhere there might turn up something slightly more exciting and original.

Many Journeys

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has had the attention of the American people focused on him as they keep up with his activities in Peking while he deals with the delicate problems of developing friendly relations with the government of Mainland China. Rarely has a mission of this type been attempted in an election year, but Mr. Nixon found it necessary to move at this time into a world situation that demands personal negotiation.

THE TRIP to Red China appeared to be a success, but in a few weeks the President will be taking another journey — to the capital of the Soviet Union in the middle of May. He will undoubtedly make every effort to convince the leaders in the Kremlin that the United States can work with them without letting differences of viewpoint stand in the path of a "peaceful coexistence."

The problems with the Soviets are different from those with which Mr. Nixon has been faced in Peking. The United States formally recognizes the Soviet government and has for years been carrying on discussions about possible ways to advance the cause of peace. Some of the subjects that the President will take up in Moscow has been under consideration for a long time. There is, for instance, at present a continuing series of talks on the limitation of strategic arms, and this affects not just Russia and the United States but the entire world. If the Soviets show an indication that they are ready to go ahead on a program of limiting or reducing nuclear weapons, it will be a big step forward and will assure the peoples of both Europe and Asia that the changes of nuclear war are being diminished.

MR. NIXON is hopeful that the United States and the Soviet Union can enter into a new relationship — one that is dedicated to the prevention of war, particularly nuclear war. If evidence of this determination can be presented to the world convincingly, the conferences between President Nixon and the leaders in the Kremlin will be of transcendent importance.

WHAT IS lacking today is a close relationship between the American people and the people of the Soviet Union. Censorship on the Russian side prevents their communicating with each other. Congress at the moment is considering whether it will continue to finance the broadcasts in several languages which are daily transmitted by Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty to the people of Eastern and Central Europe and of the Soviet Union. More information about the United States and its policies needs to be sent into these areas with the hope that a friendlier feeling will develop in future years. There are many ways in which the Russian people could become better known to the American people, and one of these is to permit more visitors to travel freely throughout the Soviet Union. An interchange of ideas between foreign tourists and residents tends eventually to generate a better understanding of world affairs on both sides.

THERE IS every reason why the United States should endeavor to develop a friendlier relationship with the government in Moscow and the people of the Soviet Union.

President Nixon will be busy with his foreign tours almost up to the national party conventions in mid-summer. For when he gets home, the piles of work to be done as a result of his journeys will occupy much of his time during 1972.

Infantilism

William F. Buckley Jr.

PEKING — I have a paralyzing suspicion that our affable hosts have lost sight of the critical realities. When you come down to it, it has been how long — 15 or 20 years? since reporters in any force visited this country and reported on it in such a way as to intrude on the auto-hypnosis. I have a feeling that when the 87 U.S. newsmen landed here with Richard Nixon, the governors of the People's Republic of China were confident that 87 dispatches like James Reston's of last summer would be published throughout the United States.

TOTALITARIAN societies are very good at hiding things like concentration camps. Why are they so poor at hiding ideological infantilism? I mean, there was the President of the United States and all of us, in the (apparently ugly) ballet hall. To view a Chinese classic, or even a modern classic?

Not a chance. It was a thing called "The Red Detachment of Women." The synopsis was printed and from it I quote exactly. The heroine, Chinghua, is the property of a "despotic landlord," who (Act I) gives orders to one of his "running dogs" to sell her. She is mercilessly beaten, escapes, and is rescued by two Red Army men who feel "profound proletarian feelings" towards her. They embrace her (Act II) into a Red Detachment of Women where she is warmly received by "the soldiers and villagers whose class feelings for her are as deep as sea." She goes (Act III) because of an excessive zeal, and is warned (Act IV) that "only by emancipating all mankind can the proletariat achieve its own final emancipation."

I AM sure that, at this point, Richard Nixon tried to kick Pat under the arm chair, but between him and her was Madam Mao Tse-tung, the iron patroness of this kind of thing. Anyway, in Act V our heroine's principal Red protector is caught by the Kuomintang, but when he recovers consciousness "he stands rock-firm and faces the pack of banded troops in righteous indignation." Only (Act VI) to die "a heroic death with the fearless heroic spirit of a Communist" but not until he has "denounced the die-hard reactionaries." At which point the Red Army moves in, and "the broad revolutionary masses flock to join the Red Army amidst resounding battle songs." The last sentence in the synopsis is a modest thought for today: "Forward, forward, under the banner of Mao Tse-tung, forward to victory!"

THE NEXT morning we visited Peking University, probably the most shattering single experience of the journey because we had the sense of participating in a show trial. Our host was the active head of the University, who got his advanced degree from the University of Chicago in 1926. The poor dorelic, whose English is as good as Walter Cronkite's, spoke through an interpreter. Why? Because the room was full of Red Guard thugs, and it was obvious that they desired to hear his answers so they could later on correct him for any ideological irregularities.

We knew that he knew that we knew that he was reduced to puppetry. Anyway, someone asked what had been the errors of Peking University before the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution caught up with them and he said that the errors had been partly his responsibility.

WHAT WERE the errors? Peking U. had imitated Moscow University by forgetting the dominant imperative of proletarian politics and lending itself instead to the formation of an elite. Translated, that means Peking U. sought academic excellence. How had he learned the nature of his delinquencies? A "Mao Thought Propaganda Team" came to the university in the fall of 1968 and stayed a whole year. After they left, the governing of the university was put into the hands of a revolutionary council, of which this wretched man, an elderly distinguished physicist, had become the spokesman, surrounded by mesocephalic peasants who, knowing only how to praise the thoughts of Chairman Mao, need know aught else, in order to correct the venerable professor.

AN EXTRA DAY — DO SOMETHING WORTHWHILE!

New Economic World

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States last year ran up a trade deficit with the rest of the world of $2.9 billion. In some degree it meant that we were out-produced and out-traded, and the shock is having reverberations.

Should the country react to stiffer competition by fighting harder? Or should it protect itself by barricading its markets? Should it work with other nations to build trade, hoping thereby to reverse the trade deficit?

The alternatives sound like something you once read in your history book, but they are very current considerations.

If passed, for example, the Burke-Hartke bill would build barriers to foreign competition in American markets. And at a meeting between U.S. and European businessmen in Versailles, France, this week those alternatives will underlay every discussion.

One of the main reasons why this decision is before the American people especially is that the United States obviously has lost some of its unique advantages in world trade.

At one time American technology and marketing know-how was so superior to that of other nations that it was common to hear Europeans and others talk of American economic domination.

The United States no longer has any corner on technology. In production and marketing it has much to learn from the amazing performance of Japan. And in government-industry cooperation it can learn from a dozen nations.

And while the country faces a new economic world, it must also adjust domestically to factors that seem to be exerting a strong drag on its ability to produce efficiently.

Strikes, the lack of enthusiasm in spending for research and development, the lack of access to training in labor skills, the oligarchic nature of pricing in some areas of the economy have all weakened productivity.

There is the likelihood also that Americans are slightly more inclined to settle for security rather than compete for the dazzling prospect of a higher economic level, which was one of the great lures to productivity.

Inflation, of course, makes American goods less competitive abroad. And since it puts money into the hands of buyers, it tends to make the market for foreign goods more attractive.

Whatever the reasons, the United States must decide again, as it has in the past, which way it is to go: more trade through open markets or less trade because of restricted markets.

The United States still can dangle before any other nation the largest market in the world, one that it shared openly with nations that once were weak but which now are able to care for themselves.

'Spirit Of Peking'

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The "Spirit of Peking" has had more of an effect on Americans than anyone would like to admit. For example my Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda, who live in Brooklyn, had broken off diplomatic relations with my Uncle Harry and Aunt Gertrude, who live in New Jersey, about 20 years ago.

NO ONE IS quite certain what caused the break, though rumor in the family had it that Uncle Harry had sold Uncle Leo some hospital insurance and Uncle Leo had been unable to collect on the policy because of some small print which Uncle Harry had neglected to mention to him.

Aunt Zelda called Uncle Harry a crook and Aunt Gertrude declared both Aunt Zelda and Uncle Leo personna non grata in the entire state of New Jersey.

THE OTHER day Uncle Leo's son, Henry, pointed out to his parents that if President Nixon could go all the way to Peking to normalize relations with Mao Tse-tung, they could at least take a crack at making peace with Uncle Harry and Aunt Gertrude.

Surprisingly Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda agreed to open negotiations, and Henry went on a secret mission to the mainland of New Jersey to arrange the details.

Uncle Harry and Aunt Gertrude agreed to a state visit from Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda, but they warned Henry not to get his hopes up over one trip. Henry went back to Brooklyn and reported he thought the climate was right for the visit, even if it did no more than to break the ice, which New Jersey had a lot of this year.

THE DATE for the historic journey was set for last Sunday, and because of lack of transportation and the shortage of accommodations, I was the only newspaperman accredited for the trip.

Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda brought along a staff consisting of their three children and their spouses.

We arrived at noon, New Jersey time. We were all disappointed to find there were no crowds in the streets as we drove up to the house, but when we got out of the car, Aunt Gertrude and Uncle Harry were there to greet us with their four children.

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are the links that bind our lives together. They make us what we are.

Add up a man's memories and you know him.

They are the silent record of his defeats and glories, his schemes, his dreams. They define him.

You have a fine roster of memories yourself if you can look back and remember when: Sideburns and flaring pants were as popular with the youths of the late 1920s as they are with the youths of today.

Every hard-working man took a nap Sunday afternoon. The children playing quietly downstairs could hear him snoring in an upstairs bedroom as his body repaired the ravages of the week.

One of the fears grandma had for grandpa was that if he didn't stop twirling a toothpick around in his mouth after eating that he'd swallow it accidentally and die of peritonitis.

For perhaps a majority of Americans, hell was as real and terrible as death.

Any kid who didn't have to trudge at least a mile to school led a pampered life.

Every home had three forums where family problems were publicly threshed out—the kitchen, the dining room table, and the front porch swing.

The approved cure for childish tantrums was a dash of cold water in the face.

Every child had a personal diary he expected would make him immortal. It usually trailed off after he had made a few comments on the weather and hinted at dark and awful secrets in his life he didn't dare trust himself to put down.

A pretty girl was often described as "a real hundering."

Flowers played a bigger role in the ordinary lives of people. If someone in the family was ill, the neighbors trooped in with armfuls of home-grown flowers as well as gifts of home-cooked food.

If you got something in your eye and couldn't get it out yourself, you went to the drug-gist instead of to a doctor or hospital clinic.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who won all the marbles from the other members of his school class and wouldn't give any of them back.

Everybody thought the neighborhood hired man was getting too big for his britches when he announced he would no longer cut the grass for less than 75 cents.

A woman teacher who went to the school picnic wearing slacks could figure she'd better start looking for another job in another town next year—unless she was the niece of the president of the school board.

It was all right to lock your front door if you left your home, but the neighbors thought you unfriendly if you didn't leave the back door unlocked—just in case someone wanted to drop in and borrow something.

Billy Graham

I am confused. The church says that "God created man in his own image," and the schools teach that man evolved from the lower forms of life. Is this an irreconcilable conflict, or is one right and the other wrong? M.J.A. The Bible is not in conflict with true science. Truth never contradicts itself. Charles Darwin posed his "Theory of Evolution" upon theories concocted by the early Greeks, Aristotle and Theophrastus in the 4th Century B.C. Although John Ray and Charles Darwin made a big splash with their theories of "spontaneous generations of species," in the 19th century, Pasteur, with his carefully controlled experiments, put to an end belief in the "generation of the species of micro-organisms." (Encyclopedia Britannica, Evolution, page 917). There are in fact five theories of evolution: Orthogenesis, Inheritance of Acquired Characters, Mutation Theory, Statistical Transformations of Populations, and the Splitting of the Species. They are still in the theoretical stage, and while they are mere scientific speculations, they have been accepted by many material scientists in lieu of a more satisfying explanation of human life. However, there is no consensus of opinion among scientists. Louis Agassiz, the famed Swiss naturalist, said that each species of animal was itself "a thought of God." Many qualified scientists accept the Biblical view of creation. Thoughtful Christians accept the Biblical record of creation, and see no conflict between it and the facts of science. It all adds up to this: it takes faith to believe in either. One must make up one's mind just where he shall rest his faith.

Can't Break It

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I sure do agree with "Sick of Christmas." And your advice on how to break the endless cycle of giving gifts to relatives and friends you never see was the only sensible solution.

We tried to do it in our family three years ago. We all said, "Okay, no more Christmas presents!" Then at Christmas here comes my husband's sister with gifts for everybody! Then we all had to rush out and buy her and her family something. I could have kicked her in the teeth!

Right now I have four waffle irons, five electric blankets, and three steam irons that have never been out of their original boxes. I won't even tell you how many bottles of perfume and toilet water I have stuck away on my shelf. What's wrong with people, Abby? Why can't they be more sensible?

ALSO SICK OF CHRISTMAS

DEAR ALSO: They? You should give to the needy — not the greedy. Why don't you give some of those duplicate gifts to some poor soul who could use them?

DEAR ABBY: We work in a large, busy office where 14 girls are employed. During the year, many salesmen call on our boss. When the boss is tied up, we girls will make small talk with these salesmen to make their waiting more pleasant.

Around Christmastime many salesmen send us presents, we assume, to show their appreciation for making them feel a home in our office. Last year there were 14 boxes of chocolates, and as many bottles of good perfume, but these gifts were sent to "the company" and not addressed to us girls individually, so the boss took everything home to his wife!

Our question: What do we say to these salesmen who come in and ask us how we liked their presents?

THE OFFICE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: Ask, "What presents?"

DEAR ABBY: I think you owe us beauty operators an apology! One grabby hairdresser wrote to say she would much rather get a few dollars from each of her patrons for Christmas than some of those costly, but useless doo-dads she receives. And you agreed it would be nicer.

Well, we are six hairdressers who are insulted. We welcome any gift from a patron. After all, it's the thought that counts at Christmas. ANGRY WITH ABBY

DEAR ANGRY: Sorry. Please read on:

DEAR ABBY: I heartily agree with that hairdresser who said she'd prefer a gift of cash to Christmas.

I am a secretary-bookkeeper or two gentlemen who have a thriving business. Each year one of their wives selects a Christmas gift for me, and I have yet to receive one that I can use.

One year it was a tablecloth, purchased on one of their trips to Europe. It was expensive. I am sure, but I neither needed nor wanted it. Nor did it fit my table. Of course, I couldn't return it.

Another year I received a piece of modern sculpture, also purchased abroad. I didn't care for it, but couldn't return that either.

A gift of cash, even a more modest amount than the price of either gift, would have been so much more appreciated.

PREFERS CASH IN N.Y.C.

DEAR ANGRY AND ANGRY: My mail ran two to one in favor of cash!

MOVING? SOMEONE NEEDS IT!!! CALL 253-7331

Your Good Health.
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

perhaps you can wear your contacts occasionally, on special occasions such as parties, without distress. There again you'd have to try it on an experimental basis.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain what colitis is. What to do — medicine or diet? — J.F.

Strictly speaking, colitis is inflammation of the colon or large bowel, although the term is also applied, loosely, to other forms of nervous or irritable colon in which infection is not involved.

In general, both medication and diet are necessary, and sometimes other forms of treatment including even surgery in some cases.

It's a complicated situation, with a lot of variations possible, and I suggest that you send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for my booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." It takes more than a single article to tell enough about colitis to be truly useful to you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read in your column about a woman who had a nipple of one breast inverting. I had the same thing for some time, and on your advice went to my doctor.

He immediately sent me to a surgeon and, to make a long story short, three weeks ago I had the breast removed. I would never have gone to the doctor about the nipple puckering as it was, because I never dreamed it meant anything.

If only one person in a thousand that read your column is prodded into checking something (and thereby saving her life) you must feel very gratified. If not for you I would still be walking around with a cancer, instead of having it removed in time. "Thank you" is all I can think to say. — Mrs. D.B.

Note to M.H.: There is no medication that will "unharden" hardened arteries, although medications do help control a high cholesterol count — not that medication alone can do the whole job.

Pat Weaver Forges Jayhawks To Southwestern Playoff-Round

Weaver Ties For 3rd Place

FORT WORTH — The Howard County Jayhawk golf team tied the South Plains Texans in the Southwestern Parks and Recreation golf tournament here Saturday that attracted 16 junior college teams.

The Jayhawks and the Texans led the junior college pack of 16 teams both with a 604 total. South Plains nipped Howard County in a sudden-death playoff round by two strokes to win the trophy.

Pat Weaver tied for the third medalist slot in the tournament. He paced the Jayhawks with a 74-72 for a total of 146.

Five men played for each team with a low-four total for each day. Howard County made 304 on Friday and finished with a 300 on Saturday. Other Jayhawks scoring were: Charles Harrell with a 78-74 total of 152; Steve Cranford with a 76-77 total of 153; Tim Hamilton with a 76-82 total of 158; and Tinker Nolan with a 82-77 for a 150 total.

The Jayhawks are leaving at 1 p.m. for the Border Olympics in Laredo. Approximately 12 universities, eight colleges and six junior colleges have been invited to the tournament.

Coach Tommy Rutledge said that he would be taking all the players who played in the Fort Worth tournament and Jarrell Carroll. The tournament starts Thursday.

Mustangs Meet Meadow Team

The Sands Mustangs tangle with Meadow in the bi-district tournament in Levelland at 9 p.m. tonight.

The Mustangs, with several practice games under their belts, take a 29-2 over-all record into the game tonight. Sands defeated Old Glory in two practice games, 60-59 and 83-51.

The Mustangs, representing District 8-B, finished the season with a 13-1 district record.

Plains Defeats Rannels' Teams

Rannels dropped girls' volleyball games to Plains yesterday in both seventh and eighth grade action.

Plains nipped Rannels' seventh-grade team, 13-15, 11-15, 11-15.

Sylvia Olivas, Donna Sundy and Karen Thomas led the Rannels' team with outstanding serving and spiking.

Plains overpowered the eighth-grade team, 15-6, 15-9. Denise Burchell, Pam Newsome and Denise Way paced Rannels with their serving and spiking.

Rannels meets Snyder Lamar at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Plains Tacks Second Place

ODESSA — Behind by seven points at half time, the South Plains Texans came roaring back to defeat Odessa College, 101-94, here Monday night and nail down second place in Western Conference basketball standings.

South Plains, who opens play in the Region V Tournament Wednesday in Lubbock against Ranger College, finished league play with an 11-3 record and is 23-9 over-all.

Tommy Jordan scored 30 points for South Plains, 24 of them in the second half. Odessa wound up with a 7-7 league record and is 10-15 in the year.

New Mexico JC Squashes NMMI

HOBBS, N.M. — New Mexico JC blustered NMMI, 119-96, here Monday night in the final Western Conference game for both teams.

The T-Birds finished 7-7 in conference play and have an over-all record of 17-11. The NMJC team plays top-rated Hill Junior College in the first round of the Region V Tournament at Lubbock at 9 p.m. Wednesday.

NMMI lost 14 straight games in league competition and had a season's record of 3-19.

Roberts Named Coahoma Man

COAHOMA — Norman Roberts, new athletic director and head football coach at Coahoma High School, was awarded a two-year contract here last night.

Roberts replaces Bernie Hagens who resigned to assume the duties of head coach at Pharr-San Juan Alamo High School in the southeastern part of the state.

Birdsong Named Abernathy Coach

ABERNATHY — Charles Birdsong, formerly of Dallas Wylie, has been named the head coach at Abernathy High School.

Birdsong, 25, replaces Luke Nickerson, who resigned last month. Under Birdsong last year, Wylie made it into the Class A playoffs and wound up with a 10-1-1 record.

Birdsong had previously coached at Troy and Waco Reicher. He attended high school at Lewisville and college at Baylor.

Owens Believes Pitchers Will Be Toughest Around

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The Houston Astros pitching staff is potentially the best in the league, Astros pitching coach Jim Owens believes.

"This has a chance to be the best pitching staff I've ever been associated with," Owens said. "It had better be, or I'm in trouble."

Owens believes Houston's top three pitchers, Don Wilson, Larry Dierker and Dave Roberts are potential 20-game winners.

"I don't think there is any other staff in the league that throws as hard over-all as ours," Owens said. "They may have some harder throwers, but not over-all."

Astros troubleshooter Grady Hatton said, "I'll tell you what I think could be the key to this season. If we start off and have a couple of guys hitting good so that we score some runs, I think that will be the big thing. With a few runs, these pitchers can win."

"Last year the whole team was in a slump at the start and that puts the pressure on the pitchers. It eventually will tell, and can break down your pitching staff."

Lana Williams Leads Goliad

Lana Williams, winning 21 of her serves, led the Goliad girls' volleyball team yesterday as they dropped a squeaker to Lamesa here, 17-15; 4-15, 15-13.

Williams overpowered the Lamesa defenders with her hard, well-placed serves. She led Goliad to an easy win in the second game, but Lamesa slipped by Goliad in the tie-breaking game. Jeannie Bledsoe made eight points for Goliad with her serving.

Goliad's B team lost to Lamesa, 15-8, 15-10. Roanne Riley made six points and Cathy Williams made five points to lead Goliad.

Goliad will tackle Plains at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the Snyder girls' volleyball tournament at Snyder.

Girls To Abilene

The Big Spring Steerettes go to Abilene today for a District 5-AAAA volleyball match with Abilene Cooper. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Conover Is King Of Hill In Houston High School

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice head football coach Al Conover says there are other good football prospects at Brooklyn's Jefferson High like Bernardo Paez, but he's not worried about other coaches raiding his recruiting territory.

"The only way to get in there is to know somebody," Conover said of his experiences in recruiting the highly talented 180-pound quarterback, who turned down 200 scholarship offers to choose the Owls.

"It's some experience seeing those kids and how they live," Conover said. "They either have to pay protection or just fight their way to and back from school."

Conover said Paez' head coach had to rely on teachers at the school for his assistants.

"The linebacking coach is the head custodian," he said. "The trainer is the bus driver." Conover pointed out that NFL rookie of the year John Brockington is an alumnus of Thomas Jefferson. "About a year ago a fire destroyed all of the football uniforms," he said.

"Brockington bought them all new uniforms. One day when I went over there, they were doing drills on cement. No kidding. They had shoveled the snow off the cement and were doing agility drills and forward rolls, and everything."

As the years began creeping up on Ivan, Alma started taking care of the old wrestler. "He didn't talk much about his wrestling but we'd visit each other. After awhile, he couldn't get around very well and I'd go to his house and take care of him."

Three months ago, Ivan, destitute and ailing, entered a nursing home. The only name on his papers was Alma's. "They'd contact me when he was moved from one ward to another. My name followed him. I signed the papers when he was admitted."

Alma made it a point to visit Vakturoff at least once every week. "He was a lonely old guy. He just wanted someone to talk to."

Last week, the old wrestler's condition deteriorated and Alma was notified. "I got to the hospital at 9 a.m. Friday and stayed until about 2. He was in an oxygen tent. When I got home, they called and said he had passed on."

Social Security and welfare benefits will take care of Vakturoff's funeral. The only mourner will be Alma.

"I'll be there," said Alma. "I was his friend."

Blacks Check Out At St. Mary's

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Only six players came out for basketball practice at St. Mary's college Monday as Coach Bruce Hale prepared for the team's two last games of the season.

The abbreviated squad resulted after four black players quit at halftime in a game against Santa Clara at San Jose Saturday night in protest against alleged racism at St. Mary's. All four were suspended Monday.

Two black players who did finish out the game failed to show up for the practice session, along with Ray Montoya, a Mexican-American.

The six who were on hand are white, and two of them are recruits from the intramural program.

Louisville Moves Into Second Slot

By The Associated Press

And then there was one. Marquette's stunning 70-49 defeat at the hands of Detroit Saturday left the UCLA Bruins as the only unbeaten major college basketball team—and the unanimous choice for the top spot in The Associated Press' nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters released today.

UCLA, 23-0 after defeating Pacific-8 rivals Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State last week, garnered all 41 first place votes to lead this week's poll with 820 points.

Marquette, which won its first 22 games of the season, had received one first place vote a week ago. But after bowing to Detroit in their second game since star center Jim Chones signed a contract with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association, the Warriors dropped from the second spot in the poll to No. 5.

Louisville, 20-2, edged North Carolina, 20-3, for the runner-up spot, but both were well behind UCLA. The Cardinals, who whipped Cincinnati 93-73 in their only outing last week, received 637 votes while the Tar Heels, victors over Georgia Tech and Virginia last week, had 620.

Retaining the fourth spot in this week's rating was Pennsylvania with 573 points. The Quakers upped their record to 20-2 by beating Ivy League rivals Cornell and Columbia over the weekend. Marquette, 22-1 over-all but 1-1 since losing Chones, was No. 5 with 412 points.

The next two spots were unchanged. No. 6 going to Long Beach State, 23-3, with 409 points, and No. 7 to Brigham Young, 20-3, with 354. South Carolina and Marshall exchanged the next two places, the 19-4 Gamecocks moving up to eighth with 321 points and Marshall 22-4, dipping to ninth with 271.

Florida State, 11th last week, climbed into the Top Ten with 235 points, beating out Southwestern Louisiana for the No. 10 spot.

Southwestern Louisiana, 22-3, headed the second 10 with 149 points. Virginia moved from 13th to 12th, Houston from 18th to 13th, Ohio State from 15th to 14th and Hawaii from 17th to 15th.

Michigan, a newcomer to the Top Twenty, grabbed the No. 16 spot, followed by Oral Roberts, Maryland, Missouri and Memphis State.

The Top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses, won't last records through games of Saturday, Feb. 29, and total points on the basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.

1. UCLA, 41
2. Louisville, 230
3. North Carolina, 203
4. Pennsylvania, 202
5. Marquette, 201
6. Long Beach St., 200
7. Brigham Young, 194
8. South Carolina, 194
9. Marshall, 194
10. Florida St., 223
11. SW Louisiana, 223
12. Virginia, 204
13. Houston, 195
14. Ohio St., 165
15. Howli, 164
16. Michigan, 157
17. Oral Roberts, 157
18. Maryland, 154
19. Missouri, 154
20. Memphis St., 153

Others receiving votes, in alphabetical order: Detroit, Duquesne, Kansas, Kansas St., Kentucky, Minnesota, Northern Illinois, Ohio U., Princeton, Providence, St. Louis, Syracuse, Tennessee, Texas-El Paso, Villanova, Washington.

Bates Will Aide Ranger College

RANGER — Donald Bates, formerly an assistant coach at Sam Houston State University, has been named a football aide at Ranger College. He formerly coached at Beaumont Lumberton High School and Brownsville High School.

Bates, who will help head mentor Carlos Mainord, is a graduate of Tenaha High School and Sam Houston State.

Homesickness Is No Worry

Buzzie Bavasi, general manager of the Padres, isn't about to jump off the roof of San Diego Stadium over Mike Ivie's attack of homesickness.

"I lived through Sandy Koufax' retirement when I was general manager of the Dodgers, so I can live through this," Bavasi said Monday after the Padres' 19-year-old catching prodigy flew home to Decatur, Ga., from the team's Yuma, Ariz., training camp after becoming depressed and homesick.

"I should be concerned about this I guess, but I'm not," said Bavasi, even though Ivie was conceded a shot at remaining with the National League West cellar-dwellers after batting .305 last season in the California League and .471 in a six-game stint with the Padres.

It was a bad day all around for the Padres, who lived up to their last-place status by losing baseball players as fast as other teams were gaining them. While Juan Marichal signed with San Francisco, Billy Williams with the Chicago Cubs, Norm Cash with Detroit, Al Downing and Don Sutton with Los Angeles, Andy Messersmith with California and Deron Johnson with Philadelphia, the Padres were notified that infielder Tommy Dean, 26, was retiring and workhorse relief pitcher Al Severinsen, 27, might follow suit unless traded to an eastern team.

Marichal, an 18-game winner in 1971, agreed to a two-year contract with the Giants for an estimated $140,000 a year. Second baseman Tito Fuentes also agreed to terms and both players were expected in camp today.

Williams, the Cubs' slugging outfielder, signed for an estimated $115,000 after a 1½-hour session with John Holland, club vice president, during which the player said both sides "gave a little." Williams was the last Cub to sign.

Jim McDaniels Given Order

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Jim McDaniels, the rookie center who jumped from Carolina of the American Basketball Association to Seattle of the National Basketball Association, has been directed to appear in Guilford County Superior Court to answer contempt of court charges.

Judge James G. Exum Jr. ordered McDaniels on Monday to appear in court Thursday. Exum had previously issued a 10-day restraining order forbidding McDaniels to play for anyone but the Cougars on February 18. Then, on February 22, he issued another order that McDaniels, who played his first game for Seattle on February 20, show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for playing.

Hearings on both the restraining order and the contempt citation were scheduled for Monday. McDaniels did not appear.

Meanwhile, a Superior Court judge in Seattle Monday extended a temporary restraining order preventing the Cougars from interfering with McDaniels and the Sonics.

Judge William J. Wilkins' ruling allowed McDaniels to play for the Sonics, a club spokesman said, and the seven-foot center left immediately to join the team for a Tuesday night game in Baltimore.

The Seattle judge's ruling allows McDaniels to play for the Sonics pending court determination of the validity of his contract with the Cougars.

Blacks Check Out At St. Mary's

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Only six players came out for basketball practice at St. Mary's college Monday as Coach Bruce Hale prepared for the team's two last games of the season.

The abbreviated squad resulted after four black players quit at halftime in a game against Santa Clara at San Jose Saturday night in protest against alleged racism at St. Mary's. All four were suspended Monday.

Two black players who did finish out the game failed to show up for the practice session, along with Ray Montoya, a Mexican-American.

The six who were on hand are white, and two of them are recruits from the intramural program.

Program On Cancer Set In Midland March 16

The Midland County Medical Society president Dr. Martha Madsen, announced that a program on cancer of the genitourinary tract will be presented at the March 16 meeting at the Ranchland Hills Country Club, East Wadley Avenue, Midland at 6:30 p.m.

Lead and moderated by Dr. Donald F. McDonald, professor of surgery, chief, division of urology, University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, the panel will include Dr. Marvin H. Olson, Dr. F. Lamont Jennings and Dr. Michael M. Warren, also from the Galveston school.

This is the eighth year that the American Cancer Society has sponsored teams to visit meetings of county medical societies. Subjects discussed by earlier panel members were oral cancer, colon-rectum cancer, female genital tract cancer, breast cancer, skin cancer, lung cancer and leukemia and lymphomas. These have drawn a total attendance of over 6,000 physicians.

Dr. Jennings, professor and chairman, Department of pathology, will center his discussion at this meeting on "Incidence and Survival as Related to Wilm's Tumor and Renal Cell Carcinoma".

Richardson Fields Outstanding Car

Gary Richardson of Sand Springs, with a 1937 Ford coupe, fielded the best over-all car at the Big Spring Street Rod Car Club show staged in the National Guard Armory Saturday and Sunday.

The event benefited the local March of Dimes campaign. A total of $288 was raised over expenses.

Richardson received a set of mufflers from Perco Car Care Center and a chrome air cleaner from Floyd's Automotive.

Director of the two-day event was Autry Moore, who had the best in the Street Rod class. Moore's vehicle was a 1929 Ford Roadster.

The best custom vehicle was shown by Clifford Hart. He had a 1956 Ford pickup.

Best motorcycle was exhibited by Bud Bridges, a 1971 Triumph. First place winners earned trophies.

A total of 30 vehicles were exhibited and paying guests totaled about 300. The general public voted on the winners.

The March of Dimes air lift takes place at the Howard County Airport next Sunday.

WATCHED: (Q) When I go on a date one of my sisters has to double-date with me. My mom says if I go by myself I may come home pregnant.

I am 16 and I know how to take care of myself. Boys respect me. They know I am the nice type.

I think the reason my mom doesn't trust me is what happened to one of my cousins. She did get pregnant.

Mom told me to write to you and see what you would say. — Double-Dater in New Mexico.

(A) A girl is either trustworthy and in control or she is not. If she is not, she can get pregnant even if her sister is along.

You sound honest and sincere to me, and I believe you are old enough to go on dates without your sister.

FASHION: (Q) What is your opinion on today's fashions for girls? — Junior Girl in Pennsylvania.

(A) There is such a pleasing variety of styles right now that any girl can look great if she is careful to stay neat and clean and avoid extremes.

Because they are likely to be
