

PUNISHMENT ASSESSED BY ABILENE JUDGE

Mutscher Given Probated Sentence

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Court Judge J. Neil Daniel sentenced House Speaker Gus Mutscher and his two aides to five years probated sentences in the state penitentiary.

The defense had asked that the judge assess punishment for Mutscher, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Mutscher administrative aide Rush McGinty.

Chief Prosecutor Bob Smith said he would have no objection in view of the fact that a "co-conspirator" in the case, Houston promoter Frank Sharp, had been given a probated sentence in Houston on two minor banking violation charges.

"Certainly his (Sharp's) character is no better than the character of these defendants," Smith said.

"The interest of justice will be served if these defendants are given probated sentences," Sharp was given a probated sentence and a $5,000 fine in exchange for immunity from prosecution in the stock fraud scandal and for his testimony for the prosecution.

Mutscher was asked if he would resign his office as speaker.

"I have a high regard for the office. I'll have an announcement to make in the next few days," Mutscher said.

Approximately 50 character witnesses for the defense were in the courtroom, including about 30 state legislators.

Their testimony was not required in view of the state's failure to object to the defense request for probation.

Lawyers for all three defendants said they will still appeal the verdict.

Judge Daniel asked the defendants to stand, and said: "The court assesses your punishment at five years in the state penitentiary." He then probated the sentences.

"I think you deserve the same consideration as any other defendant," the judge said.

Defense lawyer Richard Haynes told the judge before sentence was passed that probation should be granted because "the purpose of confinement is to punish the accused and to prevent someone who might be a danger to society" from remaining free.

Haynes indicated the defendants already had been punished by the guilty verdict.

Defense lawyer A. L. "Dusty" Rhodes, representing McGinty, described his client as "a young man from Abilene who has lived a very clean and illustrious life."

The charge on which the defendants were convicted is a felony, which automatically removes them from public office but only after their appeals have been exhausted.

A person placed on probation normally is required to report periodically to a probation officer and is restricted in his travel to his home county or state, unless he receives permission from his probation officer or the judge at his trial.

The convictions come right in the middle of the political season and are expected to have considerable impact on several statewide and legislative races, particularly those in which non-office holders hold themselves out as so-called reform candidates.

Mutscher's head swayed slightly as the guilty verdict was read. A few minutes later, he said one word: "Unbelievable," and sat down on a front row bench in the courtroom and cried.

His wife, Donna, Miss America of 1964, stood beside him, her hand on his shoulder and then she too sat down and sobbed.

Mutscher's father, Gus F. Mutscher Sr. and Mrs. Shannon also cried on the same bench.

Shannon put his arm around his wife to comfort her. He remained dry-eyed.

McGinty quickly left the courthouse after the verdict and told newsmen outside in a loud voice: "I am not guilty."

'God Knows I Am Innocent'

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Speaker Gus Mutscher, flanked by his wife and his attorneys, declared Thursday he is innocent of bribery conspiracy and "in time will be completely vindicated."

Mutscher emerged from the courtroom after he and two aides were assessed probated five-year sentences.

"God knows I am innocent," he read from a prepared statement. "I have lived my life dedicated to the proposition that ours is a government of law and not of men.

"I am disappointed and distressed at the verdict of the jury, but I have not lost faith in our system."

The speaker said he understands how the jury was persuaded that the verdict was right, adding: "They, like many good citizens of our state, have been subjected to an incessant deluge of publicity, for the most part adverse and critical."

He continued, "I want to publicly thank the thousands of people of every walk of life from every part of Texas who have called and written offering their help and sympathy and their understanding. God bless all of them."

Mutscher, with his wife, Donna Axum, a former Miss America, strode from the courtroom saying, "I am innocent and in time will be completely vindicated."

Rush McGinty, a Mutscher aide convicted with the speaker, then appeared and said, "I am still unaware of what I was charged with or what I did that was against the law."

McGinty said he thought the main reason he, Mutscher, and state Rep. Tommy Shannon were brought to trial was "because Frank Sharp received immunity."

Summit Talks Date Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will leave May 22 for Moscow to hold summit talks with Soviet leaders, the White House announced today.

Nixon, the White House said, will discuss with the Soviets "all major issues with a view toward further improving bilateral relations and enhancing the prospects for world peace."

The White House statement was issued simultaneously here and in Moscow.

Nixon said last Oct. 12 he would go to Moscow after his historic trip last month to mainland China.

The White House gave no indication as to the length of Nixon's stay in the Russian capital. However, it is expected the duration will be about the same as it was in China — one week.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the exact number of days for the visit was still being discussed. But he said, "I think you could assume that the visit will last about a week."

DEBT CEILING INCREASE INKED

Bid To Check POW Camps

PARIS (AP) — The United States asked the Vietnamese Communists today to agree to impartial inspection of prisoner of war camps in return for a mutual understanding that there would be no further efforts made to free prisoners.

The proposal was made by U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter at the Vietnam peace conference, the first in three weeks.

The Communists gave no immediate response to Porter's proposal.

North Vietnam has banned inspection of prisoner camps, saying it fears that even neutral inspectors would give information to the United States permitting more commando raids in an effort to free the prisoners.

Gasoline Prices Again Taking Tumble In Town

By BRIAN PEAY

Independent gasoline stations in Big Spring for the second time in several weeks have waged a gasoline price war, and with better results this time, as the big oil companies' stations are grudgingly following trend.

Prices have dropped to 21.9 cents per gallon of regular at some of the local independent stations, while larger companies are keeping their prices just above that figure.

Curtis Vaughn Premier station, which was a competitive contender in the previous war, dropped his prices Tuesday, as did most of the other stations.

Currently gasoline at his station is selling for 22.9 cents per gallon of regular and 26.9 cents per gallon of premium.

"It's about time Big Spring had a lasting war, even though none of us really benefit from it," said Vaughn. "But Big Spring is the only town in a 100-mile radius that for years has no had gasoline wars."

Tuesday Vaughn cut his prices to 26.9 and 25.9 cents per gallon of regular, and then Wednesday the bottom fell to 22.9 cents.

Other stations have even gone below that figure, as the Gibson gas station is presently down to 21.9 cents per gallon of regular and 23.9 cents per gallon of premium. The Gibson station is a self-service station.

The Robo SS Brand gasoline station of Gregg Street has entered the war, cutting prices to 26.9 cents per gallon of premium and 23.9 cents per gallon of regular. The Wasson Road Tyco-Fina station is also down on its prices.

"We have already sold quite a bit of gasoline. Only Wednesday night we sold over 900 gallons," said Vaughn. Other independent stations are doing as well, it has been reported.

However, some of the larger stations are getting their share of the business, also because of their cut in prices.

H. C. Fitch Shell station on Gregg Street has slashed prices on regular 22.9 cents per gallon, although his premium is the same as usual. "There isn't any need for this gas war, but we are sure pumping the gas," said Fitch today.

Prices at his station dropped Tuesday, when the distributor saw that the Fina prices had dropped to 26.9 cents per gallon of regular.

All of the Gage Fina stations in town have dropped prices to 22.9 cents per gallon of regular and 30.9 cents per gallon of premium.

Tommy Gage, Gage Fina consignee, declined to comment on the war today, other than to say, "We don't anticipate our prices to drop any further."

Charles Harwell, Texaco consignee, would not comment on the war either. At this time the Texaco station prices are the same as usual.

Conoco is another major company dropping prices currently. Some of the smaller Conoco stations have gone down to 26.9 cents per gallon of regular.

"It looks like the war might last a while this time, if Fina supports it," a Wasson Road Tyco-Fina attendant said this morning. Most of the independent station managers, questioned this morning, anticipated the war will last longer than the previous war waged several weeks ago.

TONIGHT

Nixon To Tackle Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Nixon will go on radio and television at 9 p.m. today (Big Spring time) to outline his recommendations on the school busing issue.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon will speak for about 10 minutes to outline recommendations which will be contained in a formal message to be sent to the Congress Friday.

The White House said earlier Nixon would not go on public television or make any speech on his recommendations. Ziegler said the President changed his mind after finalizing details of his recommendation at Camp David, Md.

Gal Reporter Bops Deputy With Mike

ABILENE (AP) — Tempers had short fuses Wednesday following the conviction of Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher and two of his associates on bribery conspiracy charges.

A Houston television reporter scuffled with a deputy sheriff and wound up bopping him on the head with her microphone.

There were some less than ladylike remarks, also, from the wife of one of the defense lawyers.

Jessica Savitch of KHOU-TV in Houston said she beamed the unidentified deputy with her microphone when he shoved a photographer companion, Ron Kutchall, and tried to jerk his camera from him.

"I let him have it (the microphone)," she said of the incident.

She said that earlier the wife of Mutscher aide Rush McGinty, one of the defendants in the case, kicked her in the shins.

"She didn't mean to kick me," Miss Savitch said.

Still earlier, immediately following the guilty verdict, the blonde wife of defense lawyer Joe Shannon, glared at newsmen and said: "I just want to stand right here and watch the

Taking Hard Look At Oil Allowable

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Steadily increasing demands for Texas oil forced the Railroad Commission to take a hard look today at the monthly allowable, which already is at its third highest level since 1948.

The commission gathered in this far West Texas City for the first time to listen to oil executives talk about the future of the industry and to set the April allowable.

The commission has hiked the allowable by 23 per cent in the past three months to 86 per cent, and indications were that it would have to be raised again to meet buyers request for more oil next month.

Commission Chairman Byron Tunnell told Texas independent oilmen Wednesday Americans should be willing to pay more for oil and gas to give the industry additional money to hunt new supplies to replace declining reserves.

Tunnell spoke to the executive committee of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, which claims as members more than 5,000 of Texas' 8,000 independent oilmen.

Tunnell said the nation's security and living standard "depend on our success" in meeting the "spiraling demand for petroleum products."

He said he did not foresee any other energy source, such as atomic energy, replacing petroleum in the near future.

People "should be willing to pay higher prices if that is the only way—and perhaps it is—for the oil industry to find and develop essential new reserves," he said.

Tunnell said according to studies by such groups as the U. S. Geological Survey and National Petroleum Council, "There is more oil and gas to be found, and it is ours to find" if there is enough economic incentive.

Panel To Do Something About Rural Sections

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith says he plans to do something about rural development by appointing a rural commission within a few weeks.

Smith told the closing session of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Wednesday he was trying to obtain federal incentives for industries which would locate in depressed rural areas.

"The time for talking about rural development is past," Smith said. "It is time to take a positive step toward rural development. That is what I have sought to do and what I will continue to do."

Smith said the commission would operate similar to the Urban Development Commission.

"I intend to give rural development, as well as the solutions to urban problems top priority in our state this year and the years ahead," Smith said.

Marathon rancher William C. Donnel was elected president of the association. Hilmar Moore of Richmond was named first vice president and J. A. Whittemburg III of Amarillo was named second vice president.

New directors are W. R. Watt Jr., Fort Worth; Doyle McAdams, Huntsville; Donald D. Duncan, Burnett and Ed Harrell, Claude.

Social Security Visits Are Set

The visit to Larresa will be at the county library conference room, Houston Street entrance, every Thursday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1-2 p.m.; and at Stanton at the county judge's office on Monday April 24, May 22, and June 26.

Little Rain In East Texas

By The Associated Press

A little, but not much. Some portions of the Texas Coast and East Texas received rainfall during the night and early today, as a cold front passed through on its way into Louisiana and the Gulf of Mexico.

The front's remnants lingered in the southern tip of Texas just before sun-up, with drizzle reported in McAllen.

The Houston airport received .72 inches of rain during a six-hour period ending before 4 a.m. this morning. Other amounts were .27 inches at Victoria and Lufkin.

The front sparked numerous thunderstorm warnings Wednesday in the eastern part of the state.

Temperatures around the state today were to be mild.

Other pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 37 at Amarillo in the Panhandle and 39 at Wink in far West Texas to the upper 40s in North Central Texas. Middle coastal regions reported pre-dawn readings in the 60s.

FARM PAYMENTS

$55,000 Lid 'Cruel Joke' On American Taxpayers?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul L. Findley, R-Ill., says he will ask Congress again for stiffer controls on government farm payments because, he says, the current $55,000 lid "is a cruel joke" on American taxpayers.

Findley, who has unsuccessfully pushed for a $20,000 limit in the past, said an Agriculture Department study of 1971 crop set-aside payments shows there was "no significant reduction" in program costs.

A report on the study was submitted by USDA to Congress on Wednesday. It showed the $55,000 per crop limitation to any single farmer last year reduced payments less than $2.2 million.

"The payment limit so far is no limit at all," Findley said. "It is a cruel joke on taxpayers."

Congress, when drafting the Agriculture Act of 1970, included a $55,000 limit on payments under cotton, wheat and feed grain programs. It went into effect for 1971 production.

But the law and regulations allow farmers to split up holdings under various types of partnership arrangements as long as producers can justify the changes.

Also, cotton farmers—recipients of the biggest individual payments—can sell or lease out acreage allotments.

The maneuvers result in many payments being spread out among many different individuals, thus abiding by the $55,000 payment lid, the records show.

In 1970 when there was no restriction, 1,350 farmers collected payments of more than $55,000 each for a total of $138.8 million. Of those about 1,200 were cotton producers who collected $125.1 million, mostly in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Mississippi and Texas, the report said.

Last year, with the limit in effect, 1,046 big-payment farmers "changed their farming interests" so that their subsidies fit into the legal mold. Only 466 of the super-sized farms were directly affected by the payment limitation, the report said.

The latest Agriculture Department inventory of cattle and calves in feedlots continues to run about 10 per cent above year-earlier figures.

On March 1, the department says, feedlots in six major producing states reported 7,971,000 head being fed for slaughter markets.

Iowa led with 2,080,000 head, up six per cent from a year earlier; Nebraska reported 1,518,000 up nine; Texas 1,844,000 up 17; Colorado 965,000 up seven; Arizona 548,000 up five; and California 1,016,000 up 16 per cent.

Kansas reported 1,050,000 head in feedlots as of March 1. However, there was no year-earlier figure.

Most Taxpayers Facing Chore Of Filing Report

About two thirds of the taxpayers living in the 143 county Internal Revenue Service District in North Texas still have their income tax filing chore ahead of them, according to Joe Gordon, administrative officer of the Big Spring IRS office.

Mr. Gordon reported that during the first two months of the current income tax filing period, 568,000 North Texas taxpayers had filed their income tax returns for the calendar year 1971. However, this is only one-third of the 1,729,000 tax returns due from this area.

Gordon also reported that approximately 100,000 North Texans had received some 30 million dollars in refunds with the refund checks averaging $295 each. The Big Spring tax man expressed confidence that a large part of the two-thirds of the taxpayers who have not filed will get down to the serious business of the annual settling up with Uncle Sam between now and April 17 — the deadline date. He pointed out that the sooner taxpayers file the better, especially for taxpayers who are due a refund from IRS. He passed on these tips from IRS on how to avoid errors:

- 1) The IRS Service Center reports that many older Americans are filing an income tax return when they are not required to, since their income is less than their exemptions and allowances. IRS advises these taxpayers not to waste their money hiring someone to prepare their return, nor to spend their personal time and effort preparing a return that costs IRS money to process, but is not needed. The local IRS office will be glad to discuss the requirements with older Americans who are in doubt about the filing requirements.
- 2) The Service Center has pointed out that some taxpayers are erroneously itemizing their deductions which are less than the "low income allowance" and therefore creating a problem when their return is processed. IRS emphasizes that whenever a taxpayer's income is less than $8,000 a year he or she is entitled to a "low income allowance" of $1,050; therefore if a taxpayer itemizes and the total deductions amount to less than $1,050, the taxpayer should compute his tax liability using the "low income allowance" which is included in the tax tables. Page 6 of the instructions mailed to the taxpayer with his return form, and page 6 of Chapter 1 in the IRS booklet "Your Federal Income Tax" explains in detail the provisions of the low income allowance.

3) IRS has received a large number of Forms W-2 this year from taxpayers with a note asking the Service Center to compute their tax for them. Internal Revenue cannot process a form 1040 nor compute the taxpayer's tax for him unless lines 1 through 18 and lines 22, 24, 25, 26 and 31 of Form 1040 have been completed by the taxpayer.

4) Internal Revenue is also receiving many requests for copies of tax returns from previous years from a tax practitioner without the request being signed by the taxpayer. Internal Revenue cannot fill these requests for copies of the taxpayer's tax return for last year unless the request is over the taxpayer's signature. IRS must compare the signature on the return with the one on the request, and on incomplete requests IRS must write for the needed signature, thereby delaying the mailing of the copies that the tax practitioner needs to compute this year's tax return.

IRS finds many commendable actions on the part of taxpayers each year. This year an elderly taxpayer from Kansas who is over 65 years old, retired, has a severe illness that requires continuous treatment, is a veteran, and whose income is below the national average — and who owed no tax, chose to make a donation to Internal Revenue Service in lieu of taxes he is not required to pay. With taxpayers like this it is easy to understand why IRS can collect 97 per cent of our taxes voluntarily.

Finally, the Austin Service Center has received this letter from an optimistic humorist who happens to be a GI on duty in Vietnam: "Have filed my return but received another Form W-2 that I had forgotten about. What do I do? If you are going to put me in jail PLEASE HURRY and get me. These V.C.'s are getting closer!"

REFORM PLANS FOLLOW VERDICT

'Unsavory Smell Of Corruption'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) Scandal rocked the old pink granite Capitol Wednesday and the echoes were felt everywhere along the political campaign trail.

"It's a sad day. It hurts," said a women state employee, near tears.

"A disgrace and humiliation to the people of Texas," said Rep. Price Daniel Jr., Liberty, of the Abilene convictions of Speaker Gus Mutscher and two top legislative aides for conspiracy to accept a bribe.

"That jury decision just the same as makes anyone seeking reelection who voted for the banking bills a part of the conspiracy," said one Capitol official, anonymously.

RANCID BLANKET

"The unsavory smell of corruption hangs like a rancid blanket over Texas," said Mrs. Frances Farenthold, Democratic candidate for governor and a political foe of Mutscher frequently in the 1971 legislature.

After the first feelings of shock gradually wore off, officials, legislators and would-be legislators began to think of the future and what could be done to prevent future scandals.

Old timers recall that similar reform plans were made after the veterans land and the insurance company scandals of the mid-1950s and the legislative bribery conviction of 1959.

Despite these spectacular trials and probes Texas still does not have a strict code of ethics or financial disclosure law that makes state officials, employees and legislators tell where and how they get their money.

SHOULDERS TO WHEEL

Gov. Preston Smith led the reaction comment Wednesday with a simple statement that "all of us in state government must now put our shoulders to the wheel and push harder to find solutions to the pressing problems facing our state in the coming special session and the months ahead." Smith has said he would make a strong code of ethics bill a subject for the next special legislative session.

Mrs. Farenthold called on Smith to call an immediate special session so the House could reorganize itself, so the Texas senate could make a full study of the senate's handling of the banking bills and so legislators could consider "a strong credible code of ethics including full financial disclosure."

Rep. Menton Murray, Harlingen, chairman of the House General Investigating Committee, said his group would report to the special session, when it is called, on the probe of the Sharpstown scandal.

TEMPTATION GREAT

Rep. Tom Moore, Waco, said the Abilene convictions would have "a salutary effect on the next legislature. . . . It will give impetus to those who are now running on the basis of changing the House rules. When you give that much power to one man (as speaker) you are just asking for corruption, the temptation is so great."

"Now that it is a matter of record that a violation of law and a disregard for ethics were involved in the Sharpstown scandals, we must hold the entire leadership responsible for failing to maintain the proper checks and balances essential to a democracy," said Dolph Briscoe, Democratic candidate for governor.

Rep. DeWitt Hale, Corpus Christi, a friend of the speaker, said Mutscher's conviction "adds a new sense of urgency" to efforts to name a speaker for the special session who will not be a candidate for speaker at the 1973 regular session. Hale has been mentioned as a possible interim speaker.

Leading contenders for the 1973 speakership are Reps. Daniel and Rayford Price of Palestine.

GOOD OR BAD

State Republican Chairman George Willeford of Austin said the convictions "are really an indictment and conviction of the one-party system. One party states end up in corruption, no matter how good or bad the people involved are."

Bill Hobby of Houston, candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, said the damage to the political image of the state is already done.

Hobby said what is needed is for the governor to call a special session of the legislature and "get down to the business which needs attending to."

"There are several bills which need to be passed this year with the ethics bill one of the foremost."

SNELSON 'SAD'

State Sen. W. E. "Pete" Snelson of Midland said, "The reprobations will be many and of long duration. The ultimate effects will be felt by many."

"From a personal standpoint, I am saddened by the dark hour which has come to three of my colleagues. I feel great sympathy for them and their families."

State Rep. Tom Craddock of Midland, a member of the "dirty thirty" remarked, "I just think that we should have had an investigation before we did and that Fe (Mutscher) should have stepped down at that time before he had his day in court."

State Rep. Tom Craddock of Midland, a member of the "dirty thirty" remarked, "I just think that we should have had an investigation before we did and that Fe (Mutscher) should have stepped down at that time before he had his day in court."

AFTER THE VERDICT — Rep. Tommy Shannon and wife leave the courthouse in Abilene Wednesday after a jury found him and two others guilty of conspiring to take a bribe.

Suspended Term For Bernadette

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A Belfast court has ordered a six-month suspended sentence for civil rights leader Bernadette Devlin and 22 others accused of defying a ban on parades.

Miss Devlin, a 24-year-old member of Parliament, and her codefendants were also fined $39 for parading in Newry Feb. 6 to protest the slaying of 13 Londonderry civilians by British army troops on Jan. 30.

Did It Hurt Hirt To Shed Pounds?

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Trumpeter Al Hirt says he's lost 26 pounds after undergoing abdominal surgery at the Medical College of Virginia in a last-ditch effort to reduce.

"I had reached the point where this operation was preventive medicine for me," said Hirt, who weighed 333 pounds when he entered the hospital Feb. 21.

Geology Class Offered Here

Mrs. Marshall Keathley of Midland has just completed teaching a short course in geology, offered one night each week for eight weeks, at Big Spring High School. A field trip to the Big Bend area was taken at the completion of classroom instructions.

The primary purpose of this course is to assist teachers in presenting the subject of geology to eighth grade earth science classes, however, all elementary, junior and senior high school teachers, as well as other interested persons are eligible to attend.

The course was presented under the sponsorship of the school committee of the West Texas Area of the Oil Information Committee of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association. J. C. (Cliff) Chapman, American Petroleum Company of Texas, and Ardis McCasland, Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, both of Big Spring, are Oil Information Committee Representatives.

Enrolled in the classes were: Rodney Allison, Mary Breckenridge, Charles Burnsed, Gary Carlson, Joyce Ellis, W. R. Hakes, David Knezek, Pat Lawrence, Erma Steward and J. D. Smith of Big Spring High School; Lucy Bonner, Pat Seay and Shirley Ann Thomas of Goliad Junior High; Ron Sweett and Phil Wickline of Rannels Junior High; George White of Forsan High School; Phil Wynn of Coahoma High School and Gene Harrington, Elizabeth Johansen, Johnnie Johansen and Frenchie Steward, interested citizens.

Mrs. Keathley received a BA degree from Southern Methodist University, where her father, Dr. I. K. Stephens, was chairman of the philosophy department until his death in 1956.

She was awarded a teaching fellowship by the University of Missouri where she received an MA degree in geology in 1943.

Upon graduation she was employed as a geologist by Standard Oil Company of Texas and assigned to its Midland office. Subsequently she worked for Sun Oil Company and the former Republic Natural Gas Company, both in their Dallas offices.

After moving back to Midland in 1963 she was employed as a geologist for Lone Star Producing until 1969 when she retired from company work.

'THE ATTITUDE IS ABSURD' Secrets Of '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — A disbelieving congressional prober wants to know why the commission planning America's 200th birthday party has been granted power to stamp its documents "top secret."

Chairman William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., of the House government information subcommittee, asked Jack LeVant, executive director of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission:

"Did the military-industrial complex in charge of the American Revolution incur huge cost-overruns as they have in all succeeding wars including the current 'cold war'?"

"Did your historians uncover embarrassing errors during the American Revolution which you want to hide behind a secrecy stamp while we are commemorating the 200th anniversary?"

never been and is not the intention of this commission to make anything secret."

Buser said that at no time had the commission requested the need for a secrecy stamp.

Moorhead said his subcommittee asked all government agencies to identify those empowered to use stamps to protect national-defense information. Hugh A. Hall, acting executive director of the commission, said LeVant has the authority.

Seeks Exports

NEW YORK (AP) — The Mexican government is launching a vigorous campaign to export more fish to the United States, hoping to double the country's fish output within five years.

"The attitude is absurd, but the attitude also is dangerous," LeVant was out of the country and not available for comment.

MARRIED A FINE MAN — Mrs. Hiroko Sato, wife of Japan's prime minister, says her husband, the man she once called a wife-beater, now is "a fine man." Mrs. Sato, 64, says "he sleeps well, even snores, and has an innocent face when he is asleep."

WHO ARE THESE PEOPLE? What Do Lobbyists Do?

By G. C. THELEN Jr., Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Countless strings entwine Washington lobbyists with the federal government, but none more compellingly than campaign money, which the lobbyist often has and elected officials generally need.

1970 re-election of Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the House Republican leader. In this case, said Lovre, a former South Dakota congressman, it was personal, "we came down to Congress together. He's a friend."

plus expenses?" Bolling asked. "What is its real meaning?"

and it is not, of course, for anything that is other than good for the public."

MAJOR FORCE

The lobbyist is a major force in the U.S. government. As an ambassador to Washington from an interest group or business, he also is an accepted fixture along the corridors of power, and generally an honorable one.

ALLEGED PLEDGE

The question now being raised in Senate Judiciary Committee hearings is whether there was a connection between the alleged pledge and a subsequent Justice Department decision to abandon prosecution of three antitrust cases against ITT.

MISUNDERSTOOD

"Lobbying is a much misunderstood process, sometimes abused and often carrying bad connotations," said Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., former chairman of a House Select Committee on Ethics.

'DON'T BEG'

It is the lobbyist's job to know what's afoot, to make things happen, or to stop them from happening.

Caster Industry Is Given Boost

PLAINVIEW — The castor industry, which has risen and fallen with the tides of South Plains agriculture, has been given another boost, the new government farm program.

Castor can be planted on set aside acreage by paying a penalty that ranges from $8 to $9.10 per acre, said Billy C. Gunter, district agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

But the returns can more than offset the penalty, he said. The oil mill at Plainview is currently contracting castor from area producers. A one-year contract will guarantee $5 per hundredweight, and a three-year contract will pay $5.50. When this guarantee is coupled with the results of recent research by Texas A&M University scientists, the net income from set-aside land can be increased $40-50 per acre with castors. Under irrigation, yields go up to 3,000 pounds per acre.

Area Students Are On Dean's List

Several area students are included in those who made the dean's list for the Texas Tech College of Engineering for the fall semester.

To qualify students had to make at least a 3.0 average on a 4.0 scale.

Those from Big Spring were Carlton Harris, 2304 Allendale, electrical; Terry Price, 604 George, mechanical; John Gary, 2516 E. 24th, architectural design; Charles Campbell, 2604 Clanton, engineering technology.

Others included Charles D. Stufflefield, Colorado City, agricultural engineering; Joe Peterson, 602 N. 18th, electrical; also Gordon Lee Stuard, 2301 Seminole Road, industrial, and Dennis Jordan, electrical, of La Mesa; Diana Baumann, Loraine, electrical; Ricky E. Glasscock, Route 2, Snyder, architectural; Karl Herzog, Stanton, chemical; Randal Ralph Drennan, Box 7, Welch, agricultural engineer.

Irish and Irresistible!

Let the lilt of Irish laughter ring 'round your table this St. Patrick's Day. Conviviality comes naturally when the table is "wearing the green" and the aroma of spicy corned beef stimulates appetite and spirit. The beef brisket, simmered leisurely to juicy tenderness, sports a baked-on glaze and shamrock garnish.

A bevy of vegetables contributes flavor and completes the platter. Carrots and Brussels sprouts, cooked tender in flavor-tight pouches, cut preparation time. Boiled potatoes, a daily "must" in Ireland, share the butter sauce from the pouches.

It's a robust feast that will disappear without the aid of legendary leprechauns on St. Patrick's Day or any day. A tangy horseradish mold makes an excellent beef accompaniment. Include an herbed garden relish and traditional soda bread with a crock of homemade jam, and top it off with Irish coffee.

Stew, another Irish favorite, also provides a flavor-packed March dinner. Cubes of beef, cooked with wine and spices to fork tenderness, are combined with an array of freezer-fresh vegetables and canned mushrooms and served on hot parsley buttered noodles. Add a cool and creamy salad ring featuring a medley of green (avocado, tiny early peas and stuffed green olives), scones and butter balls. For dessert assemble Emerald Isle sundaes by drizzling ice cream balls with creme de menthe. Compliments will be no mere blarney when this dinner is served.

Glazed Corned Beef and Vegetable Platter

Irish Lassie Enjoys American Lifestyle

By BARBARA LORD
 If Mrs. William Johnson was like to do it themselves, and she would join the Irish in cook before they're married. She wouldn't even let me help with dishes, because she said it was easier to do them herself."

Mrs. Johnson has Americanized her meal schedule, and now prepares the family's big meal of the day in the evening. In Ireland, noon is when the main meal is served, and 5 p.m. is "tea time" when the family eats a smaller, casual meal.

Irish women go grocery shopping twice a day to buy items for each meal. They don't stock up as is done in America, and shopping is done at small grocery stores rather than supermarkets.

Mrs. Johnson said women work harder in Ireland than in America, because they don't have access to modern conveniences. Laundromats are beginning to appear in the country, but most women still wash by hand.

"The women seem to be in doors cooking or cleaning all day long," she said. "They believe a woman's place is in the home. They don't have any people in Ireland, so they stay home. It's easy to get spoiled, and I would hate to return to washing clothes by hand."

Mrs. Johnson likes to meet people, visit different homes and travel. She is a member of Elbow Home Demonstration Club and serves as treasurer for both the Inch Pinchers and British Wives Club. In her spare time, she likes to knit, but said she is too impatient to sew.

Sgt. Johnson is a handy-man around the house. He enjoys woodworking and has built several pieces of furniture which accent the Spanish decor of the family's home at 3600 Calvin.

He is taking a course in radio and television repair, and Mrs. Johnson said he has taken their portable TV apart many times and always manages to get it back in working condition.

The family went camping for the first time last summer and liked it so well they recently purchased a small camper. They plan a trip to Colorado, California and the Pacific Northwest this summer, because it is a part of the country none of them have seen before.

Sgt. Johnson has been in the Air Force for 13 years. The family hasn't decided where they want to reside when he retires, but it probably won't be in Ireland. Mrs. Johnson said there isn't any job opportunity there. With all respect to St. Patrick, she prefers England, Arizona or even Texas. Future travels may find yet another favorite.

St. Patrick does come to mind, however, whenever Mrs. Johnson sees a snake. Ireland has no snakes, and legend has it that St. Patrick banished all snakes from the country. Mosquitoes and bugs are also at a minimum there. She had never seen a snake, other than in a zoo, until one got in her kitchen in Arizona. Needless to say, she then found many benefits to living in Ireland.

SHAMROCKS, DEMITASSE AND COFFEE
 Irish brew is American favorite

Try Real Irish Brew On St. Patrick's Day

One of the most pleasant customs ever exported from Ireland is the serving of Irish Coffee. This is a beverage that has taken many sections of our country by storm, especially where coffeehouses are all the rage. It's elegant, yet easy to serve at home, too. Just make a carafe of quality instant coffee following the demitasse directions below. In each cup, put sugar and Irish whiskey; then pour the hot demitasse over it and top with a dollop of whipped cream. If you don't have special Irish Coffee cups or goblets, use the demitasse size and, in honor of St. Patrick, paste on a shamrock or two.

IRISH DEMITASSE
 ½ cup instant coffee
 2½ cups water
 8 tps. sugar
 8 tps. Irish whiskey
 Whipped cream

Measure coffee into carafe. Stir in part of the water; blend. Then add remaining water. Bring just to a boil (do not boil).

Prewarm 8 demitasse cups. Just before serving, add 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 tablespoon Irish whiskey to each cup. Pour hot coffee into cups; stir. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream. Makes 8 demitasse servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Here's a tip for making potato salad — add the dressing while the potatoes are slightly warm so they can absorb the flavor.

During the summer months, pay particular attention to food storage. For all dairy foods, follow the rule of the 3 C's — keep them cold, clean and covered.

Summer activities may increase energy needs, or calorie needs. Remember your child spends more energy swimming or swinging a baseball bat than cracking a book. The best way to make sure your family is well nourished for these extra activities is to include in your daily diet the four basic food groups. These groups include milk, meat, vegetable-fruit and bread-cereal.

Hot dogs are an all-time American favorite; more than 14 billion were eaten last year. But many consumers don't know that two kinds of wieners are sold in the market. "All meat" wieners mean the meat consists of a combination of skeletal muscle meats; "all beef" means only beef.

Thawing before cooking is not necessary for most frozen vegetables. Leafy vegetables; however, cook more evenly if thawed just enough to separate the leaves before you put them in boiling water.

Many casseroles take well to pork chop toppers. Simply place browned 1/2-inch thick pork chops on top of casserole containing Spanish rice, scalloped corn, hominy, creamed cabbage, macaroni and cheese, creamed onions or mashed squash. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until done.

Kid-glove handling helps keep beef patties light. In shaping, pat don't spank - and don't overcook.

Give carrots a gourmet touch. Add such spices and herbs as bay leaves, allspice, caraway seed, dill, fennel, ginger, mace, marjoram, mint, nutmeg or thyme when preparing this vegetable.

 Color your table green

Avocados Lend Green To Irish Table Cuisine

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 AP Newsfeatures Food Editor
 Color your salad or hors d'oeuvre avocado green and you'll be with it. Avocados are often served by knowing cooks.

If you want to be even more with it, add raw mushrooms to the avocados. Yes, serving mushrooms raw is definitely "in." It's so in it couldn't be in-er.

My friend James Beard — the most accomplished gastronome I know — introduced me, years ago, to fresh mushrooms served raw in salads. Jim is usually ahead of every other culinary adventurer. But the great thing about James is that he never settles for being different or interesting or chic or in or with it. His inventions always taste wonderful, as devotees of his cookbooks well know.

Jim's original salad was composed of crisp salad greens tossed with sliced raw mushrooms and a marvelous dressing of olive oil, pale dry sherry (surprise!), salt and freshly ground pepper. Since then I've duplicated that salad many times — always to applause.

Inspired by Jim, I've composed an hors d'oeuvre using raw mushrooms with avocados. Just before serving, I slice mushroom caps; halve, seed, peel and slice avocados into crescents. I arrange the mushroom slices in the center of a chop plate and ring them with the avocado crescents. At the table I add some of Jim's sherry dressing, made ahead in my best looking cruet. Along with crusty rolls and sweet butter, this makes a fantastically simple and good first course.

This hors d'oeuvre should be served without salad greens. The rolls add the needed crisp texture.

Of course, the most famous hors d'oeuvre made with avocado is the Mexican Guacamole. In his latest cookbook, "James Beard's Menus for Entertaining" (Delacorte Press), Jim gives a Guacamole formula he likes — soft ripe avocados, thinly cut green onions (scallions), lime juice, with French Dressing — call salt and tabasco. The avocados if Vinaigrette Sauce if you want to be in. To be haute cuisine, and mixed with the rest of the ingredients. Jim says, "There with dessert spoons. But if you are many versions of Guacamole. Some people add a little tomato paste; others, garlic. If you can get fresh coriander (cilantro), by all means add a good deal of it. Use your imagination and your taste buds."

Another way I adore using avocados for a first course is to serve them on the half shell. You'll need half an avocado for each person, seeded but not peeled. Place each half on a salad plate and fill the cavity with French Dressing — call salt and tabasco. The avocados if Vinaigrette Sauce if you want to be in. To be haute cuisine, and mixed with the rest of the ingredients. Jim says, "There with dessert spoons. But if you are many versions of Guacamole. Some people add a little Luscious, whole cherries shimmer atop the small tartlets in an almond-flavored glaze. Underneath is a butter-crisp pastry covered with a rich layer of cream cheese. The pastry is molded and baked in fluted tartlet shells. As an alternative, tiny muffin tins may be used.

SWEET CHERRY TARTLETS
 (1 lb.) can light or dark sweet cherries
 1/4 cups flour
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup butter
 2 egg yolks
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1/4 cup sugar
 2 tps. cornstarch

1 cup cherry syrup plus water
 1/4 tsp. almond extract
 1 (3-oz.) pkg. cream cheese
 1 tsp. milk
 Drain and pit cherries, reserving syrup. Sift flour, 1/4 cup sugar and salt. Cut in butter. Add egg yolks and vanilla. Mix until soft dough is formed. Press into buttered tartlet shells or tiny muffin tins. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool and remove from shells. To make glaze, combine one-third cup sugar and cornstarch with cherry syrup and water. Cook, stirring constantly, until clear and thick. Add almond extract. Cool slightly. Blend cream cheese with powdered sugar and milk. Spread over bottoms of tartlet shells. Arrange cherries in tartlet shells. Spoon glaze over cherries. Chill. Makes 18 to 20 small tartlets.

A LOVELIER YOU Good Posture Habits Stop Flabby Paunch

By MARY SUE MILLER You can largely prevent or trim a paunchy abdomen by maintaining good posture. You've got it when you pull in the stomach and hold it in. However that is easier said than done.

You have to work at the action until it becomes automatic. Once the habit is formed, the muscles begin to build a steady wall that restricts flesh and sag. The process is hastened by remedial exercise — workouts that both strengthen muscles and pare down flesh. Like so:

- 1. Lie back down on floor. Clasp top of head with hands and rest elbows on floor; raise legs straight up, so that toes point to ceiling. Now contract abdominal muscles, slowly swing legs as far apart as possible, then reverse swing so the legs cross above knees. Repeat 10 times in slow motion with tension.

MARGARET DANA'S Consumer's Question-Box

Q: In my part of the country we have a large Spanish-speaking group of consumers who need help in getting consumer information they can understand, especially about buying foods. Can you suggest any book available in Spanish we can use in adult classes?

A: In December, 1971, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service announced publication of exactly this kind of booklet. It is one of their "How to Buy Food" series. The Spanish version is "Como Comprar Los Comestibles." It has 64 pages and gives information in both English and Spanish regarding the selection of 31 different food products. It covers meat, poultry, eggs, dairy products, fresh and processed fruits and vegetables. The pages are perforated so the teacher or leader can tear them out and reproduce them individually to hand out to students. Single copies are available free to teachers from the Office of Information, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Washington, D.C. 20250.

A: Could you please tell me if the plastic milk bottles with covers that are sold in supermarkets are safe for storing juices or milk? The answer supplied by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration is that if the plastic container was designed and made to hold food, then the plastic is safe for food storage. But there are plastics which are meant for other purposes — holding a bleaching liquid, for instance. These should not be used for food. Just make sure the label says the container is meant for food.

Q: This is to call your attention to something that has happened to several of our best known brands of coffee, and as far as I know, the public has missed it. For years I have used a certain brand but about a month ago I noticed it seemed weak and did not have the same good flavor. Then I found the directions had been changed. The old cans said to use one tablespoon to one cup of water, but this new one says use two tablespoons of coffee to 1/2 cup. What's happened?

A: Coffee experts in countries where it is grown have said for years that we in this country do not understand how to make good coffee, and use the wrong proportions. The Coffee Brewing Center, which tests coffees and brews it, gives the internationally recognized ideal coffee recipe as two measures (2 tbsps.) coffee to five ounces of water.

This is the way our South American coffee drinkers — who are fussy about its taste — like their coffee made. This is also the way a coffee maker — percolator or drip — is geared for measure.

A four-cup maker is intended to make four cups measuring five ounces each — not eight ounces. Maybe what has happened is that coffee processors have caught up with this formula.

Q: I am enclosing an advertisement for yarn that I believe is misleading. It states the store sells "Wintuk Orion 4-ply knitting worsted" for 69 cents. When I got to the store I found their yard to be "acrylic" yarn which is man-made, and not wool at all. Am I wrong to think this is false advertising?

A: The only possibly misleading word in this advertisement is to call the yarn "worsted." Strictly speaking, "worsted" is wool. But the advertisement does tell you plainly that the yarn is man-made. This is because Orion is merely the brand name for acrylic fiber, and the ad says the yarn is Orion. You need to keep on hand a handbook which lists the man-made fibers and their brand names. See what your library has.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING Cooks Should Learn What NOT To Freeze

By SHERRY MULLIN (County MD Agent)

Mayonnaise and oil-based salad dressings separate when frozen, resulting in peculiar taste and appearance. Substitute other "binders" for sandwich fillings and save addition of dressings to salads until other ingredients have thawed completely.

Raw potatoes turn mushy after freezing. Always cook potatoes not-quite-done, cool and freeze. Lettuce, celery, carrot sticks and other fresh vegetables eaten uncooked lose their crispness and become limp and unappetizing after freezing. Add these vegetables fresh after sandwiches, etc., have been thawed. Hard-cooked eggs don't freeze well; the whites turn tough and rubbery. Add fresh hard-cooked eggs to thawed casseroles and other dishes.

Fresh tomatoes have a very high water content, and they collapse when thawed. Freeze them only for cooking purposes. Potato salads need fully-cooked potatoes, mayonnaise or other salad dressing, and hard-cooked eggs — none of which freeze well. Never store potato salad in your freezer always prepare and eat it fresh.

Home-frozen uncooked stuffed poultry provides an ideal vehicle for the growth of harmful bacteria. It's not the bird; it's the stuffing that's potentially dangerous. Freeze the poultry raw and unstuffed. Prepare stuffing fresh and add it just before you put the poultry in to roast. Leftover poultry and stuffing can be frozen, but store in separate containers. Commercially frozen stuffed poultry is acceptable for freezing since special processing techniques are used.

Crackers and canapes get soggy and unpalatable when thawed. Store canape spreads in the freezer. Thaw and spread on crisp fresh crackers just before serving. Milk and cream should not be frozen except for emergency rations use. The nutritional value stays the same, but they don't look appetizing. If you do freeze, thaw in the refrigerator.

Egg-white frostings don't hold up well during freezing and thawing. Frost cakes for freezing with butter, fudge or penuche icings. They come out of the freezer just as luscious as they went in. Custard gets very watery and unpleasant.

looking and tough in the freezing and thawing process. Don't freeze them. Layer cakes with soft fillings are soggy when thawed. If you want to use a soft filling (custard, pudding, etc.) freeze the cake layers separately, and add fresh filling after the cake is thawed.

Eggs in the shell expand during freezing and crack the shell, exposing the egg to air and bacteria.

Unblanched vegetables take on odd flavors and lose nutritional value and fresh color in a few weeks' time. Always blanch vegetables before freezing. Store meat unseasoned for true flavor when meat is thawed and cooked. Seasoned uncooked meat sometimes changes flavor when frozen because onion, garlic, pepper and clove flavorings get stronger during freezer storage, and salt and chili powder get weaker. Season meat the way you want it when you're preparing the meat for the table.

Fried foods (completely cooked) lose crispness and become a little soggy when thawed. Cook only partially done before freezing.

Pie meringue gets watery during thawing and doesn't "stand up" well. Make meringue fresh, while your frozen pie is thawing and baking. Put meringue on when pie is almost completely baked. Brown lightly and serve.

ESCAPEE FROM MEXICAN PRISON SAYS: Murder 'Victim' Alive

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Joel David Kaplan, an American who made a split-second escape last August from a Mexican prison, is said to believe Mexican authorities know the man they claim he murdered is still alive. Kaplan dropped out of sight after the escape, which came via helicopter. But the Santa Fe New Mexican ran a copyrighted story Wednesday of an interview with Kaplan. It didn't say where he is living. Kaplan, 45, son of molasses king Abram Isaac Kaplan, is an admitted smuggler. He said that in 1961 his business interests involved arms shipments to insurgents in Central America. He was jailed in Spain in March, 1962, and returned to Mexico to stand trial for murder. Mexican prosecutors said he had masterminded the slaying of his partner to end gun sales that had caused concern in the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. "I was charged with murder. The murder of my business partner, who is alive and well today," Kaplan said. "Luis Vidal was my partner, and he's still alive. The Mex-

IN EUROPE May Trim Army's Tail Without Blunting Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is undertaking new studies that could bring cuts in Army support, headquarters and advisory elements in Europe. The goal would be to trim the Army's tail in Europe without blunting its teeth, Pentagon sources say. One possible option could result in some increase in combat power by re-shuffling personnel. The studies were prompted by congressional pressure to reduce the U.S. troop commitment in Europe and by the need to make better use of manpower at a time when the size of the Army is being cut sharply. The Army now accounts for about 195,000 of the 310,000 U.S. troops in Europe. Of the remainder, the Air Force numbers about 70,000 and the Navy and Marines about 45,000. The combat elements of four and one-third Army divisions and two armored-cavalry regiments total about 65,000 men. Nearly another 25,000 soldiers man antiaircraft missile batteries. Top U.S. military and civilian leaders resist any suggestion that American combat power can be shaved in Europe, where the U.S. 7th Army is the core of NATO's ground defense. This leaves about 105,000 men in support roles, and it is here that Army manpower experts are searching for places to trim. About 90,000 of these men are engaged in direct support of fighting units. Another 15,000 are in communications, supply, transportation and the like. Army studies reportedly are focused on slicing away headquarters staffs and some logistics operations. This could result in reductions totaling several thousand men. can government knows he's alive, but has refused to vacate the sentence against me. They sent me to prison for a 27-year sentence, and even the Mexican Supreme Court refused to review it when they found him alive." Kaplan said Victor E. Stadler of Glendora, Calif., "a flier who had plenty of Central American adventures under his belt," planned his escape. "The final plan, from its beginning to its culmination, took about four months," Kaplan said.

COMMIE Forces Step Up Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam's populous coastal lowlands Wednesday and today while Saigon's army pressed its offensive in eastern Cambodia. The South Vietnamese command reported 41 enemy attacks between dawn Wednesday and dawn today, the highest number in a 24-hour period since Feb. 7. The hardest hit region was Quang Ngai Province, on the coast about 75 miles south of Da Nang. Thirty-one South Vietnamese were killed and 44 were wounded in four attacks in Quang Ngai, at a cost of six enemy killed, the command said. The South Vietnamese victims included 18 civilians killed and 28 wounded, and 57 homes, a Buddhist pagoda and a school were heavily damaged. Another 10 North Vietnamese and five South Vietnamese troops were killed in Binh Dinh Province, just south of Quang Ngai. The targets of most of the attacks were militia units assigned the job of local security while the army tries to keep North Vietnamese regulars away from the cities and towns. Meanwhile, South Vietnamese regulars destroyed the fourth major Communist camp found in their week-old drive in eastern Cambodia, the Saigon command reported. An infantry task force from the 7,000-man drive found the 500-man training center in a heavily wooded region 85 miles northwest of Saigon and 15 miles inside Cambodia. The camp was deserted, but spokesmen said the task force burned it down. "It went like clockwork. We had a very talented pilot"—lat-

'Era Of Cheap Energy Is Coming To A Close'

DALLAS (AP) — The nations of the world must learn to use shrinking energy supplies more efficiently and adopt workable national and regional policies that embrace all energy sources, J. K. Jamieson, chief executive of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), said here Wednesday. Addressing a luncheon of the South Texas Legal Foundation, Jamieson said that such policies must "deal with oil, gas, coal, hydro-nuclear energy, synthetics and all energy sources as part of the same equation."

Essential components of this policy, he said, are: the compromises required for economic growth, security of supply and a healthy environment; coordinating with related issues such as land use, transportation and others important to energy production and consumption; international aspects of national decisions; and a cooperative effort among government, industry and consumers to reach equitable solutions of major problems.

LITTLE SENSE "Energy is becoming more and more indivisible in every sense of the word," he said. "It makes little sense to formulate policies that draw sharp distinctions between oil, coal and other energy sources, since all are part of the same energy equation. It makes equally little sense to view the domestic industry as insulated from the rest of the world."

He emphasized that the era of cheap energy is coming to a close. Shrinking domestic supplies, higher payments obtained by producing nations, great expenses incurred in searching for new oil offshore and in such areas as the Arctic, and environmental demands have all contributed to the demise low-cost energy. "If you combine higher costs with growing dependence on foreign supplies, you have a good summation of this nation's central energy problem," Jamieson commented.

HIGHWAY TAX As a result, he added, the major tasks facing U.S. industry are to increase domestic reserves, protect energy sources abroad and work with government and consumers to establish a workable energy policy in an international framework. "I think the oil industry should support policies which encourage a more efficient use of energy, even though this might seem to be against our interests," he said. "The need to improve our transportation system is more and more evident, for instance, and this is one of the reasons my company recently changed its position on the use of highway tax revenues." FINANCING New Jersey previously supported the principle that these revenues should be used only for highway-related expenditures. "We now support the view that the nation needs a more coordinated approach to planning and financing. Planning should incorporate all forms of passenger transportation, including highways, railroads and airways. We believe that changes should be made at both federal and state levels in transportation funding to allow the states and cities a more reasonable choice among the alternatives."

Turning to the international situation, he said the recent settlements worked out with OPEC countries were expensive and added: "As I'm sure most of you have noted from the press, we are now approaching a new phase in which negotiations will be conducted to provide 20 per cent participation in the producing operations by those countries which so elect." He said that various issues remain to be settled and there is a divergence of views between the companies and the Saudi Arabian government on a number of them.

BOTH SIDES "Any settlement the industry works out with the producing countries must recognize our responsibilities to the major consuming countries," he said. "And the producing countries must recognize their responsibilities."

"We hope that both sides will recognize that worldwide consumer interests are best protected by the intermediary role of the private international oil companies. Certainly, the French experience in Algeria, where every negotiation on oil issues had to encompass the full spectrum of political questions, gives a little comfort to those who argue that consuming countries should deal directly with producing countries," he said.

Public Can View Works Of Art

The exhibit of Tom Ryan's paintings at the Scurry County Coliseum will be opened to the public from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, it was affirmed today. Ryan will be in Snyder Friday evening, but this is a preview party restricted to invitations. The famous Western artist will be available for an autograph party both Saturday and Sunday afternoons. He is the subject of a new book — "Tom Ryan: A Painter in the 6666 Country" — by Dean Kraekel, managing director of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame museum. The Diamond M Museum, which contains a storehouse of paintings, will also be open for convenience of the public Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Newspaperman Harte 'Fought A Good Fight'

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson were in the audience that heard nationally-known newspaperman Houston Harte eulogized Wednesday as a man who "fought a good fight." Johnson was a friend of long-standing of Harte, who died Monday at the age of 79. The former President sat in a pew near the one in which parishioners in the First Presbyterian Church here were so long accustomed to spotting the erect figure of Harte on Sunday mornings. The church's pastor emeritus, Dr. B. O. Wood, spoke of Harte in Wednesday's final rites as a man of "great endowments." Dr. Wood added, "He (Harte) would have been too modest to say he fought the good fight. But I, who have known him so long, say to you he fought a good fight." Harte was buried in a family plot. Numerous memorials to Harte reportedly are being made to the Angelo State University Foundation established by the Hartes in 1968 with an initial gift of $250,000. Dr. Wood said Harte "was a steward of his time, his talents and his professions." According to Dr. Wood, Harte did not claim credit for material success, but once said he "had help from 'up there.'" Besides Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, other dignitaries at the service included Rep. O. C. Fisher, D-Tex., Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, state Sen. W. E. Snelson of Midland and state Rep. Frances Farenhold of Corpus Christi.

Couches Attend School Ritual

Mr. and Mrs. John Couch of Luther, together with their daughter, Annette, and his sister, Mrs. Ila Scott, of Sweetwater, were in Lubbock Sunday to witness honors conferred on Mr. and Mrs. Couch's daughter, Martha Couch. Martha is a senior home economics major and averaged 4.0 (all A's) in the autumn semester at Texas Tech. Those spotlighted in the honor day ceremonies were in the upper three per cent of their class. Martha this year holds the Maude Flowers Tinsley scholarship.

HELMET GETS INTO THE ACT — Philadelphia Phillies Mike Anderson's hat flies through the air and appears to be getting hit by ball thrown by Chicago White Sox second baseman Mike Andrews as Anderson was forced at second as Tim McCarver hit into a double play in seventh inning of game in Clearwater Wednesday. McCarver grounded to shortstop to start play with Andrews making putout at second and throwing to first in time to get Carver for the second out.

Roger 'The Dodger' Signs; Thomas Tells It Like It Was

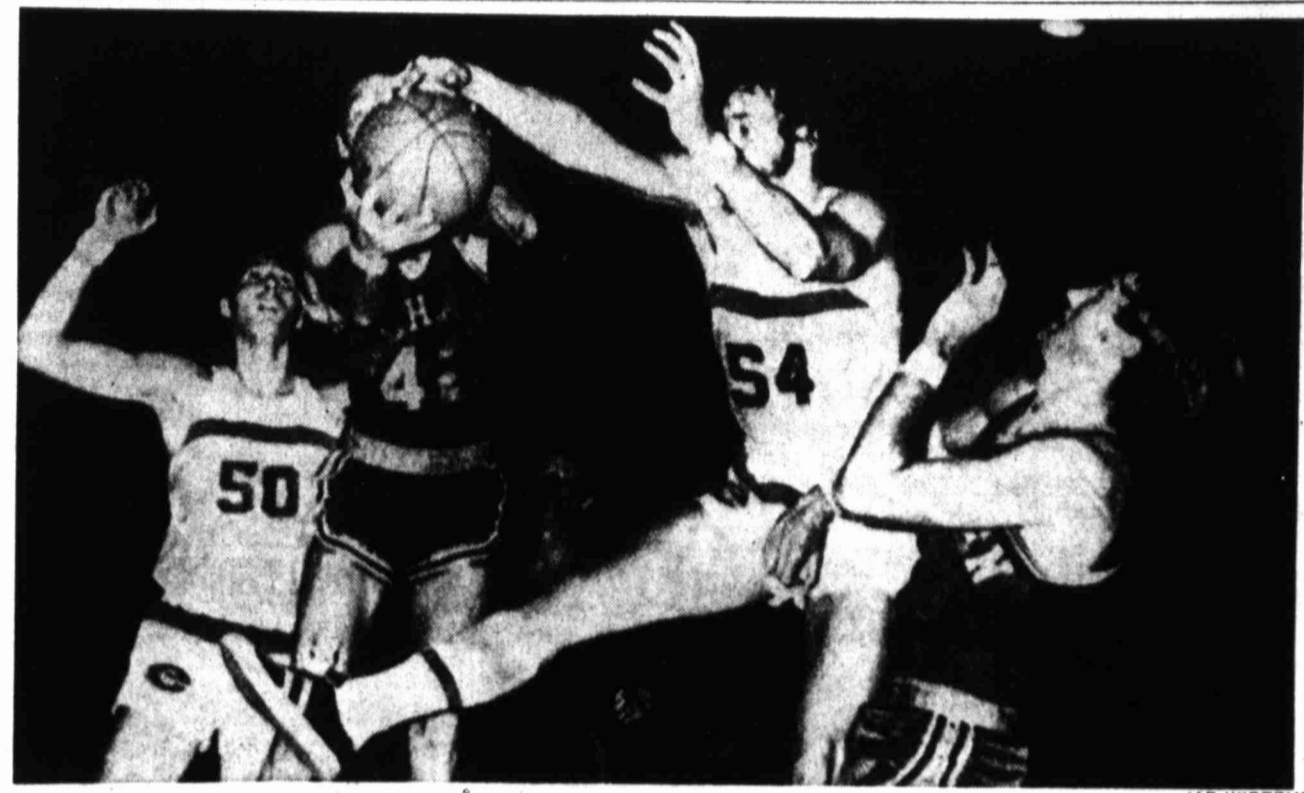

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Roger Staubach, doing the negotiating himself, quietly signed a three-year contract for about $75,000 a year Wednesday and began workouts with a hope of taking the champion Dallas Cowboys to Super Bowl 7.

"It's not the highest price ever paid a quarterback but I'm satisfied," said Staubach, who is reaping the off-season dividends of being the No. 1 quarterback on a Super Bowl champion team.

But Staubach said he is calling an immediate halt to most of his off-season appearances.

"I've got a long future ahead and I don't want to saturate myself with off season appearances," Staubach said. "It can hurt you as an athlete. I've begun working out and by May I'll be going five days a week. I plan to do a lot more study in the off season than I did last year."

The former Heisman Trophy winner from Navy, who became the No. 1 quarterback at midseason after waging a battle with Craig Morton, wants to call his own plays but said, "I don't plan to make an issue of it."

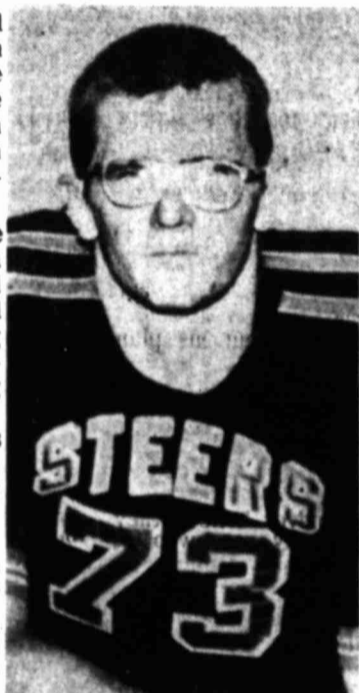

ONE HAND BETTER THAN TWO — Donnie Blackwell (42), of Belhaven College at Jackson, Miss., seemed to get the rebound, but Tom Jackson (54), of Eau Claire (Wis.), knocks the ball from his hands in the second-round game of the NALA tournament. At far left is Steve Johnson of Eau Claire, and at right is Belhaven's Charles Tharp. Eau Claire won, 59-53.

ment begins. Entry fee for the day will be $3 per person. A trophy will be awarded to the angler with the largest bass, and prizes will also be given to both team members with the largest catch. There will be a first, second and third place in the catch category.

Robert Dennis Tries Out For Texas A&M

Robert Dennis, a football standout at Big Spring High School in 1968-69, will be competing for a slot on the Texas A&M football team when it begins spring training March 21 under new coach Emory Bellard with his wishbone offense.

ROBERT DENNIS

to tell me some more about the team; but when I talked to him last he said that it's all a new program with the new coach."

Coach Bellard took over Gene Stallings' slot as head football coach in December of last year. He will definitely run the wishbone attack, and the Aggies could not have a better mentor than this man who designed it during the summer of 1968 while on the staff at the University of Texas.

Dennis, who broke his collarbone during a freshman scrimmage and who reinjured it earlier during his sophomore year, told his father recently that the Aggies would be little but fast.

Mr. Dennis said that his son weighed about 210 pounds, but the new coach had already whittled him down to the 190 that he is listed as weighing on the spring roster.

Although Coach Bellard has reviewed films, the spring drills will be his first look at some of the Aggies' prospects. The 20 practice sessions close with the annual Maroon-White game at 3 p.m. April 22.

Best, also a defensive guard, is a senior letterman from Houston. He was tied with another player on last year's team for third place in the lacking department. He made 58 tackles. Mr. Dennis also said, "Robert will be home toward the end of the month, and he'll be able

LANDRY—THE QB

Coach Tom Landry called the signals in the stretch drive to the Super Bowl and shuttled the tight ends with plays as Dallas defeated Miami 24-3.

"I don't want a wedge driven between me and Coach Landry on the subject," Staubach said. "It will come in time. I know what he demands of me."

"Coach Landry is a hard man to get to know. But he is a competitor. He has that quiet look but down deep he is a competitor. I would do anything for him."

Staubach, 29, said he hoped to play another six or seven years. He will enter his fourth season with the Cowboys in July.

On another subject, Staubach said he hoped troubled running back Duane Thomas works out his problems with the Cowboys.

"I tried to get to know him but I didn't understand him," Staubach said.

He added: "Maybe Duane didn't understand me. I hope he isn't traded. Thomas' best years are ahead. We look at him as having a problem. But maybe he thinks we are the ones with problems."

STAY REPLACE Staubach said, "I think everything will work out with Duane. We would hate to lose him because you just don't replace an athlete like Thomas. I say he has always been business on the football field. It would be a mistake to try to judge him without understanding him."

Controversial Duane Thomas likes to compare his pro football career to a symphony—with dissonant, abrupt chords opening the movement but finishing with a theme that leaves the public in "wonder and awe."

"I almost reached the point of putting an end to my career," the normally silent running star of the champion Dallas Cowboys told The Associated Press in an unusual, exclusive interview.

"Art held me back—it being impossible to leave the world of football until I had brought forth all I had felt called to produce."

The 6-foot-1, 220-pound Super Bowl standout traced his life from a black Dallas ghetto through West Texas State College where he suffered discrimination and loneliness and into the hidden treacheries of a big time pro career.

Promising a return to what he called "the highest perfection," he said he would again some day stir the same feelings in football crowds that Beethoven's "Eroica"—or Heroic—Symphony evokes from music lovers.

That's the way Duane Thomas talks. Two months ago they were calling him "The Sphinx." They said he couldn't—or wouldn't—communicate. He became sports' man of mystery.

Team Tournney Slated Sunday At New Lake

By BRIAN PEAY

Local Bass Club anglers will participate in a Two-Man Team Tournament this weekend at Lake Spence. The tournament starts at 7 a.m. Sunday and weigh-in is scheduled for 4 p.m. Sunday.

Club members with boats will be paired with members without boats in a name drawing at 6:15 a.m. Sunday before the tournament begins. Entry fee for the day will be $3 per person.

A trophy will be awarded to the angler with the largest bass, and prizes will also be given to both team members with the largest catch. There will be a first, second and third place in the catch category.

Up to six fish may be weighed in by each team. Tournament headquarters will be near the boat launching ramp on Paint Creek. Paint Creek Park road is on the south side of the lake, and intersects with the Sterling City, Robert Lee Highway.

According to Bass Club members, most anglers in Big Spring are impressed with the potential of Lake Spence for bass fishing. Club members have reported numerous bass of the five to six pound category being caught at the relatively new lake.

Salt water strippers are doing well in the new lake. Approximately 80 fish were recently netted by lake officials. The fish averaged four pounds each, with the largest being seven pounds. Lake limit on the strippers is one per day.

The local Bass Club is near the 100 member mark. Club officials anticipate the membership will continue to increase as the new season progresses, and they hope to be 150 strong by this summer. Jerry Avery is president of the local club.

Scott Makes Debut With Phoenix Suns

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)

Charlie Scott, the league-switching basketball player, says the sport is a business and "I have to look out for my prospects."

Scott, 23, the leading scorer in the American Basketball Association, jumped to the National Basketball Association this week and made his debut with the Phoenix Suns Wednesday night.

The Suns defeated Milwaukee 110-106 with Scott dropping in 11 points.

"When I started in college there was only one league," Scott said, "and even in the beginning of my senior year, I still was leaning toward the NBA. But it was pointed out to me that basketball is a business and I have to look out for my prospects."

"I'd play for free if everyone else would play for free," he continued. "But if everyone else is going to get paid, I figured I should get the most I could get for my services."

Scott called the legal battle over his league jump "very unfortunate."

"I sought legal advice before I did it and now I'm taking that advice," he said of the jump from the Virginia Squires to the Suns.

Patrolmen said that Jack and Nan McBroom, Midland, had eight bass aggregating 23 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erick and Melvin of 3616 Hambel, Midland, had half a dozen bass totalling 13 pounds.

Steve Lee, San Angelo, came up with a string of 14 channel cat averaging a pound and a half, while Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Shaws, 1500 Cumberland, Odessa, had 20 crappie averaging better than a pound.

Meanwhile, the Phoenix Suns of the National Basketball Association—who signed Scott to a contract Monday—said they would file a multi-million dollar suit against the ABA and the Squires, charging conspiracy and interference with contractual relations.

BREACH OF CONTRACT

San Antonio Toros May Charge Oilers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The general manager of the nation's top minor league football team claims the National Football League and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle are "trying to keep us in San Antonio from even getting the slightest foothold on a major franchise."

Henry Hight, part owner and general manager of the San Antonio Toros, says the NFL Houston Oilers have reneged on an agreement to play an exhibition game with the Toros, league champions in each of the four years they have competed in minor league football.

He says he may sue the Oilers for $5 million for what he declares is breach of contract.

"We had the contract drawn up and virtually everything agreed on," Hight said.

"Then they (the Oilers) started backing down. First they claimed the players' association wouldn't let them play and then said the (NFL) league office didn't want it," he charged.

The Toros have been members of the Texas Football League and the Continental Football League. However, the San Antonio News reports Toros officials are seeking to help form a new and stronger professional league with minor league owners and potential owners in other cities.

Hight says the Oiler-Toro affair amounts to "a restraint of trade. There isn't any reason why the Oilers shouldn't play us."

Oiler general manager John Breen said he "dealt in good faith," but did not sign the contract. Breen said he is "unable to see where Mr. Hight has a case against us."

Breen told the San Antonio News that the Oilers could not meet the Toros because of "the players' association."

"They insist on full pay for all players in such a game as this and there wouldn't be a big enough crowd to handle such an expense," Breen said.

According to Hight, the Oilers originally were receptive to the match, since the Oilers hold training camp in Kerrville near San Antonio. Hight said he arranged to book a local stadium for what he said was an agreed date of July 22.

The Oilers, Hight said, were to play rookies, with a few possible exceptions.

After an exchange of letters and phone calls, Hight claimed Breen told him to draw up a contract, sign it and send it to Houston, where Breen would add his signature. Breen said sometime later the game could not be played, Hight related.

Hight said he personally offered to guarantee payment to the Oilers if gate receipts for the July game did not cover Oiler expenses.

It was after this, Hight says, that Breen told him by phone NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle "would not allow the game."

The International Little League participants will register in the Webb AFB NCO Club this year rather than in the base gymnasium as they did last year.

Registration will be from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. on March 25. A parent must accompany the child and have proof of the child's age such as a birth certificate. The boy will not be eligible if he will be 13 years old before August 1, 1972.

Webb will establish a "Pee-Wee" League this year for the first time. Officials are hoping to have four teams in the league.

Cows Are Cows

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I work on a farm on weekends, and the other day at work I was told that when a cow gives birth to twins, one is a male and the other a female, both calves stand a 99 per cent chance of being sterile. But if both twins are males or females, they are okay.

Abby, I am a 16-year-old boy and my girl friend is 17. She has a twin brother, and when I told her what I had heard about cows she broke into tears for fear she may be sterile.

Could you please do a little research for us and find out if what applies to twin cows also applies to human twins? Thank you. HOPING AGAINST IT

DEAR HOPING: When a cow gives birth to twin calves, one for bed, secondly that his technique became more adventurous over the years but something was missing, such as love and affection, thirdly that the life of a wife with three children, who is cook, laundress, housekeeper, and chief decision maker is not exactly a life filled with erotic stimulus and that it takes a bit of doing to turn into something besides a drudge and it is not accomplished by slipping out of your apron.

Many husbands tire of coaxing their wives and find themselves a willing partner elsewhere, usually someone who is not tied to the responsibilities of a house and family. Then the energy these eager men display is unbelievable; there are phone calls in the morning to see how the dear lady slept, phone calls at noon for an intimate lunch in a candlelit restaurant and thoughtful little tokens. Now really, how many wives wouldn't respond to this subtle courting? How many mistresses would be so generous with themselves if all the man did was be physically there? Try it, you'll like it!

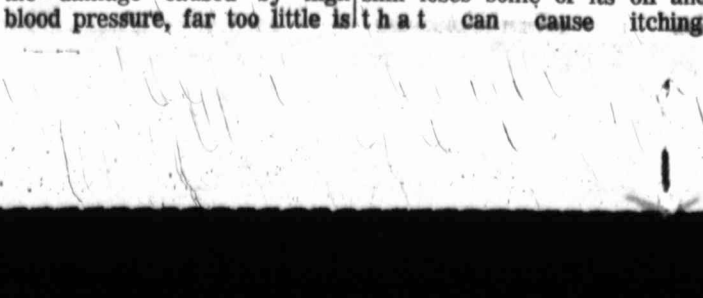

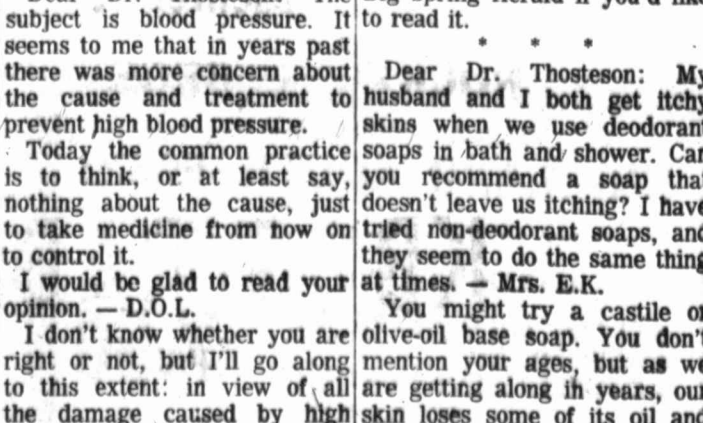

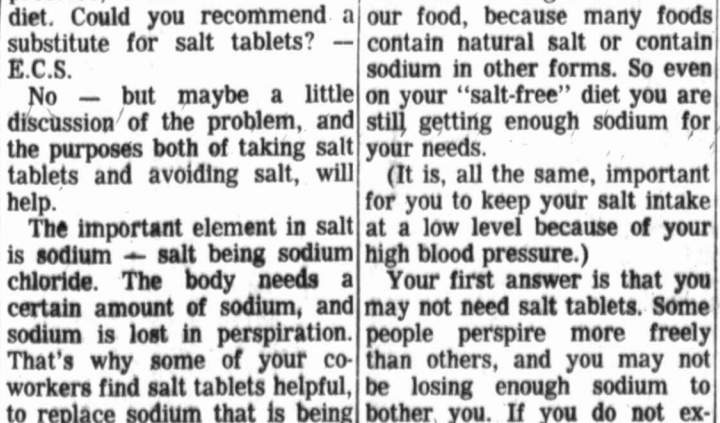

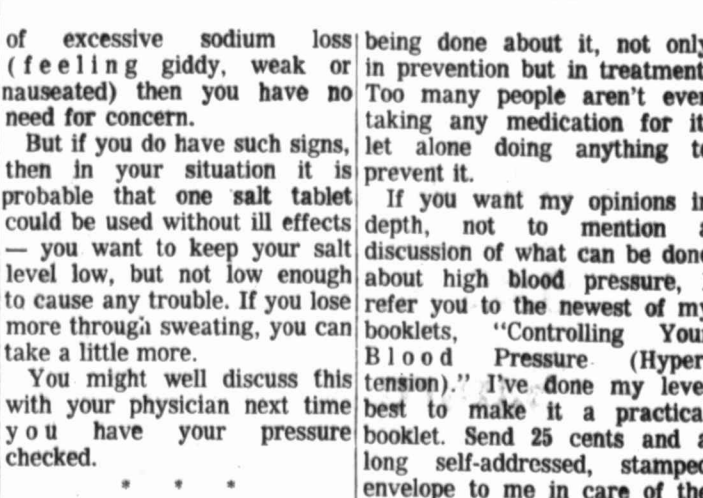

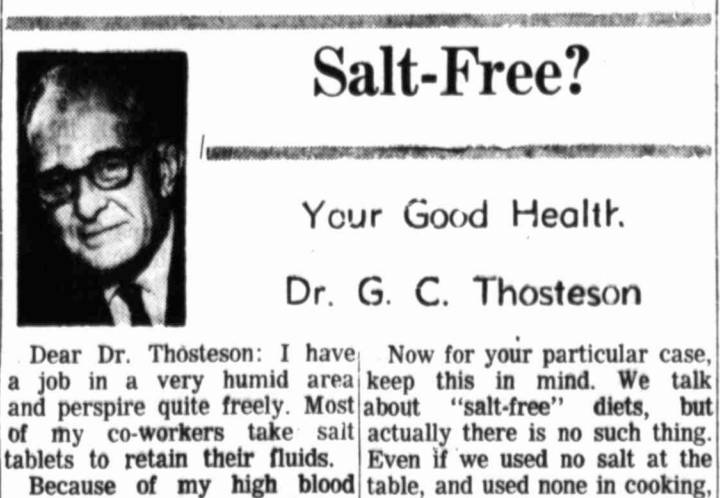

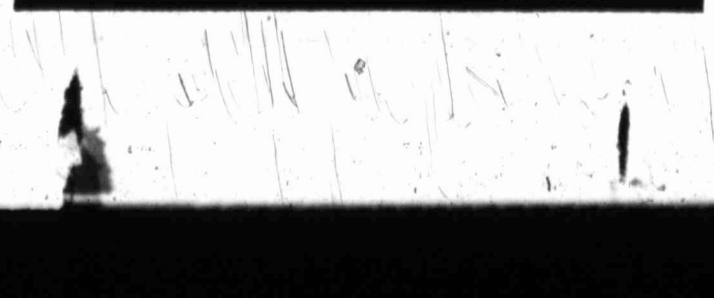

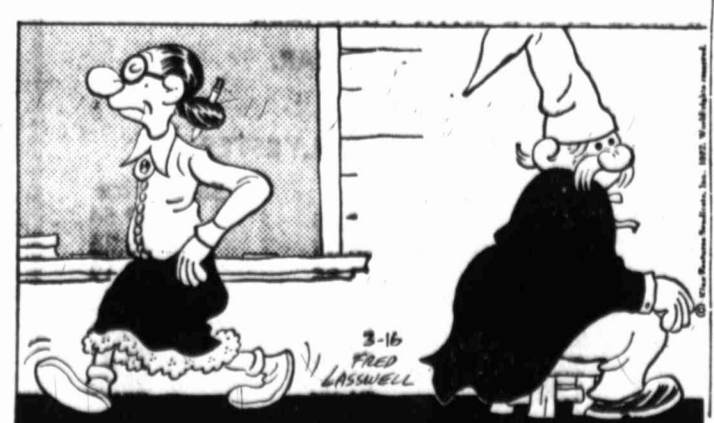

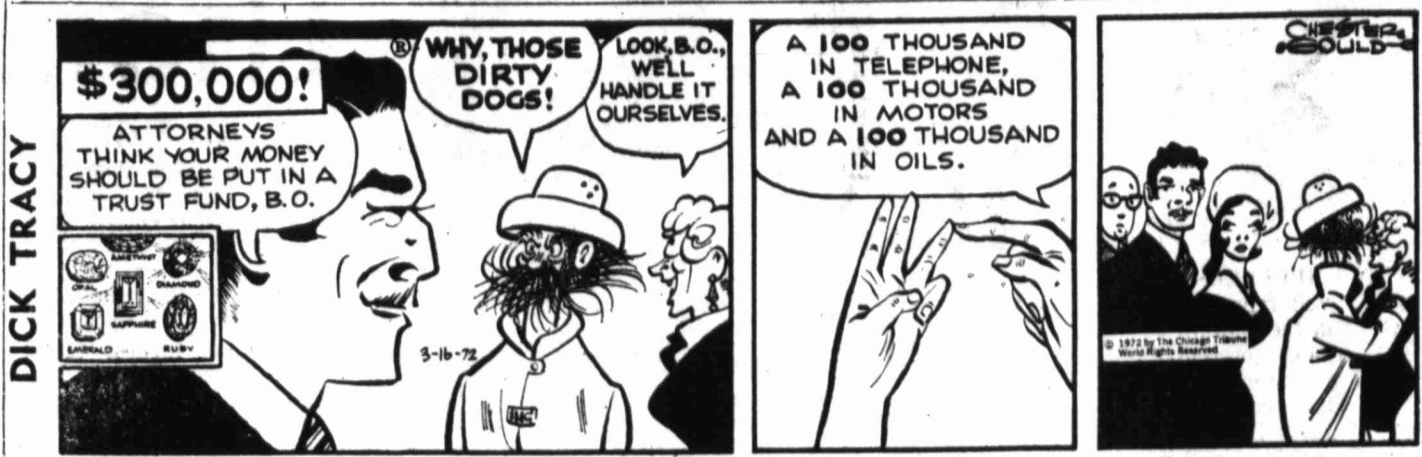

Now, you are going to say, "Tell HIM, not ME!" But if you have to tell someone that

Welfare Costly

HOUSTON (AP) — The state welfare commissioners say more money was spent of welfare programs in Harris County last year than the state is allowed to spend in all counties.

"Almost $83 million in state and federal funds were expended last year on public welfare programs in Harris County alone," Raymond W. Vowell said.

The Harris County total includes $35 million in monthly welfare checks to an average of 73,000 persons. Also included was more than $16 million worth of food stamps and more than $22 million for medical care.

Salt-Free?

Your Good Health.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a job in a very humid area and perspire quite freely. Most of my co-workers take salt tablets to retain their fluids. Because of my high blood pressure, I am on a salt-free diet. Could you recommend a substitute for salt tablets? — E.C.S.

No — but maybe a little discussion of the problem, and the purposes both of taking salt tablets and avoiding salt, will help.

The important element in salt is sodium — salt being sodium chloride. The body needs a certain amount of sodium, and sodium is lost in perspiration. That's why some of your co-workers find salt tablets helpful, to replace sodium that is being lost.

Now for your particular case, keep this in mind. We talk about "salt-free" diets, but actually there is no such thing. Even if we used no salt at the table, and used none in cooking, we would still get some from our food, because many foods contain natural salt or contain sodium in other forms. So even on your "salt-free" diet you are still getting enough sodium for your needs.

(It is, all the same, important for you to keep your salt intake at a low level because of your high blood pressure.)

Your first answer is that you may not need salt tablets. Some people perspire more freely than others, and you may not be losing enough sodium to bother you. If you do not experience the common symptoms of excessive sodium loss (feeling giddy, weak or nauseated) then you have no need for concern.

But if you do have such signs, then in your situation it is probable that one salt tablet could be used without ill effects — you want to keep your salt level low, but not low enough to cause any trouble. If you lose more through sweating, you can take a little more.

You might well discuss this with your physician next time you have your pressure checked.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The subject is blood pressure. It seems to me that in years past there was more concern about the cause and treatment to prevent high blood pressure.

Today the common practice is to think, or at least say, nothing about the cause, just to take medicine from how on to control it.

I would be glad to read your opinion. — D.O.L.

I don't know whether you are right or not, but I'll go along to this extent: in view of all the damage caused by high blood pressure, far too little is being done about it, not only in prevention but in treatment. Too many people aren't even taking any medication for it, let alone doing anything to prevent it.

If you want my opinions in depth, do not mention a discussion of what can be done about high blood pressure, I refer you to the newest of my booklets, "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)." I've done my best to make it a practical booklet. Send 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald if you'd like to read it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband and I both get itchy skins when we use deodorant soaps in bath and shower. Can you recommend a soap that doesn't leave us itching? I have tried non-deodorant soaps, and they seem to do the same thing at times. — Mrs. E.K.

You might try a castile or olive-oil base soap. You don't need the deodorant soaps, but as we are getting along in years, our skin loses some of its oil and that can cause itching.

ILA Clerks Okay Pact

HOUSTON (AP) — Business continued as usual today at ports from Brownsville, Tex., to Lake Charles, La., after longshoremen clerks and checkers and West Gulf Shippers agreed on a new contract just minutes before a strike deadline.

E. L. King, president of Houston Clerks and Checkers Local 1351 and chief union negotiator, announced the settlement shortly after 11 p.m. Wednesday. A strike had been called for midnight.

The clerks and checkers were the last unit to reach contract terms with the shippers. Other units completed negotiations in recent weeks.

The point separating the shippers and clerks and checkers involved working conditions, especially in the size of work gangs.

Bill Arnett, a spokesman for the West Gulf Maritime Association, described union proposals as "make-work projects designed to create jobs."

But with the attention of the shipping industry, both union and management focused on the clerks and checkers, the parties compromised enough to avert a strike.

"Under the circumstances, I think this is the best contract possible," King said. "We didn't get everything we wanted—but neither did they."

Advices Parents Of Teens To 'Get Off Their Backs'

By C. G. MCDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A psychiatrist says adolescents are becoming old younger. He advises parents of teen-agers to "get off their backs."

"If you haven't got inside your children in the first 12 or 13 years of life, you never will," says Dr. E. James Anthony, a St. Louis psychoanalyst.

Parental pushing—especially in the middle class—to have children achieve more and more at younger and younger ages is responsible in part for the psychological exhaustion of adolescents, making them depressed and bored, he said.

Anthony, a native of London, holds faculty appointments at Washington University at St. Louis, the Institute for Psychoanalysis in Chicago and the University of Chicago.

The adolescent, Anthony said in an interview expanding on a formal report, "feels not only that he carries his own problems, but the aspirations and ambitions of his parents also."

"Nothing is more aging than this constant pressure," he said. "The load is very hard for him to carry."

Old age is in many respects "a point of view, a particular perspective," Anthony said.

"Oldness, as seen from the perspective of adolescence, has been falling earlier and earlier," he said, citing the case of an adolescent who dreaded reaching the "old age" of 18.

"The aging adolescent and the aging adult have a lot of features in common," the psychoanalyst said.

"For both, the future looks

Truck-Train Crash Sparks Sea Of Flames

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A Southern Pacific freight train smashed into a tractor trailer rig loaded with gasoline Wednesday in El Paso, spewing fuel over a line of rush hour cars and causing a sea of flames.

Officials said the crash and fire did $100,000 damage, but only one person was seriously injured.

Alonzo Garza, 57, of El Paso, driver of the Shell Oil Co. truck, wasn't hurt in the crash. But witnesses said he jumped from the truck safely, ran a short distance, stopped, turned, and ran back toward the cab, reaching the truck just as 8,000 gallons of gasoline burst into flames.

He was burned over 85-90 per cent of his body, and was listed in critical condition early today at an El Paso hospital.

The accident occurred about noon on a main highway in El Paso near Ft. Bliss Army post.

The train sheered off the rear portion of the trailer, showering surrounding cars with gasoline.

At least two cars were heavily damaged.

Two young women in the car directly behind the truck leaped out and ran, escaping with only minor burns, when gasoline splashed over the windshield, hood and roof of their car.

The locomotive was seriously damaged; several of the railroad cars were scorched, and the caboose was wrecked, but the train wasn't derailed.

Two of the five train crewmen were injured, but only Lester D. King was hospitalized.

Tightening Price Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission, concluding that it is not holding down inflation enough, Thursday announced a significant tightening of one of its major price rules.

It reduced from 2 per cent to 1.8 per cent the maximum average price increase which it will allow companies to get under its Term Limit Pricing agreements.

A commission spokesman said this was done after in-depth economic studies prepared by the commission staff members showed the commission's policies were not meeting President Nixon's goal of winding down inflation to a rate of 2.5 per cent by the end of this year.

The new, more stringent pricing rule will not apply to the 120 big firms that already have agreed to hold their prices to an average of 2 per cent or less, or to firms already in direct negotiation with the Price Commission for such an agreement.

Under Term Limit Pricing, or TLP as it is called, large firms agree to an average limit on all their products, rather than item-by-item ceilings that otherwise would apply.

In return for the price flexibility this gives them, they agreed to a lower over-all average than they might otherwise be able to win on the basis of their costs.

Previously, the over-all average ceiling for TLP agreements was 2 per cent. The new ceiling is 1.8 per cent, with a maximum 8 per cent lid on any single product line.

The surprise move was decided last week by unanimous vote of the full commission, a spokesman said.

It marks a significant turning point in Price Commission policy. Previously, Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. had insisted repeatedly that the commission was "on course" towards its goal of a two and five-tenths per cent inflation rate this year.

Huntsville Vote Rally

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Political candidates mingled with student campus candidates at Sam Houston State University Wednesday in one of those springtime campaign rallies like in years gone by.

Student candidates for various campus offices threaded through the outskirts of the mostly youth-oriented crowd while speeches were made by state Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin and former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Yarborough is trying to return to Washington, opposing Barefoot Sanders of Dallas for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat now held by Republican John Tower.

Wilson seeks the office to be vacated by U.S. Rep. John Dowdy. Dowdy, under a bribery conviction and sentence, is not running for office.

Wilson has four opponents, including Dowdy's wife.

Yarborough got the biggest response from his audience at mention of the Texas stock fraud scandals and the ITT—Republican Congressional probe now underway in Washington.

He claimed Tower has the second worst voting record in the Senate. The worst, he said, is that of a man who has been in a coma for two years in a hospital.

Wilson got a big applause when he accused the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. of being "the only phone company in town and they damned well know it."

Debby Leonard, a gubernatorial candidate on the Socialist Workers Party ticket, got a lukewarm reception.

Historic Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — First year costume design and illustrating students of the Traphagen School of Fashion here have been researching since last October historic costumes of fashions from the 12th century. It is part of their training for a future showing during which they will wear the historic garments.

It's beginning to look a lot like Easter... and cute and comfortable polka-dots and rick rack of polyester pique will make anyone's Easter happy.

Ask Mother?

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM.

SAYING YES: (Q.) When a boy asks a girl for a date, shouldn't she be able to go ahead and say yes? When a boy asks me, and I want to say yes, I have to tell him, "I have to ask my mother first."

I'm 16 now and this is most embarrassing. — Can't Decide in Ohio.

(A.) Have a talk with your mother and try to get a working agreement on ground rules for dating.

You and she should decide on the how often you can date, what nights or days, how late, where you can go, and any other details you or she think are important.

Then you should be free within the limits set, to accept a date with a boy without consulting her.

You would be responsible for abiding by the rules. You are old enough for such responsibility. If you break a rule you should expect to have some of your privileges taken away.

other girls like that. I need advice, quick. — 13 in California.

(A.) In their crude way the boys are complimenting you because you are more physically mature than the other girls.

To get less attention — something you will probably have to deal with for many years — start now to wear clothes that make your breasts attractive but less obvious.

Looseness, softness, rather than tightness, hardness, is the how often you can date, what nights or days, how late, where you can go, and any other details you or she think are important.

Ask your mother to help you with this. She will understand.

At school conduct yourself in such a way as not to lead the boys on, and try to avoid the worst of them. As time passes, the other girls will develop and attract their part of the attention. You won't be the only target of the boys' natural curiosity.

TARGET: (Q.) The boys at my school are about to drive me nuts. I have a big bust, 36C. It's the biggest in our eighth grade class. The boys are always hitting me there. They pull up my dress too. They don't treat the Funds To Help Aged Stay Out Of Nursing Homes?

DALLAS (AP) — State welfare commissioner Raymond Vowell says his department wants funds to help the aged stay out of nursing homes. Vowell said Tuesday the funds will be sought during the next legislative session. He told the annual conference of the Texas United Community Services his proposal calls for the payment of reasonable amounts for care of the aged by relatives, friends or private foster homes. "This would not necessarily reduce the number of nursing homes, but it would arrest the increase and the state would be spending less on foster care than on nursing home care," he said. Vowell also said he believes "we will soon have a federally supported day care program for children," although he said he is concerned about the lack of knowledge in the field of early child development. "There are 300,000 children of families in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children who would be eligible for day care with another 300,000 marginally eligible," he said.

Bridge Test

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (© 1972; By The Chicago Tribune) Neither vulnerable. South deals.

In addition to the spade already surrendered, it appeared that South must also lose at least one diamond and one club. The fate of the contract appeared to hinge on the location of the jack of clubs. Rather than attempting to venture a finesse on his own, declarer sought a way to enlist a helping hand from the opposition. He observed a way to achieve his objective provided that he could guess West's diamond holding.

A diamond was led over to the ace and a small one returned. East followed with the nine and South covered with the ten. West was in with the jack and since he had no more red cards and attempting to cash the ace of spades could only serve to establish North's jack—he felt obliged to play the ace of clubs. The contest was over, for declarer was now in position to claim the balance—having lost only one trick in each of the side suits.

Observe that if South plays the clubs himself, there is no way that he can avoid losing two tricks in the suit. His decision to play West for two diamonds instead of three was influenced by the latter's having shown up with three trumps and—presumably—at least five spades for his overall in that suit. This would leave East with a maximum of six cards in spades and hearts and make it more likely that he had length in diamonds.

South West North East
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 2 ♣ Pass
4 ♣ Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of ♠
By counting his opponent's distribution, South contrived a delicate campaign which eliminated any guesswork on the deal and led to the success of his four heart contract.

North's hand just qualified for a free raise to two hearts after West overcalled South's opening bid with one spade. South had enough to proceed directly to game even after devaluing his singleton honor in the opponent's suit, for his holding is worth 17 points when hearts are raised—14 in high cards, two for the singleton, and one for the fifth heart.

West opened the king of spades and when South dropped the queen from his hand, the appearance of the jack in dummy made it unsafe to continue the suit. The shift was to the nine of hearts and declarer proceeded to clear TRIAL GOES ON — Angela Davis accepted an all-white jury at her trial in San Jose. The surprise acceptance came after only nine days of jury selection in the murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial.

'IT OUGHT TO BE FUN'

Prof Devises New Method Of Study

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Increasing your learning power, according to Laia Hanau, is as easy as pie.

An assistant professor of study techniques at the University of Kentucky, Mrs. Hanau has proved her point nearly 1,000 times since she devised a study technique that is astonishingly simple.

It all began about 10 years ago when Mrs. Hanau, wife of a physics professor at the university, was about to begin practice teaching at a high school.

“It occurred to me that these kids had measles of the brain. They were just sitting there while a lot of facts were running around the room and they weren't absorbing them,” she recalls.

“I told my husband that night that it wasn't the kids fault or the teachers' fault. It was just that they didn't know how to absorb the things that were being told them or that they were reading.”

“My husband isn't very emotional — physics professors never are — so he told me not to get upset. He said I should do something about it — and I did.”

“About two in the morning I just woke up and I had it,” she said.

ON THE BRAIN

“The course in her techniques is voluntary at the university medical school here. She also has introduced it at the universities of Michigan and Maryland.”

“We can teach the course to professional students in 8-10 individual conference hours.”

Up to now, her techniques have been limited mostly to the professional level, since she is one of very few who know how to teach them.

But next summer a course will be conducted at the University of Michigan to train personnel to teach Mrs. Hanau's techniques. So far, about 1,000 have learned them; it can multiply rapidly.

MAKES IT SIMPLE

What she had was the first step in her technique, which she has copyrighted under the title Statement-Pie. It makes it simple to categorize everything one reads or hears in the classroom.

Every lesson, Mrs. Hanau said, can be divided into statements that the teacher or book makes and Pie or proof, information and examples about the statement.

Using this division, a statement can arrange his notes to show the separate categories. And since only a certain amount of Pie is needed for each statement, he can eliminate considerable note taking.

“It also helps students to know what they are lacking in a particular lecture or study assignment,” Mrs. Hanau said.

“For example, a student might end a class, look over his notes and say that he has plenty of Pie on a particular subject, but no statement. He didn't recognize the point the professor was trying to make,” she said.

When the technique is mastered, step two in Mrs. Hanau's course involves spotting key words and definitions that are used by particular teachers. She calls these go-betweens.

Step three, involving the other two, is called over-all organization of content, or OAO which Mrs. Hanau describes as a process to statement-Pie the Go-betweens.

This method, she said, pinpoints immediately for the student what he knows, what he does not know and what is “fuzzy” to him.

To learn all of this, Mrs. Hanau has made up her own set of text books, which one reads starting at what normally would be the back and works

UNEMPLOYMENT BLUES—II
Nation In Recession?

Editor's Note: The unemployment rate spells recession, almost nothing else does. This second in a series on the government's jobless statistics by the AP Special Assignment Team looks at this contradiction.

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Using the government's monthly unemployment statistics as a measure of the nation's economic health is, at best, a tricky business. At its worst, the report can be misleading.

For example, the current unemployment rate indicates the nation is in a recession. If so, then why are consumers spending so much money?

Through 1971, the unemployment rate hovered around 6 per cent, the highest level since the 1961 recession. Nonetheless, housing starts were up last year. New car buying soared. For a while, at least, inflation looked like a runaway. News paper classified pages were full of help wanted ads.

Almost nothing else in the economy coincided with the high unemployment statistics. The reason lies beyond the over-all jobless rate, in the basic structure of the American labor force. It has changed drastically in the last 10 years and economists agree that the solutions for unemployment will have to change just as drastically.

When the Labor Department announced earlier this month that February unemployment had dipped to 5.7 per cent, any rejoicing was premature. Even if that figure should prove to be a continuing downward trend, the basic problems now facing the American labor force will not have eased. In 1961, the total civilian labor force numbered 70.5 million. About 4.7 million were unemployed, giving a 6.7 unemployment rate. Prime-age men, 25 and older, accounted for 56.2 per cent of the labor force and had a 5.2 per cent unemployment rate. Prime-age women were 26.9 per cent of the labor force and had a 5.8 per cent unemployment rate. Teen-agers were 7 per cent of the labor force and had a 16.8 per cent jobless rate. In 1971, there were 84 million in the labor force with just over 5 million unemployed for a 6 per cent unemployment rate. Prime-age men had dropped to 49.6 per cent of the labor force with a 3.5 per cent unemployment rate. Prime-age women had grown to 28.2 per cent of the labor force with a 5 per cent unemployment rate. Teen-agers became 8.9 per cent of the labor force with a 16.9 per cent unemployment rate. One crucial difference is that in 10 years, unemployment among prime-age men dropped from a serious 5.2 per cent to 3.5 per cent, a rate generally considered to represent full employment.

Perhaps even more telling is the difference in the rate for all married men. They accounted for 51.5 per cent of the labor force in 1961 and had a 4.6 unemployment rate. In 1971 they were 46.6 per cent of the labor force and their jobless rate was only 3.2 per cent.

The low 1971 unemployment rates among prime-age and married men has been the center of a sometimes bitter debate between Nixon administration economists and critics of administration economic policies.

New Dam Threatening Ancient Rock Carvings

LISBON (AP) — Portuguese archeologists are engaged in a race against time to save several hundred important prehistoric rock carvings from being drowned behind a dam scheduled to be finished on the Tagus river late next year.

The brown colored carvings are believed to date from the late Stone Age to the Iron Age. They were found earlier this year on a rock outcrop lining the banks of the river in a rugged and near-deserted part of Portugal.

be drafted during the next few months to explore the area more fully.

And while this is going on, attempts are to be made to transfer the rocks bearing the carvings to a safer site where they can be studied at leisure.

Serraio said he was amazed the carvings hadn't been discovered earlier since shepherds graze their flocks in the area. He added the shepherds probably didn't realize the importance of the etchings.

The river flows between two jagged hills near the town of Fratel, about 100 miles north-east of Lisbon.

During the winter rainy season, the Tagus often overflows its banks at this point. As a result many of the carvings have been badly damaged by water erosion.

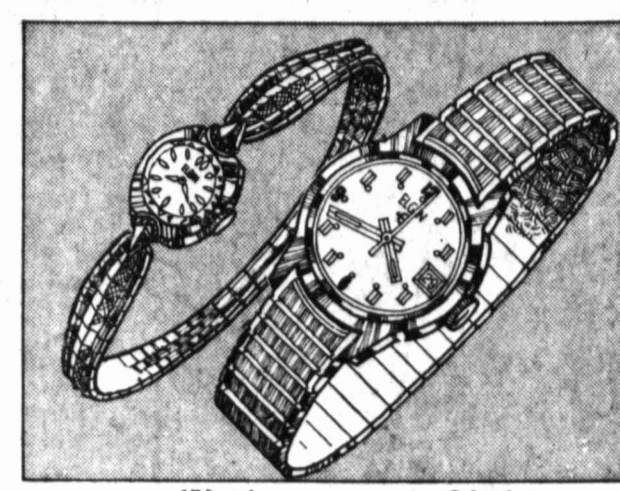

Despite this, archeologists have found many well defined motifs, including solar symbols and an antelope known as Capra-Ibex, now extinct in Portugal.

Although the meaning of many of the symbols still is unknown, experts believe the carvings are in some way connected with a cult of sun worshippers. The archeologists also are puzzled as to why all the carvings face the west.

One of the leaders of the party which discovered the Fratel carvings, Dr. Eduardo da Cunha Serraio, a leading amateur archeologist said: “We can only begin to unravel the mystery by comparing the designs with others found elsewhere in Portugal. However, this will take a lot of time and that is something we do not have.”

Emergency plans already are under way to save the find from the floodwaters of the dam. Hundreds of volunteers are to Administration economists contend the figure proves that unemployment really isn't as bad as it seems. For example, Geoffrey H. Moore, federal commissioner of labor statistics, wrote in the Wall Street Journal that the civilian labor force had ballooned in 1971 so that while unemployment was increasing, so was employment.
