NIXON AIDE ADMITS, DENIES WRITING FAKE LETTER

Dirty Political Pool Shots

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House aide Ken W. Clawson has acknowledged fabricating a letter which damaged the presidential campaign of Democratic Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, The Washington Post reported today. Clawson now denies the statement.

The newspaper quotes law-enforcement sources as saying the Clawson letter is the best example of a Republican strategy of sabotage directed at Democratic presidential contenders as early as 1971, before the primary campaigns began.

ALLEGED BUGGING

The Post said FBI agents have established that the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic national headquarters also stemmed from the same sabotage campaign directed by officials of the White House and the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Another example, the Post said, was alleged attempts by Donald Herbert Segretti to recruit GOP undercover agents to disrupt Democratic activities.

The Post said Segretti, a former Treasury Department lawyer who now maintains offices in Marina Del Rey, Calif., has been identified in FBI reports as an operative of the Nixon campaign.

A spokesman for the Nixon committee, DeVan L. Shumway, said, "The article in the Post is a piece of fiction."

"CANUCKS"

The Post quoted investigators as saying the sabotage campaign included: "Following members of Democratic candidates' families; forging letters and distributing them under the candidates' letterheads; leaking false and manufactured items to the press; throwing campaign schedules into disarray; seizing confidential campaign files, and investigating the lives of dozens of Democratic campaign workers."

Clawson, deputy director of White House communications, could not be reached for comment Monday night. A spokesman who telephoned his home was told via the White House switchboard that he had retired for the night and that his wife did not wish to awaken him.

The document Clawson allegedly wrote was a letter to the editor of the Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader. It accused the Maine senator of condoning a racial slur against Americans of French-Canadian descent by referring to them as "Canucks."

The letter and editorial attacks on Muskie by the Union Leader's publisher, William Loeb, prompted Muskie to make the now-famous tearful speech denouncing the newspaper and Loeb in front of the Democratic nomination, Muskie subsequently began to slip in the public-opinion polls and fared worse than expected in the New Hampshire primary in March.

In Beverly, Mass., Loeb, publisher of the Union Leader, said, "The Washington Post has fabricated the whole affair to discredit the White House."

"It's one of the dirtiest pieces of political pool I have ever seen. There's no validity whatever to it."

BITTEN BY TIGER — Her head wrapped in bandages, Lisa Cordner, 5, of Bellevue, Neb., posed for this picture with her parents after she was attacked by a young tiger at an Omaha zoo Sunday. The tiger jumped a 10-foot pit and bit Mrs. Cordner, then turned on Lisa, witnesses said. Her father, John, tried to grab the cat. It released the child and jumped into another pit, zoo officials said. Zoo officials said they believed other persons had been tormenting the tiger before he jumped from the pit.

STUDY UPCOMING College Most Logical Spot For Center?

The Chamber of Commerce will name a committee to investigate the possibility of a community center facility in connection with Howard County Junior College.

R. H. Weaver, president, was authorized by directors at their monthly meeting Monday at Spanish Inn, to name a panel to approach the college with the objective of seeing if a building, capable of serving as a gymnasium-community center, can be undertaken. Previously, a committee had been studying various efforts toward a coliseum of some similar structure and recommended to the board that the college was the most logical vehicle for carrying the proposal.

Directors also were informed of a need of 200 to 300 workers now and in the near future for expanding local industries. There are numerous openings in production work at Fiber Glass Systems, Big Spring Dress, Berkley Lancer Homes, and Intech, said Ron Mercer, chamber manager. He has been taking applications at the Chamber office in behalf of the Industrial Team. Big Spring Dress is planning to double its production, he said.

Tom Fetters' challenge, on behalf of the Ambassadors' Club, for a one-day membership enrollment effort, was accepted by the directors.

The observation park at the north end of the main runway at Webb AFB is steadily being rounded out, Mrs. Roy Cederberg, vice president, reported. Gerald Miller, co-chairman of the Agriculture committee, said that a steering committee had been named to promote a Howard County fair for September or October 1973. The agriculture panel has been visiting county fairs in the area for ideas. He said there was much interest in resuming the fair, and one individual already has booked booth space.

Weaver said that Paul Meek, Dr. Lee Rogers, John Currie and M. R. Koger, would serve with him as a nominating committee. Named to the program committee for the annual meeting were Tom Fetters, R. W. Whipkey, Mrs. Harold Davis, Ron Mercer and Weaver.

Weaver also reported on the US 87 Highway Association meeting in San Antonio and of the importance of the community working toward constant improvement of this north-south route. The 1973 convention will be held here.

Push Toward Adjournment

AUSTIN (AP) — Pushing toward possible early adjournment of the special session, the Texas House today approved a series of measures asked by Gov. Preson Smith in calling the emergency meeting.

The measures all go to the Senate for further action.

Approved on a 116-11 vote was a bill that would appropriate $13.5 million to repay the University of Texas Medical School at Houston and Texas Tech University School of Medicine for money borrowed in 1970 to help Texas out of a welfare crisis.

GINZBURG FREED — New York publisher Ralph Ginzburg, 42, was paroled today from the Federal Prison Farm in Allenwood, Pa., where he served eight months of a three year term for pornographic charges. With him is his wife ShoShaNa.

He Accuses Supreme Court Of 'High Crimes, Treason'

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Publisher Ralph Ginzburg was paroled from a federal prison farm today after serving eight months of a three-year term for dispensing pornography. As he left he accused the Supreme Court of "high crimes and treason."

REST OF LIFE

"I have fought this case as a matter of principle right from the start, and I do not intend to give up now," said the 43-year-old New Yorker. "I will be vindicated. I don't care if it takes the rest of my life."

Ginzburg, who was picked up at the Allenwood Prison farm by his wife and their 11-year-old daughter, said he plans to meet with his lawyers and representatives of libertarian groups to plan for reopening his case.

He was convicted in 1963 in a U.S. District Court in Philadelphia of sending obscene materials through the mail. He was initially sentenced to five years in jail and fined $42,000. Appeals, which lasted nearly a decade, resulted in his sentence being reduced to three years.

The charges stemmed from his fourth and final edition of the hard-covered magazine, Eros, which featured a photo essay of a nude black man and white woman.

LOVE AND SEX

Ginzburg, who said he would not try to revive Eros but planned to continue with other publications, said anti-pornography laws are aimed at wiping out the instincts of life itself.

"I tried to give America its first beautiful, intellectual, emotionally mature, completely forthright magazine dealing with love and sex," said Ginzburg. "Its name was Eros. Myriad awards for literary and artistic excellence were bestowed on Eros, but when the Supreme Court gazed upon the magazine all it could see was smut.

"I do hereby accuse the United States Supreme Court of high crimes and treason, namely of mocking the Constitution, trampling freedom of the press and playing fast and loose with one man's liberty, mine."

Ginzburg said he would revive his magazine, Avante Garde, in about six or eight months. He also said he has long-range plans for two new publications which are "very special," but he would not elaborate. However, he said they would take about two years to produce.

Panel Approves Insurance Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — A House subcommittee, working until 3 a.m. today, approved a competitive car and home insurance rate bill that is expected to go before the full House Insurance Committee this afternoon.

"I think it will come out of committee," the measure's sponsor, Rep. Don Cavness of Austin, said.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, meanwhile, said he would seek a Senate vote Wednesday his version of a rate competition measure.

The measure approved by a five-man House subcommittee would:

—Permit insurance companies to set their own rates and put them into use without any requirement that they be filed with the State Insurance Board in advance. Rates would have to be kept on file with the board.

—The board would continue to issue rates for Texas, based on the combined experience of all companies writing insurance on buildings and autos. A company could use these rates or post its own. Customers could learn from agents how the board rates compare with those issued by their companies, said Rep. Grant Jones of Abilene, an agent member of the subcommittee.

—Policy forms would be standardized to make rate comparisons simple.

BOOTS MADE FOR WALKING

AUSTIN (AP) — It looks as if Texas quarterback Alan Lowry will just have to keep on walking. Lowry told police he lost $1,000 in $100 bills Sunday afternoon. The money was in an envelope.

Lowry said he had recently sold his old car and was saving money to buy a new one.

Minister Questions Board Policy Concerning Church

By MARJ CARPENTER

A surprise visit by the Rev. H. B. Birdwell of St. Mary's Episcopal Church enlivened the regular school board meeting here Monday evening when the Rev. Mr. Birdwell questioned the board policy on separating church and state.

His objections arose from two teachers who had come to him upset because they had been given tickets to a First Baptist supper for optional distribution to their students.

The Rev. Birdwell questioned a policy which would allow tickets to any religious event into the schools, in any manner, and then went on to ask them to tighten up their policy of allowing religious speakers in the schools. He reminded them of Supreme Court rulings.

At one time, the board had a policy to allow no religious speakers in the schools but this was later modified to include the speakers, if they spoke on non-religious subjects.

HOLIDAY CHANGE

Board members agreed to bring the policy out for further study and thanked the rector for his appearance. They discussed the fact that they want students to hear good speakers on moral issues and also discussed the possibility of letting the Ministerial Alliance serve as a screening board, with no action taken. No more discussion was held about the tickets.

Board members also reviewed a change in the school calendar approved by the majority of teachers, which will exchange a former holiday in March during a teacher workshop with the day of May 28, in order that those persons with three day holidays may have that day off. The teachers, however, will work that day. School is out three days after that date anyway.

PICKUP BIDS

The high school principal, John Smith, reminded the board that baccalaureate will have the be held on Sunday, May 27 — three day weekend or not, and that they could simply excuse seniors who are out of town. It cannot be held the previous Sunday because the seniors will not have completed their examinations and be sure who is graduating.

The board approved the low bid of Broughton Truck and Implement of $2,635.11 per pickup. Other bids were from Pollard Chevrolet and Bob Brock Ford. They purchased two pickups.

Board members approved the budget statements presented by Don Crockett, business manager, each month. They also approved preliminary application for minimum foundation funds. They approved the 1973 tax roll.

Noel Reed, acting in the absence of Supt. Sam Anderson who is on vacation, presented the enrollment report at the end of September showing a drop from 265, from last year at the same time. He pointed out that the average daily attendance will not show that big a drop, because many of the special education students have been placed in regular classes in the recent program.

NO SUPERVISOR

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction, told the board that they have not yet hired an art supervisor (See CHURCH, Page 2, Col. 8)

HOMOSEXUAL MARRIAGES ISSUE DODGED

Tuition Reimbursement Nixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — On an 8-1 vote the Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional today an Ohio law providing tuition reimbursement to parents of private and parochial school students.

With Justice Byron R. White dissenting, the court affirmed the decision of a federal panel in Ohio invalidating the state law. White said a hearing should have been held by the high court.

The justices did not give their reasons for ruling against the state.

ENTANGLEMENT

Last year, again with only White dissenting, the court declared unconstitutional a variety of state programs that reimbursed Roman Catholic and other church-related schools for instruction in non-religious subjects.

In that decision the court held direct financial aid to parochial schools involved "excessive entanglement between government and religion."

Ohio officials had attempted to save the 1971 law by appealing to the Supreme Court. It provided for $90 payments to a child per year.

In other actions today, the court:

SOCIAL SECURITY

—Dismissed an appeal, "for want of a substantial federal question," that was designed to sanction homosexual marriages.

—Agreed to decide whether children must be adopted under the supervision of a child placement agency in order to qualify for Social Security insurance benefits.

—Required Indiana to grant welfare aid to needy children 16 to 18 years old who are not in school.

—Upheld various Maryland election regulations that the American Civil Liberties Union claimed were unreasonably burdensome to new political parties.

—Agreed to decide whether cities may ban jet aircraft takeoffs and landings at night.

The three-judge court in Ohio held the reasons advanced in support of the law do not alter

"the plain fact that... as it permits reimbursement for tuition, (it) will transfer public funds to religiously oriented private schools."

Thus, the court continued, it violates the constitutional prohibition against establishment of religion.

"The District Court denied reimbursement because these parents send their children to church-related school," said Ohio's appeal. "This isn't neutrality, this is hostility to religion."

PRIVATE AID

Coupled with the private aid provisions, the law established a statewide income tax and a minimum allocation of $600 per public school student per year.

Presbyteries Meet Today

A combined meeting of two Presbyteries, including the Trest...

Ritas Presbytery U.S. and the UP-USA Presbytery will convene this afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church here. Two men will alternate presiding, with the Rev. Frank Seaman, minister of West Odessa, presiding for the US Presbytery and Charles Underiner, Midland, layman, Coahoma church and the Rev. Robert B. Smith for First Church in Midland. A service will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight, open to the public with a special Communion service and a talk by the Rev. Richard B. Hardie, Western Hills Presbyterian Church in Little Rock, Ark.

Midland Project Is Criticized

MIDLAND — Charges of petty politics filled the Midland County Courthouse Monday in connection with a road paving project of Commissioner Clark Moreland. Moreland was not reelected.

GOP Commissioner Win Brown, who drew the public's attention to the project, said in commissioners court Monday he does not want to pay the $3,057

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Tuesday, Oct. 10, 1972 3 for the paving.

Moreland denied that the road, which dead-ends at his mother's home, is a private roadway.

He cited an opinion of County Attorney Jimmy Oglesby that since the road has been publicly maintained, it is a public road. Moreland then charged Brown with the acquisition of marble slabs which are missing from the county courthouse, now being remodeled.

Say It Right With Faye's Cut Flowers

Such a simple process as communicating is oftentimes caught up in the complexity of today's world.

Keeping in touch with those for whom one has great feelings is difficult, but sending flowers can be an answer.

Saying the right word with the proper expression on one's face is sometimes impossible. It's a delicate world of communication. The lines of thought are often too far apart.

Even as all persons do not move in the same direction, think in the same vein, so do all have the most basic and simple things in common.

Along the lines of the simple, the elegant, is the easiest manner in which one can project a message. Affairs of the heart are best dealt with through media which have no words, no complex thoughts, no confusing concepts... but the commonplace things to which all persons cling.

A deep, inborn love for nature and its products is a common lust with which all men are born. Each loves mountains and trees, a small red stone, and a yellow rose.

Through nature all men can communicate, each finding that the other knows and holds to be valued the immortal earth.

Flowers say it all: fresh, fragrant beauties which warm the hearts of all.

From the spright, young nose-gay to the elegant, mature centerpiece, flowers from Faye's will win the heart of a pretty girl, or add that common message of humanity to a formal dining room.

Faye's Flowers is experienced in constructing arrangements of all types, whether it be a dozen red roses for her sixteenth birthday from Dad, or the long-lived carnations of Colorado for a convalescing friend.

Fresh flowers arrive daily (except Sunday), keeping Faye's well-stocked with an unbeatable selection of floral lovelies, ready and waiting to be placed perfectly into the arrangement that says it right.

Faye's has vases available to complement any arrangement, each piece relevant to a special occasion: birthday, anniversary, new-birth, baptism, illness.

As a member of Floral Transworld Delivery, Faye's is able to send a gift of flowers to any point in the free world within a few hours from placing order.

Department Of Health Warns Public Of Animal Diseases

The Texas State Department of Health this week sent out a news release discussing zoonoses, which sounds like some kind of exotic animal found in the wilds of Africa.

Literally translated from its Greek origins, the word means "animal disease." It is used by health officers to refer to any disease then can be interchanged between animals and many under natural conditions.

Much in the news this past week are four cases of screw worms among human beings in the San Antonio area. It was believed to be in a poor sanitation district, but there were fears that it would spread to other areas.

This is not the only disease communicable between animals and humans. Nearly everyone has heard about the dangers of rabies from infected wild animals or pets. Plague, typhus, encephalitis, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and the like, are the diseases most commonly known to the general public.

OTHERS

Much has been written and said about these dramatic diseases. However, there are also chronic, milder diseases transmissible from animals.

Of this group, visceral leishmaniasis is one of the most common and one with which the State Health Department is very concerned. This is a chronic disease caused by the migration of certain nematode larvae from the body wastes of animals into the organs and tissues of its human victims.

Big Spring veterinarians said the disease is quite common among dogs here, but they have no way of knowing whether or not it is transferred to humans. They said that if it is, it would probably be under poor sanitation conditions. The disease causes an inflammation of the inner eye, enlargement of the liver, various changes in blood chemistry and a localized acute inflammation of the lung, known to some as benign pneumonia. Symptoms may persist for as long as a year.

WORLDWIDE

The disease occurs worldwide, but has received the most attention in the United States. The mode of transmission is directly related to the eating of dirt by young children. Infective eggs containing larvae can be transferred from contaminated soil to the mouth. The eggs reach the soil in body wastes from infected cats and dogs.

Firm Reveals $44,238 Net

Big Spring Exploration, Inc., and its wholly owned subsidiary, Roden Drilling Company, experienced a profitable year for the fiscal period ending May 31, stockholders learned at their annual meeting last weekend.

Net earnings of $44,238 reversed a $88,785 loss last year. The company has been working out of a deficit situation that existed for several years and is now back in the black.

Operating revenue amounted to $1,312,823, up from $1,077,796 the previous year. Most of the gain occurred in drilling contracts which was up by a quarter of a million dollars in reaching $1,202,060. Cost of operations and depreciation amounted to $1,134,631, leaving a gross profit of $178,172. Part of the profit picture came from an extraordinary item of $22,645 from sale of materials.

The earnings per share were put a 3 of one cent, whereas a year ago this was a deficit of 12 1/4 cents per share. The books showed 802,621 shares outstanding at the end of the fiscal year. The company also showed an increase in current assets in amounting to $317,553 as compared to $189,475 the previous year.

Elected directors were Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman; John Roden, Casper, Wyo., president; Ted O. Groebel, executive vice president; Dr. J. M. Woodall and Dr. Jack Margolis.

Stockholders approved the reduction of the board to five members, also changing the annual meeting date to the third Thursday in October.

She Gulps 'Gold' To Watch Play

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Francie Thompson swallowed some "gold" so she could get to see a friend perform in a play in her hometown, Chattanooga, Tenn.

The "gold" was 176 goldfish and the $100 prize will be just enough to cover the cost of the trip, said the 18-year-old Ohio Wesleyan University freshman.

"I could've eaten more," said Miss Thompson, who beat out nine men contestants in 11 minutes Saturday night to win the contest sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

But the fraternity's stock of 500 one-inch goldfish ran out before she could beat the world record of 210 fish.

 South's method for scoring ten tricks in his four spade contract may appear to be the result of a look at an opponent's holdings. His success was not the result of a "peek" however, but rather a well conceived campaign based on the information already available to him.

East's opening bid of one diamond was passed by both South and West, the latter failing to have the necessary six points to keep the bidding open. North reopened the proceeding with a take-out double and even tho his partner bid only one spade, North raised to two. His holding is worth 15 points in support whereas the balancing double might have been made with only 10 or 11. South decided to put no further pressure on partner inasmuch as his holding had considerable merit and he proceeded to four spades.

West opened the ten of diamonds, the three was played from dummy and South won the trick in his hand with the king. The queen of spades was led and when West followed with the deuce, declarer paused to reflect before playing from dummy.

If a finesse was taken in spades and it lost, a heart return might be anticipated. If East has the ace of hearts, then the contract is safe—for the defense will be limited to one trick each in spades, hearts and clubs. If the ace of hearts is behind the king, South must lose two heart tricks and he will suffer a setback on the deal.

It appeared to South that the ultimate fate of his contract hinged primarily on the location of the ace of hearts rather than the king of spades. On this reasoning he decided not to take the finesse in trumps. The ace of spades was played from dummy and when the king appeared from East's hand, ten tricks became assured. Two more rounds of trumps were drawn and then the king of clubs was led. East played the ace and shifted to the queen of hearts which was covered by the king and ace and a heart return enabled East to complete the defensive book with the jack but South had the rest.

Declarer did not see the king of spades in the opening bidder's hand, but his play was designed to profit on the possibility that that card was all alone. Refusal to take the finesse would result in failure only if West has both the king of spades and the ace of hearts. This is not a possibility however when West does not keep his partner's one diamond bid open. He may have either the king of spades or the ace of hearts—but not both.

If the ace of spades play does not drop the king, a spade is continued and even if it develops that West takes a trick which could have been denied him, declarer can count on making his game bid since the ace of hearts must be in the opening bidder's hand.

Woman Returned To Confinement

Convicted in county court for passing a worthless check, Margaret Hirt, 35, of 1602-A Virginia Avenue, was returned to the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville for parole violation this morning by the sheriff's office.

She pleaded guilty to passing a worthless check in county court Sept. 7 and was sentenced to six months in jail.

The Mitchell County Sheriff's Office has notified the Howard County Sheriff's Office that she also had been charged with defrauding an innkeeper.

Autumn Haze Fades Fast

By The Associated Press
 In Texas today the calendar may have said autumn but the thermometer said warm.

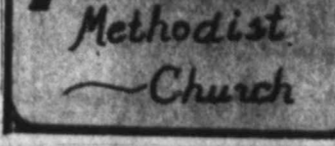

Low clouds crept in from the coast as far north as Austin with patchy fog in sections of South and Southeast Texas but generally conditions were clear and mild.

Temperatures this morning were in the 70s in southern regions of the state with 50 and 60-degree readings in the Panhandle and High Plains.

GLACIERS, QUAKES, FLOODS

He's Against Pipeline

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Several hundred girls and boys in Texas reform schools apparently will be freed next month because they did not have attorneys when they were committed.

State District Court Judge Charles Mathews ordered the attorney general's office Monday to learn by Nov. 8 which juveniles waived their right to counsel.

SINGING TOO LOUD
Steven Bercu of the Travis County Legal Aid and Defender Society said it was clear to him that there had been no waiver by the 514 youngsters for whom he filed a writ of habeas corpus.

The Texas Youth Council prefers to call its facilities at Gatesville, Brownwood, Crockett and Gainesville correctional institutions rather than reform schools. But Asst. Atty. Gen. Max Flusche used the later term to impress the judge, with the gravity of the case.

"They're not in reform schools for singing too loud in Sunday school," Flusche said.

The judge agreed that as a matter of courtesy he should let authorities in the 120 counties involved know what was about to happen.

The judge also said a 1967 U.S. Supreme Court decision requires him to release juveniles who had no lawyers, and did not waive their right to counsel.

Flusche said Dallas County Dist. Atty. Henry Wade already has promised to re-prosecute Dallas juveniles released on such a writ.

NO WAIVES

Bercu said he, other lawyers and law students interviewed the 514 last January and February. He admitted that some of these have since been released and that the writ could not apply to them.

Those 514 made up about 60 per cent of the population of those institutions at that time, Bercu said.

Local authorities already have told the attorney general in 51 cases—not included in the 514—that there had been a waiver, Bercu said. Therefore, it may be presumed that there was no waiver in the other cases, he said.

He continued to dismiss the likelihood of an early Vietnam settlement while talking with reporters during an appearance at New York's Columbus Day parade, which drew cheers from top Republican leaders.

"I hope they're true," he told a reporter who asked the candidate about the peace rumors during a pause in the parade. "But frankly I'm afraid it's

Current Peace Rumors 'Election-Eve Talk'

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. George McGovern outlines his step-by-step plan to end the Vietnam war tonight after declaring that rumors of an impending peace settlement are "just election-eve talk" fostered by the Nixon administration.

CRUCIAL TEST
McGovern said in advance of his speech, which aides consider one of the most crucial of his uphill presidential campaign, that the war remains "the clearest and sharpest of all the issues between Richard Nixon and George McGovern on Nov. 7."

The half-hour program, taped Sunday, will be shown on the CBS network plus other stations at 7:30 p.m. (6:30 p.m. in the Central Time Zone only).

McGovern predicted in a speech Monday night to a $50-a-plate dinner in the Detroit suburb of Southfield that anyone who watches the telecast "will vote for the Democratic candidate for president on Nov. 7."

At the time it is shown, McGovern will be in Chicago for a speech to a $15-a-plate "people's dinner" planned for more than 7,000.

He scheduled speeches earlier in the day to a United Auto Workers rally in Detroit and another rally at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Although the specifics of McGovern's speech are being kept secret until just before air time, the Democratic nominee has indicated some of the points he will make.

He continued to dismiss the likelihood of an early Vietnam settlement while talking with reporters during an appearance at New York's Columbus Day parade, which drew cheers from top Republican leaders.

"I hope they're true," he told a reporter who asked the candidate about the peace rumors during a pause in the parade. "But frankly I'm afraid it's just election-eve talk."

A statement issued by McGovern aides said that statistics about costs, casualties and extent of bombing show "that the war is not winding down," and listed a series of optimistic predictions from administration spokesmen which it said "reveal four years of bogus hopes."

"They are especially useful in providing a realistic context to view the current administration-initiated speculation about a breakthrough in Paris," the background sheet added.

McGovern spoke to what some Michigan Democrats said was their largest fund-raising dinner in history.

He told his audience that Monday was the fourth anniversary of Nixon's 1968 campaign statement that "those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace should not be given another chance."

WEARING GIRDLE 101-Year Prison Term For Powers

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP) — Murder defendant Harold Ray Powers, 25, faces a portion of a 101-year prison term today, following the decision of a jury of 11 persons Monday that he should serve that amount.

Powers was convicted in this West Texas town of the slaying of Gordon Bengston, 42, a music booking agent for New York's Community Concerts.

Bengston, of Far Hills, N.J., was found in December 1970 near Lake Brownwood in Central Texas slashed, beaten and shot to death.

Powers' trial was moved on a change of venue to Eastland, where the jury gave him what District Clerk Joe Gray believes is the longest prison term ever assessed in the district.

Elsewhere in Texas, juries have returned punishment verdicts of one thousand years or more. Under Texas parole provisions, Powers could be eligible for consideration for parole in 20 years or less.

In Texas, a defendant is eligible for such consideration, in STOKE-ON-TRENT, England (AP) — A burglar named James Bond tried to be a sharp operator, but unlike 007 he ended up in jail. His decline began when he fell through a warehouse roof and landed in the hospital. Later he bungled a bungalow burglary because his bum back prevented him from climbing through the window and police grabbed him.

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my doctor that I have "triglycerides," and when I asked for an explanation in layman's language, he said it would require weeks of studying to understand that. I would cooperate with more confidence if I could get a proper explanation. I would appreciate any help.

Triglycerides are fatty substances that accumulate in the bloodstream, and whose level should be kept within bounds because of the contribution of these fats to atherosclerosis (arterial hardening). I'll agree with your doctor that it isn't easy to put it all in layman's language, but since there's a considerable similarity to the problem of cholesterol, I've tried to write an understandable explanation of triglycerides into my booklet on cholesterol.

So for what I can tell you about triglycerides, send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my booklet on "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can taking 12 aspirins a day and drinking baking soda water over a period of years do to a person? My friends, 52, is on a low cholesterol diet and has headaches often, all his life. They're of the migraine type. He takes four aspirins in the a.m., four at noon and four at night, even when his head is not hurting.

Then his stomach cramps, and he runs and takes the soda water, off and on, day and night. He stays on his low cholesterol diet pretty well, though. — R.L.V.

NO LAWYER WHEN COMMITTED Reform School Boys, Girls On Verge Of Getting Out

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Glaciers, floods and earthquakes are just a few of the reasons why the trans-Alaska pipeline should not be built, says the national president of the Sierra Club.

The proposed route of the pipeline "goes across some of the most sensitive country in the world" in terms of stability, Raymond J. Sherwin of Vallejo, Calif., said Monday.

In addition to the dangers posed by the possibility of an oil spill, Sherwin said he is not convinced that the pipeline is a necessity.

PROPAGANDA
"I'm skeptical that it's needed," he said of the oil that the pipeline would carry from Alaska's North Slope.

Here to address the annual fall meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, Sherwin told a news conference that he feels "the propaganda we hear is self-serving and subject to examination."

"I think we would do well to pause and take a look and find out before we go rushing into it," he said.

He cited a report that nearly 2,000 gallons of oil from a storage tank was spilled in Alaska some time ago—but because of the repeated thawing and freezing and resulting difficulties in containing it, the oil continues to seep into the spawning beds of fish.

FULL OF HOT OIL
"What's going to happen with a 48-inch pipeline full of hot oil?" he asked.

The proposed pipeline would run near the fault where the great Alaskan earthquake struck, Sherwin said.

He said it also would be close to glaciers—whose slow movement eventually can lead to floods.

The ice itself presents a threat in the form of possible avalanches that could damage the pipeline and create oil spills, Sherwin said.

"When you see what can be done in a very calm place like San Francisco Bay," he said, referring to oil spills from ships, "you can't help but scratch your head over the possibilities of the Alaskan pipeline."

The pipeline has been authorized by the secretary of the Interior, but it is still tied up in the courts, Sherwin said.

If it turns out that the North Slope oil is definitely needed, he said, one partial solution would be safer ships designed to minimize the amount of oil spilled in an accident.

Mrs. Howard Stephens Honored At Reception

Mrs. Howard Stephens, president of Northwest Texas Conference, Women's Society of Christian Service, was honored at a reception from 2 to 3 p.m. Sunday in the First United Methodist Church fellowship hall. Hostesses were members of the service guilds and WSCS's in the Big Spring District. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Merle Stewart and Mrs. Cass Hill from a table covered with a green linen cloth and centered with pink gladioli and roses. Approximately 100 women attended, including Mrs. Henry H. Krusekoff Jr., district WSCS president; Mrs. Kay Batchelor, district guild president; and Mrs. Vernie Mae Abel, conference officer, all of Midland; Mrs. Dorothy Davis of Spring.

The group also voted, despite its female-oriented name, to admit men. "The vote to admit men does not change our goals," said Mrs. Frank Harris of Detroit, president of the 6,400-member organization. "Instead the decision that we will no longer prohibit men from joining was made in keeping with the organization's goal of ending discrimination of every kind." Robert S. Marker, chairman of the board of the advertising firm, McCann-Erickson, Inc., who spoke to the group Monday, became the first man to apply for admission. President-elect Margot Sherman of New York, a former vice president and board member of the same agency, took his application. The group, composed of women in journalism, broadcasting, public relations, advertising and journalism education, also voted to work to increase opportunities for women in communications and for equal pay for equal work. They also called for an end to classified newspaper advertising segregated by sex, saying it violates equal employment statutes.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Held For Miss Janice Wilson

A bridal shower honored Miss Janice Wilson Saturday afternoon in the fellowship hall of East Fourth Street Baptist Church. She is bride-elect of David Blount. The honoree was attired in a peacock blue velour A-line dress and was presented a corsage of orchids. Her mother, Mrs. Roy Eugene Wilson, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. D. Blount, received carnation corsages. The refreshment table was covered with a white damask cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue and white fall flowers around a large blue candle. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Blue flowers in a crystal bud vase centered the registry table. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Royce Griffith, Mrs. J. J. Willingham, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. W. L. Clayton, Mrs. H. G. Aldridge, Mrs. H. D. Stewart, Mrs. W. J. Plunkett, Mrs. B. B. Hardee, Mrs. Janei Awtry, Mrs. R. G. Adkins, Mrs. Bob Jones, Mrs. C. W. Miss Wilson and Blount will be married Saturday at East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

A LOVELIER YOU

Don't Stay Rankled With Bony Ankles

By MARY SUE MILLER
A teen Lovely writes: My ankle bones stick out like door knockers and actually do knock together when I walk. Even when I wear heavy wool socks. There's no flesh — just big bones. Help!
The Answer: First let us consider your weight. Protruding ankle bones often indicate a large frame. In that case you must be careful to maintain normal weight. If you fall below, those big bones "stick out" all over.
As for a walk with knock-knock effects, your bones just cannot be that large. The trouble is in your feet. Be sure to step out with the toes pointed straight ahead, to keep your weight rolling through the center of your feet, and to walk along two imaginary lines placed two inches apart. Faithful practice puts style in your walk and flesh on your ankles, too.
To hasten the plump-up, perform this routine 10 times night and morning: Stand with feet together. Center weight on heels and lift soles off floor, so that toes point straight up. Hold position for five slow counts; relax and repeat.
Now about your hose — medium weights and shades in the sock department help to camouflage bony problems. Heavy knits emphasize bony; likewise brights and white. This summer, suntan tones in stocking and party hose are with it and will aid your cause. Lucky you!

LEGLINE CURVE
If your loveliness problem is thin, shapeless legs, send for my leaflet, "More Curve for the Legline." It shows how to build up contours with spot-increasing exercise. The leaflet also includes your idea leg measurements, and tips on a graceful stance as well as flattering footwear. ## Mrs. Lee Porter Gives Details Of Dallas Meeting

The Supreme Assembly in Dallas, Oct. 1-7, was attended by nine local members of the Social Order of the Beauceant according to a report made by Mrs. Lee Porter, president, during a meeting Monday evening in the Masonic Temple. Those attending, other than Mrs. Porter, were Mrs. C. R. McCleary, Mrs. Tom Helton, Mrs. Jack Alexander, Mrs. Ernest Welch, Mrs. O. L. Nabors, Mrs. Ervin Daniel and Mrs. R. L. Lee. Key speaker at the state assembly was an officer of Knights Templar, Sir Knight G. Wilbur Bell, Grand Imminent Commander of the Grand Encampment, USA. He discussed the Knights Templar Eye Foundation, to which the Beauceants contribute, and told of the ways it assists people who have eye problems. Medical treatment and eye glasses are provided when needed. After Monday's business session, refreshments were served by Mrs. Welch and Mrs. T. R. Morris. An initiation will be conducted at the next meeting, Oct. 23.

Rushees Attend Mu Kappa Party

A party for rushees of Mu Kappa Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, was held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. W. L. McMullan, 704 W. 15th. Rushees were Mrs. A. B. Williamson and Mrs. Sam Froman. Members and guests played "crazy bridge," and winners were Mrs. Williamson, high; and Mrs. C. W. Smith, low. Mrs. Williamson also won the attendance prize. Mrs. C. R. Reese served refreshments. Final preparations were made for the ESA District 8-convention to be held Sunday at Webb Air Force Base Officers Open Mess. Door prizes, made by members for the convention, were collected.

Read any good clothes lately?

You'll find some very interesting reading on the labels in the new clothes you buy.

After July 3, 1972, all garments manufactured that require care and maintenance for their ordinary use must carry a permanent label giving instructions for care and maintenance.

Any questions you have about whether to wash and dry or to dry clean will be answered right on the label.

For home laundering, you'll find electric dryers are designed for a wide range of modern materials — including polyesters and other permanent press fabrics.

This is just one of many reasons why the flameless electric dryer is America's favorite.

Here are a few tips on how to keep your new permanent press clothes looking their best without spending hours ironing:

1. Never dry more than one washer-load at a time.
2. For truly wrinkle-free clothes, try drying half a load, so they'll have lots of tumbling room.

3. Try fabric conditioners. They not only make clothes softer, but they cut down on the static electricity that makes clothes cling together and wrinkle while drying.
4. Clean your dryer's lint trap after each load, to increase drying efficiency.
5. Read your instruction book carefully to get the most out of your dryer's unique features. File instructions for future reference.

Congress' Responsibility

Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the House appropriations committee and a name not unfamiliar in these parts, had something to say the other day on the administration bill which would set a $250 billion limit on federal expenditures.

"It has been said that, if such a ceiling is not enacted, the expenditures may reach $256 billion, an increase of about $6 billion, or two per cent.

"A 250 billion ceiling contemplates a deficit in federal funds for this fiscal year of $32.4 billion. It is a little difficult to follow the rationale that, if the deficit is $32 billion, there is no threat of increased taxes but that, if the deficit is $38 billion, increased taxes are practically assured. Either of these deficit figures are unacceptable from many standpoints."

He also added that in his view the media had not brought into sharp focus the central issue of whether it is wise for Congress to delegate to the executive branch the authority to amend existing law . . . "such delegation of constitutional authority and power would tend to undermine our American system of government," he said.

Rep. Mahon is right. Abdication by Congress of its responsibilities to the executive would be not only a mistake, but it would be a dangerous trend. Even a compromise proposal to impose the ceiling and permit the President to exercise control in spending, subject to the approval of Congress, is but a dilution of the principal of separation and balance of powers.

Granted that everyone desires to see expenditures held below and at most within the $250 billion level, there conceivably could come a time when this would be unrealistic. A few years ago a $100 billion budget would have been unconsionable, and certainly $200 billion. But an expanding economy, plus emergency and other critical needs, have driven up the figure, so much so that spending has continually outstripped income.

And this calls to mind another ceiling which has proven virtually ineffective — the federal debt ceiling. No, the ceiling on spending is the responsibility of the Congress, which is accountable every two years to the people rather than to one individual. When the people demand it, the ceiling will not only be lowered, but the budget will be balanced, as commonsense tells us it must be.

Bittersweet

In recent days, the George McGovern presidential campaign apparently has picked up a little steam. Crowds have grown larger, and so has enthusiasm. In at least one instance, the enthusiasm and the crowd were so great the Secret Service had to move in to keep the candidate from being physically bowled over by it all.

But even as he revels in the thrill of it all, candidate McGovern can't help but have a bittersweet reaction. This is so because the crowds started to grow when Sen. Ted Kennedy joined the candidate's entourage. The Kennedy magic, to turn a political cliché, is given credit for the upturn in McGovern's campaign.

Still, it must be just a tiny bit galling for McGovern to have the man he tried to get to be his vice president and who probably could have had McGovern's nomination for himself had he wanted it be so obviously the superstar in the Democratic firmament. Were he in a position to indulge in the luxury of pride, McGovern might well call a halt to future dual appearances with Kennedy.

More Of Gunfighters

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

There is nothing which breeds mystery faster than a gunfighter of few words.

DAVE MATHER was just such a man and came to be known as "Mysterious Dave". He could often be seen about the saloons of Denver (always properly belted up with Twin Colts bulging under his coat) watching the faro or blackjack players, but never seen engaging in gambling himself.

Dave had a badge pinned to his chest for he was, indeed, a deputy in Dodge City. He was a smallish man with square, but frail, shoulders, dark eyes and a black mustache. It was said he came from a family of seafaring lawmen up in Massachusetts, and his ancestors had been rugged sailors. It was also claimed he was a descendant of Cotton Mather.

THE REAL gunfighters of Dodge watched Dave out of the corner of their eyes, because around him was this halo of mystery, a barrier they could not break.

One night when Marshall Tom Collins walked into a whale of a lot of trouble, Dave was there. A gang of desperados known as the Henry gang left the marshal dying on the dance floor — shot both in the arms and legs, his life flowing out in the blood that covered the boards. Dave bent over the dying man and promised him he would kill every last one of the Henry outfit. And he did. He got to his feet and roared after them, out of the dancehall into the street, where, a gun in each hand, he cut down seven and left them lying dead from the board walk on up to the Long Branch.

NOBODY HAD ever seen such a gun battle before. It was difficult to believe that this quiet little man could have done such damage.

A few days later Dave resumed his seat in front of the sheriff's office, just dozing in the sun.

HOWEVER, DAVE had become known as a killer lawman by the time a preacher came to town, pitched his tent and was holding a sawdust revival. Dave drifted into the meeting one night (a little liquored up) and sat down to listen. It was then the preacher man started directing his fire and brimstone brand of religion at Dave, saying he would gladly die to save this man who had sent seven men to Hell. Dave resented that remark, stood up and raised his hands, each one holding a gun.

The tent became vacant in a few seconds as people scattered, and one blast from Dave's gun sent the preacher (who, a few seconds before, had been so willing to die) scamparing under the canvas and into the night. The next morning the tent, and the big talker, were gone.

DAVE DECIDED to open up a saloon, but Marshal T. C. Nixon decided he wouldn't. It was a matter of politics. The two quarreled in the street, a gun fight ensued, and when the dust cleared, only Dave was left standing. Naturally, witnesses decided it was merely a case of self-defense. (This seemed to be a popular and prudent decision about many gun fights in those days.)

Leaving Dodge in the late 1880's, Dave journeyed by horseback to San Francisco, then by boat to Canada where he joined the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. No doubt his know-how with a gun and horse served him well, for some claim to have seen him in the uniform as late as 1920.

BUT WHEN and where was he born? When and where did he die? Time isn't telling, and to the end, he remained "Mysterious Dave".

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Is saying grace before meals just a nice gesture, or is it a Christian duty? M.G.

Giving thanks to God before meals is a Christian duty and something for which our Lord has given us His own example many times. Everything we have in this world except sin, is a blessing from God. When we sit down to eat we are sharing in the provision of His love, of His bountiful hand. To thank God for our food and to ask His blessing on it is both an obligation and a privilege. Should a friend give you something, even something very trivial, you would certainly say, "Thank you." How much more should we thank God for that which He gives us!

In this connection let me suggest that many Christians compromise their witness by failing to thank God when they eat in restaurants and other public places. Why should we deny our faith in Him because we fear some people will think us peculiar? Such recognition of God in a public place can bear a witness which will help others. It is also much in the raising of our children for them to hear us ask the blessing before meals. It is a good plan to let them join in this recognition of God's love. Yes, saying grace before meals will help others. It is also being courteous and grateful to our loving Heavenly Father!

Market Mudslingers

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The summer rally, Wall Streeters and State Streeters and LaSalle Streeters and Montgomery Streeters are saying, was cut short by the Indian summer slump.

No great surprise. Not only was this anticipated by many, but it was considered a necessary prelude to the year-end rally.

The securities industry loves labels such as these, because labels seem to explain while really doing little more than identifying the inexplicable, the difficult, the unknown or unbelievable.

NIXONOMICS and McGovernism are widely used to explain market behavior, although many brokers would find it more difficult to list five elements of either program than to list five reasons why you should buy from them.

But there may be another reason also for the labels, and that reason is the speed of change. Change is what everyone is betting on, change that will make the future better than the past. And each change must be identified.

Change has speeded up. In the late 1930s and early 1940s you could have played a softball game on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange if you didn't make so much noise as to rouse those who wished to rest instead.

Now a broker can't take his eyes off the tape without missing something. Phases that once blended gracefully now bump each other, flashing onto the scene like slides projected on a screen.

And so, the wild days of the mudslingers, who gloried in revealing the corruption of the market place.

The 1960s not only were memorable; they were unforgettable in the sense that changes resulting from market excesses in that decade led to restrictions that every broker in America must live with every day.

Performance, the label which identified the derring-do, the hip-shooting of the gunslingers—brokers, trusts, funds that were concerned always with showing the greatest gains at any moment—has been replaced by restraint, by fundamentals, by the long-term view.

The quest for a quality market is a direct result of the failings of the gunslingers, most of whom went broke and whose embarrassment was compounded by exposure of their shenanigans in books and congressional testimony.

The most humiliating, mud-in-your-eye evidence against them was that no matter how odds they looked one year, the gods against them repeating their performance year after year were of a kind a bookie wouldn't touch.

One survey after another showed that the swift, in-out trading, the rapid portfolio turnover, the gambles on high-flying speculations might have helped temporarily, but never over the long run.

In fact, serious studies led many investors to conclude that an unmanaged portfolio of sound stocks would appreciate just as much over a 10-year period as one managed by a performer.

Who's Changed?

William F. Buckley Jr.

The current issue of "Commentary" magazine has a lively discussion of the Jewish vote. The working figure seems to be this: that whereas in 1968 Richard Nixon took only 20 per cent of the Jewish vote, this time around he will take 50 per cent. That is a quite astonishing movement, everybody is saying: but, one Jewish leader remarks, why in fact is it so astonishing? At this point, says he, equivalent movements away from the Democratic candidate will be observed among other ethnic or religious groups. And indeed, if (to use the widest figure yet published) Nixon is going to beat McGovern by 40 points, having beaten Humphrey by less than one point, then the movement of the Jewish vote of 30 points is less than the national average. That is one way of looking at it, but doesn't, really, get at the interesting questions.

THE JEWISH vote, as all politicians know, means a great deal more than the four million ballots American Jews will cast. It means for one thing money. Sidney Zion, formerly of the "New York Times," writes in "Lifestyle" (a new monthly) that Democratic strategists counted on getting 15 million dollars from very wealthy individuals, and most of these, Jewish. That money began to come in for McGovern during the primaries. But it was rudely interrupted when, in the California primary, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, stressing the point of McGovern's unreliability in foreign affairs, dangled before the voters McGovern's hemming and having on jets-for-Israel a couple of years ago. Then Humphrey made the more serious charge that if McGovern succeeded in reducing the military by 30 billion dollars, no guarantees extended to Israel are worth the paper they are written on.

PROF. NATHAN Glazer, a tough-minded liberal, takes a strangely philosophical position concerning McGovern's quicksilver statements on foreign policy. On the one hand he believes that the United States should guarantee the survival of Israel for any number of reasons, primarily that at least one conceivable alternative is the slaughter of a whole people. But, having said that, he is for McGovern anyway. Because, he says, with Vietnam behind us, in fact the United States isn't going to risk nuclear war with the Soviet Union on anybody's account.

ANOTHER PARTICIPANT in the general discussion puts it this way: Look, why do people say that the Jews have changed? It is Nixon who has changed. He has taken liberal positions on a whole set of domestic problems, he has shown great initiative in foreign policy, traveling to China and the Soviet Union. Under his administration, more arms have gone into Israel than under any other administration: so why shouldn't an American Jew vote for Nixon? Plausible.

SO THE argument goes. In his efforts to attract the favorable attention of Jewish voters George McGovern has done everything it is possible to do, short of taking a rifle and standing guard duty at the Golan Heights. Nixon, acutely conscious of the importance of the problem, appears satisfied to stand on his record. Nixon could, then, carry the Jewish vote . . . A historical event.

Hashish To Ashes

SKEGNESS, England (AP) — Lincolnshire police erred when five Indians were arrested on the suspicion of smuggling drugs into Britain. One constable thought he overheard the word "hashish" when the Indians tried to describe the contents of a box they were carrying. Later, however, it was found that the box contained ashes of a cremated relative and the Indians were escorted to a river to scatter them.

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a secretary gets tired of hearing:

"Honey, if you want to get to the top in this outfit, you have to learn the right rap to sit on."

"Good heavens, I knew you probably couldn't spell. But can't you take dictation either?"

"What do you—I'm mumbly, Miss Grant? It is impossible for a Harvard man to mumble."

"Give me a buzz the first time the boss is in a good humor, will you? I want to hit him up for a raise, and I don't want to try it when he's in a bad mood."

"I don't just want a girl Friday. I want a girl Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and sometimes weekends."

"I know it doesn't look right for an executive to borrow money from his secretary, Miss Grant. But can you let me have $20 until day after tomorrow?"

"If my wife calls, I'm in conference. If it's any other woman, put her on the line."

"Miss Grant, are you sure you spell sour apples the same way you spell sauerkraut?"

"You're always complaining that you never know where I am when there's an emergency in the office, Miss Grant. Hasn't it ever occurred to you, Miss Grant, that if there's an emergency, that is the precise time I don't want you to be able to reach me?"

"The trouble with secretaries is that they keep trying to act like their bosses. As soon as I started drinking a three-martini lunch, my secretary jumped from a one to a two-martini lunch."

"Phoebe Grant, I think you must have fallen in love with your boss. No girl could work for a heel like him unless she loved him."

"Miss Grant, I see you have spelled the word sterilize with an 'uh' in it again. Really, Miss Grant, really!"

"I don't see why you have trouble making both ends meet on the salary I pay you, Miss Grant. Don't some of these salesmen you let into the office to see me slip you a $5 or $10 on the side, now and then?"

"To hell with answering letters today. I'm upset. My wife is giving me trouble again. In spades. Do you want to listen while I bend your ears with my troubles?"

"Good afternoon, Miss Grant. Oh; is it still morning? You're so late today that I thought 'maybe you'd stopped off for lunch before you came in.'"

"Please, Miss Grant, patient as I am, I can't put up with spelling: delinquent with a 'kw' in it."

"You mean that Mr. Smarty Pants you work for had the nerve to send you a Merriam Webster dictionary for Christmas? My boss gave me a $50 gift certificate."

"I'm in a big rush to get away for the weekend, Miss Grant. Will you stay late tonight and answer these letters? You know what I want to say as well as I do. Don't forget to put in a tab for $2 or so for dinner."

"Don't you get tired, Phoebe, of ordering all those theater tickets and anniversary roses for your boss's wife? Don't you sometimes wish they were for you instead?"

Strybaum's Screams

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — I went over to Strybaum's house the other night about dinner time and walked into the living room. There was Strybaum screaming at the television set.

I LOOKED shocked, and Ada, his wife, pulled me over to the corner. "He's been doing that every night," Ada said. "It's either Cronkite or Chancellor — it doesn't matter. Ever since the election campaign started he's done nothing but yell at the set. I'm starting to worry about him."

President Nixon came on the set, speaking at a fund-raising dinner somewhere, and said, "And I promise that there will be no tax raises in the next four years, if I am re-elected President of the United States."

"LIAR!" Strybaum yelled. You know damn well you're going to have to raise taxes! What do you take me for? Some king of blithering idiot?"

"Strybaum," I said, "don't take it so personally. It's an election year."

Sen. McGovern came on the screen and said, "And I promise if I am elected I will see that the government gives financial aid to Catholic schools."

"HORSEFEATHERS!" Strybaum shouted. (Though I must be honest and admit he didn't say "feathers.") "You can't give money to Catholic schools. It's unconstitutional and you know it, you bum!"

'Pied Piper' Litigation

Little Tommy raced across the street to buy a strawberry cone from the ice cream truck. But as he started back, he stepped into the path of an oncoming car. Tommy was seriously injured, and his family sued the ice cream company for having failed to warn him of the danger.

AT THE TRIAL, the company protested that its driver had no obligation to take care of other people's children. But the court ruled otherwise. Ordering the company to pay damages, the judge said:

"The sense of haste is purposely aroused in the children by the tinkling of bells and flashing of lights. The responsibility of one who provokes into action the natural recklessness of children ought (to) be proportionate to the danger he creates."

THERE HAVE been a number of these "Pied Piper" lawsuits in which a street vendor has been held liable for tempting a child into jeopardy. However, some courts have rejected such claims, at least when special circumstances come into the picture. Consider another case, also involving injury to a youthful ice cream purchaser. This time, the boy had walked some distance around the rear of the truck before starting back across the street. Moreover, he was a vigorous 10-year-old, the kind of youngster ordinarily well able to cross alone.

DENYING DAMAGES, the court said the driver could not fairly be blamed for assuming that the boy was "on his own."

Furthermore, the victim himself may be guilty of negligence

THUS: An 11-year-old boy leaped onto the running board of an ice cream truck, out of the driver's line of vision. When the truck began to accelerate, the boy fell off to the pavement.

In the lawsuit that followed, he acknowledged that he had been aware of the risk he was taking. Turning down his claim, the court said:

"ALL THE ESSENTIAL ingredients of contributory negligence were present."

Trojans Still No. 1

OU Holds 2nd; Tide Tigers Advance

By The Associated Press

Southern California and Oklahoma held onto the top spots in The Associated Press college football poll today while Alabama moved past Ohio State into third place and upset-minded Auburn cracked the Top Ten for the first time this season.

Southern Cal's Trojans received 34 first-place votes and 964 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters following their fifth consecutive triumph, a 30-21 victory over Stanford.

Oklahoma, which had a week off before this Saturday's annual war with Texas, pulled down 15 first-place votes and 912 points.

The only change among the first eight teams came in the 34 spots, where Alabama climbed from fourth to third with 677 points on the heels of a 25-7 trouncing of Georgia.

The Crimson Tide changed places with Ohio State, down from third to fourth after a come-from-behind 35-18 win over California. The Buckeyes received the remaining first-place vote and 625 points.

The 5-6-7-8 positions again went to Michigan, a 35-7 victor over Navy; idle Nebraska; Notre Dame, which blanketed Michigan State 16-0, and Louisiana State, which defeated Rice.

Auburn's second straight upset, a 19-13 triumph over Mississippi following a victory over Tennessee the previous week, vaulted the Tigers from 17th to ninth while Texas, hard-pressed to beat Utah State 27-12, slipped from ninth to 10th.

Auburn's meteoric rise also dropped Tennessee, Washington and Colorado one spot each to 11th, 12th and 13th. UCLA remained 14th, trailed by Penn State, Air Force, Stanford, Iowa State, Oklahoma State and Arkansas.

Oklahoma State reached the Top Twenty for the first time this season while Arkansas made it back after dropping out following an opening-game loss to Southern Cal.

Last week's Second Ten consisted of Washington, Colorado, Florida State, UCLA, Stanford, Penn State, Auburn, Mississippi, Air Force and Iowa State.

Florida State dropped out after a 42-13 mauling by underdog Florida.

MAXVILL TO FILL IN FOR CAMPANERIS — Dal Maxvill, Oakland Athletics' utility infielder, takes batting practice in Detroit Monday. He is scheduled to fill in at shortstop for the suspended Bert Campaneris in the American League playoff game in Detroit today. Campaneris has been suspended by American League president Joe Cronin for the remainder of the playoff series.

ELLIS GETS ASSIGNMENT

Pittsburgh Defeats Reds, 3-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates are going to steal a leaf from the book of the Cincinnati Reds and try to win the National League pennant today with the help of a sore-arm pitcher—Doc Ellis.

The Pirates hope they have better luck than the Reds. Cincinnati pinned its hopes Monday on the ailing right arm of Gary Nolan, but the pressure of going all-out against the power-packed Pittsburgh lineup took its toll.

Nolan could manage only six innings. His arm stiffened and he left with a one-run lead that the Pirates overcame to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five pennant playoff.

"I went as hard as I could for as long as I could," said the dejected Nolan, who had pitched 15 innings since the All-Star Game in July. "I just ran out of gas. I couldn't afford to continue."

Ellis' story is almost a carbon copy. The 27-year-old right-hander has a chronic pitching elbow condition. He went six innings Sept. 30 but it was his first start since Sept. 13.

day was keyed by outfielder Rennie Stennett and catcher Manny Sanguillen and relief pitcher Bruce Kison. Ever-reliable Dave Giusti came on to check the Reds' big bats after Pittsburgh wiped out a 2-0 Cincinnati lead.

Stennett made the first big play. Cincinnati's Johnny Bench tripled leading off the fourth. The Reds already led 2-0 and it looked as if they were out to get another run.

Pirates' starter Nelson Briles got Tony Perez on a nice, running back-to-the-plate catch in short left by shortstop Gene Alley. He then walked Denis Menke. The Reds now had runners at the corners with one out. Cesar Geronimo hit a fly ball to Stennett in left, and the outfielder gunned down Bench trying to score after the catch. It was a perfect one-bounce, on-the-money throw to Sanguillen.

"That beat us," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, who still insisted the playoff would go five games. "I thought that was the turning point of the game, murmured Anderson. "Our report was that Stennett had a better-than-average arm, but wasn't that accurate."

Stennett's throw seemed to fire the Pirates. A half-inning later, Sanguillen socked a pitch over the left-centerfield fence for a home run to make it 2-1.

"When I left the dugout, someone warned me to look for curve balls," recalled Sanguillen. "I said, 'No, I'll look for fast balls.'"

Pittsburgh tied it in the seventh off relievers Pedro Borbon and Clay Carroll when Richie Hebner was hit by a pitch, Sanguillen singled and Gene Alley sacrificed to place runners at second and third. Pinch-hitter Vic Davallo was intentionally walked. Stennett then rapped a run-scoring single.

In the eighth, Willie Stargell walked and Al Oliver doubled. Hebner was purposely passed to load the bases.

Sanguillen hit a sharp rounder toward the hole between short and third that Cincinnati's Darrell Chaney reached and tried for a second-to-first doubleplay. Sanguillen, however, beat the relay and the winning run scored.

'You Tell About Me On First Hitter'—Ellis

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dock Ellis knows what kind of day it's going to be after his first few pitches.

"You can tell about me on the first hitter," said the outspoken Pittsburgh right-hander before he tries to lock up a second straight National League pennant for the Pirates today.

"If the ball is down and I'm throwing hard I'm gonna get a hit," said Ellis after the Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 Monday for a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five series.

Ellis, 15-7 during the season, said his arm felt better after a layoff of more than a month in respect for the Reds' ace, who hasn't diminished as much as at a wide pitch and I laugh at myself. I can't do anything when I get mad. It helps me control my temper."

Sanguillen said he had just one intention when he grounded to the Red shortstop in the eighth.

"I just ran hard and tried to break up the double play," he said. He succeeded, allowing pinch-runner Gene Clines to score the winning run.

Sanguillen said he guessed right on Cincinnati starter Gary Nolan's pitch for his homer.

"The first time he threw me fastballs. The next time I look for fastballs and he threw a high, fast one over the plate,"

Brinkman Out Of Playoffs

DETROIT (AP)—An eye for an eye and a shortstop for a shortstop.

American League President Joe Cronin announced Monday that Oakland shortstop Campy Campaneris has been suspended for the remainder of the AL playoffs.

But almost before Detroit Tiger manager Billy Martin had a chance to smile at the decision, his shortstop Ed Brinkman was ruled out for the season due to a back injury.

Nabors Takes Swim Wins

ODESSA — Paul Nabors had a first-place and a second-place win in the Odessa Invitational Swim Meet at Permian High School Oct. 8-9.

Ten teams participated in the AAU meet.

Nabors, who swims with the Big Spring YMCA team, took first place in the 100-yard backstroke and had a second-place finish in the 100-yard breaststroke. His time in the backstroke was 1:11.7. He turned in a 1:20.0 clocking in the breaststroke.

Paige Little had a second-place finish in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:34.4) year-old girls division with a 1:36.3.

In the boys' 13-14 year-old class, Hugh Porter had a third-place finish in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 1:02.9.

ODESSA INVITATIONAL
100-yard: Mary Matthews, 25-year-old, 1:20.3, 4th; 50-yard breaststroke, 48.9, 2nd; 50-yard backstroke, 44.5, 4th; Kim Taylor, 20-year-old, freestyle, 52.4, 50-yard breaststroke, 54.3, 7th; 50-yard backstroke, 49.3.

Coleman, Holtzman Get Hurling Nods

DETROIT (AP) — Right-hander Joe Coleman had the job of keeping Detroit's hopes alive as Oakland aimed for a sweep today in the American League playoffs.

The A's, who took the first two games in the best-of-five series, countered with left-hander Ken Holtzman. An Oakland victory would advance the A's into the World Series against the National League champion.

The Tigers, facing elimination, remained confident of a comeback.

"If we win tomorrow," said Manager Billy Martin at Monday's workout, "we'll win three in a row. We've always risen up to the situation before and we can do it again."

Martin and the Tigers got one piece of good news before their workout. They learned that Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris had been suspended from the remainder of the playoffs and fined $500 for hurling his bat at Tiger pitcher Lerrin LaGrew in Sunday's game.

"Good," exclaimed Martin. "That's what he had coming." Martin had led a Tiger charge out of the dugout after the A's speedy shortstop was hit by a pitch and responded by heaving his bat. It took three umpires to keep the Tiger skipper away from Campaneris.

Billy had cooled off considerably by the time the Tigers worked out Monday and suggested that Campy's explosion might end up helping Detroit.

"He might have done us a favor. I think it put a little fuel in there," said Martin. "I'll let you know after tomorrow."

Campaneris' suspension was good news for Coleman. Campy stole 52 bases during the regular season, leading the AL for the sixth time in eight years. He swiped two Sunday before the seventh inning rhabarb.

"I can go out and pitch my own ball game," said Coleman, "unlike if Campaneris was out there on the bases. Campy and (Joe) Rudi are the two keys to their team."

Coleman, like Holtzman, a 19-game winner, said he felt relaxed and confident.

QBC MEETING SET TONIGHT

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will meet tonight in the high school cafeteria. The meeting will get under way at 8 p.m.

Films of the Steers' 14-19 win over Abilene will be shown and a scouting report on Midland High will be presented.

Club president Al Valdes urged all members to attend the meeting. Valdes also said that any interested Steer fan is asked to attend the meeting.

OIL MAKES NEWS IN BIG SPRING

Take a good look at the newspaper you're holding. Without oil, it might not be there.

From the film in the press camera to the rollers in the presses—today's newspapers depend on products that come from oil. Even the ink comes from oil.

To get a newspaper out takes a lot of energy too. And 75% of all our energy comes from oil and natural gas (including 40% of our electricity). But today, we're using these petroleum fuels faster than we are finding them. That's why America faces an Energy Gap.

We're your local oil companies. Working to bridge the growing Energy Gap. Because it shouldn't be news to anyone that a country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

SHOULDER RIDE — Oakland Raiders' linebacker Phil Villapiano (41) lifts Houston Oilers' quarterback Dan Pastorini on his shoulder after breaking through the line in the second quarter of the Monday night game at the Houston Astrodome. Pastorini tried a keeper that lost a yard.

Oakland Raiders Rip Houston, 34-0

HOUSTON (AP) — It's good that the Houston-Oakland pro football game was on national television Monday night—you'd have to see it to believe it.

Quarterback Daryle Lamonica finally got Oakland rolling with touchdown pass plays of 16 and 27 yards and George Blanda, a former Oiler, kicked two field goals in a 34-0 rout before a standing-room only crowd of 51,278 in the Astrodome.

But by the time the Raiders made it a runaway with their fourth quarter touchdowns—two of them set up by interceptions more than half of the crowd had left in disgust at the performance.

The unhappy mood spread to the TV audience. The Astrodome staff crew estimated 75 calls came in from as far away as Canada, blasting everything from the Oilers to the television commentary.

Weir Claims Motocross

ODESSA — Danny Weir claimed two wins in the motocross races here Sunday afternoon. Weir took a first-place win in the Open Senior class and recorded a second-place finish in the 250cc Senior Class to lead a contingent of Big Spring riders.

Kelly Guinn won the 125cc Senior class.

Skipper Spencer took first place honors in the 125cc Junior class and Rodney Ferrell took second place.

David Guinn and Craig Hodnett finished one-two respectively in the 100cc Junior class and Brian Ferrell was the first-place finisher in the minibike class.

More than 100 riders entered in the motocross competition.

Horoscope Forecast

CARROL RUGHTER

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Very surprising and startling events occur today, largely because almost everyone gets a "kick" out of the intelligence and thought to think in a different way. You work on nothing necessary preparation. Take time to view all aspects of this situation and to gain right perspective.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Make an appointment to see that new contact instead of just hearing in your mind with instant opposition. Study a new new way to do things. Don't take anything for granted — be sure.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Exercise self-control and study all those money and other matters well so you know just how to handle them successfully. Forcing media to go along with your spontaneous ideas is not good. Use discretion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Gentle prodding is best if you feel that associates are doing their best. Share your workload, and then you find all important outside is going against you. Handle this matter diplomatically.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Stop worrying about what cannot be helped and busy with what you can do. Give your more of this world's goods. Study how one who is most successful did it and follow along such lines yourself. However, add an original touch of your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Know what your own hopes and desires are and be sure to weed out those that are unobtainable. God about in a social way and gain results. Study, in a. Forget long gambles on the phone. Use discretion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need advice from those that need only the advice of an expert to iron out the kinks, and then you can put into fine operation yourself. Don't come out with rash comments that could alienate good associates. Think before you speak.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find better ways to gain own class of a personal nature and get the cooperation of good people. Letting cooperative yourself. Don't come out with rash comments that could alienate good associates. Think before you speak.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you are objective with higher-ups, you will find success. Accomplish much in your community and have more harmony with those who are being pressured. Show which you are a cheerful person.

Phone Rates Increased

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Council approved an increase in telephone rates at its regular meeting Monday night in response to a request from Bill Gilliland, local manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The rates will raise one-party business phones from $10.50 to $13; one-party residences from $2.25 to $4.25; two-party residences from $4.25 to $4.95 and eight-party rural from $4 to $4.25. Rates will go into effect at the next billing period, Oct. 27.

The council also approved an ordinance presented by City Manager J. S. Sadler appointing James Sprott as city fire marshal. He replaces Virgil Eaton, who retired.

The council also issued a livestock permit to city patrolman W. R. Uphaw to allow him to keep a cow and calf on his property and gave approval to City Manager's proposal to tear down the W. L. Doss Sparks Hardware and Berman Hotel Buildings. The three buildings are unused and the hardware building was damaged when part of the wall of the Doss building fell on its roof while remodeling was under way.

None Injured In Shooting

Henry was in county jail this morning under $15,000 bond set by Peace Justice Jess Slaughter in connection with attempted murder and $1,000 for the other complaint.

Acting on information received from police, representatives of the Sheriff's Office and Highway Patrol stopped a car one-half mile west of Lamesa Drive on the south service road on Interstate 20 about 11 p.m.

Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Puente and Deputy A. Lee reported seeing a single barrel shotgun between Mrs. Ida Mae McKnight, 35, of local apartments and Henry. They reported two small children in the back seat.

Henry, they wrote, shook his pant's leg and a .38 revolver fell.

James Edward Williams, the victim, was not hit. Williams had been sitting in a car hit by tree bullets, police said. Another bullet hole was found in the house at 411 N.W. 7th St.

INDIAN NICKNAME

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — A protest of Southeastern State College-Indian symbols with the school nickname "Savages" has eliminated the "Indian" but not the "Savages."

Dr. Leon Hibbs, school president, issued a memorandum to all department heads ordering the elimination of Indian symbols with the use of the word "savage."

"Since 'savage' does not mean 'Indian' and 'Indian' does not mean 'savage,' I must agree that the two should not be connected," he said.

"Therefore, I have promised the complaining Indians that we will use all reasonable care to remove any direct connections of 'savage' with the Indian symbols as soon as possible and to work to prevent the production of additional such insidious connections," Dr. Hibbs said.

'El Lardo'

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who is 54 years old, weighs 240 pounds, has a belly that looks like a pregnant woman ready to deliver, and walks around the house naked as a newborn baby?

I think it's revolting! I don't mind that he sleeps in the nude, but walking around the house without a stitch is really too much! Yes, I know we have had a hot-summer, but if I can stand it, he can stand it, and we do have fans in every room.

A woman once complained to you because her husband came to the table bare from the waist up. Well she doesn't know how lucky she is!

Print this in your column, Abby. Maybe "El Lardo" will get the hint. TURNED OFF IN PENNA.

DEAR TURNED: A hint won't help. Hand "El Lardo" a pair of shorts and tell him to put 'em on!

practically no one. Grace, a college friend, called me long distance and gave me the number of an eligible gentleman who lives here. He's a friend of Grace's husband and is supposed to be super special.

They said they had already called the gentleman and told him to expect a call from me.

Question: Is it proper (and wise) for me to call him? Although I am not very well acquainted here I don't want him to think I am desperate for a man and am chasing him.

I wish I had thought to tell Grace to give the gentleman MY number and have him call ME. Should I call Grace back and ask her to do that? I don't want to appear ungrateful, but I'm not accustomed to calling men. What should I do? ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Since the arrangements have already been made, call the gentleman, and don't make a federal case out of it. And the next time a similar situation arises, ask the gentleman to please have the gentleman call YOU.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old and receive an allowance each week for "spending money," as I cannot work yet. I have saved up enough money to buy a record player. It is a small model with two speakers, and costs $39.95. Before I can buy anything with my own money I have to get permission from my parents. When I asked about the record player, my mother consented, but my father did not, because we already have two record players in the house. One is in the living room and I have to get permission from my parents to use it. Most of the time they say no. The other one belongs to my older sister and I was told not to touch it, so I don't.

Abby, do you see any reason why I shouldn't be able to purchase a record player with my own money for my own personal use? "STEREOLESS"

DEAR STEREOLESS: Two questions: How are your grades? Are you taking music lessons? If your grades are above average, after you've finished your homework, (and if you're taking music lessons, after you've practiced) you should be allowed to listen to stereo music to your heart's content. And since you've saved your spending money, I see no reason why you shouldn't be permitted to buy your own stereo.

DEAR ABBY: I am 31 single and female. I recently moved to this large city where I know

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

TOUCHED: (Q.) All the boys around here touch me, and I don't like it — except for one. They never bother any of the other girls — only me. One of the boys I am talking about I love. He is very nice. He lets me sit on his lap and then he touches me. I really love him.

Do you think he likes me or is just using me? — In Trouble in Tennessee

(A.) I think he, like the other boys, is simply taking advantage of your permissiveness. If he loved you he would respect you. The treatment he and the other boys are giving you is not respectful.

Boys do not respect a girl who is too free and easy. I fear that unless you change quickly and decisively you are in danger of losing your reputation.

Fire Defense Institute Slated Here Thursday

An institute on fire defense and patient evacuation will be held in the engineering shop area of Veterans Administration Hospital Thursday.

Sponsored by the Veterans Administration Hospital, it will be conducted by Harry Pate, fire safety specialist in cooperation with the Big Spring Fire Department.

It will be held for employees of the VA Hospital and Webb Air Force Base.

Welcome and introductions will be given at 9 a.m. by Jack D. Powell, hospital director. A film presentation on "Emergency Patient Removal" will follow and at 9:30 a.m. a discussion of handling fires with available materials.

Following a coffee break, the discussion at 10:30 a.m. will be followed by discussions of patient handling and removal, and two examples of rescue and control.

In the afternoon session, which begins at 1 p.m. an identical session will be held. Employees are asked to attend one or the other.

The instructor has devoted most of his years to planning and teaching life and fire safety. McGrath and Pate Associates are nationally
