

Airline Pilots Threaten Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — With their lives menaced by hijackers and their command authority challenged by tactics of the FBI, the nation's airline pilots are contemplating a new worldwide protest suspension of air service.

Spokesmen for both the pilots and their airlines welcomed the prospect of negotiations between the United States and Cuba to curb hijacking, but the pilots expressed the view that only a worldwide strike would force all governments to crack down on air piracy.

"I don't think we have any alternative to another worldwide strike," said John J. O'Donnell, president of the Air Line Pilots Association.

The first such demonstration, a 24-hour shutdown last June 19, was only partially effective in the United States because the airlines obtained court orders against it.

This time, O'Donnell told a news conference Wednesday, the airlines have indicated through their industry organization, the Air Transport Association, that they might cooperate in an effective shutdown.

But Stuart G. Tipton, ATA president, denied that the industry had given any such assurance.

O'Donnell said the ALPA board would meet within less than two weeks to consider closing air commerce as a means of inducing governments to take stronger measures against hijacking — such as providing more money for security personnel and equipment, and guarantees of swift punishment for air pirates.

"If it was in my power alone, I would shut down America's air industry until such time as the proper guarantees for safety to passenger and crew were made by the federal government," O'Donnell said.

Earlier, in a letter to President Nixon, O'Donnell urged that the United States take the initiative in trying to negotiate an anti-hijack accord directly with the Cuban government, because Cuba has been the principal haven for American hijackers.

The FBI attempt to ground the hijacked jet after it landed at McCoy Field in Orlando, Fla., was criticized anew by Capt. Thomas M. Ashwood, chairman of ALPA's commission on flight safety.

Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray brought the hijack victims close to disaster by authorizing agents to shoot out the plane's tires, Ashwood told the convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors in Kansas City.

The crippled DC9 barely lifted off the ground at the extreme end of the runway, said O'Donnell who joined in assailing the FBI action.

Twenty-Four Charged Here In Drug Sales

Eight months of undercover work were climaxed here Wednesday night when officers arrested 25 individuals including one juvenile. Twenty-four were charged, all for sales except one possession case. No charges were filed on the juvenile.

Big Spring police, sheriff's officers and other law enforcement agencies participated in the largest raid in Big Spring history. The first arrest came at 10 p.m. Wednesday and others followed until the last was made in Lubbock at a Texas Tech dormitory at 2:25 a.m. today.

Bonds aggregating $495,000 were fixed by John Richard Coffey, municipal judge and the magistrate before whom those picked up were arraigned.

Most of the counts were for sale of marijuana, although sale of hashish, heroin, amphetamines also for cocaine, L.S.D., and barbituates were included.

NO DETAILS
Vance Chisum, police chief, did not elaborate on the undercover work which precipitated the mass arrests, or speculate if the cases were connected, indicating that more might yet come. He did express appreciation to all who assisted in the pickup of the defendants.

Meeting at the city hall at 6 p.m. were officials from the district attorneys office, the Howard County sheriff's department, the Mitchell County sheriff's department, the Midland police department, the U.S. Custom agents and officers from the Department of Public Safety, including the highway patrol, Texas Rangers and officers from the intelligence section, and other area officers.

Each was handed his assigned arrest and search warrants and the officers spread out through the town. The first arrest was made at 10 p.m. Most of those arrested were in public places, officers said. The final arrest was made at 2:25 a.m. at Gordon Hall at Texas Tech where Lubbock officers picked up Bill Rainey, charged with sale of marijuana. He was arraigned before a Lubbock magistrate and his bond was not yet known here.

BOND IS POSTED

The entire group was transferred from the city to the county this morning according to District Attorney Wayne Burns. At mid-morning the only one released on bond was Ronald Wayne Broadrick, 21, charged with two counts of sale of marijuana with bond at $10,000 on each count, said Burns.

One 16-year-old juvenile boy was included in the arrests. Others were adults including Antonio L. Perez, 23, charged with sale of heroin on three counts, bond set at $80,000; William Paul Darrow, 27, sale of dangerous drug (LSD) and narcotic drug, bond set at $25,000; Rheadene Miers, 24, sale of marijuana, $10,000; John Howard Smith, 24, three counts, sale of marijuana, $45,000.

MORE CHARGES

Others include Michael Ralph Green, 24, three counts, sale of marijuana, $30,000; James William Brown, 44, six counts, sale of dangerous drugs, $80,000; Milton Wayne Walker, 34, four counts sale of dangerous drugs, $40,000.

Also nabbed were Billy Sanderson, 24, one count, sale of marijuana, $10,000; James William Weaver, 21, two counts, sale of marijuana, $20,000; Thomas Wayne Brown, 21, one count sale of marijuana, $10,000; Michael Nolan Austin, 24, two counts of sale of dangerous drug and marijuana, $25,000; Patricia Peters Austin, 19, two counts, sale of dangerous drug and marijuana, $25,000.

The list also includes Ciadi Mandrell White, 18, two counts, sale of marijuana and LSD, $25,000; Shirley Heffington Nichols, 26, one count, sale of marijuana, $10,000; Steven Gordon Rogers, 20, three counts sale of dangerous drug and narcotic drug, $45,000.

MORE CHARGES

James Harris Crossnoe, 52, was the oldest person arrested, charged on one count, sale of dangerous drug, $10,000; The list also included Terri Lou Smith, 20, one count possession of marijuana, $10,000; Henry Webster Donohoo, 20, one count, sale of cocaine, $15,000; Ronda Kay Hooper, 18, one count, sale of marijuana, $10,000; Dennis Austin, 22, one count sale of marijuana, $10,000; James Corbett Abbott, 21, one count, sale of marijuana, $10,000 and Royce Carter, 21, sale of marijuana, $10,000.

Terri Smith was the only possession charge with all others being charged with sale.

LARGEST RAID

This was the largest drug raid in the history of Big Spring. About two years ago, a grand jury investigation led to the arrest and conviction of several pushers in the area. There was also a widely-publicized arrest of eight persons in a police raid before Chisum arrived here, fell apart when the heroin samples sent to the Texas Department of Public Safety lab turned out to be cornstarch.

Southern University Student Shot Down

ORDEAL Crippled Cutter Rescued

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — One black was killed and two others wounded today at Southern University's main campus during a brief student takeover of the administration building, a spokesman for the State Board of Education said.

Law enforcement officers, shooting tear gas grenades, routed the students from the building.

The occupiers fled out shortly before noon, their hands over their heads as they walked past a puddle of blood on the sidewalk.

It was not immediately clear who was responsible for the shootings.

Gov. Edward Edwards instructed that the nearest National Guard unit to the campus be activated and sent to the campus immediately.

He told officers to "do everything you can to prevent violence. We've got to maintain control."

The shooting apparently occurred as Edwards recommended that the state Board of Education ditch the proposed solution which ended student occupation of buildings at the Southern campus in New Orleans last week.

"It's a situation in which we are apparently unable to communicate," Edwards said.

A Baton Rouge police spokesman said two black males, apparently students, were shot in front of the administration building.

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A Japanese freighter tied up with the stricken Coast Guard cutter Jarvis in Alaska's Aleutian chain this morning, ending a lonely, nine-hour ordeal for the American vessel floundering without power in "mountainous seas."

Coast Guard spokesmen said the Koyo Maru No. 3, one of five merchant ships dispatched to help the crippled cutter, was the first rescue vessel to arrive at the scene 20 miles south of Akutan Island.

It was not known how the freighter would help the Jarvis, a 378-foot, jet-powered cutter described as the pride of the Coast Guard fleet.

One other Japanese merchantman, two Russian ships and a Greek vessel continued to respond to the Jarvis SOS.

Spokesmen said flooding that inundated the cutter's engine room had been controlled, and Capt. Frederick O. Wooley reported his ship was "in no imminent danger of sinking."

There were no injuries reported among the crew, which officials placed at 170 men.

Spokesmen described the cutter's condition as "serious but stable" as it rode 25-knot winds and 12-foot swells 750 miles southwest of Anchorage in the North Pacific.

The Honolulu-based cutter lost power and ability to pump water late Wednesday when her engine room flooded.

Cease-Fire Draft Changes Rejected

PARIS (AP) — A new round of secret Vietnam peace negotiations was imminent today, but North Vietnam in advance rejected any changes in the draft cease-fire agreement worked out by Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho of the North Vietnamese Politburo.

SAME VERSE
Xuan Thuy, the chief of North Vietnam's delegation in Paris, told the weekly session of the semipublic peace talks: "We resolutely reject all the pretexts put forth by the United States and Saigon to demand modification of the substance of the agreement."

He repeated Hanoi's persistent demand that the United States "immediately sign the agreement."

The chief modification demanded by Saigon, a provision calling for the withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, was repeated today by South Vietnam's representative at the session, Nguyen Xuan Phong.

U.S. negotiator William J. Porter said: "Each of us is aware that the restoration of peace in Vietnam is approaching. Each of us is equally well aware of the efforts being made to refine and perfect the accomplishments of the negotiation so that a settlement fair to all will result."

WHY NOT? — Andrew J. Josephs, 17, was barred from competing for the 1972 Winter Carnival Queen title in Pittsburgh. He was the first male ever to submit an application in the 27-year history of the contest. Josephs said he was mainly protesting the contest being limited to girls only.

MUCH NEARER

In a brief prepared statement to the meeting, Porter avoided any reference to substantive issues but urged the Communist side to avoid "exaggerated rhetoric and unfounded charges of bad faith."

He declared that "our discussions should be directed toward the goal of peaceful settlement, much nearer than we imagined only a few weeks ago."

Probe Payoffs To Narc Cops

HOUSTON (AP) — Two federal agencies are investigating the possibility of more than $100,000 in payoffs to Houston narcotics officers, an officer has disclosed.

The story came to light Wednesday following C. Hollenshead Jr. at a preliminary hearing on tax evasion charges against Sebastian "Sebo" Jesse Mirelez, 44.

Another agent in the case testified that an informant saw Mirelez give the $100,000 to Houston narcotics officers.

Mirelez is charged with evasion of 1966 income taxes. He currently is held in the Harris County Rehabilitation Center, a federal institution.

Hollenshead said in computing income for Mirelez for 1966, the man had $235,792 in non-deductible expenses. Some of that went for furniture and a car but the bulk of it, Hollenshead said, was for "protection payments to narcotics officers."

EXTEND LABOR SURVEY DEADLINE

The deadline for completing the labor survey to determine a potential labor pool for a clothing manufacturer has been extended to Monday.

Survey forms are being returned in good volume, but Chamber of Commerce officials are confident that there are hundreds which will yet come in.

"We asked for and were granted an extension by the manufacturer," said W. S. (Dub) Pearson, survey chairman. He said that workers will man tables at the department stores, super markets and other points over the weekend to obtain maximum returns on survey forms.

Meantime, others who have received forms are asked to fill them in and mail them (postage is pre-paid) to the chamber office. Pearson also expressed the hope that there would be more responses from the area. He stressed that the forms are not only to determine how many are interested in working at the outset, but also who may be interested in a possible future job in the industry.

STARVATION CASE

'I Love My Children, I Want Them Back'

MIAMI (AP) — Five hungry brothers and sisters of a 3-year-old boy who died of starvation have been taken away from their mother and jailed father and placed in the state's custody.

Juvenile Court Judge Dixie Chastain Wednesday ordered the five kept in protective custody for at least the next 30 days after hearing testimony that the children were ill-fed and ill-cared for in a home too filthy for human occupancy.

"I love my children, I want them back," wept Lois Nozza, who was present during the custody hearing involving her children: Tara, 1, Nicholas, 5, twins Michael and Peter, 4, and Lisa, 7.

She testified that her husband, Michael Nozza, 41, was brutal and refused to give her money for food.

Nozza, a sandblaster who police say earned $12,000 a year, is charged with manslaughter in the malnutrition death of his son Dean. He was arrested after he brought his son's limp body to Variety Children's Hospital Monday night.

Doctors there said tests indicated the little boy starved to death. Mrs. Nozza told police her dead son had lived only on chocolate milk for the past three months. She said her husband had ordered her not to feed the child.

He "looked like one of the victims of Hitler's concentration camps," said Dade County Homicide Detective Julio Ojeda, who viewed the boy's remains at the hospital.

"His body was completely encrusted with dirt. Dirt was packed under his finger and toe nails. His body smelled like urine," Ojeda said.

Ojeda said doctors told him at least one of the other children was suffering from malnutrition.

Wednesday Nozza insisted he gave his wife money, saying "I brought home everything I could make. I don't gamble, I don't drink, I don't play around."

GIRL STABBED FOUR TIMES IN 35-CENT ROBBERY — Robin Lefkowitz, a 19-year-old New York girl, is comforted after she was stabbed four times during a robbery outside her Back Bay apartment. The robber took 35 cents. Minutes after the robbery and stabbing, police officers and a group of students chased the suspected assailant and captured the man in a brief struggle. Miss Lefkowitz was taken to Beth Israel Hospital with three stab wounds in the abdomen and one in the chest.

'Smile Of The Walrus' Beautiful Hour On TV

NEW YORK (AP) — A walrus is an unlikely television star and an ice floe near the Arctic Circle an unlikely stage for drama. All this changes the moment Jacques Cousteau gets into the act.

Grandparents Win Custody

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals affirmed Wednesday a lower court ruling that custody of Sherry Leann Cravens should be awarded to her San Angelo grandparents rather than to her professor father in Abilene.

The girl's mother, who had custody after a divorce from Richie F. Cravens, a McMurry College teacher, was killed with Sherry's brother in a 1970 car crash.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eisenbach, the mother's parents, fought Cravens for custody.

The appeals court noted that Cravens was remarried, that his wife has five children by two previous marriages, that the new wife recently had open heart surgery and that Sherry would have to share a bedroom with two teen-age girls.

The court also noted that the girl had visited Cravens only twice since her mother's death, that Cravens had not contributed to her support and did not give her a Christmas present in 1970 or 1971 and did not send her a card or present on her birthday.

The lower court did not abuse its discretion in awarding custody to the grandparents, the appeals court said.

The transformation occurred Wednesday night on ABC Television, which broadcast a one-hour Cousteau special called "The Smile of the Walrus."

It was a beautiful hour, even for those among us who wouldn't exactly consider themselves walrus buffs. Those who missed the show should petition the network instantly for a rerun.

TWO THEMES

The program had two themes. One was the annual walrus migration across the Bering Strait from Siberian to Alaskan waters and back. The second was what man has done — and recently been prevented from doing — to these comical, ponderous beasts.

Sounds pretty deadly, doesn't it? Maybe, but not through the eyes of Cousteau. For my dough, the show was among the best of the 20 famed undersea explorer-naturalist has done for ABC since 1968.

The trip north was the first time he and his underwater stock company ever had visited the Arctic.

They set off from the tiny Eskimo village of Gambell on St. Lawrence Island, a snow-covered strip of desolation in the Bering Sea about 200 miles west of Nome.

The younger divers, armed with cameras, plunged into the freezing ocean — the water temperature was below 28 degrees — and returned with a claustrophobic view of frigid beauty beneath the Arctic ice pack.

SADDEST MOMENT

Ironically, the program's real beauty started with its saddest moment, when Eskimo hunters killed a female member of the herd. The show emphasized that all the killings were out of need, never greed or sport.

But this one left a four-day-old walrus cub snuggling in fright up to his dead mother. And there, either were real tears in his eyes or I am long overdue for a trip to the ophthalmologist.

Left alone, the cub would have died. He instead floundered through the water to the nearest living thing he saw — Cousteau and the others in their open boat. And they hoisted all 125 pounds of him aboard.

The cub was like a friendly puppy, bumping about in constant need of touch and affection. He's alive today at Marineland of the Pacific in California.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are predicted along the lower half of the Atlantic states and some snow is expected in the Great Lakes region today. Snow and snow flurries are forecast along the Rocky Mountain area extending up to Idaho. Some rain is expected in Arizona. The bidding: North East South West Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass 3 NT Pass 2 NT Pass 3 NT Pass 2 NT Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♠ East provided South—the declarer at three no trump—with a clear road map on how to play the hand.

West opened the three of diamonds, East put up the jack and South won the trick with the queen. From East's play, it was reasonable for South to assume that his left hand opponent held the ace and ten of the suit. At all costs then, East must be kept out of the lead, for another diamond thru declarer's king might enable the defenders to cash sufficient tricks to set the contract.

At trick two, South overtook the ten of hearts with dummy's jack to lead a suit club. East followed suit with the four and declarer put in the queen which held the trick. The ace of hearts was cached next and the remaining hearts were played as East and South discarded small spades. On a second club lead, East played the jack forcing out declarer's ace, and at the same time revealing that another club play was out of the question since it would surely enable East to get in with the king. Declarer's sole remaining hope was that West held the king of spades and could be made to lead away from that card in the end position. Since South had not lost any tricks yet, he could afford to let his opponent in to run the diamond suit—provided that he has started with no more than five diamonds.

Declarer exited from his hand with the king of diamonds, and West proceeded to cash out four tricks. With only the king and five of spades left in his hand, however, he was hopelessly employed and had to surrender the final two tricks to South.

East's play of the jack of clubs on the second lead of that suit was equivalent to giving declarer a peek at his hand. Since he was known to have the king of clubs by virtue of South's successful finesse of the queen, East had nothing to lose by dropping that card under the ace. This may induce declarer to play West for the jack of clubs in which case it would be safe for South to continue the establishment of the club suit. If he does so, East will have an opportunity to gain the lead to deliver the fatal salvo thru declarer's saving diamond honor.

PTA: 'Does Lots Of Money Provide Quality Education?'

FORT WORTH (AP) — Educators and parents agreed Wednesday that the average Texas citizen is concerned with a good education for his child but spending lots of money doesn't always accomplish it.

The consensus during the convention of the Texas Parent-Teacher Association (PTA) here seemed to be that the parent wants a part in selecting the programs and educational material especially if he is having to pay for it.

The Wednesday conference was one of nine on such topics as quality education, court decisions and career education.

SCHOOL FINANCE
Discussed were misconceptions and problems created by the lower court decision last year that Texas' current system of public school finance — based on local property taxes — was unconstitutional because it gave children in wealthy districts educational advantages over those who live in poor districts.

Dr. Richard L. Hooker, associate director of Texas Association of School Boards, explained that the lower court did not say that the property tax was unconstitutional, but that the school financing system should be one of "fiscal neutrality" where the opportunity for school expenditures was based on the wealth of the state as a whole, not for a particular school district.

Examples were given by John Gay, consultant to the Senate interim committee to study public school finance. Texas' 1,150 school districts vary from three students to 200,000 plus with 89 per cent of them residing in 367 districts, 11 per cent in 512 districts.

OIL MONEY
Oil rich Andrews district has $400,000 per pupil worth of taxable property, while Edgewood district (the site in the court case) has $5000 worth of taxable property.

While the delegates said they were interested in providing good and equal education for all children throughout the state, they questioned whether quality education was always the result of spending lots of money. Dave Langham, director of budgets of the Fort Worth Independent School District, said no. Langham noted that a suit filed by Fort Worth district in 1969, contended that unfairness was not the sole property of the poor. Districts tax a different percentage of fair market value, resulting in some citizens carrying a heavier burden of taxation than others. Fort Worth citizens are taxed at 55 per cent of fair market value, higher than Dallas or Houston. The lower court left it up to the state to adopt a plan for public school financing and the PTA delegates expressed concern that all children be treated equally, but without a loss of the individual school district's independence.

Variety Of Collections Displayed

Private collections were discussed and displayed Tuesday by members of 1970 Hyperion Club at the home of Mrs. Robert Knight, Silver Heels.

Mrs. Knight led the program, stating that she and members of her family are avid collectors. Many of her collections were displayed throughout the home, including articles of clothing worn between the 1800's and the 1940's, old post cards from foreign countries, royalty pictures and stamps. She said other collections in her family included fossils, bird nests, sea shells, western art and barbed wire.

Mrs. Ron Medley exhibited a collection of antique pottery and explained the use of markings and registry marks to identify age and origin of the pieces. Mrs. Ray Torp showed an array of bells ranging from dinner bells to Indian bells to cow bells.

Sea shells and rocks were shown by Mrs. Loren McDowell III, and Mrs. Rondel McBride displayed miniature kitchen pots and pans which were authentic reproductions, and she said she collects authentic miniatures "of everything."

Mrs. O. H. Ivie presided over business, and members agreed to assist the "A Round Stage" community theatre by providing props and costumes. Donations will also be sent to Big Spring State Hospital.

The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 12 in the home of Mrs. Rondel McBride, 511 Highland. A Christmas sampler dinner for members and husbands is scheduled Dec. 16, and will include visits to three members' homes for traditional holiday snacks.

FOOD SALE AT BAKER CHAPEL

The Baker Chapel Missionary Society will sponsor a barbecue and bake sale Saturday at the church cafeteria which is located at the corner of Tenth Street and Lancaster. There will be a variety of homemade cakes and pies for sale, as well as the barbecue. The public is invited to shop the sale and save the time and bother of baking for Thanksgiving.

Alpha Beta Omicron Planning Crafts Sale

An arts and crafts sale is scheduled Dec. 2 by Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. The sale, featuring items handmade by chapter members, will be held at Highland Center Mall.

Final plans for the sale were made Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jack Parrott, 605 George, with Mrs. Don Cunningham presiding. Mrs. Chuck Ogle, ways and means chairman, announced boxes of candy to be sold by members are now available. Cost is $1.05 per box.

The chapter will purchase a flag for the Coahoma Brownie troop sponsored by the chapter. Several members assisted with collection of counting during the multiple sclerosis drive Monday.

Mrs. Fred Copeland was appointed Valentine ball chairman for the chapter, which is in charge of decorations for the annual affair in February. Mrs. Jack Parrott presented a brief book review, and refreshments were served.

The chapter's preferential tea for rushees was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Cliff Riley, 2005 Morrison. The next social Mrs. Clarence Hays. A business meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 19 at the home of meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 23 in the home of Mrs. Ogle, 1400 Birdwell.

Beauceants Hostesses At Thanksgiving Dinner

The Social Order of the Beauceant held its annual Thanksgiving dinner Monday evening at Masonic Temple, with Sam Hilburn of Midland presenting the invocation.

Welcoming addresses were given by Mrs. Lee Porter, Beauceant president, and Sir Knight, Ervin Daniel, commander of the Big Spring Commandry.

The registry was clothed with a quilted patchwork cover and accented with a basket of fruit.

The dining tables carried out the Thanksgiving theme with pumpkins, fruit, corn and nuts placed along the center.

Mrs. Porter presided at a Beauceant business session which followed the dinner, and annual committee reports were presented. The women planned a party at 2 p.m., today for patients in Ward 10-E at Big Spring State Hospital.

An initiation and memorial service is slated at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 27 at Masonic Temple.

A LOVELIER YOU Alluring Fashion Is Mirror Of Personality

By MARY SUE MILLER

It is said that "casual elegance" marks evening dress collections. What exactly is casual elegance? It sounds like a contradiction in terms. But that's not so. Materials peak to elegance; styling is a classic kind of throwaway chic. Very, very alluring.

For instance, a pale blue mohair cardigan covers the shoulders of a dull satin halter dress with a puffy skirt. Or a silk crepe pleated shirtdress comes in creamie beige. Or a black sequins overblouse tops a black velvet skirt.

Or a silk print, white ground garlanded in wine, rose and blue, has a billowing skirt and slim, low bodice. Or a slither slip in black matte jersey or flowered metallic knit... well, it slithers. Or a float of peach chiffon reveals one shoulder and wraps the bodice in deep ruffles.

Leave the slinks to the sophisticate. Wear your own thing. What is your thing? Are you fragile, siren-y, regal? Stay with it!

Lions Auxiliary Gains Members

Mrs. Jim Holmes introduced three women as new members of Downtown Lions Auxiliary at a covered dish luncheon Wednesday. They were Mrs. Tommy Mills, Mrs. Harold Ingram and Mrs. John Rimmer.

Individual contributions were made to the crippled children's home in Kerrville. Mrs. Dan Conley was hostess for the group in her home at 308 W. 15th, assisted by Mrs. Warren Jones and Mrs. Lucy Petty.

A Christmas coffee is planned at 10:30 a.m., Dec. 20 in the home of Mrs. John Wilmes, 2601 Ann.

Serve Broiled Pears With Ham

As an accompaniment to ham or to smoked boned pork shoulder butt, you might like to serve broiled pears. Before broiling fill the pear cavities with mayonnaise seasoned with curry powder and lemon juice; sprinkle with paprika.

Soil Makers Advised On Compost Methods

Clyde Strobe of Odessa explained various ways of composting when he was guest speaker Monday evening for a meeting of Organic Soil Makers at the U.S. Experiment Station. The speaker, introduced by Dr. Paul Koshi, was accompanied by Mrs. Strobe and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kenner, also of Odessa.

Strobe explained that natural composting has been going on since the beginning of time, "with things dying and living again."

In describing the sheet method of composting, Strobe said this is used for large areas such as fields to hold top soil, control weeds and prevent excessive drying of soil.

The most widely-used composting procedure is the "Sir Robert Howard method." The soil is broken and sandwiched by layering green material, cotton seed meal, blood meal, bone meal or similar ingredients, topped with soil. Each layer is lightly sprinkled with water, and it is left to "heat." The mixture is turned over regularly.

To make compost for use in home garden or flower beds, Strobe said a box (with top and bottom out) may be used. A pit should be dug under it, about 18 inches deep. This can be filled with soil, grass cuttings and all types of kitchen wastes except salt and grease. Earth worms should be added to hasten the composting, and it should be covered with a wet burlap bag.

Mrs. Jan Huff presided at a brief business session and a Christmas party was planned for Dec. 11.

MRS. JOE NEFF (Photo by Danny Valdez)

The Family Life Gets Hectic, But They Enjoy It That Way

By BARBARA LORD
There's no such thing as a schedule or daily routine for the Joe Neff family on Snyder Highway. The family's days are packed with a variety of happenings, and the nights are apt to be equally as busy.

Activities stem from Neff's combination ranch and office where he practices his veterinary service. He gets calls at all hours of the day or night requesting that he come look at a sick horse or cow. More often than not, Mrs. Neff goes with him, and if the children aren't in school, they probably go, too. The Neffs have two sons, Bryan, 10, and David, 7. "We all love the work," said Mrs. Neff about her husband's practice, "but we never get a day or a night off. If we want a day off, we have to leave town." Mrs. Neff often helps her husband with minor surgery, but admits her stomach isn't strong enough to go beyond that. She also serves as a fairly faithful receptionist for Neff's business; staying home as much as possible to answer phones when her husband is on a call. The only outside activity she allows herself is to serve as president of Park Hill Parent-Teacher Association.

It's difficult for Mrs. Neff to plan any kind of activity ahead of time, even the family meals. She has accumulated a variety of recipes that are fast and simple to make, that don't require a lot of attention, and that won't be completely ruined if they end up being cooked longer than called for.

BIG BREAKFAST
"We almost always have a big breakfast and a good supper, but at noon it's completely pot luck. Joe eats whatever he can find. I never know when we'll be able to eat supper. It just comes whenever things quiet down. We can't have a schedule. Everytime I plan something, it gets fouled up."

Mrs. Neff said her family is easily pleased when it comes to meals, but they do like their meat and potatoes regularly. "If I tried to get by with just serving a big chef's salad, Joe and the kids would eat it and wonder where the rest of the meal was," she said. Some Mexican food is included in the family meals, but Mrs. Neff seldom prepares anything gourmet in nature, because she knows her family wouldn't like it. She does keep a ready supply of baked goods and candy on hand, and said a batch of cookies or candy doesn't last long.

Mrs. Neff is enthusiastic about everything she does. "I stay at home as much as possible," said Mrs. Neff. "People know that when they drop by they're apt to find me in the middle of a project and end up helping me with it. A salesman came to see Joe one afternoon, and I put him to work stirring my divinity candy for me while he waited."

The casual atmosphere of the Neff home pervades most of the time. Mrs. Neff said they never plan any formal entertaining.

because she knows as soon as people started arriving her husband would get called out. "Actually, I guess we live in a pretty crazy, upside-down household," she said, "but that's the way we like it. We've only lived in the country for six years, and it's a perfect place for the kids. They can raise all the pets they want, and the neighbors are far enough away that they can't get into trouble."

MINI-RANCH
The Neffs have 32 acres to their ranch, which includes the veterinary office, home, cotton and oat croplands, and grazing and pastures for their horses and cattle. The younger boys raise a variety of animals, such as horses, several dogs, rabbits and goats.

We sent Blue Bonnet to Europe where food experts couldn't tell it from butter.

Now we're sending you to the store so you can find out for yourself.

Other margarines claim they taste like butter. But only Blue Bonnet proved its honest-to-butter flavor with European food experts. In dish after dish, Blue Bonnet Margarine was compared with the best European butter in tough, rigidly controlled side-by-side tests. In cooking, in baking, in sauces, even spread on bread, the experts agreed: "No difference!" Use this money-saving coupon to get yourself a pound of Blue Bonnet Margarine. And prove to yourself, in any test you can devise, that Blue Bonnet truly tastes like butter.

GET INTO HOLIDAY SPIRIT with festive delicious egg nog

Egg Nog Expands To Year 'Round Delight

Fanciers of egg nog who have lamented its limited use and season have a delicious surprise in store. Egg nog has gone year 'round. Not only that, but it has left the beverage-only role for a many-talented career.

Canned egg nog is a pure wholesome dairy drink made with select dairy products and choice ingredients that requires no refrigeration until opened. Once opened, it should be treated like any fresh dairy product — refrigerate it!

This versatile read-to-drink beverage should be chilled to bring out the full flavor. Serve it right from the can or mix it with rum to make a festive, traditional party drink. It is excellent as a recipe ingredient. A tasty example: dip slices of bread into the egg nog and saute gently to make the best French Toast — add it to pancake mix to make flavorful pancakes.

An instant children's party is ready when egg nog is poured into colorful mugs and a plate of tasty sandwiches or cookies is added. Cups of egg nog and cupcakes with candles set the birthday party scene. Egg nog lends itself to a variety of uses for all ages. It's wise to buy extra cans to keep on hand for impromptu entertaining. For the grown-ups plan to lace it with rum or float rum-flavored whipped cream atop and around the edge of the punch bowl or atop each cup.

Seven Incoming Senators In 40s

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 13 newly elected members of the Senate average about 22 years younger than the senators whose seats they are taking.

Only four of the newcomers are over 50, and their average age is just a shade under 45.

Those being replaced as a result of death, defeat or retirement included eight senators over 70. Their average age was slightly over 67.

Among the old timers was Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., who died last July while campaigning for re-election. He was 82. Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who died in January, 1971, would now be 75.

Elected to Russell's seat in Tuesday's voting was Sam Nunn, 34, while Louisiana voters elected J. Bennett Johnston, 40, to succeed Ellender.

Nunn is the youngest of the newly elected senators except for Joseph R. Biden Jr., a Democrat who unseated Republican senator J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware.

Biden is only 29, but before he takes the oath of office on Jan. 3 when the new Congress convenes he will meet the constitutional requirement that senators be 30 years old. Boggs is 63.

Seven of the incoming fresh men senators are in their 40s.

In addition to Johnston, they are: Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., also 40; James Abourezk, D-S.D., 41; Dick Clark, D-Iowa, 43; Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky., 46; James A. McClure, R-Idaho, 47; and William D. Hathaway, D-Maine, 48.

They replace, in order: Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., 77; Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., 72; Jack Miller, R-Iowa, 56; John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., 71; Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, 72; and Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, 74.

The oldest of the newly-elected senators is William L. Scott, R-Va. He is 57 and replaces a younger man, Sen. William B. Spong Jr., who is 52.

Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., who did not stand for re-election is also being succeeded by an older man. Harris will be 42 next week. Taking his place in the Senate will be Republican Dewey Bartlett, who is 53.

Jesse Helms, a Republican elected from North Carolina, is 50. He will succeed Democratic Senator B. Everett Jordan, 76, who failed to win renomination.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., 65, was defeated in Tuesday's election by Democrat Floyd D. Haskell, 56.

The oldest member of the Senate now is George D. Aiken, R-Vt., who is 80.

She Mops Up

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband had a decent night's sleep in two years. Before then, for 22 years, my wife and her older sister took turns keeping Mom. One sister would keep her until she gave out, then the other one would take her until SHE gave out. There are two brothers who tried to keep Mom, but after the second day they called and screamed, "Come and get her, she is driving us nuts!" My wife's sister died two years ago, but my wife promised her on her deathbed she'd never put Mom in a home. Mom won't eat unless you feed her, and she has to be bathed and looked after like a child. I haven't slept with my wife in two years because we've had to keep our bedroom door open in case Mom calls us or falls out of bed. And with the door open Mom wanders in and out of our room all night long. I'm afraid my wife is heading for a nervous breakdown. I know Mom belongs in a home and her sons have offered to foot the bill, but my wife doesn't want to go back on her word.

What is your advice? WHIPPED IN TENNESSEE DEAR WHIPPED: Deathbed promises are usually charged with emotion, so the word from here is to put Mom in a home. And tell your wife she needsn't feel guilty. The Lord is all forgiving and compassionate, and He will understand.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THOSE INTERESTED IN BUYING ONE SHOE ONLY: Hundreds of readers wrote in — from every area of the country — telling me where one could purchase one shoe only. If you are interested, please send a stamped, addressed envelope for a personal reply.

FOR BEST RESULTS, USE THE HERALD'S WANT ADS

DEAR ABBY: When someone carries a cake, pie, salad or something like that to my home, I never return the pan or bowl it came in empty. My mother taught me that.

Well, yesterday my sister-in-law dropped off a collection of my pots, pans, and bowls she'd had at her house for over a year. They weren't empty, either. And do you know what she had in them? A bill for storage! NOT LAUGHING DEAR NOT: I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old man with an 89-year-old problem. My mother-in-law lives with us and we haven't

Causing Flutters In Docile USDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plans to shake up the federal bureaucracy are causing flutters in the usually docile Department of Agriculture.

Not even Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who campaigned vigorously to help Nixon capture more than two-thirds of the farm vote Nov. 7, is certain whether his letter of resignation will be turned down.

The letters were requested of all Cabinet officers plus hundreds of other political appointees in high-grade federal jobs. A decision on which will be accepted is due by mid-December, according to the White House.

Meanwhile, Butz and half a hundred others in USDA could be working on borrowed time as they try to pare spending, organize crop goals, and formulate legislative programs for 1973.

Sylvester Pranger, personnel director of the Department, said Wednesday he knew of 63 USDA officials who had been asked to submit resignations.

Besides Butz, Undersecretary J. Phil Campbell and three assistant secretaries, the group includes the heads of a dozen agencies and high-ranking assistants holding political appointments.

Some top agency people who were considered career employees were exempted. Those include posts in technical units, such as the U.S. Forest Service and the Agricultural Research Service.

Pranger said about 56 other politically-named employees were not asked for letters. Those, he said, mainly are in

Freezing Cold Chills Most Of Deep South

Freezing cold chilled most of the northern half of the nation today and sent a wave of topcoat temperatures into the Deep South as well.

The cold brought snow, sleet and freezing rain to a broad stretch of the midcontinent and made driving hazardous from Oklahoma to Iowa and Missouri.

Temperatures dipped into the 20s overnight from the central Rockies to the middle Atlantic States. Readings in the low 30s reached into Alabama.

Another storm brought rain and snow to Central California and across the coastal mountains of Oregon and California to portions of the Great Basin. Travel warnings were in effect for the Northern California mountains and the Sierra Nevada range.

From the eastern Gulf Coast to the middle Atlantic States, clear skies offered one of the few exceptions to the dismal weather.

Formula For Museum Plan

A few years ago, a Corpus Christi woman asked world-famous architect Philip Johnson of New York to design a new museum building for the Texas town. Johnson listened to the request, smiled: "Come back when you have a million dollars."

In only three weeks, the woman, Mrs. Edwin Singer, returned with the money, and the dream of the community was on its way to realization.

This unique new structure, the Art Museum of South Texas, is featured in Sunday's Texas Star magazine. Paula Hilaard relates the story of the museum and its challenges to the growing world of art.

A ladies fire department? The men at Woodbine no longer tease the small group of women who "man" the fire department of their community. Located 40 miles north of Denton, Woodbine is surrounded by grass and timber with the closest fire department in Gainesville, six miles west. Eleanor Galbreath, in Sunday's Star, tells how these determined women protect their community.

The Star also reveals, in a story by Sam Blair, how Bob Lilly gained the reputation as "Sheriff of the Cowboys." The first draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, Lilly has been with the team for 12 years.

Seeks Clothing For BSSH People

Evening Lions Club members again are undertaking to collect clothing which may be used by residents at Big Spring State Hospital.

Jackets and underwear especially are needed, said Bill Birrell, but any used and serviceable clothing will be appreciated. Evening Lions asked that those who have such items leave them at Thompson Furniture, 401 E. 2nd.

Theft Reported

Two black-and-white televisions, a stereo-radio combination and a .22 rifle were stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martinez about four miles northwest of Big Spring Wednesday afternoon, Chief Deputy Sheriff Bill Whitton said.

Grass Fire

A minor car and grass fire were extinguished on North Birdwell Lane at 5:10 p.m. Wednesday by area volunteer firemen.

Rancher Says He Fired Shotgun In Self Defense

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP) — Kendall County rancher Bob Brown Roberts Jr. has testified he used his shotgun in self-defense in the death in 1970 of a San Antonio parochial school drama teacher.

Roberts took the stand Wednesday in his own behalf in his trial on charges of murder in the death of Thomas Richard O'Neill, son of a San Antonio physician.

He told the jury of an unsuccessful search on his property near Boerne for a prowler the same morning of the shooting. His trial was moved to this Hill Country community on a change of venue.

"He had something in his hand," said Roberts of his victim.

Roberts said he first stationed himself near an unoccupied Volkswagen bus parked on U.S. 87 near his fence line. He said he shot holes in a tire.

The South Central Texas rancher testified he then returned to his house, but later went to the bus again. This time, according to Roberts, a man fitting O'Neill's description was present.

Roberts said he asked the man, "You having trouble with left rear tire?" — the one he had shot into.

Roberts testified he then asked the man what he was doing on his, Roberts', property and the man replied, "What the hell is this?"

Roberts testified: "I told him, 'It's okay, the sheriff is on his way.'"

Roberts added, "The man then lunged at me. I didn't plan to kill him, but I had to stop him." He said his memory from then on was vague.

O'Neill's body was found half under the bus, which had a jack in place underneath it, earlier testimony showed.

Roberts said he saw a screw driver in the dead man's right hand.

Defense attorneys rested Roberts' case late Wednesday and the state began with rebuttal testimony. Such testimony was expected to continue Thursday.

Oklahoma In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Oklahoma will return to defend its Sugar Bowl title New Year's Eve night against Penn State, an Eastern power making its first appearance in the Sugar Bowl classic.

The Associated Press learned of the matchup Wednesday, although it cannot be announced officially until Saturday afternoon because of National Collegiate Athletic Association rules.

Fourth-ranked Oklahoma is 7-1 for the season—the loss was to Colorado—with Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma State still ahead.

Sixth-ranked Penn State is 8-1, having won eight straight since a 28-21 loss to Tennessee in the Nittany Lions' season opener.

Oklahoma's wishbone ran wild in a 40-22 romp over Auburn in last season's Sugar Bowl while Penn State was whipping Texas 30-6 in the Cotton Bowl.

Confirmation of the Sugar Bowl match, a source close to behind-the-scenes bowl negotiations told The Associated Press, makes it a virtual certainty that Nebraska will play Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl with Alabama meeting Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

Penn State, under Coach Joe Paterno, will be heavily favored in its final two games against Boston College and Pittsburgh.

RANDLE SHOTS — Howard County Jr. College Jayhawk Mike Randle (34) takes a shot against Southwestern Christian College Tuesday night. Randle will be counted on by Jayhawk mentor Harold Wilder when HCJC meets St. Phillips College of San Antonio in the first round of the Odessa Tournament tonight. Tipoff is set for 9 p.m.

Howard County Meets St. Phillips In First Round

The Howard County Jr. College Jayhawks will collide with St. Phillips in the fourth game of the opening round. Tipoff is set for 9 p.m. in the Odessa College Gymnasium.

The Jayhawks go into the tournament with a 3-2 mark. Opening the season with back-to-back wins over Alvin Jr. College and Brazosport College, the Hawks were upended by Angelina College and College of the Mainland.

Howard County snapped the two-game loss skid with a 93-75 romp over Southwestern Christian College here Tuesday night. 1,600 fans squeezed into College, Paris Jr. College and Schriener Institute.

Wilder had considerable praise for Beall, a freshman guard from Sands. "I was really surprised by Bobby," said Wilder. "He showed a lot of composure and courage." Beall had 11 points in the contest.

The presence of Bledsoe and Williams gives the Jayhawks a strong inside threat. Wilder said, "Bledsoe is so strong that he can get fouled inside and still score. Williams is an outstanding rebounder." The pair effectively controlled the boards against Southwestern.

Tonight's game will be broadcast on KBTB-Radio with Howard County Sports Information Director Ken Carter handling the play-by-play.

Complaint Voted Down

KERMIT — A District 2AAA UIL meeting here Wednesday saw district superintendents vote down a complaint against athletes who had participated in the Boy Scout Olympics in Big Spring last spring.

The complaint had been filed by Ector last week against basketball players from other schools in the district. Boy Scout officials appeared at the hearing as well as schools involved.

The meeting also included a lengthy discussion by school officials in connection with the incident in the Ector-Seminole football game in which an Ector athlete injured an official.

They are awaiting a state UIL committee decision. In Wednesday's meeting, it was reported that three schools in the district reported that their school boards voted not to participate in sports with Ector next season due to the incident and other incidents which have preceded it.

Caron Leads Quebec Past Raiders, 7-4

By The Associated Press
The rap on Alain "Boom Boom" Caron has always been that he couldn't skate. But he certainly can score.

Caron, who once had 77 goals in a single season, scored three Wednesday night, leading the Quebec Nordiques to a 7-4 victory over the New York Raiders.

In other WHA games, Los Angeles rapped Houston 6-4 and Alberta defeated Winnipeg 3-1.

Caron's third goal of the night, with two New York players in the penalty box, tied the game at 4-4 in the third period. Then the Nordiques bunched three more goals by Robert Guindon, Andre Gaudette and Jean Guy Gendron to win the game.

Gene Peacock had two goals for the Raiders, who surrendered four power play goals to Quebec.

Bob Jones clicked for a pair of third period goals to push Los Angeles past Houston.

Jones' first goal midway through the period snapped a 4-4 tie and then he hit an empty net in the final minute to clinch the victory.

Joe Szura also had two goals for the Sharks and Paul Popiel hit a pair for Houston.

A pair of third period goals by Ron Walters broke a tie and moved Alberta past Winnipeg.

Chris Bordeleau scored his 14th goal for Winnipeg, with Bobby Hull assisting for his ninth WHA point in five games. Val Fonteyne tied it for Alberta in the middle period and then Walters won it in the final 20 minutes.

The victory moved Alberta into a first place tie with Winnipeg in the WHA's West Division.

FRETS ABOUT DEFENSE

Landry Clarifies Comment

DALLAS (AP) — While Coach Tom Landry was fretting about his porous defense, he took the time Wednesday to make what he called his final comments on the Dallas Cowboy quarterback situation.

He made it clear he has confidence in backup quarterback Roger Staubach even if he hasn't won the Super Bowl here since he returned from shoulder surgery.

"If we had to go with Roger, there's no question of my confidence in him," Landry said. "Roger might be rusty but he would still win the game."

Landry said recent quotes attributed to him made it appear Roger was not a winner. I was just trying to make the point that the game ought to be under control before he plays."

Craig Morton has been red-hot as the defending National Football League champions have compiled a 7-2 record.

There's been some grumbling from hard corps Staubach fans in Dallas, including a group with bumper stickers reading "Let's Get Stau-Bach."

Landry said "Roger needs playing time but his arm is strong. I can't say it was as strong as it was before the operation. It's good enough for him to play football."

Landry emphasized that Staubach wouldn't play unless the game was "under control."

Then Landry added "I'm not going to talk about Staubach anymore."

Landry said the demise of his Doomsday Defense, now ranked ninth in the National Conference, was purely a matter of "Concentration."

"We're going to be on it until we get it straight. It's just a matter of intensity."

Landry said the defense appeared to be relaxing because the offense was putting a lot of points on the board.

"We've just been playing good enough to win," Landry said.

Asked if his defense could handle Washington, Landry said "I wouldn't admit we're not playing well enough to beat Washington."

The Cowboys trail the Redskins by one game in the NFC East.

Landry gave the Cowboys two days off this week so they could "mentally" get ready to play Philadelphia.

"I think an 11-3 record will get us in the playoff," he said. "The next 11 days are most crucial for us. After we play the Eagles, we have to turn around and meet a good San Francisco team Thanksgiving Day."

Defensive end Elvin Bethea and Ron Saul are nursing minor injuries this week but are expected to be ready for Sunday's game in the AstroDome against the Green Bay Packers.

MIAMI (AP) — Second-ranked Alabama has decided to accept an invitation to meet Texas in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl in Dallas, the Miami Herald reported today.

In an article by sports columnist Bob Elliott, the Herald said the Crimson had passed up bids to the Orange and Sugar bowls to play the Longhorns.

Bowl invitations cannot be officially extended until Saturday at 6 p.m.

Arkin Says Talks Are Encouraging

DENVER (AP) — The chairman of the Colorado Citizens Committee to Retain the Winter Games said he was "greatly encouraged" after talking with International Olympic Committee President Lord Killanin that the 1976 Winter Games might still be held in Colorado.

Harry L. Arkin, Denver attorney, returned to Denver Tuesday night after meeting with Lord Killanin for three hours Monday morning at IOC headquarters in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Killanin told Arkin that only the IOC or the U.S. Olympic Committee had the authority to remove the Games from Colorado, Arkin said Wednesday.

The IOC, however, announced Wednesday that national Olympic committees have been instructed to submit new bids by Jan. 15 for the 1976 Winter Games following formal notification from the Denver Olympic Organizing Committee (DOOC) Wednesday of the withdrawal of Denver as the host city.

Peterson Raps Kickoff Team

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach Bill Peterson says his kickoff team has no equal.

"It's got to be the worst in America," Peterson said bluntly after numerous miscues in last Sunday's 18-17 loss to Philadelphia.

"Our blocking's not real good and our people are beginning to think they're going to drop the football before it is ever kicked."

Defensive end Elvin Bethea and Ron Saul are nursing minor injuries this week but are expected to be ready for Sunday's game in the AstroDome against the Green Bay Packers.

Celtics Crush Phoenix, 113-94

By The Associated Press
The Boston Celtics continued their victory rampage in the National Basketball Association and left the Phoenix Suns wrestling with an identity crisis.

"You didn't see the Phoenix Suns out there, you saw five guys in uniforms," said Phoenix Coach Jerry Colangelo Wednesday night after the Celtics beat his Suns 113-94. "The Celtics are playing basketball the way it should be played."

Six Celtics hit double figures as they recorded their 14th triumph in 15 games with a fast-break offense and stiff defense that protected their lead throughout the contest.

"They simply played super defense in the first half," said Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn. "You've got to keep pressure on them. Everybody made a contribution tonight."

In other NBA games Wednesday night, Kansas City-Omaha defeated Seattle 106-97 and Los Angeles downed Detroit 110-99.

In the American Basketball Association, Memphis whipped San Diego 126-101, New York upended Carolina 112-107 and Dallas outlasted Kentucky 104-99.

Dave Cowens paced the Celtics with 25 points and 19 rebounds while Charlie Scott led all scorers with 33 points for Phoenix. The Suns made a minor threat with a nine-point outburst in the fourth quarter that trimmed the Celtics' lead to 89-79. But Boston surged back with 13 straight points to put it out of reach.

Nate Archibald poured in 47 points as the Kings' triumph marked the first time an NBA club coached by Bob Cousy has been over the 500 mark.

"It's nice to be over 500," said Cousy. "But I'll be happier when we make the playoffs." Gail Goodrich and Walt Chamberlain sparked a second-half rally as the Lakers scored their eighth straight victory and their 13th in 14 outings. Goodrich and Chamberlain each had 16 points after Detroit held a 52-51 halftime edge and finished with 24 and 21 points, respectively.

Returning home made the difference for the Nets as they recovered from a six-game losing streak—with all the losses on the road—with a 112-107 victory over the Cougars. George Carter, acquired from Carolina in an off-season trade, scored a personal season high 34 points as the Nets raced to a 63-47 halftime lead and stayed in command the rest of the way.

Lee Davis and George Thompson each posted 32 points as Memphis broke open a tight contest in the second period, outgunning the Conquistadors 33-19 enroute to a 62-42 halftime bulge.

Bob Netolicky and Rich Jones led a 29-point fourth quarter rally for the Chaparrals' win. Netolicky finished with 31 points while Jones had 25. The Cougars held a seven-point lead with 10:43 remaining, but the Chaps roared back to take the lead at 99-97 with 1:15 left.

Steve Vickers doesn't come from Missouri, but he's sceptical anyway.

The flashy New York Ranger rookie scored three goals Wednesday night in a 7-3 National Hockey League victory over Philadelphia. That's good. It was his second straight three-goal game. That's very good. In fact, it's better than any NHL rookie has ever done before.

Cause to celebrate? Not for Vickers.

"I still have to prove to myself that I can play well consistently," the young left wing said. "I just hope I'm not a flash in the pan."

Elsewhere in the NHL Wednesday night, Toronto nipped Atlanta 2-1, Pittsburgh trounced Minnesota 7-1, Detroit blanked California 4-0 and Los Angeles tied Buffalo 3-3.

"I hope," said Vickers, "they don't expect me to score three every night."

The rookie laughed off the suggestion that he even thought of a second straight hat trick before Wednesday's game. But he scored two goals in the second period.

AL'S MVP

Allen Finds Home In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — "All I asked for when I came here was one year of peace of mind," said the American League's newly honored Most Valuable Player for 1972.

First baseman Dick Allen, his image as a moody, controversial former National League star behind him, made it plain Wednesday that finding "a home in Chicago where I really feel like a human being" spurred his superb AL debut with the White Sox.

A genial Allen, garbed in a maroon mod suit replete with matching boots, touched all bases—past and present—a news conference following his landslide MVP choice by the Baseball Writers Association of America earlier in the day.

The 30-year-old Allen, who led the AL in home runs with 37 and in RBI with a career high of 113 while batting .308, modestly said "I think this is quite an honor and I hope I'm worthy of it."

"Actually, I thought Joe Rudi (outfielder for the world champion Oakland A's) would have won it. Baseball is my life, it makes me go. This would mean more to me had we won the pennant."

Rudi finished a distant second in the MVP voting, with 164 points compared with Allen's 321.

Allen, completely at ease before a battery of microphones, at the start thanked the Philadelphia Phil scout, Johnny Ogdan, who signed him in 1960. Ogdan encouraged him "like a father," after a discouraging ninth WHA point in five games. 1963 Phil debut, to attain NL Rookie of the Year honors in 1964 with a .318 batting average.

In between that Rookie of the Year Award and Wednesday's MVP selection, came "so many years of stories and criticism without hearing from me," Allen said of his unhappy stay with the Phils and one-year stints each with the St. Louis Cardinals and Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I came to Chicago specifically to win, but when the Dodgers traded me, I thought 'Gee, what are they doing to me,'" Allen said. "But the fans and the press made me feel really wanted. Believe me, I won't stop until Chicago has a winner."

Allen joked at the question of what salary he will demand next spring after missing the entire spring training this year before signing with the Sox.

"You tell me," was Allen's smiling comment.

April 1 for an estimated $135,000.

"I don't know, how much do you have?" he teased at the horde of interviewers, then adding: "I had hoped to talk contract on this trip, but Stu Holcomb (Sox general manager) will take too much talking to sign."

Would Allen again skip spring training? Chuck Tanner, the AP's 1972 AL Manager of the Year, recently said he would chase Allen out of camp if he showed up.

Patrick spoke Tuesday at a fall meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters. He says MBS may return to broadcasting major league baseball games several years after its fixture, "The Mutual Network Game of the Day," was dropped for various reasons.

Fans Turn To Radio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "Whether they dislike Cosell or what it is," says the Voice of Monday Night NFL's new radio broadcasts, "they have rediscovered radio."

Van Patrick, a transplanted Texan who now heads sports coverage for the Mutual Broadcasting System, concedes, however, that television's arrangement for the Monday night pro football game has helped the resurgence in sports coverage by national radio.

The current success of radio accounts of the Monday Night NFL game points the way to expanded nationwide coverage of baseball and other sports, he says. Much of radio sports are done on regional or local networks.

While most of the country knows Humble Howard, the "Dandere" Cosell and Frank Gifford by sight and sound, they can now hear Patrick and color man Al Wester give what Patrick calls a "straight but exciting" account of the weekly Monday night pro game.

Patrick, who also broadcasts Notre Dame and Detroit Lion football games on Saturday and Sunday, says his attitude of the ABC team is, "How are you, you run yours, I'll run mine."

When MBS approached the NFL front office about the Monday night coverage, Patrick says Commissioner Pete Rozelle had research done which showed 20 million cars were on the road between nine and 11 o'clock on Monday night.

He said baseball's expansion and the cancellation of the "Game of the Day," as expanding teams picked up their own broadcast arrangements for their areas and radio stations only operating during daylight hours no longer had access to games.

MBS may broadcast Monday night major league baseball next season in light of Monday night football's success on radio, Patrick said.

HASHMARK MOVE HELPS

Scoring Up In Pro Loop

By BILL CONLIN, Copley News Service. Some years ago, and let us set the locale at Dallas, a professional football coach did very well with what he called the "zone defense."

in its disjointed unmarshaling, hashmarks help you against the zone defense. More to the point, the enlarged short side has opened up the running game (although you don't see it in the case of the 49ers who are, perhaps a bad example).

Washington's Larry Brown explains it logically: "To be honest, I'm not conscious of the extra room outside, but when we send Charley Taylor or Roy Jefferson out a few feet wider I suppose it carries the cornerback out and opens the defense a bit. This might be helping on inside plays as well as sweeps."

It was devastating to the National Football League which, like basketball, relied on high scoring for its popularity. The NFL lost something from 1969 through 1971 — a matter of 102 touchdowns.

As Ted Marchbroda, of the Washington offensive coordinator, adds: "We have not designed any specific running plays because of the wider short side, but we believe it aids the attack. Going into this season (with the new rules), we felt that it would help our weakside running and passing, without having any diminishing effect on the strong side attack. Anytime you have more room to maneuver, it is a plus."

PUTTING WORDS IN CHARLEY'S MOUTH — As Charles O. Finley was asked to name his favorite sport, Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics twisted the club owner's arm and he replied it was baseball. The comedy bit happened at a testimonial dinner for the owner of the world champions given by friends and neighbors Wednesday night.

Hometown Honors Finley

LAPORTE, Ind. (AP) — of managers, Finley was the subject of praise and respect at LaPorte's Civic Auditorium Wednesday night. A crowd of 2,200 wedged into the building to take part in the festivities organized by local businessmen and friends of Finley. Finley, his family and several members of the A's entered the hall behind a six-piece Dixieland band. They approached the speakers' table amid the standing, cheering admirers who waved hundreds of green and gold Oakland pennants.

Among those paying tribute in person were A's Manager Dick Williams and four Oakland players—Vida Blue, involved in a fierce and lengthy contract battle with Finley during the past season; World Series hero Gene Tenace, and hitting stars Reggie Jackson and Joe Rudi.

Also on hand was Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb, who made Williams and each of the four players a "distinguished citizen of Indiana" and Finley a "Sagamore of the Wabash."

President Nixon sent a telegram reading in part, "Not only are congratulations in order for the splendid World Series victory last month but baseball fans across the nation are indebted to you for the innovation and excitement you have given to our national pastime."

Panthers Collect Titles

When the Panthers captured the Gray-Y championship recently, it was nothing unusual. The Panthers have either shared or held the title outright for five straight years.

The Panthers were the undefeated champions of the YMCA-sponsored league in 1968, 1969, 1970 and 1972 and shared the crown with the Bulldogs in 1971. During the past three years, the Panthers have allowed their opponents only 36 points in 23 games.

Since 1968, the Panther record is a phenomenal 38-1.

Stamp Classic Hits $100 Grand

HOUSTON (AP) — The S&H Green Stamps Ladies Golf Classic at Westwood Country Club

next March has been announced with a total purse of $100,000—the second tournament ever to hit that level on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

But it won't be the last, according to LPGA tournament director Bud Erickson. In announcing the tournament Wednesday, Erickson said he expected to have four $100,000 women's tournaments lined up for the 1973 tour.

This year's Dinah Shore Classic had a total purse of $110,000, the first to reach the $100,000 bracket. The tournament is put together by Women's Golf Charities, a non-profit group that donates to charity by sponsoring LPGA events.

Judy Rankin won last year's event here, taking home $3,750 in the $25,000 tournament. In defending her title this year, she'll be shooting for a $20,000 first prize.

Ferguson Rejoins Hog Practices

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Ferguson, who missed practice Monday and Tuesday because of a sore knee, returned to drills Wednesday and Coach Frank Broyles said he "didn't seem to be limping at all."

However, Broyles said missing two days of practice never helps and Walter Nelson, a fifth-year senior, may start at quarterback against Southern Methodist here Saturday.

The Razorbacks worked out without pads, some indoors and some outdoors, Wednesday. Broyles called it a "good, snappy workout."

PROGRAM HAS 'RACIST' IMAGE

Royal Claims Texas Has False Image

Editor's note: This is the first in a 2-part series on the racist image that the University of Texas has among many blacks, and what Coach Darrell Royal is doing about it.

By ROBERT HEARD and JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writers
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Of all the great black football players to come out of Texas high schools, none have gone to the University of Texas.

Coach Darrell Royal knows he has a problem. He admits the athletic program at Texas has a racist image among many blacks. He says it is a false image.

There are six black football players at Texas now, including sophomore fullback Roosevelt Leaks, who has been sensational in his first year and may turn out to be a great one.

Some of those blacks say Royal is a racist — a racist who is trying to change. Royal rejects the label, but he says he is not surprised they put it on him.

As recently as 10 years ago, Southwest Conference schools ignored blacks, and players like Bubba Smith left Texas to go to places like Michigan State.

When the conference decided to recruit blacks, players like Jerry LeVias went to schools like Southern Methodist — not Texas.

But you can't win without blacks anymore. Everybody recruits them now.

Royal this year lost his second game in a row to Oklahoma, the one team above all others that he was hired in 1967 to beat. The Sooners embarrassed his Longhorns 48-27 in 1971, and blanked them 27-0 this year.

They beat Texas with the Wishbone-T Royal pioneered. And they used a lot of Texas blacks like Greg Pruitt. So Royal is courting blacks as never before.

But he scored zero in his last recruiting effort. Texas coaches say six great black running backs graduated from Texas high schools last year. And Texas is a running team. But all six went elsewhere. In fact, there is not one black on the entire freshman team.

In an effort to rid Texas of its racist image, and help his recruiting, Royal agreed to an interview of the six blacks on his varsity.

He told them he didn't know what questions would be asked, but he sent them to the interview with instructions to give honest answers. They did.

Besides Leaks, a physical education major from Brenham, the others were: senior tight end Julius Whittier, a philosophy major from San Antonio and a sort of unofficial leader of the Texas blacks; senior halfback Donald Ealey and senior defensive end Howard Shaw, both physical education majors from Austin; junior halfback Lonnie Bennett, an advertising major from Bonham; and sophomore line backer Fred Perry, an education major from Corpus Christi.

Leaks, Whittier, Ealey and Shaw said they came to Texas because it was close to home. Bennett said he wanted to get a good education and thought about going to Rice, "but, like, I don't like to play on a losing team."

Royal personally went to Leaks' home twice. Once, Leaks forgot Royal was coming, and the coach left without seeing him. "It just slipped my mind — cause I had a hot date that night," Leaks said, flashing a big grin.

All said they came despite what they had heard about Texas from the people back home — not from coaches and players at other schools, who said nothing about racism but simply made the same pitch that is given to white players: Texas has so many good players it is hard to break into the starting lineup.

"The area I'm from, you know, most of the black people thought that, well, they would ask me why I would come to a school like this, a racist school," Bennett said.

"... People around my town, they hated that I came to Texas, you know?" Leaks said. "They felt like I wouldn't get a fair break, or something like that."

Whittier explained that Texas is nearly 100 years old but no black came here until Heman Sweatt won a court fight — "against white people's cherished hopes" — to get into law school in 1950. Sweatt was the test case for the entire state.

"That's a lot of years of, you know, tradition they have," Whittier said. "It's going to hurt them," and they will have to "pay the price" for that tradition in recruiting blacks for football, law school or anything else, he said.

In 1963, Texas officially broke the color barrier in the Southwest Conference by saying athletic scholarships could be offered to blacks. But Texas did not offer them for several years. SMU was the first conference school to give a scholarship to a black when it recruited LeVias in 1965.

What blacks remember about Texas is not 1963 but 1950 and Heman Sweatt.

In the interview, Leaks was the first to say there was prejudice at Texas. The question was what do they tell prospects they are asked to escort around the campus. Halfway through his answer he said:

"I tell them about the coaches. I say, 'Yeah, you know they gonna be prejudiced some, and some different ways, but to me, they're okay, you know?'"

He found prejudice on the coaching staff?

"Yes. It's here... What more can you expect? There's gonna be prejudice wherever you go to school," he said.

Young Girl Faces Anonymous Threats

By LEW SCARR
Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES — The father sat beside the swimming pool watching his teen-age daughter splash and laugh in the Crayola-blue water. From time to time he would raise his martini-with-twist, draw on it idly and think:

Life has been good. No troubles with my children. No troubles with... No, I can't say no trouble anywhere. But no real problems with my kids and that is saying most of it.

LOVELY GIRL

But four days later that lovely girl with braces on her teeth, that 15-year-old with sun-warmed water now glistening on her budding body, would bring the father a problem hot and sudden like a spark snapping off a burning log.

For five weeks the girl had been smoking marijuana. Later she would say a girl at school had talked her into trying it and that the occasion was all "giggly."

Later she and her close friend would go together and buy a "lid," a packet of marijuana the size of a tobacco pouch. Her share would be something more than $3.

She would smoke it when everyone else did, laugh a lot and cough a lot, mostly cough. Five weeks later it would be about half gone.

Beside it in her purse would be some other things that hadn't been there before. There would be some anti-American literature, an outrage in this severely conservative family. And there would be a list her friend had encouraged her to compile, a list of all the things she hated about her parents and from which it was said she could free herself with pot.

PHONE CALLS

Then the phone calls would begin.

"I understand you've had a couple of joints." The voice was male, mature, calm, conversational. "You wouldn't want your parents to know?"

It wasn't so much a question as a suggestion. The girl thought it was a joke. Probably one of her friends put the guy up to it. She laughed nervously. "I'd like to have you model for me. The pay is good." A business proposition.

"How much?" "Oh, you can get $15 for about 40 minutes' work."

"Model in what? A bikini or something?" "Less than that."

The girl hung up. What is less than a bikini? Nude? The man hadn't said that. He had not broken any law.

"LIKE WHAT?"

Two days later he called again, repeated the photo offer, and said that he was an experienced photographer especially with girls and that they would do it on a lonely beach.

"Oh, yeah, and I'd like you to do some other things for me, too," the man said. "Like what?" "Oh, just perform some services."

When he called the third time, he said he wanted to give her a down payment. "$15, just to show you I'm serious."

"But where will I have to go for it?" the girl asked, really frightened now for the first time.

"You won't have to go anywhere. I'll put the money in an envelope and put it between two stones, and I'll leave it in front of your house. I know where you live."

The next day after her summer school class, ironically, a course in health and safety, the girl stopped at the curb in front of her house. There in the grass was an envelope pinned to the ground by two stones. Inside were three worn $5 bills.

He DID know where she lived. Then and there the girl decided to run away from home. She walked along a beach. The tide was out and she took off her shoes and her feet made bruised places which quickly disappeared behind her on the wet, hard sand.

Near a pier a photographer was taking pictures of girls in bikinis. He had a big, "moby" camera. Was it the guy?

The girl didn't look at him but kept right on walking, over the hill, then along the beach again for miles.

Meanwhile, the girl's mother, worried because she hadn't seen her daughter all day, was calling all of the girl's friends really to see if they knew where she was.

He wanted to do anything to show his daughter how dangerously close she had come to serious trouble and that she wasn't completely free of it yet.

That Sunday he even drove her past Juvenile Hall in a desperate kind of way to show her where she could wind up. "The trouble was," he said, "it didn't look bad enough."

But the girl was maddened by the fact that there were so few cars in the parking lot, that even on a Sunday, no one comes to visit.

"WHO ARE YOU?" The next day her father finally called the police. Before two narcotics officers arrived, the photographer had called again. This time the mother answered. "Who are you?" she screamed.

Unexpectedly, the man gave her a name and then an address. The name may or may not have been a phony. The address was.

The officers told the mother and father that their daughter should be driven to and from school and should not go out at night at all. They couldn't offer much hope of catching the caller.

They admitted they are understaffed, like police throughout the United States.

Swiss Hospitality Matches Native Variety For Texans

(Tommy Hart, Herald managing editor is among those on a trip to Switzerland and Italy this week. — Ed.)

GENEVA, Stesse — The glory that was once Rome's may still be there but this international city has a glamour all its own, as 22 West Texans on the Presto European tour discovered here Sunday.

The Texans, who are disappointed when they meet someone not as outgoing and friendly as they, met their match in this city of 800,000.

Low hanging clouds kept the entourage from seeing much of the Alps but many of the group arranged for trips into the countryside or to view the vineyards and the chalets of such personages as Charley Chaplain and Yul Brenner.

After three days here, Presto guide Fred Flynn, who used to make travel arrangements for the New York Giants, was to take the group to Rome before the return trip home.

SHRINKING DOLLAR The dollar doesn't buy as much here as it once did but then does it anywhere anymore? The exchange rate figures at about 26 cents a franc but the change makers take just a trifle more. No water is served, and you drink either wine or coffee with your meals. A five-course dinner at one of the better restaurants runs you anywhere from 12 to 15 francs. The Swiss automatically figure in 15 per cent extra for the service charge but you are encouraged to leave a little silver on the table, in addition.

The Swiss make much more use of coins than do Americans, and you are inclined to walk around with two and five-franc coins in your pockets.

Four of the Big Spring people cut out for Ammercy, in France, shortly after arrival here, hoping to visit one of the casinos there. They lost $20 to a sneak thief there and were treated rather rudely by a waiter who seemed offended that they did not know French.

BRISK BUSINESS This city is world-famous for its watches and its music boxes and both sold well when the Texas delegation hit town. The craftsmanship of both items is excellent.

The unique railway system fascinated many. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ragsdale and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Cofer were among those who arranged all-day trips to Zurich the second day of the stop here, rather than take a tour of the city.

P. D. Ausmous, who like Ragsdale works for the T&P Railway, planned to leave the tour temporarily Tuesday to fly to both Berlin and Paris.

Of the 44 who made the trip here, half are Big Springers or subscribed to the travel plan arranged by the First National Bank and The Herald. Others live in Marshall, Ennis, Dallas, McKinney, Denton and other points in East and Central Texas.

It must be raining all over the world. Rain clouds closed in on the Braniff plane carrying the group to New York shortly after it left Dallas and the Texans haven't seen the sun again. That was especially distressful to a Texan who wanted to see Mont Blanc from one of the higher elevations in Geneva.

QUAINT HOTEL Geneva boasts quaint hotels with small lobbies. They also issue you room keys too big to carry around. That is done, one assumes, because the management wants to lock the front door at night and desires to make sure that every one of his clientele is tucked in.

One sees nothing but tiny cars on the Geneva streets. Some of the bigger American motor cars couldn't even get up and down some of the more narrow streets. The drivers? Some drive as if they are possessed, as if they are fearful they're going to be run over by the fellow behind him.

The ill-starred League of Nations burst into full bloom here. For that reason, the late

U.S. president, Woodrow Wilson, is one of the best known and most respected of all American chief executives.

If the abundance of coins is difficult to get used to, it is a joy to deal with paper money. Different bills come in different sizes, a system the Americans might well consider.

ATTENTION GETTER A nightclub stop in downtown Geneva was one of the highlights of the tour. The show was well over two hours in length. If the spectators grew restless with the all-girl band from Korea that opened the show, they were soon aroused from their lethargy by the topless dancers that followed. I am told they also had a ventriloquist.

The trip into the "old town" is a must for anyone. The winding, narrow streets are a throwback to the Geneva of 400 and 500 years ago. Its masonry, its architecture and its durability impress all who see it.

Our Swissair, 747, built by Boeing, and which flew us from New York to Geneva, resembles an ocean liner more than it does an airplane. Its crew served gourmet meals by time zone, popping up with breakfast almost before the dishes had been cleared from the evening meal. Getting there is more than half the fun.

'Ure A. Pigg Is Who I Am'

WARRENTON, Ore. (AP) — In public school, most of his time was occupied defending his good name — with his fists.

"My nose used to take on a new shape every week." In the Marine Corps, same thing.

"There were some good fights... very lively affairs." Today, patrons of his seafood restaurant in this Oregon coastal town still find it difficult to stop a giggle when addressing him.

But it doesn't bother him anymore. And through it all he's never considered changing his name.

"Ure A. Pigg is who I am. If I started all over again I would still want to be me — Ure A. Pigg."

Final arguments were scheduled to be presented today in the bribery trial of former Maryland Sen. Daniel B. Brewster.

Brewster, who served one term in the Senate from 1962-1968, is accused of accepting $14,500 from mail-order house lobbyist Cyrus T. Anderson for a favorable vote on legislation to raise the price of third class mail.

First Lady Says Gift 'Great Fun'

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon says the hydrofoil boat that was a gift to the President from Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev is exciting and "great fun."

Mrs. Nixon disclosed Wednesday that the family made a secret trip last weekend in Florida's Biscayne Bay to try out the 28-foot boat that skims over the water at a speed of about 30 knots, or 34 miles per hour.

President Nixon, their daughters, Julie and Tricia, son-in-law Edward Cox and family friend C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo were aboard.

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren described the trip as "a very short voyage" lasting about 15 or 20 minutes.

BLOODY HISTORY PACKS 'EM IN

Witch Museum Makes Salem Famous (?) Again

By PETER J. HORTON
Copy News Service

SALEM, Mass. — The American tourist is drawn by history and apparently the more bizarre it is the better he likes it.

That must be the reason for the attention the traveling public is giving the Salem Witch Museum, where a realistic view is presented of the black days in U.S. Colonial history — in 1692 — when 20 men and women were put to death in hysterical witch hunts.

WILDEST DREAMS

Opened in May, the museum is drawing over 2,000 persons a day, according to R. Thomas Mulvihill, owner and curator. "Our attendance goes beyond our wildest dreams," Mulvihill said in an interview. "They've come from all 50 states and from several foreign countries, particularly Japan."

Why this interest in a disgraceful period of U.S. history?

"I guess it's because of our concept of audiovisual presentation," Mulvihill said. The museum is claimed to be 100 per cent accurate historically. But the manner of presentation also is unique. Through the use of computerized sight and sound, the visitor sees and hears a 22-minute program of late 17th Century realism. There are 13 three-dimensional life-size scenes, with accompanying taped narrative, tracing witchcraft from early 1692 through infamous trials, torture and executions.

FEAR RULED LIVES

The people of Salem in 1692 were convinced of witches and fear ruled their lives. They lived in dread of Indians, of smallpox, the devil and the government of England. According to beliefs of the day, little girls were first lured into evil by women — and sometimes men — who sought to contact the dead by forbidden means.

Ironically, it was a black woman servant, Tituba, who first aroused the wrath of "pure" people of Salem.

She showed little girls tricks brought by her ancestors from Africa, and even a medical doctor testified some of the girls had been bewitched. Other innocent people were named by the girls — at random and at will.

Juries gave in to screaming children. The trials were farcical and the atmosphere was one of lunacy. Nineteen eventually were hanged and one, Giles Cory, died a more horrible death. He died of "pressing," the punishment of trying to force a confession by piling heavy stones on his chest until he confessed — or was crushed to death. He was crushed to death.

GRANTED MERCY

Old Tituba eventually went free — granted mercy because she confessed in fear of her insane masters, whose demerits brought over 250 people to trail, 19 such trials ending with the words, "Hangman, you may proceed."

Before the trials finally ended one of the girl accusers confessed that what she had done was done "for sport."

And, in 1706 on the anniversary of a fast which Massachusetts had declared in repentance for the witch trials, another girl, famous Ann Putnam, tried to atone for her false accusations by begging for forgiveness in church.

Even as bad as the Salem excursion into horror was, it was brief, it never returned and it never reached the hysteria and toll that the same type of experience wreaked in Europe for many years.

LURE TO CURIOUS

It is all depicted here, however, and in Mulvihill's words, it draws "people of all ages, from plumbers to graduate students — some for amusement, some for historical study." So successful is the museum that Mulvihill, with his wife Holly, is planning another such enterprise — "something on whaling and Moby Dick for New Bedford and perhaps another one in Gloucester (both famous old Massachusetts fishing ports)."

Such is the lure to a curious public of even the most unsavory aspect of American history.

COLONIAL JUSTICE — Rev. George Burroughs is hanged in Salem, Mass., in 1692 as part of the infamous witch trials of those days. Two other men and a woman, hands tied behind them, await the noose at the right. This is one of several three-dimensional life-size scenes at the newly-opened Salem Witch Museum.

'IF YOU MOVE I'LL BLOW YOUR BRAINS OUT'
Crime In The Classroom

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Benny Boswell's third graders were jotting down their homework assignment when the slender young man entered the classroom. He walked slowly toward the teacher. One hand held a plastic bookbag; the other was jammed in his jacket pocket.

TERROR

Mrs. Boswell looked up, expecting an inquiry. There was none. "Please check in at the principal's office," she told the youth politely. His reply was calm but curt:

"There are a lot of children in your class. Walk behind your desk and sit down. If you move I'll blow your brains out."

Quickly, the man, who was about 20, dumped the books from the plastic bag, replaced them with the teacher's purse and fled.

It was over in moments and the terrified Mrs. Boswell of Public School 161 in Harlem had become one of 15 teachers robbed during a two-week period in New York City schools last month. Most of the incidents happened in full view of school children; the takes ranged from $1 cash to $3,000 in jewelry.

The sudden upsurge of robberies against teachers — two were reported in September — has provoked cries of outrage from city officials, teachers and parents alike and demands for intensified security in the schools.

KNOCK HEADS

"We were positively terrified," said a 27-year-old woman teacher, recalling how she and a colleague were robbed while they lunched in a classroom at another Manhattan school. "If there were a policeman around the school building all the time we would feel a lot better."

The teachers are plainly angry and calling for strong action. During a meeting at Richmond Hill High School in Queens where a teacher fought off two teenage robbers one teacher drew cheers with a declaration it was time to "knock heads, make arrests, get rid of the garbage."

They have been joined by their union, the United Federation of Teachers.

While high schools and junior highs now have a 400-man security force, the system's 650 primary schools generally have relied on makeshift security arrangements, with teachers, school aides and parent volunteers — nearly all women — assigned to check in visitors, supervise lunchrooms and patrol entrances.

SILENT ALARM

In response, the school system has accelerated steps to hire and train 1,200 unarmed security aides, at a cost of $6 million, for assignment mainly to elementary schools.

School authorities also are seriously considering the use of color-coded photo identification cards to help weed out intruders, as well as the issuing to teachers of pocket-size silent alarm devices initially developed for an experimental electronic security system at a Sacramento, Calif., high school.

DRUGS, GANGS

The New York City school system has long been plagued by such incidents as corridor shakedowns, gang fights, rape and knifings. And it is not the only major American city facing the problem. But because of its size — 1.2 million pupils — its problems are perhaps more glaring.

Board of Education files show that the total of "untoward incidents," as school officials prefer to call them, increased from 333 during the 1970 calendar year to 580 in 1971. Through September of this year, there were 642 reported incidents.

Factors contributing to the apparent rise in school crime, school officials say, include widespread drug trafficking, a resurgence of youth gangs, proliferation of weapons — particularly handguns — among students, and lack of enough alternate facilities to handle unmotivated, uncooperative, potentially disruptive pupils.

Also aggravating the situation is a truancy rate of about 60,000 students a day, with many incidents blamed on truants barging into other schools to victimize younger pupils.

ROBBERY

Officials in several other large cities indicated serious concern over school security, but said teachers had not been faced with classroom holdups comparable to the series in New York last month.

In Philadelphia, Frank Sullivan, the teachers union president, said: "There have been instances of people coming in from the outside and either threatening or harming a teacher. But I don't recall robbery as a motive."

"We don't have anything like the New York situation and I certainly hope it doesn't spread," he said.

In Los Angeles, the Board of Education, reacting to a rash of incidents this year involving weapons, recently passed a resolution authorizing administrators to suspend and even expel students found carrying deadly weapons in or around schools. The upsurge of incidents, according to a board spokesman, appeared to stem from increased friction among large gangs.

Reporter Reid Named Huntsville Item Publisher

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Longtime Texas electric chair reporter Don Reid Jr., whose experiences and long service has earned him world-wide recognition, has been named publisher of the tri-weekly Huntsville Item.

Reid's appointment was announced Wednesday by Charles A. Walheim, executive vice president for operations of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., the chain which owns the Item.

Walheim said Reid's promotion was in recognition of 35 years service to the Item and his "significant contribution to the Huntsville community."

Reid replaces Cliff Brown, who was transferred to the Corsicana Daily Sun, another Harte-Hanks affiliate, where he becomes advertising director.

Reid is a veteran Houston Post and Associated Press correspondent and since 1938 has witnessed 189 executions by the State Department of Corrections.

Amarillo Slim, Poker Champ, To Test River Of No Return

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Cool Amarillo Slim, acknowledged world's champion poker player in most places, has accepted another challenge — shooting the rapids of the River of No Return.

$31,000 BET
The big wintertime challenge of the rapids comes Friday just outside Boise, Idaho, on a bet of $31,000.

Calm, cool Slim admits that's a lot of cold cash. Slim, who is in private life just plain T. A. Preston, was offered the challenge by a group of fellow gamblers "who got together and raised the money and bet me that I couldn't go down the rapids in wintertime."

With hundreds of poker pots totaling in the thousands of dollars already behind him, Slim took the bet and began preparations that Friday, weather permitting, will launch him on the 85-mile plunge down the waterway, officially known as the Salmon River, about 150 miles from Boise.

It's a death-defying stunt. Preston knows it, and his family knows it. But it was his gambling instinct that made him world champion at cards, and it was that same instinct that made him want to try the river.

NEVER COLLECT
Among his preparations was his purchase of a Jacques Cousteau wet suit and a "sizable life insurance policy at a sizable premium."

"But I'll never collect," Preston says. Preston tested his wet suit in his swimming pool this week when the temperature was 24 degrees.

"It kept me warm as toast," he said. "And dry." He explained that he had to punch a tiny hole in each foot of the suit to let in enough air so that he could get it on. After he dons the rubber attire, he patches up the holes to keep water out.

Preston will make the trip in a rubber raft that is reinforced on both bow and bottom as a precaution against ice and swift water.

BIG BROWN BEAR
Riverman Jerry Chapman of Boise will ride a raft with Preston, and another raft, designed to inflate in seconds, will be in reach of both men.

Behind them in another raft will be an Amarillo camera crew filming the trip.

"I flew in a photographer from Sweden to film the trip," said Preston. "but he took one look at that river and backed out." Preston estimated the trip would take five days, weather permitting. "Comes a blinding snowstorm along the way and we'll stay on the bank," he said.

At night, the party will bank and sleep in tents, bedding in goose-down sleeping bags designed for sub-zero temperatures.

"I'll find me a big brown bear to smuggle up to," Preston said when asked what he would do if he gets cold.

AN ORPHAN AT EIGHT MONTHS — A life in which she never will know her parents faces Heidi Willett, above, eight months old. The body of her mother, Lauren Willett, 19, was found buried in the basement of a house in Stockton, Calif. Her father, James T. Willett, 26, was found decapitated and buried 100 miles away. Five persons, some of them followers of Charles Manson, have been charged with murder in the case.

Heath To Push New Round Of Peace Talks In Belfast

BELFAST (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath flew to Northern Ireland today to try to promote a new round of peace talks.

Heath's two days of meetings with politicians, churchmen, labor and business leaders open the final phase of preparations for a new government structure for the province to replace direct rule from London.

Details of Heath's exact movements were kept secret as a security precaution. Stormont Castle, the site for most of his talks, was sealed off by security forces.

Soldiers with rifles at the ready patrolled the city in jeeps and on foot. They manned barricades at dozens of downtown checkpoints, routinely frisking pedestrians.

Heath was meeting today with labor, industrial and religious leaders, including William Cardinal Conway, the Roman Catholic archbishop of all Ireland. On Friday, he consults with delegations from the province's political parties.

However, the Prime Minister was not expected to meet with guerrilla leaders of the Catholic Irish Republican Army or with William Craig, the Protestant leader who threatens armed action against any sellout to the Catholic minority.

The consultations Heath begins are to be continued by William Whitelaw, Britain's chief administrator of Northern Ireland.

Government sources said a major purpose of Heath's trip is to try to shift the momentum from the violence in the streets toward a political settlement.

The British government issued a Green Paper three weeks ago as a basis for discussions on the province's political future. All parties have now studied it fully, and Heath's talks are designed to begin narrowing differences in preparation for a government proposal of settlement terms.

Heath in March suspended the Protestant-dominated Parliament that had ruled the province for 50 years but promised to try to restore some form of local government within 12 months.

The deadline is now only four months away. Political sources agree that the British will attempt to broaden the representation of the Roman Catholic minority of 500,000. The province has one million Protestants.

Problem Of Deficit Spending

In spite of administration efforts to economize, federal spending still runs in the red. The federal deficit for the 1972 fiscal year ending in June was $23.227 billion, slightly higher than the $23.022 billion of the previous year.

Some might argue the spending was needed; that the good done outweighed the fact the government went into the hole. But someone is going to have to make up the deficit, and it's going to be the taxpayer.

During the past session of Congress, President Nixon requested and was refused the authority to limit federal spending by withholding certain funds from authorized projects. He sought this authority on the grounds that government spending must be limited in order to avoid higher taxes. Congress didn't think the President should have this "line veto" authority and rightly refused it.

But, in refusing the President, Congress has taken upon itself not only to make the budget, but find a way to pay for it. Congress can either strictly limit spending or increase taxes and the latter obviously won't set too well with the American public.

The President says he wants his administration officers to be efficiency- and economy-minded and he's demanding responsiveness to his wishes.

During his first four years in the White House, the President has attempted to curb inflation and bring some sort of sanity to our economic situation. However, the President can do little without the cooperation of Congress and the Bureaus. While it is the duty of Congress to appropriate and secure funds, it should do so in the most economic manner.

Hopefully this Democratic-controlled Congress can work with President Nixon in trimming the fat off federal spending and avoid what seems to be an inevitable tax increase and further inflation.

Environmentalist Win

Coloradoans said "no" to the 1976 Winter Olympics and with good reason.

Voters rejected by a 2-1 margin a $5 million bond issue to help fund the Games. There was a message in the vote for those who pooh-pooh the importance of the environment in the average voter's mind. (This also may have saved U.S. taxpayers a $20 million subsidy.)

Reasons behind Colorado's rejection of the Olympics were many. A prime one was the threat of exploitation by promoters, the assault on timber land to build the Olympic sites, more unwanted and unplanned growth, a tax increase and the over-all costs of the Games.

Colorado was not the only state voting for the environment Tuesday, New Yorkers approved, by a 2-1 margin, a $1.15 billion bond issue for cleaner air and water. Florida voters endorsed a plan for the state to borrow $240 million to buy environmentally endangered land and outdoor recreation lands. In North Carolina, a constitutional amendment making environmental protection "a proper function of the state" was voted. Californians approved stronger coastline protection.

"Ain't News"

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

It looks as though the weather is just going to keep being typical. And typical weather in West Texas means crazy, man, crazy.

Last Sunday it rained mud balls awhile with the sun shining and the wind blowing 50 miles per hour.

WHEN'S THE last time you were caught out in a real storm? I've managed to get into quite a few ones way or another. But I'm really talking about weather storms only.

When I was seven years old, I slept through the 1933 hurricane in the Rio Grande Valley . . . the one that recorded the most deaths in the history of hurricanes in that area.

WHEN I woke up the next morning, my bed had been pulled away from the window, the rugs had been rolled up, the piano propped up and the furniture stacked. There were three inches of water in the house where the rain flowed in and around closed windows. My father, mother and brother were worn out from working all night long — and I cried because I'd missed the excitement.

AFTER I moved out to West Texas in 1950, I began to discover that rains out here can be a storm in themselves. One old West Texas rancher says "The Good Lord saves about a bucket full of rain to spread over West Texas every year and sometimes He forgets to send it, and then gives us the whole bucket full at once."

NOW I'VE BEEN out in a few of those bucket full rains. One summer we started on a family vacation. The kids were piled in the back seat, the husband was driving, and I thought I was going to take a nap. Then we got caught in a driving rain between Fort Stockton and Sheffield.

The windshield wipers quit. I got to be the windshield wiper. We couldn't pull off on the narrow shoulders of the highway and stop and we didn't dare stop on the highway, so we drove slowly, and I rode with my head out the window in the driving lane.

THE CONVERSATION went something like this, "Glub, the road is curving to the right, that's the way . . . no, a little back to the center, blub . . . that's the way, now back to the left . . ." And on and on it went for nearly an hour. I ended up with a crick in my neck, a very wet head and a brand new cold to start the vacation.

I remember one night I was driving in from Seminole to Andrews and got into the most horrible rain and wind I've ever seen. I set my course right in the middle stripe on the fourlane highway and carefully followed the stripe into town, hoping for the best, while the storm raged.

WHEN I got to the house, I found I had driven in right under a tornado which had ripped up telephone poles on the highway just north of town during the time period I drove down the highway.

And there's the time that I tried to drive from Pecos to Saragosa to take pictures of a midnight tornado. When I got about five miles from Saragosa, the water in the highway was so high that it began to leak into the car at the floorboards. A highway patrolman stopped me, and told me to turn around. I told him I wanted pictures. Then he got upset, and said, "Turn that car around here at this intersection while you still can, or I'm going to turn it around for you. Crazy weather ain't news in West Texas anyway." And he may be right.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Recently, something you said brings up a question. You said we are to pray for our enemies, even as our Lord did on the cross "Forgive them, for they know not what they do." My question is: why don't people who do wrong know what they do? You and I know; then why don't they know? How is it they have the privilege of committing the wrong and we pay for it? T.U.A.

There are just about as many points of view as there are people in the world. It is probable that some of the people who took part in Christ's crucifixion thought they were doing right. The high priests thought they were preserving the "established" religion, and that Jesus was a blasphemer. The Romans thought that he was a disturber of the peace. So it was that Jesus, who understand the motives of all men, said, "Forgive them, for they know not what they do."

There's a touch of the Pharisaical in your question — that attitude which says — thank God I'm not as others. I don't think any of us always understand what we do.

God, of course, who knows the thoughts of all, has understanding which we do not possess. Happily, however, when He abides in our hearts by faith, He gives us the capacity to understand people. In Luke 24:25, it says of Jesus, "Then opened he their understanding." The need of the world is understanding! If we could see others as they really are, instead of what they appear to be, coexistence would be easy. Furthermore, to understand is to forgive. That is why God can forgive us so freely. "He knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust." (Psalm 103:14.)

Trade Zone In KC

John Cunniff

By CHET CURRIER (Substituting for John Cunniff)

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A group of Kansas City leaders hopes soon to bring a larger foreign trade business to the midst of inland America.

The key to their plan is an old but comparatively unpublicized concept — a foreign trade zone.

There are critics who contend the idea offers little that can't be accomplished through other means such as bonded warehouses. But its supporters here, some of whom have already staked a good bit of money on the plan, tout it as a potentially powerful tool for stimulating economic growth.

"It's a complicated concept which many people don't understand," says Marshall Miller, secretary and general counsel for Greater Kansas City Foreign Trade Zone Inc., a nonprofit corporation which is seeking government authorization to begin a zone here by Jan. 1.

"In my travels I don't think I've run into more than half a dozen companies that knew anything about it. But the savings for companies can be enormous."

In simplest terms, a foreign trade zone is a U.S. Customs no man's land — an area where items of foreign origin, whether raw materials, parts or finished goods, can be stored, displayed or processed duty-free under customs supervision. The duty is not paid until an item is brought out of the zone for delivery or sale.

Miller says this offers several advantages to the firms involved, including: —Freeing money previously tied up unproductively in duty paid on merchandise that is not ready for sale. For one company that would take part in the Kansas City zone, Miller notes, that amounts to a daily average of $100,000.

—Providing for ready availability of imported goods for distribution and display.

—Allowing the importer, in the case of goods containing both foreign and U.S.-made parts, to pick the lower of two duties, either on the finished product or on only those parts of it which originated outside the country.

Meanwhile, the zone brings obvious economic benefits to the area in which it is situated, Miller says.

Some 200 foreign trade zones already are operating around the world. The United States has several, in port cities such as New York, San Francisco, Seattle, New Orleans and Toledo, and in Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Miller says the big difference is that the zone here — unlike any of the others in the nation — would be funded and operated privately rather than through local government.

Under cities' port authorities, he says, "foreign trade zones have never been fully developed."

Why Kansas City? For one thing Miller points to highly developed transportation facilities — despite the absence of an ocean — which will be increased in a few months with the opening of an international airport.

Cancel Elections

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The television network executives met in the 40th floor conference room three days after the election. The ratings on the election night coverage had just come in and everyone looked very grim.

"WELL, GENTLEMEN," said the network president, "what do you have to say for yourselves?"

No one wanted to speak. Finally one of the vice presidents said, "I told you we should have gone with Medical Center instead."

Another vice president said, "I wanted to show Truth or Consequences, but you shouted me down."

THE NETWORK president said, "The sponsor is very disappointed in us, gentlemen, very disappointed. We sold him on the idea that our election night coverage would sell more Blitzkrieg Dog Food than any program we had to offer this year. Not one can of Blitzkrieg has moved off the shelves since Tuesday night."

"WHAT DO we do?" a programming executive asked.

"We can't do anything about it this year," the president said, "but, I propose we cancel the presidential elections!"

"Cancel the presidential elections?" a vice president gasped.

"Yes," said the network president. "Not only the elections but the primaries and the conventions and the campaigns."

"BUT, CHIEF," the programming head said, "we can't cancel the presidential elections just like that. They're an American tradition — like The Bell Telephone Hour."

"Let's not get sentimental about this, Stingsblatt," the president said. "Our job is to please the public. There isn't a football game in the nation that wouldn't outrate the Tuesday night election results."

"Begging your pardon, sir," said the vice president in charge of news, "but even if the numbers aren't high, we should consider the presidential election now as a public service. I think it would be a mistake to cancel it because of its low rating."

"Tell that to the Blitzkrieg Dog Food Company," the network president said testily.

"WAIT A minute," the programming chief said. "Maybe we could work out a compromise. Why don't we put the presidential elections on Sunday morning from 8 until 12 o'clock before the golf tournament?"

One of the vice presidents said, "That could work, but before we make a decision, my department has done a survey of why the people turned off on election night."

"The main complaint was the casting. The majority of people interviewed believed that neither Richard Nixon nor George McGovern really looked like a presidential candidate. Now that was our mistake. We had no control over the matter."

"THAT'S NOT bad," the programming chief agreed. "We have four years to find two candidates whom the public will watch on election night. What do you think, boss?"

"It's not my decision," the network president said. "I'll have to take it up with the people at the Blitzkrieg Dog Food Company."

Find Treasure

BARRY, Wales (AP) — Divers taking part in a competition came across an unexpected prize off the Glamorganshire coast — a thief's treasure. Family heirlooms, antique silver and jewelry worth more than 5,000 pounds were recovered from the seabed. Police later traced the owner who had been robbed three weeks before.

What You Don't Want

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas is memorable because of what you don't get as well as what you do.

I'd like my Christmas made more memorable this year that way — by what I don't get.

It isn't that I lack the yuletide spirit. I love to get a present I can use — such as a pair of warm gloves, size 10, a conservative shirt with a regular collar, size 16 1/2-33, or a half dozen linen handkerchiefs, large size.

But it is a problem for me to get things I can't use — such as a pen stand with a broken imitation marble base, an inflatable two-man plastic submarine, or a copy of the Venus de Milo done in anthracite coal.

For one thing, they are usually too big to throw down the apartment house incinerator. For another thing, you can't give them away easily. If you get a gift that isn't useful to you, the odds are that it won't be useful to anyone else you know.

In the old days you could palm off these gifts on the janitor, and he would feign a look of gratitude. But not today. Most apartment house superintendents, as they are now called, aren't so easily gulled into hauling such debris away. Many refuse to accept a

Security Chief Placed In Cell

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP) — Police arrested Tuesday the security chief of an automobile plant here and his assistant for allegedly demanding $1.2 million to not dynamite the factory.

A police spokesman said Antonio de la Rosa and his assistant, Abelardo Rodriguez, started threatening the company two months ago. They were caught, the spokesman added, when police identified them from their final note.

The Volkswagen auto assembly plant employs 5,000 workers and produces 40,000 cars yearly.

present of any kind from a tenant unless it is wrapped with a $10 bill, and that's a pretty stiff price to pay just to dispose of something someone has foisted on you in the name of seasonal good will. One wonders why so many people go to so much trouble to buy things for other people that no one on earth could possibly find joy, use or gratitude in. Could Christmas be schizophrenic? Are people unconsciously trying to punish rather than reward each other?

So, whoever you are, if you've decided to send me something for Christmas, don't make it a portrait of Adolf Hitler in needlepoint, an album of nude Santa Claus sketches or a framed crayon drawing made by your grandchild, the one who is flunking in kindergarten.

And even if you've decided to be big about it and send me a new sports car, be sure it has whitewall tires or you'll get it back by return freight.

Call me churlish if you will, but I don't want to get any more things I don't want.

Army Pvt. Troy W. Clary, 19, Lamesa, recently took part in the commemoration ceremonies honoring the 82D anniversary of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's birth, at the Eisenhower center, Abilene, Kan.

He is a member of the Ft. Riley, Kan., honor guard that took part in the ceremonies. He is the son of Mrs. Alice J. Monelamp, 502 South, Lamesa, and is a rifleman with Company B, 1st Battalion, 2D Infantry of the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley. His father, Lester L. Clary, lives at 1630 Alta Vista, Mesquite.

Army Pvt. Darrell W. Taylor, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Taylor, of Gall, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Infantry, Ft. Polk, La. He is a 1970 graduate of Borden County High School.

Army Sgt. I.C. Billy E. McRae, son of Mrs. Lola L. O'Neil, Clyde, recently was assigned to the 3d Armored Division at Frankfurt, Germany.

Sgt. McRae is first sergeant with Headquarters Detachment of the division's 143d Signal Battalion at Frankfurt. He entered the Army in 1953 and was last stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif. His father, William A. McRae, lives at 311 N. Scurry St., Big Spring.

Army Capt. Robert B. Allensworth, 24, son of Dr. and Mrs. William B. Allensworth, 406 Mountain Park Drive, Big Spring, recently was presented the Bronze Star Medal at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Capt. Allensworth earned the award during his last assignment with the U.S. Army support element in Vietnam.

Capt. Allensworth, public safety officer with the 42nd Civil Affairs Company at Ft. Bragg, entered the Army in 1969. He was graduated from Mineral Wells High School in 1965 and received a BA degree from the University of Texas, Austin, in 1969.

U.S. Turning Over 'Copters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the United States has turned over more than 600 planes and helicopters to the South Vietnamese Air Force in its effort to build up the force before a cease-fire.

These sources report the rush buildup of South Vietnam's military equipment, principally for its air force, is just about complete.

That speedup was set in motion late last month, shortly after it was disclosed by both North Vietnam and the United States that a tentative cease-fire agreement would, among other things, bar introduction of military gear on either side except as replacements.

The North Vietnamese also were reported gearing up an effort to push more equipment and materiel to the Communist forces in South Vietnam before a cease-fire.

Pentagon officials said the more than 600 additions bring the South Vietnamese air force to nearly 1,850 aircraft and helicopters.

This is short of Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's goal, which had contemplated a force of about 2,100 by the end of next year, if the war continued without a cease-fire.

But the South Vietnamese air force still will be one of the biggest in the world.

The more than 600 planes and helicopters flown into South Vietnam from the United States and allied countries were transferred from U.S. stocks in Southeast Asia and are estimated to be worth more than $300 million.

In addition, millions of dollars worth of ground-force equipment has been flown to South Vietnam and nearly 30 tanks have been shipped by sea from repair depots in Japan. Most details on ground-force materiel furnished to the South Vietnamese during the rush effort were not disclosed.

It Was Whale Of An Eggnog

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — It was a whale of an eggnog in anybody's book.

But just for the record, the main ingredients for the mighty drink fed to Haida, a captive killer whale, were one gallon of whipping cream, five dozen eggs and 36 bottles of stout.

Laced with lactate solution and vitamins, the eggnog treatment was part of a program to shake the killer whale out of the lethargy he's been in ever since his mate, an albino called Chimo, died Nov. 2 from an infection.

Since Chimo's death, Haida has refused to eat and has lolled listlessly alongside the pool's edges. Following the tube feeding of seven gallons of eggnog the whale appeared to rally somewhat.

Officials also were trying to soothe Haida with music.

That's The Truth

QUITMAN, Ga. (AP) — Why doesn't a chicken cross the road here?

Because it's against the law, that's why.

The 1928 ordinance reads: "It shall be unlawful for any persons owning or controlling chickens in the city to allow such chickens to run at large upon the streets or alleys of the city, or to be upon the premises of any other person, without first obtaining consent of such person."

SCATTER BONES Ghost Towns Fade Piece By Piece

BODIE, Calif. (AP) — Ask a ranger where to find one of California's ghost towns these days, and he's likely to look you over pretty closely. He may look you over when you come back, too.

Or he might just refuse to tell you at all.

The problem is: California's ghost towns are disappearing piece by piece into the backs of campers, four-wheel drive vehicles and even helicopters.

"Up in Boulder Flat, someone hooked a four-wheel drive vehicle onto the porch of one of the log cabins and jerked it away from the building," said Lane Symmonds, historian of Mono County, in east-central California.

VANDALISM
"It used to be that people hiked or drove into these places to take a few pictures and to poke around a bit. Most of them still probably do. But every year we see more and more vandalism," he said in an interview.

One reason is the soaring market value for antiques such as bottles, kerosene lamps and miner's tools.

Symmonds said he once caught thieves dismantling a gold mill that had been donated to the Mono County Museum.

Burglars took $2,000 worth of artifacts from a miner's museum, "the small items like whiskey bottles, mustache cups and an opium scale, that have a high value and are easily sold," said Clyde Newlin, a district supervisor of the California Division of Beaches and Parks.

DISMANTLE IT
The Claraville Cemetery in the Piute Mountains was torn up, said Richard Bailey, Kern County historian. "They left the bones scattered all over the countryside."

Officials said one team of pot hunters, as they are called, hired a helicopter to get into the rugged canyons of the Inyo Mountains. They practically dismantled one entire town.

Even the curiosity seeker who considers himself innocent may be breaking the law, officials say. He picks up an old bottle or a wheel that appears to belong to no one, and this is theft. If the land is public, it is protected by the 1906 Antiquities Act. If it is private, state theft laws prevail.

Rockey Rockwell, a ranger at Inyo National Forest, won't even tell newsmen where the ghost towns are.

"I'd like to, but I just can't," he said. "The pot hunters might find the place if you write about it, and then they'd dismantle it, piece by piece by piece."

BACKSTAGE AT AN AIRLINE

A Million-Dollar Beauty Treatment

By JACKIE PETERSON
Copy News Service

Have you ever had the urge to go backstage and see how a play is put together? A few days ago, I went backstage at an airline.

And to me, the view was just as intriguing as it might have been if I had stepped through a stage door.

It happened at San Francisco International Airport, within the maintenance operations base of United Air Lines — a base so huge that a guide has to be called to escort the visitor from the reception area to the office where he has his appointment.

NO-NONSENSE

In this case, several dozen travel and aviation writers from all over the country had gathered to take a most unusual tour of the facilities.

As with the wings of a theater, this is the no-nonsense end of the airline business.

Typists and stenographers you would expect, but — seamstresses? Upholsterers? Carpet-cutters?

When you think about it, it figures. The planes brought in for routine maintenance are bound to need occasional refurbishing in the passenger compartments, as well as servicing on the mechanical end.

This, however, is a particularly frenzied moment for the backstage personnel at United, for the airline has begun a major redecorating project for 158 of its jet aircraft.

STRANGE ITEM

The sewing machines are humming across bright new upholstery fabrics, the carpet-cutting machine is slicing off under-seat chunks of rug like so much bologna from a delicatessen.

And a man who presides over a strange-looking piece of equipment explained to us visitors that he was testing seat cushions for stress.

He would take an unadorned foam rubber cushion from a stack, place it under 35 pounds of pressure, and wait to see if a light came on. If it did, the cushion — stripped from a jet in for servicing — was pegged as too worn to go on; a new one was designated to replace it.

Most of us were fascinated by this cushion stress-tester. For when all is said and done about food, service and entertainment, aren't the seats the most important facet of the airplane's interior to most air passengers?

MEN AT WORK

The tour continued to an area where a man was laminating brightly patterned new fabrics to the frames that go around airplane windows. In airline parlance, the frames are called "reveals," we learned.

We also stopped to watch a large group of men at work tables who were busily converting hat racks into latch-locked overhead stowage bins for the redecorated air fleet.

Then we were led to a succession of huge hangars where planes were being repainted and decorated inside and out. They took us aboard one DC8 that was just a shell, its interior stripped down to the insulation.

Then we toured through a second, identical plane that had been fitted with new wall panels and stowage bins but still lacked such amenities as seats.

BRIGHT STRIPES

The third airplane we boarded was completely remodeled with bright stripes and cheerful mod prints from underfoot to overhead. We all plopped into newly upholstered seats to try out the cushions.

It takes 10 days to face-lift an airplane, according to Mechlin D. Moore, senior vice president of United, and by the time 40 DC8s and 118 727s have been beautified, it will cost $12 million.

All that the average passenger will see of this is what's up front — new hot pink and burnt orange decor, appetizing new food service and, soon, stewardesses in chic new mix-and-match uniforms.

And that's all the executives of the airline consider necessary.

MORE FLAIR

"We conducted a marketing survey two years ago," explained Ralph Glasson, general

Cold Front Moves East

By The Associated Press

A weak cold front moved eastward through West Texas today without exerting much effect on the state's weather.

Except for clouds over East Texas and southward along the coast into South Texas, skies were generally clear and it was dry in all sections.

Near dawn the forward edge was of the cooler air mass lay along a line through the Texas Panhandle and the Big Bend country of far West Texas.

It was frosty in places as temperatures again dipped to freezing or below in areas closest to the new frontal system, which moved into the state late Wednesday.

Readings near dawn sagged to 27 degrees at Amarillo, 29 at Dalhart and 30 at Lubbock and Wichita Falls. Other points had marks in the higher 30s to 50s except for Brownsville on the south tip of Texas, where it still was 62.

Four Killed, Four Hurt, Four Missing

SAIGON (AP) — Four Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, one died of nonhostile causes, four were wounded and four were missing, the U.S. Command reported today.

Another five American dead and 22 injured were added to the combat casualty rolls after being classified for two weeks as casualties due to nonhostile action. They were killed or injured on Oct. 24 when a plane crashed as it was landing on the carrier Midway, and the Pentagon changed them to combat casualties because the plane was returning from a mission over North Vietnam.

The South Vietnamese command reported the lowest weekly government casualties in five weeks and the smallest claim of enemy killed since before the start of the North Vietnamese offensive March 30.

The Vietnamese command said 481 of its troops were killed, 1,662 were wounded and 59 were missing. It claimed 1,544 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American — 45,913 killed in action, 303,822 wounded in action, 10,285 dead from nonhostile causes, 1,703 missing or captured.

South Vietnamese — 159,500 killed in action, 423,382 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong — 607,983 killed.

Pitch Firebombs Through Window, Child Is Injured

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A "Molotov cocktail-type firebomb" was pitched through a bedroom window of an army officer's apartment early today, critically injuring one of his children, Army spokesmen said. An estimated $3,000 damage was done to the duplex apartment. According to the Fort Sam Houston public information office, two Negroes and two whites were released after questioning by military police. A fourth man was undergoing questioning late this morning. There is "apparently not any racial overtones to the incident," said Army spokesmen. "It happened in the quarters of 2nd Lt. Freddie Lee Howard about five minutes after one this morning," the spokesman said. "A person or persons unknown are suspected of having tossed one or two Molotov cocktail-type firebombs through a bedroom window." Michael Howard, 5, was hospitalized with second degree burns over 24 per cent of his body. A spokesman said he was in critical condition. According to the spokesman, Lt. Howard, 29, was unhurt, but a house guest 2nd Lt. Howard Lumpkin, 23, incurred "serious burns" and was hospitalized. Freddie Howard Jr., 6, was treated and released.

HCJC Cast Convincing In 'Peanuts' Musical

The Howard County Junior musical called "You're a Good One, Charlie Brown" even for College Drama Department and Man, Charlie Brown" even for College Choir present a con- those who don't know any of v in c i n g and entertaining the cast or read "Peanuts" very often. Schroeder, Kelly Draper, sums up the task facing the cast tonight and Friday at 8 o'clock when trying to lead the group as a choir: "Remember, this is a mood piece. We must paint a picture with music and words."

They did just that in a dress rehearsal Wednesday night.

ACT AND SING
Dan Shockey, director, said effectively combining acting and singing was hardest. The cast easily identified with the grade-school characters that appear daily in "Peanuts," the comic strip.

Karen Carlton comes across well as Lucy, "a very crabby person."

Charlie Brown (Davis Wallace off stage) spends most of his time worrying about how to woo "that redhead girl." Linus (Michael Pope Thompson) Lucy's little brother, spends most of his affection on his blanket.

OTHERS IN CAST
Kelly Thames plays Patty. In this part, she raises an interesting question for aficionados of the comic strip, "Peanuts," from which the musical is sprung. Enticing Snoopy to chase rabbits, she chides: "What kind of dog are you anyway?"

Durward (Woody) McDonnell plays Snoopy, who can sing like Louis Armstrong over an evening meal and yearns for more romantic life as a World War I fighter pilot or fierce jungle animal.

McDonnell (music instructor at HCJC) also holds the job of musical director.

Music in Charlie Brown is not easy to sing, Shockey said, but actors showed little difficulty, even with the frequent solos.

AUXILIARY WORKERS
Harlan Thornton, on the piano; Jay Box, percussion; and Rickie Messinger, flute, capture the light, fresh childhood atmosphere in the production's original music. Miss Messinger also is assistant director.

Robert Laudersdale, stage manager and technical director is majoring in technical theatre production at HCJC.

Lois Blair and Elisabeth Arellibia work with stage properties.

Mrs. Paula Bickertatt is costumes and Mrs. Carol Hartfield is responsible for house management.

The group has put together two hours of light entertainment any age can enjoy.

Tickets ($1.50 and $1) will be sold at the door. Pre-schoolers get in free.

Members of the audience are invited to visit with the cast in a reception following the performance each night.

Lions See Film On Dogs For Blind

Downtown Lions, currently engaged in their annual mop-broom-household goods sale, got a glimpse of what sale proceeds help do.

At their Wednesday meeting they saw a film on the Guide Dogs for Blind at San Rafael, Calif. Mrs. Hattie Boland, who was helped by the local club in obtaining her first dog from the Guide Dog program, arranged for the film to be shown.

Guests include Sherita Ownbey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ownbey, and Jim Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, representatives from the high school. Archie Adkins, chairman, said that the mop-broom sale was to be concluded Thursday.

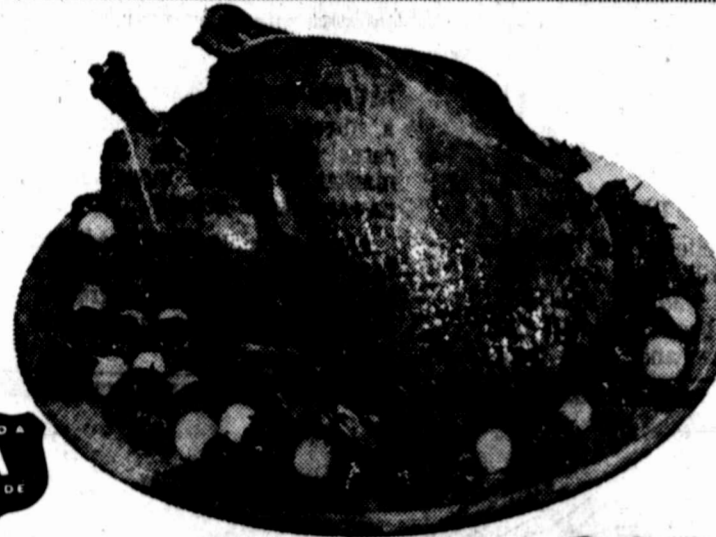

ABC Club To Hear Youth Quartet

The American Business Club will be entertained Friday at its regular luncheon by a musical quartet, which features Pat Pearson, Karen Coffee, Don McKee, and Johnny Tonn. There will be a Community Sing after the quartet's numbers.

Several matters of club business also will be discussed. Merrill Creighton, chairman of the Living Endowment Fund, asked all members to come to the luncheon prepared to make pledges to the fund.

OA Boys Plan Work Weekend

The Order of Arrow will have another weekend work project at the Scout Ranch, Tommy Marvin, advisor, reminded today. Boys are to meet at 5:30 p.m. Friday at College Park shopping center for departure to the ranch. They are to bring a sack lunch, plus $3 for meals and $2 for gasoline. There will be work in the ordeal and wigg degrees for which the fee is $6.50 (including the meal charge). Boys will lay tile in Buffalo Hall, also building a retaining wall around the mess hall.

Identifications Marks May Discourage Thievery

By CHARLES TEAGUE
"Operation Identification" is a new program of the Big Spring Police Department designed to reduce the loss of property through burglaries and theft.

In 1971 Big Spring citizens suffered a loss of $111,650 through 852 burglaries and thefts. Approximately $36,573 worth of the stolen goods was recovered and returned to the owner.

Freeze Gets Cotton Leaves

Frost Monday and Tuesday night killed most all remaining cotton in Howard County. County Agent Bruce Griffith said Thursday. He expects harvest to be full-scale in the next two or three weeks.

Farmers are waiting to see how many more bolls will open. Early cotton that was stripped produced good yields, Griffith said, and high quality is anticipated in the early cotton.

Grain sorghum yields look good, he said. Most crops are ready for harvest.

Cold weather will "slow down" screw worms, Griffith pointed out.

stolen property that cannot be identified. The property is easily sold and therefore difficult to introduce as evidence. Moreover, lacking identification, it cannot be traced or returned to the owner if recovered.

"Operation Identification" has been tested and proven in other cities where results proved to be impressive said police. In the first three months of the project, residential burglaries were reduced by 61 per cent in cities where tested compared to the previous four months' average.

This program was introduced here through cooperation of the Big Spring Police Department and the Big Spring Association of Independent Insurance Agents.

Available at the police station are 14 electric engravers which will be loaned upon request to citizens for a period of one week during which Big Springers may engrave their drivers' license numbers onto valuables such as bicycles, televisions, radios, stereophonic tape players, recorders, phonographs, business machines, guns, lawn mowers, kitchen appliances, tool boxes, tools, car wheels, hubcaps and cameras.

After the property has been marked, decals which are provided by the police department should be placed in the front and rear windows of home, office and auto.

The police department will also retain a card file listing the citizens' identification numbers and serial numbers of property. This provides police with an instantaneous means of determining the rightful owner of lost or stolen property. Changes in address, telephones or in ownership should be reported.

Success of the program depends on citizen response, said police.

The engravers are being loaned now upon request (Phone 263-8481.)

How To Get Your First Job Talked

DALLAS (AP) — Newbold Noyes, editor of the Washington Star News, and Hodding Carter III, editor of the Greenville, Miss., Delta Democrat-Times, were the early speakers in today's second session of Sigma Delta Chi's national convention.

The meeting of the professional journalism society opened Wednesday, with about 1,000 SDX members registering. About one-third of these were student journalists.

RGV Lawyer Bails Self Out Of Jail

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — A Brownsville lawyer who came to Harlingen late Tuesday to post bond for a client wound up having to post bond for himself.

Harlingen Police Chief Guy Anderson said lawyer Tommy Graham was charged with disorderly conduct after he "got rowdy" while attempting to post bond for a Brownsville man arrested by the Texas Highway Patrol on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Graham, son of Cameron County Dist. Atty. F. T. Graham, was released by Corporation Court Judge Moises Vela after posting $27.50 bond on the misdemeanor charge.

Anderson said Graham was arrested by Police Lt. Ray Shannon in the lobby of the Harlingen Police Station.

Graham's client, Austin Robert Gabourel, also was released on bond, Anderson said.

REVENUE-SHARING MONEY

Could Force Interest Rates Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — State and local governments are expected to increase investments in U.S. securities with the first portions of their federal revenue-sharing money.

Treasury Department officials say there is nothing in the law to prevent state and local governments from, in effect, lending the money back to the federal government at interest through the purchase of federal securities.

BRIGHT IDEA

Nor does the Treasury have an idea of how much the interest rates on such securities will cost taxpayers. But at least one economic expert says the situation may lead to reduced interest rates for all borrowers.

The Treasury will mail $5.3 billion to state and local governments during December and January as the first allocation under the revenue-sharing plan approved by the 92nd Congress.

A Treasury spokesman said Tuesday that because the first shares are so large—representing money due through the program retroactive to last Jan. 1—there is an "initial investment probability" in federal securities.

FEDERAL DEFICITS

Officials believe that the investments will stop once the shares get smaller and the money has been allocated for specific state and local programs.

Dr. Murray Weidenbaum, a former assistant Treasury secretary who was in charge of planning the Nixon administration's revenue-sharing program, says the extra investments in federal securities will put downward pressure on interest rates next year.

The Treasury, as one of the nation's largest borrowers, has a direct impact on interest rates when it goes into the market to borrow money to finance federal deficits.

Many officials have predicted that interest rates will go up next year because of a greater demand for money by private interests.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

WRONG WAY: (Q.) Terry isn't very good-looking, but I really like him. He is a friend of my brother's. I guess I should say he WAS a friend of my brother's. Anyway, I figured my brother was catching on to how I felt, and I wanted to talk to him about it. One day we were talking about a real ugly kid, and I said, "Terry isn't too cute, either, is he?" My brother changed the subject and I didn't have a chance to say anything else about Terry and me.

After that, Terry changed. He came over a few times more, but he wasn't friendly to me. Then he stopped coming. I guess my brother told him what I had said and he was mad at both of us.

Now he has a girl friend and in the hall he doesn't even say "hello" to me or smile. What should I do? — Loser in Virginia.

(A.) Your brother may have told Terry what you said. But maybe he didn't. Terry may have just got interested in another girl. You could find out by asking your brother.

No matter what, your indirect and unkind slap at Terry did not help YOU. Unkind remarks almost never help the ones who make them.

Be friendly to Terry. Smile even though he doesn't. Ask him some day why he doesn't smile at you any more.

And any conversation you have about him from then on

Oklahoma Town Turning To Pill

MALESTER, Okla. (AP) — This town is turning to the pill as a possible solution to a problem—too many pigeons.

City Manager Charles Gramlich has ordered enough pigeon birth control pills to put mother birds out of business for up to 120 days. The pills—chemically treated corn—are due to arrive next week and will be scattered over popular pigeon areas around the City Hall and Pittsburg County courthouse.

The treated corn renders mother pigeons sterile by inhibiting egg production. The corn will be put out through the fall mating period and again next spring.

have with him, not someone else. And make it direct. And honest, and kind.

LEGS: (Q.) I have been looking for a girl friend and wondering why girls wear those ugly knee socks. I think a girl would have a lot more sex appeal with bare legs and bobbysocks. — 16 in Michigan.

(A.) In choosing a girl don't consider only her legs. But I do agree with you that heavy knee socks are not the sexiest things in the school room. Girls in cold country, however, have to wear "something" part of the year to keep their legs warm. Bare legs are shivery in very cold weather.

The temperature permitting, most 16-year-old girls look best of all in correctly-fitting sheer stockings or pantyhose.

AMC Reports Earnings Up

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. today reported its highest earnings since 1964, saying its net earnings for fiscal 1972 were nearly triple those of 1971.

Company officials said net earnings were $30.2 million or $1.11 per share for fiscal 1972 compared with net earnings of $10.2 million or 40 cents per share a year earlier.

American Motors alone among the auto companies operates on a fiscal year ending Sept. 30. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler report earnings on a calendar year basis.

However, John Pichurski, a company spokesman, said AMC will pay no dividend to its shareholders this year. He said AMC has not paid a dividend since the third quarter of 1965.

Earnings for both 1971 and 1972 included tax credits resulting from losses in previous years. The tax credits added 51 cents per share to this year's earnings and 18 cents to last year's.

Net sales for this year rose to a record $1.4 billion, up from $1.2 billion in 1971.

Baby 'Jaundice'

Your Good Health Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes babies to have yellow jaundice? — D.M.H.

You'll be surprised to learn how many babies "have jaundice." Keep in mind that jaundice merely means an increase in yellow coloring in the tissues. It's not a disease — it's a symptom. Whether it is a symptom of anything serious depends on other factors.

Immediately after birth, there can be an excessive breakdown of red blood cells in an infant. The hemoglobin (iron) from these breaking-down cells then is incorporated in bile produced in the baby's liver. And excess bile can cause the yellowness known as jaundice.

As a matter of fact, about 70 per cent of babies will have such an increase in bile, which very often is not sufficient to cause yellowing that can be seen, but can be determined by chemical tests.

This is what is called a normal or physiological jaundice, and it isn't anything to worry about. It starts about the second day of life and may last from 10 to 14 days.

Jaundice appearing in the first 24 hours of life is another matter, and usually is related to "Rh" incompatibility — the mother has Rh-negative blood, with the possible result that a destructive combat develops between incompatible particles in the baby's blood. These days the situation is usually foreseen by blood tests before the baby is born.

Such severe jaundice can cause brain damage if permitted to continue, so treatment must be prompt. Usual method is a blood exchange — the baby's blood is withdrawn while at the same time suitable blood is transfused. More recently, it has been discovered that exposure to blue fluorescent light can be effective in reducing blood bile, shortening the period of jaundice and in some cases even avoiding need for an exchange transfusion.

It has also been shown that giving the baby small amounts of phenobarbital for three to five days after birth, or to the mother for a month prior to delivery, can materially lessen jaundice in the newborn.

There are other causes of jaundice in the newborn — congenital defects in the liver or bile tract, or related chemical disorders, but these are rare.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For a middle-aged woman, would it be harmful to play basketball? Several people have told me it would be bad for the breast muscles. — V.T.V.

No harm if you have the energy. (But as for that sport, and as for any person, especially middle-aged or older, get in shape gradually. Don't expect to switch from no exercise to a lot of exercise instantly.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can trichinosis be contracted by handling raw pork with an open cut on the finger, or must it be eaten? — F.D.J.

The larva can enter through a cut. Remember also that the larva, if present in the raw pork, can cling to hands, knives, cutting boards or other surfaces, so they should be thoroughly washed before coming in contact with other foods.

SO, WHAT'S NEW EVA?

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Eva Gabor, the youngest of the Hungarian-born Gabor sisters, has filed for divorce from her estranged husband, Richard Brown.

Miss Gabor, 50, said in her Superior Court petition that a property agreement had been waked out. She did not request support. Miss Gabor and Brown, a former textile manufacturer, were married Oct. 4, 1959, in Las Vegas and were separated Nov. 10, 1971, the petition said.

It was Miss Gabor's fourth marriage and Brown's second. They have no children.

Miss Gabor was the co-star of the television series, "Green Acres."

possible range of intergovernmental contracting authority at the local level," including contracts between and among counties, cities, school districts and other political subdivisions or agencies of the state. The statute is cited as the Interlocal Cooperation Act, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, Art. 441c (32c).

LOCAL ACTION
 Howard County, City of Big Spring and Big Spring Independent School District have jointly entered a contract to purchase gasoline, complying fully with the act. Howard County Junior College purchases gasoline through the City.

Subsequently, officials hope to combine purchases of petroleum products, janitorial supplies, stationary and office supplies, leading to an ultimate combination of governmental inventories and services which now indicate duplication, triplication or even further repetition among agencies.

Recently, concentrated efforts have been directed toward the combination of taxing agencies. The goal is a location of a central taxing agency, where all taxing information concerning county, city, school district and junior college taxes will be available to the taxpayer.

SINGLE OFFICE
 If the effort is successful, if "bugs" in data processing and programming are eliminated, the result will mean a single tax statement, mailed under one postal cover with one stamp, for each taxpayer. The citizen will find his way to a single tax office where he may pay at one time, taxes due to all agencies including the county, city, school and junior college.

Much of the duplication of personnel, as well as paperwork, recording of information and tax rolls, might be eliminated, thus yielding a savings to governmental budgets.

STATE MODEL
 If agencies in Howard County successfully meet their goals, this could become the object of admiration statewide, standing as a model for agencies in other areas of the state, Jack Watkins, chairman of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Committee said. Watkins also thought this could greatly enhance Big Spring and Howard County in the eyes of future industrial, commercial and residential profits.

LAW PROVIDES
 In encouraging and allowing interlocal cooperation, the legislature provided in Article 441c (32c): "Any local government may contract or agree with one or more local governments to perform governmental functions and services..."

defining governmental functions and services to include "all or part of any function or service included within the following general areas: police protection and detention services; fire protection; streets, roads, and drainage; public health and welfare; parks; recreation; library services; waste disposal; planning; engineering, administrative functions; and such other governmental functions which are of mutual concern to the contracting parties."

The Act further defined administrative functions to mean "functions normally associated with the routine operation of government such as tax assessment and collection, personnel services, purchasing, data processing, warehousing, equipment repair, and printing."

CAUTION LIGHT
 Although the Interlocal Cooperation Act seems to pave a wide open path for in-depth cooperation, at least one caution light has been erected.

CAN'T ABOLISH
 An attorney general held that the law will not "authorize a county to contract with a city for the city tax assessor and collector to assess all the property in the county for taxation purposes." He said the county "may, however, enter into a contract for services, such as the making of appraisal or assessment recommendations," as long as the contract will not abolish the duties of the county tax assessor — collector as provided in the State Constitution.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unusual fight is shaping up within normally staid legal circles over a proposed new National Institute of Justice.

It could come to a boil this weekend in Denver when state judges decide whether to oppose the plan.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger could be caught in the crossfire. Although he picked his words carefully, Burger is on record in support of federally operated institute along the lines of the National Institutes of Health.

Normally, when the chief justice decides to play a catalytic role, the proposal moves swiftly to fruition.

The National Center for State Courts, for example, quickly was established when he and President Nixon swung behind it.

But the judicial institute has run into some powerful opposition — within the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA), the state judiciaries and the one-year-old state court center itself.

"If it didn't have some backing from Burger it wouldn't have a snowball's chance," said Chief Judge T. John Lesinski of the Michigan Court of Appeals in an Associated Press interview.

The opposition is likely to crystallize in Denver at the first meeting of the center's council. The 30 judges and administrators, one from each of the states, will chew over the idea and try to come to a policy consensus.

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — Suzy, "Just imagine riding all the way from New York to Florida with that breathing on you," quipped Chuck McWilliams, Suzy's handler.

Then he fed her a whole clove of garlic.

It's not known how Suzy acquired her peculiar taste.

"We've been feeding her onions and garlic for years. They're like a special treat to her," said McWilliams. "I guess nobody thought too much about it before."

For a balanced diet, Suzy also partakes of apples, hay and carrots.

Purple-eyed Suzy, 16-feet tall, is retiring from show business with Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus. When she wasn't performing in Madison Square Garden with the menagerie staff, she stayed at an animal farm near Suffern, N.Y.

"She's not sick," explained Rick Hansler, a circus spokesman. "Just old."

Hansler said the long-necked buff-and-chocolate colored animal has lived three years beyond normal life expectancy for a giraffe.

ONLY MAKE-BELIEVE — Black liquid soars into the air from an oil derrick built as part of an Oklahoma oil field in Stockton, Calif., for Stanley Kramer's new film, "Oklahoma Crude." Kramer says he couldn't find the right location in Oklahoma, Texas or Louisiana. Stockton now is the most-used movie location in California and perhaps in the nation.

Paid Ransom Puts Airline In Bad Shape

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reported $2 million ransom Southern Airways paid three hijackers last weekend could put the airline in serious financial difficulty, the Civil Aeronautics Board says.

A CAB spokesman Wednesday said loss of the money, which was paid to the three men who took over the airlines' DC9 jetliner Friday near Birmingham, Ala., and landed it in Cuba Sunday, "puts Southern in bad shape."

"For the most recent nine-month period, it converts a small profit into a substantial loss," he said.

Texas Man, Two Others Killed In Plane Smash

ZION, Ill. (AP) — A Texas man and two others from Wisconsin were killed Wednesday when their small military plane from Ft. Sheridan, north of Chicago, crashed in a field northwest of Zion.

A spokesman at the Army base identified the men as CWO Don Andrews, 27, the pilot, from Seabrook, Tex.; Spec. 6 James T. Baszl, 28, flight crewman, from Montello, Wis., and Spec. 4 David R. Carlisle, 21, flight crewman, from Berlin, Wis.

Strike 'Oklahoma Crude' In San Joaquin Valley?

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — The hump-back hills of the cattle ranch are studded with wooden oil derricks, and one of them is rumbling ominously. Suddenly it blows, and black liquid soars into the California sky.

An oil strike in the fertile San Joaquin Valley? It's only make-believe, part of Stanley Kramer's new film, "Oklahoma Crude," starring George C. Scott, Faye Dunaway, Jack Palance and John Mills.

BAD FIT
Why would Kramer depict a 1912 Oklahoma oil field on a mid-California cattle ranch?

"We looked all over Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana to find a locale for the picture," explained the producer-director. "Nothing would fit. We needed wooden derricks and uncluttered sky. Everywhere we looked there were power lines ruining the view."

"Then my location man, Ivan Volkman, remembered this location from a western Willy Wyler made, 'The Big Country.' It was bought by a Basque at the turn of the century; the railroad sold it at a dollar an acre for 5,000 acres. It has the rolling hills we need — and no wires to disturb the view."

SWAMPS, FARMS
Columbia Pictures craftsmen put up 18 realistic derricks, including one that could produce both a gusher and a natural gas explosion.

The Stockton area thus is proving once more its versatility as a locale for Hollywood movies. It is the most-used location in California, and perhaps in the nation.

"Stockton has almost every kind of location a picturemaker needs," Kramer commented. "It has swamps, farms, canals, ranches, college campuses and fairly picturesque city."

Such states as Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado actively court the film producers, employing commissions to make locations attractive and easy. Stockton hardly needs to. But Robert Ziegler, head of the motion picture development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, works with the movie companies to help make shooting go smoothly.

'FAT CITY'
"The advantages to Stockton are obvious," says Ziegler. "A company like 'Oklahoma Crude' will spend $500,000 in this community. And that doesn't include the food and liquor that the people in the company buy here."

"The convenience of Stockton is recognized by the studios. We're only four and a half hours by freeway from Hollywood, an hour and 15 minutes by airline."

Forty films have been shot in and around Stockton over the years, including "All the King's Men," "Porgy and Bess," "Cool Hand Luke," "The Strawberry Statement," "Fat City," and Disney's forthcoming "The World's Greatest Athlete."

VANISHING AMERICANA Are U.S. Cabbies Getting Dull?

By TOM HORTON
Copley News Service
Making blanket indictments based on scanty knowledge is a dangerous practice, but I do it anyway. The quality of exciting cabbies in America has deteriorated to the point where the most exciting cabbies are operating outside the county, in Tijuana, Mexico, and Montreal.

MOST EXCITING
Cabbies, like bartenders, seem to be getting younger all the time — or am I just getting older? — and while the new young cabbies are courteous and efficient, they lack the glamor and character of the old-timers I know little of the quality of cabbies in my own town, which is natural, but I have been in enough cabs in other cities to devise my own rating system.

Tijuana has the most exciting cabbies in the world, to my knowledge. I rate Montreal second. After that, it's a drastic plunge in quality to New York, Las Vegas, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Boston and Washington. None of these cities, in my experience, can offer a cab ride to compare with the excitement of riding with a cabdriver in Tijuana or Montreal.

New York once had the most interesting cabbies in America, but I'm not sure that is true any longer. They were always pushy, but now they've become surly and closemouthed. The first time I was ever in New York, six years ago, I met some great cabbies, colorful types who talked out of the sides of their mouths and provided a running commentary on New York and life in general.

This summer I spent some time in the East and the closest I came to being mugged was by a New York cabdriver who couldn't speak English but made it perfectly clear he wasn't satisfied with a 75-cent tip for an 85-cent ride.

I made it inside the hotel and hid in the bar or I would still have scars from the experience. But if you want to find out what an exciting ride in a cab is really like, go to Tijuana or Montreal. Cabdrivers in these cities are all former demolition derby drivers and unsuccessful skydivers. Riding a cab in either Tijuana or Montreal is more fun than the roller coaster in Santa Cruz.

TRYING TO SET RECORD
The second-most-exciting cab ride in my life was in Montreal, where the driver was trying to set a land speed record for going downhill in the middle of a metropolitan city at noon. Montreal is a hilly city, much like San Francisco. But where San Francisco cabbies operate at a speed which allows you to enjoy the view of the city, Montreal cabbies believe that hills — even in the middle of the city — were made so they can pick up enough speed going downhill that they won't have to slow to less than 50 miles per hour going uphill.

cab rides in Tijuana, of course, are exciting, for there is the ever-present factor of suspense. When you get into a cab in Tijuana, you're never sure if you'll get out alive. The drivers are in a hurry to get where they're going because it's obvious that the cab is likely to fall apart at any second.

Strangely enough, my best ride in Tijuana came on the only good road they've got. The cabdriver was taking me from the bullfight ring by the sea back to the American border, and he decided to prove that it is possible to pass 186 cars at one time on a two-lane highway. The bullfights had been a bore compared with this man's ability to get past bumper-to-bumper traffic. When it became too dangerous to drive more than a mile at a time in the wrong lane, he would pass on the right, ignoring the fact there wasn't anything on the right except a strip of dirt as wide as a bullfighter's hat.

'Super Safety Day' Pays Off

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — "Super Safety Day" in Nebraska emphasized the value of wearing seat belts.

Only one fatal accident was recorded during the much publicized day Wednesday when a car carrying two women skidded off U.S. 81 and into a pond near Columbus in the northeast part of the state.

The State Patrol said one woman made it to safety but the second woman died when she was held under the water by her seat belt.

Despite the one fatality, Gov. John J. Exon termed "Super Safety Day" a success.

He noted that the main idea that day was to reach Nebraska drivers and "bring their attention to what we're doing to each other on the roads."

The number of nonfatal traffic accidents in Nebraska Wednesday will not be determined until information from local police authorities throughout the state is fed into a computer.

Over the past three years, the average daily November traffic toll has been 129 accidents, 56 injuries and 1.5 deaths.

Index Of Output By Factories Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board says industrial production rose sharply in October, indicating the nation's economy is continuing to expand.

The board said its index of output by the nation's factories, mines and utilities, increased 0.9 per cent last month. That brought the index to 116.7 per cent of the 1967 base.
