Teaver First Witness On Rate System

AUSTIN (AP) — A senator who agreed to co-sponsor a competitive rate bill before he had time to study it told a Senate committee today the proposal would repeal "some of the best parts of the present insurance code."

Larry Teaver, who was said to be the author of the bill, appeared surprised when Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy read off the sections of the current code that the bill would eliminate.

Those include the State Insurance Board's power to prohibit false and misleading information by insurance companies and to suspend companies' licenses if they do not comply with board rules and regulations.

The proposed bill would even repeal the board's authority to make "reasonable" rules and regulations. It also would knock out the assigned risk plan and the motor vehicle premium insurance tax.

"This is repealing some of the best parts of the present insurance code, and as a co-sponsor, I can't support it," Mauzy said.

Several members of the Economic Development Committee laughed as Mauzy read the provisions that would be repealed. Teaver said he had been helped in writing the bill by "competent insurance lawyers."

Family Tragedy Is Being Put To Rest

CLINTON, Iowa (AP) — United in death by tragedy, the Utroska family comes home for burial today.

David Utroska, a 30-year-old father of three, died Tuesday night, an apparent suicide, authorities said.

His wife and children were killed Sunday when Utroska's plane crashed in Lake Michigan, shortly after takeoff from Chicago's Meigs Field.

A pistol and a note were found near Utroska's body in the family's new home near Davenport, Iowa. Police said he died of a single .22 caliber bullet through the heart.

MY FAULT

"It was my fault..." the note said. "... Sandra can't take care of the children alone... I know they'll need me."

Utroska, his wife, Sandra, 30; and their children, Kimberly, 11, Kenneth, 10, and Kandice, 6, will be buried in their family plot at Clinton Memorial Park.

The crash came at the end of a weekend pleasure trip for the family of the one-time Clinton

Huge Social Security Package Moves Along

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has approved a $6-billion package of Social Security increases and higher payroll deductions to finance them. Today the panel tries to wrap up work on the joint Social Security-welfare-reform bill.

PAY $648

The Social Security boosts were approved Wednesday as the committee neared the end of its deliberations on the House-passed legislation. Under the Social Security tax hike approved by the committee, a person making $10,800 next year would pay $648, compared with $468 this year. The employer pays a matching amount.

The measure also contains far-reaching provisions affecting welfare families with dependent children; the aged, blind and disabled on the welfare rolls; and the two big government health programs—Medicare and Medicaid.

Finance has voted to junk President Nixon's family-assistance plan for welfare reform and substitute its own welfare version with much stronger work requirements for welfare recipients.

Congress passed and Nixon signed into law a 20 per cent general Social Security boost attached to another bill.

The 20-per-cent increase, which took effect Sept. 1, would be extended temporarily to one million railroad retirement beneficiaries under another bill passed by the House and sent to Nixon Wednesday.

Railroad workers are covered by a separate pension system, and the bill was designed to keep them on a par with Social Security beneficiaries.

The panel also further eased the limitation on earnings of retired persons.

Under present law, these persons can earn up to $1,680 a year with no loss of benefits. The House voted to make this $2,000; the committee decided to raise it to $2,400.

The committee turned down the recommendation of the Nixon administration that some of the Social Security provisions be removed from the bill as too costly.

THREE YOUTHS Columbia Law Prof Murdered

NEW YORK (AP) — A 16-year-old boy was arrested today and charged with murder in the daylight stabbing of a Columbia University international law scholar during an attempted mugging.

Picked up at his home in the death of 65-year-old Wolfgang Friedmann Wednesday was Daniel Minguets of Manhattan.

Police said he admitted taking part in the mugging but denied wielding the knife. Friedmann was stabbed when three youths attacked him and struggled to get his wristwatch.

Police said the youth was arrested on information received from witnesses to the attack on Friedmann, known to his colleagues as a humanist and opponent of international violence.

Authorities said they know the identities of the other two assailants and that they were being sought.

Friedmann, a Berlin native and refugee from Nazi Germany, was professor of international law and director of international legal research at Columbia. He joined the faculty in 1955.

Police said the teacher was walking a few blocks from the campus when three youths 14-to-17-years-old stopped him and wrestled a wallet from his pocket. When they tried to pull his wristwatch from his arm he resisted and was stabbed once in the chest, police said.

Ford Recalling 900,000

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. said today it is recalling 900,000 1972 models so it can search for 200 which could develop a steering gear malfunction.

Dealers also will check the steering mechanism on 1973 models they have on hand, the company said.

Owners of the 900,000 Torinos, Montegos, Fords, Mercurys, Thunderbirds, Lincoln Continentals, Mark IIs, Rancheros and light trucks with power steering built after March 1, 1972, are being notified by registered mail to take their cars to dealers for inspection.

The company said five malfunctions have been discovered so far but none have led to accidents. The cause was traced to an omitted steering gear manufacturing operation, Ford said.

Commercial Flights Are Resumed Here

Resurfacing and re-marking the main, 5,500-foot runway at Howard County Airport was completed Wednesday, and commercial flights are to begin again here today.

Rain this morning delayed resurfacing the 3,500-foot, auxiliary runway. C. R. Crim, the consultant engineer for the project, said this work will take about two working days.

Only the re-seeding of shoulders of runways will remain to be done in November, Crim said. Price Construction Co., Inc. of Big Spring was awarded the $105,000 contract.

Howard County is to pay half, and the Federal Aviation Administration the other $52,500. Weather on several days slowed progress on the project which began Sept. 8, Crim said.

Tom Marlow, city manager for Texas International, called the work on the main, north-south runway "the best I've ever seen."

Bible Fund Drive Exceeds Objective

A $400 check from the First Baptist Church sent the Big Spring High School Bible Fund drive over the top.

Objective in the campaign was $5,500. The Baptist gift, together with a $10 check received from Mrs. Mollie Crawford of Houston, pushed the sum collected to $5,797.50.

The drive insures the Bible class for the next two semesters at the local high school. The school has to depend on benevolences to sustain the program since tax money cannot be used to underwrite it.

SWIRLING WATER Safe After Bounce Through Tunnel

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — "Everything was so dark and I thought there was no end to it at all," says young John Schroepfer of the harrowing minutes he spent in a world of swirling, roaring water.

For an estimated 3 to 4 minutes, the 12-year-old youth fought for air and against the rushing water Wednesday as he was carried the length of a two-block-long culvert into which he fell.

The near tragedy began when school recessed early after a deluge of nearly four inches of rain, the third downpour to hammer the Duluth area in six weeks.

John and a pal, 13-year-old

Steve Chapman, rode their bikes to a nearby restaurant. At the rear of the building, they watched as runoff water poured into the concrete culvert, which ranges in size from 2 to 12 feet.

"A man stood there taking pictures like mad of the rushing water," John said. "Then he asked us to lift up the boards covering the culvert, saying the water would go in easier."

The two boys managed to remove the boards. Then, suddenly, John lost his footing and slid down into the torrent.

"I swam. I fought. I held my breath," John recalled. "I was pulled and bounced and tumbled just like I was a ball."

A strong swimmer, John said that at several points he went down "very deep and couldn't hardly hold my breath any longer."

FIGHTING CITY HALL — Roland Garlinghouse and his deaf son, Jeffrey, 3½ years old, watch cars speed by in front of their home in suburban Duarte, Calif. Garlinghouse has been fighting City Hall to have a sign erected — "Caution, Deaf Child in Area." Garlinghouse has persuaded the City Council to OK the sign. The father says he's giving them six weeks to put up the sign, then he's going back to City Hall.

RGV Judge Forbids Newsmen To Photograph Participants

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — An order prohibiting newsmen from photographing participants in a murder trial remained in effect today in 92nd district court here.

Dist. Court Judge J. R. Alamia issued the ban on pictures Wednesday after a witness in the murder trial of Roberto Ruiz Gonzalez of McAllen said she did not want to be photographed.

The request for the order came from defense lawyer Aron Pena, an Edinburg lawyer who in the past has objected to having his clients photographed.

Maria Ramos of Weslaco, a prosecution witness, was preparing to leave the witness stand Wednesday when she said "I don't want my picture taken."

MURDER CHARGE

Ruiz Gonzalez is being tried on a murder charge in the 1971 beating death of Mike Longoria, a well known McAllen clothing store employee.

Judge Alamia granted the request, saying photographers could not take pictures of any persons involved in the case at any time unless they first give written permission.

News Director Don Mallory of KGBT-TV, Harlingen, called the ruling "an unwarranted restriction." Jack King, managing editor of the McAllen Monitor newspaper, said he believes the ruling "interferes with the people's right to know."

Lee Harr, a KGBT-TV vice president, said station lawyers are being consulted concerning the ban.

Newsmen Ed Barerra of the Harlingen station said Hidalgo

County Sheriff Claudio Castaneda and Chief Deputy Pat Ramsey twice stopped him from leaving the courtroom when he attempted to leave to take pictures in a hall outside the courtroom.

Hidalgo County Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis voiced no objection to the photography, suggesting that the judge meet with reporters to discuss trial coverage. The ruling was issued without a meeting.

Hays Resigns Post At HC To Become Panola Prexy

Dr. Charles D. Hays has been named president of Panola Junior College at Carthage, and he will be leaving his post as vice president of Howard County Junior College at the end of the year.

His resignation, effective Dec. 31, was accepted with regret by the board at a called meeting Wednesday noon. Dr. Hays is to become president of Panola, a college of almost identical age as HCJC, the following day.

At the time he was extended a contract as vice president of HCJC, Dr. Hays advised the board then that he was under consideration for the presidency of another college, but short of such an offer he would serve out his contract. He was elected Sept. 14 by the Panola board.

Noting an increased fiscal load, trustees advanced Ralph Smith from dean of fiscal affairs to the post of business manager and financial officer of the college, posting a $10,500 annual salary.

Dr. Hays came here in the autumn of 1971 after earning his Ph D degree at Texas A & M University in curriculum and instruction, also in education administration.

A native of Archer City, he was reared in Levelland, as was his wife, Jackie Beth. They took their associate in arts degrees from South Plains College. He

Stanton, Forsan, Spence Absorb Heaviest Rains

Moisture piled up before a slow-moving cold front triggered rains in this area Thursday morning ranging from a trace to four inches.

Heaviest downpours occurred over Lake E. V. Spence at Robert Lee, but lessened sharply above the watershed.

During Thursday morning 2.4 inches fell at Stanton prior to 10 a.m., when it was still raining.

However, northwest of Stanton at the Martin County station of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, early morning reports showed only a trace. Across the northern part of Howard County the rainfall reports were light, although Ackerly reported half an inch Wednesday. Big Spring's U.S. experiment farm showed .58 to 11 a.m. and the Texas Electric Switching Station .17 earlier in the morning.

However, to the south and east things picked up sharply. Forsan Oil Well Service reported 1.2 at its gauge, and 1.6 for the two days. Coahoma had 2.5 inches at 11 a.m.

Moss Creek Lake reported 1.7 inches, most of it falling rather rapidly Thursday morning.

At a gauge three miles south of Westbrook showed 3.5 inches and where FM 670 from Westbrook intersects with SH 163 the total was 1.9 inches. From 1¼ to 2 inches fell from that point all the way to Robert Lee. Unofficial reports showed Colorado City with 1.2 inches. CRMWD reported .9 of an inch at its diversion works above Colorado City.

Lake J. B. Thomas, to the north, reported only .3 of an inch at the dam and .1 of an inch at the Big Spring intake. Westward, Midland showed .28 and Odessa .6 of an inch.

Lake E. V. Spence reported four inches at the dam and 3.2 at the pump station intake six miles upstream.

As a result, the lake had risen .42 of a foot to elevation 1858.10, a new record. It now contains 120,450 acre-feet, reported O. H. Ivie, CRMWD manager, and there was still some flow to come, although probably not heavy.

The river was running three feet at the Silver bridge at the upper end of Lake Spence, and Beals Creek, a tributary, was running five feet deep at the SH 163 bridge. Big Silver, a major tributary just above the lake, was flowing little less than a foot deep and Little Silver little more than half a foot.

YOUNG HITCHHIKERS

Why Do They Thumb Rides?

By CRAIG MacDONALD
Copley News Service

Bob, Carol, Ted and Alice have two things in common. They are young (between 15 and 18) and they are hitchhikers.

They hitchhike, they say, mainly because they cannot afford cars, but their rationale is more complex than sheer economics.

Alice also said she "hitches" for ecology — "one less auto on the highway." Bob said he often thumbs for entertainment — "I just travel around, see the city, meet people and maybe get invited to a party."

INEXPENSIVE WAY
They were interviewed with 26 other thumbers on streets in a West Coast city.

These four "hitchers" thumb to the beach, to their jobs and even to school. They find it an inexpensive way to travel — a way to save money which would have been spent on bus fare.

Carol said she also thumbed because she did not like to be seen with her parents.

Of the 30 hitchhikers interviewed by a reporter, 26 did not express concern about the risk involved with "hitching." Bob, Carol, Ted and Alice have unpleasant memories about hitchhiking — but they still thumb.

Bob, 15, said he got a head cut which required 15 stitches when a carload of juveniles threw rocks at him in May.

MADE ADVANCES
Carol, 16, said a month ago she took a ride in a car and the male driver made advances. She managed to jump out of the auto at a stoplight.

Ted, 17, said he got a ride in June with a man who insisted on taking him to Los Angeles instead of where he wanted to go. Ted said he slugged the man as the car approached a stoplight and escaped.

DRUNK DRIVER
Alice, 18, said she foolishly accepted a ride from a drunk

HOW ABOUT A RIDE? — Like many other youngsters, this girl is thumbing her way around. Some "hitchers" say they can't afford a car, but they offer various other reasons.

driver because she had been standing for hours.

She said they were almost involved in a head-on collision before she finally persuaded the man to let her out.

None of these incidents was reported to police because the thumbers knew that if their parents ever found out they would not be allowed to hitchhike anymore.

From these experiences, Alice, Ted, Carol and Bob, who were thumbing separately when interviewed, developed their own safety standards. Bob, for example, will not get into a car loaded with men.

PRAYING HELPS
Carol said she will not thumb unless accompanied by three or more girls. Ted said he will not thumb at night and Alice said she will not get into a car whose occupants have been drinking, regardless of how many girls are with her.

Terr, 18, who was thumbing with Alice, said that praying accounts for her safe travel. "If you're a Christian and pray nightly, God will take care of you regardless of the crisis," she said.

Alice agreed but was quick to add, "If you enter a hostile car, keep your head, be cool and usually you can talk your way out of bad situations."

NEVER AGAIN
Alice further stated she really hated to hitchhike. "It takes a lot of patience and is a pain in the neck," she explained. "After I become a nurse, I'll buy a car and never have to thumb again."

Nixon's Top Fund Raiser Added To List

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's chief campaign fund raiser, Maurice Stans, has been added to the list of defendants in the $3 million civil suit brought by Democrats against Republicans in the Water bugging case.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles Richey ruled in favor of the Democrats Wednesday in permitting Stans to be named a defendant.

In addition, Richey allowed the Democratic officials to name as defendants former White House aides G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt Jr.—both also under indictment on criminal charges in connection with the June 17 break-in at Democratic headquarters here—and Hugh W. Sloan Jr. who resigned as treasurer of the Committee for the Re-election of the President shortly after the break-in.

But Richey dismissed as defendants in the civil suit the five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters and indicted with Liddy and Hunt on criminal charges.

Former Democratic national chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien filed the suit which, shortly afterward, prompted Stans to file a $5 million countersuit and a $5 million libel suit against O'Brien.

The civil suit accuses Stans of financing the break-in and bugging, charges Stans denies.

Booby-Trapped Mail Plot Zips To Africa

By The Associated Press

The plot to kill Israelis with booby-trapped mail parcels spread to Africa today after intensive police searches turned up bombs in North America and across Europe.

Israel's Foreign Ministry announced in Jerusalem three letter-bombs were discovered at the Israeli embassy in Kinshasa, the capital of Zaire, the former Belgium Congo. They were found in the embassy's postal delivery box before any detonated, the ministry reported.

IN PARIS
A spokesman said reports from the embassy indicated the letters were similar to the ones found earlier this week in Paris, London, Brussels, Geneva and Vienna.

Other bombs addressed to Israeli diplomats were also found Wednesday in New York, Montreal, and Tel Aviv, but all were discovered in post offices before they went off. Police said all had been mailed from Amsterdam.

Cattle Prices Slump Posted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattle prices have taken a back seat to the U.S. Soviet wheat sale lately but producers are still limping along in a summer market slump that has reduced their gross $40 to $50 per head from early July.

While Congress was checking on grain trade and government involvement in the sale of 400 million bushels of wheat to the Soviets, the Agriculture Department says cattle prices are still $4 per hundredweight or so lower than two-and-a-half months ago.

For the week ended Sept. 16, the USDA reported Wednesday, choice grade steers at Omaha averaged $34.81 per hundredweight. That was up 23 cents from a week earlier but far less than the top of around $39 in early July.

However, the Sept. 16 average was improved from the week last year when Omaha steers sold for $32.79, the report showed.

Although economists think beef cattle will continue relatively strong for some time because of big consumer demand for beef, the larger feedlot inventories are having their effect. As of Sept. 1, the department said, cattle on feed totaled 17 per cent above a year earlier.

Placements of new stock in yards also have been running ahead of this time last year, thus indicating cattle slaughter supply will continue to bear down on the market for a while at least.

Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el Zayyat of Egypt arrived in Brussels for talks with his Belgian counterpart, Pierre Harmel. Zayyat said he hoped Belgium "would make a step forward toward the establishment of peace in the Middle East."

Riad spent two days in Lebanon in the wake of the Israeli raids into the southern part of the country last weekend against guerrilla bases.

"The Lebanese and Palestinian brothers are keen to preserve their unity of ranks by raising reasons of tension," Riad was reported as saying.

Hot Peanuts

ASHBURN, Ga. (AP) — Salvage operations began in a gigantic peanut warehouse as firemen were still pouring water on a smoldering fire.

Plant manager Robert Davis said a fire which broke out Saturday and raged out of control for three hours caused an estimated $1 million damage to a Goldkist Peanut Plant warehouse. It contains 15 silos housing 4,000 tons of peanuts and is one of the largest in the world for peanut storage and processing.

No injuries were reported.

ASSETS TOTAL $100,000

Shriver Will Take Pay Cut If Elected

CHICAGO (AP) — Sargent Shriver will take a 40-per-cent pay cut if he is elected vice president. His personal balance sheet shows an income of $108,600 last year and net assets of $100,000 for himself and $707,000 for his wife.

As he disclosed his family finances for the first time, the candidate acknowledged that the McGovern-Shriver campaign is in "serious—I wouldn't say acute—financial trouble."

But he hasn't gone to the Kennedy family for contributions, Shriver said in an interview Wednesday night.

ALL TAXABLE
"That's probably the last place that I would turn to ask for money. I have no intention of doing it," Shriver said. "I would have hope if they are interested in the success of the campaign they would make a contribution."

The salary of the vice president is $62,500 a year plus $10,000 for expenses, all taxable.

Shriver's balance sheet shows that he earned $108,600 last year from his partnership in a Washington law firm and another $2,800 from speaking fees.

He has $42,000 cash in checking accounts, $43,000 cash-surrender-value in his life insurance and $15,000 in personal property that includes automobiles, jewelry and clothing.

Shriver's wife, Eunice, is the oldest daughter of the late Joseph P. Kennedy, one of America's wealthiest men. Her financial statement contained the notation that "Mrs. Shriver's income is derived primarily from trust funds established by Joseph P. Kennedy over which she has no control."

HIS TROUBLE
Clark MacGregor, chairman of President Nixon's re-election campaign, had said he considers it inconceivable that the Kennedy family has not contributed to the money-short Democratic campaign.

"It may be inconceivable to Mr. MacGregor," Shriver said, "but he has great trouble with concepts. He's still a politician from Minnesota and he's representing a candidate, President Nixon, who's got $10 million in a slush fund."

"Except for the possibility of my wife, none of the Kennedys has given any money yet. We will disclose all the money we get. Certainly all the money the Kennedys give."

Perryton Man Big Winner

DENVER Colo. — A Texan won $2,890 and was named all-around cowboy at Oregon's famed Pendleton Roundup rodeo over the weekend, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Eldon Dudley, Perryton, finished second in calf roping and fifth in steer roping to collect the biggest share of the $43,543 paid to the winners.

Dean Oliver, Boise, Ida., who has won more world championships in calf roping, has dropped his season's lead and now trails Phil Lyne, George, West, Tex., by some $3,000. In fact, Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla., has moved into second place.

Event leaders are:

Bids Due To Be Let Tonight On School

By MARI CARPENTER STANTON — Elaborate architectural drawings of the proposed new junior high and elementary school at Stanton are the pride of the community which passed a $700,000 bond issue in July to finance the project.

Bids are to be let tonight on the project with construction probably to begin in the near future.

A drawing of the new school is proudly displayed in the superintendent's office and another downtown in First National Bank where everybody can see it. Rihard and Huckabee of Lubbock and Andrews are the architectural firm in charge.

SIX SIDED BUILDINGS

The new building, to be constructed immediately behind the present plant will be a three building complex with the middle building a square building and six sided buildings adjoining. The middle building will hold administrative offices, and a large combination library and cafeteria. This point was still under discussion by the school board, which in Stanton is headed by L. D. Snell.

The six-sided building on one side houses elementary classrooms and on the other the junior high. Six classrooms surround a center room which can either be utilized as a large meeting room partitioned into four additional classrooms. The elementary classrooms each have their own restroom facilities.

INCLUDES ADDITIONS

It is the first new school construction in Stanton in around 10 years and will also include additions to the junior high gymnasium and additions to the high school.

In a year when many school boards are sitting around discussing and wondering about which way school financing will turn, Stanton took the "bull by the horns" and decided that the time that Stanton needed a new school plant was right now. And they will be starting now. The buildings in the next few weeks.

999 Years For Murder

DALLAS (AP) — A 22-year-old Dallas man accused of shooting to death a rookie police officer last November has been found guilty of murder and sentenced to 999 years in prison.

Dennis Earl Jones, accused of slaying Dallas policeman Johnnie T. Hartwell Nov. 10 as officers tried to arrest him, was the only defense witness.

Jones told the jury he was a passenger in a truck which had been involved in an accident moments before the shooting occurred. He said he got out of the truck in a dazed condition and approached the officer with hands raised, a pistol clutched in his right hand.

"When I came around the truck I was shot in the left wrist," Jones said. He said he returned fire because "I was in fear of my life... afraid I would be shot again."

BAD LUCK TRIPS THUG

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — A would-be robber ran into some bad luck Wednesday in Texarkana, Tex.

Police said Danny Lynn Crosby of Lowell, Mich., apparently tried to rob a motel here, but could not find anyone in the office. Officers said he decided to leave the motel, but had to wait because a police car was parked outside.

When Crosby did leave, he ran across the street into the path of a car occupied by an FBI agent, a Texas Ranger and a deputy sheriff.

The officers, noticing that Crosby was carrying a pistol, gave chase on foot and arrested him a short distance from the motel. Crosby was charged with attempted armed robbery.

Willy Brandt Asks Confidence Vote

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt asked Wednesday for a vote of confidence he expects to lose, in a maneuver to blast open a four-month parliamentary deadlock and clear the way for elections in November.

Brandt, who hopes through the elections to regain his lost majority in Parliament, asked for the confidence vote in a dramatic speech to the Bundestag, or lower house.

The televised session opened with members standing in tribute to 11 slain Israeli Olympic team members. Bundestag President Kai-uwe von Hassel said they "fell victim to the barbarous attack of Arab terrorists" at the Munich games Sept. 5.

Brandt stressed that the confidence vote, expected Friday, would be merely a constitutional device to bring about elections and losing it would not be a defeat for his government of Social Democrats and Free Democrats.

Both Brandt and the opposition Christian Democrats want the confidence vote to fail so they can get on with the campaign for the voting on Nov. 19.

The chancellor said the real vote of confidence in his three-year administration would come from German voters and today's parliamentary maneuver was a way of putting it to them.

Brandt's government lacks the majority to survive the vote of confidence Friday. And he will make doubly sure of defeat by ordering members of his cabinet to abstain from voting.

British Deputy For Tombstone

LONDON (AP) — Wyatt Earp, 22-year-old auto salesman, has been made an honorary deputy marshal of Tombstone, Ariz., for life.

Explained the tall, handsome Wyatt, who works at Haywards Heath, near Britain's south coast: "My father went to Texas during the war to train as a pilot and naturally, with the same surname, he became interested in the legend of Wyatt Earp. He found he was a man to admire. So when I was born he christened me Wyatt."

At 60 mph a '73 Ford LTD rode quieter than an airborne glider.

On July 27, 1972, General Radio Co. tested a '73 LTD against an airborne glider. Both at 60 mph and with identical sound level meters. The result: the Ford was quieter. But the new LTD is more than just quiet. It is well made from its power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission, standard equipment, to its luxurious, comfortable, roomy interior. There are 16 new Ford models to choose from and each will convince you that quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

Mrs. Rhymes said man strives for transcendence and the meaning of existence.

The speaker explained that the first churches were dedicated to martyrs, and she cited the names of Peter and Paul as examples. Certain days were named for patron saints. She told of St. Margaret who had "practical spirituality," marrying Malcolm, a brutal monarch, and changing him for the better. ## A LOVELIER YOU Avant-Garde Favors 'Early Lib' Coiffures

By MARY SUE MILLER

It was the Gibson Girl who began it — the now classic tailored shirt with skirt. The skirt like grandma's swept the floor for propriety's sake. The shirt was a feminine version of male attire, an early Lib gesture.

Just so hair fashions: the Castle bob, the pageboy, the shingle were expressions of femmes for freedom, chic with comfort. Well, those styles are back, but updated by scissors in the hands of skilled professionals, but perms that give the hair any assist needed from body waves to end curls.

Are you with it? Or are you wearing a teased arrangement? Maybe you're still with the long hairs, so long it flies in everyone's face. Worse, it is stringy and dusty from today's polluted atmosphere. Leave it to the boys!

Shoulder length is enough already. The pageboy turns under at mid-throat and fluffs a bit or brushes to satin-smoothness. The avant-grade favors a shingle that waves on the nape to cover the hairline. The front is cut in depth from the crown to swoop forward in brushed-out curls or a snooth swirl.

As foretold, barrettes and side combs, more often than not draw back the hair at the temple. Get thee to a hair-stylist!

Dr. J. Roberts Shows Garden

The After Five Garden Club met at the home of Dr. James Roberts, 2508 Allendale, Tuesday, for a tour of his yard and garden.

The tour emphasized the use of native plants with roses, vegetables, and grass plots. Dr. Roberts goes to great lengths to preserve the wild life that frequents his yard, the wild birds and especially covies of quail, which he has raised. He eschews commercial insecticides for his plants, that might become diseased, for fear of causing an imbalance of nature that would in some way harm the wild life. Everything is done to preserve the native terrain and beauty of his property.

The members then went to Mrs. Harold Bell's home at 2402 Allendale for a business meeting. New officers were installed by the immediate past president, Mrs. Paul Sheedy, using the symbolism of a tree to apply to each officer and the individual members.

The new president is Mrs. Dealon Stanley; vice president, Mrs. John Hughes; recording secretary, Mrs. E. C. Shive; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dee Thomas; and treasurer, Mrs. Jimmy Morehead. Mrs. Hughes announced the programs and hostess schedule for the coming club year, with emphasis on a spring clinic. Plans were made for the tree-planting on Arbor Day, Jan. 19, 1973.

It takes a special kind of woman to be the wife of a high school coach. She has to live an ultra flexible life that virtually prohibits any type of schedule. Mrs. Bill (Evelyn) Narrell takes the inconvenient aspects of the life right in stride and enjoys the hectic flurry of activity associated with her husband's occupation.

Narrell is varsity football coach and history teacher at Big Spring High School. The couple has two children, Britt, 5, and Eric, 1. As football coach, Narrell seldom gets home earlier than 9 p.m. and it's usually later than that.

"When school starts, any schedule we might have gotten on during the summer completely goes to pot," said Mrs. Narrell. "It didn't take me long to learn that there are an awful lot of dishes that you can keep warm in the oven for hours that will still be good."

The Narrells eat a lot of casseroles that are prepared for an early evening meal for Mrs. Narrell and the children, and kept hot for Narrell when he arrives home between 9 and 10 p.m. Like most housewives in these days of high prices, Mrs. Narrell is always on the lookout for economical recipes, but her main priority is nutrition and taste.

things ahead of time and freezing them until needed. Particularly, if she plans to have company, Mrs. Narrell said the freezer avoids a lot of last minute work and saves her time.

The Narrells have little opportunity to entertain in their home. Football practice takes up every week night, and every Friday is a football game. Mrs. Narrell goes to all the games, whether home or away, not just because she's a coach's wife, but because she enjoys football.

It's easy to see why the Narrells can't live on a schedule, and some women may get tired of never being able to eat dinner with their husband or seldom having an opportunity for weekend trips or parties. Mrs. Narrell enjoys the hustle of the events. She appears to thrive on activity, whether it be at home, at work or in the football stands.

Mrs. Narrell works three mornings a week in the office of First United Methodist Church, where the family attends services. Both Mr. and Mrs. Narrell support all of the church's programs and consider it an important part of their lives. She plays in the Bell Choir of the church that performs for special occasions.

Mrs. Narrell is also a member of Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha. Her favorite hobbies are sewing and bridge. She makes most of her clothes and many of her sons', but she has yet to sew for her husband.

The Narrells attended McMurry College. He received a bachelor's degree in physical education and a master's degree in education and history. Mrs. Narrell majored in speech and English and taught for four years prior to coming to Big Spring. They came here from Hereford, where Narrell was also a coach and teacher. Both are Texas natives. She was reared in Jacksboro, and he is from Lorraine.

Men Vote For Beef, Chicken

By SUSAN DELIGHT

Copley News Service

A poll of foods favored by American men would surely place beef roast, fried chicken and chocolate cake high on the list.

If beef is the choice plurge and feature a Beef Rib Eye Roast, cut from the center and most tender part of the rib section.

Chicken Imperial is fried chicken with a new face — Chicken pieces coated with bread crumbs and cheese and baked to a golden crispness in the oven.

Apple Chocolate Walnut Cake is spicy, crunchy, tender, fine-gained and easy to slice without crumbling. It uses applesauce as the "liquid," and the applesauce helps keep it moist. It can be frosted with vanilla, chocolate or caramel frosting.

APPLE CHOCOLATE WALNUT CAKE
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. allspice
2 tbsps. breakfast cocoa (not instant)
1 cup applesauce, heated
1 tsp. vanilla
Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise; add sugar slowly; cream until fluffy. Add egg; beat well. Add a little of the flour to walnuts; mix and sift remaining flour, salt, baking soda, spices and cocoa. Add flour mixture alternately with heated applesauce to creamed mixture. Stir in vanilla. Spoon into greased and floured 9-inch tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about 40 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove to rack to finish cooling. Frost and decorate as desired.

CHICKEN IMPERIAL
2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
3/4 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving pieces
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
Combine bread crumbs, cheese, parsley, garlic, salt and pepper in shallow dish. Brush chicken pieces with melted butter. Then roll in crumb mixture. Place pieces in single layer on foil-lined shallow baking pan. Bake in 375 degree F. oven 1 hour or until tender.

Olives, Nuts Enrich Consomme
For company dinner, serve a first course of chicken and consomme. To each cup add 2 tablespoons sliced ripe olives, 1 tablespoon chopped almonds and a sprinkle of chopped parsley. An easy but glamorous idea.

BRIDGE TALLIES
"Most of my best recipes are written on the backs of bridge tallies," said Mrs. Narrell. "When I taste something I really like I write it down right then, and a lot of them have come from bridge parties. I don't try many recipes that I haven't eaten. I like for them to be tested first. If I eat them out somewhere and like them, I will fix it at home."

Mrs. Narrell said no one in her family is a "picky" eater, and for that reason they are a joy to cook for. She has only found two things her husband won't eat — squash and liver. The family eats very few sweets. Britt's favorite treat, rather than cake or ice cream like most young boys, is a bowl of cottage cheese.

"I enjoy baking desserts," said Mrs. Narrell, "but we just don't have many because we can't afford them calorie-wise. I do like to make something special when people are coming over."

Cooking was never one of Mrs. Narrell's favorite pastimes as a young girl. Her mother worked full time and didn't have time to show her the basics of cooking, so when she got married her husband had to teach her the art. He still helps in the kitchen when time allows, but Mrs. Narrell has become an accomplished cook and handles most of the meals herself.

USES FREEZER
The freezer has proved to be one of Mrs. Narrell's biggest assets in the kitchen. She is a firm believer in making

RIBBON CAKE
1 pkg. Betty Crocker brownie mix
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
2 cups whipping cream
1/2 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
Line a 15 1/2 by 10 1/2 by 1 inch jelly roll pan with foil, allowing foil to extend 2 inches past each end. Grease foil. Prepare brownie mix according to package directions for "fudgy brownies." Add walnuts and spread batter in pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool in pan for 15 minutes, and by using foil lift brownies out in one piece. Cut into five strips 10 1/2 by 3 inches each. Whip whipping cream with sugar. Spread half a cup of whipped cream on each brownie strip. Stack strips with cream side up and top with remaining whipped cream. Chill six hours or overnight. Top with walnuts. Serves 12.

1 lb. ground meat
1 regular can refried beans
1 regular can Rotel tomatoes
1 small pkg. taco-flavored tortilla chips
Cheese, grated
Lettuce & tomatoes

Brown meat. Add beans and tomatoes. Place tortilla chips in casserole dish and pour meat mixture over the top. Put grated cheese on top and bake at 300 degrees for about 15 to 20 minutes. Serve topped with chopped lettuce and tomatoes.

BROWNIES
1 stick margarine
1 cup sugar
4 eggs
1 large can chocolate syrup
1 cup plus 1 tbsp. flour
1 cup nuts, chopped
Cream margarine, sugar and eggs. Add chocolate syrup, flour and nuts, and bake in long shallow pan at 350 degrees for 15 minutes.

BROWNIE FROSTING
6 tbsps. margarine
6 tbsps. milk
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup chocolate chips
Cook margarine, milk and sugar over medium heat until rolling boil is reached. Boil one-half minute. Add chocolate chips and beat until smooth. Spread over brownies.

To prevent nuts and fruits from sinking to the bottom of cakes while baking, first heat the nuts and fruit in the oven; then mix in a little flour before adding them to the batter.

There's been a lot of talk about this freeze-dried coffee tasting just like ground roast.

Ask For Trust

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BARE: (Comment) You don't know how embarrassing it is to be spanked bare! There are seven kids in our family, and when any of us, boy or girl, comes home five minutes late we get belted in the yard and spanked — bare — inside the house. I'm 17. Last week my mom caught me kissing my boy friend. She hollered, "How many times have I told you not to do that? You're only 17. You're really going to get belted this time." When my boy friend left, she took me inside, ripped down my pants and spanked me horribly. Next day my boy friend broke up with me — Embarrassed in Virginia. (A) You do not ask for advice, but I urge you to talk to your mother some day when she is in a reasonably good humor. Try to show her that in today's world it is not wrong for a 17-year-old girl to be kissed by her boy friend. Try to explain to her that at your age some other discipline would work better than spanking. Try to convince her that you can be trusted. Maybe if she can learn to trust you she can be more a friend and less a tryant.

More Than 380 Enrolled In Tech ROTC Program

LUBBOCK — More than 380 cadets are enrolled in the Air Force ROTC program at Texas Tech University this fall — 60 more than last year, making it one of the largest detachments in the country, according to aerospace studies Prof. Mack E. Baker.

"The Air Force ROTC program at Texas Tech is looking forward to a banner year with new policies, commanders and activities," Col. Baker said.

For the first time in the history of the 820th Cadet Wing there are two-year cadets serving as commander and vice-commander. C-Col. Steve Miller, corps commander, widely known as a star basketball player for the Texas Tech Red Raider team, served last year as assistant coach for the Raider cagers.

Number two man this semester is C-Lt. Col. Rick McCarty, a senior finance major from San Antonio.

First of the three deputy commander positions is that for corps training, headed by C-Maj. Gary Flynt. His job calls for deciding what corps training functions will be used this semester as well as overseeing the squadron commanders and the Chief of Operations C-Capt. Harvey Stegler.

Second is that for personnel headed by C-Maj. Rob Hicks. Under Hicks are the chief of personnel headed by C-Capt. Doug Fuller, Chief of Recruiting C-Capt. Martin Gage, and Chief of Administration C-Capt. Mike Allen. Deputy commander for services is C-Maj. Keith Neill. On his staff are the personnel services staff headed by C-Capt.

Chris Kenny and Chief of Accounting and Finance C-Capt. Mike Eller, Chief of Material C-Capt. Billy Ford and Chief of Information C-Capt. Bart Abbott.

There are three staff positions that will be reporting directly to the corps commander this year. They are the inspector general staff Junior ROTC, and Arnold Air Society.

The inspector general staff is headed by vice-commander and award winner C-Maj. Russ Blakelev. The job is of overseeing the Junior ROTC cadets will go to C-Maj. Dale Fink. C-Maj. Phil Frazee will command the Arnold Air Society.

Special activities planned this semester include an informal dance at Reese AFB Officers Club in October and a formal dining-in there in November.

A base visit to Edwards AFB in California is also scheduled in October where students will hear briefings by the professional briefing teams from Air Force Systems Command and Communications Service.

The group staff officers are chosen from senior AFROTC cadets who have displayed academics and extra-curricular activities.

CARPET?

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW BEFORE YOU BUY CARPET FOR YOUR HOME

- Most people don't realize that carpet is the third most expensive item purchased by the average homeowner.
- Quality—the average homeowner will live on his carpet purchase about 15 years—so quality should be the number one concern before he buys.
- Price—a person should be very cautious not to over buy and equally cautious not to under buy depending on your personal needs, in other words, don't spend too much for too little.
- Comparative shopping—a smart consumer should compare quality and price and yardage from at least 3 different dealers, or should obtain bids, this keeps everybody honest.

If you are generally interested in saving time and money, come in and see Ed Holland at Holland Carpets, 1600 S. Scurry room 3. Have a cup of coffee and discuss your carpet needs. If you are unable to come in call 263-0341 and he will come to your home.

Not Inherited

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three children. A boy 9, and two daughters, 6 and 3. The two older ones are my natural children; Tammy, the youngest, we adopted when she was five days old. Believe me, when I tell you that I couldn't love Tammy more if she were my own flesh and blood. But she is my problem.

Tammy seems to be crazy about men! Any man. If a strange man smiles at her in the grocery store, Tammy will grab his hand and want to go with him. If a man comes to our home, whether she has ever seen him or not, Tammy wants to climb on his lap and kiss him. She makes a big hit with all the men because she is affectionate, but it worries me.

Do you think her real mother could have had this trait? We know that Tammy's mother was a runaway girl, and she had Tammy when she was 15. I can't help wondering if this aggressiveness with men could have been inherited from her mother? (Our older daughter, who is not adopted, is shy, and she won't go near a man unless she knows him very well.)

Please tell me what you think, Abby. Is there some way I can break Tammy of being so forward with men? Or is it hopeless because her mother may have had this problem?

DEAR WORRIED: Stop worrying. Tammy's reaching out for male attention, affection and approval is NOT an inherited trait. (Such behavior is learned — not inherited.) Question: Is Tammy's father giving her enough attention and affection? If not, ask him to work on that. And you should train Tammy to be less forward and more reserved with men.

DEAR ABBY: Why do I not have the right to say to a fat person, "my, you're fatter, aren't you?" People seem to think it is all right to say to me, "My, you're thinner, aren't you?"

Not everyone who tells me I am thinner is fat, so I can't accuse them of being jealous, but I resent the remark anyway.

I am and always have been slender, but I look well in my carefully selected clothes and receive many compliments. Why do some people think a thin person doesn't mind being told he looks thin?

Can you explain the psychology back of this dumb kind of remark? It has bugged me for years.

THIN IN EL CERRITO

DEAR THIN: Most people equate fat with ugly, and thin with beauty. Of course excessive thinness is no more desirable than excessive obesity, but it has been said (humorously) that a woman can't be too rich or too thin. If you don't have to count your calories, count your blessings, lady.

DEAR ABBY: To the parents of "Twenty Six and Single": I didn't write that letter, but I could have. I know you love your daughter, but you will lose her if you don't accept the blessing that she is a happy, productive person even though she isn't married and has no prospects yet.

She may not need you to look after her children, but she needs you in other ways. Would you rather that she had an unhappy marriage, or one that ended in divorce? Or that she just lived with her boy friend?

Making your daughter feel that she has "let you down" because she isn't married yet will give her feelings of guilt, worthlessness, and insecurity, which are bound to make her less attractive to any man she might meet.

Making her feel loved, worthwhile and secure will give her a glow that will attract the right kind of people to her.

Pray for the strength to avoid prying questions about boy friends and dates and prospects of marriage. If your daughter has any good news, you will be the first to know.

TWENTY SIX AND SINGLE, TOO.

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised in reading your column to note that you referred to a man who would not converse with his wife's parents as "a person who sits in company like a wart on a pickle." It brought back memories of my dear mother. She was the only one I ever heard use that expression.

FLORENCE

DEAR FLORENCE: Your dear mother and mine must have gone to the same school. That's where I heard it.

Petition Drive Flops In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A petition drive to put a city charter proposal to elect some councilmen here by districts on the November general election ballot has failed, backers said Tuesday.

A spokesman for the petition drive said the group failed to get enough signatures by the Monday deadline, the cutoff date for getting the question on the ballot.

The petition drive will now be aimed at an election date early in 1973, he said.

Although some Houston councilmen must live in districts they represent, all are elected by city-wide vote.

Chemistry Profile

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Doctors, more and more are asking patients to go to a clinic for a "chemistry profile" as part of the physical examination.

I am curious about what might show up in these tests. Or in other words, can one be fairly confident that there is nothing seriously wrong if the chemistry profile is normal? — Mrs. B. A.

A chemistry profile is a grouping of blood chemistry tests done on an autoanalyzer — an automation system so instead of doing each test separately, a great deal of time and money are saved.

There may be 12 or more tests in the total procedure, and there can be some variation in these, but they would include such basic ones as sugar content, nitrogen uric acid, enzymes, calcium and so on.

This group of tests is so valuable that it has become quite routine in modern medicine.

Within limits, you are fundamentally correct in assuming that a normal chemistry profile indicates that you are in good health, but the doctor isn't going to take it for granted. He is going to use his ears and eyes and take into consideration your medical history for any sign that the blood tests might not indicate.

For an over-simple example, you could have a broken leg — but have normal enough blood chemistry. You could have been exposed to TB, and it wouldn't show up instantly in a blood test, but sooner or later the effects of the disease would cause some abnormalities.

There could be indications of infection somewhere, but the tests would not show just where. If you were anemic, the blood test would so indicate, but it would take some further searching to find out what was causing the anemia.

Likewise in some cases special chemical profiles may be ordered, quite different from the routine one. Tests for liver disease are an example; or disturbances in fat metabolism. And, of course, a chemistry profile isn't going to take the place of heart tests.

The routine chemistry profile is a mighty useful thing, and if you pass it and also pass the other "testing" your doctor is doing (even though you may not be aware of how much he is finding out), you can feel reasonably confident that you're healthy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was shocked to see a three-month-old baby being fed vegetables or fruit mixed with milk in the bottle, instead of being fed fruit and vegetables by spoon. Am I being fussy or just old-fashioned? It was really disgusting. — Mrs. J. M.

No harm in feeding such a mixture, provided the hole in the nipple is big enough to let the stuff through. The youngster should be getting used to puree of fruits and vegetable by spoon shortly.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: It is my understanding that an undescended testicle can cause infertility. Please tell me the chances of a 36-year-old male fathering children. He already has one child, 4, and is in excellent health. — Mrs. D. H.

An undescended testicle loses its fertility, the reason being that it is enclosed within the abdomen, and the temperature is too high for it to function properly. That does not mean that the other testicle can't operate normally. This male should be fertile.

There is some risk of the undescended testicle becoming cancerous in time, so it is wise to discuss removal of it.

Driverless Demolition Or The Mad Car Caper

HURST, Tex. (AP) — You might call it the mysterious mad car caper.

It unfolded one recent evening on the campus of Tarrant County Junior College North-east.

Two Arlington policemen were walking through a parking lot when they heard the roar of a speeding car behind them. They leaped to safety.

Then they watched the car careen over a curb and slam into a pickup truck in another parking lot.

Grinding into reverse, the car backed into another vehicle, switched into forward again and hit the pickup a second time, knocking it into a foreign car.

Then it backed off again, switched into forward and smashed the truck a third time—knocking it into two parked cars.

The officers raced frantically after the car, managed to reach under the battered hood and tore out an electrical connection.

Then they zeroed in on the driver, presumably reckless, drunk or both.

There wasn't one.

Campus security Officer C. V. Smith, who investigated the six-car mishap, surmised that an electrical short caused the driverless demolition.

The owner of the runaway car "couldn't believe what had happened," said Smith as he tried to piece together an accident report.

"I'd never have believed it either," said another officer. "If the two witnesses hadn't been policemen."

'Dare To Be Great' Empire For Sale

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Florida businessman Glenn W. Turner says he plans to sell his legally embattled corporate empire.

The 37-year-old Turner told the Miami Herald Tuesday he expects to collect $1 billion from the sale of his 10-company conglomerate over the next five years. He did not divulge further details.

He said firms in Glenn W. Turner Enterprises Inc. grossed $120 million last year.

Legal actions have been filed in at least 42 states against Turner's "Dare to be Great, a self-confidence building program, and a cosmetics company called Koscot Interplanetary Inc., attacking primarily the marketing practices of the two firms.

Turner also faces trial in Clearwater, Fla., Oct. 4 on 86 counts of selling unregistered securities.

Police Chief's Son Charged

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Six Harlingen youths, including the police chief's son, have been charged with burglary in connection with a $2,900 burglary at a television store.

Michael Anderson, 19, son of Police Chief Guy Anderson, was one of six charged Tuesday in connection with the early Monday burglary at the Television Den in downtown Harlingen.

Others charged police records show, were David Joseph Caldeira, 18, David Joseph Yuenger, 17, William Robert Harrington, 18, William Judson Blakely, 19, and Gary Holloway, 17.

The radio and stereo equipment was recovered in Caldeira's automobile and in a Harlingen motel room, according to police Lt. John Doster.

Justice of the Peace Frank Pena set bond at $10,000 on Caldeira and bond on the others was set at $1,000 each.

Don't Allow No Smoke!

Smokers take heed!
If you're burning up a pack or two of cigarettes per day, don't get sick in the Milwaukee area and plan to continue the habit.
The Columbia Hospital in Milwaukee has instigated what is probably the stiffest ban on cigarette smoking on patients, visitors and employees of any hospital.
Patients are allowed to smoke only in private rooms with doctor's written permission. And Blue Cross and Blue Shield says it won't pay the extra premium for the private room.
And if your cigarette-smoking visitor wants to come see you, he'll have to maintain his habit in restricted areas. No smoking by visitors in any patient's room. Employees, including doctors, must also smoke in restricted areas.
In taking the action, the hospital staff said that smoking has been proven to be detrimental to the health of the individual smoking and to the health of his neighbor. They claim a public obligation to set and observe high standards of health practices.
Perhaps the hospital is taking a positive step in protecting the health of its patients. To be sure, it is a costly, unpleasant and potentially dangerous habit.

And while no one can really make issue with the hospital's action to protect the patients' health, it can only control what goes on within its walls. Some would argue that it is unfortunate that cigarette smoking hasn't yet become an area where we can legislate against a person taking a chance on his life. But then there are a lot of other habits which might qualify for similar treatment — and some people don't want their thirst tampered with.

Not So Easily Switched

The all-out drive to re-elect the President isn't of such single purpose after all.
It is reported that Republican officials are doggedly trying to get office-holding Democrats in the South to switch parties, with the goal of giving the GOP an edge in Congress.
At the same time, Larry Temple of the Democrats for Nixon organization is urging Texas Democrats not to defect to the GOP, but to maintain their party status and cross over the ballot line only to vote for the President.
Temple says this path will allow the more conservative Democrats now in the Nixon camp to reassume control of the Texas party — with the ultimate goal of retaking the national party — once the McGovern candidacy is disposed of.

Of the two efforts, Temple's seems most likely to succeed. Office-holders are loath to switch parties, no matter how out of step ideologically the present leadership may be with them and their constituents. A party means more than ideology to the professional politician; it means organization, money and a base of support. The GOP in the South simply can't offer all these to defecting Democrats. Temple's urging of Democrats who vote for Nixon to fight for control of the state Democratic party seems relatively certain to be met with fair to good response. Which lays the groundwork for that familiar Texas left-right donnybrook for party supremacy to resume, once the presidential election is concluded.

Wilderness Too Wild

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

A couple of weeks ago, it was reported that a couple drowned while rafting down the Rio Grande.
GLAD MY DAD wasn't around to say, "I told you so." He was in the U.S. Calvary back when they fought Pancho Villa and the calvarymen patrolled that Rio Grande on horseback from El Paso to Progresso in the lower valley. He didn't trust those rapids or the canyons, or the river.
Back in the spring of 1966 when I was lucky enough to nail an invitation on the Lady Bird raft trip, he wrote me an ominous letter gloomily stating, "If you all get flash floods in those canyons, you'll drown sure. You can't climb those rock walls."
I wrote him back, "Dad, you know that if Lady Bird is going to ride the raft, they have checked the weather reports all the way to Canada. It wouldn't dare rain."
In the news over this past weekend, some Congressman was busily pointing out that the National Parks were supposed to be for those who love the wilderness and that the government didn't owe them a service of putting in plumbing and electricity hookups.
MAYBE NOT, but when Lady Bird went it was very nicely handled. And I, for one, admit that I enjoyed every minute of it. I've told everybody since that I had found out the real way to go camping.

When we got to our quarters, each lady reporter was presented a carton of cigarettes, a bouquet of roses, a bowl of fruit, a welcome sign and from the airlines, a traveling kit. We ate in grand style, and even on the day that we floated down the Rio Grande, we stopped on a sandbar where impromptu restroom facilities had been set up. We were served a fried chicken lunch.
At the end of the day when our rafts arrived, we were served sumptuous steaks and cheese cake prepared by the Ector County Sheriff's Posse and a Mexican band played merrily in the background.
The company on our raft had been stimulating, from Andrew Brown, associate editor of National Geographic, to Donnie Moore of the Houston Post to Martin Dreyer, who was the last of the aristocrats and the art editor of the Houston Chronicle. Dreyer refused to get out and push the raft and get his feet wet, so we wonder just how he would feel about all this wilderness bit.
Let's face it, the wilds are a little more beautiful with a touch of civilization. If I'm going to have to hike in, dig latrines, and rub flint-stones together to cook hot dogs, I'll just pass up future trips and remember the great one — with the First Lady.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

We have a Bible class in a small church, and the subject of reincarnation came up in our discussion. I was surprised to find most of the class believed that we will be reborn again and again until we are saved. Does the Bible teach this? M.C.W.
Reincarnation, or metempsychosis, is usually associated with the ancient Egyptians, or with the teachings of Hinduism or Buddhism. It is also identified with other non-Christian religions. But, it is all but totally absent in Jewish literature and Christian teaching. Modern theosophy has sought to revive reincarnation, and admittedly the doctrine has some appeal, since it absolves the individual from immediate and urgent decision, and a reconciliation with God.
There is no mention in the Bible of the subject. However, some reincarnationists take Jesus' words, "Ye must be born again," as a reference to the subject. But Christians understand that the new birth is an experience of faith in which God implants the divine life to those who have repented of their sins, and accepted Jesus as Savior and Lord.
Some of the Scriptural references you requested, and refute the teaching of metempsychosis are: "And many of them that sleep in the dust shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt." Daniel

... AND IS HIS HOLINESS EXPECTING YOU, SISTER ABZUG?

12:2. "For we must needs die, and are as water spilt upon the ground, which cannot be gathered up again . . ." 2 Samuel 14:14. "The man that wandereth out of the way shall remain in the congregation of the dead." Proverbs 21:16. "Where the tree falleth, there shall it be." Ecclesiastes 11:3.

Shoe Industry Pains

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — You might think that the shoe industry would have fewer problems than others, since all but a few of us are shod from infancy to finality and even beyond.
The $7 billion shoe industry has survived some serious assaults. And currently sales have never been higher. Twenty years ago a man probably bought one pair a year. Now the average is up to two for men, and close to five for women. Count all kinds of footwear, and sales total around $50 billion.
But there are problems, and there always have been. With profit margins running under 3 per cent on sales, some threat seems always to lurk round the corner. Some originate in social change, some from lack of foresight.
The current situation, in industry spokesmen say, results from factors that have no precedent. First, imports have taken an about 38 per cent of the domestic market. Second, the price of hides has galloped 120 per cent in one year.
And so, the shoe people say, in another few months a man won't be able to buy a pair of leather shoes for under $20. He'll be able to buy a pair for less than that but they won't be leather. More likely they'll be vinyl.

The tendency to turn to man-made materials is unlikely to change, says Mark Richardson, president of the American Footwear Industries Association, at least until two government-involved decisions are made:
1. A decision for or against a quota on imports, being actively sought by manufacturers.
2. A resolution of "the hide problem," which now results in large bundles of American hides—this country is the only major supplier—being shipped to a growing foreign industry.
But whereas the industry has sometimes been accused of lacking initiative and with being inclined to seek low-wage areas rather than innovate, it seems now to be seizing the situation, changing it, adapting to it.
Now, forced ahead by young, fashion-conscious buyers, it has learned to enlarge its volume by changing styles, sometimes radically, even to the point of demaying and offending some conventional shoe men.
In manufacturing, the industry has usually relied on human labor—average output is two pair per manhour—when other industries were learning to use machines and save. While this is partly the nature of the industry, changes are being made.
The use of manmade materials will likely permit greater use of automation, because plastics and vinyls and the polyurethanes, unlike nature's product, are consistent in quality and shape.
Injection molding, in which shoes are cast from fluids, is catching on. And, with the growing use of manmade materials, the one-step manufacture of soles—unit soles—is speeding production.
Relief is coming also from an entirely different source, the foreign worker. In Italy, wages and benefits per hour have risen from $1 five years ago to $1.51 now. The U.S. rate is $2.90, but the rate of gain much smaller.

Unshaken Monolith

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The almost limitless power of the presidency in the nuclear age was displayed in the flurry in the Senate over the five-year agreement with the Soviet Union limiting development of offensive weapons. The flurry, and it was no more than that, was over an amendment by Sen. Henry M. Jackson calling for "Equality" of numbers of nuclear weapons when in another SALT round a treaty is negotiated.
THE PRESIDENT and the Pentagon have all the facts and the figures on the vast arsenal of annihilation. The President can have it both ways. He can point with pride to the ABM treaty — a real accomplishment which rules out country-wide missile defense — and the offensive weapons agreement while at the same time he can tell the hard-liners that he was for the Jackson rider, casting doubt on further progress.
For all the determined attempt of a few senators to hold off the Jackson check rein, the Senate performance was pitiful. During a day of debate, if indeed it could be called debate, there were rarely more than seven or eight senators on the floor. The Senate had the look of a sagging institution refusing to face up to its own obsolescence.
JACKSON WAS playing the numbers game. But his numbers — 1,618 Soviet intercontinental missiles to 1,054 American — ignored the over-all superiority on the American side of nuclear striking power.
It ignored the array of weapons not counted in adding up the total during the Moscow negotiation. Here, of course, the Pentagon-President keeps a top-secret hold on the real numbers. As Sen. Stuart Symington points out, the criteria for equality does not consider megatonnage — one million tons of TNT — since a number of the U.S. weapons installed in NATO have a warhead yield many times that of the warhead of a Poseidon submarine.

AN ARRAY of close-in nuclear weapons, many in forward-based aircraft, were not counted. These are nearer the Soviet Union in many instances than Cuba is to the United States.
On the day the Senate approved the offensive arms agreement by a vote of 88 to 2 with the Jackson short count tacked on, the House passed a $74.5 billion defense appropriation bill stacked with new money for a new round in the arms race. Among the shinier ornaments on the defense Christmas tree was nearly $1 billion for the Trident long-range submarine and roughly $500 million for the advanced manned bomber.
A SEARCHING analysis by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee establishes beyond a shadow of a doubt that no matter how much more is piled on the mountain of annihilation it adds nothing to the security of either side. So far, Sen. George McGovern's attack on defense spending has all the force of a woodpecker pecking away at a granite block. The defense monolith is as solid and as massive as the pyramids.
IF THE PRESIDENT is re-elected by anything like the landslide the polls indicate, carrying with him the Senate and possibly even the House, he will have sway over greater power than any man in history. It is a power flawed by weaknesses not evident in the polling euphoria. The prospect is nevertheless awesome.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a fisherman gets tired of hearing:
"That one's so little you'll surely throw it back, won't you?"
"I don't think you and your friends actually do any fishing at all. I think you just stay up late and play poker and drink."
"I think you'd be glad to have your wife come along. After all, when the fish aren't biting, you'd have me to talk to."
"If you catch anything, and I'll admit that's highly unlikely, don't bring it home and expect me to cook it. I don't want you getting scales all over the kitchen cleaning it, and I don't want to smell up the whole house with it when I put it on the stove."

Remarks Gig Fishermen

"If you buy a new rod and reel, I'm going to buy a new dress and hat."
"You know this is the first time I've ever gone fishing with you, George, so don't get mad at the questions I ask. Just tell me one thing and I won't bother you anymore. Which end of the worm do you put on the hook?"
"The thing I hate about fishing is that it is so unfair. A fish is just a poor dumb little thing that lives with its head under water, while you, George, have had the benefits of a college education."
"It's silly of you to think that I am jealous of your fishing, George. And I don't think you are using it as an excuse to go out with another woman. No woman with any self-respect would be caught dead going out with you dressed in that costume."
"George, I can't help it if I was the one that caught the biggest fish of the day. I wasn't even trying. The silly thing just wouldn't stay off my hook, that's all. When we get back I'll tell everybody that you were the one who caught it, not me. Now will you quit being mad at me?"
"What do you need all that expensive gear for? All I use is an old pole, some string, a hook and some old slices of bacon rind, and I never come home with less than 10 pounds of fish."
"What I can't understand, George, is why you don't take up some useful hobby while you're fishing," say crocheting or needlepoint."

Only Sure Way

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union declares that it will be a "big step" towards strengthening international security if the U.N. General Assembly approves the proposal to ban permanently the use of nuclear weapons.
SOVIET FOREIGN Minister Andrei Gromyko, who is in New York for the purpose of speaking at the current session of the General Assembly points out that the "question of the non-use of force in international relations and on the prohibition for all time of the use of nuclear weapons" is one of the most important to be considered.
But the prohibition of the use of nuclear weapons is not likely to remove the fears of a nuclear war. The mere fact that several nations possess a nuclear arsenal capable of killing millions of persons in a few minutes constitutes a threat to mankind that is unprecedented in all history.
THE SOVIET UNION has previously recommended the non-use of nuclear weapons, and other nations have suggested the abolition of these dangerous instruments of warfare. But until all governments of the world adopt an agreement not just to ban the use but to destroy existing stockpiles of nuclear weapons and cease further manufacture of them: the danger of a nuclear war persists.

The possibility that a nuclear bomb may be dropped at any time gives some nations power over others. A system of inspection carried on by an international authority is essential in order to verify whether all nuclear arms have been demolished, if indeed an agreement is reached to do so.
THERE ARE indications that all countries are amenable to the idea of doing something about the nuclear threat to world peace, and the Soviet Union is not the first to suggest non-use. Red China has made somewhat the same proposal before, and so has the United States.
The atmosphere for a consideration of the nuclear problem is one that will certainly be favorable. A convention on the prohibition of the production of bacteriological weapons and on their destruction has been concluded. The treaties between the United States and the Soviet Union on the limitation of strategic arms are, in the words of Foreign Minister Gromyko, "destined to play a considerable role in slowing down the nuclear-missiles arms race."

'Sold' Sign

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The retail value of the commercial exploitation of the Apollo program has now passed $1 million. That is to say, people have made over a million dollars cashing in on the astronauts' trips to the moon. Unfortunately the astronauts have shared in this questionable rip-off of the space program. Every day reveals some new commercial aspect of the Apollo trips that was not known to the American public.
THERE IS a fear among some that the million dollars is just the tip of the iceberg, and the really big deals that the astronauts made with promoters have not come out yet.
The biggest nightmare of all for the space agency is that astronauts may have sold the moon to an unscrupulous real estate developer. One day in the not too distant future someone like E. Pluribus Yunum may walk into NASA headquarters and say, "I understand you're building a space shuttle to land on the moon."
"YOUR MOON?" a NASA official asks.
"Yes, I bought the moon from the astronauts 16 months ago. Here's the deed, registered in Houston, Tex."
"But they had no right to sell the moon to anyone," the NASA man says frantically.
"Who says so? I gave them each $2,500, and they sold the place to me, air rights and all. Now don't get me wrong, I'm not against the space shuttle, because we will need transportation when we develop 'Moonlight Acres.' But we just want to make sure the landing field for the shuttle won't interfere with our master plan."

"DID YOU sell this guy the moon?" the NASA man asks three astronauts who were on hand.
"He took an option on it," one of the astronauts replies sheepishly.
"I knew we signed some papers," another astronaut admits, "but I didn't know the sale was final."
THE NASA MAN says, "I don't know what it is, but there has to be something illegal about this sale."
Yunum says, "I checked it out with my lawyers. There is no question about it: I own the moon and I'm going to develop it. Now if you people still want to land on it, it's all right with me. But I don't want a lot of spaceships landing late at night. It could discourage real estate sales."
The NASA executive looks at the astronauts. "How could you do it? How could you cheapen the whole space program by selling the moon to this joker?"
"IF WE hadn't," an astronaut says defensively, "one of the other guys would have done it. Besides, he told us he wanted to make a national park out of it."

A Devotion For Today . .

Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the Lord his God. (Psalm 148:5)
PRAYER: Lord, help us to be concerned rather than complainers. May we spread the good news in our own place. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

LA RAZA'S SENATE CANDIDATE — Flores Amaya, 30, a San Antonio lawyer, and La Raza Unida's candidate for the U.S. Senate, tells an Austin news conference Wednesday a $20 credit on federal income tax returns and a $10 reduction in city taxes, for example, would boost voter turnout.

Letter Of Sales Tax Pro Released

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso released a letter from a sales tax expert Wednesday that praises the legislative committee report that angered Robert S. Calvert, state comptroller.

Christie, chairman of the Senate Interim Committee to Study the Sales Tax, said he still contends Texas tax collection methods could be costing the state $70 million a year in uncollected taxes.

Christie said he sent a copy of his committee's report to Dr. John F. Due at the University of Illinois, who Christie says is so well recognized as an expert that Calvert's criticism of the committee report cited him as an authority.

Due said in his letter to Christie that additional auditors, as recommended by the committee, would cost less than the increased total of sales taxes they would cause to be collected.

Calvert was correct in indicating that the committee overstated the delinquency rate "somewhat," Due said, but "I am convinced that the comptroller's office has not been compiling adequate information regarding the operation of the tax."

Due called a Texas Research League memorandum on the subject "very superficial and unscientific."

"My general reaction is that while the committee report may be inaccurate in some respects—given the data, it is difficult not to be—most of the key points the committee has made are valid, and most of them should not be interpreted as critical of Mr. Calvert, but as suggestions for improvement," Due said.

Book Sellers Sue Officers

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, Police Chief Frank Dyson and three police officers are being sued in U.S. District Court Judge Eldon B. Mahon's court here for more than $70,000 in damages by 45 employees of an adult book store chain. The employees claim "harassment."

Headed Operation Breadbasket, Quits

HOUSTON (AP) — Plurina Marshall, who has headed Operation Breadbasket, the economic arm of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference here for the past 3 1/2 years, said Tuesday he is resigning.

Marshall will join the local SCLC board which will directly administer the program, designed to gain jobs for blacks.

Amaya Asks Tax Credits For Voting

AUSTIN (AP) — La Raza Unida's candidate for the U.S. Senate said Wednesday that citizens should get tax credits for voting.

Flores Amaya, 30, a San Antonio lawyer, told a news conference a $20 credit on federal income tax returns and a $10 reduction in city taxes, for example, would boost voter turnout.

"Unless this government does something to get people to vote it is failing its duty," Amaya said.

About 20 per cent of the eligible voters today are Mexican-American, Amaya said, but the potential is about 40 per cent once the Mexican-American voter is persuaded that his vote really makes a difference.

Amaya conceded he will take more votes from the Democratic candidate, Barefoot Sanders, than from Republican John Tower.

Both of the established parties are "thoroughly corrupt" in the sense "they have compromised their position to the extent they have become ineffective as representatives of the people," he said.

Asked if Sanders opposed any of the things he was for, Amaya said: "He is a member of a party that has kept the things I am for from happening... and therefore he is against everything I am for."

Asked what he thought his party's chances were, he said: "We can't lose. We've already been victorious in that we've formed a party, organized counties and we're selling the party every day."

La Raza Unida (the united race) has shown that the Mexican-American and black vote no longer can be ignored or bought with "a bottle of beer the day before election," Amaya said.

He claimed part credit for his party in Rep. Frances Paret's call for abolition of the Texas Rangers and for the state Democratic party convention's support for striking lettuce workers.

HE WAS ONCE A HAWK Stay In Vietnam Changed Attitude Toward Conflict

By CHARLES TEAGUE
A senior Duke University medical student has returned to Big Spring after serving three months in a Quaker rehabilitation center in South Vietnam.

John M. Talmadge Jr., 27, Carol, developed some definite ideas about the war in Indochina while serving as physician for the Quang Nga Rehabilitation Center with the American Friends Service Committee. He worked as the Quaker doctor for three months June to August, performing just about all medical procedures from reconstructive surgery to delivering premature babies.

"Along with the surgical nurse, Mr. Bich, and the physical therapist, Caroline Elliot (also an American), we 'cookbooked' those procedures which we had little familiarity with. I took all of my medical school textbooks. Often we would be doing surgery or treating an illness with the book lying open on the desk or the table beside us," Talmadge said.

"When I wasn't around someone else would get out the Pediatrics book and look up how much penicillin to give," he added.

BOMB VICTIMS
Most of the patients he dealt with were children, women or old people who were injured in B-52 attacks on their villages. One of Talmadge's Vietnamese friends had survived several bombing attacks, but had lost both of her legs, he explained.

"There was a time when I was a real hawk on the war. In fact, I was an ROTC cadet at Dartmouth, and I was one of the first men in my class to be promoted," Talmadge said. But his attitudes have changed.

"I began to read about the war and to learn more about the way the military functions and finally I had to make a decision about where I stood regarding violence and war," he continued.

CHRISTIAN TEACHING
After entering medical school Talmadge said, he began to take his religious faith more seriously. It became apparent to him that "Christian teaching was diametrically opposed to

Hails Pepper, Frijole Bean

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The chili pepper and the frijole bean are by law the official state vegetables of New Mexico.

In an August proclamation, Gov. Bruce King said that chili "has contributed its extensive source of vitamins A and C to the longevity of the life of the inhabitants of the Land of Enchantment."

"It has contributed," the governor's Chili Week proclamation said, "to the picturesqueness of our countryside as it dries up the roofs of adobe houses with backdrops of mountainous splendor."

Real Rock

LONDON (AP) — Seven giant underground tunnels earmarked by the government and London Transport for use in the extension of the city's tube train system next year, are being sought for different uses. Youth organizations have asked officials for permission to stage pop concerts and amateur dramatics in the tunnels built during the Second World War as air raid shelters.

A youth hostel association also wants to house penniless students in the shelters during summer months. Officials are concerned over the safety of the tunnels. "There is no water, there are no toilets, little lighting and no heating" one said.

the sort of militarism and violence which pervades our national policy-making these days."

Talmadge is concerned also about the "three million Indochinese people who have been killed, wounded or made refugees by American bombing."

President Nixon has built up a massive and terribly destructive air war while claiming to be winding down the war.

The Quaker hospital, which is the central medical installation for all of Quang Nga province has no adequate nursing care, inadequate laboratory and X-ray facilities and no full-time doctors, Talmadge said.

LOW MEDICAL BUDGET
"Pain-killers are practically unheard of, and antibiotics are prescribed and administered in a practically ineffective way," he added, contrasting the meager American medical aid for innocent civilians to the $7½

Youngster Pays Bundle For Banjo

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Scotty Plummer is only 11 years old, but he doesn't take his banjo playing lightly. Or his banjos.

The youngster paid $2,850 for one such instrument Wednesday.

Scotty, who lives in San Francisco, has played banjo for more than three years and in the last year has toured professionally.

The banjo he purchased belonged to a friend of his, the late Larry Kellens. Kellens painstakingly modified the instrument to achieve a unique sound and reportedly turned down offers of $5,000 to sell it.

million daily bill for the air war. A B-52 costs $8 million and an F-4 costs $4 million and each B-52 sortie costs more than $40,000, said Talmadge.

"But what has the United States done for the thousands of innocent civilians who have been the victims of those bombs?" he asked. "I have talked with American military advisors over there, and I am positive that countless innocent people are being killed and injured by American tactics."

"One major in the Que Son Valley told me, 'If Fort Sill knew the way artillery was used over here, they'd go up the wall,'" said Talmadge.

"The major told me, 'If we find five or six dead bodies and we can identify one of them as a VC (Viet Cong), then that counts as six of the enemy,'" Talmadge added.

While in Vietnam, Talmadge became acquainted with several Americans in the military including the CIA and the USAID. He said they were just ordinary folks, but they had little understanding of the nature of the political struggles in Vietnam, the history of the war itself or the fundamental attitudes of the Vietnamese.

"We think nothing of jerking up thousands of people from their ancestral homes, bombing hell out of their villages, and forcing them to move into the tin and mud huts of a refugee camp," he said.

"I can tell you from experience that those refugees don't love Americans at all. They blame the Americans for the bombing which forced them out of their homes, many of which were very beautiful ever by American standards," said Talmadge.

He said that the one thing the Vietnamese fear most is bombing, because 2,000 tons of bombs fall on Indochina every day.

'Bootleg' Tape Charges Jail Three Persons

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Three persons were arrested and 1,130 recordings were seized Wednesday at the Tennessee State Fair as state officials and Nashville police raided a tent and trailer where so-called "bootleg" recordings were being sold.

Charges of violating a state law prohibiting the sale of unauthorized recordings were brought against Russell Wing, 19, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Ira W. Ware, 37, and Ann Margaret O'Brian, 24, both of Dallas, Tex.

The tapes, which included rock country and pop recordings by famous artists, bore the label "Tape Consultants of America, Inc." of Oklahoma City.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Rick McCully, who led the raid, said Wing was selling the tapes wholesale while Ware and Miss O'Brian were selling the recordings at retail from a tent at the fair.

The raid stemmed from a visit to the fair by lawyer Richard Frank of Nashville, who Cully, who led the raid, said music industry legal problems. He said he bought some of the tapes after music industry executives complained about the Wing was selling the tapes.

Frank said so-called "tape pirates" who re-record famous artists' hit tunes without authorization cost the music industry $2 million to $3 million a year.

Forced Surgery Hearing Slated By Georgia Court

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The State Supreme Court has scheduled a hearing Monday on a case in which a man charged with murder has been ordered to undergo involuntary surgery for the removal of a bullet lodged in his chest.

The top court temporarily stayed Wednesday the Superior Court directive ordering the surgery on James Edward Creamer, one of seven persons charged in the 1971 slaying of Dr. Warren Bond Mathews, 62, and his wife, Dr. Rosina Vinuzzi Mathews, 59, of Marietta.

Superior Court Judge Luther C. Hames of Marietta ordered the surgery performed after prosecuting attorney Ben Smith said he believes the bullet lodged in Creamer's body was fired from the pistol owned by Mrs. Mathews.

Creamer's attorney argued that the Superior Court order should be overruled because it violates Creamer's constitutional right against self-incrimination.

Bank Bandit Nets $9,645

HOUSTON (AP) — Police sought today a shotgun-carrying bandit who robbed the Galleria Bank of $9,645.

Officials of the three-year old west side bank said the man, wearing a wig and a stocking mask, aimed the shotgun at a drive-in teller Wednesday and demanded the money.

Jerry Sperry, 20, the teller, said she put the cash in her window drawer and then observed the gunman's order to "lie face down on the floor."

Jail Inmate Uses Knife To Escape

CANTON, Tex. (AP) — A jail inmate who two weeks ago escaped by winning a footrace with a jailer to the jailer's gun left the Van Zandt County jail again today, this time with a knife, authorities said.

Deputy Sheriff D. A. Young said James Edward Davis, 23, of Natchez, La., is being hunted in the Shreveport, La., area where he was expected to be en route to his family.

"I had about all this stuff I want," said Young, who said Davis was the "same damn guy who got out about two weeks ago."

At that time, according to Young, Davis escaped by using Young's gun.

"He got my gun out there at the desk. This jail is a long hall back through there and he knows my gun is on the desk and he beat me to it," said Young.

According to Young, Davis left today with a trusty. He said the pair left in his pickup truck, which was low on gas.

"If it wasn't, he (Davis) would have probably made him take him all the way to Natchez," said Young.

Front-Running Red Sox Take Twinbill From Orioles

By The Associated Press

Earl Weaver, bless his optimistic soul, has finally figured out the American League East pennant scramble. All he needs to win it is a little help from his friends.

After his Baltimore Orioles absorbed a vital 9-1 and 4-0 doubleheader sweep at the hands of front-running Boston to tumble 2½ games off the Red Sox' pace Wednesday night, Weaver studied his handy, dandy baseball schedule and discovered that Boston spends the next four days playing second-place Detroit. Then the Baltimore boss offered his analysis.

"I'll be rooting for my good friend Billy Martin Thursday and Saturday," revealed Weaver. "And I'll be rooting for my good friend Eddie Kasko Friday and Sunday. If my good friends win, we'll get Boston three in a row and we'll be all even with three games to go."

Simple, huh?

Managers Martin of the Tigers and Kasko of the Red Sox are in infinitely better shape than Weaver today. Detroit trimmed Cleveland 4-1 Wednesday night and is second, one game behind the Sox with 12 to play compared to Boston's 13.

That's an awful lot better than Weaver's Orioles, now third, 2½ behind with only nine to play. Fourth place New York, rained out at Milwaukee, is 3½ behind with 12 games remaining.

Baltimore's slumbering bats ran into two hot pitchers in Boston and Marty Pattin and Luis Tiant simply proved to be too much for the Orioles.

Pattin surrendered five hits in the opener and had an easy time of it when Boston exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning. Carlton Fisk drove in three runs and Rico Petrocelli and Dwight Evans two apiece for the Red Sox.

The victory ran Pattin's record to 15-12 after a horrendous 2-9 start. He is 13-3 since June 12.

Tiant has been even hotter. The veteran right-hander with the herky-jerky motion, improved his record to 13-5 with a four-hitter in the nightcap. He has won nine of his last 10 games and six of his last seven victories have been shutouts.

Evans contributed a triple and homer to the second game victory.

Woody Fryman fired a six-hitter and drove in a pair of runs with a clutch single after Duke Sims, another NL refugee, had snapped a ninth inning tie with a double.

The victory gave Fryman an 8-2 record with the Tigers since coming over from Philadelphia in early August. Since his arrival, Fryman alone has won more games for the Tigers than Mickey Lolich, Tom Timmerman and Joe Coleman have won combined.

The Yankees were trailing 2-0 against Milwaukee before the rain washed out the deficit and the game. It will be replayed tonight.

After their five-hour, 15-inning marathon the night before, Oakland and Chicago played a relatively routine encore with the A's winning 6-3, restoring their West Division edge to five games over the slipping Sox.

Ken Holtzman won his 18th game—a career high—for Oakland while Wilbur Wood, 24-15, took the loss. Home runs by Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando in the second inning posted the A's toward the victory.

John Mayberry crashed a first-inning grand slam homer and pitcher Steve Busby drove in three runs with a double and two singles as Kansas City trimmed California. Busby limited the Angels to six hits and had what appeared to be a grand slam homer nullified in the first inning when Umpire John Rice ruled that time had been called before he swung the bat.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, two of them on a bases-loaded single by Bob Darwin to overtake Texas. The Rangers, limited to only two hits in eight innings against Jim Perry, led 1-0 until the late Twins' comeback.

heve that makes me feel any older" after he left for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

"I guess it means that I've stayed healthy for 14 major league seasons, and I'm not ready to retire on that," he added.

However, Perry wasn't proud of passing Kaat.

"I never would have caught Kaat in victories this season," he said. "I wish we wouldn't have lost Jim and Tony Oliva to injuries this season—we might still be in the pennant race."

Millan Sparks Braves To Rout Of Astros, 13-6

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Felix Millan drove home five runs in a wild 13-run second inning by the Atlanta Braves Wednesday night and called it "a funny game."

"I think I go two or three weeks one time this season without an RBI, and now I get five in one game," Millan said. "It's really funny."

Millan's five RBI came on a bases-loaded bad hop triple and a two-run single as the Braves dealt a crippling blow to Houston's playoff hopes with a 13-6 victory.

The Astros' loss combined with Cincinnati's 8-6 victory over San Francisco lopped to two the Reds' magic number for clinching the National League West flag.

Millan shared the heroics with Dusty Baker, who belted a double and a three-run homer, his 16th, in the inning. Baker had a chance for three hits when he strolled to the plate as the 19th Brave to bat, but was grounded out, ending the inning.

"I wanted that third hit," Baker said. "I've had two in one inning before, but never three. That might be a record. But you have to get all you can when you can. Tomorrow you might not get any."

Baker hit another double later in the game, barely raising a home run, as he missed his average to .327.

The Braves, who collected six straight hits during one stretch in the frame, equaled the team record of 13 runs in an inning, set against Brooklyn in 1910, and broke the mark for hits in an inning with 12. The 1900 Braves had 11 hits in an inning against St. Louis.

Houston knocked George Stone, 6-10, out of the game with a five-run sixth that featured a pair of home runs that carried into the left field seats—a two-run shot by Cesar Cedeno and a three-run blow by Doug Rader. It was the 22nd of the year for each.

Duane Thomas Leaves--Again

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Running back Duane Thomas' flirtation with the San Diego Chargers is stagnating — again.

The Chargers were hoping a romance was ready to blossom when the taciturn but talented athlete worked out with them for the first time Tuesday and told reporters he was ready to play.

But Thomas, who became San Diego property in a July 31 trade with Dallas, jilted them Wednesday. He skipped a player's meeting and the two-hour morning workout after a meeting with head Coach Harland Svare.

Thomas, who had visited the Chargers on three previous occasions without staying, said he was going back to Dallas. But as of Wednesday night he had not checked out of his motel.

Svare gave this account of what transpired at their meeting:

"Duane Thomas came into my office this morning and asked to talk about a contract. I told him I don't talk about contracts—Gene Klein and others do. He persisted and I said no. He said he was going home. I said I have a team of 40 men to worry about, not one player."

Svare said negotiating sessions had been set up in recent weeks with Klein, the Charger owner, but that Thomas did not show.

Mets Whip Pirates, 4-1

Seaver Ruins Bucs' Party Plans

By The Associated Press

Question 1: Did Tom Seaver have a good fastball?

Question 2: Did the Pittsburgh Pirates clinch the National League East pennant?

If you know the answer to No. 1 is "yes," you can rest assured the answer to No. 2 is "no."

Seaver had his fastball and his hard slider and his curveball's single but Seaver bore down.

The Mets scored three runs in the third, two of them on Duffy Dyer's triple. Jim Beau-champ added a run with a sacrifice fly. The fourth New York run was driven in by Jim Fre-gosi's single in the fourth.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 8-6, Atlanta thumped

Houston 13-6, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1, Chicago downed Montreal 6-2 and Los Angeles clipped San Diego 5-3.

In the American League Boston beat Baltimore 9-1 and 4-0 and it was Detroit 4, Cleveland 1; Minnesota 3, Texas 1; Oakland 6, Chicago 3; and Kansas City 9, California 2.

Cincinnati is another team with champagne on ice; the Reds' magic number is two. Pete Rose capped a four-run rally in the eighth with a two-run triple. Johnny Bench had hit his 36th homer to give the NL West-leading Reds a 1-0 lead and Bobby Tolán added two more with his eighth homer.

Atlanta scored all 13 runs in the second inning. Felix Millan drove in five with a triple and single and Dusty Baker hit a three-run homer. The Braves sent 19 batters to the plate against four Astro pitchers. Houston's Cesar Cedeno hit a two-run homer and Doug Rader hit a three-run shot.

Steve Carlton outpitched the man he was traded for and won his 25th for Philadelphia. Rick Wise of St. Louis was touched for a run in the first and another in the sixth. Tommy Hutton drove in the first Phil's run and scored the second.

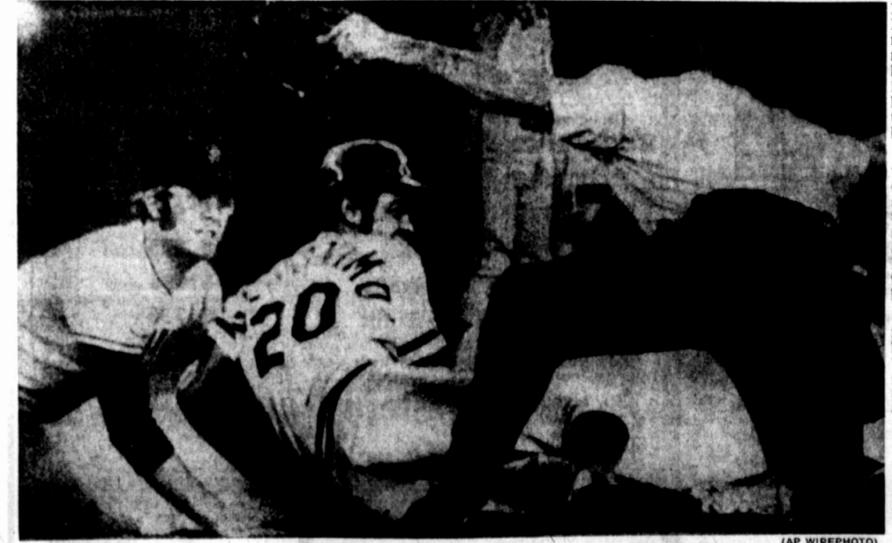

Milt Pappas won his 200th career victory when the Cubs beat Montreal. He was backed by Glenn Beckert's two-run single and solo homers by Bill Williams and Ron Santo. Mike Jorgensen and Ron Fairly hit homers for the Expos.

Manny Mota's two-run pin-single in the eighth broke a tie for a Los Angeles victory.

BUCKS HOLD RIGHTS

Erving Offers Suggestion

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Julius Erving, facing possible export from the Atlanta Hawks to the Milwaukee Bucks, has suggested that the Hawks may want to offer a deal to the Bucks involving "cash and a future draft choice."

The 6-foot-7 forward expressed surprise at Wednesday's ruling by the National Basketball Association's board of governors that rights to his talents belonged to Milwaukee not Atlanta.

"I hadn't anticipated this," said Erving, who still is involed in a New York suit over his jump from the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association to the Hawks of the NBA for a reported $1 million.

"I was fairly optimistic about being here (at the Hawks' training camp) and staying here."

Contacted by telephone in San Francisco, where the NBA board made its decision, Hawks President Bill Putnam said the Hawks would defy the league if necessary, to retain Erving. "It's not as bad as it sounds," he said. "The ruling of the board of governors (the team owners) was based on the NBA by-laws and constitution.

Our position was that the by-laws did not apply to Erving since he was not a college student and is a professional."

He said the Hawks planned legal action, but refused to give the details.

Putnam said Erving will remain in the Hawks camp, will participate in exhibition games beginning Saturday and will open the season in a Hawk uniform.

Pappas' Hour Spoiled By Demonstration

CHICAGO (AP) — The golden hour for 200-game winner Milt Pappas of the Chicago Cubs was spoiled by a weird post-game demonstration by the Montreal Expos following an alleged name-calling incident Wednesday.

When manager Gene Mauch led almost his entire Expo squad across the diamond to the Cub clubhouse it appeared to be something like a Stanley Cup hockey gesture to congratulate 33-year-old Pappas for his historic feat stemming from a 6-2 victory over the Expos.

That gave Pappas, a 15-season major league veteran, his ninth successive triumph, swelled his season mark to 15-7 and made him baseball's only pitcher to achieve a career total of 200 wins without ever having at least one 20-victory season.

Mauch & company's visit to the Cub clubhouse door was an angry one, with the Expo manager complaining that Cub outfielder Jose Cardenal called him an obscene two-word name during the game.

Mauch summoned Cub Manager Whitey Lockman to the door to register his ire, reportedly asserting that "nobody is going to call me that and walk away from me. The next time, I won't wait until the end of the game."

None of the principals would elaborate on the incident which Cardenal considered several "low-bridgings" by Expo pitcher Mike Torrez.

Amidst this post-game recrimination, Pappas was hugged by his mother, Mrs. Eva Pappas of Detroit, as he happily strode from the mound.

Delaware Takes Top Spot In AP Poll

NEWARK, Del. (AP) — Tech, Tennessee State, McNeese State, Akron and Boise tied for the sixth slot, Texas Southern, South Dakota and Carson-Newman.

Raymond refuses to compare this year's squad to last year's and likewise won't say what his toughest game of this season will be, noting "we've got to show up for all of 'em."

On Saturday Delaware plays at Gettysburg, which hasn't played yet and has 25 returning lettermen.

In his cautious style, Raymond refuses to pick a winner. Picking a winner in the game, he said, "would be like a pig in a poke."

Chiefs Sign George Seals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Coach Hank Stram of the Kansas City Chiefs says he thinks new defensive tackle George Seals "will make a great contribution to our football team."

Stram added he hoped to activate Seals as soon as possible.

Seals, a 260-pound pro football veteran, was signed by the Chiefs Wednesday as a free agent. He played out his option last year with the Chicago Bears.

Team Arrives In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Team Canada, its back to the wall in an eight-game exhibition hockey series with Russia, arrived here Wednesday along with about 1,000 fans.

The players were bused off to their hotel under cloak-and-dagger arrangements at the airport, but they later mixed with fans who crowded the lobbies in an effort to catch a glimpse of the North American professionals.

The Canadians, fresh from two less-than-glorious exhibition games last weekend in Sweden where they won 4-1 and tied 4-4 against the Swedish nationals are on the short end of a 2-1 mark with the Soviet all-star team.

The first of four games here is Friday at 12:30 p.m., EDT.

The Canadian players' feelings about international hockey have changed drastically in their meetings with the Russians and Swedes.

Where once they scorned even a suggestion that world amateur powers could compete on the same ice with them, there now exists an outward respect for the European brand of hockey.

Center Phil Esposito of the Boston Bruins, interviewed at Moscow Airport, admitted no knowledge of the Soviets prior to the series "and could not judge their mastery."

Meanwhile, Alan Eagleson executive-director of the NHL Players' Association, says more games with the Swedish Nationals are possible next year.

Eagleson told the press before leaving the Swedish capital Wednesday for Moscow that "it is only a matter of scheduling."

TURF GETS BLAME NFL Casualty List Increases

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

Why did the National Football League injury toll begin to resemble a war casualty roll even before the regular 1972 season got under way?

Some coaches and trainers are faulting the artificial turf for many upper extremity wounds — shoulder separations, bruises and burns.

The rash of big-name casualties, however, can be blamed partly on the inclination of coaches to use their first-stringers and bench the rookies more and more in the late games of preseason competition.

In the early exhibition games coaches gave their rookies plenty of action, to find out which they would keep and give the promising ones as much battlefield experience as possible.

Then, as the regular season drew closer, it was time to sharpen up the starters and the superstars.

So in the last few weeks coaches were using most of their regulars 40 minutes or more in the waning "don't-count" games. The injury toll, already surpassing that of 1971 at this time of year, reflected a very human trait among the coaches: win all you can, whether they count or not.

Record crowds and increased preseason television exposure this year have contributed to the gung ho posture of coaches, too.

By the same token, some 1972 NFL rule changes tend to increase rather than cut down the incidence of injuries. For example, grabbing the face mask of an opponent this year draws a penalty of only five yards instead of the previous 15, unless the infraction is ruled "flagrant."

Punts, like missed field goals, can be run back from the end zone instead of being automatically returned to the 20-yard line. While this adds a new crowd-pleaser, the extra thrills also tack on another injury risk for "special team" punt receivers.

Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach's shoulder separation during a tangle with the Los Angeles Rams grabbed the headlines because it benched the 1971 Super Bowl star for 8 to 12 weeks. The attempt to push his luck and run the ball once too often brought stern orders from other coaches that their quarterbacks were not to copy Roger unless they were in danger of being wrapped and could see daylight at the sidelines.

In a single late preseason week nine regulars were racked up with injuries, five of them or weeks and perhaps months.

Jim Otto and Ben Davidson of Oakland, Bubba Smith of Baltimore, Bob McKay of Cleveland and Lynn Dickey of Houston have been lost to their teams for indefinite periods. Dickey underwent surgery for a dislocated hip. Smith required an operation to correct knee damage. Otto, who had played in 168 consecutive games, twisted a knee and will miss from four to six weeks. Davidson may be out of action nearly two months with an Achilles tendon rip, and McKay broke an ankle.

Less seriously hurt but on the questionable starting list are San Francisco's Earl Edwards with a strained knee; Gene Washington with a twisted shoulder, Dick Witcher with a bruised calf and New England Patriot quarterback Jim Plunkett with bruised ribs.

The Cowboys' Lance Alworth an early casualty last year, was sidelined with rib injuries as Dallas lost to the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Forty-Niners have sported the fattest injury list. It reached an even dozen at one point two weeks before the preseason string ran out.

Jim Hammond, veteran San Diego Chargers trainer, says knee injuries still are the most prevalent of the disabling gridiron wounds. And he points out that shoulder and other upper extremity injuries have mounted since many stadiums have been floored with artificial turf.

"It's like concrete when you hit it," Hammond says.

Busby Hits, Hurls Royals By Angels

ANAHEIM (AP) — Rookie pitcher Steve Busby saw his first inning grand slam home run disallowed but went on to drive in three runs with a double and two singles and pitched the Kansas City Royals to a 9-2 victory over the California Angels Wednesday night.

Busby's apparent slam was taken away when first base umpire John Rica claimed that Fred Patek, the Kansas City runner at first base, had called time out before Busby hit a Lloyd Allen fastball into the left field seats.

Busby then cracked a two-run single, capping a six-run Kansas City uprising in the opening inning, and then proceeded to hurl a seven-hitter for his second major league victory.

Busby's slam would have been the second for the Royals in the first inning. After losing Rudy May, 10-11, walked three men to open the game, John Mayberry hit a grand slammer over the rightfield fence.

A's Dump White Sox

OAKLAND (AP) — Reggie Jackson hit his 25th homer of the season and Sal Bando added a two-run shot off Chicago ace Wilbur Wood in the second inning to start the Oakland A's toward a 6-3 victory Wednesday night.

The victory increased the A's lead over Chicago to five games in baseball's American League West and reduced their magic number to clinch the pennant to seven.

Ken Holtzman, with relief help from Rollie Fingers, won his 18th game of the year, a major league career high for the left-hander.

Wood, 24-15, dropped his third straight game. He gave up all six runs and nine hits before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning.

The A's jumped off to a 3-0 lead on the homers in the second inning. They scored two more runs in the fifth with the aid of an error and their final run in the sixth.

Nixon Will Inspect Setup For Detecting Drug Thugs

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — An underworld battle for narcotics control lies just across the Rio Grande from this border city where President Nixon will inspect facilities geared to spotting drug smugglers.

The President, who announced this week that he is taking new steps against heroin traffickers, will visit the U.S. Customs station at the International Bridge here Friday.

POT LICKERS

There he will find an operation that uses a computer to check automobile license plates and individual suspects; dogs that can sniff out narcotics; a new pollution-free marijuana incinerator; and a large staff of highly trained inspectors.

While authorities are using these and other means—including helicopters—to combat drugs on the U.S. side, hoodlums are using machineguns in a battle for control of the narcotics trade in Laredo's sister city of Nuevo Laredo just across the border.

Body counts vary widely but observers generally agree that more than 40 persons have been killed in gangster fashion in the Nuevo Laredo area this year. Most were Mexicans.

One report from Mexico City said Nuevo Laredo's crime wage has taken 68 lives in the past two years.

DRUG WAR

Mexican federal and state police, as well as U.S. officials familiar with the situation, blame the violence on narcotics. U.S. agents say whole families are involved in the drug war, although just who is fighting who is subject to speculation.

Several Mexican law enforcement officers have been killed in Nuevo Laredo over the past two years, most of them in machinegun attacks. In late July, a veteran peace officer was gunned down less than two months after he arrived in Nuevo Laredo on special orders to wipe out the smuggling business.

There have been several police shakeups as the crime war raged on, including one announced only this week—two state police agents were fired and three reassigned because of what officials termed their alleged connection with drug dealings in Nuevo Laredo.

The Tamaulipas state governor said he sent 10 agents to replace them Wednesday in a renewed effort to halt drug traffic.

RAID RANCHERS

Mexican authorities cracked down on Nuevo Laredo a few weeks ago and the drive has gone far into rural areas.

Last week, a special federal official sent to Nuevo Laredo by Mexico City announced that nine suspected narcotics operators had been arrested in Sabinas Hidalgo, about 90 miles south of the city.

Border residents say Sabinas Hidalgo is known to be a center for marijuana preparation and that planes can fly to several landing strips in the area to pick up contraband.

Other raids in Nuevo Laredo and nearby ranches have led to the arrests of several persons believed involved in narcotics.

Although President Nixon apparently is not scheduled to visit it, the U.S. Bureau of Customs recently opened a modern office on Laredo's outskirts, complete with a helicopter for aerial surveillance of smuggling.

Customs investigative agents at Laredo say most of the heroin seized along the border has been of European origin. "Mexico is being used as a conduit country," said William F. Hughes of San Antonio, Customs District special agent in charge.

JOINING FIRST LADY

When he finishes his visit to Laredo, President Nixon is scheduled to go on to Rio Grande City and Harlingen before joining the First Lady at San Antonio for a flight to the ranch of former Treasury Secretary John Connally.

The Nixons will be honored guests at a dinner being held to urge support for the Democrats for Nixon Committee, which is headed by Connally, former Texas governor.

Planners in Austin said about 350 persons are being invited to the Connally ranch, including about 200 from Texas.

President Nixon plans to leave for Washington from San Antonio's International Airport at 8:30 a.m. Saturday while Mrs. Nixon heads for Oklahoma City, aides said.

Spokesmen said Nixon will visit Rio Grande City at the invitation of high school pupils who visited Washington last year.

NON-POLITICAL

He is scheduled to speak to the student body at Rio Grande City High School about 1 p.m. and will make a brief airport appearance about 2:15 p.m. at Harlingen before flying to San Antonio.

The school visit prompted a Raza Unida candidate for the Texas Senate, Ricardo J. Molina, to criticize what he called manipulation of Mexican-American pupils.

Molina, of Brownsville, said the pupils at Rio Grande City "will be forced to hear a so-called 'non-political' speech" by Nixon. He also noted Harlingen high school pupils will be released from classes early Friday so they can attend the President's visit at Harlingen.

Glasscock Couple Will Leave Shortly On Tour

Michael and Penny Hoch of Garden City will participate during the week of Sept. 27-Oct. 1 in an educational tour of Minnesota, sponsored by the Minnesota Farmers Union.

While in Minnesota, the Hochs will tour several of the large regional Farmers Union cooperatives as well as visit some of Minnesota's local Farmers Union cooperatives. The Hochs will visit in the homes of several Minnesotan young farming families, and will have the opportunity to exchange information on cultural practices and family living styles.

The tour will be capped by a large regional rally at which distinguished state officials will visit informally with the Hochs and their Minnesota hosts.

Michael and Penny are members of the Glasscock County Farmers Union. Penny is a homemaker and enjoys horse racing, pool and tennis, and Michael is a full-time grain and cotton farmer.

The Hochs were one of five couples in Texas selected for the trip from among farmer's unions throughout the state. They will meet in St. Paul with five families from each of the other 50 states.

Mrs. Hoch stated that they will stay in two different farm homes during the tour. Farmers throughout the state who are active in unions are opening their homes to the visitors.

Meeting Here Attracts 30

The first meeting of the Radiologic Technologists of the Permian Basin to be held here drew approximately 30 individuals including representatives from virtually all hospitals in Big Spring, Midland and Odessa.

The session was held in the doctors' lounge of Malone & Hogan Clinic Wednesday evening. Dr. Buerk Williams, radiologist, made a slide presentation dealing with professional conduct and ethics. He stressed attitude, honesty, courtesy, clear chain of command as pertained to patient service and care.

Tony Cortese, technician at the host clinic, and vice president of the Basin unit, presided over the program, and George Seiverson, Odessa, president, over the business session. Big Spring is to be included on a rotation pattern for meetings, which should bring meetings here quarterly.

Life Membership Given Mitchell

Judge A. G. Mitchell, Howard County judge, received a lifetime membership in the National Association of Probate Judges here Thursday.

Judge Mitchell was sent a certificate from David L. Trask of Washington, D.C., honoring his years of service in working in various capacities as a probate judiciary.

Addressograph Is Readied For Sale

City Manager Harry Nagel said the staff plans to ask the City Commission next Tuesday for permission to advertise for bids on an addressograph and related equipment.

Outmoded by the computer here, the addressograph and assorted equipment would retail for $13,000, Nagel said.

MIDGET WORKER — Clarence Hughes, 42, is about the most popular construction worker in Phoenix, Ariz. At an even four feet tall, his employers say he can squeeze into working areas where others can't.

Workday Set For Center

KNOTT — A community workday has been set for Saturday with the Community Center and the grounds target for volunteer labor.

Plans for the session were made Tuesday evening at a meeting. Re-elected officers were Robert Nichol, president; Bub Hughes, vice president; and Mrs. Jerry Roman, secretary.

The work day will start at 8 a.m., and the men are asked to bring tractors, shredders, hoes, shovels, etc. to clean the area round the center. They also will dig trenches and install new gas and water lines for the center building.

Women will bring brooms, mops and cleaning supplies for their project of thoroughly cleaning the center interior. At noon, the women also will serve lunch for the men and women volunteers.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A Chinese-Soviet clash was expected in the General Assembly steering committee today over a Yugoslav move to revive the U.N. membership application of Bangladesh.

China vetoed the application in the Security Council Aug. 25. The proposal was sponsored by the Soviet Union, India, Yugoslavia and Britain. There were 11 votes in favor and three abstentions, and the United States voted with the majority.

Entrance into the world body is impossible without unanimous approval of the five big powers in the council, China, the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States and France. However, even then a move was reported underway to persuade the General Assembly to urge the council to reconsider.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim's personal prestige also was at stake as the steering committee, considering which of 101 proposed items to recommend for the assembly's agenda, neared a decision on his proposal for a debate on measures to prevent terrorism.

He laid his prestige on the line Wednesday night when faced with backstage Arab and African opposition to his initiative, he expressed hope that members of the 25-nation steering committee and the 132-nation assembly "will understand my reasons and will support this proposal."

He spoke to the committee right after it decided to recommend that assembly debate on Korea be postponed to next year. The decision was a victory of West over East.

In a concession calculated to win over the doubtful, Waldheim has suggested that the subject of terrorism be debated first in the legal committee, instead of going straight to the assembly as he had asked earlier.

His original proposal for a debate had come Sept. 8, three days after the Palestinian massacre of 11 Israeli Olympic athletes in Munich.

But he now said that in making it, he "had the general problem in mind, and not any specific incident."

He also declared that the United Nations must face up to the "international aspects" of the problem posed by acts of violence increasingly "directed at national leaders, diplomatic envoys, international passengers and other innocent civilians."

The steering committee adopted a U.S.-supported British motion for postponement of the Korean debate over Communist and non-aligned opposition. The vote was 16 to 7 with France abstaining.

China, the Soviet Union and 26 others had proposed that the assembly debate "creation of favorable conditions to accelerate" reunification of Korea, and adopt a resolution suspending the activities of the U.N.

WAYS TO AVOID BEING TAKEN FOR A RIDE

'The Great American Auto Repair Robbery'

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's easy to be taken for a ride when trying to get your car fixed, a Senate investigator says. But, he adds, there are dozens of ways to avoid the trip.

They range from giving your favorite mechanic a Christmas driven a car," the authors say. With all these pitfalls, how authors say, is the use by motorists, particularly mornings, when service writers and mechanics, are rushed.

During the Senate investigation, Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., will be repaired efficiently and rate manuals, which determine how long each type of repair job should take. Motorists are charged for the amount of time the manual says a repair job should last, not how much time actually is taken.

"In practice," the authors say, "a reasonably competent mechanic can beat the time in the independent flat-rate manual, sometimes by 50 per cent."

PITFALLS
The authors say many car dealers and try to judge as best you can the quality of his work," through their failure to train them. "Once you find a leading them to perform jobs as quickly as possible in order to make more money."

The authors add, "Tip the mechanic a few dollars once in a while and remember the mechanic and the service writer (who writes up repair orders in car dealerships) at Christmas time."

Other problems, they say, stem from the pressure which insurance companies put on repair shops to fix cars as cheaply as possible, often resulting in probably because you've never slipshod work.

With all these pitfalls, how authors say, is the use by motorists, particularly mornings, when service writers and mechanics, are rushed.

Make sure you describe the mechanic the symptoms your car is exhibiting. Don't insist that before you take possession, you be allowed to road test the car and have it examined by a mechanic of your choice or at a diagnostic clinic.

Buy as few power options like air conditioning, as possible because they put stress on the motor and battery, reduce gas mileage and often break down.

ROAD TEST
To insure that your car has been repaired properly, demand a road test and perhaps take your car to an auto diagnostic center to be checked.

Trying to get repairs for a car under warranty is possibly the thorniest of all auto repair problems because it's not profitable for auto dealers, the authors say.

A good way to avoid warranty problems is to get all the "bugs" out of the car before you take possession.

The authors suggest that you: —Have the dealer state in writing that all the items on the manufacturer's pre-delivery inspection list will be performed.

—Insist that before you take possession, you be allowed to road test the car and have it examined by a mechanic of your choice or at a diagnostic clinic.

Buy as few power options like air conditioning, as possible because they put stress on the motor and battery, reduce gas mileage and often break down.

If you feel you have been gyped and you don't get satisfaction from your auto repair shop, complain loudly and persistently to auto company executives, the appropriate federal and state government agencies, newspaper "action lines" and the Better Business Bureau, the authors say. If nothing else works, think about hiring a lawyer and going to court.

Dr. Charles Cook, who will operate the facility, has visited medical facilities at other airports, and he says the Dallas-Fort Worth clinic will rival those of any other major air facility.

Dr. Cook says the clinic will include 15 examination-treatment rooms, three physical therapy rooms, an eye-testing room, three surgical rooms, an audiogram room, facilities for X-ray studies, a laboratory and a pharmacy. Several pieces of special equipment will be available, such as a portable electrocardiogram.

$300,000 Port Clinic

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas-Fort Worth Airport will be so huge it will have a $300,000 clinic with a full-time staff and ambulance service on a 24-hour basis.

It is designed to handle injuries and illnesses of airport employees and passengers as well. The facility will also be used for pre-employment physical examinations for airport personnel and possibly the airlines.

No Americans Die In Combat

SAIGON (AP) — For the first time in more than seven years, weekly casualty figures for the Vietnam war listed no Americans killed in action.

But the U.S. Command, in announcing today the figures for last week, said five Americans died from nonhostile causes, seven were wounded and four were missing or captured.

It was the lowest combined casualty count since the Command began keeping records on Jan. 1, 1965, and the first time there had been no American combat deaths since March 1, 1965.

Current U.S. troop strength in Vietnam is about 36,000, compared to 29,100 in March 1965. There are no U.S. infantry units engaged in combat in Vietnam, but there are still American advisers attached to South Vietnamese combat troops.

South Vietnamese casualties were put at 409 killed and 1,710 wounded, a result of Hanoi's continuing offensive in South Vietnam which has lasted more than 5½ months.

The Saigon command claimed 4,625 enemy troops were killed last week, a significant increase over the previous week's 3,449 enemy dead.

The allied commands now have listed these total casualties for the war:

American—45,857 killed in action, 303,387 wounded, 1,675 missing or captured, 10,274 non-hostile deaths.

South Vietnamese — 155,377 killed in action, 407,160 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—890,690 killed.

Turkey's Hat Law

ISTANBUL (AP) — An unfortunate Turk is in prison in Bursa, near here, for wearing the wrong kind of hat.

Turkey's Hat Law, introduced by Western-minded reformer Kemal Ataturk 40 years ago, forbids Turks to wear the fez, the turban or the skullcap, all of which are thought of as symbols of Turkey's Ottoman past. Instead they must wear some headgear which includes a brim.

Brim, however, prevent pious Muslims from touching the floor with their heads in mosque services, at which men must have their heads covered.

Many Turks compromise by wearing a peaked cap, which they swivel back to front at prayer-time.

Izzet Oruz, the Hat Law offender, claimed his was "just an ordinary cap."

Not so, said the police. Three experts in the field inspected the offending piece of millinery, then solemnly sent it off to Istanbul for higher opinions. The cap ended up in the capital city of Ankara, where the highest hat officials in the land ruled it was a skullcap, and forbidden by law.

Oruz was sentenced to two months in jail.

Take 19,243 Off Welfare Rolls

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The State Welfare Board has kept 8,131 welfare recipients on the rolls that were scheduled to be removed because of recent Social Security increase.

Instead of 27,374 recipients being disqualified because of their greater incomes due to the 20 per cent Social Security hike, only 19,243 will be taken off the rolls.

The board increases its personal needs allowance in all three adult categories Monday, thereby cutting into the net benefit from the Social Security increase slightly and allowing more recipients to maintain their eligibility.

Hundreds of welfare recipients will receive tiny monthly checks on $1 and $2 because of policy changes by the board. The important thing is that it keeps these recipients on the rolls and continues their eligibility for Medicaid.

'Cowboy' Robs Tahoe Casino

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Authorities were reported working on several leads in the $178,500 robbery of a Lake Tahoe casino by a gunman in cowboy garb. A bandit wearing a western hat, dark glasses and a false beard, caught five Harrah's Tahoe casino employes off guard late Tuesday and escaped with what was described as the largest haul ever in a Nevada casino robbery. The thief scrambled out through a crowded casino and ran across the state line—just yards away—and leaped onto the back of a waiting motorcycle driven by an accomplice. Authorities searched in Nevada and California for suspects. An FBI spokesman said no immediate developments were expected but that agents were working on a number of possible clues.

CASUAL CRUELTY IN UGANDA PRISON

Woman Beats Man With Whip Until He Screams

Editor's Note — AP Correspondent Andrew Torchia arrived safely in England today after his release from detention in Uganda. Torchia, a Pennsylvania who is based in Kenya, was seized last weekend soon after he arrived in Uganda. Here is his story.

By ANDREW TORCHIA
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Uganda soldiers pinned a man on the ground while a woman beat him with a rawhide whip — 10, 20, 50 times — until he screamed and writhed and the blood ran.

THEY LAUGHED
Thirty other soldiers — officers and men — shouldered around to watch. They laughed, enjoying the spectacle, and no one intervened. The beating went on for minutes — forever, it seemed, before the crowd dispersed and the screaming stopped.

This scene of bizarre and casual cruelty Wednesday afternoon was for 13 British, Swedish, American and Canadian detainees — their last view of Makindye military prison. None of us knew who the woman was or what the whipping was about. We stood silently in the hot sun at the prison gate and tried not to look. Then guards handed back our shoes and money.

Most of us had spent three days in Makindye and now we were being released from captivity under the undisciplined army that has controlled Uganda for the past 20 months. Ten, including six British and two Swedish newsmen, were being deported on a night flight to London.

STILL IMPRISONED
Many details of what went on in Makindye cannot be told. Their disclosure could endanger others still imprisoned there without being charged and without hope of immediate release. One man has been inside more than a year.

Ugandan soldiers and detectives, swarming around Kampala following a reported invasion Sunday from Tanzania, detained 150 or more Asians and whites, plus uncounted Africans suspected of disloyalty to President Idi Amin. As fear and suspicion mounted against whites and Asians, soldiers wielding submachine guns made arrests at a swimming pool and in a bedroom at midnight.

TRIBAL FEUDS
Many detainees were clubbed with rifle butts. Others were led from their cells and disappeared.

Troops trucked dozens of white men, women and children were kept in one room. Babies' pants were hung on the window bars to dry and urine from adjoining cells ran on the floor. I was at the central police station only briefly, while being taken from my hotel to Makindye.

TAKE IT OFF
I was detained by three plainclothesmen during dinner Sunday night at a hilltop tourist hotel in Kampala. Where was my radio transmitter and where was my pistol, they asked, evidently expecting a spy.

At the central police station in Kampala, more than 50

I was made to strip while they searched my bed and rifled through photographs in my wallet.

I was never formally charged or told what wrongdoing was suspected. The offense seemed to be that I was a foreign newsman who could not accept uncritically official Kampala pronouncements on the fighting.

Fight soldiers guarded me, their only prisoner, on the ride to Makindye in the back of an open truck. When I was slow clambering down, a soldier barked, "Get down quick like a man, not like a woman."

'BLACK HOLE OF CALCUTTA'

Thugs, Prostitutes

LONDON (AP) — Americans and Europeans rounded up by Ugandan troops and secret service agents were flung into a "black hole of Calcutta" jail cell with African prostitutes, thieves, thugs and two lunatics.

That was the tale of horror told today by seven British newsmen released by the Ugandans Wednesday after they were held several days in Kampala's central police headquarters as "British spies."

The British newsmen withheld their reports until they knew the other newsmen held by the Ugandans were freed. That group, including Associated Press correspondent Andrew Torchia, was released late Wednesday night and flown out to Manchester on a British airliner.

DANGEROUS MISSION
Daily Mail reporter Leslie Watkins, freed Tuesday night, was arrested in the Grand Hotel by seven Ugandan agents and marched to prison with a submachine gun jabbed in his back.

He was stripped and searched and found himself branded a spy because interrogators found a note from his five-year-old son in his case. It read: "Good luck daddy. Come back safe and soon. Love, Simon."

Watkins said his interrogator screamed at him: "This person knows you are on a dangerous mission."

Watkins was flung into the "foul-smelling dungeons of the central police station" — which the Ugandans Africans christened "King Georgey Hotel" during British colonial days.

After more interrogations by screaming Ugandans, Watkins and other newsmen were thrown into a barracks room measuring 40 feet by 20 feet with about 50 other foreigners, including a pregnant English woman and two small boys aged four and two.

The foreigners still held by the Ugandans "are in a desperate situation," Watkins said. "They are in a cell complex in which 70 people exist with only four toilets. The smell is choking."

One man, he said, cracked under the strain and stumbled, terrified around the crowded cell mumbering "they are going to shoot us." But he said most of the foreigners, even children and women forced to watch torturers batter an African with clubs for an hour, kept their heads.

Don Wise, roving correspondent for the Daily Mirror, said: "Everyone lived with the fear of being thrown to the crocodiles."

Women and children, he said, were held captive alongside prostitutes, drunks, thugs and thieves. Two lunatics, shouting and dancing hysterically, were in one cell, Wise said.

The captives slept on the bare urine-smearing concrete floors, without bedding. Drinking water came from a rubber hose lying in a drain running through the grimy cell block.

The greatest fear, Wise said, was the realization that "no body outside knew where we were and there was no rule of law to protect us."

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Dble. 2♥ 4♣
5♥ Dble. Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠
A stunning bit of deception by South at the opening gun lured West into a fatal mistake at the next trick which handed over to the former his five heart doubled contract.

South opened the bidding with one heart and West with distributed values in the other suits and 14 points, made a takeout double. North's raise to two hearts confirms the trump fit and designates a holding with modest values, for with a good hand, he would obviously have redoubled.

East's jump to four spades on a hand worth a mere nine points in high cards and distribution was based on the reasonable assumption that his own values would fit in well with a partner whose takeout double had invited him to show an unbid suit.

South, with his highly distributional holding, was reluctant to defend on the deal. Since partner had confirmed a fit in hearts, there appeared little to gain in showing his second suit.

South merely persisted to five hearts. Altho West held minimum values for his original double and a relatively balanced holding, he realized that a pass at this point might be interpreted by partner as a willingness to give up to carry on to his spades. West felt constrained to double five hearts to prevent East from making a move which might result in a substantial loss on the deal.

West opened the king of diamonds and South paused to study the situation at length before playing from dummy. An opening lead in his side suit was an unexpected altho not unwelcome development, for if declarer has time to establish the diamonds a club can be discarded from dummy on one of his long cards. The only problem hinged on how the diamonds were divided.

If each opponent has a doubleton, then South can take 12 tricks. After he wins the ace of diamonds and discards a club on one of his long cards, the only problem hinged on how the diamonds were divided.

South finally decided that his best chance to succeed was to enlist West's help by masking his own strength in the side suit. The three of diamonds was played from dummy and when East followed suit with the nine, declarer made the witty play of the eight — permitting West to hold the trick. By concealing all of his small diamonds, South made East's play of the nine look like a come-on urging West to continue the suit.

West dutifully led back the queen of diamonds and now declarer was in charge of the situation. East discarded [It would not have helped to ruff in] and South played the ace. Trumps were drawn in two pulls and West was given his second diamond trick with the jack. A belated shift was made to a club, but South produced the ace and stuffed North's remaining club on the ten of diamonds. He ruffed a club and claimed the balance in his own hand with diamonds and hearts. In all South lost two diamond tricks on the deal.

If declarer had won the first trick and subsequently led a diamond, it would have given East the opportunity to discard a high club when West wins the jack of diamonds, and now a club shift establishes the setting trick in that suit while West still retains control of diamonds and the queen.

... IF ONLY BUILDINGS COULD TALK

Old Nunnery In Stanton Now Private Residence

By MARJ CARPENTER
STANTON — A constant breeze blows atop the hill in the northeast part of Stanton where the nunnery stands. It is the lone surviving building of a 1938 tornado which destroyed other buildings at the site, which held a Catholic school originally started by the Carmelite Monks in 1881.

It is now a private residence, marked sedately on the front porch by a Texas Historical marker. The yard immediately around the building is neatly kept and the grounds around it all the way to the gate have grown up in lush green grass and underbrush.

From the moment you enter the old iron grill gates, thrown open on white rock posts, you have a feeling of ghostly West Texas history. Surely, many wagons and carriages went up that narrow, winding drive, which is not really geared to the modern car.

CIRCULAR DRIVE
The drive makes a circle around the grove of trees out front. The trees are carefully planted in groups, both out front and to the sides and rear of the house and if you look at them long enough and listen to the wind, you can almost see nuns strolling along them quietly meditating.

Red bricks to match the house, edge the driveway and the former flower beds hold an abundance of honeysuckle which apparently has thrived for many years.

The long porch holds some steep, pewlike benches and the windows are peeked like old church windows. A balcony above holds another row of peeked windows.

DESTROYED IN STORM
The history, the sorrow, the fight to survive that was fought on that hilltop by a group of Catholics showed their determination to bring education and religion to a wild and new land. There are still residents in Stanton who remember attending the Catholic school, since it fought to survive until destroyed by a tornado in 1938. The storm left the nunnery and did little damage to the rest of the town.

It was then that Jim Kelly, a former publisher, purchased the property and kept the nunnery intact. It has since gone to a granddaughter, Francelle Moore, who lives there and commutes to Midland where she is employed.

CAME FROM KANSAS
When the Texas and Pacific Railroad came to Stanton in 1880, a man from the railroad told a German-American named John Konz of the right new land. He described it as a sea of grass and flowers and a veritable garden. Konz became interested and in turn interested a group of Carmelite Monks in Scipio, Kan., headed by Father Anastasius Peters. They decided to come to what was then called Grelton, later Marienfeld and finally Stanton.

They arrived in Fort Worth and purchased a wagon team, plows, farm implements and two large tents. T&P delivered them and all of the equipment to the present location of Stanton free on Aug. 15, 1881. Tents were set up on the location now held by the Martin County courthouse and the first mass between Fort Worth and El Paso on the main route was said. The only older location of a Catholic priest was over near Balmorhea.

By 1884, the Monks had moved to the location now held by the nunnery and built a two-story adobe building. St. Joseph's Catholic church was started in 1881 near there.

BUILDING CONSTRUCTED
The school trained boys for the priesthood and some were brought from as far away as Germany.

There was a tragic story in 1884 which the Fathers claimed was persecution and which some of the ranchers in the area claimed was murder. A young 14-year-old boy named Lawrence Esser hung himself in his monk's cell.

CLAIMED MURDER
Another lad who left the school to go to work on an area ranch near Midland claimed it was murder. He and an early lodge became convinced something should be done and called in Ethan Allen, county judge. It ended with Father Andrew Pierriert charged with murder and Adam Keoz was named an accessory and bond was set at $1,100.

The church transferred the Father to Castroville near San Antonio and Judge William Kennedy of Colorado City demanded that he be brought back. In the end, both were freed and the charge was found to be completely unfounded.

In the meantime, the school faced hard times with the 1886 drought and closed to reopen in 1894 when two sisters from San Francisco, Mother M. Berenar and Sister M. Agnes arrived. They set up a boarding school and the fanciest finishing school in the west.

FINISHING SCHOOL
West Texas ranchers brought daughters from everywhere to attend the school. They lived at the Nunnery as did their teachers, the nuns, which grew to number around 12.

Some of the old timers recalled in later years how people would travel for miles to attend special programs there and how one rancher would bring a Shetland Pony for his daughter to ride so she wouldn't miss horses too much.

The earliest known history around Stanton claims that due to the many water holes there, the Comanche Indians who were raiding the herds of horses in Mexico would bring the horses to the Stanton area to water them and divide them up.

RICH IN GHOSTS
As the legend of the horse-thieves disappeared, the legends around the Catholic school began. Who could ask for more ghosts than those brought about by young prospective priests from as far away as Germany, a suicide, an accused murderer, Sisters from as far away as San Francisco, and girls off West Texas ranches who traveled for miles to be taught books and manners.

It's no wonder that when the wind blows across the hill by the nunnery and the hanging ferns wave in the breeze that the trees deliberately planted in clumps appear to be whispering to each other. You can almost hear them sighing, "Remember

San Antonio Rises Roll After Strike

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Buses were rolling again today after union members accepted an agreement on a new pension plan, halting a three-day strike affecting 65,000 riders.

Drivers and mechanics, who walked out Monday in what they called a "vacation," voted 175 to 127 Wednesday night to return to work today.

They approved a proposal to hire a consultant to study new pension plans based on a trustee program—a stock market investment method rather than the present insured plan.

"There's a lot of unanswered questions, but the trustee plan is better," said a union officer and negotiator, Clarence Long. "This is a breakthrough."

Already being eyed is the expiration of the union's present over-all contract with the city-owned bus system on Nov. 14.

Union members' questions at Wednesday night's meeting centered around whether the pension issue would be used by management in wage contract talks. Union president Walter Wehmeyer said it would be dealt with separately.

This week's walkout was the third by bus drivers in as many years. The first lasted two weeks and the second only one day. Both were over wages.

The proposal adopted Wednesday night calls for a union-management committee to select a consultant within two weeks to study the transfer to a stock market plan. The new plan would go into effect by next Feb. 1.

The consultant is to report back within 30 to 60 days from now on results of his study.

Transit officials said the latest proposal was a "clarification" of an offer that was overwhelmingly rejected Tuesday.

30 Years In Pen Punishment Set

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Punishment of 30 years in prison was assessed by District Court Judge Vernon Harville Monday on Kenneth Kermit Hayles, 41, of Boeville, who was convicted last Friday of armed robbery at the Gulfway National Bank here.

Judge Harville delayed formal sentencing for 10 days, so that the defense can study a possible appeal.

Harville will specify then whether Hayles' new sentence should run concurrently with three others of up to 15 years which he acquired in Dallas last spring. The other sentences were in connection with a counterfeiting scheme.
