

Death Penalty Due Study

KISS OR BRONX CHEER? — Glenn Barnes (right) lays one on Chris Walker but is it a kiss or a Bronx cheer? The enthusiastic youngsters were watching a pet show staged by Jack and Jill Kindergarten here the past weekend.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senators indicated today they want to vote before going home on a bill reinstating the death penalty for certain murder cases.

With six members absent, the Senate Jurisprudence Committee voted 5-2 for the bill, but this was short of the seven-member majority required by new Senate rules.

The full Senate, however, voted 23-5 to put the matter on its calendar. Two days remain in the current special session of the Legislature.

Meanwhile, the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee indicated it would vote on a similar bill today, setting up possible floor action in each chamber.

The two bills would permit the death penalty for eight categories of murder, including murder for hire; second offenses; murder; slaying of jail and prison guards; intentional murder during the course of a kidnapping, burglary, rape, arson or robbery; murder of policemen and firemen; and murder with "extreme atrocity or cruelty."

The U.S. Supreme Court recently struck down the Texas death penalty as presently applied, with several justices commenting on the random application of the extreme punishment.

The House and Senate bills would make the death penalty mandatory in the eight categories of murder, but if a jury recommended leniency, there would be an automatic life sentence.

Sponsors contend this would be uniform enough application of capital punishment to satisfy the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Texas Law Enforcement Legislative Conference's executive director, Rusty Ormesher, chief felony prosecutor of the Dallas district attorney's office, recommended the measures in testimony before the House committee.

Ormesher said there are "certain people for whom the death penalty is the only deterrent." He said he recently tried two men who allegedly shot three women gas station attendants in robberies that netted only $34. When one of the men was asked why they killed for such a small amount, he replied—according to Ormesher—"I'd be in no worse trouble than I was before because they don't execute people in Texas any more." Houston Sens. Barbara Jordan and Jim Wallace voted against the bill in committee— "There's no way you can reverse it when they turn the juice on," Wallace said.

DRAFT DODGERS HIT Nixon Meets POW Wives

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon made an unexpected appearance today before a gathering of wives and families of U.S. prisoners of war and missing in action.

He promised them he "will never let you down," in efforts to obtain release of the men and declared draft dodgers and deserters "will pay a price" for their actions.

"It would be the most immoral thing I could think of to give amnesty to draft dodgers and those who deserted," Nixon told his cheering audience.

He made an unannounced visit to the meeting of the annual convention of the League of Families of POWs-MIAs where about 1,500 delegates jammed a hotel ballroom.

Nixon said he could not comment about the "very intensive negotiations," that had been under way in an effort to find peace in South Vietnam.

He said he did not want to raise false hopes or to make any comment that could jeopardize the effort.

But he told the delegates that he will insist upon two main conditions: There will be no settlement that "imposes a Communist government on the people of South Vietnam" and "under no conditions will we abandon our prisoners of war and our missing in action."

Nixon also thanked the families for backing him up on what he called his "hardest decision" — to mine the harbors of Haiphong and Hanoi and to order the bombing of military targets in North Vietnam last May.

There were tears in the eyes of some of the women when Nixon made his surprise appearance. When he went through the crowd one woman kissed his hand and another took off a POW bracelet she was wearing and gave it to the President.

Hughes To Sell Part Of Empire

HOUSTON (AP) — Billionaire Howard Hughes is selling the oil tool division of his Houston-based Hughes Tool Co., a spokesman said today.

Hughes Tool has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering the proposed offering of five million shares of common stock of a new corporation which will acquire the assets and business of the oil tool division.

The new firm will be known as the Hughes Tool Co., a name which presently encompasses a much larger operation.

Hughes will retain the rest of the present Hughes Tool Co., under a different — yet unspecified — name. Hughes is the sole stock holder of that firm.

Hughes will own no interest in the new company after the proposed offering is made, the spokesman said.

The Hughes Oil Tool Division is the nation's largest manufacturer of oil and gas well drilling bits.

Oilers Interested In Duane Thomas

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oiler management says it is interested in unpredictable San Diego running back Duane Thomas, who has not played this season.

Coach Bill Peterson, along with general manager John Breen and owner Bud Adams all said Sunday they were interested in obtaining that talented Thomas but Adams said talk of Thomas coming to Houston was premature.

Bride Killed In Accident

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — One of the victims of the plane crash that killed two persons Sunday in the Pecos River was a bride of less than a day, it was revealed today.

Mrs. Georgia Lynn Mills, 20, of San Antonio, the bride, had married John Floyd Mills, 26, also of San Antonio, Saturday afternoon and was aboard the plane with her husband and her father-in-law, Floyd Gene Mills, on their way to El Paso.

Mrs. Mills and her father-in-law died in the crash. Her husband survived.

The wedding took place in Trinity Baptist Chapel in San Antonio.

She was the former Georgia Lynn Shaffer.

Divers from the National Parks service continued the search today for the two bodies, believed to be still in the plane.

Witnesses said the plane hit a utility line across the Pecos River Canyon near Amistad Lake and plunged into the river.

'I Do! I Do!' Set Today

"I Do! I Do!," the first presentation in this season's Community Concert series is slated this evening in the municipal auditorium.

The musical comedy, starring Don Grilley and Lesley Stewart (Mrs. Grilley), is a charming chronicle of wedded life which traces one couple's happy marriage through 50 years.

The play first came to Broadway in 1951 as "The Fourposter." After the movie version was released, the play returned to Broadway as the musical, "I Do! I Do!"

Every ticket has been sold for the 1972-73 concert series, and a packed house is expected for tonight's performance.

Jurists Okeh Church-State School Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — On a 7-2 vote, the Supreme Court today allowed a school district in Nebraska to use parochial-school facilities for an education program financed by the state.

The two dissenters, Justices William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall, said the ruling contradicted past decisions and was out of step with the First Amendment's separation of Church and State.

However, Justice William J. Brennan Jr., who generally sides with the two other liberals said the program would be operated without any religious involvement.

The case came from Hartington where the local school district applied to state officials for financial aid in instructing students in remedial reading and mathematics. For the project, the school district leased the facilities of a Catholic high school. Students from both the public and the parochial school would attend the classes. No religious pictures or articles would be in the classroom.

State officials refused to undertake the project, but it was approved by the Supreme Court of Nebraska, leading to an appeal by the state board of education.

In other actions today, the court: —Once again, declined to hear a constitutional challenge to the Vietnam war.

—Declined to speed its consideration of an appeal by the Richmond, Va., school board seeking consolidation of the city's mostly black schools with two adjoining white suburban systems.

—Unanimously rejected a plea by the Memphis school board for delay in the ordered busing of some 14,000 of the city's school children, set to begin in January.

—Struck down Maryland regulations which deny welfare aid to families because the father is on strike or has been fired.

—Gave the city of Falls Church, Va., authority to close massage parlors where women give rubdowns to men.

Half Of Major Roads In Vietnam Unsafe

SAIGON (AP) — Two of the four major highways leading out of Saigon were reported unsafe today due to continued harassment by Communist forces.

U.S. troops were advised to stay off them.

South Vietnamese police reopened a third highway but so late in the day that only a few vehicles got through before darkness closed it again.

Highway 13 was closed about 21 miles north of Saigon. Route 15, which goes to the resort town of Vung Tau, was reported open only to essential traffic along a 20-mile stretch where the enemy sprang two ambushes last week.

Highway 1, which goes to the Central Highlands, was cut by a culvert the enemy blew up four days ago. Repairs were completed today, but the road was not reopened until late in the afternoon. Meanwhile, a huge traffic jam built up.

Fighting continued in the immediate area just before the road was reopened, with South Vietnamese fighter-bombers attacking enemy positions to the north within sight of the road and troops shelling enemy positions just to the south.

The cutting of Highway 1 stalled vegetable shipments to Saigon from the highlands. Scores of vegetable trucks were among the vehicles backed up in the traffic jam.

Action also picked up in the Central Highlands with harassing attacks on traffic on Highway 14 north and south of Pleiku, encirclement of a base by an enemy battalion and a rocket attack on Kontum airfield.

The North Vietnamese began a heavy mortar barrage on Fire Base 43, about 20 miles south of Pleiku, and the attack was continuing at dusk.

An American helicopter that landed at the base to evacuate wounded U.S. advisers was hit by mortar fire, the U.S. Command said. It reported one American crewman was killed and three crewmen and three advisers were wounded.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong kept up small-scale attacks north of Saigon.

Heavier fighting was reported along the Cambodian border, 75 miles west of Saigon, and along the northern coast between Hue and Quang Ngai, 125 miles to the south.

U.S. B52 bombers kept up heavy pressure on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

Fifteen strikes were flown against North Vietnam, to the north and south of the port of Dong Hoi, and 60 strikes were made across South Vietnam.

About half of the strikes in South Vietnam were in the Saigon region.

U.S. fighter-bombers made more than 270 strikes against North Vietnam Sunday and destroyed a MIG 21 on the ground at the Yen Bai Air Base, 80 miles northwest of Hanoi, the U.S. Command announced.

The command also announced that a MIG shot down an Air Force F4 Phantom last Thursday about 25 miles north of Hanoi. The two crewmen were reported missing.

Pat Nixon, the wife of the President, marched for a mile at the head of the Pulaski Day parade in Buffalo, N.Y., Sunday. She later sat in the reviewing stand for more than two hours.

Eleanor McGovern, wife of Sen. McGovern, was released Sunday from Georgetown University Hospital in Washington where she was treated for painful abdominal spasms. She is scheduled to deliver a speech in Woonsocket, S.D., Tuesday at a dinner in her honor.

Challenger Gaining But Still Far Back

Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern has gained nine percentage points on President Nixon in the latest Daniel Yankelovich poll, but still trails the President by 30 points with only about three weeks to go before the election.

The poll, taken for Time magazine and The New York Times and released Sunday, showed Nixon was preferred by 57 per cent of those polled to 27 per cent for McGovern, with 16 per cent undecided.

But this was an improvement for McGovern from the previous poll in mid-September which showed Nixon with a 30-point advantage, 62 to 23 per cent, with 15 per cent undecided. The new poll showed McGovern leading among Democrats.

The Gallup poll, also published Sunday, showed Nixon was preferred 58 to 26 per cent as being best able to handle the Vietnam conflict.

In campaigning Sunday, President Nixon said in a paid political broadcast that his administration has "fought the frightening trend of crime and anarchy to a standstill."

Sen. McGovern was on his fourth campaign trip to Texas today hoping to get enough labor, black and Chicano votes to win its 28 electoral votes, despite polls which show Nixon well ahead in that state.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver expressed frustration at Hartford, Conn., that voters aren't more concerned over what he termed "criminality" in the Nixon administration.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew planned to resume campaigning on Wednesday in Michigan. He was in Washington today.

Israeli Attacks Signal 'Seek-Em-Out' Tactics

A top Israeli official said today five air strikes against Arab guerrilla bases in Lebanon and Syria signaled a new policy of "no longer waiting for the guerrillas to hit first."

But Britain, one of the nations involved in the search for Middle East peace, assailed the Israeli attacks. A Foreign Office spokesman in London said: "This does not serve the cause of a final settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute."

The raids were the first against the guerrillas since the Sept. 16-17 sweep into Lebanon by Israeli army units. There has been relative quiet on the borders since then, but Gen. Haim Herzog, the former intelligence chief, said in a broadcast commentary: "From now on the very presence of saboteurs in Syria and Lebanon 'is to be regarded as a provocation.'"

"This is the operative phase of our pledge to hit the terrorists wherever they are, and they are in Lebanon and Syria," another high-ranking military source said.

An Israeli spokesman said the targets in Lebanon were at Sinik, Dakifa and Dier el-Ashayer and a guerrilla naval base at Ras el Nab south of the Litani River Delta. He said a guerrilla training camp was hit in Syria. The raiders came within 15 miles of Beirut and within 30 miles of Damascus.

The spokesman said all the planes returned safely.

Radio Damascus said the Syrian Air Force drove off the Israelis after they attacked near Missiaf, about 100 miles north of Damascus. No casualties were reported.

The rockets and bombs could be clearly heard in Beirut, and sunbathers along the Mediterranean ran for cover as the jets streaked towards their targets.

A Lebanese communique said two civilians were killed, 16 were wounded and two others were missing. It said anti-aircraft fire kept the planes from hitting their targets along the coast and in the western Bekaa Valley.

Meanwhile in Cairo, President Anwar Sadat told the Egyptian parliament the Palestinians and the other Arabs must unite "for the establishment of a peace based on justice."

Sadat said his recent proposal for a Palestinian government in exile was "merely an expression of an objective." Palestinian leaders rejected the proposal.

Turning to relations with Moscow, Sadat said Egypt "will continue to exert all possible effort to overcome differences with the Soviet Union."

Egypt's prime minister, Aziz Sidki, arrived today in Moscow for his first visit since Sadat expelled the Soviet military advisers in July. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin greeted him.

Diplomats in Cairo said the visit might lead to an agreement with Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia to provide spare and replacement parts for the arms the Soviet Union has supplied Egypt.

Southwest Conference Has No Unbeaten 11s

Southwest Conference teams can forget about dreams of unbeaten seasons and get on with family feuding. There's plenty of that coming up this weekend.

Texas was the last SWC team to feel the hatchet—27-0 Saturday to second-ranked Oklahoma.

And the Longhorns don't have long to heal their bruises. They host fast-improving Arkansas Saturday night in Austin as the pre-season favorite Razorbacks try to wrest away the crown Texas has held for four consecutive years.

Arkansas is 2-0 in SWC play thanks to a hard-earned 31-20 victory over Baylor. The 'Horns are 1-0 on the basis of a 25-20 victory over Texas Tech two weeks ago.

The Texas-Arkansas annual war barely overshadows two other conference battles.

Southern Methodist, which compiled a 3-1 inter-sectional record, hosts rugged Rice and Perry Senn gets another test against Texas A&M in College Station. Senn guided TCU over Tulsa after No. 1 signal caller Kent Marshall suffered a broken collar bone in the second quarter.

In inter-sectional play, Baylor is at Oklahoma State, Houston is at Miami and Texas Tech puts its 4-1 record on the line against Arizona in Jones Stadium.

Texas Tech stayed alive in the SWC race Saturday night with a 17-14 over the fast-sagging Aggies. TCU bombed Tulsa 35-9, and Houston crushed San Diego State 49-14.

Arkansas whipped Texas last year behind quarterback Joe Ferguson, who fell asleep against A&M and Rice as the Longhorns grabbed the title. A sellout crowd of some 80,000 is expected in Memorial Stadium.

A quick kick that backfired sent Texas tumbling against Oklahoma. Longhorn quarterback Alan Lowry's kick was blocked by Oklahoma defensive tackle Derland Moore, giving the Sooners a quickie touchdown in the third quarter of a thrilling defensive duel.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said "I'm sure a lot of people who paid $7 are going to question that quick kick. Nothing is good that backfires."

"We hadn't quick kicked in four years and I didn't think it would be expected. But, as a matter of fact, they hollered (quick kick) before we came out of the huddle."

The tipoff for the Sooners came when Texas' regular center Bob Tresch shifted to right guard and deep snap-man Greg Dahlberg lined up over the ball.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff was equally chagrined after the loss to Arkansas, shouldering the blame personally.

"I was calling our plays from the sidelines and I finally figured out in the third quarter that they were on to our signals. That was dumb of me."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles did a "back flip" as he tried to relay information onto the field on one play, Teaff said.

Baylor quarterback Neal Jeffrey said "We would have a sweep called and when we came up to the line of scrimmage, they would holler

Early Efforts May Have Hurt

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Baylor may have ruined its chance against Arkansas by playing so well against nonconference opponents.

In the past, the Razorbacks have had trouble getting ready for the Bears because of their Texas. Not so Saturday when Arkansas triumphed 31-20.

"We were ready to play Baylor," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "Some years we've had trouble when Baylor's record didn't give us the incentive to be ready for them. That was not the case this year since they had shut out two football teams in a row from getting touchdowns."

Baylor opened with a 24-14 loss to Georgia and then beat Missouri 27-0 and Miami 10-3.

In the end Saturday, it was the Razorbacks' ball-hungry defense and a sensational catch by Mike Reppond that ruined the Bears.

Baylor, which had fared well in its first three games by avoiding killing mistakes, lost three fumbles and had four passes intercepted two each by safety Mark Hollingsworth and cornerback Louis Campbell.

Because of turnovers and a sparking punt return by John Moseley, the Razorbacks traveled only 24, 28, 28 and 32 yards for their four touchdowns. Dickey Morton, who had his best day as a Razorback with 157 yards rushing on 34 attempts, scored twice and Jon Richardson once.

Miami's Winning Counter Now Regarded As Tainted

By The Associated Press

Seven of the nation's eight top teams remained unbeaten over the weekend but the big question in the college football world is whether the University of Miami has really won a game.

Well, er, yes ... uh, that is, maybe.

And while such powers as Southern California, Oklahoma, Alabama, Ohio State, Michigan, Nebraska, Notre Dame and Louisiana State argue over who's No. 1, the magic number as far as Miami and Tulane are concerned is five—as in five down.

The scoreboard at the Orange Bowl read: "Miami 24, Tulane 21" Saturday night after Ed Carney threw a 32-yard touchdown pass to Witt Beckman with 54 seconds left. The only trouble was that it came on an illegal fifth down after a fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

This was the strange sequence of events:

With a first down on Tulane's 18-yard line, Miami's Chuck Foreman gained two yards and Carney threw an incomplete second-down pass. On third down, Carney passed to Foreman for an 11-yard gain but the Hurricanes were penalized five yards for illegal procedure, putting the ball back at the 21.

On the third-down replay, Carney was nailed for an 11-yard loss and on fourth down he threw an incomplete pass. But the officials ruled that Miami still had one more down—in reality, fifth-down and 24—and this time Carney connected with Beckman.

"At the time the play was run we thought it was illegal," said Tulane Coach Bennie Ellender. "We were holding up five downs with our fingers. All of our defensive players and all of their offensive players had come off the field."

Miami Coach Fran Curci, whose team had dropped its first three games, said he was "glad we got the extra play" and quarterback Carney added: "I thought we had used up all our downs so I ran off with the others but somebody told me to go back in. I'm not going to argue with them when they tell me that."

In games involving no more than four downs per series, top-rated Southern Cal trounced

California 42-14 as Mike Rae, Sam Cunningham and Charles Young each scored twice; running back Lucious Selmon recovered and a pitchout which Gary Bacaus batted into the end zone, where Moore fell on it—to be a 10th-ranked Texas 27-0 and No. 3 Alabama shrugged off a 60-yard touchdown run by Florida's Nat Moore in the first period to beat the Gators 24-7.

Franco Harris Bad News For Oilers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Franco Harris is one of those rare runners who can either elude or abuse tacklers, cruise by them or bruise over them.

"I pick a hole and go and keep going until somebody stops me," the rookie fullback said after rushing for 115 yards in 19 tries Sunday to lead the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 24-7 win over the Houston Oilers.

It was the best day of his embryonic pro career, and the former Penn Stater flashed the skills that made him Pittsburgh's No. 1 draft pick.

"We knew he had it from the start," beamed Coach Chuck Noll. "He showed it that first day in training camp."

now," explained Harris, who wears well-trimmed chin whiskers and displays the serious, low-key manner of a veteran.

"They hit harder during the regular season and you'd better get to the holes quick because they close so fast," he added.

"I had a very bad game three weeks ago against Cincinnati, and I had to get it together and not let myself get down."

Harris has been alternating with veteran Frenchy Fugua, who gained 53 yards in nine carries against Houston, and the rookie voiced no dissatisfaction with sharing the position.

Nonetheless, the 6-foot-3, 230-pound Harris, who could match speed with many flankers, hadn't done much in earlier regular season games.

ALLS OFF

After leading all Pittsburgh runners in preseason, his production had fallen off to 79 yards in 26 carries.

"They're playing for money

"I'll be available when he gets tired," Harris declared. "I really think you need two."

Harris relieved Fugua in the second quarter and carried 10 times for 46 yards on a drive that ended when he powered one yard for his first pro touchdown.

Four Oiler tacklers rode him across the goal line and the touchdown put Pittsburgh ahead to stay 10-7.

"Sure it was an inspiration," said guard Sam Davis. "Franco is the kind of runner who can break a game open if you give him a hole. Sometimes he can get six or seven yards without a hole."

Harris' 115 yards rushing was seven yards more than Houston's total offense, running and passing.

The Oilers, whose record dropped to 1-4, got their only touchdown in the first quarter when Ward Walsh blocked a Bobby Walden punt and recovered it in the end zone.

Pittsburgh struck back with a 26-yard field goal by Roy Gerela, and Harris' go-ahead touchdown followed.

Pittsburgh, which boosted its record to 3-2 and remained a game behind Cincinnati in the Central Division, added touchdowns in each of the last two quarters.

Quarterback Terry Bradshaw passed 11 yards to Frank Lewis for one score and then ran eight yards for another.

Bradshaw was sacked three times for minus 24 yards, but he endured much less harassment than Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini.

Pastorini was dumped five times for 40 yards in losses and most of his passes were hurried. He finished with 10 completions in 22 attempts for a meager 40 yards.

Coast Mudslides Wipe Out Homes And Shops

BIG SUR, Calif. (AP) — Residents made homeless by mudslides at Big Sur, and merchants whose shops lay buried in up to five feet of mud contemplated a massive cleanup today after a week of torrential rain finally eased off. Late Sunday afternoon Coast Highway 1, which winds through Big Sur on the edge of the Pacific was reopened to all traffic after emergency road crews cleared off tons of the oozing mud.

Some 300 persons were reported to have fled their homes. The Monterey County sheriff's office said a dozen houses were inundated in mudslides pouring down rain-battered mountainsides, and 13 others were abandoned because water was contaminated and power and telephone service cut.

Damage has been estimated at more than $500,000.

No injuries were reported. The area hit was approximately three miles long in the north-central sector of the scenic Big Sur district, which starts about 25 miles south of Monterey.

Most of the refugees left their homes late Friday or Saturday, staying with friends or at inns that opened their doors to meet the crisis.

Early Sunday, under renewed downpours a wall of mud six feet high and 40 feet wide dropped down from the mountains at the Big Sur Lodge. The goo oozed down the road and seeped into the lodge, which had been cleaned more than once from previous invasions.

"It came by for 35 minutes just like a brown train—trees, rocks, debris floating by," said Einar Morness, reservations clerk at the lodge.

At Big Sur Village, about two miles from the lodge, mud stood four and five feet deep in the rustic shops that serve the usually colorful small population and yearly trek of tourists.

Neil Diamond Turns Chicken

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Where Ethel Kennedy and Eunice Kennedy Shriver were concerned, singer Neil Diamond wasn't about to take sides. And he ended up with his hair soaked in beer.

Rock star Diamond was one of the big attractions at a Democratic fund-raising party Sunday on the lawn of the home rented by vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver.

Mrs. Shriver introduced Diamond by requesting "Sweet Caroline." "I've asked him to sing the song first of the woman he loved most," she told the crowd.

But Mrs. Kennedy had other ideas. She wanted to hear "New York Boy."

"This is a terrible predicament," Diamond moaned and decided to delay both tunes. "I'm chicken is what I am," he explained.

But after an interlude of several songs, Diamond broke into his top-selling "Sweet Caroline."

Mrs. Kennedy, who had been picknicking on the grass near the stage, quietly walked up behind him and emptied a big paper carton of beer over his long hair.

Smiling, she ambled offstage. Diamond dried his hair, and promptly the audience recognized the strains of "New York Boy."

Earlier, Shriver made a handshaking spin through the bring-your-own-food crowd, which paid $15 per family to get in, as Secret Service agents, newsmen and auto-graph-seekers trampled many a lunch.

Campaign souvenir stands run up land-office sales. Small tablecloths sold for $1.50; the large ones went for $3.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
AJ KJ82 O KJ76 O J976
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
LNT 2 O ?
What action do you take?
A.—The recommended bid is three spades. You have sufficient high card strength to justify contracting for game in no trump. In other words, 10 points. But it is possible that the hand might play better at a heart contract. Your problem, therefore, is to determine whether North, your partner, has four hearts. Obviously the two club convention is no longer available to you. So, the manner of circumventing this obstacle is by making an imaginative cue bid in spades. If partner has four hearts, he should bid that suit. If not, he should go on to three no trump.

Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
AJ10 2 O843 O A82 O943
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 O Pass Pass 1 A
Dble. Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—When partner makes a take-out double, after you have passed him out, it is a drastic step. You should, therefore, bid one more heart than is necessary; that is, three hearts. This cannot be interpreted by partner, who knows that you cannot have six points.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
AKQJ975 O AK7 O 975 O A
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 A Pass 1 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. You can rely on winning eight tricks in your own hand.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
AK2 O Q53 O KQ10 782 O AK3
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 O Pass Pass 1 O ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. With a partner who has denied a holding of six points, little is to be gained by competing and there is a distinct risk in bidding even for eight tricks.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
AKJ5 O 10 643 O AK5 73 O 4
South West North East
1 O Pass 2 A Pass
2 O Pass 3 O Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Your hand is a rock bottom minimum and, if this is all your partner needs to produce a game, he should have made a bid which was forcing, not merely one which was invitational.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
AK82 O 92 O AQ84 O KQ5 6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 O 1 A 3 O 3 O ?
What do you bid now?
A.—There may be a good chance for a no trump game if partner happens to have a heart stopper. The practical way to probe for this feature is by a bid of three spades, showing control of this suit. If partner tries three no trump, you may relax. If he fails to do so, you will then go on and contract for a game in diamonds.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South, you hold:
AKJ O 5 O AJ85432 O Q95
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 O 3 A ?
What do you bid?
A.—If you try four diamonds, you may miss the opportunity to play for a nine trick game. If partner has good enough diamonds, you should be safe enough at three no trump, which bid we would risk. If it should be greeted with a resounding double, the option still remains to run to four diamonds.

Q. 8—You are South, vulnerable, and you hold:
AKJ3 O Q852 O K AKJ1042
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 A Pass Pass 2 O ?
What do you bid now?
A.—There is no action that you can take at this point with reasonable safety. Remember that partner's bid of two diamonds did not advertise any great amount of strength. If partner held a strong hand, he would double in preference to reopening the bidding with two diamonds. It is discreet, therefore, to pass and let nature take its course.

GLORIA STEINER CAMPAIGNED FOR SISSY Her "MS." magazine zooming in circulation

'Ms.' Magazine Sales Zooming-- It's Woman's New State Of Mind

By JURATE KAZICKAS Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ms. is a new title for some American women, a new magazine, and according to the women who work there, a new state of mind.

Using the title that implies a woman's marital status is nobody's business, Ms. magazine promotes political, social and economic equality for women on its glossy pages. Just five issues old, it already has a circulation of more than half a million.

"It's a whole new way of reaching women. We aim to help women realize their full potential, and to become a forum for discussion of progress and problems," said Pat Carbine, the magazine's publisher and a former editor of Look and McCall's.

Ms., the largest slick above-ground feminist magazine, has featured articles by Kate Millet writing about Angela Davis, welfare mothers writing about themselves, and Germaine Greer writing that women should do without underwear. Regular columns feature tributes to obscure heroines in history, do-it-yourself mechanics, and comments from liberated men.

Ms. editors express confidence about the magazine's future success and others in the magazine business say their record so far is good.

The original print order for the first issue was for 400,000 and that has climbed to 510,000 for October. About 65 per cent of the sales are from the newsstands. More than 40 per cent of the subscription orders come in with money already enclosed. The industry figure for cash subscriptions is about 5 per cent, according to the publisher.

"The returns have been larger than all our projections," she said.

The magazine's circulation is still behind that of other women's magazines such as Cosmopolitan, which now has more than a million and a half readers, or Good Housekeeping with close to six million.

Though it will be two or three years before the real success of the magazine is measured, Pat Carbine says they are already not far from the break-even point financially. "And we're doing well enough on newsstand sales so we don't have to depend on advertisers."

The magazine, averaging about 118 pages, now has only about 12 pages of ads. It would like three times as many.

Though returns from a subscriber's survey have not been tabulated, Margaret Cleary of the circulation department thinks Ms. is read mostly in college towns and in areas where there are many women in business. It is not as popular in blue collar areas, she said.

Ms. has been criticized for its lack of humor. "I agree," says Gloria Steiner, one of the magazine's founders. "But for so long ridicule has been used as a weapon against women. It's more difficult for us to use. But then, we find things funny that men don't at all. Men will continue to say we need more humor while we are falling down laughing."

'Teen Years Time Of Searching, Self-Doubt'

"The teen years are a time of searching and self-doubt," said Mrs. Jack Alexander as she spoke on "How to be the Parent of a Teenager" at the October meeting of the Child Study Club.

"Teens pretend not to need help, but do, and parents must be subtle in their help," continued Mrs. Alexander. "The needs of a teenager are urgent and pressing, but many times he has trouble expressing them, and a parent needs to be tolerant."

"A teenager thinks his conflicts are different from anyone else's, and he needs understanding. They want adults to be adults and copies of themselves."

The speaker stressed that teenagers like and need privacy; parents should not pry too much and they should stay out of mail diaries.

"Don't try to entertain your daughter's date when he makes a mistake in judgement," she stressed. "The speaker stressed that teenagers like and need privacy; parents should not pry too much and they should stay out of mail diaries."

"Don't try to entertain your daughter's date when he arrives," she cautioned, "but be present, when she returns home."

"Give your teenager a reason for your action or decision rather than saying 'just because', and don't attack your child's personality in any situation. Instead, attack the problem. Instead of berating a child for leaving towels lying around, says, 'I get very angry when I see wet towels on the floor.'"

In conclusion, Mrs. Alexander emphasized children pick up attitudes and values from their parents.

"We, as adults and parents, are responsible for setting standards and demonstrating values in the home," she said.

Mrs. Julian Patterson was hostess, with Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand as cohostess. Guests were Mrs. Don Long, Mrs. Lonnie Bartley, Mrs. Kaj Poulson, Mrs. J. B. Sharp, Mrs. Jerry Grider and Mrs. Karl Snyder.

Mrs. Bill Reynolds will be hostess for the Nov. 8 meeting, with Mrs. Whitney Reynolds as cohostess.

Genealogical Society Planning Workshop

The Genealogical Society of the Big Spring made final plans for its annual workshop during a meeting Thursday at Howard County Library.

The workshop will be held from 1:30 to 5 p.m., Nov. 5 at the library, and anyone interested in family research is invited to attend. Registration fee is $1. Genealogical material will be on display. There will be forms available for requesting photostatic copies of military records, along with family information sheets. Mrs. John Damron, vice president, urged members to bring all genealogical nature to the workshop, where members and guests will share information. Items may be left at the library Nov. 4 or brought to the workshop the following day.

Miss Bernice Cason, president, brought a slide presentation from the book, "How to Read the Handwriting of Early America." She pointed out that there are four main divisions in American handwriting beginning with those who learned to write in their country before 1840. There was some change between 1840 and 1865; another radical change between 1865 and 1890, and a fourth between 1890 and 1900.

"There is a significant need to be able to recognize the existence and peculiarities of handwriting used in different periods," she said. "In early America, a person who could write was not commonly found, and those who did write, gave a part of himself in so doing. He expressed himself according to his schedule. Frigid tasks were endless and left little time for learning. In the hand-written record, you can convey to the generation to follow, the customs of his time and the era in which he lived."

The next meeting will be the workshop.

They seem to prefer the soft, smooth type of music in preference to rock music. My baby becomes absolutely enchanted for long periods of time while I can get on with my work. Mrs. Jerrel Hammet

This column is written for you the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: One of the most annoying happenings is when you have your garbage and trash neatly set out for pickup in those convenient plastic bags, and the next time you look out, it is all strewn in your yard by wandering dogs.

I have found the solution that helps this occurrence is to spray the filled bags thoroughly with the repellent sprays used for your shrubs. This will keep the dogs away from your trash bags. Mrs. Lewis Hinckman, chman

Now, just why haven't I thought of that? That is a wonderful idea, Mrs. Hinckman. Heloise

Dear Heloise: We move about every three years and usually under 50 miles, but our last move was 1,000 miles and because our carton space was limited, I think I was resourceful.

I have a carton full of cleaning rags that have been run through the washer. I decided not to move this carton, but found myself using the clean rags for packing.

When we arrived, I had my rags without adding a carton to the moving load.

I also used various sizes of towels, and various undergarments. It really saves space without collecting and saving unnecessary packing items between moves. Barbara Constantine

Dear Heloise: Amateur artists can make a handy container to soak paint brushes in by cutting a half-gallon bleach jug in half lengthwise through spout and all.

Then the brushes can be laid flat for soaking with the handles protruding through the spout.

No more ruined brushes from standing them up in a jar. One drawback, it is a little bit tippy, so prop it with something, and also, don't oversoak! Marion

Dear Heloise: To stretch the budget, I buy beautiful, old furniture and refinish it for our home.

My last project was a gate-leg table with eight spindle legs. Nearly lost my mind trying to get the paint remover out of the grooves.

Can you guess? Your wonderful nylon net did the trick! I cut small strips and pulled them back and forth in the grooves. Larger pieces did the other parts of the table.

Be sure to wear rubber gloves to protect your hands from the paint remover. Ann Woods

Dear Heloise: Just couldn't live without my electric knife! Yesterday, I discovered that my freshly baked angel food cake could be cut in beautiful slices, using my knife — how about that? Mrs. J. A.

Terrorist Gang Charged In Nine Slayings

CHICAGO (AP) — Sheriff Richard J. Elrod says eight members of a black terrorist gang charged in the recent murders of nine persons were apparently "roaming the countryside looking for someone to kill."

Authorities said apparently not all of the eight men charged had participated in all slayings. Elrod told newsmen Sunday the nine white victims, including the members of two separate families, apparently were randomly selected by a

Chicago street gang which he said called itself "De Mau Mau." When asked about possible racial motivation, Elrod said, "I can see no other apparent motivation."

Six men are being held without bond, two others are still being sought. Elrod, the Cook County sheriff, said the De Mau Mau organization apparently was founded several years ago by Vietnam veterans who had been dishonorably discharged. The most widely reported of the murders was the killing of a retired insurance executive and three members of his family Aug. 4 in the wealthy Chicago suburb of Barrington Hills.

Paul Corbett, 67; his wife, Marion, 57, and his sister-in-law, Dorothy Derry, 60, were found shot through the backs of their heads. Corbett's stepdaughter, Barbara Board, 22, was found dead a few feet away. She had been shot through the heart.

Police managed to get a deathbed statement from another victim, Army Spec. 5 William E. Richter, 25, who was attacked while sleeping in a parked truck on the Edens Expressway near the northern Chicago suburb of Highland Park. He told authorities he had been awakened by three men and was shot during a struggle with them. The earliest slaying linked to the charges filed Sunday was that of Michael Gerchenson, 19, a Southern Illinois University student whose body was found May 3 some 40 miles from the Carbondale campus in the southern part of the state.

Elrod and other law enforcement officers, including Chicago Police Supt. James B. Conlisk and Cook County State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan, told newsmen that the connections between the murders spurred a police dragnet throughout the South Side.

Elrod, admitted, however, "the big break in this case came this week on information provided by a reliable informant."

Highway Deaths Show Increase

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Fatalities on the state's highways are 3 per cent higher than they were a year ago, the Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

The death toll this year stands at 2,738, a rise of 67 from the figure at this time last year, the department said.

Day's Topper Is Long-Lived Fiberglas

Beautifully styled and exceptionally durable is the new Fiberglas pickup camper top from Lincoln. It's called the Topper and comes in three sizes for long, wide beds, short, wide beds and El Camino beds. Marshall Day Body Shop, Sand Springs, has the size for long, wide beds in stock. One week delivery on the other sizes means minimal waiting time after ordering. Weighing less than 200-lbs., the Topper makes for economical traveling. The Fiberglas construction retains its beauty through years of traveling and sustains no hail damage. The large side-windows provide greater visibility, meaning a safer trip for the camping family. COZY KIT The beautiful, comfortable Cozy Kit is available on overnight delivery. It consists of color-coordinate cushions, shag carpet and wood-grain paneling. The cushions can be arranged to form a divan and rearranged for sleeping on a full-sized bed. The shag carpet completely covers the truck-bed from wall to wall, also hiding the wheel-wells. The Cozy Kit is available in five colors: avocado green, flame red, Spanish gold, marine blue and sunset orange. All Toppers come in white. LONE-RANGE TANKS Auxiliary gas tanks, in stock and installed by Marshall Day Body Shop, are now guaranteed as long as the pickup is owned by the purchaser of the tanks. Day also keeps an inventory of extra parts for Econo-Tanks, such as filters. Constructed of space-age polyethylene, these 40-gallon tanks will not rust as metal tanks, nor will they crack and spider like Fiberglas auxiliary tanks.

Apportionment Is To Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to review an apportionment plan for the Georgia House that ran into objections from the U.S. attorney general and was held to be invalid by a three-judge federal panel.

The case could have an impact beyond Georgia since it concerns whether states and smaller areas covered by the 1965 Voting Rights Law must submit apportionment plans to the Attorney General or to a federal court in Washington for approval.

The Justice Department supported Georgia in seeking a high court hearing. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold said that while he agreed with the Atlanta panel that invalidated the plan last April he considered the issues so important that the Supreme Court should make its own judgment.

The case will be argued later this term with a final decision by June 1973.

The reapportionment of the Georgia House of Representatives involved multi-member districting and other features that John N. Mitchell, then the attorney general, said he could not conclude do not have a discriminatory racial effect on voting.

The 1965 federal law requires the covered six states—Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia—and sections of several others to submit to the attorney general or to a district court in the Capital all election law changes that could affect the voting rights of blacks.

The three federal judges who struck down the 1971 Georgia House plan, Griffin Bell, William O'Keefe and Richard Freeman, held it was subject to the voting law.

The Supreme Court last April 21 issued a stay, which allowed Georgia to proceed with this year's elections under the invalidated plan.

'Oh Nurse!'

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a registered nurse, and my pet peeve is one that is shared by many in my profession. It is being called "Nurse."

We all wear name pins. Why can't people take the time and trouble to look at them and call us "Miss Jones" or "Mrs. Smith?"

DEAR IRKED: I found it difficult to believe that the majority of nurses shared your feeling, so I conducted a minipoll. Here are the results: The Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland:

"We questioned approximately 300 nurses, and —More than 90 per cent were 'not irked' by being called nurse. While they all wear name badges, many patients, others are preoccupied with their illnesses, and some never even notice the name badge.

"Virtually all of our nurses would be 'irked' by being called by her first name unless it was by a patient who happened to be a friend.

"The nurses would prefer not to be called 'Miss or Mrs.' —Our conclusion is that nurses are proud of being called nurse, a title which designates a high level of achievement and respect."

Century City Hospital, Los Angeles, Calif.: "We asked 44 nurses how they felt about being called 'nurse,' only three said they didn't like it, two said they preferred to be called 'Miss or Mrs. So and So' — but not 'Miss' or 'Mrs.' unless their last names were included. One said, 'I don't object to being called 'Nurse' if it is said gently, but when someone shouts 'Nurse' as though he's a drill sergeant commanding a buck private, I bristle."

Mount Sinai Hospital, Minneapolis: "Not one nurse said she would be irked if she were addressed as 'Nurse.' It is preferable to 'Blondie,' 'Red,' 'Girle,' or 'Honey.'"

"We regard nursing as a noble profession, and since it required a great deal of time and effort to attain that title, it's inconceivable that a nurse would be irked when addressed as 'Nurse.'"

Saint John's Hospital, Santa Monica, Calif.: "Only one nurse polled was 'irked' when someone called her 'Nurse.' The consensus was that 'Miss; or 'Mrs.' was a close runner-up for irritating nurses. Almost all the nurses preferred to be addressed by their names, (all wear name pins on their uniforms) but a surprising number of patients and visitors do not seem to notice them.

"Most expressed great surprise that any nurse would be irked at being called 'Nurse.' Of course, since St. John's has many nurses who are also nurses, one would be more apt to address a nursing sister as 'Sister than 'Nurse.' They answer to both cheerfully."

Abbott Hospital, Minneapolis: "Sixty-five nurses were polled, 31 of whom stated that they did not like to be called 'Nurse.' They preferred to be addressed by their names, 'Miss or Mrs.' which is the reason their names are worn on their uniforms.

"Thirty-four of the Abbott Hospital nurses said they had no objections whatsoever to being called 'Nurse.'"

DEAR ABBY: My dentist has had bad breath. He's a wonderful dentist, but it really bothers me when I am in his chair. Is there any subtle way I can tell him I wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world.

VICTIM DEAR VICTIM: You could tell him about a mouthwash you have "discovered" and as him to try it. If that doesn't register, you could "confide" in his nurse. If it bothers you, it must bother other patients. It would be a kindness to get the message to him.

UNPERTURBED Last July, the fines were almost doubled, but French drivers were not perturbed. Most of them continue to ignore their tickets, just as they have always done.

Police officials are the ones who suffer. They cannot possibly collect four million fines a year, and their computers have been a flop.

"We could cope with the situation if half the offenders would respect the law by paying their fines," confided an officer at Paris headquarters. "But only 20 per cent will bother to buy a stamp."

In France, the result is that the president declares an amnesty on parking violations every few years, thus avoiding total breakdown in the police department. Then everybody starts fresh, and waits for amnesty again.

Other Unions Being Asked To Walk Out

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Santiago's military commander ordered striking storekeepers to reopen today and threatened to use force if he was not obeyed.

The state Price Fixing and Inspection Agency issued a decree calling for the requisitioning of all stores and shops that did not reopen. But the Confederation of Business and Small Industry called on its members to keep up the strike.

After Radio Nuevo Mundo called on other unions to join the strike, Bravo Munoz ordered the station closed for six days, and the leftist government took control of all radio broadcasting for the second time in three days.

The shutdown is in sympathy with a nationwide trucking strike that began late Tuesday. The truckers are seeking higher rates and also protesting against the reported formation of a state trucking company in southern Chile, the part of Allende's plan to turn the country socialist.

The strike has resulted in the arrest of Leon Vilarin, head of the Confederation of Truck Owners, and more than 200 other truckers, and emergency military administration for 17 of Chile's 25 provinces.

Anti-Marxist political parties announced their support for the truckers and shopkeepers on Sunday.

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please explain what a trigger finger is? Once the finger is bent, it won't come back on its own. I have to lift it up, with a moment of pain.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How do you feel about giving powdered milk to a young child who is on the thin side when fresh milk is available? I believe fresh milk is more nutritious. Am I correct? I want the child to have what is best for him.

Lamesa Schools Included In Grant For Programs

LAMESA — A grant to maintain the staff and essential activities of special school desegregation programs of 395 school districts, including Lamesa, were announced last week by HEW's U.S. Office of Education.

The grants, an extension of last year's Emergency School Assistance Program which expired Oct. 1, totaled $17,178,829 and included $25,830 for Lamesa.

Alvin Canady, superintendent of schools in Lamesa, said this will allow them to continue a program already underway which includes work in community relations between minority groups, also in curriculum development, pupil services and professional personnel training.

Tony Botello Jr. operates the ESAP-45 office in Lamesa with aides assisting him. They provide a bi-lingual newsletter within the community, radio and television programming and other public relation work.

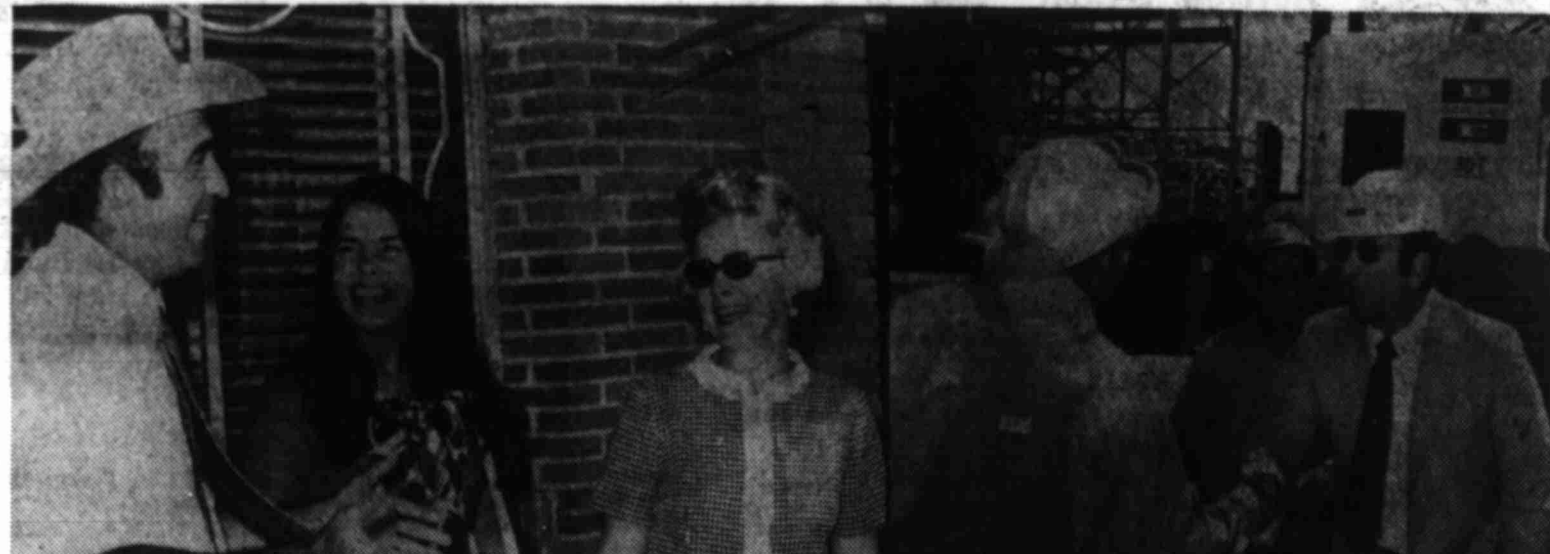

They also oversee a student tutor program, where students are paid to serve as tutors to other students having problems in basic courses. These include math, science, language arts and reading.

Supt. Canady said the program has helped in Lamesa, and that he hopes that when it runs out again in January that it will be continued.

The program may be refunded under the Emergency School Aid Act, which is broader than the present program, according to Herman R. Goldberg, associate commissioner of education for equal educational opportunity.

"The purpose of the present ESAP grants," Dr. Goldberg states, "is to keep in place the valuable staff in school systems and community organizations whose experience and skills are absolutely necessary to maintaining a creative education program in desegregating schools."

Rich Anderson knows the two-party system can provide checks and balances in state government. One reason we've had "crisis-to-crisis government" in Texas is that one party has been calling all the shots for nearly a century.

Desert Can Be Changed, Ben-Gurion Says At 86

SDE BOQUER, Israel (AP) — Arab threats of war against the Jewish state. Working against time, he is concerned with writing history instead of making it, compiling an 11-volume account of Israel's pioneering years.

"I want to tell our youth what has been done so far in Israel," he said, so the new generations of Jews can understand their heritage and develop it.

"Peace with the Arabs? Once we were at peace, and we worked together. There will be peace again. I am not certain it will happen in six months or a year, but we will have it.

"For the time being, I think there is peace."

As he spoke, Israeli jets were raiding guerrilla bases in Lebanon and Syria, but Ben-Gurion, the architect of modern Israel, spent his 86th birthday today alone in a little wooden cottage with his dream of making the desert bloom.

"The main problem facing Israel today is to bring more Jews to build the country. This is a desert, but it can be changed. We need at least five or six million Jews more," Ben-Gurion said Sunday at his home in this pioneer farming outpost. He shrugged other problems aside.

WRITING HISTORY

His lion-like face beneath the twin tufts of white hair shriveled but still lively, the Israeli patriarch now pays scant attention to the world issues he once helped influence or even to is no longer in touch with the government and did not know Premier Golda Meir's government correct in forbidding counterterrorist attacks in Europe against such Arab guerrillas as the Munich Olympic killers?

"I am against 'an eye for an eye' general," said Ben-Gurion. Israel should ask European governments to stamp out Arab terrorists abroad, he went on but "if for some reason they cannot do it — and there may be some governments who say it is not their business — then we will have to do it. How? I prefer not to speak about that."

FIRST IN LINE

Ben-Gurion was Israel's first prime minister and its dominant figure for its first 15 years as a nation. He left the government in 1963 and quit the Knesset, the Israeli parliament, in 1970. Today he works in solitude in this Kibbutz settlement in the Negev Desert.

Sde Boquer symbolizes his dream of developing the Negev — a dynamic village whose green fields, manicured lawns and agricultural college contrast starkly with the surrounding wasteland.

His green house — with its screened porch — resembles an unpretentious American summer cottage. Outside three armed soldiers stand guard among the struggling trees, at the end of a little street marked "No Entry — One Way Only."

Ben-Gurion was born in Plonsk, Poland, on Oct. 16, 1886. But neither he nor Israel is paying any attention to the anniversary. His birthday was celebrated quietly on Sept. 25, the Hebrew calendar date for the event.

DEWEY JOHNSON
Church Plans Special Meet

Highland Church of God at East Sixth at Settles is inviting the public to attend its "Special Services of the Church," which will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and be held nightly through Sunday.

Theme of the revival is "Times of Refreshing" and the speaker will be the Rev. E. Dewey Johnson, Clovis, N.M.

The Rev. Arnold Denney, pastor, said "This will be vibrant and inspiring."

Pole Never Had Chance To Thank His Savior

AUSCHWITZ, Poland (AP) — "I never even had a chance to thank him. You were not allowed to utter a word. I tried to thank him with my eyes."

That was how Franciszek Gajowiczek described his farewell to the Rev. Maximilian Kolbe, the "Saint of Auschwitz" who gave up his life for the Polish army sergeant in 1941.

Gajowiczek and more than 150,000 others came to this former Nazi death factory Sunday to pay homage to the priest on the first anniversary of his beatification by Pope Paul VI.

They heard sermons by Poland's primate, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, and John Cardinal Krol of Philadelphia, the first American Catholic prelate to journey inside the Communist bloc since World War II.

Father Kolbe and Gajowiczek were inmates of a block house from which there was an escape. The Nazis selected 10 prisoners to die by starvation unless the escapees were caught. When the sergeant was chosen, the priest came forward and asked the commandant to let him go in his place.

"I am a Catholic priest, rather elderly, and this man has a wife and children."

O'Donnell Lad Wins Trip

LAMESA (SC) — Kevin Wood, a Lynn County 4-H member, has been raising swine for eight years and has won numerous awards and honors with his animals.

This year he hit the jackpot when his record book — in the 4-H swine program was selected as tops in the state. It won for Kevin a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 24-30.

Kevin, 16, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wood of Route 1, O'Donnell. He is an eight-year veteran of the O'Donnell Community 4-H Club and is an O'Donnell High School senior. He was named first alternate in the state swine record book competition last year. Kevin's state winning record book will be entered in the national competition.

The 4-Her has exhibited grand champion barrows at the local and county shows. His entries have also been named reserve grand champions at both the Lynn County and Dawson County livestock shows. He has won the calf, swine and sheep showmanship awards in three consecutive years at the O'Donnell Livestock show.

During his 4-H career, he has won 37 blue ribbons, 13 breed champions and nine reserve breed champions at livestock shows. In addition to swine he has completed 11 other 4-H projects.

In 1970 Kevin was named the Lynn County Gold Star boy. In 1971 he won the Texas Cotton Ginners Cotton Production Award.

He has served as president, reporter and parliamentarian of his local 4-H Club and was a delegate to the district council. He is active in the Methodist Youth Fellowship and in the Student Council in high school. He plans to pursue a career in agriculture.

Men, Equipment Are Taken In Crackdown Near Manila

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine armed forces arrested an undetermined number of men and confiscated sophisticated sniper equipment and explosives in raids in the greater Manila area, Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad said today.

The raids followed reports that dissident suicide squads were in the city to assassinate President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

No further details were available, Tatad told newsmen.

Earlier, Marcos told municipal police chiefs and executives to uphold the law with courtesy and absolute fairness because the Philippines' fight against what he called a Communist "war on the hearts and minds of the people."

The president, who proclaimed martial law almost a month ago "to save this republic" from communist forces, spoke to 1,500 police chiefs and other local officials at the presidential palace.

He said the law must be upheld without exceptions. If law enforcers are unfair and abusive in performing their duties, the people will lose trust and confidence in the government, Marcos told the police officials.

He asked them to cooperate in establishing a new society by giving top priority to the following basic reforms:

- Promote and maintain peace and order by breaking up criminal syndicates, especially smuggling and narcotics trafficking.
- Restore the respect of the people for law by being courteous and righteous.

He authorized the opening of a new English-language daily newspaper called the Times Journal to be run by former staff members of various major newspapers shut down after the imposition of martial law.

He authorized the release of seven newsmen in Naga City, 170 miles southwest of Manila. They had been detained under martial law.

Defense Secretary Juan Ponce Enrile announced that a commander of the insurgent New People's Army for northern Mindanao had been killed, and a top recruiter had been captured by government troops in Mindanao. This brought to 16 the total number of dissidents killed and to 208 the number captured or surrendered since the imposition of martial law Sept. 22.

NLRB Cites Pair In Labor Dispute

The National Labor Relations Board in Washington, D.C., has ordered two defendants into court following contempt citations, according to Kenneth Howell, business manager for Local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

He reported the NLRB issued Oct. 5 a "writ of body attachment and for other relief" and forwarded it to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeal, naming Robert C. Johnson Jr., president of Johnson Manufacturing Company of Lubbock, and R. G. Box, personnel manager.

Earlier the Circuit Court had held civil contempt against the company for alleged refusal to bargain with Local 826. Approximately 825 Johnson employees have been on a strike since Aug. 10 in conjunction with efforts to have the local named its bargaining agent. The union also filed complaints alleging violation of the Equal Opportunities Act.

The president, who proclaimed martial law almost a month ago "to save this republic" from communist forces, spoke to 1,500 police chiefs and other local officials at the presidential palace.

He said the law must be upheld without exceptions. If law enforcers are unfair and abusive in performing their duties, the people will lose trust and confidence in the government, Marcos told the police officials.

Infant Has More Surgery

Surgery has been performed on Ashley Lewis, two-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Lewis, and apparent results will not be known for a few days yet.

This was the second round of major surgery for the infant, born with multiple birth defects. The Big Spring Shrine Club had the child rushed to the Methodist Hospital for emergency surgery to close a leakage in the spinal column. The operation was performed in an effort to circumvent a hydrocephalic condition. If the baby's prognosis is good, she then will be moved to the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's Hospital in Fort Worth.

Meanwhile, friends here continued to send contributions to the Ashley Lewis Fund at the State National Bank to help sustain the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Lewis, while they stay with Ashley. Lewis expressed deep appreciation to the Shrine and to all others who helped, noting "I thought I had a few friends in Big Spring, but I never dreamed there were so many wonderful people."

Snyder Wets Ask For New Election

Snyder "wets" haven't given up after being defeated county-wide last August in a wet-dry election. Wet forces now having secured enough votes on a petition to call for a local option election for Precinct 1 in Scurry County.

Kenneth Minyard, who filed for the petition along with 11 other Snyder residents in September, said County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth certified 781 signatures on the petition Saturday night. Petitioners needed 772 signatures.

"We've got the election call on the docket for the commissioners and I predict the election will be with the general election Nov. 7," Minyard said.

Precinct 1 includes the basically Snyder and a small contiguous rural area.
