Texas Election Code Tests Slated Sept. 7

Fire Victim Identified

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Officers said today that a young woman burned to death in a mobile home fire at Midland in West Texas a week ago has been identified tentatively as Robbie Leigh Beene, 19, of Marshall.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Cornell said the charred body had been initially identified by photographs.

He said officials are waiting on results of dental charts sent to Washington, D. C., and Austin before making positive identification.

Cut Fences To Let Stock Flee Flames

ELDORADO, Tex. (AP) — A range fire burned five ranches near here Tuesday and during the night.

Eight fire departments battled the fire, but no injuries were reported and there was no loss of livestock. Some firemen came from San Angelo, 60 miles away.

Schleicher County Sheriff Orval Edmiston said the fire apparently started in a sanitary landfill site and spread, fanned by high winds, over the West Texas countryside. Ranchmen cut fences to let livestock escape.

Will Lay Off 11,000

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The McDonnell-Douglas Corp. says it will lay off 11,000 employees within the next 17 months throughout its system due to, among other things, loss of the space shuttle contract.

The firm has 92,000 employees with some 31,400 in St. Louis.

Sanford N. McDonnell, president and chief executive officer, reported Tuesday that 260 employees, mostly in engineering would be laid off immediately and the total number of layoffs by year's end would reach 6,000.

The company said divisions in California will bear the brunt of the layoffs. California will lose about 3,700 workers by the end of the year and about 9,800 more jobs are forecast to go during 1973, the firm said.

A California-based company, North American Rockwell Corp., won the prime contract for the $2.6 billion space shuttle project.

McDonnell operations in Tulsa, Okla., will remain fairly stable this year and employment will rise by around 600 next year, the company said.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A three-judge federal panel will hear four cases Sept. 7 challenging the constitutionality of the Texas Election Code, including minor parties' claims that the law does not allow enough time to qualify for the ballot.

MIDLAND ACTION

The suits were filed by the Raza Unida Party in San Antonio; the American Party of Texas in Midland; Laurel Dunn and others in Waco; and the Texas New Party in Houston.

Court records on file here Tuesday showed the cases were ordered consolidated by Chief U.S. 5th Circuit Court Judge John R. Brown of Houston.

A court action schedule drawn up by U.S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle of San Antonio includes a conference of lawyers for all sides on Aug. 30 in the Texas Attorney General's office at Austin.

Last spring, Judge Suttle ruled in favor of the Raza Unida Party, temporarily setting aside an election code provision against circulating required petitions until after the date of the major parties' primaries.

CRITICAL

The largely Mexican-American party argued that time was critical because the election code required it to collect at least 22,358 signatures by June 30 to qualify for the ballot. It said a "significant proportion" of the state's Mexican-Americans would be disenfranchised because they are migrant farm workers and would not be able to sign petitions during the allotted time.

Raza Unida spokesmen now say they have turned in more than enough signatures to the Texas Secretary of State's office, which has announced no decision yet on certification of minor party petitions.

The other cases involved similar claims, including one filed last month by the Texas New Party.

It also asked that state officials be enjoined from excluding the parties from the November ballot.

CLOUDY

Muskie Most Likely Running Mate Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, says he will announce within a few days his choice of a running-mate to replace Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri.

SPECULATION

McGovern reportedly is checking a half-dozen or so names with other leading Democrats to determine the acceptability—and background—of those under consideration.

Apparently, on the basis of hints and speculation, the most likely replacement for Eagleton is Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

The 1968 Democratic vice-presidential candidate is generally acceptable to all elements of the party, and he is already well known nationally. Muskie, a Catholic and a New Englander, would provide balance for McGovern, a Midwestern Methodist.

COLD WATER

Idaho's Sen. Frank Church, a Protestant, seemed to throw cold water on speculation he might receive the nod. He rec-

Law Would Force Use Of Seat Belts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Motorists would be required by law to fasten their seat belts or possibly risk a jail sentence under national highway-safety standards proposed by the Transportation Department.

The proposal announced by the department Tuesday would require states to enforce the new standards or lose millions of dollars in federal highway funds.

Calling the plan an effort to eliminate the state-to-state variations in safety regulations, the department invited public comment during the next 90 days. The department said it intends to implement the plan next April.

RULES TOUGHER

The rules, somewhat tougher than the department's first standardization effort in mid-1967, would:

—Follow through on the current regulation requiring all new cars to carry seat belts by also requiring motorists and passengers to buckle them.

—Prohibit modification of safety-related equipment on cars, including a ban on disconnecting buzzers which sound if seat belts are left unfastened.

—Permit right turns on a red traffic signal unless a sign specifically prohibits it.

—Make it a crime to drive with 0.10 per cent or more alcohol in the blood, the percentage already considered the level of intoxication in most states.

—Require a driver to submit to a preliminary breath test if an officer suspects he has been drinking.

ommended McGovern find someone who would add more variety to the ticket.

Besides Muskie and Church, speculation has centered on former Democratic National Committee Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, Boston Mayor Kevin White and R. Sargent Shriver, one-time Peace Corps director.

And the name of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy—who says he doesn't want the job—continues to crop up.

Eagleton turned out to be too controversial following disclosure last week that he had been hospitalized for mental depression in 1960, 1964 and 1966 stemming from nervous exhaustion and fatigue.

His withdrawal from the Democratic ticket Monday night following a nearly two-hour meeting with McGovern made him the first major-party candidate for the vice presidency ever to accept and then give up the nomination.

The newly constituted Democratic National Committee must meet to approve a new nominee but it is expected to go along with McGovern's preference. One McGovern adviser said Tuesday a meeting is being planned for next Monday in Washington. But, he added, it could be set back a day or two.

MISSOURI MONSTER STORY SMELLS

'Mo-Mo' From Outer Space?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "We are convinced something is there," UFO buff Hayden Hewes said Tuesday night in discussing his investigation of "Mo-Mo," the Missouri monster.

Hewes, director of the International UFO Bureau, called a news conference at his Oklahoma City home to disclose what he called "confirming evidence" that the creature reported seen in the Louisiana, Mo., area is "an unknown form of hominid, much like the Neanderthal-like man thought to be extinct since pre-historic times."

SIGHT AND SOUND

Hewes, who has been involved in investigations of unidentified flying objects for several years, said he interviewed about 20 persons in Missouri who saw, heard or smelled the monster.

The smell, he said, was described as "ungodly." Sight and sound, he said, could sometimes be misleading, but "when you smell something, you know it's there."

Hewes, stooping and swinging his arms in ape-like fashion, told about the descriptions given him of the Missouri monster, then displayed a May 1969, issue of Argosy Magazine containing pictures of a strange animal shot to death in Wisconsin. He said the description of the Missouri monster matched the creature in the Argosy article.

BLACK HAIRS

Hewes said two long black hairs picked up in the vicinity of the "Mo-Mo" sightings will be sent to Argosy's science editor, Ivan Sanderson, to determine if they match those from the Wisconsin creature — or if they are bear hairs.

Asked about authorities' reports that the Missouri monster is a hoax, Hewes said he, too, found hoax stories in his investigation. But that hasn't shaken his belief that Missouri residents have seen something strange and important.

There are four possibilities, he said: The creature is an "experimental animal" left by an unidentified flying object from outer space, it is a pre-historic creature or an escapee from a zoo, or it's a hoax.

GREAT FIND

Hewes leans toward the pre-historic creature theory.

"Mo-Mo must be taken alive," he said. "He's the greatest anthropological find in history."

He believes, too, that similar creatures have been seen in Oklahoma.

He displayed a small color snapshot of a wooded area in Eastern Oklahoma which he said was given him by a man who saw such a creature. A shadowy spot in the picture was circled and identified as the creature.

When it was pointed out that an enlargement of the spot only made the figure hazier, Hewes explained that his investigation of UFO's taught him that the "sharp clear" pictures were invariably hoaxes while the more indistinct ones were more likely to be authentic.

Algerian Government May Return $1 Million Ransom

ALGIERS (AP) — U.S. officials were hopeful today that the Algerian government would return the $1 million paid to the hijackers of a Delta Airlines jetliner. The DC8 and its crew spent Tuesday night in Barcelona, Spain, on their way back to the United States, and the Algerian government was holding the hijackers and the money.

Allan Davis, acting head of the U.S. diplomatic mission in Algiers, said Algerian officials have not yet replied to the American request for return of the money but added, "We are encouraged by what has happened in the past."

Two months ago, the Algerian government seized and returned $500,000 collected in the hijacking of a U.S. airliner. Since then, it has indicated it dislikes the idea that it is running a hijackers' haven.

In New York, Bernice Jones of the Black Panthers said the Panthers' delegation in Algiers had telephoned that the government had decided to return the ransom money to the United States and was considering also returning the three men and two women who took over the plane on a flight from Detroit to Miami Monday. The hijackers also had three children with them.

Miss Jones said the hijackers were connected with the Black Liberation Army and the Black Panthers in Algiers were pressuring the Algerian government to give them asylum.

The Black Liberation Army is described by New York police as a loose nationwide organization of black urban terrorists not formally connected with the Panthers.

The State Department asked the Algerian government to return the ransom and either prosecute the hijackers or return them. The request was made via the Guinea Embassy, since Washington and Algiers have no formal diplomatic relations.

At the cluttered frame house the group occupied in Detroit, authorities found a mound of dirt in the living room topped by a naked plastic doll with a penknife in its back. Alongside were seven pennies in a semi-circle around a small piece of bone. Nine more pennies were arranged in a circle around a dish of food.

The group commandeered the DC8 Monday after it took off from Detroit. The airline said they used at least one handgun. At Miami, the hijackers exchanged the other 87 fellow passengers for a suitcase stuffed with $1 million. Another stop was made at Boston, where the plane refueled and took on a transatlantic navigator for the flight to Algiers.

USING PENTAGON PROCUREMENT BILL

Senate War Foes Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate war foes planned a multi-level attack on the Indochina conflict today, using the $20.5-billion Pentagon procurement bill as their vehicle.

The Senate is scheduled to wind up eight days of work on the bill tonight after refusing on Tuesday to accept a proposal by Democratic presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern that the spending authorization be cut by $4 billion.

MISSING

But the end won't come without a fight over troop withdrawals, and the first amendment scheduled for consideration backs the administration.

Written by Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., it would write into the bill what are essentially the White House conditions for withdrawal: an internationally supervised cease-fire, release of prisoners and an accounting of missing in action.

An amendment by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., calls for withdrawal from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia within four months provided prisoners are released. The amendment was attached to the foreign military aid bill, but the Senate later killed the entire measure.

Withdrawal advocates had a fallback position prepared with the latest amendment by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

It would start Vietnam withdrawal immediately, and Indochina withdrawal when an agreement with Hanoi for a cease-fire and release of prisoners is reached.

If these fail, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., was prepared to offer an amendment which would halt bombing of North Vietnam with the intent of preserving the dikes.

MEAT-AX?

In votes on the procurement bill Tuesday, McGovern failed 59 to 33 with his amendment to cut back Defense spending by $4 billion. Opponents called it a meat-ax approach to national security.

Workshop Slated Here

Members of the 4-H Council of District 2 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will hold a leadership workshop here at the Ramada Inn, Aug. 10-11.

The workshop is designed to further develop the leadership qualities of the 4-H boys and girls who are serving on the District 2 4-H council. The council is composed of one boy and girl from each of the 20 counties on the South Plains.

Workshop participants will meet for lunch at the Spanish Inn in Big Spring on Aug. 10 and will then register at the Ramada Inn at 12:30 p.m., according to Ed Garrett of Amarillo, area 4-H and youth specialist with the extension service.

The first general assembly will be at 1 p.m. The afternoon will be highlighted by various reports given by council members who participated in recent state and national 4-H events. The group will have a picnic in the state park that evening.

Activities for the second day of the workshop will include leadership and citizenship training, a business meeting and committee reports. Group discussions will be featured on "Leadership, Citizenship, Community Resource Development and 4-H in the 1970's."

Discussion leaders will be Mrs. Linda Huffaker, Lynn County home demonstration agent; Mrs. Catherine Crawford, district home demonstration agent; Joe Wise, Crosby County agricultural agent; and Garnett.

The workshop will adjourn at 3 p.m. Aug. 11.

I have asked for an astronomical telescope for my thirteenth birthday. My parents say, "Oh, you'll grow out of it." I don't think I will. I have it all planned. I have decided not to marry. I am saving my money to buy a house. Everything is worked out.

Please help me! I don't know if it's a stage or I am really going to do it. — Future Astronaut in Pennsylvania

(A.) Your ambition is admirable and I congratulate you for being so definite about where you want to go. Some people just drift, but you are setting a positive course.

If, however, your attitude changes at any time in the future, do not be stubborn and stick to your plans just because you have made them. Many people, including astronauts, change careers.

DRINKER: (Q.) Two years ago my mother died. My father loved her very much and since her death he has been drinking a lot. When he drinks he goes out. Sometimes he is gone two or three days, or maybe even a week.

At first I could forgive him for leaving me all alone for that long time. But now I hate him for it. I can't stand to stay in the same house with him. — 13 and a Girl in Iowa

(A.) You must recognize that your father is ill and needs love and help — not hatred. What at first may have been or seemed like grief or loneliness is now definitely sickness.

He may have a brother or sister who can help you — maybe him too. If not, go to your Sunday school teacher or minister and tell your story.

There are services in your city to deal with problems such as yours, and your minister can refer you to them.

TO UNDERTAKE RELIGIOUS MINISTRY Irwin Quits Space Corps

NASSAU BAY, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut James Irwin's heavenly experiences are to be put to some earthly good as he plans a religious ministry centered on his Apollo 15 moon flight.

Irwin retired Monday from the Air Force and the space corps then announced Tuesday formation of "High Flight", an evangelical foundation he will use as a platform for speaking to religious groups.

MESSAGE

"I saw God's universe in a new perspective. I want to share that feeling with other men," Irwin said in explaining the thrust of his new venture. "It was clear in my mind that I had a message for all men on earth."

The astronaut described his former self as "really just a nuts and bolts guy...a test pilot...operator of a spacecraft." Irwin said he returned from the moon "really a changed person."

He stated that his involvement in the stamp cover controversy would not damage his credibility as an evangelist of the Christian gospel.

OTHER EXECES

"I'm sorry it occurred. We're all subject to make mistakes. I think it demonstrated my frailty as a man when I don't depend on the guidance of God," he said.

Irwin and two colleagues on the Apollo 15 mission were chastened for having taken 400 of the stamp covers to the moon and back. Some of the covers were subsequently sold by a West German stamp dealer for $1,500 each.

Irwin is moving his family to Colorado Springs, Colo., where the new foundation will be headquartered. The astronaut said he will be president of the foundation.

The Rev. William H. Rittenhouse, formerly pastor of the Nassau Bay Baptist Church, which Irwin has attended for the last three years, will be vice president of the foundation. Norman A. Palermo, a Colorado Springs lawyer, is the foundation's secretary-treasurer.

Other executives include Dr. Paul M. Stevens, an executive in the Southern Baptist convention in Fort Worth; Owen Cooper, president of the Mis-

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz is telling friends that playing golf with President Nixon isn't easy when it comes to figuring out final scores.

According to stories passed around in the Treasury, Shultz is telling associates that he teamed with Secretary of State William P. Rogers against Nixon and George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, last Friday.

"We won the first nine," Shultz is reported as saying. "Then for the second nine, the President changed our handicaps and they won."

Showers Dot Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

Thundershowers dotted broad areas of Texas again today but they generally appeared too light to dent the continuing heat wave.

Most of the shower activity occurred in the Texas Panhandle, west of the Pecos River, through the Rio Grande Valley and from around Austin and San Antonio southward into the Gulf of Mexico. Skies were clear to partly cloudy in other sections.

There also was light rain during the night over parts of North and Southeast Texas, but severe thundershowers failed to develop in some area for the first time in several evenings.

Temperatures again mounted into the 90s and topped 100 degrees at several points, going as high as 102 at Wink in West Texas. Readings near dawn today ranged from 68 at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 80 at Palacios on the coast.

Steamy heat was expected to maintain its grip all over the state.

Asked what his title will be during his crusade, Irwin with a smile said, "I sometimes refer to myself as a moon missionary."

"The message I have is one of science and of religion," he said. "I think they are the same. Science is just knowledge, learning God's basic truths."

Seize Narcotics, Jail Lamesa Man

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — More than 500 grams of heroin and cocaine, of which police said apparently was packaged by a Mexican factory, was seized here Tuesday. Officers said they arrested three men and also confiscated two guns and nearly $35,000 in cash.

Two San Antonio men and one from Lamesa, Tex., were held.

They were arrested by officers of the San Antonio Metro Squad, a new city-county organized crime control unit, as they drove an automobile Tuesday afternoon, detectives said.

The narcotics, valued at nearly $64,000 on the illicit market, were described as the largest amount seized at one time here in nearly two years.

Detectives said they found two packages wrapped in black tape containing 100 grams each of packaged, "street ready" heroin; another taped package of similarly prepared cocaine totaling 100 grams; and three cellophane packages containing 225 grams of uncut heroin.

The taped packages bore labels in Spanish reading: "Inspector—Abr. 27, 1972," with handwritten notations reading: "100 Heroina."

Officers told a newsman that packages marked like this were being produced in underground Mexican narcotics factories.

An automatic pistol and a rifle were confiscated, detectives said, along with more than $34,000 in bills of small denominations found in a paper bag in the auto, plus $600 in the men's personal possession.

Angina Pains

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There are some things about angina pectoris spasms that I don't understand.

When I am indoors I almost never have these spasms unless I am exerting myself to a very high degree. But when I take a walk on a cold, damp, raw and especially windy day, the first 10 or 15 minutes are all right. But then I feel the pain and have to resort to nitroglycerine tablets. How do you explain it?

Will warm or moderately hot weather minimize the effects? Is a change to a warmer climate advisable? Do allergies to dampness and bronchitis aggravate the problem?

Would vitamin E help stimulate blood circulation, or any other means to dilate the cardiac arteries? — A.J.K.

A good deal of your question can be answered by making clear what these angina pectoris spasms are. They are spasms, or cramps, in the heart muscle.

When the heart muscle is overworked, these spasms can occur — the term itself, angina pectoris, means chest pain of that type. The heart muscle spasms are a good deal similar to the cramps that can occur in some other muscle, say in the leg, if it is subjected to too much continued strain.

Let's start with the basic thought that there has been some damage to your heart. The muscle may have been damaged by a heart attack, or there may have been damage to one or more of the heart valves, so the heart has to work harder to pump the same amount of blood.

In a word, your heart can manage pretty well so long as it is not required to do too much work. But when it is required to work harder, and pump more blood, the angina cramps start.

When you are indoors, you don't experience the pain unless you exert yourself "to a very high degree." Understandable, isn't it?

But when you are walking outdoors on a raw, windy day, 15 minutes can cause the pain.

Why? Because on a raw day you walk along steadily. That's exercise. That's "work." With a wind, you may be walking into the wind, which takes added effort. Or you may fight the wind if it is at your back. It still takes more energy.

Finally, the temperature itself has an effect. Just keeping your body warm uses up energy, and that means more work for your heart.

Add these factors together, and you have the reason for those anginal pains.

Need you move to a milder climate? You could. But I wouldn't consider it necessary. There are angina patients who experience pain from far less exertion than you do — even from walking a block or so to a parking lot.

In your case, if you know you are going to be walking for a distance that brings on pain, taking a nitroglycerine tablet in advance will help.

Yes, allergies to cold or dampness, and bronchitis add to the total physical burden, so they can do their unwelcome bit.

Vitamin E? Some claim it helps. You can try it if you wish. At least it won't hurt you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does fever always accompany pneumonia or pleurisy? — D.F.S.

Usually — along with cough and chest pain.

ULCERS

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Thosteson's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

THE LAST HURRAH — Kyle Pfeiffer stumbles to shake the hand of Dr. Charles Warren, manager of the National Little League All-Stars, Tuesday night after he hit a three-run home run in a bi-district game. The homer, his fourth in playoff action, was one of the few bright spots in an otherwise dreary night for the National League. It lost, 7-4.

Mosby Carries Pecos Past National Stars, 7-4

The Big Spring National proved it could hit the ball Tuesday night, but it couldn't do it well enough to win as it dropped a 7-4 decision to the Pecos All-Stars at the American Little League Park.

The game was a bi-district clash between District Three (Big Spring) and District Four (Pecos). Pecos now has the right to advance to the state tournament in Waco where it will play Beaumont, the winner of District 12-A, at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Big Spring is finished for the season.

The National League should have gained a certain amount of satisfaction in scoring four runs in the contest off of the lanky Pecos pitcher, Limbo Mosby. Mosby came into the game with two consecutive no-hit games in playoff action. He had also struck out 34 of the 36 hitters in those games.

He started out the game as if he were going to make it three no hitters in a row. He struck out seven of the first nine batters he faced and allowed only one hard hit ball — an unassisted groundout to first by Kenny Fowler to open the game.

Regretably, the resurrection came far too late to do any good. Big Spring was behind, 7-0, at the time because of sporadic outbursts of scoring by Pecos in the first, third and fourth innings.

As could be expected, the leader of the attempted comeback was Kyle Pfeiffer, the same player who ripped three homers in the District Three tournament. He accounted for three of the four runs in the big fifth inning with a three-run homer.

But in the fourth inning, the bats of the National League, which had advanced them to the bi-district level by averaging nine runs a game, came to life.

Tommy Worsham broke up Mosby's no-hitter with a clean single over the first baseman's head. Whitney West, the next hitter, struck out to end the inning, but in the next frame Big Spring's offense came to life.

Nate Colbert Muscles Into Record Books

ATLANTA (AP) — "I was shocked when I hit it," said Nate Colbert, San Diego's slugging first baseman who muscled his way into the major league record book alongside his boyhood idol, Stan Musial, when he smashed five home runs and drove in 13 runs in a doubleheader Tuesday night.

"That's something I didn't think could be done in the major leagues," said Colbert. "Five home runs and 13 RBIs. I can't believe what happened."

The 6-foot-2, 209-pounder was an eight-year-old youngster in St. Louis when former Cardinal great Musial became the first player to crack five homers in a doubleheader.

"You know," Colbert said, "I was there when Stan hit those five in old Busch Stadium. I don't remember the exact day, but I know it was a Sunday. Stan was my first hero."

PADRES SWEEP
Colbert's one-man explosion powered the Padres to a sweep of the twinbill against Atlanta, 9-0 in the opener when he smacked two homers, two singles and drove in five runs, and 11-7 in the nightcap when he drove in eight runs with three homers, one a grand slam.

The display enabled Colbert to take the major league lead in both categories, giving him 30 homers and 82 RBI for the year. He said at the start of the season his goals were to hit 30 home runs and knock in 100.

His 13 RBI erased the major league mark of 11 shared by three American Leaguers—Cleveland's Earl Averill in 1930, Boston's Jim Thome in 1939 and Baltimore's Boog Powell in 1966. The old NL mark of 10 was set by St. Louis' Enos Slaughter in 1947.

SNAPS STAN'S MARK
His 22 total bases broke Musial's major league standard of 21 in a twin bill set on May 2, 1954—the day Stan hit his five home runs. He also broke the NL mark of 12 RBI in two consecutive games set by Jim Bottomley of St. Louis in 1924.

FIRST MAJOR LEAGUE SHUTOUT Woodson, Twins Blank Rangers, 3-0

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Even if his first major league shutout was against the lowly Texas Rangers, Dick Woodson will take it, thank you.

Woodson twirled a three-hitter Tuesday night as the Minnesota Twins triumphed 3-0 against the weakest hitting team in the American League. Manager Frank Quilici and Woodson were proud as punch.

"It was the best game of his career," beamed Quilici. "He's finally challenging the hitters instead of trying to pitch to corners. He went right at 'em. He can beat any team when he does that and that includes Oakland."

Woodson, cradling the game ball in his glove, disagreed that it was the best game of his career.

"I've lost the last five games by a run," Woodson said. "Some of the best games I've pitched we've lost. But it was a shutout and I savor that."

Texas' only 300 hitter, first baseman Larry Bittner was able to solve Woodson, collecting two singles as Ranger Manager Ted Williams continued his platoon system with his young players.

"Where was (catcher) Rich Billings tonight?" Woodson asked. "He wore us out the last time we were here."

Woodson was told that Billings, a right-handed hitter, was being benched in favor of left-handed hitter catching Bill Fahey.

"P.H." said Woodson. "I'm glad Billings wasn't in there. It made me feel more at ease."

Woodson, now 8-9, struck out nine and walked three in completing only his second game of the year.

Shortstop Danny Thompson drove in two runs with a third inning triple and Bobby Darwin hit his 14th homer off loser Pete Broberg, who failed for the 10th time to win his sixth game.

The batting futility of Williams' Kiddie Corps youth movement is emphasized by green second baseman Vic Harris, who is now 0-for-28 as a Ranger since being obtained from Oakland. Manager Williams didn't hang around to answer questions about what he

UP AND OUT — Cincinnati Reds' centerfielder Bobby Tolan bounces up in the fifth inning after being tagged out by Houston Astros' second baseman Tommy Helms as he tried to steal Tuesday night at the Houston Astrodome. Helms took the throw from his catcher, John Edwards, to make the tag. Cincinnati took the game 3-1.

REDS DUMP ASTROS, 3-1 Hurler Feels No Extra Pressure

HOUSTON (AP) — Cincinnati pitcher Wayne Simpson says he feels no extra pressure when he's pitching against the National League's second place team.

"I feel the same—you can't let up on any of them," he said Tuesday night after beating the Houston Astros 3-1.

Simpson scattered seven hits and was rarely in trouble as he notched his seventh victory against four losses and pitched his first complete game of the season.

Joe Morgan, a former Astro, slammed a two-run home run for him to have taken Simpson for the victory margin as far as second only in Wynn's out.

John Edwards and Doug Rader singled, but Simpson made Tommy Helms fly into the Astrodome.

The only run allowed by Simpson was Jim Wynn's 18th homer on a ground-out, but Simpson struck out Lee May to end the inning.

Simpson struck out Sparky Anderson said it is good to have a six-game lead "but that could go in six games."

Observing that Simpson pitched his best game of the fourth but Morgan's 13th home season, Anderson said, "He is a real competitive guy." He wants base with a walk sent the Reds to go all the way.

He said the Astros would have had to score in the ninth

Jack Nicklaus Revels in New Underdog Role

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Sore finger or not, Jack Nicklaus was, at worst, a co-favorite with Lee Trevino for the title in the PGA National Championship.

But Nicklaus, almost always the favorite for any tournament in which he competes, was revealing in the role of what he called "distinct underdog" going into the Thursday start of the last of the four major championships of the year.

The 32-year-old Nicklaus won the first two, the Masters and U.S. Open, and failed by a single stroke to keep alive his dreams of the never-accomplished Grand Slam when he lost to Trevino's miracle finish in the British Open.

A badly infected right index finger, which required some minor surgery last week, has kept him out of action—and away from practice—since then.

"I really can't recall when I've been so poorly prepared for any major championship," Nicklaus said Tuesday after putting in only his second practice round on the 7,054-yard, par-70 Oakland Hills Country Club course.

BREWERS BELT BENGALS, 9-0

Tigers Finally Come In From Rain

By The Associated Press
The Detroit Tigers finally got to come in out of the rain Tuesday night after umpire Frank Umont put a damper on their stalling tactics.

After a 51-minute rain delay in the middle of the third inning with the Milwaukee Brewers leading 2-0, the teams resumed play. The rain resumed, too, in the fourth inning as the Tigers fell farther behind en route to a six-inning 9-0 setback.

Despite the defeat, the Tigers remained 2 1/2 games ahead of Baltimore in the AL East when Cleveland's Gaylord Perry blanked the Orioles 2-0 on two singles. Elsewhere, the New York Yankees battered Boston 10-4, Oakland shut out Kansas City 4-0 and Minnesota blanked Texas 3-0. California and Chicago were rained out.

In the National League, Cincinnati downed Houston 3-1, San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 4-3, San Diego took two from Atlanta 9-0 and 11-7 as Nate Colbert drove in a record 13 runs and hit a record-tying five homers, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 7-4, the New York Mets edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 18 innings but dropped the nightcap 4-1 and Montreal shaded the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings.

The Tigers' fun started in the top of the fifth with Mike Ferraro on first base and one out and the contest five outs away from becoming official. Relief pitcher John Hiller threw to first several times with Ferraro standing on the bag.

Manager Del Crandall yelled to Ferraro to take a big lead and the Tiger promptly picked him off as he made no attempt to avoid the tag.

Detroit Manager Billy Martin then pulled his anything-you-can-do-I-can-do-better trick and brought Fred Scherman in to pitch.

Elie Rodriguez lifted a pop fly into short right field and it dropped untouched as second baseman Dick McAuliffe and right fielder Jim Northrup stood and looked at each other.

Rodriguez ambled casually toward second, just aching to be tagged out, as the ball was relayed to shortstop Eddie Brinkman, who held the ball for a while and Rodriguez had no recourse but to step on second base with a gift double.

All that exertion on the mound filled Scherman's spikes with mud and he slowly started to clean them. That's when Umont went into action.

With raindrops still falling on everyone's heads, he called Martin and Crandall out and told them he'd recommend a May $1,000 fine to American League President Joe Cronin if any more foolishness took place.

Skip Lockwood then fled out to end the inning and the Tigers were retired in order in their half, making it an official game. One inning later, the game was called.

The Tigers managed only one hit off Lockwood, Mickey Stanley's leadoff double in the sixth. Milwaukee drove rookie Bill Slayback from the mound in the first inning, scoring two runs on four hits. The Brewers scored four times in the fourth on Joe Lahoud's two-run homer and a two-run single by Dave Cleveland's Perry tied Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the only pitchers in the majors with 18 victories and got all the offense he needed when Buddy Bell smacked a two-run homer off Baltimore's Dave McNally in the second inning.

New York's Mel Stottlemyre and Boston's Sonny Siebert battled through five scoreless innings before Roy White singled in the Yankees' first run and then stole home for a 2-0 lead. They added five more in the seventh and Bobby Murcer crashed a three-run homer in the eighth.

Sox until the ninth, when they erupted for four runs on six hits before Fred Beene came on to get the final out.

Oakland's Ken Holtzman stopped Kansas City on three hits for his 14th triumph. The A's scored in the third on Sal Bando's two-run single off Paul Splittorff and Reggie Jackson hammered a two-run 435-foot homer in the fifth, his 21st.

Minnesota's Dick Woodson hurled a three-hitter against Texas for his first major league shutout. Danny Thompson socked a two-run triple for the Twins in the third inning and Bobby Darwin walked and his 14th homer in the fourth.

Injured Are Returning To Oiler Camp

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The injured are straggling back to the Houston Oilers' camp here in the Southwest Texas Hill Country.

Cornerback Zeke Moore, his arm in a sling, showed up Tuesday and Mike Tillemann and Walter Suggs were due to day.

Moore, a six-year veteran, broke his arm on a closet door during the first week of camp and has been in Houston since then.

"I haven't even thought about when I'll be ready," Moore said. "I just wanted to get back and see us against Dallas (Saturday night in Dallas) if they'll let me go with them."

Moore will be sidelined for at least eight more weeks while Benny Johnson fills in as the starting right cornerback.

Red Sox Defeated By LaMarque, 2-1

EULESS — The Big Spring Red Sox fell to LaMarque, 2-1, in a pitchers' duel Tuesday night in the opening round of the State Sophomore League Baseball Tournament. The loss sent the Red Sox into the loser's bracket of the double elimination tournament.

The Red Sox sent Dick Battle to the mound at 11 a.m. today as they attempted to stay alive in the tournament. The Red Sox faced DeKalb in today's contest. DeKalb was defeated by Euless, 13-0, Tuesday night.

If the Red Sox lost to DeKalb, they are out of the tournament. If DeKalb lost, the Red Sox will play the winner of the Euless-LaMarque game at 6:15 p.m. Thursday.

Against LaMarque, the Red Sox scored one run in the bottom of the third inning. Jerry Currie led off the inning with a single. Pat Carroll followed with a single and Currie scored when LaMarque bobbled the ball. Carroll ended up on third base. The Red Sox threat ended when Carroll was thrown out at the plate.

LaMarque scored twice in the top of the third on back-to-back singles and an error by the Red Sox.

Neither Carroll or winning hurler David Smith allowed an earned run as both teams' tallies came on errors. Carroll and Smith each recorded 15 strikeouts in the contest.

Big Spring touched Smith for just three hits. Carroll was equally effective as he allowed LaMarque just five safeties. The big difference in the contest was in the field. LaMarque committed just one error, while Big Spring recorded four errors.

'Broadway Joe' Inks Multi-Year Pact With Jets

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — If Joe Namath is the highest paid quarterback in pro football, he's not telling anyone—at least not the general public.

"No figures will be given. I don't think that's necessary," the New York Jets' quarterback told a press conference Tuesday after he signed a two-year contract with the National Football League team.

However, sources said the pact is worth $500,000—making the flamboyant Namath the highest paid player in pro football history.

Namath appeared at the conference with Jets' President Phil Iselin and Coach Weeb Ewbank and vowed to "continue playing as long as I am able to contribute to the team. Even if injured, I'd have another operation and then come back."

Hampered by injuries most of his pro career, Joe missed 19 Jets games in the past two seasons. In 1970 he was sidelined with a broken wrist and missed most of last season after reinjuring his left knee when he missed a tackle in the Jets' first exhibition game.

Namath has said recently he would participate in training camp routines but would not play in exhibition or regular games without a pact. He said he should be paid more than any other quarterback because "I can play better than anyone else."

Asked if the terms of the new agreement fulfilled his wish, Namath replied, "I don't know. I've never seen anybody else's contract."

Elsewhere in pro football, the Cleveland Browns acquired defensive tackle Jerry Rush from Detroit for a future draft choice and the Baltimore Colts dealt safety Tom Curtis to Los Angeles for an undisclosed draft pick.

Philadelphia swapped linebacker Tim Rosovitch to San Diego for the Chargers' 1973 first-round draft choice and sent guard Dick Hart to the Jets for an undisclosed future draft choice. Pittsburgh traded tackle Clarence Washington to Chicago for an unannounced draft pick.

Houston dealt tackle Gene Ferguson to Oakland for wide receiver Rod Sherman while the Raiders made a host of transactions which included sending linebacker Duane Benson to Atlanta for a future draft choice. Oakland also received wide receiver Glover Richardson from Dallas, running back Jeff Queen from San Diego, quarterback Don Milan from Kansas City and defensive end Otis Sistrunk from Los Angeles. All for future draft selections.

Chargers Not Afraid To Make Trades

SAN DIEGO (AP) — No matter what happens to the San Diego Chargers, no one will ever accuse Harland Svara of being afraid to make trades.

What remains to be seen now is how effective the San Diego head coach is in blending the talent he's acquired into a team that can challenge traditional powerhouses Oakland and Kansas City in the American Football Conference West.

Svara's four trades in the past two days brought to 15 the number of swaps he's made since taking over the Charger coaching reins with four games to go last season.

The players who have recently donned Charger uniforms have significantly bolstered San Diego's defense, which last year was third worst in the NFL in terms of yardage given up.

And the offense, which last season relied heavily on the fine passing arm of quarterback John Hadl, now boasts a legitimate rushing threat with the addition of Duane Thomas and Sid Edwards to a backfield which already features Mike Garrett.

The defensive backfield is unchanged but is reported much improved under the tutelage of rookie assistant coach and former All-Pro Willie Wood. Svara named Wood to his staff.

All-Star Team Is Announced

A second all-star team comprised of players in the Miss Softball America (Minor) League was recently announced by officials of the league.

Molly Padgett is the manager and Natalie Purifoy and Mrs. Yancey are the coaches for the team.

Teammembers are Laurie Allen, Yvonne Brumley, Julie Ratliff, Junie Mowten and Irene Escoveda.

Selena Jones, Laura Bartosh, Ruthie Slate, Lisa Nagel and Cheryl Yancey.

Tammy White, Deborah Churchwell, Kim Cadcow, Laura Holme, Paige Grisham, Daine Dominguez and Cathey Harrel.

The team will compete in the Miss Softball State Tournament to be held in Big Spring, Aug. 11-12.

A Tragedy, A Challenge

Sen. Thomas Eagleton has withdrawn as a candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket because of the disclosure that he had on three occasions sought psychiatric help.

This undoubtedly is a personal tragedy for the senator, and to his running mate, Sen. George McGovern, who made the ultimate decision. Sen. McGovern was confronted with a pragmatic choice — to stand his ground and suffer further division of the already fragmented Democratic ranks (and that includes the potential loss of revenue so sorely needed for the standard bearer of a party sorely in debt), or to simplify the matter by electing another running mate whose presence on the ticket might be weighted less in liabilities. Thus, Sen. Eagleton is a victim of practicalities, which is doubly ironic because of the idealism which has surrounded the McGovern campaign in the primaries and the convention.

The real tragedy of this, however, is not what it might do to Sen. Eagleton, for it may in the long run elevate his national stature. He wages a vigorous fight for the ticket, he may be able to deliver the vote of those who admire him as a sacrificial lamb.

No, the real tragedy is that in raising the question of Sen. Eagleton's having had gone to his psychiatrist constitutes something of a shadow on his career. Some may have nurtured the thought that to consult a psychiatrist is to confess loss of mental reality, or that any form of mental depression is an affliction that hangs like the sword of Damocles over the head of the victim, and this glare of political spotlight has revived the notion again. Why should a man rise above a heart attack but never above having had mental therapy?

Here again Sen. Eagleton may in the long run be able to perform a service far greater than ever had he been elected to the second highest office in the land. If he demonstrates to the people that his having asked for help from a psychiatrist was the decision that gave him great strength,

Preposterous Impression

The Supreme Court of the United States declined to enter the political thicket when it refused to rule immediately on challenges to state delegate slates just as the Democratic National Convention was about to begin. But it left an intriguing opening.

The scene is the opening of the Supreme Court's fall session in October. Before the court is the case of Illinois and California delegates versus Sen. George McGovern. The court proceeds then he will have achieved great stature. He can help immeasurably to disabuse the minds of many of the idea that mental or emotional stress of any degree are incurable or carry any stigma.

Why should a man be able to rise above a heart attack or alcoholism but never above having had mental therapy? To accept this is to destroy all the painful and tedious progress we have made toward encouraging people to seek psychiatric help in coping with problems. Whether an individual has physical or mental distress, the wise person seeks help and benefits from it. This is the lesson we sorely need to learn, and perhaps this is the good that may come from this ill wind.

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Three weeks ago last week, Sam Blackburn — on the eve of his retirement as a regular staff member of the Herald — died unexpectedly. It would be some source of satisfaction, were he alive, to know that he is still sorely missed around these precincts.

BUT THIS isn't intended to recall in grief what can't be changed, but rather to reminisce with tender and happy feelings about an old friend and a real craftsman in this business. Hardly a week goes by but someone mentions how they enjoyed Sam's feature stories and his weekly stint in contributing to the Rim, and some who didn't know him personally will say: "What was that fellow's name who used to write those good articles about this area?"

THERE WAS A reason for this. Sam was a native of this region. His father was an itinerant carpenter who was forever packing up the family wagon and striking out across the vast prairies for some distant greener pasture. The beauty, the wonder, the loneliness, the harshness, the privations, the pain, the exuberance of freedom and challenge were burned into his young soul. He was nurtured in the breast of the West, and he was proud and intrigued by this heritage.

NO WONDER he could describe a squeaking windmill at sundown so you wanted to cry, for the yelp of coyotes on the distant horizon so you shuddered, or the bitter cold of a blue norther trying its best to blow out a struggling campfire so you felt the cold do the marrow of your bones.

Sam was at home on any assignment, but never more so than when he was digging up some forgotten history of this area — a ranger camp site, the locale of a reputed Indian fight, an old homestead. Youngsters — kids as he invariably called them — fascinated him, especially if they were enterprising. Old folks captivated him because they were gold mines of information about the saga of this country.

SAM NEVER got beyond high school in formal education, yet he was tremendously well read. One of his treasures were his copious library, and it's safe to say he didn't put a book on his shelf until he read it. He loved them all from fiction to classics. He was a prolific writer, and at one time in his career created plays and baited out a script for a daily broadcast in addition to editing a paper and writing a daily column.

You might expect that under such demand he would turn out some loose copy, and he did. Sam appreciated a little surgery on it so long as it was done deftly and with the scalpel; he groaned if his copy got meat-axed. On Friday afternoons he spread out his notes, half slumped over his typewriter and began his staccato hunt-and-peck punishment of the keyboard. That was music to the news desk, for it meant good live features for the Sunday paper.

HIS RIM columns were invariably interesting, and not a few of them were treasures. He had been blessed with an intuitive sense of being at the right spot at the right time and thus could tell about capture of kidnapers, the shooting of the son of a high Mexican official, a courthouse shootout, political skulduggery. None, however, excelled his memories of his boyhood days.

He never seemed to lack for a Rim, and I can see those sharp brown eyes now sparkling beneath badger bristles of semi-rigid hair, wryly protesting that I have just now worked him for another.

The Horsey Set

Robert E. Ford

One of the older legends of the West and probably of the world is the one about the rider, lost, sick, drunk or wounded, who lets his horse use its own judgment and thereby gets out of trouble.

THE STORY is invariable — the horse finds its way home, bringing his rider to safety, unless the rider actually was drunk and his wife was a temperance militant. In that latter case, his safety was in considerable question.

Ran into a very knowledgeable horseman the other day, one of the modern breed, and he says horses are as smart as they ever were if not smarter.

The horseman is Orley De Hoyos of San Antonio, a huge man of 34 who has been horning around with horses since he was six years old.

He is bronzed, muscular and at the moment was carrying a riding crop. The crop was not an affectation. He was dressed for working and the little piece of leather is a part of the job.

THE SCENE was the swank Dallas Charity Horse Show, and De Hoyos was mothering 11 horses for a dozen riders brought up from San Antonio.

Since not many Texans know what a horse show is all about, it is this: Horse lovers gather to demonstrate how they can ride and to show the ability of their horses, not always at the same time.

The place is a course for riding, laid off as carefully as a football field, only different with all sorts of hurdles for the horse to jump. The horse set calls the hurdles "jumps."

THERE ARE several classes. Equitation shows the skill of the rider and the ability of the horse at a walk, trot and canter. The hunter class is judged for the smoothness and steadiness of the pace of the horse as it takes the jumps and for the coordination of the rider with the horse.

Jumpers do just that, going over barricades as high as seven feet. A number of the riders are children and others are in their teens and sub-teens. But not all, by any means. As an example, competitors in the Dallas event included a grandmother, her daughter and her granddaughter.

DE HOYOS noted that in jumping seven feet, the rider's head will be 10 feet in the air. And that is about as high as the tough, rugged rodeo performers reach on a bucking bronc.

Which brings us back to how smart horses can be.

Some of the jumps are close together and there isn't much chance for the rider to control or guide his animal's footwork.

So, De Hoyos said, "seventy five per cent of success is the horse in contrast to the rider's guidance."

THE PLEASANT, mild-mannered De Hoyos certainly should know about all there is to know about equines.

He lived on the north side of San Antonio near Brackenridge Park two houses down from a riding stable.

By the time he was six he was hanging around the stable, doing odd jobs. When he was 10 he began grooming horses professionally on the horse circuit.

Then there was a period with the Midland, Tex., polo team, and he rode with the great Cecil Smith, one of the all-time greats among Texas athletes.

Smith held the top handicap of 10 goals for 22 of 28 years. So De Hoyos was in the best company.

ALMOST invariably, the horses are owned by the riders.

Most are thoroughbreds, tall beasts which appear even taller than they are when some ponytailed girl of perhaps 4 feet 6 inches on him for a swift, leaping ride around the ring.

Many are one-time race horses bought as companion-pet-friend of some youngster.

De Hoyos says the price starts at about $200 and may go as high as $5,000.

And, added a fellow who has been watching young people and horses for some years, "I've never known a youngster who got interested in horses who took to the drug scene or got in any other trouble."

Energy Imports Reviewed

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — While the United States strives desperately to correct its foreign trade imbalance in order to save the dollar, its efforts are being undermined by a developing energy crisis.

The impending crisis, which energy experts say is now almost inevitable, is forcing the country to import millions of barrels of foreign oil and, consequently, export billions of dollars in payment.

Meanwhile, because of a web of environmental, economic and political factors, combined with a failure by industry and government to produce a unified, farsighted energy policy, corrective action is stymied.

It results in this contradiction: The United States is estimated to have within its borders enough energy resources to meet its need for at least 200 years at current consumption rates.

But, while allegedly doing all it can to stop the dollar outflow, the country leaves much of its domestic resources untapped and, instead, imports oil and natural gas at a current rate of $5 billion a year—and growing.

Moreover, energy experts claim the situation has developed so much momentum that dependence on foreign supplies will rise from 30 per cent this year to 40 in 1975.

Because of the long "lead" times needed to develop domestic supplies, and because of high costs, "the hour is now too late," in the words of one authority, John McLean, to escape the myriad effects of a vast energy problem.

The facets of that problem include power blackouts, possible higher prices, disputes between ecologists and domestic energy suppliers, and a vulnerability to the demands of the Arab producing nations.

It is the effect on the dollar, however, that probably offers the most ironic illustration of the dangers inherent in the nation's inability to coordinate corrective action among producers and 60 governmental agencies.

Despite the growing trade deficits that already have led to an unprecedented devaluation of the dollar and currency disruptions among the world's trading nations, the Federal government estimates that the deficit from energy imports alone could reach $25 billion by 1985.

And while the country seems paralyzed by the awesome, painful decisions it must make, the trading power of the dollar—its energy, so to speak—drains away.

"Anybody can be a success here if he has ideas that make money for people," she said. "I believe in investing in areas that are going to expand the most. Right now, for example, I don't feel an investment portfolio is oriented toward the growth of this country if it doesn't contain a leisure time stock, a cable TV stock and an ecology stock."

Mimi dates "several boy friends," and says she doesn't want to marry until 30 because, "I don't believe in young marriages."

For a young career woman she has a number of rather unorthodox opinions. One of them is an antipathy to the women's liberation movement.

Nixon's Strategy

Marquis Childs

By FRANK VAN DER LINDEN (Subbing for Marquis Childs)

WASHINGTON — President Nixon — paying more heed to his California barber than to some of his advisers in Washington — will stress as the chief issue of his re-election campaign his drive to win "a generation of peace."

"PEACE IS the No. 1 Issue," the chief executive told his cabinet and congressional leaders at a private White House strategy session a few days ago.

Some of his aides have suggested that he should campaign on domestic measures, such as his revenue-sharing, welfare reform, and government reorganization bills, on the assumption that the public has already read enough about his summit talks with the Communist chieftains in China and Russia.

DOMESTIC issues are important, the President said, but he cited the advice of the barber who trimmed his hair during his recent stay at the Western White House in California.

"That barber was a Democrat,"

Nixon said, "He didn't talk to me about domestic issues. He talked about my trips to China and Russia. He said, 'Mr. President, they were beautiful.'"

So, the President is convinced that a large percentage of the Democrats and independents will join the Republicans in backing him for a second term chiefly because he is seeking to bring about a new era of peaceful relations with China and Russia and has ended American ground troops' involvement in the Vietnam war.

NIXON IS sure the people want "peace and honor", not peace at the price of running out on this nation's commitments to defend South Vietnam against attack by the military forces of Hanoi. This will be his answer to Democratic nominee George McGovern, who charges that Nixon has filed to keep his 1968 campaign promise to "end the war" and has spurned the Communists' offer of peace conditioned on the ouster of South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "If women ran the world, it would be the worst possible place for other women," said Mimi Green, perhaps the youngest and certainly one of the most attractive stock salesmen on Wall Street.

Starting as a $75-a-week trainee only four years ago, now at 25 Miss Green is a registered broker with Brukenfeld, Mitchell and Co., a New York Stock Exchange firm. In a single day she may sell up to $750,000 worth of stocks and bonds in lots ranging from 100 to 10,000 shares or more.

Most of her sales are to large institutional investors—banks, insurance companies, and mutual funds. The typical buyer she faces is 40 or more years old, realistic, practical — and male.

"There is no handicap in being a woman in Wall Street. But it is her aggressive spirit, except for the fact that there are other women there," she said. "Everything else is on the plus side."

"But I don't have much of a desire to deal with other women. They are instantly competitive. They are biased against each other. If the woman is older than you or unhappy in her private life, she resents you on sight. In any case, if she is a buyer, she'd rather buy from a man than from another woman."

"You can discuss business with a man and he'll accept you as competent, if he feels you are. But a woman only sees you as another woman and a possible rival."

Miss Green, who studied at Briarcliff and the University of Lausanne, is 5 feet 8, has dark eyes, shoulder-length wavy brunette hair, and a striking figure.

Billy Graham

For twenty years now I have had to put up with nasty, cutting remarks from my mother-in-law. I've tried to make her like me and I have never once talked back to her. But I can no longer take it, and the time has come for me to "dish it out" dish for dish. The Bible says to turn the other cheek, but I am human and can no longer take it. I feel guilty about this for I know it isn't Christian. Any help from you will be gratefully received. A.M.H. Difficulty with in-laws is usually caused by rivalry for love. You love your husband and so does his mother, and that is the rub. But, of course, it is all unjustified and doesn't make for happy relationships — of which your question gives evidence. You have all but let this situation ruin your life, your love and your effectiveness — not to mention your Christian witness. I see several mistakes you have made.

First, you say "I've tried to make her like me." I presume you mean you have tried to make her love you, and not that you are attempting to make her exactly like you. "Making" people love you is impossible. To be loved you must be loving and lovely, and obvious, you have failed in this department.

Second, you say you are going to "dish it out dish for dish." Christ said, "When men shall revile you . . . rejoice." Matthew 5:11. No one ever gained anything by giving it out dish for dish. In your letter you said you felt guilty for this, and negative reactions always cause guilt. It is both psychologically and spiritually sound to "turn the other cheek." Read the Sermon on the Mount and ask the Lord to give you the grace to practice it in your life. It will pay off.

A Devotion For Today . .

O Lord, how long shall I cry for help, and thou wilt not hear (Habakkuk 1:2, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, we do not pray that Thou wouldst shield us from the storms and troubles of life, but that Thou wouldst give us strength to bear them. And we will ever rejoice in Thy name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

GE To Build $20 Million TV Project

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Construction on a $20 million cable television project is expected to begin here early next year, officials of General Electric Cablevision, Inc., of Schenectady, N.Y., say.

Paul Dodge, San Antonio project manager for GE, said Tuesday his firm expects the Federal Communications Commission to approve an operating permit soon. The project has been delayed nearly two years by a federal freeze and regulations changes.

Dodge and R. D. Peters, project engineer, met Tuesday with City Manager Loyd Hunt to discuss GE's franchise with the city and scheduled sessions today with city utility officials and Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

If construction begins as expected, the first homes will be connected by the end of 1973, Dodge said.

Dodge and Peters predicted the project eventually will offer more than a dozen stations and programs ranging from school football games for as many as 100,000 San Antonio area subscribers.

They stressed that the programming is still in the planning stages.

Dodge said GE's main source of revenue will be from the $5 monthly cable subscriptions, although he did not rule out advertising.

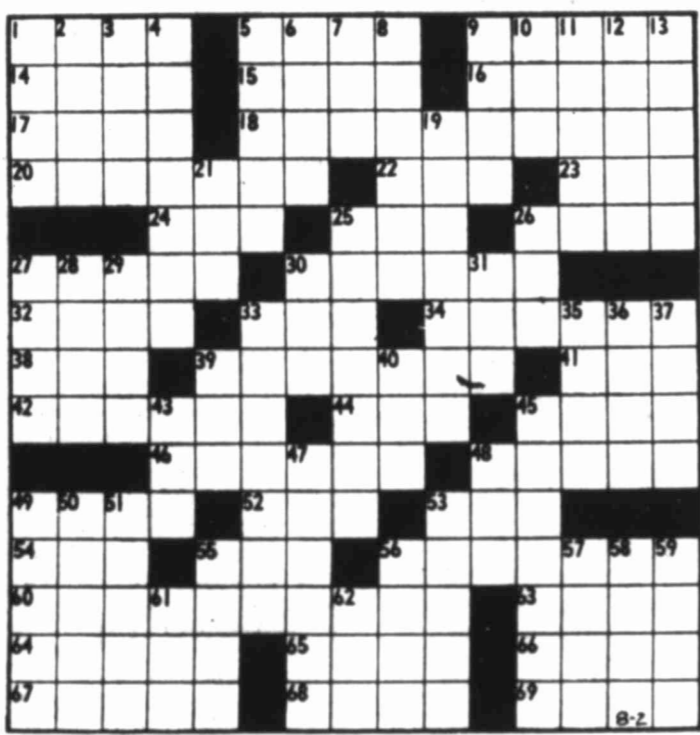

Some 2,000 miles of cable will be needed, making San Antonio the largest cable system in the nation, Dodge said.

He said construction will be in phases, with all sections of the city expected to be connected to the system within five years.

Puzzle of Tuesday, Aug. 1, Solved

Last Of Red Hot Lovers 120 Years Old

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The Albuquerque zoo is home for an ancient lion whose virility puts to shame his late son, or possibly grandson, Frasier, the much publicized "sex symbol" of California's Lion Country Safari.

Leo has sired an estimated 50 cubs since coming to the Rio Grande Zoo in 1950, zoo manager Dr. Bruce Stringer said Tuesday.

Leo's latest paramour, Judy, gave birth to triplets some eight months ago.

And this at the ripe old age of 23, which Stringer equates to 120 human years.

Frasier died July 13, at the age of 17, after fathering some 35 cubs. Stringer says Frasier was almost certainly a son or grandson of Leo.

He explains that Frasier was bought by Lion Country Safari from a traveling Mexican circus.

The Mexican circus, Stringer adds, reportedly acquired Frasier from an El Paso, Tex., zoo, which purchased its lions, virtually all Leo's cubs, from Rio Grande Zoo.

While Frasier was surrounded by a pride of 11 lionesses, there is room in Leo's cage for only one. Judy is his "sixth or seventh" cagemate, Stringer said.

The zoo manager said Leo now "shows his old age in every possible way." Cataracts in both eyes have left him virtually blind, his skin droops and he has arthritis.

Not Unfaithful?

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I feel like such a fool writing this, but you might be able to help.

I am a grown woman, (college educated) and have always been able to handle any situation, but this one has me stumped.

My husband (also college educated) is friendly, outgoing, and people like him immediately. Especially waitresses. He overtips to an embarrassing degree (waitresses — not waiters) but my main objection is his familiarity toward waitresses when we are out together. He hugs and squeezes them, and calls them "Honey, Sweetie and Darling." I find this extremely offensive.

I keep hoping a waitress will put him in his place, but no such luck. They seem to like it. My husband is 60 and so am I.

Would it be wrong of me to slip one of these waitresses a note with a ten-dollar bill, asking her to please chill the old fool?

DEAR TEMPTED: Resist the temptation. Simply tell your husband that his behavior makes him conspicuous, and you'd appreciate it if he'd keep his hands off the waitresses and dispense with the sweet talk.

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband recently remarried. He had a church wedding with a champagne reception at the country club afterwards. In other words, "all the trimmings." I did not find it unusual that our children attended because, after all, he is their father. However, when I heard that my own sister attended, danced until dawn and is planning to entertain for the newlyweds, I felt a stab of disloyalty.

Though I am happily remarried myself at this point, I think my sister could have been a little more considerate of my feelings. Do you blame me for feeling . . .

HURT AND BITTER

DEAR HURT: I see no reason why your sister shouldn't attend your ex-husband's wedding, and even entertain for the couple if she so wishes. I think your "hurt" and bitterness is uncalled for since you are presently happily married.

DEAR ABBY: I had some guests over one evening, and while we were eating dinner (between the soup and the fish) the gentleman at my left asked, "Do you mind if I smoke?"

I smiled very politely, and replied, "I'd rather you waited until after dinner." He then took some cigarettes out of his pocket and proceeded to smoke!

I want to ask you, what on earth could have been the matter with this man? APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: He was either hard-of-hearing, or hard of listening. (Or possibly just plain rude.)

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to my question, you said the only thing that was 100 per cent safe was "ABSTINENCE." Where do you buy it? SHIRLEY D.

DEAR SHIRLEY: You don't "buy" it. You practice it.

To Inquire Into Death Dive Of Oilman's Wife

HOUSTON (AP) — The July 3 death of millionaire oilman J. Collier Hurley's wife will be investigated by a grand jury sometime this week, a source in the district attorney's office said.

Fay Bell Hurley, 29, plunged to her death from the eighth floor apartment of her husband.

Hurley, 69, told homicide detectives his wife stormed into his apartment that evening and pleaded with him not to continue with an annulment action of their March 31 marriage.

The couple had not lived together since shortly after their marriage, Hurley said. He said he started the annulment procedure after he discovered his wife had been charged in 1966 with lewd dancing in a Houston night club and in 1967 with possession of marijuana.

Houston homicide captain L. D. Morrison said Tuesday his division referred the case to the grand jury partially because of the likelihood that civil actions might be filed over it.

Hurley told officers his wife climbed over the banister of the balcony and jumped to her death, despite his efforts and that of his butler to stop her.

County medical examiner Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk said Tuesday Mrs. Hurley died of a mass-pleaded with him not to continue with an annulment action of their March 31 marriage.

Czech Women

PRAGUE (AP) — Even after a quarter of a century of government-sponsored women's liberation, Czech men want their wives to be good cooks and get along with their mothers-in-law, a youth magazine inquiry revealed. The men expect their women to work but not on a job that would absorb all her energies and they prefer to be the main breadwinners. They don't like to see their womenfolk smoke but they are all prepared to help with the housework. They like to see their wives well-dressed and there is no premium on a university education.
