'CRAZIEST'

Democratic Convention Postscript

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — They may have to amend those marble inscriptions on the university and library walls because the past was not prelude to much this week among the palm trees, the plastic credit cards and the plaster Greek statues of Miami Beach.

CRAZY, MAN

"Craziest damn convention I ever saw," George Meany kept saying.

One can easily imagine the old labor leader, at 77, biting viciously on his cigar, growling out orders to command posts of the ABM ("Anybody but McGovern Movement"). Orders, pressures, threats, favors recalled, arm twisting. Nothing seems to work. Finally, in the wee hours of a Tuesday morning, comes the grim bulletin: California is lost; Franklin Delano Roosevelt is really dead; long live George who?

A party is being transformed. Perhaps a country, too, say the zealots. Outs are in. Ins are out. A sleeping bag pariah of Grant Park, Chicago, 1968, now orders up broiled kipper and eggs in the neo-classic splendor of the Fontainebleau. Averell Harriman, bent with honors, wanders lonely as a cloud, beaten for a delegate's seat by a 19-year-old.

YOUNG, BLACKS

As symbols, the two examples should not be over-weighted. Besides the young and the blacks who are newly important in Democratic politics, there is a growing breed of the middle-aged, larger in number, who have moved from the neutrality of the League of Women Voters, the insulation of professorial chairs, the abstract stance of the "office liberal," and the intellectual comfort of suburban discussion groups into the sweaty nitty-gritty and not always inspiring burly-burly of active partisan politics.

Regardless of age, color or class, the spirit of this convention is change. Old conditions die. Old muscle now has no clout. Nothing ages faster than age in the new politics. The past, both the long ago and the recent, is badly bruised.

IN RIGHT FIELD

Lyndon Johnson, the party's last president, is scarcely mentioned. His picture is tucked away in right field of Convention Hall, among congressional leaders, not presidents. At the start of the week, the party's last nominee for president, bravely announces: "I didn't come here for a vaca-

CHess MATCH TEETER-TOTTER

Maybe Yes, Maybe No

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Boris Spassky fished for salmon and Bobby Fischer kept his Sabbath Saturday as chess officials scrambled to save the world championship.

After talks with officials of the International and Icelandic chess federations, Fischer's lawyer, Paul Marshal, announced the American challenger had withdrawn his objection to the presence of movie cameras in the playing hall "so long as they don't blow his mind."

FAILURE

Marshal also asked the officials to reconsider their decision to uphold the referee in declaring a forfeit because Fischer missed the second game of the 24-game series Thursday. Fischer boycotted the session, saying the cameras distracted him. Marshal said new evidence was being prepared that might save off cancellation of the match. He wouldn't say what the evidence was.

Fischer's failure to turn up for his second encounter with the world champion gave Spassky a 2-0 lead. Spassky needs 12 points to retain the title. Fischer 12½. Each game won counts a point. A draw is half a point.

Fischer is refusing to play game No. 3 Sunday unless the point the Russian gained by default is scratched from the score sheet.

$300,000 PRIZE

The deadlock seemed unbreakable, but Fischer's attorneys and his second, the Rev. William Lombardy, were trying to find a way out.

One official connected with the International Chess Federation—FIDE—said he thought it was impossible to take the point away from Spassky.

The Icelandic organizers earlier agreed to remove the television and movie cameras, although revenue from the rights helped to raise the total prize money to $300,000, the richest chess championship in history.

Asked if Fischer planned to pack up and go home, Marshal replied: "No. Otherwise I wouldn't be here."

The feeling was that Fischer would not play the scheduled third game on Sunday. But no one knew for certain.

WOMEN, CHILDREN FEAR VIOLENCE

Thousands Flee Belfast

BELFAST (AP) — More than 1,000 women and children fled Roman Catholic areas of Belfast on Saturday and took trains for Ireland, fearing an upsurge in Northern Ireland's violence.

Their exit followed hours of shooting in which two soldiers and two supposed gunmen died. Almost 5,000 now have headed south to escape the continuing violence in Belfast and other centers.

EXPLOSIVE CHURCH

The evacuation was organized by politicians who have close links with the Provisional Irish Republican Army, fighting to merge mainly Protestant Northern Ireland with predominantly Catholic Ireland.

The departure brought charges from Protestants that the IRA would be organizing a weekend push against the British army. Catholics, by contrast, contended that the British were planning sweeps through Catholic areas which had become IRA strongholds.

One of the dead soldiers was a bomb disposal expert killed as he sought to defuse a milk churn packed with explosives on a country road near the border with Ireland.

PRESUMED DEAD

The other was a soldier shot dead in the Suffolk district of western Belfast, where troops have battled IRA gunmen over the past five days.

Their deaths and those of the two presumed gunmen brought the total in three years of violence to at least 439, of whom 231 died this year.

In Londonderry, Northern Ireland's second city, gunfights and riots forced the army to stop building permanent barricades around their controlled Bogside and Creggan districts.

CAUGHT IN GUN FIGHT

As troops moved in to build the barricades, Catholic women staged a sit-down protest and youngsters pitched in with rocks and bottles. Within minutes the troops came under sniper attack but none were injured.

Earlier Saturday vacationers returning home from Spain by plane were caught in an hour-long gun battle at Belfast's Aldergrove Airport.

As passengers were walking from the terminal building to their cars, terrorists opened up on airport police. More gunfire came from a white panel truck parked near the airport. Police returned the fire as the vacationers dove for cover.

The shooting stopped when Royal Air Force marksmen were rushed in from the military part of the airport. The gunmen made their getaway in the predawn darkness.

Bombs wrecked two electricity transformers in Amagh, Ireland's ecclesiastical capital, and a service station near the town center.

Bomb Explodes Near Mansion

AUSTIN (AP) — An old army-type smoke bomb thrown under the cover of darkness exploded on the south lawn of the governor's mansion early Saturday morning, state police said. Gov. Preston Smith was on vacation.

The bomb "rattled windows but did no damage," a spokesman for the Department of Public Safety said.

He said the bomb exploded at approximately 12:15 a.m. and, after it stopped smoking, city police made photographs and intelligence agents from the DPS took the remains to their laboratory for tests Monday.

The south lawn is mostly open ground, with the mansion about 40 yards from a 4-foot high iron fence that rests on a concrete foundation.

There was a red spot on the grass, 30 yards or more from the mansion.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — And so the mantle of Democratic power passed to George McGovern, the nice guy who couldn't win—but did.

The men who challenged him, and one who helped subtly, were left to applaud and watch as the Democratic presidential nominee began his quest for the White House.

There stood Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who helped from a distance, who in other circumstances might have been his party's choice.

There stood Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the candidate who had been mechanically and forcing a smile.

Wisconsin was the first of McGovern's 10 presidential primary victories, Massachusetts the one that installed him as the leader among Democratic candidates.

But before the primaries, McGovern struggled through bleak weeks of winter while Muskie reaped the endorsements of party leaders and sat far atop the polls.

Eagleton, McGovern's running mate from Missouri, recalled those days as he accepted the vice presidential nomination.

"Most of the delegates in this hall did not expect to be the political pros of 1972," Eagleton said. "Most of us did not expect to nominate a man who began with only five per cent in the polls."

RUNNING MALE

McGovern's campaign cadre was fashioned at first around his Senate aides and veterans of the presidential bid of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

They went out to find those new political pros of whom Eagleton spoke. They rallied thousands of door-to-door campaigners to work for McGovern in the primaries.

When the voting and the caucuses began, they were ready.

Before the national convention began, there were some within and many outside the McGovern camp who feared that his new-look delegates would be uncontrollable, might force into the platform planks that would only hurt the ticket, might make trouble on seating disputes, might generally tear things up.

DIDN'T HAPPEN

It didn't happen. A convention in which 80 per cent of the delegates were newcomers was far more orderly than the old-fashioned kind.

But when it really counted, McGovern's control was solid.

He gained it with a campaign that peaked at just the right moment, at the end. In that, McGovern had the subtle assistance of Kennedy.

The senator from Massachusetts kept his distance, personally and politically. But there is no question he helped McGovern in the final stages of the campaign for nomination.

The one thing he would not do was join the ticket and run for vice president. He declined McGovern's quick offer of that nomination. It appeared that both men were following a script; that both knew the offer would be made and declined.

CROWD ROARS

But in the final weeks of the campaign, there were signals aplenty that Kennedy was trying to help McGovern without letting it show.

That assistance went to the point of hint, a month before the convention, that Kennedy just might be available for vice president on a McGovern ticket if that appeared the only way the Democrats could win.

When all the nominations were settled, but only then, Kennedy flew from Hyannis Port, Mass., to join McGovern. A spokesman said Kennedy had stayed away until then because of the speculation that would have accompanied an earlier appearance.

The roar of the delegates when Kennedy walked to the microphone indicated there likely would have been far more than speculation had he come while the ticket remained open.

Voluntary Rollbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council said Saturday citizens' complaints have led to 2,646 voluntary rollbacks in prices, wages, and rents during a recent nine-week period.

Most of the voluntary rollbacks, 2,117, involved rents. There were 33 wage rollbacks and 496 voluntary price reductions during the period from April 28 to June 23, the council said.

The Council said voluntary rollback actions influenced by citizens' complaints to the Internal Revenue Service which enforces wage-price controls, are averaging about 300 per week.

The price commission has ordered 60 price rollbacks and directed 20 companies to make refunds to customers.

MEANT NOTHING

A few ranks away stood Joseph Grandmaison, 27, of Nashua, N.H., who managed the campaign to persuade New Hampshire voters to support a South Dakota senator whose name meant nothing against Muskie of next-door Maine.

Muskie himself was near the rear of the platform, clapping

TWO MASSIVE RAIDS

B52 Bombers Kill 300 Enemy Troops

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. B52 Stratofortresses shattered bunkers and inflicted heavy casualties on North Vietnamese around the provincial capital of Quang Tri, the U.S. Command said Saturday.

It estimated the bombers killed about 300 enemy in two massive raids.

A U.S. Command communiqué said South Vietnamese paratroopers searching one B52 strike area about eight miles south of Quang Tri "found 60 destroyed enemy bunkers containing approximately 250 enemy dead and their equipment."

KNOCKED OUT

Three antiaircraft artillery pieces and two trucks were destroyed in the same area, the command said. If accurate, the number killed would indicate that a North Vietnamese battalion was knocked out by the strike.

The North Vietnamese claimed a B52 bomber was shot down over North Vietnam Thursday, but there was no confirmation in Saigon. No B52s have been reported lost to enemy fire, although at least one has been damaged.

On the northern front, military sources said a South Vietnamese paratrooper battalion had moved to within 700 yards east of the Citadel in the heart of Quang Tri. This was the closest government troops had come to the fallen provincial capital.

CAPITAL HIT

A government spokesman reported two new engagements Saturday outside Quang Tri and said 11 enemy were killed. He characterized South Vietnamese losses as light.

Thirty miles to the south, there was fighting west of Hue, and the old imperial capital was hit by eight enemy artillery shells that killed one person and wounded three.

An unusual broadcast by the Viet Cong's radio said its forces had taken more than 200 prisoners from the 23rd Division's 45th Regiment as they were wounded and left behind during ground fighting in Kontum Province between July 2 and 4.

PRISONERS DIE

The South Vietnamese prisoners were treated for their wounds and moved to a spot identified as Hill 616, where U.S. Air Force B52s dropped tons of antipersonnel bombs in raids the following two days, the broadcast said. It claimed all the prisoners were killed.

A U.S. Command spokesman said he had no report of such an incident, and the South Vietnamese reported no major battle in the area during that period.

Reviewing the ...

Big Spring Week

... with Joe Pickle

Tragic mishaps claimed lives of three Big Spring people last week. Frank McCleskey, who grew up in Big Spring, drowned Tuesday at Moss Creek Lake when he apparently slipped from his fishing raft. Wednesday morning, 50 miles on their way home from visiting relatives, Sgt. and Mrs. Dennis J. Bonham, Sterling City Route, were killed when their car overturned near Emporia, Kans. He was traffic controller for the 2050th Communications Squadron.

City commissioners gave their blessing last week to rezoning, which should remove the last legal obstacle to the building of an 88-unit apartment complex on Westover just north of Park Hill Terrace. During the week contract was let for a $60,000 modification of the Masonic (No. 398) building, and ground was broken on a $160,000 addition to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on Wason Road.

The county commissioners court, sitting as a board of equalization, reduced a $2,315,570 increase in Cosden Oil & Chemical values to $1,981,038. The court said that this was in line with a 10 per cent hike on other oil and utility properties. Cosden contended this was too high.

The City of Big Spring got some good news when the carriers of the workmen compensation tion. I came for a nomination." By the end of the week, Hubert Humphrey has had neither. Wilson, Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy, none of the names of the old litany touch off the reverence they once did. Even leaders of the new politics become old overnight.

There sits John Lindsay, mayor of the country's biggest city, now just another delegate with no particular magic. And somewhere on the fringes, floating like a butterfly, stinging like a bee, Gene McCarthy can't find a blossom to light on only four years after he epitomized the whole garden called the new politics. Charisma seems to be as dead as Hamlet or Camelot. Don't charm me, baby. Don't overwhelm me with your poetic insight, your incisive grasp of history. You got any votes?

BOOM, BOOM

There sits Carl Albert, speaker of the United States House of Representatives and chairman of the party's 1968 convention, now well out of it, far from the councils of power and the secret strategy meetings. Now, except for a reporter, he sits alone, stirring his vodka and tonic in the Poodle Bar—or was it the Boom Boom Room?—and he broods about vast change in the country.

"Suddenly, words have grown little legs and they walk around on their own," Mr. Speaker says, and lets it go at that.

Things could change in the next few weeks. The old outs may be invited back in and the young ins may be hidden back among the Xerox machines. Bruised old egos will be coaxed and wooed. But the experts already are certain. George McGovern, they say, doesn't have a chance against Richard Nixon. Especially without Mayor Richard Daley and George Meany, the twin symbols of the big pols and big labor.

WIN OR WAFFLE

Only two items temper the confidence of the experts: the memory of their own predictions that George McGovern didn't have a chance at the nomination and the fact that he won it without the big party sultans and big labor. Still, they may be right. But win, lose or waffle, George McGovern already has made history by winning the presidential nomination of a party more transformed, perhaps, than any other since Andy Jackson took political power from the elite and spread it to the rough, dirty hands of the frontiersmen.

This convention of Democrats has been a study in the shift of power. Only about 60 members of Congress were here; usually one can count a couple of hundred. Eighty per cent of these delegates were at their first convention. In 1968, only 13 per cent of the delegates were women. This year, women totaled 38 per cent and the blacks made up 14 per cent, and people under 25 years of age, 13 per cent and professional politicians, only 10 per cent. What brought them all here?

PROTEST

A profound questioning, across the land, of a "system that seems to dominate Americans rather than serve them," said the keynote, Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida.

"There is indeed a new coalition in this country, a coalition of protest. It includes black and white, young and old, North and South, right and left, some of the rich, most of the poor, and millions of overtaxed and overcharged middle income Americans as well."

Protest, change, militancy, involvement, myriad voices being heard in the land for the first time. Whenever before did a national political convention deal with such personal questions as abortion and the rights of homosexuals?

GET WITH IT

"Puerto Rico casts its seven votes for..." The vote is announced in Spanish.

"Come on now, gang. Let's get with it. Please be seated," says Larry O'Brien, the chairman. Old Sam Rayburn with his Texas imperiousness would have been laughed off the platform of this convention...

FFA SWEETHEART AND NEW PREXY — About 5,000 delegates to this week's state Future Farmers of America convention in Dallas wound up activities Friday with a history-making election of Frederick McClure of San Augustine as state president. McClure, 18, prospective college freshman, is the first black to ever hold the top state post in Texas. The delegates also elected 17-year-old Phyllis Anne Rouse of Weimar as state sweetheart.

Shriners By Thousands In Fort Worth, Dallas

FORT WORTH (AP) — Shriners by the tens of thousands poured into the Fort Worth and Dallas area Saturday, registering for their big national convention starting Monday.

Texas Shriners held sessions during Saturday afternoon. A total of 550 new members were inducted.

In an earlier election, Alvin Jones of Austin was named president of the Texas State Shrine Clow Association whose members visit hospitals and take part in parades. First vice president is Porter Ridenover of Waco and second vice president is Bill Coffee of Waco.

By Monday, about 100,000 Shriners and members of their families are expected to be spread out in hotels, motels and convention sites in Fort Worth and Dallas.

insurance presented a $14,280 check. This was earned by the city's good safe-working record.

In other city business, Rogers Nanny, finance director, said that the city had finished three-fourths of its fiscal year with expenditures only 71.2 per cent of the year's projected total. A few departments showed overruns of $6,600, while others had a $66,000 underrun. An advisory committee on selling Section 17 south of town suggested that the commission take bids on the entire plot, one half or one quarter of it.

The Big Spring Independent School District trustees gave tentative approval to a $6,077,059 budget, largest in history of the district, last week. This is subject to the Aug. 14 public hearing.

Howard County Junior College will receive $13,000 more in state aid on the basis of legislative appropriations. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said last week. This makes the figure $513,000. Incidentally, his successor, Dr. Thomas T. Salter, arrived in town yesterday to spend a couple of weeks learning the ropes from Dr. Hunt before he retires.

County commissioners have given tentative approval for accepting a $24,720 state grant for beefing up the juvenile department. This has a string attached — 25 per cent participation the first year; 50 per cent the second; and 100 per cent assumption the third.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL Wives Admit To Packing Extra Clothing For Trips

By LINDA CROSS
"Get everything packed, load the car (get the kids ready and do whatever necessary with the family menagerie), and we'll leave as soon as I get home."

That's the annual call of the vacationing male to his wife, who is also supposed to go on vacation, but most of her duties go with her.

I forget anything, I can get along without it," she said. "I always take too much. I try to figure out how many days we will be gone and take one suit of clothes for each day. Usually, I don't need that much," said Mrs. Billie Barron.

Wife dutifully packs clothing and sundry needs for the family and either loads the family vehicle or sets it out for husband to load.

"I do all the packing, and Ken loads the car. I put my two cents worth in on that, too. Ken doesn't appreciate the advice," said Mrs. Barbara Lord.

There's another side to the coin. How about Wife packing fishing and other sporting equipment for husband, only to find he never took it out — or only a fraction of it? But that's all right. You never can tell when —

Are women guilty as charged? Most ruefully admit that they do tend to take too much clothing.

"I have a horror of going somewhere and not having enough clothes. Jack always says I take too many clothes," said Mrs. Rachel (Jack) Shaffer.

"If I didn't take care of everything and see that everything is loaded, it just wouldn't get there," said Mrs. Bernice Nail.

"I used to pack for myself, my husband, son and daughter. My son is married now, and my daughter is 18 years old and does her own packing now," added Mrs. Nail. Maybe she takes too many clothes, but she would rather have too many than not enough. What if they stopped at a posh restaurant and had only camping clothes?

"I always take clothes in case we go somewhere special. We never do," said Mrs. McFadin.

"I have the car packed and everything ready to go," said Mrs. Gwen Talley.

"I always take too many clothes for myself, just in case I need them," said Mrs. Talley, who packs for her husband, Robert; son, Joe Bob, 12; and daughter, Janet, 9.

'ONE MORE TIME' Count Basie's Beat Goes On

By ANDY CRAWFORD
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — A recent hit record by Sonny and Cher pretty well describes Count Basie's music. When singing two of the lines, Cher snaps her fingers to the music and wails, "And the beat goes on . . . the beat goes on, and on, and on."

For 37 years, Basie and his big, swinging band have kept the beat. Where others have tried more complicated routines, he's consistently kept his style simple and straightforward.

FAME, FORTUNE

William "Count" Basie has won most of the prestige awards for big band jazz. His records and albums have sold over 25 million copies. In 1961, he played at the inaugural ball of President John F. Kennedy, and later at a Royal Command Performance for the Queen of England. He's even been called "the greatest" from a seemingly unlikely source — former Beatle, Ringo Starr. Many prominent popular singers have enjoyed both fame and fortune working with Basie — both in personal appearances and on records.

Recently, he's been on an extended series of one night concerts with Ella Fitzgerald, another institution in her own time. But there were many more before the incomparable "first lady of song."

MR. FIVE BY FIVE

Included in the original Kansas City Seven jazz group that Basie took over following the death of Bennie Moten in 1935 was the late Jimmy Rushing. Billed as "the original Mr. Five by Five," he literally shouted the blues in an intense, high-pitched way.

"He was fantastic—very creative, and way ahead of his time," Basie recalled with affection. "He really helped give us direction."

Rushing won numerous awards for singing the blues before he left to go on his own in 1950. Among songs usually associated with him while with the band were, "I Want a Little Girl," and Johnny Mercer's "Sent for You Yesterday."

Among other singers through the years were Billie Holiday, Sarah Vaughan, Joe Williams, Billy Eckstine, Tony Bennett and, of course, Frank Sinatra.

NEW LEASE

Basie credits Sinatra with giving the band a new lease on life. They combined for several best-selling record albums and a number of concerts in the mid '60's.

The two formed a mutual admiration society, Sinatra continually complimented Basie for his "undying allegiance to the beat."

"It's my distinct privilege to return the compliment, in trumps," Basie replied.

Among others, Sinatra sang one of Basie's all-time personal favorites, "April in Paris." Although written in the early '30s by Vernon Duke, the song had limited success until jazz organist "Wild Bill" Davis wrote a novel upbeat arrangement.

"We still do that fantastic 'one more time' ending," Basie said. "It brought down the house when we first played it for both Frank and Ella, and it still has the same effect."

One of his other favorites from an earlier era is his own composition, "One O'Clock Jump." Composed in 1937, with able assistance from several band members, "One O'Clock," was the band's first real hit.

It was a big seller as a record, and later became the band's theme song. Basie frequently is asked where he finds young musicians in today's market, since the young seem to be playing "rock" sounds over his type of jazz.

BETTER TRAINED

"Many come straight from colleges and universities," he answers. "And I would like to make one particular point — they're far better trained than were the young musicians I knew 30 to 40 years ago."

In the past, he said, musicians — particularly black ones — were mostly self-taught. They perfected their techniques while on the bandstand.

What kind of future does this 67-year-old gentleman with a direct, contagious sense of humor look forward to. Good!

Says Issue Is Unsolved

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has remanded a case involving the student suspension procedures of the Dallas Independent School District back to a federal district court in Texas.

The appeals court said the lower court should decide whether Jewel Phillips, a black high school student, can continue a suit challenging the Dallas suspension code.

Miss Phillips, who was 16 years old at the time, brought the suit that specifically attacked her suspension for the balance of the school semester that ended June 1.

The district court, which denied a temporary injunction against the suspension of Miss Phillips said she was suspended "for cursing a teacher and assistant principal and for using profane, vulgar, obscene and gutter language."

Crane Planning 45th Anniversary

CRANE — The County Coordinating Council here is sponsoring a "day-long, Texas-size celebration" to honor the oil industry as well as the town's 45th birthday.

Festivities will be Aug. 12. They will be highlighted by a parade, an ice cream freeze-off, an old timers reunion, a barbecue, a beard contest, a beauty contest and a dance.

Further information can be obtained by writing the Crane Co-ordinating Council, Box 667, Crane.

Grandma Named Demo Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Democratic national chairman is Jean Miles Westwood, a 48-year-old grandmother from West Jordan, Utah, and the first woman to head a major political party.

Mrs. Westwood, a principal adviser to Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern, replaces Lawrence F. O'Brien, Sen. McGovern's selection of Mrs. Westwood was unanimously ratified by the Democratic National Committee Friday in Miami Beach, Fla.

BLACK VEEP The committee, in another precedent-setting move, selected Basil Paterson of Harlem, N.Y., as vice chairman. Paterson, 45, a former state senator, is the first black to be picked for such a top post in a national party.

McGovern's choice for the vice-chairmanship was Pierre Salinger, a campaign adviser and former White House press secretary, who withdrew from contention after black Democrats from Mississippi nominated Paterson. While originally endorsing Salinger, McGovern said after Paterson was nominated that either man would be acceptable to him.

O'Brien, who held the chairmanship for 2 1/2 years, had led the presidential campaigns of Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964 and Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968. He was postmaster general under Johnson after being in charge of congressional liaison during the John F. Kennedy administration.

RESPECT

McGovern said he tried to persuade O'Brien to remain on the job but that O'Brien refused because of personal reasons. "I respect his wishes," McGovern said, "I regret it but I respect it."

But other sources said O'Brien and McGovern met privately, and that O'Brien said at one point that he would reconsider the decision to leave the post. These sources added that McGovern replied he would have to further consider, and O'Brien then said he would revert to his original position and leave the chairmanship.

Mrs. Westwood's active political work began in 1954 when she became a voter district vice chairman. She made an unsuccessful bid in 1964 to become a national committeewoman from Utah. She was appointed to the position in 1968 and later, as elected to full term.

Mrs. Westwood served as co-chairman of McGovern's presidential campaign organization.

Paterson was the first black to run for statewide office in New York when in 1970 he was the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. Paterson is a new member of the Democratic National Committee.

Juvenile Dept. On Agenda

Further discussion on the Criminal Justice Council grant for the Howard County Juvenile Probation Department is slated for 10 a.m. Monday in county commissioners court.

At their last meeting, commissioners approved a resolution obligating the county to increased financial support for the juvenile department as the state grant lessened over a three-year span.

The grant and the action on the part of commissioners is to help finance the cost of hiring a female juvenile officer and a full-time secretary for his department, according to Keith Jones, juvenile officer.

Additional agenda, items for Monday's meeting are the weekly 9 a.m. conference with Marvin Hanson, acting road and bridge administrator, and the approval of the county's bills for payment.

Rehearing Denied

The Eleventh District Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland has denied a motion for a rehearing in the case of Fort Worth National Bank et al versus Jonisue Cogdell Brown Stiff, et al. The case was appealed from Scurry County by the bank and was affirmed by the appeals court.

'RESPECT FOR THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS IS PEACE'

Benito Juarez: He Lives In The Hearts Of Mexicans

By WILLIAM GIANDONI
Copy News Service

"Respect for the rights of others is peace."

Those eight words are the essence of what is known as "the apothegm of Juarez." Benito Juarez, probably the most revered president in Mexico's history.

Those words, "El respeto al derecho ajeno es la paz," sum up the philosophy of a man whose memory Mexico is honoring this year.

The words constitute the moral principle on which the government of the Mexican United States bases its plans of action at home and abroad.

Benito Juarez, president of Mexico from 1858 to July 18, 1872, when he died in office, was an extraordinary man, even his historical critics admit.

ZAPOTEC INDIAN

He was a full-blooded Zapotec Indian, born March 21, 1806, in San Pablo Guelatao, a village in the southeastern state of Oaxaca. Orphaned at age three, he went to work for a Franciscan lay brother in the state capital when he was 12 and there obtained a basic education. He studied Latin and moral theology, with an eye on the priesthood, but turned to law and was successful enough in his practice to be elected to the Mexican Congress. Then came a term as governor of Oaxaca.

In 1853, the dictator, Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, jailed him and then banished him from Mexico. Juarez lived and worked for a time in New Orleans before returning home in 1855 to join the government that had turned Santa Anna out.

CIVIL WAR

In the confused civil war that broke out over the democratic constitution in 1857, Juarez, the liberal, one of the two men then claiming the Mexican presidency, lost most of the early battles. But, by the end of 1860, his forces finally occupied Mexico City.

By then, Mexico, the nation and its government, were impoverished. For one thing, the Reform Laws, which nationalized all church property, stripping the church of its wealth, produced only $2 million for the treasury. What historian Ernest Gruening calls "the discrepancy between the value of the church's real estate and the amount secured by its conversion" remains unexplained to this day.

Juarez' troubles were not over. With Mexico broke, he ordered suspension of payment on the foreign debt, and Spain, France and England retaliated by landing expeditionary forces in Veracruz in January, 1862. The United States, embroiled in its own civil war, could offer Mexico not much more than its sympathy.

Juarez and his government were forced to abandon Mexico City, again in June, 1863, when the French forces took the capital. But they fought on, in the manner of guerrillas.

NO PUPPET

The Conservatives, meanwhile, made a pact with Napoleon III who convinced Archduke Maximilian of Hapsburg that the Mexican people wanted him as "emperor of Mexico."

Maximilian arrived in 1864, but turned out not to be the puppet that the Conservatives, the landowners, generals and hierarchy, and the French themselves thought they had installed in power. The emperor was quite liberal, to the point that he confirmed the Reform Laws in 1865.

That lessened enthusiasm for him in Mexico, and the withdrawal of Napoleon's troops marked the beginning of Maximilian's end. His troops were beaten by Juarez' forces under Gen. Porfirio Diaz' command in 1867 at Queretaro.

By then, of course, Juarez' presidential term had expired and he sought and obtained reelection. Many Liberals, themselves anxious for a chance at the office, were disgruntled. Aging and ailing, he undertook the task of reconstruction in Mexico.

As Juarez had written, though, "When a society like ours has had the misfortune to pass through years of internal upheavals, it is seamed through with vices whose profound roots cannot be extirpated either in a single day nor by any single measure."

He might have added, in any single presidential term, not even his own, from 1867 to 1871. For when his first relatively peaceful term ended his work was not done.

Juarez ran again, and was elected, defeating two of the men who had helped him over the years, Sebastian Lerdo de Tejada and Gen. Porfirio Diaz. Diaz rose in arms behind the "no re-election" banner but was defeated by government forces.

SUFFRAGE

Time ran out, though, and Juarez, probably the greatest statesman Mexico has produced, passed away a few months later. July 18, 1872.

Lerdo de Tejada, the vice president, took over the reins of government and served until November, 1876, when, after Lerdo's re-election, Diaz again championed the cause of "effective suffrage and no re-election," overturned the government and set up a dictatorship that lasted almost 35 years, until 1911.

While Juarez may not really have triumphed decisively in life, he did win a place for himself in the hearts and history of Mexico.

Even today, a century later, no one challenges his words: "Respect for the rights of others is peace."

Mesa Verde Fire Danger 'Extreme'

CORTEZ, Colo. (AP) — A "very extreme" forest fire was brought under control late Saturday morning in Mesa Verde National Park after burning through 2,800 acres of juniper, pine and oak brush, National Park Service officials said.

The blaze had burned within a mile of ancient Indian cliff dwellings before it was contained. But park officials warned the fire danger still was

The park entrance, which had been closed to tourists since Friday morning, was expected to be reopened later Saturday, but officials said the park campground would remain closed until further notice.

Ranger Ron Meyers said firefighters were able to nearly contain the blaze Friday despite wind gusts up to 40 miles an hour.

Datamate Sale To Await Action Of Stockholders

The proposed merger of Datamate Computer Systems, Inc. to Jeffco Steel Fabricators, Inc. of Denver, Colo. awaits stockholder approval.

George A. McAlister Jr., Datamate president, said there were some matters still to be negotiated although an agreement has been reached in the principal for sale of 2.7 million shares by McAlister and eight other stockholders to Jeffco.

The final arrangement then would await the blessing of owners of the balance of the 4.9 million shares outstanding.

As previously indicated, Jeffco is expected to liquidate the computer manufacture operations here and use Datamate corporate structure for going public with its own business activities.

Last year, McAlister recalled, the decision had been made to diversify Datamate.

"Although there was an improvement in sales and a decrease in operating loss in 1971 over 1970," said the president in the annual statement to stockholders, "Datamate did not strengthen its position in the computer market."

Bucking the giants with unlimited capital and nationwide marketing outlets in the highly competitive computer field, would, in McAlister's opinion "give little hope for future profitability."

If the transaction goes through, McAlister and associates will retain 300,000 shares and he will continue on the Datamate board.

The balance sheet shows Datamate with assets of $779,697, of which $412,120 are in liquid assets and the balance in property, machinery, equipment etc.

Vacuum Rescues Newborn Puppies

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — How do you get five squirming newborn puppies out of the bottom of an eight-foot-deep drain pipe three inches in diameter?

Seven men at an alcoholic rehabilitation center here learned after six hours of effort that the best way is to use a vacuum cleaner hose.

The men tried snares, and that didn't work.

The pups, about six inches long, spent the first night after their birth at the bottom of the pipe.

After a tongue cleanup by their mother, Rescue, a brown and white terrier mongrel, the puppies appeared no worse for their ordeal.

COUNTY'S REPRESENTATIVE IN 4-H HORSE SHOW
Dale Mitchel, 16, Coahoma, one of 500 expected

Rep. Rosson Says Area Has Problem

Signs of what West Texas is up against in the legislature cropped up in the special session just ended, in the view of Rep. Renal Rosson, Snyder.

The session, however, accomplished its purpose and he said that he was pleased that the "appropriations bill provided adequate financing without additional taxes being levied. This has been my goal for some time."

"Many of the issues heard during the debate (during the session) involved the urban versus rural point of view," he noted. Again it is emphasized

McGovern, Abel Split Is Narrow

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The cleavage between United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel and Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern probably is narrow and will close during the election campaign, two district steelworker officials predict.

"We can't afford Nixon for another four years," said John Johns, director of USW Central Ohio District 27, with a membership of 44,000.

"When coolness finally prevails," said Joseph Odercich, director of the 60,000-member District 15 in western Pennsylvania, "there is no other way we can go" than with McGovern.

The two officials made the comments Friday at a union district conference. They also made clear scars that scars from the rift between McGovern and Abel will take time to disappear.

"There's no question that McGovern leaves a little to be desired in his record of voting on labor issues," Odercich said.

Abel, in an address this week to the Democratic National Convention and later to Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp, said:

"There is no chance I will work for McGovern. I don't like his labor record."

Johns and Odercich indicated that Abel's remarks were meant to show McGovern, the convention and the general public that labor will not be taken for granted and that McGovern will have to temper some of his policies to reflect labor interests.

Odessa Concern Has NM Oil Find

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — The Odessa Natural Corp., a subsidiary of El Paso Natural Gas Co., says it has discovered both oil and gas on its leases on the W-S ranch in northwestern New Mexico.

John Davis, manager of exploration for Odessa Natural, asked Friday if the firm's exploration on the ranch produced oil or gas, said, "We've found both, but I can't tell you how much."

Davis also said one of the exploratory wells produced water. He refused to say whether the strike was substantial, but confirmed that the company definitely will continue drilling on the ranch.

The W-S, or Vermejo, Ranch currently is up for sale for an estimated $26 million. A bill is being considered in Congress to purchase the land and place it under U.S. Forest Service control.

how finely balanced the line is in the present House with the balance already being to the urban areas and with a much stronger wing of weight to the larger cities in the next session as a result of redistricting.

"About 14 seats now held by members considered rural will shift to the urban areas in 1973. An example is seen most prominently in the Houston area where only 10 or 12 years ago it had 10 House members and only one senator. In 1973, it will have 24 House members out of 150 seats, and control five of the 31 senators. Incidentally, we consider Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Abilene, San Angelo and Midland-Odessa as part of the rural representation."

How this affects legislative attitudes was demonstrated by a proposal to take one-half of the predatory control funds and transfer it to rodent control, in which cities are the prime beneficiaries, he observed. Rep. Rosson said he and others opposed this move but fell short in committee by four votes. In conference committee, they were able to have the predatory control funds restored.

There is one encouraging development, he felt, in recently enacted rules allowing limited seniority to members in committee appointments. West Texas membership continues to be far more stable than that of urban areas which are subject to constant and often rapid turnover. Still "it appears that for us it is a hard fight with a short stick, but we can only hope our urban friends will understand and be receptive to our problems."

Because the governor opened the session only to budget matters, Rep. Rosson said he was unable to gain introduction to legislation which would revise the trailer brake and light measure passed during the last session. The same was true for an attempt to gain exemption of flight schools and instructors from being subject to the proprietary school act.

Dale Mitchel Is Entered In 4-H Show

About 500 of the state's premiere Junior Horsemen will compete in the 10th Annual State 4-H Horse Show, Wednesday through Saturday, in the Joe Freeman Coliseum in San Antonio.

The 4-H boys and girls will represent the 13 Extension Districts. Included will be the top 20 individuals in each district who will compete in the regular events as well as other 4-H'ers who will compete in open invitational events.

Representing the Howard County 4-H Clubs will be Dale Mitchel, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mitchel of Coahoma.

Dale placed second at the district horse show in pole bending to qualify. She also ran the barrels.

She has been a member of the Coahoma 4-H Club for five years. Her activities at Coahoma High School where she is a junior include basketball, track, Rodeo Club, F.H.A. and band.

Dale was the All-Around Cow Girl at the Galt Junior RODEO in the 16-19 age group. She will also be participating in the 27th Annual Howard County 4-H sponsored Junior Rodeo on July 27, 28, and 29.

EFFORT TO KEEP SHOE PRICES DOWN

Place Controls On Cattle Hides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration imposed a ceiling on U.S. cattle hide exports today with the aim of holding down rising prices for shoes and other leather goods.

VERY HIGH

Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson announced he is setting the hide export levels at last year's rate of 16 million hides—a rate he termed "very high by any standard."

And he said the curb on shipments on U.S. hides abroad would be carried out through an export ticket system which will avoid the windfall profits for exporters or foreign buyers.

Peterson, at a news conference, said inflationary pressure has developed on cattle hide prices because demand is exceeding supply. He said hides which used to average 14 cents a pound by last week had climbed to an historic high of 29.79 cents a pound.

Higher prices and shorter supplies result in higher leather prices and higher prices for leather products, principally leather shoes, the Commerce secretary told newsmen.

CONSUMERS HIDE

"These higher prices come out of the American consumers' hide," he said.

The new action was billed as temporary until the market pressure on hides eases, but Peterson declined to predict just when the export control might be lifted.

The program, he noted, envisages hide export tickets being required at least until November. He left open what the situation might be thereafter.

The Commerce secretary also avoided any hard-and-fast forecast about the future effect on shoes and meat prices.

"We believe it will result in a reduction in the price of American-made shoes," he said. But he also said, "There isn't any possible way" he could predict just what the price results would be on shoes and meat.

Other officials told newsmen that shoes would be going up less in price than they would without the export limitation on hides.

UNFAIR

They said shoes have gone up one per cent price-wise since January, and that a further price hike of between three and ten per cent had been forecast by this fall in the absence of a cost curb action.

Peterson said the limitations on hide shipments abroad will be administered through an export ticket arrangement superior to what he termed the "chaotic and unfair" system used for hide export controls in 1966.

Board May Talk About Odor As Well As Water Quality

By CHARLES TEAGUE
When representatives from the City of Big Spring go before the Texas Water Quality Board in Austin July 25, they will hear some more about sewer plant odors.

Officials have received a letter from Hugh Yantis Jr., chairman of the board, indicating that he did not think the city had done all it could do about the problem. City officials, however, noted that some of the points he brought up had been corrected and that the nuisance was on the decline.

Yantis referred to a June 7 hearing here attended by 30 citizens in the lower College Parks area, which is in proximity to the treatment plant. Yantis said board agents had inspected the plant again July 5 and July 11.

STILL SOURCES
"Both inspections revealed that, although an odor abatement program is in use at the plant and new odor controls have recently been enacted, there are still sources of odors, which if given the proper attention, would result in further over-all odor reduction in the area of the plant," he said.

"One source of odors is definitely the three sludge lagoons at the plant site. Another is due to the fact that digester gases are not ignited before they are released to the atmosphere."

"At the July 25 hearing in Austin, the City should be prepared to discuss the odor abatement program presently in effect at the city's sewage treatment plant and, additionally, to present any plans for improving this program to eliminate or minimize any existing sources of odors," he added. In the meantime, he suggested the city should make every effort to locate specific sources of odors and determine which sources are controllable and excessive.

PROBLEM DECLINES
City Manager Harry Nagel said that he probably will represent the city at the board meeting. He said that the odor problem within the sewerage is presently on the decline.

Igniters have been installed to burn the gases which for merly escaped from the digesters, according to Bill Brown, Superintendent of Water and Sewer. The primary cause of odor was caused a number of months before, when the digesters were drained.

Drainage was required because of bacterial process inhibitors. Among the inhibitors are salts of heavy metals, primarily chromium, which occur in industrial and residential waste. Chromium reacts within a sewage treatment plant much the way lead reacts with the human body.

BACTERIA THREATENED
Without the presence of living algae, bacteria and protozoa, the $750,000 sewage treatment facility would be useless. This living process accumulates and retains chromium and other heavy metals until the content reaches a lethal level, thus threatening a stall out of the process. The human body will accumulate and retain lead or mercury, also, until the content level becomes lethal.)

The second inhibitor is salt water. The salt water in concentration strikes a digestive system, human or sewerage, a crippling blow. The source of the salt water can be controlled. The source of the chromium salts will be ever present, said Nagel.

SOAKED IN BRINE
Sewer lines in the low valley north of Second Street and along the Texas & Pacific railroad tracks are lying in water just below the surface — and this water is highly salty. It's the same as in the salt lake west of Big Spring, and it gets into the sewer lines at the joints. That plays havoc with treatment processes at the plant.

Denies Charges 12 Pickets At Plant Run Down By Cars

FREEMONT, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman for the struck Dow Chemical plant here labeled as "preposterous" Saturday a charge by the president of the Texas AFL-CIO that union picketers at the plant have been run down by automobiles.

Roy Evans, state AFL-CIO president, said Friday in Austin at least 12 union picketers had been run down by cars and in one case "the driver was directed into the crowd of pickets by a Dow security officer."

DRASTIC ACTION
Evans also claimed that peace officers are ignoring union members' complaints "that our people are in danger while they carry on a legal strike for justice."

Evans threatened "drastic legal action" and an appeal "to Gov. Preston Smith for assistance" unless lawmen act by Monday "to take proper action to protect these citizens."

T. B. Crow and C. D. Kenmore, officials of two of the eight unions that struck the plant June 23, said "strikebreakers, including out of state professionals, are confronting our people with pistols, rifles and ax handles and are running us down in their cars."

Jim Cope, manager of Dow's public relations department, called the charges "preposterous."

He said he investigated the complaint that a Dow guard directed a car into a group of pickets.

Cope said he was told a woman demonstrator jumped onto the hood of a car entering the plant and that the car moved a few feet before stopping.

SLID FROM HOOD
"This woman demonstrator slid from the hood and into the arms of a Dow security officer," Cope said. "It is unbelievable that anyone could say the driver directed the car into a crowd."

Brazoria County Sheriff Robert Gladney said enough tacks and nails have been scattered at plant entrances "to build two or three houses."

The sheriff said his deputies have investigated "five or six cases where people have been bumped with automobiles and five or six cases where picket signs have gone through car windshields."

The eight striking unions have about 3,400 members. Dow has continued operating the plant. The unions claim two of the prime issues behind the strike are on alleged attempt by Dow to use outside contractors to do work usually done by union members and an alleged Dow attempt to break up union craft classifications.

EPA Hearing Set Monday

HOUSTON (AP) — An Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) hearing on proposed federal regulations to remedy defects in a Texas master plan to control air pollution will be held here Monday.

The hearings for the entire state will be conducted by Dr. Cooper Wayman, regional counsel for the EPA.

Recently the EPA ruled that there were deficiencies in four sections of the Texas plan. The deficiencies involved making emissions data available to the public, control strategy on hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxides and surveillance of pollution sources.

A substitute federal regulation on nitrogen oxides is expected to be the most controversial at the hearing.

McGovern: Where He Stands

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — George McGovern started the long road from small-state senator to presidential nominee armed with a single major issue: opposition to the Vietnam war.

But as the South Dakotan developed into a major candidate, he broadened his approach by programming stands on a major reduction in military spending and serious reforms in welfare and taxes.

Here, briefly, are the issues McGovern will be using in his fight against President Nixon:

VIETNAM

McGovern considers the conflict a Vietnamese civil war in which the United States never should have become involved, even though the Soviets and Chinese are supplying the North with arms.

On his inauguration day, McGovern says, he will halt all U.S. bombing in Southeast Asia, set "a definite date for withdrawal of all American forces within 90 days time of the inaugural . . . Simultaneously I would announce the termination of all military aid to the governments of Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam."

McGovern says he will take those actions without assurances that U.S. prisoners of war would be returned, but said his moves "would trigger the release of our prisoners."

Otherwise, McGovern has said, "I would go to Hanoi and beg, if I thought that would release the boys one day earlier." He said "begging is better than bombing."

CHINA, RUSSIA, CUBA

"Personally, I applaud" Nixon's "trip to Peking . . . and his efforts in Moscow."

McGovern also favors re-establishment of diplomatic relations with Cuba. It could begin "by inviting Castro or some designated person to Washington, or vice versa."

MIDDLE EAST

"We have an obligation to furnish Israel the advanced aircraft and other equipment necessary to prevent attack . . . It should be an ongoing commitment, based solely on the military requirements of the day."

McGovern also says that it is a thousand-in-one situation but "if it were necessary to save Israel I would, without question," commit U.S. forces "here. By making it clear to the Arabs and their Soviet allies "that we're going to back the state of Israel, you head off the possibility" of World War III erupting over the Mideast.

ECONOMY

The Democratic candidate has sponsored legislation to assist with economic conversion of U.S. private industry from production of military-related goods to civilian goods and services.

The bill, among other things, requires that part of the profits U.S. companies earn on military, space and atomic energy contracts be used as benefits to workers whose work weeks have been shortened or jobs eliminated due to cuts in military spending. It also offers an incentive to employers to plan for the transfer of their workers to civilian production.

TAX REFORM

McGovern also has urged substantial increases in government-financed public service employment programs and aid to private industry "to meet the nation's needs for housing, public transit, environmental protection" and other needs.

A major McGovern campaign issue is tax reform to close loopholes he says allow many big corporations and rich people to avoid taxes at the expense of middle-income working families.

His specific proposals include: Elimination of the investment tax credit for business; a tax rate on gifts and inheritances graduated up to 77 per cent when the value is $500,000 or more; a reduction in local property taxes by increasing the federal share of financing elementary and secondary education; a minimum income tax.

He has also said he wants to phase out depletion allowances on oil and other products.

WELFARE

One of McGovern's most controversial proposals, the candidate's plan for redistribution of income, will guarantee every American a minimum annual allowance. It would be in the form of cash grants to those below a certain income level and in the form of tax credits. Like other income, this will be taxable.

McGovern stresses that his welfare reform plan would work only in tandem with tax reform.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

McGovern proposes cutting defense spending to $54.8 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1974—down from a projected $87.3 billion for the same year under the Nixon administration.

Under his proposal, McGovern says, the U.S. military would "be built on muscle instead of fat," with expenditures that are "necessary for a prudent national defense and no more."

It envisions a total end to U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war; a withdrawal of all U.S. land forces in Korea and throughout the Far East; a reduction in total military manpower from 2.4 million men to 1.7 million, a reduction in the number of U.S. troops stationed in Europe from 300,000 to 130,000, regardless of whether there is a similar withdrawal of Communist troops.

It also envisions reducing from 22 to 16 the number of air wings stationed in Europe; a decrease in B52 and FB111 bombers from 520 to 200; retention of the 1,000 Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles in hardened silos in the United States, but elimination of the 54 larger and older Titan ICBMs; termination of development and production of the B1 strategic bomber, the F14 and F15 fighter planes, and the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

ABORTION

McGovern repeatedly says his position is to leave abortion laws for each state. "I would veto legislation that had to do with setting aside state jurisdiction in this field."

But, in the same interview, McGovern did say "I think perhaps some of the laws are too restrictive," and he suggested at another time that he viewed abortion as a matter between a woman and her doctor.

"Equal opportunity is not a privilege," McGovern says. "It is the right of every American, whatever his color or birth or neighborhood."

He proposes eliminating the need for property taxes to finance elementary and secondary education by boosting the federal financial share from 7 per cent to 33 per cent. He says that would amount to $15 billion per year immediately and $24 billion by 1976.

CRIME

McGovern rarely discusses lawlessness without citing what he terms the "social roots of crime"—bad housing, inadequate education, poor nutrition, and penal institutions that only spawn more crime. Under President Nixon, he said, this "harder constructive task has been largely avoided."

McGovern's positions: appointment of "someone like" former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to head the Justice Department; an end to preventive detention, expanded wiretapping, no-knock searches and mandatory minimum sentences. However, McGovern's literature says he favors "stronger penalties for the use of guns in violent crime."

GUN CONTROL

McGovern says he favors "a complete outlawing of these little handguns—these so-called "Saturday night specials." But "there is no need for further restrictions on the long guns . . . that are used for sporting purposes."

Break It Up

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

"VERY CLOSE": (Q) I am going with Guy, and have been for about five months. I love him a lot. We have a very close relationship, like we are married. But now we are on the border of breaking up.

One reason is that even though I love Guy I still have strong feelings for my first love, Jerry. We broke up almost a year ago. I know I will always feel something for him, and he's been asking me to go out with him and see if we can make it together again. — 16 in Maryland.

(A) You use no exact words, but I get the impression that you are very close physically to Guy — but not so close emotionally. This is a dangerous situation at any time. It is very dangerous for an unmarried 16-year-old girl.

Break up with Guy. Date Jerry again if you wish. But also date other boys. In your present state of indecision, you should be doing more looking around and less narrowing down. And you should beware of getting in too deep physically with any boy.

HAPPY: (Q) My never long are very hairy on the inside. The hair is dark. I am awfully ashamed of it. My mother says I mustn't shave it, so all I can do is hide it. I am tired of doing that. What else can I do — 13 in Minnesota.

(A) Many girls and women find that shaving the dark hair on their upper legs is the only satisfactory answer in this day of shorts and swim suits and bikinis and very brief dresses. Talk to your mother. Tell her that shaving is routine for girls with your problem and does no harm. Some of your girl friends probably do it regularly.

EARLY: (Q) I am not quite 11 but I already need a bra. I am afraid to try one, though. If my mother finds out I have one, I will really be in trouble. — Not a Teen Yet in Texas.

(A) As I have explained many times, the need for a bra does not arise at a specific age. Some 10-year-old girls should wear bras, some 14-year-old girls do not really need them. If you really need one, do not buy it on the sneak. Tell your mother, and ask her to take

Work On Lodge To Start Soon

Work will start soon on an extensive addition to the Masonic Lodge No. 598 property at 208 Main.

Kasch Bros. submitted the low bid of $58,600 for construction and remodeling. Two other bids were submitted and ranged to a high of $64,440.

The basement and first floor level will be occupied by Gary & Honertz, architects, who have designed and will supervise the work.

The second floor, which will be connected with the ground floor by elevator, will be made into a large dining room and will join the present kitchen facilities. The entrance to Gary & Honertz will be recessed, and the elevator will be on the north side of the entry so that it is accessible from the sidewalk.

The contract calls for completion of the job within 160 days. Bernard's Bootery, present occupant of the ground floor space, will move across the street.

Sports Movies

By DON COOPER
Herald Sports Editor

Recently, one of the movies on the late show was "The Babe Ruth Story." The movie was filmed in the early 1950's, and starred the late William Bendix as George Herman Ruth.

Bendix, who played bumbling Chester A. Riley in the popular television series "The Life of Riley," was not believable as the number one home run hitter in baseball history.

"The Babe Ruth Story" was lousy. Actually, the movie was fairly typical of most movies about sports and sports figures. I have seen several movies which were either filmed biographies of sports celebrities or were sports-related. Also, I can only think of three that I really enjoyed.

Oddly enough, these three movies were all biographies. The three were "Pride of the Yankees," "Fear Strikes Out" and "Brian's Song."

"Pride of the Yankees" was the story of Lou Gehrig, the "Iron Horse" of the New York Yankees. Gary Cooper played Gehrig in the film. The movie dealt with the career of the Hall of Fame first baseman, who set the major league record for consecutive games played. Gehrig saw his streak ended at 2,130 games by a crippling disease. He died only two years after retiring from baseball.

The movie was very good as it displayed the emotional effect on Gehrig as he realized that his career was ended. "Pride of the Yankees" was not only one of the best sports movies ever made, it was also one of the best acting performances in Cooper's film career.

"Fear Strikes Out" dealt with the nervous breakdown — and subsequent cure — of Boston Red Sox outfielder Jimmy Piersall. Anthony Perkins was outstanding as the fear-ridden Piersall.

"Fear Strikes Out" would have been an outstanding movie without the connection to sports. The hero, who suffered a complete nervous breakdown, just happened to be a major league baseball player. The filmed story of a young man driven by mental anguish to the brink of insanity was superb.

Last fall, ABC showed a made-for-TV movie, "Brian's Song." The movie was about the deep inter-racial friendship of Chicago Bear football players Brian Piccolo and Gale Sayers.

Piccolo, who died of cancer in 1969 at the age of 25, and Sayers, the superstar running back, were roommates with the team. The two were the first black-white roommates in the National Football League. The movie showed the development of their relationship from training camp as rookies to the death of Piccolo a short five years later.

James Caan (lately of "The Godfather") and Billy Williams were outstanding in their roles as Piccolo and Sayers. The movie was so well-received and such a critical success, ABC plans to show it again this fall.

These three movies were outstanding films. Perhaps one reason for their excellence was the dependence on plot rather than on action. The heroes in the movies could have been in other fields — they just happened to be athletes. Their athletic prowess was second to their emotions.

Unfortunately, these three were unique. Many other sports-oriented movies have been abysmal failures.

"Knute Rockne" brought fame to Gov. Ronald Reagan. Reagen played the George Gipp — the "Gipper" — that Notre Dame is supposed to win one for — in the film. Gipp died in the movie. So did the movie.

Burt Lancaster became the famous Carlisle Indian for "Jim Thorpe — All-American." Lancaster's famous teeth sparkled throughout the movie. Unfortunately, they were the only things about the movie that sparkled. It was terrible.

"Pride of St. Louis" starred Dan Dailey as Dizzy Dean. The movie was strictly minor league.

Although Hollywood hasn't fared too well in the realm of sports, many sports personalities haven't done much better in the cinema world.

Johnny Weismuller left the competition as a leading swimmer to go before the cameras as Tarzan. He swung through the jungles for several years as the Ape-Man. The Weismuller-"Tarzan" movies were the best movies made about the jungle man. However, Weismuller never displayed as much skill before the cameras as he did in the water.

Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris made a forgettable movie called "Safe at Home" in 1961. The movie died a quick and unlamented death.

More recently, Matt Henry left his job as linebacker for the San Francisco 49ers to become Tarzan. He lasted one movie, leaving when Cheetah bit him. The critics applauded Cheetah.

Fullback Jim Brown left the Cleveland Browns and embarked on an acting career. He's appeared in such movies as "Rio Conchos," "Dirty Dozen" and "100 Rifles" since leaving football. His performances have been improving; however, he's still on the taxi squad as an actor.

Joe Namath left little to be desired as a quarterback when he led the New York Jets to a Super Bowl championship. He left much to be desired as an actor in "Norwood," "C. C. Rider and Co." and "Last Rebel."

For some odd reason, the film world and the sports world have not been able to get together consistently. For every good sports movie, there are 10 bad ones. Maybe someday, there will be more consistency. I hope so. I've always wanted to see Hollywood make "The Ted Williams Story."

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 16, 1972 SEC. B

Lee Trevino Captures British Open; Thwarts Nicklaus' Bid For Slam

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Lee Trevino, shaking off the choking pressure applied by Jack Nicklaus in an incredible bid for victory, sank a saving 30-foot chip shot and won the British Open Golf Championship Saturday.

Nicklaus saw his dream of a first-ever Grand Slam vanish as his course record-equaling 66 fell one stroke short of Trevino. Trevino scored his second straight British Open victory — the first man since Arnold Palmer in 1961-62 to do so — with an up-and-down round of 71 for a 72-hole total of 278, six under par, on the 6,892-yard Muirfield links on the Scottish Moors.

Nicklaus, starting the day six strokes back of Trevino, birdied six of the first 11 holes and gained a share of the lead with Trevino and Tony Jacklin.

But the 32-year-old Nicklaus bogeyed the 16th and lost his chance for a Grand Slam of the U.S. and British Opens, Masters and American PGA, when Trevino canned his pressure chip. Nicklaus already had won the Masters and U.S. Open.

Jacklin, the 26-year-old Englishman who won this crown in 1969, finished bogey-bogey, to drop from a share of the top pot to third with a 72-280. Veteran Doug Sanders was next with a 70-281 and was followed by Brian Barnes of England, 71-283 and Gary Player of South Africa, 67-285.

"I'm the greatest chipper in the world," Trevino told a friend after he chipped in from ankle-deep rough on the par 5 17th for a par that saved the day for the defending champion.

The lead fluctuated before a gallery of almost 20,000 — including Princess Margaret — on the links just south of the Firth of Forth.

Trevino and Jacklin, in the final twosome, were playing the 17th, while Nicklaus was working on the very difficult 18th, a long par 4.

At that stage Trevino and Jacklin were tied for the lead at six under and Nicklaus, who had dropped out of a share of the top spot with a bogey on the par 3 16th, was five under.

Jacklin drove into perfect position and the 32-year-old Trevino, who last year captured the imagination of the world with his rags-to-riches success in three national opens, put his tee shot in the deep bunker.

Trevino, a Dallas-born product of Mexican heritage, collapsed against the side of the bunker after bulldozing his way out.

IT'S MINE AGAIN — Lee Trevino, USA, kisses the British Open Golf Championship trophy after he won the title for the second year running at Muirfield, Scotland, today.

SEASON HIGH

Phillies Belt Giants, 11-4

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies scored a season high 11 runs in the seventh inning to belt the San Francisco Giants 11-4 Saturday in a National League game.

The Phillies sent 15 batters to the plate in the inning which lasted 48 minutes. The Giants used five pitchers in the frame.

Willie Montanez scored two runs in the big inning and drove in two with a double. Oscar Gamble also scored two runs in the inning and drove in two others with a triple.

The Giants took a 4-0 lead into the seventh with Frank Reberger breezing along on a two-hitter.

But he walked leadoff man Montanez and gave up a single to Don Money. He was replaced by Don McMahon, the losing pitcher, who didn't retire any of the three batters he faced. Jerry Johnson and Randy Moffat also were rapped by the Phillies before Don Carrithers struck out Roger Freed to end the inning.

The victory went to Darrell Brandon who took over for starter Steve Carlton in the sixth.

District Tourney To Start Monday

Eleven teams, seven from Midland and four from Big Spring, will be representing 2,340 Little Leaguers when the District Three tourney is played here beginning Monday.

Ten games will be played through July 27 at the American League Park on the eastern edge of the Howard County Junior College campus with the championship game coming on the 27th.

The teams entered are the American, International, National and Texas Leagues from Big Spring. From Midland, there are the Northern, Northwestern, Southern, Tower, North Central, Eastern and Western Leagues.

The winner of this tournament will advance to the bi-district game, which will be played in Big Spring on Aug 1 against the District Four champion from the Fort Stockton, Pecos and El Paso area.

The state tournament, the regional tournament and the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa., follow that one.

Each team participating here will have 14 players and two to four alternates. The coach of the squad will generally come from the team that won the championship in the league. Players must not be younger than 11 and must not be older than 12 by Aug. 1. Most of the participants will be in their last season of Little League.

Umpires will be working on a volunteer basis. They were paid for work in the regular season but said they will work for free in the tournament.

Attending the games Friday and Saturday will be Jan Cochran, Texas State Little League Headquarters Coordinator, District Administrator Jack Barber has been trying to get her to come to the tournament for some time, and she consented to come Friday. Barber hopes to convince her to allow a regional tournament to be played here next year.

Here are the first round games. All contests are played at 8 p.m., and no games are played on Sunday.

July 17 — Texas (Big Spring) vs Northern (Midland)
July 18 — International (Big Spring) vs Northwestern (Midland)
July 19 — Southern (Midland) vs National (Big Spring)
July 20 — Tower (Midland) vs American (Big Spring)
July 21 — North Central (Midland) vs Eastern (Midland)
Western (Midland), bye.

TREVINO WINS OPEN — Lee Trevino throws his hat in the air on the 18th hole, after he won the British Open Golf Tournament championship Saturday. His caddy, Willy Aitchison, comes forward to congratulate Trevino for successfully defending his British Open championship. Trevino's win thwarted Jack Nicklaus' bid for golf's grand slam.

PAGAN, STARGELL HOMER Pirates Pound Astros, 5-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Stargell and Jose Pagan cracked home runs to back the four-hit pitching of Dock Ellis and reliever Dave Giusti, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-1 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday in a nationally televised baseball game.

Houston jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first on a walk and Lee May's double to right-center. But Pittsburgh responded with a run in its half of the inning on a single by Gene Clines, Vic Davalillo's double and a sacrifice fly by Al Oliver.

The Pirates seized the lead for good in the third off loser Ken Forsch when Davalillo singled and Stargell followed with his 18th home run of the season, a 400-foot belt into the rightfield seats.

Pittsburgh raised the lead to 4-1 the next inning after Gene Alley doubled down the leftfield line and scored when a pop to right bounced past the diving Jim Wynn for a triple.

In the seventh inning Jose Pagan pinch-hit for Ellis and cracked Forsch's first pitch over the leftfield seats for his third home run of the season.

COLBERT, JOHNSON

Two Share Milwaukee Lead

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Colbert, seeking his second tour victory and first in three years, and erratic George Johnson, each fired two-under-par 69s

Saturday to share the two-stroke lead after the third round of the $125,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Colbert and Johnson, who had shared a one-stroke margin at the halfway point of the tournament, each were 11-under par at 202 for 34 holes over the 6,514-yard Tripoli Golf Club course.

Two strokes back was Buddy Allin, who also shot 69 Saturday.

Seven golfers were tied at eight-under-par in the quest for the $25,000 first prize. Among them were Bob Bourne and Bert Greene, who each shot 67s Saturday.

Others at 205 were Jim Wiechers, Grier Jones, Mike Hill, Gibby Gilbert and rookie Billy Zierbo, who had been one-down after 36 holes.

Johnson, 1971 Azalea champion, had a round of seven birdies and five bogeys.

Net Classes Slated For July 11 Start

Tennis classes will begin Monday, July 17, and will continue until Aug. 11, according to instructor Novice Kniffen. The cost for the four-week classes will be two dollars.

Kniffen said the classes will run Monday through Friday for 7:30-9:45 a.m. Junior High classes will meet from 9:45-noon. There will be workouts for all classes from 4-5 p.m.

The senior high classes will meet from 5-7:15 p.m. All classes will be conducted at the Big Spring High School tennis courts.

Sal Bando, Jackson Spark Oakland To 6-2 Win Over NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Sal Bando ripped two home runs and drove in four runs and Reggie Jackson blasted a long solo shot, leading the Oakland A's to a 6-2 American League victory over the New York Yankees Saturday. After Dave Duncan singled home a run in the second inning, Bando struck starter Ken Holtzman to a 2-0 lead with his ninth homer of the season in the fourth. Bando then walloped a three-run shot in the ninth to cap the A's scoring.

Jackson earlier had broken a 2-2 tie with his 17th home run of the season. That tie had existed since the fourth inning, when Bobby Murcer hit a two-run homer for the Yankees off Ken Holtzman, 12-7. Murcer's homer, his 10th, followed a single by a Roy White.

Rolie Fingers nailed down the victory for Oakland, pitching the last two innings after Holtzman tired in the eighth.

Questions Still Stand About Miler Jim Ryan

By JACK MURPHY
Copley News Service
EUGENE, Ore. — He is America's best healthy miler and he'll have a window seat on one of the flights which will carry the U.S. Olympic team to Munich next month.

people Ryan defeated while winning at 1,500 meters in the U.S. Olympic Trials. Michael, who finished fifth, was thinking of the slow pace which set up the race for Ryan and the pedestrian time of 3:41.5. "Ryan is a stud," said Michael, "but I'm not sure we're seeing the Jim Ryan we knew in 1967."

Paderez On Mound For Tiger Cubs

Ismael Paderez will be on the mound for the Big Spring Tiger Cubs when they play host to the Abilene Camaliones today. The game will be played in Steer Park and is scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

The Tiger Cubs are currently boasting an 8-9 season record. The Camaliones are 18-1. In the infield for the Tiger Cubs will be first baseman Santos Oaque, second baseman Adam Yanez, shortstop Mike Gamboa and third baseman Gilbert Pesina.

The outfield will have Johnny Munoz in left, newcomer Buba Agala in center and Vito Garcia in right. Jessie Oague will be the catcher.

Perhaps Ryan shared the public's concern. He had tried and missed at 800 meters, though he joked that the shorter race was "good speed work."

Also expected to see action for the Tiger Cubs will be new players Joe Pesina, Johnny Arguello, Lorence Byrd, Salome Rios, Oscar Cervantes, Paul Valles and Agala.

EVANS, WILLIAMS Homers Give Braves Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Home runs by Darrell Evans and Earl Williams lifted the Atlanta Braves to a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

After the Cubs had taken a 2-0 lead against winning pitcher Phil Niekro, 9-7, on Joe Pepitone's two-run homer in the first, Atlanta struck back with a run in the second on Evans' 12th homer of the year.

Jackson scored as Hank Aaron hit into a double play. Williams' homer, No. 12, gave Niekro a two-run working margin in the sixth.

Jim Northrup Sparks Detroit By Royals

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Northrup drove in two runs with a single and contributed to two other rallies as the Detroit Tigers whipped the Kansas City Royals 5-3 Saturday.

Northrup's single past shortstop Fred Patek gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead in the first.

Englert Gets A-A Mention

ST. LOUIS — R. J. Englert of Big Spring received honorable mention for the All-America baseball team selected by "Sporting News" last week.

Englert, who was a four-year letterman for the Southwest Conference Texas A&M team, was chosen by the San Francisco Giants of the National League in the recent player draft by the major league teams.

Englert, an outfielder, participated in a rookie training camp at Casa Grande, Ariz., for two weeks prior to joining the Giants' Class A farm club at Fresno, Calif.

Two Tied For Lead

Midway and the Big Spring Jaycees are knotted for first place in the National Division of the Big Spring Slow-pitch Softball League at the end of last week's play. The Jaycees and Midway are both 12-7 for the season.

In the American Division, Price Pavers are 19-1 for the season to hold first place. In second place is St. Paul's Lutheran with an 18-2 mark.

The classes will begin Monday and will be conducted in two sessions. Because of the need to maintain a 5-1 student-teacher ratio, participation in the classes will be limited to 30 students in each session.

CHURCH LEAGUE SOFTBALL First Assembly Takes Title

Assembly of God included Kirby with two singles and Stocks with a double and a single.

For Immaculate Heart, Johns had a home run and a single and Clendenon had two singles.

Winning pitcher in the game was Kirby. He weathered nine hits to get the victory.

Rupp To Join Memphis Team

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Adolph Rupp, the winningest coach in college basketball history, will come out of retirement to serve as president of the American Basketball Association's Memphis franchise.

Charles O. Finley, new owner of the Memphis ABA club, said Saturday, "This is the happiest day for me since I have been in sports. From the time I purchased this basketball team, I started thinking of one individual I'd like to have as president of this club and run it."

KID BASEBALL

Red Sox Rip Cubs, 13-2

The Red Sox blasted the Cubs, 13-2, in the first game of the Sophomore playoffs Friday night as Dick Battle pitched a two-hit ball game.

The next game of the best-of-three series will be played at 8 p.m. Monday.

J. B. Bargas added a double for the VFD. Tim Barbee was the losing pitcher.

The Ray Don Box led the Sox at the plate with four hits in four at bats. His hits included a double and a triple. Mike Warren went three for four, and Tommy Churchwell had two hits with a triple. In all, the Red Sox had 13 hits.

COAHOMA — Mike Ritchey led the Lion attack with a double and Kenny Fryrear picked up the win as the Lions edged VFD, 11-7, to hold onto first place in the Coahoma Little League.

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Indians wrapped up the Pee Wee title Friday when they took a forfeit from the Chiefs. This left the Indians with a 9-2-1 record for the season.

Ben Crenshaw Enters Finals

DALLAS (AP) — Ben Crenshaw overcame near disaster on the front nine Saturday to finally oust faltering Gary Koch of Temple Terrace, Fla., 1 up and advance into the finals of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Crenshaw, the powerful University of Texas youngster, will meet Houston stockbroker John Paul Cain in a 36-hole match play final at Brook Hollow Golf Club.

COAHOMA — Wayne Dickens was the losing pitcher for the Pirates who are now 9-6 for the year. The Tigers are 11-4.

Minnesota Rallies To Drop Boston, 7-1

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins scored five runs in the seventh inning in a rally keyed by Cesar Tovar's two-run single and went on to beat the Boston Red Sox 7-1 Saturday.

The rally broke up a tight game and made an easy winner out of Dick Woodson, 618, who pitched only his second complete game in 19 starts.

Red Sox was the third straight season Boston had won 10 of 12 coming into Minneapolis-St. Paul.

YMCA Sets Swim Classes

Swimming classes for children in the ages three to five have been scheduled by the Big Spring YMCA.

Registration fee is $10 for non-"Y" members and are free for members.

Anyone interested in enrolling a child is urged to call the YMCA or bring the child to the YMCA before 1 p.m. Monday.

Pro Stock Races Today

ODESSA — The Pro Stock Championship Invitational will be run today at the Odessa Raceway Park.

Cash purses will be offered in all events. Prizes are $400 first prize in competition eliminator, $150 first runner up; $400 in street eliminator, $150 first runner up; $200 in top stock, $100 first runner up; $100 in little stock, $50 first runner up; $50 in stock optional, $25 first runner up; and $20 in show room stock, trophy first runner up.

An entry fee will be charged for people participating in the races. Normally, the raceway doesn't charge entry fees, but Raceway Park President J. A. "Monty" Coldwell said it is necessary to pay "some school taxes and other pressing obligations."

Steve Braun walked with the bases loaded to force in one run, Woodson knocked in another with an infield single and Tovar drilled a two-run single before Danny Thompson's rally-capping RBI single.

Admission for spectators will be $1 pit pass and $3 for adult spectator side admission. Children six to twelve will be admitted for $1, and admission for children under six will be free.

RANGER SHORTSTOP

Toby Harrah Sets Goals

ARLINGTON, Texas — Texas Rangers' shortstop Toby Harrah has two goals as the 1972 American League race heads into the All-Star Game break. "I want to play in 154 games and I want to hit .250," said the 23-year old Marion, Ohio, American Legion product.

Harrah, who admits he has trouble moving to his right because of surgery some time back to correct a knee deformity. Harrah was born with two kneecaps in his right knee, but he feels in time the knee will be as solid as his left and his lone weakness in his defense will be remedied.

"I'm not one of those guys who carries his mistakes around with his thoughts: I know I'll make some errors out there because I go for the balls that give me little chance to field."

"I'd rather get an error when I knock down one of those shots and throw hurriedly for an error, than see the ball go through for a clean hit."

Harrah has one of the best arms in the American League, especially when he throws from full overhand. Some of his plays have been nothing short of miraculous as he cuts down the runner by a hair.

Harrah hit .230 last year for the club in 127 games with 22 runs batted in. He already has moved well beyond that RBI mark with 27, and is courting his batting goal with .269, through the Detroit game, July 12.

In the four-game sweep at Baltimore, Harrah collected five Harrah has played in every game this season, the only Ranger with that distinction, and, barring injury, is headed for his 154-game goal. Harrah played winter ball in Venezuela under teammate Rich Billings, who managed the Zulia team into the playoffs.

Big Spring Bass Club Elects New Officials

Election of officers for the Big Spring Bass Club was the major item of business for the Thursday night meeting at First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

President of the angling crowd is Jerry Avery, who is beginning his second consecutive year as president.

The primary chore of Rusty Martin, first vice-president, is to serve as tournament chairman, the man who gets blamed for choosing the wrong lake at the wrong time of the year for a bass tournament.

Other officers elected for the new year are Jerry Avery, second vice-president; Tom Henry, program chairman; Mrs. Bill Grigg, secretary; Jack Gulley, treasurer and Charles Teague, reporter.

Lake E. V. Spence was announced as hunting grounds for the next bass tournament, scheduled to begin Saturday, July 22 at 6:00 p.m. The night competition, ending at weigh-in time of 10:00 a.m. Sunday, includes seven hours of prime daylight fishing time. The club will headquarter at the lake's Paint Creek Recreation Area. The top three-fish strings will carry a first place trophy and prize, a second place prize and third place prize. Big bass, as usual, will win a trophy.

The Big Spring Bass Club is in its 16th month of existence, beginning the second full fishing year. It has grown in that short length of time from an idea in the minds of a handful of fishermen to a membership now of more than 120 persons.

Anyone seeking membership or information about the club is invited to contact any of the new officers.

The group meets on the second Thursday of each month at 7:00 p.m. in the Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

32 Pros In Field For Colonial Open

FORT WORTH — Australians of 10 "Big Four" doubles titles. Fred Stolle and Tony Roche, in 1964, he beat Denny Ralston Yugoslav Nikki Pilic, and Egyptian Ismail El Shafai head sent the Davis Cup back to a list of 17 more international tennis stars who have committed to play at the '72 Junior League-Colonial National Invitation Professional Tennis Tournament. Tournament Committee Chairman Tom McCann Jr. made the announcement.

Other pros from Lamar Hunt's World Championship of Tennis stable who will play at the August 16-20 tourney are: Tom Leonard of the U. S., Bob Carmichael of Australia, Ray Ruffels of Australia, Graham Stilwell of Great Britain, Allan Stone of Australia, Frank Froehling of the U. S., Brian Fairlie of New Zealand, Rob Maud of South Africa, Phil Dent of Australia, Terry Addison of Australia, Roy Barth of the U. S., and two new players on the WCT tour — Haroon Rahim of Pakistan and Gerald Battrock of Great Britain. This brings the total field for the $50,000 Junior League-Colonial event to 32 pros.

Fred Stolle became known as the "Hacker" when he won the 1966 U. S. Championship at Forest Hills unseeded. He was runner-up at Wimbledon in 1963-64 and in the Australian Championship twice, 1964-65. He won the French Championship in '65 and has shared a total of 10 "Big Four" doubles titles. In the decisive five-setter that sent the Davis Cup back to Australia, and before turning pro late in '66, he helped the Aussies defend the Cup twice. Yugoslavia's greatest tennis star, Nikki Pilic, cites his greatest moment in tennis as his victory over Pancho Gonzales in the 1968 Tournament of Champions at Wembley. The volatile, emotional Pilic was the mainstay of Yugoslavia's Davis Cup squad and the first Yugoslav to sign a pro sports contract in the U. S. He teamed with Pierre Barthes to take the '70 U.S. Open doubles title. Ismail El Shafai provided one of the big shocks in last year's tourney by ousting number two seed Arthur Ashe in the first round. He has won eight consecutive Egyptian National Championships, 1963-70, a feat exceeded only by his father who owns 13 national titles. A 5'-11" native of Cairo, "Shaf" won the Junior Wimbledon title in '64, the Orange Bowl in '65 and in '69 beat Cliff Richey, Mark Cox and Torben Ulrich to reach the finals of the National Indoors at Salisbury, Md.

The field for the 5-day tournament is shaping up as the best ever — a field so deep in talent that any of the "lesser known" pros could easily upset Laver, Rosewall, Newcombe, Ashe, or Richey and collect the $10,000 winner's check.

RANGER SHORTSTOP — Toby Harrah, shortstop for the Texas Rangers, waits on the bench in a recent game with the Cleveland Indians. Harrah has set two goals for himself in this season. Harrah wants to play in 154 games and hit .250. Harrah is from Marion, Ohio.

CHARGER COACH

Svare's 'Run To Daylight' Bears His Own Personality

By JERRY MAGEE

Copley News Service SAN DIEGO — On the table in front of Harland Svare's desk were three publications, neatly arranged. On the bottom was "Lombardi," celebrating the late coach. In the middle was a weekly magazine. On top was the test, "Packer Dynasty," written by Phil Bengtson.

Somehow, the idea began to seep in to a visitor that Svare is interested in the Green Bay scheme of things. To a degree, he is.

From the Wisconsin city he has borrowed just about everything; but the weather, peopling his staff with Bob Schnelker, Willie Wood and Forrest Gregg and employing Bengtson in the office, and all those men possess Green Bay histories.

It would be easy, then, to assume that Svare's first Charger club is going to be made in the image of those Packer teams of the early '60's. It also would be wrong.

Oh, the San Diegans are going to offer the power sweep and if Walt Sweeney isn't in the frozen food business they should do so splendidly because Sweeney and Doug Wilkerson represent two of the swiftest guards breathing. But the power sweep is not apt to become a staple of the offense Svare and his assistants are now assembling.

This club is coming to run, yes, but not in the glacial manner of the Packer champions. It will operate from the "I" formation, which is the essence of modernity in football design.

"Anybody would be wrong to think we are going to go back to the old-fashioned sweep and all that," emphasized Svare. "The sweep is not as effective as it was in the early '60's," he explained.

"One of the features of it was that if you could not get outside you could cut back in. But increased pursuit has taken that away."

Cards Meets Colts

The Big Spring Cardinals risk their perfect record again today when they travel to Plainview to play the Plainview Colts in a doubleheader.

The Cards have not lost a game in their first 15 starts. Next Sunday, Plainview will come to Big Spring for a doubleheader.

The starting lineup for the Cardinals includes Felix Martinez or Sammy Rodriguez at shortstop, Pat Martinez at first base, Jimmy Fierro or Fernie Paredes at second base, Jessie Zapata in left field, Andy Gamboa in center field, Billy Pineda at third base, Abel Ramirez or Benny Marquez in right field and Joe Martinez at catcher.

Jody Florez or Orlando Olague will be the starting pitcher for Big Spring. Should relief help be necessary, Tony Fierro, Joe Cadenhead or Pano Rodriguez will be available.

Horoscope Forecast

CARROL RIGHTER

SUNDAY JULY 16

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day to come to a better understanding with your mate. You are able to utilize to advantage the fine principles under which you operate and make a detailed study of conflicts that have caused trouble in the past. Mutual awareness brings complete harmony. SARIES (March 21 to April 19) Find out from associates what is expected of you and come to a very fine understanding. Problems can be discussed intelligently. Also, make long-range plans for the future.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Do something today to show your appreciation for favor done you in the past and it will be greatly appreciated. Seek the goodwill of co-workers and plan the future more intelligently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Contact congenial early and plan a day of mutual fun with them. Plan to be with them often to other activities.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle those affairs that make you have a heaven of harmony and beauty. Do some entertaining in the afternoon. Give small gifts to close friends. Show that you have plans.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Elevate your consciousness to greater things and have a better understanding of the things that come your way. Much happiness is to be had from your activities.

WHATEVER (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study how to have your own way with associates. Get advice from business experts and follow it. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You are full of energy and ability today and can get much done with the approval of associates. Engage in group activities with those who have the same goals as you do. Be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You are one who likes to investigate all sorts of things, and this is a fine day to do so. Meditation can be very helpful to you now. Avoid one who is trying to take advantage of you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get in touch with good pals you have not seen in a long time and discuss whatever is of importance to you. Also, make new acquaintances of worth. Show that you have wisdom.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Work on a civic nature can make your image much better in the community in which you reside. Plan your activities for the new week so everything runs smoothly. Relax tonight!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This can be a fine time for studying activities that most appeal to you and which can bring greater abundance in the future. Contact with out-of-towners brings fine results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Home and kin are most important to you now, so do whatever will improve conditions and harmony in that vital realm of your life. Do some entertaining tonight, or else rest and plan entertainment for tomorrow night. Reading can be fascinating, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do some visiting around to places and with people who can help you greatly. Hobbies are fine in p.m. in the company of congenial relatives.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Although you want to make repairs, etc., be sure you show your savings account well first. One who has much data will now give it to you. This can soon add to present assets.

MONDAY JULY 17

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An unusually good day and evening to put in motion those plans for action that you have been considering, but not gotten around to yet. Combine the best from the past with some electrifying new ideas and methods that will bring you up to date, and thus carry the best of the past and present into the future.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You can put certain plans in motion now that can make your life more productive and happy. Join those social groups that are opened to your pattern of life. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You can enjoy new pleasures now if you are more modern in your thinking. Doing something kind for those you are fond of can bring you much happiness as well. Evening is good for reading.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you listen to the views of good pals today, you can have respect and greater happiness, so set out to see them early. Plan just how to secure the things you want most in the future. Think carefully.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Doing something of a civic nature is fine on this holiday. Show you are more concerned about the welfare of the community. Do some concrete plans now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can handle certain responsibilities well today and should do so. Plan how to make much more in the future. Show intensity where pleasure is concerned. Think.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) If you are detached in thinking about how to straighten out any arguments with associates, you find you can do so objectively. Out with good friends later to the pleasure you like. Don't get home too late.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You have an opportunity to do a great deal of good for the world. Be very generous tonight, or else rest and plan entertainment for tomorrow night. Reading can be fascinating, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Home and kin are most important to you now, so do whatever will improve conditions and harmony in that vital realm of your life. Do some entertaining tonight, or else rest and plan entertainment for tomorrow night. Reading can be fascinating, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do some visiting around to places and with people who can help you greatly. Hobbies are fine in p.m. in the company of congenial relatives.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Although you want to make repairs, etc., be sure you show your savings account well first. One who has much data will now give it to you. This can soon add to present assets.

Parley On Real Estate Planned

Webb Air Force Base personnel and members of their families will be given an opportunity to enter the real estate profession at a meeting to be held in Room 20, Building 608 Tuesday July 20, at 7:30 p.m. It was announced today. The meeting will be conducted by Great Western Cities Realty, a subsidiary of Great Western United Corporation.

E. L. Dillon, senior representative of the Company, noted that real estate is a profitable alternate occupation for service personnel who wish to supplement their income, allow an excellent profession to follow upon retirement from service. No prior experience in real estate is necessary, and all personnel will be welcome to attend!

Reports On Feed, Cotton Are Due

Now is the time for farmers to certify their cotton and feed grain acreage, J. G. (Gabe) Hammack Jr., county executive director of the ASCS office said Saturday.

August 1 is the deadline for certification, and the earlier producers attend to this, the sooner they will receive payment, he pointed out.

Failure to certify means no program payments can be made, and planted acres of zero will be entered for future history.

There are a number of individuals who did not sign in the grain program, yet who may have planted grain sorghum, and Hammack urged them to notify his office. He also pointed out that in order to qualify for payments, farmers must cultivate the acreage in workmanlike manner. Certification must be accurate, and wrong information can result in loss of all payments on the farm.

Says Wallace Physically Able To Wage Campaign

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - The physician in charge of Gov. George C. Wallace's rehabilitation program says the Alabama governor would be physically able to wage a third-party presidential campaign should he decide to do so.

Dr. George Traugh, a specialist in physical medicine, said Friday that if Wallace entered the presidential race he would need "a rehabilitation unit to travel with him." He said the circumstances would not be ideal "but it could be done."

Wallace press aide Elvin Stanton, however, discounted the idea of a third-party movement for Wallace. He said Wallace has made no definite political plans.

The Alabama governor flew from the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla., to Birmingham on Friday for four weeks of intensive physical therapy at the Spain Rehabilitation Center, where Traugh is on the staff.

Wallace has been paralyzed since shot May 15 while campaigning in Maryland.

Traugh said the governor won't leave the Spain Center until he is totally independent. He said it would be six months to a year before it could be determined whether Wallace will walk again.

The first aim of the doctors will be to prevent infection; and the second to make Wallace independent physically and occupationally. Wallace will continue to exercise his arms so that he will be able to maneuver himself in a wheelchair.

TOY POODLE SPARKS TEARS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Truckdrivers don't usually cry, but the loss of a friend drew tears to the eyes of Tex Border of Phoenix, Ariz.

When Miss Bordir and her partner, John Hereth, drove their rig onto Pier 48, Lisa, a 14-year-old toy poodle climbed down for a romp but failed to return. Then barking was heard beneath the pier. After a while it stopped.

A crew of 14 firemen searched the underpier area in a skiff, but Lisa was not found.

"She's a good little dog," said Miss Bordir. "She's lived in a truck all her life."

Andrews Man Wreck Victim

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) - Three men were killed Thursday in a two-car crash about four and one-half miles north of here.

They were James Martin, 29, and John Martin Jr., 19, both of Glenmora, occupants of one car, and Martin Phillips, 46, of Andrews, Tex., who was in a car driven by Billy Orson, 27, of St. Martinville.

Orson was not injured critically.

Pays IRS With Truck Of Pennies

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) - After months of wrangling with the government over back taxes, Larry Hermone finally paid off the $2,500 he owed - in pennies.

A truck loaded with 250,000 pennies, weighing a ton, pulled up in front of the Internal Revenue Service office here Friday, and the coins were turned over to an IRS agent.

"I don't think it's funny," an agent muttered.

The Sew And Chatter Club:

By JO BRIGHT

At the turn of the century, it may have been inspired by necessity, but now, when Big Spring women issue the invitation to "Come quilting" it is strictly for fun and fellowship.

The Sew and Chatter Club is aptly named, for its members manage to do a great deal of both without missing a stitch. Formed in 1937, the club now has the same number of members — 16 — that it had in the beginning. The two remaining charter members are Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscapes and Mrs. H. B. Crocker.

The women meet twice monthly, the second and fourth Tuesday of every month, usually taking care of business discussions while they sew. The club officers are Mrs. Ruby Martin, president; Mrs. Lewis Murdock, treasurer; and Miss Twyla Lomax, secretary.

When the club was first organized, members worked on individual sewing, crochet, tatting or knitting. The quilt project got its start several years ago when the group decided to make a quilt to be auctioned during a March of Dimes telethon. They continued to do so each year, and if there was no telethon, a member purchased the quilt, and the proceeds were donated to the MOD. In addition, the club provides "cheer baskets" for a needy family at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and a quilt is included in each basket.

Ordinarily, the quilt materials are salvaged from members' scrap bags, but occasionally, other people donate bundles of fabric to the club — knowing the bits and pieces will be put to good use.

Actually, the quilts are tacked rather than quilted, and the work goes much faster this way. Another time-saving procedure is to make "strip" quilts, in which larger pieces of fabric are formed into blocks by sewing with a machine. In this way, the club can produce a quilt every month.

In order to provide contributions to the MOD and other charities, the club will take orders for quilts, pricing them according to size.

"Come Quilting!"

Miss Grogan Weds Lt. Charles H. Gray

Miss Lorie Grogan became the bride of Lt. Charles H. Gray in a candlelight ceremony performed Friday evening by Chaplain Kenneth Summy in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base. The prelude of nuptial music was performed by Mrs. William Martin, organist, and Miss Jerri Tonn, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Sparks, Rt. 1, Box 471, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Alvera F. Gray of San Francisco, Calif., and the late Henry Holman Gray.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, the bride has been an employe of Webb AFB Credit Union. Lt. Gray graduated from San Francisco State College with an MS degree in astronomy. He graduated from pilot training at Webb AFB in June. After a wedding trip to San Francisco and Las Vegas, Nev., the couple will reside in Sacramento, Calif., where he will be stationed at McClellan AFB.

FORMAL GOWN

The bride's wedding attire was a formal gown of heavy cotton lace styled with empire waistline and molded bodice with scalloped neckline. The long, puffed sleeves featured deep cuffs with scalloped edging and tiny self buttons. Matching buttons formed a row down the center of the bodice. Her cathedral veil, which swept over the softly-gathered skirt of the gown, was sprinkled with lace motifs. She carried a cascade of white camillias, and lily-of-the-valley tied with satin ribbon.

Miss Becky Jenkins attended the bride as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Danna Sparks, the bride's sister; Mrs. Ray Magee and Mrs. Michael Hall. They were identically attired in light blue, backless gowns of dotted Swiss styled with floor-length gathered skirt and empire waistline. Complementing the gowns were white lace chokers, threaded with blue ribbon, and wide-brimmed blue hats trimmed with white ribbons. Each of the attendants carried a small basket of summer flowers in various colors.

Lt. Ray Magee of Greeley, Colo., served as best man and groomsmen were Lt. Robert Johnson, Lt. Danny Ulmer and Lt. Brad Whitcomb, all of Webb AFB. Capt. Mike Straup and Lt. Bruce Copley, both of Webb

MRS. CHARLES H. GRAY

AFB, were the ushers and Brad J. Jenkins was the ring bearer. The flower girl, Tiffany Copley, was attired in a long dress styled like those of the other attendants.

RECEPTION

The nuptial ceremony was followed by a reception in the Officers Open Mess at Webb AFB where refreshments were served from the bride and bridegroom's tables by Mrs. Phil Burns, Mrs. Kenny Clanton of Austin and Miss Jessica Patton. Miss Paula Bauer presided at the guest register. The tables were covered with white linen cloths and accented with silver candelabra holding blue tapers. Centerpieces were of mixed flowers and leather leaf ferns.

Out-of-town guests, other than the bridegroom's mother, were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Smith, Mrs. John McDowell and Mrs. Novella Jones, all of Longview; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dowden; Mrs. R. Lee Sparks; Mrs. L. Sparks, Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Sparks, Odessa; Mrs. Clanton, Austin; and Mrs. Laura Diamond, Fremont, Neb.

THE YOKE IS ON YOU Women Lose Name; Men Lose Identity

By TOM HORTON
Copley News Service

A man who recently (1) "took the Big Step," (2) "went and did it," (3) "joined the Club," (4) "made it legal," (5) "bit the dust" - all the clever, archaic phrases which his friends are now so fond of using to greet him - complains that the individual suffering from loss of identity when two become one in the eyes of the law is not always the one who must undergo a change of name.

ones mostly responsible for making "husband" such a dehumanizing, guilty-by-association word are the men, husbands and otherwise. It isn't the women, but the men, who insist on portraying marriage as a captive institution.

to stop being free - at least in the eyes of society's traditionalists - and become a husband?

He is insisting that he is still the same man. His friends, directly and on the sly, are trying to tell him he isn't. Any deviation in conduct, he says, is instinctively attributed to his new status. Granting, of course, that such deviation is to the good, no matter how slight.

The man complaining says he has a new understanding of young people's attitudes toward marriage. "I can't speak for the young woman," he says, "but I can't blame some young man with a free spirit who decides there are better ways to enjoy consistent female companionship than the licensed way. Society perpetuates this self-conviction that there are free men and there are husbands, but you can't be both. Given this narrow-minded view of mating, what young man wants

When it comes to selecting a seat for the child over nine months old, one of the important points suggested for checking by the Traffic Safety Administration is this: The child seat must be designed so it can be fastened in place with the car's seat belts.

Although he has been one only a short while, the new husband feels qualified to warn others who may follow what to expect. "You can expect," he says, "that at first, almost every conversation with old friends will begin, 'Now that you're married...' It is their way of saying to you that they realize everything is different with you now."

Before You Buy . . .

An Information Service For Consumers

BY MARGARET DANA

In recent weeks many letters have come in from concerned parents who plan summer vacation trips by car for the whole family. Since children of all ages are involved, the parents are anxious to have some reliable guidelines for choosing both safe and effective car seats or other child restraints before starting those motor trips.

Remember that a baby up to nine months of age is especially in danger when there are sudden stops or collisions. No parent, holding a baby in his or her arms, can possibly protect that baby under those conditions. Either the infant carrier or car bed will offer protection but note these points: The carrier should be fastened in place by the vehicle's seat belts. The restraint belts in the carrier should be at least 1 1/2 inches wide. It should be high enough to protect the baby's head. It should be lined with some kind of padding especially around the head area. And for maximum protection face the infant carrier toward the car's seat - back, not forward. Finally, don't use the household type of infant carrier as a car seat for a baby. They don't work in an automobile. If you decide on an infant car bed, remember it should be designed to sit crosswise of the car, never lengthwise, and should be designed so it allows the use of the car's own safety belts to fasten the bed to the seat. It needs to be deep enough to prevent the baby from being jolted or rolled out and ought to have strong netting or straps over the top.

The deeply disturbed fellow is quick to explain, "I am not talking about philandering. I suppose I am speaking of nothing more extravagant than freedom of movement, or expression. Men act as if they are convinced that a man may do as he pleases, but a husband must be faithful, if not to his wife, at least to the suffering image of becoming a husband."

Among the questions asked are: What is best to use for a six-month-old baby? How about a 2 1/2-year-old child? When do you stop using a seat and use a regular safety belt? Because of the many problems involved in selecting the right seat for the specific child, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration prepared a special booklet called "What To Buy In Child Restraint Systems." It is very clear and simple, costs just 20 cents, and may be ordered from the Sup. of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Since it traditionally takes rather a long time to obtain booklets from GPO, and the summer is here, I will select some of the most important points from that booklet for immediate use. But I suggest that parents with small children send for that booklet anyway because it belongs in every wide-awake consumer's library.

It is vitally important to follow the maker's directions for installation of the seat because a variance here can create a danger. Any set which hooks over the seat back of the car is unsafe. And keep in mind that vehicle lap belts, by themselves, are wrong for children. They put too much pressure on a small child's pelvic region and can produce serious injuries.

It is the old friends, the man complains, who do the most harm. He calls in the third martini syndrome. "They all say to you, at every opportunity, 'Guess you can't have that third martini now that you're married.'"

Knott Families Hold Reunions

KNOTT (SC) - Recent guests of the E. G. Newcomers were their son and family, the J. R. Newcomers, Longview; their daughter and family, the T. A. Crestmans, Lubbock; and the R. R. Walkers of Greer, S. C.

The Robert Nicholls' were in Colorado City Tuesday for a reunion of Mrs. Nicholls' family. Also attending were the Bruce Nicholls', Elbow; Terry Brown and Gwen Skinner. On the return trip, the group visited Mrs. Jewell Smith of Westbrook, formerly of Knott. Guests in the Robert Nicholls' home have been her sister and family, the C. R. Williams', Pasadena; her sister and family, the R. L. Collins', Big Spring; and her parents, the John Jacksons, Vealmoor.

Recently returned from a camping trip to Christoval are the Clarence Dittos, Ronnie Taylors, Ray Longs, Robert Nicholls', Bud Hughes' and Gwen Skinner.

But the first and last rule is to look for the date the seat was made. If made after April 1, 1971, it must be in compliance with the Federal Safety Standard.

MEXICO'S WOMAN MAYOR "If It Costs 22 Pesos, Let's Get It For 17"

Formal Nuptial Rites Performed Saturday

Miss Janet Earle McMullen and Joe Stockton, both of Colorado City, were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m., Saturday in the First Baptist Church of Colorado City, with the Rev. Glenn Roenfeldt, pastor, officiating.

The couple stood before an archway decorated with greenery and flanked by spiral wrought-iron candelabra holding votive candles. Arrangements of daisies and spicier chrysanthemums centered the altar.

A prelude of traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Dewight Tomb, organist. She also accompanied the vocalist, Miss Janet Mingus of Friona.

PARENTS

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl McMullen and Mr. and Mrs. Ector Stockton, all of Colorado City.

The bride wore a formal-length gown fashioned with a high neckline and long lantern sleeves. The empire bodice was overlaid with lace, and the train attached at the waist. Lace motifs were scattered on the A-line skirt, as well as on the train and cuffs of the sleeves. Her tiered elbow-length veil was held with a matching lace Camelot cap, and she carried a bouquet of daisies, babies'-breath and greenery.

Mrs. Glen Baird of Austin was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Joe Edwards of Abilene and Mrs. Jim Petty of Warrensburg, Mo., the bridegroom's sister. Miss Sherri Alexander of Big Spring was bridesmaid, and Lana Yeilding of Abilene was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore gowns of yellow dotted Swiss featuring empire waistlines and yellow streamer accents. Matching dotted swiss picture hats with yellow streamers were worn.

Jim Petty of Warrensburg, Mo., the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was best man, and groomsmen were Randy Phillips, Fort Worth; Charles Allard, San Angelo; and Lyndal Gibson, serving as ushers were Donnie Phillips, Paul Lenker, Roy Smith and Joe Edwards.

DEGREES

Christy Edgemom of Union City, Okla., was flower girl, and Billy Petty of Warrensburg, Mo., was ring bearer. Mark Yeilding and Phil Yeilding, both of Abilene, lighted the altar tapers.

The bride received a degree in elementary education from McMurry College and a kindergarten certificate from the University of Texas at Austin. At McMurry she was a member of Delta Beta Epsilon, McMurry Band and Martin Dorm Council. She presently teaches in Big Spring.

Stockton attended Howard County Junior College, West Texas State University and San Angelo State University. He was a band member at both HCJC and WTSU, and is presently a policeman for the Colorado City Police Department. Following a trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside at 932 E. 16th, Colorado City.

A reception honored the couple in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. Crystal appointments were used at the bride's table which was covered with a white organza cloth. A black wrought-iron candelabra centered the table and held votive candles in an arrangement of daisies and spider mums.

A lime green cloth covered the bridegroom's table which was centered with a small spiral candelabra holding votive candles.

Serving were Miss Susan Williamson, Miss Sandy Marcum, Mrs. Howard Yeilding, Mrs. Stanley Merket and Miss Judy Daniels. Presiding at the guest register was Miss Delza Kaye Moore.

MRS. JOE STOCKTON

Mrs. Glenn Person Named To State Post

Twenty-five delegates from the Stokes-Parker District were returned from the 67th annual convention of the Texas Association of Women and Girls' Clubs, Inc. at Tyler, where Mrs. Glenn L. Person of Big Spring was elected first vice-president of the state.

Theme for the meeting was "Togetherness Breeds Success." Other members in the district elected to office were Mrs. Lessie Owens, San Angelo, executive board secretary; and Mrs. Iverlee Harris, Abilene, treasurer. The president-elect is Mrs. M. A. Tyrone of Marlin.

Members of the city federation clubs of Big Spring served on the following committees: Mrs. W. I. Graham, awards; Mrs. Bessie Lanford, yearbooks; Mrs. Oliver Reed, time and place; Miss Rosetta Brown, art; Mrs. Gladys Penny, credentials; and Mrs. Bobbie Williams, art. Others attending from Big Spring were Mrs. E. S. Dawson and Mrs. Odie Sanchez. Twelve more women from the district represented Midland, McCamey, San Angelo, Abilene and Odessa.

Miss Brown, president of Ever Ready Civic Art Club, Big Spring, who served as art chairman in the Stokes-Parker District for 10 years, was named to "Who's Who" in the convention in Big Spring, won first place for her talent presentation, winning a $250 scholarship which she will utilize at Angelo State University.

The Rosary Art Club, San Angelo, won a trophy for the best yearbook, and the Stokes-Parker District took second place for club reports on art, finance and scholarships.

Mrs. Stokes was included in the women who received awards for having over 40 years service in club work. The awards were presented by Mrs. Gratts, outgoing president, during a Tuesday luncheon.

The city federation of Tyler presented key rings and $10 gift certificates to each of the eight district presidents.

Mrs. Person will be a delegate to the national convention in San Jose, Calif., July 29-Aug. 4 when she will be a speaker in a group, headed by Mrs. Stokes, which will discuss "Challenge of the 70's - Involvement and Leadership." The summation on "The Task Ahead" will be given by Dr. Rosa Gragg, past president of the National Association of Women's Clubs.

Create Home Care Products By Using These Ingredients

By SHERRY MULLEN
County MD Agent

Last week we discussed creating home care products, giving recipes for several such mixtures. Continuing the subject, you may wish to try the following recipes: the first two being for cleaning walls and woodwork.

PAINTED SURFACES

For ordinary cleaning, use a mixture of soap jelly and warm water. Add enough soap jelly to water to make light suds. Follow this procedure to clean: Dust painted surfaces thoroughly before washing. Wash with a soft cloth dipped and wrung out in cleaning solution. Rinse well and dry with soft cloths. Wash only a small area at a time.

Whiting paste may be used for very soiled places. Make it with four parts of fine whiting to 1 part of soap jelly. Mix the two ingredients thoroughly and keep in a small jar. Apply with a soft cloth and rub lightly. Rinse thoroughly to remove whiting.

For cleaning woodwork or light-colored painted surfaces, use 1 part kerosene oil to 1 part vinegar. Rub over the soiled area and wipe off with a dry cloth.

PAPERED WALLS

Fresh grease spots may be removed to some extent by placing a clean blotter on the spot and pressing with a warm iron.

For further treatment and more stubborn spots, make a paste of water and magnesia powder. (Use powdered magnesia oxide which can be bought at drugstores.) Apply the paste to the spot, and let it dry thoroughly for 2 or 3 days. Brush off the dry powder. It may be necessary to repeat the treatment several times.

CAUTION: Test first on an inconspicuous place.

VARNISHED SURFACES

Varnished surfaces may be cleaned and polished with the following recipe:

3 tablespoons of linseed oil
1 quart of hot water
1 tablespoon turpentine

Wring a cloth out of this mixture. Wash the surface and wipe dry. Polish dry with a soft clean cloth. Protect neighboring surfaces from the solution.

CAUTION

MARBLE OR TILE

Remove acid stains with household ammonia, baking soda or borax. If acid has roughened surface, rub the spot with pumice stone and water. Polish with a soft cloth.

For grease spots, make a thin paste of fuller's earth, spread on the spot, and let it stand for 24 hours. Wash with soap and water. Repeat the process if necessary. Scrub very soiled spots with pumice stone.

CLEANING ALUMINUM

Scour badly bused aluminum vessels with whiting and soap jelly. Use very fine steel wool on aluminum.

Brighten discolored aluminum pans by boiling one of the following solutions in it until the discoloration disappears:

(a) 1 tablespoon vinegar to 1 quart of water
(b) 2 teaspoons cream of tartar to 1 quart of water

BRASS AND COPPER

Clean brass and copper with a paste of:

1 pint of neutral soap jelly
1 cup whiting
1 teaspoon household ammonia

Add whiting and ammonia to soap jelly before it congeals, and beat together. After using the paste always rinse articles in clean warm water and dry thoroughly.

Tarnished copper can also be cleaned with salt dissolved in hot vinegar, or with lemon rind.

POLISHING SILVER

Try these silver polishes:

(a) 1 cup boiling water
1 piece or sheet of aluminum (aluminum foil may be used)
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt

Add salt, soda and aluminum to boiling water. Add silver and boil for 2 minutes. Wash in hot soapy water, rinse and dry. (Make enough of the solution so that water completely covers the silver.)

(b) Add ammonia, alcohol or castor oil to whiting to make a paste. Apply with cloth to silver in hot soapy water, rinse and dry.

(c) 1 cup boiling water
1 1/2 cups whiting
1/4 cup soap flakes

Heat soap flakes in water until dissolved. Remove from heat and add whiting. Stir until a smooth paste. Use as any other silver polish.

ENGAGED - Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hardison, 3606 Dixon, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carla Suzanne, to Lt. James Charles Montague of Dyess AFB, son of Mrs. C. A. Montague, Sioux Falls, S.D., and the late Mr. Montague. The couple will be married Nov. 4 in the chapel at Webb AFB.

Everyone Can Create In Right Environment

COLLEGE STATION — Creativity means more than beautiful music, rhythmic poetry and scientific discoveries.

Everyone has the power to be creative, according to family life education specialist Jane Fleischer. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialist said that most people are involved in creative experiences and activities daily.

"We need to think of creativity in terms of ourselves and our children," Miss Fleischer said. "Anyone who lives with children must continually look for new ideas and ways of helping and teaching them."

And this involves creativity in terms of ideas, feelings and experiences. Being creative means perceiving, thinking and learning about things in a new or unusual way.

"It's an open, responsive way of living — an exciting way of life," the specialist said. Here are a few points Miss Fleischer gave for considering children and creativity:

Each and every child is creative in his own way.

Creativity means the ability to invent, discover, explore, innovate and place elements in a way they've never been placed before.

Children need to have the right kind of situations and materials to enhance the possibility of creative experiences. They need the right atmosphere and environment for creative thought and play.

MARGARET DANA'S Consumer's Question-Box

Q: In buying instant coffee I have wondered if it is really all coffee, or does it have all kinds of special additives? How can I tell from the label?

A: All the brands of instant coffee I have checked, both the regularly processed and the newer freeze-dried, have labels which say either "pure coffee" or "100 per cent coffee." The meaning is clear — the product is all coffee, with no additives. If any one of these products should prove to have an undeclared ingredient it would then be illegally labeled. Since the Food and Drug Administration checks and inspects processed foods at intervals, I think we can assume they would have checked these labels by now.

Q: Suppose we want to report something to the Food and Drug Administration, such as finding foreign matter in food, or mislabeling, etc. How can we do it best? Do we write to the agency in Washington, or do they have branches?

A: The FDA does have regional branches with addresses and phone numbers. Since they differ, and your area would be located within a specific region covered by a branch, I suggest you send to the Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C. 20407, and request a copy of the free leaflet titled "How the Consumer Can Report to The Food and Drug Administration." The index number is 7700-021. This will tell you how to report suspected safety hazards, false labeling of food, drugs and cosmetics, etc.

Q: Have you any suggestion as to a collection of recipes which would use the cheaper foods and still supply a good filling meal? I don't mean cheaper meats only, but recipes for using dried beans, eggs, and so on.

A: I have a limited supply of a recipe booklet titled "Money-Saving Main Dishes" which the U.S. Department of Agriculture prepared several years ago. This edition was 20 cents. For a copy, send your request to me with 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For the newer edition, updated in 1970, which is priced at 30 cents, send your request to Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C. 20407, including the catalog number 0100-0641, and the 30 cents. This booklet includes such recipes as "sausage with sweet potato and apple" (using only 1/2 pound of sausage), "fish-cheeseburgers," "Mexican scrambled eggs," "savory bean stew" (using 1/2 pound ground beef), etc.

Q: Please indicate if anything is being done about all the camera and movie equipment being imported here from abroad. Whenever my cameras need service or new parts I am told, "sorry, not available." When I need more information than is supplied in the directions with the camera, I am told the same thing. My camera outfit cost me $1,000, yet when I asked for specific information on its wide-angle and telephoto lens, my supplier just said none could be had from the maker. What can we do?

A: More and more foreign makers of goods sold in this country are trying to provide centers for service here. This is increasingly true, of course, of automobiles. But smaller companies, and especially those without much international know-how, are still behind in dealing with this problem. I would suggest not buying

FANCY FANS — Mrs. Pete Warren turned the bathroom of her home into a strikingly unusual room by decorating it with a collection of fans she has received from various people and places throughout the world. Some are old, some new and some just pretty and petite. The collection is still growing, because people who see the bathroom know she will take care of a fan that they didn't know what to do with.

Fans Inspire Unique Bathroom Decoration

By BARBARA LORD

What do you call a bathroom that has been decorated with a collection of fans? A "fanny" room of course, and that's exactly how Mrs. Pete Warren describes the unique bathroom in her home.

One day, while cleaning out some items that belonged to her daughters, who are now married and settled in homes of their own, Mrs. Warren discovered she had quite a collection of decorative fans. They were taking up space and served no practical purpose, but being a "collector" and a sentimentalist, Mrs. Warren couldn't make herself throw them away. Some were old and some new. They came in all shapes, colors and sizes.

Meanwhile, the age-old problem of how to decorate a bathroom to make it attractive and somewhat unique had bewildered Mrs. Warren for some time. The fans solved the problem, and since arranging the fans on her bathroom wall she has become heir to many more from people that know she will take care of them.

"Nearly all of the fans have a story behind them," said Mrs. Warren. "Many are from friends who said the fan had belonged to their mother or grandmother. They give it to me as a way to know you will keep it and treasure it and enjoy it. Sometimes it's scary because I have a dreadful fear that something might happen to one of them."

Mrs. Warren's collection includes one hand-painted wooden fan that is about 65 years old, plus two her sister brought her from Japan. One of the Japanese fans unfolds to reveal the menu at a Japanese restaurant. Some are miniatures, and some are fans received as mountings for corsages given to her daughters.

The Warren home at 1207 Douglas is beautified by many of Mrs. Warren's hobbies. Her collections include bells and shoes from many countries, miniatures of anything, baskets, primitives and antiques. She is fascinated with garage sales and junk stores. In addition, she is an accomplished painter.

"I like to change my accessories quite often, and I'm always moving furniture around," said Mrs. Warren. "My husband never knows where he will find things when he comes home from work, but I think everybody eventually gets tired of the same things on walls."

Mrs. Warren has a wealth of items to choose from when she wants to switch something. Hopefully, the fans in the bathroom are permanent, for she couldn't find a prettier display to perk up what is often a dull room.

Wedding Solemnized In Coahoma Church

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Deborah Eugenia Meeks and Sgt. David Ray Forszowski at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Coahoma First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Guy White Sr. performed the rites at an altar graced with an archway entwined with greenery. Palm trees flanked the archway, and baskets of gladioli and daisies were placed in the background to complete the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Darrow Jr. of Coahoma, and Sgt. Forszowski is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Forszowski of Lockhart.

A prelude of traditional wedding music was provided by Larry Riney of Merkel, organist, who also accompanied Miss Vicky Walker of Abilene, soloist.

The bride wore a formal-length gown of white crepe with Venise lace overlaying the empire bodice. The lace extended to form a high scalloped collar and long tapered sleeves which reached a petal point at the wrist. A satin ribbon highlighted the waistline. She wore a chapel-length mantilla edged with matching lace lowerlets and carried a cascade of white camellias, lily-of-the-valley and English ivy centered with a yellow carnation corsage and tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Wanda Castleberry of San Antonio was matron of honor, and Mrs. Rodney Wall was bridesmatron. Miss Linda Forszowski of Lockhart, the bridegroom's twin sister, was bridesmaid.

The bridal attendants wore floor-length gowns fashioned in mint green dotted Swiss with empire bodices and A-line skirts. The gowns featured scooped necklines. The women wore matching picture hats and carried bouquets of lime green and yellow camellias, tied with long satin streamers.

David Geisen of Kerrville was best man, and groomsmen were Billy Green and Bobby Welch, both of Abilene. Serving as ushers were Doug Black, Abilene; Rickey Cowan, San Marcos; and Terry Meeks, the bride's brother. Jody Cowan of San Marcos was ring bearer.

Mrs. Forszowski is a graduate of Coahoma High School and attended Glen and Lottie's School of Beauty in Abilene. The bridegroom graduated from Lockhart High School and is presently assigned with the Air Force at Dyess AFB, Abilene.

A reception honored the couple in the church fellowship hall from the ceremony. A white cloth covered the refreshment table which was highlighted with the attendant's bouquets. The tiered cake was topped with miniature wedding bells, and silver appointments were used.

Servers were Mrs. Max Nichols and Miss Mary Anne Shirley, both of Big Spring; Mrs. Gary Roberts, Mrs. Rodney Tiller and Mrs. Donald Webb.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cowan, Arthur D. Hook and Mike Scoggin, all of San Marcos; Clifford Woodson, Fort Worth; and Dwayne Underhill, Abilene.

A LOVELIER YOU Harsh Voices Often Can Be Controlled

By MARY SUE MILLER

Do some voices grate on your nerves? Harsh, nasal and raucous tones can be wearing. More than ever on days when both heat and work become oppressive. "Cool" voices are then the most appreciated — admired — listened to.

The difference between the soothing and the irritating voice lies in resonance. Are you aware that when resonance comes to your voice you have control over its resonators? Learn to control the resonators of your voice — the size, shape and action in the head cavities through which your voice passes — and you'll sound as attractive as you are.

Here are just a few secrets of control. Fun to practice!

Stand before a mirror and slowly say "a, e, i, o, u." Those vowel sounds make music if you let them. As you sound them note the change that takes place with each in the position and shape of your lips. The action of the lips, resonators both, are vital to your listenability. Likewise the jaw and tongue, also resonators.

Practice the vowel sounds daily, exaggerating each action to get the feel of how the resonators behave. Practice limbers your performance and limbering aids the cause. During practice, try to keep your throat relaxed and to breathe deeply, slowly and evenly.

Cool, your voice is cool.

WINNING MANNERS

Women Like Longer Hair On Their Men

By GUS STEVENS
COPLEY NEWS SERVICE
 Just climb up in the chair, little man. This won't hurt a bit. And there may be a stick of candy in it for you when we get finished.
 If the neighborhood barber seems a happier fellow these days it's because he may be working his way back from being caught by the short hairs. Or make that long hairs.
 Your average Joe Blow barber has been in trouble for some years, thanks to longer hairstyles and fewer trips to the tonsorial parlor.

 Places that "style" the hair for five dollars and up have rimmed his profits, too.
 Not that the barber is back in the middle of a bushy profit picture, he'll still need to adjust if he's to survive. His more mobile mates have already moved into the styling business, after a return to barber college for a postgraduate course.

 Even though men are beginning to wear their hair somewhat shorter — that's the good news for barbers — they're as fussy as ever about how it looks. And for a barber who is a dullard that is the bad news.
 The hair may be shorter, but it's still got to look right. The wet head is dead and he's not going to be brought back to life in the foreseeable future.

HOLD THAT TIGER — He's got tough, unruly hair but she's trying to tame it with a spray that promises not only to hold, but to look natural while it's at work. Given a fighting chance, his hair will do its part.

It's probably true that women are to blame. They're to blame for so many things — right, men? — so why not pin fussy hair styles on them. They were brushing their hundred strokes long before men thought beyond just taking a little off the sides and the top.
 Women like long hair on their men. They like soft, wavy hair. They don't like the wet look.
 One outfit that has been fighting to rescue the beleaguered male from long hours before the bathroom sink is Aramis. There are others, but Aramis is one of those with all sorts of groovy action ideas for men's hair.

Get a load of this. The New York-based grooming firm claims to have "the first dermatologically developed and clinically tested group of men's grooming aids scientifically programmed to solve specific problems for today's knowledgeable and selective consumer."

Isn't that enough to curl your hair?

They offer a managing formula to fight unruly, coarse or thick hair. It's loaded with protein and should free the hair from snarls and tangles.

If your problem is fine hair, those people still want to help. A thickening concentrate will give weak and thin hair some help. No more having sand kicked in your hair at the beach by the 200-pound bully.

If you need concentrated control there are two strengths of spray. Apparently the tough one could add to the strength of steel girders, but the company says it's natural, non-sticky, fragrance-free and dries without brittle results.

A weekly scalp rub is also supposed to do wonders above the eyebrows. As the old barber shop ad said, good-bye to Dan Druuff and hello to Moore Hair. Now you've earned that stick of candy.

SHERYL GAMBILL

Stewardess Stationed At La Guardia

Mr. and Mrs. Ocey Mason have returned from the Tuesday graduation of their daughter, Sheryl Gambill, from the American Airline Stewardess College at Greater Southwest International Airport at Fort Worth.

Miss Gambill entered the college June 1, and she will be based at La Guardia Airport in New York City.

She was graduated from Big Spring High School in May 1966, attended Howard County Junior College and then was graduated with a degree in music from North Texas State University in December 1970. Upon her graduation she taught elementary music in the Big Spring schools in 1971-72.

Miss Gambill is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dick O'Brien, Houston, and of Mrs. W. T. Gambill, Fort Worth, who was on hand with Mr. and Mrs. Mason to see her receive her stewardess wings.

Patriotism Theme At OES Meeting

David Grant discussed importance of patriotism for members of Coahoma Chapter 499, Order of Eastern Star, Tuesday evening at the Masonic Temple. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Culpepper, worthy matron and patron, presided. The next meeting is at 8 p.m., July 18 at the Masonic Temple.

Benefits To Veterans Explained

R. L. Price of Lamesa, service officer for Veterans of World War I, Department of Texas, was guest speaker for the WWI Barracks 1474 and its ladies auxiliary Thursday evening at the IOOF Hall.

Price outlined several of the benefits available to veterans, and encouraged members to keep in contact with their congressmen in order to remain abreast of current issues. He stressed the importance of backing their government representatives and said the "interest of our government is first in our lives."

Price also reviewed activities of the recent WWI veterans state convention in Dallas.

Mrs. Viola Younger, auxiliary president, presided at the women's meeting, and Mrs. Joe E. Griffin was introduced as a new member. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoard and Mrs. Ross Cox of Brownwood, who was in Big Spring to visit her husband who is a patient at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mrs. Allen Hull, district president, and Mrs. Joe Jacobs, delegates to the Dallas convention, reviewed events affecting the auxiliary.

Members will serve cake to patients at VA Hospital July 20, and will also provide refreshments for the barracks meeting in August.

About 50 members and guests attended. The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 10 at the IOOF Hall.

TO MARRY — The engagement of Miss Debra Ann Underwood to Ellodoro Reyes is being announced by her parents, Mrs. Dolores Underwood, 4183 Connally, and Tom Underwood of Lake Colorado City. Reyes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Reyes of Westbrook. No wedding date has been set.

Auxiliary Hears Audit Report

Mrs. Frank Powell, audit committee chairman for the Ladies Auxiliary to the United Transportation Union, reviewed income and expenditures of the 1971-1972 club year Friday afternoon at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. C. G. Barnett presided, and hostesses were Mrs. S. V. Jordan and Mrs. Buster Bell. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white cloth and centered with a yellow summer floral arrangement. The group will not meet in August.

'Quotable Women'

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"There are bigger problems than that I'm black and you're white, but if we can't solve those human relations problems, how can we begin to cope with the larger ones, like taking care of the world?" Actress Virnie Burrows in an interview.

"If they feel this is a direction they would like to move me, I have no objection." Rep. Shirley Chisholm discussing an effort to boost her as a vice-presidential candidate.

"When we met again I realized I couldn't go through with it because my feelings toward Graeme had changed." Barbara Hill saying why she canceled plans to marry Graeme Tait who had just sailed 19,000 miles for the wedding.

"We take six newspapers a day and I don't get worried if the floors are covered with them for a week or so." Anne Levy Wexler, a top aide to Sen. George McGovern, talking about housekeeping.

"I really do think the reason I took the trip is that I was darned bored with my job and I had to have a good reason to hand in my resignation." Nicolette Milnes Walker, while promoting her new book on her solo crossing of the Atlantic.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
 Our son went sailboating and was wearing his glasses with an elastic headband to hold them on.

However, something rushed upward against the back of his head and off went the glasses into the "drink."

It was one of those freak accidents, but it might as well have happened in the mid-Atlantic — those glasses were long gone!

Now we have "twenty-two" hindsight and NEW glasses.

To keep from having any more such accidents, we decided to fasten a good-sized cork (one on each side of his glasses) using a STRONG rubber band around the cork — banding them to the ear pieces of the glasses at the temples.

This, of course, should be tested at home first to make sure the corks are large enough for the weight of the glasses. Be sure they WILL float.

The elastic headband will still be used to hold them in place but the corks are better "insurance" than the fifty dollar deductible kind! . . . Margaret Johnson

... Sure wish I could come up with an idea to match yours — only I need one for locating glasses that are misplaced.

I can never find those confounded "specs" of mine and do believe they have legs because I find them in the oddest places . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:
 I am pleased to see the number of people who have quit smoking and hope to see their number increase.

This leaves the car ashtray empty and, besides using it for change to be used when feeding the parking meters, it also comes in handy for earrings that don't pinch until you're on the freeway . . . Corkey Junkin

Dear Heloise:
 I never realized there were so many things you could do with bananas until one day my husband-to-be brought me home forty pounds of bananas because I love to cook.

 You can make only so many loaves of banana bread and banana cakes. So I looked up to see if it was possible to freeze bananas.

The cookbooks said if they were mashed and frozen in small quantities it was possible.

Since only one cup of mashed bananas is called for in most recipes and I didn't have any one-cup containers, I decided to freeze them in my muffin tins lined with their paper liners.

I measured one half cup into each. When solidly frozen, slipped them into a bag and put back into the freezer.

The muffin tins are then free for baking and when you need a cup of mashed bananas just take two instead of one.

This comes in mighty handy on a cold morning when you feel like baking but don't seem to have a thing in the house. . . . Mrs. A.B.N.

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

BARNES PELLETIER

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's a shame or something to admire the red crepe myrtle as much as we do and have no luck whatsoever in getting it growing on the premises.

We are enjoying the ones that are blooming so beautifully in our block on Cactus and other places about town. The Lanes on Nolan Street have some bushes with bright blooms among the many flowers they always have in the yard. Also there are pretty bushes on Mittel, in the 800 block of E. 18th St., and in the 1900 block of Donley. The J. E. HOGANS are giving their crepe myrtle the 'Sunday treatment' each the 'Sunday treatment' each pink light, an attractive example of the effectiveness of outdoor lighting.

A pleasant affair was the "so-long" party for the DON WOMACKS who are now making their home in Fort Worth... most of them, that is. Patti, the daughter who is the first girl to be elected president of the BSHS student council, will remain here with the LEON TAYLORS to complete her high school education. The party for the Womacks was hosted by several couples and held at the home of MR. and MRS. HAROLD DAVIS.

Back from a two-week vacation trip are MR. and MRS. Wm. T. MCREE who attended a good family reunion of the Frowe family at the family home in Lawrence, Kan. The occasion was held in honor of the mother, MRS. Wm. FROWE who celebrated her 86th birthday.

The Frowe family is one that believes in "putting it all together." The McRees took a good supply of Texas tomatoes and it was a good thing because Kansas hasn't started ripening tomatoes yet. MR. and MRS. CHARLES HUBB brought fresh mushrooms from Wilmington, Del., and MRS. ELEANOR MOORE'S contribution was 15 pounds of shrimp from Tallahassee, Fla. To beautify the surroundings one of the cousins brought orchids and other fresh flowers from Hilo, Hawaii. MR. and MRS. EUGENE FROWE were there from Houston and only the brother from San Francisco was unable to attend.

The family labeled this gathering of 35 members as "Big To-Do in '72." Two of the McRee daughters, MRS. NANCY DOWALBY of St. Louis, Mo., and MRS. BILL CREGAR and her family of Elbow were present.

After their Kansas visit, the McRees visited in Amarillo with his brother, V. H. MCREE, and his wife, and in Borger with his sister, MRS. JAMES BALDWIN, and Mr. Baldwin. They returned home Thursday.

DR. and MRS. HALVARD HANSEN has a special interest in MAE BETH CORMANY, the new Miss Texas. She is the daughter of MR. and MRS. D. M. CORMANY, Wichita Falls, who were neighbors of the Hansens in Clifton years ago. The families have kept in close touch over the years and Mae Beth has visited the Hansens here on several occasions. Her sister who is an opera singer in Germany, is planning to visit the Hansens here soon and will sing at St. Paul Lutheran Church.

MR. and MRS. BILL BRADFORD and their daughter, Lavelle, and Mrs. Bradford's sister and her husband, MR. and MRS. LOYD ARTERBURN of Anchorage, Alaska, left Saturday for a camping trip to New Mexico and Colorado. The Arterburns visited the Bradfords for a week here and will leave for their home in Anchorage following the trip to Colorado.

It was really a fun weekend when the Choate family held their family reunion, the first in five years, for which there were 78 descendants of the late MR. and MRS. J. M. CHOATE present.

The activities started on Thursday, July 6, with a barn dance at the Moss Creek home of MR. and MRS. CARROLL CHOATE. On Friday night MR. and MRS. RAYMOND PHILLIPS were hosts for an ice cream supper at their home northeast of town. The big get-together was at the County Fair Barn Saturday evening when a giant barbecue was held. Afterward the group was entertained by the showing of slides made by DR. J. T. SHURLEY during his trips to New Zealand and Antarctica. Also the slides showed Dr. Shurley with the original astronauts, whom he selected for the program as top psychiatrist for the Veterans Administration Hospitals.

Here in addition to Dr. and Mrs. Shurley and their two sons of Oklahoma City, Okla., were COL. and MRS. H. R. HAYGOOD (Merle Grace is the youngest of the Choate family) of Allandale, Va., MRS. JEWEL CAPANSKY of Hugo, Okla., the eldest daughter, and the three local men, HAROLD, MELVIN AND CURTIS CHOATE and their families. Also MR. and MRS. BILL PRUDENTE also of Allandale, Va., MRS. REUBEN CHOATE, MR. and MRS. EDDIE CHOATE and MRS. JACQUE HAWK all of Phoenix, Ariz., MAJ. and MRS. JOHN MARSHALL (Sonny) CHOATE and their three children, all of Montgomery, Ala., and JERRY CHOATE of Odessa.

Incidentally, Dr. Shurley not only selected the first astronauts, he has been invited to lecture in Russia and has been honored by the U.S. government with the naming of a mountain for him. It is in Antarctica where he has done extensive studies on sleeplessness among our people in that area.

Here for a two-week visit with her brother-in-law and sister, MR. and MRS. C. D. McDONALD, is MRS. A. E. KELLY of Hattisburg, Miss.

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Betty Ann Chavarria and Sgt. Ricki Steve Hasting were married Saturday evening in First United Methodist Church with the Rev. J. B. Sharp officiating. Music was provided by Miss Rhonda Owenby, pianist; Miss Sheretta Owenby, flutist; and Sgt. Mark Batum, vocalist. The altar was centered with an archway flanked by baskets of chrysanthemums, gladioli and greenery, with candelabra lighting the scene.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Chavarria, 206 NE 6th, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Hastings of Elkmont, Ala. The bride was attired in a high-waisted formal gown of ivory satin overlaid with organza and styled with puffed, sheer sleeves. The sleeves and other parts of the gown were trimmed with pearls, daisies and velvet ribbon. Her Juliet headpiece of lace and pearls held a floor-length veil edged with pearl-centered daisies. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink rosebuds tied with satin streamers.

MAID OF HONOR Miss Nancy Pless was maid of honor, and other attendants were Miss Sheila Tidwell, Miss Ellen Anderson, Miss Susan Trim and Miss Jeanene Crowder. Miss Pless was attired in a mint green dress with matching wide-brimmed picture hat. The other attendants were attired in dresses of peach-colored floral print on an ivory background with which they wore peach-colored picture hats. The gowns featured short puffed sleeves and a ruffle at the hemline. They carried baskets of pink and white carnations tied with streamers.

The best man was Sgt. Mark Batum, and groomsmen were Sgt. Guy Tatum, Eugene Carrillo, Adrian Saldivar and Gregg Phillips. The ushers were George Carrillo and Fedal Saldivar. Adriel Saldivar was the ring bearer, and the flower girl was Terry Dominguez. Tapers were lighted by Kevin Reception Out-of-town guests who attended the reception in the fellowship hall were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Valdez Jr. of Pecos and Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Candelaria of El Paso. The refreshment tables were covered with lime linen overlaid with lace cloths. The bride's table featured her bouquet flanked by white candles, and a tiered cake topped with satin bells. The bridegroom's table featured a fruit centerpiece, and chocolate cake was served. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Chester Burton, Mrs. William Forman, Mrs. Pat Rhoton, Mrs. Sandy Stanaland and Mrs. Charles Cain. The bride, who is a teacher's aide at Bauer Elementary School, attended West Texas State University for one year and is presently attending Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom, a graduate of Elkmont High School, is stationed at Webb AFB. After a trip to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the couple will reside at 1407 Virginia.

Miss Williams Given Rainbow Appointment

Miss Cindy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams, 2804 Parkway, received an appointment at the Grand Assembly, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, held recently at Houston. Miss Williams, who is recorder for the local assembly, was named Grand Representative from New Jersey to Texas.

Twenty-three local members of Rainbow attended the convention, which had an over-all attendance of 4,000.

Big Spring Assembly No. 60 met Tuesday evening in the Masonic Hall with Sandra Dickenson, worthy advisor, presiding.

Kay Williams, charity, announced her project for the term. She asked that members save good quality magazines and children's books, which the assembly will place in hospitals, nursing homes and at Westside Community Center.

Zina Johnston, hope, urged the girls to save used postage stamps. This is a project

FOR YOUR PLEASURE Little Theatre Flickers Again; Library Offers Entertainment

If you ever had anything to do with little theatre, or even if you think you might be interested in some phase of a community theatre, you are invited to attend a meeting Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at 108 Lincoln. Cecilia Arcand (phone 263-4229) would talk about an idea for Around Stage as a community theatre project.

Speaking of theatre, she has selected the cast and is in rehearsal for the children's theatre Starlight Special melodrama, "Egad, What a Cad." Patti Myers will be assisting in the project. Here are members of the cast: Sheri Snodgrass (Mrs. Augustus Greystone), Lisa Ford (Fowler), Davis Timmins (Augustus Greystone), Ricky Myers (Manly Rash), Michelle Couvillion (Constant Hope), Bryan Rosson (Bertram Oleander), Celeste Grenier (Millie Smith), and Barry Rosson (announcer). Cast members for quickies between the acts are Lisa Skalky, Kathy Timmins, George Bancroft, Robin Snodgrass, Merril Beth Bancroft, Andre Couvillion and Suzanne Smith.

You may not be aware of it, but you have access to a wide assortment of films through the Howard County Free Library, which is a member of the West Texas Library Film Circuit, according to Larry Justis, librarian. If you are in need of programs in clubs, churches, schools, groups, homes, etc. you may find listings of suitable films in a pamphlet at the library. This contains information about available dates, when the film can be picked up at the library, and checked out free of charge. The films are 16 mm. More information may be had by calling the library, 267-8681.

In this connection, a couple of the films now available: one on the Grand Canyon and runs 26 minutes in exploring the geography and natural beauty of the canyon, the unchanged tribal life of isolated Harasup Indians on the canyon floor; also, "This is Farnborough," a 22-minute display of British airplanes showing many unusual types, examples of precision flying.

Among new books of fiction are "Adventures of Private Fuast," by Hans Hellmut Kirst; "Runaway" by John Creasey, and "Traitors' Doom" by John Creasey; non-fiction, "Miracle Worker," by Jess Stearn, "Wawn's Early Light" by Walter Lord, and "Black West" by William Loren Katz.

A new feature at the library is a paperback exchange. Just bring in your paperback book, when you are finished with it, and swap it for one on the exchange shelf. There is a limit of five swaps per visit. The library hours are 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Friday, and 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday.

Charlie Brown, every man's born loser, is extolled in the current Midland Community Theatre offering, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown." The chief characters in the Charles Schulz "Peanuts" strip are there — Lucy, Peppermint Patty, Sally, Schroeder, and naturally, the Red Baron, alias Snoopy. Remaining performances are July 20 at 2:30 p.m. and July 21-22 at 8:30 p.m.

And circle the week of Aug. 6-12. The Starlight Specials are coming up in the amphitheatre at Comanche Trail Park. Various groups stage the programs and the Chamber of Commerce cultural affairs committee ties it into the week's package.

Give a group of local young people credit for initiative as well as talent. The Super Country show of Western and country music put on last evening at the city auditorium was developed when one of the bands wanted a shot at a trip to Nashville, Tenn., capital of country-Western music. So members got the ABC club to sponsor the show, then enlisted local young singers and bands to come up with a good show. You can't beat spunk like that.

Humor and philosophy of the late Will Rogers will be brought to new generations soon at Six Flags Over Texas. There will be a life-like figure of Rogers, which will talk and move (capability of 360 movements), including lip movement synchronized with recorded voice. Opening date will be announced when the management is satisfied with over-all portrayals.

In the same vicinity, Seven Seas has now drawn nearly a quarter of a million people since it opened little less than two months ago, and this in the face of 10 days nearly wiped out by weather.

Piano students interested in the 1973 statewide high school piano concerto contest have been advised by Joseph Kirshbaum, conductor of the East Texas Symphony Orchestra in Tyler, of selections. Contestants may play the first movement of any piano concerto by Beethoven, Chopin, Liszt, Mac Dowell, Mozart, Prokofiev, Rachmaninov, Saini-Saens, Schumann or Tchaikovsky. Entry blanks and full particulars about the contest may be obtained by writing to the symphony, Box 3323, Tyler 75701.

For those who love a parade, the parade of parades — the Shrinertennial — will start 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in Dallas and then the night section 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Fort Worth. These commemorate the 110th anniversary of the Shrine and likely will be the most colorful ever in the Southwest.

Mrs. Lloyd Wolf of Coahoma is convalescing at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital where she underwent surgery Monday. Visiting her during the week were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Taylor of Dallas, and Mrs. Jack Kimble of Plainview, formerly of Big Spring.

Miss Raryn Caplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Caplan, Newport News, Va., left Friday to return to her home after spending two weeks as a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Norrell, 2202 Warren.

While in Big Spring, Miss Caplan was entertained at several dinners held in her honor, including a barbecue at Lake Colorado City. With the Norrells, she traveled to New Mexico where they toured the Valley of the Fires, visited in Ruidoso and were guests at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Harrow near Roswell.

Miss Caplan will return to school this fall at Christopher Newport College.

BOXING COMMISSIONER — One of the newest breakthroughs for women into a man's world is Consumer Protection Commissioner Barbara Dunn's additional job as Connecticut boxing commissioner. Under a law passed during the recent legislative session, Mrs. Dunn will officially get the job Oct. 1. She estimates delays in drafting regulations will prevent boxing from returning to the state (after a seven-year absence) until at least October, 1973.

You've Come A Long Way, Baby: But You're Drinking More, Too

NEW YORK (AP) — The whole industry is turning around to face this newly knowledgeable and confident customer. Peters' claim is supported by a recent survey of the industry which showed that 27 per cent of all bourbon is consumed by women, 25 per cent of Scotch, and 31 per cent of vodka. "For many years," Peters said, "we produced Wild Turkey bourbon only at 101 proof. This year we successfully introduced a companion product that runs 86.8 proof. This innovation was in large part to offer a milder-tasting bourbon for women. In fact, capturing the female market has been an important factor in bringing out the lighter whiskeys this summer." Peters believes the new in-terest women are showing in their own and are courted by those who wines and spirits stems in part from a more sophisticated attitude and a bigger household budget. "That is almost half the and clearly it has become a common than their husbands.

Does Your Baby Cry Too Much?

NEW YORK (AP) — Does your new baby seem to cry too often?—or does he strain to cry, but makes very little sound?

A pediatrician specializing in congenital disorders believes an infant's cry can provide valuable help in diagnosing problems such as cretinism, central nervous system damage and congenital heart disease—and has authored a new cassette tape program to train other pediatricians in this method.

"So many disorders result in a characteristic cry—or a crying impairment—that physicians examining an infant should make him cry at some point in the examination, if he doesn't do so spontaneously," explains Dr. Murray Feingold, director of the Center for Genetic Counseling and Birth Defect Evaluation at the Boston Floating Hospital for Infants and Children.

"The sound of an infant's cry offers audible confirmation of many rather rare disorders most practicing pediatricians don't see very often," says Feingold. "Most of these disorders are some form of mental retardation—such as cri du chat ('cry of the cat'), hypothyroidism, etc. Other ones may indicate some larynx deformity.

"The examining physician should observe the quality of an infant's cry, the effort involved in crying and the ease with which the infant can be made to cry," Feingold said.

"The pitch of a normal infant's cry isn't screechy," he elaborated. "Intensity varies as the baby inhales, cries, and then trails off as the baby runs out of breath. When he's angry or upset the volume tends to be louder than when he's merely uncomfortable."

Contrasting with normal infant cries, the cries of infants with central nervous system damage have almost a "spine-chilling" quality, Feingold observes.

"Children with central nervous system damage usually cry with a high-pitched, shrill, shrieky sound," he said. "The intensity may not be loud—the distinguishing characteristic is the pitch."

Babies suffering from hypothyroidism (cretinism) seldom cry spontaneously, and may be difficult to make cry—and when they do, the sound is generally hoarse, low intensity and low pitched.

"If the parent says the baby doesn't cry often," Feingold counsels pediatricians in his Med-com self-teaching tape. "According to Feingold, variations in the physical effort of a baby to cry should be noted and included in the diagnosis, as well as the audible qualities of the cry itself."

"First of all, the physician should discuss the baby's crying habits with the parent," he said.

Short Takes

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Women drivers are not unusual—except when the vehicle happens to be a Navy boat. The Navy recently assigned, on a trial basis, three women to the four boats going to the USS Arizona Memorial.

"It's just like driving a car," said Seaman Apprentice Terry J. Schorsch, 19. She, Seaman Helen D. Sheppard, 23, and Seaman Apprentice Judy A. East, 19, are line-handlers and coxswains-in-training on the 64-foot passenger barges. They fasten the lines of the boats to the pier and steer the boats around the harbor.

None had prior experience in working with boats, and all three had trouble making a smooth docking at the pier. "I kept running into the pier," Miss Schorsch said. "I didn't bump into it, I crashed into it."

But their supervisor, Boatswain's Mate First Class Edward Smith said the women are "doing a good job and show a great deal of enthusiasm."

"The first day they got here, I told them I expected them to do everything, including running the boat," Smith said.

He admitted he didn't like the idea at first, but now wouldn't mind a female crew. "If they can do the job, I'm all for it," he said.

The three young women probably became the first women in the Navy to design their own uniforms. Miss East made the outfits of white blouses and navy blue culottes, which are worn with blue knee socks and white sneakers.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two of Ma Bell's daughters have taken to climbing her telephone poles.

Mary Stabell and Carol Tyrer, former business office representatives for the New York Telephone Co., have accepted transfer to outdoor work—as cable splicer's helpers.

"These girls are amazing," said Charles Fields, a splicing foreman. He said the new crew members "have performed very well in all phases of training."

In order to qualify for their new jobs the two women had to complete satisfactorily a three-week training program. The first two days of training taught safety procedures, a company spokesman said. "By the third day," he said, "they already had sunk the gaffs of their climbers into 30-foot telephone poles and advanced several steps upward."

Equipping the women with a lineman's gear turned out to be a special problem. Almost all the equipment was too large.

"Even the smallest of these (men sizes) proved too large for the women," the spokesman said. "Their fingers would only reach half way up in work gloves, and ankle projections on climbers, which go up the inside of the leg to the knee, were too long."

The problem was solved when the phone company ordered special gear.

The two women said they both enjoy the out-of-doors.

"That's the biggest factor in accepting this assignment," Miss Stabell said. She said she spends much of her off duty time as a sports parachutist.

"Before I came to work for the company," Miss Tyrer said, "I worked outside with horses and loved every minute of it."

Both women said they enjoyed their new jobs. About the only thing that has changed, they said, was their hair style.

"We've stoned putting in the curlers. A simple style proved best."

The Mix I label, the better-junior sportswear division of the Match II firm, is into its second season for fall. Cathy Hardwick designs it and she said she thinks of it as appealing to girls between 20 and 35 who want a kooky but not kooky look. Her prices are about $16 to $40.

"I feel that my customer is a creative girl who loves clothes and can put pieces together with ease. She doesn't like a look that's too neat and studied. She prefers to look as though she just threw her outfit together in a few minutes."

That girl has a lot of choices for fall. Cathy showed six types of wide-legged cuffed and cuffless pants; a dozen jackets from short smock tops with shirred shoulders and short sleeves to long, open cardigans; pleated and gored short and long skirts; simple long A-line dresses in doubleknit wool and a group of tissue faille blouses. The pants, jackets and skirts are done in groups of solids, plaids and mens' wear fabrics for easy mixing and matching.

Two Physicians Join Staff Of Malone & Hogan Clinic

Two physicians have joined the medical staff of Malone & Hogan Clinic during the past week. They are Dr. B. R. (Ray) Owen, pediatrician, and Dr. J. E. (Jim) Mathews, surgeon.

Dr. Mathews is a native of Pampa but was graduated from Throckmorton High School. He received his bachelor of science degree in education from Texas Christian University in 1957. Then he earned a double BS degree in chemistry and biology from Texas Wesleyan in 1959 prior to entering Tulane Medical School in New Orleans, where he earned his doctor of medicine degree in 1964.

Dr. Mathews did his internship in John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth. From 1965-67 he was in the Army, serving part of the time on an IG team and then spending a year with the hospital at Fort Hood.

Upon separation from service, he did his residency in surgery at Scott and White Hospital at Temple, and during the past year was staff surgeon for the Veterans Administration Hospital in Temple.

He is a member of local, state and American Medical Associations. Dr. Mathews also is a member of the Southwest Surgical Congress, in the candidate group for the American College of Surgeons, and is certified by the American Board of Surgery. In school he was a member of the Alpha Kappa Fappa Medical fraternity, and in the past few years he has published articles in medical journals.

He is married to the former Rosemary Lindsey of Fort Worth, and she is in the process of completing her bachelor of nursing degree and board

They have three daughters, Anne, 12, Mary Catherine, 10, and Kristy, 7. The family is at home at 2405 Cindy Lane.

Dr. Owen is a native of Temple and was graduated from Valley Center High School in the suburbs of Wichita, Kans.

He took his bachelor of arts in pre-med at Kansas State University, then earned his doctor of medicine degree from the University of Kansas Medical School in Kansas City, Mo. This gave him his second contact with Big Spring, Tex., for his resident in pediatrics was a young graduate of Kansas Medical School, Dr. Robert Stripling of Big Spring. (His first contact had been as an avid basketball fan watching Howard County Junior College play in the national finals in Hutchinson, Kans.)

Dr. Owen interned in pediatrics in John Sealy

Hospital in Galveston, and then for the next two years did his residency in pediatrics there. In school he was in the Phi Beta Phi medical fraternity and was tapped out by Phi Kappa Phi scholastic honor society.

He is a member of local and state medical societies and the American Medical Association is in the candidate group for the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Dr. Owen is married to the former Carole Fry of Wichita, Kans., who is a BS graduate in journalism from Kansas State, where they met. They have one son, Scott, 2, and live in their new home at No. 9 Coachman Circle.

Jane Fonda Raps Bombing Of Dikes

TOKYO (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda has gone on Radio Hanoi and denounced the U.S. bombing of dikes in North Vietnam, the Vietnam News Agency reported today.

The agency said the broadcast was directed to "all the U.S. servicemen involved" in raids against North Vietnam. Earlier, the agency reported that Miss Fonda had visited an area east of Hanoi where dikes had been damaged by U.S. planes.

Miss Fonda was quoted as saying "there are no military targets" in the area.

Judge's Talk

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Recently a 17-year-old Florida boy pleaded guilty to possessing hallucinogenic drugs. He had also been charged with violence toward a Miami Beach police officer.

Judge Alfonso Sepe sentenced the youth to one year in the County Stockade and four years probation. The comments of the Judge so impressed me that I ordered the transcript from the Court Reporter so that I may read it to my own children.

Your column is so widely read I am sending you the "lecture" Judge Sepe gave that boy in the presence of the grieving parents. I hope you will publish it and give it the national forum I think it deserves.

Sincerely,
MRS. A. L. CATES, MIAMI, FLA.

DEAR MRS. CATES: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but I agree, this is worth it. Here it is:

Judge Sepe spoke directly to the youth and said, "Do you know who is going to serve that year? Not you; your mother and father will serve that year."

"That is what's wrong. THEY get sentenced. They get sentenced for a lifetime."

"You serve a year. Your body is in the stockade for a year but their souls are tormented for a lifetime. Why? Because you are a selfish, spoiled boy, that's why."

"There is no punishment in the world that I could inflict upon you that could in any way compensate for what you are doing to your mother and father. I have not spent five cents raising you. I didn't know you from Adam. But your mother and father have put their lives, their hearts, their sweat, their money and everything else they have into bringing you up. And now they have to sit in this courtroom and listen to a total stranger who had nothing to do with your upbringing scold you and put you in jail."

"This is at a time when phony kids your age are yelling, 'You adults have your alcohol, we have our drugs; you have polluted our water and our air, you have polluted this and that, and all the rest of the garbage that comes out of your mouths.'"

"Meanwhile, you put yourselves above everybody else. I feel sorry for you."

"I want you to think of this for one year, and the reason why I say it:

"If you are sick, a doctor will treat you and he won't be on drugs. The lawyer who represents you won't be high on drugs, and the people in whose custody you'll be won't be on drugs."

"Your astronauts are not on drugs, and your President is not, and your legislators are not."

"And your engineers who build the bridges that you drive across and the tunnels that you drive thru are not on drugs and those who build the planes that you fly in and the cars that you drive are not."

"Neither are those who build the bathrooms that you stink up with your lousy, rotten drugs."

"None of them have been on drugs, and this is because of people like your mother and father."

"But in the world of the future," Sepe went on, "the same may not be true. Teachers, doctors, lawyers, legislators — products of the new drug-oriented generation — may well be high as kites."

"You won't know whom to send your child to, or whom to trust your life to."

Sepe sighed and closed the case file.

"Let's see what kind of world you leave to your children," he said, "before you talk about the world that we left to ours."

'First Candidate Who Has Got His Thing Together'

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — United Farm Workers Union leader Cesar Chavez has praised Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., as "the first presidential candidate since the beginning of the country who has got his thing together."

Speaking Thursday to an audience of about 250, Chavez said, "the largest number of voters in history" will turn out in November to elect McGovern.

Chavez also praised the Democratic National Convention as the vehicle through which "almost all the American public knows about the lettuce boycott the union is conducting against non-UFW growers."

CHAVEZ said "every single delegate" was contacted by 15 to 20 UFW staffers who were at the convention. "Boycot Lettuce" signs and UFW flags were often seen during the televised convention.

GORILLA ON HIS BACK

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Ronald Lovato, 19, was jumped as he walked near a park and was unable to get his attacker off his back.

When Lovato struggled to a nearby house with the "mugger" still on his back, the startled woman who answered the door informed him he had a gorilla on his back.

City Park Director Clayton Freiheit said pranksters apparently released the 2-year-old, 34-pound female gorilla from her cage.

Lovato was treated for bites on his hands and arms and scratches on his back.

Mystery Of Fireflies Studied By Four Profs

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Remember how fireflies glowed in your hand when you caught them? The scientific term for that glowing is "bioluminescence" and it's this mystery of life that is being studied by Dr. Bennie L. Badgett and three other members of Southwest Texas State University's Chemistry Department.

Dr. Badgett and his assistants, graduate students Warren L. Dubose of Gonzales, Demecio Castilleja of San Marcos and Flotonia sophomore Thomas Jasek are studying "fungal luciferins" under a $10,000, two-year grant from the Robert A. Welch Foundation.

Fungal luciferins are chemical molecules found on fungi which when combined with an A.T.P. molecule, a molecule essential to the formation of life, will produce one photon of light.

Dr. Badgett and his associates must extract the glowing material from the fungus and run a biological assay on it. This assay consists of grinding the material into a powder and extracting the chemicals needed for study by adding solvents and putting the final material through purifying processes.

"Even then we have to ask ourselves, 'Did we separate the material properly?' and 'How pure is the resulting material after the biological assay is completed?' We are in the assay stage of our research which could take anywhere from two weeks to 20 years but I'm hoping that we'll complete this particular segment of our study by the end of our two year grant from the Welch Foundation," Dr. Badgett concluded.

It is hoped the research will yield a better understanding of luminescent reactions that yield products in electronically excited states and possible discoveries of new ones. The study

Legislative Changes Needed

The Legislature wrote the state's 1973 budget from funds certified "available" except for a final quarter funding of public welfare and lawmakers adjourned, having taken several bows toward improved government. Many of the legislators were lame-duck members but there seemed to be genuine support for more-open conduct of the state's business.

Also the budget session was another in a long line of special sessions, made necessary mainly by money matters that haven't been and possibly couldn't have been adequately anticipated. The final quarter funding for welfare is being forecast certain from federal sources. Texas has been losing "matching money" through a provision in federal rules. That provision will be waived, it has been announced, so that Texas can qualify for some $125 million in additional funds.

Two items for improvement are indicated. First, need for annual sessions for money matters grows stronger. That session, however, should be restricted to money matters. Too many laws come out of the regular session. The state is forbidden from spending more than can be certified available from current sources. That is a good provision. Forecasts two years hence have been shown to be quite inaccurate. Second, proper organization for full federal credits on partnerships programs is in order.

The next legislature, meeting in January, will find problems delayed or pegged in the special session demanding attention. There was no appropriation to pay for elections, for example.

The main concern will be on quality of performance in the legislature. Before the next session, Texans will have decided whether they want the constitution revised.

The state's affairs can be managed far more efficiently if better assignment of authority and responsibility can be made. Three-quarters of the state's business — in terms of money invested — is managed by boards and commissions virtually unaccountable once they are confirmed in office. That things have gone so well is evidence that most people are decent citizens. But the opportunity for mischief is greater than it ought to be without better designation of responsibility.

Aim Now At The Beetle

Probably it's too late to do much about it this summer, but warnings about dangers to our elm tree population should not be forgotten. The fact is, barring some natural miracle we have no reason to expect, the elm cannot continually lose their foliage in the growing season without suffering serious and perhaps fatal harm over a few seasons. It is as though you were deprived of sufficient food over a period of time.

As valuable as trees are in West Texas, it seems such a tragedy to suffer this loss by virtual default. Even the city is not protecting the trees in its parks, and this is tragic.

None can compel private property owners to protect their trees, but surely most people can appreciate the logic of spending a few dollars to protect the investment of many years, and what cannot be replaced by perhaps a generation. Only God can make a tree, but man can help preserve God's handiwork.

Can't we look ahead to next year and have ready a plan of battle to halt the elm beetle in his tracks?

More To Come

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

In the interest of equal time the Republican convention isn't going to be too great either, from the standpoint of excitement.

BEFORE IT'S over, we may be begging the tube moguls to bring back the summer re-runs.

A Democratic slogan this year is "listen to the people," but it's obvious that not many of the people on the floor of the Demo convention were doing much listening to the speaker.

WERE YOU 'der Charlie? Nope, I was one of the few Paste-Pot men in America with official press stand tickets issued by Steven V. Gerstel, chairman of Standing Committee of Correspondents and United Press International vet, who shunned Miami Beach and watched the Florida fun and philosophy via television in Big Spring.

This happened as God intended for two very good reasons — no money, and I had to edit copy and write headlines for stories pecked out by glory seekers at the convention.

Dolph Briscoe won't guarantee to support the Democratic nominee for President. But don't worry, Republicans — he won't go for yours, either.

BRISCOE complains about the telephone company's service. That may be a subtle reminder the Democrats still owe that 1968 convention bill.

Texas Republicans have their own way of knowing the election year is official. Vice President Agnew is coming to the state to raise campaign funds.

Texas' uncommitted Democratic delegates can make one faint claim. They kept McGovern from victory about as long as any other state did.

ONE OF Texas' convention delegates fell asleep in his chair. If he hadn't snored a little, no one would ever have noticed.

Jay Sanders, ex-cowboy turning political pro, declared: "Uncommitted delegates from Texas never did unite on a candidate for President, but they all knew his initials: ABM — Anybody But McGovern."

PROOFREADER GLENDA Von Willer has a girl friend who has diagnosed a new epidemic sweeping the nation: Costrophobia

A Big Spring attorney on a local station stressed he's not running for public office now. That's the kind of statement that seems to say, "But don't forget to ask me again later."

Reporters are getting ready for Agnew's talks in Texas by gathering up their notebooks, their tape recorders and their dictionaries.

I think it was Robert O. Clark, yep, that's the one, who said: "A conference is an organized way to postpone a decision."

If anyone wants to join the "I'm Fed Up with Bobby Fischer" club, consider yourself a member. There are no dues, no meetings. Just sit there wondering who he thinks he is.

Sammy Franklin, a budding rodeo star, reports: "Burt Reynolds is just another pretty face."

IF YOU'RE looking for a name for the current vogue of blue stockings for women, says Kenneth Hickman, how about "the rigor mortis look?"

My mother, still operating in the West Texas area and presently mooching off Mrs. John E. McDuffey in Midland, writes:

"Any smart woman will tell you that the way to get a husband to start the heavy work in the yard is to suggest he's probably too old for it."

Mom, I'm further over the hill than I thought, I was following a feminine staff member a moment ago, and noticed she was gaining.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

What is your opinion of profanity in the Armed Services training camps? We all know that it exists, even among top officers. But do you think it is ever justifiable, inevitable, or a necessary evil, or what? Do you feel that servicemen could properly train their personnel without profanity? I will be interested in your reply. So will a lot of other military people.

Profanity, and the use of obscenity in speech is invariably the result of bad habit and a limited vocabulary. I have observed that wherever men are thrown together without the restraining influence of Christians or good women, they very often resort to obscenity and profanity. Of course it is unnecessary, uncalled for, and strong, is a better man and more admired if he employs crisp, clean language.

Woodrow Wilson once told the story of a man who used profanity in the presence of his clergyman-father. Suddenly realizing that he had used foul language in the presence of a clergyman, he said, "I beg your pardon."

But Wilson's father said, "Oh, sir, you have not offended me. All profane language is an offense toward Him unjustified. A man, no matter how whose name is used in vain." The Bible says, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." Exodus 20:7. But Jesus said that we were not to swear against God, nor anything He had created. He said: "Swear not at all; neither by heaven, for it is God's throne; Nor by the earth." Matthew 5:34-35.

"WELL, IN THAT CASE, MAYBE YOU'D LIKE TO LEAVE A LITTLE SOMETHING TO THE CAMPAIGN..."

William F. Buckley Jr.

MIAMI BEACH — Scene: BBC studios, at Convention Hall. The British anchor man, Robin Day, is tapping his fingers on the desk. The time is 2:38, and opposite him is an empty chair. At exactly 3:00 p.m. the satellite lodged high in the heavens by the military-industrial complex is scheduled to vouchsafe one of its beams for the purpose of transmitting the thought of Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith from Convention Hall to the British people. And when a satellite bestows its favors on you, you need to put plenty of nickels into the slot.

3:00 P.M., NO Galbraith 3:15, no Galbraith. Finally he comes in. At 3:22. His trouble was that the security guards wouldn't let him in to the Booth Section of the Hall, because he didn't have the proper pass. That was a little bit like denying Peter the Great access to St. Petersburg.

Galbraith, as I say, is probably the principal intellectual patron of the McGovern Convention. He has given his enormous prestige to popularizing the kind of populism that George McGovern has ridden in on. Where else, except in Galbraith, can you find someone who is at once president of the American Economic Association, past president of the Americans For Democratic Action, author of the best known economic treatise since John Maynard Keynes, and principal dispenser of the kind of snake oil they have been drinking here in Miami Beach?

THE PRINCIPAL domestic enthusiasm here is Redistribution. And Prof. Galbraith touches on the subject, in an article in the current Saturday Review called "The Case For George McGovern." Mr. Galbraith takes great pains to dissipate the miasma that hovers droopily over all McGovern campfire meetings. It is the slogan: "McGovern is the Democratic Goldwater." Galbraith hastens to explain the principal differences between McGovern and Goldwater. "Goldwater was urging change in favor of the few and the rich. It was Barry Goldwater's romantic thought that the poor wanted more done for the rich, less for themselves..."

NOW NEVER MIND that that account of Goldwater's candidacy is preposterous, however amusing. It is even internally contradictory, since it enhances the rich as the principal meaning of the campaign, it is hard to understand how come Goldwater got 27 million people to vote for him. More likely, they understood themselves to be voting for a principled man who believes the government ought to get to work and do what it's supposed to do better than it's been doing (curbing crime, providing for the national defense), and get its cotton-picking hands off what is no business of government (telling your children where to go to school and why, subsidizing everything from illegitimacy to ballet).

"DECONCENTRATE..." says the Democratic draft platform... "shared monopolies such as auto, steel and tire industries which administer prices, create unemployment through restricted output and stifle technological innovation." It is so much easier to sit back and talk about it from the rich who, by the way, are defined by the working of McGovern economics, as anybody who earns $12,000 per year.

IT IS STRANGE that, in Miami Beach, they talk about "new," and "progressive" policies. Prof. Galbraith's discovering of redistribution as a campaign issue comes some time after the discovery of it in Athens by the hoi polloi. It is old hat, and one regrets the reactionary influence from Prof. Galbraith on the McGovern Convention.

U.S.-Soviet Grain Deal Signed

NEW YORK (AP) — American-Soviet Union trade relations held the fore of the business scene during the past week after the Soviet Union agreed to buy $750 million of American grain.

The deal was announced last Saturday night.

The three-year grain agreement was signed with the understanding the United States would make quick delivery of the products, with at least $200 million in grain to be purchased the first year. An American official said first shipments may begin before the end of July.

SMALLER CREWS

The Penn Central Transportation Co. said it would begin its long-planned effort to cut back the size of train crews and phase out 5,700 trainmen's jobs starting July 26. The United Transportation Union indicated that a work slowdown might be imminent because of the action.

Some favorable signs for the economy were reported during the week. The Commerce Department said business inventories surged $1.18 billion to almost $184.8 billion seasonally adjusted in May, the largest monthly gain since July 1970. The Commerce Department also reported that retail sales in June rose 7.5 per cent from June 1971, though they dropped 1.5 per cent from May 1972.

LOOK CLOSELY

The Environmental Protection Agency notified automakers that it was closely scrutinizing devices planned for 1973 cars that might disable emission-control systems under certain conditions. The EPA expressed concern that some of the systems may be equipped with overrides or other mechanisms that in effect would turn the systems off under certain driving or temperature conditions, allowing the car's emis-

Circuit Bucks Segregation Case Back On Fort Worth

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has directed a federal court in Texas to implement desegregation in what it said were 16 "virtually all-black, one-race schools" in Fort Worth, Tex.

The appeals court ordered further integration in the school system of the city, saying that 12,000 of the 21,000 black pupils there have been relegated to a segregated education.

The appellate court, however, commended the Fort Worth school board and its superintendent for past efforts at ending segregation, and also put in a minor jab at the NAACP, which brought the suit.

The judges told NAACP attorneys that they criticized the school district but offered no plans to remedy their complaints.

In its decision, the appeals court remanded its case to district court in Texas and ordered changes to be put into effect for the 1972-73 school year.

The appeals court said the Fort Worth plans have been effective in achieving a "substantial amount of integration," but added it falls short of meeting the Supreme Court mandate that "all state-imposed segregation be eliminated from the public schools."

"This is because of the existence in the school systems, during both the 1970-71 and 1971-72 school years of 16 unjustified virtually all-black, one-race schools, relegating almost 12,000 of the approximately 21,000 black public school students in Fort Worth to a constitutionally proscribed segregated education," it said.

The appeals court ordered changes in the student assignment programs affecting the 11 elementary schools that are 88 per cent or more black, two all-black high schools and three all-black middle schools.

Mills Says No VP Offer Made

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who withdrew at the last moment as a presidential candidate, said Friday he was not surprised that Sen. George S. McGovern did not ask him to be the vice presidential candidate.

Mills said he did not want to be vice president. "I agreed to serve if Sen. Ted Kennedy would run for president, but this would have been the only circumstance under which I would agree to it," Mills said.

"From my point of view, I am pleased that he didn't offer it to me because I would have had to turn it down, and it's better never to have had the offer than to have to refuse it." However, Mills said he wished McGovern had chosen a more conservative running mate than Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri. Mills said it would have been "better for the ticket."

Sympathy Vote

Marquis Childs

MIAMI BEACH — Geared up by the old guard and with the help of a large part of the media, the doomsday machine was rolling long before the outcome of the convention became a certainty. It will now be zipped up with lights, bells, amplifying devices, fireworks, all to pronounce the inevitable defeat of Sen. George McGovern.

LIKE A LITANY the catalogue of his all-embracing opposition is almost daily recited. Labor is against him. Big business is against him. Small business is against him. The Jews are against him. The Catholics are against him. The farmers are against him. The party pros are against him.

This can have only one effect. It makes McGovern the underdog — the under, under underdog — and that, as recent history has shown, generates a sympathy vote. Most Americans still have a measure of independence despite all the pressures of bigness and they will react by saying, "you aren't going to tell me who to vote against when I get into that voting booth." The Republicans, fearful of overconfidence, should caution their allies.

THE MEDIA has a lot to answer for and I confess my own share of the guilt. We were writing in January that Sen. Edmund Muskie was the front runner. Democrats in Congress and among the big-money contributors were moving fast to keep abreast of the front runner with their endorsements.

MORE SERIOUS was our failure to comprehend the yeasty new political forces and the part they would play in the 1972 presidential campaign. However broad a band they are in the political spectrum they turned out in the primaries to give McGovern the edge in 10 of those primaries.

RWP Ignored

MIAMI — I was walking into the convention center when I saw a man being thrown out by two Democratic Party marshals. He was surprisingly well dressed and as I picked him up from the ground and brushed him off I asked, "What happened?"

HE WIPED his face with a silk handkerchief. "They threw me out because I was lobbying for Rich White People."

"Rich White People?" "Yes," he said brushing his Gucci shoes with his handkerchief. "No one at this convention cares about Rich White People. They pay lip service to us, but when it comes to doing something about our plight they ignore us. We're the only minority that's been disenfranchised at this convention."

"BUT THAT'S terrible," I said. "We Rich White People are sick and tired of being used as pawns by the politicians. We're fed up with them promising us everything — depreciation allowances, tax shelters, lower income taxes. And then after Election Day we're no better off than we were before. We have a right to be heard."

"Of course you have," I said. "The Rich White People are the backbone of this country. They made it what it is today."

SEVERAL RWP joined us as we were talking. One woman stood up on her Rolls-Royce and shouted, "We have as much right to be in the hall as the blacks, the Chicanos, the Indians, the women and the youth. The Democratic Party used to care about Rich White People, but now that they're fat with their telephones they don't give a damn about us any more."

The man in the Gucci shoes said, "We're not going to sit around and take it. We're going to turn this convention around. If our voices aren't heard, we're going to shut down this country."

"Right on!" the small crowd shouted.

RAVE AND RANT AGAINST UNITED STATES

How Independent Is A Begger?

By WILLIAM GIANDONI
Copley News Service

The "independence of the beggars" is what one prominent Brazilian calls the stance of Latin American countries that so loudly denounce U.S. imperialism and depend so heavily on U.S. trade and aid.

Roberto de Oliveira Campos, former Brazilian planning minister, mentioned the examples of only Chile and Peru. But he could have named others, for there are a number of hemisphere nations that play the Yanqui-baiting game.

Actually, of all the other American republics, only Communist Cuba has managed to achieve a degree of "economic independence" of the United States.

that the money could be spent only for U.S. goods and services. Then only turn around and negotiate credits from the Soviet Union with similar restrictions, knowing full well that Latin America's experience with Soviet and other Communist goods has been much less than a happy one.

Even Communist Cuba, despite its longstanding trade and payments agreement with the Soviet Union, which now covers about 60 per cent of the island's total foreign trade, still relies primarily on sugar and other industrial equipment bought from the United States before 1959, and other Western suppliers since then.

BIG DIFFERENCE

Yet, as Premier Fidel Castro's lengthy travels behind the Iron Curtain and his latest pilgrimage to Moscow indicate, his shift in allegiance from the United States to the USSR left Cuba as dependent as ever. The big difference is that now Cuba has to rely on a country that cannot even supply its own people with the luxury and semiluxury items that gave Cuba the highest living standards in Latin America prior to 1959, when the Red revolution triumphed.

Still Cuba's plight seems not to have dissuaded those Latins who talk so enthusiastically of "economic independence" and "independent economic development."

"TIED" LOANS

They rave and rant against the "tied" loans that the United States used to offer them, protesting the fact soon captured by subsidiaries of foreign firms that "denationalized" the domestic capitalists and transferred the benefits of industrialization abroad. More recently, the expansion of multinational corporations transferred the decision-making apparatus out of the country and that led to a sort of conspiracy to keep the world divided into dominant and dependent economies.

"DEPENDENT NATION"

Brazil's own experience disproves the leftist theory, Campos says.

Although some critics classify Brazil as a "dependent" nation, a country that takes its economic orders from the United States, Campos points out that, particularly in recent years, since the anti-Communist revolution of 1964, Brazilian governments have learned how to defend the country's national interests, using fiscal weapons, credit policy, exchange rates and foreign trade controls.

What is more, the Brazilian government controls such basic industries as electric power, petroleum, iron and steel, communications, and rail and sea transportation.

Finally, Campos wrote, Brazil recognizes that the evolution of international policy no longer permits the great multinational firms to ignore the political wishes of governments.

"When Peru, Algeria, Chile and Iraq, countries a lot less politically and militarily expressive than Brazil, can defy the great trusts with impunity, the fear of loss of independence (to foreign corporations) seems an obsolete inferiority complex."

CAPITALIST EXPLOITERS

As Campos pointed out in an article in the newspaper O Estado de Sao Paulo, it has become popular in recent years in leftist circles to argue that what economic development has been achieved in Latin America favored only the foreign, that is U.S., capitalist exploiters.

According to that version of history, the wave of industrialization that swept Latin America from 1930 to 1955 stimulated national industrial development and the growth of a property-owning middle class in the beginning. But the movement was

It is hard to dispute that point. Consider the experiences that the foreign oil companies, the banana growers, the sugar producers, the mining companies, the railroads, power and light, telephone and communications firms have had in Latin America over the last three or four decades.

OIL ACTION

Since 1938, when Mexico expropriated most of the big U.S., British and Dutch oil companies, right up to today, when Peru is in the process of taking over the Standard Oil of California refinery and Chile is toying with the idea of expropriating everything, foreign or Chilean, worth more than a million dollars, private firms have as often as not been on the defensive in Latin America.

FAIR GAME

Mexico has long since progressed beyond the stage where any private foreign holding is considered fair game. Nationalizations in Mexico now are carried out on the basis of prompt and just compensation.

But Chile and Peru confiscate properties first and then conjure up retroactive tax bills that appear to leave the foreign companies owing more than their businesses were worth.

Then, when the United States indicates some reluctance to advance them the U.S. taxpayers' money (they wanted to purchase new jet airliners, for example) they rise in righteous wrath to complain against U.S. dollar diplomacy.

That is just one example of the "independence of the beggars."

Buck Owens, Son Of Texas Sharecropper, In The Chips

By DON FREEMAN
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — There was a smile in her voice as the waitress said to Buck Owens: "I can't tell whether you're you or your son — you look so much alike!"

Buck replied that he was much obliged and that it certainly was a nice way to start off the day. It's like that now with Alvis Edgar (Buck) Owens Jr., son of a Texas sharecropper, and one of the eminent figures of country and western music. His harvest is all roses. Buck plays his share of concerts, makes records, writes songs, stars in his own syndicated TV show and he's still pickin' and grinnin' on "Hee Haw," which moved from CBS into syndication across the land.

By his own estimate, Buck is pretty well fixed. But then, all country and western singers are rich, aren't they? Or, a fellow wondered, is that just a myth?

"Big myth, for danged sure," said Buck Owens. "A few country singers are quite affluent but not all of them. You need a bit of luck. But I got so danged tired of people saying to me, 'Man, you're sure lucky.' I remember how it was, scuffling around from show to show in my old '59 Ford. Then things started perkng and I thought it must be luck, after all.

"I mean, I'd see talented singers and their careers might stiff out on 'em. Odd things happen. Yep, it must all be luck. And then I realized something — the harder I worked, the luckier I got."

Buck made his first big imprint, singing with a country and western group in Bakersfield, Calif., about 20 years ago, and he still lives up there.

Comsats Have Come Long, Long Way In Past Decade

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

On the off-chance you may have forgotten the world began to shrink 10 years ago this month.

It was July 10, 1962, that television viewers in America, France and Britain watched in wonder a picture flashed across the screen. It was an American winged man in the New England sky. And there was the flag of the United States of America.

The black-and-white picture and sound were transmitted high above the Atlantic from a huge horn-shaped antenna near Andover, Me. Then they were rebroadcast back to Andover and to Holmdel, N.J., from a glistening new earth-orbiting satellite, Telstar I, built by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and launched 15 hours earlier aboard a Thor-Delta rocket from Cape Canaveral, Fla., since rechristened Cape Kennedy.

The day after the first Telstar was launched, the 170-pound space baby, speeding around the earth every 158 minutes in its egg-shaped, 580-by-3,500-mile orbit, relayed the first TV photographs westward from Europe to the United States — from France and England in black and white and a week later in color.

On July 21 that year huge audiences on both sides of the Atlantic watched the first international exchange of live television.

European viewers saw the Statue of Liberty, a baseball game between the Philadelphia Phillies and the Chicago Cubs, a presidential press conference, a buffalo roaming the South Dakota plains, the Mormon Tabernacle Choir singing at Mount Rushmore.

In turn, Americans got glimpses of historic Big Ben from London's Tower Bridge, the Coliseum in Rome, the Louvre in Paris, the Sistine Chapel in Vatican City, Sicilian fishermen reefing their nets, and reindeer near the Arctic Circle in Norway.

Still in July, 1962, the first transatlantic news telecast showed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower being greeted by Swedish Premier Tage Erlander in Stockholm. The picture was transmitted from Sweden to England, then up to Telstar and down to Andover.

In the next four months Telstar wrote communications history by handling more than 400 transmissions, including 50 TV demonstrations, telephone calls in both directions and facsimile transmission material.

But that was before the United States and the Soviet Union had agreed to halt high altitude nuclear tests. And in November, 1962, the solar-cell-powered satellite fell silent, its electronics disabled by the high radiation which drifted upward into space after atomic explosions in the atmosphere.

COMEBACK

Telstar I, however, made a brief comeback in January, 1963, after ground diagnosis of her ills. Then along came Telstar II, launched May 7, 1963, in time to show President Lyndon B. Johnson's inaugural and Winston Churchill's funeral in January, 1965.

Telstar II was turned off deliberately in May of that year, her experiments completed, her missions fulfilled.

1,758 Killed On Texas Roads

AUSTIN (AP) — Traffic deaths are up only slightly in Texas this year despite the continuing increase in auto travel, the Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

The DPS said 1,758 persons have died in auto accidents since Jan 1, up four-tenths of a percent from the 1,751 deaths reported by this time a year ago.

It's Contagious

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am writing about tuberculosis. They tell me it isn't contagious. I have always been told that it was. And it is also hereditary. When people have TB, they should not be with others at home to spread the germs. Am I right?

Don't people have hemorrhage from the mouth when they have it real bad? — Mrs. B.J.

Who's "they"? Certainly TB is contagious. It is passed from person to person, carried by germs. The tubercle bacillus. No, TB isn't hereditary, but if for example, a woman with TB had a baby, the baby would be very likely to contract the disease from the mother.

Close contact with a person who has active TB is the way the disease spreads, primarily from the germs being scattered by coughs, sneezes, kissing or other contact. The big problem in controlling TB is that a person may have it for quite some time before knowing it, and in that time can spread the disease to others.

If only TB showed up quickly, like scarlet fever, measles, flu or whatever, we would have much more success in stamping out the disease. When a case is discovered, then the patient should not stay at home and risk giving the disease to those around him. With modern drugs, hospitalization is much shorter than it used to be, and when the disease is brought under control and the patient no longer has the germs in his sputum (and hence won't be spraying TB germs with every sneeze and cough) it is safe to let him go home again. But he should be tested periodically to be sure the disease hasn't become active again.

Yes, in advanced TB there can be bleeding from the lungs (the patient coughs up blood), but that usually means the case is quite advanced and should have been detected sooner.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that mineral oil should not be used, that it dissolves all vitamin intake. Is this true? As I have a weight and constipation problem I have found that making mayonnaise with mineral oil works wonders for me, as it is non-fattening, makes salads more appetizing, and corrects constipation. — Mrs. S.E.B.

No, you needn't stop the dressing. Mineral oil, in larger amounts than you get in your mayonnaise, can decrease the absorption of vitamin A — but not all vitamins. B and C, for example, are soluble in water, but not affected by oils.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is a "calcified aorta," what causes it and what are the dangers if any? — A. H. F.

Part of the process of hardening of the arteries involves laying down calcium in the walls of the arteries, and when enough calcium has been deposited, it may be seen by X-ray. The aorta, of course, is the biggest of the arteries, the main one leading from the heart. But other arteries can harden, too, and accumulate calcium. This can be noticeable, for example, in the arteries serving the legs. There is no particular danger from such calcification since it does not obstruct the flow of blood. But since it is an indication of hardening of the arteries, it is wise to see that your blood pressure stays within normal limits.

Note to Mrs. D. A. P.: No, you won't become addicted to B-12 injections. B-12 is a vitamin and not a drug.

Three Charged In NASA Theft
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Three men have been charged with possession of a $165,000 piece of equipment belonging to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A police spokesman said the equipment was stolen from a truck a week ago while it was being transported to NASA headquarters in Houston, Tex.

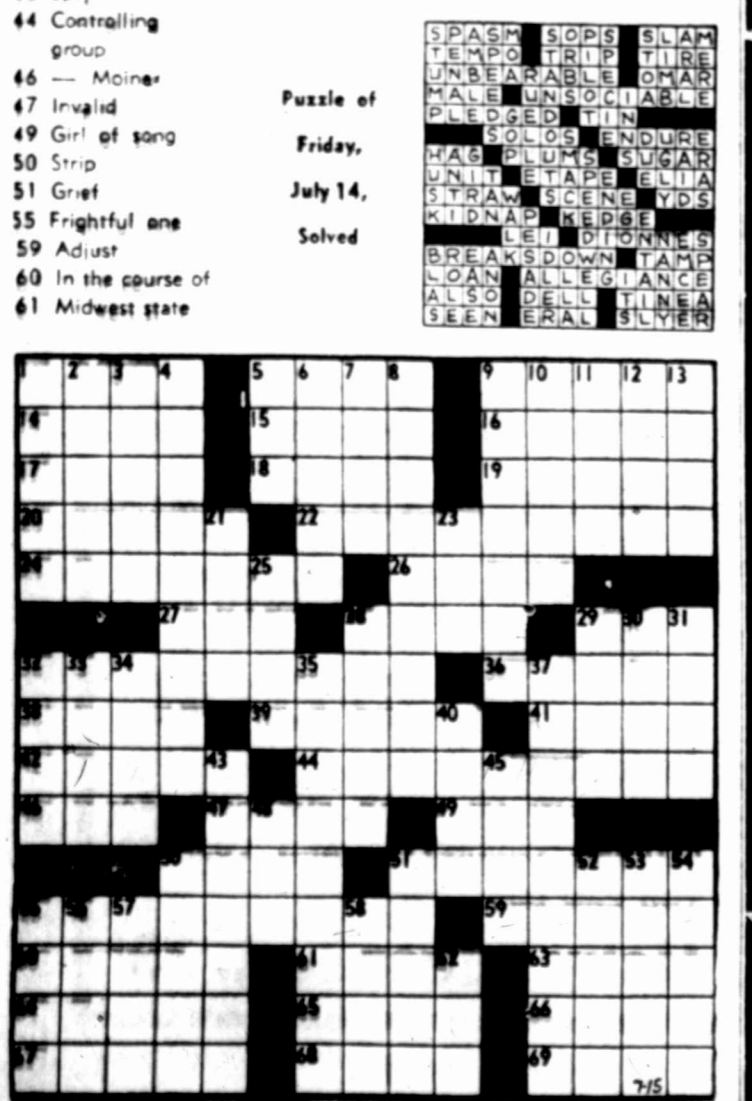

The spokesman said it was recovered from the rear of an auto body shop.

Police said the arrests were made Thursday after they received an anonymous phone.

Charged were Jesse R. Daniels, 31, Jerome C. Highsmith, 28, and James W. Sparger, 27, all of Newark.

Everything 'Up'
In Hong Kong

HONG KONG — Even the world of Susie Wong is going high-rise. Ever since the first of almost 2 million Chinese refugees descended on Hong Kong after the Communist takeover of mainland China in 1949-50, resettlement centers have become part of the exotic tension of the Hong Kong harbor skyline. Now tourists are overflowing into Hong Kong, too. Hotels have been virtually sold out through most of each recent year. In 1972, more than a million visitors are expected, and yet Hong Kong has only about 10,000 hotel rooms. Six new hotels are rising along the waterfront on both sides of the Hong Kong harbor. Sheraton is beginning to work on a 922-room giant to open in 1974 on the Kowloon side.

The skyscrapers have not previously got in the way of visitors drawn by Hong Kong's unique excitement, its bargains and its beauty. But checking back into the Mandarin Hotel, which ranks among the finest hotels in the world, the visitor notices something in his way. A massive office building rises across Connaught Road between hotel and water, blocking part of the view of Hong Kong harbor.

It will be 53 stories high when finished, and for a while will rank as the tallest building in Asia. Its site was sold at auction last year for $46 million (U.S.) or about $800 per square foot, a price comparable to that of Wall Street real estate in New York.

The office building is under construction by Hong Kong Land Investment and Agency Co. Ltd., which owns 51 per cent of the Mandarin.

"We were virtually forced to buy the site to protect the hotel," a Hong Kong Land spokesman said. "Out competition would have blocked off the Mandarin almost completely. We have centered the building at the other side of the site and put a park directly across from the Mandarin."

The new building rises adjacent to the Star Ferry landing, where the enchanting second-class ride across the harbor — and its jungle of junks, sampans, warships and freighters — still costs less than two cents. (The haughtier crowd pays about four cents in first class.) Prices are up sharply in Hong Kong and hotels are concerned about sliding standards in the luxurious Hong Kong service, but the Star Ferry still moves the millions back and forth at the same old price.

Sometime about July, the new car tunnel will open between Hong Kong and Kowloon; the tourist will find his trip back and forth to Kai Tak Airport swifter, but most of the city will be unaffected. Few among Hong Kong's 4 million own cars.

JAM HOTELS. It remains the ultimate waterborne city, and that is why the hotels fight for space along the harbor front; those visitors lucky enough to have good views enjoy the most absorbing harbor scene on earth, without leaving their rooms.

Even catastrophe heightens the Hong Kong excitement. When the Queen Elizabeth I caught fire and was gutted in Hong Kong harbor last January (insurance investigators are still probing), the great liner keeled halfway over and sank in mud.

Now every harbor tour boat cruises around the wreck. Waves lap at the blue tile edge of the ship's promenade deck swimming pool; the sight-seer peers straight ahead into its bottom. The sleek vessel is a monotone in the brown that brings terror to any ship lover's hearts: burned, rusted metal. Barnacles clog the stateroom corridors. The proud stacker hovers just above water level at a ghastly angle.

COMPETITION The office building is under construction by Hong Kong Land Investment and Agency Co. Ltd., which owns 51 per cent of the Mandarin.

MORE TO BUY Ashore, American visitors find the weakness of the dollar more depressing in Hong Kong than in most of the world, because there is more to buy. But Hong Kong has adjusted nicely to the American embarrassment. Within the last year the Japanese have surpassed Americans among Hong Kong visitors and their numbers are increasing so rapidly that they outnumber Americans by almost two-to-one.

It is the Japanese now of whom shrewd Chinese merchants confide. "They will buy anything," Japanese tour operators base their prices below market and make their profit on commissions from Hong Kong merchants. The Japanese, a Hong Kong merchant said, follow their tour guides so obediently in shopping that only a few come back later to buy at lower prices.

A Hong Kong tourist official has denounced merchants and tour operators for "fleeing Japanese tourists."

Finally the American innocents abroad can relax. Somebody else has become the favorite dupe.

Bronson Hot In Europe

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He has the build of a college wrestler, a face that might have been found on an Inca tomb. His manner is menacing, even in normal conversation.

He is not Hollywood's idea of a film star, but Charles Bronson is the hottest attraction in Europe.

"I prefer working in Europe, where the subject matter for films is more varied," he said. "Producers over there are interested in the international market, and so am I."

"The American film industry is nationalistic. The critics are nationalistic, too. Producers make films only for Americans. But the American public gets so much entertainment on television that they're calloused. If a movie comes along that is kooky or twisted, they'll rush to it. Otherwise they stay home."

The Charles Bronson vogue has not struck this country as yet. But a visitor to Europe sees it all over. In Madrid and Rome and other major cities, theaters are plastered with huge blowups of the hard-muscled Bronson figure and his handsome-ugly face.

Dino DeLaurentiis, who produced Bronson's latest film, "The Valachi Papers," terms the actor "the biggest draw of the day in motion picture theaters."

Bronson has come a long way from the Pennsylvania coal mining town where he was born to Lithuanian immigrants named Buchinsky. Charlie followed his father into the mines, broke out for a roving period in which he tangled with the law. He started acting in Philadelphia, moved to the Pasadena Playhouse and entered films in 1951.

Bronson proved highly serviceable in Westerns—"The Magnificent Seven"—and war movies—"The Dirty Dozen"—generally as the heavy or the hero's friend.

FAMILY UNDER ATTACK
... In Walt Disney adventure film

Swiss Family Robinson Most Difficult Movie

Producer Bill Anderson, who worked closely with Walt Disney for more than two decades, recalls that production and filming of the adventure classic, "Swiss Family Robinson" was "the most difficult we ever encountered."

"We had many meetings with Walt to decide how 'Swiss Family Robinson' was going to be produced. There were two opinions. One was that we would make the picture on the Burbank lot using special process photography. I prevailed on Walt to let us try to make it in its natural locale."

"So we began to search, which started a world-wide project. Our director, Ken Annakin, had worked not only in the Far East but in Africa and our associate producer, Basil Keys had also worked on many international productions. Keys wanted to film in East Africa and Annakin wanted to go to Ceylon to make it. And I insisted they explore the Caribbean."

"At first, they were discouraged because most of the islands lay flat, and we needed more divergent terrain. Finally, I received a wire saying they had found this island of Tobago situated at the end of the Leeward Isles in the West Indies. I flew down there and found it scenically beautiful and perfect for our filming needs. Not only that, Tobago was the legendary home of Robinson Crusoe, which tied in perfectly with the story line of 'Swiss Family Robinson.'"

"Right away it was evident that making a picture there was going to be difficult because of the lack of facilities. We needed a warehouse and a cover stage. Walt realized this was going to be costly but he finally agreed to it. We went ahead and, with the exception of 'Mary Poppins,'"

"We put all the money into production."

"We put all the money into what is seen on the screen but we still had tremendous problems. We had to build our own sound stage out of sheet metal. We had to import everything that was used. It was a experience one of the biggest storms ever to hit the island of Tobago. It flooded our stage and flooded out our treehouse and other sets. We couldn't shoot for weeks. In fact, the crew set to and helped the natives clean up the debris and reconstruct their homes."

"I think the proof of this picture was in the way we did it and the way it was accepted by the public. It's big entertainment, and it's a bigger-than-life adventure in that it gives the feeling of being on the island with the Robinson family."

In Panavision and Technicolor, "Swiss Family Robinson" stars John Mills, Dorothy McGuire, James MacArthur and Janet Munro, and co-stars Sessue Hayakawa, Tommy Kirk, Kevin Corcoran and Cecil Parker. Buena Vista re-releases.

George C. Scott In 'Hospital' Continues Brilliant Career

An impressive combine of "The Bachelor Party," "Middle of the Night," "The Tenth Man" and "The Americanization of Ely." Academy Award-winner George C. Scott, "The Hospital" was written by one of America's most original dramatists, Paddy Chayefsky, and directed by Arthur Hiller, who is riding the crest of a brilliant career, fresh from his triumph with "Love Story." The film was produced by Howard Gottfried of stage and TV fame. It will open today at the Jet Drive In Theatre.

Co-starred with Scott is Diana Rigg, the elegant British actress who recently scored on Broadway in "Abelard and Heloise" and made a memorable screen appearance in the James Bond thriller, "On Her Majesty's Secret Service."

Released by United Artists, which gave Chayefsky his first screen exposure via the Academy Award-winning film, "Marty." "The Hospital" is a detailed and compassionate study of a physician beset by problems in his life at home and at work. It has all the forceful elements of such prior Chayefsky classics as "Marty," among the "Best Supporting Actor" nominees that year and was followed by an equally superb showing as the gambler in "The Hustler," which won for him another nomination. "Patton," last year won him the Award. In "The Hospital," Scott tackles another difficult character — that of Dr. Herbert Bock, Chief of Medicine of a giant metropolitan hospital complex — and his minute-by-minute tribulations in coping with both his personal and professional lives.

'Little Mary' Was Beginning Of Movie Idea

If the West looks different to audiences seeing "The Culpepper Cattle Co.," which opens Wednesday at the Jet Drive In Theatre, it is because it depicts the Old West as it has rarely if ever been captured on the motion picture screen — the West as it really was.

Heading the cast of the 20th Century-Fox production is Gary Grimes (the teenaged star of the phenomenally successful "Summer of '42"), playing a frontier youth named Ben Mockridge whose dream of becoming a cowboy turns into reality.

Making his directorial debut with "The Culpepper Cattle Co." is former photo-journalist Dick Richards, who also conceived the film.

Several years ago, when Richards was in Texas shooting a soup commercial, he came across old photographs which showed that a teenage boy was often seen around the chuck-wagons of cattle drives. Upon extensive research, Richards learned that youngsters seeking to become cowboys began their apprenticeship assisting the cook and were called, for some arcane reason "Little Mary."

From this little known fact, Richards developed the treatment for the scenario of the movie, drawing most of the incidents from actual recollections of surviving cowhands from the post-Civil War era. Says Richards: "When I came to look into the subject, I found a West that I, at least, had not seen on the screen — a grittier, harsher West which is a real worthwhile to reproduce."

'Sanford And Son' Stars Redd Foxx

Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — "For a lot of years," said Redd Foxx, "I used to tell a little joke about how they first brought me out to Hollywood to do a movie about Africa. Ran into prejudice right off, I used to say. They told me I was too light. So I put on 33 pounds. And then they told me I was too light and too fat!"

With that slyly delivered punch line, typically Redd Foxx in its immaculate timing the comedian chortles and his eyes

Make-Up Man To 4,000 Rats

Hollywood make-up man Jack Young is a respected pro who has made up the likes of Gable, Tracy, Garland and Garbo.

Jack's latest Hollywood assignment comes from BCP Productions and BEN, the new terror-suspense film that begins where 1971's hit "Willard" ended.

But Jack treats the 4,000 acting rats in BEN just as any other star needing make-up attention. "Uniformity of make-up throughout the picture is my main task," Jack reports. "My problem is, all rats look alike to me, and I have to be sure that a brown rat in one scene isn't tan in the later scene."

BEN also stars Joseph Campanella, Lee Harcourt Montgomery and Rosemary Murphy. Ben is now showing at the Cinema Theatre.

are twin beacons of easy good humor behind his spectacles. Today, neither too light nor too fat, Redd Foxx is the co-star on NBC's "Sanford and Son," one of the season's conspicuous hit shows.

Redd won't be 50 until Dec. 9 but he is smashingly funny as the 65-year-old junk dealer in the partnership with his son, played by Demond Wilson.

"You know, all the names in 'Sanford and Son' have a special meaning to me," Redd was saying. "My own name, rightfully, is John Elroy Sanford, which they used for the show except that I'm called Fred, which was my late brother's name. My son in the show is called Lamont Lamont Ousley, who ran away from home with me to join a band when we were in our teens."

"There was another fellow who ran away with us back then. His name was Steve Tremble. So we've got a character on the show named Rev. Tremble for him. It's nice in my first television series, to have a lot of familiar names around. Like old home week, you know."

As a teen-ager, when he elected to be a comedian, he decided that John Elroy Sanford was an overly solemn name for anyone in pursuit of laughter. He thought it would be nice to be known as Redd Foxx. "When I was coming up, names had to be simple," said

Redd. "Why, back then, we'd have thought Englebert Humperdink was an attack of poison gas."

Redd went on: "What I did was, I added, a 'd' to Red and an 'x' to Fox, so I wouldn't be confused with a color or an animal. Any idiot could remember the name, Redd Foxx, from the nursery rhymes."

PARTY RECORDS
In common with most comics, Red started out funny. "It's a gift, being funny," he insists, "and when you got that gift you do something with it. As a kid, they used to call me Smiley because I was the funster in the neighborhood. I'd sit on a mailbox at 58th and Prairie — that's in the South Side of Chicago — and pretend that mailbox was a horse and I was a cowboy and I'd say funny things and people would laugh."

"Until the TV show," said Redd, "most people would think of Redd Foxx and think of my party records, which I started back in 1956. They've sold over a million copies. Every day in America somebody buys a Redd Foxx record. It's my annuity. It's also nice to think that every day I make, somebody laugh."

DO THEY APPRECIATE ATTENTION? Truly A Dog's World

By DAVID PICKLE
If everything is "going to the dogs," it could be it is all heading in the right direction. Dogs, the four-footed variety at least, have been moving up the social ladder in recent years until it has reached the point that they may petition for the right to vote sometime soon. One has only to look at the pet care center at a local firm specializing in this field to see how far the trend has actually gone. There are books (about dogs, not for them), dietary aids and cosmetics among other things.

WILL I GET A VOTE?

The books, mostly paperback, are highly specialized. Included among the titles are "How to Raise and Train a Silky Terrier," "How to Raise and Train a Miniature Schnauzer" and "How to Raise and Train an Irish Setter." The hardback books are generally a little less specialized and more expensive. One hardback, however, does deserve German Shepherd's exclusivity. Such books explain why your dog is the way he is and what you can do about it.

Others will less glamorous names just brag of being full of vitamins. Apparently, some of them don't have a very good flavor because one of them goes out of the way to brag about Dosages vary with the size of it. It claims to have a "liver the dog, but the capsules should turn on a dog, nothing will. Dogs, of course, can be rather unappreciative of the treatment they get and respond by a completely unenergetic, it could be that he has a dietary deficiency. If so, there are at least 20 nutritional additives available. One of them is that old favorite, wheatgerm oil.

those with extreme cases, dog repellent is available. This is guaranteed to keep dogs away from any area that you want to keep them away from. If your animal takes a delight in chewing on the corner of the sofa, what you need is "Chew-Stop." Just spray it on the area that the animal seems to enjoy. He will stop when he discovers the sofa tastes like quinine.

MANY PRODUCTS
People want their dog to look beautiful even if he isn't. There are many products dedicated to this end. The most notable is "Wonder Fluff," something that eventually makes the coat of the dog fluffy and beautiful. If your dog has a problem after shampoos, you need to buy him a bottle of tangle remover. Of course, the shampoo has to be good, too. "Lustre Shampoo" and "My Dog" (the label is in almost the same typeface as "My Sin" cologne) are two of the leading brands. "My Dog" is an "apri-coat shampoo."

Needed: Special People For Kids With Problems

By LINDA CROSS
Special people with large capacities for love and understanding are needed to adopt children with special problems, according to Mrs. Sandra Preston, regional adoption worker in this area for the State Department of Public Welfare. "The perfect child for the perfect family" theory of adoption has been tossed out the window by the state adoption agency, according to Mrs. Preston. "There are children available throughout our state who are in need of an adoptive home. These children have special needs. They are not normal. Anglo, infants or pre-schoolers," said Mrs. Preston. "They are school-aged children, brother-sister groups that need to be adopted together, racially-mixed children and children who are physically or emotionally handicapped. Prospective parents wanting pink-candy babies need not apply for adoption through the State Department of Public Welfare. "We are emphasizing the adoption of children difficult to place in homes. The number of 'normal' infants and pre-school aged children available for adoption through our agency is almost nil. We are no longer even processing applications for adoption of children of these ages," said Mrs. Preston. "Adoptive parents for children with special needs must be special themselves. We look for people who can be flexible enough to accept the kind of children we get," said Mrs. Preston, adding, "We need persons who are willing to accept the children's backgrounds of deprivation, possible abuse, abandonment and trauma." Mrs. Preston said that the state agency seeks prospective families that appear willing to adjust themselves to the child, rather than those that would require the adopted child to adjust to the family. "Adopting a child with a special need is not for everyone that may be thinking of adding to their family by adoption," she said, "but for those special people, it can be a very rewarding experience." Persons with no dreams of adopting a "perfect" baby, and who are not afraid of taking on the responsibility of an older child who has been given no opportunity to form a favorable impression of family life, can contact Mrs. Preston for further information on adoption. Interested persons are asked to write: Mrs. Sandra Preston, regional adoption worker, P.O. Box 951, State Department of Public Welfare, San Angelo, Tex., or to telephone (915) 653-9516.

Investigation Of Spanish Shipwrecks

AUSTIN — The first scientific investigation and recovery of artifacts from the 16th-century Spanish shipwrecks which lie off Padre Island will begin on or about July 17 under a project sponsored by the Texas Antiquities Committee, it was announced by Dr. Fred Wendorf, chairman of the committee.

State Underwater Archeologist Carl Clausen, who will supervise the effort, said, "The mid 16th-century wrecks are of particular importance in that they represent the earliest verified shipwrecks discovered in this hemisphere. I know of no comparable short-term Spanish colonial sites on land."

Clausen added that the recovery operations will be carried out by archeological technician-divers and other personnel. This summer's activity is a follow-up of the July 1970 magnetometer survey conducted by the Institute for Underwater Research, Inc. on behalf of the Texas Antiquities Committee, to fix the locations of the shipwrecks along Padre Island.

The initial prime target is a Spanish shipwreck located approximately five miles north of the Mansfield Cut.

The history of the wrecks dates from May of 1553, when a fleet of Spanish ships sailed from Mexico en route to Spain. The ships carried approximately 2,000 passengers and crew and valuable cargo from the New World.

On the way the fleet encountered a severe tropical storm which drove it westward and wrecked several of the ships along what is now Padre Island. Several hundred persons reached shore and, believing they were near Panuco, began walking southward along the coast. Raiding Indians, however, soon killed all but two of the survivors. In 1554 a salvage fleet dispatched by the Spanish Viceroy in Mexico recovered much of the cargo from the wrecks.

Singing Sheriff Quits In Seguin

SEGUIN, Tex. (AP) — Guadalupe County Commissioners have accepted the resignation of Phil Medlin, the "Singing Sheriff" who has served in his post 25 years.

His resignation, effective Aug. 21, was accepted Thursday. A successor will be named at a later date.

Since last Friday, Medlin has been hospitalized for undisclosed reasons in Temple, Tex. He gave health reasons for resigning.

Through the years, Sheriff Medlin sang, played a guitar and had his horse do a wide variety of tricks at numerous fiestas and parades throughout the area. He once performed at Las Vegas.

TOMATOES BY THE POUND — If you ordered a pound of tomatoes like these, chances are you'd get no more than one of them. The oversized fruit is being raised by Gilbert C. Ragsdale of 642 Manor Lane. Some of the tomatoes weighed out slightly more than 16 ounces.

Hobo Had No Family, But He Had Friends

CHICAGO (AP) — The baby buggy full of Lawrence's possessions stood by the curb, but the hobo-philosopher who lived for 31 years in the maze of Lower Wacker Drive wasn't there Friday to return the waves of work-bound drivers.

His body had been taken to the morgue. Lawrence's body was found lying on the sidewalk beside the baby buggy Thursday by the driver of a newspaper delivery truck who had stopped to chat from time to time.

Lawrence, who preferred to introduce himself by holding up his thumb and saying, "The name's on the thumb, on file with the FBI, you know," was Lawrence J. Balis.

He told reporters who passed his way asking questions that he had lived 48 of his 57 years as a "nomad...an ancient way of living." He said he made his home on Lower Wacker Drive, a dimly lit shortcut through Chicago's downtown that is lined with saloons and loading docks, after he got rolled once too often in a flophouse.

In the winter, Lawrence huddled in grimy sweat shirts and a tattered overcoat near his trash can fire. Persons who passed by his corner often said he never complained and never held out his hand for anything but a handshake.

He liked to talk on every subject from "Citizen Kane," his favorite movie, to the machine age.

He said he liked to travel, but never farther than 500 miles from Chicago, where he was born, and "where the strong flower (the onion) grows."

TEXAS CROPS South Plains Cotton 'Hailed'

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Scattered rain boosted crop and range conditions in some areas of the state last week, the director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says.

Dr. John Hutchinson, the director, said, however, that many northern, eastern and southwestern areas still needed rain.

Most crops made good progress and moved rapidly toward maturity in southern central areas, Hutchinson said.

Insect activity continued light to moderate in most cotton fields with boll weevils and bollworms increasing in South and South Central Texas. Tobacco budworm numbers also increased in those areas. Only grasshoppers and fleahoppers were present in light numbers on the High Plains.

The state's hay crop looked good with third and fourth cuttings underway in some locations, he said.

About 4,000 screwworm cases were recorded during the past week, Hutchinson said. The statewide total for 1972 was more than 25,000 cases in 182 counties.

Several cases of hog cholera appeared in West Texas. Cases were confirmed in Dawson, Terry, Mitchell and Nolan Counties.

District agricultural agents reported these following conditions:

SOUTH PLAINS: Cool, wet weather has slowed cotton growth and increased blight problems. Some 50,000 acres were damaged by hail. Grain sorghum made good growth with early plantings in the boot to bloom stages. Most corn was tasseling and developing rapidly. Soybeans, cowpeas, blackeye peas and early maturing grain sorghum were being planted in some areas where cotton was destroyed by hail.

ROLLING PLAINS: Rains of up to four inches replenished the moisture supply in a number of counties. Some hail damaged cotton in Hall and Childress counties. Cotton was generally fruiting well and insect damage was light. Overwintered boll weevils caused some damage and spraying was active, especially in Jones County. Grain sorghum was growing well. Hay harvesting and guar planting continued.

FAR WEST: Cotton made good growth but insect activity increased. Okra, onions and cabbage also progressed well. The first Pecos cantaloupes were harvested.

WEST CENTRAL: Heavy rains of up to four inches replenished soil moisture in a number of counties.

Kimberly Knits

A subtly of textures in the lightest pure wool. A three piece pantsuit par excellence. The jacket gives the illusion of being sleeveless, but surprise, its striped box check body has ribbed sleeves. Underneath a matching sleeveless ribbed sweater. Definitely a Kimberly collector's item.
