$700,000 IN SECRET NIXON CAMPAIGN GIFTS

Money From Mexico Linked To Bugging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Money from Mexico linked to the Watergate affair was part of $700,000 in secret Nixon campaign gifts stuffed into a suitcase and rushed to Washington in an oil company plane last spring, according to a confidential House staff report.

The document, distributed Tuesday night to members of the House Banking Committee, also said a Southwestern fund raiser for the President's campaign had contradicted denials of involvement with the Mexican transactions by chief Nixon fund raiser Maurice H. Stans.

Committee investigators said they were unable to determine if the money—$100,000 in all—actually came from Mexicans or from U.S. citizens living in that country.

VIOLATION?

But they said that on the surface it appeared the money was from foreign nationals and, if that is true, accepting it is a violation of U.S. banking laws.

The 58-page report, compiled during the past several weeks, both adds to the bizarre developments in the Democratic headquarters bugging case and vividly describes last-minute efforts by Nixon fund raisers to beat the April 7 deadline of a new elections law requiring full disclosure of campaign donors.

Despite a stern warning by committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., against releasing the report to newsmen, a copy was obtained by columnist Jack Anderson who made it available to The Associated Press.

A new disclosure in the report is that a total of $100,000 came from Mexico. Previously it was known that $89,000 linked to the Watergate affair was made up of four checks drawn on a Mexican bank.

Patman told committee members in a covering letter:

"The $89,000 of Mexican bank checks which went into the Republican campaign and then into the account of Bernard Barker, one of the suspects in the Watergate burglary, raises tremendous questions for the committee.

"It appears that the Committee to Re-Elect the President and its allied groups are willing to go to any lengths to conceal the identity and the origins of these checks."

FUND RAISERS

It has previously been learned that the four checks drawn on the Mexican bank passed through the hands of Stans and other Nixon committee officials, then wound up in Barker's Miami bank account.

But the report provides the first account to challenge the original contention of Stans that he knew nothing about transfer of the funds which came from or passed through Mexico.

The report gives this account:

In late March and early April, a group of Nixon fund raisers in Texas, headed by William Liedtke, president of the Pennzoil Corp., were collecting contributions in the Southwest.

Liedtke told committee investigators he was approached by Robert Allen, president of Gulf Resources and Chemical Co. in Houston and Texas fund-raising chairman for Nixon, who told Liedtke he could "raise United States money in Mexico" for the campaign.

Liedtke told investigators he talked by telephone April 3 with Stans to find out if there were any legal problems with obtaining such funds from Mexico.

Liedtke said Stans told him he would check. That afternoon or the following morning, Stans told Liedtke it was "okay to bring the money to Washington," Liedtke told the investigators.

$89,000

On April 5, a messenger brought a large pouch to Liedtke's Pennzoil office in Houston and opened it in the presence of Liedtke and Roy Winchester, a Pennzoil vice president.

The agent deposited four checks totaling $89,000 from Banco Internacional of Mexico City and 110 one-hundred dollar bills on Liedtke's desk.

The agent asked for a receipt but didn't get one. Winchester and Liedtke told investigators that "in the fund-raising business you don't deal in receipts."

Soon after the agent left, the cash and checks were packed in a suitcase with other funds collected by the fund raisers.

Syria Guns Down Jet?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria claimed its forces shot down an Israeli jet that penetrated Syrian air space today, but an Israeli military spokesman denied it.

The Syrian announcement broadcast over Damascus radio, said the plane was downed in a fight over the Israeli occupied Golan Heights.

The Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said, "There was no incursion, no encounter, nothing happened today."

Damascus Radio said Syrian jets scrambled to head off "an enemy air unit" and anti-aircraft guns also opened fire.

It reported no Syrian losses in the dogfight, which it said took place at 11:55 a.m.

The Israeli plane exploded in the air and the wreckage crashed near Banaia in the occupied Golan Heights, the radio reported.

The Syrians said Lebanese observation posts in the Mt. Hermon area confirmed the kill.

Senate Approves Revenue Sharing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill, one of the landmark measures of the 92nd Congress, has passed the Senate 63 to 20 despite the misgivings of many members.

The bill was approved Tuesday night after a 12-hour session and sent to conference with the House to iron out major differences in the versions passed by the two branches.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Senate manager of the bill, said he hopes the conference can begin Thursday and can reach quick agreement.

OPPORTUNITY

If that happens, the first payments to 39,000 eligible states, cities, counties and townships could be sent out by the federal Treasury in October.

Several senators said they could not conscientiously vote for the bill at a time when federal deficits have mounted to $100 billion in four years.

But, in an election year, the majority took the opportunity to help put into effect the first broad program to turn back federal tax revenues to state and local governments on a no-strings basis.

The major difference between the Senate and House bills involves the formula for distributing the funds.

The Senate bill generally favors the poorer, less-populous states; the House measure the urban, industrialized ones.

However, the Senate version gives more than the House bill to the central cities and much less to the suburbs.

$300,000 Robbery

MENTOR, Ohio (AP) — Two men posing as Brinks' guards escaped with $300,000 in cash from the Lake County National Bank's Mentor office Tuesday.

Albert Pike, president and chief executive officer of the Lake County National Bank, said two men dressed in official-looking gray uniforms, caps and handguns entered the rear door of the bank's Great Lakes Mall office at 11:15 a.m.

Small States Will Get More Funds If...

WASHINGTON (AP) — Small states would get more funds and suburbs would fare worse if the revenue-sharing bill passed by the Senate becomes law instead of the version approved earlier by the House.

The prospect, however, is for some sort of compromise to emerge from what is expected to be a long and difficult conference between spokesmen for the two houses.

The Senate, which passed the bill 63 to 20 Tuesday night, deleted House-passed provisions that would have encouraged states to impose or increase their own income taxes.

NO-STRINGS

Hewing more closely than the House to President Nixon's concept of no-strings distributions to states and local governments, the Senate deleted requirements that the local funds be spent for certain broad categories of services.

Finally, the Senate wrote into the measure a whole new section designed to limit the flow of federal funds to the states in matching social-services grants.

Apart from these grants, the two versions of the bill would funnel the same amount of money to the states and local governments: $3.3 billion this year, increasing annually to bring the five-year payout to $29.6 billion.

But the proposed formulas for distributing the funds differ sharply.

The House version would distribute in the first year $1.5 billion to states on a formula based half on total state tax effort and half on state income taxes. This would reward those states imposing substantial income taxes of their own.

Hickson Seeking To Spur Drive

With the United Way now about a third of the way toward its goal, Bob Hickson, campaign chairman, will confer with division leaders on stepping up the annual fund appeal.

Latest reports show $36,511 reaching the United Way office, but with most of the divisions showing only partial reports.

Among the latest firms to report 100 per cent sign-up by employees are the McMahon Concrete Company, Settles Hotel, Texas Employment Commission and Hemphill-Wellis Company. The latter, managed by Hickson, showed the employees backing their chief with a 50 per cent increase in giving.

The division chairman meeting Thursday will be at noon in the Holiday Inn when leaders will assess the status of the campaign.

In the meantime, Hickson stressed anew that this is the one big community drive in which all the money is spent to support local agencies, except for the portion for campaign expense and administration. Dollars for United Way work at home, he said.

City May Purchase New Burglar Alarm System

City Manager Harry Nagel today contacted Security Supply Co., Dallas, on behalf of Big Spring merchants to purchase a standardized burglar alarm system to be installed in the police station.

The system will replace several unrelated units presently crowding walls of the police radio dispatcher's room.

Cost of the system is distributed among the merchants, the city assuming no expense or liability except to provide shelving and space for the modular system.

The cost of the basic unit with a capacity of 40 modules is born by Security Supply, as is the maintenance of the system.

Each merchant purchases his own module which is inserted into the unit. Each module costs $50.

According to Nagel, about 25 merchants are presently using alarm systems monitored by the police, approximately ten more are inquiring and interested in entering the new system.

Installation date for the equipment has not been determined.

Nagel noted that a similar system will likely be installed for fire alarms in the main fire station, to replace the unrelated units now in use.

Tennis Center Work Begins

The Dora Roberts Tennis Center is now under preparatory construction by the city, reported Director of Public Works James Campbell.

City personnel and equipment began laying a base for the asphalt course late last week. The city's work should be completed by the end of the week, Campbell said.

By the end of next week, he continued, Price Construction Co. will probably be ready to begin laying a one and a half inch course of asphalt after which bids will be let for a half-inch leveling course, a Plexapave surface and green and brown surface sealing courses. The courts will be green with brown margins.

Bids will also be let for purchase and construction of a 10-ft. fence, lights, nets and tiers of seats for the championship court.

A total of six courts will be constructed, the site of which is the Dora Roberts Community Center at Cosden Lake.

Cost of the asphalt course is approximately $6,000.

ON HCJC BOARD Taylor Replaces Dorothy Garrett

Mrs. Horace Garrett resigned as a member of the Howard County Board of Trustees Tuesday, and the board named Jimmy Taylor to serve out her unexpired term which runs to April, 1974.

Mrs. Garrett, a benefactor of the college, expressed regret in leaving the board but said that she felt for reasons of health that this was the right course. She applauded action of the board in naming Taylor, president of First National Bank, as her successor.

Her departure ends a direct connection of almost a quarter of a century of the Garrett family with the college board. Her late husband, Horace Garrett, had gone on the board in 1948, succeeding Mrs. J. E. Brigham, one of the original trustees, and served until his death in 1967, the last nine years as chairman.

Dorothy Garrett was named to succeed him September, 1967. The board accepted Mrs. Garrett's resignation with deep regret and expressed its appreciation for her years of service to the college.

A breakdown on teaching loads was presented to the board by Dr. Thomas Salter, president, together with an explanation of exceptionally small classes. In many instances, the low-enrollment courses fit into degree requirements; in others the courses fill certain needs or should increase in popularity, said Dr. Salter. In several occupational courses, the effort

ATTRIBUTED TO JET NOISE

Teaching Isn't The Same

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Spanish teacher says she hasn't been able to give dictation to her classes for five years.

School officials say there is a shocking number of playground fights.

Tests showed hearing loss in many students at a junior high school.

At home, some teachers get complaints from their families that they turn the television or stereo set too loud.

What do these things have in common? They are attributed to noise from jets swooping over some 15 schools on their approach to Los Angeles International Airport.

DEAFENING ROAR
As school reopened this week, the deafening whine and roar — sometimes as often as every other minute — was nothing new, except to new students.

"I'm used to it now," said a blonde at Morningside High School. "But when we first moved here we couldn't sleep at night."

Said one Morningside teacher, "The kids are so used to it, they don't notice it as much as we do." Though the sound is enough to drown out a shout, students don't even look up.

But one girl who said she had lived under the flight path for 13 years complained of frequent earaches and headaches.

About 500 jets pass over the area every 24 hours.

Teachers at schools near the airport, interviewed as the new term began, said they agreed with a recent UCLA scientific report that jet noise is hindering education and may be causing permanent hearing damage.

GETTING WORSE
"It's getting worse every year," said Mary Lipsman who teaches kindergarten at Jefferson Elementary School. She said she has to pause in class every time a jet nears. "Who knows how much the children miss in class? It's incalculable, she says."

Some teachers and administrators say noise is to blame for the number of fights in the schools. Edward Walsh, principal of Felton Junior High School, said the number of fights last year was startling.

"It's tough to verbalize with all that noise. If somebody pushes you, you're more apt to push back than wait until the roar is over to talk about it, he said."

The UCLA study said that most of the students tested last year at Felton showed a loss of hearing.

The Airport Authority has provided matching funds for schools to soundproof classrooms, but most remain unsoundproofed.

Drys In Odessa Are Organizing

ODESSA — Anti-liquor forces here are organizing to force an election which would end the sale of all alcoholic beverages in Ector county.

William Provance, an Odessa insurance man, said he would circulate petitions to force the election.

Provance added his action countered that started by other Odessans who would attempt to get liquor by the drink approved by the county in November's general election.

Bombs Result In More POWs

SAIGON (AP) — The American effort to compel a Vietnam settlement and free the prisoners of war by the sustained bombing of North Vietnam has resulted in a major increase in the number of POWs.

With the loss of an Air Force F4 Phantom and its two crewmen in North Vietnam Monday, the U.S. Command listed a total of 100 American airmen missing in the North since the resumption of full-scale bombing more than five months ago, on April 6. That's an average of more than four men a week.

Thirty-seven of the fliers have been reported captured. Many of the others probably were killed.

WAR CAMPS
Prior to the resumption of full-scale bombing, the Pentagon listed 412 Americans missing in North Vietnam during the war and another 388 held in prisoner of war camps in North Vietnam as of April 1.

By Sept. 2, the Pentagon's list of those missing in the North had increased to 455 and the number of captives to 425.

The U.S. Command's total of 100 missing is 20 higher than the increase in the Pentagon's total of missing and captured. But the U.S. Command's total includes an additional week of losses and is also based on the status of a plane's crew at the time the loss of the plane was announced. It is not changed, as the Pentagon's records are, when a missing flier is declared dead or is rescued.

The U.S. Command says 93 American jets have been downed over the North since April 6.

WILL NOT STOP
North Vietnam has broadcast recorded messages from more than 20 pilots captured during the current campaign including some calling for an end to the bombing and the war.

One of the pilots captured during the spring, Air Force Maj. Edward K. Elias is among three American POWs Hanoi has said it will release soon to representatives of a U.S. anti-war group.

Antiwar statements attributed to Elias and Navy Lt. Norris A. Charles, also announced for release, have been among those broadcast during the summer.

One of the statements attributed to Elias said: "We proved in previous years that bombing of North Vietnam would not stop the war in South Vietnam, and now we are filling the detention camps again."

Cora Weiss, cochairman of the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam, to whom the three POWs are to be released, says Hanoi authorities have given her the following breakdown of Americans they hold:

Between 1964 and 1968, 388 Americans were captured. Nine were released, 15 died of wounds within a week or so of capture, and five died of diseases in the camps.

383 HELD
Between December 1971 and Aug. 23, 1972, at least 44 more pilots were captured, bringing the total number of prisoners held by the North Vietnamese to 383.

She said this total is lower than the Pentagon's because the Defense Department continues to list men as missing or prisoners after the North Vietnamese have reported them dead.

Senior U.S. officials in Saigon feel that the quickest way to get all of the POWs back is to continue the bombing and possibly to intensify it. One senior Air Force official who helps plan operations against North Vietnam said recently:

"My judgment is that the fastest way to get these prisoners back is to compel a settlement, get these guys to talk, put some give in their position. There's been no give. Just keep pouring it on them."

ANSWER IS NO
"Is the bombing in fact delaying the return of the prisoners? I think the answer is no. We stopped the bombing last time — in 1968 — with the expectation of getting some sort of speeded up negotiations and prisoners returned. We got nothing."

President Nixon has said the bombing will continue until North Vietnam agrees to a cease-fire throughout Indochina and the release of all POWs. U.S. officials in Saigon have been hinting that Nixon plans to intensify the bombing if he is re-elected.

North Vietnam, however, has given no indication that Nixon's bombing campaign is bringing it any nearer to capitulation than President Lyndon Johnson's air war did in 1968. Instead the North Vietnamese continue to tell Washington that the only way to get the POWs back is to get all its forces out of Vietnam, stop the air war and withdraw its support from the South Vietnamese government of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

NCO Wives To Help At Career Day

The NCO Wives Club of Webb AFB, which met Tuesday evening in the NCO Club, will sponsor a refreshment booth on the flight line when the base sponsors its annual Career Day Sept. 26. Soft drinks and hot dogs will be served, with proceeds going to the wives club welfare fund.

Mrs. Joseph Miller, president, conducted Tuesday's business session, introducing two guests, Mrs. Billy Brown, wife of the club manager; and Mrs. Anne Howarth of Edinburgh, Scotland. In other business, the club noted $5 each to a Browne troop, Scout troop and the high school's Bible Fund. Also, the women agreed to help pay for clothing which Mrs. Frank Moore, a club member, has collected to send to an orphanage overseas. A current fund-raising project will end Sept. 28 with a prize being awarded at the base commander's "How Goes It?" meeting in the NCO Club.

Mrs. Lawrence R. Seabolt was named publicity chairman. The next meeting will be Oct. 10.

Free Film Slated Thursday, Friday

The fourth film in the series, "Civilisation," will be shown at Howard County Junior College auditorium at 6 p.m. Thursday and 2 p.m. Friday. The screenings are free and open to the public.

In this film, "Man — the Measure of All Things," the great names are Botticelli, Masaccio, Bellini and Giorgione, with one Northerner of like ideas, Van Eyck. The place is Italy, the time is the early 15th century, and the discovery is man. By the latter, it is meant "modern man, not as God's servant but in and of himself." The Florentine architect, Alberti, is typical of this new-found egocentricity and the motto he took for himself is conventional wisdom to this day: "A man can do all things if he will."

Mrs. Clyde Angel Reviews Book

"A Hat on the Hall Table," a book by Jean Reynolds Davis, was reviewed by Mrs. Clyde Angel Monday for the Book Review Club at the Woman's Club building in Midland. The occasion was the club's opening event for fall, with approximately 80 persons attending the luncheon. Mrs. Angel was introduced by Mrs. J. S. Knaur; club president. The book, written by the wife of a minister, is described as a "humorous romp through the rectory."

Mrs. Angel will return to Midland this fall to review for the Ami Review Club, and travel to Dallas in October as guest reviewer for the Norway Book Review Club.

Guild Tours Westside Center

Action was prompted by the study topic, "A Community Center's Response in a Changing Society," at Monday's meeting of Wesleyan Service Guild, First United Methodist Church.

After a brief business session, the group reconvened at Westside Community Center where a tour was led by Mrs. Ernest Bauch, director, and Mrs. Ben Boodle, president of the board. The guild is interested in assisting the center, and Mrs. Boodle detailed ways the women can be of service. She said things needed by the center include a hand mixer and sewing machines. The guild will determine how it can assist during its next regular meeting, Oct. 9.

The guild, along with the WSCS, will host the district guild meeting Oct. 8 at the church from 2 to 4 p.m., with approximately 125 women from area towns expected to attend. Miss Helen Willard was named general chairman, assisted by Mrs. H. M. Rowe and Miss Twila Lomax. In conjunction with the event, a reception will be held at the church at 2 p.m., honoring Mrs. H. H. Stephens of Big Spring, president of United Methodist Women of the Northwest Methodist Conference.

Men Gardeners Will Celebrate 40th Anniversary

Men's Garden Club Week, Sept. 24-30, was the main subject of discussion when the Men's Garden Club met Tuesday evening at the U. S. Experiment Station with L. R. Saunders, president, presiding.

The week is being spotlighted this year in conjunction with the 40th anniversary of the founding of Men's Garden Clubs of America. The local club is preparing banners and placecards to publicize the event locally.

Also, the club initiated the sponsorship of a garden pamphlet to be given to children in the elementary grades. The book, which would also be helpful in science projects, has been printed jointly by the Men's Garden Club of America and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Saunders expressed the hope that local businesses might help defray costs of the books.

The program was presented by Dr. Paul Koshi who showed two films, "The Dust is Dying," and "How Water Moves Through the Soil."

The next business meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 10 at the experiment station.

ESA District Meeting Slated Here Oct. 15

The upcoming Epsilon Sigma Alpha district meeting, slated here Oct. 15, was the focus of attention Monday evening when Mu Kappa chapter met in the home of Mrs. Ed Miller, Gail R.L., with Mrs. W. L. McMullan, president, leading a discussion of plans for the event.

Mu Kappa and Alpha Chi chapters will cohost the district conference which is expected to attract over 100 participants from 17 area chapters. Theme for the meeting, which will be held in the Officers Club at Webb AFB, will be "The County Fair." During Monday's meeting, the women made registration books, name tags and other items which will be used at the conference. Favors for out-of-towners have been donated by area merchants.

A get-acquainted party for Mu Kappa rushers is scheduled Oct. 9, but other rush events will not be held until after the conference. The chapter's next regular meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 25 at the home of Mrs. Lonnie Zant, 2407 Morrison.

Firehouse 6 Receives Help From Beauceants

Firehouse No. 6, where troubled persons may go for help, received a donation of money from the Social Order of Beauceants during its Monday night meeting in the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Jack Alexander related how local volunteers help at the station and stressed its need for more assistance in aiding youth in the community.

Mrs. Lee Porter presided, and members draped the chapter in memory of Mrs. Frank W. Williams, a past supreme worthy president of the Beauceants.

It was announced that the Beauceants will serve dinner to the commandry at 6 p.m., Sept. 30 in the temple.

Final plans were made for the Supreme Assembly in Dallas Oct. 1-7 which will be attended by nine local members.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Glenn Cantrell and Mrs. Edward Crabtree. The next meeting will be Friendship Night, Sept. 25, when there will be out-of-town guests.

Supper For Vets

The WWI Veterans of Post 1474 and its Auxiliary will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the IOOF Hall where a salad supper will be served.

A LOVELIER YOU New Products Make Hair Coloring Easier

By MARY SUE MILLER
If you color your hair at home, there is nothing so important as having products you can rely on for top performance. It's like the theatre: a hit show depends on the star and the star depends on the supporting players.

Just so with hair coloring: However fabulous a lighter or tint, its effectiveness is lessened when support from required back-ups fails. One such new aid is Creme Peroxide, which purports to make bleaches work faster and tints work better. Tested by salon experts it is pronounced an easy-do for the do-it-yourselfer.

Creme Peroxide has all the advantages of 20-volume liquid peroxide like easy mixing and measuring, plus the advantages of creme. As Creme Peroxide is mixed with either bleach or tint it thickens to a rich lather. Viscosity renders it manageable and prevents running over hair and scalp. In other words, it stays put — lightens what you want it to lighten and tints what you want it to tint.

And please note: regardless of their unopened strength, liquid peroxides tend to lose that strength once the bottle has been opened. Not so with Creme Peroxide, for by maintaining its 20-volume strength it is usable to the last drop. Thus, if you do not use it all up the first time, it will still do the job weeks later.

Retirement Reception

Mrs. Claude Day of the nursing service staff at Big Spring State Hospital was honored Monday with a reception hosted by other members of the staff in the Toilet All Faith Chapel.

Hospital staff members called between 2 and 4 p.m. to wish Mrs. Day well on the occasion of her retirement. A decorative money tree was a gift to Mrs. Day from the staff.

The retirement marks the end of a 10-year period of employment at the hospital and a 25-year career in the field of nursing. Mrs. Day, a graduate of Charity Hospital School of Nursing in New Orleans, La., has been active in her professional organizations during those 25 years.

Mrs. Day, who has served on several unit staffs of the hospital, has only plans for leisure activities in the future. She and her husband reside at 1308 Lexington.

Any Garden Is Intriguing Hobby

Gardens are of many sorts. A flower garden may be no larger than a narrow strip along a walk and operated on a budget not exceeding a dollar or two, or it may be extensive, include many types of flowers and expense may hardly be a limiting factor. Whatever the circumstances, gardening is a fascinating activity for many.

Women Of Chapel To Host Coffee At Webb

The Women of the Chapel, Webb AFB, will host a coffee at 9:30 a.m., Sept. 19 in the home of Mrs. Harold Shultz, No. 7 Albrook. Mrs. Kenneth Summy will be cohostess. All Webb women, especially newcomers, are invited to attend and hear a guest speaker, Mrs. Billy Mac Sheppard, acting volunteer coordinator at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Mrs. Sheppard will speak briefly on the role of the volunteer and how volunteers have contributed to patients' welfare. Free baby-sitting will be provided at the base nursery during the coffee.

"We want all Webb women who feel that being a woman and a Christian is an alluring expedition to join with us as we start our Women of the Chapel year," said Mrs. David Vanderwarn, WOC publicity chairman. "The WOC organization is open to all protestant and Catholic women at Webb AFB. Its objective is geared to meet their present needs. We urge newcomers to attend the coffee, get acquainted and participate in our activities."

The protestant president of WOC is Mrs. C. M. Dennison, and the Catholic president is Mrs. Sidney Gautreaux. Mrs. Eldon March is secretary.

The WOC holds its regular meetings at 9:30 a.m., the third Tuesday of each month in the chapel annex.

CANCER DISCOVERED IN ALL 80 Children Victims Of Female Hormone?

BOSTON (AP) — Researchers whose studies first linked a synthetic female hormone to cancer in the children of pregnant women who took the drug say they have uncovered some 80 cases of such tumors since beginning their investigations.

In 1971, Drs. Arthur Herbst, Howard Ulfelder and David Poskanzer, working at Boston's Vincent Memorial Hospital, caused a medical stir when they reported finding eight cases of vaginal cancer during 1966-1969 which were apparently linked to the hormone diethylstilbestrol (DES).

They said they discovered that in each case, the mothers of the cancer patients had received DES during pregnancy. They reported there was a "highly significant association" between the mothers taking the drug and vaginal cancer in their young daughters.

Herbst says that since the study appeared, his team has received and confirmed reports on some 80 cases of vaginal tumors in women under 25 from throughout the country and overseas.

He said that even though the use of stilbestrol, a derivative of DES, was widespread in pregnant women in the late 40s and early 50s, the fact that only 80 related cancer cases have been reported would indicate that the risk of cancer in the daughters is "so far not very large."

"We still don't know the risk of any young girl developing a tumor whose mother took the drug, but we feel it is small," he said.

The Herbst team study has two significant medical implications. It is one of the first times that a drug taken by a parent has been linked with disease in offspring occurring so many years later. And unlike the cervix, cancer in the vagina is rare, particularly in the young.

rol to women early in pregnancy."

Since the appearance of the study, Herbst says, the already declining use of stilbestrol in pregnant women has decreased even further.

Beginning in 1946, pregnant women with histories of spontaneous abortions were frequently treated with DES because much was written at the time about the increased success of high-risk pregnancies following the use of the drug.

Because of stilbestrol's popularity, no one knows how many pregnant women received the drug, but conservative estimates put the number at least several hundred thousand worldwide.

Herbst says he and others are continuing research on the effects of DES on offspring. He says that it may be many years before final conclusions may be drawn because the research involves studying the development of cancer in many patients and the occurrence of the disease in later generations.

NEW ISRAELI ATTACK

Lebanon's Premier Expresses Fear

By The Associated Press
Lebanon's premier expressed fear Tuesday of a new Israeli attack as U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim called for General Assembly action against terrorism.

last week's Israeli attack would be the last," Premier Saeb Salam told the Lebanese Parliament.

Foreign ministers of the 10 European Common Market countries met in Rome and agreed to take a united stand on any proposal against terrorism put before the United Nations.

The West German government was busy trying to repair the damage done to its relations with Arab governments by the Munich attack.

The U.N. chief told a news conference in New York that the United Nations "cannot be a mute spectator" to increasing violence.

UNEMPLOYED STENOGRAPHER — Kirby Lewellen, 25, demonstrates his typing skill, but claims it's not enough to breach the tradition of female stenographers.

For Job: 'I'd Even Wear Mini-Pants'

HONOLULU (AP) — Kirby Lewellen is trying to get a job as a stenographer and work his way up to the heady heights of executive secretary. But so far he hasn't even been able to get into the steno pool.

"All I hear when I apply for a job is, 'We don't hire men as stenographers,'" the 25-year-old mustachioed Lewellen said in an interview Tuesday, telling of his three weeks of fruitless job-hunting in terrain traditionally reserved for women. "They don't ever say why."

FAST TYPE

Lewellen started looking for a job as a stenographer "not because I was trying to break down any barriers, but because that would be the most practical kind of job for my situation."

He is an aspiring young actor who along with his wife and two other young people compose the crew of 4-Cast, an entertainment group which has drawn good reviews for theatrical performances in small theaters.

That means, he said, that he must be free at night to perform and also be free from the kind of mental stress that many jobs involve.

Lewellen said he decided a stenographer's job would be best for him because as the job-hunting manuals say, "Assess your skills and apply for positions which will utilize them."

"I can type 91 words a minute and take dictation at about 60 words a minute," Lewellen said.

THEY LAUGH

But, he added, when he answers a help-wanted advertisement for a stenographer, "They laugh."

Wins Giant Damage Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — David Nelson Standefer, 53, was awarded $1.5 million in federal court Tuesday for damages he allegedly suffered at the Veterans Administration hospital here which made him a quadriplegic.

Standefer was injured Jan. 26 in a car accident near Brenham and doctors transferred him to the Houston hospital for "neurosurgical consultation."

Joseph Jamail, Standefer's lawyer, argued that his client was able to move his legs and move about on his own in Brenham and after he arrived at the VA hospital here.

Crippling injuries occurred, the suit alleged, when an attendant in the X-ray room jerked Standefer's head and caused permanent paralysis from the neck down.

Government lawyers argued that Standefer's spinal injuries were suffered in the automobile accident, in which his brother was killed. They said the injuries were aggravated when Standefer fell from his hospital bed in Brenham while trying to stand up despite doctor's orders to remain in bed.

MODERNIZATION BADLY NEEDED

Rips Texas Judicial System

HOUSTON (AP) — A conference on court reforms heard calls from a former U.S. Supreme Court justice and the retiring Texas Supreme Court chief justice for modernization of Texas tribunals Tuesday.

The three-day meeting continued today. Retired Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark told the 120 delegates at the conference, "I don't think the courts need reforming at all. We need modernization."

JUSTICE DELAYED — Chief Justice Robert Calvert, who goes off the Texas Supreme Court Jan. 1, said a year-long study by a group for which he is chairman shows Texas courts need to modernize and speed up their procedures.

Calvert said more than 65,000 cases on the dockets of Texas courts last year had been pending more than two years. But he added that any reform would encounter opposition from elected officials such as justices of the peace and court clerks afraid that it might take their jobs.

Clark said Texas has a budget of $4 billion but less than $3 million is spent on the judiciary. He criticized the present court system where persons who work in the system are picked and paid by different government entities.

"How could you run a business if all your employees were selected by someone else?" he asked.

He also said that while fewer than 50 per cent of the state justices of the peace are lawyers, "yes they have the power in their hands to turn you over to a grand jury."

THEY HAVE POWER — The trial court is the most important court in the United States, Clark said, "because 90 per cent of the cases tried in the court are never appealed."

The conference, billed as a Citizens' Conference on Court Reform, is made up of non-lawyers representing major civic organizations. Backers say it is the first major effort by a citizens group in Houston to analyze the problems of the court system in Texas.

The conference is sponsored by the Houston and American Bar Associations, the American College of State Judiciary and the American Judicature Society.

Language Plans Okehed By State — ABILENE — The State Board of Education has approved Hardin-Simmons University's application for a language-learning disabilities program.

Dr. Jack Longbotham, chairman of the division of education, has announced. H-SU becomes the only institution in this immediate area to have the new program, Dr. Longbotham reports.

Dr. Imogene Bagwell will be coordinator of special education and in charge of the new program. She said that projected figures of the Region XIV Education Service Center reveal that approximately 350 teachers in the L-L-D field will be needed in the area by 1976, the target date for comprehensive special education in Texas.

The White House announced that Kissinger will be received in London by Prime Minister Edward Heath and in Paris by President Georges Pompidou. He will tell them about his Moscow talks as "part of our continuing pattern of close consultations with European allies," White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

No reason for the change was given and no information was provided on Kissinger's talks with the Russians, who presumably included Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev.

It was assumed that the war in Vietnam as well as European and Soviet-American issues were under discussion. The Soviet press gave prominent coverage Tuesday to the Viet Cong peace statement this week asserting once again that a South Vietnamese coalition government could be formed which neither the Communists nor the Saigon regime would dominate. Both Saigon and U.S. officials said they found nothing new in the statement.

There was speculation that after his talks with the Russians and with British and French officials, Kissinger would meet in Paris Friday with Le Duc Tho, the North Vietnamese Politburo member who is his government's chief peace negotiator.

Four bids were received on the equipment which was specified for an eight-micropone mixer, two sound columns of six 5-inch speakers, eight dynamic microphones and microphone accessories.

Bids came from Trice Wholesale Electronics, Lubbock $393.90; Midland Specialty Co., Odessa, $415.15; F&M Electronics, Midland, $447.00; and R&R Electronic Supply, Odessa, $520.30.

Purchasing agent Robert Butler submitted the bids to the city's electronics technician Johnny Shortes for tabulation of bids and further study of equipment specifications.

Shortes offered no recommendation upon immediate perusal of the equipment offered.

It is extremely painful and frequently renders the patient bedridden.

Of all conditions which respond to Chiropractic, it may be said that neuritis responds most readily to adjustments. The reason is that most cases of neuritis results from a disturbance of body mechanics and displacements of spinal vertebrae creating irritation of the involved nerve.

Here is a woman who heard about Chiropractic and its help in neuritis cases. This was shortly before she left Webb and still in just a matter of days, she obtained great relief and in fact, almost instantaneous improvement from her first visit. SNYDER — A $2.9 million bond election for construction, remodeling and air conditioning within the Snyder school system was set for Oct. 7 Tuesday night by the Snyder School Board.

The decision was by the narrowest of margins.

The board was tied three to three over the issue with board president Max von Roeder voting for the election to break the tie.

Some members of the board said they thought the costs were excessive.

Funds will be used to air condition all classrooms throughout the system and for construction and remodeling at the senior high school and Lamar Junior High School.

Snyder High School is to be put in shape to hold a four-year high school when the change is made in two years. Lamar will be altered to accommodate a two-year junior high that will incorporate students from Travis Junior High School.

The board voted for a seven year program of payment.

Current tax rate of $1.42 per $100 valuation, which is based on 15 per cent of true value, will be raised "about 20 cents."

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BORROWER: (Q.) Ann went with me to see this rock movie. I have to go because I am making a report on the group and when she heard me say I was going she invited herself.

She has also invited herself to all my clippings and pictures of them. I've been saving stuff. She borrows it and promises to bring it back, but doesn't.

Also when I hear of a store that has something on them she beats me there and buys everything good before I get there.

I had a whole bunch of stuff on the group and now she has all of it but one page of notes I made. Can you help me? — Robbed in Rhode Island.

(A.) Call Ann and tell her you need all your clippings, notes, pictures, everything right away. Tell her you will be at her house in 30 minutes to get them. Then go and pick them up.

I do not believe he will know it is the first time for you.

KISS CRY: (Q.) I have a very big problem. It's real serious. I am almost 15 and have never been kissed. I've had plenty of chances, but I'm so scared I'll do it wrong or maybe he will know that I never did it before. Please help me. — Not Yet In New York.

(A.) Do not cry. Kissing has not passed you by. When you find a boy you really want to kiss, you will let him kiss you and you will kiss him back naturally and without fear.

I do not believe he will know it is the first time for you.

Texas Judge Hit In Suit By Atheist

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — A lawsuit was pending against a district judge today, brought by a man who said he was given a life prison term by a jury composed only of persons who believe in God.

Jody L. Worton, a self-described "confirmed atheist," brought the suit against District Court Judge Temple Driver. Worton had been convicted in Driver's court last year for swindling and being a habitual criminal.

"I've never been sued in my life," Driver said. He has notified Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin who will answer the suit and provide defense counsel.

In the unusual suit, Worton claims he was "discriminated against and arbitrarily denied equal protection of the law upon being tried by a jury in the selection of which all conscientious non-believers in God were systematically excluded because the oath administered by the defendant (the judge) ... required each prospective juror to recognize the existence of a God as a condition of serving as a petit juror in his court ..."

Develop Poise

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am the world's biggest klutz. This is fairly unusual because I am a 19-year-old girl, and I should have passed through this stage when I was 13 or 14, but I didn't.

I trip over my own feet, drop things, bang my head getting in and out of cars, hit my arm going through a door, and I've even broken a couple of toes running past the coffee table.

The worst part is my mother. She is always yelling at me because I'm so clumsy. Abby, I'm not this way on purpose. How can I make my mother understand this? Please print this for her to see. Also, if there are others who are going through the same thing it might help them to know they are not alone.

WORLD'S KLUTZIEST GIRL: DEAR GIRL: Don't accept your awkwardness with such grace. Quit rushing around and try to develop some poise. ("Poise" is simply being aware of what you are doing.) Think of yourself as a beautiful, graceful young woman, and you'll move like one. Try it. You'll like it. And so will your mother.

DEAR ABBY: My son is

Smith's Reply Sounds Fishy

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith says its okay to use his official state airplane for vacation trips because he works even when he goes fishing.

The subject came up at his news conference Tuesday when a reporter asked if he flew to Colorado on vacation last week in the plane.

"Sure I did," he replied.

"Do you think that was state business, Governor?" Smith was asked.

"Yes, sir," Smith replied emphatically.

"What state business did you conduct in Colorado?"

"Lots of state business. I always take with me folders and folders full of boards, possible appointments and matters of that sort wherever I go," Smith said.

"Governor, did you catch any fish?"

"You bet," he answered.

What bothers me, Abby, is that Danny keeps wanting to introduce me to these old girl friends of his. I met two of them and was very uncomfortable with them, knowing what the past had been. (One is married now, and even in the presence of her husband she flirted openly with mine.)

I put my foot down when Danny wanted me to spend an evening with another old flame. We had a big fight about it. Danny said I was childish. I said he was just trying to make me jealous. He said if he had cared about any of them he would have married THEM — not me. I am all confused. Am I being childish to rebel against meeting those girls with whom my husband has been intimate?

DANNY'S MIXED-UP WIFE: DEAR WIFE: No! He's childish to expect you to.

Cadillac presents the class of '73

Clearly, these are the most magnificent Cadillacs ever built. Not only for what you can see—the bold new exteriors and the plush new interiors—but as much for what you can't see.

You see here the sparkling new Sedan deVille, the stunning new Eldorado Coupe and the superb new Eldorado Convertible. You don't see the six other new Cadillacs (more models than all other U.S. luxury cars have combined).

You see here the striking new styling outside—even more elegant for '73. You don't see the hundreds of innovations and refinements inside. To add new comfort and convenience.

And you don't see the many new niceties you may add. Like a lighted vanity mirror.

As well as a theft-deterrent system and steel-belted radial tires. And in the Fleetwood Brougham, crushed velour interiors in any of four colors.

Clearly, you never had so many good reasons to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer, Cadillac Motor Car Division. The leadership shows.

CLAIM TRIPLE MIG KILL 100 Yank Pilots Missing

SAIGON (AP) — Three North Vietnamese MIGs and a U.S. Phantom were shot down Monday and Tuesday north and west of Hanoi, and the total of American airmen reported missing in the new bombing campaign against North Vietnam reached 100, the U.S. Command announced today.

DOG FIGHTS

The three MIG 21s were downed Tuesday by F4 Phantoms, America's fastest fighters. It was the first time since May 10 that American pilots shot down three enemy interceptors in one day, the 7th Air Force said.

While spokesmen said the American fighters came away from Tuesday's dog fights without a loss, they reported that a MIG downed a Phantom 48 miles northeast of Hanoi Monday.

The Phantom's two crewmen were missing, raising to 100 the number of American airmen listed as missing over North Vietnam since the enemy offensive began March 30, the U.S. Command said. Thirty-seven of these have been reported captured.

The full-scale bombing of North Vietnam was resumed on April 6 as a response to an invasion of South Vietnam by Hanoi infantry divisions.

The F4 Phantom fighters were escorting Air Force attack planes on strikes in the Hanoi region when they encountered the MIG interceptors.

The U.S. Command reported 310 strikes across North Vietnam Tuesday, many of them between Hanoi and the Chinese border.

JETS ATTACK

Air Force and Navy jets attacked on the northwest and northeast rail lines to China for the second day and Air Force pilots said they destroyed a 105-foot bridge on the northwest other target hit for the first time was a repair and supply depot 45 miles north of Hanoi that serviced trucks moving supplies from the Chinese border.

Air Force pilots said they damaged two 5,000-gallon tanks and cut a pipeline in three places at the Lac Nam and Kep fuel depots 35 miles northeast of Hanoi. Navy pilots said they wrecked the northern half of the Kep railroad yards.

On the ground in South Vietnam, the battle for the Quang Tri Citadel raged on. The Saigon command said heavy North Vietnamese resistance, including a 1,400-round artillery barrage, kept reinforcements from reaching government marines who advanced into the southeastern corner of the 19th century fortress Tuesday.

Lt. Col. Do Viet, a government spokesman, said 64 North Vietnamese troops were killed in fighting 500 yards south of the Citadel, while five South Vietnamese marines were killed and 14 were wounded.

Dawn Moves To Georgia

MIAMI (AP) — Tropical Depression Dawn, continuing to weaken from its earlier hurricane status, moved into extreme southeast Georgia today, the National Hurricane Center reported.

The center said the central part of the depression moved inland in the vicinity of Brunswick, Ga.

"A few squalls with winds to 35 miles per hour may occur along the Georgia coast this morning," said the center's latest bulletin on the 1972 Atlantic hurricane season's fourth storm.

"Large swells along the Georgia and Northeast Florida coast will gradually diminish today. Small craft should not venture far from harbor this morning."

Meanwhile, the hurricane center said a reconnaissance aircraft would be dispatched today to investigate an extensive area of showers east of the Windward Islands.

Stuart McFarland Named To Methodist Position

First United Methodist Church announces that they have employed Stuart McFarland in a brand new position as minister of music.

McFarland is making plans to set up a graded choir program in the church with classes on Monday for children in the first through third grades and fourth through sixth. Youth choir will be organized on Sundays near the time of Methodist Youth Fellowship meetings.

He also is planning to offer courses to upgrade the chancel choir and has set plans for a possible chorale group, which would make a summer tour.

The 24-year-old youth has just completed a year of graduate study at Baylor University and also served as assistant director of music at the Austin Avenue Methodist Church in Waco.

He obtained his B. A. degree with a major in choral conducting at the Azusa Civic College in Los Angeles. The son of a retired Air Force major, he has lived in California, West Virginia, Oregon, Indiana and Texas.

Bible Fund Now Over $5,000

Although the drive for money to support the Big Spring High School Bible course is over, donations received during the 24-hour period ending at noon today pushed the total collected to more than $5,000.

Five donors contributed a total of $42 either Tuesday evening or this morning, bringing the aggregate to $5,012.50.

Latest gifts reported included Friendship Class, First Presbyterian Church, $25; Elizabeth McDowell Class, First Presbyterian Church, $1; Friendship Breakfast Club, $5; BS IOOF Lodge 117 (in memory of Jones C. Lamar and R. B. Hughes), $6; and Inez Knauz Orenbaum, $5.

Retiring Publisher Target Of Good-Natured Barbering

By MARJ CARPENTER
COLORADO CITY — A town expressed appreciation to a 20-year publisher when they turned out for Joe Bell Day, in a special luncheon held Tuesday at noon at the Community building.

JOE BELL

The Kiwanis Club, of which Bell had been a member during his years in Big Spring, hosted the event which drew guests from Snyder, Abilene, Sweetwater, Eastland, Fort Worth, Big Lake, and Big Spring as well as his hometown.

Bell, who himself has kidded Colorado City for 20 years, was the target of good-natured kidding with speakers planted to tell old tales on Joe Bell.

The tales were climaxed with a speech by George Dolan, who pens front page column in the Fort Worth Star Telegram and who worked with Bell on the Fort Worth paper before Bell came to Colorado City. Dolan made much of the chance to introduce an honest publisher then proceeded to introduce Mike Wertz, Big Lake publisher, who is a long standing friend of Bell's instead of the honoree.

Dolan then kept his audience in the aisles by claiming that Bell became a publisher because deep inside he was rotten, that he always faced every problem with an open mouth, and that he had a lot of business training since the time he had gone bankrupt with a 4H project while still a youth."

Following all of the tongue-in-cheek speeches, the Kiwanis president, Robert Chambers, presented Bell with an engraved bell from the club and the crowd gave him a standing ovation.

Both Bell and his wife, Madge, spoke briefly, thanking the crowd. Bell ended with, "Whenever we have been successful, it was because you were pulling us all the way. We love you and we will be back."

The Bells plan to tour Europe and will announce other plans after they return.

Serving as master of ceremonies at the dinner was Don Benson, local manager of Texas Electric Service Co.

To Vaccinate?

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that the chance of death from smallpox vaccine is greater than the chance of contracting the disease.

I have put off having my 10-month-old son vaccinated for that reason. Our pediatrician does not give personal opinion but says it is entirely our decision. I don't have enough information to make a wise decision. Can you help? Is the vaccination harder on an adult or older child than for an infant? — Mrs. K. D.

Here's the background. Well within my lifetime we were still having smallpox epidemics. By virtually universal vaccination, we have reached the point at which smallpox is virtually unknown in this country.

It is true that a few individuals have a severe reaction from the vaccine and some of them die. The number is small — a few in many millions. But it is a fact that vaccinating is a greater risk — NOW — than the risk of encountering the disease, because the amount of smallpox here is very close to zero today.

The success of giving up vaccinating for smallpox will rest, I would judge, on our success in eradicating the disease everywhere else in the world. If, a few decades from now, most of our young people were without vaccination, and then the disease crept in from somewhere, from anywhere, new epidemics would be possible.

Can we achieve a smallpox-free world? Let us hope so.

I dare say that it will take 10 to 25 years before we will be able to judge what the future holds. I presume also that, if we did find smallpox creeping in, we would resort once more to vaccination — and in a hurry. We could, I trust, manage to stop the spread before it became too disastrous.

The long-term wisdom of giving up vaccination depends, therefore, on what happens in the future.

Present policy is to make vaccination optional instead of mandatory. However, smallpox vaccination remains mandatory for travelers coming from parts of the world where smallpox still is known to exist. It is, as your pediatrician says, up to you to decide.

For the few who may lose a child from vaccination, there can be no adequate consolation. For the many who decide to vaccinate and all goes well, there is no harm done. And if — IF — in some future year, smallpox begins to return, there will be thankfulness on the part of those who have been vaccinated.

There is, you see, no way, now, to be certain of what the future holds, but the decision to stop mandatory vaccination was thought out carefully and not made lightly.

As for me, I may be overly conservative, but if I had healthy young children now, I would have them vaccinated as a pre-caution against what the future may hold. That's just my opinion.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a woman becomes pregnant, does her period stop immediately or does she go on two or three months before she knows she is pregnant? — V. F.

Ordinarily the periods stop at once, but there are enough instances of an extra period or two to make this a less-than-positive sign of pregnancy. If in doubt, your doctor can make tests that will be definite.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for his booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

MAC McKINNON

Scribe Takes To Small Town

COLORADO CITY — Mac McKinnon, of Fort Worth, began his duties Monday as new publisher of the Colorado City Record.

McKinnon purchased the paper from Joe Bell, publisher 20 years, who is retiring.

The new publisher comes from the Fort Worth Star Telegram. A native of Dublin, Tex., he began his journalism career in the Air Force and later was named Air Force historian of the year for his articles on the deployment of Guam.

He went to the Star Telegram and worked for the evening paper, later serving as state editor.

He and his wife, Donna, have one daughter, Kim, 3. His wife is from Stephenville and they met at Tarleton State. McKinnon also attended TCU and the University of Texas.

"I came to Colorado City because I like small towns and small town journalism. I am really looking forward to living here," McKinnon stated.

Jail Three Men Wanted For Murders

FREDERIKSTED, St. Croix V.I. (AP) — Police surrounded a house in this small town and without a shot captured three men wanted for the murders of eight persons at the Fountain Valley Golf Course.

"Please don't kill us," begged one of the three fearful fugitives who surrendered Tuesday to FBI sharpshooters and police who had gone to the house on an anonymous tip.

Taken into custody without incident were Ismael Labeet, 25, Warren Ballentine, 23, and Raphael Joseph, 21, who face murder charges in connection with the slayings a week ago today.

Two other men, Meral Smith, 21, and Beaumont Gereau, 23, already were in jail charged with the same crime. They were put behind bars last Saturday night.

All five are from the Virgin Islands.

Two more — one identified only as Sanchez and another known only as Pepe or Pablo — were still being sought. Law enforcement officers continued to scour the rugged hills surrounding the golf club in hopes of picking up their trail.

Ismael, Ballentine and Joseph were to be arraigned before U.S. Dist. Court Judge Warren Young on the neighboring island of St. Thomas today. The victims were gunned down during a robbery by a gang of fatigue-clad men.

It's scary being a new kid in a tough neighborhood.

"I don't care if it's a boy or a girl just as long as it is healthy." Every expecting parent says it.

But, what would happen if the little guy were born premature and needed to stay longer in the hospital. What would you do if that new born girl had a collapsed lung and needed a special breathing apparatus. Or needed special care of any kind.

Who would help pay for that extra hospital care?

If you're protected by Blue Cross/Blue Shield. We would. Because we help cover infants from birth.

It's a tough neighborhood you're bringing that new kid into, but with lots of help from your friends, like Blue Cross/Blue Shield, you can turn that tough neighborhood into a friendly, loving, reassuring one.

People helping people. That's Blue Cross/Blue Shield.

Killanin Takes Post

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Lord Killanin is the new president of the International Olympic Committee and the 20-year reign of Avery Brundage officially is over.

Killanin received the keys to Chateau de Vity, the IOC headquarters, in a quiet 15-minute ceremony Tuesday. In a short speech, he said he would back efforts to "deflate ultranationalism," which had marred past Olympic Games.

The 58-year-old Irish peer told newsmen that the big nations use the Games to show their systems are better than any other.

"I do not think it shows you have a better way of life if you win a lot of medals," Killanin said. He mentioned the United States and the Soviet Union as countries which use the Games for political purposes.

Brundage, 84, who has been the storm center of controversy because of his stands on amateurism, made a brief statement and thanked Lausanne for its hospitality to the IOC during his presidency.

Russian media Tuesday praised their athletes' performances in the Munich Olympics as a victory for the "Socialist" system.

In Moscow, Izvestia, the government newspaper, said the fact the Russians won more gold medals than the Americans proved the "Socialist" system is better.

In Washington, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said the Olympic Games serve no useful purpose and should be abolished.

CALISTHENICS — Boston Red Sox' Rico Petrocello ends up on his back after he was forced at second by New York Yankees' Horace Clarke, left, at New York's Yankee Stadium Tuesday night. Petrocello was forced on Carlton Fisk's grounder, but Clarke couldn't get the throw to first in time for a double. Yankees won, 3-2.

TIGHTTEST RACE SINCE '67 Yankees Down Red Sox, 3-2

By The Associated Press

One game separates four teams in the American League East today as Boston, Baltimore, New York and Detroit head for the homestretch in the best race the AL has had since 1967.

The Red Sox are in front with the Yankees and Orioles one-half game behind and the Tigers one game off the pace. And that is tight.

The Yankees and Tigers helped close things up even more Monday night. New York trimmed Boston 3-2 for its fourth straight victory while Detroit edged Baltimore 3-2, ending a four-game Oriole win streak.

In the West, Oakland maintained its two-game lead over Chicago. The A's bounced back behind to win Minnesota 7-4 while the White Sox were blanking Kansas City 6-0.

In other AL action, Milwaukee swept a doubleheader with Cleveland, winning the opener 4-3 and taking the eight-inning nightcap 4-2, and Texas blanked California 3-0.

In the National League, front-running Cincinnati and Pittsburgh both won. The Reds lopped Atlanta 7-5 and the Pirates shut out Chicago 7-0. In other games, New York edged Philadelphia 4-3, Montreal dropped St. Louis 7-2 and San Francisco outlasted Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings.

It was clutch relief pitching by Sparky Lyle of the Yankees and John Hiller of the Tigers that produced the key victories for New York and Detroit. Lyle worked the last three innings for Fritz Peterson, protecting a one-run lead and picking up his 33rd save of the season. Hiller pitched out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam in the ninth inning to preserve Woodie Fryman's triumph. It was his third save.

The Red Sox kayoed Peterson with a two-run home by Ben Ogilvie in the seventh that brought Lyle on the run. Sparky, now one save shy of the American League record for saves set by Ron Perranoski in 1970 and two away from the major league mark established by Wayne Granger the same year, shut the door after that.

Fryman carried a 3-1 lead into the ninth inning against

CINCY CLIPS BRAVES Reds Have Bench

By The Associated Press

Every team needs a bench to win a pennant. The Cincinnati Reds have one with a capital "B" and he's not your everyday Johnny, either.

Johnny Bench continued to do what comes naturally Tuesday night, hitting a grand slam home run and driving in five runs in all as the Reds defeated the Atlanta Braves 7-5.

The catcher-outfielder now has 32 homers and 196 runs batted in and the Reds have a fact 7 1/2-game lead in the West over the Houston Astros, who were idle Tuesday.

Elsewhere, the Pittsburgh Pirates clouted the Chicago Cubs 7-0 and rocketed to a 13-game advantage in the East; the San Francisco Giants defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 10 innings; the Montreal Expos turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 7-2 and the New York Mets trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3.

BOMB BANNED TO 'BAMBI' — Lance Alworth, Dallas Cowboys' receiver, sits in Cowboys' dressing room after Tuesday's photo session. Alworth held a huddle of his own with Cowboys' head coach Tom Landry to determine why more long passes haven't been thrown to him. "I feel I can help the team more by going deep," said Alworth. "I'm not disturbed yet because I believe eventually they will start throwing to me. I just want Landry to have some confidence in me."

Rangers Handcuff Angels Parker Spoils Gogo's Bid For No-Hitter

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Bill Gogolewski looked in for his catcher's sign. Dick Billings flashed, "Slider." The Texas pitcher shook his head, waited for the fast ball sign and threw. Billy Parker swung, and Gogolewski's no-hitter went down the drain.

"I second-guessed myself," said the slender 24-year-old righthander after pitching a one-hitter Tuesday night as the Rangers beat the California Angels 3-0.

Gogolewski, who went into the game with a 3-9 record, had a perfect game for nearly seven innings and a no-hitter with two out in the eighth when Parker ripped a 3-2 fast ball into right center for a double.

"Dick called for a slider but I was having trouble with the pitch so I shook him off and deided to go with what had been my best pitch, the fast ball. I wanted to get the ball low and away but it came in high and tight." He hit it pretty good.

The victory was Gogolewski's first since May 19 and snapped a string of seven straight losses. He had been hampered all season by a blister on his pitching hand.

The teams meet again tonight with Andy Messersmith, 6-9, opposing the Rangers' Dick Bosman, 7-9.

Gogolewski had to outduel California ace Nolan Ryan, who struck out 15 and allowed only six hits. The strikeouts ran his American League-leading total to 275, leaving him just two behind major league leader Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was the 13th time this season that Ryan, now 16-14, had fanned 10 or more in a game.

"I started thinking about the no-hitter around the sixth inning," Gogolewski said. "Up until that time I didn't realize quite what was happening except I knew things were going awful easy. . . . too easy."

He retired the first 20 Angels in succession before walking Vada Pinson on four straight pitches with two out in the seventh.

Then, with two out in the eighth, Parker got the Angels' only hit.

Texas scored a run in the first on a single by Dave Nelson, an error, a fly ball and Ryan's wild pitch.

A single by Joe Lovitto, another wild pitch and a scoring single by Bill Fahey made it 2-0 in the second and the Rangers scored their final tally in the fifth when Nelson walked, stole second and raced all the way home when Toby Harrah rolled out to third.

Nelson had two of the six Ranger hits and also walked twice.

UPSET PREDICTED

UCLA Bruins In Snake-Pitt

NEW YORK (AP) — Can UCLA, fresh from a stunning upset of top-rated Nebraska, avoid the snake-Pitt this weekend?

"You can say UCLA's beating Nebraska was a fluke, or whatever you want," says Pitt Coach Carl DePasqua, "but we don't consider it a fluke. They had the opportunities and they put points on the board."

Pitt, a loser to nationally ranked Florida State in its opener, stunned UCLA 29-25 in Los Angeles a year ago and DePasqua hopes he can surprise the Bruins again.

"UCLA is a highly disciplined, far better offensive team than last year," he points out. "They have better backs. They're a very, very sound team and they execute well offensively."

"We had the same opportunities against Florida State but we couldn't get in there. I feel like a guy going in the ring against Joe Frazier every weekend."

Thus informed, here is the upset special of the week—Pitt over UCLA.

Now that the laughter has subsided, please remember that our opening week mark was 765—including Southern Cal over Arkansas.

Penn State at Tennessee—This game originally was scheduled for Memphis on Dec. 8. Penn State realized some time ago that the December date would fall in the middle of final exams and suggested switching the game to Sept. 9 in Pennsylvania or Sept. 16 at night in Knoxville—not wanting to play in Knoxville's afternoon heat and knowing full well that Neyland Stadium didn't have lights. It has lights now. Tennessee.

Texas A&M at Nebraska—Bob Devaney thinks it may be tough to get the Cornhuskers back up after the loss to UCLA. "That's always a problem when you have a long streak and suffer a loss," he says. "But I feel they will come back and go on to have a good season. Texas A&M is a good football team, possibly as good as UCLA. They may even be better. I really mean that. They have more experienced backs than UCLA." The pick, therefore, is Nebraska.

Oregon State at Southern California—The Trojans are No. 1 and want to stay there, although there might be a let-down after that rout of Arkansas. Nevertheless . . . Southern Cal.

Arizona State at Houston—"I think we'll be a little better this week," Houston's Bill Yeoman said after last week's 14-13 loss to Rice. They'd better be. Arizona State.

Utah State at Oklahoma—State's pass-happy Tony Adams against Oklahoma's fearsome ground game. Aggies will have it somewhat tougher than they did in last year's tour of Japan.

Oklahoma.

Northwestern at Michigan—Is Northwestern going out of the frying pan into the fire with Michigan this week and Notre Dame next? This week's pick is the frying pan, Michigan.

Duke at Washington—Sonny Sixkiller missed the opener and Washington had a tough time with Pacific. Duke upset Pac-8 champ Stanford last year so the Huskies will be wary.

Florida State at Miami, Fla.—Gary Huff's arm against Chuck Foreman's legs. Florida State.

Michigan State at Illinois—Bob Blackman got off to an 0-6 start in his debut at Illinois last season. This year should be different. Illinois.

Ferguson May Leave Hospital

FAYETTEVILLE, Ar. (AP) — There was a chance that Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson might be released from the hospital today.

He was hospitalized Monday with a case of influenza.

There still was no word on whether Ferguson's nose was broken. He suffered that injury in Saturday's game.

The Razorbacks worked out in pads Tuesday for the first time since last Wednesday. Senior Walter Nelson and freshman Mike Kirkland handled the quarterbacking.

Scott Bull, a sophomore quarterback, was switched to full-

STRATEGY CONFERENCE — Big Spring High School coach Buster Barnes talks over defensive strategy with this group of Steer defenders. The players are Nate Poss (80), Ronald McKee (20), Scott Carlile (35), Don Weeks (85), Willie Williams (32), John Smith (34) and Doug Smith (14).

HOBBS NEXT OPPONENT

'Good Things From Loss'

"Sometimes good things come out of losses," Big Spring Steer Head Coach Clovis Hale told the Quarterback Club Tuesday night. Hale said that he feels that the Big Spring football team learned how to win while losing to Lubbock Monterey, 20-14, Saturday night.

The Steer mentor expressed pleasure with the performance of his football team, particularly with the defensive unit which shut out Monterey in the second half of Saturday's clash despite the loss of regulars Dick Conley and Barry Truette. Conley, the starting fullback and one of the two starting linebackers, injured a shoulder on the second offensive play of the game for the Steers and Truette, the starting rover suffered from dehydration and was unable to play in the second half of the game.

Hale said that the game was lost in the second quarter when Plainsman kick return artist Tim Botkin returned a kickoff 88 yards for a touchdown. The Steers had just tied the score at 7-7 following an 11-yard pass from quarterback Alan Davis to flanker Willie Williams. Botkin's return gave Monterey a 14-7 bulge. Two second period field goals by sophomore booter Mike Anderson provided the winning margin.

The Steer defensive unit, which had been somewhat suspect going into the contest, jelled during the second quarter of the game and continued to gain confidence. Defensive linemen Mike Parker, Vicky Woodruff and Scott Carlile continually harassed Monterey quarterback Glen Yarborough and forced him to scramble out of the pocket on several occasions. Except for the opening drive, Monterey was never able to mount a consistent scoring drive against the Steers. The second Big Spring score was put on the board by the defensive unit when left halfback John Smith picked off a Yarborough aerial and rambled 69 yards for the touchdown.

Big Spring's defenders will have their work cut out for them against Hobbs, N.M., Friday night. The Eagles boast three offensive backs who have been clocked at 10-flat or better in the 100-yard dash. Wingback Vernon Patterson has been timed at 9.6 in the century and had a 71-yard TD run against Albuquerque last week.

The Eagles have not been scored upon in two ballgames so far this season. They downed Lovington, N.M., 27-0, in the opener and last week clipped a good Albuquerque team, 35-0. Hale describes the Eagle defense as "very strong." Left tackle John Stanfield is considered to be a genuine blue-chip prospect. Stanfield is a 212-pounder who is strong and quick.

Big Spring has made a few changes in preparation for Friday night's contest. Ricky Steen, the leading ground-gainer for the Steers against Monterey, will operate at fullback with J. Lovington, N.M., 27-0, in the T. Smith at runningback. Doug Smith has been moved from flanker to running back to provide back-up strength.

DEFENDING AAAA CHAMP SA Lee Retains Top Spot

By The Associated Press

San Antonio Lee, Uvalde, Refugio, Sonora and Celina held their No. 1 positions in The Associated Press schoolboy football poll this week but there was plenty of rumbling below them with upsets for all classifications.

The first five teams in Class 4A, headed by defending champion San Antonio Lee, survived the first weekend of the schedule; not Nos. 6 through 9 all stumbled.

Uvalde blasted Pearsall 51-0 to hold the Class 3A lead. Brownwood; No. 4 last week; and Lubbock Estacado; No. 8; both lost but remained in the top 10.

Refugio downed Sinton 34-27 to keep the Class 2A lead but four other top 10 teams bit the dust including Rockwall; No. 5; Ozona; No. 6; Alpine; No. 9 and Coahoma; No. 10. All fell from the list except Rockwall.

The heaviest run of upsets came in Class AA where top-ranked Sonora edged Class 2A Coahoma 21-20. Among the first week losers were second-ranked Schulenburg and third-ranked Stinnett. Both hung on in the top 10 however.

Class B did not escape the upset trend with No. 2 Happy and No. 5 Throckmorton losing their openers. Top rated Celina does not play until this week.

San Antonio Lee; tied once but unbeaten last season; won handsily over San Antonio quarterback Tommy Kramer for one touchdown and completed 10 of 17 passes for 186 yards and running back Bob Coles scored three touchdowns in the romp.

Jeff Bergeron got second ranked Port Neches-Groves off to a rapid start by rushing 167 yards in a 28-6 victory over South Houston.

Newcomers this week in Class 4A are Killen; No. 7, San Angelo; 8th, Conroe 9th and Richardson 10th, moved into the top 10.

Class 1A new faces are Wallis; eight; Franklin; Ninth; and in Class B, Dawson and Prosper made their first appearances.

Here is The Associated Press schoolboy football poll with first place votes in parentheses, records and points based on 10-1-4-6-4-4-2-1:

MACKAY, THOMAS Gridders' Status Uncertain

By The Associated Press

The status of both Duane Thomas and John Mackey was uncertain today, with the start of the National Football League season just four days away, but Mackey was talking about his situation, and, of course, Thomas couldn't be found.

Mackey, the Baltimore Colts' veteran tight end, said Tuesday he was consulting his lawyer on his position with the team. He said the Colts refused to place him on waivers and also would not give him his outright release.

The Colts had announced Monday that the nine-year veteran, who was voted the best tight end in the first 50 years of pro football, was retiring. Mackey immediately denied he was leaving the game. The problem initially began when Tom Mitchell moved ahead of Mackey as the first-stringer and was named by coach Don McCafferty to start Sunday's season opener against St. Louis.

Thomas, the talented running back who starred in Dallas' drive to the Super Bowl championship last season, never has reported to the San Diego Chargers, the team to which the Cowboys dealt him six weeks ago.

The fact that Thomas did not report appears to be San Diego's loophole. The Chargers do not have to count Thomas on their official 40-man NFL roster because he did not take part in their training camp.

San Diego gave up running back Mike Montgomery and wide receiver Billy Parks to get Thomas. Now, under league rules which prevent a club being penalized by a player who does not report, the Chargers' roster does not have to include Thomas, nor does San Diego have to release him outright or put him on waivers. Thomas was unavailable for comment.

As the 26 teams reduced their rosters to make the 40-player limit, a number of veterans were released.

Tackie Dave Foley, a former No. 1 draft choice, was waived by the New York Jets and claimed by the Buffalo Bills, who also claimed defensive lineman Don Croft from Baltimore.

Detroit cut running back Nick Eddy, a former Notre Dame standout. New England released kicker Charlie Gogolak and punter-receiver Pat Studstill. Cleveland cut safety Ernie Kellerman and signed veteran receiver Gloster Richardson, and Philadelphia waived kicker Happy Feller and returned running back Jim "Cannonball" Butler to Atlanta. Butler failed to pass his physical with the Eagles.

Kush Remains Same As Always —Pessimistic

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State's highly successful head football coach, Frank Kush, hasn't changed much this year. He's the same pessimistic fellow he's always been.

"I have to think we have a weak defense," Kush said a few days before Arizona State's opening game in 1970.

And a year later: "We're still quite a bit behind."

"That was the worst scrimmage I have ever seen." Same guy, same place, 1972.

In other words, Arizona State's preparations for Saturday's nationally televised opener at Houston are coming along right on schedule.

COWBOYS BRAINTRUSTS — Two of Dallas Cowboys' quarterbacks relax in the dressing room Tuesday afternoon. Craig Morton (14) and Roger Staubach enjoy a laugh while guffawing with teammates. Staubach, who is recuperating from shoulder surgery, has started throwing the football for short distances. He expects to be back in action by mid-season.

ABA Votes To Not Draft Underclassmen

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The American Basketball Association won't draft college underclassmen, but its commissioner says chances for merger with the rival National Basketball Association may be threatened by legislation designed to permit that merger.

League trustees voted 9-0 in a special meeting Tuesday against drafting underclassmen, said Commissioner Robert Carlson.

Prior ABA signings of college undergraduates have led to considerable criticism from the older league, but Carlson said Tuesday's action was not taken with the possible merger of the leagues in mind.

Asked if not drafting underclassmen would be a permanent league policy, Carlson said only that the trustees seemed very firm in their decision.

Only the Virginia Squires were not represented at the meeting.

As far as mergers are concerned, however, Carlson said he fears riders attached to merger legislation in Congress may threaten rather than help the combining of the leagues.

One rider would eliminate payment of indemnity by ABA clubs to the NBA and he said he felt this could kill merger plans.

CESAR DRAWS LEO'S PRAISE

Astros' Cedeno Compared To 'Say Hey Kid'

HOUSTON (AP) — Often controversial Leo Durocher was quick to make a very uncontroversial statement shortly after becoming new manager of the Houston Astros.

"That's the closest thing I've ever seen to Willie Mays," Durocher said pointing to the Astro's centerfielder Cesar Cedeno, the National League's leading hitter.

"I saw Willie Mays when he first came into the league and I don't know how anybody could do better than Willie," said Durocher, who was managing the New York Giants when the Say Hey kid broke into the majors.

"But this Cedeno is just as good at this stage. He's the best young player in the league."

Durocher was echoing similar statements about the jovial Dominican who gets loud applause when he comes to the plate in the Astrodome and for his fielding maneuvers in centerfield. Former Astro Manager Harry "The Hat" Walker says Cedeno plays the position with "reckless abandon."

"People keep telling me I won't be around very long the way I play the outfield," the 21-year-old Cedeno said recently. "But it is the only way I know to play the game. I love baseball and I like to play it hard."

Durocher says Mays and Cedeno are complete ballplayers. "There are only five things you can do to be a ball player," Durocher said. "That is hit, hit with power, throw, run and field. The late Mr. Branch Rickey used to say if you could do two of those things you could play in the majors. Mays and Cedeno can do all five."

Cedeno plays with great intensity because of his desire to excel and he often becomes mad at himself when he makes a mistake, like recently when a fly ball got past him allowing three runs to score.

"I'm mad about that," Cedeno said although he later got the game's winning hit. "I should have waited for the ball. It was kind of embarrassing." Asked if the game winning hit hadn't help him cool off he said very definitely, "No. I'm still mad about it. I'll be mad all night. I'll be over it tomorrow."

"Tomorrow is another day and I've got a lot of things that have to happen to me to learn. But that won't happen again. To learn, you have to make a mistake first."

Durocher recalled that Mays had the same desire to excel when he came up.

"Willie went 0-for-24 when he first came to me," Durocher said. "Finally one of my coaches came to me and said 'You better go talk to your boy.'"

"I went down to the dressing room and Willie was sitting in front of his locker crying. He said 'I'd better send him back to the minors because he couldn't hit.'"

"I told him, go home and get a good night's sleep. You're my centerfielder. Well, the next day the first time he came up he hit Warren Spahn's first pitch clean out of the park. It was the first time a ball had ever been hit over the roof at the Polo Grounds."

Durocher is not less laudatory of Mays today. "He may be 41 years old but he'll still beat you," Durocher said.

Durocher got together with the two centerfielders Friday when the Mets came to town for a series.

Mays examined Cedeno's bat and expressed surprise at how heavy it was. "What are you so surprised about," Durocher said. "It's the same size you started with."

Vols' Rotella Gets Honor

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee's Jamie Rotella says he was bent on disproving against Georgia Tech last Saturday preseason talk that linebacker was going to be one of the Vols' weakest positions this season.

And disprove it he did as he and his defensive mates forced Tech into eight turnovers—five fumbles and three pass interceptions—for a 34-3 rout of the Yellow Jackets.

For his exploits in the nationally televised game Rotella has been named Associated Press National Lineman of the Week.

The 229-pound senior from Verona, N.J., made eight individual tackles, assisted on three others, intercepted a pass, forced a fumble and helped recover another Tech fumble.

"Jamie's play was virtually flawless," said Tennessee defensive coach Lon Herzbrun. "I graded him 91 per cent and that's the highest grade I ever gave a linebacker."

"I feel sort of funny getting an award when there were plays where our front four took out all the interference and I made tackles without seeing a blocker," Rotella said.

Rotella calls the defensive signals for Tennessee. But his teammates say his leadership extends to the offensive unit.

An incident that occurred in the Tech game illustrates the point.

Sophomore quarterback Condrage Holloway, playing in his first college game, threw a second period pass which Tech's Mike McKenzie grabbed in the flat and raced 63 yards to the Tennessee 6.

When Holloway returned to the bench, Rotella went to him, draped an arm around his shoulder and said:

"We're all behind you, Condrage. If you quit after making a mistake, that's the sign of a loser. A winner is one who comes back after making a mistake."

Players Rotella beat out for linemen of the week include linebackers Grady Hoermann of Texas A&M, Richard Wood of Southern California and Larry Breshers of Rice; defensive linemen Cal Peterson of UCLA, Dick Ambrose of Virginia, Danny Sanspre of Auburn and Kurt Matter of Washington and middle guard Rich Glover of Nebraska.

Rae Named 'Back Of Week'

For two years and 22 games Mike Rae waited for his chance. Last Saturday was worth waiting for.

Rae's passing—18 of 24 for 261 yards—set up two touchdowns, and he scored once on a five-yard run as eighth-ranked Southern California walloped fourth-ranked Arkansas 31-10.

"I'm looking forward to the Arkansas game," Rae said during preseason practice. "It will give us a chance to face Joe Ferguson, who's a leading candidate for Heisman Trophy honors. If we do well, the team and individual recognition will come."

How right he was. Team recognition came when the Trojans were selected as the top team in this week's Associated Press college football poll.

Individual recognition came today as Rae was named National College Back of the Week for his performance against the highly touted Razorbacks.

A City Which Will Suffer

Philadelphia is destined to become the proving ground for political policies in violent conflict. The town is going to suffer much before it finds constructive deliverance from a past that made crises inevitable.

Philadelphia is a beautiful city with crippling politics. More than one-half of the metropolitan area population lives outside the city limits, and therefore adds to the inner city political poverty.

And this week the city's schools are closed by a teachers strike. The school district is $32 million in debt on operating expenses (not bonded debt). That's in a city that elected "Super Cop" Frank L. Rizzo on a campaign pledge against higher taxes and to fire the school superintendent (Dr. Mark Shedd, a recognized leader in his field). So the outlook is bleak for both the teachers and the town.

Philadelphia's politics are fractured by ethnic friction. Rizzo officiated over the "burial" of that city's plans for the 1976 bicentennial celebration — in the city where Constitution was framed, the Declaration of Independence was signed, where Betsy Ross/ sewed the flag, where Liberty Bell rang. This is the city where the world's largest fresh-water seaport does a thriving business and the arts flourish. Something is terribly out of joint.

Good News For C-City

Within the past week, Colorado City has received good news from two directions — one word of a $100,000 gift to make possible expansion of Root Memorial Hospital; the other announcement of plans to build a mobile homes plant there.

These should give a substantial boost to the city's economy as well as to its morale. The gift for expansion came from a member of pioneer family who believes in investing back into the community some of the blessings that have come from it. The latter represents the fruits of local people working together with others to create a new industry, or possibly industries. These are encouraging developments, and we rejoice with Colorado City in them.

Day Of Swine And Roses

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

To keep us Texans just a mite humble, they added Alaska to the Union to strip us of our territorial boasts (when everyone should know if Alaska were melted down it would be the size of Andrews County).

AND NOW, just to keep Arkansians in touch with the human race, the Fates have decreed that the Razorback football team should be stripped of its aura of invincibility in the very first game of this young season.

You have to visit in Arkansas to appreciate what a wrenching thing this can be. The Razorback team — and particularly its fortunes — permeates everything from the rising up to the going down of the sun from Fayetteville to the Mississippi. Everywhere you look, there is something to tell you that "Razorback was here."

ASIDE FROM the traditional pennants for collegiate teams, Porker fans fly red and white flags. They have signs, stickers and decals proclaiming "Go! Razorbacks, Go!" Retail stores have Razorback souvenirs of every imaginable kind. Special auto tags extol the Pig. In one little shop, there were some 30 different items all bearing the Porker emblem — letterheads, place mats, bracelets, rings, ballpoint pens, notebooks, paperweights, totebags, etc.

ANOTHER SHOP had an assortment of rag dolls — Razorbacks, naturally, for breaking in infants to the paramount fact of life in Arkansas.

Perhaps the penultimate was a barbecue grill, the top of which is moulded in the shape of a ferocious Razorback. And these seeming monstrosities (to the infidel eye) are selling like hotcakes.

THE UBIQUITOUS item, however, is a statuette of a fire-engine red razorback, in a position either denoting a ferocious charge or maximum alimentary distress.

The folk talk of little other than football, and mostly about Arkansas and Texas. To suggest that you would be pleased to see your alma mater upset the Porkers is not regarded even in jest — some things you just don't joke about. A friend related how he went to an informal party after Texas had managed to edge the Hawgs and unwittingly wore an orange slipover with white trim. He was regarded with baleful eye and felt as welcome as if he had just been caught desecrating the temple.

A GOOD measure of this devotion can be understood because the University of Arkansas is the only major institution in the state, and one which, over the years, has had some mighty salty football teams. The Razorbacks are one thing Arkansas can get together on.

STILL, YOU wonder if just a little bit of reserve wouldn't be in order. Dipping back to biblical times, it is rumored that when the transfer of the evil spirits had been made from the mad Gadarene into the swine a Roman soldier noticed the restless hogs. He called: "Andarsane! Porco! Andarsane!" Whereupon, the herd ran down the slope into the sea.

Unpeace And Unquiet

Robert E. Ford

If you see a certain lad walking around who is 6 feet 2 and still shooting up at only 14 years of age, don't credit his height on genes, chromosomes or heredity. Airplanes did it.

If you've never lived at the end of a runway off a major airfield, count your blessings.

JUST IMAGINE huge four-motor passenger planes, screaming 200 feet over your home, all throttles out, fighting for altitude.

The television turns over — not just the picture, the whole set. Conversations stop. Telephone callers can't make themselves heard. Everything loose rattles.

And babies? Don't expect them to get much sleep.

This particular youngster was awakened a dozen times a night by the planes.

The only way he would return to sleep was after a parent stuck a bottle of milk in his mouth.

The extra food made him oversized in no time at all and the doctor said that had to stop. It did give the baby a great start in growth, however.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD considered the plane noise just another problem of city living.

That was until a flyboy in a home-made open-cockpit jet sailed over one day, reaching for the landing strip.

He missed it half a mile and crashed into a house, ripping out about 30 feet of the ridgepole and landing in the back yard which fortunately was unoccupied. The flyboy walked away with a debonair strut.

The next morning, "For Sale" signs sprang up on front lawns like bamboo shoots in the monsoon season.

ALL THIS happened in Dallas, but the pattern has been repeated over and over in other cities.

At the moment, for instance, it is the Los Angeles International Airport that is the target. Homeowners have won a state Supreme Court suit for damages, but it will not end there.

There are two sides to the question. Frequently the land around airports becomes valuable, the businesses and housing developments move in.

ON THE other hand, the airports build new runways that the homeowners never expected, and meanwhile planes become larger and noisier.

Builders of the new Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, due to be finished in 1973, considered this problem.

They obtained zoning from a complex of cities and counties which presumably would prevent home building near the airport. And the airport itself bought 18,000 acres which it can control and thereby halt crowding.

Yet the airport has set off a huge land boom in the region, including a completely planned new city with which will have housing for 60,000 persons four miles from the installation.

What happens at the big new airport, which has taken over a largely rural setting, can't be forecast.

THE DALLAS School District was no more able to outguess airport officials than homeowners. It built one large elementary school direction below a flight pattern.

Thus a mother or father cringed each time they were on an incoming plane flying 200 to 300 feet above the school, losing altitude, and knowing their youngsters were in the building.

One private passenger plane did crashland on a schoolground as it was approaching Love Field, killing some passengers. Fortunately all the children had left an hour or so before or an immense disaster could have occurred.

A group of residents hired a lawyer, who got thrown in the pokey for pushing a damage case.

NOT THE WHOLE BALL GAME - BUT A KEY PLAY!

Mutual Fund Doubts

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Having reached a high-level plateau built of $57 billion in assets divided among 11 million shareholder accounts in about 400 funds, the mutual fund industry now is reassessing its role, trying to chart its future.

Looking back down the hill is easier. There were only 312,000 accounts 30 years ago. Assets back then totaled less than $500 million. The industry had nowhere to go but up, and up it rose, lifted by the new affluence.

But now the growth has stalled. Purchases still are running at a rate of more than $5 billion a year, but redemptions have jumped from a long-term average of 7 per cent of assets to more than 10 per cent.

Many fund investors are disillusioned by the erratic record of some — not all — funds. Others, it is said, have been forced to redeem because of taxes and unemployment. And others, having achieved goals, are simply cashing in.

A good many fund people claim that nothing is seriously wrong, and this may indeed be the case. But other fund managers feel the future won't be like the past. They are using the plateau as a base camp to re-equip for the next climb.

Few fund executives are more realistic about the present problems or more enthusiastic about the future than Jack Rogers, the new vice president for product development at Anchor Corp., which manages $2 billion in seven funds.

Rogers has very few doubts that Americans of middle income are waiting for new investment vehicles to be presented.

Mutual funds must recognize that the small investor is becoming more sophisticated, Rogers states. People of ordinary means are seeking advice and counseling. They are searching for ways to develop and preserve small estates.

As he sees it, they aren't giving up on mutual funds, but quite clearly they are seeking additional vehicles for their investments and are seeking coordination of tax planning, insurance, investments, savings, pensions and so on.

Viewed in the context of the past, the product of a mutual fund management company would be only one small element in this total plan. But Rogers and a few others see the management company of the future as providing all these products.

The new view, as expressed by Rogers is that the fund management company is the connective tissue that binds together all the elements of estate planning.

The small investor is "avaricious" for investments advice and outlets, Rogers feels, adding that people of average means recognize the value of shrewd investments, especially in regard to inflation and taxes.

Now, he says, "if we put our imprimatur on a deal the dealers will be inclined to sell our product."

And if Rogers' reasoning is correct, the people will buy.

How Long?

Marquis Childs

NEW YORK — In this the most Jewish of cities, the outpouring of grief and anger over the Olympic murders is as palpable as the haze that hangs in the air in these warm September days. With it goes a sense of futility and frustration in a people with ancient memories of suffering and persecution. How long, they ask, how long will this go on?

GUERRILLA CENTERS in four countries — Egypt, Iraq, Syria and Lebanon — are so smothered with the hatreds of the Arab-Israeli conflict that, short of massive intervention by outside forces, they cannot be eliminated. Intervention could drive the terrorists deeper underground and to even more desperate acts.

Egypt is the cardinal example. Since the Soviet Union removed Russian "advisors" and advanced Russian weapons, the future of the government of President Anwar Sadat is uncertain. If he were to make so much as a gesture of reproof against the terrorists he could expect reprisals bringing him down. Asked by Chancellor Willy Brandt for help in the Olympic tragedy, he took cover by refusing to answer the phone.

A COLD-BLOODED murder at the time the Arab nations were meeting in Cairo last November showed how far the terrorists can go and apparently get away with it. The Jordanian premier, Wasfi Tal, was gunned down in the lobby of Cairo's Sheraton Hotel. The assassins boasted that they dabbled their hands in his blood. They have never been brought to trial.

THROUGH IT ALL runs the subterranean current of oil, a political spill that washes up far and wide. The paradox is the dependence of Western Europe on the oil of the Middle East. West Germany gets up to 80 per cent of its oil supply from Libya. And while the dictatorial power of the Moslem fanatic, Muammar el-Qaddafi, has been somewhat curbed he continues to be raging champion of Arab supremacy.

With oil revenues put at a billion dollars a year and huge reserves reported in London banks, he has a reach that cannot be discounted. More moderate states, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, are said to give Egypt generous subsidies out of their oil revenues. This is a way of buying peace in the explosive Middle East.

THE BLOWUP CAN come again as it came in the Suez crisis in 1956. While the risk of U.S.-Soviet confrontation and big-power participation has been diminished, even a limited Middle East war could be shattering in its effect. Terror directed at pipelines and refineries could bring the wheels of Western Europe to a stop.

Terror is contagious and corrupting in its contagion. Here in New York the Jewish Defense League in several instances resorted to terrorist acts, notably in the firebombing of the office of Sol Hurok, the impresario, who has brought troupes of Russian performers to America. The Israeli government was deeply disturbed by the militancy of the JDL. Such acts invited reprisals.

THE ONLY ARAB HEAD OF state to speak out in condemnation of the Olympic barbarism was Jordan's King Hussein. Hussein took a bold and courageous step to put down his own terrorists, firing on the refugee camps where they hid themselves.

You're A Born Loser If . . .

Hal Boyle

Of course, it is hard to think what you can do about luck except to take it as it comes. You hear of up-and-at-em guys who say they make their own luck, but if you investigate these cases you find they did it on inherited money—or else, in its own good time, their bad luck finally came along and humbled their boasts.

Over his lifetime, the average man would probably say that his luck was fifty-fifty, and probably didn't tip the balance of his life unduly toward good or bad.

But some feel they were born under a curse and that luck never smiles but always frowns on them. They are born losers. How can you tell a born loser from one who only brags that he is?

Well, beyond doubt you're a born loser if—
Your shoestring breaks not once a year in an emergency but once a month.

The day after the firm you spent 30 years with finally names you a vice president it goes into bankruptcy.

You never got to show how smart you were in school because the teachers always called on the students to recite alphabetically—and your name would be Zimmerman.

You were too small to make the basketball team and too skinny to play football.

It was only after you had paid 87 traffic tickets for going through red lights that your doctor accidentally found out you were color blind.

You were the only kid in the neighborhood whose own dog bit him every day at feeding time.

Your first blind date not only got blind after one drink—she also got sick in your car. So has every blind date you've taken out since.

No matter how close you trim your toenails, they still punch holes through a pair of new wool socks the first day you put them on.

As a kid, you screwed up your courage just once to play hooky from school—and it turned out to be a public holiday.

You're crazy about red-haired girls, but have an allergy to them, and every time you go out with one you wind up with a weeklong crimson rash all over your body.

Your face reminds all the people you meet of someone they knew before—but it's always someone they disliked.

You are unable to enjoy yourself, because any form of pleasure makes you come down with a migraine headache.

When you try to get sympathy by telling your friends all your woes and how bad your luck really is, they decide that you're not a born loser but a born liar.

That's the born loser—he can't win for losing.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am a little girl, eight years old. I am a Christian, and my mother became a Christian when she was about my age. But she does not act like she is saved now. She does not go to church. How do you get her to stop doing all the bad stuff and go to church? And if I don't get her to stop doing all that stuff will she still go to heaven? B. H.

My little sister, I'm glad you have accepted Jesus as your Lord and Savior. I'm sorry about your mommy, but there are lots of mamas and daddies who once worked for Jesus, but are backslidden in heart. Our Lord had a word of warning for them: "Whosoever therefore shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea." (Matthew 18:6.)

A lot of parents have been drawn into the vacuum of worldliness, and lured away from their Lord. Jesus knew it would be like this at the end of the age, and He told us so. He said, "When the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith upon the earth?" But an ancient prophet by the name of Isaiah said something that should encourage you. He said, "A little child shall lead them." (Isaiah 11:6.)

A few years ago it was the adults who carried the banner for the Lord. Now, it is young people and children. More than half the people attending our crusades are now under 25. The prophet Job said that in the last days the Spirit of God would speak through "sons and daughters." I pray that God may speak to your mother through your life. Cheer up! Jesus, who "did all things well" will work it out.

A Devotion For Today . .

My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? (Matthew 27:46)

PRAYER: Our Father, in times of despair, when our need is greatest, give us trust in You. Help us to believe and know that we are never separated from You and Your love. Amen.

30,000 Shut Out Of Schools While Mail Delays Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 30,000 Las Vegas children were shut out of their schools for a week while a desegregation ruling by Justice William O. Douglas made its slow way by mail from his summer retreat in Goose Prairie, Wash., to the Supreme Court. Classes in the 52 elementary schools may have begun that much earlier had Douglas's decision surfaced at the time he reaches it instead of seven vital days later, a school official said Tuesday night.

promptly to Goose Prairie. They said Douglas mailed his decision to the court and that it was announced as soon as it was received.

With the Supreme Court in recess, Douglas is at his rustic home in Goose Prairie, with no telephone nor other reminders of busy city life. He usually depends on the U.S. mails to communicate with his office in Washington, some 3,000 miles away.

On Tuesday the court announced Douglas's ruling that the Broomfield amendment does not exempt the Las Vegas schools from desegregating.

The ruling carried the date Sept. 5, a week earlier.

Court clerks told a reporter who noted the delay that the board's appeal was posted

WELL, THE SIGN SAYS . . . Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern meets a youngster with a sign and an obvious dislike for bright lights among the crowd that greeted him at Allegheny County Airport early today. McGovern arrived in Pittsburgh for a round of talks with local party officials and a rally downtown.

Amazed At Strong Favorable Response To Viet War Stand

PITTSBURGH (AP) — With Sen. Edward M. Kennedy at his side and his most hectic day of campaigning just completed, George McGovern said he has turned the corner and is climbing in his bid to replace Richard Nixon in the White House.

Despite the President's efforts to wind down the war in Southeast Asia, McGovern said Tuesday night, "I continue to be amazed at how strong the reaction is against the war. . . . It remains a dominant worry to people everywhere."

According to newsmen's estimates, McGovern and Kennedy spoke to as many as 40,000 in downtown Chicago during the noon hour, 10,000-15,000 in Detroit's Kennedy Square in late afternoon, and about 7,000-8,000 in the Cleveland Arena Tuesday night.

his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, "came from behind" in his 1960 campaign to beat then-Vice President Nixon. He predicts McGovern will do the same this year.

MOST SATISFYING

McGovern and Kennedy were scheduled to address rallies in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia today following Tuesday's grueling five-city, 16-hour schedule.

ROUSING ATTACK

The format has been the same in every city. Kennedy delivers a rousing, 10-minute attack on the Nixon administration, then introduces McGovern.

BRIDGE TEST

When South made the natural call of four hearts, North cue bid the ace of spades which was forcing.

Must Rehire Two Teachers At El Paso

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here has ruled that a Vietnamese language school near El Paso, Tex. must rehire, with back pay, two teachers.

The school is under contract to teach the Vietnamese language to military personnel at Biggs Field near El Paso.

The court then ruled that the NLRB order be enforced. The order calls for Aclang to cease and desist from unfair labor practices, hire and restore with back pay Kim-Cuc and another teacher and post proper notices.

Saddles Stolen From Stables

Clyde Roberts reported theft of four saddles from stables behind the Hide-A-Way Lounge on North Birdwell Lane Monday or Tuesday.

Cartoonist Dies

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Max Fleischer, 89, creator of the "Out of the Inkwell" cartoon series and inventor of more than 20 motion-picture production devices, died Monday.

BUSING PLAN

The Clark County school board and a group of white parents have been fighting the plan ordered by U.S. Judge Bruce R. Thompson of Reno. The board appealed to Douglas Sept. 2 for a stay. Meanwhile, classes did not open as scheduled Sept. 7 and haven't begun yet.

MADE TO WORK

McGovern told the Chicago street rally that Daley is "the great mayor of a great city who has proved that a city can be made to work in modern-day America."

Maggots Help Save Life Of Woman

GUELPH, Ont. (AP) — Maggots, a onetime medical remedy used to clean wounds, helped save the life of Denise Sprayson as she lay pinned in the wreckage of a car for five days, Dr. G.L. Stewart, area coroner, said today.

The maggots, swarming over the shattered face and limbs of the 37-year-old Maxwell, Ont., woman, prevented blood poisoning, Stewart said in an interview.

She was reported progressing favorably in a hospital after being trapped under the rear wheel of an auto following a wreck that claimed the lives of her husband and two friends.

Mrs. Sprayson was found by a motorist who stopped to walk his dog. Inside were the bodies of her husband, Frank, 42, and George Albert Price, 40, of Princeville, Ont.

The body of Mrs. Gordon Willicombe, 37, of Hopesville, Ont., had been thrown clear of the car when it failed to make a curve and plunged down an embankment 26 feet from the road.

The barking of the excited dog attracted attention Sunday to the accident, the first indication of what had happened to the foursome since they were reported missing last Wednesday.

"We are quite pleased with her condition, though she's still in a somewhat shocked condition," said a hospital spokesman. "She is responding well to treatment."

Stewart said her wounds were "loaded" with maggots and her discomfort during her periods of consciousness must have been "beyond imagination."

"She lived through an ordeal which many people could not have survived," he said.

The fact she was unconscious much of the time helped reduce the shock. Being in a marshy area shaded by trees and watered by showers kept her body from being dehydrated, he said.

"It isn't too many years ago that maggots were used to clean wounds. Undoubtedly this helped save her life," he added.

SOMETHING NEW — This three-day-old Sittatunga antelope prefers to remain close to its mother rather than face, by itself, the publicity of its arrival at Sydney's Taronga Zoo.

LEAVING COURT — Fred F. Young Jr. of Houston walks handcuffed from Bell County courthouse in Belton, Tex., where he is on trial for the slaying of Mrs. Mabel McCormick of Kountze. At left, escorting the 22-year-old Young, is Deputy Sheriff Wayne Oldham. Young's co-defendant, Dennis R. Anderson, also of Houston, pleaded guilty before jury selection began and was sentenced to life term.

Fight Looms Over Photos Of Woman

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — State and defense lawyers began striking names this morning from a list of 33 prospective jurors in the murder trial of Fred F. Young Jr.

Each side gets 10 strikes and the top 12 jurors remaining on the list will constitute the jury.

LIFE SENTENCE

State District Court Judge James K. Evetts denied a defense motion to throw out the entire jury panel. The defense contended the jurors were disqualified because 90 per cent of them were aware that Young's partner already had pleaded guilty and been given a life sentence.

A tough fight was expected soon after the jurors were seated over the right to show them pictures of a murder victim.

The pictures show Mabel McCormick, 50, who was slain in her Kountze home-antique shop Jan. 5.

They show her slashed throat, a forehead battered by a ball seen hammer and hands that were bruised and fractured as they watched off show. None of the photographs shows Mrs. McCormick's grandchild, who also was slain and then jammed head-first into a toilet.

Prosecutors will try to get the pictures admitted into evidence. Defense lawyers are expected to object strenuously.

INFLAME JURORS

A recent decision by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overturned previous rulings that prohibited introduction of pictures or objects that might inflame the minds of jurors.

The present test is "whether its probative value (proof of the crime) outweighs its inflammatory aspect."

Young, 22, of Houston also is charged in the death of Mrs.

McCormick's granddaughter Leslie Bowman, 3, as is his former co-defendant, Dennis R. Anderson, 26, also of Houston.

Anderson pleaded guilty Monday in the McCormick case and was given a life term.

Both face charges in Tyler at a later date in the child's death.

Prosecutors completed questioning of 49 prospective jurors Monday.

The defense finished with eight of these by the end of the day.

Recover Nine Men In Mine

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Bodies of nine more men have been brought to the surface of Consol No. 9 mine, where recovery crews have been searching for the remains of 78 coal miners entombed by explosions in 1968.

The nine bodies recovered Tuesday raised to 31 the total found since the recovery effort began in 1969.

Consolidation Coal Co. officials identified the bodies as those of Henry Skarzynski, 58; Monongah; James Knoeley, 43; Idamay; Robert Glover, 39; and John Toothman, 36, both of Mannington; Albert Takacs, 49; Farmington; Robert Sigley, 22; Tunnelton; Forrest Goff, 53; and Russell Snyder, 58, both of Shinnston; and Walter Martin, no age, Fairmont.

Most of the nine bodies were found in a section used as a "supply track." A Consol spokesman said. They were some distance from a continuous mining machine on which a number of men were thought to be working to clear away a roof fall when the explosions ripped through the mine's 80 miles of winding corridors.

Officials have yet to determine exactly what set off the blasts Nov. 20, 1968.

The spokesman said a man with the recovery teams reported, "The area where the bodies were found had very little devastation and practically no evidence of fire."

Oil Recovery Idea Unfurled

DALLAS (AP) — A program to recover billions of barrels of Texas oil has been launched with the naming of eight prominent independent oilmen to head up regional aspects of the plan.

The announcement was made Tuesday by James E. Russell of Abilene, chairman of the Texas Conservation Committee for Utilization. The committee will push for legislation favoring cooperative projects in Texas oil fields to reclaim part of an estimated 98 billion barrels of oil.

ABILENE MAN

Named as regional vice chairmen were William E. Carl, Corpus Christi, Lower Gulf Coast; Robert Cargill, Longview, Northeast Texas; James M. Hicks, McAllen, Rio Grande Valley; Alvin C. Hope, San Antonio, Central Texas; Ed S. Morris, Amarillo, Panhandle; John Suman, Jr., Houston, Upper Gulf Coast; W.M. Thacker, Jr., Wichita Falls, North Texas; and Joe D. Tompkins, Abilene, West Central Texas.

"The threatened shortage of energy fuels in this country makes it necessary that we recover every barrel of oil possible," said Russell. "This 98 billion barrels are known to be present in the underground reservoirs. They are not regarded as recoverable without extensive application of methods which repressure the fields or which use injected fluids to squeeze more oil out of the producing formations. Such secondary recovery projects usually are not feasible unless the reservoir is managed as one unit," Russell explained.

"We seek a change in our oil and gas conservation laws which would require that fields be operated as units when a substantial majority of its owners want to install a cooperative recovery project," Russell said.

PROPERTY RIGHTS

Describing the role of the regional vice chairmen, Russell said they would serve to disseminate information on the committee's work and seek a consensus of interested operators, royalty owners and public officials as to legislative goal.

"We expect a majority consent unification bill to emerge from this campaign," Russell said. "We want it to be effective in promoting additional recovery, but at the same time, it must assure operators and royalty owners that their property rights will be protected."

Russell said the vice chairman would serve regional operators in a liaison capacity with the Texas Conservation Committee for Utilization and its planning and drafting committee, which will outline objectives of the legislation.

"The planning and drafting committee will look to the regional chairmen for feedback on what various interests want in the bill," Russell said.

Educators Slate Area Conference

ABILENE — Approximately 350 Texas educators are expected to attend an Area Conference for Studying New Teacher Education-Certification Standards and New Permit-Certification Application Forms on Friday, Oct. 6, at Hardin-Simmons University.

The purpose of the conference, according to Tom Walker of the Texas Education Agency, is to study the new standards for teacher education and certification adopted by the State Board of Education in June and, also, to present new permit and certification applications now being developed by the Texas Education Agency.

These conferences will act as preliminary study sessions for the Twenty-fifth Annual Conference on Teacher Education and Certification to be held in Houston in October.

The meeting at H-SU will begin at 10 a. m. and close at 3:30 p. m. on Friday. High school administration, college and university administration and faculty members, and area educators are invited to attend.

Big Cotton Funds Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union has asked Congress to take emergency action to boost government price supports on cotton because of what NFU officials call a "market-depressing" large crop this year.

"The price has dropped 30 cents per pound in a month to the loan price support level of 19.5 cents," the NFU said in a letter to House and Senate leaders.

"Buyers are unwilling to quote a price to producers because of the market-depressing large crop. World prices are demoralizing and large stocks of last year's crop are available at fire-sale prices."

The Agriculture Department estimates the 1972 crop will be at least one-fourth larger than last year. Under the present support rules, growers are guaranteed 19.5 cents per pound in government price support loans.

In addition, those who cooperate in the USDA's acreage set-aside program receive them at least 35 cents a pound on their farms' "national allotment" which amounts to 11.5 million acres nationally.

Growers have a total of around 13 million acres for cotton harvest this year.

Fly Burn Victim To San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A woman from a Navajo reservation in New Mexico was flown here by a team of Army specialists today with burns over 40 per cent of her body.

In serious condition with second and third degree burns was Mary Charley, 39, who lives near Newcomb Trading Post, N.M., with her husband, Jimmy Charley.

Officials said she was burned when her skirt caught fire as she cooked outdoors on Aug. 17. She was transferred from a U.S. Public Service Hospital at Ft. Defiance, Ariz., to the burn center at the Army's Brooks General Hospital here, spokesmen said.

ANOTHER SMATHERS MAKES SUCCESSFUL POLITICAL DEBUT — Bruce Smathers, 28, son of retired U.S. Sen. George Smathers, made a successful political debut Tuesday when he led a Florida state senate race against two incumbents.

Two House Committee Chairmen Defeated In Primary Elections

By The Associated Press
Two elders of the House of Representatives, both of them committee chairmen, have been defeated in Democratic primary elections.

Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, lost in Colorado's 4th District to Alan Merson, a University of Denver law professor just half his age.

John Jenrette, 36, a member of the state legislature, narrowly beat Rep. John McMillan in a runoff primary in the 6th District of South Carolina Tuesday. McMillan is chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee. A recount of that race seems certain. Jenrette's margin was less than 600 votes.

THREE-WAY
In New Hampshire, conservative challenger Meldrum Thompson defeated Gov. Walter Peterson in a neck-and-neck Republican primary.

With returns from all the state's towns and wards counted, the vote was 43,596 for Thompson and 41,231 for the governor.

Roger Crowley, the Democratic nominee for governor two years ago, won that nomination again in a three-way race.

Look For More Arrests In Case Of 'Blue Boxes'

DALLAS (AP) — Federal agents said today more arrests are likely in connection with the use of "blue boxes," electronic devices which permit their users to make free long distance telephone calls.

Four Dallas businessmen and an engineer were arrested Monday and released on their own recognizance after FBI agents swooped down on them with warrants charging them with conspiracy and fraud.

Officers are searching for three other people.

'CHEAP' CALLS
Arrested were Marvin Valencia, Martin Leibow, Lillie S. Autry, Ronald Newsome and James J. Headen.

The FBI said similar arrests have been made in Cleveland, Ohio; Houston, Chicago, and Minneapolis, Minn.

One federal official said Dallas has become a manufacturing center for the illegal devices which simulate electronic tones used by telephone equipment to make long distance calls.

The multi-frequency tone generators, no bigger than a man's fist, are capable of bypassing telephone company billing equipment, permitting its user to place a long distance call which is not logged for billing purposes.

SELL FOR $3,000

A telephone company spokesman said, however, that the five arrests came after determining that a long distance circuit was being used but that no record was being made.

Officials said the discovery was kept secret until the raids. Federal agents said the little boxes are built for less than $100 but sell for $3,000 each. "They just about pay for their selves in the first month," one agent said.

Leibow is president of Concord Enterprises and Valencia is board chairman of that firm. Mrs. Autry is president of Smit's Air Freight and Expediting Co. while Newsome serves as the firm's general manager.

Headen is an engineer, FBI sources said.

Street Dance Is To Be Thursday

The public street dance scheduled Friday by the Big Spring Squares has been unavoidably rescheduled for Thursday, according to Leon Stockton. Curtis Thompson, the caller, is ill and will be replaced by James Moore.

The dance will be held in the parking lot at Third and Scurry, beginning at 8 p.m. Spectators are welcome, and club members will be on hand to discuss square dance lessons which will be offered by the club, beginning Sept. 18.

Ysabel R. Lopez Charged Again

Ysabel R. Lopez Jr., 24, of 1309 Elm St. was charged with second offense driving while intoxicated Tuesday in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's court.

Lopez was arrested August 2 and has been released on a $1,000 bond.

Revenue Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Tower, a Republican, and U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a Democrat, both of Texas, split their vote Tuesday on the $33.6 billion federal revenue sharing bill which the Senate passed on a 63-20 roll call vote.

Tower voted for the measure while Bentsen voted against it.

Hackett, 39, an insurance agent, a former state legislator and the evident preference of retiring Gov. Deane C. Davis won the Republican nomination for governor. He defeated James M. Jeffords, the state attorney general, and will face Democrat Thomas Salmon as the heavy favorite in November.

All told, there were primary elections in 10 states Tuesday but few major statewide contests.

NO HOME RULE

The defeat of McMillan apparently opened the way for Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr. of Michigan, a Negro, to become chairman of the District of Columbia Committee in the next Congress if Democrats remain in control.

The committee and its Senate counterpart virtually govern the nation's capital, which has no home rule.

Rep. James A. Haley of Florida ranks behind the defeated Aspinall in seniority on the Interior committee.

Merson had the backing of environmental groups in his campaign against Aspinall, and he hammered at environmental issues in his first bid for major public office.

The other primary states were Rhode Island, which had only legislative and local contests, Florida, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Utah and Arizona.

Shriver Is Calling For End To 'Cultural Imperialism'

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Sargent Shriver said Tuesday night a kind of cultural imperialism "has been practiced in the United States."

"We have tried to squash, to quell natural cultural instincts and heritages of a large number of people, among them the Spanish-speaking people," the Democratic vice presidential candidate said.

A crowd of more than 400 persons, most of them Spanish-surnamed, cheered and applauded loudly his remarks dealing with their culture.

TIME HAS COME

"The time has come," said Shriver, "for a mature country to recognize the invaluable contribution that the Spanish-speaking people not only made to the beginning of the United States of America, but can make to the future" of the nation.

He said it is "sad to say that for a number of years without anybody's attention, we have practiced a kind of cultural imperialism in this country."

Shriver's remarks were made minutes before midnight at an El Paso International Airport rally where he was met by his wife Eunice. She arrived earlier in the evening from Washington, D.C.

Shriver ended a near 3,000-mile campaign day with his El Paso speech before a crowd which had waited several hours for him.

BILINGUAL EDUCATION

He visited in Sacramento, Calif., Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash., before coming to El Paso.

Shriver met with local Democratic party leaders and candidates at a breakfast early today, and then went to a park to speak with workers on strike at a manufacturing plant.

His schedule called for him to go on today to Houston and San Antonio, Tex., and to wind up tonight in Miami, Fla.

Shriver told the airport crowd that President Nixon must "realize that education in this country is not only an education for Anglos but it is an education for all Americans."

He said, "It's an education which provides a bicultural and

Try To Settle Strike At Dow

LAKE JACKSON, Tex. (AP) — Negotiators for Dow Chemical Co. and eight striking unions talked late into Tuesday night and started again early today in an effort to end a 12-week-old strike of 3,000 workers at the Freeport Plant.

Both sides refused to discuss what progress was being made referring all questions to federal mediator Gayle Wineriter. Wineriter likewise refused to say how the talks were going. However, sources within the striking unions said they understood that progress was being made.

The main sticking point has been a move by the unions to keep the company from contracting out jobs now held by union members. The company says no one would be fired because of the outside labor but union officials say it would destroy their organization.

Dow started hiring permanent workers Monday to replace strikers after sending them a letter last month warning them to come back or face the loss of their livelihood. A company spokesman said Tuesday about 50 permanent workers were hired and job offers were made to 75 or 100 more.

In a statement released Tuesday through Texas AFL-CIO headquarters in Austin, union officials T. B. Crow and O. D. Kenemore said the move by Dow in hiring new workers was "a cheap psychological trick to scare our people into abandoning the strike. It hasn't worked in other strikes and it certainly will not work here..."

"If they could break the strike by hiring people off the streets they would have done so weeks ago."

Dow has continued to operate the plant with supervisory and non-union personnel.

The two union officials also said that new workers being hired by Dow are "unskilled unsafe transients who endanger the lives of thousands if they man jobs we have performed skillfully and safely for years."

A Dow spokesman replied that all applicants had been thoroughly screened and the company had no qualms about safety.

Delay Gas Firm Pitch For Raise

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Houston Natural Gas Corp. asked Tuesday to be allowed to raise rates whenever its costs go up, without a public hearing.

Victoria City Atty. D. F. Martinak and Angleton City Administrator Dick Brown asked the Railroad Commission to postpone hearings on the request until Sept. 25. The request was granted, despite Houston Natural's objection.

Under the proposal, Houston Pipe Line Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Houston Natural, would file a statement with the commission each April 1 and Oct. 1. If the report showed Houston Pipe Line was paying higher wholesale costs, they would automatically be added to consumer gas rates 30 days later, unless the commission objected.

Joe Foy, Houston Natural's general counsel, said the requested rate hikes would begin Nov. 1, and estimated Houston residential users would pay about $2.10 more each year.

Foy said the public's "unquenchable demand" and voracious consumption of natural gas has created a serious energy shortage, resulting in "fierce competition" and skyrocketing costs for natural gas.

He said 35 state utility-regulating commissions and the Federal Power Commission already have approved arrangements similar to the one sought by Houston Natural and its subsidiaries.

The Railroad Commission currently must approve any gas rate increase.

Local Girls Were In Summer Camp

This summer 1,833 junior members of the Sons of Hermann, a record number, received a week of camping at the fraternal order's youth camp in the Hill Country, Henry Riemer, San Antonio, grand president, has announced. Among those attending were Cindy Miller and Lorrie Miller from Big Spring.

First Black Named

SAN ANGELO — Ralph Powell, postal employee, has been named as the first black to be on Selective Service Board 118. In addition to serving on the panel for Tom Green County, he also will be on one of the five regional appeals panels serving 96 counties in the area.

candidate, George McGovern, and Shriver were having trouble stimulating local Chicago interest in them.

CHICANO WOES
"Right now unfortunately," Moreno said before Shriver's arrival, "they're concentrating too much on the Vietnam War issue. They haven't talked about Chicano problems — education, health, jobs — social issues that are so important."

Moreno said until "they do, they won't get the enthusiasm that has to be built. It is time to talk about these issues."

He said McGovern "is the man who can help the Chicano community the most."

Mrs. Shriver arrived about 90 minutes before her husband. During local officials, chatted with the crowd, listened and danced to some mariachi music and met with an old friend, Columnist Art Buchwald. He was here for a speech at the University of Texas-El Paso.

a bilingual education for the people."

"The crowd applauded this statement."

Shriver said the education should be "with respect to cultural traditions of the people whether they speak Spanish, whether they're black, whether they're white, whether they're American Indians or whether they're Anglos from Europe."

He referred briefly to a long strike at the Farah Manufacturing Co. when he said, "We've got to get him also to realize that when people are on strike as they are in a city like this that the federal government should be helping rather than hurting that effort."

Many of the persons in the crowd apparently were former Farah employees who walked off their jobs last May.

An El Paso Chicano leader, State Rep. Paul Moreno, said the Democratic presidential
