Unwilling To Accept Prisoner List As Final

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials, unwilling to accept North Vietnam's latest prisoner list as final, are pressing Communist diplomats for more names than those of seven American servicemen and three civilians acknowledged as captives in Laos.

FATE OF 308
Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, chief U.S. negotiator of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement and its prisoner provisions, said Thursday night that "it doesn't look to us that it could be complete."

"We are querying them" for further information and more names, Kissinger said in a CBS interview.

The new lists, provided belatedly Thursday, left unexplained the fate of 308 U.S. servicemen and four civilians who have been carried in American records as either prisoners or missing in Laos.

Pentagon and State Department officials expressed shock and disappointment that the lists handed over in Paris five days after the Vietnam cease-fire agreement was signed were so small.

North Vietnam has acknowledged 562 U.S. servicemen and 23 American civilians are in Communist captivity in North Vietnam, South Vietnam and Laos.

NO LIGHT
Beyond this, the North Vietnamese have reported 55 military men and six civilians died while in prison.

For Indochina as a whole, the North Vietnamese lists supplied since last Saturday have failed to shed any light on what has happened to some 1,300 officers and enlisted men and 22 American civilians.

One of the three civilians reported prisoner in Thursday's list is a Canadian missionary.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim refused to voice any opinion when asked whether the North Vietnamese and their Pathet Lao allies might be holding back more names because U.S. warplanes are still bombing the Ho Chi Minh trail network and other targets in Laos despite the Vietnam cease-fire.

MISSING
Friedheim said he could not say more than an official Pentagon statement that "the U.S. government will continue its efforts to account for all military personnel who have been carried by the United States as captured and missing."

The total of U.S. servicemen identified as prisoners in Laos actually is nine. It has been established that two servicemen whose names appeared on a list of 555 identified by the Hanoi diplomats last Saturday as captured by the North Vietnamese had been imprisoned in Laos. Friedheim did not name the two.

Some Air Force veterans of the campaign over Laos have said privately they believe as many as 65 to 70 American fliers may have been captured there in nearly nine years of American bombing strikes.

PERFORM AUTOPSY ON MUMMY—A 2,000-year-old mummy, unwrapped for an autopsy at Wayne State University School of Medicine in Detroit, is viewed by doctors performing the operation. Dr. Robin Barraco, left, Wayne State University physiologist, watches as Dr. Theodore Reymann, Mt. Carmel hospital of Detroit, bends for a close look at hole in mummy's skull. The mummy was found to be a male of about 55 years of age and obviously an upperclass Egyptian from the high quality of the preservation process.

JAILED HERE Alleged Killer Is Flown Home

Urbano Ruiz Montellano, 43, of Ojo Calente, Zacatecas, Mexico, was flown by the U.S. Immigration from Big Spring to El Paso Monday where he was turned over to Mexican police for questioning in connection with around a dozen murders in the interior of Mexico.

Montellano was arrested by the immigration authorities on the Hays Ranch in Scurry County, where he had apparently been working for about a year.

He was jailed by the local immigration authorities in the Big Spring City jail and then flown to Mexican authorities.

One source indicated that Montellano had already served some time in Mexico.

In another area incident involving a native of Mexico, a Miquel Ortiz Gallardo, 25 and a Mexican National were charged with murder in the stabbing death of George Torres, still another Mexican National, last weekend in Lamesa.

Torres died of stab wounds early Saturday and was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace A. L. Standerfer in Dawson County.

The Mexican National charged in the murder worked briefly in Big Spring on the North Side prior to going to Lamesa. The youth killed was 17 years old.

Mistaken Identity

MIAMI (AP) — Nish Scott's ex-wife burst into tears when told by police that her children's father was killed in an auto wreck.

Then Ruby Scott cried out louder when she came face to face with Scott while on the way to the morgue Thursday to identify what she thought was his body.

Scott, whom she ran into on the street, was nursing a swollen eye and cut lip.

"It was pretty shocking," said Mrs. Scott.

Dade County Sheriff's deputies soon learned that the body removed from Scott's wrecked auto was apparently the body of a robber who had beaten Scott and then stole his vehicle.

The accident victim has been identified as Scott because, although the body had no identification on it, a traffic ticket issued to Nish Scott was in the car.

Scott told police he had picked up two hitchhikers who robbed him and took his money and car.

He was angry over the robbery but Sheriff's Det. Gerald Mingo said Scott took the news of his death "pretty gracefully."

INMATES BEAT RAPE SUSPECT

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A man held in the jail at Waco in connection with the rape and slaying of an 8-year-old girl, was in a solitary cell today after being beaten by fellow jail inmates.

Sheriff's deputies said Willie Lee Stokes, 49, was cut over the eye after he was jumped by some of the 16 prisoners in his cell.

Stokes is charged with murder and is held under a $50,000 bond in the death of Theresa Ann Wilson.

The girl's body was found buried in a shallow grave in the back yard of Stokes' home earlier this week.

Antagonist Free, Victim Charged

A stabbing victim ended up charged by police here Thursday night. The stabber apparently has not been charged.

F. C. Nichols of Box 2942, San Diego, Calif., is in the Veterans Administration Hospital where he is being treated for stabbing wounds which he alleges happened at the Gomez Apartments No. 8.

Nichols is also charged with drunk in public. The alleged knife has not yet been charged. Police said no formal complaint had been made against him.

Stennis In 'Very Serious' Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., remained in "very serious" condition at Walter Reed Army Medical Center today but a spokesman reported he "had a good night."

Stennis, who was shot twice Tuesday night during a robbery in front of his house in Washington, "is now awake, alert and well-oriented," the spokesman, Maj. Frank Garland, said.

Garland said Stennis "continues to show improvement. The vital signs are good."

Stennis is still being fed intravenously, Garland said. The spokesman added that Stennis has not been put back on the respirator that had aided his breathing until Thursday.

The next briefing on the 71-year-old senator's condition will be held at 3 p.m. EST.

Stennis was visited Thursday by his son, John H. Stennis.

The younger Stennis, a member of the Mississippi Legislature, said he felt the assault on his father, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, would not change his attitude toward gun control. Stennis has opposed such measures in the past.

DANIEL B. BREWSTER

Former Senator Sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., was sentenced today to two to six years in prison and fined $30,000 on charges of accepting an illegal gratuity.

His codefendant, former lobbyist Cyrus T. Anderson, was sentenced to 1½ to 4½ years in prison and fined $30,000.

New Budget Confirms His Worst Fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring President Nixon's new budget confirms the worst fears of Congress, Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., today accused the White House of what he called irresponsible abandonment of decades of socially useful programs.

He commented at the beginning of Labor Committee questioning of Caspar Weinberger who was head of the Office of Budget and Management when the federal budget for fiscal 1974 was drawn up.

The budget, Williams said, makes no real effort to improve by building on existing strengths. It simply plays on any weaknesses—either real or imagined—in existing programs as an excuse for junking them.

Weinberger is waiting Senate confirmation to become secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

'I CRIED TODAY'

'I Never At Any Time Thought He Was Dead'

By The Associated Press

"Not knowing, not being sure — that was the most horrible thing during these two years," Rose Gotner said after her husband, missing in action nearly two years, was reported on a list of prisoners of war in Laos.

"But last Saturday, that was the most horrible day of our lives because we were supposed to get a complete accounting then of all the prisoners," she said in Sacramento, Calif., after being notified Thursday that her husband, Maj. Norbert Gotner was named on a list of seven POWs held by the Communists in Laos.

I CRIED
"We started waiting at 5 a.m. (Saturday), and we waited all day for the telephone," she said.

"We got this champagne then," she said gesturing to a bottle that had been opened a short time before. "Finally at 8 o'clock Saturday night they came to the house and said Norm wasn't on the list."

"I didn't cry then. I cried today after the Air Force called from San Antonio. They said he was on the list of prisoners in Laos. The first thing I did was sit down and cry. I had tears flowing all down my face. I could hardly believe it was over," she said, now excited and smiling.

Mrs. Gotner, a petite, blonde mother of three, said she had heard nothing about her husband since Feb. 3, 1971 — the day his Phantom jet was shot down along the border of Laos and North Vietnam.

"But I never at any time thought he was dead," she added.

In Winlock, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Leonard said their son, Air Force Maj. Edward W. Leonard, Jr., 34, was also on the list.

GREAT FEELING
"It's a great feeling of satisfaction and relief," Leonard said. "We knew that he was alive, but we never had any contact with him."

In Centralia, Wash., Dwight Mattix said the State Department told him the name of his son, Samuel, 20, and Lloyd O'Connell, of Courtenay, B.C., were on the list of civilians who were captured in Laos.

Mattix said the two were missionaries when they were taken prisoner last October.

Also on the list was Air Force Capt. Stephen Long, who had not been heard from since his plane was shot down over Laos on Feb. 28, 1969. His parents, Dan Long and Mrs. H.E. Barnhart, both of Springfield, Ore., were notified that he was alive on Thursday.

"I just got goose pimples all over," said Mrs. Barnhart. "There just isn't a word for how you feel at a time like this."

West Coast Woman First To Die On County Roads

An Imperial, Calif., woman became the first Howard County traffic fatality of 1973 in an automobile accident about six miles west of Big Spring Thursday.

Betty Joyce Robnett, 31, was dead on arrival at a local hospital after the car she was a passenger in ran off the road on IS 20 and overturned four times.

Driver of the automobile was Mrs. Robnett's sister, Cottie Darlene Hogland, 17, Mesquite, who received minor injuries.

According to investigating officers, the vehicle was traveling east and left the road while trying to pass another car.

Services for Mrs. Robnett are pending at Humphrey Mortuary in Cula Vista, Calif. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is handling the local arrangements.

Survivors include her husband, Stanley Robnett, San Diego, four sons, Steven, Johnny, William and Michael, San Diego; another sister, Mrs.

Linda Wilkersham, Huntington Beach, Calif., her mother, Mrs. Donna Jean Norrell, Huntington Beach, Calif.

Other survivors are her step father, F. W. Norrell, Huntington Beach, and stepmother, Mrs. Arlene Christianson, Mesquite.

US 87 Wreck Kills One

Dennis Michael Lazor, 19, of Randolph Air Force Base was pronounced dead at the scene of a car tractor trailer accident about three miles south of the Howard-Sterling County line about 9 a.m. today.

Justice of the Peace Eddie Edwards declared Lazor dead at the scene on U.S. 87.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lazor of San Antonio. The father is a retired Air Force sergeant. Dennis Michael Lazor was born in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 30, 1953.

The car ran under the left side of a tractor trailer, a Highway Patrol spokesman said.

An unidentified girl in the car was brought to Cowper Clinic and Hospital in Big Spring.

The body was taken to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Gunfire Kills Two Deputies; Apprehend Two Men, Woman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Gunfire during a vehicle license check claimed the lives today of a Bexar County sheriff's deputy who joined the force when he was too young to carry a pistol and a deputy reserve officer who served with no pay.

Two men and a woman were arrested a short time later.

Killed were Vincent L. "Jerry" Walker, 24, who moved from a sheriff's department office job to the field after he became old enough to carry a weapon, and Joshua Rodriguez, 28, who supplied his own uniform and pistol to become a reserve.

DEAD IN ROAD
Officers said Sheriff W. B. Hauck, hospitalized with a heart condition, was not told at once of the slayings, which occurred about 12:30 a.m. in the northwest portion of the county near Leon Valley.

Deputy James Lingo said the slain men told him by radio shortly after midnight they had stopped a van and asked Lingo to make a check of its license plates.

"The next thing we knew," Lingo said, "a resident called in and said we had two officers dead in the road."

Officers said a vehicle resembling the van which was stopped had been seen at burglaries in the northwest part of the county.

Officers gave this account: Walker radioed to say he and his partner were leaving his patrol car after they stopped the van. The radio was dead for 10 minutes.

At 12:40 a.m., a passerby used the radio to tell the dispatcher two wounded officers were found in the road. Walker was in a pool of blood near the center stripe of the highway, which travels northwestward into the Texas Hill Country, and Rodriguez lay on the ground to the side.

Walker's pistol was still in its holster. Rodriguez's gun was a few feet from him.

About an hour after Walker's voice was last heard San Antonio policeman Ernest Aguilera spotted a van fitting the description of the one which Walker had stopped. Aguilera pursued the van on west San Antonio streets and arrested a man and a woman.

About 4 a.m. another man was arrested at a San Antonio residence.

MOVIE 'STAR'
A publicist for the movie "The Sugarland Express," which stars Goldie Hawn and is being shot on location here, said Walker worked a double shift Thursday in order to be available today as an extra in the filming. The movie involves a madcap police chase.

Rodriguez was a radar-radio worker at Kelly Air Force Base here and the father of an 18-month-old child.

Officers found a large cache of stolen goods, and weapons, narcotics paraphernalia and marijuana plants and seeds when they arrested the second man.

Walker provided his colleagues with the only lead in the investigation of his death.

Stopping Suspicious Auto 'Frightening' Experience

By JOHN EDWARDS
The thing that most frightened me was stopping a suspicious vehicle," commented the Rev. Dan McClinton, music and youth director at Baptist Temple and formerly a reserve deputy sheriff in San Antonio.

He was reflecting on the shooting death of a man he knew as a reserve deputy before coming to Big Spring. Jerry Walker, a reserve deputy, and Joshua Rodriguez were found shot dead on a northwest San Antonio street after stopping a non-commercial bus for a check on ownership early this morning.

The Rev. McClinton knew Walker when the local man worked alternating Friday nights as a reserve deputy between Nov. 1970 and Nov. 1971.

SAME PLACE
"Man alive," the Big Spring man said of his reaction on hearing the story about the killings this morning. "I had been right there and in the same sort of situation."

They were taught to let the regular deputy go up to the driver of a suspicious vehicle while they stand behind a door of the patrol car watching.

But it appeared that Walker did not do this, the Rev. McClinton said. It was not because of lack of training.

Now, reserve law officers must complete a 70 hour course before serving, the Rev. McClinton said.

Because of problems with law officers being shot there, in California men on patrol use a loud speaker to tell drivers and passengers to get out. The Rev. McClinton said. He looks for similar regulations here in the future.

"It's too easy to get blasted," he said.

DEDICATED
The Rev. McClinton described Walker as quiet and a "real dedicated law enforcement man." Walker, he said, always volunteered for extra work, like guarding construction sites and standing by at football games.

The 200 reserve deputy sheriffs serve 16 hours monthly without pay and must buy their own uniforms and equipment.

The Rev. McClinton praised reserve law enforcement officers and said the program gives "an average man a chance to see what it's like to be part of law enforcement."

The Baptist Temple employee was serving as minister of music at Northside Baptist Church when he worked as a reserve deputy. "I was sheltered from the nitty gritty of life."

Seeing the other side of life he felt, helped in his counseling and work with youths. He was able to counsel men who were arrested.

Having never had a gun drawn on him and never being assaulted with a knife, the Rev. McClinton said; "I guess I was lucky."

81 MILLION AMERICANS WORKING

5 Per Cent Jobless Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped slightly last month to 5.1 per cent of the work force, lowest in 2 1/2 years, the Labor Department reported today.

The actual number of Americans out of work rose 560,000, but since it normally climbs more than that in January, the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured it as a decline on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The 5 per cent jobless rate, down from 5.1 per cent in December, had been the Nixon administration's goal for reducing joblessness by the end of last year. The January report means the administration missed its target by only one month.

The total number of Americans employed also declined, down 1.8 million to 81 million. It normally drops in January and the bureau figured it as a seasonal drop of 350,000.

The drop in employment was largely due to fewer agricultural jobs, the report said.

The bureau also reported that average hourly earnings of some 50 million rank-and-file workers rose 4 cents to 13.78, but average weekly pay dropped $1.15 to $138.35 because of a decline in the average work week.

AVERAGE PAY

Average weekly pay was still up $8.06, or 6.2 per cent, over the past year, nearly double the 3.4 per cent loss of purchasing power to rising living costs.

The report said the unemployment rate for men edged down from 3.4 to 3.3 per cent with a total of 2 million, nearly half a million less than a year earlier. The unemployment rate for women rose from 5.1 to 5.3 per cent with a total of 1.6 million, about 70,000 less than in January of 1972. The jobless rate for teen-agers fell last month from 15.7 to 14.3 per cent with a total of slightly over 1 million, some 200,000 less than a year ago.

In a racial breakdown, the bureau said unemployment among white workers remained unchanged at 4.6 per cent with a total of 3.8 million, down 600,000 from a year earlier. The unemployment rate for non-whites—mostly Negroes—declined last month from 9.6 to 8.9 per cent with a total of 840,000 down about 60,000 from a year ago.

Legion Officers Leave For Dallas

Six executive officers of the local American Legion will attend the annual statewide American Legion College which begins today in Dallas and continues through Sunday.

Local representatives among the 300-plus who will attend are Rocky Vieira, commander; Don McCray, 1st vice commander; Troy Melton, adjutant; Ollie Bransom, past commander; T. A. Lincoln, 3rd vice commander; and Louis Castillas, club manager.

Purpose of the annual college is to keep the commanders informed of the latest methods of helping and recruiting veterans.

Commission To Discuss Rehab Center Problems

The City Commission will meet with County Commissioners Court at the courthouse 9 a.m. Monday to discuss possibly subsidizing the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Operating expenses will exceed anticipated revenues for the center this year without additional funds from somewhere.

A representative of the city-county health unit will confer with the court about hiring an additional nurse.

Other items include: —Opening bids on a car and washer and dryer for the Sheriff's Office. The washer and dryer have been proposed for installation in the county jail.

—Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr., who was appointed after Jess Slaughter died, plans to discuss attending a training program.

—John Sullivan of Resco Service Supply is to tell about bills for repairing heating in the courthouse.

—And the regular conference with Marvin Hanson, road administrator, and approving bills are slated.

Mini-Courses Begin Monday

Four short-courses open to local citizens will begin at Howard County Junior College Monday.

All four of the courses, part of the continuing education program, will meet from 7-9 p.m. each Monday night.

Wig styling, a six-week class, will be taught by Mrs. Mary Haught in the Adult Education Building, Room 2. Fee for the course is $10.

Upholstery, an eight-week course, will be instructed by John Annen in the Practical Arts Building, Room 109. Fee is $15.

Mrs. Paula Leonard will instruct an eight-week class in typing which will cost $10 and meet in the Horace Garrett Applied Science Building, Room 205.

Sewing will be offered for eight weeks by Cindy Dohon in the Adult Ed Building, Room 1. Fee will be $17.

Interested persons may pre-register for the course by calling the college at 267-4311 ext. 32. Fees may be paid at the first class meetings.

Record Number

ODESSA — Spring enrollment ended at Odessa College Wednesday, with a record 2,879 students on the rolls. The previous mark was set in 1971 when 2,665 signed up.

Would Allow State To Sue Dads Of Kids On Welfare

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Welfare Board voted Thursday to ask the legislature for a law that would allow the state to sue fathers of children on welfare for child support payments.

The board also said it wants to make welfare cheating a felony and to clarify existing law on fraudulent acts by welfare recipients.

The U.S. Supreme Court recently ruled that a state could force the father of an illegitimate child to contribute to its support.

The board wants authority to collect that support and also go after divorced fathers and fathers who have deserted.

"I think there would be people going off the rolls as a result of this legislation," welfare commissioner Raymond Vowell said. The reason for this is that contributions by the fathers would raise the families' income in many cases above the level that qualifies for welfare.

The board instructed its staff to draft new budget proposals for the 1974-75 biennium in order to conform with federal regulations under the 1972 Social Security Law.

That law will save Texas millions in money the federal government will pay to the aged, blind and disabled, since Washington will take over those programs.

But Texas will lose even more net loss of as much as $135 million in two years—because of increased Medicaid rolls, for which the state will continue to be partly responsible. The state must abide by federal guidelines in order to get federal welfare help.

Board member Louis Sarazan said, "In view of the President's almost heroic efforts to

45,941 Yankees Die In Action, 300,635 Wounded

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command closed out its scheduled weekly casualty summaries today and announced that 45,941 American servicemen died in action in Indochina from Jan. 1, 1961, until the official start of a cease-fire last Sunday.

The final summary also listed 300,635 Americans wounded in action and 1,811 missing, captured or interned. Another 10,303 American servicemen were listed as having died from non-hostile causes such as aircraft accidents, homicides, suicides and illness.

The summary did not include one American who died and five who were wounded after the truce began. It said four Americans were killed in action last week, three died of non-hostile causes, 13 were wounded, and four were missing or captured.

All the casualties last week occurred between the time President Nixon announced the peace agreement Jan. 23 and the hour it officially began—8 a.m. Saigon time Jan. 28.

Pilot Program Allows Moms To Re-Enlist For Navy Duty

By LARRY CARROLL
Associated Press Writer

LEMOORE NAVAL AIR STATION, Calif. (AP) — Six months ago Kathleen Jensen decided to do something about changing Navy policy and went right to the top.

She wrote a letter to Navy Chief of Staff Adm. Elmo Zumwalt and now she's become one of the first women to be allowed to re-enlist in the Navy after becoming a mother.

An aviation administration apprentice, Mrs. Jensen now is awaiting orders to attend aviation maintenance school after which she will keep logs and records of aircraft and work in the technical library.

Airman Jensen, 24, and her husband, Greg, 25, an aviation mechanic, met at Memphis Naval Air Station in 1966 and were married soon after. She became pregnant and her Navy career came to an end.

Things went along smoothly and Greg was discharged in 1969. However, he found civilian life unchallenging and re-enlisted last year.

This turn of events set the wheels spinning in Kathleen's head. If the Navy now allows women on ships, why couldn't they let women with children serve on active duty, she thought.

Not wasting any time, she sat down and wrote a letter to Zumwalt.

A week later the phone rang and the Bureau of Navy Personnel told her that she would be part of a pilot program to establish the feasibility of women with children serving in the Navy.

By last November she was back in uniform and about to drop a big bomb on her unknown husband, who was on duty at sea.

"Greg didn't even know I was back on active duty. I sent him papers to sign but he still didn't believe they would ever let me back in. I had nagged and complained so much he finally said, 'Go ahead and try if you really want to, but if they turn you down, I don't want to hear another word,'" Kathleen said.

NAVY MOM—Airman Apprentice Kathleen Jensen leaves for work at Lemoore Naval Air Station, Calif., as her husband, Greg, and her two sons look on. Mrs. Jensen is one of the first women to be allowed to re-enlist in the Navy after becoming a mother. Mrs. Jensen wrote a letter to Navy Chief of Staff Elmo Zumwalt which was instrumental in changing Navy policy.

"Everything happened so quickly that I didn't have time to write him and tell him I was back in the Navy. The day his ship pulled in I was in such a hurry to check out, pick up the kids and meet him, I just went in uniform. At first he was shocked — he was looking for me, not a Wave," she said. The couple has two children, Mark, 5, and Michael, 2. How strong is this urge to make the Navy a career? Airman Jensen says her and Greg's enlistments are up next year and they both plan to re-enlist. "He better re-enlist after I went through all this," she said.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Beverly Peters, bride-elect of Tim Winn, was honored at a shower Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jeanne Striegler, No. 9, Holiday Inn Apartments. Assisting as cohostess was Miss Kelli Striegler.

The refreshment table was centered with two miniature wedding bells. Petals of roses were served with orange sherbet punch. Completing table decorations was a basket of rice bags.

The honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations tied with orange streamers, as was her mother, Mrs. Charles Ginn. Guests included the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. R. T. Winn. About 15 people attended.

Miss Peters and Winn will be married at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Crestview Baptist Church, with the Rev. Jim Wilkerson officiating.

Maternal grandparents are Lt. Col. and Mrs. Roy J. Ginder, 107 Gunter, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scott, Denver, Colo. Maternal great-grandmothers are Mrs. Howard Clark, Albuquerque, N.M., and Mrs. J. L. Ginder, Alamosa, Colo. Mrs. William Scott of Albuquerque, N.M., is paternal great-grandmother.

Home Decorating Study Scheduled

Mrs. Harold L. Fraser hosted a meeting of the Mary Jane Club Thursday morning in her home. There were 14 members present. The group will meet for a program about interior decorating, presented by Mrs. Walter Wheat, at 9:30 a.m., Feb. 15 in the home of Mrs. Jack Taylor, Coahoma.

'Teenagers Spending $12 Billion Annually'

"What young people expect of credit" was the topic explored by Mrs. Dan Riemond, guest speaker Thursday for Big Spring Credit Women at the Settles Hotel.

Mrs. Riemond said many young adults think of credit as a new type of Santa Claus and don't take the time to study their financial situation prior to requesting credit.

Buffet Supper Held At Church

The St. Paul Lutheran Church Parish Workers met for a buffet supper Thursday evening, with Mrs. Carroll C. Kohl leading the prayer service which followed.

"Prayer pals" for the past year were revealed, and new names were drawn. It was announced that the group will serve cake and coffee at the Veterans Administration Hospital Feb. 12. The mission board reported 10 hospitality calls during January.

Mrs. J. D. Nelson will host the Bible study class which is slated at 9 a.m., Feb. 9. The Rev. Carroll C. Kohl directs the classes.

Plants Need More Water In Winter

When the cold of winter changes the landscape from green to white, there is something comforting about filling your apartment with green growing things. It may surprise you to know however, that your plants may not be as comfortable as you are. Apartment plants often require special care in the winter.

For example, the air in an apartment is usually drier in winter than in summer, and it may get warmer and dustier. At the same time, sunlight through open windows is weaker.

Warm, dry air requires more watering. Water your plants regularly (at least every 10 days). And between regular waterings spray them with a household sprayer to increase the humidity around leaves and wash off dust.

"Young adults between the ages of 13 and 20 comprise 12 per cent of this country's population," said Mrs. Riemond, "and they spend $12 billion annually. They are credit-oriented because they have been reared in a society where credit is a way of life."

Mrs. Riemond said she is glad courses concerning money management and credit are now being taught in schools. She pointed out that if a credit application is investigated thoroughly before being approved, there is usually no collection problem. Applicants should be told how the account is to be paid, and the interviewer must decide if the applicant has the means to pay.

"With many merchants, you have to have credit before you can get credit," said Mrs. Riemond. She encouraged merchants to give young people a chance when they are trying to establish a credit rating.

Mrs. George Weeks presided, and Mrs. Carl Eason, a guest, became a member of the club. Members agreed to sponsor a YMCA youth membership.

Suggestions for improving national and state credit club programs were discussed and will be forwarded to the respective headquarters. A state convention is scheduled in May, followed by a national convention in June.

The next meeting will be a salad buffet in the home of Mrs. W. E. Moren, 1301 Eleventh Place, at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 15.

Same Old Pitch

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old woman who has been married and divorced three times in the last 10 years. You will probably say what everybody else says when you find out I married and divorced the same man all three times.

Our last divorce became final three weeks ago, and now Mike is begging me to marry him again. We have no children and we don't want any. I really love the guy, Abby, but the only time he is good to me is when we're divorced. Mike is a wonderful lover, but he's a rotten husband. When we're man and wife he drinks, runs around, and stays out late. I never know where he is or who he's with, which drives me up a wall.

If you knew how much we've spent on lawyers you would think we were out of our minds. I know there will never be any other man for me, but I know if I marry Mike again he'll go back to his old mean, abusive ways. Can you help me?

THREETIME LOSER
DEAR LOSER: Three strikes and a man is OUT, no matter how good he pitches. Some men are great to date but not to mate, and Mike could be one of them.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 21, and she shares an apartment with another girl. Until she went to college she was very considerate, and since she was an only child we were a very close family.

Although she was invited, she did not spend Christmas. Thanksgivings, Mother's Day, or Father's Day with us. She sent cards, but she spent those special days with her boy friend and his parents.

Naturally, I was upset, and when I confronted her she said there are 365 days a year to love us, and why should she give up these particular days? She says times have changed and I am square. Am I?

VERY HURT
DEAR HURT: No, but don't make an issue of it. I can understand your being "hurt," but if you continue to make her feel guilty, you may see even less of her.

DEAR ABBY: Here in Iowa the winters are pretty cold, so my sisters and I have made a habit of putting out food for the squirrels, birds, and rabbits. Today, we had an especially heavy snowfall so we put out a little extra food for the animals and birds.

Today, we saw a little squirrel who had been in our neighborhood for as long as we can remember go into a neighbor's yard and start to eat out of a bird feeder. Abby, the neighbor came out of his house with a shotgun and with one shot KILLED that little hungry squirrel while he was eating! It just made us sick.

Please print this and tell people if they don't want animals in their yard to just chase them away. You can't teach a dead animal anything. And for those of you who do help these little creatures in the winter when food is hard to come by, God bless you.

Love and peace to you, Abby. Please don't use our names, sign us/18, 16 and 15

IN WATERLOO
DEAR 18, 16, AND 15: And love and peace to you, too! I'm sorry you won't allow me to disclose your names. You are three beautiful sisters.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-address envelope, please.

MOD Film Seen By Sorority

"Keep On Walking," a film shown Thursday evening for Alpha Eta Upsilon Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, outlined how the March of Dimes assists in prevention and cure of birth defects.

Mrs. Jerry Hewett, executive secretary for Caprock Chapter of the MOD, which includes six counties, was guest speaker for the meeting. The film told about the progress of a boy born without arms, and showed how he adjusted to artificial arms. Mrs. Hewett said the MOD helps children with crippling birth defects, learn to live normal lives. A portion of the money contributed to MOD used in research for the prevention of birth defects.

The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Dwayne Blackwell, Ackerly. Members agreed to change regular meeting times from 9:30 a.m. to 9 a.m., the next one being Feb. 15 in the home of Mrs. Rex Zant, Ackerly.

A LOVELIER YOU No Tangles, Tears With Right Product

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely mother writes: I have two little girls with thick, long hair. Their ages are six and 10 years. We get along fine until shampoo time. Then tangles and tears become the order of the day. Is there any method of shampooing that makes the process more acceptable to long-hairs?

The answer: Try having the girls sit on a high stool or kitchen-type chair with their backs to the basin, hairdressing salon fashion. For comfort place a rolled terry towel under the neck.

Use a "Wash & Comb" shampoo, with a formula that helps prevent tangling. To understand how the formula works, one first must remember how the hair is constructed. It looks smooth to the naked eye but under a microscope strands are seen to be made up of spiky scales. Little wonder that strand cross-hatch and snag. To lessen snagging — the tangle-maker — a neutral non-medicated shampoo base with a positive catatonic charge was found effective.

For a thorough wash, first brush the hair, and then next, apply shampoo, rinse well and repeat. Do not towel too vigorously, simply pat hair with towel and comb out.

Look, ma, no tugging or pulling! Look, girls, no tears! That goes for big girls, too!

TEEN TRESSES
Is your hair a problem, Miss Teen? Then send for my leaflet, "Teen Tresses, Modal Type." It tells how to correct such ailments as oily hair and flaky scalp; fly-away, unmanageable, lackluster locks. Included, too, are styling tips and model grooming quickies. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

TRINITY CONCRETE BURIAL VAULTS have grown increasingly popular since they were first marketed. More and more people annually realize the superior protection given by concrete burial vaults. These vaults are constructed by Trinity Memorial Park of dense concrete that can withstand pressure of more than 4,000 pounds per square inch. Tests have shown that this concrete increases in strength as it ages. A concrete vault prevents sunken graves, and rust and corrosion are not possible. Trinity Memorial Park believes that a more lasting vault cannot be built at any price. The strength and durability of the vaults are provided by steel reinforced concrete, and a waterproofing agent mixed with the concrete before it is formed adds impermeability. A special feature of vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park is the "Air Seal." Any dampness from any other possible source can escape, so the interior will be kept in a dry condition. Trinity Memorial Park has been making the vaults for 14 years. They are available through the various funeral homes in Big Spring, Stanton, Lamesa and Snyder.

WEST-TEX TELEPHONE COOPERATIVE has almost 1,500 members making a net increase of 36 members during 1972 over the previous year. During the year, 568 extension phones were added to the system, indicating an interest in Cooperative members for the convenient equipment available through West-Tex. The system's value increased in 1972 over the previous year by almost $111,000, bringing total worth of the Cooperative to $2,118,919. A new home is in store for the Coop which will include extensive warehouse space. The new building will cost about $100,000, and will be located on US 80 west of Stanton, just beyond the Cap Rock Electric Coop building. Included in the five per cent worth increase was an addition in phone lines taking the form of buried cable. With this innovation, almost one-third of the Cooperative's lines are now buried, minimizing damage from ice storms and high winds.

Lee Directs Hawks Past Cowboy J's

Slick Herbie Lee, Howard tonight in Lubbock when they Lumy put the hosts in front County's Little Big Man, sank close out a heavy four-game for the first time with 13:52 a pair of free throws with one week against the Lubbock remaining in the half. HC hit second remaining Thursday Christian College Junior Varsity a seven-point bulge three times night as the Jayhawks opened at 5:30 p.m. The Lubbock in the half before settling for the Hardin-Simmons Junior Christian Varsity takes on a 47-41 advantage at the Varsity 81-89.

Lee and the rest of the Williams, maintaining a The Pokes cut the margin to the Hawks' terrific triumvirate, brilliant pace, hit 29 points and tied the Taylor Williams and Leroy pulled down most of the team's game at 63-63 on a basket by Lumy, outdid the Cowboys' 32 rebounds to lead the way. Preston with 12:15 left before one-man gang, Dub Preston, Lee hit a season high 24 points. Williams got the home team back on top with a three-point shot. The decision avenged an earlier 34-79 loss to the H-SU Preston and his Cowboy Robert Mahoney, who had 14 teammates, since they hit points for the Cowboy JVs, hit the three straight baskets after the up for 75 points as Coach from the field and were only visitors had dropped behind, Harold Wilder's crew ran its out-rebounded by the Hawks, 32-11 and the third put his team in front, 81-80 with 5:08 showing on the clock.

Williams took care of that problem, however, scoring another three-point play on an assist from the 5-9 Lee, and the Hawks were in good shape until Preston hit his 10th and 11th free throws without a miss to re-tie it at 89-89 with 52 seconds remaining.

The Hawks went into a stall and then called time out with 14 seconds remaining. After the inbounds play the Cowboys knocked the ball out of bounds with four seconds left, and it looked like the game would be decided in overtime.

But Lee drew a foul by Mahoney with one second left and then coolly won the game with a pair of free throws.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

I had a lot of trouble getting excited about the NFL draft Tuesday and Wednesday. So much trouble, in fact, that I didn't get excited, I mean.

Nevertheless, I've sifted through the 442 names of the draftees and have come up with a list of my own concerning who will make it and who won't. No matter what the scouts tell you, this is not a good year for college talent.

My semi-fool proof method of weeding out the slackers reveals that this is really an exceptionally poor year, and that few will make it with the big boys. Wondering about my system, are you? Well, I do it by names.

For instance, I can assure you that John Cieszkowski of Notre Dame, Ron Mikolajczak of Tampa, Tom Pierantozzi of Westchester State and Gary Hrivnac of Purdue will not make it. It's very simple. It'll be too much trouble for the press to learn how to spell their names, and they'll wither away from lack of attention.

And then we find guys like Walter Love of Westminster, Joe Lavender of San Diego State, Larry Smiley of Texas Southern, Fuller Cherry of Arkansas-Monticello and Mike Fink of Missouri. Now seriously, what kind of future could guys like these have in professional football. Someone should be shot for even considering them.

The few who will make it, for obvious reasons, include Harold Sampson of Southern University, drafted by Green Bay in the 17th round; Concordia's Mike Kutler, picked up by New England in round 18; and Roger Cowan of Stanford, claimed by Pittsburgh in the 18th round. And I hear that last guy is really a prize.

Former Howard County cage standout Jim Krier wasn't one of the shiniest stars in last week's staggering 83-68 Sam Houston State victory over Stephen F. Austin in the battle between Nos. 1 and 2, but he definitely was a factor. The Bearkat forward and teammate Ron Battle were nominated as Lone Star Conference Players of the Week for their performance against the Lumberjacks as they held talented Robert Gords to eight points and three rebounds.

Gords, the second leading scorer in the conference, was averaging over 22 points and 11 rebounds per game. Howard Payne's Bob Kershner received the week's honor, however, as he scored 61 points and grabbed 29 rebounds in a pair of victories over McMurry and Angelo State.

Speaking of Angelo State, Ram track star Josh Owusu, who won a fourth place for Ghana in the long jump at the 1972 Olympics in Munich, will be entered in the field for the fifth annual Astrodomne Federation National Track and Field Meet next weekend.

As a matter of fact, it'll almost look like a repeat of that event since all three of the United States' Olympic long jumpers will be entered, including gold medalist Randy Williams.

Also entered will be Arnie Robinson, the bronze medalist, and fifth place finisher Preston Carrington. The only face missing will be silver medalist Hans Haugartner of West Germany.

Williams, the young Southern Californian, won with a leap of 27-07, and Owusu went 26-35, Owusu, from Accra, Ghana, once called 27-10 in a national meet in Nigeria, but landed to the left of the pit and the jump was disallowed. Had he stayed on course, his jump would have been one of the best two or three in history.

Winner Gets NY Jets' Nod

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlie Wimer, who has had previous football ties with Webb Ewbank as an assistant coach and who has off-field ties as Ewbank's son-in-law, will become head coach of the New York Jets in 1974.

"I did my homework and he's the best man for the job," Phil Iselin, president of the National Football League club, said Thursday in announcing that Wimer will serve as an Ewbank assistant and then take over as head coach when the 65-year-old Ewbank becomes general manager in 1974.

Winner, who has signed a three-year contract that will make him head coach through 1976, has been an assistant to George Allen, handling the Washington Redskins' defensive secondary, since he was fired as head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals following the 1970 season and a five-year record of 35-30-5. He was 8-5-1 in 1970.

Winner was an assistant coach at Case Tech in Cleveland, and married to Nancy Ewbank, when he left in 1954 to become a Baltimore Colts assistant after Ewbank was named as head coach.

Ewbank was fired after a 7-7 season in 1962 and was hired by the Jets, then of the American Football League. Winner stayed with the Colts under Don Shula. Two years later he became head coach of the Cardinals.

Forsan Drops 2 To Garden City

FORSAN — Garden City's junior high units stunned previously unbeaten Forsan, in both the boys and girls games, in district action here Thursday night.

Mike Black led the Bearkat youngsters to a 24-21 decision in the boys' game as Forsan fell to 9-1 in loop play and 13-1 in the year. Ralph Miranda hit 11 in the loss.

In the girls' game, Linda Schwartz hit 12 as Garden City triumphed by 23-21. For the losers, now 8-1 and 13-2, Beverly Strickland hit 16 points. Garden City is 8-2.

Steers Hosting Panthers Today

Odessa Permian's Panthers, breathing a sigh of relief after ending a five-game losing streak, visit the Big Spring Steers tonight at 8 p.m. in the high school gym.

It'll be the first meeting of the season for the two teams, since a District 5-AAAA first half game set Jan. 9 was postponed until Feb. 19 due to poor weather conditions here. Permian carries a 14-11 season standing and 1-1 second half record into the affair, while the Steers are 13-14 and 0-2.

The Steers were taking a 102-88 licking at the hands of the Midland Bulldogs Tuesday night while Permian was ending its losing skid the hard way, on a last second shot by David Nelson in a 49-47 win over Abilene High.

The Panthers won their first two games in a blaze of glory, upsetting preseason favorite Midland in the process. But they began to talispin soon after and finished the first half with a 2-4 record.

Big Spring, meanwhile, could go nowhere but up after being pegged to finish last in the

Plunkett OK After Surgery

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — An operation on Jim Plunkett's left knee "went well, as expected," and the New England Patriots quarterback should be able to start rehabilitation exercises within two weeks, his surgeon says.

Medical cartilage was removed from Plunkett's left knee Thursday by Dr. Fredrick L. Behling, an orthopedic surgeon at the Stanford University where Plunkett earned the 1970 Heisman Trophy.

"We're very optimistic that he'll have a fully operational knee following rehabilitation," Dr. Behling said after the hour-long operation. Plunkett was under sedatives Thursday night.

Colorado State Coach Resigns

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Citing a lack of "total commitment" on the part of the administration toward a winning football program, Jerry Wampfler resigned Thursday as head coach at Colorado State University.

Wampfler, whose Ram teams posted a three-year record of 8-25 including a disappointing 1-10 mark last season, said he had become convinced that he did not have the unqualified confidence and support of the CSU administration.

Wright Tops JC Balloting

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Wright College of Chicago, boasting a 23-1 record, moved into the No. 1 position in the weekly NCAA basketball pole with victories over Illinois Valley and Triton College last week.

Vincennes UJC of Vincennes, Indiana, moved up a spot to second and Gulf Coast College of Panama City, Fla., jumped two notches to third. Pensacola Junior College of Pensacola, Fla., No. 1 a week ago, lost two games and fell into a fourth place tie with Mercer County College of Trenton, N.J.

College of Southern Idaho, Johnson County Community College of Overland Park, Kan., Copiah-Lincoln College of Mississippi, Crowder College of Neosho, Mo., and Cisno Junior College of Cisno round out the top ten.

Henderson County Junior College of Athens, ranked No. 13, was the only other Texas team to crack the top 20.

Two Western Conference stars, Meadors of Frank Phillips College in Borger and Rhodes of Amarillo College, rank fifth among the nation's scorers, as both are averaging 30.2 points per game.

Angelo Hosts First Meet

SAN ANGELO — Big Spring Steer tracksters open the 1973 season here today with a triangular meet against Midland Lee and host San Angelo Central.

Head track coach Glenn Petty will send around 30 thincalcs to the meet, which will begin at 3 p.m. in San Angelo Stadium.

Twelve meets are on the Steer slate this year, including the regional and state meets and

Mavs Win In Overtime

SNYDER — Steve Hughes scored 15 points, five of them in overtime, as the Goliad eighth graders whipped Snyder Travis 44-39 here Thursday.

The victory ran the Mavericks' record to 16-2, a rematch against Runnels next on the slate Thursday in the High School gym.

Tommy Churchwell hit a free throw to tie the game at 37-37 with seven seconds remaining. Then Hughes went to work in the extra period. Bubba Stripling also helped in the win as he netched up 13 points.

For Travis, Riggins hit 12 points.

GOLIAD (44) — Steve Hughes 6-15; Bubba Stripling 4-13; Tommy Churchwell 23-37; Mike Harris 2-5; Rendall Jones 1-0-2; Steve Evans 1-0-2. Totals 44-39.

SNYDER (39) — Riggins 6-12; Walton 4-12; Hernandez 4-8; Rice 1-0-2. Totals 19-39.

OKIE BUYS PART OF RANCH LBJ's Will Names Widow As Executor

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lyn-interest in their household items, and 17 relatives, friends months before he died, leaves the bulk of his estate to his two daughters and names his widow as executor.

Mrs. Johnson was named executor of her husband's estate, which included his personal property and his lawyer Donald S. Thomas' firm. Johnson died of a heart attack Jan. 22.

There was nothing in the will to indicate the size of Johnson's estate.

Johnson willed to the LBJ Library at the University of Texas here "all of my Presidential and other papers, documents, historical materials, mementos, objects of art and other memorabilia, including but not limited to books, motion pictures, still pictures and sound records."

He left $25,000 to LBJ Ranch foreman Dale Malechek and his wife, Jewel.

Next in size among the individual bequests was $10,000 to a sister, Mrs. Lucia Alexander of Fort Worth.

$5,000 APIECE

Johnson left $5,000 apiece to his sister, Mrs. D.P. Bobbitt, and brother, Sam Houston Johnson, both of Austin; and $3,000 apiece to Yolanda Boozer, one of his secretaries; James and Mary Davis, servants at the LBJ Ranch house; former secretary Marie Felmer; Ashton Gonella, Mrs. Johnson's former secretary; Dorothy Nicholas, a former secretary; Mary Rather, Johnson's chief secretary at the time of his death; Juanita Roberts, a former employee; Mary Margaret Wiley, a former secretary who married Jack Valenti, who served Johnson as a White House aide; Koo Voo Wong, a houseboy both at the White House and the LBJ Ranch; and Zephyr Wright, Johnson's retired cook.

The family spokesman also distributed a statement saying that 3,444 acres of the ranch holdings in two separate parcels, were sold by Johnson after he left the White House to Frates Properties, Inc., of Tulsa, Okla.

Rex D. Frates, president of the firm, said in the statement that an announcement would be made later about plans for developing the property purchased from Johnson.

County's Cotton Crop May Top 50,000 Bales

A survey Thursday afternoon of nine Howard County gins revealed 35,502 bales of cotton harvested and the possibility of exceeding 50,000 for the 1972 crop year.

Many reported continued good quality with early cotton, but late cotton is of poorer quality. Harvested cotton was coming in faster at the end than at the start of the week.

In Big Spring, Co-Op Gin had received 3,449 bales as the daily average this week was 150 bales. By the end of harvesting, another 1,600 to 1,800 bales is anticipated. Bales ginned for the 1971 crop year came to 5,682.

TOPPED 1972

The Broughton Gin here registered 3,064 bales and expected to exceed the 3,700 bales ginned for the previous crop year.

Planters Gin, Lamesa Highway, counted 3,725 in the yard or ginned. Addition of 1,500 more bales would put them past the previous crop total of around 4,700 bales.

At Fairview, the Paymaster Gin, showed 4,570 bales so far and reported a slow week. Only one of the gin's customers had completed harvesting.

Lomax Gin Co. found 5,000 had arrived. And another 1,800 to 2,000 bales is looked for.

Farmer Co-Op at Knott gave a total of 4,911 bales. The 1971 crop brought 8,088 bales here. This crop year, an estimated 7,500 is still in the field.

PLANS ON MORE

Knott's Planters Gin stood at 2,275 bales, ginned 4,300 bales from the last crop and plans on getting 1,000 more.

Cotton harvesting has meant 1,675 bales to the Broughton Gin in Coahoma. Ginners here wait for another 300 to 500 bales.

A neighbor, the J. W. Shive or former Acuff Gin, posted receipt of 5,915 bales and watches for 1,000 more to come.

Not counted was 3,490 bales received at the Flower Grove Co-Op which is located in Martin County.

ASTRO SLAYTON 'I'm Finally Going To Fly'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'm here to fly. I was hired to do that in 1959. And now I'm finally going to fly."

Astronaut Donald K. "Deke" Slayton relished every word as he spoke with newsmen about his selection as a crewman for the joint U.S.-Soviet space flight planned in 1975.

Slayton, Air Force Brig. Gen. Thomas P. Stafford and Vance D. Brand were named by the space agency Tuesday to man the historic mission in which an American Apollo ship is to link up in orbit with a Russian Soyuz vehicle flown by two cosmonauts.

He will be 51 at the time the joint mission is scheduled for blastoff in July, 1975. That would make him the oldest human who ever attempted a space journey.

Asked to elaborate on his feelings, Slayton replied: "It's a little complex. I could just say 'great' and leave it at that. Ever since I got knocked off the Mercury flight 11 years ago, I've felt those who did it were wrong. Now I've been proven right."

MISSED

"I guess I have felt as competent as anyone else to command every flight that's flown since then," he said. "And I missed them all. And that's been kind of a thorn obviously. But on the other side of the coin I also was equally qualified to hit Ted Freeman's goose and have C. C. Williams' bum airplane and be on Spacraft 12 in place of Grissom, Chaffee or White."

Astronaut Freeman died when his plane crashed after hitting a goose near this space center in 1964. Astronaut Williams was killed when his plane crashed in Florida in 1967. The Apollo 1 crew of Virgil I. Grisson, Roger B. Chaffee and Edward H. White II died in a launch pad fire at Cape Kennedy in 1967.

"I'm not going to express any raucous enthusiasm until we get the go for the first orbit," Slayton remarked. "Then I'll probably express myself."

Stafford a veteran of three space flights who will command the American crew, reported the Soviet Cosmonauts for the mission are expected to be named soon and that they will come to the space center in the spring to begin training.

The American team and its backups will go to Russia next fall for a second round of training.

They met newsmen Thursday, but the spotlight was on Slayton, the graying, craggy, featured 48-year-old ex-Air Force pilot who is the only one of the original seven Mercury astronauts who has not yet flown in space.

He was assigned to fly the second Mercury orbital flight, to follow John Glenn's pioneer mission in 1962. But doctors discovered a heart murmur and with the space environment still very much an unknown, they recommended he be removed from the assignment. Scott Carpenter replaced him.

For 10 years Slayton fought to regain flight status. He took medication, and two years ago the murmur vanished. Last year he got his wish. Then from his position as director of flight crew operations, he campaigned for a slot on the U.S. Soviet flight, studying the Russian language in his spare time.

Texas Cotton On Way To China?

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Whether 400,000 bales of Texas cotton are on their way to mainland China remained speculation early today as officials declined to confirm or deny such reports.

The Plains Cotton Cooperative Association of Lubbock said Thursday night it sold 400,000 bales of high quality southwest cotton to Ralli Brothers & Coney, Ltd., of Liverpool, England. That announcement followed unofficial reports that mainland China had purchased a substantial amount of American cotton for the first time in nearly 20 years.

The cotton, if actually delivered to China, could cost as much as $78 million.

When asked whether any American cotton was being shipped to China, Dabney Wellford, chief economist of the National Cotton Council in Memphis, Tenn., said "We can't confirm it, but if there was any such deal, it would be a private one with the government's blessing."

Earlier Thursday, a British freighter sailed from Galveston with a cargo of 25,000 bales of cotton listed as bound for Kobe, Japan. Customs officials said there was no confirmation that the cotton would eventually reach China.

Biehl & Co., Galveston agents for the ship, the Shahristan, declined comment.

The president of the Cotton Digest, Wellington Abbey of Houston, said there has been much speculation in recent weeks about major cotton transactions with the Chinese since the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported a 700,000-bale deficit in China's cotton crop last year.

The Plains Cotton Cooperative of Lubbock said all it knew about the sale to the British firm had been made public and that any further information would have to come from the buyers.

HIGH COURT EXPLORING

When Does Life Begin?

WASHINGTON (AP) — In ruling on abortions the Supreme Court traveled down a novel path, exploring probably for the first time such questions as when does life begin and whether the unborn have any constitutional rights.

After lengthy discussion of ancient, medieval and modern views, Justice Harry Blackmun concluded that the court could reach a decision on abortion laws without resolving the difficult question of when life begins.

PREGNANCY
That 7-2 decision establishes that in the first three months of pregnancy it is entirely up to the woman and her doctor to make a judgment as to whether or not to perform an abortion. And in the second three months the state may interfere only to the extent of safeguarding the mother's health, such as by making sure the physician and the hospital or clinic are licensed.

In order to reach its decision, the court was compelled to resolve the second question, coming to the conclusion that "the unborn have never been recognized in the law as persons in the whole sense."

For, as Blackmun said, if a fetus is a "person" within the meaning and language of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution and its right to life guaranteed, then all abortions would be illegal.

ANIMATION
Even though the court did not resolve the question of when life begins, it evidently was helped toward its decision by the Aristotelian theory of "mediate animation." That is, the embryo or fetus does not become formed, begin and live and infused with a "soul" until 40 to 80 days after conception.

The theory, Blackmun wrote, held sway throughout the Middle Ages and the Renaissance and continued to be official Roman Catholic dogma until the 19th Century, although others in the church would have recognized the existence of life from the moment of conception. The latter is now the official belief of the church and a view held by many non-Catholics and many physicians.

ON OTHER HAND
On the other hand, Blackmun said, the predominant view of the Jewish faith and the position of a large segment of the Protestant community is that life does not begin until live birth.

Blackmun's opinion reflects a search by the majority for a point someplace after conception at which it would be reasonable for the state to assert its "compelling" interest in the unborn and restrict, or even prohibit, abortions.

The court settled on the approximate point of viability, when the fetus is potentially able to live outside the mother's womb, although with artificial aid. This usually is at the beginning of the seventh month.

It is then, Blackmun said, that the state may step between mother and doctor and engage in "regulation protection of fetal life."

TEXAS LAW
Texas, whose abortion law was at issue, argued that life begins at conception, is present throughout pregnancy and that, therefore, the state has a compelling interest in protecting the fetus through all nine months.

When those trained in the respective disciplines of medicine, philosophy and theology are unable to arrive at any consensus," Blackmun wrote, "the judiciary, at this point in the development of man's knowledge, is not in a position to speculate as to the answer."

But, he also pointed out, the law generally does not endorse any theory that life begins before live birth. And, he said, in the limited instances in which the unborn have been accorded legal rights it was contingent upon live birth.

For example, unborn children have been recognized as having a right to inherit property, and guardians of the right have been appointed, but this generally has depended upon live birth.

Blackmun said that in nearly all references to "person" in the Constitution the word has application only postnatally. "None," he said, "indicates with any assurance that it has any possible prenatal application."

Also, Texas conceded during the court's hearings that no case could be cited holding that a fetus is a person within the meaning of the 14th Amendment.

Texas Solons Not Joking About Wages

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senators talking about a proposal to raise their salaries said they'd accept as a cutoff what their secretaries make — and they probably weren't joking.

Discussing various ceilings, Sen. H.J. Blanchard of Lubbock quipped, "How about just saying we can't draw more than our secretaries?"

"That'd be an improvement in my office," said Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena.

"Mine too," echoed several members of the State Affairs Committee.

Legislators make $400 a month before deductions, which usually reduce their take home pay to less than $300 a month.

Sen. Bob Gammage proposed a constitutional amendment providing for unlimited annual legislative sessions and yearly salaries of $15,000, or $1,250 a month. It was sent to a subcommittee.

If finally approved by both houses, the proposed amendment would be voted on Nov. 6, 1973.

Gammage said the public's attitude that being a legislator is a part-time job "is one of the biggest fallacies" in the state.

Thirty-five states have annual sessions, Gammage said.

Randall Wood of Common Cause, which calls itself a public interest lobby, and Dr. Clifton McCleskey of the University of Texas, often cited as an expert on Texas government, supported the proposal. But McCleskey said the $15,000 salary "might scare off some people (voters)."

Wood said, in effect, Texas legislatures have been meeting in annual sessions since in only two years since 1960—1964 and 1970—has the legislature failed to meet in regular or special session.

Gammage said, $15,000 is not a wage that will make any of us wealthy, but it would allow us to pay our grocery bills . . .

Today I was going to go for a walk with my 12-year-old brother. I was going to take pictures at a ranch outside town.

I got all ready and told my mother where I was going. She said, "No, I'm not going to let such little children take walks by themselves."

Tell me if you think I'm old enough to take walks, sleep over at friends' houses and have a boy friend. — Put Down in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Your mother should not talk to you in that manner, but she does apparently know that it is dangerous for a teenage girl to take walks alone.

In a situation such as you describe, your 12-year-old brother is not old enough to protect you in case of trouble.

You are ready for the other privileges you list, provided they are done with proper supervision and under sensible rules.

Keep the channels of communication open with your mother. Talk to her about your needs and wishes.

HAIR RULE: (Q.) My mother will not let me have even half-way long hair. When one hair touches my ear, she makes me go to a barber shop. — Square in South Carolina.

(A.) Ask your mother to notice your school and church friends and the length of their hair. Ask her to notice how attractive they look. Explain to her that that is the way you should look, because it is the fashion of today.

Perhaps if you will be patient and serious and loving in talking to her about boys' hair styles, she will be able to open her eyes and see that it is not good for her son to look and feel out of place.

Women Inmates Refuse To Move
HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — An official said about 40 inmates of the Goree Women's Prison here sat down in a hallway Wednesday and refused to move for about two hours.

Warden Velda Dobbs said the women, who stayed off jobs and out of classes during the sitdown, were persuaded to return to their "proper places" without resort to any force.

"They asked that I call a meeting about their problems, but I insisted I would talk to them individually," Mrs. Dobbs said.

Samuel Ervin Earns Award

LUBBOCK — U.S. Sen. Samuel J. Ervin (D-N.C.), as the nominee of the North Carolina Press Association, has been chosen as the first recipient of the Thomas Jefferson Award honoring public officials who defend and preserve the freedom of news media.

Sen. Ervin's nomination had second from as far away as Oregon, Wisconsin and Georgia, all of them testifying to his staunch defense of Constitutional rights, particularly of the First Amendment which guarantees to the people a free press.

The award will be presented to Sen. Ervin during Mass Communications Week Feb. 11-16 at Texas Tech University. The occasion for the presentation will be a banquet Feb. 16 at the Texas Tech University Center.

The award is made by the Texas Daily Newspaper Association, the Texas Association of Broadcasters and Texas Tech University.

Sen. Ervin is chairman of the Senate constitutional rights subcommittee and introduced in the last Congress a bill to shield newsmen from forced disclosure of confidential sources. His bill has been described by those supporting his nomination as "generally recognized as the soundest of its kind."

In addition to his support of a free press, Sen. Ervin is noted for his equally staunch insistence upon responsibility in media and the "coequal" right of a public official to criticize the press and the broadcast media.

'Good Deal' Made On Houston Bonds
HOUSTON (AP) — About $11.6 million in bonds have been sold by the city of Houston at an interest rate believed to be the lowest it has received in more than four years.

A syndicate headed by First National City Bank of New York, Harris Trust — Savings Bank of Chicago and Republic National Bank of Dallas purchased the 20-year general obligation bonds Wednesday at a net effective interest rate of 4.6247 per cent.

Election Days Will Be Set

Both the city commission and the school board will officially call their spring elections at the next official meeting of their respective boards.

The city election will be on April 3 this year. The two incumbents whose terms are up this year are Jack Watkins and M. R. Koger. Neither has indicated whether they will seek re-election.

Watkins stated that he will make his official announcement "one way or the other" at the time the election is officially called.

The school board election will be on April 7. The two board members whose terms expire at that time are Roy Watkins, currently serving as board president, and Delnor Poss. Neither of these two men has indicated whether they will seek re-election.

Reasonable Proposal

A report from the National Waterway Commission is due to call for payment of fuel and other user taxes for those engaged in commercial transportation on the nation's inland waterways.

This seems fair, and besides, it makes good sense. Commercial hauler using these waterways now may charge rates far less than would be necessary if they had to figure in at least some portion of what it cost to build, operate and maintain the waterways. In short, they enjoy a great competitive advantage because they are subsidized out of general revenues. Moreover, their competition, principally the railroads but also the truckers, not only are at a rate disadvantage, but they also have to contribute in taxes and in par subsidize the waterways.

It is doubtful that a tax sufficient to recover the construction cost, plus the operation and maintenance of waterways, could ever be imposed without putting the waterways out of business. Certainly none could argue but that the cost of in taxes, or perhaps even some of the interest operation and maintenance should be recovered on the money required to finance the systems.

Railroads might not have to be petitioning for rate increases if they got a better break that would permit competitive rating.

No Free Talk-Back Time

The television industry is all steamed up over proposals to require it to furnish free of charge time for people to talk back to commercials.

And well it might be.

The philosophy is that people who advertise on the tube have the money to do so because it is a cost of doing business. On the other hand, individuals or groups who don't agree are relatively unfinanced. True, but making the television trade fork over free time doesn't make any more sense than making your grocer fork over a can of corn because you don't like the brand, or a bank to share its deposits because you don't have enough. Come to think of it, it doesn't make much sense that government can dictate what sort of advertisement can be banned, within limits of decency.

Stern Penalties

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi was robbed and shot twice by two youths just as he was entering his home here, the nation was aroused. Congress itself began to think of what measures could be applied to prevent such crimes.

THE PROBLEM requires an examination of criminal behavior. For there has developed in recent years a feeling that robberies and killings would not be severely punished. The removal of the death penalty in some states and non-use in others have undoubtedly produced a belief among criminals that they could take big risks, assault their victims and even kill them without facing the harsh punishment of all — execution in the death chamber. Unfortunately, a Supreme chamber. Unfortunately, a outlawed the death penalty as it has generally been imposed in the United States.

IT SO HAPPENS that the government of Peru announced this week that it is going to apply drastic punishment for robbery. The new decree restores the death sentence, which had been abolished in most cases in September 1971. Now the government stipulates that death will be imposed in instances of robbery involving violence which endangers life. It is further ordered that when an attack on police occurs, trial will be held within eight days and the death penalty will be carried out by a firing squad. The government in Lima declares that its action is necessary because crime has reached "alarming proportions."

In several countries, the same story is told in the press as armed robberies multiply and innocent persons lose their lives. More reliance now will have to be placed everywhere upon the death penalty, and the United States will be no exception. For as long as criminals, young or old, feel that they will escape stern punishment, they will continue to take chances as they resort to violence which means murder.

SEN. STENNIS is one of the most respected men in Congress. He was a circuit court judge in Mississippi before coming to the Senate in 1947. As chairman of the Armed Services committee, he has had much to do with the scope and direction of American military policy. He has played a leading role in developing a code of ethics for members of the Senate in relation to their financial holdings and outside interests. He happens also to be the chairman of the prayer breakfast group of the Senate, which meets weekly. There are in politics few men indeed who are so highly regarded not only by the members of their own party but of the opposite party, too.

THE FBI and the police will seek to discover the identity of the youths involved in the robbery, and it may take some time to capture them. But the incident itself is bound to have a significant effect on the methods that must be employed in all communities to deter similar acts of violence.

THERE IS need for the adoption of the severest penalty against the individual who shoots or stabs or tries to kill another person. Those persons who consider perpetrating a crime that might involve murder would hesitate when they found themselves confronted with the prospect of the heaviest punishment that can be imposed — the death sentence.

Good Year For Albacore

LA JOLIA, Calif. (AP) — West coast commercial fishermen landed a near-record catch of 34,000 tons of albacore, or white meat tuna, in 1972, according to the National Marine Fisheries Service Center here. There was a 91 per cent increase in the catch off British Columbia for a total of 22,200 tons there.

The center, which scouts conditions in advance and sends out fishing advisories by radio during the season, had predicted a good year.

Two Types Buy

NEW YORK (AP) — Someone asked David R. Parker Jr., president of Hatteras Yachts, who was in town for the National Boat Show, what type of people buy yachts. "Those who can afford them and those who can't," he replied.

Insurance Changes

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The bedrock belief on which the life insurance industry is built, the assured-fixed-precise return, has shifted. Soon you may have the option of accepting your proceeds in variable rather than fixed dollars.

The change, cleared this week by a Securities and Exchange Commission decision, introduces into life insurance the chance of actually earning money on your insurance rather than merely obtaining security and some savings.

THE LOW-RISK element is essentially still there, because a minimum return is guaranteed. But because your premiums go directly into stocks, where money should grow, you or your heirs might receive a bonus atop benefits.

At least three fundamental reasons are involved in the industry's decision to at least partially forsake its once-zealous advocacy of the fixed-dollar return:

1. Inflation, or the erosion of dollar values, have made the fixed dollar less and less acceptable.
2. The pressure of competition from equities, such as mutual funds, which tend to ride the crest of inflation — or at least not be submerged by it — make it advisable to offer a more flexible product.

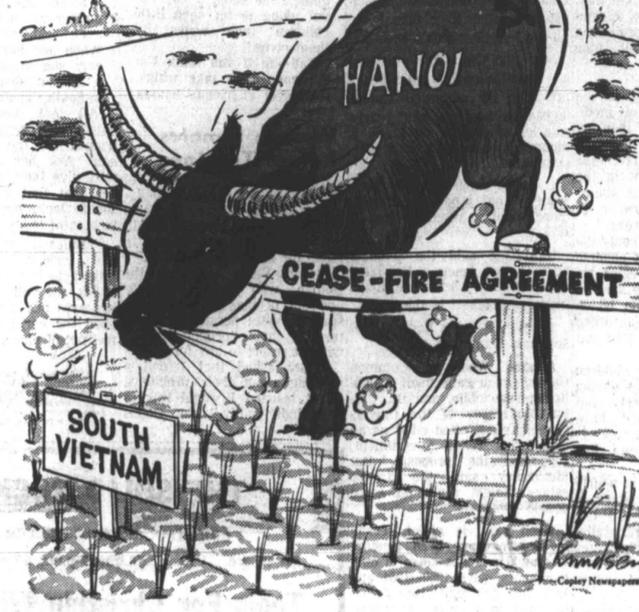

3. A more affluent and educated public, to a great extent freed from insecurities by Social Security, private pensions, group health and life policies, unemployment insurance and the like desires innovative techniques for building estates.

THE DECISION made by the SEC was that while variable life is subject to the same federal registration and information disclosure regulations that apply to securities, it is exempt from federal commission restraints.

While this decision might seem almost meaningless to the consumer, it actually is of great importance. Here's why:

If variable life commissions were federally regulated they would be restricted to not more than 8.5 or 9 per cent of the first year's premiums — a rate that would hardly appeal to insurance salesmen.

SALESMEN of ordinary life now can earn commissions ranging upward from 50 per cent of the first year's premiums paid by the insured. While the SEC's complete views on commissions have not been made public, some industry officials believe it will recommend that states restrict sales charges to 37.5 per cent, which is the salesman's return on term insurance.

Women Sure Are Changing

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: As long as money or power are thought to be the answer to human needs, love cannot be.

If you live long enough, you will see how life moves in circles rather than in a straight line. Everything that has been will be again. Few things or habits die out altogether — from beards on men to short skirts on women. They do not go away forever; their popularity simply waxes and wanes — and waxes again in a further time.

Women sure are changing. How long has it been since you saw one with a clothespin in her mouth? Their mouths used to be full of clothespins one day a week. Now their mouths are full of opinions seven days a week.

Crime has to be paid one tribute: it is helping to keep the American family together. People are staying at home more nights for fear of being mugged in the streets if they leave it.

A woman never feels more womanly than when she is washing and drying her hair; a man never feels more unmanly than when he has to wash his own sex.

A cynic is a guy who saves his box tops for fear that if he mails them away to get something free he'll wind up being stung.

An old-timer is a gaffer who gets to the office late and tells the boss it was because his wife had lost his regular shoe button — and he had a hard time finding the spare one.

Wives with long hair get fewer divorces than wives with short hair. So if you want a marriage that will endure as long as you do, wed a girl whose hair hangs to her knees. She will keep so busy combing and arranging it, she won't have time to get into any other trouble. A third of the men in America would feel better at nightfall if they wore suspenders during the day instead of belts.

Any road without a bend in it will in time seem like a prison or rut. Be thankful then to Providence, for it has seen to it that women and other dangerous curves lie in every man's path, lest it become a highway to boredom.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Allergic—To Something

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am an 8-year-old girl and want to get a dog. My family are all allergic to dogs — all but me. I have heard that poodles do not cause allergy, but I want to get a beagle. Which breed would be better? Is there any dog that doesn't cause allergy?—M.F.

I'm sorry, sweetie, but if people are allergic to dogs, it isn't their fault. They just are. With a whole family of allergic people, the chances are that you will find that you are allergic to something or other. Maybe not dogs — but something.

Allergists frankly have a lot of trouble persuading people that if they are allergic to dogs, the thing to do is to get rid of the dog. Cats, too — some people are allergic to various types of animals.

For a given person, one dog may not cause as much trouble as another breed, but when one is allergic to dogs, there isn't much point in trying to find one that causes less trouble.

For the sake of your family, you'll just have to do without a dog. That's only fair to them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you explain what a hiatal hernia is? Does heavy lifting endanger one? Is it major or minor surgery? What are the risks of delaying surgery a few months?—O.C.

The esophagus or gullet has to pass through your diaphragm to reach your stomach. Well, if the gap in the diaphragm through which it passes is larger than it needs to be, that's a hiatal hernia.

Thus the upper part of the stomach, where it joins the gullet, can push slightly upward through the gap. This can be painful, especially since stomach acids then can escape into the esophagus, where they don't belong.

The net result is a sensation very much like the pain of a peptic ulcer — and, indeed, ulceration can occur.

Heavy lifting doesn't pose the same risk involved with an inguinal hernia or "rupture," but if the lifting increases pressure inside the abdomen (which is quite probable) it increases the pressure pushing the top of the stomach up through that gap.

There are various ways of managing a hiatal hernia, one of which is to lose some weight if you have a biggish belly.

If it has to be corrected by surgery, it is, decidedly, major surgery; in a great majority of cases, however, more conservative methods are satisfactory, and it is seldom that a doctor recommends surgery without trying the other methods for a few months or longer.

You'll probably benefit by sending 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my booklet on the subject, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Control It."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In my teen years I had a wart on my finger and was told that applying vinegar frequently would make it disappear. I tried it and it was successful.

For several years I have had a brownish scablike growth on my forehead about the size of a little finger print. Would you advise using vinegar? My age is 81.—J.S.W.

Scores of harmless home remedies have seemed to work with warts (they work if the wart is ready to disappear anyway). But a "scablike growth" is NOT a wart. I most definitely advise you to have a doctor examine it.

You can lose weight if you really want to. Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing $5 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

She Remembers Call

Around The Rim

John Edwards

"I can remember his words just as if it was yesterday," Mrs. Pauline S. Petty said of the historic call she connected one Sunday morning in 1926.

Both Mrs. Petty, a telephone operator then and now the county clerk, and the late George Otis Chalk, a rancher, were excited.

CHALK SAID, "Operator get me Tulsa, Okla. We have an oil well out here." Mrs. Petty said: "Well, Mr. Chalk, you'll have to stay on the line."

Mrs. Petty told him to hold, because operators could not call rural numbers from the telephone office located where Hemphill-Wells now is. "Now, I might have trouble getting your party," Mrs. Petty remembers saying because it was Sunday.

But they were lucky. After the call, Chalk told her: "I'll see you tomorrow. I'll bring you a box of candy."

He did, Mrs. Petty recalled. THE OTIS CHALK No. 1 with a depth of 1,577 feet began producing and brought new hopes to dreams of oil money in Howard County. Chalk's well was not the first producing well in Howard County. Preceding it was the Fred Hyer No. 1 Clay, according to John Huff in "Howard County in the Making."

But the Otis Chalk No. 1 started the oil boom here. According to Huff, "when it was reported that Owen and Sloan refused a half-million dollars for the well, people began to realize that the prospect of a major oil field was evident to those most capable of judging."

Cities Under Siege

Marquis Childs

NEW YORK — To see what the drastic cuts in the Nixon domestic budget mean you have only to touch base in this troubled city. In a dozen different areas, from public housing and model cities to day-care centers, the cutbacks put a new burden on an already gravely overburdened community.

TO SAY that New York is a city under siege is a slight exaggeration. Nevertheless, in certain sectors, the South Bronx for example, it is literally true. Fear and death stalk the streets, with the police seeking to hold back a tide of violence.

New York is conspicuous if only because so many newswatching agencies are located here. But in one degree or another the same deterioration is true in almost every large city in the country. A dozen big-city mayors are meeting with New York's John V. Lindsay in early February to coordinate their efforts to persuade Congress to reverse the Nixon economies.

"WE'VE MANAGED to put $5 million into the South Bronx," Mayor Lindsay says. "Now that may seem like a very small sum, and it is. But at least it has done something to show that ruinously bad housing can be rehabilitated."

To check the swift deterioration, Lindsay says, the city should spend not less than $50 billion at the rate of $5 billion a year. Nothing like this sum is even remotely visible. Revenue sharing cannot come close to compensating for the sweeping cuts in the Nixon budget. Lindsay sees this in terms of human suffering and degradation.

POLICE COMMISSIONER Patrick V. Murphy has just authorized a thousand extra tours of duty for policemen in Brownsville in Brooklyn. That will cost $90,000 in overtime pay, a minuscule sum in terms of the city's needs, yet it is a chip off the working budget. The order followed the shooting of two policemen in a running and apparently unprovoked attack in Brownsville. For New York's 30,000 police the attack has further confirmation of a black militant conspiracy bent on killing cops wherever they can be struck down. Murphy and the men at the top around him do not share this conviction.

NEVERTHELESS, the conviction held by virtually all the 30,000 armed policemen, according to those familiar at firsthand with the police force, is that such attacks are part of the state of siege in this beleaguered city.

SINCE THEY are at the bottom of the economic heap, it is the blacks who will feel most directly the cuts in welfare, health, education. The deeply rooted feeling that the Nixon Administration has no regard for blacks will be accentuated. This plays into the hands of the militants, who constantly propagandize the theme that there is no recourse but violence.

WINNIPEG (AP) — Manitoba Premier Ed Schreyer, who recently returned from the Soviet Union, said that despite rapid increases in Soviet food production capabilities, the country still plans to continue with "a significant and substantial purchase of Canadian foodstuffs."

Letter To The Editors

Dear Sir: I took eight students this past weekend to see the high school production "Campus Review '73". As always, the show was outstanding. The acting, staging, jokes, lighting, and music were all very well done. You, the residents of Big Spring, Texas, should be proud of Mr. Bill Bradley and his capable staff. Believe me, when I say the 260-mile journey was well worth the time and expense. My students were amazed at how high school students could provide excellent entertainment for two and a half hours; they sat spell bound.

After hearing my students tell their school friends about the show and graciously housed by Big Spring students, I have a feeling that next year, I will have trouble taking care of the requests to see CAMPUS REVIEW '74. Goodwill, the best of entertainment, and excellent student training are only a part of the benefits of this great show.

Sincerely,
JERRY BARTLEY

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am writing to you to complain about all the anti-Semitism which seems to be part of the "Jesus Movement." Continually, I am running into Christians who use any method to "force" me to accept Jesus. I am sick and tired of this. Can you tell those Jesus people to lay off.

M.A.M. Trying to tell a Christian not to share his faith, is like telling General Motors not to push its cars. It's in the nature of things that someone who finds a wonderful secret wants to share it. Christ pictures the Gospel in just that way.

I don't call Christianity a religion as such, but even if you did, you'd have to say it differs from others in its missionary objectives. The commission of Jesus was to "be witnesses in Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and the uttermost part of the earth." This means everyone, everywhere.

Let me say equally forcefully, however, that nowhere is Christ's followers commanded to force people to believe. In fact, it's just the opposite. The Lord is pictured as One who stands at the door and knocks. The decision to receive Him is strictly our own.

History tells us a significant story about compelling people to follow Christ. Constantine the Great, who knew, issued a decree that obliged all in his empire to become Christians. It was a failure; and may have set Christianity back, rather than an accelerating its growth. Similarly, general Douglas MacArthur could have Christianized Japan by an official order, but he wisely refused.

No, M.A.M., I can't tell the Jesus people to "lay off." I can, however, urge them to use the same qualities of love, kindness and meekness that makes Christ so irresistible in the first place.

A Devotion For Today

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. (Genesis 1:1)
PRAYER: Good morning, God, How are You? I am trying hard to pray, though I do not know very well how or what to say. Forgive me for being ungrateful and ignoring the brief You constantly bear. I just thought You may feel more cheerful to know I really care. Amen.

Local Music Director Stated To Appear With Centurymen

By MARJ CARPENTER Joe Whitten, minister of music, First Baptist Church, and a member of The Centurymen, will appear with the men's ensemble in the fourth national Abe Lincoln Awards entertainment program in Fort Worth, Feb. 8. An estimated audience of 2,000 will be on hand.

The Lincoln awards, sponsored by the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission, recognizes a number of broadcasters for distinguished service to their communities.

The Centurymen, composed of Southern Baptist ministers of music from churches in 26 states, will be introduced by the show's co-hosts, country singer LeRoy Van Dyke and Fort Worth radio personality Bill Mack. Buryl Red will conduct and Julian Goodman of New York, president of the National Broadcasting Company, will speak.

The Texas Baptist Public Relations Association's annual workshop in San Angelo featured a program designed to help church staffers and Baptist agency public relations practitioners improve communication skills through print, visual and electronic media.

Among topics was the telling of the story of a bus ministry, producing a television special, use of cable television, telling the church story in newspapers.

The Christian Brotherhood Hour Radio program, produced from Church of God general offices here and heard on over 350 stations around the world, celebrates its 26th anniversary this month with addition of several large metropolitan stations to its log including Atlanta, Ga., Phoenix, Ariz., and San Francisco and San Diego, Calif.

Radio minister R. Eugene Sterner observing the program's new format — adopted in mid-1972 — has brought unusual new support, said 1973 special broadcast site efforts by CBH will be concentrated in Canada.

The president of Boston University who is well known in Texas, a long-time national religious communicator, the top Roman Catholic ecumenical staff person in the U.S., and the newest assistant general secretary of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA will present major addresses during the three-day fourth annual Assembly of Representatives meeting Feb. 19-21 in Austin. Dr. John Silber of Boston, former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Texas at Austin, the Rev. Dr. Everett C. Parker of New York City, national director of communications for the United Church of Christ, the Rev. Fr. John F. Hotchkiss of Washington, D.C., secretary for the Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs Committee of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, and Dr. Jorge Lara-Braud of New York, executive director of the Commission on Faith and Order of the National Council of Churches of Christ, will address official delegates, observers and guests of the assembly.

Theme of the assembly is Hardheaded Hope: Doing the Future. The Rev. Dr. William J. Fogleman, president of the presbytery of the Synod of Red River of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., will preside during the assembly business sessions.

Program plans were announced today by Mrs. Peter (Isabelle) Colitor of Dallas, vice president and assembly program committee chairwoman.

The Texas Conference of Churches is an ecumenical organization with membership comprised of 39 ecclesiastical units of 15 Christian denominations in Texas, including the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox dioceses. It was the first and largest geographical religious organization of its kind in the world.

A distinguished scholar, philosopher and administrator, Dr. Silber became the seventh president of Boston University in December 1970. Prior to that appointment, he was University Professor of Arts and Letters, Professor of Philosophy and Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas at Austin, where he had been associated since 1955. He taught at Yale University from 1951 to 1955.

Dr. Silber, a native Texan, holds earned degrees from Trinity University, San Antonio, and Yale University. He will address the assembly Monday evening, Feb. 19.

The Rev. Leobarda Estrada Sr., a native of Mexico and a former Texan, will become the first Latin to head language missions ministries in the history of the 1.9-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The Rev. Mr. Estrada, 58, now of Syracuse, N.Y., was elected by the Texas Baptist State Missions Commission to succeed Dr. Dallas P. Lee, who retired after 12 years as Texas Baptist language missions coordinator.

Since 1970, the Rev. Mr. Estrada has directed the language ministries of the Baptist General Convention of New York state, where he worked with 16 language groups.

Before that, the native of Culiacan, Sinaloa, Mexico, directed language ministries for eight years in New York City for the 12-million-member Southern Baptist Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Estrada's main duties, said Dr. Charles Lee Williamson, Texas Baptist missions division director, will include coordinating programs related to language groups in all Texas Baptist departments and divisions.

He will also serve as the principal liaison with some 500 Spanish-speaking churches in Texas and administrate the $65,000 per year Texas Baptist Latin American Scholarship program.

Prairie View Baptists Welcome Former Pastor

Prairie View Baptist Church has their new pastor back for good. The Rev. Herbert Shipp, first came to work here in October, but half his time has been consumed meeting prior engagements.

An evangelist for 12 years, Prairie View is his first church. The native of Scottsdale, Ariz., was graduated from Phoenix Christian High School in 1962.

He was graduated from Baylor University with a minor in psychology and major in religion in 1966. Then he attended the Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth where he was graduated in 1969.

In 1968, he trained with the Billy Graham Association in Minneapolis, Minn. He next joined the team with the Rev. Billy Hanks and, as an evangelist, visited Ethiopia, Uganda, what was the Belgian Congo, Malawi, Rhodesia and Zambia. Stops were made in Hong Kong, Formosa (Taiwan), India and Holland.

For about five years, he toured Texas and other states conducting city and area-wide revivals. Leaving the Billy Hanks team, he worked with the Southern Baptist Convention in the Meet Jesus Crusade Program.

Last summer, he toured the Holy Land and saw the lands Paul once traveled including Turkey, Greece and Syria. As a composer of Christian music, he has sold a couple of pieces but is waiting to see one published.

He has written two books: "Your New Life in Jesus," a book to help children under 12 study the Bible, and a manual for leading a study group of new Christians. He is a private pilot and amateur photographer. The Rev. Shipp is married to the former Miss Caroline Taylor of Los Angeles, Calif. They have two boys — Blen, 3, and Gage, 2.

Three Denominations Offer Prayers For Second Term

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

As usual, the people offering the prayers at the launching of President Nixon's second term recently included a Protestant, a Roman Catholic, a Jew and an Eastern Orthodox churchman.

It is standard procedure to enlist this variegated spiritual spectrum to ask Divine blessings on the occasion, a part of the off-cited "civil religion" that marks the American heritage.

Also reflecting that tradition, the president takes his oath of office on a Bible.

The religious element forms a steady thread throughout the inaugural ceremonies and, in a sense, sets the framework in which the rest of the ritual is carried out, expressing an urge for Divine sanction of it.

Through such subtle, uncodified symbols, the United States vests its president with its modified version of the ancient "Divine authority of kings," despite the nation's constitutional separation of state from church.

However, it is no established institution, no single church nor even a uniform faith that invokes God's guidance for the chief authority of the people but rather a mixed religious corpus typifying the country's makeup. It reflects that intangible "culture religion" that has figured indirectly but fundamentally in the nation's history from the beginning.

In the Declaration of Independence, the rights asserted are based on the concept that they are "endowed by the Creator," that there was Divine cause for the founding of the nation.

The underlying religious premise is registered in the land's coins and currency, which bear the words, "In God we trust," in the Bible verses carved on public buildings, in the phrase "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance.

It also runs like a refrain through the presidential inaugural ceremonies, in which the invocation this time is offered by a black clergyman, the Rev. E.V. Hill, pastor of Mount Zion Baptist Missionary Church in Los Angeles.

Others offering prayers are Rabbi Seamore Siegel of New York's Jewish Theological Seminary of America; Archbishop Iakovos, head of Greek Orthodoxy in America, and Terence Cardinal Cooke, Catholic archbishop of New York, who gives the closing benediction.

Some church scholars have been critical of the country's "civil religion," saying it often becomes a kind of idolatry, equating God with the "American way of life" and a cult of the flag.

"It is a watered-down article," says United Church theologian Stephen Rose of Stockbridge, Mass. "It is the sort of faith which purports to be Christian but really would choose Americanism and middle-class self-interest."

The Rev. Dr. Eric Lincoln of Union Theological Seminary says it has become a "third force" alongside Christianity and Judaism. "It is the semi-secular, unofficial characteristic religion that most Americans feel when they feel anything at all," he says.

Band Bound For Europe

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — After receiving announcements of cash gifts from the community, the Palestine High School Band, under the direction of Phil Hutton, was assured Wednesday of a trip to the International Music Festival in Vienna, Austria.

The band received some $22,800 from the community to supplement $42,700 already pledged. Funds for contingencies and extra expenses will continue to be sought, but the band's trip to Europe is now assured, sponsors said.

The Palestine Band, the only Texas band going to the international festival, will take 100 people—80 band members, a 12-girl drill team and 17 adult chaperons.

SATURDAY FEB. 3
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much discussion with interesting friends and acquaintances is the best way to make this a banner day. Almost any way you want and are also willing to lend a helping hand to those toward whom you have a friendly feeling. Accept the unexpected and be somewhat dramatic.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to April 19) You can easily work out those new ideas with close friends. You get the right results now you want. Use diplomacy. Get out to social functions in p.m. 19th or helpful to you, make you happier.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Show loyalty to those in high position with whom you agree and prove you are a fine citizen. Express those civic ideas you have that can be most helpful. Avoid one who is a big hypocrite.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are able to expand present activities, have discussions with others. State your ideas clearly. You can take steps that help you live more happily.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can do things that will help you to reach a goal. You can have some situation that seems dangerous.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can have some success in your work. You have had some broadminded to get right results. Try not to get yourself deeply involved with a person.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Complete work you have started. You have a busy week and get cooperation of associates or co-workers. A new kind of treatment is fine for improving your health. This could give you a new lease on life.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take time out for amusements that will get you out of the slough of despondency today. Bring along for best results. You can do some entertaining at home also. Do not get off your nice place.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to spend time making the improvements there that are necessary and having more comfort, beauty in the future. Do some entertaining in p.m. Bring only congenial together.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Fine day to communicate better with people you like and show them more affection, how much you do admire them. Quickly get those tasks done that you have little time for during busy week week think constructively.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Think more about finances now and also to save more in the future, or get that new project operating that adds to income. Follow your intuitions, since they are accurate. Retax of books in p.m.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get in touch with good friends, exchange ideas, and make better plans for the future. Quickly get those tasks done that you have little time for during busy week with an expert and make the plans now for the expansion you have in mind for the future. You can take advantage of fine opportunities ahead. Try to please your mate more and really understand this person.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Get down with an expert and make the plans now for the expansion you have in mind for the future. You can take advantage of fine opportunities ahead. Try to please your mate more and really understand this person.

KISSINGER SPEAKS OUT
Lasting Peace Depends
On Soviet Union, China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Peking and Moscow trips made the Vietnam settlement possible, according to Henry Kissinger, which in turn frees the United States to work even more actively for a new global relationship.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Washington, which in turn frees the United States to work even more actively for a new global relationship. Kissinger also used his "theory of international linkage" to define the role expected of China and the Soviet Union in making the Vietnam peace last.

NO TRUST
"Whether the peace is fragile or not," Kissinger said Thursday, "depends in part on the Vietnamese; it depends in part on outside countries."

The presidential adviser added during his first major broadcast interview, with CBS diplomatic correspondent Marvin Kalb, that "I don't trust the good will" of the parties.

A lasting peace depends in large part "on the actions of the Soviet Union, the Peoples Republic of China and on the sort of relationship we'll be able to establish with North Vietnam."

This also holds true for the United States, the presidential adviser acknowledged, but he pledged strict adherence to the cease-fire agreement signed Jan. 23 which limits the American military aid to Saigon.

BASIC FACT
The Communist allies of Hanoi should play such a placid role, Kissinger said, because "we're bound together by one basic fact—that none of us can survive a nuclear war."

In explaining the over-all U.S. motives, the former Harvard political scientist said Nixon "felt that we had to end the war on honorable terms so that we would be free to be taken seriously in the conduct of other events."

According to Kissinger, "When this administration came into office four years ago, Vietnam was really our national obsession. It was almost the only foreign policy that was being actively debated...."

"The President held the view from the beginning that we had to change the emphasis of that concern" and this, he said, led to the Moscow and Peking summits and the arms-limitation agreements with the Soviets.

In more narrow terms, of the immediate chances for peace, Kissinger told Kalb, "The biggest task is now to move a generation that has known nothing but war toward an attitude of peace."

CHIEF MOTIVE
This is the chief motive for his trip next week to Hanoi, Kissinger said, "to establish a new relationship... to establish some sort of ongoing dialogue, to work out machinery for exchanging ideas."

POW ESCORTS
Instructed To Talk About Everything But Prison Life

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Nearly 400 specially selected military escorts wait at Clark Air Base to nurse the returning American prisoners of war through their initial encounter with life outside captivity.

The one subject of conversation that will be taboo is life inside.

"We have been instructed, 'Just don't ask them what it was like up there,'" said one of the escort officers, Air Force Maj. Joel S. Hetland, 41, of West Bend, Wis. "We will not bring up the subject. We know they will not want to talk about it."

LONG LIST
That guideline is just one of a long list governing the reception of the POWs when they step off hospital planes at Clark for their first taste of freedom. Hetland and the other 379 escorts assembled here from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps have had special instruction from chaplains, psychiatrists and former POWs on how to handle the men.

"I think our roles is essentially as confidants to the returnees," Hetland told a news conference.

Lt. Cmdr. Eiman J. Parrie, 32, of Orange, Tex., said he saw his mission as that of "personal aide to the individual...."

The escorts will question the POWs for information pertaining to other prisoners still being held. But otherwise "our business is to welcome them home, not to determine how they conducted themselves in camp or what they thought of the conduct of others," said Maj. Emmett R. Conrow, 44, of Bisbee, Ariz.

REVERSE SHOCK
Thorough questioning will come after the POWs return to the United States.

Each POW will be assigned an escort who will remain with him until he reaches the States. The escorts major concern will be to assist his POW in overcoming what Parrie called "reverse cultural shock."

"They will be coming from a controlled environment to one where they have freedom of choice," he explained.

"They will not be used to making decisions," said Hetland. "We will help make decisions for them."

"If he asks a question, we will get the answer to it," said Conrow.

Former POWs have briefed some of the escorts on post-captivity problems. Maj. Fred Thompson, shot down over North Vietnam on March 20, 1968, and released nearly five months later, told Air Force escort officers that his main problem was readjustment to an open society.

"He told us he was not used to how fast society was running," said Hetland. So the Air Force term for readjustment "bring the men up to speed."

Traffic Deaths
Linked To Booze

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — Insee whether traffic safety is improving or deteriorating. The Texas rate in 1972 was 4.9, down 4 per cent from 5.1 in 1971, although numerically more people died statewide, 3,560 in 1972 compared with 3,594 in 1971.

"We feel a more cautious attitude on the part of Central Texas motorists, coupled with a significant increase in arrests for drunken driving, may account for some of the improvement in our six counties," said Ed Jarratt, CATSAP law enforcement coordinator.

Beginning last July, the group began providing six specially-trained alcohol detection and control teams of two officers each in six specialized patrol cars to the police departments of Temple, Killeen, Lampasas, Copperas Cove and Coryell counties.

"In all, these enforcement agencies arrested 1,632 persons for driving while intoxicated, but 1,034 of the arrests were made after the teams joined the departments in July," said Jarratt. "The teams made 320 arrests."

In Temple, DWI arrests increased from 282 in 1971 to 569 in 1972, but Killeen accounted for 42 per cent of all the area's DWI arrests with 689. In 1971, the measure used nationally to

Odessa Building
Sold To Girls

ODESSA — Gihls Properties, Inc., headquartered at Largo, Fla., has bought the First State Bank Building in Odessa.

Joint announcement of the purchase was made Thursday by James R. Perry, First State bank chairman and president, and Herbert Lieberman, president of Gihls Properties.

Perry said First State will continue to occupy the building at Fourth and Lee streets, and also announced plans to begin construction next week on three new drive-in window lanes for the bank.

In addition to the bank building, which was completed in 1950 with an additional three floors added in 1962, Gihls also has purchased another building and an adjacent quarter-block lot owned by the bank.

Gihls Realty & Management Corp., headquartered in Midland, will manage the properties.

PIG BRAINS
Esoteric Meat
Prices Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sure, housewives are paying more for steak and roasts these days, but pity the poor fellow who likes pig brains with his scrambled eggs.

Or a slice of cold beef tongue as a midnight snack. Or homemade oxtail soup. Maybe even a sliver of beef heart.

The Agriculture Department reported Thursday that wholesale prices of such meat by-products, cherished delicacies to many, have soared far more than the run-of-the-mill meats common to most menus.

Pig brains, for example, sold in Chicago last week for $22 per 100 pounds. A year ago brains went for half, $11 a package.

"It's hard to say why by-products have gone up so fast," a USDA spokesman said. "There is a big export demand, and that's part of it."

Prices for live cattle and hogs are at record peaks, and wholesale beef and pork continue climbing. It all points to higher retail prices later for such things as steak, pork chops roasts and bacon.

But regular meat prices still are not as outlandishly high as many by-products. Beef, on an all-cut basis, was 5.6 per cent more expensive last month than in January 1972.

But cow ciders were up, $12 per hundredweight compared with $6.50 a year ago. Selected oxtails went for $37 compared with $19.50 a year ago.

Beef livers cost $35.50 per 100 pounds last week, against $21.50 a year earlier. And kidneys were $30 compared with $13.50. Pig lips, sometimes used for homemade scrapple, are selling for $16 per 100 pounds, compared with $11 a year ago.

Much of the by-products from cattle and hog slaughter goes into pet food. Other meat by-products go into human food such as hot dogs, bologna and other cooked sausages. The USDA has proposed a new rule banning such things as beef lips, pig snouts and cheek meat from cooked sausages, but those items currently are still permitted.

YEAR OF THE BUFFALO Ignoring Shaky Peace

SAIGON (AP) — With the Year of the Buffalo only hours away, the Vietnamese people are ignoring the shaky peace as they always did the long, lingering war, to concentrate on last minute preparations for the Lunar New Year.

HOLY DAY
For the inhabitants of the Mekong and Red River deltas, the New Year's celebration they call Tet is what Christmas and New Year's combined is for the Westerners — a holiday and a holy day, a time for giving gifts, going home to the family, receiving old friends, exchanging elaborately worded greetings with neighbors and business acquaintances. The streets of Saigon are a chaos of cycles, jeeps and rickety French taxicabs laden with flowers, tree branches in blossom, gift boxes wrapped in gaudy vermilion paper stamped with gold Chinese letters for prosperity and long life. Drumming-up trade by beating an enormous drum, the mask vendor pushes his cart through the throng to hawk horrible paper-mache images guaranteed to drive away the evil spirits.

HOUSEHOLD GODS
Tet, which lasts for four days, begins with the festival of the household gods, three heavenly spirits journeying to Ngoc Hoang, the jade emperor and king of kings who rules the universe, with a report on the behavior last year of each member of the household. One packs them off on this tattle-tale mission with a cap made of paper dragon wings, a pair of mandarin boots, some money for the trip and food to eat along the way.

Nguyen Hue, the "Street of Flowers," has been in bloom all week with Chinese orange trees, lotus blossoms and fruit trees down from Dalat. On the sidewalks near the central market, busy stroke artists hunker down over such flossy greetings as "May the New Year bring you satisfactory promotion, an excellent harvest, flourishing business and 10 times 100 times as much money as you made last year, a son if you have both a son and a daughter, and 100 years more of health and happiness."

JOYOUS POP
At midnight tonight the Year of the Rat gives way to the Year of the Buffalo with every church and pagoda for miles around pealing its bells 108 times to remit, according to Buddhist belief, the 108 sins that man is most prone to. At the last stroke of the bell, there is silence and everyone listens intently because the first sound you hear is a portent of what the new year will bring.

Five years ago, Tet came in with the joyous pop of firecrackers. Then South Vietnamese soldiers joined the chorus by firing tracer rounds into the sky, shooting off flare rockets, pistols and rifles.

Under cover of those explosions, the Communists launched the most spectacular offensive of the war. Tet '68, ushering in the Year of the Monkey, spread havoc to 78 cities and towns across South Vietnam, brought the war within the gates of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, triggered the siege of Hue and its bloody massacre, and obtained for the Communists a major psychological victory at a fantastic price in human resources.

BATTLES BURGLAR—Mrs. Patrick Lynch, (above) a former lady professional wrestler, battled a burglar all over the house when she came to the aid of her husband who was struck by the burly 6-foot, 180 pound man in Titusville, Fla. Lynch said the burglar left "rather hurriedly."

Newsprint Price Up

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Crown Zellerbach announced it is increasing the price for 32 pound standard newsprint by $5, to $168 a ton, effective Thursday.

The firm said increased costs of manufacture and delivery prompted the increase, which it said was within federal price guidelines.

In accordance with its price protection policy, the firm said one month's normal shipments will be invoiced at the 1972 price of $163 a ton.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
4 ♥ Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Jack of ♥

It appears that South must go down to defeat in his four heart contract, inasmuch as all of the outstanding high cards are unfavorably located. Declarer found a way, however, to put the opposition to work for him and thereby reduce his losers on the deal.

Although a spade opening would have proven more advantageous to the defense, West chose on the basis of the bidding to pursue a passive course, and therefore led the jack of hearts. South won the trick in his hand with the king.

A successful campaign appeared to hinge on the fate of the diamond finesse and the distribution of that suit. South observed a method for improving his chances, however, by partially stripping out the hand and then throwing the opposition in.

The ace of clubs was cashed, the last trump was drawn by leading over to North's queen and the remaining club was ruffed by declarer. The ace of diamonds was played, followed by a small heart to the nine. A diamond was led from dummy and South played the eight putting West in with the ten.

West was not in position to cash the king of diamonds without establishing his opponent's queen for a spade discard from dummy. A club return would present the declarer with a ruff and discard, so West made the only safe play by exiting with the five of spades.

The four of spades was played from dummy and East put up the queen to win the trick, however, he found himself to be hopelessly end-played on the return. He had no more diamonds and a club shift would clearly surrender a trick. East therefore led back a small spade. South's ten held and, after cashing the ace of spades, he graciously conceded another diamond to the opposition.

In all, declarer lost two diamond tricks and one spade.

Dogcatchers Abandoning Dogs To Chase Robbers

By The Associated Press
Dogcatchers in two cities abandoned their regular work to give chase to bank robbers, in each case chasing the men in their radio-equipped trucks.

In Milton, Mass., dog officer John Lank was riding in his truck Thursday when he heard a police radio dispatch reporting a robbery in nearby Canton. He spotted the car and gave chase, radioing his location to police.

Soon the alleged getaway car had a string of police vehicles on its tail, led by Lank in his dogcatcher's truck.

The two men in the car stopped and were hauled out by Lank, who turned them over to arriving police officers. Police said the two were armed with a gun.

In Ann Arbor, Mich., dog warden Steve Hill, 20, also overheard a police report of a bank robbery Thursday. Hill spotted the car pulling out of a parking lot and gave chase, radioing his position along the way.

Police said several shots were fired at Hill, some striking his truck. He was not injured.

Patrol cars soon joined Hill's truck and the suspect car finally came to a halt. Its occupants fled on foot, but were captured by police.

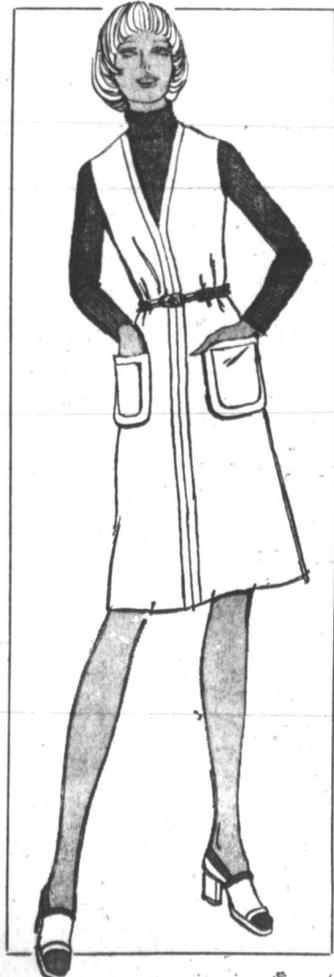

Investigators said one of the captured men complained on the way to the police station: "Someone should have given that kid in the truck a traffic citation, the way he drove!"
