SUBSTITUTE PUPS — Princess gave birth to seven German Shepherd pups earlier this week but within 48 hours all of the newborns had died. Princess whimpered for a while, then set out in search for a new family in the closets of Mrs. Barbara Rowman's house in Miami. She found seven substitutes — two blonde baby dolls, a teddy bear and four shoes — and now hovers over them like any other mother.

ANNUAL ROUNDUP Snake Sleuths Start Roundup, Serpent Fry

Hunter registration is under way today in the Jaycee Rattlesnake Roundup, and already 500 pounds of rattlesnakes have been turned in at the roundup headquarters at the National Guard Armory.

Hunter registration will continue throughout the weekend, starting at 8 a.m. and ending at 5 p.m. every day.

Don Worthan, roundup chairman, anticipates a large number of rattlesnakes caught for this year's roundup, but possibly not as many as in previous years.

"It got warm too fast this year, and most of the snakes have left their dens, making them harder to catch," said Worthan.

However, there are still some good dens around the area, which might produce a large catch, he said. Hunters are concentrating efforts in the east parts of the county, and in the Gail area of Borden County.

On hand this year is the Sports Division of the American Documentary Films Inc., of Oakland Calif. The company is shooting the entire roundup, and pictures will be sold to various national sports magazines, such as Sports Afield, Sports Illustrated, and others.

Roundup activities started Thursday night with the Miss Diamondback Pageant.

Seven beauties modeled evening dresses and answered questions for the pageant judges who were Jo Bright, Tony Choate, R. P. Nicholson, Mrs. Joe Gunning and Col. Ronald Catton.

CONTESTANTS

The seven pretty contestants are Brenda Bankston, Barbara Eason, Becky Jenkins, Leslie Welsh, Linda Van Slyke, Toni Gaupreaux, and Karen King.

Winner of the Miss Diamondback 1972 title will be announced at the roundup dance Saturday night at the Cosden Country Club.

The Rattlesnake Parade in downtown Big Spring was due at 4 p.m. today. Riding groups, bands, color guards and dignitaries will participate in the parade, which will start at Tenth and Main, go through downtown on to Second and end up at Tenth and Scurry.

Snake handling demonstrations by Delbert Hutchings and Don Morgan will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Armory. Also there will be guided tours, snake hunts, and other interesting shows starting Saturday.

Big Spring Jayceettes will also start preparing delicious fried rattlesnake steaks Saturday. Admission at the roundup headquarters will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 or under.

Presentations of awards to hunters will take place Sunday afternoon at the armory.

Train-Bus Wreck Kills Three Pupils

CONGERS, N.Y. (AP) — A Penn Central freight train ripped a school bus in half today at a remote grade crossing, killing at least three of the 50 high school pupils reported aboard.

The accident happened at 7:55 a.m. in the Clarkstown section of Congers at what a railroad spokesman described as a "private crossing" with no warning bells, lights or gates. The scene is in Rockland County some 25 miles northwest of New York City.

Arthur Harrison, the spokesman, said the crossing was not at a federal, state or county road and that he could not immediately determine who owned the access.

Witnesses said the 83-car train bound from Weehawken, N.J., to Selkirk, N.Y., hit the school bus broadside, leaving the rear of the bus at the crossing and pushing the front section a quarter-mile.

The accident left the bus a tangle of twisted metal. The scene was a maze of strewn books, lunches and dead or injured young victims who had been headed for nearby Nyack High School.

One fireman, who was not identified, walked dazed along the tracks, picking up school books with tears streaming down his face as he repeated again and again, "What a shame."

PROTESTANTS VOW TO FIGHT Civil War Threat Grows

LONDON (AP) — The British government suspended home rule in Northern Ireland today and took direct control of the strife-torn province in a bid for peace that risks civil war.

Prime Minister Brian Faulkner of Northern Ireland, who had engaged in two last-ditch meetings with Prime Minister Edward Heath, denounced the British move.

Heath told the House of Commons that Northern Ireland's Protestant-controlled provincial parliament was being suspended for a year, the internment without trial of suspected guerrillas is being eased, and Roman Catholics would get a greater voice in provincial affairs.

TURN TO VIOLENCE

Heath announced that the six Ulster counties will be governed by William Whitelaw, floor manager for the government in the House of Commons, who will be named to the new post of cabinet minister for Northern Ireland.

Whitelaw will be assisted by a commission of local residents "fully representative of opinion in Northern Ireland," Heath declared. This means it would include representatives of the Catholic minority as well as Protestants.

The response from Northern Ireland was almost entirely hostile, and there were fears that Protestant extremists would turn to violence in retaliation for the ending of 50 years of Protestant rule.

TERRORIST VICTORY

Faulkner told the Stormont, Northern Ireland's parliament, that he had warned Heath in their crisis talks that British takeover would be seen in Ulster as a victory for the Irish Republican Army, which wants reunion of the two parts of Ireland.

"I told him," Faulkner said, "that it would be widely construed as an acceptance of totally baseless criticism of our

U.S. Will Use Rockets To Attack Hailstorms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to use rockets to attack the hailstorms that cost the nation up to $390 million a year in crop and property damage, it was learned today.

Scientists said small rockets carrying silver iodide will be fired from planes into thunderstorms suspected of being potential hail-producers to see if such seeding can cut hail formation.

TEST SITE

The plans were disclosed by officials of the National Science Foundation in Washington and scientists of the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo., in a telephone interview.

The tests are to be carried out this summer at the juncture of Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming, the scientists said. The test site is in the heart of "Hail Alley"—which extends north into South Dakota and south into Kansas—so called because it has the most hail in the country.

The researchers said the concept behind silver-iodide seeding is to try to disrupt hail growth in a thunderhead so most of the moisture will fall as rain or small ice pellets rather than growing into large, dangerous hailstones.

The scientists said they don't expect to significantly cut hail development in the coming tests because the rockets will only carry a small amount of the seeding material.

But they said that if the tests show even a small suppression of hail growth they could lead to developing large-scale methods to cut down big hailstorms.

HAIL-FIGHTING

The tests also are designed to get more information on the little-known mechanisms of hailstorms.

The scientists said the tests will include using armor-clad aircraft to fly into hailstorms and measure their wind patterns and other factors in hopes man someday will be able to predict hailstorms.

stewardship; that it would be seen by the IRA and others as a first and major step on the road to a terrorist victory."

Faulkner's government is expected to remain in office to run routine provincial affairs until the British Parliament approves takeover legislation next week.

William Craig, leader of the hard-line Protestant Vanguard Movement who formerly was a member of Faulkner's cabinet, warned that his militants will fight the takeover.

"We would fight," Craig said. "I cannot exclude the possibility of violence."

He declined to comment, however, when asked if a shooting war would break out between his Protestants and the IRA.

Frazier Agnew, leader of the militant Belfast Young Unionists, accused Heath of betrayal and said he "has hastened the inevitability of civil war."

The Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing vowed to continue their campaign of bombing and shooting to unite the Protestant North with the Catholic Irish Republic in the south.

Edward MacAteer, leader of the more moderate Catholic Civil Rights Movement, said he preferred Protestant Irish rule to that of Englishmen in the "remote and insensitive smoke-filled rooms of Westminster."

Six thousand Protestant shipyard workers in Belfast left their jobs and marched to the city hall in protest.

In an overture to the Roman Catholic minority in the six northern counties of Ireland, Heath also announced plans to release some of the suspected guerrillas interned there without trial and a plebiscite on whether the people of Northern Ireland want to unite with the Irish Republic.

The outcome of the plebiscite is a certainty since Protestants outnumber Catholics 2 to 1 in Northern Ireland and are solidly opposed to Catholic rule from the South.

DIRECT RULE

The government took direct rule of the province after 31 months of religious-political warfare that has taken 286 lives and brought Britain to its gravest constitutional crisis since King Edward VIII abdicated in 1938.

Government Rests Case Against Antiwar Priest

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — After presenting testimony from 64 witnesses, the government has rested its bomb-kidnap conspiracy case against antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six others.

Today the defense presses motions for directed verdicts of acquittal.

"The government has failed to prove that there has been any conspiracy," said attorney Paul O'Dwyer, a member of the six-man defense team headed by former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

"They didn't prove there was a plot to kidnap the President's adviser, Henry Kissinger, and they didn't prove a plan to blow up government property," O'Dwyer said.

Chief prosecutor William Lynch said, "The evidence is overwhelming that they are guilty."

In a memorandum to U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman, the defendants accused the government of violating their constitutional rights by "proceeding against them in bad faith." They said they would introduce evidence to show this was deliberate discrimination.

"They are being prosecuted not for their conduct alone, but principally to vindicate the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Justice Department of the United States," the 24-page memo said.

TIME CHANGES EVERYTHING
Jimmy Elder and wife, Sharon, in happier days

CURTAIN RINGS DOWN ON PROMISING CAREER

Life Ebbing For Jimmy Elder

By STEVE HULTMAN

Less than six months ago, Jimmy Elder hoped that by the summer of this year he would be in line for a shot at Joe Frazier and the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

Today Jimmy Elder, blind and in constant pain, lies close to death of a malignant brain tumor in the Veterans Administration Hospital here.

In early October, last year, Elder, 25, was training for a fight scheduled for Oct. 29. It was then that the headaches began, slight at first, but progressively more painful. On Oct. 23, just six days before what was to be the first step in what he hoped would be a title challenge against Frazier, Elder entered the Bronx Veterans Administration Hospital.

On Nov. 4, doctors performed brain surgery on him, after warning the family that he would probably not live through the surgery. But he did, and after six hours on the operating table, Jimmy was able to speak to his parents.

Two weeks later he started chemical and radiation therapy, and again, was not expected to survive. But Jimmy Elder seemed to thrive on misfortune, and went home to Levelland, Tex., Dec. 24.

PARTIALLY BLIND

"He was doing well," said his mother. "He went around and visited friends, wrote and just seemed fine. His only problem was that he was partially blind in the left eye."

But on the morning of Jan. 4, Jimmy went into convulsions, and was brought to the Big Spring VA Hospital, where he finally learned that the tumor was malignant, and that there was no hope for his recovery. "Well, I guess there is not anything else to say," he said.

Jimmy Elder was born Aug. 6, 1947 in Levelland, the son of Charles and Twila Elder. He went to high school and played football in Levelland, then entered South Plains College in his home town.

"He was 19," said his mother, "and the draft was catching up with him, so he joined the Navy and was trained in electronics."

Jimmy served two tours of duty off the shore of South Vietnam on the destroyer USS Edison. He was on the ship when it was hit by shore batteries. "Just about everyone but me got a medal for that — I was taking a shower when it happened."

His ship was in Japanese waters when the Navy decided he should box. "I was out of training and had eaten far too much," he said. But that didn't stop him from knocking out the Japanese amateur champion with his first punch.

TRANSFERRED

He was transferred to the Navy Special Services and boxed for the remainder of his enlistment, winning the All-Navy and the All-Service titles.

His first fight after his discharge was at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, where in National AAU competition he beat the Russian amateur heavyweight champion during the nationally televised event in 1970. He went on to humble the champions of Canada, Germany and Italy before turning professional and signing with Jimmy Iselin, one of the New York Jets owners.

Jimmy, at the age of 14, started boxing under the tutelage of T. J. Watts while he was in the Levelland Boys Club. By the time he joined the Navy, he had won the Regional Odessa Golden Gloves heavyweight championship, defeating three-

AIR PIRACY—II

Faces Of Terror Change

By JOHN S. LANG Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The world must find a way to stop terrorism in the skies or give up air commerce as it is known today.

That is the belief of government and airline officials trying to cope with a crisis which has thus far defied all security measures. As quickly as precautions have been devised, the faces of terror have changed: from a political exile with a gun, to organized teams of revolutionaries, to a disguised voice on the phone demanding a fortune to stop mass murder.

“We must not be intimidated by such lawless acts,” the President said. “Rather we must and will meet this black rail on the ground, as vigorously as we have met piracy in the air.” In announcing the steps to be taken, the government was deliberately vague—to prevent criminals from inventing still more successful tactics.

But generally, they call for installing metal detectors at most terminal gates, constant surveillance of parked aircraft and tightening the baggage handling procedures. These measures will cost $100 million.

GEORGE AND WIFE — Gov. George Wallace of Alabama draws an admiring glance from his wife, Cornelia, Thursday as they thread their way through crowd after news conference in Milwaukee, Wis. Wallace is in Wisconsin to campaign for the state's April 4 presidential primary.

VICIOUS PLOTS

Denouncing “vicious extortion plots,” President Nixon has ordered the airlines to impose comprehensive security on their ground operations.

The expense could be driven vastly higher by other steps being considered, such as isolating aircraft from terminals with fences and matching every passenger with every bag, which could require the redesign of all aircraft baggage handling facilities.

‘BAD’ SECURITY

The fact is, airports in the United States are poorly designed for security. Fences exist primarily for channeling traffic; terminals allow mingling of travelers with sightseers. “In the past airport managers would suggest security measures to be designed in new terminals but these were resisted by airline management,” said one industry source. “Security didn't increase revenues.”

Now, he said, security features will be incorporated into future airports and added whenever existing ones are remodeled.

Criticisms of the airlines' commitment to security also are voiced by administrators of the government's sky marshal program.

GOOD JOB

“During the year and a half we operated the sky marshal program on a voluntary basis, a few carriers did a good job but the majority played the odds and didn't buy metal detectors,” said Al Butler of the FAA's Security Division.

The President's order made airline commitment to the sky marshal program mandatory, and the force of 1,200 marshals was reorganized to conform with the official view that airline terrorism must be stopped on the ground, not in the sky.

Calling For Public Vote On Insurance Rates Hike

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Larry Teaver has challenged his two state insurance board colleagues to take another vote on raising house insurance rates—this time in public.

Teaver, the board chairman, called a meeting for next Wednesday and declared: “I encourage and welcome the public, press and all industry representatives to attend.”

Last week, Teaver was outvoted 2-1 in a board decision to continue adding an inflation factor to building insurance rates.

Teaver wanted to suspend the factor for a year in hopes that Phase II economic controls would halt inflation. He claimed his proposal would cut premiums statewide by $14 million. As it stands, rates will rise in many areas of Texas. Board member Ned Price said Wednesday that final rates had not been approved and changes still could be made in the rating formula.

LARRY TEAVER

“In view of my colleagues' statement to the press that changes can still be made, I am pleased to call another board meeting to review the actions of the board and to recommend once again that the economic trend factor be suspended until we can reasonably determine the effect of the price freeze on inflation,” Teaver said.

Mull Love Letter In Chaplain Trial

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A former Navy man says a purported love letter from Navy Chaplain Andrew F. Jensen to one of two women with whom he is accused of having illicit sexual relations is composed merely of words he dictated to Jensen.

Mike Wennersten, a 22-year-old drapery installer who said he was discharged from the Navy last year under the service's drug amnesty release program, testified Thursday he dictated the words to Jensen during a counseling session.

Jensen, senior chaplain at Cecil Field Naval Air Station, is being court-martialed on a charge of misconduct by adultery.

Mary Ann Curran, the 24-year-old blonde wife of a Navy flier who testified that she had sexual relations with Jensen on 17 occasions, also claimed she had received a note from Jensen saying:

“My life was nothing, covered by a hard shell, until a persistent lovely girl penetrated the hard cover and filled it with joy, meaning, and most of all, love . . . Please share your love with me forever.”

But Wennersten identified the language as his, saying he frequently used the term “hard shell” to describe himself before Jensen began to counsel him “on a problem that included the girl I eventually married.” Sometimes during counseling sessions, Wennersten said, Jensen would have him just lean back and say whether he was thinking. In this case, Wennersten said, he was pretending to talk to the girl he loved and Jensen copied it down.

Loves Animals, Hates Machinery

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — All zoo officials know about their latest benefactor is that he or she loves animals and hates machinery.

Zoo controller Ella Hoover opened an envelope Thursday and found a cashier's check for $5,000. A note said in part:

“It is my desire . . . that no part of the donation go to the support of any kind of machinery . . . I enjoy the zoo very much. My only complaint is that there is too much machinery including vehicles at the zoo.”

Six Flags Set For Opening

ARLINGTON — Top names in contemporary music and the canine television star, Lassie, have been signed to appear at Six Flags Over Texas as part of the theme park's 1972 opening festivities.

Lassie, the star of one of television's longest running series, will take part in Six Flags' opening ceremonies Saturday. She will appear with her handler, Bob Weatherwax, in two shows opening day, and a like number on Sunday.

On opening day only the Bobby Sherman Show, featuring the teen singing idol, will present two performances at the big theme park.

And, from March 26 through March 31, Six Flags will feature the nationally-known musical group Grass Roots.

No extra charge will be made for any of the performances, all of which will be presented in the Park's Texas Pavilion.

The family entertainment center will be open daily from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. from March 25 to April 2. Following the special opening week activities the Park will return to normal Spring season operation, opening only on Saturdays and Sundays. Daily operation will begin late in May.

The fun spot is located in Arlington, midway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Welfare March Slated Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The family-assistance plan that President Nixon Thursday asked Congress to hurry and pass has already stirred a storm of controversy in the Capitol this week.

Congressmen and D.C. government officials hurled accusations back and forth over a “children's march for survival,” predicted to draw up to 50,000 children for a parade around the White House Saturday opposing Nixon's version of welfare reform.

“People say it's welfare reform, but it doesn't do that,” said Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., as he welcomed an advance contingent of 50 youngsters and said he was glad they had come. “It would put off real reform for a decade.”

The Washington Post quoted “congressional sources” as saying White House officials called some Republican congressmen and asked them to protect the involvement of city school children with the march, on ground that the schools should not be involved in politics.

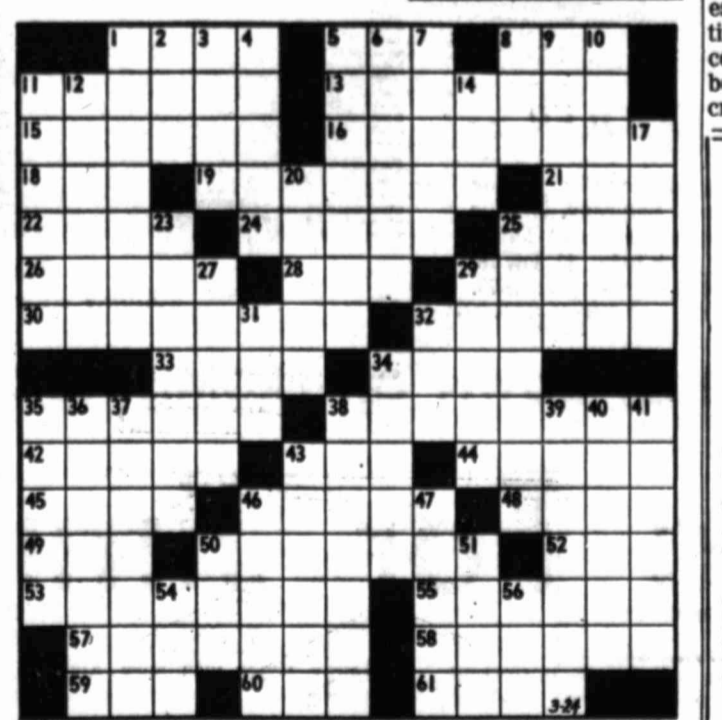

Rep. Joel Brodyhill, R-Va., in a speech on the House floor, accused march organizers of “an all-time low in cheap, callous, cradle-snatching cruelty . . .”

Supporters of the march range from Democratic presidential candidates John Lindsay, George McGovern, Eugene McCarthy and Shirley Chisholm, to Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., who is expected to lead part of the protest.

Adult Education Programs Giggled

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The United States is wasting the resources of millions of Americans by failing to respond to the needs of minority groups in adult education programs, a Nixon administration official says.

Dr. Henry Ramirez, chairman of the Cabinet Committee on Opportunities for Spanish Speaking People, said a study by his office found rigid teaching concepts in adult education throughout the nation.

Minority groups suffer most from the problems encountered in adult education, with many discouraged persons dropping out or never enrolling, he said.

Ramirez told the Commission on Adult Education at its ninth annual national conference here Thursday.

“This country of ours can no longer afford to lose, to waste, the possible resources of 30 million Americans—the blacks, the Mexican-Americans, all the minority groups.” Addressing about 150 teachers, Ramirez said unimaginative education, “the strict concept of four walls, desks, rows, books and a quiet class,” is creating many problems for students in adult education classes.

To Defend President's Antibusing Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary Elliot L. Richardson arranged to go before a doubting Senate Education subcommittee today to defend President Nixon's proposals to end busing and concentrate federal spending on poor-school areas.

Today's hearing is expected to be the first of a lengthy series by various congressional panels on the legislation Nixon sent to Capitol Hill last Monday.

The Education panel is considering that part of the package dealing with $2.5 billion and with the guidelines Nixon proposed for shutting off further busing orders.

The proposed one-year moratorium on such orders is separate legislation that was sent to the Judiciary Committee.

As the fourth part of his antibusing program, Nixon said he would order the Justice Department to intervene in select court cases in which he concluded that judges had gone too far in ordering busing.

FIRST MOVE

Justice made the first move under that directive Thursday, asking a District Court judge to delay action in the Detroit desegregation case until Congress considers Nixon's moratorium.

Such a delay, the motion said, "will contribute to the orderly resolution of the matters" and "will not materially affect the timely resolution of issues before the court."

Judge Stephen J. Roth ruled last Sept. 27 that the Detroit school system was segregated.

He is considering several desegregation plans, some of which probably would involve extensive busing.

The Education subcommittee is dominated by liberals with strong civil-rights inclinations who long have supported busing where it is considered necessary to end a segregated school system.

Many of them were highly critical of Nixon's message in advance of Richardson's appearance.

They said the guidelines he proposed to bar any further busing orders are very likely unconstitutional and, in any event, might well stop or roll back the substantial progress made in dismantling dual school systems.

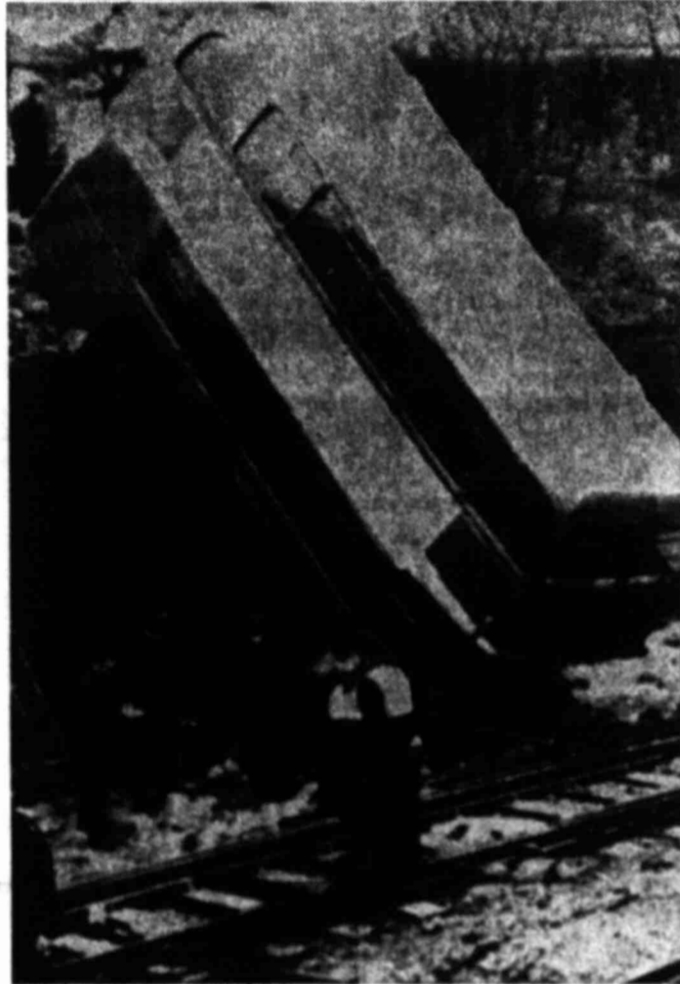

REJUGGLE MONEY

As for the $2.5 billion, they emphasized that this would be simply a re-juggling of funds already voted on by Congress, and without a dime of new money.

If the President wants a substantial improvement in inner-city schools with large numbers of children from poor homes, they contend, he is going to have to ask for far more money.

For example, they pointed out, $1.5 billion of the $2.5 billion comes from Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

This money was designated to improve educational opportunity for underprivileged children from the time the act was passed in 1965.

Reject Milk Case Delay

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A request for a delay of pre-trial proceedings has been denied in a federal antitrust case against one of the nation's largest milk marketing cooperatives. The Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) sought the delay pending a pre-trial conference. The Justice Department civil suit against AMPI last month, charging that it had monopolized the sale of milk produced by dairy farmers in 14 states. AMPI, which has about 40,000 dairy farmer members in the Midwest, publicly denied the government's claims. Among the pre-trial actions scheduled are depositions which the government plans to take from milk producers throughout the nation this month. AMPI also had asked U.S. District Court Judge D.W. Suttle to declare the litigation a "complex case" under federal guidelines covering "complex and multidistrict litigation." The milk group said the case presents unusual problems requiring "extraordinary treatment." In an order issued Thursday, Suttle gave the San Antonio based organization and the government until May 31 to exchange briefs on the request. He did not at once set a date for a hearing.

Jail Fires Quiz Opens

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — An investigation was underway today into a disturbance at the Hidalgo County jail in which three prisoners set fire to mattresses and bedding Thursday night. Asst. Chief Jailer Octavio Perez said the disturbance was brief and occurred not long after the men had been given their evening meal. Perez identified the three men as Roberto Gonzalez, 24, of McAllen, charged with murder with malice; Augustin Garza, 23, of Pharr, serving a six-month jail term for unlawfully carrying a pistol, and Ernesto De La Rosa, 20, of Houston, charged with fraudulent use of a credit card. Perez said all three men were in one cell and were the only prisoners out of 138 being held who took part in the disturbance. He said the men were taken from the cell and placed in solitary confinement after the fire was extinguished. Both sheriff Claudio Castaneda and the jailer said they did not know what caused the disturbance.

Choral Groups Get Sweepstakes

Four Big Spring High School choirs returned to Big Spring Thursday with sweepstakes awards won at the University Interscholastic League choir contest in Midland. The sweepstakes is the highest possible award. Big Spring High School choirs this year set a school record for winners. The Boys, the Girls, the Freshman A Cappella and the Meistersingers choirs led the competition, earning Big Spring more awards than any other school in competition. The high school A Cappella choir received a Division I rating in concert and Division II in sightreading, the highest award given to any choir in that section of the contest. The next competition, under the direction of Lee J. Bowers, will be during Buccaneer Days in Corpus Christi May 5. Only regional winners are eligible to compete in the Corpus Christi Buccaneer Sweepstakes.

SCOTT SULLIVAN

DEBBIE WEAVER

Spelling Finals Are Advanced

Scott Sullivan is back, which is a warning that spellers in the Howard County Spelling Bee had best be sharp. Scott captured the Goliad Junior High title Thursday. Another warning of sorts was sounded — the Howard County finals are being advanced one day. The time now is 4 p.m. Tuesday (not Wednesday) but will be at the same time, place, and date as the Howard County Junior College gymnasium. All champions and alternates, and all principals of participating schools are reminded of the change. Scott Sullivan is a veteran of two previous county finals and has been coming up each time as a contender. He is the son of Mrs. Mary E. Sullivan, 110 E. 18th. His alternate at Goliad is Debbie Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Weaver. She gave Scott a tough time before yielding the school title. College Heights and Kentwood were to pick their champs Friday afternoon, rounding out the field of 16 schools.

Firemen Make Pair Of Runs

Fire erupted at 111 N. Goliad Thursday night, requiring two fire units of the Big Spring Fire Department to extinguish the blaze. Answering a 9:21 p.m. call from the Northside station fought the blaze for approximately one hour before bringing it under control. Cause of the blaze is still undetermined, according to A. D. Meador, fire chief. Fire officials are trying to locate the owner of the house today and were not able to give the man's name. Two rooms of the house were severely damaged and contents in the house were destroyed.

Liberal Demos Might Send Rump Delegation To Confab

HOUSTON (AP) — An organization to be known as the Texans for a Democratic Delegation says it may send a rump delegation to the National Democratic Party Convention in Miami in July. The group scheduled an April 1 workshop meeting in Austin to discuss the plans to fight convention rules adopted March 13 by the State Democratic Executive Committee. Billie Carr, a former state Democratic committeewoman, made the announcement at a Thursday news conference held by the liberal coalition. Its purpose was to denounce the so-called compromise moderate set of reform rules for selecting national convention delegates adopted by the executive committee. "Unless the State Democratic Executive Committee reopens this issue by the April deadline and amends these rules to permit rank-and-file participation in the election of convention delegates, a substantial number of Democratic Party members will send a rump delegation to the national convention," W. V. F. Ballew Jr., a Houston lawyer, predicted. Mrs. Carr said "the people that control the Democratic party in Texas have no intention of giving us any meaningful opportunity for reform. We're not going to wait 20 more years. We're going to have reform whether they like it or not. "We already have enough evidence to take a challenge delegation to Miami with a file full of violations of the Farsen-McGovern guidelines which call for full participation by blacks, chicanoes, women and young people." Mrs. Carr said the organizations that will participate in the April 1 meeting to form the Delegation are Action Coalition of Texas, Texas for McGovern, Young Democrats of Texas, Countdown '72, Texas Women's Political Caucus, a Mexican-American group in San Antonio, and some labor supporters.

Says He Shot Detective

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A Baltimore, Md., man has been assessed a 30-year prison term in connection with the shooting of a Corpus Christi detective on April 24th, 1970. Andrew Bogden, 30, was returned to Corpus Christi from Deming, N.M., to stand trial. He entered a plea of guilty Thursday before District Judge Vernon Harville. Bogden had been accused of assault with intent to murder Detective J. C. Whidden. Whidden was shot nine times, but survived. Bogden also was charged with the abduction of a Corpus Christi sea captain whom he forced to drive him to Deming, but those charges were dropped. Police said that Bogden engaged in a shootout with New Mexico police and wounded two officers. He was tried in a New Mexico court and was serving two 10-year sentences when he was brought to Corpus Christi.

Harris County Disaster Area

HOUSTON (AP) — Because of flooding last Monday and Tuesday Harris County has been declared a disaster area by the Small Business Administration. Rains that measured more than seven inches fell in some parts of the county. Don Grose, SB district director, said Thursday his office has surveyed flood damage and estimates more than 250 homes, primarily in northwest Harris County, were affected. Owners of small businesses or existing homes are eligible to apply for SBA's long term, low interest disaster loans if property damage occurred, Grose said.

LILLY FOR LILY DAY — Dallas Cowboy all-pro tackle, Bob Lilly, is heading up the Saturday observance for Lily Day for the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. Locally, football boys are following the lead by selling miniature lilies Saturday. In fact, they organized to canvass the high school.

Football Boys To Lead In Observance Of Lily Day

Football boys put their shoulders to the blocking sled Saturday to help make easier sledding for some crippled child. They will be selling miniature lilies to mark the observance of Lily Day, part of the observance of the Easter Seal Society's campaign for crippled children and adults. Bob Lilly, famed Dallas Cowboy all-pro tackle for many years, is state chairman for this activity and has enlisted football squads around the state to help. Ricky Haley will head a group of young men who will canvass the downtown area: V. W. Powell will lead a team which will work the Birdwell and Eleventh Place areas; Joel Fellows is captain of the team for Highland Center and Gibson's; while Craig Barber heads the team for the College Park Shopping Center. Friday, teams canvassed high school students during home room periods. A generous portion of the funds raised stay here because the local Easter Seal chapter makes the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center its prime object of concern.

Connally Warns Stores To 'Watch Your Prices'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally cautioned the nation's food stores today to "watch your prices" or face the possibility of tougher government action. "We think they ought to start trimming down," said Connally of the spiral in food prices in recent months. The secretary, however, all but ruled out controls on raw agricultural products, now exempt. He said this would be a last resort. Connally also said he hopes there will not be any massive showdown strikes by labor as a result of the decision of four labor members of the Pay Board to quit. "We're going to try to avoid that. We don't want to pick a fight with labor," Connally said. But the administration, he said, is "not going to run from one." Connally was interviewed on the NBC Today show. Asked if the administration was going to take action now to slow the rise in food prices, Connally said: "We're taking action in the sense that we're saying to all the retailers throughout the country: Watch your prices. Watch your prices, because we are going to be prepared to move." He said that is one reason why retailers are being called to public hearings next month by the Price Commission on food prices. Connally said meat prices created two weeks ago. And he said other food prices should be coming down as the control program begins to reverse the rise in nonfood items. Connally said the resignation of the four of the five labor members from the Pay Board will not adversely affect the control program. He denied labor's charge that the board had shown favoritism toward business. Now that the labor members are gone, Connally said he did not think the Pay Board would become more rigid in its rulings. He said one criticism of the board is that it had been too lenient in granting pay increases.

Hearings Set On Amistad Park Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hearings to decide whether a 65,000-acre Amistad National Recreation Area should be established along the Mexican border near Del Rio start here April 6. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, said Thursday.

The proposal was made in a bill introduced before the Senate by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., who said that he was pleased the hearings had been scheduled.

Jackson said 90,000 people live within a 100-mile radius of the proposed recreation area. Some 2.3 million live within 70 miles and another 7.7 million within 350 miles.

The zone contains 15 metropolitan centers, including those of San Antonio, the Dallas-Fort Worth complex, and Houston. Amistad, with its present limited development, already draws patronage from throughout Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, Jackson said.

"Amistad can handle 15,000 people per day. It is estimated that one million people per year will visit this area during its first five years as a national entity," Jackson added.

"The American people are demanding two things currently regarding their recreational pursuits. First, better and more complete services. Secondly, much of the American public today participates in a search for personal enrichment through meaningful recreational pursuits. Amistad has the natural capacity to meet all challenges. Boating, hiking, camping and fishing are excellent in the area proposed for this new national recreation area.

"At the same time, my proposal will preserve for our nation the plants and animals of the historic Chaparral country, together with an appreciable intermingling of species of plants and animals from the Great Chihuahuan desert. This is truly 'an oasis in the desert'," Bentsen said.

Texas Sergeant Killed in Germany

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — An Army sergeant from San Benito, Tex., has been killed in a traffic accident near Heidelberg.

The U.S. Army identified him as Sgt. Manuel Martinez, 29, who was attached to the 803rd Transportation Company. The Army said Martinez was a passenger in a military sedan driven by another soldier when the vehicle ran off the Heidelberg Autobahn and struck a tree last Friday.

Agnew Says Few Good Words About Wallace

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Vice President Spiro Agnew leaves New Orleans today after saying a few good words about Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

Agnew said Wallace appeals to people because they know where he stands on issues. "I think he has changed his approach because he himself recognized that it was counterproductive," said the vice president, Thursday.

The Alabama governor won the Florida presidential primary on the Democratic ticket. He ran as an independent in the last presidential race.

Agnew invited a farmers organization to help "create a climate of understanding" that would support negotiations to increase agricultural trade with other nations, including Communist countries.

"It is the export market that holds out the greatest promise for the future of agriculture," Agnew told a national Feed and Grain Association convention luncheon.

He said the Nixon administration had widened the international political dialogue and "some significant changes took place in the United States trading relationships with Communist countries in 1971."

He cited trade negotiations undertaken with Moscow and Warsaw as well as Nixon's "recent historic visit to China."

On Wallace, the vice president said the people may not always agree with the Alabama governor's position but they believe he is saying something that can be easily understood.

"Gov. Wallace—and I want to emphasize that in this campaign I have not seen anything racist or extreme said by him—appeals to people because they know where he is, they know what his position is on an issue."

On Wednesday, Agnew addressed workers at Avondale Shipyards, telling 8,000 of them that President Nixon was fulfilling his pledge to develop a new maritime policy and program.

No one can seriously question that Pietro Forquet is one of the outstanding bridge players of the modern era.

As an original member of the Italian Blue team which won the World's Championship for the first time in 1967, his consistent performances were instrumental in his team's string of triumphs which extended until 1969 when they retired as the reigning title holders.

Last December, the Blue Team emerged once more to do battle against the current World Champions, the Dallas Aces, in a special exhibition. Italy won the match and once again Forquet played a vital role as is illustrated in today's hand where a brilliant defensive coup enabled him to defeat a four heart contract that was made at the other table.

When the Americans were seated North-South, South chose to open the bidding in second position with four hearts and was permitted to buy the hand without competition.

Benito Garozzo, seated West, opened the king of clubs, North followed with the four, Forquet—as East—played the deuce and declarer the eight, which had all the earmarks of being a singleton. West switched to the king of spades and when this held, he continued with the queen.

Forquet gave the matter considerable thought and finally overtook the queen with the ace to return a third spade which his partner ruffed to score the setting trick.

At the other table, Italy also got to four hearts on a more protracted bidding sequence. The American player, seated West, also opened the king of clubs and, after observing his partner's deuce and declarer's eight, shifted to the king of spades. When this held, he continued with the queen, however East allowed him to win this trick as well.

West had no more spades to lead and, in desperation, he attempted to cash the ace of clubs. South ruffed, crossed over to the king of hearts and played North's A-K-Q of diamonds on which he disposed of his remaining three spades. A club was trumped in the closed hand and after the ace and queen of hearts drew the outstanding trumps, declarer claimed his contract, having lost two spades and one club.

Altho Forquet had no way of knowing that his partner held a doubleton spade and that declarer had preempted in hearts with a five card side suit, his overtake of the queen covered all possibilities. If West also held the jack, for example, it could not cost to play the ace. If West's holding in the suit consists of the king-queen and smaller cards without the jack, then his proper lead on the second round is a small spade—for East can lead a third spade as readily as West.

Farmer Can Get IRS Tax Guide

The 1972 edition of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" is now available from county agricultural agents or the Internal Revenue Service, Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for North Texas, said today.

The booklet, IRS Publication 225, shows how farmers should fill out the 1040 tax return and which schedules should be attached. A listing of important Federal tax dates for farmers can also be found in the publication.

Written in non-technical language, the tax guide contains many examples of how farm transactions are handled for Federal income tax purposes.

Although primarily written to help farmers prepare their 1971 tax return, the guide is useful as a reference throughout the year.

Tell Them Now

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM.

IN TROUBLE (Q.) I went too far with a guy and now I'm pregnant. I'm not the kind of a girl that does that with any guy. The only reason I did it is that I love him.

Before I knew, he told me if I got pregnant that he would not marry me. He said he would shoot me or go crazy. I don't know whether he was joking or not. I don't know how to tell him or my parents. — Scared in Indiana.

(A.) Being the type of girl who ordinarily doesn't do it does not keep a girl from getting pregnant when she does.

What your boy friend told you tells me that he wasn't joking and was warning you that you are on your own.

Tell your parents about it now. There is only one way to tell them—straight. Only three words are required: "I am pregnant."

After you've told them that, tell them what your boy friend said and ask them to help you decide about him and to help you with all the other decisions that must be made.

Local Woman Leads Active Life In Service To Others

By MYRNA McFADIN
"I just love to do." These are the words of Mrs. Mattie Wren, a lady who spends her waking moments in service to her church and community.

MRS. MATTIE WREN

Everyone who knows Mrs. Wren, knows that they can call on her if they need help of any kind. She does volunteer work at the Veterans Hospital, Big Spring Nursing Inn, and the Big Spring State Hospital every week. Mattie Wren doesn't stop there.

"My first love is my church, and my first work goes there," said Mrs. Wren. A member of the Baptist Temple, she is secretary of the training union—a position she has held for 20 years. Mrs. Wren keeps records for the Adult IV department, and is now serving on the historical committee for the 20th anniversary celebration of Baptist Temple.

Her main job at the church, and the one she likes best, is mission action chairman of the Women's Missionary Union. Every third month this group outfits 10 to 12 needy families. Last month they clothed approximately 100 children and their parents. This group also cares for the needs of the bereaved.

Mrs. Wren is secretary of the local World War I Auxiliary, and is secretary and treasurer of the District 19 World War I Auxiliary, Barracks 1497. She is secretary-treasurer-reporter of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club, and citizenship chairman of the Howard County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs.

Mattie Wren even finds time to visit shut-ins. Married 51 years to Bob Wren, she says she couldn't do it all if it weren't for his understanding. "He's real good about eating a cold sandwich when I'm busy on one of my projects," she said.

Many people love Mattie Wren, and Mattie Wren truly loves many people.

The Rev. Harlan Birdwell, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, believes the ministry of healing is a valid part of the ministry of the church.

"Many years ago the church surrendered this ministry, and there is now an attempt in our church to recover it," he says. What has been started at his church is an incorporation of different methods.

The prayer of healing and the laying-on of hands has been included in the Thursday morning celebration of Holy Communion at St. Mary's. For people desiring this part of the celebration, an attempt is made to deal not only with physical illness but also with emotional upset and distress.

"This service of the church is in no way a denial of the legitimacy of the medical profession and their efforts," says Rev. Birdwell. "It speaks to another dimension of a human personality, complementing the ministry of the medical doctor."

He explains that this is not magic but part of the mystery and miracle of life—something man must simply "let happen" without analysis or explanation. The Rev. Birdwell includes prayers for the ill at every service of St. Mary's.

A bright new young couple for Big Spring is Rev. and Mrs. Ray Alexander. He has recently accepted the pastorate of the Westside United Pentecostal Church, 105 Lockhart.

Ray and Sherry Alexander are pleased with Big Spring and their new church, and invite everyone to stop by and visit with them in the church's services. Ray has been ministering for four years.

having pastored the Faith United Pentecostal Church in Wichita, Kan., for three years. They are now residing in the parsonage located at the church with their five children, Danny Ray, 11; Timothy, 9; David, 4; Renee, 3; and Japhen, 6 months. We extend to them a warm Big Spring welcome.

You still have an opportunity to hear the tremendous preaching of Evangelist A. F. Collins, in revival through Sunday at Trinity Baptist Church, 810 11th Place. Always a joy to hear, the 60-voice Trinity choir, under the direction of Leonard Moody, will be singing in each service.

The fourth semi-annual "Student Lectureship" will be held at the Greenlaw Church of Christ in Lubbock April 9-12. The theme is "In the Fullness of Time." Students of Lubbock Christian College will be presenting this lectureship.

The 12th annual convention of the Southern District of the American Lutheran Church will be held at the Holiday Inn in Galveston April 14-16. Some 500 pastors and lay delegates of the district's 260 congregations in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico are expected to attend.

The Senior High United Methodist Youth of the First United Methodist Church will be presenting special Easter sunrise services this year. Ron and Rhea Haxton are counsellors for the group. I hear these young people are spending many hours preparing for this service.

Churches Schedule Holy Week Services

Sunday is Palm Sunday and is regarded as the beginning of Holy Week. Many local churches have scheduled special services or have added special music and sermons to regular services in commemoration of the last week of Christ's life.

During the 8 a.m., 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. services at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church Sunday, Christ's Passion, according to St. Matthew will be read. A triumphal procession of palms will precede each service in commemoration of Christ's procession into Jerusalem. Thursday, at 7 p.m., the night of the Last Supper, will be commemorated with a service of the washing of feet and the Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament until midnight.

Immaculate Heart will have Stations of the Cross from 2 to 3 p.m. on Good Friday, and in commemoration of the death of the Lord, the Five Sorrowful Mysteries of the rosary and confession will be held. At 7 p.m., solemn service will be held, the Passion of the Lord according to St. John will be read, and the adoration and unveiling of the cross will be held. Communion service will follow.

Saturday at 7 p.m., the Easter fire will be blessed, and the Easter candles will be lighted. There will be a procession of the Easter candles and the Easter Proclamation will be read. The baptismal water and font will be blessed, and an Easter Vigil Mass will be held.

Easter Sunday, services will follow regular schedule at Immaculate Heart with a Latin High Mass at 10 a.m.

First Baptist Church will present special music during Palm Sunday service. Sheryl Gambill will be soloist, and Easter selections will be performed by the ladies' sextet composed of Mrs. Walter Wheat, Mrs. Jim Thompson, Mrs. Ron Plumlee, Mrs. Clem Jones, Mrs. Lee Butler and Mrs. Morris Rhoades.

At 7 p.m. this Sunday, the Easter Cantata, "Calvary's Mountain," by Lanny Allen will be performed by soloists Mrs. Butler, Miss Pat Adams, Walter Wheat and Lynn Hise. Accompanists will be Mrs. W. W. Grimes, organist, and Mrs. W. T. McRee, pianist. All music is under the direction of Connell Taylor.

Easter Sunday, the Lord's Supper will be observed at 7 p.m., and Mrs. Myrtle Lee will illustrate the verses of the hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross," with chalk drawings while Taylor sings it.

Holy Week services at St. Mary's Episcopal Church will be 8 and 10:30 a.m. Holy Communion services Palm Sunday, and 6 p.m. Litany on Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday, a 6 p.m. Litany and Ante-Communion will be held.

Sunday Begins Week Of Concern For POW

Sunday will be a national day of prayer for American prisoners of war and those missing in action, and it will begin National Week of Concern for Prisoners of War-Missing in Action, as decreed by President Richard M. Nixon.

Webb AFB chaplains will read the President's proclamation Sunday as part of all services, and copies of the message will be distributed to Big Spring area churches.

In the U.S. House of Representatives resolution authorizing the President's proclamation, concern and support for the more than 1,500 Americans listed at POW-MIA in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon said, "1,623 American servicemen and 50 U.S. civilians are either missing in action or being held captive by North Vietnam and its allies. At the end of this month, the first men to be taken prisoners will begin their ninth year in captivity—the longest internment ever endured by American fighting men."

In conclusion, President Nixon called upon, "All the people of the United States to observe this week with such appropriate ceremonies and activities as will stir and sustain widespread concern for the missing men and prisoners—nourish the patient courage of their loved ones, and above all, hasten the day of their return to home and freedom."

Healing By Prayer Is Former Pastor's Topic

Evangelist Calvin Wiley will speak at 9:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad.

The Rev. Wiley is one of the former pastors of First Assembly of God here.

This former Big Spring pastor will present his testimony of healing, through prayer, of cancer in the last stages. After leaving his pastorate here, he underwent five operations before cancer was discovered.

According to the Rev. Donald Calvin, pastor, many churches prayed for the Rev. Wiley's recovery. "This man's healing through prayer is one of the great miracles of our day," commented the Evangel Temple pastor.

The public is invited to attend both Sunday services at Evangel Temple.

Slimmed Pay Board Holds Rare Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new "public" Pay Board set a rare Friday meeting for today as President Nixon pondered which four businessmen he must fire to balance four union defections.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock left the board Thursday as Nixon announced his plans to reshape the board.

Woodcock, the fourth labor member to resign in two days, called for a congressional investigation of the whole wage-price control effort. House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said he might get one.

The President said he will keep the present five public members of the board, plus just enough businessmen to balance whatever union members wish to stay. Woodcock resigned at almost the same time Nixon spoke, leaving Teamsters Union President Frank E. Fitzsimmons the sole representative of organized labor on the board.

So the new board will have seven members: Fitzsimmons, the five public members, and whichever of the present five business members Nixon chooses. The White House said it didn't know who the choice would be or when the decision would be made.

Director George Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget said all seven members would be considered public members, although the union and business representatives would be expected to stand up for their particular views.

The President, who personally announced his plans to newsmen after outlining them to a special session of the Cost of Living Council, severely criticized AFL-CIO President George Meany, who walked off the board Wednesday with two AFL-CIO colleagues.

Nixon said Meany's resignation had been prompted by the Pay Board's rejection of a 20.9-per-cent first-year pay raise for West Coast longshoremen.

In reshaping the board as a body representative of only the public, Nixon abandoned the concept demanded earlier by Meany—that the board have public, labor and business members.

Rangel Heads Committee

Johnny Rangel, 306 NW 9th, will head the G. I. Forum's scholarship committee for the coming year.

This is the second year that the Forum has awarded scholarships to enable needy and deserving students to attend Howard County Junior College. The Forum's annual project is to award three $300 scholarships to local students.

Applications for the scholarships may be obtained from any Forum member or at the Forum Hall, 510 NW 4th. Applications will be made available after April 1, and deadline for submitting applications is April 31.

Rangel accepted the post as committee chairman March 8. He has been an employee at Big Spring State Hospital for 14 years.

Legal Secretary Exams Are Given

Howard County Junior College for the first time has been qualified to give the Professional Legal Secretary's exam.

The two-day test, being given today and Saturday, is administered by educators, attorneys and legal secretaries. The test determines whether a secretary is qualified to do all the work in a legal office, and is given in March and October.

HCJC officials said the school is honored to have been selected and qualified to give the test.

Russians Fire 'Spy' Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians have sent aloft a big new satellite which may have improved their ability to spy on American communications, U.S. military and space experts say.

After studying Cosmos 476, launched March 1, these experts say they believe it represents a new generation of Russian electronic intelligence satellite.

The "ferrets," as they are called, are designed to eavesdrop on other nations' radio traffic and to monitor radar. They usually record radio and radar signals they pick up.

Ground stations then interrogate the satellites by radio as they pass within range and extract the information.

Both the Soviets and the United States orbit spy satellites which gather intelligence information by camera and with a variety of exotic sensors, but neither government acknowledges use of such satellites.

Most Soviet military satellites are launched under the cover name Cosmos. They usually are described by the Russians simply as research vehicles. The first Cosmos was launched 10 years ago.

U.S. space experts estimate the Cosmos 476 payload at between 10,000 and 12,000 pounds, about 10 times heavier than an earlier generation of Soviet ferrets still in orbit.

They say the heavier weight of the new satellite suggests that it incorporates much more equipment than older models and probably involves a greater degree of technical sophistication.

Two earlier launches, in late December 1970 and last April, were believed related to the new spy-satellite class.

Plea For Voters To Sign In Time For May Primaries

By The Associated Press

Several top candidates in the newly enfranchised young voters "are coming into the electoral process without the discipline to remind Texas voters to register for the May primary election."

Gov. Preston Smith issued a statement Thursday in Austin: "It is urgent that our citizens get busy and register soon if they want to have a voice in the selection of candidates on May 6."

The governor said this was "a serious situation and I would hope that many thousands of other citizens who can become eligible to vote will take the few minutes necessary and register immediately."

Another candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, aimed her call at youth in a speech at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Mrs. Farenthold said the newly enfranchised young voters "are coming into the electoral process without the discipline to remind Texas voters to register for the May primary election."

Former Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, who is trying to get back to Washington in his bid for the Democratic nomination, also made an appeal for voter registration.

"This is an extremely important election year," Yarborough said, "and genuine alternatives will be presented to voters from every level of government, from local to national."

Another candidate for governor, Ramsey Muniz of the Raza

Union Party, was in the Rio Grande Valley urging Mexican-American voters to register but to stay away from the polls on May 6 and save themselves for the general election in November.

Muniz asked students at Pan American College to support the Raza Union drive for statewide registration.

According to official figures revealed Thursday in Austin, there are 7,681,000 Texans qualified to vote, but to date only 3,779,000 have registered.

"POSITIVE REFORM"
Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe, a Democratic candidate for governor, said in a campaign speech at Sherman that he can provide the leadership Texas needs for "positive reform."

Briscoe added that, if elected, he would seek to limit the terms of the speaker of the House to one to prevent his "building" a power base.

Dave Reagan, a Republican gubernatorial candidate, released a financial statement in Fort Worth showing his gross income for 1971 was $27,615, including his $18,000 salary from Austin College.

In San Antonio, another Republican candidate for governor, Tom McElroy, said, "The sooner the chaos starts with a new session of the legislature, the sooner it will be over."

POWER GRABBERS
McElroy said he "cringed at the prospects of what the present legislature might do when reconvened... The power grabbers, the grand standers and the deposed captains of power along with shaken incumbents seeking re-election can all be counted upon to stage a wild scramble and a sorry spectacle."

In Austin Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin kicked off a controversy by telling supporters that his only opponent's campaign "originated in the governor's office."

Martin said that John Hill "met in the governor's office with Secretary of State Bob Bullock and Jimmy Day, the lobbyist for Shearn Moody Jr., and also the lobbyist for the vending machine people on the day he finally made up his mind to run against me."

He added that the decision came "on the heels of threats by Moody that he was going to run John Hill against me if I did not suppress evidence on some of his questionable business and political activities."

Court Order Forbids Rock Festival On Padre Beach

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — South Padre Investment Corp. obtained a restraining order Thursday to halt, at least temporarily, plans of promoters to hold an Easter weekend rock music concert on a beach.

The temporary restraining order was signed by District Court Judge Darrell Hester, who set a hearing for next Wednesday on an injunction sought by the Houston-based corporation.

The order does not prevent the rock concert as long as there is no trespassing on property owned by South Padre Investment Corp.

Wendy Maloy of Harlingen announced plans earlier this week to hold an "Easter rock fiesta" on an isolated stretch of beach in Willacy County (Raymondville) on April 1, the day before Easter.

Maloy, who was not available for comment on the restraining order, had said promoters planned to sell 5,000 tickets at $6 each. He said he had contracted some top rock groups to play at the four-hour concert.

The restraining order named as defendants Maloy, James Williams of Edinburg, Cecil McDonald of Pharr and Ocean Productions.

James R. Stanley of Houston, an executive of South Padre Investment, claimed his corporation owns 30,000 acres of land on South Padre Island in Cameron and Willacy counties.

Maloy said the festival would be held on a beach that is open to the public.

Williams claimed that persons attending the concert would trespass on his property and officers could not prevent irreparable damage to his property by littering and damage to sand dunes.

Williams also claimed his firm might be held liable for injury to persons who attended the concert and trespassed on his property.

The judge's order said that Maloy and the others could not invite persons to attend the concert and could not continue to sell tickets. They also were instructed to notify persons who bought tickets of the restraining order.

Doggie Pills May Be On Way

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A national Humane Society official says birth control pills for dogs and cats may be available within a few years.

John Hoyt, president of the Humane Society of the United States, said Syntex Laboratories in California is working on a drug which will permanently sterilize a pet and may have drug available in three to five years.

Pointing to a "tremendous" population explosion among domestic animals, said spaying or neutering family pets is a necessity to keep the nation from being over-run by animals.

Consumer's Question-Box

Q. Having read that common table salt is a deterrent to sleep, I have been trying to cut down on the use of it and substitute monosodium glutamate. Are the properties of MSG much different from sodium chloride? I would be interested to know the chemical formula of MSG — or is that just a trade name?

A. Monosodium glutamate is not related to sodium chloride. It is derived from a natural compound present in many foods — its basic name is glutamic acid.

In human bodies monosodium glutamate is produced from glutamic acid in the course of ordinary digestion. The amount used as a seasoning in food preparation, in the home kitchen or commercial kitchen, is only from 1 per cent to 3 per cent of the actual amount normally present in many of our foods, especially meats.

Intensive research by impartial scientists has found MSG not harmful in any way used as a seasoning except to those allergic to it. Other research studies which reported it to be harmful were based on feeding huge doses to mice, by injection under the skin. These tests and methods are not valid.

Q. I have been buying half-hams from a mail order company which states the half-hams will weigh from 6 1/2 to 8 pounds, and they are all priced the same, no matter how much the actual half-ham finally weighs. This means I often may pay for a pound or so I don't get. Is this legal?

A. I have checked with the Chief of the Office of Weights and Measures at our National Bureau of Standards, and am told the way of selling hams you describe is illegal. Meat must be sold by "net weight." There are no provisions for a range of from 6 1/2 to 8 pounds. Price per "unit," or pound, is also required by the Model Packaging Law.

Q. Since there is so much talk these days of the safety or harm of food additives, and so little agreement, shouldn't there be some way they could be tested so consumers would feel sure they have had impartial and truly scientific evaluation? This would put a stop to a lot of the guesswork that the news media does, telling us first something is deadly then that it is really O.K.

A. Gaylord Nelson, D. Wis., has introduced legislation which would do just what you suggest. It would require that food and color additives be tested by a neutral "third-party" competent to study the chemical additives. Testing would not be done by laboratories connected with any firms which developed the chemicals. Any company wanting to introduce a new additive would have to submit its application to the Food and Drug Administration and have it impartially tested before approval.

Consumers who approve of this proposed law might write their Congressmen to tell them so, or write to Sen. Nelson's office, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C.

Winners Named In Bridge Play

tween salad dressing and mayonnaise? Which has the most calories?

A. Salad dressing is usually a boiled sauce, depending chiefly on flour for thickening with milk and the usual condiments — mustard, salt, cayenne, etc. (Mayonnaise is not cooked and depends on a large quantity of olive oil for its thickening with egg yolks. Boiled salad dressing is rated as having 25 calories per tablespoon, mayonnaise, 100 per tablespoon.

Q. On a trip West 2 1/2 years ago I purchased a quart bottle of a special lemon-juice-type "bar mix." The bottle has never been opened but we noticed recently when we planned to use it that particles of sand-like bits had settled at the bottom of the bottle. They did not dissolve when we shook it.

Do you think it is safe to use? After looking at the bottle, I see it says to keep in a cool place. We haven't done this.

A. Only a scientific laboratory test could tell if this mixture is still safe to use. But the processor would not have directed users to keep the product cool during storage, if there was no need to do so to preserve it.

Considering the time this has been kept, and the fact that natural lemon juice and lemon oils are included in its ingredients, I would suggest it would be wise not to use it after 2 1/2 years. Even if the ingredients would not harm you, the loss of quality, flavor character would be extreme.

Organic Gardening Grows In Popularity

"Organic Gardening is becoming increasingly popular throughout the United States," said John Johansen, Big Spring parks superintendent, when he was guest speaker for After Five Garden Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. E. C. Shive, 604 Bucknell.

"The food is not necessarily more nutritious," continued Johansen, "because the plants will absorb the same chemicals from the soil necessary for growth and production. However, foods grown organically tend to grow and mature much faster, thereby producing a much improved texture and flavor over foods grown in ordinary soil with commercial fertilizers."

Johansen also noted methods of controlling insects through natural methods. He said strong smelling plants such as garlic will repel many insects if planted among flowers and vegetables. "Marigolds help control common garden bites such as nematodes, and earth worms and lady bugs are useful in controlling harmful insects.

Johansen said some gardeners are experimenting with metering fertilizer, whereby fertilizer is placed in the ground and released at varied stages to provide plants with feedings over a longer period of time.

Mrs. Hervey Perry was cohostess for the meeting, and Mrs. Tippy Anderson was a guest. Members agreed to furnish a mirror for the children's room at Howard County Library to accompany the coat rack donated earlier by the club.

No Easy Answer

As Vice President Spiro T. Agnew journeys from place to place in this broad land he periodically applies his verbal blow-torch to various portions of the anatomy of what he calls the "media." Since this includes newspapers, we have been startled from time to time by the bold generalizations encompassed by his rhetoric.

Getting down to cases, consider Agnew's statements made to teachers attending the recent Midwest district convention in Indianapolis, Ind., of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. After saying that all Americans must share the blame for drug addiction among teenagers, he got to his point:

"A large share of the blame must also rest on some of those in the news and entertainment fields who, in the past, intentionally or otherwise, have glorified drug use."

We would respectfully request Agnew to absolve us from such a generalized indictment. We would not want our readers to think that we have glorified drug use either in our news columns or in our editorials. The record will show otherwise.

Drug abuse is one of the most complicated problems this country has ever faced. It is not very helpful to blame, as Agnew does, indolence, laziness and permissiveness and glorification of drug use as the sources of the problem. The war in Vietnam is involved in the attitude of our youth. So are poverty and hopelessness in the ghettos.

So is youthful disillusionment with the gross materialism of their elders. So is what youths consider the "irrelevance" of conventional, established religion. We are facing a crisis in the individual who finds himself trapped in a system which is unresponsive either to peaceful or violent protest.

We are all to blame, of course. But the question that defeats most parents whose children have been involved with drugs is this: What did I do, or fail to do? The question defies a completely acceptable answer.

Most of us have been taught there is an answer to every question. The answer is supposed to lie in the realm of religion, or science, or from experts in the field of finance, philosophy, economics or sociology. But the answer to the drug problem has eluded us to date.

As she lay dying, Gertrude Stein turned to her best friend, Alice B. Toklas, and asked: "What is the answer?" When there was no reply, Miss Stein asked: "Then what is the question?"

Have we really asked the right questions on the subject of drug abuse?

Why Not Training?

Texas Department of Corrections needs improvements, no doubt, but we doubt the advice of Milton G. Rector, executive director, National Council on Crime and Delinquency, is worth taking unamended.

Rector was in Texas last week to say "exploitation of cheap prison labor in Texas and competition with business and industry must be stopped."

Prisoners are working on released-time basis on a building at Sam Houston State University. They are being paid, Rector said, "only a few cents per hour or a day." They are building a place where criminal justice will be taught. Prison-made building materials are being used on public projects in Texas, too, he complained.

Real issue, of course, is whether there is any training involved in the whole program and whether Texas taxpayers are having their burdens lightened by some contribution by the prisoners — in useful work.

We oppose exploitation of prisoners for private profit, which is the practice ended years ago. We see something right with released-time arrangements whereby prisoners may gain proficiency in a job and get some money for doing it, and maybe have a trade upon release.

Inequities Ignored

Around The Rim

Steve Hultman

The Howard County Commissioners Court met recently to discuss wage inequities of county employees.

The Court decided at the meeting that they should do nothing about the wage rates and levels of the various county employees.

The court decided to do nothing about a secretary of 10 years experience who is paid the same as a secretary of six months experience, or a secretary doing legal work paid the same as a secretary who is in effect a clerk-typist.

The court discussed one man who "is worth any three men in his department," yet is paid the same wage. "We don't want to get into politics by paying one man with the same job title more than another," they said.

A suggestion to study each county job and pay according to the job was studiously ignored by most members of the Court.

"We need to pay every secretary the same as every other secretary," said one commissioner. "We will keep the court out of a lot of trouble this way," he said.

Merit pay was dismissed as an unworkable plan, because politics might take a hand in deciding who got how much.

The suggestion by Commissioner

Bill Crooker to study the wage scales and the possibility of either merit pay or job related pay was ignored by the Court.

The Court showed some interest in providing three weeks of vacation instead of two after 10 years. But no action was taken.

One county employee of 10 years experience was hired at $225 a month. After she had been at the Court House for about three years, the starting pay for a secretary was raised to $225, but her pay was still kept on the books at the original level.

Glaring inequities such as these have been ignored by the County Commissioners Court for too long to the detriment of the county employes and the public.

Merit pay, pay according to job descriptions and longevity pay, should be investigated by the Commissioners Court and an equitable plan arrived at. Federal wage restrictions and budget problems prevent any action by the Commissioners Court at this time, but nothing prevents the court from arriving at a plan for the future, one that would benefit the employes, by insuring that they are paid according to their work and worth, and to the benefit of the public, to insure that experienced employes do not leave County employment to seek higher paying jobs elsewhere.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

Does God have anything to do with the affairs of nations? We were discussing this in our Sunday School class, and our teacher said that God deals with people only, and not with nations. We would like your opinion. S.M.E.

Nations are comprised of people, so since God deals with people, He must deal with nations also. In fact, the Bible clearly teaches that He is concerned with the affairs of nations. "When the Most High divided to the nations their inheritance" when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people. . . . Deuteronomy 32:8.

David said: "The Lord is high among all nations." Psalm 113:4. Solomon said: "Righteousness exalteth a nation, and sin is a reproach to any people." Proverbs 13:24. We also read in Psalms: "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God." Psalm 9:17. There are about 500 references to nations in the Scriptures. So, I believe we can assume that God has an interest in the nations of the world.

Before the pilgrims left Europe for the new world, their spiritual leader, Rev. John Robinson, read these words from the Bible: "And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great, and thou shalt be a blessing." Genesis 12:2.

If, as the Scriptures indicate, a sparrow cannot fall without God's notice, a nation cannot rise without His knowledge and interest.

'YOU IN A HEAP O' TROUBLE, SON.'

Rising Expectations

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The issues that the Pay Board now seeks to resolve have origins far more remote than the recent West Coast dockworkers' wage settlement or the inflation of the past few years.

If that were the case, the job of bringing wages into a more stable relationship with productivity might be a lot easier. But the unwritten assignment of the Pay Board is bigger than that.

In actuality, the pressures now being vented through the Pay Board have been building not just for months or years, but for decades. The fight for higher wages is part of a movement that goes back at least into the beginning of this century, when some blue-collar families gradually began moving into the middle classes.

Since World War II, the movement has accelerated, accompanied by, or helping to, produce the most extraordinary economic advance that this or any other industrialized nation ever has experienced.

Management always has resisted wage increases, which is to be expected; but their opposition always was tempered by knowledge that their profits were rising too, in spite of their doleful expectations.

But now a different economic setting exists. No longer does the United States have so vast an advantage over other industrial nations. The European Economic Community, Japan and others now challenge and compete with us.

At the same time, the nation's corporations are being forced to spend on projects that only a few years ago were given the lowest priority: pollution control, community relations, health, education, welfare and so on.

While there still is some question of the ability of corporations to absorb these costs, there is a tendency also for them to say that any such added expenses must be shared by labor—taken out of paychecks, that is.

Moreover, a serious inflation exists today, and many economists fear that it could become permanently ingrained in our economy and force us always to live in fear of an economic bust.

Rising expectations, we are told, breed inflation—especially when those expectations are for bigger paychecks. But why shouldn't workers expect them?

Consider: A better life is the goal of every American, and this goal is nurtured constantly by the companies that hope to sell this way of life that Americans are primed to expect. They are stimulated every minute by the media.

It is because of such tremendous pressures as these that three labor members of the Pay Board decided that their position was untenable and so resigned. The thrust, they felt, was too much on holding down wages.

They could be right. Wholesale prices are soaring, and they are bound to be reflected at the retail level. In December, they rose 10 per cent; in January, 10 per cent; in February, 10 per cent.

Kicks Women's Fashions

Hal Boyle

By JOY STILLEY (Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Adaptation is the name of the game if you want to survive the constant changes in women's fashions. The trouble is that by the time I have adapted my figure, my physiology and my psyche to one style, another totally different one comes along.

For several winters now I've been sending long-distance directions from my brain to my nylon-clad legs to get a move on, since they were too numb to have a will of their own. Finally, by this year, by the process of adaptation, the veins in my legs started circulating anti-freeze instead of blood. Presto, change, the new mode: long coats going down and long boots going up and not one centimeter of leg exposed.

Being not too handy with my hands, I found teasing my hair as many as you like — I have closets full of outdated ones. A number of years back, by training my feet like a bonsai tree, I had gotten them to the point (and I do mean point) where I could stuff them not too neatly into the needle-toed shoes of that era.

And, after overcoming a difference of opinion between me and the equilibrium mechanism of my inner ear, I learned to mince rather elegantly on those stiletto heels, with only minor listings to port.

That was the season that shoe toes suddenly squared off in imitation of a duck-billed platypus and pancake heels gripped the ground. Since I couldn't just back off my newly pointed toes in a straight line, the process of adaptation began again.

Being not too handy with my hands, I found teasing my hair as many as you like — I have days of required bouffancy. However, though I am a slow learner, eventually I do manage to grasp the idea. At last I have become skilled at lifting my locks—just as the vogue for head-hugging hair has caught on.

Some time during the days of beltless dresses I lost track of my waist. Now belts are definitely back and, despite stringent dieting, I am hard put to find the portion of my anatomy around which to drape them.

When tiny purses became de rigueur I soiled down my possessions accordingly, carrying no sash larger than a dime and giving up sunglasses, pocket flashlight and even the matches I always carried for friends who smoke but never have a light.

Hal Boyle is ill.

Un-Roughing It

Remember when all you had to do to go camping was throw a couple of bedrolls into the back of the pickup truck, toss some canned beans and tomatoes on top of them and take off into the wilderness?

WELL, AN organization called the Texas Recreational Vehicle Association is dead set on changing that — putting a little glamour and comfort into the great outdoors.

Rough it! Forget it! The outfit held its annual show in Dallas a few weeks ago. If you think the bedroll-campfire bit is popular today, you should have seen the would-be outdoorsmen pouring into the acres-sized hall to see the latest in nifty camping.

About 20,000 adults paid a buck and a half each in two and a half days just for the privilege of window shopping — and often buying on the spot.

What is available these days? YOU CAN start with a single enclosed bunk attached behind the cab of a pickup. After that come trailer types or those attached to the cab of trucks.

And from there you can go up to a 28-foot self-propelled job that, depending on its luxury, can cost as much as $22,000 and sleep six persons in bunks and a dozen more on the floor if they believe in togetherness.

One of the first things a non-camper must learn is that a "recreational vehicle" is not a "mobile home." A mobile home is to be moved only rarely and then only with a professional driver.

Yet you can roar around the country 365 days a year at the wheel of a recreational vehicle or towing one.

THE INGENUITY of man is not demonstrated at its best in wiring a pinball table or designing a space capsule. Its ultimate is the recreational vehicle.

Into these the makers have placed sinks, cookstoves, ovens, lounges, beds, showers, bathtubs, toilets, dinettes, and lounge chairs for the driver if it is a self-propelled item.

Also, refrigerators, sundecks, wardrobes, closets, carpets, garbage disposals, pop-up TV aerials, built-in vacuum cleaners, water heaters, water purifier.

Not all the vehicles have all the frills but each has the basics for independent living. Each has different extras.

ALMOST ALL have wood paneling in the interiors, one even has a split-level bedroom with a staircase.

There is even a line of vehicles for those who want luxury with the myth of roughing it. This is a trailer only four feet tall as it sits on the highway.

Park it, raise some hinged iron pipes and you have a tent right where you sit. And inside, you have all the basic comforts of life — beds, stove, refrigerator, toilet and a rigid ceiling to keep the rain out.

The big trend now in recreational vehicles is to make them independent like a ship at sea. This is done with batteries and special generators.

But they also provide hookups whereby the traveler can drive into special camps and tie into the city water and electrical systems.

Muddled Outlook

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Up here in the north country they cling to the conviction that their favorite son, Hubert Horatio Humphrey, will be the Democratic nominee for president once again. After all, he did finish second in the Florida primary, even though it was a 18 per cent second.

NOT ALL Democratic-Farmer-Laborites, however, are happy with his repeat of the race of four years ago. Some say quite frankly they wish Hubert had sat this one out. Although he came so close in 1968, they doubt that he can defeat Richard Nixon this time if he is the candidate.

Furthermore, the doubters see him contributing to the fragmentation of his party in the wild primary scramble. In his home state he has a rival threatening to take away the young and the activists. When the tortuous process of selection is completed in June at the district level, Sen. George McGovern of neighboring South Dakota may come away with 40 per cent of the Minnesota delegates to the Miami Beach convention.

McGOVERN's managers have put together a peace coalition that is formidable. The same report comes from Wisconsin, which is the next critical primary for Humphrey. Determined, intensely serious, the young sit it out in caucus meeting hour after hour while their elders tire and leave the field.

Minnesota's other favorite son, or once-favorite son, is also running for president this year. Eugene McCarthy is beating the bushes in Illinois in a popularity contest — no delegate choice — with Sen. Edmund Muskie. In light of the hapless Muskie disasters in New Hampshire and in Florida this seems a hollow exercise.

THE ONE-TIME front runner must overwhelm McCarthy in Illinois. That should not be too difficult, since he already has the blessing of Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley. Then he will have to win big in Wisconsin over Humphrey and McGovern to re-establish the position that seemed to be his before New Hampshire. And that will not be easy with both his rivals having roots in the Midwest.

McCarthy who flashed across the skies like a comet four years ago is one of the most curious figures in American political history. (Copyright, 1972, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

A Devotion For Today...

All the earth shall worship thee, and shall sing unto thee; they shall sing to thy name. — Psalm 66:4
PRAYER: Forgive our grim faces, Father, though rare are the persons who sing all the time. Help us to be more aware of Thy blessings and less prone to center attention on our difficulties. Let Christ in us be evident to all. In His name. Amen.

Little League HQ's Ready For Registration Tomorrow

By JOE HINDS
In the spring a young boy's fancy turns to Little League baseball. During this season, birds are singing and bees are buzzing, but the majority of the boys in Big Spring will not be thinking about the birds and the bees tonight. Most of them will be dreaming about belting a home run as a Little League star, and maybe some will be dreaming about blasting that home run in the big leagues.

Over 1,000 boys will pour into registration stations throughout the city tomorrow morning. If that doesn't convince you that the Little League is a big league sport in this town, then just wait until the season starts April 22.

Jack Barber, the Little League district administrator, said that he expected about 1,000 boys to register for the Little League tomorrow. There are four leagues zoned in four quarters of the city which also include outlying sections in Howard County. The zones are sketched in the map to the right of this story.

If a street is the boundary line, children on one side of the street are eligible for one league, while the children on the other side of that street are eligible for another league. Example: Children on the east side of Settles St. are eligible to participate in the American League, while their neighbors on the west side of Settles St. are eligible to join the National League.

Registration will begin Saturday morning at four Little League Headquarter areas: NATIONAL LEAGUE National League president Daryl D. Pittman said participants should report to the College Heights Elementary school anytime between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

This league is bounded on the north by 4th St. starting at Settles St., then going west on 4th St. to Gregg St., then running south to 11th Place before proceeding west on 11th Place and connecting FM 700. The league is bounded on the west starting at the intersection of 11th Place and FM 700 and running south on FM 700 until connecting with Wasson Drive, then turning west and going down Wasson Drive to Connally, then turning south on Connally Street and going to the alley south of Warren St., turning west on that alley and connecting with Wasson Drive, turning south down Wasson Drive and connecting with Rockhouse Road West, then following Rockhouse Road to the county line.

The league is bounded on the south by the county line. The league is bounded on the east by Driver Road connecting with Settles St. and running north to connect with 4th St. TEXAS LEAGUE Texas Little League president Ruben P. Torres wants the registrants in that league to go to the Bauer Elementary or Cedar Crest schools anytime between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

This league is bounded on the north and west by the county line. It is bounded on the east by Midway Road connecting with Highway 80 and the south by Highway 80 and 4th St. running west to the intersection with Gregg St., then going south on Gregg St. to 11th Place and turning west on 11th Place and connecting with FM 700 to Wasson Drive West, then connecting with Connally St. and going south to the alley south of Warren St. and turning west on that alley and connecting with Wasson Drive, then turning south on Wasson Drive and going to Rockhouse Road, then turning west on Rockhouse Road and going to the county line.

Barber doesn't expect any changes from last year. He said, "Things should run pretty smoothly." Boys will also register for Pee-wee Leagues tomorrow. All the leagues except the Texas League will also offer a pee-wee league. Barber expects about 200 boys to register in the eight-year-and-under bracket for the 12 total teams. A parent or guardian must accompany all registrants. Parents should bring a birth certificate as proof of the boy's age.

Los Angeles (AP) — Bill Walton and Otto Petty will never see eye to eye. Yet the 6-foot-11 UCLA center and the 5-7 Florida State guard loom as the key players this Saturday night in the national collegiate basketball finals.

Each propelled his team to a semifinal victory Thursday night, Walton and his favored UCLA Bruins by a lopsided 96-77 over Louisville and Petty's Seminoles in a cliff-hanger. Walton took only 13 shots, made 11 of them, wound up with 33 points and 21 rebounds and blocked six shots as the Bruins, seeking their sixth straight NCAA crown, demolished Louisville's Cardinals in the second half.

Florida State did its damage in the first half, leading by 23 points early in the final stanza, before edging North Carolina 79-75. The free-wheeling Seminoles used quickness and a sizzling fast break plus Petty's dribbling skills to win. Later, winning Coach Hugh Durham said the same type of game is in store for the Bruins.

"We're not planning to slow the ball down," said Durham, admitting he's heard rumors that teams can't run and shoot with the Bruins and win. "If you run against them, you might catch Walton away from the basket but if you slow down, he'll be there and gobble everything up."

Petty destroyed the North Carolina full-court press with some astonishing dribbling and Durham said many of them came when the game was no longer in doubt. UCLA led Louisville 39-31 at halftime but took a commanding lead midway in the second half. The Cardinals appeared to have some trouble with the UCLA zone press but only committed 11 turnovers in the game.

UCLA's Henry Bibby had an off night against Louisville, scoring just two points, but he was praised by Wooden for his fine defense on Jim Price. He Didn't Doit But He Doodit

NEW YORK (AP) — Center Greg Cluess said he didn't, but referee Joe DeBonis said he did.

The referee had the last word, as usual, and called a foul on the St. John's, N.Y., big man. Al Williams then made the last free throw, giving Niagara a tinging 69-67 basketball victory over the Redmen Thursday night in the semifinals of the 31st National Invitation Tournament.

"I didn't touch him. I didn't even come close," said Cluess after Niagara pulled out the thriller on Williams' foul shots with five seconds left and joined Maryland in the finals Saturday.

The Terrapins earlier advanced to the playoff game by running Jacksonville out of Madison Square Garden with a 91-77 victory. Before Williams made the pressure-packed shots, the Redmen called time out in an attempt to make the little guard nervous.

"I had confidence, though," said Williams. "I practice my foul shooting as much as I do my jump shots." Despite denials, the 5-foot-8 Williams thought he was hammered by the 6-9 Cluess when he went up for a shot. "He grabbed me and hit me on the arm," said Williams. Tom McMillen scored 25 points, including six crucial points in less than a minute of the second half, to hold Maryland to a surprisingly easy victory over Jacksonville in the opener.

IN NEW ORLEANS OPEN Nicklaus Gets Tuff, Will Not Take Puff

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "It's part of my Masters preparation," Jack Nicklaus said of his decision to quit smoking. But the hard-hitting blond, the dominant figure on the pro golf tour this year, smiled and added: "It's no big thing. I go off and on all the time."

"I just quit yesterday. I decided it was the thing to do for the Masters. I find my nerves are better if I'm not smoking. I'm not as nervous and jumpy." Nicklaus, the game's all-time leading money winner and the only two-time champion this season, made the comments Thursday after firing a six-under-par 66 to move into a five-way tie for first place in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

He was tied with Billy Casper, who also talked about his nerves, veteran Mason Rudolph and long-shots, Bunky Henry and Bob Payne. All forged 66s as over half the field of 147 matched or bettered par. There were seven players at 67, just one stroke off the pace, and a total of 24 locked within three strokes of each other at the top.

Tied at five-under-par were Terry Wilson, Larry Ziegler, Dave Eichelberger, Ralph Johnston, Jim Colbert, John Schroeder and Billy Ziobro. Some of the game's big names had their troubles. Defending champion Frank Beard could do no better than par 72. South African Gary Player had to rally for a 73. Tony Jacklin of England, winner of last week's Greater Jacksonville Open, was far back with a 74. But their problems were nothing compared to those of Howie Johnson, Bobby Cole and Australian Bruce Crampton. Johnson and Cole each took a 10 on the 14th hole, Johnson hitting three in the water. Petty destroyed the North Carolina full-court press with some astonishing dribbling and Durham said many of them came when the game was no longer in doubt. UCLA led Louisville 39-31 at halftime but took a commanding lead midway in the second half. The Cardinals appeared to have some trouble with the UCLA zone press but only committed 11 turnovers in the game.

UCLA's Henry Bibby had an off night against Louisville, scoring just two points, but he was praised by Wooden for his fine defense on Jim Price. Even though the 6-foot-3 Cardinal guard scored 30 points, Wooden said many of them came when the game was no longer in doubt. UCLA led Louisville 39-31 at halftime but took a commanding lead midway in the second half. The Cardinals appeared to have some trouble with the UCLA zone press but only committed 11 turnovers in the game.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas set a modern record for baseball victories Thursday with a double-header sweep of Minnesota. Texas has now won 17 consecutive games, shattering the mark of 16 in a row set by the 1946 club. The Longhorns defeated Minnesota 14-2 and 8-3. Texas teams in 1914 and 1924 each won 23 in a row. Turns Him On

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me, before you turn IN, or he's am I an old fashioned, prissy, turned OFF! 52-year-old wife, mother and grandmother because I don't enjoy going to X-rated movies? My husband thinks I am. He asked me to go to one of those movies with him and I did, and I didn't care for it at all. To me sex is something beautiful between a husband and wife, and I don't like to see it exploited before my eyes on a movie screen. My husband says it turns him on. Well, it turns me OFF! Do you think I should go to sexy movies with him just to keep him company? I find them humiliating. OLD FASHIONED DEAR OLD: If your husband needs an X-rated film to turn him on, let him go alone. And tell him to hurry straight home!

for asking is a valid one, which changes the complexion of the situation. So, don't guess who's coming to dinner. Ask!

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "Disusted" who had so many bad experiences with service and repairmen who didn't show up: She should call the Better Business Bureau when shopping for a repairman. And even more important, if one doesn't show up, she should let the B.B.B. know about it. Businessmen with a reputation for "standing up" their customers don't stay in business long. And your complaints to the B.B.B. are kept strictly confidential.

ALL FOR THE B.B.B. DEAR ALL: Thanks for the reminder. Now hear it from the repairmen:

DEAR ABBY: Since others use your column "to air their pet gripes, may I?" It's customers who, when they arrange for an appointment to repair their television, fall to be there, or even leave a door unlocked. They don't call, they just aren't there. (Always an excuse, "I went to the store for a few minutes," car trouble, etc.) Abby, time is money, and these inconsiderate people cost us both.

My other repairman friends tell me they've had the same lousy experience with some customers. What's the matter with people nowadays? Their word isn't worth a thing.

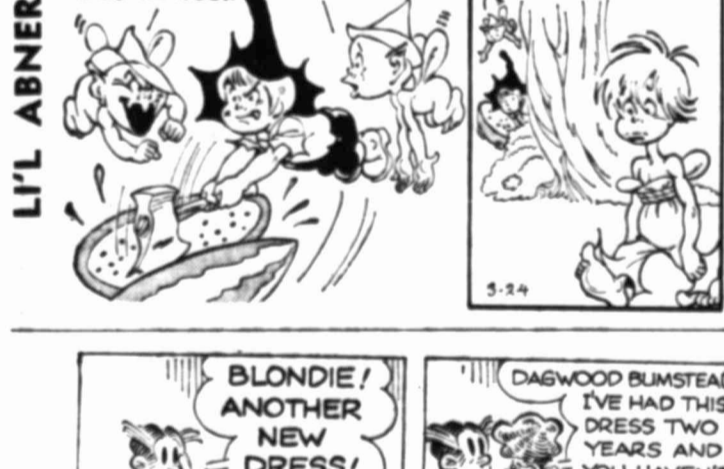

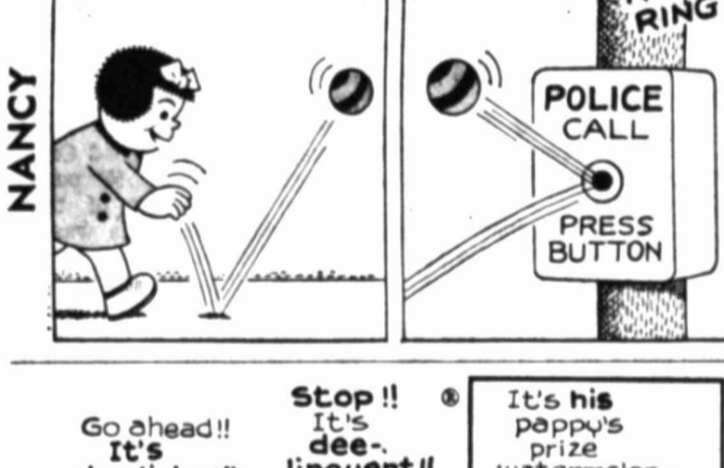

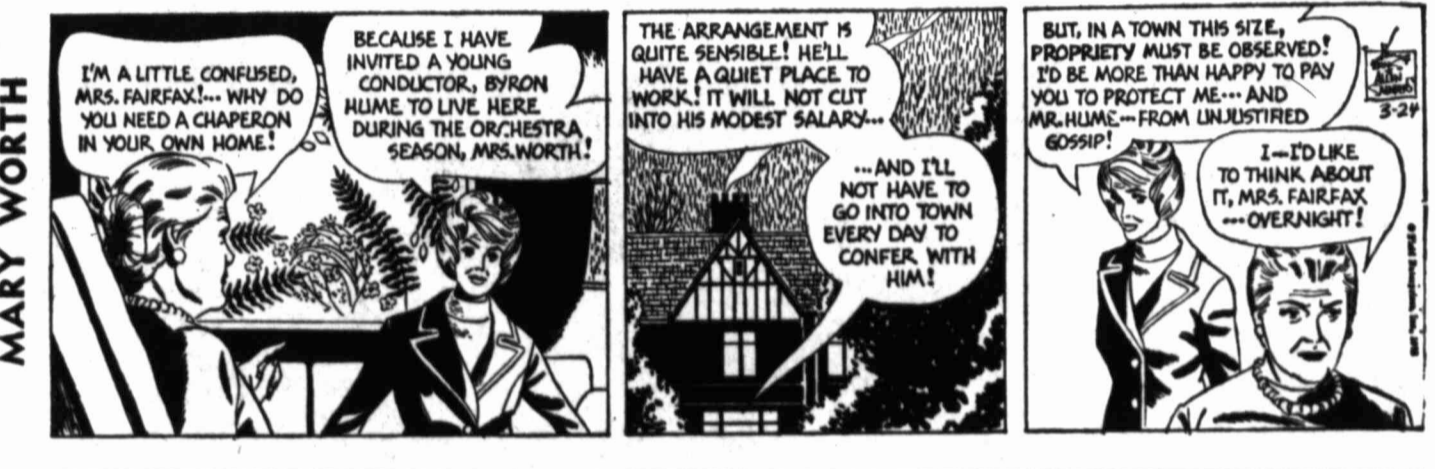

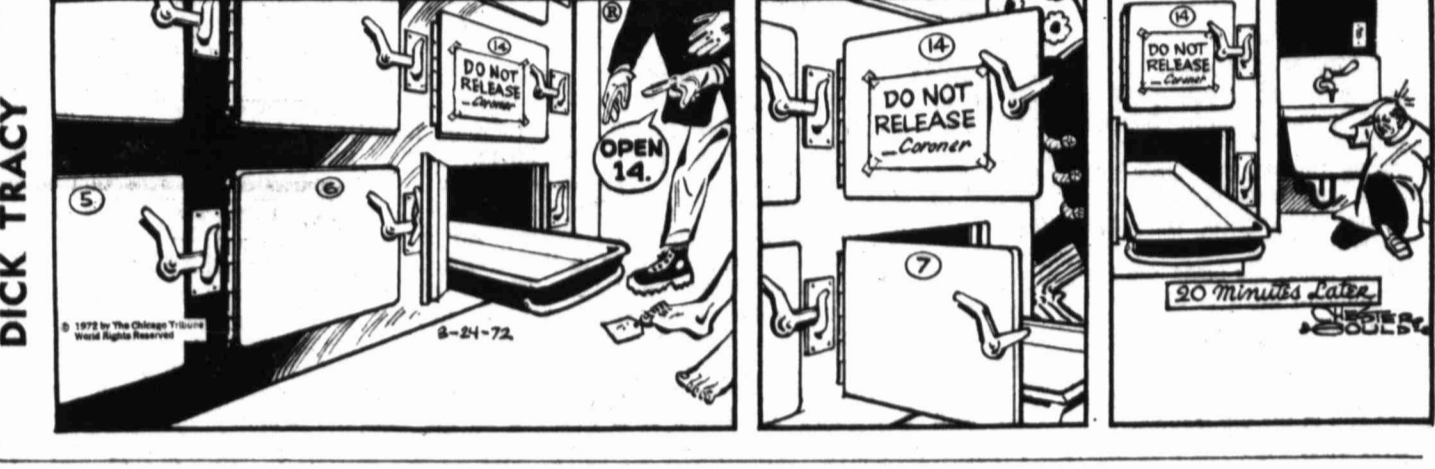

DISGUSTED REPAIRMAN IN TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: You wrote, "I think there should be a special place in heaven for the woman who marries a divorced man with a first family, because as far as the man is concerned (whether from guilt or whatever) his "first" family usually comes first. And the same holds true for a divorced woman with a first family.

Abby, I don't want to get personal, but such insight and compassion could only have come from a woman who has had that experience. Did you perchance marry a divorced man with a "first" family?

NOSY DEAR NOSY: No. But some of my best friends did.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Tough Toenails

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

With our fingernails, we are accustomed to frequent cleaning, and this scraping action prevents such material from accumulating. Indeed, I dare say that as we clean our nails we probably scrape away a little of the nail itself at times. It all tends to keep the nail thinner.

So why not try cleaning under the toenails periodically? The toes aren't exposed to grime as the fingers are, so the toenails don't need cleaning from the standpoint of looks — but that accumulation of stuff is there just the same.

Finally, there are various types of clippers available for toenails, and they do the job more easily than scissors, if that's what you've been using. (Avoid razors, knives, etc., because of the danger of cutting yourself. When you're old enough for the nails to be tougher, you are likely to have some impairment of circulation, too, so wounds of the feet and toes don't heal as readily, and there is greater danger of infection and even gangrene.)

I doubt that the strokes had any effect on the hardness of your nails, but they may have impaired eyesight, coordination or strength in your fingers. Can you do to make the struggle of toenail-trimming easier.

Soaking in warm water for a considerable time will soften the nail a little — but frankly not much. Keratin (the nail substance) doesn't absorb much.

But since the problem is not only the hardness of the nail but also the thickness, why not make the nail thinner? Thinner, at least, at the tip, where you do the cutting. This can be done by filing the nail. (I believe that a buffer is available for this purpose, too, but most any kind of a file would work.)

A second problem is the "honeycombing" under the tip of the nail. Material gathers under the nail and hardens there, and the result is equivalent to the nail becoming thicker. There's more stuff to cut through.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can you soften a hard toenail? I soak it in warm water and soap but that doesn't help much. I had a couple of strokes and seems like it toughened my toenails. — M.H.

This is a quite common complaint as folks get older, and while I have no sure-fire remedy, I can offer a few tips that will help to some degree.

The material of which nails are composed is keratin, a substance that tends to get harder with age. Toenails, particularly the big toe, tend to get thicker and tougher than other nails which is the result of continued stress on the nails — the pressure from shoes and stockings. Short of going barefoot all your life, I don't know how to prevent this from happening, but there are a few things you

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are there birth control pills that can be had without a doctor's prescription, and if so what are the names of such pills? — Mrs. J.B.

There are no birth control pills which, legally, can be sold without prescription.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can cause a stool movement to be black? I am 78 and still very active. — Mrs. K.T.

Some foods and medications can cause it, doing no harm, but it also can be an indication of bleeding somewhere in the digestive tract, so you should report it to your doctor at once.

"Don't take chances with 'kidney trouble.' It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, 'Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them.'" Write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Andries Speaker At Luncheon

Bert Andries, manager of the Big Spring Boys Club, reviewed the aims, intentions and accomplishment of his organization in a talk made before members of the Kiwanis Club here Tuesday.

Andries said the club opened in 1968 with 100 members and had an average daily attendance of 20.

It now has 350 members and an average daily attendance of 70, Andries stated.

The current clubhouse boasts pool tables, facilities for wood working and a trampoline. Karate is taught and the club has the responsibility of operating a city swimming pool on the north side.

The club caters to boys six to 17 years of age. Average age of the youth enrolled in the club is 13 years.

Fifty cent annual dues are asked of club members but they are allowed to work them out. The club operates under funds provided by United Fund. It is affiliated with the Boys Club of America.

Bobby Carille and Larry Armstrong, Key Club members, gave a short skit on the art of reporting the news.

POLITICALLY FILLING — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., pauses during a breakfast in Oklahoma City Thursday. With him (left) is Oklahoma Lt. Gov. George Nigh. Humphrey later addressed the Oklahoma Legislature in his search for support for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Wallace Claiming Tax Reform Credit

By The Associated Press
Tax reform is on the minds of Democratic presidential candidates and George C. Wallace says he is to thank for it.

Campaigning for the April 4 Wisconsin primary, the Alabama governor told a rally of 4,000 crowded into a Milwaukee auditorium that politicians are beginning to listen to the average man following Wallace's impressive 42 per cent win in last week's Florida Democratic primary.

"They're finally coming around to what the average man wants," Wallace said, "but I think it's too late." He said senators in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination "are taxing you to death and giving your money away."

Wallace said he talked about forced school busing in Florida and in Milwaukee, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay outlined his proposed 30 per cent federal income tax credit against property taxes.

"Now I'm talking to you tonight about tax reform and I say to you, if you vote for George Wallace and he wins in Wisconsin, something will be done about tax reform, even before the election."

In La Crosse, Wis., South Dakota Sen. George McGovern told a college audience an "effective minimum tax" should be enacted under which every dollar earned by an individual over $50,000 per year would be taxed at a figure at least 75 per cent of the tax rate for that income bracket "no matter how many loopholes there are in the tax laws."

And in Milwaukee, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay outlined his proposed 30 per cent federal income tax credit against property taxes.

Horoscope Forecast
TOMORROW
—CARROL RIGHTER
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon you can get much of value done, especially in using intuition to better understand what your companions expect of you. After midday, very different influences come into effect and you would be wise to retire from the world of positive action and work on improving your appearance and wardrobe.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) The early part of the day can be most active and happy if whatever duties you have to perform, but take care you do not get into arguments in p.m. You can spend money fruitfully if you do not keep your purse zipped. Take care.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The early part of the day is best to improve situations at home, but don't try to do it in the evening, or big rumpus can start. Get busy with the paint brush and other activities to cheer things up a bit. Show you are optimistic where the future is concerned.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The day hours are best for whatever it is you have to do since you could meet up with some accident in p.m. unless careful, so plan to get as much done as you can during day. Go over your letters and see that the wording is right. Ditto for statements, etc.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 31) Your judgment is better during the day than at night, so make the right decisions early. Take the time to attend to repairs that are necessary. Make your home really charming and clean.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get work done during the day and then plan to attend some nice social affair in p.m. Dress well. Do not argue with one who is looking for a winning boy. Smile and all works out fine.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Morning is best time to go after the information you want in a confidential way, or you could meet with criticism later on. Serve those who are not as lucky as you. Show that you have real goals.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Making plans with allies is best in a.m. since they are apt to be less cooperative later in the day, when you had better work alone. Avoid social matters, or there will be arguments. Enjoy family instead.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The early part of the day is best for handling affairs in the business world, especially those that are truly vital. Adverse conditions could arise in p.m., but if so, handle them quietly and well.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't resort to violence. Take care of personal correspondence in a.m. and don't forget to make those important telephone calls, either. Had a good day for making radical changes on starting on some trip. Care and caution are the keynote.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get duties done efficiently in a.m. and then quietly play, read or whatever really relaxes you. More could be in a blue mood so do not expect much fun in that direction. Treat kindly, though.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can easily find out what your true position is with others in a.m. and do nothing that can bring ill will. Control your temper since others are apt to be in a negative frame of mind. Call good friends on the telephone tonight.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) The a.m. is the best time to delve into any new projects you have in mind, but don't take others into your confidence. Your hunches are most accurate, but even these should be kept to yourself. Show devotion to mate in p.m.

Local Men Attend Houston Course
K. H. McGibbon, chairman of the board, and H. K. Butler Jr., M.D., chief of the medical staff, Medical Center Memorial Hospital, are attending a Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals' Workshop in Houston March 25-28.
For over a half-century in the United States, the American College of Surgeons and subsequently the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals have pursued the identification of quality of service in hospitals and later, also, in other types of facilities by means of a program that attempts to define the optimal setting in which the service is provided.
The Houston program will include background of JCAH; development and highlights of new standards; rationale for voluntary accreditation; details of revised survey process; governing body and management; environmental services; medical staff, according to Mr. McGibbon.
