TO PURSUE POLICY OF IMPROVING RELATIONS WITH SOVIET BLOC

Voters Give Willy Brandt Mandate

BONN (AP) — Willy Brandt, bolstered by his greatest personal election triumph, had an overwhelming mandate today to pursue the tension-easing policies that won him the Nobel Peace Prize.

Brandt immediately served notice he plans an unprecedented journey to East Berlin before Christmas to sign his government's friendship treaty with the Communist East German regime.

"I recognize the results of the vote as a mandate to carry forth... the work we started with success in the last three years," Brandt said in a restrained victory statement.

stunned politicians spoke of a "landslide" that would change West Germany's political landscape for years to come.

since the West German republic was formed in 1949. The Social Democrats wound up with 230 Bundestag seats, a gain of six over the 1969 election.

the 5 per cent hurdle needed to remain in the Bundestag.

tember, forcing Brandt to disolve the deadlocked Parliament and call new elections a year ahead of schedule.

No Paddling Plea Rejected By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today rejected an appeal that school teachers in Dallas, Tex., had deprived students of their "fundamental liberties" by striking them with paddles and tennis shoes as punishment.

The appeal was made by the parents of two high-school students, Douglas Ware and Roderick Oliver. The Oliver youth was allegedly knocked unconscious by an assistant principal who was subsequently suspended, according to papers in the case.

The Court turned down the plea for a hearing without comment and over the objection of Justice William O. Douglas.

The complaint was dismissed last year by U.S. District Court Judge W. M. Taylor of Dallas, who said, "It is not within this court's function, or individual competence, to pass judgment upon the merits of corporal punishment as an educational tool or a means of discipline."

Please Take Part In D-Day

Please have a part in D-Day — Do-It-Day, the United Way.

This is the appeal of Robert Hickson, campaign chairman, and Morris Robertson, UW president, on the eve of a one-day appeal Tuesday to close the final gap of little less than $7,000 on the 1973 effort.

Do it the United Way Phone 263-8397 call in your gift Tuesday

"The only way we can do it is with your help," said Hickson. "If you've given, won't you make an effort to give just a little more — and if you haven't been contacted, won't you make a fair share gift?"

UW personnel will be standing by telephones (number 263-8397) at the Chamber of Commerce during the day to receive promises of gifts.

"We will be happy to send volunteers to pick up your gifts when you call," said Hickson.

He also stressed that the United Way welcomes pledges of gifts over a period of time.

There may be those who will find it harder to mail a gift, and these can be sent to Box 24; or to bring it by the Chamber office, which is at 215 W. 3rd.

Radio announcers will keep a running total on response Tuesday.

Unless Big Spring and Howard County residents rally to the cause and close the gap Tuesday, 14 local agencies will be crippled in their efforts to provide services aid or to offer programs for children and young people, Hickson reminded.

"Do It Day, the United Way" is not just a matter of pride... it's really a necessity," he added.

Glimpse Of CR 1973 Offered Boosters

A glimpse of what is in store with Campus Revue 1973 and a brief glance at past CR's and highlights of the year will be in store at the Band Boosters meeting 7:30 p.m. today in the high school auditorium.

The band has assembled a telescoped preview and review which highlights excerpts from the new annual extravaganza just getting under production.

Admission is a Band Booster membership, but everyone is welcome and memberships ($1.50) will be available at the door.

There will be a business session preceding the program, but Charlie Wash, president, said that this will be held to a minimum in order to devote nearly all the time to the program. He urged a large turnout for this event.

Pomp, Pageantry Mark Celebration

LONDON (AP) — Crowds thronged London today to cheer Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip on their 25th wedding anniversary, but the newspapers carried more embarrassing headlines about their daughter Princess Anne.

The story leaked out that the 22-year-old princess went fox hunting eight days ago in Yorkshire. The League Against Cruel Sports said she was "setting a deplorable example."

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, of which both the Queen and Queen Mother Elizabeth are patrons, said it was "implacably opposed to fox hunting; it doesn't matter if Princess Anne or anyone else takes part."

QUEEN DISPLEASED "Perhaps the Queen will be displeased," said a spokesman at Buckingham Palace.

Anne is an international class horsewoman, but the palace spokesman said this was the first time she had taken part in a hunt.

John Snowden, the master of the hunt with whom Anne rode, said, "There was no kill — so no one need worry about that."

The princess got some undesirable publicity last week with the disclosure that she had been stopped twice in her sports car for doing nearly 90 miles an hour, the speed limit being 70. Police say she might be prosecuted.

Anne seemed unconcerned today about the uproar as she followed her parents into Westminster Abbey for the anniversary thanksgiving service.

A fanfare of trumpets greeted the royal family at the Abbey — where the 46-year-old queen and Prince Philip, 51, were married in 1947. Special guests at the service were 100 other couples who were married on the same day.

SHE'S TOUCHED Philip strode beside his wife down the aisle of the Abbey. They smiled and chatted.

They were followed by heir to the throne by Prince Charles. Princess Anne walked beside her brother.

The queen was obviously touched by the 45-minute ceremony and the memories it aroused. Near the end, when her husband and family joined in "God Save the Queen," she looked ahead misty-eyed and swallowed hard.

A day of pomp, pageantry and informality was arranged for the silver anniversary, with bells pealing and flags flying. London had not seen such a royal show since the Queen's coronation in 1953.

Children were given a school holiday, and nationwide television coverage of the festivities was scheduled.

Four state carriages escorted by Household Cavalry were to take the royal family from the Palace to the Guildhall in the City of London for a luncheon in one of the city's most tradition-laden areas. Afterward the queen and her husband were to stroll informally along a half mile of elevated walkways in a new development.

State Board Supporting Garnishment Of Wages

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The state welfare board said today it would support legislation making fathers contribute to the support of their illegitimate children.

The board also took a stand for a constitutional amendment permitting garnishment of wages in child support cases.

"The fathers of these (illegitimate) children are roaming the street, not contributing to their support, and I think they ought to be made to show some responsibility," said Raymond Vowell, state welfare commissioner.

H. G. Andrews of Stamford, new member on the board, said he did not know if he could support the garnishment idea or not.

"The aim is good, but we're getting into political philosophy here on what our laws ought to be on garnishment," Andrews said. "I'm on the fence."

George A. Butler of Houston, a board member, said the garnishment question might be moot because the earliest that an amendment could be offered would be November 1974, and the legislature will sit as a constitutional convention in January 1974. An amendment could be submitted in a special election next year, however.

The board voted its support of both measures.

It also ordered the Texas Welfare Department to review its budget proposals in view of the federal government's assumption of full financial responsibility for three welfare categories in 1974: aid to the blind, the aged and the totally and permanently disabled.

That would leave all of the $80 million annual state constitutional welfare authorization available for aid to families with dependent children.

The review is to determine how much of the $80 million the board will recommend that the legislature spend on this program.

Checks For Tax Money Available The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) made public today a list of individuals whose tax refund check has been returned as undeliverable.

W. T. Coppinger, district director of the IRS for North Texas, in announcing availability of the list, made it clear that it is not necessary for anyone whose name appears on the list to consult or engage the services of a locating or searching service, or anyone else, to obtain information with respect to the refund check.

"Individuals whose name appears on the list should contact the IRS office in the area where they resided at the time the return was filed and establish their identity and right to receive the check."

Among those listed from Big Spring are Peggy Marie Aten, Vaudelio Y. and Gloria M. Garcia, Mary L. Thompson Gartman, John R. Gomez, Wanda Jo Groehl, Dolly M. Hendrick, Arlin G. Howle, Howard W. and Aggie Kingsland, C. L. and Mary Lewis, Walter D. Livingston, Johnny G. Morales, Clarence Poe, Fred R. and Rose Ramirez, Mauricio V. Torres, Ena Mae, Derrick Warren (deceased), and Katherine S. Wilsonant.

ANNIVERSARY HAPPINESS — Queen Elizabeth II and her husband, Prince Philip, wear smiles as they pass crowd enroute to a luncheon in their honor in London today on their silver wedding anniversary.

Hearings Opened On 'Art' Films

Hearings began this morning in 118th District Court on the suit styled State of Texas vs. Jackie Bert Kirk, doing business as the Mini-Flick Theater and Roy Lee Ford.

The suit instituted by local officers emanated from the seizing of so-called 'art' films and the closing of the theater by local authorities.

Kirk was not present for the hearing. Evidence presented showed that he was served with a citation Oct. 28.

Ford, owner of the property on which the Mini-Flick does business and an attorney in his own right, was on hand for the court proceedings and is representing himself. At the beginning of the hearing, he stated that a Dallas attorney (who went unnamed) had filed an answer to the charge in his behalf but not at his request. He added he had never corresponded with or seen the attorney.

To begin the morning proceedings, City Detective Richard Cantwell, who has been on the force seven years, took the stand. He testified he made seven trips to the Mini-Flick Theater between Aug. 29 and Sept. 16, during which time he purchased four films and three magazines. He added he spent as much as $22.50 for one movie and $20 for others.

He also described in detail the films he had witnessed, 10 in all, and showed to the courtroom the four films he had purchased.

District Judge R. W. Caton, called to the stand to testify as an art critic, was sworn in by District Clerk Fern Cox shortly before noon. He was to take the stand later in the day.

Plans Of Three Texans Grounded By Fun City Fems

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Texans who thought $30,500 was enough to buy their dream airplane in Fun City have found that $12,500 didn't even buy them a good time at a party.

That's the amount they claim they lost to three bawdy young women who invited them to a "party" early Sunday morning in a midtown hotel.

Police said the women surreptitiously took an envelope containing $10,000 from Randall King and another containing $2,500 from his brother Gary, both of Garland, Tex. The third Texan, Rick Elrod of Fort Worth, had the rest of the money.

When the theft was discovered, two of the girls escaped with the cash; but the third girl, Jackie Taylor, 22, was seized by the men and charged by police with robbery.

The three Texans, all former pilots in Vietnam and each about 30 years of age, said they had hoped to use the investor-supplied money to buy a twin-engine plane and set up a flying service in the West.

Asked if they still planned to buy the plane, Gary King said: "I doubt it now."

AT RFK GRAVE — Ethel Kennedy kneels today at the grave of her husband, Robert F. Kennedy, with six of their 11 children during an early-morning visit to Arlington National Cemetery. It marked the 47th anniversary of the birth of the late senator. One of the family's dogs, Cork, is at left.

WORLD WILL SOON TAKE NOTICE? Current Population: Zero

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — The president of the Republic of Minerva (current population: zero; elevation: 3 at high tide) says the world will soon sit up and take notice of the "newest and smallest nation on earth."

But for now, Morris C. "Bud" Davis, 46, conducts Minerva affairs of state from the provisional capital — his living room in this Los Angeles suburb.

He has never seen Minerva, which consists of two coral reefs lying near the Tropic of Capricorn, underwater most of the time. Minerva, named after the Greek goddess, is 900 miles north of Auckland, New Zealand and 260 miles south of the capital of Tonga.

AVERTING WAR

Davis says he plans to visit Minerva next summer, but right now he is concentrating on averting a war with neighboring Tonga, which claims the territory.

North Minerva is a circular atoll 4 1/2 miles in diameter. South Minerva, which is 17 miles away, is a coral outcropping in the shape of a figure eight, about 3 1/2 miles wide and eight miles long. At low tide, the reefs thrust three feet above the water. At high tide, they disappear.

Davis, who formerly was an electronic engineer, is president of a company called Caribbean-Pacific Enterprises, which was formed for the specific purpose of establishing a new nation somewhere.

There are seven stockholders with a total investment of $250,000 in the project, Davis said in an interview. "The bulk of the money is from the president of a pharmaceutical firm who wishes, at this time, not to be identified," he said.

UNCLAIMED

Then he explained why the company was started.

"We figured we really couldn't straighten out our own country," so we would start over someplace new," Davis said. "We searched through history books, libraries and nautical charts for anyplace in the world that was unclaimed."

Minerva was surveyed by Capt. H.M. Denham of the Royal Navy in 1854. But the reefs apparently were unclaimed.

On Jan. 16 of this year, two members of Caribbean-Pacific Enterprises and three crewmen set sail from Fiji for a two-day, 380-mile voyage to the reefs.

Once there, they laid claim to the reefs in the name of the Republic of Minerva and raised the Minervan flag — a gold torch of liberty on a blue (for the sea) background which was designed by Davis.

But King Tupou IV of Tonga, general of the 100-man Tonga Defense Force, led an expeditionary band accompanied by Tonga police in June and declared Tongan sovereignty over the reefs.

"We researched the reefs thoroughly," Davis said. "Tonga's boundaries of all rocks, reefs, foreshores and waters have been spelled out in royal proclamations ever since 1887. Minerva is missed by 100 miles."

RATHER CRAMPED

Davis said the Republic of Minerva plans to negotiate with the king. "We certainly don't want to go to war over it," Davis would not say however, if he is prepared to go to war if necessary.

Meanwhile, Caribbean-Pacific Enterprises plans to start work on a major landfill operation next April.

"We hope to dredge sand in the lagoons and build a 1,000-to-2,000-foot-wide, 10- to 15-foot high surface on which to locate our country," Davis said.

He said Minerva could hold a population of 250,000 using the concept of a "sea city" — a large outer shell built on pilings — although the president admits that "it would be rather cramped."

Using more conventional construction, Minerva probably will hold a population of from 30,000 to 50,000 persons, Davis said. He would not estimate, however, how much money Caribbean-Pacific Enterprises expects to make through the sale of land.

"The whole world will soon sit up and take notice of Minerva," Davis said. "Within five years at least 1,000 ships will be flying the Minervan flag."

Minerva's 19-page constitution, which Davis wrote, says in part:

ILLEGAL

"We're firm believers in a minimum of government. The government to our way of thinking has one function — to protect its citizens from force and fraud.

"There will be no taxes in Minerva. People will be free to do as they damn please without government interference. The government will provide no guarantees for the welfare of its citizens. That will be left to the citizens.

"Nothing will be illegal as long as it does not infringe on the rights of others."

Peron, Leaders Confer As Thousands Chanting

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Juan D. Peron, in Argentina only four days after 17 years of exile, has seized the political initiative from the ruling military junta in determining the course of the elections scheduled for March 11.

Bolstered by thousands of cheering, chanting supporters, the 77-year-old ex-dictator met Sunday night with leaders of the other major political parties. They accepted insults and catcalls from the crowd to attend a meeting called by Peron at the three-story suburban home purchased for him by his supporters.

WARNING

Peron was to continue his meetings with political leaders today to strengthen his position in any future negotiations with the military government.

There has been no major reaction so far from the government except for a warning that it would take any measures necessary to maintain order around Peron's house.

About a thousand militant Peronists camped overnight around bonfires in a vacant lot across from the villa and on neighborhood lawns. More than 10,000 had gathered there after Sunday afternoon soccer games, but this was far less than the 50,000 who packed the narrow, tree-lined street the night before.

Among the men meeting with Peron Sunday night was Ricardo Balbin, head of the Radical party and a key figure in Peron's plan to form a political alliance to offset the armed forces.

PUBLIC CRITICISM

Balbin had to run a gauntlet of 200 young Peronists who shouted insults and guerrilla slogans at him. He told a news conference later: "We have spoken of the responsibility of political parties and the necessity of common action." He brushed aside the insults, saying Peron would probably get the same if he attended a Radical rally.

Also at the meeting were other representatives of the Hour of the People, a loose organization of political parties formed in 1970 to pressure the military government to call elections and hand power over to a civilian government.

Peron has carefully avoided any public criticism of the ruling junta headed by President Alejandro Lanusse.

It is believed that if Peron does not succeed in forming a sufficiently strong political alliance, he might try to negotiate with Lanusse to choose a presidential candidate acceptable to both the Peronists and the armed forces.

The junta has given virtually free rein to Peron's political dealings after a touchy 24 hours following his arrival from Rome last Friday.

Raza Unida Meeting Set

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A meeting of the national conference of the Raza Unida Party has been scheduled for Albuquerque Friday through Sunday.

Ramsey Muniz, who ran for governor of Texas on the Raza Unida ticket, said, "This is the first time that the national conference of the Raza Unida Party has met since being elected at the national convention in El Paso, Tex., in September."

Muniz threw the race for governor of Texas into its closest campaign in 58 years by his candidacy.

The Mexican-American lawyer also announced he will tour universities in Arizona on Monday and Tuesday, fulfilling a commitment as a speaker on contemporary politics.

On the state level, he said he was meeting with party leaders in Hebronville and Fallurrias to plan, organize and prepare for local elections.

New Exhibit To Open Soon

Heritage Museum is due to open its next exhibit, featuring the history of the Texas & Pacific Railroad in Big Spring and area, after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Gerri Atwell, curator, said that a number of people have been bringing in items pertaining to the railroad, including uniforms, whistles, signal lights, orders, pictures, etc. Other things which help tell the story of the railroad will be appreciated, she said.

Currently she is shaping the exhibit, which will be fortified by numerous pioneer pictures of the railroad, the roundhouse, yards, etc.

Also remaining on exhibit is a small collection of H. W. Caylor paintings left from the recent showing of more than 50 examples of the frontier artist.

Fem Charged In Drug Case

Linda Whitney, 25, of a local motel Saturday night became the 27th person arrested through a drug complaint.

She is charged with sale of a narcotic drug and was in jail this morning under $10,000 bond.

Released on four bonds totaling $40,000 this morning was Milton Wayne Walker, 34, charged with sale of dangerous drugs. Also, Thomas Wayne Brown, 21, charged with one count of sale of marijuana was released from county jail this morning on $10,000 bond.

Man Breaks Leg In Cycle Mishap

Frank Don Mayhew, 310 NW 3rd, was hospitalized with a broken right leg following an accident Sunday afternoon at 19th and S. Johnson.

A motorcycle driven by Mayhew was going west on East 19th and was struck by a truck driven by Travis Ray Watson, 1109 E. 14th, headed south on Johnson.

The cyclist was thrown clear from his motorcycle, which was crushed underneath the wheels of the truck.

Few Tears Of Farewell

Although it becomes increasingly difficult to remember exactly why we went into Vietnam in the first place, there was a point when the name of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization was invoked.

It was at that point that we were reminded of our obligations as a SEATO member to defend nations in that area of the world threatened by aggression.

The commitment to SEATO was offered again later to explain why we continued support of Pakistan in its dispute with India over the independence of Bangladesh, even though Pakistan was virtually in the Red Chinese camp.

Now the name of SEATO has arisen again. This time, though, it is Pakistan which injects it into the news. President Bhutto has announced his nation is quitting the organization. At the same time, Pakistan is recognizing North Vietnam.

That leaves SEATO's active membership at six. And only two of the six — Thailand and the Philippines — are truly Asian nations. The other members are the United States, New Zealand, Australia and Britain. Of those, the British have removed their military presence east of Suez, their sole remaining interest largely restricted to the crown colony of Hong Kong. Australia and New Zealand have never been terribly interested in involvement in Asian affairs. That leaves the United States, which is trying to extricate itself from Vietnam as painlessly as possible.

SEATO, then, seems a dead letter, superseded by the Nixon Doctrine urging Asian nations to chart their own affairs and by changing alliances which are involving Japan and Red China in trade and, it would seem, ultimate Asian leadership.

Perhaps historians in the future will jot up the score and find that SEATO was vital to maintaining the peace and containing the Communists during the chilliest period of the Cold War. But for the present, Americans weary of treadmill war in Asia will hardly mourn its apparent demise.

We Never Seem To Learn

Will we never learn the bitter lesson of Kent State University? Last week two black students were killed by shotguns fired at Southern University at Baton Rouge as officers sought to oust students from an occupied building.

Students were without right to occupy a building, and certainly the fires which followed the shooting incident were examples of anarchy. But to shoot into a crowd of students, no matter what the provocation, is deplorable and senseless. Nobody seems to know just what happened, and probably the picture may never be clear. Nevertheless, taking live ammunition into such a situation is inexcusable and without defense.

Hang On

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another: A MAN WHO tried it and failed says that when one is in the grip of the "closed world" leading to suicide, "every last detail contributes to your decision to die."

"If it is raining," he adds, "it's raining only on you. If the sun is shining, it just makes your own world look more frozen."

The Roman of Caesar's time looked upon suicide as noble. The Japanese in more recent times resorted to harikiri to save face.

MORE WOMEN try suicide than men but, apparently, most don't really have a death wish. More men actually succeed in trying to take their own lives.

An authority on the fascinating subject of self-destruction insists that suicide is more the result of inner depression than external events. For example, he points out, there were very few suicides in Nazi concentration camps.

"Life itself is the only argument against suicide," he says.

SOME SUICIDES are mundane in the avenues they take to end their presence among us. They'll turn a gun on themselves and die without having communicated with anyone. Others have a sense of the dramatic and act out the role to the end — and act out the role to the end — by leaping from the Golden Gate bridge or from a city's tallest building.

Our authority passes on this advice for those who are contemplating suicide:

"Hang on. Life may change. Suicide is the result of acute depression. You can live through the depression, but it takes time."

I LIKED the description of a bore offered by that Texas woman who had gone to court to seek an end to her marriage.

Obviously speaking of her husband, she explained: "A bore is a person who deprives you of solitude without providing you with company."

The judge who heard the case obviously regarded that as grounds sufficient. He granted the woman her freedom.

ONE FELLOW I know says he thinks he's lucky he gets paid every two weeks, explaining:

"One week's pay won't buy anything."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I have a daughter who married an alcoholic. She suspected that he drank more than he should, but she was sure she could change him. Things progressed rapidly, like a couple in a canoe heading for Niagara Falls. Today, they are nearer the edge of catastrophe than ever before. She can't get him to go to church or AA. What can we do? R.T.T.

It's a tragic situation, and I wish I had the magic word to help you. Alcoholism has grown to epidemic proportions. Our nation spends 17 billion dollars to shake our abnormal thirst; that's two times the amount spent on all church activities and welfare.

We talk about Vietnam and the lives lost there. But how about the 50,000 lives lost on our highways, half of them in alcohol-related accidents; what about 28,000 people who die of cirrhosis of the liver? What's the answer for the nine million homes struggling with alcoholism, and the 10 million other problem drinkers?

An ad on television says: "Drive carefully. One out of 50 at five in the evening, driving our thruways, is drunk."

The warden at a midwest Maximum Security Prison says that "85 per cent of all new admissions last year committed their crimes while under the influence of alcohol."

What can you do? You can pray and reach out in understanding

Alcoholics Anonymous recognizes that it is up to each individual, however, to determine his own destiny. The alcoholic will not change until he wants to do so, and he cannot change without the power of God. So hope, trust, and have faith. God can help us, but only if we receive his forgiveness and love.

Bank Monopoly Threat

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Gilbert, the new president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League, expects one of his biggest challenges will be to block the threat of a commercial bank monopoly in certain consumer finance services.

If that sounds odd to you it should be remembered that savings and loan associations are not banks. Their services are limited to savings accounts and loans, mainly for housing.

Their essential purpose is to channel the savings of ordinary Americans into housing. They are the biggest home mortgage lenders in a nation of 63 per cent home ownership.

But they are beginning to balk at the restraints, which they feel place them at a distinct disadvantage in this electronic world.

They cannot, for example, offer third-party transfer of funds. In its simplest form, a third-party transfer would be the use of a check written by you to transfer funds out of your account into that of another.

This is done 23 million times a day by holders of checking accounts, every one of which is at a commercial bank. Savings and loans cannot offer them.

Now the fund transfer system is about to become more complex, and the associations worry that, while they could live without such powers in the past they may not be able to in the future.

The reason is that banks are developing plans to join into groups that would transfer funds electronically. Your paycheck, for example, would be deposited directly into your bank, and the bank then would pay certain bills.

Moreover, it is now generally agreed that the shopper of the future will use a plastic card with a magnetic strip that will permit the store to deduct instantly the purchase price from your account and transfer it to theirs.

If the savings and loans are excluded from such systems it could mean disaster. The added convenience of such commercial bank services would likely be more than the S&Ls could offset with their higher interest on savings.

"A monopoly wasn't granted to the banks from Mt. Sinai," said Gilbert in an interview at the S&L convention in Miami Beach.

He indicated that he and other

S&L officials intend to use every legal means to prevent a monopoly of fund transfer services.

"The nation will be better served by two systems," he said. "Banks to take care of commerce and industry, and we family financial centers to serve people."

Gilbert, who is president of Citizens Savings Association, Canton, Ohio, also faces the legislative matter of converting savings and loan associations, which are mutually owned by depositors, into stock companies.

Many association leaders have proposed conversion as the answer to continued growth. It would mean that S&Ls would attract investor money in the same way as General Motors.

This conceivably would mean a windfall for existing passbook holders who, in addition to their savings accounts, would most likely have to be given stock also.

Gilbert expects an "active legislative year." Congress also is interested in tax revisions. And controls on interest rates expire June 1, and in all likelihood must be replaced, perhaps with some changes.

Disarmament

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon during the next four years will have plenty of problems of foreign policy to keep him deeply involved in efforts to bring about a unity among Communist and non-Communist countries to rid the world of any fears of war.

ARMS LIMITATION and reduction of forces in Europe and Asia are not the only steps, however, that can assure peace. Mr. Nixon's endeavors to improve trade relations may turn out to be one of the most effective instruments in increasing the opportunities of diplomacy to make progress in treaties and accords which are so necessary to remove the anxieties aroused from time to time about the possibilities of military conflict.

THE MOST vital factor in the making of peace is unquestionably the decisions which may be reached concerning nuclear weapons. While agreements are being made to limit strategic arms, there will not be a feeling of security in the world until the nations which have nuclear stockpiles agree to destroy them and to employ nuclear power solely for peaceful purposes. It is conceivable that the new series of talks the United States and the Soviet Union have begun may reassure other countries that the two governments with the biggest military forces and largest potential strength in a nuclear conflict now are discussing what can be done to remove the dangers of drifting along with huge implements of destruction in the possession of a few governments which could at any time use them unwisely.

THE SOVIET UNION, the United States and Red China have at one time or another urged that all nuclear weapons be abolished, and there have been conferences with various other countries relating to the same objective. But the real obstacle seems to be that thus far no way has been found to make sure that such action, if pledged, would actually be taken. Unless international inspection of a very efficient kind were instituted, there would be no means of determining whether the promises were being fulfilled.

FOR THE United States has opened up advantageous methods of promoting trade and helping nations develop their economies so that many products which their people have been unable to get can be imported. Actually, a change of historic significance is going on in the expansion of trade by both Russia and China, with opportunities afforded for friendly contacts with other countries where the necessities of life can be purchased and brought to the huge populations of the Communist nations. The world is passing through a truly notable era in trade which President Nixon himself has assisted in developing and in which Peking and Moscow have played an unprecedented part.

WITH COMMERCIAL relations improving between the Communist and the non-Communist countries, the chances of war will be diminished as intercourse of peoples with their neighbors and with other nations around the globe grows.

Fossil Assemblages Are Discovered

In 1798, William Smith, an English engineer, discovered that certain layers of rocks contained fossils unlike those in other layers, and that rocks of the same age could be identified by their similar or related fossil assemblages.

Through this process geologists are able to match strata of the same age throughout a large region.

Makes Stars See Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a movie actress gets tired of hearing:

"If you don't want to be a sex symbol, what kind of symbol do you want to be — a geriatric symbol?"

"It's only a small part, but it fits your mind."

"If the studio decided your name should be Eartha Garbo, who are you to object? How many movie marquee do you think you'd light up if you stuck to your own name — Harriett Pumpernickel?"

"What do you movie stars do with all your money?"

"Remember one thing about the film industry — another pretty actress is no more important than another side of beef in a packing house."

"No, I'm not the producer. I'm the guy who's lending him the money to make this picture. I'm tied up tonight. How about tomorrow night?"

"Harriet, if you think the name Eartha Garbo doesn't fit your personality, how about Clara Gable? I think the studio might buy that."

"If you're sure you're really important, please sign my autograph book. I really only want genuine celebrities though."

"Honey, don't whine about the measly 10 per cent you have to pay me. Ten per cent of you isn't enough to keep a guy like me in cigars."

"Doesn't the empty glamor and false excitement of Hollywood sometimes pall on your secret heart, Miss?"

"What's wrong with appearing in an X picture? Wouldn't you rather appear in a good X picture than be upstaged by a horse in a B grade western?"

Besides, this is a different kind of X picture. Part of the time the camera shows your face."

"I guess a movie star like you is pretty hard for a plain little old boy from the country like me to get a date with. Right or wrong?"

"All right, all right — so you don't like the idea of being called Clara Gable either. How about Bobbi Hope — and we'll attract attention to it by spelling it with an I instead of an E?"

"Take all that makeup off her, and I'll bet she looks like Dracula's niece."

"I write for a religious paper. Tell me the truth. Is life in Hollywood really as wild and immoral as everybody knows it is?"

"Look, baby, I took you from nothing, and if you don't do exactly like I tell you, that's where I'm going to put you back."

"Okay already, so you don't feel you'd be happy with the name Bobbi Hope. How'd you like to be called Jane Calamity, kid, and we'll make you a comedienne?"

Finally Made It

Omar Burleson

By SAM STEWART
(Substituting for Omar Burleson)
Copley News Service

There are milestones along life's pathway which establish that you've got it made — like getting an invitation to a Hollywood film premiere or being invited to a background briefing at the Western White House.

But there is one that is greater than any of these, an open sesame to the elite anywhere, especially Texas. I am now on the mailing list of Nieman-Marcus of Dallas, and in receipt of their Christmas Book, 1972.

NOBODY LOOKS Nieman-Marcus has become famous down through the years by operating, apparently, on the premise that nobody looks at the price tag. (If it wasn't one of the partners who first said that if you have to ask the price you can't afford it, it could nonetheless be taken as the store motto.)

But even at the store's stratospheric economic level, it has, for years, recognized the importance of promotion, even to stressing a certain novelty value. Thus it is, that for several seasons past, Nieman-Marcus has startled the world, via its Christmas Book, with its latest "His" and "Her" gift suggestions.

You remember: one year it was "His" and "Her" submarines; last year, it was "His" and "Her" matching mummy cases. Guaranteed to be at least 2,000 years old, and "only $16,000" apiece. No mummy was provided, but the store helpfully suggested that they would be good liquor cabinets, bookcases, or broom closets. No home should be without a $16,000 broom closet.

SUSPENSE BUILDS So, we come to 1972. The suspense builds.

What has Nieman-Marcus come up with this year?

Let us quote from the catalog: "The Most Personal Possible Present — YOU!"

"Full-dimensional, life-size, reasonable facsimiles: of you, or your favorite other person (with their permission)."

Our constantly affable companions are programmed to laugh as long as you like at your jokes, or say yes in any language you choose — at the touch of a remote control button. "You might let them take your place at long meetings, dull parties, or simply keep your spouse company in your absence. If the light, portable replica should begin to sound less enthusiastic — plug in the accompanying cord to give it a real charge. Please specify seated or standing model."

COMELY COUPLE "Price, exclusive of fashions shown and sculptor's air fare, $3,000 each."

Pictured are a comely couple, she and her image clad in chiffon polyester blouse, by Gregory, and nylon and acetate crepe-finish pants; he and his duplicate resplendent in velvet jacket, plaid slacks and matching vest. You almost look for the line: by Madame Tussaud.

I can't quite envision a life-size replica of me, gift-wrapped and placed under the Christmas tree, awaiting eager unwrapping by my spouse as she goes through the "What-is-it-I'll-never-guess" routine. Nor can I envision her reaction when she removes the last wrapping and finds a model me, 6-foot-2 and programmed like the Disneyland Abe Lincoln, but with sweet nothings and affirmative responses to all shopping proposals, rather than The Gettysburg Address.

ONLY $32,000 Of course, Nieman-Marcus doesn't have all its Christmas eggs in this talking-dummy basket. The catalog is resplendent in alternate suggestions.

Such as a free-flight Caproni jet-powered sailplane, having its own power for takeoff and power to cruise in excess of 200 miles per hour, and travel hundreds of miles. Supplying what the Christmas Book calls "cozy side-by-side seating," the price is only $32,000.

Let's shop further: NECKLACE "Another magnificent gift is a necklace of 67 graduated black opals clasped by a large diamond. Three decades in the making, the opals are said to have been cut from a boulder found in 1890 at Listowell Downs in Central Queensland, Australia. The price is $90,000."

Nothing is said about only one to a customer. Probably for lack of space.

Wills Also Can Show Affection

Once upon a time a man in Chicago wrote a "will" containing a series of magical bequests.

TO CHILDREN everywhere, he left "the long long days to be merry in, in a thousand ways, and the Night and the Moon and the Milky Way to wonder at."

To lovers, he left flowers and stars and music, to be used in describing their feelings for each other.

TO PARENTS, he left "in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and all quaint pet names."

To the elderly, he left "Memory, to the end that they may live the old days over again freely and fully." He left them also "the knowledge of what a rare, rare world it is."

OF COURSE this document, composed by one Williston Fish in the year 1898, would never stand up in court as a legal will. Still, it is a striking reminder of the special opportunity given to each of us by our right to make a will — the opportunity to leave behind, as we depart this life, a legacy of love.

Few of us are as imaginative as Williston Fish. Yet most wills, in one way or another, do indeed reflect the deepest and most tender of emotions. Between the lines, behind the formalities, may be found gratitude to a devoted spouse, forgiveness for a wayward child, concern about an ailing relative, ardor for a worthy cause.

AND EVEN in the most properly executed, legally correct will, people are constantly finding fresh ways to express plain and simple affection.

A few months ago the following will, only 18 words long, was admitted to probate in a New York courtroom:

"DEAREST GEORGE, All I have is what you gave me. So everything I have is yours. Lovingly, Helen."

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the Texas State Bar Association. Written by Will Bernard.

A Devotion For Today ..

Be rooted in him (Christ); . . . let your hearts overflow with thankfulness. (Colossians 2:7)

PRAYER: We rejoice, O Lord, that by faith we may have a joyous spirit every day and in every situation. Grant that we may see every day as a gift from Thee, a gift to be used for Thee and the fulfillment of life. In Christ's name. Amen.

Teens Vie For Pageant Prize

FORT WORTH (AP) — Preliminary judging began here Sunday afternoon in the 12th annual Miss Teenage America pageant.

Each of the 51 candidates was required to take a written examination. The score will be considered in the final selection.

Miss Teenage America of 1973 will be named Saturday night during a nation-wide color telecast over the CBS network.

The show, which will be hosted by the reigning Miss Teenage America, Colleen Fitzpatrick of Lancaster, Ohio, will begin at 9 p.m. (CST).

Monday, poise and appearance judging will begin. Awareness, poise, appearance, leadership ability and talent are considered in determining who will be named Miss Teenage America.

Show officials say they do not consider the competition as a "beauty contest."

Guests Expected In Westbrook

WESTBROOK (SC) — Spending the Thanksgiving holiday with their parents, the J. K. Williamsons, the Howards, the Williamsons, Nacogdoches and the Lonnie Hoyleys, Phoenix, Ariz. The Hoyleys will also visit his parents, the Robert Hoyleys, China Grove.

Weekend guests in the Don Henderson home were their children and grandchildren, the D. L. Sullivan, Odessa, and the Elmer McMahon, Coahoma.

The Paul Byrds have returned from attending funeral services for her mother, Mrs. Reba Russell, 96, which were held in First Baptist Church, Ropesville.

Edgar Andrews has been dismissed from Root Memorial Hospital, Colorado City.

Guests of the W. A. Bells were their son and family, the Larry Bells of Odessa.

Mrs. A. C. Moody has returned from a four-day visit with her daughter, Mrs. N. L. Fuson and family in Big Lake.

Altrusans Told Holiday Customs

Five guests were introduced at the Altrusa Club's Thanksgiving dinner Thursday at Big Spring Country Club. They were Mrs. Hattie Belle Shives, Mrs. Sol Bledsoe, Mrs. Vera Gross, Mrs. Ralph Baker and Mrs. Virginia Black. Mrs. W. H. Kay presided.

The invocation, a prayer written by the late Rev. Peter Marshall, was given by Mrs. V. F. Michaels. It was a prayer presented at an opening session of the United States Senate.

Mrs. Norman Read, program chairman, discussed the Thanksgiving holiday, noting that every country has a celebration of this type although the customs may be different. She said the early Indians in America gave thanks for good crops, and the Pilgrims first observed the custom in 1620. In 1789, President George Washington proclaimed the national holiday. They ended the program by reading "The Spirit of Thanksgiving." Each member related something for which they were thankful.

Retired Teachers

The Big Spring-Howard County unit of Texas Retired Teachers Association will meet at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday in the Downtown Tea Room. Miss Sherry Mullin will be guest speaker.

Gay Hill PTA Speaker Details Flag Etiquette

"Red stands for valor, white is flying over a federal building," explained Mrs. Puckett.

Mrs. J. M. Wilson presided for the meeting, and the devotion was by Mrs. Jack Buchanan. It was announced that Gay Hill won the attendance award during the recent fall PTA workshop.

George Archer's fifth and sixth grade winning the attendance prizes. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Archer. Archer announced that school will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The next meeting will be Dec. 12 with a program by Mrs. Buchanan's third and fourth grade students.

Mrs. Puckett explained that the first flag had stars with six points, but to improve the design, they were later reduced to five. She said that the flag should be raised briskly and lowered slowly; that a flag which needs to be discarded should be either buried or burned, but in a respectful manner. In regard to using flags at funeral services, she noted that only a Bible or cross can be placed atop a flag which covers a casket.

"It is a federal offense to steal or mutilate a flag which is flying over a federal building," explained Mrs. Puckett.

Mrs. J. M. Wilson presided for the meeting, and the devotion was by Mrs. Jack Buchanan. It was announced that Gay Hill won the attendance award during the recent fall PTA workshop.

The next meeting will be Dec. 12 with a program by Mrs. Buchanan's third and fourth grade students.

'Woman Can Change World' Says New Head Of Hadassah

By EVE SHARBUTT AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rose Matzkin thinks one woman can be the catalyst in changing the world.

That's why the new president of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America, is willing to devote much of her time and ability to getting involved with the world's problems.

She joined a Hadassah study group in 1935, just six weeks after her honeymoon.

"I kept on getting involved, and Hadassah kept growing. I feel it has been a forerunner to woman's liberation for many women — it has added a new dimension to many lives," she said.

Dr. Max Matzkin, an oral surgeon, says his wife is his own contribution to a better world — she is a full time, professional volunteer worker at Hadassah headquarters four days each week.

Elected in August to lead the 325,000-member women's organization, Mrs. Matzkin has one large goal and a number of smaller ones for her four-year term.

"The biggest goal would be to see at least a 10 per cent increase in Hadassah membership, getting more women involved. I think we have a place to offer every woman who wants to reach out to others. And the impact of each one's work has international effects through Israel.

"I'm not sure I've formulated other goals yet, but I do hope Hadassah can broaden the impact of its medical work. We want to reopen Mt. Scopus in the next couple of years, and that means bridging another gap between Jewish and Arab Israelis."

A new diagnostic center at a Jerusalem medical clinic is also planned. The Hadassah goal is to have people from all over the Middle East come to the clinic for diagnosis of illness. The first community college of its kind in Israel helps retrain persons returning from Army service for jobs in the paramedical field.

Retraining professional people who emigrate to Israel from other nations is part of Hadassah's work, Mrs. Matzkin said. The fact that some people must re-learn their jobs to keep up is giving rise to complaints among Israeli emigrants, she added. Often professional people must have psychological counseling as well as professional counseling.

The center which retrains career personnel has discovered that many natives of Russia and Eastern Europe nations cannot cope with democracy. They must learn to use the new freedom Israel offers.

"We have a commitment to Jewish ideals which are, in reality, universal ideals. We know there will be a future and a good one, but we think people must be aroused to do something."

Mrs. Matzkin views Hadassah as one way to halt the pattern of violence, fear and terror in the world.

"One of the things we try to do is give Jewish young people an idea of what they can do for their people and the way in which we live," she said.

"We are working that children have a living experience in Jewish thought. One child helps another, and it is that leveling effect that is important."

Mrs. Matzkin pointed out that some families who emigrate to Israel move from the 12th century into the 20th.

"For these children, Youth Aliyah, which Hadassah supports, has special classes. Conceptual thinking and books are unknown in these children's backgrounds, as well as Jewish lore. We have pictures on the dining room walls of children's centers and camps, for example, of forks, knives, cups and bowls. The pictures are paired with the name of the item in Hebrew — which all emigrants learn — French, English, Russian and five or six other languages," she said.

The child is not then embarrassed publicly if he doesn't know the name of the item he wants. He can see it. He maintains his self-respect.

"That's what Israel is all about," Mrs. Matzkin said. "We set up these projects because that's what is needed in Israel. When they are firmly established, we turn them over to the government of the city or the nation — whoever needs them."

That is also why Hadassah is important to the country which must spend its money on defense and armaments though money is needed for development.

"The problems of the Middle East are problems not only for the Jews or for Israel, but for the world, which must also learn maximum use of limited resources for maximum good," she said. "We must cross religious lines. If we don't do this work, nobody will."

Public Invited To Holiday Worship

Thanksgiving Day services, open to the public, will be held Thursday at all Churches of Christ, Scientist, in the area.

The service at Christian Science Society, 1209 Gregg, will start at 11 a.m.

Keynoting the lesson-sermon on "Thanksgiving" is this passage from the Bible: "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

Teachers Attend Testing Workshop

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. William Conaway, a teacher at Westbrook school, participated in a testing workshop at Snyder, and Preston C. Lightfoot, counselor, attended a similar workshop in Sweetwater and Abilene. The events were conducted by Dr. Jack Mayo.

Drumright Girls Tour Paint Store

Home decorating and the correlation of colors was discussed by Joe F. Langford, manager of the Sherwin-Williams Company branch at Big Spring, when the Drumright 4-H Club toured the store last week. Two adult leaders accompanied the 13 girls.

The next meeting will be Nov. 27 at St. Lawrence Hall, when Miss Victor Gene Hughes, Glasscock County extension agent, will conduct a workshop for the upcoming food show.

Forsan Families Have Guests

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. H. H. Story spent the weekend at Midland with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Barber.

Dan Fairchild and Mrs. Larry Digby, both of Odessa, spent the weekend here with their mother, Mrs. M. M. Fairchild.

The Buster Griggs, Hamlin, and the Mac Alexanders, Midland, were guests recently of their parents, the L. T. Shoults.

Mrs. Willie Davidson has returned from Whiteface where she visited her son and family, the Frank Davidsons.

Band Boosters Meet Tonight

The Coahoma Band Boosters will meet today at 8:30 p.m. in the band hall, immediately after the drug abuse film which will be shown in the school auditorium.

A LOVELIER YOU Use Good Judgement In Accessory Choice

By MARY SUE MILLER The Scene — Backstage try-on for a fashion show of evening dresses with accessories. Cast — 10 models. Star — Designer of Collection. The designer speaks:

—To young model wearing creamy cashmere sweater with matching taffeta skirt. "Take off the rhinestone pin. You need only small gold earrings."

—To a slinky siren in a slither slip of black matte jersey. "That gold shoulder bag looks awful. Go get a black satin envelope with a flashy rhinestone clasp. Attach a rhinestone clip to your left shoulder strap."

—To regal mannequin in a float of flame chiffon. "Who put that sequin scarf on you? That dress requires the elegance of pearls — a necklace and bracelets."

As should be, the accessories thus complemented the clothes and the models. All looked exactly right on the runway. This does not imply that the accessories cast aside were in any way inferior. Shown with other costumes effects were marvelous.

Besides the accessories already noted, here's a partial list of new beauties: Jewelry... Cut crystal necklaces and pendants, long strands of green-apple jade and rings set with jade. Scarves... Fringed velvet, chiffon and brocade. Gloves... White, glace kid. Purses... Metallic brocades, peau do sole tapestry, gold metal "lockets."

Most important, remember that overdoing can be your undoing. Underplay accessories for an elaborate dress. Reserve the highly decorative for unadorned dresses.

LOVELIER HANDS Do you have a hand problem? Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a leaflet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish-chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

You can now command your body to melt away fat

AND LOSE AS MUCH AS YOU WANT WHILE YOU ENJOY EATING AS MUCH AS YOU WANT!

Because this eminent doctor discovered how to utilize your body's FMH — the fat mobilizing hormone — by experimenting on himself...

The famous Superdiet — Dr. Atkins' "Diet Revolution" reveals in full this recently discovered weight loss secret.

You don't need pills — you don't count calories — you don't even need willpower (because you're never hungry)!

Yet you can lose 10-50-100 pounds or more (6 to 8 the first week!) and keep it off for the rest of your life!

It's truly a Diet Revolution!

For over 50 years we've all been brainwashed into thinking that the only way to lose weight was to cut calories. "It's a hoax!" says Dr. Robert C. Atkins. We all know some lucky person who can "eat like a horse" and never gain a pound — what has she or he got that you haven't got?

Read these incredible true stories!

From size 18 to size 8! Beatrice G had been taking diet pills since she was a fat 9-year-old! Yet when she came to Dr. Atkins, she still weighed 166 pounds and wore size 18! Now she's size 8 and still losing! "The best part is I know I'll never have to go hungry again!" she says.

Loses 85 pounds in 17 weeks. Herb W weighed 367 pounds at the age of 32. He had tried diet pills and started and quit Weightwatchers several times. After four months of Dr. Atkins' diet, he had lost 85 pounds — yet he was never hungry. "I'm losing, but I'm not on a diet. I'm eating up a storm," he says happily. "It's fantastic!"

Why Dr. Atkins diet will work for you!

1. Unlike any other diet — you control your own body chemistry to burn off unwanted fat and keep it off. (You're different from every body else on earth, so Dr. Atkins' simple test, which you make every day, lets you know it's working, and lets you regulate your weight precisely.)
2. Unlike other methods — there are no pills to take, no calories to count, no strenuous exercises, and not a single hunger pang to suffer ever before!
3. You will lose weight the first week, and continue to lose until you reach the weight you want to be — most men lose 7-8 pounds, the first week — most women 5-6 pounds!
4. You'll lose inches from your measurements... right where you want to lose them!

WHICH OF THESE DIETING MISTAKES DO YOU MAKE?

1. Do you have nothing for breakfast but high protein cereal with skim milk? "WRONG," says Dr. Atkins. "Have two fried eggs and all the bacon you want!"
2. Do you try to get by for lunch with nothing but a piece of lean ground beef with a little ketchup on it? "WRONG," says Dr. Atkins. "Have two cheeseburgers instead."
3. Do you skip lunch entirely and nibble a tiny box of raisins? "WRONG," says Dr. Atkins. "Have some chicken Kiev dripping with melted butter!"
4. When you eat out, do you go off your diet? "No need to," says Dr. Atkins, and tells you how to enjoy Chinese food, French food, Italian food right from the menu.

30-DAY NO-RISK TRIAL ORDER NOW! THIS BOOK COULD CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

If you are over your "ideal weight" (most people are)... if you've ever tried to diet it off or exercise it off and failed... if you've tried a "crash diet"... if you're afraid to stop smoking for fear you'll gain weight... if you've tried amphetamine pills, water pills and injections without results... this amazing book could help you change your life! The week after you get it in your hands you could be 8 pounds lighter and many times happier!

BETTER TREATMENT URGED

Half-Million Americans Suffer Stroke Each Year

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The high toll of death and disability from stroke in the United States might be reduced significantly with better treatment of high blood pressure.

A half-million Americans suffer stroke each year, and 200,000 of them die.

As many as 100,000 cases might be prevented with better detection and treatment of high blood pressure, said specialists attending scientific sessions of the American Heart Association.

BLOOD PRESSURE

The problems of hypertension—high blood pressure—emerged as a major concern among physicians attending the meeting, which ended Sunday.

Stroke is the third leading cause of death in the United States and among the top three in 39 other countries.

Hypertension, one of the causes of stroke, afflicts an estimated 27 million Americans. Only about half of these cases have been diagnosed. This is what concerns physicians.

Once diagnosed, the problem can be brought under control, although not cured, with several drugs. Persistent high blood pressure can lead not only to stroke but to heart disease and kidney failure.

Some 1.7 million Americans are living with the disabilities that follow stroke—some totally disabled, unable to walk or speak or move in bed.

TRAGIC PROBLEM

While stroke costs the United States $4.6 billion a year, Dr. Nemat O. Borhani of the University of California, Davis, told newsmen, the figures "cannot possibly reveal the extent of personal hardship and suffering for victims of stroke and members of their families."

"I don't see any light at the end of the tunnel that this can be changed in the near future unless our country decides that something has to be done to alleviate this tragic problem," he asserted.

Of the 300,000 persons who survive stroke each year, 75 to 80 per cent will need continuing care to one degree or another, Borhani said.

"We have to create stroke awareness," he said.

The incidence of stroke rises increasingly with age and is often associated with the elderly, but participants in the meeting pointed out that it affects the young also.

Dr. Fletcher McDowell of Cornell University medical college, New York, noted that stroke patients rarely improve very much after they are afflicted, although they sometimes can learn to manage themselves.

The brain, unlike some other organs, cannot regenerate damaged cells.

Dr. Jack Whisnant of Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., said not more than 10 to 15 per cent of persons with high blood pressure are being treated and having their blood pressure lowered.

FORGET THEM

He pointed out also that about 40 per cent of those who suffer stroke have normal blood pressure.

Whisnant emphasized the importance for patients to report to their physicians any passing, brief attacks of dizziness, unsteadiness or slight difficulties which might indicate high blood pressure.

Because these often are so brief, patients do not feel that they should "bother" their doctor about them or they forget them.

Dr. Frank A. Finnerty Jr. of

Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., pled for utilization of nurses and other auxiliary medical workers in the care of hypertensive patients.

SHOCKING

These non-physicians work under the supervision of the doctor. They can provide routine checkups and day-to-day care and save the physician's time. Finnerty pointed out.

The amount of undiagnosed high blood pressure even in a hospital is shocking, he said.

Finnerty reported that nurses in one unidentified medical center took the blood pressure of 2,003 nonsurgical patients and found that 640 of them had high blood pressure, but only 70 were under treatment for it.

Kissinger, Hanoi's Envoy Seeking Quick Settlement

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger resumed his secret peace negotiations with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho in Paris today amid indications that their governments are determined to seek a quick settlement.

The chief obstacle appeared to be the South Vietnamese government's insistent demand for withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam. But Kissinger gave no indication how strongly he would insist on this point.

SAME SPIRIT

President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser said on his arrival Sunday that if Tho and his associate Xuan Thuy showed "the same spirit of understanding and flexibility which characterized our meetings in October, a rapid settlement of the war is probable."

Kissinger and Tho drafted an agreement last month calling for an on-the-spot cease-fire throughout South Vietnam, followed by withdrawal of all American forces, release of all prisoners of war and elections in South Vietnam under international supervision.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

NEGOTIATOR — Gerard C. Smith, known as a no-nonsense negotiator, is preparing to lead the U.S. delegation in a new series of SALT talks with the Soviet Union.

North Vietnam set an Oct. 31 deadline for signing the agreement, but the United States refused to be rushed. Kissinger told a news conference in Washington on Oct. 26 some details still needed clarification but added:

NO NEW CHANGES

"We have given a commitment that a text that will be agreed to at the next session will be the final text and that no new changes will be proposed."

While publicly accusing the United States of stalling, North Vietnamese officials in Paris contended privately that this was a commitment to finalize the text at the current session. These officials expressed concern over reports from Washington that Kissinger will seek Saigon's approval of the "final" draft and may ask for still another negotiating session with Tho to make the agreement acceptable to Saigon.

"In this way, it may never end," one Hanoi official said.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's South Vietnamese openly described the October draft as a sellout, and the Viet Cong said it represented the "absolute maximum" of concessions the Communists could make.

Amarillo Slim Making Run For $31,000

MIDDLE FORK OF THE SALMON RIVER, Idaho (AP) — Amarillo Slim, a world champion gambler who bet he could float one of Idaho's toughest rivers and survive, was set today to cross the half-way point to $31,000.

Slim, whose real name is T. A. Preston Jr., cut short his trip Sunday when he was dunked into the Middle Fork of the Salmon River while trying to retrieve a paddle.

Preston, of Amarillo, Tex., must run the Middle Fork of the Salmon River in central Idaho only with the help of his guide, Jere Chapman of Boise, or lose the $31,000 dare.

Joe Batson, an Amarillo advertising executive, said Slim set a target date of Friday, Saturday at the latest, to complete the run down the Salmon River, better known as the River of No Return.

Slim's progress is checked daily by a helicopter taking off from the isolated Flying B Ranch.

"It was a fabulous day—they've made about 18 or 20 miles," Batson reported from the ranch by radiotelephone.

"Slim fell out of the raft trying to reach for a paddle, but he said his wet suit worked beautifully. They planned to build a fire and do a little hunting tonight."

The Texas gambler is being followed by a second raft carrying a photographer and three other river runners.

Slim cannot accept help from any of them without losing the wager.

The gorge of the Middle Fork, one mile deep in places, is considered excellent bighorn sheep country by Idahoans.

Although roughly 4,000 tourists float the Middle Fork in July and August, rocks exposed by low water and freezing temperatures in late fall and winter make it more hazardous.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AJ53 ♥QAK109 ♣J422
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♥ Dbie. 1 ♣ Dbie.
Pass Pass 2 ♥ Pass
Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two spades. West has been trying to "psyche" you out of your suit, but North's double of the one spade bid combined with West's escape to two hearts has exposed him. North has let West's runout come around to you for appropriate action and it is now incumbent on you to complete the exposure.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J43 ♥A106 ♦KQ832 ♣72
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♦ 1 ♣ 2 ♦ Pass
3 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. If partner has suitable protection in the black suits he can now try three no trump. The delayed "cue bid" does not show overpowering strength since your original competitive raise has limited your hand.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠975 ♥Q43 ♦KQ10 ♣J632
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass 1 ♣ Pass Pass
Dbie. Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Obviously partner is unwilling to concede a part score effort to the opposition and is asking you to select one of the red suits. You must try to get along as well as possible with a three card suit. Whether you bid two hearts or two diamonds is a matter of temperament. Our own taste runs to two hearts.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A84 ♥A75 ♦AK92 ♣A106
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ 2 ♣ 2 ♦ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—This is a very powerful hand facing a partner who is able to make a free bid and the possibilities are unlimited. A leap to three no trump would be ultraconservative and mended procedure is to make a cue bid of three clubs, postponing further aggressive action until partner is heard from again. Needless to say, you will not settle for anything less than game.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ32 ♥AK1092 ♦103 ♣A6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass Pass 2 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Partner has admitted possession of a trickless hand by failing to keep your opening bid alive, and no effort should be made to improve the contract. In fact, every inducement should be given the opposition to carry on the contest.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K52 ♥43 ♦95 ♣J109875
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ Pass 1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Obviously, partner has the hearts, which accounts for his pass over the opening bid. With two trumps and a doubtless, your hand may be regarded as tolerant of hearts.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ1083 ♥76543 ♦109 ♣89
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♥ 1 ♣ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. A direct and simple raise seems to us the most appropriate action since we would raise no strong objection to an immediate bid of four hearts. The preemptive bid might serve to inhibit the enemy's finding a minor suit fit which they would surely do if you were ingenious enough to double an spade.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q106 ♥AQ7642 ♦QJ3 ♣K
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♥ Pass 3 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. Although partner's rebid is not forcing, it is semi-encouraging, since he was at liberty to pass two hearts. The king of clubs looms as a important card.

Throng Greet Billy Graham In Nagaland

KOHIMA, India (AP) — Dr. Billy Graham arrived today in remote Nagaland to lead a crusade for Christians and was greeted by 100,000 persons who lined the winding streets of the state capital, waving and praying as his motorcade went by.

Graham, who came here to help celebrate the 100th anniversary of the arrival of the first Baptist missionary in the state, was visibly moved.

Nearly everyone wore knee-length robes with special colors designating each of the 14 Naga tribes.

"I was overwhelmed to see their smiles, to see the anticipation of our crusade in their eyes," he said.

Kohima usually has a population of 20,000 but it has swelled to more than 100,000 persons, many of whom hiked for days through dense forests to reach the capital of this predominantly Christian state.

Season's Over

By DON COOPER
Herald Sports Editor

The 1972 season finished mercifully for the Big Spring Steers Friday night. The season, which started with the Steers and their fans having high hopes about the team's prospects, ended dimly on a cold, misty night in Memorial Stadium with the Steers sustaining a 35-14 loss.

Only a 34-19 win over the Abilene Eagles enabled the Steers to avoid the embarrassment of a winless season and kept them out of the District 5-AAAA cellar with a 1-6 league mark.

The only thing left for the Steers is to look ahead to next year. Several good athletes will be moving up from the junior varsity and sophomore teams and several juniors turned in good performances on the varsity unit this season. So, what started out as this year will have to be postponed until next year.

Congratulations must go to the Coahoma Bulldogs for capturing the District 7-AA co-championship. The Bulldogs shared the title with the Ozona Lions; however, Coahoma won the right to represent the district in the bi-district playoffs with a 20-14 win over Ozona.

The Bulldogs displayed a lot of character in their drive to the championship. Coahoma lost the first three games of the season. Things weren't going right for the Bulldogs; however, the coaches and players shook off these wins and continued to work.

Finally, Oct. 6, the Bulldogs snapped their loss string and blasted Hamlin, 40-18. That launched a four-game win string that was ended by a heart-breaking 16-12 upset loss to Reagan County.

The Bulldogs had held a 12-10 lead over Reagan County as time was running out. Victory was snatched away by an 82-yard bomb on the last play of the game.

Again, the Bulldogs shook off the effects of this defeat and went on to gain a berth in the playoffs.

Friday night, Coahoma will travel to Monahans to meet the Alpine Cowboys in the second step toward a possible state championship.

Here's a look at the 1972 Bulldog record:

COAHOMA BULLDOGS
District 7-AA Co-Champs	Record
Coahoma 20, Sonora 21	20-14
Coahoma 18, Colorado City 27	18-14
Coahoma 15, Lake View 26	15-14
Coahoma 40, Hamlin 18	40-18
Coahoma 49, Baitinger 21	49-21
Coahoma 16, Reagan County 16	16-12
Coahoma 16, Crane 8	16-8

Los Angeles On Another Win String

The Los Angeles Lakers have won 10 straight in the National Basketball Association. Could it be that the NBA champions will go on and shatter their record winning streak of 33 in a row?

The Lakers started on the longest winning streak in the history of major league professional team sports just a year ago this month.

Their current streak started Oct. 29 against Phoenix and reached 10 Sunday night with a 135-95 rout of Philadelphia. The Lakers now have won 15 of their last 16 games. Their last defeat came at the hands of Golden State.

Cleveland whipped Atlanta 109-98 and Seattle downed Buffalo 107-84 in Sunday's other NBA games. In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets edged Kentucky 118-115. Memphis downed Virginia 130-118 and San Diego took Denver in overtime 122-116.

Led by Gail Goodrich and Jim McMillian, who hit for 24 and 19 points, respectively, the Lakers rolled up a 68-43 half-time lead and let the reserves take over after that. Leroy Ellis topped the 76ers with 20 points.

Lions Awaiting Next Challenge

Like a bride-to-be, East Texas is awaiting the NAIA to show for the wedding.

The Lions captured the 38th Lone Star Conference football title Saturday with a 27-6 victory over Tarleton State that made them a prospect for the NAIA playoffs. ETSU is ranked No. 6 in the NAIA.

GAMBLER AND LOST

Packers Clip Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach Bill Peterson gambled and lost to the Green Bay Packers 23-10 Sunday, but he is at least lucky he didn't put any money on it—he'd have lost that too.

"I'd have bet $10,000 that Dan Devine wouldn't have thrown that," Peterson said of the second-year Green Bay head coach.

Peterson referred to the fake punt on fourth down that punter Ron Widby turned into a 68-yard touchdown pass to Dave Davis with 21 seconds left in the first half.

It broke a 7-7 and ignited the Packers to a 7-3 record and retention of first place in the National Football Conference's Central Division.

"We gambled and lost—they gambled and won," Peterson said. "We rushed everybody but one man trying to block it. Then we missed a tackle. You've got to give them credit."

Davis said the play was something the Packers had noticed in watching game film. "I just went down 34 yards and waited," Davis said. "I hadn't picked my speed up. (Safety John) Charles was coming up and I knew I had to make a move on him."

The Packers' other first half touchdown was just as spectacular—an 85-yard punt return by Jon Stagers. He took in a towering 60-yard punt by Dan Pastorini, skittered through the first wave of tacklers and zipped down the sideline for a 7-0 lead.

"You have to have those," Devine said. "It was really beautiful return. They covered aggressively, just like I hope our guys would do. The distance of the punt helped but you can't foul Pastorini."

Houston scored its only touchdown of the game right after Stagers' gallop on a one-yard plunge by Paul Robinson, capping an 80-yard drive in 12 plays.

The march was helped along by two consecutive personal fouls against Packer defensive end Vernon Vanoy.

"I didn't know what I was doing," Vanoy said. "I guess it was for using my hand swipe. It's what I usually do but I don't usually get 15-yard penalties for it."

Houston's only other scoring was Skipper Butler's 13-yard field goal after an Oiler drive halted at the Packer six in the fourth quarter. Houston got to the Green Bay 24 in the third period where Butler missed a 31-yard attempt by inches.

Packer running back MacArthur Lane sacked it up with four minutes left in a 36-yard touchdown run and Bob Brown tackled Pastorini in the end zone moments later for a safety.

Houston's defense played well in the first half, putting a good rush on Green Bay quarterback Scott Hunter. The offense, which has shown a rushing spark with the addition of Robinson and Fred Willis, had a noticeable letdown in the second half.

"We possibly played too conservatively," Peterson said. "But when you have lost as much as we have and are trying to win, you can't afford to come up with a big boo-boo on a trick play. We're just going to have to go back to our old drills."

The Oilers have had a winning hand but once this season in 10 games, defeating the New York Jets. They now are 1-9 the worst in the NFL.

Widby, who is actually the Packers' No. 3 quarterback, said the play would have been called off if Houston had been in a 9-man rush. "I just tried to lay it out there for him," Widby said.

The Packer specialty teams, a strong part of Green Bay's attack, got much of the credit for the victory and the Pack awarded the game ball to specialty coach Hank Kuhlmann.

A LITTLE HECKLING NEVER HURTS — Miami middle line backer Neck Buoniconti (85) has his arms extended as he heckles New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath (12) during the final period in Sunday's game in the Orange Bowl. Namath was calling for quiet in the stadium to start a play and Nick was hollering at him. The Dolphins downed the Jets, 28-24, to post their 11th win of the season against no losses.

'WEREN'T REAL SHARP' Cowboys Clobber Eagles, 28-7

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry isn't an easy man to please. He liked the result of Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles, but he wasn't too happy about the way it was accomplished.

Dallas beat the hapless Eagles 28-7 in their National Football League game and moved to within a half game of the Washington Redskins, who lead the NFL's National Conference East by half a game and play Atlanta tonight in the Monday night television game.

"We just weren't real sharp," Landry said. "It showed up in a number of ways. We dropped passes, had two poor punts and missed several defensive plays."

Landry was upset because the Cowboys' defense allowed the Eagles to score their first touchdown in 15 quarters and first by a running back this season when Larry Watkins powered 15 yards in the first period to give Philadelphia a short lived 7-2 lead.

"The defense giving up that touchdown encouraged Philadelphia, since they hadn't scored a touchdown in a long time," Landry noted. "We will have to play better than we did today if we hope to win Thursday against San Francisco (Thanksgiving Day) and against Washington in a couple of weeks."

Landry's comment about the defense appeared a little harsh, since it held the Eagles to 120 yards running and a net of 6 yards through the air. The Philadelphia passers, Pete Liske and John Reeves, completed only 10 passes for a total of 85 yards. Dallas, however, sacked the two quarterbacks for a total of nine times and 79 yards.

"Our defense played better than it had in the past couple of weeks, but it still had breakdowns early," said Landry. The Cowboys' defense had allowed 100 points in its previous four games.

Landry felt the turning point in the loosely played game came at the start of the second half when Philadelphia's Al Nelson fumbled the kickoff and Dallas recovered at the Eagles' 25. Calvin Hill smashed 6-yards into the end zone and fumbled, but guard John Niland fell on the ball for a Cowboys' touchdown that boosted the score to 19-7.

Landry indicated that the slow start by the Dallas offense the Cowboys trailed 7-2 after one period because quarterback Craig Morton had trouble spotting receivers against a slightly changed Eagles' defense. "It took him (Morton) a little time to figure it out and then things began to work," said the coach.

Morton completed 11 of 21 for 167 yards and one touchdown. He was helped on the ground by Hill, who gained 10 yards on 15 carries, and Walt Garrison, 48 on 11. Morton directed a 77-yard drive for the Cowboys' first score. Completions of 10 and 29 yards to Jean Fugett and a 17-yard run by Hill set up the three-yard scoring toss to Garrison. Tony Fritsch converted to make it 9-7. Fritsch kicked a 42-yard field goal and it was 12-10 at halftime.

In the fourth quarter, Eagles' center Steve Smith centered over the punter's head for the second time accounting for a second safety-only the sixth time in NFL history a team got two safeties in a game-and Hill scored from the six on the final play of a 55-yard drive making the final 28-7.

The Cleveland Browns bounced the Pittsburgh Steelers 28-24 and threw their AFC Central race into a tie; Oakland crushed Denver 37-20 and moved 1 1/2 games up on the Kansas City Chiefs in the AFC West. The Chiefs were beaten 27-17 by the San Diego Chargers.

In the National Football Conference, the Dallas Cowboys smashed the Philadelphia Eagles 28-7 and moved within a half-game of front-running Washington in the East. The Redskins play a game tonight against the Atlanta Falcons, who are tied for first in the West.

Los Angeles fell into a tie with Atlanta after dropping a 45-41 decision to the Minnesota Vikings. Green Bay held onto first in the Central by one game after beating the Houston Oilers 23-10.

In the other games Sunday, it was: Baltimore 20, Cincinnati 19; Buffalo 27, New England 24; Detroit 27, New Orleans 14; New York 13, St. Louis 7 and San Francisco 34, Chicago 21.

Safety Dick Anderson set up two Miami touchdowns with a pass interception and fumble recovery as the Dolphins beat the Jets in a heart-stopping game decided in the closing quarter.

With the Jets leading 24-21 in the last period, Anderson fell on a fumble by the Jets' Cliff McLain at the New York 27.

Four plays later, Mercury Morris ran 14 yards around the left side for the winning touchdown, blowing a 17-point lead.

"They refused to settle for anything but a victory," said Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich.

Oakland's Charlie Smith and Marv Hubbard combined for 185 yards rushing and scored a touchdown en route to lead Oakland over Denver. George Blanda kicked three field goals and also kicked four extra points for Oakland to become the NFL's all-time leader in career conversions with 812.

Other catches included Steve Stevenson, Hobbs, N.M., 15 crappie up to 1 1/2 pounds; Y. J. Sherrill, Lake Spence, six channel cat to five pounds; Hank Baker, Robert Lee, seven channel cat with the largest seven pounds; and A. J. Tisdale, Midland, two black bass to 5 1/2 pounds.

Weekend fishermen reported these results: From Odessa Jim Binns had five black bass to three pounds; Tom Sites five black bass to three pounds; Ralph Hickman five black bass with the largest five pounds; Tip Tippet, five sand bass averaging 1 1/2 pounds and one striped bass at two pounds; John Murphy eight black bass to 2 3/4 pounds; Ray Palmroy, three black bass to 3 3/4 pounds; Charles Walton four black bass with the largest over 3 1/2 pounds; Bill Shaw four black bass to two pounds; and Joe Murphy nine black bass to 2 3/4 pounds.

Dolphins Down Jets

Miami's 28-24 Win Clinches Crown

By The Associated Press

After intercepting a swarm of Jets, the Miami Dolphins are taking off into the National Football League's wild, blue yonder.

"We've got to get this football team ready to start the playoffs," said Shula after his tough guys won the American Football Conference's Eastern Division title with a 28-24 decision over the New York Jets Sunday.

Shula made it plain that he wouldn't take anything less than a return-trip ticket to the NFL's championship game. The Dolphins were humiliated in the Big One last year by the Dallas Cowboys.

"Sure, winning a division championship is important," said Shula. "But now we've got the second season to think about."

In winning the division title over their closest pursuers, the Dolphins grabbed their 10th straight division title. With four more games to go, they threaten to become only the third team in NFL history to finish a regular season undefeated.

While Miami ran away and hid from its opponents in the AFC East, the NFL's remaining division titles were still up for grabs after Sunday's action.

The Cleveland Browns bounced the Pittsburgh Steelers 28-24 and threw their AFC Central race into a tie; Oakland crushed Denver 37-20 and moved 1 1/2 games up on the Kansas City Chiefs in the AFC West. The Chiefs were beaten 27-17 by the San Diego Chargers.

Huskers Not Wild About Meeting Irish

By The Associated Press It's not often you find a group of young men who aren't wild about spending New Year's in Miami, but that's the feeling among the Nebraska Cornhuskers... especially since the Alabama football team will be in Dallas.

football heritage as any two in-scored two in leading the Nittany Lions over Boston College and on the road to New Orleans: "I've been looking forward to playing in the Sugar Bowl ever since 1952 when I drove all night to watch Maryland and Tennessee," said Coach Joe Paterno, who has already taken his teams to the Orange, Cotton and Gator Bowls.

"I'd rather play Alabama than Notre Dame," Nebraska super star Johnny Rodgers said Saturday after the defending two-time national champions crushed Kansas State 59-7 and accepted an Orange Bowl bid for the third year in a row.

The Cornhuskers walloped Alabama 33-8 last New Year's Night in a clash between the No. 1 and 2—at the time—college football teams. Nebraska is only rated fifth this year and the second-ranked Crimson Tide was the highest available opponent, since front-running Southern California, the Pacific-8 champ, is committed to the Rose Bowl following a 24-7 trimming of No. 14 UCLA.

"I hope when the ratings come out, they take into consideration the fact that Alabama had every opportunity to play us," Rodgers added. Defensive captain Bill Jansen said Nebraska's "first choice was to play anybody in the Orange Bowl and our third choice was anybody in the Sugar Bowl."

Nebraska's opponent this time will be 10th-ranked Notre Dame, which held on for a 20-17 victory over the University of Miami. The Orange Bowl

Harvesting Of West Texas Cotton Swings

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The Texas weather picture underwent considerable change during last week with a mixture of cold, rain and turbulence. Conditions were poor for farm and ranch activities. However, farmers in western areas should now be able to get the cotton harvest into full swing due to freezing weather. Livestock are in good condition with screwworm cases slowing due to cooler weather.

According to Dr. John E. Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, harvest operations are still the major farm activities in northern and western areas. The pecan harvest continued in full swing in most areas with record yields in prospect in Central Texas.

HIGH WINDS
Pastures and ranges in most areas are boasting an abundance of forage and should provide livestock with good grazing well into the winter, noted Hutchinson. Livestock are in good condition with screwworm cases slowing due to cooler weather. District Extension agents reported the following conditions.

FAR WEST: Harvesting of cotton and grain sorghum is in full swing. Irrigated small grains are being grazed while dryland plantings are progressing well. Range conditions for the season are the best in years and livestock are in excellent condition. Deer harvest prospects are excellent.
South Plains: Harvesting of grain sorghum was active and is past the half-way point. Yields have been good. The cotton harvest has been slow but should gain momentum as the recent freeze defoliates the crop in southern counties. Ranges are in good condition and wheat pastures are making excellent progress.

WEST CENTRAL: The recent frost that covered part of the area should defoliate the cotton crop so that harvesting can start. However, the crop is short in most counties. The pecan harvest is about over and yields have been short. Some peanuts are still being harvested. Small grains are making good growth.

All Charged Up

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm a 21-year-old girl, and I have this problem of too much electricity in me. Is there any way of getting it out without an operation? Is there some kind of medicine I can take? — F.M.V.

It isn't "electricity in you." It's on you. And there is no operation and no medicine that will do anything about it — although there are ways to get rid of it. I get quite a few letters about this, especially in the fall and winter. It seems to bother, and sometimes frighten, quite a few people. It's just static electricity, and there's nothing dangerous about it so far as your health is concerned. When I was a boy, we used to have a certain amount of fun with it. Here's what happens. Under some circumstances, mere friction builds up charges of this static electricity. One thing we used to do was to run a comb briskly through our hair on a cold winter night, which would build up a little electrical charge on the comb. Then, in the dark, if you touched the comb to the tip of your nose, you'd see a tiny spark. Or you could sort of scuff your shoes on the rug or carpeting, and build up a charge of static electricity that way. If you touched somebody else, there'd be a little spark, and you and the other fellow would feel a tiny shock. As a matter of fact, there are more of these static charges built up today than in the dim days of my childhood. Why? More nylon, for one thing. More rugs and wall-to-wall carpeting, for another. Technically, the friction builds up these charges, but under some circumstances the static charges leak away as fast as they are formed, so there are no sparks, no shocks. If there is moisture on things, the charges leak away more readily. When things are dry, they don't. So that's why we used to play with these static charges on cold, dry winter nights. In other words, electricity doesn't travel well on dry surfaces, so the charges just stay where they are until you touch something to which they can escape. Nylon is a very good insulator, and that is the reason why girls who wear nylon slips or dresses or underclothes can store up such charges of static. Personally, I have a pair of loose slippers which evidently are good insulators, because I'm forever building up charges when I wear those slippers and the house is dry. If I touch my finger or knuckles to something that is grounded — electrically attached to the ground, like a radiator, water pipe, metal door frame, etc. — the charge is dissipated. Such static can be hazardous in one circumstance: if a spark occurs in an atmosphere containing explosive fumes. So, for one example, people don't wear nylon in operating rooms. They wear cotton, which absorbs traces of moisture and conducts any static charges away before they build up to soaking proportions. Floors are made of material that will let charges leak away, too. Anyhow, for ordinary purposes, your best ways of avoiding little shocks from static are to raise the humidity of the house (don't let it become too dry). Rug-cleaning firms will spray carpets to reduce static, or you can spray a dilute solution of a detergent which will help temporarily. You can try rubber soles.

Note to Mrs. D. O'B.: It is doubtful that moving from one part of the country to another would have any effect on psoriasis. Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin, and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Bandana Bandit Roped By Police

HOUSTON (AP) — Police have filed several robbery charges against Bobby Joe Reickenbacker, 22, an unemployed rodeo rider whom they claim held up 17 businesses here in the past six weeks. Friday night they filed three more charges for a total of seven and officers said more were to come. The man who politely robbed the businesses, telling employees the company's money was worth killing for but not worth dying for, was known as the bandana bandit for a blue bandana he wore as a headband.

Rancher In San Antonio Teacher

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP) — Kendall County Brown Roberts Jr. was acquitted of murder 5, 1970, slaying a tonic school teacher. "Thank God," after the verdict pronounced in 28th I. It followed three iterations by the jury. Roberts, 49, charged with the killing of Thomas O. O'Brien, a teacher at Central High School in Junction, was a rancher in San Antonio. After court was over, Roberts said, "You know how grateful and to the people

ACCENTS VIOLENT TOLL

Grisly Double Slaying

By The Associated Press

The grisly double slaying of an aged woman and her daughter near La Grange accentuated the Texas violent death toll over the weekend.

The Associated Press began tabulating violent deaths in the state at 4 p.m. Friday and included deaths that occurred through midnight Sunday.

Early today, the count reached 22, including 13 traffic fatalities, four shootings, three fatal stabbings and two deaths in a fire at Plainview.

Mrs. Luvenia Denford, 81, and her daughter, Evelyn Denford, 42, were stabbed to death Friday night at their farm near Walthalla in Fayette County, about 12 miles northeast of La Grange.

Sheriff T. J. Flourney said the elderly woman's throat was cut and that Miss Denford's body had 34 stab wounds in it. He charged John Lewis Brown, 49, of Plum with murder. No bond was set.

KNIFE FIGHT
Mrs. Rita Armstrong, 17, of Channelview was killed Sunday and her husband, Gary Armstrong, 20, critically injured in a two-car crash at an intersection in the Houston-area town. The driver of the second car escaped injury.

Calvin V. Davis, 46, of Houston was killed and James Leroy Smith, 32, of Houston seriously wounded in what police said was a knife fight in a laundry. Houston police said they had not determined the cause of the fight.

Frank James Williams, 48, of Houston was killed in a two-car accident Friday. Officer said his car veered into the wrong lane.

Leonard Jones 22, a Dyess Air Force Base airman at Abilene, was shot to death Saturday in an incident at a restaurant. Police reported he died of a gunshot wound to the back.

A.C. Reed, 60, and Velma Drews Reed, 50, were killed late Friday night in a two-vehicle collision on Texas 71 near Austin. Officers said the Reed car and a truck collided head on while on wet pavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huggins of Plainview were both killed Saturday when a fire at their home broke out in the early morning hours. The cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

OUT OF CONTROL
Mamie Manning 64, of the Crossroads Community in Harrison County was killed in a car-truck collision Saturday during a rainstorm in Marshall. Investigators said the Manning car ran under a tank truck, knocking the truck into two other vehicles.

John P. Frye, 46, was shot to death Friday night in Dallas. Witnesses said Frye was killed in a struggle with the 19-year-old owner of a pistol.

Raydel Mancuso, 22, of Dickinson died Saturday as a result of injuries received in a one-car accident on FM 517 north of Dickinson. Mancuso died at the Galveston County Memorial hospital.

Van Johnson Jr., 32, of Houston was shot to death Saturday on a parking lot at a bar when he attempted to stop a fight between a man and a woman, according to police. Charles Page, 31, of Houston was charged with murder in connection with the incident.

Edward O. Williamson of New Caney, Tex., was killed Saturday when the car he was driving on a Harris County farm road went out of control and struck a tree. Williams' 13-year-old granddaughter was injured in the accident.

JoAnn Smith, 18, of Groves, was killed in a two-car crash Friday night on State 73 near Port Arthur. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Parkplace Hospital at Port Arthur.

DEAD ON ARRIVAL
Clyde W. Milhoam, 54, of Odessa was pronounced dead at the scene of a truck-train accident Saturday at State 214 and a railroad crossing near Lehman.

James A. Bradshaw, 48, of Vernon was dead at the scene

Rancher Freed In San Antonio Teacher Slaying

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP) — Kendall County rancher Bob Brown Roberts Jr., has been acquitted of murder in the Aug. 5, 1970, slaying of a San Antonio school teacher.

"Thank God," Roberts said after the verdict was announced in 28th District Court. It followed three hours of deliberation by the jury.

Roberts, 49, had been charged with the killing of Thomas O. O'Neill, 25, a teacher at Central Catholic High School in San Antonio and son of a Bexar County physician, Dr. Francis O'Neill.

After court was dismissed, Roberts said, "You can't imagine how grateful I am to God and to the people of Junction."

CORRECTION

A listing in the public records carried in the Sunday's issue of The Herald was in error. It should have read: Maile Faye Watters versus William Henry Watters, dismissal of application for a contempt citation in connection with a divorce proceeding. The divorce had been granted some time ago, and the dismissal simply removed the contempt application from the docket. The Herald regrets that the item was incorrectly listed as a divorce dismissal and extends its apologies.

Cold, Damp Weather Lingers Around Texas

By The Associated Press

A blanket of low clouds continued to hover over eastern portions of Texas today, although fair skies began to appear in the southern tip of the state.

Fog developed near dawn in parts of the Panhandle, but elsewhere skies were clear. Early morning temperatures in the state were mostly in the 30s and 40s, but ranged as low as the upper 20s in the north-and the upper 50s in extreme South Texas. Today's outlook called for continued cold weather with clouds again expected to start spreading across western and southern portions of the state.

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies were seen elsewhere. A few drops of light rain were possible for portions of West Texas and light rain or snow was expected in the Panhandle. On Sunday, cool air continued to filter southward across much of the eastern two-thirds of Texas, with much of the state under a heavy cloud cover. Little precipitation was reported, but humidity was high in the state, combining with cold temperatures to make the overall weather picture numbing as well as dismal.

Santa Lost At Port 213

Those in search of Santa Claus this year need look no further than Inland Port 213, Downtown Big Spring. Santa hangs out there in seasonal contemplation of the myriad gift ideas in stock.

The variety and choice of gifts is so wide and so complete, that Inland Port 213 may very well be known as a one-stop shopping place for Christmas.

The selection begins with a new shipment of German gift-clocks, in all sizes. A Swiss movement assures long-lasting pleasure from clocks of charming design.

World-famous Hummel musical figurines and music boxes, powder boxes and even brass bird-cage types and Christmas tree shapes are sure to please.

To light the face of Hummel figurine collectors, Inland Port 213 has a complete selection of the classic German figures, plus a new shipment this season of the new Hummel creation, "Blumenkinder."

Another fine Western Germany product is the new arrival of crystal, sure to make the dining table and sitting room a brighter place.

Candles and incense of all fragrances will find a happy home and make it happier. The selection of candles at Inland Port 213 is so varied that even the most narrow-minded shopper will have difficulty in making a choice. Hummel sculptures are now available in brass, too.

Christmas On Film-Forever

Christmas is a beautiful time of the year. Once it's gone, it stays gone . . . unless you have it on film. Next year, the kids will be a year older. The moments you hold dear to your heart, should be kept on Kodak film. Keaton Kolor is distributor for all Kodak supplies, from the tiny Pocket Instamatic camera to darkroom supplies and film. Located at 1309 Gregg St., Keaton Kolor offers one day processing service of Kodacolor film. Slides and special services require a little longer, but most film service and products-orders are available on an overnight basis.

KODAK MEANS CHRISTMAS
Again and again. Be sure your Christmas is on film

Ambassador cards in all styles and designs make beautiful companions to gift snapshots. A picture of the family or the children slipped inside an attractive, seasonal Ambassador greeting card will bring a smile to Grandma and Grandpa or aunts and uncles. Cameras make great gifts, too. A full line of Kodak Instamatics are in stock. The Instamatic is the camera that revolutionized home photography with the "snapshot." Anyone can operate the Instamatic, whether it be the old standard continually redesigned and improved year to year, or the new Pocket Instamatic that photo-magazine editors are raving about.

Keaton Kolor features a fine selection of more sophisticated equipment, including the Japanese 35-millimeter single-lens reflex cameras and zoom lenses. Electronic flashes to fit any budget are in stock, carrying guarantees worthy of the famous names. Don't forget the convenient night depository at Keaton's drive-up window, 1309 Gregg St., where your complete photo needs are filled.

Music Can Go To Each Room

Enjoy your favorite music in every room of your home or on the patio. Alternate Solution

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do you know a doctor who will perform a hysterectomy on me? I live in Chicago, but I'll go anywhere. I've been to three doctors and they all refused me.

I am 33 years old, married, and have three children, which is all I want. My husband is 44, and he doesn't want any more either.

Birth control pills are out. They gave me all the symptoms of pregnancy and I felt rotten all the time I took them. And the other methods are too much trouble. The only safe way I know of closing down the baby factory is to have a hysterectomy and get it over with.

Rush me the name of a doctor I can go to and say, "Abby sent me." Thank you.

NO MORE BABIES
DEAR NO MORE: Sorry, but I don't know a doctor who will remove healthy organs. Since both you and your husband agree that your family is complete, why doesn't he consider a vasectomy? It's a relatively simple, inexpensive operation which changes a working model into a sports model.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 35-year-old daughter who has been married for 14 years to a man who is the most overbearing, foul-mouthed bully who ever lived.

He yells at her in front of people and he orders her around like she was his servant. Agnes has worked to help support the family (they have four children) and between her job and her home she has her hands full. Her husband has never lifted a hand to help her at home. Every weekend this bum is either playing golf or at some kind of sports event.

Agnes is a gentle person who never stands up for herself. She just lets him push her around.

I contend that as her father, I have the right to demand that she treat her with the respect she deserves.

I would like your opinion.

SON-IN-LAW PROBLEMS
DEAR PROBLEMS: I realize it hurts you to see your daughter abused, but you have no "right" to demand anything. Agnes is an adult, and if she allows herself to be pushed around and treated like a servant, it's her problem, not yours. And until she makes a few demands and stands up to him, she can expect more of the same.

DEAR ABBY: I baby-sit five days a week for eight pre-school children in my own home. I love children and need the money. I am a widow and am helping to get my own children through college.

All the children I baby-sit with are given excellent care and attention, and I charge a nominal fee for the service. I render.

Recently, a woman with two children asked me if I would give her a reduced rate. Abby, it's no easier to take care of two children from the same family than from different families. If anything, it's more difficult, because sisters and brothers are more likely to quarrel or gang up together against the other children.

Doctors, dentists, amusement parks don't give discounts for children from the same family. Why should baby sitters? How can I explain it to this mother?

CONSCIENTIOUS SITTER
DEAR SITTER: Simple. The same way you explained it to me.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

TEEN FORUM

SPECIAL? (Q) This boy and I were sitting in the car for a minute or two listening to the radio. He kissed me once, twice, and then he kept on kissing me. I told him to stop.

He stopped and said he was sorry, but he liked me so much. Then he started again. Before I knew it he had his arms around me and had unbuckled my belt. I told him no, that I wasn't that kind of girl. By the way, I'm not.

He said if we like each other we should have something special between us, more than just words. I told him having good clean fun together is something special.

My trouble is I like him and want to keep him. How can I keep him without giving in to him. — Determined in Connecticut.

(A) What he wants is not something special, but the standard thing that boys of his kind want. If you were something really special to him, if he genuinely cared for you, he would not want you to do anything against your good judgment.

Instead, he would respect both you and your convictions. Love protects, and this boy is not trying to protect you, he is trying in an old, old way to talk you into what he wants. Don't listen to him. Let him go hunting elsewhere.

KICKED: (Q.) At school we sit at tables. The boy across from me hits and kicks me. He has been doing it for a month. I have told my mother but she won't do anything. I have told my teacher but she hasn't done anything. What should I do? — Bruised in Pennsylvania.

(A) Go back to your teacher and ask her to let you move to another table. If she says no, talk to your counselor about

WILL GAS CHAMBER BE USED IN CALIFORNIA?

Capital Punishment -- What Now?

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's voters have made it crystal clear they favor capital punishment, but the legal situation remains cloudy on whether the gas chamber ever will be used again in the state.

By a 2-1 margin on Nov. 7, voters approved Proposition 13 — an amendment to the California Constitution specifying that the death penalty cannot be banned as "cruel or unusual punishment."

5-4 DECISION
The vote nullified a 6-1 California Supreme Court decision handed down nine months earlier. But there is sharp disagreement over what effect it has in relation to the U.S. Supreme Court's 5-4 decision June 29.

In ruling on three separate cases — one murder conviction and two nonfatal rapes — the majority opinion said simply: "The court holds that the imposition and carrying out of the death penalty in these cases constitutes cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the 8th and 14th Amendments."

The 8th Amendment bans cruel and unusual punishment and the 14th guarantees citizens due process and equal protection under the law.

MAKE IT CLEAR
Some opponents of capital punishment — including the American Civil Liberties Union — contend the ruling outlawed the death penalty — period. Other authorities, including California Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, contend the ruling means the death penalty is unconstitutional only as it had been imposed and administered.

Younger says that means capital punishment is barred only when a judge or jury has an option on whether a convicted defendant is sentenced to death or life imprisonment.

Michael Franchetti, a deputy attorney general researching the issue, said in an interview that the U.S. Supreme Court actually handed down a total of 11 separate opinions on the death penalty — nine individual opinions, one majority opinion and one minority opinion.

"It left everything up in the air," Franchetti said. "We think the court is going to have to come down with another decision to make it clear what they really think."

UNCERTAIN LIMBO
Chief Justice Warren E. Burger — who dissented from the high court's ruling — set that same tone last June when he said, "The future of capital punishment in this country has been left in an uncertain limbo. Rather than providing a final and unambiguous answer on the basic constitutional question, the collective impact of the majority's ruling is to demand an undetermined measure of change from the various state legislatures and the Congress." Franchetti said Prop. 13 "reinstated all death penalty statutes, but there is some doubt as to how many state statutes are in effect in view of the U.S. Supreme Court decision."
