ERRATIC FLAMES Giant Oil Platform Burns Out Of Control

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) - An offshore oil platform was burning out of control near the mouth of the Mississippi River today in an erratic fire which went out during the night but reignited early today, the Coast and said. Bad weather kept helicopters from reaching the scene to determine whether oil was flowing into the Gulf of Mexico, a Coast Guard spokesman

The platform is owned by the Pennzoil Production Co., he said, and company officials in Houston, Tex., said there was no danger of pollution. The Coast Guard said the fire had gone out by itself shortly after midnight, but either static electricity, sand or a rock coming up through the pipe caused the fire to reignite

The Coast Guard cutter Point Sal was reported trying to reach a part of the oil platform that was apparently blown off in the blowout. The spokesman said the platform was Crews noticed that something was wrong in a well they were drilling early Sunday, and they evacuated before the blowout, a company official said in Houston, Tex.

He said a crew was en route to the rig today to map strategy for capping the well.

It was not known if there was a cluster of wells on the platform, but the well that blew out was spewing gas, not oil, the Pennzoil spokesman said, and therefore, no danger of pollution exists.

In past well blowouts in the Gulf of Mexico, entire clusters of wells

The Coast Guard received the report of the fire shortly before 10 p.m. and immediately dispatched vessels and aircraft to the area which is near the mouth of the Mississippi after dawn.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A security guard has been arrested and booked in a $12,000 theft which allegedly occured after residents were evacuated from the Rault Center, scene of a penthouse fire last week which left four dead.

There were unconfirmed reports that the building was ransacked in addition to the robbery, which led to the arrest.

Three women jumped eight storles to their deaths during the fire last Wednesday, and a fourth person died in the blaze. Two others who jumped remain in critical condition.

Cause of the blaze still is un-

Police said Jimmy Ray Gray, 27, of New Orleans, a security guard hired to protect the building against robberies, was booked with theft during the weekend. He was scheduled for a hearing today.

Specifically Gray was booked in the theft of a $5,000 diamondstudded watch, part of a $12,-000 robbery, officers said.

More than $25,000 worth of merchandise-much of it jewelry - reportedly was taken from three apartments in the building. Officials said filing cabinets in the building had been searched and desk drawers forced open.

Hundreds of items were reported missing.

The building was ordered evacuated when the fire broke out. Last Friday a resident reported more than $12,000 in jewelry was missing from her apartment when she returned. She said she locked her apart. ment when she left and it was locked when she returned.

Military Coup In Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) - The Honduran army overthrew President Ramon E. Cruz before dawn today and installed the armed forces commander as president for the remaining five years in the presidential term. No violence was reported.

Gen. Oswaldo Lopez Arellano, the commander, also overthrew the government in 1963 and served as president until Cruz was elected last year.

An armed forces communique said Cruz, 68, was under house arrest with "all necessary guarantees" and that his wife and four children flew to the United States on Sunday.

The reports said the coup was led by Gen. Oswaldo Lopez Arellano, who assumed the presidency, and that Cruz, 69, was under house

The reports came from San Salvador, Honduras' neighbor to the west, and from Costa Rica. In San Salvador the correspondent of The Associated Press heard a broadcast on HR, a Honduran radio station, reporting the overthrow with communique from the Honduran armed

The communique said the armed forces staged the coup "in view of the incapacity of the deposed government to resolve the serious problems that Honduras suffers and the chaotic state reigning

$80 Billion -

For Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the budget for the Pentagon in the next fiscal year will be increased to more than $80 billion.

The secretary told newsmen as he prepared to leave for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings in Brussels that an increase in Pentagon spending is necessary to maintain Western strength and to enhance negotiating positions.

The current spending figure is about $76 billion and Laird said increased personnel costs alone in the next fiscal year will take up $3.9 billion. He said he intended to argue to the other NATO ministers that "this is not the time to make unilateral cuts in defense budgets.' To do so, he said during the 15-minute news conference, would be "to show weakness at this time and would jeopardize negotiations with the Soviet bloc," particularly on mutual balanced

He said the force reduction discussions, which get under way with the Soviet Union and its allies Jan. 31, are extremely important, but he said it was "essential to go forward with the increases"

He would not comment on reports that the United States might cut off economic and military aid to Saigon if South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu refused to join in a settlement

They Claim Brass Tilts Calley Case

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) - Attorneys for Lt. William L. Calley Jr. said in court today any attempt to give him a fair trial on charges he killed at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai was defeated by "the horrible spectre of command influence."

-Army officials from Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland on down wanted Calley tried and convicted, the 29-year-old lieutenant's lawyers told a three-judge military court.

Army lawyer Houston Gordon, seeking to overturn Calley's conviction and 20-year sentence, said it was inevitable that members of the court-martial panel which convicted Calley be influenced.

Before the Calley court-martial, Gordon said personal representatives of Westmoreland sought to tilt the case against Calley and away from highranking officials.

Calley, confined under house arrest at Ft. Benning, Ga., was not present at the hearing.

The defense also argued the platoon leader at My Lai should not have been found guilty of any crime greater than manslaughter. Defense lawyers contended the young officer acted without malice and without malice there could not be, under the legal definition; a mur-

Calley's chief counsel, George Latimer of Salt Lake City, opened the hearing by reconstructing the assault of My Lai in March 1968. Drawing upon voluminous testimony from the trial, he portrayed Calley as ill-prepared to lead his men in the assault which he called the "worst-conceived, worst-handled combat operation ... Dr. Lett claimed this week he was giving treatment to 145 patients—a figure 13 above that given in Austin-but says he cannot increase the caseload without further funds.

Claiming that the lack of federal funds is keeping the proof city's estimated 5,000 addicts who might otherwise use it, he said bitterly that all the government gives the center is

"We are being told there is no more money," said Dr. Lett. "That's fine for the people who sell drugs, but to my clinic staff it's disgusting."

Asked his views on the efficacy of methadone, the doctor replied: "I think it is helping a lot of people, more than other programs have done. It has certainly reduced the number of arrests and cut down on the sale of street drugs. The patients are more healthy, they eat better, they stay home with their families more, and they are more productive. But I hope that something even better will come along.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, who have never won a title of any kind in their 40 years in the National Football League, took a giant step toward the American Conference's Central Division title by thrashing Cleveland 30-0 to take a one-game lead over the Browns with two to go.

LEAD BY ONE The Green Bay Packers, expected by most preseason observers to be mere bystanders in a National Conference Central struggle between Detroit and Minnesota, regained a onegame lead in the division by clubbing the Lions 33-7, dumping them back into a secondplace tie with the Vikings.

Oakland also clinched a division title, its fifth in six seasons, edging San Diego 19-17 to take a 21/2-game lead in the American Conference West with two games remaining.

In Sunday's other NFL games, unbeaten Miami made it 12 in a row by defeating New England 37-21, Minnesota beat Chicago 23-10, Cincinnati nipped the New York Giants 13-10, Atlanta trimmed Houston 20-10, Dallas shelled St. Louis 27-6. Spring Promises A Fashion Season To Please Everyone

By MILDRED WHITEAKER

Fashion Editor NEW YORK - Spring, '73, is shaping up as a fashion season to please everyone. Clothes are classic, conservative and safe, yet filled with enough new ideas to satisfy the woman who wants to be the first to wear the newest.

One of those ideas is the miniature baseball jacket. A puffy-sleeved little cardigan, it stops at the rib cage and looks as though it might have been borrowed from baby brother. It is showing up in collection after collection for both day and evening in everything from traditional sweater knits to pastel suede.

Those long, long scarves are back too Remember? Geoffrey Beene likes them as accents to his swallow-tail collared suits and dresses. The collar stands out in front, and the scarves curve under, wrap-tie and trail to the knees. Shirts and shirtdresses are also getting the elongated scarf treatment.

If you really want to be with it for spring, you'll wear a kerchief or a headband brought far down on the forehead (over short hair, of course). Or better yet, wear one or the new nats with which many designers are accessorizing their clothes - a compromise between a headband and a turban.

First-day showings at this national press week zipped by at a staccato pace with each collection a story in itself. From the hundreds of dresses and ensembles and pages and pages of scribbled notes, these trends keep repeating themselves.

Soft, soft fabrics; the increasing importance of dresses, particularly shirt styles; the continued influence of sportswear with the cardigan the Ford of the season by day and by night; myriads of dots and checks: yummy colors with pastel pinks and blues the front runners along with apricot, peach, aqua, pistachio, banana,

Ivory, white and other pale neutrals contrast with the navy black and brown chiffons which several designers are showing for evening.

The short cocktail dress is finally making the scene. Leo Narducci has an extensive roup of little dark chiffons which hit the top of the knee. There's even a black chiffon shirtdress with white Peter Pan collar which will have a lot of women flipping their memories back to the '50's. (Many of the clothes throughout the collections seem to be inspired by Narducci also puts transparent caftans over body revealing slip dresses, bringing to mind those famous "cage" dresses of a decade or so ago.

No matter how many individual designer innovations we may be seeing, classic conservatism remains the backbone of spring fashion. As press director Eleanor Lambert

"There are no sensations. No somersaults. These are clothes for real people. Women don't throw furniture out every season for something new. They add to what they have - blend the past and the present. Clothes should be the same wav."

Or as designer Pat Sandler

"Fashion for spring is a clean, put-together look. Pieces are planned for each other at the designer level and that's the way we think it should be, but this shouldn't keep an imaginative woman from doing other things with the clothes in her own way.'

Sandler presented a stunning sportswear-oriented collection for day and evening. He skirts the pantsuit question easily. "There's no longer any need to talk about pants versus skirts," he says. "It's how a woman feels, how she wants to look from one day or one occasion to the next. For us, one is no more important than the

For evening, Sandler stays chiefly with skirts and ended

the show with a series of "great occasion" dresses such as a turtleneck peach chiffon halter gown styled with yards and yards of skirt and a tiny little blouson jacket. Or a drop-dead sexy white matte jersey halter dress contrasted with a shortsleeved, baby doll angora sweater. (Angora and mohair are popular as spring toppings).

Adele Simpson showed no pants for spring — expressing instead her kind of safe, chic thoroughbred fashion in soft shirt dresses, two-piece suits and sophisticated evening costumes.

Dots are among her favorite ways to code the might scene - dancing dots in black and white, green and white or black on red and white. (The Simpson collection will be presented at Frost's in December.)

Geoffrey Beene takes pants to new proportions in width in his divided culottes. Whether long or short, the legs are enormously wide but are in soft fabrics to fall against the figure. The culottes, he says, were inspired by the artistic wit of John Held Jr. (who drew all those flapper photos back in the sees fashion neaded, Louisiana born Beene replied:

"There are two tendencies in contemporary design. One is a cult of uniformity, unimaginative sameness. The other is an individualist attitude that provides a woman with a choice in expressing her uniqueness through her style of dressing."

Beene, obviously, is an adherent of the second approach, though he predicts that uniformity will engulf fashion by the turn of the century.

But not yet! One of the first persons I noticed while taxi-ing to press headquarters in the Hotel Plaza was a young man rushing down Madison Avenue in bright blue shoes with threeinch heels. Otherwise he was dressed conservatively. Or perhaps the shoes blotted out everything else.

WASHINGTON — It's one thing to on conspiracies originating in one pick a new cabinet, but it's something else to do so without offending anyone or giving the impression that an individual who is not retained is, in effect, being dismissed. MR. NIXON asked for the resignation of everyone holding an appointive office - those who had indicated they wanted to stay on and those who had not. Plenty of time was given persons who were not going to remain in the government to let it be known that they had made plans to take some other position. Indeed, there were members of the cabinet the President would have liked to hold such an announcement so the public

ON THE whole, it was a skillful method of changing personnel. The President was not able to keep some of the people he hoped would stay, but he let go those he felt he should replace. The impression conveyed was one of reorganization based upon a careful study of the allocation of duties to individuals best qualified to head the various departments.

would not get any idea that their departure was forced upon them.

THE REAL trouble, however, with the executive branch of the government is that it operates under the jurisdiction of one man - the President. Nobody with authority examines the work of the department heads or the efficiency of their personnel. Each department is managed as a separate unit. Yet the government as a whole has a responsibility to the people, and often there are matters which could be better handled by one department than by another The opportunity exists for working out these questions so as to diminish the overlapping of services among federal agencies and to coordinate the activities of government at all levels. ENFORCEMENT, L AW example, is principally a function of the states and cities, but the national government has a duty to protect the entire nation. There are federal laws which cover crimes that are based

The federal government plays a big part in combatting crime and now is becoming more and more concerned with ways and means of dealing with the drug problem. The illegal traffic in narcotics entering the United States from abroad is one of the most troublesome of all.

The federal government has a huge task in checking the tax returns of its citizens. Billions of dollars are

Once the responsibilities of the executive branch are analyzed, one wonders how a country with such a large population can be policed even by the great number of law-enforcement officers in the states and cities which cooperate with the FBI.

REORGANIZATION of the federal establishment is a commendable thing for President Nixon to undertake. There are many things which need attention. There should be a system of reaching the people so that they can have a better method of communicating their complaints.

Generally speaking, a new cabinet can do much toward improving the machinery of government, and President Nixon will win applause if he can also assure better communication between the people and the government. (Copyright, 1972, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Assurance Not A Promise

Gerald was a born skeptic. When a doctor suggested surgery for the stiffness in his left arm, Gerald demanded a flat guarantee of good results. The doctor, confident of success, gave the guarantee.

BUT THE operation, through no one's fault, turned out to be a failure. Gerald duly sued the doctor on grounds of "breach of contract." And, even though the doctor had done nothing wrong medically, the court ruled that Gerald had a good case. A doctor, like an engineer or a carpenter, can make a legally binding guarantee if he is so inclined.

'The doctor's reassurance that his patient will be all right," said one court, "Must not be converted into a binding promise by the disappointed or the quarrelsome.

IN ANOTHER case, a doctor remarked to his patient that a certain 'reatment would "Make a new man out of you." When the treatment was tried with less than complete success, this patient too claimed damages for breach of contract.

But the court found no basis for liability. The judge said no reasonable natient would read into the doctor's comment a positive assurance that he would indeed become a new man.

A SPECIAL problem has arisen in connection with sterilization procedures that fail to prevent the later conception and birth of a child. Even assuming that the doctor has given a firm guarantee, has the patient actually suffered any harm by having a baby?

SOME COURTS have simply recoiled at the idea that a baby is a liability - at least, if mother and child are healthy. Denying one such claim, a judgé said: "The cost was outweighed by the
