41 RIDERS IN MONEY BILL RULED INVALID

Clips Gov. Smith's Control Over State Spending

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin stripped away more of the governor's control over state spending today.

In a 24-page legal opinion, Martin also held the legislature overstepped its authority when it tried to pass general laws by means of appropriations bill riders or special provisions.

Martin ruled that 41 riders in the appropriations bill for the fiscal year ending Thursday are invalid—most of them requiring the governor's prior approval before various appropriations can be spent.

He found only four riders on a list of 45 submitted by State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert are constitutional. Most of the riders also appear in the new appropriations bill that takes effect Friday.

Last week, Martin ruled that a rider in both the old and the new appropriations bill giving the governor power to transfer funds among state agencies was unconstitutional.

A spokesman said Gov. Preston Smith's staff is studying the new opinion. He said Smith's previous comments would apply and doubted the governor would have anything more to say at this time.

Evidently aware of what Martin was about to say, Smith told newsmen Tuesday that "if the governor is restricted as these opinions seem to restrict him, ... you are going to destroy whatever executive leadership he might provide."

Martin said the Texas Constitution gives the governor only one chance to abridge appropriations passed by the Legislature—when the spending bill is presented to him for signature or veto. A governor can veto individual expenditures, as well as the entire bill.

Aside from the constitutional substantive veto power of the governor granted in Article IV, Section 14, Texas Constitution, there is no other authority provided for him to have a continuing veto power over expenditure of appropriated funds. Any attempt by the legislature to delegate to the governor the power to exercise a continuing veto over such expenditures and at his own discretion would constitute an attempt to increase the governor's veto power," Martin's opinion said. Martin and Smith have been on opposite sides on numerous issues and belong to different factions in Texas Democratic politics. But Martin said the past week he was not acting out of "malice of vindictiveness." His opinions will affect the next governor more than Smith, who leaves office in January, as does Martin.

The Democratic nominee for governor, Dolph Briscoe, said

Saturday he was concerned over the governor's lack of power to regulate spending by state agencies.

Riders struck down by Martin included several prohibiting expenditure of state funds on such things as Department of Public Safety helicopters, building rentals by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and certain land purchases by the prison system without the governor's written approval.

DOUBLE-DARE — Florida millionaire Glenn W. Turner was arrested today in Florida on charges of violating Florida's securities law. The arrest in Sanford, Fla., followed an investigation into the 37-year-old Orlando businessman's company, Dare To Be Great. Turner spent 45 minutes in jail before being released on $20,000 bond, and thanking the arresting officer for his courtesy in handling the arrest.

Experiment In Suicide

DALLAS (AP) — Robert A. Jung, identified by papers as a Wisconsin professor, was found dead early Wednesday after what a medical examiner called "a four-day experiment in suicide."

Jung, 40, was found in a motel room after an ambulance company received a call.

His wife, Jewell June Jung, 38, was taken to a hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises on the arms, face and neck.

Police quoted Mrs. Jung as saying her husband forced her to participate in a bizarre, four-day nightmare of pain and torture.

Police confiscated papers found in the room and declined to disclose specific contents. They said, however, that they "almost read like an epitaph."

Papers in the room identified Jung as a professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee and that he resided at Waukesha, Wis. The documents also indicated that he had published numerous scholastic papers on suicide.

Police said the dead man was found lying against a bed with numerous slashes on his arms, wrists and throat. A double-edged razor blade, apparently encrusted with blood, was found on the floor nearby.

The medical examiner said Jung apparently died as a result of self-inflicted wounds but ordered an autopsy and inquest.

Police said the couple checked into the motel last Saturday and apparently had not left the room since. The medical examiner said death apparently occurred about 11 p.m. Tuesday. He said several of the wounds were inflicted much earlier, possibly soon after the couple arrived at the motel.

Church Festival Raises $11,000

Sacred Heart Catholic Church building fund kicked off to a good start with a festival at the church raising close to $11,000 in one weekend, according to the Rev. Father James Delaney.

The church hopes to get their building program under way in October and will also continue a fund drive while the building is under construction.

Total cost of the new facility is expected to be around $145,000, according to Father Delaney.

A major prize at the festival was a new automobile, presented to Horosio Yanez of 308 NE 9th.

Father Delaney expressed pleasure in the success of the festival and appreciation to all who helped make it a success.

PAY HIKE OKAYED FOR STATE WORKERS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Federal Pay Board says Texas state employees can have the 6.8 percent pay raise given them by the last special session of the Legislature.

Both Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and Gov. Preston Smith announced the approval late Tuesday.

Tower said the raises given about 67,000 employees, effective Sept. 1, had to go before the pay board because they were above the 5.5 percent annual increase allowed by present policy.

"The pay board's approval, which we have expected since we submitted our application, will enable state government to recruit and maintain capable state employees to continue the delivery of essential state services to the Citizens of Texas," Smith said.

Death Ends Chase For Two Youths

CHICAGO (AP) — Two youths who police said took five women hostage in a restaurant holdup were shot to death early today after a wild automobile chase.

The two teenagers were shot as a squad car forced the getaway car off an expressway, causing it to crash. A third youth was captured as he attempted to flee.

The five hostages were treated for cuts from shattered glass. One policeman was wounded in the arm.

Police said the three youths entered the restaurant on the North Side shortly before midnight and robbed the patrons and the restaurant cashier.

As more than 100 policemen gathered outside Kyo's Japanese Restaurant, a woman inside, whom police identified as one of the hostages, screamed to the policemen:

"They are going to kill me. Don't you understand? They've got guns. I want the street clear. Please clear the street."

Police said the gunman forced another hostage to crawl on her stomach from the restaurant to inspect the getaway car which the robbers had demanded.

Police identified the dead youths as Michael Jones, 17, and Michael Larry Griggs, 18. Officers said Jones was killed by a police bullet as the getaway car was forced off the road and Griggs was shot in the head as he attempted to flee.

The third man was identified as Louis Tarver, 21.

The policeman was shot in the arm in an exchange of gunfire during the chase.

Bible Class Gifts Grow

Donations to the Big Spring High School Bible Fund drive rose by $176 for the 24-hour period ending at noon today, bringing the total to $2,017.

Among the 14 gifts received during the period was $50 from the Airport Baptist Church.

Goal of the campaign is $5,500, or enough to insure that the cost of the Bible teaching program can be underwritten for the 1973-74 school year. Prevailing laws say that tax money cannot be used to sustain such a program.

Caleb Hildebrand, pastor of the Wesley United Methodist Church, is chairman of the Howard County Ministerial Association, which is coordinating the push for funds.

Donations can be made out to The Bible Fund and forwarded to the Herald or to Hildebrand.

Dixie Mafia Enforcer Gunned Down In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Stanley Lee Cook, believed by officers to be the enforcer of the loose confederation nicknamed the Dixie Mafia, was shot down in gangland fashion before dawn today.

'THE CREEPER'

The 30-year-old Cook was killed as he and two companions stroled out of a night club. Known to the Dallas underworld and to local and federal agents as "The Creeper," Cook died minutes later in a hospital.

Detectives said Cook was struck by a pistol bullet as he and a young woman and a middle-aged companion were walking to a car parked outside the club.

The woman and the man with Cook were taken to police headquarters for lengthy questioning.

Officers said three shots were fired rapidly. One struck Cook under the right arm, another struck a beauty shop window and it could not be determined where the third shot struck.

Cook was named last week in three civil suits along with John Osorio, former Texas insurance commissioner and a defendant in the Sharpstown bank-loan scandals. The suits claim the defendants were trying to take over Century Development Corp. forcibly.

GUNFIGHT

Detectives said the usually well-armed Cook was not carrying a weapon at the time of the 2:30 a.m. shooting.

Cook came to the attention of Dallas officers more than five years ago when detectives began hearing his name during investigations of underworld shootings and killings.

Cook was shot and seriously wounded in a gunfight in Dallas two years ago. A few months before today's shooting, Cook was arrested by federal agents for investigation of violations of the Omnibus Crime Act. Agents said they seized a number of weapons at his apartment.

The civil suits against Cook, Osorio and others contend that the defendants went to the Century Development offices June 17 and asked C. A. Hamby, board chairman, to sell 2.5 million shares of stock of the firm to Osorio for $5,000. The suits claim one of the men threatened Hamby and his family after he refused to sell.

CIVIL SUIT

Hamby claimed the market value of the stock was eight cents per share and said the 2.5 million shares would give control of the company to any owner. The company has 4 million shares outstanding.

Hamby alleges in the civil suit that he was forced to go to his home June 17 with Osorio, Cook and two other men who seized all the stock books and records of Century.

Murder Sentence At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Charles Henry Alford, 40, was assessed a life sentence in 51st District Court Tuesday after being convicted of the murder of Mrs. Eliza McGowan, who was fatally shot at her home April 4.

Alford claimed he shot in self-defense when the woman reached in her purse and he thought she was pulling a gun. No weapon was found on the victim.

Alford, a parolee from the state penitentiary, was convicted for murder in the same court in 1965 for the slaying of his first wife.

Release Wallace From Rehab Unit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace was released today from the Spain Rehabilitation Center, where he has undergone physical therapy since July 14, and will return to the Governor's Mansion in Montgomery, his press aide said.

Col. Umstead Assumes Command At Base Here

Col. Stanley M. Umstead, Jr., assumed command of the 3560th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB today.

Col. Ronald E. Catton, deputy commander for operations, will act as commander, however, while Col. Umstead attends Pilot Instructor training at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Colonel Umstead's assignment as wing commander was announced in July when it was made known that Colonel Malcolm E. Ryan would be moving to Randolph as commander of the 12th Flying Training Wing.

The colonel is coming to Webb from Korat Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand, where he was wing commander.

He was born Sept. 30, 1928, at Fort Totten, Long Island, N. Y. The son of the late Col. Stanley M. Umstead, Sr., chief of Army Air Corps test pilots in the late '30s, he spent his early years at Mitchell, Boling, Maxwell and Wright-Patterson Air Force Bases.

He was graduated from high school at Manlius, New York, in 1946. After a year at the Virginia Military Institute, he entered the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., and was graduated and commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Force in 1951.

COL. S. M. UMSTEAD JR.

He attended pilot training at Bartow AFB, Fla., and Reese AFB, Tex., receiving his wings in August 1952.

The colonel was initially assigned to the 172d Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Selfridge AFB, Michigan, where he flew F-51s. From June 1953 to April 1956, he flew F-86s with the 431st Sighter Interceptor Squadron at Wheeler AFB, Libya.

Returning to the states, he was assigned to the 539th FIS at McGuire AFB, N. J., where he served as Operations Officer and participated in the testing of the F-106. In July 1960, he was assigned to Headquarters, Air Defense Command, Ent AFB, Colorado as aide-de-camp, first to the Vice Commander and then to the Commander of Air Defense Command.

Leaving ADC in July 1962, Col. Umstead became a student at the Naval War College, Newport, Rhode Island. Upon graduation in 1963, he was assigned to Itazuke AB, Japan, where he served as Operations Officer of the 68th FIS.

In July 1964, he transferred to Okinawa where he joined the 6002nd Standardization Evaluation Group at Kadena AB, as Chief of the Defense Branch and later the Tactical Division. While in this assignment, Colonel Umstead flew 47 combat missions on temporary duty in Vietnam.

In August 1967, Col. Umstead became a student at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Fort McNair, Washington, D. C., and earned a Masters Degree in business administration from George Washington University. While a student at the ICAF, he was promoted to his present grade.

Upon graduation in August 1968, Col. Umstead was assigned to Headquarters, USAF, as Chief of the Weapons Control Branch, Aerospace Defense Division, and later as executive officer to the Director of Operations.

Colonel Umstead served at Korat RTAFB, Thailand, from April 1971, to November 1971, as Deputy Command for Operations and Wing Vice Commander for the 388th Tactical Fighter Wing. He assumed command of the wing on December 15, 1971, and held that position until Aug. 5, 1972. During this tour Col. Umstead flew 160 combat missions in the F-4E.

Married to the former Patricia Fitzsimmons of Denver, Colo., the couple have five daughters: Sheryl, Linda, Diane, Cathy, and Sandra.

T-37 TRAINER ON THE WING One like it crashed Tuesday

Two Webb Officers Eject Safely From Airplane

Second Lt. James H. Issenmann, 22, student pilot in class 73-09, and his instructor, First Lt. Charles E. Henry, 25, escaped injury by safely ejecting from their Cessna T-37 jet trainer before it crashed yesterday south of Gail.

The two Webb officers were on a routine training flight when the accident occurred. The cause has not yet been determined, but is under investigation.

Both pilots were admitted to the Webb Hospital for routine observation, hospital officials reported.

The T-37 hit the ground about six miles west and three and one half miles south of Muleshoe Ranch Road, on property belonging to the Creighton Ranch. It was in an unplowed area, near a ravine, and more than two miles from the nearest structure.

Lt. Issenmann, who entered training July 27, 1972, is a native of Dayton, Ohio. Lt. Henry is also from Ohio, from the town of Dillonvale.

A convoy left Webb shortly after the crash to go to the scene. Guards remained overnight at the crash site to preserve the wreckage for the investigation. The aircraft burned after impact.

Webb's last aircraft accident occurred Sept. 9, 1971, when two Northrop T-38 Talon supersonic trainers collided in mid-air south of Webb. Both made it safely back to the base.

More than 100,000 safe flying hours and 74,166 training sorties have been flown since that accident. The last fatality occurred in December, 1969 in Scurry County.

Heavy emphasis on flying safety and outstanding maintenance have kept Webb's flying safety record good.

Bombs To Continue, President Declares

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon will welcome Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka to Hawaii tonight for summit talks he hopes will strengthen prospects for peace in the Pacific.

Nixon scheduled a full morning of work at the Western White House here before taking off from the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station for Honolulu's Hickam Field.

While on the island of Oahu, Nixon will spend most of his time with Tanaka. But he will hold a Vietnam conference Thursday with Ellsworth Bunker, U. S. ambassador to Saigon, and will set aside some time for trying to win friends and influence voters.

GOODWILL HOPPING
A campaign-style welcome was readied for him at Hickam, and he planned to mingle with Hawaii's business and political leaders at a reception given by Clare Boothe Luce, who served as ambassador to Italy during the Eisenhower administration.

Trail Ride Set Friday Night

Reservations must be made before 9 p.m. Thursday for the Howard County Youth Horsemen trail ride Friday night at the Morgan Ranch.

Call Mrs. Donna Chaney at 263-4159 or Mrs. Wanda Smith at 263-2365 for reservations. Adults must pay $1.50, and children, $1.

Horsemen will meet at 6 p.m. for the ride starting at 6:30 p.m. After a night on the ranch, another ride may be held Saturday.

Value Of Tax On Tourism Is Recited By Marshall

The Tourism Task Force of the Chamber of Commerce made plans Tuesday to raise money for the promotion of tourism in Big Spring.

Chairman of the group, Arnold Marshall, addressed a group of motel-hotel owners and managers in reference to a possible three percent occupancy tax to be levied on rooms rented to overnight customers.

He explained the money resulting from such tax will be used in the promotion of Big Spring through publicity and advertising, or to construction and improvement of facilities which may draw more tourists to Big Spring.

According to Marshall, state statute provides a municipality with the authorization to levy the occupancy tax, also providing that the money resulting therefrom can be used only for the promotion of tourism.

He stressed the need for Big Spring to get in on the ground floor of the growth of tourism.

Presently, Texas and Florida are the two top states in the nation with tourism trade, said Marshall. Florida having learned the ropes well enough to detain the average tourist six days longer in the state than Texas has.

There's plenty of money in the tourist business, and it's growing. In 1964, tourists invaded Texas in an army of 14.2 million, spending $680 million amounting to $74 million in taxes.

As recently as 1971, non-Texans toured Texas, spending $1.8 billion, accounting for $166 million of our taxes.

Marshall said Big Spring needs to get on the lists of tourism cities, providing entertainment, historical attractions or convention center, anything to emphasize the unique nature of Big Spring, and enticing more people to stop in Big Spring, and causing those already here to spend "just one more day" in the city.

IRRITATE CUSTOMERS
One local motel owner argued that the tax will irritate his customers, many of whom are not tourists, but contractors, construction workers and sales representatives.

Ken Carter noted that most major cities in the West Texas area have already applied the tax to promote their cities: Abilene, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Lubbock and Amarillo.

The committee agreed to proceed with their plans of requesting the tax. Representatives of the group will face the city commission at a time yet undetermined, to request the city to levy the occupancy tax for the promotion of Big Spring.

ence Nixon held Tuesday outside his San Clemente home.

Some of the highlights: —Bombing of North Vietnam and the mining of its harbors will continue until there is substantial progress toward a settlement of the war. Neither activity will be halted "as an election eve tactic."

'BUG' STAND
—Of the controversial bugging of Democratic National Committee headquarters, he said: "We want the air cleared. We want it cleared as soon as possible."

Washing Thieu's Name in the Senate

Thieu Should Be Offered Asylum In United States?

NEW YORK (AP) — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu should be offered political asylum in the United States if he feels endangered by a postwar settlement, Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern said today.

"General Thieu has been our man in Saigon," McGovern said. "We put him there. He may not represent the ideals of democracy, but he's our man."

GET OUT
Two weeks ago, in an interview with newsmen in Milwaukee, McGovern had said he expected Thieu and his colleagues would flee Saigon into exile should a Communist-dominated government take over South Vietnam.

"I would expect Gen. Thieu and his cohorts to leave very quickly," he said in that interview. "My guess is that they would leave if I won the election."

Trailer Club Schedules State Rally This Week

The Holiday Rambler Travel Trailer Club will be holding its annual State of Texas Rally in Newman Park and Nolan County Coliseum in Sweetwater, Texas Sept. 1-3-4.

The state organization consists of 18 clubs covering the entire state. The club also has members from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana and Mexico.

The local club, known as "The Big Country Ramblers", has 56 members.

Pre-registration figures had reached 156 trailers by last Wednesday. More than 200 trailers are expected.

The four days will be a weekend of entertainment, with something to appeal to all attending. Tourna ment-type events such as bridge, "42", dominoes, and golf fishing will provide prizes for the winners.

Saturday night will be highlighted by an Hawaiian "luau" with plenty of food and music for dancing provided by a West Texas band.

Sunday evening will feature old fashioned barbecue catered by the "Chuck Wagon Gang" of the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce. Movies will be shown and skits performed by talent found in the various clubs belonging to the State organization.

Invitations have gone out to more than 800 Holiday Travel Trailer owners in Texas. The Sweetwater facility has accommodations for approximately 600 trailers.

Pioneer Reports Greater Earnings

NEW YORK — Pioneer Natural Gas Company's earnings for 1972 are estimated between $1.25 and $1.30 per share according to a prediction made today by Burton P. Smith, company president, speaking before a group of New York security analysts. Smith reviewed the earnings of the company for this year, which have increased 11.4 per cent over 1971 and outlined plans for new and increased sales which will amount to $17 million on an annual basis.

Four executives of Pioneer appeared before the New York analysts. In addition to Smith, the company was represented by K. B. Watson, executive vice president and director, A. F. Cox, executive vice president and director, and president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company's subsidiary, Pioneer Nuclear, Inc., and E. S. Morris, president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company's producing subsidiary, Amarillo Oil Company.

Watson explained that Pioneer's gas reserves are excellent with the company's reserve life index exceeding 15 years at this time.

Cleanup Time

Jean Adams'
TEEN FORUM

CATS: (Q.) We have nine cats. My mother talks to them constantly, but she does not keep the house clean behind them and it smells awful. I am terribly embarrassed when any of my friends come by. I don't invite them, but sometimes they come by anyway. Please help me. — 16-Year-Old Boy in Maine.

(A.) You can start a cleanup. Build boxes for the cats. Teach the cats to use the boxes. Start today cleaning up the house, room by room.

Ask your mother and father to give you money for the mops, brooms, pans, soap, cleansers, boards, sand and other things you need.

This will awaken them to the fact that something unusual is going on.

When they start asking questions, talk to them about how dangerous to health living in an unsanitary house is.

Urge them to help you keep it shining and sweetly clean or get rid of the cats.

Your mother seems to like the cats as companions. If she likes them enough maybe you can convince her they are worthy of sanitation as well as conversation. my father and mother work. When they come home in the evening they are just impossible. I can't talk to them about anything without getting into some kind of argument.

What can I do besides run away? — About to Scream in Alabama.

(A.) Late in the afternoon when everyone is tired is a poor time to talk about problems. Many families have discovered that a weekly meeting at a carefully chosen time reduces the squabbling.

The meeting is held at a time when all can be reasonably rested and relaxed. Each member, no matter what his or her age, gets to talk about what is on his or her mind, and agreements are worked out in a rational way.

An hour a week is well invested in such a meeting. Suggest to your parents that your family try it. But wait until they are rested to make the suggestion.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of the Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 2602, Houston, Texas 77011.)

THE TEACHER GLUT IN TEXAS — I Jobs Still Available If...

Editor's Note: A declining birthrate and an enrollment explosion in colleges and universities have brought on a nationwide surplus of teachers. This is the first of a two-part series exploring the problem in Texas.
By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

Despite the widely publicized glut of teachers, those in Texas can still find jobs, if they teach math, science or special education or are willing to forsake the bright lights. That's the conclusion of an Associated Press survey of the teaching profession. Educators across the state all report a need for teachers of math, science, special education—especially speech therapists and in some cases language teachers. The big oversupply is in liberal arts and the social sciences, they say.

HISTORY LESSON
"A history teacher today doesn't have a chance," said Supt. Ivan W. Fitzwater of the North East Independent School District in San Antonio. "We could hire 200 tomorrow for example."

A personnel officer at the Wilmer Hutchins district in the Dallas-Fort Worth area says, "We need chemistry, and math teachers but we always have it's nothing new. We need a speech therapist. I've been looking for a speech therapist everywhere. I've called three or four universities and I can't get one. But we've got English teachers and history teachers running out of our ears."

Teachers, like the rest of Texans, are flocking to urban areas and jobs are scarce there. This year, the Houston Independent School District, the sixth largest in the nation, had 9,000 applicants and hired 186 teachers.

VALLEY WORK
In the Dallas Independent School District 3,000 applied and 400 were placed. In the San Antonio Independent School District there were 1,500 applications and 375 hired, and in Austin 400 of 4,000 got jobs.

But James T. Ogg, superintendent of the Brownsville Consolidated Independent School District, the largest in the Big Grande Valley, says his district has had problems getting teachers.

"If they meet the qualifications they'd have an excellent chance in Brownsville. We still have about 20 vacancies out of a total of 857 teachers. We realize there are teacher surpluses in metropolitan centers...but our salary schedule is not attractive enough to get them to come to the Valley."

The Texas State Teachers Association runs an employment bureau in Austin and just before school started in the state they had 2,250 persons registered for jobs.

There were no vacancies listed from Austin, Houston, Dallas, and San Antonio said Beck Bever, who helps run the registration bureau.

BIG CITY DESIRES
"But there are a number of rural areas, like along the Border and in the Upper Valley, where they really need teachers. Some of those schools that started today didn't have all the teachers they wanted." "I think where the flood is," said Miss Beaver, "is that young, unmarried graduates want to go to the big city. It is the little rural places that still need teachers."

"If your people were only willing to go where the jobs are, we would have only a small surplus," agrees A. C. Murphy, director of teacher placement at the University of Texas. "It's a matter of distribution to a great extent. Also it's a matter of mobility. They have a husband or wife or boyfriend somewhere and want to be there too."

Most of the big city districts also reported less demand for elementary teachers, brought on by the sagging birth rate. Until last year, said Supt. Fitzwater of San Antonio's North East District, some 1,200 new pupils were expected every year. But the net gain last year was only 480.

USE PILL
"So you can see right there, that's about 700 pupils less, or probably 35 to 40 teachers less than needed because of the declining birthrate..."

"In our particular neighborhood we have a largely middle class school district and this is where the declining birthrate has been most marked in its effect. These kind of people use the pill and really use it."

The biggest classes now at North East are in the fourth and fifth grades and below that "there's a tremendous dropoff..."

Dr. Harold H. Hitt, superintendent of the San Antonio Independent District agrees. He said the number of pupils entering the first grade state and nationwide has been dropping. "Our first grade has been shrinking each year for several years."

Another result of widespread contraceptive advice has been that many women teachers are postponing births or limiting the size of their families, making fewer jobs available to others, the survey shows.

Fitzwater says it is "absolutely" true that women teachers are waiting longer and having fewer children. "They seem a most disappointed that they're pregnant."

GIVE UP
Many teachers have just about given up looking for a school job and turned to other fields, says Jack S. Motley of the Texas Employment Commission in Houston.

He said TEC records statewide show hundreds of teachers have abandoned their training.

United Way Chairmen Meet Again Thursday

A second major report meeting on this year's United Way campaign is scheduled for noon Thursday, with all division chairmen expected to have reports on major progress toward the $113,640 goal.

Campaign Chairman R. E. Hickson said indications are that response is good. The Fund Wednesday stood at $22,198, with the Thursday meeting expected to produce a substantially higher sum.

The total included $4,256 from a special solicitation by the Big Spring Rotary Club, all of whose members entered into the early contact of prospects.

The employe division is just getting under way, and was sparked by a 100 per cent giving from employes of both the First National Bank and the Security State Bank. Both groups registered increases above last year.

"This is the pattern we must follow," said Tom Locke, employe division chairman. "We are asking only the fair share, which is suggested to be, for paid workers, one hour's pay per month. Many employers are cooperating by offering a payroll deduction plan."

United Way leaders emphasize that modest increases in pledges are necessary, since the amount need to finance 14 welfare and youth guidance agencies is higher than before, mostly due to increased expenses.

Meanwhile, a major segment of the campaign was kicked off Thursday morning, when Webb Air Force Base people met to organize a major effort for the Combined Federal Campaign. Federal employes, include Air Force, are handling all welfare appeals in one drive, and will be seeking support for four international service agencies plus eleven national health agencies, in addition to the local United Way organizations.

The campaign at Webb is being directed by Col. H. D. Shultz and Maj. Joe L. Gill.

Air Piracy Suit Filed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Suit was filed here Tuesday seeking more than $40 million in damages from American Airlines for two passengers aboard a plane that was hijacked shortly after it left Oklahoma City's municipal airport July 13.

The suit was filed by Ellonore Webb and Rachel Johnson. Both women alleged they required medical treatment after the hijacking and probably will require additional treatment. They accused the airline of negligence in not screening passengers.

Each woman asked $2 million in punitive damages. In addition, Doyle Webb, husband of Ellonore Webb, joined her suit, asking payment for $5,000 in medical expenses paid and anticipated. The Webbs seek a total of $160,500 in addition to the $2 million and the Johnson suit asks an additional $108,500.

Melvin Martin Fisher of Norman was arrested in the case and now is awaiting trial on an air piracy charge.

Building Collapse

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — One worker hung for 15 minutes on the third floor of a building which collapsed in downtown Port Arthur early today and his brother was buried under debris.

Harry J. Richard, 23, saved himself by clinging to some two-by-fours when the floor gave way beneath him. He was rescued by a fellow worker, Oscar Groves, who managed to pass him a rope over which he climbed down unhurt.

Harry's brother, Martin Richard, 42, was buried under a pile of roofing materials. It took firemen, using saws, 30 minutes to cut him loose. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where his injuries were believed not serious.

Taxes Are Raised In Ector County

ODESSA — Ector County Commissioners Court adopted a $4,594,753 budget Monday for 1973, $104,651 more than the 1972 budget.

The assessment rate was increased from 22 to 24 per cent of true market value. But the special farm to market and lateral road tax rate was reduced from 24 cents per $100 valuation to 20 cents.

County Auditor Bill Hicks was reported making revisions to allow 189 county employes three per cent pay increases.

Garbage Strike Stretches Into Third Day At Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A strike by city sanitation workers went into a third day with no prospects for a settlement today.

The striking employes voted unanimously Tuesday to stay off the job as city officials were taking applications to replace them. More than 150 refused to report for work Monday because of a dispute over a wage increase.

Token garbage service was offered as employes in other city departments, including off-duty policemen, manned sanitation vehicles.

After meeting in executive session, city councilmen issued a five-point statement concerning what they called "an illegal work stoppage."

Mayor Morris Turner said the council's position was that employes would be reinstated

Sales Tax Voted In At Midland

MIDLAND — A one per cent sales tax was given voter approval Tuesday by about three to one, with approximately 7,200 voting.

Voting for the tax were 5,309, and 1,821 registered their opposition.

Midland was deciding how it will resolve a $200,000 deficit in the projected city budget. Previously, Mayor Ernest Angelo said the City Council would reduce property taxes up to three per cent if the sales tax proposal carried.

Lowest Tax Rate Set In Scurry

SNYDER — Scurry County commissioners set the lowest tax rate in the history of the county in their meeting here Monday. The new rate is 78.5 cents per $100 valuation, based on 11.25 per cent of actual value. Last year, the rate was 85 cents.

Assessed valuations in the county are up from $169,546,789 to $182,670,840.

The increase in oil production was cited as the reason for the lower tax rate, commissioners stated.

The county expects to collect $1,419,627 in taxes.

Secretaries Get Advice On Duties

"Rights versus Responsibilities" of a good secretary were discussed by Mrs. Harlan Huegretse, faculty member at Howard County Junior College, when she was guest speaker for National Secretaries Association Monday evening in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Mrs. Huegretse emphasized that good grooming is important for any secretary. She discussed how to handle specific office problems that often arise and reviewed some basic aspects of human relations.

Mrs. Sue Ratliff presided, and members agreed to conduct a bridge marathon this year. Both men and women players are needed. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Aubrey Bryans at 263-3703 for further information.

Members planning to attend an area forum hosted by Amarillo NSA Chapter Sept. 23 are Mrs. Ratliff, Mrs. Frank Long, Mrs. Vic Ames and Mrs. Bryans.

Mrs. Robert C. Lowe, secretary to the chief of security police at Webb AFB, was guest for the dinner meeting. The next meeting is at 7 p.m., Sept. 25 at Coker's Restaurant.

Newlyweds To Make Home Near Lamesa

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Friendship Baptist Church, Lamesa, was the scene Aug. 18 for the wedding of Susan Janette Yeilding and Barry Norman O'Brien. The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. S. L. Yeilding, and the bridegroom is the son of J. T. O'Brien and the late Mrs. O'Brien. All are of Star Rt. 4, Lamesa. The Yeildings are formerly of Westbrook.

The bridegroom, a Klondike High School graduate, attended Hardin-Simmons University and graduated from Texas Tech University. The bride graduated from Lamesa High School and is employed by Brown Motor Company, Lamesa. After a

Dinner Held To Honor Retirees

Two recently-retired postal service workers were honored at a dinner Saturday evening at Furr's Cafeteria. Host groups were the local units of National Association of Letter Carriers and American Postal Workers Union.

Diamond tie tacks were presented to Alvin Smith and Emory Parrish as retirement gifts. Both men retired June 30. Smith spent 44 years as a postal service employee and was superintendent of mails at the time of his retirement. Charles Dickson presented his tie tack on behalf of the host groups.

Parrish was foreman of carriers when he retired after 25 years of service. His tie tack was presented by Tom Conway, president of the letter carriers union.

Frank Hardesty, postmaster, was guest speaker, and Willard Hendrick served as master of ceremonies. About 50 attended. Dining tables were decorated in a postal delivery theme, using symbols of delivery including pony express, train, truck and airplane.

Eagles Auxiliary Accepts Member

Mrs. Lillian Lyanouski was accepted for membership in Eagles Auxiliary No. 3188 Monday evening at the Settles Hotel. Upcoming events for the auxiliary include a salad supper at 8 p.m., Sept 8 at the hotel, and a meeting at 8 p.m., Sept. 11 at the hotel.

Leaders Elected For Community

New officers for the Drum Right community were elected at a meeting Monday evening in the community center. The slate includes Eugene Smith, community chairman; H. L. McMillan, vice chairman; Mrs. J. Lynn Glass, secretary; and Mrs. Jesse Overton, historian.

The men of the community will meet at 8 p.m., Saturday to make improvements to the community center.

TICKETS AVAILABLE Benefit 'Galaxy Ball' Aids Mental Health

The Texas Association for Mental Health is "shooting for the moon" this year as it makes plans for its most elaborate "Galaxy Ball" yet. The annual fund-raising gala will be Sept. 23 at the El Paso Country Club.

A Midland woman, Mrs. John Caldwell, is joining hundreds of volunteers across Texas who are working on plans for the Galaxy Ball. Her appointment was announced by Mrs. Joe Christi of El Paso, general chairman for the ball.

Mrs. Caldwell is a member of the Midland Auxiliary to Big Spring State Hospital. Tickets for the $1 donation prizes at the ball may be obtained through the volunteer services office at the hospital.

As a representative for the Galaxy Ball, Mrs. Caldwell will promote attendance and publicize the event, as well as aid ticket sales. Prizes to be awarded include a 1972 Fiat 124 Sport Coupe, a 36 by 60 inch oil painting by Robert Massey of El Paso, a 45 piece service of Dendey Stoneware, glassware, wardrobe, watch, luggage, jewelry and other gifts.

Proceeds from the ball are used by the Texas Association for Mental Health in its programs to alleviate difficulties of mental illness. The general public is invited to attend the ball. Advance reservations are necessary, and cost is $35 per couple. Special invitations are being sent to several prominent personalities. The guest list has traditionally included show business celebrities, and previous guests have been Janet Leigh, John Forsythe, Cliff Robertson, Jimmy Durante and Tony Randall.

Lamesa Lodge Hosts District Rebekah Meet

Seventeen members of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 attended "friendship night" hosted by Lodge No. 90 Monday evening in Lamesa for Rebekahs in District 12.

Mrs. D. J. Tankersly presided, and the host group gave a program showing how colors are chosen for Rebekah ceremonies. They emphasized the colors symbolizing offices must blend "to work together." Participants in the program wore formal gowns and carried flowers in the color they represented.

Attending from Lodge 284 were Mrs. A. G. Hall, district deputy president; Mrs. Jewel Fields, Mrs. Beulah Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Griffith, Mrs. Henry Roger, Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, Mrs. Ivan Collins, Mrs. C. C. Cunningham, Mrs. Joe Awtry, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Majors, Mrs. Ora Martin, Mrs. Dwyte Gilliland, Mrs. A. F. Gilliland and Mrs. J. R. Petty.

Mrs. Cunningham presided at the local lodge's meeting Tuesday evening in the IOOF Hall. It was announced a homecoming for anyone who has ever been a member of the lodge will be held following business at the Sept. 5 meeting. A program will be given by Mrs. Melvin Newton and Mrs. Mary Brown.

Refreshment committee appointed for September included Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Gaston Gregory and Mrs. Robert Wilson. Serving refreshments for the "fifth Tuesday" meeting were Mrs. Crenshaw and Mrs. Brown.

FURR'S

A LOVELIER YOU Color-Keyed Styles Flatter Personality

By MARY SUE MILLER

Colors are a travelogue of hilltop America on a golden autumn day. The earth colors, deep browns and russets, mingle with flashes of the frost-kissed red and yellow of oak and maple leaves. The lush green of spruce and pine backgrounds valley of drying grain. Then there's the bright of the sky and the migrating mallards, the warmth of late plums and roses.

All those shades combine with each other and with black, white cloud gray — in the fabrics themselves, or via trims and accessories. Whatever you elect to wear, it obviously will not lack eye appeal. It will enhance your individual loveliness as well, if it complements your skin tone. As a guide to the just-right choices, new shades and feminine skin tones are matched on this chart:

BRUNET SKIN. True red; antique gold; bottle and moss green; brilliant blue; red plum and shocking pink; black with white; gray flannel gray; camel; russet, darkest brown; creamy white.

BLOND SKIN. Burgundy red and crush of roses; blue spruce and black pine; French blues, winter navy; ultra-violet and blue plum; jet black; silver gray; oatmeal and pearly browns; snowy white.

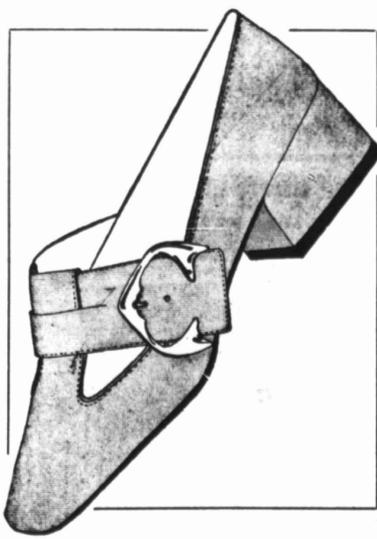

FLORID SKIN. Light to dark brown, oatmeal, sand; slate gray; raven black; oyster white; blue spruce and black-green; blue violet; all blues on fall palette.

EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, "The Eyes Of Youth." To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

McGOVERN REINFORCES BID TO MODERATES Casts Aside $1,000 'Demogrant' Idea

NEW YORK (AP) — George McGovern, ditching the much-disputed idea of a $1,000 "demogrant" for everyone and saying he would like a conservative Southerner to head the Treasury in his administration, appeared today to have reinforced his bid to moderate in the Democratic party and the electorate at large.

The Democratic presidential candidate's new proposals, delivered in a tight-packed speech Tuesday to the New York Society of Security Analysts, met an understandably mixed reaction.

LEAD BALLOON

Such tough tax elements as a proposal to end the favorable treatment of capital gains went over, as one analyst put it, like a lead balloon.

But a number of McGovern's Wall Street audience were intrigued by his surprise announcement that, if he were elected, he would offer the Treasury secretaryship to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mills is regarded on Capitol Hill as a pragmatist but essentially a conservative. Reached at his home in Kensett, Ark., he did not reject out of hand the possibility of serving in a McGovern administration.

GREAT RESPECT

"If he's elected and actually offered it to me, I'd have to think about it," Mills said.

Arthur M. Moren Jr., investment officer for the Chemical Bank of New York, commented that McGovern's tax proposals had not won much support on Wall Street but that the mention of Mills was received enthusiastically because there is "great respect for Mills in the financial community."

Dropping the idea of welfare reform through a $1,000 a person allocation that would be coupled in taxes on the affluent and comfortable, McGovern outlined a plan not unlike President Nixon's, but with a bigger family income base — $4,000 for four persons instead of $2,400. Details were left vague, with the explanation they still were to be worked on.

Other elements of the program McGovern outlined were:

- A $22 billion tax reform package, to be phased in by 1975. Beside taxation of capital gains at regular rates and at the owner's death, it includes a federal subsidy to induce states and cities to discontinue issuance of bonds with tax exempt interest, elimination of the present petroleum depletion allowance and one-year drilling chargeoff, repeal of speeded up depreciation, special real estate writeoffs, favorable treatment of income earned by foreign and export subsidiaries, nonfarmers' agricultural tax shelters along with, ultimately, some tightening of the investment credit.
- Also proposed, though not as an immediate revenue increase, was a new system of estate and gift taxes with rates, like those of the income tax, based on an individual's receipts rather than the size of the estate.

- Reduction of the top-bracket tax rate from 70 per cent to 48 per cent.
- A $15 billion federal contribution to the cost of local schools, to relieve the property tax.
- A $10 billion federal contract program to stimulate the private sector and a $6 billion plan to create public service jobs for a million unemployed.

—Extension and liberalization of Social Security benefits, with financing from Treasury general funds, to reduce welfare rolls by 3 million.

McGovern said the added costs of his program would be more than covered by a $22 billion tax pickup he envisaged for 1975, plus $30 billion savings he expected to make by then in the defense budget.

Second Register Is Stolen Here

A cash register was stolen this morning from Frazier's Phillips 66 Station, 1009 E. 3rd. An undetermined amount of cash, amounting to $3 or $4 was in the register. The attendant said he kept most of his money elsewhere.

Value of the register was not immediately known.

The theft was the third incident in the past week in which cash registers were taken while attendants were occupied with servicing customers.

Police detectives are tracing leads they have received from service station attendants concerning descriptions of suspects and their automobiles.

eventual save in mind, now bid four spades to lay the groundwork in case his partner did not hold suitable defensive values.

South showed his own suit by bidding five clubs and after West passed, Forquet carried on to six clubs, holding a good fit and several second round controls. East and South passed and now the final decision was up to West. As can be seen by an examination of the hands, an excellent sacrifice is available on the deal. If West persists to six diamonds, North and South can be limited to three tricks—two hearts and one diamond—on the deal, for a modest loss of 300 points. His decision to defend was apparently based on the belief that South had both the ace and king of clubs. If this had been the case, West might expect to take one spade and one club against South's slam.

In competitive situations such as this, it usually pays to give partner one bid on the deal and in the present case, West was gambling a great deal on his assumption. If North's bid of six clubs is based on a high club honor, then West's queen is trapped and the potential swing on the deal can be substantial. Bidding six diamonds is merely taking out insurance when the issue is somewhat in doubt.

Against the six club contract, West opened the ace of spades and continued with the queen. South won with the king in his hand and the only problem on the deal was the location of the queen of clubs. East's bidding clearly marked him for length in both diamonds and spades. Garozzo accordingly cashed the ace of clubs. When East showed out, it was routine to finesse dummy's jack on the next round and then the king of clubs picked up West's queen. South claimed the balance, announcing his intentions by ruffing out his remaining spade in dummy.

The score for the vulnerable slam was 1,370 points. At the other table, the Americans also bid the club slam with the North-South cards, but Italy saved at six diamonds and also East gave up a trick in spades on the deal in order to assure retaining control of the hand, the total loss was a mere 500 points and the net swing to the Italians was 870 points.

Italy's renowned Blue Team which won an uninterrupted string of World Championships from 1961 until they retired after their triumph in 1969, reassembled their veteran lineup for this year's Olympiad held in Miami Beach in June. Italy went on to regain the World Title. The event which featured a record breaking entry of 39 nations commenced with a qualifying round which required each team to play the other 38 contestants—with the four top contenders emerging at the end of the final playoffs.

In an early match, the Blue Team gave a convincing demonstration of their old form by handily defeating the defending World's Champion Dallas Aces who represented the United States. One of the hands which netted the Italians a substantial swing is presented today.

The bidding is presented as it occurred at the table where Pietro Forquet was seated North and Benito Garozzo, South for Italy. North opened the bidding with one heart and East, under favorable vulnerability conditions, chose to make a preemptive jump overall of three diamonds. Garozzo, as will be observed, took quite a fancy to his hand when he made a cue bid of four diamonds which is, of course, unconditionally forcing and suggests an interest in slam.

West took advantage of the opportunity presented to show his support for partner by doubling four diamonds and North redoubled in order to suggest that he actually held first round control in the suit. East, who had an

Ancient Misery

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For about four years I have been having boils in my armpits. My doctor gives me penicillin and tells me to use hot compresses. Meantime I suffer at least a week until it comes to a head and releases pus. I get boils at least six times a year.

Please tell me what to do. I am in good health otherwise except I have allergies. — Mrs. P. B.

Boils, a misery, infamous back to the time of Job!

The armpit and nape of the neck are common sites for recurring boils, and seldom is there a quick and easy way to stop them. This isn't to say they can't be stopped, but it takes some doing.

Some folks are "staph carriers," meaning that they carry the common staphylococcus germ, usually in the nose and often around the groin and genital area as well as in the armpits.

The staph germ can hang around without doing any visible damage until it manages to establish a colony in a pore, or in some insignificant break in the skin, and set up an infection. That's a boil.

Basic task in avoiding boils, when they are recurrent, is scrupulous cleanliness. Underarms should be kept shaved. The area should be washed with an antiseptic soap or solution. These usually contain hexachlorophene, so the areas should be thoroughly rinsed afterward.

Then an antiperspirant should be used, because it is important to keep moisture at a minimum — moisture encourages the staph germ. (A patient with allergies may have to take pains to choose an antiperspirant that doesn't tough off allergic reactions.)

If penicillin doesn't happen to be sufficiently effective with a given strain of the germ, a laboratory can make cultures of pus from a boil and sensitivity tests can indicate other antibiotics that will act more vigorously. In stubborn cases it can be worth the trouble to do this.

Once a boil appears, antibiotics, heat, and finally drainage of the boil are all that can be done. The real battle is in preventing the boils from appearing.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My tongue has been split for at least five months and will not heal. Is there anything you could recommend? I have used mouthwash, salt and water, even peroxide. — E.B.P.

Some tongues have deep fissures (cracks) normally. These can accumulate food particles which provoke irritation.

Sensitivity to certain foods can cause trouble, too. I have in mind a patient who had trouble after eating walnuts. So pay attention to what you eat, usually some rather unusual food, prior to the splitting.

If your tongue has normally deep fissures or cracks, mouthwashes or brushing of the tongue with a soft toothbrush to clear the crevices may help.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: It is very important that you answer this letter in your column as soon as possible. My brother is going to be operated on for trouble with his prostate gland.

What I would like to know is will his sex drive stop? He is going through such mental torture. I'm too embarrassed to ask his doctor. — M.R.

Depends on the type of surgery that is required. For the majority, sexual capability is about the same after the operation as it was before.

4-Hers To Help With Telethon

COAHOMA — Senior 4-Hers plan to help with the muscular dystrophy telethon using the old television studio in Big Spring as a base of operations from 8 a.m. to noon Monday.

In a club meeting Thursday, Dennis Mays showed the club a calendar they now plan to sell in about a month.

Phyllis Wynn challenged 4-Hers to give 4-H a chance and work hard at club activities. About 64 4-Hers and parents attended the meeting in the Coahoma Junior High building.

Trying To Kill Man With Guitar

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — A Gastonia man has been charged with trying to kill another man with a guitar.

Curtis Ferguson, 51, was charged Sunday with assault with intent to kill Bobby E. Smith, 31. Police said Smith and Ferguson got into a fight in downtown Gastonia and Ferguson allegedly hit him over the head with a guitar.

Smith was in unsatisfactory condition Sunday night at a Charlotte hospital.

WRESTLING JUDGE OUSTED FROM OFFICIATING

Justice Is Sometimes A Day Late At The Olympic Games

MUNICH (AP) — Justice is sometimes a day late at the Olympics. The bad referees are generally excluded from further chances at scorecard lynchings, but it is no solace to the athletes who suffer through their incapacities or prejudice.

The wrestling judge who eliminated U.S. heavyweight Chris Taylor from competition on Sunday will not be allowed to officiate again at this Olympics. Now American officials are saying the governing body of referees will be looking hard at the men who handed defeat to U.S. light middleweight boxer Reggie Jackson on Tuesday when he seemed to have been a clear victor over Valery Tregubov of the Soviet Union. They will not be disciplined, but quietly excluded from further assignments—if sanctions occur.

The officiating in basketball is terrible, according to U.S. Coach Hank Iba, and the Ugan- dan soccer team protested a loss it said was due to a bad referee.

The reason is unequal pay and standards for officials around the world. One basketball referee said he got paid $1.10 a game at home and a Korean boxing official forgot how to count in English on a knockdown and lost track of how long the man had been down.

Politics plays a role. The officiating assignments are generally made so that men from neutral countries decide the winners in competition between athletes from opposing blocs.

But there are serious slips. A Yugoslav judge was the only man to vote for the Russian in his fight against Jones before the Olympic no-tie rule forced two other judges to change their vote.

The Jones decision, which led to a 15-minute demonstration and near bottle-throwing riot in the Olympic Boxing Palace, was described as "a disgrace and a scandal" by former world middleweight champion Nino Benevenuti, now an Italian broadcaster.

"Justice is never present every minute," Benevenuti said, "but you know at this Olympics that some judges are watching two things. First how a man performs, then the color of his skin—black or white."

For Jones, there was only the demented anger of the crowd to comfort him. "This wasn't the first time or the last somebody got a bad rap," he said. "The only difference was this time it was me."

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY
Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then-current price less the following dollar allowances:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles.....	Pro-rated on Miles Driven
45 month.....	$13.00
40 month.....	10.00

Spitz Claims Third Olympic Gold Medal

MUNICH (AP) — "I'm afraid of everybody," said a smiling Mark Spitz.

The handsome Californian has nothing to fear tonight. It's not until Thursday night that he goes after the fourth of what he hopes will be an incredible seven gold medals.

But starting next week, the United States may have plenty to fear—mainly the thought of an Olympic swimming team without Mark Spitz.

The 22-year-old Indiana University dental student racked up his third world record in garnering his third gold of these 20th Summer Games Tuesday, slashing his way to victory in the men's 200-meter freestyle.

Then he told a television interviewer that, whether or not he achieves his seven-gold goal, these Games will probably be his last international competition.

"I have no plans for swimming any more at all, really," Spitz said. "I won't have the time. I'll swim until Monday."

The bronzed, mustachioed Spitz sliced through the water in the 200 freestyle in 1:52.78, unleashing a torpedo-like final lap to shatter his own world mark of 1:53.50 as well as the Olympic standard of 1:55.29 formerly owned by fourth-place finisher Mark Wenden of Australia.

Winning the silver was UCLA student Steve Genter of Lakewood, Calif. Werner Lampe of West Germany was third.

Spitz, of course, wasn't the only American to do well. The United States already owns 15 medals—five gold, six silver and four bronze. That's six more than runner-up East Germany and eight ahead of the Soviet Union.

One of those golds went Tuesday to a California high school student—the Golden State really seems to be living up to its nickname here—in what has to be one of the biggest upsets of the Games thus far.

Sandra Nielson, a giggly, freckled lass from El Monte, Calif., wrecked Australian wizard Shane Gould's bid for four personal golds by winning the women's 100-meter freestyle in an Olympic-record 58.59—less than a tenth of a second off Miss Gould's world mark.

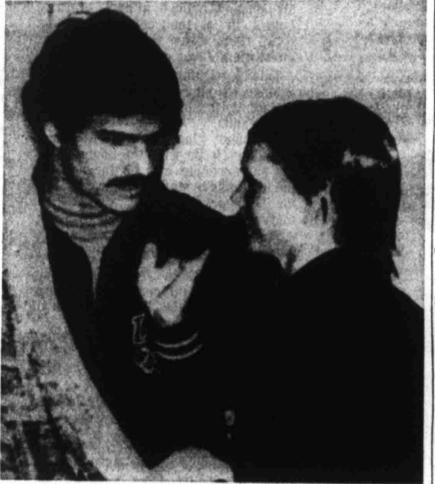

"I'm just so excited now I feel great," the 16-year-old Miss Nielson bubbled. "I just wanted to get out there and win it. When I got out there I knew I could do it."

But how, she was asked, did she feel about beating the favored Aussie, who had to settle for third behind Shirley Babashoff of Fountain Valley, Calif. "She's a girl—just like us," Miss Nielson said of Miss Gould.

Australia's Beverly Whitfield beat out Dana Schoenfeld of Anaheim, Calif., for the gold in the women's 200-meter breaststroke, winning in an Olympic-record 2:41.72, and sensational East German Roland Mathes broke the Games' record by winning the men's 100-meter backstroke in 56.58, followed by Mike Stamm of San Diego and Jerry Murphy of Hinsdale, Ill.

For Miss Schoenfeld, it was a delightful climax to a remarkable comeback. Failing to even qualify for the 1968 Olympics, she gave up training for three years, then decided to take another shot at a spot on the team.

Defense did it for the Yanks against Cuba, which managed only one basket in 17 shots from the floor as the U.S. team built a 13-3 lead in the first nine minutes and made it 33-21 by the half.

SWIMMERS — Olympic gold medal winner Mark Spitz of Carmichael, Calif., chats with U.S. swimmer Jo Ann Harshbarger, Bellevue, Wash., today prior to his 56.49 win in 100-m butterfly heat. Rumors link them in Village romance.

Svare Slaps Duane With Suspension

By The Associated Press
Coach Harland Svare of the San Diego Chargers is finished playing the role of "Mr. Nice Guy."

Svare announced Tuesday that Duane Thomas, the talented but mysterious running back the Chargers acquired from Dallas, was being suspended and was subject to a fine of $150 per day for not reporting to the National Football League team Monday.

"Duane Thomas was told to report to training camp by 6 o'clock Monday," said Svare. "He failed to report. He is suspended without compensation. He will be fined $150 each day he is absent."

San Diego gave up sophomore running back Mike Montgomery and second-year wide receiver Billy Parks to get Thomas. Both players had outstanding rookie seasons for the Chargers but Svare, who has said Thomas is the best running back in the NFL since Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, gave up permanent rights to them. Now, after a full month of training camp, Thomas has not practiced.

"I said at the time of the trade for Duane that it was a gamble, a roll of the dice," said the Chargers' coach. "Whatever the outcome, I'm not going to look back. We have a good football team to get ready for the season."

'LOT OF FIRE' Hale Has Praise For Defensive Unit

Head Coach Clovis Hale praised the performance of his Steer defensive unit after Tuesday's scrimmage. "Our defensive players showed a lot of fire and pride," Hale commented. "We have a lot of improvement to make in defensive execution; but the boys really got after it in practice yesterday."

Hale was not quite as pleased with his offensive unit in the scrimmage. Although he had words of praise for individual performers on the offensive squad, he said that he "wasn't real pleased with the offensive end of the scrimmage."

The offensive unit was erratic in the scrimmage. The unit would have a good drive only to lose the ball on a fumble or interception. "They were inconsistent," said Hale.

Despite the offense's problems, Hale singled out running backs Earl Reynolds and Barry Truett for fine performances. "Reynolds and Truett looked very good in practice," Hale noted. Reynolds ripped off several long gains and Truett showed fine inside-running ability to highlight the offensive end of the scrimmage.

Tuesday's workout was the first practice session for defensive lineman D. W. Powell since suffering a bruised knee last Thursday. Powell was praised by Hale for his performance in the practice. "He really got with it," noted Hale. "I was well pleased with Powell's job today."

Hale also singled out linebackers Craig Brown and Dick Conley and defensive halfbacks Nate Poss and Chris Duron for their work in the practice. "Brown and Conley looked real good — but they nearly always do," commented Hale.

DANNY KIRKPATRICK

Action On Ethics A Must

With the withdrawal of Rep. Frank Calhoun from contention, Rep. Price Daniel Jr.'s lock on the race for speaker of the Texas House becomes total.

So in January, Daniel will become, without serious contest, the third man to occupy the speaker's chair since public demand for tighter ethics legislation became insistent. The first, Gus Mutscher, was part of the problem and hardly inclined to be part of the solution. The second, Rayford Price, managed to get some House rules reforms through during his brief tenure, cut short by his defeat at the polls.

Now comes Daniel's chance. And since the speaker-to-be has campaigned for the post on a platform of total commitment to reform — including a tough ethics bill — the people of Texas have the right to expect quick and meaningful action.

Daniel has already asked those who had lined up behind Calhoun to join him in his reform program; we would hope they do so. And the Senate — itself to be under new leadership — should link up, too, to see that a really effective curb on the activities and power of lobbyists is approved and that ethics legislation with strong and sharpened teeth is written into a law which can stand the constitutional test.

Levant Perfected Art

Oscar Levant, who died recently, was a one-of-a-kind person. He was a gifted pianist and composer of serious and pop music, a man with a bitter and sardonic wit and an overriding concern with his illnesses, real and imagined.

Levant's musical career was handicapped by his great admiration for George Gershwin. He and Gershwin were friends and Levant was so

The next session of the Legislature will face problems in abundance — school financing, possibly new revenue and a catalog of others. But it should first and firmly dispose of the ethics and reform issues to restore the shaken faith of Texans in their state government. And Daniel would appear to be in the perfect position to see that this is done.

engulfed by Gershwin's music that at times he played little else.

He did not spare himself from his dark humor, poking fun at his morbid personality and hypochondria. He was well known for his radio and TV programs and appearances on talk shows. Levant had spent most of the last decade as a recluse and slipped quietly from his problem-plagued life.

Imagine A Switch

Around The Rim

Don Cooper

I AM AN inveterate window-shopper. I really enjoy wandering around a city and looking at the store displays. I can't explain exactly why I enjoy window-shopping. I just do. Maybe I'm a latent looter and actually want to smash the window and take something.

But anyway, one day when window-shopping, I noticed a pack of Crest cigars in a tobacco-store display. Now, right away this is something interesting. Crest cigars?

This particular brand of cigar is not exactly internationally acclaimed. In fact, it isn't one of the more widely sold brands.

I found the name intriguing. "Wouldn't it be wild," I thought, "if the same people who do the ads for the toothpaste started doing the ads for the cigars?"

My imagination started running wild. After a few moments, something like this had formed in my mind:

THE SCENE in the Crest cigar commercial would open with a long shot of the United Nations General Assembly. The camera zooms in for a tight closeup of the United States delegate as he rises to speak—

US: Mr. Secretary, the United States resents the implications of the allegations of the Soviet Union in this matter. With their own adventurism in the Middle East, the Soviet Union is making a mockery of the peace-making efforts in this troubled . . . (The delegate is interrupted by the shouts of a small boy who runs down the aisle toward the U.S. delegation.)

Boy: Daddy! Daddy! Daddy! (The entire General Assembly jumps to its feet and all the delegates start shouting, demanding the floor.)

US: Billy, please, can't you wait? We're in the middle of a crisis here.

Boy: But, daddy, I only had one cavity.

US: Is that right? Just one? Boy, that's great.

(Soviet delegate walks up.)

SOV: What's this? Just one cavity?

Boy: Yes sir, I only had one cavity after switching to Crest.

SOV: You mean that toothpaste with Staniatouride?

Boy: No, I mean the new cigar with chlorophyll.

(Boy holds up pack of cigars for everyone to see.)

US: Yes, my whole family started smoking Crest. Billy here was in one group of children at school. His group smoked Crest and the other group smoked another brand of cigars. The other group had the same tooth decay problems as before; however Billy's group had 43 per cent fewer cavities after they started smoking Crest.

SOV: Do you think Crest would work for my family?

US: I'm sure it would. Crest is a proven effective, decay-preventive cigar. Not only does Crest have that good cigar flavor, it also contains the magic ingredient chlorophyll which cuts down the possibility of tooth decay.

(Soviet delegate pats boy on the head and shakes hands with the US delegate.)

SOV: If the United States will arrange for the exportation of Crest cigars to the Soviet Union, I think our two countries can solve the Middle East crisis, the Berlin question and start complete bi-lateral disarmament right away.

(U.N. Secretary-General holds up a pack of Crest and smiles.)

S-G: Just think, Crest is responsible for fewer cavities and world peace.

(Camera shot of the new-peaceful General Assembly.)

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

My husband says it is worse for a woman to be unfaithful to her husband, than for a man to be unfaithful to his wife. Please clarify this for us.

D.H. The Bible says "God is no respecter of persons." (Acts 10:34.) This means that He respects no person, regardless of sex, color, or social status above another. It also says, "The wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and all unrighteousness of men . . ." (Romans 1:18.) The word "men" is used in the generic sense, and includes women, of course.

Your husband's claim is not in accord with the Scriptures. Adam was judged as severely for his disobedience in the Garden of Eden as was Eve. Fornication and adultery were forbidden to both sexes alike. Sexual perversion was punishable by death under the Mosaic law, both for men and women.

There is a great debate going on today about which is the dominant sex. But, in the economy of God, male and female are equally important. True, each has his role and place, and they are different — as they are physically different and distinctive. But God plays no favorites with the sexes, and the sins incumbent upon the one is binding upon the other.

The word today is "freedom" — freedom to do as we please. But the Biblical words are not only freedom, but duty and fidelity. The Bible teaches that we are not irresponsible creatures, but responsible — with laws to obey and responsibilities to be carried out.

Sociologists have come up with many novel ideas, but none have improved upon the teaching of the Bible in the making of a stable society.

Losing Confidence

John Cunniff

By FRED COLEMAN (Contributing Editor John Cunniff)

LONDON (AP) — British business is only months away from its best chance for booming profits since World War II: entry into the European Common Market. But the immediate outlook remains grim.

On Jan. 1 this country will take into the world's richest trading club some of the worst economic credentials in Europe — near stagnant growth, record strike losses, an unstable currency, its highest unemployment since the 1930s and rampant inflation.

Opportunities abound as Britain's nearest and best customers progressively take down tariff barriers during a planned transition period. Britain's present home market of 55 million people will be replaced by 300 million Europeans in the expanded 10-nation community.

By some forecasts here, removal of the tariff walls will boost British trade by over $700 million a year, more than enough to meet higher food prices and other costs of joining Europe.

But entry is a double-edged sword. European members will be free to outsell the British here if they can. Under the present tariff system their sales to Britain are already 30 per cent higher than British sales to the Common Market countries.

Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government won office in June 1970 promising to put the economy right. It still has a long way to go.

For British businesses, strikes remain a crucial problem. The country lost more than 13 million man-days of work last year because of stoppages, a record since the 1926 general strike.

Heath made a controversial strike-control law his top priority in domestic legislation, despite total opposition from the trade unions. The law, enacted early this year, failed to prevent crippling strikes and may have aggravated them.

Meanwhile, industrial troubles and trade losses forced Britain to let the pound float down in international currency markets since June, outside fixed exchange rates. The government refuses to name a date for restabilizing the pound. This could help in the common market because the cheaper pound reduces British export prices.

The British press tended to blame the float on foreign speculators losing confidence in Britain. Foreigners have lost faith in this country before, during the dark days of the blitz for example, and been proven wrong.

The more important question is whether the British are losing confidence in themselves to solve a series of strikes and problems, including Ireland, and the trouble in northern Ireland, among others.

One Man's Party

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It is not generally known, but last week's Republican National Convention was a pilot for a weekly TV series titled "One Man's Party," scheduled to premiere this fall.

NETWORK OFFICIALS decided to try out the show this summer to see how it would be received. A meeting was held in New York yesterday between the network executives and the packagers of the program, who were hoping the option would be picked up for another 29 weeks.

One of the Republican officials asked, "Well, what do you think?"

A TV network vice president said, "It was an interesting pilot. It didn't get the ratings we thought it would."

"But what about the show itself? It was beautiful, huh?" another Republican packager pressed.

"It had color," another TV network man said. "God knows it had color. But I'm not sure it would make a weekly series."

"Why not?" a third Republican packager asked. "It had music, excitement, stars and the American Flag. What more do you want?"

"It had all that," a TV executive said, "but it just didn't seem to have the suspense we were hoping it would."

"WHAT DO you mean it didn't have the suspense?" a Republican packager demanded. "How about after Nixon was nominated, when the rope got caught and we didn't know if the balloons would drop from the ceiling of the convention hall or not?"

Another Republican packager said angrily, "Don't tell us we didn't have suspense. What about the roll call vote for President Nixon, when New Mexico cast one ballot in favor of Pete McCloskey?"

"And how about when they were voting for the Vice President and David Brinkley got a vote to prevent Agnew from winning unanimously? That was a cliffhanger."

"That's true," a TV executive said, "but it didn't have enough things like that. Frankly, gentlemen, we don't see the Republican National Convention as a weekly series."

"What are you sore at?" a Republican packager asked. "Is it because our spontaneous demonstrations ran three minutes overtime? We'll tighten it up next week. We'll make damn sure Gerry Ford sticks to the schedule."

"We have no objections to the show technically," a TV executive said. "It was the slickest TV program ever put on the air. No one flubbed a line. Everyone stuck to the script. It was perfect."

"TOO PERFECT," another TV vice president said. "There wasn't one dissenting voice, one bit of conflict, one slice of drama. And worst of all, you didn't even have any laughs."

"Now, wait a minute," a Republican man said. "We don't put on those kinds of shows. We're a family production company. Anyone could have watched the Republican National Convention show without fear of being offended."

"But nobody watched it!" a TV man screamed. "Learning Spanish at Home" got a higher rating than your show."

"You don't even know what we've got planned for the series," the Republican said. "In the next installment John Wayne loses his credentials, and the usher bars him from entering. It's only when he runs into Ronald Reagan at the door that he manages to get inside the hall."

"In the third installment Henry Kissinger finds himself in the presidential box with a movie starlet whose name he doesn't know. And in the fourth episode . . ."

"We're sorry, gentlemen," the TV vice president said. "We're not picking up the option."

"I might have known it," a Republican packager said angrily, picking up his briefcase. "Any time someone brings a new idea to television, you guys throw it out the window. No wonder television is a vast wasteland."

Hal Boyle

Look At Hal's Mother

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Neither the prospect of heaven nor the terrors of hell greatly concern my mother, who will be 88 years old next month and still has the keenest mind on her block.

She tidies herself against the onset of eternity by going about the daily small tasks of living — as usual.

In fact, "living — as usual" wouldn't be a bad summary of the life of quiet distinction Margaret Gavanhan Boyle has led since she landed on American shores at 17, fresh from a farm in County Mayo, Ireland.

I've never done a bad thing in this world, so why should I fret about anything that might happen in the next world, if there is one? she asked. "Anyway, I doubt if there will be anything worse — or much better, for that matter — than what I've already seen. Everybody gets a good taste of both heaven and hell on earth."

It takes a person of inordinate vanity or innocent and unselfconscious grace to say that in nearly 85 years of human life she never did a really bad thing. In Mrs. Margaret Boyle's case, it isn't vanity. It's a simple statement of truth, to which anyone who knows her would testify.

I have become increasingly aware over the years of what a privilege it is to have such a profound and artless a philosopher for a mother. The two or three visits I make her each year are my pilgrimages to mecca. I hold her almost as much in awe as I do in love.

Wisdom doesn't need a trumpet or a vast amphitheater. My mother has always been an oracle of the living room, her audience her family. Self-educated by thought and observation, her windows to the world have been the windows of her home and her daily newspaper, The Kansas City Star and Times.

She still lives, as she has for more than a quarter of a century, with my sister Dolores and her husband, Don Newton, a paint contractor who has been to her more like a son than a son-in-law.

"It's high time I moved into an old folks' home," she says. "There you can just lie down in bed and people come and wait on you until you die."

"No Mama, you'd be dead in less than two weeks if you ever went into an old folks' home," a member of the family objects.

"Less than a week probably," agrees Mother placidly. "But that might be better for everybody."

Then she listens willingly as everyone assures her that she is still the keystone of the family, and that without her it simply would disintegrate and drift apart.

"I'm simply wearing out all over, just like the old one hoss shay," she said. "Now I simply live for each day as it comes."

Actually, Mother is in no hurry to be gone. Her curiosity is as sharp as ever, she can still stump out to the kitchen on a cane and get the evening meal started, and she enjoys the neighborhood gossip and her morning battle to keep her fiercely protective dog, Prince, from consuming the postman.

Her blood pressure and a mild case of diabetes are under control, her rheumatism — she thinks it more dignified to call it arthritis now — no worse than 20 years ago.

She still pities young people because she thinks it is harder for them to feel secure now than it was for her when she was a young mother raising five children in a strange and sometimes terrifying land. But a touch of acidity is creeping into her attitude toward the human race as a whole.

"People are all getting chronic today," she volunteered the other day.

"What do you mean by chronic, Mother?"

"Well, the more they get, the more they want," said Mama, "and the more they get what they want, the more dissatisfied they are with it. That's what I call being chronic."

Appeal To Groups

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The mood of the country is difficult to ascertain from what went on at the two national conventions. The criticisms by the Democrats about current policies and their plans to change them may cause debates among many who watched and listened to the proceedings. The addresses, on the other hand, at the Republican Convention may have built confidence in the incumbent administration.

THE PUBLIC-OPINION polls say that President Nixon is running well ahead of his opponent. But the campaign will last more than two months, and the battle on prime issues will continue until election day.

What is discernible thus far is that the Democratic party is suffering the pains of disorganization. Its leaders in various states are either lukewarm or indifferent to the national ticket. Sen. George McGovern, the presidential nominee, has before him a major task — to win votes by means of speeches over television or in local gatherings throughout the country. He has chosen an active ally in vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver. The charges and countercharges between the Republican and Democratic nominees will prove interesting and probably will influence some voters.

On top of all this are the congressional campaigns. The candidates for Congress are expected to support their national ticket to get the help of party voters, and the fight will intensify as governors enter the fray, too.

ALTOGETHER, the campaign is likely to be concentrated on trying to sway special groups in different parts of the country. There is already an organized effort in each party to get the vote of workers, and certainly tax reform will be one of the most-talked-about issues. The Vietnam War is winding up, and it is probable that the emphasis will be on domestic questions — the factors which affect the pocketbooks, such as, for instance, the cost of living.

While a great deal of attention is being given to ethnic groups, the principal topic among the liberals will be the attitude of each party toward racial problems. Undoubtedly desegregation of schools is increasing. The sentiment against large-scale busing is causing several states to appropriate funds to improve schools so that the quality of education will be substantially enhanced, thus reducing the need for busing for the purpose of equalizing educational opportunities. In some states, a definite stand against forced busing will get more votes than will a lack of concern. For parents usually do not like to have their children sent long distances to school.

ONE OF the big issues that will be discussed by the speakers on both sides is taxes and reducing federal spending. Fiscal policy can be related to the personal income of the average citizen, and millions of votes are involved in the controversy.

This will be a very difficult year to reach the voters. Many of them will not be willing to say which candidate they favor. Also, the younger generation — especially those between the ages of 18 to 25 who have not voted before — will have to be canvassed by party workers. All this will take a lot of money and a great deal of effort, but both parties think they can do the job. In any event, the Democrats and the Republicans are planning to make an intensive try for the youth vote. It will be the first campaign in which so much time will be spent seeking the votes of young people.

Letters To Editor

DEAR SIR: We, the bus drivers of the Independent School District of Big Spring in the year of 1972-1973 do declare the following statements to be true:

1. We only have one pair of eyes to watch the road and the 60-80 children sitting behind us at the same time.

2. There are hundreds of children riding these buses; yours does not ride alone.

3. We need more parent and children cooperation.

4. We can not take our buses in and out of the traffic as easily as you can a little sport car.

5. We have more rules and regulations to follow and obey than the 10 or 12 issued to our riders.

6. You would not want your child injured or killed while riding, getting on, or off the bus.

7. You would not allow your child to jump back and forth over the seats while you drive.

8. You would not allow them to beat drums, blow horns, throw balls, or food in your car while you drive.

9. We will take your license number and turn it in to the police if you pass the bus, while flashers are or indicating we are loading or unloading.

10. We declare you would ask for the same consideration and cooperation if you were driving the bus in stead of us.

MRS. JACK HORN, Spokesman for the 18 school bus drivers.

A Devotion For Today . .

Now to him who is able to keep you from falling and to present you without blemish before the presence of his glory and rejoicing . . . be glory, majesty, dominion, and authority, before all time and now and for ever. Amen. (Jude 24-25, RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord, we thank Thee that Thou art love. We also thank Thee for helping us when we stumble. Steady our steps. In the name of Jesus we pray. Amen.

Horoscope Forecast

CAROL RIGHTER

THURSDAY, AUG. 31, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You find you are quite nervous and restless today and need to be very careful with your promises. You are thinking with good logic, but have trouble carrying through with the sensible decisions you make. Be steadfast.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Take time to compose yourself so that you do not have trouble in motion of any kind, especially while driving on the highway, turning corners, and so forth. A valid sarcasm with associates.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): A more balanced attitude is best, since you can be very irritable one minute and overly generous the next. Be content and enjoy your own way of thinking now. This could be very helpful to mutual friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Understand what it is a good partner has to say instead of trying to follow your own way of thinking now. This could be very helpful to mutual friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You are a little more idealistic than you are in the way of thinking. Plan more time for the things you really care about. Do a little reading and relax before you get into the office.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You are able to get into the amusements and have a good time so you should work hard to get into them. Don't discuss your thoughts with others. Don't discuss your thoughts with others. Don't discuss your thoughts with others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): The situation of home is not to be worried about. You are more harmonious. Show your understanding and subjects and start a serious argument.

Honor Claimed By 3560th SS
The 3560th Supply Squadron at Webb AFB has been awarded the honors for coming out on top of the on-the-job training statistics for the 3560th Pilot Training Wing.
This is the third quarter in a row that Supply has been tops, and brings their score to five out of the last six quarters in first place.
Maj. James H. Napier, chief, Supply, stated that the congratulations for the award should go to the supervisors and OJT trainers in the squadron.
"The OJT award has nothing to do with my personal endeavors, but it reflects on the supervisors, trainers and airmen themselves," he said.
Maj. Napier said that the OJT award is derived from an overall point accumulation with a maximum possible of 100. "The competition is fierce," he stated, "when the highest was Supply with 100 points followed by Air Base Group with 99."
The points are computed at Randolph AFB, headquarters for Air Training Command, and the system encompasses the three, five and seven level competition. "The airman benefit from the OJT with upgraded AFSCs and more stripes," added the major.
"I just hope we can get it again next time," concluded Maj. Napier.
Lt. Gen. George B. Simler, ATC commander, also commented on Webb's OJT record through a letter to Lt. Col. W. M. King, chief of personnel. "It is a pleasure to commend the personnel of Webb AFB on their excellent on-the-job training program record in 1972. Your team effort, led by the CBPO-OJT Unit, produced skilled airmen in excess of Air Force OJT upgrade goals and is indeed noteworthy."

Festus Good At Boxing, Staged Feats Of Strength In College

STEVE LOWELL
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Festus straightened from a crouch, dropped his guard and seemed to be waiting.

His opponent stepped in and landed two left jabs.

Festus' look of amazement took on a hint of anger, and he brought up his guard, crouched and opened an assault.

Luckily for his opponent, the bell-sounded moments later, and that fight in a college fraternity smoker years ago in Colorado was over.

STRONG MAN

The bout was one of the first bits of acting by Ken Curtis, now a star of TV's "Gunsmoke."

It was long before the character, Festus, was born and back when Curtis — in real life Curt Gates from a ranch his father homesteaded near Lamar, Colo. — was a rugged, young 175-pounder.

Curt not only was good at boxing but played football and staged strength feats like taking on his fraternity brothers one by one.

I was his opponent in that fake match, and since I was no boxer he coached me on how to put on a pretty good show and assured me he would take it easy. Things went well until he left that big opening and I got carried away and stepped in with more poke than planned.

STUNT NIGHT

We were freshmen at Colorado College then, and it was later that year that another indication of what the future held for him showed up. Largely through his efforts, the pattern of an annual fraternity-sporty stunt night changed.

Most of our fraternity's "production" was the usual cornball stuff, but at his instigation, in our closing event, we joined in singing a number of songs. The effort got a big hand, and from then on the stunt night was one of similar special efforts by various school groups.

Curt, who bolstered the Colorado College backfield as a blocker, developed his fraternity brothers into a pretty fair group of songsters, and that early effort, along with his ranch background, apparently formed the springboard for a king-size step to Hollywood. He had written a musical and wanted to try to get it published.

HE'S SETTLED DOWN AS GUNSMOKE'S 'FESTUS' — Ken Curtis, the Colorado ranch boy who's become known the world over as Festus of television's "Gunsmoke," lives a more conventional role at home in Hollywood (above) with his wife Torrie. Curtis knocked around Hollywood for years as singer, actor and producer before landing the more-or-less permanent job on Gunsmoke.

"They didn't think anything of my songs," he recalled, "but they liked my singing, and I was put on the staff of NBC."

TUMBLEWEEDS

It was bandman Tommy Dorsey who changed his name.

"He thought Gates was too easily misunderstood. So he took the name of one of my brothers, Ken, and added my first name, Curtis."

During World War II, he left Dorsey's band and enlisted in the Army. After his return he joined The Sogs of the Pioneers. A representative of Columbia Studios heard him sing "Tumbling Tumbleweeds" and he was asked to do a series of musical Westerns.

Since then he has appeared in a number of movies and TV series and has produced three films. It was in 1963 that he was asked to join the cast of Gunsmoke.

The Gunsmoke crew finished its fall series shortly before Curt and I met at the Columbia Broadcasting System studios in Hollywood in July.

Insured Property Damaged Heavily

Hail, measuring up to two and one-half inches in diameter, which struck the Clayton, N.M., area Aug. 23, caused an estimated $1.2 million damage to insured fixed property, according to Frank I. Lewis, Southwest manager, Property Claim Services, American Insurance Association. Estimated insured damage to automobiles was placed at $250,000.

The wind, hail and tornadoes which swept through the Brownwood, Austin and Waco, Tex., areas Aug. 22 caused an estimated $60,000 loss to insured fixed property.

Lot Of Pensioners

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — Every sixth West German is a pensioner, according to the Federal Statistics Office. The total number of pensioners in West Germany is about 9.7 million.

Bad Habit

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a hired companion to an 88-year-old invalid woman. She is very wealthy and lives in a luxurious mobile home with every convenience you could imagine. I occupy the back bedroom of her mobile home. I am well paid, but here's my problem:

This lady smokes constantly and has frequently fallen asleep with a lit cigarette between her fingers.

I work from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m. caring for her, and I need my rest, but I'm afraid to go to sleep because she gets up during the night, lights a cigarette and falls asleep.

This lady is friendly with the manager of the trailer court, who knows about her smoking, but does nothing about it. Her doctor also knows because I have told him. He also has done nothing.

Abby, I am so afraid that one night she will set fire to this mobile home. What can be done?

DEAR WORRIED: You must persuade the lady that for her own safety she must either turn in her matches at bedtime or hire a companion for the night shift. And for heaven's sake, implore her doctor and the manager of the court to take some action!

DEAR ABBY: Everybody thinks waitress work is a good deal because a girl doesn't need much education, little training, and if she's willing to work, she can rake in a lot of money. Well, I work for a place which employs about 160 waitresses, and what the customer does not know is this:

1. If a customer walks out without paying the check, the waitress has to pay it.

2. If he walks out WITH the check (all checks are numbered) it costs the waitress $10.

3. If a waitress breaks a dish, she pays for it.

4. If a waitress makes a mistake in addition (and under charges) she has to make up the difference.

5. If the waitress forgets to mark an item on the check, no excuse is acceptable, she is fired!

6. If a night girl comes on the floor and finishes serving for a day girl, the night girl loses the tip.

Now, Dear Abby, what advice have you for a weary, underpaid girl who has to support herself as a waitress?

NO UNION HERE — Hustle your bustle to the nearest travel bureau, find the first plane, train, bus or dog sled out of that town, and take it!

Field Day Features Narrow-Row Cotton

LUBBOCK — Narrow-row cotton production will be one of the featured attractions at the 63rd Annual Field Day and Open House at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock Sept. 12. Tours of field plots will begin at 1 p.m.

According to Dr. Jack Gipson, field day chairman, visitors will have opportunity to see firsthand the extensive research program that is underway to find cotton varieties more suitable for the narrow-row method of production. Various cultural aspects will also be discussed, with special emphasis on weed control and harvesting.

Wrong Reaction

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — The government will stop printing commercial advertisements on the borders of sheets of postage stamps because public reaction to the practice has been very unfavorable, a Post Office spokesman said.

The PERFECT Wig

a hand-tied wig that wig lovers love

This is the elegant wig with all the features that make a wig great.

- Completely hand-tied! Looks, acts, brushes just like your own hair
- Natural complexion skin top . . . looks like your own scalp!
- The Elura fiber . . . feels, brushes like your own hair but is much more manageable . . . heat resistant, too.
- Built-in height without teasing because hair "grows" out of scalp the natural way.
- Perfect from every angle. Off the face, with bangs, flip the back up or down . . . it stays the way you brush it.
