McGOVERN SEWS UP NOMINATION

Humphrey Withdraws From Race

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A tearful Hubert Humphrey today abandoned his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, virtually assuring a first-ballot victory for front-runner George McGovern.

'SOCIAL JUSTICE'

The "Happy Warrior" stepped down with a pledge to keep fighting for "social justice." He did not endorse McGovern, however.

"My withdrawal from the presidential race is a withdrawal of candidacy only," said the Minnesota senator, who first began running for the White House more than a decade ago.

His move was almost dictated by McGovern's sweeping recapture Monday night of 151 disputed California delegates, putting him within about 25 votes for a first-ballot nomination.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama and Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Henry M. Jackson of Washington remained in the race as the second session of the convention approached.

But they trailed far behind McGovern.

KENNEDY RUMOR

Meanwhile, the South Dakotan's campaign manager said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts was one of the two or three leading possibilities for McGovern's choice as vice-presidential candidate.

Kennedy has remained aloof from the convention itself. He was at his home in Hyannis Port, Mass., and planned an afternoon sail to Nantucket after working on some papers sent to him from Washington.

Gary Hart, McGovern's campaign manager, said Leonard Woodcock, head of the United Auto Workers Union, was also on the list.

The same names — Kennedy and Woodcock — were offered as possibilities by McGovern's wife Eleanor at her own news conference.

Labor leaders have been backing Humphrey and opposing McGovern, but the UAW has stood apart from this partisanship.

Meanwhile, Wallace said he was "sort of surprised" to learn of Humphrey's withdrawal from the presidential race.

"He has a right to withdraw," the governor said, "and I just hope some of his delegates support me. I am still in the race."

McGovern's display of organizational muscle came when he recaptured 151 disputed California delegates at the peak of a tumultuous session.

VERY CLOSE

The South Dakota senator claimed his long, uphill battle was near success and that victory in Wednesday night's nominating session is "within our grasp."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, leader of the coalition of McGovern rivals that lost the crucial California vote, declined to concede the nomination. But he admitted that McGovern "had quite a night" and promised to say more in the morning.

But with victory within reach in the convention's opening session, the McGovern camp failed in an effort to engineer a compromise to seat both Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and a heavily pro-McGovern group of Illinois challengers.

The convention then voted to oust the powerful Chicago mayor in a move expected to have far-reaching consequences both throughout the party and in its fall campaign for the White House in the politically crucial state of Illinois.

CRUCIAL TEST

Party leaders had feared the opening night session would run into the daylight hours. But the showdown votes on California and Illinois were followed by a series of compromises that quickly brought the opening session to a close a few minutes before 5 a.m. EDT.

In terms of the party's presidential fight, the California test was crucial, perhaps decisive.

According to an Associated Press count, addition of the 151 California votes brought McGovern within about 25 votes of a first-ballot nomination with other uncommitted delegates expected to move his way.

It took two votes, both decided by larger than expected margins, to settle the California credentials dispute.

BROADER MARGIN

First, the McGovern forces overturned by a vote of 1,618.28 to 1,238.22 the Credentials Committee's decision — which had been engineered by backers of Humphrey, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and Gov. George C.

Wallace — to deny McGovern all the California votes.

Then, by an even broader margin of 1,689.52 to 1,162.23, the McGovern forces defeated an attempt by a Florida backer of Wallace to challenge the parliamentary ground rules set by the presiding officer, Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

In the Chicago case, too, there were two votes as the (See HHH, Page 2-A, Col. 1)

Moss' Waters Yield Body Of Local Man

The body of a man was located in about 10 feet of water an estimated 30 feet from the east shore in the upper reaches of Moss Creek Lake at approximately 12:15 p.m. today.

The body was identified as that of Frank McCleskey, about 55, a native Big Spring and a railway engineer. McCleskey's small car was parked nearby.

Ikey Rupard, former lake attendant, led the crew which discovered the body of the drowning victim.

Lake Patrolman Ronald Robey notified city police about 8:30 a.m. today that he had discovered a life raft containing a life jacket floating on the lake.

The crew of an Air Force helicopter later called to the scene spotted an oar in a clump of bushes approximately half-way across the lake.

Scuba divers later were summoned to the area to help in the search.

Mrs. McCleskey, who arrived at the lake shortly before noon, said her husband, as he frequently has in the past, arose before she did for the purpose of fishing the water of Moss Creek Lake.

Two city police officers who went into the water to seek the victim were Richard Doan and Russell Kraus. City Detective Avery Falkner was also on the scene.

Others who assisted in the search were Bill Towery, Joe Smallwood, Leroy Spires, Sam Coolidge, S. E. Bell and C. E. Hensley.

Millionaire Collins Fails To Testify About Kickbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former top aide to Texas Rep. Jim Collins took the stand in his own defense today to say it was the congressman, not he, who arranged kickbacks and House payroll manipulation to pay off 1968 campaign bonuses.

George A. Haag also said the Dallas millionaire Republican told him, after kickbacks were reported by syndicated columnist Jack Anderson in March 1970, "he was removing all records from the office for our mutual protection."

SICK AND TIRED
The congressman, who had been called to testify Monday and then again today in U.S. District Court was put off by defense lawyers again. They said he still might be called late today.

Collins has not been charged. Haag told the court Collins had promised him a $10,000 bonus to manage the 1968 campaign, Kenny Newman $5,000, Michael D. Henning $1,500 and Lynne O'Shea $1,000.

But in November when Haag asked about the bonuses, Haag testified, "He said I'm sick and tired of paying these expenses out of my own pocket."

"He said we're going to set everybody up on the congressional payroll and that is how you'll get your bonuses," Haag said.

BONUS PLAN
But he said in his own case Collins told him he would be paid the $10,000 bonus by putting Henning and another campaign employee Ray Fortner Jr. on the congressional payroll "and they'll be in a position to rebate money back to you and that way you'll get your bonus."

Haag, 3, former chief Washington aide to Collins, is accused of taking more than $13,000 in kickbacks through falsification of House payroll forms and mail fraud. He also is charged with obstructing justice by inducing fellow employees to lie to the FBI and to a federal grand jury investigating the kickback scheme.

Defense attorney Leslie Scherr charged in court Monday that Collins was behind the scheme, which allegedly was arranged to award bonuses to four employees, including Haag, who helped in the congressman's 1968 re-election campaign.

Scherr acknowledged that Haag issued the direct orders

Man, Wounded By Officers, Charged Here

An exchange of gunfire between a 30-year old man and police at the OK Trailer Park at 2:34 a.m. today sent James Robert Humphrey to a local hospital with a bullet wound through the pelvis.

Justice of Peace Jess Slaughter issued a warrant for the arrest of Humphrey on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Police had answered a domestic disturbance call at a mobile home. Upon arrival, shots were fired from Lot 56 of the trailer park. One of three police cars answering the call was struck five times by gunfire from a .22 caliber weapon.

Mrs. Avonelle McGraw, Humphrey's sister, reported to police he had been beating her and had been shooting up the mobile home.

Officer David Sutton, one of those summoned to the scene, said he directed the man to emerge from the trailer with his hands above his head but the accused emerged firing in the direction of the officers. The police returned the fire, felling him on the spot.

Humphrey was taken to the hospital via Ambulance. He was reported in fair condition this morning.

No policeman was injured in the exchange of bullets.

Record Budget Is OKed For Schools

The Big Spring Independent School District Board of Education officially approved the record $6,077,059 1972-73 school year budget at their regular meeting Monday.

The board also officially approved a lower tax rate of $1.65 per $100 valuation, a reduction of five cents. Both the budget and the tax rate had been discussed and informally approved at earlier budget workshops.

The budget was approved subject to public hearings to be held Aug. 14.

The board approved the resignation of nine teachers and the employment of 16 others.

Athletic director Clovis Hale reported to the board that 12 passenger vans which would meet reasonable safety standards were available from two or three companies. The board earlier approved purchase of a 12 passenger van, if it could meet reasonable safety standards.

The next board meeting will be held Aug. 14, unless a special session is called.

BULLETIN

DALLAS (AP) — Waggoner Carr, once Texas' top law officer, was arraigned today on fraud charges before U.S. Magistrate Patrick Mulloy and made bond totaling $3,500. He was indicted Monday on charges of mail and wire fraud and falsification of reports to the Securities and Exchange Commission. (See Story, Page 8-B)

Delighted Scientists Toast Their Solar Eclipse Flight

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Delighted scientists drank champagne toasts to the successful airborne chase of an eclipse of the sun, which they say is certain to yield new findings about the fiery orb.

"We expect to find all sorts of new things," said a beaming Dr. Arthur Cox, the expedition's leader, after the team of astronomers recorded the pearly white grandeur of the solar corona Monday. The corona is the ring of hot gases that stream millions of miles out into space. Scientists hope that by studying it they can find clues to how the sun interacts with earth and interferes with man's activities.

Crowded into a converted Air Force cargo jet stuffed with 15 tons of scientific gear, the scientists, from the Los Alamos (N.M.) Scientific Laboratory, intercepted the eclipse 39,000 feet over the Arctic Circle northeast of ice-filled Hudson Bay in Canada's Northwest Territories.

As the shadow of the moon passing in front of the sun streaked southeastward at 1,000 miles an hour, the flying laboratory raced it, reaching 565 miles per hour. This gave the scientists a precious 116 additional seconds during which they could view the sun totally obscured and see the white corona etched against the blackness of space.

They kept their instruments in this path of "totality" for three minutes and 45 seconds, and the results, except for a few minor problems, delighted everyone.

When the sun vanished altogether at 3:42 p.m. EDT, the airplane's interior was almost as dark as night. Astronomers hovering over their telescopes and radiation-measuring devices used pencil flashlights to perform their duties.

Women's Efforts To Gain More Vote Punch Boosted

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — After a first-round defeat, women's efforts to gain more political punch in the Democratic party got a boost early today when the National Convention tossed out Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's Illinois delegation.

Supporting the decision of the Credentials Committee, the delegates voted by a narrow margin to replace Daley's 59-person slate with one more reflective of the state's population. The 23 extra women in the new delegation upped the percentage of women delegates at the 1972 convention from 38 to 40 per cent.

The Chicago decision softened an earlier refusal by delegates to split the South Carolina contingent equally between the sexes.

IT SHOWS

The delegates voted 1,555 to 1,429 to reject a challenge to the Palmetto State's 32-person slate that would have increased the number of women in it from 9 to 16.

Rep. Bella Abzug of New York hailed the Illinois decision as progress. She had condemned the South Carolina move as a defeat.

Rep. Abzug, a member of the National Women's Political Caucus (NWPC), said it was not a major defeat but "it shows we're not going to get anything but a struggle."

"We're going to continue fighting," she added.

Betty Friedan, an NWPC leader, called the defeat "a rough learning experience." "It just shows we've got to get our strategy back on the issues," she said. "We can't let ourselves be compromised."

Ms. Friedan (she asks that title be used) said she planned to set up a NWPC strategy session today to rally floor captains and women delegates to the cause of seating more of their sex.

"We don't want to come out of this thing with egg on our face," she said. "The women didn't hold strong for the issues that most concern them. Our strategy has been all wrong."

Now I'm really mad."

Even so, women occupied many prominent spots as the convention cranked up its first night's business.

Mary Lou Berg vice chairman of the convention, moderated the session. Secretary Dorothy V. Bush read the roll call as she has for every convention since 1944.

And wives of three presidential candidates occupied VIP boxes, greeting delegates who came to wish them well.

DEMOCRACY

Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey said, "There may be arguments and debates, but this is democracy at work."

Nearby, Mrs. George McGovern headed a group of 12 members of her family. Although she had not originally planned to attend the opening session, she said "I just couldn't stay away. It was like the call of the hounds."

Mrs. Henry Jackson, wife of the Washington senator, occupied another box.

On the other side of the dais, directly under the photograph of her late brothers-in-law, Mrs. Edward N. Kennedy represented her husband, who was said to be watching the convention on television from the family compound at Hyannisport, Mass.

Helicopters Landing Hundreds Of Marines North Of Quang Tri

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. helicopters landed hundreds of South Vietnamese marines north of Quang Tri City today, putting Saigon forces on three sides of the enemy-held provincial capital.

Field reports said the American helicopters ran into heavy antiaircraft fire, and at least two of them were shot down. But their crews were reported rescued.

The U.S. Command said it had no additional information on the loss of the helicopters, which were from carriers off the coast.

The Marines were landed 2 1/2 miles north-northwest of the city, on the eastern side of the Thach Han River opposite the Quang Tri combat base.

For the fifth successive day, entrenched North Vietnamese forces managed to stall the South Vietnamese drive to recapture the city last 10 weeks ago.

Tank-led North Vietnamese infantrymen and South Vietnamese paratrooper and marines battled at four different points on the northeastern and southeastern outskirts of Quang Tri City.

The Saigon command reported that 104 North Vietnamese troops were killed and eight tanks destroyed, six of them in one battle, by U.S. naval gunfire and South Vietnamese artillery support.

Government losses were six men killed and 13 wounded, the Saigon command said.

Chamber Directors Look To Future

Routine reports and a look ahead at other events marked the regular meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors Monday at the Webb AFB Officers Club.

Mrs. Roy Cederberg, vice president for better Big Spring, said that preparations were shaping for the Starlight Specials in the Comanche Trail Park Aug. 6-12. She also said James Gambino, Midland, would make a presentation July and city auditorium as locales for cultural programs.

The observation park at off US 80 at the north end of the Webb AFB main runway is nearing completion, she said, with a sound system ready for installation and sidewalks to be poured. The Rotary Club has given another picnic unit for the park.

Efforts are now being concentrated toward the Sept. 25 observance of career day at Webb AFB, which also ties into the 25th anniversary of the Air Force as a separate unit, reported Jimmy Taylor, vice president-development Big Spring.

The recent Agriculture Appreciation Day, sponsored by the Chamber's agriculture committee, was a success, according to a report from Joe Pickle, vice president-forward Big Spring. He said that the new tourism panel under J. Arnold Marshall was off to a good start, and that merchants will promote a sidewalk sale July 21. He also called attention to Big Spring being host for the district Little league tournament here next week.

Sgt. Pete Stone of the police department said that a telephone is to be installed to receive anonymous information on possible drug, theft and other crimes.

The chamber agreed to underwrite monthly line charges. Stone said he was requesting the Police Association to consider posting funds for rewards on tips that pay off if tipsters wish to claim a reward.

A committee to revalue dues assessments of the Chamber will meet Thursday, said R. H. Weaver, president.

Dozens Of Art Works Destroyed

AUSTIN (AP) — Two paintings valued by the owner at about $50,000 each were among dozens of art works destroyed or heavily damaged in a fire at a downtown art gallery Monday.

Donald J. David, owner of Gallery Orleans, said the two paintings were "museum pieces" by Girard Terborgh.

David said Terborgh was a contemporary of Rembrandt.

"We left the gallery at 25 minutes 'til six and just hit the house when our son called and said it (the gallery) was burning down," David said.

Deputy fire chief Curtis Rowland said he did not know how the fire began.

Sell Section 17 As First Planned, Committee Says

Section 17 committeemen who gathered in the city commission room Monday afternoon debated various approaches toward selling the plot of land owned by the municipality.

Committee members on hand to discuss the problem were DeWitt Bunn, H. W. Wright, Jack Worsham, Daryle Hohertz, M. R. Koger, Harold Hall, Harry Nagel and Roy Crim.

The discussion first wandered toward an idea of quartering the section and selling the two north quarters, which are rather shy of water, and then selling the two south quarters, considered to be more desirable.

The wisdom of selling the land piecemeal was also discussed. Under a division into small lots, seven lots would face Country Club Road, extending north some 1500 feet and embracing areas of about 20 acres each.

When planning toward small lots became more complicated, committee members likely welcomed a suggestion from DeWitt Bunn which reversed the thinking of the committee. Bunn insisted that detailed development of an attractive neighborhood outside city limits would compete with the interests of the city and would defeat the purpose of taxation.

He insisted that most prudent action of the committee was to determine the most expedient manner for disposal of the land. His argument was based on the fact that the land has been in possession of the city for more than 40 years. In that time it has been leased at rather low rates, has been offered for sale unsuccessfully on lease options and has not made the city any money.

Discussion then was directed toward the original idea of quartering the property.

The final recommendation of the committee was that the land be put up for bids again in full section, halves or quarters. Under such conditions, a bidder can offer to buy any part of the land, as long as he buys a quarter or more.

A $5,000 cashier's check or a bid bond on each parcel would accompany each bid.

The city commission would then consider the bids and acceptance would be granted to those bids creating the greatest possibilities of revenue from the over-all sale.

These recommendations are due to be made to the city commission during the council's regular session at 5:15 p.m. today.

Liquor Election Set For Aug. 5

SNYDER — Scurry County voters again will decide if liquor sales for off-premises consumption will be legalized.

County commissioners Monday set Aug. 5 as the date for an election after County Clerk Beverley Answorth verified 779 signatures on a 1,000-name petition submitted by Ken Minaryard met legal qualifications.

Slightly over 600 were needed for calling the election. Absentee balloting will begin Monday. Scurry County has been dry since 1902, and the last liquor election was held in 1960 when legalized sales were defeated 1,965-1,281.

SURVIVAL TRAINING 'ALL WET'

Girl Reporter Gets Air Force Dunking

By VEDA FEDERIGHI
Cooley News Service

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — "You VOLUNTEERED for this?!" choked one scrubbed young lieutenant as he and 23 other navigator students splashed toward a 20-man raft, trailed by a foolhardy reporter, dressed in the latest wet-look — drowned rat, head to toe.

It didn't seem the time to explain that assignments cannot be considered totally voluntary. Not when struggling to haul a less-than-agile body into a raft with handholds, diabolically placed several feet above the surface, hampered by a rubber survival suit which fights every move toward survival with a vicious personality of its own.

The scene is the Mather Air Force Base swimming pool where navigator students go through just one phase of survival training, or What To Do When the Plane Goes Down, Part I.

The wet-ditching drill sounded simple on paper: jump into pool from simulated plane door, swim (with help of water wings) under parachute, get into raft.

Standing in that door, backed by assembled laughter from several lieutenants and cackles from an uppity newspaper photographer, the simple story assumed awesome proportions.

For instance, nobody mentioned how hard it is to swim dressed in pounds of rubber survival suit several sizes too huge which, even if it keeps a body dry, also hampers attempts at efficient swimming. What would seem to be the most difficult task — swimming under a parachute canopy — turned out to be a snap.

Breathing through wet nylon stuck to nose, simply grab a seam stitched around one of the shroud lines, follow it to the hole in the center of the canopy, grab another seam, follow it out to other side.

If this had been the real thing, after getting rid of the parachute would come climbing into the raft. And if the mythical plane had gone down in shark-infested waters, those scavengers would have had an extra-succulent morsel that day.

Dressed in rubber and dripping, slipping wet, with 22 men waiting and watching behind, there is no way to haul oneself into a raft while maintaining proper journalistic dignity.

And before I had a chance to dump dignity overboard, two officer-gentlemen types grabbed my rubber-suited posterior area and fished me in like an ungainly marlin.

The raft leaked badly but after a while it became blissfully difficult to tell how much water was pouring in, 25 persons overcrowding a 20-man raft very nicely.

Fortunately, there are not too many aspects of survival training the Air Force will let a civilian woman try. Ejection seat training was definitely out, no loss I'm sure.

But they did offer a chance to fly to 43,000 feet — without leaving the ground.

This trip doesn't come in a funny-looking cigarette or sugar cube. It happens in a monster machine called a high-altitude pressure chamber, which simulates atmospheric conditions in high-flying jets.

First up to 43,000 feet, where it is necessary to pressure breathe — atmospheric pressure being too low to let enough air get into the lungs.

The air comes through the mask with a driving push, force-filling the lungs the second they relax. And the only way to exhale is to do it consciously, like pretending an elephant suddenly jumped on your chest. Then down to 25,000 feet, where hypoxia — oxygen deprivation — is deliberately induced as each student in turn removes his mask for a few minutes.

Suddenly and literally light-headed, euphoria sets in and the impulse is to fight the world or, if it won't fight, laugh it off.

Unfortunately, a brain starved for oxygen soon cannot even fly a plane. If a plane's oxygen supply is cut off and the pilot doesn't immediately recognize the symptoms of hypoxia, it may be too late to recover by the time he realizes his error.

Flying high but still on the ground, silly grins steal over hypoxic faces. Without oxygen for even a minute, the brain short-circuits a bit and it is suddenly difficult to write your name — and the sum of two plus two becomes a computation worthy of an Einstein.

Next time the airline stewardess explains what to do with the funny little orange cup-pans in an emergency, one reporter at least will listen very carefully.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: Have you ever had onion rings (the frozen kind) left over after a meal?

I love it when I do because then I just pop'em back in the oven at a low temperature and cook until they're completely dried. Then I crumble them up and save.

They are really great on top of a steak, sprinkled on a casserole, or added to your next meat loaf mix.

I've found dozens of ways to use them. . . . Kathy Brown

Yum, yum, yummy! But the only problem at our house would be having any left over.

I don't think I have ever served onion rings to my family where, after the meal was over, I couldn't pick up that platter and find it so clean I could see myself in it.

Anyway, it sounds great! . . . Heloise

Now I'll have to buy a big supply of elastic 'cause I can't stretch what I don't have. . . . Mary Fogarty

Dear Heloise: Bet you never thought of making bandages from old undershirts after using sterilized gauze on the injured part.

They are really wonderful — just cut off strips two or two-and-a-half inches around the bottom of the shirt and then snip in two to make one long strip.

The bandages stretch and conform to the affected area beautifully. They may be rolled like "elastic bandages" but are not so bulky.

They can be washed, bleached, boiled, ironed and, besides that, they cost nothing except a little time. I keep a supply on hand. . . . Mrs. M. B.

Dear Heloise: I have two boys too big to let mother bathe them and too young to get clean by themselves.

I recently found a very good solution to the soap and wash cloth dilemma.

I cut an old wash cloth in half and sewed up two sides leaving one end open.

I then put the soap inside and presto, two lathered cloths and two clean boys.

I also use only hand-sized soap for the boys because their small hands can't hold larger bars. . . . Mrs. Virginia Asch

Help Needed For Workday

The upcoming workday planned at Westside Community Center was the main topic of discussion at a called meeting of the center's board Monday evening, Peter Stone presided.

The workday, which has been organized by Mrs. John Hogan, is slated Saturday from 8 to 10 a.m. The center is located at Presidio and W. 4th streets.

Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas stressed that workers will be needed to do many types of jobs, including painting, putting in windows, yard work, washing windows and scrubbing other areas. Volunteers are asked to bring their own supplies, such as buckets, rakes, hoes, rags, soap, hammers, paint brushes, etc.

The board expressed appreciation for $207.84 which was donated by Church Women United who held a Tasting Tea to benefit the center. Also, they expressed appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Cheairs for giving a pool table to the center.

The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand reported that the inside work on the building (cooking and heating) is practically completed.

The directors appealed for needed items such as books, bookcases, lamps, shelves, games and other furnishings for the community educational and recreational center.

Auxiliary, Vets Have State Meet

More than 800 people attended the 19th annual state convention of Veterans of World War I and its ladies auxiliary, July 4-7 at the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

Members attending from the auxiliary to Barracks 1474 in Big Spring were Mrs. Allen Hull, district 19 president; Mrs. Joe Jacobs and Mrs. Rubye Simpson.

Opening ceremonies were conducted by Wendell A. Martin of Brownwood, regional commander and convention director. Principal speakers for the convention were J. B. Koch of Oklahoma City, Okla., national commander; Oscar Davis of Dallas, department commander; and Mrs. Fairy Harrell, national auxiliary president.

Highlight of the convention was a banquet held Wednesday in the hotel's grand ballroom. The Rev. Charles Rayburn of Fort Worth was guest speaker.

Miss Genia Shramble, organist, provided entertainment. Memorial services were conducted Friday morning by Ernest Roper of Brownwood, department chaplain; and Mrs. Mary Forrest, auxiliary department chaplain. The ceremonies were followed by the installation of new state officers.

The national convention is scheduled Sept. 15-17 in Los Angeles, Calif. Plans are being made for chartered bus to take local members. The 1972 state convention will be held in San Antonio.

Couple Recites Vows In Home Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson of Coahoma announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Kathleen Ann Wilson, to Benny Lee Pickett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Watson Pickett of Forsan.

The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock Thursday evening in the Pickett home by the Rev. Ralph Biestle, minister of the Coahoma Church of Christ. The bride was attired in a sleeveless, A-line dress of white polyester fashioned with a rounded neckline, and her shoulder-length veil was held by a bandeau accented with iridescents. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations centered with white carnations which formed a corsage.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Marlene Swinney who was attired in a light blue dress and wore a corsage of blue and white carnations.

Joe Pickett, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The bride and bridegroom, both seniors at Forsan High School, plan to reside in Forsan.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the home, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Joe Pickett and Miss Kristi Wilson, sister of the bride. The table was covered with a white crocheted cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue and white carnations. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

MET IN JAIL Slayings Of Two Women Charged

HOUSTON (AP) — A couple of men who met while in jail here have been charged in the shotgun slayings of two young women in neighboring counties, authorities said today.

They reported the pair have signed statements about the killings of Linda Sutherland, 21, of Houston and Adele Crabtree, 16, a Cincinnati, Ohio, runaway, whose bodies were found early last November.

Officers identified the men in custody as Harry A. Lanham, 24, a Houston saloon builder who formerly lived in Fremont, Ohio, and Anthony Knoppa, also 24, a twice-wounded veteran of the Vietnam War.

Homicide detective Paul Nix related these details:

Knoppa, arrested June 4 at Morgan City, La., and charged earlier in the Sutherland case, implicated Lanham, who since has been accused also in the death of Delores Mary Foss, 62, last Aug. 19. The body of Miss Foss, reported missing from her home in Toledo, was found Sept. 8.

Lanham and Knoppa became acquainted while both were serving sentences for aggravated assault in the Harris County (Houston) Rehabilitation Center.

The two men told questioners they picked up the Crabtree girl while she was trying to hitch a ride Nov. 2 in Houston, took her to Lanham's apartment and both had sex relations with her.

Lanham suggested that they kill her, Knoppa said, and they drove to a spot near Conroe, north of Houston, where Lanham shot Miss Crabtree after she was forced out of her car. Several nights later the two men were driving around in a garage wrecker truck when they found Miss Sutherland in a stalled car. She managed to start it briefly, but the auto again stalled as she pulled into a parking lot.

Knoppa and Lanham forced her into the wrecker with them, drove to the apartment and they also raped her. Then, after driving to a point near Pearland in neighboring Brazoria County where her body later was found, Knoppa said he tried to strangle her.

The two told officers Lanham next hit her on the head with a

Super Sale Is Huge Success

The super-garage sale promoted by the Volunteer Council of the Big Spring State Hospital was successful in every way, according to Mrs. Larson Lloyd, volunteer coordinator.

It appeared that the event, staged in the former food store at Ninth and Scurry, will net the council $550. That much was taken in Friday and Saturday, and sale of the residue at $1 for all you can carry, promised to bring in enough for utilities and other expenses.

Members of the council expressed thanks for all the contributions of items, for the many who gave their time to help in the sale, and to all who shopped the sale.

Trio From Area On Honor Roll

Three students from the Big Spring area have been named to the Distinguished Students list at Tarleton State College for the Spring Semester, 1972 by maintaining a 3.25 grade point ratio on TSC's 4.0 system.

The students are: Maria J. Fierro, 706 NW. 5th, Big Spring; Robert W. Halfmann, Garden City; and Fred C. Newman, Garden City Route, Big Spring.

Halfmann was also named to the "A" honor roll with a 4.0 grade point ratio in all subjects.

Newman and Miss Fierro were named to the "B" honor roll.

Opening lead: Six of ♦

Altho a penalty double of a slam reached on an aggressive sequence is not recommended where highly useful information may be imparted to declarer in planning his campaign and East is chargeable with indiscreet action in today's auction, he could have redeemed himself during the play by making the correct decision when the crucial moment arose.

South's opening bid of two spades is the so-called "weak two bid" currently in vogue among a number of tournament players. It is a preemptive call based on a good suit, usually of six card length, and less than opening bid strength.

North's response of two no trump is a one round force and requests further information. When South showed a second suit by bidding three hearts, North leaped to slam in that suit. East would have been better advised to pass and play for a small profit on the deal. His double did not rate to increase the toll by more than an additional 50 points.

West opened the six of diamonds and the king was played from dummy. South reasoned from East's double that the latter was clearly marked with all four missing trumps and that the only chance to succeed on the deal was to strip out his opponent's hand to set up a favorable end position. Prospects were admittedly not bright, and desperate measures were obviously the order of the day.

The ace of diamonds was cashed on which East dropped the queen, as declarer discarded a club. South promptly abandoned the diamonds and played the ace and another club which he ruffed in his hand with the three of hearts. The ace of spades came next, followed by a small spade trumped by dummy. A small club brought forth the king from East and South ruffed with the seven of hearts.

Another spade ruff put North in to lead the queen of clubs, at trick nine with the following distribution left:

On the queen of clubs, East pondered momentarily and then ruffed in with the nine of hearts. South over-ruffed with the queen and trumped a spade with the six of hearts to score his 10th trick as East followed suit with the king. A diamond was led and East ruffed up with the jack of hearts to prevent his opponent from scoring with the eight. The defender was left with the king-five of hearts and was obliged to surrender the last two tricks to dummy's ace-ten. In all, South lost only the one trump trick on the deal.

East could have defeated the contract by ruffing up with the king of hearts when the queen of clubs was led from dummy at trick nine. He may then exit with the king of spades and South is unable to prevent the former from scoring a second heart to assure the defense a 100 point profit.

Easing Angina

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What medication or treatment at age 60 is suggested, if any, for an occasional strong angina pain where an EGG doesn't indicate a problem? I have heard of taking a nitroglycerine tablet in such cases. — F. L.

It is not unusual for patients with angina pectoris to have attacks of such chest pain even though an EGG (electrocardiogram) shows no abnormality when the patient is at rest. Sometimes, in these same patients, the EGG reveals abnormalities after a bit of exercise.

If a nitroglycerine tablet relieves the pain, it is pretty strong evidence that the pain is indeed angina, and not chest pain from some other cause.

Nitro tablets are what doctors call "the medication of choice" for angina. When pain occurs, a tablet slipped under the tongue brings very rapid relief. Indeed, if a patient knows himself well enough so he can tell what degree of activity is likely to provoke an attack, the nitro tablet can be taken BEFORE the pain starts, and may in fact prevent it.

However, such patients should remember that some degree of exercise should be taken regularly — not too much exercise, but whatever amount is possible just short of causing pain. Walking is the best type of exercise for this.

To return to medications: so-called long-acting nitrates also may be tried with angina patients. If they work better, that's fine. In other instances propanalol (Indural) may be used.

Reminder: don't purchase too many nitroglycerine tablets at one time. They deteriorate rather easily.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Enclosed is 25 cents and an envelope for your booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart." What foods should a person avoid when he has high cholesterol? — Mrs. H. B.

Rocky Mountain Fever Is Hazard In Flat Lands

HOUSTON (AP) — Rocky Mountain spotted fever is a hazard in the flat lands of Texas as well as the mountains of Colorado, Dr. Robert A. MacLean, director of the City of Houston's communicable diseases division says.

Each year several Houston area residents are hospitalized with the illness, he said. Evidence indicates they picked it up in Harris or surrounding counties.

This year, three children have been admitted to Texas Children's Hospital in Houston with suspected cases of the disease.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever is carried by certain varieties of wood ticks, he said. The best defense against the disease is a thorough body check for ticks every two to four hours during an outing.

The illness comes on abruptly with chills, headaches, fever, back and leg pain with a rash breaking out between the third and seventh days, first on arms and legs.

Doctors use tetracycline antibiotics to treat the disease, Dr. MacLean said.

"We do not think the disease is becoming more widespread," he added. "We probably are finding more of the cases which have been here all the time."

Lumber Use Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lumber consumption in the United States in 1972 will set an all-time record of about 46 billion board feet, according to estimates for the year by the National Forest Production Assn.

"The building industry accounts for between two-thirds and three-fourths of all lumber consumption in the United States with variations depending largely on the strength of home building," said NFPA Muench Jr.

Muench said a domestic consumption level of 46 billion board feet would represent a gain of 20 per cent more than the 1970 consumption level, which was a relatively sluggish year for both housing and lumber. He attributed the bulk of the gain this year to the current housing boom.

Too Old?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Have I got a problem? I am stunned. My wife went to another state to attend our great-granddaughter's graduation. I told her I'd stay home and keep myself busy dating some of the lonely widows in our church. She said it was okay with her.

Well, I called one up and asked her for a dinner date, and she said yes. The next morning she telephoned so early she woke me up to say she had changed her mind, and what kind of woman did I think she was, anyway?

Abby, she is a member of our Sisterhood, and I am a member of the Brotherhood, and there is certainly nothing wrong with a brother taking a sister out for dinner, is there?

She sounded scared to death! And at my age yet. I am over 80. I honestly wish she had something to be afraid of. I assure you she hasn't. She nor anybody else.

REBUKED IN SUN CITY
DEAR REBUKED: Never mind you. How old is SHE?

DEAR ABBY: My name is Annie and I am 12 years old. My mother died when I was eight, and I had no daddy either. No one wanted to give me a home, not a soul, except one lady who came to my mother's funeral. She was very nice to me and asked me to come and live with her.

I stayed with her for a year, and she treated me very mean. I had to wash clothes at night, and take care of six little kids all day. If I complained, she beat me with a leather strap. Once she got me ready to send me to an orphan's home, but I heard it was like a jail there so I got down on my hands and knees and begged her to keep me and raise me, so she let me stay.

This lady kept me out of school so much to help with the other kids, my teacher sent for her and said if I was absent one more time she would have to hold me back, so this lady said, "Leave her back." then she purposely made me stay home from school again, and now the teacher is going to leave me back.

Oh, Abby, by the help of the Lord Almighty, I don't know what I am going to do now. Please tell your readers if their mother and father die, don't pick the person who pretends to be the best person at the funeral to live with or else they will end up being treated like a dog. What shall I do? ANNIE

DEAR ANNIE: I want to help you, but you did not sign your last name, neither did you give me an address. No child has to be treated like a dog. Please tell me how to get in touch with you.

"DEAR ABBY" I came across the letter from NOT SO DUMB, who puts all her "white elephant" gifts in a box and gives them to others on gift-giving occasions.

Last Christmas, Abby, something very nice happened around our office. One of the girls heard of a sorority that collected body powder, colognes, wallets, scarves (wrong color) etc., things that people had received as gifts and couldn't use or didn't want. This sorority distributed these items to rest homes for the older residents who were forgotten by friends and family. The recipients LOVED each gift. Nice idea? HAPPY DONOR

DEAR DONOR: Nicier than nice! I hope it's contagious.

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful squelcher for people who ask me, "How come you aren't married?" I reply, "I'm just lucky, I guess." That stops them cold!

LONDON (AP) — Sam Morris, head of a fashion store chain, hopes to boost his lingerie sales. Morris has seen strong men go weak at the knees when they ask girl sales assistants for underwear for their wives. So he's opened a "blush bar" staffed by men in one of his London stores.

"A man can handle one woman at a time, but put him in a shop full of them and he panics," says 48-year-old Morris.

"I'm not surprised," said Wine after being told he had been placed on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

NEW SKIPPER

Owens Slow Starter; Phils Split Twinbill

People make mistakes which, of course, is why they put erasers on the tops of lead pencils. Frank Lucchesi has run out of erasers in Philadelphia and Paul Owens has just scratched the surface of his first one.

New York 5-4 and Montreal defeated San Diego 6-3 with two Padre players winding up in the hospital. All other NL clubs had the night off.

with a pinch runner. Minus one for the manager. The Phillies almost got Owens off the hook when Greg Luzinski's RBI single gave them the lead in the eighth but Willie Davis tied it for the Dodgers with a homer in the ninth.

Cash, Jim Northrup Pace Tigers Past Texas Rangers, 8-3

DETROIT (AP) — Norm Cash, who has been swinging a bat like Mother Goose lately, was quick to paraphrase one of her nursery rhymes: "When I am bad, I am terrible. But when I am good, I'm very, very good," he said.

teammates with the victory, while Stanhouse was bombed for seven runs in the first three innings and a loss in his first major league decision.

Toby Harrah in the seventh. Then Hal King drilled a 450-foot homer into the lower deck in center field.

Philadelphia Boss To Pilot Club Only For Rest Of Slate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — General Manager Paul Owens, having also been elevated to the dual role of field boss of the Philadelphia Phillies, says he intends to remain at the helm only through this National League season.

After the split, Owens categorically denied published reports that he assured Lucchesi Sunday his job was intact.

RC Goal Is Doubled

Goal for the emergency fund of the local chapter of the American Red Cross has been doubled from $1,017 originally set to $2,034.

Nat Roll, chapter director, said that the goal is being set for each local chapter by the national headquarters of Red Cross to offset the deficit caused by the high number of disasters that have occurred in the United States this year.

To date, $125 has been received by the local office to assist Rapid City, Iowa and Pennsylvania flood victims rebuild their homes and communities.

Red Cross funds expended this year in Texas to aid persons affected by disasters like the New Braunfels flood total $19,000,000, according to information from the Red Cross.

Community Theatre Up For Discussion

Individuals interested in a community theatre were alerted today by Cecelia Arcand to a meeting next Tuesday to discuss the possibilities.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. July 18 at 108 Lincoln and those interested may make further inquiry by calling her at 3-4229. The project is due to be known as Around Stage and is open to anyone who has had experience or who has an interest in community theatre.

Goolsby Appointed Program Leader

LAMESA (SC) — Robert L. Goolsby, sanitarian recently transferred to Austin from here, has been named to direct a water pollution control and abatement program set up by the Texas Legislature.

The program is required of cities of 5,000 or more population, and is administered under the Texas Water Quality Board, which has set up programs in the 217 cities to which the law applies.

EXPLOSIONS ROCK PROVINCE 232 Shooting Incidents Reported

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Militant Protestants do not crush the Roman Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army, the association will take the offensive against the IRA and do its "level best to eliminate and destroy it."

The Protestant Ulster Defense Association, which claims it can put 40,000 armed men into the field, said if the British traditionally explosive summer season of Protestant parades celebrating historic events in the centuries of Protestant Catholic warfare in Northern Ireland. The first parade is Wednesday.

The reinforcements bring the garrison to 16,800 men, the biggest it has been in the three years of communal turmoil.

In the wake of the collapse Sunday night of the IRA ceasefire, army headquarters reported 232 shooting incidents in Belfast between 8 a.m. Monday and 4:40 a.m. today.

British troops were involved in 146 of the shootouts and claimed they killed or wounded 15 gunmen. Protestants and Catholics fought in the other clashes.

The hooded body of a murdered man in his 20s was found near the center of Belfast, shot in the chest and head. He was the 414th confirmed fatality in the three years of communal warfare, the seventh since the cease-fire ended and the 23rd since it began two weeks ago. Most of the latter were murdered similarly, apparently setting old scores.

Bombs damaged stores, offices and homes in three areas of Belfast. Flying glass injured five persons. Other explosions wrecked property in Londonderry, Strabane, Magherafelt and Armagh but caused no casualties.

"We are now back to square one," said IRA chief Martin McGuinness. "Our campaign has restarted, and there will be more violence than before."

NEWLY REMODELED — The air conditioned dining room completes an extensive face lifting for Burger Chef at 2401 South Gregg. The dining room and a drive in window were added for customer convenience, and are now in operation.

Nobel Prize Winner Hired As Physics Prof

DALLAS (AP) — Nobel prize winner Polykarp Kusch of Columbia University will join the physics faculty of the University of Texas at Dallas as a visiting professor Sept. 1.

His resident appointment is for one year, UT-Dallas President Bryce Jordan said.

Physicist Kusch, who has also been executive vice president and provost at Columbia, will be the only Nobel prize holder ever to live and teach in the Southwest, the school said.

Nobel winner Hermann J. Muller, who received the physiology and medicine prize in 1946, was a member of the University of Texas-Austin faculty from 1920-1926, but received his award after he had joined the Indiana University faculty in 1945.

Dawson County ranks in the top 10 counties of Texas in hog production, according to a report released by John C. White, commissioner of agriculture for Texas. It's placing in the sixth.

Summer comfort makes your electric service a big value.

Electric service, which does many things well all year round, is doing the most for you when it's adding to your comfort and convenience in the summertime.

Refrigerated air conditioning, evaporative coolers and fans help make life more pleasant under the Texas sun. Refrigerators and freezers work harder in summer. Your other electric appliances stay on the job, too.

Increased use of electricity in the summer — mainly for air conditioning — means higher electric service bills. But considering how much it does for you, electric service is a big value. Particularly in summer, when it's doing the most for you.

Ask for a copy: 8 WAYS TO SAVE MONEY ON AIR CONDITIONING. If you'd like some tips that may help you save on your air conditioning operating cost, call our office and just ask for a copy of "8 Ways." We want to help you get the most value from your electric service.

Jaycees Slate Rodeo Dance

Jaycees of Big Spring met at noon Monday in the Downtown Tearoom. No program was scheduled to interrupt the monthly business session.

President Don Worthan presented to the club four of five internal areas where improvement is needed. Decided in a recent board meeting as topics for internal programming were membership, interclub relations, ways-and-means and leadership training. A fifth direction for improvement will be outlined later.

A $25 contribution to the Theresa Ann Denton Fund was announced by Worthan as another decision of the board of directors.

In the matter of ways-and-means Worthan noted that parents of local junior rodeo participants had asked him to urge the Jaycees to sponsor a dance after the rodeo as clubs do in surrounding cities. He commented that Big Spring is the only place in this area which has no dance after junior rodeos. A barn dance was tentatively scheduled Friday, July 28, in the county barn from 9 p.m. to 1 or 2 a.m. Tickets will be $1.50 each.

Bill Hembree, chairman of the project for Fourth of July Rest Stops, reported 1298 registered guests during the four days of volunteer work by local Jaycees. The rest stop was located about 13 miles west of Big Spring on Interstate 20.

Shiners Prepping For Convention

The Big Spring Shrine Club Motor Patrol will participate in the Imperial Shrine's centennial convention next week in Dallas and Fort Worth.

In addition, the patrol will compete in the state performance contests and will have two entries in the Imperial obstacle course events.

Tempo of intensive practice sessions during the past two months has been stepped up and Don Worthan, colonel of the patrol, said he feels his group is in good form.

The patrol will leave Friday for its headquarters at Rodeway Inn in Fort Worth. It will compete Sunday morning in the state contests, and Monroe Casey and Wayne Tollett will ride in the Imperial contests Wednesday, July 19.

Also, the patrol will ride in the big Shrinetennial parade in Dallas Tuesday, July 18, and in Fort Worth again Thursday July 20.

Among those due to take part are Casey Tollett (a member of the local Shrine club but who now resides in Sweetwater), Neal Spencer, C. R. McClenny, J. O. Whitefield, Tommy Tompkins, Harvey Hooser, Noel Hull, John Pillans, Verlin Knous, Roy Lee, Don Worthan, George Glenn, Roxie Dobbins, Junior McElyea, Red Woodard, S. F. Turner, and Tom Lock. Pillans now lives in Lubbock and McElyea in Fort Stockton but retains membership here.

Budget Committee To Reveal Plans

Trustees of the United Fund have been convened for a meeting July 25 when the budget committee will make its recommendation.

The committee held hearings a fortnight ago to consider requests of the agencies participating in the United Fund, and will propose a budget for the over-all fund drive. The meeting will be in the meeting room of the Chamber of Commerce, said Morris Robertson, president.

INSURANCE STOCK SCANDALS Jurors Indict Waggoner Carr

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Waggoner Carr, the former Texas attorney general who pleaded innocence of all wrongdoing in the hearings around the Texas stock fraud scandals last autumn, was under two indictments today alleging fraud and conspiracy.

Also indicted was former state insurance commissioner John Osorio. The two indictments numbered 21 counts, 12 in one and nine in the second.

Joseph P. Novotny, former president of Sharpstown State Bank in Houston, also was indicted with Carr and Osorio on charges of 12 counts of mail and wire fraud in an alleged scheme to defraud National Bankers Life Insurance Co. of $582,000. He was appointed to the insurance commission by former Gov. Allan Shivers.

FRAUDS

Osorio, an associate and reputed friend of many state officials when the frauds were alleged to have occurred, was president of National Bankers Life from 1962 to 1970.

The indictments alleged that Carr, the former attorney general who lost a bid for the governorship of Texas, and Osorio used the money to repay personal debts.

The second indictment, returned by a federal grand jury here Monday, charged Carr, Osorio and four others with securities fraud and conspiracy.

Should the trio be convicted on the first charge, Carr, Osorio and Novotny could receive a maximum of 60 years in prison and fines of $60,000 each. Securities fraud is punishable by a maximum of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

FALSE FILINGS

The second indictment charged that Carr, Osorio and Dallas lawyers Tom Max Thomas and Jarrell Ormand with securities fraud, mail fraud, false filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and conspiracy. It also charged David Hoover, Dallas money broker, and Thano Dameris, a Houston attorney, with mail and securities fraud.

All those indicted were either defendants or witnesses in the Texas stock fraud case.

The first indictment accused Waggoner Carr, Osorio and Novotny of 10 counts of mail fraud and two counts of wire fraud.

The second accused Carr, Osorio, Thomas, Hoover, Ormand and Dameris of two counts of fraud in the sale of securities, four counts of mail fraud, two counts of filing false reports to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, and one count of conspiracy to file a false report to the SEC.

SEC REPORTS

Frank McCowan, chief of the criminal division in the U.S. attorney's office at Fort Worth, said the case would be heard in federal court in Dallas.

The indictments followed action by the SEC, which sent reports to the Justice Department.

Carr, Osorio, Novotny, Thomas and Hoover were among those placed under permanent injunction from certain stock dealings by U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes last Sept. 16.

CLIMAX

Her action was the climax of a lengthy civil suit brought by the SEC following complex dealings in the stock of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., of which Osorio was at one time head, and other companies.

Thano Dameris, a Houston lawyer, was not a party to that case, but he was under fire for his refusal to answer questions on the ground it would violate his attorney-client relationship with David Hoover.

Altogether, 13 companies and 15 individuals were involved in the SEC suit. The extensive depositions filed in connection with the case set off a storm throughout Texas.

The case stemmed from the crumbling of the financial empire of Houston banker-developer Frank W. Sharp.

The depositions claimed that Gov. Preston Smith, former Texas House Speaker Gus Mutschers and other politicians profited by getting loans from the him to the insurance commission, now faces five criminal charges returned against him by a federal grand jury in connection with the stock fraud scandals.

The indictments were the first against Carr, who ran unsuccessfully as the Democratic Party's candidate against U.S. Sen. John Tower in 1968. He also ran third in a bid for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

POLITICAL STAR

But as Carr's political star waned, he became prominent in some business circles. Before being permanently enjoined by Judge Hughes last September from dealing in stocks, Carr said his critics "can go to hell... I've done nothing wrong."

Only last April, Carr said a news story that told how the Justice Department would ask an indictment against him was "vicious and libelous."

Three months earlier, in December 1971, he filed a $100 million suit against Houston promoter Frank Sharp, alleging that the former developer defrauded him by concealing stock manipulations from him.

Carr said the suit against him and others "was from the very beginning a politically motivated suit to bring in the top political figures of the state."

'GOOD NAME'

He said his "good name" had been "used" by some people connected with some of the 13 defendants in the suit. When being questioned during the taking of depositions by the SEC, Carr told his interrogators:

"One of these days, they (the SEC) are going to have to prove the charges, and that's the day I'm looking forward to."

Community Shelter Plans Accompany Herald

More than 11,000 copies of the Howard County community shelter plan were distributed as a supplement to The Herald.

The shelter plan is the result of five years of study by local and federal officials. The plan was approved by the mayors of Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan as well as by the Howard County Judge.

The shelter plan contains information on what to do in an emergency, including nuclear attack or a tornado.

The fallout shelter plan is based on making the best possible use of the fallout protection now available in Howard County.

Space for all the residents of Howard County has been provided in the plan. The shelters are marked with the well-known black and yellow fallout shelter sign.

The Howard County shelter plan should be read and then kept by all Howard County residents, according to W. D. Berry, director of Civil Defense in Howard County.

Anyone who does not receive a copy of the shelter plan can call the Civil Defense office, telephone 267-5385, and a copy of the plan will be mailed to them.

It Will Stay Warm Today

By The Associated Press

Warm, moisture-laden air moving inland from the Gulf of Mexico spread over much of Texas today, bringing scattered showers in some sections.

It was warm throughout the state and expected to stay that way.

Much of the shower activity dotted a portion of the Panhandle-Plains in West Texas which embraced Amarillo, Wellington, Quanah and Muleshoe.

Another patch of showers cropped up around Beaumont and the Upper Texas Coast, stretching eastward offshore to near Corpus Christi.

Skies were clear to only partly cloudy elsewhere across the state.

LONGEST CONVENTION SESSION IN HISTORY

Kennedy Remains Top Choice

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern stood today on the brink of a first-ballot Democratic nomination for president amid strong hints that Gov. George C. Wallace will make a third-party try for the presidency.

Convention, Page 10

His sunny day already marred by the interception of two gunmen outside his hotel headquarters, McGovern passed the hours before the third convention session pondering possible running-mates. However reluctant, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts appeared to head the list.

But while a group of governors was telling McGovern that Kennedy or Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas would be an attractive addition to the ticket, Wallace's campaign manager told newsmen the chances that the Alabama governor would head a third party "seems to be getting stronger and stronger every minute."

The aide, Charles Snider, said Wallace's name would be placed into nomination tonight as planned and that the paralyzed governor would make his decision about a race for the White House soon after the convention.

If McGovern was even close to choosing a vice-presidential candidate he did not let on. There was no indication he had even been in touch with Kennedy, who is vacationing at Hyannis Port, Mass. Mills, pushed principally by Southern governors, is here, still at least a formal candidate for the top prize.

Weary delegates had barely

12 hours off after the longest convention session in the history of either party before tonight's climactic meeting at which McGovern was scheduled to be the first candidate placed into nomination and, when the balloting took place, the party's nominee.

California planned to yield to Connecticut when the states were called for nominations so that Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff could nominate the 49-year-old South Dakota senator to head the Democratic ticket this November.

Speculation turned immediately to possible running mates after the withdrawal of Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie on Tuesday assured McGovern's nomination.

Kennedy was clearly his top choice despite repeated statements he is unavailable.

The day was marred briefly in late morning when two men were taken into custody outside McGovern's hotel by Secret Service and FBI agents. Two pistols were found in their car.

The men were black and wore jeans. They were seized shortly after McGovern had wound up a session with a group of Democratic governors.

A close personal friend of Kennedy, Sen. John V. Tunney of California, told reporters after talking with him by phone that he thinks it highly unlikely Kennedy would accept. He added he expects Kennedy to fly here from Hyannis Port, Mass., Thursday to appear at the convention with the nominee.

McGovern's aides said that others under consideration include: United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock; Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri and Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut and Florida Gov. Reubin Askew.

By voice vote, the convention shouted down eight proposals, ranging from endorsement of capital punishment and public-school prayers to a constitutional amendment barring busing, despite a plea by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

3-T0-1

Texas Demos Not Sold On McGovern

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Texas Democrats got ready today to vote for the party's nominee for president with the sentiment still running about 3-to-1 against the likely winner, Sen. George McGovern.

A last minute caucus was scheduled just before the crucial vote at the National Democratic Convention tonight, but McGovern leaders held little hope of getting more than the 34 delegates awarded them at the state convention.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace held firm control over at least 46 Texas delegate votes.

A final effort, involving delegation leader Dolph Briscoe, was being made to sway the estimated 50 votes that Sen. Hubert Humphrey released Tuesday into the camp of Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. Terry Sanford, Duke University president and former Northern Carolina governor, was given a chance at several votes.

"I have opposed McGovern from the start and I will oppose him until we vote," Briscoe said Tuesday.

Shortly afterward he signed a petition to insure that Jackson's name would be placed in nomination.

A close friend of Briscoe, Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., introduced Jackson to a Texas caucus as "our kind of politician."

Numerous "Jackson for President" buttons and stickers appeared on Texas delegates at Tuesday night's convention session, particularly on labor union representatives.

Carlos Moore at Fort Worth and Durwood Johnson of Houston, both former Humphrey delegates, led the Jackson push.

"I find no opposition so far among the former Humphrey supporters to shift to Jackson, except maybe among the blacks," Moore said.

Hall Timanus, state coordinator for Wallace, said there was no danger of any shift in the Wallace delegates, even after the first ballot. "We're set," he said.

Timanus will give a seconding speech tonight to the nomination of Wallace.

There was a possibility another Texas delegate — Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, leader of the McGovern group — might be nominated for vice president. She said Cris Trevino, a University of Houston student, had asked permission to circulate a petition that would authorize the nomination.

POLICE CORDON OFF BELFAST

Gunmen Riddle Three Persons

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Gunmen killed three persons early today as Northern Ireland's Protestants got ready for their first big march of the summer.

Automatic fire riddled a 19-year-old Protestant walking with his father in a park in the town of Portadown. An hour later, five masked gunmen believed to be Protestant executioners broke into a home in Belfast and murdered a 16-year-old Catholic. And the body of a hooded man, shot in the head, was found in Belfast, apparently another victim of the assassins who have terrorized the city for weeks.

Meanwhile, the British government ordered 32,000 troops, police and militiamen into the streets of 18 cities and towns to keep the warring religious factions apart today while 100,000 Protestants of the Orange Order paraded.

Belfast was lit by scores of street bonfires during the night, marking the advent of the "Glorious Twelfth." It is the 282nd anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, in which the Protestant army of William of Orange defeated the Roman Catholic forces of James II.

Amid politicians' warnings that Northern Ireland is closer to civil war than at any time in the three years of communal violence, the militant Protestants of the Ulster Defense Association said their armed units would protect the marchers from attack by the Catholics of the Irish Republican Army.

Government forces cordoned the line of march in Belfast to block attacks by Catholics enraged by the display of Protestant dominance. Catholics of the Andersonstown, Ballymurphy and Ardoyne districts sealed off their sectors with barricades of concrete and steel to keep out Protestant raiders.

Trouble was feared in Port-down, a town of 13,000 population 25 miles southwest of Belfast. The route of the parade there ran through a Catholic section and the IRA said it would not allow the marchers through. The UDA said it was prepared for a showdown.

The buildup to the parades was ominous. The Provisional wing of the IRA on Sunday night called off a truce it had ordered two weeks before, and the shooting and bombing since has been worse than ever.

At least 16 persons have been killed, bringing the recorded death toll to 420 in three years. The army said that in Belfast alone there had been 210 shooting incidents between 8 a.m. Tuesday and 4:30 a.m. today. It said soldiers were not involved in 83 of them, implying that they were attacks of Catholics on Protestants or vice versa.

Insurance Firm Owned By Rep. Heatly Never Audited

By The Associated Press

The State Insurance Department has licensed a title insurance agency owned by Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah each year since 1968, although records show Heatly has never obeyed an audit requirement designed to keep agents honest.

Hatly claims the audit is not mandatory—an assertion disputed by insurance department officials.

Until March 27, Heatly was chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, which holds a big stick over the department's budget.

DESTROY ACT He also is a member of the House Insurance Committee.

Only Heatly—of the 547 title agents in Texas—has been permitted to skip the annual audit required by law of all title insurance agents, acknowledged Ira Goodrich, head of the insurance department's title section.

Goodrich indicated he feared Heatly—if crossed—might sabotage the Texas Title Insurance Act, passed in 1967 after a major title insurance company collapsed due to malfeasance of its agents.

"I would hate to see this act destroyed, and I think he could do it. I think he could get some people out in the bonodocks to support him, and that's my real concern," Goodrich said.

Insurance commissioner Clay Cotten took the blame for the latest relicensing of Heatly's Jones and Renfrow, Abstracters, firm. Failure to submit the audit is grounds for license revocation, after notice and hearing.

VERY POLITE

"We always try to be very courteous, very gentle and very polite with members of the Legislature. I don't really feel like it is special treatment," Cotten said with a smile.

But he added: "As a matter of principle, I guess it does become a problem."

The audit requirement was set up to protect escrow funds held by title insurance agents. Escrow funds are those received from property buyers and lending institutions to close real estate transactions. Many sales of property are "closed" by abstractors.

NO FUNDS

After Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin began investigating the Heatly matter in June, Cotten obtained an affidavit from Heatly saying the title firm received no escrow funds.

"I can't show you anybody else where I've taken an affidavit," Goodrich said.

The title insurance act requires audits of all agents and makes no provision for affidavits in lieu of audits, he said.

Goodrich said he believed the audit was the only way to learn for sure whether an agent actually had any escrow money in his possession.

Heatly has his own view of the audit requirement, which differs from the law as written and from Goodrich's interpretation of it—even though he served on the House Insurance Committee and voted for the title insurance act when it passed in 1967.

"When you don't have escrow policies, you don't have to file audits," he said in an interview. "... My understanding with them (the insurance department) is that where you didn't handle escrow money, you don't have to have CPA (certified public account) audits and only file a profit and loss statement."

HAVE TO PAY

"You can make an affidavit," Heatly said.

If that's the case, why is his agency the only one that has been allowed to do so? he was asked.

"I imagine the others would if they knew about it," he replied.

Heatly said it would cost him $350 or $400 to have a certified public accountant come to Paducah and perform an audit.

"I'd have to pay to do business," he grumbled.

Last year, Heatly made a $699 net profit, before taxes, on eight title policies, with premiums totaling $1,249, according to his profit and loss statement filed with the insurance department. In 1970 he reported an $855 profit, and in 1969 he said he made $1,372 on premiums totaling $1,715.

"DELINQUENT"

Goodrich's secretary—who resigned in June—reported to the attorney general and several legislators that Heatly was relicensed June 1 while a number of other agents' licenses were withheld for lack of the audit. About 30 licenses still are flagged for not filing the audits, Goodrich says.

Heatly was one of several dozen agents who were sent form letters on May 8 advising them that their audits were "delinquent."

'Close' Friends

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BOY MAGNET: (Q.) All the boys like me. They follow me around. I don't mind it really. It's the other girls that do. They are mad at me, and hardly ever talk to me any more.

So I talk to the boys. But that doesn't solve anything. They argue about whose "girl" I am. I'm 15 and I think I'm too young to be any one boy's girl. But maybe that would solve my problem. What do you think? — Poison to the Girls in Pennsylvania.

(A.) You may be assuming incorrectly that girls put you down because you are popular with boys.

It may be for some other reason. You may not be really trying to be friendly with the girls you know.

Really try with one or two or three of them. Treat them as friends — not rivals. You need a few girl friends much more now than you need a steady boy friend.

LOOKING AHEAD: (Q.) I will enter high school in 1973. I'll be 16 then and will have three more years of school. The boy I have been going with for two years is in the service now. He wants me to wait for him until he gets out and I get through with school. I like him a lot.

My mother thinks I should date other boys while he is gone. What do you think? I hate to just sit around. — Waiting in Wisconsin.

(A.) You have answered your own question. It is not good for a girl of 14 or 15 to just sit around and wait. So don't do it.

And if in dating other boys you find one or more you like better than your present friend, end your arrangement with him.

Former Sunday School Teacher Draws 45 In Pen

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A federal court has sentenced Richard Floyd McCoy to 45 years in prison for a $500,000 skyjacking and parachute jump three months ago.

McCoy, a former Sunday School teacher, was sentenced Monday.

He had been convicted of taking over a United Air Lines 72 over western Colorado April 7 and forcing it off its Denver-Los Angeles path to San Francisco where 85 other passengers were let off and the ransom put aboard.

He then ordered it on a zig-zag course across the West, ending over his hometown of Provo, Utah, where he bailed out.

Hill Trial Postponed

HOUSTON (AP) — The second trial of Dr. John R. Hill, a well known plastic surgeon, has been postponed until Nov. 6.

State District Court Judge Fred M. Hooy approved the request for a delay by Asst. District Atty. Erwin Ernst. Ernst said three doctors who are state witnesses presently were unable to testify.

Hill, 41, is charged with murder in the death of his socialite wife, Joan Robinson Hill, by allegedly failing to provide proper medical treatment. Mrs. Hill died March 9, 1969, of a massive infection after being hospitalized.

Hill has been free under a personal recognizance bond since his first trial was delayed a mistrial after six days of testimony Feb. 16, 1971.

Sharp Difference

Your Good Health
 Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A college friend tells me that no woman can lose more than three tablespoons of blood during the menstrual period.

I can't believe this is true since I know several large women who bleed more heavily than smaller women. I always thought the amount varied with the individual, so I cannot understand how such a statement could be made. — E.G.D.

If your friend had been talking about averages, the amount would be somewhere within range — but saying that is the maximum amount is quite another matter.

The amount can vary widely from person to person, but usually the average is some four to six ounces. It can, in some cases, be substantially more than that, so your friend's "maximum" figure doesn't always hold true by quite a bit.

The size of the woman is not the most important factor. Rather the flow is determined by hormonal levels and by such things as the condition of the endometrium (lining of the uterus). If it is thick, there can be a considerably greater flow.

Another factor: some periods last only a couple of days or so, others six or seven, and obviously that makes a difference.

Excessive menstrual flow can contribute to anemia in some women.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers." I enclose 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

I don't have a peptic ulcer, but I have a duodenal ulcer. I'd like to know if they perform operations on ulcers even if it isn't absolutely necessary. I'm 13 and have had an ulcer for about three years and don't think I'm going anywhere on this diet. Maybe because I don't stick to the diet as close as I should. — L.E.

A duodenal ulcer is a form of peptic ulcer — "peptic" includes both ulcers of the duodenum (outlet of the stomach) and of the stomach itself. Your type is the commoner, and preferable, too, in that gastric ulcers (in the stomach proper) are likely to be cancerous, which distinguishes them unpleasantly from duodenal ulcers.

Maybe you don't stick close enough to your diet. Or maybe there are other factors involved. You'll have a better understanding of what it's all about after you read the booklet.

It's tough having an ulcer when you're 13 and dare not eat everything under the sun, while other kids your age do, and get away with it. But peptic ulcers are no respecters of age or youth. Even small babies sometimes get them.

Generally speaking, surgery for ulcers is a last resort; it is tried after conservative treatment (diet, etc.) has been given a thorough trial first. Stick to the rules and avoid an operation unless absolutely necessary. The operation is no picnic.

Note to Mrs. R.: Yes, a suitable blood test can tell your thyroid condition. It is the preferred way of doing so now.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason, Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

PREDICT BORIS WILL WIN FIRST GAME

Chess Test To Be Continued

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Defending champion Boris Spassky was favored by the experts to beat American challenger Bobby Fischer in the opening game of the world chess match when play resumes this afternoon.

The opener of the richest chess competition in history adjourned Tuesday night after 4 hours and 34 minutes of play and 40 moves by each player.

Referee Lothar Schmid of West Germany will make Spassky's 41st move. The Russian wrote it on a slip of paper and handed it to him in a sealed envelope at the adjournment.

The two competitors, their seconds and chess enthusiasts throughout the world spent part of the overnight break analyzing possibilities for the 11 pieces remaining on the green and-white chessboard in Reykjavik's sports hall: king and five pawns for Fischer; king, bishop and three pawns for Spassky.

The match had appeared headed for a draw until Fischer tried to seize the initiative on his 29th move.

The lanky Brooklyn, N.Y., challenger galloped his bishop down a long black diagonal to snatch an unprotected pawn Spassky had offered. A few moves later the bishop was trapped and lost in exchange for two pawns.

Svetozar Gligoric, the Yugoslav grandmaster present at the tournament, said, "It is doubtful whether black can save a draw." Spassky, who had the first move, is playing the white pieces, Fischer the black.

Fischer has played Spassky five times in the past, losing all three times he played the black pieces and getting draws both times he played the whites and had the advantage of the first move.

BPBA To Launch Membership Drive

The Permian Basin Petroleum Association is seeking to boost its membership and budget by 50 per cent.

One of the meetings to kick off membership enrollment is slated here July 18, the same date set for similar luncheon sessions at Snyder, Lamesa, Colorado City, and that evening in Sterling City. The initial kickoff is due Thursday evening in Odessa for the Midland-Odessa area.

Arlen Edgar, Midland membership chairman, said the increase was vital to give BPBA the leverage it must have to represent the petroleum industry in this area.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ South virtually catapulted his side into the six spade contract presented today, but once there, he delivered an unerring performance as the declarer to justify his aggressive course during the auction.

North opened the bidding with one no trump and South jumped to three spades, holding 16 points in high cards and distribution. When this response was raised to four by partner, a slam try is definitely in order. However, holding a worthless doubleton in hearts, a Blackwood inquiry is not advisable. With this type of holding it is better to tell than to ask. If South bids either five clubs or five diamonds (to show the ace), it gives North the opportunity to cue bid the ace of hearts and now South can carry on to six spades with the assurance that his side is not off the first two tricks in hearts. West opened the jack of hearts, and after considerable deliberation, South decided to play East for the king. So reasoning, he put up the ace of hearts from dummy, crossed over to the ace of diamonds, and then reentered dummy with the ace of clubs to lead the queen of diamonds. East followed suit with the eight and declarer discarded his remaining heart. West was in with the king of diamonds and led back the ten of hearts which South ducked in dummy and trumped in hand with the six of spades.

A club put North in with the queen to lead the nine of spades for a finesse. East followed with the deuce, South the seven and West the three. A small spade was led next and declarer covered East's five with the ten, on which West discarded a diamond.

A club was ruffed with the jack of spades as East followed suit and the North had no more trumps to repeat the finesse against East's king. South was in full charge of the situation. He led the established jack of diamonds on which East and he both discarded clubs. The ten of diamonds followed—East shedding his king of hearts and declarer the king of clubs, his remaining card in that suit.

At trick 12 dummy led a heart and East's king-eight of spades was hopelessly trapped under declarer's ace-queen. The only trick scored by the defense was West's king of diamonds.

Four Lessons

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The names are fictitious but I am telling it like it is: My name is Debbie. I have been dating a fellow named John. I mentioned to John that Linda, a good friend of mine, is fantastically well put together. John calls Linda and asks her for a date. Linda accepts. She then tells Carol (who is also a friend of mine) about her date with John. Carol tells me. Naturally I am humiliated and angry.

I contend that when John called Linda, she should have refused him immediately saying she and I were good friends, and then hung up the phone. Furthermore, Linda shouldn't have told Carol or anyone else about her date with John because it made me look like a fool.

My friends contend that everything worked out for the best, and I am lucky to have found out that John was bad news. What is your opinion?

DEBBIE

DEAR DEBBIE: Your friends are right. But there are several lessons to be learned here:

- (1) Never "mention" to a boy friend that another girl is "fantastically well put together." (He may not be able to resist the challenge to "take her apart.")
- (2) If a man is interesting, few girls, out of loyalty to a girl friend, will pass up a chance to date him.
- (3) Your friend Linda talks too much.
- (4) So does Carol.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 65 years old, and have no family. Do you think I am too old to learn to drive an automobile? Some of my friends laughed at me when I mentioned learning to drive at my age.

If I could drive I wouldn't have to wait for friends to take me shopping and to church and other places I might want to go.

Have any of your readers learned to drive at my age? If you think I'm too old, I'll

TOP-RATED FROM OLIVETTI . . . EDITOR 4 AND LOGOS 250

Memory Eliminates Errors

Graham's Office Machines has a lesson to pass on to the office manager. It comes in an amazing new package called the Editor 4. It's a lesson in "How to correct typing errors before they happen."

The Editor 4, new in design, modern in features, will meet demands and get the work done quickly and efficiently, whatever the job. The Editor 4 has been developed from over 60 years' experience in manufacturing typewriters. It gives high performance and produces quality results. It has Olivetti's unique memory feature which prevents common typing errors. This, combined with the ease of operation makes it outstanding in value in today's typewriter market. The Editor 4 with its nylon ribbon produces clear, true impressions closest to that of a carbon ribbon. It is a fine choice where the application calls for high quality results and many copies.

One of the Editor 4 unique features — and perhaps the most surprising — is its memory. The memory automatically eliminates common typing errors: flying caps, shading or ghosting, crowding or piling, improper spacing. The memory allows extremely fast typing — up to 185 words a minute.

The machine is well made and versatile. Along with many standard operational features which make it so easy to use, the Editor 4 has optional features which increase its application scope.

For example, there are four choices of horizontal spacing and extra wide carriage lengths of 18, 21 and 27 inches in addition to the standard 13 inch.

Some People Never Have The Neighbors In...

... and it's understandable. Who wants to take a chance on their neighbor spotting a cockroach flitting across a counter, or down a drain? So it is that thousands of housewives, all over America, never join a Kaffee Klatch, because they know they can never take their turns, having the girls in. Or can they? Of course they can. All they have to do is discover Johnston's No-Roach... the sure-fire answer to cockroach problems. Not to mention ants... and silverfish... and spiders... and so forth. No-Roach, the household insecticide that keeps the promise of its name. The seeming magic about No-Roach is the ease with which it is used. You just brush it on (No-Roach supplies the brush) anywhere that roaches or other crawling pests may assemble: across doorways, windowsills and baseboards; in cupboards and along the edges of kitchen cabinets. No-Roach dries to an invisible shield that is colorless and odorless. All the time you are serving coffee to the neighbors, No-Roach is killing cockroach eggs back in the nest... cause every roach (or insect of any kind) that crosses No-Roach, picks it up on its feet and takes it home.

Do the neighborly thing. Serve the ladies on the block a cup of coffee in a roach-free kitchen... thanks to Johnston's No-Roach. Available at: Safeway, Furr's, Piggly Wiggly, Gibson's, Foodway, Giant Discount and all grocery stores. Dist. by Kunitzbell.

KENNEDY, WOODCOCK, EAGLETON, ASKEW MENTIONED

McGovern Works On Speech, Studying Veep Possibilities

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With the presidential nomination within his grasp, George McGovern remained out of public view today, writing an acceptance speech and studying a small list of vice presidential possibilities headed by Edward M. Kennedy.

chance to refuse," one McGovern aide said Tuesday. McGovern himself has repeatedly said Kennedy would be among the first people he would contact to discuss the matter.

However, the Massachusetts senator, who lost two brothers to political assassins, has never said absolutely that he would not accept the No. 2 spot on the ticket. He said he would consider a run if convinced that was the only way President Nixon could be beaten.

The UAW is outside the traditionally Democratic AFL-CIO, whose leaders have displayed little affection for McGovern. And Woodcock's union has endorsed one Republican this year, Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois.

Others believed on McGovern's prime list of possibilities: Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, 42, a first-term senator who originally endorsed Edmund S. Muskie of Maine for the Democratic presidential nomination. Eagleton increased his favor with McGovern when he went against Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, chairman of the Missouri convention delegation, and supported McGovern on the California credential challenge.

calls symbols of a new, progressive South. Askev, 43, delivered the convention keynote address Tuesday night. But Askev's chances are discounted by some because of his ardent support of a state referendum in support of busing to achieve racial desegregation. The measure was roundly defeated.

Another is probably Sen. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, a longtime friend of McGovern whose liberal Senate record, including a long history of opposition to U.S. participation in the Vietnam war, closely coincides with McGovern's. Nelson, 56, is a former Wisconsin governor and a member of the Senate since 1963.

JACKSON STAYS IN — Sen. Henry M. Jackson announces at a Miami Beach press conference he's remaining in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination despite the overwhelming lead amassed by Sen. George S. McGovern and the withdrawal of Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie.

'WE'RE EATING HOT DOGS THIS YEAR, NOT FILET MIGNON' Reputation For Swinging Endangered

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "We're eating hot dogs this year, not filet mignon," says Liz Carpenter, summing up the doldrums of the social circuit at the Democratic National Convention.

Democratic conventions are passing this year. HEFTY DEFT Some Democrats speculate this is caused by the style of the convention — the new breed of delegates whose tastes run more to dungarees and peanut butter than to cocktails and caviar. Others figure the question is purely financial — another manifestation of the party's $9.3-million debt.

said Mary Hoyt, press secretary for Mrs. George McGovern. "And if there were, what would people think? That we're down here to party?" Mrs. Terry Sanford, wife of the former North Carolina governor seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, said her social calendar isn't as full as she'd expected.

she said. "Other years we've received lots of invitations to receptions and teas and things, but this year there doesn't seem to be much going on." The fat-cats are here all right. Sometimes they can be seen cabana-hopping along the stretch of hotel beaches, but few are throwing extravagant black-tie parties.

There was only one fashion show. Tickets went for a record low $3. And some went begging. "These things used to be command performances," said Mrs. Gilbert Hahn of Washington, who did attend. "But now they're absolutely passe. It's delicious that this aspect is over. Four years ago this kind of thing would have been packed every day. Now who cares?" Hotel beauty parlors say business isn't as usual, that the increase in women delegates hasn't helped their business one bit. Slacks, halters and sandals are in, as acceptable on the convention platform as they are on the beach. Waxen, coiffed hair-dos are out. "I don't know what you call it, but I call it grim," said a Washington social writer who came to the convention to describe the party scene. "If it keeps up like this, I could go out of business."

Wallace Ideas Shouted Down One By One

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Democratic National Convention gave Sen. George McGovern today the kind of platform he sought, rebutting a personal plea that Gov. George C. Wallace made from his wheelchair for a strikingly different party document.

Reflecting in general the views of the man whose nomination now is assured, the platform calls for immediate withdrawal from Vietnam, closing of tax loopholes, replacing the welfare system with income grants and recognition of busing as one means of achieving quality education.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — president has cheered some of the young people. "I'm happy about it," said Bill Kohler, a beer-sipping former Army private who now belongs to Vietnam Veterans Against the War. "I'd like someone to stop the war right now, and he can't do that. But he's still our best hope."

TRICKY DICK Several nondelegates at Flamingo Park worried that McGovern might change some of his positions. "I hope he doesn't back down on a lot of implied promises," said Ti Culver, a 23-year-old Minnesota volunteer for the People's Party. "He's already backed off on abortion, amnesty and drug laws."

group of dissidents who broke with the Youth International Party—Yippies. "After some of the compromises he's made with conservative Democrats, I'm beginning to wonder," said Zippie Eddie Harper of Orlando, Fla. "He may turn out just like Tricky Dick if he keeps on like he's going."

But the skeptics were far outnumbered Tuesday night by the apathetic-demonstrators who grooved with their own thing under the huge banyan tree in Flamingo Park.

Adequate Representation For 'Poor' In '76 Voted

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The delegates to the Democratic National Convention have voted to continue the reforms in proportion equal to the vote they cast in an attempt to make it the true "party of the people."

Midland Hospital Pays $30,000 For Generator

A diesel powered emergency standby generator now occupies a large place in the Midland Memorial Hospital power plant. The new generator will be in operation upon completion of the expansion program, Administrator Wayne E. Ulrich reported today.

"This emergency generator cost $30,000 and will insure uninterrupted power in the event our primary generators malfunction," Ulrich explained. The generator is rated for continuous standby service at 250 kilowatts. The generator will automatically transfer power control from the primary generator to auxiliary power any time there is a four-second power loss. Midland Memorial now has auxiliary generators rated at 210 kilowatts.

"Even if we seldom use the auxiliary power, when a need does arise, this equipment assures our patients of safe, continuous electrical power," Ulrich continued. He noted that the hospital had used auxiliary or emergency power in the past primarily for maintenance of the primary generators or when city electric service malfunctioned for any reason.

Nixon Schedules Meeting With Soviet Ambassador

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Just a day before Vietnam peace talks resume in Paris, President Nixon has scheduled an informal but serious meeting here with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

The ambassador and Mrs. Dobrynin described as guests of Henry A. Kissinger, the president's principal foreign affairs advisor, were invited by their host to visit the Western White House today.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary, said the chief executive and the visiting Russian would meet at some point during the day.

In response to a question, Ziegler declared, "I don't want to describe it as a courtesy call." Asked if substantive matters would be discussed, he replied, "Yes."

Vietnam peace talks resume Thursday in Paris after a two-month hiatus occasioned by a United States withdrawal that preceded Nixon's order to mine North Vietnamese ports.

Dobrynin, according to Ziegler, just happened to be visiting a recently opened Soviet consulate in San Francisco and was invited to "drop by" Southern California.

Kissinger met the ambassador and Mrs. Dobrynin in Los Angeles Tuesday, took them on an escorted tour of the old-Hollywood-style Universal Studios, then was their host at dinner.

WW I Veterans, Wives To Meet

Members of Veterans of World War I, Barracks, 1474, and its auxiliary will have a regular meeting Thursday 6:30 p.m. in the IOOF Hall at Ninth and Magnolia. Refreshments will be served following the meeting, and all WWI vets, wives and widows are invited.

Firestone 500 Steel Belt

It's really tough... tough because it has two armor belts of steel under the tread. These steel belts give excellent protection against impacts, cuts and bruises. Steel belts resist tread "scrubbing" on pavement to give long tire wear. Steel cords in the two belts are set so close together it takes 805 feet to make just one tire. This steel is so strong a single cord will pull a car!

Steel—along with modern polyester body cords and a deep, rugged, wide tread—make this tire to put between you and tire trouble.

DON'T MISS OUT! Drive in today for instant service!

Price as shown at Firestone stores. Competitively priced at Firestone dealers and at service stations displaying the Firestone sign.

Dallas Police Mystery Boils

DALLAS (AP) — The mysterious shooting of a Dallas art supply salesman and the subsequent arrest of a policeman have sparked an investigation into possible misconduct by other law enforcement agents.

But Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyson, while admitting he has ordered the investigation, declined to reveal just what the investigation was all about.

The murdered art dealer was Bryan R. Stout, 42, whose body was found in his apartment on June 19. His wife, Mary, 33, a friend, Mrs. Pamela McDougald, 34, patrolman John Thomas Singletary, 32, Mrs. Helen Cundiff, 49, and Lester Weber, 18, have been arrested and charged in connection with the shooting.

They were all released on bond.

One of the things that apparently set off the investigation of possible involvement by police officers in the events that led to the shooting was the report that a large number of police cars had been seen parked at the Stout residence over a period of time.

Dyson said he could not reveal "how many officers visited the Stout residence or for what purpose, but I hope to have a full report next week."

He denied he had squelched any investigations into activities that surrounded the death of Stout and the arrest of Singletary or that he had been under pressure from the city administration to dig deeper into the case.

Singletary was arrested after police said they learned that his 38 caliber police revolver was used in the slaying.

ASTRONAUTS DISCIPLINED — Apollo 15 astronauts David Scott, left, James Irwin and Alfred Worden have been disciplined by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for secretly carrying 400 souvenir stamped envelopes to the moon. One hundred of the envelopes were given to an acquaintance and sold at a reported price of $1,500 each.

Lightning Kills Three Girls In Houston Storm

By The Associated Press

Lightning struck three girls in Houston as killer storms swept over Texas' coastal plains late Tuesday, and the turbulent weather continued in some sections of the state today.

A tornado flicked down from one thunderstorm northeast of Alvin, in the Houston vicinity, but there was no damage.

The girls in Houston were killed as they started to dash home from a drive-in food store during heavy rain. They were Cynthia Kathlene Hitchcock, 14, and her sister Robin, 10, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Hitchcock; and Lynn Amy Wyatt, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weston Wyatt.

A neighbor, Crystal Bradford, 39, told of seeing a big ball of fire and running from her house to see if her son had been harmed. That was when she found the girls lying on the ground.

Showers or thunderstorms ranged from coastal areas into East and Central Texas during the night while others developed in the state's Panhandle-Plains sector.

By this morning the storms, dwindling slowly, (the unruly weather was largely concentrated along the coast) from near Corpus Christi to Beaumont, in the Texas Panhandle along the New Mexico line southward as far as El Paso, and in Northwest Texas near Vernon.

Skies were clear to only partly cloudy in other sections of the state.

Temperatures near dawn today ranged from 65 degrees at Amarillo in the Panhandle up to 80 at Galveston on the coast. Tuesday's top marks went as high as 97 at Cotulla and El Paso.

Forecasters held out a prospect for still more warm weather, with skies partly cloudy in most sections and scattered thundershowers in West, Northwest and East Texas and over the coastal plains.

State Parks

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Parks Commissioner Ewart Johnson says Kentucky will stop building large resort-type parks and improve current facilities.

He said an attempt also will be made to cut food and labor costs to bring the state parks in line with similar private operations.

Probated Term Is Handed Sanders

Clarence Eugene Sanders, 24, received a 10-year probated prison sentence Tuesday after he pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to a charge of burglary.

District Judge R. W. Caton returned the sentence against Sanders. Following sentencing, Sanders was returned to Howard County jail.

Belton, Tex., authorities have been notified of the disposition of the local charge against Sanders. Belton authorities notified the Howard County Sheriff's office Tuesday that they would take custody of Sanders for disposition of a Belton charge against him.

Will Stress American Need For More Meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary George Shultz and other government officials meet today with representatives of 12 meat-exporting countries to emphasize the American need for more meat.

They will be told that "The American market for meat is now wide open and we will take all you can send," a spokesman said.

Besides Shultz, other U.S. officials at the meeting will include representatives of the Department of Agriculture, the Cost of Living Council, the President Nixon recently announced the lifting of restraints on meat imports in an effort to check rising meat costs. The goal is to increase meat imports by more than 11 per cent this year.

The United States imported 1.112 billion pounds of meat in 1971.

The U.S. spokesman said countries which help the United States with larger meat exports now will be favorably considered when 1973 meat quotas are set.
