SEARCH FOR VEEP CANDIDATE CENTERS ON EIGHT MEN

Eagleton Steps Down

SEN. THOMAS EAGLETON
Oh, My Aching Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for a new Democratic vice-presidential candidate centers on eight men following Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's precedent-setting withdrawal from the ticket.

Unable to convince presidential candidate George McGovern that the issue of Eagleton's history as a psychiatric patient would go away, the Missouri senator sadly stepped down Monday night and cleared the way for McGovern to look for a new running-mate.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, former Democratic National Committee Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine head most speculators' lists of likely replacements for Eagleton, who became the first man in American history to give up a major party's nomination for vice president.

FIRST CHOICE

But Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, R. Sargent Shriver, former director of the Peace Corps, and McGovern's close Senate friends Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin are also major possibilities.

And in Atlanta, Georgia State Rep. Julian Bond, a leader in the "Blacks for McGovern" campaign, quoted a high-placed McGovern aide as saying Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter is being considered to replace Eagleton.

McGovern's first choice to fill the vacancy may still be Edward M. Kennedy. The Massachusetts senator has steadfastly disavowed any interest in running for national office this year.

But, following Eagleton's dramatic withdrawal Monday, McGovern could well go to Kennedy and argue that his chances have been damaged by the Eagleton affair and only a Kennedy on the ticket could preserve the Democrats' chances of beating President Nixon in November.

PERSONAL FEELINGS
McGovern has promised to make his preference known within a few days and conceivably could do it on a nationwide television broadcast he has scheduled tonight. However, McGovern aides say he will "talk about the campaign" and not discuss a replacement for Eagleton.

Whoever McGovern selects will require approval of the newly constituted 303-member Democratic National Committee.

Eagleton went before the hot lights of a Monday night news conference to grimly announce he was withdrawing his candidacy.

"My personal feelings are secondary to the necessity to unify the Democratic party and elect George McGovern," the Missouri senator said.

He added later that he and McGovern reached the historic occasion jointly "so as not to further divide the party that is already too much divided."

Democratic office-holders were slow to react to Eagleton's withdrawal.

OLD LINE DEMOS

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was sorry at the turn of events but called it a "decision that had to be made." He reiterated his faith in Eagleton.

O'Brien, who is enlisting support of old-line Democrats in the McGovern cause, said he had talked with McGovern following Eagleton's announcement, but added that they did not discuss the choice of a new running-mate. He called Eagleton's resignation "a very difficult and courageous thing to do."

CORONA Claims Client Innocent Of Murdering 25

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Juan Corona's lawyer claims his client is innocent of charges of murdering 25 itinerant farm-workers and insists the prosecution knows it.

Richard Hawk, the lawyer representing the Yuba City farm labor contractor, made the comment Monday on his way to serve 48 hours in jail for contempt of court.

Hawk criticized handling of the case by the Sutter County district attorney, David Teja, and sheriff Roy Whiteaker.

In an interview outside the Solano County sheriff's office, Hawk said, "They stand up in court and insinuate Juan wrote this list and he did the killings when they — the sheriff and the prosecutor — know as well as I do who really did write the list and who killed all those people."

Hawk refused to identify the person to whom he referred, but he said "He's not running around where he can hurt anyone."

Hawk said the identity will be revealed after Corona's trial begins Sept. 5.

The case was moved from Sutter Court to Solano County after Hawk contended Corona would be unable to receive a fair trial in Yuba City.

Tax Deductible

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — All except $100 of the $1 million ransom paid for the safe return of Mrs. Harry G. Piper Jr. probably is tax deductible, according to an Internal Revenue Service spokesman.

Mrs. Piper, 49, is the Minneapolis socialite and wife of a prominent stock broker. She was kidnapped from her suburban Orono home Thursday and was released Saturday after her husband paid the cash ransom.

The spokesman for the St. Paul district office of the IRS Monday cited an unnamed kidnap case several years ago in which it was decided the "ransom payments qualify as a theft loss deduction if the taking of the money was illegal under the law of the state where it occurred and the taking was done with criminal intent."

Federal law makes all except the first $100 of theft loss deductible and the ruling cited cases under that law, the spokesman said. Meanwhile, FBI agents and Hennepin County authorities refused to disclose whether Mrs. Piper had provided any clues which might lead to the capture of her two and possibly three kidnapers.

'STILL TOO MANY' LEAVING FARMS

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Too many persons are leaving farms although the number has been drastically reduced and is dropping, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says.

Butz said Monday that 106,000 people left farms in the last year of the Johnson administration, compared to an estimated 46,000 this year.

He said the number is dropping but it's "still too many."

At a news conference, Butz also talked about what he called the opportunity to continue expanding foreign markets for U.S. agricultural products.

The Soviet Union, he said, is apparently ready for developing its livestock and will need American feed grain to do the job.

Butz said he has assured Soviet agriculture officials they can depend on American production of feed grains because of this country's large quantity of land and sufficient rainfall.

'I'm Not Going To Get Bitter,' Says Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas Eagleton said today he is "not bitter" after agreeing to Sen. George McGovern's wishes that he withdraw as the Democratic party's vice presidential candidate.

He announced, meantime, that he will seek re-election to the Senate from Missouri.

"I'm not bitter; I'm not going to get bitter," Eagleton said on a CBS television show. He made the comment when asked his reaction to his announcement Monday night that he was withdrawing as McGovern's running mate.

He said McGovern, the party's presidential candidate, "could not have been finer. But, Eagleton said, he was "troubled momentarily" by "one or two members of Sen. McGovern's staff who were doing more backgrounding than they should have been doing."

He said they were "too busy backgrounding reporters that Eagleton should get off the ticket." He did not name the staff members.

IT'S OFFICIAL

Eagleton, meantime, made his withdrawal official today by signing a letter to that effect to the Democratic National Committee.

Asked whether he thought the controversy over his having been hospitalized three times in the past for nervous exhaustion and fatigue had hurt his political future, Eagleton said:

"I'm absolutely satisfied about my health... the last six years I've been sound as a dollar. I have every confidence in my health and my capacity."

As for his political future, he said, "Time will only tell." Then he announced, "I'm going to run for re-election in 1974. I'll give you a scoop on that. I'm going to run."

He also said he had not been promised any position in the McGovern administration should the South Dakota senator defeat President Nixon in the November election.

PERSONAL PLEA

Eagleton said he knew support for his position on the ticket was waning Saturday night when, in South Dakota, "McGovern table-hopped, talking with newsmen about the 'Eagleton issue, the Eagleton problem,' whatever you wish to call it."

Eagleton, 42, said he agreed to withdraw from the race only on the personal urging of McGovern.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-judge panel has cracked open the door to partisan politics by federal employees, but the workers have to wait for a Supreme Court ruling before they cross any campaign thresholds.

FREE SPEECH

In the 2-1 ruling Monday, the panel held that provisions of the Hatch Act which ban partisan politics by federal workers are "impermissibly vague and over-broad," and violate the free-speech clause of the 1st Amendment.

And while the judges said the 2.7 million federal employees should be allowed to engage in partisan politics, they left open just what limits should exist. The court did not touch on the question of whether federal employees may seek elective office.

The court, composed of two federal district judges and an appeals court judge, ordered the U.S. Civil Service Commission to halt enforcement of the provisions. But the decision is being held in abeyance pending a review by the Supreme Court.

In writing the majority opinion, District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said the section of the act challenged in the suit is "ambiguous and unsatisfactory."

NO STANDARD

Gesell said some kind of check is needed on political activity by federal employees. But of the present checks, he wrote: "There is no standard. No one can read the act and ascertain what it prohibits."

He said the commission acted responsibly in attempting to apply the provisions of the act fairly, but that its efforts were thwarted because the commission "was given no authority under the act to accommodate rigidly incorporated prior rulings to the rapidly evolving court interpretations of the 1st Amendment."

Gesell suggested—but didn't order—that Congress state "with utmost clarity" which areas of political activity are permissible. He was joined in the opinion by Judge Barrington D. Parker.

FREEDOMS

In dissent, U.S. Appeals Court Judge George E. MacKinnon found no impermissible vagueness and said "the reasonable federal employee is provided an ascertainable standard of conduct that does not impermissibly infringe on his 1st Amendment freedoms."

He said he would have ordered the commission to clarify its rulings.

The suit was lodged against the commission by the National Association of Letter Carriers, a union of postal employees with about 200,000 members, several District of Columbia political committees and a number of individuals.

Monday's ruling does not affect state employees covered by the Hatch Act.

Skyjackers Grab Jet, Collect $1 Million

ALGIERS (AP) — A U.S. airliner landed in Algiers today with the hijackers who seized it and the $1 million ransom they collected. The crew later flew the plane to Barcelona en route back to the United States.

Algerian officials questioned the hijackers for two hours at the airport, then took them away. The three men who seized the jet were accompanied by two women and three children, U.S. officials said.

Police also questioned the eight crew members of the Delta Air Lines DC8 before letting the airliner begin the flight home. The crew will remain overnight in Barcelona.

Allan Davis, acting head of the American diplomatic mission in Algiers, was on hand when the airliner landed.

The FBI said three men from Detroit took over the Delta airliner Monday on a flight from Detroit to Miami. The hijackers, reportedly armed, were accompanied by two women and three children.

FROM DETROIT

The hijackers let the 87 other passengers get off at Miami and took aboard a suitcase containing the $1 million ransom, which had been collected from Miami banks. With a crew of seven, the DC8 flew to Boston, loaded fuel and food and took aboard an international navigator. Then it flew to Algeria.

The eight passengers, all from Detroit, who remained on the plane were identified by the FBI in Detroit as Larry Burgess, Jean McNair, Yahari and Ayona McNair, both children; Joyce Tillerson, a child named Kenya Tillerson, Melvin McNair, and Harry Singleton.

Burgess was listed on the Delta passenger list as Rev. L. Burgess.

There was speculation that the Algerian government would return the $1 million as well as the plane. In a similar case two months ago, an American couple hijacked a Western Airlines Boeing 720 to Algiers after collecting $500,000. The Algerians seized the ransom money and returned it to the United States, but the two hijackers are still in Algiers awaiting a decision on their request for political asylum.

CARRIED BIBLE

One passenger who witnessed the hijacking over Florida described the leader of the gang as a "Negro male, dark, about 30, six-foot plus and weighing over 200 pounds."

The witness, Detroit attorney Samuel C. Gardner, said the man wore a black mohair suit and carried a Gideon Bible.

At Miami, one gun-wielding hijacker threatened to shoot someone if they did not receive 1 million and safe passage to Algeria, a crew member reported. However, a passenger, Mrs.

Raymond Krutycz of Holland, Mich., said the hijackers all "were very well dressed. They were very polite and didn't bother the other passengers at all."

After about two hours of radio negotiations between the hijackers and FBI agents, two men in bathing suits delivered the money to the plane.

After the money was hoisted into the plane with a rope, the passengers got off, and the plane departed for Boston. There were no injuries.

As the plane flew to Boston, Delta officials repeatedly asked the FBI not to try to thwart the hijackers, according to a spokesman for the Massachusetts Port Authority, which operates Boston's Logan International Airport.

After the plane landed about 7 p.m., it taxied to a remote airport adjacent to Boston Harbor. A large contingent of FBI agents clustered to watch from the airport fire station about a quarter mile away.

BULL RIDER BUCKED OFF HIS ALL-AROUND JUNIOR CROWN

The Howard County Junior Rodeo Committee late Monday reconsidered its decision to award the all-around championship title and saddle to Marty Petska, Carlsbad, N.M. and awarded the title and saddle instead to Wacey Cathey, Coahoma.

Petska was the high-point winner during the rodeo, but won his points in only one event. His first place bull ride earned him more than 272 championship points.

The committee reconsidered its initial decision after learning of earlier decisions in similar disputes and awarded the title and saddle to Cathey, the second highest point winner in the show. He earned points for his fourth-place bull ride and second place bareback bronc ride, a total of 237. By winning points in two or more events he was eligible for the all-around title.

U.S. Senate Post Filled By Woman

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Edwin Edwards today appointed his wife Elaine to complete the unexpired term of U.S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, who died last Thursday.

Edwards said he wanted "to use this appointment as an opportunity to make a meaningful, symbolic gesture to the women of Louisiana, who have for too long been under-represented in the halls of Congress."

Ellender, a veteran Democrat and president pro tempore of the Senate, was campaigning for re-election when he died.

Edwards said a key factor in his decision is that "the appointee must be willing to resign following the election of Sen. Ellender's successor, so that the elected senator may be appointed by me to fill the unexpired term."

This way, he said, the newly elected senator would be able to "take advantage of seniority over other freshmen senators taking office after Jan. 4."

Mrs. Edwards becomes the second female member of the Senate, joining Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Jets Hit Shipyard In Haiphong Harbor

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets attacked a shipyard in Haiphong harbor for the first time in the war Monday and left it in flames, the U.S. Command announced today.

The target was the Haiphong Shipyard No. 3 on the southwestern edge of North Vietnam's chief port. Pilots from the carrier Saratoga said they left three large fires in the yard, which builds and repairs shallow-draft vessels of various sizes.

BOATS TRAPPED

The U.S. Command said the strikes were not near the deep-draft ships in the port, and "there were no foreign vessels" in the area that was bombed.

Spokesmen said 27 foreign ships were still in Haiphong's deepwater channels, trapped by the U.S. mine field planted last May 9.

Overcast skies reduced the U.S. strikes Monday to a little more than 200 raids across North Vietnam, compared to more than 300 the day before. The U.S. Command reported that its planes also destroyed or damaged 12 water supply craft, 12 trucks, eight bridges, 13 storage areas and warehouses and two fuel pipelines.

In South Vietnam, Communist forces made their heaviest shelling attack of the year so far against a U.S. installation, pouring more than 70 rockets into the Bien Hoa Air Base 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

One American was killed, 15 were wounded, and 13 others were injured while trying to take cover, the U.S. Command said. The South Vietnamese said 17 Vietnamese were wounded.

The last American combat forces providing security in the Bien Hoa area were phased out a week ago as part of President Nixon's troop withdrawal program, and the South Vietnamese took over their patrols of outlying areas to prevent enemy troops from getting within rocket and mortar range.

100 STRIKES

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 heavy bombers carried out 100 more strikes, and more than half of them were in the northern provinces of South Vietnam around Quang Tri City and Hue. A few of the bombers attacked in North Vietnam, just above the demilitarized zone.

South Vietnamese forces on the northern edge of Quang Tri City and on the western flanks of Hue 30 miles to the south came under heavy artillery and mortar bombardment, the Saigon command said. It said casualties were light.

Retraction By Anderson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Columnist Jack Anderson today retracted his claim to have located evidence that Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has a record of arrests for drunken and reckless driving.

Anderson said his retraction was "unqualified" and "in total."

He announced the retraction at an informal news conference outside Eagleton's office after talking for about half an hour in private with the Missouri senator who resigned formally today as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee.

Eagleton, who originally labeled Anderson's charge a "damnable lie" after the columnist broadcast it last Thursday, today commended Anderson for courage and called him a "distinguished journalist."

The surprising Maverick.

It's a comfortable, 6-cylinder American compact that's actually priced below the Volkswagen 113.

FORD MAVERICK	2-door	6-cylinder	$2,140.*
VW 113 (Super Beetle)	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,159.*
TOYOTA COROLLA 1600	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,109.*
DATSUN PL 510	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,306.*

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for 2-door models. Excludes dealer preparation charges if any, destination charges, title and taxes.

NOTE: People ask us how we can afford to offer a roomy, 6-cylinder compact at about the same price as the little imports. First, we've been making small cars since 1908. Experience helps. Second, we haven't changed Maverick—except for mechanical improvements—since we first introduced it. That kind of continuity helps to control costs. Third, recent currency revaluations and devaluations have helped restore the competitive stance of American manufacturers.

Ample room inside. Maverick's front seat, for example: over 8" more shoulder room than Volkswagen 113. There's no wasted space inside Maverick. At the same time, none of that small-car crowded feeling.

Maintenance: Even simpler, more convenient than the little imports. VW, for example, recommends normal service every 3000 miles or three months, whichever comes first. On Maverick, it's 6000 miles or six months. So Maverick's recommended service interval is twice as long as Volkswagen's. We also designed Maverick to be a simple machine to care for. In fact, we've even prepared a manual which tells you how to do many maintenance jobs yourself. One more convenience: there are over 5,600 Ford dealers in the country. VW has about 1,100.

Most little imports give you 4-cylinder engines. Maverick gives you a 6-cylinder engine. It's smooth. It's reliable. It lets you accelerate into turnpike traffic with confidence and hold your own on steep hills. And it delivers surprisingly good gas mileage.

A good car for long trips. Maverick's rear track is 2.9" wider than Volkswagen's. Its wheel-base is 7.7" longer. There's a bit more weight, too. By themselves, these differences aren't very big—but they can add up to a big difference in the way Maverick drives and handles the open road.

Better idea for safety... buckle up! It may just be the best car value in America today.

Houston Dock Workers Win Pay Increase, End Walkout

HOUSTON (AP) — A one day wildcat walkout of employees of the Port of Houston ended Monday after notification of a pay raise but a union leader predicted more trouble over pay of 200 maintenance men.

Members of the International Longshoremen's Association Clerks and Checkers Local 1351 called in sick Monday, shutting down the port — the nation's third largest.

The clerks and checkers were unhappy over refusal of the port to give them the same raise and retroactive pay granted other ILA members after a national contract was signed earlier this year.

While the Port Authority is forbidden by law to bargain with a union it traditionally pays the same wage scale as other ILA locals but George Altavater, executive director of the port, said approval of the pay raise was held up this time until specific permission for it was received from the federal Pay Board.

The port got a telegram Monday afternoon granting the pay raise from the federal board.

However, Altavater said about 200 port maintenance employees will not receive the 55 cent-an-hour pay increase given other ILA members. Instead the port will give them a seven per cent wage boost, 4.5 per cent of which was implemented last December.

Hiccups At Birth

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a child to be born with hiccups? A friend claims that, when she was carrying her first child, she felt it move and it seemed as though the baby was having hiccups. When the baby was born the doctor was surprised that the baby was crying. As a rule, as you know, the baby does not cry until the doctor spansk it.

Your friend may have been right, because infants can have hiccups immediately after birth, and it is known to happen in the uterus before birth.

I can't agree, however, that a baby doesn't cry until spanked. Many of them start breathing normally without any help — that's the purpose of a spank. To give a mild shock that starts the baby breathing. Probably many doctors give that mild spank routinely, but in fact it isn't always necessary. Still, no harm done, either.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my family doctor that I have a prostate condition, and he suggested that I consult a urologist. Before I do, I would like to learn more about this condition. Is there any treatment except surgery? I have no pain, but urine pressure is lower at times. — R.L.J.

My first answer to you is to suggest that you do as your doctor said and see a urologist. If the problem is mild now, why not get it treated while it remains mild?

Yes, there are treatments other than surgery, but the treatment is dictated by the exact type and degree of the trouble.

Prostate trouble to one degree or another is very common in men past middle age and isn't necessarily something to fret about unduly. Why don't you send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." It will explain the nature of the trouble and what to do about it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am two months pregnant. I am on a low sodium diet and I am 30 pounds overweight.

Is there any way I can lose weight and still maintain a balanced nutritional diet and give birth to a normal baby? — S.

Your baby needs the same basic diet that you do — vitamins, calcium, iron, and of course, protein.

For you to get this, there is no need to overeat, but no need to starve yourself, either.

You probably recall the old saying that "now you are eating for two." But remember, the second party is a pretty tiny one and doesn't require that you eat twice as much as normal to support it.

Anyway, if you've put on any sizeable portion of that 30 pounds during your pregnancy, you should be concerned, which your doctor apparently is because that's why you're on that low sodium diet right now.

Italy's renowned Blue Team defeated the United States in the finals of the 1972 Bridge Olympiad, June 23-24, in Miami Beach to regain the World's Title which they had relinquished in 1969 when they retired undefeated after winning the championship for nine consecutive years.

After leading through the qualifying rounds which saw a record breaking entry of 39 nations in competition, Italy defeated France in one semi-final match while the United States ousted Canada in the other. In the 88 board final match, Italy got off to a substantial lead in the first half and then the Americans rallied to narrow the margin with only 24 hands remaining. The Italians then turned in a virtually flawless performance to pull away to a final victory margin of 203 International Match Points to 138.

The deal which ignited their final rally is presented today and the bidding is presented at the table where the United States, as represented by the defending World Champion Dallas Aces were seated North and South. South opened the bidding, after three passes with one diamond and Benito Garozzo overcalled as West for Italy with one spade.

North bid two hearts and Pietro Forquet, East, jumped to three spades — which invites partner to carry on but is not forcing. Garozzo, who held nothing to spare, persisted to four spades — perhaps expecting that by so doing, he would be placing North under pressure. Conditions of vulnerability did not favor further competition by a passed hand whose partner had failed to act freely over three spades. North was reluctant to sell out however, and his call of four no trump suggested that he had values in all the other suits. East doubled and when South bailed out to five diamonds, West doubled as Italy pressed in for the kill.

The ace of spades was opened and ruffed in dummy. The only chance for declarer to make his contract was to find a lightly guarded king of clubs in the East hand. A club was led at trick two and South finessed the jack. West was in with the king and returned another spade which was trumped with the ten of diamonds.

The ace of trumps was led and declarer attempted to reenter his hand with the ace of clubs. East administered a rude jolt by ruffing with the seven of diamonds. He underled his ace of hearts to put West in with the king and obtained a second club ruff. The ace of hearts and king of spades completed the defensive damages. One spade, two hearts, one club, and two ruffs added up to an 1,100 point sting.

At the other table, the first three calls were identical, however the American East jumped directly to four spades and South who was looking at a sure trump trick, doubled. North abided by his partner's decision and against four spades, the defense took one spade, two diamonds and one club to register a 100 point profit.

The total swing on the deal to Italy was 1,200 points which amounted to 15 International Match Points.

The Revolving Door

Another seismic rumble has shaken the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The firing of the executive director, James U. Cross, demonstrates again the instability of a marriage of convenience between inland and coastal fishermen and hunters, inland and coastal park advocates, shell dredgers and conservationists.

The history of the department in its various guises over the past 30 years and more is a melancholy one. It was the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission then, with Will Tucker as executive director. The Legislature and the people kept meddling with the department until Tucker found himself without a job. Then, appropriately recognizing the fact that oysters were no longer important because they had become so scarce, the Game and Fish Commission rose from the ashes. The big projects in those days were quail raising and taking care of inland fishermen better than coastal fishermen. Then, as director Howard Dodge disappeared into the wings, someone had the bright thought that if you have two problems, such as parks and wildlife, that life would be simpler if they were combined into one problem. Enter as executive directors J. R. Singleton, Robert Mauermann, and Cross. It resembles a revolving door.

It may not be easy, but many Texans seem to have acquired a philosophical frame of mind as they look at this strange marriage and the impossible task given it. This is such a vast and varied state. Hill Country hunters and fishermen couldn't care less about trying to improve fishing and hunting on the coast. A state park on Mustang Island doesn't "grab" Panhandle residents. Antelope and mule deer hunters of the Trans-Pecos don't spend much time wondering how hunting is in Webb County, or how it can be improved. Shell dredgers want the shell because it's there and can't be bothered with anything that makes a little fish's tail wiggle or little bunny's ears droop.

The chief complaint against Cross was that he was doing too much planning and too little acting. Well, maybe so. But if he had been doing too much acting and too little planning he probably would have gotten the same heave-ho.

What someone needs to do is persuade the people of Texas that the fishing, hunting, and park recreational services of the state belong to all of us and must be administered, enlarged or perpetuated for all Texans with an even hand. Too many competing interests have been trying to keep their thumbs on the scales.

Unsafe School Buses

It is a scandal that Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., is able to declare with little fear of contradiction that school buses probably are "the safest vehicles on the road." There may be some exceptions to this generality, but it comes close enough to the truth to be shocking.

Even more shocking is that the lack of comprehensive and adequate safety standards for school buses has not long since brought corrective action. We have been hearing about unsafe school buses for some time, but Congress has been slow to do anything about them.

Opportunity presents itself, now that both houses of Congress have before them measures requiring the Department of Transportation to establish safe school bus standards. Unnecessary delay in taking action would be unconscionable. Meanwhile, we can only hope Texas is more stringent with its requirements than most.

Near Miss

Around The Rim

Steve Hultman

Newspapers try to avoid mistakes, but they slip through in spite of all efforts. One recent near miss here happened when printer Jay Sanders was making up the front page.

THE LEAD STORY on the page was a story on a plane hijacking that had taken place that day. Jay had the page almost completed, but the story on the hijacking ran a little long. He asked Walt Finley to tell him where to cut the story and listened as Walt said "Cut it where the next paragraph begins with 'Recent hijackings...'"

"I can't find that paragraph," said Jay. "I have one here that begins 'Charlton Heston stars...'"

"WHAT! Read the rest of that paragraph," said Walt.

"It says 'Charlton Heston stars in MGM's latest production...'" — "I think I have the wrong story."

Jay checked the story, and found he had picked up a story with "Skyjacked" as the identifying headline on the story. The story he was supposed to use was identified with "Highjacked." The "Skyjacked" story was meant for the Sunday amusement page as a lead in for the movie "Skyjacked."

So, you see how it could happen, and — shudder — how near it did come to happening.

WORDS THE WOMEN'S liberation movement seems to want to replace in the English lexicon: Chairwoman, chairman — chairperson.

Cowboy, cowgirl — cowperson. The Dallas Cowboys — The Dallas Cowpersons.

Blood brother — blood person. Ne wsm a n, newswoman — newperson.

Fireman — fireperson. Policeman, policewoman — policeperson.

Mailman — mailperson. Weatherman — weatherperson.

Yes sir, yes ma'am — yes person. Male, female — person.

Et ux, et vir — et persona. Male, female, neuter gender. Miss, Mrs. — Ms.

Mr., Ms. — Mmmmmmm?

I CAN'T BE sure this is exactly what the movement wants — but then, what man is ever sure of what a woman wants.

P.S. — A male chauvinist is someone who believes the same thing about men that women in the women's liberation movement believe about women.

Social Actress

William F. Buckley Jr.

If George McGovern is elected President, he just might name as his Secretary of State Miss Jane Fonda. She is already practicing for the role, and indeed it is widely conjectured that she hasn't been informed that she isn't yet the Secretary of State. If that is so, that is just one of the things she hasn't been informed about, a lack of information having plagued Miss Fonda for much of her life.

YOU SEE, she turned rather earlier than most people to her career, leaving Vassar College prematurely and turning enthusiastically to ecstasism, and on into formal acting. A few years ago, when she hit young middle-age, she discovered social conscience, and has been playing it, using The Method approach ever since. One commentator, after a Fonda performance, observed that "being socially involved may be the mating call of the 1970's. Like knowing how to dance the tango in the 30's."

Miss Fonda goes tirelessly about the college circuit and grunts out her views on international policies, which views are always at the expense of United States policy. She donates the proceeds of her lectures to an organization in Washington staffed by Mark Lane, the lawyer who a few years ago concluded, as I remember, that it was Allen Dulles who shot John Kennedy, not Lee Harvey Oswald. Mark Lane's outfit is designed to help American victims of oppression by the Army — The United States Army, needless to say.

NOR IS THERE any danger, after the Vietnam war is over, that Miss Fonda will run out of causes. She has been greatly fired up about Women's Liberation, Indians, Cesar Chavez, grapes, lettuce, the Dutch elm disease, and poison ivy. And for all the spontaneity of her performances, she takes considerable care to publicize the least of her indignations.

"She may well be the only revolutionary with her own PR man." Life magazine once commented, adding with chivalrous understatement that Miss Fonda's command of facts and complexities is unconvincing.

BUT OF COURSE, ignorance is an instrument of oppression deployed by the bourgeois classes, and Miss Fonda, who last week termed Richard Nixon "a very serious traitor" will not surrender her vast investment in it.

Her most recent report has been to the effect that American prisoners in Hanoi whom she interviewed desire to see the defeat of Richard Nixon and the election of George McGovern. Now to begin with, Miss Fonda is so easily deceived, we cannot know for certain whether she actually was in Hanoi.

BUT ASSUMING it was as represented, there is genuine pathos behind the uses the North Vietnamese have made of the poor dumb American actress. When Commander Bucher was in prison in North Korea, being tortured every day, he did in fact get a letter through to his wife. It was the summer of 1968, and he told her that if he were home, he would vote for Richard Nixon. He felt that Lyndon Johnson had let him down by not authorizing instant action to prevent the Pueblo's capture.

But Commander Bucher, reviewing the matter in his book a year or two later, recognized what is, on reflection, obvious, namely that the prisoner of war quite naturally thinks exclusively of his own concern, which is to reach home. Those who do otherwise are martyrs and heroes, and they are not only uncommon these days, but unfashionable. The return of the American prisoners of war is a concern of the United States. But it cannot be the only concern of the United States.

Eagleton Reaction

John Cuniff

By MARGARET GENTRY (Contributing Editor)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leading Democrats gave Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton warm commendations as his faltering candidacy flickered out, and some hinted their relief that at least one uncertainty had ended.

"I'm sorry," lamented Sen. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield at Eagleton's announcement Monday night that he is withdrawing as the party's vice-presidential candidate. "But it was a decision that had to be made. I still have every faith, trust and confidence in Tom Eagleton."

The tone was much the same in comments by other party leaders praising the Missouri senator's courage for pulling out of the race rather than chancing a campaign focused on personality rather than issues, a prospect presidential nominee George McGovern had feared.

Sentiment was more sharply divided as party leaders assessed the impact of Eagleton's withdrawal on an already uphill campaign against an incumbent Republican president.

While Democrats in many states were rallying to the party flag, Missouri Democrats were rallying mainly to Eagleton as they had during the past week when his disclosure of psychiatric treatment on three occasions in the early 1960s produced the pressures finally culminating in his resignation.

"I'm extremely proud of my brother," said a disappointed Mark Eagleton, a St. Louis radiologist. "He has shown more guts, candor and courage than most people will show in a lifetime."

"George McGovern couldn't shine Tom Eagleton's shoes," declared Shirley Butters, Missouri's former national committeewoman.

Missouri party chairman, Delton Houtchens, vowed to abandon his campaign on behalf of the presidential ticket.

Other state party leaders responded in a more conciliatory tone.

Comments included: Eagleton exhibited "raw courage in a time of frustration and turmoil."—Oklahoma Gov. David Hall.

"Eagleton obviously was doing what he felt was best for the nation and the party."—Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan.

"Unfortunately but necessary."—Indiana's national committeeman, Richard Stoner.

"It's a mistake."—Washington state Democratic chairman Neale Chaney.

"Eagleton's withdrawal has opened up a Pandora's box which could deny McGovern the time he had counted on to project his campaign."—Rep. Roman C. Puckinski, an Illinois Democrat running for the Senate.

Who Really Elects?

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Who really elects a president of the United States — a majority of the voters who know something about the issues and make up their own minds as to the capability of the man they are selecting, or the citizens who are told what to do by the rulers of associations with huge memberships?

WITHIN THE last two weeks, for instance, George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, announced that his labor organization would not endorse either presidential candidate. It has been taken for granted, however, that the leaders of the unions which speak for at least two-thirds of the 13.6 million members will as separate unions be free to select whomever they please. It's being predicted that they will endorse Sen. McGovern.

But forecasts are already being made that when the large unions hold conventions of their own they will back a presidential nominee with an endorsement and will authorize a pledge that will be followed up by the members of each union.

IT MAY BE said that a worker can cast his ballot privately, but many are afraid that there are ways for ballots to be checked upon even though they are supposed to be secret. Thus, there is frequently a fear that pledges that are not kept will be looked into and members will be in trouble.

SITUATIONS analogous to that of labor unions are to be found in other walks of life. Many employees in businesses find themselves under pressure to vote for a certain candidate. Most of the intensive electioneering is done in the major cities where the big blocks are cast. How will the citizens be swayed in the coming election? Will they be thoroughly familiar with the campaign arguments?

THE NEWSPAPERS print what happens from day to day, but campaign speeches are often generalized and the promises are not too specific. Both sides, for instance, want to see the war in Vietnam ended, though neither has come forth as yet with a convincing plan of exactly how it is going to be done — because the enemy hasn't said what it will do.

The candidates pledge prosperity and better living conditions for the citizen. Large budgets, however, could mean higher taxes. Prices as well as wages are being controlled. The economic health of the country is improving. Will it continue to get better, or will it be retarded? How does the average man know what some of the complex issues of the campaign really mean.

NOT UNTIL just after election day itself can the voter really be certain of what his vote could mean for the future of the country — whether he will add to the stability of the Nation by maintaining the party in power, or whether confusion will ensue if there is to be a complete change in the federal government in January and a new group of executive officials is to be installed.

Even now, when the interval is nearly three months, the nervousness in the business world is disconcerting.

Too Many Dikes

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Is the United States bombing the dikes in North Vietnam or isn't it? That is the question. President Nixon and Secretary of Defense Laird say we are not. The secretary general of the United Nations, the president of the World Council of Churches, and Jane Fonda say we are.

Whom is one to believe?

TO FIND an answer to the problem, I called Wellback Fishbind, the world's leading authority on dike bombing.

Wellback told me, "I believe both sides are telling the truth. The Americans are not bombing the dikes in North Vietnam, but the dikes are being bombed by the Americans."

"How can that be?"

"THE AMERICANS have strict orders to bomb only military installations, power plants and moving targets. They have specific orders not to bomb the dikes. Therefore, President Nixon and Secretary of Defense Laird are telling the truth.

"Unfortunately, these dikes are located next to the military targets. So, when the Americans bomb the military sites, they can't help but hit the dikes."

"But there seems to be a credibility gap somewhere," I protested.

"IT DEPENDS on where you are. If you're sitting in the White House, you obviously feel the North Vietnamese should build their dikes farther away from their military targets, so American planes won't hit them. "But if you're in a bomb shelter in North Vietnam, you feel that the dikes built close to military sites should be spared."

WELLBACK said, "The thing to keep in mind is that no one likes to bomb dikes. There's very little satisfaction in it.

You hit an oil refinery with a bomb, and you get a helluva thrill out of seeing it go up with a whoosh. But when you hit a dike the bomb lands with a dull thud."

"I never thought of it like that."

"AS I SEE it," Wellback said, "it's really North Vietnam's problem. They have too many dikes. It's almost impossible to hit anything worthwhile in the country without hitting a dike."

"That would be one solution," I agreed.

"It isn't our fault that Hanoi built so many dikes. As a matter of fact, they're hurting our entire bombing strategy."

SINCE THE North Vietnamese insist on having dikes, and we insist on bombing North Vietnam," Wellback said, "we won't stop bombing until they pull out their dikes, and they won't stop building dikes until we stop the bombing."

Rush In Canada

Hal Boyle

TORONTO (AP) — The Canadian Radio-Television Commission's Canadian content regulation, which stipulates that AM radio stations must devote a minimum of 30 per cent of air time to Canadian talent, has resulted in a rush to produce a better-quality product.

NEW YORK (AP) — His memory enables man to play God every day.

With this magic power he reincarnates the dead and revives the vanished past.

How near to God this power of memory really is! It is indeed a form of divine salvation that makes it possible for man to be a human and humane species.

Your own memory collection is pretty extensive if you can remember when:

You knew neighbors had bought a new television set when their house went dark at 8 p.m.

In the era of horse-drawn vehicles no streetsweeper had any trouble getting natural fertilizers for his backyard organic garden.

In the days when men wore hats, the polite ones would invariably tip them when they met a lady of their acquaintance.

You could win a reputation for being a dude by wearing a 50-cent clip-on bow tie.

The cheapest place to romance a girl was on a 15-cent boatride through the darkened waters of the "Tunnel of Love" in an amusement park. But just about the time she got interested, the ride ended.

When World War I ended, women wept openly, kids went around the neighborhood beating kettles and pots and pans strung around their necks, people set fire to brooms doused in kerosene and staged impromptu torchlight parades, and men went out into their front yards and fired pistols, rifles and shotguns up into the echoing night. No Fourth of July celebration ever came anywhere near equaling it.

You scratched your own and your sweetheart's initials in beach sands for the first time, and felt like crying when the tide came in and washed them away — doing to them what you knew time would do to you and to her.

The first man in a neighborhood to sell his horse and buggy and buy an automobile was regarded as an idiot who didn't know what to do with his money. It was predicted he soon would have to walk wherever he wanted to go.

America's purposes were pure, its air was pure, and most of its rivers ran pure water.

Those were the days — remember?

Billy Graham

I would like to know how to become a better person. I have just come to realize how selfish I am. I don't think about my husband and children enough. I am just too busy feeling sorry for myself. Have you any suggestions?

D.A.J.

You have taken the first step in overcoming your self-centeredness — being aware of it. The Bible teaches that man's nature is inherently selfish. Notice even the little baby how he devises ways of screaming and kicking to get what he wants and to have his way. When people grow up they usually overcome a great degree of this natural selfishness, but some people either mature very slowly, or never grow up at all.

A Sunday School teacher once told the story to the class about the Good Samaritan, and then asked the class what they learned from the parable of the man who selfishly helped the man in need. One little boy responded: "I have learned that when I get in-trouble someone should help me out."

Most of us don't get the message about selfishness. But Jesus recognized it as a basic human weakness when He said: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself... and follow me." Matthew 16:24. To live for God and others is the SUMMUM BONUM of life.

Someone has said that the smallest package in the world is a man wrapped up in himself.

A Devotion For Today . .

The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; he knows those who take refuge in him. (Nahum 1:7, RSV)

PRAYER: We pray, O Lord, that we may learn the lessons of history well. Your Word comes prophesying that persons and nations will reap what they sow. We pray for the strength to live as Jesus lived—in humility and love—rather than with force as our security, and fear as our companion, in the Master's name. Amen.

Plans To Shelve Her Acting Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda, back from a two-week visit to North Vietnam, says she plans to shelve her acting career until after the presidential election in November.

Miss Fonda told newsmen greeting her here she would be working with the California-based Indochina Peace Campaign, a group which plans to promote the Vietnam war as a major election issue.

The antiwar activist said she was allowed to visit American prisoners of war during her visit.

"I looked carefully in their eyes and they were not glazed," she said, emphasizing that she did not think they were brainwashed. "They said, 'As long as Nixon is in office, we are going to be in here for a very long time.'"

MARILYN CAMPBELL

Local Lass Wins Title

Marilyn Campbell, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Campbell, 402 Edwards won the award as the outstanding acrobat in the Miss Ideal International contest in Waco.

She was presented with her award, based on competition last week, at the awards breakfast Saturday. She began working up her routine two years ago and last year won the state title, then polished it into an international win this year.

Car-Truck Crash

DALLAS (AP) — Frances McCain, 55, of Dallas, was killed shortly after midnight Sunday when her car smashed into the back of a heavy trailer-truck.

State Highway Commissioners Hear Plea For Odessa Project

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Odessa residents asked the Texas Highway Commission for a better road Monday to handle the city's heavy industrial traffic and the thousands of commuters expected at the new University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

The commission also listened to requests for nearly $5 million in highway improvements in the Mineral Wells area and for a highway linkage which would carry tourists from Oklahoma through East Texas to the Gulf Coast.

'GREEN CARPET' Route

The proposed "Green Carpet Route" would begin at the Oklahoma state line, north of Paris, and go south to Corrigan, 26 miles south of Lufkin. At that point, it would split into two routes — one to Port Arthur and one to Houston.

The commission was told the proposed four-lane development would be the "shortest, most scenic route to the Gulf Coast."

Mayor Jim Reese led an Odessa delegation which asked for $4,427,200 in highway improvements, including state construction and maintenance so Grandview Ave. can withstand the truck traffic from the city's petrochemical and industrial areas and also the increase in students at UT-Permian Basin.

Dr. Billy Amistead, school president, said 1,600 students should enroll in September 1973 when the school opens, and the enrollment is expected to climb to 7,000 by 1980. The campus is designed to accommodate 20,000, and they will be commuters since no dorms have been planned.

COSTLY PROJECT

The delegation said it wanted Grandview to be a state spur from 42nd St., the northernmost boundary of the campus, to Interstate 20 (Pool Road).

The 4.2-mile project would cost $2,357,200, and Odessa also asked for completion of the Loop 338E-U.S. 80 interchange at a cost of more than $2 million and a 2.2-mile park road from the "south collector road" of Interstate 20 west of Odessa to the Odessa to the meteor crater.

Local residents say it is the second largest meteor crater in the nation.

Although the Grandview project would take years to complete, the delegation also asked the commission for a 2-inch overlay on the street as soon as possible at a cost of $156,400.

Reese said Ector County (Odessa) is second only to Harris (Houston) County in truck registrations. It was noted that 44 trucking companies are located in Odessa.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

The county built the road (Grandview) in 1956 and it was not built to handle heavy truck traffic, the commission was told.

Commission chairman DeWitt Greer asked Reese why the state should pay for a road within a city, and Reese said because it was of regional importance.

The new university, for example, will be the only "degree-offering facility" within 125 miles.

The Titus County delegation said its No. 1 request was a one-way system from W. 2nd St. along Madison St. to the intersection with Loop 419. There would be only one block of construction needed in the seven-block project and it would cost $43,700.

FARM TO MARKET

The delegation also requested widening U.S. 271 to four lanes from Loop 419 to 5.6 miles south of the Franklin County line, a 7.8-mile project estimated to cost $2,507,000; widening the bridges and approaches from 5.6 miles south of the Franklin County line to the county line, $777,000; and a four-lane facility from the Camp County line north 3.8 miles, at a cost of $1,674,000.

Other requests presented to the highway commission included: —$1,285,000 worth of improvements on U.S. 77 from LaVista Drive north to the U.S. 287 loop in Waxahachie.

—a farm-to-market road connection from Farm 3070 to Farm 3143 at the Collingsworth-Gray County line, a 6.2-mile project which would cost an estimated $320,000.

Basin Labor Sets Celebration Plans

Permian Basin organized labor will hold its 1972 annual Labor Day Celebration, Monday Sept. 4, it was announced today by D. L. Willis, president of the Odessa and Vicinity Central Labor Union.

The Celebration is scheduled to begin at 1:00 p.m. at Barn A of the Ector County Coliseum, 42nd Street and Andrews Highway.

The event will feature food, speakers, the 1972 Miss Union Queen Contest, and fun for the entire family. Tickets may be obtained from Union Halls in the area. The event is sponsored by the Central Labor Body and unions in the Permian Basin. The public is invited, said Willis.

IRA Denies It Set Bombs That Killed Six Persons

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army denied today that it set the bombs that killed six persons and wounded more than 30 in a village near Londonderry Monday, but it vowed to retaliate for the British Army's occupation of Catholic enclaves.

NO-GO

Officials of the IRA's Provisional Wing charged in Dublin that the three bombs that wrecked the main street of Claudy were planted by British troops to divert attention from their invasion of the long-barricaded "no-go" areas Monday.

Although the guerrillas put up almost no resistance to the invading troops on Monday, "our men are still in town," IRA leader Barney McFadden told a meeting in Londonderry's Bogside.

"They will stay here and take a greater toll when the time and opportunity come," McFadden warned. "Everything is going according to plan."

"Wait until they are leaving

Dry Spring

ISTANBUL (AP) — One of the most sacred springs in the Christian world has run dry. The spring is at the "House of the Virgin Mary," a tiny 1st-century house near Ephesus in southwestern Turkey, where some believe the Virgin spent her last days.

Until this summer the spring provided ample water for the thousands of pilgrims who visit it each year. This summer only a few drops trickle from the spring.

the area, and they will see if it is so easy," said Bernadette Devlin, the young Catholic member of the British Parliament from Northern Ireland. "The day will come when those barricades will be built again, stone by stone, brick by brick."

LITTLE VIOLENCE

The soldiers appeared preparing for a long stay in the Catholic ghettos. Temporary quarters were established in schools and some unoccupied houses. Construction of new bases was started.

Comparatively little violence was reported Monday night. A youth was shot and wounded in Belfast. Catholic women attacked an army patrol with knives and wounded one soldier in the hand. The army said its men were fired on three times in the Creggan district of Londonderry; the soldiers claimed they hit two of their assailants.

Ex-Crime Fighter McKee Draws Probated Sentence

DALLAS (AP) — John McKee, a top-ranking Scottish Rite Mason and former head of the Greater Dallas Crime Commission, narrowly escaped a penitentiary term Monday, but instead was assessed a seven-year probated sentence for embezzling Masonic funds.

The verdict came after three and a half hours of deliberation by a jury of eight men and four women, who earlier took seven hours to find McKee guilty.

45,000 SWINDLE

McKee, 66, still has two indictments pending against him. One charges a second embezzlement and the other a $45,000 swindle of money from the Masons' Scottish Rite order of Dallas in a 1970 stock transaction.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade must decide whether these additional indictments will be brought to trial.

Bill Alexander, McKee's lawyer, told newsmen he will appeal the case just concluded if the district attorney brings the other indictments to trial.

McKee headed the crime commission from 1957 until his indictment last February. He gained a certain reputation for his tough stands against crime and vice in the city. He was often critical of the police department and the district attorney's office.

NOT REALLY

Then Wade and Police Chief Frank Dyson disclosed that McKee was not really McKee at all, but a man named James Kell Zullinger, who deserted from the U.S. Navy in 1929.

The indictments followed McKee's trial lasted seven days. The first two days saw an unsuccessful bid for a change of venue, based on what was said to be excessive advance publicity about his case. From their selection Wednesday until they delivered their final verdict setting the punishment Monday afternoon, the jury were sequestered on the ninth floor of the county courthouse. It was believed to be the first time a jury in Texas had been sequestered for a non-capital case.

McKee could have received a maximum sentence of 10 years.

Trying To Buy Back His Wife

ISTANBUL (AP) — Arguing that goods not paid for can be taken back, a man in Nusaybin, southeastern Turkey, has reclaimed his daughter because her husband had defaulted in his dowry payments.

Aziz Koc, 36, a hospital janitor, paid $350 down and promised to pay $70 a year for five years when he married Saha Gelir three years ago. When he missed the third payment, Saha's father raided his house and took back his daughter and her 3-year-old son, apparently as interest.

"When it came to the money, he tried to get off light," the father said. "But I won't let him get away with it."

Koc is trying to get a loan from his employers to buy back his wife.

Big Brass Nip Stars

The Big Base Brass had to go one extra inning to salvage its masculine pride Sunday, but managed to defeat the Ladies All-Star team, 16-15, in a benefit game at Webb AFB.

A capacity crowd contributed an unofficial total of $102.01 to the Olympic Fund. Cal Lowry Sr. announced the game to the excited crowd as the women's team played the Brass evenly after the first inning. The All-Stars were made of members from the Sandusters, the Southern Belles, the Pink Panthers and the Sunshiners.

Lois Ryan went most of the game for the All-Stars on the mound. Col. Malcolm Ryan went the distance for the Brass, showing great stamina in a game that lasted a little more than two hours.

Eagles Drop Tiger Cubs, 7-5

The Big Spring Tiger Cubs allowed the Abilene Eagles to score three runs in the top of the sixth inning Sunday, and they never recovered as they dropped a 7-5 decision at Steer Park.

The Tiger Cubs were led at the plate by Lawrence Byrd who cracked out two singles. Louis Parras had a double, the only extra base hit of the game for the Cubs. They had only five safeties in the contest.

Big Spring was behind, 7-3, going into the bottom of the ninth inning but managed to make a contest out of the game when Parras opened the inning with his double. Buba Ayala made an out, but Jesse Olague followed with his only hit of the day to drive Parras home. Johnny Munoz popped to shortstop before Byrd singled to score the final run of the game.

Baltimore's first exhibition game is against the Washington Redskins in Tampa Stadium Friday night.

NEW YORK SIGNAL-CALLER Namath Huddles With Jets

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — announced a noon press conference today, saying only, "I will be an item of major importance."

Meanwhile, the Jets said they still had not heard from their No. 1 draft selection, wide receiver Jerome Barkum of Jackson State, and that all attempts to contact him have been unsuccessful. At Thousand Oaks, Calif., late Monday night, the Dallas Cowboys traded controversial backfield star Duane Thomas to the San Diego Chargers for wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery, both second-year players. The trade, rumored for weeks, was announced about 11 p.m. PDT, by Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Cowboys.

Asked about the negotiations, Jets President Paul Iselein replied: "The hard part is over. We haven't agreed on the money, though." Several hours later, however, the Jets' public relations staff

Reds Win On Road; Not At Home

By The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Reds are a feared baseball team, except, oddly enough, in their own Riverfront Stadium.

The leaders of the National League West Division have a 57-37 record but only 22 of those victories have come in Cincinnati. It was the same sad story for the Reds in Cincinnati Monday night. San Francisco, trailing the Reds by 15 games, beat Cincinnati 7-2. The Reds didn't even score until the ninth inning.

"I have no idea why we can't win at home," Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson said. "I think basically we should be a better club at home than on the road. This stadium is built for a team like ours."

Dan Carrithers, the Giant starter, wasn't about to help the Reds as he retired the first 13 batters before Tony Perez singled. The right-hander, who is 3-6 and has a 5.59 earned run average, was practically untouchable.

The Giants scored twice in the first as Bobby Bonds and Garry Maddox singled, Chris Speier hit a sacrifice fly and Tito Fuentes singled. Bonds hit his 17th homer in the third and Carrithers slapped a two-run double in the fourth. Ed Good-

TOP SWIMMER Rouze Qualifies For Nationals

Wendy Rouze is undecided. She has qualified to swim in the Nationals competition in Hershey, Pa., next week; however, she hasn't decided whether or not to make the trip to Pennsylvania.

Earlier this summer, Wendy just missed out on a trip to Chicago this weekend for the Olympic Trials and a possible berth on the United States Olympic swimming team. She just barely missed qualifying for the Trials. Eight-tenths of a second kept her from the Trials.

Wendy, the daughter of Major and Mrs. Donald Rouze, has been swimming competitively for a little more than four years. Ten trophies, a silver cup from the Summer Nationals and over 100 medals will testify to her success.

While living in Arizona, Wendy twice competed in the Junior Olympics. On her second trip to the Junior Olympics, she was a third-place winner in the 100-yard freestyle. In the Regional Jr. Olympics at El Paso, she was a fifth-place finisher.

Her Air Force family moved to Japan from Arizona. She was slowed in her swimming career when she suffered a broken leg. However, immediately after getting out of the cast, Wendy participated in a meet between Japan and Guam and placed second in the 100-freestyle. Wendy said, "I was lucky, because I wasn't in the least bit of shape."

The Rouzes moved to Webb AFB from Japan and Wendy began swimming on the Midland COM team. She swims with the swim team during the school year.

In order to stay in shape for competition, Wendy swims 11 miles every day. She swims four miles in the morning; three-four miles in the afternoon and four miles every night. During the school year, she travels to the "Y" for a session from six to seven every morning.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

CAR CROWD: (Q.) My parents let me use the car when I need it. Notice I said "need." That doesn't mean every time I want it. I need it for sports events, school affairs and sometimes for shopping.

I got my driver's license last winter. At that time I invited two of my girl friends to go to a basketball game with me. I didn't have a date and I sort of needed someone to go along.

A few other times I asked a girl or two to go some place with me. But before I knew it girls were asking me. They still are. Sometimes they find a way to get there, then ask me to bring them home. They say they are stranded, so I can't say no.

Coming home from a baseball game last night, I had eight girl riders. With me driving, that meant nine girls in the car. How can I keep driving and keep my friends too? — Free Taxi Driver in Texas

(A.) Continue to invite a friend you want to go places with you. But have a private talk with each girl who makes a habit of asking you for rides. Tell her you have so many requests it has become dangerous for you to drive (a car with nine girls in it is dangerous).

Tell her that you must say no except in real emergencies. Your real friends will understand your problem.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 202, Houston, Texas 77001.)

New Citation For Motorists

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Police have begun giving motorists a new kind of citation — for good driving.

The citations, a project of the police and the local chapter of the American Automobile Association, read:

"On (date) a motor vehicle registered in your name was observed by an officer of the New Haven Police Department to be operating in a safe and courteous manner, thereby contributing to the cause of traffic safety.

"... This demonstration of good driving habits and the exercise of caution and courtesy on the road will set an example for other motorists to follow."

"Too often we fail to reward safe drivers," said Lt. Harold Berg, the police department's community relations officer.

He said the citations don't go to just any safe driver, but to one who does "something special" such as yielding the right of way when he doesn't have to.

About 40 citations a day are being mailed out in the two-week-old program.

Mama's Right

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A girl friend got hold of an underground newspaper, and in it was an advertisement from three guys who were lonely and wanted to correspond with some girls. (The guys were in prison.)

I wrote to one named Johnny, and he wrote back saying he was 29, and was in for armed robbery and possession of heroin. Johnny sent his picture and he's real cool. Then he asked me for mine and I sent him one. In his next letter he said they let the guys have any kind of pictures so I should send more.

I am only 13, Abby, and the one picture I sent makes me look much older. (I never told him my age.) My mother saw the letter from him asking for "any kind" of pictures and she took it to mean he wanted pornography, so she said I couldn't write to him any more.

I hate to quit writing to him because he seems so lonely. Should I write to him against my mother's wishes? I really think my letters have been a help to him.

WONDERING: Write him one last letter, telling him your age and goodbye. I think your mother is right. You're not old enough to cope with that kind of "pen" pal.

DEAR ABBY: So many older parents write to you complaining about how mistreated and neglected they are by their children for whom they sacrificed so much.

I know it is sad because we have had that experience, but we refuse to let it get us down. In the first place parents should not try to live through their children. They should find other interests.

Get a part-time job, do volunteer work, develop some hobbies. Take art lessons or learn a craft. There are so many things to learn and do.

Then to satisfy that grandparent instinct, seek out a younger couple whose parents live elsewhere, and babysit for them occasionally. (I did this, and I've never known such gratitude!)

If you are slighted on the holidays, (we were), make a lovely festive party and invite other folks who are in the same boat. Have a gay, gala affair and ban all talk of how your children have mistreated you.

The idea is to keep too busy to feel sorry for yourself.

BUSY AND HAPPY: Thanks for a sensible and inspiring letter.

SDEAR ABBY: I am a German woman living in Pittsburgh, Pa. In your column I saw a letter saying seeing-eye dogs were color blind and couldn't differentiate between green and red lights to help their masters in traffic.

In my home town in Germany, (I suppose because of the war) we had many blind people, so when the green light went on for pedestrians, it was accompanied by a "beeping" so the blind would know the light was green. Maybe the cities over here could do the same.

MRS. H.W.F.: It makes a lot of sense to me.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MUSICALIAN'S WIFE: Don't judge all women by the ones who chase your husband. Musicians are constantly being pursued by women, but those who don't want to be bothered know how to ignore the overtures when they get the pitch.

'Please Love Me Forever'

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The young bride and groom ponied up the dime and Al was lit up on the jukebox.

Emery Miner and Carol Minkler strode proudly between the tables, Bobby Vinton on a record sang "Please Love Me Forever" and the Rev. Elbert Ansberry intoned the marriage vows.

Inside the Mexican-style El Hutcho's restaurant, customers and guests watched the marriage with drinks in hand, then applauded the couple and rushed to plant kisses on the bride.

Mrs. Miner waits tables at El Hutcho on weekends, and, according to the groom, the restaurant "just seemed like a natural" setting for the wedding.

"This is where our friends are," said Miner, a roofer who helped remodel the restaurant.

The couple planned a honeymoon cruise in the San Juan Islands — on a tugboat piloted by a friend of the family.

Mercury Slows Progress, Pay At Regional Airport

DALLAS (AP) — Summer temperatures have slowed concrete pouring at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport and the delay might keep 45 on-site contractors from earning a total of $20 million they expected.

Since contractors are paid as they complete work, the construction slowdown has delayed progress and paychecks.

"We must get up to $18-$20 million in monthly contract earnings to meet our schedule on opening the airport in mid-July 1973," said Ernest E. Dean, deputy executive director of engineering.

Dean told the airport board recently that July monthly earnings were at $14 million but would reach $20 million by August, September or October.

Dean said that because the maximum tolerable temperature for pouring concrete is 85 degrees, pouring is now being done between midnight and mid-morning. Daytime schedules will be resumed in the fall.

Dean said he didn't think the pouring delay would postpone the airport opening. As he put it, "We'll be in good shape in a couple of months." The concrete work is chiefly for the runways and taxiways at the giant airport.

'Mommy' Carpenter Scorns Powder Breaks

DALLAS (AP) — Darlene Wisdom, 23, of Ferriday, La., has been sworn into Carpenters don't pay them any mind," she said. "I really don't have time to stop and talk. My job keeps me pretty busy."

Although she scorns powder breaks during working hours, Darlene sneaks on just a little makeup during the lunch hour to carry her through the hot afternoons.

The fact that so many powder tools are used now makes it easier for a woman to do the job, she says.

Darlene says her 5-year-old daughter, Laura, is proud of her new skill.

"She tells all her friends: 'My mommy is a carpenter.'"

10-Mile Long Trail Of Fire

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Its crew unaware that one of the cars had become a torch, a freight train rolled through five communities touching off fires that burned brush, a house and a railroad laborer's car.

The 10-mile-long trail of blazes was finally stopped when firemen flagged down the train at an intersection here and extinguished the freight car blaze.

The flaming car was first reported Sunday as it passed through Irwindale and Duarte. Sparks flying from the car set off seven brush fires along the railroad right of way.

More brush fires were started in Monrovia.

An unoccupied house in Arcadia was set afire as the flaming car passed along the track nearby. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Most of the brush fires touched off by the freight car were quickly controlled, fire officials said.

The blaze aboard the train was believed to have been started by overheated brakes.

Old Records

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Paris has become a center of Spanish culture as Spanish deed records in the basement of the old Red River County Court house have been repaired and restored and soon may be on display at the Clarksville Public Library.

The records, written in Spanish, date back to 1835 and represent the first deed records of Red River County when it was a Spanish territory, and are among the oldest existing records of their type in Texas.
