RUSSIAN AIRCRAFT IN FATAL CRASH
 Death toll runs high in tragedy

Russian Crash Worst In Aviation History

MOSCOW (AP) — In what may have been the worst disaster in civil aviation history, a Soviet airliner on a Friday-the-13th flight from Leningrad crashed near a village called Black Earth killing everyone aboard, it was learned Saturday.

An official at Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport said he thought the Ilyushin-62 airliner was carrying 162 passengers and 10 crewmen when it plunged through heavy rain and crashed near a busy Leningrad highway.

The worst previous air accident was the crash of a Japanese airliner last year which took the lives of 162 persons. A Western airline official said the scene was "horrible, with pieces of bodies scattered all over the place."

Among those on board were 38 Chilean tourists, the Chilean consul said he had been told. The French Embassy said it had been informed that one Frenchman was among the victims.

The British Embassy later reported that it had been informed a British subject was another victim.

A U.S. Embassy official said he had been told there were no Americans on board.

Chartered from Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, the plane left Le Bourget airfield in Paris at noon on Friday. It stopped in Leningrad and made what an Intourist official said was an "extra," or unscheduled, flight to Moscow.

It went down less than seven miles west of the airport, near the village of Chernaya Gryaz, which means Black Earth.

Just a couple of weeks ago a Soviet airliner with 80 on it crashed near the Black Sea resort of Sochi.

The worst previous Soviet air crash occurred last May 18, when a plane went down near the Ukrainian city of Kharkiv, killing 158 persons.

Chilean Strike Is Continuing

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile's leftist government placed four more provinces under state of emergency today as a nationwide trucking strike continued into its fifth day.

President Salvador Allende warned Friday that if the strike of the truckers and a sympathy strike by small businessmen and shopkeepers lasted another 48 hours "we could face an extraordinarily grave supply problem."

The four provinces are Valdivia, Osorno, Llanquihue and Chilo, all in the south of Chile. The number of provinces under state of emergency, a form of martial law, now totals 17, including the capital of Santiago.

The government said the four provinces were included because "of the consequences of the unjustified and illegal strike."

Doomed Jet Once Was Consigned As Monument

WASHINGTON (AP) — The F86 Sabrejet which killed 22 persons when it crashed into a Sacramento ice cream parlor originally was stripped down and said to be used as a monument in Canada.

A Canadian government official said that in accordance with government policy the plane's vital center section supporting the craft's wings was cut to assure that the plane could never be flown.

The plane's owner blamed the crash on apparent mechanical failure after it foundered during takeoff Sept. 24. Federal investigators, however, say they have found no evidence of mechanical trouble involved in the crash.

Two more of the Canadian-built, Korean War-vintage fighters bear the serial numbers of planes sold only to be mounted on pedestals but now are registered with the U.S. Federal Aviation Administration.

The frame of the single-seat fighter plane which crashed in Sacramento was purchased from the Canadian government, according to the Canadian official who traced the serial number.

The other two planes to be used as monuments were sold by Maritime Aircraft and Overhaul of Moncton, New Brunswick. The Canadian company has bought both flyable and stripped-down surplus F86s from the Canadian government. Maritime was not involved in the plane which crashed in California.

David McEwen, president of the company, said the center sections on the two planes he sold were cut. They could be replaced, although the planes were "pretty severely cannibalized."

"This is definitely not an airplane that people should be rebuilding on their own," said McEwen. "I call it built-in suicide."

The F86 that crashed in Sacramento had appeared at an air show.

The man who supervised the final restoration work for its ultimate owner, Spectrum Air of Novato, Calif., said the center section on the plane "was in beautiful shape" when he first saw it in Syracuse, N.Y.

"If it had been retrofitted—taken off another bird—you couldn't tell it," said Joseph Patrick of Novato, Calif., a retired Air Force pilot.

Nobody Cares

The fellow who takes his vacation late is "lucky." He doesn't have to waste time telling everybody about it because, by now, nobody cares.

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

Bank deposits just missed a new record by a hair in response to the Oct. 10 report, but they showed a 12.8 per cent gain over a year ago in reaching $67,192,145. This was a cool $7.6 million gain for the period, reflecting the generally vigorous economic picture. The increase was uniform and did not include any abnormal factors such as heavy in-and-out deposits to meet oil payments, payrolls, etc. Total resources of $74,249,887 were up $8.3 million, or 12 per cent; loans and discount gained 9.5 per cent to $30,259,111; and cash of $12,778,416 was up 13.5 per cent.

And how do you reconcile that with a dragging United Way report of only $72,200 against a $113,000 goal? Apparently our people are getting and saving more and sharing less.

For some time there has been a feeling in several quarters that the community needs some sort of major center, something like a coliseum. There have been two major problems — how and who. The Chamber of Commerce directors last week went on record answering the latter, deciding that Howard County Junior College was the logical vehicle. A panel is being named to look in detail into the more difficult "how."

It's only three weeks until time for the general election, according to the calendar. Another sure sign was the ease with which an authorization for $1,578,000 for a Beal's Creek flood control project sailed through the Senate and House committees. (See THE WEEK Page 2-A, Col. 4)

McGovern Coming Back To State

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. George McGovern makes his fourth campaign trip to Texas Monday and Tuesday as he attempts to swing the state's 26 electoral votes into the Democratic column on Nov. 7.

A highlight of the busy journey back and forth will be an address to a joint session of the Texas Legislature at 3:30 p.m. Monday.

From Austin McGovern will go to Houston and San Antonio and then stop by Fort Worth on Tuesday.

McGovern visited Austin and former President Lyndon Johnson at LBJ ranch last Aug. 21. He was in Dallas and Houston Sept. 6 and 7, then made another visit to Houston Sept. 10. His running mate, Sargent Shriver, has made more than half a dozen trips to Texas.

McGovern has called Texas one of the half dozen so-called key states he must take in order to win the presidential election.

President Nixon, who lost Texas by only 39,000 votes to Hubert Humphrey in 1968, visited Laredo, Rio Grande City, Harlingen, San Antonio and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's ranch at Floresville on Sept. 22. He had visited Connally's ranch earlier for a special dinner for Connally's friends and supporters.

Medal Of Honor Recipients Will Be Honored Oct. 23

Big Spring Veterans' Administration Hospital will be the scene of an annual ceremony on Veterans Day, Oct. 23.

It has been selected as the first place in Texas ever to display pictures of the 43 Congressional Medal of Honor winners who have been so honored in Texas since Civil War Days.

At least three of those winners will be on hand for the special program which will be held on the front steps of the hospital. Bleachers are to be set up by Jvbb Air Force Base.

Since the medal is so rare, often it is awarded posthumously and to receive one while still living is considered to be the greatest military honor in the United States. Either the President or vice president of the United States presents these medals.

Such names as Audie Murphy, who became famous nationwide, are known to all in the sagas of the Congressional Medals of Honor. But most are known only in their own immediate area.

There have been a few awarded to Texans during the Twentieth Century, although not too many.

ONE-MAN PLATOON One of these went to a Sgt. Alfredo Gonzalez, who was killed in action. This man was an apparent one-man Marine platoon who repeatedly exposed himself to chances of death in saving his comrades. On one occasion, he raced forward to carry a wounded Marine in his arms back to safety. He successfully knocked out a rocket position and surprised much of the enemy fire the day he died. Refusing to be treated for minor wounds, he continued to lead the attack.

Then there was Pfc. Oscar Austin, who gave his life for his country as an assistant machine gunner in the Seventh Marines in February, 1969. He died while saving a wounded Marine, throwing his body between the wounded man and a grenade and then was wounded throwing himself on an enemy soldier firing at the other wounded man.

The words, "With complete disregard for his own safety" appear in almost every Medal of Honor citation.

OTHERS Other Texans receiving the Medal of Honor for action in our most recent war were Chief Warrant Officer Frederick E. Ferguson, who took charge of a downed helicopter with wounded passengers and crewmen in 1968 and flew a crippled aircraft to safety while wounded. First Sergeant David H. McNeerney, who in 1967, commanded a unit which was assisting in the development of a defensive perimeter. He was painfully wounded by a grenade but crawled outside to safety to collect demolition material, and disregarding pain and injuries remained with his unit until the new commander arrived.

Now these are Texans from the war that many veterans claim "have no heroes." Other winners come from the Korean War, World Wars I and II. The entire history of outstanding Texas heroism in combat will be spread before the public a week from Monday in Big Spring.

Labor May Fight Controls By Resorting To New Tact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials of labor, industry and the Nixon administration are casting a wary eye toward major 1973 contract negotiations that could sharply affect the nation's economic mood and White House efforts to cool inflation.

"They'll be the most important negotiations of both terms of this administration," said one high Nixon aide who was assuming Nixon's re-election in November.

"If they think we're going to lay down and play dead, they've got another thing coming," said Gen. Counsel Stephen I. Schlossberg of the United Auto Workers, which will be bargaining for a whopping 750,000 workers of the Big Three automakers and the farm equipment industry.

Early views of next year's bargaining battles—clouded by the uncertainty of the presidential election and the fate of Nixon's wage-price controls—were also deeply colored by pre-election political attitudes.

"If the controls are still on, then we'll demand to change working conditions and health and safety rules and we could have the damnest strike you ever saw," said Schlossberg, whose union supports Democratic Presidential Nominee George McGovern.

A much calmer tone comes from President Frank S. Fitzsimmons of the giant Teamsters union, which will be negotiating its Master National Freight Agreement covering some 450,000 truckers in 16,000 companies.

"Fitz keeps noting that he remained on Nixon's Pay Board when the other labor members walked off, and he's not getting any flak from the members," said a Teamsters aide.

"If anybody thinks the big unions next year are going to sit still for a 5.5 per cent wage increase (the Nixon wage control maximum), they're wrong," said Robert Nathan, economic consultant to McGovern.

While administration officials discount much of the fiery labor rhetoric as part of the presidential political campaign of McGovern, one high official who declined to be quoted by name indicated the White House is very much concerned about the big labor-industry confrontations next year.

WIFE OF CONVICTED SLAYER

Mrs. Deloria Meadows, wife of convicted slayer Johnny Meadows, was indicted along with Meadows in connection with two slayings. The indictments were returned against the pair in the strangulation death of Linda Cougar and Ruth Maynard. Ector County District Attorney John Green said he expected Meadows would testify before a grand jury that his wife had nothing to do with the killings.

NO ONE IN AUSTIN KNOWS WHAT'S GOING ON

If Legislature Confuses You, Don't Worry

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — If you're confused about what's happening in the special legislative session, you've got plenty of company. Most senators and representatives, for instance. They face all kinds of uncertainties — and even stomach-churning fears in some cases—when they return to work Monday for the final two days of the session. Gov. Preston Smith, who called the session mainly on the issue of competitive rates for car and house insurance, is the source of most of the fear.

If unsatisfied with the outcome of the session, he could call another one—perhaps immediately. About 40 of the 181 legislators are involved in political races and fear they will lose ground if they can't stay home and campaign between now and Nov. 7, election day.

Four weeks of committee hearings and debate haven't added clarity to the competitive rate issue.

The big question remains: Would Texans be better off if insurance companies price their product themselves instead of the current system of mandatory auto and house insurance rates set by a state government agency?

Nobody really knows for sure. State Insurance Board member Durwood Manford, who would lose considerable power if the board was stripped of its rate-making power, says rates would increase. Former board chairman Larry Teaver, now on Smith's staff, says most Texans would save money.

There are side issues, too. Should rate competition take place beneath a maximum rate set by the board? What policy-holder protections should be written into a rate-competition bill? What kind of geographic rating territories—if any—should be allowed? How should policyholders be grouped into rate classifications? Should the bill include such other matters as group insurance and rules on policy cancellations?

The Senate last week quickly passed Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy's rate competition bill. Mauzy accepted just about any amendment that was offered. His bill would require the insurance board to set a yearly rate ceiling, permit group car insurance, outlaw higher rates for youthful drivers and require all rates to be written on a statewide basis.

In the House, Rep. Don Cavness backed an open competition bill, with the board setting "standard average rates" for use by consumers in comparison shopping for insurance.

But Thursday night, the House slapped on an amendment requiring the insurance board to set maximum rates and wiping out rate classifications based on age. Cavness failed twice Friday to remove the amendment, then fought his amended bill as a "piece of junk" and saw it defeated 57-77.

mittees last week. It's dependent upon local funds of $948,000 — also actual appropriation by Congress.

Final figures on eligible Howard County voters may reach nearly 15,500, or barely half of those who are old enough to vote. This is tragic, but the more tragic aspect is that of those registered to vote, we'll be lucky if half get to the polls.

Howard County's airport improvements shape up as a good job, according to the Federal Inspector, who suggested a little dressing of the runway shoulders. The project cost $106,000, of which $98,024 was for construction and $8,750 for engineering and inspection, etc., but it has provided a good landing surface.

This area produced three state winners in 4-H contests. Annette Couch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Couch, Luther, won the health project; Patty Peugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peugh, Knott, home management; and Spencer Reid, Lamesa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reid, range management.

City employees got good news last week when the council decided on an across-the-board five per cent pay hike for those in the ranks. It will not include the top administrative level.

Big Springers opened their hearts to the plight of a group of Mennonites from Mexico, en route to Canada, who were stranded here when baby Aganetha Martens was stricken fatally with dysentery. Doctors and technicians at Medical Center Memorial Hospital labored in vain for two hours in an effort to save the child; nurses and others raised money for food, flowers and funeral; other people supplied lodging and food. "I was a stranger and ye took me in..."

Big Spring Exploration, a local company which started with considerable promise many years ago and then fell on evil times, is climbing out of the hole. Its annual report to stockholders showed a profit, even when an extraordinary item for sale of equipment was deleted.

An era ended last week with the death of Dr. E. O. Ellington. He was the last member of the old-line physicians and dentists which included such names as E. H. Happef, G. T. Hall, G. S. True, Will Barnett, J. H. Hurt.

Veterans Administration Hospital patients had a happy surprise treat last week with the visit of Mary Beth Cormany, Miss Texas and one of the top five finalists in the Miss America contest. Her family was here to visit with the Halvard Hansens, and she took advantage to brighten the day for the vets.

Students Loan Defaults Run About 4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defaults of guaranteed student loans in repayment status run at about 4 per cent a year and amount to $65 million, according to the U.S. Office of Education.

William Simmons, director of the OE's division of insured loans, says that the 4 per cent default rate compares favorably with nonpayment of credit card debts for the same age group.

Simmons predicted that an aggressive collection program that started in March will recover up to 70 per cent of the student loans in arrears.

In the program's seven years, the government has insured five million loans to three million students totaling $4.6 billion.

Bankers generally look upon it as successful.

The Bank of North Dakota at Bismarck, first to enlist in the program, has made 26,000 loans to 16,000 students for a dollar total in excess of $30 million.

M. E. Stenehjem, manager of the bank's student loan department, said "The program has been a tremendous success."

But there are critics.

C. Moseley, president of the Grand Central Industrial Centre, Glendale, Calif., distributed a letter to newspapers which said:

"I reported that 15,000 students were in arrears in the amount of $13.3 million on their student loans as of Sept. 30, 1971. Well, hold your breath ... it is estimated that the student loan default will increase from $13 million plus to $33,802,380 this year ... How about screaming to your congressman."

Moseley's projections are conservative, according to the education office's figure of $65 million for federal and state loans in default status as of June.

Simmons said that the volume of defaults, in relation to the total amount of money involved, is quite low, about 1.4 per cent. Since the program began, the government has insured five million loans to three million students for a total of $4.6 billion.

Better Check, Some Of Your Money Could Be Counterfeit

Capley News Service

When it comes to detecting counterfeit money, look for differences — not similarities.

That's the advice of Loren Bates, a special agent of the United States Secret Service.

The Secret Service was founded by the Department of the Treasury in 1865 to suppress a nationwide rash of counterfeiting, Bates said.

The service did not become involved in presidential protection, until 1901, following the assassination of President William McKinley.

Bates told a law enforcement group recently that the service's effectiveness in enforcing counterfeit laws is demonstrated by the fact that only $4.7 million in counterfeit money was passed in 1971 as opposed to $490 million passed in false stock securities.

As a comparison, he noted that in the Washington, D.C., area alone, more than $200 million was lost in shoplifting crimes last year.

RELY ON MERCHANTS

"We are a S.M.A.I.I. organization," Bates said. "We don't really have enough people to handle all the counterfeiting crimes committed. We don't work on a 24-hour basis like other law enforcement agencies. We rely on merchants and local police departments to help us."

He cited several facts about genuine paper currency which many merchants and consumers are not aware of:

- Silver Certificates as well as $2 and $5 United States Notes are no longer being printed.
- The $100 bill is the highest denomination note now being printed.
- Genuine currency is printed on special paper manufactured under strict government control. The paper contains red and blue fibers visible to the eye.
- Genuine notes are printed from engraved plates made by master craftsmen using the most sophisticated equipment.

Serial numbers on a fake note, he said, may not be properly aligned or spaced. Series of counterfeit bills printed on offset equipment usually have the same number as the counterfeiter usually does not have the facilities for printing consecutive numbers.

EVENLY ALIGNED

Serial numbers on true money are evenly aligned and spaced and have their own distinctive style, he said.

The colored seal on counterfeit money usually has blunt, uneven or broken points whereas real currency has points that are even, clear and sharp.

As for borders on bills, Bates said, the fine lines on fake bills are not clear or distinct while the lines on government money are clear, distinct and unbroken.

Counterfeit coins, he said, should be compared with genuine coins of the same denomination.

Many counterfeit coins feel greasy and their corrugated outer edge is uneven, crooked and often missing.

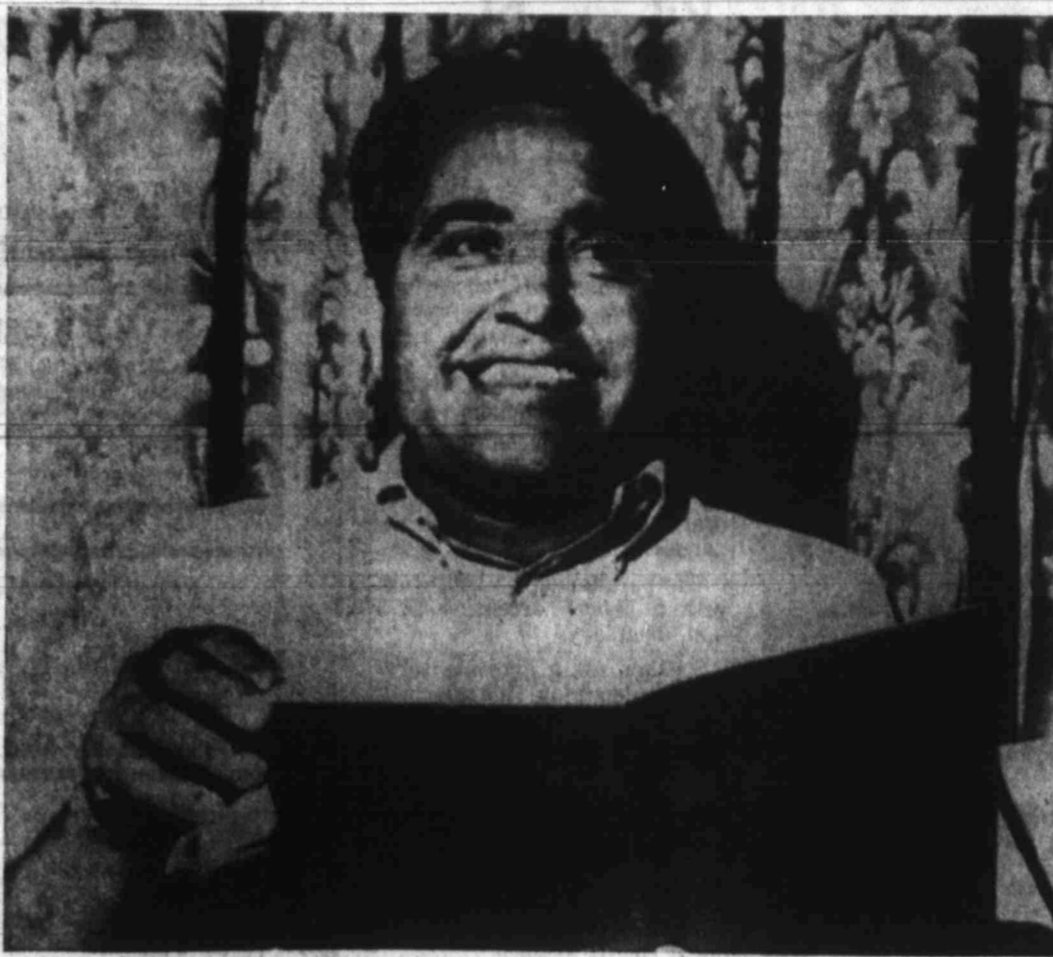

A band of copper should be clearly visible on genuine 10-cent and 25-cent pieces minted after 1965.

Bates noted it is illegal to knowingly possess a counterfeit bill.

"Don't hold onto one of them as a souvenir," he said.

MANY ARE BOGUS

He also said many persons believe 1934 bills are counterfeit. He said some of the bills are still in circulation and have different designs than more recent currency. Most counterfeiters don't bother producing the older bills, he said.

SCHOOL FINANCING SUIT — Demetrio Rodriguez, whose efforts to win financial equity for poor school districts have now reached the U.S. Supreme Court, says he's confident the court will rule in favor of his suit, a copy of which he holds.

Peter Lawford Sitting Out This Presidential Race

Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — Peter Lawford would like to make one thing perfectly clear.

Despite his onetime enthusiasm for politics (and most especially that of Camelot), he's not campaigning for his former brother-in-law for vice president of the United States.

Actor Lawford and vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver were brothers-in-law while the star was married to Pat Kennedy, one of THE Kennedys and sister of Eunice Kennedy Shriver.

And, as a member-by-marriage of the Kennedy clan, Lawford seemed as politics-minded as any of his in-laws. As a matter of fact, a bust and a handsome, colored photograph of his late brother-in-law, President John Kennedy, continue to adorn positions of honor in his living room.

Nevertheless, in this presidential election year of 1972 with his ex-wife's sister's husband running for the high place of vice president, Lawford says he's sitting the campaign out.

"I've always been concerned with politics," he said on a recent afternoon as he relaxed barefooted in his spacious, old-fashioned apartment below the Sunset Strip. "But I'm out of it now. I'm not campaigning for anyone, because I'm disenchanted."

"I'm not proud of my attitude, but there it is."

As he talked, his young, second wife, Mary Rowan, daughter of "Laugh-In" star Dan Rowan, sat quietly facing him across a massive coffee table made from a boat hatch.

Occasionally she whispered something to another pretty girl beside her — a Metro Goldwyn Mayer publicist on hand to steer conversation toward Lawford's latest picture, "They Only Kill Their Masters," for MGM.

The publicist had done her best, but, for the most part, the talk ranged elsewhere. "Personally I could never run for public office," the gray-haired actor who was once a sunny-topped, teen-age idol continued, "because I couldn't cope with the extraordinary dishonesty you have to live with every day . . ."

Lawford began training for his chosen career as a child, making his acting debut in London when he was 7 years old in the picture "Old Bill."

AN ONLY SON
However, as the only son of globe-trotting parents, Gen. Sir Sidney Lawford and Lady Lawford, he wasn't settled enough at that period to follow through as the British Jackie Cooper. In fact, he wasn't even settled enough to attend school but, rather, was educated by private tutors.

World War II caught the rambling Lawfords in Florida with their funds frozen in England, presenting them with such a financial crisis that young Peter went to work as a parking lot attendant for a hotel wherein he'd previously been a pampered guest.

He saved his money and, as soon as he had enough for a one-way ticket to California, left for Los Angeles where he got a job as an usher at the Westwood Theater near the University of California at Los Angeles.

Operating from that base, he gradually gained a foothold in American films to become in time a very hot item with teenage moviegoers.

"You could say I was a teenage idol," Lawford conceded, not displeased by the recollection. "But then teenagers were called 'bobby-soxers.'"

"When an actor gets adulation as a fringe benefit, he finds it very helpful. But, if the adulation comes too quickly, he must work harder than ever to prove that he wasn't just a 'fad.'"

IN 'THE CLAN'
Throughout its comparatively brief lifetime, Lawford was a leading member of one of Hollywood's most glamorous groups. "The Clan," second only in renown to the fabled "Rat Pack."

Postal Employee Hurt By Bomb

NEW YORK (AP) — An envelope exploded as a postal employee was sorting mail in a Bronx post office today, police reported, and a fragment of the explosive lodged in the man's hand.

They said William Figueroa, 26, of the Bronx, was taken to Fordham Hospital after the blast occurred at 10:10 a.m.

Police ordered the post office, located at 420 E. 189th St. in a busy street between Park and Webster Aves., closed after initial examination showed that similar-looking envelopes were in the batch of mail being handled.

There was no immediate word on the origin of the envelope or to whom it was addressed.

Two women active in Jewish groups here received letter explosives that failed to go off last week. Other such devices, credited to the Palestinian terrorist group, Black September, have been found within the past month in several cities around the world.

Homecoming To Honor The POWs

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Marshall University's homecoming celebration next week will break from tradition to honor West Virginia's prisoners of war.

Working under the theme "A Homecoming for Those Who Can't Come Home," the annual event will not include the traditional queen contest and parade.

Instead, literature will be distributed on campus during the weekend about POWs and those missing in action.

Kilgore Plans Pioneer Days

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — Next step in this East Texas oil city's centennial observance will be Pioneer Days to be observed Oct. 19-21.

L. N. Crim, a native, former mayor and centennial chairman, has announced that Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who grew up in East Texas, will be honorary grand marshal for the parade.

The parade will be kicked off with a balloon ascension at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Speaker for a citywide service club luncheon Thursday will be R. Henderson Shuffler, executive director of the University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio.

Following the parade, downtown streets will be blocked off for a barbecue, square dance and fireworks. Climax will be the centennial dance at the National Guard Armory.

The Council of Kilgore Garden Clubs is staging a flower show at the Kilgore National Bank Oct. 19-20, and art shows are set for Kilgore College and the American Legion Bldg.

Kilgore High School has set Friday as Homecoming Day, topped by a football game at 7:30 p.m. with Center High School.

Kilgore College climaxes the festival with its Homecoming on Saturday and a grid battle between the Kilgore Rangers and the Blinn Buccaneers at 7:30 p.m.

Bank Deposits Reach All-Time Highs In State

By The Associated Press
Figures from virtually all reporting cities showed during the weekend that bank deposits are at record highs almost everywhere in Texas.

There seemed to be no single reason for the increases, although cities and counties geared to agriculture said good prices for crops, cattle, wool and mohair contributed strongly to the financial health.

Other construction, movement of residents into their cities and simply good business conditions.

A spot check of what might be termed rural counties showed the same increase in deposits in those places.

At Kerrville, spokesmen for both banks credited a continued influx of new people, heavy construction and strong cattle prices. Del Rio and San Angelo also said the farm price influence was important.

The survey was made after the quarterly request for statements of conditions of banks from state and federal banking authorities. The request was for condition of business as of Tuesday.

Deposits by reporting cities and counties, the 1972 fall report given first compared with a year ago, included:

Harris County $7,175,317,976 and $6,153,413,615.
Dallas County $7,116,944,403 and $5,882,893,375.
Fort Worth $2,087,567,426 and $1,735,483,818.
San Antonio $11,888,006,239 and $1,620,364,587.

Abilene $244,216,781 and $209,838,670.
Taylor County (Abilene) $225,057,514 and $219,560,146.
Del Rio $42,090,133 and $34,740,770.
Lamar County (Paris) $75,431,344 and $64,436,232.
Vernon $59,835,408 and $2,432,328.

Smuggling Trial Begins Monday

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The marijuana smuggling trial of a former assistant Arkansas attorney general is to get underway in federal court here Monday.

Roger Allen Glasgow, 30, of Little Rock is charged in a two-count indictment of illegally importing marijuana into the United States and with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute it.

Glasgow, who has since left the state job to enter private law practice, was arrested at the International Bridge Aug. 25 by U.S. Customs agents who said they found about 23 pounds of marijuana in a car occupied by Glasgow and his wife.

Glasgow is free on a $5,000 personal recognizance bond.

U.S. District Court Judge Reynaldo Garza, who will preside at the trial, instructed the eight men and four women jurors to report for the trial at 9:30 a.m. Monday. The trial is expected to last about two days.

Fund Campaign Is Lethargic

After a hefty surge the prior week, the United Way dropped back to its tortoise pace last week with $72,228 reported Friday afternoon.

Better things are in store Monday, however, officials predicted.

They had a couple of large group reports due to come in and these should boost the total substantially.

There are still several major blocks which have yet to report, and only a couple of the divisions are past the half-way mark.

Robert Hickson, campaign chairman, has summoned all division chairmen to another Dutch treat luncheon Wednesday to survey campaign progress.

At this stage, the campaign is about 64 per cent toward its goal of $113,000.

Fourteen local agencies are wholly or largely dependent upon success of the campaign for their operations in 1973. Included are Salvation Army, YMCA (Central and Lakeview), Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milk and Medicine, West Side Center, Boys Club, Summer Recreation, Halfway House, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Air Force Aid Society, Texas Rehabilitation.

Golden Years Are Fraud, Says 2 Authors Of Book

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Casper News Service

If you are 40 or younger, and are working steady, you have a good chance to avoid the retirement trap. But, if you are over 50 and have not planned well, you already are caught in the trap.

Sounds like a grim situation for lots of people but Leland and Lee Cooley, who have worked together (they're man and wife) on other books covering the elderly, set forth chapter after chapter on what's wrong with so-called retirement "benefits." They also warn time and time again that for the man in his 20s and 30s "now" is the time to plan for the golden years.

Their book, "How To Avoid the Retirement Trap," in over-implication adds up to the statement that the golden years are a fraud. They claim that their book "means to be hopeful" but there isn't much in it that is hopeful unless the recitation of the pitfalls persuades those contemplating retirement to do something about the economic shock that can go with it.

WIDOWS SUFFER
They tell us what lots of us know: Social Security won't even come close to taking care of the retirement years. A guaranteed minimum income won't either; nor will a pension, even if you're one of 5 per cent lucky enough to collect full benefits.

They discuss the plight of widows, left penniless in many cases. Their most comprehensive discussion is of Medicare and it may shock many who look to this "benefit" as the answer to most health cost problems. They find that the "easy living" of a sleepy

Mexican village for the ordinary retired person is more a nightmare financially than a dream of low-cost comforts.

They set the poverty level, in retirement, at $1,966 or less annually; the "get by" level at $3,600 and the "breathe easy" level at $6,000. Then, they point out that the average Social Security check is $117 a month and turn to the matter of investments.

They cover all types of investments, from common stocks to mutual funds, to annuities to real estate, bonds and others. Like most prudent people, they do not set down hard and fast rules on investments but do provide considerable useful information for a potential investor — young or old.

ACCURATE HINT

A chapter entitled "Health, Food, Horse Sense and Horse Manure" gives an accurate hint of what they think about the cure-all nature of health food and related nostrums. Neither are they enthusiastic about most corporate pension programs — too many workers lose their jobs just before winning pension rights.

Gets Million Dollars For Injury, Would Trade It

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — "I'd give up the million dollars to be able to get up and do things," says Pat Burke.

Paralyzed from the neck down since his spinal column was crushed in a railroad accident last fall, the 21-year-old Burke commented after being awarded $1 million from the Milwaukee Road in a settlement reached Friday in U.S. District Court.

Attorneys said the $1 million is the largest ever received in a personal injury suit in Minnesota and one of the largest ever against a railroad.

Burke told newsmen he "doesn't even know how much $1 million is" and hasn't given any thought to how he will use it.

We have talked a little about having a trout farm or something like that," said his wife, Renee. "Pat loves the outdoors. He used to like to hunt and fish."

The couple has a 1-year-old son and owns a home in Rochester, Minn.

Burke was hospitalized for eight months at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester. The more than $20,000 in hospital bills was covered by his insurance with the railroad, he said.

Burke's attorney, Eugene Renrat, said the settlement is tax free, both from federal and state levies. The Minneapolis lawyer declined to comment on his fee, but attorneys normally receive 25 to 30 per cent in personal injury cases.

Logical, Prudent Course

This area, as well as all of Texas, has a special interest in the contest for United States Senator in the approaching general election.

Seeking re-election is John Tower, now completing his second term. This investment in tenure has pushed him past the halfway ladder in seniority in the entire Senate and into 18th place among Republican senators. Translated into terms of strategic placement, this means he is the top GOP member of the committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs — the panel which has most to do with the economy, housing and transportation and fiscal affairs, and third on the Senate Armed Services Committee (and ranking GOP member of its military construction subcommittee). It is obvious, therefore, that stroke, or leverage, rather than a single voice, is at stake here. And more to the point, those interested in the effectiveness and welfare of Webb AFB have found in Sen. Tower a sympathetic and helpful servant.

Moreover, the senator has the President's ear and frequently has been called in on key conferences. He has been dispatched to five NATO conferences, and has made more than half a dozen trips to Vietnam to familiarize himself and the Armed Services Committee first hand with the situation there. These, as well as his committee assignments, have established him as a proponent of a strong national defense — and until more reason and lessened pressures return to the international scene.

In general, he has had a moderate philosophy which has attuned him to the state's interests, such as sponsoring an amendment prohibiting school assignments on the basis of race; also defense of the domestic petroleum industry.

There was considerable validity two years ago that Texas needed a senator on both sides of the aisle, and it is even more valid now with the overwhelming prospect that the President will be returned in November. Therefore, it seems logical and prudent that Sen. John Tower be reelected Nov. 7.

Ground Water Problem

The Galveston Bay area has a serious problem — the land is sinking. The reason: such vast amounts of water are being used by the City of Houston and by coastal industry that the aquifer is being pulled down and causing a gradual sinking of land into the void.

In this area and on the South and High Plains where ground water is sucked in vast quantities for irrigation we aren't necessarily plagued with sinking terrain. But the same basic problem exists —that of diminishing aquifers.

Short of wanton waste, and pollution Texas laws have comparatively little to say about production and use of ground water, something in sharp contrast with the codes governing allocation of surface supplies. The time is fast approaching when the statutes governing water, whatever the source, need to be brought into better balance.

Monday Must Go

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

When I become governor, Mondays have got to go. No, make that king. I don't want to take a dull job in which people are constantly reversing your wishes.

TUESDAYS AREN'T so hot either, now that I think of it — except for the paycheck. But that could be moved to Thursday with no difficulty. That's my platform friends — the three-day week, and the four-day weekend. I'd win in a runaway, if I could get all this on the ballot. Make that a walkway. I'm not in a hurry.

ONCE A CLEARANCE sale was just a sale. Now the merchants tie it in with anti-inflation and almost make it seem anti-American for you not to buy.

I think it was that advertising man, Oliver Cofer, who reported: A young social worker was visiting a robust housewife who was the mother of 10 children. She realized her message wasn't getting across when the mother commented: "My gosh, this birth control may be all right for you, but not for me, I'm married and don't need it."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exciting astronomical discoveries of the past seven years add up to a high probability that intelligent life exists elsewhere in the universe.

Let's hope so. We've never quite made it here.

What the scientists want, of course, is astronomical sums of money to go look for these geniuses. If they're smarter than we are, they're more likely to find us first. Besides, we have enough troubles just trying to deal with our peers on earth.

IS THERE a word for it? Since lawyers can be disbarred and priests unfrocked, shouldn't people in other professions be similarly dismissed?

Electricians for example, could be delighted, musicians denoted, cowboys deranged, models depressed, a medium dispirited and a Far Eastern diplomat disoriented.

Power plant operators could be degenerated, song writers decomposed, doormen unhinged, tailors un-stitched, captains decapitated, politicians devoted and hog callers disgruntled.

Worst of all, teachers could be outclassed and reporters depressed.

IS THERE a Podunk anywhere?

Was it not railroading Kenneth Hart who placed these two items on my desk?

Latest driving maneuver to be classified by traffic engineers is the O-turn. It was invented by a lady who made a U-turn and then changed her mind.

He who sleeps late on Sunday morning is Sack-religious.

AND WALTER W. Stroup, the insurance man, complains:

"The best things in life are free. It's the bad things that are expensive.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I am annoyed by your references to man's responsibility to God. As a rational, intelligent and independent person, I feel I am responsible to no one but myself. — R.Y.

Some day you will realize that God has the last word. I pray that you may discover this truth this side of eternity. God created you as a rational and intelligent being but you are not above or independent of Him or His laws. God created you. You see the evidences of His presence and power in all of creation. You enjoy the blessings of His loving and provident hand all the time. You have a free moral nature and for this reason possess the right of choice. You can reject God and His love. You can reject His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. You can live your life according to your own personal desires. But God will hold you accountable.

Some day you will have to stand in His presence. Having rejected Him and the redemption from sin which we have through faith in Jesus Christ, you will have to stand on your own merits — and this no man can do. Your problem, my problem, the problem of each individual in the world is that of sin, rebellion against God and the breaking of His holy laws. He has made full provision for our dilemma but we must accept this or bear the consequences. Read John 3:18.

The Peace Pledge

William F. Buckley Jr.

George McGovern has decided to run on what he is parlaying into an unconsummated pledge of Richard Nixon. Accordingly the McGovern campaign took out full page ads on the fourth anniversary of Mr. Nixon's now-famous declaration: "Those who have had a chance for four years, and could not produce peace, should not be given another chance."

I SAY NOW-famous declaration because it did not cause a ripple at the time it was made. It was in Santa Monica, on Oct. 9, 1968, at the Civic Auditorium, Mr. Nixon was addressing a crowd of 4,000 people. The "New York Times" headlined the speech the next day: "Nixon Promises to Seek a Law-Banning Lewd Mail to Children." Which reminds me, I am not aware that Mr. Nixon succeeded in fulfilling that promise — he was blocked by a Democratic committee. Neither am I aware that George McGovern has hit him for this quite concrete failure. On the other hand, Mr. McGovern isn't likely to do that. Take away their lewd-mail, and what have the children got left? That would be the final betrayal of George McGovern.

WAY DOWN in the story, the reporter tells of the heckling of Richard Nixon by peace protesters. It was to them that he shouted out his judgment that "those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace, should not be given another chance."

If you go ahead and take the statement literally, why should we suppose that Nixon was correct? McGovern takes him to be incorrect in almost every other particular. So why should he happen to be correct only when he lays down the law that a president who cannot produce peace in four years should not be reelected? Is McGovern saying that the American people were wrong in voting for Abraham Lincoln in 1864?

He had four years, but hadn't yet brought peace. Were the American people wrong in voting for Franklin Roosevelt in 1944? He certainly hadn't produced peace.

IF ONE GETS away from the literalness of the term, what is it that is generally meant by "producing peace?" It means producing peace for the United States. Peace for the United States is generally measured by an end to the loss of American lives.

Clearly, if he had said that by the end of his term of office not one American soldier would be dying in Vietnam, that statement would have been considered more newsworthy than his pledge to take the dirty pictures away from the children. But in fact Mr. Nixon has accomplished peace in this sense. Substantively, he has lived up to his pledge at Santa Monica of four years ago.

FIGHTING REMAINS, so that technically it can indeed be said that he has not "produced peace." How can anyone produce peace, so long as there are people in the world who are willing to fight to dominate other people, and so long as there are people willing to fight to maintain their independence? What George McGovern would do is to punish those who would fight to maintain their independence. So that what George McGovern's pledge to the American people is reducible to: I pledge that I shall produce peace in the world by denying to anyone the arms with which to resist aggression.

HE ASKS THE American people to elect him in order that he might repeat what pledges his predecessors have made. It becomes altogether involved. But even though McGovern will lose the election, he has forever damaged American credibility, and in doing so, he will damage the cause of peace for years and years to come.

Corporate Earnings Soaring

The Week's Business

NEW YORK (AP) — The flow of corporate earnings reports increased this past week, with many companies reporting sizeable profit jumps.

St. Regis Paper Co. announced a whopping 153 per cent gain in third-quarter profits to $10.6 million, and International Paper Co. said its net rose 78 per cent to $25 million. A year earlier, the companies said, profits were unusually depressed.

Another sharp jump was reported by Allied Chemical Corp., whose third-quarter profits rose 56 per cent to $14 million over 1971 levels.

GOLD GAINS Solid gains also were recorded by Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric and International Business Machines; but Polaroid — still bearing the development costs of its soon-to-be-introduced SX-70 camera — reported a 35 per cent earnings plunge.

Profits at Eastman Kodak rose 21 per cent to $152.6 million; at Westinghouse, 11.8 per cent to $49.7 million; at GE, 12 per cent to $127.8 million, and at IBM, 20.2 per cent to $320.9 million. Polaroid earnings dropped to $8.7 million.

In other corporate news, Gulf Oil Corp. announced that its directors had authorized the write-off of $250 million in marginal and unprofitable operations.

HUGE WRITE-OFF The huge write-off, amounting to about 2.5 per cent of the corporation's assets, will be taken off this year.

Also during the week, IBM failed in an attempt to delay until after the presidential election the Justice Department's first statement of goals in its antitrust suit against the computer giant.

An IBM spokesman said the company feared that political pressures might lead the Justice Department to give the company an ultimatum rather than a set of demands that could become the basis for an out-of-court settlement. Basically, the suit alleges that IBM crowded competitors out of the computer market with practices that violated the Sherman Antitrust Act.

NEW CAMERA Another important corporate development was the unveiling by Berkey Photo, Inc., of a new instant-picture camera, which challenges Polaroid's 23-year virtual monopoly of the $200-million market.

The new camera, with a built-in electronic flash, will become available around Thanksgiving, selling for about $80.

Allende Threatens Dealers For Their Strike Sympathy

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — day the shutdown was almost totally successful "despite threats of force to open our businesses."

Allende, in his speech, estimated the shopkeepers' walkout was 65 per cent effective. He said an acceptable level of foodstuffs, including milk, flour and vegetables, was being delivered, despite the truck strike.

Allende had warned earlier that if the strikes continued another 48 hours "we could have an extraordinarily grave provision problem."

"EMERGENCY" Santiago and another 12 Chilean provinces were ordered into a "state of emergency" Thursday due to the truckers' strike. This placed law enforcement duties in the hands of the military.

The president ordered all radio stations to suspend the broadcast of music and news programs Friday and to transmit only government programming.

He charged "some radio stations incited the public to adhere to the illegal strike of the truckers."

Twins Born To Dutch Princess

NIJMEGEN, Netherlands (AP) — Premature twins born to Princess Irene, the second daughter of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard, are reported doing well.

The twins, a girl weighing only 3 lbs. 13 oz., and the boy, who weighed 4 lbs. 12 oz., were born Friday.

Major Bank To Increase Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — First National City Bank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, has announced a 1/4 per cent increase in its prime lending rate, raising the minimum interest charge to 5 1/2 per cent.

The increase, announced Friday, will take effect Monday and bring the lending rate just below the 6 per cent level that prevailed just before President Nixon imposed wage and price controls in August, 1971.

Earlier this week, government officials voiced concern over rising interest rates. Most banks around the nation sat tight after the Citibank announcement Friday.

Confident Outlook

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There are two things that seem to be uppermost in the minds of business people nowadays. One is the apparent trend toward an improvement in business, and the other is the confident expectation that, once the election is over, the country will experience an even more healthy period of expansion.

EXECUTIVES of large and small companies seem convinced that the Nixon administration will be continued and that no major changes in laws will be made until the new Congress takes over in January. The belief is that taxes will not be increased and that revenues in business, as well as individual incomes, will not be affected adversely by any "reform" measures at least for a year or two.

On the whole, a feeling is beginning to develop throughout the country that if President Nixon is re-elected, there will be beneficial effects on business at home and abroad. Substantial gains in trade with foreign nations are in prospect, and it is considered likely that many jobs will be created as the demand for American-made products grows.

All of the national polls have found Mr. Nixon to be the leader in the race. Businessmen who had been waiting for the election results before making plans for expansion if the Republican nominee was successful now are starting to take steps to launch their projects as soon as possible.

SOMEHOW THERE is an extraordinary state of mind among the voters. Many of the local political leaders privately concede that the outlook is for big majorities for President Nixon. It is evident from reports and surveys that the South is almost solidly in favor of the Republican candidate. If he should carry all 15 of the Southern and Border states, he would have 109 of the 270 electoral votes needed to win. This would mean the rest of the country would have to provide only 101 votes to give Mr. Nixon the minimum required for re-election.

THERE ARE indications, of course, that Mr. Nixon is strong also in various states in the East as well as in the Middle West and the Far West which have far more than 100 electoral votes. The surveys generally show that the Republicans will carry many of the big states, and all this has led to talk about a "landslide."

Who Killed The Bill?

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — When Det. Reilly walked into the Rotunda of the Capitol he was aghast. Lying there on the floor were the bodies of the Welfare Reform Bill, the Consumer Protection Agency Bill, the Mass Transit Bill and the Minimum Wage Bill.

"Gee," whistled Reilly. "This is worse than the St. Valentine's Day massacre."

HE WENT OVER to his assistant, Det. Monday.

"What happened?" Reilly asked. "I don't know," Monday said. "They were all alive and healthy one day, and the next moment they were all killed. Nobody saw anything."

Reilly went over to the Welfare Reform Bill and pulled back the sheet. It was mangled and torn beyond recognition. Reilly almost got sick to his stomach. He asked Monday, "Anybody identify the bodies?"

"SOMEONE SAID they were all related to a guy named Nixon who lives at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. We sent for him. He should be here any minute."

Just then, two policemen brought in a dark-haired man with a heavy 5 o'clock shadow.

REILLY WENT UP to him. "Mr. Nixon, sorry to bother you at this hour, but we were wondering if you could identify any of these bills lying there on the floor." Nixon, without looking, said, "I never saw any of them before in my life."

Det. Monday referred to some notes. "Witnesses say you introduced these bills and then killed them."

"IT'S A LIE," Nixon said. "I haven't been up here on the Hill for months."

"Well, let me ask you this. Did you know the deceased at all?" Reilly asked.

Nixon said, "You can't pin this one on me. Congress killed them. I had nothing to do with it."

"We're not accusing you of anything, Mr. Nixon," Reilly said. "We're just trying to put the pieces together." He pulled the sheet back from the Consumer Protection Agency Bill. "Do you remember this one?"

"I DON'T remember," Nixon said. "What about the Mass Transit Bill over there?" Monday asked. "Your man John Volpe testified last month you supported this bill."

"Volpe doesn't know what he's talking about."

"And I suppose you know nothing about the killing of the Minimum Wage Bill either?"

"I TOLD you, I don't know nothing!" Nixon shouted. "You can't pin a thing on me!"

A Devotion For Today

Jesus beholding him loved him, and said unto him, one thing thou lackest. (Mark 10:21)

PRAYER: Lord of all being, help us to realize how privileged we are to have immediate audience with You and to call You by the intimate name of Father. Help us to experience that joy which comes to those who abandon themselves in discipleship to Jesus Christ. Amen.

Ghosts In Stanton May Live In Courthouse

By MARJ CARPENTER
 STANTON — Probably one of the oldest county courthouses still in use in West Texas is the Martin County courthouse.

The oldtimers and some of the historians around the area are proud of this. The occupants of the building are not.

A three story building constructed in 1906, it was one of the showplaces of the entire area.

Complete with cupolas, balconies and antique furniture, it is a historian's dream. The district courtroom features a witness bench that has no likeness today and an ornate judge's bench with a star on the front. The jurors seats are comfortable, but the onlookers seats are like the old fold down seats of the silent movies.

CHIEF COMPLAINTS
 High ceilings and lack of storage and inconvenience are the main complaints of the employees. It is hard to heat in the winter, hard to cool in the summer and hard to find a place to store anything at any time.

There is not a lack of space. In fact, the entire third floor stands empty. "And dirty," one employe added. "If there's any ghosts in Stanton, they're up there, she added.

The pigeons are extremely happy about the complicated rooftops. If they leak, they at least leak into the third floor which nobody is using anyway.

This year, they did get some new paint inside the building on the first two floors and the employes were happy about that. The citizens turned down flat a bond issue last year to replace the courthouse.

There is still a lot of strong feeling about the beauty of the original jail, which has been converted to a county museum and some citizens think enough history can be maintained right there.

LISTS ANDERSON
 The cornerstone lists B. J. Anderson as county judge when the building was constructed, and the commissioners as T. S. Crowder, T. S. Means, G. W. Tom and L. O. Derson. A. Jolsen was contractor and he built it to stay.

Many of the descendants of those commissioners still reside in Martin County.

Out front is a historic marker which reminds the reader of the early years of hardship and founding of the town by a group of German Catholics from Kansas. They called it Marienfeld meaning "Field of Mary" because they considered it a haven and a garden spot. This was around 1876.

Later Protestants took away from those pioneers even the name of their city and changed it to Stanton in 1890. The county was officially named in 1876. The first commissioners court pointed to it with pride. You can almost hear them saying, "That building will be there a while."

Rules Still Unchanged, Says Aleman

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Former President Miguel Aleman said Friday Mexico's policy "traditionally" has been "to seek foreign investment with the objective that it will come to collaborate with internal investment for the development of the country."

Aleman's comments came in response to U.S. Ambassador Robert McBride's statement Thursday that Mexican and U.S. businessmen are uncertain about whether this country still wants foreign investment. McBride told the U.S.-Mexico businessmen's committee meeting in Acapulco some felt it was unclear if "the rules of the game might be changed."

"Really, I do not see where that change in the rules of the game would be, because the policy is open," Aleman said in a news conference.

"I believe that the policy of Mexico... not only is, but always has been, very clear with respect to foreign investment," Aleman said.

"Mexico never has refused foreign investment," Aleman said, "as long as it had the purposes of cooperating in the development of the country and was always in collaboration with Mexican investors."

Aleman said the Mexican policy on foreign investment also was that "of the entire world." He added that foreign investment is necessary in developing countries and that countries important in the economic world also need financial exchanges to solve their economic problems.

"Mexico has not modified the rules of its foreign investment policy," Carlos Bermudez Limon, president of the College of Economists of Mexico, said.

"It never has been denied that Mexico, as much as possible, should principally depend on its own capital, its own business and its own technology," Bermudez Limon said.

"Ambassador McBride said the U.S. government's first obligation is to its citizens," Bermudez Limon continued, "and this is precisely the case of the Mexican government with its own economy."

Frank B. Loretta, president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico, said discussions of legislation to cover transfers of technology worried some investors. "And if we put it together with other factors, we see that little by little the interest of the investors is declining," Loretta said.

Error Is Noted In Mishap Story

Leroy Henry Little, 202 State, was not directly involved in an automobile collision at Eighth and Gregg Streets Tuesday, as reported previously.

Little was listed on the police accident report as operator of a "non-contact vehicle." He was cited for failure to yield the right of way in connection with the accident in which two other vehicles collided.

Rich Anderson is sure the two-party system can do better.

Rich Anderson knows the two-party system can provide checks and balances in state government. One reason we've had "crisis-to-crisis government" in Texas is that one party has been calling all the shots for nearly a century. Lots of folks around here plan to give President Nixon and Senator Tower another chance. It would certainly be worth giving state government a boost by giving the two-party system a chance. You can have a strong, effective, independent representative in this district if you'll elect a man who doesn't spend all his time worrying about pleasing his party leaders, the lobbies or special interest groups. Rich Anderson is making just one campaign promise. He'll be a representative you'll be proud of.

STEEERS MISS FIELD GOAL IN CLOSING SECONDS

Shaffer's FG Gives 'Dogs 17-16 Win

By DON COOPER Robert Shaffer's 36-yard field goal with 1:17 remaining in the game provided Midland Bulldogs a 17-16 win over the Big Spring Steers in Friday night's District 5-AAA contest.

Against Abilene, Earl Reynolds dropped a punt. With Abilene players converging on him, he picked up the football and sped 79 yards for a touchdown. Against Midland, Reynolds dropped the second-half kickoff. With Midland players converging on him, he picked up the football and sped 79 yards for a touchdown. Steen's kick knotted the score at 7-7 with 11:48 left in the third period.

The big fullback went straight up the middle for 22 yards and the touchdown. Shaffer booted Midland out in front, 14-7, with 10:22 left in the third quarter.

BAD PITCHOUT On the first play from scrimmage following a 45-yard Davis punt, Midland quarterback Randy Blanscett pitched out widely and Perez couldn't handle it. The Steers' Glenn Carlton gobbled up the football at the Midland 21.

just short of the goal line and the score remained 14-13 with 7:26 left in the third period.

The Big Spring defensive unit held Midland and forced the Bulldogs into a punting situation at the Midland 25. Shaffer's punt was only a 31-yard attempt; however, Steer safety Willie Williams dropped the ball and Midland's Wilbord Burns recovered at the Big Spring 44.

A run by Perez and a pass from Blanscett to Pearce netted Midland 25 yards to the Big Spring 19. Then Blanscett turned to Chastain. On three straight carries, Chastain moved the ball to the Steer three. On his fourth consecutive carry, Chastain fumbled and John Smith recovered for Big Spring at the Steers' two-yard line to kill the Bulldog threat.

The Steers lined up for the kick; however, Reynolds who was the holder on the kick attempt darted to the left side with the snap. He was stopped on the last play of the third quarter. Then with the ball on the Steer 28, Chastain again lost the football and Craig Brown recovered for Big Spring at the Steer 26.

FINAL SCORING DRIVE The Steers then launched their final scoring drive of the game. Barry Truette carried for seven yards and Davis hit Knoepfel for 11 yards to the Steer 44. Reynolds then carried for 11 yards and a first down.

With a fourth down and 10 at the Midland 45, Davis found Poss for 20 yards and a first down to keep the drive alive. A Davis-to-Knoepfel aerial was good for 12 yards to the Midland 15.

Then Davis and Dick Conley shared the running duties and moved the ball to the Midland four where the drive stalled. On fourth down, Steen booted the Steers out in front, 16-14. Steen's field goal was a 20-yarder and came with 5:42 left in the game.

Midland stormed right back. With Blanscett giving the ball to Chastain most of the time and aided by a face-mask penalty, the Bulldogs drove to the Big Spring 19. On fourth down, Shaffer's 36-yard effort split the uprights with 1:17 left on the clock.

Shaffer's kickoff went out of the end zone and the Steers found themselves 80 yards away from paydirt and time running out.

Midland's 185-pound Choate carried 12, 7, 12 and 8 yards Franklin ran 25-yards on the left side of the field, scoring. Tindol ran to the other side for two points.

Bulldogs almost prevented the next Ballinger score, but Slaughter plunged over on fourth and two-to-goal. Jernigan's fake-kick-and-run routine failed.

'Dog Senior Steve Stone made an impressive return behind good blocking from the 20 to midfield. Farris recovered a Coahoma lateral. Kerby deflected a Ballinger pass and Beal intercepted to end Ballinger's possession at Coahoma's 10 yard line.

Dragons Fall To Hermleigh

FLOWER GROVE — The Flower Grove Dragons made two more first downs than Hermleigh here Friday evening, but they got clobbered 44-12.

The explanation of this oddity lies in Hermleigh's long plays. Four of the nine touchdowns scored by Hermleigh came on runs of approximately 50 yards or longer; another for 39 yards, and a pass play for 31. Even the short TDs followed on the heels of long gainers stopped near the goal line.

Jimmy Ross dished out something of the same sort when he broke around right end in the third, then cut back against the grain and ran 75 yards to the corner for a Dragon score. A few minutes later he scampered around right end for a TD, but in both instances the extra point try failed.

Hermleigh opened up when Charles Kuss banged in from five yards out, but the extra point try fizzled. Dale Peterson broke loose for 47 yards and then 72 yards, with Roemlich kicking both 2-point conversions. Hermleigh added another on a pass by Jimmie Vineyard to Jodie Taylor, good for 31 yards. Roemlich added the two points, making it 30-0 at the half.

In the third Dale Peterson ran 62 yards and Vineyard hit Taylor for five yards and a TD, but in both instances extra point tries failed. Roemlich then bolted in from 39 yards and added the two points, Hermleigh closed out its scoring in the fourth when Jay Roemlich juggled the ball from the 12-yard line, and then passed 50 yards to Taylor.

Shaffer's kickoff went out of the end zone and the Steers found themselves 80 yards away from paydirt and time running out.

Midland's 185-pound Choate carried 12, 7, 12 and 8 yards Franklin ran 25-yards on the left side of the field, scoring. Tindol ran to the other side for two points.

Bulldogs almost prevented the next Ballinger score, but Slaughter plunged over on fourth and two-to-goal. Jernigan's fake-kick-and-run routine failed.

'Dog Senior Steve Stone made an impressive return behind good blocking from the 20 to midfield. Farris recovered a Coahoma lateral. Kerby deflected a Ballinger pass and Beal intercepted to end Ballinger's possession at Coahoma's 10 yard line.

STEEN TRIES FOR FG — Ricky Steen attempts to give the Big Spring Steers the win over Midland when he tries to boot a field goal from 37 yards out in the closing seconds of Friday night's District 5-AAA contest. Steen's kick was wide to the left and Midland held on to win, 17-16. The holder is Earl Reynolds (42).

Forsan Shocks Roby Lions, 14-6

By CHARLES TEAGUE FORSAN — Jack Woodley's Forsan Buffaloes hosted a top-rated Roby Lions team Friday evening, meeting out a 14-6 victory in the Buffaloes' second district win of the season.

First scoring came after Roby took possession at the Buffalo quarter developed a passing game. With eight minutes remaining in the game, Forsan quarterback Landon Soles, in an attempted pass play, was forced to keep and run, gaining 27 yards, displacing the line of scrimmage from the Forsan 26 to the Roby 47-yard line.

Two complete passes from Soles to Bob Highley moved the ball to the Lions' 23-yard line. Roby pass interference resulted in Forsan's reaching the 8-yard line, from whence Soles kept for a six-yard gain to the two-yard line and a one and a half yard sneak to the half-yard line.

A hand-off to Robert Wash put the Buffaloes over for their first score in the last four and half minutes of play. A fake kick pattern, evolving into a right-end pass from Soles to Mike Murphy fell dead, leaving the score tied six to six.

With two and a half minutes remaining Forsan again took possession. Soles passed to senior and Rudy Holguin, who carried for a 29-yard gain, placing the Buffaloes well into Roby territory at the 29-yard line.

Spurred play kept the fourth quarter in a scoring race. The third quarter showed no score, nor any prominent scoring positions, penetrations finding no home for either team. Spirited play kept the fourth quarter in a scoring race.

The extra point attempt by kicker Robert Morgan was blocked by Buffalo senior end Bob Highley.

Careful play on the part of both teams resulted in no scoring positions during the remainder of the first half.

Wayne Hog ripped off a 65-yard touchdown run the first time that Lamesa had the ball. The PAT failed and Lamesa held a 6-0 lead with 10:22 left in the first quarter.

After forcing Lake View to punt, Lamesa drove 80 yards in three plays with Hogg scoring the touchdown on a 37-yard run. Again the PAT was unsuccessful making the score 12-0 with 7:24 left in the first period.

Tornadoes Wallop Lake View Chiefs

SAN ANGELO — The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes rolled up 42 points in the first half and then downed San Angelo Lake View by a 49-28 margin here Friday night.

Lamesa scored on each of its first three possessions. Wayne Hog ripped off a 65-yard touchdown run the first time that Lamesa had the ball. The PAT failed and Lamesa held a 6-0 lead with 10:22 left in the first quarter.

Lamesa scored early in the second quarter on a six-yard run by Greg Cannady. Cannady ran for the two points to make the score 23-0. Lamesa ran it 35-0 when Mike Miers picked off a Lake View aerial and scored on a 35-yard return. Cody Reid kicked the PAT.

The first Lamesa score of the first half on a five-yard run by Hogg with 1:42 left in the second quarter. Reid booted the Tornadoes into a 42-0 lead.

Wellman Nips Garden City

GARDEN CITY — Wellman spoiled the Garden City Bearkat Homecoming here Friday evening with an 18-12 victory in a District 1-B game.

Wellman piled up 13 first downs to seven for Garden City and had a total of 228 yards gained against 122 for the home team. But in the end, the difference was an intercepted pass which Tommy Stundard ran back for a TD in the opening round.

Garden City bounced back in the second when Douglas Plagens hit Charlie Puga for a 35-TD fast play. The try for point failed.

Lake View scored three times in the second half on a 15-yard run by Sam Hernandez, a 27-yard pass from Larry Balkum to Larry Wagner and a two-yard plunge by John Paul Lee.

Wellman pulled back ahead in the third when Roy Dodson, a 200-pound quarterback with impressive speed and moved, broke away for 50 yards. The try for point failed.

Lake View scored three times in the second half on a 15-yard run by Sam Hernandez, a 27-yard pass from Larry Balkum to Larry Wagner and a two-yard plunge by John Paul Lee.

GAME AT A GLANCE Midland vs Big Spring. First Downs: 17-14. Yards Rushing: 211-176. Yards Passing: 286-286. PA-PC-P: 2-1-1. Fumbles-Lost: 2-1-1. Penalties-Yds: 4-23-23. Punt-Average: 44.0-42.0.

The Bulldogs had to hold off a final seconds, desperation drive engineered by Steer quarterback Tom Sorley. Sorley passed the Steers from the Big Spring 20 to the Midland 15, where with just 16 seconds showing on the clock, Ricky Steen's 37-yard attempt was wide to the left.

The contest had started out slowly. The first half was a dull and unexciting game as Midland scored once in the first quarter before both teams scored.

In the first half, Big Spring could manage only three first downs, as the Midland defense completely stymied the Steers. The Midland offense was not much better. After scoring on a 76-yard scamper by Luis Perez, the Bulldogs drove to the Big Spring three only to lose the ball on a fumble.

Turnovers hampered Midland throughout the contest. The Bulldogs fumbled four times and lost three to the aggressive Steer defensive unit. Big Spring fumbled three times, losing one.

After exchanging punts in the opening minutes of the game, the Bulldogs drove 77 yards in just two plays to get on the scoreboard. Following a one-yard plunge by Wendell Ward, Perez went off the left side of the line and darted 76 yards for the touchdown. Shaffer's kick gave Midland a 7-0 lead with 6:45 left in the first quarter.

The Steers were unable to move the football and were forced to punt. Alan Davis' punt traveled 46 yards to the dangerous Perez. Perez returned the kick 53 yards to the Steer 35.

Midland drove to the Steer three, where fullback Steve Chastain fumbled into the end zone. The Steers' Mike Tredaway recovered to kill the threat.

REYNOLDS SCORES TD There was not another serious threat by Midland in the first half. Just before the end of the second period, the Steer offense finally came to life. Starting at the Big Spring 16, the Steers marched to the Midland 35. Time ran out with the ball on the Bulldog 35.

Contributing big yardage to the 84-yard drive were Freddie Franklin with a Beal pass for 20 yards and Putt Choate with a 30 yard.

Bullinger's 190-pound Johnny Slaughter galloped 33 yards on their first play, but the 'Cats faltered on fourth and seven at the 26-yard line.

Coahoma's Tim Tindol ran 58 yards for a touchdown on this drive. With the point after attempt failing, score stood 12-0. Jernigan lofted the ball, and Eddie Guevara was suddenly 53 yards from line of scrimmage. Ballinger's third-year quarterback scrambled out of a pass play for the touchdown from the eight. Karl Vancil kicked for another point.

In the second quarter, Beal crossed the goal standing on a two yard jaunt. His pass to Glen Washburn fell incomplete.

Then, Slaughter snagged a Jernigan pass at midfield and ran to the five yard line — a 63-yard gain.

Coahoma defenders denied Slaughter a touchdown on fourth and less than a yard to goal. A deflected pass fell into Slaughter's hands terminating Coahoma's next possession at the Bulldog 21.

Despite good field position, the visitors could not overcome the Bulldog defense. And Coahoma's dumped Tommy Parrish, substitute quarterback, three yards from a TD on 4th down.

Beal hurried the End Troy Kerby for 41 yards, 17 yards at six yards and ran the last 10 of 97 with only 20 seconds on the clock. Half-time score was 25-7.

Bearcat Charles Johnson brought in a touch down pass from the 27-yard-line after a 25 yard Randy Hutchins reception.

Jernigan took the ball over on a Bearcat favorite fake kick play for the conversion.

Methodically, 185-pound Choate carried 12, 7, 12 and 8 yards Franklin ran 25-yards on the left side of the field, scoring. Tindol ran to the other side for two points.

Bulldogs almost prevented the next Ballinger score, but Slaughter plunged over on fourth and two-to-goal. Jernigan's fake-kick-and-run routine failed.

By JOHN EDWARDS COAHOMA — Coahoma overwhelmed visiting Ballinger 25-7 in an offensive battle Friday night.

Bulldog defenders stubbornly refused to allow the Bearcats seemingly sure touch downs, repeatedly.

After tough losses, the Bulldogs needed the decisive wins here and last week in Hamlin.

Lee Downs Bobcats, 38-26

Bob Mathis of Midland Lee intercepted a fourth-quarter San Angelo pass and raced 80 yards to score a touchdown which put the Rebels ahead as they took a 38-26 win over the Bobcats.

Pat Lyons completed 14 of 25 passes for 207 yards and two touchdowns to keep Lee unbeaten in district competition. The Rebels are 2-0 in District 5-AAAA while San Angelo is 0-2 in loop play.

David Shipman rushed for 124 yards and two touchdowns to lead the powerful Permian Panthers to a 48-0 romp over the hapless Abilene Eagles. Quarterback Tommy Campbell completed eight of 13 passes for 133 yards and two touchdowns as Permian scored almost at will throughout the game.

The Permian defensive unit completely dominated Abilene. The Eagles were held to 17 yards rushing and only 73 yards in the air with All-State safety Joe Bizzell intercepting two Eagle aeriels. Bizzell also had one touchdown on a 67-yard punt return.

Odesa stunned Abilene Cooper, 22-12, with the passing combination of Rodney Allison and Mike Wortham clicked four times for 50 yards. Allison scored all three Odesa touchdowns on runs of one, eight and 10 yards. The wounded Cooper offense was held to just two first half touchdowns.

Robert Shaffer booted a 36-yard field goal with 1:17 left in the game to give Midland a 17-16 win over Big Spring. Midland was sparked by the running of Luis Perez and Steve Chastain. Perez scored one touchdown on a 76-yard run and Chastain scored on a 22-yard carry.

Big Spring scored on a 78-yard kickoff return by Earl Reynolds, a two-yard run by Ricky Steen and a 20-yard field goal by Steen. Steen missed what would have been the winning field goal from 37 yards out with 16 seconds left in the game.

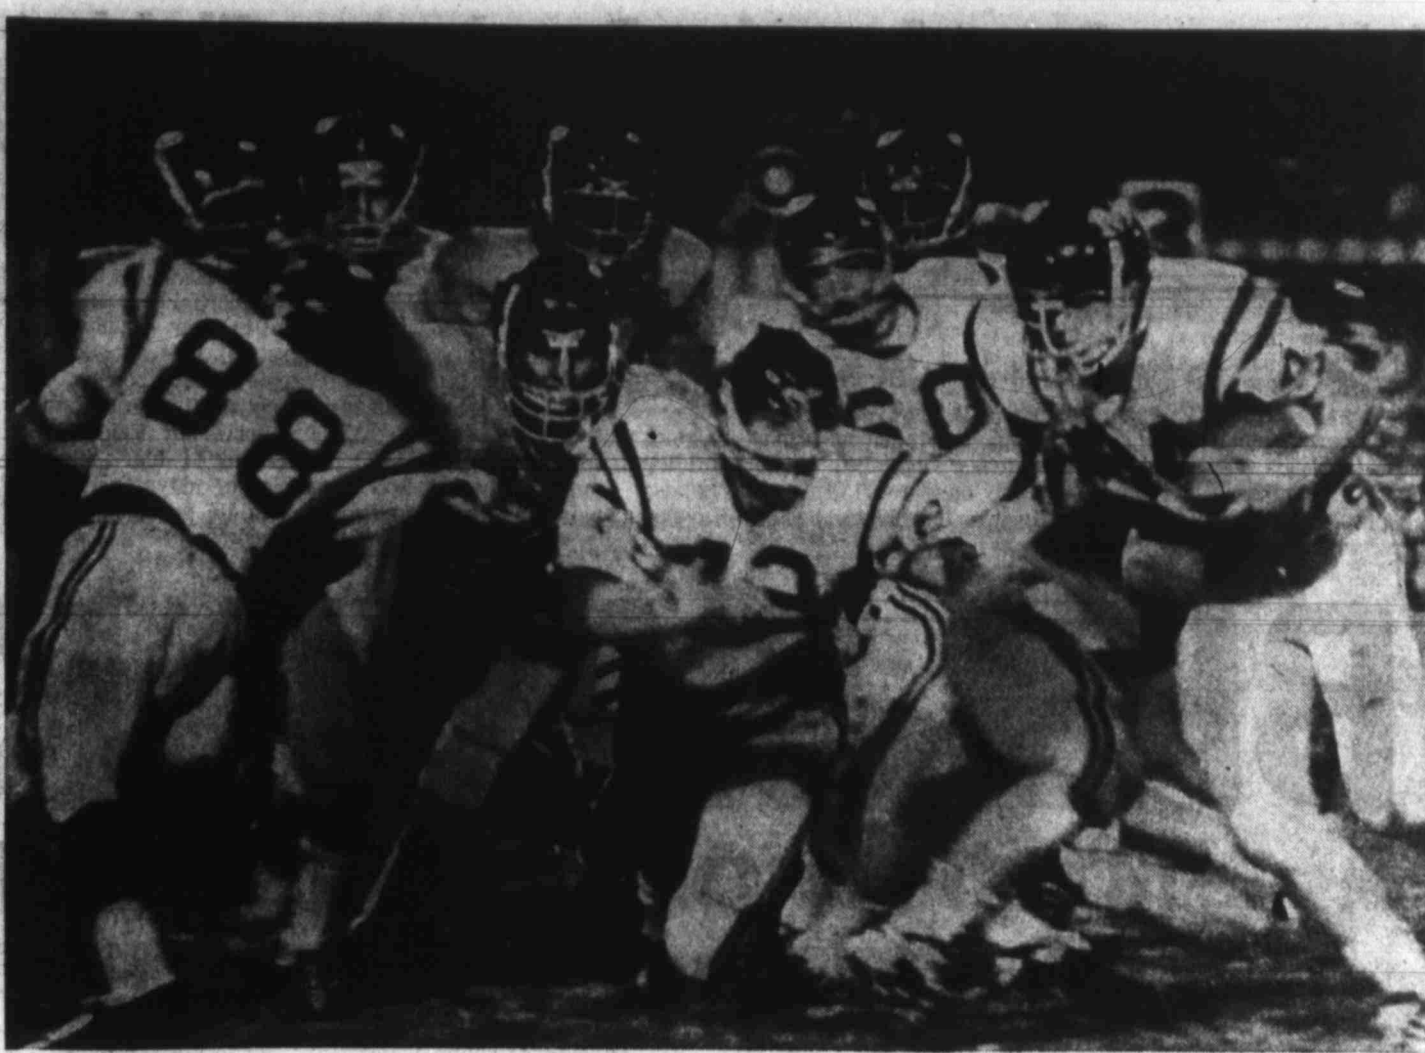

In district play this week, Abilene visits Midland, Cooper hosts Lee, Odesa visits San Angelo and Big Spring visits Permian. The Big Spring Permian game is a Saturday night contest; the rest of the schedule is on Friday night.

Miss Softball Sets Elections For Monday Night

New officers will be elected at a Monday night meeting of the Miss Softball America Association.

The conclave gets under way at 7 p.m. in the Runnels Junior High boys' gymnasium. George Colvin, who served as president last season, said that all girls who performed in the association last year are eligible to be in attendance and cast ballots.

The association last season was made up of 15 minor and four major league teams.

CHASTAIN RAMBLES — Midland Bulldog fullback Steve Chastain (34) goes for short yardage and a first down during the Midland-Big Spring game Friday night. Chastain rushed for 135 yards in the game which was won by Midland, 17-16. Identifiable players in the picture are Midland's Lance Faris (80), William Goode (72) and Daniel Randolph (88).

COLTS ARE 1-3

Baltimore To Host Dallas Cowboys

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, fighting to avert early elimination from title contention in the National Football League, host the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys Sunday.

The game, part of a nationally televised doubleheader, will begin at 4 p.m., EDT. Reeling with a 1-3 record after losing three straight in Baltimore, the Colts will be in the rare role of underdogs for a home game. The Cowboys, 3-1, are three-point favorites.

The meeting between the two teams will be the first since Baltimore downed Dallas 16-13 in the 1971 Super Bowl. The Cowboys, far from overpowering despite a winning record, plan to start Ron Sellers and Billy Parks at wide receiver in place of Bob Hayes and Lance Alworth.

Defensive end Larry Cole of Dallas will miss the game with a sprained knee and will be replaced by Tody Smith, a young ba Smith—who is out for the year following knee surgery. Linebacker Chuck Howley is a doubtful starter for the Cowboys because of a pulled hamstring muscle, but defensive tackle is expected to play in his 159th consecutive game despite a foot injury. With veteran running backs Tom Mate and Norm Bulaich ailing, Baltimore probably will start a pair of second-year runners, Don Nottingham and Don McCauley.

Nottingham has taken over as the top Baltimore rusher as Bulaich has been sidelined repeatedly by leg injuries. Rookie Glenn Doughty, one of Baltimore's second-round draft choices, is expected to see a lot of action Sunday and may even start.

Doughty was activated for the first time last week, but played only on the special teams. With wide receiver Eddie Hinton on the hand squad because of an injury, however, Doughty has practiced with the first unit most of the week.

'Pokes Activate Mark, George

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys announced Saturday, just before their football game with Baltimore, that defensive end George Andre and cornerback Mark Washington have been activated from the injured list.

Andre, an 11-year veteran, had been suffering with back problems. Washington is a third-year player and considered a rising star.

Forsan Girls Open Slate Tuesday Night

FORSAN — The Forsan High School Buffalo Queens will kick off this year's basketball activity Tuesday night against the always-powerful Klondike Cougars. Three girls games are to be played. The junior high girls play at 5 p.m. and the junior varsity at 6:30 p.m. which will start at 8 p.m.

The Buffalo Queens have had unusual success over the years. Records by year:

1966-67	32-7 season	10-0 District
1967-68	27-9 season	8-0 District
1968-69	25-6 season	10-0 District
1969-70	21-11 season	9-1 District
1970-71	21-8 season	10-0 District
1971-72	23-8 season	10-0 District

In the past six years, they have amassed a total record of 152 wins against only 49 defeats, an average of 75 wins, 8 losses over a six-year period. In district competition over this same six-year period, they have won 57 of 58 district games, their only defeat coming at the hands of Bronte 66-63 in 1970.

In addition, they will this year, be going for their 13th consecutive District and Bi-District championships, having already won these two titles each year since 1960.

Gone from last year's championship team are All-District guard Deby Fryar and Kay Woodley, who was perhaps the most valuable player on the team as she played both guard and forward.

However, from the seven girls who alternated at the six starting positions, five return to lend promise to another successful year. They are: All-District junior forward Brenda Cowley; All-District senior forward Kathy Reed; Kim Kuykendall, senior guard; Darla Earnest, junior guard; and Becky Strickland, junior, who has been switched from last year's forward position to guard.

Up from the junior high team which was also a district winner with a 14-3 record, are the following freshmen who offer hope for the future: Letha Strickland and Teresa West, forwards, and Sheryl West, Sara Thixton, Mary Moreno, and Cindy Day, guards.

These will be the first games to be played in Forsan's new basketball gymnasium which features the new sports-thread floor, a synthetic surface becoming popular in today's new gyms.

Brownfield Rips C-City

BROWNFIELD — The Brownfield Cubs romped to a 36-7 win over the Colorado City Wolves in a District 3-AAA clash here Friday night.

Brownfield is now 5-1 for the season and holds a 2-0 district mark. Colorado City is 0-2 in district play and 4-2 for the season.

Brownfield opened the scoring with a five-yard run by quarterback Ricky Willis in the first quarter. Russell Lepard booted the PAT. Later in the first period, Willis scampered 20 yards for his second touchdown of the night. Again Lepard booted the PAT to give Brownfield a 14-0 lead.

Colorado City scored its only touchdown in the second quarter, on a three-yard run by halfback Melvin James.

Brownfield scored two points in the third quarter when guard Troy Jenkins trapped a Colorado City halfback in the end zone for a safety.

Bronte Belts Sands, 48-0

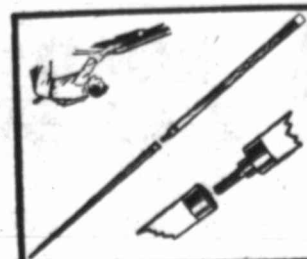

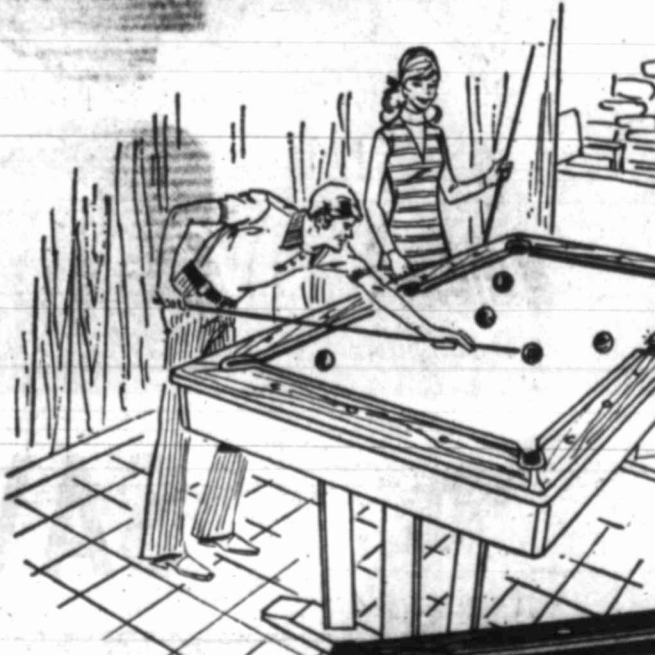

ACKERLY — The Sands Mustangs are still looking for their first win of the 1972 season. Friday night, the Mustangs, still stinging from the 46-0 loss to Bronte the week before, were joined by Bronte, 48-0.

Bronte scored in every quarter to take the District 3-B contest. Bronte has a 2-0 district mark while Sands is 0-2 in the conference.

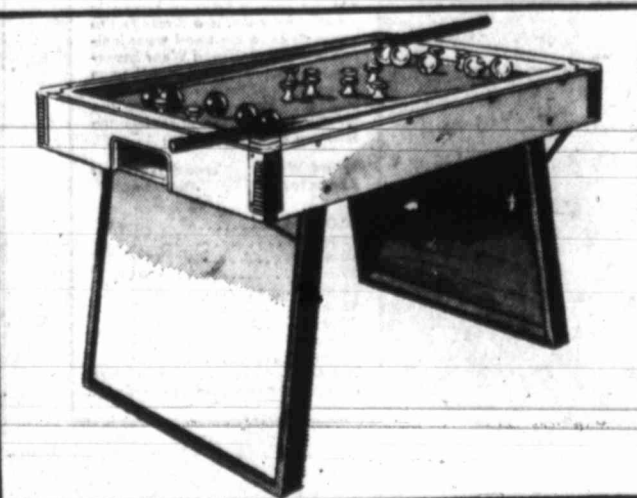

Tailback Alan Barbee and halfback Mark Duncan led the Longhorn assault with three touchdowns apiece. In the first quarter, Barbee scored on runs of five and 40 yards. Duncan added a one-yard run for the first period touchdown.

In the second quarter, Barbee and Duncan scored on five-yard runs to give Bronte a 30-0 halftime bulge.

In the third period, Duncan scored on an 18-yard run and Danny Carper scored on a one-yard carry. The final Bronte score came on a one-yard plunge by Bobby Reyes in the final period.

Hayakawa Steps Down

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - S. I. Hayakawa, his "mission accomplished" as peacemaker while president of California State University at San Francisco, is heading for quieter academic pursuits.

The 66-year-old semanticist, who became a national public figure for his tough handling of campus radicals during four months of bombings and rioting in 1968-69, resigned Friday, effective in June.

"Now I feel that things are in order - mission accomplished - I feel I can relax and go back to things that are more close to my own orientation," said Hayakawa.

A faculty speech advocating use of police gained Hayakawa wide acclaim in California, especially from the college system's trustees - who made him acting president. A subsequent incident catapulted Hayakawa into the national eye.

He leaped on a sound track which was blaring proactivist comments, ordered the radicals to "get the hell out of here," and yanked the wires from the loudspeakers.

Sex Question
 Your Good Health
 Dr. G. C. Thosteson

The following question is coming so frequently now that I think it definitely needs an answer. Whether these questions are coming because of increasing "sexual freedom" or because more girls are at last becoming aware of the danger is beside the point.

Dear Doctor: When a girl asked if it was possible to become pregnant without intercourse you said, "Yes, some girls wind up pregnant after heavy petting."

I was very surprised and now a little scared. I'm 16 and refused to have intercourse with my boyfriend, but we do quite a bit of heavy petting. Is it possible to get pregnant if the sperm just gets on your hands?

What percentage of girls have gotten pregnant that way? You also said that once the male sperm reaches the moist surfaces, it can travel some distance in search of an ovum. How much distance? How long can a sperm live once it is in the body? - W.R.

I have no idea what percentage of girls become pregnant from intimate petting; all I know is that people associated with homes for unmarried mothers tell me that it keeps happening - always to the astonishment of the girl involved.

Sperm on the hands doesn't, of course, cause pregnancy - but if the sperm, while still viable, is carried to the vaginal tract, then it can.

The sperm does not live long. Depending on temperature, available moisture, and other conditions, its survival is relatively brief. However, if it is still alive on reaching the vaginal tract, it lives and remains active for somewhere around 48 hours. It is a microscopic cell, much too small to be seen without a microscope. Under a microscope, it proves to have a sort of tail making it resemble a miniature penguin. With that tail it can "swim" or move through surface fluid. If an ovum (egg) is present, or if one is released within the sperm's lifetime, and the two meet, then pregnancy results. Exactly how far a sperm can travel is a little hard to say with exactness, but from evidence such as the occasional occurrence of a tubal pregnancy, it must at least be a number of inches. Quite conceivably it is much farther than that.

The important point is that it has happened, and continues to happen, and will continue to happen so long as girls don't know about it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Ultrasonic rays have proved quite effective in painlessly dissolving calcium deposits in joints and treating bursitis. Have any experiments been conducted in the use of ultrasonic rays to reduce or dissolve cataracts? If so, what have been the results? - D.M.D.

Experimentation in this field has been done and is continuing, but to my knowledge the results are not too encouraging.

The intense heat generated at the focal point of the sound waves can be quite destructive to certain types of tissue.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If one is counting calories, would there be any advantage to taking some kind of instant protein? A friend says it gives her an abundance of energy and everybody counting calories should take it. Are there any calories in it? - O.F.

If it's protein, you can be sure it represents calories in the day's total. If your friend takes it instead of some other form of protein, that's one thing. If she takes it in addition to her reducing diet, that means she's adding some weight.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Last Secrets of Reducing," tells you how naturally and without gimmicks - to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a zip code, stamped envelope.

Want The Cook

Dear Abby
 Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of a more or less happy marriage - mostly less - my husband ran off with our cook. I miss her terribly and cannot seem to replace her.

With your vast knowledge and experience in matters of this kind, will you please advise me how to get her back, leaving my husband where he is?

Don't tell me to have somebody bump him off because I don't have that kind of money.

FAY IN DAGUSCAHONDA, PA.

DEAR ABBY: Place an ad in the classified section of your local newspaper, and make her an offer she can't refuse.

DEAR ABBY: Billy and I live next door to his parents, and that's my problem. You see, they own a couple acres of land, and they are letting us park our trailer on it free. In a way, it's helping us because Billy is going to college and we can't afford to live anywhere else.

Billy's mother is constantly over here checking up on my housekeeping. I have absolutely NO privacy, Abby. She barges in constantly. Also, she keeps bringing cakes and cookies and pies here for Billy when she knows I've been trying to keep him on a diet. (He is 60 pounds overweight.) She keeps telling me I am starving him to death, but I'm not. Billy's will power isn't worth a bean.

He is gaining and I am losing. I went from 130 pounds to 105 in three months, and I'm 5 feet 7 inches.

Please help me before I lose my mind.

NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR WRECK: Tell that tower of Jello you are married to - he had better tell his mother to respect your privacy. And if things don't improve, insist on a parking your trailer somewhere else. In your present setup, your marriage isn't worth a bean.

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago I lost a beautiful 21-year-old daughter in a car accident. She was driving alone and the driver of the other car ran a red light and struck her car, killing her instantly. There were many witnesses, who all agreed on what happened. The man who hit her is quite well off.

I can be in a grocery store or anywhere in public and people I hardly know will come up to me and ask, "What did you get out of your daughter's accident?"

I reply, "The loss of a daughter."

This may be considered a rude answer, but I don't think it's anybody's business. If you agree with me, please print this in your column. Maybe they will see it and realize how cruel and heartless they are.

BROKENHEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yours was not a rude answer. I think it was very touching, and more than they deserved.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of my fiancée's mother? I have been engaged to her son for two years, and she still refuses to meet me because she is being "loyal" to his ex-wife. Thanks for your opinion.

LOU IN LONG BEACH

DEAR LOU: Much would depend upon some facts which are unknown to me. Did you in any way contribute to her son's divorce? If not, his mother is grossly unfair, and you should consider yourself lucky you don't have to spend any time with her.

'Come To The Country Fair'

By JO BRIGHT

MRS. J. W. DICKENS
Greets guests as 'Minnie Pearl'

Who doesn't enjoy a "Country Fair"? There's one here today which will attract women from nine area towns as Big Spring hosts the District 8 meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority.

Approximately 100 women are expected to attend the event in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base where members of the two local chapters, Alpha Chi and Mu Kappa, will greet visitors to their "Country Fair".

The local women will wear attire to emphasize the theme of the conference, and decorations, including a number of antiques, will be reminiscent of a bygone era.

Participants will represent chapters in Big Spring, Andrews, Crane, Fort Stockton, Kermit, McCamey, Midland, Odessa and Snyder.

District president is Mrs. Priscilla Webb of Monahan who will be the presiding officer. Her theme for the 1972-73 year is "Keys to Happiness: Love and Service".

Mrs. Clovis Hale is president of Alpha Chi, and Mrs. W. L. McMullan heads Mu Kappa. Mrs.

J. W. Dickens, as "Minnie Pearl," will extend the welcome. Chairmen include Mrs. McMullan, invitations and publicity; Mrs. Kenneth Lord and Mrs. Bill Narrell, decorations; Mrs. Dickens, welcome; Mrs. Collin Reese, Mrs. Jack Price, Mrs. C. W. Smith and Mrs. Charles Campbell. Members of Alpha Chi have obtained favors for the visitors. Homemade gift items which will be given as attendance prizes, were arranged by Mrs. Joyce Walker.

Registration starts at 11 a.m., and the business session will be held immediately following a noon luncheon. Discussions will explore possible district projects (which all chapters support), and those chosen will be announced at the conclusion of the conference.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha is an international sorority which was chartered in 1930. The young organization grew rapidly at first, until the difficulties of the depression years required a revision of the program to meet the changing times. Since that time it has grown to include chapters in every state and several foreign countries. As both an educational and service sorority, it provides opportunities for personal growth as well as numerous avenues to assist in community endeavors.

SOME LUCKY woman at today's ESA meeting will win this painting which is being offered as a door prize. Viewing it are presidents of the host chap-

HANDMADE attendance prizes will be awarded at today's conference. Showing some of the items are members of the host chapters. Left to right, they are Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. Lonnie Zant, Mrs. Collin Reese, Mrs. John Walls, Mrs. Joyce Walker and Mrs. John Wilson.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Janice Elaine Wilson and Gary David Blount at 7:30 Saturday evening in the East Fourth Baptist Church. The Rev. Dale Cain, pastor, performed the rites at an altar graced with an arched canopy holding white tapers and flanked by baskets of white gladioli.

Traditional nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Dale Cain, pianist, who also accompanied Larry Wolz of Abilene, vocalist. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eugene Wilson, 1306 Pennsylvania, and Blount is the son of Mrs. A. D. Blount, 1507 E. 5th, and the late Mr. Blount.

The bride wore a formal-length gown fashioned with a gathered organza skirt and a lace bodice underlined with polyester crepe. The bodice was styled with a rounded neckline and long lantern sleeves that were cuffed at the wrist. The empire waistline and upper sleeves were accented with embroidered braid laced with velvet ribbon. A tiered veil edged with lace was held with a Juliet cap, and the bride carried a cascade of white carnations and roses with satin streamers.

Miss Kay Clayton was maid of honor and Miss Shirley Watkins was bridesmaid. The attendants were attired in floor-length gowns of blue crepe with empire lines. Blue velvet ribbon high-lighted the waistline, and the bodice featured a scooped neckline and cap sleeves. They carried blue carnation nosegays and wore blue headpieces with streamers and flower blossoms flowing down the back.

Randy Thomas served as best man, and Jim Grifford was groomsmen. Serving as ushers and altar taper lighters were Barry McGonagill and Donnie Templeton.

The bride will graduate from Big Spring High School in January. Blount is a BSHS graduate and is presently employed by Berkley Mobile Homes. The couple will reside in Big Spring.

A reception honored the newlyweds in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. A white ruffled net cloth, over blue, covered the serving table which was centered with a tiered cake topped with white doves. A blue and white floral arrangement completed the setting, and crystal appointments were used. Refreshments were served by Miss Linda McClendon and Miss Paula McClendon.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Brown Sr., the bridegroom's grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wolz, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Brown Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Blount, all of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wolz, Hobbs, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Brown, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Bennie A. Brown, San Antonio; Mrs. M. G. Claybrook of Joshua, the bride's grandmother; Mrs. Dennis Harter, Fort Worth; and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Claybrook, Burleson.

NATIONAL B&PW WEEK Business And Professional Women Mark Anniversary

The pioneer champions of women's rights, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will observe the 44th annual National B&PW Week today through Saturday. In conjunction with the week, the Texas Federation of B&PW Clubs is promoting passage of an Equal Legal Rights Amendment to the state constitution which will appear as No. 7 on the general election ballot Nov. 7.

Although adoption of the amendment is the immediate concern for B&PW, equal legal rights for women is a continual goal of the clubs, and they have long emphasized the value of and need for women in the business world.

LOCAL EVENTS

Events scheduled by the local club in observance of the week begin today with a tea from 3 to 5 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Charles Summers, 1812 Benton. Miss Helen Willard, tea chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. L. S. Bonner, Mrs. Bert Affleck, Mrs. Jewel Wheeler, Mrs. Oma Buchanan, Mrs. Delpha Gordon, Mrs. Garland Morrison, Mrs. Bill Ward, Miss Leslie Lloyd, Mrs. A. D. Franklin, Mrs. J. B. Apple and Mrs. Robert Smart.

The club's regular business meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Coker's Restaurant, with members of the legislative committee as hostesses. Miss Moveida Rhine is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Philip Palmer and Mrs. Laura Erhardt. Mrs. Faith Hotchkin of Andrews, District 8 director, will be guest speaker at a "Dutch treat" dinner at 7 p.m., Friday at the Spanish Inn. Clubs from Colorado City, Midland and Lamesa have been invited to attend. Mrs. Summers is the event chairman, and Mrs. Gordon, Miss Willard and Mrs. Buchanan will assist. The local club, organized in BIG WEEK AHEAD — Miss Helen Willard, left, general chairman for the local observance of Business and Professional Women's Week, discusses the importance of voting for the Equal Legal Rights Amendment with Mrs. Bert Affleck.

1939, now has 42 members. In addition to promoting advancement of women in general, the club donates regularly to community service projects such as Westside Community Center, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Bible Fund and memorial gifts, plus annual gifts of food baskets for families at Christmas and Thanksgiving.

Many state and national projects receive support from local B&PW members. They contribute annually to several educational funds for women, the main one being the National Foundation Fund which has been established for 18 years. It provides a career advancement scholarship program; seminars in management techniques; fellowships and research grants; publication and reference service to individuals and groups concerning statistics about women; and background information for B&PW club programs.

SCHOLARSHIP

Mrs. Laura Boubek is current recipient of the local club's scholarship to Howard County Junior College. B&PW clubs are dedicated to enhancing and strengthening opportunities for all working women through education. Political knowledge is stressed by all members, and the current campaign to secure ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment is one example of their involvement. The amendment to the United States Constitution was passed by Congress in March of this year and must be ratified by three-fourths of the states within seven years if it is to become the 27th amendment. It would provide the same rights for women as the proposed state amendment. So far it has been ratified by 20 states and voted down by five states.

If the state amendment passes Nov. 7, state law will be changed regardless of the final outcome of the national legislation. If Texas voters say no to the amendment, the state constitution will not be changed at this time and Texans will have to wait for results of the national legislation. If the amendment is ratified nationally, states must automatically discontinue any discriminatory practices.

Educational Funds Go To Women

"The main objective of the Altrusa International Relations Committee is to promote mutual understanding between people of all nations," said Miss Jeanette Barnett to local Altrusans Thursday at Coker's Restaurant.

Miss Barnett related ways Altrusa International assists women throughout the world, putting emphasis on the in-project.

"It is not a scholarship, fellowship or usual grant for graduate study," said Miss Barnett. "It is money given at a time of crisis when a woman graduate student runs out of funds and faces having to give up her studies without an advanced degree."

Grants-in-Aid are given to graduate women students in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East who are enrolled in an accredited school in a country other than their own in which Altrusa is established. Mrs. Barnett said the grants also help build friendship and mutual understanding of diverse ways of life in various countries.

As of May 31, 1972, a total of $643,696.50 was given to 1,280 women from Latin America, Asia, the Middle East and Africa for graduate work.

"What better way to work for peace than to invest our money in talent to bring about a better life for the human family," concluded Miss Barnett. "We also invest our friendship and bring respect for each other's life styles. When we can communicate there can be miracles in cooperation."

Mrs. W. H. Kay presided, and Mrs. Udonia Bass was honored for her birthday. Mrs. Alferda Von Seuter of Abilene was a guest.

Ladies Auxiliary Undrapes Charter

The Ladies Auxiliary to the United Transportation Union undraped its charter, which had been draped in memory of T. A. Underhill, Thursday at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. C. G. Barnett presided, and Mrs. A. J. Cain served as pro-tem secretary. Members agreed to sponsor a bake sale with proceeds going to the fund for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Lewis.

Meeting times were changed from 2:30 p.m. to 2 p.m., the next one being Nov. 10 at the IOOF Hall.

Open Political Forum Will Explore Issues

The public is invited to attend a political forum at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 23 in Big Spring High School auditorium. The forum is being sponsored by the local branch of American Association of University Women, with Miss Ariene Estes and Mrs. Harold Rosson as chairmen.

BETROTHED — The engagement of Miss Wanda Faye Sandridge to Rex Donald Rainey is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hull, Rt. 2. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Rainey, 414 Westover Road. The wedding is slated Jan. 19, 1973, in College Baptist Church.

Lomax 4-H Club Maps Project

The major project of Lomax 4-H Club members this year will be a study on public speaking according to plans made Monday evening during a meeting in the home of Ralph Newmar.

Molly Adkins presided as the year's programs were determined and yearbooks completed. A guest register was made for use at the county-wide 4-H club awards banquet which will be held at 7 p.m., Saturday in the Big Spring High School cafeteria. Dirk Perry reported on the recent barrow show.

All club members were present, as well as two adult leaders, Mrs. Russell Tidwell and Mrs. L. G. Adkins.

Club members will view the Caylor art exhibit at Heritage Museum Oct. 28, and the next club meeting will be Nov. 13 in the home of Marta Prado.

Local Women Slated To Attend Convention

Two local adult Girl Scouts are planning to attend the 38th convention of the National Girl Scout Council in Dallas, Oct. 22-25. Mrs. C. M. Wozencraft will be attending her third national convention, having been a part of the 1963 convention in St. Louis, Mo. and of the Detroit, Mich., meeting in 1964. Miss Ariene Estes, field director, will be attending her first such meeting.

Nearly 10,000 Girl Scouts from around the world will converge on the convention center. Each Scout council is entitled to one delegate for each 1,000 girls registered in the council; thus, about 5,000 Scouts in attendance will be non-voting visitors.

Voting delegates attending from the West Texas Council will be Miss Beth Nowotny, Abilene executive director; Holman King, Abilene, president of the board of directors; Mrs. Carl Voss, Snyder, and Mrs. Gene Slover, Lamesa; both service unit chairmen.

Others attending from this area will be Miss Debbie Brame, Senior delegate from Lamesa; Mrs. Cliffo Graham, Roscoe; and Mrs. Jewel Jennett. Mrs. Louise Ward and Miss Sheila Moss, all field directors from Abilene, will also attend part of the convention.

Of great interest to all members of the movement is the proposed revision of the Promise and Laws, which have been the ethical code for the Girl Scouts since their beginning in 1912. The proposal basically involves an updating of wording rather than a change in concept. Results of this proposal and other agenda items will be publicized immediately following the convention.

Miss Estes and Mrs. Jennett will be leaving for Dallas Oct. 19 to attend the national meeting of the Association of Girl Scout Professional Workers which is held every three years just prior to the national Girl Scout convention. The AGSPW is concerned with the advancement and professional growth of all paid Girl Scout workers. In Miss Estes' absence, the local Scout Office will be closed from noon, Oct. 18, until Oct. 27.

FUTURE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown, 1502 Nolan, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beth Anne, to Tom E. Rawls, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Rawls of Deer Park. The couple plans a spring wedding in Houston.

FORGET IT AND IGNORE IT!

This is the wisest rule to follow whenever a well-meaning friend or relative—who does not have a medical degree—offers you some "advice" on how to treat an illness without having to bother calling a doctor. Such advice is almost always incorrect, even though it is offered with the best of intentions.

By heeding a friend's "medical advice" and not going to a doctor, you could lose much valuable time in getting the proper treatment for your condition. Today's doctors spend many, many years in medical school and in internships before they become qualified to practice medicine. And unless your friend has had identical training and experience, you should forget and ignore his advice and contact a doctor instead.

Television and its effect on children was the topic of a discussion led by Mrs. James Ellison for Gay Hill Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening at the school.

Parents present voiced a wide variety of views concerning what type of television today's youth should be exposed to and how much they should be allowed to watch. Most parents agreed television should be watched only after a student's homework is completed.

Mrs. J. M. Wilson presided at the association's first meeting of the school year. Mrs. Bob Wegner was elected representative to the state PTA Convention Nov. 15-17 in Fort Worth. Alternate delegates are Mrs. Lloyd Underwood and Mrs. Phillip Riddle Jr.

MR. AND MRS. KELSEY BANISTER

Made Three Moves In Last Six Months

By BARBARA LORD
Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey Banister have moved three times in the last six months, but they come to Big Spring with high hopes of staying for a long time. Banister is manager of Public Finance Corporation.

"When you work for a company as big as mine, you go wherever they need you at the time," said Banister, "but I think this will be a more permanent position. We hope so."

Mrs. Banister (Annis) has become an expert at packing and unpacking the couple's household goods and personal belongings. After less than a month in their home at 1605 Cardinal, it already looks settled and organized with attractive Spanish furnishings.

The Banisters have been married 3 1/2 years, and this is their fifth home. She was born and reared in Pampa, and he is from Clarendon where they met while both attended Clarendon Junior College. After their marriage they moved to Amarillo for 1 1/2 years, then to Lubbock for 1 1/2 years. Banister was then transferred back to Amarillo where the couple stayed for three months before moving to Galveston for another three months.

Mrs. Banister isn't really new to Big Spring. She was born here, but her family moved to Pampa when she was two years old. She prefers West Texas to the Galveston area. She likes smaller towns, and said the humidity in Galveston is too high for her.

When work allows, Banister spends his leisure time playing golf, fishing or hunting. Like many husbands, he is glued to the television during football season and is an enthusiastic fan of about any sports event.

Although Mrs. Banister has worked most of the time since being married, she doesn't mind staying home and taking care of household responsibilities. Time spent in the kitchen preparing meals is a pleasure for her, and sewing rates high as a hobby. She is next to the youngest in a family of 11 children, and the homemaking arts come natural to her.

"Since we don't have any children yet, I really get bored sitting home all day long," she said. "That's why I want to get a job. There's not enough work here to keep me busy all alone, but if we had children I'd love staying home all day. Until then, I'll keep working." She has already begun the job-hunting process here.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

How wealthy we would be this time of the year if we had as much heavy money in our pockets as there is light, leafy gold falling from the trees.

Although we have not had frost, the trees in our area are turning loose of their leaves, particularly the Chinaberry and native walnut. The mimosa's have taken on a stricken appearance and have only the little pods left to crackle in the breeze.

The prettiest sight right now is provided by the Michaelmas or October daisies that may be seen in scattered spots about the city. One of the greatest concentrations of the gorgeous purple flowers is at the FRED EAKER home at 1500 Main. Mrs. Eaker got her start from Mrs. HARRY LEES many years ago and set the foundation for a really beautiful sight when the flowers are in full bloom . . . and the blooming period lasts only about 14 days. Like irises, they only bloom for a short time, but it's a beautiful time while it lasts.

SGT. and MRS. EDWARD CRUZ returned Thursday from a 19-day trip to the New England states. They joined the Fall Foliage tour at Dallas in late September for the trip that covered 11 states. Mrs. Cruz thought the foliage in Vermont and New Hampshire prettier than in any of the other areas. They went to Niagra Falls, Canada, for an overnight stay before spending two days in New York City and two more in Washington, D.C. In Boston they viewed the beautiful mother church of the Christian Science faith . . . in fact, they were most impressed by the beauties of these United States at this time of the year.

The LONNIE COKERS plan to leave Monday for a trip to Athens, in East Texas. They will spend about a week visiting relatives and friends in east and north Texas.

When MR. and MRS. ERVEN FISHER JR. went to New Orleans, La., for a business and pleasure meeting, they took some of their time to stop in Longview to visit former Big Springers, MR. and MRS. GLEN FAISON. The Faisons are happy in Longview but miss the friends they left in Big Spring and asked the Fishers to remember them to everyone.

The CLYDE ANGELS are on a sentimental journey back to her birthplace in Enterprise, Ala. They haven't been there in 25 years and were looking forward to noting the change in the place since they last saw it. This is the town that was completely sustained by cotton until an infestation of boll weevils wiped it out. The wipeout was only temporary because the town fathers found out about industry and pursued it. There is now a large statue of a boll weevil in the town square and people who wonder at such a construction can find out by asking how this fearsome little blight brought such a great change in the growth of the sleepy little cotton town.

The Angels planned a stop in Longview before going on to Alabama where they will also visit in Montgomery.

Enjoyed a long telephone visit with No. 1 son, Tom, Thursday night. He had had "Ma-Bell" visits with two former Big Spring High classmates, First, SANDY SLOAN called from Topeka, Kan., to catch up on what goes on in Dallas. She has been a psychiatric therapist at the Topeka VA Hospital and has now left the position and hopes to get out Texas way soon. The other caller was LOGAN BOLES who is a pilot for American Airlines based in the San Francisco, Calif., area. He was in Arlington for some additional training.

Had a nice newsy letter from MRS. TOMMY STEPHENS who lived here until several years ago before moving back to Florence, Ala. If the Stephenses could have their Big Spring friends with them in their native Alabama they'd like it just fine. Anne says they are enjoying the fruits of their bountiful fall garden and also they like living on the lake at Florence. Little Tommy is a whiz at water skiing but the rest of the family are a little slow at picking it up. Pam is a senior in high school and hopes to enter Auburn next year.

We're always interested to know what our Big Spring people are doing whether here or away. Let me know by calling me at 263-2542.

Concerts, Art Exhibits Scheduled This Fall

Zip! And that first Community Concert program is right upon us — 8 p.m. Monday at the Municipal Auditorium. It is "I Do! I Do!" Jan De Hartog's chronicle of marriage for Michael and Agnes over 50 years of ups and downs and encooned as an American favorite by Hugh Cronyn and Jessica Tandy as "The Four Poster."

You may want to jot down the other dates for the season: Nov. 18, Ballet; Jan. 29, "Young Americans;" Feb. 24, Judson Maynard, organ concert; March 31, Ronnie Kole musical group.

This is Texas Poetry week, and the Howard County Free Library has an interesting display of works to spotlight Texas bards. Also a timely addition is "The Political Market Place," which tells you everything you wanted to know (and more) of campaign services, elected officials, etc. The library also has a television sponsor and service directory, in case you want to know to whom to write if you have bees.

Heritage Museum's exhibit of more than 50 paintings continues to draw well. Since it went on there have been 1,532 who have registered. Last week, in addition to a few groups, out-of-town visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Watts from the Lubbock Library, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Carter from San Antonio. Howard Duff of Edmonds, Wash., who was here at the opening of the show, called from Oklahoma City to say that Dean Krakel, director of the Cowboy Hall of Fame Art Museum plans to come here during the time the Caylor show is up.

The works of Wilson Hurley and John Free will go up at Baker Gallery of Fine Art, 13th & L, Lubbock, Friday 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. and again Sunday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. when the artists will be present. The show will continue. The general exhibit starts Oct. 23 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday through Nov. 15 free to the public. Hurley has achieved such unique effects with light and perspective that his works are increasing in demand. In addition to a vivid style in his western paintings, John Free also is expert in bronze sculpture.

"The Museum of the Southwest," 1705 W. Missouri, Midland is presenting a one-man show by James C. Christensen, which continues to Nov. 12. The display includes 70 works, among them watercolors, oils, acrylics, oil pastels, drawings, etchings, lithographs and line cuts. He has had numerous shows in several states and in Mexico. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays. Admission is free.

North Texas State University is setting up a series of events to highlight the formal opening of the new $3 million art building, Oct. 27 to Nov. 11. There will be a collectors show from the collections of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Marcus and Mr. and Mrs. John Murchison, all of Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Winer of Fort Worth.

Mary Costa, famous Metropolitan opera singer, will appear on the Hardin-Simmons University campus Nov. 6 as part of the Artist Series. Rick Nelson, hit recording artist, is booked for Dec. 4. Programs are at Behrens Chapel at 8:15 p.m. Said the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner of Miss Costa: "She is unreasonably beautiful and has a voice like audible sunlight."

Peter Nero, who has won high critical acclaim and a wide following for the style and technical brilliance with which he plays jazz, classical or popular piano, is booked for Friday on the Texas Tech Artist Series. He is backed by bass and drums. Concert time is 8:15 p.m. (tickets $1.50-$5). Speaking of Tech, "The Schools of Siena" is the topic for the third lecture in a fall seminar on art of the Italian Renaissance. Rabbi Alexander S. Kline will lead the discussion at the 10 a.m. session in the Tech Museum's assembly room. Admission is $2 ($1 students).

Fans Cool Costs Of Summer Heat

It pays to have an attic fan in your home, even if you have central air conditioning, advise authorities at Scovill's NuTone division. It reduces air conditioning operating costs by eliminating excessive heat buildup in the attic, and prevents rot by keeping moisture out of the insulation.

Learn To Say 'I Do! I Do!'

The joy and laughter that comes from a good marriage — as well as the tears — will seem familiar to many in the audience Monday evening as "I Do! I Do!," the ever-popular and charming chronicle of wedded life comes to the stage at Municipal Auditorium.

It is a fine choice to open the Community Concert Series. Described by critics as a "happy show, a charming, disarming comedy with music," it should please everyone in the family.

Playing the leads will be Don Grilley and Lesley Stewart (the Grilleys) who have inherited the Broadway musical from some very impressive couples.

To follow such greats of the stage as Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy, Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer, Robert Preston and Mary Martin, may seem like a formidable task, but each couple has, in its own special way contributed the feelings of love and the experience of dedication which have kept Jan de Hartog's chronicle of marriage alive through two decades of production.

Mr. Cronyn and Miss Tandy (the Cronyns) first brought it to the stage as the highly successful comedy, "The Fourposter," in 1951. Shortly after becoming a Broadway hit, the movie version was released. In 1966, the play returned to Broadway as the musical, "I Do! I Do!," having been adapted by authors, Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt.

The musical comedy hit traces 30 years of the happy marriage of Michael and Agnes, from its first fumbling night, through the births of their children, the quarrels, the ups, the downs, the tears, laughter and pervading love that binds a couple together. And all of it is accompanied by a harvest of song and dance, becoming a tuneful tribute to the institutions of love and marriage.

Lesley Stewart, born in Wales, studied drama at Syracuse University and spent several summers in musical stock companies. Her first real break came when she took over

IT'S A SURE THING THAT "the honeymoon is over" when a couple starts to make a list of their mate's annoying habits. The husband and wife in this case — and cast — are Lesley Stewart and Don Grilley who will star in the touring Broadway musical, "I Do! I Do!," to be presented Monday evening on stage at the municipal auditorium.

A quiz concerning obesity and caloric count of foods began the program on weight reduction presented by Mrs. Marvin Sewell and Mrs. W. E. Wosenkraft for City HD Club Friday in the Sewell home, 407 Washington.

Mrs. Sewell said there are seven reasons people are overweight. They are habitual eating, social eating, lack of exercise, lack of diet knowledge, boredom, frustration or hereditary factors.

"The most help to women who want to lose weight is to learn to say 'no,'" said Mrs. Wosenkraft. She said people want to lose weight either for appearance or health reasons.

Members will lead games and serve refreshments at Big Spring Nursing Inn Tuesday. Items were donated at the meeting to be used in arts and crafts classes at Westside Community Center.

Birthday Observed Friday

The 89th birthday of Mrs. Nora White Lahey was celebrated Friday afternoon at Mountain View Lodge where she has resided for the past two weeks.

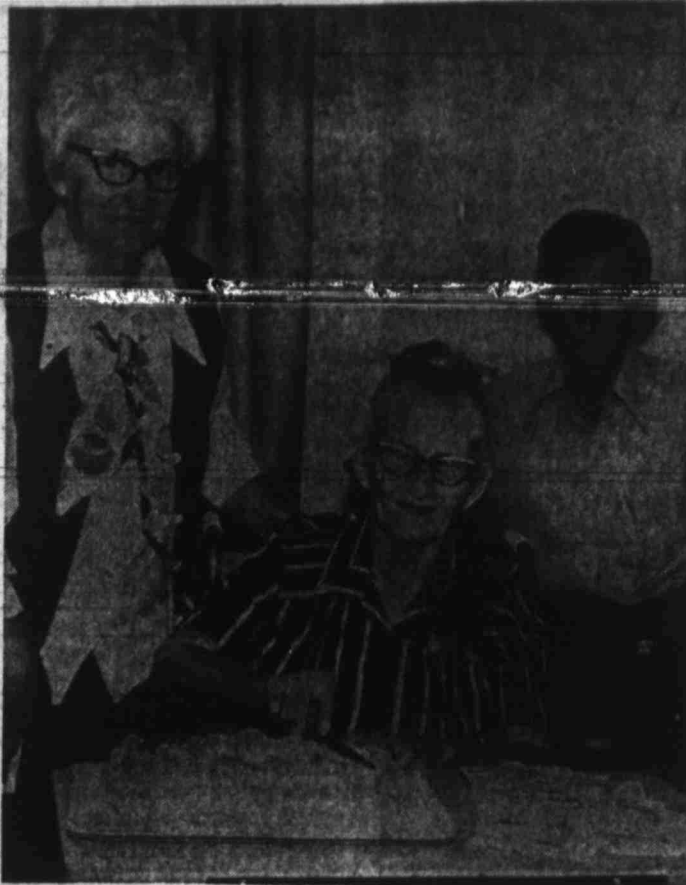

The party was hosted by her daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Morrison, and son, Parker White, both of Big Spring. Unable to be present were her two other sons, Leon White of Clifton and Leo White of Austin.

Mrs. Lahey, born in Shelby County Oct. 13, 1883, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William F. Parker. She married J. R. White June 21, 1902, and they made their home in Tenaha.

In August of this year, Mrs. Lahey moved to Big Spring, only recently becoming a resident of the lodge. She had nine brothers and four sisters; only one brother still survives. He is E. F. Parker of Tenaha.

Mrs. Lahey, a member of the Order of Eastern Star, also has held membership in the Methodist church for 75 years. She was always active in her church and, in early years, participated in organizations such as the PTA.

For Friday's party, Mrs. Lahey was presented a corsage of red roses and received other floral arrangements. The birthday cake was decorated with blue roses.

Windows Began In Dark Ages

The word "window" derives from the Dark Ages, when uncovered openings that admitted light and air to buildings were called "wind holes" or "wind eyes," according to researchers at Scovill's Caracod wood window division.

Army Chiefs In Uruguay Chafeing At Corruption

MONTEVIDEO — A military coup in Uruguay? Such a question would have seemed absurd five years ago when this small South American nation still was being described as an exemplary democracy. Despite grave economic problems and widespread social discontent, most Uruguayans then believed their country's solid democratic traditions would see them through the crisis.

Today, however, not all Uruguayans sound so convinced. For one thing, the economic malaise which underlies social discontent is, anything, considerably worse. The cost of living increased by 49 per cent during the first seven months of this year. According to a survey made by the statistical institute of Uruguay's national university, a family of four needs a monthly income of $140 just to subsist, yet the majority of the labor force earns only one-sixth that amount.

The peso has been devalued six times this year, and Uruguay owes $750 million in foreign debts, or more than all its exports can earn in the next two years.

Moreover, labor strikes which have become a way of life in Uruguay during the last decade, have taken on a note of desperation. "People are going hungry," says an Uruguayan journalist. "And that's never happened before." Though pinched for the monthly rent or the price of a new pair of shoes, the Uruguayan always ate well.

BAN ON BEEF
Recently, however, the government set a four-month ban on Uruguayan beef consumption in a desperate attempt to shore up the balance of payments. Consequently, the price of such replacements as chicken, lamb, pork and fish immediately soared beyond the purchasing power of the average Uruguayan.

Perhaps the most painful part of the situation is that Uruguayans can compare their current poverty with a time not too distant when Uruguay was called the "Switzerland of the Americas," a rich beef-and-wool-producing nation with an educated, homogeneous population and a strong fiddle class.

But welfare socialism encouraged Uruguayans to live beyond their means with the result that the country was practically bankrupt by 1967.

The most devastating by-product of Uruguay's social disintegration was an urban guerrilla group called the Tupamaros, Latin America's best-publicized and ablest left-wing terrorists.

BLAMES POLITICIANS
The Tupamaros blamed corrupt politicians and unprincipled businessmen for Uruguay's decline and demanded a revolutionary housecleaning. To achieve their goals, they robbed, kidnaped and killed foreigners as well as Uruguayan businessmen pushing the country to the edge of civil war.

In the last six months the Tupamaros have suffered serious reverses although the military has yet to deal the organization of death blow. Some 2,400 Tupamaros and sympathizers are in jail, including the group's founder, Raul Sendic.

Ironically, the military's success in putting down the Tupamaros indirectly has furthered the guerrillas' cause. Informed sources say the military is beginning to pay attention to some of the Tupamaros' demands.

"What worries me is that military officers no longer talk to us as frequently as they used to while they are constantly conversing with the seditious prisoners in the jails," said Hector Battle Correa, president of the state oil company.

PREOCCUPIED
Concerned Uruguayans long have been preoccupied with the makeup of the Tupamaro membership which included an unsettlingly high percentage of the country's educated elite.

In trying to establish the causes of Tupamaro violence, the traditionally nonpolitical military undoubtedly has learned a good deal about politics. Informed Uruguayan sources also say the Tupamaro prisoners have produced evidence of corrupt business practices among politicians in the traditional Colorado and Blanco parties, including followers of President Juan Maria Bordaberry.

Banning Freak Shows Illegal

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A state law banning freak shows is unconstitutional because it deprives a deformed person of his right to earn a living, the Florida Supreme Court has ruled.

"One who is handicapped or deformed in an unfortunate position because of physical handicaps or deformities, in no wise of his own choosing, must be allowed a reasonable chance within his capacities to earn a livelihood," the court said.

The decision upheld an appeal of the law by Norbert P. Terhune, a dwarf, and Stanley Bernat, born with deformed arms and professionally known as "Sealo the Seal Boy."

Most Americans To Turn Back Clock October 29

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans in 46 of the 50 states will turn their clocks back one hour at 2 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 29, when Daylight Saving Time officially ends this year.

It was not until 1967 that the U.S. Congress passed legislation requiring DST do so uniformly from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

However, the idea was first proposed by Ben Franklin, who pointed out back in the 1700s that it would be smart to save an hour of daylight by "posting nightfall."

Franklin's towering reputation as a scientist had been so great in America and in Europe where he had been the first American to receive an honorary degree from Oxford University and was the first American Minister to France, that nearly everybody believes that his proposal of DST was for purely scientific reasons.

Actually he was a lively night owl who loved the ladies, particularly after his wife Deborah died in 1773, Bulova Watch Co. researchers report, and he frequently rose very late in the day. He developed this habit in Paris at the French Court dominated by the fun-loving Queen Marie Antoinette. Not unnaturally, Franklin regretted that he thus missed so many of the summer's daylight hours.

Franklin's suggestion was not accepted until World War I — and then only as a wartime measure when various nations, including the United States, legislated Daylight Saving Time during the summer to cut electric power costs in war industries and to make blackouts more effective.

Before the 1967 Uniform Time Act became effective, only 18 states observed DST on a statewide basis.

Keep It Casual
Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ANOTHER: (Q.) This girl I like and I have a problem. A friend of hers came home from military training to see her. He is gone now and she is afraid she is pregnant. While he was here they had sex several times. She is 14 and I am 16. The guy in service is 18.

I think she loves him more than she loves me. What should I do? — Number Two in Florida
(A.) You imply but do not say that you have not had contact with the girl. I hope you haven't. If it is, urge her to ask her family to help her, and then keep out of the situation.

HAIR, FACE: (Q.) Girls do not even look at me. I have curly hair. I wish I could get it straight. But that isn't all. I have pimples all over my face. — 15, Male and Accused in Massachusetts
(A.) You can have that hair straightened by a good stylist. But I suggest you keep it as it is and let it grow. Longer curly hair is very appealing on males today. It is really more exciting than longer straight hair if it is kept properly.

You don't have to live with those eruptions either. A good dermatologist can straighten your face out. Remember to follow every instruction he gives you to a T.
Add a smile and confidence to your new hair and face, and start dating some girl you like.

UNDERARMS: (Q.) How can I get perspiration stains out of my tops? My mother won't let me shave under my arms and my blouses and dresses get stained. Also I can't wear anything sleeveless. — Wet and Messy in Maine
(A.) It is frequently hard to remove perspiration stains without damaging the material or the color of a dress or blouse. It is far better to avoid the stains.

You can do this by wearing dress shields with long or short-sleeve dresses. But it is even better to shave your armpits and use an antiperspirant.
Talk to your mother at length about the troubles ungrimed underarms are causing you and I believe she will see that her no-shaving rule is not too practical.

The first nine weeks have been completed at Garden City School. Students took exams Tuesday and Wednesday.

The seniors had a Homecoming Supper Friday evening featuring fried chicken. They also sold chances on two cherry cream pies that were given away at the game. To give the

Agriculture Is Backbone Of Economy In Martin

STANTON — Oil activity has been on the upswing in Martin County in recent months, but agriculture remains the stable backbone of the economy. The increase in drilling activity has probably brought added tax dollars to the governmental agencies, but actually most of the crews working the oilfields in the area live in Midland, Big Spring or Andrews.

But the farmers live right on the land in Martin County, strung out all the way across the county and surrounded by over 110,000 acres of green cotton.

The first bale in the county was over at Tarzan the last Saturday in September when Newell Tate ginned his bale at Planters Gin.

Actually it was just a few miles away from the Dawson County first bale over at Patricia, with just a few days difference in time. Over $500 worth of merchandise was presented to Tate, according to the Stanton chamber. The county agent, Billy Reager, says that "This looks like a good cotton crop year in Martin County." And then he added the same statements that all county agents in this area say this season. "If the first freeze holds off and it doesn't rain much more."

Shakespeare Not For Jimmy Brown

NEW YORK (AP) — A quiet strength exudes from every pore of actor Jim Brown. He speaks gently, but forcefully. It's much the way he played football. He would plow past optimistic would-be tacklers on his way to setting all sorts of college and professional football records, then walk slowly, very slowly, back to the huddle as though he couldn't run another inch. Then he would slam through the line again.

Brown, "Mr. Football" at Syracuse University and with the pro Cleveland Browns, quit the sport while at the top in 1966 and plunged into movies as he does everything else — totally. Starting with "Rio Conchos," he's made about a dozen films in his second career and while he's not quite "Mr. Movies," he has made an impact on the screen.

IN TOWN to promote his latest action offering, "Slaughter," Brown reflected on the images of the athlete and the actor.

"I think the athlete has always had a particular place, especially in the American male's viewpoint," he said, relaxing a ready-to-throw shape of 6-foot-2, 230 pounds that has been kept trim by a good deal of tennis, basketball and golf — but no football.

"I think movie stars have had a certain kind of superficial popularity, you know, based on an image that was developed. But the athlete has always had a following, you know, that went much deeper. Because I think the American male has always felt that physical combat was something he could identify with or something he could vicariously enjoy."

WHETHER ATHLETE or actor, to Jim Brown, "It's taking what you have and doing as much with it as you can."

"We all have a level we try to reach... But there's no way to combine the physical and the mental and come out 100."

"I like to do my thing and have it come out my thing. I don't want to be a Shakespearean actor. Not a Calvin Lockhart or another Polter... I like the hero or anti-hero type."

South Vietnam Stumps Elvis Global Special

NEW YORK (AP) — Elvis Presley is doing a global television special in Hawaii on Jan. 14, according to NBC. The network will tape the show for a later broadcast in these United States.

NBC says two-thirds of the 90-minute show will be "transmitted live via satellite" to Asian points that include South Vietnam. It's an intriguing idea, but it may prove a false alarm for Saigon viewers.

It would be a first of sorts for that war-torn country regardless of whether Elvis appeared on the U.S. military's Armed Forces Vietnam Network (AFVN) or on the government's television stations.

If the latter, it would mark a historic break in the government's usual television fare of Vietnamese soap operas, propaganda skits and occasional speeches by President Nguyen Van Thieu.

PROBLEMS POSED
But there are two things that probably will prevent Elvis' live debut on anybody's television station in South Vietnam. Thing number one is Congress. It's watching very carefully this election year how U.S. dollars are spent in Vietnam. It would get very surly if those dollars were spent building an earthbound facility capable of receiving Elvis Presley transmissions from space. There's a war on, you know.

Thing number two is that a spokesman for the Communications Satellite Corp. says no such earth station ever has been built in South Vietnam. Nor is it likely to be right now.

The cost of the stations range from a minimum of $3.5 million to a maximum of $5 million, he said.

COMSAT doesn't build the stations. When destined for commercial use, they're built by private contractors. Governments and private businesses get the tab and make the decisions on which transmissions the stations accept.

TWO SOLUTIONS
The COMSAT spokesman said there now are two ways the show could get to South Vietnam: (1) by modifying military satellite receiving stations at much cost and bother, or (2) by taping the satellite transmission in Thailand or Japan and flying the tape to Saigon.

NBC, whose primary interest in the show is how well it does in the United States, referred further questions about live Presley transmissions to RCA Records.

That is the company for which Presley records and whose subsidiary, RCA Records, is producing his Hawaiian show, according to a spokesman for the record company.

Questions about transmissions to South Vietnam caused some confusion there, but after several tries there was an answer: "Nothing has been done in terms of the South Vietnamese telecast by satellite."

"In other words, nothing has been finalized."

Peanuts Strip Named For TV

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the most consistently popular television specials are those featuring a golden statuette, a ski-nose comedian and a blockhead.

That's the Oscars, Bob Hope and good ol' Charlie Brown.

Since 1965, when CBS reluctantly agreed to take a chance with "A Charlie Brown Christmas," the "Peanuts" specials regularly have been in the top 10 in the ratings. The Peabody — and Emmy-winning Christmas show, in its seventh showing last year, placed fourth among all specials for the season.

B. Cosby Puzzled

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Part-time student Bill Cosby was studying the television ratings of his Monday night variety show and not liking what he found.

Unlike some stars who rationalize their showings in the ratings, he would not blame the blockbuster opposition: pro football on ABC and movies on NBC.

"I cannot accept the fact that, when you have Harry Belafonte and Sidney Poitier on your first show, that you can pull a low rating..." said the lanky ex-basketballer.

The first Cosby show placed 37th in the weekly Nielsen ratings, not bad for a new show. The second week saw the show in 47th place. So far there are no signs of panic at CBS. Cosby is set for a full season, and network bosses figure it sometimes takes a break-in period for audiences to grow accustomed to a variety series.

Some trade sources argue that both CBS and ABC erred in placing the Cosby and Julie Andrews shows at 10 p.m. Both stars have strong followings with the younger crowd, and 10 is past bedtime for many of them.

"That is another thing I don't understand: the Julie Andrews ratings," added Cosby. Her Wednesday night show opened in 34th place in the ratings, then dropped to 64th.

No matter what happens, he intends to continue his long-range plan to pursue his education. He earned his master's degree at the University of Massachusetts last summer and expects to have his doctorate in a couple of years.

Vietnamese Told Just Be Friends

NEW YORK (AP) — Political polls these days are falling upon us faster than autumn leaves. The definitive youth poll already has been done by CBS. It crept unnoticed into "60 Minutes" earlier this month and gave us the political word from 10 and 11-year-old pupils at the Border Star School in Kansas City, Kan.

"The largest difference, I think, is that McGovern is a liberal and Nixon is conservative," one youth said. "And I'm totally against the war and my brother in four years will be able to be drafted."

"And Nixon said in '68 that if any man cannot get us out of a war in four years he deserves no more. And he himself has not done this."

"I think McGovern said that he could end the war in 90 days if he got elected president," another boy said. "I don't think he can keep his promise."

Medicine Prices Depend On Dress, Or Time Of Day

Copy News Service
WASHINGTON — Mr. and Mrs. Joe America do not look forward to shopping for prescription drugs.
 Medicine buying is not a luxury; it's a necessity. There is an illness in the family; drug costs are high. But, the consumer has few choices because prescriptions are something over which he has little control.
 The doctor, not the consumer, selects the product. Frequently, the doctor even limits the product to a particular brand.
 The consumer pays his money and that is his only participation in the transaction.
 Some consumers are paying up to 10 times as much for their prescription drugs as others pay for the same thing.
 The only way out of this blind alley for the consumer, according to the Consumer Federation of America, is to repeal bans on prescription drug price advertising and allow competition and market forces to bring down prices.
 "Prescription Drug Pricing," a new study by the CFA, has been sent to state officials and congressmen. The report cites various court decisions, legislative and other actions to support repeal on the bans on prescription drug advertising.
REPRINT
 The report also contains a reprint of the March, 1972, Consumers Report price comparison of 94 drugs: "The Prescription Drug Police State." There is also an original CFA 17-state and District of Columbia survey of drug prices.
 "We conclude from this survey an almost total absence of competition in prescription drug prices," the report said.
 To officials in those states where drug price advertising prohibitions exist, CFA directed this message:
 "Consumers desperately need to know — before delivery — the price of this necessary but costly product.
 "As matters now stand, some consumers are paying up to 10 times as much as others for the same drugs. Consumers apparently know less about the price of prescription drugs — prior to delivery — than for any other product they buy. It's easier to find out in advance the cost of medical fees, auto and television repairs."
 According to the CFA study, prohibitions on drug price advertising are many times the result of administrative decisions — not law — made by industry-controlled state boards of pharmacy.
 The conclusion of the report, and the main thrust of lobbying effort for consumers have called for the repeal of state laws prohibiting prescription drug price advertising. They hold that the pharmacist is selling merchandise selected by doctors and that the purchaser has the right to know and to be able to compare the price of this merchandise before delivery. It is little wonder, the CFA report says, that consumers distrust the present system of dispensing prescription drugs.

 "This is particularly so when the Federal Trade Commission's list of 'most profitable rate of return industries' shows drugs and medicines heading the list."
DISCREPANCIES
 Case studies abound to document discrepancies in prices charged for the same drugs at different times, different places.
 Albert I. Wertheimer, assistant professor of pharmacy at New York State University, sent his students to 30 pharmacies in the Buffalo area during the last months of 1970. Each student carried a signed prescription for 12 tuss ornade capsules.
 During the survey, different students returned to most of the pharmacies three or four times. Despite the fact that the wholesale cost of tuss ornade was constant throughout the survey, prices at the 30 pharmacies not only varied widely but the price routinely varied at the same pharmacy by as much as 35 per cent.

 Wertheimer concluded that prices varied according to the customer's dress, his age, his race, the time of day or week he purchased the prescription and other irrelevant factors.
WOULD BENEFIT
 "The price of pharmaceutical services should not depend upon which pharmacist is on duty or upon the practitioner's mood, but rather upon sound professional and business principles," the CFA report said. It said that consumers feel the pharmacist, as well as the consumer, would benefit from advertised prices.
 CFA's survey shows that prescription drug prices vary widely within the same community and among communities across the country.
 For example, one pharmacy charges $15 for 100 capsules of penicillin G (400,000 units); another charges $1.50. One pharmacy charges $20 for 100 250-mg tablets of tetracycline; another charges $2.50.

 Thirty-five states prevent by law or regulation the advertising of prescription drugs by name or price. They are: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.
 In some cases, the laws do not specifically mention price but the state pharmacy boards interpret the regulation against advertising "directly or indirectly" as including price.

ASTROS ON MISSION Wash That Space Dust Right Out Of Their Hair

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — Astronauts on the Skylab mission will be able to wash their hair with a shower system designed for zero-gravity environment.

When the Skylab workshop is placed in orbit next year, astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz will be able to take earth-type shower baths, thanks to the ingenuity of researchers at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center.
 The shower cubicle, according to John B. Hall Jr. of LRC, is a collapsible fabric arrangement which will be anchored to the spaceship's deck and problems. Instead of flowing downward, the water sticks to the person and the shower walls and cannot be transferred to the drain.

 To overcome the flow problem, the researchers devised a vacuum-towel technique in which a small vacuum cleaner device sucks the water droplets from the wall, transporting them to the storage site. In addition, the bather uses special towels.

San Antonio 'Fences' Hit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — In what makes this South Texas city appear to be a major funnel for stolen goods, more than 30 officers raided suspected "fence" operations here Thursday night and early Friday.
 Detectives said stolen property was found at nine of 13 homes searched, and five persons were arrested in the second raid in as many weeks.
 Police said they already had recovered an estimated $120,000 worth of stolen property from 42 San Antonio area homes in the current crackdown.
 About 20 persons have been jailed in previous raids, and some of the seized property has been traced to burglaries as far away as Phoenix, Ariz., plus a wide section of South Texas, Police Capt. R. A. Benfer said.
 Both he and Police Inspector Jack Hutton said it appears burglars are bringing stolen goods here to sell or trade for narcotics.
 Officers told newsmen the underworld traffic in stolen goods may be similar to the narcotics problem here, in which drugs are funneled through San Antonio to other U.S. cities.
 The final disposition of the stolen property is not known, but it is believed the goods are being transported out of the city where they are sold, Hutton said.
