—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said Republican campaign tactics are "the dirtiest kind of politics" in his experience, and he will seek a congressional investigation.

—McGovern decided against using a so-called television debate with Nixon in which McGovern would have responded to "filmed statements" by the President. He made the decision Wednesday after viewing a private screening of the program which had been prepared by his staff.

PUTS PLENTY OF STORE IN LAW

Pistol Packin' Preacher

HARRISON, Idaho (AP) — The Rev. Ron Mitchell is a 31-year-old Baptist pastor who puts plenty of store in the law.

Not long after taking over his additional duties here on the east shores of Coeur d'Alene Lake, the Rev. Mr. Mitchell was advised by the sheriff that two armed men were headed his way in a car. Unarmed, the clergyman halted the auto, disarmed the men and took them into custody.

He said the first day he preached here there were 30 persons in the congregation. This past summer he declined a well-meant suggestion not to conduct services on the Sunday set aside for the annual Old Timers picnic and 96 persons came to hear him preach while the celebration parade went on outside.

Acceptance Of Limited Narcotics Use Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federally financed, private study describes the government's drug-abuse-prevention program as burdened with failure and scare tactics, and suggests official acceptance of limited narcotics use.

RATLIFF LEAVES COURT AFTER SENTENCE — Former state senator David Ratliff of Stamford (white haired, center), accompanied by his wife, right, leaves district court in Austin late Wednesday night after a jury assessed a 10-year probation sentence for Ratliff who was convicted of stealing money from the state.

WORLD CRUMBLES Ratliff Draws 10 Years' Probation

AUSTIN (AP) — The world of former state Sen. David Ratliff may have "crumbled around him," but, according to Ratliff's lawyer, at least Ratliff can spend his time outside prison walls.

POCKET MONEY

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith said the total was between $35,000 and $40,000. This includes more than $10,000 the state says he pocketed from paychecks made out to Virginia Moser of Abilene, who testified she never knew Ratliff carried her on his payroll for 20 months.

NOTHING TO SAY

Smith said he would have tried Ratliff again if the jury had returned a verdict of innocent or if it had deadlocked on punishment.

GUILTY IN TORCH, SHOOTING DEATH

Receives Life Term In Prison

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An 18-year-old youth who told a story of a search for marijuana that ended in a double murder has been sentenced to life in prison.

The youth, Michael David Sanders, pleaded guilty Wednesday to the murder charges in the torch and shooting death of Mrs. Kathleen Matzlevich of Worcester, Mass., on July 16.

FLAMING CAR

Mrs. Matzlevich, 19, and her husband, Thomas, 21, were found shot and burned near their flaming car at City Park in the brushy hill country west of Austin.

Sanders was arrested six days later in Ruston, La. He first pleaded innocent at his arraignment Aug. 10, but Wednesday he and his lawyer appeared before Court Judge Tom Blackwell to enter a guilty plea.

He was charged only in the slaying of Mrs. Matzlevich, but official sources said Sanders could have been charged also with her husband's death.

Sanders took the stand and admitted shooting both Mrs. Matzlevich and her husband after he and the couple drove for several hours looking for "contact" to buy marijuana.

Mrs. Matzlevich was the daughter of Dr. John Connor Jr., school superintendent at Worcester. Thomas Matzlevich was the son of Dr. Benjamin Matzlevich, a Natick, Mass., neurosurgeon. The couple was married in January.

RIPPED US OFF

The states complaint against Sanders quoted two young men as saying they drove to Austin on July 15 with Sanders in his car "in the company of Tom and Katherine (sic) Matzlevich, who were driving their Ford automobile."

The two young men were quoted as saying that they became separated from Sanders that night and had not seen him since. They added that the last time they saw him, Sanders had a .45 caliber automatic pistol and a .22 caliber automatic.

The state produced 21 other exhibits, including statements from friends and a one signed in Carthage, Tex., by Sanders shortly after he was arrested in Louisiana.

MADE CONNECTION

Sanders said that the Matzlevich couple, as well as Sanders and two men in his car, drove from Fort Worth to Austin and checked into a motel. He said he failed in an attempt in Austin to buy marijuana when two black men "ripped us off" for $850.

He added that later that night he left the two men who had traveled with him on Interstate 35 in Austin and then went back to the motel where he talked to the Matzlevichs for about 45 minutes.

"Tom told me he had made a connection on the street and had a deal set up for some grass and it was to come off at 5 a.m. out in the hills," Sanders' statement said.

"We left the motel and I followed Tom and Kathy in my 1967 Ford Mustang coupe. We drove out Farm Road 2222 to City Park."

He said the contact failed to show up and they stood waiting until past 5:30.

He said he had given Matzlevich $255.

"He said he knew how to contact his connection and we decided to go back to town," Sanders went on. "I was about half turned around sideways to him at this time. I then pulled a .45 automatic pistol I was carrying in my right back pocket. I started firing at him, and by this time I had taken a .22 caliber revolver out of my belt with my left hand and had begun to fire with it too."

He said that "by this time Matzlevich was turned halfway around and the pistol was on the front seat."

Sanders did not specify what pistol he meant, but his statement said Matzlevich had told one of the group that left Fort Worth that he had a pistol with him. A .38 caliber pistol was found beneath Matzlevich's body.

FIRE AT HER

"I fired at her too," Sanders said referring to Mrs. Matzlevich.

Sanders said he pulled Mrs. Matzlevich's jeans down, "but I did not rape her. I did it only to try to confuse the police."

He said that later he went back to Austin and bought some gasoline and went back to the park area, poured gasoline on the couple and set them and their car on fire.

Youth Center Is Disbanded

The Big Spring Youth Center operation has disbanded after it appeared to have lost its meaning among local youth, according to a letter to the board of directors by N. E. Picquet, president of the board.

The board apparently agreed that there are a considerable number of school sponsored activities which generate activities for the youth and that there is no need at this time for a youth center as such.

In the letter the board was also told that the checking account totaled $302.61 after all bills were paid on an unsuccessful dance in June. Of this amount, $250 was repaid to the local Rotary Club for a loan and the remaining $52.61 was sent to the United Fund drive.

A letter was also sent to the school board advising them that the organization is disbanding and that their previous request for use of a school building is canceled.

Pledges Boycott Of Dallas Firms In Shootings Protest

DALLAS (AP) — The director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Dallas has pledged that the black community will boycott downtown businesses to protest what he called a grand jury "white wash" of three shooting incidents involving police.

George Holland said Wednesday night the SCLC would meet with black community leaders to plan their reaction to a grand jury decision that the shooting of three blacks by police was "justified."

PROTEST MARCHES

"We will probably resume our protest marches on Wednesday when a moratorium on them expires," Holland said. "We also will boycott downtown businesses until something positive is done by the city."

He did not specify what positive action the group would request.

The grand jury was called to investigate the three recent shootings in which blacks were shot or wounded by policemen.

The report was the result of the shootings of Napoleon Vinson, 55, on Oct. 22; Charles Brown, 23, on Oct. 13; and the wounding of Claude Williams, 23, on Oct. 23.

BLAME PRESS

The grand jury, which reported to Criminal Court Judge Jerome Chamberlain, said it was making its findings public because of the "extraordinary press coverage given these incidents."

The shootings touched off several protests marches to the city hall by Dallas blacks organized by the SCLC. A two-week moratorium was declared on the marches while the investigation was underway.

The jury report included testimony from the Internal Affairs Division of the Police Department and from several civilian witnesses.

According to police officials, Vinson was shot when he allegedly leveled a revolver at a policeman in a South Dallas house. Police said Brown pointed a pistol at a patrolman after taking it from another officer in a scuffle. And, according to the police version, Williams was wounded in the head by an officer during a narcotics raid on an apartment.

WHITE WASH

"The grand jury only hears witnesses that the police want them to hear," Holland said. "There were a lot of folks that saw the shootings that weren't called before the grand jury."

"The police tailor-made the case for the grand jury. It was just a whitewash," Holland said.

Holland said the SCLC currently is boycotting a shopping center where another shooting occurred that was not included in the grand jury report.

"Retailers do approximately 25 per cent of their business during the pre-Christmas period," Holland said. "We can cut off that money. Money is the only thing Dallas leaders understand."

Controversial Literary Figure Ezra Pound Dies

VENICE (AP) — Poet Ezra Pound, one of the most influential and controversial literary figures of the 20th century, died in a Venice hospital Wednesday night, two days after his 87th birthday. He had been hospitalized on Tuesday with an intestinal ailment.

As author of "Hugh Selwyn Mauberley" and "The Waste Land," as editor of T. S. Eliot's "Waste Land" and mentor of many writers before and after World War I, Pound changed the course of poetry and the literary use of the English language. But his reputation in his native America was clouded by broadcasts during World War II for Mussolini fascists that got him an indictment for treason and 12 years in a mental hospital in Washington, D.C.

Three Persons Slain In Auto

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Three persons were shot and killed today while sitting in a car.

The victims, all of Baton Rouge, were identified as Willie George, an employee of the state Department of Education; Lethan Griffin, unemployed, a former resident of Opelousas; and Naomi Lucas, an instructor at Southern University.

The car was parked on a street outside the university. George and the woman were in the front seat and Griffin was in the back seat of the 1972 Pontiac two-door sedan.

Officers said the three were shot at close range, probably with a .38-caliber pistol. There were two holes in the windshield and both windows on the right side were blown out.

life he cast himself as a literary rebel, and three years out of college he was fired as an instructor at Wabash College for being too bohemian and too outspoken.

He left in disgust for London in 1908 and became the leader of a group of experimental poets calling themselves "imagists" or "vortacists."

Pound traveled to France, Spain and Italy, translating the verse of the medieval troubadours. He studied Confucius and the ancient Latins, especially Ovid. His scholarship was reflected in such works as "Umbra" in 1920, his "Selected Poems" in 1928, and the "Cantos," his greatest work, that began appearing in 1925.

TREASON
Eliot, James Joyce, William Butler Yeats, D. H. Lawrence, Robert Frost, Ernest Hemingway and William Carlos Williams were among the writers he advised and influenced. And perhaps of equal importance was his missionary work on their behalf.

Pound returned to America briefly in 1939 but stayed in Italy when the war broke out.

50 Soldiers Swan Insults In Mess Hall

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army said today it was investigating a disturbance with racial overtones involving 50 soldiers at Fiegerhorst Casern in nearby Hanau.

Following the evening meal Sunday at a battalion mess hall, white soldiers chanted "white power," an Army spokesman said.

The soldiers, about equal numbers of blacks and whites, exchanged insults in the mess hall and then went outside the exchanged punches, he added.

One soldier was hospitalized for observation of a head injury and seven others were treated for minor injuries and released, the Army said.

Brig. Gen. Lee E. Surut, Hanau community leader, Lt. Col. Donald Bausler, Fiegerhorst subcommunity leader, and other commanders arrived at the scene of the incident about 20 minutes after it started and restored order, the Army stated.

White soldiers cited concern over aggressive behavior on the part of blacks as their reason for the confrontation, the Army said.

No charges will be made until the investigation is completed, the Army spokesman said.

Sniffing Dogs Sent To Texas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two city police officers, and a German shepherd and a mongrel have been temporarily assigned to Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. for training in bomb detection, police say.

"Bomb-sniffing dogs have been so successful in Vietnam and on the New York police force that we've decided they can help us," Capt. Lou Ritter of the bomb squad said Thursday.

The dogs cost about $8,000 each and an Air Force grant made the training program possible for Los Angeles, Ritter said.

TAKING NO CHANCES

No American Pilot Wants To Be Last Man Bagged

ABOARD CARRIER AMERICA off Vietnam (AP) — Because of all the talk about the possibility of a cease-fire in the Vietnam war, many pilots aboard the aircraft carrier America say they're not taking any chances.

They go after their assigned targets, but in a crunch situation caution is the key.

One squadron commander said the North Vietnamese are shooting "with everything they've got."

BIG PUSH
"It's the big push," said Cmdr. Don Summer of Houston, Tex. "They feel they're going to have a settlement soon. They're not worried about ammunition, and they're shooting everything they've got — at least that's the way it seems to me."

Last week, President Nixon ordered bombing halted above the 20th parallel, putting the Hanoi-Haiphong area and the railroads to China off limits.

"When we moved down below the 20th, they knew — so they moved their defenses down," said Summer. "It's been my observation that they're accelerating, whether it's defenses or moving supplies. The end's in sight so they're going for broke."

The America, operating off North Vietnam near the demilitarized zone, has turned into a rumor mill since Henry A. Kissinger's announcement last week that "peace is at hand."

"The rumors aboard this ship — I can't believe it," said Lt.

C. R. Campbell Is Awarded Degree

AUSTIN — The University of Texas awarded 385 master's degrees at the close of the summer session. The list of recipients includes 263 Texas residents, 84 students from other states and 38 from foreign countries.

Not included in those totals are students who received master's degrees from the Graduate School of Business and the UT Nursing School (System-wide).

Master's degree recipients from Texas, announced by Acting Dean Archie W. Stratton, include: Charles Richard Campbell, 1511 Stadium, Big Spring, master of arts.

Col. J. K. Cochran of Beaufort, N.C., who commands the only Marine attack squadron in the 7th Fleet. "You name a day between now and next April that there'll be a cease-fire, and I've heard it."

"I wish instead of doing it a little at a time, either they'd do it or not do it," said Maj. Lee "Bear" Lasseter of Lake Wales, Fla. "If they don't, it'll be a lot harder going up North later on."

DON'T RELAX
"All we're interested in is getting the job done — ending the war. The rumors have got to affect people a little bit . . . You don't want to be the last one shot down."

The pilots said safety is always a paramount concern, but as Lt. (j.g.) Marv Baldwin of Springfield, Colo., put it, "Now that there's a chance the war's going to be over, I'm extra cautious. I don't take any chances."

"It's easy for us to think too much about a cease-fire and let down," explained Lt. Cmdr. Bo Smith of Jacksonville, Fla. "As soon as you start to relax — that's when you get shot down."

TAXES, STATE FINANCING KEY ISSUES

18 States Electing Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxes, state financing and how to use new federal revenue-sharing funds are among major issues in the 18 states electing governors next Tuesday.

In many states, Republican candidates identify themselves with President Nixon's campaign theme of economy in government, while Democratic contenders are more prone to shy away from presidential nominee George McGovern's economic proposals.

UP FOR GRABS

Ten of the seats up for grabs this year are held by Democrats, eight by Republicans. All told, there are 30 Democratic governors and 20 Republicans.

A typical campaign is in McGovern's home state of South Dakota. Republican gubernatorial challenger Carveth Thompson, a state legislator, contends an expanding economy will give the state a budget surplus and that controlled state spending would provide funds for education and tax relief.

But Democratic Gov. Richard Kniep continues to press for new personal and corporate income taxes to raise $45 million for schools and to relieve property taxes. The legislature twice has said no.

Thompson's political advertisements plug himself and Nixon as a team dedicated to holding down taxes and controlling spending, and picture Kniep and McGovern pledged to a $50-million state tax and an unknown economic program nationally.

PROPERTY TAXES

In Kansas, the burden of property taxes is a central issue in the contest between Democratic Gov. Robert Docking and Republican Leader Morris Kay of the state House of Representatives.

Docking ignores McGovern's national race, while stressing his own record of tax reform. Docking would use new federal revenue-sharing funds to lower property taxes, while Kay urges spending the money to eliminate sales taxes on food and medicine.

INDUSTRIAL BOND

Allowing cities to issue bonds for the development of industries was considered a good move by the committee, Acri said. The bonds would be tax exempt providing an interest saving of 1.5 to 2 per cent, allowing underdeveloped areas to capture small industries, Acri said.

Democrat Sherman Tribbitt is seeking to unseat Delaware's GOP Gov. Russell W. Peterson with charges of fiscal mismanagement among other issues. Peterson seeks to overcome voters' memory of a $5.2-million state money crunch in 1971, which has since bounced back to a $3.2-million surplus.

CLOSE RACE

An overriding issue in Indiana is state property taxes, with both Republican candidate Dr. Otis Brown and Democrat Matthew E. Welsh favoring a hike in statewide taxes to ease property taxes. Brown's advocacy of statewide taxes has put him at odds with outgoing Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb, who can't succeed himself under the state constitution. The Brown-Welsh race looks extremely close.

NO MORE TAXES

Democrat Paul Franzburg is running an uphill fight against GOP Gov. Robert D. Ray in Iowa, accusing Ray of failing to relieve local property taxes. Franzburg also urges increased welfare for the elderly and action to stimulate industrial growth.

North Carolina Democratic gubernatorial candidate Har- grove Bowles, a millionaire Greensboro businessman, tries to keep McGovern at a distance and pledges no new state taxes. GOP candidate Jim Holshouser, an attorney, also promises no more taxes, and stresses that a Republican governor could work with a re-elected Nixon in the White House.

NO SPECIFICS

In Utah, Republican Nicholas Strike says the state could be better run by a businessman like himself. He is opposing Democratic Gov. Calvin L. Rampton's bid to become Utah's first three-term governor. Rampton accuses Strike of speaking in generalities and offering no specifics on how to improve state operations.

Property taxes are also a chief issue in Vermont, and Democratic candidate Thomas Salmon has proposed setting a limit based on individual family income. Republican contender Luther F. Hackett urges a legislative study of taxes instead. GOP Gov. Deane C. Davis is retiring.

Democrat Albert D. Rosellini is seeking to recapture the Washington governorship from Republican Dan Evans with a pledge to trim $100 million from the state budget to use on education and reducing local property taxes. Evans said the budget grew just as swiftly when Rosellini was governor, and accuses him of seeking to deceive the public by saying that a heavy cut in state spending is possible.

TEACHERS PAY HIKES

West Virginia's Republican Gov. Arch A. Moore, personally popular in a heavily Democratic state, seeks re-election on the basis of his record in highway building, teacher pay hikes, budget surpluses and bringing new business into the state. Democratic challenger John D. Rockefeller IV promises to repair secondary roads and bring new jobs to the state and contends that the legislature is responsible for most of the gains Moore claims.

Montana's Republican gubernatorial candidate Ed Smith, a state legislator, backed his own party to oppose an unpopular sales tax that was killed in the legislature. He opposes Democratic Lt. Gov. Thomas L. Judge, who points to a planned state income-tax reduction announced by retiring Democratic Gov. Forrest H. Anderson.

NEW CITIZENS' GROUP SAYS

'Don't Let Legislature Rewrite Constitution'

A new statewide organization has been formed to oppose Amendment 4 on the Nov. 7 ballot. The amendment would authorize the next Texas Legislature to convene as a constitutional convention in January 1974 to re-write the Texas Constitution. Announcement of the organization, People for a Citizens' Convention, was made today by Harold Hammett, Fort Worth attorney.

Local coordinators are currently at work in nine major metropolitan areas of Texas: Abilene, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio and Tyler.

"Efforts are under way," stated Hammett, "to recruit coordinators in the remaining metropolitan areas in the state for a final push to defeat Amendment 4."

"We feel confident that the amendment will be defeated overwhelmingly in the rural areas of the state and that is the reason we are concentrating on the major urban centers," he added.

In a prepared statement, Hammett said, "Letting the Texas Legislature re-write the Constitution is like letting the foxes guard the henhouse. The Texas Constitution needs revising, but the Texas Legislature is not the appropriate body to do it. The basic purpose of the Constitution is to set the rules for governmental officials, the Legislature included. Amendment 4 would let constitutional revision be censored by the very officials who are supposed to be under the constitution's rule."

"Amendment 4 is an unwarranted violation of the democratic principle in this nation that constitutional conventions should have specially elected delegates, not just politicians. By its own terms, Amendment 4 shows that the Mutscher legislature which passed it does not trust the people of Texas. Accordingly, the people of Texas should vote down Amendment 4. If the Legislature is really reform minded, it will stop trying to grab power for itself and will set up a procedure for a convention of specially elected delegates."

REFUSED ADOPTION — Mrs. James E. Adams, Houston, holds her foster son, Victor, for which she and her husband have cared for since infancy. Mrs. Adams said race is the only reason a state agency refuses to permit her to adopt the 6-year-old Mexican-American boy. "It's because we are Negroes," Mrs. Adams said. "We love Victor and want to keep him. The caseworkers told us we were financially able." The Harris County adoption supervisor said the County Child Welfare Unit has no set policy on multi-racial adoptions. She said, however, the unit has never let a black couple adopt a white or brown child.

TML Committee Suggests Boost In Motor Fuel Tax

An increase in the state motor fuel tax was supported Monday by a Legislative Committee on Finance of the Texas Municipal League, announced Mayor Pro-Tem Eddie Acri.

In attending the Tuesday committee meeting in Austin, Acri participated with representatives of about 25 Texas cities in formulating opinion of proposed and present legislation to present to the Texas Municipal League board. The committee recommendations will be considered by the board in forming League policy and stance on legislative issues.

The two cent gasoline tax increase recommended by the group of city officials is conceived by the League as a financial aid to municipalities, Acri noted, in that the revenues captured by the two cent increase would be divided according to the committee recommended formula of 50 per cent for rights-of-way purchases, 25 per cent for street lighting and signalization along state highways and 25 per cent for curbing and gutters. The cities presently fund those areas of highway development, Acri said.

SMALL CITIES WON

Larger cities present at the meeting supported a move allow an exemption of two cents per gallon on motor fuel purchased for use by transit system buses. Representatives of the cities of San Antonio, Amarillo and Corpus Christi related the financial disasters presently plaguing the transit systems within larger cities. The financial committee, comprised overwhelmingly of small cities, voted against the support of such legislation, Acri said.

State and local cooperative purchasing was a popular subject at the meeting, gaining support of a great majority of city officials. Under proposed legislation the State Board of Control would be authorized to establish a cooperative purchasing service for local governments. The committee approved the service, Acri said, which would allow the cities selective entering of contracts with the State and with other local governments, taking effective advantage of lower prices through volume purchases, he told.

NO BIDS

Legislation which would allow the sale of remnants of land without publicly advertising for bids was supported by the committee, Acri said. This will in some cases allow cities to gain a better price for narrow strips of land through negotiation with nearby landowners.

Problems in collection of the municipal sales tax was discussed among the city officials, Acri noted, pointing out the $13 million in delinquent taxes owed to the State and almost $600,000, Austin and Corpus Christi have $106,000 due and Marshall, $28,000. The venue of tax suit cases is in Travis County, meaning if most cities to send attorneys to Austin to help the State pursue a case. Adding to the difficulty of collecting the city's share of the tax is the act that the sales tax accounts and other records of the State Comptroller are closed. City officials are not allowed to inspect the records and many believe that certain businesses within their city limits are not listed in the Comptroller's city sales tax records at all, Acri said.

The subject was referred to a subcommittee to further investigate two possibilities for corrective legislation, Acri explained. The first would require the comptroller to collect the entire amount of taxes due, including the portion due municipalities. Another possibility would allow cities to file suit within their own counties to initiate action against delinquent accounts, he said.

Also referred for subcommittee study was a move to change or modify the State laws to remedy injustice in property taxation and to facilitate the assessment and collection of ad valorem taxes in Texas.

NO BANK

The committee opposed legislation forming a municipal bond bank in Texas, Acri said, explaining that a number of other ways in which states can reduce the cost of local borrowing should be considered. State involvement in the issuance and promotion of local government bonds can reduce interest costs without going as far as to create this kind of mechanism.

INDUSTRIAL BOND

Allowing cities to issue bonds for the development of industries was considered a good move by the committee, Acri said. The bonds would be tax exempt providing an interest saving of 1.5 to 2 per cent, allowing underdeveloped areas to capture small industries, Acri said.

Phils Pick Ozark For Manager's Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Danny Ozark, the surprise sweepstakes winner in the Philadelphia Phillies managerial derby, says there's nothing wrong with the perennial last-place baseball team that proper attitude and fundamentals can't cure.

The 48-year-old Ozark, handed a two-year contract to manage the Phillies, said the team was lax in fundamentals and had a losing attitude. He told his first news conference here Wednesday night that the 1972 Phillies threw too many times to the wrong base, made many wrong plays and stood at the plate taking too many third strikes.

Before Ozark described the Phillies as a team loaded with young talent that needs proper instruction to become a National League pennant contender, General Manager Paul Owens told how the veteran Los Angeles Dodgers' minor league manager and coach got the job.

Owens said Ozark did not apply until last week. He said the report was correct that he had decided to hire Dave Bristol, the former Cincinnati and Milwaukee manager.

"I did not know at that time that Danny Ozark would be available. He was not under consideration at the time of the World Series."

Ozark signed with the Dodgers in 1942, as a minor league first baseman. He never made the majors and later became a manager in the Dodgers' farm system. He was promoted to the Los Angeles coaching staff in 1965, and since has coached at first and third base.

Adderly Joins Hayes, Alworth On 'Poke Bench

DALLAS (AP) — Cornerback Herb Adderly, a five-time Super Bowl starter, is the latest victim of Coach Tom Landry's effort to shake up his World Champion, joining former stars Bob Hayes and Lance Alworth in the doghouse.

Adderly was benched Wednesday, and replaced by third-year man Charlie Waters for Sunday's National Football League game with San Diego.

The Cowboys, who own a 5-2 season record, are one game behind Washington in the National Conference East.

Landry benched Hayes and Alworth in favor of Billy Parks and Ron Sellers for Monday night's 24-20 victory over Detroit and said the duo again would start against the Chargers.

"Our situation is critical," Landry said. "We can't afford another loss."

Landry said Adderly "hasn't performed consistently. He's in a slump and he's not making the plays. That doesn't mean to say he won't come back. He's a great guy and a great competitor. He hasn't been the starter in five Super Bowls for nothing. I'm sure he'll come back and play well again."

Landry said "You must make changes as you see them. There's no room for second place on this team. You must make changes in areas that aren't working well."

Adderly was beaten on a touchdown pass in the closing minutes of Monday night's game.

Landry said Adderly took the demotion "like a professional."

Landry has been particularly tight since Dallas' 24-20 loss to Washington two weeks ago. He even removed his Super Bowl VI ring, telling his squad "I won't put it back on until we start playing like champions."

And he's made it clear that he will bench anyone who doesn't play up to those standards.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jack Kelly Jr., president of the Amateur Athletic Union, has called for a congressional investigation into the activities and function of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Kelly, a former Olympic oarsman, said Wednesday he will ask that a special commission be formed to determine the legitimate scope of the NCAA's activities, including methods of enforcement employed by the NCAA's executive offices under Executive Director Walter Byers.

Delaware Holds Onto Top Spot

PROGRESS STALLED — Philadelphia 76ers' Fred Boyd (18) has his forward progress slowed by Houston Rockets' Rudy Tomjanovich (45) and Don Smith (6) in an NBA contest in Philadelphia Wednesday. Tomjanovich scored 16 points in the game to push the Rockets past the Philadelphia crew, 108-104.

Kuhn Fines A's' Finley

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has put the touch on Oakland owner Charles O. Finley for $2,500 and the baseball boss wasn't even a hero in the World Series.

Finley's habit of rewarding various players with $5,000 bonuses for their Series accomplishments violated baseball law which prohibits incentive bonuses, according to the commissioner. Series hero Gene Tenace and outfielder Joe Rudi both received the instant payoffs from their boss following the second game of the Series.

Utilityman Mike Hegan also received a pay hike following the American League playoffs.

Kuhn said that Finley's fine "was not intended to affect the commitments made by Finley to the players." That statement left Finley mystified.

"The commissioner rules the players can still get the money but I'm supposedly violating a rule and I'm fined," he said.

Finley said the bonuses were given for the performances of the players during the regular season. He insisted that he had explained to the commissioner that the bonuses were not for Series performances.

"I reiterate my statements made to the commissioner during the World Series. All these payments to Rudi, Hegan and Tenace were predicated on the outstanding performances they had during the year."

Kelly Calls For Probe

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jack Kelly Jr., president of the Amateur Athletic Union, has called for a congressional investigation into the activities and function of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Kelly, a former Olympic oarsman, said Wednesday he will ask that a special commission be formed to determine the legitimate scope of the NCAA's activities, including methods of enforcement employed by the NCAA's executive offices under Executive Director Walter Byers.

Delaware Holds Onto Top Spot

The University of Delaware continues as the No. 1 team in the college division football poll. The Blue Hens gave Coach Tubby Raymond his 51st career coaching victory last Saturday and maintained an unbeaten record for this season.

Delaware, 7-0, received 14 first-place votes and a total of 338 points in the voting by sports writers and broadcasters conducted by The Associated Press. The team beat Temple 28-9 last weekend.

Louisiana Tech, which held the top spot for two weeks earlier in the season, remained No. 2 with three votes for first and 290 points. It has an 8-0 record and routed Southeast Louisiana 21-0 last Saturday.

Cal Poly—San Luis Obispo, 6-0, finished in third place in the poll with 229 points while Tennessee State, 6-1, received one first-place and holds fourth.

Ashland, 8-0, moved from seventh to fifth and McNeese State, 6-1, fell from fifth to seventh. North Dakota, 8-1, holds the sixth place.

Fresno State and Western Illinois, ninth and 10th a week ago, lost Saturday and dropped from the poll. They were replaced by Grambling in ninth and Massachusetts.

ANOTHER BASKET FOR BING — Dave Bing shows the form that got him a game-high total of 38 points Wednesday night as the Detroit Pistons held off Seattle for a 116-106 National Basketball Association victory over the SuperSonics. Knicks Rock Kings 76ers Drop 10th Straight Game

By The Associated Press

The New York Knicks are going places... and the Philadelphia 76ers are going someplace else.

The Knicks continued their hot pace in the National Basketball Association by beating the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 122-85 Wednesday night for their seventh straight victory.

The winless 76ers, meanwhile, stayed ice-cold by dropping a 108-104 decision to the Houston Rockets for their 10th straight loss.

New York's victory, fashioned behind the scoring of Walt Frazier, Dean Meminger and Earl Monroe, boosted the Knicks' record to 9-1 and moved them within a half-game of the idle Boston Celtics in the NBA's Atlantic Division.

The 76ers dropped deeper in the Atlantic, 9½ games off the pace.

In the only other NBA game played Wednesday night, the Detroit Pistons trimmed the Seattle SuperSonics 116-106.

The Knicks hit their first seven shots and vaulted into a 14-2 lead, then finished off the Kings with a 41-point fourth quarter with Meminger scoring 15 of his 21 points. Frazier had a team-leading 22 points for the winners while Monroe threw in 20.

Johnny Green of the Kings played in his 1,000th NBA game, a plateau achieved by only two others—Hal Greer and Dolph Schayes. Nate Archibald, the NBA's leading scorer, led the losers with a season-low of 19 points.

Rudy Tomjanovich scored 16 points in the final period to help the Rockets trim the 76ers. Tomjanovich, who finished with 23 points, started his late streak with eight straight field goals with 11 minutes remaining as Houston took a 77-76 lead.

Dave Binz scored 36 points and Bob Lanier had 31 to lead Detroit past Seattle.

Charles O. Finley was fined $2,500 Wednesday and then had more bad news Wednesday night when his Memphis Tams lost a game in the American Basketball Association.

Finley, hit with the fine for giving increased compensation to some of his Oakland players during baseball's recent World Series, made it an imperfect day after his ABA club was spanked 107-101 by the San Diego Conquistadors. Ollie Taylor scored 22 points to lead San Diego and hand the Tams their sixth straight defeat.

In Wednesday's other ABA games, the Indiana Pacers smashed the Virginia Squires 120-109 and the Utah Stars trimmed the Denver Rockets 122-113.

The Conquistadors rallied from a 79-69 deficit midway through the third period as they beat the Tams for the third straight time.

George Thompson of Memphis led all scorers with 37 points.

George McGinnis scored 30 points and hauled down a ca-

TAKES INJURED GRIESE'S PLACE Earl Morrall's Back On The Firing Line

By FRANK MACOMBER, Copley News Service

Griese has been sidelined with injuries.

A few weeks ago Morrall was one of the forgotten in pro football. Now he has emerged a second time as the man of the hour, just as he did in 1968 when an elbow injury to the Colts' Unitas pushed Morrall onto the field. That year he won most valuable player honors and the role of Super Bowl III starter for the Colts.

The injury is different today. So are some of the rules. But the can-do drive which Morrall brought with him when the 49er's drafted him in the first round of 1966 is essentially the same.

"Don Shula brought me here to be ready and to step in if necessary," Earl says. "It's a role I've played before."

Not everybody has the patience and determination to stay in the wings virtually unnoticed until the star performer is brought low.

Morrall has hung his hat in places like San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Detroit, New York and Baltimore before landing in Miami. When he first came to camp with the Dolphins, Morrall left his family at home. Chances are he might not have come at all if it had not been for Shula. Morrall and his wife decided it would be unwise to uproot their two youngsters from a Baltimore high school.

Morrall had no way of knowing whether he would play for the Dolphins or watch from the bench. He only knew that Shula had been a good friend and had helped out with family problems in an emergency when the Giants unexpectedly dealt Morrall to Baltimore for a draft choice.

With people like Shula, it's hard to say no, Morrall said later. For years, Morrall has played for coaches. Now he is playing for a coach — and a warm friend.

"It makes a big difference," says Morrall.

In the American League, Allen was named Player of the Year and Wood was the Pitcher of the Year.

SAINTS CLIP WINNEPEG WHA Offers Instant Parity

By The Associated Press

The World Hockey Association, with its 12 brand new teams, offers one commodity big league hockey has sought for a long time. Instant parity.

In a league where every team is starting out fresh, there is little chance for one club to dominate another. The best example came Wednesday night when the WHA's two last-place clubs beat the two division leaders.

The Minnesota Fighting Saints, last in the West, whipped division-leading Winnipeg 3-0, and Philadelphia, on the bottom of the East, knocked off frontrunning Cleveland 7-5.

In the only other WHA game played Wednesday, New England tripped Chicago 4-2.

Philadelphia, with only one victory in its first nine games, got four goals from Danny Lawson and some spectacular goaltending from Marcel Paille to beat Cleveland.

Paille kicked off 42 shots and Lawson scored three of the Blazers' first four goals. Derek Sanderson also connected for Philadelphia, beating his old Boston Bruin teammate, goalie Gerry Cheevers, on a breakaway.

U.S. Olympic hero Mike Curran stopped 41 Winnipeg shots as Minnesota shut out the Jets.

Curran kept the Saints in the scoreless game until Craig Falkman's goal, with five minutes left in the second period, put Minnesota in front. George Konik and Mike Antonovich had the other Minnesota goals.

Hometown hero Kevin Ahearn scored two goals for New England as the Whalers whipped Chicago.

Ahearn, a former Boston College star, tied the score at 2-2 late in the second period and then assisted on Tom Earl's third-period goal for New England. Then he wrapped up the victory with a back-hander for his second goal of the game and third this season.

BROWNS' KICKER Reversal For Cockroft

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — his hometown of Denver.

For the first time since 1968 the Cleveland Browns can send their kicking units on the football field confident that good things will happen.

And the strangest part about the whole thing is that Don Cockroft was their kicker in 1968 and is still their kicker today.

After a sensational rookie year when he connected on 18 of 24 field goal tries, Cockroft had three mediocre seasons in which he averaged less than 40 yards a punt and was successful on only 50 per cent of his field goal attempts.

This season Cockroft has reversed himself and last Sunday reached the peak of his National Football League career by booting a 57-yard field goal in his hometown of Denver.

The boot is the second longest in NFL history, surpassed only by the 63-yarder made by Tom Dempsey without a rush by the other team because it was a free kick.

The former Adams State College standout is the most prolific field goal kicker in the league this season with 10 successes in 12 tries and his punting average of 46.1 is second best in the NFL.

And when Cockroft takes the field against the Houston Oilers in rematch at Cleveland Municipal Stadium he'll go in with more punts (45) than anyone in the league, too.

"The way Don's been hitting the ball he deserved the chance to kick that 57-yarder," said Browns Coach Nick Skorich. "He's been getting great carry on the ball this season and has worked very hard."

Skorich did admit that Denver's Mile High Stadium helped the kick because it's an open field.

"It has no high sides," said Skorich, "and the wind has better force. It was blowing pretty hard so I decided to give him the chance to go for it."

Cockroft credits a new-found confidence with his success this season.

"I went to camp telling myself I was the Browns' kicker even though I knew I'd be in competition with George Hunt of Tennessee," said Cockroft.

"Before I had found failure tough to take. Now I believe I'm more mature and relaxed and this has improved by kicking," Cockroft said.

Lee's Tom Dollahite Takes Punting Lead

Tom Dollahite's 40-plus average for the night against the Big Spring Steers propelled the Midland Lee kicker into the lead for the punting crown in District 5-AAAA.

Dollahite's average is 44.6 per kick. Davis is booting the ball at a 40.6 clip.

Earl Reynolds is Big Spring's sole representative in the top 15 rushers in the district.

Nate Poss of Big Spring has moved to second in the league in pass receiving.

Carlton Wins Young Award

NEW YORK (AP) — To the surprise of absolutely no one, Philadelphia's Steve Carlton has won the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the National League.

Carlton was the unanimous choice of the 24-man committee of baseball writers.

The lean left-hander, who accounted for 46 per cent of Philadelphia's 50 victories last season, is only the sixth unanimous selection in the 16-year history of the balloting.

Carlton pitched 120 points for his ballot sweep—five points for each first place vote.

Carlton's 27 victories topped the majors and tied the National League record for a left-hander set by Hall of Famer Sandy Koufax.

Whenever Carlton pitched, he filled Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium, providing the lone bright spot in an otherwise bleak season for the Phillies.

It was a contract squabble between Carlton and St. Louis owner Gusse Busch that caused the Cardinals to trade the lefty to Philadelphia for pitcher Rick Wise during spring training.

Rod Gilbert, Rod Seiling and Vic Hadfield all scored goals for the Canadiens.

Toronto jumped from a 1-1 tie to a 4-1 lead in less than five minutes of the second period.

Law Morrison had two goals for NHL newcomer Atlanta.

John Stewart added the winners' last goal.

Herzog Gets Texas Post

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Dorrel "Whitey" Herzog, director of the New York Mets farm system, was named manager of the Texas Rangers today.

Herzog, 42, who succeeded Ted Williams after four years as Ranger manager, spent six years with the Mets under his former captaincy.

He played as a major leaguer for Kansas City, Baltimore, Detroit, Washington and the New York Yankees.

Ranger owner Bob Short made the announcement, saying: "Whitey has signed a contract for the next two years and I hope as long as he wants."

Terms of the contract were not announced.

Parnelli Jones Wins Mexican

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) — Parnelli Jones piloted a modified Ford Bronco to his second straight Mexican 1000 off-road race victory today.

Jones, 39, from Rolling Hills, Calif., drove into La Paz at 1:40 a.m. PST, 1,000 miles and 16 hours, 47 minutes and 35 seconds after he and co-driver Bill Stroppe, 52, of Long Beach, Calif., left Mexicali on the California-Mexico border.

Race officials said although Jones crossed the finish line while all other competitors were reported no further than San Ignacio, the seventh of 10 checkpoints, his time was not a record for the annual race.

John Ulfeldt, 29, of La Canada, Calif., suffered two fractured knees Wednesday afternoon when his vehicle flipped three times 20 miles west of the first checkpoint, El Crucero.

vehicle's driver, Sandy Cone, were taken to El Centro, Calif., Community Hospital where Ulfeldt was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Motorcycles roared out of Mexicali first followed by four-wheel vehicles at one-minute intervals Wednesday morning.

From there the racers, going day and night, sped through a rugged, rock-strewn area with either twisted, potted roads or no roads at all.

The early leader, Mickey Thompson, went out of the race after the driveshaft broke on his Chevrolet-powered vehicle near San Inez, 340 miles from the start.

Rolf Tibblin, of La Mesa, Calif., was listed as the leading motorcyclist on a 450 c.c. Husqvarna.

'Wild West Show' Will Benefit GOP

By The Associated Press

A star-spangled crowd of celebrities will fly into Dallas Friday for a giant "Wild West" reception to benefit Republican candidates.

Vice President Spiro Agnew, retired singer Frank Sinatra, movie stars John Wayne and Zsa Zsa Gabor and former astronaut Buss Aldrin will head the group. They will attend a $50-a-ticket fund-raising reception at Dallas Convention Center to honor Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, and President Nixon.

About 5,000 persons are expected at the western motif party. Entertainment will include a "Wild West Show" and western games of chance, plus Lionel Hampton and Tex Ritter with their bands.

NO SPEECHES

The reception will have no speeches, although a telephone call from the president, broadcast over a speaker system to all in the audience, is planned.

The Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. George McGovern, will revisit Texas Saturday.

McGovern will be in Waco at 1 p.m. for an afternoon rally and then fly to Corpus Christi for another rally at 3:30 p.m.

President Nixon picked up another defector from the Democratic party Wednesday with the declaration by Texas House Speaker Rayford Price that he would vote for Nixon and Sen. John Tower for reelection.

Price, who will leave the Legislature in January because he lost a re-election bid in the primaries, said he took his stand mainly because of McGovern's views on national defense and treaty obligations.

"Texas went for President Eisenhower in 1952 to protect its tidelands. I know in 1972 it will go for President Nixon to protect its freedom," Price said.

for the resignations of lobbyists now serving on state boards.

"When I'm elected we're going to make duty—not dole—the key word in appointments," Grover said.

Democratic candidate Dolph Briscoe responded to statements that he is waging a "lackluster" campaign in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. "I decided a long time ago, that I could look back on with pride when it is all over," he said.

TRUE TEST

"In the U.S. Senate race, Democrat Barefoot Sanders said in Fort Worth that action taken in the next five years to protect the environment "will determine the course of mankind for hundreds of years to come."

Sanders told students at Texas Christian University, "I believe that we can clean up air and water and I believe that we can do it while continuing to have economy growth. Full enforcement of present environmental protection laws is the first step toward cleaning up our air and water... We have strong laws.

It's time they were enforced uniformly."

In Houston, the Republican nominee for state treasurer, Maurice Angly of Austin, told a group of Negro business men that he would change the "lily white" look of the state treasury office if he defeats incumbent Democrat Jesse James.

Angly, 32, said he planned to hire representatives of minorities at all levels of his administration. But he said, "if the minorities can get the job done, they'll get the job. But if they can't they're not going to get the job."

BOTH SIDES JOCKEY FOR TERRITORY

Reds Launch Nearly 150 Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops and tanks overran another border camp in the Central Highlands today as both South and North Vietnamese fought to expand their territorial control before a cease-fire.

The South Vietnamese reported nearly 150 enemy attacks during the 24 hours ending at dawn and said it was the largest number recorded in any 24-hour period of the war. But many of them were small-scale rocket and mortar barrages.

CAMP OVERRUN

The Duc Co border camp was the third frontier base overrun in the highlands in less than a month. Scores of rangers were reported to have escaped. But the fate of 60 men who had been wounded in the fighting was not known.

Duc Co fell just before dawn. U.S. and South Vietnamese helicopter gunships and bombers attacked the North Vietnamese force around the clock, and field reports said at least three of the enemy's T54 medium tanks were knocked out.

Helicopters were unable to lift out the wounded because of heavy anti-aircraft fire from the camp.

Duc Co, 12 miles from the Cambodian border and 27 miles southwest of Pleiku, was the fourth frontier camp in the highlands to come under heavy attack. Ben Het and Dak Seang were overrun last month.

Sixty miles north of Duc Co, North Vietnamese troops with four tanks attacked the Tan Canh Base which the South Vietnamese recaptured last Monday.

STOP TANKS

South Vietnamese gunships reportedly broke up the attack and the pilots said they knocked out two of the tanks and drove off the other two.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese forces on the northern front were reported to have recaptured Fire Base Barbara, between Hue and Quang Tri. Barbara was abandoned early in the North Vietnamese offensive that began March 30.

The South Vietnamese command also claimed that government forces had driven enemy troops from a number of hamlets ranging from 12 miles northwest of Saigon to 20 miles east of the capital.

The U.S. Command reported that search teams had recovered the bodies of 12 of the 22 Americans killed Tuesday when a big U.S. helicopter crashed into a flooded rice field in the Mekong Delta 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Viet Cong in a broadcast said its forces shot down the helicopter, and Hanoi Radio in another broadcast commented: "These won't be the last Americans to give their lives in Vietnam if President Nixon keeps stalling the signing of the peace treaty."

Three Russian Engineers Help Snyder Plant Become Efficient

SNYDER, Tex. (AP) — It may not have rye bread and borsch, but three Russian technicians who have been living in this small town for several weeks are discovering that America, West Texas style, isn't too bad.

Accompanied by an efficient blonde American interpreter, they have sampled beer, barbecue, bourbon, enchiladas and that special West Texas delight, the rodeo.

SOCIALIZED

They have socialized with residents in their homes and they have pondered the peculiarities of American television while relaxing in the motel rooms where they live. One even went hunting in New Mexico with a bow and arrow.

But mostly they've lent their technological skills to a high stakes business venture, the revitalization of American Magnesium Co., one of two U. S. elements.

Here on loan from their government, the engineering specialists are O. G. Desyatnikov, 50; Nikolay V. Bondarenko, 40; and Alexander P. Bogdanov, 35.

Desyatnikov, tall, wavy haired and slightly somber, is the deputy chief engineer of the All-Union Aluminum and Magnesium Institute, or VAMI in Leningrad.

TARGET DATE

Bondarenko, balding and amiable looking, is the head scientist at the VAMI institute.

Bogdanov, a lean, gregarious person, is assistant manager of the Zaparozhe Metallurgical Plant, a Ukraine facility near the Black Sea.

Two of the three arrived here Sept. 20 and all will end their Texas assignment Nov. 27, target date for concluding the secrecy-shrouded test project.

American Magnesium was forced to shut down operations last year when the Texas Air Control Board ruled it was violating air pollution regulations. Formed in 1968, it was operating with 200 employees at the time.

Now the company is converting from the German-designed magnesium production cell to the Russian VAMI cell, and expects a more efficient process of producing the aluminum-like metal as well as clearance from the Air Control Board.

WATCHING

The company's administrative manager, E. D. Loyd, said, "we're watching the results with optimism and caution but indications are good."

The process, utilizing vast quantities of brine piped into the plant from adjacent Borden County, represents a pilot project which Loyd said could lead to "substantial" expansion.

The Russian advisers live in Snyder's American Motel and spend most of their time at the plant, 10 miles to the west and surrounded by mesquite trees and wide open spaces.

They are accompanied by day, and often by night, by Mrs. Lillian Kassady, an interpreter from Colorado who doubles as their chauffeur.

All three speak some english, but reluctantly, for fear their remarks might be misinterpreted.

Loyd describes the trio as "pleasant, witty, intelligent and very well educated. They are personable and polite and extremely interesting to talk with."

And, he said, "they've made a very favorable impression on the people they've come in contact with."

FISH EATERS

"The only odd thing about them," said a waitress in the motel restaurant, "is that they nearly always insist on some form of fish with their meal—we sell a lot of shrimp and oysters."

Across the highway is Snyder's only night spot, the Club 250, which, perhaps coincidentally, charges $2.50 for temporary drinking privileges.

"They've not set foot in here," the bartender disclosed. In an interview, Desyatnikov laughed about the renowned Russian proclivity toward vodka, and said through the interpreter:

"Historically, the French and the Italians are first in drinking

Therefore, we've gotten along fine on juices... but when offered a drink we don't turn it down."

The visitors found American food similar to Russian cuisine in some respects but felt the quantity here is excessive.

Barbecue and pizza fared well and Mexican food reminded them of Georgian food—"the spiciness." But steaks were the big winner.

NOT BAD

American whiskey's not bad, they said, but Armenian and Georgian cognac is better.

Television's okay, particularly the musical shows, but the commercials are not. They prefer to read and work.

The rodeo was interesting and a western "honky tonk" dance at the city of Big Spring was "great fun... we love the music and love to dance... a unique evening."

For souvenirs they lean toward small items which typify the southwest—Indian relics, Mexican handcraft, arrowheads, postcards.

One purchased a bridal gown and veil for his son's bride and another a housecoat for his mother's birthday. The third bought material for an evening gown for his wife.

Their kids can expect western outfits.

Shaking Off Cold Weather

By The Associated Press

Texas started shaking off today the effects of the sharpest cold spell so far this season, although freezing weather lingered in the Panhandle.

In the wake of a cold front that set off widespread rains before crossing the coast into the Gulf of Mexico, there was considerable early morning fog over East Texas.

Skies cleared in other sections except for clouds over extreme South Texas.

Among points in the fog belt were Longview, Tyler, Lufkin and Houston.

Rush Planes To Vietnamese Force In Crash Upgrading

SAIGON (AP) — The United States is rushing millions of dollars worth of military supplies to South Vietnam in a crash program to beat the signing of a cease-fire agreement.

For the first time the South Vietnamese are getting four-engine C130 transport planes.

Both the U.S. Command and the 7th Air Force refused to discuss the military aid program. But informed sources said it goes well beyond the equipment originally planned for in the Vietnamization schedule.

The draft peace agreement, which calls for withdrawal of all American troops from Vietnam within 60 days of signing, stipulates that the United States can replace existing military equipment only on a one-to-one basis with weapons of the same characteristics or similar characteristics and properties, under international supervision.

Anticipating the agreement will be signed soon, the Pentagon is sending scores of transports into Saigon from bases in the United States carrying military equipment including armored personnel carriers and $1.3 million Chinook helicopters.

Five of the C130s, the work horse of the Vietnam war, arrived at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base Thursday. They were the first to be turned over to the South Vietnamese air force.

More C130s are scheduled to arrive soon for Saigon's air force, which has had only twin-engine C123 transports. They carry 24,000 pounds of cargo or 60 fully equipped troops; the C130s can handle more than 36,000 pounds or 92 fully equipped troops.

The C130 is also faster than the C123 and has twice the range of the smaller plane.

As far as can be learned, South Vietnamese pilots have not yet been trained to fly the C130s nor have mechanics been trained to service them.

U.S. C5A cargo planes from the United States are also seen more frequently at Tan Son Nhut, unloading such big items as armored personnel carriers and disassembled Chinook helicopters.

Bucking Horse Of Year Award Goes To Descent

DENVER, Colo. — A 16-year-old Palomino gelding was named Bucking Horse of the Year for a record sixth season, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Descent, owned by Beutler Brothers and Cervi stock contracting company, based at Sterling, Colo., received the 1972 award as the result of a vote among the top 15 saddle bronc riders in world championship standings.

The hearty healthy animal, who has dusted nearly every top saddle bronc rider in the last eight years, received eight of the 15 votes; the other votes were split between Reg Kesler's Rodey News, 1970 Bucking Horse of the Year, and Tommy Steiner's Bear Den.

Descent won the coveted title from 1966 through 1969. He was injured in the wreck of a semi-trailer early in 1970, and didn't regain his bucking prowess fully back until the 1971 season, when he again captured the title.

Fealed on a ranch near Browning, Mont., Descent simply wouldn't take to the saddle. He was used one summer as a packhorse in Glacier National Park, a duty that usually takes much of the spunk out of previously troublesome horses.

Descent, however, came back far from reformed, and was put into the Beutler Brothers string in 1964.

Breakups Leave Mental Woes

By PETER H. BROWN
Copley News Service

Psychiatrists are hunting for a comforting substitute for the American family — which they say is falling apart.

The secure, fireside family unit of the 1930s has been dissolving since World War II, psychiatrists say.

And this dissolution is leaving behind it a trail of increasing mental and adolescent problems related to divorce.

"If you ask me, the most pressing challenge facing psychiatry today is to compensate for this loss," says Dr. Melvin Goldzband of the American Psychiatric Association.

Further, Dr. Goldzband thinks his colleagues may even have to provide a "semblance of family structure."

"The lack of a father has become a basic cause of people problems in this country," said the psychiatrist in an interview.

"Children who live in broken homes begin to see the father as a weak figure. They see the man as a weak figure — a sort of 'situation comedy man.'"

Psychiatrists feel that psychiatry is on the way to providing powerful compensation for broken families.

"The benefits of dramatic developments since World War II are helping us meet this crisis," said Dr. Perry Talkington, president of the American Psychiatric Association.

Dr. Talkington, of Dallas, Tex., says the most successful of the techniques has been the "joint family therapy" method.

"We have learned that it does not pay off to treat just one sick adolescent and then send him back to a family situation that produced his problem," said Dr. Talkington.

"We sometimes found that, although we do our job and cure a boy so the family cannot again cause him mental problems, the family may well produce a second child with the same problems."

"So we work with the total family, and help them understand how they relate to each other. We help them cope."

Dr. Goldzband says she sees two national trends that can offset the disasters of broken homes:

—Prevention clinics where psychiatrists work in the suburbs and help the families deal with the anxieties that can follow divorce.

—Professional teams who deal with young parents and young parents-to-be. "These teams can be successful by nipping in the bud problems that may be starting between husband and wife and between parents and children."

Dr. Goldzband sees prevention as a mandatory goal.

"If we do not step in and prevent the problems before they start then we will have a spiraling course of mental illness."

Gregg Is Speaker At ABC Meeting

The American Business Club will have as its guest speaker Friday James Gregg, city attorney for Big Spring. The meeting takes place at noon at the Settles Hotel.

The Ambucs will host four Big Spring High School girls who will visit to see what a service club does at one of its regular sessions.

Gregg, relatively new to Big Spring, is working on a backlog of legal problems concerning the city.

Don Worthan Appointed MS Campaign Chairman

Don Worthan, president of the Big Spring Jaycees, has been named area campaign chairman for the 1972 Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest Appeal to be held Nov. 13. Worthan is a 22-year resident of Big Spring and employed by the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

According to Worthan, "Sixty cents of every dollar contributed during the MS Campaign will remain in the Permian Basin Chapter for equipment and services to patients and their families; the remaining 40 cents of every dollar is sent to the National MS Research Program to find the cause, cure and prevention for this dread disease."

"I feel honored to head the chapter's appeal this year," he said.

Worthan expressed confidence for the success of the local effort saying, "I feel certain that the citizens of Big Spring and all the surrounding towns can be counted on to cooperate in making this vital campaign even better than last year. Nationally, the Jaycees have adopted MS as a cause. We have a personal interest because of Bill Brownfield, the writer of the Jaycee creed; he died two years ago of MS."

Multiple sclerosis is a progressive disabling disease of the central nervous system — the brain and spinal cord. It distorts and sometimes completely blocks nerve impulses that control all bodily functions. This disease generally strikes young persons between the ages of 20 and 40 and, hence, its identification as "The Great Crippler of young adults."

This is the only fund raising operation for the year for the MS Society and should not be confused with the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon or any other muscular dystrophy activities.

DON WORTHAN

"Don't tell me it's post time already!"

'Press Watch Dog Must Not Be Turned Into Police Dog'

By JO BRIGHT

"The watch dog is being turned into a police dog when a newsman or newswoman must go to jail rather than violate a confidence," said Richard Seaman, managing editor, Austin American-Statesman, when he spoke to Texas Press Women during an "All Star Final" breakfast Sunday in Burnet.

"Your Right to Know and Not Tell" was Seaman's topic as he discussed the possibility of a "shield law" to protect members of the news media in their job of uncovering corruption in government or other areas of society.

"Traditionally, the public likes to see reporters protecting their interest," continued the speaker, "and we are continuing to put light in dark corners. Unfortunately, we are no longer the darling of the public, for a few high-placed persons have tried to turn us into favorite whipping boys."

"Some of the public seems to blame the press for bad news; perhaps they would rather it lie hidden. A newsman's duty is to probe into areas which are suspect, and his role as watch dog and bull dog for the public is endangered when he is forced to testify or go to jail in protecting his source of tips. Many citizens want to see wrongs corrected, but do not want to become involved themselves. They offer information to newsmen only with the promise that it will be held confidential. If this confidence is violated, who then will be willing to work with the newsman in protecting the public?"

Citing current cases of newsmen who have gone to jail while protecting their sources, Seaman said, "So far, it has been only a few, but the public must not lose sight of these few when they disappear behind bars, for it is a loss of the public's freedom as well as that of the press."

"The people are the true victims," said Seaman, "when a reporter must tell all he knows and show all he has. The First Amendment ('freedom of the press') specifically prohibits Congress from endangering the press, but it neglects to say anything which would keep the Supreme Court from doing it. Some state legislatures would like to see the news media suppressed, especially those like the Pennsylvania legislature which was upset when reporters uncovered their plan to vote themselves a 62 per cent raise in salary.

"Since 1848, reporters have been under fire from some lawyers and judges, and state statutes are about our only shield of protection. Now, the press is being made a political issue by some candidates who would prefer that we not be poking around. As always happens, the voters turned out some good with bad in Austin, and we lost some who championed our cause."

"We must not give up. An informed and aware public, along with honest judges, can protect the press and keep it working for them if they will recognize the present danger to themselves in a threat to the freedom of the press."

Drop-In Guests Are Welcome

By BARBARA LORD

There's no such thing as an "unexpected guest" in the Bob Lewis home. Even if the Lewises haven't specifically asked anyone to come by, they always expect and even welcome visitors.

"I prepare big dinners with extra portions in case someone decides to drop in," said Mrs. Lewis (Marsha). "We invite people over every weekend but, even then, we usually have more than we invite just from people stopping by to say 'hi.' We love it that way. I cook up a big casserole or batch of chili-con carne and people are welcome to have some."

Having company is a way of life for the Lewises, and the atmosphere of their ranch home on Garden City Route is one of informal friendliness that makes everyone feel welcome. Lewis is co-owner of Quality Auto Sales on Fourth Street, in addition to owning 1,300 acres of cotton, 5/8 sections of pasture and 40 to 50 head of cattle. The Lewises have three sons, Danny, 16, Bobby, 14, and John 5, and one daughter, Sadie, 6.

RANCH "HOBBY"

"Actually, right now the ranch is more of a hobby than a vocation," said Mrs. Lewis, "and all this rain we're having isn't helping us make the cotton and profitable. We're happy we moved out of the city. There's plenty of room here for our family and anyone else that wants to visit."

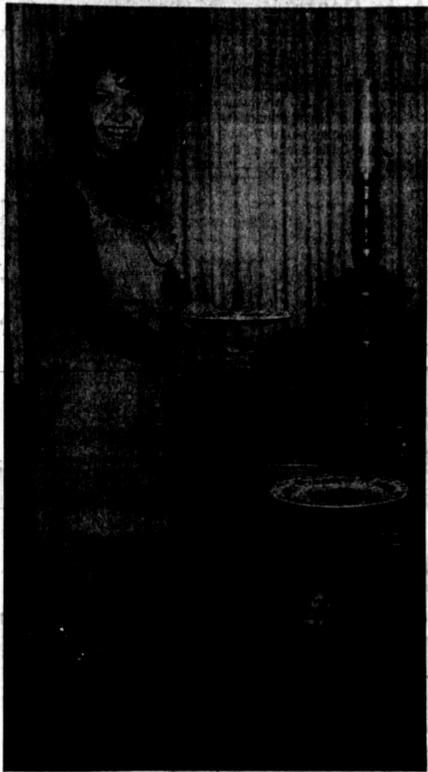

Mrs. Lewis is a country girl at heart. She has always been an avid horsewoman. She admitted she was a tomboy when growing up and said she really "practiced and learned the homemaking arts on Bob." The family participates in the Youth Horsemen Club.

"I wasn't interested in anything but climbing trees and riding horses," said Mrs. Lewis. "I've learned quite a bit now, and cooking has become one of my favorite activities. I fix pretty plain foods, but a lot of whatever it is."

Mrs. Lewis said her children keep her pretty tied to the home and she "wouldn't have it any other way." She enjoys their activities which include everything from piano lessons to sports and working on car engines.

"There's an awful lot of washing and cooking involved with a family the size of ours," said Mrs. Lewis, "but the children are good about helping me. We all kind of pitch in together. The boys clean up the five-year-old, runs the vacuum dishes every night and pick up every day." Savoy. Despite a busy home schedule, she plans to start at like to go into social work.

Recessive Genes

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I know you shouldn't (and sometimes by law cannot) marry your first cousin because similarity of genes would cause damage to children.

But does this hold true for second and third cousins? My cousin and I plan to marry but are hesitating until we've heard the facts. Could you help us out? — S.A.D.

Marriage of cousins — first or otherwise — doesn't necessarily mean that children will be defective, but the risk is much higher.

Why? Because there are genes known as "recessive genes" which indicate a trait or characteristic of one sort or another that is minor and tends to be blotted out. Doubtless we all have them, but being "Recessive" these traits tend to take a back seat and eventually disappear.

Tend to die out, that is, EXCEPT if the same recessive gene is carried by BOTH parents rather than just one, then the recessive genes reinforce each other.

If a potentially dangerous trait is involved, the baby, instead of having the trait in mild form, is likely to have it very strongly. As an example, cousins having a relatively mild eye disorder might have a baby with a severe eye disorder. I have seen children going blind from that particular circumstance.

Of course the problem isn't limited to eye defects. That's just one example.

You may ask, "But can't people have similar recessive genes even if they AREN'T cousins?" Yes, it can happen by chance, but it happens much more frequently with cousins, because they have such similar ancestry. The closer the relationship, the greater the danger.

But can't GOOD traits be reinforced? Yes, that can happen, too, but the danger is that weak traits (recessive genes) are not likely to be recognized ahead of time. Not recognized by the average person, that is. Experience shows it happens, and that is why so many states flatly forbid marriage of first cousins.

As the relationship becomes more remote (second or third cousins, or other blood relatives) so does the risk of defective children become less likely. But since there is some common ancestry, some risk remains.

So what are you going to do about it? My suggestion is that you get some counseling from a clinic or center that specializes in genetics. The number of such genetic counseling centers has grown considerably in recent years, principally in university or other large medical centers.

The question is so important to you that I suggest you consult such a center. Your regular doctor either can tell you where the nearest one is or can find out for you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Specifically what is a low-fat diet? I have been put on one by my doctor due to gall bladder inflammation. — H.B.

It means exactly what it says — avoid fats in your food, because a cranky gall bladder can't be as helpful as it should be in digesting fats. So don't eat fried foods, trim fat off meat and eat the lean, and use butter or oleo sparingly. Skim milk or 2 per cent milk has had much of the fat removed from it.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin, and BABY SITTER CITY EXPENSE?

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Is a baby sitter a legitimate city expense? Yes, sometimes, the city commission has ruled.

The commission has ordered city administrators to pay the $25 baby-sitting bill that Commissioner Thea Barton ran up while attending a three-day conference in Lansing, the state capital.

The administrators had balked at paying for the baby sitter, who watched Mrs. Barton's three children until her husband returned home from work.

However, they remained firm on another point: Mrs. Barton would have to pay the baby sitter during regular commission meetings.

Election Coverage Story Featured In Texas Star

Robert L. Johnson of Dallas is the most popular man in Texas politics on the night of every state or national election since 1937.

Since then he has served as chief of the nationally famous Texas Election Bureau and is always the first to know exactly how each major political race is faring. In Sunday's Texas Star, Dave Ellison reports on the TEBA and how it gained its reputation for speed and accuracy in vote-gathering and tabulation.

Only a handful of old signs and symbols of rural America remain as reminders of a life style long gone but still warmly cherished. These symbols serve as subjects for the paintings of Texas artist Ancel Nunn. In this week's Star, Jack K-Seldon Jr. relates Nunn's efforts to chronicle an era in American history by the medium of art.

Introduced Sunday in the Star is a humor column by Cactus Pryor, a well-known Texas humorist, after-dinner speaker, writer and radio-television personality. Cactus confides his shortcomings in the column entitled, "Where I've Failed." Gordon Fulcher encourages Texans to show their power at the election polls in Sunday's Star Comment, and Star Hostess Mary Faulk Kooch provides readers with recipes to prepare for "election eatins."

Cotton Shredders Field Day Set In Glasscock

The St. Lawrence Cotton Insect Control Association and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will host a field day on flail-type cotton shredders at St. Lawrence Glasscock County at 9 a.m. on Nov. 15, according to Roy Childers, area agricultural engineer-cotton mechanization, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Lubbock. The field day is scheduled as an effort to demonstrate the use of flail-type shredders on destruction of cotton stalks and of overwintering pink bollworm larvae in seed cotton residue left in the field after harvest. The flail-type shredders will be on display and then taken to the field for a performance demonstration. The flail-type stalk shredders have been superior to the conventional rotary-type shredders in the past few years. "We will have several implement companies on hand to demonstrate their flail-type shredders at the field day. The field day program has been arranged so that interested people may come in the morning or in the afternoon or come and spend the day," the specialist added. Cotton producers in the area will be interested in attending this field day. The field day will be very informative and of great interest to cotton producers who want to destroy pink bollworms this winter rather than during the 1973 cotton season.

Hefty Problem

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl and everyone tells me

I have a beautiful face, but I am very, very heavy, and I've been this way all my life. I've tried every kind of diet imaginable, but have never lost more than 20 pounds, which I always put right back on, so I've decided to give up dieting. I've never dated much, but I didn't let it make me miserable. I have a good book-keeping job, read a lot and do beautiful needlework.

My problem: I am going with a 54-year-old man who wants to marry me. Before you say he is too old for me, please finish this. He's a widower with married children who think I'm the greatest. He loves me and says he likes me just the way I am. He would be a good provider, and I wouldn't have to work, but he says I could if I wanted to. We like the same things (we're both homebodies) and I know we could be happy together.

My parents are against him because he's older than my father. Abby, if being treated well can make a girl love a man, I know I could learn to love him. We have never been intimate. (He hasn't even tried.)

Should I marry him? Who else would want a girl who is 100 pounds overweight?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: A girl who marries a man, hoping to "earn to love him" is risking a lot. That is not to say that only couples who are wildly in love can be happy. (Many are.) But your reason for wanting a 54-year-old man is age 19. ("Who else would want me?") is a weak one. I vote with your parents. Don't rush into marriage. I urge you to make a sincere effort to lose that weight — then consider marriage. You have a lot to lose — but everything to gain.

DEAR ABBY: I hate getting chain letters, and wonder if you can tell me how to handle them. Someone once told me that chain letters involving money are illegal and I certainly don't want to get mixed up in anything like that!

Chain letters that don't involve money, but request a recipe, and make you feel guilty if you break the chain give me a pain-in-the-neck! On the other hand, I don't want to hurt the feelings of the one who sent it to me. UNCHAINED
DEAR UNCHAINED: I return it to the sender with a friendly note asking him to please "include me out!"

DEAR ABBY: The other day I went to visit a new neighbor who had moved in next door. While I was there, her seven-year-old daughter came home from school about an hour late. The child had no excuse. The mother got a paddle and instructed the child to lower her panties and bend over. After about four whacks she said the child could go.

Later she told me it did more good to punish her child that way in front of someone than to take her to the bathroom and do it.

I disagree. How do you feel about it? NEW NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: A spanking on a bare bottom is punishment. To add to it the humiliation of being punished in this manner "in front of someone" is, I think, cruel.

Wine Is Fine Any Old Time

Every now and then comes a time when almost each of us feels a candy bar, a cup of coffee or tea just isn't going to do the trick of producing quick-needed energy.

We want a drink of something stronger. But what to choose? A martini at 10:30 a.m. or a Scotch and water at 3 p.m. doesn't often fit the appetite. (Also, being seen consuming such hard spirits, other than at a luncheon or after the "sun is over the yardarm," still causes many a raised eyebrow.)

The all-embracing, socially acceptable, solution is to drink wine. It's the perfect pick-me-up or relaxant for any time of the day.

A mid-morning 3-4 oz. glass of dry Sherry, chilled or over the rocks, is usually enough to eradicate the doldrums of another business-as-usual-with-household-duties day. (Sherry or Port, unchilled, drunk about 30 minutes before retiring is once again coming into vogue as a natural sleep inducer instead of a pill.)

Four or five years ago, I noted a trend among faculty members of West Coast universities to keep wine in their commissary lockers and drink it before meals in place of two or three cocktails. The consensus is that it's a lighter beverage, nutritional and much less apt to make a mind sluggish and unhappy at the prospect of correcting papers or arguing with anti-establishment undergraduates.

In such diverse cities as Chicago, Minneapolis, Detroit, more and more executives are including wine in the refrigerator-bar in their offices. They have discovered that offering a surprise libation of champagne or Sherry to the business guest is not only gracious hospitality but puts the executives at ease.

Such profferings may be common with top personnel in the wine industry, but are now fast catching on nationwide in popularity with others who formerly entertained in their offices with hard alcohol.

Champagne fits into any part of the day or any meal. Sipping a cold glass of champagne while showering or lolling in a tub is, next to a nap, the greatest rejuvenator for tired blood.

And, I'm delighted to report, it's women who are the leaders today in praising the merits of wine and reawakening the public to the knowledge that a little wine can be exciting to the taste buds, a tranquilizer for high strung nerves, a digestive aid and, best of all, a conveyor of pleasurable moods.

PERFECT CAKE FOR HUNGRY PEOPLE
Delicious and wholesome too

Like Chocolate? Try Triple-Decker Cake

A superlative triple-decker chocolate cake using both melted chocolate and fudge chips adds up to stunningly rich flavor. Cream cheese — both in the cake and the frosting — lends tender melting moistness to each bite. Chocolate-Chocolate-Chocolate Cake also deserves accolades for its wholesomeness. The enriched flour used in the batter makes this dessert an important source of these essential nutrients: the B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron.

CHOCOLATE-CHOCOLATE-CHOCOLATE CAKE
(three 8-inch layers)
3 to 4 tps. prepared cocoa mix
1/2 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup (4-oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla extract
3 cups enriched flour*
2 tps. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
4 squares (1-oz. each) unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 pkg. (6-oz.) fudge chocolate pieces
Creamy Chocolate Frosting

Grease three 8-inch round cake pans. Dust with cocoa; set aside. Cream together butter, cream cheese and sugar until light and fluffy, about 5 minutes. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Blend in vanilla. Stir together flour, soda and salt. Thoroughly blend flour mixture into creamed mixture, alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour.

Thoroughly blend melted chocolate into batter. Pour half the batter into prepared pans. Sprinkle fudge pieces evenly over batter in pans. Pour remaining batter over. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes, or until cake tester comes out clean. Cake tester may hit a fudge piece and come out sticky, if so, clean tester and try again. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. Cool thoroughly before frosting.

CREAMY CHOCOLATE FROSTING
1 pkg. (6-oz.) fudge chocolate

pieces
1 tbsp. oil
1/2 cup (4-oz.) cream cheese, softened
One-third cup butter, softened
4 cups sifted confectioners sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 egg
1 tbsp. milk, about

Melt chocolate pieces with oil. Beat together cream cheese and butter until fluffy. Gradually blend in sugar and vanilla. Blend in chocolate. Beat in egg. Add milk, a teaspoon at a time, until of spreading consistency.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.
NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit salt.

APPLE CUPS
3/4 cup (1 1/2 sticks) corn oil margarine
12 slices bread, crusts removed
3/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1 1/4 cups (2 1/2-oz. jar) applesauce
1/2 cup apricot preserves
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 tps. grated lemon rind

Sour Cream Sauce, see below
Melt 1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine in saucepan. Brush both sides of bread with melted margarine. Press into 12 large muffin cups. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven until toasted — about 25 minutes. Melt remaining 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) margarine in saucepan. Stir in bread crumbs, nutmeg and cinnamon; then mix in applesauce, preserves, lemon juice and rind. Heat over medium heat until hot. Spoon into toast cups and top with Sour Cream Sauce. Makes 12 servings.

Ho-Ho-Ho Types Shortage Noted

DALLAS (AP) — There's a shortage of ho-ho-ho types in Dallas this season. A spokesman for a department store chain said it hoped to 25 jolly red gentlemen it needs. Why the scarcity? Horace Kennemer, Texas Employment Commission office manager, said: "We can place 25 or 30 right now. But so far, we have no applications at all." Private employment agencies report much the same situation. One had a single applicant, another could provide two. South capitalized on a favorable distributional feature in today's hand to rescue his four heart contract from the very brink of defeat.

West opened the five of spades and East won the first two tricks with the queen and king. East continued with a small spade and, since South had nothing to gain by taking a discard, he ruffed with the queen of hearts. West discarded the nine of diamonds to inform his partner that he was well heeled in that suit.

Declarer obtained only a momentary gratification at West's inability to overruff for, with the king of hearts clearly marked in East's hand, it appeared that South must lose a heart trick as well as a diamond. Declarer's only legitimate chance apparently was to lead over to the ace of hearts in an attempt to drop a singleton king. South observed an additional prospect which, the somewhat remote, could be tested at no extra cost.

He began by cashing three rounds of clubs, discarding a diamond from dummy as both opponents followed suit. Now a heart was led to the ace and, when East's king held firm, South proceeded to develop his alternate plan. The remaining spade was led from dummy and ruffed with the jack of hearts as West parted with another diamond.

A diamond was led to the ace and with both hands stripped of black cards, North exited with a heart. East was in with the king, and since he was out of diamonds, his forced return of either a spade or a club permitted South to ruff in his hand as the dummy disposed of his last diamond. Declarer had restricted his losses to two spades and one heart.

Despite the fortunate division in diamonds which saved East with only a singleton in that suit, West was in position to nullify South's astute performance.

When the third round of spades is led and declarer ruffs with the queen of hearts, West can foil the stripping operation by discarding a club instead of a high diamond. When South plays three rounds of clubs, West ruffs the third round forcing North to overruff and thereby preventing the diamond shift from dummy. In the end dummy is left with a losing diamond.

LEGAL OVERKILL? ELECTION DAY APPROACHES

California Antiobscenity Proposal Triggers Storm

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

Obscenity, like beauty, often is in the eye of the beholder. That's one reason why Proposition 18, an antiobscenity proposal on the California ballot, has whipped up so much controversy as Nov. 7 election day approaches.

'LOVE STORY'

The authors of Proposition 18 call it a move to control the rising tide of commercialized obscenity in California. Its opponents brand the proposal as arbitrary censorship which could lead authorities, backed by the courts, to prohibit reading of the Bible, Shakespeare's works or going to such movies as "Patton," "Love Story" and "M-A-S-H."

State Sen. John L. Harmer, a Republican who for six years has been trying to push new antiobscenity measures through the state Legislature, says this is hogwash.

It would have to be proved that scenes from the movies or photos in books were designed to "titillate" sex desires before they could be banned, he explains. The Bible and Shakespeare's plays were written before anybody thought about photography.

Yet Harmer is not overoptimistic about the chances that voters will approve Proposition 18 which he helped write. The opposition, he says, has raised some $2 million to fight it, while proponents have been lucky to scrape up $50,000 to herald the proposal's merits.

CHANCE TO WORK

Opponents warn voter approval of Proposition 18 would trigger a flood of legal actions perhaps keeping the measure in the courts for years. Harmer says he doubts this, because a law can't be challenged and tested until it has been enforced.

The senator believes the new antiobscenity law, clarifying and extending present state statutes in this area, will be widely accepted as fair and just if it is given a chance to work.

Harmer says success or failure of Proposition 18 has national significance.

"The fight to control obscenity and pornography is part of a national trend," he points out. "How we go in California Nov. 7 will encourage or discourage other states and communities across the country in their efforts to clean things up."

Groups which often agree on public issues find themselves split over Proposition 18. For example, the state Chamber of Commerce has endorsed it, while newspaper publishers for the most part are opposed, on grounds some of its provisions might lead to press censorship. Harmer denies this, explaining that the new measure is not aimed at banning articles or news stories or prosecuting those who write or publish them. Its chief targets, he added, are obscene photos or motion pictures clearly intended to arouse sexual lust. Librarians have expressed fears Proposition 18 might force them to remove many books from their shelves or go to court and prove they aren't pornographic. Again Harmer says this is overshooting the mark. What are the chief provisions of this controversial proposal? Here are some:

LEGAL LOOPHOLE

2. Proponents say producers of obscene material often use that phrase in the law as a legal loophole by claiming their product reflects the morality level of the times and therefore has social significance.

3. The proposal would define 'contemporary standards' for judging pornography not on a statewide basis but in each community or within a 10-mile radius in unincorporated areas.

(This is one of the provisions opponents claim will create a rash of lawsuits if Proposition 18 is approved.) 4. It also would authorize a district attorney to issue injunctions before the sale or distribution of obscene material if authorities learned of its existence. And it would prohibit live nudity in commercial stage productions.

'FOUR LETTER' WORDS

5. The measure would ban the use of so-called "four letter" words referring to human sex organs or the anatomy or descriptions of sexual acts or bodily functions in movies, records, books and other publications or media, except when they are used as expletives — that is, swear words.

Under the proposal the distribution or exhibiting of pornographic materials within a mile of an elementary or high school would constitute a public nuisance and a misdemeanor.

Even its foes find no fault with that provision.

DO NOT AGREE
Proponents concede the constitutionality of Proposition 18, if it is approved Nov. 7, likely will be tested in the courts eventually. But they believe its provisions would stand the test. Lawyers representing book publishers and the motion picture industry do not agree.

Program Kits Are Available

COLLEGE STATION — Free Arbor Day Program Kits are still available from the Texas Forest Service for delivery before Arbor Day, Jan. 19, 1973. The Program Kits are designed for use as a classroom project for schools and as a nature project for conservation organizations that want to observe Arbor Day.

Each Kit contains two quality pecan seeds (pecan is the state tree of Texas); a brochure of planting instructions, a suggested program outline for an Arbor Day observance and appropriate program aids; and a copy of Governor Smith's Official Proclamation setting January 19, 1973 as Arbor Day in Texas.

Pecan seeds for the kits are provided by the Texas Pecan Growers Association which annually cooperates with the Texas Forest Service in the state-wide observance of Arbor Day.

Teachers and leaders of conservation-minded organizations in Texas can obtain a free Arbor Day Kit by writing the Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas 77843.

BLINDNESS NO HANDICAP — 19-year-old Bob Shaffer of Springfield, Ill., has no trouble negotiating the terrain in his backyard although he has been completely blind since birth. Bob's ears "see" what's in front of him.

'I RIDE WHEN MY EARS SAY LET'S GO' Blind Cycle Rider Guided By Sounds

By MIKE CLARK
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — His world is rich in sounds that most of us cannot hear. His touch is so developed that it leads him down city streets.

But because his world is different, it may seem strange. Because Bob Shaffer is blind, people are surprised that he always wanted to ride a motorcycle. And now, after several months of practice, he takes it around his house once or twice a week.

LET'S GO

The story of 19-year-old Bob Shaffer riding his 100cc motorcycle shows in a small way what it is like to be blind.

"I ride when my ears say let's go," he said, because his ears have been the windows to his world since birth.

Ever since he can remember, Bob has been fascinated by bicycles, especially motorized ones. He learned to ride by sound, first at age 4, riding a tricycle around the living room of his house.

At age 9 he rode a bicycle starting with training wheels.

'THOUGHT I COULD'

"I used to ride up and down the block with my sister," he said. "When you're pedaling, you know how far you're going. I know that block perfectly."

About four years ago my dad got a minibike for my brother and I, but dad thought I couldn't ride it myself, he thought I would ride on the back with my brother.

"My brother didn't think I could ride it either but I thought I could because the minibike was so close to the ground like the 20-inch bike I learned to ride. I learned to ride the minibike fairly good after two weeks."

Bob learned to ride the minibike around the yard using his sense of sound to indicate where obstacles were. How his hearing works is difficult to explain.

"Have you ever come up to a wall thinking of something else and stopped within six inches of it?" he said. "I've talked to some people who have, and they wondered why they did."

BEST WAY

"The best way to explain it is that I would stop within 20 feet of the wall and not six inches. When I'm riding my motorcycle I don't have to come within two feet of a wall or a tree unless it's an emergency."

"To explain sound to you is for you to explain sight to me. When I get near an object, then sound is like an echo."

He then clapped his hands. "Now I heard that bounce off the roof and the wall. You didn't but I did."

ECHOES CLUE

So when Bob rides his motorcycle, he turns his head to one side and listens for the echoes. One big problem is wind, which can block his hearing like a dust storm can block sight.

STRONG ENOUGH

"The wind makes a sound across your ears, a pretty big sound actually. A 20-mile-an-hour wind makes a sound like a car going by. The wind can block out the sense of what's in front of you. If it's too windy, I can't ride my motorcycle."

He has proved he can ride by sound on a course he knows, such as around his house. But still he has crashed a few times when his concentration was not strong enough.

PRETTY TAXING

"It's pretty taxing on the ears, it takes a lot of concentration. I rode the motorcycle one day and crashed into a tree because my ears weren't ready to go."

Bob got the motorcycle for his birthday. He was surprised by his family's gift nearly as much as the people at the motorcycle shop when they found out who was going to ride it.

DECLARATION: (Q.) I have liked this girl a long time but had not said anything about it because she is always talking to other boys. Last week I got a chance to tell her I liked her and I did.

She didn't say she liked me or didn't like me. What should I do now? She is 16 and I am 15. — In the Dark in Alabama.

(A.) The girl is probably very popular and is accustomed to having boys tell her like her.

You can tell her in a more special way by asking her for a date. If she says no, wait a few days and ask her again. If she says no twice, you will know that she is not interested in you. But if she says yes either the first or second time you ask, you will know she likes you — at least a little.

But do not assume, if she says yes, that this will mean she shouldn't date other boys or talk to them. It will simply mean you are one of the boys she likes.

And watch those cigarettes. You are smoking far too many. They no doubt add to your edginess.

NEXT, ITS KIDS FOR CONGRESS The Youth Cult

By SAM STEWART
Copley News Service

We must wait until after Nov. 7 to get a good reading about the effect of the 18-year voting provision on the election, and whether it is decisive or simply swells the number of ballots counted without swinging the outcome.

SURPRISING

It has been surprising, to some, that the nearer we come to election day the less the concentration or intensification of the appeals to the 18-to-21-year group, as a class. It is also surprising to find that, according to the best analysts, that young voters' interest in voting is somewhat less than evangelical.

One observed has likened the newly eligible electorate to the mewling infant who cries up a storm to get his rattle. Once given the rattle, he becomes aware that he didn't want it, after all, and pays no attention to it. A harsh appraisal, perhaps, but supportable.

Voting eligibility at age 18 is, of course, a fact so new that we must wait to get a fair evaluation. But while the ink is still damp on the youth voting amendment, the push is on for youth in another, allied area — office holding.

As long as we have had a

Constitution, the age limits for federal office have gone unchanged — 35 years for president, 30 years for Senate, 25 years for the House of Representatives.

LOWER AGE

When Congress reconvenes in January, there will be initiation to move to lower the minimum age of a senator from 30 to 27, and the minimum age of a representative from 25 to 22. Thus far there has been no mention of lowering the age for the president or vice president. But that will come.

To the surprise of nobody, the chief sponsor of the proposed amendment is Sen. Birch Bayh, Indiana Democrat, who launched an abortive drive to put himself into the presidential picture early this year.

Only 45, Bayh already is looking toward 1976 and there is method in his move for further emancipation of youth in politics.

Also a red-hot backer of the lowered age for congressmen is Sen. Charles Percy, Illinois Republican, who has the White House itch — bad — but must first get himself returned to the Senate from Illinois this fall.

PERCY IS 52. Percy is 53, but affects longish hair and sideburns and leaves no stone unturned to woo the support of youth. In a speech in Congress a few days ago, he said the Bayh proposal is "a reasonable, and equitable complement" to the lowering of the voting age.

In this speech, Percy claimed that "Americans now mature three years earlier than at the turn of the century." Kids are smarter today, he insisted, casting a glance toward the 18-year-old vote.

WISDOM

"I have long been aware," said Percy, "that wisdom, political or otherwise, is not necessarily increased by advancing years..."

A lot of critics of Congress' own seniority system would concur with Percy on that, but for other reasons. So would some folks who believe that the Supreme Court bench is no place for octogenarians or even some septuagenarians.

"To lower the age of eligibility for service in the House and Senate would further participation of young people in making changes in our government," Percy said. "The youth of this country has too often been overlooked by our democratic system... We must provide the opportunity for young people to serve in our legislative bodies."

'That Certain Summer' Another Toe-In-Water

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "That Certain Summer" is over. It'll be interesting now to see how many — if any — complaints are registered with ABC for broadcasting the movie Wednesday night.

The network was edgy about showing "Summer" in the first place. The theme of this made-for-television feature was homosexuality and its effect on personal relationships.

Specifically, it dealt with the agony of a divorced man — a homosexual — who ultimately must tell his 14-year-old son the truth after the father's years of secrecy and apparently normal life.

The film, which starred Hal Holbrook, shouldn't cause offense. It was tastefully written, acted and directed.

But it is another toe-in-the-water test of how adult television can get an examination already passed by such regular series as "The Bold Ones," "All in the Family" and "Marcus Welby, M.D." Television's new adult look perhaps is best summed up by a censor, of all people: Herminio Triviasas, NBC's plain-spoken vice president of broadcast standards.

"This year is the boldest year, no doubt about it," he says. But he doesn't think all the barriers are down, or that they will be in the foreseeable future, particularly if they involve spoken obscenity or complete frontal nudity.

He does think the key to a further broadening of adult themes for television lies in the self-restraint of those on the creative side of the medium.

But what has caused television's burst of boldness? Triviasas thinks it's primarily due to public attitudes changed by even more boldness in motion pictures and magazines. He said they've made once-shocking topics ho-hum affairs.

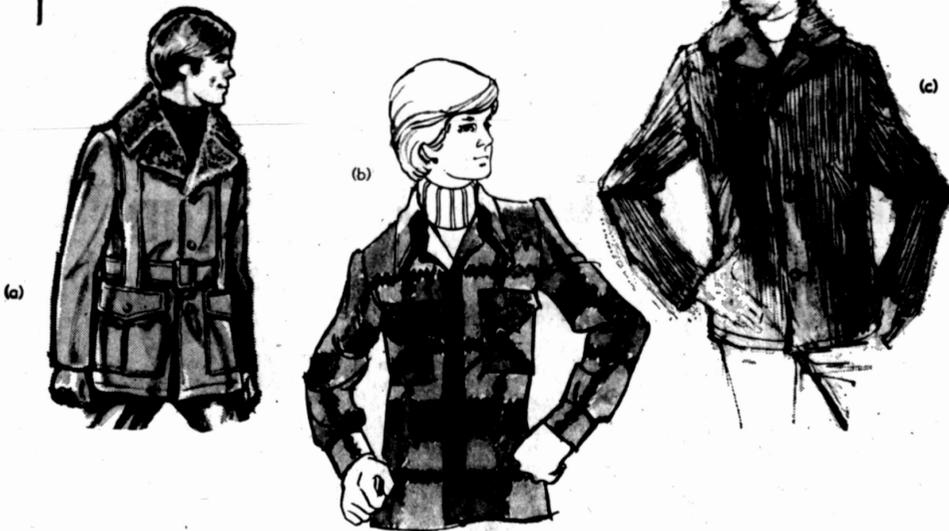

what's happening in the United States — not leading it," he said. But he also thinks the themes we're seeing on television this year were made possible by comedy in past years.

"The big breakthrough, in my judgment was the Smothers Brothers Show, followed by Laugh-In in 1967," he said. "Laugh-In was the beginning of satirizing everything. It kidded homosexuality, the pill, religion, you name it."
