IN BROWNSVILLE Democratic Nominee For DA Indicted

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Cameron County Dist. Atty. Elect Fred Galindo of Brownsville was indicted by a county grand jury today on a charge of fraudulently converting property.

A spokesman for the Cameron County sheriff's office here said a warrant was issued for Galindo's arrest.

Galindo is accused of taking money from a court settlement that was supposed to be used to pay a client's doctor and hospital bills.

Galindo was elected as the Democratic nominee for district attorney and has no Republican opponent in the November general election.

Galindo won a runoff election against Harlingen lawyer Melchor Chavez. He had earlier defeated incumbent Dist. Atty. F. T. Graham in the first primary.

The indictment was returned by a grand jury working with members of Graham's staff and originated from a legal aid society in California that claims Galindo had received $2,500 in settlement of a civil suit. The money included a $500 fee to cover doctor and hospital bills for his client.

The former client, who now lives in California, claimed Galindo never paid the medical bills and he has been harassed for payment.

Galindo and the other candidate sharply criticized Graham because of his prior convictions on charges of driving while intoxicated. A grand jury report, issued not long before the election, also was critical of the incumbent, saying he had not been forceful in collecting forfeited bail bonds and had, in one case, settled for a smaller bond forfeiture in a manner not allowed by Texas law.

A FATAL MISTAKE Terrier Bites Rattlesnakes

After three years of reprieve from deadly rattlesnakes, the Noel Lesters of the Vealmoor Community, again lost a dog to a large rattler when their wire-haired terrier, Dolly, was struck in the heart Thursday while trying to kill the snake that was bigger than she was.

The Lesters received Dolly from California as a Lassie Gold award after their dog Prissy was killed by a rattler here on Sept. 24, 1969, after warning Lester of the presence of a large rattler.

At that time, the Lesters had lost four dogs to snakebite on the ranch. Prissy was killed by a six-foot 18-rattler snake, after she warned Lester the snake was under a shed in which he was working.

Lester now is a heart patient and was quite upset when Dolly was killed Thursday. His son, Don, who works at Cosden, was at the home place visiting his father when he heard Dolly's barks.

When they went out, the terrier had the large rattler in her mouth shaking it trying to break its back, but it apparently struck her in the heart during the fracas. Dolly fought on. The son went inside and got a gun, but couldn't shoot into the melee without shooting the dog, and finally had to jerk the snake away from Dolly with a hoe. Dolly then fell dead.

The Lester's son, Don, has one of two pups of Dolly's, a terrier called May May. The other pup is in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Lester said today that it has been a number of years since a rattler has ventured into their front yard. She recalls that Dolly was air-freighted here from California to replace Prissy.

"And we sure will miss that brave little dog," she added.

Lost Bomber Identified

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Charleston Air Force Base reports the wreckage of a World War II plane found near Savannah, Ga., just inside the South Carolina state line, has been identified.

A spokesman for the base said Thursday the number on the wreckage and other details coincide with Army records of a March 19, 1944 crash in a marshy area.

The records show that the crash of the B25 on a training flight from Hunter Air Field at Savannah killed S. Sgt. Foch Harsell, Rt. 1, Bridgeport, Tex., and three other men.

Because of the difficulty of getting to the crash site, the plane and equipment were left.

Mitchell Is Cited In Insurance Study

AUSTIN — Gov. Preston Smith spotlighted the goals of the interim committee studying extended coverage insurance with his announcement of a special session beginning Monday to study insurance reform in Texas.

The interim committee, which was meeting in the Capitol building at the time of the governor's announcement Tuesday, is headed by Rep. Renal B. Rosson of Snyder and Rep. Joe Hanna, Breckenridge.

Rep. Rosson said he was pleased that extended coverage insurance will be included in the special session.

"Home owners in some areas of this state are penalized all out of proportion to the premiums they have to pay," Rep. Rosson said.

House Okays Huge Defense Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved the biggest defense-spending bill since World War II and refused, after 10 minutes' debate, to cut off funds for the Vietnam war.

A two-hour squabble was climaxed by a vote to phase out KP duty from the military.

The $74.6-billion defense bill was passed 322 to 40 Thursday night and sent to the Senate.

The war-money cutoff, the same as one being pressed by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., in the Senate, was rejected 208 to 160.

"We have stayed too long and paid too great a price," said Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., author of the House amendment. "It is time to come home and heal our own wounds."

But House Armed Services Committee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., noted the House repeatedly has refused to vote congressional restraints on the war and said there was little left to debate.

There were shouts of "Vote! Vote!" and the House rejected Addabbo's amendment after ten minutes of debate.

It would have cut off money for all U.S. operations in Indochina, except for withdrawal, in four months providing Hanoi had released American prisoners by then and given an accounting of missing GIs.

The major House debate was over military programs to phase out KP, derided as making life too soft for GIs and defended as a major incentive for attracting an all-volunteer military by next June 30.

Overriding an Appropriations Committee recommendation to terminate programs aimed at turning KP over to civilian workers, the House voted 265 to 117 to authorize continuation of the programs.

The amendment was offered by Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla. It would authorize the military to divert $92.5 million from other programs for the civilian KP workers.

Backers of his amendment contended the KP programs create jobs for 45,000 low-income civilians.

The House rejected with voice votes and little debate amendments by Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., to cut from the spending bill all $445 million for the advanced B1 bomber and $10 million for more-sophisticated nuclear warheads.

Revenue-Sharing To Begin Flowing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional fashioners of a revenue-sharing program say they have resolved a big-state, little-state rivalry and cleared the way for $5.3 billion to start flowing in October to state-houses and city halls.

Senate and House conferees agreed Thursday night on a formula which, one aide said, means that everybody wins.

While that does not appear to be literally true, there seems little doubt that the two chambers will accept the compromise and send the bill to President Nixon—who asked for it—in time for October disbursements.

The conferees expected to dispose of other aspects of the $36-billion, five-year measure at a final session today, pointing to final passage next week.

Senate and House versions of the bill disagreed on the weight that should be given different factors in determining states' revenue shares.

The House version rewarded states relying on their own income tax. The Senate formula allocated more funds to 33 small states, less to 17 big, industrialized states.

This is how the conferees resolved the problem:

They left both formulas in the bill and provided that each state's share should be figured by the one more favorable to that state. But since this would have required more funds than the $5.3 billion budgeted for this year, the compromise provides that each share be scaled down by about 9.1 per cent.

After this year, the reduction will no longer apply.

PRESIDENTIAL RACE

Connally Brothers On Opposite Sides

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John Connally and his college professor brother are on opposite sides of the political fence this year—one supporting President Nixon and the other campaigning for George McGovern.

In the past, Gofrey Connally generally stayed in the background while his brother won the governor's chair and then a seat on Nixon's Cabinet, and next went on to head the Democrats for Nixon effort.

But now Gofrey is trying to corral votes for McGovern's presidential campaign as head of voter education committees for both the county Democratic Party and the local Citizens for McGovern organization.

GROSSLY MISLED

An economics professor at San Antonio Junior College just 30 miles or so from Connally's Floresville, Tex., ranch, he doesn't say much about his political differences with John.

But he gives this view of Democrats in general who are supporting Nixon:

"They've been grossly misled by the Republicans about what McGovern stands for."

Gofrey, 53, two years younger than John, was on hand here this week to greet Sargent Shriver when the Democratic vice presidential nominee arrived for a quick campaign visit.

Earlier this year, he was prominent among a crowd of supporters who welcomed former Sen. Ralph Yarborough to town after the liberal Texas Democrat decided to run for the Senate again.

Gofrey had long been a strong supporter of Yarborough, while brother John had always been against the former senator.

Now he fills his spare time making speeches on McGovern's economic programs and organizing workers for the presidential nominee.

A member of the Texas Economists for McGovern Committee, he says McGovern has the backing of some of the nation's most eminent economists.

Flipping through pamphlets and notes during an interview, Gofrey singled out McGovern's program for closing tax loopholes.

"If you keep up at all with economics," he said, "these proposals for tax reform have been discussed at length over the years. They're not radical. They're not even original much less radical."

Bids On Building Due By Sept. 21

STANTON — The Stanton Independent School District will open bids and let a contract for the construction of a new school building at a special meeting Thursday, Sept. 21.

Bids are also to be requested in the near future for the school driver education car. In other action, the board approved relieving coaches as bus drivers so the coaches could continue on the bus with game plans.

School officials and board members discussed together the school dress code, leaving it as it was with only minor changes.

Bloody Citadel Stalemate Ends

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces today regained control of Quang Tri City, ending North Vietnam's 3½-month occupation of South Vietnam's northernmost provincial capital, U.S. officials in the field informed the American Embassy.

Lt. Col. Do Viet, a spokesman for the South Vietnamese Command, said that at 5 p.m. (5 a.m. EDT) South Vietnamese marines "completely controlled" the Citadel, the 19th century fortress in the heart of the city.

The North Vietnamese forces withdrew to the west outside the Citadel, and fighting is continuing near the province headquarters along the river that marks the western boundary of the city, Viet said.

The fighting is still going on, but the main target is already taken," he reported.

Quang Tri fell to the North Vietnamese on May 1, the first provincial capital to be captured in South Vietnam. President Nguyen Van Thieu in a speech last June 19 gave his troops three months to recover all territory taken by the North Vietnamese in the first two and a half months of their offensive.

Saigon launched a 20,000-man offensive on June 28 to retake Quang Tri. But a month later South Vietnamese paratroopers were pulled out of the battle after heavy casualties in an unsuccessful attempt to storm the Citadel. The marines replaced them.

The marines, too, have suffered heavily in six weeks of slow clearing operations under savage, sustained artillery bombardment.

SHOT DOWN

U.S. fighter-bomber support at Quang Tri was curtailed today by the approach of Typhoon Flossie, which produced rain, high winds and overcast skies. But U.S. B52 bombers made nearly 50 strikes on both

IN STATE PARKS It Will Cost More To Strip Naked

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission voted today to fine people who drink or strip naked in state parks and to raise the $25 fine to $200 if they do it again.

The commission also voted to prohibit the introduction of grass carp—a fish imported from Russia and China—into Texas.

Proponents of the carp, which is being sold in Arkansas, claim it will eliminate water weeds from lakes and streams.

Commissioner Bob Burleson of Temple said of the prohibition against public nudity—"I'm not sure we can legally prevent anyone from taking off their clothes."

The regulations go into effect Jan. 1, 1973.

Officials noted that in the past a park supervisor could only say "please don't" to any breaking park rules.

The new rules can be enforced by any peace officer or by park employees who have qualified as a peace officer.

The new rules prohibit hunting, firearms, fireworks and unleashed pets.

They also prohibit public assemblies or demonstrations without written permission and specify that no one under 18 can spend the night without supervision.

"SNOW BIRDS"

Campers are restricted to two-week visits from May 1 through Sept. 15, and special 28-day limitations were sent in the winter months for Falcon, Lake Corpus Christi, Gosse Island and Bentsen-Rio Grande Valley state parks.

Several persons from the Falcon area protested the regulation at the public hearing and in letters.

BILLIONAIRE HEALTH CRANK ENJOYS CREEPING

H.L. Hunt Thinks He May Live To Be 167

By RENA PEDERSON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — H. L. Hunt, maybe the richest man in the world, popped a date into his mouth and smiled around it. "I'm a crank about creeping," he said.

turned to his breakfast plate. He munched grapes, pecans, dates and an apricot, and drank fruit juices and bouillon. "Creeping is probably the second best exercise in the world next to swimming. It's perfect," Hunt said.

YOGA LESSONS

Creeping exercises every muscle in the body, assured Hunt. It also provides, he said, "a sort of neurological retraining" of motor impulses. Hunt said he started creeping as therapy after he injured his back in an auto accident.

GOES APE

"You see, you look at your little finger of each hand as you walk the hand forward and that turns your head side to side. It's natural exercise, like when you were an ape," he said. He chuckled and his wife, Ruth, looked concerned. Hunt was creeping around the table so fast the photographer couldn't focus on him. He didn't even put on his creeping knee pads, just dropped to the floor in his blue pin stripe suit.

"I creep about two to three minutes a day, several times a day," he explained. He also has yoga lessons twice a week and maintains a strict health food regimen of pure foods.

"Yaa-hoo," he called and an assistant came in with a date for everyone at the table. Hunt said to be the world's richest man and leading independent oil producer, munched a pecan himself and said, "I used to be the world's number one soft shell pecan grower. I suppose I still am. I eat them instead of meat."

He also avoids white bread and white sugar. Instead he prefers his own bread recipe of cracked wheat and nuts and uses honey. Then there's his famous carrot cake, which he often shares with guests who drop by at meal time.

RAW AS POSSIBLE

"I grow most of my vegetables on three acres of garden to the side of the house," he said. "They should be as raw as possible and free from salt for best use."

Hunt insisted on a car tour around his home, a replica of Mount Vernon with a view of White Rock Lake in Dallas. "Some people have claimed it's 10 or five times as big as George Washington's home but you know, I checked, and it's just barely two per cent larger. Put that in your article," he said.

The house is full of antiques, but modern times have dictated one change for the exterior: bulletproof glass and iron grills on windows. ("There are troublemakers about, you know," his wife said politely.)

An aide, or his wife, gives Hunt an assist from chairs since he hurt his back in a bathtub fall several years ago. It was then he took up yoga to strengthen his back muscles. Now he can walk without his back harness. He stoops a bit, but his grip is still strong and he can pull himself up from his creeping on the floor.

LOVES 'MUFFIN'

He works six days a week, staying active from 7 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. He said he wants to work "as long as I am useful."

At 83, Hunt tends to ramble about health food to another of his interests: his sons, his famous checker playing ability, his long crusade against communism, his dog Muffin ("He can understand nearly everything you say to him.") Likewise, Hunt understands everything going on.

He is constantly handing out literature as he talks—pamphlets on health, a mimeographed Bible verse, an article about his creeping. He mentioned that he rubs aloe vera — a cactus derivative—on his hands and face "to remove spots." The same aloe vera is the basis of his entire line of H.L.H. cosmetics.

POLO AT 100

"I swallow some aloe vera, too. And I take vitamin pills," he said. He spoke slowly, deliberately. Sometimes he would pause to think, run his hand over his thin white hair. Then his blue eyes twinkled and he smiled. "I have lots of money and so they call me the 'Billionaire Health Crank.' Oh heh heh."

"I'll be 84 February 17th. The Soviets have a picture I've seen of a man they say is 167. I think I'll manage to live to as ripe an age as their man," Hunt said.

He then mentioned the Hunzakuts of the Himalayas: "They live to play polo in their 100s," he said. "I could do that." And then he took his wife's arm and headed off to work.

HUNT'S NATURAL EXERCISE

Twister Close To South Edge Of Lubbock

By The Associated Press
Blustery thunderstorms and at least two tornadoes threatened parts of Texas' South Plains and flooding rains hit the El Paso area in far West Texas during the night.

Showers and occasional thunderstorms hung on this morning along a week cool front easting southward along a line from near Dallas to Midland. There also were scattered showers in East and South Texas and over the coastal plains.

National Weather Service observers reported a twister whirled close to the south edge of Lubbock, but it apparently dissipated without harm. For a time a tornado warning was in effect for Lubbock, Lynn, Hookley and Terry counties, while a severe thunderstorm alert covered neighboring areas.

At the same time storms sweeping southward from New Mexico set off flash flooding around Dell City, about 50 miles east of El Paso, and washed out a bridge on U.S. 88-180.

Responsible For Similar Deaths In Arkansas, Ohio?

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — A pathologist testified today it may have taken two persons to hold back Mabel McCormick's head while her throat was cut last Jan. 5.

"If the victim had possession of her faculties and strength, I would say it took a couple of people to do it," Dr. Howard R. Wilcox of Beaumont testified at the murder trial of Fred F. Young Jr.

Mrs. McCormick's head was arched backward when the cut was made, the doctor said, because otherwise the main arteries and veins in the throat would have been slashed.

"MADMAN" The doctor explained that when the head is arched backward, the arteries and veins recede toward the back of the neck.

Young's lawyers tried to prevent the doctor from answering the question about the necessity of two persons being involved. They contend that Young's former co-defendant, Dennis R. Anderson, is a "madman" who did the murder by himself.

The doctor testified that death was caused by a combination of wounds, the most serious of which was a "punched-out" fracture of the skull that would have been caused by a bloody ball peen hammer found next to the body. The state says it will finish its case today.

CRYSTAL CLEAR Joe Goodwin of Beaumont, chief defense lawyer, has made it clear he will contend that Anderson not only killed Mrs. McCormick and her granddaughter but that he may be responsible for similar murders in Arkansas and Ohio.

Anderson pleaded guilty Monday in the McCormick case and received a life sentence.

Young's lawyer asked Texas Ranger L. C. White if he knew of "similar occurrences" in those states.

The judge sustained a prosecution objection and, when Goodwin tried to pursue the subject, sternly lectured him. "You're an able lawyer, Mr. Goodwin. You know what is admissible and what is not admissible."

Goodwin also tried, outside the hearing of the jury, to get the Ranger to say if he knew that Anderson had "an abnormal interest in small children and in taking their pictures," and a reputation as "a pathological liar" and "wore contacts to change his appearance." White said he did not know.

ABLE LAWYER Goodwin said he would get back to the subject later.

Another state witness, Henry Whitt, a Pearlland service station operator who also rents EZ Haul trucks and is a justice of the peace, identified Anderson as the man who rented a truck from him late last Jan. 4 and returned it late Jan. 5. He identified Young as Anderson's companion.

Members of Baker's Chapel AME will be pushing hard this weekend with their weekly barbecue Saturday in an effort to go to Northwest Methodist Conference with a good report.

The barbecue is at the church at Northwest 10th and Lancaster (Phone 267-2940), said Charlie Merritt, church secretary.

Annual conference is set for Sept. 26 in Brownwood with the Rev. S. N. Hobbs, pastor, and Merritt, and possibly others representing the local church. This will be the first conference for the Rt. Rev. John H. Adams, bishop of the 10th Episcopal District. Formerly of Los Angeles, Calif. Grant Chapel, he also was once president of Paul Quinn College at Waco.

Criminal Judge Paul Baker set Barker's bond at $1,000 and ordered the real estate broker and former CIA operative to stand trial on the felony charge Oct. 30.

Barker was charged Thursday with falsifying his notary public seal on a $25,000 check which he allegedly deposited in his Miami bank account. He surrendered earlier today to State Atty. Richard Gerstein of Miami.

Barker, 55, spoke only two words at his arraignment, answering "12 years" when asked how long he had been a resident of the Miami area.

His attorney, Henry Rothblatt of New York City, said he expected indictments would be returned in Washington later today against Barker and others accused of the Watergate complex break-in in the nation's capitol.

Barker was caught inside Democratic headquarters at the Watergate Complex in Washington, D.C., and Gerstein has said that testimony by a Miami photographer has linked Barker to a possible second break-in attempt at the Democratic offices.

White said Anderson told him he wanted to move antiques from Conroe to Pearland.

When Anderson returned the truck, Whitt said, he joked with two highway patrolmen at Whitt's service station about men in an EZ Haul truck.

This was more than five hours after an all-points bulletin had been broadcast for two men in an EZ Haul truck.

Anderson and Young were not arrested until Jan. 14, when they surrendered to officers at the Houston International airport after a flight from Puerto Rico.

The state introduced several bloodstained items Thursday: a small ball peen hammer, a foot-long butcher knife bent slightly where the blade meets the handle, a soft drink bottle and pieces of another bottle.

MIAMI (AP) — Bernard L. Barker, one of five men accused of breaking into Democratic national headquarters, pleaded innocent today of fraudulently notarizing a $25,000 Republican campaign contribution.

On Ballots In 26 States

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American party candidates, including presidential nominee Rep. John Schmitz of California, have qualified for the November election in 26 states and are likely to win a place on the ballots of at least seven others, a party spokesman says.

William K. Shearer of San Diego said Thursday that lawsuits have been filed or soon will be filed in eight other states in an effort to qualify the American party for the November ballot.

Shearer said an additional nine states and District of Columbia also may be the subjects of suits to permit the party to be on the ballot.

Suits already are planned for Rhode Island, New York, Arkansas, Florida, Texas, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, he said.

Tricycle Needed By SH Patient

The Big Spring State Hospital is seeking a tricycle — yes a tricycle. One of the patients, a retiree, might benefit from use of a vehicle which will help maintain balance. Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, volunteer coordinator, would appreciate hearing from anyone who has a large size tricycle which is no longer being used.

Wreck Reported Here Thursday

The unmarked intersection of 21st and Johnson Streets was the scene of a collision between an automobile driven by Candie S. Dickerson, 708 Main, and a motorcycle operated by Kenneth J. Russell, 1306 Trinity View, Irving.

The accident occurred Thursday at 6:42 p.m. Each operator reported that he or she had failed to perceive the perpendicular motion of the other vehicle.

Russell was removed to Webb AFB Hospital by Alert Ambulance, according to police. Webb Information Service has no record of Russell's condition. Neither driver was issued a citation.

Ratliff Services To Be Saturday

Last rites will be said at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel for Mrs. Sam (Ruthie) Ratliff, 76, resident of Glasscock County since 1906. She died Wednesday after a long illness. HC To Offer Photographic Short Course Photography as an evening short course will be available to area residents beginning Sept. 19, according to Dr. Charles Hays, college vice president.

The course will provide students with the opportunity to develop an interesting hobby and possibly to learn the basics of a new professional field.

Teaching the non-credit class will be Dal Herring, photography instructor at the college for the past eight years. The group will meet each Tuesday evening from 7-9 p.m. in Room 106 of the Practical Arts building.

This adult education course will teach the fundamentals of taking photographs, developing film, and making black and white prints. "We will cover composition, darkroom technique, portraiture, color tinting of b/w photos, and how to best use the adjustable camera," Herring explained.

He said the course will also teach the differences in various cameras, as well as touch upon the use of lenses and filters. "Many persons who take these courses use them as a springboard to pursue an exciting new career," Herring added. "Others just want to develop and print family pictures. We think we have something for everyone."

The college will supply the darkroom equipment and chemicals, he said. The student will need to furnish an adjustable camera of any format, his film and printing paper. Cost for the 10-week class will be $20.

Further information can be obtained by telephoning 267-6311 Ext. 56 for Dal Herring, or calling Ext. 32 for Dr. Hays.

Arms Limitation Agreement OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a U.S.-Soviet five-year agreement to limit nuclear arms, and called in advance for any permanent treaty to provide numerical equality in intercontinental atomic weaponry.

The 88-2 vote Thursday sent the amended resolution of approval to a conference with the House, which passed it Aug. 18 without the "equality" language.

The agreement, and a companion treaty limiting defensive weapons in the United States and the Soviet Union, was signed by President Nixon in Moscow May 26. The defensive treaty was ratified by the Senate Aug. 3.

WEAPONS FREEZE
The interim agreement on offensive weapons freezes intercontinental ballistic missiles to those deployed or under construction, an estimated 1,618 for the Soviet Union and 1,054 for the United States.

The Soviet submarine force will be limited to 62 with 950 missile launchers; the U.S. underwater fleet would be restricted to 44 submarines and 710 launchers.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, winner in a month-long battle to write guidelines for subsequent U.S.-Soviet negotiations, said he is not concerned about whether his equality amendment survives the Senate-House conference.

"The vote of the Senate is the crucial thing," Jackson told newsmen. "What is involved is a future treaty upon which the Senate alone will act. The Senate has spoken."

The Jackson amendment, adopted 56 to 35, calls upon the president in continuing strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) to seek equality in "levels of intercontinental strategic forces."

The White House endorsed the language of the Jackson amendment as being consistent with administration policy, but not his interpretations nor those of his Senate opponents.

SUPERIORITY
Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, interpreted the Jackson amendment as a bid for U.S. superiority. He said the demand for equality in numbers of specific weapons ignored U.S. advantages in missile accuracy, multiple-warhead technology, forward air bases in Europe, and aircraft carriers.

The Senate rejected, 48 to 37, a Fulbright substitute for the Jackson amendment to set a goal for arms limitation based on "overall equality, parity and sufficiency, taking into account all relevant qualitative and quantitative factors."

An amendment seeking "overall quality" was rejected 55 to 35, and a move to strike the Jackson amendment reference to intercontinental forces was beaten 51 to 38.

Adopted on a voice vote was an amendment by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., enunciating a U.S. policy "that neither the Soviet Union nor the United States should seek unilateral advantage by developing a first-strike potential."

Water Three Feet Deep In Pueblo

Thunderstorms overflooded some of New Mexico's complex of irrigation ditches and arroyos Thursday evening and caused minor flooding in various parts of the state and neighboring El Paso County in Texas.

In the Santo Domingo Pueblo, Pena Blanca area, a tribal spokesman said water from irrigation ditches overflowed through the central part of the pueblo.

He said several homes and the church were flooded, with water standing about three feet deep in parts of the pueblo late Thursday.

The Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District was sending heavy equipment to repair the ditches. In El Paso County a bridge on U.S. 68-180 about 50 miles east of El Paso was washed out as heavy thunderstorms caused some flash flooding around Dell City, Tex.

Sheriff's officers said the road between Dell City and El Paso was closed late Thursday. In the Clovis area, state police closed portions of New Mexico 86 and 88 between Clovis and Fort Sumner because of standing water.

Officers said New Mexico 252 was open only for a short distance in the Clovis area because of the thunderstorms.

Debtors, Shareholders Sue Waggoner Carr, John Osorio

DALLAS (AP) — Former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and former Texas insurance commissioner John Osorio were among 30 defendants in a $15 million federal suit filed Thursday against officers and directors of RIC International Industries.

The suit was filed on behalf of creditors and shareholders of RIC International by John L. King, a court-appointed trustee of the corporation which is in Dallas bankruptcy court.

Six others listed as defendants in Thursday's suit, as well as Carr and Osorio, were also defendants in the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's Texas stock fraud suit.

The RIC suit claims that the defendants personally benefited by at least $5 million from the wrecking of the corporation. It claimed that directors, officers, and controlling persons conspired to "misappropriate and waste the assets of RIC."

The suit charges "the defendants engaged in a scheme to waste, defraud and destroy RIC to manipulate the market price of its shares, to issue its securities in violation of the securities law, to defraud its shareholders and creditors and to enrich themselves in the process."

According to the charges the defendants forced RIC:

- To borrow money and make commitments far beyond its ability to repay.
- To issue misleading financial statements.
- To issue unregistered stock, much of which found its way into the hands of innocent investors.
- To use other means to manipulate the market price of RIC stock so the defendants could profit by selling shares at the manipulated price.

The suit also claimed that the defendants had the company overpay for the purchase of properties in Alaska, and attempted to acquire controlling interest in National Bankers

Life Insurance Co. whose stock was being manipulated by some of the defendants.

The company collapsed before the transaction was completed.

King also filed a second federal damage suit against the Bank of Louisville-Royal Bank and Trust claiming it fraudulently charged RIC a $66,000 service charge on a loan.

King said the legally allowable interest on the RIC loan was $57,500, but the firm was charged $153,045 in interest and other charges.

The suit was filed in U. S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor's court and asked the bank to repay RIC the $66,000 charge or $190,590 in damages.

The suit against Carr and others was filed in U. S. Dist. Judge Robert M. Hill's court.

Other defendants are Audy Byram, Sam Stock, Tom Thomas, City Bank & Trust, Dallas Bank & Trust, David Hoover, Elmer C. Baum, who invested in stock along with Gov. Preston Smith; Frank Jackson,

Nixon Backs Move To Cut Reruns On TV

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Nixon has backed a move to cut the number of reruns on prime time television, saying unless networks act voluntarily "we will explore whatever regulatory recommendations are in order."

Nixon, in a letter to the Screen Actors Guild released Thursday, said he agrees with SAG complaints that the increasing use of reruns poses an economic threat to the television industry. He promised an investigation into the situation.

"I am convinced that in cutting the amount of original programming the TV networks are failing to serve their own best interests as well as those of the public," the President wrote Guild President John Gavin.

Nixon said he has instructed Clay T. Whitehead, director of the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy, to "thoroughly investigate the problem" with an eye to a voluntary solution by the networks before any "regulatory recommendations" are studied.

Whitehead said Thursday that the "spreading blight" of television reruns could be solved by creation of a fourth commercial television network.

"Creation of a new network may well be the only way to meet the needs of program diversity and audience choice," Whitehead told the San Francisco chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

"From what I've seen already, this will be a good profit year in the TV industry," Whitehead said. "I've also heard that the Hollywood studios are on the ropes — that at any one time there are many craft unions with 50 per cent to 75 per cent of their members out of work."

"It is not clear whether there is a relationship between either of these facts and the spreading blight of reruns, but this is a matter that requires some close scrutiny."

Whitehead said a study by Hollywood unions "hardhit" by reruns claims that reruns constitute 60 per cent of network prime time as a nationwide average. "This has happened slowly, but it is now getting to critical proportions," he said.

Gun Business Picks Up Fast

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (AP) — Mike Morris said he had just commented to a coworker at Gibson's discount store Thursday about how slow handgun sales had been. The next customer pulled a gun of his own and stole 12 of them.

"I was just looking at the gun counter and said, 'We haven't sold many handguns this week,' just before the robbery," related Morris, manager of the store's sporting goods section.

Morris said the robber carried a sawed-off shotgun under his coat and pulled it out after carefully looking over the display counter. He said the man didn't demand any cash — just the guns.

The 12 handguns were valued at $1,400, Morris said.

Independence Bombs Away Homo-Marriages In Texas Ruling

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Bombs injured a night watchman and badly damaged three buildings, two of them occupied by American corporations, early today as Mexico began independence celebrations.

The watchman was on duty at the International Business Machines building when a bomb went off outside. The building houses the most advanced computer system in Mexico, and it had been in operation only a month. Some of the equipment was damaged, officials said.

The other explosions occurred outside the Ford Motor Co. and a government bank.

Police at Oaxaca, about 250 miles southeast of Mexico City, also reported a bomb went off there and demolished part of a union headquarters building.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas county clerks are not permitted by law to issue marriage licenses to persons of the same sex, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin ruled today.

Martin's opinion went to County Atty. Ned Granger of Austin, where a small Gay Liberation movement flourishes in the University of Texas campus area.

The attorney general noted that the Texas Family Code is permeated with the terms husband, wife and marriage. "Since the legislature must be presumed to know the definition and usage of these words, it is eminently clear that under Texas law only two persons of the opposite sex may be granted a license to marry in Texas," Martin said.

The family code, which sets out the state's marriage laws, says that "persons desiring to enter into a ceremonial marriage shall obtain a marriage license from the county clerk of any county of this state."

"At first blush, it might appear that the county clerk is authorized to issue a marriage license to persons of the same sex" if they meet basic qualifications such as age, Martin said. "Nevertheless, we must look further."

While Texas courts have not directly addressed the definition of husband and wife, Martin said, courts of other states have done so. In a North Carolina case, the court said "a husband is a man who has a wife, and a wife is a woman who has a husband."

Martin went on to examine other recent cases in which homosexual marriage was involved.

"The issue arises with the assertion that social mores have changed so that the right to marry without regard to sex is so fundamental a right that any restriction is invalid, illogical and invidiously discriminatory," the attorney general said.

Bible Fund Now Nearly $5,200

The Big Spring High School Bible Fund drive officially came to a halt last weekend but people continue to forward money in hopes that the course can be continued.

Donations for the 24-hour period ending at noon today totaled $70. One gift was for $25 from Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown of Burk Burnett, former residents in the area.

The additions bring the total collected by the Howard County Ministerial Association, which is coordinating the drive, to $5,185.50. That leaves the fund only a little more than $300 shy of its original goal.

Other recent donors are: Mrs. Alvin Smith and the ten-year girls' Sunday School class at Baptist Temple Church, $5; Ruby Bell Phillips, $10; Ever Ready Civic and Art Club, $10; and Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Dillon, $20.

Probe May Be Below Parr

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Another session behind closed doors was scheduled today for a federal grand jury that has been conducting an apparent probe into the activities of South Texas political boss George Parr and others.

The jury heard five witnesses Wednesday, including two of Parr's relatives, and was expected to reconvene Thursday. That meeting was cancelled, however, and another was reported set for today.

Federal attorneys have refused any comment but court records indicate the panel's investigation involves Parr and others in the Duval County (San Diego) area.

Witnesses have included officials of a bank, two school districts and a water district in that county, where Parr years ago earned the nickname, "Duke of Duval."

Accused Cabbie Killer Snared

HOUSTON (AP) — Orlando Charles, 20, one of two men charged in the Sept. 5 slaying of a cab driver, was arrested at his local apartment.

Charles and David Mosley Jr., 18, are charged in the death of Alonzo Brent Anderson, 68. Mosley has not been arrested.

Sentiment Wins In Wedding Poll

It is French custom for engaged couples to marry first in a civil ceremony at city hall, then in a religious ceremony at church.

Despite a youth movement that would do away with the religious ceremony, a national poll of young couples has reported that 90 per cent of brides and 79 per cent of bridegrooms favor the church service.

The typical explanation of newlyweds: "The civil wedding seems like a legal formality, but the church wedding makes you feel really married."

Initial plans were made to obtain a compressor for use by club members. The group, which is composed of qualified SCUBA divers, will be available to assist in emergencies where aquatic procedure is necessary.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 10 at the same place. At that time, guest speaker will be Dave Weidner of Midland who will describe his diving expeditions to Hawaii, showing slides and exhibiting items he has collected from the ocean floor.

GOVERNMENT FUNDS AT STAKE? Wider Representation Sought In HD Clubs

The federal government would like to see more women involved in home demonstration clubs, regardless of race, color or creed, according to Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County home demonstration agent.

Miss Mullin told the women that if persons are denied membership in clubs for any one of several reasons, the extension service could possibly help support it. She encouraged county clubs to increase their membership roles, asking each club member to invite five new women to take part in the organization. It was announced that the Westside Community Center would like to have a home demonstration club formed there, and volunteers were requested to help with this project.

Mrs. Bob Wren, president, presided, reminding members that the club will sponsor a luncheon for senior citizens Sept. 20 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the county fair barn. The luncheon is open to all older persons. They may bring a covered dish if they like, but this is not required.

Miss Miram Curry of the Texas Dairy Council will speak on "The Food Way to Weight Reducing," at 2 p.m., Sept. 25 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Each HD club may send two representatives to this leadership training, and the program is open to the public. On Sept. 29, at 1:30 p.m., all clubs will meet at the county fair barn for a review of bylaws and standing rules. These will be voted on at that time.

Friendship Club Aids Bible Fund

Mrs. Frank George was hostess Tuesday for a meeting of the Friendship Breakfast Club in Coker's Restaurant. Each member presented a thought on friendship and signed cards for persons who are sick.

During the business session, the women planned to send a donation to the high school Bible Fund.

The next meeting will be at 9 a.m., Oct. 10, when Mrs. Oscar Williams will be honored on her birthday. Mrs. Ollie McDaniel will be hostess, and the meeting will be held at the restaurant.

THE MENSWEAR look makes fashion sense for the distaff side. Tailored vest and wide-leg cuffed trousers are noteworthy in tweed printed mid-wale cotton corduroy.

Time Is Running Out On Concert Renewals

I Do!," Oct. 16; the Ballet Brno, Nov. 18; the Young Americans, Jan. 29; the concert organist, Judson Maynard, Feb. 24; and the Ronnie Kole Trio, March 31. Create Illusion Of Large Eyes

Large and widely spaced is generally conceded to be the classic proportion for beautiful eyes.

If nature hasn't provided such a proportion, there are a few simple cosmetic touches that can help make up the difference. The illusion of wider separation can be achieved by starting the lid lining somewhat above and to the side of the inside corners of the eyes.

Apply eye shadow with a cotton tipped swab, cresting it at the center of the lid. To create the illusion of larger eyes apply white foundation or shadow just below the brow bone. Use a little white under the eyes.

Before applying any new eye makeup be sure all old makeup is removed. Cotton squares soaked with a good quality witch hazel will do the job nicely. A beauty bonus: hold the witch hazel pads to the eyes for a few moments. Soothing and relaxing. Let the lotion dry by itself. Now start makeup.

Guest Coffee Begins Hyperion Club Year

A guest coffee opened the club year for the 1970 Hyperion Club. The event was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. O. H. Ivie, club president.

A LOVELIER YOU Fake Furs Classed As 'Real' Wonderful

By MARY SUE MILLER

There's a big hassle about furs. The ecology people warn that some species of animals are slated for extinction from indiscriminate slaughter. Just last spring over west, thousands of wild foxes were gunned down from the air.

To keep wild animals from becoming inbred, and so numerous that sufficient forage would be lacking, the government permits humane trapping in limiting numbers. On the other hand, furriers are funding widespread campaigns to arovide women with pelts of every kind in every price range. A third group, the manufacturers of fake furs, have but one quarrel — the term fake. "Fake nothing!" they say.

"Real wonderful" is the name of their game.

So where does that leave an August buyer? That is for you buyer to decide. If you are going for a fine fur, how about ranch mink? It is grown on farms. Ecology as such is not involved. Pelts are dyed from buff to golden — the newest color trend.

The trend follows through in fur-lined coats for the woman who craves warmth and luxe without theatrics. Alpaca, camel and poplin are on the outside; any fur that is lawful and that she can afford lines the inside.

"Real wonderfuls" favor deep rich look like matara. But whatever the makings, shapes swing toward the loose and classical. Short smocks, sash-type trench coats, long and short coats to wrap, capes, dolman sleeves, big notched collars, contrasting furs and colors such as a pale, long-haired border on a sheared black body. Exciting? The most!

Club Told New Trend In Fashion

Miss Victor Gene Hughes, home demonstration agent for the Lees Home Demonstration Club, discussed fashion trends from Paris, France, when she spoke to the club Tuesday afternoon in the home of the president, Mrs. Lynn Glass.

Miss Hughes used magazines from France to illustrate her talk, noting new and interesting color combinations used in clothing, as well as the emphasis put on fashion accessories such as bags, scarves and jewelry. She showed how basic garments could be changed from casual to dressy attire with the use of various accessories.

Mrs. Glass gave the devotion and presided for a brief business session during which members agreed to forego flowers in favor of donating books to the Garden City library in memory of deceased persons.

Mrs. Joe Garner was presented a baby gift from the club, and Mrs. Johnny Thacker was introduced as a guest. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Sept. 26 in the home of Mrs. Bennie Joe Blizard.

SPEAKER ADVISES PARENTS Your Child On Drugs? Maybe You Can Help

A sympathetic view of "The Teenager who Doesn't Get Along" was presented by the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church, when he was guest speaker Wednesday for the Child Study Club in the home of Mrs. Tom Montgomery, 807 W. 14th.

"Many times teens are not accepted as individuals by their parents, and this is one cause of teenage marriages," said the speaker. "They have not gotten the recognition they wanted as a youth and are striving for recognition as an adult by getting married."

This same lack of recognition is one reason teens turn to drugs — and any teen is a potential drug user."

Rev. Patrick said that parents need to be aware of the symptoms of drug use, noting that drugs classified as stimulants (or uppers) give the child a "don't care" attitude about his school grades and responsibilities.

"They think no one cares about them so they'll just live as they want to," continued the speaker.

He explained that a stimulant will often have an effect on the body that increases perspiration, particularly under the eyes. Some narcotics or hard drugs will dilate the pupils of the eyes, he said, and the user will often wear sun shades because the eyes are sensitive to the light.

"A drug is a reasonably pure chemical compound that is capable of producing physical or physiological changes, and drug abuse is when these drugs are used to produce these changes in body and mind where there is really no medical need for it," said Rev. Patrick.

There are several sources of referral in this community that a parent can go to if he suspects his child is on drugs, Rev. Patrick suggested that parents contact their minister; that he could suggest additional help. Also, there is an outpatient clinic at Big Spring State Hospital, where help might be obtained, as well as Firehouse No. 6, run by volunteers who offer assistance with the problem. There is also the medical doctor, Rev. Patrick noted that sometimes there may be a deficiency in the chemical makeup of a person's body that causes a desire or need for drugs. In such a case, this might be discovered during a physical examination by a medical doctor.

"There are some things that parents can do which might help children stay away from drugs," said Rev. Patrick. "Set an example, for children are quick to see hypocrisy; teach children that they don't need drugs to solve problems they come in contact with every day; matter what the subject; know what your children are doing and who are their friends; and keep track of drugs that are in your medicine cabinet."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. A. Riley, program chairman. The business session was conducted by Mrs. David Elrod, president, who announced that this is the 35th anniversary month for the local club.

A letter of appreciation was read from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for the club's gift of a knob cylinder block used for developing hand and eye coordination.

Mrs. Montgomery was elected treasurer. Cohostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Don Grantham and Mrs. Howard Stevens, with guests being Mrs. Phil Adams, Mrs. Ralph Williams, Mrs. Howard Carleton and Mrs. Dan Shockey.

The Oct. 11 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Julian Patterson, 2201 Cecilia. At that time, club members are to bring gifts which will be presented to Big Spring State Hospital for distribution at Christmas.

Before You Buy

An Information Service For Consumers BY MARGARET DANA

The title for this week's column ought to be: "Promises That Aren't Kept." Probably every man and woman, of every age and income, could make a list of things they have bought which failed to keep the literal or implied promise made as to what it would do.

Here are some of the items people write me about, which should be signals for everyone to watch those "promises," even the small, insignificant ones. By being alert, informed and good managers of money, we can as consumers lift the standards, for reasonable performance of those promises we meet almost daily in our buying. You don't need to be one of these infantile critics of everything made and of all industry to be smart enough to ask the right questions and insist on getting good answers — or not buying.

Take raincoats, for instance. A friend of mine tells a story of getting caught in the rain on the way to catch his commuting train home and dashing into a department store he was passing to buy a raincoat. He was soaked through, raincoat and all, when he reached the station. So he skipped his train to come back and lay his vigorous complaint before the clerk from whom he had bought the raincoat.

MISLEADING LABELS
The answer? The clerk said, perfectly correctly. "But sir, you bought a coat that was meant to be SHOWER-RESISTANT, and you wore it in a POURING RAIN." Was the store to blame? No, except that too many retailers are not realistically aware of what their customers believe are the promises implied by a label or name. It is entirely true that there are different levels of water resistance for fabrics, and a coat which keeps out a light shower won't keep out heavy rain. So watch it — do you want a shower coat or a rain coat? Then there are swim suits not really made to swim in. Consumers write to complain about swim suits which lose color as soon as they get into the water, or stretch or shrink so much they can never be used again for swimming. Many retail clerks have instructions from swim suit manufacturers to say they do not guarantee their suits.

Why? Partly because today's swimming pools in many backyards use a chlorine mix to purify the water. And many dyes just don't take to chlorine. Or the suit was made more for "sunbathing" than swimming — and the knit fabric either shrinks or stretches badly in contact with any kind of water. What can you do about it? Read your labels carefully BEFORE you buy a suit. Some manufacturers DO make their suits for swimming.

Another frequent and growing complaint is about our "easy-open" packages. They aren't. Irritated consumers often wonder about what kind of people those tricky packages were tested on before being sold. But don't just accept this resignedly. Speak up.

A recent series of complaints have been coming in regarding the little handy suction-cup type of hooks being sold for use in kitchen or bathroom. They seem like the perfect answer to hanging things where you need them, without hammering in hooks. The trouble is, say the letter-writers, the suction doesn't work. The hooks slide, twist, come off. Soap dishes on suction cups slip down into basin or sink. The promise on the label is not being kept.

REALLY WASHABLE?
Then there are the many thousands of consumers fuming because they feel the advertising of many detergents makes great promises — all too often not kept. And the complaints still come in that garments labeled "washable" just are not — that is, if you wash a garment to get the soil out. Many durable press finishes seem to be guilty of this failure to release soil.

PWP Told How To Cope With Child's Hostility

Chaplain Lee Butler of the Big Spring State Hospital was guest speaker at the Wednesday meeting of Parents Without Partners.

A general group discussion was held relating to problems of hostility and resentments felt by siblings as result of parental discipline, home breakup or feelings of abandonment. Chaplain Butler stressed that self-acceptance and respect is a key factor to conformity and a acceptable behaviour and ventilation of feelings is known to be excellent therapy when it is possible to obtain the cooperation of the youngster.

A discussion was also held concerning one's ability to accept the facts of a situation that one cannot change and reconstructing life and developing new relationships.

Big Spring Baptist Leader Takes Part In Area Meet

By MARJ CARPENTER

Baptist Sunday School leaders and laity are expected to converge on Midland Sept. 21 for "People-to-People" Sunday School conferences sponsored by the Sunday School Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Host church for the conference is First Baptist Church with sessions at 10-12 noon, 1:30-4:30 p.m. and 7-9:15 p.m.

Major speakers for the general program are T. A. Patterson, executive secretary of the Texas Baptist Executive Board; James Harris, pastor of University Baptist Church, Fort Worth; and Charles McLaughlin, secretary of the Texas Baptist State Missions Commission.

Each conference will cover information pertinent to general Sunday School officers, adults, young adults, youth, children, preschool and Spanish-speaking.

Others are Shelby Baucum, minister of education, First Baptist Church, Plainview; Mrs. Jo Bevington, preschool director, First Baptist Church, Lubbock; Mrs. Ed Browning, children's worker, First Baptist Church, Duncanville; Ed Browning, consultant, BGCT Sunday School Division; Pete Forderhase, BGCT, Dallas; Mary Elizabeth Headland, preschool co-ordinator, Broadway Baptist Church, Ft. Worth; John McLaughlin, consultant, BGCT Sunday School Division, Dallas; Tom Newsome, director, Dept. of Religious Life, Texas Baptist Children's Home, Round Rock; Richard Sims, consultant, BGCT Sunday School Division, Dallas; and Bess Wright, Broadway Baptist Church, Ft. Worth.

The People-to-people approach will emphasize five basic actions — make a commitment to reach people, go find people, prepare for people, witness to people, and involve new people.

ST. PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH'S Board of Education has been making plans for a Youth Sunday on Sept. 24. Arrangements are under way to have an outdoor service at the Commanche Trail Park Amphitheater at 10 a.m. combining the Worship Service and Sunday School usually held at 10:30 and 9:30 a.m., respectively.

The theme for the day will be centered around the youth of the church. Special singing will be provided by the Lutheran Youth Fellowship of St. Paul and the Lamesa Lutheran Youth Fellowship at the Sunday School.

The Rev. Carroll Kohl, pastor of St. Paul, will be in charge of the service. Special awards will be made during the service. Everyone is invited to attend this outdoor service Sept. 24. It will be informal in nature and informal dress will be encouraged. A potluck picnic will follow with games for the children in the afternoon.

Members of the educational board of the church include Mrs. Leroy Budke, chairman, William Davis and Mrs. Roy Southard.

FIRST CHURCH OF GOD WMU met Monday at the church sanctuary with 14 members and one guest attending for the opening of the fall study on Faith and Justice. The opening study was on Look at Your Neighbor, directing attention to the Latin Americans who make up 17 percent of the Big Spring population. It was also pointed out that Spanish is the second most used language in the United States.

Mrs. Truett Thomas, educational director, was in charge of the program, presenting an over-all view of the Spanish American missionary work.

Mrs. Rosalia Billalba presented an informal discussion of her life in the United States. Mrs. Edwin Beasley, spiritual life director, pointed out that mission prayer partners were available and presented the devotional opening with a poem called Brotherhood and using the scripture from I John 4:16-21.

The group was urged to eye involvement, concern and action

DAVID STOCKWELL

Star Athlete Speaker Here

David Stockwell, a recent graduate of Rice University, will be speaking in the College Baptist Church Sept. 24-27. David majored in behavioral science in college and was a three-year letterman as an offensive guard for the Owls.

He was also president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He is now a student at Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth, and a Southern Baptist evangelist.

In high school, David was an All-State football player at Glen Oaks High School in Baton Rouge, where he graduated second in his class.

As a recent student at Rice University, one of America's most revolutionary campuses, David is really "in" to what's happening with students. "David has now spoken to more students than any other student in America" according to the Daily Reveille, the student newspaper at Louisiana State University.

The pastor of College Baptist Church states "Don't miss the chance to hear him tell how his life was changed by a friend he met. He takes a drastic stand, but America needs a change to stay alive. He has been called by writers in newspapers in many places as one of the most revolutionary speakers on the college campuses today. The revolution he speaks of is love and peace, through the Prince of Peace, the greatest Revolutionary who ever lived, according to church officials here.

David, called by many "the most dynamic student leader in America" will be speaking at College Baptist Church, Sept. 24-27. Services on Sunday are at 10:55 a.m. and 6:55 p.m. Monday through Wednesday evening, the services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Ann-Margret Fights Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A year ago, Ann-Margret was undergoing the effects of a show business career that had suddenly turned hot.

"I've been feeling so much tension, such pressure," the Swedish-born entertainer said. "It's a definite signal. I'll work through the year because I've got commitments. Then I'll quit show business. At least for a year. Maybe forever."

Now, at 31, Ann-Margret may be forced to end her career.

On Sunday night she fell 22 feet from a scaffolding on which she was to make her entrance at a Lake Tahoe hotel-casino.

She suffered five facial fractures, a broken jaw and a broken left arm. She underwent facial surgery Wednesday at UCLA Medical Center.

Her doctor said the operation was a success. He predicted complete recovery, but he said he didn't know how long it would take.

The accident threatened a colorful career marked by early triumph, a downhill slide, then peak achievement with an Oscar nomination for a sex-charged role in "Carnal Knowledge."

'White Mouth'

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My grandson, six weeks old, has suffered with a condition known as thrush or "white mouth" since birth. The doctor recommended a purple medicine which doesn't seem effective.

Can you tell me the cause of thrush, and if there is a more effective remedy? — Mrs. C.F.T.

Thrush is a mouth infection caused by a fungus, and it is not uncommon. The fungus is everywhere, and can occur in the cleanest of nurseries — although these days the ailment is reported to be decreasing in frequency.

Careful cleansing of the mother's breasts can help if the baby's breast-fed; bottle nipples should be cleaned as carefully in the case of bottle babies.

The "purple medicine" without question was a solution of gentian violet, which is the standard treatment for thrush and usually is effective within a few days. Thrush can recur, requiring repetition of the treatment.

In a case continuing for six weeks, one might suspect that a secondary infection is involved, and antibiotic treatment might be necessary if the secondary infection is of a bacterial nature.

Thrush is an ailment which affects the newborn or infants in the immediately following period; it must be assumed that in some cases the infection is acquired as baby moves through the birth canal.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A doctor in Colorado told me that sinus trouble and all types of headaches were caused by an allergy. What is your opinion on that? And please send your booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble," for which I enclose 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. — Mrs. C.R.S.

If the doctor said that SOME headaches and SOME cases of sinus trouble were caused by allergies, he'd have been entirely right. Are you sure that is the way he worded it?

Specifically, allergy can be extremely important to sinus sufferers, causing swelling of the tissues, irritation, heavy flow of mucus, and in such cases it is relatively fruitless to try other kinds of treatment rather than attacking the allergy.

Desensitization treatments can help; so can judicious use of antihistamines; but the real key to the problem in such cases is to find out what things touch off the allergies, and then make every effort to stay away from them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am curious what might happen. Black people have a disease, sickle cell anemia. Now when there is a biracial child, what could come of this? — E.J.B.

Well, sickle cell anemia is by far more prevalent in black people, but it is not confined just to them. Furthermore, not all blacks carry the sickle cell trait.

Keep in mind that carrying the trait is not the same thing as having the disease; the trait can (but not always will) be passed on if one parent carries the trait. When BOTH parents carry the trait, then children can (but not always will) have the disease.

To answer your question as best I can: there would be one chance in four of a child inheriting the trait if one parent carried it.

If eventually the child with the trait married another person with the trait, there would be a possibility of offspring with the disease.

Sickle cell anemia is not totally dependent on color, you see, even though, for whatever historical reasons, it is primarily a disease of blacks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 64, have high blood pressure, am not overweight but am very nervous. I have been told by a few people that the pills I am taking will make me go out of my mind. The medication is a tranquilizer, and I take one to three pills a day as needed, but don't always need three. I would appreciate what you have to say about it. — Mrs. T.A.

You're in a lot more danger of "going out of your mind" by listening to those crepe-hanging friends, because tranquilizers certainly will not do so.

Your nervousness contributes to your high blood pressure, so those "friends" are doing you no good, and may be doing you some harm by making you more nervous than you are.

Note to Mrs. McG.: Yes there are medications used for high cholesterol. Clofibrate brings some reduction, varying from patient to patient. A form of thyroid is used in many cases. But it is essential to follow a low-fat, low calorie diet, too.

Carlsbad Man Big Winner

DENVER, Colo. — Cowboys covered the continent competing in four major rodeos ending over the weekend, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Richest payoff Sunday was at Madison Square Garden in New York City, where winners collected $22,980. Paul Petska, Carlsbad, N.M., emerged the big winner, taking first in calf roping for $1,719. Petska's wife also won $971 in barrel racing.

Pace Merrill, 1968 national high school all around champion cowboy from Baraboo, Wis., was named all around cowboy at the Garden for winning $1,675 in bareback and bull riding.

Cowboys were also in Fort Madison, Iowa, for the 25th annual Tri-State rodeo, which paid winners $13,913. Reigning world champion all around cowboy Phil Lyne, George West, Tex., won $727 there in bull riding and calf roping, boosting his season's winnings to $46,849.

Event leaders include: All-around — Lyne $46,849, and Larry Mahan, Salem, Ore., $30,518; saddle bronc riding — Mel Hyland, Surrey, B. C. $21,934, and J. C. Bonine, N.Y. $20,496; bareback bronc — Joe Alexander, Cora, Wyo., $26,177, and Rusty Riddle, Mineral Wells, $18,350; bull riding — John Quintana, Eugene, Ore., $21,016, and Larry Mahan $16,353; Phil Lyne, George West, $24,700, and Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla., $21,848; steer wrestling — Roy Duball, Warner, Okla., $20,967, and Tom Elliott, Peyton, Colo., $16,253; GRA barrel racing — Jeana Day, Woodward, Okla., $10,106, and Gail Petska, Norman, Okla., $8,706 (and eighth, Terry Himes, Big Spring, Tex., $4,591).

UH Campaign Goal Exceeded

HOUSTON (AP) — The 1972 University of Houston Foundation Excellence Campaign has exceeded its goal.

As the 1972 campaign officially closed Aug. 31, gifts to the university totaled $1,614,248, an amount representing a 7.9 per cent increase over the 1971 goal of $1,496,200, Robert W. Kneebone, general campaign chairman, said.

Conducted by the University of Houston Foundation, the annual Excellence Campaign was initiated in 1960 to enable the university to accelerate its continuing program devoted to raise academic standards.

Airlines Biz Boom Expected

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration head John H. Shaffer says the number of passengers carried by the nation's airlines is expected to increase 400 per cent by 1985.

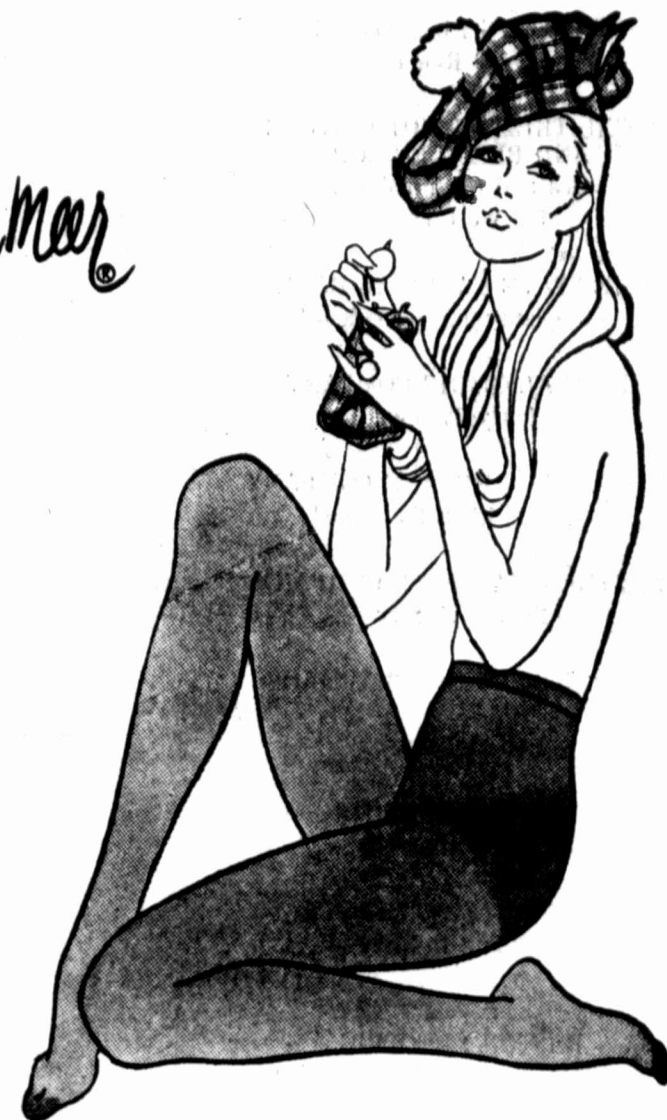

However, he said the big problem is coping with the increase on the ground.

Shaffer, addressing a Houston Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, said the number of passengers is expected to jump to 800 million annually in 13 years. The airlines carried 173 million in 1971.

He said the development of wide body jets has put the airlines in a good position to handle rapidly increasing passenger demands but airports and ground transportation face a critical challenge in coping with the growth.

"The biggest problem will be getting them (passengers) to and from airports," he said.

Steer Head Coach Clovis Hale described this week's workouts as good. He singled out Wednesday's practice session as particularly good. "The players have picked up everything we wanted," said Hale.

The Steers go into tonight's contest with a number of starters on the doubtful list. Fullback-linebacker Dick Conley suffered a shoulder separation against Monterey last week and will probably see no action for the Steers tonight. "We could strap him up and he could get into the game," said Hale, "however, we don't plan on doing that at all." Ricky Steen, a 180-pound senior, will take Conley's fullback spot and Gilbert Pesina, a 175-pounder, will operate at Conley's right linebacker position.

Running back Earl Reynolds is still suffering from an injured shoulder and will see little or no action against Hobbs. Hale said that Reynolds was "banged up" in the Monterey game and that J. T. Smith, a 170-pounder, will start at running back tonight.

Mark Risetter, a starter at right tackle on the offensive unit, will see action both ways tonight as he has been tabbed to fill the right tackle spot on defense in place of Vicky

Woodruff. Woodruff entered the hospital Monday night following an appendix flareup. He did not practice either Tuesday or Wednesday and Hale said that Risetter will start in Woodruff's place if Woodruff is not ready to start.

D. W. Powell will be at left defensive tackle in place of Mike Parker tonight. Parker suffered a badly sprained ankle in the Monterey game and did not practice this week. However, Hale did say that Parker will probably see action against the Eagles.

Don Weeks will be at rover in place of Barry Truette. Truette suffered from dehydration and missed the second half of the Monterey game and the practice sessions this week. He is expected to play against Hobbs although he will not start the contest.

Hobbs boasts a very quick offensive unit. Quarterback Kenny Walker is considered a very good field-general. He is strong on the sprint-out pass and runs the bootleg very well.

Fullback Matthew Savage, at 171 pounds, is smaller than most AAAA high school fullbacks; however, he is extremely quick and explosive. He is also a good blocker.

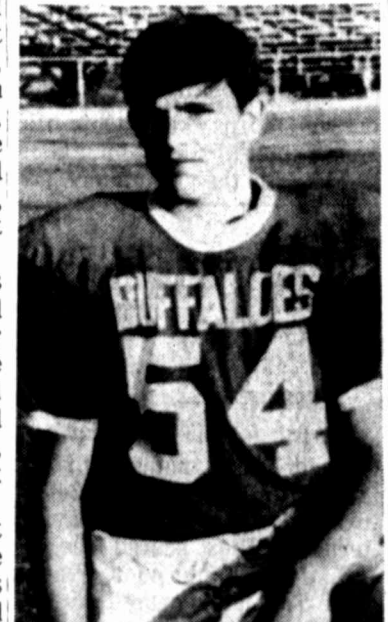

Wingback Vernon Patterson is the fastest man in the Eagle backfield. He recorded a 9.6 in the 100-yard dash in the New Mexico state track meet this spring. He had a 71-yard touchdown run against Albuquerque last week. He will see duty at tailback also when Hart Hornback is at wingback. Hornback is primarily for his blocking ability.

The outstanding defensive unit features John Stanfield, a 212-pound blue-clip prospect, at left tackle. Stanfield is strong and quick and displays outstanding pursuit. Scouts say that Stanfield is always near the football.

Another outstanding defender is noseguard Bobby Kelley, a 191-pounder. Kelley has great quickness and agility. He has exceptional lateral pursuit and is a good tackler.

The City Golf Course will hold an association tournament on Sunday, according to Charles Brantley, club pro.

The Louisiana Draw will have a shotgun start at 1:30 p.m. Entry fee is $2. All association members are urged to enter this tournament, according to Brantley. He reminded members that there is only one more after this one to total four tournaments to be eligible for the grand association tournament.

J. T. SMITH — J. T. Smith will be the starting running back for Big Spring tonight in the home opener for the Steers. Smith is a 170-pound senior.

SCOTT CARLILE — Scott Carlile will be a defensive end for the Big Spring Steers against Hobbs, N.M., tonight. Carlile was an outstanding defensive performer for the Steers in last week's game against Lubbock Monterey.

Predictions

By DON COOPER
Herald Sports Editor

My debut into West Texas football predictions was not impressive. In last weekend's grid confrontations, I hit on 15 while missing 10. That's not respectable. Maybe this week, I'll be a little better.

There were a few upsets in football last weekend. The major upset was the Southern Cal romp over Arkansas before a record-breaking crowd in Little Rock. Stanton upset Tahoka and Sonora upset Coahoma in area high school games.

Here's a look at some of the games this weekend:
BIG SPRING-HOBBS: The Steers' defensive unit jelled during the second half of Saturday's 20-14 loss to Monterey. The defense had been the nagging headache for Clovis Hale; however, the Steer defenders grew stronger and more confident as last week's game progressed. They will have their work cut out for them this week; but I think they're ready to handle Hobbs. Big Spring, 17-14.

COLORADO CITY-COAHOMA: The Bulldogs lost a heartbreaker to Sonora last Friday. They may still be down. Look for the Wolves to take advantage of Coahoma let-downs. Colorado City, 20-14.

STANTON-O'DONNELL: The Buffaloes got their season off to a winning start with the surprising win over Tahoka. The Stanton offense can reach the end zone either through the air (split end Paul McAlister) or on the ground (halfback Dwayne McMeans). The Buffaloes also unveiled a strong defensive performer in lineman Ronnie Dickinson, a sophomore. Stanton, 21-7.

ODESSA-ANDREWS: Odessa may be stronger than anyone suspected; and Andrews is apparently considerably weaker than anyone imagined. Odessa, 14-0.

MIDLAND-LEE-SNYDER: Lyons and Company rack up another win. Lee, 21-6.

ABILENE COOPER-FW SOUTHWEST: Abilene Cooper just seems to devour non-district opponents and this week's foe is not one of Fort Worth's top teams. Cooper, 28-13.

BAYLOR-GEORGIA: The Bulldogs will be far too much for the Bears to handle. Georgia, 35-10.

TEXAS A&M-NEBRASKA: Emory Bellard's Wishbone will be snapped by the irate Cornhuskers this weekend. Nebraska, 35-14.

TEXAS TECH-UTAH: The Red Raiders should win handily. Tech, 21-10.

SMU-WAKE FOREST: At one time, Wake Forest was an Atlantic Coast powerhouse; however, those days are long gone. SMU, 21-7.

DALLAS-PHILADELPHIA: The "Cowboys" — with or without Roger Staubach — are far superior to the Eagles. Dallas, 30-17.

KANSAS CITY-MIAMI: This one will not be a replay of the 27-24 "longest" game. Stenerud will come through for the Chiefs this time. Kansas City 24, Miami 17.

Other games:
 Roscoe, 14, Forsan 13; Three Way 28, Garden City 20; Borden County 35, Dawson 17; Abilene 17, Cleburne 14; Ysleta 21, Midland 14; Permian 42, FW Western Hills 17; San Angelo 28, Grand Prairie 14; Houston 24, Denver 21; Los Angeles 17, New Orleans 10; San Diego 27, San Francisco 24; Atlanta 24, Chicago 10.

Forsan Buffs Host Plowboys

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes will host the Roscoe Plowboys at 8 p.m. Forsan goes into tonight's clash with a 1-0 record. Last Thursday the Buffs defeated Stanton "B" 32-14, behind the passcatching of Ridy Holguin and the running of Robert Wash.

Roscoe has 13 starters back this season from last year's 5-5 Class A ballteam. The offensive backfield is returns intact. Jarvis Haynes is at quarterback with Rob Drake and Grady Miles at halfbacks and Kenny Head at fullback.

Returning to head the offensive line is 1971 All-District tackle Tim Ince. Ince is a 190-pound senior. Johnny Bowen at center and Kenny Zimmerman at tackle are also veteran performers.

Returning starters on defense include seniors Larry Ratliff at end and Phil Strother at linebacker.

Forsan will be out to avenge last year's 7-0 loss to the Plowboys.

Head Coach Jack Woodley has tabbed Mike Murphy to operate at quarterback for Forsan tonight. Joining Murphy in the backfield are halfback Tommy Brumley and fullback Robert Wash. Wash was the leading rusher for the Buffs in last week's win.

Murphy will have able targets for his passes in flanker David

Moreno; tight end Rudy Holguin and split end Bob Highley. Holguin grabbed two touchdowns passes and Moreno pulled in one scoring strike against Stanton.

Kennel Club Sets Match

The Big Spring Kennel Club will hold a B-OB match Sunday, Sept. 17 in Birdwell Park.

All pure bred dogs three months and older are eligible to enter, according to club officials.

Entries will begin at 12 noon with judging starting at 1:30 p.m.

Entry fees are $1 per entry. The public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be available.

CARRY 1-0 MARK INTO TILT Stanton Buffaloes Invade O'Donnell

CRAIG BROWN — Craig Brown will be one of the starting linebacks for the Big Spring Steers against the Hobbs Eagles in tonight's home opener for Big Spring. Brown is a 205-pound senior.

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes, fresh off a 13-7 upset win over Tahoka, invade O'Donnell as "very good" Young said. "The kids are ready to play. I told them that if they had real good workouts and promised to put out as much effort as they did last week, I could sleep a whole lot better; and they assured me I could sleep well."

Young said that O'Donnell is a "big, strong team that could easily run away with the game if they get the opportunity."

The Eagles have a veteran defensive unit. All-District lineman Mike Rodriguez, a 200-pounder, heads the defenders. Joining Rodriguez in the line are third-year starter Ronnie Cosarez at one end with veteran Melton Williams at the other end spot.

A trio of All-District juniors are on the offensive unit. They are Scotty Thompson at tackle and Odell Hunter and Walter Brown in the backfield. Hunter rushed for 1,808 yards and scored 80 points in 1971.

The only change in Stanton's lineup from last week is at safety where Armando Rios, a 135-pound senior, replaces Rick Wilson. Rios is taking over Wilson's defensive duties so that Wilson can devote all his time to quarterback and be a little better rested, according to Young.

Wilson will be calling signals with Dwayne McMeans and Mitchell Irving at halfbacks and Larry Jones at fullback.

The targets for Wilson's aerials will be split end Paul McAlister and tight end Ray Conner. Wilson completed five of ten passes against Tahoka. McAlister pulled down four of the five for 111 yards for a phenomenal 27.8 average gain per catch.

Borden County Meets Dawson

GAIL — The Borden County Coyotes host Dawson at 8 p.m. tonight in eight-man grid warfare. Both teams come into the game with 1-0 marks. Borden County romped to a 42-0 win over Wellman last week while Dawson was defeating Whitarral.

Starting in the offensive line for Borden County will be ends Roy Don Henly and Steve Lockhart, guards Roby Rios and Audrey Brummett and center Joe Hancock.

In the Coyote backfield will be quarterback Randy Crittington and halfbacks Randy Hensley and Garland Williams.

'Magic' Number For Bucs Is Three

By The Associated Press

Now that the Pittsburgh Pirates are 15 games ahead of the pack, Roberto Clemente will go out on a limb.

Yes, he thinks his team will win the National League East. "I think we'll clinch first," said Clemente after socking two hits to lead the Pirates over the runner-up Chicago Cubs 5-2 Thursday. "If we don't do it in St. Louis, I think we'll do it in New York."

It's a good bet that the runaway Pirates will win their third straight division pennant in one of those two cities within the next week or so. Any combination of Pittsburgh victories or Chicago losses totaling three will secure the title.

While the Pirates roared toward another pennant by slashing their "magic" number to three, Clemente himself zeroed in on a personal magic number—the 3,000 career hit level.

Clemente collected eight hits as the Pirates swept a three-game series from their closest competitors and now is 14 shy of the 3,000-hit plateau.

In Thursday's other National League games, the Houston Astros defeated the San Diego Padres 10-6 and the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Montreal Expos 6-2.

Only two games were played in the American League Thursday night. The Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Cleveland Indians 4-3 in 15 innings and the California Angels beat the Texas Rangers 4-0.

The AL East race picks up steam again tonight after a day of rest. New York and Baltimore, tied for third place 1 1/2 games off the pace, start a three-game series in Yankee Stadium while the first-place Boston Red Sox host the Cleveland Indians and the second-place Detroit Tigers, one game behind, visit Milwaukee.

Winning Pirate pitcher Bob Moose gave up only three hits before being literally knocked out of the box. Moose left the game in the seventh inning when Jose Cardenal ripped a single off the pitcher's right hand. Ramon Hernandez finished for the Pirates.

The Astros kept their flickering hopes alive in the NL West with their triumph Thursday.

Sands Edges Lorraine, 12-6

ACKERLY — Halfback Joe Rios ran for one touchdown and passed for another to lead Sands Jr. High to a 12-6 win over Lorraine Thursday afternoon. Rios scored the first TD of the game on a five-yard run. The later passed 25 yards to Martin Nichols for a score to provide the winning margin.

Singled out for outstanding defensive performances were Jackie McDonald, Sammy Anderson, Stan Blagraves, Ronnie Kenemer, Stan Feaster and Darryl Whitt.

Wright Two-Times Hapless Rangers

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The Texas Rangers were two-timed by California's Clyde Wright Thursday night.

Wright collected two hits himself and allowed the Rangers only two of their own as he dispatched the Texans 4-0 for his 16th victory.

Wright doubled and singled and drove in two Angel runs as he enjoyed a perfect 2-for-2 night at the plate, raising his batting average to .217 and his RBI total to 13.

It was also a milestone night for Wright. The triumph was his 74th as an Angel, tying him with Dean Chance for the career high.

With four starts left this season, Wright has an outside shot at his second 20-victory season. But he says that's not his objective.

"Naturally, I'd like to win 20 again, but what I'd really like to do is win 200 games before I retire," he said. "That's a figure that has been at the back of my mind."

Wright also was appearing in his 234th game, the most ever by an Angels pitcher.

"The only thing that statistic does for me is make me feel old," he commented.

Wright needed only 89 pitches to subdue the Rangers.

"I can't ever remember throwing as few pitches," he said.

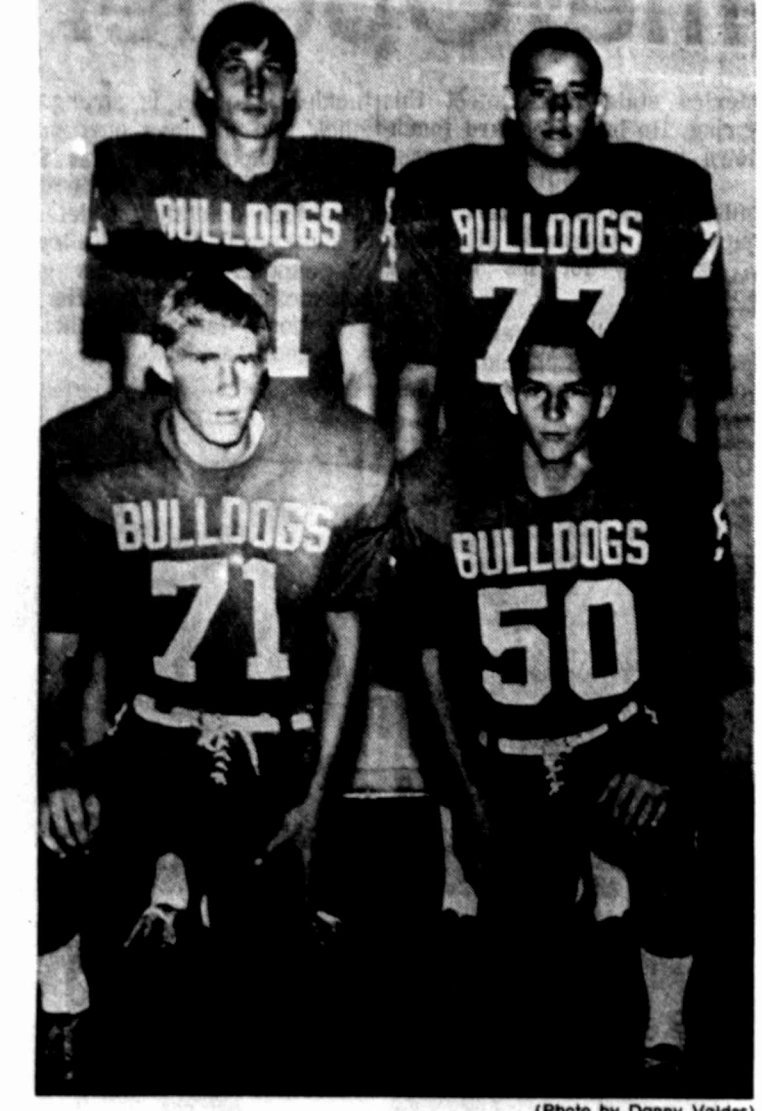

Wright had a no-hitter until Joe Lovitto singled with one out in the sixth. The only other Texas hit was a bloop single to right by Ted Ford leading off the ninth.

In addition to driving in two runs with a bases-loaded, two-out double off loser Mike Paul (7-7), in the fourth inning, Wright had a hand in the first Angel run.

He followed Art Kusnyer's third inning single with a sacrifice. This put Kusnyer in position to score on a single by Sandy Alomar.

California scored its final run in the fifth on a walk to Ken Berry, followed by Doug Howard's single and Bob Oliver's sacrifice fly.

BULLDOG LINEMEN — These Coahoma Bulldog linemen will probably see duty tonight when Coahoma hosts Colorado City. They are Danny White (61), Robbie Tindol (77), Frank Coats (71) and James Teeler (50).

Wolves Invade Bulldog Stadium

COAHOMA — Roland Beal will direct the Wishbone offense tonight when the Coahoma Bulldogs play host to the Colorado City Wolves. Kickoff for the game is set at 8 p.m.

Coahoma, which lost a 21-20 thriller to Sonora last week, would like to get back on the winning track against the AAA Wolves. The Bulldogs downed Colorado City, 24-0, in last year's contest.

Both teams come into tonight's contest with 0-1 marks. Colorado City was defeated by Monahans last Friday.

The Wolves are relatively inexperienced as only six lettermen from last year's 2-7-1 team. Gaping holes were left in the offensive backfield and defensive line. The only veterans on the offensive unit were end Jerry Boyd, a 185-pounder; tackle Gene Hunt, a 200-pounder, and guard John Ridge, a 165-pounder.

The only two experienced performers on the defensive unit were linebacker Tim Stansel, 200, and halfback Melvin Jackson, 160.

The Bulldogs will feature the running of Beal, Tim Tindol, Freddie Franklin and Eddie Padron in their offensive attack.

'OPERATION BOUNCEBACK'

'Huskers Meet Ags

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska's defending national football champions, upset by UCLA last week, will attempt to launch Operation Bounceback against Texas A&M Saturday before the largest crowd ever to view a game in Lincoln.

Expansion this summer added 9,400 seats to Memorial Stadium, boosting capacity to 76,400, and a full house is promised for the 2:30 p.m. EDT home field opener for the Cornhuskers.

The Aggies, with a new head coach in Emory Bellard and a new offense in the wishbone formation, come off a 36-13 win over Wichita State. That gives Bellard, previous an assistant at Texas, a 1-0-0 career record as head man.

Nebraska took its lumps 20-17 from UCLA, the first defeat in 33 outings and the first setback since Southern California tied the Huskers 24 games ago. That put Coach Bob Devaney's career record at 127-29-6, still the best in the nation among active major college coaches.

Revising team spirit after a wing string has ended can be a problem, Devaney admits, but says he believes his team "will come back and go on to have a good football season."

But he's not sure that A&M won't show up with as strong a team as UCLA—"they may even be better." He believes Bellard kept his game "under wraps" against Wichita State and quotes a pro scout as suggesting the Aggies this year are the best in the Southwest Conference.

Nebraska pummeled the Aggies 34-7 last year but drew on long bombs and the big play to counter a tough A&M defense.

Running A&M's wishbone, a formation which bellard learned fashion while at Texas, will be senior quarterback Lex James who is said by his coach to have "the quick feet, quick hands and quick mind it takes to run the wishbone."

Devaney will go again with sophomore David Humm at quarterback. The lefthander touted as one of the best prospects to come along in years competed eight of 21 passes for 146 yards and one touchdown against UCLA, but had two passes intercepted.

SECOND BASE BREAK — San Diego Padres' center fielder Clarence Gaston makes Houston Astros' shortstop Roger Metzger take to the air as he tried for the double play. Gaston was forced at second when teammate Randy Elliott grounded to second in the third inning Thursday night at the Houston Astrodome. Metzger's throw was late for the double play. Houston took the game, 10-6.

CULVER PICKS UP WIN IN RELIEF Astros Rally To Dump Padres, 10-6

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astro relief pitchers are quick to defend the bullpen crew.

"They could have a point after Thursday night's action in which the Astros defeated San Diego 10-6, after spotting the Padres an early 5-0 lead.

George Culver was the winner in relief after working the final six innings.

Jim York was the pitcher of record when the Astros rallied for six runs in the last of the third but Culver was credited with the victory.

"The last two nights prove our bullpen hasn't taken the gas," said York. I can't agree with scorer's decision. George deserves the win. He did the job, right?"

Culver said he would have been happy with just a save.

"As long as we keep it in the family, I don't mind," he said. "I don't think our bullpen has embarrassed anyone the second half."

The Padres raced to a 5-0 lead in the third with Leron Lee knocking in three runs with a bases-loaded double off Houston starter Jerry Reuss. Nate Colbert also knocked in a run in the inning and scored on a force play. Houston went ahead in its half of the inning with six runs. Tommy Helms and pinchhitter Rich Chiles each had two-run singles and Lee May and John Edwards knocked in one.

Houston scored three more in the fourth on Edwards' double. Doug Rader's single and Helms' sacrifice fly.

In addition to his three-run double, Lee hits his 11th home run in the seventh to complete a two-hit, four RBI night. Norm Miller slammed a homer off San Diego reliever Al Severinsen in the sixth.

Houston picked up a half game on idle Cincinnati in the National League West race and trail the Reds by seven games.

Foreign Tongue Of Money

For a long, long while, political unity in Europe has been the dream of a few visionaries. With the advent of the Common Market, something of a framework for that union of Western European states was erected. And now there are signs of continuing unsettled monetary conditions which may push the idea forward again.

As the nations of the West prepare for the International Monetary Fund meeting at the end of this month, the idea of European monetary union is receiving new attention. The dollar and its relation to gold — and other world currencies — still nags at international economists. The conference coming up will wrestle with that problem once again, and hopes to draft a plan for dealing with any future international runs on the dollar.

But in the wings is the question of European monetary unity. That would mean locking the currencies of Europe rigidly together, maintaining a constant value relationship. Meanwhile, the European currency bloc could "float" on the world market, seeking its own level in relation to the dollar, the yen or other currencies.

The idea has much attractiveness for the Europeans; it could give them a stability not achievable now and would inevitably lead in time to a common currency. Such a European currency would meld the economic resources of the continent behind it, giving it tremendous strength.

It could even revive pressure for Atlantic union, involving the United States and Western Europe in a "superstate" federation with both economic and political ties.

Such are the possible consequences when the world's money-men gather to speak their language of monetary rights, foreign exchange, convertibility of currency and paper gold which falls on mostly uncomprehending ears among the rest of us.

Matter Of Employment

It's said no one can be all things to all men. But with statistics, it's different. One man's set of gloomy figures is another's basis for optimism. It's all in the reading, and in who is doing the interpreting.

Take the latest employment-unemployment figures. On the positive side, the administration can point to an increase in the nation's employment by 300,000 workers, to a total of 83.5 million. But digging a little deeper, you discover almost all the increase in August jobs was represented by women working part time. That hardly amounts to a dramatic easing of our employment-unemployment problems, nor is it of much concrete help to the economy. On the contrary, it may mean that more and more Americans are finding it impossible to live with rising prices, and so housewives are being forced to seek part-time jobs to help balance the family budget.

And then there is the obviously negative side. While total employment is up, the unemployment rate is up too — from 5.5 per cent to 5.6 per cent. That's not much of an increase, but it shows that efforts against unemployment are not meeting with great success.

Bureaucratic Solution

Around The Rim

Charles Teague

With the problem of unemployment so obviously detrimental to the economy and future of the nation, it would seem that the great brains and genius of our federal bureaucracy could come up with a successful solution to the problem.

EVEN IF NO new ideas could be developed, surely some of the workable solutions to old problems could be slightly modified to fit the unemployment situation.

For instance, a Brazilian friend of mine just this week suggested that we attack the unemployment situation in the same way we protected the cotton markets.

It seems that the cotton farmers got greedy about the nice demand for cotton products and began over-producing which threatened the price of cotton. Uncle Sam in his usual protective, father-like demeanor stepped in with a neat solution which was logical only in the mind of a brilliant bureaucrat.

"We'll pay them not to plant," says Uncle Sam.

(Now we see that McGovern's idea of a guaranteed income is not such a new idea at all.)

BUT, IN TURNING attention to the matter at hand, unemployment, we realize, by analogy with the cotton situation, that unemployment is the result of a greedy work force.

Middle Americans are flooding the work market with their labors, working overtime, assuming part-time jobs, starting evening businesses — just any sort of activity which is productive.

Their effort is honorable — to pay high unemployment tax costs — but it has worked itself into the proverbial vicious circle: more work, more production, more unemployment, more taxes, more work . . .

Some brilliant bureaucrat will eventually come up with the idea of work allotment. "Once you've produced your allotment, we pay you not to work. With the work-allotment program, we can hire the unemployed to fill in your spot after you've worked your allotted time," says the brilliant bureaucrat, "and as a result, you don't have to pay taxes any more to give unemployment checks to the unemployed."

Bureaucrats have solutions to every problem, just wait and see.

Sleeper Issue

Marquis Childs

NEW YORK — Beneath the churning surface of the presidential campaign is a sleeper unlikely to find a place in the campaign oratory of either party. Nevertheless, it is an issue that triggers strong emotions and intense partisanship.

THE LIBERALIZATION of laws permitting abortion at the option of the woman and the doctor is at stake. The focus of the dispute is here in New York State where a liberalized law has set a pattern for other states.

That law was repealed by the legislature after a lobbying spectacular at Albany which had seldom been seen even in that capital of high-powered lobbying. The attack was led by Roman Catholics and, to a lesser degree, by other religious groups. Legislators were threatened with certain defeat if they refused to vote for the repealer, and concentration in the districts of waverers made this far from an idle threat.

GOV. NELSON Rockefeller promptly vetoed the repeal bill. In a forthright veto message he said: "I do not believe it right for one group to impose its vision of morality on an entire society. Neither is it just or practical to attempt to dictate the innermost personal beliefs and conduct of its citizens."

WIDESPREAD REPORTS have had Rockefeller coming to Washington in the second Nixon term either as Secretary of State or Defense. The governor insists these reports have no basis in fact. He would prefer to stay where he is — in the middle of his fourth term, believing his power base here gives him more leverage on national affairs than he would have in the scramble for place and position in Washington.

Moreover, the question of the state's abortion law is possibly a consideration. If Rockefeller were to resign as governor, he would be replaced by Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson. Wilson is a Catholic and a conservative, and he would almost surely sign a repeal bill.

A ROCKEFELLER study commission report faced squarely up to unrestricted population growth and its consequences, with stress on the quality of life rather than quantity. The average person will be markedly better off, the report stated, in terms of traditional economic values if population growth slows down than if it resumes the pace experienced in the recent past.

THE REPORT had scarcely been submitted last May when the President nullified the recommendation on abortion, saying "unrestricted abortion policies would demean human life." The following week, in the course of wooing Catholic voters, he sent a letter to Cardinal Cooke in New York voicing support for efforts to repeal New York's liberalized law.

Since this happened, a Gallup poll has come out showing a marked change in public opinion. According to the poll 64 per cent, and even a majority of Roman Catholics, believe that the decision to have an abortion should be left solely to the woman and her doctor.

SUBMERGED THOUGH it is in the heat of the campaign, the abortion issue is certain to be heard from again.

Credit Crunch Lesson

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The combination of a 1969-1970 credit crunch and a recession in 1971 has left many small-and medium-size businessmen much wiser in managing their assets, more sophisticated in handling their money.

That assessment was made this week by executives of Walter E. Heller & Co., a major security lender. According to Allen Kerr, senior vice president, the corporate finance officers' company contacts are now a lot sharper.

The legacy means that such businesses likely will remain more competitive and less crisis ridden when one or a combination of the same circumstances develops again, as perhaps they will.

One of the most observable effects, says Franklin A. Cole, president, is that "there isn't a treasurer worth his pay who isn't putting his money to work."

Before the combination credit squeeze-recession, a good many treasurers permitted their excess funds to lie in checking or savings accounts or certificates of deposit, Cole states. The money in the checking accounts earned no interest. Funds left in savings accounts earned interest but usually were tied up for 30 days. Funds invested in CDs at a higher interest rate might be tied up an entire year.

Cole claims that treasurers who found their assets thus unavailable to them when credit emergencies arose are now more likely to deal in the commercial paper market, where interest can be earned for as few as five and as many as 270 days.

Not only have they learned the importance of putting their money to work intensively, says Cole, but they have learned also how to make better use of their assets in borrowing.

He and Kerr claim that corporate finance officers are far more intelligent now in using their inventories and accounts receivable to secure short-term loans that otherwise wouldn't be available to them, thus providing liquidity and smoother expansion.

Such businessmen, say the Heller executives, now realize that the interest rate, rather than being the sine qua non, or essential element, of a deal, is perhaps one of the least important factors.

More important, they add — and they maintain also that treasurers of small-and medium-size companies with annual sales of $1 million to $20 million agree — is to have money when needed and in sufficient quantity for the needs.

End Of Draft

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The basic influence behind the antiwar movement throughout this country has been the opposition of millions of young men and their families to the prospect that they might be drafted into the armed forces. At last the end of the Selective Service System is in sight, and President Nixon is convinced that no conscription will be needed to fill manpower requirements after July 1973.

DRAFT CALLS were reduced from approximately 300,000 in 1968 to 50,000 in 1972. Nevertheless, because of the fact that calls still are being made, uncertainty has remained among many young men over whether they might be inducted.

Ground-combat enlistments have been running at an average of 3,000 a month since July 1972, and a defense department report says:

"This spectacular rise was achieved by offering the choice of overseas locations and unit assignments to combat-arm enlistees, by advertising these new options, and by aggressively recruiting candidates for them."

THE GROWTH of the volunteer force has been a surprise. President Nixon, in his statement on Aug. 28 on the termination of the draft system, added:

"The experience of the past three years . . . seems to show that sufficient numbers of volunteers can be attracted to the armed forces to meet peacetime manpower needs, and that ending all dependence on the draft will be consistent with maintaining the force-level and degree of readiness necessary to meet our vital long-term national security needs."

IT WAS on June 28 this year that the President declared no more drafts would be sent to Vietnam.

For families of draft-age youth, the official word from defense department reports and White House statements is that no more draftees are to be sent to Vietnam and that nobody will be drafted after July 1973, when the Selective Service System will expire.

THE ADVANTAGES of a career in the military forces are attractive to youngsters. It is possible that within the next two or three years the response to the new system will reach the point where limitations will have to be imposed. In any event, there is confidence that the draft can be considered as a thing of the past and the all-volunteer services as a substitute that is really succeeding.

ANOTHER PLEASANT aspect is the outlook for peace which seems now to be better than it has been for a long time. The belief that Red China and the Soviet Union will join with the United States to bring about a settlement of the Vietnam war as well as the Middle East problem is widely held in the capitals of Europe and Asia.

Drunken Comrades

Russia has launched a major campaign to combat drunkenness and alcoholism in an effort to reduce road accidents, increase productivity and halt crimes of violence.

Sobering-up centers are run by the militia and anyone ending up in one gets their head shaved, and is given a cold shower. In the morning the person is fined $10 before being allowed to leave.

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Curiosity kills the cat.

So an old English proverb says. It may be true, but it is also true that curiosity keeps a cat young and greatly alive.

That's why I am beginning to suspect that our family cat, Lady Dottie, may live forever.

If curiosity can guarantee immortality, she will never run out of breath.

Lady Dottie is something of a feline Cinderella. The souvenir of a midnight passion on a suburban backyard fence by parents of unknown ancestry, she came to us as a homeless stray kitten with a black dot on her nose that made her look vaguely like a comic Adolf Hitler in fur.

Now 14, black and white and large, she has the manners of an aristocrat — and thanks to an early visit to a veterinarian who made a lasting impression on her — the morals of a saint.

Last year Lady Dottie completed her freshman year at Windham College in Vermont with my other teen-ager, Tracy

Ann, a daughter. Both, following a new custom that is becoming a tradition among many college students, are staying home this semester in order to "find themselves."

Lady Dottie is completely different from the typical human teen-ager, who would rather commit hara-kiri than show emotion of any kind in the presence of an adult.

Although at 14 a cat is getting to be a senior citizen, she is almost frantically curious about everything around her, particularly anything that moves.

She will lie and lap her fur indifferently at the screaming of a siren or the ear-hurting chattering of an automatic jackhammer outside the window, but if anything within eyesight makes a fractional move, she is on it in a bound and a pounce. She will paw for half an hour at a breeze-blown window cord, spend half a day prancing around a small be-mused bug or lost wing-dragged moth.

Automatically, she assumes that anything brought into the house is a present for her. She will scratch at a parcel, trying to open it, and won't rest until she gets to inspect its contents — first, of course.

But the chief object of her curiosity is her idol in the kitchen, the refrigerator. She sniffs at it endlessly, stands up and tries to paw the door open.

She is immediately underfoot whenever I go to the refrigerator and makes incessant attempts to crawl into it. I am sure she thinks of it as a factory for cats that endlessly manufactures the things they like — liver and kidneys and fish and cheese and cream.

The big fear of my life is that sometime Lady Dottie will creep into the refrigerator unseen. I'll close the door on her accidentally, and find her there later with a happy smile on her frozen face and both paws around a large beef kidney — a cat killed by her own curiosity.

On the other hand, what a way to go!

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am 85 years old, and before I go to sleep every night I say the twenty-third Psalm. It gives me comfort, but I would like for you to explain the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th verses: "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures, he leadeth me beside the still waters — thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." Thank you. L.D.

This is called The Nightingale of the Psalms, and has probably brought more comfort and solace to people than any words ever written.

"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures," portrays the satisfaction and pleasantness of walking with God. What is more physically satisfying than reclining in a green field and resting beneath an azure sky! To live in God and to share our tensions and cares with Him is the greatest nerve and soul tonic in the world.

"He leadeth me beside the still waters" brings to mind a scene of absolute serenity. The Bible says that God is a God of peace. But that doesn't mean that the Christian never experiences turmoil. It does mean that even in the midst of the storm, God brings peace. The Christian life is somewhat like a soldier venturing forth from the shelter and protection of a fort, then coming back for repose. The Christian life is a battle against the forces of the world but "he leads us beside the still waters," so that we can be refreshed and recharged for another battle.

"He restoreth my soul" refers to the recuperative powers of God. The world pulls us away from Him, and tries to weaken our work and witness. But in Him we find restoration and new vigor and power.

"Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." The ancient shepherd carried a rod to beat off the enemy, and a staff to guide his sheep. The Shepherd, God, carries a rod and staff to protect and guide.

A Devotion For Today . .

This is how the judgment works: the light has come into the world, but men love the darkness rather than the light, because they do evil things. (John 3:19, TEV)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us to search our own hearts in the light of Thy revealing Word. Amen.

Provide The Pill

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A rather unstable 14-year-old girl has asked me to provide her with birth control pills. That this girl is having intercourse is a fact, and I know she would continue whether she had the pills or not.

Without preventative measures she will surely get pregnant, and in her circumstances she couldn't get an abortion because it's illegal in Nevada, and she is poor, so there would only be another unwanted, innocent child.

So, if you were in my place, what would you do?
ON THE SPOT
DEAR ON: I would consider the options, and choose the lesser of the evils — which is obvious. Since the girl is relying on you for help, I hope you realize that she desperately needs counseling. I also hope that you have explained that while "the pill" prevents pregnancy, it offers no protection whatsoever against venereal disease.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband and I built our dreamhouse. We designed it ourselves, wanting something different from the run-of-the-mill floor plans. We also searched far and wide for our furnishings.

We now have a very original and unusual home. It's so unusual, in fact, that we have had a steady stream of visitors who come by just to see it, and get "ideas" for their own homes. Some have had the North and South reached a reasonable contract of six clubs after West's preemptive opening bid of two spades. The so-called "weak" two bid is similar in principle to an opening bid at the three level, however the suit is usually six cards in length rather than seven.

North's double is for take-out and South's jump to four clubs designates a reasonable holding since a response of three clubs would sound forced and might be based on little or nothing. In this position, South cannot pass the double unless he expects to defeat the opponent's bid.

Once his partner showed signs of life, North felt warranted in contracting for slam since he had a wealth of controls as well as excel-

E. D. Battise Is Named Super Of Reservation

INDIAN VILLAGE — The Texas Indian Commission has announced the appointment of Emmett D. Battise as superintendent of the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation of East Texas.

Battise, a full-blood Alabama Indian, becomes the first Indian to hold the position of Indian agent in Texas since the post was created some 150 years ago. He succeeds Walter W. Broemer, who will become executive director of the Indian Commission. Both appointments will be effective Oct. 1.

Battise, who is "Mikko Atokla" or second chief of the Alabama and Coushatta Tribes, also becomes the first tribal chief to hold an administrative position at the reservation. He was selected second chief, a lifetime appointment, by members of the two tribes in January of 1970. He was born on the reservation, which is near Livingston, Tex., Feb. 5, 1922. He is one of seven children.

Battise's first schooling was at the Presbyterian Mission School at the reservation, then at Livingston High School where he was an outstanding football and basketball player. After graduating from high school, he attended Chillico Indian School in Oklahoma for one year before entering the service of his country in World War II in the field artillery in which he earned the Bronze Star for bravery.
