McGOVERN REMAINS STRONG FAVORITE

Voting Hot, Heavy In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voting got off to a brisk start today in California's vital primary with Sen. George McGovern rated the favorite to capture the state's 271 delegates and take a big step toward winning the Democratic presidential nomination.

In the first hour after the polls opened at 7 a.m., about 3 per cent of the voters had voted in Los Angeles County. Election officials predicted 70 per cent of the county's 3,233,825 registered voters would cast ballots. The polls were scheduled to close at 8 p.m.

It was warm, muggy and overcast in much of California.

Presidential primaries also were being held in New Jersey, New Mexico and South Dakota with McGovern expected to take a majority of their 144 delegates.

In New Jersey, early turnout reports appeared to confirm predictions that about 840,000 voters would cast ballots there.

In South Dakota, election officials said they expected about 150,000 persons or about half of the state's eligible voters to go to the polls.

Weather was mostly clear in New Mexico and voting around the state was described as light to moderate.

"I'm going to predict here this afternoon we'll win all four of the primaries," McGovern told several thousand cheering supporters in Albuquerque, N.M., Monday before flying to Houston, Tex., to confer with Democratic governors.

Success in the four primaries could shoot McGovern's delegate total past the 850 mark—1,509 are needed to nominate—and virtually end Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's hopes of winning the Democratic nomination for the second time.

If Humphrey defeats McGovern in California, however, McGovern's surge toward the nomination would be halted and the presidential race would be thrown wide open with Humphrey as the new front runner. Both men have predicted the California winner will capture the nomination.

Besides the presidential primaries, voters in Montana and Mississippi are choosing candidates for state and congressional posts. Sens. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., are all expected to win re-nomination.

After today's four presidential primaries, only one will remain—in New York, which will elect 238 of its 278 delegates on June 20. McGovern, virtually unopposed in more than one dozen New York congressional districts, expects to win at least 200 delegates there.

As two weeks of hectic California campaigning wound down Monday, McGovern made final stops in Los Angeles and San Diego before flying to Albuquerque and Houston.

He described a two-hour midnight meeting with 22 Democratic governors in Houston as "enormously beneficial." He said he compromised none of his stands on controversial issues but promised to oppose "frivolous" challenges to delegates at the party's national convention.

Humphrey, meanwhile, covering California from Oakland to Los Angeles to San Diego, assailed McGovern's decision to go to New Mexico and Texas.

"I think he should be here in California and not take these voters for granted," the Minnesota senator said.

Referring to the inability of the two camps to work out arrangements for a fourth televised debate, Humphrey said, "If he wants to take a powder, that's all right. But I wanted to talk to him about some things."

He said his own polls show his support coming up and received a last-day boost when Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, one of the eight Democrats on the California ballot, urged his backers to vote for Humphrey. Polls show Yorty with about 1 per cent.

Republicans are also holding presidential primaries in the four states today. The only question is how many California Republicans will back conservative Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, who is challenging President Nixon in the California GOP primary.

In the presidential primaries, this is the situation:

CALIFORNIA — All 271 delegates will go to the top man in the statewide Democratic presidential preference vote. Besides McGovern and Humphrey, six other candidates are on the ballot and a write-in campaign could put Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace into third place.

468 PERSONS FEARED DEAD

Mine Disaster

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)

— A total of 468 coal miners are feared dead in the worst mining disaster in Rhodesia's history, a spokesman for the Wankie Colliery said today.

A major underground explosion occurred this morning at the mine about 200 miles north of Bulawayo, the spokesman said.

He said 435 Africans and 33 whites were underground in the mine at the time, and there was no indication of any survivors.

Rescuers were hampered by gas and by damage to the ventilation system.

The world's worst mining disaster occurred in Manchuria in 1942, when 1,549 workers were killed in the Honkeiko Colliery. The worst in the United States was on Dec. 6, 1907, when 361 died at Monongah, W. Va.

A spokesman at the Wankie Mine Hospital said only four miners had been admitted with injuries. They were four surface workers injured as a result of the underground explosion. The spokesman could not describe their injuries or say how they were caused.

There was no explanation of what caused the blast.

The Wankie Colliery, owned by the giant Anglo-American Group, produces about 3½ million tons of coal a year. It supplies all Rhodesia's coal needs.

It formerly was also the main coal supplier to the Sambian copperbelt mines, but the amount of Wankie coal imported by Zambia has been drastically reduced in the last few years as Zambia developed its own coal resources.

The Wankie mine also produces about 400,000 tons of coke a year, which supplies Rhodesia's needs and also is exported to South Africa, Europe and elsewhere.

SCENE OF PEDESTRIAN'S DEATH — Officers Dave Sutton and John Wolf (kneeling) chalk off the spot on the Gregg Street viaduct here where shortly before 8 a.m. today Mrs. Samantha Weatherall was killed by a car as she attempted to walk from one pedestrian lane to another. The man with camera in hand is Warrant Officer Melvin Darratt.

Viaduct Walk Proves Fatal To BS Woman

A woman pedestrian was killed in early morning traffic today on the Gregg Street viaduct when she was struck by a car.

The woman, Samantha Weatherall, 38, 806 NW 5th, was hit by an automobile driven by Elvis Frazier Knowlton, Knott Route, at 8 a.m.

Frazier was driving south when the woman apparently stepped out in front of the car, according to investigating officer Ken Blackington. No charges were filed in connection with the case.

Mrs. Weatherall was declared dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Services are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home for Mrs. Weatherall, who was employed by Hemphill-Wells and was a member of the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church. She apparently was on her way to work.

FOR SPECIAL ELECTION Polls Are Open Until 7 p.m.

Bill Tippen, an attorney from Abilene, is the only name on the ballot today as voters go to the polls to select someone to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of former State Senator David Ratliff, D-Stamford.

Voting places were to remain open until 7 p.m. today, and all the voting places were the same as those used in Saturday's Democratic primary. Today's election was a non-partisan election.

Election judges in today's election and who have also been appointed by the Howard County Commission to serve in the November General Election are Ynez Yanez, Box 1, Northside Fire Station; Raforad Dunagan, Box 2, Washington Place School; John Bennett, Box 3, Eighteenth and Main Fire Station; and Billy T. Smith, Box 4, Fourth and Nolan (Central) Fire Station.

Additional judges are James Barr, Box 5, Vincent Baptist Church Education Building; O. R. Crow, Box 6, Gayhill School Building; Mrs. R. E. Haney, Box 7, R-Bar, Salem Church Education Building; L. R. Mundt, Box 8, Cedar Crest School Building; Mrs. David Grant, Box 9, Coahoma City Hall; Mrs. John Kubecka, Box 10, Forsan School Building; and J. Alden Ryan, Box 11, Centerpoint School Building.

Others are Edgar Phillips, Box 12, Prairie View Church Education Building; Larry Shaw, Box 13, Knott School Building; Robert Merrick, Box 13, Merrick's residence; Mrs. E. A. Fivash, Box 15, Runnels Junior High School Building; O. O. Craig, Box 16, Parkhill School Building; Mrs. Rachel Friebele, Box 17, white cottage on Lamesa Hwy. next to Pioneer Oil & Gas Discount Service Station; Mrs. Noel Hull, Box 18, Noel Hull residence, 2611 E. 25th; William Hull, Box 19, Elbow School Building; Cecil Hamilton, Box 20, Jonesboro Road Fire Station; Mrs. Horace Wallin, Box 21, Sand Springs-Midway Fire Station; and Hugh Duncan, Box 22 Eleventh and Birdwell Fire Station.

Murder Trial In Midland

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The murder trial of Stephen Combs, 27, was down to the testimony stage today after a jury was completed late Monday.

Combs is charged in the July 1970 stabbing death of Vickie Bernethy, 21, a student at North Texas State University in Denton.

Her body was found in a closet of the Combs residence in Midland.

After he was charged with murder, Combs was found insane and was sent to Rusk State Hospital. He was released from the hospital this year and was found sane by a Midland jury in May.

Debt Ceiling 'War' Starts In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was urged today not to give President Nixon's administration the $15-billion increase in borrowing power it seeks without trying to it provisions for review and reform of the income tax system.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Mitchell Rogovin, speaking for the self-styled citizens' lobby, Common Cause, gave the advice in testimony to the House Ways and Means Committee.

It runs directly counter to the expressed wishes of the administration, which told the committee Monday it does not favor combining tax reform and a debt ceiling raise now, but would be prepared to cooperate next year in a review of tax loopholes.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., author of a bill that would force a review of some 42 tax preferences by bringing them up for repeal over a three-year period, also has indicated he would prefer to have the matter dealt with apart from the issue of raising the present $450-billion limit on the public debt.

MALEVOLENT MOUSE POSES A PROBLEM

When a man bites a dog, that's news. So goes the musty definition of news. But when a mouse bites a boy, what's that?

That's a $10 statement from an animal clinic for keeping the mouse under observation for possible rabies.

"Since our school furnished the mouse and I only furnished the boy, I wondered if you would care to share the expense," wrote Mrs. Pew (W. D.) Broughton, 1601 East Sixth, whose son, Bruce, was clamped upon by the malevolent mouse. Bruce, said Mrs. Broughton, was twice called into the office to make sure "there was not a rabies outbreak in our schools."

School Business Manager Don Crockett hedged on the offer to split the costs. "It's been only three days since she wrote the letter and I haven't received my copy yet," he demurred.

Consolidation Of Richmond Schools Order Overturned

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A federal appeals court today overturned a landmark desegregation order for consolidation of Richmond city schools with those of two suburban counties, holding that a lower court judge exceeded his authority in directing the merger.

The 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in a 5-1 decision, said it found no constitutional violations in the way schools are operated in the predominantly black Richmond system and the predominantly white systems of Henrico and Chesterfield counties.

For this reason, it said, under limitations established by the U.S. Supreme Court, "it was not within the district judge's authority to order the consolidation."

Furthermore, the appeals court said, the U.S. district court judge allowed his concern for possible violations of the 14th Amendment to overshadow "a fundamental principle of federalism" embodied in the 10th Amendment.

The key question, it said, was whether a federal district judge could "compel one of the states of the Union to restructure its internal government for the purpose of achieving racial balance in the assignment of pupils to its public schools."

"We think not," the appeals court said, unless there is "invidious discrimination in the establishment or maintenance of local governmental units."

Therefore, the court said, it was reversing the Jan. 10 decision by U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr., the first ruling in which separate governmental entities had been ordered merged to attain racial balance in schools.

Richmond's public schools are 64 per cent black, while per cent white and those of Chesterfield 91 per cent white.

"The district judge felt compelled to order consolidation of the three school units partly because of his concern with what seemed to him an unfortunate racial balance in the three separate systems and partly because he felt this racial balance was the result of invidious state action," the circuit court said in the majority opinion by Judge J. Braxton Craven Jr.

"In his concern for effective implementation of the 14th Amendment," the opinion added, "he failed to sufficiently consider, we think, a fundamental principle of federalism incorporated in the 10th Amendment."

The appeals court also discounted one of the key contentions of the Richmond School Board, which filed the suit for consolidation on which Merhige ruled affirmatively.

Three Boys With 'Nothing To Do' Destroy Historical Pipe Organ

CANTON, Tex. (AP) — Three Canton boys — 8, 9, 10 years old — who roamed this East Texas town "with nothing to do," as they said, were under arrest today for the vandalism of a church and destruction of a historical pipe organ.

An antique Tracker pipe organ, valued at $30,000 by officials at First United Methodist Church, was destroyed by vandals early Friday. The organ was one of the first of its kind in Texas and was listed as a "historical organ" by the Texas State Historical Society.

Approximately $45,000 in vandalism has been linked to the three boys—two brothers and a close friend — D. W. Ward, Van Zandt County sheriff, said.

Don Reed, Van Zandt County juvenile officer, said, "The matter is complicated by the fact that only one of the boys—the 10-year-old—is accountable under the state's juvenile laws."

Reed said a hearing will be held in juvenile court.

"They have admitted to breaking out windows at the city's water purification plant, breaking soft bottles and damaging buses at the high school, and breaking into the Methodist Church earlier in the week," Ward said.

The sheriff said the boys admitted breaking into the church twice last week. On Wednesday

LONG BATH IN LUBBOCK

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Hal Halloway, 20, a Texas Tech student from Dallas, emerged at 3:31 a.m. today after 169 hours in his shower bath.

About his only significant comment was: "I don't think I'll take another bath for a long, long time."

Halloway and his friends said he hung up a new world record by staying in the shower at his Lubbock apartment for exactly one week and one hour.

This eclipsed the former mark credited to an unidentified Britisher, they reported.

Halloway refused to emerge from the shower even for meals and he slept, he said, there on an air mattress.

they broke light fixtures. Then they damaged the organ Friday.

The church was never closed, but the Rev. D. R. Box, the pastor, said that policy now must be changed.

Pipes from the organ were removed and smashed across pews. The organ keyboard, described as a beautiful one, was destroyed beyond repair.

The sheriff said the boys described their actions in detail and that their story fitted the physical facts.

"We are happy we have solved this matter but we are very sad, for all the boys are from broken homes where the mother has to work all day long to make a living," he said.

Killer Satellites Test Launch Talked

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Defense Department has decided to study the feasibility of a killer satellite system capable of intercepting, inspecting and destroying hostile space vehicles. The Soviet Union already has demonstrated this capability. The Air Force space and missile systems organization in Los Angeles asked industry on May 26 to submit proposals on the system. At least three companies are expected to be selected to conduct competitive studies.

Summer Field School Is Slated By Archeologists

KERRVILLE — One of the nation's strangest "schools" will attract approximately 300 young, middle-aged and aged "students" to the rugged Hill Country near Kerrville June 10-17.

The attraction is the 11th annual Texas Archeological Society Summer Field School. Attending will be farmers, ranchers, businessmen, doctors, dentists, housewives, secretaries, engineers and archeologists — of varied ages and walks of life. Their common interest is learning more about pre-history and how to preserve it. Attendees are all members of the Society and this year's registration quota, is, as usual, "sold out" early.

A heavily populated "TAS Tent City" will spring up in a valley south of Kerrville and be bustling for just one week. Attendees, many of them in family groups, will rough it in everything from pup tents to luxury trailers. A cooking crew will provide three meals daily.

SKINNER DIRECTOR — This year's school is unusual in that it will be held in the same area as the previous year's event, when the group located and mapped some 160 prehistoric Indian sites in a 100-square mile area — most of it in the picturesque hills southwest of Kerrville. And S. Alan Skinner of the Department of Anthropology, Southern Methodist University, will serve as school director for the second year.

While the prime purpose of the school is to educate TAS members in techniques of preserving pre-historic sites, last year's school resulted in the first methodical charting of many prehistoric locations in that part of the Hill Country. "Our major purpose is to locate, learn and record — not to remove artifacts or to destroy sites by mass digging," Skinner said. "Through this school we hope to reconstruct a picture of the past in this part of the Hill Country — without destroying that past. In most cases, artifacts found will be recorded, mapped, photographed, then left in place, so that evidence of importance to future archeologists will remain undisturbed."

Three pre-selected sites will be excavated by the TAS members to provide basic knowledge about Indian life in the area. One, a burned-rock midden deposit resulting from by some sort of a "death ray," perhaps a laser beam; by signals that would disrupt the payload's electronics, or by blowing up the American satellite, destroying both payloads.

"DEATH RAY"
Satellite explosion is the technique used by the Russians. Since 1968, the Soviets have successfully demonstrated their spacecraft killer system at least seven times, according to U.S. sources.

These sources say the successful tests involved 12 separate launches of Cosmos satellites. Five were target satellites and seven were pursuit payloads that flew near their quarry. After an inspection, five of the interceptors blew apart on radio signal from the ground.

NOT NECESSARY
When President Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev signed the nuclear arms limitation treaty last month, they said on-site inspection was not necessary, that spy satellites could do the job.

The Soviet Union has an operational space weapon the United States does not possess the fractional orbital bombardment system (FOBS). In several tests in recent years the Soviets have demonstrated that a FOBS rocket is capable of hurling a nuclear bomb into a low earth orbit and that it can be called in on an earth target in less than one global pass.

But if it were used, the action would be a violation of a U.N. treaty prohibiting the placing of nuclear weapons in space.

In 1960, the Defense Department began developing a satellite interceptor under Project Saint. This was abandoned in 1962 for financial and technical reasons. Instead, the United States developed a land-based antisatellite system at Johnson Island in the Pacific.

The system still is in operation, but the rockets are obsolete by today's standards and they would be relatively ineffective against today's highly maneuverable satellites.

Angela Davis has been deluged by hundreds of congratulatory telegrams and phone calls praising her acquittal. But she also has received about 20 death threats, a spokesman said.

U.S. Rep. Bella Abzug of New York City sent congratulations, saying: "Your strength and courage through this ordeal has been an inspiration."

The Italian town of Reggio Meilia, which named Miss Davis an honorary citizen during her stint in jail, cabled congratulations in Italian which her defense committee was still hoping to translate.

Veterans of World War I Barracks 1474 and the Auxiliary will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. for the regular monthly meeting at the IOOF Hall, Ninth and Magnolia. There will be a salad supper. This also will be the occasion for installation of officers.

During the 13-week trial, the prosecution contended that Miss Davis helped plot the courthouse escape try in hopes of freeing the man she loved—Soledad Brother George Jackson, who was killed last year during an alleged breakout attempt from San Quentin Prison. Drumgo testified for the defense that he knew nothing of the plot to free the Soledad Brothers.

INSPIRATION
Communist leaders in France, Germany, Australia and Britain joined American 1980, with a second to be completed in 1983.

In addition to the $902.9 million for construction of the two plants, costs for transmission lines and other facilities for the participating utilities are estimated at $55 million.

Deely said the San Antonio utility also is considering the possibility of building a nuclear power plant for this city. He said the Houston utility also plans to build and operate a separate plant to meet its own needs in addition to participating in the joint venture.

Deely said his utility is considering the project because natural gas "probably will not be available" as an alternative energy source after 1980.

U.S. Policies Cloud Future For Developing Resources

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of the National Petroleum Council said today vast U.S. energy resources are not likely to be developed in the face of "confusing and inconsistent" government policies and poor economic conditions.

"The time has very definitely come when those in decision making positions must heed the danger signals as they rise before they pass beyond the point where correction becomes impossible," said H. A. True Jr. of Casper, Wyo.

IMPORTS INCREASE
True's remarks were prepared for delivery at the 26th annual convention of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association.

"Since the 1950s, the growth rate for domestic petroleum production has slackened, while that for imports has increased," True said.

"As a result, incentives and prospective profitability for exploration and development of hydrocarbon resources in the U.S. have decreased."

"In the past few years, there has been a high rate of growth in the market for domestic oil, but the real price of crude oil still remains below the level of a decade earlier."

The council True heads is composed of major petroleum company representatives who serve in an advisory capacity for the federal government.

True said that implicit in his statements is "the clear fact that an improved economic climate would encourage increased exploration for new reserves of oil and gas and increased recovery of oil and gas from known reserves."

ELECT MITCHELL
Positive government action, he said, must be forthcoming, particularly in respect to the leasing of federal lands, environmental controls, health and safety, tax rates, research funding, natural gas price regulation and import policies.

He said this is essential "if heavy dependence on foreign sources of oil and a severe shortage of natural gas are to be avoided or, in the case of natural gas, even alleviated."

And, True said, "the government and the industry must work together to support and encourage higher growth rates for domestic supplies with adequate economic incentives being provided."

The independent oilmen elected George P. Mitchell of Houston as president today. Mitchell, 53, president of Mitchell Energy and Development Corp., succeeded William J. Murray Jr. of Austin.

Carey Maguire of Dallas was named secretary and Alan C. Roberts of Fort Worth was re-elected treasurer.

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley, one of the Democratic party's most powerful leaders for two decades, also is known for his humorous and caustic quips which often mingle with his syntax at news conferences.

In his latest meeting with the press Monday, the mayor suggested that some reporters should be investigated by the federal government and that one newsman "ought to get off the chair."

After Daley led off the conference with an announcement that the city was cutting expenditures, a reporter asked about the public's concern over taxes.

"All you have to do is sit in this office and read the letters that come in and know about the elderly people on pension — and if you don't know, you ought to get off the chair!"

Later, another reporter asked about a story that said the Internal Revenue Service was investigating alleged kickbacks to Chicago aldermen. No names were mentioned.

"Is that good journalism? Is that good reporting to throw a cloak on all aldermen for a rumor? Maybe some of you reporters are under investigation, too."

He relaxed a moment in his attitude toward the media when he introduced a new aide who formerly worked for a Chicago newspaper.

"He's one who sat out with you a few years ago in your distinguished and august seat," he told reporters.

He went back to his dislike of the media and renegade Democrats in answering a question about the challenge of his regular party delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

"When in the name of God, are we having objections to men and women who were elected, with any sincerity? All it is, is to get themselves on this thing," he shrugged at the television cameras, "and in your columns..."

Daley's often loose rhetoric slipped into one of his periodic lapses when he introduced the new deputy mayor, Ken Salme.

Commission issues its findings. The governors of the Postal Service have four alternatives. They can approve the commission's rates, reject them, modify them or permit them to go into effect under protest.

The commission's recommendations, if approved, are unlikely to benefit the average mail user except for postcards, which go from a 7-cent temporary rate to 6 cents under the permanent schedule.

OUT OF BUSINESS
In New York, Andrew Heiskell, chairman of the board of Time, Inc., which publishes Time and Life magazines, said number of magazines out of the new rates "will drive a business, force others to cut circulation and therefore decrease the flow of information throughout the country."

The temporary rates by law expire 30 days after the Rate Commission issues its findings.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Rate Commission has approved about $1.5 billion in increased mail rates, most of which have been in effect on a temporary basis since May 1971.

The effect for most mail users will be to make permanent the 8-cent cost of mailing a letter, and 11 cents for air-mail letters unless the Postal Service Board of Governors rejects the rate schedule, an action viewed as unlikely.

Nevertheless, the new rate proposals drew immediate criticism from magazine publishers and other mailers who use second-class rates on a broad scale.

TO AID PUBLISHERS
The commission says it has substantially cut the temporary rates the partially-independent Postal Service proposed for the publishers and for users of the third-class mail.

Within 30 days the board of governors is expected to act on the proposals which will save publishers $21.8 million annually over the temporary rates. They expire in 30 days.

Daley's often loose rhetoric slipped into one of his periodic lapses when he introduced the new deputy mayor, Ken Salme.

Commission issues its findings. The governors of the Postal Service have four alternatives. They can approve the commission's rates, reject them, modify them or permit them to go into effect under protest.

The commission's recommendations, if approved, are unlikely to benefit the average mail user except for postcards, which go from a 7-cent temporary rate to 6 cents under the permanent schedule.

OUT OF BUSINESS
In New York, Andrew Heiskell, chairman of the board of Time, Inc., which publishes Time and Life magazines, said number of magazines out of the new rates "will drive a business, force others to cut circulation and therefore decrease the flow of information throughout the country."

The temporary rates by law expire 30 days after the Rate Commission issues its findings.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Rate Commission has approved about $1.5 billion in increased mail rates, most of which have been in effect on a temporary basis since May 1971.

The effect for most mail users will be to make permanent the 8-cent cost of mailing a letter, and 11 cents for air-mail letters unless the Postal Service Board of Governors rejects the rate schedule, an action viewed as unlikely.

Nevertheless, the new rate proposals drew immediate criticism from magazine publishers and other mailers who use second-class rates on a broad scale.

Judge Orders Changes Made In Big D Jail

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County officials have six months to upgrade the quality of the county jail.

U.S. District Court Judge Sarah Hughes ordered a series of changes in the operation of the jail Monday by granting a multi-point injunction against Dallas County officials sought by three inmates of the jail. She gave the county until December to get the job done.

Jail cells were among Judge Hughes' biggest targets. She told the Dallas County Commissioners Court and Sheriff Clarence Jones—against whom the injunction suit was filed—to provide enough cells to accommodate inmates equal to the largest number of jail prisoners housed during any one day in 1972.

She also said solitary confinement cells must have at least 40 square feet of space and be equipped with a bunk, commode, and lavatory. In addition, she ruled that cells for mentally retarded persons must be padded.

After the ruling, Sheriff Jones raised the possibility of reopening an old Dallas jail to meet the court requirements. Meeting the old jail would add space for 700 more inmates. The new county jail now holds 1,340.

Judge Hughes also upheld a plea for an outdoor exercise area requested in the suit. She suggested use of the jail's roof. Sheriff Jones said later there might be space there, "about the size of a basketball court," that could be used.

Other directives in the judge's ruling included: —a prohibition against opening or censoring inmate mail addressed to courts, attorneys, parole officers, government

Abortion Laws Debate Looms

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The issue of liberalized abortion laws is due for debate tonight at the annual meeting of the Synod of Texas of the Presbyterian Church, USA.

The Synod opened here today with its first woman moderator, Elizabeth S. Johnson, associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Fort Worth.

Miss Johnson, the Synod's vice moderator, assumed her new role due to the illness of Moderator Rudolph Guerrero of San Antonio.

The abortion report calls for Texas laws allowing an abortion if performed by a licensed doctor with the written consent of the woman if she is over 16, or that of the woman's parents if she is under 16.

The report also recommends approved methods of family planning and states that no physicians or medical institutions should be required to perform abortions if it is contrary to their moral beliefs. Adequate training in abortion counseling for ministers also is recommended.

McGovern Bids For Backing From Governors In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — In a bid for party unity, presidential front runner George McGovern met with Democratic governors early today and said his campaign will be one of cooperation and reconciliation rather than divisiveness.

The South Dakota senator altered his campaign schedule and flew into this sprawling Southeast Texas city late Monday night for a meeting with the Democratic governors, most of whom have remained neutral or opposed to McGovern's candidacy.

When the meeting was over, most of the Southern chief executives were still voicing doubts or opposition to McGovern, claiming his candidacy would assure Southern strength for President Nixon and other GOP office-seekers in November.

But McGovern, whose liberal views on several issues have been an issue among Democratic governors attending the annual bipartisan National Governors' Conference here, apparently did not hurt his cause by showing up.

"I think it was good that he came," Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter said in an interview. "The best point was just the fact that he left California and came here. It showed he was concerned."

But Carter, generally identified as the leader of the anti-McGovern forces among the Democratic governors, said, "I really can't say that my attitude toward him has changed."

McGovern, in a closed meeting with 22 Democratic governors, promised to oppose "frivolous" challenges to convention delegates by his supporters. He said he would not rule out the possibility of naming a Southerner as his vice presidential to China and the Soviet Union. The complete itinerary has not been announced. Connolly's first stops will be in Venezuela, Colombia, Brazil, Argentina, Bolivia and Peru. To follow will be visits to South Vietnam, Australia, Singapore and New Zealand.

Connolly said when he resigned last month that he had no political aspirations, but, when asked about the vice presidency, he ducked "that kind of speculation at this point in time."

Two days later, Agnew said it would be "totally unrealistic to expect the Republican convention to accept" Connolly on its national ticket.

The closest Nixon has come to addressing the subject directly was in a television interview last winter when he said he saw no reason to break up a winning combination.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said in Key Biscayne, Fla., that Connolly will be ready to take up "any subject which his hosts wish to raise," including Nixon's trips to China and the Soviet Union. The complete itinerary has not been announced. Connolly's first stops will be in Venezuela, Colombia, Brazil, Argentina, Bolivia and Peru. To follow will be visits to South Vietnam, Australia, Singapore and New Zealand.

BY HC HOSPITAL AUTHORITY Issuance Of Revenue Bonds Is Authorized

Trustees of the Howard County Hospital Authority adopted a trust indenture Monday and authorized issuance of revenue bonds up to $1,700,000.

The immediate issue, if validated, will be for $800,000 to be retired over a 33-year period. The first $330,000 will bear interest at the rate of six per cent, and the remaining $450,000 at 6.5. The final $900,000 would be issued later prior to the construction phase and would carry a maximum of 7.5 per cent, a figure which can be scaled down if the Dow-Jones municipal bond yield factor declines.

THOMAS FILED
A suit contesting the constitutionality of the hospital authority act, and therefore the validity of the Howard County authority, has been filed by Ray Thomas. The authority also plans to file for validation of the bonds.

The board also adopted a budget for the interim period to Sept. 30, 1972, and then a budget for the fiscal year 1972-73 which anticipates total revenues of $1,752,500, expenses of $1,554,200 and net revenues of $79,050 after allowances for depreciation, amortization and interest. As the basis of budgeting, the current table of rates and special service charges was adopted.

The board also fixed terms of members K. H. McGibbon, Truman Jones, Harold Davis, and Bobby Wash to expire in 1975, and Clyde Angel, Joe Pickle, Johnnie Walker, and R. A. Foster to expire in 1976.

Norman Knox, who is administrator of the Medical Center Memorial Hospital, which is due to be conveyed to the hospital authority, prior to a $2,500,000 expansion program, was named administrator for the authority. Terms of the tenure will not be firm until such a time as litigation is resolved and assets of the hospital are transferred to the authority.

DEPOSITORY CHOSEN
The board also selected the county's depository (State National Bank) as the authority depository.

Municipal Bond Associates of Texas, Inc., represented by Merle Merong, is underwriting the revenue bonds. Terms of the indenture call for net revenues, before debt service, depreciation and capital outlay, of 1.3 times the average annual interest and principal requirements of all bonds outstanding. After the initial issue, the coverage factor would be 1.4, and if later other bonds—for expansion were issued the coverage factor would go up to 1.75.

Resolutions naming Hollingsworth, Wilson, Lee and Reynolds, CPAs, as auditors, and authorizing acquisition of the Medical Center Memorial Hospital assets and when revenue bonds are validated were adopted.

First Price Freeze Case

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A panel of the U.S. Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals has taken under advisement its first case since it was established, an appeal by an apartment house owner accused of violating the wage-price freeze.

The three-judge panel will issue a written ruling at a later date on the case of Dwight Lieb of San Antonio, who was charged last fall in the second suit filed in the nation by the Justice Department on behalf of the President's Cost of Living Council.

A federal judge issued an injunction in October, ordering him to refund $10 a month rent raises he had introduced on Sept. 1 after Phase I of the wage-price freeze began.

Lieb appealed to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals and the case was referred to the Emergency Court of Appeals after the temporary body was created.

SENDS CONNALLY AROUND WORLD Nixon Stokes Speculation About His Running Mate

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Republican convention little more than two months away, President Nixon has stoked speculation about his 1972 running mate by sending John Connally around the world.

Indications from the White House that Connally might also be explaining to world leaders the President's Peking and Moscow trips add to the importance of the trip and to the outgoing Treasury secretary's stature as bearer of such news.

VIET STOP
This is the kind of mission traditionally handled by a vice president if not a secretary of state. The Washington rumor mills have Connally available for either post if Nixon is re-elected. Regardless, the trip will give Connally public exposure in the foreign-policy arena. Among his stops will be South Vietnam.

Nixon's announcement Monday that Connally will represent him on a 15-nation tour beginning today came a day after another key Republican said it is possible a Democrat, such as Connally, could get the GOP vice-presidential nomination.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said Sunday in a radio interview that he disagrees with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's assertion that a Democrat on the GOP ticket in his place would be inconceivable.

With the time of decision drawing near, Nixon has never said whether he will keep Agnew as his vice president, and Connally has not definitely been taken out of the picture.

UNREALISTIC
White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said in Key Biscayne, Fla., that Connally will be ready to take up "any subject which his hosts wish to raise," including Nixon's trips to China and the Soviet Union. The complete itinerary has not been announced. Connally's first stops will be in Venezuela, Colombia, Brazil, Argentina, Bolivia and Peru. To follow will be visits to South Vietnam, Australia, Singapore and New Zealand.

Pesky Itching

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can be done about almost unbearable vaginal itching? There is no discharge. I am 71 and my doctor only said to use white petroleum jelly, but it doesn't help much. Wish you would advise something — A. F.

With menopause, there is a decrease in production of the female hormone estrogen. It is possible well after that (as at your age) for the estrogen deficiency to cause changes in the vagina and related structures, with severe itching as a result.

This problem is usually most effectively corrected by the use of ointments or lotions containing estrogen. These would require a prescription, but that is the best solution I have found.

Before leaving this topic, I think I should point out that not all vaginal itching is from the same cause. Vaginitis (from various types of yeasts or other infections) causes a good many cases.

In today's case, the patient's age, plus the lack of any discharge, are indications pointing to estrogen deficiency and not some other form.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write about hiatal hernia — if curable, its seriousness, and the possibility of turning into a cancer. Do you have a booklet on it? — Mrs. G.W.D.

Hiatal hernia is not the sort of thing that "turns into" cancer." It can, however, lead to ulceration if not treated. Mainly, it is a matter of discomfort rather than danger — but it can be just as annoying as, for example, peptic ulcers, and the symptoms can very much resemble such ulcers.

Ordinarily conservative treatment is adequate to keep the patient comfortable. Occasionally, but not usually, surgery is necessary.

Yes, I have a booklet covering

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me what might be wrong and if I should try to see a doctor? My leg is sore all the time from the knee to the ankle. If it is hit, it is almost unbearably painful. When the leg "goes to sleep" when I sit on it, or sometimes during the night, when I move it to get the circulation back, the pain is terrible. What could cause this? — Mrs. G. E. D.

Lots of things could cause it; the likeliest is probably some circulatory disorder. If it's even partly as painful as you say, of course you should see a doctor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Two months ago I gave birth to a baby weighing 9 pounds 8 ounces. A friend informs me that this was a sign that I would develop sugar diabetes because of the baby's size. Is there any truth to this? — Mrs. S.M.F.

Some. Having large babies is a suspicious (but not positive) sign that a mother may be predisposed to diabetes. With that much warning, have your sugar tested from time to time, and keep your weight down to a reasonable level. That's all you can do about it.

Never take a chance with diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of a booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

You Can't Wish Yourself Well

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Many of us are half sick and half well nearly all the time, grunting along and wishing for health.

Our newspaper headlines tell us about a famous suicide. Reason—ill health.

One reason you do not read about, but which is found in practically every case of "ill health" is "disheartened confusion."

The average sufferer has been diagnosed, treated or operated, and steered from one specialist to another, only to find out that as one ailment is patched up, trouble starts somewhere else. It is both confusing and disheartening when you have spent your money and time on differing opinions and differing drugs in a diligent effort to regain your health, yet nothing seems to help.

Life becomes miserable! Things lose their importance! You lose all faith in all doctors! It is difficult to be a good wife, mother, father, husband, son, daughter, or grandparent when one is sick and miserable.

We can't get our message of hope through to all discouraged sick folks, but within a few there remains a small spark of courage that flames into action when they see or hear our message.

Does it give you courage to learn that a retired registered nurse, past sixty, after coming to the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic, recovered from headaches, indigestion, constipation, shoulder bursitis, and traces of arthritis that she had been suffering for years. No. 1643.

Perhaps the dramatic and grateful recovery of excruciating pain from a slipped disc and sciatic leg pains experienced by a father in his late thirties, after coming to the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic, will encourage you. No. 1581.

Or, perhaps the rapid recovery of an infant brought to us suffering pitifully from an acute food rash practically all over her tiny body, or maybe the little six and seven year old brother and sister that recovered almost overnight from severe tonsillitis and high temperature, or the equally complete recovery of a nine year old boy from frequent colds, fever, nervousness, asthma, headaches, and leg pains will excite you into action.

Hundreds of records in our files are proof positive evidence that sick people get well under chiropractic care — many times after other methods have failed. Chiropractic may be your answer, too. You can't wish yourself well. Why don't you take your friends' advice and investigate now. Delay makes any condition worse. Besides, what can you lose except ill health? 1094 Eleventh Place, 263-3324. —adv.

Few Showers Near El Paso

By The Associated Press

Except for a few showers in a couple of areas, it stayed dry and hot throughout Texas today.

With a thunderstorm or two mixed in, the showers fell along or near the coast between Brownsville and Corpus Christi out far West Texas near El Paso.

A little more moisture was expected through Wednesday at scattered points in the southwest, south central and southeast sections of the state.

No letup in the heat was in prospect. Temperatures near dawn ranged from 75 degrees at Galveston and 73 at Del Rio down to 61 at Amarillo and 59 at Dalhart.

THEFTS

Louise Patrick, at 10:05 a.m. Monday, reported a burglary at the barber shop at 502 NW 3rd. A shaving lather dispenser, valued at $20, Kennedy 50 cent pieces, valued at $10, and $4 in pennies were taken and a window, valued at $10, was broken.

At 2:41 a.m. Tuesday the burglary of a juke box at 409 N. Bell was reported, with $20 in cash taken.

Voters Retain Mood

Texas voters apparently had not cooled off by runoff primary time in their resolve to clean house at Austin.

Casualties in the first primary were Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, along with attorney general Crawford Martin. The governor had made a handsome profit out of sale of a stock transaction although he had vetoed a bill to liberalize state banking laws as sought by Frank Sharp, head of the defunct Sharpstown (Houston) Bank. Barnes refuted claims to link him to the stock scandals, but voters tarred him with the same brush. And so it was with Martin, who had turned down a chance for a quick profit in stocks.

Just to prove the mood was a valid one, voters Saturday clobbered State Sen. Wayne Connally, whose name made prominent by his brother, former Gov. John Connally, was not enough to change the tide.

Former House Speaker Gus Mutscher, convicted for his part in the stock scandal, was repudiated at the polls by his own constituents in the runoff. Rep. Rayford Price, once a Mutscher protege and later his successor as speaker during the recent special session, was beaten soundly in the runoff, and so was Rep. Bill Finck, the man Price had named as chairman of the House appropriations committee.

The results do not necessarily connote a feeling of wrong-doing on the part of voters toward these prominent figures, but they do reflect a deep conviction that things need changing. Voters were weary, and they showed it.

This is something that those who rode out the runoffs should keep in mind if they are elected in the general balloting in November. Reform of Legislative rules are certainly in order to curb the concentration of power and the spawning of arrogance; also some sort of meaningful code of ethics. If not, the voters will again ultimately enforce a code of their own.

The Angela Davis Verdict

Reaction to the verdict in the Angela Davis murder-kidnap conspiracy case varies as to how the individual feels about Angela Davis. And there were plenty who do not feel at all kindly toward the avowed Communist and black militant.

But sober reflection compels the conclusion that she was not on trial for being a Communist or a militant, but rather for having conspired in a murder-kidnap charge that resulted in the death of a judge and principals in a previous trial. The state manifestly did not prove its case, for in the eyes of the jury there was no inclination to vote for conviction. Nine were for acquittal on the first ballot, three undecided. Jurors said there was never any vote for conviction.

With characteristic abrasiveness, Miss Davis hooted the system that set her free, claiming that the only "fair" trial would have been no trial. That's specious reasoning, for it took a grand jury indictment to bring charges. Evidently, the grand jurors felt that the matter at least warranted a trial to determine guilt or innocence.

The spectacle of jurors participating in a party to celebrate the victory is unorthodox, to say the least, but it has nothing to do with the trial itself. One juror was quoted as saying he related the defendant's color to persecution of the blacks, which is certainly no basis of a verdict for an individual sworn to decide on the basis of facts in the case.

Dear Miss Albrite

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

If "Dear Abby" ever has no problems to speak of, she's in trouble. However, should that day come, Abigail Van Buren, the good-natured guru, can probably retire in style — having profited handsomely from other people's experience.

ABIGAIL MAY BE the best known, but she is not the first of her breed. In the 1924 Booster Edition of The Big Spring Herald, a Miss Mae Albrite authored such a column. Yes, even then, people were worried and seeking answers. Miss Albrite did what she could to help.

DEAR MISS ALBRITE: Why are "hot dogs" considered unwholesome?

Answer: I was not aware that canines of high calorific index, known outside of Boston as "hot dogs" were unwholesome. I eat them frequently with great gusto and suffer no ill effects. The inventor of the "hot dog" has recently died in New York. The evil men do lives after them.

DEAR MISS ALBRITE: What is the sure sign when a man brags how well he is feeling?

Answer: To be sure he is getting old and does not realize it.

DEAR MISS ALBRITE: Please tell me what a hope chest is.

Answer: A hope chest is something that a girl can keep adding to after she gives up hope — although that's the last thing most girls give up.

DEAR MISS ALBRITE: When was the first oil well drilled in Wyoming?

Answer: In 1884 by a man named Graft, but Graft claimed there is nothing in a name. I would not want to be named Graft just now.

DEAR MISS ALBRITE: We have been married three years, and we have no children. My husband is a traveling man, home only over weekends. I am young and get very lonely. Do you see any harm in my having dates with other men?

Answer: That is a question for you and your husband to settle. He may be slow to accept such "courting." In such case, he may be much faster at getting to the divorce courts.

DEAR MISS ALBRITE: I am a young girl forty-five years old and am preparing to get married, but I want to bob my hair and my fellow says if I do the wedding is off. What would you advise me to do?

Answer: At your age don't waste your opportunity to get married. Marry and then bob your hair.

DEAR MISS ALBRITE: What do modernists think probably caused the Garden of Eden scandal?

Answer: They think it was caused by an oil lease in Mesopotamia.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

I have a problem I would like to have help with. It's my mother-in-law. She is in good health, but complains increasingly, and takes her medication on the quarter hour. She visits us for a week or more every month. I'm afraid our marriage is beginning to suffer as we have our biggest fights when she comes. I actually get sick in my stomach when I hear she is on the way again. My husband is not a "mama's boy," but just feels that he must take his share of responsibility. The worst thing is I have developed an intense hatred for her. Please help us.

C. S. Wife-mother rivalry is as old as history, and you have been caught in the cross-fire of an old problem.

I can see the wrong on the part of your mother-in-law of visiting her son's family too frequently. I get the impression she is a widow, and is probably lonely for companionship and love. This is, of course, forgivable and understandable.

But the worst part of the problem is what you are letting your mother-in-law do to you. Hatred can cause all kinds of physical, mental, and spiritual difficulties. Jesus put it on a par with murder when He said, "But I say unto you That whosoever is angry (or hates) without a cause is in danger of the judgment." I Peter 5:7.

Cause For Pride

William F. Buckley Jr

I hope that Hanoi, which no doubt fondles every editorial and news story concerning American fatigue and hostility to the Vietnam enterprise, was tuned in Thursday night. It was when Mr. Nixon reiterated our determination to seek an "honorable" end to the Vietnam war that the applause was most intense.

IT WOULD seem small potatoes, one is tempted to reason, up against so imposing a backdrop. After all, hadn't President Nixon just returned from Warsaw, where he did the whole champagne bit, and has not Poland been satelized for years and years? Granted there was a flash of quite bitter disappointment some time after Yalta when the world suddenly realized that Stalin had squatted down on precisely that area of Europe the independence of which was the formal objective of the allied powers. But, after a while, what is there to do, except settle for what you can? Why couldn't a future president of the United States, touring in Asia, do the champagne bit in Saigon, capital of a southern province of communist Vietnam? Letting bygones-by bygones?

BUT RICHARD Nixon has apparently no such intention. "I emphasize to you once again that this administration has no higher goal than bringing the Vietnam war to an early and honorable end," he said, knowing no doubt that the word "honorable" would stick in the throat of the legions whose determination to discredit the Vietnam war has grown to the point of obsession. When Hubert Humphrey said in his television debate that if he were elected President he would cut off South Vietnam "flatly," he was expressing something more than the desire to bring back American fighting men (that is already agreed upon), something more than military husbandry (a couple of billion dollars here and there never got Sen. Humphrey all that exercised).

WHAT'S EATING us? We no longer

Matthew 5:22. My suggestion is that you take a more relaxed attitude toward your mother-in-law's visits. Accept them as a part of your life, and make the best of them. "Casting all your care on him, for he careth for you." I Peter 5:7.

Mutual Fund Sales Off

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP)— Mutual fund sales have been off. Redemptions have been high. That means problems for this $38-billion industry, but in the opinion of some fund executives, you weren't supposed to say so.

The decline in sales and rise in redemptions was temporary and foreseeable, it was claimed. It didn't represent a trend, even though it persisted month after month. Every business has its ups and downs.

But something unusual was occurring. Last year, for the first time since records were kept, there were months in which redemptions exceeded sales. And off and on, it has been continuing.

Now, none other than the president of the Investment Company Institute, which represents funds owning 90 per cent of assets, concedes there are problems, at least in regard to sales.

"We must be acting affirmatively to turn the table," Robert L. Augenblick told a recent meeting of the Canadian Mutual Funds Association. Sales have been sluggish for more than a year, he said. Redemptions have climbed.

Brokers firms which promoted and distributed funds have dropped out of business, victims of a bear market, he said, although many were victims also of their own management incompetence.

Moreover, other financial products are competing strongly for the same dollar, Augenblick said. Real estate investment trusts, for example, are now growing at a rate that resembles the early days of the mutual fund industry.

And there is the record. Many mutual funds do offer an attractive and profitable package. They provide professional management, diversification, convenience and performance—or profits.

Others, as the record clearly demonstrates, offer an inferior product. The "professional" management is lacking in wisdom, the "diversification" offers little protection, the "convenience" is tangled records, the "performance absent or negative."

In a sense, the situation seems to be one in which both an industry and its customers have experienced the pains of growing up.

Funds now are firmly established in the long range financial planning of millions of Americans, but the glamor days of easy sales and expectation of easy money may be part of the past.

Oil Scouts Meet

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)— State Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong will discuss ecology and the oil industry at the annual meeting June 28 of the International Oil Scouts Association.

Other speakers include Dr. Richard Meyer of the oil and gas office of the Department of Interior in Washington and Johnny Mitchell, president of Jade Oil Co., Houston.

Nag Husband For Own Good

LONDON (AP)— Wives with overweight, middle-aged husbands must nag them to keep fit.

Women are failing to control their husbands' diets, says a report by the British government-financed Health Education Council. Worse still, they are apathetic when it comes to making sure they have enough exercise.

Said Lady Birk, council chairman: "I honestly believe that unless a woman wants to be an early widow she must do a bit of nagging to keep her husband fit. But she must also encourage him—persuading him to eat the right foods and take enough exercise."

Too Cheap To Buy A Car?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)— Remarks that a man who doesn't drive an automobile gets tired of hearing:

"Is it true what they say about you, Henry? I didn't know there was anybody left alive who didn't know how to drive an automobile."

"I'll bet he doesn't know how to harness a horse either."

"Henry must just be an exhibitionist. He figures not being able to drive a car will draw more attention to him."

"In extending credit, our organization depends generally on the individual's driver's license as proof of identity. It is very odd that you can't produce a driver's license."

"Why can't you drive a car, Henry? Were you scared by an Erector set when you were a child?"

"They say the typical American gets his chief ego satisfaction out of life manipulating the wheel of a big, powerful automobile. How do you get your ego satisfaction, Henry—watching birds or playing the zither?"

"No, I don't think there's anything really abnormal about Henry. My opinion is that he's simply too cheap to buy a car. What other explanation could there be?"

"It could be that he's allergic to machinery. I knew a girl once who was allergic to money as a child, but thank God, she outgrew it."

"I'm tired of hearing about what you can't do, Henry. Tell me, is there anything interesting that you ARE able to do?"

"Henry is totally useless in an automobile. Since he doesn't drive at all, he is no help to you if you get lost. He doesn't pay any attention to road signs or landmarks."

"The only time Henry is any help is when you run out of gas. You can always hand him a can and tell him to hike to a filling station for more."

"Henry, you spend about a third as much time in my car as I do. Why don't you volunteer to pay a third of the installments on it?"

"Henry is so dumb about cars that he always compliments me on my driving when I give him a ride. The poor dear doesn't know I'm the worst driver in town and that his life is in constant danger whenever he gets in the front seat with me."

No Peace Dividend

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The day after President Nixon gave his report to Congress on his trip to the Soviet Union, I went over to see my friend Hannibal Stone, president of the Association for a Permanent Military-Industrial Complex.

BECAUSE THE President had announced agreement on the freeze of nuclear weapons with the Soviets, I expected Hannibal to be depressed. Instead, I found him euphoric. "Hannibal," I said, "How can you be smiling when President Nixon and the Russians are talking about disarmament? Surely this is a blow to the Military-Industrial Complex and all it stands for."

"WRONG," Hannibal said, handing me a cigar. "This is the best thing that could happen to us."

"I don't understand," I said, as he lit my cigar with a Minuteman missile cigarette lighter. "Russia and the United States have agreed to limit anti-ballistic missiles. They have also agreed to freeze land-based and submarine-based intercontinental missiles at the level now in operation. If it works, they may come to new agreements to limit arms production on other weapons now being made. This means we will have to work twice as hard to develop new weapons that aren't covered by the arms agreements."

"YOU MEAN we're not going to save any money by the signing of the arms treaty?"

"Au contraire," Hannibal said. "We will have to spend more money now for defense than ever before."

"Dammit, Hannibal," I said. "I was hoping for a peace dividend."

"Forget the peace dividend," Hannibal said. "We're going to have to spend at least another $20 billion in new weaponry — stuff that hasn't even been dreamed of yet."

"YOU MUST remember," Hannibal said, "the Military-Industrial Complex makes very little money once it is in full production on a weapon. By then everyone knows exactly what the weapon is going to cost, and we can't monkey around with the figures. "But when we're asked to develop a new weapon, no one can put a price tag on it, and the longer it doesn't work, the more money we can ask for to develop it. "Give me a contract for a weapon no one understands, and I'll give you twice the profits that I would on a weapon that has proved itself in the field."

"NOW WE CAN come up with any wild idea and Congress will have to buy it. We can say that if we don't have this weapon, the Russians may have one that is much more devastating."

No Indication

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon can point to a series of agreements of subjects and a joint "declaration of principles" which is to guide future relations between the two countries. But he brought home no information for the American people about what is going to happen in Vietnam.

WILL THE Russians cooperate if the United Nations intervenes to end the war? Will Moscow encourage Hanoi to take a more constructive attitude at the Paris peace conference and work toward a settlement? Nowhere in the documents which have been issued is any answer suggested. Even if there are favorable developments in the negotiations it will be difficult to discern how much is due to the intercession of the Soviets with the North Vietnamese behind the scenes.

Meanwhile, the cost of the Vietnam War in life and property grows bigger. Casualties are rising. More and more lives, among civilians as well as in the military forces, are being lost in North and South Vietnam. The destruction of the resources of the two countries continues unabated.

MANY GOVERNMENTS in Europe and Asia which are observing the international scene say that there is some encouragement in the official communiques from Moscow. It would seem to be of paramount interest to the Soviets to bring about, probably indirectly, a settlement of the Vietnam war. Not all the diplomats who are surveying world conditions, however, are optimistic. For they have watched the Communists at work around the globe and have rarely seen the Soviets withdraw their military power from a situation that has seemed to further the Russian desire for expansion of its influence.

SOME EUROPEAN analysts declare that one reason the Soviets will not change their policy toward Vietnam is because they are, in a sense, competing in Hanoi with Communist China to play the predominant role in Indo-China. It is obvious, on the other hand, that if the United States should fall in its Vietnam policy, its position as a world power would be hurt.

THE EXPECTATION abroad by the realistic observers is that America will back the South Vietnamese with air power to such an extent that North Vietnam will be so seriously damaged it will inevitably be forced to come to the peace table for meaningful negotiations.

Bernstein's Mass Moves Former President's Widow

WASHINGTON AP) — Mrs. Aristotle Onassis attended a performance of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" at the John F. Kennedy Center Monday night and, her acquaintances said she liked both the opera house and the performance.

This was the former Mrs. Kennedy's first visit to the national cultural center which bears her husband's name, and her first viewing of the Bernstein composition which she asked him to compose for the opening of the Kennedy Center last Sept. 8.

Bernstein told a reporter after the performance that Mrs. Onassis seemed to like the work, but made no specific comment.

She entered the center, as do most visitors, through the Hall of Nations, a huge corridor hung with the flags of more than 100 countries, and—turning a corner—saw for the first time a six-foot-high bust of her late husband, sculptured by Robert Berks.

Mrs. Roger L. Stevens, whose husband is chairman of the board of trustees of the center and who shared a box with Mrs. Onassis, said the former Mrs. Kennedy declined to comment on the bust.

Mrs. Onassis wended her way down the stairs at the opera house and went backstage after the performance to greet some of the members of the 200-person cast.

The widow of the 35th president had been expected to appear when the center opened last September, but she declined the invitation at the last

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

A miscellaneous wedding shower for Miss Betty Ann Chavarria, bride-elect of Ricky Steve Hasting, was held recently in the library at Bauer Elementary School.

Hostesses were teacher aides who work with Miss Chavarria. They are Mrs. Charles Cain, Mrs. Sandy Standand, Mrs. Elmira Forman, Mrs. Charles Burton and Mrs. David Rhoton.

Receiving guests with the honoree was her mother, Mrs. Tony Chavarria, and both women were presented corsages of white carnations.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a peach-colored cloth and overlay of white lace. The same colors were used in the floral centerpiece, and punch was served from a crystal service.

The couple will be married July 15 at First United Methodist Church.

Travelers Should Carry Necessities

Seasoned travelers suggest you devise your own safety-and-comfort kit before you travel abroad.

Include the following basics: soap and washcloth (not always provided in foreign hotels), prescriptions for any medications, motion sickness and headache remedies, band-aids, safety pins, sewing packet, travel alarm clock, extra set of luggage keys, extra pair of glasses, currency converters, electrical current adapters if you are taking any small appliances, and plastic bags of several sizes for shoes, washcloth, or damp laundry.

Don't forget to pack soap or detergent for wash basin laundering!

Miss Wool Hopefuls Head For San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Tex. — Things might well be a little hectic in 20 households around the nation, as the hopefuls for the Miss Wool of America title make last-minute preparations for their trip to West Texas.

The 15th annual Miss Wool of America Pageant is set for June 16 in this West Texas city of 70,000, the inland wool capital of the world.

Twenty young women between the ages of 18 and 25, each the "Miss Wool" of the wool-producing council she represents, will fly to San Angelo Saturday each hoping that when she returns home she will be wearing the national wool title, succeeding Margie Sharp of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Pageant officials have scheduled a personal greeting for each contestant as she arrives in Dallas. A large group of pageant officials are scheduled to meet arriving contestants with a big Texas "howdy" and an arm bouquet of red flowers made from dyed lamb pelts.

Britishers Hear Poetry Readings

Mrs. Al Cantu read selections of modern English poetry for members of British Wives Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. Don Martin, 188-B Hunter. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Kenneth Daubney. The women will meet for dinner June 15, place to be announced. Anyone interested in joining the club may contact Mrs. Martin at 263-7458. Membership is open to any woman born in the British Commonwealth.

The trip from Dallas to San Angelo, in the heart of Texas wool country, will be aboard a special charter flight. Upon their arrival in San Angelo, the 20 aspirants immediately begin what promises to be a rather hectic but enjoyable six days of activity.

Host West Texans have planned lake parties, dinners, formal balls and even several breakfasts in bed for the contestants.

A highlight of the week will be a Western barbecue and dance, hosted by an entire county, which will be Sterling County. Another event carrying the flavor of the locale will be an authentic Mexican lunch, prepared and hosted by a Lions Club whose members are predominantly Mexican-American.

On the evening prior to the pageant, climax of the entire week, will be a moonlight ride down the wandering river that bisects San Angelo. The illuminated river parade will feature the 20 contestants and decorated barges.

The June 16 Pageant and show will feature Barbara Eden and Lyle Waggoner. Each of the contestants will model selected fashion trends of wool from the upcoming fall and winter lines of American designers.

A panel of three judges, who earlier will have extensively interviewed each contestant, will make their final choices during the show. In addition to such criteria as beauty, personality and intelligence, judges will be scoring the contestants on modeling ability since Miss Wool of America presents fashion showings around the nation during her reign. Rewards to be expected by the new Miss Wool of America include an extensive all-occasion wardrobe of wool apparel, completely accessorized, a new automobile at the conclusion of her reign, a college scholarship and extensive traveling to the major cities of the United States.

The 20 Miss Wool hopefuls are: Dianne Bowen, Windsor, N.C.; Mary De Long, Clinton, Wis.; Jill Eversole, Baltimore, Ohio; Debbie Foughty, Glendale, Ariz.; Lianne Fuller, Post Falls, Idaho; Sharlene Garish, Costa Mesa, Calif.; Cathy Heller, Tulsa, Okla.; Paula McBurney, Humboldt, Iowa; Ellen Magnuson, Helena, Mont.; Terry O'Neal, Casper, Wyo.; Kristi Osbourn, Leawood, Kan.; Janine Ross, Fisher, Minn.; Terry Slack, Richland, Wash.; Kathi Smith, Silver Spring, Md.; Kathi Sperry, Albuquerque, N.M.; Sandi Tomczak, Lane City, Tex.; Carol Toothill, Naperville, Ill.; Barbara Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah; Marla Williams, Bonesteel, S.D.; Cindy Wood, Longmont, Colo.

A LOVELIER YOU Ten Tanning Tips For Sun Worshippers

By MARY SUE MILLER

The tanning season is upon us. From morn to dusk, the sun worshippers will be out soaking up a tan. These tips are for them:

1. Beware of overcast days. You can get a bad burn though you cannot see the sun. Ultraviolet rays which cause tans and burns come right through the clouds.
2. Beware the mid-day sun, if you are just starting a tan. Before 11 a.m. and after 2 p.m. are safer times. Even then, limit your exposures.
3. If you tan one day and burn the next, the sun may not be the whole cause. Burns are triggered by the reaction of the sun's chemistry on your body chemistry. Medicine you have been taking, air pollution and allergic responses can bring on the sizzle.
4. Remember that parts of the body not normally exposed to weather — such as shoulders and middles — are leading candidates for quick, severe burns.
5. Your nose sticking up to the sun is the most susceptible part of your face.
6. If you freckle, the only solution is to stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the high-intensity noon hours.
7. Don't forget to cover tinted hair.
8. Do wear sunglasses.
9. While sunning, keep piling on a good sunscreen or lotion.
10. Last, but certainly not least... Immediately after sunning apply an Intensive Care Lotion to moisturize the skin and keep it from that "dried prune" look.

HD Council Elects Slate

Officers for the 1972-1973 club year of the Home Demonstration Club Council were elected Monday afternoon at the HD agent's office.

Elected were Mrs. Waymon Etchison, chairman; Mrs. Alton Underwood, vice chairman; Mrs. John Couch, secretary; Mrs. C. A. Williams, treasurer; and Mrs. J. Williams, Texas HD Association Chairman.

Chosen as delegates to the state convention in September in Houston were Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Etchison and Mrs. Frances Zant. Alternates are Mrs. Fay Newman, Mrs. J. R. Petty and Mrs. E. A. Williams.

Mrs. Etchison presided and announced the county 4-H Dress Review is slated July 20 at the county fair barns.

College Park HD Club hosted the May 17 luncheon for senior citizens at the fair barns, and about 60 attended. The next luncheon is June 21, with Fairview Club as hostess group.

Devotion was by Mrs. R. J. Shortes. The group will meet again in September.

Altar Society Announces Plans For Fall Festival

Mrs. Fred Hyer, president of the Altar Society for Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, named Mrs. Mary Bridges, Mrs. Jack Engel and Miss Catherine Thomas to the altar committee during Monday's meeting in the church hall.

The society will present a farewell gift to Sister Margaret who will be leaving the city after almost 10 years' service with the church school. Initial plans were announced by Mrs. Hyer for the fall festival which is slated Sept. 9-10. There will be a carnival and dinner as well as other entertainment for the annual event.

There will be no July meeting of the society.

Prayer was worded by the Rev. Louis Moeller, and the attendance prize was won by Mrs. Martin Dehlinger. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dehlinger and Mrs. L. D. Gilbert.

Free Classes Slated In Sewing, Decorating

The homemaking summer adult program at Big Spring High School will offer several workshops this year according to Mrs. Jack Alexander. The workshops are free except for materials needed for sewing. Any adult may participate in the summer program and may sign up for more than one workshop.

The principles and application of interior decoration will be taught during the week of June 12-16, 1 to 4 p.m., and June 19-23, 7 to 10 p.m. in Room 114 at the high school.

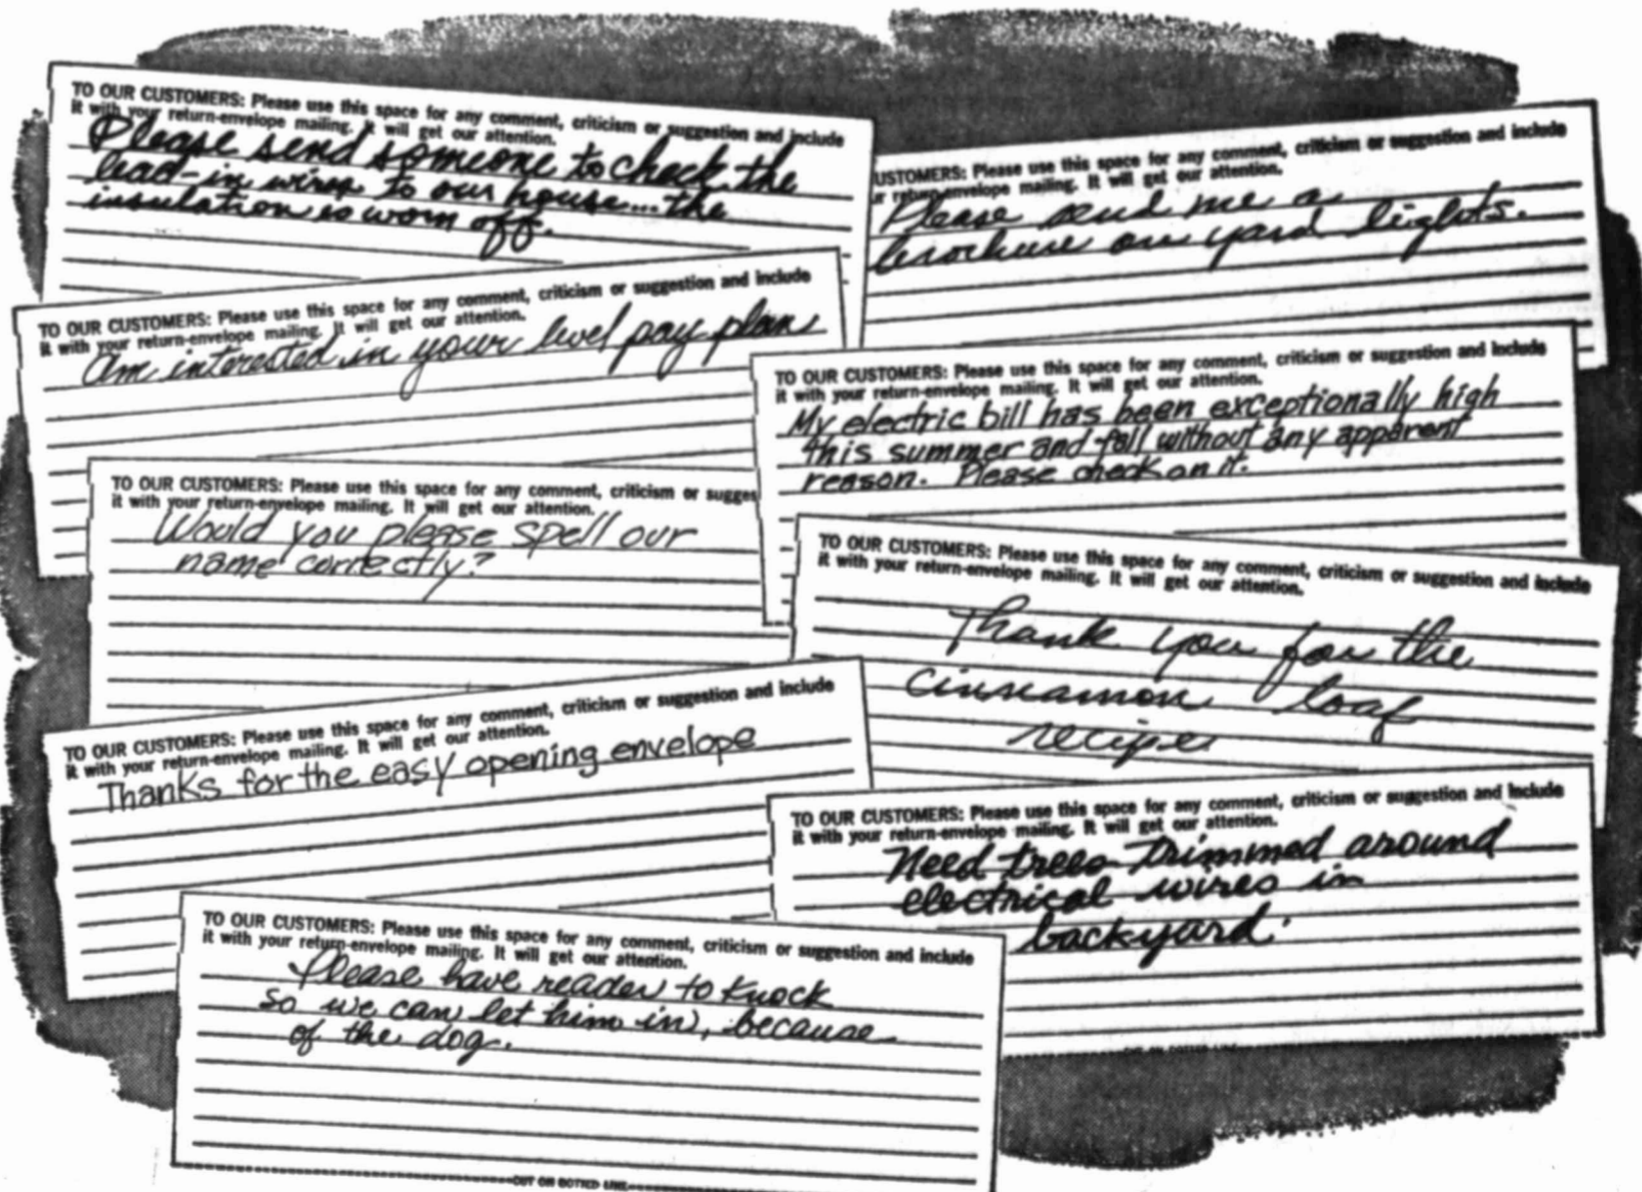

The course will include such factors as the elements and principles of design such as rhythm, balance, center of interest, furniture arrangement, window treatments, accessorizing and many others. Teachers for the classes are Mrs. Tolbert Grisham and Mrs. John Hamilton.

A class in basic sewing will be taught in the high school homemaking department, rooms 111 and 113, by Miss Sharon Storey and Miss Caren Chaney. The course will include methods of construction applicable for making pants, pant suits, dresses, skirts and blouses. The course will be taught July 12-18 (week-days only) from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The second session will be taught July 19-25 (week-days only) from 9 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon. Fittings will be scheduled by the teachers prior to the classes in time for purchasing of correct pattern size.

Women interested in taking advantage of the workshops should contact the homemaking office, 267-7461, Ext. 48.

MOODY SAYS U.S. On Verge Of 'Bankruptcy'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A member of the Federal Power Commission said today this country is on the verge of "energy bankruptcy" and remedial action is needed to correct mistakes of the past.

Urging Texas independent oilmen to join in formulating new national energy policies, Rush Moody said: "The governmental decisions which will direct national policy on gas, and oil and imports for years to come are still unmade. You deserve a voice in those decisions, and you remain silent at your own peril."

One-Way Shootout In Gotham?

NEW YORK (AP)—Did mob chief Joseph Colombo's two sons open fire in trigger-happy fashion at a fringed menace, or were they the targets of an unsuccessful gangland execution attempt?

Police suggested the former theory after investigating Monday's early morning shooting outside the elder Colombo's Brooklyn home. But a lawyer for the family declared there were definitely shots fired at the brothers as they sat in a parked car.

Deputy Chief Inspector Seymour Silver told a news conference that no physical evidence had been found to show that a shot had been fired at the 1970 white Cadillac.

Silver added that at least 18 shots were fired "at real or imagined assailants" from inside the car holding the two Colombos, Anthony, 27, and Joseph Jr., 25, and two other men.

The front window on the passenger side was shattered, but Silver said ballistics tests determined that the bullet had been fired from inside the car.

The elder Colombo, 48, has been incapacitated since he was shot down a year ago at a rally in Columbus Circle. He has been described by the Justice Department as a national commissioner in the Mafia.

Fighter-Bombers Knock Out 100 Supply Boats

SAIGON (AP)—American fighter-bombers knocked out more than 100 supply boats Monday in the most damaging attack on North Vietnam's inland waterways since the resumption of full-scale bombing two months ago, the U.S. Command said today.

The biggest kill was claimed by Navy pilots from the carrier Coral Sea, who reported destroying or damaging 89 water craft. Most were caught on the Song Ca River and tributaries two miles from the coast near the city of Vinh, a major shipment point 100 miles south of Hanoi and 145 miles above the demilitarized zone.

North Vietnamese troops holding out in the northern part of Kontum in the central highlands. A South Vietnamese spokesman at Pleiku claimed that dusk Kontum has been entirely cleared of North Vietnamese troops, but other sources said some snipers might be left in the city.

He Never Heard About Army Traveling On Its Stomach?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The old adage about an army traveling on its stomach apparently has fallen into disfavor with U. S. Army commanders around the world were told in no uncertain terms last week to make frequent checks of every-one in their units to find those "who are becoming obese, and commence corrective action."

The new regulations issued by Westmoreland, the Army chief of staff, could lead to eventual dismissal or early retirement for overweight GIs and Army women — who fall to shed the extra pounds.

The Army's heavyweights will have a chance to slim down. If their problem is attributable to nonmedical causes, they will be placed on a medically supervised weight-reduction program. But if calorie-counting doesn't work, they will be ineligible for re-enlistment, the Army said.

Hairdressers

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I never thought the day would come when something in your column would provoke me enough to write to you, but "PERTURBED," who claims that in some small towns hairdressers make as much as $100 a day, so why tip, certainly got my back up.

I have been a hairdresser in Massachusetts and Florida for 12 years and I have yet to find such a place. I've worked in some of the best shops and I was lucky to make ends meet. After working 5 1/2 days, my gross pay was $50 for the week. So you see where would I be without tips from my customers.

We hairdressers pay a lot for our schooling, and today we make less than a girl who has just graduated from high school and takes a secretarial job.

J.P., PLYMOUTH, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: You can tell your hairdresser, Cloyd, that he can move to Duncan, Okla. There are seven beauticians in the shop I go to and they all make at least $90 a day, and $100 on Fridays and Saturdays. And this town has a population of only 25,000.

REGULAR PATRON

DEAR PATRON: I gave Cloyd your message, and he says the hairdresser who takes in that kind of money MUST have a very lucrative sideline.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "PERTURBED," who doesn't think beauticians need tips, to come off it. There are some jobs that wouldn't be worth a plug nickel without the tips. Waiting on tables is one, and hairdressing is another.

BEEN BOTH

DEAR ABBY: I have been a hairdresser for 18 years, and only once did I come close to making $100 in one day. And that included my tips.

"PERTURBED" is Disturbed.

ROSE

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what that beauty operator who told "PERTURBED" she made $100 a day was smoking. She must have meant $100 a WEEK!

NOT HACKING IT IN HACKENSACK

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "PERTURBED," who says beauty operators don't need "tips" because they make so much money I had to write.

I wish "PERTURBED" could be a hairdresser for just eight hours. She'd find out what it's like to keep on schedule with clients calling and begging to be worked in on a Friday afternoon. Also, trying to be pleasant to a different person every 20 minutes when your feet are killing you and you are half dead.

No beauty operator I ever knew could cut the mustard without tips. I don't care where she works

BOILING OVER IN BALTIMORE

DEAR ABBY: I am a beauty operator who wants to tell you how I feel about tipping.

In our profession, tips are appropriate, but a tip should not be expected. I get tips, which I appreciate, but if I couldn't make it without tips, I'd find something else to do for a living. After all, a tip is something extra given because the customer feels generous, and it's never a sure thing.

Mexico U. Opens Santone Branch

MEXICO CITY — The first foreign university ever established in the United States recently opened its classrooms to American students. The new school, located in San Antonio, is an extension of the National University of Mexico (NUM) — the country's oldest and largest university headquartered in Mexico City.

The American branch of NUM is part of the newly-founded Mexican Cultural Institute in San Antonio. Under an agreement reached earlier this year between the Government of Mexico and the City of San Antonio, the Institute was granted permanent headquarters at 600 HemisFair Way, on the site of the International Fair of 1968.

Hanoi Admits Bombs 'Hurt'

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam admitted Monday that it is having "very difficult economic problems because of the intensified U.S. bombing but insisted that it had the capacity to continue its war efforts.

"Even if the enemy succeeds in the bomb destruction of our cities and our large industrial installations, they can never paralyze our economy to the point of preventing our survival and our ability to supply the South," the official newspaper Nhan Dan declared in a commentary broadcast by Radio Hanoi.

The broadcast warned the North Vietnamese, however, that they must make "utmost efforts in organization of resources and maintaining of transportation and communications" despite the damage from the U.S. bombers.

A pause for reflection at the opening gun might have proved highly profitable as well as refreshing to East in defending against South's six spade contract.

South's jump rebid of three spades is forcing to game after North's two-over-one response. When the latter trotted out a second suit by bidding four clubs, South checked back for aces via Blackwood. The five no trump bid announces that the partnership has all the top controls. Had North shown a sufficient number of kings, it was South's intention to go all the way. When his partner turned out to be kingless, however, he was obliged to settle for a small slam in spades.

West opened the eight of diamonds, an effective choice, for with any other lead, declarer has time to set up North's clubs for two

Eat Too Much

BONN, Germany (AP) — One of every four West Germans believes he is eating improperly, according to a survey by the Bonn Health Ministry.

Twenty-four per cent of those queried thought they were not getting full nutritional benefit from their meals because they were eating too much, too quickly and at the wrong times. Many admitted their diets included too much bread and potatoes.
