$.08 GAIN IN AVERAGE WEEKLY PAYCHECK

Wholesale Prices Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The total number of Americans with jobs posted the largest gain in March in nearly five years and the rise in wholesale prices slowed sharply, the government reported today.

Wholesale prices are generally indicators of later developments in retail consumer costs. The report that total employment rose 620,000 to 81.2 million and that wholesale prices of food and industrial raw materials increased a modest one-tenth of one per cent indicated more favorable developments for President Nixon to defend his economic policies.

The reports by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics also said that the nation's unemployment rate edged up from 5.7 to 5.9 per cent last month, but this was due to seasonal factors and the actual number of jobless edged down some 200,000 to 5.2 million.

The report on wholesale prices included the news that farm products and processed foods declined four-tenths of one per cent in March after several months of sharp increases.

The over-all one-tenth of one per cent increase in the wholesale price index was the smallest in five months and followed three consecutive sharp increases of eight-tenths each in December and January and nine-tenths in February.

The report on jobs said half the employment gain was among men and was their largest monthly gain in more than five years. Another one-third of the gain in jobs went to teenagers and the rest to women.

The report also said average hourly earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers, more than half the nation's total work force, rose two cents in March to $3.57. This was 21 cents or 6.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The rise in hourly earnings plus a small increase in the length of the average work week boosted average rank-and-file pay by $1.09 per week to $131.73, the report said.

The gain in the average weekly paycheck was placed at $8.08 or 6.5 per cent above a year earlier. But rising living costs of 3.7 per cent over the year reduced the gain in purchasing power to $3.21 or 2.8 per cent.

Increases in employment, earnings and hours of work are generally viewed as signs of economic growth.

The modest rise in the wholesale price index brought it to 117.4 of its 1967 base. This means that, on the average, wholesale goods worth $100 five years ago now cost $117.40. The index was 3.9 per cent above a year earlier.

Sharply lower prices for fresh and dried vegetables and a substantial drop in hog quota-retail trade and state and local government. Part of the rise was due to the return of 50,000 strikers in transportation and public utilities industries, it added.

Manufacturing employment also increased, mainly in the metal and electrical equipment industries. The price report said wholesale food has risen at an annual rate of 6.7 per cent during the Phase 1 freeze and the Phase 2 period of looser price controls.

Laird Condemns 'Massive Invasion'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird today condemned the North Vietnamese attack as a "massive invasion of South Vietnam." And he warned that the United States will continue its bombing until the enemy withdraws.

Laird told a news conference the heavy American air attacks against North Vietnam will go on until the Communists pull their troops back across the demilitarized zone and show a willingness to negotiate peace.

He also implied that the United States will not return to the Paris peace talks until these conditions were met.

STRONG LANGUAGE
"The enemy has scornfully rejected the American people's patience, restraint and desire for peace," he said. "Our patience has been met with propaganda and with provocation. Our restraint has been answered by invasion."

Using the strongest language of any senior administration official since the North Vietnamese offensive opened a week ago, Laird said the enemy "has dared us to abandon our allies and we will not."

Blaze Destroys House; Woman Is Hospitalized

Fire early today completely destroyed the home and the car belonging to Mrs. E. E. Blankenship, and it resulted in the woman being taken to Cowper Clinic & Hospital for treatment of minor burns and smoke inhalation. The residence was on the old San Angelo highway.

Mrs. Blankenship is listed in fair condition today, with injuries to her lungs caused by smoke inhalation her most serious problem, according to hospital authorities. She received minor burns on one hand.

Leo Parker and Chester Faught, neighbors of Mrs. Blankenship, carried Mrs. Blankenship from her burning home. The blaze was reported to the Big Spring Fire Department at approximately 12:30 a.m. today, and the Silver Heels Volunteer Fire Department and the Webb AFB fire unit were dispatched to battle the blaze, which was extinguished at 2:30 a.m.

One unit of the city fire department was called to a house near the scene of the fire, when a man thought his house was on fire, because of all the smoke from the Blankenship house.

Upon checking out the call, however city firemen found that the fire was in the county jurisdiction, and began to return to the fire station when they were given orders to proceed on to the fire.

"Had we possessed jurisdiction in the area, and would have been allowed to answer the first call on the fire, we probably would have been able to save the entire house," said Chief A. D. Meador today. He said only the kitchen and maybe one bathroom in the house would have been damaged if city firemen were able to fight the fire under normal circumstances.

Captain Ed Taylor, of the city fire department, said the fire apparently began in the kitchen or bathroom of the home. Firemen could not determine the cause of the blaze.

"The wind was blowing from a westerly direction last night, and had the wind been more from the south there would have been numerous houses around the Blankenship house on fire by the time the fire units finally got there," said Captain Taylor.

A 750-gallon pumper was utilized on the fire from the central fire station, because of the severity of the blaze. City firemen said the first city load of water initially knocked down the flames, but two other loads of water had to be used before the fire was out.

In all, city firemen used over 2,000 gallons of water, not including the amount used by the county unit, and the foam employed by the Webb AFB fire unit.

INSPECTING THE DAMAGE — Chicago firemen and Chicago Transit Authority investigators inspect fallen and dangling cars of an elevated train which derailed and plummeted to the ground during a severe rainstorm Thursday night on Chicago's South Side. Several persons were injured in the mishap.

CHEST PAINS Former President Hospitalized

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson was admitted to the University of Virginia Hospital's cardiac unit early today suffering from chest pains.

Dr. Richard S. Crampton, associate professor of internal medicine at the hospital here and Johnson's physician, said the former president is comfortable, his condition stable, and he is undergoing tests.

Dr. Crampton declined to say specifically that the ex-president had suffered a heart attack.

Johnson had been visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robb, in this university city and apparently began suffering chest pains shortly before 4 a.m.

A rescue squad was summoned and, about 4 a.m., a mobile coronary care unit from the University of Virginia Hospital was sent to the Robb home in the fashionable Farmington section outside Charlottesville.

Johnson was brought to the hospital about 5:30 a.m., members of the family said.

Bus Blast Hurts Six

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — A vial of an unknown chemical exploded today in the hand of a high school science honor student, blowing off part of his hand and injuring five other pupils aboard a school bus, authorities said.

Sheriff Ross Boyer said Jim McDonald, 15, took the vial from a lunch box after boarding the bus and began shaking it. The blast extensively damaged the bus.

McDonald underwent emergency surgery at a Venice hospital for injuries to his right leg and arm. He was reported in critical condition.

Sniper Gets 50-Year Term

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Richard Bidyolph, 17, was given a 50-year prison sentence today for the sniper slaying of rookie police patrolman John Sartain, 22, here last August. Sartain was shot down as he was leaving the Corpus Christi police station.

Judge Norah Kennedy told Bidyolph that the killing was "a most senseless and ruthless act." He also said: "There has been talk of open season on policemen and this open season must stop."

The state had asked for a 99-year sentence. It did not ask the death penalty because Bidyolph was only 16 at the time of the shooting.

'Killer' Car Roars Into Pedestrians

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A stolen car pursued by police roared onto a crowded pedestrian mall in the French Quarter's nightclub sector Thursday night, killing one tourist and leaving 18 others injured.

It happened on a stretch of Bourbon Street which is closed to traffic at night so crowds can overflow into the narrow street.

The dead man was identified as Benjamin Parrish, 33, of Lufkin, Tex. Police said his wife was one of two other persons in critical condition at a hospital.

Strollers along the mall had no warning.

Farmers' Welding Course Offered

An oxy-acetylene welding short course for adult farmers will be held April 10-13 under the sponsorship of Coahoma High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to W. A. Wilson, superintendent and Jon Scott, teacher of vocational agriculture.

Charles H. Yeates, welding specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Yeates holds a B.S. Degree from Texas A&M University in Agricultural Education. He taught vocational agriculture and farm shop for 15 years. For two years he was employed in industry as a professional welder. In 1962 he joined the Agricultural Education Specialist Program as oxy-acetylene welding specialist, conducting short courses for adult and young farmer groups over the state.

Arrangements for the adult education short courses in welding and in other fields are made through Harris' office. The short course at Coahoma is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the vocational agriculture building. Other meetings in the series will be held April 11, 12, 13. During the dates the short course is in progress, Yeates will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Jon Scott, V. A. teacher.

Scholarship Plan Blanks Ready

WESTBROOK (SC) — Applications for the Navy-Marine Scholarship program are now available at high schools in both Westbrook and Lorraine. Preston C. Lightfoot, counselor for both schools, said the program offers financial aid for four years' of college study. Applicants for the program will be considered on scores achieved on either the scholastic aptitude test of the college entrance examination board or the American college test. Additional information can be obtained from Lightfoot.

NAMES OF MORE LAWMAKERS Scanning Nepotism

AUSTIN (AP) — Healy, McKissack and Moore are among legislators names that have been added to the list of representatives whose relatives have worked on the Senate payroll.

Research on the Senate payroll revealed the names Thursday.

Margaret M. Moore, daughter of Rep. Tom Moore of Waco, worked as a Capitol guide in 1969-70 and as a part-time clerk for Sen. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio in 1971.

Moore is a member of the "Dirty 30," a self-proclaimed reform coalition of liberal Democrats and Republicans. He makes the sixth member of that group to have been mentioned in connection a long standing practice of legislators getting their relatives on the payroll of another legislator or the payroll of the house in which they are not a member.

Other names that surfaced Thursday are: HEATLY'S DAUGHTER — Linda Healy, daughter-in-law of Rep. W. S. Healy of Pecos, who worked as a clerk for Sen. William Moore of Bryan from September 1971 through February 1972 at $250 a month.

Allen Birmingham Jr., son-in-law of Rep. Dick McKissack of Dallas, who works part-time as an assistant to the Senate sergeant at arms for $192 a month; he worked in the same job during 1971 except for the months of June through August; his payroll card lists Lt.

Gov. Ben Barnes as his sponsor, but Barnes' aide Robert Spellings says he hired him. Patricia M. Bass, daughter of Rep. Tom Bass of Houston, who has been reported to have worked for Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi in 1971, now works part-time on the Senate payroll as a Capitol tour guide. She has averaged $139 a month since last September. No sponsor is listed on her payroll card.

EXPERIENCE — Bass and Mrs. Farenthold also are members of the "Dirty 30."

All four of Mrs. Farenthold's children have worked as Senate employees or for senators. "It was custom, I was told, and I wanted my children to have the experience," she said.

The other three members of the "Dirty 30" previously mentioned in connection with the practice are Reps. John Hannah of Lufkin, whose wife worked for Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin in 1967, and Edmund "Sonny" Jones of Houston, who hired the father of Bill Blythe of Houston last November.

Jones and Blythe are Republicans. Mrs. Martha Miller, wife of Banks Miller, whose public relations firm is working in Barnes' gubernatorial campaign, is carried on Senate payroll records as a full-time employee at the same time she works half a day in the Barnes campaign headquarters.

"So, for as I know, she's full-time," says Mrs. Connie Lindgren, Senate payroll clerk. But Mrs. Miller says she works only half-time for the state "and every state holiday but three—be sure and put that in there."

PAYROLL CALL — Her original payroll card in 1967 lists her employment time as three-quarters. She works today with the Capitol tour guides at $428 a month. Other legislators whose relatives have been on the state payroll on the opposite side of the Capitol are Reps. John Allen of Longview, Don Cavness of Austin and Leroy Wieting of Portland; and Sens. David Ratliff of Stamford, Charles Wilson of Lufkin, Don Kennard of Fort Worth and former Sen. Criss Cole of Houston.

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith said Thursday he probably would ask for an attorney general's opinion on whether legislators violate the nepotism law by hiring each other's relatives.

Smith previously indicated he would talk with Speaker Rayford Price and Barnes after the primary elections about the practice. The nepotism statute says no legislator shall hire his own relatives or persons closely related to other members of the legislature. Violation is punishable by a fine of $100 to $1,000.

The practice has never been challenged in court. In other action Thursday, Smith said he has no jurisdiction to investigate charges that an insurance partnership of Rep. Harold Davis of Austin profited on insurance policies sold to the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Smith said such profiting clearly is prohibited by the state Constitution but that there is no penal code provision under which Davis could be prosecuted. Davis told a news conference the limited partner who sold the policy, Otis Stowe, did it on his own initiative and that the most that Davis could have received from the commission was $137.

BEHIND BARS — William Dickoff, 84, peers from behind bars of Rocky Butte jail in Portland, Ore., after being arrested on murder charge. He said he fired gun to scare away boys who were throwing rocks at his house. Body of 12-year-old boy was found shortly afterward. Victim was Kevin Wade Miller.

Plan To Build 380-Bed North Dallas Hospital

DALLAS (AP) — A new 380-bed general hospital and medical complex will be built in North Dallas by Trammel Crow & Partners, it was announced Thursday.

The complex, to be called Medical City Dallas, will cost $20 million and will be at Forest Lane and Central Expressway.

Construction will begin in June and completion is expected in January of 1974.

Presbyterian Hospital, also in North Dallas, is a 500 bed non-profit hospital. Medical City Dallas will be the largest privately owned hospital in the city.

Local Locusts Isn't Like His Cousin Overseas

"Bzzzzzzt bzzzzt zzzzzt." Soon the summery, whirring sounds of locusts will fill the air as the weather warms up.

On a hot summer day, the sound of locusts seems to add to the feel of heat, but the locust that nests in the trees and bushes in Big Spring is a far cry from the dreaded locusts that ravage crop lands in Africa and Asia with alarming frequency. These winged purveyors of famine can lay waste in moments to an entire crop.

According to Ronnie Woods, assistant agricultural extension agent, the Big Spring variety is just a summer insect, and inflicts no damage on local vegetation.

"If they got to be in sufficient numbers, I guess they could do damage, but really, they're just like the grasshopper or any other insect. They don't come in here in enough numbers to be dangerous," said Woods.

Noisy as they are, the local brand of locust can not be related to the dread seven-year locust. These are an annual crop. The adults bury their eggs in the ground, and the following summer, there is a host of young ones merrily whirring away in the mid-day heat.

Since the local locusts are not dangerous, perhaps they could be useful as exotic delicacies dipped in chocolate or fried in oil as they are in Asia. The Asians figure if the pests are going to destroy a crop they can make up for it by serving as substitutes.

Total Of $25,499 Raised In Show

The 1972 Howard County Livestock show meant $25,499.79 to Howard County 4-H Club and F.F.A. members which was held March 16, 17, and 18. This amount includes the floor price and premium paid at the animal sales March 18.

Officers of the Howard County Junior Livestock show for 1972 were: President, James Ban; vice president, Audrey Langford; secretary, Mrs. Loyd Robinson; and treasurer, M. A. Snell. The amount of money used by Howard County businessmen and individuals reflects the fine support afforded the 4-H Club and FFA members.

O'BRIEN READS PRIMARY RESULTS Anti-Establishment Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien says the Wisconsin primary produced a massive anti-establishment vote that could shock President Nixon when he hits the campaign trail later this year.

"That is the story of Wisconsin," O'Brien said in an interview as he surveyed the 52 percent of the state's vote that went to Sen. George S. McGovern, the winner, and to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

"It is anti-establishment and that's across the board," O'Brien added. "I've been talking for some time about the challenge to the system itself, and here it is."

BROAD BASE
The other thing Wisconsin shows, the Democratic chairman said, is "the broad base of McGovern support" across the state. "You can't put that down as some sort of aberration." O'Brien, pledging strict neutrality as he concentrates on arrangements for the Democratic National Convention, said the presidential race is "a totally open situation" at this point.

"This is so open at this time," he added, "that it could well remain this way right up to the opening of the convention."

O'Brien sees developments in the Democratic race so far as a justification of the party's decision to reform its procedures and open up the nominating process, despite the perils this poses to party unity.

DISENCHANTMENT
Noting Wallace's campaign plea to "send them a message," O'Brien said: "They're sending us a message and thank God there was some anticipation of this message."

disenchantment with the political process for some time," he went on. "All you have to do is look at the registration figures" showing an increase in the number of voters who consider themselves independents, rather than Democrats or Republicans.

This is also reflected in the complaint of many Americans that the two parties don't offer a choice, O'Brien said. He added this makes it imperative for the Democrats to wage a positive, constructive campaign this year instead of merely relying on criticism of President Nixon.

PORT MOODY, B.C. (AP) — The waters of a creek and part of Burrard Inlet flowed red Thursday—with wine.

John Bremmer, production manager of Andrus Wines Ltd., said a wrong valve was turned on and about 100 gallons escaped from a 25,000 gallon storage tank.

"I'm sure it won't affect the fishes," he said. "It'll make them happy."

Solon Pushes Anew For Probe Of Immunity Granted Promoter

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Kennedy denied the suggestion this week in Washington, the San Antonio News reported.

'COMPLETE LIE'
"It's a complete lie," the News reported Kennedy said. It said he added: "Sharp is a Democrat. He's been indicted... this is a sheer fabrication."

Sharp has been described as a central figure in the stock scandal. Gonzalez, a San Antonio Democrat, has repeatedly criticized the Justice Department for the immunity granted Sharp.

Gonzalez said Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and John Tunney, D-Calif., had expressed interest in airing the Sharp issue during the Judiciary Committee's consideration of Kleindienst, but no such questions have been raised. The two senators are members of the committee with Kennedy.

Opening lead: Seven of ♡
 A hold up play—somewhat off the beaten track—was an essential ingredient in the taking of nine tricks by South in his three no trump contract today.

West opened the seven of hearts, East played the ten and South won the trick with the jack. Declarer could count eight top tricks—three spades, three diamonds, and two hearts. The ninth would have to come from the club suit, so he led the nine of clubs at trick two. West played the six and East was in with the king. He returned the deuce of hearts and West topped South's six with the eight and led back the king to dislodge the ace.

The deuce of clubs was led and West hastened to play the ace, cash the queen of hearts—felling declarer's nine and then scored the setting trick with the four of hearts. In all, the defense took three hearts and two clubs.

Declarer's mistake came at the opening gun when he won the first round of hearts. Inasmuch as he must surrender the lead twice in clubs in order to develop his ninth trick, he should attempt to sever the opponents' line of communications. If West has both of the high clubs and a five-card heart suit—then it would be correct to take the first trick, however, if that were the case, then surely West would have opened the bidding as dealer. It is safe to assume, then that the club honors are split.

Observe the effect of permitting East to win the first trick with the ten of hearts. He will presumably return the suit and South plays the nine which loses to West's queen. The latter cannot return a trick to declarer's jack. Since his only remaining entry is the ace of clubs, there is no way for West to ever cash his long card in hearts. When East gets in with the king of clubs, he does not have a heart to return and South is assured of setting up dummy's club suit, while limiting the defenders to two tricks each in hearts and clubs.

Gonzalez said Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and John Tunney, D-Calif., had expressed interest in airing the Sharp issue during the Judiciary Committee's consideration of Kleindienst, but no such questions have been raised. The two senators are members of the committee with Kennedy.

KENNEDY ACTIVE
 Kennedy was active in the probe of the settlement of the International Telephone & Telegraph anti-trust case, Gonzalez said.

QUICK DEAL
 Gonzalez has maintained that the immunity arrangement was made to protect former Asst. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

Wilson resigned last year after he was the target of more than 40 House speeches by Gonzalez. He had been a lawyer for Sharp before joining the Justice Department. He denied any wrongdoing.

"I don't think there is a history of a similar quickie deal in the annals of the Justice Department," Gonzalez said of Sharp's immunity. He said Wilson "had always blamed Kleindienst" and contended Kleindienst had made the decision on the matter.

District Gets First Payment

The Colorado River Municipal Water District today received its initial payment of $81,924.80 on a settlement of its claim against pipe companies involved in an anti-trust suit.

There will be two subsequent payments of $61,443 each. The CRMWD was a part to an anti-trust action against the United Concrete Pipe Corp. of Galdwin Park, Calif. U.S. Pipe and Foundry Co. of Birmingham, Ala. Gifford-Hill American, Inc., of Dallas, and Marican Pipe and Construction Co. of Monterey Park, Calif.

The district's claim, however, was related to pipe purchased from United for a project in 1958 and another in 1963. The total net settlement approximated $2.4 million for all of 23 litigants, and the district's share was $204,812.

The City of Big Spring also shared in the settlement for pipe purchased from United during the period when it was alleged the companies had engaged in price-fixing.

Enemy Offensive Slowing In North, Gains In South

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops captured a district town 75 miles north of Saigon today and opened a fourth front in their nine-day offensive with more than a dozen attacks on towns and bases in the Mekong Delta to the south. U.S. warplanes meanwhile hammered North Vietnamese forces in North and South Vietnam and neighboring stretches of Laos with more than 600 strikes. Two Navy fighter-bombers and a big rescue helicopter were shot down. The U.S. Command said, and six Americans were missing.

ABANDON TOWN

The district town of Loc Ninh fell after fighting so close that an air spotter overhead reported the defending South Vietnamese were calling artillery fire in on their own positions.

The spotter reported eight ten North Vietnamese tanks attacking the town, and later the South Vietnamese command announced that Loc Ninh was abandoned during the morning after four days of heavy attack. The Viet Cong radio claimed that the South Vietnamese garrison surrendered after Communist forces killed, wounded or captured 400 of the defenders. But Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, the chief spokesman for the Saigon command, said the government troops "moved out to an area outside the city."

Casualties on both sides were reported heavy. Government forces also abandoned Fire Base Hung Tam, five miles southwest of Loc Ninh and 10 miles below the Cambodian border, to the enemy.

DAMAGE BRIDGE

Field reports said elements of four North Vietnamese divisions had crossed the Cambodian border in force and penetrated at least 20 miles into

THEFTS

W. P. Hughes reported an attempted burglary at the Hughes Motor Co. building Thursday. Officers reported a window had been broken out, but nothing was missing from the building. However, a stereo tape deck had been stolen from a car parked at the auto shop. It belonged to Ernie Copeland, 1805 State.

Mrs. Loreen Loftin, 408 Texas, Big Lake, reported Thursday to police the theft of her brown sturp purse from her car, while it was parked at Fitch's Shell Station on Gregg street. No value was determined on the items contained in the purse.

South Vietnamese territory. Small enemy units slipped to within 20 miles of Saigon and damaged a bridge on highway 13, the north-south road from the border. A bypass was being used.

Marijuana Is Found Here

Police recovered what was thought to be marijuana and some type of pills Thursday in the 500 block of Gregg. Officer Sam Smelser noticed a red colored pickup, with Idaho license tags on it, parked in the block near where the alleged marijuana was found. Moments later, the police department received a call from a man, owning a business in the block, reporting he had found a bag lying beside the road, and apparently the two men in the pickup had left it there.

Officer Smelser took custody of the shaving kit bag containing the marijuana and turned it over to the police detective department for investigation.

The officer was unable to locate the two suspects for questioning, but witnesses said the truck was headed south on U.S. 87. Police notified San Angelo authorities and other law enforcement agencies in District 4 to be on the lookout for the men and truck.

Second Leading Fishing Port

AUSTIN (AP) — The Port Isabel-Brownsville area at the southern tip of Texas is the nation's second leading fishing port in terms of value of catch during 1971, according to U.S. Department of Commerce Statistics.

Commercial fishermen brought in $22.8 million worth of fish during the year. The number one port was San Pedro, Calif., with a catch of $58.4 million.

The Aransas Pass-Rockport area of the Texas Gulf Coast ranked fifth, with a catch of $16.1 million, while Freeport came in eighth with $12.8 million.

An Loc, the capital of Binh Long Province 60 miles north of Saigon. Government troops were making sweeps in an effort to keep the route open to supply convoys.

An Loc itself was threatened, and positions all around it were under rocket and mortar attack. But the Saigon command said the government still held the town.

FEW DETAILS

Few details were known of the attacks in the Mekong Delta, but the command said 40 of the enemy and 10 government troops were killed and 23 government men were wounded.

The threat to Saigon was not considered immediate, senior officers said, but the urgent

No Puppet, Says Richard Burton

BUDAPEST (AP) — Actor Richard Burton says he does not like to be considered a puppet nor to be considered a puppet by any director.

"The Italians Felini and Antonioni, the Swede Bergman and the British Hitchcock regarded their actors as puppets. They would not be able to do this to me," Burton said. The Welsh actor, spending three months in Hungary for the filming of "Bluebeard," made the remarks during a question and answer session with more than 500 Budapest University students.

Burton discussed a variety of subjects and said his personal philosophy was to "acquire wisdom."

"It took me a long time to acquire wisdom, if in fact I have acquired any at all," he said.

Mrs. Edna Cox Hurt In Mishap

Mrs. Edna Lanmon Cox, 1606 Tucson, was reported this morning to be in satisfactory condition at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. She was injured in a collision in the 1400 block of Tucson Thursday morning.

According to police reports Mrs. Cox's vehicle collided with a parked vehicle, owned by Regina Hine, at 11:57 a.m. Thursday. Mrs. Cox was taken to the hospital by an Alert ambulance shortly after the mishap.

need for reinforcements drained the capital region of its reserve forces.

Five-Year-Old Is Hospitalized

A car-pedestrian accident in the 1200 block of Mulberry Thursday night sent five-year-old Lisa Darlene Boon to Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital with minor cuts and bruises.

Lisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Boon, was released from the hospital this morning.

According to police reports, the youngster ran from in front of a parked vehicle into the path of an approaching vehicle.

Beverly Jones, 1908 Johnson, driver of the car, reported she did not have time to avoid hitting the child.

Lisa was taken to Hall-Bennett by her father following the accident.

Mrs. Smoot Made Crusade Leader

Mrs. Joe Smoot has been named Big Spring chairman of the American Cancer Society Crusade for 1972. The local house-to-house campaign chairman is Mrs. David Hodnett. The house-to-house crusade will take place April 18.

The theme of this year's March is "We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime." The crusade funds will be used to support the Society's programs of research, education and service to and rehabilitation of the cancer patient.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers or rain are forecast today from the central Gulf to the mid-Atlantic states. Rain is forecast for the coastal regions of the Pacific Northwest with snowflurries inland. Snow is forecast for part of the Dakotas and Wisconsin.

School Picketing In Santa Maria

SANTA MARIA, Tex. (AP) — Seven pickets, apparently backed by several Mexican-American organizations, walked outside Santa Maria elementary school today in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Ramsey Muniz, a gubernatorial candidate for the La Raza Unida party, spoke to a protest rally here Thursday night attended by a number of Santa Maria residents.

The pickets claim the school discriminates against Mexican-American pupils. Only one of the school's 300 or so pupils is not a Mexican-American. There were reports that a school boycott might begin today, but Mrs. Maria Silva, a spokesman for the pickets, said the boycott will come later, adding "the people are willing."

"All across the state, the system is backed into a corner and is afraid of the people," Muniz asserted to those attending the protest rally.

"Changes are long overdue to bring justice to the people, especially the children," Muniz added. Mrs. Silva said a group of concerned citizens has met with the Santa Maria school board 11 times to present grievances and nothing has been done to correct the grievances.

One of the main complaints concerns the lack of bilingual teachers, particularly for the first graders. The parents contend that many first graders cannot speak English and thus cannot communicate with their teachers and fall behind. Principal Lawrence Murphy said he is doing the best he can to get good teachers.

"I don't know how I am going to get teachers who will tolerate this kind of situation," Murphy said as the pickets marched in front of the palm tree lined school yard. Murphy said he believes the pickets are being backed by Co-

Local Woman Dies After Illness

DALLAS — Mildred Elizabeth Grandstaff, 72, of 1010 E. 2nd, Big Spring, died in Terrell Wednesday after an extended illness. Funeral services will be at 3:30 p.m. Friday in Restland Wildwood Chapel here. She was born Nov. 4, 1899, in Ohio. She is the mother of Mrs. Mildred Sylvia Brown, of Big Spring.

Survivors include two sons, Shirley LeRoy Grandstaff of Dallas, and Eustace Wayne Grandstaff of Houston, and two daughters, Miss Laurel Grandstaff of Houston, and Mrs. Mildred Brown; two granddaughters, one of Dallas and one of Big Spring and two great-grandchildren.

Graveside services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Monday in Trinity Memorial Park, with Rev. Claude Craven officiating. The rites will be under the direction of River-Weich Funeral Home.

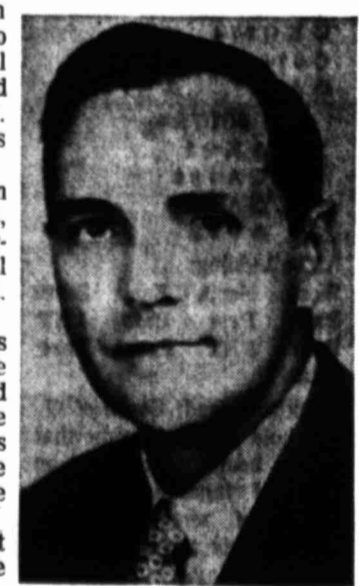

Skeet West, One-Time Athletic Great, Dies

A. B. (Skeet) West, an outstanding athlete here prior to World War II, died in a local hospital following an extended illness at 9:55 p.m. Thursday. He would have observed his 63rd birthday Saturday. Skeet was born Arnton Benefield West in Dunn, Texas, April 8, 1908. He was a supervisor at Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., until his retirement Sept. 30, 1969.

West, noted for his fleetness afoot in track, came here originally to play baseball and basketball under the late Spike Henninger when Cosden was fielding athletic teams in the 30s. He made his home here at 434 Hillside.

Services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m., Saturday in the Valley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Officiating will be the Rev. R. Earl Price of the First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Leo K. Gee of the First United Methodist Church. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. West attended public schools at Loraine. He worked for a while in a grocery store before joining Cosden May 12, 1930. He remained an avid sports fan all his life. Mr. West was a member of the Loraine United Methodist Church. He married the former Miss Kate Survivors, in addition to his wife, of the home; include three sisters, Mrs. Orene Meador, Stephenville, Mrs. Jessie Scott House, Austin, and Mrs. Ronel Simmons, Amarillo, in addition to several nieces and nephews. His nephews will serve as active pall bearers. Honorary pall bearers will be his former associates at Cosden and his friends.

Nonprofit Mailers Costing Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service is losing millions of dollars each year by allowing ineligible groups to mail at reduced rates authorized for nonprofit organizations, says the General Accounting Office.

The GAO, the investigating arm of Congress, said that in fiscal 1970 the costs of nonprofit mail exceeded revenues by $53 million. It said the Postal Service "has not collected substantial revenues to which it is entitled."

An official GAO report said a check of five post offices disclosed 115 organizations, whose eligibility seemed questionable. It said these groups mailed 71.6 million pieces of mail in that period and were undercharged at least $1.5 million. "In view of the estimated 6.1 billion pieces of second- and third-class mail handled annually nationwide, and in view of the lack of adequate criteria for determining an organization's eligibility for reduced postage rates, GAO believes that the amount of lost revenue could be significant nationwide," the report said.

Despite Postal Service promises, the report said, last month 27 organizations which GAO had questioned were still authorized to mail at reduced rates at one postal-service center. At another, the privilege had been cancelled for 24 of the organizations.

In language far stronger than is usual for such reports, the GAO said the Postal Service should act now to review its list of nonprofit groups and revoke the reduced-rate privileges of those not entitled to them. The GAO cited the case of one unnamed educational institution — actually a non-eligibility business league — which was denied nonprofit status in 1962, granted it in 1965, and in 1966 had it revoked and then reinstated.

Since July of 1966, the GAO said, this organization has been allowed to mail 18.1 million pieces at reduced third-class rates. "The postage collected at the reduced third-class rates amounted to about $261,000," the GAO said. "Postage at the regular third-class rates would have been $660,000—a difference of $399,000."

The GAO investigation included probes at postal-service centers in Chicago, New York, Indianapolis and St. Louis, and at a post office listed by GAO only as Bloomington. It said the 115 groups found to be ineligible among 1,135 nonprofit organizations checked included 94 business leagues, 21 civic-improvement associations, and 10 social clubs.

Winter Drought Posing Serious Fire Threats To Forests, Lands

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A winter drought is drying the air and ground in the Southwest, browning crops and rangelands and posing serious fire threats to forests and brush land.

Winter storms that normally hit Southern California have been diverted into Northern California, Oregon and Washington, he said. In the high mountains, where thick snowpacks are needed to replenish the rivers and reservoirs in the spring, snowfall is below normal. Some irrigation districts have already cut back water deliveries. Nevada Agriculture Director Thomas W. Ballou said the brushland has suffered from the dryness but it is not yet a drought. He said if rain does not come soon farmers will have to supply other feed to cattle and sheep, driving up the cost of meat.

"It all adds up to a total crop failure for our dry land grain," said Bob Howie, agriculture commissioner of California's Riverside County. "Possibly 20 per cent of the barley, wheat and oats was saved through irrigation, but all the money was spent on water." Howie said the irrigation had substantially drained the county's water reserves. Grain crops and pasture grass also were reported destroyed in San Benito, Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties in California. In California's Central Valley, the driest March since record keeping began in 1888 was made worse by a two-day freeze late in the month, severely damaging raisin grapes, plums, peaches, nectarines, walnuts and almonds. Wine grapes in the Napa Valley north on San Francisco also were hard hit by the freeze.

The U.S. Forest Service imposed early restrictions on campfires and smoking on half of its land in Arizona. A hundred fire fighters and 25 supporting tankers were sent from California to aid in fire prevention and suppression.

Banky Curtis, a wildlife biologist with the California Game and Fish Commission, said, "It's having a severe effect on wild game. I have no doubt that some animals are dying, but the most severe effect is on population growth."

George Taylor, battalion chief with the Los Angeles County Fire Department, said, "There's little moisture left in the vegetation and grass. The fire danger is going to come sooner this year and last longer. The fire season usually doesn't start until July, but we're already starting to experience small fires."

CITY MANAGER DOESN'T THINK SO Is Old Cosden Country Club 'White Elephant?'

By STEVE HULTMAN
The Dora Roberts Community Center (the old Cosden Country Club) was purchased by the Dora Roberts Foundation in 1970 from the Cosden retirement trust fund.

The Center, the lake and the surrounding acreage was donated Jan. 1, 1971 to the city to use in its Park and Recreation property.

The Chamber of Commerce had been the catalyst in the acquisition of the property, and the city turned the management of the Center over to the Chamber.

LOSES MONEY
Last Feb. 1, the Chamber turned the management of the facility back to the city. During that period the facility was under the management of the Chamber, a "profit" of $572.73 had been made — if the funds spent by the city were not included. Over-all, the facility continues to lose money.

The facility costs the city about $200 per month for gas and electricity, $250 per month for insurance and an undetermined amount for the policeman who lives at the Center. These expenses do not include the expense incurred by the city in the maintenance of the grounds.

search for ways to utilize the Center. "If some group wants to take over the swimming pool," said Nagle, "I think we could work out something."

The Dora Roberts Community Center doesn't pay its way yet, but with adequate management and intelligent planning, it can.

Unemployment Tax Is Low

Texas employers are paying less unemployment tax per worker than are employers in any other state of the union.

For every worker covered by unemployment insurance, the Texas employer pays out an average of $9.17, a survey of 1970 UI taxes compiled by Texas Employment Commission shows.

At the other end of the spectrum, Alaska employers pay out $276.18 per worker to support unemployment insurance benefits. California is next high with $97.41, and Virginia is next lowest to Texas, paying out an average of $11.89.

"Texas has unusual stability in its employers and in its workforce, and their cooperation in the program administered by Texas Employment Commission accounts for this record," said W. S. Birdwell Jr., employer representative of the TEC.

The commission collects taxes from more than 162,000 Texas employers who are covered by the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act, to finance unemployment insurance payments. The worker pays no part of this tax.

The law requires employers with one or more workers in 20 weeks on the payroll, and employers who pay $1,500 or more in wages in a calendar quarter, to pay the tax. Certain nonprofit, charitable and educational organizations are subject only if they have four or more workers.

The money collected is set up in a permanent trust fund.

The tax is based on wages up to $4,200 paid to each employee in a calendar year, but wages are reported to the Commission up to $7,000, which are used to calculate unemployment benefits.

The experience rate and the amount of tax each employer pays is based on chargebacks to his account which is based generally on the rate of his worker turnover. The minimum tax which an employer may have is 0.1 per cent and the maximum tax is 4.0 per cent. Ninety per cent of experience rated employers in Texas pay the minimum rate of 0.1 per cent.

Law Requires Registration

AUSTIN — Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has reminded young men of their requirement under Federal Law to register with Selective Service.

Some young men may believe that because future military manpower requirements may be met by volunteers that the requirement to register is past; however, the law does require registration by all native born young men and all resident aliens within 30 days of their eighteenth birthday. Legal registration may be completed 30 days before, or 30 days after the young man reaches age 18.

If a young man fails to register with Selective Service, he is subject to a fine or imprisonment, or both, under provisions of the Military Selective Service Act.

In most Texas counties, young men may register at the office of their local draft board, or with voluntary registrars located in many high schools and in other similar convenient locations.

Voluntary registrars in this area are Grady B. Tindol, Coahoma High School; Herbert D. Smith, Forsan High School; and Mrs. Billie S. Barron, Room 207 Howard County Courthouse.

If a young man has allowed more than 30 days to pass following his 18th birthday and has not yet registered, he should register immediately to avoid the penalty of the law.

Complete registration information is available at each local draft board.

Pastor Of Forsan Church Prepares For Labor Here

By MYRNA McFADIN
 Welcome to the new minister of youth and enlistment at the First Baptist Church!
 He's the Rev. Donnie R. Bradley, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Forsan. I'm certain everyone at First Baptist is elated at his acceptance of this call. Rev. Bradley will make a dedicated asset to the ministry of the church.
 He is a graduate of Hardin Simmons University and of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. Rev. Bradley has had choral training and has served as an associate pastor in Ft. Worth. He was in the program to pioneer missionary areas and served on the staff at Gloria Baptist Encampment for five years.

 Rev. Bradley has been pastor at Forsan for the past two years and has been active in associational affairs. He and Mrs. Bradley have two children.
 Mrs. L. D. (Mary) Jenkins, a life-long member of the Catholic Church, has served faithfully in the Altar Society since 1932. She's adored by everyone.
 One of the first members of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, Mary Jenkins has served actively on various committees for as long as remembrance recalls. At the present time she is the representative for the National Catholic Community Service to the V.A. In this position she is responsible for organizing ladies to serve at the Veterans Hospital.
 Mary Jenkins is in charge of the altars during each mass held at the V.A. Hospital. She is chairman of the scrapbook committee for the Big Spring Deanery and works through her church in the United Church Women. She is always ready to work with anyone, helping in whatever way she can on any worthy project.
 Mrs. Jenkins serves as annual chairman of her church's Christmas Card Campaign and has an annual booth at the Fall Festival. She is always faithful to report the activities of others and never claims any credit for herself.
 She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morgan. Her father was a pioneer building contractor in West Texas, and her mother was active for years in various community affairs. She attended Ma Ferguson's inauguration as governor of Texas with her father in 1925.
 Mary Jenkins went with Big Spring doctors on a special train to Colorado City to care for the injured following the devastating tornado of 1921. She was a junior member of the Red Cross canteen service during World War I, serving coffee and cake to troop trains.
 The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Big Spring urges people everywhere to enjoy the World Conference Broadcast on KOSA-TV, Channel 7, between 9-11 a.m. Sunday.
 This broadcast features the famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir and the encouraging commentary of recognized religious leaders. It comes from the Tabernacle on Temple Square, the ten-acre hub around which Salt Lake City, Utah, revolves.
 More than 350 stations will carry this broadcast from coast to coast and in many languages to Mexico, South and Central America, the Caribbean, Africa and Europe.

REV. DONNIE R. BRADLEY

MRS. L. D. (Mary) JENKINS
 Two brothers will lead the April 10-16 revival at the Berea Baptist Church.
 Rev. Freddie Martin, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Quitaque, will be preaching in 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. services daily. He is a graduate of East Texas Baptist College and received his seminary training at Golden Gate and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminaries.
 Lt. Col. Vaughn H. Martin, a charter member of Berea, will be directing the music. He has been conducting the music program of the church since 1969. His wife, Helen, is the church organist.
 The public is cordially invited to attend these services.
 Men of the North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church are to meet at the church Saturday morning for their regular monthly breakfast.
 Officers are John Puckett, president; Denver Pettit, vice-president; and Barney Edens, secretary-treasurer.
 The Rt. Rev. Willis R. Henton will be installed as Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas at the 14th annual diocesan council Friday, April 21, 5:30 p.m., at the Civic Center in Abilene.

 Big Spring citizens elected to attend the council as delegates from St. Mary's Episcopal Church are Dr. J. Burnett, Rich Anderson, Ralph McLaughlin, Robert Dyer, Wade Choate, Woody Thelin and James Reese. Alternates are Roger Brown, Conny Wade, Dick Shaver, Dr. Henry Butler, Bill Sheppard, Walter Wallace and R. A. Roberts. Other members of the local delegation include Richard Atkins and Steve Baker, wardens of the church, and the Rev. Harland B. Birdwell, rector.
 Sunday evening at the College Baptist Church the Carol Choir (3rd-6th grade children) will present special music that will be sung in the State Children's Choir Festival, April 15, here. They will sing, from memory, "God Who Touches Earth with Beauty," "My Heart Rejoices," and "Oh, the Joy of It!"
 Kollege Kindergarten, part of the weekday program of College Baptist, will begin pre-enrollment for the fall Monday, April 10. Mrs. Sandra J. Wanner is director. For further information, you may call the church office, 267-7429.

NEW MORMON MISSIONARIES TO BIG SPRING — (Left to right) Elder Sorensen, Elder Hutchinson, Elder K. Jones, Elder D. L. Jones. They will be serving this area for six months. All are on a two-year mission term for the church at their own expense. Their purpose here is to familiarize people with their doctrines, especially explaining the Book of Mormon.

B.S. Baptist Assn. Monday Meeting

The '72 statewide missions thrust projected by the 1.9 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas will be felt locally when Big Spring churches unite Monday evening for their Missions-Stewardship-Youth Conference.
 The meeting will be held in the College Baptist Church, starting with supper at 5:45. The Executive Board will meet at 6:20, and the program will begin at 7.
 Special sessions will be held on each of the three topics. Rev. James Hester, associate in the Evangelism Dept. of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will bring the inspirational message of the evening — dealing with Biblical challenge for personal involvement and commitment.

Don't Be Naive About Country Living

By PEACE MOFFAT
AP Newsfeature Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Okay all you city slickers. You've decided you've had enough of it — the noise, the pollution, the crowds, and you're heading for those wide open spaces. You're going to buy a place in the country. And you think it's going to be as easy as falling off a log.

Well, think again, says Irving Price, who lives on a farm that has been in his family for five generations, and who recently wrote a book called "Buying Country Property."

Price, a real estate broker, points out that 95 per cent of all country property has no public water or sewage and that there may be no electricity. He elaborates on the frequent need for a survey, and warns of the possibility of condemnation of one's property for state use. But just because the author is willing to admit the difficulties of living in the country, that doesn't mean he'd live anywhere else himself, or that he doesn't think the country can provide a good way of life for a wide variety of people. He just thinks one should know about the pitfalls before taking the plunge.

In New York recently, Price explained that his book came as a secondary result of what has happened in his own area of upstate New York. "There has been a great migration from the cities," he says.

"People are going back to yesterday. Today is too difficult for them and they associate the country with all that's simple. "But I personally felt the majority of people coming in were very naive. They had so much drive and yearning that they overlooked the practical necessities. So my firm decided to sponsor seminars — not to get involved in any particular land offering, but just to give a day's briefing. We put two small ads in two New York papers and though we'd be lucky to get 20 or 30 couples. But by 4 that afternoon we'd gotten over 400 reservations."

The seminars continued, and Price figures that he's spoken to over 40,000 people on the subject of buying country property. He says writing the book was the obvious next step.

"It's a misconception that land is disappearing so rapidly," he points out. "There are hundreds of thousands of acres available. The question is the proper utilization of them." He recommends that city people who want to buy country property deal with country attorneys and, of course, reliable real estate consultants. "Local people know local problems," he notes, "and they're able to deal with the sellers' attorneys better."

He also says one should find a banker on the local scene for possible financing, and also because a local banker may become a friend who can offer valuable advice.

After finding the property of one's dreams, Price says, a survey is frequently essential. "According to the ways of the country, the old strawberry patch that isn't there anymore may be described as the boundary of your land, so it's essential to know what you're buying. And it's a good idea to have title insurance along with a survey — not just for today, but so heirs to the property won't be tied up in court for years." One should be sure also of an adequate supply of water, which Price says is four to six gallons a minute, and should come from a drilled well. If the water supply has been established, he says one should check to see that it's fit for consumption.

The author waxes poetic on the virtues of the countryside — especially about his own area where there are only 48,000 people in the whole county. But he says he's had some indirect criticism for writing the book.

"Sure, it might make it harder for real estate people to close some deals, since the buyers will be more sophisticated," he says. "But I felt like we should bring out all the skeletons that remained in the closet."

Britishers See Cake Decorating

Mrs. Kenneth Daubney made a carousel cake and demonstrated the art of cake decorating for members of British Wives Club Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Bauer, 132-A Dow.

Mrs. J. Donaldson, cohostess, won a bouquet of flowers to be wired to her mother, Mrs. Bauer and Mrs. Daubney served refreshments to patients at Veterans Administration Hospital Friday morning.

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., April 20 in the home of Mrs. Al Cantu, Lot 6, 4103 Connelly. A program on foreign foods will be presented.

Rebekah Lodge Hears Program

The founder of the Rebekah Lodge was the subject of "A Different Ode to Schuyler Colfax," presented by the Rev. Eira Phillips at Tuesday evening's anniversary meeting of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge, Miss Juanita Hamlin, noble grand, presided, and the 18 attending reported 44 visits to the sick.

Mrs. Lee Thackrey, lodge deputy, conducted lodge instruction, encouraging the enlistment of new members, meaningful publicity and visits to other lodges.

Beaucants Slate Birthday Dinner

Members of the Social Order of the Beauceant will serve a birthday dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m., Monday at the Masonic Temple. Each woman is asked to bring a dish of hors d'oeuvres. Sir Knights are invited to attend, and the dinner will be followed by the order's regular meeting.

Money Minor In Decor Expression

The art of decorating is being simplified by an emphasis on freedom of expression and imagination rather than money, but it still requires a lot of thought and planning to create sympathetic surroundings. A recipe can be tested to ensure good results, and disasters can be thrown into the trash can and forgotten. Unfortunately, furnishings being the price they are, you cannot afford to learn from experience.

Suds, Soap Help White Rings

To remove white ring from a wet glass on a table top, rub with a cloth dipped in dense soap or detergent suds — more rather than water. Rub until the ring disappears. Then rinse, wipe dry, and reapply wax or polish.

Conducts Workshop On Flower Arranging

A workshop on flower arranging was conducted by Mrs. John Knox and Mrs. D. O. Gray for members of Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday morning at the YMCA. The women are both nationally accredited flower show judges. Purpose of the workshop was to aid members in preparing arrangements for a flower show sponsored by Big Spring Garden Club Council, scheduled April 29-30 at First National Bank. Members of the group furnished flowers and line materials. Mrs. Gray constructed two arrangements, and Mrs. Knox then prepared nine arrangements which she asked the group to criticize. The women chose a moss arrangement of spring flowers in shades of pink as their favorite.

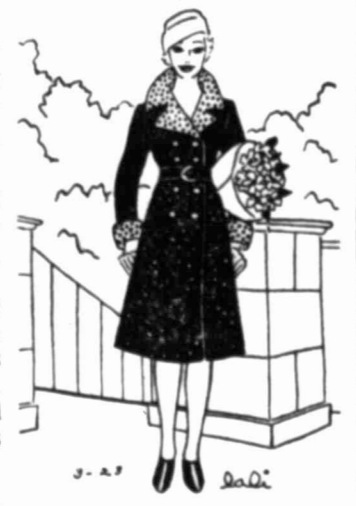

A LOVELIER YOU Rainwear Styled For Work, Play, Travel

By MARY SUE MILLER
Rainwear is increasingly geared for work, play, parties and travel in rain or shine, day or night. Styled for all weather, a coat goes everywhere.

Coats on the go take to tent and smock shapings. But no matter how flaring the hemline, shoulders are snugly controlled. New, too, is the classic Chesterfield styling and the Chinese influence. Shirtheats and nautical touches continue. Lengths brush the knees, fall to the ankles and sometimes sweep the floor.

As varied as shapes, materials really key the versatility of coats. In the forefront you will find silky Dacron, matte sateen twill and starched taffeta; with a plastic finish, gingham, chambray and seersucker; new versions of chamo, poplin and canvas. Patterns encompass plaids, stripes, checks, dots and garden florals. As for colors, they are garden bright, dark as night, neutral like sand, and whiter than white.

Just imagine the great Calorie Counter," tells the score costumes you could build on an at a glance. It also gives an all-weather coat. Let us say you diet plan — a way to eat and begin with a pleated tent in slim. For your copy, write to navy taffeta. You bring it May Sue Miller, care of the Big together with a soft white crepe; Spring Herald, enclosing a long, dress and with navy linen pants self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Or try a long, fitted coat of cotton printed with pastel nosebags. There is no limit to the pretty pastel dresses, both long and short, you could wear beneath Oblivious of weather!

RAMBLING ROSE — One of the most beautiful sights can be that of climbing roses in full bloom. Mrs. Garner McAdams has achieved this striking effect by training her climbers on an arched trellis. This type of rose is hearty, is prolific with its blossoms, and remains in flower for a good length of time. You still have time to plant them if you get after it now.

Balled Plants Have Less Shock In Transplanting

Garden and nurseries now have a good supply of trees and shrubs as landscaping time is at hand. According to County Agricultural Agent Bruce Griffith, three types of plants are generally available — balled and burlapped, container-grown and bare rooted.

Balled and burlapped (B & B) plants are usually larger than container-grown plants of the same price. They are usually field grown and may be better adjusted to conditions in your own landscape. Balled plants must be handled carefully so as not to loosen the ball of soil and thereby endanger the life of the plant.

Container-grown plants are gaining in popularity, the most common sizes being those in one and five gallon containers. A big advantage of these plants is that there is a less shock during transplanting.

Also they have some protection from rough handling. By cutting the metal cans with special shears, plants can be lifted out of the containers with only minor root disturbance. Plastic containers are now being used at some nurseries, and plants will usually slip out without cutting the container's sides.

Trees and shrubs should never be planted with the container left around the root ball.

Bare rooted plants or those with roots packaged in sawdust or similar material are most successfully planted during the dormant periods of late fall and winter. There is a lot of risk in planting this type once leaves are out, cautions Griffith.

You can have a lawn of almost any kind of grass — if you can grow it.

That means that you may try any of the newer varieties of grasses which offer variations in shades, texture, etc., and perhaps succeed. It may take more care and pampering, but you can make it with many types.

For most, however, the most practical grasses for this area remain the tried-and-true Bermuda, followed by San Augustine.

Bermuda may not be the most exotic grass, but it is attractive, easily maintained and capable of withstanding the area's heat with a modest amount of irrigation.

SODDED
San Augustine, which must be started from plugs or sprouts, also provides a dense cover and will grow easier in shady spots than Bermuda. However, it can't take the traffic, and sometimes it has difficulty in over-wintering.

Bermuda can be sponged, too, but the easiest way for starting a yard is to seed it. Usually, the formula is about 500 square feet per pound.

But before you get to that point, there is considerable work to be done, and now is an ideal time to do it because Bermuda won't sprout and flourish satisfactorily until it has five consecutive days of 89 degrees or better temperature.

You can save yourself much time and money later on by making sure that your ground is well prepared. This may mean hauling in new top soil, or it may mean pre-fertilizing if you feel the ground needs enrichment. Be careful and use special low nitrogen food for this.

Once the ground has been turned, it needs to be levelled. You can do a fair job by eyeballing this with a rake, but in the final phases you may need to use some sort of drag. A reasonably heavy piece of timber can be used with good results, although it is slow and a bit tedious. It will be still better if you can then roll the surface (lawn rollers can be rented) to firm the ground.

If you want to make it easier

Start Is Vital

to start grass — and if you can stand a little extra investment — try working peat moss down for a couple of inches or more.

SOWING LAWN
Virtually every household has a garden rake, so this is a good tool for using for your seeding operation. Rake the lawn area in one direction with the rake.

Now take the seed and divide the total volume into four equal parts to correspond to four quadrants of your lawn space. Sow each fractional pile over one quadrant. Otherwise, if you start sowing without some plans, you'll get about halfway through and discover you have run out of seed. Having to go back to your garden center to get more seed can become expensive. Besides, Bermuda does better if it is not sown too thickly.

Now that the seed has been applied, take the rake and rake crosswise or perpendicular to the previous pattern of raking. This will give the seed about the right amount of cover.

CALLS FOR WATER
The next step is one that calls for patience. Water the lawn with a heavy mist or spray, taking care to try and keep the surface moist — which is not easy in West Texas. Don't turn on the regular sprinkler if you can use a finer application such as a nozzle or fine sprinkler. The heavier watering tends to wash the grass seed to the top where birds will have a banquet.

If the temperature is right and you have done a reasonable job of keeping the ground moist, within five days the seed should start germinating. Keep up the watering until the grass plants appear to be well established. Then you can use a conventional sprinkler.

Bermuda has a capacity to spread quickly, and it seems to thrive on hot weather if there is ample water.

Care And Careful Good Mower Rules

One of the secrets of an attractive lawn is a good lawnmower. The old hand-powered reel type is a relatively rare instrument now, and even the powered reels are in the minority. The rotary mowers are most popular and versatile. Regardless of type, however, a wise course is to have your mower serviced before starting a new season with it. This may save you a lot of grief and expense. In buying a mower, try and get one amply powered for your need. In using a mower, remember safety may prevent regret — don't take a chance with those whirling blades. They can cut through steel in a wink, and certainly through your hand or foot.

Black Spot Control Steps Should Be Launched Now

"Black spot is the most serious rose disease problem encountered by rose growers," according to Dr. Walter Walla, extension service pathologist. "It is caused by a fungus which leaves a black spot with an irregular margin surrounded by a zone of yellow tissue. In addition to the unsightly black spots on the blossoms, plants may also shed their leaves."

Control measures begin by raking and burning all fallen leaves in the spring and removing all old leaves from the rose plants. This will reduce one source of fungus spores that can cause new infections. At the same time, prune the tops of infected roses to eliminate overwintering infection sites on the upper stems.

when the first leaves are one-half inch long. Repeat applications thoroughly at regular intervals according to label directions. Effective spray materials include Belete, Daconil 2787, Dithane M-45, Phaltan and Zineb. Other fungicides may also be available at your local garden or supply store. Sulphur dust (before temperatures over 85) is still used by many growers.

It'll Take A Miracle

Come June, when the primaries are out of the way, views may change, but the present position of Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Rayford Price is that the upcoming appropriations special session need not pass a major tax bill.

Legislators will be looking for about $150 million in new money just to hold the line. A major miracle would occur if that takes place, though no candidate would say so before the June 3 runoff.

The special session will have a later revenue estimate from the comptroller than is currently available but it won't be much better. The governor vetoed a General Fund appropriation of $798 million. That made no provision for welfare.

The comptroller estimates $711 million will be available from General Fund sources for second half spending.

The Texas Research League staff has estimated $150 million will be needed to stay even.

That assumes welfare work will be funded.

A tax bill for $150 million would be a major tax. When one considers the "limited sales, excise and use tax" category produces $550 million-plus (and it's the big single category), one can estimate the size of a bite needed to collect $150 million.

The special session could turn into an economy-squeeze session, tooling up for the January regular session.

One thing the Smith veto of the 1973 budget seems to show is that annual sessions for budget purposes can work from much more accurate revenue forecasts. A constitution to provide that system seems in order.

Land Of Opportunity

Consider the bureaucratic capacity for snafu. A railway clerk who worked in the John Kennedy campaign in 1960 wrote the Democratic national committee for help in finding a better paying job. He had in mind something like postal clerk. The letter was bucked to a Justice Department unit created to clear such matters. Eventually a note got to the Immigration and Naturalization Service with instructions to "give him a job." This got translated "give him the job," and INS came through with a Grade 17 Civil Service rating (18 is top) and a regional position in New England. It paid $16,350 in 1961; now it pays $34,000 per year. The happy clerk took early disability pension in 1969. Who says this isn't the land of opportunity any longer?

A Welcome Addition

Around The Rim

Steve Hultman

THE DORA Roberts Community Center (the old Cosden Country Club) has been referred to as a "white elephant" by Big Springers who looked at the club house and decided it was useless as a community center.

Although there is much disagreement with this point of view, especially from City Manager Harry Nagel, even if true, the site is still a welcome addition to the city.

The site deeded to the city by the Dora Roberts Foundation is made up of 61.24 acres of land containing the 22-acre Cosden Lake as well as tennis courts, a swimming pool and the Community Center.

This land at present is mostly overgrown with brush and is difficult to reach. The long shoreline of the lake offers numerous potential picnic sites, as well as hike and bike trails.

The lake could provide a spot for some type of sailboat or canoe concession, as well as a more developed fishing spot.

THE SWIMMING pool could be used as part of a city learn-to-swim project or could be leased to a private concern for the same purpose. Many cities now build similar pools just for the purpose of teaching swimming.

The site also has some tennis courts, now in disrepair, and could eventually provide Big Spring with a fine tennis center.

Still, the major addition has been the lake, a 22-acre spot of water in a basically arid region. The lake can become an integral part of Comanche Trail Park, adding its recreation potential to that of an already developed park.

All of these ideas and more are being considered by the city. But with the present shortage of excess funds in the city budget, it may be some time before any development work is done on the site.

THIS SITE can become the "white elephant" some have said it is if the project is allowed to languish in the files of the city.

For the recreational potential of the site to be realized, individuals and civic groups in Big Spring will have to come forward with ideas and help in developing the area.

Garden clubs might add trees or plants to the area already developed. Civic groups could begin to hold meetings at the Center, and search for area groups that need a convention site.

Tennis enthusiasts could clean up the courts and add nets. If enough enthusiasm were generated, the courts could be taken over by a tennis club that could re-surface the courts and provide playing areas for all who wished to join and help defray the expenses of improving the courts.

The city will not spend money on the area unless citizens groups demand it, and show their support by working to make the site an area that can provide recreation for all Big Springers.

Policy Of Impotence

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The biggest question mark around the world today is whether the United States is going to repeat history — weaken its military position abroad and give the impression that it will not help to prevent another world war.

IF THERE had been a strong Western alliance which included the United States, there might have not been a World War I or a World War II. In both instances, the assumption was that the American people were advocates of isolationism and would not participate.

What is happening in Congress, as various members sponsor legislation declaring the executive branch shall have authority to commit military forces for only 30 days and must get congressional permission for continuance of operations beyond that, is being taken to mean that the foreign policy of the United States hereafter will not be regarded abroad as enduring. As long as the employment of military force by Major Powers can at any moment upset the peace of the world, the United States must do its planning through use of bases in other countries and by dispersing its submarines carrying Polaris missiles, utilizing foreign ports where they are available.

THE GERMANS were convinced that the United States would not enter World War I or World War II. When they read the American press, they noted that elections were being won in 1916 and 1940 by denouncing any involvement in the war then in progress and by promises of candidates for the Presidency to "keep out of war."

There are still those in Congress who think that the United States can stay out of Europe and Asia altogether or that use of military forces should be authorized merely when the other side has begun a war against us. Military men, however, say that wars can be prevented only by having an Army, Navy and Air Force distributed in strategic locations and in such size that potential enemies will not dare to take chances and start a war against the United States.

IF AN ADVERSARY thinks that the Congress will have to give its consent for American action in any critical situation around the world, there will be built up a feeling that the United States will no longer be of assistance to smaller countries and will be reluctant to furnish aid even to larger ones.

While the constitution stipulates that Congress shall have the power "to declare war," it doesn't give either the Senate or the House the right to conduct foreign policy. This is a delicate task and requires secrecy in planning and in carrying out programs for cooperation with various allies. This becomes even more serious if Senators insist that the President should have only 30 days in which to conduct a military operation. What is overlooked is that the planning and stationing of armed forces in different parts of the world must take place a long time before any emergency develops.

THE PROSPECTS are that a third world war is much more likely to happen if it is definitely established that the United States cannot make and commit itself to the necessary preparations with allied countries.

Now Safety Is 'In'

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Can a good idea born into a hostile or indifferent society succeed? Since environments change, the rejected ideas of yesterday often are welcomed today. Any fashion designer or marketing man can attest to it.

To illustrate, in the late 1950s Ford Motor Co. sought to interest the public in safety, but by most measures the attempt failed.

Now safety is "in." Every one of the big automakers is attempting to produce a safer car, although with considerable prompting from federal officials.

Another example: Early in the boom that followed World War II and which continues today people bought what they had long postponed buying. Included were foods and drinks that weren't available during the war and which they couldn't afford before it.

The results were measured on more than scales. Whereas malnutrition was a common health problem that turned up in insurance company files before the war, obesity replaced it after the war.

This was still before this battle of the bulge made millions of Americans so calorie and nutrition conscious. To put vitamin contents on packages would have been disdained as too medicinal, and the calories count as just malicious.

Now the Food and Drug Administration intends to see that just such information is included on packaged food labels, and quite likely the proposal will be welcomed in this calorie-conscious, vitamin-minded age.

The FDA chose five supermarket chains to test various labels containing such information and soon found itself, in the words of a spokesman, "bombarded" with requests from other retailers to get in on the action.

There are reasons for the interest shown by the retailers.

Shoppers are sharper today. They aren't as impressed by the beauty of the package as by the writing thereon. They suspect that the dazzle of the marketing effort is meant to blind the buyer.

And so, even men who never examined the package except to read stories of sports heroes on the back of the cereal box when they were youths now hold the package close to their girth and squint down through their spectacles at the fine print.

Another old idea has blown around on cold, barren ground for many years—certainly for a century. It was restated this week by Carl Kamp Jr., a Federal Home Loan Board member, in a St. Louis speech.

"The area of property taxes has come into the spotlight lately," he said. "It might be worthwhile to consider looking at land and its taxation in a more practical and realistic way."

Inflamed Issue

Marquis Childs

ST. LOUIS — It would be pleasant to think that President Nixon's belated venture into the politics of the busing controversy had quieted the antibusing contagion. The evidence in Missouri, a Border State with a boot heel reflecting the Deep South, is quite to the contrary.

THE CANDIDATES for governor — no Senate seat is up this year — are all proclaiming their undying opposition to the heinous practice of busing schoolchildren. They repeat the alleged evils of this assault on the rights of free Americans like a litany learned from some calamitous encounter with a bus at an early age.

Getting into the middle of the act, Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, the leading candidate for governor in the Democratic primary, introduced an antibusing resolution in the state senate calling for a constitutional convention to approve an amendment putting a stop to busing for racial integration. It was passed virtually without opposition. The Missouri house is expected to follow suit before the legislature adjourns.

IF TWO-THIRDS of the states adopt resolutions with identical language, a convention must be called to pass on the amendment. Just here the ambivalence of the President's televised essay on busing is painfully evident. Waiting to speak out until after the Florida primary, he proposed a moratorium on court-ordered busing with the explanation that the process of amending the Constitution is too slow to put an end to forced busing.

This will not deter the Blackwells, the quick-on-the-draw politicians, who see a chance to exploit an issue inflamed out of all reason by fear and frustration reflected through the prism of race. That 36 states will adopt identical resolutions is unlikely, although several have already done so. Yet the threat is there, as it was in the prayer and the one-man, one-vote amendments.

IT IS A threat against the Constitution of the United States, the fundamental charter of our freedoms — the embodiment of the vision of the founding fathers. If the Constitution is to be frivolously amended at the whims of political passions of the moment, as in the false issue of busing, the anchor of our faith and our hope will soon be no more.

AN ANALYSIS in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch showed that in the 1970-71 school year 54 per cent of public schools were bused at a cost of $33 million. But as the Director of the Transportation in the state Department of Education, William E. Haynes, pointed out, the reasons were important. "I am not aware," Haynes said, "of any school district in the state that buses children to achieve racial integration."

BUT AS THE Missouri experience shows, busing is a tool for achieving many objectives. It may be quite irrelevant to integration or it may be a temporary expedient to correct the serious imbalance in educational opportunity as between white and black.

The Nixon moratorium may put a stop to court action. But the antibusing contagion has been inflamed by the Nixon rhetoric.

Too Cozy With Bank Lobby?

By The Associated Press

One Texas senatorial candidate defended himself Thursday against charges he is too cozy with the banking lobby, while another spoke of increased drug traffic and another auctioned off his necktie.

A fourth candidate continued walking.

Incumbent U.S. Senator John Tower, Republican, told newsmen in Washington he is a "pro-business" senator, but he denied allegations by columnist Jack Anderson he was "unduly influenced" by the banking lobby on a banking bill.

Barefoot Sanders, one of three Democrats seeking to oppose Tower in the fall, said in San Angelo the latest figures show about 600,000 addicts in the nation.

"Unless we move quickly, with strong new steps to cut off the importation of this drug and shatter the pushers' supply lines within our country, this figure will continue to rise," Sanders warned.

In Houston, Democratic senatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough auctioned off his necktie Thursday night at the formal opening of his Harris County campaign headquarters. The tie brought $250.

Yarborough said the country is in bad shape "because of Nixon, Agnew and Connally, that triple disaster we have in there now, and we see it getting worse every day."

Meanwhile, Tom Cartledge, also a senate candidate in the Democratic primary, continued his trek between Denison and the Alamo in San Antonio.

In the governor's race, one candidate proposed bringing water from Canada to help West Texas, another voiced support for Mexican-American protesters at a lower Rio Grande Valley elementary school and another — incumbent Gov. Preston Smith — named a young persons' ombudsman in state government.

State Sen. Henry Grover of Houston told a Lubbock audience he understood a plan developed by a Los Angeles engineering firm calls "for reversing the flow of several rivers now emptying northward into Hudson Bay and routing them into the Great Lakes, the Mississippi and Missouri rivers."

"Water is the No. 1 problem in Texas and the nation and this plan, I am told, has the engineering worked out which will solve our water shortage all over the state and will mean the difference for continued growth of West Texas without taking East Texas water."

Grover also took time to blast one of his GOP primary opponents, Dave Reagan, for "trying to get attention." Grover said Reagan was spreading false rumors when Reagan said there are rumors circulating about Grover's financing and alleged land deals.

The candidate of the La Raza Unida, Ramsey Muniz of Waco, appeared Thursday night at a rally in Santa Maria. Muniz advocated the protest by Mexican-American parents at the school, which the parents claim is discriminatory.

Although Muniz is not on the November ballot, his party has notified the state it intends to gather the required number of signatures to secure a ballot listing.

Frances Farenthold said she has instructed her campaign chairman to contact Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Dolph Briscoe about the proposed debate among the three. She said Texas TV stations also were being asked if they would contribute some of their public service for such a debate the week of April 17 or 24.

Briscoe said in Houston he would be glad to have his representative meet with any candidate and discuss the possibility of a debate, which he said he would enter if "time, place and conditions" could be agreed on.

Barnes told a reception in Dallas that his campaign is "gaining momentum daily." He issued a call for annual budget sessions of the legislature.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The king of the African jungle is footloose in Brazil, entertaining hundreds who pay $5 to mingle with His Majesty in a natural habitat.

Cars lined up for miles on a recent opening Sunday to get a chance to drive through 120,000 square yards of open forest housing 23 free-roaming lions.

The "Simba Safari," lion park, first on this continent, was an instant hit in Latin America's largest city.

The lions are confined only by two 20-foot-high wire fences which encircle the park, but otherwise are free to walk along the 1.8 miles of paved road used by the visitors, or to simply lie in the forest.

"I visited many parks throughout the world," said Francisco "Chico" Galvao, originator of the $180,000 project here.

"This is the eighth. And from what I could gather, ours is the prettiest both in terms of vegetation and geography. The park in the United States is situated in a desert. In the others vegetation is scarce, relying mostly on eucalyptus trees. And there's another thing: This park is the first one in which the lions are put together. In the others they are kept apart."

Galvao and three other Brazilian outdoorsmen and hunters brought the lions to their new home on a 3,400-foot inland plateau on the Tropic of Capricorn. Eventually, 50 lions will occupy the park situated on land purchased from the near-by Sao Paulo Zoo. Most will have been brought from other zoos in Africa or Latin America.

Visitors to the park must ride in cars. They pay the equivalent of just under $1 per person to see the lions from one of the park's zebra-striped Jeeps or almost $5 to ride through in their own cars. There is no limit on how many persons may be inside.

Car windows must be closed at all times, although the lions appear generally tame and have been trained to become accustomed to cars. Hornblowing is prohibited.

All along the road, park security rangers remain on alert, armed with rifles that shoot anaesthetic pellets in the case of attacks. The pellets can put an attacking lion to sleep without hurting him.

In spite of the obvious need for safety precautions, some visitors were somewhat let down upon learning a little-known fact: Lions cry.

Samson, Leonard and Simon, the first beasts set free in the park, cuddled up to the closed gates and began crying on their first night of freedom in Brazil.

The reason? "They got scared," Chico Galvao said. "They began to miss people."

IN OPENING DAY OF MASTERS

Big Jack Comes Back

(AP WIREPHOTO)

LEAPING SAMMY — Sam Snead, Boca Raton, Fla., leaps for joy after his chip shot to the 16th green went within one foot of the pin. Snead is just one stroke behind Nicklaus in the Masters Tournament at the Augusta National Golf Club with a 3-under-par 69.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — At 59, an age when many men are dreaming of Social Security checks and a rocking chair in the shade, Sam Snead is trying to win another Masters Golf Championship.

"The guy is incredible—he thinks he's 20 years old," commented Bill Campbell, the former Walker Cup captain from Huntington, W. Va., after his neighbor shook up the game's new breed with a three-under-par 69 Thursday for an opening salvo over the Augusta National Course.

The score put the old bald eagle from the Virginia Hills just one shot back of the pace-setting tournament favorite, Jack Nicklaus, who had to pick up six shots on a stretch of six finishing holes for a 68, and one ahead of the revitalized Arnold Palmer, who perched through new contact lenses for a 70.

It's been a long time since this sports spectacle produced such a glamorous package at the head of the pack, and the famed course that the late Bob Jones built is quivering with excitement.

No one electrified the imagination like the honey-swinging hillbilly of another age, Slammin' Sammy, his bald head hidden by a familiar cocoon of straw, his once paunchy frame trimmed to a tough 185 pounds and his thinking geared to modern times.

"I play softer shots now," Snead said, in explaining his renewed lease on golfing life. "I never try to overpower the ball any more. When you try to swing too hard, something always goes wrong."

Snead, winner of three Masters and more than 140 tournaments in a career dating back 35 years, is not being taken lightly by the two younger men who flank him going into Friday's second round.

"Surprised at Snead?" Nicklaus, 32, repeated a question. "I'm never surprised to see Sam anywhere. He is capable of winning a tournament every time he tees up the ball."

Palmer was asked how he viewed the super star structure at the head of the 84-man field. "It's not a bad idea," the 42-year-old Palmer, who built his legend largely by winning four Masters titles with dramatic finishes, replied. "I kinda like it, but I'd like to reverse the lead."

Palmer said he was satisfied with his 70 but added: "I drove only fair and my irons weren't sharp."

Behind the three leaders, the only other players to break par over the 6,900-yard, par 72 course, came gray-thatched, 42-year-old Paul Harney and amateur Jim Simons, with 71. There were many disasters.

Defending champion Charles Coody sank a five-iron shot at the 190-yard sixth for a hole-in-one and apparently became too flustered as he took a triple bogey seven on the next hole. He was in a cluster that included South African Gary Player and former champions Bob Goalby and George Archer at 73.

Lee Trevino, glib and controversial player of the year in 1971, skied to a 75, with a seven at the 15th, complaining, "I couldn't sink a putt." British Ryder cupper Brian Barnes used 17 shots on the 12th and 13th holes in soaring to an 83. Bill Casper had a 75 and Julius Boros a 77.

Such rocketing scores made Snead's astounding round—his best in the Masters in 20 years—all the more remarkable.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — First-round top scores Thursday in the 36th Masters Golf Championship over an 84-man 36-hole, 72-hole, 980-yard Augusta National Course (a- denotes amateur):

Jack Nicklaus	67-71-68
Sam Snead	69-70-71
Arnold Palmer	70-71-70
James B. Simmons	71-72-71
Paul Harney	72-73-71

FLYING EAGLE — After sinking a putt for an eagle on the 15th hole, Jack Nicklaus runs around the green to the delight of screaming fans during the opening round of the Masters Golf Tournament Thursday at the Augusta National Golf Club. Nicklaus is the first round leader with a four-under-par 68.

Berra Tries To Fill Shoe Of Gil Hodges

NEW YORK (AP) — If and when the baseball season gets under way, Yogi Berra will manage the New York Mets and Rusty Staub will be in right field. Less than four hours after the body of Gil Hodges was buried Thursday in his beloved Brooklyn, the Mets named Berra, who won the 1964 American League pennant with the New York Yankees in his only previous managerial experience to replace him.

Lee Tips Steers

MIDLAND — George Landreth, winning pitcher for the Midland Lee Rebels, hurled a three-hitter striking out 14 batters yesterday as the Rebels dumped the Big Spring Steers, 9-1.

Little League Clean-Up Day

The National Little League will kick off the Little League season April 22 in the National League park.

The naming of Berra, who will be 47 next month, as manager climaxes an unusual career for the Hall of Fame catcher that saw him star for 17 years with the crosstown Yankees and manage them for one season, only to be fired after losing the 1964 World Series to the St. Louis Cardinals in seven games. He has been the Mets' first base coach ever since.

Berra was passed over twice previously by the Mets—in 1965, when Casey Stengel broke his hip and was succeeded by Wes Westrum, and in 1968, when Westrum gave way to Hodges.

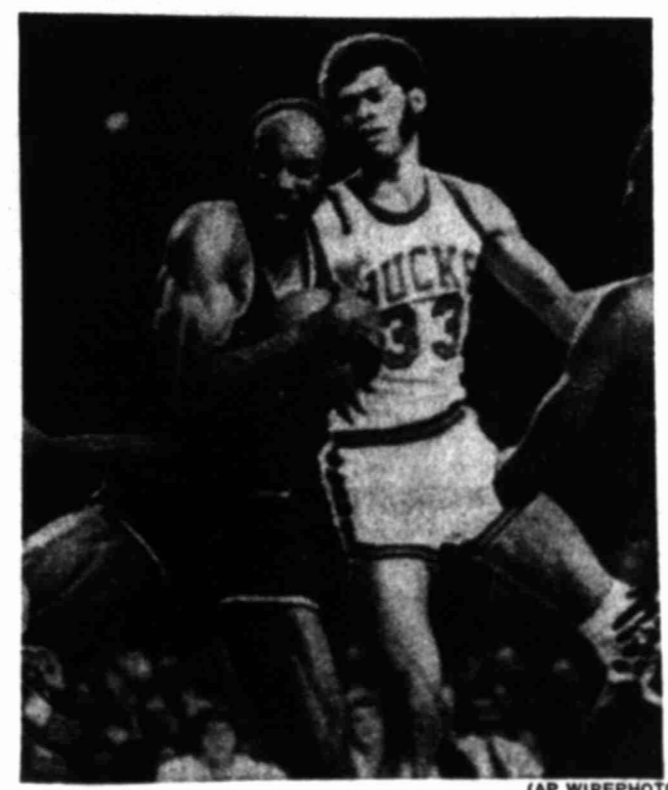

"We left a good man today," Berra, still wearing his dark blue funeral suit, said, referring to Hodges. "I hope I can fill his shoes, that's all."

The Mets also got a good man in the 28-year-old Staub, who hit .311 with 19 home runs and 97 runs batted in for Montreal last season.

Singleton, 24, hit .245 for the Mets last year with 13 homers and 45 RBI. Jorgensen batted .220 with five homers and 11 RBI in a half-season with the Mets after hitting .342 with 15 homers and 41 RBI in the International League. Foli had a .226 average with the Mets with no homers and 24 RBI. All three are considered good prospects.

Sunland's Night Racing, Texas Futurity Slated

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Bird, notched the second fastest Friday twilight racing resumes this week at Sunland Park. The ten-race card begins at 3 p.m. Regular 1:30 p.m. firsts post will remain in effect on Saturdays and Sundays.

A full panel of sprinters go to the post in Friday's headliner for allowance runners at six furlongs. The three-day racing weekend is highlighted by the running of Sunland's second all-time richest race — the $103,000 West Texas Quarter Horse Futurity on Sunday. Eighty-six starters in last week's nine trials were narrowed down to the 10 fastest qualifiers to go 330 yards in Sunday's final.

Fastest qualifier in the trials was Byou Bird with jockey Elbert Minchey, who tore up the yardage in a commanding 24-length winning effort. Owned by Walter Merrick of Sayre, Okla., Byou Bird had previously won the Blue Ribbon Futurity at Salasaw, Okla., and scored last weekend's trial, victory in :16.85 seconds. Winning at the Races May Not Be Your Idea of Fun, But...

Here I sit, trying to write about Larry Voegele. And all the while I'm working and sweating, the guy I'm writing about is out at the racetrack. Not a worry in the world—and probably making more money in a day than I make in a week.

What's his secret? He knows how to beat the races. Really knows. Knows so much that he runs a school for handicappers. (It's the only one of its kind in the world. Which is why he was asked to appear on "What's My Line.")

He charges his "students" two hundred bucks apiece. He tells them that if they're not completely satisfied he'll return every cent they've paid, and nobody has ever asked for his money back.

Permian Belle Has Tickets To Sell

The Permian Belle Relays sponsored by the Big Spring Jaycees start tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Memorial Stadium.

About 350 girls from 38 girls' track teams throughout the state will be pouring into the arena tomorrow morning.

Jefferson High from Abilene, which won the tournament last year, is not returning to the relays, but all the other teams are back this year.

Garden City, perhaps one of the strongest girls' track teams in West Texas, placed second last year. The team is expected to win the tournament this year.

Other teams in the tournament are: Forsan, Aspermont, Baird, Balmorhea, Borden County, Christoval, Coahoma, Colorado City, Crane, Dawson, Denver City, Eldorado, Flower Grove, Haskell, Idalou, Ira, Iraan, Lake View, Lamar Jr. High from Snyder.

And Lazbuddie, Loop McCamey, McCauley, Menard, Miles, New Deal, Paducah, Rising Star, Robert Lee, Rosevelt of Lubbock, Sanderson, Seminole, Sterling City, Snyder, Wall, Westbrook, Wink.

Eldorado placed third and Lakeview finished fourth last year. Coahoma was fifth. Coahoma will be a strong contender with Theresa Beal leading the team. Aspermont will be a contender with Brenda Rimes.

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Hands will be stamped for the all-day relays.

Field events start at 10 in the morning and will run until completed. The running events start at 1 p.m. and the finals in those events begin at 6:30 p.m. Trophies will be presented at 8:20 p.m.

As to the price—if you decide to keep the book. Frankly, we didn't know what to charge. It isn't just paper and ink. It's information. Facts that dozens of people have paid $200 to gain—and were satisfied to pay. But there aren't many people who can afford that kind of money. Even for a sure thing. So what do you think about 10 dollars? That's all—10 dollars. And you have something better than a money back guarantee. Because your check or money order won't even be cashed unless—and until you decided to keep the book because it's worth a lot more. Winning at the horse races, traveling first class and living in the best hotels may not be your idea of fun. As for me, I think it sure beats working for a living. See you at the track.

Canadian Sales

TORONTO (AP) — During the last 18 months, radio listeners have been exposed to more Canadian music and it is beginning to pay dividends for Canada's fledgling recording industry.

Since Jan. 18, 1971, Canadian Radio-Television Commission regulations have required Canadian AM radio stations to include 30 per cent Canadian content in their daily music programming.

At that time, music qualified as Canadian if it was composed by, had lyrics written by or was performed by a Canadian, or was recorded in Canada.

Since Jan. 18 this year, two of the four conditions must be fulfilled in order to qualify.

Not 'Miracle'

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am told that I have glaucoma. Have been wearing glasses for the last six years. Went to the doctor recently and he gave me some drops for my eyes.

After two days of using the medication, I no longer need to wear glasses. I am wondering if a miracle has happened. The doctor will only tell me my eyes are getting better; doesn't like to answer questions. — D.M.J.

What happened to you is not particularly unusual, and there's no miracle occurring. Glaucoma means that excessive pressure is building up inside the eyeballs, and this has to be controlled. Otherwise the pressure in time will damage your eyes. Uncontrolled glaucoma leads to blindness. The medication you are using is designed to prevent that pressure from building up. It also has the added effect of constricting the pupils of your eyes.

If you know anything about cameras, you know that when you "stop down" the lens, you are increasing the depth of focus — more of whatever is within camera range will be in sharp focus.

The same thing happens with your eyes. If you make the lens opening (the pupil) smaller, the image becomes sharper — enough sharper in your case so you don't need your glasses.

This sharpening of the focus is just a fortunate side effect; it does not mean you are rid of the glaucoma. So just be thankful and keep on using the medication to prevent the glaucoma from doing its dirty work.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The doctor said I had hiatal hernia and told me to sleep with my bed elevated. I have not done that for a while as it is hard to elevate a bed. I did feel better when I raised myself with pillows. My son said he could get me a hospital bed. Do you think that would be the answer? I would like your booklet on hiatal hernia and enclose 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. — Mrs. G.C.

I think you're making things harder than necessary. Elevating the head of bed four to six inches usually helps, and this can be done with two or three bricks, or some blocks of wood under the legs of the bed at the head end.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please clarify the testing aspects after a vasectomy. One doctor says a sperm count is necessary three months after the operation, and another six months afterward, before it is safe to quit using contraceptives. — Mrs. A.C.

Sperm, created in the testes, are stored in the seminal vesicles. Vasectomy (cutting of the duct that carries the sperm) stops the migration of sperm to the vesicles, but it takes at least 6 to 12 ejaculations to empty the vesicles.

There is no way to give an absolute answer, obviously. Safest rule is at least two consecutive tests free of sperm before concluding that the operation is a success.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it more harmful for those on a fat-free diet to pan-fry meat without fat in the pan rather than oven-broiling it?

My husband likes the flavor of pan-cooked meat and I dislike cleaning the oven. — Mrs. F.E.C.

The advantage of oven-broiling, in cases where the object is a minimum of fat, is that in the broiling the fat is simply dripped off the meat and doesn't find its way to the dinner plate.

The broiling method is preferred.

My wife puts a shallow pan of water under the broiling meat to help reduce the splattering.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

THERE ARE ABOUT 1,000 SMALL TRUCK EXPERTS IN AMERICA...

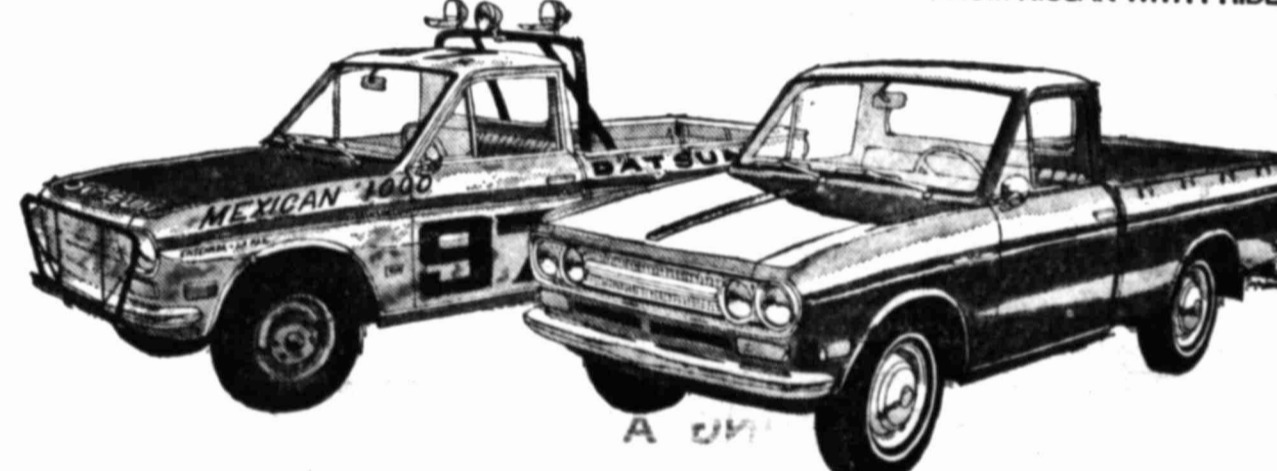

... They're called 'Datsun dealers'

America's number one selling small truck has a 1,440-pound capacity, a 1600 overhead cam engine, a body that just won't quit and a tailgate that says 'Datsun.'

What more could you want?

Datsun's eleven years in the American small truck market have been well spent. They've led to a nationwide computerized parts system and a factory-trained staff to install them. A record as America's number one selling small truck. And an understanding of exactly how much truck is just right.

The just right truck is Datsun's L11 Hustler, with an engine that's powerful enough for highway speeds and back road hauling, but small enough for maximum operating economy. It's a truck with a big six-foot all-steel load bed—just the right size for 9 out of 10 truck owners. Its 1,440-pound gross load capacity is perfect for almost everyone's needs, from recreation to heavy labor. The just right truck is what the Datsun has been delivering for eleven years now.

Nobody knows small trucks like Datsun. Drive a Datsun... then decide at:

Smith Picks Ombudsman

AUSTIN (AP)—A young "troubleshooter" to handle the questions and problems of the young regarding state government has been set up in a new office by Gov. Preston Smith. Smith told a conference of college student body presidents and college newspaper editors Thursday night that Bill Wright, former student president at Southwest Texas State University, will be the first ombudsman for youth affairs. Wright is now an intern at the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs on the University of Texas campus. Smith said to his knowledge he is the first governor in the nation to create such an office, and he promised it would have the "full backing and authority of the governor's office." Smith said if the office is successful he may expand it to serve all Texans, not just the young. The governor also said he will appoint more students as college regents.

What causes crepey skin on the neck?

An accumulation of dead skin. This is a woman's problem only. Men remove this layer of dry skin when shaving and their necks do not become crepey. Peel O-Matique cream treatment, a new cosmetic process, can remove this unwanted skin gently and quickly without abrasives or chemical acids. Come in this week and let the experts show you how. Crazy Joe Slain In Little Italy

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Gallo, a member of Brooklyn's Gallo Brothers gang whose underworld exploits were parodied in the movie "The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight," was shot to death early today in a restaurant in the Little Italy section of lower Manhattan. Crazy Joe, or Joey the Blond as he was more familiarly known, was in Umberto's Clam House with his new bride, 10-year-old stepdaughter, a sister, a friend and his bodyguard when he was gunned down by a single gunman at 5:30 a.m. He was taken to Beekman Downtown Hospital in a police car and pronounced dead on arrival. Gallo, 42, was released from Sing Sing Prison at Ossining last March after serving eight years for extortion. Three weeks ago, he married Sina Essary, a 29-year-old divorcee from Akron, Ohio. The wedding took place in the apartment of actor Jerry Orbach, who played a character based on Gallo in the film "The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight." The death was the second gangland-style slaying in the metropolitan area in the past 24 hours. A reputed underworld figure, Bruno Carnevale, 29, was shot down in Queens Thursday, but police said the incidents were unrelated. The shooting early today was apparently the work of a single assailant, police said. The gunman entered the restaurant by a side door and started shooting, hitting Gallo three times. Gallo staggered from the restaurant and fell in the street.

Not Best Way To Get More Rain For Okies?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—he will introduce legislation to establish a five-year rainmaking program under management of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation to bring additional rain to Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Arizona. Speaking Thursday before the Downtown Civitan Club, Deering said government programs as large as the one suggested by Belmon bring federal management with them. A weather modification project should be locally managed if it is to bring the state what its residents need, said Deering. And, he said, the state could conduct its own program for just $1 million a year. Belmon said Wednesday that
