SPECTACULAR LUNAR DEPARTURE; SEISMIC SHOCK

Three Astros Together Again

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Three American astronauts, united again after the Apollo program's final and most beautiful moon-landing expedition, lingered in lunar orbit today surveying the surface below for still more knowledge.

PROBE MOON

Gone was the landing ship Challenger, which had carried Apollo 17's Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. Schmitt to the surface for 75 hours and then returned them safely to the command ship America and reunion with Ronald E. Evans. In the early morning hours, Challenger was thrust away from the command ship, and a radio signal from Mission Control sent it crashing into the moon.

Today, and for most of Saturday until they start their journey home, the astronauts' task was to probe the moon with cameras and sophisticated sensing devices. They were in an orbit 69 miles above the surface.

Cernan and Schmitt completed man's most successful moon visit ever late Thursday when they rocketed off the lunar surface with a record cargo of moon samples and film.

After transferring the precious lunar treasure into America, the astronauts cast off Challenger, freeing it for destruction in the cause of science. The lander, which cost $40 million, could not have been returned to earth with the commandship.

ONE MORE JOB

"It seems an unfitting finish to a super bird," said Cernan, during his last moments aboard the craft he had flown to a near-perfect landing Monday in the moon valley of Taurus-Littrow. "But it's got one more job to do."

On radio commands from earth, Challenger fired its rocket thrusters and sent itself speeding to an impact near the Taurus-Littrow valley.

Force of the impact caused a seismic shock which excited quake-detection instruments left on the moon by Apollo 17 and by previous Apollo missions.

In a spectacular lunar departure, Challenger popped off its flat-topped landing stage amid a shower of debris and soared upward into the black lunar sky over Taurus-Littrow. The craft's yellow-flamed rocket was visible to television watchers on earth for about 35 seconds before it vanished from the view of a TV camera left on the moon.

Evans, aboard the larger ship, focused a television camera on Challenger as it rose from its low lunar orbit. The bug-like craft could be seen speeding upward, the distant, silvered lunar surface a racing blur in the background.

The landing craft grew larger and larger as it approached the America and the camera until, finally, the shadowed outlines of Cernan and Schmitt, standing at the triangular windows of Challenger, could be seen.

"Good to see you," said Cernan from Challenger to his crewmate, Evans, in America. "Glad to have you back," said Evans.

"America and Challenger are in a good tight Navy formation," said Cernan, a Navy captain and former jet pilot.

The ships came together at a speed of less than one mile per hour while they orbited the moon at about 4,000 m.p.h.

A statement from President Nixon, read to the Apollo 17 crew by Mission Control, said the end of the Apollo moon program is not the end of man-in-space.

"This may be the last time in this century that men will walk the moon," said the statement, "but space exploration will continue... and there will be new dreams to pursue based on what we have learned...."

GOD SPEED

"God speed you safely back to earth," Nixon concluded.

Cernan and Schmitt spent the next three hours transferring the rocks and film. Moon dust, tracked into the lunar module after each of the three surface excursions of Apollo 17, floated in the cabins of the two craft.

ARRESTED—Larry Sanford, 21, is held by police at Montreal airport early today after reportedly giving himself up to police earlier. He has been charged with air piracy.

Surrenders To Father, Psychiatrist

MONTREAL (AP) — An armed young Canadian estranged from his pregnant wife surrendered to his father and a psychiatrist to face hijacking charges after ordering a jetliner "first one way and then the other" for 10½ hours across eastern Canada Thursday.

Larry Maxwell Stanford, 21, of Saint John, N.B., released 57 persons unharmed before he walked off a Quebecair BAC111 at the end of a looping flight from Wabush, Nfld., that landed in Montreal, went on to Ottawa and then returned to Montreal.

CONVINCED HIM

Armed police waited in a panel truck at the tail of the jet until a government plane brought the youth's father, John Stanford, from Labrador City, Nfld., to meet his son.

Dr. Bruno Cormier, a Montreal psychiatrist, also talked to young Stanford, who during the flight earlier had asked to be flown to Vancouver, on the west coast and to Winnipeg, in mid-Canada. "He changed his mind every minute," an official said. "The plane went first one way, then the other."

Stewardess Josette Cote was credited with persuading Stanford to let the plane return to Montreal from Ottawa and to surrender.

"Apparently she convinced him he was a sick man and should see a doctor," an official said.

Quebecair vice president Andre Lizotte said Stanford pulled a .22-caliber rifle on the station manager at the Wabush airport, in the west Labrador part of Newfoundland, and forced him to get on the plane with him.

DOG BITES WRONG PERSON, JAILED

A local German Shepherd dog was jailed at the city dog pound and charged with one too many bites here Thursday.

At 3 p.m., Kate Cearley reported to police that a dog had bitten her and that the animal resided at 1017 E. 21st.

Police officer Smelzer went to tell the owners to pen up and watch the dog. While there, at 3:08 p.m., the dog bit the police officer.

The dog is now being watched in the city pound.

Judging Is Monday In Yule Contest

The Christmas home decoration contest in Coahoma had attracted six entries by this morning, Johnny Justiss said.

Deadline for entries in the contest sponsored by the Lions Club and Texas Electric Service Co. is about 3 p.m. Monday. Applications are available at Coahoma State Bank. Judging will be done Monday night.

HST Waging Brave Fight To Survive

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman continues his battle against lung congestion and a weakened heart as doctors report increasingly inadequate functioning of his kidneys.

Despite the kidney complication, the 85-year-old Truman's condition remained very serious, one step away from Research Hospital's designation of critical, from which Truman was removed last Sunday. He was hospitalized on Dec. 5.

The hospital's latest medical bulletin Thursday night quoted physicians as saying Truman's "kidney output continues to be somewhat inadequate. The kidney condition is of concern and is being watched very closely for change."

The bulletin said the kidneys have "not responded adequately to medication."

On Thursday morning, the hospital had said "output remains adequate but is declining." By mid-afternoon, it was described as "slightly inadequate" after medical stimulants were increased.

Truman's wife, Bess, 87, and the couple's daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel, left the former chief executive's bedside Thursday about 5:15 p.m. EST. A spokesman said he did not know how long they had been at the hospital.

Pupils Make Up Lost Day Jan. 12

The impromptu school holiday called here Tuesday on account of weather will be made up on Friday, Jan. 12 which was previously scheduled as a grade record day for teachers.

The teachers will be required to come on Saturday that week to record grades, according to Supt. Sam Anderson and the schools will be open on that date, previously listed as a holiday.

The Christmas holidays will remain the same with school dismissing at 2:45 p.m. on Dec. 20 and students returning to school the morning of Jan. 3.

SPACE IS GOOD, BUT—On a tablecloth depicting space vehicles and the planets, Tracy Cernan, 9, admires a good old fashioned gingerbread house. ### Coahoma Council Votes To Reject U. S. Check

By JOHN EDWARDS
COAHOMA — The Coahoma City Council voted to return the $1,889 revenue sharing check for the first half of 1972 last night, with one alderman opposed and one absent.

Barring an error in the amount granted, the check is to go back before Jan. 1.

Harry Nagel, city manager of Big Spring, said he believed the money would be given to Howard County or divided among local governments in Howard County if Coahoma sent the money back.

Coahoma Mayor Jack Cauble declined to say yet why they want to return the money. He said he will send a letter to the Big Spring Herald early next week explaining their reasons to constituents.

Alderman J. F. Gibson was absent, and Alderman Stan Griffin cast the lone dissenting vote.

Asked for a reaction to the announcement Saturday, Griffin said: "What concerns us here at Coahoma is what kind of strings are attached" and requirements concerning spending the grant.

He remembered hearing an earlier estimate of $18,000 earmarked for Coahoma for the whole year.

Forsan, a community of 287 persons, received a half-year check for $1,095 by comparison to the $1,889 sent to Coahoma with a 1,238 population.

In other action Thursday night, the council opened three bids for construction of a holding tank at the sewer plant. Apparent low bidder was Price Construction Co., Big Spring, at $4,000. The contract has not yet been awarded.

NOT SO COLD
Partly cloudy and not quite so cold this afternoon, upper 40s. Low tonight, mid 30s. And high Saturday, middle 50s.

Work On Stadium Parking Lot Set For Late Spring

Trustees of Howard County Junior College agreed Thursday to share expense of rehabilitating the Memorial Stadium parking lot with the Big Spring Independent School District.

The work will not be done until late spring because a hot top asphalt stabilization will be employed. Cost of the project is not determined definitely, but estimates are that it will cost each agency around $6,000. The parking surface has deteriorated over the years, and residents in the area have complained at times about dust.

Board members also approved the granting of tuition and fees to any faculty member, or to any members of their families who may be in work at the college.

They also established the principle of charging use fees for facilities at the college for non-related activities. In general, this will be $25 for larger structures (such as auditorium and gym) and down to $5 for classrooms. The charges were approved as a means of recovering the bare cost of opening, closing, cleanup and utilities, said Dr. Thomas Salter, president.

Renovation of the business manager's quarters to provide a private office space, together with other refinements, was approved in part.

Trustees received a report from a faculty-student advisory committee on possible student recruitment plans.

Dr. Salter and Dr. Charles Hays, vice president, reported on sessions of the Southern Association of Colleges and recent court cases. The matter of due process was stressed in dealing with personnel, and Dr. Charles Warren, board member, observed that this was well, but that it should not frighten boards from dealing with personnel matters when the occasion arises. The board instructed Dr. Salter to draft guidelines which would call for assignments to certain non-classroom duties.

70 PER CENT Boyle Trails In Miners Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Miners for Democracy reported today its candidate, Arnold Miller, is holding a solid lead over President W. A. "Tony" Boyle of the United Mine Workers in a court-ordered election.

The Miller camp's vote count, which has been consistently accurate and ahead of the official government tally, showed him with 53,804 votes to 41,988 for Boyle with approximately 70 per cent of the vote counted.

This continued the 56 per cent edge Miller has held through several days.

The court is based on reports by Miller's observers in the tightly guarded Labor Department counting room.

Boyle's observers quit issuing separate reports after the first day of counting last Tuesday when Boyle fell behind.

Miller, in an appearance Thursday in nearby Silver Spring, Md., where the ballots are being counted, told a newsmen "We think we've got it won."

Miller, a retired miner from Ohley, W. Va., who suffers the coal miner's black-lung disease, is running in place of the murdered Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

Miners for Democracy, a group of Yablonski supporters, nominated Miller after U.S. District Court Judge William B. Bryant ruled the union's 1969 Boyle-Yablonski contest rife with voting fraud.

Love's Labor Lost

DALLAS (AP) — Dismissing a $350,000 damage suit, U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. apparently decided today that the jailer hadn't really ruined the prisoner's love life.

Ronnie Lee Brown, serving 25 years for armed robbery, claimed that jailers violated his civil rights by "knowingly and wilfully" placing letters addressed to his future wife and his girl friend in envelopes addressed each to the other. He charged that the jailer who censored the two letters deliberately crossed them up.

As a result he brought suit against Sheriff Clarence Jones for $350,000, alleging his relationship with both women had been "purposely destroyed."

Brown said that before receiving the mixed-up mail, both women had been working in their own way to get him a lawyer to appeal his conviction. He intended marrying one of them in the Dallas County Courthouse "sometime soon," he said. Now he is receiving neither visits nor letters from them.

Judge Taylor held Brown failed to show he was entitled to relief — in federal court at least.

Austin Sued After Deaths

AUSTIN (AP) — Compensation of $800,000 is being sought for the deaths of two Houston Baptist College students from Malaysia who were killed in a highway collision here on Thanksgiving Day.

Houston lawyer Ronald D. Krist said he is seeking the money for the parents of Donald Kuo, 18, and Lillie Kuo, 20, of Kuala Lumpur.

Three students were killed when their car and another driven by an Austin policeman collided head on on Texas 71, east of the city. Investigating officers said the police car was chasing another automobile.

There was no immediate comment from city officials on the request for compensation.

BUYER BEWARE

DUNCANVILLE, Tex. (AP) — George Combs, 37, a muffler shop worker told police he got taken for $1,800 ride.

Offered "a good deal" on a 1971 luxury car, he put $1,800 in his pocket and went with a customer to see it. Two men with guns were waiting and relieved him of the cash, leaving him to hitchhike home.

Nixon, Top Campaign Aides Partying With Money Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and his top campaign aides have been partying for the past three nights with a select group from around the country who helped finance and promote his re-election.

The total of 167 guests included top labor leaders, prominent Democrats for Nixon, regional finance chairmen and heads of organizations ranging from senior citizens to veteran groups who joined the campaign effort.

Cocktail receptions were held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with the President and Mrs. Nixon at the Christmas-decorated White House, followed by dinner across the street at Blair House, a presidential guest house. The Nixons did not attend the dinners.

None of the parties was open for press coverage. But the White House made public the guest lists and said the dinners were given by campaign chairman Clark MacGregor, finance chairman Maurice Stans and Secretary of Transportation John Volpe, who has been nominated by Nixon to be the next ambassador to Italy.

Man Found Dead In T&P Wreck Apparently Hobo

No identification had yet been made of a man found dead in the wreckage of a 32-car Texas and Pacific freight train which derailed near Eskota around 8 p.m. Wednesday.

NoLAN County sheriff's deputies said this morning "that it looks like he was a hobo. He is a black man in his early 50's."

Sheriff's officials took the body of the man to Abilene this morning where an autopsy will be performed. There was no identification on the body.

Railroad work crews, which included 15 men from Big Spring, were clearing away the wreckage and debris when the body was found.

The track was cleared by 11:05 a.m. when the first train went through. Some four trains had been forced to wait at various stopping points since the night before the railroad was re-opened for traffic.

This was the second derailment in the area this week with an 18-car freight train on the Santa Fe line derailed near Eskota Tuesday.

Cause of Wednesday night's wreck had not been determined, according to local T&P officials. J. O. Murphy of Big Spring was engineer of the train, which as reported to have 18 loaded

Hospital, Tech Agree To Pact

Affiliations between medical schools and Veterans Administration Hospitals went over the century mark with the recent signing of a medical education and training agreement between Texas Tech University School of Medicine and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring.

The 235-bed Big Spring hospital joins with 100 other VA facilities in the U.S. in affiliation with a school of medicine.

The new affiliation agreement was made final by the approval and signature of Jack D. Powell, director of the Big Spring VA facility. Tech School of Medicine representatives Lester E. Wolcott, M.D., associate dean for affiliated programs, and Samuel D. Richards, Ph.D., coordinator of affiliated programs, worked with Powell in the development of the agreement.

"We're looking forward to the opportunity for our physicians to be associated with a medical school and the opportunity to participate in a continuing education program," said Powell.

The Big Spring affiliation plus recent agreements in Lubbock and Amarillo brings to 15 the number of West Texas hospitals, clinics and health care institutions with educational and training agreements with the School of Medicine. More than 2,400 potential teaching beds are now available for medical student training in TTUS's area-wide training program.

Fewer Cotton Sample Tests

Cotton sample receipts for the Pecos Territory decreased last week as compared with a week earlier, according to L. L. Wells, in charge of the USDA's Pecos classing office. Samples from 7,326 bales of cotton were classed bringing the season's total to 52,231 compared to only 44,459 for this same period last year.

Strict Low Middling (41) continued to be the predominant grade with 43 per cent of classings; strict low middling light spotted (42) accounted for 27 per cent. Other white grades made up 20 per cent and other light spotted grades made up four per cent.

Market activity decreased some. Medium staple is selling for about 1000 over loan for strict low middling (41) and better, 3.3 and higher mike.

The Snyder school board reached an agreement Tuesday for final settlement with the contractor on the new field house and physical education gymnasium at Snyder High School.

The school had imposed a penalty of 22 days of $50 per day because the project was not completed within the 120 working days specified in the contract.

Jim Rose of Rose Construction Co., the contractor, told trustees that heavy rains during the construction period had delayed work.

Architect J. D. Hinton said that he had given the building firm credit for 10 extra days because of bad weather and four days because of change orders in the construction plans.

He indicated further that there were probably other days when the contractor was not able to make use of a full crew because of the weather. Hinton said, however, that the contractor should have conferred with the board on the delay.

The contractor was granted 11 days which cuts the penalty in half.

A payment of $165 resulting from change orders was also approved. Final figures show the total costs of the new buildings to be $165,465.

Tight Restrictions To Curb Methadone

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today announced tight restrictions to curb "a growing problem of abuse and diversion" of the heroin-substitute methadone but predicted the number of licensed treatment clinics will double within six months.

The Food and Drug Administration said it will revoke methadone marketing permits held by eight drug companies and substitute a unique "closed system of distribution" only to hospital pharmacies, approved maintenance programs and certain drug stores in rural areas.

SOCIAL WOES
FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards said the special regulations are necessary "in view of the tremendous public health and social problems associated with the use of heroin, the demonstrated usefulness of methadone in treatment (and) the lack of a safe and effective alternative drug or treatment modality."

"It is not in the public interest," he said, "either to withhold the drug from the market until it has been proved safe and effective under all conditions of use or to grant full approval for unrestricted distribution, prescription, dispensing or administration of methadone."

Taking effect immediately are a prohibition against allowing minors to enroll in methadone maintenance programs, a requirement that patients be addicted to heroin for at least two years before participating, and improved guarantees to protect the confidentiality of patients.

NIPS HUNGER
Methadone is a synthetic narcotic that, at high dosage levels, blocks the effects of heroin and, at low doses, curbs the hunger for heroin.

An estimated 55,000 addicts now are receiving methadone at 585 maintenance centers across the country, roughly half of them in New York City. Under the new rules, government drug regulators expect the number of approved centers to swell to about 1,200 by mid-1973.

Methadone patients will be required to take the drug daily at the treatment center, under observation, for the first three months in maintenance programs.

If they show satisfactory progress, they will be allowed to take home two-day supplies and, after two years, three-day supplies.

ABUSE
The FDA conceded that it had received many comments from doctors complaining that the restrictions represent "an unwarranted intrusion into medical practice and the physician-patient relationship by a regulatory agency and would severely impede the ability of the serious practitioner to treat and rehabilitate the addict population."

House Painter Acquitted Of Beating Fem To Death

HOUSTON (AP) — Aureliano Silva, 22, a Houston house painter charged with the beating death of a real estate saleswoman, was acquitted today by a district court jury.

Silva was charged in the death of June Gleason, 36, whose body was found Nov. 17, 1970 in a model home in a Houston subdivision. Silva was employed as a painter in a house next door. He had been in jail since his arrest a day later.

"This is the happiest day of my life," Silva said after the jury verdict was read in District Judge Dan Walton's court. "My knees are trembling. Deep inside I knew I was not guilty."

The six-man, six-woman jury returned the verdict after about two hours of deliberation. It was the second trial of Silva. The first one resulted in a mistrial last January.

The state based most of its case on Silva's written statement in which he said he beat Mrs. Gleason with a decorative sword and a ball-and-chain hanging in the house.

Silva said sheriff's deputies coerced him into signing it after an officer slapped, choked and kicked him.

Para Is Named AAFP Fellow

Andrew W. Para, M.D., of Big Spring, has been named a fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

The degree of fellowship is an acknowledgment of successful completion of 600 or more hours of accredited continuing medical study, or attainment of diplomate status in the specialty of family medicine as a result of passing a certain examination administered under the aegis of the American Board of Family Practice.

Dr. Para was honored recently in New York City, along with other physicians who had been named to this honor. He stopped there en route home from the World Medical Assembly in Amsterdam.

Dr. Para came to Big Spring six years ago from Brownsville. He has also practiced on Staten Island and was at one time chief of staff of the Marine Hospital in San Francisco.

He received his medical degree from the University of Tennessee in Memphis, which is his home town. He did his pre-med work at Loyola University in New Orleans.

Fellowship entitles the conferee to use the title, "Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians." The degree was conferred Sept. 26 upon more than 4,200 members of the Academy in conjunction with their annual convention.

Ceremonies were held in Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum before more than 10,500 persons. Candidates wore academic robes with hoods bearing the blue and gold Academy colors and mortarboard caps. The oath of fellowship was recited en masse.

The AAFP, representing more than 32,000 family doctors, is the only national medical group requiring members to take continuing study. Its members must take a minimum of 150 accredited hours every three years.

Hospital's Gear Are Not Toys
Three young boys were discovered by local police playing with needles and syringes in an alley behind a local hospital.

The police obtained a large plastic bag filled with the syringes and needles after the youths showed them where they obtained the equipment in the trash.

Hospital authorities were urged to see that all needles were removed before the syringes were thrown away in the future.

The youths were turned over to their parents by law officers.

Remember: Look Before You Leap
It was a bad week for hobos in the area. One was reported killed in the train wreck near Sweetwater.

Texas and Pacific officials here found a man Thursday at 1:17 p.m. in the yards and reported that he appeared to be badly beaten.

Police determined that the man was drunk, had jumped off a train while it was moving and landed on his face.

He was taken to a local hospital for treatment and as soon as he is well will go to the local jail, facing drunk charges.

Nixon Charting Next Viet Move With Top Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is charting his next Vietnam move with close advisers amid a continuing rift with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu over proposed peace terms.

Nixon held private sessions both morning and afternoon Thursday with Henry A. Kissinger, just returned from his latest negotiating round with Le Duc Tho in Paris, and Gen. Alexander Hal, Kissinger's top assistant.

SAIGON ALLY
Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon will not be reporting to the American public about the current state of the American secret negotiations but indicated Kissinger may meet with newsmen soon. Underlining Washington's differences with its Saigon ally was Ziegler's challenge Thursday of a report from Paris that the United States backs Thieu's new package proposal for a pre-Christmas cease-fire extending into the new year.

The White House spokesman referred to the permanent cease-fire envisioned in the nine-point peace plan worked out by Kissinger and Tho since October and said:

OBSTACLES
"We have a proposal now being negotiated on a cease-fire that indicated Kissinger and we support no other position on a cease-fire."

Thieu has stoutly opposed portions of the nine-point plan, including its lack of formal provision for withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South. He also is said to want an assertion of his government's sovereignty over all of South Vietnam, which the Communists oppose.

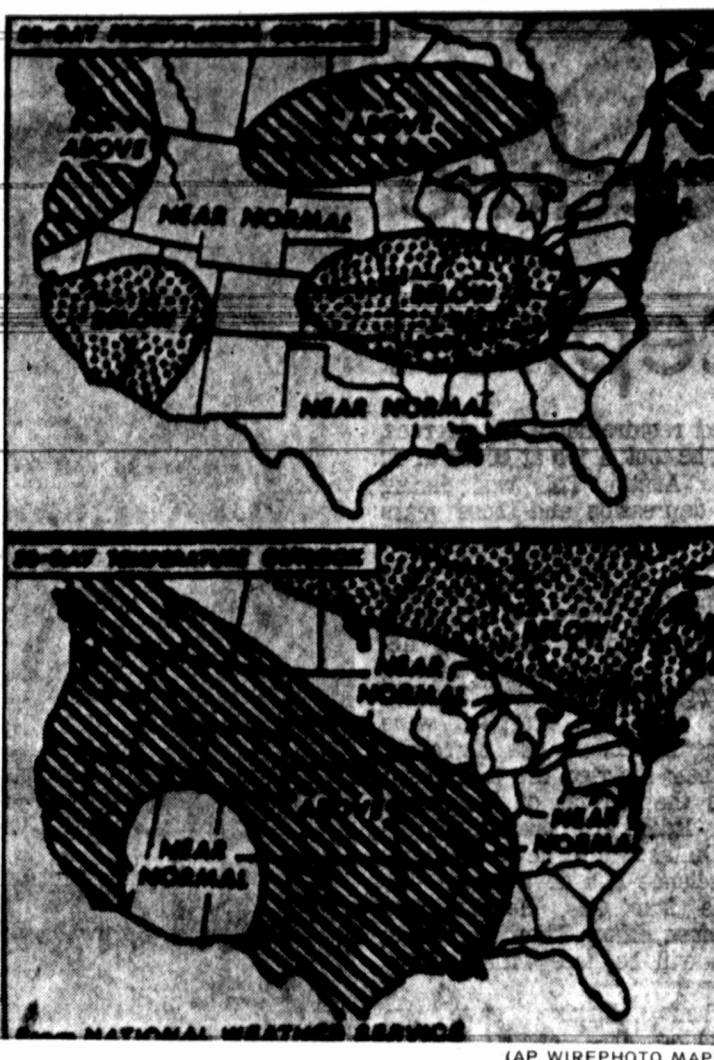

Meanwhile some unresolved difficulties were said to exist in the wake of the lengthy Kissinger-Tho parleys during the past 3 1/2 weeks.

LONG GONE
Senior U.S. officials refused to specify what obstacles remain, nor would they predict when a settlement might be reached.

In Paris, with Kissinger gone and Tho preparing to leave today for Hanoi, the semipublic portion of the peace talks resumed and both sides escalated their recriminations, noticeably muted during the Kissinger-Tho talks.

Thieu's Christmas cease-fire proposal was formally presented during the Thursday session and the response by U.S. delegate Heyward Isham appeared to indicate U.S. support for it, though Ziegler quickly sought to knock down such speculation.

A North Vietnamese spokesman repeated the Communists' demand for signing of the nine-point plan made public Oct. 26. "We firmly protest against all the absurd demands of the U.S. and Saigon for modification of the contents of the agreement," he said.

OUTLOOK—This is the way the nation's weather shaped up for the next 30 days in terms of precipitation and temperatures, according to the National Weather Service in Washington.

Property Tax Tangle Grows

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's administration will keep working for federal relief to those who pay local property taxes, even though an advisory commission recommended against its favorite method, says Treasury Undersecretary Edwin S. Cohen.

The Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations Thursday turned down a recommendation by its own staff for federal incentive grants to encourage states to adopt "circuit-breaker" property-tax policies, benefiting elderly and poor homeowners and renters.

These would provide tax cuts or rebates when the property tax exceeded a fixed proportion of the taxpayer's income.

TAX RELIEF
The commission also rejected a compromise proposal by Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz favoring tax relief either by a direct federal circuit-breaker program, aid to states for similar programs, or unspecified other methods.

The commission agreed tacitly only to keep the whole matter under advisement while effects of federal revenue sharing and of court decision on property-tax financing of education are studied.

It approved a statement that "state should retain primary responsibility for shaping policy dealing with general property-tax relief and intrastate equalization of school finances."

In an interview after the vote, Cohen said he is certain Nixon still is concerned with the plight of poor and elderly homeowners. Some of them, the commission was told, pay from 10 to 30 per cent of their total income in property taxes.

Last January, Nixon assigned to the commission the task of studying possibilities for property-tax relief, including specifically the question of whether the government should consider a value-added tax—a form of national sales tax—to produce an estimated $13 billion in revenues that could be used to offset property taxes.

BACKED AWAY
Since then, however, administration spokesmen have backed away from the idea of a value-added tax. The commission reported that such a tax is not needed for property-tax relief purposes.

Cee City's Baker Hotel May Be Utilized Again

COLORADO CITY — Citizens here were optimistic this week over improvements reported to be slated for the Baker Hotel.

The Baker Hotel was built during Colorado City's heyday in 1925, a five story building with 72 rooms.

Back in the 50's it was remodeled and run for awhile, but a few years back, it closed down again.

This time, the building is being considered for a different use.

Mrs. Jewel Fuller McMullen of Grand Prairie has announced plans to turn it into an apartment complex with 40 apartments.

She also set plans to re-open the restaurant and to re-activate the swimming pool at the facility.

Work is expected to begin in the near future on the project.

J. Paul Getty Celebrates At Ball Given By Duchess

LONDON (AP) — American oil billionaire J. Paul Getty, who may be the richest man in the world, celebrated his 89th birthday Thursday night at a lavish party given by his duchess friend. Getty vowed to live to 100.

President Nixon telephoned congratulations, and the guests included Nixon's daughter Tricia, ex-King Umberto of Italy and other distinguished men who have been married five times, have known each other more than 20 years and recently have been making the social rounds together. She said she gave the party because "an 89th birthday should be quite an occasion."

At midnight, the lights went out in the Orchid Suite of the Dorchester Hotel, and a cake with 80 candles and Getty's initials was rolled in.

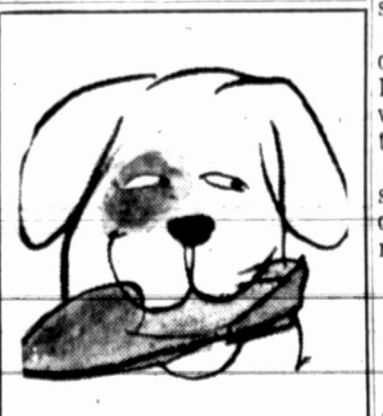

The band then sang out the special gift of the duchess, her own words to the song that made her famous.

It went:
"You're the top
"You're J. Paul Getty.
"You're the top
"And your cash ain't petty."

Pat Murphys Schedule Anniversary Reception

There has been many a problem and lots of work involved in the 50 years the Pat Murphys have been married, and to celebrate the half-century together they will entertain with a reception Sunday at the Holiday Inn.

The Murphys know so many people in the area that sending invitations seemed impossible, so all friends are invited to call between the hours of 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. in the Patio Room at the Inn.

Mrs. Murphy, the former Marguerite (Tootsie) Watts, came to Abilene from East Texas with her family at about the same time the Murphy family moved to Abilene from Hubbard, near Waco.

Tootsie and Pat knew each other from elementary school, and became "sweethearts" during their high school years. They were married in Abilene by a Baptist minister on Dec. 19, 1922.

Murphy was offered a football scholarship from Texas A&M and also McMurry. He ruled out McMurry because Pat wanted to marry, and the school wouldn't take married students. He and Tootsie both enrolled in classes at McMurry. After they had gone long enough to get teaching jobs they were both hired at Clyde as teachers. He also coached. They returned to school each summer to continue their studies. He taught a year at Cross Plains and then was assistant coach at Abilene High. After many years they both finished requirements for degrees, and he took a job at coach at El Paso Austin. This was during the depression and those years made an impression on the coach and the teacher.

In 1933 the couple came back to Abilene where he served as assistant coach until he accepted a coaching job at Big Spring High School in 1937. In 1935 while the Murphys were living in Abilene the big event of their married life took place with the arrival of their only son, Eddie. He presently lives in Dallas where he is manager of science and development for Lone Star Gas. He has two children, Mary Ellen and Mike, who will be here with him for the party.

When Murphy gave up coaching he continued his association with the Big Spring Independent School District as business manager. He retired from this position five years ago.

Mrs. Murphy had served as an assistant in the high school library for 14 years when ill health caused her retirement. Assisting the Murphys at the reception will be her sister, Mrs. Louise Dillingham, Mrs. Clara Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Miller Harris, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. King, Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Breckenridge and Mrs. John Berry of Clyde.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 10, 1973, at the music building at Howard County Junior College.

A LOVELIER YOU Soften Angles, Lines To Compliment Face

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: All I want for Christmas is an oval face. Mine is a long rectangle with the sharpest corners. I ask at cosmetic counters and hair salons for advice. Everyone seems to have a different idea of what I should do. It's confusing. Please help me.

The Answer: The application of one art principle solves the problem. . . Soften angles and straight lines by introducing curves. Now let's see how this works out.

We'll begin with hair. A style that both shortens and softens the face is smooth and close to the head on the crown. It is long enough to flip up or turn under at a point about an inch below the ear. To increase the illusion, wear full bangs, cut straight across to just clear the eyebrows, or arrange the hair in a deep swag to one side of the forehead.

The makeup ruse requires a skin-tone foundation, a dark shade of contour cream, and a translucent brush-on highlighter. First apply the foundation in a smooth film. The contour cream comes next. Dot it on in a half circle that starts just above mid-ear and finished beneath the lobe; blend. The cheekbones thus gain prominence, the jaw too.

Now brush on the highlighter in wing formation. The cheek-bones thus gain prominence, the jaw too.

Now brush highlighter in wing formation from cheekbones to hairline, brush in a circle on the tip of the chin. Lastly apply lipstick in full curves.

As for fashion, high, round necklines and necklaces bear your name. Put these gambits together and a long face breaks into happy curves.

OILY SKIN RELIEF

An oily skin can be improved. Just send for my leaflet, "Relief For Oily Skin." Advice covers corrective treatments and makeup; such special problems as pimples, blackheads and enlarged pores. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover handling.

Truck Thefts At McAllen

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Professional thieves have stolen 30 trucks so far this year from downtown McAllen, a police spokesman said.

Senior criminal investigators George Salinas said the thieves who appear to specialize in nearly new or new Ford pickup trucks, apparently are taking the trucks across the Rio Grande into Mexico.

Fords appear to be the main targets, Salinas said, because the culprits can carry their own ignition switch and key. He said they can remove the wires, hook them to their own switch and drive away in a matter of seconds.

Don't Hide It

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PARENTS UNTOLD: (Q.) I have this girl friend. She has a boy friend. He has a brother. I like the brother.

Well, we were all over at her house and we all went out together. I went with the brother. He is 18 or 19. I am 14. I did not tell my parents about going out with him.

If I get a chance should I go out with him again? I really like him. He kissed me. That had never happened to me before. — First Time in Virginia.

(A.) You should not go out with boys without the knowledge and permission of your parents. You should not hide your friendships from your parents. You should not hide a date with an older boy from them. They might approve of you going out with a boy your age or a little older. A date with an 18-or-19-year-old boy is different.

If any boy asks you to go out with him, ask him to come to your home to get you. Be sure your parents know about it, and be sure they know how old he is.

Truth Tests In Massage Parlor Vowed

HOUSTON (AP) — A San Antonio massage parlor owner has filed a suit in federal court asking that a Houston ordinance which prohibits persons from giving massages to members of the opposite sex be declared unconstitutional.

Samuel Corey, who owns massage parlors in San Antonio and Austin, is joined in the suit by Tonie Byas, who said she wants to operate a Houston Tokyo Gardens Massage Parlor and is being unjustly deprived of the work opportunity.

The suit said that no lewd conduct is tolerated and that lie detector tests are given to employees to insure that no improper activities take place.

Corey, who said he planned to open a parlor in Houston, said the ordinance violated recently enacted Texas equal rights amendments prohibiting sex discrimination.

Houston's 1961 ordinance—upheld when last attacked in federal court—banned operation of a massage parlor open to both sexes and massage of customers by persons of the opposite sex.

Corey said he plans to employ females to administer massages to make customers "strictly and absolutely avoiding any form of lewd, immoral or indecent sexual activity."

WHAT TO SAY? (Q.) There is a girl that eats lunch the same time I do and is in the school library when I am. I also see her in the hall occasionally. I want to get to know her, but can't think of anything to say.

I went all last year without talking to her and she is a senior this year. What can I say to her? — Interested in Indiana.

(A.) Hurry so you will have plenty of time to become good friends with her before the school year is over.

A good simple starter would be to ask her her name and where she lives.

Then ask her for her telephone number.

A few telephone conversations will help you find out what her interests are. Then talking will be easier. The next step will be to ask her for a date.

I repeat: Hurry, because the year is almost half gone now!

Airman Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Death claimed 2nd Lt. Clark D. Barron Wednesday after the airman sustained burns two weeks ago in the crash of his jet trainer at Laughlin Air Force Base near Del Rio, Tex.

A spokesman at the Army's Brooke General Hospital here said Barron, 23, of Del Rio and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was brought to Brooke after the crash of the plane Nov. 28.

Eventration

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: X-ray of my baby showed that his stomach and intestine were in the body cavity.

He is now 20 months old, and this abnormality does not seem to affect him physically.

The doctor diagnosed it as "eventration of the diaphragm." Is this serious? Can it be corrected only by surgery? Is it common among babies? — A.P.

Not common. Eventration means that the diaphragm is weak — the diaphragm being composed of muscle tissue. It is a congenital defect in the baby's development.

The net result is that the diaphragm rises higher in the chest than it should, and some of the organs in the abdomen below the diaphragm will be misplaced upward.

Eventration, by the way, is not the same as a hernia of the diaphragm. With the latter, there is a localized weakness through which the stomach or bowel can bulge.

Ordinarily eventration of the diaphragm produces no symptoms and is not serious. If the elevation is extensive and the lung is crowded, then surgery may be necessary to splint the diaphragm, but that does not happen often.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The doctor said my mother has "fat in the blood," and I would like everything you know about it. — Mrs. L.M.

This evidently refers to triglycerides, or a variety of fatty materials that accumulate in the arteries and contribute to hardening of the arteries. Similar to, but not the same as, cholesterol. My booklet, "control Cholesterol Sensibly," may not contain everything I know on the subject, but it will give you a pretty good working knowledge. The booklet discusses triglycerides (and diet) as well as cholesterol. Send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy. I'm pretty sure it will have just what you want to know.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 4 1/2 months pregnant. I went to the dentist and had my teeth X-rayed, and had to have them retaken because they weren't clear enough. He used a chest shield.

My mother said you should never be X-rayed while pregnant. If so, why don't they tell you in the dentist's office, or at your first checkup for pregnancy? — D.L.

It's true that X-rays should be avoided, particularly in the first few weeks or months of pregnancy. However, with X-rays of the teeth the amount of radiation reaching the fetus in your womb is very small if any, so I wouldn't be too much alarmed if I were you.

There is, of course, a possibility that some rays might be scattered and thus go where they are not intended, so personally I would not advise dental X-rays in pregnancy, however slight the risk doubtless is. The use of the shield is an essential precaution.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please explain what apoplexy is? — Mrs. E.R.C.

Apoplexy is an older term, now being used less and less, for a stroke, or "C.V.A." C.V.A. means cerebral vascular accident — that is, something that goes wrong with one of the blood vessels in the brain.

This can either be a hemorrhage, one of the vessels leaking blood; or a clot, shutting off blood flow through one of the many vessels.

The seriousness depends on the location and degree of damage.

SHINGLES

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Opening lead: King of ♠ South developed an interesting end position in his three diamond contract today, in which he first severed communications between the opposition and then projected an endplay against each defender in turn.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace. The appearance of nine and ten on successive rounds suggested that it was not safe to play another club. West was reluctant to lead away from his broken holding in hearts and, fearing a possible end play if he retained the lone ace of spades, he cashed that card and then exited with a trump.

Declarer drew trump by cashing the ace and then leading a small diamond to the ten in his hand. He had lost three tricks already and was confronted with the prospective loss of two more in spades and hearts—even assuming that the heart finesse succeeded. West's play of the ace of spades followed by his abrupt shift to a trump strongly suggested that the spades would not divide favorably and, therefore, that North's long spade could not be established for a discard.

West's sequence of bids tended to indicate that he held two five card suits. This was confirmed in the play when he showed up with two clubs and apparently just one spade. This distributional pattern supplied South with a ray of hope.

With trumps accounted for, he led a small heart from his hand and finessed North's queen. The ace was a head-scratcher. East's remaining heart and then the queen of spades was led. East realized that if he won the trick, he would be end played, for, down to nothing but spades and clubs—the lead of a club would present declarer with a ruff and discard, while the spade return into dummy's jack-nine would also surrender a trick.

When North's queen of spades was permitted to hold, South abandoned his attack against East and switched his attentions to West. The latter was thrown in with a third round of hearts, and whether he exited with a heart or a club, South could ruff in the North hand while he disposed of his remaining spade.

In all, declarer lost two clubs, one heart and one spade.

Can't Legally Cut Off Credit

AUSTIN (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said stores can't legally cut off the credit of customers who complain about price freeze violations.

The IRS published a question and answer bulletin that included this query:

"I filed a complaint against a local department store which I thought had raised prices illegally. Now they've cut off my credit. Isn't this kind of retaliatory action forbidden by the price regulations?"

"Yes. A new Price Commission regulation prohibits retaliatory action by a seller against a buyer who exercises any of his rights under the Economic Stabilization Act or regulations. The rent guidelines prohibit similar actions by landlords," the IRS regional office replied.

Assisting is Miss Christie Street.

Scout Interest Is Promoted

Boys in the Big Spring area will have a chance Saturday evening to become part of Scouting and then talk about it.

From 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, the time on radio station KBYG will be given over to enrollment for Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers. Any boy who is interested in becoming a Cub (ages 8-10), a Scout (ages 11-12-13) or an Explorer (14 and over) is urged to come to the station and join.

There will be representatives from a number of packs, troops and posts in the district to sign them up on the spot. Then boys will have a chance to broadcast and tell why they joined, what they want out of Scouting, and play a favorite record; also at 9 p.m. there will be an induction ceremony for all who have signed during the four-hour period.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Backers of a suit challenging states bans on layman incorporated health maintenance organizations say "a new breed of doctors" will come to Texas if the suit succeeds.

Three organizations and six individuals filed suit in the court of U.S. District Court Judge John Wood here, charging Texas has "special interest laws" which "effectively deny the medically indigent services vitally necessary to their health."

The suit names as defendants Secretary of State Bob Bullock and the Texas Board of Medical Examiners.

Maintenance Association, the City Wide Welfare Rights Organization, Sutton Homes Resident Association and six individuals, who are identified as either low- or middle-income black and Mexican-American residents of San Antonio.

The suit says the San Antonio Community Health Maintenance Association intended to have on its staff as salaried personnel licensed physicians to administer health services "with special emphasis on the medically indigent."

middle class north side and away from the poor areas.

In a news conference after the suit was filed, plaintiffs attorney Michael Mendelson and state Sen. Joe Bernal said the suit challenges "certain statutes of the state of Texas which give doctors an absolute monopoly on incorporating health and medical care corporations to provide these vitally needed services."

Mendelson, of the Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund of San Francisco, and Bernal, who was one of the proposed incorporations of the San Antonio Community Health Maintenance Association, said Texas is only one of 22 states with similar restrictions on establishment of the health maintenance organizations.

PROHIBITION

According to the suit, Bullock refused to approve corporation papers for the San Antonio Community Health Maintenance Association.

The suit attacks the constitutionality of Texas statutes which served as the basis for Bullock's rejection, the suit says—namely, a prohibition against a corporation hiring doctors and against a corporation providing health care without having licensed physicians as its directors.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1972 SECTION B

Airline Travelers Caught In Middle Of Hot Dispute

By The Associated Press
Airline travelers are caught in the middle of a dispute between local airport authorities and the federal government over who will pay for new security measures aimed at curbing hijackings.

The local officials say compliance with the new rules will cost hundreds of thousands of dollars they just don't have. They say the federal government should pick up the tab for the extra guards and equipment required.

The Transportation Department says it will contribute some money for screening devices, but claims it's up to the airlines and the airports to solve the cost problem.

ARMED GUARDS

And a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman says: "The people who benefit from it (the added security) should pay for it."

Outgoing Transportation Secretary John Volpe announced last week that beginning Jan. 5, airlines would have to inspect all carry-on luggage and screen every passenger with a metal detector. A month later, Volpe said, every airport must have local armed guards on duty before all flight departures.

An Associated Press survey showed that most airport officials agreed there is a need for stricter measures to stop hijackings and will try to comply with the federal regulations. But they disagreed about the exact methods to be used and said they did not know where the money would come from to pay for increased surveillance.

Don Whitman, manager of the Portland International Jetport in Maine, said the money to meet the federal standards "is just not in our budget and it's not in our next budget which has already been submitted."

Bill Ryan, manager of the Tulsa International Airport in Oklahoma, said Volpe's directive would cost an extra $140-

000 per year and require the hiring of 17 to 24 guards in addition to the 15 already employed. "To pay for it we would have to take money from construction funds — for runways, taxi strips and so forth," Ryan said.

TAKES TIME

Ryan also indicated there might be problems finding guards. "It takes a while to train them," he said, "even if they are readily available. It (compliance with the directive) would be an extreme hardship for us . . ."

A Transportation Department spokesman said that federal funds will be used to buy extra metal-detection equipment as part of a program already under way. But the spokesman said that the cost of luggage searchers and guards will be the responsibility of airports and airlines.

Volpe has been suggested that the costs be passed on to travelers, presumably in the form of higher fares.

Some officials said the increased searches might conflict with the individual rights of passengers.

U.S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson of Los Angeles ruled recently that no passenger or his carry-on luggage may be searched without his voluntary consent although the airline may refuse to carry a passenger who declines to be searched. The government is appealing the ruling.

Choate Is Named To Two Credit Union Positions

Wade Choate, general manager of Webb AFB Federal Credit Union, recently received two important credit union appointments, one on the state level and one nationally.

Choate was named to the Texas Credit Union League coordinating committee and was appointed a national director to the Credit Union National Association, Inc., by the TCUL directors at their regular quarterly meeting held early in December.

As a member of the TCUL coordinating committee, he replaces Larry LaRochelle, who recently resigned as representative of the Corpus Christi district upon moving from that city. The coordinating committee consists of 14 directors, with each representing one of the districts of TCUL.

As a national director to CUNA, Choate joins 10 other Texas representatives. National directors from all 50 states, Washington, D.C. and Puerto Rico are chosen to represent credit unions on the national level.

Among the duties of the national directors is the establishment of policies and procedures for the credit union movement.

Choate joined Webb AFB Federal Credit Union in June, 1965, as manager. In the intervening years, the credit union has experienced outstanding growth and now ranks as one of the largest credit unions in Texas. Assets are above the $13 million mark and total membership is now above 12,000.

Webb AFB Federal Credit Union is presently in the process of merging with Fort Wolters Federal Credit Union in Mineral Wells. Once this merger is completed, a branch office will be operated at Fort Wolters, home of the Continental Army, for as long as is feasible.

LOOKS LIKE REGULAR GARBAGE DUMP $10 Million Lunar Leftovers

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — It's getting to look like a regular garbage dump down there," was the way it was put by commander Eugene A. Cernan the day the last Apollo left the moon.

Whether garbage or tools for future explorers, America's astronauts have left behind nearly $10 million in used equipment, including three rovers.

The leftovers are scattered at each of the six sites where an Apollo lunar module carrying two men has touched down since July 1969.

like guardian sphinxes at each junk pile.

Nearby are the most costly castaways, the $2-million lunar roving vehicles — used cars to aid men who might return to the moon.

But some of them need a little body work.

A fender broke on Apollo 17's rover the first day Cernan and geologist Harrison H. Schmitt drove it on the moon's dusty surface. The same thing happened on Apollo 15 and 16.

Some old moon maps became an ersatz fender on the current mission, blocking out the power-powered vehicle.

GOLF BALLS

Scientists say each of the cars can be used again just by recharging or replacing the power cells. And the Apollo 17 rover is also to be used for television transmissions.

Not everything left behind has similar potential, though.

There are two golf balls, a feather, 12 pair of yellow boots, some coveralls, packets of uneaten food and a few used toilet bags.

Also left on the moon's non-decaying surface are several expensive cameras, portable oxygen and cooling systems and assorted tools.

Among the frivolous earth mementos on the moon are the golf balls smacked out by Alan B. Shepard Jr. on Apollo 14 and a feather from the Air Force Academy's falcon mascot left by David Scott of Apollo 15.

Sharing the desolate lunar surface with the useful and the useless are landmarks for future space explorers.

There are six American flags, electronically-coded messages from 78 world leaders and a plaque bearing the names of Russian and Americans who died during 20th century man's long journey to the heavens.

BETTER THAN A SOVIET PRISON Man Without A Country

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-four hours earlier, he had been told he was a man without a country. Now Dr. Valery H. Chaldize was sprawled deep in an overstuffed chair in his mid-Manhattan hotel room, kicking his heels into the carpet.

"Well," he said, "this is better than a Soviet prison. That, at least, is the consolation."

His pretty, dark-haired wife, Vera, wearing blue jeans and a red blouse, was snuggled on the sofa, cuddling a pillow. She was translating her husband's remarks and interjecting her own.

to my own country whenever I wish," Chaldize said, moving restlessly in his chair.

LESSER EVIL

But then he added: "If those two officials had given me the choice, prison in the Soviet Union or exile here, then I would have taken the exile," Chaldize said. "This is the lesser evil. Prison is far worse."

The young physicist's dissident views first came to the attention of the West in 1970, when he was listed as a founder of an unofficial Committee on Human Rights in Moscow that promised "constructive criticisms" of the statue of freedom in the Soviet Union.

Chaldize was summoned to secret-police headquarters in Moscow in July this year and warned about his activities. He was given permission to travel to the United States after he resigned from the human-rights committee.

Chaldize was reluctant Thursday to discuss his activities in Moscow. "You must understand: 'Anything I say now could truly harm my friends,'" he said. "I just don't want to mention any names."

This American trip is the first time Chaldize or his wife have ever been out of the Soviet Union. Will they miss home?

"Russia is big, there is much to miss about her," Chaldize said. "But even if my country was small, I know I would miss her just as badly."

His wife said quietly: "There is so much that I will miss; I know that." She still has her passport and her citizenship; but she said, "Of course, I will always remain with my husband and go where he goes."

More Frigid Air Zips Into State

By The Associated Press

Moisture tapered off and skies cleared over much of Texas today as still more frigid air poured into the state.

Before the widespread drizzle and occasionally heavy thunderstorms let up, however, more than four inches of rain open swamped some eastern sections. One effect was a sharp rise on the Angelina River.

There also were bristling storms along the Upper Texas Coast. By this morning snow had stopped falling in the Panhandle and skies were clear across the west half of Texas and clearing in the east.

Snow depths reached three to five inches in part of the Panhandle-Plains sector, the National Weather Service reported, but all major roads remained open. Patches of ice and snow slowed travel in places.

Another byproduct of the unpleasant weather was dense fog much of the night around Galveston, which halted ships offshore and in Galveston Bay for hours.

Drug Council To Be Formed

The Big Spring drug abuse council will be formed in a meeting in early January from local persons interested in combating the problem here, according to Ron Mercer, chamber manager.

Some 35 persons from a cross-section of the community met at the Dora Robert Community Center in the old Cosden Club Thursday night to discuss the drug abuse program here.

All of them volunteered to serve on the council, with an attempt to be made to obtain many more interested members.

A panel discussion was held Thursday night on reasons for the problem and need for local action.

Discussed at the meeting was a need for education to both parents and youth because of an apparent break-down in communications between the generations in many families, according to Mercer.

Battle Takes Shape

The stage has been set for one of the most bruising battles in history between the presidency and Congress. The normal "honeymoon" usually given presidents by Congress may be short indeed in 1973, or even eliminated.

The catalyst for this struggle was President Nixon's blunt directive to William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, to cut the amounts authorized by Congress for waste treatment plants. Congress had allocated the full amount to the states. The federal government, under that authorization, might approve or disapprove specific projects proposed by the states, but the full amounts would be available to the states for approved projects. Under the President's authorization to the states, thereby effectively limiting the number and cost of projects they order, Ruckelshaus would not allocate the full amount.

Congress passed the waste treatment bill, it was vetoed by the President, and then Congress passed it over his veto by an overwhelming vote — in the Senate the vote was unanimous to override the veto. Members will not appreciate this attempt to do by executive fiat what the President sought unsuccessfully to do by veto.

Congressional reaction to the President's directive to Ruckelshaus will probably open up the whole question of executive-legislative prerogatives. It is not an isolated case. In recent years Congress has been trying, largely without success, to stem the flow of authority to the executive as the expense of the legislative arm of government. But the "waste treatment" bill provides a standard to which both Republicans and Democrats can rally, thereby reflecting the overwhelming bipartisan support which overrode the President's veto.

Does the executive have power under the Constitution to refuse to spend money allocated by Congress? This will be one of the central issues in the approaching debate. It may be that the issue can be settled by the courts — officials in a number of states, in the wake of the President's directive, have suggested taking the matter to court. The Supreme Court of the United States most assuredly would not welcome such a suit.

What will be the outcome? The answer is made difficult by the increasing complexity of our government and of the world itself. But the Constitution itself does not provide the inflexible guidelines that could point to a final resolution of the dispute.

More Inflation

During November, wholesale prices accelerated sharply in the United States, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported. The rise in the wholesale price index for the month is calculated at six-tenths of a per cent, reversing a three-month trend of lower increases.

So inflation has not been stopped by President Nixon's wage-price controls program. There remains some question as to whether the rate of inflation has even been slowed.

During the eight months prior to imposition of controls, the rate of increase in wholesale prices was 5.2 per cent. During the first year controls were in effect, ending Aug. 15, the rate of increase was 5.4 per cent. In the six months ending with the November report, the rate of annual increase was 5.7 per cent.

It can be argued, and will be, that without the controls we would have experienced a staggering load of inflation. So the fact the controls have not succeeded yet in lowering the rate of President's goal by the end of this year is not likely to persuade Congress they should be scrapped as ineffective.

Instead, the controls are likely to be made tighter, at least where prices are concerned.

Shotgun Wedding

Around The Rim

John Edwards

It was a shocking experience for new Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Grice had just started work as a peace justice in 1941. A man called and asked the judge to marry his daughter in the country.

AN OLD MODEL A Ford taxi, carrying the father and bridegroom, picked up Grice about 8 p.m., the peace justice remembers.

As they followed country roads outlining sections, Grice kept asking how much farther it was. He had thought they were only going a few miles. But the wedding site was 20 miles away. It was about 10:30 or 11 p.m. when they arrived.

I'll go in here and wake these people up, the father said.

"What is this, a shotgun wedding," Grice asked the bridegroom, who had been released temporarily from the Army to be married.

"Yeah, I guess that's what you call it," the bridegroom replied.

BESIDE THE BRIDE lay a two or three-year-old baby. Grice said he decided to officiate for the wedding, because he "felt like he was doing the girl a good deal." She lay in bed with her baby during the ceremony.

Grice didn't see a gun but the J.P. added, laughing: "He knew, if he didn't do it (get married), he'd get shot."

As far as the official remembers, then the Army man never did come back to live with his wife.

Since then, Grice has witnessed numerous shotgun weddings but nothing like that one. Courts sometimes leave men a choice of marrying a pregnant woman or going to jail, Grice explained.

THE FIRST WEDDING Grice ever officiated in was different. The Big Spring Herald had published his statement that the first wedding would be free.

"Say have you had your first wedding yet?" Vernon Low asked Grice.

Grice indicated he had not.

"Well, I'll be right back," Low said, leaving for a Miss Jackson.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

What do you think of the concept of "one church?" I have heard that there are over 200 Protestant denominations in the United States. Don't you think this is too many? Church unity would seem to be desirable. Are you for or against it? T.D.I.

The word "church" as often used, is a misnomer. Actually, there is only one Church (with a capital C), that's the body of believers in Jesus Christ. I heard of a lady who went to the post office and ordered a book of stamps. "What denomination?" asked the post office employee. "I didn't know they came that way," said the lady, "but make mine Baptist."

I believe in churches respecting each other, and working together. I am against, however, the amalgamation of denominations into one super-church. You see, various church bodies are indicative of the differences in human personality and understanding. Neither logically, nor the minor variations in theological Biblically, could they be squeezed into one repressive mold. They can, however, cooperate in such a way that they implement the over-arching plan and will of God.

I couldn't envision "one church" in the United States, unless the nation became a dictatorship and we were ordered to organize and unify administratively.

Denominations have a rationale, or reason for existence. If such organization serves the purposes of Christian education, missions and evangelism, that's one thing. An oppressive hierarchy is another.

Denominational philosophy was defined well when the apostle Paul said in II Corinthians 1:24, "Not that we lord it over your faith; we work with you for your joy."

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the more encouraging economic signs in November was a drop in the jobless rate to 5.2 per cent from 5.5 per cent of the labor force. But now there seems to be a question of statistical fluke.

As noted by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, one reason for the lower jobless rate was a shrinking of the labor force. Fewer people were looking for jobs.

Tennessee Editor Wins Zenger Award

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tennessee editor whose life has been threatened several times and whose newspaper plant was burned twice because of his editorial stands, is the recipient of the University of Arizona's John Peter Zenger award in journalism.

Dan Hicks Jr., editor of the Monroe County Democrat in Madisonville, Tenn., will receive the award at a luncheon here Jan. 13. Phillip Mangelsdorf, head of the University of Arizona Journalism Department, said Wednesday.

The award was established in 1954. Its recipients have included Wes Gallagher, president and general manager of the Associated Press; Russell Wiggins of the Washington Post; Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Arizona Republic and Phoenix Gazette; James Reston and Arthur Krock, both of the New York Times, and Erwin Canham of the Christian Science Monitor.

Cost Of Legislature

Garth Jones

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — One of the fastest growing items in the state budget of California is the cost of running the state legislature. The legislature and its 1,500 employees will cost Californians more than $32 million this year — a fourfold increase in just 10 years.

That's about $1 out of every $250 spent by the state with its budget of nearly $8 billion.

Records of the State Controller show just 250 employees of the legislature on the state payroll in 1962 — just slightly more than two each for California's 120 senators and assemblymen.

BUT THAT figure didn't include several hundred then-part-time employees of the legislature.

Today's legislature is full-time plus a little bit. The 1971 session stretched over 365 calendar days, and the 1972 session will stretch over at least 363 calendar days — depending on when a final veto session convening New Year's Day finally adjourns.

Of course the legislature didn't work every one of those days, and neither did its staff. But they also didn't work on every one of the 38 calendar days of the 1962 session.

The legislature now has so many consultants, attorneys, analysts, administrative assistants, secretaries and messengers that they no longer all fit in the six-story wing of the Capitol built in 1952.

THE ASSEMBLY office of Research, for example, is now located in a building across the street from the Capitol which houses the State Supreme Court. The legislative analyst has offices in the Capitol and two privately owned office buildings in downtown Sacramento.

Spurred by staff growth and worries of the earthquake danger in the 102-year-old west wing of the Capitol, the legislature is talking about construction of a new Capitol costing up to $50 million. The current thinking is a twin-tower structure 17 stories high.

Through all this, the volume of legislation hasn't changed much. There were 5,722 measures introduced in 1971 and 4,633 this year. There were 6,016 items in the 120-day 1963 session.

THE COST of drafting, debating and finally passing an average of 2,000 new state laws annually averages out to $1.50 a year per citizen. In fiscal 1962-63, the legislature's budget was $7.3 million — about 35 cents per citizen.

That's a 336 per cent increase the past decade, compared with an overall 181 per cent increase in state government costs over the same 10 years.

One of the increased costs of the legislature which has received most attention is the pay of lawmakers.

Pay was fixed in the state Constitution at $6,000 a year until 1966, when a constitutional revision approved by voters boosted it to $16,000 and authorized future raises of up to five per cent a year.

The salary is now $19,200 a year, and a bill is on Gov. Reagan's desk to boost it to $21,120 in 1975. Living allowances, free state cars, gasoline and telephone credit cards and retirement benefits boost the average cost of each legislator to more than $28,000 a year, of salaries and personal expense account for only 11 per cent of the budget.

THE CURRENT budget shows at least 50 employees of the legislature who earn more than the $19,200 paid senators and assemblymen George Murphy, the chief legislative counsel, and A. Alan Post, chief budget analyst, top the scale of legislative employees at $37,600 each.

justed rate of 3.8 per cent, nearly 2 per cent lower than the September rate, resulted mainly from a smaller than usual rise in new car prices.

However, some increases were merely delayed, pending Price Commission approval, which came on Dec. 1. These prices will show up in December figures to be released early in January, and they could change the picture.

While noting that the wholesale price picture might look better when viewed in the perspective of annual rates, which average out the monthly aberrations, the Fed observed that November prices were "disappointing."

They were disappointing because:

—Large increases in the prices of both agricultural and industrial commodities to raise the over-all price index at a 7.4 per cent annual rate.

—Agricultural prices spurred at an 18 per cent annual rate, reversing the moderation in growth during the preceding month.

—Prices of industrial commodities registered a sharp 5.5 per cent annual increase, the largest since just prior to the three-month wage-price freeze that began in August 1971.

It is obvious from these figures — somewhat startling figures in the view of some analysts — that despite an over-all improvement in the price situation there is still tremendous volatility in pricing and vigor in inflation. If the latter is dying, it is getting in a few lousy kicks in the process.

As always, it is perverse and not to be trusted. Thus the likelihood for widespread support for a continuation of wage-price controls.

Class In Double-Talk

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — All right, kiddies, let's settle down in our seats. The class in double-talk is ready to begin.

Those of you who remained awake during our last session will remember what double-talk is. It is the art of sounding convincingly meaningful while saying something which is usually just the opposite of what you are really thinking.

Double-talk is intentionally tactful, helpful and healing despite its total insincerity. You don't believe what you're saying, but you say it so that it sounds convincing.

Here for your guidance, class, are a few common examples of double-talk in a variety of situations. The quoted remarks are what the person said, followed in each case by what he actually was thinking.

"Never mind how the cassette role turned out, Kate. After all, I didn't marry you just because I needed a cook." — Right now I can't remember just what it was I needed.

"If there is anything more I can do for you, please don't hesitate to call." — But call somebody else — not me.

"Oh, Harry, you're so impulsive I'm afraid you spent far too much money getting me this lovely engagement ring." — You ought to have given me a magnifying glass, too, Dum-dum. I could see it without squinting.

"You never looked better in your life." — Somebody call the nurse.

"I love our class in double-talk, Professor. I wish it would never end." — There are some days when I don't think it will.

We Are In Limbo

Marquis Childs

ST. LOUIS — "We are in limbo." That is the response of one of the young organizers of Washington University's student symposium to the question of where the kids stand today. Between the old politics and the collapse of the new politics on Nov. 7 the young feel they have no place to go.

THEY WORKED HARD for St. George, as they call Sen. McGovern, in the primaries and many carried on in the fall even though they were a bit disillusioned with their hero. Now seeing no place on the political map to turn to, many are simply rejecting the whole scene. Hair, sex and for a few the Jesus Movement are the only options left.

It has been a long journey from the MOBE in Washington and all the other antiwar demonstrations to this limbo. Here at Washington University the climax came, after the shooting at Kent State, with the burning of the ROTC building.

IF TWO students could be shot down at respectable, middle class Kent State then it could happen anywhere. At Jackson State in Mississippi there were two more dead.

In their downbeat moments the young who put together this symposium on the reasons for the collapse of the new politics admit to a sense of futility. Did all the demonstrations, the marches, the teach-ins have any real influence on the Vietnam involvement and the course of the war? The answer is a reluctant "no," for not long ago when there was an attempt to organize a protest, only about 100 students out of an enrollment 4,000 turned out for an all-night sit-in.

THE OTHER side of the coin are the young who fought against the war on the pavements, on the Capitol plaza, at the Justice Department, outside the doomed ROTC building. In their own fashion they were the brightest and if not the best then the most concerned and committed. Their disillusion with the whole process of democracy, whether within the system or outside the system in the streets, is one of the heaviest costs of the war and the long and bitter division that cuts across our lives.

THEY LISTEN respectfully to their elders who have spoken here on the causes of what was for them the debacle of Nov. 7. But you sense that they are not entirely convinced by the outward evidence. There must be some deep interior meaning at the undisclosed heart of American life. Political power struggle no longer has any meaning. This may all along have been their weakness. They were a disembodied force. They believed they could do it on their own with no help from the older generation.

Texan Accused Of Raping Mom, Killings Found Sane

HOUSTON (AP) — A Fort Worth man accused of raping a young mother and drowning her infant sons eight years ago, has been found sane by a district court jury.

The jury in District Judge Ed Duggan's court deliberated about three hours Thursday in finding Charles Roy Hefley II, 25, currently sane.

Hefley had been confined in the Rusk State Hospital since 1965 when a Fort Worth jury found him insane in connection with the Sept. 10, 1964 incident.

Hefley was accused of stabbing, beating and raping the mother and throwing her sons into the Trinity River. The incident occurred in Forest Park, a Fort Worth area where Hefley was accused of abducting Mrs. Carolyn Adams.

The hearing here was the third sanity hearing for Hefley, who was 16 at the time of the incident. The first two sanity juries in Fort Worth had ruled he was still insane and should remain under supervision in a mental hospital.

Hefley's attorneys were successful in moving the third hearing here on a change of venue.

Sponsor Of 'Under God' Measure Dies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Oliver P. Bolton, 55, junior member of the nation's only mother-son congressional team and sponsor of the bill that put "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance, died Wednesday of a heart attack. His mother, Frances P. Bolton, 87, represented Ohio's 22nd District while her son served three terms from the 11th District.

Dr. Ralph E. Campbell, director of the Fort Worth State Mental Health Clinic, testified that Hefley has an average or high average IQ.

Tarrant County Asst. Dist. Atty. Cue Lipscomb said Hefley will be remanded to Rusk for at least 30 days after which he will be automatically released. Lipscomb said he would deliberate, after considering the law, whether to file a motion for a new hearing. Under the law Hefley cannot now be tried on the charges.

Ronald Aultman, one of Hefley's lawyers, called the verdict a "good and just" one.

"We are very pleased and very proud of the verdict," Aultman said. "We think it was a good and just verdict in that every doctor testified he was sane."

Drug Money For Texans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Thursday that checks totaling $4.6 million in partial refunds for overcharges for antibiotic drugs should be mailed to thousands of Texans Friday.

Martin said 4,354 individuals, plus numerous tax-supported hospitals and the state itself, would get the checks as a result of a successful antitrust suit against major pharmaceutical manufacturers.

He said the case was the first time a Texas attorney general had filed a class action suit for consumers.

Martin, joined by attorneys general from other states, sued the drug concerns for price-fixing on antibiotics during the years 1954 through 1966.

An order by a New York court last week cleared the way for the checks, amounting to half the amount paid for the drugs by consumers, to be mailed to Texas claimants.

Election Contested

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — A veteran sheriff says he and three other Democratic candidates who lost in Zavala County Nov. 7 to La Raza United candidates have filed contest of election "for the good of the county."

C. L. Sweeten, who has held the sheriff's post 15 years, says he, Constable Cecil Holt of Precinct 2, County Atty. R. A. Taylor Jr. and Democratic commissioners court candidate Santos Nieto have filed the contest of election in 38th District Court.

"What we had is a lot of people hollaring we're sorry, we're crooked and we're the establishment," claimed Sweeten of attacks on Democrats in the campaign.

Of the contest of election, he said, "For the good of the county, we'll just see how it comes out."

The notice of election contest alleges as many as 1,800 votes were cast by persons who are not United States citizens, by persons who have been convicted of felonies, by persons not residents of the county or precinct in which they voted and by persons not registered to vote, said Sweeten.
