Playing In Mud Called Key To Health

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Ellington Darden, a baby-faced Ph.D. with Mr. America's muscles, says the secret to a strong, healthy body is as clear as mud.

Darden, a Florida State University graduate student from Conroe, Tex., believes in exercising in a vat full of squishy mud.

UNIQUE FEELING — "It's a pretty unique feeling," the 29-year-old Darden says. "I guess it's like the difference between drinking a glass of water and a thick milkshake."

With a Ph.D. in physical education from Florida State already in hand, Darden is studying for another doctoral degree in foods and nutrition. The 6-foot, 195-pound former college football tackle has won more than 100 trophies in weight lifting and body-building competitions.

Darden says he was introduced to mud exercises six years ago by Ed Key Jr., a football teammate at Baylor University in Waco, Tex. He used a five-by-six-foot tank full of mud in Key's backyard.

"After that initial workout I could really tell there was tremendous merit to this type of exercise regime," Darden said. "You can work many muscles it would be difficult to work otherwise."

He raced back to his old residence, but when he got there, the freezer was bare. Police are investigating.

Need $5,800 To Reach Goal

"Do It Day—The United Way," a community-wide effort to close the remaining gap between the United Way campaign and its goal was off to an encouraging start Tuesday morning.

call in your gift today

Phones were ringing at the Chamber of Commerce as contributions added $1,200 to the total before noon. The fund had reached $107,810.

Still needed to reach the goal is some $5,800. United Way workers will be at the special phones in the chamber offices until 5 p.m. — or they will stay later if the phones are ringing.

Meanwhile, any who miss out today on calling in their gifts or pledges are asked to mail them to Box 24, the United Way. UW workers are prepared to call at your home and pick up your gift today if you only telephone the special Do-It-Day number.

Among those calling in were Southland Corporation (7-11 Stores) with an increase in giving, and the Borden Company with 100 per cent employee participation.

There were numerous other gifts, many by individuals making a second effort to help provide funds for 14 local community agencies which depended upon the United Way effort.

One sacrificial gift of a $1.00 was mailed in to the office by an individual wanting to help the community hold up its head.

"We can't stress too much that we need the help of everyone in this effort," said Bob Hickson, campaign chairman. "Hundreds have not yet had a part, and surely they want to. But we also need the help of those who have given — those who will go the second mile with us. Please . . ."

Goodman Buys Firm's Stock; Changes Due

George A. McAllister announced today that he and eight of her Datamate Computer Systems, Inc. stockholders have sold privately an aggregate of 3,000,000 presently outstanding shares of Datamate common stock to James F. Goodman, Houston.

Goodman replaces McAllister, Big Spring, as president of the corporation.

Goodman announced that the corporate officers will be moved immediately to Houston and that Datamate will enter the land development business. This means that the corporate shell will remain intact but the nature of the business will be changed.

At least two other concerns had made overtures to acquire Datamate and had entered into tentative agreements, but the trades did not come off. At the time McAllister pointed out that Datamate was under no compulsion to sell, although it had closed out its manufacturing of computers. One reason was that Datamate, as of the mid-year report, had a net worth of $633,000 including cash of $150,000.

Datamate was created originally by McAllister as an involvement of Gamco, his original industry devoted principally to the manufacture and sale of instructional and educational aids. Datamate sold along with other Gamco properties to Siboney, but subsequently McAllister and associates repurchased Datamate. Because of the intense competitiveness of the electronic computer market, in which even many of the giants of the industry found it unprofitable to operate, McAllister reached the decision to phase out Datamate production.

FIRST TANK BATTLE IN AREA SINCE 1967 Blast Six Syrian Jets

By The Associated Press
Fighting exploded on the Israeli-Syrian cease-fire line along the Golan Heights today with air raids, artillery duels and the first tank battle in the area since the 1967 Middle East war.

The Israelis claimed to have downed six Syrian jets in aerial combat. The scale of the armored clash was indicated by claims of both sides to have knocked out 12 to 14 of each other's tanks.

Syria admitted losing one plane while Israeli spokesmen denied losing any. An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said armored forces knocked out 12 Syrian tanks. No Israeli tanks were destroyed and there were no Israeli casualties, he said. Damascus radio, however, claimed 14 Israeli tanks were damaged in the fighting. After earlier reporting that all Syrian planes had returned safely to base, the radio said one plane was downed in a dog-fight and crashed in Israeli-held territory. The pilot bailed out and landed safely on the Syrian side, it added. Damascus radio said 16 planes were involved on each side and that two Israeli planes were seen bursting into flames and going down behind the Israeli line.

The flareup came amid reports Syria's ally, Egypt, is preparing to break the cease-fire to force the big powers to take action to end the Middle East deadlock. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has met twice this week with Gen. Ahmed Ismail, war minister and commander in chief. Ismail returned from Kuwait where Arab defense and foreign ministers discussed plans for "unified action" against Israel. Arab commentators said the meeting was not successful. But Beirut newspapers said that Egyptian MIGs in Syria were placed under Syrian command in anticipation of increased hostilities in the Golan Heights area. There also were reports of stepped up Soviet arms deliveries to Damascus. First word of the new clash came from the Israeli side when the military command announced bombing of Syrian positions because of "intensified terrorist activity" in the past few days.

Snow, Sleet, Rain Sock North Texas

By The Associated Press
Up to 7 inches of snow blanketed the Texas Panhandle today as effects of a winter storm drove lighter snow, sleet, freezing rain or drizzle deeper into the state.

WIDE BELT
Meanwhile, snow, sleet and rain moved slowly eastward in a 75-mile wide belt across North Central Texas, causing many minor accidents in the rush-hour traffic in city areas. Accumulations of an inch or more quickly gathered on lawns and fields, but the snow did not stick to highways in the counties west and north of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

At 8 a.m. the snow and sleet was near Paris, Terrell and Hillsboro, but it was ending along its western edge near a Denison-Denton-Cleburne line.

By early morning the belt extended at least some snow reaching as far south as a line linking Stephenville and Hillsboro, and icing left a treacherous glaze on roads and bridges throughout the Panhandle-Plains sector.

It was cloudy and cold throughout Texas and there were small areas of light rain or drizzle in other sections.

Dalhart's 7-inch coverlet was the deepest left by the storm as it angled toward the northeast from New Mexico across the Oklahoma Panhandle into Kansas.

SNOW PILES
Perryton, on the opposite side of the Texas Panhandle from Dalhart, measured 4 inches. The storm left one inch of snow on the ground at Amarillo along with 10 inch of moisture soaked in, and there also was a one-inch fall at Childress.

Although flakes still fluttered down near Dallas in the Panhandle sector and areas farther south, official forecasters cancelled a heavy snow warning for the hardest hit areas. Warnings against icy roadways remained in force.

The temperature nosedived to 16 degrees at Dalhart. At the same hour Amarillo recorded 24, Childress and Lubbock 30 and Wichita Falls 31. Readings elsewhere generally stood in the higher 30s and 40s except for 51 degrees at Corpus Christi and Alice in deep south Texas and 57 at Brownsville on the extreme tip of the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

By way of comparison, Monday afternoon's top mon-reached only 30 at Dalhart and Lubbock and 31 at Amarillo while the mercury mounted to 67 at Brownsville.

Snow and rain were expected to taper off from the west over the state tonight except for a little rain lingering Wednesday in Southeast Texas. Another cold night was forecast, with readings down to freezing or a little below in most sections.

Brussels Next For Kissinger

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger will pause in his Paris negotiating sessions to confer in Brussels Wednesday with top officials of Indonesia, one of four countries scheduled to police a Vietnam settlement.

The announcement of Kissinger's plans was made at President Nixon's Camp David retreat by press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who said the presidential envoy will return to Paris immediately after his session with Indonesian President Suharto and Foreign Minister Adam Malik.

The Brussels meeting will focus on "the situation in Southeast Asia," Ziegler said. He would not elaborate, but Indonesia has agreed in principle to join Canada, Poland and Hungary in supervising a Vietnam cease-fire.

Ziegler's announcement came as Kissinger was in the second day of his crucial Paris talks with North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho. He said since the second session was still under way he did not know if a third meeting would be held after Kissinger's Brussels trip.

PRESIDENT VOTES — South Korean President Chung Hee Park, accompanied by his wife, votes at a polling station in Seoul today. Voting in a national referendum, South Koreans were expected to approve a new constitution removing legal obstacles to Park's indefinite retention of power.

Landslide Victory For Park Expected

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park headed today for a landslide victory in his move to replace western-style democracy with a "Korean democracy" constitution increasing his power and allowing him to stay in power indefinitely.

Early returns in the referendum on his revised constitution were running more than 10-1 in his favor. With about 5 per cent of the vote counted, 635,536 favored the referendum and 45,426 voted against it.

Despite generally chilly and snowy weather, election officials reported 87.3 per cent of South Korea's 15.4 million eligible voters cast ballots. There was no violence. With opposition voices silenced by martial law, it was generally agreed that the voters would approve Park's bid to remove the limitations on the number of terms a president may serve.

Temporary Injunction Is Granted Against Theater

Judge R. W. Caton granted a temporary injunction to halt all showings of obscene films at the Mini-Flick Theatre and to halt the distribution and sale of lewd movies and magazines from the theatre at the conclusion of a hearing held in 118th District Court Monday morning.

The judge also testified as an art expert after viewing the films, stating that there was "no art value whatsoever in the films."

Roy Ford, who owns the building, testified in his own behalf claiming that he leased the building to Jackie Bert Kirk around Aug. 1 through an agent for use as a private club and that he was in Florida until after the theatre had been raided and the lawsuits began and had no knowledge of what the building was being used for.

Ford voluntarily offered an injunction to close the building as far as he was concerned as a property owner. Judge Caton absolved him from responsibility in showing, selling or distributing the films or magazines, at the conclusion of the hearing.

An answer had been filed Monday morning by an attorney, John Kay Coil of Dallas, for Kirk and Ford. Ford claimed that he did not want to be included in the answer, did not know the attorney and had not authorized him to speak in his behalf.

Also taking the stand was M. Fern Cox, district clerk, who testified to the order setting the hearing and the city attorney, James Gregg, who testified as to the authorization from the assistant Attorney General to file the suit. Two witnesses from the audience were also questioned concerning their opinion of the film and they both agreed that in their opinion they were in bad taste and not in keeping with the contemporary community standards of morality.

A date for the final hearing will be set in the near future, according to Judge Caton.

Higher Prices For Clothing Ups Consumer Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living, nudged by higher prices for clothing, rose by three-tenths of one per cent in October, giving the nation a 3.7 per cent inflation rate in the last six months, the government said today.

The Labor Department said the rise in consumer prices was three-tenths of one per cent both on an unadjusted and seasonally adjusted basis last month, smaller than the September rise but still over the Nixon administration's target of reducing the inflation rate to at least 3 per cent by the end of the year.

Consumer prices in September increased by four-tenths of one per cent on an unadjusted basis and five-tenths on a seasonally adjusted basis.

More than a third of the increase in the October index was blamed on higher clothing prices. The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said price increases for used cars, health insurance and property taxes also were contributing factors.

The bureau said that in the 11 months since President Nixon started his Phase 2 wage-price control program, the cost of living has risen 3.5 per cent since August 1971 when the President imposed his freeze on wages and prices.

The report said the rate of inflation has worsened in the last three months, with prices rising at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 4.1 per cent compared with 3.3 per cent in the previous three-month period. For the six-month span as a whole consumer prices have gone up 3.7 per cent.

The bureau said the higher prices were moderated by lower prices for beef, some fresh fruits and vegetables and gasoline.

Prices for fresh fruits, poultry and beef dropped, but not as much as usual at this time of the year, the department said.

Altogether, food prices rose by a small one-tenth of one per cent unadjusted, and two-tenths seasonally adjusted. The prices of commodities other than food climbed by a sharp four-tenths of one per cent, but with seasonal influences subtracted, the department said, this amounted to a one-tenth of a per cent decline.

The index rose to 126.6 of the 1967 base, meaning that it cost $12.66 to buy the same items that cost $10 in 1967.

'Set Rate'

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you explain how a blood sedimentation rate is used as a diagnostic tool? I think I understand the principles of other common blood tests, but not the "sed rate."

I've known of the test being used to determine the progress of cranial arthritis, ulcerative colitis, and mononucleosis — C. H.

If you put a sample of blood in a tube (test tube, or whatever) and let it sit, the red blood cells will settle toward the bottom.

The presence of infection or tissue damage makes the cells settle faster, so the sedimentation rate, or the speed with which the red cells move toward the bottom, is an indication of the degree of infection.

It is not a specific test — you cannot tell from a sed rate whether some specific disease is present. But it can give a clue as to the progress of some conditions, such as those you've mentioned and other.

Since so many newer laboratory tests are now available that can be very specific indeed, some physicians regard the sed test as unnecessary and of scant use as a diagnostic test, and the principal value perhaps is in just keeping track of the progress of some chronic ailment.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is "elevated uric acid level in the blood" and how can it be treated? — A. L.

It means there's more uric acid in the blood than there should be. Uricosuric agents (drugs which reduce uric acid) are the principal treatment. Diet is of secondary importance.

Elevated uric acid is the basic characteristic of gout, and of some types of kidney stones, so it is important to control uric acid. Ninety per cent of those with a uric acid level above 9 mg. eventually develop gout. If for either reason you need to reduce your uric acid, I refer you to my booklet, "Gout: The Modern Way to Stop It." For a copy, send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald. Your doctor will have to choose the medication; the booklet will tell you what to do about diet.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How contagious is TB after taking medication?

My husband contracted it recently, and had X-rays and tests, and the doctor put him on medication for three months, after which he is to return for more X-rays and tests.

Our son is afraid to bring the baby to see us. He said their doctor said no, as the baby has had colds. The baby is six months old. — S.T.H.

A question I can't answer — because I don't know the state of your husband's TB. If sputum tests show active TB germs, then the baby should not be anywhere near him. In fact, great care should be taken to protect anyone with whom he comes in contact. Medication is usually given for more than three months.

But if the case has subsided to the point where tests show no active germs, then he would not be in danger of infecting anyone else.

Perhaps you'll have a definite answer when your husband goes for his next tests. I surely hope so. But for a matter of another three months I'd certainly play safe and NOT have the baby around.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We are a group of women who belong to TOPS which means Take Off Pounds Sensibly. Some of us eat eight ounces of yogurt a day but have heard that this is bad, because of too much bacteria. Is this true? — Mrs. H. H.

No. Yogurt contains no harmful bacteria. Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." Write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Puzzle of Monday, Nov. 20 Solved

21 NOV 21

The Marvelous Book

This is National Bible Week, the 32nd year that this special interval has been set aside for the purpose of encouraging individuals to increase reading and study of the Holy Scriptures.

There's probably nothing better you could do with your time, regardless of your angle of approach.

You will find many of the most sublime lines in literature within the Bible, some of the most breath-taking poetry in its sweep, grandeur and lyrical beauty. Countless adages which have become part of our heritage have their roots in the Bible.

History, dipping into antiquity, is unfolded with gripping narratives. Examples of unexcelled writing frequent its pages from the very first verse which probably has never been equaled for condensation: "In the beginning, God created the heavens and earth." While the spirit may be more accurately conveyed to modern mind in newer translations, the majesty of language is nowhere more loftily exalted than in the King James version.

Within the Bible are the rock-bed moral lessons for mankind, and aside from the spiritual messages, man has learned that he ignores these ethical principals at his own peril: "God is not mocked" and "whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Throughout the pages of the Old Testament is the story of a covenant between God and His people, the seemingly endless cycle of drifting away and of reconciliation when man at last remembers his part of the covenant. The pages of the New Testament are packed with the revelation of reconciliation and the startling message that "God is love."

So read the Bible, daily if possible, for ethics, for history, for literature, for poetry, for communion, for instruction, even for sheer enjoyment. Whatever your motivation, you will be better for it.

Good Questions

In one of his columns recently, James Reston of the New York Times raises a cogent question whether the sudden rush to swap technology for raw materials and business with the Soviet Union is not ignoring the long-term interests of this country.

He does not ignore the desirability of trade, but in such deals as the exchange of technological information for Russian oil, gas, metals, etc., he asks: "Are the short-range commercial deals with the USSR compatible with the long-range security interests of the United States and its allies. Should Washington rely for future energy supplies on oil and gas beyond its physical control or turn instead to the development of alternate sources of energy...? And how are these commercial and strategic interests to be reconciled by all the competing private and government agencies concerned in the United States?"

Good questions. Somewhere in all this euphoria we need to take a long look at our long-range energy policies.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

My problem is that I'm not religious, and I do not go to church. On the other hand, I do not do bad things. I guess you could say I'm in between. If there is such a thing in matters of religion, I think about God a lot; sometimes I want Christ in my heart, but I'm afraid I get Him there, I'll start to do the wrong things. What I'm saying is that I'm afraid I'll backslide, once I've changed my life.

Your case is not unusual. Many people imagine that since the Bible shows God as perfect, all that follow Him have to be perfect too, and they don't want to risk failure.

Say, I have good news for you, because God knows more about your shortcomings and your tendency to do wrong or backslide than you do. God and the Gospel are wonderfully realistic. Redemption is a plan that picks us up where we are, and moves us toward a future goal of perfection. Paul said in Romans 8:8, "God showed His love for us by sending Christ to die for us while we were yet sinners."

Once I saw a chaplain draw a diagram of Christian experience. He had a straight line representing the moral trouble free life, then a dip picturing a crisis, and then a line up, representing the trust of God's help. At a higher level there was another line, where the process repeated itself.

Do you now that in the memoirs of the greatest saints, apparently the closer they drew to God, the more they sensed their own inadequacies.

SHUT UP! NOBODY MAKES A MOVE! WE'RE SCHEDULED TO FLY TO CLEVELAND...AND THAT'S WHERE WE'RE GOING!

The secret was that they learned how to handle backsliding and failure. They were not surprised at their own sins. Indeed when they slipped back one step for wrongdoing, they let God's strong arm push them two steps ahead.

One of the happy announcements of Scripture is "as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God." Have a bold sort of faith, and let God's power through the church help you keep it that way.

Corporate Profits

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — While the past year has been one of financial progress for both management and labor, the big increase in corporate profits that are now being reported are producing irritation and embarrassment for executives.

They are embarrassed because the percentage increases are so great. It now appears likely that the increase for 1972 over 1971 will be about 15 per cent. And there is the likelihood of a repeat in 1973.

While corporate officials concede these figures are high, they are irritated by the failure of casual readers to recall the reason why: 1971 profits were depressingly low.

They are indignant also that labor leaders are inclined to seize on those percentages without explaining that what appears to be a mountain of profits has its base in a very deep ravine — that is, in the recession of 1971.

Actually, they add, profits should be even higher if they are to return to more "normal" levels and if industry is to attract the investment capital needed for expansion.

Price Commission regulations, however, may prevent that occurrence, although some changes might be forthcoming in Phase III, if there is one. As of now, profit margins must be kept to the average of the best two of the years 1968-1969-1970. But, as the corporate officials note, that was a period of poor earnings. Many of them want the base period revised.

If profits rise 15 per cent this year, the corporate defenders say, it will merely bring them back to where they were in 1968, when the gross national product, or total of goods and services produced, was considerably smaller.

Dr. Albert H. Cox Jr., a former Nixon administration economist and now executive vice president of Lionel D. Edie & Co., as well as senior adviser economic to Merrill Lynch, would like to see the Phase II base period changed.

If it were pushed back to include 1966 and 1967, he observes, it would then permit corporations to use two more rewarding years as the base for measuring permissible profit margins.

Although some industries, such as airlines and aircraft products, have a long way to go before reaching their profit margin limits, others, such as pharmaceuticals and furniture are already pressing against the lid.

There is expected to be rising pressure, therefore, for a revision of price limitations this spring. And you may be certain there will be a heated rebuttal from critics who claim profits already are too high.

SWEET BRIAR, Vt. (AP) — Charles N. Prothro, Wichita Falls industrialist and civic leader, has been elected chairman of the Board of Directors and Overseers of Sweet Briar College, of which he has been vice chairman for three years. As chairman he succeeds Robert C. Tyson of New York who retired from the post which he held since 1969.

Elected to the Board of Overseers in 1960, Prothro was named to the seven-member Board of Directors in 1968 and became vice chairman the following year. Since 1961 he has been chairman of the development committee of the two governing boards.

Jingling Allegories

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

I've never been so flabbergasted in my life. Did you know that some nursery rhymes refer to sexual promiscuity? I didn't.

BUT IT must be true. It's right here in this month's official publication of the Texas State Teacher's Association.

It seems that Joe P. Strain, a former Fort Worth teacher who is now assistant professor of elementary education at Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., threw caution to the winds and confessed the truth about Mother Goose.

Strain considers the nursery rhymes, jingles and ditties an important part of literary heritage, but when he read "Hey diddle, diddle, the cat and the fiddle," to sixth-graders, the youngsters thought him a "crazy fool."

"DOES ANYONE know what this rhyme means?" he asked. "Did you know that this nursery rhyme tells about Queen Elizabeth I of England?"

They did not. But they were about to learn. To explain, Strain referred to explanations in Katherine Elwees Thomas' "The Real Personages of Mother Goose."

ACCORDING TO the author, Queen Elizabeth often was called the "cat" during her 50-year reign because of the manner with which she manipulated the men in her cabinet. The "cow" also refers to her because it appears on the heraldic bearings of her father, Henry VIII. That she was fond of dancing to fiddle music is well documented in history.

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although relations between the United States and the major Communist powers in Asia and Europe have been substantially improved, there is a growing uneasiness between Red China and the Soviet Union. The news about the presence of large bodies of Russian troops, equipped with missiles, nuclear weapons and modern arms, on the border between the two countries has been widely spread, and China has been getting more and more nervous about the situation.

CHINA'S HUGE army now is being concentrated on defense against Russia. Its plants are working overtime to produce fighter planes, bombers, missiles, tanks and artillery.

The wonder is that such a feud can rise between two Communist nations on the basis of ideological differences. Their governments have been carrying on talks for the purpose of reaching an accord, but these have been fruitless. Fundamentally, the desire of Red China is to get back what was once her territory. Fears have arisen that the Soviets are reaching out also to acquire Manchuria, an area rich in resources and containing many millions of Chinese.

THE RIVALRY between Peking and

Further explaining the poem, Strain pointed out to the youngsters that it was probably Walsingham who is referred to as the "moon," and the Earl of Leicester as the "little dog."

THE "SPOON" was always a beautiful young woman of the court who tasted the royal meat for possible poisoning while the "dish" was a male servant who carried gold dishes into the state dining room. The young couple in this rhyme was secretly married without the permission of the Queen. When Elizabeth discovered this, she confined them to the Tower of London where they remained seven years until her death.

"After hearing the story, my students had a new respect for Mother Goose," said Strain. "They wanted more interpretations."

HE USED rhymes which were restricted to the Tudor reign. "Three Blind Mice" tells of the Catholic Queen Mary who had three protestant bishops burned to death. "Mistress Mary Quite Contrary," "Little Miss Muffet" and "Little Bo Peep" all describe Mary, Queen of Scots. "Sing a Song of Sixpence" is about Henry VIII who took away Catholic revenues from monks or "Blackbirds" and who wooed, married and later beheaded the maid, An Boleyn.

STRAIN expertly channeled his students' interest, step by step, from jingles to choral reading, English history and current events.

The children decided Mother Goose wasn't such a silly old goose. Neither was their teacher.

The Mediator

Moscow could bring lots of complications to world affairs. China has a sizable number of missiles and nuclear warheads deployed near its frontiers with the Soviet Union. In Southeast Asia and in other parts of the Far East, competition goes on between Red China and Russia in an effort to gain influence and power.

The belief has prevailed for some time that the Russians would like to deal with Western Europe in a peaceful way so as to bring about a reduction of forces and a more stable relationship on its Eastern front.

LIKE MANY international situations in the past, there is no way to determine whether a potential threat will later become an actual break in diplomatic relations or war. But the existence of tension causes worry and prevents the settlement of many questions that otherwise could be disposed of readily.

The United States has been taking a friendly attitude toward the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China. Unquestionably there is need for a mediating influence to become effective in bringing Moscow and Peking closer together so that both will give up any plans for a military initiative someday to regain or to acquire territory.

Kissinger Spy

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The U.S. State Department has been in a swivel for the past several months. It has been unable to get any information as to what the intentions of the United States are. An emergency meeting of high-level State Department officials was called the other night at Foggy Bottom and from what our sources told us, it was very tense.

"GENTLEMEN, THE Secretary is very disturbed. He feels it is impossible to make foreign policy for the United States when he has no idea what the enemy is thinking."

"You mean Hanot?" someone asked.

"No, dammit, I mean Kissinger," the official said. "How can we set up any counterthrusts when we have no idea what Kissinger plans to do? I don't mind telling you, gentlemen, our intelligence on the White House stinks."

"THE ONLY solution," said an assistant secretary, "is to plant our own man in the White House to transmit to us every day, by code, what Nixon and Kissinger are up to."

"It's too dangerous," the chief of intelligence operations said. "We've already lost three agents in two months."

"What about planting a woman on Kissinger? Maybe we could find out something that way."

"IT WON'T WORK," said the intelligence officer. "The last woman we tried to plant on him fell in love with him, defected and is now writing a book about him."

An assistant secretary asked, "Why can't we get someone in the White House to defect and come over to our side?"

"We've been working on that," the intelligence officer said, "but it's almost impossible. The Defense Department is in the same shape we are, and they have a lot more money to bid for defectors than we do."

"Has anyone checked with the CIA lately?"

ONE OF THE lower high-level officials finally spoke up, "I know this sounds farfetched, but what if the State Department asked for diplomatic relations with the United States? We could set up an embassy here with an American ambassador."

"What good would that do?" someone asked.

Cronkite Confusion

William F. Buckley Jr.

Walter Cronkite and, as the headline writer of the New York Times describes them, "others," have announced that they will abide by the instructions of their union and will therefore refuse to cross the picket lines set up by striking CBS technicians.

WALTER CRONKITE, a man of lovely manners and a lively mind, emerges because of his prominence as the spokesman for his fellow CBS newsmen and analysts. Mr. Cronkite has been in the hospital suffering from hoarseness — and verily it is as if the entire country were temporarily asphyxiated. It is bad enough to be without Cronkite because he is in the hospital popping lozenges. It is intolerable to be without him because he, and his employers, misinterpret the law, or misunderstand the Constitution.

HERE ARE the facts:

- 1) In order to work for CBS, you have to join AFTRA. CBS has a contract with AFTRA the terms of which require this.

- 2) That contract is based on the authority presumed by AFTRA to flow from the National Labor Relations Act which permits union shop contracts. But, of course, no law of Congress can, under the Constitution, abridge the freedom of speech or of the press. The authority of AFTRA to compel membership is in fact being challenged at this very moment in the federal courts by, as it happens, me.

- 3) IN A SUDDEN switch a few months ago, AFTRA conceded that it did not require newsmen and analysts to join its union but merely to pay it dues.

- 4) From which it would appear to follow that Cronkite et al could resign from the union so long as they paid the union its dues. Surely CBS would not object to their resigning from the union if the union itself doesn't object? And the union is on record on this matter, and a New York state court (in Lewis vs. AFTRA) has taken note of it.

THE DECISION to observe the picket line, the statement says, "was taken reluctantly. The New York CBS news employees do not agree with the objectives of the IBEW strike. . . . However, it was considered that inasmuch as the CBS newsmen are members of AFTRA — under, it should be pointed out, the company's own edict requiring such membership — they now feel a moral obligation to support the majority action of the union."

- 6) Before dwelling on the moral question, we should consider for a moment the material question. If AFTRA tells a member not to cross a picket line, and that member does so anyway, AFTRA can retaliate, under its constitution, with virtually unlimited ferocity. It did so, on a recent occasion, only to be overruled by its membership, which exacted a fine equal to the amount of money earned by the violator for the duration of the trespass. Thus even though AFTRA appears to have cooled down, the power is latently there.

- 7) COULD IT BE that Messrs. Cronkite et al are in fact putting pressure on CBS to take the initiative in repealing the requirement of forced membership in AFTRA? If so the maneuver is shrewd. If, on the other hand, we have here an orthodox act of fraternal loyalty, the moral point as propounded by Mr. Cronkite is pretty shaky.

TWO-MAN BATTLE SHAPING UP IN STRUGGLE FOR PARTY LEADERSHIP

Demo Chairman Westwood Indicates She May Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Democratic National Committee has cleared the way for her possible resignation, and there are indications the struggle for party leadership is becoming a two-man battle.

Jean Westwood, who has run the party machinery since George McGovern picked her for the job last July, indicated Monday she may reverse her earlier stand and voluntarily step down.

"My own future," she said in a statement issued by her office, "is subordinate to considerations about the future of the party."

TEXAN IN RACE

The five-paragraph statement contained no reference to her previous insistence that she would resist efforts to oust her at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

The two men who appear to be emerging as principal contenders for chairman are former party treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas and George Mitchell of Portland, Maine, who directed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's unsuccessful bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Working on behalf of Strauss have been close associates of Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and AFL-CIO officials.

Mrs. Westwood "has a very warm feeling toward George Mitchell," said

John English, general counsel at the DNC and a former Muskie strategist. "He's the kind of a fellow who would carry on in the fashion she would like. He is highly acceptable."

WALLACE MAKES MOVE

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace made a move Monday to influence the future makeup of the party organization. His campaign organization announced it is opening a temporary office in Washington in preparation for the December meeting of the DNC.

"We are seeking to place as many people on the national committee whose thinking is in tune with the people as we possibly can," said Charles Snider, national director of the Wallace campaign.

Democrats who think Mrs. Westwood should resign include the leadership of the Democratic Governors Caucus, various members of Congress, and members of the DNC.

A Strauss-Mitchell contest could precipitate a struggle between the conservative faction of the party behind Strauss against the more reform-minded, liberal element behind Mitchell.

However, all sources contacted Monday, including ardent Strauss backers, indicated that Mitchell is considerably more acceptable to all wings of the party than is Mrs. Westwood, who is closely associated with McGovern and his losing presidential campaign.

UN Moving Too Slowly To Help Slash Population Explosion

HOUSTON (AP) — The United Nations is moving too slowly in helping nations to reduce the population explosion, Philander Claxton, special assistant for population matters to the secretary of state said here Monday.

Claxton spoke at a hearing of the U.S. National Commission for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

The organization, which advises the U.S. government on positions to take in UNESCO conferences, is holding a three-day hearing on the environment in the form of a mock trial.

There is only a slight possibility that the population explosion will end, Claxton said, adding that UNESCO was moving too slowly to help in population control.

Claxton said there is a direct relationship between population and international hostility. And of all the pollution which man produces, he said, man himself is the greatest pollutant.

"That which kills young people in developing countries comes from man himself," Claxton said.

Nixon Given Option To Cut Spending Or Increase Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless the Nixon administration cuts spending sharply or raises taxes, it faces large inflationary budget deficits during this fiscal year and the next, according to a study by the Brookings Institution.

The study said Monday that spending probably will rise by about $21 billion in fiscal 1974 because of built-in increases in the budget.

The study, by the institution's Nancy H. Teeters, projected a full-employment budget deficit of $13.2 billion for the 1973 fiscal year, that ends next June 30, and at least a $7.2 billion full-employment deficit in the following year.

If there is a $13.2 billion full-employment deficit during the current fiscal year, as the study projected, the actual red ink would be about $33 billion.

The full-employment budget is a technique adopted by President Nixon for putting an upper limit on spending.

It operates on the principle that the government should spend no more than the tax system would produce if there was an unemployment rate of roughly 4 per cent. The jobless rate is now about 5.5 per cent.

"Obviously, the achievement of a less expansionary budget would require cutbacks in programs or increases in taxes—issues that are bound to be in the forefront of administration planning and congressional deliberations on the budget for the 1974 fiscal year," the study said.

The White House has said it will not sponsor a tax boost and will try to keep the current budget in line by impounding some appropriated money.

Just Ask Her

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SHOCKED SUE: (Q.) Sue and I work together at a restaurant. I have known her nearly a year. She is special. She smiles and is helpful. She is kind and cute. I am helpful to her too, because I like to be.

I have wanted to date her for a long time, but did not say anything to her about it until yesterday because I know she dates a lot and goes out with several different boys.

Well, yesterday I decided to go ahead and ask her for a date. I did, and told her how much I liked her. She was shocked. She said she had never thought of us going out together. She walked all day to give me an answer. She said:

"Lee, I've thought it over all day and because of the situation we are in — working together on a friendship basis — I think we shouldn't go together but I still want to be good friends with you. Are you mad at me?"

I said, "No, just a little disappointed, but can I ask you again some time?" She said yes.

Do you think she will ever agree to go out with me? — No Date in New Jersey.

(A) Feel free to ask Sue again for a date. But don't rush it. Wait a few weeks. Don't talk about your feelings for her. Simply be friendly and helpful as before.

While you wait, she will be reconsidering her attitude toward you possibly changing it. When you ask her the second time, do not be apologetic or explanatory. Just tell her you still like her and still want a date with her.

If she says no again, you will know she has not changed her mind. But I have a feeling she will say yes.

A TELEPHONE? (Q.) I was going to get a stereo for Christmas but have decided I want a telephone of my own instead. My mother said I can have a phone but she won't pay the bill for it every month. Believe me, I can't pay it. So what can I do? — 14 in Texas

(A) If you really want your own phone, I am confident that you can earn at least part of the cost by baby-sitting or doing extra chores at home.

A phone should not cost so much initially as a stereo. Maybe your parents will agree to pay part of the bill if you will pay part.

Steers To Face Crane

Rebuffed in their first start, the Big Spring Steers Cagers will try to regroup and take on Crane Friday evening, then return here Saturday for their first home game of the season against their foe of the past weekend, Plainview.

Coach Ron Plumlee saw some bright spots although three teams all took defeats at Plainview. Missed free throws in the final minute cost the Sops, 68-63, who then had to foul trying to get the ball. The junior varsity's trouble was cold shooting. They were behind 34-25 at the half but dropped 11 points back in the third, lost finally 86-72.

In the varsity game, the Steers, getting their first taste of combat, dropped behind 16-7 at the end of the first quarter but finally rallied to close the game to 55-49 at the end of third. Execution was below expectations, and Plumlee indicated a lot of time would be spent in this phase during the week.

In the Sophomore game, Albo Smith led Big Spring with 24 points and Billy West with 10; Cambell hooped 22 points for Plainview. John Thomas Smith hit 16 and Jeff Kuykendall 12 for Big Spring in the JV contest, while Purcha had 27 for Plainview.

The A game box score:
BIG SPRING — Williams 0-0, Tonn 2-6-10, Stewart 3-0-2, Miller 3-2-8, Smith 1-0-6, Kuykendall 1-0-2, Brown 7-5-19, McKee 3-3-8, Davis 1-1-3, Webb 0-1-1, Dunn 4-3-11; totals 24-23-71.

PLAINVIEW — Washington 8-3-19, Davis 1-0-2, Jackson 8-3-19, McAllister 5-5-15, Sister 7-7-21, Wall 1-0-2, Wade 1-0-2, Wesley 0-1-1, Huffine 1-2-4; totals 32-21-85.

Abilene Wins Swim Meet

Ali Takes On Bob Foster

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Around the corner from the nickel slot machines in the Sahara-Tahoe casino, Muhammad Ali and Bob Foster fight tonight for higher stakes and a possible shot at boxing's biggest jack-pot — the heavyweight championship.

"I'm waiting for Joe Frazier," said Ali, the former heavyweight champ, on the eve of his scheduled 12-round bout with light heavy champ Foster.

"I don't know what to expect from Foster, but he'll give me trouble for a few rounds," he said about his 33-year-old opponent, expected to weigh in at about 180 pounds.

Ali has predicted he'll stop Foster in eight rounds and says the lighter but taller fighter "has to rely on a lucky quick punch" to score an upset.

Ali is fighting for a guarantee of $250,000. Foster for $125,000.

The 30-year-old Ali will have a weight advantage of about 40 pounds. Foster has held the light heavy crown 4½ years, but was knocked out by Frazier in two rounds in an attempt to take the heavyweight title.

Ali's only loss in 40 professional fights was 20 months ago to Frazier. The 15-round decision spoiled his bid to recapture the title taken away from him for a draft evasion conviction which later was reversed.

The Foster-Ali bout is set in a virtual television studio atmosphere, the High Sierra Theater at this resort hotel in ski and gambling country on the WAITING FOR THE FIGHT — Muhammad Ali, top, spent part of Monday afternoon relaxing in his room, while world light heavyweight champion, Bob Foster, conferred with his trainer, Billy Edwards, in the casino of the Sabers Tahoe Hotel at Stateline, Nev. The two will meet in a 12-round bout at the hotel tonight.

Greenwood 'B', led by the 10 points of Paul Folger, downed Coahoma's seventh grade, 33-27. Danny Douglas scored 10 points for Coahoma.

Greenwood will travel to Sterling City Nov. 27 for a basketball tripleheader. Tipoff for the first game is set for 6 p.m.

Richard Ocaeta led Edison with 16 points.

The Yearlings will host Snyder Lamar at 5:30 p.m. Nov. 27.

Elroy Green paced Runnels with 14 points. Cornell Kimbell added 12 points for the Yearlings.

Jesse Doss scored the winning points with less than 10 seconds left in the contest to give Runnels a 33-32 win over San Angelo Edison here Monday night. Doss also was the leading rebounder in the contest for the Yearlings.

Then Josephson was injured and Montgomery had trouble throwing anyone out on the basepaths. Fisk was put in the regular lineup and was spectacular, both with a booming bat and his rifle-like throws cutting down runners attempting to steal.

Greenwood's win was a runaway selection after hitting 293 with 22 homers and 61 runs batted in.

Fisk, who will be 25 just after Christmas, had brief trials with the Red Sox for two years and virtually was awarded the starting job by Manager Eddie Kasko last winter.

However, he had problems in virtually every department in spring training, and, when the strike-delayed season finally got under way, he was rated behind Duane Josephson and Bob Montgomery.

Fisk, who lives in this New Hampshire city a short distance from his parents' home in Charlestown, was a runaway selection after hitting 293 with 22 homers and 61 runs batted in.

"This is a great thrill, a great honor," said Fisk, who was out of town visiting his sister, June, at Springfield College. "Now I just hope that I can keep it up and help the Red Sox win the pennant next year."

Fisk, who will be 25 just after Christmas, had brief trials with the Red Sox for two years and virtually was awarded the starting job by Manager Eddie Kasko last winter.

However, he had problems in virtually every department in spring training, and, when the strike-delayed season finally got under way, he was rated behind Duane Josephson and Bob Montgomery.

'Double Standard Of Law Enforcement' Assailed

DALLAS (AP) - Negro leaders have asserted that protest activities in some form will resume this week because of what they called a "double standard of law enforcement" in Dallas.

In an atmosphere of growing tension between the black community and police, a list of grievances was presented Monday night to the city council by leaders representing 13 black civic, civil rights and religious organizations.

The list was read to the council by Maceo Smith, chairman of the Tri-Racial Committee. It called for appointment of a Negro assistant chief of police and reorganization of the police force so it will be 25 per cent black by December 1974.

The black leaders also asked that a special grand jury investigate several recent shootings of Negroes by policemen. Police officials have said the six blacks shot recently were trying to resist arrest or had threatened officers.

Smith said there is a growing consensus in the black community, "as well as outside, that a dual system of law enforcement prevails" in Dallas. "There is due cause for concern and action at the highest level," he said.

Black councilman George Allen said after the meeting Monday night, "For the first time I realized there is a definite problem here—that we are sitting on a powderkeg that could go off at any time."

The blacks' list of requests was turned over to the city manager's office for study.

Town & Country Popcorn

Not Normal

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if there is such a thing as a man losing his manhood? I hope you won't think I am stupid, but I am 59, and my husband is 40, and we have not had sexual relations for over 12 years.

When I asked our family doctor about it, he said it's possible for some men to lose their manhood at 40. Is this true? We asked a couple who have been close friends for a number of years if their sex lives had come to a halt, and they said their sex lives were better now than when they were younger. The man is 63 and the woman is 61. Are they lying?

I am in good health and so is my husband. I am no sex maniac, but I really do believe my husband could do better by me if he tried. But how can I be sure he is capable of it? I don't want to make demands he can't fulfill. Keep this confidential, please
BOSTON
READER

DEAR READER: It's not normal for a healthy man to lose his manhood at 40. He should be examined physically again. If he's physically sound, his problem could be psychological. Be sure he covers all the bases. He has many good years ahead of him — and so have you!

DEAR ABBY: This is a message to office employees, secretaries, and mine in particular:

I came to this office as a much younger man and now hold a responsible executive position. My secretary was here when I started, and along with other employees, she addressed me by my first name. Once an employee calls her boss by his first name, it's almost impossible to ask for a "Mister" without creating a chill that affects office efficiency.

My secretary is capable, but more than once she embarrassed me by using my first name. Because I deal with some distinguished people, I try to answer my own phone, knowing that it's possible that my secretary may say, "Harry, it's for you?"

There are circumstances when it's terribly touchy to suddenly ask to be called "Mister" after one is addressed by his first name. That's the situation I find myself in.

Perhaps my employees will see this, and understand that they can't go wrong with a "Mister," but you can cause embarrassment and controlled irritation with a first name. In my contact with other executives, I am never favorably impressed with an office staff who refers to the boss as "Harry." CALL ME MISTER IN MID-MISSOURI

DEAR MISTER: Since you had what it took to go from a "Harry" to an executive, lay it on the line, and tell your staff that "Harry" is okay in inner-office conversation, but outside the "family" you'd prefer to be called "Mister."

Mrs. J. L. Terry Wins High Score

Mrs. J. L. Terry was high scorer when the Rook Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. S. P. Jones, 1206 Sycamore. Guests were Mrs. T. G. Adams and Mrs. M. Wentz, and Mrs. Wentz was high scorer for the guests.

Tables were decorated in a Thanksgiving motif. Plans for a Christmas luncheon were made. The luncheon is scheduled Dec. 15 in the home of Mrs. S. R. Nobles, 405 Washington, at which time gifts will be exchanged.

Sorority Served Holiday Dinner

Members of Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, and their husbands, met for Thanksgiving dinner Saturday evening at First Federal Community Room. Mrs. B. E. Reagan was hostess, and invocation was by Jack Price. The group will meet Dec. 3 to decorate a Christmas tree in the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Stop Crow's Feet

Occasional facial massages with baby oil, or the natural oils from nuts, vegetables, seeds and fruits will help eliminate little crow's feet at the outer edges of the eyes. Daily use will prevent drying and flaking.

Big Bend Depicted In Slides

Mrs. Floyd Mays showed slides illustrating geology and topography of Big Bend when she was guest speaker for Big Spring Credit Women Thursday at the home of Mrs. George Weeks, 1305 Eleventh Place.

Mrs. Mays, chairman of Howard County Historical Survey Society, told the women that Big Bend was established in 1944 as the first federal park in Texas. She said the slide program is available to other organizations.

Tables for the salad supper were centered with arrangements of candles and greenery. Invocation was by Mrs. Noel Hull. Mrs. Weeks, president, distributed program books and international bulletins.

The group will meet for a Christmas party at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. Hull, 2611 E. 25th.

South combined a rare type of dummy reversal with the literal donation of a trump trick in order to fulfill his six spade contract. The bidding was sound. When North made a two over one response to his one spade opening, South jumped to three hearts on the next round inasmuch as his holding was worth 21 points and slam appeared to be in the offing if a fit could be uncovered. When his partner raised spades, South made a try by cue bidding the ace of clubs. North showed his heart honor next and the opening bidder required no further inducement, proceeding directly to six spades.

West chose to adopt a neutral course by opening a trump which gave declarer his chance. The latter won the first trick in his hand with the jack.
There were 11 top tricks available—five spades, four hearts, one diamond and one club. A 12th trick might be established in diamonds by ruffing out North's suit provided diamonds divide evenly, however, the dummy unfortunately lacks the necessary entries. Presently declarer spotted a way to compensate for his communication problem.

A diamond was led to the ace and a small diamond ruffed with the seven of spades. A small spade was led to the queen and when both opponents followed, the ten of spades was permitted to remain outstanding.

Another diamond was trumped with the king and dummy was reentered with the king of hearts to ruff away East's king of diamonds with the ace of spades, South's remaining trump, even tho this play established East's ten of spades as the master card in the suit.

South now began to run the hearts, stuffing away dummy's clubs. East ruffed in on the third round and returned a club. Declarer put up the ace, discarded North's remaining club on the fourth heart and ruffed a club with dummy's five of spades. The jack of diamonds took the last trick.

Altho declarer deliberately built up a trump trick for his opponents, by so doing, he gained two tricks in return. The spade trick came back because he was able to trump three of dummy's diamonds and still score a trick with North's six of spades on a ruff. The fulfilling trick was obtained by establishing dummy's long diamond, and the dummy reversal eventually provided the extra entry to the North hand.

PSYCHOLOGIST, STUDENT, VOLUNTEER SPEAK TO AAUW

Alcohol, Drug Use Linked By Panel

The use of alcoholic beverages is closely related to the use of drugs in the opinion of panelists who spoke Monday evening to the Big Spring Branch, American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Jim Collier, representing Firehouse No. 6, directed the discussion, as well as presented information gleaned from the police department and Chamber of Commerce. Various viewpoints were expressed by Bill Kuester, psychologist at Big Spring State Hospital, and Bobby Carlile, student at Howard County Junior College who served on the Big Spring High School drug board.

The high school drug board was formed three years ago to educate the students about drugs through the school programs. The students are made aware of the history of drugs, the terms used when speaking of drugs (grass, pot, goofballs, bennies, etc.) and the effect that drugs have on the human body.

Firehouse No. 6 was started in March, 1971 with the primary purpose of offering the troubled student a place to go where he will feel accepted, despite having a problem. The volunteers are trained to help those that come in, or call in, with any problem they might have. According to workers, the problem of drugs is "pretty far down the list."

"The young people who drop in seem to be searching for companionship," said Mrs.

Recent guests of Mrs. J. H. Cardwell were her brother and his wife, the R. A. Edens, and her daughter, Mrs. T. D. Breithaupt, all of Odessa.

The Bennie Barnetts of Midland were recent guests of his mother, Mrs. Mattie Mae Barnett.

Vard Ray Griffith, a student at the United Electronics School, Dallas, will be home Friday to visit his parents, the Burl Griffiths.

Collier. "They are not always stoned or high. The people who phone in usually are having a problem with parents or a sibling."

The Chamber of Commerce has formed a drug committee to deal with increasing drug problems. From this came Crime Check, a plan where persons may make anonymous phone calls to report what they know of a crime being committed. The Chamber also entered the Appleton-Linkletter Plan which includes the film, "On Your Door Step," a film which will be shown at 7:30 p.m., today and again on Nov. 28 at Municipal Auditorium.

Kuester said the children or teenagers who are at the state hospital as drug abusers usually have other problems as well as the drug problem. The adolescents who have good communication with their

Courage, Character Of Biblical Women Studied

"There are only 38 words in the Bible about the character and courage of Pilate's wife," said Mrs. H. H. Story Monday evening to Forsan Study Club. "She was never even mentioned by name, although some people say it was Claudia. The woman testified against her husband for Jesus."

Mrs. Story and Mrs. L. T. Shoult's discussed several women of the Bible at the meeting in the home economics room of Forsan High School. Mrs. Story told about Hannah, the wife of a priest and mother of Samuel, who served as an inspiration to Mary, mother of Jesus. Mrs. Story said Hannah was "the ideal mother personified."

"Lydia was perhaps the original forerunner of women's liberation," continued Mrs. Story. "She was a successful seller of purple dye or fabric. Her home was the cradle of the Church of Phillipi, and she was the first convert to Christianity in Europe."

Mrs. Shoult's centered her discussion around Sarah, wife of parents may experiment, but will probably not become dependent on drugs, according to the speaker. The hospital tries to re-educate the person and take care of their emotional problems as well.

It was at this point that the opinion was given that the use of alcohol and the use of drugs is closely related. It was said that if a person "can't go where alcoholic beverages are being served and completely abstain, or if friends reject the person because they abstain, then the person may possibly have a problem closely related to drug use."

It was estimated that about 5 per cent of young people have tried drugs at least one time. About one per cent have tried the "hard drugs" such as heroin, Demerol, morphine, etc. Panelists said this is true even in the elementary schools. Many drug abusers are from the middle and high income families. They are given bigger allowances and can get the money for drugs easier.

SYMPTOMS
The Big Spring Police Association believes it is important that teachers and parents recognize the common symptoms and signs of drug abuse, since many potential "hard core" addicts can be rehabilitated if their involvement in drug abuse is detected in its early stages.

Common symptoms of drug abuse are: (1) Changes in school attendance, discipline and grades. (2) Change in the character of homework turned in. (3) Usual flare-ups or outbreaks of temper. (4) Poor physical appearance. (5) Furtive behavior regarding drugs and possessions. (6) Wearing of sunglasses at inappropriate times to hide dilated or constricted pupils. (7) Long-sleeved shirts worn constantly to hide needle marks.

(8) Association with known drug abusers. (9) Borrowing of money from students to purchase drugs. (10) Stealing small items from school. (11) Finding the student in odd places during the day such as closets, storage rooms, etc., to take drugs.

The ABWA day study group will meet at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 4 to hear a panel on consumerism. The night study group will meet at 7:30 p.m. the same day in First Federal Community Room to study Social Security.

Courage, Character Of Biblical Women Studied

Abraham, and said she was the only woman whose age was recorded at the time of death. She was 127 years old. Mrs. Shoult's said children were not weaned until the age of three during Biblical times.

Hostesses were Mrs. Shoult's and Mrs. Cecil Richardson. Mrs. Don Murphy presided, and Mrs. Edman McMurray was introduced as a new member. Mrs. Richardson won the attendance prize.

The serving table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a cornucopia of fall fruits. Crystal and silver appointments were used.
