'SEND A MESSAGE' TO NINE MILLION ALCOHOLICS

Wanted To Be Caught In Spy Effort?

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — After a week of testimony, the espionage court-martial of M. Sgt. Walter Perkins went to military judge Col. Joe Peck today for a verdict.

CATCH ME

Peck began deliberating charges that Perkins tried to pass national defense secrets to Soviet agents after civilian defense attorney Henry Rothblatt, in closing argument, asserted that alcoholism had turned Perkins into "a hopeless cripple

... saying, "Here, here, catch me."

He urged Peck to acquit Perkins and "send a message" to the nation's nine million alcoholics.

But prosecutor Capt. Reinald Werrenrath III in a brief closing presentation said, "Such a message would wreak havoc on our society."

The theory that Perkins wanted to be caught in the espionage effort, said the prosecutor, "borders on the absurd."

A verdict in the week-long court-martial was expected either late today or early Friday. Rothblatt said Perkins had deliberately laid a trail for the government to follow—from buying plane tickets in his own name to actually carrying the five secret documents in his attache case.

'DRIED OUT'

"The arrest he cried out for was the best therapeutic act on his behalf," said Rothblatt, noting Perkins had considerably

"dried out" from alcohol during his confinement.

Rothblatt urged Peck who is hearing the court-martial without a jury, to weigh the "overwhelming evidence that seems to be gathered against Sgt. Perkins" with testimony of both prosecution and defense psychiatrists that his judgment was affected by 20 years of heavy drinking.

Both sides rested their cases Wednesday.

The Air Force introduced testimony that five documents allegedly stolen by Perkins were crucial to protecting the nation against air invasion and the defense presented testimony from Perkins' Japanese-born wife Michiko.

FATHER OF FOUR

She said through an interpreter that her husband consumed as much as a fifth of scotch whisky a day, often collapsed on the kitchen floor in a stupor and beat their children when drunk.

Perkins, 37, a father of four from Palo Verde, Calif., pleaded innocent by reason of temporary insanity due to acute alcoholism.

Werrenrath conceded Wednesday that Perkins was an alcoholic. But he told Col. Peck that "there is no question that he was mentally responsible beyond a reasonable doubt."

'DROP POINT'

"He was an expert in intelligence who well realized the significance of these documents," Werrenrath said.

The Air Force contends Perkins, a noncommissioned officer in charge of the intelligence unit, was planning to drop the documents behind a fence at a residential address in Mexico City. A crude, hand-drawn map was found in Perkins' wallet, and a Mexican agent dispatched to the "drop point" on the map observed a Soviet intelligence agent pacing back and forth and "checking his watch," government testimony showed.

VIOLENCE AT THE DOCKS — Police and dock workers at right struggle with each other at wharf on the River Trent at Keadby, near Scunthorpe, England, Wednesday where violence flared for the third successive day. Twenty-two dock workers were arrested Wednesday. Dock workers are objecting to the working of the wharf during the national dock strike.

Denies Shot, Burned Woman

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Michael David Sanders of Ruston, La., pleaded innocent today in the slaying of a young married woman from Worcester, Mass.

"Not guilty," Sanders said when asked by state Dist. Judge Tom Blackwell how he pleaded.

The judge set Sanders' jury trial for Oct. 16. A pre-trial hearing will be held Sept. 28.

Sanders, 19, is being held in lieu of $100,000 bail on charges he shot and burned Kathleen Matzilevich, also 19, in a wooded area near here July 16.

Mrs. Matzilevich and her husband, Thomas, 21, a Texas Christian University student from Natick, Mass., were shot several times, doused with gasoline and burned.

OLDSTER FLIES, JUST LOVES IT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Charles Snyder was 32 years old in 1903 when the Wright brothers first flew at Kitty Hawk. His own first flight ended 69 years later at San Francisco International Airport.

"It's time I gave this flying thing a try," Snyder said after his jetliner landed after a flight from Baltimore Wednesday.

The 101-year-old former professor of physiology is the oldest living graduate of Stanford University and was a roommate of Herbert Hoover before graduating in 1896.

"He just loved every minute of it," Dr. Thomas Snyder said after his father's first flight. The younger Snyder is a scientist with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Lightning Strikes

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — "I just hope it's true lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place," said Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo after a harrowing night in Wednesday's stormy weather.

Harding and his wife were returning from a vacation in Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday when their pickup truck was struck by a lightning bolt. The incident occurred about 6:30 p.m. some eight miles northeast of Texarkana on Interstate 30 while severe thunderstorm and tornado alerts were posted in the East Texas area.

"The lightning hit the antenna and sparks flew all around. It looked like a welder's arc," Harding said later. He said the ball at the base of his antenna exploded, ripping a hole in his fender and knocking out his radio.

Floodwaters Long Gone, Pain Lingers

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

The floodwaters of Tropical Storm Agnes are long gone, but the signs of devastation remain in the thousands of people still homeless, the hundreds of roads still impassable and the acres of cropland still barren.

An Associated Press survey of the area flooded by Agnes from June 16 to June 23 showed massive clean-up efforts have provided at least the basic necessities of life for the more than 500,000 persons in the East who suffered from the storm.

714 LOANS

The hardest work still lies ahead, however.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has ordered 9,250 mobile homes at a cost of about $50 million for the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., region, for example. But only three of 29 newly designated trailer areas are complete.

The Small Business Administration approved 714 loans totaling about $2.2 million for damaged homes and businesses in West Virginia. But it expects the final figure to reach $5 million for 1,600 loans.

PRIVATE RELIEF

The Office of Emergency Preparedness said Wednesday that Agnes caused 118 deaths and more than $3 billion in property damage. It said 5,000 square miles of land were inundated by 28.1 trillion gallons of water that fell and flooded communities along 4,500 miles of major rivers and 9,000 miles of streams and tributaries.

OEP Director George Lincoln

said that more than $2.2 billion in federal and private relief will be available to help rebuild. He said the expenditures represented "by far the largest federal outlay ever to assist states, counties and cities to spring back into first-class shape."

But the statistics don't tell the whole story.

They don't tell about the hard crab industry in Maryland where crabbers are catching more shellfish than ever, but can't sell them because of health department reports that raw sewage was washed into Chesapeake Bay by the storm.

They don't tell about the Lemmerman Farm Market in Wyckoff, N.J., which, for the first time in 33 years of operation, ran out of corn by 11 a.m. on Sunday morning — a big sales day — because floods had ruined the crops.

And they don't tell about the Branchi family of Kingston, Pa. Water filled the first floor of their house, warping every door and window and wiping out all the furnishings.

In most areas, the most critical problems are finding housing for the homeless and repairing damaged streets and other city facilities.

In Virginia, where 12 persons died and one is missing, Agnes caused damage totalling $167,491,300 in 59 of the state's 96 counties. "As far as we can determine, it was the state's worst flood in terms of destruction, cost and water level — just about everything," said James Bradley of the Office of Civil Defense.

Col. R. E. Catton Assumes Command At Air Base Here

Col. Ronald E. Catton Wednesday accepted the command of the 3560th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB from Col. Malcolm E. Ryan Jr.

Col. Ryan will become commander of the 12th Flying Training Wing at Randolph AFB, Tex., effective Aug. 15.

Col. Catton has been acting as deputy commander for operations at Webb since January.

After a short transfer of command ceremony, officers and their wives congratulated the new commander.

Col. Catton described his new command as being "half-way up the mountain." "Col. Ryan and I earlier this year set a goal of making the 3560th Pilot Training Wing the absolute best of all pilot training wings.

"We took the message to all concerned, and started climbing the mountain. Now we are within view of the top, and we are going to reach it," he said.

According to Col. Catton, an evaluation team that inspects all wings is expected here in October. "They can only award one 'excellent' rating each year, and we are going to earn it," he said.

Col. Catton said the wing had led in flying operations for six weeks, that the maintenance departments had set new standards, the supply operations were unexcelled and the medical facility was number one or two.

"I feel we should do the best we can for the Air Force and for the community," said Col. Catton. "We are building a team that will be difficult to disband."

Col. Bob Reed was announced as Col. Catton's replacement as deputy commander for operations.

Col. Reed "was known as a first rate commander" of the 3561st squadron, said Col. Catton.

"It's a real privilege to command Webb," said Col. Catton.

PBRPC Approves Grant For Department Here

By Marj Carpenter

The Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission Wednesday approved a $79,000 federal grant to improve the juvenile probation department for Howard County and the City of Big Spring, even though neither group is a member of the planning council.

The approval was granted after members of the commission heard an appeal from Sgt. Pete Stone, identification officer for the Big Spring city police and County Judge A. G. Mitchell concerning the needs of the department here.

The grant totals $79,000 and includes $41,000 the first year, not $24,000 as first reported in a Commissioner's meeting by Keith Jones, juvenile officer. The $24,000 figure is for the second year, according to Jones. The juvenile officer also pointed out that there is the possibility that the grant can be renewed at the end of the present grant.

The grant was quickly approved at the meeting, according to Judge Mitchell and following the approval, Borden County Judge Toombs asked Judge Mitchell, "When are you going to get around to joining the council?" Howard County is one of five counties in the region who have not yet joined the commission. Judge Mitchell replied "Not at this time."

NOT APPROVED

City Commissioner Jack Watkins stated in a telephone call to the Herald late Wednesday that "The city commission has not approved participation in the grant. We have discussed it, but no action has been taken."

Mayor Wade Choate stated today that the city has two members assigned to a committee which regulates the juvenile office, which is jointly supported by the county and city at 40 per cent each and the school at 20 per cent.

Mayor Choate and City Manager Harry Nagel represent the city on the committee and the committee approved seeking the grant, according to the Mayor. Nagel went along to the regional commission at Terminal on Wednesday. Roy Watkins and Sam Anderson are the school's representatives on the committee, but did not attend the meeting at Terminal.

Choate stated, "I do not know whether accepting the funds is the responsibility of the commission or of the committee approved by the commission."

In other action at Terminal, the commission voted to fund a rural water and sewer study through the Farmers Home Administration in non-member counties at no local cost. This also includes Howard County with the FHA to provide five cents per person outside the city limits of Big Spring to fund the survey.

Judge Mitchell stated here Thursday that this will be brought to the county commissioners for approval but that the survey will not cost the county any funds.

RESPONSIBLE

The substitute manager at the FHA office here, who is serving during the manager's vacation, stated "This office is probably responsible to the state FHA office for a comprehensive plan

Rainfall In Area Varies From Trace To 3 Inches

Rainfall reports of "not enough to measure" to "bar ditches are running full" reflect the spotty rainfall Howard County has received during the past few hours. The official report for Big Spring was .17 inch, but a gauge on the east side of town had .3 inch. The Herald rain gauge held .07 inch, while reports from the TEXCO switching station were set at .66 inch. The Howard County airport had .50 of an inch. The Luther area reported 1.2 to 1.8 inches within a two-mile radius. Mrs. John Couch reported 2.3 for the two days. It was still raining at the time of this report. Ackerly also reported continuing showers and had .7 of an inch. J. R. Anderson ranch in Borden County had .40. Above Luther toward the Clanton Valley area there were reports of three inches plus for the past 24 hours. Water was running out of the fields in that sector this morning. The Wilson Ranch, northeast of Luther and straddling the Howard-Borden line, had .80 of an inch Wednesday and a steady, slow rain had been falling since 8 a.m., yielding another 1.4. Other reports include showers at Vealmore (not enough to measure), mist at Elbow, a sprinkle at Forsan and threatening (or hopeful) weather in most areas. Colorado City reported almost one and one-half inches of rain by 8 a.m. today. Chalk had .28 of an inch. Reports from the Colorado Municipal Water District showed .40 at the Big Spring pump station north of town, .3 at the Big Spring-Odessa intake of Lake Thomas and .60 at the dam; 1.60 inches at the pump station in central Martin County, 1.81 at Odessa, 1.79 at Midland. The pump station at Lake Spence had 2.0 inches, of which .60 fell Wednesday and 1.40 over night but without causing creeks to run substantially. The increase in lake levels was negligible — only .09 of a foot at Lake Spence.

Repairs Ahead For System

City-county dads today agreed to obtain a service contract with a heating and cooling systems company to repair the central heating and cooling system at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. "When the city and county placed the city-county health unit offices in the Dora Roberts Center, it was agreed that we would take care of maintenance for the whole center," said City Manager Harry Nagel. "The heating and cooling system which serves the center is very elaborate and complicated, and we decided today that it would be best to hire a service company to put it in first class running condition," added Nagel.

GRANT

A third item discussed at the PBRFC meet which is of interest in this area centered around a grant being drawn for the neighboring 106th Judicial District, which includes Dawson, Gaines, Lynn and Garza counties to provide a public defender for indigents. Glasscock County Judge D. W. Parker of Garden City said his county had to raise taxes 16 per cent to pay the $63,000 projected cost for the trials of and court-appointed attorneys for the three defendants in the murder of Steven Currie, a prominent Glasscock County rancher in 1970. At an earlier meeting, a discussion of the Currie case prompted the directors to appoint a committee to investigate the possibility of establishing a public defender program. Glasscock County is also one of the five counties who are not members of the commission.

Masked Raiders Grab $330,000

LONDON (AP) — Masked raiders brandishing shotguns snatched more than $330,000 from a London bank today as security guards watched helplessly. The six bandits fired several shots into the ceiling of the bank in suburban Wembley and forced staff and customers to lie on their faces on the floor, while they grabbed the money. Then they fled in a waiting truck which they left a few minutes later, switching to a getaway car. The gang struck shortly after the bank opened and as guards from a security firm arrived to collect the money, most of it in small bills.

Ellsberg, Russo To Campaign Against Re-Election Of Nixon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo say they will use the time from their postponed Pentagon Papers trial to make antiwar speeches and campaign against President Nixon. "This administration is a menace to the rights of American citizens," said Ellsberg. He accused the government of "using the charges in this case to frighten other citizens out of revealing what they know about government lies, deception and criminal behavior."

Work To Start On Facility

Construction will begin immediately on a 1,728 square foot expansion of the Webb AFB Federal Credit Union facilities. The addition, upon completion, will increase plant size of the credit union to 6,049 square feet. The present building went into operation on May 31, 1968. The new expansion basically will office administrative personnel, but also it will provide needed space for storage of records, an equipment room and a work area and will allow auditing personnel membership services and more work room for the loan department. Final approval for the addition came in early August from Air Training Command, Randolph AFB and U.S. Air Force, Washington, D.C. ATC cited the need for credit union expansion in approving the construction following an on-site inspection earlier this year.

Fiscal Outlook Is Still Rosy

To date—July 31, city expenditures amount to 79 per cent of budgeted expenses for the fiscal year, 83 per cent of which has expired. The blanket of four per cent exists as a safeguard against the October drag of September invoices which are billed to the 1972 fiscal budget. The total expenses for the 10-month period were $1,456,185, less than 10 per cent of which was spent in the month of July, indicating that July expenditures were somewhat lighter than the average month. Income for the same period indicates that 89.5 per cent of anticipated annual income has been received. The $1,759,506 receipts leaves the city hoping for almost $206,000 to come in the last two months. Half of the remaining budgeted income is expected from Big Spring's share of the city sales tax, amount of which for the previous quarter was about $105,000.

New Phone Rates Are Given Okeh

STANTON — The Stanton City Council last week approved new telephone rates for the city to become effective Aug. 25. The new rates, according to Harry Sawyer, manager for Southwestern Bell, are necessary because the old rates, set in 1960, are not sufficient to meet the company's cost of doing business today. The new monthly rates include business one-party service, $12; residence one-party service, $5.75; and residence two party service, $4.45.

Police Making Progress On Junked-Car Project

Since Commission approval of an ordinance allowing removal of junked and abandoned cars from public property, 87 vehicles of those classes have been removed through police action, according to the police services Captain Leo Hull. Abandoned vehicles are defined as those which are parked on public property and are deficient in one of the three following requirements: the vehicle must be parked in a legal manner; it must bear a valid motor vehicle inspection sticker; it must bear a current motor vehicle registration license, according to City Attorney James Gregg. Junked vehicles are defined as those which display the following deficiencies: the vehicle is inoperative; it has no valid motor vehicle inspection sticker or it has no current motor vehicle registration license; it is partially or totally disassembled or dismantled; and it is of a model more than eight years of age, Gregg said. In disposing of the automobiles described as either abandoned or junked, the police department attempts to notify the registered owner, requesting him to remove the vehicle. If the owner cannot be contacted, or if he refuses to move the vehicle, a contract salvage firm is notified, according to Hull. Charges for towing and storage billed by the salvage yard are assessed against the automobile. If the owner fails to make claim of the vehicle and pay the charges assessed against it, the wrecker is awarded ownership of the vehicle with the stipulation that it may not be returned to street or highway use. The wrecker, according to the ordinance, is termed as demolisher, meaning that his ownership of the vehicle is limited to storage, disassembly and resale of parts or scrap metal.

Notables Due For Rally

A patriotic rally sponsored by the Grace Baptist Church will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the revival tent next to the church at PM 700. Numerous city, county, military and civic notables will be present to add their support to the rally, according to the Rev. Ellis Nonea, pastor of Grace Baptist Church. The featured speaker will be Joe Boyd, who has been leading the revival services for two weeks. "He is quite a political scholar," said Rev. Nonea, "and will be able to add a lot of insight to affairs today. We saw the state of national politics, the vice presidential nomination and some of the things espoused by political candidates and decided a patriotic rally would be a good thing for this area. A number of local leaders were consulted, and we decided to do it," he said. "Everybody we have contacted has agreed to participate in this nonsectarian patriotic revival."

AFTER SIX YEARS AND $400 MILLION Army Kills Cheyenne Copter

WASHINGTON (AP) — After six years and $400 million, the Army has killed its trouble-plagued Cheyenne helicopter program to search anew for a cheaper, less-fancy gunship.

The Army Wednesday notified Congress and Lockheed Aircraft, builder of the Cheyenne, of its decision and announced that it will seek new bids from industry for "the smaller, less-costly aircraft."

The action followed by eight months the death of the Army's new dream tank, the MBT70, which military planners also conceded was too fancy and too costly. In that case, Congress killed the program.

"The basic point is we got too expensive and too sophisticated a machine," an Army spokesman said of the Cheyenne. "We can do it for less with a smaller machine."

Cheyenne was packed with electronic gadgetry, antitank missiles and machine guns, for knocking out enemy troops, tanks and guns at close range.

The Army wanted to buy 375 Cheyennes at a cost estimated between $3.5 million to $5.2 million each, more than the price of the F4 Phantom jet.

But Cheyenne ran into mechanical problems along with congressional fire from critics who questioned its value.

They Cheyenne also has been the center of a bitter and still-unsettled dispute between the Army and Air Force over each service's role in the job of protecting American ground troops.

With the Air Force pushing its version of a new close-air support plane, some legislators are concerned they are being asked to back too many overlapping military projects.

For the current fiscal year, the Army had asked $37 million to continue research and development on the helicopter.

The Senate turned it down but the House went along. A conference committee was in the process of resolving the difference when the Army announced its decision to cancel.

To fill the Cheyenne's role, the Army said, it will ask Congress to approve $40 million to begin "as soon as possible" a new quest for "the most effective advanced attack helicopter practical at the least cost in the 1970s."

Food Workshop Is Conducted

Teachers at the Coahoma Elementary School in Coahoma participated Wednesday in a "Big Ideas" workshop, a nutrition education program designed for teachers in elementary school.

The workshop was sponsored by Dairy Council, Inc. and presented to the teachers through the courtesy of the dairy farmers in this area. By the time teachers had completed the workshop, they were able to name the "Four Food Groups" and the major nutrients supplied by each of the groups, analyze a meal, from their own and another culture, and describe the major steps in the production, processing, and distribution of a variety of food products. And more important, they could incorporate this knowledge into learning opportunities for elementary students.

"Man does not instinctively make wise food choices. He must be taught to select those foods which give his body the nourishment it needs," said Mrs. Miriam Curry of Dairy Council, who conducted the workshop.

Dairy Council, Inc. is a non-profit educational organization whose aim is to promote good nutrition through the use of milk and dairy products. The program director for the area office of Dairy Council is Mrs. Curry, whose office is located at 2301 W. Louisiana in Midland. Mrs. Curry is available upon request as a nutrition consultant for community nutrition programs.

He has been area conservationist at Harlingen during the past year. In his new position he will help direct SCS operations in the northern third of the state. He is a 1940 graduate of Texas A&M University and received awards for outstanding performances in 1958, 1962 and 1968. He and Mrs. Goodlett are at home at 2102 Linwood in Temple.

Dispute May Close Texas Biggest Port

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston Longshore leader says the Port of Houston's reluctance to grant a 12 per cent wage increase to 250 maintenance workers could cause a shutdown of the port by the workers.

Port Commissioners agreed Wednesday to an Aug. 18 special meeting to discuss the problem with longshore leaders and shipping industry representatives but J. H. Raspberry said he did not know if a work stoppage could be delayed until after the meeting.

Raspberry, president of the Houston Dock and Marine Council and a deepsea local of the International Longshoremen's Association, said there is much dissatisfaction on the waterfront over the situation.

Last week the Houston Port Authority received a Federal Pay Board approval of a 12 per cent increase for ILA clerks, checkers and freight handlers.

Funds For Educationally Deprived Students In BS

Title I funds budgeted for the Big Spring Independent School District for the 1972-73 school year amount to $103,234.

Title I is a federally-funded program that provides additional money for communications skills classes for educationally deprived children. There are presently about 1,700 children who are classified as educationally deprived in the Big Spring school district, but federal regulations allow only 773 to be served within the program.

The program sets up special classes for children with communication difficulties. Remedial reading classes were operated last year at Bauer, Cedar Crest and Lakeview Elementary Schools. Tests of student progress in these classes show that more than half the students gained more than one grade level after completion of the program.

will conduct classes in math and science communication skills.

Three kindergarten teacher aides work with children in the kindergarten program at Lakeview in an oral language program.

A related program under Title I is the health service program. A nurse is assigned to help meet the special health problems of children in the communications skills programs.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

The Title I program is set up by the school administration and then presented to a citizens board made up of parents of children in Bauer, Cedar Crest, Lakeview or Rannels. They make suggestions for changes in the programs.

The programs have been a phenomenal success, according to Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction.

"We would like to do more, but we are limited by federal regulations to serving 773 children," he said. "The increased educational benefits we have been able to provide under this program in only one year have been of great value to the children. We hope to continue this program as long as funds are available."

Other federal programs include the Title II program, which provides about $11,000 for library books, and the Title III National Defense Education Act program. The Title III program last year included $8,474 in federal funds and an equal amount of local matching funds. Most of the money was used for language learning labs. "We don't expect to receive any of these funds this year," said Hise.

Lure Their Ears

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (AP) — An acoustic fish lure is to be manufactured for both commercial and big-game fishermen by the Christchurch firm, Elsham and Associates.

The lure, which weighs about 6 pounds, was developed by fisheries technologist Don York.

The first lure was given final trials last April in the Bay of Plenty, on the east coast of the North Island of New Zealand.

BILKS IDIOT BOX OWNERS

HOUSTON (AP) — Donald Jay Sternberg, 43, owner of the Bellair Radio & TV Co., was charged with five counts of felony theft for allegedly billing customers for repairs which were not made on television sets.

Sgt. Marvin Zinder, head of the consumer protection division of the sheriff's office, said the cases involved repairs to five sets during June and July. The investigation began, he said, after a former employee made a statement to him.

Justice of the Peace Richard W. Millard set a $1,000 bond on each of the charges. Sternberg was reported out of town and unavailable for comment.

SHARP GAINS

A communication skills program was initiated at Runnels Junior High School in which 36 per cent of the participants gained more than two grade levels, and 44 per cent gained more than one grade level.

The program at Runnels is to be expanded this year. Two remedial teachers and one teacher aide will conduct classes in language arts and history communication skills, and two teachers and one aide

'Poor' White Children Fatter Than Rich Youths

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Children in poor white families are likely to be fatter than rich youths, four researchers say.

A study of 3,300 youngsters in Philadelphia, New York and Wilmington, Del., also showed a "surprising incidence of overweightness in young children in general," one of the researchers, Dr. Ross D. Filion, said.

Published in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, the study shows that "marked differences" in weight appear by age 6 in upper and lower class children.

The study limited its sample to white children — 2,300 in the upper socio-economic group and 850 classified as poor. The researchers, all from the University of Pennsylvania, explained that differences in anthropometric measurements among various races caused the restriction.

Defends Right of White Candidate

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Ben L. Hooks, the first black member of the Federal Communications Commission, has defended the right of a white Georgia senatorial candidate to broadcast antiblack campaign statements.

Hooks, of Memphis, said that while he personally abhors the statements by J. B. Stoner, he defends the candidate's right to make them.

In some of the television and radio campaign advertisements, Stoner, who sought the Democratic nomination in the Georgia primary on Tuesday, refers to blacks as niggers and states that "all the nigger wants is a white woman."

Public Auction Set Aug. 19

AUSTIN — Contractors may find special interest in the State of Texas 11th public auction on Aug. 19 because of the offering of concrete mixers, dump trucks, water tank trucks, core drill rig trucks and other miscellaneous heavy equipment.

Homer A. Foerster, executive director, State Board of Control, announced.

Inspection of all surplus property offered by 11 State Agencies will begin at 7:30 a.m., Aug. 19, in the Austin City Coliseum. The auctioneer will begin asking for bids at 9 a.m.

Also, more than 130 automobiles and a 12-passenger bus will be sold to the highest bidder. There also will be several pickup trucks, boats, motors and trailers in the auction.

More than one million dollars has been raised from surplus property offered in 10 prior sales, Foerster reported.

Bidders will also have an opportunity to take home typewriters, adding machines, calculators, wood jointers, cameras, projectors, office furniture, vans, display cabinets, dictating equipment, portable air compressors and radio equipment if their offer is the best.

Parachuteless

PRAGUE (AP) — A 70-year-old woman who patented parachuteless diving from airplanes by using gas-filled balloons inside the airman's suit and invented an unsinkable boat is worried American firms might be using her patent for a safety spring-mattress automobile design, youth magazine "Mladý Svet" reported.

 READY MIX CONCRETE

News of Big Spring Business and Industry

4-A Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Aug. 10, 1972

Concrete Vault Prevents Sunken Grave

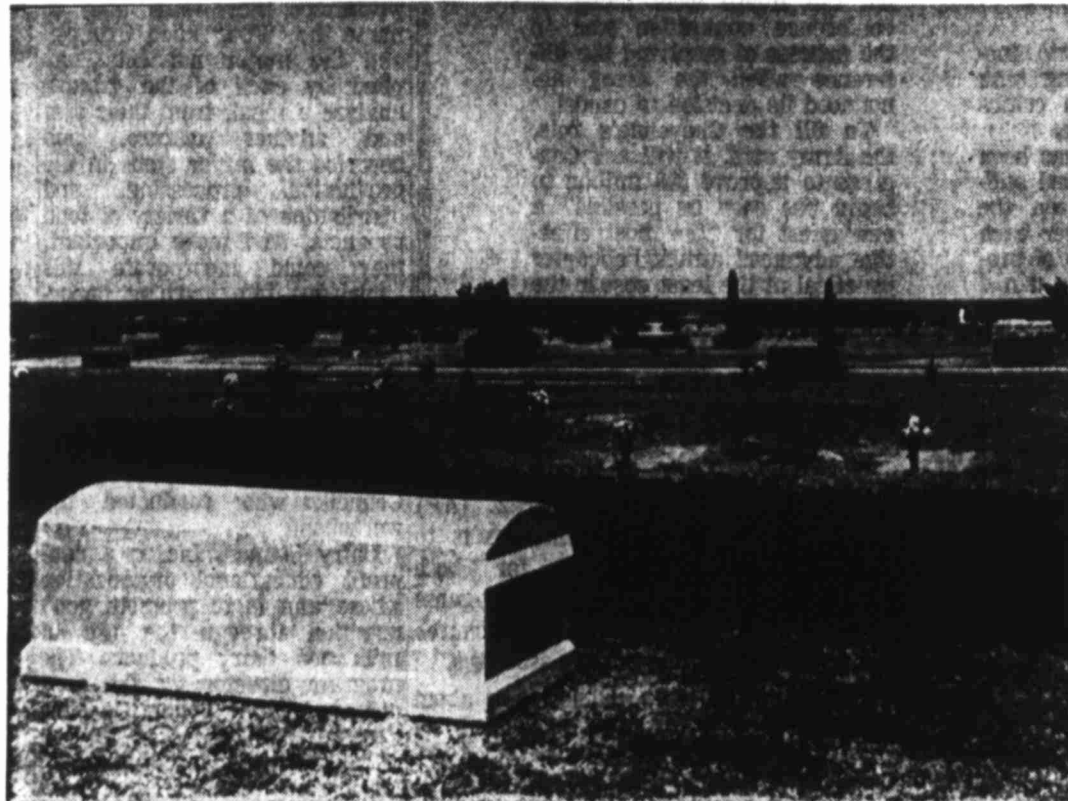

More and more people in Big Spring and the surrounding area are realizing the necessity of concrete burial vaults. In strength and durability it is equal to or superior to all other types except, perhaps, solid copper. Concrete provides a less expensive construction than most other materials, but rates high in quality.

Trinity Memorial Park is one of the largest constructors of concrete vaults between Fort Worth and El Paso. Trinity vaults are built of concrete, reinforced with steel, and waterproofed during mixing.

Dense concrete with a strength of more than 4,000 pounds per square inch is the product of vault engineering over the past 10 years. Tests have indicated that the strength of the concrete mixture increases with age.

The durability and increasing strength of concrete makes it a popular choice as material for burial vaults from the viewpoint of both the funeral director and the cemetery operator. The use of a vault insures against sunken graves.

A special feature of vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park is the "Air Seal." Any dampness which might occur in the vault from condensation of water vapor or any other possible source can escape; so the interior will remain dry.

CONCRETE VAULTS OFFER PERMANENT PROTECTION

Telephone Co-Op Serves Area Counties

The Wes-Tex Telephone Cooperative is owned and operated by the people in its service area. It was organized 20 years ago and has shown a steady growth from year to year. Presently Wes-Tex can boast of more than 1,300 miles of cable in its seven-county area.

The cooperative offers its members a wide variety of services and special equipment. Special ringing equipment and sound amplifiers allow normal usage of telephone equipment for members who are hard of hearing. Extension units are available in many attractive colors and styles to match decor of any room. Various cord lengths and outside bells can be adapted to the particular home or office situation.

Private lines are available to all members of the Wes-Tex Cooperative, but party lines have continued to be popular in most rural areas. The expense of private line service in outlying areas has maintained the popularity of the party line.

Long distance dialing is yet to come, but is presently in the planning stages.

The Wes-Tex system displays a worth of more than $2½ million with almost a half-million of that resulting from recent improvements and upgrading of the cooperative. More improvements and modernizations will prove Wes-Tex to be, truly, a progressive organization.

Her Cuisine "Programs" Meet All Meal Needs

By BARBARA LORD

"I don't ever diet, but I'm always on a food program," said Mrs. David (Felicie) Logan. "If I start to gain weight, I just begin my program before the problem gets out of control."

Mrs. Logan's "program" calls for high protein foods, and she has a vast array of menus that meet its requirements. She doesn't like the word "diet" because she feels there is a stigma attached that makes people think of bland foods and eternal hunger. Mrs. Logan's "program" menus are delicious, nutritious and filling. Her husband, a doctor at Malone-Hogan Clinic, knows he can count on meals that are healthful as well as tasty. The couple has two children, Victoria, 3½, and Douglas, 14 months.

"I prepare three separate meals every night," said Mrs. Logan. "Douglas has several allergies and Victoria is extremely picky, so their meals are different from ours."

Mrs. Logan avoids the daily hectic routine of deciding the day's menu by making a meal plan for lunches and dinners for at least a week at a time. She uses her collection of cookbooks for both recipes and complete menu suggestions.

"I'm not a gourmet cook," said Mrs. Logan, "but I love to eat gourmet food. Occasionally I'll try something exotic, but it doesn't receive much of a welcome around here."

Mrs. Logan couldn't so much as fry an egg when she got married. She said her father is a good cook, but her mother doesn't enjoy it and she never learned from her. Today, she and her husband both enjoy "creating" in the kitchen.

"Sometimes I just have to get my teeth into something caloric," confessed Mrs. Logan, "but for the most part we don't keep sweets around the house. Victoria lives on apple juice, tomato juice, milk and wieners, and neither of the children care for many sweets."

Mrs. Logan enjoys all aspects of cooking, except cleaning up. When the couple entertains, it's normally for small groups and is very casual.

"When it comes to having people over, I go completely blank on menu ideas," said Mrs. Logan. "Usually it's a spur of the moment invitation when I realize I'm fixing something that's good and if I have enough I call and ask someone over."

The Logans have lived in Big Spring one year. She is a native of Galveston, and he is originally from Kerrville. Both have spent most of their lives in central Texas. Dr. Logan came to Big Spring before his wife and picked out their home at 2917 Macaulan. Today, most of their leisure time is spent making improvements. They have many plans for repainting, carpeting and decorating the home.

Several activities take up

Mrs. Logan's time. She is a member of the Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary, friendship chairman for 1970 Hypertension Club, and president of Newcomers Handcrafts Club. In addition, she enjoys many kinds of arts and crafts work.

"I've been sewing and embroidering for several years," said Mrs. Logan. "I also do a little knitting, but prefer to crochet or to crewel work." Other hobbies include "dabbling" with oil painting, decoupage, antique and candle making.

Mrs. Logan attended business college following high school. She hopes to take college courses in psychology and counseling, and would also like to study interior decorating.

"I don't know if I would want to be an interior decorator or not," said Mrs. Logan, "but it would be a fascinating avocation. I'm sure it would help me with my own home."

Dr. Logan studied internal medicine and hematology at the University of Texas medical branch in Galveston. He also did his internship at Galveston.

ROLL YOUR OWN CHEESEBURGER
A charcoal grill special

Cheeseburger Twist For Hearty Appetites

Summertime brings the cooking out-of-doors. It also accelerates appetites and draws unexpected guests. This, in turn, calls for stretching food supplies. To help you meet this situation, here is a new twist to an old-time favorite — the hamburger — a cheese-beef mixture in the round called the Cheese Lover's Cheeseburger.

This mini meat roll has cheese on the inside. The ground beef is seasoned, formed into squares, topped with a nifty individually wrapped American cheese food slice; then rolled. The edges of each roll are sealed securely so that none of the melting cheese is lost in the cooking. The meal rolls can be made early in the day and wrapped separately in waxed paper, then refrigerated until cooking time.

The rolls can be cooked out doors over a charcoal fire, or in a fry pan. When cooking the cheese-meat rolls on an outdoor grill, their less chance for the cheeseburger to fall through the further roll lines with two adequate into the fire due to its roll shape. No need to turn it — just roll it over to cook evenly on all sides. Once grilled, remove and place each in a toasted hot dog roll which has been lined with two cheese slices. Here is the recipe:

CHEESE LOVER'S CHEESEBURGER

1 lb. lean ground beef
1-3 cup finely chopped onion (optional)
Salt and pepper to taste
15 American cheese slices
5 frankfurter rolls, split and toasted
In medium bowl, combine meat and onion. Season. Divide mixture into five equal portions. On waxed paper, flatten into five 4-inch squares. Place cheese slice over meat square. Roll jelly-roll fashion. Seal edges and ends to completely cover cheese. (The shape will resemble a frankfurter). Place doors over a charcoal fire, or in a fry pan. When cooking the cheese-meat rolls on an outdoor grill, their less chance for the cheeseburger to fall through the further roll lines with two adequate into the fire due to its roll shape.

"My First Cookbook" Teaches Boys Too

Some folks get the mistaken idea that cooking is just for girls. Not so. With the help of their very own cookbook, boys also enjoy cooking and preparing simple dishes.

Imperial Sugar Company knows this and has prepared a special "My First Cookbook" for beginners — girls and boys ages 6 to 12, with ideas for parents to guide their youngsters.

Recipes are presented in large, easy-to-read type in easy-to-follow primer style. This enables the beginner cook to prepare the recipes with little or no adult supervision.

A variety of 28 recipes are in the cookbook, including interesting titles such as "Tiny Turtle Salad," "Mad Hatter's Breakfast," "Quarterback Meatloaf," "Wild West Beans," "Texas Toast" and "Devilish Eggs."

The book is divided into nine sections, including beverages, breads, eggs, main dishes, salads, vegetables, as well as cakes and cookies, candy, and other sweets that children enjoy making.

Let your young helpers start with a simple recipe or the preparation of part of the meal. As cooking skills develop, let them try managing a whole meal occasionally. Later, they may help with meal plans and shopping. This provides an opportunity to acquire growing knowledge of good nutrition and money values.

"Wild West Beans" are typical of the little boy-type recipes included in the book — fun to make, easy, nutritious and delicious.

WILD WEST BEANS

You Will Need:
2 No. 2 cans pork and beans
½ cup chopped onions
½ cup cola beverage

Readers may obtain a copy by sending name, address and zip code with the red pure cane block marked "Pure Cane" cut from any Imperial Sugar package to Imperial Sugar Company, Sugar Land, Texas 77478. MRS. RANDY CARROLL NICHOLSON

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Diana Lea McMillan and Randy Carroll Nicholson were united in marriage at 6 p.m. Saturday in St. Ann's Catholic Church, Midland. The Rev. Frank Montalbano officiated. The couple stood before an altar decorated with white gladioli and purple spider chrysanthemums. Spiral brass candelabra held white cathedral tapers.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jack McMillan of Midland, and Nicholson is the son of Mrs. Jean Nicholson, 1425 E. 6th, and R. P. Nicholson, 1601 Vines.

The bride wore a formal-length gown of white chantilly lace styled with fitted bodice and softly-gathered skirt which was belted with grosgrain ribbon. A lace ruffle extended from the Victorian neckline to the hemline, and the bodice featured full bishop sleeves with deep cuffs. Her illusion veil was edged with a lace ruffle and fell from a bonnet accented with a grosgrain bow. She carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis with white ribbons.

MAID OF HONOR
Miss Katie McMillan served her sister as maid of honor, and Mrs. John Epley of Denton was matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Ann Nicholson, the bridegroom's sister and Miss Sandie Penn.

The attendants wore lavender dresses of Daeron voile fashioned with fitted bodices and softly gathered skirts. Deep purple satin belted the waistline. Lace ruffles edged the standup collars and long sleeves. They carried nosegays of yellow daisies, gypsophila, blue cornflowers, statice and purple carnations.

The bridegroom's groomsmen were Dick Nicholson, the

AT BIG SPRING HIGH SCHOOL Details HECE Program

Homemade ice cream and cake were served at a patio party Tuesday for members of the Business and Professional Woman's Club. Mrs. Charles Summers, 1812 Benton, was hostess.

Miss Helen Willard, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. John Annen, who outlined a new high school program, HECE (Home Economics Cooperative Education) which she will be coordinating.

Mrs. Annen said the nationally recognized program has been introduced in 200 Texas schools. It is similar to the established Distributive Education program, except that it is related to all phases of home-making. The program will be operated by the Home Economics Department at Big Spring High School this fall. Students are trained in class for two hours each morning, and then will be allowed to hold jobs during other hours. The high school staff is now attempting to locate jobs for the girls which relate to food, clothing, child care, housing, nursing care, etc. The students will be available to work in such places as food establishments, hospitals, nursing homes and retail stores.

"We try to instill imagination and initiative in the students," said Mrs. Annen.

Mrs. Summers announced that the club will host a picnic at Comanche Trail Park at 6:30 p.m., Sept. 12 for 75 Big Spring State Hospital patients. Mrs. Mamie Roberts is chairman of this event.

Guests were Miss Roberta Gay, Mrs. Rozelle Dohoney and Mrs. Leslie Lloyd. The next meeting will be Aug. 28 at Coker's Restaurant.

Fall Schedule Set By Bridge Club

Four tables were in play during La Gallinas bridge Wednesday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club. Winners were Mrs. Ollie Anderson and Mrs. R. Boykin, first; Mrs. Henry Bell and Mrs. John Turner, second; and Mrs. Delnor Poss and Mrs. Harold Davis, third.

The group will meet for its last summer schedule meeting at 1 p.m., Wednesday at the country club. The following week the women will begin the fall schedule and meet at 10 a.m., Friday, Aug. 25 at the country club.

It was also announced a couples duplicate bridge session is scheduled at 8 p.m., Aug. 18 at the country club.

Women Discuss Purpose, Goals

The goals and purpose of Past Matrons Club, Big Spring Chapter 67, Order of Eastern Star, were discussed at a dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Downtown Tea Room. The women agreed their purpose is to support endeavors of Chapter 67, OES, and "to keep fellowship with others with whom they share common interests."

Mrs. Wayne Parrish presided, and hostesses were Mrs. Lester Wise, Mrs. Dalton Mitchell and Mrs. Carl McGlothlin.

Table decorations included greenery and shells from the South Sea Islands, provided by Mrs. McGlothlin.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Sept. 12 at the Tea Room.

Friendship Club Honors Member

The birthday of Mrs. W. M. Gage was observed Tuesday during a meeting of the Friendship Breakfast Club at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Frank George was hostess and introduced two guests, Mrs. Clayton Bettie and Mrs. L. A. Holley.

During the meeting each member presented a thought concerning friendship. The next meeting is scheduled at 9 a.m., Sept. 12 at the restaurant.

Marines Clear Southern Sector Of Quang Tri City

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces made their first gains in Quang Tri in two weeks, clearing the southern sector and knocking out 14 tanks to the southwest of the city, but they suffered heavy casualties in a major enemy attack in the central highlands, field reports said today.

A large North Vietnamese force heavily shelled a government militia group of about 300 men in the highlands Wednesday night, 20 miles southwest of Pleiku and 15 miles from the Cambodian border.

10 MISSING
The militia troops lost radio contact with rear headquarters and retreated from their defensive positions, losing 15 men killed, 10 missing and 20 wounded, field reports said. The government troops later regrouped.

There was no firm count on enemy casualties but field officials estimated as many as 100 North Vietnamese may have been killed by air and artillery strikes.

North Vietnamese forces also drove about 100 militiamen from a nearby hamlet in a simultaneous but smaller attack. Initial reports said two government troops were killed, one missing and two wounded.

On the far northern front, only isolated snipers remained in the southern sector of Quang Tri but a 400-man enemy battalion held firm in the northern half of the city which includes the Citadel, field reports said.

TANKS DESTROYED
A communique issued at northern military headquarters in Hue said four supply trucks were destroyed by South Vietnamese bombers during a three-hour bombing raid six miles southwest of the provincial capital. The raid also knocked out the 14 tanks and killed 15 enemy, the communique said.

Associated Press photographer Koichiro Morita reported from Quang Tri that the marines advanced to the river that forms the southwestern boundary of the city. It was their first progress in two weeks.

Morita said that marine units in both the southern and northern sectors were receiving heavy mortar fire from North Vietnamese troops on the opposite side of the Thach Han River.

One marine unit fought within 500 yards of the Citadel and claimed killing 61 North Vietnamese Wednesday. Five marines were reported killed and 39 wounded.

FIGHTING ERUPTED
Fighting erupted on all sides of the city, and U.S. bombers

President's New $500,000 Auto Back In The Shop

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. would rather not call it a recall — having the President's brand new $500,000 car back in the shop here.

Officials said it is more like sending a suit back to the tailor for alterations.

But something about the five-ton black armor-plated Lincoln Continental limousine doesn't fit. Although no one is saying what, Ford and the Secret Service agree that President Nixon will not get his new car until the bugs — or possibly moths — are worked out.

William Peacock, Lincoln-Mercury Division spokesman, said the car was taken to Washington, inspected, and sent back.

"It has nothing to do with mechanics," Peacock said. "It's one of the design features that had been put in this car specifically. They (the Secret Service) want some changes made."

SENSATIONAL CAPER Former Mayor Denied New Trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Former Pasadena, Tex., mayor Sam Hoover, was denied a new trial Wednesday by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a split decision.

The federal court ruling reversed an earlier opinion by a three-judge federal panel which ordered a new trial for Hoover, now serving time on a conviction of master-minding a sensational robbery in Houston in 1964.

The entire 15-member appeals court took part in the latest ruling and issued a 100-page decision. Six judges dissented and another dissented in part.

The appeals court, saying seldom has it considered "a more spectacular or bizarre case," noted that Hoover, a well-known criminal attorney, was found guilty "in Texas state court of being the mastermind and accomplice in an especially brutal and horrible assault and robbery."

Hoover contended that his constitutional rights were violated because of what he called an illegal search and because the trial judge allowed an oral confession by another man to be entered into evidence.

Hoover is currently serving a 60-year sentence imposed in Criminal Dist. Court in Harris County.

The charges grew out of a robbery at the home of Mair Schepps in Houston on March 11, 1964. The appeals court included in its ruling a written confession by John Oscar Young in which he said the robbery was aimed at $300,000 they had heard was kept at home by Schepps, whom he called a "bookie."

The confession said three men—not including Hoover—broke into the home but did not find the money. It said they tortured Mrs. Schepps with an electric cord and shot her in the leg. Several household items were stolen.

Walt also has been active in band, football, tennis and worked on the yearbook staff at Stanton High, where he graduated in May. He also has been active in youth work at First United Methodist Church. In the autumn he will enroll at McMurry College.

Nashvillians Helping Mean Thief Victim

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Nashvillians have donated more than $800 to replace the $225 taken from a woman as she slept outside her husband's hospital room where he is confined with a terminal illness.

"I just don't know what to say," she said tearfully after being told of the donations.

Mrs. Alfred Warren, who lives in Shelbyville, south of Nashville, fell asleep early Saturday while keeping a vigil at St. Thomas Hospital where her husband is in the coronary care unit.

She awakened to find that someone had taken her last $225 and her husband's watch. The Warrens have five dependent children, a stack of unpaid bills and no groceries at home.

Hospital staffers chipped in $100. The total climbed to $837 as donations continued to be received at the hospital information desk.

After a story on the woman's plight moved nationally on news wires, a man from Kansas City called Nashville to offer $100 to the woman. There also were inquiries from Chicago about where to donate.

The largest donation was $225 from W. R. Queen, a Nashville tree surgeon. Along with his check, he sent a quotation from the Bible:

"Let him that stole steal no more: but let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth." (Eph. 4:28).

$1.5 Million Damage Suit

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mrs. Jean Davis Parrish of Lufkin, Tex., filed a $1.5 million damage suit Tuesday against the city of New Orleans in connection with the death of her husband.

Benjamin L. Parrish was killed and 18 others were injured last April 6 when struck by a stolen car speeding through the Bourbon Street pedestrian mall.

Mrs. Parrish was injured critically by the car which was driven by two youths at speeds estimated at more than 40 miles an hour.

Mrs. Parrish sought damages for the death of her husband, her own injuries and on behalf of her children.

GRADUATES — Judy Spivey Boberg is among the 108 persons who will graduate Friday from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spivey, 1301 Madison, and will receive her BBA degree.

Versatile Robot: It Could Spy From High Or Bomb Enemy Low

By FRANK MACOMBER
Military-Aerospace Writer
Copley News Service

The U.S. Air Force is preparing to test unmanned, remotely piloted airplanes that could spy on the enemy from high altitudes or move in swiftly to drop bombs on his troops and strategic installations.

Further down the road the Air Force envisions a comparatively low-cost pilotless fighter plane that can knock an enemy's manned fighters out of the sky — guided electronically either from a remote flying command post or from the ground by pilots many miles from the scene of combat.

PROMISING

The RPV — remotely piloted vehicle — in the view of Air Force officials has two major advantages over manned combat aircraft. It would reduce the great loss of life among bomber and fighter-bomber pilots and the heavy prisoner-of-war toll like that being suffered by the United States in North Vietnam.

And it would cut sharply into the tremendous costs of losing expensive manned planes shot down by antiaircraft missiles and guns.

Air Force Undersecretary John L. McLucas, reflecting the service's growing interest in RPVs for reconnaissance and combat missions observes: "We can see many promising operational applications for RPVs and share industry's enthusiasm for their increased potential."

COMBAT

"They can help us keep our pilots out of heavily defended areas and they have the potential to serve as command and control or reconnaissance and surveillance vehicles, as well as to perform various strike (bombing) missions."

"And in the distant future they may prove to be feasible for air-to-air (dogfight) combat."

Recently the Air Force used unmanned supersonic planes to drop propaganda leaflets over North Vietnam and is considering the use of remotely piloted bombers for strike missions against Communist targets in North Vietnam.

Simulated bombing runs by pilotless planes already have been successful during tests in this country. So far the faster than sound robot planes have been launched from beneath the wings of a "mother ship," the C130, then parachuted toward earth for recovery by helicopters. But technology is moving swiftly toward an unmanned combat plane that can take off and land on conventional runways.

The Navy, too, is interested in the robot plane, especially in its role as a high-flying spy or reconnaissance aircraft.

enthusiasm over the RPV is reflected in two contracts to speed development of a high-altitude reconnaissance drone prototype under a project called Compass Cope. Teledyne Ryan Aeronautical Co. of San Diego has received a $10.1 million contract and the Boeing Co. of Seattle a $5.6 million pact under the project.

In the new fiscal year which started July 1, the Air Force seeks another $9 million in its research, development, test and evaluation budget for competitive prototype demonstrations for the Teledyne Ryan and Boeing RPVs.

"We place very high value on the lives of our aircrew members," emphasizes McLucas. "We have only to look at the national concern for our POWs and missing in action (in North Vietnam) to realize this fact. Therefore, systems which can help preserve human life must receive a high priority."

Poking Around

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a person goes to the doctor for a physical examination, and the doctor does all this feeling, pushing and kneading around on the abdomen, just what can he feel, determine or diagnose? — A.B.

Maybe he won't discover anything except that you are healthy.

However, looking at and palpating the belly can give a good many useful clues. First, is it flat, round, distended, or bulging at the sides?

Gently touching the surface can reveal spasm or rigidity which occurs as a defensive guard if there is infection within.

Poking in the upper right side may reveal an enlarged liver or tenderness from a cranky gall bladder. In the upper left the spleen is not ordinarily felt — but if it is, it indicates enlargement which could result from liver or blood disorders.

Masses representing tumors may be felt in any quadrant of the abdomen, but usually are in the lower or mid sections.

Appendicitis produces tenderness in the lower right corner. The doctor may press firmly, then raise his hand quickly, as this procedure can elicit "rebound" tenderness found with an infected organ, such as appendix or Fallopian tube.

All sorts of abdominal disorders — ulcers, infected tubes, fibroids, ovarian tumors and a lot of others — will usually reveal themselves with some sort of a clue, after which, of course, more specific tests may then be employed to make certain.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I hope you can help my grandson with a bed-wetting problem. He is nine and very sensitive about it. We have had him to the doctor who prescribed some pills which he explained were more to make him think he was being helped.

My grandson is so upset and so in fear that some of his friends will hear of it. I get him up in the night, and this helps, but he doesn't even remember. I'll do anything to help him, but please do not use my name as some neighbor might suspect. — Mrs. A.B.

Okay, I won't even use your real initials, much less your name.

I'm glad you've had a doctor examine the little fellow to protect against the chance that some physical problem is causing the bed-wetting. Occasionally that is the case, although usually it is a matter of psychology and habit and self-confidence.

Reason he doesn't remember when you get him up at night is that he is so sound asleep.

There are quite a number of tricks and methods that help stop bed-wetting, and sometimes one works and sometimes another does. Instead of trying to list them all now, I suggest you send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my booklet on bed-wetting. It's a problem that usually is solved if you are patient and don't put too much pressure on a child.

If it continues to adult life, that usually means it's a deep-seated emotional problem — but such a case is an exception.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My menstrual cycle is over four months late. I am 15 and never have been troubled with this before. Is this anything to worry about? Do I need to go to a doctor? — Miss S.

Assuming that you aren't pregnant — and these days it isn't smart to assume much of anything — then you are probably experiencing the irregularity which is quite common in girls your age.

If you aren't greatly overweight, or haven't been on a rigid crash diet, and you haven't noticed any other symptoms of anything wrong, then I would wait a bit longer before worrying about it. It probably will adjust itself in its own good time.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald Make Menopause Easier™ — 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

VA Offering Tips On GI Schooling

The Veterans Administration today reminded college bound veterans that they should contact VA as soon as possible to avoid unnecessary delay in their monthly education allowance checks.

Jack Coker, director of the Waco VA regional office offered these additional tips for veterans looking forward to getting started in college:

"The veteran should request a certificate of eligibility from the nearest VA office. VA will send two copies of the certificate, which must be submitted to the school. The school will endorse one copy and forward it to the VA Regional Office," he said.

The VA official strongly suggested that the veteran check back with the school to make certain the certificate has been forwarded. This is to help insure that the veteran starts receiving monthly education allowance checks promptly.

Opening lead: King of ♣

When South opened the bidding with one heart, West chose to make a takeout double, even though he did not have support for clubs. He was reluctant to overcall on his four card spade suit and the double would present his partner with an opportunity to respond in spades if he held four. There was an element of risk involved and with less favorable vulnerability conditions, we might be inclined to risk the overcall as the safer course of action.

North redoubled, holding the equivalent of an opening bid himself. East passed the decision back to his partner now that he was relieved of the obligation to respond. West retreated to one spade and North freely bid two hearts. When South rebid two hearts, North offered a delayed raise. South had the option to pass at this point, but he elected to carry on to game, holding slightly more than a bare minimum.

West opened the king of spades and when he observed a doubleton in dummy, he promptly switched to the nine of hearts to prevent declarer from ruffing a spade.

South realized that it would be futile to play a second spade, for surely the opposition would then remove North's last trump. The fate of the contract appeared to hinge on a successful club finesse and inasmuch as West had made a takeout double originally, it was reasonable to presume that he was more likely than his partner to hold the queen of clubs.

The king of hearts was played at trick two and three more rounds of trumps were drawn to clear the opposition of that suit. A small club was led next, West played the six and the jack was put in from dummy. When East showed up with the queen, a spade return enabled West to cash two more tricks in that suit and thereby set declarer by one.

South's contract did not actually hinge on a successful club finesse, but rather, on a three-two division in that suit—which is the normal expectation. Relying on this, he can cinch his contract after playing dummy's king of hearts by merely leading a small club away from the dummy.

East will presumably put up the queen, but since there is still a trump left in the dummy, the defenders can cash only one more spade trick. If East shifts to a diamond when he is in, South plays the ace, draws the remaining trumps and then crosses over to the king of clubs to run that suit. He can discard one spade and the queen of diamonds on the long clubs and give up a spade at the end.

In all, declarer takes five hearts, one diamond, and four clubs.

$25,000 GOP Mystery Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $25,000 mystery check which was deposited in the bank account of a man accused of burglary at the Democratic party headquarters has added to "a growing source of embarrassment" for many Republicans, The Washington Post said Wednesday.

The Post said Maurice Stans, the finance chairman for President Nixon's re-election campaign, has acknowledged receiving the check, but said it was exchanged for $25,000 cash and he didn't know what happened to the check after that.

Stans said the cash was deposited in the Nixon campaign treasury.

However, the Post said the General Accounting Office, which is auditing the Nixon campaign books, has found no evidence that the $25,000 was reported as a contribution by the Nixon campaign organization, or that the money was expended for campaign purposes.

Failure to report either contributions or expenditures after April 7 is considered a violation of the new federal elections law. Stans, a former secretary of Commerce, reportedly received the check on April 11 from Kenneth W. Dahlberg, the Midwest finance chairman for the Nixon campaign.

The cashier's check, drawn on a bank in Boca Raton, Fla., was made out to Dahlberg, who said it represented various campaign contributions.

The Post said the check ended up in the account of Bernard L. Barker, one of five men charged with burglary in connection with the break-in and suspected bugging attempt of Democratic party headquarters here on June 17.

Stans is reported to have told federal agents that he turned the check over to campaign treasurer Hugh W. Sloan Jr., and it next went to G. Gordon Liddy, finance counsel of the campaign. Liddy, Stans said, then exchanged the check with someone else for $25,000 cash.

Sources told the Post that Stans provided no explanation on why the check was not deposited directly into the campaign account. He also said he did not know who provided the $25,000 cash.

Both Sloan and Liddy have left their posts since the break-in at Democratic headquarters. Sloan resigned for personal reasons, while Liddy was fired for refusing to answer FBI questions in the case.

Takes Flyer On Eagleton

LIBERTY, N.Y. (AP) — David Friedland, a 40-year-old grocer with a speculator's streak, has taken a flyer on 7-000 McGovern-Eagleton bumper stickers, 100,000 tab pins and 99,000 buttons.

He bought up the full inventory of McGovern-Eagleton advertising items last week from Votes Unlimited, a subsidiary of Ross Industries of Ferndale, N.Y. The inventory also included 1,000 pens and 1,000 catalogues listing available McGovern-Eagleton artifacts.

Ross Industries said it was glad to get rid of the stuff. Since Sen. George McGovern dropped Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate, the Ross switchboard had been swamped with calls asking to buy.

Useless as campaign goods, the Eagleton supplies suddenly had become collector's items. Ross sold the batch to Friedland at an undisclosed price so the firm could handle regular business — campaign materials with a new set of names.

"I'm a collector of sorts," said Friedland. "I took a gamble that it would become a collector's item."

Add Two Parties To Texas Ballot

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — La Raza Unida and the Socialist Workers Party will be on the Texas general election ballot, but the American party will need help from the courts to make it.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock said the two parties his office certified for the November ballot each turned in petitions with more than the 22,365 signatures required by law.

The American Party petitions contained only 7,000 names, and the party has asked for a court order extending the deadline for collecting signatures until Sept. 1.

Bullock said that his office attempted to make spot checks on the validity of the petitions, but gave it up as too time consuming.

"This office did not check the signatures of the American Party in 1968, and now I know the reason why the legislature did not require to make the check. They evidently foresaw the immense amount of time and staff that would be required for such a task," Bullock said.

Council Turns Down Request

LAMESA — A request for a rent supplement for Brentwood Village Apartments was again denied in a city council meeting Monday. The rent supplement would have been provided by the federal government.

The complex was sponsored by the Woodmen of the World of Big Spring as a non-profit project, and was built to FHA and Urban Development specifications. It theoretically has a minimum base rate paid on an adjusted income, but because of a mistake made by the Federal Housing Administration in fair evaluation, no one can qualify for base rate.

The apartment rentals have not been able to make mortgage payments, so officials have asked for federal rent supplement.

The first request was rejected at the beginning of the year. The second was tabled to allow the public time to express its feelings at the Monday meeting. No one did.

Rent supplement was designed for the elderly, handicapped and those with substandard housing.

Each of these categories is eligible to rent at one fourth the monthly income or one third the base rental price. The federal government would absorb the difference.

Ben Bancroft, Big Spring attorney; Ben Faulkner, representing Brentwood; and two Housing-Urban Development officials, Ray Mitchell and Jim Rink, were present for the request.

Dance To Benefit Disease Fight

La Raza Unida listed its candidates as Ramsey Muniz of Waco, former Baylor football player, for governor, and Flores Amaya of San Antonio for U.S. Senator.

The party also will have 11 candidates for state representative, one for the state senate, and four for the state board of education on the November ballot.

The Socialist Workers Party has announced that its candidate for governor will be Debby Leonard, with Richard Garcia running for U.S. Senator.

At the invitation of the Brotherhood Association of Webb Airmen (BABA), Dr. Marion Brooks, chairman of the Sickle Cell Anemia Association (SCAA) of Texas, will be attending the fund-raising dance Saturday night. The dance featuring Scotty and the Sixth Degree is open to all base personnel and the public at the NCO club, and is being held to collect money for SCAAT. These money is to be used in the education of people about Sickle Cell Anemia and the neverending search for a cure.

Dr. Brooks, voluntary chairman of the SCAAT, will be here to accept the donation, and meet with anyone interested in finding all they can about the disease. This may be done on an individual basis or as a group.

Dr. Brooks, is a graduate of Prairie View A&M, Prairie View, Texas and the Howard Medical School, Washington D. C. He is also a member of the board of Community Action in Fort Worth and the Better Influence Association.

Easy Pickings: Crooks Find Gold In Credit Card Swindles

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copy News Service

WASHINGTON — The latest type of swindler to gain notoriety is the credit card crook.

To many people the credit card is a reflection of achievement and financial security.

'PLASTIC MONEY'
Unfortunately, the same feature has also made the small plastic card more attractive to the criminal. As the key to a treasure chest of almost unlimited products, services and funds, the new "plastic money" is as eagerly sought by the crook and confidence man as by the honest consumer.

In fiscal year 1971, U. S. postal inspectors investigated 1,128 mail-related cases involving the theft and fraudulent use of credit cards.

PUBLIC LOSS
Inspectors estimated the public loss attributable to these fraudulent schemes, many of which operated over a period of years, totaled $317,765,695.

That same year 436 credit card violators were convicted and sentenced to a total of 352 years in federal and state prisons.

The Postal Inspection Service has released details of some major swindling operations.

One conviction of particular interest to credit card companies, law enforcement officers and owners of small businesses in Southern California, occurred in U. S. District Court at Los Angeles on June 17, 1971.

BOLD SCHEME
On that date James Lee Stockwell, 33-year-old Alhambra, Calif., resident, was convicted on 20 charges of mail fraud and use of fictitious names, stemming from the unlawful acquisition and misuse of credit cards. From March, 1967 to April, 1969, Stockwell defrauded at least 25 credit card companies of an estimated $175,000.

Stockwell wrote a book on credit card skulduggery.

His scheme was simple and bold. He specialized in obtaining credit cards by mailing falsified credit applications to issuing companies under aliases, and also in the names of real persons without their knowledge.

He not only used the cards himself, but allowed alleged underworld associates to use the cards to obtain goods and services without making payment.

Large quantities of liquor, automotive parts, color TVs and even firearms were purchased, sold or fenced at discount prices by Stockwell, with the profits invested in other organized crime ventures.

BANK VICTIM
Postal inspectors began their investigation of Stockwell or Nov 13, 1968, when Texaco and Diner's Club security officers accused him of defrauding their companies. The investigation soon expanded after inspectors found that many other credit card firms, including one major bank which lost $25,000, were among his victims.

Until the time of his credit card operation, Stockwell had been known to police as a relatively small time hoodlum. But, after going into a small truck fabrication business with Thomas M. Polich in August, 1966, at Van Nuys, Calif., he soon graduated to more elaborate criminal activities.

The stage was set when Polich invested his savings and excellent credit standing in Stockwell's business. He allowed Stockwell, then known to him as James Lee Requene, to manage the company.

Several months later, through Stockwell's insistence, the honest Polich used his personal credit to acquire a credit card for business use. As arranged, all bills and invoices were mailed to Polich's home.

$3,000 DEBT
A short time later, Stockwell prevailed upon his partner to obtain an additional card on the company's account, but this time in Stockwell's alias, James Lee Requene. In addition, Stockwell forged his partner's signature to a credit card application for Mrs. Polich and requested all billings to be mailed to his address.

When Stockwell took control of the company credit account, the amount owed was $40. By the time the credit card company began sending out collection notices, the debt had grown to over $3,000.

Simultaneously, Stockwell expanded his operation and secured large quantities of cards from other credit issuers, still using Polich's name.

BANKRUPT
When Polich eventually realized he had been swindled, it was too late. His business was bankrupt, his credit rating was ruined and even some of his wife's personal holdings had to be liquidated to satisfy the claims of his creditors.

While collection agencies confronted the unfortunate Polich for payments, it was business as usual for Stockwell. He continued collecting as many credit cards as he could under the aliases of James Lee Raquene and James Lee Casino.

NO PROPERTY
Using the same techniques, he continued to accumulate cash through the sale of illegally acquired goods for several months before these credit lines were cut for nonpayment of bills. Ironically, because Stockwell was unemployed and owned no property, the victimized companies could not recoup any of their losses.

When the credit card market dried up, Stockwell sought new money making opportunities. Buoyed by a false sense of immunity from the law, he began financing various other businesses with the profits from his credit card scheme.

Surrounding himself with gun-carrying associates, Stockwell then strong-armed his way to control of some five topless and bottomless bars in Southern California.

TOPESS UNION
In a move to control the bulk of the area's semirude entertainment business, he next tried to organize a 1,400-member topless-bottomless union, with potential monthly gross of $60,000.

Silvers Is Ill, Show To Close

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Silvers is ill, meaning apparent doom for "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Silvers, who co-stars with Larry Blyden in the musical remake of the 1962 production, has been in St. Clare's Hospital for a week.

An understudy has been filling in for Silvers and Tom Poston is expected to takeover the part tonight.

But management on Monday posted a closing notice effective Saturday.

Hubby Engaged!

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a Navy man for three years. We have a darling baby. I thought we had a good marriage until last week when I flew home to see my parents in West Virginia. I sat next to a pretty blonde girl on the plane and we started talking. She told me her fiancé was on "The ship" and she named the ship. That was the ship my husband was on. Then she showed me his picture and I nearly fainted.

Her "fiance" was my husband! I couldn't contain my amazement, so I told her. Then it was her turn to nearly faint. The poor kid started to shake and cry and I had to calm her down. We spent the rest of the flight comparing notes. Abby, my husband was such a clever liar. He had this girl friend for over a year and I never suspected a thing.

The girl said she would never see my husband again and I believe her. I'm not sure how to handle this. I still love him, and there's the baby to consider. What should I do? I don't think I could ever trust him again.

HURT IN SEATTLE
DEAR HURT: Tell him you know about the "fiancee" and ask him if he's ready to settle down and be a proper husband and father. One swallow doesn't make a summer, and one escape doesn't ruin a marriage forever. Give him another chance, and don't mention it again.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that it is considered bad manners to tip the owner of the shop even if she has done your hair, so I never do. But how about when you aren't sure if the hairdresser is a manager or if she is in on the profits? I once asked, "Do you accept tips," and the girl turned red and sniggered around and I didn't know what to do.

Another time, when I tried to tip a hairdresser (a man) and he raised his eyebrows and arrogantly said, "Pub-leeze, I own this shop!"

I never know what to do. Help—
IN DOUBT
DEAR IN: When in doubt, offer a tip. For every "pub-leeze," you'll get 100 "thank you's."

DEAR ABBY: We are three couples who enjoy going out for dinner together. When we go to a restaurant, we always divide the check up into thirds and it has always worked out fine.

Lately, however, this one

Walter Brennan Money Chairman

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Walter Brennan will be finance chairman for the American party's presidential candidate, John Schmitz.

Brennan, 78, said the California GOP Congressman "is one candidate who is not committed to the big money establishment that dominates both the old political parties."

Schmitz, defeated for renomination in President Nixon's home district, was nominated at the third party's convention in Louisville, Ky., last week.

couple seems to go overboard, fancy desserts, and more expensive dinners than the rest of us. We like this couple a lot and don't want to lose their friendship over this; but we don't like the extra expense.

Any suggestions? X Y AND Z
DEAR X Y AND Z: When you order, ask for separate checks. Your friendship will last longer if you eliminate the cause of resentment.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.
