The nomination comes tonight. Nixon makes his appearance Wednesday night to

Predictably, the platform is rich in praise of Nixon, vigorous in denunciation of the Democrats, and promising of even better days ahead should the voters return Nixon and Agnew to office

TROUBLE?

Unhappily to GOP leaders, however, there are scatterings of delegates who would like to make some changes - and may try to do so from the floor in full view of the voters.

But a larger potential for trouble, the allocation of seats for the 1976 convention, appeared to have dissipated. Bigstate Republicans evidently were prepared to accept defeat rather than take a lost cause to the convention floor.

While different party factions and potential 1976 presidential hopefuls such as Agnew and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois concentrated on the GOP's post-Nixon era, the convention proceeded along its carefully constructed path toward the main 1972 business: renomination of Nixon tonight and Ag-

Bible Fund Up To $520

A number of old friends, and several new ones, remembered the Big Spring High School Bible Fund drive, money from which will be used to pay the instructor and other expenses in the course to be taught at the local high school.

The Howard County Ministerial Association, which is coordinating the drive, reminded its friends that tax funds can be used for the bills which accrue and the fate of the course depends entirely on donations from its friends.

Monday's donations varied from $25 to $5 and totaled $180, bringing the two-day aggregate

An individual who preferred to be identified only as "Willing Worker, Baptist Temple Church, donated $10, all in change -$1.10 of it in pennies. The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, chairman of the drive, says the campaign could use a lot more like that unselfish person.

Much more is needed, and the time is getting short. Contributions should be forwarded either to The Herald or to the Rev. Mr. Hildebrand, care of Wesley United Methodist Church.

new Wednesday night and approval of the party's platform. Reluctance of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland to press a minor dispute over ending the military draft apparently assured unanimous approval of the platform at today's third session.

ONE VOTE Only one vote, captured in the New Mexico primary by Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California, is expected to be withheld from Nixon in tonight's presidential balloting. The 1,348 delegates will vote after the President's name is formally presented by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a longtime rival turned enthusias-

The platform, like most of the speeches to this 30th GOP convention, combines praise of Nixon's accomplishments with attacks on the views of Democratic nominee George McGovern.

McGovern, meanwhile, was in Austin, Tex., for a visit at the LBJ Ranch with former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who recently endorsed the Democratic candidate while acknowledging their differences

on issues. PRAISE TRUMAN

Johnson and another former Democratic president, Harry S. Truman, were praised Monday night by Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, the Republican national chairman, as part of the concerted GOP effort to convince anti-McGovern Democrats to desert their party and back Nixon in November.

Several thousand foot-stomping, banner-waving young Nixon supporters in the spectator stands, breaking often into chants of "Four more years!" and "Nixon now!" hailed each blast at McGovern, showing considerably more enthusiasm than did the delegates on the convention floor. At one point, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe appeared at the rostrum with a resolution, quickly passed by voice vote, which invited the support of disenchanted Democrats. Its approval brought, on cue, a rousing band version of the Democratic theme song, "Happy Days are Here Again."

Though dissent was seemingly confined to the rules battle and McCloskey's doomed effort to seat a New Mexico supporter who would be able to express his views to the convention as well as voting for him, party officials were unable to stick precisely to their carefully drawn time-

A COGENT COMMENT ON CONVENTION ORATORY - Not everybody was turned on by the speakers at Monday night's session of the Republican National Convention, as witness the reaction of Hilda Haden, 19, of Ava, Mo.

Two Female Protesters Label Pat 'Miss Pig'

Two young female protesters briefly and then released her slipped into a Fontainebleau Hotel brunch and one shouted insults at Pat Nixon today while another 150 protesters and 100 young supporters of the President traded taunts outside the hotel

The girls, Fran Cohn, 19, Buffalo, N.Y., and Marsha Monestersky, 20, Boston, somehow eluded scores of police and security officers and ran briefly into the ballroom where Miss Monestersky shouted, "Miss Pig" at the First Lady and guests at the brunch held by Mrs. Nixon.

Officers grabbed Miss

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Monestersky, questioned her outside the hotel where the two women were hailed as conquering heroes by the picketing protesters.

Dozens of police and security officers stood by to keep protesters and Young Voters for the President apart as they staged their respective demonstrations outside the hotel, and a security helicopter hovered overhead.

The demonstrators showed up shortly after Tricia Nixon Cox arrived to attend her mother's brunch and was cheered into the hotel by the Young Voters.

Living Costs Soar Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cost of living rose four-tenths of one per cent last month, faster than any month since February, the Labor Department said

At the same time the department reported that the average weekly earnings of rank-andfile production workers rose eight-tenths of one per cent, twice the increase in consumer prices.

This left an increase of fourtenths of one per cent in buying power for July, the highest rise per cent higher than a year since the department began ago. keeping figures on real earn-

COST OF FOOD

A big increase in consumer prices was due mainly to a sharp jump in the cost of food. This went up a full one per, cent... in terms of the housewife's dollars, which the department said was six-tenths of one per cent more than usual for July.

There was no increase in the average price of commodities other than food. These prices usually drop this time of year, due to summer sales and other factors, so nonfood goods showed a three-tenths of one PRODUCES SERVICES SERVICES SERVICES per cent increase on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The four-tenths of one per cent increase in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Consumer Price Index put the indicator at 125.5 for July. This means it costs $12.55 to buy a cross-section of goods and services that cost $10.00 in 1967.

The largest single price increase was for the group including meats, poultry and fish. These increased 2.8 per cent in July putting them a full 10.1

NEW CARS

This was more than twice the increase for any other food group Many nonfood groups actually decreased in price last month. Apparel fell nine-tenths of one per cent as summer wear went on sale at retail stores. New cars decreased three-tenths of one per cent in price as dealers began discounting 1972 models in anticipation of the arrival of higherpriced 1973s.

On the earnings side, the department figured that workers earned $1.09 more a week in July than in June, for a total weekly pay check of $136.47.

The department said this increase was attributable to a penny-per-hour increase in average hourly earnings and an increase of 12 minutes in the average work week. July's increase in the cost of living means consumer prices were 3 per cent higher in July than a year earlier. But workers' earnings are keeping substantially ahead of that, the department said. Even discounting the effect of inflation on paychecks, workers have 3.5 per cent more buying power on the average than they did a year ago, the Labor Department said

NIXON'S GOAL The department also released some statistics intended to illustrate the behavior of consumer prices under President Nixon's wage and price controls. Consumer prices were shown to have risen at a yearly rate of 2.9 per cent in the 11 months for which figures are available since Nixon declared a freeze on wages and prices Aug. 15, 1971. This is less than one percentage point lower than the 3.8 per cent yearly rate at which prices advanced in the eight months before the wage-price freeze.

However, it is barely within Nixon's goal of getting inflation down to between 2 and 3 per cent by the end of this year.

Students Eye First Holiday

School starts tomorrow and students are already wondering when the first holiday will be. And it really isn't far away Labor Day, on Monday, Sept. 4 is the first holiday and a chance for one last long weekend for the natives.

Things will then grind along for two months before another holiday is in sight, when students get out Nov. 6 while the teachers hold an in-service training day.

The Thanksgiving holidays are Nov. 23-24 and Christmas vacation extends from Dec. 21 through Jan. 2.

Pupils will have another long weekend with holidays Jan. 12 and 15 when the teachers work on their semester records. March 19 will be another inservice holiday for students. Easter holidays are late and extend from April 14 through April 22 and school will be out next May 31 for those who want to mark the day. The Big Spring schools, which

TWO CENTS LOAF

Bread On Verge Of Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bakers, claiming wheat sales to the Soviet Union have triggered higher flour costs, say our daily bread is on the verge of going up two to three cents per loaf.

'The wheat market went ape and the Russian situation added fuel to the fire." said Richard W. Daspit, president of the American Bakers

While he declined to predict flatly what might happen to bread prices, Daspit said the higher flour costs alone add one cent to the cost of producing a loaf of bread. By the time sales commissions and retail markups are added, the increase to consumers could be at least two cents and perhaps three cents per loaf, the bakers say.

Large baking firms will have to seek price increases from the Price Commission but smaller and regional companies can increase prices without government approval

Bakers claim the Soviet Union, which reportedly is buying up to 400 million bushels of wheat to make up deficits from crop losses, are responsible for much of the increase in flour costs. Wheat in Kansas City in mid-July sold for $1.57 per bushel. By last weekend, it was $1.86. Flour at Kansas City sold for $6.70 per one hundred pounds in mid-August compared with $5.40 a year earlier. In early July-before the Soviet deal was known, it was $5.85 per one hundred pounds.

Daspit said it cost a baker about 23 cents last year to produce a loaf of bread. That includes, he said, a cost of about 4 cents per loaf for flour. Flour now costs about 5 cents, he said.

Explosion Kills Six

BELFAST (AP) — An explosion in a customs post in the border town of Newry today killed six persons, police said. They said two of the dead apparently were guerrillas who brought the explosives into the building.

A third man waiting outside in a car drove off when the blast ripped through the concrete

Two other persons were seriously injured. It was the biggest terrorist toll in Northern Ireland since July 31, when three bombs killed nine persons in the village of Claudy, near Londonderry. The six dead raised to 524 the confirmed death toll in Northern Ireland's three years of violence. The customs post is on the main Belfast-Dublin highway, about 30 miles southwest of Belfast and three miles from the border.

Security sources speculated that the guerrillas were carrying a charge of nitro benzene, a highly volatile chemical which the Irish Republican Army is now using extensively. The guerrillas turned to this explosive after British troops captured large stocks of gelignite in the sweeps they have been making since they invaded Roman Catholic areas of Belfast and Londonderry three weeks ago.

First Bale Will Not Win Prize This Year

The prediction of a top crop of 76,000 acres in cotton in Howard County this year was made Tuesday by County Agent Bruce Griffith "if we have a normal frost and not too much wet, cool weather.'

For the cotton farmer, the showers have apparently been a big help up to this point, but they report that they don't want too many more of them now that the cotton is fruited out.

The agent said that insect-wise, the county is almost clear of cotton insects at this time, but that there are some green bugs in the grain sorghum The farmers are hoping against hope for a normal frost this year in early November, instead of the early frost of last season which struck here in mid-October The Chamber of Commerce agreed last year to cease presentation of prizes for the first bale. They agreed that it developed hard feelings among farmers and often was hustled out under unusual conditions. They voted instead to hold an annual barbecue each summer honoring all farmers and ranchers and the first was held this year. Chamber officials agreed that the event was successful and would be continued to show appreciation for the agriculture interests and workers in Howard County.

Charge Of Raping 9-Year-Old Girl

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - A Brownsville youth remained in county jail here today awaiting an examining trial on charges of raping a 9-yearold girl on a Port Isabel beach.

Juan Gonzalez Portier, 17, is accused also of assault and battery against the girl's 7-year-old brother. He was held under $5,000 bond. The alleged attack occurred over the weekend on a sand dune not far from the child's mother. A 14-year-old companion of Portier, alleged to have participated in the assault, was turned over to county juvenile authorities.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) assuring it would be held with-- Sen. George McGovern met today with former President Lynden B. Johnson to discuss campaign strategy and ways to unify the Democratic party for the November election.

McGovern and his vice presidential running mate, Sargent Shriver, flew by helicopter to the LBJ Ranch from Austin, where late Monday might they had a rousing airport welcome from some 10,000 people. LAVISH PRAISE

McGovern used the occasion to heap lavish praise on Johnson, whose Vietnam policies gave McGovern the issue that carried him to the Democratic presidential nomination. Despite that, however, there were strong indications that a cooler-than-expected welcome awaited the Democratic ticket here in the Texas Hill Country. In a move that clearly disappointed some top McGovern aides, newsmen, photographers and even McGovern staffers

McGovern and Shriver scheduled an afternoon news conference back in Austin to report on the meeting, which was to be recorded only by official photographers. There was some confusion, especially among McGovern's staff people, about why newsmen were barred. But McGovern sought to dampen any speculation about the continued coolness between the two, praising Johnson lavishly at an airport rally attended by 8,000 to 10,000 people. "No man in the history of this country has ever done more to advance the education of the children of this country,' declared McGovern, flanked on a runway speaking stand by Shriver and several members of this state's congressional del-

Shortly before taking off for ranch, McGovern was asked if he was disappointed that Johnson was not campaigning for him. McGovern replied that he had not expected Johnson to do this because of his recent illnesses and his retirement from active politics.

How Come We Have To Prod?

The failure of our federal system is exposed when private agencies have to assume the responsibility for protecting the public interest. It should not be left to a group such as Common Cause, for instance, to enforce provisions of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971.

The act was specifically designed to eliminate a loophole in the federal law which permitted big corporations and labor unions to make contributions indirectly to campaigns. The device used was a corporate fund which managed and distributed campaign funds given by executives or employes. This avoided the general prohibition against direct contributions by corporations or labor unions to political causes.

While the Department of Justice looked out the window, Common Cause filed suit against TWR, Inc., a major defense contractor with more than $200 million in government contracts. It attacked the company's TRW Good Government Fund which was being used as a cover for campaign contributions. The company capitulated before the case went to trial, agreeing to dissolve the fund and refund contributions made by execu-

Following this victory, Common Cause is planning to file suits against other defense contractors who are heavily involved in campaign financing. The likely result will be the elimination by civil action of a loophole in the law governing campaign contributions.

Why didn't the Department of Justice take the lead in attacking this obvious violation of law? We do not know. But we do know that in many fields private groups stand ready to protect the public when federal, state and local governments stand mute. It is not exactly what the framers of our Constitution had in mind. But & does testify to the strength and resiliency of the American system.

down Interstate 20 or US 87 and note the number of out-of-state and out of area automobiles. Then ask yourself what this would mean in community benefits if we could stop just a fraction more of them and manage to interest more of them in staying all night, or perhaps a day or so in our area? It would take a mighty good industry

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM I am a Christian and I have a question: should one tithe from a gift of money? The New Testament is not just a book of rules, it is the story of God's love as manifest in the man, Christ Jesus. Of course, there are suggestions and guidelines. For example, in reference to the tithe Jesus said to the Pharisees, "Ye do tithe . . . these ought ye to have done and not to have left the other undone." Matthew 23:23. He did not mention tithing as explicitly as the Old Testament. He taught rather that all things belong to God, and that we are stewards only - not owners. He taught love, compassion and generosity. He said, "Give and it shall be given." Luke 6:38. He taught that our service to God is not compulsory, but voluntary. He taught that real faith is not just a set of rules and rituals, but a thing

Regarding your paying a tithe from a gift. I should think that it would be easier to tithe a gift than money earned by hard labor. Though, I find it a joy to pay the Lord more than a tenth from all sources of income. But, I don't do it just because the Bible demands it. I do it because I am grateful, and because I find joy and pleasure in sharing with God and the work of His kingdom.

month has gone by since the Democrats nominated Sen. George F. McGovern as their presidential candidate. This week the country will witness the approval of President Richard Nixon and Vice President Spiro Agnew as the Republican ticket at the party's national convention at

THERE IS an interest around the world in what Mr. Nixon will say in his acceptance speech about the principles of foreign policy, and also there is a natural desire in this country to learn what he has in mind for domestic problems. Mr. Nixon is dealing with the delicate questions of economic recovery and is fighting inflation, which has required wage and price controls. The nation will want to know how Mr. Nixon views the future and what he feels can be accomplished in the next four years to bring about a more prosperous America and particularly one in which the low-income groups will be better off than they have been in the past.

THE PRESIDENT will seek the election of an increased number of Republicans in the House and in the Senate so that there can be closer cooperation with the legislative body. He has had the help of several Democrats in Congress, and this has offset the defection of a few Republicans. But a President must have a majority in both houses in order to make sure his legislative programs will be adopted.

newspaper? Ask that question of 10 people, and you may get 10 different answers. Tastes in reading (of all kinds) is influenced by many factors. The criteria may depend on past experience, current life style or future goals.

EVEN THE word, "news," has taken on a different connotation in the seventies. Now, when a reader opens up his paper, the question is not "What's in it?" but rather, "What's in it for me?" As always, he's purchasing a product (the presses produce a different model every day) but now he expects more for his money than a chronicle of current events.

He has concerns. He has problems. He has questions. He expects his newspaper to help provide some answers.

What are people thinking about, and what does The Herald's readership want? How does it compare with other parts of the country? Let's consider. Perhaps of most concern to readers of both sexes are problems of the young. The pitiful plight of young people who use drugs (the illegal route of escape), as well as those who strike out in other ways - sending juvenile delinquency and crime rates soaring. People are distressed by disrespect of parents by children and the fact that 70 per cent of crimes are said to be committed by persons not out of their teens.

AND WHAT of the ones who are trying to make their way without enough education? It is not only young high school students who need finances for college, but men who never had such opportunity and must now support a family without the tools of training. Sadder, perhaps, are the increasing numbers of women without marketable skills who, through divorce, death or desertion have become the sole support of children. These people can't do it alone. Who can, and will, help?

There are problems of the aged the ill and the helpless. Some of these are critical areas that need immediate attention. Less critical, but troubling are the problems that arise out of a mobile society, the breakdown of family relationships, the boredom of earlier retirements. There are broken homes among the rich as well as the poor, and 26 per cent of newspaper readers who were polled recently said that marital infidelity is a problem close to them.

DRINKING is another concern. The "legal" manner of escape has made mockery of countless marriages, stolen happiness from children and put part-time killers on highways.

Gambling excesses: one in six fami-World crises: every hour on the

They say no problem is so big that it can't be run away from. But Americans would rather stay and fight it out. They are looking for ideas; ways to wage war against problems that confront us all.

That tends to happen when a conflict emerges between a sitting

President and an ad hoc committee. THE COMPROMISE in question is on the right-to-work laws. The Republican party has never come out for a national right-to-work law. Most of its leaders have taken comfort in the notion that states' rights make it a state rather than a federal matter - the same comfort taken by Sen. George McGovern, who suddenly discovered that states' rights are a dreamy way of disposing of the obligation of taking a position on abortion. But when under Lyndon Johnson Big Labor moved to ride roughshod over the states and forbid right-to-work by repealing Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, the Republican vote went pretty solidly in opposi-

In 1968, the Republican platform strongly reaffirmed (though language somewhat oblique) its dedication to the right of states to make their own decisions on the subject. And the platform went so far as to say, "basic rights of some quately guarded against abuse. We will assure those rights through vigorous enforcement of laws, including the Taft-Hartley Act, and the Landrum-Griffin Act, and the addition of new protections where needed."

Well, they didn't find any new protections during the ensuing four years. What they found was a terrific opportunity to weaken the traditional Democratic party. And the progressive weakening of those ties turns out to be the Republican platform of 1972, where organized labor is con-

I WOULD like to see a President, someday, challenged by a contender in a national television debate a week or two before election day on some point or other in his party's platform reply: "Sorry, I haven't had an opportunity to read my party's platform." Let alone be influenced by it. But somehow the myth of the platform's meaning survives. (Copyright, 1972, The Washington Star, Inc.)

Roller Derby

Art Buchwald

MIAMI BEACH - "Ladies and gentlemen, from our booth high above the Miami Convention Center we bring you the Republican TV Roller Derby. The first event is about to start, featuring the derby teams of NBC, CBS, ABC and PBS floor correspondents. The object of this race is for the news teams to get from one side of the convention floor to the other with their microphones in order to interview Tricia Nixon Cox in the presidential box. The first one who gets there and manages to stick a mike up to Tricia's face wins the

"THE CORRESPONDENTS line up at the starting line. The gavel goes down and they're off! Douglas Kiker of NBC is in the lead, Dan Rather of CBS is pulling up on the inside, Herb Kaplow of ABC has just elbowed NBC's Garrick Utley in the kidney.

"Cassie Mackin of NBC has leaped over three chairs, and now she is out in front. Wait a minute. Kiker has tripped, and Roger Mudd of CBS has tripped over Kiker. Frank Revnolds, the ABC sprinter, has just grabbed Cassie Mackin by the leg, and she has been slowed down.

"Mike Wallace of CBS is making his move now by cutting through the North Dakota delegation - actually he's crawling across their laps. But he's been stopped. Someone is asking for his autograph.

"TOM PETTIT of NBC has suddenly appeared out of nowhere. Pettit is only 50 yards from Tricia. Hold it! Sander Vanoeur of Public Broadcasting is holding on to Pettit's throat. They've disappeared underneath the Alaska delegation chairs.

"Kiker and Mudd are both up again, and they are now neck and neck, not more than 35 yards from the finish line. Kiker has just thrown his mike wire around Mudd's neck, and Mudd is strangling. But wait! John Hart, the CBS man, has kicked Kiker in the shins. Kiker is down on his knees. Mudd is untangling the wire from around his neck. I don't see Cassie Mackin. There she is struggling through the Wisconsin delegation! Her cameraman is now lifting her over to the Minnesota delegation. She can't be more than 25 yards from Tricia. (A.) If you had big ears people would probably talk about them but only so long as what they said got a strong reaction out of you. If you will just pass off their remarks about your nose, if you will smile quietly instead of getting upset at their teasing, they will let it drop.

When you are older you may want to have cosmetic surgery on your nose. But by then you will probably see that it's not that important.

U.S. Blacks To Join In Games Boycott

MUNICH (AP) - The head of Africa's Supreme Council for Sports said today that all black American track athletes have agreed to join Africans in pulling out of the Olympics if Rhodesia competes.

Earlier, Clifford Buck, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said he had received assurances from a number of black athletes that they would compete regardless of the outcome of the Rhodesian-African controversy.

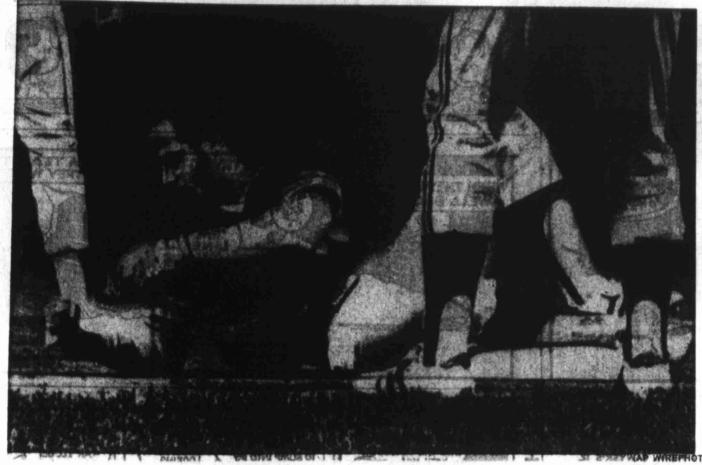

The International Olympic Committee continued to wrestle with the question of what to do about Rhodesia, but a decision was expected today. The IOC Executive Board asked Rhode. sian officials to appear before it again as it struggled for a solution.

THIS WEEK: THE $75,000 (est.) WORLD'S Ruidoso Downs racing season is in the homestretch. This Thursday, don't miss the trials for the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity-great two-year-olds race for the right to run for a $50,000 estimated purse. On Friday, the world's finest two-year-old Quarter Horses battle for a chance to run in Labor Day's All-American Futurity... the Richest Horse Race in the World! And Sunday, there's the excitement of the World's Championship Quarter Horse Classictop horses, three years old and upward, go 440 yards for an estimated purse of $75,000! If you like racing action, come to the cool pines this week! There is only one more week of racing after this!

4 A J 3 The bidding: South West North East 2 A Pass 2 NT Pass Pass Pass Pass Opening lead: King of \Diamond

Lest the reader assume that he has been made the victim of some typographer's whim, let me hasten to reassure him that the bidding sequence not only is reported correctly, but-more to the point-meets with our full endorsement. One of the changes recently made in the system is that the opening demand bid is no longer unconditionally forcing to

This is one of the modifications presented in the new edition of Goren's Bridge Complete which tho it has been on the market barely a year, is already in its third printing.

The opening bid of two in a suit is still forcing on partner and he is expected to bid two no trump if he is unable to make a positive response. A simple rebid in the same suit such as South made in today's hand is however, no longer unconditionally forcing. Had he bid three of a new suit, North would be required to bid again. Over three spades, the latter may use his own judgment. With any excuse for bidding [such as possession of two or three trumps and a possible ruffing value or one or two high cards] esponder should strain to find another call.

With the above hand, North had no reason to carry on once he was relieved of the obligation and when the opener merely rebid three spades on the second round, responder properly West opened the king of diamonds against the final contract and in response to East's encouraging signal, he continued with the three. East played the ace and declarer ruffed. The king of hearts was returned, West followed suit with the three and East won the trick with the ace. West had played the lowest outstanding heart which indicated that he had an odd number of cards in the suit -possibly five. With four hearts, it is proper to signal partner by following with the third best to begin an echo. If South had only two hearts, it was quite likely that they were the kingqueen, especially since he started that suit before playing trumps.

If declarer regained the lead and cleared the queen of hearts from his hand, the question arose in East's mind whether there was a quick entry to dummy. The only card that might conceivably serve this purpose was the ten of spades, so in order to kill this card before it might be utilized, East promptly shifted to a trump.

Observe that if East leads back anything but a spade, South can indeed clear the queen of hearts from his hand, cross over to the ten of trumps and then sluff a club on the jack of hearts to score 10 tricks on the deal.

Declarer won the spade return in dummy, ruffed another diamond and led out all his trumps but one. East held on to his clubs however and in the end, South was obliged to surrender two club tricks. He did end up with 90 points below the line and a clear cut edge toward successful completion of the rubber on the next deal.
