GOVERNMENT FORCES REELING

Thousands Flee South

(AP WIREPHOTO)

HAIL BOULDERS — Giant boulders of hail stones were amassed throughout San Antonio by a thunderstorm which was accompanied by hail and high winds, causing damages estimated in the thousands. Three persons were reported injured, none seriously. The storm hit at about 5 p.m. Thursday during the rush hour traffic.

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces, apparently aiming at a conquest of the old imperial capital of Hue, smashed through South Vietnam's northern defense today.

They overran Dong Ha, sent government forces reeling toward Quang Tri, and were reported to have attacked Fire Base Bastogne, a key base 12 miles west of Hue. Parts of Hue were captured for a short time by enemy forces in the 1968 offensive.

NEW ASSAULT

Advices from the field indicated that Fire Base Bastogne was more than half overrun by the North Vietnamese forces. Late tonight details were scant.

The base, manned by Saigon's 1st Division, has been hit by numerous shellings and ground attacks in the last three weeks.

Bastogne has blocked the only access to Hue by road from the west. The new assault appeared to be an attempt by the North Vietnamese to open the road, called Route 547, so tanks and heavy guns can move forward for attacks against Hue itself.

Dong Ha, eastern anchor of the defense line, was overrun in the eight-mile enemy advance. That is the distance between Dong Ha and Quang Tri, first major objective of the northern offensive. The enemy is now at its outskirts.

Two bases southwest of Quang Tri were abandoned under heavy North Vietnamese shell fire, amounting to 10,000 rounds in the past two days of the renewed enemy offensive.

The United States threw the bulk of its air and naval power into the battle in efforts to avert the fall of Quang Tri, 19 miles below the demilitarized zone.

SHIPS BOMBED

AP correspondent Holger Jensen reported from Hue that U.S. planes and helicopter gunships bombed and rocketed North Vietnamese tanks on two sides of Quang Tri.

At least 11 tanks were reported knocked out and two U.S. aircraft were lost in a dramatic air to ground battle with the tanks, two crewmen of a rocket-firing Cobra gunship died after knocking out three tanks.

About 150 air strikes were reported around Quang Tri. Refugees from the Quang Tri area poured into Hue, swelling the total there to more than 85,000 driven from their homes.

MILD

Considerable cloudiness and mild this afternoon, becoming partly cloudy tonight and Saturday with a slight chance of rain. High today 89, low tonight 62, high tomorrow 85.

FIRST STEP TOWARD CONSTRUCTION — Paul Meek, president of Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., and other employees of the concern gathered at the refinery this morning for official ground-breaking ceremonies signalling the start of work on a multi-million dollar catalytic reformer and desulphurization unit, which will serve to remove lead alkyls from motor gasoline. Several hundred men will be on the job at the peak of construction. From the left, they are Jerry Jenkins, Rene Brown, Richard Grimes, Carl Rogers, Knox Chadd, Meek, Roy Hughes and Bob Fuller.

McGovern Picks Up More Endorsements

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Edmund S. Muskie retired from active campaigning George McGovern has picked up more endorsements for the Democratic presidential race that appears to have narrowed to a battle with Hubert H. Humphrey.

After Muskie quit the primaries race Thursday, Sen. Fred Harris, himself a former candidate for the nomination, cast his lot with McGovern. Harris previously had been uncommitted.

Cliff Larson, Democratic

chairman in Iowa and a backer of Muskie, announced he was switching support to McGovern but retaining the right to return to Muskie, depending on what happens at the Miami Beach convention.

LABOR TARGET

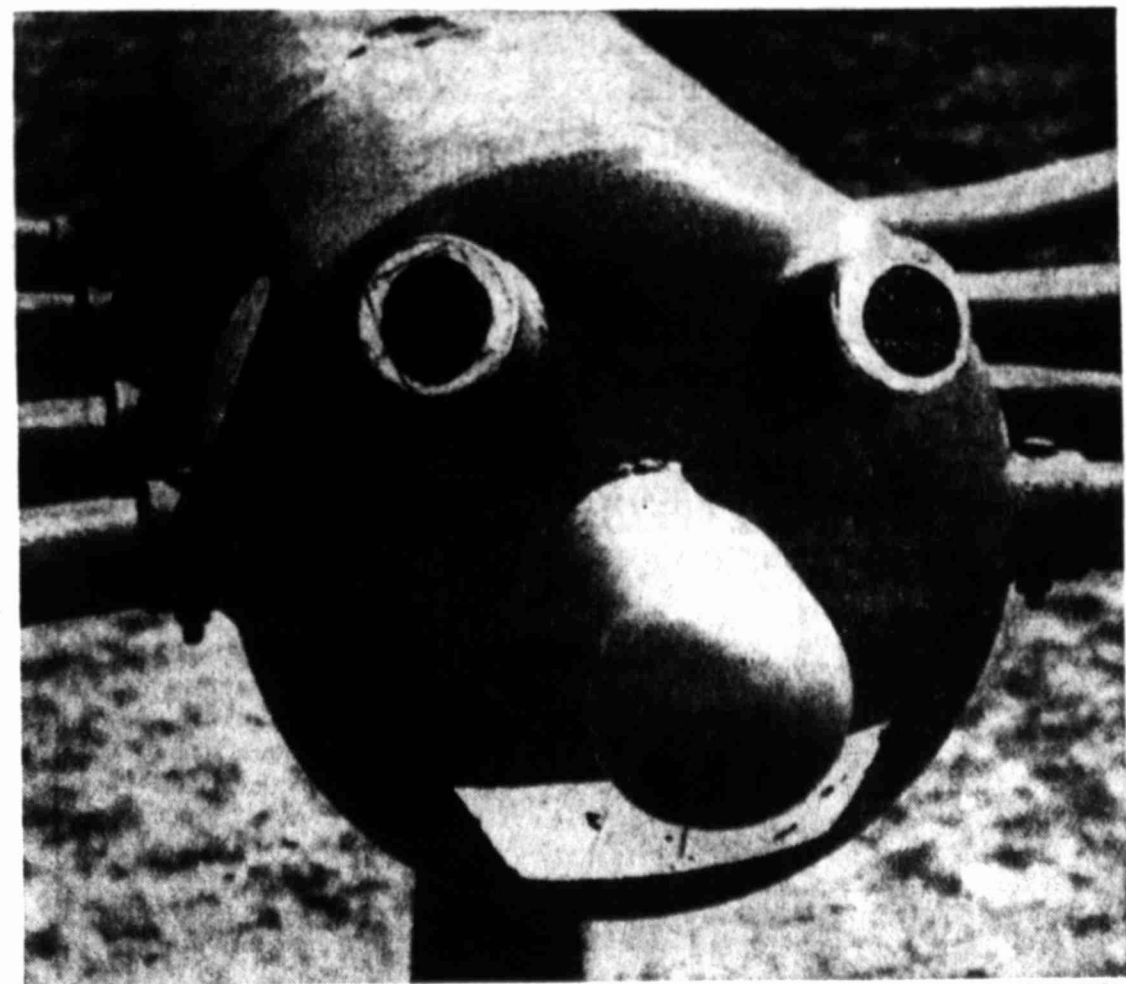

And sources in the McGovern camp said Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who has stayed out of the battle, would endorse McGovern today. It was Ribicoff who nominated McGovern at the 1968 Chicago convention.

McGovern, meanwhile, said he plans to actively seek the support of organized labor and of the Democratic party leadership, despite the urging of some of his backers.

He told The Washington Post in an interview: "I think I've got the skill and the common sense to quiet the fears of those people and bring them on board at some point . . .

"As we move along and time permits, I'll be calling on the party leaders in many states," McGovern said. "I think that's the best way I can answer their anxiety about whether I want to work with them."

He Permits No Hippies In The FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We permit no hippies in the bureau. I can guarantee that," says J. Edgar Hoover. And activists, "gay or otherwise," also are on the FBI's not-wanted list.

Is he bugging elected officials? "I can say very authoritatively that no member of Congress ever has had his phone tapped by the FBI since I have been director, notwithstanding the claim of some that their phones have been tapped," says Hoover.

Furthermore, Hoover said in congressional testimony released Thursday, "Youths should be tried as adults when they commit a serious crime. I would like to see the juvenile age reduced to 15."

Welcoming Hoover to the House Appropriations Committee on March 2 for hearings on the FBI's proposed $336-million budget for the year starting July 1, subcommittee Chairman John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., defended Hoover against criticism.

RAKES RGV Savage Spring Storm

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A savage spring storm, packing winds higher than hurricane force in some areas, raked the Lower Rio Grande Valley from Zapata to the Gulf of Mexico early Friday.

There were no reports of injuries, but damage was heavy and widespread.

"This was worse than Hurricane Beulah," said a police spokesman at McAllen where the Federal Aviation Agency recorded top winds of 78 m.p.h.

Fire, apparently storm related, burned out the HEB grocery in a shopping center at Harlingen. A spokesman said the store was ruined within 45 minutes after the first alarm sounded. Exploding cans of food soared high above the building and a huge black cloud of billowing smoke towered high above the Harlingen-San Benito area.

The National Weather Service office at Brownsville blamed the storm on low pressure areas near Corpus Christi and south of Brownsville. The highest wind gust reported at Brownsville was 53 m.p.h.

You Must Surrender An Hour On Sunday

Daylight Saving Time, a boon for many and a bane for some, returns to Big Spring and the nation at 2 a.m. Sunday.

All clocks should be moved ahead one hour, save for those who are deliberating trying to miss church.

The semi-annual time change is, no doubt, confusing to some, but, there's a good phrase to remember:

"Spring forward, fall back." If you're still in doubt, 2 a.m. Sunday automatically becomes 3 a.m. Next Oct. 29, you can retrieve the hour.

The people who relish the extra hour of daylight to pursue their games or work in their gardens will rejoice. Those who like to sleep late but can't because the sun will be streaming in their windows will likely be offended.

Like it or not, Saturday is the last day for Standard Time until the frost is on the pumpkin. (See photo, page 6-A.)

Moon Heroes Steaming To Hawaii

ABOARD USS TICONDEROGA (AP) — Apollo 16's moon heroes steamed toward Hawaii today after completing man's fifth moon-landing expedition, a journey that commander John W. Young said pushed back "the last real frontier, the frontier of the unknown."

Young and fellow crewmen Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly II, were deposited on the deck of this carrier Thursday after a pinpoint splashdown in the South Pacific.

During welcoming ceremonies, Young said the mission was one of discovery that had uncovered basic knowledge. Pushing back the "frontier of the unknown," he said, is "essential to the survival of humanity on this planet."

President Nixon telephoned congratulations, promoting Duke to the rank of Air Force colonel and Mattingly to commander in the Navy. Young, a Navy captain, was promoted after one of his three earlier space missions.

All three were in excellent health after their 11-day journey.

Calls Special Election To Fill Senate Position

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith called Friday a special election June 6 to fill the vacant state senate position which David Ratliff, Stamford, resigned Wednesday.

Smith said he was calling the election as soon as the law permits so that the voters of the 24th Senatorial District will have proper representation as soon as possible. The governor is expected to call another special session of the legislature in June.

Ratliff resigned after numerous news stories reported that he had at various times employed five of his own relatives on his legislative staff—an act prohibited by the state's nepotism laws. Other relatives of Ratliff have been employed by other legislators.

Ratliff, 60, had been a senator for 17 years.

He also said Wednesday that he would withdraw as a candidate for the Texas House. Ratliff earlier announced as a candidate for the house, where he served previously, after his senate district was combined with that of Sen. Jack Hightower, Vernon, in the 1971 redistricting bill.

IN REFERENCE TO NEPOTISM, GOV. SMITH SAYS:

'Maybe Ben Barnes And Sissy Farenthold Should Resign'

AUSTIN (AP) — If Barnes and Farenthold resign—as Preston Smith suggests they should for violating the nepotism law—can the governor be far behind?

HE FORGOT

When Smith said in Brownsville Wednesday that Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Rep. Frances Farenthold perhaps should resign, he apparently forgot he hired Speaker Rayford Price's wife in 1965.

Senate payroll records show Barbara Price was paid $1,600 for working for Smith for four months in 1965.

"Maybe Ben Barnes and Sissy Farenthold should resign," the governor said. After suggesting it, he said: "I'm not suggesting it, but it should be looked into."

Smith's remarks were prompted by the resignation of Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford, who hired several of his own relatives while he was in the legislature.

Earlier Wednesday, in Corpus Christi, Smith said: "I'm not saying that (nepotism) is wrong or right, but Mrs. Farenthold had them and Ben Barnes had them. I'm kind of interested in this kind of thing. There might be some others who are guilty of it."

$100 TO $1,000

The nepotism law forbids legislators and other state officials to hire their relatives.

The statute also outlaws the hiring by legislators of relatives of other legislators. It makes no distinction between the House and the Senate.

But for years it was assumed that House members could hire relatives of senators and vice versa.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin cleared that up on April 18 with an opinion that declared the practice violated the nepotism statute, which carries a fine of $100 to $1,000.

Travis County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith said Thursday he did not have the resources to investigate all the nepotism cases in the legislature. At least 75 relatives of 45 legislators have worked on legislative payrolls sometime in the past five years.

The district attorney said he had talked with the House administration office and Secretary of the Senate Charles Schnabel and he is convinced they are sincere in their promises to eliminate the nepotism practice.

DID NOT WORK

However, the grand jury will investigate any case where a legislator hired his own or another legislator's relative and that relative did no work for the salary received, the prosecutor said.

This would be theft of state money by false pretext, punishable by a prison term from two to 10 years, the district attorney said.

Ratliff and Rep. John Allen of Longview each hired two of the other's children at one time or other, and all four offspring have been reported as full-time students or employees in other jobs during all or part of the time they were on the state payroll.

When Barnes was speaker, his son, Greg, drew $5.50 as honorary pay for one day's work as a House page. Thereafter, Barnes paid him out of his own pocket.

BARNES STEPSON

Barnes' stepson, Scott C. Sayers Jr., worked on the Senate payroll as a Capitol tour guide for 25 days after Barnes married the boy's mother last year. Barnes says he made the boy quit as soon as the lieutenant governor returned from his honeymoon.

The lieutenant governor is president of the Senate—the presiding officer. And he may cast tie-breaking votes.

TIE-BREAKER

His right to vote, even though it is limited to breaking ties, may be the key.

The nepotism statute says the relative of a legislator may not be hired by a member of the body "of which such person so appointing or voting may be a member."

If Barnes was guilty of nepotism for hiring Mrs. Farenthold's child, the governor was guilty of nepotism for hiring the wife of then-Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine.

Whether Barnes—or Smith when he was lieutenant governor—would be considered a member of the legislature in the meaning of the nepotism statute has not been decided by the attorney general or any court.

Justice Court Now Hears Most Small-Claims Cases

By LINDA CROSS

"Small claims" court per se no longer exists, according to Peace Justice Walter Grice, in whose court most small civil cases are filed, except in cases involving labor services. Other types of cases in which the claims do not exceed $200 are tried in justice court as civil cases.

Cases concerning such suits as failure to pay a contracted workman for performance of services where the worth of services does not exceed $150 form the bulk of what now passes for "small claims," according to Justice Grice.

Civil cases tried in justice court usually concern delinquent debts, eviction, repossession of automobiles and similar civil disputes.

allotted time, according to Grice, the plaintiff is granted whatever type of judgment he might have been seeking.

Trial is held in justice court if the defendant replies and chooses to contest the action. Either the plaintiff or the defendant in any case may choose to have either a closed hearing or a jury trial.

"If they want to have a jury, 12 persons are chosen, and the county attorney (prosecutor) and the defendant's attorney each have three strikes to eliminate jurors. We use a six-member jury in the trial," said Grice. Selection of the 12 prospective jurors is done by the county sheriff, and the justice court does not use the jury wheel system, according to Grice.

awarding of a claim up to the presiding justice, said Grice. Most jurors do the latter, according to Grice.

"We only get about four or five civil cases a year now. Years ago, we used to get 400 to 500 a year. Local industries like Cosden (Oil & Chemical Co.) would file 30 and 40 claims at a time," said Grice.

During the peak of the filing of justice court civil cases, Grice said that he decided to charge the uniform $5 fee on all cases, rather than $3 for one type of action and $2 for filing certain legal forms.

"I find that the $5 deposit now covers anything very well, and it is a lot simpler," said Grice.

Of civil court cases, Grice said:

"There's not much limit on what may be tried in justice court. If law officers don't know what to tell someone, they tell him to go see a justice of the peace," said Grice.

JUSTICE RULES

Jurors can decide in a case the amount to be awarded to a plaintiff if they rule for the plaintiff, or they can merely rule on the guilt or innocence of the defendant and leave the

Briscoe Cheered By Dallas Rally

AUSTIN (AP)—Dolph Briscoe thinks his chances in Texas' big cities are much improved over 1968 when the urban vote was one of his weak points in that unsuccessful campaign for governor.

The 48-year-old Democratic candidate for governor came to Austin Thursday night after the welcome rains forced him to cancel a flying trip through Central Texas. He spent Thursday in a 500-mile automobile journey that began early and ended late.

Briscoe was obviously pleased and encouraged by a Wednesday night rally in Dallas that his supporters said was the largest political gathering in that city this year. Close to 3,000 persons attended the rally that featured a hill billy band, hot dogs and beer, and Briscoe's speech.

Throughout Thursday's trip through mostly small towns of Central Texas, Briscoe kept telling supporters about the Dallas rally. "We are most encouraged by our campaign, particularly the Dallas meeting," he said in Fairfield.

"It has been said in the past that much of my support was in the rural areas," he said in Mexia. "I want to say that I now have support in the urban areas, too."

"I have support in both areas because people of all backgrounds and in all walks of life are concerned about what is going on in state government."

MRS. DOLPH BRISCOE

"This is the key time," Briscoe said in Waco. "Not only do voters select a new governor this year but they also have an opportunity to select a type of government."

Briscoe said that it was "utterly ridiculous" for Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, also a Democratic candidate for governor, to be "waving the reformer's banner and spouting his slogan: 'A New Day for Texas.'"

"We need a new day all right but you can't have a new day with the same old machine."

Briscoe was scheduled to campaign southward to the heavily populated areas of Laredo and the Lower Rio Grande Valley today. Saturday he is scheduled in Corpus Christi and in San Antonio Sunday.

Midland Hospital Will Start Course May 15

Midland Memorial Hospital will conduct a four-week coronary care nursing course May 15 through June 9, according to Wayne E. Ulrich, administrator.

"This will be an intensive, 120-hour course designed especially for registered and vocational nurses who are interested in coronary care nursing," he explained.

Under the direction of Mrs. Rose Jewell, inservice director, and Miss Celia Harris, head nurse of MMH's coronary care unit, the course will run about six hours a day, five days a week for four weeks. Registration fee is $17 and includes all course materials. Classes will be held in the MMH Conference Room on the first floor. Registration deadline is May 8.

"We will use the ROCOM System of instruction which is furnished by the Texas Heart Association," Mrs. Jewell said. She explained that this system is a series of film strips, slides and printed materials designed especially for courses of this nature.

The course will concentrate on classroom presentations and a number of local physicians will lecture on various coronary nursing problems and methods.

"Qualified nurses of the Permian Basin area are encouraged to take advantage of this course," Mrs. Jewell continued. "More and more of the hospitals in smaller towns are developing coronary care units. Generally, personnel have to go to Dallas or Houston for the same intensive training we will offer at Midland Memorial."

"Specialized training is essential if hospitals are to provide coronary patients maximum care and treatment and we feel it will be advantageous for nurses to attend a course such as this closer to home rather than go to the larger cities," she concluded.

Interested persons should contact Mrs. Jewell at 682-7381, extension 297 before May 8.

Barnes Says Sissy Gains

HOUSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes says he's convinced he'll go into a runoff in the Democratic primary race for governor but he's not sure who will be in the runoff with him.

"Two weeks ago I was almost certain it would be (Dolph) Briscoe," he said, "but (Frances) Farenthold has been coming up in the urban areas and now I just don't know."

Barnes said there was no doubt that he would be in the runoff and would go on to win the nomination and the governorship.

"I think the people are finally realizing who can provide leadership in Texas," he said. "I am the only candidate offering the people leadership for a realistic change, the only one knowing how to bring about change and to implement it."

Barnes said the problems of Houston and other urban centers were the problems his administration would attack strongest.

"Two-thirds of the people of this state live in the cities, and it's time that we have a governor who understands both urban and rural problems for a change," he said.

Barnes said problems of pollution, mass transportation, housing and crime were the chief headaches of the urban areas, along with the simple need to create a plan for the urban future.

Kleindienst Tops Biggest Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard G. Kleindienst has overcome perhaps the biggest hurdle in winning Senate Judiciary Committee approval in his bid to become attorney general. But he faces yet another roadblock before the full Senate.

The Judiciary Committee Thursday reaffirmed its confirmation of the Kleindienst nomination after a two-month investigation of alleged Justice Department improprieties in the settlement of an antitrust suit against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Liberal Democrats on the committee, defeated in their attempt to continue the hearings, said they would fight the Kleindienst nomination whenever the floor, probably several weeks from now.

BAD MEMORY

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., an opponent of the nomination, said he favors full discussion of the issues before the full Senate, but added that he does not believe the debate will become a filibuster.

Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., another who voted against the committee majority, said: "We do not have a complete record, and it would be unfair to Mr. Kleindienst and the Senate to base a decision upon the present, contradictory and totally inadequate record."

Committee members have until May 5 to submit their reports to the Senate.

The 11-4 vote to report the nomination favorably came after a day's session in which Kleindienst was recalled as a witness. Little he said cleared up any of the contradictions in the record.

Kleindienst said he did not recall details of conversations with Peter M. Flanigan, senior adviser to President Nixon, in which the ITT settlement was discussed.

INCONSISTENT

He said Flanigan, Nixon's liaison man with business might have told him a month before the settlement that ITT was unhappy with its terms but he could not remember.

"It was so insignificant, so immaterial and inconsistent with the posture I was assuming in this case, it just didn't stick in my mind," said Kleindienst.

He had previously testified and repeated Thursday, that he had taken the position that Richard J. McLaren, then head of the antitrust division, would handle the case by himself.

On Feb. 29, the committee voted unanimously after two days of hearings to approve the Kleindienst nomination. That same day, syndicated columnist Jack Anderson published a memo linking settlement of the antitrust case with ITT's financial commitment to help San Diego obtain this summer's Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst denied the allegations immediately and asked that the committee reopen the hearings to enable him to answer the charges and clear away the cloud over his nomination. He repeated his denial Thursday.

'Sissy' Declares War On Board Of Regents

By The Associated Press

Texas gubernatorial candidates are back into the swing of the campaign following Wednesday night's big televised interview in Dallas for those in the governor's race.

One of the most vocal was Rep. Frances Farenthold, who declared war on the University of Texas board of regents.

POLITICAL POWER

Speaking before a University of Texas Medical School audience in San Antonio, Mrs. Farenthold said the board has damaged the state's academic institutions with what she called "raw political power."

Singling out regents' chairman John Peace and former chairman Frank Erwin for special criticism, she accused the regents of being members of the "same political and economic group which has a stranglehold on the state."

Rivals of Mrs. Farenthold in the Democratic primary were equally busy.

Grounded by rain in Dallas, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes campaigned by car in Northeast Texas, claiming opponent Dolph Briscoe's purported net worth of $2.5 million dollars is "utterly ridiculous."

LARGEST LANDHOLDER

Barnes said Briscoe is the largest single landholder in Texas.

Briscoe also had to cancel his plans for travel by plane because of a rain, and instead made a quick tour of Central Texas by auto.

Briscoe told a Waco luncheon that he was using mostly volunteer help in his campaign, rather than professionals, "because what must be changed in Texas is the domination of our state government by professional machine politicians who are servants to the special interests instead of the general public."

He also visited Fairfield, Brenham, Navasota, Seguin and Mexia, where supporters told him he would poll up to 80 per cent of the vote in Limestone County.

Gov. Preston Smith, the only major party candidate not appearing in the question-and-answer television program, also stayed on the campaign trail Thursday, along with Secretary of State Bob Bullock, a strong supporter of Smith.

HYPOCRISY

Bullock criticized Barnes' plans to attend religious services at several Houston black churches Sunday as "hypocrisy at its worst."

"I don't believe that the black members of these churches will be fooled by this type of demagoguery," Bullock asserted.

Smith himself was in Childress, where he told an audience that he was glad the campaign gave him the "great opportunity to make people aware of the tremendous programs that have been started and expanded during the Smith administration. The state has progressed through our efforts like never before and the people are extremely pleased to hear of the advancements that have been made."

In the Republican race for governor, Al Fay told the Seguin Lions Club that "Texas' political situation is an X-rated movie."

State Sen. Henry Grover, one of Fay's rivals, told a Houston audience that there can be no hedging on legislation of marijuana, because "we either object to the use of marijuana or we don't." He added that the best way to "avoid a felony conviction is to avoid the felony."

'STRONG GOVERNOR'

Meanwhile, Grover was criticized in San Antonio by opponent Dave Reagan for failure to disclose his financial statement.

Another GOP gubernatorial hopeful, Tom McElroy, said in Dallas that Texas' most effective leaders have been "lawyer-business oriented governors," and he described himself as a "lawyer-business oriented conservative" who would make a "strong governor."

In the Democratic race for lieutenant governor, State Sen. Ralph Hall referred to rival Bill Hobby as "a man who says he will make a good lieutenant governor, honestly, while giving different answers to important questions to win approval of his audiences."

Shooting Spree Will Cost Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Sears Roebuck has been ordered to pay $95,000 in damages after employees were found negligent in selling a gun to a former mental patient who used it to go on a shooting spree.

A federal jury ruled that $40,000 must be paid to the wife of the gunman for the loss of his company after he was committed to a mental institution.

A man injured by two shotgun blasts fired by the mental patient three years ago received $50,000 and his wife was awarded $5,000.

Embezzlement Trial Date

DALLAS (AP) — The embezzlement trial of former Dallas Crime Commission president John McKee was set for July 10 at a hearing in criminal district court Thursday.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Jim Burnham told the court the state had not decided which of three indictments against McKee it will prosecute first.

McKee was indicted originally Feb. 17 on two counts charging he embezzled a total of $6,772.98 from the Dallas Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite. The indictments were based on checks allegedly written as payment or partial payment for two automobiles.

He was indicted a third time March 6 on a charge of swindling $44,968 from the lodge in a transaction involving 1,333 shares of Grand Avenue Bank & Trust Co. stock.

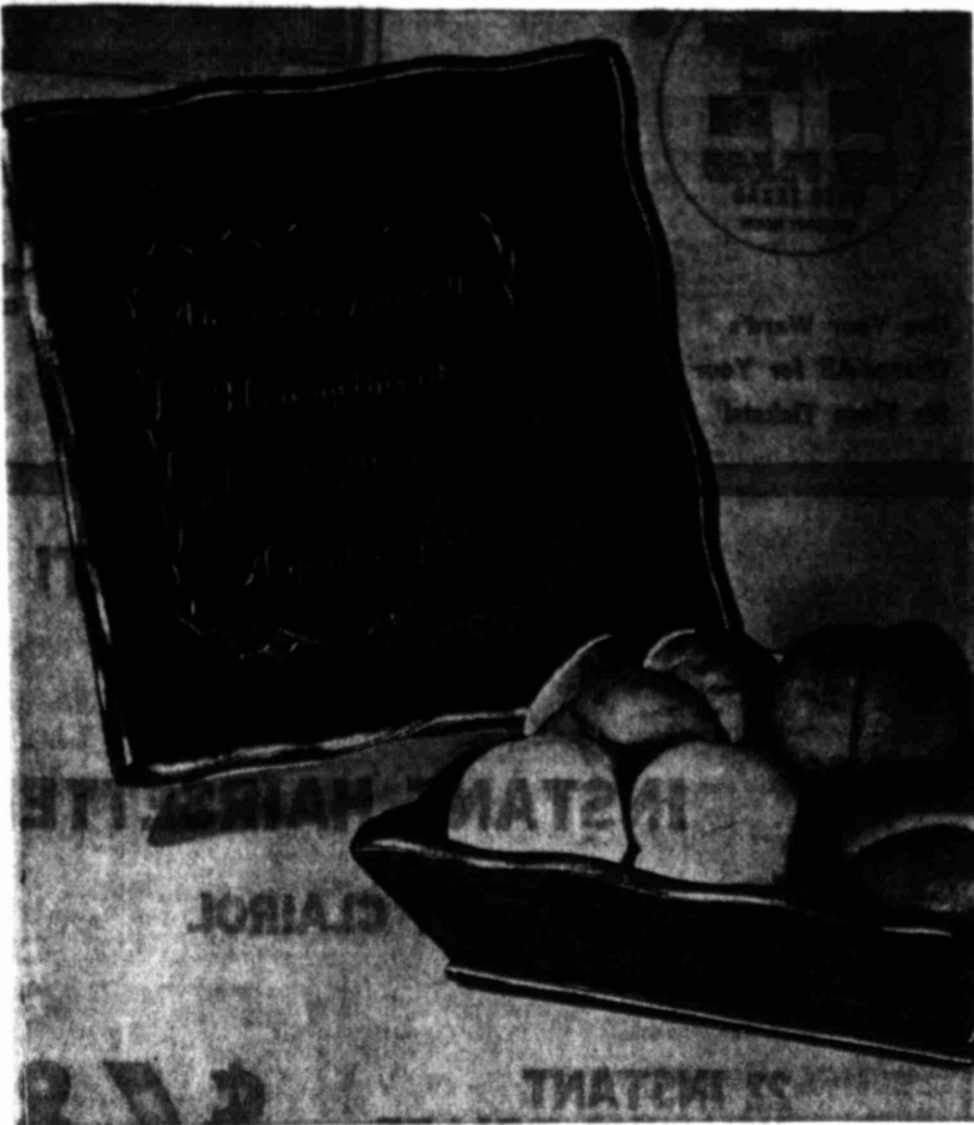

During the pre-trial hearing, McKee's lawyer Bill Alexander and M.R. Irion filed a 13-point motion to have the swindling indictment quashed.

The motion for dismissal contends that the indictment is "vague, indefinite and incomprehensible," does not state whether the stock or money was swindled and is insufficient under law for prosecution.

Lie Test Clears Murder Suspect

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP) — State police said Thursday that a lie detector test taken by a 23-year-old man has cleared him as a suspect in the murders of three persons abducted in Mesquite last fall or the more recent murder of a Pleasant Grove housewife.

Untangling Red Tape That Delays Pay Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board is steadily untangling a snarl of red tape that has delayed pay raises for hundreds of thousands of workers. Its backlog of unsettled cases has declined by nearly half in the last two months, from 2,219 on Feb. 25 to 1,138 as of April 21, the board said Thursday.

The board's executive director, Robert Tiernan, said in an interview that even faster progress will be made in weeks to come.

Presently the board takes an average of 35 days to decide a case. Tiernan said that will be reduced to about 28 days within the next six weeks because the board has nearly completed drawing up detailed regulations and will begin turning its attention to individual cases.

Of 4,988 cases received so far, 2,112 didn't need any action by the Pay Board and were returned by the Internal Revenue Service with an explanation.

The cases involved fewer than 1,000 workers each, which generally don't require Pay Board action unless they are requests for exceptions to the board's 5.5-per-cent guideline.

The board has cleared its entire backlog of these cases, which now are handled mostly through the IRS.

The board also is whittling down its load of cases involving from 1,000 to 5,000 workers. These generally don't require advance approval, and are merely reported to the board. However, the staff must review the reports for any violations.

There are 766 of these cases remaining for action, down from 887 a month earlier.

The most important cases involve more than 5,000 workers or nonunion construction pay settlements. These require advance clearance. The board is barely holding its own in this area. There are 402 cases backed up, about the same as a month ago.

With the departure of four union members from the board and its subsequent transformation into an all-public, seven-member body, the board has set up a streamlined procedure for handling big cases.

Those that fall within guidelines, or meet requirements for standard exceptions, are reviewed by staff teams and ap-

He Nixes Little Black Book Offer

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath has sent a no-thanks reply to a member of Parliament who offered the bachelor leader his little black book to choose like-ly ladies to accompany him to public functions.

Heath told Laborite Leslie Huckfield, also a bachelor, in a written response distributed in the House of Commons that he would decline, "notwithstanding your kind offer of advice based on your own extensive experience."

proved by Chairman George H. Boldt.

Roughly three big cases in 10 require special treatment. They are submitted to a three-man subcommittee. If Boldt accepts the subcommittee's recommendation, the decision is final. If he doesn't, it goes before the board for a final decision.

Are You 55 Or Over? Make Money At Fair

The Howard County Committee on Aging is sponsoring the annual Spring Talent Fair Saturday in the Highland Center Mall featuring saleable items in the arts and crafts field as well as miscellaneous homemade items. Anyone 35 years of age or over may enter the handicraft fair, exhibiting articles which may be sold.

Miss Sherry Mullin, county home demonstration agent, said there will be adequate display space so that the public may view all entries. Any homemade items will be accepted for sale with the full purchase price going to the entrant. Each participant will handle their sales and be prepared to make change. Items suggested for entry include crocheting, knitting, embroidery, aprons, handbags, coat hangers, wood carvings, handmade flowers, house plants of all kinds, home canned fruits, preserves, pickles, jellies, vegetables, pillows, quilts, afghans, ceramics, pillow cases, baked goods and most other handmade items.

All residents, age 55 and over wishing to participate in the fair should contact Miss Mullin to register and receive more details. Call the county extension office 267-8469.

Committee members who are assisting with the Talent Fair and may be contacted for additional information are John Clancy, chairman; Miss Bessie Love, Mrs. William R. Cashion, Mrs. Fred Hyer, Mrs. R. C. Thomas and Mrs. Hugh D. Williams.

The committee invites all area residents to come by Saturday to see the items on display, visit with the participants and make purchases. This will be an opportunity to buy hand made items for gifts or for personal use, at the same time providing creative people with additional personal income.

Two Join Altrusans

Mrs. G. W. Dawson and Mrs. Hervey Perry became members of Altrusans Club during initiation ceremonies Thursday at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. Ruby Billings conducted the ceremonies.

The new members were introduced by Mrs. Thirston Orenbaum, and assisting Mrs. Billings with initiation were Mrs. Dorothy Ragan, Mrs. Coy Nalley, Mrs. Lloyd Wooten and Mrs. M. S. Knowles.

Mrs. Bill Thompson presided and announced the Area 3 leadership training seminar will be held May 6 at Ramada Inn, San Angelo. Several local members plan to attend. Mrs. Thompson also announced it was her last meeting, as she and her family are moving to Las Vegas, Nev. for 12 weeks prior to Capt. Thompson's reassignment at Clovis, N.M.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Willard Sullivan. The next meeting is at 12 o'clock noon, May 11 at Coker's.

ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Fierro, 106 NW 8th, are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary today. Married April 28, 1947, both are natives of Big Spring and members of St. Thomas Catholic Church. Their three children are Martha, Cynthia and Gus Jr. Fierro is employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

'Hanger Appeal' Absent From Current Fashions

Mrs. Joe Gunning, buyer for Hemphill-Weils, narrated a style show of summer fashions for Howard County Young Homemakers Monday evening at Holiday Inn. Models were Mrs. Jerry Spence and Mrs. James Balios.

"We need to try on clothes this year, because the current fashions don't have hanger appeal," said Mrs. Gunning. She said jeans are now very fashionable. They are still cut with pockets and zippers, but are made in both casual and dressy fabrics. Other popular trends for summer include cuffed slacks, halter or backless dresses, body shirts and the layered look.

"Scarves are a necessity," said Mrs. Gunning. "and long dresses for evening are an absolute must. Nothing that you wear should touch your natural waistline. Dresses can be long, short or Empire-waisted. They can come very near your natural waistline, but can't touch it."

Mrs. Gunning said summer prints all have something to do with ecology and may feature bugs, flowers or animals. Teenagers are turning to 100 per cent cotton for many of their clothes, and she said new colors for fall are mauve and purple. Mrs. Gunning stressed that your clothes should always be chosen in accordance with your figure and personality.

The group will meet again at 7:30 p.m., May 22 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room, with Mrs. Mike McCreary as hostess. A program on cholesterol will be presented.

Quilts Completed By Sewing Club

The Sew and Chatter Club has completed two quilts which are ready for tacking, according to an announcement by Mrs. S. R. Nobles during the club's Thursday meeting in the home of Mrs. Lewis Murdoch, 606 E. 17th. During the afternoon, the women did needlework, crochet and beading. Dessert and coffee were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be May 10 in the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main.

Convention Set For Settles Hotel

Her subject will be "Togetherness." The banquet will be held Saturday evening at the hotel.

Miss Rosetta Brown, club president, presided Wednesday, and the invocation was by Mrs. Bobbie Williams. Mrs. Ethel Wakefield became a member of the club.

The next meeting will be May 10 in the home of Mrs. Annie Huey with Mrs. Marie McCreary as hostess.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: I live in a rather dry climate and we don't need a raincoat very often, but when we do we need it in a hurry for a sudden shower.

I have a plastic raincoat with an attached hood that I like very much. It folds into a very small packet that I can carry in my purse.

The sad part of the story is it tore apart at the seams in spots and also had a hole in the front. I couldn't find another coat, but did find a way to mend it.

I laid the torn seams over each other and covered them with a piece of brown wrapping paper (part of a grocery bag, really), then pressed quickly with a medium-hot iron.

It mended! Stuck like iron-on mending tape.

Then I used a square of plain unlettered bread wrapper over the hole in the front and with a covering of brown paper pressed it into place for an absolutely perfect patch!

I can now wear my favorite raincoat for another season or two and I feel very clever about saving a dollar.

Don't forget to use brown paper for protection against the hot iron, and don't let the iron come in direct contact with the plastic. . . . Sarah

Dear Heloise: This idea comes from my younger sister who is an angel with children.

She sprinkles colored sugar on the top of hot cereal and the preschoolers love it. . . . Karen Bell.

Dear Heloise: We had a small rock thrown through our kitchen window. The glass was scattered in the space between the inside window and the outside storm window.

I used a dustpan and brush to sweep up the glass. The dustpan was a child's sand shovel; the brush, a paint brush! It worked!

I use this same trick when I need a dustpan and brush in a very small place where regular ones are too big. . . . Mrs. Mary Kolod

Dear Heloise: I just had a terrific idea! It was so terrific that it excited me, thus my letter. I'm always going out the door to run errands and forgetting to take something like letters to mail, for instance.

I just finished letters to my family and will go out later to mail them.

Now the idea: put them in the plastic bag your newspaper arrived in, cut a hole in the side of the bag a few inches down from the top and hang on the knob of your door. When you go out the door you can't forget them because you can't open the door without seeing and feeling them. . . . A Reader

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

A LOVELIER YOU Is Skin Wrong Size? Heed Warning Signs

By MARY SUE MILLER
Overheard at a beauty salon: "My skin doesn't fit my face. It has come loose at my jaw and droops under my chin. I didn't think this would happen to me until I was too old to care. Well, I'm not that old and I care terribly. I need advice."

What was said next became inaudible. But it is hoped that the lady was assured that a woman never gets "too old to care." And that is why she should always take very special care of herself. Lack of it causes aging before time.

In the throat and chin area, crepey conditions are hastened by faulty posture and inadequate attention to the skin. If the head were always carried erect — neck drawn out of the shoulders and chin tilted upward — the jaw and throat muscles would resist the laxity that age threatens.

As regards skin care, the neck is almost a victim of neglect. Honestly now, how often do you apply a cream to your face and stop short at the chin?

Whenever you apply cleanser, emollient or moisturizer, it should be massaged upward from the base of the throat to the hairline. In addition, the fortieth birthday signals the need for throat creams. These are formulated to firm and tone the special texture of the throat complexion.

It is never too late to begin the program. The measure will help to keep good skin from going to bad, to worse.

DRY SKIN BEAUTY

For ways to keep past-30 skin smooth and dewy, order my leaflet, "New Beauty For Dry Skin." It tells in personalized steps how to cleanse, correct, protect and make up for dryness. Carat Weight For Diamonds

NEW YORK (UPI) — The standard measure for diamonds is the carat weight. A carat is divided into 100 points. Most engagement diamonds are about 50 points or 1/2 carat.

When giving the carat weight of an engagement ring, the jeweler should give the exact weight of the center stone and the total weight of all the flanking diamonds, if there are any.

Mrs. L. Thackrey Instructs Lodge

Mrs. Lee Thackrey conducted lodge instruction Tuesday evening when John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153 met in the IOGF Hall. The program dealt with questions asked by Nettie Morris, Rebekah Assembly secretary, at the March 18 Grand Lodge meeting. A funeral practice was led by Mrs. J. C. Pye, after which Mrs. Pye's birthday was observed.

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you have a good chance to find out the specific manner in which to handle duties satisfactorily. Make notes in your head as well as on paper, on best ways to accomplish a particular course of action, and then proceed with it. Good also for personally having up your surroundings.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Know what your true responsibilities are, and then do your best to discharge them sensibly. Don't neglect important governmental matters, or you get into trouble later on. Make your home more attractive, comfortable.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Come to a better understanding with a partner with whom you have disagreed of late. Get to the root of the matter that is bothering him. Many situations arise that show you where your position is with the public in general.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you tackle that work before you were vim and vigor, you find you accomplish a great deal today and tonight. Plan a little time for improving your health. Stop letting others set the best of you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of details now for any recreational pleasure you have planned and they will work out much better. Show emotional attachment, great devotion, and even the backing you need for pet projects. Don't be glib.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan your routines of home much better so you have more leisure time and do not get so tired. Some shift for the better who is not feeling up to par is wise. Do not permit some tooth trouble to go unattended.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out early for that shopping and visiting that will put you in touch with interesting people. Secure the data you need, also. Some letter you receive can open new doors of opportunity for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You have many practical details to take care of today that will help get all of your material affairs in better order. Pay bills, and don't forget to collect what is rightfully coming to you. Avoid arguments, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You have many personal duties to handle, and this is the right day for that. Then get out to a social affair, and make the new acquaintance who can help you reach your aims faster. Drive expertly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can get needed information factually from those who have backing, but you and your plans can succeed. Anything of a confidential nature should be kept secret. Take it now tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can count on a good friend for the advice you need to gain goals more quickly and easily. Attend that social event that is important, which will help you meet the right people. Make your life more worthwhile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Analyze your work duties well to see whether you are using right methods and getting right results, otherwise reorganize them now. Handle that civic work well that can be most helpful in your business life, also. Think.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are able now to get added data concerning that new project you want to become a part of your life, and can study the details well. A new contact's ideas are quite good, but not all of them. Separate the wheat from the chaff.

Confused Policy

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A theater in downtown Nashville altered its bookings policy this week and began showing movies other than those which are X-rated.

The first movie shown under the new policy was "Carnal Knowledge."

Opening lead: Eight of ♠ South was trying for a physical impossibility in today's hand, for unless the cards had been misdealt, there was no way his line of play could possibly land the four heart contract. A simple count of the adverse distribution as the play developed would have uncovered the only chance for success on the deal.

North opened the bidding with one club and East made a preemptive jump overall of two spades. Although the taking of nine tricks would have been routine, North could hardly try three no trump over partner's free bid of three hearts lacking a stopper in spades. When he rebid four clubs, South persisted to four hearts and the auction subsided.

West opened the eight of spades, East played the ace and returned the suit—West ruffing away South's king with the deuce of hearts. The shift was to the king of diamonds which was taken by dummy's ace. A heart was led to the king, followed by the ace, and, somewhat surprisingly, West showed out on the second round—revealing that East had a trump trick.

With the defensive book in, declarer was anxious to dispose of his diamond loser, so he proceeded to cash dummy's clubs in the hope that East would follow suit long enough for South to obtain the needed discard. East held only a doubleton club, however, and after ruffing the third round with the queen of hearts, he exited with a spade and declarer was permanently disconnected from dummy. In the end he was obliged to surrender the setting trick in diamonds to West.

South's line of play could succeed only if East had been dealt 14 cards originally. He has already shown up with seven spades, one diamond, and three hearts after West takes a discard on the second round of trumps. This accounts for 11 of East's cards, so he can have, at most, two clubs. South should, in fact, hope that that is his opponent's actual holding, for now success becomes assured.

By simply playing a third round of trumps and giving East his trump trick, the latter—who has no more diamonds—must exit with a spade. Declarer ruffs and now can run the clubs with complete confidence. When the suit divides three-two, the ten of diamonds is discarded on the fourth round and South claims his contract, having lost the ace of spades, a spade ruff, and one heart trick.

Dog's Leash Law Ignored

TO THE EDITOR:
I should like to join Mrs. Pat Grigg in protesting against the dogs that are allowed to roam the neighborhoods, turning over garbage cans, tearing up daily newspapers, and leaving piles of refuse all over front yards.

It does no good to call the city pound as nothing is done about the situation. There is supposed to be a leash law in Big Spring, but it is not enforced. Many dog owners in the neighborhood of West 17th, 16th and 15th streets let their dogs out although they have fenced-in yards and could keep these dogs in their own yards.

I have been chased in my small car by a huge dog on the corner of 16th Street and Pennsylvania. This dog is joined by a pack of other dogs who roam up and down the alleys and across yards. Some of my shrubs have almost been dug up by these dogs who are after the bloodmeal fertilizer.

If people are going to have dogs, they should keep them at home.

They Can't Keep Their Mouth Shut?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dentistry is an ideal profession for women, yet they continue to shun it, says Dr. C.A. Laughlin, president of the American Dental Association.

During a visit for the 75th annual meeting of the Southern California Dental Association, Laughlin told newsmen that only 1.2 per cent of the nation's dentists are women and the number is declining annually.

Women should consider dentistry, he added, because they would be able to "set their own hours, establish a part-time practice from their homes and serve their family as well as patients."

Unlimited Space Not Necessary For Garden

You don't need unlimited acreage to enjoy the fun and challenge of home vegetable gardening. Flower beds, nooks, along fence rows and border areas

You Can Grow Anything If You Give It Enough Care

Home gardeners, especially those who are getting interested in the fascinating hobby or who are new to this section — often ask: "What can I grow?"

Just about anything. While the climate in this area generally is warm and dry, that doesn't mean that you can't grow certain delicate plants. Judicious planting and extra care and proper feeding will bring them through. This accounts for many exotic plants flourishing in this locale — perhaps foreign to their native habitat.

There are, however, a number are excellent places to grow green, colorful, tasty vegetables the year around.

The most common error in home gardening, however, is to try to grow too much at one time.

Many vegetable plants are as ornamental as they are useful. The only thing — you have to water, weed and feed them as you would in a regular garden plot. Beware of excessive shading. Most plants need full sun during most of the day.

Select spreading or low-growing or dwarf types if using in or around beds. Radishes, turnips, parsley, endive or lettuce are good ones to put in flower beds.

The Tiny Time dwarf cherry tomato plant is highly ornamental, and besides it puts on succulent salad fruit. Strawberries make a good early fall border plant.

Other plants which fit into the landscape are okra, which is especially good where tall screening plants are needed; pole green beans or lima beans on trellises or fences, and sweet potato and cucumber vines in similar locations.

Other plants which may be put almost anywhere and flourish are egg plant, bell peppers (it only takes two or three to supply the average family). If space allows, the globe artichoke makes a beautiful spreading plant. Plan your space and you will be surprised how much food you can produce while having beautiful plants, too.

Tomatoes May Be Your Best Vegetable

Few, if any vegetables, are more popular for the home gardener than the tomato.

But an enemy of the plant is the nematode. This is a tiny parasite which cannot be seen with the naked eye, but which nevertheless can cause the plant to appear to wilt, despite good moisture conditions, and eventually to wither and die. An examination of the root system will reveal serious root gall (knots which become a part of the root system).

There are several approaches to this problem. One is to use pre-plant chemicals, which are detrimental to all living organisms in the soil and cannot be used around established plants. Usually, a 6- to 8-inch trench is dug where the plant root zone is to be, then the liquid or other type chemical applied, and covered promptly to preserve maximum effect. The use of airtight films over the surface also can improve results.

Another method of treatment is the use of nematocides which can be used in side dressing of nematode-infested plants. If food producing plants are to be treated in this manner, make sure all label precautions related to chemical rate and plant growth are followed carefully.

Another way around the problem — or at least to mitigate it, is to use the Nematex tomato plants. These are resistant to most species of root knot nematodes and to fusarium wilt, gray leaf spot and alternaria collar rot.

An added advantage is that the plants produce a round, attractive fruit resistant to cracking; has a small blossom-end scar, and have compact plant and good foliage. Best of all, they have a record of good productivity. For instance, in a comparison of production with Homestead 24, a good standard variety, the Nematex out-produced the Homestead every time. In most cases there was a margin of 10 to 60 per cent, although in a number of test plots, the Nematex yield was nearly three times as high.

The county agent's office has a good bulletin (L-698) on the Nematex variety; also on control of plant parasitic nematodes around the home and garden (L-781). Pamphlet (L-475) furnishes a wealth of information about other tomato diseases.

Memory Expert Offers Program

Mrs. Harvey (Minette) Drake of Oklahoma City, a memory expert, gave an exhibition of her skills before members of the Kiwanis Club at noon here Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Drake are teaching a course, "Indexing the Mind," at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene and Odessa College, as well as at Howard County JC.

In introductory remarks, Mrs. Drake quipped that her husband did not appear with her "because he forgot." In fact, Drake was fulfilling a business mission in Odessa.

Mrs. Drake fascinated her audience with her ability to recall numbers placed on a blackboard located behind her back. Guests of the club were Roy Sutherland and Eddie Greenville.

Dollars For Water Go Further If You Do Job Thoroughly

You can be sure of one thing in West Texas — you'll have to irrigate your yard or garden at some time during the growing season, and possibly regularly.

It makes good sense to follow practices which will stretch your water dollars the furthest while getting the most desirable results. If there is one basic rule for this country, it is water more thoroughly but less often. (An exception is in starting a seeded Bermuda grass lawn, which calls for you to use a spray regularly in order to keep the surface moist until the young grass has begun to put out blades.)

Watering slowly but longer permits the water to penetrate deeper so that roots will be pulled to the lower zone and away from the hot area near the surface. This is true with grass; it is true with flowers; it is true with shrubs and trees. In the latter instance, a good practice is to leave the hose running slowly, perhaps overnight, to get maximum penetration. Also, a wider trench area around the base of the tree gives the water exposure to a wider area of the root system.

Hand sprinkling generally is ineffective, and can even be harmful when it results in keeping the roots near the surface. However, occasionally, it does plants good to be sprayed or sprinkled well in the late evening to wash the foliage.

FROM AGENT Wealth Of Information Is Available For Gardeners

Once upon a time the county agent was considered an advisor to farmers only — but not any more.

Good Care— Good Lawns

Whether your lawn is new or has been flourishing for several years, it requires care for maximum beauty and utility.

For one thing, lawns can become bumpy, particularly those that have been in use. Correcting this is relatively simple. A few spadefuls of top soil in low areas can be smoothed with a rake or board and thus remove the humps. It's not necessary to get it as level as a billiard table or smooth as glass.

Before the grass starts to grow in the spring, you can set your mower low and cut off a lot of dead matter. Once the grass begins to grow, gradually raise the cutting level until eventually the turf is 2 to 2½ inches high.

This does two things. For one, the grass leaves furnish food for the plant, and to persist in close cropping means that the root system doesn't get the proper nourishment to sustain it in times of stress. For another — and perhaps more important — the thicker turf shades the roots and helps preserve moisture while protecting the plant in hot summer days.

Today's county agent is equipped by training and experience to help urban dwellers with their lawn and garden problems. From their working knowledge of plant diseases and nutritional problems, they usually can spot trouble individuals may be having with flowers, shrubs and trees. If it is something out of the ordinary, they can send samples to extension service specialists who can pinpoint the difficulty.

The same applies with insect problems. The agency generally can diagnose what insect, fungus or spore is damaging a plant and thus come up with a specific antidote.

Moreover, there are at the agent's office a wealth of publications dealing with just about any subject pertaining to your plants, soil or controlling insects or disease. One such is "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Diseases" (MP 999) which has numerous charts to identify the insect or disease, the time of application, mode of application, time laps from treatment to harvest, and other information. All you have to do is ask for these help.

Pastor Stops The Clock; Quartet Performs Tonight

By MYRNA McFADIN
The Rev. Collins Moore Jr. will literally stop the clock this Sunday!

All members of the Hillcrest Baptist Church are urged to NOT MAKE THE TIME CHANGE until after church services Sunday. Pastor Moore says this system worked well for them last year, and the church will operate on Central Standard Time until 12 noon Sunday.

The Hillcrest Baptist is beginning an Evangelical Crusade Sunday with the Rev. E. V. Brooks, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Cross Plains, Tex. He will be preaching in the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services Sunday and every evening during the week at 7:30. James Kinman, new music director of the church, will be leading the singing.

Rev. Brooks has pastored churches in Tye, Colorado City, San Angelo and Ballinger. He preached a revival meeting at Hillcrest 18 years ago. Pastor Moore is looking forward to a great meeting and invites everyone to attend. There will be special music from people outside of the church every night of the meeting.

"We are looking forward to a time of evangelism, not revival," the church held a three-night clinic last week on soul-winning. "We taught people how to witness, then took them out and showed them how," said Rev. Moore. "A total of 20 went out and 10 made professions of faith in the home."

The Weatherford Quartet from Yukon, Okla., will perform Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, 5th and State.

The Weatherfords are recognized as one of the foremost groups in the Gospel Music field today. They have been leaders in this field for more than 20 years for their uniqueness in sound and style. Their desire is to convey the song's message. Their harmonies provide beautiful music and deliver a theme of God's love.

The Weatherfords consider Gospel singing a ministry, not just an occupation. They sing with sincerity and heartfelt consecration. Pastor Phillip Corley urges you to see them in person.

The group includes Earl Weatherford, Lily Fern Weatherford, Gale Tackett and Debbie McQueen.

REV. COLLINS MOORE JR.

DAN McCLINTON

Dan G. McClinton minister of music and education at the Baptist Temple, recently was one of the participants in a workshop on "Administering a Day Care Program" at the Church Program Training Center in Nashville, Tenn.

Sponsored by the church administration department of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, the seminar was directed by Bill Halbert, consultant.

A delegation of Nazarene church members from Big Spring and surrounding areas will take part in the annual West Texas district assembly in Lubbock May 24-25.

The Rev. E. Wales Lankford, minister to the local congregation will head the delegation. Other delegates are Mrs. Claude Vaughn, Mrs. Billy Dixon, Mrs. O. L. Elrod, Mrs. Linda Lankford, Mrs. Lloyd Hall, Mrs. Jerry Spears and Roger Gareth.

Saturday young people from the Church of the Nazarene will be taking a trip to Monahan State Park. These young people are very active. They meet with all churches in the area — the West Texas Ambassadors — the first Saturday of every month, and have brought home the attendance banner for the past three times. They will meet May 6 in Petersburg.

Mrs. Dale McGuire and Mrs. Wanda Hawkins direct the Palmyra youth group of the church.

Beginning May 3, 30-minute films will be shown every Wednesday evening at 8:45 for patients at the Veterans Hospital as part of the Bible study program conducted by Chaplain A. C. Hicks.

This series of 26 films, "An Introduction to the Old Testament," was produced by Dr. Edward Bauman, associate professor of philosophy and religion at the American University, Washington, D.C. In this series Dr. Bauman discusses the literary values and problems of the Old Testament and its spiritual significance.

Any group interested in seeing these films on a regular basis may contact Chaplain Hicks for arrangements.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church met Tuesday with Mrs. Dale Vaughn, president, presiding.

The following new officers were elected: Mrs. H. C. Ernsting, treasurer; Mrs. W. N. Norred, secretary and reporter; Mrs. Kenneth Lunsford, fellowship chairman.

The Bell Choir, directed by Mrs. Joe Dawes, sang "Rejoice, the King is Coming" and "Good News." Mrs. Bill Moore reviewed the book "A New Song," by Pat Booce. It was announced that members will be furnishing cookies for the State Hospital during May. Members will be attending a district meeting May 4 in Snyder.

Mrs. Lunsford gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Thomas Crowin read the devotional. The Reba Thomas Circle served as hostesses. Mrs. Julian Patterson is program chairman.

The appointment of the Very Rev. Richard W. Wilson, Monroe, La., as archdeacon of the Northwest Texas Episcopal diocese has been announced by the Rt. Rev. Willis R. Henton, bishop of Northwest Texas.

Now rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, he will assume his duties June 1.

Former drug users Tim Phillips and Joe Brussert will be giving their testimonies Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church.

The day has been designated as National C.A. Day. These young men from San Antonio are a part of the Teen Challenge program. The public is welcomed to these services.

Seminary Course Ends

An extension class of Southwestern Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, composed of preachers and Christian workers, will climax Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. with a special demonstration at the Airport Baptist Church, 1208 Frazier. This will be used for observing the Lord's Supper.

The Rev. Arthur Thomas, pastor, said he felt his church observed the Lord's Supper ordinance a most reverent, unique way. "It is almost sacrilegious the way some churches irreverently carry on this sacred observance of our saving Lord, and I have tried to restore the respect and reverence due this church ordinance," said the Rev. Thomas.

Ask For Date

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I own my own business, and I hire many high school students for part-time work. Abby, you cannot imagine how many parents call me and ask if I have a job for Mary or Billy!

If Mary or Billy want to work, they should be asking, "Having Mamma or Dad ask for them doesn't say much for their child's initiative."

I feel it is important for young people to work, and I give as many of them a break as I can, but I have made it a policy NEVER to hire anyone whose mother or father calls and asks me to put their child to work. If a boy or girl is old enough to draw a salary, he is old enough to ask for a job.

I am sure other employers share my viewpoint. And if this letter helps to wake up just one teenager, it will have been worth the time I took to write it.

EMPLOYER: I'm glad you wrote. I'm sure you work more than just one teenager. (And a few parents, too.)

DEAR ABBY: Last January my nephew (I'll call him George) married a girl I'll call Martha. Although we all live in the same town, George didn't bring Martha around to meet any of the family, and the first time most of us saw her was at the wedding.

After two months of marriage, George and Martha separated.

Everyone in the family gave them very nice and expensive wedding gifts, all of which Martha thinks she is entitled to keep.

Don't you think that because it was such a short marriage George should keep everything they got from HER side of the family, and Martha should keep everything from HER side?

Please print what is proper in your column, because Martha never misses it. GEORGE'S AUNT

DEAR AUNT: It is proper under the circumstances that all gifts be returned.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I remarked on the number of letters in your column from couples who were married 20 years or more and have made a mess of their marriages. What is wrong with people anyway?

When a person seeks employment and gets a job he wants, does he sit back and relax just because he got the job? No! He works at it.

That's the way it is with marriage. It has to be worked at. The wife and I will be married 25 years in November. We have three children, one married, one engaged, and the third practically out of the nest, but we have never put our children before each other. That's the first rule.

Let's face it, the biggest job is the wife's. My wife is up, her hair out of curlers, make-up on and dressed in the morning before she wakes me up, and breakfast is on the burner by the time I'm finished shaving. And when I return in the evening, she's not slouched over the TV or a magazine, with hair uncombed, dirty apron and the bit. She's bathed, fresh dress on, make-up intact and she greets me with a smile and a kiss. And no matter how tired I am, I come alive again. She's a jewel, a gem and a queen.

I'm not saying we don't have our differences. What couple doesn't? But our marriage is working because we both WORK at it. And the job is never finished.

STILL WORKING: Your "work" sounds like a pleasure because you've set up ideal working conditions. Bless you and your "queen," and may you celebrate your 50th.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ANONYMOUS, PLEASE": The man who is your legal husband at the time of your baby's birth is the baby's legal father. No ifs, ands or buts. You should see a lawyer anyway.

BUZZ SAWYER

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any harm in taking an enema every day? I have been taking one every night for seven months before I go to bed. The purpose is to help me lose weight.

My doctor advised me to lose weight to get my blood pressure down. I joined Weight Watchers and have lost 40 pounds in seven months.

I am 73 and very spry and active. I eat a lot of vegetables. Now that I have reached my goal I would like to get away from the enemas, but I do not know how many days I should wait for a normal bowel movement. — Mrs. E.C.

Wait at least three or four days. The reason: the bowel does not empty itself until

In passing, readers who are plagued with constipation, either real or self-induced, will find a more detailed explanation on how the colon does its work, and how to help instead of hinder it, in my booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." It's available in return for 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

However, Mrs. E. C., I don't think you need the booklet. Just give your colon a few days to adjust, and it doubtless will.

I must point out, however, that the enemas didn't help you lose any weight. All you were doing was washing out, somewhat ahead of time, the waste material from which your digestive tract had already extracted the nutrition.

You lost the weight by learning how to eat fewer calories. Stick to the vegetables!

Dear Doctor: How difficult and/or serious is a hair transplant, for the purpose of filling the recession at the temples? Except for that I have a full head of hair.

Is a transplant the only solution? I am 25, and not concerned about the cost.

Hair transplantation is a successful and accepted procedure; it requires a physician skilled in that technique but is not serious in the sense of dangerous or incapacitating.

Your situation sounds like a suitable one for this type of work, and I don't know of any other method. It is not inexpensive, since it is a tedious procedure. It is necessary to take tiny pellets or "plugs" from areas where hair can be spared, and transplant them where wanted.

The cost would depend, of course, on how many such pellets need to be transplanted. Dermatologists (although not all of them) do this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does coffee stunt your growth? I am 14 and 5-foot-4, and I drink coffee in the morning, but I want to grow some more and will stop the coffee if it stunts growth. — LISA.

At 14 you may be pretty close to your full height anyway. Coffee won't stunt your growth, but too much of it can bother your nerves. If it's just a cup in the morning, I wouldn't worry about it.

TEEN FORUM

ANGRY LETTER: (Q.) My mother and daddy got a divorce. His "girl friend" has been married three or four times. I'm really built up inside about it, so I have written her a letter to let her know how much I've enjoyed her little tricks. What I want to know is whether I send it. Here is a copy of it:

"Mrs. X.:
"I don't see how, in the name of God, my daddy fell for a person like you. You really deserve him, after all the trouble you went through getting him.... You knew good and well he was married and had two kids.... You just don't know what you've put my mother, my brother and me through....
Should I send it? — Father Lost in Maryland.
(A.) I understand your deep feelings, and certainly wish I could do something magic to make you feel better fast. I don't believe that sending the letter (which I have shortened considerably here) would make you feel better. However, just trying to.

writing it may have been what you needed to do.
Please pray that not only you but all the others concerned will find a happier future. I pray you will and I also believe you will, if you will work toward it rather than wasting your time in anger about what is already history.

HEAVY FRIEND: (Q.) We had a school dance. The girls asked the boys. This girl asked me. She was overweight and my friends teased me. It didn't bother me, but it hurt her feelings. Another dance is coming up. I would sort of like to ask her, but am afraid they would hurt her feelings again. Should I? — Interested in New York.

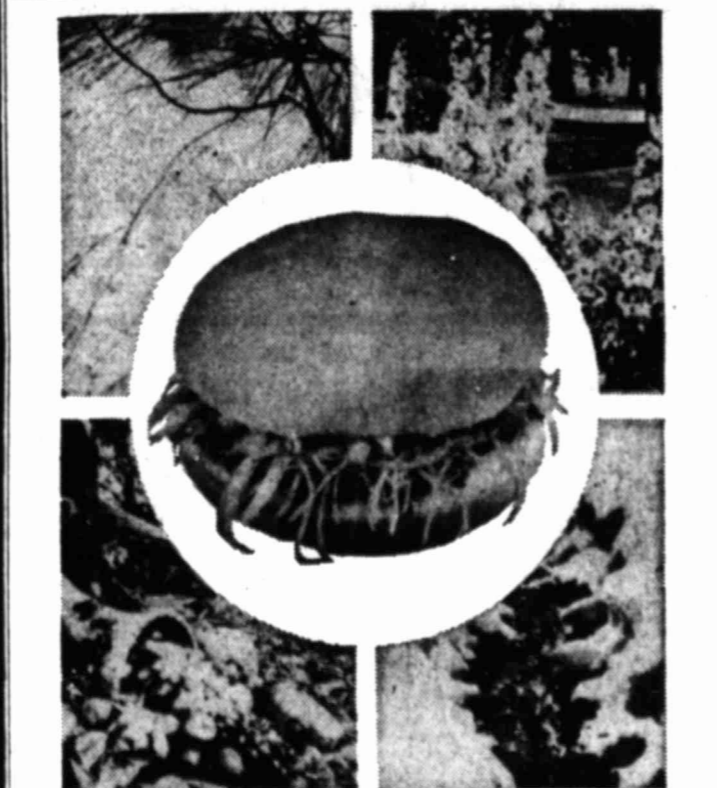

(A.) If you like her, ask her. Do not be intimidated by what your friends say. If she says yes you will know she is not intimidated. When your friends see you are not going to let them stop you from going with a girl you like they will stop trying to.

Nation's Trade Deficit Climbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 1972 trade deficit surged in March to a record three-month figure of $1.5 billion, the Commerce Department said Thursday.

A trade deficit occurs when the value of foreign goods brought into the country exceeds the value of American goods taken out.

The department said the $584.3-million deficit in trade accounts in March was slightly smaller than the February red ink figure, but for January, February and March combined, the deficit exceeded the previous largest quarterly deficit by about $178 million.

It was during the last three months of 1971 that the previous largest quarterly deficit was recorded.

Government officials say a trade deficit is bad because it increases the nation's balance-of-payments deficit and puts pressure on the stability of the dollar. But it also means that consumers are not letting up in their demand for imported items.

The Commerce Department said the size of the deficit "probably reflected both the divergent economic growth rates here and abroad, and the initial impact of the recent adjustments in exchange rates."

The deficit was so bad last year that President Nixon launched a new economic policy and suspended the nation's pledge to convert dollars into gold.

For the last several months, the administration has blamed the large deficits on distortions caused by a lingering dock strike. But the March deficit was recorded, after the strike was over.

The administration expects the deficit to linger for several months but anticipates gradual improvements and even a "fighting chance" of a small 1972 surplus, the department said.

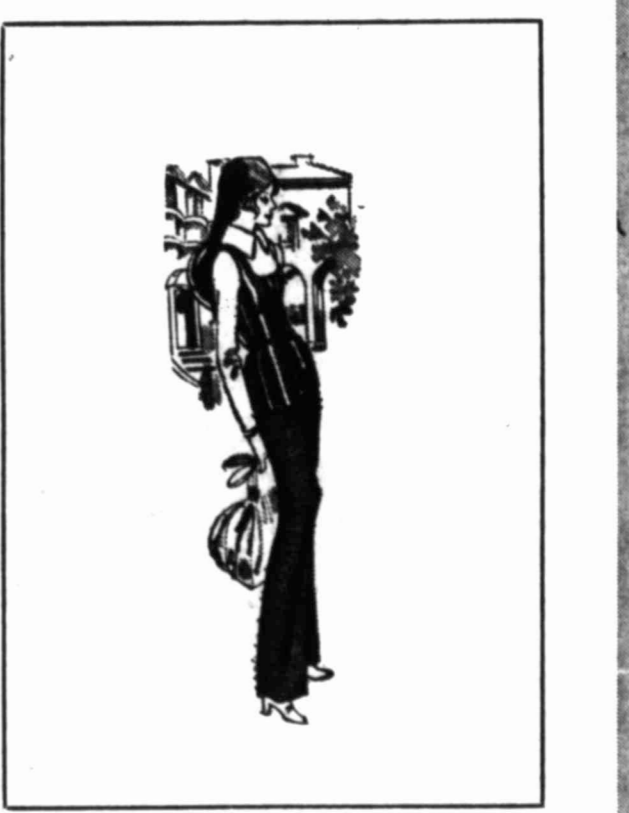

On Capitol Hill, the House Ways and Means Committee may open hearings on protective trade legislation because of mounting complaints that U.S. industries are suffering from foreign competition.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills said in an interview, "Something has to be done. Too many companies are saying they are being driven to the wall."

Mills has generally preferred voluntary agreements to more stringent protective measures such as import quotas. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has said the administration opposes strict protectionist legislation.

The United States was accustomed to big trade surpluses until the situation worsened in 1971.
