Nixon Uses Paid Time To Outline Tax Views

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Nixon said Saturday there will be no need for a tax increase for the next four years if he is re-elected and Congress gives him the spending ceiling he has requested.

In a nationwide political radio broadcast, Nixon said a vote scheduled in Congress next week on his proposed $250-billion spending ceiling will determine whether taxes have to go up.

The speech thus posed a direct challenge to the Democratic leaders of Congress on what Nixon described as the major domestic issue of the presidential campaign. Both House Speaker Carl Albert and Senate Leader Mike Mansfield are opposing the ceiling.

OBJECTION
Their objection is not the limit on spending as much as the grant of authority it would give Nixon to cut any program he wants in order to stay within the $250-billion limitation.

Albert is backing an alternative proposal that would require Nixon to submit to Congress a list of the cuts he would make and give Congress an opportunity to vote on them.

Nixon contrasted his pledge to hold the line on spending and taxes with what he said were commitments in the Democratic party platform that would add $100 billion to the budget and require "the largest tax increase in America's history."

"I am holding spending at a range not requiring a tax increase now or over the next four years," Nixon said in the radio broadcast from Camp David. "I will not make any promises in this campaign that would require a tax increase now or in the future."

Nixon said if his spending ceiling is rejected by Congress he will use his veto power against bills that carry a higher price tag than he thinks is warranted.

PROPERTY TAXES
Nixon also tied the hope of relief from property taxes to enactment of a spending ceiling. He said the first to benefit from such relief will be the more than one million retired Americans over 65 who live in their own homes and have an income of less than $2,000 a year.

The President, who has the support of many Democrats on Capitol Hill for his effort to put a lid on spending avoided a partisan attack on Congress.

13 Weeping Hostages Escape, Gunman Shot

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Thirteen people held for ransom by a teen-aged gunman scrambled unharmed to safety Saturday after an unarmed police judo expert talked his way into the house and another officer shot the assailant in the neck, police said.

NEEDED MONEY
At the end of the 16-hour ordeal, the hostages fled weeping from the windows and doors of the small, white frame home west of Orlando and knelt on the lawn holding their taped hands to their faces.

Eight of these held were children between the ages of 10 and 17.

Orange County Sheriff Melvin Colman identified the captured gunman as Jackson Stallings, 18, of Jacksonville, Fla. He was rushed to a hospital in fair condition where he was held under armed guard without bond.

"He told the people he needed the money because the police were after him," Colman said.

The gunman demanded $5,000 in cash and set two of an original 14 hostages free—Loretta Vanderpool and J. D. Jackson—to raise the money early Saturday.

START SHOOTING
Jackson returned with $1,500, police said, but the gunman demanded Mrs. Vanderpool also come back inside the house.

"He said that if she was not back in 45 minutes he'd start shooting the hostages," Colman said. "That's when we made the decision to send in (Sgt. Claude) Trueby, who was a judo expert posing as the female hostage's boss."

At a later news conference,

Trueby gave this account of what happened:

"As I entered the house I saw a black male standing behind the door with a gun leveled at my head. He asked me to stand against the wall and put my hands up.

GRABBED HIS GUN
"He began to frisk me and when his hand went down my leg I grabbed his gun hand tried to pull the gun loose and it fired in the air."

In the meantime, Deputy Delbert Fisher had sneaked around the house and ran in as Stallings was struggling with Trueby. He fired a shot from his .38-caliber pistol that caught Stallings in the neck, police said.

"When I heard the shot inside and someone scream, I rushed through the door and saw Sgt. Trueby wrestling with the suspect. I saw his back was to me and got off one shot. He fell onto the couch and we jumped on him," Fisher said.

Stallings faces a charge of kidnap for ransom, assault and other counts, Sheriff Colman said.

Six Children Afflicted With Screwworms

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Health officials are urging parents and pet owners to take precautions following the confirmation of screwworms in six children here — the first reported in humans this year in Texas.

Precautions already have been taken by the Screwworm Eradication Center at Mission, Tex., which has released 800,000 sterile flies over part of the city to break up the insect's life cycle.

Health officers said screwworms were confirmed in the scalps of six girls ranging from 1½ to eight years old between Sept. 10 and Sept. 21.

Texas is in the midst of a major outbreak of screwworms, which primarily attack farm animals. In Texas County San Antonio alone, officials say more than 1,200 cases have been reported in livestock this year.

The six children were successfully treated and no complications developed, the Metropolitan Health District reported. Spokesmen said no more cases have been reported since.

Boggs Blasts Jello Dollar, Unemployment

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "After four years under President Nixon, the United States has the highest unemployment rate in a decade and a dollar that's 'as wobbly as Jello,'" House Majority Leader Hale Boggs said Saturday.

The New Orleans, La., Democrat also said the President has vetoed many bills aimed at improving the country, ranging from programs for child care centers to employment.

"What it amounts to is that the Republicans are just basically negative," Boggs said. "They can't think positively."

Federal Offices, Banks Will Close

Columbus sailed the ocean blue in 14 hundred and 92. And that was supposedly on Oct. 12.

But the United States Government has decreed, among other things, that Columbus Day will not be on Columbus Day but the Monday nearest and preceding Columbus Day so that federal employees may enjoy a three-day weekend.

The local Post Office, all federal offices and all banks will obey the decree and will close Monday.

Reviewing the . . .
. . . with Joe Pickle

Voter registration has climbed past the 15,200 mark — a new record — and if you haven't submitted an application, go to the courthouse today and get an application blank in the hallway outside the assessor-collector's office, fill it in and put it in the postoffice before midnight. If you do, you still can qualify to vote in the Nov. 7 general election. Wouldn't it be fine if several hundred of you would do this today? Monday will be too late.

Big Spring suddenly had a case of football fever as a result of Friday's convincing victory over the Abilene Eagles. The Steers, although still clinging to a lead at halftime, cured a porous pass defense with that old remedy — a savage rush — in the third quarter and put the clincher on with a brilliant punt runback. The brightest thing, however, was the offensive line, which for the first time, showed some of its potential. Another stern test comes here Friday against Midland High.

About the greatest news of the week was the sudden eruption of the United Way campaign, which added about $25,000 to hit the $70,000 mark. If workers could give us another week like that, we would be within shooting distance of the $113,000 goal, and our 14 local agencies, which depend upon United Way for their life, could stop worrying.

Tuesday is the deadline for signing for The Herald's European trip, a rare travel bargain if ever there was one. The flight leaves the Midland-Odessa airport Nov. 8 and heads for 3½ days DRAMA CENTER — Members of a new group called "Around Stage" are cleaning up and refurbishing the old municipal pool building in Comanche Trail Park, which they are to use for presentations of plays. Helping renovate the facility are Mrs. Robert Denault, Robert Evans, Cecelia Arcand, director; Charles Keene, assistant director; Mrs. Gary Oxley and Mrs. Andrew Hriz.

165 DIE, SEARCH FOR VICTIMS

Mexico Mourns Train Wreck

SALTILLO, Mex. (AP) — "God helped us," said a woman, who with her small daughter was rescued after being trapped several hours in the wreckage of a train that derailed near here Thursday night, killing at least 165 persons.

"I only covered my child and felt very hungry," the woman said. "I prayed a lot for us to be saved and that my husband had been saved."

The woman said she waited in suffocating heat to be rescued and that the heat grew more intense while the crews used acetylene torches to free the victims.

The woman located her husband later in a local hospital WILD ANIMAL

"The train was moving like a wild animal," said Kleovigildo Rivera, a peasant farmer. "I felt the danger and told my wife to hold her seat tightly. She started to cry."

"Later I heard screams, the people went crazy and then I felt the impact. I didn't know anything else. I lost consciousness," Rivera said.

"When I awoke I saw that many people were dead. I heard crying and screams but I couldn't move," he said.

"I fainted again, they took me to the hospital and I still don't know anything about my wife," said Rivera.

DON'T CUT
Rescue operations continued Saturday. A special crew used a crane to lift cars already cleared of dead and injured off of at least one other car crushed beneath them.

Doctors made amputations to free victims who survived the crash and subsequent fire but were trapped in the wreckage.

"Don't cut my mother, please, she's my mother," cried a 10-year-old boy while a doctor was forced to amputate an arm of the 40-year-old woman to free her. The doctor performed the surgery under tons of debris and among bodies of other victims, suspended by rope held by Red Cross rescuers.

The boy was expected to be rescued later.

"Give me a blanket. I'm cold, very cold. For the love of God, give me a blanket," said another woman. She then lost consciousness.

The passengers were returning from a religious pilgrimage to Real de Catorce in northern San Luis Potosi state where they had gone to pray to St. Francis.

NIXONITES CATER TO EXPORTERS

'The Great Grain Robbery'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study, using the huge U.S.-Soviet grain deal as an example, says the Nixon administration is damaging small farmers and consumers while catering to big exporters and other corporate giants.

The Agribusiness Accountability Project accuses the Department of Agriculture of scuttling a treaty which had set minimum prices for world wheat trade and of freely engaging in "job shuttling" of people between private business and the government.

"Agribusiness has installed itself as USDA's chief client, and the department—created to be the farmer's agency—isn't," says the report published Saturday.

GAL REPORTER
That has resulted, it says, in a policy of "What's good for agribusiness is good for America's farmers and consumers." Entitled "The Great Grain Rob-bbery and Other Stories," the report was written by Martha M. Hamilton while a member of the project's staff. She now is a reporter for The Washington Post.

The Agribusiness Accountability Project describes itself as a public-interest group financed by the Field Foundation.

The U.S. grain sale to the Soviets, estimated at $1 billion, includes about 400 million bushels of wheat plus other grain and soybeans.

The report says a treaty originated in the Johnson administration, the International Grains Arrangement, attempted to set minimum and maximum prices for wheat on the world market.

If failed, the report said, because the Nixon administration opposed international price-fixing. "Gutting the IGA was one of the first tasks the Department of Agriculture performed for the grain trade after President Nixon took office," the report says.

NO CONTRACT
The treaty was replaced by a weaker agreement which has no control over prices, the report says.

Partly as a result, the Soviet Union was able to buy cut-rate U.S. wheat at subsidized prices. Since the sale, wheat prices have jumped and this is expected to bring higher grain-food prices.

"The world in which wheat is traded is hardly a world of free trade," the report said. "It reeks of price protection, conflicting national interests, political considerations, finite markets and trade blocks."

Sales to the Soviets were handled by large export firms, including Continental Grain Co., N.Y., and Cargill, Inc. Minneapolis.

Secretly transacted last June and July, the impact of these sales was not generally known until wheat prices began soaring in late July and August.

Accusations of secrecy, financial losses by farmers in early harvest areas and questions over inside information possibly leaked by the Agriculture Department have produced a skein of Congressional investigations, White House orders for an FBI probe, and countless election-year charges and denials.

FAIR

Fair, partly cloudy, today through Monday. Slightly cooler on Monday. Low expected today near 80 and high of 88.

Red Forces Hit Capital Of Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — Small, sharp battles bracketed Saigon on Saturday and an enemy attack on Cambodia's capital left more than 60 persons killed, another 60 wounded and sent thousands fleeing from their homes.

Military authorities in Saigon reported a four-month high point in enemy attacks — possibly marking the start of a predicted effort to influence the U.S. presidential election with at least the appearance of a new offensive.

BLOW BRIDGE
Enemy infiltrators, identified as mostly Viet Cong, slipped into Cambodia's capital, Phnom Penh, shortly after a midnight rocket and mortar attack and in stolen government military vehicles shot it out with Cambodian defenders. They also blew up a major bridge.

Cambodian government accounts placed the death toll at 36 Cambodian soldiers and civilians 28 enemy. A captured Viet Cong said about 100 enemy troops — about five of them Cambodian Communists — infiltrated the city.

Another captured Viet Cong placed the number of infiltrators at 200.

The fighting ended after dawn and the infiltrators apparently withdrew, but then at nightfall the enemy lobbed two 122mm rockets into the city. They fell harmlessly into an unpopulated area behind the Roman Catholic cathedral.

THE WEEK

Building permits amounted to $1,252,000 through September, but prospects of adding to that brightened with approval of the plot plan for a 76-unit apartment complex proposed by Bill Sheppard and Winston Wrinkle. This, with another apartment unit already announced, could make the last quarter total considerably exceed that of the first three-quarters.

Although another cold front moved in toward the end of the week, it brought no moisture. This, with continued warm days, raised hopes that the cotton crops will still make it. Latest estimates still hang at 40,000 bales, but another month of similar weather could boost that.

Mike Batla, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Batla, and Dinell Hirt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hirt, won the 4-H Gold Star honors in Glasscock County, and Susan Blasingame, daughter of Mrs. Lodena Blasingame, and Byron Byrne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Byrne, won this distinction in Mitchell.

Chamber Seeks Job Applicants

The Chamber of Commerce Industrial team is still seeking applications from people who want work. There are production jobs open at this time, and beyond this, the Team also wants to have names of those who would like to be in a job pool for future industrial expansion of establishment. Ron Mercer asked everyone interested in a job to come by the Chamber as soon as possible.

Hundreds of people visited the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center last week to see the new addition to the building. This is the best equipped and operated center within a 100-mile radius, and one of the best ones in all of West Texas. You should visit this wonderful community asset.

Keith Jones submitted his resignation as juvenile officer last week, effective Nov. 30, announcing plans to return to college. The juvenile board (county, city, schools) appointed Ed F. Cherry, deputy sheriff, to succeed Jones.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District adopted a $4,733,216 budget last week for 1973. Of this, $1,422,786 will go for operation of the system (power, labor, maintenance), $3,622,430 for bond payments and interest; and $1,188,651 for improvement and extension, contingencies, coverage, etc. Incidentally, the depository of the district will be the State National Bank (not Security State) as stated.

With the election only a month away, there were some signs of a stepped up campaign. Republicans opened their headquarters, Democrats called a committee meeting for Monday evening, and here and there stickers appeared. In general, however, it was all pretty low-key.

High School Choral Department members (fortified by an orchestra from the band) had reason to be proud. Their presentation of "Oklahoma!" was not only outstanding, they had 3,000 turnout to see it.

We leave you with the happy thought that since you have received all your tax notices by now, nothing worse could happen this week — and things will be better!

Student Council Forum Lures 573

Big Spring High School student council hosted the annual West Texas forum here Saturday morning with 573 students attending from high schools throughout West Texas. John Talmadge, local sponsor, said he had no idea what schools attended since the secretary from Snyder High School checks the roll at the meeting. Patty Womack, local council president, said that the 573 attending included students from around 35 high schools and junior highs in the area. She said a delegation from Rannels Junior High attended although Gollad did not. Ricky Puga of Odessa High School presided at the business session at which time they discussed the state project on safety committees within schools. Patty said that the local council will discuss and study safety techniques within the school here.

The group voted to accept Permian High School in Odessa's invitation to the spring forum. At that time, the forum elects their officers. Discussion groups were held here Saturday with nine high school and six junior high areas discussed.

Larry Crittenden, Big Spring senior, was among the students selected to lead a discussion group. His panel was on "Promoting Sportsmanship in the School and District." BSHS had 25 delegates attending the meeting including the council officers, who are Patty Womack, president; Tom Sorley, first vice president; Paula Meek, second vice president; Lee Jones, recording secretary and Nancy Smith, corresponding secretary. The local council was in charge of the noon luncheon which was a chicken dinner.

Unwanted Cars Puzzle

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is trying to find out what to do with 1,113 partially built cars that nobody seems to want, a company spokesman said Saturday. The 1972 Novas, Firebirds and Camaros, were on the assembly lines at GM's Norwood, Ohio plant when the plant was closed by a 174-day strike by the United Auto Workers. The cars will be completed when workers return to their jobs Oct. 15.

Earlier this week, GM announced it would export the cars to Canada because they do not meet the new U.S. emission control standards that went into effect Sept. 1. GM lost its petition to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration for a 60-day extension on the pollution standards deadline.

But General Motors of Canada said Friday it will not import and sell the cars in Canada. Officials said the decision was made in response to a request by the Canadian government. The Canadian government has indicated it is highly displeased that GM would sell cars in Canada that could not meet American standards.

GM officials countered that the cars — one completed — will have all the safety and emission control features required by Canadian law.

DEATHS

Midland GI Shot, Killed
Pfc. Jesse Hernandez, 20, of Midland, was one of three persons shot and hurled from a moving train in Germany by an AWOL soldier, who was being escorted back to his base. The hunted man is Sgt. Thomas de Gregorio, 26, of Hialeah, Fla. Pfc. Hernandez and Sgt. Estremera Rivera, 38, were the guards. The third person killed was a cleaning woman on the train.

Funeral services are pending in Midland for Pfc. Hernandez. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baudello Hernandez, a brother, Tony Hernandez, who is a student at Texas Tech and a brother, Guillermo Hernandez of Midland.

Devout Moslem Eats Only Meat He Kills

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Problems encountered by being a Moslem in a foreign land are overcome by the friendliness of the Big Spring people," according to Rasheed Quadri, physical therapist at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for the past year. Rasheed, who came from Pakistan, has had some problems with his American diet. He is a devout Moslem and will not eat meat unless he himself has killed the animal, and is sure that it was facing toward the East at the time it was killed.

Therefore, he went for many months eating only fish and finally found a solution. The Hubbard Packing Company has been very understanding of his problem. People there allow him to kill goats and then leave the dressing of the meat to them. This is a lot more trouble than running down to the local supermarket and picking up a steak.

FACES EAST

He also prays, using either a Moslem prayer rug or a substitute, on the prescribed five times a day facing East. The times they must pray are just before the sunrise, between 12 noon and 1 p.m. when the sun is directly overhead, between 5 and 6, again at sunset and the last time two hours after sunset. Rasheed is able to work this around his work schedule without any difficulties.

"What I have missed most, of course, is the close love of one's family and all family ties. I am in hopes that my brother will be accepted in a Texas college as an electrical engineering student," the therapist added.

Rasheed is a graduate of the Timnah Post Graduate Medical Center in Karachi, Pakistan. Karachi is a city of four million people. Quadri came to America because there "is a much greater opportunity to practice my profession and a better future." He added that the average pay for doctors in Karachi is $250 a month.

RETURN TO MARRIAGE

In January, he plans to return home to be married. The 28-year-old doctor will marry a 21-year-old Moslem girl selected by mutual consent between the two families. "I have never seen her and will not see her until the wedding night." The therapist added that the wedding ceremony is very elaborate and will cost him around $2,000 and her family close to $3,000. Her family also prepares a dowry of things she will need after her wedding.

Rasheed said that the wedding register is taken into one room for the bride to sign and into another room for the bridegroom to sign during the ceremony. It will be followed by a banquet for around 500 guests.

When asked how he felt about marrying somebody he has never seen and has been selected for him, he said, "We have very few separations. When the pride of two families is involved, it is different."

FEW CHRISTIANS

In the city of 4 million, only around 15,000 are Christian, he added, and also said that until he came to Texas he thought of Christianity as Catholic since they are the Christian church represented most in his country. "I did not know of Methodists, Baptists, Church of Christ, Foursquare, all these things," he stated.

He also pointed out the similarities in the stories in their Holy Book and our Bible. Rasheed learned his English when he started to college. There are government schools and private schools in Pakistan but after one graduates from high school, if he takes any college work, it is all taught in English. "This is because we have no textbooks and the texts are in English."

He emphasized that there are many dialects spoken in his country, a different one in each district and they also have a national language called Urdu. PROBLEMS ENDLESS

He said that the economical problems in his country are endless with so many people living a kind of hand-to-mouth existence with no steady jobs. He added that another problem was brought about by so many persons fleeing from Bangladesh back into Pakistan. "Main ways of making a living there are farming, and exportation of leather and metal goods. His own father, who was orphaned when quite small and raised by a grandmother, served as a geological interpreter for Sun Oil Co. for many years and also worked for companies in Saudi Arabia. His maternal grandfather was a railway station master."

When asked what he thought about the turmoil in the Middle East he said, "It will always be with us and may never be completely resolved."

Rasheed has three brothers and four sisters "and I miss them," he stated. He reminisced about his childhood and the games they played. Most of the games were of British origin.

SECOND HOME — Rasheed Quadri of Pakistan has found a second home in Big Spring where he serves as a physical therapist at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

as a carryover from the days when the sun never set on the British Empire. They played cricket instead of baseball and soccer instead of football and also played typical children's games "such as marbles or hiding games."

His roommate in Big Spring is also from Pakistan and is Rafiq Padella, a student at H.C.J.C. He is studying engineering. When asked about the military, Rasheed said that there is no draft. He laughed and added, "There is a waiting list to get into the military because their standard of living is higher than most in Pakistan."

When asked about what his countrymen think of Americans, he stated, "We like them. We have many American teachers and professors and oilfield workers. We do not get many typical tourists."

"When asked if he wanted to add anything else he quickly said, "Yes. Say that I like the people I work with and there is nobody else like my boss, Jim Tompson. Big Spring is fortunate."

Insurance Vote May Be Soon

Rep. Renal Rosson, Snyder, was here Saturday for some quick campaigning to represent the 3rd legislative district next biennium. He was accompanied here by Mrs. Rosson.

He said that sweeping changes in the insurance laws may not result from the current special session of the legislature, but that indications are that some sort of bill would come up on the House and calendars by mid-week and then to a vote.

In the meantime, there are some signs that rating procedures may be changed, particularly on the extended coverage for property insurance. Rep. Rosson reported. He said he was encouraged that either by new legislative regulations or by re-drawing of territorial boundaries, this area would obtain substantially lower extended coverage premiums. It is illogical that this area should have a rate three and a half times the central and coastal areas, he said.

The House appropriations committee, of which he is a member, has reported out two major items, for which state funds already are available, namely the deficiency appropriation to take care of the last of the primary election costs, also funds for the first phase of a mental retardation facility in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

When asked what he thought about the turmoil in the Middle East he said, "It will always be with us and may never be completely resolved."

Rasheed has three brothers and four sisters "and I miss them," he stated. He reminisced about his childhood and the games they played. Most of the games were of British origin.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE Caylor Fan Suggests An Annual Exhibition

The H. W. Caylor revival is going strong at Heritage Museum where more than 800 crowded through the first day and continued at a brisk pace all week to inspect the paintings of the pioneer artist.

More than 50 examples of the work of the Big Spring man, who devoted his career to capturing the raw West on canvas when the open range was giving way to barbed wire, are on display.

"It has exceeded my fondest dreams," Howard N. Duff, Exhibitors and Museum officers Friday. Duff is probably the outstanding authority on the works of H. W. Caylor and has a number of the original sketch books in which Caylor jotted down ideas for pictures and for personalities.

Duff and his brother-in-law, Brent Melton, Los Angeles, Calif., who also came here to view the exhibit, hosted a brunch Friday at Holiday Inn for museum officers and exhibitors. Melton said he hoped this "is but the Alpha — that the preservation of this man's works will grow and grow." Duff also expressed the hope that this will be an annual or a continuing event. Great Falls, Mont., he said has a brisk tourist trade from a museum which houses the works of the late Olaf Seltzer.

IN FACT, Duff felt so strongly about it, the Caylor event, that he made two proposals: He and his wife propose to deed their interests in paintings, which he said Mrs. Caylor had given to them but which had been loaned to the old West Texas Museum; secondly, he offered to give an oil reproduction, which has a remarkable fidelity to the originals, annually to the student who produces the best essay Caylor or his art.

"This is the best — the only logical place — for his paintings to be preserved, here in the environment, where he painted them," he said. "I hope you will join in the concept of making this an annual affair. Other artists and art fanciers can't come on short notice, but they would if they knew from year to year when it would be."

The exhibit, which includes oils, four water colors, a charcoal, and one bit of sculpture, will remain on exhibit through the first week of November, and possibly longer.

comedy, opens Friday on stage at Midland Community Theatre.

One of the most successful comedies in New York at the turn of the decade, it was a sell-out for nearly two solid years. Art Cole is the designer-director for the production. Tickets may be had by writing Box 4847 Midland, for this or the other presentations Oct. 14, 19-22, 27-28.

The 21st season of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale, now under leadership of Robert Kreis, will open Monday, Oct. 23, in Midland Lee auditorium and Tuesday, Oct. 24, in Bonham Junior High auditorium, Odessa. Concert time is 8 p.m. Brilliant young American pianist Eugene Fridonoff will be spotlighted in the "Emperor" concert by Beethoven. The initial part of the program takes excerpts from "Die Meistersinger" (Wagner) and "Water Music" (Handel). Season tickets may be had from Box 4332 Midland (20 reserved, $15 general, $4 student. Singles are $4 and $1).

Those who like beauty in great splashes will find it at Tyler Oct. 19-22 when 35th annual Texas Rose Festival is held. The major event is the rose show, "Roses of the Rubaiyat," with vast Persian arches, mirrored effects and special lighting. Each night there will be a pageant and beauties centered around the coronation of Cynthia Striner as festival queen.

If you want a collector's item, consider "Texas Wild Flowers" by Eliza Griffith Johnston, who prepared the original copy as a gift to her husband, Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, CSA. This collector's edition is being limited to 300 copies, each numbered and certified, bound in genuine saddle leather with the top edge in gold, and 9 1/2 x 12 1/2 color plates from Mrs. Johnston's delicate water colors more than a century ago. The price: $100.

Sale of performance tickets for Dallas Civic Opera's 10th festival season is now underway. Four operas are scheduled: Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas" and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" on double bill Nov. 3-10, and Massenet's "Werther" Nov. 17-19, 21, and Dini's "L'ucia di Lammermoor," Dec. 1, 3, 8. Information may be had at 1726 National Bankers Life Bldg., Dallas.

Buck Schwetzel's new book "The Schwetzel Legacy: An Artist's Tribute to Texas, 1910-1971" is now off the University of Texas Press. It has 48 color plates and 48 black and white ones. The special prepublication volumes are $17.50; after Nov. 1 they are $20.

Owner of Silent Woman Speaks

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The owner of the Silent Woman tavern says she plans to continue his policy of banning women from the barroom during the day until he's ordered to stop.

Owner Joel R. Frank told a state Division of Human Rights hearing Thursday. "This has always been generally a men's bar and we intend to keep it that way."

Three women filed sex discrimination complaints with the division after they were refused service at the bar.

Extortion Involved?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — FBI agents are investigating the possibility that an extortion attempt was involved in a bomb explosion at a cocktail lounge here, a spokesman said.

No one was injured in the blast, which tore holes in parts of two walls at the north side club, King Arthur's Court, early Thursday.

Damage was tentatively estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000.

FBI Agent Karl Stefansson told a newsman that by late Thursday the case had a "smacking of extortion being involved."

He declined to elaborate and said agents "haven't nailed it down enough to know for sure exactly what is involved."

In response to questions, he said agents were ordered to check other lounges in the area and residents to develop leads in the case.

The blast struck the rear of the club. No one was inside at the time.

It was heard over a wide area of the north side. Many residents, awakened by the noise, flooded police and sheriff's department switchboards with calls.

Training School For OEA Slated

The State Department of Education has scheduled a training school leadership conference for local chapter officers of the Office Education Association, to be held next Saturday at Western Texas College, Snyder.

Purpose of the program is to inform officers of the chapters of their duties and responsibilities and to assist them in the formation and development of their program. Big Spring delegates due to attend are Lisa Gaultreaux, president, and Galyne Bledsoe, vice president.

An Area IV OEA in-service education workshop for VOE teacher-coordinators is to be held at the same time. Accompanying the local representatives will be Mrs. Vonna Swim, VOE teacher-coordinator at Big Spring High School.

C-C Directors Convene Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors is set for Monday noon in the Spanish Inn, R. H. Weaver, president announced. Reports from the various divisions will highlight the session, he said.

MRS. BRENDA ELKINS With unique display

Admiration For Afro Arts Led To New Business Here

Hand-carved pieces of ebony from the Makonde and Zaramo tribes of east Africa are among features of a new import dealer in Big Spring.

Now in its third week of business, The Bahari Shop, 202 East Third, is owned and operated by Brenda Elkins.

Mrs. Elkins developed an admiration for the African and Asian arts in her travels and now offers fine specimens of the carvings at the Bahari shop.

The ebony carvings feature animals and tribal scenes and busts of people characteristic to such eastern Africa nations as Tanzania and Kenya.

Although the ebony carvings are the primary feature of the Bahari Shop, Mrs. Elkins noted that the shop will eventually carry a wide variety of imports from throughout the world.

Already, the variety has widened to include hand-made beadwork from India, baskets from China, and paintings and sketches of Africans, tribal scenes and animals native to the Belgian Congo.

Small gift ideas such as perfume deodorizers from Hong Kong are also in stock.

An antique copper cuspidor from India is one of Mrs. Elkins favorite items, as well as a 200-year old grinding stone, or Maize stone, from India.

The Bahari Shop's bananawood trays and cooking utensils make a beautiful addition to any table service, complemented admirably with table cloths and luncheon sets, hand-embroidered from Tanzania.

An interesting department of the shop is the greeting card section where Mrs. Elkins proudly display hand-embroidered greeting cards from the YWCA of Tanzania.

Also featured are handpainted greeting cards from Tanzania.

The selection of what Mrs. Elkins terms as "limited," is almost endless; and if a particular object in mind is not in stock at the Bahari Shop, Mrs. Elkins says she will be happy to locate it and order it.

Don Ferguson New Display Ad Chief

Promotion of Don Ferguson to be manager of display advertising department of the Big Spring Herald, was announced Saturday by Oliver Cofer, director of advertising.

Ferguson will succeed Jim Mills, who has accepted a promotion to become the Advertising Director of the Lewisville Leader, which, like the Herald, is a member of the Hart-Hanks group of newspapers. He begins his new work Monday.

Ferguson has been a member of the Herald Staff for more than a score of years, having served at different intervals in both classified and display advertising sales and service. He joined the Herald in January 1951 under the late Ben Ferrell, then head of classified advertising.

A native of Vivien, La., Ferguson came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ferguson, in 1923, at age six. His father was with his brother, the late Ned Ferguson, in oil well drilling contracting, and the family lived at Ross City.

Cosden Units Relocating

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company is relocating its marketing headquarters in Dallas.

The transfer from New York City to Dallas will be effective Nov. 1, according to an announcement by Ken Naumann, vice president of marketing.

Cosden's southwest district sales office also will be with the national office in the new Fina building located at 8350 North Central Expressway in Dallas.

DON FERGUSON

Young Ferguson started school at the old (Otis) Chalk school, attended Forsan and then Big Spring schools. In the late 1930's the family followed oil play to various towns such as Kermit, Pecos, Pampa, etc., and then back to Big Spring.

From 1941-45, Ferguson was in San Francisco, Calif., where he was married to Kitty Stamford. They returned to Big Spring where he worked for a time at the bombardier school and helped his father in sale of motors, boars, etc. prior to joining the Herald.

Over the years, he has participated in a number of TONA advertising seminars. He has served as a Little League baseball coach. He and Mrs. Ferguson live at 1510 Vines, and they have two sons, Dale, who is married, and Glenn, a student in Big Spring High School.

Klondike Stages Rites Oct. 13

KLONDIKE (SC) — Klondike High School will stage its annual Homecoming ceremonies next Friday.

Highlight of the reunion will be a football game between Klondike and Borden County.

Following the game, a reception and program will be held in the school cafeteria. The Class of 1949 will be honored at that time.

Texas' Governor-For-A-Day Supporting GOP Candidate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Connally became Texas governor-for-a-day Saturday and took the occasion to urge Texans to vote for President Nixon.

"I am not taking an active part in the campaign but it is obvious I am going to vote for Nixon," Connally told newsmen after the traditional swearing-in ceremony for the Senate president pro tempore, or assistant presiding officer.

"I made it clear throughout my recent campaign (for lieutenant governor) that I would not support George McGovern or his policies and I still feel that way," said the Democratic senator from Floresville.

NOT PRESENT — The senator's brother, former Texas governor and former secretary of Treasury John B. Connally who is national head of Democrats for Nixon, was not present for the ceremony. However, another of his Lonely Heart? Make Her Say 'Yes'

DALLAS (AP) — This year's His and Hers item from the Christmas catalogue of Neiman-Marcus, the Dallas specialty store, was revealed Saturday as the perfect companion who never answers back.

For a mere $3,000 you can have a specially retained sculptor do a life-size model of yourself or anyone else you designate. A programmed tape-recording keeps it saying just what you want it to say.

Lonely heart? What more comforting than the little woman in life-size, nodding in her usual chair by the television and saying "Yes" each time you press the remote control button? Tough another button and she's laughing at your jokes much more enthusiastically than the real missus does.

Nervous at night? Have a life-size figure there to utter encouraging sounds and keep intruders away. Maybe a cop, even?

Don't feel like going down to the office? Have that sculptured figure of yourself delivered there and sat at your desk. Maybe no one would notice the difference.

Two of them, with the young couple who modelled them, were seen off by plane from Love Field by Edward Marcus, chairman of the board. They were flown to Atlanta, where they will be on exhibition in the new Neiman-Marcus branch store.

Last year's His and Hers items were less cuddly and companionable—authentic Egyptian mummy cases. They were bought by a collector in California and presented to a museum.

Previous gifts have included submarines, airplanes, camels, Jaguars (his was a car, hers a fur coat), flying balloons and even matching bathtubs.

brothers, Golfrey Connally, San Antonio, who is actively campaigning for McGovern, was a witness.

Connally's first mention of the presidential race came in his inauguration acceptance speech when he declared Oct. 7 as "Voter Conscience Day" throughout Texas. "I would ask that all Texans take time out to examine their consciences and in the next 30 days make a sincere and dedicated effort to become informed voters," he said.

TOO MUCH — Then he added that the late President John F. Kennedy once said that "Sometimes party loyalty demands too much."

"Remembering these words of a great president, I am hopeful that the people of Texas will ponder them and act accordingly," the senator said.

Connally said he had not yet made up his mind on the U.S. Senate race between Sen. John

Court Considers Applications

LAMESA — The Dawson County Commissioners Court is due Monday morning to adopt a resolution authorizing the Planning Commission to ask bids in behalf of Dawson County for sheriff's department radio equipment. The court also will consider a resolution for an application for public defender.

Board In Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Red Cross board of directors at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday in the commissioners' room of the county courthouse. N. E. Roll, chapter manager, urges members to attend as he says there is important business to discuss.

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Finding homes for kittens can be troublesome, but a county humane society here got stuck with an unwanted eight-foot boa constrictor. A housewife found it at her front door.

Playhouse Event Set

COLORADO CITY — The first of the Colorado City Playhouse series featuring talent other than the Playhouse group, will open Thursday for a three-day run. It is "Dear Liar," Jerome Kilty's adaptation from the correspondence between George Bernard Shaw and Mrs. Patrick Campbell. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Thursday through Saturday. Reservations ($2) may be made by writing to the Playhouse, Box 704, Colorado City, or telephoning 728-3491.

Cecil Rutherford and Judy Olson have been invited by Betty Tomb, Playhouse president, for the two-character play. Rutherford has had considerable Broadway, off-Broadway and stock experience, being in the same cast with such personalities as Helen Hayes, Andy Griffith, Don Knotts, etc. He and his wife have been instrumental recently in forming the Abilene Civic Ballet. Miss Olson is a product of the Yale Graduate School of Drama and has worked with E. G. Marshall, Dick Cavett, Julie Harris.

4 reasons (including price) to pick Ford's Courier over other imports

Courier is the import with the long list of standard equipment

Features at right are extra cost on some imports—or aren't available. They're all included in Courier's low standard price. So are the peppy 1800-cc. overhead-cam engine and the easy-shift 4-speed transmission.

- STANDARD EQUIPMENT ON FORD'S COURIER
- bright-finish front bumper
 - bright-finish grille
 - whitewall tires
 - bright hub caps
 - mud flaps at rear
 - dual sun visors
 - dual armrests
 - full floor mat backed by insulation
 - handy storage space behind latched seat back

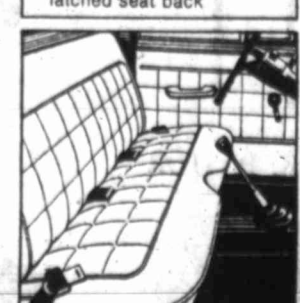

Courier is the import with the hefty build and wide loadspace

The box is over 6 feet long, and extra wide. Big 1400-pound capacity for people and payloads, too. And Courier's built heavier than most imports: Husky frame. Big coil springs up front. Long 6-leaf rear springs.

Courier is the import with the long wheelbase to smooth the ride

You get the extra smoothness of a long 104-inch wheelbase—and a great cab in which to enjoy the ride. Foam-padded seat is deep and comfortable. Handsomely tailored interior has full vinyl headliner and door paneling.

Courier is the import with the low $2222* price

Why pay up to $150 more—and still not get all that Courier gives you? Before you buy any imported pickup, look into Courier.

Stellar Star Show Sunday

TOKYO (AP) — Professional and amateur astronomers are set to watch some stellar fireworks Sunday night in what could be the most spectacular meteor shower of this century.

The Environmental Agency, in response to a request by a group called the Japan Association to Protect the Starry Sky, has called on owners of skyscrapers and buildings in the cities to switch off all of their outdoor lights for the night.

Jiro Kondo, a junior at Tokyo's Waseda University, and his two friends have left for Siberia where they hope they can get a much better view. The starry shower is expected to cross over Korea, the southwestern Soviet Union and the north of Japan.

The Tokyo Astronomical Observatory said the shower, a meteor stream associated with the comet Giacobini-Zinner, may be visible to the naked eye as it passes across the sky for about four hours after midnight Sunday.

The observatory has installed temporary observation stations at various locations of the country to collect information.

The phenomenon may be seen every 13 years if the comet Giacobini-Zinner comes within "a reasonable distance" from the earth, the observatory said.

WORTHY VISIT

'Land Down Under' Awakening Giant

Jerry Worthy, just back from a month's business trip to Australia, looks upon the "land down under" as an awakening giant.

It has tremendous resources only now being really tapped and developed. Australians hope to be able to change their status from a raw materials base into one of manufacturing, but they are plagued by the problem of isolation from markets.

There are vast deposits of metals, estimated to be good for several centuries, nobody knows what the vast arid interior might yield.

Thus far, most of the development has hugged between the mountains and the east coast, but Aussies are dreaming boldly about employing atomic blasts some day to knock out the hump which separates a big below-sea-level sink in the interior from the ocean. Could this be done, there could be tidalwater in the heart of the land, and possibly climatic changes that would relieve some of the intense heat and dryness of the "Outback" country. Worthy says much of it resembles far-west Texas or the wastelands of Utah. The great stretch of red soil is so wide that it takes about half a day to fly over in a commercial airliner.

Australia has tapped great natural gas reserves, but the major cities still rely on liquefied petroleum gas. Key highways are no better than Texas farm-to-market roads.

At a cost of multiplied millions, water from the Hawksbury river, running from the mountains to Sidney, has been diverted through a series of tunnels that supply most of the east coastal cities. There is some talk of a similar diversion to throw this water resource westward to the edges of the Outback.

Worthy spent most of his time in checking on business interests in and around Sidney, but he made trips to Brisbane on the north and Melbourne to the south. Canberra, the new capital city, is so perfectly groomed it resembles a college campus, and it has a fountain located in the center of a lake, which jets water an unbelievable 450 feet into the air.

Austrian people are open and friendly and a lot like Texans, he said. They are eternally grateful for the Yanks saving Australia in WW II. They have an insatiable appetite for horse racing, rugby and quaffing beer at the pub. They have just completed a $90 million national opera building, but without a single extra parking place in the vicinity. Worthy visited in Singapore (where natives haven't forgotten the British route), Istanbul (where he visited famous mosques), Athens (where he saw the Acropolis and Parthenon in the pageant of lights), and Rome (which clings to its antiquity by refusing new hotel construction), and London (from whence he made a journey to the village of Worthy).

Federal Spending Out Of Control?

HOUSTON (AP) — Charles E. Walker, deputy Secretary of the Treasury, says the Nixon administration is considering emergency powers to clamp down on federal spending that "may be out of control."

Walker said in a Friday news conference that Congress may appropriate up to $260 billion this season.

He said spending at that level "could once again send us back on an inflationary treadmill."

He said part of the reason federal spending may be slipping out of control is the "piecemeal and splintered" nature of the appropriation process in Congress.

"They don't evaluate total spending and total revenues in Congress," he said. "They just sort of add it all up and there it is."

Baptists Offering Book To Freshmen

ABILENE — Every freshman student at Hardin-Simmons University this fall will receive a special edition of Good News for Modern Man, the best-selling Today's English Version of the New Testament and Psalms, thanks to an anonymous gift to the Southern Baptist Education Commission in Nashville, Tenn.

About 23,850 enrolling freshmen students at the 65 Southern Baptist colleges, universities, and academies across the nation will be given the special edition, bound in red leatherette. An anonymous gift of about $25,000 made the complimentary copies available.

Calls Connally 'Outright Liar'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Roy Evans, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, called former treasury secretary John Connally an "outright liar" Saturday for blaming Connally's support of President Nixon on the Democrats' nomination of Sen. George McGovern.

"The fact is that Connally and one of his cronies, George Christian, said on the CBS television show '60 Minutes' as far back as Nov. 28, 1971, that they would support Nixon no matter who the Democrats chose," Evans said in a statement.

Evans said he was mailing his statement to 20,000 labor leaders across the state.

License Hikes Facing Battle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Hikes in the cost of hunting and fishing licenses are in the hands of a House subcommittee that meets Monday, but indications Friday were that the bills faced an uphill fight.

The increases, as well as the elimination of some exemptions included in the current law, brought some sharp questions at a Parks and Wildlife committee hearing Friday.

"We can stand some increase," said committee chairman Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo, "but this raises fishing licenses over 100 per cent."

A subcommittee named by Harding will hear the bills Monday.

Under the bills hunting and fishing licenses would cost $3.25 each after Sept. 1, 1973. Hunting licenses now cost $3.25 and fishing licenses $2.15.

Highway Deaths

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas traffic has killed 2,676 persons so far this year, compared with 2,605 for the same period in 1971, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

That is a 3 per cent increase. Fatal accidents for the year total 2,247, compared with 2,142 at this time a year ago.

That is a 5 per cent increase.

PLEASE DON'T SHAKE JUNIOR Kids Are Not Cocktails

NEW YORK (AP) — Children are not cocktails that need shaking to be good, a physician warns.

Angry seizing and shaking a "bad" infant or youngster can cause brain damage, broken bones, or even death, writes Dr. John Caffey of Pittsburgh. Some injuries are like those from "whiplash" automobile collisions.

Dr. Caffey tells of one powerful, 233-pound nursemaid who was blamed for killing three infants and injuring or maiming 12 others over an eight-year period.

EVERY DAY

The incidents all occurred when she was taking care of youngsters in middle-class families who gave their children expert pediatricians' care. The nurse was considered to be very kind to children.

In another instance, the same woman caused a whiplash neck injury in a baby whose back she pounded to "burp" him.

"Shakings are generally considered innocuous by both parents and physicians," Dr. Caffey, of the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh, writes in the American Journal of Diseases of Children.

But he cites 27 recorded cases of injury or death from shakings, and thinks this "is only an infinitesimal portion of the uncounted thousands of moderate, unadmitted, undetected and unrecorded whiplash shakings which probably occur every day in the United States."

An infant's or child's head is pretty large relatively for weak neck muscles, and violent shaking can cause neck injuries or burst blood vessels in the young brain. Bones of legs or arms can be broken from the shearing action of the movements, Dr. Caffey says.

DAMAGE TO BRAINS

Permanent damage to brains or eyes, mental retardation or death can result.

"The whiplash shaking of infants and younger children are pervasive, pernicious practices which can be observed wherever parents, parent-substitutes, infants and small children congregate; in the home, on the street, in buses, nurseries, kindergartens, day-care centers, orphanages, 'preschool' schools, in parks, playgrounds, shopping centers, and even in the waiting rooms of pediatric clinics.

"Many well-intentioned, responsible parents, who think nothing of giving a small child a 'good shaking' or a series of such shakings, and would not dream of giving their children a series of 'good' blows or punches on the head.

"Yet the cumulative pathogenic effects of repeated mild or moderate whiplash shakings of the head, though inapparent clinically, may be far more grave than single, even if heavy, blows or punches to the head."

ROUGH PLAY

Dr. Caffey also cautions about other accepted practices that shake the infant's head, such as tossing the baby into the air, giving him a violent ride while he sits astride the parent's ankle, holding the infant by his ankles and swinging him around through the air, spinning until he becomes dizzy, or other rough play.

He also casts a doubtful eye at many "toys and recreational contraptions which generate whiplash shakes and jolts to the head," saying they should be analyzed to see whether they could cause possible harm to infants and young children from prolonged use.

"These items should include baby bouncers and infant jumpers and, for younger children, the swings, seesaws and playrides in amusement parks, the powered viratory and practice equipment in gymnasia; powered cradles and powered rocking horses, trampolines, skateboards and sled jumping.

WHIPLASH

"The same studious consideration should be given to jolting transport vehicles which carry infants and small children — bicycles and such powered vehicles as motorcycles and motor cars driven rapidly and habitually over rough roads," Dr. Caffey says.

"The recurrent exposure to the snowmobile probably offers the greatest hazard to infantile brains and hearing," he adds, while "the pathogenic, brainjolting whiplash potentials for infants and younger children who are carried habitually in speedboats over rough water and in airplanes in rough weather are manifest."

Arguments In Powers Murder Trial Monday

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP) — Final arguments in the murder trial of Harold Ray Powers are scheduled for Monday morning in 91st District Court here.

State and defense lawyers finished their cases late Friday afternoon, after recalling several psychiatrists for their opinion on Powers' sanity.

The 25-year-old Brownwood man is charged with the Dec. 1970 slaying of Gordon G. Bengton, 42, of Boston, Mass. Proceedings were transferred to Eastland on a change of venue from Brown County.

One psychiatrist, Dr. William G. Wilkerson of Brownwood, said Powers needed treatment in a "closed environment." And he said Powers could be suffering from a brain tumor.

But neither Wilkerson nor another defense witness would state whether Powers is sane.

The state also called a psychiatrist, Dr. James Grissom of Dallas, who repeated his opinion given in earlier testimony—that Powers was sane and capable of handling his defense.

Eastland County Dist. Atty. Emory Walton expects the case to go to the jury sometime Monday afternoon.

Cancer Crusade Chapter Meets

Members of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society met in the Downtown Tea Room Thursday to discuss objectives for the ensuing year.

Mrs. John Burns and Mrs. Edman McMurry are co-chairwomen of the group. The Howard County drive for funds will formally get under way April 3, 1973.

The state failed to meet its quota last year but will seek $4 million next year.

Hope was expressed here that enough money could be raised statewide for the purchase of a mobile cancer detection unit, which would cost an estimated $250,000. Another $250,000 would be needed to operate the unit for a year.

Although designed for use by all women, it would especially be used by women in lower income groups who cannot afford thorough medical examinations on a regular basis.

Objective for Howard County is $12,500. Last year, an estimated $9,000 was raised within the county. The committee will seek gifts through personal approach.

Theft Of Mayor's Watch Nothing To Brag About

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — It's one thing to steal the mayor's wristwatch, but it's another to brag about its origin and try to sell it for an inflated price.

Baltimore police say it was the bragging and inflating that led to the arrest Friday of a 15-year-old boy on a charge of stealing Mayor William Donald Schaefer's $42 watch while the mayor's arm was hanging out of his limousine window last month.

Police said the arrest resulted from the boy trying to sell the watch for $75 because it had belonged to Schaefer.

The market didn't respond, however. Police said the watch was eventually sold for $10 but still hasn't been recovered.

Indictments For Murders

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — John Emanuel Meadows, 34, already facing a life sentence for the murder of one woman, has been indicted here for the alleged slaying of two other women.

The indictments charged Meadows and his wife, Deloris, with the murders of Mrs. Ruth Maynard, 24, who disappeared from an Odessa tavern Jan. 9, 1971, and Linda Cougat, 24, who disappeared from a city-coin laundry Oct. 19, 1968. Their bodies were not found until long after they vanished.

Meadows pleaded guilty Thursday to the strangulation of Gloria Sue Nix Green, who was abducted and killed June 17, 1971.

Bond of $10,000 was set for Mrs. Meadows by Judge C.W. Milburn for each indictment. Since Meadows is serving a life sentence for the Green murder, no bond was necessary.

Legion Meet Is Slated

Legionnaires and auxiliary members of District 19 of the American Legion will assemble here on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 14-15, E. W. Graham, commander of Post 355, announced.

Registration will open at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Settles Hotel. Don Ferris will head a rehabilitation session at 3 p.m. The hospitality hour will commence at 5 p.m., and the joint banquet for Legion Auxiliary at 6:30 p.m. at the hotel will feature George Zachariah, past commander of Post 355, as master of ceremonies.

District Chaplain Rev. James Enger will give the invocation. Wade Choate, mayor, will welcome the visitors, and response will be by Ellis Schmid, of Slaton. District Commander Harold D. Boston, Brownfield, and district president Mrs. Tom Wheeler, Plainview, will make introductions and appointments. Dr. C. L. Kay, assistant to the president, Lubbock Christian College, will deliver the principal address. A dance will follow at 9 p.m. at the hotel.

At 9:15 a.m. Sunday Rev. James Enger will be in charge of the joint memorial service at the post home. At 10 a.m. the Legion and Auxiliary will hold their separate business sessions. Committee reports will be heard, and a membership program for the ensuing year will be discussed.

DEMO PANEL TO MEET

A meeting of the Howard County Democratic executive committee has been called for Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the county courtroom.

Lee Porter, county chairman, said that there would be discussion about the current campaign, operation of the headquarters unit, and other vital matters. He urged a good attendance by members, and by any other Democrats.

Land Donation In East Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Southland Paper Mills, Inc., of Lufkin has given 163 acres of heavily wooded shoreland on Lake Livingston in East Texas for inclusion in a proposed state park, the Parks and Wildlife Department announced today.

The land is eight miles south west of Livingston near the ghost town of Swartwout, a steamboat landing on the Trinity River in the 1830s and 1840s.

Bad Check Charge

A felony complaint for a worthless check has been filed against Ron E. Harry, 37, of a local hotel. Harry was in jail Friday afternoon in lieu of posting $2,000 bond set by Peace Justice Jess Slaughter.

THEY CALL IT PUPPY LOVE

Eventually Every Family Gets A Dog

Copley News Service

Sooner or later, in the life of most families, there comes the thought of getting a dog.

But between the thought and the happy moment when the newcomer is settled down in the bosom of the family there are a few problems.

How do you go about finding the dog you want?

WILL PAY OFF

If you lean toward the purebred variety, the place to get the dog is from a breeder. If you are not sure just what you want, a little preliminary research will pay off.

The American Kennel Club publishes a regularly updated volume on all recognized breeds. In "The Complete Dog Book" are pictures, specifications on judging and a record of each breed's historical development.

Most people in the dog business agree that you can do most of the homework and the footwork, yourself, but the final choice may require the help of a knowledgeable friend. If you are interested in showing a dog or breeding your new dog it takes an expert to check out breeding lines. You can find this expert at breed clubs or by talking to veterinarians.

FULL OF SPUNK

But when you are picking out a puppy to take home for a pet, one primary rules applies. Said Virginia Ross, who has been a breeder and publishes a breed directory: "The most important thing is to pick a puppy who is alert, aggressive, lively, full of spunk and acts like a little kid. This is what you want to look for."

"If you have children, the dog should be bigger than they are. I don't like to see a small dog in a household where there are little children. The child looms large over the dog and some times hurt the dog," she added.

It is important to pick a puppy that has been around human beings since it was born. "Little puppies need to be loved and to get used to human beings. They need to be handled. A puppy that doesn't get that kind of love may become shy or feisty. Actually, they are afraid, and it is because they are afraid that they bite."

People who come at a dog with a newspaper, and who do a lot of screaming and hollering are very hard on puppies," said Mrs. Ross.

LAP DOGS

The popularity of breeds changes slowly, commented Wesley O. Speckmann, a Southern California expert on animal regulation. "Many years ago it was the cocker spaniel, then the poodle, which probably is the most popular breed still for pet purposes and show. The shift now is to even smaller dogs, like Yorkshire and Silky terriers lap dog types.

"Also it has been the in thing for a couple of years to own a large and unusual dog. An Afghan is a status symbol."

"Guard dogs — a trained attack dog — come under special regulatory laws, because they represent a liability factor. If you employ a guard dog you must notify the fire, police, and animal regulation departments, so they know what they are up against in case they should have to take some emergency action on your property."

CROSS BREEDS

A puppy is not always the answer for every home. There often are good grown dogs available, and frequently at a bargain price. While a purebred puppy may cost from $75 to $150 for the more common breeds, an older dog is often available for next to nothing. Many breeders are looking for good homes for some of their adult dogs, which they want to replace with upcoming pups.

Not everyone wants a purebred dog. They may find the animal that suits them among the cross breeds and, occasionally, purebred puppies and dogs that fill the cages of the animal shelters.

EYE TO EYE — Whether you buy your pooch at an expensive kennel or go down to the neighborhood animal shelter makes little difference but the happiness of both owner and pet does. Because of this people should be careful in selecting a dog which fits into their life style.

He Needs Help

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both college graduates, in our late twenties. We've been married for five years and now have a 3-month-old baby. I believe my husband loves our daughter as much as I, but I see some problems developing and need some advice.

The second week after I was home from the hospital I began to notice his reluctance to handle her or help in her care. Before she was born he informed me he would not change diapers unless it was an emergency. I agreed. Then I developed an infection and ran a 104 fever. I could barely get myself out of bed, but he never changed one diaper.

When she was a month old we went shopping for clothes for me. While I tried on clothes, he held the baby. She started to cry so he put her on the fitting-room floor. Now he says he won't go shopping with the baby until she's old enough to sit in a stroller by herself.

I have to ASK him to play with her. He has never volunteered. He never wants to hold her. If she spits up a little or soils a diaper he hands her to me and leaves the room.

The last straw was when we went marketing and I had to carry the baby the whole time. When I asked him to please take her for a few minutes, he refused, saying he gets severe headaches when he carries her. (He's 6 feet tall and weighs 200 pounds.) Now he says he will never carry her again so I shouldn't ask. This hurts me deeply. What should I do? It is affecting our relationship, and I know it is affecting the baby, too. I want so much for him to feel comfortable with her and enjoy her as I do. Please help me.

DEAR ABBY: My dentist has had breath! He's a wonderful dentist, but it really bothers me when I am in his chair. Is there any subtle way I can tell him I wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world.

DEAR ABBY: You could tell him about a mouthwash you have "discovered" and ask him to try it. If that doesn't register, you could "confide" in his nurse. If it bothers you, it must bother other patients. It would be a kindness to get the message to him.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 8786, Los Angeles, Calif. 90061.

girls are usually the daughters of fathers who paid no attention to them when they were small, so these girls will do everything and anything to make up for the love and attention they failed to get from their fathers.)

Your husband needs professional counseling now to overcome his obvious efforts to cop out of fatherhood. (Would he have treated a son this way?) Offer to go with him, but insist that he go. An ounce of prevention... And good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that a man in his twenties can go about being a gay dog, hugging, pinching, flirting with the women, and everybody thinks he's just being a "real man," and they just laugh it off.

But if a man in his seventies or eighties does it, you, Dear Abby, and others like you call him "sick" or a "dirty old man."

Healthy senior citizens have sex urges, too, you know. Or do you?

OUTRAGED IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR OUTRAGED: Hold it! I'm all for senior citizens enjoying as many of life's pleasures as they are able to, providing they play by the rules. And an elderly man who makes passes at another man's wife is a "dirty old man" in my book. And a young man who does the same thing is a dirty YOUNG man.

DEAR ABBY: My dentist has had breath! He's a wonderful dentist, but it really bothers me when I am in his chair. Is there any subtle way I can tell him I wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world.

DEAR VICTIM: You could tell him about a mouthwash you have "discovered" and ask him to try it. If that doesn't register, you could "confide" in his nurse. If it bothers you, it must bother other patients. It would be a kindness to get the message to him.

USING ELECTRONIC TERMINAL — Marcia Staggs records a sales transaction using one of Hemphill-Wells' new point-of-sale terminals. Robert Hickson, manager here, said this advanced equipment will be connected to two company-owned computers next spring. Magnetic tapes with this information is transported daily to the Lubbock NCR Data Center for processing now.

Local Store Installing New Accounting System

By JOHN EDWARDS
Hemphill-Wells sales personnel last week started using new adaptations of cash registers, point-of-sale terminals which will be linked to computers by telephone lines next spring.

When completely phased-in, the NCR 280 Retail System will provide company executives with up-to-the-minute accounting and sales information. Robert Hickson, local manager and a member of the board said.

Hemphill-Wells, a private corporation with six stores in West Texas, is one of the first retail outlets in the nation to install a completely computerized system using NCR equipment throughout. Terminals are being installed in all six stores.

MORE ACCURATE
Providing faster, more accurate service to customers is the primary purpose of the new system.

Management personnel program terminals to perform dozens of operations, reducing time and human error. These complex solid-state terminals are easy to operate. The sales person selects the type of transaction — cash, charge, layaway, C.O.D. or other category.

After this first key is punched, instructions are illuminated throughout the programmed sequence until the transaction is completed. The terminal adds, subtracts, multiplies, computes sales tax and determines the amount of change due the customer.

Information from terminals is collected on magnetic tape and processed at the NCR Data Center in Lubbock.

PRINT OUT

By 10 a.m. the next morning, store officials have a computer print-out on the day's business. All information needed for accounting and merchandising is provided.

After completely implemented next spring, this business system will offer up-to-the-minute information. Store personnel using a remote NCR 260 Thermal Printer here, will obtain data on demand.

Hemphill-Wells Company chose the NCR System after studying data systems extensively for six months. Hickson served on a committee that viewed equipment in Washington, D. C.; Philadelphia Penn.; Rancho Bernardo, Calif.; Dayton, Ohio; and Dallas.

CFC Donations Grow At Webb

Seventy-three per cent of the goal in the Consolidated Federal Campaign has been collected, according to the Sept. 29 report, Richard Stone, chief accountant at Webb AFB has announced.

Webb's contributions stood at $14,963.90, while off-base contributions, chiefly from the Veteran's Administration Hospital and the Post Office, had reached $3,145.

Mr. Stone praised the off-base agencies of their efficiency and speed in reporting. Their figure represents 95 per cent of the dollar goal of $3,300, while their people participation stands at 76 per cent — 302 of 400 people having participated.

Air Base Group leads the other major Webb units with 56 per cent people participation. Other figures are: tenant organizations, 50 per cent; Operations, 48 per cent; Logistics, 41 per cent; and Hospital, 38 per cent.

The goal for the Federal Campaign, which supports International Service Agencies, the United Fund, and National Health Agencies, is $17,209.08.

T-41 Training Opens In June

Consolidated flight-screening in propeller-driven Cessna T-41 Mescaleros is scheduled to begin in June 1973 at the Hondo Municipal Airport, Hondo, Tex.

In a changeover which was originally announced last Spring, potential pilots will be tested there while attending the School of Military Sciences, Officer, at nearby Lackland AFB, instead of later at pilot training bases.

The screening is to measure a man's ability as a pilot before he progresses to more expensive jet training. In the past, screening has been conducted by civilian contractors adjacent to the nine Undergraduate Pilot Training bases. At Webb, the screening was done at Howard County Airport.

'Titty' Gives First Lady Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon has received a large white handkerchief from Paula "Titty" Peifer, the 1973 March of Dimes National Poster Child.

Paula, 5, of Tulsa, Okla., was accompanied to the White House for a visit Friday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Peifer and a brother, Patrick, 8.

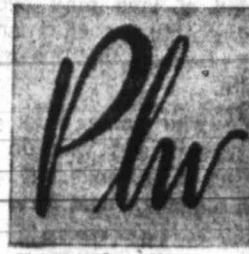

The handkerchief was signed by students attending Paula's kindergarten class at Grimes Public School.

ALPINE — Student teaching for 91 Sul Ross State University seniors began Monday and will continue through Dec. 8. Those participating in the program from this area include Medina Thurman, Big Spring, student teaching in Midland high schools.

Julie To Dedicate Mt. Eisenhower

BRETTON WOODS, N.H. (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower participates today in the dedication of 4,775-foot Mt. Eisenhower.

The former Mt. Pleasant, a few miles from Bretton Woods, was named for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower by the 1969 state legislature. Former Gov. Sherman Adams, a special assistant to Eisenhower, was designated master of ceremonies at the dedication.

Texas Tech Buries Tulsa, 35-18

Joe Barnes Triggers Red Raider Explosion

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Barnes triggered an explosive Texas Tech attack Saturday night that carried the Red Raiders to a 35-18 intersectional football victory over Tulsa.

Ponies Bury NMSU, 55-6

DALLAS (AP) — Lethargic Southern Methodist, ignited by Chris Silverthorn's 77-yard punt return and freshman Wayne Morris' 82-yard scoring gallop, exploded for five third quarter touchdowns Saturday to rout New Mexico State 55-6 in an intersectional football joust.

The Mustangs buried the winless Aggies under the touchdown avalanche after holding a shaky 7-6 halftime lead.

Alvin Maxson scored on runs of one, four, and one yards in the landslide quarter, giving the Mustangs' junior ten touchdowns for the year.

Linebacker Ted Thompson triggered the massacre when he picked off a Joe Pisarcik pass and returned it to the Aggie seven. Maxson scored from the one, three plays later.

Silverthorn made his spectacular return on the ensuing punt. He shared an Aggie tackle at his 20 and tightroped down the sideline for the 77-yard TD.

Morris used his blazing speed after he cleared the line of scrimmage on his cross-country gallop during the point orgy which saw the Mustangs score five touchdowns in less than eleven minutes.

Keith Bobo, a third-string quarterback, directed the Mustangs on all of their second-half touchdown drives and nailed freshman wide receiver Kenny Harrison of Beaumont with a 54-yard touchdown pass and hit Rufus Shaw with a 15-yard scoring shot.

SMU is now 3-1 for the year and NMSU is 0-5.

McCutchen burst in from the one for Tech's first touchdown and scored a second time on a three-yard romp in the final period.

Reserve quarterback Jimmy Carmichael closed down the Tech scoring by capping a 55-yard drive from the three.

Reserve Tulsa quarterback Todd Starks unleashed two touchdown passes in the final period. First locating Steve Shores on a 12-yarder and then Drew Pearson for a ten-yarder.

The loss was the fourth for Tulsa in five games.

The Raiders, bouncing back from last week's loss to Texas, turned Larry Burnet's fumble recovery at the Hurricane six into a quick touchdown and were never headed.

Barnes and Mosley split duty on an overland drive for the second score and then with ten seconds left in the half Smith took Barnes 13 yard pass for the clincher.

Kenneth Wallace's 24-yard punt return set up

McCutchen's second marker and then Carmichael, Barnes' understudy, slipped in from three yards out for his first score of the year.

The Raiders rolled up 325 yards rushing with Barnes' 83 steps leading way. Mosley collected 62, Smith 61, McCutchen 39, and John Garner 58.

Raymond Rhodes, formerly with Texas Christian, slithered 102 yards on 21 carries for Tulsa while Starks was hitting eleven of 17 passes for 172 yards. Barnes completed five of nine for 70 yards.

Arkansas went 74 yards in 9 plays the next time it got the ball with Ferguson climbing the drive on an 8 yard scoring strike to Mike Reppond early in the fourth period for a 14-13 Razorback lead.

Ferguson riddled the confused TCU secondary with touchdown passes of 11 and 20 yards to Jim Hodge on Arkansas' next two possessions.

It was Arkansas' 14th consecutive victory over TCU in SWC play and gave the Razorbacks a 3-1 record. The previously undefeated Horned Frogs are now 2-1.

The victory tied Arkansas with Texas for the SWC lead 1-0 slate.

Ferguson's four touchdown passes tied the school record set in 1967 by Ronnie South against Southern Methodist.

Ferguson completed 20 of 32 passes for 304 yards in the amazing Razorback rally in which they scored on four consecutive possessions.

Arkansas ran the gauntlet of mistakes in the first half—penalties, fumbles and dropped passes.

Twice promising drives were stopped on the Horned Frog 25-yard line by Arkansas' blitz—one by Ferguson and the other by tailback Dickey Morton.

A 55-yard punt return by swift John Moseley in the first period soured when Arkansas' Mike Kirkland's 45 yard field goal attempt was wide to the left.

After a punting duel between TCU's Greg Anderson and Arkansas' Drew Toole, TCU put together a 90 yard drive engineered by quarterback Kent Marshall. The drive was climaxed by Simmons' 22-yard field goal which gave the Horned Frogs a 3-0 halftime lead.

Lowry, fifth in the nation in offense, had only 83 yards passing but piled up 145 yards rushing in 21 carries, including a six-yard touchdown as the game ended.

Adams also ran for 16 yards on a total offensive yardage of 268, which was 40 more than Lowry.

Adams, sixth nationally in total offense going into the game, completed 26 of 41 passes for 252 yards.

Landry, who has carried only three times in Texas' first two games, scored Texas' first touchdown on a weird play which baffled spectators. It was finally recorded as a 30-yard run for Lowry, who lateraled to Landry and Landry dropped the ball. But he scooped it up on the bounce and zipped 25 more yards to score on a 55-yard touchdown play.

Adams' costly fumble marred a fine performance by the Riverside, Calif. senior, who fumbled out at Texas after starting as a freshman in 1968.

Adams, sixth nationally in total offense going into the game, completed 26 of 41 passes for 252 yards.

Sub halfback Tom Landry, replacing the injured Don Burend Gary Butler for a 34-yard gainer to the LSU two-yard line.

Rice brummed numerous LSU scoring drives and it was the tenacious Bengal defense that finally spelled the end of Rice's unbeaten season, dropping them to 2-1-1. LSU is 4-0.

Safety Frank Racine recovered one fumble and intercepted a pass and cornerback Mike Williams intercepted two passes to highlight the defensive performance.

Chris Dantin, the Tigers' senior tailback, rammed 119 yards on 23 carries to face the Bengals and sophomore Brad Davis scooted 91 yards on 16 carries.

TAKE DISTRICT 5-AAAA OPENER

Steers Maul Eagles, 34-19

WHOA! — Big Spring Steer defensive tackle Vicky Woodruff (74) hauls down Abilene-High quarterback Gary Stirman (26) as Steer Mike Parker (64) moves in to help. Big Spring mauled the Eagles, 34-19, to snap a 10-game losing string.

By DON COOPER
When a football team is losing, frustration builds up steadily. Well, Friday night, the Big Spring Steers unleashed the frustrations of a 10-game losing string on the unsuspecting Abilene Eagles. The Steers scored in every quarter as they blew the Eagles out of a packed Memorial Stadium, 34-19, in the District 5-AAAA opener for both teams.

Both teams seemed to score at will during a wild first half, however, the second half was all Big Spring as the Steer defense shut out the high-flying Eagles in the final half while the Steers scored twice.

Running back Earl Reynolds, seeing action for the first time this season as a starter, responded with three touchdowns, including a 79-yard punt return, and 100 yards rushing.

Abilene showed the Steer defense what to expect on the Eagles' first series of downs. Quarterback Gary Stirman hit Randy Pool for 14 yards and a first down on the Big Spring 39. Then Stirman went toward Pool again, but the Steers' Nate Poss picked off the pass and moved it to the Steers' 34.

and then Davis carried for 12 to the Abilene 26. Another Steer carry moved the ball to the 22. Then Davis found Ronald McKee at the four. McKee's leaping grab of the Davis pass gave the Steers a first-and-goal. On the ensuing play, full-back Dick Conley banged off tackle for the touchdown. Steen's kick gave the Steers a 14-7 bulge with 8:05 left in the first half.

The Eagles roared back quickly. Billy Sudbury took the kickoff and raced 89 yards to the Steer 10 where he was dragged down by Glenn Carlton.

The script was changed in the second half as the Steer offense and defense dominated play.

The Eagles appeared to be following the same script on the first play from scrimmage as Stirman connected with Mike Oles for 11 yards and a first down. However, things started to change after that first down. Abilene was unable to move the football and was forced to punt. Big Spring started a time-minutes left in the first half. Big Spring held a one-point lead at 14-13.

The Steers started from their own 41 after the kickoff. Reynolds, following the blocking of Steen, romped 25 yards to the Abilene 36. Another fine run by Reynolds, this time for 17 yards, moved the Steers to the Abilene 19. Steen picked up three yards. Then Davis went to the air. The senior signal-caller found flanker Willie Williams for a 16-yard scoring strike. Steen split the uprights to give the Steers a 21-13 lead with 4:37 remaining in the second quarter.

The Eagles took the ensuing kickoff and drove 78 yards in eight plays for their final tally. The drive was highlighted by a 20-yard screen pass from Stirman to Alan Stephens. The touchdown came on a six-yard pass from Stirman to Gindrat.

The Eagles elected to try for the two-point conversion; however, Stirman was unable to connect with Hines and the score remained 21-19 with 1:46 left in the first half.

Reynolds broke loose for 36 yards. Truette picked up nine yards on two carries. Truette and Reynolds combined for five more yards. Davis carried twice for six yards and a first down at the Abilene eight. After a Steen carry moved the ball to the Eagle six, Reynolds took a pitch from Davis and trotted into the end zone for his second touchdown of the night. Steen's kick was no good and the Steers claimed a 27-19 lead with 5:43 showing on the clock in the third quarter.

The final Big Spring score came early in the fourth period. After the Steer defenders had forced Abilene into a punting situation, Stirman's boot was fumbled by Reynolds at the Big Spring 21. With Abilene players converging on him, Reynolds picked up the football and found a wall of blockers down the sideline. He raced 79 yards for his third touchdown of the night.

This time, Steen split the uprights to give the Steers a 34-19 margin with 11:05 left in the game.

Abilene was mauled by the fired-up Steer defensive unit on the Eagles' next series of downs. Starting at the Abilene 20, Stirman gained three yards. Then he was dropped for a five-yard loss. With a third and 12 at the Eagle 18, Stirman dropped back to pass and all he was able to see was Conley. Don Weeks and Scott Carlisle as the Steer trio converged on him.

SMITH STOPPED — Big Spring Steer running back J. T. Smith is stopped for a short gain by Abilene Eagle linebacker Larry Pearce during Friday night's District 5-AAAA opener for both teams. Moving in to aid Pearce are Eagles Robert Newman (55) and Rusty McLesky (78).

Steer Win Adds Spice To Program

Big Spring's upset of Abilene High Friday night speeded Friday night's District 5-AAAA program which otherwise went according to form.

The Steers, who had lost their first three games against non-conference opponents, measured Abilene, 34-19, and now share first place with Odessa Permian, Midland Lee and Abilene Cooper.

One oddity of the opening week of competition was the fact that all winning teams in the circuit scored in the 30s while all losing elevens were in the teens.

Midland Lee, gaining new respect each week with its hard-nosed play, scrambled a good Odessa High team, 35-15. Permian contained Midland High, 34-16.

The Cooper-San Angelo game was rated a tossup but the Cougars were playing at home and they're always tough to beat there. They probably knocked the Bobcats out of the state's top ten with a convincing 33-12 success.

Inability of Odessa High to hold onto the ball, contributed to its demise. The Bronchos yielded possession of the ball four times. Odessa moved into Midland with a 3-0 record but was decisively beaten.

Earl Reynolds of Big Spring picked a good time to go on a scoring rampage — in the conference opener. He crossed the goal line three times.

Permian suffered a damaging loss when tailback Ricky Sutherland was injured early in the opening period but David Shipman took over the spot and wound up gaining 132 yards in 30 carries.

BACK ON WINNING TRACK Stanton Stops Morton, 14-0

By JOHN EDWARDS
STANTON — Stanton stopped Morton at the five and then the one-half yard line en route to a 14-0 home victory Friday night.

Shutting-out the Indians puts Stanton on the 4-1 mark after last week's tough 3-0 loss to the Rankin Red Devils.

Forcing the Indians to punt on the first series, Stanton made their first possession count this week. Quarterback Rick Wilson hurled the ball to halfback Armando Rios for 25 yards.

Wilson lateraled to Rios on the 26-yard line, and Rios raced 20 yards. From two yards out, the quarterback broke through Wilson, kicking the extra point, made the scoreboard 7-0.

Tackle Duane Clary dropped Indian quarterback Ted Thomas 10 yards behind the line as the Buffaloes stymied the Indians again.

But Stanton fumbled and Leslie Carter, a Morton tackle, pounced on the ball.

William Grant rushed 18 yards in one carry putting Morton 16 yards from scoring. Stanton's defense solidified, and on fourth and five to goal, a Jerry Silhan field goal went awry.

The Buffaloes punted after an unsuccessful series to Indian David Barrera. Barrera brought in the punt at the Buffaloes 40 and raced to the nine.

A penalty gave Stanton a second chance, and Barrera didn't go far this time.

Morton's defense stiffened after half time. Stanton punted. Later, two 15-yard penalties stalled the home team. End Paul McCalister took off for 54 yards on a pass reception, but a fourth down try put the ball back in Indian hands.

Halfback Dwayne McMeans followed a later Rios 17-yard carry with a 35-yard gallop. Wilson ran from the 15 to the 6-yard line. From here, he scored several plays later, the ball having moved back and forth. Halfback Vernon Brown kicked the ball through the uprights for the 14th point.

Morton end Rick Woods caught a 24-yard pass. Stanton, however, started Morton marching in reverse when the Indians got to the 12-yard line.

Stanton's Brown intercepted a pass at the 10, and Morton crumpled. Brown ran 44 yards with the interception.

Stanton gave possession to Morton when a fourth down pass failed. In the dying moments of the game, Brown grabbed a second interception.

Fullback Tony Soliz won most of the next yardage leading to the one-half yard line on short runs. Here, the defense pushed the out-of-towners back to the one and one-half and took over.

Stanton banged its way out to the 12-yard line. Fullback Larry Jones broke for a 33-yard gain to the Buffalo 45. Wilson threw two incomplete passes, and the half ended.

Snyder came back to score on a two-yard run by Paul Norred. The Tigers tried to run for two points but Lamesa retained its 7-6 lead.

Hogg's TD in the third period put the Tornados in front, 14-6.

Cannady added two touchdowns in the final period on runs of eight and 15-yards. Reid booted two of three extra points in the second half.

Cannady led Lamesa in rushing stats with 118 yards on 12 carries. Hubert Crayton had 52 yards on the ground for Snyder.

Blair Conway, who kicked a 39-yard field goal for the Buckeyes' only first-half tally, missed the conversion attempt and Cal kicker Ray Werschling booted a 20-yard field goal to give the Bears a 12-9 lead midway through the third quarter.

Buckeyes' Rally Drops Cal, 35-18

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Sophomore fullback Harold Henson scored three third-quarter touchdowns Saturday and rallied Ohio State for a 35-18 football victory over California.

Henson, doing much of the carrying for the 3-0 Buckeyes after freshman sensation Archie Griffin was contained to 33 yards in 13 carries in the first half, scored on a 25-yard run and two one-yarders in the third period.

Shaughnessy's 19-yard touchdown pass to split end Steve Sweeney.

Two-touchdown favorite Ohio State moved into a 9-0 tie in four plays after taking the second-half kickoff. Two Greg Hare passes gained 48 yards and Henson booted the final 25 yards for the tie.

JETS-MIAMI, 49ERS-RAMS

Showdown Time In NFL

It's showdown time—East and West—in the National Football League as Miami and the New York Jets, contenders in the American Conference East, and San Francisco and Los Angeles, traditional rivals in the National Conference West, collide Sunday.

The Dolphins, the lone unbeaten team after three games, possess the most potent ground game in the AFC with Larry Conka and Mercury Morris both in the top 10 among individual rushers.

John Riggins of the Jets is the top ground gainer in the conference but New York's major weapon is the Joe Namath passer. Namath is the No. 2 passer in the AFC and the Jets are tops in passing and over-all offense—but the Dolphins are No. 2 in total defense and fourth best in preventing the pass.

San Francisco, 2-1 and tied with Atlanta for the NFC West lead, has managed only one victory in its last nine games against Los Angeles. But the Rams, 1-1-1, with quarterback problems, are coming off their worst defeat in three seasons, a 31-3 thrubbing by the Falcons.

Roman Gabriel, with tendinitis in his right arm, had to take over when Pete Beathard proved ineffective—and Gabriel, a likely starter this week, hit only five of 18 passes and had two intercepted.

No matter who does the Rams' passing—or running, for that matter—Los Angeles will have trouble denting the 49ers' defense, the best in the NFC. San Francisco's John Brodie, the conference's third-best passer, needs 153 yards to reach the 30,000-yard mark for his career.

Sunday's other games have Pittsburgh at Dallas, Detroit at Atlanta, Denver at Cincinnati, Kansas City at Cleveland, New England at Washington, San Diego at Baltimore, Chicago at Green Bay, St. Louis at Minnesota and New Orleans at New York to face the Giants. On Monday night, Oakland is at Houston.

The Cowboys, whose 12-game winning string was snapped by Green Bay last Sunday, hope to continue another streak. They've beaten the Steelers six straight times. Pittsburgh, in a three-way AFC Central tie with Cleveland and Cincinnati, may have to go without running back Steve Davis, who has an injured knee. But running back Preston Pearson is a probable starter despite a concussion.

An aerial show is expected in Atlanta, where the Falcons' Bob Berry, the NFC's No. 2 passer, goes against Greg Landry of Detroit, fifth in the conference. But both teams also have solid ground games, the Lions with Steve Owens and Atlanta with Dave Hampton and Art Malone. The two Falcon running backs amassed 289 yards last week against the Rams.

Denver's surprisingly solid offense, No. 2 in the AFC, led by running back Floyd Little, will get one of its strongest tests thus far when the Broncos run into the Bengals, who own the conference's stingiest defense, particularly against the rush.

The Chiefs, alone atop the AFC West are undecided as to their starting quarterback. Len Dawson was knocked out of last Sunday's game against Denver by bruised ribs and Mike Livingston came on to throw three second-half touchdowns in the 15-25 victory.

Mike Phipps seems to be locking up the Browns' starting quarterback job and he may be helped by the return of running back Bo Scott.

The Patriots, tied at 2-1 with the Jets for second in the AFC East, may have a tougher tussle on their hands than they expect against the Bills, 1-2, who have the conference's leading pass receiver in J.D. Hill and its No. 3 rusher in O.J. Simpson.

The Eagles are still looking for their first victory for this Sunday against a team they haven't beaten the last nine tries. The Redskins have the league's leading ground gainer in Larry Brown but the Eagles can counter him with Harold Jackson, No. 1 among receivers, back, who missed the first two games of the season with a sprained knee, amassed 197 yards in runs and pass reception last week.

The Oilers haven't beaten the Raiders since 1966—but then the Oilers hadn't beaten the Jets since 1966. Until last week that is. It'll be a confrontation of top-notch quarterbacks. Oakland's Daryle Lamonia, back in form now that he's won his starting job, is first in the AFC among passers while Houston's Dan Pastorini is third behind Namath.

OSU Nips Mizzou, 17-16

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Quarterback Brent Blackman, hobbled by an ankle injury, led a 54-yard touchdown pass to Steve Pettis on a desperation fourth down play with 1:38 left and Oklahoma State slipped by Missouri, 17-16, in an error-plagued Big Eight football encounter here Saturday.

Blackman's pass came with the Cowboys needing 27 yards to stay alive. The play electrified the Cowboy crowd which had been subdued for much of the contest as the Tigers cashed in on four scoring opportunities set up by Cowboy fumbles and grabbed a 16-10 lead late in the fourth period.

The victory put OSU, which last week stunned Colorado 31-6, atop the Big Eight race with a 2-0 record. Missouri is now 2-2.

It was a bruising defensive battle which saw several players injured, including Missouri's hard-running halfback Bill Ziegler and OSU's fine split end, Dave Rosenthal. Blackman was carried off the field in the third period with an ankle injury, but came back to provide the game-winning heroics.

The Cowboys eked out a 10-9 halftime lead despite losing four fumbles, three of which led to field goals of 25, 23 and 25 yards by Missouri's Greg Hill.

COUGARS RALLY FOR TIE Houston, Gobblers Deadlock

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — D. C. Nobles tossed a 20-yard scoring pass to split end Bryan Willingham with 1:15 left but Ricky Terrell missed the extra point attempt as Houston's favored Cougars earned a 27-27 tie with Virginia Tech in a battle of major college football independents Saturday.

Terrell's miss was his first of the year after making eight of eight attempts in three previous games.

The tie left both teams with identical 1-2-1 marks and, for Tech, took some of the gloss out of Don Strock's 527-yard passing performance.

Houston, down 27-14 going into the final quarter, was directed on two scoring drives by Nobles, who earlier had been relieved by second-string quarterback Terry Peel after Nobles had been unable to effectively move the Cougars.

Strock, the nation's third leading passer, completed 34 of 53 passes, also scored Tech's first touchdown on a three-yard run and ran in for what proved to be a vital two-point conversion after the Gobblers' third score.

Bama Belts Georgia, 25-7

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Terry Davis passed for one touchdown and scored another following long third period drives Saturday as fourth-ranked Alabama survived a long surge and whipped Georgia 25-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game.

Davis drove the unbeaten Tide 78 yards with the second half kickoff, connecting with Wayne Wheeler on a 39-yard scoring pass and later capped an 80-yard march by sneaking over from the one.

Georgia, sparked by the passing and running of Andy Johnson, tallied early in the fourth period on Jimmy Poulos' 17-yard scamper, but later had one drive bogged down at midfield and failed again after recovering a fumble when David McMackin intercepted a Johnson pass.

Strock, the nation's third leading passer, completed 34 of 53 passes, also scored Tech's first touchdown on a three-yard run and ran in for what proved Strock's total yardage was only 17 yards short of the NCAA record set in 1968 by Greg Cook of Cincinnati against Ohio University.

Houston's tying touchdown was set up after Willingham took a punt on his own 31 and brought it back 33 yards to the Gobblers' 36. Three plays later Nobles found his split end clear in the end zone for the tying touchdown.

Tech got a ray of life on the ensuing kickoff when Nick Colobro returned the kickoff to the Tech 47. After three unsuccessful passes Dave Strock attempted a 70-yard field goal that was short.

STIRMAN BREAKS LOOSE — Abilene High quarterback Gary Stirman breaks loose for an eight-yard run in the second period of Friday night's Abilene-Big Spring game. Attempting to bring down Stirman is Steer linebacker Craig Brown (89). Big Spring won the District-5-AAAA game, 34-19.

CLAIM FIRST WIN OF SEASON Bulldogs Rip Pied Pipers

HAMLIN — According to legend, the Pied Piper of Hamelin used a pipe to lure the rats and children out of the city. Friday night, the Pied Pipers of Hamlin were able to lure Bulldogs to Hamlin and wished they hadn't. The angry Bulldogs chewed up the Pied Pipers, 40-18, in a non-district encounter. Coahoma scored 20 points in a second-quarter explosion to foil the plans of the Pipers and pick up their first win of the season. Hamlin has yet to win, although the Pipers do have one tie to blemish an otherwise perfect record of defeats.

point play by Roland Beal which gained 59 yards. Putt Choate got the touchdown on a three-yard run. Beal's PAT gave the Bulldogs a 7-6 lead. Hamlin regained the lead briefly on a 53-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Milton Jones to end Bill Cork. Again the extra point attempt failed and the Pipers had to be satisfied with a 12-7 lead. The Bulldogs then ignited their second period explosion when Beal connected with Dean Wood for a nine-yard scoring pass. Coahoma quickly added two more scores with a one-yard run by Choate and a seven-yard jaunt by Beal to grab a 27-12 halftime lead. Choate scored his third touchdown of the night on a two-yard run in the third period to give Coahoma a 34-12 lead. The final Bulldog tally came in the fourth period on a 17-yard pass from Beal to Freddie Franklin. Hamlin closed the scoring with a 27-yard scoring pass from Jones to David Willis in the fourth period. Again, the Pipers were unable to convert and the final score remained, 40-18.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steve Blass learned how to pitch to a Cincinnati Reds Saturday — "sloppily." "I'll ride anything to death when it's working," Blass said of his "slow, slop curve" that helped the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Reds 5-1 and take a 1-0 lead in the National League playoffs.

Dunbar Drops Wolves, 20-0

COLORADO CITY — The Lubbock Dunbar Panthers ruined the Colorado City Wolves homecoming festivities with a 20-0 win Friday night. Larry Sneed opened the scoring for the Panthers with a 63-yard punt return with 10:09 left in the first quarter. Less than two minutes later, Dunbar recovered a Colorado City fumble on the Wolves 27 when the Wolves bobbled a kick. Algie Curry picked up the bounding ball and raced into the end zone. The kick was good giving Dunbar a 14-0 lead. Curry scored the final Dunbar touchdown in the fourth period on a 13-yard run. The touchdown had been set up by a 52-yard punt return by Sneed. The kick was no good and Lubbock Dunbar claimed a 20-0 win.

Colorado City drove to the Dunbar six in the third quarter; however, the Wolves were unable to push the ball across the goal line. In the fourth quarter, Colorado City mounted another scoring threat as the Wolves drove to the Panther eight before losing the ball on downs.

HCJC Volleyball Team Takes Win

ODESSA — The Howard County Jr. College volleyball team ran its season record to 5-3 with a win over Odessa College Thursday night. HCJC lost the first match, 14-9, but came back to take the second-two matches, 15-7 and 12-10. Sheila Hutchins was the high scorer for HCJC in the first match with four points. Marion Hobson had seven points to take high service honors in the second match and Pam Hobr's five points took high service honors in the third match.

DISTRICT OPENER Forsan Tramples Sands

By CHARLES TEAGUE ACKERLY — The Forsan Buffaloes showed genuine promise as a contender for the district title Friday evening at Ackery in a 46-0 victory over the Sands Mustangs. In the first five minutes of play, after gaining a strong scoring position, Forsan quarterback Mike Murphy carried across for the first score. A take kick pattern which developed into a right-end pass by Tommy Brumley felt dead for no extra points. A minute and a half later, Sands' quarterback Randy Cheatham fired a left-end pass intended for David Zant, but interception by Landon Soles and a 50-yard scramble put the Buffaloes over the goal line for Forsan.

six more points. A fumble in the backfield ended in failure for the extra points attempt. The Forsan defensive mechanism consisting of linebackers Robert Wash, Brumley, guards Wesley Thixton, Dennis Day, and outside linebacker Rudy Holguin nailed the Mustang offense tight in Sands own territory. With three minutes remaining in the first quarter, Murphy carried for 20 yards to the Sands three-yard line. The next play saw Wash across for the 18th point. Extra points were still out of the game for Forsan, 18-0. Mustang junior halfback Dennis Armstrong fumbled a few minutes later, allowing Robert Wash to recover for the Buffaloes. In the remaining minutes Murphy pitched out to Soles who carried 21 yards for the fourth touchdown. Murphy completed a pass to Holguin for two extra points, ending the first quarter 26 to 0.

A mid-second quarter, Murphy handed the ball regularly to Wash, Soles, and Brumley for 20, 10 and 15 yard gains, respectively. Murphy then carried seven yards around the right end for another touchdown. An incomplete pass killed the extra points again. A late-second quarter fumble turned the ball over to Forsan once again at the Sands 28 yard line, from which Murphy drove the Buffaloes into the one-half yard line. In the last three seconds of play, the Forsan quarterback made a one-yard touchdown. The extra points were good, making the half-time score 40 to 0. The third quarter saw three Forsan offensive plays in their own territory. The remaining second half was played in Sands own territory. A Mustang fumble at Sands' 35-yard line was recovered by Phillip King of Forsan; otherwise the third quarter showed no action. As the fourth quarter began, Rudy Holguin took the quarterback position from Landon Soles who led the Buffaloes in the third quarter. From the 26-yard line Holguin directed two plays, gaining seven yards for the Buffs. A Mustang penalty brought the ball to the 9-yard line, from where Holguin carried for four more yards, nearly within scoring position. The five-yard right-end run for the final touchdown came after a pitch from Holguin to Wesley Thixton, completing the final score of 46 to 0. Extra-point attempt was futile. Forsan Coaches Jack Woodley and George White felt that the Buffaloes played to top capacity and feel chances are excellent next Friday against the powerful Roby team.

STEERS

(Con't. From Page 2-B) Stirman was nailed for a 15-yard loss back to his own three-yard line. The demoralized Eagles tried to launch a futile drive in the waning minutes of the game behind the passing of back-up quarterback Chuck Sitton and the running of Hines. However, with a second down at the Big Spring 47, Sitton was trapped for an eight yard loss by Mike Tredaway. Fourth and three, Sitton kept but was stopped short of the first down by Craig Brown. The pass-minded Eagles took to the air 28 times in the game. Abilene completed 17 passes for 225 yards. However, Abilene had 13 completions for 182 yards in the first half. On the ground, Abilene was able to pick up only 64 yards. Big Spring had 219 yards on the ground. Reynolds led the charge with 100 yards in nine carries. Davis carried 13 times for 45 yards. Davis was three-for-four in the air for 69 yards and one touchdown. The Steers gives the Steers a 1-3 mark for the season and a 1-0 mark in district competition. Abilene is 2-2 for the season and 0-1 in district. The Steers will host Midland High Friday night, while Abilene will visit Odessa Permian.

effective fastball that Joe Morgan blasted for a home run in the first inning, went to his changeup to work out of numerous jams. The Pittsburgh hurler gave up eight hits and allowed a safety in every inning except by Pete Rose.

"That was my most effective pitch today—I threw it 60 per cent of the time." Blass, nervous as a tiger while prowling the dugout in between innings, also did a lot of flexing on the mound. He left 11 Cincinnati runners stranded, and constantly found himself in a stretch position. "That's what you call struggling," said the trim right-hander who won 19 games for the Pirates during the regular season. "I felt like I was born in the stretch position." While Blass gave the Reds a hard time at the plate with his baffling changeup, it was a bad day for the visitors all around. Their manager, Sparky Anderson, was thrown out of the game for disputing a call at first base in the fourth inning. The dispute centered around a ball that Cincinnati's Cesar Geronimo lashed at umpire Ken Burkhardt behind first base. The baseball hit Burkhardt and he called it foul, but when Anderson protested too much, the manager got the thumb. The Pirates won the game despite a hitless performance from superstar Roberto Clemente, the hero of the 1971 World Series against Baltimore. The Reds were also hurt when National League home run and RBI king Johnny Bench went hitless. Blass got ninth-inning support

Horoscope Forecast

CAROL RIGHTER
 SUNDAY OCTOBER 8, 1972
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a good day for whatever you need to do that requires concentration and depth of perception. Let those of whom you are very fond know of your devotion to them. Seek new outlets for your talents in the evening for increased happiness.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Plan now to handle your responsibilities so you can live a happier and more successful life. A show of real affection to the one you love brings fine results now. Avoid a troublesome quarrel.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) If you get together with associates now, you can obtain powers and satisfactions that are impossible to get during the busy work week. Handle any opposition in a diplomatic way.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Showing appreciation to a higher-up for the backing you've received is wise. Show consideration for all you come in contact with today. Spare time should be spent improving your health.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are highly magnetic today and can easily give others to your way of thinking. Visit new places and make new allies of worth. Show that you are a clever conversationalist.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can now figure out a problem that has been puzzling you and the future appears much brighter. The evening is free for romance. Don't talk shop of your love mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Showing that you have a genuine interest in your friends, and that you are ready, willing and able to help them, is wise. Put plans to work where personal goals are concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show that you are a philosophical person. Make the finest impression you can on higher-ups. Don't hesitate to put LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You have to elevate your consciousness to broader horizons. Attend the services of your choice and elevate your mind. Show your interest in hobbies you enjoy. State your aims to friends very honestly and you get the right results.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Make your surroundings more cheerful so you can later entertain at home with perfect ease. You have power and authority. Please kin. Do so. Be sure you are well rested for the new week.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make the right arrangements now for the future. Take it easy tonight. Plan for it tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Begin to have a new idea about doing up those duties ahead of you in record time, and then you clear the slate for a new beginning. Look about for a more attractive and sensible wardrobe for the future. Take it easy tonight.

Student Trouble Near New Delhi

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian telephone wires and pulled down and burned the national flag. The government said three students were killed in the first riots Thursday. But Satnam Chana, secretary of the Punjab Students Federation, said at least six students are missing and the death toll is "much higher than the official figures."

The vice president of the Punjab Trade Unions, Randhir Singh Gill, said police burned a dozen bodies in secret. He maintained unionists seized the bloody clothing of two students as police burned their bodies. In Assam, eastern India, troops patrolled the streets of five towns after police bullets killed at least two students in riots there. The Assam riots were touched off after a Communist party of India strike on Thursday protesting high prices and unemployment.

More than 200 houses were burned Friday night in Kharupetia, which was under round-the-clock curfew. The current wave of student trouble began last month in the states of Uttar Pradesh in northern India and Bihar and Orissa, eastern states.

AN INTERESTING side trip is considered by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ragsdale and Oliver Cofer, right, who are joining other Big Springers for next month's "Presto Europe Tour." Mrs. Cofer, unable to be present for the picture, will complete the quartet of travelers.

A LADY'S WARDROBE takes special planning if she wants to be traveling light and easy. Looking forward to a round of entertaining activities in Switzerland and Italy are, from left, Mrs. John Gary, Mrs. Jimmy Taylor and Mrs. Wade Choate. The practical packers are choosing fashions that feel at home in any country.

ESCAPE — while there's still time!

By JO BRIGHT

Tired of the same old routine? Disappointed in same old tourist traps? Alarmed at looking in the mirror and seeing the same old you?

Escape! Live a little.

There's a big, wide world out there — waiting for you to snap your fingers — and Presto, it's yours.

It's that simple. The Big Spring Herald-Presto Fall Europe Tour '72, being offered in conjunction with the First National Bank's travel service, will accept space reservations for two more days. One, two or more of those airline tickets can be yours if you decide today that winter's coming on, and it would be nice to fly away for one more fling. The decision deadline is Tuesday, Oct. 10.

Departure will be Nov. 11 and the return Nov. 18. At a price you can afford, only $499, you'll see the best of Switzerland and Italy, spending three nights in Geneva and three nights in Rome.

Included in the low group rate is round trip air transportation from Dallas via Braniff International and Swissair Overseas 747, hotel accommodations with private bath for six nights, breakfast every morning, transfers between airports and hotels, sightseeing tours, car rentals, night clubs, tips and taxes and many, many other extras.

And you'll be traveling with other Texans (which means congenial companions when you want them) but, you can be on your own, too, if that's your style.

Geneva, one of Europe's most cosmopolitan cities, is situated on the Rhone River in the shadow of Mt. Blanc, the Alps highest peak, and on the shore of famed Lake Geneva. Renowned for its beauty, it will welcome you with hospitality.

Romantic Rome, the "Eternal City" and capital of Italy, offers an intriguing picture of the past — and pleasures for the present. Founded in 753 B.C. and built on seven hills, Rome has been for many centuries the political and intellectual center of Italy and the Catholic world.

Toss your hat in the ring — and a coin in a fountain in Rome. Who knows? The magic may be there, after all.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1972

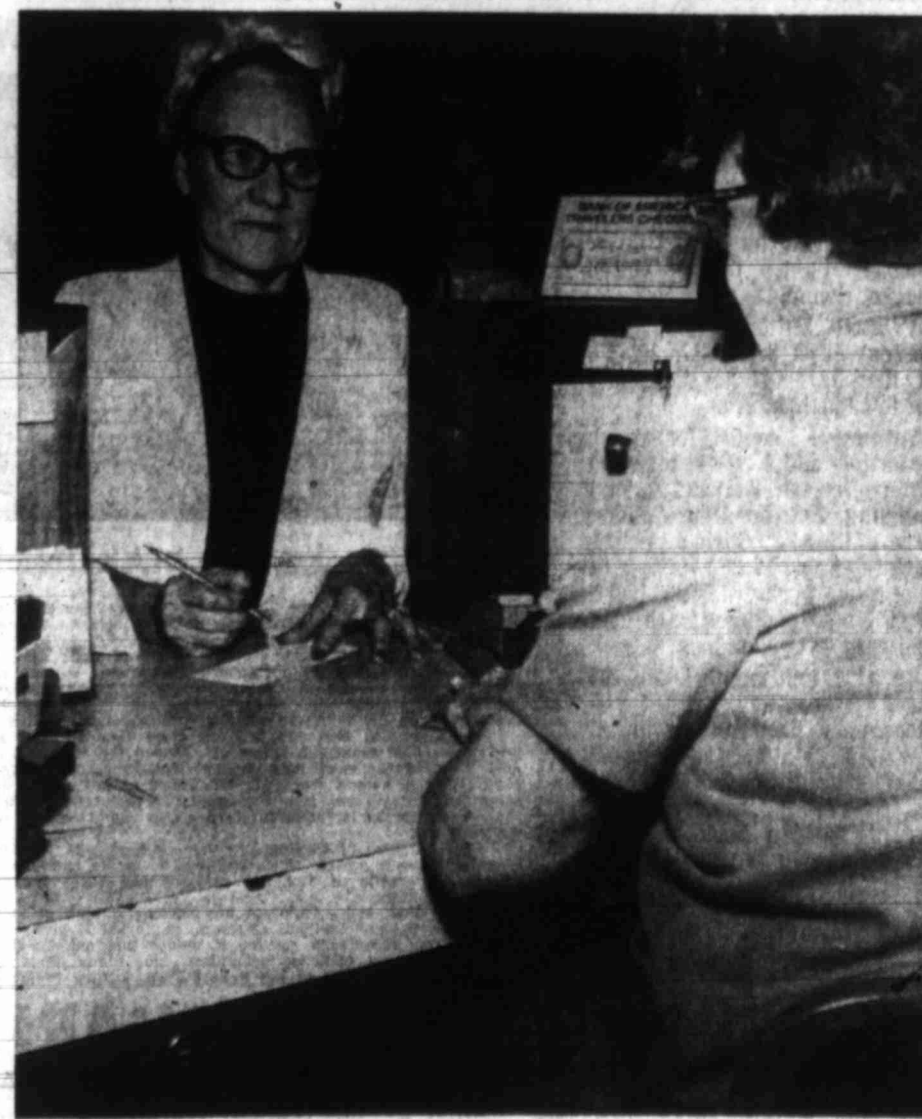

THE PASSPORT application is completed by Mrs. D. H. McDaniel, left, with the assistance of Mrs. Dick Nichols, a clerk in the district clerk's office in Howard County Courthouse. Usually, two or three weeks is required for delivery of passports which are mailed from New Orleans, La.

AIR TRAVEL routes are reviewed by Mrs. Lynn Gray, travel agent for First National Bank, and Tommy Hart, managing editor of The Herald. Braniff International and Swissair jets will transport the Texas travelers at new, low group rates on the trip of a lifetime.

FELLOW TRAVELERS on a holiday to Europe will be Mrs. Olive Murphree, left, and Mrs. J. R. Howard who find the "Traveler's Handbook" full of helpful suggestions. The women are not new to the world of international travel, having toured the Holy Land in April.

TRAVELERS CHECKS are a convenience to anyone traveling abroad, and Mrs. Maurine Hanks of Vealmoor efficiently plans ahead by getting her checks from Mrs. Pallie Barnett, a teller at First National Bank.

OWC Luncheon Is 'A Many Splendored Thing'

MRS. ANDREW HRIZ (Photo by Danny Vades)

By JO BRIGHT

Patriotism became fashionable Thursday as Webb Air Force beauties borrowed the red, white and blue of liberty's banner to show their colors in a flag-waving finale at the Officers Wives Club fashion show by Swartz.

Gowns of airy chiffon were worn by three pretty models — the first in red, second in white and third in blue — who joined hands in symbolic unity as Mrs. Frank Krovsky, commentator, read a tribute to Air Force men and the wives who share their way of life.

The show's theme, "A Many Splendored Thing" was inspired by the novel of that title. It's love story compared with those of military wives who walk proudly in the shadow of their husband's devotion to duty.

The fashion luncheon was hosted by the DCO Wives, with Mrs. Ronald Catton as general chairman and Mrs. William Trembour and Mrs. Robert Reid as co-chairmen. Arrangements were completed by Mrs. Henry Rimmer, menu; Mrs. David Little, decorations; Mrs. Arthur Krull, prizes; and Mrs. Leonard Morrissey, publicity.

The OWC models were Mrs. Frederick Wertz, Mrs. Patrick Rhodes, Mrs. Ted Bick, Mrs. Andrew Hritz, Mrs. Douglas Munday, Mrs. Bruce Buskirk, Mrs. R. Douglas Bevon, Mrs. Harold Hanson, Mrs. James Dillon, Mrs. Krull, Mrs. Robert Goldy, Mrs. Dohram Crawford, Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. R. P. Barr and Mrs. Trembour.

The show was coordinated by Mrs. Edward Shive of Swartz and Mrs. Gall Bonner was pianist. Footwear was from Barnes Pelletier.

Decorations carried out the patriotic theme. Red, white and blue spiraled streamers were used and the stage was bordered with red, white and blue bows. Forming a background where models paused before stepping onto the runway, was a large red heart tied with ribbons held by white doves. Fall flowers were used in main centerpieces, and other tables featured single flowers with a beribboned base in which was nestled a POW-MIA bracelet. These were later given as prizes.

Following the invocation by

Mrs. Charles Dennison, Mrs. Alex Bridewell extended the welcome and introduced those at the head table. They were Mrs. Stanley Umstead, wife of the wing commander; Mrs. Harold Shultz, wife of the base commander; Mrs. W. O. Jones, wife of the deputy commander for logistics; Mrs. Ronald Catton, wife of the deputy commander for operations; and OWC officers, Mrs. Timothy Danforth, Mrs. Gary Davis, Mrs. Jack Linberg and Mrs. Brian Dickinson.

Mrs. Danforth introduced the newcomers and those who will soon be departing Webb AFB.

Mrs. Trembour opened the show, appearing in a white pantsuit that put ordinary slacks to shame. The pant was worn with matching shell and topped with a back-belted walking coat generously collared with dyed lamb's wool. Mrs. Andrew Hritz put new life in old colors, gray and camel, as she showed a pantsuit with camel hair jacket checked with beige and slate. The "new" was the wide palazzo cut of the slate-colored slacks.

What could be better than a bit of blue leather? An entire costume. Mrs. Bevon showed a supple, low-slung slacks with matching jacket worn with a sunny yellow shell. Another fine fabric, corduroy, was woven into an ember, red and gray plaid which provided the pantsuit put-on which was shown by Mrs. Wertz. The short-sleeved jacket was layered onto a gold ribbed jersey sweater.

Mrs. Rhodes looked impeccably correct in cashmere; her costume a camel two-piece pantsuit belted in gold chain and brightened with a camel, gray and plum scarf. The curved cut of the jacket lent a tailored look to the lines.

Mrs. Dillon was piped aboard wearing a nautical, double-breasted pea coat in navy blue over a two-piece, belted pant outfit in companion plaid.

The first dress in the show was modeled by Mrs. Hanson who appeared in a two-piece ensemble of cocoa brown wool. The simply-cut dress was complemented with a casually-belted coat, the hemline circled with dyed fur.

The rusty bronze of turning leaves was captured in the smart suede coat worn by Mrs. Krull. Fine tailoring talent showed in the high tab pockets, snap front and drawstring waistline that pulled it all together. Mrs. Goldy's three-piece pantsuit looked nothing but feminine when the suede jacket was in a flattering powder blue. The new, fuller cut was applied to the yellow slacks.

The popularity of pantsuits continued as Mrs. Munday strolled on stage attired in a three-piece costume in gray and camel, it's appeal being the suede and knit vest which topped diamond-checked slacks.

The knit and suede combination appeared again in taupe and coffee tones as Mrs. Crawford modeled slacks teamed with a belted and gold-buttoned bush jacket.

Pure, pure red was the color of a gold-buttoned jacket worn by Mrs. Buskirk to complete a costume of navy slacks and matching turtle-neck-ribbed sweater. The sweater's waistline was defined by a gold chain belt.

Mrs. Bick modeled a sassy four-piece ensemble in camel that boasted a brisk walking jacket, vest and print blouse brightened by a bit of orange. Mrs. Brown's jet black turtleneck sweater and cuffed slacks came out of the shadows with a sunny yellow jacket with false pockets but real style.

Mrs. Richard Barr drew a modeling assignment that must have made her feel very pretty. The two-piece straight line dress was designed with make-believe vest, and the back-pelleted jacket was collared and cuffed with dyed blue fox.

All models appeared for a second and third time.

The second portion of the show highlighted luxurious furs in every style and almost undreamed of colors. A little lamb went a long way in a new vest. Girl-like, the best was saved till last. Formal wear was the touch of beauty that shortens winter and promises spring. The chiffons floated, the metallics sparkled and the satins, jerseys, nylons, wools and brocades were beautifully styled — to turn a Star Spangled Girl into a woman of the world.

The long and short of it, as well as any length between, proved again that every woman looks like a beauty in fabulous furs.

Quotable Women

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I'm not certain I have the intense self-drive you have to have to be a success in the entertainment world. I think it's more important to be able to sleep at night." Terry Ann Meeuwse, 23, Miss America.

"My only vices are smoking and working. But work is the most pleasurable of vices. I believe that life is largely a matter of one's self-development, and my philosophy is that of my Quaker grandmother—she died at 96—whose prayer was: 'Let me wear out, not rust out.'" Janet Flanner, 80, author of the best-selling "Paris Was Yesterday," a collection of her columns from The New Yorker.

"You have to remember that my husband has emerged on the national scene so rapidly, his ascent has been so rapid, that millions of Americans don't know him yet." Eleanor McGovern, wife of the presidential candidate.

"It's going to be a very warm campaign." Mrs. William F. Ryan, widow of the New York congressman who decided to run for the seat left vacant by his death.

"It is very regrettable that—despite the urging of leaders from all segments of the Democratic party... and the divisiveness her candidacy can cause and the damage it can do to the McGovern campaign—Mrs. Ryan has chosen this course." Bella Abzug, who lost her own congressional seat through redistricting and now opposes Mrs. Ryan.

MRS. KEN SCHMIDT OF NORFOLK, NEB., SAYS:

When I started on the X-11 Plan, I weighed 205#. Now I'm down to 125#. I enjoy wearing dresses size 11-12's rather than 20's. Sometimes my friends pass me by and then turn around and call me back. They can't believe it's the same old Margie.

WHAT IS "TRUST"

The dictionary gives several interesting meanings for this commonly used word — "reliance on the integrity of a person; confident hope; confidence in the ability or intention of a person; obligation or responsibility; to believe, rely on, depend on, to do something without fear of consequences."

Trust is obviously not something to be given or taken lightly. It is in this spirit that we operate our pharmacy. We want to have your trust but we expect to have to earn it by the professional pharmacy service we offer to our customers.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

To help keep the pageboy hairdo turned under without spraying the hair and making it sticky, lightly spray hair brush and brush hair in place. Overnight, use a scarf to tie the hair in a pony tail and then use several larger rollers.

MAKONDE ART

In Africa and in the international world of art, "Makonde" is a household word and today hardly a single visitor to Tanzania is happy to leave without taking away with him a wooden souvenir carved by a Makonde artist.

Students of art, diplomats and Heads of State have their collections of Makonde art which has found its way into international art galleries, museums, palaces and shopping arcades in the United States, Britain, Germany and Scandinavia. During the world exposition in Japan in 1970, Makonde carvings were a fast selling item. At the present time, in conjunction with the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C., Makonde carvings are on loan to museums for showing throughout the United States.

In discussing Makonde art, one must bear in mind the deep heritage from which the artist draws his inspiration, then conveying it into art. Among the Makonde, the fascinating world of spirits, music, dance, songs, poetry and anecdotes all hold an important sway. Life too is a long and fascinating anecdote. Mirth and humor come quickly, human frailty is not ridiculed but rather strength is complimented, pride and arrogance are chastised, passion and love are expressed tenderly, fearfully. Obscurity has no place, beauty is desired.

Each person is important in his own right; respect is given and expected. This is the basis of modern Makonde art.

The tradition of carving in wood has been with the Makonde people for a considerable time. Early works known are dance masks, stools and figures in the traditional style. More recently, traders have encouraged the commercial growth of Makonde carvings and such items as trunks, paper boxes, chess sets, animals and miniature figures.

More than ever, sculpture has become a part of living for the Makonde. Duplication is absolutely discouraged and individuality is stressed. The artist is given no direction and is allowed to express himself as he chooses. Therefore, each carving is unique and one-of-a-kind.

These ebony Makonde sculptures, plus many other arts and crafts of East Africa, may be purchased from 75 cents to $100's at the Bahari Shop, located in the Settles Hotel, 202 E. Third Street, Big Spring.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Well, here we go again. I've been to another style show. Each time I vow to resist more strenuously... in fact, at times I've given some thought to giving up all food, all the while knowing the time is long past that I would ever look as good in pants, furs and evening clothes as the pretty young models at the OWC style show Thursday.

The showing seemed to have some effect on a number of guests at our table. One guest said she always made a mental promise to her face to go home and leave it heavily creamed for 24 hours... or at least overnight. One model brought to mind long-ago movie beauty Anne Harding. Only a few of us could remember her which made us more than ever determined to make a better effort to hold the line, or lines, or girth. But hold!

MR. and MRS. ROY CEDERBERG were in Commerce last weekend to visit their son, Brad, who is a student in East Texas State University. Mrs. Cederberg told me that longtime Big Spring, BERTHA SCHUCHERT, who through the years helped nurse half the people in Howard County back to health, has moved to Stamford where her sister lives.

It's birthday month in the OLIVER COFER family. To celebrate all the anniversaries collectively of Oliver, his mother, MRS. JANIE COFER, and the son-in-law, RICHARD (Steve) SCHMITT, the Schmitts are here from Eulless. Maybe STEVE COFER got off from his job and school (University of Texas at Arlington) long enough to join the family affair.

This has been a big weekend for the LARSON LLOYD family. When Mrs. Lloyd found she was to go to Corpus Christi for a meeting of state hospital employees at this time, the family decided it was a great opportunity for the children, Larson Jr., Lisa and Leslie, to have their first sight of a large body of water. So they have been taking in the pretty city for the past three days.

Guests of the Lloyds last week were MR. and MRS. REX WYLIE, (she's the former Gladys Lloyd) who live in Phoenix, Ariz. They left for their home on Wednesday.

DR. THOMAS PORTER has returned to his home in Athens, Ga., after spending several days here with his mother, MRS. A. A. PORTER, who is hospitalized at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. Dr. Porter is on the faculty of the University of Georgia.

MRS. CARL MCGLOTHLIN is in Taylor to be with her mother who has undergone minor surgery on her eyes.

MR. and MRS. ERNIE BOYD were in Waco Saturday for the Baylor-Miami football game.

JP couldn't make the Baylor Parents Weekend so I caught a ride with the CLYDE ANGELS and joined the FLOYD PARSONS' of Little Rock, Ark., for the activities scheduled for the parents of Baylor students and the ball game. The Angels went down to keep their grandchildren, Bobby and Robyn, while their parents, DR. and MRS. ROBERT ANGEL, attended an out-of-town meeting of surgeons.

The FLOYD PANNELLS planned to get an early glimpse of fall finery of changing leaves in Cloudcroft, N.M., this weekend. They enjoy their travel trailer for such weekend trips as this.

A fun gathering of longtime friends was the one Tuesday morning at the home of MRS. G. T. HALL. Object of the get-together was MRS. J. E. BRIGHAM. Mrs. Hall's houseguest, who left Friday for her home in Bakersfield, Calif. Returning with her was a friend of many years, MRS. JACK REED.

Among the group was MRS. LOY ACUFF, who worked for years in the county school offices, and with Mrs. Brigham when she was county superintendent.

Everyone enjoyed the last of the pretty pink geraniums that have been blooming through the months past, the result of Mrs. Hall's green-thumb. They were grouped with several shades of red petunias during the summer months and attracted much attention. Along with the flowers were some outstanding caladiums... the pink variety.

Activities Scheduled For B&PW Week

The local Business and Professional Womens Club has a bevy of activities planned in observance of National Business Women's Week, Oct. 15-22.

The week will be kicked off with a tea for members and guests between 3 and 5 p.m. Oct. 15 at the home of Mrs. Charles Summers, club president, 1812 Benton. Mrs. L. S. Booner is tea chairman.

A regular dinner meeting will be at 7 p.m. Oct. 17 at Coker's Restaurant, hosted by the legislative committee with Miss Moveida Rhine as chairman.

All members of B&PW clubs in District 4 have been invited to a "Dutch treat" dinner at the Spanish Inn Restaurant Oct. 20. Mrs. Faye Hotchkin of Andrews, district director, will be the guest speaker.

Details of the events will be finalized at a business meeting and salad supper at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Miss Helen Willard is over-all chairman for the week's activities.

Throughout the week B&PW CLUBS IN TEXAS will encourage the passing of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Texas Constitution which will appear as number 7 on the ballot of the general election, Nov. 7. The amendments reads "The constitutional amendment to provide that equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex, race, color, creed or national origin."

Deodorizing Jars

When jars and bottles pick up an unpleasant odor, fill the jar with water adding three tablespoons of dry mustard seed and allowing it to stand overnight. Wash and rinse the next day.

Memorial Games Held By LGA

Ladies Golf Association duplicate Bridge players played a memorial game Friday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club for the late John Emery of Wichita Falls, a tournament director. Another memorial game for Mr. Emery is slated to begin at 1:30 p.m., Oct. 15 at the Regal 8 Inn, Midland, under sponsorship of the Midland Unit, American Contract Bridge League.

In the local games Friday winners were Mrs. Hayden Griffith and Mrs. J. Y. Robb, first; Mrs. Joe Herbert and Mrs. W. J. Harris, second; Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. J. D. Robertson tied for third and fourth places with Mrs. Elvis McCrary and Mrs. Ray McMahan; and Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. Jack Irons, fifth.

State Hospital Slates Orientation Program

An orientation program designed to acquaint the public with facilities, services and programs at Big Spring State Hospital will be conducted from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday and Friday at Tallet All-Faith Chapel.

The orientation is intended as an educational process for organizations or individuals and will be followed by tours of the hospital at 1 p.m. following the program.

"The orientation will utilize staff members from various departments to outline the programs at the hospital such as our behavioral modification and alcoholic programs," said Mrs. Larson Lloyd, volunteer coordinator. "It is no way, commits anyone to volunteer work. We just want people to know more about the hospital."

Mrs. Lloyd suggests anyone attending bring a sack lunch or plan to eat in the hospital canteen. Although reservations are not necessary, she would appreciate it if those planning to attend would call her office to give the staff an approximate number to expect. The volunteer office number is 267-8216, ex. 308.

assist simply by walking with them, taking them to the canteen or for a walk in the sun, or by playing games. She said it is important for the men to get out of the unit occasionally, but that staff members don't have enough time to do it on a regular basis.

Chaplain Lee Butler said volunteers are needed on weekends to bring patients to the chapel for games or miniature golf. The equipment is available, but patients need help using it. Assistance is also needed with morning grooming such as helping patients comb their hair or put on make-up to get them ready for the day.

Miss Lucy Carrasco Marries Frank Cruz

Miss Lucy Carrasco and Frank Cruz were married Saturday morning in immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church with the Rev. Louis Moeller officiating before an arch of greenery which fronted the altar setting. Connie Trevino was organist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ireneo Carrasco, 1616 Mesquite, and Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Cruz Sr., Lenorah.

The bride, carrying a bouquet of pearled azaras showered with satin streamers, was attired in a bridal gown with bouffant skirt fashioned of tiered lace ruffles. The fitted satia bodice was styled with long sleeves and squared neckline edged with lace ruffles. A queen's crown of seed pearls held her layered veil which was bordered with delicate lace.

ATTENDANTS
The matron of honor, Mrs. Emilio Molina, and the maid of honor, Miss Lydia Carrasco, sister of the bride, were attired in white empire gowns with double flared sleeves and a trimming of white lace on the collar. Identically-styled gowns, in yellow, were worn by the other bridal attendants. They were Mrs. Raul Hernandez, Mrs. Johnny Cruz, Mrs. Albert Smithwick, Miss Herminia Cruz, Miss Margaret Cruz, Miss Beatrice Moran, Miss Alvina Hernandez, Miss Grace Carrasco, Miss Mary Ruiz, Miss Yolanda Ruiz, Miss Gloria Guevara, Miss Josie Padilla, Miss Martha Padilla, Miss Mary Ellen Rivas, Mrs. Adolph Garcia, Mrs. Amado Valle, Mrs. Felipe Cruz Jr., Mrs. Julian Valle, Mrs. Johnny Cuellar, Mrs. Marcos Lerma and Mrs. Enrique Sotelo.

Emilio Molina served as best man. Groomsman were Raul Hernandez, Johnny Cruz; Albert Smithwick, David Cruz, Lanchow Hewett, P.O. S.C. Tomas Carrasco, San Francisco, Calif.; Ramon Gonzales, Ernest Lopez, Fufino Noyla, Tony Haro, Tony Hernandez, James Padilla, Henry Rangel Jr., Adolph Garcia, Amado Valle, Felipe Cruz Jr., Julian Valle, Johnny Cuellar, Marcos Lerma and Enrique Sotelo.

The flower girl was Nancy Kay Hernandez, and cushion maids were Sylvia Hernandez and Linda Leos. They wore lime-green dresses. The ring bearer was Davy Yanez Jr. A reception was held in the American Legion Hall where refreshments were served from a table covered with a white silk cloth and centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom. Those serving were Mrs. Chona Hernandez, Mrs. Alfonso Cortez, Mrs. Juan Cruz and Mrs. Juan Valle. The bride graduated from Big Spring High School, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Flower Grove High School. After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple plans to reside in Lenorah where he is employed by Holcombe Supply.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
A hand puppet given to my children as a gift has helped us start a miniature "school" to while away many hours of rainy day inactivity. The puppet is a bear. We call him the "writing bear" because he only knows how to write. I've also found that, although I'm no great shakes as a puppeteer, the bear can give advice that is often heeded with greater attention than if "only Mom" were saying the same things!

If Mom had said it, it would have sounded like a sermon and no one would have listened. Since the bear said it, we immediately got an earnest conversation about why it's better to take turns and share.

Dear Heloise:
I haven't read anything in your column pertaining to avoiding hanger creases in trousers. Here is what I do: Lay the trousers flat. Insert the hanger between the pant legs. Fold the lower leg over the hanger so the cuff is on the inside. Do the same thing with the upper leg, folding it evenly over the other leg. By folding the pant legs over the hanger this way, the trousers can not slip off the hanger and fall on the floor. One should use the covered wire hangers. To make a bigger roll on the hanger, that inner cardboard tube from a roll of paper towels could be fastened on the wire hanger! ... Jane R.

MARGARET DANA'S Consumer's Question-Box

Q. I have heard that some state recently passed a law requiring anybody who claims to be able to repair cars and motor bikes to be registered and licensed to do this work. Could you find out which state this is and how the law works?
A. You may be referring to California where the Automotive Repair Act became effective on March 4 of this year. It requires that all business establishments engaged in repairing, maintaining or diagnosing malfunction of passenger vehicles, including motorcycles, must be registered with the bureau of Automotive Repair, Dept. of Consumer Affairs of the State of California, not later than June 30, 1972.

One of the important points of this regulation is that a customer must be provided with a written estimate for labor and parts before any repair work is undertaken. A customer is entitled to the replaced parts, if the request for them is made before work starts. These and other requirements make this a most important consumer ruling and other states are expected to follow suit.

Q. I enclose some advertisements of the special bags to be used for cooking food, baking or roasting meats, etc. Have they been accepted by the Food and Drug Administration as safe? Could they affect the health of those eating food cooked in them?
A. After considerable intensive research the FDA states that the bags meant for roasting or otherwise cooking food are safe, if the maker's directions are carefully followed. The hazard was not in any toxic reaction to the food, but possible fire hazard, or explosion, etc. It is now assured that by following directions on the label no danger exists.

Q. Can you tell me if microwave ovens will brown roasts of meat? My husband read in an electronics magazine that microwave ovens don't brown anything because they cook from the inside out. I don't like meat unless it is nice and brown.
A. It was true of all microwave ovens, when first introduced, that they did not brown any food. But in checking improvements since then I find that several makers now say their microwave ovens will brown ever large roasts of meat. I suggest that before deciding on any brand or type of microwave oven, you check thoroughly what the maker says his oven will do in this respect. But generally speaking it is true that the oven cooks most foods by direct heat of the microwave waves, without even heating the pans in which the food is baking, and now browning the surface of the food. Studies Explore Language Habits

How very young children actually learn a "first" (native) language and then a "second" (foreign) language will be explored in studies supported by the national Institute of Mental Health. They will be conducted in Geneva, Switzerland, and Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia; by a team headed by Dr. Susan Ervin-Tripp of the Department of Anthropology; University of California at Berkeley. Such research provided a scientific basis for new approaches to helping children who have language learning problems.

HD CLUBS VIEW OBESITY

Seek Excuse For Fat?
Choose Your Reason

Two Howard County home demonstration clubs took a good look at problems of overweight and obesity during regular meetings last week, while one club heard a program on cake decorating and the fourth learned the art of making gold leaf pictures.

The difference between overweight and obesity, as well as the seven reasons people are fat, was outlined by Mrs. C. A. Smauley for Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. P. P. Van Pelt, 705 E. 15th.

Mrs. Smauley said a person who is 10 to 20 per cent above his desirable weight is considered overweight. If the percentage is more than 20, the problem is considered obesity. "There are seven reasons people are fat," she continued. "Overweight is due to bad eating habits, social eating, inactivity, lack of diet knowledge, boredom, frustration or hereditary factors." She said a general guide to good eating divides foods in four basic groups - milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals.

Mrs. Smauley said careful measuring of food is the most important thing for a dieter. She suggested dieters weigh once weekly at approximately the same time of day with the same amount of clothing on. Mrs. Glen Earhart presided and announced members have provided cup towels for use at HD events in the county fair barns.

Members will attend the Caylor art exhibit at Heritage Museum Oct. 17, following a regular meeting at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Smauley, 1000 Howell.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB
Miss June Williamson demonstrated the art of cake decorating and making icing pictures for College Park Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Miss Williamson said any picture desired can be put on a cake with a simple procedure. First the picture must be traced on wax paper. It can then be filled in with stiff, quick-drying icing, and after two days it should lift easily off the paper and can be placed on the cake.

Recipes for the quick-drying icing were provided by Miss Williamson, and she also showed how to make wax paper cones which are used for applying the icing.

Mrs. E. D. Campbell was elected club president, and Mrs. Gerald Miller was elected vice president. Guests were Mrs. Alice Griffith, Mrs. J. Robert Massengale, Mrs. John Couch and Mrs. E. A. Williams.

The next meeting will be Oct. 17 in the home of Mrs. John Edgar, No. 7 January Circle. Mrs. Miller will present a program on weight reduction.

AIRPORT CLUB
A tape of a program on weight reduction given recently by Miss Sherry Mullin, county home demonstration agent, was played for Airport HD Club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Henry Tubb, 601 State.

The tape was provided by Mrs. Roy Spivey and Mrs. Dennis Turnbull who attended Miss Mullin's program. One aspect of dieting which Miss Mullin said is important, is that the dieter weigh every week, at the same time, with the same scale and wearing about the same amount of clothing.

"If you are sure you have a good diet, stay on it," said Miss Mullin. "but if you plan to lose a lot of weight, be sure to consult a doctor."

Mrs. B. A. Bunn presided, and devotion was by Mrs. Ray Parker. Mrs. Raymond Key won the attendance prize.

The women will meet again at 1:30 p.m., Oct. 17 in the home of Mrs. J. L. Wright, 1006 Eleventh Place, for a program about arts and crafts.

ELBOW CLUB
Gold leaf art was demonstrated by Mrs. E. A. Williams, a member of the Fairview HD Club, when she was guest speaker at Thursday's meeting of the Fairview HD Club in the home of Mrs. Ray Anderson, 1408 Sycamore.

Mrs. Williams exhibited several pictures she had created using the process of ink drawings on glass, backed with gold foil. Mrs. B. N. Boroughs, president, and Mrs. Lewis Soles will present a program on dairy products at 1 p.m., Nov. 19, in the Boroughs home, 2903 Clanton.

Credit Club
Sees Rating
Of Buyers

Mrs. J. B. Apple distributed parts of actual credit reports to members of Big Spring Credit Women's Club Thursday at the Settles Hotel and discussed terminology used in the reports.

The reports showed no names or places of employment, but the women could study the record of payment, and Mrs. Apple asked them to determine whether or not they would grant credit based on the information shown.

Mrs. Noel Hull presided and new officers were elected. Installation is tentatively scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 19 at Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Lillian Steele, credit manager of Dunlap's, Odessa, and state credit club president, will conduct the installation. Mrs. Byrd Bond of Eunice, N.M. was a guest, and Mrs. Apple won the attendance prize.

Designer Plans Own Collection

Italian dress designer Walter Albini of Florence, who designs for five major off-the-peg chain stores ("That way I can cut my prices") is to launch his own collection, under his own label, next fall.

Hooded Romance

Hooded coats for the romantic evening look also prove functional for the cold, wet, snowy days that lie ahead.

British Wives Study Arts, Crafts Objects

Various forms of arts and crafts were shown by Mrs. F. D. Williams of the Hobby Center and Frame Gallery, for British Wives Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Bill Johnson, 3609 Calvin. As she displayed each item, Mrs. Williams outlined processes involved in the art. She showed gold leaf inking, decoupage, repossé (three-dimensional art made with clay or silicon adhesives), paper tole paintings, crewel embroidery, rosemailing (decorative painting using eight colors blended with white on Norwegian designs) and several ideas for Christmas gifts.

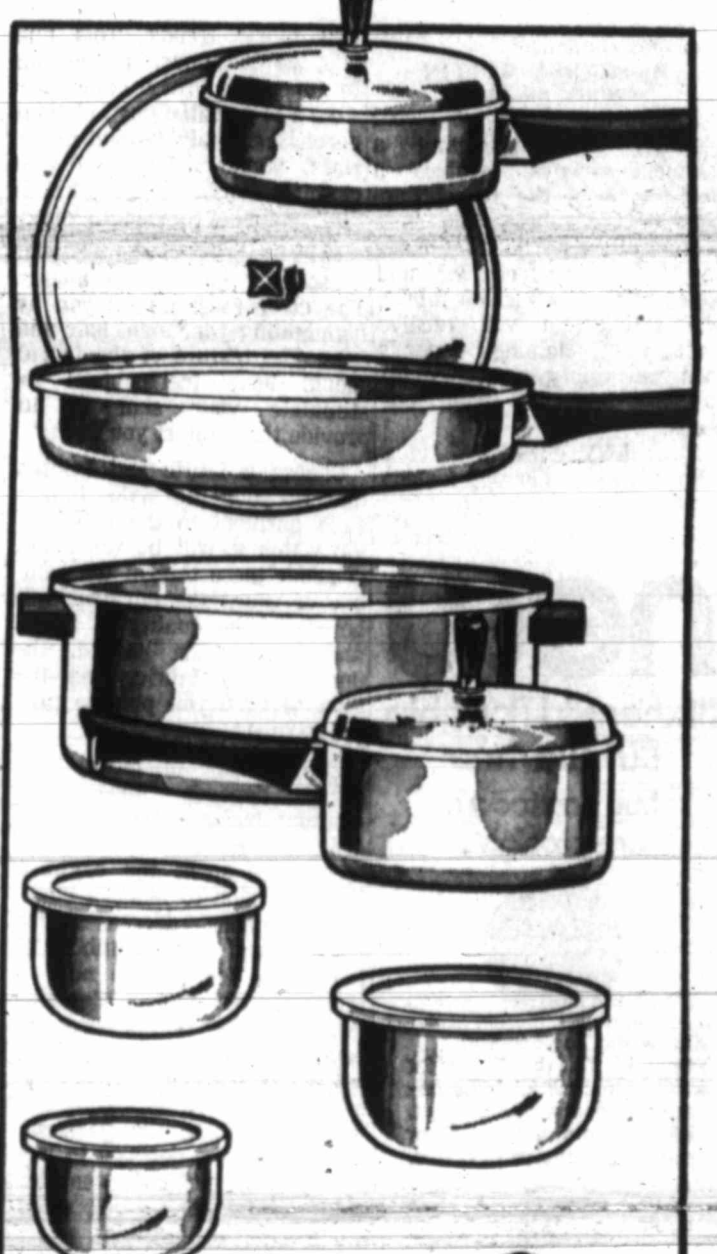

Mrs. Williams announced the Hobby Center offers a free "play day" every Tuesday and Thursday until Christmas, when people may come in and ask advice on various art projects. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white Irish lace cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. Red roses formed the centerpiece.

The next meeting is at 1 p.m., Oct. 19 at the home of Mrs. Bob Bauer, 132-A Dow. Anyone interested in joining may contact Mrs. Don Martin at 263-7458.

Rainbow Girls Ritual Performed Saturday

Miss Pamela Sue Wheeler was installed Saturday evening as worthy advisor of Big Spring Assembly No. 60, Order of Rainbows for Girls. The ritual was held at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 221 1/2 Main.

Miss Wheeler is the daughter of Mrs. Jewell Wheeler, 1304 Sycamore, and Gordon Wheeler of Odessa. She chose as her theme, "By living simply and trying to understand oneself, one can find the first step to happiness." Brown and gold will be the colors of her term, and her floral symbol will be the yellow rose. Given as her scripture was Psalms 118:8.

Following the invocation by Mrs. W. C. Fryar, the installing officers were introduced. They were Susan Smith, worthy advisor; Cindy Williams, marshal; Mrs. Fred Beckham, musician; Sherry Alexander, chaplain; and Gayle Webb, recorder.

New officers to serve with Miss Wheeler are Kay Williams, worthy associate advisor; Zina Johnston, charity; Jodi Grant, hope; Della Nobles, faith; Cindy Williams, recorder; Carolyn McKee, treasurer; Sydney

PAMELA WHEELER

Smith, service; Jaenna Miller, confidential observer; Tracy Egan, outer observer; Jan Armstrong, musician; Cathy Crow, choir director; and Mrs. W. C. Fryar, mother advisor.

During the program, Miss Ellen Anderson sang "You've Got a Friend," and Miss Wheeler explained her theme.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Grant presented a gavel to their daughter, Jodi, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby J. Nobles, presented a Bible to their daughter, Della. Mrs. Fryar presented the merit awards.

Miss Debbie Tibbs presided at the guest register, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Osey Mason from a table covered with a chignon cloth and accented with an arrangement of yellow roses and brown candles. The benediction was by Edgar Phillips.

Following tradition, the Rainbow Girls planned to attend services this morning at College Baptist Church where the new worthy advisor holds membership.

Survey Committee Meeting Changed

The regular meeting of the Howard County Historical Survey Committee has been changed from Tuesday to 7:30 p.m., Oct. 17 in the county library.

SETS DATE — Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Sandridge, Centerville, La., announce the engagement of their daughter, Gay, to Philip Edmon Chafin, son of Maj. and Mrs. Nolan Chafin of Victoria. Both families are formerly of Big Spring, and Miss Sandridge is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sandridge, Big Spring. The wedding will be Nov. 25 in the Presbyterian Church at Centerville.

Christmas Bazaar At Church

A fall bazaar has been scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday in the fellowship basement at Wesley United Methodist Church.

The gift bazaar is sponsored by Wesley United Methodist Women and the group has been working for weeks on hand made items and other crafts which will be featured. Displayed for sale will be handmade candles in various sizes and shapes, miniature floral arrangements, paintings on wood and easels, crocheted and knitted items, children's gifts, gadgets and toys, home baked cakes and candies and numerous other items.

At noon, chili made by Jack Price will be served, with crackers, homemade pie and a drink for $1. The public is invited to visit the bazaar, eat, buy or just browse.

Father Dislikes Son's Cooking

When Jacqueline Bellec started cooking classes for 8-to-11-year-old students at the St. Jean de Barze School, she was surprised that only one girl signed up for the course but boys were quick to apply.

"I discovered that French girls think of cooking as a household chore; but boys dream of becoming great restaurant chefs," explained Mme. Bellec.

Most students take home the dishes that they have cooked in school for supper. One little fellow named Thomas does not.

"My father threw up and gave me a spanking," he reported.

Major Issues Facing Nurses At Conference

Major issues facing nurses and health professionals across Texas are the topics of a clinical conference in San Antonio, Wednesday through Saturday.

Sponsored by the Texas Nurses Association (TNA), professional organization for registered nurses, the four days of clinical sessions will present speakers from Texas, Illinois, California, Utah and Arizona. Some 350 participants from across Texas are expected to attend the sessions including three Big Springers who are members of District 24. They are Mrs. John H. Payne Jr., president; Mrs. E. P. Driver, a member of the board of directors; and Miss Louise Allen.

Among the major issues for discussion at the conference are the questions concerning continuing education programs for R.N.'s and the extended role of the nurse. Presently, continuing education programs are mandatory for relicensure in California. Voluntary recognition of participation in continuing education programs is given in Utah and Arizona through state nurses associations. Texas has no requirement nor recognition program.

TO VIEW AGING
The first day's session on Wednesday focuses on "A Caring Philosophy of the Aging." The day-long geriatric session will deal with national and state programs for the aging as well as the geriatric's special nursing needs and their coordination.

Fees, costs, and proposals on nursing licensure is the topic for the Thursday morning session dealing with the social and legal issues in nursing. The afternoon topic is the feasibility of the extended role for nurses, using midwifery as one example. A reaction panel composed of a political scientist, an economist and an administrator will report.

On Friday, the controversial issue of continuing education for nurses is the topic. National and state trends and developments will be outlined. Speakers will be present from California, Utah and Arizona who are now experiencing continuing education programs — mandatory in California and voluntary in Utah and Arizona.

Simultaneous sessions are planned for Saturday, October 14. One will deal with the changing times in community and school health; the other session is concerned with the changing concepts in psychiatric mental health nursing.

REGISTRATION
All of the sessions will be held at the El Tropicano Motor Hotel in San Antonio.

Registration at the door for the four days is $30 for TNA members; $60 for others.

Real Lashes Can Be Enhanced

If you're uncomfortable wearing false eyelashes, make the most of your own. Powder your lashes lightly with talcum pressed powder between applications of mascara for a fuller and softer look for your own lashes.

Registration on a one day basis is $12 per day for TNA members and $22 a day for others.

The TNA, a constituent of the American Nurses Association, is the professional organization for registered nurses in Texas. It was founded in 1907 at Fort Worth, its headquarters moved in February 1972 from San Antonio to their present location in Austin at 4920 N. Interregional Highway. Mrs. Martha Ann Bobbitt, R.N. of Amarillo is president of the 5,000-member organization in Texas.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING Fabric Durability, Looks Depend On Fiber Content

By SHERRY MULLIN (COUNTY AGENT)

Purchasing ready-to-wear clothing or constructing a garment always involves a decision about the appropriateness of the fabric. The fiber content of the fabric is the basic key to the performance and appearance of a fashion fabric. The satisfaction you receive from your clothing depends upon your ability to successfully purchase fabric to meet your needs.

BUY WISELY

and fabric trends. This puts you, the consumer, in a position to make informed and personally satisfying clothing purchases. Study fashion magazines, window shop and visit clothing stores. Know what is "in" and what appeals to you.

Select fabrics to express your personality, feelings and moods. The color must flatter you by highlighting your skin, hair and eyes. The texture of the fabric should have feel appeal to stimulate your skin or to provide the comfort you desire.

Choose a fabric and fashion that fit your life style. Relate each garment to the activities for which it will be worn and consider these things: the number of times the garment will be worn, the quality of fabric and construction needed, the durability of fabric, and the type of care you plan to give the garment.

The amount of money you spend depends upon your clothing budget. About 15 percent of the average family's income is spent for clothing. Your decision to make a clothing purchase decreases the budget and the number of purchases you will be able to make in the future. Consider not only the initial cost of buying the fabric or apparel, but the amount of money that will be involved in caring for and maintaining the garment. In weighing the decision to buy, make a garment, consider the value of time to be spent constructing the garment.

MAKE PERSONAL TEST
There are certain surface properties of a fabric and garment you can determine personally by putting the fabric into your hand.

Check the stability of the fabric. Give it a "tug" to determine the firmness and snape retention.

Crush the fabric in your hand. The fabric should return to its smooth, unwrinkled appearance. Drape a length of the fabric over your hand. Fabrics which neatly fold and drape, rather than hang limp or droop, will provide a more satisfactory garment.

Examine the raw edges. Frayed, frayed and frayed ends are an indication of instability. Extra construction details may be needed.

Visually examine the fabric for even colors, accurate prints, and flawless weaving.

READ LABELS
A manufacturer is indicating quality when he provides the consumer with information about a product. By associating his name and address with the product, the manufacturer is saying he stands behind the performance indicated by the labeling.

Read hangtags, labels and both ends of fabric bolts to identify these elements.

Brand Name: Once you become familiar with a product manufactured by a particular company, you associate the performance and satisfaction of that product with future purchases. This action assumes that all of that company's products are of the same quality. Use a brand name as a guide only. Make further observations of the particular textile article before making your final selection.

Fiber Content: The fiber content is the real indication of the characteristics within the fabric and the care it will require.

If a blend of fibers is indicated, generally the proportion used will provide the best characteristics of each fiber and reduce the effect of the limitations of each.

Finishes: Labeling will provide the only information available to the consumer on finishes. The finish applied may alter the original characteristics of the fiber involved. Select fabrics with finishes that are in accord with the performance and care requirements desired.

Care instruction: Effective July 3, 1972, permanent care labeling is required for all apparel and piece goods. The consumer must read. Specific instructions are listed, and warnings are provided for methods that would harm the item substantially.

BECOME INFORMED
Become familiar with the properties of the major natural, man-made and synthetic fibers. By knowing their characteristics and limitations, you can select a particular fabric to convert the advantages of the fiber to the use desired.

For example, even though acetate is a relatively inexpensive fiber, it is not appropriate for a play suit for a child. An acetate play suit would not be durable nor easily laundered. On the other hand, an evening dress of acetate would provide the luster and luxurious appearance suitable for many social activities. Care is a less important factor in this case, as the evening dress would not be worn frequently or be soiled easily.

Care is similar for all fabrics of the same fiber. Fabric construction, applied finishes, garment construction and applied trims determine the final care techniques.

Primary uses of a fiber are guides to making appropriate selections for coordination of patterns and fabrics.

Trademark names of man-made and synthetic fibers advertise a manufacturing company as well as a particular product. The trademark name must be accompanied by the fiber name in all labeling and advertising. It is the fiber name which provides the consumer with information about the characteristics, limitations, care and use of the fabric.

Gil Stricklin Is Speaker During Assembly Program

By PHYLLIS HART

Next Monday morning there will be an assembly program in the boys gym, strictly for entertainment. Gil Stricklin, who is an evangelist formerly associated with the Billy Graham crusade, will be featured in a program "Just for Laughs." There will be no charge.

Students who are devoting part of their school day as office workers are: first period — Elroy Green and Connie Salazar; second period — Freddie Marin and Debra Baty; third period — John Yater and Jauna Lopez; advisory — Candance Spencer and Melody Bartly; fourth period — Scott Emerson and Candance Spencer; fifth period — Tim Blackshear and Rita Harris; sixth period — Eddie Blasingame and Marcy Tette- ton.

The Runnels Yearlings won their third game in five starts by defeating Snyder Travis here Thursday. The final score was 38 to 6.

During the half time the Runnels Pep Squad did a marking routine, the first time this season they had tried it. The pep squad has named its officers for this year. The president is Elma Abreo; vice president, Marilyn Campbell; and secretary, Velma Yanez. The five leaders are Nora Galles, Karen Thomas, Sharon Bickford, Kathy Hester and Lupe Rangel.

There was another fine pep rally held in the gym. Featured was a fortune teller who forecast the outcome of the game. Three people, supposedly football players from Travis, were present to listen to the forecast. The fortune teller, who was Marilyn Campbell, also did a dance. The three people, supposedly from Travis, were Lee Ann Mossholder, Kelly McCrary and Sheryl Barron, in reality all were Runnels students.

Texas Due To Get Old Locomotive

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas probably will get an old steam locomotive to operate on the Texas State Railroad from Rusk to Palestine.

Gov. Preston Smith said Friday he had been informed by Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana that Smith's application for a surplus Army locomotive had been approved, subject to review by Congress.

The engine was built in 1943 by the Baldwin Locomotive Works and is presently at Fort Eustis, Va.

Smith said it appears likely the state would acquire another locomotive and several coaches. Two engines are needed for desired recreational purposes, he said.

Tryouts To Be Held For Play

By KATHY REED
Dramatis Personae held a meeting on Tuesday in the auditorium to discuss the new members that are now on a trial basis. In order to become a regular member they are required to obtain three points. To obtain these three points they have to help actors with their make-up, work the lights during a play, help backstage, work at the concession stand and they can try out for plays. After the points have been obtained, a regular member is supposed to sign their name showing that the person has obtained their points and then hand it in to the sponsor. The sponsor is Miss Earlene Harris.

Tryouts will be held for the first play of the year. The play is entitled "I'm a Fool" by Sherwood Anderson.

Wednesday the cheerleaders called a meeting to distribute ribbons to some of the pep squad members. All money that is gathered and all ribbons that are not sold is to be handed in to the head cheerleader, Kathy Fryar. The pep squad and cheerleaders are also selling buttons and bumper stickers which went on sale Monday at 25 cents each. Officers of the pep squad are president, Jeanie Box, and secretary-treasurer, Debbie Croft. The sponsor of the pep squad is Miss Earlene Harris.

'Beat Abilene Week' Builds School Spirit

By JOHN HICKS
As "Beat Abilene Week" got under way at Big Spring High School, spirit began to break out all over. Throughout the week there was spirit competition between the classes. Signs covered the walls. On Friday a pep rally was held by two mysterious cheerleaders in a pick-up. The pick-up was followed by a group of spirit filled BSBSers on bicycles. This pep rally was held in the morning.

The big pep rally was held on Thursday evening at radio station KBST. About 750 persons attend this pep rally. The next major pep rally was held at 3:30 on Friday afternoon. The pep rally included a cheerleader from Mexico. In actuality it was Al Valdes dressed up as a cheerleader. The gold diggers put on a skit. The junior class was selected as the class with the most spirit. Spirit was high and the test was yet to come.

When 4:30 Friday afternoon arrived, a caravan of 30 to 40 cars with black and gold streamers was led about town by a police escort. The spirit was made even higher as the game came to a close. The Big Spring Steers had finally broken the losing streak.

Next week the Band Sweetheart will be named. Finalists are Bonnie Anderson, Sheritta Owensby and Charla Wash. In cooperation with "Beat Abilene Week" the band sponsored a Spirit Dinner last Friday night in the HCJC Cafeteria.

All members of the forensics team are preparing their materials for the upcoming fall tournaments. Approximately 20 students are on the squad this fall, and they are under the direction of Miss Libby Oglesby. Miss Oglesby has expressed much optimism for the team this year, stating that many of the members have a lot of potential.

The team will begin their tournament circuit on Oct. 27-28, when they will attend the Abilene Christian College tournament. On Nov. 10-11 the team will travel to Wichita Falls to participate at tournament at Notre Dame High School. Two tournaments are slated for December, one being Dec. 1-2 at Angelo State College, and the other being Dec. 8-9 at Hobbs, N.M.

The Astronomy Club held a star-watching program at 5 a.m. last Saturday. They viewed the Adromeda galaxy, Saturn, Venus and many other celestial bodies. The next meeting will be held Wednesday in the planetarium. The election of officers will take place.

The Chess Club elected officers at the last meeting. Officers are Reed Whitley, president; Scott Langford, vice president; and Steve Reagan, secretary-treasurer. Meetings are held every Tuesday at 7 p.m. in room V-19 at BSBS. Sponsor for the club this year is Mike Scarborough.

The October FHA meeting was held Tuesday on the home making patio. Annual pictures

Two new seventh graders were enrolled last week in Goliad. They are Tim Conlan from Farmington, N.M.; and Judy Mauppin from Naha, Okinawa.

Firing Squad For Robbers

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Ten men were publicly executed by an army firing squad today for robbing travelers of belongings and cash totalling about $5,000 last December.

This is the second largest group of convicted armed robbers to be shot at one time in Nigeria since the federal military government decreed death by firing squad for armed robbery two years ago. The largest group numbered 14 convicted robbers in Port Harcourt, capital of the Rivers state, last August.

Today's executions, watched by thousands of persons at Kappa, 200 miles northeast of the Nigerian capital, brought to more than 100 the total of convicted armed robbers shot since the Biafran war ended in January 1970.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Miss Sherry Lynn Boyles and Hubert Layne Rowden exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Coahoma Church of Christ.

Ralph Beistle, minister, performed the rites before a heart-shaped archway highlighted with votive candles. An arched candelabrum holding tall white tapers was centered behind the archway, and the altar was flanked by spiral-candelabra and honeysuckle wreaths. Baskets of white carnations and gladioli completed the setting.

Parents of the couple are

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rowden, 1307 Monmouth, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Boyles of Coahoma.

Wedding music was provided by a choir composed of Mrs. Don Allen, Mrs. Lonnie Anderson, Mrs. Larry Pherigo, Miss Karen Kiser, Dwayne Clawson, Lonnie Anderson and Dan Pettit.

The bride wore a formal-length gown fashioned in white beau de sole with three-quarter-length lace sleeves. Embroidered lace roses accented the empire waistline and edged the hem of the skirt. A long train was enhanced with small covered buttons, and her full-length veil was bordered with a band of Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white carnations, stephanotis and babies'-breath, centered with a white orchid.

MATRON OF HONOR
Mrs. Vernon Hewey Jr. of Big Spring was matron of honor. She was attired in a floor-length gown of orange double-knit crepe with a natural gathered waistline, short sleeves and a round collar.

Bridesmaids were Miss Marlene Swinney, Mrs. Bruce Allen and Miss Becky Rowden of Big Spring, the bridegroom's sister. Their gowns were styled similar to Mrs. Hewey's but were in gold crepe. All attendants carried nosegays of fall flowers in shades of orange, gold and green.

Larry Gross of Sand Springs served as best man, and groomsmen were Bruce Allen, Gaylan Harding and Paul Day of Big Spring. Ushers were Shannon Boyles, brother of the bride and Phillip Rowden, brother of the bridegroom.

Valerie Kellar, the flower girl, was attired in an avocado crepe gown like the other bridal attendants. Ring bearer was John Swinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowden graduated from Coahoma High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She is employed by Elmo Wasson Men's Store, and Rowden works for Darden Well Service. They will reside at 502 N. 2nd, Coahoma.

RECEPTION
A reception honored the couple in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a white ruffled cloth and highlighted with satin and pearl-edged wedding bells and avocado ribbon insets. Centering the table were a tiered cake and an arrangement of fall flowers and candles.

Serving were Mrs. Carlene Cooper, Mrs. Gladys Pillow, Mrs. Gaylan Harding, Mrs. Larry Gross and Miss Joy Fowler.

Wedding guests from out-of-town were Mrs. Mark Wilkenson, Scottsville, Ky.; Mrs. J. M. Caldwell, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bud McKinney, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wall, Arlington; Mrs. Letha

TEXAS CROPS Early Planted Cotton Opening

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Cool weather over much of Texas speeded harvest operations last week and brought a flurry of small grain planting, Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, said.

The cotton and grain sorghum harvest moved into the South Plains and Panhandle where early yields are generally good, Hutchison said. However, warm weather is still needed to mature the cotton crop in many counties.

Rains brought needed planting moisture for small grains in much of North Central and Northeast Texas. Early planted small grains are making good progress in western areas and in the plains but army worms are causing some damage.

STILL SHORT

Hutchison said pasture and range conditions are above average in many locations, especially in Far West Texas where late summer rains boosted grasses. Ranges are still short in parts of North Central and Northeast Texas and stock water is low in some sections.

Winter vegetables are making good progress in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area and in the Rio Grande Valley. Agriculture agents gave these conditions:

Panhandle: About 90 per cent of the wheat acreage has been planted with most of the crop up to a good stand. Alfalfa and forage sorghum are being harvested for hay. Sugar beet prospects look good.

South Plains: Open weather has boosted cotton fiber development. Early planted cotton is opening with harvesting starting in southern counties. Some early soybean varieties are being harvested with good to excellent yields.

Rolling Plains: About a third of the cotton crop is open. The grain sorghum harvest is more than half complete. Gnar and mungbeans being harvested in several counties.

SLOWS HARVEST

North Central: Recent rains slowed the cotton harvest but provided moisture for small grain planting. The pecan harvest is a month earlier than usual. Turnips, mustard, beets and onions are being planted.

Northeast: Despite rains of up to eight inches in some areas, soil moisture is short in some counties. The rains boosted small grain plantings and improved prospects for a final hay cutting. Soybeans are maturing. Some late peas are ready for harvesting.

Far West: Harvesting of grain sorghum is active. Small grains providing some grazing. Fall sheep shearing is active. Screwworms and hornflies are plaguing livestock.

West Central: Peanut harvesting is under way with good yields. The pecan harvest has started. Early planted small grain is looking good. Some Angora goats were lost in recent heavy rains. Screwworm infestations are heavy.

SEEDING OATS

Central: More than 75 per cent of the cotton in this area has been harvested. About a fourth of the peanut crop is in with good yields and grades reported. Pecans are hulling rapidly and crop prospects are good.

SOUTHWEST BOOKS The Life Of A Lawman

TOM WHITE, The Life of a Lawman. By Vernon R. Adams. Texas Western Press, El Paso, $8.

Tom White, who died at 90 in El Paso last year, was one of those persons who held law enforcement jobs at many levels of government and industry. This is one of the unusually well-written volumes about officers, partly because of such strong material at the author's hands.

White was a Texas Ranger, railroad detective, FBI agent, prison warden and a member of the Texas Board of Prisons and Paroles. Among other jobs, he was warden at Leavenworth Penitentiary and at the La Tuna Correctional Institute at El Paso.

One of the more interesting portions of his book tells how White broke up a ring of swindlers and murderers, which sought to take over some of the Osage Indian wealth in Oklahoma. Widely quoted is Don Whitehead, the former Associated Press newsman who wrote a book about the FBI including White's Indian episode. He almost had an arm severed by a gun blast as he stepped a break at Leavenworth, and it was while recuperating that he was given the La Tuna job.

He served at La Tuna until he retired in 1951 at the age of 70. He then served a term on the Texas prison and parole board.—The AP (REF).

PEOPLE LOVERS. By William S. Taegel. Word Books, Waco, Tex. $3.95.

The author is director of the Institute of Church Renewal in Houston and is working on a doctorate in family therapy and mental health.

He found in his life—and in the lives of other people—that love of God does not always mean love of people.

One purpose of the book is to show how a person can become a people lover—and how this bridges all sorts of differences in family, between generations, ethical decisions, race problems and the like.—The AP (REF).

Mutilation Charge Filed

FORT WORTH (AP) — Ronald Ray Brantley, 23, of Fort Worth was charged Friday with the mutilation of an 85-year-old woman.

The charge was filed with Justice of the Peace W. W. Matthews who set bond at $100,000.

Brantley, an unemployed laborer, was charged with the death of Mrs. Mary Emma Davis who was killed Aug. 30.

Lt. Oliver Ball of the Fort Worth police said earlier Brantley led detectives to a plastic bag which contained a severed part of Mrs. Davis' body.

But For The Ifs

History is riddled with challenging "ifs," turning points which could have moved nations and peoples into a course entirely different from what actually followed.

One of the newer "ifs" is discussed in the current Foreign Affairs by Barbara W. Tuchman, noted historian of the modern era and a specialist on China.

Mrs. Tuchman, working with recently declassified documents, writes about the offer of Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai to come to Washington to meet with President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1955.

This was more than four years before the Communists expelled Chiang Kai-shek and took over mainland China after a bloody civil war. The United States backed the loser and received the implacable enmity of the winners, thawed finally this year by President Nixon's visit to Peking. Neither FDR, the State Department nor the War Department saw the original proposal transmitted from Red headquarters. Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley held it up, let Chiang reject a coalition government proposal. Hurley mentioned it only in a secondary, negative reference. However, even if Roosevelt had seen the original offer it is unlikely he would have accepted it. FDR was just as committed to Chiang's preservation as was Ambassador Hurley.

Those possibilities vanished 27 years ago and speculation, while intriguing, only makes reality less his Army team to an upset over Texas A&M "If ifs and buts were candy and nuts, we'd all have a merry Christmas."

Once A Fink . . .

With considerable pomp and ceremony, J. Kingsley Fink became an honorary citizen of Fink, Tex., (pop.8) the other night.

The mayor and vice mayor handed Fink his Fink citizenship papers before a large crowd. Fink also was made an admiral in the Texas Navy.

Then J. Kingsley proved himself a proper Fink. He is quarterback for the U.S. Military Academy football team. From the ceremonies he stepped before the large crowd at College Station, and led his Army team to an upset over Texas A&M last week. Once a Fink, always a Fink.

Endorsements

William F. Buckley Jr.

I note that Mr. Mark Spitz has embarked on a five million dollar career, as adviser to the American community on what to eat, wear, drink, smoke, see, and hear. The fons et origo of his authority to counsel us on such matters is that he can move his body through a given body of water at approximately one second of time less than the runner-up, who will never be heard from again, whoever he is.

IT IS ALL quite customary, and accepted with good nature everywhere. There is going on, in the city I inhabit, a blitz these days featuring Mr. Joe DiMaggio. He is running on about the interest rate at a local bank. Mr. DiMaggio knows about as much about interest rates as I know about baseball; never mind. One would think, to judge from the television commercials, that Chet Huntley is an aeronautical engineer, whose career was briefly interrupted by NBC. Never mind.

IT IS ALL deplorable, and faintly dishonorable, I suppose, though it is quite generally excused, except by the most rigid keepers of the public probity. An exclusive club in New York City is reputed to have denied membership to an industrialist who innocently posed with a bottle of brand whiskey in his hand in an advertisement in which he was identified as a Man of Distinction, enticed to do so by a procurer who promised in return everlasting patronage for the Red Cross, etc. But the stigma, like the Scarlet Letter, is evanescent.

There is another problem, whose tentacles have choked me. It has to do with what is permissible in the way of gratitude. We all express our complaints (though not as often as we should). But how, publicly, to express our enthusiasms?

A YEAR OR SO ago, freshly arrived in Switzerland, I pulled out the electric portable typewriter I bought 10 years before to keep there, plugged it in to the alien current apprehensively as I do at the beginning of every season, but it jumped instantly to life, performing with the precision of a Saturn rocket. Impulsively I sat down and typed out a letter to the manufacturer: "Dear Sir: I have owned one of your typewriters, model so and so, for 10 years. It has given me absolutely faultless service. You have reason to be very proud of your product. You may use this testimonial in any way you see fit. Yours truly, W.F.B."

I NEVER heard again from the typewriter company. No doubt the clerk put the letter in the crank mail box. On the other hand, the company will one day publicize an endorsement of its typewriters by Muhammad Ali.

That last sounds individual, and is not meant to be. But it would be good to be able to speak one's mind unsharpened about the pleasures of certain goods of this world, and as a devoted consumer of them, I would love to hear the unthought opinions of others, on everything from cars that actually stand up (is there such a thing?), to television models that do not require maintenance.

ONE DAY I may write, say, a tribute to fine-airline service; or to a ball point pen (I have discovered the world's best), or to a reference book. But it isn't safe, and one cannot live dangerously in every field.

Jewish Question

Marquis Childs

NEW YORK — Of all the sad aspects of what has thus far been a wretched campaign the injection of the status of Jews seeking to emigrate from the Soviet Union must rate high. Inevitable though it may have been with both sides bidding for the Jewish vote, the lengths to which this has gone exceed anything in past elections.

HERE IN New York the other day Sen. George McGovern told a Jewish group that he would vote against most-favored nation treatment for the Soviet Union if Mr. McGovern demanded an exit tax up to $35,000 for permission to emigrate. Most-favored nation treatment means merely that in any trade agreement the Soviets would get the same tariff preference rates as other most-favored nations.

A little later President Nixon, speaking to another Jewish group, made up chiefly of his own supporters, was reported as saying he would not demagogue the issue. This aroused the wrath of the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, made up of 34 national Jewish agencies and community groups in 22 cities. In a night-long session marked by fiery speeches the conference agreed on a strongly worded letter — couched almost as a demand — to the President, calling on him to compel the Soviet Union to revoke the emigration tax.

IN WASHINGTON the White House is reported resentful of this approach, with renewed determination, in the Nixon phrase, to refuse to demagogue the issue.

A blunt attack could in the not-too-distant future have directly the opposite of the desired effect. President Nixon at this writing seems sure to be re-elected by an overwhelming majority. In a second term with no possibility of running again, he could well take a tougher stand in trying to compromise the Arab-Israeli conflict.

WHEN HENRY Kissinger, the President's adviser on security affairs, returned from his latest mission to Moscow he was questioned about whether he had brought up the issue of the Jews in his sessions with Leonid Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders. He replied that it had been raised, as it was also when the President was in Moscow for his

It is important to understand the position of Kissinger, himself a Jew, in this volatile, emotional matter. His conviction, the motivation back of all that he and the President have done in promoting better relations with the Communist superpower, is that only in this way can tensions be eased. With tensions eased the position of the Jews will be improved and the proof, in this view, is the emigration to Israel in the current year of a larger number of Jews than ever before.

AT HIS PRESS conference on returning from Moscow Kissinger was optimistic about the conclusion of a big trade deal with the Soviets, perhaps even before the election. Along with the arms agreement it would be a major triumph of the Nixon foreign policy — far more important, as it turns out, than the Nixon television spectacular in Peking.

THE JEWS are not alone in the vast prison of the Soviet Union. In Lithuania the Catholics were not long ago in open revolt at the suppression of their faith. How all this can be transformed by a fiat from Washington it is impossible to see.

Economy Turning Up Rosy

NEW YORK (AP) — More signs of an improving economy, settling of an airlines strike, and a change in the plans for salvaging the nation's largest railroad were highlights of the past week on the business front.

A green light for the economy as a whole seemed to shine from news of a jump in factory orders in August, coupled with booming auto sales and construction activity.

The 2.9 per cent rise in factory orders over July levels to a seasonally adjusted $64.3 billion was the best increase registered in seven months.

CAR HAPPY — Car sales for the last 10 days of September set an all-time record for any 10-day period, but the month's total of 740,238 domestic cars sold was 2 per cent behind last year's record pace.

Construction contracts soared to $8.88 billion in August, it was reported, a 16 per cent jump from last year's strong pace. Consumer credit was up, too, for the sixth straight month.

While economy watchers were admiring the latest indications of economic recovery, the trustees of the Penn Central Transportation Co. which is being reorganized under bankruptcy laws, were meeting to consider the future of the railroad.

They decided that instead of chopping 20,000 miles of track out of the 31,000-mile Penn Central system, as had been planned, earlier, they would eliminate only 5,000 miles of track.

The reason given was that the originally planned 11,000-mile "core system" would not generate enough revenue.

Japs Stay Away — The number of Japanese visiting Taiwan has dropped 80 to 90 per cent since Tokyo and Peking established diplomatic relations Sept. 29, the largest tourist agencies dealing with the Japanese reported.

Punch Mining — The state is drafting regulations for "punch mining" — a technique involving use of deep mining to remove coal from an already stripped surface seam.

KILL WAGE BILL — In other major developments of the week: —Bank of America, the country's largest bank, raised its prime interest rate to 5 1/2 per cent, making that rate virtually universal among the nation's major banks. —The House of Representatives killed any chance of an increase in the minimum wage this year, by refusing to meet with the Senate to iron out differences in two bills. This is the minimum wage at up the life cycle of the crewworm, were released earlier this week over San Antonio's predominantly poor, Mexican-American southwest section, the veterinarian said. But he warned that the crewworm infestation in livestock is county-wide and it could occur in anybody. More than 1,200 cases have been reported in livestock so far this year in the county, he said. Zoo officials and animal clinics also reported crewworm infestations among the animals they handle. —Officials at the zoo said about nine cases—two in birds and the rest in mammals—have been treated successfully over the past three weeks. The zoo has a total of 2,000 animals. Dr. Richard Mays, president of the local Veterinary Medical Association, said both dogs and cats are being infected.

Six Cases Of Screwworms In Children Are Reported

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Six children have been afflicted with screwworms here in a steadily growing outbreak that has struck thousands of Texas farm animals, officials said Friday.

It also was disclosed that the Screwworm Eradication Center at Mission, Tex., released 800,000 sterile flies over part of the city earlier this week to fight the hazard. Health officials urged parents to make certain their children receive prompt first aid for all wounds and that pets be checked and treated for cuts and abrasions.

The six cases were in the scalps of girls ranging from 1 1/2 to eight years old, but they healed readily with no complications after they were treated, the Metropolitan Health District reported. Dr. Joseph Salisbury, head of the district's veterinary services division, said screwworm infestation in humans is very rare.

"I think this was accidental infection and the danger of any widespread infection in humans is not great," he said.

The six cases were confirmed between Sept. 10 and Sept. 21, Salisbury said. He said none have been diagnosed since then and that these were the first human cases of the year here. The sterile flies, which break

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

If I were Sen. George McGovern or Lawrence O'Brien I would think seriously of calling off this year's really BIG election.

IN FACT, they could use the money saved to pay part of the party's debt from 1968 and part of my salary as Oklahoma Demo publicity director back in '60.

For I can see no way that a Democrat can win this year, barring a catastrophe. The summit meetings the President has attended recently have gone so well and seem so promising that he could be re-elected by acclamation, if there were a way to do that.

IT COULD go far beyond that. If all, or most, of what he's been negotiating in the last few months comes about, Richard Nixon will join men like Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and many others as national heroes.

That's a niche few people foresaw for him in November 1968, after he lost to John F. Kennedy.

It will be interesting to learn how it all came about.

Did Nixon suggest it, or Henry Kissinger, or Bebe Rebozo, or John Connally? Or Spiro Agnew? Or Patricia Nixon?

There's a long way to go before we're out of this miserable mess the entire world is experiencing, for it took us a long time to get into it.

SO LET US pray. And don't forget to vote!

After all, a hero is a common ordinary human being who was in the right place at the right time and did the right thing.

In fact, many of our national heroes had feet of clay, and one had teeth of wood. The typographical error of the week came from the Washington Post, which referred to ex-Miss Texas, Brenda Box, as "a beauty contest sinner."

ONE OF MY baseball favorites, Joe Hague, former Tulsa Oilier and St. Louis Cardinal who was traded to Cincinnati, says August Busch, Dallas owner, traded a winning ball club out of town just because of personality differences. What he means is "Busch is bush."

I'M SURB MOST of you read it (stories like that get a very high readership) but for those few who didn't, I'm repeating one of the great statements of the year.

It was made by a member of the cast "Hair" in Tulsa when a member of the Ku Klux Klan tried to arrest her during the closing performance of the show there. "You can't arrest me," she said. "I don't have any clothes on." Beautiful!!!

A CLOSING remark made by a news source in a discussion about efforts in Congress to make the abortion law more liberal, David Shaw reports, was:

The legislators need to quit sticking their heads under the covers.

MY BASHFUL aunt, Marie Chastain, says:

Recently on a talk show, a dignified woman stated, "In Boston, we think breeding is everything." Just another regional difference. In Duran, we think it is fun, but not EVERYTHING.

Depletion Act

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Sens. Mike Mansfield and George Aiken have proposed one of the most revolutionary tax reforms in the history of this country. They have suggested that human beings be given a tax depletion allowance as generous as one provided for oil and minerals.

AS MOST PEOPLE know, the allowances are given to companies on the assumption that once you take the oil, gas or minerals out of the ground they cannot be replaced.

Sens. Mansfield and Aiken maintain that people deplete, too, and they have proposed a bill that would permit individuals to deduct from 10 to 25 per cent of their earned income to compensate for running down. The guidelines to be used, according to the bill, state that the percentage of depletion would be based on "the physical, mental and emotional stress incurred in connection with the production of income during the year."

NOW IT IS my personal opinion that if those guidelines are adhered to, columnists should be entitled to the highest tax breaks.

No one, except possibly a housewife, depletes faster than a columnist. His profession forces him to go to cocktail parties night after night which do untold damages to his liver. He is constantly being threatened with violence by people who take exception to his articles. This not only takes its toll physically, but also emotionally.

MOST COLUMNISTS look 20 years old before they reach their 40th birthday. Wives of the columnists will testify that their husbands are depleted every night, and are not much good for anything except watching Medical Center and All in the Family.

There is scientific evidence available that columnists have loss of memory very early in their careers, and forget that the column they wrote today takes the exact opposite position of the one they took only a week ago.

COLUMNISTS are prone to ear trouble from having politicians scream at them over the phone.

All of them are overweight from lunching with their sources and drinking bottles of wine sent over with the compliments of the management.

This is why very few columnists can get health insurance after the age of 35.

IF CONGRESS passes the Human Being Depletion Act, columnists will get the maximum benefits the law provides. If anything, we should at least get the same depletion allowance that they give for gas.

Billy Graham

My Answer

In Luke 21:25 it says, "And there shall be signs in the sun and in the moon and in the stars." Do you believe that this is relevant in these times? Will this be fulfilled? K.M.

My answer definitely is in the affirmative with regard to your two questions. There is no doubt in my mind that such Scriptures as that you have mentioned and another found in 2 Peter 3:12, "Wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat," have received a new significance and meaning because of the fact that we have been catapulted into an atomic age. It is very significant also that in the verse you have quoted our Lord continues with the words, "and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity." The word "distress," in its original, as Bishop Ellicott points out, has the meaning of "being completely hemmed in," while, according to other authorities, the word for "perplexity" has the meaning of "without a passage out." These two words taken together reveal world complexities from which even the wisest of earth will be unable to find a solution. It is precisely so today.

However, the Christian is not the one who, in the face of such circumstances, is only hoping for the best; thank God, he has "the best hope." He is not piteously wringing his hands lamenting, "Look what the world has come to," but is rather clapping his hands proclaiming, "Look who is coming to the world." What encouragement, therefore, is in the words of our Lord: "And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; your redemption draweth nigh" (Luke 21:28).

A Devotion For Today . .

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. (Isaiah 40:31)

PRAYER: O God, full of grace and mercy, teach our hearts to believe in You and to pray to You this very moment. Help us not to wait to pray. Help us to be wise and to seek You while we have time. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Inter-Faith Crusade Begins Here Today

An inter-faith crusade centering on an invitation to "Meet Jesus" opens today at First Baptist Church.

Gil Stricklin, Dallas, with the evangelism department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will be the spokesman, and Vee Gray, Dallas, will direct a varied musical program. The week will be crowded with the testimony of celebrities and will be climaxed by a "Fifth Quarter" rally at H.C.C. gymnasium after the Milland-Big Spring football game.

Stricklin hadn't intended to be a preacher and has been in the ministry only 2 1/2 years. Although he went through Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, he did it as a layman trying to find a bridge between theological thinking and life as he had found it working from the city room of the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

"I've learned more about life in working out of the city room — more about people and their problems, death, tragedy and the result of sin — than I ever have from the pulpit," he said. This is one of the experiences which determined him to urge churches to "get out from behind those stained glass windows and get out there where the action is."

Although a Baptist by conviction, Stricklin emphasized that "I am not hunting people to be Baptists — I want them to meet Jesus Christ as individuals. I hope that we will have Methodists, Catholics, Presbyterians and others, as well as those who don't have any church connection. Anyone who wants to meet Jesus is more than welcome."

Stricklin took a degree from Baylor, and then earned one in journalism at TCU. While working nights for the Star Telegram, he went to seminary. Still, his goal was Christian communications — not preaching.

For 5 1/2 years he was with the Billy Graham organization in public relations, working with national television and radio, newspaper, magazines. In 1970, he had a conviction that "God was calling me to a preaching mission, and suddenly the door was opened with the Baptist General Convention of Texas in 'lay evangelism'."

"I guess that I've heard Billy Graham preach 300 times," he said of his experiences which took him to 78 countries of the world. "But when people hear me preach, they wouldn't dream I'd ever heard of Billy Graham. I'm me."

GIL STRICKLIN

Stricklin consciously beams much of his message to young people because he feels most of them are more honest than adults.

"They will say I've tried this and that... and I still haven't found a purpose in life, and when you present the challenge of Christ they are excited by it if you just shoot straight."

He has preached all the way from "the South Pole to Stanton, from an Anglican Cathedral in downtown London to an X-rated pornographic movie house in Tempe, Ariz. I'm no Bible thumper. I know some won't like what I say or the way I say it, but I try to say

JEAN ADAMS' TEEN FORUM

PEST: (Q) I'll get right to the point. I like Chuck and Chuck likes me. But every time we get together here comes Kay and makes a pest of herself. Chuck and I can't say a word to each other.

Whether it is in the daytime at school or at night when Chuck comes over, Kay is always there. If you don't help me get rid of her I think I'll scream. — No Privacy in North Carolina.

(A) One day when Chuck is not around tell Kay, girl to girl, that she is bugging you. Be friendly but firm with her. Sometimes a girl has to be blunt. You have a reason to be.

LESBIAN? (Q) When I take a liking to a boy I may think about him all the time and even dream about him. If he returns my interest, I am delighted at first. But soon I get sick of him and begin to find all sorts of things wrong with him.

Is this normal for a girl my age (14)? Sometimes I wonder if it's a sign of lesbianism. Maybe I need to talk to a doctor. I've talked it over with my parents and they say I'm too young to worry about that kind of thing. — Wondering in West Virginia.

(A) You have a problem, but it isn't lesbianism or the threat of it. You are a faultfinder. Lots of teen-age girls are.

Happily, most of them get over it. As they grow older, they are more able to see what wonderful creatures boys are, and male imperfections that once fretted them grow smaller and smaller in their minds. I am confident that by the time you must pick a boy or a man for a lifetime you won't have any trouble at all. Be friendly, fair and honest with all of the boys, and look for the good points in all of them.

LAWN GIRL: (Q) I am a girl and my father makes me help him mow the lawn every Thursday. I don't have any choice.

My brother has to help, too. We get 35 cents apiece, but I don't need the money because I baby-sit and get money ($1) every week.

I am only 12, but, considering how my father insists, I fear that I won't be able to accept a Thursday-night date because of this chore. — No More Mowers for Me, Please, in Texas.

(A) I think you're being picky. Working in the yard is good exercise and it is by no means a job strictly for the males of the family. You're lucky your father pays you and you are lucky to have a home with grass and other growing things surrounding it. Many of the boys and girls who read Teen Forum are not so lucky.

JUDY SAYS NO: (Q) I love Judy very much. We went together about four months but broke up. It took me about a month to miss being with her. When I did I asked her to go to the school dance with me. She said she was going with some girls.

I asked her if she would go back steady with me whether she went to the dance with me or not. She said no, she wanted to stay single.

How do I get back with her? — 16 in Pennsylvania.

(A) Judy doesn't sound as interested in you right now as you are in her. Her interest may revive or it may not. One way to help perk it up is to take some other girls to the dances and let her see that you are not exactly dying because she won't go steady with you.

Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Read your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 202, Houston, Texas 77061.

Three Face Heroin Raps

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Seizure of heroin worth $100,000 has led to charges against two Puerto Rican men and a woman.

Charged with conspiracy to possess and distribute about 30 ounces of heroin, they were remanded to jail in lieu of bonds totaling $310,000.

Federal officers said they also seized two hand guns, a shotgun and three vehicles when they arrested the three here late Wednesday.

Keith Fieger, local head of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, said the heroin could be worth as much as $20,000 at wholesale on the illegal market.

If diluted and sold in gram quantities, it could be worth about $100,000 on the streets, he said.

Charged were Angel Luis Ortega, 25, of San Antonio; Ana Pena Ortega, 26, and Demetrio Ortiz Piliot, 28, all of San Antonio. Officials said the two men are natives of Puerto Rico. Their bonds were set at $125,000 each, while Mrs. Ortega's was $60,000.

City police, who assisted in the case, said the three were arrested after an investigation of an organization dubbed the "Puerto Rican Gang."

In the past, the organization has been suspected of stealing cars in Killeen and San Antonio, primarily, and driving them into Mexico at Nuevo Laredo, across the border from Laredo, Tex., officers said.

Fieger said his office was assisted in the arrests by U.S. Customs agents, the federal Drug Abuse Law Enforcement team here and a special city police squad.

Sarcoidosis

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a disease called Boeck's Sarcoid. Is there a cure for this and what is the fatality rate? I am under cortisone medication. — Mrs. M. W.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please tell me about a disease called sarcoidosis? Does it have a lot to do with tumors of the skin? Can it affect the eyes? Does a person get cured of this disease?

I am going on 30 years old. Does it have anything to do with the liver? I was told not to drink any kind of liquor, that it would hurt me. — Mrs. J. K. T.

Two letters, two names, same disease. Boeck's, also called sarcoidosis, is a condition causing small tubercles (lumps) in body tissue. Its cause is unknown, but it is more common among young adults, although it can and does occur in other age groups.

Because not much is known about it and less written about it, patient is naturally confused and bewildered when he learns he has it.

The disease is strange for several reasons. For example, it can appear in almost any tissue, eyes, skin, glands, lung. Yet few symptoms are produced, although it may be accompanied by a subtle fever.

It has a tendency to appear and disappear spontaneously and move from one site to another. It is usually characterized by tumors (benign) resembling flesh.

Sarcoidosis has a tendency also to mimic other ailments. When it attacks the lungs, it can be mistaken for tuberculosis.

Incidentally, while the cause is unknown, some patients who have had sarcoidosis have later been found to have tuberculosis. Diagnosis is made by tissue biopsy of the lumps or of the affected lymph glands. There is a special blood test which also reveals its presence.

It is not life threatening, although when it affects the lungs, it can become more serious.

Use of steroids (cortisone-type medication), as in the case of Mrs. M. W., helps speed up the disappearance of lesions. And Mrs. T. can do without her alcohol for the time being, particularly if the liver is involved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are all cancers both benign and malignant? Could you give me a brief explanation concerning types, etc? — J. M. K.

Some confusion here. Do you mean "tumors" instead of "cancers?" A tumor is any sort of abnormal growth, and a great many tumors are benign — meaning that they are NOT cancerous.

But cancer means that the growth is malignant, that it will keep on growing and spreading, unless it is removed one way or another.

If you'll be more explicit on your second question, as to exactly what you want to know, I'll try to answer, but an explanation of all types of cancers, let alone all types of tumors, can't be brief.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you kindly explain what makes a heterosexual? — E. A. B.

It means that girls like boys and boys like girls. As contrasted to a homosexual who is attracted to someone of his own (or her own) sex. From the Greek "hetero" meaning different and "homo" meaning the same.

DIABETES
 Never take a chance on diabetes! For a better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Parent Night Set Oct. 27

The Boy's Club of Big Spring, 212 E. 3rd St., is planning a "Parents Night," Oct. 27.

Each boy will show a project he made in arts and crafts classes. Those judged best will be awarded prizes.

Volunteer arts and crafts instructors working with the boys four afternoons each week are Mrs. Arvie Peterson, Mrs. Kathy Hopper, Mrs. Tommy Ross, Mrs. Mildred Ward and Mrs. Fred Hyer. The club is open from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays.

At the regular monthly meeting Thursday night, Bert Andries, executive director, reported an average of 60 to 70 boys visit the club daily.

Don Daves was introduced as a new member of the board and volunteer worker with the boys.

This semester, for the first time, the club has a boy working eight hours per week through the Neighborhood Youth Corps In-School program.

The board's next regular meeting is slated for Nov. 2.

Bread Keeps 'Chef' Alive

NEW YORK (AP) — Put the television set back in the kitchen, mother. Julia Child will stay on the air after all. At least for now.

Her show, "The French Chef," just got some badly needed bread — about $80,000, to be exact. Without it, her award-winning cooking secrets would have left public television by the end of this December.

The money came from the Polaroid Corp., which underwrote the show for three years before deciding this spring it would be unable to do it again during public television's 1972 fall season.

Its corporate change of heart ended a financial crisis that developed when no other company could be found to underwrite the proceedings in the Child scullery.

"Boy, was it ever in the nick of time," said David O. Ives, president of station WGBH in Boston, which produces the show for the Public Broadcasting Service.

He said the Polaroid renewal late last week came about 48 hours before a decision had to be made on whether to keep the show somehow struggling along or close it for good.

TUTORING STARS — Miss Mary MacDonald, studio school teacher, tutors Joan Brodel (later famous as Joan Leslie) and Mickey Rooney in this 1935 photo. Miss MacDonald says she cannot teach without discipline.

Hollywood Teacher Tells About Pupils

HOLLYWOOD — Facing a classroom filled with some of the world's most talented children — Elizabeth Taylor, Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, to name a few — could be any teacher's dream.

But it "just happened" to Miss Mary MacDonald nearly 40 years ago.

"I had come back to Los Angeles from teaching in the Philippine Islands," said Miss MacDonald, "and just walked into a job of teaching at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. I was looking for a teaching job in Los Angeles because my father was ill there, and thought I could do some tutoring. Those were depression days, and teaching posts were hard to come by."

A phone call at 8 one morning proved a turning point in the young, dark-haired teacher's life; because she could teach French, she was hired to tutor high school senior Jean Parker, a dancer then under contract to the studio.

"That was my first experience with studio teaching," Miss MacDonald said, "and it was a lot of fun because Jean, 17, got the red carpet treatment wherever she went, and I got it, too."

She stayed with her student until Jean's 18th birthday, then became resident teacher at MGM, following her predecessor's retirement.

In her long career as studio teacher, Miss MacDonald taught such fledgling stars as Joan Brodel (later famous as Joan Leslie), Bonita Granville, Deanna Durbin, Darryl Hickman, Dean Stockwell and Margaret O'Brien.

"I was very strict, because I can't teach without discipline. If you're strict and have good order, you can have a good time with kids."

DRAWING BY LIZ
"If you expect a lot, they'll surprise you, and surpass even that," said the teacher, who "only occasionally" had to fail a pupil.

"Those children had so much talent — after all, they had been signed by the studio because of talent — that it was unbelievable. Being creative doesn't mean you have to have the highest I.Q. in the world, though. I learned many a lesson in paintings and drawing from those youngsters," she said, pointing to a photograph of her students admiring a picture drawn by Elizabeth Taylor.

"She (Elizabeth) was a beautiful child. I never saw a more beautiful child," Miss MacDonald said. She taught the young actress from sixth grade through high school.

Studio classes — the state required a minimum of three hours per day — were held in the Spanish-style bungalow formerly belonging to Louis B. Mayer.

PARTY, PARTY, PARTY
"It had big carved doors, recessed windows and a fenced yard," Miss MacDonald remembered, "and I used to get help, and a lot of visitors, from the Board of Education. During the '40s, the school staff expanded to eight teachers a day, one for each 10 children or less," she said.

"We had a lot of parties, too," the former teacher said, "Christmas, Halloween, birthdays — when I see some of the pictures I saved," she said, motioning to a tack of photographs, "it seems that we did nothing but have parties, which wasn't true at all."

She remembered "trying to avoid letting the studio photographers find out about the parties," she said, "because they'd be there in a flash to take pictures, and of course the kids loved it."

ALL KIDS NEEDED
The "show business children" Miss MacDonald taught proved their background one day, when a group of members of the St. Louis Board of Education visited the school unexpectedly.

"Well, I worried about that," Miss MacDonald said. "It was 'speech day' and although ordinarily I had the children write their proposed speech topic on the board, I hadn't done it that day, and one of the girls in the class had a habit of coming up with talks not particularly suited to the classroom."

"But I had forgotten that these were actresses and actors," Miss MacDonald said. "They came through beautifully. The talks went like clockwork, and everything was perfect. All those kids ever needed was an audience."

Winner, Loser
PARIS (AP) — At the French mint, you make a little here and lose a little there. The mint produces coins worth $2 at a cost of about $1.80 each, but it also stamps out one-centime pieces, worth about a fifth of a cent, at a cost of nearly a penny each.

A Personal Message from
RENAL B. ROSSON
Now serving you in Austin as State Representative

The special session of the Legislature now going on has caused radical changes in my plans for campaigning for re-election as state representative, and will make it impossible for me to see and solicit the votes of many residents of the 62nd District.

I feel a definite obligation as your representative to be in Austin for the hearings on the issues now under study, and to be PRESENT AND VOTING as these issues reach the floor of the House. For your information in 14 years of legislative service I have been absent a total of three days, and none since 1961.

Since I cannot be in Austin and in the District at the same time, I have only limited time on weekends to visit and contact you as voters. Therefore, I must, in this way, ask for your support in the November 7 election.

If you have any questions regarding my position on issues of current and future concern in state government, or regarding my votes in the past, you have only to ask me and you'll get an answer. Call, write or see me. I am here to serve you.

Meantime, I'll be busy in Austin tending to the job to which voters of my district elected me.

Sincerely,
Renal B. Rosson

Cave People On TV Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Reynolds sat down in a glass-enclosed booth at the recording studio on West 54th Street. He lit his pipe, checked the script again and started talking softly.

"This is a very special baby... a link between the present and the past. He is the latest member of a stone-age tribe. He has no name... For the time being his family simply calls him 'brother'."

Reynolds was taping his narration for a special documentary, "The Cave People of the Philippines," to be shown on NBC next Tuesday night at 10 p.m.

His words were about the Tasaday, a gentle tribe of 27 men, women and children whose home always has been the caves in a few miles worth of rain forest on the rugged Philippine island of Mindanao.

Their discovery in June a year ago touched off front-page headlines and waves of excitement among anthropologists, linguists and social scientists.

A helicopter is needed to get to the Tasaday.

It has been determined by experts that the tribe isn't aggressive; its language has no words for weapon, anger, hostility or war.

"Well, you have a choice. You could have left them alone and within a year the loggers would have overrun them and possibly killed them."

He meant logging interests that were within a few miles of the Tasaday before the Philippine government stepped in and declared the area in which the tribe lives a sanctuary.

"There also are Christian settlers in the area and they're land-hungry," he said. "With the help of politicians, they'd have driven the Tasaday farther back in the forest than they are now."

BB Sex Image Fading Away

HOLLYWOOD — It is difficult to believe, more so, perhaps, for her than us, that Brigitte Bardot is now 38 years old.

The "sex kitten" image is fading away. And although her films no longer get the worldwide attention they once commanded, she still remains a very popular figure in her native land. At her peak, BB was drawing more profit to France than perfume or champagne, and Frenchmen are not likely to forget something like that.

Director Roger Vadim discovered her and molded her personality. She was only 14 when they first met, and her only experience had been as a model and occasional dancer.
