Kissinger To Resume Paris Talks

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida White House and Hanoi jointly announced today that top-level Paris peace talks will be resumed Tuesday "for the purpose of completing the text of an agreement."

Ziegler indicated Kissinger would leave Washington Monday for Paris and said he could not predict how long the envoy might remain.

Asked if this would be the final meeting of Kissinger and Tho, Ziegler said, "the announcement will have to speak for itself."

Ziegler said the United States would have no comment on the negotiations "until a final agreement is reached."

At another point, he said: "We are interested in ending this war as soon as possible and ending it through negotiations."

Asked if a cease-fire might take effect in Indochina prior to completion of the promised peace agreement, Ziegler said "there has been an awful lot of speculation along that line," but added he was not prepared to "address that speculation" whether it is right or wrong.

Ziegler also announced that Army Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., now in Bangkok as part of a Southeast Asia tour to discuss the Paris talks, would return to Saigon Saturday and meet again with President Nguyen Van Thieu. He said he did not know whether Haig would return to Washington prior to Kissinger's departure.

Oil Allowable 100 Per Cent

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission set the February statewide oil allowable at 100 per cent today, and the chairman pledged to work during the next two years to try to "stimulate" the domestic industry.

In ordering all-out oil production for the 11th consecutive month, chairman Jim Langdon noted that President Nixon had increased foreign crude oil import allowances by 51.1 per cent Wednesday.

Langdon praised the outgoing chairman, Byron Tunnell, for "calling attention to the growing shortage of fuel and energy" during Tunnell's two years as head of the three-member commission.

Major purchasers of Texas crude oil asked for 3,781,462 barrels of crude oil a day in February, a decrease of 7,119 from this month.

Ten of the 14 major buyers asked for the same amount of oil in February as January, three sought less and one asked for more oil next month.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast for February demand for Texas crude was 3,580,000 barrels a day, an increase of 40,000 from January.

Langdon said two Texas bus lines have run out of diesel fuel and one major motor transport company is having difficulty getting enough fuel for its trucks.

In the next two years, he said, "we expect to try to stimulate our own domestic capacity and not get in the position we're in right now. We are going to try to get some incentives to restore the domestic industry" so it will be "nearly self-sufficient."

Langdon said tanker rates are so high that the "cheap" foreign heating oil is expected to cost two cents a gallon more than a comparable oil produced in this country.

"The shortages in the United States are nearly world-wide," and there will be a "great deal of competition" for energy on the world market.

Langdon said that as of Jan. 12, Texas' crude oil stocks totaled 90.8 million barrels, a decrease of 4.5 million from a month ago and a decrease of 1.6 million from a year ago.

Chamber Is Sold On Bid For Fair

LAMESA — Richard Davis, biology teacher at Lamesa High School, is a man who believes in his convictions.

For many years, he has been in charge of the Science Fair in Lamesa and when the winners from that fair annually enter the Regional Science Fair in Odessa, they always come away with more than their share of the top honors.

He always nurtured hopes to hold the regional fair in Lamesa. When the opportunity arose to move the fair around to area cities for the first time in 1974, Davis immediately bid for the event.

He then hopefully approached the Chamber of Commerce, which endorsed the project and commended him for his efforts. The fair has been held for many years in Odessa.

Marijuana Bust In Starr County

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Two Mexican nationals were held in the Cameron County jail today pending $150,000 bond each after their arrest on charges of smuggling 4,948 pounds of marijuana from Mexico into the United States.

The U.S. magistrate's office identified the men as David Molina Jaramillo, 27, and Jorge De Valencia Ortiz, 29, of Miguel Aleman, Mexico.

Acting U.S. magistrate Ed Sarabia ordered the men jailed when they failed to post bond.

The men were arrested near Escobares in Starr County by a border patrolman. The seizure was one of the largest ever in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Who's Sane? Who's Insane?

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Who's sane? Who's insane?

The psychiatrists and staffs of mental hospitals cannot be trusted to tell the difference, declares Prof. David L. Rosenhan, a Stanford University psychologist.

Rosenhan says he and seven other sane investigators arranged as a test to be admitted as schizophrenic patients in 12 different mental hospitals, yet none of the eight was found to be sane by hospital professionals.

'QUITE COMMON'
But Rosenhan says it was "quite common" for actual psychiatric patients to correctly identify the "pseudopatient" imposters.

"The fact that patients often recognized normality when staff did not raised important questions," Rosenhan observes.

Rosenhan reports on the findings of the study in an article in the Jan. 19 issue of Science magazine.

Rosenhan said he and his seven colleagues eventually were released as "schizophrenics in remission," despite their best efforts to convince the hospital staff of their sanity.

"We now know that we cannot distinguish insanity from sanity," Rosenhan declared.

"We continue to label patients 'schizophrenic,' manic-depressive,' and 'insane' as if in those words we had captured the essence of understanding," he wrote.

NOTHING NEW

"The facts of the matter are that we have known for a long time that our diagnoses often are not useful or reliable, but we have nevertheless continued to use them."

Rosenhan, who also teaches law at Stanford, said he and the other pseudopatients were shocked and horrified by their experiences.

But, he said, they did not blame the hospital staffs.

"By and large, they were well-intentioned people, and in no way do we want to malign them," he said.

"The hospital itself imposes a special environment in which the meanings of behavior can easily be misunderstood."

Rosenhan said the pseudopatient group included a psychiatrist, a pediatrician, a painter, a housewife, a Stanford psychology graduate student and three other psychologists.

He said they gained admission to hospitals in California, Oregon, Pennsylvania, New York and Delaware by feigning symptoms of schizophrenia.

"The uniform failure to recognize sanity cannot be attributed to the quality of treatment facilities. While there was considerable variability between them, several are considered excellent," Rosenhan reported.

"Nor can it be alleged that there simply was not enough time to observe the pseudopatients. Length of hospitalization ranged from seven to 52 days, with an average of 19 days."

NURSING RECORDS

"All pseudopatients took extensive notes publicly. Under ordinary circumstances such behavior would have raised questions in the minds of observers, as in fact it did among patients."

Bank Prexy, Family Slain In Missouri Ransom Plot

GRANDIN, Mo. (AP) — "The dynamite is under my shirt. They've got my wife and daughter. Don't make any telephone calls, you might trigger this dynamite," the small town banker told his employees.

A bizarre extortion plot ended when police officers found the body of the 43-year-old banker, his wife and a daughter bound to small trees near an abandoned farm five miles west of Grandin.

KNEELING

Each was in a kneeling position and each had been shot once through the head, Ripley County Sheriff Lewis Dawes said.

The slayings of Robert R. Kitterman, his 43-year-old wife, Bertha, and 17-year-old Roberta Kitterman touched off a massive manhunt around this once-thriving lumber town 120 miles south of St. Louis. The FBI also entered the case because bank extortion was involved.

Enrollment Is Near 1,100

Enrollment for Howard County Junior College, including two off-campus locations, approached the 1,100 mark today.

The first afternoon and evening of registration at Lamesa produced 53 registrants, and representatives of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce education committee said that they felt that a larger number would sign between the hours of 1:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. today. Residents there and in Dawson County can sign up at the student center in the high school.

At San Angelo, where HCJC handles the vocational-technical program at Goodfellow Field for the San Angelo area, enrollment increased to 117. Thus, upwards of 200 of the grand total are represented in off-campus classes.

There was some increase at the HCJC campus today.

Dr. Thomas Salter said that registration continues through Friday week, but he urged an early registration as practical to avoid loss of classwork.

Officers alerted by bank employees said Kitterman drove west on Missouri 60. The Missouri Highway Patrol was notified, but it could not intercept the banker.

Dawes and two deputies later found the bodies of the Kittermans. He said there was no dynamite on the banker's body, nor was the money found.

DEATH SCENE
Kitterman's auto and a car belonging to Roberta were both found at the death scene, and officers said a .32 caliber slug thought to have passed through the girl's body was located in a thicket near the trussed victims.

Although authorities theorized that the extortion plot began with the kidnaping of the three at the Kitterman home after Roberta finished her morning high school classes, the Highway Patrol said the house was locked and appeared to be in order, with no disarray.

Mrs. Kitterman was assistant cashier at the family-owned bank. Roberta, a high school senior, worked as a clerk at the bank in the afternoons.

The Kittermans had two other daughters, Kathy, 15, and Patricia, 14. They were attending Ellsinore High School at the time of the slayings. The three sisters were honor students.

Ex-Agent Paid By Nixon's Staff For Eavesdropping On Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate political espionage trial was stalled today while opposing lawyers argued over whether the content of wiretapped phone conversations could be used as evidence.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica signed an order ruling that the names of persons whose telephone calls at Democratic party headquarters were said to have been bugged, as well as the content of their conversations, could be aired in court.

An immediate appeal was taken to the U.S. Court of Appeals by lawyers for Democrats seeking to have the conversations kept confidential.

The government insists it must give at least some indication of what was in the conversations in order to illustrate the motives behind a break-in and alleged wiretapping at Democratic National Committee headquarters last summer.

LEGAL SIDEPLAY
But some of the Democrats listed as overheard on the bugs complained that they were the innocent victims of wiretapping and shouldn't be further embarrassed by having their private conversations revealed.

Meanwhile, defense lawyers were listening to tapes of a Los Angeles Times interview with the mole Baldwin III about the role Baldwin said he played as monitor of the wiretapped phones and what he heard over the bugged lines.

The legal sideplay brought

Briscoe Picks White Secretary Of State

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced today that his secretary of state would be Houston lawyer Mark W. White Jr.

Briscoe also said in an informal news conference he will make another address to the legislature next week in which he will present specific legislation concerning drug abuse and the death penalty.

Briscoe said his 1973-74 budget recommendations to the legislature would be made later. "We are still working on them," he said.

The new governor, who spent his first day actually in his office today, said he and his staff were reviewing all of Gov. Preston Smith's appointments and vacancies.

"We're reviewing all of them, that's all I can say now," he said.

He repeated the answer when asked if he had any plans to try to overturn any of Smith's last-minute appointments.

Briscoe introduced White at the news conference.

"I know you will do a fine job," he said. "We're looking forward to working with you. I think we are off to a good start."

White, 33, has been a partner in the law firm of Reynolds, White Allen & Cook in Houston for the past four years. In recent months he has been helping Briscoe with development of his legislative program.

From 1966 through 1969 White served on the staff of the state attorney general in the insurance, banking and securities division. He was in charge of home improvement fraud investigators.

A native of Henderson, White has lived in Houston most of his life. He is a graduate of Baylor University.

Lions Asking Individuals To Leave Eyes To Eye-Bank

Lions Clubs in this area are looking for eyes. Jim Lemons, president, told the Downtown Lions about it Wednesday at the club's weekly luncheon at the Settles. Clubs in this zone, as well as those throughout the state and most of the nation, are cooperating in the eye bank program. People are asked to "give" their eyes to the bank at the time of their death. These are used in corneal transplant, for the use of an outer layer of tissue, and for vitreous fluid in the eyeball.

Knowledgeable Farmer Will Survive, Dawson Man Says

By MARJ CARPENTER LAMESA — "It looks as though things may get a little bit tough for the American farmer, and the farmer who survives will be the one who knows his own business," Leroy Colgan, Dawson County agent, told a room full of cotton farmers at the annual Dawson County Cotton meeting in the Pioneer Park Community Center in Lamesa Wednesday.

INFANT DEATHS LINK REPORTED Fem Smokers Run Higher Risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's seventh annual smoking report said Wednesday that female smokers run nearly twice the risk of delivering a low-birthweight child and, if they are poor and black, run a higher risk of stillbirth. "New evidence suggests that if a woman gives up smoking by the fourth month of pregnancy," it adds, "her risk of delivering a low-birthweight infant is similar to that of a nonsmoker."

Newspaper Guidebook Is Printed For Teachers

AUSTIN — "The Newspaper in the Classroom," first guidebook of its type tailored to the learning needs of out-of-school adults, has just been published by the Texas Education Agency. Based on the practical experience of teacher workshops and student progress, the guidebook will soon be distributed to some 2,000 adult and continuing education teachers in all sections of the state. During the next year, these teachers will work with some 40,000 adults.

Marine In 'Hot Water'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Marine Corps said a drill instructor found guilty of pouring hot water on a recruit has been fined $100 and put back to work.

Sgt. Henry Gonzales, 23, of Waco, Tex., received an unusually light penalty from one-officer summary court martial, because of his excellent past service, a spokesman said.

Gonzales was accused of overturning a bucket full of hot water last month during a cleanup at the San Diego Marine Recruit Depot.

Pvt. Sebastian Herrera Jr., 19, of San Diego, Calif., suffered back burns and was hospitalized two weeks.

A spokesman said, "Sgt. Gonzales has been returned to duty as a drill instructor and will work under the close supervision of a senior noncommissioned officer."

Court Rids Docket Of Thirty Unprosecutable Crime Cases

District Judge R. W. Caton Tuesday signed orders dismissing 33 criminal indictments against 30 persons.

Wayne Burns, former district attorney, signed the motions which bear dates in December before he left office but were filed in January. Robert H. Moore III, who took office as district attorney Jan. 1, said both he and Burns were responsible for asking the cases to be dismissed.

No prosecutable cases were dismissed, he said, when the Herald learned of the motions for dismissal earlier in January.

INSUFFICIENT PROOF

Most of the motions cited insufficient evidence or said the defendant had been convicted and was serving prison time for another offense.

Incidents leading to indictments dated earlier than 1971 in 23 of the 33 cases involved.

Indictments charging Ismael Valdez and Joe Hernandez Jimenez with murder with malice in two separate incidents were dismissed.

Valdez and Jimenez, the state's motions explain had been convicted of other causes and are being confined already.

A grand jury returned a true bill charging Valdez with shooting of Thomas Carreno on Nov. 12, 1967.

Jimenez was indicted in the Jan. 6, 1968 shooting of Roy Rodriguez.

MURDER COUNT

Jose Antonio Saracho was indicted for the June 7, 1968 assault with intent to murder D. P. Thompson. But the district attorney's motion says Saracho is also serving a sentence set after another conviction.

The largest part of the 33 court orders dismissed indictments charging felony or second-offense driving while intoxicated. There were 12 of this type true bills dismissed.

Burglary was charged in five others, and a count also revealed a total of five indictments for defrauding with worthless checks worth more than $50. Forgery and passing, another type of bad check case, accounted for four dismissals.

Cases dismissed follow, by category and reasons given for the action:

BURGLARY

Convicted other cases and being confined already — Jose Antonio Saracho, Armando Lopez on two counts, Dorman Ray Shaw; insufficient evidence — Steve Ray Coleman and Daniel Holden.

FELONY DWI

Insufficient evidence — Joe Edward Barron, Floyd Joe Harvey, A. J. Mize, Jack B. Farris, Darrell Loyd Thomas (two counts), William D. Graham (two counts), Nasario A. Juarez, Frank A. Bara and Douthitt Clay Buchanan.

FELONY WORTHLESS CHECK

FORGERY AND PASSING

Insufficient evidence — Antonio Galaviz and Harold Don Barton; convicted previously and serving a sentence already — Douglas R. Bolding and Guadalupe Ramos.

MISCELLANEOUS

Federick K. Pogue, theft over $50; Orville Ward, falsely swearing that police officer struck him; Patrick G. Smith, theft over $50; Burton Russell Boadle, carrying a pistol, all insufficient evidence; Also Dorman Ray Shaw, escape from lawful custody, and Jerry Ray Madry, theft by bailee, already serving sentences.

Immunization Law Upheld

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of a new state law requiring school children to be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, smallpox, red measles and German measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Itz, parents of two children attending Fredricksburg public schools, contended that the 1971 compulsory immunization law unconstitutionally interfered with their rights as parents.

A local district court ruled against them, and they carried their appeal directly to the Supreme Court.

In their suit, the Itzs contended that inoculation was "nothing short of an assault" upon one's body by "invidious immunization with bacteria."

The couple also contended immunization was "cruel and unusual punishment," interfered with parental control and decisions relating to their children's health and disturbed their children's constitutional right to a public free education.

"Vaccination by compulsion is one of the greatest crimes today, and it is being committed by the legislature of the state of Texas," they said.

Choate Is Named To State Credit Union Commission

Wade Choate, general manager of Webb AFB Federal Credit Union, has been appointed to the State Credit Union Commission.

Preston Smith announced the appointment prior to leaving office.

Choate replaces Wilfred S. MacKinnon, Baytown, who recently resigned from the commission. He becomes the first representative from a federal credit union to receive such an honor. He will serve on the commission until Feb. 15, 1977.

The Credit Union Commission consists of five members and its purpose is to assist in the organization and development of credit unions and to advise the banking commissioner in matters concerning credit unions. The panel meets semiannually.

Choate has been general manager of Webb AFB Federal Credit Union since June 1965. Since that time, the credit union has grown to become one of Texas' largest, with assets of over $13,700,000. Total membership of Webb AFB FCU stands at over 13,700.

Webb AFB FCU recently merged with Fort Wolters Federal Union in Mineral Wells and operates a branch office there.

Scouting Report Pays Off For St. John's

By The Associated Press

Long before the Clemson Tigers' basketball team came to New York Frank Mulzoff had their number.

"We had them scouted and saw them destroyed by a pressing defense," said the coach of 17th-ranked St. John's. Guess what the Redmen used Wednesday night to destroy Clemson 87-59?

"Sure, it was no surprise that we would do it," said Mulzoff, whose club broke open a one-point game with a 58-point explosion in the second half.

Leading off 29-28 at intermission, St. John's outscored the Atlantic Coast Conference visitors by 27 points in the second half as the Tigers turned to lambs. Bill Schaeffer led the slaughter, pitching in 14 of his game-high 21 points in the second period.

St. John's was one of five ranked teams in action Wednesday night. In the other games, fourth-ranked North Carolina romped to a 99-80 victory over Wake Forest; No. 18 Vanderbilt scored a 59-49 victory over Mississippi; 19th-ranked Florida State trimmed Stetson 84-67 and 20th-ranked Louisville nipped Dayton 74-73.

Elsewhere St. Joseph's Pa. beat Bowling Green 61-60 in overtime. Penn turned back Villanova 77-69; Marshall swamped Miami of Ohio 90-70; Harvard trimmed Dartmouth 90-83; Fordham slammed Steen Hall 96-78; Brigham Young posted a 93-83 decision over Niagara; American University topped Navy 73-62 and Notre Dame beat Pittsburgh 85-76 in overtime.

Freshman Mitch Kupchak led a second-half burst as North Carolina buried ACC colleague Wake Forest. Leading only 42-36 at the half, the Tar Heels charged away from the Deacons behind Kupchak, who scored 24 points over-all. Wake Forest's Tony Byers led all scorers with 30 points.

Bill Ligon helped Vanderbilt beat Mississippi with a 21-point night. Ole Miss failed to score a point in the final seven minutes in the Southeastern Conference game. Coolidge Ball and Dean Hudson led the losers with 14 points each.

Freshman Greg Grady came off the bench late in the first half to spark Florida State. Stetson led by 10 points before Grady came into the game and reeled off seven straight points. He turned from point-maker to shot-blocker at the start of the second half, helping shoot the Seminoles into a runaway lead.

Bill Butler scored 20 points, Allen Murphy, 18 and Terry Howard, 14 to lead Louisville over Dayton. Mike Sylvester had a game-high 26 for Dayton.

MIKE MCCORMACK

McCormack Is Facing Huge Undertaking

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Big Mike McCormack has a big job in trying to make a winner of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles.

The 6-foot-4, 265-pound former Washington Redskins assistant signed a three-year contract Wednesday as head coach of the Eagles, a team that hasn't had a winning record since 1966.

The Eagles of 1972 were next-to-last both offensively and defensively in the NFL's National Conference. The team finished last in the East with a 2-11 record, setting league record lows for total points 145 touchdowns 12, and average points per game 10.2. The team scored only two touchdowns rushing one on a quarterback sneak, failed to win at home, and slipped from 32 quarterback sacks in 1971 to 16.

If that isn't enough for McCormack to contemplate, the Eagles suffered their worst defeat in the 39-year history of the team, a 62-10 drubbing by the New York Giants, a game in which fired coach Ed Khayat said the players quit.

Is McCormack apprehensive? "I expect to win next season," said the husky former Cleveland Browns tackle, who made the Pro Bowl squad six times while clearing the way for former NFL great Jim Brown. "I'm an eternal optimist," McCormack told his first news conference as Eagles' head man.

McCormack said he has the authority to run the Eagles' football operation, make trades, final say on the draft, anything connected with player personnel. He said he will ask for advice, but the final say is his.

McCormack played his college football at Kansas and was the first draft choice in 1961 of the old New York Yanks. He later was traded to Cleveland and played eight seasons under Brown. He worked in insurance, and as a part time assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs before joining the Redskins in 1966.

A Dart Board? Bill Seeks Vindication

DALLAS (AP) — No player has more incentive in Sunday's Pro Bowl than mangled Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer, who has become something of a public dart board because of his three intercepted passes in Super Bowl VII.

Kilmer was the butt of joke after joke Wednesday at a press luncheon, hosting the National Conference All-Stars who meet in Texas Stadium.

"Kilmer, coach Tom Landry has given you your assignment for Sunday — you get to breakup the wedge," said emcee Frank Gileber.

Alex Hawkins, former player for Pittsburgh and Baltimore, said "Billy throws a ball that's easy to catch. You have the option of catching it on either end."

Even Jack Scott, the Miami safety who intercepted two Kilmer passes to win the Most Valuable Player Award and an automobile, said "Billy wants an extra set of keys to the car."

Kilmer tried a verbal comeback, saying "I saw Landry's playbook and noticed the crackback is still in there."

The "crackback" block used by Dallas during the regular season stirred resentment among the Washington players after linebacker Jack Pardee was injured.

But then Kilmer was intercepted again when he said about the Pro Bowl "I like being on any team with Larry Brown on it."

Redskin running back Brown had to withdraw from the game early in the week because of injury.

Kilmer said that he is trying to shake off the burden of being a Super Bowl goat.

"I have a lot of football to play yet," he said. "I will think about it, but I won't worry about it. If it continues to linger with me, I won't be much of a football player.

"We were one of two teams to make it Super Bowl. We can be proud of that. . . . It would be a very big error on our part to let one game bother us the rest of our lives. By God, we got there. It wasn't a lost season."

Kilmer said of the 14-7 loss to Miami that for some reason Washington was emotionally flat.

"It always seems the Super Bowl is anti-climatic after you win the league title," Kilmer said. "I don't think there's really been a good Super Bowl played. Emotionally, both teams seemed to be out of it. This one didn't seem to feel like a regular season or playoff game, either."

Kilmer said Washington had excellent practices "but between Friday and Sunday, something was lost . . . that old spark we had."

Determined Jack Tries Ballywyn In Feature

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Determined Jack, a winner in his last start — the first of his career — and Ballywyn, a two-length victor over maidens in his most recent attempt, move up to face stiffer competitions in Friday night's feature race at Sunland Park.

The 10-race after-dark card gets rolling at 7:30 p.m. The headliner, named in honor of the Border City Kiwanis Club, occupies the seventh slot on the program. The main event is fashioned for three-year-old allowance contenders and is set for one mile. A purse of $1,500 is on the line.

Ballywyn showed plenty of promise in his last out at a mile. The brown colt broke fifth from the middle of the pack and moved to second at the first call. He and Roman Back fought for the lead through the stretch. Ballywyn took command at the sixteenth pole and drew out to win by two lengths. Friday Ballywyn will come from the number 3 hole under the guidance of Bobby Harmon.

Determined Jack made his only appearance here against maidens at six furlongs. The roan son of Determine broke fourth from the rail to take the lead at the first call. He led the pack by three lengths at the sixteenth pole but tired on the muddy track to finish a nose in front of the fast-closing Woody's Dancer.

Others in the field of sophomore routers include Wild Biscuit, Gim Crackin, B's Flyer, Lemon Cove, Rio Raton and Peaceful Lecture.

Peaceful Lecture should receive strong support off his last start. The bay gelding turned in a strong stretch drive to finish second as an 18-1 pick against the same type of company.

Rio Raton, who will be coupled in the wagering with Peaceful Lecture, has never started at a mile and was never able to threaten in his last attempt against four-grand claimers at six furlongs.

Lemon Cove faces Peaceful Lecture for the second time here this year. In their last meeting Lemon Cove finished fourth as a 6-1 shot.

Gim Crackin and B's Flyer, also meeting for the second time, will be making their first attempts at the mile distance. In their last duel the two broke one-two to the gate and set the pace until the closing jumps where they tired on the heavy track to finish second and fourth respectively.

We put the SERVICE back into service stations.

Hawks Seek Sixth Win In Conference Play

The up-and-coming Howard County Junior College Jayhawks try to solidify their hold on first place in Western Conference standings in a 7:30 p.m. engagement with Frank Phillips College here this evening.

The Hawks have won five games without a loss against league opponents, a record equaled by South Plains College of Levelland.

No other team in the circuit is close to the pace setters. By beating Frank Phillips tonight and Western Texas College in Snyder Monday, the Hawks can assure themselves of a perfect slate when they challenge South Plains here a week from tonight.

Over-all, Howard is 14-9. The Hawks' current consecutive win string is now four.

Frank Phillips, coached by Don Loyd, is of unknown strength. The Plainsmen usually are short of depth but boast one or two outstanding shooters. They likely will try to outrun the Hawks.

Probable starters for HCJC in tonight's game at 6 - 6 Taylor Williams, who as a freshman last year had the reputation for being the best big man in the Mississippi Delta country; 6-4 Mike Randle, Big Spring; 5-11 Leroy Lumzy, Dixon, Ill.; Tom Bledsoe, 6-6, from Clarksdale, Miss.; and 5-9 Herbie Lee, San Antonio.

Lee is the lone sophomore in the group. The rest, of course, are freshmen.

Coach Harold Wilder said the club has come along faster than he had anticipated and he is confident they will make a run at the league championship and a place in the March 1-3 Region V Tournament, which takes place in Lubbock again.

IN LOOP GYM

Sands, Loop Vie For Cage Crown

The Loop Gymnasium will be the center of attention in District 8-B tonight, where Sands plays the resident team in the battle for first place in boys' play.

Sands is undefeated in conference competition while Loop has dropped one game.

Relying mainly on talented Danny Yocum, Loop has won its last five starts and poses a serious threat to Sands in its own gymnasium.

Yocum has scored 416 points in 16 games this season and is a threat anytime he gets near the basket.

Sands leans more on team effort. Bob Davis' team isn't a tall team but it makes use of what height it has. In Frosty

Floyd, the Ponies have a freshman who is going to be a great one. He has hit from outside and he'll fight the boards with anyone.

Sands carries a 16-4 won-lost record with it to Loop and is 6-0 against league opponents.

The race is being divided into two halves this year, so the worst the Mustangs can fare is tie for the top spot.

Girls' teams of the two schools clash at 6:30 p.m.

Harlan Hinds Is Named To Post

ODESSA — A former Odessa High School athlete, Harlan Hinds, has been named baseball coach at Odessa High School.

He replaces Harry Ray, who resigned earlier this week to enter business in Ruidoso, N.M. Hinds comes here from Kermit, where he was baseball coach.

He previously had coached at Carrizo Springs, Lubbock High and Roswell, N.M.

Taylor Is Top Scorer In 5-4A

Ron Taylor, Midland High, is the only basketball player in District 5-AAAA, to score more than 100 points after five conference games. Taylor has 107.

Runnerup in the scoring derby is Don Bradley, Midland Lee, who has 98 points.

Odessa Permian and Big Spring have played one fewer game than the other clubs.

Ciclon May Wreck Party

Lord Al Hayes' coming-out party in Big Spring likely will attract a crowd but his wrestling opponent here Saturday night, Ciclon Negro, will likely try to do the celebrating.

The two are opponents in one of the co-features in Don Stator's grapple show at the Municipal Auditorium and it's quite evident which tin-ear the spectators will be rooting for.

Hayes is new to the area. Negro has shown here often enough to cultivate a colony of haters. Most observers don't like his style.

Negro, a baby rhino, couldn't care less. He admits he'd probably lose a popularity contest to Atilla The Hun or Jack The Ripper but he goes out to win. If the fans don't like it, hang them — he says.

The other feature match pits a newcomer named Hank James against Moose Morowski. James is managed by one Jo Jo who believes in helting his protege along, if the need arises. Referees have been cautioned to make Jo Jo stay beyond the ropes but Jo Jo is a devious character who doesn't always listen.

A tag team match pitting El Gran Tapia and Karl Von Steiger against The Lawman and Chris Colt opens the program at 8:15 p.m.

Advance tickets for the matches go on sale at the auditorium box office at 3 p.m., the day of the program. The duets range in price from $3 (ringside) to $1 (for children four through 11).

He's Gonna Rip Me Good, Says Durocher Of Ump

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

"He's gonna rip me good. He always does."

That's what Astros manager Leo Durocher said about umpire Tom Gorman's scheduled appearance at the Houston Baseball Writers banquet Friday night, Jan. 26, in the Astroworld Hotel.

The colorful Durocher and the equally colorful Gorman will conclude the lineup of baseball luminaries on the dais. Others will include Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox, Rollie Fingers of the Oakland Athletics, Nate Colbert of the San Diego Padres, and Carlton Fisk of the Boston Red Sox.

Umpire Gorman and "umpire-baiter" Durocher have put on some pretty good "for real" acts on the baseball diamond through the years, but they've been even more entertaining when they've been face-to-face in front of a banquet audience. And, their commercial for a leading razor-blade company has become a memorable one.

Film clips of Gorman and Durocher are expected to be shown at the banquet prior to their speeches.

Leo wouldn't even hazard a guess on how many times he's been thrown out of a baseball game by Gorman for arguing "but I know it's been a lot of times," he said.

Durocher said, "Gorman always gives it to me loud and long when he's got an audience, but I'll have my shot at him, too. I can hold my own."

Durocher is scheduled to give his views of the Astros, both in '72 and for '73. Gorman and all the other baseball personalities will receive awards.

Tickets to the banquet are $12.50 for adults and $7.50 for children 16-and-under and may be purchased at the Astrodome and all five Foley's stores or by mail at P. O. Box 1891, Houston, Texas 77001.

Foreman Expects To Stay Upright

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — George Foreman doesn't think world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier can do what amateur Bob Winter did. And that is knock him down in their title fight Monday night.

Foreman recalled Winter before going to the gym Wednesday and beating up on a sparring partner, Jamaican heavyweight champion Carl Baker.

In the second round of their sparring session, Foreman caught Baker with a left hook to the head and a right hand to the body, which Baker claimed was low, and then landed a flurry of punches while Baker was caught in the ropes. Foreman's manager, Dick Sadler, jumped into the ring and stopped it.

"That ring is altogether a different world of its own," Foreman said of the incident. "Some vicious things happen there to each and every one of us."

But in 37 pro fights, all of them victories, 34 by knockout, the ring has not been violent for Foreman. He said he has never been hurt in a pro fight and doesn't expect to be hurt by Frazier, at least not badly enough to keep him from winning.

"But I took a couple of good shots as an amateur," Foreman remembered. "In my third amateur fight, in the first round this guy Winter walked out and clobbered me with a left hook. Knocked me flat."

Foreman got up after and won the fight.

Frazier didn't do any reminiscing Wednesday but some observers thought he looked like the man who beat Muhammad Ali as the champion showed good quickness in sparring two fast rounds, one each with Moleman Williams and Mike Boswell.

Frazier, who weighed 215½ when he knocked out Terry Daniels and 217½ when he stopped Ron Stander in his only two fights since Ali, said he wants to weigh 207 or 208 for Monday night's fight.

Spirited Sprite Of '72 Games Honored In Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Olga Korbut, the spirited sprite of the Soviet gymnastics team at the 1972 Summer Games, is The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year.

Miss Korbut, winner of three gold medals and a silver medal at the Munich Olympics, outpolled American tennis rebel Billie Jean King, reigning queen of the courts, 222 to 202 in balloting by sportswriters and broadcasters released Wednesday. Olympic swimmer Shane Gould of Australia was third with 118 votes.

The Olympic heroine, virtually unknown before the Munich Games, was hailed at the close of competition as being on the horizon of historic greatness.

"Olga is going places," said United States gymnast Cathy Rigby. "Undoubtedly she's their protege."

But there now is speculation that the 84-pound, 4-foot-11 acrobat may never compete again. Miss Korbut suffered a back injury during a December workout and was reported recuperating at a health resort in the Caucasian Republic of Tskhaltubo.

Official Soviet sources said she was unavailable to discuss her injury or comment on being the first Iron Curtain athlete to receive the AP award since it was initiated in 1931.

Olga, a 17-year-old schoolgirl from the town of Grodno near the Polish border, performed in nearly flawless fashion at Munich in winning gold medals for the balance beam and floor exercises with scores of 9.90 of a possible 10.

But it was while competing in her favorite event, the uneven parallel bars that she won the hearts of viewers around the world—and lost a chance for two more gold medals.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES Of Mrs. Joe Mower

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

1 cup frozen orange juice
1/2 cup pineapple juice
2 egg yolks, beaten
3/4 cup sugar
2 tbsps. cornstarch
1 pint whipping cream, whipped

Blend together the orange juice, pineapple juice and egg yolks. Blend cornstarch and sugar together and add to juice mixture. Heat slowly until it thickens. Remove from heat and cool to at least room temperature. Add whipping cream, and pour over a fruit salad. Makes enough for several salads, and can be stored in a covered jar in refrigerator until needed.

GERMAN CHIFFON SALAD

1 pkg. unflavored gelatin
2 cups pineapple or orange juice
4 egg yolks
3 tbsps. vinegar
3 tbsps. sugar
1 pint whipping cream, whipped
1/2 lb. miniature marshmallows
1 can (2 to 3 cups) crushed or tidbit pineapple
1/2 cup pecans, chopped

Dissolve gelatin in heated orange juice. Cool to room temperature and set aside. Mix egg yolks, vinegar and sugar in double boiler, and cook until thick like custard, stirring constantly. Cool to room temperature. Combine two mixtures and cool in refrigerator until gelatin begins to set. Then add whipped cream, marshmallows, pineapple and pecans. Mix well, set until firm, garnish as desired and serve. May be dessert or salad.

HONEY DUMPLINGS

Syrup:
1 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup honey
2 tbsps. butter

Mix all ingredients in a deep pan and heat.

Dumplings:
1 cup sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 egg
1 tbsps. butter
Milk

Mix all ingredients, adding milk as needed to make a soft dough. Drop batter by tablespoonful into hot syrup, cover tightly, and boil slowly for 20 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

1 3-lb. chicken
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup salad oil
1 medium onion, sliced
1/2 cup celery, chopped

1 cup catsup
1 cup water
2 tbsps. Worcestershire Sauce

2 tbsps. brown sugar
2 tbsps. vinegar
2 tbsps. prepared mustard
Salt and pepper chicken, and brown in hot salad oil. Remove chicken pieces and place in covered casserole dish. Brown sliced onion and celery. Add catsup, water, Worcestershire Sauce, brown sugar, vinegar and mustard, and simmer for 10 minutes. Pour sauce over chicken and back, covered, for 2 1/2 to 3 hours at 325 degrees. Add a little more water if necessary during baking. (Three pounds of lamb chops, pork chops or spare ribs may be substituted for chicken if desired).

STRAWBERRY BUTTER

1 cup soft butter
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen strawberries, thawed

Mix all ingredients on high speed of blender for several minutes until smooth. Mixture will look curdled at first. Serve with hot rolls or biscuits. Store in refrigerator. Makes 2 1/2 cups.

BUTTER SAUCE

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
3 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. vanilla

Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. In another pan, mix milk and flour, cook over low heat until thick, remove from heat and cool to room temperature. Gradually add milk mixture to butter and sugar. Add vanilla. Serve hot. Good for ice cream, plain puddings or cakes. Makes 2 1/4 cups.

GINGER MUFFINS

1 cup margarine
1 cup sugar
4 eggs
1 cup molasses
4 cups flour
2 tbsps. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. ginger
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
1/2 cup raisins
1 cup nuts, chopped

Cream margarine, sugar and eggs. Add molasses. Then sift flour, baking soda, cinnamon, salt and ginger together, and add to creamed mixture alternately with buttermilk. Mix in raisins and nuts. Spoon batter into greased muffin tins, one-half to two-thirds full. Unused dough may be frozen or refrigerated.

MRS. JOSEPH MOWER

Her Artistic Abilities Just Come Naturally

By BARBARA LORD

Chances are that if you mention any form of arts and crafts, any type of cooking or any kind of sewing, Mrs. Joe Mower has tried it and is good at it. Her talents are varied, and the enjoyment she receives from them is immeasurable.

"I've tried just about everything in the crafts field," said Mrs. Mower. "I like to experiment with the different media; some I like better than others, but I like them all."

Mrs. Mower is married to Capt. Joseph Mower, an instructor of T-38 systems at Webb Air Force Base. The couple has three children, Joseph Allen, 4, Sarah, 2, and Lisa Michelle, 11 months.

Most of Mrs. Mower's activities are centered around her home, family and church. Both she and her husband are active in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. She works with the Women's Auxiliary Organization for the West Texas Region. Capt. Mower is first counselor in the local Bishopric, and is in charge of construction of the new church on Wesson Road which is due to be completed this month. Mrs. Mower also helps with the in-service program to instruct teachers in new techniques of effective teaching.

"When it comes to cooking I can truthfully say

I enjoy it," said Mrs. Mower. "Joe is the all-American steak and potato man, but if I try something different and don't tell him the ingredients, he'll usually eat it."

Mrs. Mower makes bread or rolls a couple of times weekly. For main courses she normally stays with basic ingredients, but experiments with them to make a variety of dishes. The Mowers enjoy entertaining and having dinner guests. Mrs. Mower orients her meals around nutrition, but the family also enjoys its sweets and pastries. Mrs. Mower is equally adept in this field. In addition to baking for her own family, she decorates a lot of cakes for other people.

"I try to arrange my meals so we can all eat together," said Mrs. Mower. "Sometimes, it's not possible if Joe is flying late, but we do pretty well. The dinner hour is a good time for us all to get together and talk. We also have 'family home evening' at the church one evening a week, and we go to that."

When at home, Mrs. Mower is constantly busy with one project or another. She is currently compiling a collection of children's stories written by her for publication. She also arranges flowers, upholsters furniture, paints with oils, acrylics and water colors, preserves and antiques books, makes collages, decorates and sews. The

Mrs. Mower started sewing when she was six years old, and she remembers sitting in the yard embroidering dish towels at the age of four. Sewing has become second nature now, and she said she hasn't bought a dress for 10 years.

"When I see something I like in a store and realize I could make two or three of them for the price, I just can't make myself buy it," she said. She also sews most of the clothes for the children, and make coats and slacks for Capt. Mower.

Capt. and Mrs. Mower are from California, although Mrs. Mower was born in Salt Lake City, Utah moving to San Diego as a teenager. They both attended Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah where she majored in education and he studied engineering. They were married 5 1/2 years ago in the Mormon Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Pungent Pork Strips To Celebrate Spring

Spring is on the way — and to celebrate its coming your family will enjoy Pungent Pork Strips, a pleasant dinner choice, featuring either tender pork loin or the more economical shoulder cut.

You'll find this recipe doubly pleasing because of its ease of preparation and the final savory results. This entree has so much character, other menu items can be kept simple. Steamed rice, of course, to take advantage of the sweet-sour sauce on the meat. Fresh green peas or asparagus would make ideal accompaniments or perhaps a salad of crisp greens tossed with a classic wine vinegar and olive oil dressing.

To make Pungent Pork Strips, the seasoned meat is enclosed in a packet of quilted foil, along with broth and wine, to cook until the meat is tender. It is important that the foil be sealed securely, not only to hold in the rich juices, but to confine the steam that is created as the meat cooks.

This is one great advantage of foil cookery — it makes possible the moist heat that cooks quickly, keeps in the natural flavors and makes even a tough cut tender. When the meat is tender, the packet is opened up. At this point the alcohol of the wine escapes as a

WARM MEAL FOR COOL EVENINGS
Pork strips are ideal cuisine vapor, but the flavor remains.

The second step adds still more flavor as onion, celery, green pepper and a sweet-sour sauce is spooned in with the meat and cooked for an additional 15 minutes. Pineapple chunks go in at the end just long enough to heat through. The blend of seasonings is remarkably good, reminiscent of the far east.

One of the nicest features of all is that there is no pan to wash. The foil has done its work and it can be thrown away.

PUNGENT PORK STRIPS

1 lb. pork loin or shoulder
Quilted foil, heavy duty
1 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/4 cup Sauterne or dry Sherry

1 (1 1/2 oz.) can pineapple chunks
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 tsp. cornstarch
1 tbsps. soy sauce
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 cup small chunks or slices green pepper
1/2 cup sliced green onion

Cut pork into small strips about 1/2 x 2 inches. Place on 14 x 18-inch rectangle of quilted foil. Sprinkle with garlic salt and ginger. Pour on broth and wine. Seal packet allowing room for steam. Place on cooky sheet or in shallow baking pan.

Bake in a 400 degree oven until meat is tender, (50 minutes for loin, about 1 hour 15 minutes for shoulder.) Drain syrup from pineapple into small bowl. Add vinegar, brown sugar, cornstarch and soy sauce, stirring until smooth. Open packet; pour in sweet-sour mixture. Add vegetables and stir gently to distribute. Continue cooking uncovered 15 minutes longer or until sauce has thickened and vegetables are tender-crisp. Add pineapple chunks the last 5 minutes of cooking. Serve with hot cooked rice.

Pantry Pickups

Brown sugar may be substituted for white sugar but the color and flavor of the product may be somewhat different, depending upon the recipe. For equivalent sweetening power, pack the brown sugar when you measure.

Herb Vinegars are plain vinegars flavored with herbs. They are delicious used in salad dressings.

If cookies soften, they can usually be re-crisped if placed in a 300-degree oven for about 5 minutes. Preheat the oven before adding the cookies.

To flambe means to sprinkle with brandy or a liqueur and ignite.

Top scald milk means to heat milk to just under the boiling point or until tiny bubbles appear around the edge.

SUPERB ENTREE FOR DINNER PARTY
Semi-sweet dressing enhances pork

Guests Will Rave About Pork Roast

Pork loin, roasted to a rich golden brown and served in a new way, becomes the piece de resistance for a company dinner. Surprise and delight your guests at your next small dinner party for four with this roast pork loin with a most unusual dressing resembling apple brown Betty except that it is not sweet!

Begin dinner with chilled vegetable juice. Serve mashed winter squash and green beans with the roast. Add a crisp green salad if you wish and end with any favorite dessert that is not too heavy.

ROAST PORK LOIN WITH BROWN BETTY DRESSING

1 loin of pork (about 4 lbs.)
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. powdered ginger
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup dry white wine
2 tbsps. sugar
3 apples, pared, cored and diced
4 cups diced dry white bread

1/2 cup raisins, light or dark
4 eggs
1 cup milk
2 tbsps. canned, diced, roasted almonds

Rub fat surface of pork with salt, pepper and ginger. Place fat side up in shallow roasting pan (bones will serve as rack). Insert meat thermometer in thickest part of roast avoiding bone and fat. Roast at 325 degrees for 1 hour. Scatter chopped onion around pork; roast 30 minutes longer, or until onions are lightly browned. Combine wine, sugar, apples, bread cubes, raisins, stir into onions. Roast 30 minutes longer stirring occasionally. Beat eggs with milk. Remove roast from pan; combine egg mixture and almonds with apple mixture mix well. Replace roast. Spoon apple mixture around roast. Roast 30 to 40 minutes longer or until roast is golden brown and meat thermometer registers 170 degrees. Makes 4 generous servings.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN DEPLORE 'CUTE, CHILDLIKE' FEMININE STEREOTYPE

'Sex Roles Should Liberate Men As Well As Women'

Sex roles, and how they should be defined to liberate men and women alike, were explored by the American Association of University Women during a panel discussion Monday.

Ms. Star Warford, coordinator of Education Services, Big Spring State Hospital, was chairwoman, and other panelists were Ms. Cheryl Davis, staff psychologist, BSSH; Ms. Mary Dudley, psychology instructor, and Ms. Wanda Reese, reading and English instructor, both of Howard County Junior College.

"Since its founding in 1882, AAUW has been vitally interested in furthering the cause of women, especially educated women, women in the professions and women in business," said Ms. Warford. "Everytime there has been a major committee on the status of women, AAUW has made itself known if it has not had a member on the committee itself. We must continue to work to raise standards for all women."

Ms. Mary Dudley spoke first on "Feminine Stereotype," noting that this area deals with cultural aspects rather than legal.

"The stereotype always places woman in her home and behind her man," said Ms. Dudley. "It depicts the true nature of woman — like that of slaves — as dependent. Incapable of reasoned thought, childlike in its simplicity and warmth, martyred in the role of mother and mystical in the role of sexual partner. Or, as a reviewer of 'Fascinating Womanhood' said, 'Woman should be cute, childlike and dependent.'

"She is characterized as emotionally dependent, passive, conservative, fearful and supportive of the status quo.

"A stereotype is not good for man or woman, because they will never know what they might have been able to accomplish had they not been stereotyped. They should be allowed to do what they are best qualified to do and are happy doing. Our entire society is geared to socialize women to believe in and adopt as immutable necessity their traditional and inferior role."

To illustrate her point, Ms. Dudley quoted Psychologist Naomi Weissen: "In our culture women are characterized as inconsistent, emotionally unstable, lacking in strong conscience or superego, weaker, nurturer rather than productive, intuitive rather than intelligent, and if they are at all 'normal', suited to the home and family. The typical stereotype of inferiority; if they know their place, which is in the home, they are really quite lovable, happy, childlike, loving creatures."

Ms. Dudley's position is that this view cannot be changed in a culture such as ours until social expectations for men and women are equal, and until society provides equal respect for men and women.

"It is totally wrong and brutal to educate little girls so that they end up believing they are capable of doing only the most dull, degrading work," continued the speaker. "There is no such thing as the inherent right of one human being to have another human being serve him."

Ms. Dudley said sex roles should be defined to include both male and female liberation. She said any trait which is a good trait, is good for both males and females, and any trait which is not admirable, is not, regardless of who possesses it. She quoted Jonathan Swift:

"I am ignorant of any one quality that is amiable in a man, which is not equally so in a woman; I do not except modesty and gentleness of nature. Nor do I know one vice or folly which is not equally detestable in both."

And Plato: "There is no occupation... which belongs either to woman or to man, as such. Natural gifts are to be found here and there in both creatures alike; and every occupation is open to both, so far as their natures are concerned. We shall not have one education for men and another for women, precisely because the nature to be taken in hand is the same."

The second panelist was Ms. Davis, who followed along the same line, telling of some of the experiences she has had with patients at Big Spring State Hospital. She emphasized that most of the patients' problems had to do with the stereotype that society had set for both men and women.

"Women can show their feelings more easily than men, which makes it easier to help them with their problems," she said. "Many of the women have no skills, and they feel trapped, especially if their husband is cruel to them. They have been taught all their lives that they are only to be housewives and mothers, without any interests of their own rather than the home, so they often become depressed and turn on themselves or others."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Ideas expressed by the other AAUW panelists will be published in Friday's Big Spring Herald.

MRS. JAMES MIKE VOSS

Couple Says Nuptial Vows

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Glenda Kaye Moore and James Mike Voss at 7 p.m., Saturday in the First Baptist Church of Forrest Hill. The Rev. Gene Garrett officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy R. Moore, Fort Worth, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Barnfield, Big Spring. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James N. Voss, Fulton, Ark.

The bride was attired in a princess-style gown in candlelight satin with wide lace front panel, stand-up collar and long cuffed sleeves. Matching lace accented the skirt. A band of satin roses held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white roses with orange highlights.

Miss Becky Voss, maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of yellow satin which featured long sleeves, stand-up collar and softly gathered skirt.

Bruce Voss served as best man.

A reception honored the couple in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. The serving table was laid with an orange linen cloth and overlaid with white lace. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The tiered cake featured a miniature bride and groom, doves and rosebuds.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside at Route 1, Fulton, Ark.

Rebekahs Installed During Lodge Rites

New officers for John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 were installed Tuesday at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. A. I. Johnson is the noble grand.

Other officers are Mrs. C. C. Forrest, vice grand; Mrs. Jones C. Lamar, recording secretary; Mrs. U. S. Beechly, financial secretary; and Mrs. Homer Petty, treasurer. Their escorts were J. C. Pye, Elra Phillips, Larry, McDonald, Charles Leek and Garland Land.

inside and outside guardians.

Also Mrs. Everett Hood and Mrs. Garland Land, right and left supports to the past noble grand; Mrs. LaVerne Rogers and Mrs. Ira Rice, right and left supports to the chaplain; and Miss Juanita Hamlin, Rebekah color bearer.

Mrs. A. G. Hall, district deputy president, performed the installation, assisted by Mrs. Lonnie Griffith, deputy marshal, Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. Jewel Fields, Mrs. K. J. Nielsen, Mrs. Henry Roger and Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, all of Rebekah Lodge No. 284.

Certificates of perfection were presented to Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. O. G. Burns and Mrs. Cole.

Each new officer received a violet corsage. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leek, Mrs. Loftis, Mrs. Pye, Mrs. Thackrey and Mrs. Hughes.

Saunders Heads Men Gardeners

L. R. Saunders Jr. began a second term as president of the Men's Garden Club Tuesday evening during ceremonies at Furr's Cafeteria.

The officer installation was conducted by Clyde Strope of the Odessa Men's Garden Club. Serving with Saunders will be Edward Cruz, vice president; and Bill Sneed, secretary-treasurer.

Strope was guest speaker for the club's annual "ladies' night," when wives of members were guests. Strope discussed organic gardening from the preparation of beds to the time of planting. He recommended use of cold frames and compost piles for getting plants started early.

Mrs. Strope was also a guest. Joe Johnson, a new member, was introduced as was his wife.

Regular meeting days were changed to the third Tuesday of each month, the next meeting being at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 20 at the U.S. Experiment Station.

Family Night Set By Rebekahs

A family night was planned Tuesday by Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284. The event will begin at 3:30 p.m., Saturday at the IOOF Hall, and those attending are to bring a covered dish. There will be an installation practice during the evening.

New officers will be installed at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 23 at the hall, with Mrs. A. G. Hall, district deputy president, presiding.

Following business, Mrs. C. C. Cunningham, noble grand, dismissed the members, and they went to the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 installation ritual. Mrs. Hall installed, and she was assisted by Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. Jewel Fields, Mrs. K. J. Nielsen, Mrs. Henry Roger and Mrs. A. F. Gilliland.

High Tallies In Bridge Games

Mrs. A. Swartz and Mrs. Charles Tompkins took first place in duplicate bridge games Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club. Second place went to Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. Fred Kasch, and other winners were Mrs. O. B. Worley and Mrs. John Davis, third; and Mrs. Henry Bell and Mrs. Morris Rhodes, fourth.

'Fund Shortage May Hamper Education'

"Due to the possible cutback of federal funds, quality education will suffer," said Roy Watkins Tuesday evening when he spoke to Marcy Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association.

Watkins and Ralph McLaughlin, both members of Big Spring School Board, conducted a panel discussion for the group. Watkins said in order to maintain quality education, taxes will have to increase.

"Because of the cutback in financing, there are no plans for physical education programs in local elementary schools," said McLaughlin. "As much as 75 per cent of the district budget goes for salaries, and I feel teachers should have first priority when it comes to salaries."

Teachers Have Lunch Meeting

"Looking Forward" was the theme of the monthly luncheon meeting Tuesday of Big Spring, Howard County Chapter, National Retired Teachers Association at the Downtown Tea Room.

Opening prayer was by Melvin McFall. Several handmade articles made by the 20 members present were displayed. Hostesses were Mrs. Louise Horton, Mrs. Naomi Jackson and Mrs. Elinor Slaughter.

The next meeting will be at 12 o'clock noon, Feb. 20, at the Tea Room.

Sorority Group Conducts Ritual

The ritual of jewels was held for two women Tuesday evening when Alpha Kappa Omicron, Beta Sigma Phi, met in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, president, performed the ceremony for Mrs. David Grifford and Mrs. Allen Carlile. Assisting were Mrs. Gary Huckaby, Mrs. Wayne Stroup and Mrs. Jolene Burgess, member advisor. Refreshments were served. The next meeting is 7:30 p.m., Jan. 23 in the home of Mrs. David Tubbs.

BSP Chapter Discusses Art

Sculpture was discussed Tuesday evening by Mrs. Steve Clark for Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter of Coahoma, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Fred Copeland, 175-A Fairchild.

Mrs. Clark said the sculpture, "The Thinker" was originally sculptured to be placed on a shelf above a doorway. The original piece is now displayed in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, N.Y.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Jack Parrott was appointed vice president. Mrs. Copeland, service committee chairman, presented the names of three residents at a local nursing inn, and members will choose one to sponsor.

It was announced that tickets for the annual BSP Valentine Ball, scheduled Feb. 10 at Cosden Country Club, will go on sale Feb. 1. Cost is $8 per couple prior to the dance and $7.50 per couple at the door. Half of all proceeds will be given to Westside Community Center.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 30 in the home of Mrs. Larry Harp, and a salad buffet will be served.

Unwelcome

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know how to handle the problem of guests who bring their unwelcome pets when they visit.

My sister and her husband have two obnoxious poodles. They are not trained and are a menace to my children and household furnishings.

I once jokingly hinted, "I can tie our children outside if they get on your dogs' nerves." (No reaction.) These dogs have growled and snapped at our children without provocation, and our little ones are terrified of them.

On their last visit, one of the dogs lifted his leg on my collection of African violets and all my sister said was, "Whoops, Curley had an accident!" (It was no accident. It was deliberate.)

I like animals, Abby, and am not cruel to them, but these poodles are more than I can take.

I love my sister and wouldn't want her to discontinue her visits to me entirely, but how can I handle this?

DOG PROBLEM: Quit hinting and joking, and tell your sister you love her, and her visits, but not her dogs! But be sure to place the blame where it belongs. Ill-mannered and untrained pets are a reflection of their ignorant, lazy owners.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother is suing his parents! How about that one?

Joe claims his parents owe him $3,000. It seems when Joe was in the service he kept sending home war bonds. Well, after Joe came out of the service the folks gave him money left and right whenever he asked for it, but they had to cash the bonds to do it, so now there are no more bonds left. Joe claims his parents OWE him the money. And the folks say they don't.

What I want to know is this: Can a guy sue his own parents? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Anybody can sue whomever he wants to sue. Whether he can WIN or not is anybody's guess — until after the case is settled.

DEAR ABBY: Because I know I speak for many women, I hope you will print this open letter to my husband.

Dear Joe (fictitious name): You have on occasion criticized me for the way I look, and how different things are from our early years together. Well, I guess you're right. I've heard your side of the story, now here's mine:

When we were courting, you couldn't see me enough. This continued through our honeymoon and the early months of our marriage. You really made me feel on top of the world. I knew my place in your life. But when the newness wore off, I got shoved further and further into the background. You started going places with your buddies again. Your ego and your job became more important to you than your home and family.

Maybe my figure isn't what it used to be. But pregnancies and childbirth can do that to a woman. (You've gained weight, too. What's your excuse?)

I spend four and five days and nights alone with the kids, being both mother and father to them. If you're home for supper two nights a week you think you deserve a medal. You DO support us, but the paycheck is not enough. We need your presence, too. How long do you intend to ignore the warning signals our older children have given us by the way of the distress they feel over the family being separated so much? It's high time you realize that our kids need a father, too.

So if I eat more than I should, it's only because I am so unhappy over our life and your refusal to take an active part in it.

YOUR PART-TIME WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I'm betting I get at least 100 letters asking, "Did my wife write that?"

Problems: You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Shock Treatment: 'Live, Love, Die'

SAIGON (AP) — Girls in snack bars wear Rolling Stones T-shirts. A slender young man speaks English like a Pentagon memo. A middle-aged woman drives a bulldozer. A rice farmer watches cowboy movies on television.

All this and more since the Americans came. It has been a blitz. One year there were 16,000 Americans. Four years later, there were more than half a million — 10 times as many as the French colonialists ever numbered.

WEEK'S WAGES
The Americans paid a week's wages for a taxi ride, built an airport in two weeks and blasted an acre of jungle into compost on the chance of killing one Viet Cong. A Vietnamese could make a fortune just picking up after them.

"With the French, it was an infiltration system," says a Vietnamese professor, "with the Americans, a shock treatment."

Most of the Americans have gone, but South Vietnam still is reeling. A society that was once simple and orderly has grown new classes and new appetites.

The U.S. military needed people to wash clothes and lug boxes, so it hired them. U.S. agencies and contractors needed people to type, lay bricks, cook and fix air conditioners, so they trained them. The Americans needed Vietnamese experts for "nation building," so they sent them to school.

'WISH BOOK'
To keep inflation down and morale up, television sets, wrist watches and a million motorbikes were imported to sop up the incoming dollars.

English has supplanted French as the most popular foreign language in secondary schools. Employment of Vietnamese in the "U.S. sector" peaked at more than 160,000 in 1969. The average employe of the Americans earned two to four times the average income, creating pockets of affluence.

The Sears Roebuck "wish book" is popular reading in magazine stalls. Vietnamese officers' jeeps become family cars by night.

Civil servants rely on graft and military men on black marketeering to provide luxuries. No government program has succeeded in stopping them.

NOT ALL BAD
The war displaced an estimated seven million South Vietnamese at one time or another and started a great migration to the cities. Officials hoped that, when peace came, the uprooted would drift back to the land, but they have changed their minds.

Nguyen Van Anh, vice minister of national planning and development, foresees an even greater influx into the cities as South Vietnam's million-man armed forces are demobilized.

It is not all bad, says Anh, because, "by bringing people into the army, we have given them a glimpse of the world outside their villages and we have opened their minds. Without the war, this process might have taken most of a century."

The war also has had an incalculable impact on the Vietnamese family. Children have grown up with fathers gone. Working wives frequently earn more than soldier husbands. Before the war, less than one-fourth of the university students were women, but now the percentage of coeds is well over one-third.

DIVORCES
The draft and the high cost of setting up housekeeping caused registered marriages in Saigon to drop although the city was growing. The nuptial age rose by four years for both sexes, and the latest statistics show women initiated 960 of 1,140 divorces.

Hundreds of women have paid a month's salary or more for cosmetic surgeons to sew Caucasian-style folds into their eyelids or make their noses thinner and straighter.

Much recent Vietnamese architecture shows no relationship to tradition. New homes are ornamented with cement parabolas or triangles, and there is no trace of French or Chinese discipline.

"Experimentation?" a Vietnamese homeowner was asked. "Dislocation," he answered.

American music is popular among Vietnamese teen-agers, but it is not theirs. A people with every reason to sing the blues can't get the hang of the sound made by black Americans.

LIVE, LOVE, DIE
"The most significant of our shortcomings," an American official wrote recently, "has been that we have failed to provide a dream. . . . At no time have we attempted to tell the people what is at the end of the rainbow. What is the great aspiration which can make their suffering tolerable and their sacrifices worthwhile?"

Don't the Vietnamese already have a dream of their own? Yes, say many Vietnamese. When asked to describe it, they talk simply of prosperity and peace.

At this point, many Vietnamese seem not quite sure what they are and what they want to be.

And it is peace that may put Vietnam's culture to its toughest test yet.

"The war has opened the people's minds, but it has had bad effects on young people," says Vice Minister Anh of the national planning ministry. "Live and love and die — that is their slogan. They don't want to think about building the future. They just want to live before they die."

Considered As Sanguine Site

WASHINGTON — Cong. Omar Burlison and O. C. Fisher issued a joint announcement today that the Secretary of Defense has approved a request from the Secretary of the Navy to proceed with further research and development on Project Sanguine. In announcing this decision it was stated that while a final decision on whether to build this operational system will not be made until about 1976, it has been directed that the Navy concentrate on Texas for their planning for initial construction.

In past months the Department of the Navy had indicated its interest in portions of McCulloch, San Saba, Mason, Llano and Burnet counties as a possible site for this extremely low frequency communications system.

PBS Will Hold Emergency Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — The board of the Public Broadcasting Service is holding an emergency meeting next week to weigh support for a nationwide public television hookup — financed without federal funds.

The idea stems from last week's resolution by the presidentially appointed board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting to take over programming decisions formerly made in large part by PBS.

The corporation now is asserting its decision-making power in the wake of complaints by the White House and some congressmen concerning the objectivity and balance of some PBS public-affairs programs.

PBS officials, who say they fear the corporation may become increasingly less responsive to the requests of public television stations, now are moving to see if there are ways to exist without federal funds.

PBS currently is asking officials at the nation's 233 public television stations if they approve of PBS plans to study "alternative means of funding a national interconnection, which would be directly controlled by the stations." PBS officials say this would be a nationwide public television hookup financed by other than federal funds — money from foundations, private and public contributions and so forth.

They say it would permit the broadcasting of some public-affairs shows and other programs — paid for without federal funds — on a system that isn't financed by the federal tax dollars now provided by CPB.

If that becomes the case, would PBS still need the approval of the parent corporation for the shows? Robert F. Sherkkan, board chairman of PBS, doesn't think so.

"I don't think it would be a concern of the corporation since it would not involve their money," said Sherkkan, head of KLRN-TV, a public-television station in Austin, Tex. The full 19-member PBS board will see what support it has for its new network proposal when it meets Jan. 24 in San Diego, Calif.

Is there now anything in the Public Broadcasting Act that bars public television stations from setting up a national hookup that doesn't depend on federal funds?

"No," Sherkkan said. "As a matter of fact, as I read the legislation, it really encourages the corporation to assist others in setting up such systems."

Really Big Bite

ROME (AP) — More than half of Italy's defense budget is eaten up by bureaucracy and nonessential spending, the newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia declared.

Charge Two With Killing SA Officer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — George Jacobs, the San Antonio policeman who died Sunday of a gunshot wound, was buried Wednesday with a police honor guard in attendance.

Two men have been charged with the killing of the 32-year-old officer. They are John L. Harris, 26, and Robert M. Applewhite, 22. Bond was set at $50,000 for each man.

Harris was arrested last Friday and charged with the robbery of a service station only minutes before Jacobs was shot. The patrolman died Monday. Applewhite was arrested Tuesday afternoon.

Meanwhile, police pressed the search for the death weapon.

A reward fund for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Jacobs' assailants last Wednesday night stood at $3,200 when Harris and Applewhite were charged.

San Antonio police officers began wearing black tape across their badges Tuesday as a symbol of mourning for Jacobs. It was the first time in recent memory of police observers here that officers have worn such a symbol.

The tape around the badges were to be worn until funeral services are completed for the four-year police veteran today, officers said.

One of the accused men, Harris, stopped on his way to formal arraignment on the murder charges to pray. He knelt beneath a vase of flowers placed in police headquarters in memory of Jacobs.

Harris and Applewhite grew up together in the same East San Antonio neighborhood, police said.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PENALIZED: (Q.) I am being punished for something my brother did. He got a girl pregnant last summer and had to marry her.

Now when I go out on a date my mother sits up and I have to answer all kinds of detailed questions about what happened on the date. I have to assure her, without actually saying it, that I didn't do anything with a boy to get pregnant. They trusted me once. Why can't they trust me now? — 18 in Louisiana.

(A.) A family is not just two or three or four or more different people. It is a group of people whose lives intertwine. This intertwining is what makes many families so strong. The whole is stronger than the parts.

Your parents have gone through a traumatic experience that has hurt the family. Your mother naturally wants to avoid further hurts. So she guards you more closely. As the shock wears off, she will no doubt ease up in her concern about you. Try to cooperate with her as a labor of love. Do nothing to be ashamed of and answer her questions frankly.

Think also of moving to a place of your own — or with another young woman. If you are out of high school and working or going to college, it is time for you to take this step, or prepare for it.

"HIS" GIRL: (Q.) I want to date a lot of boys until I find the right one. But I am stuck in a rut with Wes. Right now we are broken up because he says he loves me and I know I don't love him.

So even though I don't want to, I have to go back to him. There's nobody else for me to go out with. Help me. — In Chains in Alabama.

(A.) Many girls have your problem — and not all of them live in small towns. It is a tough problem, but there is an answer to it.

If you will persist in not dating Wes, the boys and girls (and adults too) who know you will wake up to the fact that you are not "his" girl any more. It may take time, but you can do it.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she reports that she cannot answer such personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3002, Houston, Texas 77001.)

No Breach Of Promise

DALLAS (AP) — District Judge Dee Brown Walker ruled Tuesday that the recently passed state amendment on women's rights means a woman no longer can bring suit against a man who reneges on his marriage proposal.

The ruling came in a case where Margaret Scanlon, a woman in her 40s, claimed $2.5 billion damages against W. R. Crim, 45, of Kilgore.

She claimed she passed up numerous marriage offers because she was waiting for Crim. According to the suit, Crim supported her since 1965, but in April 1970 he told her he was marrying another woman.

Defense lawyer Earl Luna argued that Constitutional Amendment No. 7, concerning equal rights for women, makes a man no longer responsible for support so that a breach of promise suit is now against public policy in Texas.

The judge agreed. Crim said that, after the suit was filed three years ago, he found Miss Scanlon had been married previously but hadn't told him. An appeal is planned.

Now, You All Hair This

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. Office of Civil Rights has backed the contention of two male pupils in the Justin F. Kimball High School Band that it would be discriminatory and a violation of federal law to force them to cut their hair.

Dr. Don M. Vernon, southern coordinator of the education division of the Office of Civil Rights in Washington, warned the Dallas School District it could face withdrawal of federal funds if it continues applying hair regulations "to members of one sex only," according to a letter received by Dr. K. M. Cole Jr., father of the two boys.

The bandsmen, Ron and Pat Cole, have remained out of the band since they were told last October that they had to cut their hair or leave it.

"The boys were told to cut their hair to keep it from hanging out of their hats," said Dr. Cole. "But the rule doesn't apply to girls."

He filed suit in federal court, claiming that his sons were discriminated against on the basis of sex, but the case was dismissed. It is now being appealed to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

The Dallas Independent School District is applying for $6.5 million in federal funds under the Emergency School Assistance Act.

Bank Robber Tells Big Fib

HOUSTON (AP) — Police still sought today a man wanted in a robbery Friday of the Willis State Bank in which $18,000 was taken and recovered and four men arrested.

Officers said Don Victor Harbolt Jr., 26, believed to be from Houston, had made several calls to the local FBI office and a newspaper saying he would come in and surrender if authorities would let him keep his asthma medication in jail. They said despite such assurances, he did not surrender.

Meanwhile, U.S. Magistrate Ronald J. Blask set $100,000 bonds each Monday for Carl Alvin Craddock, 23, of Arlington and Larry Wayne Gruner, 23, of Dallas.

They were charged with entering the bank, taking the money and stealing a car for the getaway. They were arrested about an hour after the robbery after their car skidded on snowy roads and into a ditch.

Two brothers, Albert Duane Juneau, 25, and Rodney Lane Juneau, 21, both of Conroe, had bonds of $50,000 set. Officers charged them with helping in the robbery.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♥
In order to put something over on the defense, a declarer must make his move early in the play—before his opponents have an opportunity to anticipate the course of events. An apt illustration of this principle is provided in today's offering, taken from a recent team-of-four match.

A contract of six hearts was reached at both tables on the sequence of bids given in the diagram. Altho the respective declarers, seated South, adopted the same basic plan of campaign, their psychology and timing were poles apart.

West feared that a lead away from one of his tenaces might cost him a trick. He therefore adopted a passive course by opening a trump. At one table, South won the lead in his hand and promptly led a small spade. West followed with the eight and the queen was successfully finessed.

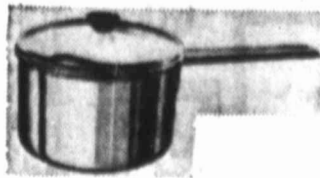

Trumps were drawn with two more pulls. Three rounds of clubs were cashed followed by the ace of spades. Having completed his stripping operations in the black suits, South exited with a spade. West was in with the king and the forced return of a diamond into declarer's ace-queen eliminated the latter's remaining concern and South claimed his contract—having lost but one spade trick.

At the other table, declarer began by drawing three rounds of trump on which East discarded the deuce and four of diamonds to indicate a lack of interest in that suit. Next came the three top clubs ending up in the closed hand. When South finally got around to leading a spade, West was fully tuned in on his opponent's intentions.

It was clear to West that if he adopted a passive course, South would take the spade finesse and then throw him in on the third round. East's discouraging discards in diamonds provided a clear-cut indication the declarer held both the ace and queen of that suit. Desperate measures were in order therefore if West was to avoid a fatal endplay.

When the deuce of spades was led, West played the jack. North covered with the queen which won the trick. The ace was cashed next and West completed his unblocking maneuver by dropping the king. On the next lead, East put up the ten of spades and his partner was able to underplay with the eight, which he had carefully preserved. A diamond return by East assured West of scoring the setting trick with the king.

MEDICAL BREAKTHROUGH

New Drug Clears Up Psoriasis Skin Woes

Copley News Service
A drug that can clear up the skin problems of psoriasis may be on drugstore shelves from coast to coast within a matter of weeks.

A La Jolla, Calif., pharmaceutical firm has been told by the Food and Drug Administration that approval is imminent on a drug that has proved to be 90 per cent effective in psoriasis treatment.

TRADE NAME
The drug, when it is marketed, could be the first mass-produced preparation capable of ending the skin scaling and eruptions without causing major side effects, according to physicians who have tested it.

Called by the trade name Triazole, the pill has been perfected, tested and manufactured by Calbiochem of La Jolla.

The drug will be available by prescription only.

The warehouses of the pharmaceutical firm are ready with major quantities of the pills for shipment as soon as final word comes from the FDA.

Thomas Foley, director of the pharmaceutical division of Calbiochem, says that tests on 600 severe psoriasis sufferers across the country have been remarkably effective.

"Mind you, this drug does not cure psoriasis. That can only come when science knows what causes it. But this drug cures the symptoms. The skin clears up," said Foley in an interview.

STRONG BACKING
The 600 test patients have been given the drug in scientifically controlled experiments across the country. Some of the institutions involved in the test are Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation, Northwestern University and clinics in San Francisco, Palo Alto and Chicago.

The drug already has strong backing from top dermatologists.

Last month at the American Dermatological Association meetings in Miami, scientists called Triazole the first workable drug in the thousand-year history of the skin disease.

Tests reported at those meetings all concerned patients affected with the skin disease over more than 50 per cent of their bodies.

The history of the preparation goes back seven years.

It was discovered by scientists at the Czechoslovakian Academy of Science. In testing a drug on leukemia patients, they found that it worked to stop the cell growth that ends up in psoriasis.

GROW TOO FAST
Calbiochem was asked by the U.S. government to prepare a compound for government study. "Our manufacturing capacity ended up in our receiving the patent," said Foley.

The chemical, whose general name is Azaribine, works by slowing down cell overgrowth.

For psoriasis victims, the skin cells go awry and grow too fast. This excessive multiplication causes the scaling and buildup of skin that accompanies the disease.

Triazole interferes with this. Calbiochem began testing patients two years ago under the FDA approval guidelines. Usually, the pills are given for six to eight weeks and the skin scaling clears up.

The evidence is not in yet concerning how long the symptoms will stay away or how soon treatments may have to be renewed.

"We believe the real future may be in low dose maintenance so that the symptoms never return," said Foley. "But testing must still be done on this."

SIDE EFFECTS
Foley says tests have shown that the only side effects are minor drops in blood values or hemoglobin counts and some minor effects to the central nervous system.

Foley estimates that a course of treatment with the drug will cost around $350.

"But this would, of course, vary with individual cases," said Foley.

GUIDELINES
It will be announced mainly to dermatologists at first.

Foley said a number of scientific papers and studies will be published in the near future so that dermatologists will have guidelines.

Musk-Ox Herd Money-Maker

FORT CHIMO, Que. (AP) — A herd of some 30 woolly musk-ox roam near here, eating grass and earning more than $2,000 each a year.

The animals, a species dating back to the ice age, were brought to this village on the shore of Ungava Bay in 1967 from Ellesmere Island in the Arctic by the Quebec resources development office.

The heavy, high-quality wool that protects them from extremely low temperatures has become a part of the economy of this tiny Eskimo settlement.

Every year five or six pounds of down is taken from each animal. Each ounce of that down may be made into a piece of clothing that sells for about $35. Some of the Eskimos earn their living by knitting the wool.

Dr. Jules Bourque, veterinarian in charge of the animals, said that several persons have expressed an interest in raising musk-ox, but none of this herd is for sale.

He has refused an offer of $18,000 for a male and female.

'Children Of God' To Ask $1 Million

DALLAS (AP) — A $1.1 million libel and slander action brought by the controversial Children of God Group against parents of some of its members will go to jury trial here June 25.

District Court Judge Dee Brown Walker granted a continuance of the case, originally set for hearing Monday, when defense lawyers argued the scope of the allegations had been broadened by the plaintiff submitting two amended petitions.

SUBVERSIVE GROUP
The suit, which described the Children of God as "a voluntary non-profit association for teaching the truth of the Bible and the evangelization of the world," asked $100,000 in actual damages, $500,000 in exemplary damages and a further $500 in special damages from members of the Parents' Committee to Free Our Sons and Daughters from the Children of God Organization.

Individually cited was a group of parents, mainly from San Diego, Calif., named as John Moody, William Bambur, Ted Patrick and Lawrence Cooke.

The suit arose from picketing by parents of the Dallas Federal Building Oct. 15, 1971.

It was alleged that the defendants said within the hearing of press and public that: —The Children of God is a subversive group out to overthrow the government and organized religion.

KIDNAP YOUNG
—That they kidnap young persons.
—That they drug young persons.

—That they are part of a $1 million racket to extort money from converts.
—That they hypnotize young persons.

—That they operate a slave labor camp.
The plaintiff argues that these "false and derogatory" throughout Texas and the United States, bringing the Children of God into "disrepute" with the public.
All the defendants named have filed preliminary responses, denying the charges.

Dame Agatha Speaks Out

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dame Agatha Christie, queen of British mystery writers, says it's not a good idea to write who dunnits that might provide a criminal with a how-to-do-it.

Dame Agatha, 82, offered various items of literary advice in an exchange of letters with an 18-year-old Miami girl, noting, among other things: "Writing is all trial and error — one needs both luck and persistence."

The correspondence between Dame Agatha and Shirley Dawson began when the freshman English major at Miami-Dade Junior College wrote asking for biographical information for a term paper.

"I thought her secretary would type me a response and maybe have Agatha sign it," Miss Dawson said.

Instead Miss Dawson received two letters from Dame Agatha — but no biographical information.

"Information or biographies or articles about writers tell you nothing of interest, only facts," Dame Agatha wrote.

Wanted Man Surrounded

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP) — A 27-year-old man wanted on a murder charge in Louisiana was arrested downtown here after being surrounded by city, county and state law enforcement officers late Tuesday night.

The man was identified as Harold Joe Layne, who told Nueces County Sheriff's deputies that he was from Dallas. A 38-year-old woman with Layne was taken into custody but has not been charged.

Sheriff's officials said the pair had been spotted in a local restaurant by a sheriff's officer. The two were followed until five law enforcement units, including the Department of Public Safety and sheriff's officers, surrounded Layne.

The couple offered no resistance. Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell said a 20 gauge shotgun and a .38 caliber pistol were confiscated by deputies.

Layne was being sought throughout the state on a warrant charging him with the Christmas Day killing of another man in Bastrop, La.

Dallas police said Layne was seen there earlier Tuesday. Layne also was being sought in connection with a bank robbery in Louisiana.

The sheriff's office reported earlier another man armed with a submachine gun also was accompanying the pair.

However, late Tuesday night Mitchell said it was believed the second man was not in the immediate area.

Mitchell said Layne would be transferred to Nueces County Jail in Corpus Christi as soon as officers completed questioning his companion.

BATTLE TO CLEAN UP TEXAS RIVERS, LAKES Septic Tanks Big Target Of Board

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Septic tanks are the big target today in the Texas Water Quality Board's battle to clean up Texas rivers and lakes.

Industrial, agricultural and municipal discharges are pretty well in hand now, with increasingly strict discharge permits being approved. So well in hand, that the federal government is cutting back on the anti-pollution funds allocated to the state.

Now it is the turn of septic tanks, many of which are owned by the more affluent members of society who own vacation homes or who have fled the cities for suburban areas not served by sewage lines.

PUBLIC DEMAND

The public has come to demand greater control of pollution in the past decade, especially in recreation areas.

In its first efforts to control pollution, the legislature froze discharges at their existing levels in the early 1960s.

These so-called statutory permits are being upgraded after hearings by the Water Quality Board. Sometimes the new permit falls short of what a lot of people want.

For example, there are many people in the dude ranch country around Kerrville who object to the revised permit approved for that city last summer.

It was the first revision of Kerrville's 1964 statutory permit. It ordered the city to expand its treatment facilities, to add 50 acres to its 80-acre tract being irrigated with treated sewage and to discharge treated sewage into the Guadalupe River only when it is flowing at 50 cubic feet per second at Comfort.

BACTERIA COUNTS

Previously, Kerrville was allowed to discharge into the river any treated sewage that overflowed the 80-acre tract, regardless of whether the river was flowing or was dry.

"It was a very rigorous permit, but there are people who simply did not want a single drop of sewage to go into the river," says Hugh Yantis, executive director of the board. "These people wanted to go beyond 'what was reasonably attainable,'" he said.

Besides, Yantis said, it apparently is not Kerrville but septic tanks at homes and summer camps above Kerrville that are polluting the river.

"The bacteria counts below Kerrville are actually better than they are above Kerrville," he said.

The board considered regulation of septic tanks within a certain distance from the river, but county judges suggested "we really needed a broader effort, broader vision, and most of them wanted to go countywide," he said.

The first countywide orders on septic tanks above Kerrville will be issued in about three months, he said.

Septic tanks orders for every major lake, especially those used for municipal water supply, either have already been issued or will be issued within a year, Yantis said.

CARRY WASTE

Most people spend their time thinking about things other than where waste goes. Historically, rivers have carried waste.

Some rivers are 100 per cent treated sewage at certain spots during dry periods. This is true of the Trinity below Dallas and the San Antonio below that from the river, Yantis says. Neither of those rivers is used as a city water supply.

"I think in time the public will come to accept the fact that rivers should and must carry waste," Yantis says, "but I think the public is not going to accept having rivers carrying things which are harmful and which are preventable in a rational sense, the toxic chemical type things and the bacteria."

"I don't think the public will accept those. I don't think the public should. But the dilute chemicals like salt, which just comes off the land, and the organic matter, which comes from everywhere, I think they will be accepted."

PLEASING TO EYE

"So I think when the river is pleasing to the eye and there is no showing that any disease or transmission of any kind comes from the river, I think the public will be willing to hold at that point."

Actually, Texas rivers and lakes are cleaner than they were 20 and 30 years ago, says

MEN IN SERVICE

DANNY HOBSON

Danny M. Hobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Hobson, 1304 S. 12th St., Lamesa, Tex., recently was promoted to Army sergeant while serving with the 101st Airborne Division (Airborne) at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

A field wireman with Headquarters Battery of the Division Artillery, he entered the Army in November 1969 and was last stationed in Vietnam.

The 21-year-old soldier is a 1969 graduate of Lamesa High School.

AMBROSIO SANCHEZ

Sgt. Ambrosio Sanchez Jr., 23, whose parents live at 1508 Robin, Big Spring, recently was graduated from the Fifth U.S. Army and 1st Infantry Division Noncommissioned Officers Academy at Ft. Riley, Kan.

Sgt. Sanchez received four weeks of training which included instruction in drill and ceremonies, physical training, leadership, map reading, and weapons familiarization.

AMBROSIO SANCHEZ

Sgt. Sanchez is a team leader in Company A, 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry at Ft. Riley. He entered the Army in 1968 and received basic training at Ft. Polk, La. The sergeant is a 1968 graduate of Big Spring High School.

ROY JORDAN

Army Pvt. Roy B. Jordan, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will R. Jordan, Route 2, Lamesa, Tex., completed today a 10-week medical corpsman course at the U.S. Army Medical Training Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

He learned to perform routine patient care and treatment duties in combat areas, hospital units, dispensaries, clinics and other medical facilities. He also received instruction in the transportation of sick and wounded by ground, air and water means.

Pvt. Jordan entered the Army in June of this year and completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La.

He is a 1971 graduate of Lamesa High School, and attended Angelo State University.

RICHARD AXELRAD

Richard D. Axelrad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Axelrad of 3608 Parkway, Big Spring, Tex., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force.

Airman Axelrad, a medical laboratory specialist in the USAF hospital at Webb AFB, Tex., previously served at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

A 1971 graduate of Big Spring High School, he attended Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, Tex.

His wife, Linda, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Baker of 218 W. Howard, Hagerstown, Md.

COOK ON COOK

Navy Seaman Thomas M. Cook, son of Thomas E. Cook of 1316 Jennings, Big Spring, was commended by his commanding officer aboard the destroyer escort USS Cook for his part in the rescue of two downed pilots at sea.

While the Long Beach, California-homeported Cook was on plane guard duty for the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea, an F-4 jet aircraft crashed into the sea. The two pilots ejected successfully. The Cook maneuvered into a rescue position and Cook and others were lowered in a boat and rescued the downed fliers.

Pioneer Slaying Skyrockets Fear

COMFORT, Tex. (AP) — A justice of the peace in this Hill Country community says some women are staying in other places besides their homes following the beating and slaying death of Mrs. Gus Lindner, 83.

Mrs. Lindner was found dead Sunday by one of her friends, officials say.

Justice of the Peace Bernard Stielor said Mrs. Lindner was beaten and there was a deep gash in her throat, but he reported several valuable items were left in her house undisturbed.

Mrs. Lindner, whose husband died several years ago, lived alone, residents said. She was a member of one of the pioneer families of this Kendall County town.

Stielor said the town was shocked and some women have taken precautions, including temporarily moving to quarters other than their own homes.

Sheriff's deputies declined any comment on the case Monday. The Kendall County sheriff's department and the Texas Rangers are investigating.

ACTING TO ALLEVIATE WINTER FUEL SHORTAGE

End Import Limits On Heating Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting to alleviate a winter fuel shortage, the Nixon administration has ended import limits on heating oil and boosted total oil-import quotas east of the Rocky Mountains by more than half.

George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, Wednesday announced the decision to suspend controls on imports of widely used No. 2 heating oil through the first four months of this year, but said fuel-oil supplies will remain tight all winter.

COLD SEASON

Oil industry sources said, however, the move should head off any serious shortage through the rest of the cold season.

Lincoln also said the administration has increased the East Coast total import quota for 1973 by some 915,000 barrels a day, raising the 1972 quota of 1,785,000 barrels a day by about 51 per cent. The West Coast import quota the 1972 level of 717,000 barrels per day to 800,000 a day for 1973.

Lincoln said the moves might encourage importers who were saving their allocations to release them now.

Under the present system, importers are allocated shares of the total quota by a formula based mainly on their past imports.

Lincoln also said the administration is considering other major changes in the oil-import system, including the possible auctioning off of additional quotas beginning in 1974.

In predicting the continued shortage, Lincoln said domestic refineries started hiking their production too late. He also cited bottlenecks in the distribution system, environmental restraints and a lack of natural gas as contributing to the overall shortage.

Lincoln said refineries raised fuel-oil output by 5 per cent in the last two months, after the administration pointed to serious shortages in an 11-state region from Colorado to Ohio hit by a cold wave.

Marijuana Search Nets Fuse, Cap

Local police were forewarned that a citizen boarding a bus at Lamesa at 12:10 a.m. last night "smelled like marijuana." The possible dope user was met at this end at 12:55 a.m., searched and the police confiscated a blast cap and fuse, but no marijuana. No charges were filed.

Also contributing to the shortage, Lincoln said, was reaction to the government's freezing gasoline prices in 1971 at high levels and fuel-oil prices at low levels. As a result, he said, "we've been on a gasoline (production) binge all summer" while fuel-oil production lagged.

Car-Truck Crash

LAMPASAS, Tex (AP) — James David Payne, 20, of Copperas Cove was killed Wednesday night when his car collided with a truck driven by Diamond Allen of Brownwood.

Priority Projects Set By Chamber At Lamesa

LAMESA — The Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City development held their annual Program of Work meeting Tuesday night at the Lamesa High Student Center to determine the chamber's directions and goals in 1973.

The membership set three priority projects, including agribusiness development, economic development, and the establishment of the Community College Center in Lamesa.

The third goal is a new one to Lamesa and includes the chamber's pledge of full cooperation with HCJC and Midland College in establishing a full-time college curriculum offered in Lamesa.

Among other major goals for the chamber in 1973 is the completion of the downtown beautification project by early April and preparation for the 1974 Regional Science Fair to be held in Lamesa.

Some 75 representatives from all 21 of the chamber's major committees attended and spent the evening determining the specific goals for each committee.

Bob Capps, president of the organization, announced that the theme for 1973 is "The Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, leading a concerned committee." He encouraged all chamber members to pursue their concern in the community "by helping the chamber successfully complete their many projects."

INAUGURATION FESTIVITIES

'Salute To The States' Signal Official Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reception for Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew this evening followed by a "salute to the states" signal the official start of President Nixon's second-term inauguration festivities.

Nixon's wife, Pat, is scheduled to pinch-hit for him at the two receptions, with the President returning from Florida sometime before he takes the oath of office Saturday at noon in front of the Capitol.

While Nixon remained at his seaside resort in Key Biscayne studying the latest developments in the Paris peace talks, backers and foes of his war policies laid plans to parade in force Saturday, Inauguration Day.

PROTEST MARCH
The inaugural committee estimated that 50,000 out-of-towners will come for the weekend's events, most of them for the swearing-in and inaugural parade.

More than 180 of the estimated 300 surviving Medal of Honor recipients from as far back as World War I will be honored at the inauguration, beginning with a luncheon today and at a banquet and the inaugural balls Saturday. The banquet will be hosted by one of Nixon's biggest donors, W. Clement Stone, and emceed by Bob Hope.

Meanwhile, embittered veterans from the war in Vietnam are arriving to participate in a protest march from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial at the same time the President parades from the Capitol to the White House reviewing stand. Their planned routes do not cross.

Demonstration leaders predicted tens of thousands of anti-war sympathizers would come despite reports that a cease-fire is imminent and that Nixon may have an announcement about Vietnam as part of his inauguration address.

LOSING BATTLE
Tonight, Mrs. Nixon is expected to stay briefly at the Agnew's reception at the Smithsonian Museum of History and Technology, then appear at the salute to the states and their governors.

The salute will take place in the newest and grandest of the federal buildings, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. People attending inaugural events are given a 33-page booklet containing advice on what to wear to Agnew's reception and the balls to how to find a free bus shuttling back and forth between inaugural events and 12 hotels.

More than 40 information booths are located at hotels, airports and the train station with 500 volunteers prepared to assist visitors.

District police were reported losing their battle against souvenir hunters who already have confiscated more than half the distinctive signs banning parking for the parade.

Antiwar Rally To Draw Mob

West Texas Air Cooler

By The Associated Press
Cooler air moved through West Texas toward the east today as official observers posted a winter storm watch for the western mountains in New Mexico.

As the weak new Pacific front progressed, it set off scattered showers or thunderstorms in the Texas Panhandle from Amarillo northward and in the central part of the state around Fort Worth, Dallas, Denison, Greenville, Waxahachie, Temple, Paris and Palestine.

Damp air flowing inland from the Gulf of Mexico brought scattered showers also from around Palacios up the Upper Texas Coast and northward past Houston and College Station.

Skies cleared in West Texas behind the frontal zone. It was partly cloudy to cloudy in other sections, and early morning fog hung low around Victoria on the coastal plains.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip Hart and the Rev. Philip Berrigan head the speakers list for an antiwar rally which sponsors say is expected to draw tens of thousands for President Nixon's second inauguration.

Organizers say talk of a Vietnam cease-fire and a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam have not dampened enthusiasm for a weekend of antiwar activity, which has been endorsed by more than 30 members of Congress.

PROTEST
Nearly all the divergent groups planning to demonstrate emphasize peaceful mass protest as a means of pressuring Nixon to begin his second term with a quick end to the war.

Jerry Gordon, coordinator of the National Peace Action Coalition, said about 1,000 volunteer marshals will be trained to keep order at the rally on the grounds of the Washington Monument.

Predicting tens of thousands will travel to Washington Saturday, Gordon said Wednesday: "The momentum which had been developed has not been slowed by the temporary end to bombing above the 17th Parallel."

Gordon and Sidney Pack of the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice are organizing the biggest of the counter-inaugural activities.

HANDS BLOODY
This will be a march from Arlington Cemetery to the monument where the crowd will hear Hart, long a foe of the war; Berrigan, the antiwar priest recently released from prison; Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y.; Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga.; folksinger Pete Seeger; and 10 other speakers while Nixon takes the oath of office on Capitol Hill.

One National Park Service estimate predicts the antiwar crowd will grow to between 30,000 and 50,000.

Meanwhile, Rep. John J. Moakley, I-Mass., called on the Federal Communications Commission to force the three television networks to give as much broadcast time to peace activities as they could.

"If the networks can waste millions glorifying an isolated administration whose hands are still bloody with recent and unnecessary deaths, surely these networks can focus also on those who are in touch with a nation that longs to inaugurate peace for the first time in a decade," Moakley said.

CONSCIENCE
Vietnam Veterans Against the War announced plans for a separate protest near the Lincoln Memorial. Bart Savage, national coordinator of the group, said the two larger antiwar groups are likely to engage in "theatrics."

Savage said rumors of an imminent cease-fire agreement with the North Vietnamese is "just a sham to keep people away from the demonstrations." On Sunday, a coalition including Business Executives Move for Peace, will hold a religious service called "An Inauguration of Conscience."

Campaign Financing

A conservative estimate of the cost of the past presidential campaign is $75 million. Campaign expense reports from the two major candidates show President Nixon spent about $50 million and Senator McGovern spent about $25 million.

Few suppose those sums are complete and accurate.

Campaign financing without compromising the integrity of the candidates has been a concern of thoughtful politicians for years. Walter Hickey, who was fired for offending the President on several matters while he was Secretary of the Interior, has written:

"How can a man get elected in a country our size and remain free? How can he finance his campaign without hopelessly compromising his freedom?" Hickey's questions are entitled to be taken realistically.

It is therefore timely and prudent to see the direction taken by U. S. District Judge John Sirica in Washington. He is presiding over the Watergate case. He refused to agree to a deal offered by the Justice Department to trade a plea of guilty for dismissal of some charges against E. Howard Hunt, one of the principal defendants.

The judge has said the entire episode should be heard.

Earlier Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield had asked for a Senate investigation of the affair. He said the obvious:

"The question is not political, it is constitutional. At stake is the continued vitality of the electoral process in the governmental structure of the nation."

One chance for useful reform will be noted

No Timetable, Please

There continues to be multiplying signs that some sort of a cease-fire or negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war is in sight.

Some speculation has attempted to tie this to a specific timetable, notably the inauguration of President Nixon. Most of this doubtless is just that — speculation.

Surely, none would attempt to time this for theatrical purposes, for it is too vital a matter — something almost of sacred importance — to be tied to anything but humanity. Henry by all who file an income tax form this year. Attached to the form is a sheet wherein taxpayers may contribute $1 each for use in the next presidential elections. If everybody who files a return paid $1, the fund would have $87,842,000 based on last year's figures.

This could well influence the course of election contribution laws. If the fund is successful, it could be a logical next step to outlaw contributions to any presidential candidate.

Kissinger's "peace at hand" statement back in October already is — rightly or wrongly — suspect as a political ploy. Something certainly should be learned from that.

Everyone devoutly prays that the shooting, the bombings, the killings in Vietnam, can be stopped as soon as possible, and on a basis that they have a good chance to stay stopped. Efforts at settlement should not be connected with anything other than the issue at hand and the hope for the enduring welfare of all people.

Reporter At Four

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Somebody asked me the other day why I chose to become a reporter. I can't really remember because I reported my first big news story when I was four years old. And I reported it to my brother and a neighbor youth.

Grandpa was holding them by the scruff of the neck, keeping them from going down to a field where there had been a shooting. And I was an eye witness.

IT HAPPENED THIS way. Every Saturday, my brother and I shook throw rugs, mopped floors and dusted baseboards to get money to go to the Saturday movie. It was always either Tom Mix or Hopalong Cassidy. This particular Saturday, we were going with Edward, the neighbor youth.

About the time we got ready to leave, Aunt Elsie arrived with Little Harvey. Little Harvey, like me, was four. And Aunt Elsie stated emphatically that she did not allow him to attend violent Tom Mix movies. Mother called me aside and told me that I'd have to stay home and play with Little Harvey. My brother and Edward laughed and called me as they left the yard headed for the show.

Little Harvey and I decided to make the best of a rotten deal and took my brother's cars down to the field to build roads and mountains and "play cars." In the back of my head, I was halfway planning to lose about half of them. I was so angry. WE WERE sitting in the high grass playing cars when a man ran right by us, going as fast as he could go. He nearly stepped on us. We kind of rose up on our knees to see where he was going and saw a lawman's car jump the curb and start driving across the field. A lawman on the running board had a gun and was shooting.

He hit the man and the man fell against a mesquite tree. Little Harvey and I ran right up to him and he sank to his knees and died right in front of us. About then the lawmen arrived, and gasped, "Where did those kids come from?"

Grandpa was headed across the field in a run and he hustled Little Harvey and me back to the house. But the best was yet to come. My brother and Edward came out of the show and heard all the sirens and heard somebody say, "There's been a shooting on the Collier place." Well, they ran hard as they could run 15 blocks to the edge of town and then Grandpa wouldn't let them go down in the field.

SO I REPORTED my big news story and I enjoyed every minute of it. Aunt Elsie had a fainting spell. Little Harvey had more fun than he'd ever had in his life and my brother and Edward sulked for a month. Tom Mix was nothing like the real thing.

How It Changed

Art Buchwald

LOS ANGELES — The Super Bowl is over, but for those 12,000 of us from Washington, D.C., who traveled 3,000 to see it, the bitter memories still linger on.

FIRST YOU have to understand what it's like to be here for Super Bowl weekend in Los Angeles.

Up until then, people in California thought those of us who lived in Washington were small-town yokels who did nothing but raise taxes, waste billions of dollars and order bombing raids on Vietnam.

BUT WHEN THE Redskins won an opportunity to play in the Super Bowl, the image changed. Those of us who arrived last Thursday and Friday found ourselves feted as social lions. As fans of one of the teams to play in the greatest of all games, our phones never stopped ringing.

"Mr. Sinatra would like you for dinner."
"Dinah Shore wants you for tennis."
"Warren Beatty wishes to give a small party for you and your friends."

THE SUPER BOWL does things to people, and Californians could not do enough for their Washington brothers. It wasn't just the big people but also the little ones who treated the Washington fan with respect and awe. Taxi drivers forgot to turn on their meters, bellhops refused to take tips. In restaurants, if you identified yourself as a Redskin fan, they threw out a party of four in the middle of their meal and gave you their table.

IT WAS HEADY stuff. But after

Mounting Hope

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Rays of light showing that the Vietnam negotiations may be on the way to an agreement have again brought an atmosphere of optimism. This time there are signs that South Vietnam is ready to concur in the formula worked out by the United States and North Vietnam.

ALL THE problems will not be solved by signing a single document. Everything will depend upon whether there is really a will to peace — a readiness to abandon destruction and begin reconstruction. For there is a job of rebuilding which not only will cost money but will necessitate a demilitarization on both sides so that the damage in North and South Vietnam may be repaired. The war has been going on for years now, and the devastation has been extensive.

IF NORTH AND South Vietnam are in earnest in wishing to stop the fighting and turn their attention to the plight of the civilian population, a great deal of help will be needed. Homes and buildings, transportation lines and highways, port facilities and industries have been under longtime fire. The United States will render financial aid, and other countries ought also to be thinking of the humanitarian relief that will be required. But the essential thing at the moment is to be sure that war has been truly given up by both sides and that the peace objective is genuine.

OUR GOVERNMENT has welcomed the influence that undoubtedly has been exerted in recent weeks by France, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and Red China in the effort to get a cease-fire and a settlement that will be satisfactory to North and South Vietnam.

One thing is plain — there is nothing to be gained by more fighting. The President has halted the bombing of North Vietnam as a signal that America is anxious to cooperate with all parties at the peace table.

THE NEGOTIATIONS have been interrupted by recesses because South Vietnam has not felt safe with a proposed agreement that was as abstract as the one presented in October.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

An anti-pollution commercial on television uses several Biblical quotations. It ends with one from Amos 7:17, "Thou shalt die in a polluted land." I am not questioning the Bible's intention to warn us against pollution of our land, but does this mean that pollution will end in death? I think they've taken the quotation out of context. Do you agree? T.R.

Physical pollution of our land is linked closely with the pollution of our spirit. When we are careless about our landscape, chances are our "soul-cape" is in trouble too.

First of all, I agree the quote is question, was no less remarkable for moral corruption than for prosperity and military might. Amos had in mind Assyria's idolatrous condition; this was the pollution that marked them from the true worship of God's people. As God often has, He was here using a pagan culture to teach a lesson.

Perhaps the worst kind of pollution is the tolerance of injustice, oppression, and immorality. I'm far more concerned about this sort of pollution in America than the percentage of carbon monoxide in the air — serious though that may be. Secondly, don't fear the extinction of the human race because of a compounded problem of pollution. No abuse of His universe will take God by surprise, or alter His timetable. A movie script once suggested that our race would end with a couple on a beach — the rest having been annihilated by some bomb. Not at all! The Bible says the world will end with the return of Christ, and His establishment of a righteous administration.

That is the Christian hope, and while we work diligently to be better caretakers of our planet, we take heart from the Gospel's promise for a whole new world one day.

Those Varicose Veins

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What's the proper procedure to cope with superficial varicose veins? I wear support hose, and am very busy.

I have been to two doctors and two specialists — I have pain in the back of both legs where the veins are.

What I want to know is whether I should have them surgically removed — dried or stripped? If I have them stripped, will the reaction be what I still have to wear support hose? And how long would I have to stay in the hospital? — Mrs. R.L.P.

You've been to four doctors? What do they advise you to do? After all, their advice, after examining you, would be more valid than mine since I have not.

In general, only relatively minor varicose veins are treated by injections — I interpret that as your meaning of "dried." A sclerosing solution is injected to "dry up" or close off the veins through which circulation is so sluggish as to be doing more harm than good.

When the veins are in such condition that pain in the legs becomes a problem, then it is more usual to remove them by stripping. That means a small incision at top and bottom of a section of varicose vein, and the vein is drawn out lengthwise, so the remaining scars are very small.

It has another advantage or two over sclerosing: the injected or sclerosed veins may leave dark streaks on the legs; and in some cases the veins may gradually open again later.

With any method, the hospital stay is brief — a day or two. After that you are advised to be mildly active and to walk about, to encourage circulation in the other veins which take over the work of those that failed. Mild household chores, therefore, would be approved. Your doctor can best give you more specific instructions about how much activity will be helpful for you.

Whether you will have to continue to use support hose after the faulty veins have been removed will depend very considerably on the condition of the remaining veins in your legs.

Such hose does not correct varicose veins or improve them; it can to some degree retard the progress of varicosity; it is primarily a matter of comfort. If your legs are less painful or tire less easily when you wear such hose, that's your answer. Wear it. If you do not require support for comfort, then you can get along without support hose. Best advice I can give about that is to wait and see.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister-in-law's baby is six months old. It's a normal baby and all, but its tongue is always sticking out. It's as though its tongue was too big for its mouth.

It is not sickly or anything, but it is always sticking out and she sucks on it every so often. Is this anything that should be paid attention to or should we ignore it? — Mrs. J.M.K.

The tike has probably just discovered her tongue and is maneuvering it as part of the suckling instinct.

While I doubt there is any problem here, I would advise you to call it to the doctor's attention at the next visit so you can be reassured.

Gall And Greatness

William F. Buckley Jr.

By SMITH HEMPSTONE

WASHINGTON — Those who have known the bitterness of defeat, disappointment and despair place a special value on the quality of loyalty.

SO IT WAS with Charles de Gaulle: He never completely trusted any Frenchman who had not rallied to him and to the cause of Free France in 1940. These men — the Malrauxs, Guichards, Poccarts and Freys — remained personally loyal to De Gaulle throughout his long life and he rewarded them with honors and responsibilities. Other men he simply tolerated or used.

And so it is with Richard Nixon, who so much admires De Gaulle and so little resembles him. The years between 1960 and 1968 must have been perfect hell for a man of Nixon's intelligence and driving ambition. For a man who plainly relishes power both for its trappings and for its essence, the losses to John Kennedy in 1960 and to Pat Brown in 1962 must have been pure wormwood and gall.

BUT THROUGHOUT those long years in the political wilderness, Nixon kept the faith and gradually attracted to him others whose views matched his own. The tenets of the Nixonian faith are not easily defined and seem to rest upon as many negatives as positives. On the positive side is the traditional American emphasis on the virtues of hard work, frugality and patriotism. On the negative side is a distrust of the intellectual community, of the press, of the Brahmin caste.

In his first administration, the Nixon absolutists — the Haldemans, Ehrlichmans, Colsons and Zieglers — established their ascendancy within the White House staff. Now, as a consequence of Nixon's governmental reshuffle (made in the name of decentralization but actually a centralizing operation), their influence and authority are extending outward into the various government departments and agencies and down to the second and third levels.

LIBERALS, BECAUSE of their deep and abiding intestinal distrust of Nixon both as a man and as a politician, view this process with considerable alarm. But it is really too early to say whether the ascendancy of the Nixon loyalists is a good thing or a bad thing. For the moment, it is simply a fact.

Lord knows, the federal bureaucracy is overblown, inefficient, remote and unresponsive to either the presidency or the people. If it can be shaken up and resuscitated, then not just Nixon but his successors and the nation will have been served.

BUT THERE IS a danger in all this which, for lack of a better term, might be called personalism. Nixon — and any president — has a right to the loyalty of his subordinates. But that loyalty is owed primarily to the office of the presidency and to the Constitution of the United States, rather than to Richard Nixon personally.

By insisting on conformity in everything from dress-styles to intellectual attitudes, a president robs himself of options and deprives the country of the labors of some of its most creative citizens. If he sees and listens only to those whose vision of America and of life is identical to his own, he may implement his policies more efficiently, but he limits his own capacity for growth.

A PRESIDENT OF the United States can be and ought to be a big man. He can afford, precisely because he is so powerful, to be generous. There is no need for — and ought to be no room for — meanness, smallness or vindictiveness within the White House. And yet that is precisely the odor which at present exudes from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue: the sour rectitude of the self-righteous.

Yes, Leave Will

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

High school pupils may puzzle over which came first — the chicken or the egg. But scientists don't. They know the egg came first. Because birds themselves developed from reptile creatures that were laying eggs millions of years before the first bird existed on earth.

Should you make out a will, even though you have only a small estate? Yes, indeed. For even though it is small, court action may keep it from your heirs for as long as three years — if you leave no will.

How long should your sofas and stuffed chairs last? A national survey indicated that most American families believe such furniture needs to be replaced about every 7 to 10 years. My mother once kept a sofa for 30 years, however, having it redone from time to time, and some of the children protested when she finally got rid of it.

If a government check for a member of your family arrives after his death, it's illegal for you to cash it. The check should be sent back to the government agency that issued it, along with information about the death. The government agency then will decide what portion of the check, if any, should be sent to survivors.

Quotable notables: "I shall never permit myself to stoop so low as to hate any man." — Booker T. Washington, Negro educator and leader.

The downward dollar: Anyone with any sense today is worried about inflation, which has ranged between 1.1 and 6.9 per cent yearly over the last 10 years. Just what does inflation cost us? Well, if we have an annual inflation of 2 per cent for the next 10 years, the present 1973 dollar will be worth 82 cents in 1983; if the annual rate is 4 per cent, it will be worth 67 cents; if the annual rate is 6 per cent, the 1983 dollar will be worth only 54 cents.

HAIG FLIES TO PHNOM PENH

'Peace Is Very Near'

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. left Saigon today after two days of talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu on the new peace agreement draft worked out last week by Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho. Before returning to Washington, Haig was visiting Phnom Penh, Vientiane and Bangkok to brief the governments of Cambodia, Laos and Thailand on the present status of the peace negotiations.

RESERVATIONS
Thieu was reported to still have reservations about the protocols or technical instruments to bring the peace agreement into being, and some political matters also appeared still unresolved. Despite this, Thieu's foreign minister, Tran Van Lam said in an interview published Wednesday that "peace is very near."

Lam's comment seemed to indicate that the remaining issues could be resolved quickly.

Haig's conferences with Thieu appeared to clear the way for another round of meetings in Paris next week between Kissinger and Tho, possibly followed by the initialing of the peace agreement.

From Saigon, Haig flew first to Phnom Penh and met with President Lon Nol.

In Bangkok, U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger told the American Chamber of Commerce that U.S. military strength will be maintained to scaled down when the Vietnam War ends, but sufficient strength will be maintained to prevent violations of the peace agreement. There are now 49,000 American troops stationed in Thailand, carrying on the air war in Vietnam.

CEASE-FIRE

The draft agreement calls for a withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam within 60 days of signing, but there is no prohibition against U. S. forces in Thailand or against U. S. naval forces in the area.

Also in Bangkok, Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, the prime minister of Thailand, ordered his armed forces to go on full alert along the borders with Cambodia and Laos in the event of a cease-fire in Vietnam.

South Vietnamese sources said among the technical protocols that in their view need clarification is the one on release of prisoners of war.

The sources said Hanoi in effect also wants to lay claim to the territory captured by North Vietnamese troops or contested for 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Viet Peace Conference Deadlocked

PARIS (AP) — The semi-public Vietnam peace conference, deadlocked for four years while parallel secret negotiations made headway, was indefinitely suspended today by agreement of the four delegations.

There was no immediate explanation for the decision to suspend the conference. But it evidently was linked with progress made in the secret negotiations.

The United States said before today's session broke up that there are "grounds for encouragement" in the search for an end to the Vietnam war.

U.S. delegate Heyward Isham told newsmen at the end of the 174th session: "Both sides in the plenary agreed that liaison officers would meet in order to fix the date of the next meeting. We bid you farewell for the moment and we will let you know in due course."

The secret talks by experts of the United States and North Vietnam continued elsewhere and were not affected by the suspension of the semipublic conference.

The conference opened in January 1968 and has provided mainly a forum for speech-making by the four delegations. The Viet Cong and the Saigon government took part in the conference but were excluded from the more meaningful secret talks initiated by Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho in 1969.

North Vietnamese spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le told newsmen the Communist side wanted to meet as usual next Thursday but the United States and Saigon delegations refused to set a new date.

Contrary to Hanoi's usual practice, however, North Vietnam did not protest the suspension and agreed to let the liaison officers set the date for the next meeting.

"Negotiations have made progress in the judgment of both sides," Isham said, adding that "continued determination and seriousness" remain necessary for further progress.

Isham called on the delegations to avoid the polemics that have marked most of their previous sessions and make "the constructive effort" necessary for restoring peace.

Denver Rodeo Off To Great Start

DENVER, Colo. — Nearly 50,000 spectators jammed the Denver coliseum for the first six performances of the National Western Stock Show rodeo, in which contestants are vying for more than $116,000 in prize money, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Rodeo contestants are competing in two go-rounds in each of six events; women barrel racers face three rounds of competition.

Richest event is steer wrestling, with $24,304 at stake. Winner of the first go-round was Ted Reed, Sylmar, Calif., who posted a 3.6 second time to collect $2,349.

First go-round winner in calf roping was Ernie Taylor, Hugo, Okla., who finished his tie in 10.9 seconds, winning $2,311.

Ken Luman, Visalia, Calif., and Jim Rodriguez, Paso Robles, Calif., took the first go of team roping with a sizzling 7.0 second time. Each won $701.

TOOMBS QUESTIONS

Judge Glenn Toombs, Gall, questioned naming any Big Spring people to any council committee since Big Spring and Howard County weren't members, but he voted with the other county judges for the action after he found out it met requirements.

However, neither Howard County or Big Spring, or any other agency in this county were among those receiving the long list of approved grants for government funds.

The council approved resolutions for grant applications for correctional facilities and architectural planning for the Reeves County jail in Pecos; a grant application by the Midland County Commissioners Court for Midland County public defender project; Ector County's application for funding of the Ector County district attorney's investigator.

Echeverria Plans First Juarez Visit

JUAREZ, Mex. (AP) — President Luis Echeverria plans to tour industrial facilities and meet with several American border-state governors in Juarez Jan. 27-28.

The visit will be Echeverria's first to Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex., since his election in 1970.

Gov. Bruce King of New Mexico said in Albuquerque Wednesday he has accepted an invitation from Chihuahua Gov. Oscar Flores and the mayor of Juarez to attend a private luncheon and reception with Echeverria Jan. 28.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe of Texas said in Austin he has not yet decided whether to attend.

Arizona Gov. Jack Williams could not be reached early today for his plans.

King said his brother, Sam, would attend the reception with him.

Sam King lives at Stanley and runs the King Brothers ranching properties. He is the father of David King, New Mexico's Planning officer.

Gov. King said he hoped to talk with Echeverria about establishing a port of entry from Chihuahua state into New Mexico at Anapra, west of El Paso.

King said he and Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., had paved the way for American approval of the port.

"The holdup," King said, "is in the presidential cabinet area" of Mexico.

"No agreement has been worked out" between the two countries' governments, he said.

King said there was agreement on the port between the governments of Chihuahua state and New Mexico.

Eight Nominated For Directorate

BORGER — Eight area business, civic and agricultural leaders have been nominated for election as directors-at-large for Water, Inc. at the organization's sixth annual membership meeting slated Feb. 17 at Amarillo, according to Fritz Thompson, committee chairman.

Receiving nomination, were A. L. Black, Friona; D. G. "Bill" Nelson, Jerome Johnson, Edward G. Weber and K. B. "Tex" Watson, all of Amarillo; John J. Kendrick, Brownfield; Jim Ed Waller, Lubbock; and Bill Clayton, Springlake, Watson and Kendrick are both former presidents of Water, Inc. Waller is currently serving the organization as treasurer and Clayton, a state representative, recently resigned as Water, Inc., executive director.

The annual Water, Inc., meeting will be conducted at Amarillo's Villa Inn on 1-40 East.

Area Council Bridles At Local Non-Participation

LAMESA — In their annual application with the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development for planning assistance of the 1954 Housing Act; approved obtaining a doctor, partially underwritten by the government, for Sanderson for a two-year period; considered and approved a resolution authorizing the executive director to file an application for a State of Texas Planning Assistance grant; authorized the director to sign agreements for a retirement plan and group life and health insurance plan; approved negotiating a contract with Koepsell-Girard and Associates for this year; approved a proposal to allow the council to conduct a public library study for the Permian Basin region; appointed the Ancillary Manpower Planning board; and named five members to the regional police training project's governing board.

PIONEER ON OUTSIDE

Although Howard County pioneered training law enforcement officers in the Permian Basin, it was not included in the training program currently approved. Board members named were from Midland, Ector and Andrews law enforcement agencies.

Bill Cooksey, former sheriff of Terrell County, was named the member to the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee.

Judge Barbara Culver, Midland, who has served as chairman of the council this year, was cited for her efforts, and it was announced that she had been nominated as a possible member from Texas of the National Council of Regional Governmental Councils.

NEW CHAIRMAN
Named as new chairman of the Permian Basin group was Ward County Judge Chester

SOUVENIRS—Mrs. Mimi Madden, member of the inauguration press staff, shows some of the souvenirs which people can buy of President Nixon's second inauguration Wednesday in Washington. Nixon will take the oath of office Saturday.

Syrian Held In Alamo City

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A man identifying himself as an ex-Syrian army officer remained in custody today after being called a "security risk" and a "terrorist" by United States prosecutors.

U.S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttles denied a writ of habeas corpus Wednesday for Mandouh Barbour, 42, who the U.S. Immigration Department is seeking to deport back to Syria.

Barbour says he will be killed if he returns.

According to accounts here, the Syrian government claims Barbour escaped the country with $130,000 or more in public funds, but Barbour claims he escaped a terrorists' camp to which he had been banished after he had fallen in disfavor.

He has been held since May while the deportation case is pending.

He testified Wednesday he was forced to sell a Cadillac he bought here in order to pay attorneys.

Don't Be Too Sure It'll Get You In WASHINGTON (AP) — If you haven't received an invitation to President Nixon's inaugural, don't feel snubbed.

If you have received one, don't be too sure it'll get you in.

The sweet smell of success—translated into money contributed in chunks to the right political candidates—is probably the only foolproof way to get a choice invitation to the post-inaugural events.

But as thousands of Americans found out, not all invitations are equal.

About 200,000 persons opened over-sized, cream-colored envelopes to find engraved invitations to "attend and participate" in the inauguration. However, small slips of paper inside the envelopes said the suitable-for-framing invitations are only souvenirs.

SELECT GROUPS
An even more select group of 40,000, mostly Republicans, got the real thing—conventional-size engraved invitations on heavy ivory-tinted stock. But they'll still have to shell out $40 each for a ball ticket Saturday night or $10 to attend the reception for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew this evening.

The most "in" invitations are to the swearing-in ceremony at the Capitol Saturday afternoon.

These invitations—engraved on stiff, parchment-like white paper—are truly different: no money is required if you accept.

Invitations to the oath-taking are being handled by the Joint Congressional Committee on Inaugural Ceremonies, a bipartisan body whose co-chairmen are Sens. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., and Howard W. Cannon, D- Nev. There are bench seats for 19,200 and standing room for 60,000 more.

THREE-DAY GALA
The President and vice president have an allotment of about 5,000 places. Each senator is given 155-13 seats and 142 standing-room spots. Each House member gets nine seats and 57 standee spaces.

Automatically on the list are Cabinet members, the Supreme Court, the diplomatic corps, presidential electors, state senators, Medal of Honor winners and members of Congress.

Powell Moore, press director of the Inaugural Committee, says the "souvenir" invitation list is basically composed of persons who worked for the party but probably don't want to come to Washington.

County's Roads Damaged Slightly

County road crews are busy patching spots in asphalt that crumbled during cold weather last week.

All but 30 miles of paved county roads were winterized, and Marvin Hanson, road administrator, said these roads fared better. But even winterized roads were damaged some, Hanson added.

Last week's weather damaged city streets and highways including IS 20 as well, he noted.

TUMMY-SLEEPING EVIL POINTED OUT BY DOC

DALLAS (AP) — Hey Mom. Don't let that baby sleep on his tummy unless you want him to turn out an ugly kid, a physician says.

Mothers who let their babies sleep on their tummies risk having them develop protruding shoulder blades, protruding front teeth, a receding chin and generally bad posture, Dr. Hal A. Huggins of Colorado Springs, Colo., told a dental convent on here.

"What are our ideas towards proper development?" Dr. Huggins asked, then answered his own question: "Don't sleep the baby on its back, you'll flatten the back of his head. Turn him over and mash his face."

But Huggins added: "Back sleepers' backs conform to what they're resting on — flats beds. Their shoulder blades are flat and they stand straight."

Huggins, who presented findings from a five-year study to the Dallas Mid-Winter Dental Clinic, said he examined orthodontic patients and found that their postures were slouched forward and their shoulder blades stuck out "like wings."

On the other hand, he said, side sleepers had "one shoulder blade that stuck out" and tummy-sleepers had "receding chins, severe anterior crowding and narrow faces."

"Tummy sleeping, with certain reservations, creates three curves in the spine, side sleeping produces one, and back sleeping produces a straight spine," he said.

Huggins also said that when a child sleeps regularly with his face resting on his hand there could be nasal deformation, crooked front teeth and incorrect cross-biting on the same side.

Aged Widow Starts Vigil At Embassy

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Rebecca Shelley, a grandmotherly figure in black who has fought war for nearly 60 years, has taken up a lonely, chilly vigil at the American Embassy here. She plans to protest the Vietnam war until her 88th birthday Saturday.

Mrs. Shelley, who lives on a farm near Battle Creek, Mich., turned up Wednesday noon at the gates of the embassy, wearing a protest sign attached to her coat. The sign read: "Mourning the war dead. Remproting the crimes of my people."

Because Islamabad is a special city built for diplomats and off the beaten track of most Pakistanis, Mrs. Shelley drew little notice, but she said she planned to keep her vigil at the gate for one hour daily until Saturday. Then she will go back to her task of trying to meet President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto to persuade him to let the Pakistani military be tried before an international tribunal for war crimes in Bangladesh.

"I am for mourning before all the embassies of the world," said Mrs. Shelley, who despite her age remains remarkably vigorous. "I am not for throwing stones at embassies."

Embassy officials and employees went in and out of the five-story white building without commenting about the tiny figure in black.

Veterans Asking Old Holidays Back

Veterans of World War I Barracks 1474, its auxiliary, also veterans from World War II are circulating petitions asking a return to two traditional dates for holidays involving veterans.

The petitions ask Congress to reinstate Memorial Day (or Decoration Day) to May 30 and Veterans Day (formerly Armistice Day) to Nov. 11.

Members of the veterans' groups, particularly the WWI veterans, are carrying copies of the petition, but those who would like more information or want to sign the petition may contact W. E. Moren, Barracks 1474 commander, at Western Auto Store. The signing is scheduled for completion this week.

Deliberating Fate Of Accused Killer

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — District court jurors deliberating the fate of accused killer Fred F. Young Jr. resumed efforts to reach a verdict today.

They received Young's case shortly after mid-afternoon Wednesday and halted deliberations at 11 p.m. without reaching a verdict.

Young was tried in the slaying of 3-year-old Leslie Bowman last January at Kountz during a robbery of an antique shop owned by Mabel McCormick, who also was killed.

He already has been convicted of murdering Mrs. McCormick and assessed a five-year probation sentence.

A companion, Dennis Ray Anderson, pleaded guilty to the murder of Mrs. McCormick and is serving a life sentence.

Prosecutor Curtis Owen told the jury Wednesday to dismiss Young's defense that he only loaded antiques into a truck and that Anderson killed the Bowman child. In his final arguments, Owen called Young and Anderson "two cool-hand Lukes."

Defense lawyer Joe Goodwin said, "With Young, we're not dealing with any great brain or brave person. Anderson committed the crime and Fred, in his stupidity, stood there like a ninny and loaded the antiques like Anderson told him."

Owen told the jury, "Young's testimony reminds me of some Hollywood production. When we begin to crowd him on what happened to the baby, he gets out of it by saying he 'flipped out' and can't remember."

Defense lawyer Mike Matheny said, "Fred Young is as much a victim of Anderson's insanity as Mrs. McCormick or the baby. If you find Young guilty,

Big Response For Courses

Several graduate level courses were assured for the Big Spring Education Center after initial registration Wednesday evening.

Only one under-graduate course, (methods, observation and materials for elementary teachers) appears to have a good chance of sufficient registration for a class. It would be offered on Mondays with Dolly Wilkins as instructor.

Courses assured include ED-5310 (Educational Statistics), Dr. Harry Davis, instructor, meets Mondays; ED 5316 (Educational Sociology), Dr. Wayne Bonner, meets Thursday; ED 5306 (Advanced Testing and Measurements), Dr. Bonner, instructor, meets Saturday morning. There is a good possibility that PE 5302 (Problems in Physical Education), Harold Wilder, instructor, Saturday mornings, will be held. More enrollments are needed if Ed 6308 (Advance Studies in Child Growth and Development) is to be offered.

Verl I. Green, education officer at Webb AFB and director of the center, urged those interested to call him (7-2511-Ext. 2464) to get information about the courses and registration. Friday, Jan. 26, is the deadline for registering. All courses, which are offered through Sul Ross University, carry full credit as if they were on campus.

CARE Mobilizes To Help Nation

CARE is mobilizing massive aid to stunned survivors of the earthquake that leveled Managua, the capital of Nicaragua. Thousands of men, women and children lie dead in the ruins, and an estimated 325,000 others have fled in terror into the surrounding countryside.

CARE's staff in Nicaragua is already distributing vital aid to these survivors. They are hungry, homeless and destitute. Even in the destroyed city, CARE has been officially asked to feed 120,000 for two to three weeks. Outside the city a vast mass of humanity pleads for the aid that will mean survival.

You can help save the lives of people in agony by sending a contribution to: CARE-NICARAGUA EARTHQUAKE FUND, care of CARE, Inc., 109 North Akard, Dallas, Tex. 75201.

19-Year-Old Is Charged Here

A 19-year-old Big Spring man was arrested by Highway Patrolman John D. Ferguson on suspicion of possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs Wednesday afternoon.

Ferguson arrested the suspect one mile north of Big Spring on Farm Road 700, the sheriff's log shows.

The suspect was in county jail this morning in lieu of posting two bonds of $5,000 each set by Peace Justice - Gus Ochotorena.

Vote Machines Bribery Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — A former law firm. He said Caldwell was hired to lobby for Shoup in Austin and was "very active" in trying to defeat approval of punch card devices in the legislature.

Schott said Chandler was hired as what he called a "back door lobbyist" for the same purpose.

Chandler has testified that, as a favor to Ramsey, his office billed Shoup for nonperformed legal services, cashed three checks and turned the money over to Ramsey.

Schott said he authorized the sending of three checks to Chandler "to please" Ramsey. Schott testified, because Ramsey was in charge of Shoup firm hired Baytown lawyer George Chandler and Wiley machine purchases by Harris Caldwell, member of a Houston County.

LEGISLATORS QUICKLY ADVANCE

'Open Meetings' Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Both houses of the Texas legislature took a quick step Wednesday toward wiping out secret sessions of governmental bodies.

In a surprise action Wednesday night the House State Affairs Committee cleared for floor debate a bill that would revise the 1967 "open meetings" law and make it tougher on officials who keep the public locked out while dealing in the public's business.

FIRST CLEARED
The measure was the first cleared by either house for final debate in the 63rd Legislature.

Earlier Wednesday the Senate adopted a revised set of rules that tried to open a little more the executive sessions held on governor's appointments. From now on the committee sessions on nominations will be open, the full Senate debate will be secret, but the final public vote will be public. Presently the final vote is secret also.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby also won his first test of power when senators voted 25-4 not to take away the lieutenant governor's authority to appoint committees. The new Senate rules let the lieutenant governor name all committee chairman and appoint all committee members including a certain number of members who were on the same committee last session. Opponents wanted a seniority system, similar to that adopted by the 4th special session last year.

SURRENDER
"We have surrendered the independence of the Senate to the lieutenant governor," said Sen. H. J. Blanchard, Lubbock.

"These rules do not constitute reform, they are mainly a reenactment of the rules that we have been criticized for in the past years."

Hobby immediately announced his appointments to the nine committees and six subcommittees. He said they represented a good geographic cross section and "the continuity of service is an obvious asset, which is reflected in my assignment of senior senators."

The portion of the rules that opened the final vote on nominations was adopted after an effort by Sen. Bill Moore, Bryan, to close all consideration of nominations failed 14-16. An amendment by Sen. Oscar Mauzy, Dallas, to make public both the debate and vote on nominations failed 23-7.

PRESS PRESSURE
Another amendment by Mauzy to limit filibusters to 24 hours failed 25-5. Members of the House State Affairs Committee were told Wednesday night that the open meetings bill revision was supported by the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association, the Texas Association of Broadcasters, the Texas Daily Newspaper Association, the Texas Press Association, the United Press International Managing Editors Association, and the Texas Association of Sigma Delta Chi.

"We feel the law needs to be strengthened," said Jack Douglas, managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, who spoke as president of the Texas AP Managing Editors Association. "We feel this bill will help the news media fulfill their responsibility to keep the public informed."

Rep. Carl Parker, Port Arthur, House sponsor, said the revised open meetings act was needed because the 1967 act was being bypassed, at least in spirit, by many city councils, county commissioners and other governmental bodies.

LOBBY LAW
The House committee recommended passage of the bill on a 14-7 vote after an effort to send it to subcommittee failed 12-8. The same committee sent a bill that would open most official records to the public to a subcommittee for three weeks study.

Portion Of Funds Voted For Use In Missions

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Church of God voted Sunday to budget at least one per cent of its total funds to the WMS national Project Extra for unexpected mission needs.

At its regular monthly meeting Sunday night, the group also elected new officers to begin terms in April. These include Mrs. Paul Chappell, vice president; Mrs. Harold Ingram, secretary; Mrs. Lee Castle, treasurer.

Also, Mrs. Truett Thomas and Mrs. Vera Blackburn, missionary education co-directors; and Mrs. Edwin R. Beasley, spiritual life director.

Mrs. Thomas reported that the local church gave a total of $765.90 to the Christ's Birthday Offering. A total of $6,736 was collected from churches across the state for the offering. In other action, the group changed its regular meeting place from the church to homes of the members.

Hit-Run Death

HOUSTON (AP) — Police said a car that failed to stop struck and killed Jose Merced Lara, 21, of San Marcos on Houston's west side as he tried to thumb a ride on the Katy Freeway near midnight Wednesday. Officers were searching for the driver.

Some Texas Legislators Openly Critical Of Anti-Crime Plans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Some Texas legislators were openly critical today of the tough anti-crime program recommended by Gov. Dolph Briscoe in his first speech to lawmakers.

With the new governor speaking mainly in generalities on other subjects, legislators also awaited further detailed proposals.

Briscoe recommended:
—A law allowing police to use "electronic surveillance" wiretapping, with safeguards to protect law-abiding citizens from the invasion of their privacy.

including the murder of policemen and firemen. The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled the death penalty unconstitutional because it has not been applied consistently.

Briscoe said he would submit legislation later to revise the state's drug laws and he opposed any early action to reduce penalties for marijuana possession.

DRUG LAWS
"After we have a complete revision of our drug laws — after we have acted to cut off the drug supplies — after we have agreed on effective methods of dealing with pushers in the harshest way we can — then, and only then, should we consider a reduction of the penalty for first possession of a small amount of marijuana," he said.

Two Solons Question Need For One-Term Lid On Daniel

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A key item of House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.'s "reform" program met opposition in committee Wednesday as two members questioned the need for a one-term limit on Daniel and all future speakers.

Reps. Jim Vecchio, Dallas Democrat, and Ray Hutchinson, a Dallas Republican, both challenged the one-term limit bill at a hearing before the House Rules Committee.

Rep. Ron Waters of Houston, the youngest member of the House, issued a statement sharply attacking Briscoe's stand on marijuana and the death penalty.

"Overwhelmingly, the evidence points toward there being no link between marijuana and other drugs. For this reason the governor is wrong not to treat marijuana as a separate matter. If the governor really wants to get the hard drug pushers off the street, his first step would be to correct the hypocrisy surrounding the marijuana laws," Waters said.
