

POWs WILL BE FLOWN NONSTOP FROM HANOI TO PHILIPPINES

'Project Homecoming' Unveiled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today operations for bringing out U.S. prisoners of war from Hanoi "will start this next week," with more than 100 to be home within two weeks.

landing in Vientiane as indicated Wednesday by presidential advisor, Henry A. Kissinger, in outlining terms of the peace agreement. "Present plans do not call for a stop in Vientiane," Laird said.

U.S. officials working on the POW release plan said this was likely to occur sometime near the end of the two-week period following the signing of the peace agreement.

But later in the program, when questioned specifically as to when the POWs can be expected back in this country, he refused to give a specific date, saying only that "more than 100 prisoners will be back in the United States within the first two weeks."

These men are expected to arrive in the North Vietnamese capital in about a week. Under the terms of the peace agreement to be signed Saturday in Paris, all American POWs in Indochina are to be returned within 60 days and roughly equal installments at two week intervals.

over Vientiane rather than the more direct easterly flight pattern over the open sea to the Philippines.

U.S. Navy helicopters and minesweeping ships now in the Western Pacific are "moving on station at the present time," he said. But he added that, before clearing operations can begin, a meeting is required between U.S. and North Vietnamese officials, apparently to discuss the mine-sweeping plan and to exchange navigational charts.

Rogers Heads For Paris To Sign Historic Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers left for Paris today to sign a historic Vietnam agreement which he said would "usher in an era of peace."

"Very soon, as a result of these agreements, the world will be in peace for the first time in a long time," Rogers said.

Aides said that in signing the intricate Vietnam agreements, Saturday, Rogers will be affixing his signature a total of 72 times.

LBJ Laid To Rest As Rain Soaks Texas Soil He Loved

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — In soil soaked by a rain he would have enjoyed, former President Lyndon B. Johnson was buried in a small ranch cemetery next to the parents he loved so much.

more than once by Johnson to "preach my funeral," he said, and he quoted the former president as saying, "I love this country where people know when you are sick, love you while you are alive, and miss you when you die."

before the services, the sun broke through momentarily and old friends smiled knowingly: it has been a long-standing joke in Texas that Johnson always got what he wanted, and that included good weather.

Pancake Meal Is Awaited

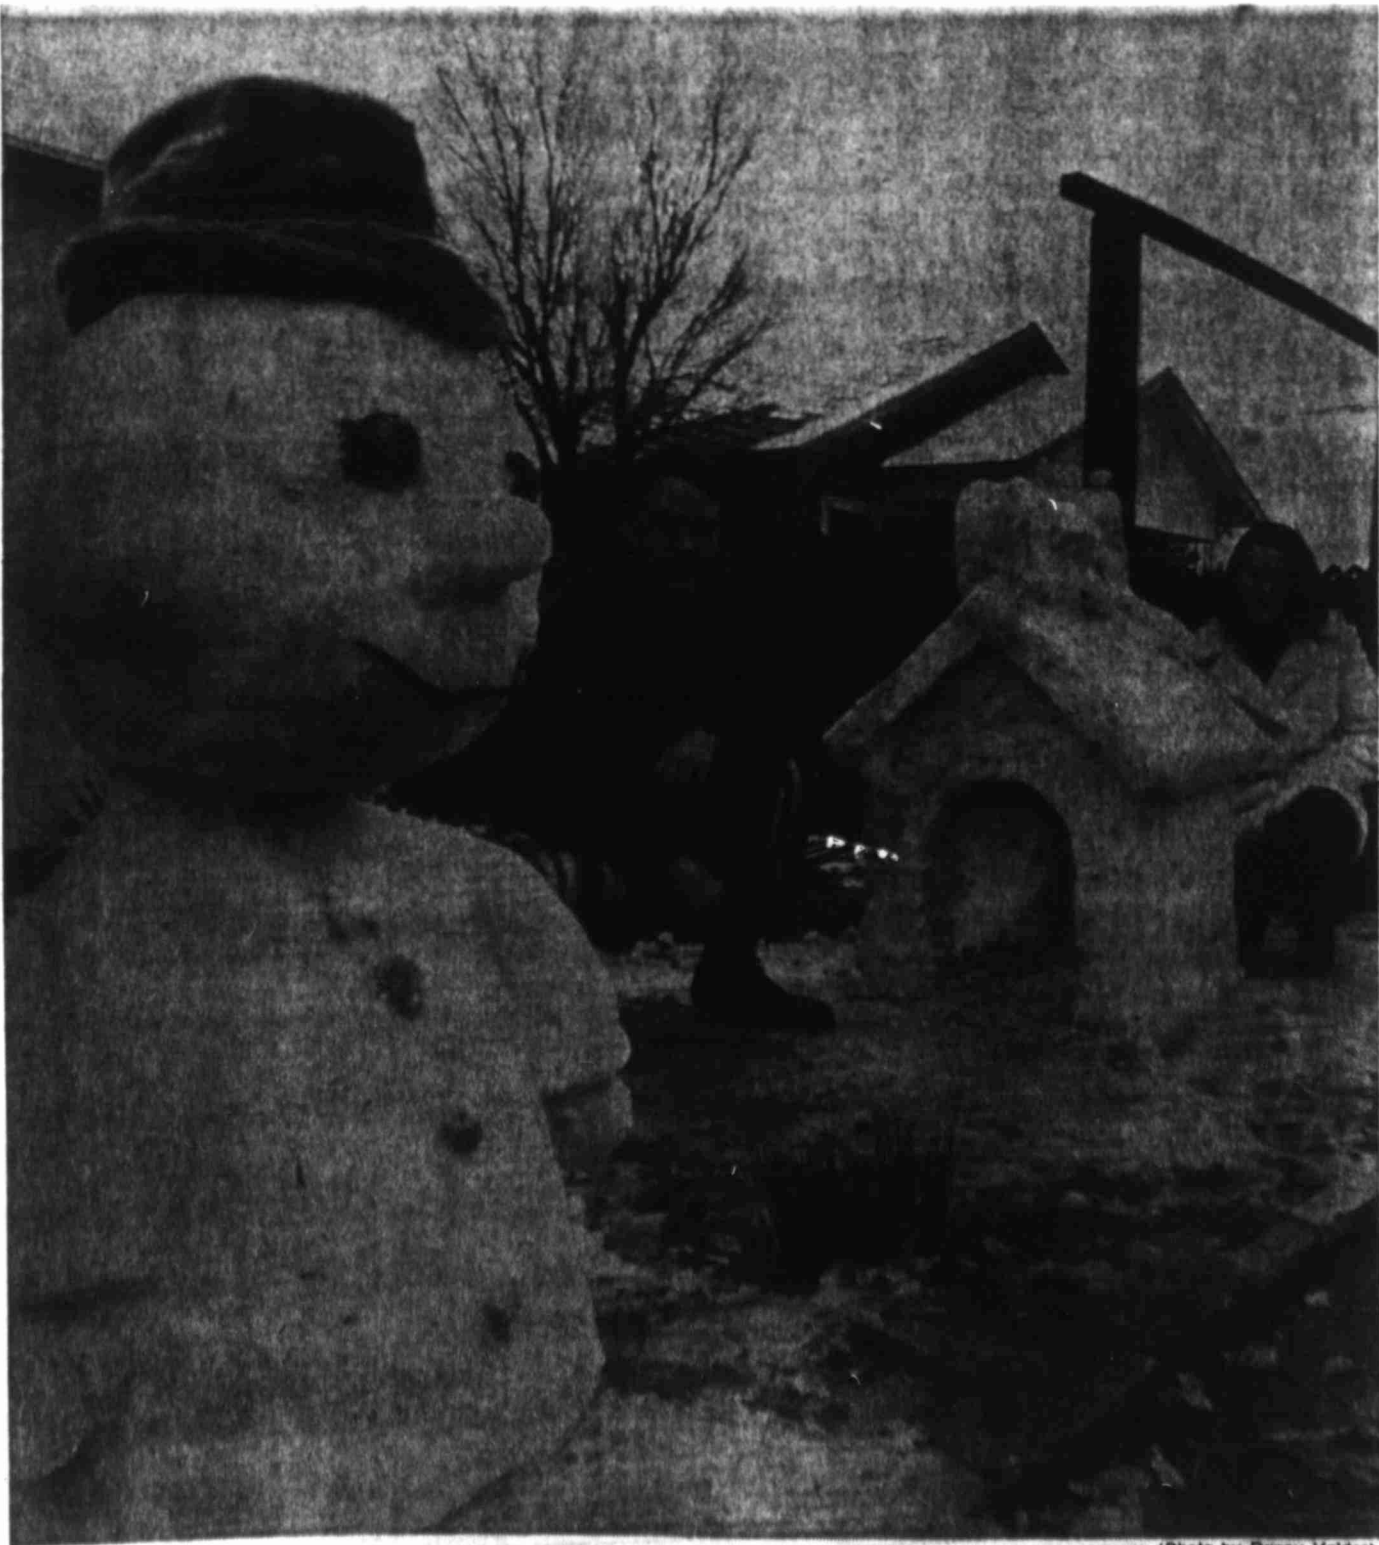

LAMESA (Sp) — Kiwanis Club members here are ready for their annual pancake supper Saturday from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the high school student center.

In addition to the food, there will be entertainments, including the famed Slumtown Symfunny, said Gladys Tarter, club sweetheart and pianist.

Committees have been laying in supplies, including 600 pounds for sausage made specially for the event. Bob Van Wie, "super-in-chef," has cooked for all but one of the 22 suppers held.

Club members are expecting upwards of 1,500 for the event. Jack Prather has been handling advance ticket ($1) sales. Hank Myers, Sonny Hollis and Johnny Grisson have been rounding up supplies.

Proceeds derived from the project are used in club projects such as Boy and Girl Scouts, agricultural awards, meat judging contests, Little League baseball, Boys State, boys' camp, Kids Day parade, Senior Citizens Center, drug abuse programs, Memorial Day car center, etc. Bill Gerber is president.

SCULPTURE IN SNOW—Frank and Jan Eastman of 403 State Street took great and loving effort with their 'snowman' Thursday. Easily recognizable are Charley Brown, star of the comic strip 'Peanuts,' his pet Beagle, Snoopy, and his doghouse. No count was taken but the kind and amount of snow fell which encouraged people to get out and try their hand at art, with the result that probably more snow sculpture showed up around town than for any snow in history.

What's Wrong With Topless?

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Adults are fully capable of deciding "Whether it's bad for them to go see a nude lady dancing," a New Orleans publisher says, so there's really no need for the state to outlaw the activity.

If an 18-year-old can fight and die for his country, David Levy said Thursday, he should certainly be able to enjoy topless and bottomless entertainment, if that's what he wants.

LIKE A JOKE
Levy, publisher of Impact, a trade paper for the bar and restaurant industry, took issue with new regulations proposed by state Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner Virgil D. Joffrion which would ban live and filmed sex shows.

Joffrion heard testimony for about two hours, from both sides, said he'd study the new evidence and promised a decision in about two weeks. Sex shows aren't a problem in Louisiana—yet, Joffrion said. He said the state wants to avoid the crime problem which followed topless and bottomless dancing in California, through.

"We're trying to prevent this before it happens," he said. "In California, it started like a joke..."

Joffrion said the regulations he has proposed would not affect strippers as long as they kept three feet from the audience but actual or simulated sex acts would be forbidden.

BOTTOMLESS
Levy said the new regulations surely would be challenged in court and "if they're ruled unconstitutional, the state will become wide open to topless and bottomless dancing."

One proponent of the proposed changes, Mark Lower of the Louisiana Moral and Civic Association, declared, "We are witnessing in the state of Louisiana and in the nation the greatest moral decline in the history of this nation."

"This is certainly a step in the right direction," he said.

New Orleans night club owner George Ireland said present state laws allow topless dancing provided the performers wear pasties and G-strings.

Joffrion said he suspects some of the dancers, however, might go "completely topless." "They sure look like it to me, anyway," he said. "I didn't touch 'em or anything, but they sure looked like it."

Sheriff Killer Alabama Bound

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An Alabama prison escapee, convicted in the 1954 slaying of a Geneva County sheriff, is to be returned to jail. He was recaptured Monday in Nacogdoches, Tex.

Prison officials were en route to Texas to pick up Cecil Tiner. He will resume a life sentence for the killing of Sheriff J. Cuthbert Woodham.

Tiner escaped from Draper Correctional Center near here May 15, 1972.

He and Bill Hable were convicted in the slaying of Woodham. Authorities said the sheriff was killed in Harford when he stopped their car to search for narcotics.

Hable was denied parole recently in a decision that sparked controversy. He was paroled by drug counselors as a reformed convict but a majority of the State Pardon and Parole Board voted against parole, citing his criminal record and a psychiatrist's report that labeled him an "incurable" addict.

By Any Name, Flu Cases Mounting

Nobody seems to be sure whether flu has yet flown into Big Spring. But it appears to be creeping into town.

The city-county health unit reported 23 cases of influenza during January, while the entire month of December only recorded 12.

However, there is no breakdown as to whether the flu is listed as London flu or Hong Kong flu. It's all just flu. Two local pharmacists stated that medication for flu has shown a slight increase this month, but nothing startling "yet."

BIGGEST MEANS THE BEST IN CONTEST STAGED HERE
This snowman fetched $25 prize for group of Webb' airmen

Artists Work For Prizes

Over 200 entries were judged in a snowman contest conducted by a local radio station (KBST) here Thursday. The entries were accepted within a space of about two hours.

A $25 award went to the individual or group building the largest figure and a Webb group representing Barracks 228 won with a 13 1/2-foot figure of a man.

Those participating in the Webb project were Jim Shilling, John White, Allen Grayhill, Ronald Melrose, Dennis Matthews, Ken Stokes and Ronald Wilson. Sponsor of the barracks is the Rev. Max Miller.

In addition, the radio station awarded a $10 prize to four Howard County Junior College students for creating the most unusual design — a bathroom fixture.

Sharing that award were Archie Kountz, Jerry Rush, Paul Maxwell and Shane Rush. Participants in the contest let their imagination run wild, creating everything from a replica of the Liberty Bell to the Confederate flag, a Lyndon Baines Johnson memorial, Snoopy the Dog and two snowmen riding motor-bikes.

The appeal experienced wide response because Thursday was a day of leisure for school students. They were at liberty because a day of mourning had been declared for the late president, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Beef Prices High But So Is Everything Else

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "I don't buy my panty hose at the butcher," said entertainer Kitty Carlisle at the suggestion that grocery bills appear more inflated because of the non-grocery items in the shopping bag.

Her own food bills seem to be higher and she doesn't serve beef as much as she used to, Miss Carlisle, a New Yorker told delegates to the American Cattlemen's Association convention here Thursday.

WORM IN HEART
"There is a worm in my consumer's heart," she said, although she said she recognized there are figures showing Americans spend a lower percentage of their take-home pay on beef now than they formerly did.

A fellow panelist at the convention, William S. Mitchell, president of Safeway Stores, Inc., said higher food bills may be in part the result of a trend in super markets to carry beauty aids and other personal commodities.

The bill may be $40 now, but actually it's "$20 on groceries and $20 on non-groceries," he said.

Mitchell concedes "food prices in general and beef prices in particular are higher than they have been, but so is everything else, and particularly wages."

Mitchell, who was introduced as the president of the world's chief beef retailer, said producers and retailers of beef must "shoot down the idea that beef prices are too high." He reasoned that the average American now spends less than 16 percent of his disposable income on food—"the lowest figure in our history and the lowest in any country in the world."

HIGH TIME
Cattlemen applauded when

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — Mitchell said, "I think it is high time that some of the Potomacites—those are the ones that live on Capitol Hill—be told the facts of life, namely that if they want to eat regularly, they are going to have to pay the producer a fair price for the work he does and the risks he assumes."

He noted that food prices were not decontrolled along with other prices in the Nixon administration's Phase III of the Economic Stabilization Program.

Although he said beef imported from Australia for hamburger, hot dogs and packaged foods is slightly cheaper, his huge chain uses only domestic beef on its meat shelves because of quality, because stores are located mostly in cattle-producing regions in the United States and because of a peculiar hassle with food stamps.

He said federal regulations on food stamps restrict sales in groceries to non-imported items, only.

THE RICH
Mitchell said the restriction would mean his stores would have to market two kinds of ground beef—one containing imported beef at a slightly less expensive price and the other containing only domestic beef.

Chicago Teachers End 11-Day Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — It was back to the blackboard today for Chicago's 21,000 public school teachers who have ended an 11-day strike, the longest in the city's history.

Members of the Chicago Teachers Union ratified a new contract Thursday night, gaining major concessions from the Board of Education on wages, class size, additional preparation time and a shorter work year.

The vote was 8,145 in favor of the school board offer to 1,012 against.

The walkout, which began Jan. 10, had idled 660 schools and kept 550,000 pupils out of classes.

But in two other major U.S. cities, teacher strikes dragged in Philadelphia, the 15th day of a walkout by 13,000 public school teachers continued to curtail classes for 285,000 children in 280 schools. And in St. Louis, a strike by 3,000 teachers went into its fifth day.

The new Chicago contract provides a 2 1/2 per cent wage increase retroactive to Jan. 1, reduces the school year from 40 weeks to 39 with no loss in pay, cuts class sizes and sets guidelines for preparation periods twice weekly for elementary instructors.

When South responded with two clubs over North's opening one heart bid, the latter was alerted to slam possibilities inasmuch as he held all the controls in every other suit. He accordingly made a jump shift to three diamonds which is unconditionally forcing to game and sets the stage for a relaxed investigation for bigger things.

South temporized by showing his secondary suit—spades and North indicated his mild fit by taking a preference for clubs. South took charge at this point and proceeded directly to six clubs inasmuch as he held the top controls in both black suits.

West opened the queen of spades and declarer ruffed in dummy. The five of clubs was led at trick two and East played the king. South put up the ace, however, he was not happy to see the high club honor appear; it seemed likely that West held all the missing trumps which meant that declarer was in danger of losing two trump tricks on the deal.

The ace and king of diamonds were cashed, followed by a small diamond which South ruffed with the seven of clubs as the opponents followed suit. The ace of spades came next and then a spade was trumped with the six of clubs. A small heart was led to the jack and then back to the ace and king which permitted declarer to dispose of his remaining spade, and both West and South were down to nothing but trumps.

A heart was led from dummy and declarer who was left with the Q-9-8 of clubs, trumped with the eight. West still retained the J-10-4 of clubs and the he could overruff with the ten, on the return he was obliged to surrender the last two tricks to his opponent.

South's only loser on the deal was the ten of clubs.

'WE'RE IN FOR A ROUGH SPRING' Giants Will Be Back Along 'Tornado Alley'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Last year was "the year of the runt" along the nation's Tornado Alley, "but we know the giants will be back," Allen Pearson, the weather service's top tornado expert, said today.

Pearson, director of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center here, said although there was an above-average number of tornadoes during 1972, fatalities were at a record low of 27.

HECTIC START

Incidence was high, with 741 twisters occurring over the year in most of the 50 states and Puerto Rico, but most were small. Generally, the few larger twisters didn't hit anything. The average for the past 20 years is 659 tornadoes a year.

The forecast center here is responsible for watching trouble spots over the entire nation round the clock, on the lookout for all types of severe weather. Tornadoes are their biggest business.

"This year already is off to a hectic start," Pearson said in an interview. "We already have had 38 tornadoes since Jan. 1. But, gratefully, again fatalities are down with only one in Louisiana."

Is there any sort of trend in intensity of tornadoes?

"I don't know," the forecaster said. "We know that not every year has blockbusters and 1972 was a year largely without them."

"It all seems to tie in with deep disturbances along the West Coast. If we don't have deep troughs of low pressure, chances are we won't have a lot of severe weather. Last year has started off with a lot of them."

"If the pattern holds," Pearson said, "we're in for a rough spring."

"I can't tell you how long this pattern will hold," he added. "We don't fully understand why we get dramatic shifts in the weather. In the first part of January the whole country was freezing. All of a sudden in mid-January, we're in the 60s—and we don't know quite why."

Most tornadoes occur between March and June.

"There is an element of luck in tornado occurrence," he said, "in that 1972 produced some really big tornadoes, but they stayed away from big towns."

"One went across Iowa 65 miles on the ground without killing anyone. Another was over 50 miles on the ground in

Las Cruces Banker Denies Sharpstown Scandal Link

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Dallas Johnson, president of the Farmers & Merchants Bank, denied today that he had anything to do with practices at the Sharpstown, Tex., bank that led to a fraud scandal.

He said he resigned from his position at the Sharpstown State Bank long before it failed.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, as receiver of the Sharpstown bank, has filed a district court suit against Johnson for nearly $1.9 million.

Johnson says he was appointed as director and chairman of the board of the Sharpstown State Bank at the request of the FDIC and the Texas state banking commissioner to replace Frank Sharp as chief executive officer.

NEVER CRITICAL

He said he worked with the FDIC and Texas regulatory authorities on a day-to-day basis. He said, "They were aware of all actions and were never critical of them."

He worked for the bank for seven months, he said, before Sharp asked him to resign, saying Johnson wouldn't cooperate. Johnson later was one of the main government witnesses in the Securities Exchange Commission suit and other suits involving the Sharpstown bank.

northern Wisconsin without a fatality."

PROPERTY DAMAGE

Most of 1972's twisters occurred in the southern states. Over-All, the year's total of 741 was 82 more than the 659 average over the past 20 years.

The tornado of the year occurred April 5 at Vancouver, Wash., just across the Columbia River from Portland, Ore. It was the first fatal tornado ever recorded in Washington. It took six lives, the most in any state for the year, injured 300 and caused $5.5 million damage.

Only three other big twisters occurred during the year in populated areas. These were at Atlanta, Ga.; Joliet, Ill., and Newton, Mass., a Boston suburb. Each produced one fatality.

Over the nation, 986 persons were injured in tornadoes, which is about average, Pearson said. Property damage totaled $143 million. Only eight states recorded no tornadoes during the year.

Oklahoma and Illinois had five deaths each, Texas two and one each occurred in Florida, Georgia, Massachusetts, New York and Ohio.

DEEP SOUTH

The center of tornado activity, traditionally along Tornado Alley from Texas northeast to the Great Lakes, seems to be shifting to the Deep South, below the Mason Dixon line, Pearson said.

The trend has been developing over the past five years. Granted, a lot of these are small ones, but there definitely is a shift in incidence to the South."

He added that twisters can and have occurred in any of the 50 states in any month of the year. They are most likely on a warm, sultry day between 4 and 6 p.m., but can strike any hour of the day or night.

Little is known of the cause or actual composition of a tornado.

"It's hard to look at one under a microscope," he said. "The thing I'd like to know more about is why we have some fairly skinny but intense tornadoes that may be only a couple of blocks wide, then sometimes have huge fat ones that don't pack as much punch."

"It's important from the warning and forecasting standpoint to be able to say you're going to have this kind or the other. But such information is hard to get at."

Wrong Experience

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

EXPERIENCE: (Comment) Two years ago I was very much like the 17-year-old girl who wrote you about her affair with a 26-year-old man.

This man I had an affair with had a wife who was too busy taking care of their baby to give him the attention he needed. He was 28 and I was 17. He was lonely and so was I. He didn't promise me anything or try to hide anything.

I decided it was worth it and for 11 months everything was lovely. Then I started getting possessive and he started feeling guilty. Also his boss found out about me and fired him. We both lost something. He lost his job and I lost the respect of friends who knew what I was doing. But I got experience, and he got his wife back. When she found out about me she started giving him the love he had to have. So I think it was worth it, and I would do it again if the right opportunity came.

(A.) The experience you gained was the wrong kind of experience. It mixed up your values and it gave you a black mark among your friends. It also hurt an entire family.

Next time look for a single man without a family to hurt. And think how much more value there is to love and marriage than there is to just sex.

Austin Investor Seeks Bankruptcy

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Austin investor Ray Cowan has filed for bankruptcy, listing among his liabilities three disputed promissory notes and guarantees worth $2.4 million in Sharpstown State Bank.

Court documents show Cowan was once a business associate of former White House aide Jake Jacobsen, who filed for bankruptcy last June. Cowan and Jacobsen became disassociated in August 1970.

Cowan lists liability totaling $11.4 million and assets of $2.3 million. He says he has a $47,995 homestead in Austin's Highland Park West section and, among the assets, a 3,907-acre Burnet County ranch.

Sharpstown State Bank, where the disputed notes and guarantees are, was the keystone of financier Frank Sharp's empire before its collapse in early 1971 and is now under liquidation by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

This week, Bankruptcy Judge Bert W. Thompson of San Antonio acted to stop proceedings in 18 suits in state court involving Cowan. Jacobsen is a party to 11 of those suits.

In his petition, Jacobsen, who served under former President Lyndon Johnson, listed liabilities of more than $12.8 million including many of the same debts listed by Cowan.

The San Antonio Express said Cowan is sole owner of Inter-American Business Co., Inc., an Austin-based firm now in state receivership which had widespread interests in Central America.

Among some of the assets listed by Cowan is $463,194 he claims Jacobsen owes him.

Cowan, in his statement of affairs, listed four businesses besides Inter-American which he once owned jointly with Jacobsen but are now his. According to Jacobsen's statement of affairs, the pair split their interests, with Cowan assuming some of the businesses and he assuming the others.

The first meeting of Cowan's creditors is scheduled for 10 a.m. Feb. 12 in Austin.

Socialite Wife Faces Murder Rap

DALLAS (AP) — The wife of business executive Archie Yanis Sloan has been charged with his murder only a few hours after Sloan was found stabbed to death in a bedroom of his suburban Highland Park home.

Mrs. Juliet Sloan, 40, was freed by District Court Judge R. T. Scales on a $5,000 writ bond Thursday, just before Highland Park Police Chief Henry Gardner filed the murder charge with Justice of the Peace Robert R. Cole.

Cole had set bond at $35,000, but a spokesman in Judge Scales' office said the writ bond was accepted by the sheriff's office.

Sloan, 57, was believed killed shortly before midnight. Police were summoned after a physician received an emergency call from the house.

Chief Gardner said the physician found Sloan dead. He had been stabbed twice in the stomach, once in the chest and once in the left shoulder, Gardner said. A switchblade knife was found.

Gardner said Mrs. Sloan and a Spanish-speaking maid were in the house when his officers arrived. The maid was asleep.

Sloan was president of Sloan Industries, Inc., a Fort Worth firm which processes meat for supermarkets. He and Mrs. Sloan were well known in social circles in Dallas and Fort Worth.

Sloan was Mrs. Sloan's fourth husband.

Eighth Secretary Could Be Hired

County Commissioners Court at 9 a.m. Monday will consider putting an eighth secretary on the county payroll. Howard County is to spend $31,416 this year for the seven women already employed as secretary-receptionists — allowing for no future raises.

District Judge R. W. Caton is slated to confer with the court about hiring a secretary for his office.

Bids for a copying machine for the sheriff's office and a motor grader will be opened. The court will confer with Marvin Hanson, road administrator, and approve bills as usual.

Switzer Replaces On OU's

NORMAN, Okla. — Chuck Fairbank, head football coach at the University of Oklahoma, will replace Barry Switzer, assistant coach and director of the Fairbanks program. Switzer was a 99 percent favorite to be named head coach today on the New England Sports Illustrated cover. His lawyer will look over the contract, Fairbank said.

Switzer's expected to head coach but quite possibly will openly support coaches back here. Several high school officials, Fairbanks' former coach, are known to favor Switzer.

Switzer, an Arkansas native, viewed concern both Southern and Michigan State. Another factor is the timing of his recruitment signings start Feb. 1. It's estimated new coach would take two weeks.

Marfa One Very Cold Texas Town

By The Associated Press
A storm which brought snow or rain over most of Texas moved out of state toward the northeast today and another came boring in from the west.
Two to seven inches of snow piled up Thursday between Sonora and Abilene, and generally smaller amounts in a 200-mile-wide belt from a line linking Junction, Del Rio and Wink northward to around Lubbock.
Much of the snow melted as it fell and overnight temperatures generally stayed above freezing, lessening what had threatened to be dangerous conditions on streets and highways.

11 DEGREES
One very cold spot was at Marfa in the West Texas mountains where the thermometer read 11 degrees. Wink reported 24 degrees and Dalhart 28.
Rain dampened nearly all areas in the state where it didn't snow except in far West Texas, which stayed mostly dry. Moisture measurements in most cases amounted to between .75 inch and 1.5 inches.
As the rainfall gradually tapered off during the night and this morning, there also was a little snow moving northward in Central Texas around Gatesville, Hico, Stephenville and Mineral Wells.

As skies cleared in most other sections, the moisture lingered into this morning in the north central and east portions of the state.
NEW FRONT
There also was fog at a number of points this morning. Observers warned that it was thick enough to make driving hazardous around Brownsville and elsewhere in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.
Other areas plagued by fog included Dalhart, Amarillo, Childress, Midland, San Angelo, Wink and Texarkana.

Ancient Fire Truck Being Replaced At Colorado City

By MARJ CARPENTER
COLORADO CITY — In Colorado City, the first expenditure out of their first revenue sharing check, is a new fire truck — already ordered.
One of the trucks in the department was almost too old to be credited by the insurance fire board any more.
Colorado City's fire department is a volunteer group which dates back to the 1800s and the horsedrawn pump wagon. They have an elite 30 members, selected by election by other firemen whenever there is an opening.

Membership on the force is hard work, but it is also an honor and unless a fireman moves or dies, there is rarely an opening.
Young members on the department are few although some have been added in recent years.
Current fire chief is Pat McKinney Jr. who has held this post for some four years. Before him there was Hulen Bagwell, Leonard Henderson, Ewell Henderson, Wilfred Oiler and others. Most chiefs stay chief for several years.
One of the oldest retired firemen in the city is Hank Bryah. There are others.
The worst fire in Colorado City's history was a hotel fire in October 1954. Many of the firemen recall it with horror.
Nobody seems to recall any Cee City fireman ever losing his life in the line of duty. "We have had some broken limbs, and bruises, cuts and smoke damage," James Sprott, fire marshal recalls.

The city and county get together and pay the volunteers a flat fee for the fires that they go to in the call of duty.
But all of the men hold other jobs and answer the fire calls in their spare time. Most of them are available to leave their jobs during the day and all are on call at night.
Other improvements for the Colorado City firemen may come from the revenue sharing funds. But, they do a pretty good job with what they have.
They're a well-respected group around their home town.

TWO AMERICANS KILLED

'The War's Still On'

SAIGON (AP) — Two Americans and nearly 400 North and South Vietnamese were reported killed today and Thursday in a storm of attacks across South Vietnam matched by the heaviest American air strikes in eight months.
"The war's still on," the commander of a U.S. Marine air wing commented after the death of one of his young security guards during a rocket attack on the Bien Hoa Air Base 15 miles northeast of Saigon.
SHOT DOWN
Seven and a half hours after the predawn attack at Bien Hoa, a second American serviceman was killed when his observation helicopter crashed in flames near Phan Thiet, on the coast 100 miles east of Saigon. U.S. officials said the helicopter apparently was shot down. A second crewman rescued suffered slight wounds, the U.S. Command said.

The Command also reported that 13 U.S. servicemen and 12 American civilian advisers and technicians working with the South Vietnamese air force were wounded in the rocket attack at Bien Hoa and another at the Da Nang Air Base.
The South Vietnamese command said there were 112 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m., equaling the number reported during the previous 24-hour period when the United States and North Vietnam announced that fighting would stop at 8 a.m. Saigon time on Sunday, or 7 p.m. EST Saturday.

cease-fire to 541 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and 119 Saigon troops killed, 615 South Vietnamese wounded and 34 missing.
The U.S. casualties today were the first reported since the cease-fire announcement.
The U.S. Command reported that American fighter-bombers flew 407 strikes against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions in South Vietnam during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today. A spokesman said it was the largest number of such strikes in South Vietnam since last May 28, at the height of the North Vietnamese offensive.
80 STRIKES
U.S. B52 bombers flew 80 strikes, the Command said, dropping about 2,400 tons of explosives.
About 75 per cent of the enemy attacks were made with artillery, rockets and mortars.
At Bien Hoa, one Vietnamese was killed and 10 were wounded. One South Vietnamese F5 fighter-bomber was destroyed and one U.S. AC119 gunship was damaged.
Several rockets crashed into a barracks housing the American civilians who were injured.

Eagle Badges To Be Given

COAHOMA — Six members of Troop 8 at Coahoma will receive Scouting's top award — the Eagle Badge — in ceremonies set for 7:30 p.m. today in the high school auditorium.

Gene Bobo, Lone Star district executive, is to preside, and Monty Stokes, Longview, former district executive, and Mrs. Stokes are due to be special guests.
Don Myers, scoutmaster, has a son among the Eagle candidates and is not scheduled to be on the program.
"This is one night I want to be just a parent," he said.
Candidates are Edwin E. Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Dickson; Lowell S. Boyles Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Boyles Sr.; Jeffe F. Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Griffin; Wm. J. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown; Thomas S. Marvin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Marvin Sr.; and Ray Don Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Myers.
This is one of the largest Eagle courts of Honor in the district, being exceeded only by one held by Troop 16, which once had seven boys qualify at the same time for the honor.

Nixon And Mrs. Johnson Sent Messages By Group

Members of the Howard County Ministers Fellowship Thursday dispatched telegrams to President Nixon and to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.
"We congratulate you for your untiring efforts to obtain an honorable peace in Vietnam and for the return of our Prisoners of War," said the wire to the President.
And to Mrs. Johnson: "Our sincere sympathy and prayers are extended to you. We share your sorrow and feel the loss of a great national and world leader."
Continuing plans for the Key '73 project, a cooperative evangelistic thrust by all churches this year, were discussed.
Also sanctioned were plans for some outstanding theological personality of pulpiteer will be invited here by the fellowship. In past years there have been such personalities as E. Stanley Jones, R. G. Lee and Dr. Elton Trueblood.
Ministers agreed not to undertake a cooperative Easter sunrise service, but instead to join in Holy Week observance with noon services daily at some central location. In the absence of the Rev. R. Earl Price, who was ill, the Rev. Wales Lankford presided.

Revenue Sharing Plans Face Vote

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Louie Welch says he will ask city council to vote next week on his plans for spending the city's first $26 million in revenue sharing funds.
He said he is sticking by his plan to spend the money on capital improvements. During a lengthy hearing, several citizens had asked that some of the funds be used for social services.
Welch said the city would be stuck with providing the social services if the federal revenue sharing program played out and there are plans for federal block grants to fund such programs.

Will Never Forget His Last Night In Vietnam

BIEN HOA, South Vietnam (AP) — Jim Moore will never forget his last night in Vietnam. He thought it would be his last on earth.

"When that first rocket hit, I tried to get under the bed, but it was too big," said the 250-pound warehouseman from Macon, Ga. "The second blast blew me right under the bed. It was the loudest crash I ever heard. The door blew out, and the windows blew in."

Moore looked at his clock radio on the floor beside him. It was 2:25 a.m. The barracks next door was a torrent of orange flames and black smoke, and he could hear people crying out in agony.

TREMBLING

"I couldn't tell if our building was still trembling or if it was me."

Moore tripped over the luggage he had neatly piled up for the trip home to Georgia and ran outside. In the moonlight rockets were still rumbling across the cloudless sky, making a sound "like a runaway freight train, then an ear-splitting slamming crash."

Many of Moore's friends were among the civilians wounded next door.

Like him, most of them were "short timers" who had come to Vietnam under three-month contracts to help assemble and catalog the supplies the U.S. government rushed in for the Vietnamese air force before the cease-fire went into effect.

A ban-the-bomb symbol was stenciled in black paint on the concrete light pole just across the road from where the 122mm rocket left a two-foot-deep crater.

Seven hours later, the green wooden barracks building where nine Air Force men and 12 American civilians were wounded by a direct hit was still smoldering.

As firemen fought the flames, Jim Moore told the story that "the boys back at the fishing camp better get used to hearing"

Texas Hospitals To Receive POWs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Texas hospitals have been selected to receive Vietnam prisoners of war among the 31 such institutions picked for this service in 20 states.

The former prisoners will be brought to the hospitals for examination and any necessary medical treatment.

The Texas hospitals: Wilford Hall Medical Center, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

Air Force Regional Hospital, Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls.

Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Nixon Submits To Congress Mild Reorganization Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon proposed to Congress today that he abolish three organizations in his executive office.

In a message to the Congress, he said the action would pare 389 jobs from the executive office, with an estimated savings of $2 million in the budget.

BETTER PERFORMED

Proposed for abolition were the Office of Emergency Preparedness, the Office of Science and Technology and the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

The space council is not to be confused with NASA, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The White House said necessary continuing functions of the three agencies should be transferred "to line departments and agencies where they can be better performed."

Technology was set up in 1962 to evaluate and coordinate science and technology programs.

Its work would be transferred to the director of the National Science Foundation.

GIVES HIM 11 PIGS

Anthropologist Studying Sex Weds Chief Of Tribe

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Wyn Sargent, an American anthropologist studying the sex life of Stone Age tribes in West Irian, has married the chief of one of the tribes, the West Irian military command said today.

Maj. Amin Sudjono said the 42-year-old divorcee from Huntington Beach, Calif., married Chief Obaharok Jan. 8 in a tribal ceremony, giving him 11 pigs and 5 headresses as a dowry.

Miss Sargent had been doing research for four months in the Baliem Valley, a jungle area in the heart of West Irian.

Reports that she announced she would shed her Western clothes and dress only in the strings and straps of the natives created a stir. Authorities in the town of Wamena, the district headquarters, said they would make a strong protest if she did, fearing that could upset their plans to "civilize" the tribespeople in a program called Operation Koteka.

The aim of the two-year program is to put clothes on the natives, introduce them to a money economy and teach them to speak, read and write the Indonesian language.

As for the OEP, all responsibilities for preparing and relieving civil emergencies and disasters would be transferred to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The General Services Administration and the Treasury Department would take other programs.

NO TRANSFER

The Space Council would simply go out of business. The White House said it helped define and develop U.F. space programs, but now "we have effective resolutions of our space and aeronautics objectives" and therefore "are able to abolish the council at this time with no transfer of its functions."

In his message to Congress Nixon said he was confident "this reorganization plan would significantly increase the overall efficiency and effectiveness of the federal government."

THDA District Meet At Ozona In April

A Texas Home Demonstration Club district meeting April 3 in Ozona was announced by Mrs. Lynn Glass, president of the Lees Drumright HD Club during Tuesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. V. E. Phillips. Mrs. Glass will serve as delegate to the meeting.

Mrs. Glass also reported on a training meeting which was held Jan. 16 in Pecos, and Mrs. Gene Smith presented results of the recent 4-H food show. Mrs. A. D. Armistead was elected council delegate for Glasscock County.

The program was given by Miss Victor Gene Hughes, extension agent, who spoke about daily and weekly food needs. She explained how to "stretch" the food dollars while still having good, balanced and nutritious meals. At the conclusion of her talk, she distributed booklets containing budget recipes and meal-planning tips.

The next meeting will be a communitywide affair in the Drumright Community Center at 2 p.m., Feb. 13. Mrs. Miram Curry, a representative of the Glasscock County Dairy Council, will be the speaker.

MRS. GENE CRENSHAW

Mrs. G. Crenshaw Honored By Lodge

Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, a 50-year member of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284, was honored Tuesday evening at the IOOF Hall following the installation of lodge officers.

Mrs. Crenshaw, who was escorted to her station of honor by her son-in-law, Earl Wilson, was initiated into the lodge Jan. 23, 1923. A history of her lodge work was reviewed by her daughter, Mrs. Earl Wilson, after which Mrs. Henry Roger sang, "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Also participating on the program was a drill team of 12 women attired in floor-length white gowns.

Having held every local office in the lodge, Mrs. Crenshaw also served two terms as district deputy. In 1935, she was a member of the state finance committee.

The installation was conducted by Mrs. A. G. Hall, district deputy president, assisted by Mrs. Lonnie Griffith, deputy marshal; Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. Jewel Fields, Mrs. I. O. Collins, Mrs. Logan Grider, Mrs. Roger, Mrs. Travis Melton and Mrs. A. F. Gilliland.

The new officers are Mrs. Joe Awtry, noble grand; Mrs. E. J. Adcock, vice grand; Mrs. Melton, recording secretary; Mrs. D. W. Melton, financial secretary; Mrs. Griffith, treasurer; Mrs. D. A. Jones, warden; Mrs. Gertrude Rodricks, conductor; Mrs. Robert Wilson, chaplain; Mrs. Grider, musician; Mrs. Wayne Burleson, U.S. color bearer; Mrs. J. E. Brown, inside guardian; Mrs. Roger, outside guardian; Mrs. Ora Martin and Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, supports to past noble grand; Mrs. W. A. Majors and Mrs. Crenshaw, supports to chaplain; Mrs. Mattie Gregory, Rebekah flag bearer; and Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Fields, supports to noble grand.

Visitors attended from Big Spring, Stanton and Odessa.

Valentine Ball Open To Public

The upcoming Beta Sigma Phi valentine ball was discussed Tuesday by members of Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter, BSP, at the home of Mrs. David Tubbs. The chapter is responsible for ticket collection and supplying the bar.

A hot dog sale sponsored by the chapter Saturday at Highland Center Mall netted $30. A portion of the proceeds will be given to Westside Community Center.

Pledge training was conducted by Mrs. Jolene Burgess, and Mrs. Donna Ernest gave the program, "Values of Friendship." The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 30 in the home of Mrs. Daniel Roybal, 1403 Lincoln.

Mrs. Womack Is Honored At Baby Shower

Mrs. Brent Womack was honored at a baby shower Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Wendal Parks, 1737 Purdue, where hostesses were Miss Lana Parks, Mrs. Russ McEwen, Mrs. Dub Bryant and Miss Denise Bryant.

Mrs. Womack, mother of a son, Ryan Brent, born Jan. 14 in Abilene, was unable to be present. Her mother, Mrs. Stanley Lewis, attended and opened gifts for the baby.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with white linen and centered with a replica of a stork. Silver and china appointments were used.

Mr. and Mrs. Womack are residing at Apt. 5, Coronado Hills Apartments.

John D. Parkers Announce Birth

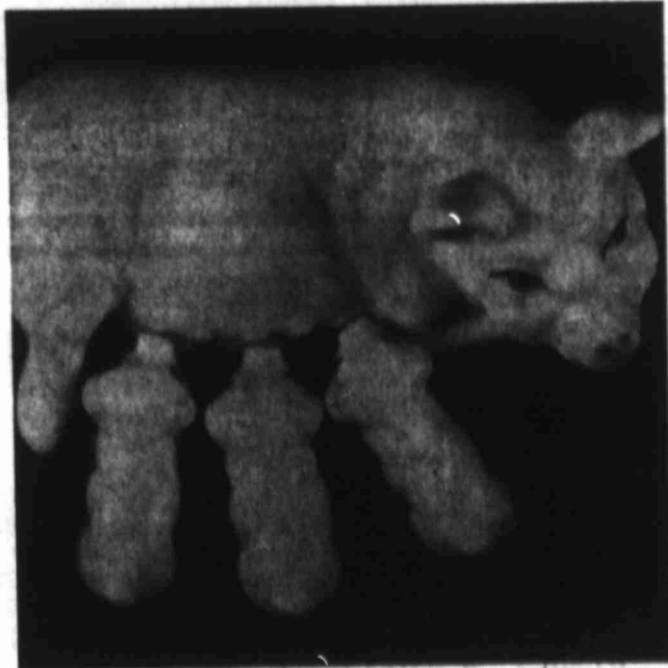

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas Parker of Georgetown announce the birth of a son, Jason Dewayne, Jan. 24 in a Georgetown hospital. The infant weighed 8 pounds, 14 1/2 ounces. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Parker, Garden City, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Deberry, Edinburg. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parker, Garden City, W. J. Williams, Sterling City, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Deberry, Edinburg.

Officers' Wives Schedule Sale

A garage sale sponsored by Webb AFB Officers' Wives Club will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Jerry Stubblefield, 3611 Tingle. The sale is in lieu of a Chinese auction scheduled last Thursday and canceled due to the day of mourning for former president Lyndon B. Johnson. The next luncheon meeting for the group will be at twelve o'clock noon, Feb. 1 at the Webb Officers' Club.

EVENING FASHIONS—These evening dresses were presented by Capucci of Rome at the Italian spring and summer fashion show in Rome Tuesday. The designer has given both dresses a floral look stressed in the model at left by stiff tiers of flounces opening around the head. At right, model wears short bolero with matching sash at the waist.

'Practical' Fashions Are Shown In Italy

ROME (AP) — Practical and sophisticated clothes are what Italian designers have in mind for the spring and summer of 1973. Some succeed in bringing off both.

This year also is witnessing the return of dresses, a little on the quiet side for morning wear, bouncy and airy for the afternoon and cocktails.

In many cases, designers presented a pleated skirt and belted overblouse to form a dress effect.

Concerned with being practical were the American designers of La Mendola, whose silk jersey and georgette dresses, sometimes with a pleated skirt and stiff Renaissance collar, are crease resistant. Their long evening gowns with draped scarves or maribou boleros carry all the glamour of exotic fashions.

Italian couturier Capucci, as much an artist in handling colors as in cutting fabrics, showed fancy beehive dresses in a crisscross of tiny or medium-sized pleats. He used the same technique for short jackets and open coats worn over a shirtwaist dress in different pink panels.

Morning dresses, very simple with a turtle neck and no sleeves, contrasted with the vaporous line the designer gave his evening dresses.

Pino Lancetti also went in for the silk skirts and shirts or overblouses that look like dresses.

He often hip-pleated skirts except in suits, which mostly were wraparound. Seven-eighth coats in sand yellow, lilac, pale blue and green let the printed silk of his shirtwaist dresses appear.

To keep the sun out of your eyes, Lancetti designed broad-brimmed hats, as worn by Marlene Dietrich, overshadowing the face.

For afternoon wear, brims widened and dresses got sexier, with frills and ruffles along the shawl neckline and around the sleeves. Lancetti also offered tiered dresses and drawstring scooped necks for pale blue georgette or lilac evening dresses, embroidered with silk around the sleeves and bodice front.

Lancetti also had a surprise: prints on crepe dresses, featuring statues or women's faces in wide, horizontal bands.

TV 'Widower'

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You get lots of letters from "football widows." How about putting in a good word for "soap opera widowers?"

Julia and I have been married three years. I used to call her every day on my lunch hour, and on my days off we used to go around and see the sights. On workdays I'd get off at 5 p.m. and come home to a clean house, smiling wife, and a good supper. Not anymore.

For the last five months I've been coming home to a messy house, a TV dinner and wife with a tear-stained face. The reason being she watches soap operas on TV all day long.

I can't even call her on my lunch hour because she's in the middle of one of those shows and she doesn't want to miss even two minutes of it to talk to me.

I still love my wife, but it's getting to the point where I hate to come home. Please print this. Maybe Julia will see it and realize how I feel.

SOAP OPERA WIDOWER

DEAR WIDOWER: And what if she doesn't see it? A message as important as this should be telegraphed right over the home plate. Tell Julia how you feel, Mister, and the sooner the better or you'll be starring in "Divorce Court" in real life together.

DEAR ABBY: Since your reading audience is vast, may I pass on some advice that is valuable, yet possibly not well known? It is regarding burns.

Not too many years ago, a physician burned his hand, and immediately immersed it in ice water. He found that the pain left while it was in the ice water, but what surprised him even more was that there was no blistering, redness, ulceration, or scarring. He reported the incident, and now many doctors order immediate ice baths until they can get there. The results have been amazing.

Check this out with your medical experts if you have any doubts.

IOWA DOCTOR
DEAR DOCTOR: I've been aware of the above discovery concerning burns for some time. But it won't hurt to remind folks to reach for an ice cube instead of the greasy stuff.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to comment on the letter signed "Right or Wrong" from the wife who was mad at her husband because he was too tired to mow the lawn then he went next door and worked on the roof of a neighbor's house. This neighbor was a cute young widow whom the wife described as a woman who never paid for anything "in cash."

When the wife saw her husband working on her neighbor's roof she went over and hit him a good one with the dust mop, and you said it was a draw between which one was right or wrong.

I don't think so. A woman should never hit a man unless she is prepared to be hit back. I have never hit my wife, but then she's never hit me, either.

Also, that wife should find out what it is the widow pays with and do likewise. After all, they both have the same equipment in the dark. INDIANA READER

Group Gives To Rehab Center

Homemakers Class, First Christian Church, contributed $10 to Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center during a monthly luncheon and business meeting Wednesday at the church. Mrs. O. G. Attorney Stresses Importance Of Wills

"A will is the most important document a person will ever prepare," said Walton Morrison, local attorney, when he was guest speaker Tuesday for Spring City Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

"A bad will can cause added misery to the family," continued Morrison. "Under Texas law, when there is no will, property settlement can be completely unknown for several years even though we have a community property law."

Morrison said that if no will is available, minor children of the deceased will inherit half of all property of the deceased. The child must have a guardianship before anything can be sold or purchased, and a guardianship often costs more than the amount of property or money inherited. Morrison suggested anyone with minor children in the family should appoint a trustee.

This is usually a relative, but doesn't have to be.

In addition, Morrison said wills should be self-proof wills that are notarized and witnessed at the same time. If not notarized, witnesses will have to be located and affidavits taken before any action can be initiated.

The vocational talk for the dinner meeting at La Posada Restaurant was by Mrs. O. A. Badwick, who handles secretarial and payroll duties for McKinney Plumbing Company.

A chili supper is scheduled at 6:30 p.m., Feb. 10 at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The public is invited to attend at $1 for adults and 75 cents for children. Dessert and Cokes will be available.

Mrs. Norman Newton was a guest. The group will meet for annual "bosses night", at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 27 at Big Spring Country Club, J. D. Nelson will be guest speaker.

Local Baptist Association Sets Evangelism Conference

EUAL F. LAWSON

D. L. LOWRIE

By MARJ CARPENTER
Under the theme, "The Greatest Commission—Make Disciples," the Big Spring Baptist Association will have its annual evangelism conference Monday and Tuesday at East Fourth Baptist Church.

Heading a list of speakers will be the Rev. Eual Lawson, Lewisville, recently retired associate director of the Home Mission Board division of evangelism, Brian Willersdorf, Sydney, Australia, evangelist; and D. L. Lowrie, pastor of the North Fort Worth Baptist Church.

Willersdorf will be a speaker for the opening session 7:15 p.m. Monday, speaking on "The Call from Above." Rev. Lawson climaxes this service with "The Call to Commitment."

Tuesday's program opens at 9:30 a.m. with the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, speaking on the inter-denominational movement, "Key '73." Willersdorf will speak on the "Source of Power, the Gospel," and Rev. Lawson on "The source of power, the Holy Spirit." In the 7:15 p.m. service Willersdorf will lead Bible study with "The Call from Above." The Rev. Lowrie brings the closing challenge, "The Urgency of the Hour."

Music will be led by Dan Mc-

BRIAN WILLERSDORF

Clinton, Baptist Temple, Frank O'Banion, Stanton, and Joe Whitten, First Baptist, assisted by Mrs. Jerry Oliphant, Mrs. Dale Cain, Mrs. McClinton and Mr. and Mrs. Murry Vise, accompanists.

The Rev. Lawson held pastorates in Oklahoma and New Mexico and was director of evangelism in New Mexico and Missouri for nine years before joining the home mission board of Southern Baptist Convention. He has worked in international crusades as well as through the United States.

Rev. Lowrie, native of Tennessee, held pastorates in his native state, in Weatherford, Lubbock before going in 1967 to his present pastorate. He has conducted more than 50 revivals across the nation and has assisted in several personal evangelism clinics.

Willersdorf, native of Queensland, Australia, has directed youth crusades for the past eight years in Australia, speaking to 600,000 high schoolers in one week. He conducted crusades in Ceylon, Asia, America and Canada, has travelled in 35 countries and represented his native land in the World Congress on Evangelism at Berlin.

WESTSIDE BAPTIST CHURCH is holding an Old Fashioned Day Sunday.

The Good News Quartet from Amarillo will sing for both the morning and evening services. A covered dish dinner will be held.

The quartet will also present music that evening from 2:30-4 p.m. Evening services will be held by coal oil lanterns and bales of hay will be used for an altar.

The public is invited to come and spend the day and hear old fashioned preaching, enjoy dinner on the grounds and hear old fashioned singing.

Ladies are invited to wear long dresses if they desire.

FIRST BAPTIST choir director Joe Whitten reports a wonderful response last Sunday in the choir enrollment. I am happy to announce that we do have enough youth now to divide into two choirs. The high school and college age has 42 already enrolled and the junior high has 18. I hope that you in this age bracket will enroll this Sunday if you haven't already. I know we will have many more in all choirs. We will begin Sunday with rehearsals, and all choirs will meet at 5 p.m. on Sunday with the exception of the pre-school choir and the adult. The schedule follows:

Pre-School Wednesday 6:15 Room 101, Carrie Wheeler, Janis Gregg, directors; Grade 1, 2, 3 Sunday 5:00 Room 107, Mrs. Ron Plumlee; Grade 4, 5, 6 Sunday 5:00 Room 217, Mrs.

John Varnell; Grade 7, 8 Sunday 5:00 Choir loft, Jim Bumgarner; Grade 9-12 & College Sunday 5:00 Choir room, Joe Whitten; Adult Wednesday 7:45 Choir room, Joe Whitten.

Thanksgiving Day For Cease-Fire

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The president of the United Methodist Council of Bishops, O. Eugene Salter, has asked his 10.6 million denomination to observe Sunday as a thanksgiving day for the cease-fire in Vietnam.

Bishop Slater sent a telegram to active bishops in his church asking worshippers Sunday be led to pray, "that this may lead to genuine peace, not only in Vietnam, but in all Indochina, and that it may not only be peace with honor but also peace with justice."

The bishop's telegram asked that prisoners of war and those missing in action be remembered in their prayers.

Bishop Slater also asked for rehabilitation and reconstruction in war-ravaged areas.

Church Of God Hosts Prayer Meeting Here

Approximately 150 Texas ministers of the Church of God will gather here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the church's annual Prayer and Evangelism Conference.

This will be the first statewide meeting the Church of God has held in Big Spring. The Rev. G. W. Lane, general secretary-treasurer for the Church of God from Cleveland, Tenn., will be the featured speaker at services at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Services are also set 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, all in the Big Spring Civic Auditorium. Ministers and laymen from throughout the state will attend, and the public is invited.

Ministering along with the Rev. Lane will be the Rev. Paul Henson, state overseer for the Church of God in Oklahoma, and the Rev. Billy Olds, of Graham.

State overseer for Texas, the Rev. L. W. McIntyre, will officiate at Sunday's 11 a.m. worship service.

Business meetings will be held by the ministers Monday and Tuesday.

CHURCHES IN BIG SPRING will cooperate in the showing of the latest Billy Graham film, "Time to Run," in a week-long showing at the Ritz Theatre here April 11-17.

The picture, dealing with problems confronting families and young members of families today, will be shown twice daily. The Rev. Graham is pictured also in making the invitation for a Christian commitment at the conclusion of the picture. More than a score of churches will underwrite the picture, and an extensive advertising and attendance campaign is planned.

Highland Church Slates Special Morning Service

Hope Harrington of Chicago, Ill., will present a concert of gospel music at 11 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 28, at the Highland Church of God, East Sixth at Settles. According to the pastor, Arnold Denney, the public is cordially invited to attend the hour-long service.

Miss Harrington is a 1969 graduate of Gulf-Coast Bible College in Houston, Tex., where she received her BA in music and Bible, graduating cum laude and with honors in Spanish and Old Testament history. While there, she was twice an elected class officer, an officer of the A Cappella Choir, and a selected member of Delta Epsilon Chi, Honor Society of the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges in America.

After college graduation, Miss Harrington was a member of the Spurlows, a Christian singing group who for 10 years also represented the Chrysler Corporation on thousands of high school and college campuses across the nation. She has travelled with eight other singing groups throughout Canada and the United States, has taught music in the public school system, and recently headed the music department of a Church of God college in Alberta, Canada.

Miss Harrington has been a resident of Big Spring twice: In 1950-52, when her parents, Rev. and Mrs. George Harrington, pastored the First Church of God here; and in 1961-63, during which years she attended Big Spring High School. The Harringtons are now pastoring the First Church of God in Sweetwater.

The program, consisting entirely of gospel songs both old and new, is designed to appeal to all ages.

THE JOHNSON YEARS — IV Reborn On Political Stump

By The Associated Press
"He's gone." Kenneth O'Donnell said of President John F. Kennedy. With these words Lyndon B. Johnson learned that he had become the 36th President of the United States.
Just like that. From political impotence to virtual omnipotence with the last jiggles of the wavy white line on an electronic machine monitoring Kennedy's heartbeat.
Within the lifetimes of those who lived through that day it seems almost absurd to repeat the time and place: Friday, Nov. 22, 1963. Dallas, Texas. United States of America.

HUMAN SHIELD

A political fence-mending trip, a motorcade, friendly crowds, red roses. A mail-order rifle in a window. Three shots. A Secret Service man slamming Lyndon Johnson to the floor of a convertible, covering him with a human shield. The nightmarish run to Parkland Hospital.

The 55-year-old Johnson spent the last moments of his vice presidency surrounded by guards and drawn shades in a minor-surgery suite of that hospital. The rest of the day was a kaleidoscopic blur for him, for Ladybird, for the widow of John Kennedy, for the government, for Kennedy's devoted followers, for the nation, for the world.

MAD DASH

The mad dash from hospital to airport. The oath-taking in Air Force One, in a stifling hot cabin, with the blood-stained Jacqueline Kennedy in a state of near shock standing at his side. The early frustation and bitterness that would drive the Kennedy and Johnson camps further and further five years later.

Said Theodore H. White, "The Making of The President 1964":
"There is no word less than superb to describe the performance of Lyndon Baines Johnson as he became President of the United States."

LET US CONTINUE

Johnson began taking control in Air Force One on the flight back to Washington. The new President moved quickly and firmly to restore confidence. In its shock and grief and wonderment, the nation and the world were made to know that the United States still had a leader. Johnson set the tone of his administration, established its credentials, in a solemn address to Congress five days after the assassination. He dispelled the fears of those who had expected a sudden change to Texas conservatism. Reminding them of Kennedy's inaugural exhortation "Let us begin," he declared:

"Today, in this moment of new resolve, I would say to all my fellow Americans, let us continue."

CIVIL RIGHTS

It was not merely rhetoric. In that first week of his presidency, Johnson made clear that Kennedy's domestic projects would be Johnson's:
"First," he said, "no memorial oration or eulogy could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the civil rights bill for which he fought so long."
For 32 years, as Johnson told Congress that day, Capitol Hill had been his home. In the following months he demonstrated that the lessons of three decades had not been lost. Where Kennedy had been stalemated time and again in moving his legislative projects along, Johnson achieved success.

The year 1964 became the first of two years unparalleled since the early New Deal in domestic and social legislation. The President intervened personally with the Congress; telephoned, visited, hosted, poured, fed, cajoled, buttonholed.

LBJ BRAND

Within 12 weeks of the assassination, the congressional glacier that had stalled Kennedy began to thaw. The House passed the bill that was to become the 1964 Civil Rights Act; the Senate passed the tax cut.
By the end of January, the transition had been brilliantly effected and the LBJ brand was burned deep upon it.
He made it clear that he would brook no compromise on the civil rights bill — and unlike the watered-down law that he himself had helped push through in 1957, the act signed by Johnson on July 2, 1964, was substantially what Kennedy a year earlier had intended it to be.
In 1964, although Congress hoped for an early campaign-year adjournment, Johnson kept it at work until October. A dazzling number of bills passed, including many that had been believed dead a year earlier. Many of Kennedy's proposals to increase federal aid to college students were passed: the mass-transit-aid bill, wheat price-support legislation, and the antipopoly plan that Kennedy was hatching at the time of his death—all won congressional approval with the Texan in the White House holding the whip.

ONLY LBJ

Bucking the opposition of Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, Johnson failed to win passage of medical care for the elderly under Social Security. It was virtually his only conspicuous legislative failure that first year. But never mind. Before the Johnson years had ended, medicare too would become law and Mills' name would be on the bill.
What could tarnish these solid Johnsonian achievements? Only Johnson himself.
For while the legislative mill was whirling, the Johnson personality was becoming a Washington legend. Increasingly, what came to be known as his "style" was measured against the urbane personality of his slain predecessor—and inevitably, the new President lost in the comparisons.

CRYSTAL CLEAR

He took out the frustrations of the vice presidential years on the late President's brother, the man who, Johnson believed, had tried to block his selection as vice presidential nominee four years earlier. With barely restrained gloe, he made it clear that Robert F. Kennedy would not be his 1964 running mate.
Johnson played credibility gap with the press before the Democratic National Convention but finally did what he had long planned to do, and chose Sen. Hubert Humphrey, a close ally of his days in the Senate, to run with him.
Not that it made much difference. The Republicans had already given him conservative Barry Goldwater for an opponent.
The Eastern "intellectuals" mocked and distrusted him, and he them. The Kennedy cadre gradually trickled out of the White House, having stayed on for a decent interval only to help in the transition. Word got around that Johnson treated his staff mercilessly, kicked elevator doors when he was impatient; berated his Secret Service guards; dined coarsely, cussed a lot.

WOODED THE PRESS

What started out as a lark—a high-speed drive in the ranch country with some journalists—became elevated to the point of near-scandal. Johnson wooed the press with barbecues and drinks and exclusive interviews and frequent press conferences, then grew resentful when the writers were critical.

National prosperity rose and unemployment declined. Johnson spent money on social problems; before he was out of office nearly $6 billion was moving toward the nation's slums. He responded to the black-white crisis of Selma, Ala., with an eloquent appeal to Congress—"We shall overcome," in that district Southern drawl—and the 1964 Civil Rights Act was followed by another in 1965.
Johnson, obsessed with secrecy and keeping his options open and with freedom of movement and consensus, began to phrase with the press, and the phrase "credibility gap" was born; it would follow him into retirement.

BRING THE BABIES

But expiration of the presidential term to which John Kennedy had been elected was a heady time nonetheless for the new President.
In the autumn of 1964, Johnson was reborn on the political stump. In his newly armored presidential limousine, and often out of it, he wore his hands to blisters "pressing the flesh"; reduced his voice to a croak hollering "Come on and hear the speakin' tonight—and bring Molly and the babies."

GREAT SOCIETY

The 1964 Johnson victory was so overwhelming that the early shadows already creeping toward the Johnson presidency were all but dazzled away: He carried all but 60 of 435 congressional districts; won slightly more than 61 per cent of the popular vote with a record 43.1 million votes; took 486 electoral votes, and lost only in five Deep South states and Goldwater's own Arizona.
It seemed an overwhelming mandate for the Great Society Johnson had proclaimed during the campaign.
Names like Mekong and Hue and Thieu were alien to U.S. ears.
People wondered what Theodore White would have to write about in 1968.

Next: The fall of Lyndon Johnson because of war he couldn't win and couldn't stop.

VIETNAMESE REACTION 'I Will Wait To Celebrate Until Peace Really Comes'

SAIGON (AP) — There were no tumultuous cheers in Saigon today, no fireworks, no ticker-tape, no dancing in the streets. The people who have waited longest for peace in Vietnam took the cease-fire announcement quietly — very quietly.
It took some time to sink in. First reactions to the late morning broadcast by President Nguyen Van Thieu were summed up by a ragged pedicab driver:
"I will wait to celebrate until peace really comes."
But as the afternoon wore on the scent of peace seemed to spread like jasmine along the streets and through the market stalls.

"At my house we will celebrate by eating and drinking," said a beaming taxi driver, listening to a rebroadcast of the announcement.
A businessman said he had already laid in a dozen bottles of wine — enough, he figured, for two nights of celebration.
A woman selling candied fruits for Tet, the lunar new year that starts next week, had defied traditional women's temperance and since morning had been tipping Ruou De, a potent but inexpensive rice wine.

LOST HIS LEG

"One of my sons was killed in the fighting and another one lost his leg," she said, her eyes brimming with tears. "Peace is all the Vietnamese people want."
A refugee housewife asked: "Do you think I will be able to go back and see my family in North Vietnam?"
"Firecrackers for Tet have been forbidden since the Communist Tet attacks in 1968," said a laborer in a working quarter of Saigon. "But I don't think the government will be able to keep people from shooting off firecrackers this Tet."

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF HEARING TO CONSIDER PETITION FOR LATE WATER RIGHT RECORDED CLAIM

TO USE STATE WATERS

Notice is given that E. W. RICHARDS, 714 Lincoln Ave., Big Spring, Texas 77720, petitioner, seeks a waiver from the Texas Water Rights Commission to file a late water right recordation claim pursuant to Article 5300(b), Texas Water Code. Petitioner claims the right to use water of the State of Texas as a riparian.

Petitioner claims the right to divert water from Beat Creek, a tributary of the Colorado River, to irrigate land in Section 46, T & P, Howard County, Texas, ¼ of a mile east of Big Spring, Texas.

Petitioner asserts good cause and extraordinary circumstances for failure to timely file his claim of right to use state water, all being more fully set out in said petition and accompanying claim.

A hearing on the petition will be held by the Commission in the San Houston State Office Building at Houston, Texas, on March 14, 1973, at 10:00 a.m. Those opposing the granting of said application should file their written objections with the Commission and the applicant at least five days prior to hearing date, and their reasons therefor and such other information as is required by Commission Rule 20.2.

HANDBOOK FOR POWs 'Lay It On Me Dude, And Right On'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Hey, big daddy," says a Pentagon spokesman for returning prisoners of war, "when your young son or daughter comes to you and says, 'Do you dig?' you can say, 'Lay it on me dude, and right on.'"
The pamphlet is a dictionary of slang expressions to help POWs — some of whom haven't been home in eight years — understand the language of today's youth.

'TUNE IN'

The head of a household, advises the pamphlet, is "big daddy." Being high on either drugs or alcohol is "blasted," while to focus attention on something is to "tune in."
"This is a part of the language and the slang being used by the youth of today — your sons and daughters," says the pamphlet.
The POWs also can be expected to be unaware that Americans first landed on the moon July 20, 1969; that Richard Nixon was elected in 1968 and re-elected in 1972; or that "U.S. infantry troops entered the South Vietnamese village of Song My My Lai in March 1968 and murdered 450 civilians."
Summaries such as the latter are included in the pamphlet to bring the prisoners up to date on major events, sports highlights and deaths of prominent individuals since 1965.
The pamphlets will be handed out to the POWs as they arrive at Clark Field in the Philippines, first stop on the way home.

UP TO DATE

A Pentagon spokesman said the new summary is "not mandatory reading" and in "no way intends to manage the news."
