SENATE PANEL Okays Bill To Outlaw Handguns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved a bill to outlaw the commercial sale of small, concealable type handguns not suitable for sporting purposes.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., was approved by a 12 to 2 vote after the committee turned down by a 9 to 5 vote a rival measure of Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb.

Three bills offered by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to require the registration of all firearms, or the licensing of both long guns and handguns and of only handguns were rejected by one-sided margins.

The handguns used in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1968 and in the attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace last month would be banned from sale under the legislation.

The shooting of Wallace during his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination spurred action by the committee on Bayh's bill, which had been lying dormant for over a year.

Press Club Votes Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The board of governors of the National Press Club has voted unanimously to conduct a full-scale investigation of the Nixon administration's relations with the news media.

The club's professional relations committee was directed Monday night to conduct the investigation and make a public report by Oct. 2.

"The board acted after receiving complaints that a problem of serious proportion exists in the relationship between the administration and the news media," said club President Warren Rogers, syndicated columnist for the Chicago Tribune — New York News Syndicate. "We want to find out the facts."

Boyle Fined $130,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $130,000 today for making illegal political contributions with union funds.

Boyle, 70, suffering from a back ailment, stood silent and tight-lipped as U. S. District Judge Charles Richey imposed the sentence.

As a condition of Boyle's release pending appeal, Richey ordered him to post the $130,000 or a surety bond in that amount with the court.

The judge further ordered that the money come from Boyle's own pocket and restrain him from dissipating his own assets.

Justice Department prosecutors would not comment on the sentence.

Boyle was led away by U. S. marshals and put into the court lockup in light of Richey's order that he not be released until the $130,000 is posted.

GO-GO IS NOW NO-NO AT DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Instituted two years ago as a morale booster, go-go is now a no-no at Miramar Naval Air Station.

The female dancers who rocked, rolled, bounced and gyrated nightly at the Enlisted Men's Club and twice weekly at the Officers' Club are no longer doing so, station officers say.

No official reason for bouncing the go-gos was given, but one officer said the announcement was made last week, four days after a new commander of the base took over.

TOO HOT IN CISCO FOR TURKEYS

CISCO, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds of Christmas turkeys have died in Cisco because of wilting summer heat.

After 300 gobblers died from heat when temperatures hit the 100s last week, the Fire Department was called Monday to keep others of an estimated 1,500 birds from expiring on the turkey farm here, owned by Jack Curtis of Stephenville.

Fireman C. W. Guthrie and his son Bart, answered the summons about 5:30 p.m. By sunset they had pumped two tanker loads of water over the sweltering birds in a temperature of 108 degrees.

They awaited a further call to the farm as the temperature soared again today.

Mrs. C. O. Richardson, wife of the farm manager, said at last count that a total of 598 turkeys have died, each weighing around 20 pounds and having a wholesale price of around $5.

Close Call

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Two young men owe their lives to a drainpipe.

Their sports car slid off a mountain road here and began the plunge down a 1,000-foot ravine — only to be stopped short 10 feet down by the pipe, which protruded from the slope.

The car teetered to a precarious balance on the pipe, and the two — driver Blaine Smith, 18, of Santa Ana, and John Eberly, 20, of Isla Vista — unfastened their seatbelts and got out of the car — very carefully. Neither was injured.

The car was recovered with cables.

RESUME HUNT FOR YOUNG SKYJACKER

$500,000 Ransom Located

PERU, Ind. (AP) — Law enforcement officers have located the submachine gun used in the hijacking of an American Airlines jet and $500,000 ransom, the first solid leads since their search began Saturday.

Officers resume today hunting for the young man with pock-marked face and open sores who they believe probably was killed as he parachuted from the jet over north-central Indiana. Indiana State Police Capt. Rex Dillman, who has been coordinating local efforts in the search, said Monday night, "I'm inclined to start slacking off now. I'm pretty well satisfied the man didn't come down safely. If he came down safely and alive, I don't think there's any doubt he's out of the area by now."

Lowell Elliott, 61, a farmer, stumbled across a sealed canvas mail bag with the ransom money in a soybean field Monday.

The 45-pound bag was buried a couple of inches in an open field about 250 feet from a county road. "At first I thought it was a ground hog in the field," Elliott said, "but it didn't move so I took a closer look."

A count at FBI headquarters in Indianapolis found $500,000 of the $502,500 ransom. Authorities said the $2,500 was in a separate package and was still missing. However, police in St. Louis said the hijacker gave $1,500 to the two stewardesses as a tip and they turned it over to the FBI. The stewardesses said he told them they had been real nice and here's a tip," said Police Sgt. Edward Loarenzo.

Five hours after Elliott's discovery, Ronald E. Miller, 22, uncovered in his cornfield a Spitfire submachine gun the hijacker is believed to have used when he commandeered the American Boeing 727 Friday night shortly after it left St. Louis for Tulsa, Okla.

Miller was putting liquid nitrogen on his cornfield when a blade of his tractor applicator machine struck the gun.

James Martin, FBI agent in charge in Indiana, said the gun and money were on a line that coincided with the plane's course after the hijacker ordered it from St. Louis to Toronto.

Martin said the search was narrowed to an area five miles long and a mile wide, much of it flat farmland with thickets of trees.

Featuring a flag ceremony by Boy Scout Troop 5, the annual event will be garnished with a speech by Mayor Wade Choate. Refreshments in the way of drinks, cookies and bubble gum will be available.

All residents of Highland South have been asked to raise flags and all citizens of Big Spring are urged to participate or join the spectators.

The parade is scheduled from 9:30 to 10:00 a.m. extending from the east end of Highland Drive to Goliad Street.

IT'S JUST NOT WORTH IT — Fighting the West Texas heat, that is. At least it wasn't to this four-year-old, who came in off the street with his father and curled up on a settee in the Co den building to grab 40 winks under the air conditioner. ## McGovern Walloping 'Southern Strategy'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Campaigning today in this largely Mexican-American city, Sen. George McGovern said he will appoint Mexican-Americans to his cabinet and other high ranking posts if elected president.

The South Dakota Democrat told newsmen in an early morning breakfast that he would name Mexican-Americans to his cabinet, the federal judiciary and subcabinet levels in numbers reasonably proportionate to the national Spanish-surnamed population.

"I would see to it that Mexican-Americans are represented from the cabinet on down," he said.

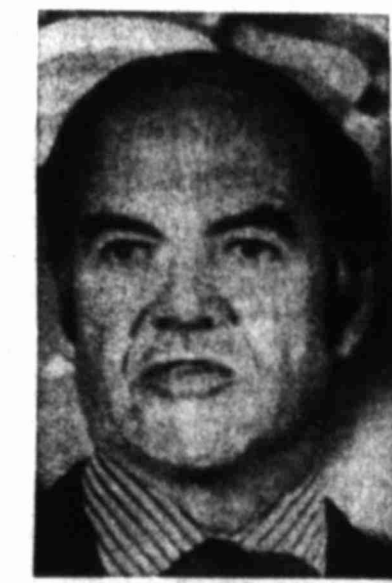

Although he has advocated defense cutbacks, McGovern said he would not close down U.S. military bases until alternative jobs were found for their employees.

HEATED CENTERS
He suggested government contracts with private industry for work in such areas as public transit, water development, new sewage treatment plants, new houses, and neighborhood health centers.

Improvement in such areas, he said, has been ignored because of the high cost of the Vietnam war.

McGovern also suggested guaranteed public service jobs for military employees of the affected military bases if they could not be found through private industry.

The front running presidential contender also declared that $10 billion in federal money should be invested in "job creating enterprises of all kinds" to solve what he said is the nation's already high unemployment problem.

SEN. GEORGE MCGOVERN
Over the top?

He said the nation in some cases is facing a job crisis as severe as 1932.

At a rally here Monday night, McGovern offered his answer to the Nixon administration's "Southern strategy."

He also defended himself against Republicans who have pinned labels on him, saying he has been called radical "by those who have a stake in preserving what's wrong with this country."

McGovern told a crowd estimated at 3,500 to 5,000 which jammed a Mexican-style plaza here Monday night that President Nixon's so-called Southern strategy "is first of all a cynical attempt to trick the people of the South into voting against yourselves in November."

Speaking in a city that has a 50 per cent Mexican-American population, he asserted that the Nixon strategy overlooks "blacks, Mexican-Americans and other minorities of this country." The strategy, he said, "is not peace but racial divisions between our own neighborhoods."

When one asks why the Spanish-surnamed make up only 2.8 per cent of the government's employees, "the President answers by saying, 'I will go south of the border and embrace the president of Mexico.'" McGovern told the cheering throng.

CADILLACS

In an obvious reference to President Nixon's recent visit to the nearby Floresville ranch of former Secretary of the Treasury John Connally, McGovern asked: "Is it possible that 200 men in Cadillacs and private jets can lock up this state in one night? I say those who believe so are wrong..."

"They would know they were wrong if instead of 'bugging' the Democratic National Committee, they had been listening instead to the leadership of the New South," McGovern added.

Earlier, McGovern met with 28 of Texas' 130 delegates to the National Democratic Convention, including 22 McGovern delegates, four uncommitted, one for Hubert Humphrey and one for George Wallace.

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Mike McKool tied up both houses of the Texas legislature today with a filibuster aimed at getting more money for treatment of the mentally retarded.

At 10:15 a.m. the short, deeply tanned Dallas legislator who lost a primary runoff for Congress earlier this month, passed the 21 hour mark in his marathon delaying tactic against the $4.1 billion Senate Appropriations bill.

There was speculation McKool was aiming at Texas' filibuster record of 29 hours, 22 minutes set in 1971 by Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth who temporarily blocked a four-year branch of the University of Texas at Dallas. The world record of 39 hours is held by a South Carolina legislator.

McKool's voice seemed to strengthen at mid-morning as spectators gathered in the Senate gallery. Occasionally he sucked an orange, posing cheerfully for a news cameraman. His coat was neatly buttoned and he did not loosen his tie. Mostly he just walked slowly back and forth, talking in a carefully measured monotone. He shuffled his shoes in the early morning hours but quickly replaced them when a crowd began to gather again.

KEEP TALKING
"This is nothing more than an investment in human beings," McKool repeated over and over as he technically argued for his amendment that would add $17 million to the Senate bill, all of it for mental health and mental retardation treatment services.

At various times McKool offered to compromise with Senate leaders for a $3 million increase or even $1 million. They refused and told him to keep talking.

The House met briefly then recessed to wait for the Senate stalemate to end. Once the big 1973 spending bill is out of the Senate, House leaders plan to hold a quick meeting of the House Appropriations Committee and clear the Senate-passed bill for House debate Friday or Saturday. Under new reform rules House members must have three days to study any bill before it comes to a vote.

NO LOBBY
His stalling tactics on a $4.1 billion one-year state budget got underway just before noon

HOT

Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Wednesday. No important temperature changes. High this afternoon and Wednesday 100 to 105, low tonight low 70's, with light and variable winds.

Monday but was continuous from 1:30 p.m.

He said those with mental problems have no lobby so someone had to speak for them.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and several of his colleagues claimed McKool, who lost a race for Congress and will not return to the Senate next year, simply wanted the publicity.

His wife, Betty, sat by his side part of the time as the 53-year-old senator sought support for his proposal to add $17 million to the recommended appropriation for the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

NOT ENOUGH
To give it less, he said, "is just like kicking a cripple."

McKool, who at 5 feet-4 inches refers to himself as the Chihuahua of the Senate, said some Texans who need professional care have been waiting as long as seven years to get into state-financed institutions for the mentally ill and mentally retarded.

"We've gone too slow with not enough," he said. "I don't think there is anything that is more tragic than young kids who are afflicted and need help."

A dozen or so women who had heard about McKool's filibuster sent word they were coming and sat in the balcony and applauded several times.

Sen. Joe Bernal of San Antonio returned from a trip home for Sen. George McGovern's visit and said he had told the Democratic presidential candidate of McKool's apparent attempt to arouse support for the health services.

"I think he (McGovern) shares my concern about what you are doing," Bernal said.

McKool sucked cut oranges for moisture and snacked on small pieces of candy from his desk drawer.

Two Odessans Are Killed

ODESSA — Injuries from traffic accidents claimed the lives of two Odessa women Monday.

Mrs. Bertha Evelyn Rice, 61, died about 4:40 a.m. Monday when she was thrown from her automobile on Texas 158 a mile west of the Ector-Midland County line.

About four hours later Mrs. Ada Cornelius Short Samson, 20, died at Medical Center hospital after suffering injuries in a car-pedestrian accident in the 6100 block of Andrews Highway shortly after midnight Sunday.

Driver of the auto was Lloyd Van Warren of Odessa. Texas Highway Patrolman Jack Wasson said Mrs. Samson was walking west at the time of the accident. She was thrown onto the hood of the car and was carried 48 feet before falling from the auto hood onto the pavement.

Mrs. Rice was alone in her car going east when her car turned over three times and rolled end-over-end. The woman's body was found in a nearby field.

Services for both women are pending at Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home.

SOPHISTICATED EQUIPMENT — Charles L. Frush, research scientist, watches returns of a pulse laser on part of the sophisticated equipment required in the experiment. One piece of equipment he designed and built has 15,000 hand-soldered connections.

Experiment Staged Here May Help Figure Weather

By STEVE HULTMAN
What's the weather going to be tomorrow — next week — or next month? An experiment conducted here using lasers, airplanes and hand-made electronic equipment may help provide the answer.

The experiments by a group of scientists from the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colo., are the culmination of a year's research on both the theory of the experiments and the equipment needed. The results of the two-week field experiment, one week in Blythe, Calif., and the final week here in conjunction with the Agricultural Research Station, will be studied and eventually be used to judge the effects of man-made air pollution as well as for forecasting weather and climate.

SPONSORED GROUP
The 15 scientists, informally led by Dr. John DeLuisi, are part of a group sponsored by the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration and the University of Arizona, Wisconsin and Washington. "What we are doing is measuring the amount and size of aerosols, or dust, in the atmosphere," said Dr. DeLuisi.

"The earth receives radiation from the sun, which is stored as heat in the earth and then radiated back out as infra-red radiation. The balance between incoming and outgoing radiation is extremely important. A slight change in the balance could change both the weather and the climate, and aerosols in the air can change this balance," he said.

Weather is the general condition of the atmosphere at a particular time, and climate is the average weather in a particular area. A change in the balance of radiation could change the weather and provide a hot, dry day, or it could change the climate and provide a hot, dry year.

"We hope to be able to predict more accurately what will happen with increased or decreased amounts of aerosols," he said.

THIN LIGHT

The experiment used two lasers, one with a pencil thin green light that was used with other sophisticated equipment to measure the size and optical qualities of aerosols, so that later it can be used to determine what kind aerosols are present in a polluted atmosphere, and a high intensity red laser that shot pulses of light straight up to measure what aerosols were in the atmosphere. The red laser was used like a radar set, sending out pulses of light and measuring the reflections of the pulses. An airplane measured radiation levels and took air samples at various altitudes.

An example of what natural aerosols can do to climate was experienced throughout the world for years following the explosion of the volcano Krakatoa. The huge masses of dust swiped into the atmosphere lowered average temperatures around the world for years.

The scientists completed their work and returned to Boulder, where the results will be studied for as much as a year before further field trials are held.

Eventually, the scientists hope to know how the atmosphere, aerosols and clouds act to determine weather and climate.

Long-range predictions of weather and climate could provide farmers and ranchers the information they need to operate with, and could help us move to controlling the weather and climate, perhaps within this century.

Water District Sets Record

Monday established a new record for single day production for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The 74,624,000 gallons pumped from district sources exceeded by 1,507,000 gallons the previous peak reached Aug. 17, 1970.

There was a prospect that Tuesday, normally the heaviest day of the week, might set yet another record day.

O. H. Ivey, general manager, said that the district pumped 69,845,000 gallons of potable water and an additional 4,779,000 of brackish water for oilfield repressuring customers. The cities utilized 57,031,000 gallons, the oil and industrial customers 14,443,000 gallons.

Big Spring and Snyder peaked for the season, but Odessa was a little short of its high for the year.

The cities showed these requirements: Odessa 25,410,000 gallons, Big Spring 11,872,000, Snyder 4,856,000 Midland 15,010,000, Stanton 485,000. In addition, San Angelo pumped 3,150,000 gallons from Lake E. V. Spence, making an over-all pumpage to the cities of 660,181,000 gallons.

All facilities functioned perfectly and there was no difficulty in meeting the demand, said Ivey.

Excitement in the office of Financial Director Rogers Nanny is due to optimistic possibilities concerning water revenue for the month of June.

Nanny reported yesterday that water revenue after the first four billings of June had exceeded $72,000. At the same time in April, revenue figures had reached $63,000; in May, almost $67,000. To reach a June budget projection of $100,000 in water revenue, the fifth and last billing of June requires $27,469. The reason for optimism, Nanny reported, is that the last billing of the month is traditionally the largest, exceeding $38,268 in April and approaching $36,000 in May.

On the basis of previous months, water revenue should easily exceed budget projections for June.

Guard To Assist In Safety Drive

Governor Prosten Smith this week announced he was again calling on the Texas National Guard to assist the Department of Public Safety in maintaining traffic safety.

He said Guardsmen will be employed in a 12-county area around Dallas and Fort Worth during the long July Fourth holiday weekend. Guardsmen were employed during the Memorial Day holiday weekend in the Austin and San Antonio areas.

Sgt. Douglas Hedges of the local Texas National Guard unit advised that his unit will be employed in emergency traffic situations. Presently, he expects no calls for action by the local unit. He suggested that his group might be asked to serve during the long Labor Day holiday weekend.

AIDING THE ENEMY?

Time is your worst enemy most carefully guarded against. When it comes to matters concerning your health, Time can convert a curable cancer into a fatal cancer in only a day or two can make the difference between a sore throat and a far advanced diphtheria. A very short time can transform a functional heart condition into a serious heart disease.

Work On Nursing Home To Start

COLORADO CITY — The city council Friday cleared the way for construction of a $300,000 nursing home for Colorado City. Construction of the 134 bed facility by Ray McDonald of Abilene and Lewis Claxton of Colorado City is expected to begin within 10 days. Construction will begin after title to city land is transferred to the firm. The home will be located on Chestnut Street between 19th and 20th Streets, just north of the city's north water works. The city approved the firm's bid of $2,500 for the property in a special session Friday afternoon. The facility should be completed within four months and will eventually employ as many as 50 persons.

Red Cross Budget Drain Hobbles Agency Effort

"Floods in places like Rapid City-Black Hills South Dakota, Pennsylvania and the New Braunfels area earlier in the year have nearly depleted our budget for aiding disaster victims," said Nat Roll.

Roll, director of the Howard County chapter of the American Red Cross, said that the drain on the Red Cross' budget has resulted in an appeal to the local chapters to raise funds to help disaster victims.

"People wishing to make a contribution may do so through the local office. Checks made payable to 'American Red Cross Disaster' can be mailed to this office, P. O. Box 1070, Big Spring, and the money will be forwarded to the regional and then on to the national Red Cross headquarters," said Roll.

"This money," he added, "will go directly to persons in these stricken areas. Funds donated for this year through United Fund and similar agencies were budgeted for emergencies, administration and other operational costs. The funds budgeted for disasters have been depleted because of the high numbers of disasters that have struck since the first of the year."

"The people in these disaster areas have been furnished with all the material needs — clothes, food and similar items, — and this money will go for cleaning up the debris of the floods and rebuilding people's homes," said Roll.

"A lot of people don't realize it, but the Red Cross uses its money to contract and pay for having debris hauled away, property cleaned up and homes and buildings rebuilt after a disaster," he added.

National Red Cross has set $1,017 as the fund goal for the local Red Cross Chapter. To date, no contributions have been received.

"Response by the local people has always been good in emergencies like this in the past, and I hope that it is the same this time. If disasters

Five Planes Shot Down Over Hanoi?

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes bombed an airfield two miles from the center of Hanoi on Monday, the U.S. Command reported, and other military sources said American raiders returned to the Hanoi-Haiphong region again today for the fourth straight day.

The raid on the Bac Mai airfield and adjoining warehouses was the closest to the center of the North Vietnamese capital in the current air offensive, the command said. It reported four warehouses destroyed and nine others damaged.

Other U.S. jets used TV-guided bombs to damage a generator at a thermal power plant four miles northwest of Haiphong, a communique said. It reported a total of 320 strikes against North Vietnam Monday.

DAMAGE DONE
U.S. reports of the targets hit today and the damage done will not be available until Wednesday. But Hanoi Radio reported six American planes shot down, five of them over Hanoi, and said some of the pilots were captured.

Hanoi has claimed 23 U.S. planes downed in the last week, 17 of them in the last four days. The U.S. Command today reported its first loss in the North for that period, an Air Force F4 Phantom downed last Wednesday with the two crewmen missing. But military sources acknowledged that search and rescue operations for other downed pilots are still in progress.

Military sources also reported that the North Vietnamese have begun construction of a petroleum pipeline from the Chinese border toward Hanoi in an apparent effort to counter the U.S. bombing.

'NEW FORCES'

They said the project probably accounts for some of the "new forces" which the North Vietnamese radio said Monday have joined the struggle to repair the damage done by the massive bombing campaign.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese forces southwest of Hue came under fresh shelling and troop assaults at two points early today, but spokesmen said the attacks were repulsed.

Salmon reported a total of more than 300 North Vietnamese killed in scattered fighting as Hanoi's offensive passed the 90-day mark. Most of this was in the northern sector where government troops have been trying to carry out limited counteroffensives and at the same time strengthen their defenses against an expected enemy drive on Hue.

The U.S. Command reported the loss of two more aircraft in South Vietnam: an AH1 Cobra helicopter gunship shot down during the fighting west of Hue and an O2 spotter plane that went down from unknown causes in the same general area. All three crewmen were rescued, but the two men aboard the helicopter were wounded.

Black Muslim Draws Five

HOUSTON (AP) — Herbert Boyd Hayes, 29, a member of the Black Muslim sect convicted June 15 of making false statements to purchase a firearm, was sentenced to five years in prison Monday.

Hayes, who says his name now is Gabriel Kassim, had bought a rifle, a pistol and a shotgun in Columbus, Tex., while denying he had ever been convicted of a felony, federal agents charged.

The defendant waived his right to a jury trial and defended himself. He said the name Hayes was "imposed by slave-masters."

Federal agents had testified Hayes had served time for robbery and auto theft. Admitted into evidence at the trial was a statement by Hayes to agents that he purchased the rifle to kill Raymond Shariff, who he described as a "totally evil" Black Muslim official who lives in Chicago.

The agents said Hayes told them he had wounded Shariff in a Chicago shootout Oct. 22.

Arguello Going To Law School

Johnny Arguello, a 1969 graduate of Big Spring High School, has received an offer for a three-year scholarship at the Harvard Law School.

Arguello, a senior majoring at pre-law at Texas Tech, said he will delay acceptance of the offer and enroll instead at either the University of Texas or Baylor University Law Schools. He hopes to do post-graduate work at Harvard.

While at Big Spring High, Arguello participated on the swim team. He received scholarship offers from schools including Texas, Michigan State, Texas A&M, University of Southern California and Tech. He chose Tech because it was closer to home.

He transferred to Michigan State one semester during his junior year in order to try out for the AAU Junior Olympic team but found the weather too cold for swimming.

Arguello returned to Tech where he now has one semester remaining before graduation. He has maintained a 3.6 grade point average at the Lubbock school.

Upon announcing his decision to remain in Texas to qualify for the bar exam, Arguello said:

"I want to be the best criminal lawyer in Texas."

He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega, Sabre Flight, The Tech Tankers, Los Tertulianos and Air Force ROTC.

Arguello is the son of Juan C. Arguello Jr., 1301 Scurry.

Towns' Names Reflect West Texas History

By JUDY HALYORSEN

West Texas made up much of the free range empire of the late decades of the 19th century where great cattle domains stretched over seemingly endless miles. Today many of the people and some of the towns remain truly Western, and the town names reflect their history.

Big Spring was named for the spring two miles south of town in Sulphur Draw. Originally a watering place for buffalo and Indians, the spring is now the center of a state park.

Brownfield, the county seat and only incorporated town in Terry County, was laid out by W. G. Hardin and A. F. Small in 1903 and named for A. M. and M. V. Brownfield, prominent county ranchers.

Established in east central Cooke County in 1887, Bronte was named after the English novelist Charlotte Bronte.

Coahoma, 10 miles east of Big Spring, was established as a stop on the railroad. A small hill nearby, called a Signal Mountain, gave the city its Indian name meaning signal.

RIVER CITY
A Texas ranger camp became Colorado City in 1877. Often termed the "Mother City of West Texas," Colorado City is the oldest town between Weatherford and El Paso on the Texas and Pacific Railroad. The town carries the name of the Colorado River which flows through Mitchell County.

Forsan was named for the fact that four paying oil sands were believed to be present when it was established in 1929.

The town of Gall and the county of the same name were named for Gail Borden, pioneer Texas editor and inventor of the process for condensing milk.

Ira, in southwestern Scurry County, was named for Ira Green, who in 1896 applied for a post office in his general store.

Iraan, five miles west of the Pecos River in eastern Pecos County, became a town in 1928 when oil was discovered on the large ranch owned by Ira G. Yates. The name was chosen in a contest for which a choice lot was the prize. The name is derived from Yates' first name and his wife Ann.

SON OF TEDDY
Until 1926 Kermit was the only town in Winkler County. The county seat now, Kermit was named for Kermit Roosevelt, son of President

Iran, five miles west of the Pecos River in eastern Pecos County, became a town in 1928 when oil was discovered on the large ranch owned by Ira G. Yates. The name was chosen in a contest for which a choice lot was the prize. The name is derived from Yates' first name and his wife Ann.

Smashing Pot Smuggle Ring

HOUSTON (AP) — Guilty pleas were entered by 11 persons here Monday in what U.S. Customs agents described as the break-up of a major marijuana smuggling ring.

The agents said more arrests and indictments are expected in the case.

Ten persons pleaded guilty to smuggling charges while the 11th, Forest H. Vaughn, 26, of Richardson, Tex., entered a guilty plea to possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

Others pleading guilty were Jerry Frank Birdwell, 25, Louie Dail Bynum Jr., 22, James W. Jennings, 28, Sally Love, 22, Clement H. Romeo Jr., 29, Myles Ray Smith 20, and Forrest C. Zody, 20, all of Houston; Andrew Gene Mathews, 24, and Larry Ray Mumaw, 22, both of Richardson; and Donald E. Whitmore, 25 of Pasadena, Tex.

A 12th person Bjorn K. Finseth 22, a Norwegian pilot, is awaiting sentencing in Corpus Christi for his part in the scheme to fly marijuana into Texas from Mexico.

Smuggling and possession of marijuana can carry up to five years in prison and $15,000 fine.

Balloon Launch Fourth Of July

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — Spokesmen for the Martin-Marietta team on the much-postponed Viking balloon launch project said today the balloon probably won't be launched before the Fourth of July.

Weather conditions which have been causing delays over the past two weeks again were blamed.

The balloon is to carry the test package for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to an altitude of 120,000 feet, where a rocket will fire to carry it to 147,000 feet.

At that altitude, parachutes are to deploy to test how well the Viking Mars lander could be set down softly in the thin Martian atmosphere.

NASA hopes to make a soft landing on Mars with the Viking lander in 1976.

Theodore Roosevelt.

Its position on the plains at the edge of the Cap Rock gave Lamesa its name. The name makes one word of the Spanish for table, la mesa.

Levelland is as level as its name implies. C. W. Post surveyed and plotted the town 30 miles west of Lubbock in 1912. Originally named Hockley City, in 1922 the name was changed to represent the topography of the region.

Lubbock was established as the compromise between rival town builders. In 1891 W. E. Rayben, F. E. Wheelock and Rollie Burns agreed to consolidate their townships of Monterey and Old Lubbock and call the new town Lubbock. The town was named after T. S. Lubbock, co-organizer of Terry's Rangers.

McCamey, in southwestern Upton County, sprang into boom-town existence in 1920 with the coming in of the Baker No. 1 oil well. Marked only by a box car on the Panhandle and Sante Fee Railroad, the town was named for the driller of the well, George McCamey.

Midland was originally settled by thrifty, law abiding people from the Northwestern states and gradually grew into a busy center of the West Texas oil industry. The city was named for its midway location between El Paso and Ft. Worth.

John Monahans gave his name to that northeastern Ward County city after digging the first water well there. The Texas and Pacific Railroad, building through the area in the early 1880's, selected the well site for a water tank and the town was established.

RUSSIAN NAMESAKE
Odessa bears the name of a Russian City. Originally a cow town located by the Texas and outlawed saloons until a county sheriff opened one in 1898.

O'Donnell, which sprawls behind the gray, inverted funnels of its cotton gins, was named for the railroad official, J. T. O'Donnell.

L. S. Harris and R. E. Caritege, confederate veterans, promoted Robert Lee as a townsite in 1889 and named it for Robert E. Lee.

The original town plot for Roscoe, filed Nov. 22, 1890, was called Vista. The town, eight miles west of Sweetwater in Nolan County, was renamed later for a Texas and Pacific Railroad engineer.

The town of Snyder is named after W. H. Snyder, who opened the first trading post there in 1876. A huddle of buffalo hide huts sprang up around the little building and sheltered so many lawless men that the town was nicknamed Robbers Roost.

Stanton was founded by monks as a colony for Roman Catholic German immigrants. Once called Mariensfeld, the German for Mary's Field, the town was later named after E. M. Stanton, a United States Secretary of War.

Sterling City was originally known as Montval. When established as county seat in December, 1891, it was named for W. S. Sterling, an early buffalo hunter who had his headquarters in the area prior to 1858.

An Indian word meaning deep or clear water accounts for the name of the central Lynn County city of Tahoka and Lake Tahoka.

The discovery of oil by Roy Westbrook in 1926 established Wink. The name was derived from Winkler County, named for Judge C. M. Winkler.

Gloria Steinem: 90-Pound Beauty Carries Lot Of Weight With Women's Liberation

EDITOR GLORIA STEINEM
Tireless worker for women

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copy News Service

Gloria Steinem is a tiny splinter of a gal who likes to shock men, wears purple shoes at times to go with her purple sweater and pants and insists the Women's Liberation movement is something more than overnight stunt or fad, like the yo-yo or miniature golf.

Billed grudgingly by her critics as the queen of the Women's Liberation drive — she scolds you if you say Women's Lib — Ms. Steinem weighs in at about 90 pounds, her fighting weight as an editor and writer of a new women's magazine, Ms.

Her long brown hair, parted in the middle, keeps dropping attractively down into Gloria's hazel eyes as she tells you during an interview that there must be more women in public office — not just in politics — but in federal, state and local elective jobs at all levels.

Ms. Steinem — she says whether she's married or single is irrelevant and immaterial — has an immediate goal in her drive to free women from the bondage she claims hold them too closely to men. This is to make sure women — if possible 50 per cent of them — people the delegations of both the Democratic and Republican National Conventions in July and August.

If women are to push on with their pilgrimage toward equal rights with men, Gloria insists, they must move into some of the seats of government, where the laws discriminating against the ladies were drafted in the first place.

How about black Rep. Shirley Chisholm's candidacy for the presidential nomination? It's a good thing, replies Gloria, her long tresses falling across her face again as she shakes her head, and a move which must be multiplied again and again by women candidates for public office.

As for the Women's Equal Rights Amendment, now before the nation's state legislatures for ratification, Gloria says it's a great step forward — assuming there is a two-thirds majority approval by the states. But with all the added privileges for womanhood offered by the amendment, it still isn't enough, she insists.

"This would just be a beginning," says Ms. Steinem. "Just a first step. There still are many social customs and family associations which leave much to be desired for the female side of the coin. These aren't covered by the Women's Equal Rights Amendment. They must be changed in other ways."

Gloria isn't seeking any public office which might place her in a position where she could help to push through new legislative reforms for women.

At 33, she just wants to be an editor-writer for Ms. so she can earn a living, then spend her spare time talking to anybody who will listen.

The other night, for example, Gloria recalls, she went down to Annapolis, Md., to address more than 4,000 U.S. Naval Academy middies.

"We gathered in this big athletic enclosure," Gloria remembers — it must have been the Academy gymnasium. "I talked about social revolution and the fact that women shouldn't be born into an inferior position (vis-a-vis men) because we look different. They all responded together, like one giant," she recalls without smiling. "They just roared. But I couldn't tell whether it was approval or disapproval. They stood and applauded when I finished, but I don't know if it was courtesy or agreement with what I said."

Couldn't the Women's Equal Rights Amendment trigger a flood of court battles involving business, marriage, parental responsibility, etc.?

"It could," answers Gloria, "and it probably would."

"And that would be good. Some economists claim that enactment of the amendment would mean a more even distribution of the nation's wealth between men and women, for example."

"The amendment if it becomes law will wipe out many other laws that are unconstitutional so far as women's rights are concerned. Before it is all over, there undoubtedly would be a lot of litigation."

Men appear to be as intrigued — a sort of Billy Graham-like evangelism — as the women. The audience was almost half-and-half at a recent soiree for Ms. Steinem at Southern California's Hotel del Coronado in Coronado, across the bay from San Diego, where presidents and royalty had spoken before her in the last three-quarters of a century.

The women who attended dressed so similarly that they could have been wearing a uniform — tailored dark coats and flare pants, low-heeled shoes for the most part. At least two smoked small, dainty clay pipes. Few were without the shaded glasses which Ms.

Steinem has made so fashionable.

A national magazine which dubbed Ms. Steinem "1971 Woman of the Year" called her the "reluctant superstar" of the women's movement for equality, whose "major contribution has been to bridge the gap between the early militants and the thoughtful, dedicated women who understand that woman's status must change."

Gloria Steinem is not reluctant. She believes she has a message and she'll deliver it to anyone who will listen.

When will Gloria be satisfied that the Women's Liberation drive has paid off with success? That time won't come for many years, she predicts.

Ms. Steinem in the space of little more than 18 months as a public figure already has left her mark. For example, you may recognize some of these Steinemisms:

"The move says the point is choice. Women should be able to be engineers and jockeys and truck drivers and nuclear physicists, or simply wives and mothers if that's what they want."

"Housewives should get a legally determined percentage of their husbands' salaries and work only the regular nine-to-five day."

"... that overweening male pride that I guess is best defined as 'sexual fascism.'"

"In our culture, as soon as you get a few wrinkles, you stop having social value."

There are some of the Steinem blockbusters which have set so many men against their own nature. One of the most famous is a lady whose manner is gentle but whose tongue at times can be like a sharp stick in the side.

Local Eagles Auxiliary Group Recognized At State Convention

Big Spring Eagles Auxiliary No. 3188 was recognized for efforts in several phases of work at the state convention held in Midland Thursday through Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dalton, Mrs. Mae Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clay, Mr. and Mrs. William Cochran, Miss Nell Tippie and Preston Ward. Mrs. Dalton reported on events at the convention at a local auxiliary meeting Monday evening at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Steele accepted a plaque on behalf of the auxiliary for reaching its membership quota for the year. Mrs. Dalton, local membership chairman, received a pin for displaying an exhibit based on the state membership theme, "Fly With the Big Eagle."

A "friendship pin" was presented for Mrs. Richard Sayers, local secretary who was unable to attend, for her efficiency in meeting all pledged donations by the deadline, and Mrs. Steele was named the local auxiliary's top membership applicant proposer.

Mrs. Dalton accepted a challenge from Lubbock Auxiliary 3435 to obtain 12 new members first in the 1972-1973 club year.

Dallas auxiliary No. 3108 was named international champion, beating Midland No. 2982, last year's winner, by a slight margin. Mrs. Clara Whitfield of Houston was elected state president.

Mrs. Dalton presided at the local meeting, and announced a District 4 convention will be held July 22-23 in Crane. The next local meeting is at 8 p.m. July 10 at the Settles Hotel.

Pink, Blue Theme For Gift Party

Mrs. Wayne Stroup was honored at a baby shower Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, 600 W. 16th. Cohostesses were Mrs. Rick McKinney, Mrs. E. L. Jones, Mrs. Allen Carlile, Mrs. David Grifford, Mrs. Gary Huckaby, Mrs. Mike Childers of Arlington and Mrs. Tommy Bell of Albuquerque, N.M.

A white organza cloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with a miniature wicker bassinet filled with assorted spring flowers. Crystal appointments were used. A bassinet was also used to hold gifts presented to the honoree.

DKG's Gather At Fort Worth

Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma was represented by Mrs. Cass Hill and Mrs. C. Y. Buckner at the state convention held over the weekend at the Sheraton-Fort Worth Hotel in Fort Worth. Mrs. Hill is current president of the local chapter, and Mrs. Buckner is incoming president. Approximately 770 delegates registered for the convention.

"To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield" was the theme of the convention; selected because it represents a challenge in answer to many problems faced by educators today.

Mrs. Almeda Johnson and Mrs. Catherine Thomas, both of Fort Worth, coordinated the work of some 30 committees, and the 14 Fort Worth chapters hosted the event.

The opening workshop Thursday was an all-day leadership conference during which area directors discussed scholarships, membership financial responsibility, leadership and rituals.

Mrs. Levanne Davis, state president, presided at business sessions at which committee reports were approved and constitutional amendments discussed in preparation for the international convention to be held in Houston July 30-Aug. 6.

Recipients of 37 state scholarships were presented by Mrs. Ruby Lafferty, scholarship chairman, at the Birthday Luncheon Friday. These scholarships totaled $13,025.

Directors for Area 16 (which includes Big Spring) are Mrs. Luella Merritt, state treasurer, and Miss Ruth Livingston. The regional meeting is slated Oct. 14 in Odessa.

Miss Ray King, only international founder in attendance, was honored at the Presidents' and Founders' dinner Saturday. Miss Charlotte Jaynes of Bossier City, La., southeast regional director for DKG, was guest speaker, implementing the convention theme. Presidents from 232 chapters were honored at a reception following the dinner.

State officers serving for another year are Mrs. Levanne Davis, Texarkana, president; Mrs. Lunelle Anderson, San Marcos, first vice president; Mrs. Frances Lowrance, El Paso, secretary and vice president; Mrs. Marianna Jones, San Antonio, recording secretary; Miss Alice Crump, Texarkana, corresponding secretary; Miss Luella Merritt, Fort Worth, treasurer; Miss Elnor Wyatt, Texas City, editor; and Miss Mae Dell Schiller, Kingsville, chairman, finance committee.

Gels In Tubes Will Fill Traveler's Needs

By MARY SUE MILLER
Gels in tubes can prove the answer to a traveler's beauty care. Yours, maybe. Now variously formulated for sudsy baths and showers, face and hair treatments, sunning and moisturizing, for makeups with glow and glimmer . . . tubed gels are spillproof and practically weightless. Why you can tote what you need and fun whimsies, too, in the pocket of a carry-on bag.

Many new gels contain new ingredients — turtle oil for instance. Beloved oldies are updated with proteins and herbs. Look around — ten to one you will find your heart's secret desire. Just to get you started:

—Natural protein bath gels . . . Moisturizing body gel . . . Translucent creme gelee for the hands.

—Sudsing gels to cleanse the face . . . Astringent, emollient, moisture-laden, and medicated complexion gels.

—Bronzers, tinted gels with built-in sunscreens; you look tan while you tan without burning.

—Makeup gels . . . Blush colors to tint the entire face . . . Cheek gels to highlight contours and glow . . . Watch for lip gels and eyeshadows.

Of course a deep dish of lemon gelatin with a froth of fresh milk and a topping of meadow mint is still a good beauty recipe. More of the same will appear in this space soon.

Torre In Slump - - Hits HR

By The Associated Press

You can tell Joe Torre's in a slump because he hit a home run Monday night.

Balor Moore, the Montreal rookie who was the victim of Torre's three-run first-inning shot in the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 victory over the Expos, might not believe that, but Torre insists it's true.

"Matty Alou had it right when he said you can always tell when I'm in a slump because I hit home runs," Torre explained. "You can tell by where I hit the ball. When I'm in the groove, I hit a lot to right-center."

Torre, a right-handed batter, pulled his home run off the concrete facade of the left field stands following scratch hits by Ted Sizemore and Alou. Lou Brock doubled home what proved to be the winning run in the second inning when Montreal center fielder Boots Day misjudged his line drive.

That was all Bob Gibson needed as he stretched both his own winning streak and that of the Cards to six games. He was hit for a first-inning run in a 1-0 loss to St. Louis. Torre, the National League's 1971 batting champ with a .363 mark, saw his average drop to .300 in the last month. But he gave a hint that he may be coming out of it when he singled in the third inning ... to right field.

Elsewhere, the New York Mets edged Pittsburgh 4-3, the Chicago Cubs trounced Philadelphia 11-1, Cincinnati blanked Los Angeles 5-0, Houston clubbed San Diego 14-7 and San Francisco whitewashed Atlanta 3-0.

Pittsburgh's lead in the NL East shrank to two games over New York when Jerry Kosman of the Mets came within one out of his first complete game since last Aug. 30, yielding seven hits and fanning nine.

Tug McGraw came on to replace Dave Cash on a pop-up with two on and two out in the ninth inning of a game the Pirates played without Willie Stargell and Roberto Clemente, both suffering from muscle pulls.

Bud Harrison, who doubled and scored the tying run in the sixth, singled home the tiebreaker against Bob Moose in the seventh after Ted Martinez singled and stole second. Harrison scored an insurance run on Tommie Agee's double.

The Cubs, who dropped a three-game series to Pittsburgh over the weekend, chopped a game of the Pirates' lead and closed to within four games when Rick Reuschel, making his first major league start, stopped Philadelphia on six hits. Chicago unleashed a 15-hit attack, with Rick Monday socking a solo homer and Paul Popovich and Jim Hickman driving in two runs apiece.

Gary Nolan became the NL's first 10-game winner—he's lost twice—by blanking Los Angeles on eight hits and keeping Cincinnati one-half game in front of Houston in the West.

Nolan drew a bases-loaded walk in the second inning to force home the first run, Johnny Bench singled home Joe Morgan in the third and Tony Perez chased Claude Osteen in the fourth with a two-run single.

Houston recorded its triumph with the help of the long ball. The Astros socked a club record-tying five home runs in the first six innings—two by Doug Rader, one each by Jim Wynn, Lee May and Cesar Cedeno—but that got them no better than a 7-7 standoff with the Padres.

Lowry To Play For Naval Prep School

Cal Lowry, a 1972 graduate of Big Spring High School, has agreed to play football at a Naval Academy prep school in Annapolis, Md.

He will move on to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., after he finishes his freshman year at Salisbury.

He was recruited by Pete McCulley, an assistant coach at Navy and advised to go to Salisbury by Rip Miller, the assistant athletic director at the academy.

Lowry plans to be a career officer in the Navy.

Chris Evert Set For Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — "I've since I was a little girl," said Chris Evert, "I've dreamed of playing in the Wimbledon championships. And now it's come true."

The 17-year-old tennis prodigy from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was scheduled for her first Wimbledon match today knowing that a crowd of 15,000 was waiting to see her. "I'm not worried," Chris said. "I was at first, when I was just another school girl. But I'm getting used to the publicity now."

8 ways to save money on air conditioning.

1 Set thermostat between 76 and 78 degrees—the lower the setting the more electricity the unit uses.

2 Replace disposable or clean permanent type filters as required—clogged filters make the unit work harder and use more electricity.

3 Provide adequate attic ventilation—helps reduce heat buildup.

4 Install proper duct, ceiling and wall insulation and weatherstrip windows and doors—keep hot air out, cool air in. (Helps reduce winter heating costs too!)

5 Shade the outdoor unit from the sun

6 Keep windows and fireplace dampers closed—prevents excessive loss of cool air and infiltration of hot air.

7 Shade windows from direct sunlight with awnings, blinds or draperies—reduces the load on the unit.

8 Have the unit checked by a qualified air conditioning serviceman. Do this in the spring, prior to your need for cooling.

Visit May Stir Concern

The recent visit of Mexico's President Luis Echeverria to the United States can be counted a success. The Mexican chief managed to get a commitment from President Nixon to do something about salinization problems on the Colorado River. And he wooed the crowds in San Antonio and elsewhere, aiding the cause of good will.

But hopefully the longer-term result of the president's visit will be to stir greater concern in Washington for all Latin America — an area grossly ignored by the present administration.

And it is an area ignored at our distinct peril. For Latin America is a land in turmoil, with the compelling idea of nationhood newly come to many lands, with those who have been oppressed newly stirring to political life, and with the future course of its politics still to be determined.

President Kennedy as one of his first major acts inaugurated the Alliance for Progress, designed to involve Latin nations and the United States in a cooperative development program. President Johnson continued to labor in behalf of Latin development. But our policy toward Latin America, already slowing, has now grown stagnant.

The Latin American people — and those governments truly responsive to the people — are disturbed and rapidly losing faith in Washington. Latin America has great potential but staggering problems. Most of the wealth remains concentrated in a tiny fraction of the population, while great masses of people live in almost total deprivation. Development programs and U.S. aid have too often only widened this gap, heaping profits on the rich while helping the masses not at all. It is going to take imagination, drive and much more concern than the present administration has seen fit to devote to Latin America to reverse this trend — and to do so in time to prevent violent upheavals which could leave us with antagonists friendly to Moscow and Peking at our southern doorstep.

George And White Chief

Sometime in 1970 the U.S. Bureau of Mines learned that Clifford George, a Navajo Indian who lives near Waterflow, N.M., was digging coal out of a hole near his home and selling it to neighbors.

Since then, the bureau has been on his back like a swarm of bees. George took his troubles to Navajo Tribal Councilman Harry Tome of Red Rock, Ariz. It was then George learned the extent of his troubles, because he doesn't know the English language and was unable to read the stacks of red tape piling up on him. In dollar terms, George faces penalties of $60,950.

The one-man mine lacked a two-way telephone, he lacked an electric (instead of carbide) lamp, he had no brake on his wheelbarrow, he had no "self-rescuer" oxygen mask to use in his 50-foot mine shaft, he had no name tag on his belt, he had no machinery to regulate air quality, and he had no idea how to fill out all those forms.

The Navajo is 65-years-old and has supported his wife and family all these years, but he is no match for a dedicated bureaucrat in Washington. Penetrating the common sense barrier at the bureau of mines is the last hope.

You A Gambler?

Jo Bright

Lady, you think you've got wise solve financial difficulties? troubles?

JOE HUGHES of Copley News Service knows a lady named Millie who, at one time, was under psychiatric treatment for five addictions — marijuana, alcoholism, obesity, nymphomania and gambling.

According to Millie, gambling was the hardest habit to lick. She was a filly who was hooked on horses. The urge, the itch, the compulsion to bet had brought her to the brink of financial and emotional bankruptcy. But she took one more chance; she gambled on Gamblers Anonymous — and won.

GAMBLING CAN be a devastating disease, and it has been estimated that there are over 20 million compulsive gamblers in the United States. Could you be one of them? Are you a compulsive gambler?

Most compulsive gamblers, according to a Gamblers Anonymous survey, will answer "yes" to at least seven of these questions:

DO YOU lose time from work due to gambling?
Is gambling making your home life unhappy?
Is gambling affecting your reputation?

Have you ever felt remorse about gambling?
Do you ever gamble to get money with which to pay debts or to otherwise solve financial difficulties? DOES GAMBLING cause a decrease in your ambition or efficiency?

After losing, do you feel you must return as soon as possible and win back your losses?

After a win, do you have a strong urge to return and win more?

Do you often gamble until your last dollar is gone?

Do you ever borrow to finance your gambling?

HAVE YOU ever sold any real or personal property to finance gambling?

Are you reluctant to use "gambling money" for normal expenditures?

Does gambling make you careless for the welfare of your family?

Do you ever gamble longer than you had planned?

Do you ever gamble to escape worry or trouble?

Have you ever committed, or considered committing, an illegal act to finance gambling?

DO ARGUMENTS, disappointments or frustrations create within you an urge to gamble?

Have you ever considered self-destruction as a result of your gambling?

If a number of your answers came up "yes," it's a sure sign you better start looking for a GA Chapter — but I'll bet you two-to-one your bookie won't help you find one.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I am a housewife and have free time every week which is wasted. Will you tell me please, how I can utilize this time to serve God? S.L.

There is no end to the things you might do. There are sick people who need encouragement and strength. There is a great shortage of Sunday School teachers. The hospitals are in great need of nurses' aides, and there are elderly people who are lonely and would welcome the warmth of a Christian friend. The Bible says, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might."

How Come???

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The attorney general's office reports that 48 of Kentucky's 120 counties appear to have excessively high voter registration. In fact, he says, Morgan County, in Eastern Kentucky, lists more voters than residents.

Unstoppable McGovern

William F. Buckley Jr.

By SMITH HEMPSTONE

WASHINGTON — Frank Mankiewicz, that refugee from Camelot who runs George McGovern's national political campaign, might be forgiven for musing with Macbeth that "I were well it were done quickly." And indeed, given the Gadarene haste with which footloose delegates have been jumping aboard the McGovern bandwagon, Mankiewicz may have his way.

WITH THE CONCLUSION Saturday night of the delegate selection process which began March 7 in the tear-stained snows of New Hampshire, McGovern is only a few score short of the 1,500 delegate votes required for nomination. McGovern, then, is almost certain to be the Democratic candidate, if not on the first ballot, then on the second.

Hubert Humphrey, the Happy Warrior of so many Democratic campaigns, still maintains that McGovern will not get it on the first or second ballots, and that "if he doesn't get it on the second ballot, he (McGovern) won't get it." Ignoring the fact that for a man as ebullient and optimistic as Humphrey that statement amounts to virtually an admission of defeat, there are at least two good reasons why a "stop-McGovern" movement at Miami Beach will fail.

THE FIRST INVOLVES the composition of the convention. When the Republicans convene in the same city the following month, only the names, as they say, will have been changed to protect the innocent: The delegates, in ideology, physical appearance and social background will be the same sort of earnest, smooth-shaven, comfortable, middle-aged, white community leaders who participated in the laying of hands with Tom Dewey in 1948, Dwight Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956, and Richard Nixon in 1968.

This will not be the case at the Democrats' Woodstock South. As a consequence of the change in the guidelines for selecting delegates to the Democratic National Convention (thoughtfully drawn up by a fellow named — you guessed it — George McGovern), roughly 80 per cent of the delegates will be attending their first convention. Approximately one-fifth will be under 30, another fifth will be blacks or Chicanos and about 37 per cent will be women.

THIS IS A CONVENTION tailored to the likes of McGovern and his so-called "new politics," rather than to Humphrey or any other centrist. Furthermore, McGovern's delegates are ideologically committed to him (or at least to their perception of him) and they have the scent of victory in their nostrils.

Delegates committed to the other contenders, in contrast, tend to be pragmatic, discouraged and, human nature being what it is, unwilling to be left at the station when the train pulls out. Consequently, in a multi-ballot convention, the attrition is more likely to be from the ranks of Humphrey and Muskie supporters than from those of McGovern.

SECONDLY, MCGOVERN'S foes lack a credible nominee to act as a stopper. Muskie or Jackson might have fulfilled that role had they not been forced into humiliating retreats from the primaries when they demonstrated themselves to be turgid campaigners. Humphrey, fairing with EBI's Vietnam brush and reeling from six consecutive June primary defeats, is hardly likely to excite anybody in July.

THE ONE DEMOCRAT with sufficient national clout to stop McGovern is, of course, Teddy Kennedy. But why should Kennedy, still bedecked with the albatross of Chappaquiddick, seek to undermine the candidacy of a political ally willing to undertake the task of taking on a well-entrenched Republican incumbent?

Strength Costly

LONDON (AP) — When Anthony Hoyle and his brother-in-law stole the wheels from a parked car they didn't need a jack to lift the vehicle.

Inspector Harry Glover told the Oldham, Lancashire, magistrates: "Hoyle is a powerfully built man — he lifted the car bodily while the other man took the wheels off."

Hoyle, 24, was fined $30 and his brother-in-law, George Davis, 28, was fined $52 and ordered to pay $104 restitution.

NEW YORK (AP) — As the world's leading industrial nation, the United States has long been accustomed to quoting figures showing it to be the first or biggest or best. Could that created future problems?

It certainly could, according to a Frenchman who advises many American corporations in marketing their products in Europe. Such statistics have been misleading, since formation of the Common Market, says Bernard Krief.

Individually, it is true that the United States stands alone. But the Common Market nations collectively can show much larger figures in many industrial categories than can the United States.

There are 26 million more workers there, for example. Steel production is as high as in the United States. Sea transportation is three times larger. Reserve currencies total $40 billion compared with $13 billion here.

"Europe could become a dangerous industrial competitor to the United States," Krief said on a recent trip here from his Paris office, and he suggested that U.S. firms meet the competition head on by more aggressive exporting.

"In the U.S.A. management is very good, marketing men are very smart, and the struggle is very tough," he said. But then he noted that "less than 10 per cent of American companies have 90 per cent of the total export market."

He believes that opportunities are being missed to supply the expanding economies of Europe with consumer products. And he suggests also that the American economy might benefit from low-cost European imports.

But the most fascinating opportunity, as Krief sees it, will be in dealing with the smaller Socialist nations, not only because their needs are growing but because they provide a foothold for future trade with the Soviet Union.

Huge Project

SYDNEY (AP) — The State government has before it a plan to build an 11-mile private railway through a string of northern seaside suburbs between Pittwater and Manly.

The scheme estimated to cost $96 million provides for a major transport terminal at Manly. Manly which extends from the ocean to Sydney Harbor, already has a steamer harbor ferry service to the city.

The railway, mainly underground, would take commuters to and from the Manly ferry. The area at present is served by bus.

Butler Cook Killers

Hal Boyle

By RENDAN RILEY

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Hiring help for the sprawling Nevada governor's mansion is easy for Gov. Mike O'Callaghan. What's tough is explaining to guests that his butler and cook are serving terms for murder.

It is part of a state prison work-release program that allows 20 per cent of the 661 inmates to work outside during the day and return to the prison at night.

"These are good people," says O'Callaghan of his unusual household staff.

O'Callaghan and State Prison Warden Carl Hocker agree that giving an inmate a chance to work outside during his term is far better than simply turning him out at the end of a sentence with $25, the state-ordered amount.

"It saves the state a little money and it's therapy for the prisoners," says Hocker. "The gradual release lessens the trauma when a man is freed at the end of his term."

All inmates in the work-release program are paid $1.50 each a day — or about $27 a month for their work.

There are a few problems but "once in a while we have some difficulty downtown," says Hocker, citing a recent incident where an inmate tried to smuggle drugs back into the prison and another inmate a year ago when "one of the men went into a bar and got drunk."

Few sightseers visiting the silver-domed state capitol ever guess that some of the electricians, gardeners and maintenance men they see are actually prison inmates.

Hocker screened the more than 120 men and two women who fight fires, repair state vehicles, keep up the capitol grounds and work in the governor's office, the attorney general's office, the state library and the Department of Education. "We're very careful about who we assign to work outside," says the warden, noting that no sex offenders are allowed and that all are studied to estimate the likelihood of an escape attempt.

Although the governor's butler and cook have been convicted of murder, most inmates participating in the program are serving time for less serious crimes.

Hocker says the former "are classic first-timers. They have committed crimes of passion which are almost always a first-time thing. I would have taken them into my home."

He said he strongly disagrees with some residents who view the program as potentially dangerous.

"Aside from all else, people who spend a lifetime working in these institutions develop a feeling, an intuition about people."

It's The Effect

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The struggle of school boards to desegregate their dual-school systems is resulting in many interesting rulings by the higher courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States.

LAST WEEK a state statute in North Carolina authorizing the creation of a new school district in a town which had been part of a larger county district that was in the process of dismantling a dual-school system encountered an adverse decision by the Supreme Court of the United States. In another case involving desegregation plans in Emporia, Va., an effort was made to prevent the local board from withdrawing children from the county schools. The appeals court ruling was that a genuine effort had been made to obtain a better racial balance in the schools.

The federal district court had found that the proportion of whites in the county schools might drop as whites shifted to private academies, while some of the pupils might move from the academies they previously attended to the city schools. Two previously all-white schools are in Emporia, while the schools in the surrounding county were formerly all Negro. Emporia, therefore, had the right to establish a separate school system but didn't decide to do so until the court's order prevented the county from continuing its long-maintained segregated school system.

THE U. S. COURT of Appeals concluded that Emporia's primary purpose was "benign" and not a mere "cover-up" for racial discrimination, and reversed the lower court's decision. The Supreme Court in turn reversed the appeals court. Its opinion was delivered by Justice Stewart, who was joined by Justices Douglas, Brennan, White and Marshall. Chief Justice Burger filed a dissenting opinion, joined by Justices Blackmun, Powell and Rehnquist.

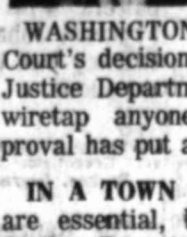

The Supreme Court in its concluding paragraph in the Emporia case made this declaration:

"WE HOLD only that a new school district may not be created where its effect would be to impede the process of dismantling a dual system. And in making that essentially factual determination in any particular case, we must of necessity rely to a large extent, as this court has for more than 16 years, on the informed judgment of the district courts in the first instance and on the courts of appeals. In this case, we believe that the district court did not abuse its discretion. For these reasons, the judgment of the court of appeals is reversed."

Lost Prestige

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court's decision which ruled that the Justice Department could not bug or wiretap anyone without court approval has put a pall on Washington.

IN A TOWN where status symbols are essential, being bugged by the Justice Department was the highest honor, the government could bestow on one of its citizens. It meant the person was important enough to warrant surveillance and his work was so meaningful that the FBI was worried about him.

One of the biggest gambits of a lawyer or lobbyist in Washington has been to say to the client, "We'd better not discuss this on the phone, I think my line is tapped."

THE CLIENT WOULD be immediately impressed and the lawyer or lobbyist would then double his fee.

The same went for newsjournals. A wise correspondent would call his editor and say, "Jeff, pass the word at the paper that if anyone at the office has anything important to say, not to call me at home. They've got me bugged. They're furious at the White House about the story I did on urban development, and I hear the word is out to find out who leaked it. If I had anything important to report, I'll call you from a pay phone."

MOST MILITANT protest groups are disturbed by the Supreme Court ruling.

At cocktail parties almost everyone in Washington talked about being bugged. This is how the conversation would go:

"Helen, when I called you yesterday, I had the most terrible connection."

"Yes, everyone is complaining about it. Charles told me last night that he heard they had a 24-hour tap on his line and it was weakening the circuit."

"WHY WOULD they want to tap Charles? He's certainly a small fish in this town."

"I resent that remark. Ethel, Charles has a very important job as far as the authorities are concerned, and we've been tapped for over a year."

IT WAS SO important to be tapped in Washington that it is rumored many people used to install their own bugs in the wall and show them to friends as the real thing.

I know one columnist who always insisted we walk in the garden when we talked about anything, as he claimed all his paintings had been wired by the FBI.

It's going to be hard in Washington to find something to replace the status of being bugged or wiretapped. The only answer is that since the government can't do it, private industry will have to take over.

CREIGHTON TIRE CO.'S 40TH YEAR

Complete Tire Service

Dalton Carr, of Creighton Tire Co., sells tires for everything from a tractor to a boat trailer. Sealed air puncture-proof tubes are available in a wide range of sizes. These are especially suited for ranch use. Repair or replacement service in the field goes with the purchase of a farm tire from Creighton Tire Co.

The Seiberling Radial is one of the finest tires made today. According to automotive specialists, the radial tire is the best in that it features two dynacor rayon body plies and four dynacor rayon belts. Wide open grooves in the tread make for better traction, handling and cornering.

Diversity is an attribute at Creighton Tire Co. in that another famous line of tires is offered. The dependable Mobil tire offers "Normal Road Hazard" guarantee. New Mobil passenger tires and tubes are of superior construction and quality. They are guaranteed against defects in workmanship and material for the life of the original tread without limits as to time and miles driven. They are guaranteed against normal road hazards.

"Normal Road Hazard," for the purpose of the guarantee, consists of blow-outs, fabric breaks and cuts, under normal driving conditions which render the tire unserviceable.

An important feature of the service department is the presence of two balance procedures. The well-known spin-balance is used to determine the dynamic balance of a tire. But the addition of the bubble-balance allows location of the static equilibrium. Both balances are necessary components to the truly balanced tire. It makes the delicate difference between a smooth ride and that unique entity, the glide-ride.

Forty years of service is behind any tire purchased at Creighton Tire Co. And there's more than just the tire — there's excellence in delivery. It's "Your tire headquarters," at 601 Gregg St.

Horoscope Forecast
 CARROL RIGHTER

WED. JUNE 28
GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is a good time for changes and a willingness to try for changes you want. Try to wait until the afternoon when you will have more inspiration and the advantage of knowing what you want most of all. Be difficult. Be happy. Higher-ups can be in a bad mood during the morning, so work carefully and avoid confrontation, if possible. The evening can be spent happily with congenials. Be wise.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Keep busy with career matters and discuss higher-ups. Since this is not a good day for new ideas or starting a new project, go after personal aims but avoid anything extravagant.

LEO (July 21 to Aug. 21) Handle your responsibilities in a conscientious manner. Show patience to those who owe you money. Be thoughtful to mate now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) The afternoon is best for making new arrangements with associates since the morning is a difficult time. Be sure you are in control of your situation. Sweetly but firmly!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Do whatever best please those who dwell with you in the morning and then engage in creative activities you enjoy. Evening is best time for recreation. Avoid controversy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Come through with promises made to an associate early in the day; then devote yourself to family and home. Finish your errands and keep appointments on time for best results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Financial matters should be handled in the morning so you can later go out to other activities. Don't neglect to pay on an unpaid bill. Enjoy your hobby in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take care of personal problems early in the morning, then get down to career of affairs. You may have to work on an unpaid bill. Enjoy your hobby in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle any difficulties in the morning so that later you can enjoy the peaceful side of life. Take the exercise that will improve your health. Avoid one with whom you have a quarrel.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are able to do something about what is in trouble. You should do so cheerfully. Later make better plans for the future. Experts give the best advice. Show appreciation.

Screening Begins For UF Funding
 The second evening of budget hearings and screening by the United Fund will begin at 6:30 p.m. today.

The committee, headed by Jimmy Taylor, began interviewing agency representatives for the United Fund Monday.

The request will continue to be received through Wednesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

This is the initial step toward launching this year's campaign on behalf of the participating agencies. R. E. Hickson, chairman of the campaign, is selecting division leaders and plans a meeting not longer after the budget sessions are held.

City Manager At Wellington
 WELLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - Lyman Daniels, 28, city administrator at Lorenzo, has been hired as Wellington's city manager, effective July 11, Mayor John Coleman announced.

Daniels, who has been employed in Lorenzo since 1967, is president of the Caprock Water Utilities Association and a trustee of the South Plains Association of City Clerks and Secretaries of Texas.

CALENDAR BARE
Martha The 'Star' Beginning To Dim

WASHINGTON (AP) - Until last weekend Martha Mitchell had been expected to be a star of the campaign to re-elect President Nixon.

But now there's not a single public appearance on her schedule.

The wife of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was quoted Monday as saying she has left her husband until he decides to quit as head of the Nixon re-election campaign.

POLITICAL PRISONER
 She told reporters she was a political prisoner and "they don't want me to talk."

Mitchell and the White House have declined comment.

At Mrs. Mitchell's office in the campaign headquarters near the White House, her press secretary was not available. But a spokesman for the re-election committee said Mrs. Mitchell has no appearances scheduled for the remainder of June. "She intended to use it for free time," the aide said.

Earlier in this election year, Mrs. Mitchell was depicted by staff members as having more demands for appearances around the country than any other woman in the Nixon administration. She was expected to make numerous campaign appearances.

LATE AT NIGHT
 They ranged from an attack on Sen. J.W. Fulbright, for his vote against Nixon's Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell, to complaints about "It was a most informative meeting," Mrs. Hale said. "In our workshop sessions we discussed ways and means to improve and expand our local patient and community service and educational programs. We also reviewed new fund-raising methods and received expert advice on this and other subjects from a roster of highly qualified speakers."

Prominently featured, she added, was a report on MDA's international research program and current scientific thinking concerning muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases by Dr. Carl M. Pearson, Professor of Medicine at the UCLA School of Medicine, Los Angeles, and member of MDA's Scientific Advisory Committee.

Dr. Henry A. Peters, Associate Professor of Neurology at the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine, Director of MDA's Clinic at University Hospitals, University of Wisconsin, also spoke.

Singing star, Betty Cox Johnson, MDA's National Women's Division Chairman, introduced to the delegates the Association's 1972 National Poster Child, seven-year-old Peggy Sue MacKenzie of Elkhorn, Neb. She spoke eloquently of the important role played by junior ambassadors like Peggy Sue in the fight against dystrophy.

Also discussed at the meeting was the upcoming Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon which will be seen on a coast-to-coast network of some 150 stations this year. The program will originate over Metromedia's WNEV-TV in New York. Mrs. Hale said that in Big Spring Spectacular will be seen over Channel 4.

Guitar Lessons To Be Offered
 The YMCA will offer a class in beginning guitar starting Friday. The class will be for youths and adults with a minimum age of the fifth grade.

The instructor will be Don Tolle. The class is designed for individuals who wish to learn to play the guitar. They do not need to have a knowledge of music.

Class will meet each Friday morning from 10-11 a.m. through Aug. 18 at the YMCA.

The fee for Y members is $11.50 and $15.50 for non-members. A workbook will cost extra. Anyone wishing to register should call the YMCA at 267-8234 or show up for the first class Friday.

Also a contract of six spades by North and South is impregnable, we are not inclined to find fault with the final decision to play hearts. We feel that the ultimate credit on the deal reverts to West for a highly imaginative and yet logically contrived opening lead that assured a small profit for his side on the deal. Observe that had he been permitted to play the hand at six diamonds, North must lead a heart or else West would have emerged with 12 tricks on the deal.

South opened with one spade and West overcalled with two diamonds. North lacked the values to make a free bid and East—who had enough to open the bidding himself including a fit for partner's suit and a stopper in spades, chose to try the shorter road to game by jumping directly to three no trump.

South was reluctant to defend on the deal inasmuch as there was a good chance for his side to score offensively if North held a fit for either major suit so he bid four hearts.

Now it was West's turn. He reasoned that partner's jump was based at least in part on values in the minors and with a highly unbalanced holding, consisting of 11 cards in diamonds and clubs, West felt that it was merely taking out insurance on his part to carry on to five diamonds.

Altho North held a virtual spadeless, his holding in spades and hearts indicated that a sacrifice was in order and, in the expectation that the price would not be expensive, he bid five hearts. This call was passed back to West and inasmuch as East had failed to double the opponents, it became clear to West that his partner's values were concentrated in diamonds and clubs rather than the majors. He accordingly persisted to six diamonds.

When both North and East passed, it became South's turn to make a decision. Altho there was a chance that the opposition might be off two tricks, West's willingness to carry on to the six level at unfavorable vulnerability conditions, indicated that a substantial defensive profit was not in the offing. On the theory that there was more to be gained than lost by going on, South bid six hearts—reasoning that any loss he might suffer would be minimal. East's double closed the auction.

Had West proceeded in the normal manner by cashing the ace of diamonds first, there would be no story to tell, for when South gains the lead at trick two, he has only to draw trumps and then take a successful finesse against East's king of spades, in order to run off with 12 tricks.

West reasoned that in a highly competitive auction against a two suiter, desperate measures might well be in order. Inasmuch as he was void in spades, there was no doubt in his mind that if partner could be put in the lead at the opening gun, a spade return would set the contract. There was a temptation to lead a club in the hope that East held the ace, but even if that gambit proved successful, there might be some doubt on the latter's part as to the winning procedure at trick two.

West decided to proceed on his original assumption that partner fitted both minors and, in order to alert East to the specific defensive measures required, West chose to underlead the ace of diamonds at the opening gun. East put up the king and his surprise at winning the first trick only served to alert him to the fact that his partner was indicating that some very unusual return was required. He promptly led back the deuce of spades and West ruffed to score the setting trick.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DESTROYER: (Q.) My mother punishes me in ways other girls I know aren't punished. I will give you two examples. One day last year I got angry at her and slammed my door. She told my father to take the door off. He did. (He does whatever she tells him to do.)

I screamed at him. She came up and took all my tapes and burned them. Last night I was in my parents' room looking for a book I had left in there. They weren't in the room. I dropped a quarter and it rolled under the bed. I moved the bed to get it. While I was doing it she came in and said I had messed up the bed and must straighten it. I tried to, but nothing I could do satisfied her.

For punishment, she went to my room and broke all my records. I tried to stop her and she threw the pieces at me. When they were all broken, she put them in a bag and took them down the street and stuffed them into a storm sewer.

..I try to talk to her. She says if I will be good she won't break my things. I try to be good and I think I am. I am 15 and do not date yet. The only times I am not good is when I get angry at her for breaking my things. — Victim in Virginia.

'Too Late'

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My father wrote to you at least 12 years ago, and you put his letter in your column. (You reprinted it twice on request.) My father had it framed and when we brought him here last year to live with us, he carried it in his hands for fear it might get damaged or lost.

When he heard that his letter had been framed and hung in the chapel of a cemetery, he said, "What a pity it will be seen only by those for whom it is too late. It would accomplish more posted on a bulletin board in a high school."

Abby, he made me promise that after he died I would write and ask you to run it once more. He died one week ago today (at 72), so I hope you will print it once more in memory of my beloved father. Here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: I am the most heartbroken person in the world. I could always find the time to go everywhere else, but never time to go visit Mom and Dad. They sat at home alone and loving me just the same. It's too late now to give them those few hours of happiness. I was too selfish and too busy to give. Now when I go to their graves and see the green grass above them, I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them when they were alive. I pray to God that those who still have their parents to visit, do so, and show their love and respect while there is still time, for it's later than you think. TOO LATE!"

DEAR ABBY: While my wife and I were at the movies last evening, a middle-aged woman sitting next to my wife spilled some popcorn on my wife's new suede coat. The butter stains were immediately visible.

I called it to the lady's attention, and all she said was,

"Oh, I'm so sorry."

I then whispered to my wife that it would cost about $8 to have her coat cleaned and I was going to suggest to the lady that she should pay for the cleaning. My wife told me not to make a scene, so I kept my mouth shut.

We left the theater and that was that.

Abby, would I have been out of line had you asked the theater manager to pop for the cleaning. (This is a new way to "butter up" customers.)

DEAR BEFUDDLED: No. And you wouldn't have been out of line had you asked the theater manager to pop for the cleaning. (This is a new way to "butter up" customers.)

DEAR ABBY: If you can stand just one more letter about whether to share prize recipes, here it is:

I have a number of excellent recipes, and I have always given them to anyone who asked for them. Like you, my philosophy was, "Do I enjoy something less because someone else enjoys it, too?"

My generosity paid off when I lost one of my favorite recipes. (It was Spanish rice with about 16 ingredients.) I simply telephoned a friend to whom I had given it, and she gave it back to me.

Now, where would I have been if I had refused to share my best recipes? HELEN
DEAR HELEN: Out of luck! Good for you. I'm sure many others (including this writer) have had the identical experience.

Dozer To Aid Navajo Miner

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A bulldozer, and possibly someone to operate it, may be going to Waterflow, N.M., to help a Navajo pick and shovel coal miner start up his one-man mining operation again.

The president of Rodriguez Land Development Inc., Ruben Rodriguez of Albuquerque, said last week he will provide a bulldozer to remove 30 feet of overburden over a seam of coal to allow Clifford George, 65, to get the coal without going underground.

George's underground coal mine was closed by Bureau of Mines safety regulations, and Rodriguez said the equipment the bureau required to re-open it would cost too much money.

P. K. Hurlbut, Navajo Tribe minerals supervisor, said last week a study of the mine indicated that one solution to George's problem would be to remove the overburden and have an above-ground mine.

Rodriguez said, "All I need to know is what size dozer he needs."

"The guy's problem is endless unless someone helps him. You always see about someone else's problems and sometimes you can help out," Rodriguez

Abortion Laws Test Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday put off for another year a judgment on the anti-abortion laws of Texas and Georgia.

Evidently closely divided, the justices announced they would hear argument again next term on the question of whether it is unconstitutional for government to interfere with women's control over their own bodies.

At stake are the laws in these and other states that restrict physicians in performing therapeutic abortions.

The court also has on its docket cases testing abortion laws in Maryland, Illinois, North Carolina, Louisiana, New Jersey, Utah and Mississippi. They also remain undecided since they are intertwined with the Georgia and Texas cases.

Part of the Georgia law was declared invalid two years ago by a district court in Atlanta. The Texas law, meanwhile was declared invalid by a three-judge panel in Dallas.

She's Loyal To Gardeners

LONDON (AP) — A 70-year-old widow sold her home for $208,000—and bought it back a couple of weeks later for $223,600 because "I heard the six gardeners might have to go."

Mrs. Dorothy Pierson's mock-Tudor mansion stands on 25 acres near Ipswich. There are landscaped gardens, a tree-lined drive and a swimming pool.

Mrs. Pierson said, "My gardeners worked tremendously hard to make the grounds beautiful. I wouldn't like them to lose their jobs through any action of mine."

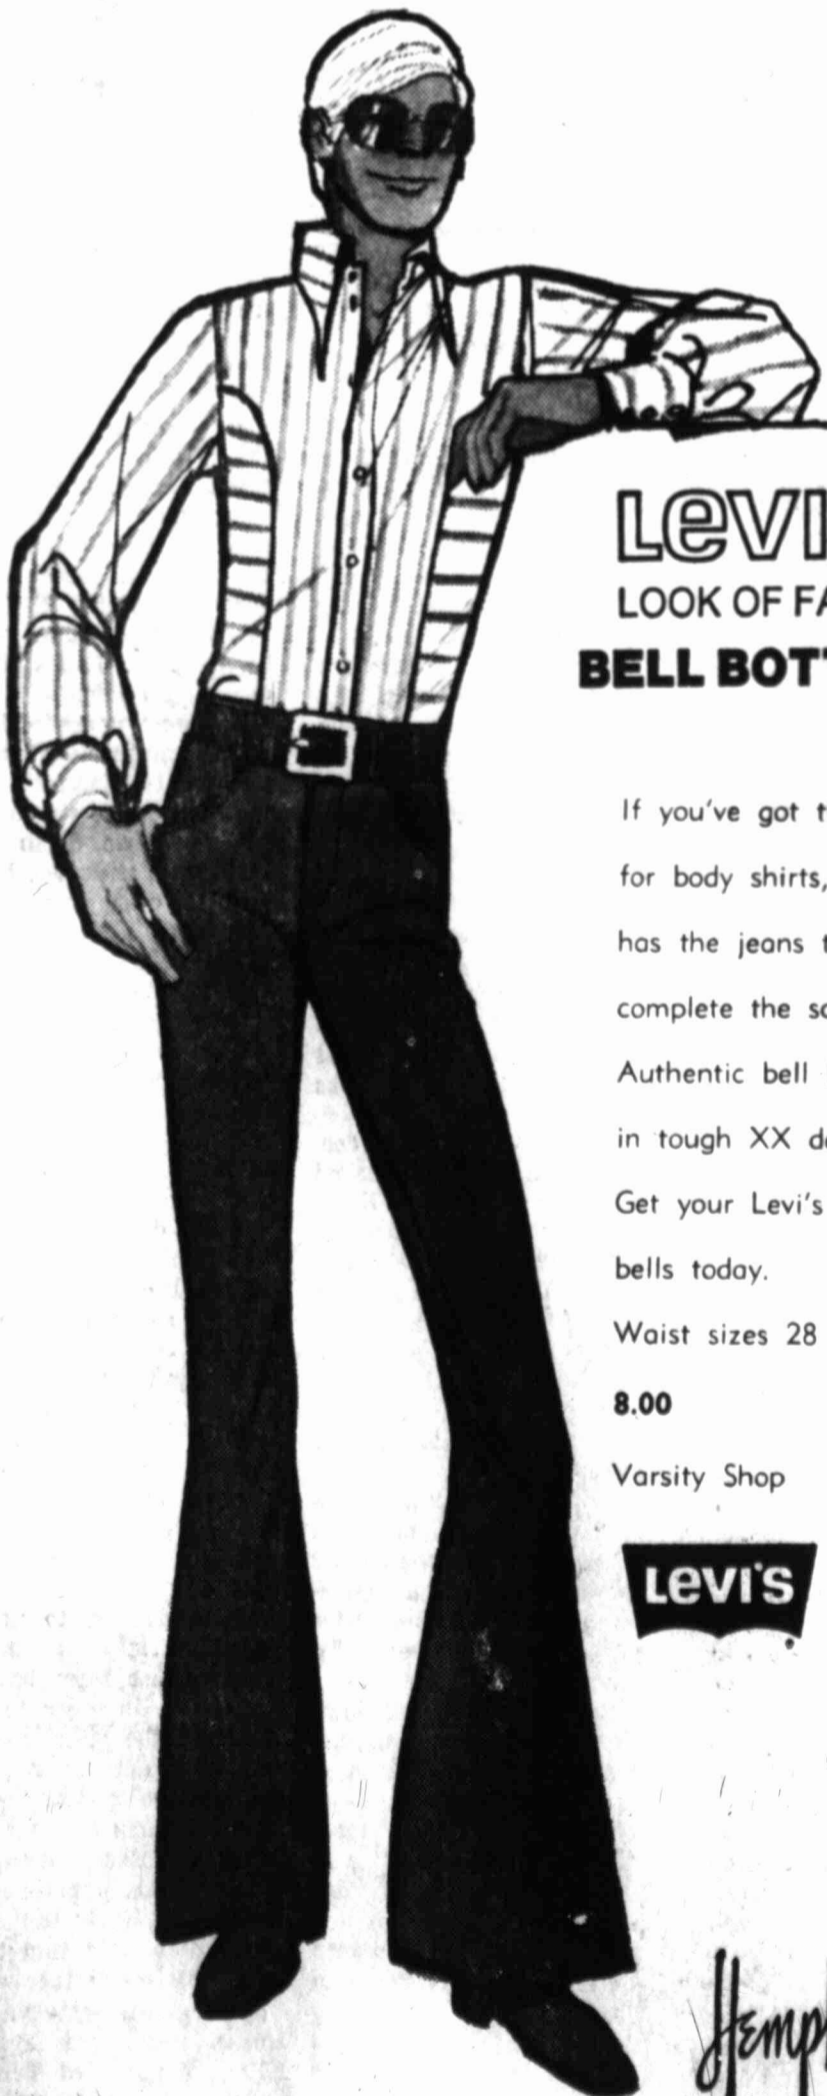

The house, with 4 bedrooms and six bathrooms, is too big to live in alone, so Mrs. Pierson plans to build a bungalow for herself in those lovely gardens. She still hopes to sell the house.

Fair Fiola Wins

DRAMMEN, Norway (AP) — Crown Prince Harald's 4-year-old favorite cow, Fiola, won first prize at the country show, scoring 129.5 points here.

The 35-year-old heir to the Norwegian throne has a 150-acre farm at his residence, "skaugum," 15 miles west of Oslo.

The crown prince was unable to attend the show because he took part in pre-Olympic yachting qualifications at Kiel, West Germany.
