

IN HOUSTON
Kidnaped Son
Returned
To Mother

HOUSTON (AP) — Three-month-old Christopher Kuykendall of Beaumont was the guest of honor here Thursday night but he slept through it all.

Christopher, allegedly kidnaped by his babysitter a week ago, arrived at Houston International Airport in the arms of an FBI agent.

He was met by newsmen and photographers, at least three other FBI agents, a crowd of furious onlookers and his nervous, beaming parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kuykendall.

As the newsmen gathered around and the flashbulbs popped Christopher continued to sleep.

Earlier Thursday, FBI agents picked up Jeannette Marie Bryant, 23, on a kidnaping charge. Agents said she had the baby when arrested at a Salvation Army residence in Little Rock, Ark.

Miss Bryant, originally of Bell Gardens, Calif., was employed by the Kuykendall family as a live-in babysitter Aug. 17, the FBI said. Herbert L. Hoxie, special agent in charge of the Little Rock division of the FBI, said Miss Bryant left the Kuykendall house with the baby the next day and did not return.

Peking Charges Bombers Attack Lifeboat, Kill Five

SAIGON (AP) — Three American fighter-bombers were lost over North Vietnam last weekend, a fourth was downed today and six of the eight fliers are missing, the U.S. Command announced.

This raised losses over North Vietnam to 82 planes and 91 missing airmen since the resumption of full-scale bombing on April 6, the Command said. North Vietnam has announced the capture of more than 20 of the fliers.

The weather over the North cleared somewhat Thursday, and American planes flew more than 310 strikes, the largest number in a week. The Command said its fliers knocked out 25 warehouses, 10 ammunition storage buildings, 15 bridges and 31 water supply craft.

BIG MISTAKE

The Command launched an investigation today into a charge by Peking that American bombers attacked a lifeboat from a Chinese merchant ship off the coast of North Vietnam on Tuesday and killed five men.

Peking termed the attack "a grave provocation against the Chinese people" and called on United States to "guarantee against the recurrence of similar incidents."

Peking said the captain of the ship, a deputy political commissar and three seamen were killed. It claimed that the boat was flying the Chinese flag and that the American planes circled it at low altitude repeatedly "for reconnaissance before the bombing."

The U.S. Command admitted that Navy planes attacked a water craft Tuesday off Hon Ngu Island, 11 miles northeast of the port of Vinh.

This was the location specified by Peking. But while the Chinese claimed that the craft was a lifeboat from the merchant ship Hon Gai No. 151, the U.S. Command described it as a 30-foot water supply craft trying to circumvent the American mine blockade of North Vietnam's ports.

NO EVIDENCE

A preliminary statement from the command did not identify the nationality of the craft. The pilots from the carrier Oriskany who made the attack were being questioned, and operational reports were being checked.

"We have no evidence to indicate that we attacked a lifeboat," said the U.S. statement. "We do not target third country shipping."

Meanwhile, the Saigon command reported some of the heaviest fighting in weeks at Quang Tri.

Predicting He Will Win Really Big In November

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Predicting he will win the November election "twice as big" as in 1968, President Nixon says he wants four more White House years to pursue what he terms a "breakthrough for peace" in dealings with Peking and Moscow.

Nixon spanned the continent Thursday — just hours after accepting renomination by the Republican party at Miami Beach. It quickly became apparent that the convention chant of "Four More Years" will be the official litany if not the announced slogan of his drive to defeat his Democratic opponent, Sen. George McGovern.

Arriving at the Western White House here after dark, Nixon told several thousand devoted well-wishers from Southern California communities where he has lived or studied: "Why do we want four more years? So we can continue to make this breakthrough for peace. I think I have learned how to negotiate. I think I know what we want and what they want. I think I know what steps can be taken. I know that we have to be strong, and yet I know that we have to negotiate."

Before helicoptering to his seaside villa, he recalled to a jubilant throng in San Diego that after his nomination four years ago he had immediately gone to San Diego from Miami Beach.

"This crowd is twice as large as we had in 1968 and we're going to win twice as big in 1972," he declared.

The crowd began chanting, "Four more years! Four more years!"

Nixon, who had spoken earlier in Chicago and in a Detroit suburb, lost no time in directly challenging McGovern on two key campaign issues: defense and busing policies.

Before the American Legion in Chicago, he didn't mention McGovern by name but said if his opponent's defense economies were carried out the United States would be a second-rate power and peace would be imperiled.

In a statement issued upon arrival in Michigan, he called

City Salary Raises Due

City commissioners approved Thursday evening a preliminary city budget during a short budget work-session.

City manager Harry Nagel explained that the budget contains no provision for expected revenue sharing monies. He said the budget was smaller than the actual working budget will be. If revenue sharing is approved by the U.S. Senate, the Big Spring share will be added to the budget. If the federal funding fails, several items, such as street work and equipment will be added to the city expenditures.

Nagel added that minor changes were made in the rate structure although they have not been completely established. An increase in commercial garbage and sewer rates will be affected to correct inequities against residential rates.

He noted that residential sewer rates will be increased by 25 cents per month to adjust sewer income to increased expenditures due to recommendations of the Water Quality Board for improving sewer plant operation.

The Commission also authorized Nagel to announce that city employees will receive salary increases for the coming year. The rate of salary increase is yet undetermined, he said.

Sheriff Indicted

McKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff Tom Montgomery of Collin County and his chief deputy, Joe Florey, were indicted by the county grand jury Thursday night on charges of burglary and theft.

said there is one count alleging said there is one count alleging theft and four alleging burglary and theft against the two men. There are further charges against the sheriff of stealing and embezzling county funds, O'Connell said.

After being arraigned before Judge Tom Ryan at 199th District Court, Montgomery and Florey were to be booked at Dallas County jail. McKinney is about 30 miles north of Dallas.

anew for antibusing legislation and accused the Democratic-controlled Congress of failing to act on the matter. McGovern favors busing as one tool to achieve desegregation, as do many federal courts.

Heavy Rain Falls South Of Town

Torrential rains, accompanied by some light hail, fell between Big Spring and Forsan this morning, stopping traffic along U.S. 87 for a time.

Rains were spotty throughout the area and it showered most of the morning in Big Spring. No rain had fallen at 11 a.m. in Ackerly or on the Vealmoor road.

The rain apparently concentrated in Scurry County, especially around the Country Club where an estimated 3 1/2 inches fell. In Snyder proper, about two inches fell and it was feared for a time that Deep Creek would again cause flooding problems.

O. H. Ivie, general manager for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said he did not anticipate any large runoff into the district's reservoirs, Lake Thomas and Spence. He said there was a bare possibility that Spence might eventually catch 3,000 acre-feet, although there was no way of knowing this morning.

The rains didn't extend very far north and west of Snyder, which means the watersheds of Thomas were missed. The clouds which accompanied a frontal system were such that it would have been inadvisable to seed them, Ivie stated.

Coahoma had a slow rain most of the morning and the high school's agricultural office there measured .4 by about 11 a.m. The fall at Sand Springs was estimated at about a half inch.

The President wrapped up his long and obviously arduous day by riding toward his home here in a golf cart past scrambling well-wishers.

Bible Fund Now $1,412

Although donations to the Big Spring High School Bible Fund picked up in the past 24-hours, they are still far short of the $5,500 needed to insure the success of the drive here.

Today's donations of $462 brought the total up to $1,412. Included in the donations during the past 24 hours was $300 from the East 4th Baptist Church and $25 each from Angelina Shaw, J. W. Carter, and the Business and Professional Women's Club as well as $20 each from J. C. Pickle and E. M. Bailey.

Other donors included E. K. Murdock, Charles R. Dobbs, Friendship Class of Wesley Methodist with $10, Ross Baptist Church, $12, T. K. Price, $15 and Estella Yates with $5.

The Howard County Ministerial Association is serving as coordinator of the drive. Donations can also be forwarded to the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, pastor of the Wesley United Methodist Church, directing the drive. Donations should be made out to the Bible Fund, care of the Big Spring Herald.

Massive Collision

BREDA, Netherlands (AP) — At least 16 persons perished in a fiery chain of death after a tanker truck collided with another truck, exploded and sent an impact through 36 other vehicles groping along a fogbound highway near Rotterdam this morning.

The rush-hour disaster was the worst traffic accident the Netherlands has ever had. Forty persons were hurt seriously.

The line of cars and trucks smashed and jolted or otherwise affected stretched for 10 miles north from the Breda traffic circle at Prinsenbeek.

Double Shooting In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A man and a woman were found shot dead in the back yard of a residence here today and police said it appeared to be murder and suicide.

The victims were identified as Phyllis A. Tipton, a 42-year-old divorcee whose home it was, and Charles Bengier, 47.

Officers said their bodies were near a back fence, the man with a .38-caliber pistol in his hand.

Boy Slain, Abduct Girl

HOUSTON (AP) — A schoolboy was shot and killed with a rifle, apparently by another schoolboy who also abducted a girl in the northwest part of the city today, police said.

The slain boy was George Workman, 16. The abducted girl is Debby Kennedy, also 16. Both were identified as pupils at Sam Houston High School.

The identity of the youth who did the shooting and abducted the girl was not known immediately.

Police quoted Terry Gaskins, 17, as saying he, Workman, the Kennedy girl and another boy were driving to school in one car.

He said another car pulled up alongside and a rifle shot from the car struck Workman.

Gaskins said the youth who did the shooting forced the Kennedy girl at gunpoint to accompany him in his car. They were last seen in the car in a nearby area.

'CEREMONIAL FIGUREHEAD'

Governor Hints Special Session

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith says a legal opinion by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin could strip away so much of the governor's budget prerogative that he would only be a "ceremonial figurehead."

Smith said he may have to call a special session before the legislature meets in 1973 to "correct the problems" caused by the opinion.

chief executive." Martin issued an opinion Wednesday in response to a request by Comptroller Robert S. C. Calvert—that the legislature's custom of authorizing the governor to transfer funds from one agency to another for state business was unconstitutional.

Fund transfers have been a custom for years, and the legislature has even included the authority in the general appropriation bill since 1957, when Price Daniel was governor.

If Martin's opinions are correct, Smith said, "and if action is not taken to grant the governor constitutional budgetary executive powers, the next governor of Texas will be at a severe disadvantage and be faced with almost continual crises and serve only as a ceremonial figurehead."

Textile Talks Lure Locals

Future possibilities of textiles in West Texas was the subject of discussion during a meeting of area Industrial Foundations Thursday in Sweetwater.

The gathering was sponsored by the Texas Industrial Commission, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce.

According to Ron Mercer, manager of Big Spring's Chamber of Commerce, the meeting revealed that the textile industry is centered mainly in the southeastern part of the United States, and that Texas has only 15 textile industries in the state.

There will be a great effort made by the commission on a local and area organizational basis during the coming months to bring more textile industries to the state.

17-Year-Old Is Charged Here

In county jail pending $2,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter is Jerome Franks, 17, Northcrest Apts. No. 8.

Franks was arrested on a charge of burglary at 9:30 a.m. today, by Big Spring Police. He is accused of burglarizing the H. W. Wright Standard Oil Co. distributorship Thursday night of a radio.

A 16-year-old Big Spring juvenile is also in custody in connection with the burglary.

Films Arrive In Abilene

The Mini-Flick films, which were seized in a raid of the Mini-Flick Theater Club at 3163 W. Highway 80, have arrived in Abilene where they are in the hands of the Northern District of Texas federal court according to authorities here.

Sept. 28 is the date set for the hearing in that court on the $450,000 civil suit filed by Jack Burt Kirk of Odessa against Big Spring Chief of Police Vance Chisum, City Manager Harry Nagel and County Judge A. G. Mitchell.

The law suit was in connection with a raid of the theater at which time, patrons were arrested and film and projectors were seized. Kirk claims $150,000 profit lost and $300,000 in punitive damages.

John Wilson, 86, of Havana, Kan., has dug his own grave and one beside it for his wife who is 64.

"It costs $100 just to have the graves dug for us and I have done a lot harder work for a lot less money," explained Wilson.

Scurry County Flood Warning

By The Associated Press

Summer thunderstorms, often laced with hail and threatening to cause flooding in some localities, kept broad areas of Texas under steel today.

The wild weather broke loose late Thursday in northeast Texas, spawning three tornado funnels which menaced areas from near Houston to the Beaumont-Port Arthur area but apparently did no serious damage.

Additional storms erupted in the evening on the opposite side of the state in the east part of the Texas Panhandle, where a tornado watch was in effect for a time. A twister warning went out farther south after one of the funnels touched ground in a rural area of King County near Rochester—but again there was no word of damage.

Severe thunderstorm warnings stayed up most of the night for some sections as the savage storms churned from West and Northwest into North Central Texas. In some places the rate of rainfall was estimated at 3 inches per hour.

Some of the roughest weather was concentrated along and ahead of a cold front which reached as far south as a Fort Worth-Midland line and again was pushing deeper into the state after being forced into retreat.

National Weather Service observers reported more than 1.5 inches of rain descended within an hour before dawn around Snyder in West Central Texas. They issued a flash flood warning for persons in low areas of the county, explaining that moderate to locally heavy showers were expected to continue in that vicinity.

Streams in South Central Texas still ran high, meanwhile, with runoff from deluges 24 hours earlier.

Downpours measuring more than four inches in spots.

Odessa Youth Is Mishap Victim

ODESSA — Donald Wayne Minyard, 19, of Odessa, died as the result of injuries sustained in the wreck of a pickup truck which occurred about 65 miles east of Salem, Oregon, about midnight Tuesday.

Another Odessan, 18-year-old Ricky Wilson, was critically hurt in the one-car mishap. The two were visiting in the Salem area.

Minyard had graduated from Odessa Permian High School last May.

Neglected Artist's Works To Be Seen In Midland

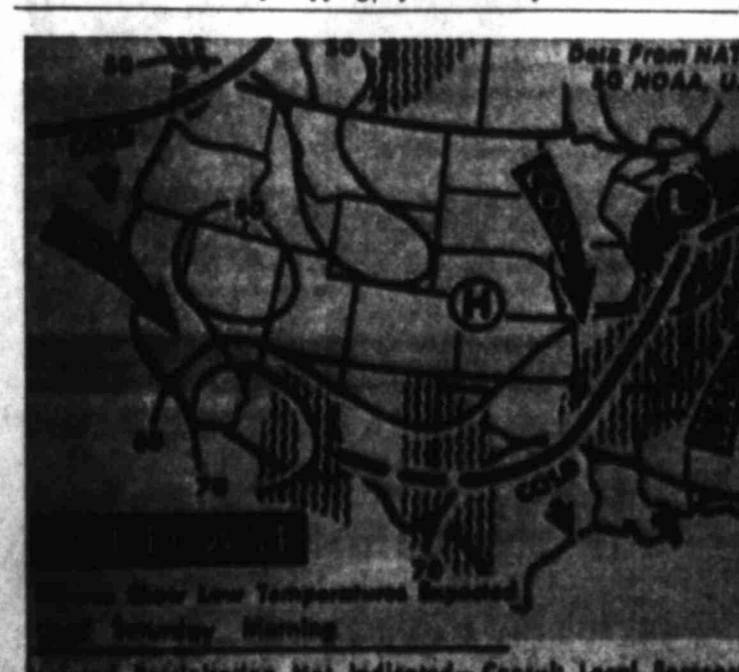

MIDLAND — The Smithsonian National Collection of Fine Arts exhibition of the works of a long-neglected black artist, William Henry Johnson, opens Saturday at the Museum of the Southwest, 1705 West Missouri, in Midland.

Johnson failed to make his mark with American collectors and critics during the active period of his lifetime. That he was black does not provide the whole explanation. Possibly the problem was that, quite innocent of the need to ally himself with one or another trend in a trend-conscious world, he followed his own personal and eccentric way which seemed conservative to the avant-garde and overly bold to the watch dogs of draughtsmanship.

He should be regarded as a painter who, in his relatively short career, recognized the complexity of his spiritual background and found solace rather than despair in the expression of its diverse promptings.

Born in Florence, S.C., March 18, 1901, Johnson was of mixed ancestry. His mother was Negro, perhaps part Sioux Indian, and his father was white. Shortly after Willie's birth, his mother married and had two more sons and two daughters. The stepfather became a cripple, forcing Willie's mother to serve as a mainstay for the family of seven.

Willie's schooling was somewhat delayed and intermittent since, as the oldest child, he had to help his mother with the daily chores and do seasonal field work. At the same time, his love of drawing asserted itself as he learned by copying humorous cartoons he found in newspapers. One of his teachers, noting his interest while watching him draw with a stick in the dirt, supplied him with pencils which he could not afford to buy.

Willie Johnson, 70, looking at a framed picture of himself as a child. He learned by copying

Johnson worked hard, saved his money, and at 17 left for New York. There between 1918 and 1921, he earned enough as a stevedore, cook, and hotel porter to support himself, send money home, and start the full five-year course at the National Academy of Design. He won many of the Academy's prizes during his years there, but the elusive Traveling Award for study in Europe — probably because of his color. Charles Hawthorne, an established academic painter and his gifted teacher, personally raised the funds to send Johnson abroad.

Youth Is Ordered To Gatesville

A juvenile charged for the third time with theft of vehicle had his probation revoked and was sent to Gatesville in action taken in county court here Friday morning with Judge A. G. Mitchell presiding.

The 16 year old escaped city police Wednesday while being transferred from city jail to county jail and hid atop a vacant building at the southeast corner of Scurry and First Streets.

He was spotted by an employee of State National Bank. He was charged this time with theft of a motorcycle and previously with theft of two cars.

DEATHS

Jack F. Johnson Dies In Temple

Jack F. Johnson, 61, well-known Big Spring public accountant, died early this morning in Scott and White Hospital in Temple following a brief illness.

Johnson had undergone an operation for removal of his spleen last week.

He was the last of the licensed public accountants residing here.

Rites are pending at the River-Weich Funeral Home here.

Born in Baird Aug. 1, 1911, Mr. Johnson had been a local resident since July 20, 1920, when he moved here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edgar Johnson, and other members of the family.

Mr. Johnson played high school football and other sports and was a close follower of all sports throughout his life. He was instrumental in helping his nephew, Charley Johnson, get an athletic scholarship at New Mexico State University when he served at Fort Bliss, Tex., while in the U.S. Army.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church. He attended Hardin-Simmons University.

Survivors in addition to his wife, Alice, of the home, include two daughters, Mrs. Tony Star, Houston, and Mrs. Ross Pike, Colorado Springs, Colo.; two grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. A. A. Porter and Minnie Earle Johnson, both of Big Spring; and two brothers, J. T. Johnson and C. E. (Perry) Johnson, both of Big Spring.

SHARK! Attacks Rare, But He's Still Deadly

... harmless savages... indolent, awkward, clueless cowards. — Nature writer William Beebe, 1924. They reacted to repellent and marker dye, like "their orange juice before breakfast." — Survivor of a September, 1955, mid-Pacific DC-4 aircraft ditching and subsequent shark attack.

By ALAN MARRIDEW
Copley News Service

You're swimming along minding your own business and a shark glides toward you. A shark! With a gastronomic glint in his evil eye, you fear.

GULPS FLESH
Nature's terrifying, perfected machine for biting, slicing, tearing and gulping flesh. Any flesh. Your flesh, maybe.

There is not much you can do if it's a big hungry shark intent on getting you, the experts say.

But they point out that chances of being attacked by a shark are only slightly higher than those of being trampled by 20 dope-crazed Bengal tigers stampeding up Broadway through a blizzard.

PUFF OF BLOOD
Beating or lightning kills about three times as many Americans as do sharks, says Dr. Perry Gilbert, director of Mote Marine Laboratory, at Sarasota, Fla.

About 100 shark attacks occur around the world each year, Gilbert said. About half the victims die in a salty swirl and a puff of blood, or later, from loss of blood and shock.

Three or four attacks take place in an average year in American waters.

GET OUT
If a triangular dorsal fin clears the water at the beach, "Get the hell out," advise the experts.

They add: Do it as calmly as possible, swim as smoothly and easily as you can. (They concede you may feel scared.)

But, no thrashing. No splashing. For this may attract the shark, they say.

And the most recent unprovoked attack was this May 300 yards off Dillon Beach at Tomales Bay, north of San Francisco.

The attacker: The historic badactor among sharks, the great white shark — positively identified from three tooth fragments left in the right leg of Helmut Himmrich, 31, of Lodi, Calif.

GRABBED LEG
Himmrich, who'd been diving for abalone, was on the surface about 20 feet from his boat and companions.

He never saw the shark. He thought, until he saw the blood and slashes, that a sea lion had attacked from behind.

"I started swimming back to the boat and that's when he grabbed hold of my leg," said Himmrich, after surgery at the WHITE FEAR — This 15-foot great white shark was caught in 1958 off San Miguel Island. It weighed in at 3,031 pounds. The white is a notorious man-eater and has been identified as the villain in most unprovoked shark attacks on humans.

Presidio Letterman Army Hospital. "And then I moved and he really clamped down on it hard. And then he brought me up out of the water."

"And then he shook me. And then he released me. "I don't know why (the shark let go) because he was heading in the same direction as the boat."

NO CONTROL
"What seems really funny to me," said Himmrich, "is why he didn't take me down, or come back and make another attack."

"I had no control at all," Himmrich, frightened and in extreme pain, swam to the boat. His friends dragged him into it.

They said the shark, which they'd seen as it shook the screaming Himmrich in the air, was at least 12 feet long.

BIG ADVANTAGE
The 6-foot mechanic feels "real lucky" to have escaped with his right leg, let alone his life.

The experts say the one big advantage which a skin diver has over a surface swimmer when a nosy or peckish shark intrudes is that he can see, and watch the shark underwater.

Never take your eyes off him, they say.

Never turn your back on him, says James Stewart, University of California at San Diego (UCSD) Scripps Institution of Oceanography chief diver, with 31 years of diving behind him — and a shark attack survivor.

"Back up to a rock if possible, make like a rock and creep away," said Stewart.

DON'T TEASE
Don't tease "harmless" sharks like pulling their tails, say Stewart and others. That's just asking for it.

And don't carry speared fish with you.

"It's like ringing the dinner gong when you spear a fish," said Stewart. "It goes into a vibratory action that attracts them."

If the shark gets too close and curious, poke him with a spear, or piece of wood, or anything handy, they say.

Dr. C. Scott Johnson, a biologist with the Naval Undersea Research and Development Center in San Diego spends most of his working time among sharks or thinking about how to kill them or prevent them from attacking.

If an idea which he's testing off San Diego works, skin divers will be able to stick a parachute on a threatening shark — a small drogue parachute, hardly larger than a handkerchief.

The shark, distracted by his upset hydrodynamics, tries to get at the chute and forgets all about the skin diver.

Assuming the drogue works and the shark hasn't bitten him in the meantime, the diver is saved.

Johnson said more testing is needed but results so far are encouraging.

The parachute, if successful, would be a better, simpler weapon than NUC's latest last-ditch device, the "CO 2 dart," he said.

SPEAR GUN
While the shark will survive the parachute, it won't survive the dart which is fitted at the end of a dagger, lance, spear gun, or bayonet and injected or propelled into the shark's abdominal cavity.

"Gap Between Social Needs, Church Action"

By BARBARA LORD
 "There is such a wide gap between what churches are doing and the social needs of the country," said A. L. Gatewood, who left his pastoral position several years ago to study sociology and counseling.
 "My aspiration was to understand why things happen rather than to pick up the hurt and try to heal the wound," continued Gatewood. "I wanted to get to the contributing cause of hurt."

Gatewood and his wife, Vera, arrived in Big Spring in early July after about nine years as employees of Buckner Baptist Children's Home, Lubbock. He is now employed by Texas Rehabilitation Commission as a counselor at Big Spring State Hospital.

The Gatewoods have three children, all married, Mrs. Kert Moore and Mrs. George Jones, both of Dallas; and William Gatewood, Odessa. They have two grandchildren.

Mrs. Gatewood, also interested in sociology, served as a caseworker at Buckner. She also worked in the social services department of the home and assisted with the mothers' aide and day care programs.

Gatewood is happy with his new position. As a Baptist pastor he didn't feel he had as much opportunity to study people and help with individual and family problems before disaster struck. He does think churches are now becoming more aware of sociological needs and the role they can and should play in helping society.

"Everybody is a king, even if only in their own sight," philosophizes Gatewood. "People must learn to respect each person as an individual — as a combination of abilities that no other person has. We must understand the reality that everybody is somebody, and we must believe it rather than just say it."

Although Mrs. Gatewood isn't working now, she keeps very busy in the couple's new home at 2510 Rebecka, and has many plans for the future. She hopes to complete her education with a major in psychological counseling.

"I've been a full-time employee for a long time," said

MR. and MRS. A. L. GATEWOOD

Mrs. Gatewood. "Now I have time for other things I've always wanted to do." As a pastor's wife, she wasn't a paid employee, but she said there are many demands made on a minister's wife.

DEMANDS ON WIFE
 "When a church hires a pastor, the congregation doesn't just hope his wife will help, it expects her to help," said Mrs. Gatewood. "I enjoyed all of the activities, but sometimes there were too many. I believe now people are beginning to realize pastor's wives must have a life and identity of their own. Many are working in careers of their own, and more are able to salvage leisure time for personal interests."

Gatewood agrees with his wife's views, and is quick to give her credit for many of his own successes. "There is no pastor any stronger than his wife," he said. "Every pastor needs a strong home base, and she is the one who makes it."

In her leisure time, Mrs. Gatewood likes to read, listen to music and "play at" the piano. She is always happy to hear her children or grandchildren are coming for a visit, and her husband said she starts making sweets three weeks before they arrive.

Gatewood is an amateur photographer, specializing in slides and movies. In the past he has done a lot of radio broadcasting and production for religious programs.

"My interest now is people," said Gatewood. "I have the kind of work I have always wanted. I have the means to help a person dream, be independent, self-supporting and take pride in life."

PRIMARY PROBLEM...
 In attempting to relate what he feels is the primary problem in the way people try to help others, Gatewood parallels man's actions with the person who tries to gather all of the feathers that fell out of a pillow and stuff them back in, rather than sewing up the hole in the pillow in the first place.

The Gatewoods are both Mississippi natives. She was born and reared in Jackson, and he in Forrest, but they have lived in Texas since 1954. Both attended New Orleans Theological Seminary, and Gatewood received his master's degree in sociology from Baylor.

Honored At Birthday Luncheon

'Women's Day' Slated In Dallas Saturday

Mrs. W. Randall Ball was the guest of honor at a birthday luncheon held Thursday in the home of Mrs. Herman Wilkerson, 408 Edwards Blvd.

Cohosting the complimentary affair were Mrs. Dean Sanders and Mrs. Willie Pruitt.

Twenty-three guests attended the "come and go" buffet. The large dining table was covered with a gold cloth and centered with an arrangement of gold fruit. Hours were from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The honoree's husband, the Rev. W. Randall Ball, is pastor of the First Assembly of God Church.

Mu Zetas Begin New Club Year

Activities for the 1972-1973 club year of Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, opened Thursday with a "beginning day" meeting in the home of Mrs. Olin Gilliam, 801 Marcy, Apt. 14. Mrs. John Northington was cohostess.

It was announced that five chapter members were nominated for inclusion in "Outstanding Young Women of America." They were Mrs. Tim Danforth, Mrs. Arthur Jistel, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. Joseph Thurman and Mrs. Robert Wilson.

Club year books were distributed, and plans were made for the coming year. A combination garage and bake sale is scheduled Sept. 16 in the home of Mrs. Wilson, 4046 Vicky. She will also host the next meeting at 7 p.m., Sept. 11.

DALLAS (AP) — The 52nd anniversary of women's suffrage will be commemorated here Saturday with ceremonies at Dealey Plaza proclaiming Women's Day in the city.

Councilwoman Anita Martinez will present the proclamation by Mayor Wes Wise to a panel of women selected to represent the women of Dallas.

Fall Activity Begins At Westside Center

A schedule of regular events at Westside Community Center was outlined at a board of directors meeting Monday evening at Wesley United Methodist Church. Activities include:

MONDAY — Piano lessons, 3:45 p.m.; sewing and knitting lessons, 7:30 p.m., helpers needed.

TUESDAY — Boys arts and crafts classes, 4 to 5 p.m.

WEDNESDAY — Girls arts and crafts classes, 4 to 5 p.m., helpers needed. Call Mrs. Wanda Hays at 263-0895 if interested.

THURSDAY — Choir, led by Mrs. Joseph Dawes, 4 to 5 p.m.; Piano lessons, 4 to 5 p.m.

FRIDAY — Men's game night now being organized and later to become family night; Pre-teen club for girls, led by Mrs. Jim Collier, time to be announced.

SATURDAY — Free time.

SUNDAY — Sunday School, teachers needed.

Costs of recent building construction and improvements were reviewed, and it was announced that Mrs. Ernest Bauch, center director, has organized everything in the new building.

Items needed by the center include an electric stove, mop bucket with ringer, baby cribs and playpens for use in a proposed day care center, cards, dominoes, checkers, material for sewing classes, sewing notions, construction paper and glue.

In addition, it was announced that acknowledgment was sent to recent donors to the center. They included Webb AFB Federal Credit Union, $15; Church Women United, who donated more than $200 raised at a "tasting tea"; Mrs. Leon Cole, toys; Mrs. E. E. Bryant, draperies and framed pictures; Mrs. Dub Pearson, bamboo curtains and draperies; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Klonka, ping-pong table; and the Homemakers Class, First Christian Church, four folding tables.

In other business, Mrs. John Hogan was introduced as a new member of the board of directors.

A LOVELIER YOU Lighten Wrist Veins With Simple Routine

By MARY SUE MILLER
 Mature Lovelies write that they are troubled by prominent blue veins on the hands and wrists. Sometimes the necessary puncture of a wrist vein for medical reasons will cause distention and discoloration. Whatever the cause, appearances are not particularly attractive. But they can be improved in several ways. The first is so simple you will not believe its value until you test it. Just raise your hands overhead for a few seconds, then lower them. The veins will have disappeared or nearly so.

The result of course is temporary, but the routine may be repeated as often as you like. You can get the same effect by raising the hands to the throat. As the gesture is not uncommon, it seems natural and goes unnoticed when you are in the company of others.

For a second step concentrate on keeping the hands relaxed. Tension distends the veins to look heavier than they are.

Lastly, make deft use of hand cosmetics. Massage several times daily from fingertips to above elbows with a rich hand lotion. That way the hand complexion stays smooth. Perfectly manicured nails are a must, of course. But are you aware that a just-right shade of nail enamel plays down blue veins? True reds and corals of medium intensity turn the trick. Both shades gain fashion recognition. How handy!

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a leaflet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish-chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Geronimo Buffaloed

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Geronimo the buffalo believes the grass is always greener on the other side. Early Thursday he hefted his one and a half tons of solid buffalo meat across the fence surrounding his quarters at Lion Country Safari, a Dallas wildlife park, and grazed for a while in a field beyond. Then he went searching farther. Geronimo was finally rounded up a mile from home by a task force of 10, composed of local police and the wildlife park's own rangers. "He's gentle enough and wouldn't attack anyone," said a spokesman. "But, of course, he could run over you."

NIXON'S ECONOMIC STRUCTURE

'A Palace For The Privileged Few?'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is back on the campaign trail seeking four more years in the White House to finish what he terms a "breakthrough for peace" in dealings with Peking and Moscow.

Meanwhile, Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern says Nixon has turned the economic structure of the United States into "a palace for the privileged few."

Nixon told several thousand well-wishers from Southern California communities gathered at San Diego Thursday night that he wanted four more years "so we can continue to make this breakthrough for peace."

"I think I have learned now to negotiate," he said. "I know what we want and what they want."

McGovern took aim at Nixon's economic policies in a statement issued today in Washington. "We're tired of Richard Nixon turning it (the nation) into a palace for the privileged few," he said. "Rather than tear anything down, we want to join Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson and restore that temple to the ancient truths."

Nixon was staying at his San Clemente, Calif., home while McGovern planned a working day in his Senate office and a speech to the International Union of Presidents and State Coordinators today before leaving for a quiet weekend with his family on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

In other developments: —McGovern appointed a panel to advise him on foreign policy and the panel's chairman Abram Chayes, said he will go to Europe and Israel next week to dispute the idea that McGovern is an isolationist.

—Sargent Shriver called President Nixon the No. 1 warmarker in the world during a speech Thursday in Cincinnati. —In New York City, Georgia state legislator Julian Bond urged blacks not to sit out this election but to come "together to drive Richard Nixon from the White House."

To Investigate Used Car Sales

HOUSTON (AP) — Records of six speedometer companies have been subpoenaed for use by a Harris County grand jury which is to be asked to investigate used car sales.

Neal Duvall, head of the district attorney's consumer fraud division, said Thursday theft by false pretext charges could result from the investigation should it show used car customers have bought high mileage vehicles without knowing the odometers had been turned back to show lower mileage.

District Judge E. B. Duggan authorized the subpoenas Wednesday.

"We are going to start with the people actually doing the rollbacks," Duvall said. "We have information that dealers are having it done through speedometer companies."

Records received from the companies, he added, will determine the extent of the grand jury investigation.

Duvall said there is indication practically every car dealer in Harris County has had odometers rolled back.

He said Texas has no law against turning an odometer back.

"The criminal action is not the rollback but it is the fraudulent sale based on the odometer representing the vehicle's accurate mileage," Duvall said.

He added that a rollback costing $6 to $12 can increase a car's value as much as $500.

The maximum penalty for a conviction on a felony theft by false pretext charge is 10 years in prison.

No Real Test

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am about to be married. My fiancé and I had a serious argument. He reads your column and would believe you.

He has been told that a virgin has a very tough skin that has to be slit open by a doctor before her wedding night. I feel that, because I won't go to a doctor for this reason, he now thinks I'm not a virgin.

This may not seem a serious problem to others, but it is very serious here. — W.J.M.

Your fiancé is misinformed, but not as much as is the case with some bridegrooms who insist that their brides be virgins.

Here are the facts. The entrance to the vagina originally is covered with a membrane called the hymen. Except in the rarest cases, this membrane is perforated with one or several small holes in it, and varying greatly in size.

The texture of the hymen also varies from one extreme to the other — very thin and fragile to quite thick and tough. An intact hymen is proof of virginity — but the contrary is NOT true. That is, if the hymen is not intact, it still is not proof that a woman is not a virgin.

Why not? Because a fragile hymen may be ruptured by some trivial occurrence even in early childhood. Or the hymen may be thin enough so that it merely stretches instead of rupturing and causing discernible bleeding.

If a girl has had the hymen ruptured when she was a child, or if she has a very thin stretchy one that does not bleed, she has no way of "proving" that she is a virgin. This has caused all sorts of uproar and unhappiness in those cases in which the bridegroom was insistent on "proof of virginity" yet didn't know the facts.

All she can do is tell him she's a virgin and expect him to take her word for it. And after all, what proof does HE have to offer, except to expect her to accept HIS word?

At the other extreme, occasionally a hymen is so thick and tough that the only recourse is to have a doctor cut through it — a very simple procedure, by the way. It can happen that way, but it is seldom necessary.

On that basis, I dare say you can decide what to do. My suggestion is that you just let nature take its course, as women have been doing all through history.

A visit to the doctor is wise for quite other reasons, however: to determine your general health, perhaps get some reliable information on pregnancy or birth control if you want or need it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: One of my friends is thinking of marrying a man 83 years of age. She is a virile, wide-awake person in her late 60s. She is wondering if there will be any sex life with a man that age. I cannot answer her. Is this within your province to answer? — B.G.C.

Some men that age are sexually active; many aren't. Your friend is asking the wrong person when she asks you. Or me. The only authoritative answer would have to come from her gentleman friend.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Exactly how do birth control pills prevent pregnancy? What does the pill do to the body? — P.F.

The pills are a mixture of hormones. As you know, when a woman is pregnant, she stops ovulating, and when she doesn't ovulate she can't get pregnant again.

Well, the pills change the hormone balance so it resembles that which occurs in pregnancy. Thus, nature thinks a pregnancy has occurred and prevents ovulation. Then you can't get pregnant.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for, send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You And Your Gall Bladder."

Write him in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Bank Boosts Prime Rate

NEW YORK (AP) — Chase Manhattan Bank, in a move considered likely to spread to other banks around the nation, said Thursday it was boosting its prime lending rate from 5 1/4 to 5 3/4 per cent effective today.

The rate is the interest charged by banks on short-term loans to their most credit-worthy corporate customers.

Chase, the third-biggest commercial bank in the country, said it was boosting the rate to keep it in line with other rates in the money market. Nearly all other banks in the country have been holding their prime rates at 5 1/4 per cent.

Bankers have predicted the prime rate would rise this year as the nation's economy picked up, boosting demand for credit. A rising prime rate increases the cost of business loans, but has no immediate effect on smaller consumer loans.

'He'll Hunt With Anybody Who's Got A Shotgun'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Barefoot Sanders, Democratic nominee for the Senate post now held by Republican John Tower, suggested a welfare reform Thursday — one which he asserted would make Tower work fulltime for his $42,500-a-year salary.

The tongue-in-cheek proposal came as Sanders again claimed Tower treats his position as a parttime job.

He also charged at a Democratic breakfast meeting that Tower is riding President Nixon's coattails "so hard it's transparent."

He declared that Tower has a poor record on being present for roll call votes, that he surfaces before the people of Texas only in election years, and that he follows the GOP line, whether right or wrong, most of the time.

Observing that Tower named Democrat Ed Clark as campaign manager, Sanders compared the former ambassador to a bird dog.

"Everybody knows Old Ed," Sanders said. "Old Ed's like a bird dog. He'll hunt with anybody who's got a shotgun."

Small As None

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Those women who complain because they have small breasts count their blessings. AND their breasts.

I was always small, and even went to a doctor about it. He laughed and told me that's why they sold so many padded bras.

Well, I never thought it could happen to me, but I had to have both my breasts removed in life-saving surgery.

I couldn't have written this letter six years ago without tears dropping all over the page, but I can thank God for a loving, sensible, understanding husband who I thought I'd lose, but didn't.

Now I am trying to adjust to this topless, bra-less era minus bosoms. It isn't easy, but I'm doing the best I can with the assets I have left.

OFF MY CHEST
DEAR OFF: You have a soul sister in Marbella Bayh, the beautiful wife of the handsome, young Indiana senator. She told the story of her mastectomy in the June issue of Today's Health Magazine with such courage and candor she was an inspiration to all women who shared that experience.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to relate two separate incidents and would appreciate your opinion.

The first incident: My husband was driving down a busy city street when he noticed a box in the street which apparently had fallen out of someone's car. He stopped and picked it up. It contained 12 freshly laundered white shirts.

The owner's name was on a slip inside, so my husband immediately went to a phone booth and tried to locate him. There were three people by the same name, so my husband called all three. The last one was the man who had just lost his laundry. My husband drove (out of his way) to the home of the man, and he rang the doorbell. The man came to the door, took the box, said, "Thanks, Buddy," and shut the door.

Incident Number Two: Last week my young daughter and I were getting out of our car in a shopping center when she noticed a woman's billfold on the ground. I picked it up and saw that it had money and credit cards inside. I took it immediately to the parking lot attendant and turned it in. I left my name and phone number.

I went back later and asked if the lady who lost the billfold ever got it back. He said she had. I then asked if he had given her my name and phone number. He said, "Yes." End of story.

Sometimes I wonder, Abby. Does it pay to be honest? HONEST OR STUPID
DEAR HONEST: In the above cases honesty didn't "pay" except in the currency of honor and self respect. If that isn't enough for you, then honesty does "not" pay. The choice is yours.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIED AND REGRET IT": Tell him the truth. Not because you think he will find out anyway (he may not), but because you will feel better if you do. But it's not necessary to give him the names and numbers of all the players.

Nabs First Legion Card

CHICAGO (AP) — When a pickpocket lifted John J. Wicker's wallet shortly after the World War I veteran arrived from Richmond, Va., for the American Legion convention, he got $100 in cash, a few travelers' checks and the first Legion card ever issued.

Wicker, 78, a past national commander of the Legion, had just stepped off a bus from O'Hare International Airport when his wallet was stolen, Wicker's wife said Wednesday.

She said her husband was one of the Legion's founders, and carried card No. 1 of Post No. 1 of the Legion. Wicker is the only surviving founder, she said.

Mrs. Wicker said the card is irreplaceable, but neither she nor her husband harbor any hard feelings about Chicago. "People couldn't have been lovelier," she said.

Six From Area Get Degrees

SAN ANGELO — Five Big Spring students received degrees from Angelo State University in San Angelo during the university's sixth annual summer commencement ceremonies.

They are Teresa Diane Conner, bachelor of arts; Clarice Petty Rountree, bachelor of arts; William Alfred Bonner Jr., bachelor of business administration; Danny Lee Nichols, bachelor of business administration and Ray Smith McKinnon Jr., bachelor of science degree.

In addition, Rubye M. Woodley of Forsan received her bachelor of science degree.

Dr. Thomas K. Kim, president of McMurry College in Abilene, was the guest speaker.

McGovern Backlash

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman for a group of Austin Negroes said today they are unhappy over what they consider ill treatment by Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern who visited here Monday and Tuesday.

John Galloway, University of Texas senior, said there was "ill feeling" among McGovern's Negro followers because there were no blacks originally invited to meet with McGovern when he conferred with local leaders. Later two were included in his talks.

Galloway said a group of blacks "who influence the black vote in Travis County" planned to meet soon with McGovern leaders and campaign workers for Dolph Briscoe, Democratic nominee for governor.

Sam Houston Clinton Jr., chairman of the Travis County McGovern-Shriver campaign, told the Austin American he was not aware of any dissatisfaction among the Negroes, adding that the Travis County headquarters had no control of who was invited to meet with McGovern. "I was not there myself," he said.

Name Pittman To State Bar Job

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — H. C. Pittman, Austin attorney and former chairman of the Texas Industrial Accident Board, was named executive director of the State Bar of Texas Thursday.

Bar president Jim D. Bowmer, Temple, said Pittman, who succeeds acting executive director Josiah Wheat of Woodville, will assume his duties Sept. 1.

Pittman, 54, is a former assistant state attorney general and former chairman of the State Employees Retirement System. He is a former vice president of the Austin National Bank. For 12 years he was executive vice president of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association. Earlier this year he became president and general counsel of Automated Financial Service Inc., a Houston-based holding company formerly owned by Texas new car dealers.

Pittman was a former assistant district attorney at Waco. He graduated from Cotulla High School and received his law degree at Baylor University School of Law.

Car Prices 'Adjusted'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective price "adjustments"—to cover the cost of optional equipment that will become standard on 1973 models—have been approved by the Price Commission for the big four auto-makers.

The commission said Thursday the average increase would be $8 for Ford Motor Co., $4.38 for General Motors, $1 for American Motors and $12.53 for Chrysler.

The additional equipment for Ford ranges from power disc brakes to a spare tire lock, for General Motors from disc brakes to bumper guards on some models. Chrysler's equipment ranges from electric ignition to cargo area carpeting, while American Motors listed a rear-door armrest and fuel-tank skid plate.

The commission said the cost of 1973 models will be no higher than the cost of similarly equipped current models.

The commission also formally suspended general price-fixing requests from the big four until after hearings on auto prices set to begin Sept. 12.

Sex-Change Operation Caper Ends In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — Asst. U.S. Atty. Edward J. Boyd says the surrender of a third suspect has "closed the case" in a bizarre Brooklyn bank holdup that ended with the fatal shooting of one of the bandits.

Boyd commented after the arraignment Thursday of Robert A. Westenberg, 21, on charges of helping to plan Tuesday's robbery of a Chase Manhattan bank branch in the Flatbush section.

LARGE PACKAGE
The FBI said Westenberg entered the bank but fled at the sight of a passing police car, and so did not participate in the holdup, in which two gunmen took $29,000 and held seven employees hostage for 14 hours.

FBI agents ended the marathon drama when they shot and killed Salvatore Naturale, 18, also known as Donald Matter-son, and captured John Wojtowicz, 27, as they were about to board a small jet at Kennedy Airport with the loot and hostages.

Bank employees recalled later that three men had entered the bank and one deposited a large package on the floor. The package was said to have contained the three guns used in the stick-up.

Police believed the third man was to have been the driver of a getaway car that had been rented in Wojtowicz' name and was later found parked around the corner from the bank.

CHICKEN
Dolores Goettsheim, the assistant branch manager and one of the hostages, recalled, "I didn't see him, but I heard the others talking about a third robber."

John Wojtowicz said a slight blond fellow had brought the guns still wrapped up and placed them in a corner. John told the other one: "The third party got chicken and ran out."

Wojtowicz, an admitted homosexual, said the motive for the robbery was to get money to send his male "wife" to Denmark for a sex-change operation, according to one of the hostages.

Westenberg turned himself into the FBI after his father Richard, appealed to him to surrender "if he did anything wrong."

Court-Appointed Attorneys Paid Nearly $2,400 Here

By MARJ CARPENTER
The first eight months of 1972 saw close to $2,400 spent in Big Spring courts to pay court-appointed attorneys for those who could not afford an attorney.

In district court, the total through Aug. 7 was $2,283.90 and in county court, an even $100.

Of course, those with charges which need an attorney's services, are most often found at a district court level.

There is no choice to the magistrate. If the defendant signs an oath that they are a pauper and cannot hire an attorney after normal living expenses are paid, then he must be assigned an attorney.

NO CHOICE
District Judge Ralph W. Caton said, "If we don't assign an attorney, the case can be appealed and then we have the cost of still appointing an attorney plus the cost of the appeal, plus the cost of a new trial."

Howard County's expense in comparison to other counties of comparable size may be low, because the cost is apparently held down in Big Spring as much as possible.

"Actually," Judge Caton stated, "local attorneys are very cooperative in the matter. They are only reimbursed for their time in the courtroom and many spend many hours on these cases."

OPENED WAY
He recalled that "Pandora's box" was opened by the case of Gideon vs. Wainwright in the 50's in Florida. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the case must be retried and made the decision retroactive."

This made it possible for many inmates to demand retrials because they had not had an attorney. Even after 20 years, cases still show up that must be reversed due to that decision.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell said that there are not nearly as many cases come up within county court jurisdiction where the court must appoint an attorney.

In 1972 in Big Spring, in district court, there was one case in January that needed an appointed attorney, none in February, five in March, three in April, five in May, four in June, two in July and three in the first week in August. There were two men who were assigned an attorney on more than one occasion. One man was assigned four attorneys and one three this year on various charges.

There appears to be no alternative. Pandora's box is open and the pauper clause is apparently here to stay. The taxpayer is left in the position of relying on their judges and local attorneys and hoping for the best.

Gatesville Joins 999 Other Cities

The City of Gatesville became the 1000th Texas city to apply for a Public Law 660 construction grant for the improvement of existing waste-water treatment facilities or the construction of a new plant, it was revealed recently at the monthly meeting of the Texas Water Quality Board.

In ceremonies recognizing the city's efforts for the abatement of water pollution, Gordon Fulcher, Chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board, pointed out that Public Law 660 funds provide federal money for use by cities and other governmental entities in the construction of sewage treatment facilities.

Since the first Texas application for a 660 grant was processed by the Water Quality Board in 1957, the State of Texas has managed over 200 million dollars in construction grant funds.

Berea Baptist Church Slates Showing Here Of Full Length, Unique Film Sunday Night

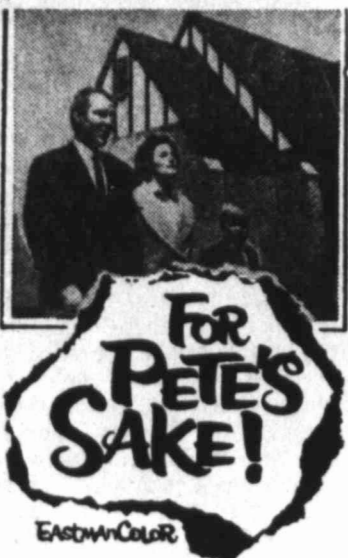

By MARJ CARPENTER
"For Pete's Sake!", a film credited as "unique in its capacity to reach out to meet the problems of people will be shown on Aug. 27, at Berea Baptist, 4204 Wasson Road.

The full-length comedy-drama, filmed in brilliant Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, will be shown once beginning at 7 p.m., and is open to the public at no admission charge.

Filmed entirely on location in Denver and the Colorado Rockies, "For Pete's Sake!" is the story of Pete Harper, a family man and service station owner, who is knocked flat by unexpected problems, but finds the strength to stand up again, to face life anew.

"For Pete's Sake!" has been seen nationwide by over three million persons in theatre premieres, and has been cited by one film critic as "the perfect mixture — it's drama at its boldest, comedy at its lightest, and action at its liveliest. 'For Pete's Sake' is a family film, not only because it is good family entertainment, but because through its storyline, families can see and feel exactly what is needed to develop deeper understanding and build stronger ties."

"For Pete's Sake!" stars Robert Sampson, who also starred in World Wide's "The Restless Ones." Pippa Scott, as Pete's wife, Marge, is well-known for her Broadway appearances and numerous television roles. John Milford and

A WORLD WIDE PICTURES PRESENTATION

Sam Groom are both familiar to television audiences. Other featured players include Johnny Jensen as Pete's son, Irene Tedrow as Grandma Harper, and Nicholas Surovy as Skip, the leader of a motorcycle gang.

A cordial invitation is extended to all families of the community by Gary Higgs, Pastor, who has made arrangements for this special showing of "For Pete's Sake!"

The Immaculate Heart of Mary C.Y.O. held its first meeting of their scholastic year in the Parish Church anti-room. Tom Mullen, the organization's president, called the meeting to order. At this time, the youths decided upon various activities for involvement to get the year off to a good start. The group decided upon a bake sale to be held after the 7 p.m. Liturgy on Saturday and the 8 a.m., 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Masses on Sunday, Aug. 26 and 27.

The group also agreed to attend the Nicky Cruz meeting and will meet at the church at 7:30 p.m. Monday night. The C.Y.O. has also decided to host a dance at the Parish Hall on Friday, Sept. 1 with music provided by "Bag."

Sister Jean, S.M.I.C. is the Club Moderator and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Greg and Sister Janice, S.M.I.C. serve as adult advisors.

The next meeting will be held on Sunday, Sept. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the church anti-room. The schedule of events will be elections for the 1972-73 officers.

The Rev. Jim Collier over at St. Paul's Presbyterian reminds everyone that their church school is set at 9:30 a.m., which is 15 minutes earlier than many church schools. Morning church services are at 11 a.m.

The sermon at the Kentwood United Methodist Church this Sunday will be on "Follow the Royal Shepherd" centering on a call to loyalty to Christ and the Church. The Rev. Melvin R. Mathis has been stressing world-wide involvement during the month of August.

The 92nd annual meeting of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., will be held in the Tarrant County Convention Center, in Fort Worth Sept. 5th through 10th. Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, president, recently outlined subjects he feels will be of greatest concern to the delegates who represent the 6.3 million members of this organization.

"We will present productive new programs to replace the non-productive protests that are being voiced throughout the country," Dr. Jackson said. He is opposed to both violent and non-violent resistance as a means of accomplishment.

Politics, education, busing and a Vietnam "Peace Plan," authored by Dr. Jackson, will be among subjects covered at the convention. Outstanding Negro leaders from the fields of religion, business, medicine, law, education and politics, will attend the six day event. The Women's Auxiliary also has an important program in conjunction with the convention.

Major emphasis will be given to the youth during an Oratorical program on Friday evening when students from throughout the United States will compete for three scholarships totalling $1,750.00.

Reports on the Freedom Farm in Tennessee and the progress of the Joseph Harrison Jackson Library, will also be presented. The Self Help Savings Fund of the convention will be discussed, also.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Anderson, 1502 Stadium Ave., Big Spring, are sponsoring Terry, a 10-year-old American Indian boy of the Navajo Tribe, through Save the Children Federation, an international child welfare organization of Norway, Conn., It was announced today by Dallas Johnson, Director of the organization's American Indian program.

Coventry Cathedral Site For Television Drama

"The Cross of Nails" ... erected by the British after the Coventry Cathedral was destroyed during the intense bombing of the Germans in World War II, provides the inspiration for Oral Roberts' TV message "Living Without Fear In Today's World."

The sermon is a part of the famous evangelist's first one-hour special of the new season, scheduled to be aired locally on KTXS 12, Tuesday, Sept. 5, 6:30 p.m.

The London show doesn't hide the fact it is a religious program. Roberts' sermon, the songs of show regulars and guest stars, point up this fact dramatically. But like the previous specials, this show fits nicely in prime time, making it a formal competitor of the "best" offered by the three networks as they kick off the new season.

"Oral Roberts in London" is very special to the guest stars, since it is an American presentation of their homeland. The all-British guest lineup includes actress-singer, Georgia Brown, TV personality Noel Harrison and special guest, 1972 Emmy Winner, Keith Michell.

Three stars, from a different helping to make a religious program even more meaningful to a large secular audience. A tour of Trafalgar Square by Noel Harrison ... a dramatic presentation of "Becket's Soliloquy" by Keith Michell ... and a Georgia Brown tribute to England's great hymn writer John Newton, provide a solid foundation for Roberts' message.

Much of the music on the show will be familiar to the secular audience. "England Swings" and "If Ever I Should Leave You" are two songs that hit the top of the charts all over the world. However, regular church-goers will easily recognize "When I Think of the Cross" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

To use the popular vernacular, "Oral Roberts in London" has it all together. It's a religious show that is not totally religious in the church sense. Maybe this is the reason the special can be expected to attract a large share of the viewing audience in its time slot.

Regardless of how you view the special (secular or sacred) it will be a complete experience to be enjoyed by all.

Some people think that Nature is God, but children at First Baptist learn by planting, watering, caring for and feeling plants that Nature is another example of God's unlimited creative power. This is another example of imaginative teaching which we hope you will let your children share as part of a religious experience.

Heavy competition by East and West drove South to the five level in order to buy the contract. When West failed to uncover the killing lead against five hearts, South had his opportunity to score a profit, however he did not press his advantage to the fullest and East launched a counteroffensive to recover the lost trick and assure his side of a profit on the deal.

South opened the bidding with one heart and West overcalled with one spade. Although North had only four trumps, his concentration of high card strength in hearts and the void in spades influenced him to give a jump raise to four hearts. East, competing by bidding four spades and also this contract can be defeated one trick since North-South must score three diamond tricks and one spade. South was reluctant to defend on the deal. His spade holding did not appear to be well placed—in front of the overcaller—and he persisted to five hearts as an insurance measure, which was doubled by East.

A club lead by West would have assured declarer's defeat and altho East's penalty double strongly suggested that the latter's high card strength was concentrated outside of the spade suit, West chose to open the ace of spades—which gave South a chance on the deal.

The first trick was ruffed with North's three of hearts. The closed hand was entered with the king of diamonds which was followed by the ace. The jack of spades was trumped with the ten of hearts and on the queen of diamonds, South discarded the deuce of clubs.

The king of hearts was led and East was in with the ace. The latter was aware that a club trick had now been irretrievably lost, but he also observed that if West could be put on lead, a fourth round of diamonds would assure East of scoring the setting trick on an over-ruff with the jack of hearts.

In desperation, East under-led the ace of clubs. West captured declarer's queen with the king and inasmuch as the play to this point suggested the unlikelihood of cashing any more club tricks, he shifted to the jack of diamonds. North followed suit with the nine and East produced his jack of hearts which South was unable to top. The defense took two hearts and one club to set declarer down by one.

When West failed to open a club originally, declarer had it in his power to cinch the contract. After he sluffs a club on the queen of diamonds, if he merely continues with a fourth round of diamonds and disposes of his remaining club, the queen, it immobilizes the defense altogether. There is no way that they can take more than one more trick in hearts and once the ace is dislodged, East's jack quietly succumbs to North's queen. South loses one trick each in diamonds and hearts.

OKAY, PUT UP YOUR DUKES — The national political conventions are over, the nominees named, the battle is joined. Dolly the Elephant squares off ready to defend against the attack sure to come from Dottie the Donkey, who appears rather docile at the moment — but is well known for tough fights against long odds. The donkey is only half in the picture for photographic composition purposes, not to indicate she might be split. The scene took place at Storytown in Lake George, N.Y., where both are part of a circus act. May the best gal win.

Blooms Into Nation's First Co-Ed Prison

DALLAS (AP) — The former clinical research center for treating narcotics addicts, closed by the National Institute of Health last fall, has blossomed into the nation's first adult co-educational prison.

The innovative experiment, an answer by the Federal Bureau of Prisons to President Nixon's charge that prisons are often "universities of crime," offers something new in rehabilitating convicted felons.

All of its residents—they're called residents, not inmates—have less than two years to serve of their sentences and most have been handpicked because they have health problems such as drug or alcohol addiction.

There are 60 women among the 375 inmates and the sexes mingle freely during daylight hours. They are housed separately at night.

The prison has minimum security. The main gate to its 300-acre grounds is always open. The guardhouse is empty. Those on duty inside the institution are not armed.

Only nine "residents" have walked away since the facility was opened nine months ago—and three of those voluntarily returned.

Charles F. Campbell, warden of the coed experimental prison and a veteran of the prison service, denies he runs a loosely-disciplined prison despite its relaxed atmosphere.

RETURN WITH RANSOM

Algerians Cracking Down On Skyjackers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two airline officials who brought home from Algiers $1 million in recovered ransom Thursday say there are encouraging signs the Algerian government may be considering a stiffer attitude toward hijackers seeking refuge there.

The ransom was paid to five persons who identified themselves as members of the Black Panthers and who hijacked a Miami-bound Delta Air Lines jet on July 31. Three children were with them.

CONTRAST

The Delta officials told a news conference at Dulles International Airport that they dealt directly with Algerian government representatives.

By contrast, representatives of Western Air Lines, when recovering $50,000 hijacked to Algeria in June, dealt mainly with officials of the government-owned airline, Air Algérie.

"This would indicate some official recognition of the problem," said Shelby Dement, Delta's vice president for marketing administration.

"We expressed our concern about the extortion and other criminal actions and said that unless this could be stopped there would be more of it.

"They did not commit themselves, but we got the impression that the Delta hijackers were not given official sanctuary."

Eugene H. Stewart, a Delta security officer, said they couldn't tell whether the hijackers were still in custody. "But there was some speculation that the hijackers have stayed their welcome."

Dement said that as far as persuading Algeria to return the hijackers for trial in the United States, "we leaned as hard as we could under the circumstances."

BAD SITUATION

"They agreed it was a bad situation and there has to be a way to stop it," but "would not give a commitment that the hijackers would be returned or that they would change their policy," he said.

The officials said they learned that the five hijackers tried to smuggle $300,000 of their extortion loot into Algeria by hiding it in their clothing and on their bodies.

"They had quite a session about this," Stewart said. "An accurate count has been made, and the hijackers did not get away with any of the money."

Dement said they went to Algiers thinking they were invited to discuss the situation and unaware they were going to get the money back.

No, Don't Go

Jean Adams'
TEEN FORUM

ROAD STORY: (Q.) For a while Roger and I had it on pretty good. In April we ran away together and spent two weeks on the road.

While we were gone I found out two things — I like Roger and he is a sorry, lying —. I have been trying to stay away from him but we see each other pretty often. He wants to take off again and I do, too.

My parents forgave me the other time. They are real modern and understanding. I think they would forgive me again. I am 14, nearly 15. Roger is 16. Should I go with him again? If we hurry, we could get back before school starts — Wants to in Washington State.

(A.) No, do not go. What you did is dangerous. That time you got back alive. Another time you might not. That time you found out that Roger was sorry and a liar. Another time you might find out worse things, and regret it all your life — if you lived long enough to regret it.

Face it. You are 14 and responsible. Act that way, even if your parents are too permissive. I believe in forgiving parents, but they should try not to be foolish, too.

CALLER: (Q.) My friends and I made a bunch of prank phone calls to a boy I like. I finally got up the nerve to call him and use my own name and tell him about the calls.

I told him I only like him as a good friend. That is not so. I like him very much, but I don't want him to think I'm chasing him. I asked him if I could call him again and he said yes. I have called him nearly every day since then. I have asked him to call me but he never does.

Should I keep on calling him? He is friendly and seems to like to talk to me. — No Calls in North Carolina.

(A.) Quit calling this boy. Give him a chance to call you if he is interested, he will. If he isn't, he won't.

MING SACRIFICIAL ALTAR — Chinese tourists walk away from the circular sacrificial Altar at the ancient Temple of Heaven in the southern suburbs of Peking. Built during the Ming Dynasty in the 15th Century, the temple complex was once barred to the common Chinese. Today tourists walk where once even the emperor had to kowtow.

Common Folk Eye Hall Of Prayers

PEKING (AP) — The awesome distance between the Chinas of yesterday and today is keenly felt at the mystic Altar of Heaven, in the southern suburbs of Peking.

From its triple terrace of carved marble the emperors of two dynasties and 500 years conversed twice a year with the heaven under whose mandate they ruled.

IMPERIAL POWER
With sacrifices at summer and winter solstices, each emperor confirmed himself as the sole intermediary between heaven and the world at large. It was the concept of Imperial China that all power and therefore all good came from a non-personal heaven and was transmitted solely through the emperor.

The Temple of Heaven was the architectural platform on which the mystical structure of which imperial power and government rested.

Today the temple, built to raise the emperor above the common world, has become a park for the common people.

Visitors don't seem to be in awe of the superhuman powers and position of the emperors of old China. All that's left is an architectural masterpiece, built during the early decades of the Ming Dynasty in the 15th century and kept in repair up to now.

Vegetable Meet Slated Sept. 20

"Monday In Vegetables" will be the title of a vegetable conference to be held in Lamesa, Sept. 20, at the Forrest Park Community center.

The program is sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Tech University.

The purpose of the conference is to look at vegetable production as another economic opportunity for West Texas. Topics to be discussed include the following:
Local Vegetable Production Potential as Related to the State and National Situation; Cost and Return; Marketing Vegetables; Beginning Steps to Vegetable Production; and Sources of Information.
The program begins at 1:00 p.m.

Forsan Enrollment Drop Totals 22

FORSAN — Enrollment is down 22 in the Forsan schools this year, compared to the same time in 1971, although the head count in the top four grades remains exactly the same.
The elementary and kindergarten enrollment at Elbow totals 197, a drop of 22. In the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of junior high, the students totaled 215, the same as last year. In high school, 110 are enrolled.

VFW Is Not Politically Oriented

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars like wars less than any other segment of the population but they fight when they must, the new national commander of the VFW says.

Patrick E. Carr, 50, a lawyer from Metairie, La., was elected commander-in-chief Thursday at the 73rd annual VFW convention.

"The VFW is often depicted as being militant, bloodthirsty and hungry for war," Carr said. "We're not."

He said the VFW is not politically oriented. "We get branded as a political affiliate," Carr said, "and we aren't. We take a stand on issues that affect the security of our country...."

"We have consistently advocated winning the war in Southeast Asia and we have supported each administration in its efforts to bring it to a conclusion. We have commitments to Southeast Asian countries. As a country we must honor those commitments, because if we don't the rest of the world may lose confidence in us and turn to our avowed enemies. "We can't live in isolationism in the world."

Asks Boycott Of Schools

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — South Oklahoma City anti-busing movement leader Jay Smith urged some 1,000 people at an anti-busing rally Thursday night to take part in a city-wide boycott of schools.

"I am proposing an all-out boycott of the schools beginning Monday, Smith said.

"I am asking all parents in Oklahoma City to keep their children home and show the courts that we, the people, mean business." Smith told the crowd he was not proposing a one-day boycott, but was "talking about a boycott keeping our children home until the schools are back in our hands—even if it takes all year."

He asserted that if his listeners sent their children to school in compliance with the so-called Finger Plan they would be committing treason.

Steers Don Pads

By DON COOPER
Herald Sports Editor

At 7:30 a.m. today, the 1972 Big Spring Steers had their first workout of the season in pads. Since organized drills started Monday, the players have been working out in shorts. The emphasis in these drills has been on conditioning.

Today, the tenor of the workouts changed. The coaches can judge the real ability of their players only when the players are in pads.

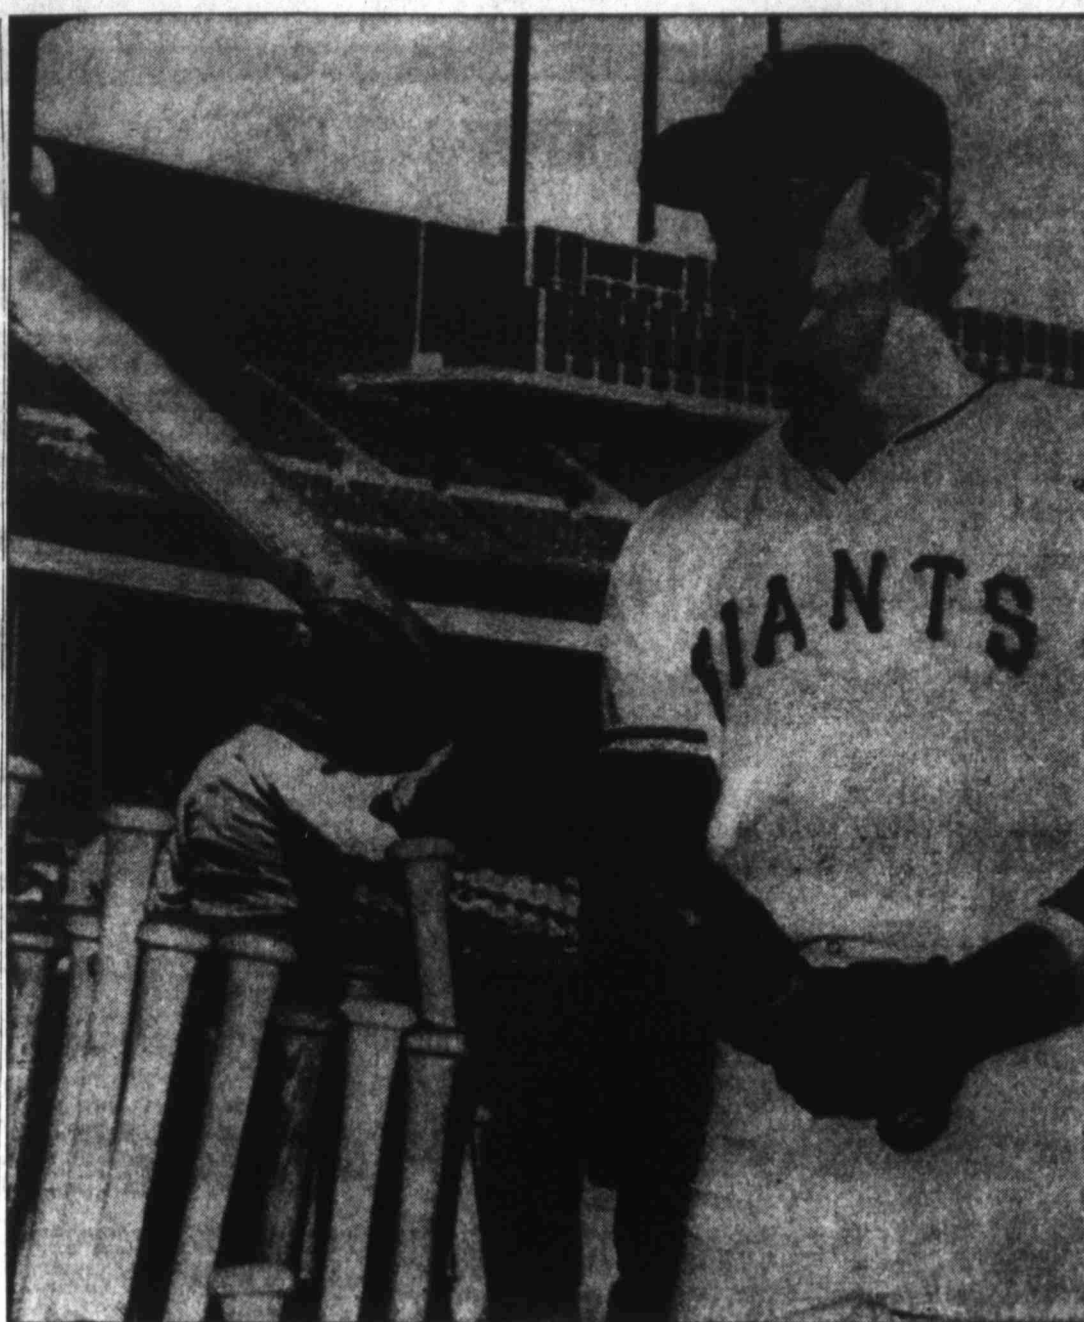

Head Coach Clovis Hale and his staff will not have much time to get the team ready for the first game of the season. The Steers open the 1972 season on the road Sept. 9. They will face tough Lubbock Monterey at 7:30 p.m.

Hale said that the workouts this week were "super." "All I can do is praise the players," Hale commented. "They have been putting everything they've got into the pads. All I can do is praise the players," Hale commented. "They have been putting everything they've got into the workouts. The workouts have been real good; but the boys were anxious to get into pads."

The two-a-days will continue through next Wednesday. Saturday and Monday, both sessions will be in pads. However, Tuesday and Wednesday will have the Steers working out in shorts in the morning drills. "We'll be concentrating on our kicking game in the morning workouts," noted Hale.

The afternoon workouts Tuesday and Wednesday will be in pads. Next Friday, the Steers will journey to Sweetwater for their annual scrimmage game against the Class AAA Mustangs. Hale commented, "I expect that our timing will be a little rough in the scrimmage; however, I'm hoping it will be better than we expect to be."

The Sweetwater scrimmage will pit the number one offensive and defensive units and the number two offensive and defensive units. In the final quarter of the scrimmage, both coaching staffs will get to see their teams in game conditions.

Cowboys Recognize Problems Of Being Number One Team

DALLAS (AP) — "Every week is Super Bowl week when you play as champion." That's the week-by-week obstacle the Dallas Cowboys, champions of the national Football League, face this season, and Coach Tom Landry knows it well.

"We have to realize that each team we play will make us prove we're world champions," Landry said. Landry has perhaps the best material in the NFL to accomplish his goal of a third straight Super Bowl, but a big question looms: Can the Cowboys get there without both Roger Staubach and Duane Thomas? Staubach, sidelined with a shoulder separation in the Cowboys' exhibition game with Los Angeles, has vowed to return by late November.

Meanwhile, Craig Morton, who took the club to the Super Bowl in 1970, is in the saddle. Morton, bothered by arm trouble in the past, says, "I'm throwing as well now as I ever have."

The Cowboys obtained Jack Concannon from Chicago as backup quarterback insurance. Meanwhile, Landry is keeping a close eye on the other veterans to see if they are showing signs of slowing down. "We'll be watching carefully for that one half-step," Landry says. "You never know when age is going to slow a player down."

Landry has young players groomed at almost every position, but it's unlikely they'll see much action. Pat Toomy looms as a possible replacement for George Andrie at defensive end. Andrie has been bothered by back trouble. Toomy and Andrie split time at the position last year.

The Cowboys are deep at running back, despite the departure of Thomas to San Diego. Fullback Walt Garrison proved his clutch ability against Miami in the Super Bowl and tough rookie Robert Newhouse and Claxton Welch give depth at the position. Running back belongs to Calvin Hill and Mike Montgomery, obtained from San Diego in the trade for Thomas.

The receivers include Bob Hayes, Ron Sellers, Lance Alworth, and Billy Parks at the wide posts, with Mike Ditka and Billy Truax at tight end shuttling the plays for Landry. The offensive line of Coach Jim Myers is solid with the return of left tackle Ralph Neely, who suffered a broken leg last season.

Guards Blaine Nye and John Niland are tremendous run blockers and all-pro right tackle Rayfield Wright can handle any defensive end in the league. Dave Manders is a dependable center.

CHIEFS HAVE ONE GOAL KC's Stram Is Optimistic

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs may come up with the best team they've ever had this National Football League season, says Hank Stram, the Chiefs' coach who guided them to three titles in the old American Football League and to the world championship in 1970.

Stram has one major objective for the new campaign: "We must regain the world championship, and that is the goal we will dedicate ourselves to in 1972."

The Chiefs need to improve their specialty teams, mainly kickoff and punt returns, and find a running back who can grind out the yardage with the same authority as Ed Podolak and Wendell Hayes.

Kansas City has two of the game's best kickers, Jerrel Wilson, who had a 44.8-yard punt average in 1971, and Jan Stenerud, the Norwegian placekicker, who made good on 32 of 32 extra points and 26 of 44 field goal attempts.

The Kansas City offensive line is a rugged collection of veterans—tackles Jim Tyrer and Dave Hill, guards Ed Budde and Mo Moorman and center Jack Rudnay. Tyrer has been around for 12 years and Hill and Budde for 10.

The Chiefs' linebacking corps of Willie Lanier, Bobby Bell and Jim Lynch may be the best all-around trip in pro football. Bell is in his 10th season and Lynch and Lanier each in his sixth.

The front four is awesome—ends Marvin Upshaw and Aaron Brown and tackles Curley Cup and Buck Buchanan, Jim Marshalls and Emmitt Thomas, both veterans, are the corner backs.

If the Chiefs have a weakness on defense, it results from the loss of free safety Johnny Robinson, who retired after 12 seasons. Mike Sensibaugh, a second-year pro from Ohio State, Robinson's understudy, takes over.

Jim Kearney, in his eighth year, is stationed at left safety. The Arkansas Razorbacks held their first workout in pads Thursday and Coach Frank Broyles was disappointed with the effort.

"It wasn't what I thought it would be," Broyles said. "The fire kind of refused to light." He said nothing much was accomplished.

"The B team won practically every battle," Broyles said. "We'll just have to get better. The defense was just standing around most of the time, and there was no pursuit."

In an experiment, Jim Bent-on, the starting middle linebacker last year, was being tested at defensive end.

Linebacker Danny Rhodes will be out of action for three or four days with a sprained left ankle. Sophomore defensive back John Moseley is out with a pulled muscle and offensive guard Tom Reed injured his leg during the afternoon practice.

The Razorbacks open their season Sept. 9 against Southern California. Linebacking remains something of a question mark with Fred Forsberg and Chip Myrtle the only proven starters, but the secondary is solid.

Cornerbacks Leroy Mitchell and Billy Thompson anchored a secondary that ranked third in the league for lowest passing yardage given up. Thompson also is one of the league's better punt returners.

Nine-year veteran George Saimes and Charlie Greer are the safeties. Second-year man Randy Montgomery should see considerable action in a reserve role at one of the cornerback posts.

Woodley Pleased With Scrimmage

FORSAN — Head Coach Jack Woodley ran his Forsan Buffaloes through a two-hour scrimmage with Grand Falls Thursday afternoon and came away from the game-condition workout pleased.

"The boys did a surprisingly good job," commented Woodley. "We weren't expecting quite as much as we got because of our lack of experience; but the kids put out a lot of effort and did a good job."

The Buffaloes picked up 314 yards in total offense. They had 196 yards through the air and 118 yards on the ground. Woodley singled out split end Bob Highley for a good offensive performance. Highley caught two touchdown passes in the scrimmage.

Woodley also singled out flanker David Moreno for a good job of downfield blocking from his outside position. "Randy Walls looked real good on offense and defense," noted Woodley. Walls is an offensive and defensive lineman for Forsan.

The Buffalo coaching staff got good looks at three quarterbacks. Senior Mike Murphy and sophomores Landon Soles and Steve Murphy shared the signaling duties. Woodley said that the three turned in good performances. Woodley also praised Mike Murphy for an outstanding performance on the defensive unit.

Also praised by the Forsan mentor were defensive performers Paul Bedwell, Brad Stevens, Tommy Brumley and Robert Wash.

Forsan will scrimmage New Home Aug. 31 at Forsan. The first regular season game for the Buffaloes will be Sept. 7 when they face Stanton 'B' in Stanton.

Weber Quits Ector Post

ECTOR — Jim Weber, athletic trainer at Ector High School for the past four seasons, resigned his position Monday and announced he has accepted a job with a private business firm.

Weber's resignation will become effective at the end of the month. Weber, a Texas A&I graduate, will be employed by Alert Services Inc. Sept. 11 and will move to San Marcos.

Ector head football coach and athletic director Prentis Williams said that he would begin his search for a new trainer immediately.

Redskins' Allen Tries To Decide On Quarterback

Washington Redskins Coach George Allen has a quarterback problem—and the other teams in the National Football League are hoping he solves it soon.

Allen's problem is deciding on a starting quarterback—Billly Kilmer or Sonny Jurgensen? Jurgensen is the 15-year veteran, a former NFL passing champ who holds numerous NFL records and ranks as the league's premier lifetime passer.

Kilmer, meanwhile, is the 10-year veteran who came to the Redskins last year and, when Jurgensen suffered a preseason shoulder injury, stepped right in and led the Redskins to a postseason playoff berth.

In order to decide on a starter, Allen has been letting Kilmer work the first half of each of Washington's preseason games, with Jurgensen handling the second half.

And the results have been nothing less than spectacular. Washington has won all three games played thus far, and won them with ease—33-3 over Baltimore, 41-0 over Denver and 34-10 over Philadelphia.

Kilmer has completed 21 of 41 passes for 294 yards and five touchdowns. Jurgensen has hit on 15 of 23 for 245 yards and four TDs.

All of which means the Detroit Lions, Washington's opponents in tonight's nationally televised exhibition game, figure to have their hands full.

In tonight's only other exhibition contest, the Miami Dolphins host the Atlanta Falcons. In Thursday night's single game, Houston's Dan Pastorini passed for three touchdowns as the Oilers beat St. Louis 33-24.

The Cardinals scored on a one-yard run by Jim Hart, two TD passes by Gary Cuzzo to Ara Person and Don Heater and a Jim Bakken field goal. But Pastorini hit Ken Burrough for 28 yards, Dennis Hughes for seven and Rhet Dawson for 12, all for touchdowns. Charlie Joiner and Lloyd Walsh also ran for Houston tallies.

Oiler second-year quarterback Lynn Dickey dislocated his left hip in the first quarter. There was no immediate word on how long he would be lost to the team.

Five games are scheduled for Saturday. In the only day contest, Buffalo plays Oakland at Berkeley, Calif. In night action, the New York Jets are at Dallas for a nationally televised game. Minnesota is at Cleveland, Pittsburgh meets Baltimore at Tampa, Fla. and San Diego is at New Orleans.

Broncos Have No Punch In Offensive Unit

DENVER (AP) — Jim Turner kicked 25 field goals in 38 attempts last season and might have led the conference in scoring if he had had more than 18 opportunities to kick extra points.

Those figures reveal a good deal about the 1971 Denver Broncos. But the figures had best not be indicative of the 1972 version if the team is to improve on its 4-9-1 National Football League record.

The 18 touchdowns marked a record low for the club and stand as a glaring reminder of Denver's frustrating inability to move the football inside the opponents' 20-yard-line.

So concerned is coach John Ralston with that malady that he plans to use a two-tight end offense in those situations—utilizing the impressive talents of top draft choice Riley Odoms—and has experimented with letting running back Bobby Anderson, a quarterback in college, direct the option deep in enemy territory.

For Ralston, the innovator, nothing is sacred if it'll put points on the board. "Our job won't be a conservative approach," he promises. "We'll always take chances to win games."

His imaginative bent should prove a welcome change for Broncos fans, but whether he can make the club a contender in the tough West Division of the American Conference with virtually the same personnel as last year remains to be seen.

The former Stanford mentor has, however, inherited some solid performers and cohesive units, in the defense and the running game. Headed by a hard-charging

Hogs' Workout Disappoints UA's Mentor

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks held their first workout in pads Thursday and Coach Frank Broyles was disappointed with the effort.

"It wasn't what I thought it would be," Broyles said. "The fire kind of refused to light." He said nothing much was accomplished.

"The B team won practically every battle," Broyles said. "We'll just have to get better. The defense was just standing around most of the time, and there was no pursuit."

In an experiment, Jim Bent-on, the starting middle linebacker last year, was being tested at defensive end.

Linebacker Danny Rhodes will be out of action for three or four days with a sprained left ankle. Sophomore defensive back John Moseley is out with a pulled muscle and offensive guard Tom Reed injured his leg during the afternoon practice.

Nine-year veteran George Saimes and Charlie Greer are the safeties. Second-year man Randy Montgomery should see considerable action in a reserve role at one of the cornerback posts.

Inconsistency and the failure of any of the four quarterback candidates to assume command continue to puzzle the coaching staff. Don Horn was No. 1 before being injured midway through the season; Steve Ramsey started the remaining games. The other prospects are newly acquired veteran Charley Johnson and rookie Mike Ernst.

Animals To Exit?

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP) - The Dallas wildlife preserve, World of Animals, will close for the winter and possibly for good, its general manager, Cleveland Smith, said Thursday.

"We were told by the investors to curtail expenses," Smith said. "Since we have found it economically unfeasible to operate during the winter months, we elected to close to the general public after Labor Day."

Smith said there had been talk of Lion Country Safari, the competing wildlife reserve at Grand Prairie, buying some of the animals from the Mesquite park. "But I rather doubt it," he said. He said a crew would be maintained to care for the animals.

World of Animals opened to the public in September 1970.

Lamesa Students Back In School

LAMESA - School started today for Lamesa students, although rural schools have been operating since the first of the week.

Over 3,500 students are expected to enroll in the Lamesa schools this year with over 1,000 of those expected at the high school. The middle schools enrollment is expected to be down since the fifth graders have been transferred to Central Elementary. The faculty totals 174 in Lamesa.

Gainesville Six Confess Murders

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) - When six Vietnam Veterans Against the War confessed to war crimes in U.S. District Court Thursday, they were putting their "Winter Soldier" on an official court record.

Over the past two years, members of the organization have, in what they call Winter Soldier Investigations, told of atrocities they witnessed or took part in as American soldiers in Indochina. Officials have largely ignored them.

Now, in an official court hearing, William J. Patterson, 23, of Hallandale, Fla., declared, "I've already confessed to the murder of 10 innocent Indochinese people."

Scott Camil, 26, of Miami said he was "guilty of war crimes against the Indochinese people."

Similar statements, made as they stood in battle garb before the court, came from Alton C. Foss, 25, of Miami; John W. Kniffin, 23, of Austin, Tex.; Peter Mahoney, 23, of New York City, and Donald P. Perdue, 23, of Hallandale, Fla.

Choosing to ignore the comments, U.S. District Judge David L. Middlebrooks recorded pleas of innocent for all six to charges of conspiring to disrupt the Republican National Convention with gunfire and explosives.

"Let the record show each of the defendants pleaded not guilty. I can't believe these people would stand up and plead guilty to the murder of innocent people, so I'm going to ignore that," Middlebrooks said.

The Gainesville Six, as they call themselves, told newsmen the charges are "phony" and the truth will be told when they go on trial Oct. 10. They face up to five years in prison if convicted.

They kept defense plans secret, but others among 200 VVAW members and supporters who marched to and from the federal building said the convention was not disrupted by any of their members.

The veterans camped overnight and expected to leave today for their homes or Tallahassee to visit four VVAW members jailed in the state capital for refusing to cooperate with the grand jury that indicted the Gainesville Six.

They were peacemakers and not troublemakers at the convention at Miami Beach this week, the Vietnam Veterans claimed. They said they didn't know of a single VVAW member arrested in street action Wednesday night.

'Hot Spots'

According to geologists, the earth is a tremendous reservoir of heat, with "hot spots" generally occurring near areas of volcanic activity that took place during the relatively recent geologic past.

Nation Does Have A Problem

The population of the United States now stands close to 210 million. Though a precisely accurate figure cannot be quoted as of any given time, the Census Bureau's shrewd estimate is that the total reached 209,291,174 on July 1. That is an increase of 1,713,828 from the estimate on that date in 1971.

That figure — 1,713,828 — should be contemplated by those who suppose that recent declines in the U.S. birth rate relieve our country of its population problem. The increment in actual population — births and immigration, less deaths — is very considerable despite the lower birth rate.

The one-year increase of 1,713,828 is, for example, about equivalent to the population of West Virginia as of the 1970 census. It is about twice the population of New Hampshire, four times the population of Vermont, approximately five times the number of inhabitants of Wyoming. The lesson to be derived from this is that the actual number of people in the United States is rising substantially year by year, though the number of births per 1,000 is going down. Even if the annual increment were held to about 1,700,000 the addition to our total population would be 17 million over the next decade. The increase is in fact likely to be much greater because the population base is steadily increasing. To sum up: The United States does have a population problem, and its pressures on our resources and institutions can be expected to increase markedly in the decades just ahead. Congress should busy itself developing a course of action to deal with this phenomenon.

Politics And Sales

Whatever its financial difficulties, and they are considerable, the McGovern campaign doesn't lack for originality.

Case in point: In Honolulu, the senator's supporters have opened the "McGovern Gas and Go" station, where they will fill your car's tank and discuss politics all the while.

And, with an eye for free enterprise at its heart, they are in competition with nearby conventional gas stations, underselling them five to six cents a gallon while still turning a profit for the campaign coffers.

Naturally, the Republicans can be expected to counterpunch. Already the GOP has adopted some "new politics" tactics, including a young-voter registration campaign, talk of party reform etc.

We await the opening of the Richard Nixon Used Cars lot.

Around The Rim

Steve Hultman

IN THE OLD Jewish shtetl, remote and tiny Jewish communities of Eastern Europe, beggars existed on the philosophy that it was more blessed to give than to receive. Instead of pleading for alms, the beggar demanded them as his right.

This custom will be adopted in the United States, if the National Welfare Rights Association gets its way. They tried to have the Democrats adopt a platform plank calling for a $6,500 per year guaranteed income.

The beggars are demanding their rights — soon the taxpayer will demand his.

DESPITE MASSIVE efforts by both the Democratic and Republican parties to convince voters of their worth, according to a study made by two Washington Post staff writers, the parties have failed to convince most voters that there is much difference between the two parties.

The study indicated that the voters thought the Democratic party would do a better job helping the poor, blacks and the working man, while the Republicans would do a better job helping business. But in questions of controlling inflation, keeping the peace, preserving law and order, holding down unemployment, cutting down drug usage and stilling campus unrest, no difference was seen in the two parties by those polled.

This is a sad commentary on the two organizations from which we draw our national political leadership.

County Judge Mitchell and I want to point out that he is the finest county judge in Howard County.

THE AVERAGE local, state and national tax load on each of the 30,000 Big Spring and area residents for the operation of the Big Spring Independent School District for the 1972-1973 school year is $233.

The budgeting of this money, largest budget in any unit of government in Howard County, as usual was witnessed only by the press.

The school administrators and the school board put in many long, hard hours on that budget. They searched for ways to trim the budget, and found the only practical method was to kill programs or to consolidate some of the elementary schools. They decided to do neither this year, but to study consolidation as a possible future money saving move.

Big Spring is fortunate to have a school administration that works hard to provide quality education at as low a price as possible and a school board that cares enough to spend hours of their free time digging into the very complicated school budget.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

As an unwed mother myself, I have prayed that should my daughters have a choice between death or being violated, that they would choose death as the lesser evil. Recently a popular columnist commenting on this subject said that a mother who preferred death for her child to rape wasn't a loving mother. Only an unwed mother knows the hell of bearing a fatherless child, and the social reprisals which go with it. I wish you would tell our young people that I said virtue is very important O.S.L.

A new, dangerous ethic has crept into our American way of life, and that is sexual freedom among a large part of the population. I believe the Bible had a reason for saying to young people: "Flee youthful lusts." (II Timothy 2:22) Perhaps the greatest freedom is to be freed from the pull of the crowd, and to be true to the moral law of God. You paid the price for such an infraction and you speak from experience. Young people would do well to listen.

I predict that this new-found freedom will be short-lived for young people are by nature heroic and courageous. That is why so many of them are turning to Jesus for He holds out to them lasting ideals which will stand the test of time.

It was a young woman named Joan of Arc in the 12th century who gladly went to stake for what she believed. As the flames leaped up to devour her, she said: (in Shaw's version) "It is better to be alone with God: His friendship will not fail me, nor his counsel and love. In his strength I will dare and dare and dare until I die."

Cooperate Or Else

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The term "self-regulation" as it applies to the securities business is becoming archaic, it would seem, headed for use mainly as an historical reference to a free-wheeling past.

Over the past four decades the Securities and Exchange Commission has steadily encroached on the powers of brokers and exchanges to run their affairs, in the main because it was felt that self-regulation of them meant self-interest.

Orb Workhorse

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ten years from now a new space-ship called a "space shuttle" is scheduled to be in earth orbit as the workhorse of the nation's manned space program.

"We will go from sending three men to the moon in 1972 to taking as many as a dozen scientists and engineers — and some 30 tons of equipment — into earth orbit and back," said Clyde A. Parton, vice president of Honeywell's Government and Aeronautical Products Division.

Parton's division is charged with providing controls that will vary the thrust of the shuttle's main engines, something not possible on today's spacecraft. By gradually increasing engine thrust in the launch-to-orbit phase, the controls will ensure a less vigorous ride for both passengers and cargo.

Now Wall Street's authority to plan the future of its own industry seems about to be stripped further by Congress, where feeling is said to be strong for introducing, of all things, more competition.

The latest advisory to stock exchanges, one that could be accepted, is to eliminate altogether those fixed minimum commissions that small investors claim take too large a bite out of their profits.

In place of standard commissions, which now are set by the industry under SEC regulation on orders of less than $300,000, the fees brokers charged would depend on how badly they wanted the business — that is, competitively.

In the easier days, all commissions were fixed. If you wanted to buy a share in America, as the term goes, you generally had no choice but to pay the existing fee.

In the past, a broker performed a wonderful service so long as it was construed as a service. But as times changed and the brokerage industry didn't, brokers came to be viewed as obstructions in the way of the right to buy.

Self-regulation too often was interpreted by the industry as the right, even the obligation, to protect members. And invariably this protection seems to have come at the public's expense.

Now the House Commerce subcommittee that, among many suggestions, urges an end to fixed fees, states that "the phrase 'self-regulation' be assigned to the past," and "cooperative regulation" be substituted.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., warns that legislation "will be introduced unless further steps are taken to introduce more competitive pricing, eventually ending a practice that promoted inefficiency."

"If the securities industry expands as much energy in adjusting to a competitive system as it has in debating its wisdoms," the report stated, "the subcommittee is convinced that the industry will not only survive, but it will flourish."

The new term may be "cooperative regulation," but anyone in the industry can recognize that as an euphemism. It would be too blunt to say "cooperate or else."

They have sealed the mouths of all the strikers with adhesive tape. The strikers are demanding higher pay.

Extremists Could Hurt

Marquis Child

MIAMI BEACH — The picketers chant outside the Fontainebleau Hotel. Long-haired, most of the men stripped to the waist, they wave a variety of red flags. Part of the picketers sitting down in the entrances to the hotel, which is headquarters for the Republican convention, prevent many of the guests from entering to attend the $500-a-plate gala dinner.

"KEEP OUT THE rich," the picketers chant. "... you, Richard Nixon," "workers and students, unite." They are burning an American flag. In the early dusk the television cameras zero in and the powerful television lights give the whole scene the eerie look of a Hollywood production.

A black shiny limousine manages to get through the picket lines. It is immediately surrounded by the demonstrators who pound on the windows of the air-conditioned car. Then a solid line of helmeted, brown-uniformed Florida highway patrolmen move in. They sweep back the demonstrators and the clogged traffic on Collins Avenue begins to move.

The gala honoring Mrs. Richard Nixon and her daughter, Tricia, goes on without interruption. They are flanked at the head table by Gov. and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller. While some of the guests were shaken by the ordeal of forcing their way through the screaming picketers, the diners who have paid their $500 for the re-election of the President are confident of their own righteousness. Implied in their self-confidence is the conviction that they are the wave of the future or, at any rate, the immediate future.

IN A PRO forma convention in which news is scarce or nonexistent the chanting picketers are making their own contribution to the re-election of President Nixon. As seen on the television screens across the country they provide the contrast with all that is tidy, secure, proper, promising for a future, with the Nixon image embodying the good and the true.

There can be little doubt that to the average American the alienation of these far-out protesters — the hippies, zippies, yippies — is repelling. Concentrating on the Republican convention, having abstained when the Democrats were here, they are certainly no help to the McGovern-Shriver ticket. If the Committee to Re-elect the President is not paying them $50 a head per demonstration, as one cynic put it, they are being cheated.

SMALL IN numbers — it is doubtful that they can turn out the 4,000 threatening to close off the streets leading to the convention hall on the climactic night — they are nevertheless a phenomenon to be reckoned with. They may be naive enough, self-indoctrinated enough, to believe their impact is antiwar, anticrime, antiestablishment. But, conceivably, the effect could be just the opposite.

An abiding fear of Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, is a right-wing revolution triggered by extremists on the left. Revolution may be too strong a word and Kissinger's fears may be conditioned by the fact that as a youngster he escaped with his family from Nazis in 1938 as Hitler consolidated his savage grip on the Third Reich with the liquidation of 6,000,000 Jews.

A repression by force not only of the extremists but of all forms of dissent may be nearer the mark. This is where the Nixon Administration, with the big majorities that to most Republicans here seem an inevitable result of the November election, will have to exercise a restraint that has so far not been evident. Why, the right wingers demand, should things like the demonstration outside the Fontainebleau be allowed to go on? Why shouldn't these people be locked up, put away somewhere?

THAT IS the kind of pressure that will mount if the Nixon triumph is as great as now anticipated. It can find expression in the Department of Justice, in the courts, in the power of the police.

To contain these pressures will take not only restraint but the kind of leadership that President Nixon has thus far rarely shown.

NEW YORK (AP) — Of all the individualists in Hollywood, Robert Redford is perhaps the most individual.

The actor, currently starred in "The Candidate," an uncompromising look at politics, seldom runs with the herd and insists on being his own man.

"Bob Redford is a solid, confused citizen" is the way he describes himself — with a wry grimace. A lifelong victim of wanderlust, he prizes the "mystery and privacy of life," and says, "I never have been comfortable except at the beach, the desert or the mountains.

"I like places where the people put no demands on you," he remarked. "You are what you are, and you create your own existence. I love space, freedom and the outdoors, wandering through unexplored territory where you Tall, handsome Redford became a candidate for matinee idolom with his rousing and likable role in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." But the idea of being pigeonholed in any way is repellent to him. He feels that modern life tends too much to package man and label him.

"I operate on the principle that you should always keep from feeling completed — to feel that you always have something more to find out, and to be free of tags and labels. That's the only way to stay alive.

Wild Traffic Signs

Robert E. Ford

Some men came into our street the other day and added a little brightness into all our lives.

What they did was erase the old, dirty-white stripes in the middle of the street by painting them a glorious orange.

Thought this art work was just an added bonus for people as a reward for paying taxes.

But no. Texas' entire system of highway and street markings and signs are being turned topsy-turvy with a new set.

Guess it is about time something this radical was done, for people never did understand the ones we've had.

For instance, on the corner where we live, there are four signs, all reading "Stop." A survey the other morning showed that only about one person in five could understand those four little letters. Most persons seem to think the signs say "Slow" as they decelerate to about 20, then hit the gas pedal again.

So it is about time we changed our signs since most motorists are too old to be sent back to the first grade for another bout with McGuffey's Reader.

Many of the new signs replace words with pictures.

Tom H. Taylor of the Texas Highway Department reports that not until about 1977 will most of the signs be changed.

The matter of pictures instead of words began in Europe, where a multitude of languages makes pictures necessary for drivers.

But the same sign may not penetrate the brains of all persons with equal clarity.

You all recall the old, old story of the farmer driving a lone mule pulling the wagon when he came upon the first road sign he had ever seen. It said, "Speed limit 25."

The farmer hauled out his whip and began beating the mule.

"Com on, Bessie," he shouted to the animal. "I don't know whether you can go that fast, but you gotta try."

The new road stripes are not too difficult to interpret.

A white dashed stripe means one-way traffic.

A dashed orange stripe means two-way traffic.

A solid orange stripe means no passing in that lane.

Not a lot of change there. It is the roadside signs that may throw persons for a time.

Not much longer will there be the words "school crossing." This becomes a picture of two people with lunch boxes, the taller helping the shorter across the street.

Moon's Influence Stretching Earth's Days

By FRANK MACOMBER
Military-Aerospace Writer
Copley News Service

Man's preoccupation with space flight of the 1960s is waning, partly because he has conquered space to a great extent with trips to the moon. Moreover, the science-fiction thrill of the unknown beyond the earth has all but vanished. There will be more space adventures, to be sure. But right now some of the most exciting space research developments have more to do with the earth than the mysterious regions stretching into infinity above our atmosphere. IMPROVE THINGS Most aerospace companies already are using space-related expertise and technology to improve things on our own globe. Some of these offshoots are incredible, like the Boeing Co.'s $500,000 contract from an African firm to study the potential development of tourism at a multimillion-dollar resort complex on the Senegalese coast near Dakar, West Africa. Others are fascinating, like what the TRW Systems Group's technicians and scientists found out about the oceans while they were developing heat exchanger tubing for seawater desalting plants. FOR EXAMPLE They discovered, for example, that the same oceans which someday will supply fresh water for man already have another, more subtle effect on his life. They make each day a tiny bit longer. It works like this: The moon's gravitational pull lifts the waters of the earth slightly, forming two bulges — one on the side toward the moon, the other on the side opposite the moon. These watery bulges move around the globe as it rotates and are a source of the tides. RUBS BOTTOM Where the oceans are most shallow, the water in effect rubs against the sea bottom, applying frictional drag to the earth's rotation. The result: our globe's rotation rate is gradually slowing down. Thus the days are becoming longer. Every 100,000 years, the length of the day is being increased by one second. This is not enough to do away with daylight saving time, but it can't be ignored, either. For example, as recently as the age of the dinosaurs, the days of our earth were a half-hour shorter than they are now. A lot of scientists may claim they have perceived this all along, but did you know it? In the course of developing an efficient propulsion system to keep satellites pointed in the right direction, TRW engineers built what they call the colloid thruster. It works by electrically charging a mist of droplets, accelerating and ejecting them into space at tremendous speeds to create thrust. Back on earth, the engineers applied this principle to an industrial smokestack.

Everybody but the engineers was surprised when the process removed 99 per cent of the particulate matter, such as fly ash, which heretofore had billowed forth into the atmosphere and triggered loud cries of "air pollution." SMOKELESS A series of needles emitting positively charged droplets was speeded toward the negatively charged walls of the stack. On the way they captured most of the dust particles. Result: a virtually smokeless chimney. Now engineers are at work with an asphalt association to remove particles from the smoke of asphalt plants. The asphalt people say it's much better than the costly solutions they have tried in the past, mostly with little success. TRW engineers and technicians who fashioned the Pioneer 10 spacecraft — which swept past the moon's orbit in only 11 hours on its way to distant Jupiter — had to become astronomy students to make certain their unmanned capsule would make the half-billion miles to the planet in two years. So they found that early astronomers named the planets after gods and goddesses and believed each planet "ruled" or had primary influence on one day of the week. Jupiter, the astronomer once insisted, ruled Thursday and so named the day Jove's Day. Our Anglo-Saxon forebears replaced the Roman Jove with their equivalent deity, Thor. Hence we know it as Thor's Day or Thursday. WOMEN'S LIB Incidentally, Women's Lib devotees should be pleased to note that we should thank a goddess — Venus — for Friday. Here's the complete planetary week: Monday — Moon; Tuesday — Mars; Wednesday — Mercury; Thursday — Jupiter; Friday — Venus; Saturday — Saturn; and Sunday — Sun.

Saw Blade Sale Quiz

DALLAS (AP) — Sheriff Clarence Jones ordered investigation today into a prisoner's allegations that a jailer tried to sell him a hacksaw blade for $40. The charge was made by Jimmy Lee Brown, 25, who escaped Wednesday night from the old county jail and was recaptured next day riding a taxicab on the south side of town. Brown, indicated on charges of burglary and possession of stolen credit cards, said a jailer offered him the blade and told him how he could make his escape. Races Are Close In Three Events

DENVER, Colo. — World championship title races are exceptionally close this week in three events, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said. Less than $200 separate the top two winners in saddle bronc riding, calf roping and team roping. In saddle bronc, Mel Hyland, Surrey, B.C., moved into the lead after winning first in the event at two major rodeos springing to the lead. Hyland posted his wins, amounting to $1,417, at Kalispell, Mont., and Rapid City, S.D. His season total is $19,994 — only $198 ahead of J. C. Bonine Hysham, Mont. Reigning world all around and calf roping champion Phil Lyle, George West, Tex., pulled to within $175 of Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, who leads for the 1972 calf roping title with $20,983. Lyle picked up $668 for taking first in the event at Rapid City. His time in the single go-round of competition was 10.2 seconds. And in team roping, Leo Camarillo, Donald, Ore., paced together a series of small wins to overtake Gary Gist, Lakeside, Calif. Camarillo's winnings total $8,621 to Gist's $8,469.

Police Find $200,000 In Stolen Goods

DALLAS (AP) — Police of Highland Park, a Dallas suburb, swooped down on a house in Grand Prairie, another suburb, and recovered an estimated $200,000 in stolen goods, officers reported today. Detective Sgt. Loyd McDonald of Highland Park said the raid Wednesday night resulted in the arrest of a 36-year-old man who authorities believe is a major fence for stolen property. McDonald said a lead developed in the tie-up robbery of Robert Woffard Cain, 80, a Highland Park industrialist, led to this week's arrest and recovery. About $5,000 in cash and jewelry was taken from the Cain home. Police said it may take weeks to sort out the recovered items, determine their value and return them to their owners. Included in the loot were 50 watches, 200 rings, two packets of 400 to 500 loose diamonds and rubies and a large quantity of silverware, cameras, television sets, record players, furs, a coin collection, a stamp collection and stolen credit cards and checks. McDonald said police believe most of the loot came from the Dallas area but there were several pieces from other states.

IT ONLY HURTS FOR A LITTLE WHILE Political Conventions Akin To A Vaccination

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The mayor and a hotel executive view the summer's political conventions as akin to a vaccination: painful now but good for Miami Beach in the long run. But Mayor Chuck Hall said one double dose is enough. Jerry Sussman, president of the South Florida Hotel Association, said it's too early to tell whether the city should invite the politicians back four years from now. "BIG DEAL" Although hotel occupancy at Miami Beach was down 5 to 10 per cent in July and August, he said, the summer proved "we can take on any convention on the face of the earth." "I hope this will bear long-range fruit," said Sussman, manager of the Carillon Hotel. Hall said he only agreed to
