WOUNDED VIET CONG — A wounded Viet Cong soldier finds himself the center of curious South Vietnamese troops and civilians after he was captured during fighting along Highway 13, north of Saigon. Most of the enemy fighting in the area are North Vietnamese but they depend on local guerrillas such as this man to guide them.

Sissy, Bella Place Blame On Connally

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two of the nation's best-known women politicians urged Democratic leaders Tuesday to avoid haste in deciding whether to replace Jean Westwood as the party's national chairman.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.M., and state Rep. Frances Farenthold of Texas blamed the move to oust Mrs. Westwood on former Texas Gov. John Connally.

"I no longer consider him a Democrat," said Mrs. Abzug. "He supports the present administration, not the Democratic Party."

Mrs. Farenthold said it would be "indecent haste" to oust Mrs. Westwood now. She noted that the Republicans "waited several months" after the Democratic presidential landslide in 1964 to begin making changes.

Mrs. Abzug and Mrs. Farenthold were in Oklahoma for women's emphasis week activities at the University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma State University.

This year's presidential election "was not decided on fundamental issues" but rather was decided "by the utilization of fear and hysteria and code words," Mrs. Abzug asserted.

The New York congresswoman said President Nixon has done nothing "to meet the fundamental needs of the people" and that he has "sought to take all the power from Congress... and the Supreme Court."

Charging that the timing of the Vietnam peace talks was "politically motivated," Mrs. Abzug said President Nixon twice has been elected on pledges to end the war, but that "peace has slipped away again."

U. S. Planes Giving Panhandle Pounding

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes gave North Vietnam's southern panhandle its hardest pounding in months Tuesday and today, hitting at the supply buildup there with more than 300 fighter-bomber strikes and more than 30 B52 missions.

It was the largest number of fighter-bomber strikes against North Vietnam in a 24-hour period since Oct. 14. But the 320 strikes flown then were spread over much of the country, while those on Tuesday were concentrated in the southern third because of the suspension on Oct. 22 of bombing above the 20th parallel.

The escalation of air attacks on the panhandle began Nov. 9 and in six days U.S. fighter-bombers have made more than 1,290 strikes in the region, an average of more than 200 a day.

"This is to let North Vietnam know that as long as the war is not over, as long as it has troops in the South, we're not going to hold back," said one American official.

Officials said North Vietnam is making a "substantial" supply push southward through the panhandle to stockpile material for its divisions in the South before a cease-fire, and U.S. bombers are making "a greater response."

"We are trying to get every logistical point that is directly connected with the movement of supplies toward their forces in the South," said one official. "They are trying to increase their supply flow to their forces in the South."

The U.S. Command reported heavy damage to North Vietnam Tuesday, with 38 supply trucks, 11 bridges, 20 railroad cars, and nine artillery guns destroyed or damaged.

U.S. military sources said the B52 raids in the panhandle have been "real effective." One source said a mission two days ago set off 60 secondary explosions, indicating that a big ammunition dump was destroyed.

North Vietnam's Foreign Ministry claimed that in the last three days American planes had heavily bombed the Do Luong dam and hydroelectric plant in Nghe An Province and had carpet-bombed towns and villages in civilian areas across five North Vietnamese provinces.

The statement, broadcast by Hanoi Radio, said damage and casualties were particularly heavy in the town of Ha Tinh.

Meanwhile, the United States continued its own supply buildup to beat the cease-fire, and the 7th Air Force announced as many as 350 large U.S. transport planes have brought in 7,000 tons of equipment for the South Vietnamese armed forces in the past two weeks.

DOOR-TO-DOOR

Way To Get Out Of Big 'Bargains'

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a growing number of buyers with low resistance to tenacious door-to-door salesmen, there's a new way to get out of those bargains that turn out to be blunders.

The escape hatch is a cooling-off period — usually from two to five days — during which buyers with second thoughts can cancel sales contracts or purchases made in haste or exasperation.

$1,800 CAPER
It could have helped, for example, the 17-year-old girl in New York State who signed an installment contract for a set of glasses. Total price: $1,800.

Another who could have used a cooling-off period was the woman who signed a $600 contract for a new roof. She checked with local contractors later and found they would have done the job for $250.

Both instances turned up during Federal Trade Commission hearings. Pennsylvania's Bureau of Consumer Protection discovered cases of illiterate persons who had been pressured into buying encyclopedias and others who bought carpet sweepers though they had no carpets.

Now millions of consumers may revoke contracts they've signed for no other reason than, "I've changed my mind."

Cooling-off periods for door-to-door sales were in effect at last count in 33 states, seven cities and the District of Columbia. By comparison, 14 states had such grace periods two years ago.

COOLING-OFF PERIOD

Now the FTC has offered a cooling-off period proposal as a model for state standards. The FTC plans to invoke its proposal nationwide with the force of law if it can dispose of pending court challenges to its power to issue trade regulation rules.

The FTC proposal gives buyers three business days to change their minds on purchases with a total price of $25 or more.

Some door-to-door companies have voluntarily provided buyers with an escape clause. Encyclopaedia Britannica, for example, says it uses a four-day cooling-off period. Avon Products said it offers customers an unconditional money-back guarantee.

Cooling-off laws vary from state to state, but the FTC model applies to every sale made outside the seller's place of business. The proposal excludes sales where the buyer has initiated a contact in order to get repairs on items such as television sets. But the exclusion cannot be used in some cases, such as repairs to a home or driveway.

Judge Sarah Hughes Mulls Jail Charges

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes commended Sheriff Clarence Jones today on "the expeditious manner" in which he dealt with an attempted break from the old Dallas County jail Nov. 7, but she told him not to impose discipline on those accused of taking part without allowing them due process.

She directed the sheriff to draw up rules of procedure for future disciplinary cases and submit them to her court within 10 days. And she found "no credible evidence" that the prisoners were beaten by deputies as they had claimed.

A motion submitted to the court by Dallas Legal Services, representing the jail inmates, sought an injunction to prevent the sheriff from denying prisoners food, clothing and personal property.

Judge Hughes made no order regarding the diet of sweet rolls, coffee and water which is all certain prisoners have been fed since the night of the escape attempt more than a week ago. They were still on that diet today.

In answer to a question from John F. Jordan, lawyer representing the inmates, she said: "The court makes no order on the restricted diet. But the men must be given a hearing before disciplinary measures are continued—and I consider the restricted diet a disciplinary measure."

The judge denied the injunction after nine jail officers and deputies took the stand to say they had neither struck any of the prisoners nor seen any of them beaten.

Four prisoners—Paul McKinney, Patrick William Coyne, Bobby Lee Williams, and Stephen Thompson—testified Tuesday that they were either beaten up themselves or saw others beaten by deputies after the escape attempt.

"Are you saying they were naked until Thursday morning?" asked Judge Hughes. After some hesitation, the witness replied: "I am sure they were."

'I Killed Him,' Rancher Says

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP) — The state has rested its case in the murder trial of Kendall County rancher Bob Brown Roberts Jr., who is accused of the slaying of a San Antonio high school drama teacher near Boerne.

Highway patrolman Joe Montgomery of Boerne told a 6-man, 6-woman jury Tuesday that Roberts told him, "I killed him. I had to," following the Aug. 5, 1970, shooting death of Thomas Richard O'Neill.

Montgomery said Roberts had been advised of his rights. According to testimony, O'Neill's body was found under a Volkswagen bus and that the emergency blinkers were on. Montgomery said a rear tire was partially flat.

Read into the record was testimony of the late Kendall County Sheriff Douglas Kuebel, who told an examining trial once Roberts had reported a prowler on his property prior to the shooting of O'Neill.

According to the testimony, Kuebel said he saw no prowler but spotted a VW bus identical to O'Neill's parked in front of the Roberts' property.

Testimony was to resume today.

TAHOKA MAN DIES IN WRECKED PLANE

DALLAS (AP) — A private pilot who disappeared Sunday was found dead Tuesday in his wrecked plane 18 miles northeast of Breckenridge.

James W. Thompson, administrator of the Lynn County Hospital at Tahoka died in the crash, state police reported. He was a former Dallas resident.

Thompson took off in the small Cessna Sunday night from Red Bird Airport in Dallas. He vanished between Mineral Wells and Abilene about the time severe thunderstorms struck in that area.

Patrolmen said the plane went down at a 30-degree angle and shattered on impact.

A private pilot who was a friend of Thompson first located the wreckage during a search being made by Civil Air Patrol craft.

Two Policemen Slain Near Cop Shop Door

KENNETT SQUARE, Pa. (AP) — Two city policemen were found shot to death early today outside the local police headquarters, state police reported.

Trooper William Mooney of the Avondale state police substation said the two patrolmen were identified as Richard Posey and William Davis. Their ages were not known.

Mooney said two state troopers, John Campbell and George Duchemin, made a routine stop at the Kennett Square police headquarters and discovered the bodies.

The policemen were pronounced dead at a hospital.

Kennett Square, a town of 5,000 is located in the southeastern corner of Chester County about 30 miles from Philadelphia.

Brownwood School Chief Pact Ended

BROWNWOOD — The Brownwood school board, by a 4-2 vote, terminated the contract of Supt. James C. McMath, 51, contending he had not enforced the board's dress code. McMath gave notice he will ask for a hearing on the action within 30 days. Afterwards, Dr. James Gandy, board president, said that the action was taken after advice with legal counsel. McMath came to Brownwood from Colorado City, where he served four years as superintendent. Previously he had been principal at Odessa High from 1952-66.

HONEYMOON VERY SHORT

It was a short honeymoon. Florencio Carrillo, 43, convicted of theft over $50 and sentenced from two to 10 years, got married in a civil ceremony in Peace Justice Walter Grice's office Tuesday afternoon.

Why get married when he's about to make a trip. His bride of 20, the former Yolanda Lopez, said: "We're in love." Carrillo said he wanted to be married before going to prison.

Carrillo kissed his bride at the end of the short ceremony, then was led back to jail still in handcuffs.

$60 Million Plan For Mall

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Announcement is expected soon of a $60 million plan for construction of a pedestrian shopping mall, a luxury hotel and a high-rise office building to revitalize downtown Fort Worth.

Heading the development is the Ogden Corp. of New York and a major participant and partner on the local level is the Tandy Corp., a source said Tuesday.

Cost of the facility, which involve a minimum of two million square feet of construction is expected to exceed $60 million.

Plans for the enclosed pedestrian shopping mall, developed by Ogden subsidiary Luckman and Associates of Los Angeles, are said to include an upper level series of high quality stores and shops overlooking an indoor skating rink.

As described by some sources, the complex would cover six to eight blocks in the general vicinity of the Tarrant County Courthouse, with the hotel at one end and the office building at the other.

Demo Leaders Wary Of Sudden Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide sampling of Democratic party leaders shows most are wary of any sudden shake-up in party leadership, particularly the firing of party chairman Jean Westwood.

For the time being at least, most are inclined to heed George McGovern's advice to wait.

PERSONAL CHOICE

Mrs. Westwood, McGovern's personal choice for national chairman, has become the center of a struggle for party control in the wake of McGovern's landslide loss to President Nixon in last week's presidential election. She has said she will not step down voluntarily.

But Tuesday McGovern advised caution in overturning either the party leadership or the controversial party reforms for which he is largely responsible.

"It would be a mistake to do things so quickly before final assessments of the election are completed," McGovern said at a news conference in the Virgin Islands where he is vacationing.

Win Griffith, Democratic National Committee press secretary acting as spokesman for Mrs. Westwood, said Wednesday: "She's not going to resign. She stands by her statement of last Thursday."

ON THE JOB

She had told a news conference Thursday that "Jean Westwood is alive and well and intends to remain on the job."

However, Griffith said that while Mrs. Westwood does not plan to resign, he hinted that she does not want controversy over her job to turn into a party-splitting battle.

"She is not intransigent, rigid and unbending," Griffith said after speaking with Mrs. Westwood Tuesday night.

Mrs. Westwood returned to Washington Tuesday from a long weekend vacation with her husband in Florida but refused Wednesday morning to meet with newsmen.

An Associated Press survey of Democratic governors, congressional delegations and local party officials revealed a general feeling that some changes are needed but no consensus on what they should be.

Of some 100 party leaders surveyed, the biggest bloc gave a "no comment" or "undecided" reply to questions on Mrs. Westwood's future. But many of those now undecided might make up their minds before the first showdown Dec. 9 when the Democratic National Committee meets.

CHARGE DAD WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Boy, 3, Starvation Victim

MIAMI (AP) — A 3-year-old boy whose mother told police he lived on chocolate milk for three months after her husband ordered her not to feed him is dead of starvation. The boy's father is charged with manslaughter.

Variety Children's Hospital authorities said little Dean Nozza was dead when his father, Michael Nozza, brought him to the hospital Monday night.

Nozza was charged with manslaughter Tuesday after Jois Jean Nozza told police her husband ordered her not to feed the child. She said her son had not eaten solid food for three months, that his only sustenance had been chocolate milk.

Authorities said they did not know why Dean had not been fed.

Nozza, 41, and his 28-year-old wife have five other children.

"She said her husband wouldn't allow her to take the boy to the hospital, and said she was afraid he would beat her and the other children if she did," Dade County Sheriff's Lt. John Esty said.

Police said Nozza, a sandblaster, "didn't allow the child to be taken to a hospital because he was afraid he would be arrested for child abuse."

HEARING TODAY

Nozza told the hospital staff that Dean "would not drink anything except chocolate milk" and had not eaten for several weeks, Dr. Robert Lawson, Variety's chief of staff, said Tuesday.

Lawson said Dean "was brought in here dead with evidence of extreme malnutrition." However, he said the admitting physician saw no signs of bruises or fractures on the child.

Police records show the Nozzas were investigated in 1969 after authorities received a complaint of child malnutrition. That incident involved another child, police said.

Dade County's Protective and Preventive Services took the remaining Nozza children, ranging in age from one to 7, into custody Monday night after Lawson advised the agency of Dean's death. A custody hearing for them is scheduled today.

HOUSE FILTHY

"The interior of that house was filthy with human defecation all over the floor and no furniture," Esty said. "Little Dean slept on a piece of cardboard on the floor with a black raincoat for a cover."

"Two of the children said they hadn't eaten for three days, and officers found only a package of hotdogs and a carton of chocolate milk in the refrigerator."

At a bond hearing Tuesday, Nozza was ordered to undergo a psychiatric examination prior to a determination whether he will be allowed to post $3,500 bond for his release from Dade County Jail.

Dual System At Uvalde Schools Told

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A courtroom siege against Uvalde schools' handling of Mexican-Americans continues today with the start of testimony in a suit by an ex-teacher alleging discrimination.

Testimony in a related suit, brought against the Uvalde schools by a parent of 11 children, Genoveva Morales, ended Tuesday before U.S. District Court Judge John H. Wood.

Wood ordered lawyers in the Morales case to submit briefs so that the case could be argued in the future.

Mrs. Morales contends her children could not be adequately educated and her claims were repeated in testimony by a representative from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in testimony.

James Littlejohn of HEW said, "The (Uvalde) schools that now exist are vestiges of a former dual system."

Mrs. Morales' suit was filed after a boycott by about 400 Mexican-American pupils in Uvalde during the spring term of 1970. One of the issues in the walkout was the firing of elementary school teacher Josue Garza, plaintiff in the suit which was to be heard today.

Littlejohn said HEW officials determined in a study that the Uvalde school district discriminated against Mexican-Americans, a charge denied by officials of the schools.

John Harrell, a Uvalde assistant superintendent of schools, said he fails "to see that the ethnic makeup of a school affects the education program."

According to testimony in the Morales case, two of the four Uvalde elementary schools are more than 95 per cent Mexican-American, one is about 65 per cent Mexican-American and the fourth is about 75 per cent Anglo.

Nigh Challenges Lamesa Chamber To Be Builder

By MARJ CARPENTER
LAMESA — Following a humorous speech centering around the subject of "You've Got to be Careful What You Say," Lt. Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma suddenly hit home with a hard-hitting challenge to the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development at their annual banquet Tuesday night.

"It's been a nice banquet with a funny talk, Mexican music and lots of good food and out of town guests. Tomorrow I will be gone.

"But you are left to decide what you are going to do for your chamber and your town. A community is like a mirror; it reflects what is put before it. And it is your responsibility to build your community."

This followed a speech which kept a well-oiled crowd roaring with laughter as the Oklahoma poked fun at all of the things that Americans are afraid to poke fun at anymore — race, religion, ethnic groups and football, just to name a few.

The speaker called the "new Will Rogers," has quite a political history. At the age of 22 he was elected the youngest member of the Oklahoma House of Representatives and served for eight years. At the age of 30, he was elected the youngest lieutenant governor in the history of Oklahoma and the youngest then serving in the nation. In 1963, he filled an unexpired term as governor. In 1966 and again in 1970, he was re-elected lieutenant governor.

Hank Meyers was presented the Top Hand award for obtaining the most chamber memberships. A special gift was also presented to Mrs. Dorothy Hany for her outstanding service to the chamber.

Art Roberts, chamber manager and his secretary, Mrs. Patsy O'Neal and the study secretary, Brett Hamilton, also were recognized.

Dallas Woods, retiring president, presented a summary of the accomplishments of the past year. He was presented a plaque for his service by Bob Capps, incoming president.

A Spanish Heritage theme was used and a strolling

Mariachi Band provided the musical background for the dinner.

Ray Renner served as master of ceremonies for the event. The invocation was delivered by Bill Allen, minister of the Downtown Church of Christ.

A reception honoring the speaker was held after the banquet in the Delphin Club house with Mrs. Ernest Moody in charge, assisted by the Women's Division of the Chamber.

Honored at the banquet were the eight retiring members of the board, Norris Barron, Bob Brown, Ed Fulbright, Dallas Woods, Nolen Cope, Joe Coffey, George Norman and Wendell Strahan.

Introduced were the new members including Fred Barrington, Walter Buckel, John Heel, Bob Kral, Ed Allen, Elwood Hamilton, Dorothy Hany and Jimmy Hughes.

Holdover directors include Don Bristow, Jess Claiborne, Richard Gentry, Nelson Hogg, E. D. Adcock, Bob Capps, Marshall Middleton and Philip White.

Local Pupils Still Compete

Fourteen Big Spring High School students qualified for further competition in state auditions as a result of tryouts in Odessa Tuesday.

All state orchestra members are selected on the basis of the recording. Qualifying were flute — Shiretta Ownbey, Marieme Margolis, and Miki Reed; oboe — Libby Reed; clarinet — Bonnie Anderson; trumpet — Mark Prather, Richard Kitchen, and Ricky Mitchell; French horn — Rene Wash and Jerry Dunne; trombone — Billy Nugent; tuba — Gary Wood; percussion — Alan Householder; and tympani — Kelly Carlie.

Results of the final competition will be announced in early December. The all-state orchestra will perform Feb. 8, 9, 10, and 11, 1973 in San Antonio in conjunction with the Texas Music Educators Convention.

Anderson Gains, But Not Enough, On Official Tally

Howard County Commissioners, in canvassing election returns Monday, found an error in vote counts for candidates for state representative at Box 3. In itself, the change will not change the outcome of the race in which Rep. Renal Rosson (D) won.

Rosson, Snyder received 537 votes at box three rather than 634 as reported unofficially previously. And J. R. "Rich" Anderson, (R) Borden County got 823, not 659 as reported unofficially earlier.

Protesters Snag Traffic

DALLAS (AP) — About 100 Negro protesters blocked off South Central Expressway late Tuesday night to protest the shooting of blacks by police.

Two people, Miss Isiah Westbrook, 24, and Donald Short, 41, were injured when their car smashed into the automobile barricade set up by the demonstrators.

The protesters used a half a dozen cars to block traffic in both directions on the freeway.

The small group of blacks, led by leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, blocked the freeway about 10:15 p.m. after a short rally. They were protesting the shooting of seven young black men by police since Oct. 11. All the shootings, including several killed, came during confrontations with officers.

Three of the demonstrators were arrested, before the crowd scattered but they were all released when SCLC leader George Holland passed their bail.

Pope Paul Assails Devil, 'Mystery Of Wickedness'

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said today whole societies have fallen under the domination of the devil. He said sex and narcotics provide openings for Satan's infiltration of mankind.

Pope Paul spoke of the devil and the "mystery of wickedness" at his weekly public audience before 6,000 people in the Hall of Audiences.

"One of the great needs of our time is a defense against that evil which we call the devil," the Pope said.

DEVIL WORSHIP

It was the first time that Pope Paul has devoted an entire speech to discussion of the devil. He spoke with a tense and low voice.

Observers expressed belief and reflected his concern over the spread of Satanic cults in many countries, including the United States. Sources reported the Vatican has recently received fresh reports from its experts on sects practicing devil worship.

"We all are under an obscure domination," the Pope said. "It is by Satan, the prince of this world, the No. 1 enemy."

The Pope deplored the fact that in the revised rite of Baptism less emphasis is put on exorcism, the part in which the priest orders the devil to leave the person to be baptized.

"I don't know whether this is realistic," the Pope said of the revised baptismal exorcism he himself approved three years ago as part of the reform of church services.

NOT FORGOTTEN

Still, the devil is not forgotten by the Church, Pope Paul said.

"He is the occult enemy who spreads errors and disasters in human history. He is the evil and crafty deceiver who knows how to creep into us."

The Pope expressed regret that modern Church scholars showed little interest in studying Satan's action "on single individuals as well as on communities and entire societies and on events."

He said many would rather seek a supplement for this "psychoanalytic and psychiatric studies or in spiritualistic experiences, unhappily so widely spread in some countries nowadays."

Minor Injuries In Car Collision

Two local residents were injured in a two-car collision Tuesday morning at the intersection of Thirtieth and Runnels Streets.

Taken by private car to Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital was William Clawson, 69, of 1604 Runnels. A list of injuries in satisfactory condition, and was under observation pending release.

Lana Gale Clark, 16, Gall Route, Box 2, was taken by Alert Ambulance to Malone-Hogan Clinic where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

Clawson was the driver of a car traveling north on Runnels when it was in collision with a vehicle traveling west on 13th St. The second car was operated by Jenny Marie Murry, 18, of 1405 Benton St. Miss Clark was a passenger in the second car.

Slaughter Is Seriously Ill

Peace Justice Jess Slaughter was listed in critical condition at Methodist Hospital this morning when he was admitted Nov. 13 after being taken there by ambulance. It was reported that he had a heart involvement.

Also, on another floor at Memorial in Lubbock, this morning was Peace Justice Lulu Adams, Coahoma. Mrs. Adams has been there since Monday last week and expects to return home Saturday. She has undergone major arterial surgery.

Ninth Month For All Out Oil Production In State

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission set the December oil allowable at 100 per cent today, the ninth consecutive month for all-out production in the state.

Some fields, including the oil-rich East Texas Field, were held below 100 per cent production to prevent waste.

Major buyers of Texas crude oil asked for 3,759,720 barrels a day next month, an increase of 6,665 barrels daily from November.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast a December demand for Texas crude of 3,560,000 barrels a day, an increase of 80,000 over this month's forecast.

Of 14 big buyers who made oral nominations, 13 asked for the same amount of oil as this month and only Gulf Oil Corp. asked for less.

The Gulf spokesman noted, however, that the lower nomination "did not indicate a decrease in demands for oil" but merely was an effort to put the nomination in line with what Gulf actually is getting from its leases.

Commission chairman Byron Tunnell said Texas' crude oil stocks totaled 99.9 million barrels as of Nov. 3, an increase of 900,000 from a week ago and 2.4 million from a month ago but 400,000 less than a year ago.

He said crude oil stocks had shown "marked improvement."

The East Texas allowable was held at 86 per cent, Kelly Snyder at 76, Tom O'Connor at 70 and two Big Lake fields (San Miguel and Lower East) at 80 per cent for December.

Setting of the December allowable climaxes a year which got underway with a 67.5 per cent market production factor

East Texas Choir Due Here Today

The East Texas State University choir from Commerce will be presented in free public concert here at 8 p.m. today at the First Christian Church. The public is urged to attend. The choir, now on its fall tour, has two Big Springers — Alan Hill, freshman music major, and Steve Pyles, junior music major — as members of the group.

Wrinkle Cites Need For Funds

Representatives of more than 30 rural areas in West Texas asked the Texas Industrial Commission to encourage the state legislature to fund the Texas Rural Development Act in a public hearing Tuesday at Howard County Junior College.

On hand to present oral and written appeals to the commission were chamber managers and presidents, city council representatives, inter-governmental group presidents and industrial foundation representatives from Big Spring, Midland, Abilene, Lamesa, Sweetwater, Brownwood and other cities from the Panhandle and West Texas.

Representing Big Spring's Industrial Foundation, President Winston Wrinkle told the commission that the local foundation had raised more than $300,000 in cash from local citizens since 1969 and $45,000 from local financial institutions for the purpose of developing industry in the area. The money was used for purchasing land, building industrial facilities and aiding new industries in their Big Spring ventures.

The banks and savings and loan institutions are presently at their legal lending limits and the Foundation feels that it can't go back to the citizens again for any substantial funding for further industrial development, Wrinkle said.

He expressed a need for funding on the part of the legislature for the new RDA.

Monies available from the new act can be used by industrial foundations of areas with rural designation for financing of new industries, purchase of land, placing facilities and purchase of equipment.

Action by the commission is not due until January, and then the legislature must consider funding.

Graveside services will be held 2 p.m. Thursday at Mount Olive Cemetery for Emory Scott King, 86, who died in a hospital here Saturday. The Rev. Elra Phillips, associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, will officiate. Mr. King came to Big Spring in 1965 from Fort

Intergovernmental Cooperation Lively Topic At Meeting

Returning today from the 60th Annual Conference of the Texas Municipal League in Dallas, City Manager Harry Nagel reported that city officials in Texas cities the size of Big Spring have considered intergovernmental cooperation as a possible solution to the duplication that occurs in the services of various local governmental bodies.

Nagel learned that officials statewide are interested in the inter-governmental cooperation concept.

"They feel that it is difficult to get cooperation," Nagel said. "Most of them realize that it is good and, that if agencies don't agree on cooperative measures, the only ones who lose are the citizens."

Among other problems discussed in informal sessions, Nagel said, was the dog problem. City officials statewide have found no permanent solutions, he said all agreeing that "it's a continual problem, like chug holes in the streets."

Revenue sharing is a popular subject among municipal administrators, Nagel said. Each city manager agrees that the federal money should be spent for non-recurring items, capital improvements and one-time purchases. The general feeling, Nagel said, among officials is to remain independent of the federal source by avoiding the payment of operating expenses with revenue-sharing money.

Relative Dies

Rites Held For Mrs. Mitchell

Last rites for Mrs. Dalton Mitchell, 74, were held in the First Presbyterian Chapel at 2 p.m. Wednesday with the pastor, the Rev. R. Earl Price, assisting. Burial was in Mt. Olive Cemetery with River-Welch Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Mitchell, born Nettie Carpenter, was a life-long resident and member of a pioneer family. She had been ill several weeks. Until her retirement a year ago she was receptionist for River-Welch Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were E. P. Driver, Charles Lusk, J. O. Johnson, Lee Porter, Noble Kenemur, and Paul Soldan.

Cold Winds Dip Mercury In West Texas

Fog cast a dismal shroud over the Panhandle-Plains area and cold weather reached into all parts of Texas this morning. Advising motorists to drive with caution, the National Weather Service reported near daybreak that visibility had been reduced to less than one-quarter mile at many points. The same high pressure ridge over East Texas which drove a chill all the way to the coast helped spread low clouds over all sections except South Central and Southwest Texas. Forecasters looked for a frontal system that finished crossing Texas and moved into the Gulf of Mexico two days earlier to start pushing back into South Texas as a warm front by tonight—on course to collide with a new cold front due to shove into West Texas by evening.

NOT BAD — This is the 10-day precipitation and temperature outlook for the nation, according to the National Weather Service.

Sympathy For Anyone Who Missed 'America'

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Alistair Cooke's "America" has made its debut on the NBC Television network and sympathy is here-extended to anyone who missed it. But don't worry. There still are 12 more episodes. Tuesday night's opening effort, while only the warmup, was wry, fact-filled and beautifully photographed. I didn't think they made that kind anymore.

JUST IN CASE Most American history series on television tend to have a minimum of interesting fact and a maximum of schoolbook fluff. They often try to bluff their way through with banjo music and frequent renditions of "Stars and Stripes Forever." There's none of that in Cooke's tour of America. In fact, his first show dealt with this nation's existence before it had a flag.

It moved briskly and literately from 15,000 B.C. to the Indian tribes that first inhabited the Americas, and then on to Christopher Columbus' voyage to the New World and those who followed him.

Cooke frequently stopped along the tour to note some little-known facts — Columbus' sailors were issued two liters of wine per man each day—and a sardonic observation: "This, I suppose was to keep them philosophical if things took a turn for the worst."

TOSSED TO WAYS He covered in detail the treatment of Indians by the Spanish conquistadors, noting in one case that those whom the Spaniards failed to convert to Christianity either were thrown to the dogs or "flogged into devotion to the Carpenter of Nazareth."

Cooke also spent considerable time tracing the French influence on this country, pausing at such unlikely places as St. Genevieve, Mo., once a settlement devoted exclusively to the mining of lead for France. He nicely summed up New Orleans' link to its French heritage by observing that tourists to that city still feel almost "an obligation to abjure the hot dog for the snail" at dinner time.

His one-hour tour ended at Jamestown, Va., one of the first English settlements in this country. THE ARSENAL It'll resume there on Nov. 28 in an episode devoted to Jamestown and other English settlements in America. Subsequent episodes will range from the making of a nation to "The Arsenal," a look at the American way of war from the flintlock to the Strategic Air Command.

NATIVE OF COLORADO CITY Death Takes Ex-Solon Martin Dies Sr.

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Martin Dies Sr., who hunted subversives in government during seven stormy years as chairman of the House Un-American Activities Commission, is dead. His death Tuesday night at the age of 72 was attributed to an apparent heart attack. Dies first suffered such an attack five years ago.

The burly, cigar-smoking Texas spent more than two decades in Congress, and during that period he voted against all foreign aid bills. CONTROVERSY Since his retirement in 1958, Dies had stayed largely out of public view although often called upon to speak at meetings of patriotic tone. Besides his wife, he leaves three sons—Martin Dies Jr. of Beaumont, Tex., now judge of a state civil appeals court and formerly a state senator and Texas secretary of state; and Robert M. and Jack Dies, both of Lufkin. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

After disclosing a shift from probing nazism to communism, Dies stirred controversy and commanded newspaper headlines often during the early years of his investigations. President Franklin D. Roosevelt and many Cabinet members openly disapproved of Dies' tactics but he gained public support as the world weighed implications of the Russo-German non-aggression pact of 1939.

UNNATURAL FELLOWS "Communazi!" Dies belittled, calling them unnatural bedfellows. Himself the son of a congressman from this part of East Texas, Dies first became a member of Congress as its youngest member in 1931. A close friend was the late John N. Garner, then speaker of the House. Before becoming the first chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, he gained a seat on the powerful House Rules Committee.

In tracking down subversive influences, the new committee became a personification of Dies and frequently was called simply the Dies Committee. Earl Browder was indicted on a passport evasion charge and Fritz Kuhn was convicted in New York of stealing money from the German-American (Naz) Fund during the first year and a half of the committee's existence.

POOR HEALTH That period also saw a Democratic governor defeated in Michigan after witnesses called by Dies alleged the governor failed to deal effectively in 1937 with Flint steel plant strikers, and in the 1938 election the Democrats lost 70 seats in Congress although they expected to lose no more than 25. Dies remained a storm center even after he left Congress because of poor health in 1945 and returned home to practice law until he won election as a congressman-at-large—an additional seat allowed Texas under the census.

The East Texas congressman again retired in 1958, a year after he made an unsuccessful race against Ralph Yarborough for the U.S. Senate post left by Price Daniel to run for governor of Texas. Dies was a native of Colorado City in West Texas' Mitchell County, where his parents lived temporarily because of his father's ill health.

After graduation from Beaumont High School, he studied at the University of Texas but was advised to give up his law courses because of weak eyes. Instead he moved to Washington, D.C., and attended night school, reading by daylight when it hurt his eyes least. He was 19 when he earned his law degree in 1920. Soon afterward he married the former Myrtle Adams, practiced law in Marshall, Tex., and then returned to Orange, Tex., to enter his father's law firm.

When Dies retired in 1945 after doctors told him he had cancer of the larynx, there was speculation the investigating committee might be dissolved. Instead Congress made it a permanent body. During the early years of the committee, Dies tangled with President Roosevelt daily. Dies accused the President of protecting known subversives.

MADE MISTAKES One instance of Dies' mistakes was his record of 565 names of government employees on the mailing list of the American League for Peace and Democracy. The President called it a "sordid procedure." Dies never said that were linked with communism. He said in a 1939 interview: "Who could hold of a bear card like this without making a mistake? And I expect to be every day in the line."

these 'isms' fellows are violating a law. I've conducted a non-partisan investigation." After Dies returned for his second stint in Congress, there were few headlines. In the 1950s he was among about 100 congressmen signing the Southern Manifesto condemning the Supreme Court desegregation ruling. He claimed to have "helped extract the teeth of the so-called civil rights bill which passed in the House but died in the Senate—three of the amendments were passed."

Eagleton Says No Ambition Other Than To Win Contest

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., the man who gave up the 1972 Democratic vice presidential nomination, says he has no other ambition than to be re-elected as the U.S. senator from Missouri in 1974.

Eagleton, here to address the 27th annual convention of the national Association of Independent Insurers, said he would not get involved in the controversy over replacing National Party Chairman Jean Westwood.

NO ROLE "I will play no role whatsoever in selecting a new national chairman," Eagleton said. "I'm not a member of the committee and will take no sides in the issue."

Other speakers on Tuesday's program included Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., Vestal Lemmon, president of NAII, Howard E. Clendens, chairman of the NAII and Russell E. Van Horn, president of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Eagleton did say that some of the party's important structural reforms such as the quota system of choosing convention delegates should not be abused. "The quotas exclude some and include others," he said. "We have to broaden the perimeter of the party to include all who want to be Democrats." Eagleton said he didn't think the American people would support another Vietnam. The senator said the U.S. presently is theoretically "committed" by 347 treaties and 4,359 executive agreements that have been entered into with other nations.

FAVORS NO-FAULT "We should do everything possible to abide by those commitments," he said. "But some are antiquated and no longer serve the interest of either party. Their existence could lead at worst to involvement no one wants and, at the least, to misunderstanding and disillusionment. I don't believe the American people will support another Vietnam, and if this is so, our commitments should be revised accordingly. Cook told the 1,400 insurance men he favored a step-by-step approach to no-fault insurance and encouraged the insurance men to intensify their efforts at the state level.

Cook added a warning. "If you don't, if we have a totally federally regulated agency when you come to Washington in a few years, you're going to point at the little Pentagon and then you're going to point to the large building housing those workers representing the insurance industry."

Cook also urged bar associations not to take an obstructive position against insurance reform.

Find $92,400 In Sewer Inlet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two Water Department truck drivers found $92,400 in a sewer and gave the money to authorities. Now they must decide whether to accept a reward or risk suing for the return of the amount they found.

Louis Lagana, 57, and Cardell Williams, 41, found the batch of $100 bills last Nov. 22 while cleaning out a sewer inlet. The Federal Reserve Bank said the money was part of $1.4 million in old bills which were to be destroyed but were stolen instead. The theft was discovered after the money was found.

ALL GOES DOWN — As Taylor Williams (44) goes up to score Howard County Jayhawks, teammate Bobby Beall (24) goes down with Southwestern Christian College's Jeffery Calhoun. Other Randle (34) and Tom Bledsoe (43).

Jayhawks Blast Southwestern

Bledsoe's 30 Points Spark HCJC To 93-75 Victory

If size of the crowd has anything to do with the performance of the Jayhawks, then opponents of Howard County Junior College should hope that no one shows up at any more of the Jayhawks' games. Tuesday night was designated "Jam Jayhawk Gym Night" and the fans filled the gym to the rafters for the Jayhawks' 1972 home debut.

The debut was successful as the Jayhawks responded with an outstanding effort to crush Southwestern Christian College of Terrell, 93-75, behind the 30-point effort of freshman forward Tom Bledsoe.

Bledsoe became the first Jayhawk to crack the 30-point barrier this season, although he has tallied 29 points in an earlier Howard County contest.

Four other Howard County performers were in the double figures column last night. They were Taylor Williams with 16 points, Leroy Lumzy with 14 points, Bobby Beall with 11 points and Mike Randle with 10 points.

Southwestern was sparked by the outstanding performance of James Randle, who garnered 31 points for the game's high. Randle, who scouts said couldn't hit anything in the Rams' last ballgame, hit from all angles and distances as he almost single-handedly kept the Rams in the game until midway through the final half.

"I'm proud of the way the boys played tonight," head coach Harold Wilder commented after the game. "I felt that our inside play was exceptionally good. Bledsoe can get fouled inside and still score. Both he and Williams just controlled the boards."

"I felt that Lumzy and (Herbie) Lee did a good job of setting up our offense. Randle had a good night on defense. I was real proud of Beall. He showed a lot of composure," commented the Jayhawk mentor.

The Jayhawks stormed out to a quick 5-0 lead and held onto the lead throughout the game although the Rams did manage to tie the score at 20-20 midway through the first half.

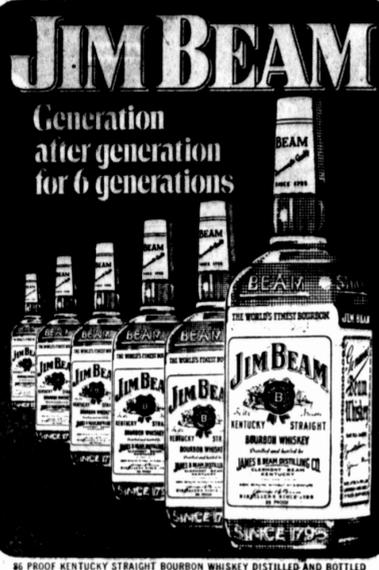

Howard County took a 43-32 margin into the half-time intermission.

Coming out for the second half, the Jayhawks quickly moved to a 20-point bulge at 66-46 with Bledsoe picking up 13 points.

The win gives the Jayhawks a 3-2 mark for the season. Howard County will play St. Phillip College of San Antonio in the first round of the Odessa Tournament Thursday. Tipoff for the contest in the Odessa Coliseum is set for 9 p.m.

Vols, Colorado Top Choices For Spots

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Thirteenth-ranked Tennessee and No. 15 Colorado reportedly will meet in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston the night of Dec. 30.

A Tennessee spokesman said Tuesday night, "it should be made very clear that we have not had a bowl bid. We can't until Saturday."

"But in getting ready for whatever happens after our game with Ole Miss, it is necessary that we know the feelings of the players on their preference in case there is a choice of bowls."

Tennessee, 6-2, will be host to Ole Miss Saturday. Some reports said the Vols, who will be favored against Mississippi, must win Saturday in order to get the Bluebonnet invitation.

In Houston, an official said the bowl would like to have the Vols and is considering them. Under NCAA rules, bowl invitations can not be extended until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Tennessee players reportedly voted to play in Houston rather than in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, where they beat Arkansas 14-13 last year. It was assumed upperclassmen who played in Memphis last year wanted to visit another city this year.

Another report said Tennessee's decision came after a hectic 24 hours of jockeying during which Gator Bowl officials settled on Auburn for one of its teams in their Dec. 30 afternoon game in Jacksonville, Fla.

Twelfth-ranked Iowa State, coached by former Tennessee player Johnny Majors, was said to be a prime candidate for the Liberty Bowl.

COUGARS JOLT SQUIRES

Cunningham Having Ball In ABA

Thirty-five points, eleven rebounds, and two blocked shots. Billy Cunningham is having a ball in the American Basketball Association.

Cunningham, a new member of the Carolina Cougars after several years in the National Basketball Association, continues to come through with all-star performances in the ABA.

Cunningham's big game Tuesday night helped Carolina blast the Virginia Squires 127-118. The star forward averaged 40.4 points per game in his first four games in the ABA at nearly 20.

In the other ABA games Tuesday night, the Denver Nuggets defeated the New York Knickerbockers 107-97.

Rockets ripped the Indiana Pacers 118-100 and the San Diego Conquistadors topped the Utah Stars 123-111.

Carolina broke open its game with Virginia with a 14-4 spurt behind Cunningham late in the fourth quarter that gave the Cougars a solid 113-103 lead. Virginia could get no closer than seven points after that.

Warren Jabari hit two baskets in the closing minutes and Denver held off a rally by Indiana to beat the defending ABA champion Pacers. Ralph Sampson led the Pacers with 24 points.

Sparked by Chuck Williams' eight points in the final eight minutes, the Cougars won their first ABA game from Utah.

Rick Barry, Jerry West and Walt Frazier. Those are three of the superstars in the National Basketball Association who get paid over salaries in break-even games.

West scored in 15 of his 26 points in the last period as the Los Angeles Lakers trimmed the Milwaukee Bucks 92-82.

And Frazier scored 30 points as the New York Knicks claimed the Chicago Bulls 133-127. Golden State was trailing 88-94 going into the final period before Barry took charge. The brilliant forward hit a 20-foot shot with four minutes left to give the Warriors a never-headed 101-100 lead. Barry, who

Pro Track Plans Set

NEW YORK (AP) — The Olympic Games have traditionally been the singular goal for the world's premier track and field athletes.

There was no money to be made.

Jumpers, runners and weight lifters would sweat through years of training for that one amateur chance at a gold medal...the miles of publicity, perhaps a ticker tape parade back home.

Plans were revealed Tuesday for a world-wide professional track circuit that claimed to offer top performers the chance to make good incomes in arenas from California to Europe.

The International Track Association (ITA) announced the signing of distance great Jim Ryun, pole vaulter Bob Seagrave, shotputter Randy Matson and middle distance man Lee Evans for a 1973 series with more than 40 meets.

Pro football safety Richmond Flowers of the New York Giants agreed to make a comeback as a high hurdler, something he did magnificently at the University of Tennessee four years ago.

Michael O'Hara, president of ITA, said that contracted stars would get expenses to competition and a chance to make $500 for winning their event.

The format included two meets on most weekends—one apiece on Friday and Saturday—which would give an athlete the chance to win $1,000 in a week and still hold down another job.

Big Week For Mason

By The Associated Press
It was a big week for Mason in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football poll.

- Ranked No. 3 in last week's listing, Mason knocked off No. 1-rated Sonora 26-8 and, coupled with Schulenburg's 12-12 deadlock with Somerville, moved to the top of the Class A rankings in the season's next to last statewide ranking.
- Other top ranked teams remained in command, including San Antonio Lee in Class 4A, Uvalde in Class 3A, Childress in Class 2A and rule in Class B.
- The big change in Class 4A was Port Neches-Groves' loss to Port Arthur Lincoln in a battle of ranked teams last week. PN-G dropped from third to 10th and Lincoln edged up from sixth to fifth.
- Here is The Associated Press schoolboy football poll with first place votes in parentheses, season records and points based on 16-9-7-2-3-2-1:
- | Class 4A | Rank | Points | Record |

AMERICAN LEAGUE MVP — Dick Allen, the Chicago White Sox' slugging first baseman, was named Wednesday the American League's Most Valuable Player of the 1972 season.

Allen Claims MVP Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Broad-shouldered Dick Allen, the Chicago White Sox' muscle of the Chicago White Sox' offense, was named today the American League's Most Valuable Player of 1972.

Allen won the coveted prize in a landslide vote from the Baseball Writers Association of America, receiving 21 out of a possible 24 first-place votes.

CROSTOWN RIVALS

Southern Cal Gets Nod Over UCLA Bruins

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA, which got caught looking ahead to Southern California and lost to Washington last Saturday, hopes to catch top-ranked Southern Cal looking ahead to Notre Dame this weekend.

The Crosstown rivals meet in the Los Angeles Coliseum, which serves as home field for both, to settle the Pacific-8 Conference championship and the host berth in the Rose Bowl.

Southern Cal holds a one-game lead and a UCLA triumph would deadlock the race ... and send the Bruins to Pasadena by virtue of having won the head-to-head confrontation.

UCLA is second nationally in rushing with 361.2 yards per game and ninth in total offense with a 427.7 average. Southern Cal stands fifth in that category with a 450.8 average.

But it is on defense where the Trojans really shine, holding their foes to 215.3 yards per game (fourth best nationally), 75.2 on the ground (No. 1) and 9.7 points (No. 6). Trojan Coach John McKay says the defense deserves three-quarters of the credit for the No. 1 ranking.

The pick, then, is a defensive one ... Southern Cal.

Last week's score was 42 right—including the Upset Special, Michigan State over Ohio State—20 wrong and one tie for .677. For the season, it's 409-161-12—718.

Virginia Tech at Alabama—If ever a team could be expected to look ahead, this is Alabama's turn. The Crimson Tide is coming off an impressive and emotional victory over

Ira Runs Past Flower Grove

IRA — A balanced scoring attack propelled Ira to a 66-49 win over Flower Grove here Tuesday night. Paula Sterling led the Ira charge with 28 points. Joining her in double figures were Susi Hester with 19 points and Jan Cruse with 18 points.

Stanton Needs Cage Foes

STANTON — Due to some scheduling difficulties, four openings exist in the Stanton Buffaloes' 1972-73 cage schedule. The coaching staff would like to fill these openings with Class AA or lower clubs.

Garden City Rips Westbrook

GARDEN CITY — Lisa Hirt pumped in 35 points to pace Garden City to an easy 68-29 win over Westbrook here Tuesday night. Also in double figures for Garden City were Linda Batla with 13 points and Cynthia Currie with 10 points.

Stanton Needs Cage Foes

The four dates are Nov. 21, Nov. 28, Dec. 1 and Dec. 5. If possible, the Stanton coaches would like to play the Nov. 21 and 28 dates at home. The December games could be scheduled on the road.

Decorating Items Are Demonstrated

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. J. B. Anderson hosted a demonstration of home accessory decorations Wednesday for 11 women. Mrs. Betty Seals showed the items. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Vera Harris has returned from Robert Lee where she visited the J. H. Craigs.

Guests of the J. W. Overtons recently were the Freddy Han Rankins and his mother, all of Midland. The elder Mrs. Rankin remained with the Overtons for a visit.

The J. M. Craigs were in San Angelo Tuesday.

The Bill Chadwells were in Bangs recently where they visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Mosser, and his grandmother, Mrs. Susie Turner who is a patient in the Twilight Nursing Home there. The Jesse McPhersons have returned to Odessa following a visit with the Chadwells.

The D. L. Dorlands attended the Texas Tech and TCU Football game Saturday in Lubbock.

Mrs. J. H. Cardwell has returned from visits with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Heilhecker, Abilene, and her brother and family, the J. N. Edens, Breckenridge.

Bacharach Composition Sets Theme

Burt Bacharach's "What the World Needs Now Is Love, Sweet Love," was played in the background Monday evening as Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, discussed the meaning of love.

The program at the Pizza Inn was led by Mrs. Coy Mitchell and Mrs. Robert Wilson. Each member was asked to relate a story about a person or group who dedicated their lives to one particular goal. Dr. Albert Schweitzer was discussed, as well as those groups striving for release of prisoners of war and incorporation of the Peace Corps in foreign countries.

"A Summary for Living," by St. Francis of Assisi, was read by Mrs. Wilson to conclude the program.

Mrs. John Keating was elected city council representative for the chapter. Mrs. Wilson presided, and Mrs. Olin Gillian distributed ESP fondue and buffet cookbooks which will be sold for $3.50 Saturday at Highland Center Mall.

Following the meeting, members went to the central fire station to assist in the multiple sclerosis drive. The next meeting will be a pledge ritual at 7 p.m., Nov. 27 in the home of Mrs. Wilson, 4046 Vicky.

Men's Clothing Workshop Set

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Workshops on sewing men's clothing are scheduled throughout November in the Mitchell County extension office. Two sessions on sewing pants will be held at 7 p.m., Nov. 21 and Nov. 28, with emphasis on pockets, fly-front zippers, alterations and application of commercial waistbands.

Workshops on coats will begin with a pre-lab meeting at 7 p.m., Nov. 22, and construction will be done Nov. 27 and Dec. 1. The prelab session will include selection of patterns, fabrics and notions.

Anyone interested in enrolling for one or both of the workshops may call the extension office at 728-3111 before Monday.

Transfer Art Is Shown Monday

Transfer and reverse transfer art were demonstrated by Mrs. F. D. Williams Monday evening for Mu Kappa Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha. Mrs. Williams transferred designs to boards for decoupage or painting.

Mrs. W. L. McMullan presided at the model meeting in the home of Mrs. Tommy Mills, 2411 Alabama. Members agreed to decorate the floor for retirement patients at Veterans Administration Hospital for the Christmas season, and will provide patients with handmade gifts and refreshments.

Guests were Mrs. John E. Gibson, Electra, and Mrs. Williams. A salad supper for members and rushees is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 21 in the home of Mrs. Lonnie Zant, 2407 Morrison.

MINK SHAWL — An Eastern-style shawl of white Scandinavian mink, lavishly trimmed with white fox, was modeled at the Trafalgar Ball in London. The shawl was in a $250,000 collection of furs shown to the guests by the Royal Society of St. George at the Savoy Hotel.

NCO Wives Donate To Local Programs

Several donations were made by Non-Commissioned Officers Wives Club Tuesday, including allotments to Firehouse No. 6, Howard County Library and Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Members also agreed to help sponsor the annual children's Christmas party at Webb Air Force Base. The club is looking for a magician or puppeteer to perform at the party, which is scheduled Dec. 17. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Louis Rodriguez at 267-2511, extension 2402.

Mrs. Joe Miller presided, and announced a cosmetic demonstration will be conducted in the ball room of the NCO Club at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 28. All wives of NCOs are invited to attend.

Mrs. Frank Moore won the attendance prize. Mrs. John Denton joined the club, and was named member-at-large for the month. Guests included Mrs. Harold Shultz, honorary

Potpourri Club Plans To Entertain Geriatrics

The Potpourri Club will provide cakes for a Christmas party on Ward II (Geriatric) at Big Spring State Hospital Dec. 14, according to plans announced by Mrs. Pete Cook at a meeting Monday.

The club met in the home of Mrs. Gerald Harris with Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith, president, reporting on a drug abuse film sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Members were reminded that the club's Christmas party will be held Dec. 16 in the Harris home, with hostesses being Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Tippy Anderson, Mrs. Dee Thomas and Mrs. Earl Lusk.

The program theme was "Woman's World" with Mrs. R. G. Dunnam presenting a program concerning her experiences while working for the Big Spring Independent School System.

She began her career as attendance clerk at the high school, transferring to the administration office to work for Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, former assistant superintendent.

Mrs. Dunnam is now secretary for Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction. Her job is basically public relations work with teachers, students, parents, principals and interested citizens.

"Many of the new programs in the school system had their beginning in the assistant superintendent's office," said Mrs. Dunnam. These included the Drug Education Program and "Plan A," the latter a program for counseling and Special Education, which are the latest programs to take effect.

When the NASA team visited the schools recently, her office was complimented on the amount of information that had been made available to the students prior to their visit, making their instruction more meaningful and useful. Her office is also in charge of text book hearings, which is "a big responsibility" according to Mrs. Dunnam.

Rebekah Lodge Slates Public Coffee Thursday

A breakfast coffee, open to the public, will be held Thursday from 6 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon at the home of Mrs. D. A. Jones, 1806 Settles. The coffee is sponsored as a fund-raising event by Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284. Donations will be accepted.

Plans for the coffee were made Tuesday evening at a meeting in the lodge hall with Mrs. C. C. Cunningham presiding. After the meeting, the group re-convened at municipal auditorium to view a film on drug abuse. On Oct. 21, the meeting will be followed by Thanksgiving dinner with members providing covered dishes.

Upland cotton sample receipts increased sharply at the USDA's Pecos Cladding Office, according to L. L. Wells, in charge. Receipts for the week ending Nov. 10 totaled 5,522 bales bringing the season's total to 20,564 compared to 22,260 through Nov. 12, 1971.

Strict low middling (41) continued as the predominant grade with 61 per cent of classings. Low middling plus (50) and low middling (51) combined accounted for 14 per cent. Middling (31) and strict low middling plus (40) made up seven per cent each.

Staple lengths ranged from 30 to 37 with staple 34 accounting for 74 per cent.

Mike readings continued to hold up with 95 per cent in the 3.5 to 4.9 range. Breaking strength, as determined by the Pressley zero gage, averaged a little stronger at 79,000 psi for the week and season.

Clear Sylvester Captain Of Alleged Atrocities

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — A captain from the small town of Sylvester in West Texas has been cleared by the Army following an investigation of alleged atrocities by a military unit under his command in Vietnam in the spring of 1967.

Capt. James W. Lanning, a 1964 graduate of Texas A&M, was cleared Tuesday by Lt. Gen. John Hay, commanding general of the XVIII Airborne Corps here where Lanning is stationed as an instructor for the Institute for Military Assistance.

The official statement clearing Lanning said the Army had conducted a "thorough and comprehensive" investigation pertaining to allegations of improper conduct and had turned up nothing to warrant action against Lanning.

public two months ago friends and acquaintances of the Lannings in Sylvester refused to believe the man they remembered as an "all-American boy" would be responsible for the alleged atrocities.

Albert Maberry, Lanning's teacher at Trent High School from which Lanning graduated in 1960, said of his pupil: "He was one of the finest boys I ever had. He was an all-American boy as far as I am concerned."

The captain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lanning said of their son: "His record stands for itself."

Waco Mayor McDavid Dies

DALLAS (AP) — C. W. McDavid, 58, mayor of Waco, died early today in Dallas of an apparent heart attack.

McDavid was in Dallas to attend the Texas Municipal League Convention.

The mayor was examined by a hotel doctor after complaining of indigestion. He was taken to Baylor Hospital and pronounced dead on arrival.

McDavid was production control manager for Central Iron Works of Waco.

He was elected to the City Council in 1969 and 1971 and was named mayor by the council in April of this year.

McDavid was an architectural engineer and had lived in Waco 33 years.

He was a native of Waxahachie, grew up in Abilene and Lubbock, and was a graduate of Texas Tech.

Puerto Rico Duty For Texas Guards
DALLAS (AP) — Four hundred National Guardsmen will be ferried to Puerto Rico Dec. 8 for a mass tactical parachute jump the following day.

They are members of the 1st Airborne Battalion, 143rd Infantry and will be supported by Air National Guard equipment and personnel from New York, Tennessee, Minnesota, California, North Carolina and New Hampshire.

Lt. Col. James T. Dennis of Irving is commanding the maneuver, called Operation Amistad, which is the first ever conducted by the National Guard outside the continental United States.

The men will fly from the Dallas Naval Air Station to Ramon Air Force Base in Puerto Rico. The mass jump will be conducted at a drop zone near Ponce, on the island's southern coastline.

Murder Charge
ODESSA — Charges of murder were filed here Tuesday against Leonard L. Giddens, 21, in connection with the shooting of Wilbur L. Baird, 67, on Nov. 3. Baird, operator of a liquor store at 42nd and Kermit highway, died here Monday of wounds sustained when he tried to prevent robbery of his store.

Justice of Peace Howard Williams set bond for $25,000 on the charge. Giddens also is held for armed robbery.

Petitions Checked
MIDLAND — Petitions bearing 3,637 certified signatures were presented here Tuesday for an election on disannexation of the Midland Independent School District territory from the Permian Junior College District. An election is expected to be called for Dec. 21, if the Texas College Co-ordinating board approves Dec. 1, for the disannexation. Also, for a maintenance tax, plus bonds to finance $5.1 building program.

Livestock Prices Ceiling Opposed
HOUSTON (AP) — Delegates to the 39th annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau have recommended that meat produced in the state.

The resolution was approved by the 13,000-member organization at a session here Tuesday. The convention closed following today's schedule.

In other moves, the group went on record as opposing a ceiling on livestock prices or any other type of price control on livestock; recommended labeling of imported meat to show its country of origin and recommended that all meat sold by markets and public eating establishments be labeled as imported or domestic.

State Farm Bureau President J. T. Woodson of Fannin County said the American Farm Bureau Federation has drawn up an emergency plan to move fruit and vegetables to consumers during farm labor strife.

Woodson said the national organization would go as far as selling perishables at roadside stands. Woodson was a member of a national committee which drew up the plan.

He said the plan could be used only after at least 1,000 county farm bureaus and 25 state farm bureaus committed themselves to it.

Don't Qualify

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My best friend, a 40-year-old divorcee with two children, joined Parents Without Partners last year. She met a swell man there (a widower with three children) and they are being married soon, and I am so envious I am ashamed of myself.

I would love to join Parents Without Partners and meet a nice gentleman with a family who wants to meet a nice lady with children.

I am 42 and have three wonderful sons who need a father. The problem is I am still married. My husband is never home and I am tired of being both mother and father. If I could find a man who really wanted to stay home and be a family man I would leave the one I'm married to so fast he wouldn't know what hit him. I wonder if anyone has ever joined that club just to look over the prospects?

PARENT WITH NO PARTNER

DEAR PARENT: Sorry, but you don't qualify for membership in Parents Without Partners, because technically you HAVE a partner. I suggest you get some counseling to improve your marital relationship, and get that silent partner of yours to sing a more cooperative tune. Widows and divorcees have enough competition without married women who would like a change.

DEAR ABBY: I am 79, and I am NOT senile, but something has puzzled me since my teens. I was secretary to a psychiatrist for many years, but could never pick up the courage to ask him about my problem, if you can call it a problem. (Unfortunately, he is dead now.) I can "see" things that are not there. For instance, I glance down on the floor, and in the figured linoleum pattern I can actually "see" an animal, bird, Heart Swaps Thing Of Past?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Heart transplants are almost a thing of the past, says Dr. Michael DeBakey of Houston, a pioneer, because new methods of repairing the heart are more successful than replacing it.

DeBakey said his team of physicians at Baylor University School of Medicine is now fixing hearts of patients "who would have been candidates for heart transplants" a few years ago.

After 12 transplants, he said only two of his patients survived longer than a year.

Where Will All Rats Go When Fruit Market Closes?

LONDON (AP) — Where will all the rats go when Covent Garden, London's central fruit and vegetable market, closes after 300 years in business? Local residents fear a break out of thousands of rodents suddenly robbed of squashed tomatoes, rotten apples, stray nuts and potatoes.

RAT EXPLOSION

But Westminster City Council, which is responsible for the area, believes it can cope with any rat explosion.

Covent Garden, 6½ fragrant acres tucked away in a maze of narrow old streets behind the busy traffic of The Strand and within hailing distance of plush tourist hotels, is to be closed by 1974.

A new 64-acre site, linked with the railroad and equipped with modern facilities, is being built a mile away across the river. The old market, once the location of a convent garden, is rich in old London flavor. It won fame as the place where Prof. Henry Higgins first heard Eliza Doolittle murder the King's English in "Pygmalion" and then "My Fair Lady."

THOUSANDS

There has never been a reliable census of the rats living in Covent Garden, but they are estimated to number in the thousands, maybe tens of thousands.

The old market still is operating, and there is plenty for the rats to feed on. Anything which is not in cold storage is attacked.

Jim Monahan, an executive member of the Covent Garden Community Association, fears that demolition of the market and its surrounding 58 acres will disrupt one of central London's biggest sewers and send the rats scattering outward.

MAJOR FEAR

One fear is that the rats will use the maze of sewers as a subway system to penetrate other parts of the city in their search for food.

Westminster City Council officials regard these fears as alarmist.

An official in its Public Health Department said: "When a building comes down and it is not going to be used again, we'll see that its sewer connections are sealed off immediately."

The official said rat poison also would be dropped down sewers.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1972 SEC. B

If Changes Come, School Group Recommends Formula

A combined report of a study committee of the Texas State Teachers Association, regarding the possible answers to expected school finance problems in Texas, has now been completed with recommendations made by the group.

Supt. Sam Anderson of Big Spring represented the Texas Association of School Administrators in the study which met during the year. Eleven other organizations such as colleges, classroom teachers, school board association and others, also had representatives in the study.

Other groups are compiling studies and recommendations for school financing in event the Supreme Court rules that the ad valorem property tax is unconstitutional for raising school funds.

Among these groups are the Texas Research League and the Education Agency.

FINANCE SUGGESTIONS

The TSTA report is the only one that includes recommendations about the program to be financed, not just the method of financing.

The report of the teachers study group includes recommendations that any unit allocations be made on the basis of average daily membership instead of the current average daily attendance, as the only fair method.

The group advocates that formulas should provide a level of staffing and funding for all school districts comparable to the best.

In other words, the TEA group doesn't want any school district to have its standards drug down in the process of change. It further recommends that kindergartens be included and that funds go only to school districts operating an accredited 12-grade program.

The recommendation allocates for transportation, as well as maintenance, and requests that the salary schedules in the Texas State Public Education Compensation Plan be increased $70 per month above current provisions.

ADJUSTMENT FUND

It then recommends that state funds should be provided for adjusting school programs to meet local needs, and that the state funds should be provided for compensatory education programs.

The committee further recommends that the full market value of property should serve as the basis for attaining equity among school districts in assessing and collecting taxes for school purposes, and that the total cost of the proposed Foundation School Program should be borne approximately 30 per cent by local districts and 70 per cent by the state.

The committee's final recommendation is that the local fund assignment for each school district shall be based upon the ratio of full market value of taxable property within that district to the total full market value of taxable property within all school districts of the state. Oil rich districts will probably not concur with this recommendation, but any recommendations is not due to satisfy all.

ANDERSON CONCURS

This study group went a little further and offered formulas for allocating personnel units within the school system by which the fund distribution will be completed.

Supt. Anderson stated here this week that he agrees with the report of this committee and all of its recommendations as being as close to an answer to the problems as can probably be obtained for all of Texas.

HEALTH HAZARD TO CHILDREN There'll Be No Yule Trees Adorned With Lead Tinsel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says that "not a single strand" of lead Christmas tree tinsel should be found on store shelves this Yule season.

"It's gone. We have assurances that not one ounce will be sold this year," said Malcolm "Mac" Jensen, director of FDA's Bureau of Product Safety.

Last Christmas the agency was accused of agreeing secretly with several lead tinsel manufacturers not to publicize an understanding that production would stop Jan. 1, 1972, but sales could continue through the 1972 Christmas season.

Jensen denies it.

"There was never any effort to hide it," he said in an interview. "The decision was made internally not to publicize it because we feared that many people preferring the lead variety would stockpile it."

After the charges of secret-dealing surfaced, Jensen said, "We got back to the industry and said, 'You haven't got a saleable product anymore. You might as well get out of the lead business.'"

At the same time, he said, the FDA asked customs agents to freeze any lead tinsel imports.

The FDA campaign is based on persuasion of manufacturers and importers following a conclusion by FDA in August 1971 that lead tinsel was an unnecessary risk to children with symptoms of lead poisoning. No absolute ban was imposed, Jensen said, for lack of medical verification to declare lead tinsel a "health hazard."

Plant inspections have shown that no lead tinsel is being made in the United States, Jensen said, and customs officials have not reported any foreign products arriving here.

"We have assurances in writing from all manufacturers and importers that absolutely none will be distributed this year," he said.

New President For HP College

BROWNWOOD — Dr. Roger L. Brooks, dean of the college of liberal and fine arts at East Texas State University at Commerce, has been named president of Howard Payne College.

He succeeds Dr. Guy D. Newman, who was elevated to Chancellor at the May meeting of the HPC board of trustees. The creation of the office of chancellor and the electing of a successor to Dr. Newman as President came about as a suggestion from Dr. Newman who will devote himself to development and fund raising.

Dr. Brooks will assume his new duties Jan. 1, 1973.

The new president is a native of El Dorado, and was graduated from high school in Sulphur Springs, Texas. He took his BA degree in English and history from Baylor University in 1949, his MA in English from the University of Illinois in 1950, and his Ph. D. in English from the University of Colorado in 1959. He is a Baptist deacon.

State Solons Named Fellows

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Two newly-elected congressmen from Texas will be among a group of newly-named Fellows of the Institute of Politics at Harvard University beginning today.

They are Alan W. Steelman, Republican, and Barbara Jordan, Democrat, who was named earlier to be a Fellow at the institute.

The institute is a branch of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy School of Government at Harvard, founded as a memorial to late president John F. Kennedy.

Stelman won the 5th Congressional seat in an upset last Tuesday of incumbent Rep. Earle Cabell, D-Tex. Cabell was a former mayor of Dallas before successfully winning the congressional post first in 1964.

Argentine Woman May Be First To Give Birth After Ovary Swap

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — "The pregnancy already is more than 3 months in progress, and it is completely normal," Dr. Blanco said in an interview.

"We have not encountered any symptoms of rejection so far, and we have not administered any treatment to prevent this possibility."

The 38-year-old surgeon, head of the Argentine surgical team that performed the transplant last March in Buenos Aires.

mother. He said this could create psychological problems for both women.

But "all of the developments that make a woman a mother—the conception, the implanting of the egg in the uterus, the pregnancy and finally the birth—all of these processes of motherhood occur in the recipient and not the donor," he added.

In an effort to avoid psychological disturbances among the mother, father and donor.

Stage Walkout At Dallas School

DALLAS (AP) — Approximately 150 pupils walked out of the predominantly Negro Lincoln High School this morning.

A Dallas Independent School District spokesman said the pupils left the campus about 9 a.m. after being urged by the principal to return to their classes.

A spokesman for the school district said there was speculation that the pupils were protesting the recent shooting of seven blacks by Dallas police.

Those who walked out represent about one-tenth of the enrollment at Lincoln.

Taking Fresh Look At Prime Time Rule

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Propponents hoped the 30 minutes' time slot would encourage independent production of news and entertainment fare and enterprising efforts by local stations themselves for programming.

Adherence to the rule, which in effect gives one-half hour of prime time programming to local stations instead of networks, is now in its second season.

Burch, speaking at a National Association of Broadcasters' last meeting, reminded his audience Tuesday he was one of two dissenters when the prime time rule was adopted.

"I've been pretty gloomy about the renaissance of the 7:30 to 8:30 time slot," he said.

"The rule requires the national networks to occupy only three hours of the prime time television viewing schedule, although there normally is a three and one-half hour interval between the end of early evening news programming and the late evening news."

Burch said the FCC has been judging programming by networks for exemption to the prime time local programming rule. He said the FCC said "no" to "Lassie" and "yes" to "Wild Kingdom" and "The Six Wives of Henry the Eighth."

Then, said Burch, shows of the National Geographic Society were first denied and then granted, on reconsideration, an exemption.

"I want to get out of that racket," Burch said.

He said three new members have been named to the FCC since the vote was taken and there were already two dissenters at the time.

Costliest Campaign

The last political dollar has been spent and the most expensive presidential campaign in history is over. The final spending figures aren't in but President Nixon and George McGovern spent more than $54 million pursuing the White House.

From April 7 through Oct. 26, Mr. Nixon's campaign committees reported spending $36.05 million and the McGovern committees $18.47 million. These totals do not include primary election spending or the closing blitz in the last days of the campaign.

The total is $10 million more than Mr. Nixon, Hubert Humphrey and George Wallace spent together in the tight 1968 race. In that year Mr. Nixon's forces spent $22.5 million, Humphrey $15.4 million and Wallace $6.3 million.

The spending for 1972 is fantastic, especially by the Republicans. Nixon committees reportedly raised and spent another $10 million to $20 million in the pre-April 7 period, before the new federal disclosure law went into effect.

Neither party came close to the $14 million limit on over-all media spending imposed by law or the $8 million limit for spending on one medium. Through Oct. 26, McGovern had spent $6.04 million for advertising and Nixon had spent $4.1 million.

Subtracting the $4.4 million from the GOP's total of $36.05 million, more than $31 million is left. This is a fantastic amount of spending for non-advertising purposes by one party. Although the President's "surrogates" traveled about the country speaking for him, it seems unlikely travel expenses would come close to $31 million.

McGovern, despite his many campaign difficulties, outspent Nixon during the Oct. 17-26 period. He paid $2.82 million for advertising in those 10 days while the Nixon men spent $2.3 million. In contrast to 1968, McGovern remained relatively free of debt.

Reports from the last dozen days of the campaign will balloon the spending even more. The incredible amount of money involved means both parties are indebted to the big contributors, private or institutional, and some of those political debts may be paid at public expense by the winners.

This campaign should lead to a new assessment of political dependence upon big givers, big business and big labor alike. Politics is still a rich man's game or a rich organization's game. Ways must be found to finance campaigns without the resulting obligations to special interests.

Short Cut To Fame

A man can have lasting fame for his name nowadays by simply putting in a few terms in Congress, it appears. When he is beaten or retires, his colleagues just might name a government building or installation after him.

Take, for instance, the H. Allen Smith Jet Propulsion Laboratory. No, it's another H. Allen Smith, not the humorist who wrote "Low Man on a Totem Pole" and other books.

This one is the representative who retired after eight terms serving the 20th District in California. The House Space Committee renamed the Jet Propulsion Lab at Pasadena after him; and it's in another district.

Smith is only one of a couple of dozen living senators and representatives who rode the coattails of a bill naming a Washington sports center for Dwight D. Eisenhower. Their names are now attached to various federal installations. What ever happened to the old standard for naming buildings after famous people who have died?

on it. Maybe your feet won't touch the floor, but you're less likely to topple. Here, kind of jump up and twist, and I'll steady you."

"What happened to your desk? Being refinished?"

"NO, THIS is part of the new policy. We don't want anything between us and our friends."

"What do you think this pile of newspapers is — a bunch of unpolluted air?"

"Sorry about that. These are the ones I wanted to scan. There are a couple down there somewhere I wanted to clip. By the way, if you don't mind, don't lean against the stack."

"DON'T WORRY. I won't touch anything. It all looks like it's covered with dust — or is that mould? Makes me want to sneeze."

"Oh, pray don't! The last time that happened, it triggered the stacks like a bunch of dominoes. I escaped by diving over the bannister, but alas my sneezer was bruised badly by the falling debris. But I digress, what was it that you really wanted?"

"MY VISITOR looked panic stricken. 'How do I get out of here?'"

"Just be calm. Slip gently to the floor, take one step around the newspaper stack, left through the curio, diagonally through the two stacks of mats, now back behind the coat rack, slip between those two boxes and the book pile, and wedge yourself between the file cabinets and the opening. And do come back..."

"Oh, that's simple. Pick the one that has the smallest stack of stuff

THE MAIN reason, however, for personal concern about this proposal is simply this: Where will I pile things? The cadenza back of my cubicle already is groaning under its load, so much so that unkind visitors have inquired: "Are you waiting for a paper drive?"

Assume, however, that an edict came down to divest myself of my sturdy desk. All sorts of problems would ensue. For instance:

"Come in! Come in!" I beckon my visitor take a seat. "What can I do for you?"

"WELL, FOR one thing, you can suggest which chair you're talking about."

"Oh, that's simple. Pick the one that has the smallest stack of stuff

Feline Prone

Robert E. Ford

One of the more troublesome ailments of mankind is an illness called "feline prone."

ANYONE WHO has this sickness sympathizes with those women, often elderly, who make the news pages because they are found to have 20 or more cats in their house in violation of some city ordinances.

Experience proves one cat is enough. Two are trouble. More than that creates madness.

To be "feline prone" is to be loved by cats.

In this particular stable community within a city, you get to know the cats as well as you know the neighbors — sometimes better.

In this instance, a family down the block had an affectionate female alley version of the cat family. Then the neighbors obtained a Siamese kitten.

This put Alley's nose out of joint, and the next morning we nearly tripped over her as we went to get the morning paper.

ALLEY STAYED on the front stoop for about three days, meowing piteously and visibly growing thinner, a trick cats have when they want sympathy. At last some kind soul in the household gave her a snack.

Now she considers herself our cat, a constant companion on our doorstep except in bad weather when she finds her way into the garage.

We do not blame Alley for the muddy raw prints which appear on the car each night after it has been freshly washed.

Birds don't do a wash job much good either and you'd think that with all the cats in the neighborhood all the birds would be frightened away.

One of the neighbor complained that she had two mice in her kitchen and she currently was out of cats.

We kindly volunteered the services of our own big, powerful male, a battle-scarred veteran of a thousand battles, each under the bedroom window at 3 a.m.

We cuddled our warrior in our arms, carried him across the street and dumped him in the kitchen. And as we closed the door we noted a mouse scurrying across a corner.

Well, that cat went wild. He screamed, he banged against the door, he scratched the paint.

When we let him out, he had a wild look in his eye as if he had just been attacked by a platoon of S. T. M. Troopers. We acquired another cat some years ago which we will call Rusty. He quit a neighbor's for reasons sensible to anyone and started hanging around our side door.

A neighbor decided Rusty had fleas and invited all the neighborhood over for a flea-fighting party.

He had bought a tube of flea powder that emits a puff of medication when you squeeze it.

The neighbor took Rusty in his left arm and the squeeze tube in his right hand and started to apply the first puff.

Rusty at that moment turned his head to see what was going on and got the first puff right in his mouth.

Rusty tried to get away and dug in his claws for traction. The neighbor tried to hold him and only got slashed some more.

Rusty made one great jump to a porch pillar, then to the roof and across it in a great circle, leaped to the ground and jumped an eight-foot fence. It was the last time the neighbor ever saw Rusty.

Went over the next afternoon to see how the neighbor was recovering and was met by his wife.

"He's sleeping right now," she said. "Had to feed him a tranquilizer and put him to bed about 4 o'clock."

"He was up all night, going up and down the alleys, calling, 'Kitty, kitty, kitty.'"

"The police picked him up twice." So Rusty showed up at our house.

Foreign Aid Increase

John Cunniff

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
(Substituting for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon may direct the American economy more toward overseas markets than he did in his first term, bankers and economists seem to agree.

Following the election, the President advanced a proposal for a complete elimination of tariffs between industrialized countries, these observers note, adding that it might foretell other related moves.

American companies, for example, are expected to be strengthened in overseas markets by relaxation of some rules which have hampered mergers and intra-industry cooperation, they say.

Bankers in New York and other domestic points agreed on these points:

—The goal of fixed exchange rates will be sought more actively.

—American investments overseas may decrease because of tax law changes.

—Foreign aid may be increased, but might be spent mostly in Southeast Asia.

—Protection of American industry through tariffs will not increase.

"There's a good chance the controls on capital outflow from the United States may be lifted soon," said William Wolman, economist for Argus Research. "But this may be accompanied by tax changes which would reduce U.S. investment overseas, so there will be less reason for the controls."

Topic by topic, here is what bankers and traders see for the next four years:

Trade — Will grow as tariff barriers are lowered around the world. Lower customs duties will be sought by the United States in continuing negotiations. The Nixon administration is not likely to raise its own duties.

Dollar — Protection will be less of an issue as the dollar strengthens. "The financial establishment likes what it sees of the federal budget and money supply," said William Wolman, economist for Argus Research, "and that will make the dollar stronger."

Balance of payments — Should improve as overseas investment dollars come in. There is some feeling that foreign subsidiaries of U.S. companies might be taxed higher, thus making capital outflows less likely.

There is talk that U.S. anti-trust laws may be relaxed to permit more cooperation among American companies operating overseas.

Foreign aid — May increase in the next four years, but where it will be spent is in doubt. There is a strong feeling, however, that any increase must go to Southeast Asia.

Road To Peace

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There is something more in the re-election of President Nixon than the big vote he won in his own country. For it is evident that the principal governments of the world view with satisfaction the news that for the next four years they will be dealing with a man who has shown dedication to the cause of peace and is trying to make the role of the United States one of commercial and economic aid rather than military involvement.

IT MAY BE taken for granted that, between now and Christmas Day, there will be a settlement of the Vietnam War and that a program of reconstruction and humanitarianism will be begun in Indo-China, which has suffered for so many years, with hundreds of thousands of persons killed or wounded and their lands devastated.

President Nixon needs the cooperation of Hanoi and Saigon as well as Peking and Moscow, and he is determined that, once an agreement is signed, Southeast Asia will be an area of peace and that the fear of similar conflicts will be diminished everywhere.

MR. NIXON hopes this will symbolize "a generation of peace." Actually it could not have been brought into being without the assistance of Red China and the Soviet Union. The smaller nations of both Europe and Asia will watch what happens, for in the last two decades there has been worry that war would emanate from either China or Russia.

The United States helped to build the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. But not until President Nixon began to convince the major powers of Europe and Asia of the benefits they might gain in fields important to them — the acquisition of essential goods for their huge populations — was there a sign that a new relationship could be forged.

THE GRAIN deals with Russia and the opening of trade arrangements with China are significant in the history of commerce. But they have a meaning which goes deep into international affairs. For when nations begin to trade with one another and interchange products, the whole outlook is altered.

Countries which carry on a large amount of business with each other do not usually break off relations and enter into wars.

EVER SINCE World War II ended, troops have been kept in Europe by the United States and its NATO allies. Russia itself has had standing armies in the Eastern section of that continent. The expense of maintaining military forces is heavy, but even more disturbing is the continued presence of huge bodies of troops in Eastern Europe — those of the Communist bloc facing those of the Western countries. The big question is how long such a situation can be accepted without a mutual action of some kind to pull out armies and establish friendlier relations between all nations in Europe.

IF PEACE can be made in Asia, there is no reason why plans cannot be devised to assure peace in Europe. The example of Indo-China and the betterment that can be achieved in the condition of the nations of Asia will certainly present challenges to bring about better life for the peoples of Europe, which have lived for years in the shadow of another war.

"Peace in the world" will not be consummated in a short period, but a start will be encouraging.

Mid-East Hope?

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Preparing for the month ahead, Secretary of State William P. Rogers met after the election with his principal assistants on how 1973 would shape up.

HIS PRIMARY CONCERN, as in the past three years, was the Middle East. The Secretary had thrown out a public hint that the time had come for another try at an interim agreement between Israel and Egypt which would ratify the cease-fire and perhaps prepare the way for the opening of the Suez Canal. This drew a doubting response from Tel Aviv.

The secretary is projecting nothing as ambitious as the so-called Rogers Plan. Contained in a speech he made in 1969, it called for a broad settlement of territorial issues, including an Israeli pullback from the canal and the final disposition of the Sinai. Israel's reaction was immediately hostile and the plan won few friends elsewhere.

THE ROGERS goal today is more modest. He would give an initial impetus to an interim agreement, and then hope that private talks between the two countries would follow. This last has long been the Israeli aim.

The prospects for a lasting peace are better today than at any time since the end of the six-day war in 1967. This can be traced back to President Nixon's dramatic breakthrough with Peking and Moscow. In his discussions in the Kremlin with Leonid Brezhnev the Middle East was far down on the agenda, but Russia doesn't want confrontation.

PRESIDENT ANWAR el Sadat and several of his top military and civilian personnel went to Moscow to make the case for "a year of decision" with military power that would force Israel to capitulate. One of the demands was for medium-range missiles. Installation of such missiles — even the threat — would have brought an instant war, Israel would not tolerate weapons capable of wiping out cities and military centers.

But the prospect of the Nixon-Brezhnev summit only a month away counted for far more in Soviet calculations. Not even the President's action in mining Haiphong harbor and starting intensive bombing of the North could cancel the Nixon mission, as some had feared it would.

THEN CAME THE break as Sadat called on Moscow to take out Soviet personnel. With a little restraint from both sides this might have been limited to the 6,000 advisers with the Libyan army. Instead it was a clean sweep: The Russians took away the advanced MIG-25s and 26s that they had been maintaining and flying, with no Egyptian allowed even to look. They took out the SAM-IVs and Vs that Russian technicians had operated. They removed most of the personnel from the naval base near Alexandria and the top-secret advanced flying unit at Aswan.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sex must be getting less important in this country.

Otherwise, why should it be becoming increasingly difficult to tell the sexes apart?

When everyone today dresses, talks and acts alike, how can this be done? Well, mistakes are always possible, but there are still some clues as to how to tell the sexes apart.

For example: If it can put a sock on while standing on one leg, it's a man. If it has to sit on the edge of the bed and then fall over backward to struggle into its stockings, it's a woman.

Does it usually shave above the shoulders? It's a guy. Does it usually shave below the shoulders? It's a gal.

If it bores you by always wanting to tell you its dreams, it's a her. If it bores you by always wanting to brag about its hangovers, it's a him.

If it says it wears the pants in the family, put it down as the papa. If it actually wears the pants in the family, put it down as the mama.

Can it drive better while sitting in the front seat of a car? Dad once more. Can it drive better while sitting in the back seat? Mom again.

Corpus Christi Lands Plant

HOUSTON (AP) — El Paso Natural Gas Co. has purchased 2,500 acres of land on the north shore of Corpus Christi Bay and a company spokesman says the firm plans to build a huge plant for reprocessing crude oil and liquefied natural gas.

He said the investment will be near $500 million and the plant at the start will employ 200 to 300 persons.

Does it wear its dentures all times because it can't stand the thought of being seen with them out? Dear old Grandpa! Does it sometimes take its dentures out and leave them lying anywhere around the house because it hates to wear them anyway? Dear old Grandpa!

Does it believe that everything will be better and more glamorous after marriage? That's the prospective bride. Does it prove to her in time that marriage doesn't make quite all that much difference? That's the bridegroom.

In an emergency, of course, you can always ask the father or mother of a person what the sex of their offspring is. If they can't agree, you might be wise to drop the whole matter.

After all, there is a lot more to human life than sex—it says right here. All you have to do is to find out what that could possibly be.

Brewery Theater Will Be Crushed

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — The Old Brewery Theater, cradled in a gulch about as far Off Broadway as you can get, is to be crushed to rubble next month, a victim of urban renewal.

Out here, where culture wears cowboy boots, the small summer theater for 18 seasons offered something akin to Broadway action for both the stage-struck and theater-goers alike.

No Barbara Streisands ever performed in the leaky old seven-story structure with the legend "Capital Brewing and Malt Co." inscribed up the brick and stone walls. But many of the young actors and actresses, members of the Bandit Players and the Rocking Horse Players, went on to television and stage jobs.

BANDIT PLAYERS
Some 750 persons have acted in the theater since its establishment at the old brewery in 1954. The Bandit Players took their name from the area around the theater — known as Bandit's Alley for the type of characters that descended on the south end of the gold-rich town as its image tarnished.

The Rocking Horse Players, a children's enterprise that put on one show each year, took their name from the last beer made in the 94-year-old brewery — Rocking Horse Brew. The brewery function ended with Prohibition.

The brewery and that part of town fell into decay with the demise of the gold mines. The slum that eventually developed is now giving way to an ambitious urban renewal project. City fathers have condemned the old brewery to a December death but say the theater can be moved elsewhere and continue.

STRONG AS EVER
However, the theater buffs who made the Brewery one of the best amateur stages in the country — and something unique to Montana and the cowboy West — insist the building is strong as ever and its destruction will destroy the theater.

"This thing will last another 150 years," said Walter Marshall, "but no one wants to understand. It would be physically impossible to move this thing anywhere else." He pointed to antique furniture stacked high and to a 25,000-piece wardrobe made up in part by 100-year-old Paris originals.

Don Kerns, urban renewal's director of community relations on the project, said the chance for a last-minute act to save the structure was "zero."

Both sides in the argument say they "will do everything" they can to keep the theater operating. But the city refuses to see the old building rejuvenated and theater people say the end of the old brewery is the last act.

U.S. District Court Judge James L. King set the date for trial on the charge returned by a grand jury after Lansky failed to appear in Miami in response to a subpoena delivered to him in Israel in June 1971.

Lansky returned to the United States last Tuesday after Israel ordered him to leave and he could not find a country that would accept him. FBI agents arrested him when his plane arrived here.

GM Recalls 155,000 Vehicles

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. is recalling more than 155,000 vehicles to correct a design problem involving steering.

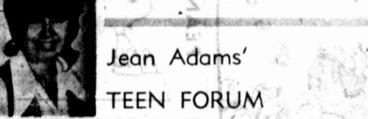

The recall involves intermediate size cars produced prior to Oct. 9. The cars recalled are the only ones on which major styling changes were made — Chevrolet Chevelle, Buick Century, Oldsmobile Cutlass, Pontiac LeMans, Grand Prix and Grand Am models, as well as Chevrolet El Camino and GMC Sprint trucks.

The steering problem could arise if the car's right front wheel was backed into a curb while turned fully to the left. GM said Monday this could push the steering linkage beyond its normal limit of travel, which would cause a "toe-in." The "toe-in," if not corrected, could cause a steering loss on the wheel which struck the curb.

However, GM said squealing front tires would alert the driver to the problem before the loss occurred. The problem will be corrected by installing a special bracket, at company cost, to keep the steering linkage from moving too far.

Although the firm has received 58 complaints—including a number from executives driving company-owned cars — a spokesman said the problem has caused no injuries or accidents.

GINNY: (Q.) I went out with Ginny for about a month. She was different from any girl I had ever gone with, and I liked her very much.

Then one night while she and I were together her girl friends called up my mom and said they were going to get the cops on me for what I had done to her. But I hadn't done anything! Not that night or any other night.

I broke up with her because of the call. I didn't want to but I thought I had to.

Since then I have been miserable. I want to get her back. I asked her if she would go with me again and she said no. Do you know how I can get Ginny back?

— Lonesome in Indiana. (A.) At first you felt you had been wronged. Ginny apparently felt she had been wronged. She may still feel like that, but by now she has had time to think it over.

Call her and apologize for breaking up over such a silly thing, and ask her to date you again.

WEED: (Q.) My boy friend has moved to another state. Before he left, he had smoked some weed and I was worried about him.

In his last letter he told me about a party he went to where they smoked pot from midnight to 5:30 a.m. I am really worried about him now. I've studied the subject and written themes on it, and I know it's dangerous. What can I do or say to help him? — Afraid in Maine.

A.) Your concern is justified. Pick out the best paper you have written on marijuana. Underline the strongest points you made. Send it to your boy friend with a note saying you are sending it because you love him. He may not change, but you will know you have done what you can.

Poll Reveals Ted's Appeal

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The Gallup Poll says its next-to-last pre-election survey showed that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would have made a stronger race against President Nixon than Sen. George McGovern.

Nixon led McGovern by 59 to 36 per cent in the mid-October survey. Asked how they would vote if the choice were between Nixon and Kennedy instead, the same persons gave the President only a 52-43 edge, pollster George Gallup said.

Kennedy's strength showed up as early as December 1971 when a poll showed him to be the strongest potential candidate among Democratic voters. The Massachusetts Democrat trailed Nixon by only 3 per cent at the time, Gallup said.

Kennedy declined to be a candidate, however, and he campaigned for McGovern after the South Dakota senator won the nomination.

Gallup said the mid-October poll showed Kennedy was stronger than McGovern in several categories: Among blue collar workers, Kennedy led Nixon by 53 to 41, while McGovern trailed the President, 44 to 49. Among Catholics, Kennedy led Nixon 53 to 43, and McGovern trailed him 37 to 59.

Financial Whiz To Stand Trial

MIAMI (AP) — Meyer Lansky, the reputed underworld financial wizard, has been ordered to stand trial Jan. 19, 1973, on criminal contempt of court charges.

U.S. District Court Judge James L. King set the date for trial on the charge returned by a grand jury after Lansky failed to appear in Miami in response to a subpoena delivered to him in Israel in June 1971.

Lansky returned to the United States last Tuesday after Israel ordered him to leave and he could not find a country that would accept him. FBI agents arrested him when his plane arrived here.

Hopes To Get Better At It

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Carson brought his "Tonight" show back to New York City and got a greeting and some advice about marriage from Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Lindsay appeared as a guest on the first "Tonight" program taped in New York since the late night talk show moved to California several months ago. The show will remain in New York for three weeks.

Lindsay congratulated Carson on his recent marriage, compared marriage to politics and said, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Carson's response: "But, I hope to get better at it."

No Growth Pains

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Doctor: I read in your column that "growing doesn't hurt anybody." Well, my five-year-old son has been having pains in his legs every once in a while at night.

He'll wake up crying and I have to rub his legs before it subsides and he goes back to sleep. This has been happening for about two years.

I took him to the doctor and he took X-rays of his legs and said nothing showed up and it was probably just "growing pains."

Should I take him to a specialist of some kind? — Mrs. J.D.S.

I'd be willing to bet that your doctor smiled at you when he said that, didn't he? If there is such an ailment as "growing pains," I have missed the literature describing it. No. Growing does not cause pain. You have joined an army of millions of mothers the world over who have become midnight masseuses to ease the overstrained muscles of their active youngsters. Not even children with all their boundless energy and seemingly indestructible bodies can escape the fact that overworked muscles will complain.

You will probably notice that his leg pains follow days of extra vigorous exertion, perhaps on days when little friends or relatives have spent the day at your home or after a family reunion or an outing. Rubbing his legs, as you have already learned, is one of the time-honored and effective means of relieving the discomfort. Heating pads often help, too.

If such pains continue or occur during days of less vigorous exercise, you might do well to visit an orthopedist or a podiatrist. Often faulty foot mechanics call for specially built shoes that take care of such problems.

But I suspect that you are simply blessed with a normal, active child who happens to get more active some days than others.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: They say that men should not shovel snow as it can cause heart attacks. They say this does not pertain to women. Why — when they are much more delicate? — F.J.

Generally speaking, women are not more delicate than men. Men have a higher incidence of heart attacks than women. They may be unaware of impending trouble until under the stress of shoveling. Women are also subject to heart attacks under such exertions, usually more so after menopause.

I think one reason, though, for the snow-shoveling being directed to men rather than to women is the fact that, in the scheme of things, men are more commonly assigned this type of family chore and, being men, they assume their strength and reserve is unlimited.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a fungus around the fingernails. Can you please tell me what to do? — Mrs. E.K.

Not having the slightest idea what kind of fungus it may be, the only helpful answer I can offer is that you see either your doctor or a dermatologist (skin specialist). Prompt treatment is in order because if it invades the nail or gets under the nail you have a stubborn problem.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet,

"How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Five of ♣
A substantial swing resulted when today's hand was dealt in a recent team-of-four match.

The bidding was the same at each table. North chose to open his hand with one club and South responded with one no trump to show a holding of average value, 9 to 11 points. When North invited a game by raising to two no trump, South had enough in reserve with 10 points and a five card suit to accept.

The play began in the same manner at both tables. West opened the five of clubs, East put up the jack and South won the trick with the king. A diamond was led to the ace and a small diamond returned, on which East was called to make a discard.

The defender at one table chose to part with the eight of spades. Inasmuch as one diamond trick must be lost in order to establish the suit, South ducked the lead into West. The latter was somewhat reluctant to continue hearts, for fear that declarer still held a guarded queen and had merely been false-carding when he won the opening lead with the king.

Hoping that his partner has a quick entry in spades to make a heart play thru South, West shifted to the seven of spades. South ran for cover with nine tricks—two spades, one heart, four diamonds, and two clubs.

At the other table East devoted more time to his discard when the second round of diamonds was led. By employing the rule of 11 at trick one, he had discovered that the declarer had only one card in hearts that was higher than the five. [The rule provides that when the card led is subtracted from 11, the remainder is equal to the number of cards in the suit—outside the leader's hand—which can beat the card led.]

By subtracting five from 11, East determined that there were six outstanding spot cards higher than the five. He was looking at five of them between his own hand and the dummy. South, therefore, had only one higher card—the king—which appeared on the opening lead.

East made good use of this information, for on the second round of diamonds, he discarded the queen of hearts, in order to clarify the picture for his partner. When West got in with his diamond stopper, it became routine for him to cash out the heart suit and defeat the contract.

46 Missing As Ships Hit
ATHERS (AP) - A giant Greek oil tanker, on a trial run without cargo, and a Greek navy troopship collided today in the Saronic Gulf. The navy ship sank and shipping sources said 46 sailors were missing. Thirteen others were rescued.

The tanker was identified as the 100,175-ton World Hero, owned by Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos. The military vessel was reported to be the Merlin.

There were no reports of casualties on the tanker. The Saronic Gulf extends from the east coast of the Greek Peloponnese. Piraeus, Greece's leading port, is at the head of the gulf.

The collision occurred in clear weather in mid-afternoon. The sea was calm.

The World Hero was on a run to test her engines after undergoing repairs at Niarchos' Hellenic Shipyards near Piraeus.

Man Is Named On Sodomy Charge
Arrested at 4:23 a.m. today on a felony warrant was Reymundo Montanez Canales, 907 NW 5th. He was charged with sodomy against a 15-year-old Big Spring boy on Oct. 23. Police arrested Canales at the intersection of North San Antonio St. and the Interstate 20 south service road on a warrant issued Tuesday by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Police also charged Canales with possession of a prohibited weapon upon his arrest today. Municipal Judge John Coffee set bond on Canales at $2,000 for the sodomy charge, and $500 for the charge of possessing a prohibited weapon.

Texas' Cotton Acreage Allotment For '73 Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has cut back Texas' cotton acreage allotment for 1973 to 4,250,719, compared with 4,885,568 acres this season.

The cutback in Texas and other states is an attempt by the Nixon administration to trim more than $100 million in subsidies to cotton farmers.

Nationally, the "national allotment" has been reduced to about 10 million acres compared with the 11.5 million of 1972.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Tuesday the 1973 program will give cotton farmers more freedom to adjust to market requirements.

The plan includes: -A reduction of the "national allotment" of cotton from 11.5 million acres for 1972 to 10 million next year. This is the amount of land farmers are allocated to produce cotton for domestic requirements. Direct subsidy payments, which are in addition to basic price-support loans, are based on cotton grown on the national acreage allotment. Growers, however, are not restricted on total plantings, only on the amount used to compute the direct payments.

-Elimination of the "set-aside" requirement under which growers this year had to take an equivalent of 20 per cent of their cotton land from production in order to qualify for government benefits. "The program should provide farmers with broader opportunities to diversify their operations by raising other crops, such as soybeans or grain sorghum on formerly what would have been set-aside land or land in cotton," Butz said in a statement.

Production this year is estimated at 14 million bales, highest since 1965. A surplus of about 5.5 million bales is expected to be carried over into the 1973 season, compared with a reserve of 3.4 million this season.

Spokesmen said the 1973 acreage program is expected to produce about 11.1 million bales.

By reducing the amount of land in the national allotment and assuming that cotton prices next season will be up around 23.5 cents per pound, officials said the 1973 plan is expected to cost $704 million in direct payments to growers.

That would mean a cutback of $106 million from an estimated $810 million in direct subsidies to cotton farmers in 1972.

System Sets Up Area Job Pool

The Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission, along with those of San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Lamesa and Pecos, comprises an area "Job Bank" system for which Midland is the terminal and central referral control point.

Job Bank the look of the 1970's in job placement, is a system which uses a computer to provide improved service to both employers and job applicants, speeding up and improving both the search for the job and the search for an employee.

"Installation of the Job Bank in Big Spring is a step into the future for Texas Employment Commission and area manpower services," said Ellis W. Britton, office manager.

"Applicants feel that this gives them more access to the available jobs over a wider area and speeds up the job search. Employers are interested also in the widest possible exposure of their job openings."

Job Bank provides the Big Spring TEC office with a daily updated list of all job openings within the area served by the Midland terminal.

Under the system, applicant qualifications are compared with employer job specifications to select applicants for jobs. Once an applicant is selected for referral, the interviewer check with Referral Control to determine that the job opening still exists, then the applicant is referred to the employer for an interview.

Scout Uniform Appeal Renewed

Outgrown Cub and Scout uniforms are still needed for redistribution to boys who cannot afford them. Gene Bob, Lone Star district executive, said today. He urged parents who have parts or all of Cub and Scout uniforms no longer in use to call him either at 3-8787 after 5 p.m. or leave word for him at 3-7641 during the daytime, or the uniforms may be left outside his apartment (106) at Carleton House. Bob will clean and size the uniforms and place them as needed.

The benefits of Job Bank for an employer include increased exposure of his job openings, time saved in locating qualified applicants, and reduced duplication of effort among the six TEC offices in the area.

The Midland Terminal office is one of eight area Job Banks to become operative since June 1970. Already established are those at San Antonio, Houston, Dallas, El Paso, Beaumont, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi. Plans are for new ones at Lubbock, Amarillo, Longview, Austin, Harlingen. By late 1973, all local offices of the TEC will be operative under the system.

Higher Wages Call Issued

DALLAS (AP) — Jerry Wurf, head of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, has issued a call for higher wages and collective bargaining rights for the state's public employees.

Wurf spoke Tuesday to members of the 600,000 member union, fifth largest in the AFL-CIO, during their annual convention here.

Wurf criticized public policy which he said relegates government workers in Texas to the status of "second class citizenship." He told the audience that some of them came from cities that paid such low wages that a full time city employee could qualify for welfare.

Wurf attacked the 25-year-old Texas labor relations law which prohibits collective bargaining by municipal employees, and he told his listeners that it is their fault that the law is still on the books.

He cited examples of cities that pay their top executives $12,000 to $30,000 a year, but usually balk on the question of whether or not to pay their garbage workers $3 an hour.

Wurf predicted that if the laws were not changed it would lead to discontent among workers. He cited the recent garbage strike in Lubbock and the work slowdown in Lufkin as examples.

Gold Star Banquet Set

The top 4-H boy and girl from each of the 20 South Plains counties in District 2 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be honored at the 15th annual District 4-H Gold Star Banquet here at the Coronado High School Cafeteria in Lubbock Monday at 6:30 p.m.

These 40 4-H'ers have been selected to receive the Gold Star Award, the highest county award given by the Extension Service, according to District Extension Agents Mrs. Catherine B. Crawford and Billy C. Gunter. Personal development, leadership, outstanding achievement in 4-H result demonstrations and activities plus contributions to the overall county 4-H program are factors considered in selecting the award winners.

Guest speaker at the annual event will be Dr. H. O. Kunkel, dean of agriculture, Texas A&M University.

About 450 people are expected to attend the banquet which is sponsored each year by the 12 Rural Electric Cooperatives on the South Plains.

Area 4-H members to be recognized with a Gold Star include—

Phyllis Wynn and Dennis Mays, both of Coahoma; Vicki Newton, Fluvanna, and Frank Farmer, O'Donnell; Linda Moody, Lamesa, and Ben Phipps, Welch; Susan Blassingame and Byron Byrne, both of Colorado City; and Connie Byars, Ira, and Johnny Eicke, Snyder.

Awarded Contract For Canned Hams

DALLAS (AP) — A special signing at the White House recently highlighted the U.S. Small Business Administration's (SBA) authorization of a $2.2 million contract to Garland Foods, Inc., a Dallas meat processing plant.

The black-owned firm was awarded the contract by the Defense Department for canned hams under President Nixon's program to stimulate minority business development.

The firm had received a similar contract for $5 million in 1970, its first year of business, and contracts totaling $3.2 million the next year.

'Frag' Defendant Found Not Guilty

FT. ORD, Calif. (AP) — Billy Dean Smith, free after being cleared of murder charges in the first "fraging" court-martial conducted in the United States, says he is "just lucky to be here."

The 24-year-old black from the Watts district of Los Angeles explained, "If the trial had been held in Vietnam, something would have happened very bad."

"Not everybody is lucky enough to have a trial," he told newsmen after his acquittal here Tuesday.

A military jury of two black and five white officers deliberated for five hours before finding Smith innocent of two charges each of murder and attempted murder and a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm.

All stemmed from a fragmentation grenade blast at Bien Hoa Air Base in Vietnam that killed 1st Lt. Thomas A. Dellwo of Choteau, Mont., and 2nd Lt. Richard Harlan of Dallas, Tex., and wounded 1st Lt. Peter B. Higgins of Harrison, N.J., on March 15, 1971.

Dellwo died on the day he was scheduled to leave Vietnam.

The jury did convict Smith of assaulting a military policeman who arrested him shortly after the grenade explosion.

For that, Smith, who had been in confinement 20 months, was given a bad conduct discharge and reduced from private E-2 to private E-1, the lowest Army rank. He was given a 30-day leave in the custody of his family while the Army processes his discharge.

BILLY DEAN SMITH

Despite an instruction by military Judge Col. Rawls H. Frazier against outbursts, some three dozen spectators let out a gasp of relief as the verdict was announced.

"I'm so happy God answered my prayers," said Smith's mother, Hazel Smith, 60, wiping tears from her eyes. "I'm glad my son is free."

Little Ashley Back And Making Good Progress

Little Ashley Lewis, born here Sept. 29 with multiple birth defects, is back home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Lewis, 1309 Monmouth.

Her first surgical operations apparently are successful, but it may be months before it is known if additional corrective surgery is indicated.

Ashley's two most pressing problems was a hole which created a leak in her spine, and a hydrocephalic condition. Surgeons closed the hole, and this is healing satisfactorily. They also installed a shunt which is restoring drainage from the head, and this is working perfectly.

But as to her paralysis, not much can be told until she achieves a little more maturity. The bladder, along with her lower limbs, are immobilized. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis expressed deep appreciation for friends who came to their aid when the baby's handicaps were known. A fund was established at State National Bank, and many have contributed to it, also the Big Spring Shrine Club offered its services and support.

"We have no way of knowing who all helped, but for every gift, every prayer and word of encouragement, we are everlastingly grateful," said Mrs. Lewis.

Forced To Resign By Nixon, Dies

SANTA ANNA, Calif. (AP) — Robert L. Meyer, 49, who was forced to resign by the Nixon administration as U.S. attorney in Los Angeles, died Tuesday, apparently of a heart attack. His resignation last Jan. 1 came over what he called philosophical differences. He was criticized by Los Angeles officials for his indictments and investigations of law enforcement officers.

Order Newspaper Wages Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board has ordered four New York City area newspapers to reduce the wage increases given more than 12,000 employees who are members of craft unions and The Newspaper Guild.

The order announced Tuesday affects The New York Times, The New York Post and The Long Island Press.

At the same time, the Price Commission ordered the Times and the Daily News to reduce advertising rates. The Times was ordered to reduce its rates by 1.69 per cent and the Daily News by 1.14 per cent.

The Pay Board's decision cut the wage hikes on the four papers from 11 per cent to 8 per cent.

Poverty Vows By Nuns Won't Prevent Welfare

HOUSTON (AP) — The State Welfare Department has ruled that poverty vows taken by a group of retired Roman Catholic nuns would not keep them from receiving old age assistance.

The ruling removed another obstacle for about 30 elderly Roman Catholic nuns who have asked the state for welfare money to pay their room and board.

The sisters, living in a historically self-sufficient convent here, made the unprecedented applications to the local welfare department about a week ago.

The department is processing the nuns' applications individually. If approved, they would get $77 per month for personal care allowances.

If the nuns qualify for old age assistance, they could receive Medicaid, the state medical plan for the elderly poor which supplements Medicare.

Sister Mary Louise Dolson, the convent's major superior, said the convent decided to apply for the welfare benefits because of rising cost of living. She said traditionally, salaried sisters have provided for retired sisters.

"The present income of salaried sisters is not sufficient to care for the needs of both them and the retired sisters," Sister Mary Louise said. "There is no retirement fund."
