

NATIONAL COMMISSION ON DRUG ABUSE RECOMMENDS

Repeal Jail Terms For Pot Smoking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse today recommended repeal of all jail terms and fines for private pot smoking, but not for its cultivation or sale.

After a year's study, chartered by Congress, the conservative panel unanimously proposed a national policy of using "persuasion rather than prosecution" to discourage smoking of marijuana.

But it stopped short of recommending outright legalization, expressing the hope that marijuana is a fad that will lose favor if de-emphasized.

It said marijuana is far less dangerous than the American public thinks. It found little or no evidence that marijuana can kill, cause addiction, brain damage or birth defects, or lead to crime, violence or necessarily to more powerful drugs.

But it did find that long-term, daily use of marijuana by adolescents sometimes contributes to a general lack of motivation, concluded that anyone driving under the influence of marijuana is a serious threat to public safety and said that heavy, daily use over a number of years may cause some damage to heart and lungs.

"In general, we recommend only a decriminalization of possession of marijuana for personal use on both the state and federal levels," the commission said.

Specifically, it recommended: —Elimination of fines and jail terms for smoking marijuana in private or possessing one ounce or less.

—Retention of felony penalties for growing marijuana, selling it for profit or possessing it with intent to sell.

—Fines of up to $100 for smoking in public, public possession of more than one ounce, or not-for-profit distribution of small amounts in public.

—Jail terms of up to 60 days and a $100 fine for disorderly conduct linked to public marijuana use or intoxication.

—Penalties of up to a year in jail, a $1,000 fine and suspension of operator's permit for driving a vehicle or operating a dangerous instrument while under the influence of marijuana.

—Classification of marijuana as contraband that could be confiscated by police wherever found outside the home, even if the possessor were not liable for criminal penalties.

The 13 commissioners were not unanimous in all their recommendations. Reps. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., and Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., recommended noncriminal fines for possession of any amount of marijuana in public or in private. Former Illinois chief investigator Mitchell Ware recommended noncriminal penalties such as mandatory drug-education classes or civil fines. Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, opposed making marijuana contraband and urged some other points in the direction of greater civil liberty.

'WIDE OPEN' — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton says his mind is "wide open" on the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline. Although he must recommend action, Morton says, the final decision on the controversial pipeline will be up to President Nixon.

MACHINE GUN? Bank Officer Slain, Two Men Wounded

HOUSTON (AP) — A bank officer was killed and a policeman and another man wounded today in gunfire that followed a robbery of the South Park National Bank in Houston's southeast area.

Police Chief Herman Short said from his office there was indication the gunmen used a machine gun during the robbery.

The bank officer killed at the scene was identified as James Garbs, who was shot in the head.

Patrolman Tommy Morris was reported in good condition at City-County Hospital. He possibly escaped more serious injury when the bullet struck his police badge before entering his left chest.

One of the gunmen, a 27-year-old black man, also was wounded, apparently in an exchange of gunfire with Morris.

Witnesses said Garbs, armed with a shotgun, followed as three gunmen left the bank and Garbs was shot near a drive-in window at the rear of the bank.

Morris, meanwhile, was on routine patrol and just happened to be passing near the bank. He and his partner exchanged gunfire with the robbers.

After Morris and one of the robbers were wounded, the other two gunmen fled in the patrol car which was found a few blocks from the bank.

Bomb Planted In Car Hurts Young Girls

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A bomb planted in a parked car blasted Belfast's Europa Hotel today, wrecked the neighboring railroad station and injured at least 40 persons, police reported.

Police said most of the injured were young girls and men on the hotel's kitchen staff.

All Belfast's ambulances and fire services were called into emergency action for the second time this week. On Monday a bomb wrecked a downtown shopping street, killing six persons and injuring more than 140.

The Europa had been the object of two previous bombing attacks blamed on the outlawed Irish Republican Army. On both occasions the bombs were defused safely.

The bomb, estimated by the army at more than 100 pounds of gelignite, damaged stores and offices over a radius of at least 100 yards.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three AFL-CIO members of President Nixon's Pay Board resigned today, saying they could no longer cooperate in a control program they viewed as slanted against the nation's workers.

NAVY CHAPLAIN COURT-MARTIALED — Commander Andrew F. Jensen, Naval Protestant Chaplain, and his wife, Kathleen, are shown en route to his trial in Jacksonville, Fla., today. The chaplain is being court-martialed for "conduct unbecoming an officer" in that he had been accused by two other Naval officers wives of having sexual relations with them.

THE VICTORS — Daniel Walker, left, independent Democratic gubernatorial nominee; Cook County (Chicago) State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan, center; and Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, right, Democratic presidential preference primary candidate, were all victors in the Illinois primary election Tuesday.

MUSKIE OUTDISTANCES McCARTHY

He'll Keep Winning Now?

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, claiming in victory that he'll keep winning now, held a big lead over Sen. George McGovern today as the ballots were counted in their contest for the Illinois delegate votes for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Muskie easily outdistanced Eugene J. McCarthy to win as expected Tuesday in an Illinois presidential preference primary, polling 63 per cent of the vote.

SLOW COUNT

A slow count of the long ballots in the delegate selection contests, where Muskie also was favored, left in doubt the final lineup in the Illinois delegation. But it was clear the Maine senator would emerge with a substantial margin over McGovern.

The delegate contest was really 24 contests, with the 160 convention seats apportioned among Illinois congressional districts.

With 75 per cent of the 10,858 precincts counted, delegates committed to vote for Muskie's nomination led for 60 convention seats, McGovern entries for 14.

But there were more uncommitted delegates, 86, leading than the two campaigners could claim between them.

And that was about the only thing that went right Tuesday for Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who will lead the uncommitted bloc when the Democrats convene July 10 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Daley's Chicago Democratic organization was jolted when two insurgents beat his chosen candidates to win nominations for governor and state's attorney.

PEOPLE SPEAK

"The people have spoken," said Daley. "It's always a good thing when the people speak."

In the presidential preference vote, with 95 per cent of the precincts counted, these were the totals:

Muskie 722,930 votes, or 63 per cent.

McCarthy 420,222 votes, 37 per cent.

"We're going to keep on winning, through all the primaries, through the Democratic National Convention and across the entire nation next November," said Muskie. "This is the message that the people of Illinois have just sent across the nation."

The Maine senator got off to a faltering campaign start, with a 46.4 per cent victory showing in the New Hampshire primary, and a battering in Florida, where he ran fourth and got only 9 per cent of the vote.

CLEAR-CUT VICTORY

Muskie said Illinois gave him "a clear-cut victory."

It came over a former Minnesota senator who is not among the real contenders for the 1972 nomination.

Nonetheless, it was a victory, and whether or not it impresses rival politicians, it puts a win on the Muskie record to carry in to the pivotal Wisconsin primary April 4.

All the Democratic contenders are entered there, in a 12-day race.

McCarthy said he was "quite content and satisfied" with his showing.

PROTESTS

Muskie discounted the Florida primary, saying it was inconclusive because the vote was fragmented and protest ballots carried Alabama Gov.

George C. Wallace to victory.

In New Hampshire, he said, other people set his standard for a victory in his home New England area, so high that he knew he couldn't make it.

Now, the Maine senator said, "I've struck a responsive chord" with the voters.

He also has revised his campaign strategy to concentrate on selected primary contests, instead of waging the kind of all-state campaign he had envisioned. That change became evident with word that he will not campaign actively for the May 16 Maryland primary, concentrating instead on the Michigan contest on the same day.

In state races in Illinois, Daniel J. Walker edged Lt. Gov.

Paul Simon, Daley's candidate, to win the Democratic nomination for governor. He will face Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

DUMPED BY DALEY

State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan, dumped by the Daley organization because of his indictment in connection with a police raid in which two Black Panther leaders were killed, won renomination anyhow.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski won the Democratic nomination to run against Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy.

Massive Republican cross-overs to vote in the Democratic primary apparently were the key to the defeats dealt the Daley organization.

Muskie's preferential vote ran generally steady across the state. His share of the big Chicago vote was almost identical to his statewide showing.

It appeared that statewide the Republican crossover added to his vote, as it did to Walker's.

House Speaker Insists He's 'Stepping Aside'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gus Mutscher, the highest Texas official ever convicted of a felony, says he is stepping aside as House speaker.

Mutscher, however, avoided the word "resign."

He went before his staff and other House employees Tuesday afternoon and later talked individually with newsmen who sought clarification of his statement.

"I am stepping aside and will not preside over a special session of the legislature," Mutscher told a newsmen.

YES AND NO

Since only special sessions remain before Mutscher's two-year term as speaker would end in January 1973, that means he will not preside over the Texas House again.

Asked if he was saying that he was resigning, Mutscher said: "I'm not saying I'm not and I'm not saying I will. . . . A number of alternatives are here, but I will speak to those later on."

Mutscher, 39, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and speaker's aide Ruth McGinty were convicted at Abilene last Wednesday on charges they conspired to accept a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp.

All three received five-year probated prison sentences.

McGinty said possibilities include Mutscher's designating someone to fill the presiding officer's chair in his place.

Most House members believe Mutscher would be removed by a vote of the House if he did not step aside. There likely will be a fight for the interim speakership between forces of Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine, an active candidate for 1973 House speaker, and those who want Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi as temporary speaker.

YOU UNDERSTAND?

Mutscher's resignation has been expected since he was convicted.

"You all understand, I'm sure, how sad and disappointed I am at the outcome of the trial. There is no justice when innocent people are convicted. I am innocent, and God knows I am innocent," Mutscher told his staff and House employees.

He was informally attired, wearing slacks and a yellow monogrammed windbreaker, when he made the statement.

He told the staff that "regardless of what happens in regard to a new speaker, whether he be temporary, permanent, or whatever, I intend to do everything in my power to see that the present House staff does not suffer for my problems."

POLITICAL FUTURE

After Mutscher read the statement, a member of his staff distributed it in the Capitol pressroom.

"As to my political future, I

Orders TCTA To Withdraw Sanctions In Crystal City

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — In what a lawyer called a landmark decision, a judge has ordered the Texas Classroom Teachers Association to withdraw its sanctions against this town's Mexican-American controlled school district.

Judge Howard Green of Cuero ordered the TCTA to notify all its chapters of withdrawal of the sanctions. The judgment was entered after a hearing here Tuesday.

Green also ordered the teachers group to pay $500 in damages to the school district, which claimed the sanctions had hampered efforts to recruit and keep teachers.

BAD CONDITIONS

The TCTA invoked the sanctions last May in the wake of turmoil that developed after the Mexican-American Raza Unida Party gained majority control of the school board.

Urging teachers not to accept jobs here, the TCTA said it found "deplorable teaching conditions" after a team conducted an investigation at the request of the local TCTA chapter.

Jesse Gamez of San Antonio, one of the lawyers handling the case for the school district, said the judge's decision is a landmark ruling that will have broad implications if the TCTA appeals and loses.

"If the TCTA loses its power to invoke sanctions, it would be the end of the TCTA," Gamez declared.

Crystal City has been split by controversy for months with the Raza Unida takeover of school and city politics.

Changes under the Mexican-American party's leadership have led some residents to establish a private community school and others to leave Crystal City so their children would not have to attend school here.

The TCTA charged that its probe turned up violations of regulations involving failure to renew certain teachers' contracts.

MISTREATMENT

School officials said some contracts were terminated for such reasons as mistreatment of a pupil, mandatory retirement at age 65, or lack of academic requirements.

When the sanctions were invoked, School Board President Jose Angel Gutierrez, Raza Unida founder, said the TCTA's report on Crystal City was "another malicious document trying to discredit the Mexican-American control of the school district."

PRIVATE SCHOOL

Among those testifying Tuesday was Doranda Byrd, a former school district teacher who now works at the private school here.

Juan Corona Not Entitled To Bail

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — A judge has ruled that Juan Corona is not entitled to bail pending his trial on charges of murdering 25 men.

The attorney for the 38-year-old farm labor contractor sought bail for him after the California Supreme Court ruled that the death penalty violated the state constitution. He argued that the state law prohibiting bail for persons charged with capital crimes was no longer applicable.

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Patton denied the bail Monday. He cited a California Supreme Court decision Friday that modified its original ruling by holding that bail should still be denied to individuals charged with what were capital crimes if "proof of guilt is evident or the presumption thereof is great."

Gov. Preston Smith said in Fort Worth that Mutscher's action "will remove the clamor by many ambitious politicians for an immediate special session."

He said he had not personally talked to Mutscher about the matter, "but I feel that he has made a wise decision, and his decision to step down came as no surprise."

"His case is on appeal," the governor continued. "Evidently he wants to devote full time and attention to his appeal before the Court of Criminal Appeals."

Fems Fight Before Adam's Body Cold

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, once a powerful congressman from New York, lay critically ill today in a hospital room where guards have barred newsmen from entering.

Powell's third wife as well as a woman he was introducing in recent years as his fourth wife were both near his bedside Tuesday, while a medical spokesman explained, "The family has expressly requested that there be no press interviews."

LAWFUL WIFE
Earlier this week third wife Yvette Powell, 40, asked Circuit Court Judge Jack A. Falk to "determine who is the lawful wife" of Powell, 63. She filed suit claiming Darlene E. Powell had told Jackson Memorial Hospital officials she was the former lawmaker's wife, but hospital officials refused to confirm this.

IN POWELL MARITAL HASSLE — Darlene Expose Powell, above, is shown in New York in October, 1970. A Circuit Court judge in Miami, Fla., has issued a restraining order forbidding Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami from releasing the body or possession of former Congressman Adam Clayton Powell to Darlene Expose Powell "in the event of his demise" pending determination of who is his legal wife. Powell, 63, is in critical condition in the hospital. The judge issued the order after Yvette Diago Powell, below, the ex-congressman's third wife, filed suit alleging she was Powell's legal wife.

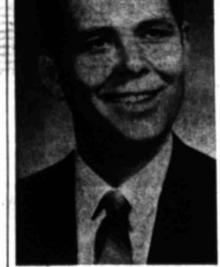

Newsmen who visited Powell at his Bahamian island retreat on Bimini last year were introduced to Darlene by Powell, who said she was his wife.

As the controversy over who was entitled to claim his body and possessions in event of his death continued to swirl around him, the first black U.S. House member from the East was in a coma at the hospital's intensive care unit.

A spokesman said he did not know who was keeping a vigil at Powell's bedside, adding, "I would presume members of the family are making daily visits, but we don't keep track."

Darlene accompanied the former lawmaker to the hospital after he was airlifted from Bimini March 7 by the Coast Guard following apparent complications arising from recent prostate surgery.

'KING OF HARLEM'
Judge Falk granted a temporary injunction Monday forbidding hospital officials to release Powell's body or possessions to anyone and Darlene was served notice of Yvette's suit outside the intensive care unit after an emergency court hearing.

In her suit, Yvette said that any marriage claim by Darlene "is void, voidable or bigamous in as much as your plaintiff is the lawful wife of said congressman."

Yvette married Powell Dec. 20, 1960, after working as a secretary in his Washington office. They had one son, Adam Diago, who is now 18. She lives in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Darlene is another former Powell secretary and has been living with the onetime "King of Harlem" on Bimini since 1970.

As the bidding actually transpired, after South came in with two diamonds, West competed once by showing his heart suit, but when the bidding got back to him—the opponents were in five diamonds and further competition appeared hazardous if partner had nothing but clubs.

West opened the king of spades against South's game bid and an examination of all four hands by the reader will reveal that the hand is something of a double dummy problem. If declarer plays the ace of spades and takes an immediate club finesse, West will ruff the first lead and there is no way subsequently to avoid the loss of two heart tricks, even if South succeeds in establishing one club discard for himself.

If declarer crosses to the ace of diamonds at trick two and then leads the six back to the king to pull West's trumps before leading the queen of clubs, East can prevent the establishment of that suit by merely declining to cover with the king. South must now come back to his hand with the ace of clubs and since the five of diamonds is the only remaining entry to dummy and East still retains the king of clubs as a stopper—North's suit becomes a dead issue.

Dita Beard, ITT Figure, Bailed Out

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Dita Beard, central figure in the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. controversy, was bailed out of jail last August by the president of an advertising agency that lists a Republican congressman as one of its officers, the San Diego Union said Tuesday.

Mrs. Beard was arrested and jailed Aug. 21 for investigation of drunken driving, the newspaper said. Municipal Court records show that the charge was reduced to reckless driving and she was fined $200, the Union said.

Mrs. Beard was bailed out of the San Diego County jail by Norman W. Tolle, president of Tolle Co., an advertising agency of which Rep. Bob Wilson of California is listed as vice president, the newspaper reported.

Tolle said Wilson, who is chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee and was instrumental in bringing the Republican National Convention to his home city of San Diego, was unaware of the arrest, the Union said.

Tolle said Mrs. Beard was a frequent visitor to San Diego and sometimes dined at his home, the Union said. It reported that Tolle said Mrs. Beard was in San Diego last May for an ITT stockholders' meeting.

South Padre Island Chamber of Commerce president Robert McCausland said a day earlier there would be no rock festival on the resort island Easter weekend.

POPULAR PLACE
South Padre Island is a popular gathering place for college students during the holiday weekend even without a rock festival or fiesta. Last year an estimated 65,000 persons gathered there during Easter weekend for a surfing contest and other events.

Cameron County Judge Ray Ramon rejected a proposal by Cecil McDonald of Pharr to stage a rock festival at the island last year. Under Texas law, such a festival can be held by a county judge if it comes under the mass gathering statute.

Maloy told Willacy County Judge Bill Rapp and newsmen Tuesday he has studied the law with a Harlingen lawyer and thinks he can conduct the fiesta without violating it.

NO PROTECTION
Rapp said Maloy told him 5,000 tickets are being sold at $6 each. He said the fiesta would last only four hours, making it fall within the statute which governs gatherings of 12 hours or more.

Rapp said he foresaw many difficulties involved in such an undertaking. Maloy was able to give newsmen at least verbal solutions to some of the problems.

"There are no health or sanitation facilities at the site and it is difficult to reach, even by boat," Rapp said. Maloy said promoters plan to transport spectators up the beach through Cameron County on trailers pulled by four-wheel drive vehicles.

UNRESTRICTED USE
"There is no possibility that we can offer police protection," Rapp added, noting the sheriff has only three deputies.

Maloy said promoters plan to hire off-duty peace officers to maintain order.

Maloy said he and a fellow promoter have booked Chuck Berry, the Amboy Dukes and crackerjack musical groups for the fiesta. No fences or stages will be built, he said.

"We're not doing anything illegal—the beach is for unrestricted use by all citizens," Maloy said.

Bumper stickers have been appearing in various parts of Texas urging young people to gather at South Padre Island for Easter weekend. Maloy said he has nothing to do with the stickers, claiming a Brownsville man had them printed "for the people to gather down here."

Opposition to the fiesta is expected from persons who objected to the other proposed festival because they said they feared widespread drug abuse.

The bidding:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ 2 ♠
2 ♥ 3 ♦ Pass 5 ♦
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

In going thru our archives recently, we uncovered today's hand which presents several points of interest. It was played in an International Team Championship and the bidding is presented as it transpired at one table.

West opened the bidding with one spade and his partner in the East position chose to respond with two clubs. It is not our practice to bid a new suit at the two level with less than ten points—and in the present situation, it served not only to provide South, the eventual declarer with vital playing information, but also inhibited East and West from ever buying the hand.

Had East offered an immediate raise to two spades, a slightly aggressive but not unreasonable action, his partner would surely have been induced to offer strenuous competition on the deal and had West competed all the way to five spades—there would have been no way for North and South to prevent their opponent from winning eleven tricks. If West is permitted to ruff a diamond in dummy, he loses only one diamond and one spade, inasmuch as the heart finesse succeeds and that suit divides favorably.

If North leads the ace and another spade, to prevent the diamond ruff, West can counter by putting up the jack of spades from dummy at trick two to lead the ten of hearts for an immediate finesse in that suit. Whether or not South covers with the king, West can cash three heart tricks and discard the eight of diamonds from the East hand. A diamond is ruffed with dummy's remaining trump and a club ruff puts West in to draw North's last spade. A diamond is conceded to the opposition and declarer claims the balance for eleven tricks.

As the bidding actually transpired, after South came in with two diamonds, West competed once by showing his heart suit, but when the bidding got back to him—the opponents were in five diamonds and further competition appeared hazardous if partner had nothing but clubs.

West opened the king of spades against South's game bid and an examination of all four hands by the reader will reveal that the hand is something of a double dummy problem. If declarer plays the ace of spades and takes an immediate club finesse, West will ruff the first lead and there is no way subsequently to avoid the loss of two heart tricks, even if South succeeds in establishing one club discard for himself.

If declarer crosses to the ace of diamonds at trick two and then leads the six back to the king to pull West's trumps before leading the queen of clubs, East can prevent the establishment of that suit by merely declining to cover with the king. South must now come back to his hand with the ace of clubs and since the five of diamonds is the only remaining entry to dummy and East still retains the king of clubs as a stopper—North's suit becomes a dead issue.

Declarer cannot avoid the loss of three heart tricks and must go down to defeat. When the hand was actually played, declarer succeeded in taking eleven tricks on the deal—and, there was no way that the defense could stop him.

Altho we dislike leaving the reader in suspense, considerations of space prevent us from finishing this story until tomorrow. Besides, this offers the potential problem solver twenty-four hours to work out the solution for himself.

A car so advanced, it can tell you just about everything that's right or wrong with it.

Remarkable new invention in every 1972 Volkswagen.

We've all been through it. The agony of an automotive check-up. You sit nervously thumbing through old magazines, praying that somehow you can get out of there for less than $50.

Then, the moment of truth: A Service Manager telling you that one of his best mechanics thinks you need a new generator.

Those days will be over soon if you own a 1972 Volkswagen.

For instead of a mechanic telling you what he thinks is wrong with your car, now your car can tell you for sure. Sound amazing? It is.

A car wired like a space capsule.

When Man went to the Moon, the success of each mission depended a great deal on a highly technical computerized system that told the Astronauts the exact condition of their space vehicle.

A similar system is now built into every 1972 Volkswagen.

The system in the car.

Running throughout the car is a network of sensors, each reporting the condition of various parts of the car. Most of these sensor points are located in key areas like the engine or the electrical system, but many are found in seemingly insignificant places like the heated rear window.

The information from all areas is channeled to one central socket located in the rear engine compartment. The socket is about the size of a pack of cigarettes.

We mention the size only because of what happens next. And that's what this amazing socket can do.

60 vital service checks.

Soon you'll be able to take any 1972 Volkswagen into an authorized VW dealership for the most advanced automotive check-up in the world today.

At that time, your car will actually be plugged into a computer.

And in half the time it takes to perform a conventional check-up, 60 vital service checks will be made and recorded.

Checks wheel alignment in 10 seconds.

In 10 seconds, you'll know if your front wheels are properly aligned. In a minute, you'll know the condition of the compression of all engine cylinders. Without a mechanic so much as taking a peek, you'll know whether or not your battery needs water. Ignition, cylinder compression, dwell angle, generator, electrical system—All checked out without human error. In effect, your car will be telling you how it feels directly.

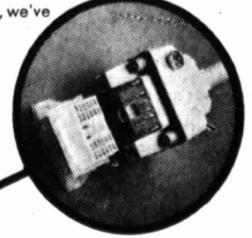

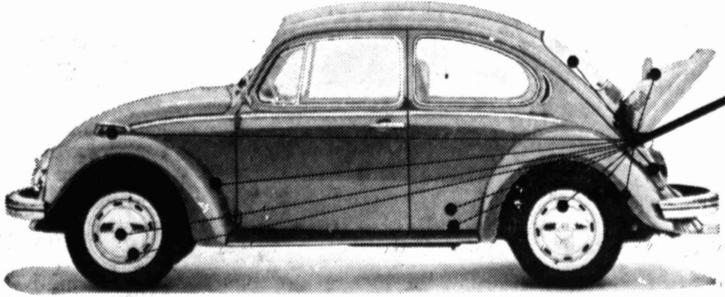

And once again, this information is emanating from that one tiny socket built into the back of every 1972 Volkswagen.

Results printed out in plain English.

One-half of the system is already here. Built into every new Volkswagen. The other half, the computer, is on its way. Imagine. A computer five feet away from your car is printing out in plain English just about everything that's right or wrong with that car. When all 60 service checks have been made, the print-out sheet is yours to keep. What better proof to show that your automobile has finally had a thorough physical check-up?

A new way to look at a VW.

It started with economy, back in 1949, when it wasn't fashionable for an automobile to be economical. But since when has a VW been fashionable? Since never. Obviously, the Volkswagen Beetle hasn't made it on looks alone. But then, that's always been the plan. While everyone else has been worrying about how their cars looked, we've been worrying about how ours acted. And now, after all that time, we've even advanced it to a stage where it can speak.

AN AMAZING SOCKET, BUILT INTO THE BACK OF EVERY 1972 VOLKSWAGEN, THAT WHEN PLUGGED INTO A COMPUTER, WILL ACTUALLY REPORT THE CONDITION OF YOUR CAR — DIRECTLY TO YOU!

Land Sale Is Council Topic

A second meeting of the Section 17 committee will be held today at 5:15 p.m. in the city commission chambers at city hall.

The committee is studying the possibility of developing city owned Section 17 in the Silver Heels Addition for sale.

According to Harry Nagel, city manager, development of the land will begin when the committee completes their work on forming a plat on the property.

Money made by the city off the sale of the land will be used for capital improvements in Big Spring, according to Nagel.

When work begins on the land, which may be in late spring or early summer, both the city and the county government will be involved.

Members of the Section 17 committee are H. W. Wright, Dewitt Bunn, W. J. Shappard, Daryle Hohertz, and Jack R. Worsham.

Third Location In Martin Area

The mounting interest in a shallow production zone in north central Martin County was reflected Wednesday in still another location — the third in two days.

This venture will be Beach No. 1 O'Brien, half a mile northwest of the opener of a Grayburg-San Andres pool, which may be known as the Phoenix. It is also a mile and a quarter northwest of what was regarded as a Queen discovery.

Mitchell County gained a location on the Spade Ranch 10 miles south of Westbrook. This venture is projected to 1,000 feet.

Howard County picked up a re-completion in the Hutto-Wolf camp zone, good for 4 1/2 barrels a day.

Relief Rolls Up 117,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare statistics released today show 117,000 persons joined relief rolls in November, but that total assistance dropped $19 million from the previous month.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the figures reflect benefit cutbacks by states seeking to plug the drain on their treasuries.

The report shows 14.6 million persons received a total of $1.5 billion in cash and services during November, the last month for which statistics are available.

The largest increase was in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, which added 94,000 recipients for a total of more than 10.5 million.

Higher AFDC rolls were reported in all states except Alaska, Arizona, California, Idaho, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Mexico, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Dystrophy Drive Picks Up $170

Wearin' 'O The Green on St. Patrick's Day brought in $170 for the local muscular dystrophy campaign.

George Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ducky Robertson, organized a shamrock sale at six schools to earn money for the campaign against muscular dystrophy.

Twelve youngsters, two at each school, sold the shamrocks to their classmates during lunch in the cafeteria. Valerie Anderson collected the most money, and was awarded a $5 prize.

Participating schools were Airport, Moss, College Heights, Kentwood and Washington elementary and Big Spring High School.

AS YOU LIKE IT — The waters of Kentucky Lake glistened in the sunset as the silhouetted figures of Deb Anderson and Dwan Bell moulded in an embrace on shore at Murray, Ky. Both are from Murray, which is located in the western part of the state.

Youth Duo Has Busy Schedule

Two of the busiest young men in Texas are John Rihard and Ronnie Hise — and the next week will be one of the busiest of their lives.

They are the production assistants for "Campus Revue-72," the Big Spring High School band's extravaganza which will be spotlighted a week from this evening in the annual state convention of the Texas Association of Student Councils.

Production assistants are the right-hand men of the directors. It is their job to see that all members of the cast and crews of CR are accounted for, and that the stage is ready for production time. They call all rehearsals; they are consultants in programming. It is the responsibility of the assistants to see that the backstage area is under control at all times and that acts and props are ready to be moved instantly on stage. Considering the cast numbers 150, this is no small task.

Tuesday evening they got a workout, along with all other members of CR-72, who staged their first dress rehearsal in preparation for the Austin appearance. Another rehearsal was in store Wednesday afternoon and a final one Thursday.

There might have been another Friday, but the Stage Band, which is in the pit and in the CR acts, has to go to Dallas Friday afternoon to make a Saturday morning appearance before the Texas-Oklahoma district convention of the Key Clubs. Stage Band members, under the leadership of Kyle Ellison, then hurry home to put in a day of school Monday before embarking on the trip Monday afternoon to Austin.

Briscoe Visit Slate Is Set

Arrangements are complete for the arrival in Big Spring next Monday of Dolph Briscoe, candidate for the governor's position in this year's elections.

According to Charles Kaufmann and Harvey Hooser, Jr., both Howard County campaign chairmen, Briscoe will arrive at the Howard County Airport 8 a.m. Monday. He will be met by the chairman and a delegation of supporters.

Briscoe will go to the local campaign headquarters at 1900 Scurry St., where he will meet with members of the press from 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. Briscoe will also hold private meetings during that time with some of his special local supporters.

Following the press and public rally will be held on the lawn of the Howard County Courthouse, starting at 10:30 a.m. There will be refreshments.

Then during the lunch hour, Briscoe has been scheduled to address a combined group of several civic organizations in the city.

"Anyone wishing to offer time and services, or donate financial assistance for Briscoe's campaign, is asked to contact one of us at 267-5260," Kaufmann said today.

Three More Schools Name Spelling Bee Champions

Like returns on election night reports on champions and alternates from Big Spring elementary schools continued to pour in Wednesday.

Three more schools have completed the eliminations and representatives are ready for the county finals at 4 p.m. Wednesday March 29. They are Airport, Marcy, and Parkhill.

At Airport, the representative is Leisha Biddison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Biddison, 1503 Oriole, who moved up from the alternate champ last year. Her alternate is Diana Dominguez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dominguez, 510 N. Rannels. Diana stubbed her toe on "cemetery," which Leisha spelled. The pronouncement had a boggle and gave out "clobber," which Leisha spelled. The word was "cobbler," but Leisha could spell that, too.

Marcy's champion is Jackie O'Brien, 11, daughter of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Patrick O'Brien, 2944 Hunter Drive. The sixth grader spelled "equation" to win the title.

Eric Miller, 11, son of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Jack Miller, 2404 Carlton Drive, a fifth grader was the runnerup and is Jackie's alternate.

Parkhill hoisted the storm warnings — the Margolis tribe is back. Glenn Margolis, 9, a fourth grader and the youngest champ so far entered in the county finals, took the title when he spelled "amorous," a word missed by Dale Harrington, the alternate, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harrington, 2701 Clanton, then won on "application."

Glenn's sister, Maridene, not only won her school title and the county championship last year, but also the regional and 10th in the national finals. They are the children of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Margolis.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rihard, 1004 Kentucky Way. He is a junior, has been in the band program five years, a production assistant for the second year, and a bus captain. Ronnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hise, 2225 Lynn Drive, and is a four-year veteran in the band, a sophomore, on the publicity committee, and is a first-year production assistant.

TSTI Operated Year Without Audit System

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Auditor George McNeil issued a report Tuesday that Texas State Technical Institute operated for more than a year without an accounting system.

The audit covered the year that ended Aug. 31, 1970, the first 12 months after the institute was split off from the Texas A&M system.

McNeil said a "capable person" was hired as comptroller of the school March 15, 1971.

"Although our audit did not extend past Aug. 31, 1970, subsequent discussions with this person gives us reason to believe that changes are gradually being made that should in time rectify most of the unsatisfactory conditions described.

"The deficiencies in the accounting records and controls are of the nature and extent, however, that they are not likely to be resolved quickly nor easily," McNeil said.

The institute has campuses in Waco, Harlingen and Amarillo and offers post-high school vocational and technical training in a wide variety of fields.

McNeil said there was no system for issuing receipts for cash.

The procedure used included the writing of a cash receipt for a student during registration even though the student may not have paid his tuition and fees at the time," he said.

The auditor said some receipts had been altered after they were written.

"If a mistake is made in writing a receipt form, the form should be voided and another issued," McNeil commented.

He also said there was "a lack of proper internal control in the disbursement of cash. Supporting vouchers pertaining to some $58,857 of disbursements were either lost, misplaced or otherwise unable to be located by us. In addition, there were $1,660,541 in disbursements for which no formal vouchers were written."

"We hasten to add, however, that nothing came to our attention during the course of the audit which would indicate any shortage or overt loss of funds," McNeil said.

Too Late For Peace In Ireland?

BELFAST (AP) — Northern Ireland's premier meets Prime Minister Edward Heath today to discuss the British government's still-secret political proposals it hopes will de-escalate the communal warfare in the embattled province.

Premier Brian Faulkner flew to London amid continuing violence, growing tension and fears it may be too late to bring peace between Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic minority and the Protestant majority.

Underlining the urgency of the Irish question, British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home shortened an official visit to Israel to return to London for a meeting of the British Cabinet Thursday following the Heath-Faulkner meeting.

In Londonderry, Ulster's second largest city, guerrilla gunmen fought a two-hour battle with British troops on the eve of Faulkner's trip. No casualties were reported, however.

The problem for Faulkner and the British government is to produce a political solution that will meet Catholic demands for civil rights reforms yet not offer them so much that the Protestants start fighting.

Faulkner promised the provincial parliament Tuesday he would "stand or fall" on his Protestant-based government's judgment of the British proposals. His ruling Unionist party issued a statement supporting "his determination to maintain Northern Ireland as an integral part of the United Kingdom."

The IRA battle to take Northern Ireland from Britain and put it under the rule of the neighboring Irish Republic sprang from a Catholic civil rights campaign for equality with Protestants in jobs, votes and housing.

Past British concessions to the minority were not enough to halt the violence and many Protestants now fear major concessions that will weaken their control of the government.

Meany 'Fed Up' With Pay Lids

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany was quoted by a high labor source today as saying "I am fed up" with President Nixon's wage-price controls and ready to recommend that organized labor quit the federal Pay Board.

The development followed the recommendation of another Pay Board member, President Floyd Smith of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, that the five labor members on the 15-man Pay Board resign.

But labor sources said a decision to quit the board was by no means a certainty at today's labor summit conference called by Meany.

WALKOUT LOOMS

"There's nothing cut-and-dried about this," one source said. But others close to Meany said there was a 75 per cent chance of a walkout.

Meany and Smith reportedly have President I.W. Abel of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers in their corner, but expect problems with the big Teamsters and Auto Workers unions who reportedly are not ready to quit the Pay Board.

Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock and Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, whose unions are not part of the AFL-CIO, have been invited by Meany to the meeting of the federation's 35-man executive council which will make the decision.

Sources said the question of fracturing organized labor's unity in the face of Nixon's control program could be a factor working against an immediate walkout from the board if Woodcock and Fitzsimmons don't agree.

WAGE BOOSTS

The AFL-CIO also may face some resistance among leaders of its powerful Building and Construction Trades Department which has its own wage-stabilization program and has been winning wage hikes considerably in excess of the Pay Board's 5.5-per-cent guideline. The department planned its own meeting today to hammer out a position.

It was learned that a key AFL-CIO Union Steelworkers in their corner, but expect problems with the big Teamsters and Auto Workers unions who reportedly are not ready to quit the Pay Board.

Bob Greene Making Plans For Washington Meeting

Interest in the local Head Start program is growing, according to Bob Greene, chairman of the local police council of the program, and within the next three years improvements will be made in the program on a nation-wide level.

National Ad Hoc Committee has been formed, of which Greene is a member representing the five-state area including Texas. The committee is an advisory committee to the Federal Office of Child Development, which is a division of the Department of Housing, Education and Welfare.

A meeting of the committee will be held in Washington D. C. March 30 and 31, and Greene, plus another representative from Louisiana will attend.

local parents, with children involved in Head Start, regarding their suggestions about needed changes.

The changes will be incorporated into the program over a three-year period. Some changes include serving more children not necessarily in low-income bracket families, getting more parents involved in the program and keeping the parents involved until their children reach grade school level, setting up special programs to be used as training centers, and expanding the program to include handicapped children.

The over-all purpose of incorporating new changes in the program is to get more parents interested in the activity surrounding Head Start, according to Greene.

The ad hoc advisory committee is a good thing also, because it enables parents on a local level to have some say in the changes being proposed for the program.

SINCERE

"It has been a pleasure to work with the local group of parents, because they are sincere and highly interested in child and community development," said Greene. He indicated he will be leaving the chairman position next year.

A meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Kate Morrison School. The policy council, composed of 20 local parents, will discuss the new year's budget.

The local Head Start program is conducted at the Kate Morrison School, with 196 students presently enrolled.

Hazardous Occupation

Writing in the current issue of Food and Fiber Economics, a publication of the Texas-A&M agricultural extension service, William J. Vastine relates some interesting statistics.

Of the nation's $121 billion bill for food (prepared and consumed at home, and that purchased away from home), Texas accounts for $5.5 billion annually.

Texans are served by some 10,000 retail and wholesale food outlets employing 126,500 workers with an annual $131,000,000 payroll. At the base of this important industry are some 188,000 farms and ranches employing 282,000 workers and yielding about $3.2 billion in products (we are an exporting state).

In the light of these figures, it would be easy to get the idea that the farmer and rancher has it made. But, Vastine reminds that "nearly two-thirds of the final value for foods purchased is added by the marketing system." This is the price exacted for changing the form of the product, transporting it to the population centers and stores, and making it available to consumers.

But producing for the market is a hazardous occupation, as legions of farmers and ranchers well know. The gamble against the weather, the bugs and the manpower crisis often times is less than that of hoping to hit a demand market at the right time with the right product.

A lot of people have a picture of the farmer as an individual with his hand out for not planting acreage or supplemental payments for what he does plant. Confronted with the odds that the farmer faces all the time, most commercial operators just wouldn't take the chance. The farmer, however, keeps on, hoping for that big year.

New Crisis In Making

Secretary of the Treasury John Connally managed to maintain an attitude of benign neglect somehow combined with optimism over the future of the dollar. He seems unmoved by the growing conviction among international bankers that something must be done soon about exchange rates.

The ink on the Washington monetary agreement of last Dec. 18 is dry by now. But the effectiveness of widening the rate by which currencies can fluctuate is already very much in doubt.

Commenting on the confusion that now exists, the Economist of London offered these alternatives:

"Either the surplus countries like Germany and the rest will have to build up even more fences to curb capital inflows; or they must be prepared to take in additional dollars; or they must allow their currencies to appreciate further against the dollar by upward floats. The last course is the most positively dangerous one. Unfortunately, it is the first course that is now being followed. Central bankers, determined to try to keep the Washington agreement in one piece, are imposing the exchange controls which they said that agreement was designed to avert."

The weakness of the dollar is caused primarily by our balance of payments deficit. The drop in interest rates in the United States provides no incentive for the repatriation of dollars.

Exchange rates will not stand still. A new world monetary crisis is in the making.

Internal Trouble

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It would not be wise perhaps to judge the Democratic party's future by what happened in two primaries — New Hampshire and Florida — but there is already considerable evidence of a lack of solidarity. Naturally, each candidate expresses his own views on current questions, but it is customary for contender also to outline their differences with the opposition party.

THIS YEAR, however, the pre-convention contests among the Democrats seem to be related mostly to personal ambition and the publicizing of individual opinions on certain subjects. There are among the candidates some who have a conservative background and some who are looked upon as liberals. But in dealing with matters that will be decisive in the votes cast in the November election, there is as yet no clear-cut idea of what the position of the Democratic party is going to be in the controversies that have stirred up the voters in recent months.

It is too early, of course, for the two political parties to take a stand on the main issues which will be covered in their platforms. But it seems likely that the Nixon administration will use its influence to get a platform which will not antagonize the liberal elements. As for the Democrats, they are stressing the need for legislation that will give persons of lower income more tax benefits, and undoubtedly this will be one of the big promises in one or both of the party platforms.

THE VIETNAM war has been one of the sources of protest against the Nixon administration and it is to be expected that the Democrats will have an "antiwar" plank in their platform. But, by the time their convention begins in July, virtually all American troops will have been withdrawn from Indo-China, so the platform plank will probably deal with future wars and be against American involvement abroad.

The emphasis in the party at present is on how is going to be the Democratic nominee. Oddly enough, not many of the people who are familiar with the political history of what happens at conventions think that Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who at the moment has the most delegates, will win the nomination. He might attain a commanding position in the race and be able to decide who will be the nominee by throwing his ballot strength to some other candidate.

AS OF NOW, however, the general feeling here is that the real battle is between Gov. Wallace and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and that most of the factions in the Democratic party will end up behind one or the other of these aspirants before convention time. The platform, of course, will be written before the candidate is nominated, and it may be anticipated that the Democrats will offer a liberal document.

The prospects are that, if the Alabama governor isn't given the nomination, he may choose to run again as an Independent. This certainly would take away many votes from the Democratic nominee and help to insure the re-election of President Nixon.

THUS, THE Democratic party has its troubles, and these will not be resolved by the primary elections that are about to be held in several states. The fundamental differences between the views of the Democrats in the South and of those in the North still plague the party. In addition, the forced-busing issue is growing.

Some party leaders are saying that an avowed noncandidate — Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts — might become a late starter in the race for the Democratic nomination or wind up as the subject of a "draft" movement at the convention.

ON THE whole, the democratic party is confronted in 1972 with some baffling questions, and party solidarity has already been impaired.

Inconsistent

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — With the thousands of words spilled in the Florida primary about busing not a single word was uttered so far as can be discovered about the only frontal attack on the tragic deficiencies in American education. Having advertised earlier his opposition to busing, President Nixon's newest proposal comes with ill grace against the background of what he did in December.

LAST YEAR the Congress passed by sizable majorities a measure meant to enlarge the opportunities for children living below the poverty line in ghettos, Appalachia, in the South-west, with "condemned for life" written across their condition. Head Start, the program to try to correct the balance for the very young deprived of a fair chance to begin on the mark at school age, was to be greatly expanded.

But, most important, it provided for a great increase in day-care centers for children from homes where both parents go out to work or as in thousands of instances where the mother as the sole provider is a housemaid with a long commute at each end of the day. Extensive hearings held by Sen. Walter Mondale, the sponsor of the bill showed that there were perhaps 700,000 places in day-care centers that could be considered adequate while the need was for at least 5,000,000.

TOWARD THE end of the last session of Congress President Nixon vetoed the bill with a message that, as a Presidential state paper, read like a demagogic campaign speech. This, said the President, was an effort to impose the commune system and break up the family pattern. He conveniently ignored the fact that his own welfare reform measure would force many mothers to go into the labor market even though they might have preschool children.

What especially dismayed the sponsors was that they believed they had the sanction of Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson. As they reconstruct it, Richardson was overruled by John D. Ehrlichman, who performs some-what the same function for domestic affairs as does Henry Kissinger for foreign policy.

AND A TRIFLE UPSETTING!

Assault On The Top

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — In the decade of the 1960s the vigorously growing U.S. economy thrust the Dow Jones Industrial Average to 995 points, the equivalent of a bursting young earth heaving up the Himalayas.

Now, six years later, that peak is still unconquered. No amount of economic upthrust has been enough to pierce the sky, which in this instance is the 1,000-point "barrier."

To call it a barrier seems trite until you consider that somehow there is indeed an obstacle there — psychological, statistical, actual or imaginary.

Since the 1960s the economy has grown. Corporate profits have continued to rise.

Early this week the DJIA was above 940, a level reached several times since 1966, a level that is always referred to as one where forces are regrouped, energies replenished for an "assault" on the top. Will it be done?

A clue to the curious behavior of the DJIA was found in a comparison with some other averages. In the past 10 years, for example, the DJIA has failed to double, but the American Stock Exchange Index has more than quadrupled.

Amex stocks generally are of smaller, faster-growing companies. The DJIA is made up of 30 companies that already have had great growth and now are huge. They represent nearly one-third of the nation's industrial output.

Companies of that size are not mastadons or dinosaurs or creatures whose future is dead. But they are elephants. Strong and healthy as they are, they are no match in speed to smaller competitors.

The DJIA is also a weighted measure. In fact, it is an index rather than an average. The relative weight of a stock is proportional to its market price. A big decline in a high-priced stock has greater effect than a similar decline in a low-priced stock.

Tending also to act as a depressant is the fact that expanding companies often split their stocks. When this happens, the stock then has only a fraction of its previous weight, or influence in the over-all index.

John Wright, the statistics-minded founder of Wright Investors Service, notes that in the 1966-1968 period the DJIA fell 2.6 per cent from 959 to 944, but that the market price of the 30 component stocks, individually adjusted, showed an average gain of 21 per cent.

In 1939, American Telephone & Telegraph, largest service corporation in the world, replaced a lesser known company in the DJIA. Since then, the smaller company has grown to one of the largest in the world.

Had International Business Machines, the premier growth stock of our time, remained in the computations the DJIA would, so to speak, be in the space age itself.

Mynah Bird And Hangover

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE (Substituting for Hal Boyle)

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — It was raining outside the combination cafe and restaurant. The counter man had a hangover and the owner's mynah bird, a small one named Joe, was singing "On Top of Old Smoky."

The bird was also practicing his wolf whistle and generally amusing himself on a cold winter day. Every time the black and yellow bird hit a high note the counter man would shrug and roll his eyes and gaze at the ceiling.

"That little bird is seven kinds of hell on a bad head," said the counter man, who was pale, gray and in his late 30s.

"I'm standing here telling you, mister, that you wouldn't believe the things that whistle can do to the inside of a man's head. It's something, I'm telling you."

He popped open a can of beer for a customer, looked longingly at it for a long second or two, then handed it over. He volunteered that the bird was regarded by many as the most talented mynah in the state and had been bought by the cafe's owner for $35. His cage, he said, cost more than the bird.

"People drive from all over to see that bird sing Smoky," said the man. "A few weeks ago, this bunch of salesmen, from up at Atlanta, drove down just to hear him sing Smoky. But when they got here, Joe wouldn't let out a peep. He's got an independent mind."

The counter man used to live at the place but the mynah bird, not a heavy sleeper, began to bother him. "That bird was like an alarm," said the man, carefully arranging a few cellophane bags of corn chips on a bar rack.

For no apparent reason, the bird chose that moment to let loose with four piercingly sharp wolf whistles.

"That peach wine isn't half bad," said the man suddenly, ignoring the bird. "That blueberry is okay, too, though most of the people around here prefer the strawberry. It has this sort of sting to it on your tongue."

Joe, the bird, moved his head back and forth, then staidied it before emitting another wolf whistle, which was even louder than the others.

The counter man sighed and ran his eyes over the wine bot-

Oh, What Fun!

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

It all started with the egg. Before the days of the caged hen, the egg often was in short supply at this season of the year, and it took some doing to get a couple of dozen extra ones in anticipation of Easter.

WHEN I WAS a lad, most of the Easter eggs were eggs, and only the reckless or the well-to-do could afford those candy things in green excelsior. Boiling and dyeing the eggs was quite a chore, and there was no assurance that every egg would take the dye. Moreover, Rhode Island Reds, as I recall, yielded an egg with a little brownish cast, which meant that you used them for the reds and deep oranges, whereas the Leghorns and the Dominickers (Plymouth Rocks) blessed you with an egg that could be used for the pastels of green, yellow, purple, etc.

OCCASIONALLY, a dye maker put a few decals in the package, but I thought secretly that this was almost a bit of sacrilege. Moreover, the transfers to the egg more often got messed up. I was just naturally prejudiced toward the solid colors.

I wasn't the best egg hunter who ever peered into a clump of grass or under a weed or behind a rock, but none was more enthusiastic. In fact, I fluttered everywhere and got no where.

WHEN NO. 1 boy blessed our home, I suppose that Mama and I wanted to relive vicariously our childhood experiences. We (and I use the term a trifle loosely) got a dozen or so eggs, went through the ritual of coloring them, bought a little gay basket with some bright trappings. While she occupied him with tall tales about the Easter bunny turning on the egg machine, I hid the eggs in the back yard.

Alas, it was a teaching adventure, for never having hunted eggs before, he tottered around unimpressed. Finally, we nearly poked his nose in one and said: "Oooh! What a pretty egg!" We extended the lovely oval to him; he eyed it, grasped it, said "oooh" and heaved it with all the promise of a potential big leaguer pitcher.

"NO! NO!" we said. "Put the pretty egg in the pretty basket." This was repeated by discovering another egg, saying "oooh" and nesting it in the basket. Finally, he grasped the rules of the game, and, finding an egg (if he didn't step on it), tossed it into the basket with all the tenderness of someone tossing balls at a carnival. Eventually, he mastered the skill, and was ready to go again, and again . . . and again . . . and again.

The process was repeated, though I confess with less zest, with No. 2 boy, whose added bulk and strength bode ill for such a fragile thing as an egg. The first few rounds were interesting. Then No. 1 was drafted into hiding the eggs (he did so well even he couldn't find them). Mama fled to the kitchen and it was back to the yard for Papa Bear.

NO. 3 BOY came along so much later that we had almost forgotten everything but the glamor of hunting eggs. But when the new wore off for the older boys and for Mama and me, No. 3 had just got the hang of it. Alas, we were reduced to working in shifts, but he never let up. After the second day, merciful Fate saw to it that the eggs were broken beyond the help of all the kings horses and men (and it is not true, as an ugly rumor went, that I deliberately stepped on the basket).

That Time Of Year

Robert E. Ford

It is that time of year again for husbands.

The first shock strikes when he walks onto the front lawn some morning after his newspaper and discovers the first sprig of grass peeping up through the yellow winter turf.

HE WAITS a week, hoping the grass will go away or a great drought will come — only on his own lawn — and he will thus not face the spring chores.

At the end of the week, the weeds have popped up all over the place and more grass has come up and he knows his seasonal labor must start.

So he lays out a lot of dough at the garden store for fertilizer, weed killer and bug assassinator.

You have the paradox of a man not wanting grass, yet nurturing it. It is probable that this in truth is caused by a conflict with the wife who insists that the lawn look something better than the vacant lot down the street.

We know one individual who decided he just wasn't going to do all that lawn work and didn't. His lawn grew so rank in weeds that the neighbors called the cops.

THE HUSBAND fertilizes, mows, replaces turf the insects have eaten, edges the walks, and runs up his water bill.

So what happens? The only really decent grass he grows is in the flower beds.

If grass could read, he could put up signs in the flower beds saying, "This is a lawn," and placards on the lawn saying, "This is a flower bed," and he would have a picture-postcard lawn and grass-free strips where his wife could putter with flowers.

A current fad in Dallas and possibly elsewhere is the greatest thing that ever happened to long-suffering, muscle-weary husbands.

HOUSEHOLDERS often have sworn about their lawns: "I'm going to concrete the whole thing and paint it green."

Now they are doing it. Someone built a circular driveway through his front lawn and turned the bits and pieces of left-over ground into flower plots.

If a man has the money, he then can have someone put a swimming pool in the back yard, and you have to have concrete walks around the pool, of course, and rather soon he finds himself without any grass at all front or back.

NO ONE really wants a drought, even in the city. No one wants floods, either.

But they can be restful. For grass will not grow very well during droughts, obviously, and during floods it naturally is too wet to mow. The householder gets a little rest.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Please advise me where in the Scriptures is the passage: "We are known by the company we keep."

H.B.

This is not found in the Scriptures. But the truth expressed is found in many passages of the Bible. For example: "Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil . . ." Exodus 23:2. "Enter not in the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men." Proverbs 4:14. And on the positive side: "Walk in the way of good men, and keep the paths of the righteous." Proverbs 2:20. "He that walketh with the wise men shall be wise; but a companion of fools shall be destroyed." I Corinthians 5:11.

Character, good or bad, has a way of rubbing off. If you associate with weak men, you will be inclined to become weak. If you associate with spiritual people, you will find yourself growing more spiritual.

William Dean Howells wrote a friend after a visit with the great Tolstoy: "I can never again see life in the way I saw it before I knew him."

The power of good influence is tremendous. Many years ago a London boy ran away from home and became a seaman. One day while passing a church, he entered and gave his life to Christ. Later he entered the ministry and his life and sermons inspired Thomas Scott to become a minister. Scott in turn inspired Cowper to follow Christ, and William Cowper gave us many of our great hymns. Then Cowper and his friend Newton influenced Wilburforce who led the fight to free the slaves in England. The saying is right: "We are known by the company we keep."

A Devotion For Today . . .

The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister. — Matthew 20:28

PRAYER. Dear God, today make us alert to the needs of every person we meet and ready to respond in the spirit of Christ. We pray in His name. Amen.

Hester & Robertson For Carrier Products

Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors, Incorporated, offers a complete line of Carrier air conditioning and heating products. This includes electronic air cleaners, humidifiers, electric or gas-fired furnaces, and residential or commercial refrigeration units.

The refrigeration units are in stock and are ready for immediate installation by Hester and Robertson.

Since March, 1962, Hester's Sheet Metal has been the authorized Carrier dealer for Big Spring. Since then, they have installed a large number of commercial and residential units in Big Spring and the surrounding trade area.

For six of the past ten years, Hester's has been awarded outstanding recognition from the Carrier Corporation for being the top dealer in cities of 50,000 or less. They were in competition for these awards with dealers in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Arizona.

These awards included expense-paid trips abroad. The most recent trip was to the Caribbean Cruise, on which Mr. Hester was accompanied by his wife, Joy, and their daughters Brenda and Kathy. Also making the trip were Mr. Robertson and his wife, Janet.

On January 1, 1972, Hester's

Sheet Metal combined operation with Sam Robertson Plumbing Company, forming Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors, Incorporated.

This union enables Hester and Robertson to better serve the Big Spring area, offering a much wider range of services.

These services include all types of air conditioning, sheet metal work, plumbing, pipe-line construction and ditching, sprinkler systems and boiler repair and installation, all types of heat or steam piping of commercial or industrial installation.

Each service is offered at competitive prices by expert craftsmen.

New products now in stock include the Carrier residential line, Model GC equipment. This line offers Carrier's dependability in a long-life compressor at an economical price.

If you have a furnace blower capable of handling air conditioning, and duct work is already installed, this new equipment can be installed for less than the cost of two evaporative coolers. The compressor on this unit carries a full 5-year warranty.

Quick and dependable repair service on all types of refrigerated air conditioning is available at Hester and

Buy An Eagle Mobile Home And Save $1,000 Or More

If you purchase an Eagle Mobile Home, built in Big Spring, you will save up to $1,000 — perhaps more.

Here's how, and why. The Eagle Mobile Home is both built and sold in Big Spring, cutting out any middle man or distributor.

When you purchase an Eagle Home from THE HOME COMPANY — Eagle Manufacturing Sales Lot, 710 West 4th, you guarantee yourself savings. By buying direct, you save a "bundle."

NO TRANSPORTATION CHARGES

Most mobile home dealers purchase mobile homes built at out-of-town factories, sometimes hundreds of miles away. It is customary for the mobile home dealer to pay the transportation charges from the factory to his lot. If the dealer is to be reimbursed, he has to add this amount to his selling price. This often runs into hundreds of dollars.

There are no freight charges on an Eagle Home built locally and sold in Big Spring.

NO-COST OPTIONS

There are many deluxe options available on the Eagle Mobile Home that are included in the regular sales price. For example, the Eagle Home has a full 2 x 4 wall, plus double insulation of fiber glass and foam-core. Most manufacturers charge extra for these superior features, but with Eagle Homes there is no extra cost for this high quality construction.

Another example of no-cost options can be seen in the excellent house-type furniture and name-brand appliances in the Eagle Home — only the very best.

ACCESSORIES AT MANUFACTURERS COST

Other savings offered the purchaser of an Eagle Mobile Home include refrigerated air conditioning, dishwashers, disposals, washers, dryers, and others. THE HOME COMPANY-

Eagle Manufacturing Sales Lot offers these at exactly their cost from the supplier, and they are installed and warranted at this price. Often other dealers mark these items up as much as 40 per cent.

FREE DELIVERY AND WARRANTY

THE HOME COMPANY-Eagle Manufacturing offers free delivery and installation of each home within a 100-mile radius. This is usually another extra charge. And they offer a one-year warranty on each Eagle Home, with full-time service men available to handle all repairs and maintenance under this warranty.

DISTINCTIVELY DIFFERENT

Eagle Mobile Homes are certainly a "change from the ordinary." They feature bold colors and exciting new designs. Elegance and livability are blended to create a new experience in mobile home living. See rustic lighted beams enhanced by vaulted ceilings, rich quality carpeting throughout, bedrooms with canopied beds and mirrored walls, appointments to match the decor of your choosing. See the full ceiling-to-floor glass front bay window. Richness and grace are the result of custom drapes and matching sheers.

EASY TO OWN EAGLE HOME

Stop by 710 W. 4th and visit with Jeff Brown, Jim Fields, or Jesse Pope. Let them explain their easy-to-finance plan that requires small cash to move in, and features low monthly payments.

At THE HOME COMPANY-Eagle Manufacturing Sales Lot, they will take anything of value in trade to substantially reduce or eliminate the cash down payment.

Go by and see for yourself that beauty as well as superior construction truly makes the Eagle Mobile Home your best buy. Let them show you how to save $1,000.

Stick To Corn

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a farmer, and he is planning to plant some marijuana along with corn and other crops. He says if he gets busted and goes to jail, he won't mind serving a year because he could make so much money off the marijuana, it will be worth it. We have five kids, and things have been rough for us financially. I've told him I think he's foolish to take a chance, but he says he loves me, that's the reason he wants to get rich quick. Then he can give me and the kids a better life. Abby, I don't like his idea at all, but he says if I loved him I'd go along with it. I do love him, but I still can't. Any suggestions? FARMER'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are planning to get a rich-quick scheme going in smoke faster than he thinks. And he stands to serve a lot more than a year if he's caught. Tell him that if he loves YOU, he'll stick to corn and other crops, and forget the marijuana.

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "Quietly Burning," complained because her husband always called her "Hey," or "Say, there." I'll bet anything her husband was of Scandinavian descent. My husband never called me "Honey," or any other endearing name, and we have had over 40 years of the most successful marriage possible. He's a Swede, and Swedes are naturally very cold, un-demonstrative and nonverbal. But once you thaw out a Swede, watch out! MARRIED ONE exactly how does one go about "thawing out" a Swede?

DEAR MARRIED: Okay. So

and every other. Yours, LEONARD M. LAKE, HARRISON, N.Y.

DEAR MR. L.: Yours was only one of the many, many responses echoing the same sentiments.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROBERT P. IN N.Y.C.: Your cats are NOT homosexual. A true homosexual will, when given a choice, choose a partner of his own sex, but in the absence of his preference, he will "make do" with whatever is handy. (As some humans do.) Dr. Herman Salk is not in error. There are no four-legged gay cats!

Check Further

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 23 and have had two children. Since birth of the first, two years ago, I have had an off-white, pasty-like vaginal discharge, that is extremely heavy.

I have had this checked with three doctors and all they say is that some women have more discharge than others.

Should I go to a fourth doctor? If so, what can I say to have them get to the source? Is there a medication I could get over the counter? I do not douche. - Mrs. F.F.

Yes, you should go to a fourth doctor - and I would go to some trouble if necessary to see that it is a gynecologist. You say that you have "checked" with three doctors, but you don't indicate whether this included a thorough examination, and you gave no report of findings - if any.

It is true that, within moderate limits, the discharge can vary from one person to another, but that does not explain why you have a heavy discharge which started rather abruptly.

There are several possibilities. One is that you may have a torn cervix (from childbirth) and that a chronic infection has developed. Another common cause of persistent or recurrent discharge is a parasitic infection called trichomoniasis. The organism can be readily identified by microscopic examination. And there are several other possibilities. That is why I suggest that you go to a gynecologist, a specialist in this work, and find out what is really wrong. Simply tell him how severe the discharge is, and tell him what treatment you have had. If you've had any. You don't mention any.

The treatment then would depend on what he finds wrong. If it is infection of the cervix (chronic cervicitis) then cauterization is a probable treatment.

If it is trichomoniasis, medication can be given by mouth, but it is a prescription medication, not something you can buy "over the counter." Incidentally, this particular type of infection can have been passed on to your husband. It is unlikely that it bothers him - but he can pass the parasite back to you after you have been treated for it, and you have the whole business to go through again.

Therefore, if that proves to be the trouble, be sure that your husband also takes the medication so you can put an end to the trouble and not have it keep recurring.

As to douches, there is no point in taking them for so-called "hygienic" purposes. If your physician recommends a certain solution be used for a specific purpose, that's another matter.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My uncle, 72, had a prostate operation and a few weeks later began to show signs of mental illness, which became progressively worse, and he was put in a mental institution. Is there a connection? I am having prostate trouble but fear going to a doctor. - K.E.L.

It was a scary coincidence in your uncle's case, because neither prostate trouble nor prostate surgery causes mental illness. So see your doctor and don't worry.

Troubled with gout? To learn of new treatment for this excruciating and painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of this booklet, "Gout - The Modern Way To Stop It." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

SPEAKER AT YMCA MEETING HERE TUESDAY
Pete LaRosa and attentive audience

News Media Lauded By Board At Local Y

Representatives of the news media were recognized Tuesday at the Y.M.C.A. board meeting for communicating the Y.M.C.A. program to the public.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas, president of the Y, presided at the session and also reported on the Southwest Regional Assembly of the Y.M.C.A. last weekend.

Pete LaRosa, fraternal secretary of the Y.M.C.A. to Mexico, told the board about the World Services program which in Y.M.C.A. circles is somewhat comparable to a missions or extension program of a church. Recognized as the two outstanding youth members for February were Sheila Crockett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wright, and Esa Rubio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Rubio.

On hand to receive the citations for the media were Robert N. McDaniel of the Big Spring Herald, Joyce Lavoy of Cable TV, Jim Willett of KBST, Jim Baum of KBYG and Bill Burrell of KHEM.

Also attending the meeting was De Witt Smith, associate director of the Southwest region for Y.M.C.A.

Five Children Hospitalized For Lead Poisoning In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Five children hospitalized for lead poisoning showed "abnormalities in their X-ray tests," a doctor has testified in a lawsuit involving an El Paso smelting plant.

Dr. Jose de Alba, head of pediatrics at Thomason General Hospital here was the only witness Tuesday in the city of El Paso suit against the American Smelting & Refining Co. The city and the Texas Air Control Board are seeking to have the plant shut down for cleanup operations and $1 million in damages for past pollution emissions violations.

revealed white lines in bone surfaces which showed "increased density" in bone development.

The five received "chelation therapy," de Alba said. This is the standard method for removing lead from the body.

De Alba said blood levels of the children have been reduced but they must be kept under observation and away from further exposure.

The three families involved are at the top of the list for have been hospitalized for lead poisoning.

HIGH FEVER

The witness said high fever or some other sickness can cause a mobilization of the lead content in the body since there is a possibility that the blood is hidden in the marrow of the bones.

So far 35 children from El Paso, neighboring Juarez, Mexico and Southern New Mexico

County Fair Revival Is Discussed By Chamber

Plans to seek extension of crop insurance to Howard County were discussed by the agricultural task force of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon.

Also, the group decided to abandon the first-bale-of-cotton award in favor of some program which will express appreciation to a far greater segment of the agricultural industry.

Two possibilities were discussed — one a major agricultural equipment-supply show with a recognition day for agriculture, or in the alternative a combination Cotton Week and agricultural appreciation day.

There also was some talk about reviving the Howard County Fair, and Bruce Griffith, county agent, said there had been considerable interest expressed in this, now that the county has a new fair barn unit.

The task force also urged continued efforts to obtain a regional research designation for the U.S. Experiment Station here.

Suggestions on diversification touched on the leasing of some farms and ranchers for quail hunting. This is being done also on a per gun basis by some operators.

G. C. Broughton, chairman, and Gerald Miller, co-chairman, were in charge of the meeting. Broughton said the crop insurance could offer great stability. Miller said that a previous goal of a packing plant has been met in the new facilities of the D & C Packing Company, for which he had words of praise.

H. Hughes Did Not Design Bra In 'The Outlaw'

NEW YORK (AP) — Ginger Rogers remembers him as a terrific dancer. Yvonne de Carlo says he designed a dress for her. Jane Russell says he didn't design a brassiere for her.

The man was Howard Hughes and the three actresses were among several who recalled for the April issue of Ladies Home Journal, their acquaintances with the billionaire industrialist who now lives in seclusion.

Miss Rogers said, "Howard was one of the best dancers I ever knew, and fascinating to be with. Terribly bright and intelligent. But he was immersed in his work."

Miss De Carlo recalled, "He even went with me while I shopped for a new suit, but he didn't like anything I tried on. So he designed a dress for me on a piece of scratch paper."

Miss Russell wore a special brassiere in "The Outlaw," the film that made her famous. But contrary to one recent report, she said Hughes "never designed the metal bra I wore in that picture."

Voting Suit Rule Delayed

HOUSTON (AP) — Trial of suit by college students at predominantly-black Prairie View A&M seeking to register as voters in Waller County, home of the college, ended Monday with U.S. Dist. Court Judge James Noel taking it under advisement.

The students are suing Leroy Symm, county tax assessor-collector, over his refusal to let them register to vote there.

They also object to a long questionnaire Symm required them to fill out to determine who is a bona fide county resident.

Symm said that students who do not meet his requirements must register to vote in the county where their parents live.

Symm testified he registers students if their parents live in Waller County, if they are married, have a promise of a job there after graduation or own real property in the county.

A federal judge in Sherman late last year struck down as unconstitutional a state law which made it mandatory that college students register in the county where their parents live.

Two Committees Slate Meetings

The Cultural Affairs Task Force will meet at noon Thursday at the Holiday Inn.

The Task Force is chaired by Mrs. Jimmy Knight. The meeting will be an organizational one, according to Mrs. Knight.

The Retail Sales Task Force will meet at 11 a.m. Friday at the Chamber of Commerce, according to Sam Schultz, chairman.

Western Filmed In Mexico

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Revengers," an action-adventure Western, is being filmed in Mexico and marks the American film debut of Rene Koldehoff of Germany.

William Holden, Ernest Borgnine and Susan Hayward will be in the film. Holden plays a vengeful Colorado rancher.

The five children admitted for chronic lead poisoning were all from the El Paso's Smelting section near the company's plant.

They were sent to a hospital when a spot check of the area by city health officials revealed high concentration of blood lead in residents.

De Alba said X-ray tests given in conjunction with the blood and urine analysis examination

Son Of Retired Judge Draws Life In Prison

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Until his federal term is completed, Kirksey McCord Nix Jr., son of a retired judge of the Oklahoma Court of Criminal Appeals, and two co-defendants were formally sentenced Tuesday to life in prison for the slaying of New Orleans grocer Frank Corso.

Nix continued to maintain he was innocent of the Easter 1971 shootout in which Corso, 50, was killed during an attempted burglary at his home.

He read a long statement which attacked the judicial system, the press, the police, Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison, Corso's survivors and James Ratcliff Knight, who also was charged in the case.

Nix, also under a five-year federal sentence for a firearms violation, was turned over to federal authorities. He will not start serving the life sentence in the state prison at Angola

LIST GRIEVANCES Pupils Walk Out Of Classes

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — The school board is to meet today to discuss what legal action, if any, will be taken against those who prompted junior high and high school pupils to walk out of classes Tuesday.

The pupils said they staged the walkout because the school board refused to consider a list of grievances Monday night.

The president of the San Marcos Mexican-American Youth Organization (MAYO), Gilbert Saenz, said the boycotters met at a community center and have begun to organize study groups.

Organizers said 375 walked out but Supt. Gordon Harmon said about 98 from the high school and 160 from the junior high left. There was no violence but police took at least two young men into custody for questioning, Harmon said.

Harmon said he felt parents would see to it that the pupils returned to school today, adding that several parents located their children and brought them back to school Tuesday.

He said several persons came to the school and "encouraged" the pupils to leave.

He Pleads Guilty To Pot Possession

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith's son pleaded guilty Tuesday in magistrate's court to illegal possession of marijuana.

Alexander Douglas Smith, 22, was charged with carrying more than seven ounces of the drug when he returned to Rhodesia Dec. 20 from Mozambique.

Smith is the son of the prime minister's wife by her first marriage.

Cancer Virus Transmitted By Humans?

STANDARD, Calif. (AP) — The telltale biochemical fingerprints of a suspected human cancer virus have been found in the healthy relatives and friends of cancer victims, a scientist said Monday.

The discovery supports a provocative but still unproven idea that some cancers might be transmitted from person to person by a virus.

Dr. S. Kingsley Sanders of the Sloan Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York discussed on Monday the results of the institute's latest work with scientists from 11 countries meeting at Stanford University for a symposium on Hodgkin's disease—cancer of the lymphatic system.

Sanders and his colleagues reported last September evidence that two different virus-like particles exist in cancer cells taken from Hodgkin's disease patients and grown in the laboratory. The scientists said then the next step was to test relatives, friends and others close to Hodgkin's disease victims for antibodies to the cancer virus particles. Antibodies would be produced by the body's natural defense mechanism after exposure to the virus and would be the fingerprints of the virus' presence.

These studies, which Sanders said Monday were preliminary and incomplete, showed positive antibody tests in 60 per cent of those who did not have Hodgkin's disease but were closely associated with a victim of the disease.

Studies of "normal" individuals with no history of contact with the disease showed only 30 per cent positive, Sanders said.

He stressed in an interview that there still is no conclusive evidence the virus particles cause Hodgkin's disease.

Bad Eyes Made Luci Resentful, Lousy Scholar

NEW YORK (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent says a eye disorder as a child made her belligerent, resentful, unhappy and a poor scholar.

In an interview with Redbook magazine, the daughter of former President Lyndon B. Johnson says that although tests showed her with normal 20-20 vision, she was unable to use both eyes together to interpret visual information.

"As a result I was belligerent, resentful and unhappy," Mrs. Nugent said in the interview published. "My marks in school were terrible. I came from a family of achievers and I couldn't know a small degree of success."

Mrs. Nugent, now the mother of two children, said her grades and her life improved after a doctor diagnosed the problem and prescribed glasses and exercises.

BE A DANDY in deluxe knit when you've got places to go and people to see. At Prager's Men's and Boys' Wear, A. J. Prager and J. W. Parmley unpack one of a new collection of Johnny Carson suits — out of New York for the suburban sophisticate. This single-breasted model in patterned medium blue has a lot of "give and take": It gives when you move and takes wear without wrinkling. In vogue with new styling, it's distinguished by a deeper center vent, wide lapels and fashion pockets.

'We Know Trend By What We Don't Sell'

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — One way to find out about current fashions is to check your local Beautiful People and see what they're wearing. Or you can look to Goodwill Industries of America to see what the regular people are giving away.

"We know the trend of fashion by what we don't sell in a store," said Betsy Forte, public relations director in Washington, D.C., headquarters for Goodwill, a network of 145 member rehabilitation centers. "When a style hits, the opposite style is sent in."

The centers are set up to job-train the handicapped, who repair donations of clothing and furniture for sale at Goodwill stores.

Does anyone need 800 pairs of unfashionable ladies' spike-heeled shoes? They are salvaged monthly from the seven Chicago stores alone.

Or perhaps 600 pairs of men's pants with pleats in front, priced at $1.89 but piling up in Chicago from lack of customer interest?

Right now, Goodwill stores across the country are up to their rafters in "out" objects from the 1950s and early 1960s: men's skinny ties, narrow-lapelled suits, women's large purses, ornate evening dresses, straight skirts, white gloves, garter belts and all kinds of hats.

New wedding dresses now sell as Halloween costumers for $1.00 in Los Angeles Goodwill stores.

Boys Slide Feet First Into Spring

Boys seem to be sliding feet first into spring '72. They seem to dig the updating given to laced footwear, and the smart lines of new slip-ons, demi boots and moccasins.

For school, dress and in-between wear, oxfords with a difference appear to be standouts, reports Leather Industries of America.

Possible favorite could be the two-tone tie, sporting striped laces and perfs. Cap or wingtip toelines, ghillies, grommeted eyelets, and stitch-down extension soles, could be favorites.

The athletic shoe and "knicker" types featuring lacing through eyelets numbering anywhere from four to ten, or through ghillies or speed-hooks could be winners. Also part of this look are patched or stitched motifs, striped laces, double textures, and two or three colors.

The ticket for school and play could include slip-ons or gored inset styles. Loafers might vie with moccasins displaying hardware, fabric or leather trim.

Boys will mostly likely stay in their beloved boots through spring, even summer. Favorites could include polished leather demi-boots and rugged leather chukka.

"Wedding dresses are out... These days, they get married on horses, on surfboards," says John Martin, sales manager for the 16 Los Angeles stores.

Men's thin ties won't budge even for a penny apiece, in New Orleans.

As men's colored shirts become standard fashion by 1969, the ballooning numbers of white shirts doredated were headed for salvage in Chicago—until they were dyed bright hues. Then they sold fast for about $1.50.

The stores sometimes run short on red-hot items like ratty, faded blue jeans and old furs. They were both prime targets for salvage just a few years ago, but now one of the most popular uniforms for the young. So people hang on to these choice clothes and think twice before tossing them into a donation box.

Some stores report that they've picked up a lot of "upper middle class" traffic in the last two years. For instance, there's the local judge in Los Angeles who stops each morning to buy a new tie for the day.

However, at stores like one in New Orleans, some 40 per cent of the trade comes from people of "limited means," according to sales manager Gerd Oppenheim.

'CLASS' CAPTURES THE MALE IMAGINATION

The Party's Over: Costumes Are Out

The return to the classics — a look that surfaced in recent months — is apparently precisely what today's fashion-conscious male has been craving.

While color, pattern and fabric play exciting parts in the total picture, it appears that the party is over and costume looks are out.

It's the well-put-together look — for work, for evenings out, for casual wear — that seemingly have captured the smart man's imagination. Knits appear to continue to be big fashion favorites in every man's wardrobe. They can be found in suits, slacks, sport-coats, blazers and, of course, knit shirts.

Separates — long-time favorites of the distaff side — appear to be coming into their own. Sportswear tops and bottoms that match or blend could be well on their way to becoming winners.

Pattern seems to be a big word in off-duty clothes. The trend seems to be combining two color-related patterns in dissimilar sizes.

A small check sportshirt might team up with wide track stripe pants. A geometric print shirt might top herringbone patterned pants.

The shirtsuit might be the answer for the man who wants his outfit ready-coordinated. Shirtsuits, are found in both belted and non-belted models. The safari style shirtsuit appears to be making a new entrance, along with all the late, late shows on which it appears.

Skinny rib shirts continue as favorites. Crew necks and zipper fronts are important features.

Knit slacks — wide legs and flare bottoms — can be found in herringbone, plaids and stripes. Knit jeans can be seen almost any place, on any age male.

Madras and chino reappear as revivals of the Fifties' look, and are found in many types of off-duty clothes.

Silhouettes continue to show longer jackets, wider lapels, deep center vents and even some deep side vents.

Distinctive leather coordinates often combine elegance and casual charm. Shirts, Norfolk styles, safari and bush jackets can be worn separately or with matching leather pants.

Waist-length jackets come off as a great young fashion. Many sport zippers and bold stitching for decoration.

For the man who sails, or enjoys that type of rigging for casual wear, the nautical trend is seen as another strong contender for important spring fashion.

Wide, Wild Belts Are Making It

Wide, wider, widest seem to be the words for men's belts this spring.

It might be an elegant leather dress belt, but chances are that "right belt" means a 1 1/2 inch or wider brawny style in a sporty leather. Smooth, suede, brushed, grained, harness, waxy, embossed and antiqued finishes appear often.

Wide — and wider — belts for casual, suburban and sports-wear accessorizing offer a wealth of interesting detailing. Patchwork looks, stitching and lacing could be appealing, also cutouts and perforations.

Most important appears to be buckle treatment. Variations include studded, engraved, out-size and free-form types. There are also double-fastened or split-strap buckles.

Widest of all are spring's gutsiest belts for a man's most rugged clothes. Made chiefly in harness, bridle, grained, split cowhide and antiqued leathers, some of these super-belts go to three inches. They show off ornamentation ranging from western motifs to porthole perfs or grommeted openings to laced effects and heavy hardware.

For business and dress suits, taste around the waist might mean a rich-looking 1 1/2 inch to 2 inch belt with handsome buckle and little other decoration.

Say 'Hello' Again To Two-Tone, Tie Shoes

Men looking for shoes this spring will find super foot-wear composed in equal parts of super-soft leathers and super styling.

New footgear teams with terrific design ideas, conceived in many supple leathers. The textures involved include soft suede and polished smooth leathers, rugged — yet pliant — waxy and brushed leathers, handsome grains, and many more.

A check-off list of salient styling points in new men's shoes would have to cover the following: two, even three-tone looks; leather texture combos; lacing and ties in all shoe types; the moccasin influence; center seaming.

The take-over of lace-ups in both dressy and sportive shoes has been quick and understandable. After a long spell of slip-ons, it seems men were ready for a return to the tie shoes.

The action began primarily with tie-casuals, but has now penetrated the dress shoe field as well, notes Leather Industries of America.

Updated leather oxfords are a big hit in two-tone combinations with perforated wing-tips or cap toes. Two-leather teaming is also used.

Also in the dressy category are five and six-eyelet ties without spectator detailing. At the other end of the eyelet ghillies; and high-cut "workshoe" ties in sinewy leathers. Many use two- or three-tone theme and stitched-down soles.

Dashing leather slip-ons appear most in favor this spring when displaying moccasin treatment. This shows up in a moccasin front, and in leather-trimmed instep straps.

Leathers are elegant: suede, smooth, crushed patent, fine-grained, brush-blended finishes.

Denim Jeans Are Mobile Art Form!

The "jeaning of America" has spread beyond our borders to Mexico, South America, Europe, and the Far East.

Cotton denim jeans have become a mobile art form. Young fashion motivators around the world fringe, fray, and convert jeans into signature fashion statements by silver studwork, grommet-patternings, and hand-painted designs.

As contemporary tempos quicken, man instinctively is returning to nature... and fashion this spring is returning to nature's fresh, comfortable feel: the cotton feel.

In Clothes, Men Are Winning Equal Rights

The man of today appears to have won his fight for equal rights. Suits are bolder-shaped and wide-lapelled. Jackets are well as worsted. Jackets are belt-d or patched with suede. There are fur coats for men, and wildly printed shirts. Even evening clothes appear more imaginative and unusual.

seems to be becoming part of the revolution. One of the most unusual pieces appears to be the necktie for evening. And, it comes in diamonds, emeralds, rubies or just plain gold. Rings seem to be bigger, bolder and less conventional.

Wrap cuff-links appear to be in favor. And for the first time since the 20's the stick pin is around. Business and professional men, young and older seem to be interested in wearing jewelry. Even the winning World Series team receive diamonds to celebrate their victory.

Who's Got Skinniest Hips Of All?

By ALLISON IERRICK
PARIS (AP) — "Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's got the skinniest hips of all?"

This is what men will be asking themselves anxiously each morning, as they try to squeeze into their new Cardin pants. Haute couture designer Pierre Cardin, who showed his "Apollo 72-73" line for men today, knows that the trademark of a good astronaut is his tapering hips.

So his pants for winter are black, almost tighter than skin and tucked into knee boots in green, purple and pink striped leather. He who wears them must be beyond fear and beyond reproach.

At the showing, the models tossed big rubber "moon rocks" — which also serve as hassocks — to each other, thanks to their "athletically extended shoulders." If you aren't athletic by choice or inclination, just slip into the short Cardin jacket. In rug, in tweed and in any color, it stops short of the waist — to bring those hips to the fore — and has short stiff wings instead of sleeves. Cardin also liked the look on women this winter.

The astronaut shoulder bag, for afternoon moon walks, looks like a Spanish wine skin in suede. But the nailheads are square. As for the haircut to wear under a space helmet, the part is shaved an inch wide in the middle. The astronaut mustache is painted on around the mouth.

Of course, Cardin does care about serious clothes, the kind that go to the office. So there are long capes in purple tartan or black nylon. The cutest coat was in royal blue with a navy sailor collar tabbed onto the back.

For men who cling to their suits, there are the new short jackets with big oval lapels that hug a hopefully well-developed chest. In double-breasted gray flannel, what could be more establishment? More daring dressers may prefer a black jacket with red shoulderbands or a red jacket with six purple flap pockets where the buttons should be.

Cerruti's first menswear presentations for three seasons in Paris confirms several significant pointers in fabrics. Most important is the use of felted fabrics so that the clothes are all in either wool or cotton, although frequently embellished with lustrous braid edges and insets to wide collars.

In fact, Cerruti is another designer with one eye on Visconti's death beach in Venice — although the loudspeakers manfully resisted Mahler for background music. His novelty rests on colors and fabrics. All the beachwear, while sporting wide-open sailor collars and colors, dramatizes the felted idea.

As the scene shifted up from the shore to the marina, this brushed look included tiny, "bum-freezer" pea jackets and even two or three blouses. He kept construction to a minimum, although there are certainly a revival of padded shoulders.

Bright colors were always used in dramatic contrast to fundamentally dark, country flannels and tweeds. Dark donegal with only occasional lift through bright knops or lighter checks, supported several jackets.

Cerruti himself called the fabric story rustic and explained the felted or brushed theme as a way of softening ordinarily heavy materials. What the felted vogue does achieve is a unity of feeling — no matter the fabric — thick woollen, jersey knit or tweeds; they all formed part of a distinct idea.

Only two or three summer suits were distinctly pale; generally all the main suitings were dark brown and forest shades or navy. But he always enhanced them with banana yellows, red, apple-greens and bright blues.

The knitted pullovers were of the skinny, sleeveless or cardigan era — but in vivid mosaic jacquards or stripes.

Kilties, Tassels

Sporty slip-ons have de-emphasized the hardware touches. Traditional moccasins seem to stick primarily with classic styling, or perhaps add a tassel or kiltie.

Thinking Of April In Paris?

CERRUTI MENSWEAR 1972 — Cerruti's blouson in rich red wool melton is pleated all the way around but cut for a double-breasted blazer front. The sailor boy cap is in soft wool flannel. Along side is an essentially Roman weekend suit of pale fawn cool flannel with a maroon speckle weave and toning leather braided edges. The blazer jacket is single-breasted with a two-button fastening worn over a chocolate angora wool roll-neck with a blue and fawn window-pane check.

Mrs. John Knox Gives Advice On African Violets

Mrs. John Knox, national flower show judge, demonstrated flower arranging with African violets when she was guest speaker for Texas Bouquet African Violet Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th.

Mrs. Knox said containers are vital in arranging, and flowers and leaves should be related to containers in scale and proportion. Arrangements must have line material for the basic design, filler material such as leaves and foliage and a focal point to provide form in the arrangement. It is important to add something for contrast. She said driftwood makes a good container or background for violet arrangements. Several arrangements were made by Mrs. Knox.

Mrs. A. C. Moore announced an African violet plant, given to Howard County Junior College by the club, was placed in the nurses' classroom. Mrs. Jane Hill was introduced as a new member, and Mrs. Eddie Foster of Odessa was a guest.

A joint meeting with Texas Star African Violet Club is set at 7 p.m., April 6 in First Federal Community Room. A slide presentation, "Gateway to the West," will be shown.

Details Art Of Oriental Flower Arrangements

"One of the greatest of oriental arts is flower arranging," said Mrs. Rick McKinney to Phi Zeta Omega Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Monday evening in the home of Mrs. David Griford, 1211 E. 18th.

"In our western world, flower arranging is just one of many things we do to make our surroundings more pleasant," Mrs. McKinney continued. "There are always new depths to human concern, and like the sea, the arts of living are boundless."

Mrs. McKinney said oriental flower arrangements are an excellent study in applications of designs of simple things, as well as an example of the wonder that people have concerning living things. At one time, arrangements were made only of flowers and greenery, but now such things as bare branches, blossoming sprays, summer grasses and many other items are used.

"The basic principals of arrangement are design, balance, scale, harmony and rhythm," said Mrs. McKinney. Construction is based on a main line, focal point and then filling in. She said colors should be harmonious and evenly balanced.

Members contributed to the Steve Maxwell foundation in San Antonio to assist children with blood diseases, and books were given to the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Mrs. Allen Carlile returned to membership following a leave of absence. The meeting was a "lucky party," and Mrs. Carlile was named "luckiest" and received a bag of candy.

New officers were elected and will be installed at the next meeting at 7:30 p.m., April 3 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Catholics Slate Deanery Meeting

Dallas Nabs '73 Pro Bowl; Houston Gets Super Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — National Football League owners have agreed to a compromise proposal that would pull off an unprecedented triple play that establishes Los Angeles and Houston as the next two Super Bowl sites.

Los Angeles and Houston are the only cities to have hosted the Super Bowl game since 1970.

The compromise covered both Super Bowls to be played in Los Angeles and Houston.

The unprecedented action—setting up successive Super Bowls at the end of the 1972 season for the first time since Super Bowl I and gave the 1973 Super Bowl to Houston's Rice Stadium for the city's first opportunity at hosting pro football's premier spectacle.

It made Houston only the fourth city ever to be awarded a Super Bowl game—Los Angeles having hosted the first and Miami and New Orleans the last five post-season extravaganza.

The owners went back to work today at the committee level with attention being focused on the competition committee studying the balance between offense and defense.

There is concern that the balance has shifted in favor of defense, reflected by a drop in touchdown production.

A number of rule changes have been proposed that would aid the defense and the competition committee will begin offering its recommendations to the owners beginning Thursday.

At that time, the ownership of the Los Angeles Rams may change hands.

Williams Barnes, the club's president, has confirmed a bid from Carlos Romer, a landscape architect with large real estate holdings in the Los Angeles and San Diego areas, and reported the purchase price would be $20 million.

That makes the Super Bowl-Pro Bowl schedule for the next two years look like this at a glance:

Jan. 14, 1973—Super Bowl at Los Angeles (Coliseum)

Jan. 20-21, 1973—Pro Bowl at Dallas (Texas Stadium)

Jan. 13, 1974—Super Bowl at Houston (Rice Stadium)

Jan. 19-20, 1974—Pro Bowl at AFC site to be selected.

The three dates for the pro bowls cover the game being played either Saturday or Sunday, or possibly Monday as an extension of the popular Monday night series of national telecasts.

In announcing the shift of the Pro Bowl out of Los Angeles, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the owners had reached agreement with the Los Angeles newspapers that have sponsored the Pro Bowl to have a share of the gate receipts from the Dallas game to go to the publishers' charities.

In making their presentation before the NFL owners, the Los Angeles delegation avoided reference to the first Super Bowl game, which was a distinct disappointment to the NFL ownership when some 30,000 seats turned up empty.

IT WAS ALL IN FUN — Former fighter Rocky Graziano, left, thumbs the nose of Jake LaMotta in a "fight" in Philadelphia Monday night during an old-timers exhibition for benefit of retarded children.

WHO'S GOT IT? — Mike Newlin (14) of the Houston Rockets goes up for a rebound along with Milwaukee Bucks Bob Dandridge (10), John Block (34) and Jon McGlocklin (14) in NBA action at Milwaukee Tuesday night. The Bucks proved to be too much for Houston as Milwaukee won 111 to 94.

Eagles Edge Steers In District Opener

ABILENE — Ricky Steen blasted a triple and a single here yesterday to lead the Steers in their District 5-4A opening game against the Abilene Eagles; but the Steers were stopped just short of a victory, 3-2.

Earl Reynolds relieved Big Spring starter David Carter in the first inning of action. The Eagles poured on the heat in that inning and scored two runs.

Abilene added another in the second inning, but the Steers held them down for the remainder of the game.

Big Spring made a run in the top of the fifth inning when Steen knocked Reynolds home with his triple. Then Pete Shaffer connected for a single in the last inning to drive in Reynolds who had reached the bag with a walk.

There were just two outs, but Clint Thomas struck out the next two Steer batters to sew up the game.

Big Spring is 7-6 over-all. They travel to Midland for a p.m. game Saturday.

Cooper, Permian, and Odessa all won district contests the first day of 5-4A action; therefore, there is a four-way tie for first place in the district.

NIAGARA ROLLS OVER CAGED TIGERS

St. John's Passes Oral Exam With Dedication To Fallen Star

NEW YORK (AP) — St. John's played the first half for the Rev. Henry Honsberger and the second half for Mel Davis.

The double dedication was disastrous for Oral Roberts basketball team Tuesday night.

"I know it sounds corny, but we played the game for those guys," said St. John's Coach Frank Mulzoff after his New York favorites slammed the high-scoring Titans 94-78 in the quarter-finals of the 35th National Invitation Tournament.

The Redmen made it into Thursday night's semifinals at Madison Square Garden on an emotional high after Niagara upset Princeton 65-60.

Mulzoff said the contest was at first dedicated to Rev. Honsberger, who was very sick in a New York hospital.

Davis, the team's top player, started strongly but suffered a pulled tendon in his right knee deep in the first half and had to be carried from the game on a stretcher.

It was then that the team decided to dedicate the second half to their fallen star.

"It was one of Mel's best games until that point," said Mulzoff. "I've never seen him jump higher in a game."

The powerhouse forward scored 12 points and had 12 rebounds in just about 14 minutes. His last bucket was a crashing lay-in that gave St. John's a commanding 37-23 advantage.

Davis spilled to the floor, his face snarled in pain. He was taken to a hospital, where it was revealed that he would be a "doubtful" starter for the semifinal match against Niagara.

The two Vincentian schools will play the nightcap of Thursday's doubleheader after Jacksonville meets Maryland in the opener.

"If Davis doesn't play Thursday, it'll be like hell on earth for us," said Mulzoff.

But even without their star, the Redmen did okay Tuesday night. They established a stubborn defense right away and held the nation's highest-scoring team to a mere 29 points in the first half. The Titans' final total was 28 points under their average.

The Redmen had a scare in the second half when their 46-29 halftime lead was trimmed to only six, 65-59, as high-powered Richie Fuqua led a rally.

Fuqua scored 18 of his game-high 30 points in the second half, but it wasn't enough.

Greg Cleuss, Bill Schaeffer and Ed Searcy controlled the tempo of the game for the Redmen by controlling the rebounds. The trio wound up with 43 rebounds between them. Cleuss had 21.

The Redmen seized a school-record 77 rebounds while Oral Roberts only managed 53.

In the first game, a switch in defensive tactics paid off for Niagara.

Normally a man-to-man pressing team, the Purple Eagles went into a zone press for 40 minutes.

Smaller Niagara pulled off the upset on sheer guts. They took a 30-28 lead at the half and Marshall Wingate took care of the point-making, guard Al Williams the defense, and Ed Street the rebounding thereafter.

Princeton fought back behind hot-handed Brian Taylor, who scored 15 of his 21 points in the second half. The rally fell short, however, when Niagara's quick players forced Princeton into costly mistakes.

Adams Receives Full Scholarship

Mike Adams, starting quarterback for the Big Spring High School football team last season, recently signed a letter of intention to play at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Since Mike is on the Seer baseball team, he will not be able to sign the final contract until the end of the baseball season. The University Interscholastic League (UIL), the governing body for high school athletic programs, rules that a student may not sign a contract with a college until he has completed his eligibility in all sports.

Mike was offered a full scholarship which would include tuition, books, room and board, laundry, and sundry fees. The letter of intent does bind West Texas to its part of the agreement, but Mike can't sign the contract until later this spring.

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams who live at 1902 Winston in Big Spring.

Clovis Hale, head football coach at Big Spring, described Mike as one of the best quarterback college prospects he had seen in years. He said: "He has a strong passing arm. Mike threw the ball so well and hard that high school receivers had a hard time catching his passes. He can throw the football as well as a lot of college quarterbacks right now."

Coach Hale guessed that Mike could throw the ball 75-85 yards if he were trying for distance, but he said that Mike's sizzling bullet-pass was what the Big Spring receivers found too hot to handle. Coach Hale said that college receivers would have an easier time catching his passes. He continued, "He could throw a blazing line-drive pass for 25-35 yards, and that's some distance for that kind of pass."

Coach Hale concluded: "The scouts from West Texas were very high on Mike. Dean Rudd head recruiter from West Texas State) felt that he had fine potential. He said that Mike would be a possible starter early in his college career."

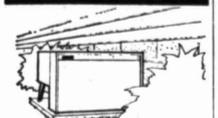

Mike started three games as a junior and took over the job full-time this past season. He led a veer offense, which is a variation of the wishbone offense that West Texas employs. The veer offense was a Houston option offense with two split backs. The wishbone has a full-back in addition to two backs, but both offenses use the option. West Texas was interested in Mike because of his experience with that style of offense.

Softball League Organizes Teams

Cotten Mize announced a meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Morton warehouse at the corner of Fifth and Austin streets for all citizens interested in forming a fast-pitch softball league.

Mize said if another team isn't produced in the meeting, there may be no softball league this year. Four teams are needed and only three have signed up so far.

They meet Louisville Thurs-UCLA has captured the past five campaigns. Denny Crum, three years an assistant to Wooden and a Bruin player for two, assumed the coaching job at Louisville this season.

HAPPINESS IS A WINNING BALL TEAM — Niagara University cheerleaders Peggy McAllister, of Wayland, N.Y., is ecstatic, and shares it, as the Niagara basketball team def- feats Princeton in the National Invitational Tournament in New York Tuesday night.

"I'd prefer not to play teams coached by my very close friends or ex-players. It's just like playing against a relative," Wooden mused. "I coached against my brother when we both were with high schools."

Winners of the UCLA-Louisville and North Carolina-Florida State games for two, assumed the national collegiate title at the Los Angeles Sports Arena Saturday afternoon.

Crum, 34, acknowledges that he uses much of the Wooden method in his debut as a head coach. He also admits the two had differences of opinion.

"We did have differences in some respects," he told the Southern California Basketball Writers in a telephone interview Tuesday. "But the things he does in the majority of cases are right."

Wooden, Crum, Dean Smith of North Carolina and Hugh Durham of Florida State were in agreement on one aspect of this tournament—they will stick with the offenses and defenses which have brought them this far.

Louisville's Crum naturally was asked how he expected to stop UCLA's 6-foot 11 sophomore All-American Bill Walton. All he could say was, "Nothing is impossible. If you do stop him, you've done a great job."

Take Closer Look At Busing Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A closer look at President Nixon's antibusing proposals by House and Senate members has dimmed chances for prompt congressional action. Opponents and supporters of busing are finding fault with the President's program. The prospect now is for full-scale hearings and long floor fights on the legislation. The administration had hoped that at least the first part of the program—a moratorium on new busing until July 1, 1973—would be agreed to by House and Senate conferees who are trying to work out a compromise on a huge education bill.

STRONG OPPOSITION
But strong opposition from civil-rights groups and a lack of enthusiasm for the proposal by several members of Congress are slowing the administration's push.

AFL-CIO President George Meany issued a statement Tuesday calling Nixon's moratorium proposal "a cynical attempt to reward those who said 'never,' and to undermine the moral leadership of those citizens who endeavored to comply with the Constitution and the Supreme Court's 1954 decision." Meany noted that Nixon in 1970 vetoed two bills increasing federal school aid.

SKIN GAME
"Now the President is back on national television trying to convince the American people that he has changed his opinion on improving the educational opportunities of disadvantaged children," Meany said. "This is political chicanery."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the NAACP, vowed an all-out fight against the Nixon program in a telegram Tuesday to Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate conferees.

Mitchell withdrew the NAACP's support for the administration's $1.5-billion desegregation bill, which is part of the Nixon proposal and is included in the legislative package before the conference committee.

20 States To Support Texas In School Fight

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — At least 20 states will support Texas with friend-of-the-court briefs in its appeal of a ruling that declared the state's school financing system unconstitutional, it was disclosed here. Executive Asst. Texas Atty. Gen. Alfred Walker revealed the development in a speech Tuesday before the Southern Attorneys General Conference. Walker noted the Texas case will be the first involving school financing to go to the U.S. Supreme Court and is expected to affect 48 of the 50 states.

A three-judge federal panel rendered the decision here last December in a San Antonio case, ruling that the Texas public school financing system discriminates on the basis of wealth of individual school districts. The court gave the legislature two years to revise the system, which is currently based largely on ad valorem property taxes.

Atty. Gen. Francis Burch of Maryland said Tuesday that Baltimore lawyer George Liebman has been coordinating the approaches of several states in the filing of friend-of-the-court briefs in the San Antonio case. Burch urged members of the attorneys general conference to file individual briefs for their states, if at all possible. Discussing the Texas case, Walker noted that if the state does not comply satisfactorily with the court's order, the court will "take such further steps as are necessary." "If the case is affirmed by the Supreme Court and the Legislature fails to act," Walker said, "we see the court cast in the almost unbelievable role of assessing, collecting and administering taxes."

DEER ME, WHAT A MESS

RAVENSWOOD, W. V. A. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Harvey returned from the golf course to find their home had been turned into a shambles by a doe. The deer jumped through a picture window at the Harvey home, police said, after being frightened by a group of children, then went on a tour of the dining room and living room. Police and firemen attempted to trap the doe in a bedroom, but she escaped, overturning a police officer in the process, and took panic-stricken flight through the house. A conservation officer roped the deer and released her in the woods nearby.

Week Proclaimed For Homemakers

Mayor Arrol Marshall has proclaimed this Future Homemakers of America Week in Big Spring, paying tribute to the work that 275 girls, enrolled in the program, are doing. The FHA girls are observing the week with a special activity every day. "The achievements of this organization over the past 26 years are the foundation for continuing progress for enthusiastic young people who are learning to be creative leaders in tomorrow's society," said the mayor. He urged adults in the community to lend their support and encouragement to FHA as a means to betterment of the community and individuals. Observances are being led by the Big Spring High chapter, whose president is Susan Smith.
