NORTH VIET MILITARY SUPPLY ROUTES SEALED OFF

Commie Firepower Slackening

WASHINGTON (AP) — One month after President Nixon ordered North Vietnam sealed off from outside military supplies, Defense Department officials see signs that enemy firepower may be slackening as a result.

While acknowledging they cannot prove any cause-and-effect link, officials cite as possible indicators: —A drop in the volume of North Vietnamese artillery shelling in South Vietnam. For example, fewer than 300 rounds hit the besieged city of An Loc one day this week. Earlier, North Vietnamese guns pumped as many as 7,800 rounds into that provincial capital in a day's time.

—A decrease in surface-to-air-missile firings. Pentagon figures indicate a steep decline in SAM firings against U.S.

planes throughout North Vietnam, from 317 in one April week to 39 in a recent week.

Senior military officers also suggest the mining of North Vietnamese ports and intense bombing of railroad lines from China may have caused enough of a supply pinch to delay the long-expected climatic attack on the city of Hue. North Vietnamese attacks have been stalled elsewhere in South Vietnam in recent weeks.

U.S. experts are convinced that the North Vietnamese had to stockpile substantial amounts of ammunition and material in South Vietnam and the area just above the demilitarized zone before springing their offensive in late March.

But officials say the cutoff of any major new supply flow into North Vietnam from Russia and China, and the systematic bombing of internal North Vietnamese supply lines leading toward the fronts, may have prompted Hanoi's field commanders to conserve ammunition.

According to U.S. intelligence estimates, the movement of fresh war supplies down into the lower North Vietnamese panhandle has been slashed from about 300 tons a day early in the offensive to only 18 tons

It was just one month ago, May 8, that Nixon announced he had concluded that "Hanoi must be denied the weapons and supplies it needs to continue the aggression" against South Vietnam. On Nixon's orders, entrances to seven North Vietnamese ports were plugged with air-dropped mines. About 25 Soviet and other communist-flag freighters and fuel tankers then bound for North Vietnam were reported to have turned away. No ships have tried to run the mine barrier since, officials say.

U.S. warships blocked coastal shipping and shelled military targets on shore. North Vietnamese rivers were mined to hamper supply-barge movements, and U.S. warplanes have sunk or damaged hundreds of such craft.

TRIAL DATES SET Not Guilty Of Theft, Says Ratliff

AUSTIN (AP) — One present and two former legislators pleaded innocent to felony charges in state district court today. A fourth lawmaker, Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury, pleaded innocent Wednesday.

Former Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford and Rep. John Allen of Longview are charged with conspiracy to commit theft. Ratliff also is charged with theft of a state warrant, two counts.

Former Rep. Hudson Moyer of Amarillo is charged with theft by false pretext.

Moyer leaned on the judge's bench and talked in a low voice. Dist. Atty. Bob Smith touched him on the elbow and reminded Moyer that courtroom etiquette forbids leaning on the bench. Besides, Smith said later, "The judge doesn't like it when you talk into his face."

Each time Ratliff was asked how he pleaded, he looked to his lawyer, Robert Hughes. The first time, Hughes said, "Not guilty." The second time, Hughes looked back at Ratliff and nodded affirmatively. Ratliff still said nothing, and Hughes mumbled, "Not guilty."

Allen spoke in a loud voice, "Your honor, I plead not guilty."

Moyer's trial was set for Sept. 11. He said he might ask for a pretrial hearing later.

Ratliff's pretrial hearing on the charge of theft of state warrants was set for July 27 and his trial was set for Aug. 28. His trial on the conspiracy charge was set for Oct. 2.

Delegates At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern piled on his California winners' spoils of 271 convention delegates for a count near two-thirds the 1,509 needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination in Miami Beach next month.

By beating Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in the California primary Tuesday, McGovern took all that state's delegates plus 97 from other states for a total of 907½.

Humphrey, and McGovern meanwhile, passed Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in popular votes won in 16 primaries. The totals: Humphrey 4,051,340; McGovern 3,950,394; and Wallace 3,612,650. Many of Wallace's write-in votes have yet to be counted, however.

Debt Ceiling Review Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted today to give the Treasury only a limited extension of borrowing authority, forcing another congressional review of the debt ceiling — and possibly of tax reform — by late summer.

The committee approved for House consideration a bill to extend the present $450 billion debt ceiling through Oct. 31, rather than grant the $15 billion increase President Nixon's administration asked.

The House is expected to consider the bill in about two weeks.

Without congressional action, the ceiling would drop automatically to $400 billion June 30 — about $25 billion under the actual debt.

EGYPT-GERMANY TIES REVEALED

BONN (AP) — West Germany and Egypt formally announced today they have resumed full diplomatic relations for the first time since Bonn's 1965 recognition of Israel triggered a large-scale break with the Arab world.

Announcements in Bonn and Cairo said "an exchange of ambassadors will take place as early as possible."

Egypt is the sixth Arab country to re-establish full relations after 10 Arab nations broke with West Germany in 1965.

Bonn now has diplomatic ties with Egypt, Lebanon, North Yemen, Jordan, Algeria and Sudan. Cairo's return to friendly relations was expected to lead to the resumption of ties with Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait.

Officers Seek Clues In Farenthold Murder

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — FBI agents and other police agencies are still trying to piece together the chain of events that led to the brutal murder of Corpus Christi millionaire Randy Farenthold.

So far, they apparently are not having much success.

A car belonging to Farenthold, 32, stepson of State Rep. Frances Farenthold, was found at a west side apartment but it contained no signs of violence. Investigators also found a set of keys belonging to Farenthold in a door of his former wife's home.

WASHED ASHORE

Farenthold's body washed ashore Tuesday on the northeast side of Corpus Christi Bay. A 25-pound block was tied to his neck by a chain. Authorities said it appeared that Farenthold had probably been knocked unconscious and then dumped in the water. An ocean tides expert theorized that Farenthold's body probably drifted southward after being heaved into the Corpus Christi-Port Aransas Ship channel.

A Nueces county sheriff's deputy said the only possessions on the rancher-sportsman's body were a cigarette lighter and a watch. Investigators say robbery might have been a motive.

Farenthold was to have been the principal witness for the FBI in a fraud case set for Sept. 1. The case involves four men charged with defrauding Farenthold of $100,000 and inducing him to cross a state line in pursuance of a financial scheme.

Charged in the case were Bruce L. Bass III and Tharel Smith, partners in a construction company; Anthony P. Sodd; and Thornton Caton, Jr. Sodd and Caton are from Louisville, Ky.

$1,000 BILLS
The government says Bass and Caton told Farenthold they could buy legitimate $1,000 bills for $600 apiece through underworld sources in Las Vegas.

Washington, said unemployment is their biggest problem.

Gov. Jack Williams of the desert state of Arizona said "water is his biggest problem. Russell W. Peterson of Delaware listed jobs or training for high school graduates.

Warren E. Hearnings probably spoke for all of them when he pointed to greedy voters who demand more state services but balk at increased taxes to pay the bills.

Tax Boosts Worry Many Governors

HOUSTON (AP) — If you were a state governor you'd probably worry most about school taxes, be reluctant to predict a tax increase, and hope most fervently for the federal government to give you money with no strings attached.

Those are the findings of informal questioning by The Associated Press of 15 state governors attending the National Governors' Conference which wound up its annual meeting here Wednesday.

The governors, both Democrats and Republicans, come from large states and small and from all sections of the nation. Although they don't constitute a scientific sample, their comments give some insight into the professional worries and hopes of the men who run state governments.

They were asked three questions:

—"What is your biggest problem?"
—"Do you foresee a tax increase in your state in the next two years?"

—"What one thing do you want most from the federal government?"

Six of the 15 governors said school taxes or property taxes were their biggest current worry. Recent court decisions have forced states to move away from property taxes as a means of financing grade schools and high schools. Two other governors said taxes in general were their prime worry.

Govs. Arch A. Moore of West Virginia and Dale Bumpers of Arkansas said their biggest headaches are caused by stubborn bureaucrats. Two governors of economically depressed states, Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine and Daniel J. Evans of

NETWORK REGULATIONS

Americans Being Fed Diet Of Violence And Sadism?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Further federal regulation of radio-television networks was proposed today by a congressman who says Americans are being fed "a steady diet of violence, brutality and sadism."

"The portrayal of violence is one of the easiest ways to attract an audience," said Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., "and most important of all, it sells soap."

"And as long as we in Congress give them the option of 'doing better' or making money, I am afraid they will choose the latter course."

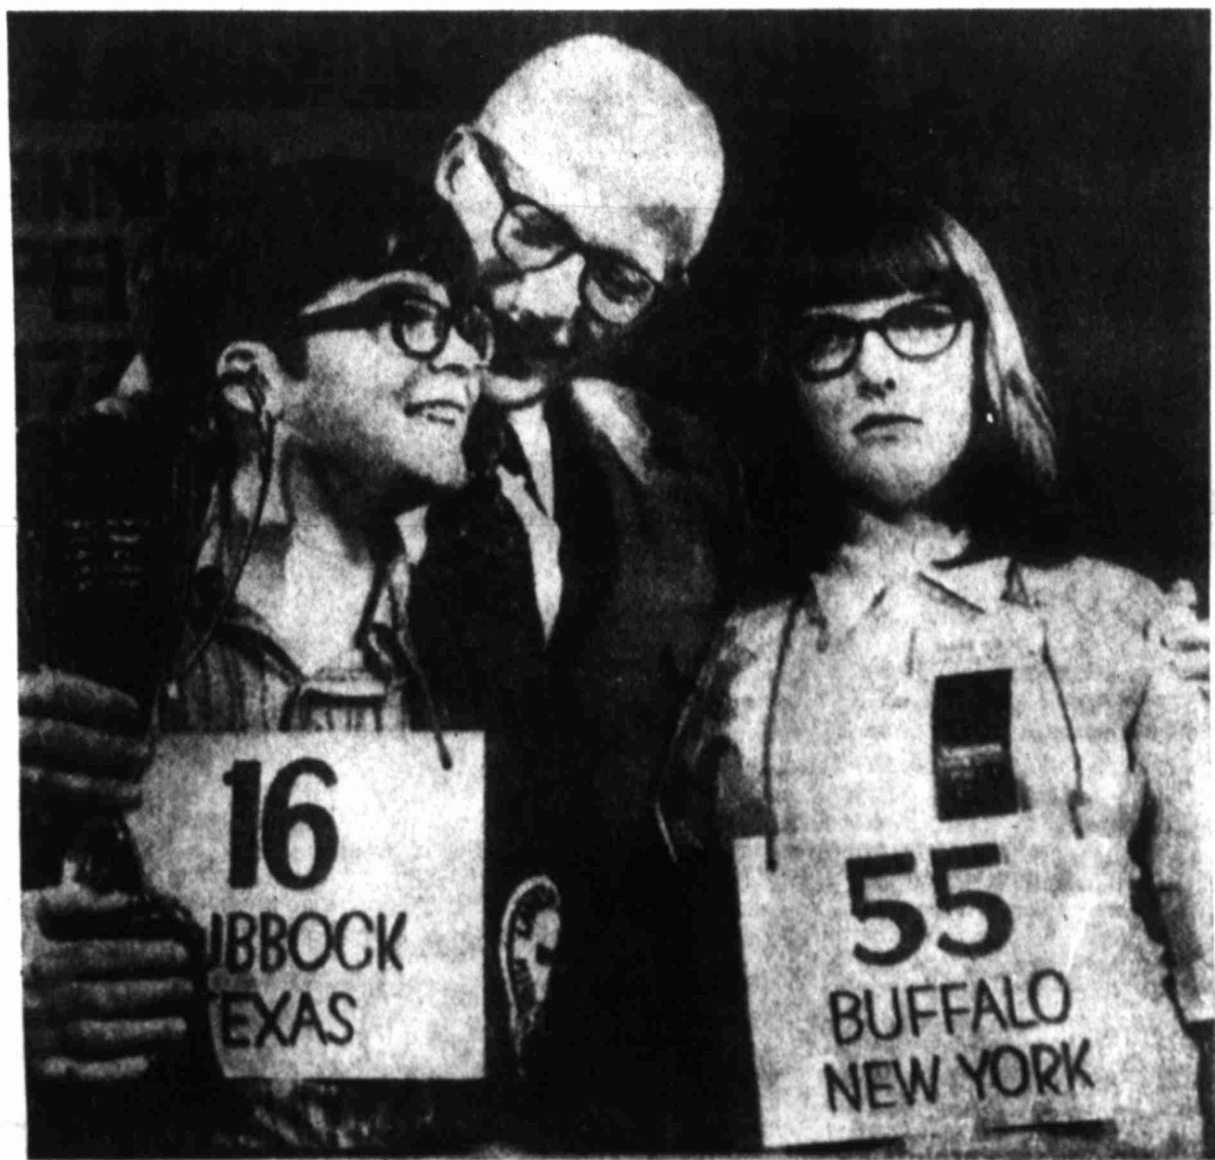

Legislation he introduced would give the Federal Communications Commission regulatory power over prime-time programming by NBC, CBS and ABC.

While saying he has no intention of stimulating government which watches over the broadcast industry, added in a statement that the networks alone have "the capability to produce quality television on a sustained basis. We need them."

"My bill would not take this function away from them—it would only make them produce programs more in the public interest."

While claiming to oppose censorship, he said, "I do feel that there is a mechanism by which we can reduce the level of network-TV violence by utilizing the concept of program balance as now applied to broadcast licenses by the FCC."

Lamesa's Robin Kral Wins National Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON — Gumbo-chewing Robin Kral, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kral of Lamesa, Tex., won the 45th annual National Spelling Bee here Thursday.

Young Kral beat out 13-year-old Lauren H. Pringle of Buffalo, N.Y., in the finals, fielding the word "garnett" after the girl had missed. (Garnett means a fiber-cleaning machine).

Robin, who is 14, went on to clinch the championship by getting the word "macerate," which means to waste away by excessive fasting.

A total of 78 competitors started the competition earlier this week.

Robin thus earned $1,000 in cash plus a weekend trip to New York City. With that tour, also, came $100 in spending money. In addition, he received a trophy and an engraved plaque for Lamesa High School.

The runner-up prize was $500. Third place in the contest was claimed by Joseph J. Vissers, an eighth grader at Elmendorf AFB in Alaska. He stumbled on the word "demaree." His prize was $250 in cash.

Fourth through eighth place paid the winners $50 each, plus gold medals.

Words spelled by young Kral Wednesday included "occlusion," "kiltzer," "osteomyelitis," and "hardack."

Among Texans who remained in contention for the championship at the end of Wednesday's competition were Miriam Woods, Corpus Christi; Greg Dial, San Antonio; and Barrie Trinkle, Fort Worth. One by one, they went out this morning.

Caller in the event was Jim Wagner of New York.

After Robin was declared the champion, the crowd broke into a cheer. He began to chew his gum faster while he embraced the spelling bee officials and expressed appreciation for the treatment extended him.

Acri Will Forego Surgery For Now

Doctors at the Veterans Administration hospital at Albuquerque, N.M., have advised City Commissioner Eddie Acri of Big Spring to avoid surgery to remove a kidney stone for at least a month.

For that reason, Acri will return here Friday and be an out-patient at the local VA facility until such time a new medical decision can be made in his case.

Massive Education Bill Up For Vote In Divided House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A massive education bill with its antibusing provision comes up for a vote today in a sharply divided House of Representatives. Supporters of the bill, which would authorize $21.3 billion over the next three years for a wide variety of education provisions in the 229-page bill, the focal point of sharp controversy surrounding it is a single paragraph that would prevent any desegregation orders of a federal court from being carried out until Jan. 1, 1974, unless all appeals have been exhausted.

Civil-rights groups, contending the provision would effectively halt court-ordered desegregation, are urging defeat of the entire package in order to eliminate the provision. Antibusing forces, seeking even stricter controls over the courts, want to defeat the bill so the way will be clear to offer a stronger proposal.

The House already has approved stronger antibusing legislation that was watered down in a Senate-House conference that agreed on the provision now in the bill.

Since the compromise was agreed to on May 17 both sides have been waiting to see what the White House and Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan are going to do. They are still waiting.

At a GOP caucus on the bill Wednesday, Ford said he had not yet made up his mind and that the White House also was still undecided. No party position was taken.

Although Northern liberals and Southern conservatives are against the bill, their opposing positions on busing have prevented them from working together and no one has accurately gauged their combined strength.

Moon Core Evidence

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials at the Manned Spacecraft Center say that shock waves produced by a large meteoroid crashing into the moon about a month ago has provided "evidence of a lunar mantle and possibly a core."

The May 13 meteoroid impact produced shock waves which supported theories the moon has an outer crust some 38 miles thick, the Tuesday announcement said.

The hunk of space debris, the largest recorded in the three years Apollo scientific stations have been operating on the moon, hit about 88 miles due north of the Apollo 14 landing site.

Scientists who study the moon have long argued whether the moon has a core, and if so, what its nature is.

"Although evidence for a lunar core is still very tentative, seismic signals appear to show a change in velocity indicating a change of state in lunar materials at a depth of about 600 miles," the MSC announcement said.

Dr. Gary Latham, principal investigator for the network of four seismic stations on the moon, is still studying the signals received at the center to learn more about the nature of the core—whether it is solid or liquid as the earth is.

The lunar crust at the Apollo landing site is about twice as thick as that beneath the continents of the earth, scientists at MSC said.

Premium Rates Are Cut On Insurance

The Veterans Administration has announced a 15 per cent reduction in premium rates on Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) which means savings of $12 million annually for servicemen.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said nearly 2.9 million servicemen, who are insured for $42.5 billion, will participate in the savings, effective July 1.

Johnson noted the reduction, the first since the SGLI program was established in 1965, became feasible because of continuing favorable mortality experience. Servicemen need not contact VA to take advantage of the reduced rates.

Before the reduction, servicemen paid one dollar a month for each $5,000 of coverage. Thus, the maximum coverage of $15,000 costs $3.00 per month under the present rate. Effective July 1, the new rate for the full $15,000 coverage will be $2.50, $10.00, $1.70, and for $5,000, $0.85 monthly.

All members of the Armed Forces are automatically insured under SGLI, and premiums are deducted from their pay unless they decline in writing to be insured. The maximum amount was raised from $10,000 to $15,000 in June 1970.

Aged Killer 'Gets Right With Lord'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Lonnie Cross, an old man bent with arthritis, limped into the sheriff's office and said he wanted to "get right with the Lord." He said he had killed a man in 1935.

Homicide Detective William Beacham reported that Cross, 66, said Wednesday "he had something he wanted to get off his mind." He said he had killed a man.

The detective said a check through police files confirmed the old man's story. On Nov. 3, 1935, Beacham said, a Lonnie Smith was fighting with his common law wife and stabbed her several times. A friend, Ed Bozier, tried to break up the scuffle and was fatally stabbed in the head by Smith, the detective said.

On Jan. 2, 1936, a grand jury issued a first-degree murder warrant for Smith. That warrant is still outstanding.

Cross told Beacham that after the knifing he fled to Georgia. A year later he moved to New Orleans where he has lived since under the name of Cross, he said.

"He said he'd become a religious man about 12 years ago and this had really been bothering him ever since. He said he wanted to live a good Christian life," Beacham said.

"He said he wanted to turn himself in, and pay the consequences." At 8 p.m. Lonnie Cross, alias Lonnie Smith, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Dorkas Drake on the charge of first-degree murder.

He was held without bond in the Duval County jail.

AT DEMO CONVENTION Diversity May Lead To Many Impasses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With more youth and minority delegates than ever before, the Democratic National Convention may be stronger on debate than compromise, say some of Sen. George McGovern's California delegates.

"I think these people are so idealistic and independent minded that they'll refuse to make any compromises whatsoever," Mike Herrera, a 26-year-old delegate from suburban Torrance, said in an interview Wednesday.

"If there should be a deadlock, it will be an absolute stalemate. I can't see these people, now that they've got a voice after working so hard, changing their minds no matter what kind of a deal anybody offers them."

Under reform rules, the delegations to the July convention in Miami Beach are required to approximate the population of the state they represent.

More than 40 per cent of the 271 persons chosen for the California delegation won by McGovern in Tuesday's primary are blacks, Mexican-Americans and Asian-Americans.

Women compose 52 per cent of the delegation and 40 per cent of the delegates are under 30.

The result will be a more democratic convention—possibly more emotional, acrimonious and protracted, some delegates said.

"I think this will be the most wide-open convention ever," said Jeff Hare, 58, who was on the steering committee that chose the delegates.

"I think the quarrels on the committee will be horrendous because people won't be at all anxious for peace and tranquility—they'll be more anxious about things that have plagued them all their lives. It will be far more liberal and radical than any convention ever held by any party in the history of the country."

Other delegates agreed. Stephen J. Herzog, 33, of Moorpark speculated that delegates would be "much less amenable to the kind of traditional bargaining I've read about" and added that he himself would be "hard-nosed."

One delegate, Ralph M. Ochoa, 30, a Mexican-American leader in East Los Angeles, said he felt skeptical of all politics and politicians and that the first test of the party's intentions would be whether minorities were given key positions on convention committees.

"This will be the real test of the new politics," Ochoa said. "We're going into an arena where the party loyalist will try to control things."

Peace Talks Plea Nixed

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam Wednesday rejected a demand from North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to resume the Vietnam talks today.

The allies said the Communists had given no indication that they were ready to negotiate seriously, and they still sought a military solution to the war.

The allies suspended the conference indefinitely on May 4. Hanoi's highest-ranking official in Paris, Politburo member Le Duc Tho, said Tuesday night he would agree to more secret talks with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, but only if Kissinger offers new proposals to end the war and if the semi-public peace talks are resumed.

Tho was replying to questions from newsmen at a reception, and his remarks were not a hint that there had been any American overtures for secret talks.

Midland's Demands Send Water Deliveries Up

Spotted spring showers created erratic water demands in May for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, but the trend was up decidedly.

Municipal deliveries stood at 1,150,012,000 gallons, but had it not been for the 357,410,000 gallons pumped to Midland—which received no water from the district in May 1971 due to short lake supplies then—the total would have been down.

Odessa's 418,549,000 gallons represented a 12.52 per cent decrease. Big Spring, with 263,639,000 gallons, was up 3.96 per cent, but Snyder dropped 24.57 per cent in taking 75,002,000 gallons. Stanton's consumption was up sharply in amounting to 6,530,000 gallons, compared with only 422,000 a year ago. This May San Angelo pumped 36,882,000 gallons, and a year ago it had no deliveries.

The municipal total was 1,150,012,000 gallons, a gain of 40.02 per cent. Oil field and industrial deliveries aggregated 471,512,616 gallons, a gain of 129.87 per cent (because most of the oil field customers were cut off in May 1971).

Total deliveries by the district in May amounted to 1,651,524,616, which was a gain of 57.98 over May 1971. The total for the year to date was 7,351,972,552—or up 49.47 per cent.

The district started its Ward County wells at the end of May, and the June schedule calls for delivery of as much as 11.3 million gallons a day from this source to Odessa if needed.

Muskie Slated To Release Delegates, Back McGovern

By The Associated Press
Sen. George S. McGovern's quickening race for the Democratic presidential nomination was boosted today by the growing possibility that fallen front-runner Sen. Edmund S. Muskie would release his delegates and lend his support.

Sources indicated Wednesday that the Maine senator would abandon entirely this campaign and support McGovern. NBC and the New York Times reported that the word could come when Muskie addresses the National Press Club in Washington on Friday.

Muskie's support and the 166 delegates his candidacy collected before it faltered could put McGovern within grasping distance of the all-important figure of 1,509, the number of delegates needed to win the nomination in Miami Beach in July.

Even before word of Muskie's possible move began to circulate, McGovern was allowing himself the luxury of speculating that a first-ballot victory in Miami is possible after defeating his chief rival, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, in the pivotal California primary, as well as three others Tuesday.

For his part, Humphrey was acknowledging only that his chances were "not what I would call the best." He said he has a good chance on a second or third convention ballot and would have a better chance against President Nixon in November than would McGovern.

Late Wednesday, the public pronouncements from the Muskie camp tended to the cautious with spokesman Richard Stewart saying the senator is still trying to decide.

Stewart said Muskie and McGovern talked by telephone Wednesday but he did not know what was discussed.

The McGovern delegate count, according to his campaign director, Gary Hart, is expected to reach at least 1,335 delegates, and possibly as high as 1,400, following the June 20 New York primary, last of the batch.

LITTLE DOUBT
While the campaign focused on Washington and Miami, McGovern was thinking in much broader geographic terms in a flat statement that he believes he can personally negotiate an end to the Vietnam war.

The South Dakota senator told a Los Angeles news conference he would go anywhere in the world, Hanoi if necessary, to negotiate.

"There isn't the slightest doubt in my mind that I could talk to the leaders of that government (North Vietnam) and work out arrangements for ending the war and releasing our prisoners that would be fully acceptable to the American people," McGovern said.

In that crucial California race, 99 per cent of the precincts gave McGovern 45 per cent of the vote and Humphrey 40 per cent, a much narrower margin than had been predicted.

Adults Seeking Passports Should Apply In Person

By JUDY HALVERSON

May and June are popular travel months and some lucky people spend these months traveling in a foreign country. According to the district clerk's office, 81 Big Springers have applied for passports to travel in Europe this summer.

The district clerk's office advises people who plan to travel outside of the United States, Mexico or Canada to apply at least 10 days before departure for a passport. The application for passport is available only to citizens or nationals of the United States and is executed by a passport agent, a Federal court clerk, a clerk of any State court of record or a probate court judge or clerk, or a postal clerk designated by the Postmaster General. Big Spring residents planning a trip abroad can apply for a passport at the office of the district clerk, Fern Cox, room 303 of the County Courthouse.

A wife or husband who is to be included in the passport must appear in person with the applicant. Unmarried children under the age of 18 years who are to be included in a passport application are not required to appear in person. An unmarried person who has attained the age of 18 years must obtain a passport in his own name.

Upon application, the person must present proof of United States citizenship. A passport issued previously to an applicant, or one in which he was included, is accepted as proof of citizenship.

A native-born citizen seeking his first passport must present his birth certificate or, if not obtainable, baptismal certificate or a certified copy of the record of baptism. If such evidence is not available, he must submit notice by appropriate authorities that no birth record exists and such secondary evidence as census records, newspaper files, family Bibles, school records or affidavits of persons with personal knowledge of the birth. The birth or baptismal certificate must show the applicant's given name and surname and have been recorded shortly after birth.

All applicants must establish their identity to the satisfaction of the person executing the application. The identification must contain a signature and either a physical description or a photograph of the applicant. Acceptable items include: previous US passport, naturalization certificate, permanent driver's license and government identification card. Social Security cards, temporary permits and identification cards and memberships cards are not acceptable as evidence of identity.

CAN SIGN
If the applicant is not able to establish his identity with an acceptable document, an identifying witness who has known him for at least two years and who is a United States citizen can sign an affidavit stating knowledge of the applicant. The witness must establish his own identity to the person executing the application.

Evidence requirements for citizenship acquired through naturalization of the applicant or his parents or birth abroad to US citizen parents can be obtained from the district clerk's office. Two duplicate color or black and white photographs, taken within six months of the date of application and portraying a good likeness of the applicant, must accompany the application. Each photo must be no smaller than 2 1/2 inches by 2 1/2 inches and no larger than 3 inches by 3 inches in size and signed on the front along the left-hand side. A group photograph is preferred when a wife and/or children are to be included in a passport. Vending machine prints, acetate or film base prints, snapshots, magazine or full length photographs are not acceptable.

The total fee for a passport is $12. Ten dollars is forwarded with the application to one of the 11 passport agencies. The remaining $2 is paid to the office executing the application. Payment should be made by check or money order.

Drop In Volume Of Steel Imports

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A drop in the volume of foreign steel imported during April appears to be the first effect of a recently signed agreement between the United States, Japan and the European Common Market limiting the amount and type of steel imports.

Imports of all types of steel totaled about 938,000 tons in April, down 15 per cent from 1.09 million tons shipped to this country during March, and the first time in several months imports fell below the million-ton level, government figures show.

Sharp Linked To Swiss Banks Deal

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston developer Frank Sharp was involved in a scheme in 1970 to gain some $200 million in securities allegedly deposited in Swiss banks by Jewish victims of Nazi Germany, a government lawyer testified Wednesday.

Ernest S. Watson, regional director of the Securities and Exchange Commission said he believes, however, that only about $2 to $3 million actually was deposited in Swiss banks and that the SEC stopped Sharp from taking any action.

Watson was testifying in the perjury trial of Michael Socrates Makris, onetime Houston financial wizard who is charged with lying to SEC lawyers investigating Sharp's shaky financial empire in 1970.

The investigation ultimately led to a conviction for Sharp and a scandal which rocked Texas' state government.

The government alleges Makris lied under oath to the SEC by denying that he had talked with Sharp and a Jesuit priest about the alleged securities.

Watson said Sharp planned to send a $3 million letter of credit to Europe in an attempt to gain the alleged securities but the SEC stopped the Sharpstown State Bank, owned by Sharp, from issuing the credit. Watson said SEC investigators feared the withdrawal from the bank would undermine its already poor financial condition. The bank was later forced into receivership.

Watson said he had information that Sharp was negotiating with Makris in the deal and he sent investigators to talk to Makris.

Able To Surmount Tired Material

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Melba Moore-Clifton Davis Show" had its debut on CBS Wednesday night, the first of five programs replacing the "Carol Burnett Show." The two stars, young, vibrant and talented, were able to surmount the tired material that surrounded them.

Summer programs let networks give a chance to new talent, an opportunity grasped rather infrequently but an act that should be encouraged.

Miss Moore and Davis, off-stage lovers who made their relationship explicit at the opening of the show, came into the nation's living rooms with warmth and impact—when they were singing together. CBS, probably in an effort to hedge its bets, put them into a format containing all the Hollywood musical-variety cliches.

Thus one encountered two fresh, eager performers in the opening segment unflinchingly reading cutesy lines from the cue cards with something less than Actors' Studio skills. The nonmusical parts were strictly from a comedy writers' well-thumbed notebook. At one point Davis recited the hours at which the Flip Wilson program, "Sanford and Son" and their own program was broadcast, 8 p.m. EDT. Melba moved in for the clincher: "Do you think there's a curfew for us black people?"

The variety hour's premise was an apartment house in which Melba and Clifton have apartments. The landlady is Moms Mabley—who had no more than a half-dozen lines. Also present are a comic handyman and a couple of strange tenants.

The format and the dialogue were tired, but the show really took off and soared when Miss Moore, sometimes alone and sometimes with Davis, got around to singing. They were moments worth suffering for.

Some of the greatest stage performers unfortunately come through the television screen curiously shorn of the magic that makes them exciting on the boards. Melba Moore, however, comes into the living room intact, an appealing, starry-eyed girl with a great voice. Davis is easy and graceful with great charm and compliments her beautifully. They make a fine team.

"The Melba Moore-Clifton Davis Show" may not have been an unqualified success, but one must be grateful for the chance they have been given. Now how about trying out some new writers, directors and producers?

Dr. Blocker Named Successor To Fired Dean Of Med School

SAN ANTONIO, Tex (AP) — Dr. Truman Blocker Jr., president of the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, was named interim dean Wednesday of San Antonio's UT Medical School, less than 24 hours after the current dean was fired.

Dr. Blocker will assume the temporary job Monday to replace Dr. F. Carter Pannill, who was dismissed Tuesday in a move that touched off a crescendo of controversy.

'FREE REPORT'

UT System Chancellor Charles LeMaistre told a news conference that Blocker will serve as interim dean until Pannill's successor is selected, probably within three months.

LeMaistre declined repeatedly to discuss details of Pannill's dismissal, saying he will do so only after making a "full report" on the matter to the UT regents at their regular meeting in Galveston on Friday.

He denied claims by some faculty members that Pannill was fired over the school's participation in a federally funded poverty clinic, which drew criticism in the early stages from several local doctors.

'DISENCHANTED'

Asked about reports that key faculty members may resign as a result of Pannill's ouster, LeMaistre said he would not be surprised if some had become "disenchanted" over what he called a "long, continuous controversy" that had often been in the press.

There have been numerous published reports here over the past several months about Pannill's status at the school and that of Dr. Leon Cander, chairman of the school's department of medicine.

Among those who blasted Pannill's dismissal Wednesday was County Commissioner Albert Pena, a Mexican-American leader, who said it "means the Texas medical mafia has taken over the medical school."

"The only crime they (Pannill and Cander) committed was their initiation of a program to help the poor in this community," he said.

TRUMPED UP

LeMaistre reiterated that Pannill was fired because of "the division caused by the repeated discussion of internal administrative matters in the press and because these internal matters had not been satisfactorily resolved by the medical school administration."

Regents member and former chairman Frank Erwin Jr. said earlier that Pannill was fired because he spent $54,000 in state funds to supplement faculty salaries without the regents' approval. He also said Pannill illegally gave state money to the campaigns of three legislators.

Several of Pannill's supporters called Erwin's claims "trumped up charges."

Erwin said the legislators were Reps. Frank Lombardino and R. L. Vale and Sen. Joe Bernal, all of San Antonio.

Lombardino countered that his records showed a committee that held a lance in Lombardino's honor received $50 from the medical school for tickets.

"It was before I had any opposition and was not political," Lombardino said.

He said LeMaistre was among those who attended.

Bernal said the school evidently bought $100 in tickets to a dinner in his honor held before any campaign began. He said regents chairman John Peace was on the sponsoring committee.

NEW IDEAS

Vale said "it might very well be" the school bought tickets to a Dec. 3 affair in his honor. He charged the real issue involves Pannill and Cander's philosophy on new approaches to delivering medical care.

Both Erwin and Peace denied such claims.

"It's a purely internal administrative affair based on whether Dr. LeMaistre feels Pannill has been properly administering the medical school," Peace said.

As for the salary supplements, Pannill said he had an oral agreement with the chancellor for them and that it was not his responsibility to bring the matter before the regents.

Pannill is a former assistant dean of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas. He and LeMaistre were both on the faculty of the Dallas school in the early 1960s. Pannill became dean at San Antonio in 1965.

LeMaistre said Pannill still holds his academic post here as professor of internal medicine and physiology and that he can remain in that position if he chooses.

Take The Bus, It's Faster; So Say Terminal Managers

By DAVID PICKLE

A bus cannot cruise at 450 mph at an altitude of 15,000 feet, but it may be faster than an airplane that can.

Ask James Worden or Jim Owens.

"Most say it as quick to go to Dallas on a bus as it is in a plane," said Owens, manager of the Greyhound terminal here. "Either way, there's not a whole lot of difference."

Owens said, however, it is far cheaper to take the bus. A one-way ticket to Dallas on the bus costs $12.30. An airline ticket to Dallas is $32.

Worden, manager of the Continental terminal, cited the five-star service between Dallas and Houston as a case in favor of the speed of busses.

"The trip from Dallas to Houston takes three hours and 55 minutes on Continental," he said. "The five-star service is restroom equipped and has a hostess. She serves beverages on the trip. This requires reservations just like an airplane."

"If you take a plane, a person from Fort Worth has to drive 30 minutes just to get to the air terminal in Dallas," he said. "When you land in Houston, you're 20-30 miles out of town. By the time you get to where you are going, it will probably take you four hours."

each day, baggage mixup is rare, and the loss of a customer's baggage is almost unheard of.

Worden said Continental is planning to route the five-star service through Big Spring possibly within the next two years. The service would mean the bus would stop at only the major depots along the way. He said since the drivers change here Big Spring would be considered a major terminal.

Owens said Greyhound has installed overseas shipping. "If you want to send something to your girl friend in Paris, we could have it there in a couple of days."

The freight is bused to Houston and flown overseas from there. He said Cosden Oil and Chemical has used the service to ship some of its materials to offices in Belgium.

Thorough Check On Local Schools Being Conducted

Representatives from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are making a detailed check of records of the Big Spring schools as a followup to last year's contact.

HEW had contended that there was some racial imbalance in certain schools, but initial orders to prepare a plan for altering this pattern were stayed. The action had occurred just prior to the start of the 1971-72 term.

It was the first such visitation by HEW in the Big Spring

Angela Begins Three-Week Thanks Tour

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — An "Evening with Angela" in New York's Madison Square Garden June 29 will culminate a nationwide tour the black militant begins Friday to thank all her supporters.

After the three-week tour, Miss Davis will leave for a six-week vacation in either the Soviet Union or Bulgaria, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Miss Davis was freed Sunday by an all-white jury of murder-kidnap-conspiracy charges in connection with an Aug. 7, 1970, escape attempt at the Marin County courthouse in which four persons died. She was accused of supplying the guns and helping plan the escape attempt.

Charelene Mitchell, executive director of the Angela Davis Defense Committee, said the 28-year-old black Communist will go to Los Angeles for several days, then travel to San Antonio, Tex., June 15; Chicago June 17; Detroit 18; then probably Memphis, Tenn., and her hometown of Birmingham, Ala., before winding up in New York.

A spokesman for Miss Davis, Stephanie Allan, said death threats Miss Davis has received since her acquittal were considered in setting up the tour. Because of them, she said, Miss Davis will travel with a security guard.

Miss Allan said Miss Davis would address the Madison Square Garden event and entertainment would be provided by Carmen McCrae, Nina Simone, Ossie Davis, Jimmie Witherspoon, Melba Moore, Chita Rivera and The Persuasions. The evening is to be sponsored by the Angela Davis Legal Defense Fund.

Hog Cholera Quarantine

HOUSTON (AP) — A section of northwest Harris county has been put under a hog cholera quarantine by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Commission Chairman George Apple said the action was taken Tuesday after a case of hog cholera was found last week on a farm near Cypress.

The entire herd of 236 head was destroyed and $4,854 paid to the owner as an indemnity.

Hog cholera is a highly infectious, often fatal virus disease characterized by fever, loss of appetite, diarrhea and internal bleeding.

Dr. H. Q. Sibley, executive director of the Animal Health Commission, said all hogs in County Commissioners Precinct Court, were being checked for signs of the disease.

Sibley said 6,413 hogs have been destroyed in Texas this year because they either had cholera or were exposed to it, with $71,952 indemnities paid to the owners.

Old-Time Cowboys Meet In Stamford

The Texas Cowboy Reunion Association, an organization of Old-Time Cowboys, will meet for its 42nd reunion in Stamford July 14, the traditional date of the Texas Cowboy Reunion.

All oldtimers are urged to be present, wives of deceased late and regular members are eligible for membership and new members past the age of 45 are encouraged to show up.

The Oldtimers program includes fellowship meetings on the 1st, business meeting and memorial service on July 3rd and oldtime fiddlers contest on July 4th. There will be a dance each night from 9 p.m. to 1 p.m., and the Oldtimers are expected for each noon meal at the Oldtimers chuckwagon shed.

ALL ARE DOWNTOWN

He also said a bus will take a person from the downtown area of a city to the downtown area of the destination. "Those airline terminals are out in the boon docks," he said.

Owens said busses were "about the safest form of transportation yet." He said the number of people who ride the bus from Big Spring attests to that. Between 1,000 and 1,500 travelers board a Greyhound here each month.

That number, however, puts the local Greyhound terminal in the smaller group of stations in the eyes of the main Greyhound office. "At the biggest, we're considered a medium-sized terminal," he said.

But he said the Big Spring terminal is definitely more important than the average terminal its size.

"If you board a bus in San Antonio, you have to change here if you want to go to Denver, Albuquerque or Salt Lake City," he said. "We have what we call thru-busses that go direct from Denver to San Antonio and Dallas or Memphis to San Diego, Los Angeles or San Francisco that come through here."

Drivers who make the San Antonio to Amarillo run for Greyhound change in Big Spring. For Continental, those who drive from Dallas to El Paso change here.

SAME TRIP

The drivers make the same trip every day. If he has the job of going Amarillo to Big Spring, he will make the trip, get his rest and then go back to Amarillo.

Owens said Greyhound drivers determine which route they will get to travel by bidding on it with their seniority. If they like to travel at night and if they prefer a certain area, they bid for that run.

Worden said six operators work out of Big Spring. They work the El Paso to Dallas run in much the same way Greyhound operates the San Antonio to Amarillo job.

Worden said Big Spring is the place where all arrangements for all charter buses for Continental between Abilene and Pecos are made. "This is also the main tour office for the division," he said.

Greyhound also offers a charter service and tours.

It is the regular service, though, that provides the bulk of business. Owens said there are 23 schedules that come to his station each day. Each schedule may have either one, two or three busses on it because there were too many people to put on one bus.

MIXUP RARE

Owens said despite the large number of busses that come in

Can People Pay Little More To Harness Odor?

By STEVE HULTMAN

A fresh approach to treating sewage in Big Spring may provide at least a temporary solution to the odor problem at the treatment plant.

After the demonstration last week of a machine that injects chlorine gas into sewage, Bill Brown, manager of utilities, decided to add an old chlorine injector to the present system.

In a demonstration Wednesday, coal black supernate drawn off the digesting tanks was turned into a muddy brown liquid when the chlorine was added.

"We are not sure that this will help," said Brown, "but we think it might, along with some other operating modifications we will make."

The city won't know for a few weeks yet if the new methods will help cut down odor, because it will take time for the process to effect the whole plant.

SLUDGE SMELLS

"A big part of the odor comes from the drying sludge drawn off the digesters. If they are not working properly, the sludge smells. The black supernate we drew off the digesting tanks shows that they are not working properly, but with the chlorine injector, we hope they will work better," he said. The treated supernate is put back into the digesting tanks, and should help improve the efficiency of the treatment of new sewage added.

The demonstration was presented during an inspection tour of state air and water quality control representatives here to observe the situation first hand and to discuss the problem with the city.

Representatives of the state Air Quality Board and of the state Water Quality Board met with city officials and commissioners at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The discussion session was turned into an impromptu public hearing by 20-30 residents living near the treatment plant.

The session began with a statement by David Sorrels of the Texas Water Quality Board that infiltration of the sewer line had at one time cut efficiency to 40 per cent.

EFFICIENCY UP

"We have been working with the city on this, and efficiency is now up to 60 per cent," said Sorrels. "This should have a definite effect on the problem, according to Sorrels."

He added that this should not have been a public hearing and that the Texas Air Quality Board should have come to the TWQB to begin with, as they had been working with the city for some time on the problem.

City Manager Harry Nagel told the spectators that the city had tried at least 30 types of deodorants in the last year, with little success.

Nagel said the chlorine injector demonstrated by the BIF company could cost $75,000 and require about $12-17 per day to operate, compared to the present process, which costs

Big Mobile Homes Deal

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — In a move into the mobile home retailing field, Castle Industries, Inc., a mobile home manufacturer, has agreed to acquire one of the largest retail operations in the West and Southwest, Castle has announced.

Castle Industries' board has approved an agreement to acquire Mark V. Mobile Homes, Inc., which until earlier this year has headquarters in Denver.

The acquisition called for Castle Industries to issue 100,000 shares of its common stock for the Mark V stock. In addition, a maximum of an additional 75,000 shares may be paid depending on Mark V's 1972 earnings after taxes.

According to Leonard W. Wilson Jr., Castle Industries president, Mark V. Mobile Homes will be operated as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Castle. It will be headed by Kenneth Jacobs, president, and Edward Jacobs, vice president. The brothers founded Mark V in early 1970 with one retail lot in Denver.

Since then Mark V has expanded to the point where it now operates 20 sales lots in 15 cities in Colorado, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Texas.

He's Guilty Of 15 Rapes

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed Wednesday 15 rape convictions of a Houston man, Larry Kent Gray.

Gray was sentenced to life in six of the cases and to 25 years in each of the other nine cases. None of the sentences are cumulative.

The victims ranged in age from 14 to 51. Court records show the offenses occurred over a period of several months in 1969 and 1970.

He Saw No One Beaten, Kicked At Cop Station

HOUSTON (AP) — The federal civil rights trial of two former Houston officers accused of the beating death of a prisoner and already into its sixth week appeared to be winding to a close Wednesday with the testimony of one of the defendants.

Arthur N. Hill, 29, took the stand and said he saw no one beaten or kicked on the night of April 4, 1970, in the police station of suburban Galena Park.

Hill and Jack A. McMahon, 23, were fired from the Houston police force after the alleged beatings of Bobby Jones Conner and Larry Taylor. Conner died on the way to a hospital and Taylor had to undergo surgery for internal injuries.

Both former officers were acquitted of murder charges in a state court last year but face federal charges now of violating the civil rights of Conner and Taylor. Conviction could bring life imprisonment.

Hill and McMahon, who came to the station after Galena Park officers radioed for help in catching Conner and Taylor who were in a stolen car, told the jurors Tuesday he was not angry at the time of the incident and never took his slapstick out of its holster.

Dr. Blocker Named Successor To Fired Dean Of Med School

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Truman Blocker Jr., president of the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, was named interim dean Wednesday of San Antonio's UT Medical School, less than 24 hours after the current dean was fired.

Dr. Blocker will assume the temporary job Monday to replace Dr. F. Carter Pannill, who was dismissed Tuesday in a move that touched off a crescendo of controversy.

'FREE REPORT'

UT System Chancellor Charles LeMaistre told a news conference that Blocker will serve as interim dean until Pannill's successor is selected, probably within three months.

LeMaistre declined repeatedly to discuss details of Pannill's dismissal, saying he will do so only after making a "full report" on the matter to the UT regents at their regular meeting in Galveston on Friday. He denied claims by some that Pannill was fired over the medical school's participation in a federally funded poverty clinic, which drew criticism in the early stages from several local doctors.

'DISENCHANTED'

Asked about reports that key faculty members may resign as a result of Pannill's ouster, LeMaistre said he would not be surprised if some had become "disenchanted" over what he called a "long, continuous controversy" that had often been in the press.

There have been numerous published reports here over the past several months about Pannill's status at the school and that of Dr. Leon Cander, chairman of the school's department of medicine. Among those who blasted Pannill's dismissal Wednesday was County Commissioner Albert Pena, a Mexican-American leader, who said it "means the Texas medical mafia has taken over the medical school." "The only crime they (Pannill and Cander) committed was their initiation of a program to help the poor in this community," he said.

'TRUMPED UP'

LeMaistre reiterated that Pannill was fired because of "the division caused by the repeated discussion of internal administrative matters in the press and because these internal matters had not been satisfactorily resolved by the medical school administration."

Regents member and former chairman Frank Erwin Jr. said earlier that Pannill was fired because he spent $54,000 in state funds to supplement faculty salaries without the regents' approval. He also said Pannill illegally gave state money to the campaigns of three legislators.

Several of Pannill's supporters called Erwin's claims "trumped up charges." Erwin said the legislators were Reps. Frank Lombardino and R. L. Vale and Sen. Joe Bernal, all of San Antonio.

Lombardino countered that his records showed a committee that held a lance in Lombardino's honor received $50 from the medical school for tickets. "It was before I had any opposition and was not political," Lombardino said.

He said LeMaistre was among those who attended. Bernal said the school evidently bought $100 in tickets to a dinner in his honor held before any campaign began. He said regents chairman John Peace was on the sponsoring committee.

'NEW IDEAS'

Vale said "it might very well be" the school bought tickets to a Dec. 3 affair in his honor. He charged the real issue involves Pannill and Cander's philosophy on new approaches to delivering medical care.

Both Erwin and Peace denied such claims. "It's a purely internal administrative affair based on whether Dr. LeMaistre feels Pannill has been properly administering the medical school," Peace said.

As for the salary supplements, Pannill said he had an oral agreement with the chancellor for them and that it was not his responsibility to bring the matter before the regents.

Pannill is a former assistant dean of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas. He and LeMaistre were both on the faculty of the Dallas school in the early 1960s. Pannill became dean at San Antonio in 1965.

LeMaistre said Pannill still holds his academic post here as professor of internal medicine and physiology and that he can remain in that position if he chooses.

Take The Bus, It's Faster; So Say Terminal Managers

By DAVID PICKLE

A bus cannot cruise at 450 mph at an altitude of 15,000 feet, but it may be faster than an airplane that can.

Ask James Worden or Jim Owens.

"Most say it as quick to go to Dallas on a bus as it is in a plane," said Owens, manager of the Greyhound terminal here. "Either way, there's not a whole lot of difference."

Owens said, however, it is far cheaper to take the bus. A one-way ticket to Dallas on the bus costs $12.30. An airline ticket to Dallas is $32.

Worden, manager of the Continental terminal, cited the five-star service between Dallas and Houston as a case in favor of the speed of busses.

"The trip from Dallas to Houston takes three hours and 55 minutes on Continental," he said. "The five-star service in restroom equipped and has a hostess. She serves beverages on the trip. This requires reservations just like an airplane."

"If you take a plane, a person from Fort Worth has to drive 30 minutes just to get to the terminal in Dallas," he said. "When you land in Houston, you're 26-30 miles out of town. By the time you get to where you are going, it will probably take you four hours."

each day, baggage mixup is rare, and the loss of a customer's baggage is almost unheard of.

Worden said Continental is planning to route the five-star service through Big Spring possibly within the next two years. The service would mean the bus would stop at only the major depots along the way. He said since the drivers change here Big Spring would be considered a major terminal.

Owens said Greyhound has installed overseas shipping. "If you want to send something to your girl friend in Paris, we could have it there in a couple of days."

The freight is bused to Houston and flown overseas from there. He said Cosden Oil and Chemical has used the service to ship some of its materials to offices in Belgium.

Representatives from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are making a detailed check of records of the Big Spring schools as a followup to last year's contact.

HEW had contended that there was some racial imbalance in certain schools, but initial orders to prepare a plan for altering this pattern were stayed. The action had occurred just prior to the start of the 1971-72 term.

HOUSTON (AP) — A section of northwest Harris county has been put under a hog cholera quarantine by the Texas Animal Health commission.

Commission Chairman George Apple said the action was taken Tuesday after a case of hog cholera was found last week on a farm near Cypress.

The entire herd of 236 head was destroyed and $4,854 paid to the owner as an indemnity.

Hog cholera is a highly infectious, often fatal virus disease characterized by fever, loss of appetite, diarrhea and internal bleeding.

Dr. H. Q. Sibley, executive director of the Animal Health Commission, said all hogs in County Commissioners Precinct Court, were being checked for signs of the disease.

Sibley said 6,413 hogs have been destroyed in Texas this year because they either had cholera or were exposed to it, with $71,952 indemnities paid to the owners.

Thorough Check On Local Schools Being Conducted

Representatives from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are making a detailed check of records of the Big Spring schools as a followup to last year's contact.

HEW had contended that there was some racial imbalance in certain schools, but initial orders to prepare a plan for altering this pattern were stayed. The action had occurred just prior to the start of the 1971-72 term.

It was the first such visitation by HEW in the Big Spring schools, which had pioneered desegregation in the state in 1955. The landmark case in Texas on use of state funds in desegregated schools decided in 118th District Court, and until April 1971, the district presumably had met all HEW requirements.

The complex of Lakeview and Bauer elementary school enrollment was questioned, and in August HEW told the schools to correct what it considered an imbalance.

The district contended that the preponderant Mexican-American and Negro enrollments in those districts were due to population patterns and not due to school policy. HEW then stayed its ruling, indicating subsequent examination of the schools.

Leading the team here this week is James McClure, Dallas, who is assisted by three others. Indications are that the inspection will conclude Friday, but there is no indication as to when a report will be made.

Angela Begins Three-Week Thanks Tour

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — An "Evening with Angela" in New York's Madison Square Garden June 29 will culminate a nationwide tour the black militant begins Friday to thank all her supporters.

After the three-week tour, Miss Davis will leave for a six-week vacation in either the Soviet Union or Bulgaria, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Miss Davis was freed Sunday by an all-white jury of murder-kidnap-conspiracy charges in connection with an Aug. 7, 1970, escape attempt at the Marin County courthouse in which four persons died. She was accused of supplying the guns and helping plan the escape attempt.

Charlene Mitchell, executive director of the Angela Davis Defense Committee, said the 28-year-old black Communist will go to Los Angeles for several days, then travel to San Antonio, Tex., June 15; Chicago June 17; Detroit 18; then probably Memphis, Tenn., and her hometown of Birmingham, Ala., before winding up in New York.

A spokesman for Miss Davis, Stephanie Allan, said death threats Miss Davis has received since her acquittal were considered in setting up the tour. Because of them, she said, Miss Davis will travel with a security guard.

Miss Allan said Miss Davis would address the Madison Square Garden event and entertainment would be provided by Carmen McCrae, Nina Simone, Ossie Davis, Jimmie Witherspoon, Melba Moore, Chita Rivera and The Persuasions. The evening is to be sponsored by the Angela Davis Legal Defense Fund.

Can People Pay Little More To Harness Odor?

By STEVE HULTMAN

A fresh approach to treating sewage in Big Spring may provide at least a temporary solution to the odor problem at the treatment plant.

After the demonstration last week of a machine that injects chlorine gas into sewage, Bill Brown, manager of utilities, decided to add an old chlorine injector to the present system.

In a demonstration Wednesday, coal black supernate drawn off the digesting tanks was turned into a muddy brown liquid when the chlorine was added.

"We are not sure that this will help," said Brown, "but we think it might, along with some other operating modifications we will make."

The city won't know for a few weeks yet if the new methods will help cut down odor, because it will take time for the process to effect the whole plant.

SLUDGE SMELLS

"A big part of the odor comes from the drying sludge drawn off the digesters. If they are not working properly, the sludge smells. The black supernate we drew off the digesting tanks shows that they are not working properly, but with the chlorine injector, we hope they will work better," he said. The treated supernate is put back into the digesting tanks, and should help improve the efficiency of the treatment of new sewage added.

The demonstration was presented during an inspection tour of state air and water quality control representatives here to observe the situation first hand and to discuss the problem with the city.

Representatives of the state Air Quality Board and of the state Water Quality Board met with city officials and commissioners at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The discussion session was turned into an impromptu public hearing by 20-30 residents living near the treatment plant.

The session began with a statement by David Sorrels of the Texas Water Quality Board that infiltration of the sewer line had at one time cut efficiency to 40 per cent.

EFFICIENCY UP

"We have been working with the city on this, and efficiency is now up to 60 per cent," said Sorrels. This should have a definite effect on the problem, according to Sorrels.

He added that this should not have been a public hearing and that the Texas Air Quality Board should have come to the TWQB to begin with, as they had been working with the city for some time on the problem.

City Manager Harry Nagel told the spectators that the city had tried at least 30 types of deodorants in the last year, with little success.

Nagel said the chlorine injector demonstrated by the BIF company could cost $75,000 and require about $12-17 per day to operate, compared to the present process, which costs almost nothing.

One woman suggested raising the water and sewer rates to pay for the equipment. "We are willing to pay for this, and I don't think anyone in town would object to paying a little higher water and sewer rate."

"This is under study by the staff," said Nagel.

Sorrels suggested that part of the odor problem might be coming from Cosden, and commissioner Jack Watkins added that there was a big hog wallow just across IS 20.

"I know the difference between a hot wallow and that plant," a lady said. "I was raised on a farm, and we had hogs and we had outhouses."

Mike Peters, Texas Air Quality Board, closed the meeting with a statement that his office would see if any federal or state funds were available to help solve the odor problem.

He's Guilty Of 15 Rapes

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed Wednesday 15 rape convictions of a Houston man, Larry Kent Gray.

Gray was sentenced to life in six of the cases and to 25 years in each of the other nine cases. None of the sentences are cumulative.

The victims ranged in age from 14 to 51.

Court records show the offenses occurred over a period of several months in 1969 and 1970.

He Saw No One Beaten, Kicked At Cop Station

HOUSTON (AP) — The federal civil rights trial of two former Houston officers accused of the beating death of a prisoner and already into its sixth week appeared to be winding to a close Wednesday with the testimony of one of the defendants.

Arthur N. Hill, 29, took the stand and said he saw no one beaten or kicked on the night of April 4, 1970, in the police station of suburban Galena Park.

Hill and Jack A. McMahon, 23, were fired from the Houston police force after the alleged beatings of Bobby Jones Conner and Larry Taylor. Conner died on the way to a hospital and Taylor had to undergo surgery for internal injuries.

Big Mobile Homes Deal

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — In a move into the mobile home retailing field, Castle Industries, Inc., a mobile home manufacturer, has agreed to acquire one of the largest retail operations in the West and Southwest, Castle has announced.

Castle Industries' board has approved an agreement to acquire Mark V. Mobile Homes, Inc., which until earlier this year has headquarters in Denver.

The acquisition called for Castle Industries to issue 100,000 shares of its common stock for the Mark V stock. In addition, a maximum of an additional 75,000 shares may be paid depending on Mark V's 1972 earnings after taxes.

According to Leonard W. Wilson Jr., Castle Industries president, Mark V. Mobile Homes will be operated as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Castle. It will be headed by Kenneth Jacobs, president, and Edward Jacobs, vice president. The brothers founded Mark V in early 1970 with one retail lot in Denver.

Since then Mark V has expanded to the point where it now operates 20 sales lots in 15 cities in Colorado, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Texas.

'I've Got Them Scared,' Says Trainer McIlvain

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've got them scared and I know it," says trainer Ralph McIlvain who will send Smiling Jack into Saturday's Belmont Stakes against the likes of Riva Ridge and Key To The Mint.

"I think I have an advantage," McIlvain said Wednesday in assessing his Jersey Derby winner's chances in the 1 1/2-mile final race of the Triple Crown.

"They've tried one another," said McIlvain, speaking of Riva Ridge and Key To The Mint, the Belmont favorites, who have met four times. "I know what they can do but they don't know what I can do."

But the veteran trainer was overlooking the Preakness Prep May 13 in which Key To The Mint finished first and Smiling Jack third, beaten four lengths. McIlvain noted that that race was only the second start for Smiling Jack since he tore his left eyelid three-quarters of the way off in an accident in his stall April 15.

"We beat him in the Preakness Prep" was trainer Elliott Burch's comment as he relaxed after watching Paul Mellon's Key To The Mint work six furlongs in a sizzling 1:10.

For McIlvain, Smiling Jack, owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. William Harder, will be his first starter in a Triple Crown race in 43 years as a trainer.

Smiling Jack—he was named by Mrs. Harder after a friend who once won a smiling contest—was winless in two starts as a 2-year-old and has five victories, two seconds and two thirds in 13 starts this year.

After the Preakness Prep, the son of Beau Gar-Fool's Dame won a 1 1/16-mile allowance race by five lengths and then scored by seven lengths in the 1 1/8-mile Jersey Derby.

The Belmont Park handicapper made Meadow Stable's

Riva Ridge, the Kentucky Derby winner, the early favorite in a possible field of 12 3-year-olds for the $125,000-added classic.

Meeting Centers Around Maneuvering Of Pollock

MONTREAL (AP) — There is absolutely no truth to the rumor that the National Hockey League holds its annual summer meetings in Montreal as a result of one of Sam Pollock's trades.

But just about everything else going on at hockey's summer conclave revolves around the crafty general manager of the Canadiens, who spends the week paying off and collecting on past favors.

Pollock paid one off Wednesday, shipping veteran goalie Denis DeJordy and four minor league players to the New York Islanders for what was described as "cash and other considerations." At least one of the "other considerations" reportedly was having the Islanders select defenseman Bart Crashley from the Canadiens in the expansion draft, allowing Pollock to keep a promising player like Bob Murdoch for Montreal.

Pollock was set to collect on some of his earlier wheeling and dealing today in the amateur draft of graduating junior players. The Canadiens' record, third best in the NHL last year, entitled them to the 14th amateur selection. But Pollock's earlier maneuvers secured choices from Los Angeles, California and Pittsburgh. That gave the Canadiens the fourth, sixth and eighth picks as well as their own No. 14.

The Islanders were scheduled to make the first amateur pick Bill Harris, a husky right winger who scored 57 goals and had 129 points for Toronto of the Ontario Hockey Association last year. Atlanta, the other expansion franchise, was to follow by choosing Jacques Richard, a center who had 71 goals and 100 points for the Quebec Remparts last season.

Both Harris and Richard are touted as "can't miss" prospects, and they will charge the New York and Atlanta clubs fancy prices for signatures on pro contracts. Both also are being sought by the rival World Hockey Association, which has been busy signing players away from NHL clubs.

Whitworth Favorite In LPGA Tourney

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth returned to the scene of some of her greatest triumphs today in the usual role of favorite in a field of 82 LPGA golfers in the $50,000 Eve LPGA championship.

In her last six visits to the Pleasant Valley Country Club, the tall Texan has won four times, including the LPGA title in 1967, and '71.

In her two losses, she bowed to Sandra Post Elliott in 1968, and to Shirley Englehorn in 1970, both in playoffs for the LPGA crown.

"When I get here I just feel I'm going to play well, and that's why I probably have such a good track record," Miss Whitworth said Wednesday after shooting "one or two over" par in a pro-am tuneup.

The all-time top money winner in women's golf, Miss Whitworth checked in with her annual comments on her game.

If history repeats, she is almost a sure bet to conquer par-73 on the 6,130-yard layout.

"I've been hitting the ball good, but I've had trouble concentrating all the time."

Despite her self criticism, Kathy has won $32,886, boosting her total prize money over $360,000 in less than 14 years on the tour. She trails local favorite Janie Blalock by just $510 among the leaders this year.

Miss Blalock, former New England amateur champion from Portsmouth, N.H., figured to be a strong challenger in the biggest field in LPGA history.

The only absentees among the top names were ailing Mickey Wright, Sandra Haynie and Miss Englehorn.

Former winners in the field included Gloria Ehret, Marlene Hage, Louise Suggs, Judy Kimball, Betsy Rawls and Mrs. Elliott.

'Lost Son' Writes Mom In Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "Dearest mother, . . . I am sorry but I don't even know what you look like," the letter read.

And Vera List, thinking her only child was dead for 26 years, suddenly discovered she was both a mother and grandmother.

Mrs. List was separated from her son, Manfred, in 1945 when she was imprisoned by Russians during an invasion of Germany. The boy was one year old.

Told by the Russians that her son had died during her imprisonment, Mrs. List then Vera Berth - finally emigrated to the United States in 1955. She later married Air Force Sgt. Everett List in Ohio and the couple moved to Orlando.

The woman said she never told her husband about the son. She was unmarried when the child was born.

"I guess you're surprised to hear from me," read the letter, which was written in German. "I am your son Manfred, born Aug. 23rd, 1944."

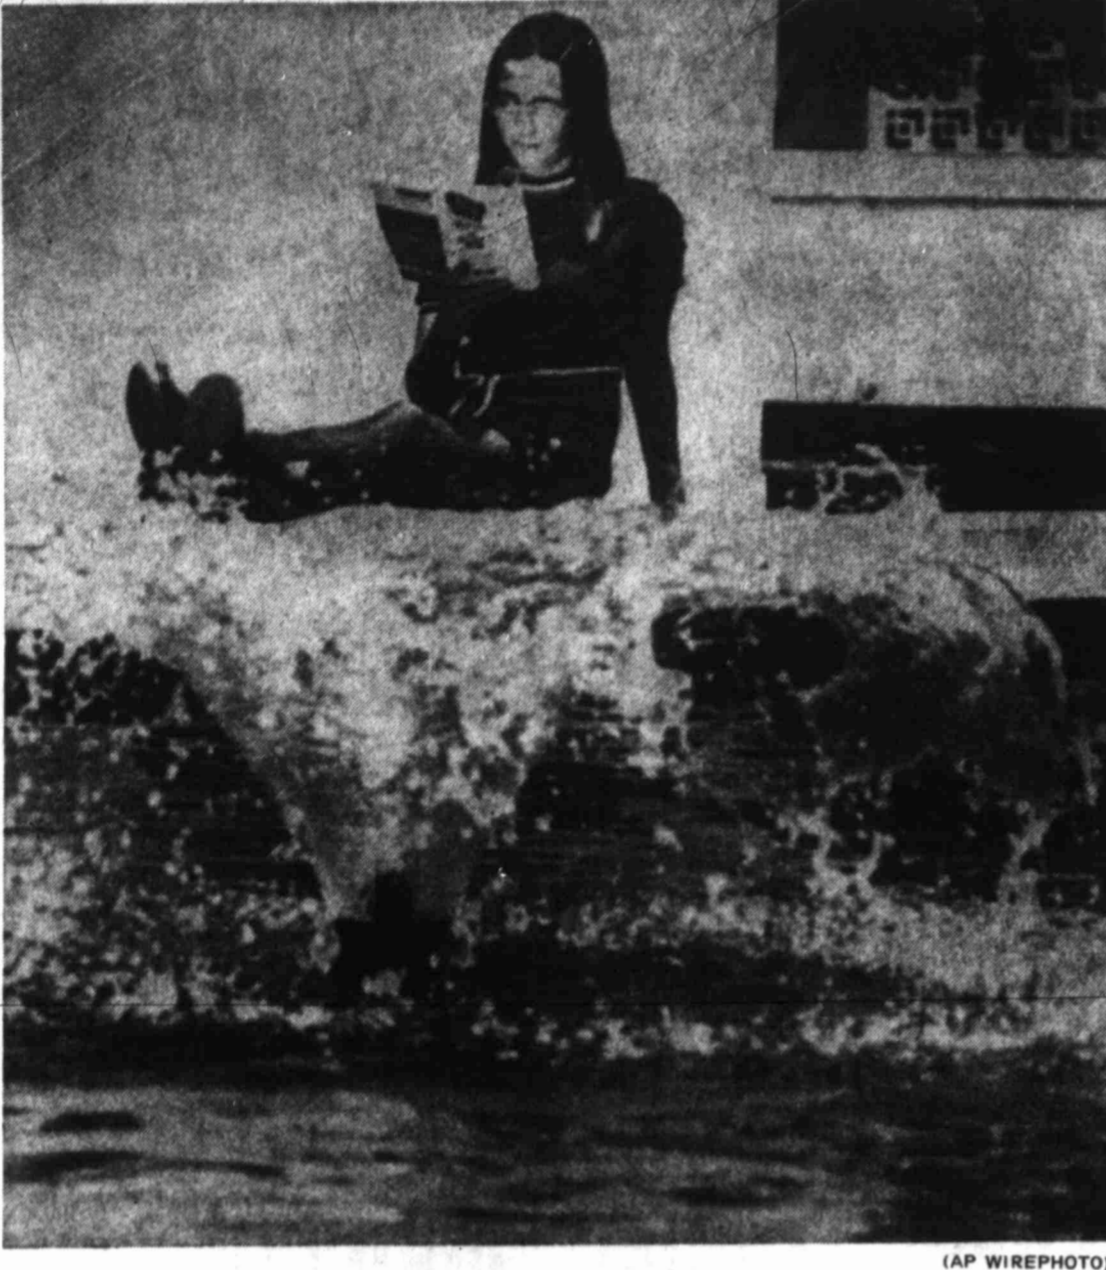

"After the bad times I went to live with foster parents. They were very good to me but now I have the inner longing to know my real mother."

The son wrote that he was now married and a father. He said his foster parents had given him his mother's name but had no other information about her. He said he spent eight years communicating with various agencies and officials in the United States before immigration authorities finally located her.

Mrs. List said she could not hold back the tears as she handed her husband the letter.

"Well, what in the world are you crying about," he asked. "This is great news. I've just become a father and a grandfather in one day."

Mrs. List said she and her husband have taken extra jobs to raise the $1,000 fare for her son, his wife and their child to fly to Orlando.

Bomb Blasts Scar Belfast

BELFAST (AP) — Two bombs caused extensive damage Wednesday night, and police and British troops claimed they hit two guerrillas in an exchange of fire in Belfast.

No one was injured in the bomb blasts. One destroyed the town hall in New Castle, and another demolished three stores in Lurgan and damaged six others.

Police and troops were hunting for Robert Campbell, a 30-year-old member of the Irish Republican Army who jumped from a window of a Belfast hospital and fled in a car. Jailed for armed robbery, he was hospitalized after a 22-day hunger strike demanding to be treated as a political prisoner.

Head Of Ecumenical Research Agency For Latin Units Quits

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The head of Austin's Hispanic-America Institute, an ecumenical research agency, has resigned over dissatisfaction with churches' response to Mexican-Americans, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Dr. Jorge Lara-Braud, director of the institute since its formation in 1966 and an outspoken Presbyterian layman, made the resignation effective July 15.

An institute board member said Lara-Braud's reason for resigning was "reported to be a combination of exhaustion and dissatisfaction at the slow rate of progress by the church in placing Mexican-Americans in decision-making positions."

The resignation was announced here to delegates attending sessions of the Synod of Texas of the Presbyterian Church, USA, one of several religious denominations that finance the institute.

The organization is an ecumenical research and coordinating agency for Mexican-American groups and Anglo churches.

The institute's sponsoring denominations and the people it was trying to help.

"Oppressed people are always impatient for change," the Rev. Mr. Russell said, adding, "The church's timetable is always a lot slower."

Reached in Austin by the San Antonio Express, Lara-Braud would only confirm that he is resigning.

"I am not disenchanted with the church and I have no future plans at present," said the often controversial Presbyterian layman.

Synod delegates adopted recommendations urging that all Presbyterian ministers become familiar with the ethnic cultures prevalent in the Southwest—including those of Mexican-Americans, Negroes and Indians.

The more than 300 delegates, representing 5,400 Presbyterians in Texas and part of Louisiana, conclude their annual meeting today.

Fifty Enroll In Workshop

An important workshop on putting into action the comprehensive special education program is being held for key Big Spring school personnel this week.

Supt. Sam Anderson said that a round 50 administrators, guidance people, guidance special education teachers and at least one classroom teacher from each school were participating.

Object of the workshop is to learn about the new state program designed to meet the needs of any child with a special educational need. This does not necessarily mean assignment to a special school; on the contrary, the emphasis is upon meeting the special needs wherever the child is if at all possible.

The West Texas Education Center at Midland also has furnished six resource individuals for the workshop, which is due to continue through Friday with daily sessions in the high school cafeteria.

Thick Clouds Roam In WT

Light rain or showers spread northward from Mexico into parts of Texas today, but some of the season's hottest weather lingered over most of the state.

By early morning most of the moisture was scattered through areas of South and West Texas from around Alice, Del Rio and Falcon Reservoir toward San Angelo, concentrating in the Rio Grande and Pecos Valleys.

High clouds covered nearly all of Central and East Texas, and the overcast was thicker extreme West Texas.

Late Wednesday and during the night there also were showers from far West to extreme South Texas, generally along the Rio Grande.

Temperatures mounted into the 80s and 90s at most points Wednesday, going as high as 97 degrees at Wichita Falls and 98 at Texarkana. Thanks to showers there were two exceptions—El Paso with a high of 71 and Marfa with a 72.

Readings near dawn today ranged from 58 at Amarillo and 59 at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 75 at Brownsville and 76 at Galveston on the coast.

Forecasts held out no prospect for any big change in the weather.

CONSERVATIVE TURN Rules For Questioning Of Suspects 'Fuzzy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest Supreme Court turn toward the right in criminal law appears to have confused the rules for questioning suspects.

According to a 5-4 decision by the court on Wednesday, police do not have to provide a lawyer when they put an arrested suspect in a lineup or a showup for identification.

And yet, under the 1966 Miranda decision, the suspect is entitled to a lawyer from the moment stationhouse interrogation begins.

Speaking for the majority, Justice Potter Stewart concluded this 6th Amendment right takes hold only beginning with a formal charge, preliminary hearing, indictment, information or arraignment.

The two decisions appear to be in some conflict. Presumably, the suspect would be granted a lawyer when the interrogation began, but if police chose later to bring in witnesses for identification the lawyer would have to step out of the room.

A possible approach the police now might take in light of the new ruling would be to put off questioning until after the lineup—shutting out the lawyer until then. In the process, they might pick up a solid identification. And that could be as valuable at trial as a confession.

Complicating the situation still further is the 1967 Wade decision in which the court ruled 6 to 3 that once a suspect had been indicted he cannot be placed in a lineup unless a lawyer is on hand.

What this decision and the one Wednesday in a case from Chicago add up to is this: If the suspect has been indicted, he is entitled to a lawyer at the lineup. If he has been arrested but not indicted, he is not entitled to a lawyer at the lineup.

Add to this the fact that under Miranda he is entitled to a lawyer during interrogation and

Senate Slated To Confirm Nomination Of Kleindienst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the surprise opposition of its No. 2 Democratic leader, the Senate was expected today to approve by a comfortable margin the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., the deputy majority leader, said he had reviewed the record of 22 days of hearings into the storm-tossed nomination and concluded there were too many contradictions and inconsistencies for him to vote for the man tapped to succeed John N. Mitchell.

cast along with 10 other members of the Senate Judiciary Committee reaffirming support of the nomination submitted by President Nixon on Feb. 15.

There followed a lengthy investigation into suggestions that a political deal led to the Justice Department's out-of-court settlement of antitrust cases against the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. while Kleindienst was deputy attorney general.

The committee voted 11 to 4 to support Kleindienst and sent along a majority report denying the settlement was a product of "political influence or promises of favor from ITT."

A minority report contended the hearings were cut off before all the facts were in and said the White House, the Justice Department, and ITT had blocked efforts to bring out the full story.

A handful of liberal Democrats led the opposition, and Republicans accused them of trying to drag out the hearings to make political capital in a presidential-election year.

Kleindienst, an Arizona lawyer, was nominated for the Cabinet post after Mitchell resigned to direct Nixon's re-election campaign.

His nomination first was approved by the Judiciary Committee unanimously in late February.

Could Lead To Contempt Citation For Officials

DALLAS (AP) — A prisoner in the Dallas County jail has obtained a court order for his release from solitary confinement, and the case could lead to a contempt citation for county officials.

The prisoner, James D. Thompson, claims he was placed in solitary Tuesday, the day after U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes called for sweeping jail reforms sought in a class legal action by Thompson and two other inmates.

Acting on Thompson's motion for a temporary restraining order, Judge Hughes directed Wednesday that Sheriff Clarence Jones and his chief jailer, Carl Rowland, come before her this afternoon and show why they should not be "adjudged guilty of and punished for contempt of court."

Through Dallas Legal Services Project lawyer Sam Eck, Thompson told the court he was placed in a solitary cell after refusing to return to his regular cell until he spoke to the chief jailer or jail shift supervisor about law books which he claimed were denied him.

In the earlier order for changes at the jail, Judge Hughes had forbidden the sheriff and other jail officers to destroy or take away inmates' law books.

Thompson is held in the county jail pending transfer to state prison to serve a term for armed robbery.

The prisoner claims he was moved May 19 to a smaller cell with less light, leaving his law books behind, and his requests for the books were ignored or denied. He said guards subsequently put him in solitary confinement without a hearing or charges being brought against him.

AFA Convention Opens June 16

ABILENE — Approximately 500 Texans are expected to gather in Abilene June 16-17 for the state Air Force Association convention for 1972, the Air Force's 25th year of operation.

Two Pentagon officials and the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds aerial demonstration team are the convention's headline acts, said state AFA President Herb Bench of Dallas. Bench is president of LTV Education Systems.

Registration opens at 6:30 p.m. Friday, June 16 at the Officers Club at Dyess Air Force Base, just west of Abilene.

Luncheon speaker at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, June 17, will be Maj. Gen. Daniel (Chappie) James, 52, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

At 2 p.m. Saturday, the Thunderbirds, from Nellis AFB, Nev., will put on a 30 minute air show.

The Thunderbirds, now in their 20th year, lost a team member June 4 in the crash of a F4 Phantom jet at Washington, D.C., which claimed the life of Maj. Joe Howard.

Richard J. Borda, 40, assistant secretary of the Air Force for manpower and reserve affairs, will speak at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at a dinner at the Abilene Civic Center.

South Viet Marines Launch New Sweep

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes pounded North Vietnam on Wednesday with the heaviest raids in three weeks, the U.S. Command announced, and one group of planes guided a bomb into a railroad tunnel just south of the Chinese border and blew it up.

FIERCE FIGHTING
American B52 bombers returned to North Vietnam for the first time in nearly two months, the command said, but they struck less than 20 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

In South Vietnam, the Communist offensive began its 11th week, and several hundred North Vietnamese troops pushed into the district town of Trang Bang 25 miles northwest of Saigon. This kept the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway closed for the third day and triggered fierce fighting.

On the northern front above Hue, more than 2,000 South Vietnamese marines launched their fourth spoiling and intelligence-gathering operation in a month into Quang Tri Province. Initial reports said they met only light resistance. The marines were supported by a task force of U.S. cruisers and destroyers and scores of American bombers.

300 STRIKES
The U.S. Command said American fighter-bombers flew more than 300 strikes across North Vietnam as clearing weather made intensified raids possible. U.S. pilots had been flying fewer than 300 strikes a day during the past three weeks.

The major targets Wednesday were a 600-foot tunnel through which the northeast rail line passes 20 miles south of the Chinese border, and vehicle maintenance and storage depots four miles from the center of Hanoi. It was the second successive day that U.S. jets attacked the rail line close to the border.

In one of the most spectacular strikes since the resumption of the bombing April 6, fewer than 10 Air Force F4 Phantoms dropped 2,000 and 3,000-pound laser-guided bombs into the southern end of the Lung Truong railroad tunnel. The Air Force said reconnaissance photos confirmed that the strike collapsed the southern end of the tunnel, which passes under a 1,000-foot mountain.

ROCK MOUNTAIN
"It took exceptional skill," said one officer. "That was a mountain of rock. In order to hit the tunnel, you had to guide the bomb at an angle into the tunnel's mouth which is 100 feet wide. One of the guided bombs flew right into the entrance of the tunnel. You could never have been that accurate with the conventional 'dumbombs.'"

U.S. officials claim that the attacks on the two rail lines from China together with the mining of North Vietnam's harbors have cut to virtually zero the flow of war materials from China to Hanoi.

McGovern Books Swing In Dixie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, planning a campaign swing through the South, says a Dixie running mate "would be helpful" as he sums he were qualified to take over the White House without a major change in policy.

Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida and former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina came to McGovern's mind in an interview the day before he defeated Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in the California Democratic presidential primary.

Humphrey, in the wake of that loss and McGovern victories in three other primaries Tuesday, also talked about a possible running mate Wednesday. He reversed himself and said Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace would be acceptable to him if Wallace endorsed the party's platform at the Democratic convention in Miami Beach next month.

'SAME BALLPARK'
In the interview, McGovern, now the clear front runner for the nomination, also named Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota as potential vice-presidential candidates.

Before flying back from California to Washington Wednesday night, McGovern said he will make his Southern trip before the June 20 New York primary. Aides said that probably means the latter part of next week.

When asked about a running mate, McGovern said someone "well qualified to take over the White House on a moment's notice" whose views are in the "same ballpark as mine" is needed.

In the interview, conducted as he flew from San Diego to Albuquerque en route to a fence-mending mission with Democratic governors meeting in Houston, McGovern was asked about the importance of geography in picking a running mate.

VERY HIGH ON HIM
"Other things being equal," he said, "if you could get a Southerner, I think it would be helpful."

He agreed that Askew's strong identification with the

SPRING ENTREE SALAD For relaxing days

Spring Sparks Tastes For Palatable Salads

The wonderful season of Spring is here. The early morning chirping of birds, the breaking up of ice floes on lakes and rivers, the swelling of magnolia blossoms preparing to pop into magnificent beauty all attest to the coming alive of nature. Our taste buds react to seasons also, and in the Spring, there is a natural inclination to turn to salads.

The appeal of salads is in their variety of ingredients and dressings. There are endless flavors and "fixin's" ideas to awaken the most jaded palate. As an example, Spring Entree Salad is a delightful chef's salad recipe which offers a host of variations, each of which presents a completely different and individual flavor treat. You'll recognize the good nutrition elemental in these ingredients as an extra reward for serving this salad.

SPRING ENTREE SALAD
Assorted greens
Lettuce
Ham, cut in strips
Green pepper strips
Shoe string potatoes
Tomato wedges
Hard-cooked egg slices
Roka Brand Blue Cheese Dressing
Tear greens into bite-size pieces onto a lettuce-lined salad platter. Arrange ham, green pepper, potatoes, tomatoes and eggs on top; garnish with watercress, if desired. Serve with dressing.
Note: In place of ham, try cold roast beef, bologna or salami, cut in strips; swiss or cheddar cheese, cut in strips; chunks of tuna or crab; or shrimp.

Water In Soups; You Pay For It

Housewives may be paying more for the water in soup than for the water from the faucet. That's the word from the University of Rhode Island College of Education.
Canned soups that housewives bought until recently were either condensed or dried. The consumer added the water.
Now, a study by the College of Education Home Economics Department shows that the new "just-heat-and-eat" soups have a higher cost-per-serving price than the old-fashioned kind. Obviously, you are paying more to have the manufacturer add the water.

Career, Hobbies, Sports Provide Fulfilling Life

BY BARBARA LORD

"Television takes up a place in many people's lives that should be taken up with people," said Mrs. Bobby Hughes. "It has cut out a lot of without people, and the only time I watch television is when football or basketball games are on."
Mrs. Hughes and her family are all sports fans. She and her husband, a Cosden employe, both played basketball in high school, and their two daughters, Cynthia, who just graduated from Big Spring High School, and Deborah, a senior at BSIS, are active in sports clubs and pep squads. The family attends almost all sports events at both the high school and Howard County Junior College, so little time is left for watching television.

ite.ns, such as roasts and chicken, that people can "grab on their way out."
Mrs. Hughes combines a successful career with her family life. She is office manager for Dr. Allen R. Hamilton, a local optometrist, and has worked in the office for 11 years. Although she said she enjoys cooking, she believes the joy would leave if she had to come home to a hot stove every night after working all day. Most of the credit for evening meals during the school year goes to Hughes' mother, Mrs. Thelma Hughes, who lives with the family.
Mrs. Hughes puts her culinary talents to work on weekends, and the menus depend on the schedule. She said breakfast is the only meal she can count on to get everybody at the table at once, and the morning meals may include anything from just coffee and toast to steak and eggs.

"I don't have any sons, but I'm convinced boys are easier to feed than girls," said Mrs. Hughes. "A lot of kids used to come over after games, and the boys went straight to the ice-box and cleared it out. They eat anything, and girls are pickier."
Mrs. Hughes said she won't even try foreign foods any more, because the family makes up their minds in advance that they don't like them. Her meals consist of quick, simple, tasty and nutritious meals that can be eaten whenever the family finds time to eat. They particularly like congealed and cold salads, and Mrs. Hughes usually has something baked for snacks.
Mr. and Mrs. Hughes are both natives of Trent, near Abilene. They have lived in Big Spring for 16 of their 21 years of married life. Together they enjoy camping, playing cards and, of course, sports. They work continuously on their home at 2104 Cecilia and like the task of remodeling and making it "just a little bit nicer."

Cute Cookbook For Eager-To-Learn Girls

Now that school is out and children have fewer planned activities, summer is a good time for them to practice some of the homemaking arts.
A little girl's enthusiasm for learning more about cooking comes with having a cookbook of her very own. Because of her, Imperial Sugar Company is offering "My First Cookbook," prepared especially for beginners, ages six to 12, and to help mothers guide their efforts.

The recipes start with "You will need" and go on to "Work Plan," then "Serve" and "Idea." "You will need" tells the child which ingredients and utensils are needed. "Work plan" gives directions to prepare the recipe. "Serve" tells how and when to serve and gives yield. "Idea" contains variations and other serving suggestions. The ingredients are listed in the order in which they are used and the directions for "doing" are in proper sequence using four basic steps.

Recipes are presented in large easy-to-read type in easy-to-follow primer style. This enables the beginner cook to prepare the recipes with little or no adult supervision. To stimulate the child's imagination, clever animated drawings, illustrated in a youthful technique, appear on every page.
A variety of twenty-eight recipes are in the cookbook, including interesting titles such as "Tiny Turtle Salad," "Mad Hatter's Breakfast," "Devilish Eggs," "Funny Face Pancakes" and especially for little boys, "Quarterback Meatloaf." The book is divided into nine sections, including beverages, breads, eggs, main dishes, salads, vegetables, as well as cakes and cookies, candy, and other sweets that children enjoy making most of all.

LEARNING THE CULINARY ART — Cooking can be classified as one of the most creative of all art forms. Now that school is out, lots of young girls will be learning some of the simpler steps of cooking with their own copies of "My First Cookbook," from Imperial Sugar Company. It's written especially for beginners, ages 6 to 12, and features easy-to-follow recipes like Mad Hatter's Breakfast, Raggedy Jane Pudding and Quarterback Meatloaf.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Careful shopping takes time and patience, but just a few pennies trimmed from your food costs each week add up to dollars in your pocket at the end of the year. Here are some pointers worth remembering whenever you go super-marketing.
When your menu calls for lamb or pork chops, remember that there are three kinds — loin, rib, and shoulder. All are equally flavorful and nourishing, but the shoulder varieties will give your budget its better break.
Think twice about bypassing boneless meat because of its higher price. With no excess fat and no bone, every bit of meat adds up to more servings from each pound, so it may be a thrifter choice, even though it costs more per pound.
Remember that the weight of a canned ham counts the meat, gelatin coating, and juices — but mother says you need breakfast, you'll enjoy this. And it's nourishing. Makes 1 cup.

Idea:
On a hot summer day, add a scoop of vanilla ice cream and blend in blender till thick and cold. Plain cookies are good with this drink.
In mixing bowl, beat egg. Add sugar, milk and vanilla. Beat well, or use blender. Pour into glass and sprinkle with nutmeg.
Serve:
If you are not very hungry

A LOVELIER YOU Facial Masks Help Dry Skin Problems

By MARY SUE MILLER
Heat, sun, wind and air pollution work havoc on already drying skin during the summer months. It is then skins are exposed to outdoor conditions more often and for longer periods.

Skin-care experts have found that a suitable facial mask, applied once or twice weekly through the summer season, improves the quality and the complexion. Mind you, a mask cannot remove wrinkles, but it can soften lines temporarily. The type of mask for the job "hardens" soon after application and so decreases puffiness too.

Let's have a look at other types and the services performed. New herbal masks soothe and moisturize. Super-facial peeling treatments help to cleanse, remove flakes and

THE PRICE OF PROGRESS Dyer: 'You Don't Get Something For Nothing'

"The first law of thermodynamics was stated in 1842 as 'you don't get something for nothing,'" said Robert H. Dyer when he was guest speaker for Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club Monday evening at First Federal Community Room.

Dyer illustrated the theme by telling what the public has paid for the privilege of modern conveniences. Before the automatic washer and dryer came into use, wash day was set aside one day of the week, and the rest of the week was free of the chore. With the convenience of the invention, he said wash day is now a never-ending cycle of two loads every day.

"We now use detergents that clean rugs, fabrics and garments beautifully," continued Dyer, "but the price we pay is that the items deteriorate much more quickly."

For the invention of the telephone, Dyer said people paid with their privacy because it brings people into our homes any time of day or night. He also said perhaps the invention of the radio helped cause World War II.

"Television is now changing our lives," said Dyer. "Our children see too much reality on TV for our age-old fairy tales to have any appeal to them."

Dyer said the young people of today are a more demanding market, because they want to know what price they will eventually pay for a service. This may cause some built-in obsolescence in conveniences, because the youth don't want to pay the price.

"The first solution to pollution was dilution," said Dyer. "Now we know this won't work and we have a real problem. The youth of today are trying to prevent additional problems."

Dyer quoted a selling axiom that he felt described the attitude of modern man: "Sell people something they need and you'll make a living; sell them something they want and you'll make a fortune."

Mrs. Everett Barnett presided, and Mrs. Leon Kinney won the attendance prize. Hostess was Miss Helen Hurt. The group will meet at 5:30 p.m., July 10 at the Cosden Petroleum Building and travel as a group to tour a plastic pipe company. Guests are invited to attend.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Party

A bridal shower honored Miss Ruth Anne Moss, bride-elect of Alton G. Callihan, Tuesday evening in the fellowship hall of East Fourth Baptist Church.

Attired in a yellow dotted Swiss dress with white lace cuffs and yoke, the honoree was presented a corsage of pink carnations, as was her mother, Mrs. Floyd Moss, and Callihan's mother, Mrs. Ross Callihan.

Rainbow colors were used in decorations. The refreshment table was covered with a pink cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink, orchid and yellow spring flowers in a crystal and brass pedestal bowl. Green candles in matching holders flanked the arrangement. A bouquet of pink carnations, orchid snapdragons, irises and candles was placed on the piano, and the registry table, covered with a white cloth, held white and yellow roses in a blue vase. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Hostesses were Mrs. C. A. Tonn Jr., Mrs. Milton Denton, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. C. W. Jones, Mrs. R. G. Adkins, Mrs. Bob Jones, Mrs. Royce Griffith, Mrs. Rafor Dunagan, Miss Jeanette Mansfield, Miss Marguerite Cooper, Mrs. H. M. Macomber, Mrs. B. H. Williams, Mrs. J. C. Thomas and Mrs. Lloyd Curry.

Miss Moss and Callihan will be married June 17 at East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

Newcomers Name Bridge Winners

Mrs. Leslie Hobgood was high scorer at Newcomers Bridge Wednesday at La Posada Restaurant. Other winners were Mrs. A. W. Rees, second; and Mrs. B. B. Peek, low.

"Bridgo" was a tie between Mrs. Ramzi Botros and Mrs. Luke Lewis. Guests were Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Peek. The next meeting is at 9 a.m., June 21 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

After reading the tip in your column from the lady who uses a suction cup under her dip dish (to hold it securely when dips are served), I realized that possibly not everyone knew of my do-it-yourself hors d'oeuvre trays.

I use florist clay on the bottom of any dish (glass, pottery, brass or silver) — makes an elegant tray for chips and dips. No need to buy the expensive ones that are hard-to-store since they are all in one piece.

I also use this trick to build three-tiered centerpieces for floral or fruit centerpiece, using successively smaller trays and dishes separated by footed or pedestal-type dishes. Use your imagination and search your cupboard — you'll have an elegant and dramatic table setting and all for the small price of a package of floral clay bought at any florist or most variety stores.

The bonus in this is the pride you feel when people rave about your invention!

If you have difficulty removing the residue of the clay from your dishes when you separate them again, any cleaning fluid does a terrific job. . . . Alice

You're just the greatest, Alice, and so is your little "do-it-yourself" hors d'oeuvre tray. . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: I made a startling discovery the other day and I would like to share it with you.

I'm 5 feet 1, and, until my discovery, Heloise, I always thought of myself as a good housekeeper.

That all changed the other day when my husband asked me why I never washed the top of the electric toothbrush holder, or the top of the refrigerator, etc. I told him that I didn't realize they needed it. He told me to look for myself.

Well, Heloise, I was appalled when I now realize that I had been cleaning at my own level. So now I plan to stand on a sturdy chair every so often and take a good look around. That way I'll see just I didn't know was there. . . . Mrs. Larry Lade

Dear Heloise:

When I put out a new bar of soap at the tub or basin this is what I do with the wrapper (You know most of them smell divine!)

I just remove the wrapper from the bar of soap and drop it in the laundry hamper and it always smells so nice.

When I open another new bar of soap, I remove the old wrapper from the hamper and drop in the new one. . . . Mrs. S. M.

Dear Heloise:

I've discovered a good way to keep track of the prices of our prescriptions so that I'll have an idea of how much they'll cost when I go to have them refilled.

I write the price of the prescription on the label as soon as I get home from the drug store while I still have the receipt with it.

This comes in especially handy just before payday, or with prescriptions you don't have refilled very often. . . . Mrs. M. A. Leotta

This column is written for you. . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Reunion Held At Lake Thomas

Those attending, other than Mrs. Reeves, were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Reeves, Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Don Riggs and family, all of Odessa; Mrs. Jimmy Bowerman and daughter, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Reeves and family, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crisp and Nelson Fox, all of Lubbock; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Don R. Reeves and family, USAF Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Patterson and family, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Reeves and family and Mr. and Mrs. Loy H. Anderson and family.

This comes in especially all of Big Spring.

Honored At Dallas Party

Miss Susan Ragland of Midland, bride-elect of Lloyd Curley, was honored at a luncheon Saturday in the Zodiac Room of Neiman-Marcus in Dallas.

Hostesses were Mrs. Myron Missell and Miss Clady Norfolk, both of Dallas and aunts of the honoree. The dining table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a spring arrangement of yellow and green flowers.

Attired in a yellow linen dress, Miss Ragland was presented a white corsage and a gift from the hostesses.

The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ragland of Midland, and Curley is the son of Mrs. James Watson, 2401 Marcy, and the late Lloyd Curley. The couple plans an Aug. 19 ceremony at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Midland.

Pre-Nuptial Event At Flame Room

Miss Connie Dunagan, bride-elect of Michael Lewis, was honored at a shower recently in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

The honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations, as was her mother, Mrs. M. A. Dunagan of Elbow; and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wilson Lewis of Earth.

Hostesses were Mrs. Russell Howie, Mrs. Bill Plew, Mrs. Howard Dodd, Mrs. Johnny Anderson, Mrs. Delbert Harland, Mrs. Jim Woolverson, Mrs. Hilliard Ditmore, Mrs. Clyde Denton, Mrs. James Banks, Mrs. Jimmy Wood, Mrs. H. C. Tidwell, Mrs. J. C. Thames, Mrs. Cecil Richardson and Mrs. Alfred Stanley.

A white cutwork cloth covered the refreshment table, and assorted spring flowers were used throughout the room. Guests included the honoree's grandmothers, Mrs. Harold Gilmore and Mrs. R. C. Dunagan of Elbow; and Lewis' grandmother, Mrs. Jewell Lewis.

Gail Flea Market Slated Saturday

GAIL — A flea market will be held here around the courthouse square Saturday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

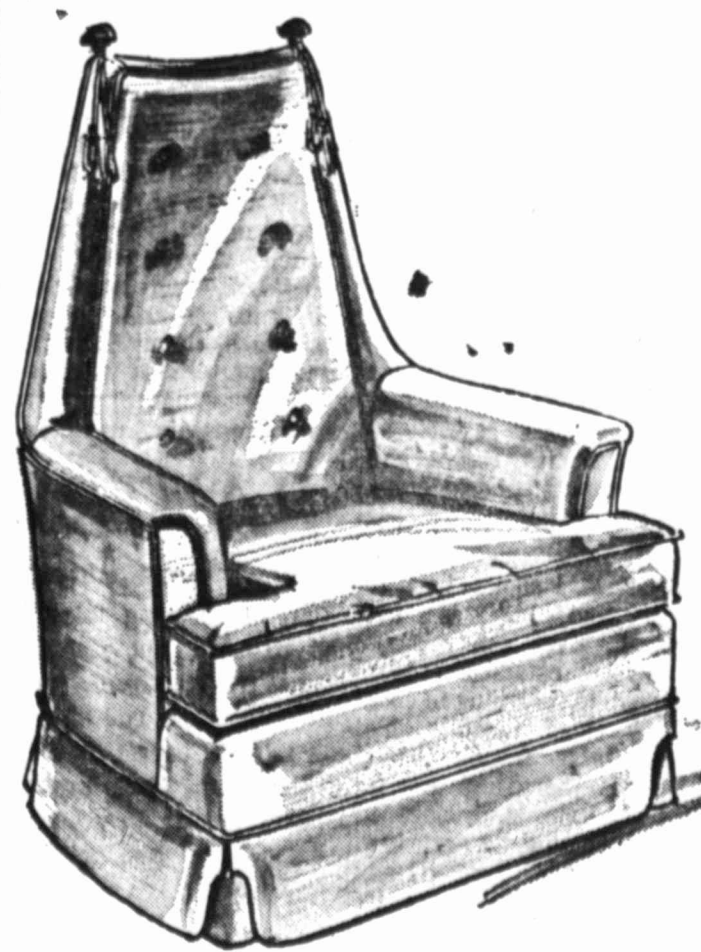

Everyone is invited to bring their items for display. The space rents for only $2.50, and the sponsoring Gail Home-makers Club is hoping for a large turnout of browsers and buyers. Part of the net proceeds will go toward the club projects, including work with a rest home in Lamesa, said Doris Rudd.

Not the least advantage of masking is that you lie down for a bit while the treatment takes effect. And here's where you have a great summertime fatigue chaser.

Writer Of 'Make A Wish' Impatient

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lester Cooper is the executive producer, creator and writer of ABC's award-winning Sunday morning children's show, "Make A Wish." He is proud of the product but is getting impatient about the blanket criticism of children's programs.

"The only way television-network television can continue to do something good in this area is to have people out there say that there is something good," Cooper said. "Dammit, don't keep telling me how bad television is; look at it and see if you can't find something good. It's there."

ABC tapped Cooper to create a new children's show about a year ago.

"We had been doing 'Discovery' and it was a good show but the kids grew up with it and we found we were reaching too old an audience," Cooper said. "We wanted a new concept for the ones between 6 and 12."

Cooper and his staff came up with a form involving everything from quick cuts from one subject to another in "Laugh-In" style, to animation and even music.

"We move fast and we don't stop to explain," he said. "The younger ones enjoy the visual part and the others get it or they don't. I remember writing one show about flying and at one point I mentioned Icarus. I just said he had wax wings and flew too close to the sun so they melted. I only hope that sometime Icarus may be mentioned and some kid who saw the show will say 'Oh, oh, I know something about that,' and be interested to know more."

For next season's 32 shows, Cooper has picked subjects from migratory patterns of deer to the shape of trains of the future.

The producer has three teenagers of his own and believes youngsters today are particular challenges to their parents "because the world has changed and so have attitudes."

"Kids have a right to ask questions now," Cooper said. "I tell my boy he cannot ride his bicycle at night. He immediately asks me why I got him a light to put on it. That's hard to answer."

"The main point I'm trying to make," he summed up, "is that the networks are willing to do good children's programs. But we need support. Unless we get it, what's the point of trying to do it?"

Pickup Returned To Local Man

A pickup truck that was reported stolen in Coahoma was recovered by the Howard County sheriff's office Wednesday at 8:55 a.m.

Wednesday at 8:55 a.m., Deputy Sheriff Eddie Owen Bob Horn, 2703 Ann, Big Spring, recovered a truck belonging to Bob Horn, 2703 Ann, Big Spring. Horn reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday that the truck had been stolen Monday from the Arco Service Station, Coahoma.

Deputy Owen found the truck abandoned behind a clump of mesquite shrub and weeds near the railroad track one mile west of the Coahoma Bank while he was making the regular morning patrol through Coahoma.

Two Local Men Prison Bound

Two men have been transferred to the Lubbock County sheriff's department from the Howard County jail so that they can "catch" the Texas Department of Corrections bus leaving there for Huntsville.

Hiram Lee Glover, 40, and Benito Diaz, 19, are to begin serving prison sentences they received Thursday when they pleaded guilty before 118th District Judge R. W. Caton to charges pending against them.

Diaz, arrested April 9, 1972, and indicted by the grand jury April 20, 1972, is to serve 10 years for sodomy and 40 years in prison for robbery by assault. Both charges against Diaz are in connection with an attack April 9 on a 14-year-old boy in Comanche Trail Park.

Glover, arrested March 12, 1972, and indicted April 20, 1972, is to serve a six-year prison sentence for theft over $50 in connection with the March 11, 1972 theft of six saddles from the T. Willard Neel ranch at Elbow.

'Ms.' Shield

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a young, single career girl who lives alone. I use "Ms." before my name as a form of protection. With the present high crime rate I am not about to advertise the fact that I am unmarried and therefore am alone during the night. There are just too many kooks running around. I realize that using "Ms." isn't foolproof, but every little bit helps. I don't want to be equal. I only want to be SAFE!

opinion, "overly sensitive" — or is there something wrong with my mother?
TICKED OFF IN TACOMA
DEAR TICKED: It's your mother. She sounds hopeless, but try to educate her.

DEAR MS. L. J.: I'll say it's not foolproof. Some married women spend more time alone at night than the unmarried ones.
DEAR ABBY: Four of us married women are planning to drive to Florida for a week's vacation. We will share the gas and motel expenses.

DEAR ABBY: Since I am 78 years old, my experience may be valuable to the 74-year-old college-educated gentleman who found himself "ON THE FENCE" concerning a lady friend who had only a sixth grade education.
Like "ON THE FENCE," I had a good academic education. (I am also conversant with eight languages, but found none of them necessary in my love life.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have three daughters, ages 15, 13 and 10. We live down the street from my folks and when the girls have stopped to see their grandparents they have been greeted with such remarks as, "Gee, you sure have a lot of pimples," and "My, but you're getting fat!" Last time the 13-year-old was there my mother said (right in front of some other relatives), "Gracious, but you're developing quite a bust!" Now the girls don't want to go there any more and I can't say as I blame them.

Literature is very nice, but chemistry is more important. Consider the case of Benjamin Franklin who, while still a bachelor, saw a pretty girl on the street, obtained an introduction to her, married her, and discovered electricity!
EX ETYMOLOGISTS: NORW ALK, CALIF.

Who do you think is right? Thank you.
ONE OF THE GIRLS
DEAR ONE: I see nothing wrong with the husband's proposition. But if you do, I advise you to speak up and settle it before you leave. A disgruntled passenger makes a very poor traveling companion.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Stanton Host To Singers

STANTON (SC) — The Great Plains Caprock Singing Convention will be held at the Caprock Auditorium Saturday and Sunday.

I told my mother the reason the girls stopped visiting her, and she said, "It's a darned shame they are so overly sensitive. They had better outgrow that."
Are my daughters, in your

The programs begin at 8 p.m., Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday.
President of the convention is Woodson Campbell, Lubbock. Vice president is Grady Standeford, Stanton. Secretary is Mrs. Richard Doggett, Stanton.
Arthur Watson and family of Dallas, representing the Stamps-Baxter Music Company, will be in attendance along with the Bailey Quartet of Levelland, the Campbell Quartet of Lubbock, the Temple-Aires Quartet of Slaton and the Newman Trio of Santa Anna, plus numerous other quartets and specialty acts.
Singers from all parts of New Mexico and Texas will be in attendance.
Lunch will be catered by the Fina Restaurant of Stanton at a nominal charge.

With only one trump left in dummy for ruffing purposes, it became necessary for South to find a parking place for two of his hearts. He chose the spade suit to work on since it was more readily establishable. The ace and king were cashed, but when East showed out on the second round, South was obliged to revise his estimate.

The queen of spades provided a parking place for the ten of hearts but then the suit had to be abandoned in favor of diamonds. The ace and king were led, followed by a third round which declarer ruffed. When West showed out, South was down to his last chance. The king of hearts was led for a ruffing finesse. When West followed with a small card, a spade was discarded from dummy. East produced the ace of hearts to score the setting trick.

The bidding:
North East South West
2♠ Pass 3♠ Pass
3♦ Pass 3NT Pass
4♠ Pass 5♠ Pass
6♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♠
When South gave a positive response of three clubs to North's opening demand bid in spades, the former resolved to reach at least a small slam. In order to lay the groundwork for a complete investigation, he deferred giving an immediate raise in favor of showing his second suit. South's three no trump call tended to slow the tempo since any strength that responder held in hearts represented a duplication of values.

North did not give up yet, however, and his raise to four clubs is intended to give partner another chance and, is of course, absolutely forcing since game has not yet been reached. When South merely persisted to five clubs, North settled for a small slam by bidding six.

Inasmuch as the auction had clearly indicated that the dummy would be very short in hearts, West opened the ace of clubs and then continued the suit. When East followed both times, it

Altho South was the victim of bad breaks, he did not give himself the best chance. Declarer can succeed with no worse than a four-two division in either of North's suits—but only if he goes after the diamonds first. At trick three, he leads the king of diamonds, followed by the ace. If one opponent shows out, there is still time to play the A-K-Q of spades. If the suit divides no worse than four-two, he can ruff a small spade to establish a second heart discard.

When everyone follows to the second diamond, he ruffs a third round in his hand, reenters dummy by trumping a heart. Another diamond ruff establishes North's long card in that suit. One heart now goes on the queen of spades and the other on the fifth diamond.

Heated Pools

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have been desirous of moving to an apartment building which has a pool, but it seems that all the places we visited had HEATED pools. It is our contention that a heated pool is most unsanitary due to proliferation of staphylococci and bacilli. Also coming out of a heated pool into cooler air has caused many to get chilled and catch cold. — Mrs. M.J.

You evidently refer to the bronzing or discoloration of the skin that can occur with varicose veins. This is usually in the lower third of the leg. It is doubtful whether stripping or injecting the veins would undo this because of the changes in pigment in the skin. The trick is to have the veins treated before the discoloration has had time to become established. Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Water can, however, be a hazard whether heated or not heated if proper standards of circulation and chlorination are not maintained.

As to chilling when you come out, why not do as many others do: keep a robe handy to put on until you get to the shower or dressing room? Speaking of showers, pool pollution is lessened if swimmers shower before going in. Some pool operators require that.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Enclosed is 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Please send me your booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps." Can you also tell me what causes ankles to swell? My daughter's do very often. She is 45. — Mrs. R.

Excess fluid in the system is the usual cause of swollen ankles. If this occurs only around the time of the menstrual period (just before it) then reduction of her salt intake for 10 days or so before the period should help. She may also need a diuretic — a medication to promote loss of excess fluid. If the swelling is more continuous, then examination to see whether there is faulty circulation would be wise. Does she have varicose veins? That could be a factor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is aerophagia and would you discuss it? — Mrs. M.H.

I have, under its other name — air swallowing. It's a habit, not a disease, and a good many people have it. It occurs mostly in fast eaters — gulpers — and people who talk a lot while they eat. They manage to swallow a certain amount of air until a fairish bubble of it accumulates in the stomach. They get rid of it with a lusty belch at some moment when the entrance to the stomach is open.

Many folks who complain of having a "gassy stomach" are aerophagics. Air swallows. But they mistakenly blame it on "indigestion."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There must be other women who are more worried about the unsightliness than the pain of varicose veins. My legs used to hurt but don't now. I still don't know how well stripping or injections would clear up the discoloration. — R.P.

Farm And Ranch Appreciation Days Upcoming
Howard County farmers and ranchers will be honored during Agricultural Appreciation Days, June 14-16.
The highlight of the Appreciation Days will be a free barbecue luncheon for all Howard County farmers, ranchers and their families.
The barbecue will be held June 15 from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Howard County Fair Barn. Letters have been sent to most of the farmers and ranchers in the county inviting them to the luncheon. "But we are sure to miss some," said a Chamber of Commerce spokesman.
To attend the luncheon, farmers and ranchers should call or write for free tickets at the Chamber office. The tickets are required so the meal size can be planned.
The barbecue is open to anyone who wants to come, but only farmers and ranchers get free tickets. The general public can purchase tickets for $2 per plate.
The deadline for tickets is Tuesday noon, so that the Chamber can order the right number of barbecue lunches.

Receives Boy Scouts Honor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Tyler, Tex., geologist and independent oil producer has received the Boy Scouts of America's highest award for volunteer service. The award was made at the 62nd National Council annual meeting here.

George W. Pirtle, a longtime volunteer Scouter and member of the national executive board, received the coveted Silver Buffalo Award, presented annually to a small group of Scouters and public figures for "distinguished service to boyhood" at the national level.

Pirtle, an active volunteer for more than 30 years, was recognized for his contributions to the development of Scouting in East Texas, including the establishment of a Scout reservation, an exploring program, and a yearly scholarship grant to an outstanding Eagle Scout.

He is active in the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Tyler Chamber of Commerce.

Third Party Suit Filed

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge W. E. Suttle has set a hearing next Monday in a suit brought by the American party that challenges Texas' requirements for getting third party candidates on the ballot in the general election.

The suit, which was filed by lawyer Gloria Sylzannis on behalf of several American party officials in the state, challenges a ruling by Texas Secretary of State Bob Bullock that approximately 23,000 signatures are needed on petitions for the third party candidates.

Bullock also has ruled that the petition signers must be qualified voters and they must not have participated in this year's primaries or conventions or other political parties.

Midland Schools Stay Granted

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has granted a request for a stay in the court-ordered school integration plan at Midland, Tex.

As a result of the ruling, officials of the Midland school system will be able to continue operation under their current program.

The integration order stayed Wednesday was issued last October by U.S. District Court Judge Ernest Guinn.

Needs Attention

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

"LOCKED UP:" (Q) I'm really messed up. I'm depressed all the time and sometimes I get very frightened and confused. I don't have a boy friend or really a best friend to talk to. So everything just gets locked up inside me. Even if I did talk to a friend she wouldn't believe the unhappy things I could tell her.

My dad and I don't get along too well. My mom and I are pretty close but when I tell her I need some help she just says, "It's nothing that a few years growing time won't cure." But it's more than just a simple confusion. It's constant unhappiness. I'm not old enough to drive and even if I was I wouldn't know how to find a psychologist. But there has to be someone. Will you help? Can you? — Desperate in Texas.

(A) Show this letter and my answer to your mother. Maybe it will convince her that you need her to help you find it. Periodic depression is typical with teen-age girls, but when it is constant it demands attention.

SORE BROWS: (Q) I get little sores when I tweeze my eyebrows. I use hot compresses beforehand but the places still fester. Could I shave them or something else? — Please Help in Pennsylvania.

(A) Never shave your eyebrows. Pluck them only after you have washed your face thoroughly clean. Be sure, too, that your hands and the tweezers you use are clean. Do not bother with hot compresses. Cleanliness is the key. Pluck only underneath your brows and in the open area above your nose. If the infection persists stop tweezing until you can see your doctor.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope can be answered.) (Copyright, 1972, by United Features)

'Dog Wash' Announced

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Sanitation is going to the dogs in Denton.

The Humane Society announced plans in June for a "dog wash" at the Denton center.

"To my knowledge, this will be a first for Texas, the nation and the world," said Dr. Mary E. Whitten, a member of the board of directors of the Humane Society.

Plans called for dogs of all types to be bathed and dried by members and friends of the society.

MISSOURI FARM BOY WHO MADE GOOD

HST At 88: Mr. President As Mr. Citizen

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — He is an old man now without the privileges of other old men.

The park bench in the sun, the small talk with others of his time and memories are denied Harry S. Truman. Nearly 20 years out of the White House he is revered as Mr. President, but restricted as Mr. Citizen.

He knew it would come. "I still don't feel like a completely private citizen and I don't suppose I ever will," he said once. "It's still almost impossible to do as other people do, even though I've tried. You can't always be as you want to be after you've been under those bright lights."

For the seventh straight year they raised glasses of sherry in toast to an empty, high-backed leather chair. Truman, the man who always loved cronies, camaraderie and good conversation was too feeble to be there.

Age has built a wall around Truman, isolating him from his friends, making him a prisoner of his house.

His appearance is a shock to those who remember his ebullient good health as president. He looks drawn and thin, pitifully frail. His false teeth give him trouble and slur his speech. His eyes, always weak, look enormous and stary behind thick lenses. He hears badly.

and what may happen tomorrow. "Others confide that he has mental lapses, that he 'over-reacts' like a crotchety old goat—not unusual for a man Truman's age. But they hasten to stress the amount of reading he does and his awareness and interest in the world today.

"On every current event he's got an opinion of what we ought to do and why we ought to do it," Bartle said. "He talks about legislation before the Congress. He'll get down to little minute things. He never calls a man by name like you and I do. For instance, Hubert Humphrey, he'll say, 'Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the former vice president.' He always gives the title. It is always an indication of respect for the title that he holds."

man," said Benton, himself 83. "You get that fat off of him and you see that chicken-hawk face and also his sensitivity. You would never think of Harry Truman as being sensitive, but he is—when he's not fat and bothered with all the defenses a politician has to put up with. You didn't ever see the real man, you saw only the mask."

But Truman's sister, Mary Jane, said a little sadly: "I don't know. He doesn't look a thing like he used to. He always had a full face and always looked so well. He takes a miserable picture now, he's so thin. And he's always taken such a nice picture."

OLD MAN INTERESTING
"He's a skunk now," said Benton. "You can see the man without the jowls and the fat. He has no need now to put on an act, any kind of public act. So he relaxes now. He's a very interesting old man."

The association between the artist and Truman began in 1960 when Truman painted "Independence and the Opening of the West," a 495-square foot mural, in the lobby of the library. "We got to be pretty good friends," Benton said. "This is an amazing thing for an artist and a politician. Harry Truman and I are two men who can sit in a room alone and drink a glass of whiskey and feel at ease. You know what I mean? Now there is no other politician I can do that with — none of them."

Truman in 1963, when the former president still went to the library daily—something he hasn't done since 1965. Truman posed willingly, Benton said, but "I was constantly interfered with by office workers. The women wanted him to look like Clark Gable and the politicians..." Benton's hands went up in exasperation. "I finally told him, 'I can't do this,' and he let me off the hook. Then last year we got to talking about that effort. We were laughing about that and I said, 'Hell, why not try again?' and he said why not. So I did this painting and I'm glad I waited because it's more interesting."

Benton replies. "That's enough."
The things that please Bess have always been enough for Truman. She was his childhood sweetheart, the aristocratic athlete that the bookish farm boy Truman and wou; she was the only girl he ever dated and loved; she was his secretary in the Senate; she was his unobtrusive confidant and supporter when he was president. Now 87 herself, still doing most of the shopping, cooking and housework, she is with him constantly, zealously guarding his privacy.

"I don't think she likes to leave Harry too much," said Mary Jane Truman. "There's always somebody on hand, but at his age, you know, he might get up and fall. There has to be somebody in the house."

But they respect her wishes and the calling list is small.
"I think they're lonely," said one friend. "Truman is a crony man and there are no more cronies." And another friend: "There's no question he's got to be protected at every moment. Lonely? Undoubtedly. I would hate to be in his position. He's used to people and contacts in the world." And Mary Jane, with sisterly concern: "Even our family doesn't go as often. I think it's better not to."

Charles Hipsh, the president of a Kansas City bank, is a weekly visitor, along with his brother, Sam. "He's never expressed loneliness," Charles Hipsh said. "He always seems to welcome you with open arms when you come there. And Mrs. Truman—she makes you feel like you're the president instead of visiting the president."

LOVED CRONIES
Now another birthday. Eighty-eight. His friends gather, as they always do, May 8, at the Hotel Muehlebach to lunch, to praise, and to light candles on heart-shaped petit-fours.

CRYSTAL CLEAR
"But his mind is clear as crystal," said H. Roe Bartle, a former Kansas City mayor and one of the few friends who see him regularly. "He keeps abreast of the times, rarely reminisces. He wants to talk about what happened yesterday

FAT FACES
Thomas Hart Benton, the distinguished artist, painted Truman's portrait last year. "The old man looks better as an old man than he did as a young more prominent by the lines in Truman's face. Like all Benton paintings, it's scrupulously detailed.

The artist made four trips to the Truman home for sketches, then painted in his garage-studio in Kansas City. "Mrs. Truman saw it and said, 'That's him,'" says Benton. "What the hell more do you want?" Does Truman like it? "Bess does,"

SHE PROTECTS
Privately, some of their friends say she protects him too much, keeping away people who might brighten his days.

BAD DAYS
Says Bartle: "The president has good days and he has bad days. If it's a bad day and I want to bring somebody out, she'll suggest another day. If it's somebody from out of town and I say, 'Can we have two minutes?' she'll always say yes." On such a visit he tells Truman, "Just want to say hello, we've got to hurry, got another engagement." Bartle, a hearty mountain of a man, laughs. "Now Miss Bess, she loves that. Because if the old boy isn't feeling up to par that day she doesn't want to be imposing on him. I can get in there and get out of there faster than any 300-pound guy you ever saw."

Recently Bartle and Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, shared a speaker's platform. Gravel said he had always wanted to meet Truman. With only a few minutes notice to the Trumans, Bartle took him to Independence. "We walked in and Mr. Truman, with a twinkle in his eyes, said, 'Yep, I'll tell you, you've been a good senator,'" Bartle recounted. "And he knew the legislation Gravel had voted for, where he had not cast his ballot and where he'd been negative. Well, it overwhelmed me. Now why should a man who is 87 years old study the records of senators so he knew what he voted for and what he voted against?"

GENTLE LADY
Miss Truman is a gentle lady who instinctively call Miss Mary Jane. She'll be 83 in August. "I'm younger than Harry," she said demurely. She never married and lives alone in a small brick house in Grandview, not far from the old Truman farm, now the site of a large, undistinguished shopping center called Truman Corners. She still drives her own car and often makes the 30-minute trip to visit her brother. His visits to her, when the weather is nice, are probably the longest trips Truman makes these days.

"I don't think anyone ever had two better brothers than I had," said Miss Mary Jane. "I think he married later than he would have because he thought he'd have to look after Mama and me."

Her living room is filled with pictures of Harry, their brother, Vivian, who died in 1965; and her mother who lived to be nearly 95. She talked of their childhood. "Our parents always taught us to be honest in our dealings with everybody. And one of the things they stressed was that we had to respect older people. We were with our grandmother on Mama's side for a number of years. I felt we lived like everybody else, but maybe we didn't. We just grew up and did what we believed in. If we made any decisions we were supposed to stick by them."

PARALYZED
"The boys both had diphtheria and I was sent to my grandmother's so I didn't have it. Harry was paralyzed for almost a year. He had started to school and was in the second grade, or maybe the third. I wheeled him around in my baby buggy for close to a year. I remember Mama telling about how it happened. We were at the dinner table and he took a drink of milk and it all came out of his mouth. His tongue was paralyzed. They went after the doctor, who said he'd been expecting it because Harry was so weak. That's the way it started that he read so much."

Truman learned to read when he was about 4. "From then on I read everything I could get my hands on," he wrote once, "histories, encyclopedias, and everything else. Before I was 12 I had read everything Mark Twain had published up to that time." The home library on the Truman farm was thought to be the largest private collection in town.

READING HABIT
The reading habit, begun young and nurtured through life, has served Truman well in his old age. Bartle, who reads 300 books a year, says he is overwhelmed with the books Truman has in his home.

WHEELER-DEALER IN FORT WORTH

Plays The Money Game

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — He paces back and forth, restless and panther-like, the phone hooked in his ear, an extension cord trailing him around the room.

"Hi, buddy, are we digging out... how much we got shipped for the month?"

He cups the mouthpiece, smiles, extends a hand: "Hi, I'm Brad Corbett... Coke Coffee?"

NO MUSCLE

And then back to the phone: "I need a million pounds out of there by next June... I know you can do it. I'm not trying to put the muscle on you, but this is important."

"Okay? Okay. I'll be talking to you."

Coatless, tie crooked, a cigar clutched in his hand, he drops into a chair at his desk, smiles again and says, "Helluva guy. Now what can I do for you?"

This is Bradford G. Corbett, 34, stocky, light brown hair, no appreciable sideburns, a New Yorker by birth, Texan by choice, gambler by nature and a business executive by profession.

He has parlayed a $300,000 Small Business Administration (SBA) loan into a multimillion dollar enterprise, basically plastics, and says he's only scratched the surface.

"We're a 25-year old company that's really only a year old," he says. "We're just in the formative stage."

EXCUSE ME

Before he can explain, the phone rings. He's up in a flash, talking and stalking his small, luxurious office, his voice rising and falling with the tempo of his nervous pacing.

"We got a helluva loan ($9 million)," he announced. "... We can buy for $2,000 an acre... Fantastic acreage. Like to talk to you about some development out there."

"Still going with Ann? ... Jane. Excuse me."

Then he melts again into his chair, grinning. "That's a helluva guy. Invested in us when we were little. Loaned me my first million... Gene Bishop's his name... One of the biggest boosters of our little company."

The "little company" is Fort Worth-based Robintech, Inc., a diversified manufacturer of both plastic and metal products, mostly pipe and copper tubing, the stock of which is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

And the moving force is Corbett, whom a business associate describes as "a remarkable guy. He's gonna be big rich or go out with a heart attack."

BLACK FORD

The Corbett-Robintech story smacks not so much of rags to riches but a spirit of financial adventure coupled with a business approach Corbett calls his "black Ford concept."

Plucking a small, black model-T Ford from a cabinet, Corbett shoved it across his desk and said:

"To me, it was an efficient car without any frills on it. Old Henry Ford said, 'We'll paint 'em all black, mass produce 'em and knock hell out of the price.'"

"And we feel this echos our sentiments. We'll build efficient plants with a low capital base... We'll offer quality products at a competitive price... And we'll become a volume producer."

$300,000 LOAN

Recognizing the market potential of Southwest, Corbett resigned four years ago as national sales manager of plastic building products for Allied Chemical in New York, eventually luring two associates, Ed Elgin and John Geary, to follow him. Both are top level executives at Robintech.

With a $300,000 loan from the Small Business Administration,

Corbett formed his own company, Universal Pipe and Plastics Co., the first step up a meandering financial ladder.

He says growth is usually associated with the ability to raise capital.

"The SBA was really a fine organization to do business with," he said. "When we needed help, they were there."

Robintech, meanwhile, had merged with Kenisco tube, a copper tubing firm, and was in a static growth situation but a cash position, Corbett producer of PVC (Polyvinyl chloride plastic) in the United States.

"We sort of cross-pollinated character traits," he said, merging UPPI with Robintech in April 1971.

"We now have six plants with Robintech, three under construction. By the end of the year we'll have a hard working one?"

"That's the name of the game."

'Victim' Ends Up In Cell

DALLAS (AP) — There he was, the poor man, overcome by smoke, thought Patrolman A. H. Strebeck.

Strebeck pulled the 55-year-old man from a burning second-story apartment. He was unconscious, sitting in a chair. Three mattresses were ablaze in the apartment.

Neighbors carried the mattresses downstairs, and only damage to the apartment was from smoke.

The patrolman tried to treat the man for smoke inhalation. Then he discovered the man was only passed-out drunk.

Strebeck checked with police records and found the man was wanted for assault and making a false statement.

The "victim" ended up in jail.

Orders Orr To Show Why

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A challenge to Texas Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Roy Orr arose Tuesday when two Austin delegates to the state party convention in San Antonio asked a state district judge to enjoin Orr's choice of delegates to the Democratic national convention.

State Dist. Court Judge Charles Mathews ordered Orr to show cause why he should not be enjoined from announcing to the state convention next Tuesday the allocation of delegates. The judge set a hearing for 3 p.m. today.

Delegates J. Terry Weeks and Hubert Gill, both supporters of Sen. George McGovern for President, asked Mathews for the injunction, claiming Orr had determined the number of delegates to be elected from each Texas senatorial district "at his own whim and caprice."

They said Orr disregarded party rules in allowing more delegates from Senate districts 1 and 27 than from 14—in which Weeks and Gill live.

Weeks and Gill said each of the districts was allocated four national convention delegates by Orr and the Austin area district got only three.

Humphrey Tells Governors He's Still In The Running

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, his presidential hopes kept faintly flickering by his better-than-expected showing in the California Presidential primary, has sought support from Democratic governors while opening the door to a possible political alliance with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

The Minnesota senator, whose California defeat at the hands of the front-running McGovern was narrower than previously projected, huddled collectively and individually with most of the Democratic governors here, making it clear he still hopes to win the nomination and the chance to oppose President Nixon next fall.

TO GET READING
"There have been too many long hours by too many people to take a powder now," Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers quoted Humphrey as telling him Wednesday. "He said he was going to continue running," Bumpers said.

Humphrey, running on years of political experience and one-and-a-half hours sleep, arrived at this site of the National Governors' Conference early Wednesday and began the long day of meetings with his party's state chief executives.

"I'll level with you," Humphrey told newsmen between private discussions with various governors. "Most of the meetings with the governors were to get a reading of how they saw the situation in their respective states."

NO SECRET
And it has been no secret here this week that most of the Democratic governors see their respective states going Republican next November if McGovern is President Nixon's opponent. It was exposure of that sentiment that is credited with causing McGovern himself to fly here late Monday for a midnight meeting with the state executives.

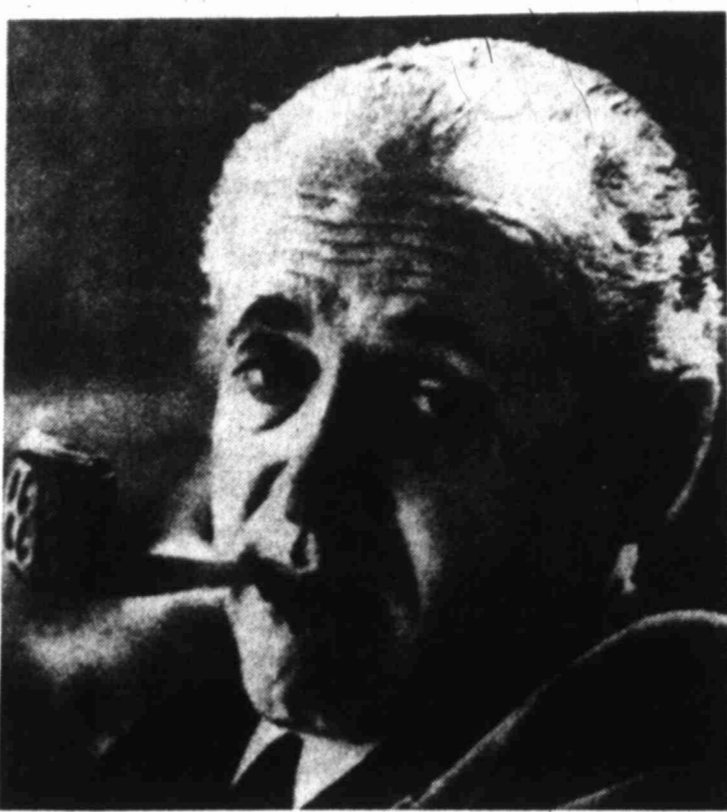

Humphrey also said he came to Houston as the "titular head of the Democratic Party" seeking to maintain party unity, not in an attempt to stop McGovern's drive for the nomination.

BAND WAGON
But at least one Southern Democratic governor, who asked not to be named, said he was asked to participate in a political holding action designed to slow down the McGovern band wagon.

Five governors predicted taxes wouldn't go up and nine others said it depends on such factors as growth in the economy, inflation, public demand for new services and the overall effects of shifting school financing from local to state taxation.

Only Maine Gov. Curtis, who can't run for re-election, said flatly his state would have to raise taxes.

Seven governors said federal revenue sharing is what they want most from Washington. Four others said they'd settle just for less federal interference in how they spend the money they get now. Hearnes of Missouri and Preston Smith of Texas put a federal takeover of welfare costs as the top of their want lists. Richard F.

NEW CHAIRMAN — Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel smokes his pipe during the closing session of the National Governors' Conference Wednesday in Houston, Tex. Mandel was elected the new chairman of the conference.

Kneip of South Dakota asked for more highway funds. Wendell R. Anderson of Minnesota said more federal money of any kind would be all right.

REVENUE SHARING
The National Governors' Conference completed its yearly meeting by electing Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel, a Democrat, as its new chairman. He replaces Republican Gov. Moore of West Virginia.

The governors applauded warmly as Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe announced he'll release $4.4 billion in highway funds to them around June 15.

They passed resolutions restating their support for federal revenue sharing and a federal takeover of welfare, and raised questions about any proposed federal value-added tax, which they said would compete with their own state sales taxes.

The only resolution that was defeated was one boosting the idea of federal compensation for innocent victims of crime. It fell short of the required two-thirds majority, 12 to 8.

Not a single governor offered to host the 1974 governor's conference. Next year's meeting is set for Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Following the adjournment of the conference the Democratic Governors' Platform Committee heard several governors criticize the federal bureaucracy.

COLD IDEA
Committee chairman John C. West of South Carolina said the government is generous in handing out planning money but hinders projects with too many Washington guidelines.

Gov. Mandel of Maryland complained, "Every time we get another dollar we have to file another report."

John Galbraith Drops Out Of Race

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith says he is dropping his name from consideration for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

State Rep. Charles Flaherty Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Committee, released on Tuesday a letter he received from Galbraith announcing that he made the decision "somewhat regretfully."

Galbraith wrote in part that "retiring Messrs. Nixon and Agnew in November is obviously the main liberal business and I'm persuaded that I should continue to use what energy I have to this end."

Galbraith said that he had canvassed reaction to his possible candidacy in the black and civil rights community and reported that it was "more favorable than not." But he added that "it remains a source of personal uneasiness to me." If nominated he would face Republican Sen. Edward W. Brooke, the only black member of the Senate.

Sen. McGovern's Third Grandson

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has a third grandson.

McGovern's eldest daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Mead, gave birth to a 6-pound boy Tuesday, the day of the California primary.

He called the child's birth "a great sense of timing to hold off until the election."

Mrs. Mead, 27, gave birth at the California Hospital Medical Center here. It was her second child.

The Meads live in Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Mead was here campaigning for her father.

Newsprint Facilities Expansion

HOUSTON (AP) — Directors of Southland Paper Mills, Inc., have given final approval for expansion of newsprint manufacturing facilities at the company's Houston mill, officials reported Wednesday.

Officials also announced plans for a modernization program at the company's Lufkin, Tex., mill that will enable the mill to convert one of its four newsprint machines to the production of other paper grades.

The Houston expansion will result in the addition of a third paper machine with an annual capacity of 200,000 tons.

The new machine, coupled with the conversion of the 80,000-ton Lufkin machine, will give Southland a net increase in newsprint capacity of 120,000 tons annually.

Southland—currently the nation's second largest newsprint producer—has a present newsprint capacity of about 500,000 tons a year, along with 130,000 tons of other pulp and paper products.

The company supplies newspapers throughout the South and Southwest with principal markets located in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Completion date for the Houston expansion is April 1974. Completion date for the Lufkin program has not been set.

Directors also authorized management officials to proceed with the negotiations of loans totaling $55 million to be used in connection with the expansion and modernization programs.
