PRESIDENT SADAT INFORMS ARAB UNION

The Russians Are Going

CARRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has asked the Soviet Union to withdraw its military advisers from Egypt, informed sources said today.

Several were seen leaving on Sunday and Monday, shortly after Premier Aziz Sidky returned from a one-day visit to Moscow.

Sadat informed the 150-member Central Committee of the ruling Arab Socialist Union of the action today and several heads of foreign missions here were called in to see top Egyptian officials Monday—including the chief U.S. diplomat here, the informants said.

It was not immediately clear how many Soviet military advisers were to leave or how soon.

Estimates of the number of Soviet military advisers in Egypt range from 10,000 to 20,000.

BOMBING RAIDS

They came after President Gamal Abdel Nasser's secret visit to Moscow in January 1970 in which he agreed to Soviet military presence. He went to the Soviet capital during Israel's deep penetration bombing raids against Egypt.

Two months later badly needed surface to air SAM missiles, manned by Soviets, began arriving in Egypt.

The withdrawal of military advisers, perhaps because they have finished their job and trained the 500,000-man Egyptian army, was expected to be popular among the masses.

Student demonstration blocked Cairo streets last January for nearly a week with participants questioning Egypt's relationship with the Soviet Union.

Asked in Washington about the new development in the Middle East, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird would say only that "we are watching the initial reports very closely."

NO INFORMATION

At the State Department, officials dealing with the Middle East went into a series of meetings but later said they had no information other than press reports from Cairo.

Removal of the military advisers may be considered by many a sign of Egypt's independence from the Soviet Union. It would ease complaints of those who fear domination by any one foreign power and could open the door to a freer foreign policy in Egypt where everyone is fed up with the continued state of no war, no peace, observers said.

Those who oppose the Soviet military presence in Egypt contend the Soviets did not want a peace settlement in the Middle East because it would remove the justification for their presence in the area.

EXPELLED

Considered of interest is that one of the few ambassadors known to have met with the premier Monday was the Sudanese ambassador.

THREAT

Pot, Skinny Dipping Bother GOP

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Expressing concern about reports of public pot smoking and skinny dipping by demonstrators, during the Democratic National Convention, local Republican leaders have called for strict enforcement of laws when the GOP convene opens in Miami Beach next month.

Robert Rosasco, Dade County Republican chairman, said Monday the party's Miami attorneys have been instructed to take whatever action is necessary to assure that no special treatment is afforded convention protesters.

"Our position is that everyone, delegate and nondelegate, be treated equally under the law," Rosasco said. "During the Democratic convention, there was only lip service given to this equal treatment concept."

Particularly distressing, said the GOP chairman, were reports that some of the 1,500 youthful demonstrators who camped out last week at Miami Beach's Flamingo Park were permitted to smoke marijuana and swim nude in the park swimming pool.

Retail Fun Shaping For Sidewalk Sale

Big Spring Sidewalk Sales Day will be held Friday all day long, according to Ron Mercer, Chamber of Commerce manager.

The special sales will include numerous merchants, he said, "and we want all the merchants to participate."

Some merchants will bring merchandise outside, and others will have special prices on items in the store.

Those so far listed as participating are Penny's, Anthony's, Gibbs and Weeks, the Kid Shop, Big Spring Hardware, Tot and Teen, Mary Jo Dress Shop, the Record Shop and Elmo Wasson's. Many others are expected to join the merchandising fun.

Cop Turns In Brother

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 22-year-old law officer turned in his own brother on charges of robbery and auto theft, police say.

Officer Bobby Cheatham, who joined the force less than a year ago, listened to witnesses describe a man who stole $30 and a car, then said the description fit his older brother.

Sgt. Robert Love said Cheatham was one who "never shirked his duty" but that turning in his brother Arthur, 27, "still upset him."

The young policeman was working Sunday when he was assigned to investigate a robbery and assault case. The victim, Frank Barkalow, 62, said he met a man in a tavern and offered to give him a ride home. Barkalow said the man later dragged him from his car and took his money and his car keys.

After hearing descriptions, Cheatham wrote in his report that he thought the robber was his big brother. He went off duty and later received a telephone call from his brother, who by then had been arrested on a traffic charge in Deerfield Beach.

Guards Stay Home After Prison Riot

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The day shift of guards at the Maryland State Penitentiary, where four prison employees were held hostage during a six-hour inmate rebellion Monday, stayed off their jobs for more than three hours today before selecting representatives to meet with state officials.

Ten guards were chosen to meet with State Department of Public Safety Secretary Robert J. Lally, and the rest of the 130 day guards reported to their duty stations.

The guards are protesting Gov. Marvin Mandel's personal intervention in the disturbance Monday. It was the second revolt in Maryland prisons in two days. Officials reported all quiet today.

Until the day guards reported to work, officials kept the 40-man night shift on duty and prepared to call on a 60-man city police unit to supplement the staff.

Mandel, meanwhile, called top corrections officials, including Lally, to his office this morning and said, "there's going to be action and fast."

After settling two prison uprisings in as many days, Mandel said he's through playing mediator.

"This is the last time, I'm not going back," Mandel said as he left the Maryland penitentiary after negotiating the freedom of three hostages seized during a six-hour inmate rebellion Monday.

PANEL PROBES RACKETEERS Sinatra 'Sings' At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Sinatra marched grimly into a House Select Crime Committee room today and accused the committee of indecently and irresponsibly letting a convicted felon "bandy my name about."

"It was character assassination, let's face it," the retired crooner told a jammed hearing room.

Sinatra said the committee should have immediately refuted the testimony of Joseph (The Baron) Barboza May 24 and that the singer had been a front man for La Cosa Nostra money in the Fontainebleau and Sands Hotels in Miami Beach and Las Vegas.

TALKATIVE 'BUM' — "This bum went running off at the mouth and I won't have it," Sinatra said. "I'm not a second class citizen. Let's make that clear."

"How do you repair the damage that was printed in the newspapers?" he demanded.

Committee counsel Joseph Phillips said Barboza unexpectedly made the charge about fronting for the mobs in the two hotels when he was asked about a completely unrelated matter at the May 24 hearing.

Phillips said the answer could not have been anticipated or cut off and noted that the Fontainebleau had filed an affidavit with the committee denying the story.

"And at that point someone, presumably the counsel, should have done something to refute that story," Sinatra said. He suggested the committee should have called the press in and announced the hotel's statement.

"I don't have to refute it because there isn't any truth to it," Sinatra said of the Fontainebleau story at another point.

As for his purchase of stock in the Sands hotel in 1963, he

Two Underwater Blasts Damage U.S. Destroyer

SAIGON (AP) — Two underwater explosions heavily damaged the U.S. destroyer Warrington on Monday in the Tonkin Gulf where it was trying to intercept cargo from three Chinese freighters, U.S. military sources reported today.

The Navy said the cause of the explosions was under investigation. Spokesmen declined to speculate whether the 390-foot ship might have been hit by U.S. mines that had broken loose from the fields U.S. Navy planes planted around North Vietnamese harbors.

No enemy fire was reported at the time of the explosions, spokesmen said.

One sailor among the destroyer's 270 crewmen suffered minor injuries, was treated on board and returned to duty, the Navy said.

The 3,400-ton Warrington sustained heavy shock damage and there was flooding in its engineering spaces, which was quickly brought under control, a spokesman said.

The Warrington left the Tonkin Gulf on her own power for the U.S. naval base at Subic Bay in the Philippines but later was taken under tow by the salvage ship Reclaimer because full extent of the damage was not known, spokesmen said.

Sources said the Warrington was part of a 7th Fleet task force posted off Hon La island about 85 miles north of the demilitarized zone to fire on barges and craft attempting to ferry war materials ashore to North Vietnam from three Chinese Communist freighters.

Soviet Trade Agreement With U.S. Firm Revealed

LONDON (AP) — The Occidental Petroleum Co. announced today that it has signed an agreement with the Soviet government to supply the Russians a wide range of scientific and technical services.

Informants in London estimated the value of the contract as high as $3 billion and said it was the biggest ever signed by a U.S. corporation with the Soviets.

FIVE AREAS — Dr. Armand Hammer, the 72-year-old chairman of Occidental, told a news conference the agreement was signed in Moscow on July 14. He said it covers a five-year period and is renewable by mutual consent.

Hammer, who first did business with the Soviets shortly after the Bolshevik Revolution, said the contract covers five areas:

1. The exploration, production

Showers Dot Area

Scattered showers in the Big Spring-Howard County area brought reports of rainfall from a trace to unconfirmed reports of as much as an inch in Ackerly.

The official Big Spring rainfall at the experiment station was a trace. The Herald rain gauge measured .02 inch, and Texas Electric gauged .08.

Other local reports included .45 inch at the Boyce Hale residence at the end of Parkway and about .25 inch one-half mile north in the Douglass addition. Forsan and Coahoma reported only a trace of rain.

A slight chance of afternoon and evening thundershowers has been forecast for today.

and usage of oil and natural gas in the Soviet Union.

2. Production of agricultural fertilizers and chemicals.

3. Metal treatment and metal plating.

4. The design and building of hotels in the Soviet Union.

5. The use of solid waste materials.

"The agreement is not restricted to the five areas mentioned," Hammer said, "but permits development in other areas at any time by mutual accord."

The agreement also provides for compensations for the transfer of scientific and technological know-how, the sale of patents and the sale of licenses, Hammer continued.

Hammer pointed out that his company's deal with the Soviet government was one of the first developments to follow in the wake of President Nixon's agreement during his Moscow visit two months ago for U.S.-Soviet cooperation in the fields of science and technology.

EXPANSION — "In 51 years of dealing with the Soviet government," said Hammer, "I have never found the grounds more favorable for the rapid expansion of East-West trade than exists at present."

Occidental's chairman gave no indication of his financial arrangements with the Soviets, but some experts speculated that payment would be in crude oil and gas from the Siberian fields.

Rumors of the agreement circulated in Europe on Monday, and soon after they reached New York trading in Occidental's stock was halted on the New York and West Coast stock exchanges.

Trading resumed on the West Coast after the New York market closed. In 2½ hours the stock jumped 19 per cent, from 12¼ to 15¼ on a volume of 116,300 shares.

SPECULATION — London's Financial Times reported before Hammer's announcement that Occidental was expected to head a consortium of U.S. oil and gas companies that would assist in the development of the Tyumen fields in Western Siberia.

There was speculation in London that this consortium would help build a 4,000-mile pipeline from the Siberian field to a coastal terminal.

Dr. Hammer refused to be pinned down on the areas to be developed, saying "our geologists will make a study of all the potential areas in the Soviet Union."

He promised, however, that his company would keep the public informed from time to time on what he called the biggest East-West deal so far.

Blackout Ends In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — A 13-hour blackout that affected more than 200,000 residents in Brooklyn and was described as the largest blackout here since the Northeast power failure of November 1965, ended today shortly after 11 a.m.

Consolidated Edison shut off electricity to the Bay Ridge, Sunset Park and Gowanus sections at 9:45 p.m. Monday after six of 17 27,000-volt feeder cables had stopped functioning.

The National Weather Service predicted temperatures in the 90s today, with the humidity expected to be uncomfortably high.

The decision to cut the power was made, according to a Con Ed spokesman, to avoid overloading the four feeder lines that were still functioning. "If we didn't cut the power when we did, the entire system would have been destroyed," he said.

The immediate cause of the breakdown was not determined.

Odessan Triggers Tavern Fires, Juke Box Power Struggle Probe

The director of the Texas Vending Commission said today he would order an "in depth" investigation to see if there is a link between the juke box industry and a series of fires in Texas taverns and night clubs.

Ivan Williams made the statement after Odessa Fire Marshal Kenneth Cable said he thought there "could be a tie-in."

IT IS OUR DUTY
"It is our duty—we are going to go into this thing in depth, and I am going to get a full report on it to find out if these fires are related to any violation of the laws we enforce," Williams said in Austin.

Until The Associated Press reported the Odessa fire marshal's remarks, Williams said he had heard nothing about any kind of a power struggle in the coin-operated juke box and amusement machine industry which his agency regulates.

"I haven't had any come to my attention, and I am sure it would be," Williams said. "No licensee has complained to this agency of anything of that nature. There have been no complaints from anybody out there (in West Texas) of any action we should take."

He said he was aware that some lounges had been burned out, but was limited in his authority to ascertain whether there were violations of state laws regulating vending machines. Williams said his agency has no subpoena power.

CONFIDENTIAL
The vending commission has records showing what juke box companies' machines are in which taverns, but Williams said the files are confidential by law. He said he intended to find out whether there was any correlation between the fires and any particular company's machines.

Cable is investigating two lounge fires in Odessa last month, both ruled arson cases. He said his investigation has not turned up enough conclusive evidence to point a finger at any sort of power struggle among juke box owners.

"But I was told by one of them there is a war going on," Cable said. "I can't tie it in, but they come right out and say there is something going on."

Other clubs which have burned during the past year include night spots in Dallas, Amarillo, Houston and Galveston—plus three in Lubbock burned since last December, two of them more than once.

PAID JOB
Lubbock Fire Chief A. C. Black said a five-gallon gasoline can was found at each of the five night club fires in his city. He said there is an unconfirmed report that at least one of the blazes was a "paid job."

Black said one man is being sought in connection with the fires but "we don't have any leads."

Willard B. Jackson, a Negro, had been accused of forcing the two white women to undress, raping one of them and shooting one and stabbing the other. Jackson testified he was out of Dallas last Nov. 28, night of the attack, saying he had been in Austin at the home of his in-laws.

One of the victims said she spotted Jackson at a Dallas nightclub early this year and identified him as the intruder who had attacked the two women.

State prosecutors indicated they wanted a sentence of life imprisonment for Jackson.

considering the appointment of Raymond B. Williams as chairman of the newly formed state vending commission last month, when he resigned. Williams said he resigned because of "unjust criticism."

Of the night club fires, these in the Lubbock area have caused the most damage.

The Hobnob Club burned at Lubbock last Dec. 4 causing more than $20,000 in damage. The Jockey Club burned Dec. 17, causing $10,000 in damage.

The Hobnob burned a second time Jan. 25, leaving more than $20,000 in smoking ruin. Again, the Jockey Club burned March 7, doing another $25,000 in damage.

TOWN PUMP
The most recent fire was at the Town Pump, which saw $20,000 go up in smoke. Cable said after the Sands Lounge fire at Odessa in mid-

June he received a visit from a vending machine operator who said he had heard the industry was suspect in the blazes.

"We weren't investigating that angle at that time," Cable said. "But everyone has been saying the fires and the vending machine people are connected."

After the 1968 legislative hearings, a law was enacted in 1969 under which the industry became tax-regulated by the state controller's office. The vending commission was set up last year and was removed from the controller's authority.

Dallas arson investigator Joe Yackack said last week's fire at the Players' Lounge was definitely arson.

"We also found a gas can at the scene," he said. "This thing is definitely something of concern," Cable said.

After an enthusiastic greeting from several hundred supporters in Rapid City, he drove south 37 miles to the Sylvan Lake resort area near here.

Aides said McGovern's scheduling office has prepared one outline for concentration on the large industrial states, a second for a campaign aimed at all 50 states, and a third for an attempt to combine the two approaches.

In addition, the aides said, a detailed plan covering media expenditures, both allocating amounts per area and specifying type of advertisements to be used, has been prepared for McGovern by Charles Guggenheim, the senator's radio-television adviser.

In 1968, Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey arrived at his Waverly, Minn., home after the party's late August convention to find that no planning had been done for the general election campaign.

Even while resting, McGovern had his eye out for strengthening the party unity behind his candidacy.

Within five minutes of his arrival at Cabin No. 22 at Sylvan Lake, the candidate was on the phone to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to thank him for Monday's endorsement of the entire Democratic ticket.

Press secretary Richard Dougherty said Daley, ousted from last week's Democratic National Convention in a drive led by McGovern backers, told the senator he and Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri are "a fine ticket" and he planned to "do what he can to help him get elected."

The next major step toward Democratic party unity is Wednesday's meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Committee in Washington. Although top McGovern aides are keeping hands off, Eagleton is expected to see some of the union chiefs before that session.

Mrs. McGovern, delayed in Washington for personal reasons which aides said included a physical examination, is expected to join the senator Wednesday for a celebration of his 50th birthday.

McGovern Given Outline Of Media Spending Plans

CUSTER, S.D. (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, in the Black Hills of South Dakota for two weeks of rest and strategy sessions, has before him three alternative schedules and a detailed proposal for media spending in the fall campaign against President Nixon.

The outlines, far more detailed than anything the Democrats had four years ago even after the campaign was launched, were among the materials McGovern brought with him when he flew here Monday.

Weather Continues Big Factor In Cotton Crop

Prospects for a good cotton crop are promising — right now, County agent Bruce Griffith said today.

"Of course, it's a late crop and anytime we have a late crop, that lessens the chances for a good one," he added.

A continuation of the weather pattern of recent weeks will do as much as anything to enhance the outlook. Added to this is the crucial factor of a late frost.

"We're a little short on moisture in the sense that we've got enough right now, but we're going to need more moisture later in the season. We'll be all right if we can just get the moisture at the right times," added Griffith.

Write-In Vote May Shape

Write-in opposition of County Commissioner Simon Terrazas' bid for re-election in November to his precinct one seat in may be shaping.

During the party primaries, the name of O. L. (Louis) Brown, 1508 Oriole, an employee of Cabot Corp. was written-in as a Democratic candidate for Commissioner Terrazas' post.

Recently, the name of Manuel Puga Sr., 1105 Lindbergh, has been proposed as a second candidate.

"I will be continuing as a write-in candidate against Commissioner Terrazas. Although a write-in campaign is very difficult, my friends and I are very optimistic. I'm well known, and we think I have a very good chance to be elected," said Brown.

"I am the original write-in candidate for the precinct one commissioner's office, but there will be others jumping on the bandwagon. Puga is one, and I think there will be at least one more write-in candidate," said Brown.

Puga said because no tally was made of his write-in primary votes he did not know what his strength was there.

Write-In Vote May Shape

Write-in opposition of County Commissioner Simon Terrazas' bid for re-election in November to his precinct one seat in may be shaping.

During the party primaries, the name of O. L. (Louis) Brown, 1508 Oriole, an employee of Cabot Corp. was written-in as a Democratic candidate for Commissioner Terrazas' post.

Recently, the name of Manuel Puga Sr., 1105 Lindbergh, has been proposed as a second candidate.

"I will be continuing as a write-in candidate against Commissioner Terrazas. Although a write-in campaign is very difficult, my friends and I are very optimistic. I'm well known, and we think I have a very good chance to be elected," said Brown.

"I am the original write-in candidate for the precinct one commissioner's office, but there will be others jumping on the bandwagon. Puga is one, and I think there will be at least one more write-in candidate," said Brown.

Puga said because no tally was made of his write-in primary votes he did not know what his strength was there.

Couple Accused In Guard Slaying

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A young woman and a man identified as president of a Bossier City chapter of a motorcycle club have been charged in the slaying of a National Guard serviceman, the Caddo Parish sheriff's office said.

Sheriff Jimmy Goslin revealed Monday the arrests of the two, made earlier this month. He said they were charged with murder in the slaying of National Guard Sgt. Charles Overfield.

Overfield's body was found near Shreveport in March. He had been bound and had been shot twice in the head. The shooting took place before Overfield was to appear as the state's key witness in the trial of a Shreveport man accused in the attempted burglary of a National Guard armory here.

DIXIE MAFIA
"Certain elements of the Dixie Mafia had something to do with some areas of this crime," the sheriff said, without elaborating. The Dixie Mafia is the name given by Dallas police to an alleged Southern crime ring.

The sheriff said the two arrested and held here were James Ople, 25, of Bossier City, and Deborah Day, 19, of Albuquerque, N.M. He said Ople identified as head of the Bossier City chapter of the Banditos motorcycle gang, was arrested Friday, and Miss Day was arrested July 11 in Albuquerque.

He said she had been living recently in Dallas, but her family is from Albuquerque. The sheriff said Jimmy Ray Graves, 27, of Dallas, has been previously charged in the slaying. He said Graves is in a Kansas prison on another charge.

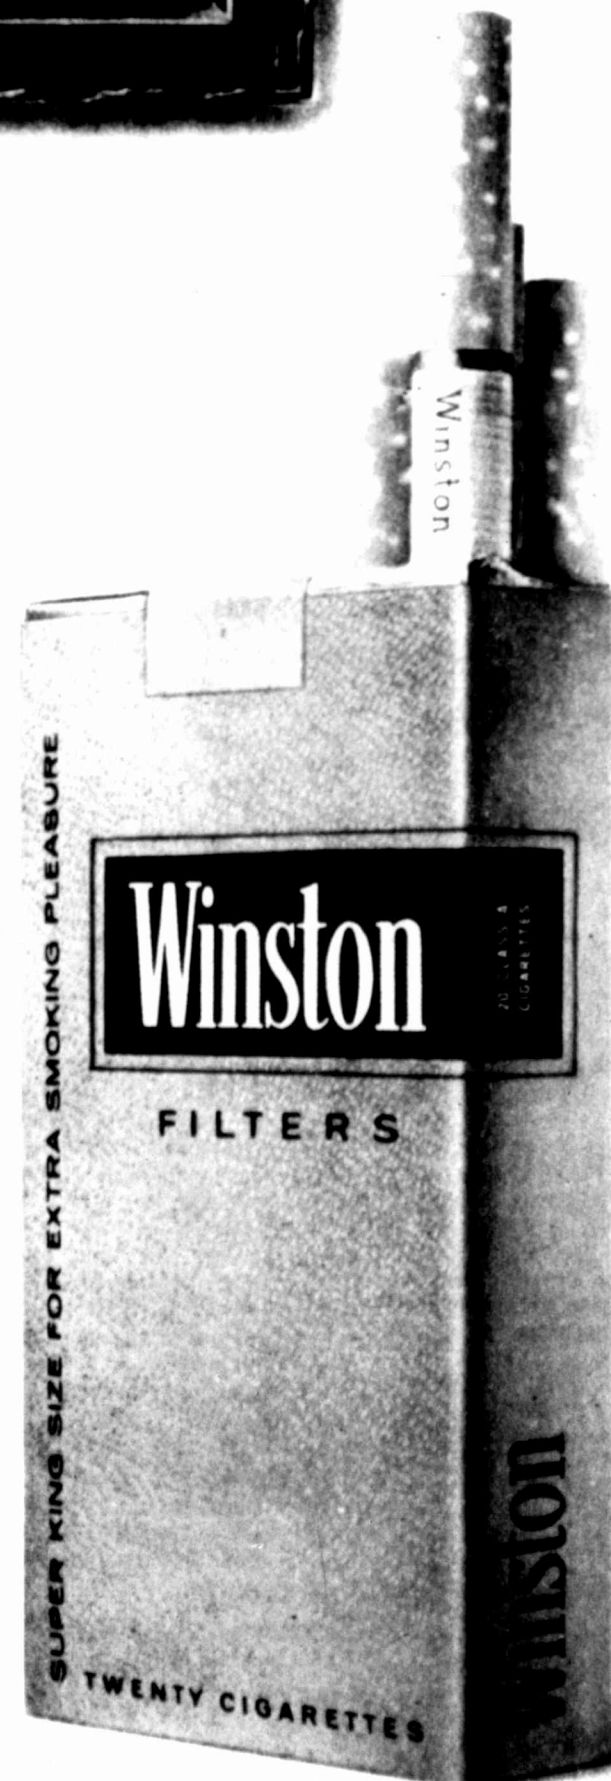

DATED HER
Authorities said Graves, also a motorcycle club member, had been dating Miss Day. Overfield broke up the attempted burglary in February 1970. He had been awakened when two men allegedly entered the building for what authorities claimed was an attempt to

Teaver May Be Right

Larry Teaver, who failed of confirmation as chairman of the state insurance commission, thinks that the system of insurance regulation in Texas needs reforming. He advocates abolition of the commission, and replacement by commissioner, either appointed by the governor or elected by the people (he prefers the latter) or a nine-member part-time board functioning in its stead.

One might accuse Mr. Teaver of sour grapes inasmuch as he barely missed getting the blessing of the Senate on his appointment by the governor. However, a more likely reason is his prior outspokenness in this direction. The insurance lobby turned its best guns on him in contacts with senators. There were just enough to listened to block his confirmation.

Mr. Teaver had been named by the governor as a "consumer" advocate on the board, and he made the (admirable) mistake of taking his role seriously. His actions have been oriented from the base of what was best and most economical for the public, and not necessarily what was best and most convenient for the companies.

Companies cannot continue to operate if they pay out more claims than they take in premiums, plus a reasonable amount for administration. But the record indicates that this isn't so in most instances in Texas, but rather that there is an unconscionable spread between the amount of premiums and the amount of claims — some — times approaching 50 per cent — in some cases. It's time there were some sort of blue ribbon independent study of this. It's not going to come from the commission, the majority of which has made a career of living on the state patronage.

Practice Should Be Stopped

The dubious practice of freeing individuals on bond when no complaint has been filed seems to have been revived at the courthouse.

Generally, it works like this: Someone is picked up in connection with investigation of a crime, but rather than disturb officials other than a magistrate, the suspect is released on bond. Presumably the complaint is filed later.

What we want to know if no one is charged with anything, by what authority does a magistrate fix a bond? And if no complaint is filed, by what authority do law enforcement officials hold an individual beyond the conventional time for questioning?

This strikes us an unorthodox if not illegal practice and it ought to be stopped. Granted it may work an inconvenience on counsel and officials occasionally, the following of established procedures is the way to see that justice is done all the way around to all alike.

Nothing New

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

It is indicative of man's larcenous nature, I suppose, that no situation is so severe that someone will not take advantage of it to turn a profit. The certainty of this fact came to mind yesterday while I thumbed through a 1942 copy of The Reader's Digest. There, in big, bold print was a warning: BEWARE THE WAR GYPS.

THE BULLETIN was put out by the Better Business Bureau of Indianapolis, Ind., and it named a few of the schemers "who have been getting sucker money by playing on war consciousness."

Patriotic Americans were warned of the following: House-to-house canvassers selling necklaces or bracelets with metal identification tags, falsely asserting that the law now requires every citizen to wear one.

PHONY AIR raid wardens selling fire extinguishers, claiming each household must have one at least. Also, fakers offering to test and refill fire extinguishers at a low price.

Stores and canvassers offering at 65 to 90 cents a pound specially treated compounds for extinguishing incendiary bombs. No compound yet tested is as good as ordinary sand, ordinary dry dirt, or plain water.

UNSCRUPULOUS PLUMBERS or servicemen offering to prepare furnaces so that they will not explode in air raids, incidentally selling expensive parts and gadgets.

Insurance salesmen falsely claiming to sell policies which will cover a man in military service.

Gyp artists soliciting cash donations to "help the city buy air-raid sirens," donations to phony patriotic societies and phony "benefits."

CANVASSERS selling plaques or signs to "show your patriotism."

Promoters using war bonds or stamps in chain-letter schemes or other devices for private gain.

Fake doctors, often in army uniform, who offer "advance physical examinations" to draft registrants for a fee.

PROMOTERS who sell shares in oil companies or synthetic rubber companies, claiming war shortages will make fortunes for stockholders.

Servicemen who persuade housewives to "cooperate with the Government War on Waste Campaign" by turning over their radio sets and vacuum cleaners for overhaul, then abscond with the appliances.

SOLOMON WAS right — there's nothing new under the sun.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Why, in your opinion, do newspaper reporters claw after any fragment of news of a certain Greek millionaire and his famous American wife? I get a little sick reading about this miserable mismatched couple. L.S.C.

In my opinion such people get a great deal of news coverage because most people are enamored with fame, pleasure, and fortune, and they get a vicarious thrill in reading about people they would like to be, wealth they would like to have, and things they would like to do.

I have known a great many people who were extremely wealthy, and as yet I have never seen any corollary between wealth and peace of mind and heart. Spiritual commodities cannot be bought with the coin of the realm. That is why Jesus said, "Man shall not live by bread alone." Matthew 4:4. He taught that spiritual things and the pursuit of them is essential to happiness of heart and soul.

One of the richest men in the world (financially) said to me: "They say I am one of the wealthiest men in the world, but I feel like a pauper, and I'm miserable as hell."

Some time ago I heard a man interviewed on television who had just inherited a million dollars. The interviewer asked him, "Does being rich make you happier?" He chuckled and said: "No, all it does is make me a little happier in my misery."

Jesus put it best when He said: "The abundance of a man's life consisteth not in the things which he possesseth." Luke 12:15. But, man, like the compulsive lemmings, keep running toward the sea of affluency, in which he often destroys himself.

Surprising Choice

David Lawrence

CONVENTION ANALYSIS. — Probably the biggest surprise in the democratic convention was the announcement that George McGovern, the presidential nominee, decided to choose Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri to be his running mate as vice president.

THERE HAD been talk of a possible alliance with the labor groups by picking someone from their ranks. It had been suggested, too, that the chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, Wilbur Mills, of Arkansas, might be selected.

Sen. Eagleton is a newcomer in Washington, having been elected to the Senate for the first time in 1968. He is a former lieutenant governor of Missouri, and is known as a liberal. He originally was a supporter of Edmund Muskie of Maine in the Prevention period.

THERE HAD been widespread belief that Sen. McGovern would try to heal the friction between the labor groups and his supporters by picking the head of one of the labor unions for the vice-presidential nominee. The main point in the general discussion about Sen. McGovern's problem of reconciliation was how he might, by his choice of vice president, help to bring about better relations with the factions that have been opposed to him.

IT HAD also been thought in some quarters that Sen. McGovern would pick for his running mate someone who had had executive experience in the government and who could, therefore, discuss during the campaign many of the issues which have been dealt with by the Nixon administration in the last four years. The argument was heard that the vice-presidential nominee should be someone from a Southern state so that Mr. McGovern's cause would be aided in that region. Sen. Eagleton is from a border state, and is not well known or regarded as influential in the South. He is, however, a very active individual and probably will do a good deal of campaigning in all parts of the country.

Once Sen. McGovern had stated his preference, Sen. Eagleton had a majority of delegates behind him.

SOME DAY there will be a change in the system, and it will become necessary for vice-presidential candidates to win the primaries, too. They will have to present their qualifications to the people and to demonstrate their ability to take over the presidency in the event that they should succeed to that office.

In many instances, of course, the vice-presidential candidate has been a very important political factor in the campaign, and some notable individuals have taken second place and given substantial assistance to the top man in the campaign.

SEN LYNDON Johnson, for instance, accompanied the vice-presidential nomination with John F. Kennedy and was a big factor in carrying southern states in 1960. He succeeded to the White House three years later. The same thing happened with Theodore Roosevelt, who was the vice-presidential candidate with President William McKinley in 1900 and became president when McKinley was assassinated in 1901.

The democratic convention has been an orderly one, but there are lots of questions that can be raised about the methods that are used to seat delegates and select the nominees. It is likely that between now and the conventions of 1976 more study will be given to these matters and an effort will be made to permit the people to have a more direct voice in the choosing of the candidates through national primaries.

Tax Increase In 1973?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — but it is worth noting that America's tax bill averages about $4,500 per household, or $2,000 more than 10 years ago, causing rumblings and mutterings about a tax revolt by those hardest hit.

But that's only half the story. As many, or more, are demanding greater government expenditures, for health and welfare especially, and Congress seems willing to go along with them.

The situation is developing into a mass confrontation of opposing philosophical and practical views on what course the country is to take. One group calls it a tax problem, the other a spending problem. Both demand reform.

Few politicians care to discuss it before November, but regardless of which course is taken over the long term, the outcome of the immediate battle seems likely to be — you guessed it — a tax increase in 1973.

The reason for this conclusion, now shared by a large number of economists and researchers, is that government spending commitments already exceed revenues.

With the fiscal 1973 budget deficit likely to be near $30 billion, the three-year total 1971-1973 may exceed $80 billion, a stupendous figure when measured against any other "peacetime" period.

Whether or not spending can be better controlled after 1973 depends on some extent on the outcome of this year's election, but it is worth noting that federal governments were recent deficits were run up by $3,225. By 1968 the comparable figure was $4,676, and for 1972 it was more than $6,200.

By contrast, taxes per household in 1962 were about $2,500, rising to more than $3,600 in 1968 and to more than $4,500 in 1972, a percentage rise of only 77.5 per cent, compared with a spending advance of 93 per cent.

While inflation has many causes, this gap between revenues and expenditures is cited by economists as one of the underlying causes. Inflation, they point out, is really an unlegislated tax.

If a tax increase does come, what will be its form? Again, a lot depends on which party is most successful.

Present speculation puts a value added tax at the top of the list, especially if President Nixon is re-elected. Simply, this tax would be levied every time value is added to a commodity as it proceeds through the production process.

Tax analysts figure such a levy would yield $15 billion in revenues to the federal government, but it also could erode the tax base. It would, for example, put upward pressure on prices and tend to discourage demand.

Higher income taxes also are mentioned as a possibility, no matter who is elected, although there is considerable feeling among economists that such a move would be accompanied by relief at lower income brackets.

Democratic Party Lost Funds, They Lost Some Sleep

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — The national Democratic party may have lost some money while the George Wenstros were losing some sleep the night of July 8.

That was the night the party televised a fund-raising marathon with contributors telephoning campaign contributions from all over the country.

But the regional fund-raising telephone number in Seattle was identical to the Wenstros' Boise number and the area codes were similar. Seattle's is 206 and Boise's is 208.

Throughout the night, the Wenstros got a string of calls offering money to the Democrats.

'Reactionary' Stuff

William F. Buckley Jr.

COMING HOME — Pursuant to Sen. McGovern's instructions, it is a very good feeling, coming home. The mood in Miami, at the McGovern Convention, was elated. These are the happy people, and it is obvious why. Jimmy the Greek, who is the actual Delphos in America, was brought down and interviewed on network teevee, and he said that he had put the odds against McGovern's nomination, as recently as last December, at 50-1.

Now McGovern is nominated, and Jimmy the Greek shifts gears and puts the odds against McGovern's election at 4-1. Jimmy has travelled a long distance, and the McGovernites at Miami, a harmonic arrangement of kids, intellectuals, and ethnics, are as confident as the early Christians. Chiasm is in the air, and He is George McGovern, whose incarnation will be effected by the voters in November. Then to quote from the peroration in McGovern's acceptance speech, America will have "come home."

I do not know whether George McGovern will be elected President. I do know that the McGovern convention was an ideological pyrotechnic. And no matter what happens in November — even if Richard Nixon wins again — this time by a landslide — the moment of rupture will not turn to bitterness. George McGovern spoke of his nomination as a "sweet harvest."

This is what will remain in the memory, win or lose. If, however, the legions intend to win, they have to rely on George McGovern's dream. They are the political alienists, who will transform hatred into love, poverty into plenty, the Soviet Union into Switzerland. One finds oneself hoping, less that Nixon will win because it is important for the safety of the republic that he should do so, than that he should win in order to spare the young McGovernites a direct experience with power.

When John Lindsay made his victory speech, back in 1965, he told his followers that he would transform New York into the empire city, and he might as well have shot them all with a double-jolt of morphine, so transported were they by the vision of it all. Yesterday, seven years later, the cameras did not trouble to focus

Money Spent On Recordings

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers' sales of phonograph records and pre-recorded tapes were up 3 per cent in 1971 over 1970, the Recording Industry Association of America says.

Sales of phonograph records were up 3.8 per cent, to a high of $1,251 billion, against $1,182 billion the previous year. Of this total, LPs accounted for $1,086 billion in 1971, compared with $1,017 billion in 1970.

The increase is due in part at least to a rise in prices.

Total sales of pre-recorded tapes in 1971 amounted to $493 million, an increase of 3 per cent over the $478 million in 1970.

The association estimates that piracy and counterfeiting of tapes took around $150 million away from legitimate sales.

Have You Been Away?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks people get tired of hearing when they come back from a vacation:

"Have you been away?"

"You didn't get much of a tan, did you?"

"You missed the best weather of the year while you were away."

"I'd like to hear all about your vacation, but I guess it'll have to wait until I get back. I'm leaving on my own vacation in half an hour."

"You put on a few pounds, didn't you?"

"Oh, is that where you went? We stayed there year before last. Is it still as terrible as ever?"

"It's a good thing you came back so soon, George. That guy who filled in for you did a great job."

"Think of all the things you could buy now if you'd just stayed home and saved your us?"

"Your children behaved like perfect little angels, but I'm glad you're back. Your daughter has the mumps and your son broke his collar bone yesterday, and right now he's getting pretty fretful."

"I knew I'd left one of the gas jets on the stove burning. It has been burning for two whole weeks. Heaven knows what our gas bill will be this month."

"We missed you, George. But that new guy who filled in for you is an awful nice guy, too."

"I didn't even notice you'd gone until yesterday."

"The first thing I found in the mail this morning was a letter from that vacation lodge saying they had undercharged us $124.50, and asking you to send a check for that amount by return mail. Can they do that to us?"

"I know you said you had a fine time on your vacation, but tell me, what was it really like?"

"Of course, I want to hear about your vacation. But first I want to tell you about mine."

"You look tired. What you need is a vacation from your vacation."

"We'd love to come over and see the pictures you took on your vacation, George. Shall we make it next month sometime?"

"You picked a great time to come back. The worst heat wave of the season is supposed to start tomorrow."

"The guy who filled in for you bought the state lottery ticket you'd bought if you were here. He won a $1,000 consolation prize."

McGovern Tapes

Art Buchwald

Memo to C. White House From H. Miami, Florida

I begged the McGovern headquarters as per your instructions. Sorry for tardiness of transcript of tapes, but they were typed by Cuban refugees who planned Bay of Pigs operation.

Here in a nutshell is what we found out by listening in to his Doral Hotel suite.

DESPITE DENIALS, McGovern is still a stalking horse for Teddy Kennedy. The plan is for McGovern to campaign until November. Then, if he wins the election, he will ask Kennedy to be sworn in as President in his place. The McGovern strategists figure this is the only way Kennedy will accept the Presidency in 1972.

In exchange for going out as President, McGovern is being 'o be rewarded by being made secretary of agriculture. This will help him with his electorate in South Dakota. The Kennedy people have agreed to this in principle.

THE TAPES also indicate that the reason the McGovern strategists selected Tom Eagleton as the vice presidential candidate is that the American people are ready for a calm Administration after the excitement of Nixon's last four years.

They feel the people will buy the steady plodding manner of McGovern and Eagleton after living with the swinging glamorous Nixons.

THIS IS A direct quote from the tapes by McGovern's top advisers. "The people are fed up with style. We have to admit Nixon has charisma, but Americans want something more."

"Right. They're tired of reading about those wild bowling parties at Camp David and those raucous prayer breakfasts at the White House. They're sick of all the stories about Pat Nixon's clothes and her hair dresser."

"Let's offer them a candidate — two candidates who may not set the world on fire like the Nixons do, but at least have substance."

A Devotion For Today..

"Ask the beasts, and they will teach you." (Job 12:7, RSV)

PRAYER: O Father, let the peace of Christ rule our hearts so that we may learn to live in peace. In His name and for our sake. Amen.

Agreed: Politics Puts Strain On Marriage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politics may not improve a bad marriage, but it can make a good one more interesting, says Louella Dirksen, widow of the colorful Republican senator from Illinois, Everett McKinley Dirksen.

Mrs. Dirksen, commenting on recent stories that politics and marriage often spell divorce, said political wives must cater to their husbands' erratic "time schedules to keep the marriage together."

"If your husband is going to be in politics, you have to make the adjustment," she said, admitting her views might be considered old-fashioned and counter to many women's liberationists.

"It's lonely at times," she said in an interview, "but the main thing is you have to be flexible. You have to have faith, but it pays big in the long run."

Mrs. Dirksen has written a book, "The Honorable Mr. Marigold," which chronicles her 42 years of marriage with Dirksen who died almost three years ago while he was minority leader of the Senate. She refers to her husband as "Mr. Marigold" because of his long-time effort to have the marigold named America's national flower.

The book is a love story that highlights the couple's 37 years in Washington's political arena. Like many politicians' wives, Mrs. Dirksen said she had sole responsibility for disciplining their only child, Denise, and many of her days were spent alone.

"There were many times during Everett's first term in office that my heart ached for him," she writes. "Being so new and naive in the game of national politics, I was shocked, appalled, and hurt at the vilifications my husband received for not going along with Presi-

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Susan Clark of Balmorhea, bride-elect of David Crawford, was honored at a shower Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Pete Banks, 615 Central, Coahoma.

The honoree, attired in a yellow knit dress, was presented a corsage of yellow and white daisies, as was her mother, Mrs. Dan Clark of Balmorhea; and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Trevor Crawford.

A yellow linen cloth covered the circular serving table which was centered with an arrangement of white and yellow daisies in a white wicker basket. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Miss Clark and Crawford will be married Aug. 3 in Balmorhea by her father who is minister of a Church of Christ there.

Babysitting will be provided in the chapel. All organization representatives who plan to attend are asked to make reservations by calling the hospital, 267-8216, Ext. 308 by Monday.

Minister Goes To Bare Essentials

There's been a sudden spate of church weddings in the quiet English backwater village of Salcombe Regis in Devon — thanks to the Vicar, the Rev. Donald Peyton Jones, who is offering cutrate weddings to those who can't afford the regular church rates.

"I am prepared to charge one pound (around $2.50) to a young couple who want to marry in church but haven't got the money. For only two pounds they could have the church bells rung as well."

The Rev. Peyton Jones doesn't worry about formal gear, says cheerfully, "I wouldn't object if the bride and bridegroom turned up in bare feet."

Store Exec Is ABWA Speaker

"The local Montgomery Ward store provides an annual payroll of approximately $500,000," said Gene McElroy, manager, when he spoke Monday evening to members of Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. McElroy related the history of the Montgomery Ward chain, noting that it had its beginning in 1872 and was named after Aaron Montgomery Ward. It was the first store to sell to "country" people by mail order. The local store employs 165 persons.

The meeting was held in the Downtown Tea Room with Mrs. Owen McCombs, president, introducing the guests, Mr. and Mrs. McElroy, Mrs. Ivah Lou Ashley, Mrs. Rufus Tuckness and Mrs. A. E. Kelley. Mrs. C. O. Trantham worded the invocation and led the Pledge of Allegiance.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Max Pitts who detailed her duties at Malone and Hogan Clinic where she is a nurse for Dr. R. S. Griffin.

It was announced that the chapter has received a grant from the national headquarters, which will provide a scholarship for Mrs. R. L. Winn. An interest-free loan has been obtained for Mrs. Steve Dick of Coahoma to further her education. Four scholarships were awarded last year by the chapter.

The next meeting will be an ice cream party at 7:30 p.m., July 27 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. The host group will be the losers in an attendance contest. The benediction was by Miss Willie Foster.

INTIMIDATION BY THE TAX MAN

Property Seizures Stir Bitter Protests

WASHINGTON — The owner of a bakery in Baltimore, Md., was outraged to find his plant padlocked on a recent Monday morning by agents of the Internal Revenue Service.

The charge was failure to pay back taxes despite repeated warnings from the IRS.

HE WAS ASSISTED — Acting on his emotions rather than reading the fine print of the law, the bakery owner saved the padlocks off the plant doors and tried to continue baking and selling bread and doughnuts.

He was arrested on complaint of the IRS.

The tax man, as more and more Americans are coming to realize, doesn't fool around.

But the IRS' seemingly brusque manner of attaching wages, seizing contents of safely deposit boxes, confiscating property ranging from television sets to automobiles in order to make up delinquent taxes, has caused a rumbling of protest across the land.

In Washington, focal point of the protest is the National Taxpayers' Union.

NTU Executive Director James D. Davidson said, "IRS intimidation is getting out of hand. And, they are reviving old cases to clog persons who criticize their methods."

NO LOVE

Meanwhile, over at the IRS, operations hum in a businesslike manner. "Nobody loves the tax man," said IRS spokesman Wilson Fadely. "But we do our job. The trouble is, tax-paying can be an emotional thing. People don't realize that the law gives the IRS the right to enforce collection of delinquent taxes — one way or another."

The official IRS fact sheet on the question of "levy action" puts it this way:

"Recognizing that the IRS could not discharge its responsibilities without some means of enforcing collection of delinquent taxes, and in fairness to the vast majority of taxpayers who properly meet their tax obligations, Congress has provided legal sanctions such as levy against property and rights to property of the taxpayers delinquent in payment of taxes."

"We recognize that some delinquencies may be caused by hardship or may be otherwise unintentional," said Fadely. "So, levy action or seizure of property is usually reserved for taxpayers who are uncooperative or unreasonable."

This is the area where most of the complaints arise. Taxpayers say the IRS can be very arbitrary about who is being "uncooperative and unreasonable."

EXEMPT STEMS

Section 6331 (A) of the Internal Revenue Code states that the IRS may "collect tax by levy upon all property and rights to property belonging to such person" within 10 days of notice that the taxpayer is delinquent.

Another section of the code lists property — including assets — which is exempt from levy. The list includes wearing apparel, school books, fuel, personal effects, unemployment benefits, undelivered mail, annuity and pension payments, workmen's compensation, and certain amounts of salary intended to pay for support of minor children.

"Unless the case is one where the man is about to flee the country," said Fadely, "or otherwise conceal or move his assets, IRS gives the taxpayer a reasonable opportunity to avoid such a levy."

CALLED ON CARPET

A three-judge federal appeals court panel in Chicago ruled in 1971 that the government violated the civil rights of a man whose books and records were seized by IRS agents.

The judges ruled the seizure by the IRS of books and records belonging to Dr. Vincent R. Hill, Springfield, Ill., violated Hill's right against self-incrimination.

Aside from the open resistance to tax payment, the IRS must contend with a sort of guerrilla warfare waged by a small band of taxpayers whose aim seems to be harassment.

SHARP WORDS

Each year the IRS processing centers around the country are bombarded with phony returns, with shirts off taxpayers' backs, with tea bags (symbolic of the Boston Tea Party) and other items aimed at either fouling up the processing or illustrating that the taxpayer has been badly gouged in the wallet.

Why do taxpayers go to all this bother to infuriate the IRS?

Government officials say it's just because people want to get in a sharp word before actually paying their money.

But Dr. Henry Krystal, a Detroit psychiatrist, has another theory. Writing in a psychiatry journal, he said the protests are from adults who have subconsciously substituted Uncle Sam for their fathers. These people, he says, see any demand from the government as unfair because "they still see themselves as children to whom all should be given."

You Are Salt Of The Earth, Says Tower

DALLAS (AP) — Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, having been described as "the salt of the earth" by a U.S. Senator, gave Dallas this morning what was perhaps the city's biggest parade ever.

More than 10,000 Shriners were to participate in the parade to celebrate the international organization's 100th birthday.

An estimated ninety thousand other Shriners are in Dallas, participating in various activities of the 98th Imperial Council Session of the Ancient Arabic Order.

The Shrinetsennial officially opened at the Statler Hilton Grand Ballroom Monday afternoon with colorful ceremonies which included civic and Masonic dignitaries and visitors from all over North America.

The Mayors of Dallas and Fort Worth welcomed the Shriners, as did one of the groups own members, U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

"You are the salt of the earth and I am proud of you" declared Tower.

C. Victor Thornton, Imperial Potentate and a member of Mosiah Temple of Fort Worth, read a telegram from the White House which characterized the Shrine as having "an extensive record of humanitarian service."

There's No Hassle For First Time In World Chess Match

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer was back in the running for the world chess championship today, and it appeared that the fourth game might start this afternoon without the turmoil that has kept the match on the world's front pages for nearly two weeks.

The 29-year-old American chess whiz won his first game ever from world titleholder Boris Spassky on Monday and now trails the Russian 2-1 in their 24-game match. In seven previous meetings, Fischer lost five times and two were draws.

ALL ALONE

Spassky sat at the chess third game resumed after the third game resume after the overnight adjournment, and referee Lothar Schmid opened Fischer's sealed 41st move, left with him the knight six, and it put the champion's king in check.

Spassky sat for five minutes, turned his king on its side to concede defeat, and left the stage as the audience sat silent. A few minutes later, Fischer arrived to mixed boos and cheers. He stayed only two minutes.

For the first time since the match was supposed to start on July 9, there was no overnight barrage of protests or complaints about the arrangements.

The fourth game was scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EDT today, with Fischer having the first move.

International grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analyzing the match for The Associated Press, said the 29-year-old American's play Sunday "was the kind of game expected of Fischer after his extraordinary successes of the last two years."

PRIVATE ROOM

Spassky "seemed to lack any aggressive ideas," Kashdan commented.

Fischer lost the first game of the match last week, and the second was awarded to Spassky by forfeit when the American refused to play because of the presence of three movie cameras in the hall.

The first part of the third game was played Sunday at Fischer's insistence in a private room, with the audience watching on closed circuit television. The game was moved back to the main hall of the sports palace Monday when Spassky said he would not play in the private room, and Fischer made no objection.

Showers Dot West Texas

By The Associated Press

A weak cool front crept southward through the Panhandle-Plains sector in West Texas today, setting off scattered showers and thunderstorms in an area damaged here and there by turbulent weather during the night.

Thundershowers also dotted the southern half of the state, parts of East and Central Texas and the coastal plains.

Menacing turbulence caused official forecasters to place 15 counties in the Panhandle under a tornado watch for a time during the night. One funnel cloud spun through the sky near Muleshoe on the South Plains but did not touch ground.

Rain descended in torrents and hail pelted some localities. Amarillo measured one-half inch of rain within an hour as the wind gusted above 50 miles per hour.

Authorities reported one deluge washed out part of a road-way in Parmer County.

By this morning skies were partly cloudy nearly everywhere in the state.

Temperatures near dawn eased down to 62 degrees in Amarillo, behind the frontal system, while it was still 80 at Pecos and 81 at Galveston on the coast.

Monday afternoon's top marks ranged from 97 at Wichita Falls down to 78 at Alpine in the mountains of far West Texas.

Official observers looked for the cool front to stall across the Panhandle during the day. Scattered thundershowers were expected to linger in that area and to continue in a hit-or-miss pattern elsewhere.

Bottle Blowers' Union On Strike

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Members of the glass bottle blowers' union were on strike today at the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. plant here over the firing in Los Angeles of a union president.

About 150 members of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association Local 220 walked out of the plant Monday in defiance of a court order not to do so.

A restraining order prohibiting the strike was issued Friday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack Roberts.

A company spokesman said the strike was illegal.

Company lawyers went to Austin seeking an order for the union to show cause for its action.

The bidding:
South West North East
2 NT Pass 6 NT Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠. A slight oversight at the outset proved disastrous to South's prospects in today's six no trump contract. South holds the 22 high card points required for an opening bid of two no trump. North has 13 points including two aces and with the partnership assured of at least 35, there seemed little purpose in probing for a suit contract so he proceeded directly to six no trump.

North might have bid a suit as a temporizing measure with the intention of leaping to six no trump on the next round. This action invites partner to bid seven if he has a maximum two no trump opening. Observe that if South, in addition, had held the jack of spades and the jack of diamonds, the combined holdings would produce 13 top tricks.

West opened the queen of clubs, the four was played from dummy, East discarded the four of spades and declarer won the trick with the king of clubs. The adverse club break did not augur well for South's prospects. Altho he had 11 top tricks, three spades, three hearts, three diamonds and two clubs — his 12th would hinge on finding an even division in either spades or diamonds, which did not appear likely in view of what had already transpired.

Still there was nothing to do but test his luck. The king of spades was cashed on which West dropped the jack. A small spade to the queen produced a club discard from West. The latter threw a second club on the ace of spades. The ace and king of diamonds came next, followed by a third round to the queen. West showed out again, this time on the third lead, discarding a heart.

Three rounds of hearts were taken next. North discarded a diamond and South then exited with a small club. West put up the ten to cover North's eight and then returned the five which was won by dummy's nine. South was obliged to retain the king of clubs in his hand, for if he overtook the nine, his seven of clubs would lose the last trick to West's jack. As it was, he was no better off because North was obliged to surrender the setting trick to East's ten of spades.

South could have come to 12 tricks by unblocking early in the club suit. At the opening gun, he must play North's eight of clubs under the queen. When he leads a small club at trick 11 and West puts up the ten, dummy again unblocks with the nine. Now when a club is led back away from the jack-five, North follows suit with the four and South takes the last two tricks with his ace-seven.

Manager Has Dim View Of Federal Revenue Sharing

City Manager Harry Nagel and El Paso $6,362,083, according to Klein.

NAGEL REGRETS "I don't necessarily support it — I never have," said Nagel. He reported that Big Spring will receive annually an estimated share of $270,000. Use of the money, he explained, is restricted to certain categories of improvements: environmental protection, sewer improvements, street work (not replacing old) equipment.

Nagel fears that the revenue sharing will eventually have strings attached to it. The efficiency of the program is just as dubious as that of any other federal program, he said.

"For every dollar they collect in the name of revenue sharing, 40 cents will be eaten up by $12,589,861; Dallas, $8,374,719; employees on the spraying detail were hospitalized from effects of cumulative absorption.

Expense of the operation, too, had become prohibitive.

The idea of saving the elm has been abandoned. Anderson has turned to a new project of replacing the dying trees on a one-for-one basis with species which are seemingly immune to the attacks of fell insects. Non-bearing mulberry and Arizona ash have been chosen to re-enforce the shade in the city parks and recreation areas. He estimated the new trees will require five to 10 years to mature as good-sized shade trees.

City Tosses In Spray Can On Fight Against Beetles

The elm beetle can claim victory in the first battle with the city of Big Spring. Roy Anderson, assistant city manager and director of parks and recreation, announced that fighting the elm beetle in city parks is a losing battle.

Anderson said that a three-year campaign against the beetle proved useless. The poison employed in spraying the trees, he said, was effective — the best he could find — but results were not long-lasting. New crops of beetles invaded city trees from the private property nearby.

The use of the poison, Anderson said, was dangerous to those applying it. Several Recalls Experience He recalled a project involving a federal grant during his past management at Sulphur Springs. The project, he said, designed to create a reservoir for the city. The grant application consisted of 115 pages to be sent to the Economic Development Administration. An original and 10 copies had to be filed. He made trips to Austin with lawyers, engineers, fiscal agents, during a span of three years and that was just the planning stage, he said.

One obstacle to the project, Nagel recalls was the necessity of moving a farm-to-market road 2,000 feet. Useless paperwork and countless questions had to be completed just to acquire the approval of the Agency for the road to be moved.

INCOME TAX The entire revenue sharing concept is keyed on the state income tax, he continued. States that have a state income tax receive more revenue sharing money.

The supporters of the state income tax in Texas will support their issues, he concluded.

The decree restricted Blanco's power to a maximum of eight days before Prince Juan Carlos De Borbon, France's choice to eventually succeed him as head of the government, takes over.

Mexico Tries To Keep Hogs Off The Highways

By WILLARD COLT Copyist News Service

MEXICO CITY — Keep the hogs off the highways, and the cattle in the corrals, is the essence of a current Secretariat of Public Works road-safety campaign.

For, incredible as it may sound, loose livestock are one of the principal causes of highway accidents and deaths in Mexico.

Mexico is proud of her modern high-speed highways. They were built, and are being constructed, with engineering techniques calculated to make them safe for all but the most foolhardy drivers.

PAN AMERICAN RACE Some 20 years ago, in the early 1950s, Mexico used to host the world-famous Pan American road race, a five-day event that ran from the Guatemalan border in the southeast to the northern border city of Ciudad Juarez, across from El Paso, Tex. Each day that section of the highway that was being raced was closed to all other traffic, and the drivers, even in stock U.S.-made sedans, averaged speeds of well over 100 miles an hour. European race cars used to touch speeds as high as 180 m.p.h. That route, like all others in Mexico, has been improved many times since then, widened for its entire length, detoured around bustling cities, straightened in places, all in accord with the most up-to-date road building theory and practice.

So it is that the real possibility that itinerant livestock should frustrate the design has sparked the effort to limit their access to freeways.

For example, it is dark and you are rolling down the oil-stained concrete trunk highway on the Yucatan peninsula. The headlights pick up another black patch ahead, presumably another oil smear.

But, frighteningly, a pair of glowing yellow eyes emerge from it and you screech to a halt while a placid Black Angus lurches to its feet and lumbers off into the nearby forest.

You may have been lucky, but not everyone is. Figures compiled by the secretariat show that in 1969 there was a total of 2,838 accidents on federal highways, of which 297 were caused by wandering cattle, causing 39 deaths and 124 injuries.

Red-Hot Cardinals Deck Sagging Houston Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Every pitcher has to lose sometime. Or does he? Bob Gibson has plenty of chances to ponder the question.

"Who says you have to lose?" Gibson challenged Monday night after he decked the Houston Astros 3-2 with a nine-hit performance which included 13 strikeouts.

"I guess you do, but I don't spend any of my time thinking about it," he said. "You try to build up your own confidence for each game and not think about losing. I don't look forward to breaking the string."

"The string" is 10 straight victories for the 37-year-old rapid-fire artist after losing his first five decisions of the season.

Gibson protected his streak Monday night by whiffing nine of 10 batters in one stretch and walking only one Astro—and that was intentional.

Does he get any satisfaction out of silencing his critics with 10 straight victories?

"When I won 10 games in a row I don't have my critics in mind at all," Gibson said.

There certainly weren't any critics in the Astros' dressing room.

"If you play cards with a guy and he gets a hot hand, what are you going to do—slap his wrists?" Astros manager Harry Walker asked.

Lou Brock staked Gibson to a 1-0 lead in the sixth inning with a run-scoring single and Gibson was most appreciative.

"If I were in a World Series I can't think of any guy I'd rather have than that guy right there (Brock)," Gibson said. "I've been through three World Series with him and I know what he can do when the chips are down."

Brock's lead didn't stand up as Bob Watson tied things up with a double scoring Cesar Cedeño in the seventh.

Donn Clendon put the Cards over the top with a solo homer in the eighth and Luis Melendez hit a run-scoring single to wrap it up.

Houston scored another run in the eighth on Lee May's single.

Gibson called himself a slow starter but said, "This is the first time I started out without any victories."

"The only time I started fast, I was 8-0 and before I knew it I was 8-7." Gibson said he just didn't get going until well into the season. Despite this, he may even lose a game sometime—but it doesn't seem like it.

Gabriel Suffers Collapsed Lung

By The Associated Press

Roman Gabriel's lung collapsed—and at least temporarily—has punctured the quarterback's strength of the Los Angeles Rams.

Gabriel, veteran of 10 National Football League seasons and star quarterback of the Los Angeles club, was hospitalized Monday as the first major casualty of preseason training.

His condition was diagnosed as a spontaneous pneumothorax of the right lung—a condition caused by rupturing of a small air cyst at the top of the lung.

The attending physician, who asked not to be named, said the condition could afflict any healthy individual, regardless of physical activity.

DOBSON TAKES WIN Birds Blitz Rangers, 3-1

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Like most people, Pat Dobson had heard all about the Texas heat and humidity, but he hadn't heard much about the wind.

"When we were here in June, the wind wasn't much of a factor, but tonight any ball hit to right field didn't have a prayer of going anywhere and every slider and curve I threw got caught in the wind," the curly-haired Baltimore righthander said Monday night after beating the Texas Rangers 3-1.

"I'm a breaking ball pitcher and I was amazed at how much the wind affected my pitches. It would've been worse if it had been blowing in from straight behind me, but blowing in as it was from right field was bad enough. That had a lot to do with my walking four batters."

In running his record to 11-8, Dobson allowed the lone run on six hits before yielding to reliever Roric Harrison after Don Mincher walked to open the eighth inning.

"A year ago, Earl (Baltimore manager Earl Weaver) had no confidence in any of his relievers, so I wouldn't've been left in," Dobson said. "It would've been my game to win or lose. This year, the way Harrison and Doyle Alexander have picked us up, he goes to the strong, fresh arm right away in the later innings."

Texas manager Ted Williams was inconsoled.

"We gave it to them, plain and simple," he said. "We just can't seem to get our hits in bunches, and that's killing us right now. Our pitching was good, but our defense and hitting left a lot to be desired."

The Orioles took a 1-0 lead off Texas loser Jim Panther, who

Allen Top Vote - Getter For All-Star Team Berth

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Allen, a two-time All-Star in the National League, was the top vote-getter on the American League All-Star team announced today by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The Chicago White Sox slugger, who leads the American League with 19 home runs and 61 runs batted in, received 1,092,758 of the 3,171,556 votes cast in the nationwide poll of fans. Allen, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers in a major winter trade, easily won the starting first base assignment over Detroit's Norm Cash, the runnerup with 729,753 votes.

Only one other player received more than one million votes. That was veteran third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, who easily got the nod at third base over Oakland's Sal Bando, 1,041,128 votes to 362,360.

The only team with more than one representative on the starting all-star team is the Boston Red Sox, who placed Luis Aparicio at shortstop and Carl Yastrzemski in the outfield. The 43rd annual All-Star Game will be in Atlanta and will be nationally televised by NBC.

Joining Allen, Aparicio and Robinson in the starting infield will be Rod Carew of Minnesota, a starter for the sixth straight time. Carew polled

LL TOURNEY Texas League Trims Midland

Harvey Hernandez survived a shaky first inning on the mound for the Texas Little League and then led his team to a 4-2 victory over Midland Northern in the first game of the District Three Tournament here Monday.

Hernandez gave up only five hits in the game and two of those came in the top of the first inning when Midland scored both of its runs.

Doug Attnip, the first Midland batter, was hit in the ribs by a Hernandez fast ball. Steve Cole then hit a ground ball back to the pitcher who threw Attnip out at second. Danny Shock then singled sharply to right field, advancing Cole to third. When the right fielder tried to throw the runner out at third, Shock alertly advanced to second.

Rick Goode then hit a first base choice ground ball to first base to give Midland 1-0 lead. Shock moved to third on the play. Howard Buonasera gave Midland a 2-0 lead with a single to center. Jeff Lutke walked to put men on first and second, but John Newberry fled out to left to end the inning.

Plan For Tighter Limits On Pollution Draws Fire

HOUSTON (AP) — Industry witnesses lashed out Monday at a federal government plan to impose stricter limits on state air pollution laws which they said would cost Texas firms $500 million in added control equipment.

They said that a plan by the Environmental Protection Agency to scrap proposed state limits on nitrogen oxides drawn up by the Texas Air Control Board would be economically devastating to industry while doing little to improve Texas air.

The testimony came at an EPA hearing on the Texas plan. Charles R. Barden, executive secretary of the Texas air board told Cooper Wayman, the hearing officer and EPA regional council, that any testimony he might give would come at a similar hearing on the federal proposal set for today in Austin.

"I would have thought the EPA would have met in Austin under the circumstances," Barden said. Wayman replied that EPA officials had felt a substantial part of the testimony at the PEA hearing would come from Houston area citizens.

In addition to tightening state regulations on nitrogen oxides, the EPA also wants a change in the state rules on emissions of hydrocarbons, public access to emission data and monitoring and reporting on emissions by pollution sources.

Substitute regulations prepared by the state air board will be considered at the Austin hearing today. Unless the state submits a satisfactory amended plan by July 31, the EPA is required by the federal Clean Air Act to replace the disapproved sections with its own regulations.

The federal report on nitrogen oxide emissions in Texas was attacked by Brodie Allen, representing several Corpus Christi industrial associations, who said they were based on faulty data.

Darrel Greenwell, regional EPA air programs chief, acknowledged that recently completed research indicates that the traditional method of measuring nitrogen oxides may produce inflated values.

Because of the questionable data, he said, all Priority I regions in the state—those with the worst problems—are being resampled for possible reclassification. Deadlines for complying with nitrogen oxide limits are being extended, he said.

The proposed federal nitrogen oxide regulation would mainly affect gas-fueled electric generating plants in the Houston-Galveston, Dallas-Fort Worth and Corpus Christi-Victoria air regions, witnesses said.

Industry spokesmen said major reconstruction would be required on older generating and boiler units, and even some of them would not be able to meet the standard.

The state regulation would cover only power plants and allow higher emissions from older generating units.

The more sweeping EPA proposal would also cover larger heating units in oil and chemical plants. It would set emission limits three and a half times stricter than the state's in some cases.

The Electric Reliability Council of Texas submitted a thick research study by the Radian Corp., which was commissioned by the electric industry, which estimated the federal regulation would cost $500 million in added controls by Texas industry.

Clem K. Best Jr., representing the local chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, said the EPA plan would require costly retrofitting of a great number of additional boilers which produce only one to two per cent of the total nitrogen oxide going into the environment.

Best urged the EPA to do a cost-benefit study of its regulations or else settle for the state plan.

GROUP INSURANCE POLICIES State May Have Lost Money By Failing To Collect Tax

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Auditor George McNeil says "substantial" revenue might have been lost because of the Texas Insurance Department's failure to collect a tax on certain group insurance policies.

The comment came in an official audit of the department's records.

State law imposes a 1.1 per cent tax on insurance companies gross premiums, but premiums on the first year of a policy are exempt.

McNeil questioned what he called "the prevailing practice" of treating all premiums on group disability—including hospitalization—and credit life insurance policies as exempt from the tax.

"Since credit life insurance currently being written in Texas amounts to many millions of dollars annually and the amount of premium tax involved, if due, would be substantial, we have pointed out to the (insurance) commissioner the need for the board to study and perhaps secure a legal opinion on this matter," McNeil said.

Robert Clines, the insurance board's attorney, said no attorney general's opinion has been sought, but "this matter is being studied for litigation—we may just go in and institute some collection suits."

"I am sure something will be done before taxpaying time," said Clines, referring to the March 1, 1973 deadline for the next gross premium tax reports.

He said the problem arises because the terms of a number of group insurance contracts permit either party to drop out after a year, or to renegotiate the terms of the contracts. This leads to the belief, he said, that all premiums for such group policies are first year premiums, exempt from taxation.

"There have been some strenuous screams by some companies that this (tax) is not a collectible item," Clines said. He added that "the biggest problem has arisen not so much on credit life as on the big employer groups."

Legal experts said they knew of no law prohibiting the collection of the tax as far back as it was due if the courts rule it can be collected on group policies that are renegotiated annually.

Fire Hits Newsom's

Extensive smoke damage and some fire damage to the northwest corner of a local supermarket resulted from a midnight fire discovered by a sheriff's deputy unit.

The Big Spring fire department received the call at 11:55 p.m. Monday. Engines were dispatched from the 18th and Main station and Central station to Newsom's Food Center.

Neither estimate of damage or cause of the fire were available.

The fire was under control in less than an hour.

The base wide chess tournament will be held Aug. 13 according to Ellen Gladden, Recreation Center director at Webb AFB.

The contest will be held at the Recreation Center, and the champion will represent Webb at the Air Training Command (ATC) tournament.

The ATC tournament will be held Sept. 11 at Laredo AFB, Mrs. Gladden said.

Trophies will be awarded to the base winners.

Borden Grand Jurors To Meet

GAIL — Borden County grand jurors were to convene this afternoon in Gail to hear evidence in cases concerning alleged irregularities in voting in recent party primaries held in Borden County. Cases involving narcotics violation also were due for consideration.

Lealand W. Greene, 132nd district attorney, said that the voting violation cases involved alleged false swearing on the part of persons residing outside Borden County in order to be allowed to vote in Borden County primaries.

In the other matter, two suspects are charged with violation of state marijuana laws.

Teamsters Endorse Nixon, Hoffa Speculation Grows

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon returns to Washington today with the endorsement of the leadership of the 2-million-member Teamsters Union.

Nixon smilingly thanked and shook hands with Teamsters chief Frank Fitzsimmons and other members of the independent union's executive committee after it endorsed the Republican President's re-election bid Monday.

The Teamster president did not disclose whether there was any split in the committee vote, but a source said it was almost unanimous.

LOSER IN 1960 — Fitzsimmons blasted Democratic candidate George McGovern and termed the break from big labor's backing of Democratic presidential hopefuls "unprecedented."

But a Teamsters historian later said that although the union had supported Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and other Democrats dating back to Depression days, it backed Nixon's losing campaign in 1960 against John F. Kennedy.

In a prepared statement to newsmen at the union's conference and recreational complex 25 miles south of the Western White House here, Fitzsimmons declared that Teamster leaders "felt that the backing of Mr. Nixon was in the best interests of labor and the country." Fitzsimmons was the only labor representative on Nixon's Pay Board who remained after others walked out in protest of the President's policies.

"RIGHT TO-WORK" — The Teamsters president cited complaints about McGovern on Monday ranging from support of the "right-to-work" law which labor opposes, to his stands on marijuana and the Vietnam war.

Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler flatly denied as "untrue and absurd" a speculative Washington report that linked the Teamsters' endorsement with the early release from prison last Dec. 23 of former Teamster leader James Hoffa by presidential clemency.

Farm Institute On Managing

Farmers interested in brushing up on latest management techniques are invited to a farm management institute in Lamesa Thursday.

Sessions will be in the First Baptist Fellowship Hall starting at 9:30 a.m. The luncheon at 12 noon will be hosted by the Lamesa Noon Lions Club at Forest Park Community Center.

Experts to address the institute include Marvin Sartin, area farm management specialist for Texas A & M University; Johnny R. Feagan, economist in farm organizations for A&M; and Kenneth Wolf, A&M economist in agribusines.

In the morning Sartin discusses whether to bring new enterprises into farm enterprises marketing guides. LeeRoy Colgan, Dawson County agent, also will review his county's agricultural outlook, a subject to be viewed in general by Wolf at the luncheon. In the afternoon, there will be topical consideration of managing labor, using agricultural futures, use of custom farm services, and a general discussion period. The Lamesa banks, production credit unit, federal land bank, Farmers Home Administration and extension service are sponsoring the institute.

New Mystery At Crash Site

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Search and rescue workers have opened up a new mystery at the Mt. Adams site of a plane that crashed more than 23 years ago.

The plane, discovered some time ago, was confirmed as that of a craft reported missing March 17, 1949. Records showed that the plane had been located in 1959. It had been for a buried and a crash plate had been attached to indicate the find had been recorded.

But the remains of a body were brought down the mountain from the wreckage by the workers Thursday.

No mention of any bodies was made in the earlier reports.

Be In Open

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

IN SECRET: (Q.) My girl friend and I have been going steady for more than two months, but her parents don't know about it. She manages to get out almost every night, so we see quite a bit of each other, but we don't like sneaking around. Every time she brings up the subject of wanting to date a guy, her mother gets mad. I am 18 and my girl friend is 16. — Troubled in Maine.

(A.) Stop slipping around. Now. Go to your girl friend's home. Meet her parents. Tell them you like and respect their daughter and want to protect her as much as they do. At 16 she is of dating age and needs to go places with other teen-agers. Her parents should recognize this. But they appear to be unrealistic about her, so be diplomatic.

PUBLISHING: (Q.) Can you tell me how I would go about publishing a book? How much would it cost? How would I pay for it? Would the material have to be typewritten? How long would it take to publish? It is legal to publish a newspaper or magazine of your own, or must it be with a company? Does the material have to be facts only? Can I put in only my opinions and beliefs of certain subjects? — Teen-Age Writer in Michigan.

(A.) Some publishers charge for printing books. Some pay writers for the privilege of publishing their books. Each book is an individual case and subject to a standard contract or special arrangement. Most publishers ask for type-written manuscripts, but exceptions have been made for outstanding writers. A book can be published in weeks or years. It depends upon the urgency of the subject.

You can publish a newspaper all by yourself, or with a partner or partners. Or you can form a corporation to publish it. You are free to express your opinion in it. You do not have to stick only to facts. But a newspaper that did not tell the truth as you see it would be of no value. All said here about newspapers is true of magazines too.

I think you need study in writing and editing before you start publishing. Your high school probably offers courses in journalism and possibly an opportunity to work on the school paper. Investigate these possibilities when school reopens. Also a course in typing.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of the Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 302, Houston, Texas 77061.)

Big Burden

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to that lady whose husband is always gawking at women with big bosoms while she is made to feel inferior because she is small. I have what is considered a "sexy" bosom, and I hate it! Ever since my teens I have been conspicuously large. Even today I have an entire bureau drawer filled with expensive bras of every description because I have never found a comfortable one. I am sick and tired of bras which cut and bind and torture me. I am seriously considering surgery to reduce the size of my bosom. I envy the woman who is lucky enough to enjoy the freedom and comfort of a small bosom. And if her husband is a male chauvinist pig who humiliates her by constantly gawking at big-bosomed women, any psychologist could tell him that he is still a little boy looking for his Mommy.

BIG IS BURDENSOME. DERA BIG: Your feeling has been confirmed by many. But one woman's "burden" is another woman's booby prize.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think retired parents should spend EVERY day with their married daughter? Mine has rented an apartment near us and they use my home to store all their "hate-to-part-with" treasures. My closets contain their off-season clothing, and they use my house as theirs, which doesn't upset me, but I resent more and more the lack of privacy. They come here at 9 a.m. for "coffee" and stay for lunch, then they wait for the children to come home from school. They are still here when I start dinner, and since they never have any plans, I ask them to stay. They don't sponge off us. In fact, they're always bringing steaks, fresh fish or something for the family. They do many things to "help" me. Dad works in the yard and Mom sews and darns and bakes. I go to nothing alone. Not even a dental appointment. They like to go along "for the ride" and are content to just sit in the car and wait for me. Well, Dear Abby, my problem is somewhere in this rambling letter, so if you can find it, perhaps you'll offer a solution.

DEAR TRAPPED: Your

problem wasn't hard to find. You lack the courage to extricate yourself from a situation which has become stifling. The only solution is to try harder to acquaint them with their contemporaries, and introduce them to other interests.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for that wife of 50 years who was married to Herman, and felt that after 50 years of "for better or worse" she was entitled to a few years of "better" before she died. She probably raised a family and helped Herman in his business, while Herman (on his off hours) charmed the ladies and pursued his hobbies. Then Herman grew old and the ladies were no longer charmed. Herman's wife probably got tired of hearing Herman tell people what a great father and husband he was. And how hard he had worked all his life to become a big success from such a humble beginning. Hooray for Herman's wife who had the courage to call it quits after 50 years. I hope she's living it up in Palm Springs, and still has the health to play a few games of canasta. I wish I had her courage. "A FORTY-NINER"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "EMPTY ARMS": Stay with the husband to whom you have been happily married for the last 15 years. Number one missed the boat 20 years ago.

Gene Bobo Named Scout Executive In This Area

The new executive for the Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council will be Gene P. Bobo, presently of Texarkana. He is to assume his duties here Aug. 15.

Although he has been serving as a professional in the Cass district in Texas and the Little River district in Arkansas only since 1968, he has had nearly a score of years in scouting as a volunteer. Several years of this was in a semi-professional capacity.

Bob said he was anxious to get on the field in Howard, Glasscock, and Sterling counties because he said they offered greater challenge and opportunity. His districts were on target on all boy power goals, and last year he was over his goals well before the end of the year. He is a specialist in camping and training and has had wide experience in all areas in programming especially.

A bachelor until 1970, he is married to the former Elouise Adams, and they have two children, Kenneth Wayne Adams, 12, and Glenda Kay Adams, 9.

Bobo is a graduate of Central State College in Edmond, Okla., with a BS degree in education and has graduate work plus experience as a teacher of business subjects. He served twice in the U.S. Army and holds his honorable discharge from the reserve.

He attended national camping schools for program and camp directors at Oconard Scout Reservation in Memphis, Tenn., and then the National Education Institute for professional Scouters at Shiffert Reservation, N. J. He also has participated in a national regional and range training conferences after joining the Caddo Council and has served as Scout camp and program director. Bobo succeeds Monty Stokes, who retired recently due to failing health and moved to Tyler to be near his daughter's family. Chaplain A. C. Hicks, district chairman, announced Bobo's appointment.

She Refuses To Cash Big Check; Raps Engineers

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — An elderly woman whose home was bulldozed in the land clearance for Barkley Dam more than 10 years ago has steadfastly refused to cash a $6,400 check the Army Corps of Engineers sent her in 1958 as her part of the payment on the house.

"I'll never accept that money," said Babe Williams. "They didn't have any right to take my home and by accepting the money I would be agreeing that they did have."

Meanwhile, Miss Williams, who is past 75 and crippled, lives on $60 a month from Social Security.

She signed an option to sell her old home to the government in 1958, but she contends she signed "under duress" and was not aware of exactly what she was signing. She owned the 135-year-old house and 60 acres of land jointly with a sister.

Miss Williams still hasn't lost her contempt for the Corps of Engineers.

Beached Wives

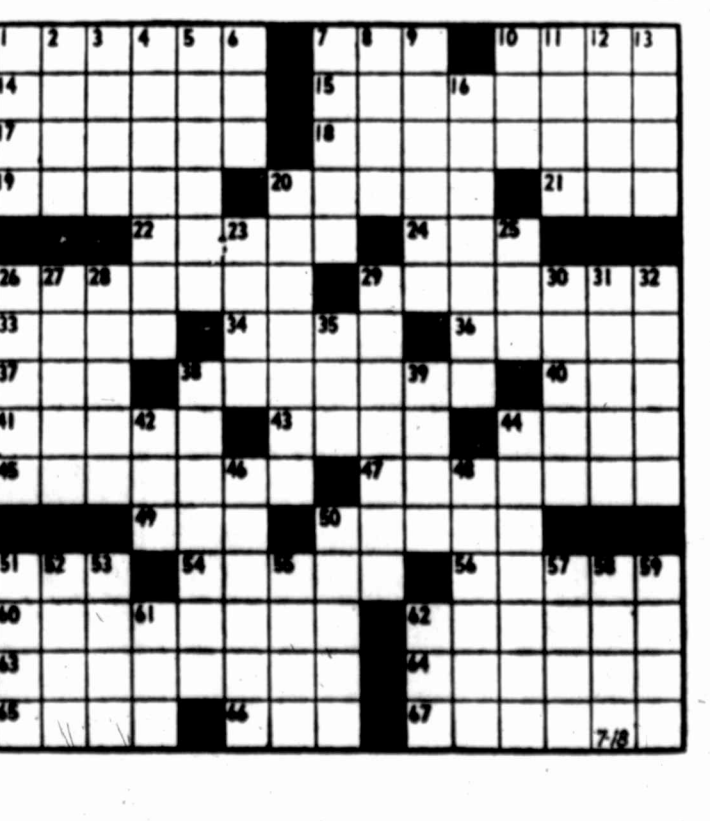

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — The marriages of many sailors head straight for the rocks, says a vicar at one of Britain's leading naval bases.

"Long spells of separation, inevitable in naval life, cause immediate friction in marriages," the Rev. William Sargent told Royal Navy chiefs.

He plans to start a marriage reconciliation bureau in the town for sailors and their wives.

Mayor Daley
Will Support
Demo Ticket

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley isn't mentioning Sen. George McGovern by name, but he says he "will support every candidate on the Democratic ticket, federal, state and local."

Daley, making his first public appearance since he and 58 delegates loyal to him were replaced by a rival delegation to the Democratic National Convention, issued his blanket endorsement in a statement read at a news conference Monday.

His statement did not mention presidential nominee McGovern by name, and he dodged questions about the South Dakota senator's chances in Illinois.

"I think the voters will give you that answer," Daley said when asked whether he thought McGovern would be a better leader than President Nixon.

Illinois, with 26 electoral votes, is one of the key industrial states that most political analysts agree a Democratic presidential candidate must carry. The support of Daley and his associates in Chicago is generally regarded as necessary to offset a traditionally heavy Republican vote downstate.

China Oil Pact Hinted

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — An international oil exploration company is investigating possible drilling in China.

Robert L. Parker, president of Parker Drilling Co., said Monday his firm has approached the Chinese government and received a reply.

"They informed us they were interested and would contact us in a short time," Parker said in an interview.

"It is such a vast country that there is bound to be oil there. It could well be a great new frontier."

The most likely areas, he said, are along the coast and possibly in a basin near Russia.

Parker Drilling has 14 rigs that could be transported even into remote areas.

The firm has several rigs on the North Slope of Alaska, has several drilling deep holes in the deep Anadarko Basin of Oklahoma and West Texas and three in the Uinta Basin of Utah.

The firm also operates in Paraguay, Bolivia and Argentina. There are two rigs in the Far East and a third is scheduled to begin operations soon.

The firm will be shipping a new rig to Africa within the next 30 days with a second one to go next year, Parker said.

West Texan Found Dead

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Police identified Monday a man found dead in an apartment building elevator here as an American soldier from Texas stationed in this West German city.

An Army spokesman said he was Jim R. Kenley Jr., 19, of Kerrville, Tex., who apparently died of an overdose of drugs.

His body was found July 12 by an elderly German woman. Fingerprints taken by German police, cooperating with military police, led to his identification.

Kenley held the rank of private and was assigned to A Company, 143rd Signal Battalion, Drake Edwards Kasern, in Frankfurt.

To Hike Wheat Subsidies
By Nearly $100 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweetened billion-dollar farm subsidy plan by the Nixon administration is expected to bite into huge surplus stockpiles next year even if the Soviet Union decides not to buy any U.S. bread grain.

The plan, announced Monday by the Agriculture Department, could pay farmers about $1.1 billion for trimming wheat acreage next year, a record high subsidy for the crop and about $100 million more than payments for 1972.

$1.25 PER BUSHEL
It is basically the same as for this year, but includes additional incentives to entice more acres from wheat production. The basic government price support loan will remain unchanged at $1.25 per bushel.

A department spokesman, noting the build up of wheat surpluses to the highest level in nearly a decade, told reporters the 1973 acreage "set-aside" program benefits could run $100 million more than the billion spent on payments this year.

"It was drawn up without taking into consideration the possibility of the Soviet sale," Glenn A. Weir, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

Weir referred to a recently announced $750 million sale of U.S. grain to the Soviets over the next three years.

"But if exports, and sales to the Soviet Union materialize, then farmers stand to gain and cost to the government will be lower," he said.

LURE FARMERS
The program is keyed partly to markets, meaning that if farmers get higher prices for cash sales they will rely less on government payments.

The program is aimed at taking 25 million acres from wheat production next year, compared with about 20 million idled this harvest.

A major change for 1973 is in an "optional" provision intended to entice farmers to remove 10 million acres from wheat production in addition to their basic idled acres.

For that, the government plans to pay farmers an average of $20 per acre or more to reduce acres for harvest next year.

The reason is apparent: On July 1 the wheat "carryover" or surplus was more than 900 million bushels, the most since 1963-64.

Much of the current surplus is the result of a record harvest of 1.6 billion bushels last year, coupled with a sharp dip in exports which was blamed, partly, on dock strikes.

Credit Union Pays
June 30 Dividend

Webb AFB Federal Credit Union has again declared a six per cent semi-annual dividend on savings.

The credit union paid $285,924.26 to its members for the period ending June 30.

Webb Credit Union first paid a six per cent semi-annual dividend on Jan. 1, 1970. At that time semi-annual dividends were at a percentage of 5.6 and an additional 4 per cent bonus dividend was paid to the members.

Dividends are credited directly to members' accounts on the first day of January and July of each year.
