Insurance Secretary Gets Real Snow Job

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Virginia Roche got a real snow job when she set out to work 30 minutes early Thursday because of the slippery streets.

As she put it: "I'm secretary for an insurance company downtown and my boss doesn't take too many excuses for being late."

SHE SLIPPED

When she pulled out from her apartment block, someone skidded past a stop sign and crashed into her car. She got the name of his insurance company and drove back in the parking lot.

A neighbor offered to drive her to work. They went two blocks before someone skidded into the neighbor's car.

Mrs. Roche found someone else to drive her to the nearest bus stop. It was 50 minutes before the bus showed up and it took another 40 minutes getting into town.

Mrs. Roche looked at her watch — 12:30 p.m. She started to run. Then she slipped on a slick spot, hurt her ankle and foot. She hobbled to a coffee shop and called her husband, who drove her to a doctor who treated her strained foot.

ENJOY IT

After 2 p.m., she called the office to explain she couldn't make it.

"The switchboard operator said she had been trying to call me all morning," said Mrs. Roche. "My boss wasn't feeling well and didn't come in. He said I might as well take the day off, too. And enjoy the snow."

'Early Birds' Gain Nod For Top Chairmanships

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Price Daniel Jr. started the legislative gears turning today by naming House committees and referring a stack of bills to them for hearings.

Daniel generally turned to his early supporters for the top chairmanships, but also gave some plums to latecomers to the Daniel campaign.

PICKS UP SLACK

Rep. Neil Caldwell of Angleton, a liberal who has held few positions of influence in more than 12 years as a lawmaker under conservative speakers, was named chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Rep. Dick Slack of Pecos, a conservative who was vice chairman in 1971 was given that post again, eliciting a low whistle from a few members as the appointment was read.

Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah, former appropriations chairman who resigned in March when former Speaker Rayford Price's brief administration came to power, returned to that committee by virtue of seniority.

New House rules gave Daniel authority to select the chairman and vice chairman of each committee, plus half the remaining members. The other assignments to each committee were given to the most senior members who requested them.

Rep. Dave Finney of Fort Worth, a five-term conservative who nominated Daniel for speaker and is a candidate himself for the job in 1975, was appointed chairman of the powerful House State Affairs Committee. Rep. Pike Powers of Beaumont, a freshman, was named vice chairman.

VOTING RECORD

Chairmanship of the Revenue and Taxation Committee went to second term Rep. Terry Doyle of Fort Arthur, who has a moderate-to-liberal voting record.

Rep. Carl Parker of Fort Arthur, a five-term labor-backed liberal who was one of Daniel's first supporters, will head the Calendar Committee, which will decide which bills get to the daily calendar for the debate after they have been approved by the other committees. Rep. George Preston of Paris, a former member who had not served in 10 years but was elected again last year, will be vice chairman.

The chairmanship of the Administration Committee, a powerful group which runs the day-to-day affairs of the House, went to Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown, a three-term liberal who was one of Daniel's first backers.

Rep. Bob Vale of San Antonio, a four-term liberal, was named chairman of the Rules Committee. Vice chairman will be Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, who dropped out of the legislature in 1966 to run for lieutenant governor, but lost.

The man who did the most to clear Daniel's path to the speakership, Rep. Fred Head of Troup, was made chairman of the Reapportionment Committee, which might have to draw new district lines for House members this year if the U.S. Supreme Court upholds a three-judge federal court ruling.

DEFEATED PRICE

Head defeated Price for reelection to the House. At the time, Price was considered the front-runner.

Three-term Rep. Bob Hendricks of McKinney was named to head the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee, which probably will have the job of passing on a proposed total revising of the state's penalties for criminal offenses. Rep. Lynn Nabers of Brownwood was appointed vice chairman.

INTENSE SEARCH

Missing Horseman

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A Massachusetts man, who bought two horses here to ride to Arizona for a lark, has been missing since Tuesday although both horses returned to their former owner.

An intense search was under way today with the temperature about 10 degrees and with 2-3 inches of snow on the ground.

Tom Green County Sheriff Odell Wagner said a Department of Public Safety helicopter was aiding deputies in the search.

The missing man is Leonard Sandgren, who said he owns a grain store in Great Barrington, Mass., where he also raises dogs and race horses.

He said before setting out for Arizona Tuesday afternoon that he had been driving through the southern United States, and after staying here about a week, decided on the horseback ride "just for something to do."

Pecos County Jail Escape

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP) — Two of six prisoners who escaped from the Pecos County jail here Thursday night remained at large today, Pecos County Sheriff Pete Ten Eyck reported.

Ten Eyck said the two were armed with a 30-30 rifle and possibly a shotgun and should be considered extremely dangerous.

The rifle was stolen from an uncle of one of the prisoners.

One of the men missing is convicted bank extortionist Sherril Gene Austell, 33, sentenced in July to 99 years in prison in the extortion of $20,000 from the president of the Security State Bank at McCamey.

Austell and a companion were arrested shortly after they forced the president to go to the bank and give up the money in small bills while one man held his wife at gunpoint in their home.

The other escaped prisoner still at large at a late hour was 22-year-old Jerry Wayne Fitch, who was in jail awaiting trial on charges of breaking and entering a Fort Stockton residence.

Ten Eyck said one of the prisoners, George Mounce, 35, sawed his way through jail bars shortly before 9 p.m. Thursday.

The sheriff said Mounce went to the home of an uncle of Fitch and robbed the man of several dollars and the rifle which was used in the later mass jail break.

He returned to the jail and forced the sheriff at gunpoint to release Fitch, Austell, Allen Walton Fogle, 21; Jimmy Dean Rogers, 20; and Gerald Edward Meadows, 40.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Carl Albert has emerged in the 93rd Congress with new powers and an apparent determination to use them to take charge of the House.

A combination of chance events and actions by the Democratic majority has placed Albert, starting his second term as speaker, in position to be as powerful a one as his political mentor, the late Sam Rayburn.

"Carl Albert will be a tremendously strong speaker," says Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., the new majority leader. "He was new last time and had to feel his way."

O'Neill's election as majority leader, replacing Hale Boggs of Louisiana, is one of the events that has given Albert tighter control of the House leadership.

Boggs, who vanished in an Alaskan plane crash, fought his way to the majority leadership in a tough election two years ago. His ambition to be speaker and his strong personality made his relations with Albert bumpy at times. O'Neill, affable and easy-going, is far more of a team player.

HOT LINE TO NOWHERE—The ice storm which descended upon the area last weekend played havoc with power lines north of Big Spring—an estimated 750 electric and telephone poles were felled in an area stretching from Big Spring to Tahoka. Power lines fell all over the country. Here, a lineman for Cap Rock Electric Co-Operative gingerly handles a broken wire and fellow workers toil to string new lines in the background.

Stock Market Reacts Upward, Fears Voiced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's unexpected lifting of most mandatory wage-price controls already has set off reactions ranging from a stock market surge to dire predictions of a price crunch on wage-earners.

Nixon Thursday abolished the tight mandatory controls except in the food and health industries, along with most of the government machinery for enforcing them. He set up instead a system of voluntary guidelines and asked Congress to extend the standby control authority, expiring April 30, so that the government could move in quickly to halt excessive increases.

IN NUTSHELL

In a nutshell, Phase 3 of the Nixon economic program provides that prices may be raised, but the increase should not exceed the increase in costs; wages may be increased without government approval, but for the present, raises are expected to be kept within the 5.5-per-cent guideline in effect since November 1971.

The old Phase 2 standards will be retained for processors and retailers of food, and for doctor, dentist and hospital bills. Those two areas have seen some of the biggest price increases.

In Chicago, Dr. John R. Kernodle, board chairman of the American Medical Association, said Phase 3 discriminates against the health-care professions. He said there is a possibility of "a flight of allied, ancillary and support personnel from the health field."

CORNER STORE

The aim of Phase 3, Nixon said, is to cut the inflation rate to 2.5 per cent or less by the end of the year—to keep fighting inflation until the "impact is felt at the local supermarket or corner grocery store."

Except in the reserved areas, large business and labor unions will no longer have to get advance approval for wage and price rises. The looser mandatory controls over construction wage increases also were retained and the President said voluntary efforts to hold down interest rates will continue.

The stock market took off on the announcement, pushing the Dow Jones industrial index 15.35 points above the previous day before settling down for a 5.64-point gain to a new closing high of 1051.70.

Analysts said expectation of higher profits steamed up the market.

But critics in Congress, most of them Democrats, said they fear a surge of inflation that will push prices up faster than wages.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee predicted Congress "will make its own independent judgement" as to the terms on which control authority is extended. He said the committee, where the control legislation originated, will begin extensive hearings on the whole stabilization program in about two weeks.

'Bout Time'

Fair and not so cold this afternoon through Friday. No precipitation indicated. High this afternoon, mid 40s. Low tonight, mid 20s. High Saturday, upper 50s.

ALL HANDOUTS APPRECIATED — Birds, probably wandering now why they didn't fly south for the winter, are shown gobbling up bread crumbs thrown out by a sympathetic Big Spring resident Thursday. The feathered creatures found it difficult to forage for themselves in all that ice and snow.

$250,000 LOSS?
Crystal Party To Vast Ruin

Bright sunshine continued for a second day Friday, turning the ice-laden area into a fairland of crystal.

But beyond the unimaginable and dazzling beauty lay a party of destruction wrought upon power and communication poles, principally north of Big Spring to the area east of Tahoka. Damage may be around a quarter of a million dollars.

In this vicinity, Cap Rock Electric Cooperative estimated about 100 poles down, but the worst was north of its system where Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, headquartered in Tahoka, made a rough estimate of 100 poles down.

Lyntegar had hauled out 500 poles for replacements and estimated that many more were needed said Bill Taylor. Beyond this were countless broken crossarms and snapped wires. There were four contractors from Big Spring, Lubbock, El Paso and one from Oklahoma joining with the regular Lyntegar crews for a brigade of 150 men struggling to get service back.

GOT WORSE

The trouble started a week ago Thursday for Lyntegar and got progressively worse. Poles were still coming down Friday despite the first sunshine in more than a week. One section of 92 poles lay down, and there were others of 30 or more poles at a whack. Thursday's moderating weather brought trouble to a new part of the system when thawing ice caused lines to bounce into other conductors and burn down in Gaines County. However, by far the worst part was from Tahoka east and from Ackerly north, with Gail being an approximate eastern border line.

Cap Rock Crews, abetted by three contractors, rushed repairs although eight more poles went down during the brief thawing Thursday. If thawing is rapid Friday, officials anticipated numerous burn downs when the wires bounce back like a released rubber band. In all, about 100 poles are down. Cap Rock, however, has been able to switch and loop around breaks to where only a few have been without power for long.

Texas Electric Service Company, which escaped with possibly only about a two dozen poles down during the entire spell, anxiously watched the thawing pattern for possible burn-downs.

PHONE LINES DAMAGED

In Big Spring, Harry Sawyer, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, said that 67 poles had been broken, 132 cross arms went down, and around 4,500 breaks were reported. He had maintained mobile service at Ackerly pending the installation of a 400 megahertz radio link with multiplexer at Ackerly and Big Spring so that there would be a flexible shift to radio in case of line disruption. Damage was estimated loosely at $75,000.

Icy driving conditions have put garbage crews behind, said James Campbell, director of public works, said they are trying to catch up.

Numerous water line breaks caused by the shifting of cold ground have been repaired this week. As the temperature begins to rise in the next couple of days, Campbell expects more breaks in water pipes.

No cattle deaths resulting from cold weather have been reported in Howard County, Ronnie Wood, assistant county agent, said.

COUPLE SHOT DEAD IN HOME

HOUSTON (AP) — Police found Henry Rodriguez, 29, and his wife Angelina, 28, shot dead in their home Thursday night after neighbors reported the couple had not been seen for several days.

Officers said a .44-magnum pistol was next to the man's body.

A preliminary medical examiner's report called the tragedy murder and suicide. It was believed Rodriguez shot his wife in the head, then put the barrel of the pistol in his mouth and killed himself.

Food Prices Expected To Continue Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by beef and pork, supermarket food prices are expected to continue climbing through mid-1973, according to a report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The report says that food prices are expected to rise 4.5 percent in 1973, compared with a 4.5 percent increase in 1972.

The report also says that food prices are expected to rise 4.5 percent in 1973, compared with a 4.5 percent increase in 1972.

Earlier in the week, Don Paarlberg, USDA director of economics, said retail food prices would keep rising at last year's annual rate of 4.5 percent through mid-1973.

"My own opinion is that the actions taken by the last couple of days will not substantially alter that picture," Butz said.

LBJ's School Is Featured

Former President Lyndon Johnson's alma mater, Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos is featured in the upcoming issue of the Texas Star. The 70-year-old institution has been changing rapidly in the past several years to keep up with its students changing needs.

The approaching governor's inauguration prompts a feature in the Star on two Bibles that play traditional and important roles in Tuesday's ceremonies. One Bible is used in the actual swearing-in, and the other carries marked scriptures from the outgoing governor to his successor.

The Star also focuses on the doctor shortage in Texas which is occurring mainly in the rural areas. While there has been an increase in the number of physicians, some small Texas towns are completely without a doctor.

Insists He Saw Couple Snipers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A witness insists he saw two snipers at a downtown hotel where six sniping victims died, and the mayor says: "There may have been three of them."

Mayor Moon Landrieu told a news conference Thursday that police "have cause to believe" at least two snipers were in the hotel. A police spokesman cited a large number of sniper-set fires as an indication.

The spokesman said investigators are interviewing 400 policemen and firemen who battled the sniping and the fires Sunday and Monday at the Downtown Howard Johnson's hotel.

Payne Hathcock, Room 101, Holiday Inn, reported his trousers, wallet, credit cards, money and keys were stolen while he slept Thursday night.

Hightower Has Short Term

Sen. Jack Hightower, Vernon who serves this 30th District drew capsule number 24, giving him a two-year state Senate term. Senators drawing even numbered "pills" had two-year terms as opposed to four-year terms for the odd numbers. Four is the normal elective term.

The drawing, held in the Senate Chamber Wednesday, required by the state constitution following the redistricting of the senate districts by the last legislature.

This will be the third two-year term for Sen. Hightower, first elected to the Senate in 1964 from the 23rd district, he was re-elected from the new 30th senatorial district in 1966. The senator was re-elected in 1970 and 1972 without opposition.

18-Year-Old Is Charged Here

An 18-year-old girl was arrested while visiting the county jail Thursday afternoon, then charged with possession of marijuana.

The cigarettes have been sent off for chemical analysis. Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena set bond at $2,500, and she was released.

Fixed Charges On Water To Be Up For 2 Cities

Water rates for member cities of the Colorado River Municipal Water District were fixed here today by directors at levels comparable to actual cost last year.

Monthly fixed charges of $134,115 were established, with Odessa being assessed $86,504 of it, Big Spring $37,112 and Snyder $10,198. To this is added six cents per thousand gallons for water actually delivered each month. The sum of the two determines the actual costs.

Charges to other cities are related to the member cities, or are fixed by contract figures. All these together are to generate revenues sufficient to cover $1,327,569 in operating expenses, plus $4,469,080 in adjusted debt service costs, or a total of $5,796,649.

Odessa's total fixed charge for the year will be up $9,567, Big Spring $8,988, while Snyder's will be down by $3,932. During the past year both Odessa and Big Spring increased their percentage of the total water delivered, and this is reflected in the slight fixed charge increase. Snyder's declined.

In 1972, Odessa used 4,579,880 gallons of water, which figured out actually at 28.54 cents per thousand; Big Spring used 2,695,729,000, which figured out 22.19 cents per thousand, and Snyder used 801,908,000 gallons, which resulted in 21.75 cents per thousand.

If Odessa uses the same amount of water in 1973 as last year, its calculated rate per thousand gallons will be 28.74 cents per thousand; Big Spring's will be 22.52 cents; Snyder's 21.26 cents. By using more water, cost per thousand gallons will be lower.

Monthly fixed charges were held down by applying $1,750,000 in revenues from sources other than the member cities, also $312,000 in construction fund balances to modify debt service costs by that extent.

Rates are arrived at by a complicated formula which is based in part on equitable sharing of source of supply costs and expenses, and part in relation to the distance and volume of water from the source of supply. In addition to principal and interest payments, debt service also includes a required 1.35 coverage for the year's requirements.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 17 years. We have one child — a 16-year-old son who has slept with his daddy since he was born.

Of course, when the boy got old enough to notice things I moved to another bed, but my husband wouldn't let the boy sleep by himself, and to this day our son goes to sleep in his daddy's arms.

The only attention I get is at two or three o'clock in the morning when Daddy can slip out of bed for a little while. (Sometimes it's four to six months before Daddy can slip out of bed.)

Our son is in high school now, and I keep telling my husband that this is abnormal. He says it's not. The boy makes very good grades so maybe I am worrying for nothing. Can this ruin our son? Please advise me.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Congratulations on your son's grades, but there are other aspects to be considered here. It is NOT normal for a father and son to fall asleep in each other's arms nightly for 16 years. (A man and his wife normally sleep that way.) Your local Family Service Association or Mental Health Association can provide you, your husband, and son with excellent counseling. I urge you to seek their help. You may have to blaze the trail and go alone, but don't let that discourage you.

DEAR ABBY: You are right, but only partially. In the U.S.A. people equate fat with ugly and thin with beauty. However in the South American countries the opposite is true.

When I was a child living in Bolivia (my parents were missionaries) my mother was constantly told, "Senora would be very beautiful if she would put on some weight."

My mother was beautiful by American standards, but she was far from thin.

DEAR J.D.C.: Easy on the propaganda for Bolivia! Let the South American preference for hefty get around in overfed U.S. and the stampepe south could sink the southern continent!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in a small apartment and have only a dining area adjoining the kitchen.

I had a small dinner party — my husband's boss and his wife, another couple, and us. I had no help, which was no problem as I am well organized.

After the dessert, the boss' wife said, "Oh, let's clear the table." So we three women cleared the table. Then the boss' wife said, "Oh, heck, why don't we do up these few dishes?" And she sounded like she really meant it.

Since the men were talking business in the other room I didn't see anything wrong with it, so we three laughed and talked and did up the dinner dishes. Then we joined the men. Everyone seemed to have had a wonderful time.

After the guests went home my husband had a fit. He said I should not have let the women do the dishes. I tried to explain it was the boss' wife's idea, but he said I could have (and should have) talked her out of it.

Abby, I still think I did the right thing. What do you think?
CAUGHT THE DICKENS
DEAR CAUGHT: I think you did, too.

Farm Forums Scheduled

Claude W. Brown, McCamey, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced today that two agriculture legislative forums will be sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in January.

The first will be held Jan. 16 in the Chamber of Commerce Building in Plainview; second at the Holiday Inn in Mineral Wells Jan. 18. Both meetings will convene at 1:30 p.m.

James A. Rogers, Plainview, chairman of the WTCC agriculture and ranching committee, explained that the current farm program will expire this year, and the type of program for the future is currently under consideration by committees in Washington.

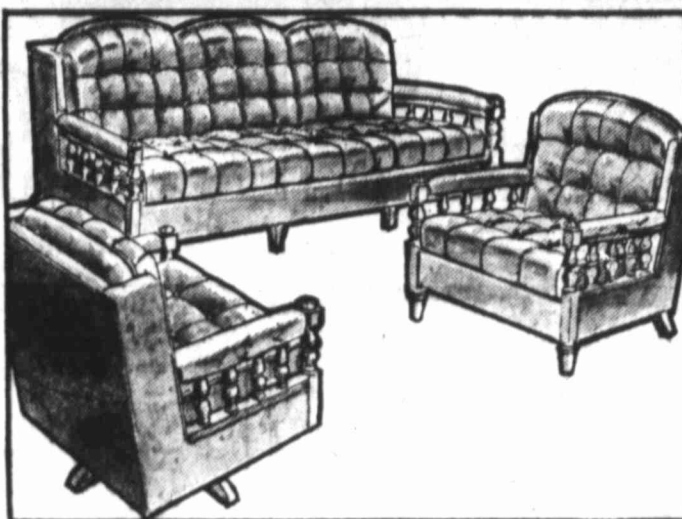

In addition to the farm program, many other issues affecting agriculture will also be considered in both Austin and Washington. Some of these are farm labor, transportation strikes, farm bargaining, taxation, rural housing, international trade, regulations on insecticides and pesticides and other issues.

Anyone interested in agriculture is welcome to attend and listen to the discussion, Brown said.

Lowitt Likes Skins, But Mizell Demurs

'It May Not Be Close'

By BRUCE LOWITT
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It won't even be close. It'll be just like the playoffs.

While the Miami Dolphins struggle to keep within come-from-behind distance, the Washington Redskins will be concentrating on breaking Sunday's Super Bowl VII wide open.

And barring what this forecaster would call a massive upset, the oddsmakers notwithstanding, Coach George Allen and his Redskins will do it with relative ease, to the tune of a 27-13 final score.

They won't shut down the Dolphins. Nobody shuts down Bob Griese, Larry Csonka, Paul Warfield, Garo Yepremian, Larry Little & Co. all day.

But that ferocious Washington defense—guys like Verlon Biggs and Diron Talbert up front and Jack Pardee, Chris Hanburger, Pat Fischer and Roosevelt Taylor behind them—will slow them up and wear them down.

On offense, Larry Brown gets the nod over any of the Miami runners. He may not have quite the dazzling feet of Mercury Morris or the bullishness of Csonka but he's got the best combination of both.

And Charley Harraway is no slouch as the Redskins' No. 2 running back.

At quarterback, it's Bob Griese's first start since the fifth game of the season, some three months ago. That, in prognosticators' view, gives Washington's Billy Kilmer the slight edge. Otherwise they're about even, each capable of masterful play calling and long and short throwing.

On the receiving end, the Redskins' Charley Taylor is at least the equal of Warfield. From there on, it's Washington over any of Miami's secondary passcatchers.

The kicking game is a break-even affair. Larry Seiple and Mike Bragg were pretty equal in punting. And in placekicking, Miami's Garo Yepremian had by far the better regular season—but Curt Knight has suddenly become a man with a radar toe in the post season action.

Remember the playoffs? While the Dolphins had to scramble and scratch their way past Cleveland and Pittsburgh for the American Conference title, the Redskins simply mangled Green Bay and Dallas for the National Conference crown.

Hawks Rack Up 13th Victory

Webb AFB supplied the top scorer in the former Cisco College flash, Larry Kelly, but Howard County got more consistent scoring out of all its troops to win an easy 12-8-2 decision here Thursday night.

The game was hastily arranged. HCJC had two contests earlier in the week weathered out.

The win was the 13th for the Hawks, compared to nine defeats. The local collegians hit this road this weekend, moving to Amarillo for an important Western Conference game Monday.

Tom Bledsoe again waxed warm for Howard County, bucketing 23 points. Taylor Williams did almost as well stuffing in 19. Herb Lee and Leroy Lumzy each had 13.

Kelly, who played his high school ball at Rotan and then went on to star for Cisco College, wound up with 33 of Webb's points and all but one of those came from the field.

At half time, the Hawks had built up a comfortable 58-34 advantage and Coach Harold Wilder made liberal use of his reserves after the intermission.

Randle Adapting Easily To Junior College Ball

Mike Randle didn't have to travel far to launch his college basketball-playing career — only a few blocks, as a matter of fact.

He attended high school here and was a star for the 1971-72 Steer team. Several schools, among them South Plains College of Levelland, wanted him but he cast his lot with Coach Harold Wilder at HCJC.

Mike took with him the same amount of hustle and desire which made him an all-district selection in high school.

Mike was one of four players who had to bridge the gap quickly from high school ball to the high degree of competitiveness found in junior college circles.

The Jayhawks' 13-9 over-all and 7-4 conference record can be credited, in part, to Randle's abilities.

Randle is lighting the scoreboard with a 7.7-point per game average. His rebounding norm is 5.6.

Mike is no slouch in the classroom, either. He had a better-than 3-point average for his first semester in college work at HC.

Juneau To Watch Title Go On TV

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The first live telecast ever received in Alaska's capital will be Sunday's Super Bowl football game from Los Angeles.

Ken Wiley of KINY-TV in Juneau announced Thursday that the Washington-Miami game will be shown at 12:30 P.M. local time.

The telecast will be beamed off a satellite over the North Pacific with the aid of Defense Department facilities, Wiley said.

'Shula Wants This One'

By HUBERT MIZELL
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Shula is too outstanding to be a three-time loser.

The Miami Dolphins are a 20-17 choice here to whip Washington in Super Bowl VII and rub Redskin Coach George Allen's nose in his ice cream.

Allen said it himself, "The Dolphins are the best team in pro football."

"I'll buy that. There are no dynasties in the modern National Football League, but Miami has the edge."

Shula wants this one worse than anyone knows. He lost Super Bowl III while coach of the Baltimore Colts and bowed in Super Bowl VI with a younger, thinner Miami team. The thought of 0-3 kills him.

This time he makes it. A major reason will be a Dolphin defense that will manage to contain the short passing game of Washington's Bill Kilmer.

The key figure is middle linebacker Nick Buoniconiti. Keep an eye on the safeties, Jake Scott and Dick Anderson, who are the best pair in the NFL. They not only handle their areas superbly, but help cornerbacks Lloyd Mumford and Curtis Johnson.

Look for a standout pass rush from relatively-unknown end Vern Den Heder, a second-year pro from Central of Iowa who has produced a brilliant season for the Dolphins.

Offensively, Miami will have trouble penetrating the veteran Redskin defense led by linebackers Jack Pardee and Chris Hanburger. But, Bob Griese is sharp again at quarterback and he's the best in the business.

Paul Warfield will get double coverage from the 'Skins, but look for this wily speedster to make his three or four receptions lead to scores for the undefeated Miamians.

Garo Yepremian has proved himself often as a clutch kicker and the little tinkerer could become a key figure before the watching millions in Sunday's showdown.

JOE SCHMIDT QUILTS LIONS

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Schmidt resigned today as head coach of the Detroit Lions after a frustrating 5-5-1 season which saw the team finish third in the National Football Conference's Central Division.

Schmidt made the announcement at a hastily called news conference in the team's offices.

The decision marked the end of Schmidt's 19-year association with the Lions — six years and one day as head coach and 13 years as a star linebacker.

Over-all, Schmidt's coaching record was 35-29-4. He took the Lions coaching post on Jan. 11, 1967.

Schmidt still had two years remaining on his coaching contract.

MIKE RANDLE

Mike is no slouch in the classroom, either. He had a better-than 3-point average for his first semester in college work at HC.

Brilliant 62 Gives Snead Phoenix Lead

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "Well," said J. C. Snead in the same soft drawl his uncle, Sam Snead, uses, "If I improve a couple of strokes I should be alright."

He said it with a big smile stretched across his face. J.C.—it stands for Jesse Carlyle—had just put together a brilliant eight-under-par 62 Thursday for the first-round lead in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

After making the turn at 30, he admitted he had visions of shooting a 9 on the 6,216-yard Arizona Country Club course, which would have been an all-time tour record.

"I've shot 29 on that back side before," he said. "I told myself, if you've got any guts at all you'll do it again."

But it was not to be. The 30-year-old former professional baseball player birdied the 10th and 11th to go seven under par, got it to eight with a 20-foot birdie putt on the 13th hole and needed to birdie three of the next five to become the first touring player in history to break 60. But he was bunkered on the 14th, lipped out a birdie putt on the 15th and really didn't have a good opportunity on the last three holes.

Even though his total was the best in the last 12 months on the pro tour, Snead held only a one stroke lead as more than half the field of 144 matched or better par on the flat little desert layout.

Dale Douglass, fighting his way out of a year-long slump, birdied his last four holes for a 63 and second place a couple of strokes behind Snead. Snead's teammates—Grier Jones and Bob Dickson—followed at 64.

Dave Hill and Gary Groh were next at 65 with Tommy Aaron, Bert Yancy and Jim Hardy at 66. Rod Funseth, winner of last week's Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open and 10 others were at 67.

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino and Bill Casper are not competing in this event, the second of the year on the pro tour.

Odessa Contest Slated Tonight

ODESSA — The Odessa College-Schreiner Institute game, which was to have been played here Thursday night, was postponed 24 hours.

The Schreiner team delayed its departure from its home base at Kerrville due to the icy conditions on the highways.

Odessa takes a 6-5 record into the contest. Now 2-2 in Western Conference play, the Wranglers return to league action Monday night at Hobbs, N.M., against New Mexico JC.

Schreiner had lost only one game in 16 starts prior to entering the ABC Tournament at Big Spring last week but yielded two decisions in three starts there.

Stanton Wins Over Crane

CRANE — Stanton's Buffaloes built off a substantial lead early in the game and held on to humble Crane in an important 7-AAA basketball encounter here Thursday night, 76-72.

The Buffaloes have now become favorites to cop the league crown, although they face strong opposition in the next few weeks.

The Buffaloes had four players in double figures. Dwayne McMeans leading the way with 21 points. Others who made major contributions included Dick Wilson, Mark Elland and Tom Davenport.

Crane outscored the Buffaloes, 19-9, in the final period but had too far to go.

In the girls' contest, Crane triumphed, 64-54. The difference in that one proved to be Carla Dillard, who scored 41 points. Lambert tallied 24 for Stanton.

Crane also won the boys' JV contest, 56-45, but Stanton prevailed in the girls' JV game, 37-36.

STANTON (76) — Dwayne McMeans 11-17; Dick Wilson 6-12; Mark Elland 4-12; Tom Davenport 3-8-14; Gordon Pringle 2-8-8; Gene Louder 3-8-4; David Chandler 0-1-1; Vernon Brown 0-2-2; Totals 31-14-76.
CRANE (72) — Carl Milam 10-23-23; Ted Homan 0-5-7; Billy Neal 2-4-4; Ephraim Primer 3-5-11; Mike Green 1-3-3; Randy Reed 3-7-7; Tucker Cedeno 4-4-14; Totals 27-18-72.

Kloppenburg Is Hired By UTEP

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A former assistant football coach at New Mexico State University, Don W. Kloppenburg, is the new defensive line coach for the Texas-El Paso Miners.

Kloppenburg, from Fresno, Calif., was appointed this week by Miners head Coach Tommy Hudspeth.

A 1958 graduate of Fresno State College, Kloppenburg has coached at Roosevelt High School, Fresno City College and Laney College of Oakland, Calif., where he was head coach and athletic director.

He went to New Mexico State from Laney and then took over head coaching duties at College of the Canyons, from which he is coming to UTEP.

Pinch Hitter Rule Is Adopted By AL

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league baseball, bound by tradition for decades, took a gigantic step towards change Thursday when the American League was given approval to adopt the designated pinch hitter rule.

CRONIN

With attendance lagging compared to the rival National League, the American League also sought a pinch runner rule and interleague play at the joint meetings which were concluded Thursday.

The pinch runner rule was disallowed and the major leagues announced a committee will be adopted to study and review aspects for interleague play which could become a possibility in 1974.

The National League, which will not use the experimental pinch hitter rule, gave its approval for the American League experiment for the next three seasons with Charles

"Chub" Feeney, president of the National League, admitting "if it does work out, we wouldn't be reticent to adopting it."

Under the new rule, a manager can designate a pinch hitter to bat for the starting pitcher and all subsequent pitchers in a game without affecting the status of a pitcher throughout the contest.

However, the manager must make his "designate pinch hitter" selection before the start of the game and name the pinch hitter in the lineup cards presented to the umpire-in-chief.

"The rule has great possibilities," said Joe Cronin, president of the American League. "It will give the game a new dimension. We're very happy to be able to use it."

Cronin questioned on numerous ramifications and intricacies of the rule, said "We'll thrash it all out before the season starts."

As far as the All-Star game, the World Series and exhibitions between the two leagues, the rule will not be in effect and the basic rules of baseball will apply.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who presided over the joint meetings and was strongly in favor of the rule change, said he hoped that the new committee will be named to study interleague play will have a report ready before the two leagues hold another joint meeting next August.

Kuhn also said strides had been made towards a new Basic Agreement between owners and players.

The Basic Agreement expired last Dec. 31 and the two groups have been working feverishly on a new agreement. The owners came up with some new twists at the recent meetings in Honolulu but they were quickly turned down by the players.

HERE TONIGHT Lee Rebs Play Longhorn Five

Big Spring plays host to Midland Lee, hottest team in the District 5-AAAA basketball race, in an 8 o'clock game this evening.

The Steers will be trying to arrest a losing streak that has now mounted to two games. The Bold Gold lost in its first two conference out — to Abilene High and Midland High.

The Longhorns had a Tuesday night game with Odessa Permian postponed. On the year, the Longhorns are now 11-10.

The Rebels are working on a 17-game winning streak and are 19-1 on the year.

Likely starters for the visitors are Don Bradley, Steve Cromwell, Melvin Jackson, Larry Thane and Tom Laughery.

Coach Paul Stueckler uses the platoon system, however, in order to make full use of the full-court press and it has paid off. His first 10 boys are about of equal ability.

Coach Ron Plumlee will likely go with Johnny Tonn, Kevin Miller, John Thomas Smith, Randy Marshall and Charley Smith or Donald McKee as his starting five.

The Steers were edged by one point by Abilene, then got waxed, 85-66, by Midland High, the pre-season favorite to take it all in 5-AAAA.

Junior varsity units of the two schools square away at 6:15 p.m.

Sir Finn Set To Test Crack Field Saturday

Sir Finn and Floating Star — both victorious in their last starts — are the early standouts in Saturday's headliner at Sunland Park.

Eight sprinters will face starter Dean Turpitt in the main event for the 12-race card which gets under way at the regular starting time of 1:30 p.m. Friday programs, beginning at 7:30 p.m., are scheduled through late April.

The feature is a six furlong test fashioned for horses four-and-up who will run for a tag of $5,000. A purse of $1,600 is on the line.

Sir Finn, who led wire-to-wire in his last start, will be taking a hike in class. The chestnut colt scored his most recent win, at six furlongs, against horses in the $2,500-price range.

In that one Sir Finn broke fifth, took the lead down the back stretch and improved his position to cross the wire a comfortable two lengths in front of his nearest challenger.

That marked the colt's first win since '71. His record for this year is an unbeatable one-for-one.

Floating Star scored his last win at 6 1/4-furlongs over horses running in the $4,000 bracket. The gelding went to the post ten times in '72 but was unable to score. His last victory was the result of a tremendous stretch drive that carried him from third at the sixteenth pole to first by a nose at the wire.

Continental Rulla, conditioned by third-leading trainer of the Fall meeting Coy Hendrix, made his last appearance here in a six furlong test and finished fifth. The bay son of Our Rulla reached the winner's circle five times in 20 tries last year and banked over $5,000.

Rounding out the field are Turn To Susan, Light Thought, Made Of Pluck, Apollo Flight and I'm Guessing.

Turn To Susan will be making her first start since the closing day of the Fall Season. In that last out, at a mile, the filly broke net-to-last from the middle of the field and was never able to threaten.

Light Thought will be seeking her first win since the State Fair Meeting at Albuquerque.

Ray Seales Wins In Pro Debut

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Ray Seales, U.S. Olympic Gold Medalist, opened his professional career Thursday night with a unanimous decision over Gonzales Rodriguez of Tijuana, Mexico, in their eight-round welterweight bout.

Weather Starts Relaxing Mighty Icy Grip On State

By The Associated Press
Subzero cold numbed parts of Texas today as some of the bitterest weather in years started relaxing its icy clutch on the state.

Skies cleared in the wake of a protracted storm, which dumped as much as 10 inches of snow in the area around Abilene, but ice on streets and highways kept travel dangerous over a broad stretch of countryside.

Volunteers Will Be Recognized

Recognition of volunteer groups as well as service pins and bars to individuals will be given at the meeting Thursday of the Volunteer Council of the Big Spring State Hospital.

The luncheon affair will be in the auditorium of the Allred Building on the campus.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a talk by Dr. Ron Cohorn, director of the outpatient clinic, who will describe the extended community services of this program.

As a service to many of the volunteers, there will be baby-sitting service provided in the hospital chapel, said Dr. Harold Smith, chairman.

Early morning temperatures plunged to 4 degrees below zero at Ballinger, in West Central Texas, and Perryton, in the north edge of the Texas Panhandle. There was still about four inches of snow on the ground in both places.

TRIPS NECESSARY
Again appealing for motorists to make only necessary trips, the Texas Highway Department reported snow or freezing rain left a treacherous glaze as slush refroze during the night on all roadways northwest of a line linking Corpus Christi, San Antonio and Odessa.

Thermometers recorded temperatures below freezing at every station making regular weather reports, including those in the semitropical Lower Rio Grande Valley. Citrus growers in that section, however, expected a quick warmup to prevent damage to their fruit and groves.

SCHOOLS CLOSED
The severe cold prevented the reopening of many schools and industrial plants because natural gas mains have been unable to deliver enough fuel for expanded heating needs.

One of the latest to be affected was Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, which postponed the start of registration for the spring semester until Monday. Dormitories and administrative offices were open today, however, despite the ice.

Temperatures sagged to 26 degrees at McAllen, 27 at Mercedes and 28 at Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, but started rising again. Experts said citrus would suffer only if the readings stayed as low as 26 for four hours or longer. There was concern, however, over a forecast for another freeze tonight.

The -4 registered at Ballinger, in the section between Abilene and San Angelo, was the lowest there in 18 years.

Scout Exposition Slated March 17

Date for the annual Boy Scout Exposition has been set for March 17, Garner Thixton, chairman, announced today.

If weather permits, it will be held outside, just east of the Highland mall, but if the weather is bad, the exposition will be moved indoors, said Thixton.

He will meet with unit leaders, Feb. 8 to have a drawing for booth spots, but those who do not make this meeting may obtain space later on a first-come-first-served basis. Thixton said he was planning on a maximum participation this year. Tickets for the show will be issued to units at the Feb. 8 meeting, also.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
Quick thinking and accurate counting by East were the essential ingredients of an effective defense against South's six heart contract.

North was not strong enough to show his second suit after his partner responded with one spade inasmuch as a rebid of two hearts would force South to the three level to merely show a preference for clubs. This call, known in the trade as a "reverse" is usually based on a holding worth 19 points.

North contented himself with a simple rebid of two clubs. Responder showed his second suit by bidding two hearts, and North indicated his excellent fit by jumping to game. South checked back for aces and when his partner showed two, he proceeded to six hearts.

West opened the deuce of diamonds and East put up the jack which dislodged declarer's ace. South drew trumps in three rounds, cashed the queen of clubs and then crossed over to dummy to run the rest of the suit.

Declarer discarded two diamonds and one spade from his hand and then led a small spade from dummy. East had been following the proceedings closely, and on the basis of the auction and play he was able to reconstruct declarer's holding with complete accuracy.

South had started with four hearts, three diamonds and two clubs and, therefore, four spades—one of which had just been sluffed on the long clubs. East realized that if he put up the ace of spades on the lead from dummy, and declarer held the king which seemed likely from the auction, then the defense would take no more tricks. South would be in position to cash the spade king and trump out his remaining spade.

East concluded that the only chance for his side was if West held the queen of spades and declarer was subjected to a guess in the suit. When the small spade was led he, therefore, played the five without a betraying hesitation.

South was called on to make a winning decision. He reasoned that East was more apt to have the queen than the ace when he ducked, and on this basis declarer played the ten from his hand. West was in with the queen of spades and the king of diamonds was returned to drive out South's remaining trump. A spade was ruffed in dummy, however East took the setting trick with the queen of diamonds.

If East had located his spade control by doing his thinking after North led the four, and then ducking—declarer would have been alerted to put up the king from his hand. After ruffing a spade, he is in position to concede the other spade inasmuch as he already has his 12 tricks.

Officers Post $1,000 In Search For Assailant

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Fellow officers agreed to pay $1,000 reward to any informant who could help convict the assailant of patrolman George Jacobs, who remained late Thursday in critical condition after being shot in the head.

Jacobs, 32, the father of two, was shot in the left temple late Wednesday moments after a robbery in the area in which he was patrolling. Officers theorized he may not have known the robbery occurred.

According to police, he stopped a man running down a darkened street.

He was found lying next to his car, his engine still running. In reference to the reward, the captain of Jacobs' evening shift said persons with information about the shooting could call him or the police chief. The person's identity would be kept in strictest confidence, police said.

The robbery occurred at a service station and police said between $40 and $50 were taken. Some witnesses reported seeing two men flee from the station and later heard two shots fired.

Police said last Saturday Jacobs shot and wounded one of three robbery suspects fleeing the scene of a holdup just a few blocks away from where he was found shot Wednesday night.

Press Aide For Briscoe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Governor Dolph Briscoe announced Thursday the appointment of former White House speech writer Robert L. Hardesty as Briscoe's press secretary.

Hardesty, 41, served as speech writer and with the White House congressional liaison staff for four years under Lyndon Johnson.

He came to Austin in 1969 to serve as special assistant to Johnson and returned to Washington last May to work with Speaker Carl Albert in last fall's congressional campaign.

As Briscoe's press aide, Hardesty will direct all communications activities for the governor's office.

A native of St. Louis, Hardesty received a B.A. degree from George Washington University in the nation's capital. He also did extensive graduate work at that school.

Hardesty is married to the former Mary Adelaide Roberts of Washington, D.C. They have four children: Beth, 17; Bruce, 15; John, 13; and Ann, 7.

Prints 'Finger' Suspect Nelson

FORT WORTH (AP) — Fingerprints found on a rifle and a cartridge recovered after a patrolman was slain were those of David Nelson, a criminologist testified in Nelson's murder trial.

He said he "positively" identified them as the defendant's two days after patrolman Edward Belcher was gunned down during a disturbance at a south side nightspot.

The testimony by Frank Schiller came Thursday shortly before the state rested its case against Nelson, 20, who surrendered six days after the Oct. 29, 1971, slaying.

The trial entered its fifth day today.

Belcher, 24, died of a single shot fired from ambush as he and other officers were attempting to quell a disturbance outside the Electric Circus.

Schiller, director of the Fort Worth Police Department's crime lab, identified the fingerprint on the rifle as that of Nelson's left thumb.

He said a second Nelson print, that of his right little finger, was found on a 30.06 cartridge still in the high-powered weapon.

A security guard at the Riverside Village apartments recovered the rifle minutes after the shooting. Several security guards testified earlier they saw a man resembling Nelson and carrying a rifle, running through the apartment complex moments after Belcher was killed.

The state called nearly 20 witnesses in its attempt to circumstantially prove that Nelson a black, fired the fatal shot from behind a hamburger stand about a block from the night-club.

Prosecutors sought to establish that Nelson purchased the weapon for $25 from one of three youths who stole it from a pickup truck less than two weeks before the shooting.

Dawson Farm Land Young

LAMESA — Compared to land in cultivation in other areas of the world, Dawson County farmland has to be considered new cropland. All cropland in the county has been in cultivation less than 75 years reports Mike Bogard, Soil Conservation Service, pointed out.

"Researchers have studied land that has been in cultivation for over 2000 years. Soils similar to soils in this area and under similar climatic conditions were studied," Bogard noted.

These studies show that one practice vital to continued high production is a good cropping system. The best cropping system is a crop rotation, because diseases and insects do not build up as they do when one crop is grown year after year on the same land, he observed.

Bogard said he is convinced that many of the problems connected with a one-crop system such as cotton can be solved through use of cover crops or mulches. A land user can seed blank rows (between skip-row cotton) to a sorghum during late July or early August.

He also suggested that land planted to solid cotton can be protected by overseeding rye in September, or by putting down a cotton burk mulch after harvest. To get maximum benefits, the residues from high residue crops or burs should be left on soil surface as late into spring as possible.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NEW BOY: (Q.) I was dating Tim pretty often until about three weeks ago. Now I like Jeffrey. But Jeffrey is going steady. We joke and everything and we are very close. Jeffrey tells me about all the fights he and his girl friend have. They have broken up four times in the last four months.

Jeffrey has offered to take me home a couple of times but I said no, because he is going steady. I want to let him know I like him. Please tell me how. — Very Interested in Virginia.

(A.) Jeffrey doesn't seem to be going so steady that you can't walk or ride home with him. Next time he mentions it say yes.

number and ask him to call you.

NOT YET: (Q.) My father keeps asking when I'm going to start dating. My problem is that I don't know. I am 17 and have asked several girls for dates but all of them have turned me down.

I read in your column about which characteristics girls like best in boys. I think maybe my problem is appearance. Can you give me some pointers on how to get a date? — Trying in Texas.

(A.) Your father is showing his interest in you. He may even be asking you if he can do something to help.

Talk to him about dating. Tell him you are working on it. Tell him of your worries about your appearance. He can no doubt give you valuable tips on tuckers, slacks, shaving, hair, shoes. The right kind of hairstyle can make a plain or even homely face very interesting.

You should, of course, keep your body and your hair and clothes shining clean at all times.

To get a date, a boy picks out a girl who appeals to him. Then he talks to her in a friendly way, maybe two or three different times. Then he asks for her telephone number. Then he calls her a few times. Then he asks her for a date.

Doing all this, he does not surprise her or find her unprepared. A girl likes to know what is coming. When you ask one for a date "cold" she is likely to be surprised and say no.

Make It Work Better

Before long now, President Nixon will come before Congress with his legislative plans for the year, embodied in his State of the Union address.

Meanwhile, Congress shows signs of wanting to revive its own flagging vitality. Several Democrats are pushing for a separate congressional legislative program, which may or may not (more likely the latter) jibe with what the President has in mind.

The upshot will almost certainly be a year-long struggle between the White House and the Capitol — if Congress can pull up its socks enough to join battle.

Oh, how both sides of the ensuing Washington struggle must envy new Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam. He has already ordered into force most of the major planks upon which his Labor party campaigned victoriously in December. And his actions include historic moves, representing a turnaround in Australian policy. He has ended the draft, freed all those jailed for draft evasion, ordered an end to Australia's participation in the Vietnam war, revalued his nation's currency, broken relations with Taiwan and established them with Red China and East Germany — all before breakfast, as it were.

Such electric displays of the facility of parliamentary governments to govern make our own presidential-congressional system of lawmaking appear inefficient. Only when a president carries into office with him a majority of Congress can anything rivaling the parliamentary efficiency take place. And even then, under the optimum conditions, it takes time — as witness Roosevelt's "100 days," which stands as our own criterion for the translation of programs into law.

This contrast provokes occasional calls for a constitutional change to give us a quasi-parliamentary system, in the interests of efficiency and responsive government.

But there is no likelihood the system will be changed. Therefore, we must make the system we have work better, or face the prospect of either governmental paralysis or the seizure of power by one of the constitutionally coequal branches — as has almost transpired in the growth of the powers of the presidency.

That is why it is vital now that Congress finally perform the radical self-surgery about which it is talking. Party caucuses to set party policy in Congress are a healthy development which should be encouraged. So, too, is the new movement to give Congress an over-all view of the budget and an idea of the impact of specific legislation on that budget. These, if coupled with party reforms insisting on party loyalty and perhaps party realignments, are probably the best way in which we can avoid serious governmental crisis.

Prepping For Sunday

Around The Rim

John Edwards

Leaders of local faiths make their sermons from a combination of inspiration, meditation, study and oratory technique.

There is no synagogue in Big Spring. But A. J. Prager, president of Prager's Inc., has spoken occasionally to Jewish groups here.

reference books, expository books and even newspapers — the Rev. James A. Puckett, of the Baptist Temple encounters sermon ideas.

He makes a mental note of ideas and carries a pocket notebook for recording ideas. Then, he leaves the idea in this "seedbed," just to let it grow.

HE SAID HE gets his subject from the Bible and researches it as well as he can. He looks in reference books, encyclopedia volumes and then puts it all together.

The result he said has "a little impact and a lot of Bible." In delivering the sermon, he said: "I just try to speak from the heart." He believes his listeners can tell he is sincere.

On Monday each week, he starts reading for the coming Sunday morning sermon by checking indexes to his library of 6,000 books. He reads on the subject through Saturday.

During meditation, an outside force which he believes is God, brings ideas into alignment. The Rev. Puckett called this "listening to the voice of God."

The Rev. James Delaney, O.M.I., pastor of Sacred Heart Church, agreed: "It's got to come from your heart." After about 35 years, preparing sermons comes naturally, Father Delaney said.

Explaining how he prepares is difficult. "I can't put the things in words. I just know how to do it," Father Delaney said.

WORK BEGINS again at 6 a.m. Sunday. He jots an outline of his talk on a small 3x3 card for reference.

"I pray to the Lord for guidance about what to leave out and what to leave in," he explained.

After reading the text, he steps out to the side of the pulpit. This way, the congregation can see he is not reading anything as he talks. He can look them in the eye and make sure he is keeping their interest.

However, he did offer a few principles. "The first thing is simplicity." He tries to avoid words that everybody won't understand.

As the young say, stories help "to jazz it up a little. After all our Lord did that. He used parables."

Being exposed like this, he uses movements and gestures, not just words to communicate.

"My whole being is a preaching machine," the pastor said.

Insurance Debate

Garth Jones

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 1973 legislature will be looking for a way to hold down the prices Texans pay for insurance.

fault. This, the lawmakers said, should be replaced by a system under which a victim's benefits would be reduced by however much the jury finds he was at fault.

But it's debatable whether lawmakers can agree on any major change in the insurance system. Details may bog them down.

"I FAVOR competitive insurance rates and voted accordingly during the last special session. The legislature must break the hold that the insurance lobby has upon our State Board of Insurance," said Republican Rep. Bill Blythe of Houston.

Most lawmakers who took part in an Associated Press survey said they favor a competitive rating system to replace the present uniform rates set for home and car insurance by the State Board of Insurance. In a special legislative session this fall, both houses voted for competitive rates but could not agree on the details before the 30-day session's adjournment.

Some favored competitive rates, but with certain limitations.

Rep. Jim Clark of Houston said he thought the state insurance board should inspect any company's set of proposed rates "to assure the consumer's proper protection."

THERE WAS some reluctance to support rate competition, however, because of uncertainty whether it would push rates down, as Gov. Preston Smith contended, or increase them.

But Rep. John Bigham of Temple indicated he didn't have much faith the present board could be trusted to protect the consumer.

Another proposed change, no-fault car insurance, seems to have little chance. Only about 20 per cent of those who responded to the questionnaire said they favor it. A majority of senators and 70 of the 150 representatives are lawyers, whose state association opposes no-fault.

"A GOVERNOR will appoint board members who represent the consumers," was Bigham's only recommended change in insurance matters.

No-fault insurance provides money for lost income and hospital bills of accident victims, regardless of whether they were to blame.

Sen-elect Don Adams of Jasper said he believed the legislature "should further explore a competitive rate making system with a ceiling on the rates, allowing the insurance companies to compete below the ceiling at will, and requiring permission to compete above the ceiling."

Several members said they would like to see the legislature abolish the rule that prevents accident victims from collecting damages in court if a jury finds they were remotely at

There have been strong indications from Washington, D. C., that Congress might impose a national no-fault car insurance system if the states don't.

I don't know that it has been proved harmful, and I dare say she does it when she's tempted to eat something high in calories. She'd probably save some money and gain a few useful vitamins if occasionally she substitutes a carrot stick, stalk of celery or wedge of cabbage for the soft drink. The main point is that she's making a success of losing weight.

When the knowledge is at a minimum, the scope for creative action has often disappeared . . . I am trying to say that whether one acts or doesn't act depends on some moral or philosophical judgment as well as on judgments of fact."

"AND I can tell you, speaking for myself as well as for the President-elect, that every effort will be made to give the best talent in the country an opportunity to present their views."

To all those people who called him "Henry" — John Kenneth Galbraith, Arthur Schlesinger, Martin Peretz, George Bell, Robert Manning, Charles Mathias — Kissinger pledged that "the doors of my office are open to your ideas to invite you to share them with me."

FOUR YEARS later Kissinger refused to share ideas with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. According to several reliable accounts, President Nixon didn't heed "the best talent" in the Joint Chiefs of Staff, never mind the best talent in the country.

Makes Good Start

Arnold Miller, the new president of the United Mine Workers, has shown how serious he is about reforming the scandal-ridden union.

He has voluntarily taken a pay cut from $50,000 to $35,000 a year and given up a daily $25 expense allowance. He also pledged other salary cutbacks for staff and officers totalling $365,000 a year.

This is a revolutionary trend that is not likely to sweep the labor leader business. A spokesman for George Meany, who makes $74,000 a year, was asked if Meany plans to take a cut. "God, you're a funny fellow," he responded.

Miller has vowed to put the salary savings in a mine safety fund, to guarantee elections, to move the union headquarters to the coal fields and to replace directors of a union-owned bank.

The questin will be if Miller can really run the union and clean it up, and if he can survive. He has made a major start on cleaning up the UMW. We hope his kind survives and his tribe increases.

Low Blood Sugar

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have all the symptoms of hypoglycemia. I have had a glucose tolerance test that was normal for the first three hours, then fell to 37 milligrams. My doctor told me to eat a candy bar when the symptoms appear.

I also stopped menstruating when I was 16. I have had tests of the pituitary and adrenal glands but they are apparently functioning.

I have had everything from psychiatric counseling to shock treatments with no help. Lately I have been on a tranquilizer which has helped, but when I stop taking it, the symptoms return. Do you think I have hypoglycemia — J.L.

Many a case of "nerves," sudden weakness, jitters, blackouts and such symptoms has been traced to hypoglycemia, or low blood sugar.

It's a deceptive ailment, since it isn't continuous. It comes in sporadic periods when the blood sugar falls to too low a level, and sometimes when it falls too fast. Thus a patient may feel all right most of the time, but episodes occur.

That's why I recommend a six-hour sugar tolerance test for it. For three hours, or even longer, the sugar level may stay up — and finally tumble later on. The reading of 37 in your case is a severe drop, and indicative of hypoglycemia.

It is true that a candy bar (or other sugar) will bring relief immediately, but the trouble is that it affords no protection from the NEXT episode of low blood sugar. In fact, it may bring it on sooner. The reason lies in the pancreas — the sugar incites the pancreas to release more insulin, which helps you use up sugar. Some patients, trying to combat hypoglycemia, get on a sort of up-and-down roller coaster. They stop an attack with sugar, but bring on the next one sooner.

The goal is to find some way of preventing these attacks from occurring in the first place. The better idea is to eat more protein, which releases its sugar content more slowly and keeps the level in the blood more constant, instead of permitting an abrupt dip. In some cases, between-meal snacks may be very helpful.

You'll find instructions on that in my booklet, "Help for Hypoglycemia (Low Blood Sugar)," and you can get the booklet by sending 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, age 50, belongs to Weight Watchers and has lost 40 pounds in two years. I am concerned though about the number of diet drinks she consumes, as many as six or eight a day. Could that many be harmful — L.D.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a plumber gets tired of hearing:

"You plumbers are getting like doctors — you hate to make house calls anymore."

"Sam Turnjoint, the only difference between you and Jesse James is that Jesse had to use a gun to get his."

"I've got an unemployed brother-in-law who is looking for an easy way to make a living. Sam. Could you put him on as a helper?"

"As your physician, Sam, I suggest we use a little common sense in our business relations. Remember, I can raise my fees too."

"Just because I flunked you out of high school your first year, Sam, you're not going to refuse to come and fix my leaky toilet, are you? Please Sam, your old teacher needs you. Can't we let bygones be bygones?"

"You say you want Sam, my son, the plumber? Can you call back later, please? He's in consultation now."

"Why is it you always forget your clients by driving up to their houses in your new limousine. Don't you think it would be more diplomatic to go back to the old station wagon?"

Congratulations, Sam. You're the first plumber the bank has ever had on its board of directors."

"My mommy sent me here, Mr. Turnjoint. She says she knows you're far too busy to come yourself, but would you mind lending us a big wrench and we'll fix it ourselves?"

"I tell you I can't see you any more often, Sam. My neighbors are bound to suspect something if they see a plumber go into a house more than once a month. That never happens."

"Yes, my son has decided to become a plumber instead of a dentist. He can't stand the thought of staring into people's mouths all day. Besides, as a plumber he'll make more money and have shorter hours."

"Hello, is this the plumber? A pipe in our kitchen has burst and the water on the floor is already six inches deep. When could I make an appointment with you?"

"Sam, as your wife you know I don't like to interfere in your business, but I think you're creating some resentment in your clients by driving up to

Some friend told me that we can live free from sin in this life. I wish this were true, but I haven't found it so in my life, nor in the lives of others. Please give me your opinion on this, C.G.

There are many good, sincere people who believe that as Christians, we can live above wrongdoing. That's a splendid goal, and they are right when they say that Christ forgives sin, helps us to resist it, and that He gives us a new attitude which hates the evil we once loved.

The Bible is quite clear, however, that Christians are capable of doing wrong. John wrote: "If we say that we have no sin, we are only fooling ourselves, and refusing to accept the truth." (I John 1:8) He goes on, however, to emphasize the forgiveness of God. "If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (I John 1:9) Many interpret that last phrase as a complete victory over evil. I disagree.

In fact, do you know, that the greatest of saints have been most painfully conscious of their own imperfections. Not that they winked at their weaknesses, but they knew the evil bent of their depraved nature, and kept close accounts with God.

Why do you suppose that in the Lord's Prayer, there was that clause which opened the way for forgiveness of the many words in the New Testament translated "sin," one of the commonest is "hamartia." It means to miss the target. Now, if a person claimed sinless perfection in this life, I suppose a corollary would be that they always hit the target in Christian living. I'd like to talk to the wife or the employer of anyone who made such a claim. No, the marvel of our faith is that the perfection we reach for here will be realized over there.

HE SAYS HE LOST HIS VOICE IN THE WAR.

Critical Issue

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There has apparently been too much reliance in Congress on the idea that appropriations for specific projects would take care of the economic problems being encountered as the nation grows steadily in population. Inflation, of course, has been a major factor in preventing an era of stability. After controls were applied, the question was whether economic recovery can be maintained without governmental intervention in the wage and price crises that arise. (Controls were lifted by the President Thursday.)

deficits and with no clear pattern as to what the government's course must be. The impression has prevailed that the cost of the Vietnam War has hampered normal development, when actually the expenditures on domestic matters have been far larger and exercised a greater influence on the inflationary trend.

ARTHUR BURNS, chairman of the board of governors of the federal reserve system, in a recent speech declared that the outcome of our struggle with inflation "is likely to have worldwide repercussions." He pointed out that almost the entire world is suffering from inflation and that the pace of it is in many countries more serious than in the United States. Dr. Burns added:

"THE SINGLE MOST important need at the present time is to curb the explosive growth that has marked federal spending in recent years. Some shock therapy may be needed here, such as a freeze or near freeze for a year or two of federal expenditure. The President is struggling to hold budgetary outlays to 20 billion dollars in the current fiscal year (ending June 30, 1973). Even if he succeeds, as I trust he will, federal spending will still have more than doubled during the past eight years, and it will still exceed last year's outlays by 18 billion, and contrary to a widespread impression, this burst of federal spending reflects only in small part the Vietnam War."

DR. BURNS doesn't think wage and price controls safely now but believes that reforms should make possible the achievement of prosperity. He says this is essential not only to protect our domestic situation but to facilitate the economic growth of other nations around the world.

CERTAIN ANALYSTS have the feeling that a "no-growth" attitude is already emerging in some parts of the country. It is a drive to block expansion, especially in the face of possible power shortages and depleted fuel reserves. Suburbs are beginning to rule out high-rise apartments and to delay various kinds of construction. Basically, the debate seems to be whether economic growth alone is the means of solving the nation's problems.

Many groups feel that industrial development should be subject to its environmental impact and that efforts should be directed toward wiping out pollution, for instance, and making cities more pleasant and attractive. Both the President and Congress are well aware of the currents of thought throughout the country as people look to Washington for improvements in American life.

IT IS NATURAL, therefore, to find that Congress itself is discussing what can be done to achieve better results from the money spent. Up to now, the belief has persisted that the flow of federal funds could accomplish nearly anything. But stability is not likely to come if spending continues indefinitely with more and more

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The scene was the campus of Princeton University and one of those conferences of international intellectuals. The seminar was called "The United States: Its Problems, Impact and Image in the World."

THE DINNER audience on the night of Dec. 4, 1968, applauded the guest speaker, who had just accepted an appointment from the President-elect. The speech was unpublicized at the time.

"My primary responsibility, as I see it," said Henry A. Kissinger, "is to make sure that every responsible point of view — and responsible is defined in a very generous manner — that every responsible point of view gets a fair hearing . . ."

"THE GREAT danger of war seems to me not to lie in the deliberate actions of wicked men but in the inability of harassed men to manage events that have run away with them," he continued.

Speaking with a doomed foresight as poignant as the ruins of Bach Mai Hospital in Hanoi, he said: "When the scope for action is at a minimum, the scope for creative action has often disappeared . . . I am trying to say that whether one acts or doesn't act depends on some moral or philosophical judgment as well as on judgments of fact."

"AND I can tell you, speaking for myself as well as for the President-elect, that every effort will be made to give the best talent in the country an opportunity to present their views."

To all those people who called him "Henry" — John Kenneth Galbraith, Arthur Schlesinger, Martin Peretz, George Bell, Robert Manning, Charles Mathias — Kissinger pledged that "the doors of my office are open to your ideas to invite you to share them with me."

FOUR YEARS later Kissinger refused to share ideas with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. According to several reliable accounts, President Nixon didn't heed "the best talent" in the Joint Chiefs of Staff, never mind the best talent in the country.

A Devotion For Today

The believers learned how to walk in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit. (Acts 9:31, LNT)

PRAYER: Lord, while we dream of witnessing to the world, we overlook the opportunity nearby. We see others as witnesses, but not ourselves where we live. Help us to live an evangelistic family life together. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

DON'T WANT MOM AND DAD'S OLD-FASHIONED LIFESTYLE Young Couples Are Creating 'Natural' Homes

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Television-Radio Writer

The psychedelic look is out in youth decorating. "Nothing is dead," says youthful interior designer Jane Victor, who designs interiors for many new-yeds.

These days she must use "a deeper level of analysis" to understand what the young New Yorkers and suburbanites are trying to convey to her. She must determine what they want, what they will contribute to their homes with their own handicrafts, and how she can tie the whole thing together before she can begin decorating.

For young people, Miss Victor says there are two types of decorating—primitively oriented and sophisticated. But they are both geared to a "real home look" with natural fibers and natural woods, she observes.

"The whole bit for the sophisticated look is a revival of the '40s with straight draperies and no frills. It is a purist traditional look, but with a "camp" attitude. A sense of humor is considered essential to the decorating scheme so fabrics may be fun-like 'itsy-bitsy' animal designs. This group is well read and well traveled and they incorporate many of their 'finds' into the decorating scheme."

Miss Victor says it is not even a surprise if they suggest putting bunk beds in the living room. Young people have no set formula for furnishing any room.

The primitively oriented decor preferred by some young people can take all kinds of rustic twists. The decorator points out one girl for example fell in love with some swamp wood and in cutting it open she discovered it had a greenish iridescence. Now her husband has covered their living room walls with it. "sort of a log cabin look" Miss Victor observes.

The couple also used the swamp wood for bookshelves. The husband cut it and grooved it all by hand to achieve various effects.

That couple's basic look includes using soy sauce barrels and pickle barrels at different heights as tables and seats. Nothing is camouflaged.

Young couples are willing to wait years to furnish a room. They do not have the feeling they must decorate immediately to please visitors, and they will not pay the high prices for furniture they see in stores.

"Years ago parents would do the whole decorating thing for a daughter and daughter-in-law, communicating their own ideas to a decorator. It would be mama's interpretation of what the kids would like to live with if they only realized it. But now kids do their own decorating thing, good or bad. And they don't waste their money. They want to enjoy their homes, and they really do not care what anyone else thinks about their hor-es or how other people decorate."

All Miss Victor's youthful clients want a back to nature scene, and use a great many plants and woody effects to provide an outdoor theme in their houses or apartments.

In the nine years she has been decorating Miss Victor has observed trends from one extreme to the other. "But this 'real look' should be with us for a long time," she says. "It is a process—no matter how long it takes—of determining your own identity by being involved with living and trying to do the real thing to achieve a real home. This seems to be the goal of all young people, and they are expressing themselves in everything from rug hooking to jam making. Many are making their own tables and book shelves. There is a great sense of pride in establishing a home and they are all involved in it."

A LOVELIER YOU Consider More Than Fashion, Color, Looks

By MARY SUE MILLER

Answer me this, Miss Teen: When you set out to buy clothes, what's your main objective? Most girls answer that their aim is style, color and becomingness.

Well those goals are all to the good, but not the end all. Fabric workmanship and fit rate high as considerations. Unless all three pass muster, you will not get your money's worth out of a purchase in service or pleasure.

At any given price the quality of materials varies. What you want is the best buy at the price. Be sure to read tags for fiber content, performance and care. Remember that easy-care fabrics save upkeep effort and — or money.

Good workmanship presupposes generous seams, adequately finished against fray; firmly bound buttonholes; concealed zippers, unless the "hardware" kind and meant to show; well-made trimmings — question the shoddy or freaky.

The best chance of a good fit comes when you patronize departments catering to your figure type — junior, misses, tall. Juniors suit smallish, young figures. Misses are made

For taller, more mature figures. Talls are for girls over 16 years looking for 6-foot dates.

Even when you are in the correct department, not all garments fit perfectly. Do watch for the little "misfit" — a gaping neckline, too wide or snug shoulders, waistlines that miss yours, bustlines that droop or draw up. Any such render a fashion unbecoming and uncomfortable.

Last question: Is it a fad or a fashion? You don't have to answer if you're so rich you don't care.

Ceremony Performed In Dallas

Miss Marjorie A. Kehlstrom, Big Spring, and William K. Rusch Jr. of Dallas were married Dec. 21 at Trinity Lutheran Church, Dallas. The Rev. Norbert R. Dettman officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kehlstrom, St. Joseph, Mich., and Rusch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Rusch Sr. of Sanibel Island, Fla.

Attending the couple at the ceremony were Miss Mary Ann Sikes, Big Spring, and John Sager, Chicago, Ill.

A reception was held in the Holiday Inn immediately following the ceremony, and the couple left for a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico.

Mrs. Rusch has been a counselor of individualized instructional programs for Big Spring schools. The couple plans to reside in Chicago, Ill., where the bridegroom will be assistant to the vice president of operations for Budget Rent-A-Car.

Women Journalists Reject 'Greek' Image

HOUSTON (AP) — Women in Communications, Inc., the 63-year old women's group which was formerly known as Theta Sigma Phi, likes its new name. The group overwhelmingly voted last fall to change its Greek-letter name to one which "reflects the changing emphasis from a Greek-letter and social sorority image to one of professionalism," said its president, Mrs. Fran Harris of Detroit.

The former name has handicapped the organization, which has about 6,400 members, she said. "Because of the Greek name it has been impossible to get foundation or research grants. They could be of tremendous help in carrying out our projects to raise standards for teaching of high school journalism, to elevate the status of women in the profession and attract minority persons to it."

The new name, she said, indicates the occupations of its members, come from all fields of communications.

"It is the only communications organization in the nation that does not limit membership to persons in specific communications jobs such as public relations or newspaper work," said Mrs. Harris, who is special features coordinator for the WWJ stations in Detroit.

She said other handicaps of the former name included employers' reluctance to pay dues or travel expenses for employees participating in professional seminars and workshops sponsored by the organization.

"The Greek image, with its stigma of social discrimination, does not relate to the minority people we are trying to attract," she added, "and on most campuses, the Greek social sorority image is no longer acceptable."

Women in Communications has chapters on 79 university campuses and professional chapters in 80 cities.

An organization spokesman said the name change came after four years of study.

'Beware Of Hair,' Urges Counselor

STUTTGART, West Germany — Beware the long-haired male if you want a long-lasting, satisfactory marriage. That was the word of marriage consultant Frieda Metzger, 39, in her talk to single office girls here.

"Baldness is the price that men have to pay for being sexy and warm," she added. "It is the result of an increased flow of male sex hormones." Then she added: "Do not pick a husband by the package in which he is wrapped. First, find what's really inside."
