JUSTICE OF PEACE, ONE OF HIS SONS, SON'S WIFE

Three Shot To Death Near Kerrville

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A veteran justice of the peace, one of his sons and the son's wife died by gunfire in two separate shooting incidents miles apart, authorities discovered today.

TWINS NOT HARMED
In one of the shootings, 20-month-old twins were not harmed.

Killed were Justice of the Peace Albert Kennedy Jr., 54; Tom Kennedy, 26, and Mrs. Tom Kennedy, 22.

The Tom Kennedys were married only last Aug. 4 with Albert Kennedy performing the ceremony.

The twins, Stacy and Tracy, were Tom Kennedy's children by a previous wife and were in the younger Kennedy's home.

The shootings occurred near Ingram, which is six miles northwest of this Hill Country city.

The justice of the peace resided on Fall Branch Road off Texas 27 about seven miles north of Ingram. The son's home is one mile west of Ingram on Texas 39.

Officers were mystified about a motive or suspect, they said.

They did not immediately identify the type of weapon or weapons used.

HAD CONTACT

Alice Kennedy, wife of the justice, found his body about 1 a.m. when she returned from work at a motel.

She called a doctor who telephoned the Kerr County Sheriff's office.

Department of Public Safety Sgt. James England and Patrolman Don Oates, going to the son's home to inform him of his father's death, found the son and his wife slain. This was an hour and a half after the justice was discovered.

Sheriff's deputies said the elder Kennedy apparently "had contact with his assailant"—meaning he struggled with him.

There was no forcible entry of the home.

SHOT IN CHEST

Officers said the justice was shot once in the head and once in the chest.

Deputies said the elder Kennedy apparently was shot first in the chest. Then he was shot in the head from outside through a back screen door—indicating that the slayer fired a final shot as he fled.

Tom Kennedy was found dead in the front room of his home, shot twice in the head. His wife's body was in the bedroom. She had been shot three times, sheriff's officers said.

The Department of Public Safety sent a laboratory team to the scene, and two Rangers joined the investigation.

DESTROYER BLAST VICTIM — Engineman 3c Michael T. Soule of Milford, Conn. leaves a Navy tug which brought him to the destroyer base at Newport, R. I., today. He was a crewman of the destroyer Basitone on which three were killed and eight injured at sea Monday when a boiler exploded.

Some POWs To Find $100,000 Waiting

Admits Assault, Denies Killing

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Officers jailed an ex-convict on rape and murder charges and indicated they would question him further today about still another slaying.

Nathaniel Morgan, 29, a laborer, was charged Monday in the rape-slaying of Paige Applegate, 6, whose body was discovered Jan. 27 under a freeway overpass.

Investigators said Morgan admitted the assault but denied killing the child, who died of a broken neck.

A medical examiner said she may have suffered the fatal injury when thrown from a car.

Morgan was arrested at his home Sunday after a 10-year-old girl gave police a statement in which she said she was a victim of an attempted rape.

Morgan also was charged in that case with assault with intent to rape. He was held in county jail without bond.

First Step In Mine Clearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four U.S. Navy minesweepers were ordered today to begin clearing an anchorage 35 miles off Halphong harbor to serve as a base of operations for later sweeping of mines from North Vietnamese ports.

The first step in the mine clearing process followed a meeting Monday in Halphong between senior military representatives of the United States and North Vietnam on minesweeping operations.

A Pentagon spokesman, Maj. Gen. Daniel Chapple James, said an anchorage will be established in international waters about 35 miles southeast of Halphong. Although there was no evidence to indicate any mines in the area, James said four minesweepers, accompanied by two destroyers would move in as a precaution and sweep the site before the full task force arrives on station.

POSTWAR CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that Secretary of State William P. Rogers will read the U.S. delegation to the Paris peace conference on Vietnam beginning Feb. 26.

At the same time presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler said Dr. Henry Kissinger will leave Wednesday aboard a presidential jet for Bangkok on his way to Hanoi and Peking.

In the Thai capital he will confer with the prime minister, Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, and other government leaders.

Mahon Accuses Nixon Of Usurping 'Authority'

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a second day of attacks on President Nixon's impoundment of appropriations, Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, accused the White House of usurping "authority which no president has or ever has had."

Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz, in again facing a barrage against the new Nixon budget, told the committee President Nixon was "a law-abiding president" who has had competent legal advice that his fiscal course is lawful and proper.

NOT LAST WORD

John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's top economic adviser, said White House refusal to spend funds approved by Congress is legal and necessary.

Ehrlichman said in an interview Monday that congressional appropriation "isn't the last word" in the spending process. "Whenever it's possible for the executive to save money, it's incumbent upon him to do so," he said.

Such refusal to spend—im-pondment, it is called—under attack in Congress and under investigation in Senate hearings, "has been the presidential prerogative ever since Thomas Jefferson's time."

In a report to Congress Monday, the White House said the Nixon administration is withholding $8.7 billion appropriated by Congress during the present fiscal year. But that figure does not include $6 billion in water-pollution funds "The President has refused to allocate."

ECONOMIC POLICY

Senate hearings on the impoundments begin today in the subcommittee on separation of powers, chaired by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said in remarks for the panel that the Nixon administration is using impoundment powers not just to save money but "as a bald instrument of economic policy."

In a statement more critical of Congress than of Nixon, Byrd, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said "worthwhile programs are victimized along with those that are unworthy and which we ourselves have shown neither the wisdom nor the guts to terminate."

MORE VOTES

"Too many of us over the years," Byrd said, "have virtually outdone ourselves in currying the favor of organized pressure groups that advocate more and more spending as the solution for more and more problems, this being the way to get more and more votes. The result: more and more deficits."

But in calling for greater restraints in spending along the lines Nixon has pursued, Byrd emphasized he thinks Congress should assert more control and "protect its constitutional authority to determine how the people's money will be spent, how much will be spent, and for what purposes."

Flu Bug Giving School Kids In Area Bad Time

The flu bug, whether of the Hong Kong or London strain, seems to be playing musical chairs with school districts in the county.

Last week flu took its heaviest toll in the Coahoma School District where student absenteeism, particularly in the elementary grades, was up to 16 per cent.

Big Spring Public Schools and Forsan Public Schools had reported absenteeism running about average (five per cent).

This morning, however, the tables had seemingly been turned as the Big Spring district reported absenteeism worsening, while the Coahoma district reported it improving and Forsan is steady.

Noel Reed of the Big Spring schools said that a spot check in the district showed absenteeism the worst in the College Heights Ward School and Goliah Junior High area.

Goliah Junior High had approximately 14 per cent absenteeism this morning with 86 of its 643 students out. College Heights had a similar 13 per cent with 56 of the 422 students out.

Big Spring High had an absentee rate today of about nine per cent, somewhat above normal, with 176 of its 1,960 students absent.

Meanwhile, W. A. Wilson, Coahoma superintendent, said although some faculty members are out due to illness, student attendance has improved. "We seem to be in good shape," he concluded.

COLORADO CITY — The trial of Ernest Luera, 21, charged with the rape of a 21-year-old divorcee, started in 32nd District Court here Monday.

Selection of the jury, six of whom are women, was completed during the morning and testimony got under way after lunch.

Among witnesses heard, in addition to the plaintiff, were her mother, stepfather, Chief of Police Jesse Browning and a neighbor, Mildred Boyd.

The case is not expected to go to the jury until late today. This morning, state's witnesses included the former sheriff, Lewis Claxton, and Joe Stockton, of the Colorado City police department. Mrs. Mary Lee Moore, who lives immediately behind the apartment of the victim, also testified today.

Dale and Danny Barber represented Luera and Dist. Atty. Frank Ginzler prosecuted the case.

Dale Barber, on cross examination of the victim, elicited a reply from her that she had said in Dist. Atty. Ginzler's office on the morning following the alleged rape that she wasn't sure of her identification of Luera as the rapist. She testified on re-examination that she hadn't understood Barber's question, then pointed out Luera as her attacker.

In her testimony the 85-pound plaintiff had testified she lived alone with her 2-year-old son and had been preparing to go to bed on the evening of the alleged attack. She said she entered her bathroom and a long-hated "Spanish" person had grabbed her.

She testified he had a pair of men's shorts over his head and face. She said he choked her, unzipped her dress, removed her underwear and pushed her down on the floor and had sexual relations with her. At some time, she testified, the shorts fell from his head and she could see his face.

All the while, she told the jury, her 2-year-old son was watching and screaming continuously.

After her attacker left, she went to her parents' home and they notified police.

Mrs. Boyd, who lived a few feet away from the young woman's residence, testified she heard a child screaming about the time the alleged rape occurred.

AIRPORT SECURITY MIXED

Armed Guards Go On Duty

By The Associated Press
Armed guards went on duty at some airports around the nation today, but were withheld at others following an injunction that delays new anti-jack measures.

A federal judge in Washington ordered a 10-day delay in enforcement of the new security measures on Monday. Judge John Smith ordered the delay until Feb. 15 and set a hearing for Feb. 13 on whether to make his injunction permanent.

The judge issued his ruling after the Federal Aviation Administration refused earlier Monday to extend the midnight deadline for compliance with its rule that airports provide armed guards.

CHICAGO ACTION

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley canceled his order for extra police security at the city's O'Hare and Midway airports after learning on the earlier in the day, he had ordered formation of two security teams consisting of 48 men at O'Hare and 25 men at Midway.

Police in San Francisco also canceled an order for policemen to take over extra security. A spokesman said the unit "will be held in abeyance for the next eight days."

FAA officials stressed that the ruling did not have any bearing on current airport security regulations, including an earlier FAA requirement that all hand-luggage be searched.

In Dallas, Tex., 66 extra guards went on duty at Love Field as scheduled. Connecticut state officials said new security measures would go into effect as scheduled there, too.

The FAA said following Smith's ruling that its nine regional offices would decide whether to post airport guards or wait until the Feb. 13 hearing.

AIRPORT FEES

The injunction had been sought by the Airport Operators Council International, representing 132 facilities. It filed the motion for the injunction on Jan. 26, asking for a six-month postponement, claiming many airports needed the time to hire and train the additional officers. Cost of the heightened security was to be borne by various sources, including local police departments, airports or airlines, which would pay increased airport fees.

At Chicago's O'Hare, the nation's busiest airport, the cost of armed guards was estimated at $3 million annually, with the airlines providing the money and the Chicago police the manpower.

A number of airports complied with the new measure prior to the deadline.

Says Shot Man In Pharr Riot

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A former Hidalgo County chief deputy sheriff Ray Rogers, testified today that deputy Robert C. Johnson told him the night of the 1971 Pharr riot that he believed he had shot a man.

Rogers, now Mission's chief of police, testified he was in charge of 11 deputies sent to Pharr to help quell the disturbance.

Testimony from Rogers came at the opening of Johnson's trial on two misdemeanor charges of negligent homicide in the Feb. 6, 1971 shooting death of Alfonso Laredo Flores, 20, a construction worker from Pharr.

Rogers said that after officers made their second sweep through a rock-throwing crowd, "Deputy Johnson came back to me and advised me he thought he had shot a man."

"At the time my gun went off, the man fell."

Hidalgo County Sheriff Claudio Castaneda, the second witness, testified Johnson told him the next day that he felt bad and wanted to resign because of an incident at Pharr the night before.

The sheriff said Johnson told him he was aiming and discharged his weapon in the direction of the man who was hit. Sheriff Castaneda, under cross-examination by defense lawyer Aron Pena, said, "I had a very high regard for him (Johnson). He had all the qualities of a good officer."

Flores was struck in the head with a bullet as he stood with his hands in his pockets outside a Pharr barber shop Feb. 6, 1971. He died the following day in the intensive care unit of a Harlingen hospital.

Johnson was one of dozens of law enforcement officers who used guns, clubs, fire hoses and tear gas to disperse a rock and bottle throwing crowd after a peaceful demonstration against alleged police brutality erupted into a riot.

Owens Street Overpass Plans Are Unchanged

Councilmen, working on the city budget Monday evening, were told by City Manager Harry Nagel that advance traffic surveys indicated a state highway department preference for Gollad instead of Owens Street for a new railroad overpass.

This was news to J. C. (Jake) Roberts, Abilene, district highway engineer for Texas Highway Department. So far as he was concerned, the Owens Street location for the proposed overpass of the T&P tracks has cleared all major hurdles and awaits only funds. Rights of way easements on the Owens location have been turned over to proper authorities for acquisition, he said. Public hearings on the Owens route

JUDY PROSPERS ON PRO GOLF TOUR

Rankins 'Follow The Sun'

By TOMMY HART
Only a little more than 50 miles separate the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rankin, Howard-Mitchell County ranchers, and their son, Walter (Yippy), but the two families don't get together as often as they'd like. Yippy, an outstanding football player for Midland High and Texas Tech a few years ago, maintains a residence in Midland but he spends much of the year on the road with his pretty wife, Judy, and their son, Tvey (who'll be five years old Wednesday).

parents' 20-section ranch as often as their schedule permits. Judy relishes to chance to ride when a gentle horse can be found for her. Judy, along with her family, is in Maples, Fla., this week for the Lely Classic Tournament. The girls go from there to Pompano Beach, Fla., for a meet. The $30,000 San Antonio event is scheduled March 29-April 1. A $100,000 Houston Tournament is scheduled March 9-11. Other big tournaments on the girls' schedule include the $135,000 Dinah Shore Tournament in Palm Springs, Cal., and a $100,000 event at Las Vegas May 31-June 3. Mrs. Bud Rankin, whose given name is Susie but who is called Tu, played golf years ago but never gets to play today. She and her husband have four highly-valued quarterhorses, however, they train as cutting horses. The Rankin ranch originally belonged to Mrs. Snyder's father, D. H. Snyder. Before he became a rancher, Bud was in the rent-a-car business in Midland. They run about 500 head of cattle on their holdings. TO SLOW DOWN Judy is trim, healthy and still going strong, but she is dead-set on slowing down in the next few years. She simply wants to devote more time to her family and to seeing that Yippy gets a firm toe-hold in the insurance business. She's been playing golf since she was seven years of age and she turned pro ten years ago, when she was 17. Her mother died when Judy was very young and her father reasoned wisely that golf would be therapeutic for her.

Judy, whose maiden name was Torleinn, says married life is ideal for the touring golfer. "Now that my life is settled," she elaborates, "I'm able to separate my career from other concerns. I concentrate fully on the game when I'm out on the course. I work a lot harder at golf." Judy recalls she shot an 84 the first time she played a course in St. Louis — at the ripe old age of six. That, of course, was over nine holes. She won a hole-in-one contest in her native city at the age of seven and a national Pee Wee Tournament in Orlando, Fla., when only eight. She turned pro when she got an unexpected tour sponsorship offer from a golf manufacturing concern. The sponsor paid her $150 a week or lodging, food and travel expenses on the grueling tour around the country. "I finished the year with a grand total of $900 in winnings," she recalls. Her next year out, she earned $11,000 and was on her way. That was big money at a time when the purses for women's tournaments were not in the same league with the men's tournaments. The money began to pick up a few years ago when Sealy and Sears got into the game by sponsoring celebrity pro-am tournaments. She has played in such tournaments with people like Joe Namath ("a perfect gentleman") and Sammy Davis Jr. ("very, very nice, but not so good at golf"). She met Yippy while playing in the Tall City Open in Midland half a dozen years ago.

Star Ballot Criticized By Coaches

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The two leading coaches in the nation, preparing for tonight's All-Star game, say they are not satisfied with the way the players are picked. The players for the team are picked by the media. East Coach Larry Brown of the Carolina Cougars told a news conference Monday he would like to have the teams picked by the media and the players in the league. West Coach LaDell Anderson, saying he felt factors other than scoring should be considered. He said the top 19 scores are among the 20 players picked for the game. He said it might have made a difference if overall performance had been considered. Meanwhile, the coaches spoke of their plans for the game and ABA Commissioner Robert Carlson talked about merger with the National Basketball Association at the league meeting in conjunction with the game. "I think we'll run a two-plateau system in the first half," said Brown. "I'll go a quarter with the starters and put the other five in for the second quarter. In the second half, we'll use the people who seem to be having a good night. I just hope I don't overcoach them." "We'll try for the most effective matchups," Anderson said. "I won't necessarily go for the two-plateau system, but all the players will get a chance to do what we feel they can do best." Carlson told a news conference Monday that he expects a bill to merge the two leagues to be introduced in Congress again Thursday. Carlson said he expects the players associations in both leagues to support the proposal. Carlson also said the league would hold its draft of college seniors April 10. The club owners were scheduled to meet all day today.

Wolfpack Remains Among Unbeaten

The good Lord was with us," declared a thankful Coach Norm Sloan after his second-ranked North Carolina State Wolfpack remained undefeated by edging sixth-rated North Carolina 76-73 Monday night. After trailing for most of the game, the Wolfpack overcame North Carolina's tenacious defense and deliberate four-corner offense, finally sealing the victory on a jump shot by Mark Moeller and a free throw by David Thompson in the closing seconds. Others in the AP Top Ten were not as fortunate as N.C. State. No. 4 Indiana was upended by Big Ten rival Ohio State 70-69 at Columbus. No. 3 Missouri was ambushed by Big Eight foe Oklahoma 90-77 at Norman, Okla. No. 10 Alabama dropped a 66-62 decision to Southeastern Conference rival Mississippi at Oxford, Miss.

N.C. State appeared headed for defeat, too, as the Tar Heels opened the second half on a 12-2 tear to take a 47-41 lead. Coach Dean Smith then ordered his Tar Heels into their famous Carolina Corners offense — putting men in each of the four corners of the front court with one man in the middle — hoping for the high percentage shots. The strategy worked for a while, but with six minutes left State, buoyed by its home court fans, finally caught up at 67-67. The lead then changed hands six times till the end. Allen Horyak gave Ohio State basketball coach Fred Taylor a welcome home present Monday night, sinking a free throw with five seconds remaining for the Ohio State triumph. It was Taylor's first game since resuming his coaching duties after being hospitalized for a week following chest pains Jan. 26. Horyak finished a 19 er Luke Attie added 18 points and 16 rebounds.

Steve Downing led Indiana 14-3, with 22 points. The Hoosiers still lead the Big Ten with a 6-1 mark. Freshman guard John Breathitt came off the bench to spark Oklahoma over Missouri. After racing out to a 16-point lead, Missouri gradually cut it down to four with 11:03 remaining. But Breathitt hit jumpers from 25, 12 and 15 feet to keep Oklahoma on top, then sank both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation to give Oklahoma a five-point lead with 2:25 left. Coollidge Ball sank four baskets in a row in a one-minute stretch midway through the second half and finished with a game-high 26 points as Mississippi upset Alabama dropping the Crimson Tide into a tie with Tennessee for first place in the SEC. Southwestern Louisiana, ranked 13th, outscored Lamar 101-94, hitting 50 per cent of its shots from the field. Guard Dwight Lamar paced the scoring with 36 points, forward Robert Wilson tallied 24 points and grabbed 14 rebounds and center Roy Ebron scored 19. Butch Taylor and Leon Benbow combined to score 18 consecutive points late in the first half as 16th-ranked Jacksonville, 17-3, beat Creighton 78-62. Taylor finished with 21 points and Benbow netted 18.

Long Beach State Gets Promotion In Ratings

By The Associated Press The membership of college basketball's Top Ten club remained unchanged today from last week but except for top-ranked UCLA and No. 2 North Carolina State there was considerable shuffling of positions. Long Beach State, fourth last week, moved into third place in The Associated Press' poll of sports writers and sports causers as Maryland lost twice and tumbled to ninth. Indiana remained fourth. But Minnesota jumped to fifth from ninth; North Carolina moved up from eighth to sixth; Marquette advanced from 10th to seventh; Missouri fell from seventh to eighth; and Alabama fell from sixth to 10th. UCLA again was an easy first choice. The Bruins, who beat arch-rival Southern California in their only game to run their record to 17-0, gathered 35 first-place votes and 736 points. North Carolina State, 16-0 after beating Maryland and

Virginia, got two first-place ballots and 670 points. Making the Second Ten were Houston, Providence, Southwestern Louisiana, St. John's of New York, Memphis State, Jacksonville, San Francisco, Oral Roberts, Kansas State and New Mexico. Jayhawks Visit Odessa Seeking 20th Victory

ODESSA — Harold "Dizzy" Wilder sends his gang out again tonight. And the Odessa College Wranglers will likely be the victims, when the Howard County Jayhawks travel here tonight for a 7:30 p.m. Western Conference battle. The Jayhawks will be going to hit. Of course, we're very relieved to be in a position to get 20 games this early." The Jayhawks are 19-11 with seven games remaining, plus a possible berth in the Region V tournament in Lubbock. Wilder started his personal blitz as a junior varsity coach at Abilene High School, and after one successful season there, he moved up to varsity coach and ripped off four 20-victory years. Since coming to Howard County in 1970, Wilder has had seasons of 25-12 and 27-9.

The Hawks went on a four-game binge last week, taking a couple of easy ones, along with a pair of not-so-easy ones. But Wilder will have something extra working for him tonight since Thomas Bledsoe, the team's leading scorer and rebounder, will be back after missing the last four tilts. Bledsoe, a 6-6 freshman, injured a shoulder almost two weeks ago. The Jayhawks have split a pair of games with Odessa this season, losing 73-72 in a tournament and rebounding for a 96-87 decision in a league game here.

Forsan JH Wins Two From Grady

FORSAN — Forsan swept two games from Grady here Monday night to remain in first place in junior high district standings. Each of the Forsan teams has a 10-1 league record. Margin in the girls' game was 30-12. Beverly Strickland tossed in 16 points for the winners. Janet Davenport counted eight for Grady. In the boys' game, Forsan's margin of victor was 49-17. Twelve boys got into the scoring act for the Junior Buffs. The Forsan girls now have an over-all mark of 14-2 while the boys are 14-1.

Aggies, Ponies Tangle Tonight

By The Associated Press Pre-season favorite Southern Methodist, the hottest team in the Southwest Conference, tries to live up tonight to the billing Texas Coach Leon Black strapped on them: "I don't think they have a weak spot." The very physical Texas Aggies will be in Dallas tonight to find out for themselves if the Mustangs can stay with the rugged College Station bunch on the backboards. SMU is 5-1 and tied with Texas Tech for the SWC basketball lead. Tech hosts dangerous Arkansas in Lubbock where the Red Raiders have produced two overtime victories. SMU freshman Ira Terrell is leading the SWC in rebounds but the Aggies haven't been beaten on the boards many times this season. A sellout crowd of in excess of 9,000 was expected in Moody Coliseum as the Aggies, who are 3-3, try to stay alive in the SWC title chase.

Arkansas, with SWC leading scorer Martin Terry, are capable of upsetting the Red Raiders, who lost their first conference game Saturday night to Baylor in Waco. Dean Tolson gives the Hogs a solid 1-2 punch. After SMU dropped Texas Saturday night, Black said "They're a balanced team and they play well together." Terrell, a freshman, junior college transfer Sammy Hervey, veteran Ruben Triplett, and guards Zach Thiel and Rick Billik have jelled for the Mustangs after an opening overtime loss to Tech in Lubbock. The Mustangs and Red Raiders meet Saturday night in Dallas. Baylor and Arkansas both own 4-2 records and are vastly improved. Baylor is at Rice tonight while defending champion Texas tries for its second win against five losses at Fort Worth against winless Texas Christian.

Pain Is Name Of Game, Says Coach Of Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — Armand "Bep" Guidolin, the new coach of the Boston Bruins, says pain is the name of the game in the rough and tough National Hockey League. "You have to hurt your bodies to win in this game," Guidolin said after his appointment was announced Monday. "You have to be ready to sacrifice yourself. When it hurts, you still have to dig down a little deeper in your legs and keep going. That's what we're going to do." Guidolin, coach of the Bruins' American Hockey League farm club for the past two years, was appointed to the top spot Monday after the firing of Tom Johnson. Guidolin is noted as a believer in conditioning and discipline, qualities some critics felt were missing in this season's on-again, off-again edition of the Bruins.

The Bruins, holders of the Stanley Cup, are struggling through an extended slump that has dumped from first place in the NHL's East Division to a poor third. They have managed to collect only 15 points in the past 12 games. That poor showing resulted in Johnson getting the ax Monday in a move designed to shake up the club. Johnson took the chopping philosophically. "I don't feel I'm being made the scapegoat for the team's poor showing," he said. "I had a feeling this ought to happen. We needed to do something to shake up the team and they never get rid of the players." The players took Johnson's firing harder than the coach. "If we had a little more guts," said Bobby Orr, "this wouldn't have happened to Tom."

Cleveland Did Well, But Not Washington

Reflections of a National Football League draft watcher: Where did all the quarterbacks go? After discussing most of them at length, the pros apparently decided this was a lean crop of passers. Only three were chosen among the first 32 players and just five in the first 78. The third QB to go? Ron Jaworski of Youngstown State. Just like you figured, right?

Who had the best draft? It's close, very close. Cleveland, with Steve Holders, Pete Adams and Greg Pruitt, looks good. So does Chicago with Wally Chambers, Gary Huff and Gary Hrvivnak. The Colts are right there, too, with Bert Jones, Joe Ehrmann and Mike Barnes.

Worst draft? That's easy, Washington. No picks, no players. After that, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Miami all seem in the running.

The Dolphins were sort of true to form. You knew they'd wind up drafting a bunch of No-Names.

CHECK 'EM OUT
Roll the dice and check out the gamblers. The Giants took big chances on their first two picks, Brad Van Pelt, Michigan's precocious defensive star, has been offered a $100,000 baseball contract, and Rich Glover, the lineman of the year from Nebraska, will have to learn how to play linebacker in the NFL. Then there is rookie coach and GM Chuck Fairbanks in New England. With one of the worst defenses in football, the men from Oklahoma used his first three selections to take offensive players. Next question: Who's going to run the Patriot Washbone?

The most significant single pick in the draft may have belonged to Atlanta on the second round. The Falcons chose defensive lineman Greg Marx, an unspectacular type from Notre Dame who is sturdy and dependable in the Mike McCoy mold. Now, with Claude Humphrey, John Zook, recently acquired Mike Tillman and Marx, Norm Van Brocklin could have the best front four in the National Conference.

For the first time in its history, Atlanta has a defense that can overpower some people. So naturally, the Falcons are on Dwayne Crump on round six.

Weird Department: Denver, desperately in need of receivers, passing up both Steve Holden and Isaac Curtis, to take running back Otis Armstrong from Purdue. And Los Angeles, first disposing of a solid running back like Willie Ellison and then trading off regulars Jim Jurnell and Clancy Williams for late, late draft choices. Suppose the new L.A. regime is trying to show what it thought of the old organization's methods?

Meet The Coach Night Planned

Bob Burris moved here last week to assume head coaching duties of the Big Spring Steers. The three co-captains met with Burris last night over dinner to work out some arrangements for the evening, in which all football fans will be asked to take part.

Jackets Defeat McMurry Tribe

BROWNWOOD — Howard Payne College humbled McMurry College, 92-84, in Lone Star Conference play here Monday night.

David Jones scored 13 points, Tommy Glynn one for the winning Jackets. Both are former Stanton players.

ELECTED TO PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME — Former Baltimore Colts players Ray Berry, right, and Jim Parker, center, and former Detroit Lions star Joe Schmidt, left, were elected Tuesday to the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Berry, who was a wide receiver, and of-fense lineman Parker played with the Colts when they were league leaders in the late 1950's and early '60's. Schmidt was a linebacker with the Lions in the 1950's and '60's.

Only Three Names Added To Shrine

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Raymond Berry and Jim Parker, superstars in a victorious Baltimore Colts era, were named to Pro Football's Hall of Fame today along with former Detroit linebacker Joe Schmidt.

Selections were announced by Dick Gallagher, director of the shrine who said the three inductees represent the smallest number named in any year since the Hall was initiated in 1963.

The 275-pound Parker, generally considered a prototype for interior offensive linemen, was the heart of Baltimore's offensive line when John Unitas was firing the ball to Berry in the 1950s and early 1960s.

Schmidt "quarterbacked" the Detroit defense from middle linebacker, making All-Pro eight times and eventually being named head coach of the Lions.

Oddly, a disappointed Schmidt resigned his coaching job a month ago and his replacement, Don McCafferty, named Berry as his first assistant coach.

Berry's great years were 1968-69 when he led the NFL in receiving for three straight seasons and the Colts won two championships. In the famous overtime playoff against the New York Giants in 1968, Berry caught 12 passes for 178 yards in the Colt triumph.

Parker won the 1956 Outland Trophy at Ohio State as college football's No. 1 lineman and, with Baltimore, was All-Pro four times at guard and four times at tackle.

Schmidt was a stocky fullback at the University of Pittsburgh, but knee problems forced him to make a change. Detroit didn't draft him until the seventh round in 1963.

He became an immediate sensation at middle linebacker and was captain of the Lions for nine seasons. Schmidt became an assistant coach in 1966 after his retirement and was named head coach two years later.

Berry became a Dallas Cowboy assistant after retiring from the Colts' active roster and then moved to the University of Arkansas before returning to the NFL with Detroit last week.

IN MIDLAND Steers Tangle With Lee Rebs

MIDLAND — Standing in the way of a team with a date on its mind isn't the best place to be most of the time, but that's where the Big Spring Steers find themselves again tonight.

For the second time in a week Coach Ron Plumlee's Steers are in the Tall City to do basketball battle with some of the state's best talent, this time Midland Lee's Rebels. Last Tuesday the Steers suffered a 102-88 setback at the hands of the Midland High Bulldogs.

Lee won the first half of Dist. 5-AAAA action with a three-point victory over the Bulldogs, but nothing will be decided for sure until the return match Feb. 16 — a game which may be televised.

Both teams have suffered one district loss, and both have tended to bounce back forcefully afterwards.

The Steers, meanwhile, have struggled to a 13-15 season standing, and with an 0-3 mark in the second half, are only hoping for a break-even year. Lee is 26-2 on the year and 2-1 in the second half.

Lee boasts a terrific scoring punch, made up mostly of Don Bradley and Steve Cronwell, who combined for 38 points Friday as the Rebs walloped Abilene Cooper, 77-37. Others in the Rebel attack are Melvin Jackson, Larry Thane and Tommy Loughery.

Plumlee will probably counter with Kevin Miller and Tim Dunn, both 6-2, along with John Thomas Smith (6-1), Willie Williams (5-8) and Johnny Tonn (6-0).

He knows he'll be outmanned, but worrying about it is the last thing Plumlee wants to do. "I think if we go over there too tight we're liable to get blown clear out of the state. Abilene Cooper found that out," he said.

"The best thing we can do is just relax and play ball, and let things take care of themselves."

A sophomore game will start the night off at 4:15 in the Lee gym, and the Junior Varsityes will clash at 8 p.m. The varsity affair will get under way at 8 p.m.

In Athletics, It's How Good You Look Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Imagine Bronco Nagurski playing football in skintight stretch pants of double-knit nylon, white kangaroo leather shoes and a mesh jersey of nylon tafeta.

Well that's the kind of uniform the Hall of Fame fullback would likely wear if he played today because fashion now rivals function in the business of outfitting players.

"It's not how good you are; it's how good you look," says Stan Kardon, a representative for a major sports uniform manufacturer.

Kardon and spokesmen for more than 50 other firms displayed a veritable rainbow of merchandise during a recent coaches clinic at a local hotel.

"We have shoulder pads in a reg. white and blue motif," Kardon said as he stood before his mountain of $25 pants, $30 shoes and jerseys in the $10-$15 price range.

"The pants and jerseys come in all colors and designs," he said. "We're using fabrics that only women used to wear—and for hot weather.

"The shoes come in black and white," he added, "but we do have kits that can be used to dye them any color. Coordinating with the uniform colors is very popular."

Striped kneesocks are big, and so are terrycloth wrist bands, originally intended to just soak up sweat.

"We're getting a lot of action out of the wrist bands," said Terry Davies, employed by a firm that built its reputation marketing athletic supporters.

Function is still a strong selling point, and the vogue is toward specialization.

For example, there are special types of shoulder pads for linemen, running backs, linebackers and quarterbacks and receivers. Prices run as high as $50 a pair.

One firm advertises its "linebacker" pads as "Designed for hitters who want the maximum in shoulder pad protection."

Shoes are also made for various positions, as well as synthetic or wet fields.

Corona Given 25 Life Terms

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Juan V. Corona has begun serving 25 consecutive life terms for the slaughter of 25 itinerant farm workers found buried two years ago in peach orchards along the Feather River.

The Mexican national was sentenced Monday by Superior Court Judge Richard Patton while a crowd of some 250 young Mexican-Americans demonstrated in support of Corona outside the white-columned Solano County courthouse. One demonstrator was arrested for malicious mischief.

MASS MURDER
The judge pronounced sentence in the largest mass murder trial in U.S. history after rejecting a defense motion for a new trial based on charges of jury tampering — involving a conversation between a sheriff's matron and a juror the night before Corona was convicted.

Patton also had defense attorney Richard Hawk arrested in the courtroom. The judge ordered him to begin serving immediately 54 days of a total of 74 days in jail for contempt of court citations issued during the four-month trial.

Two prosecutors face seven-day sentences, which they were given time to appeal. All three attorneys were cited for violating the judge's instructions that they not discuss any aspects of the case outside the courtroom.

Corona rose silently to his feet after Patton pronounced: "The order of the court is that the defendant be punished by confinement in the state prison for life."

CLUTCHING BIBLE
A bailiff tapped the 38-year-old farm labor contractor on the shoulder and, clutching a pocket-sized Bible, Corona walked quietly to a nearby holding cell.

He was kept there for two hours while the crowd outside thinned to about 50. Then helmeted Solano County sheriff's deputies swept the demonstrators to one side to make way for a van that took Corona on an eight-mile trip to the California state prison at Vacaville.

Special prosecutor Ronald Fahey said the effect of making the life terms consecutive, rather than concurrent, would be to delay Corona's eligibility for parole probably beyond his lifetime.

CORONA AFTER SENTENCING — Convicted mass slayer Juan Corona shouted a greeting to supporters as he left the Solano County Hall of Justice on his way to the Vacaville Medical Facility Monday. Corona was sentenced to 25 consecutive life sentences for the mass killing of 25 migrant farm workers and burying their bodies in orchard graves north of Yuba City, Calif.

whether Corona would be eligible for parole after seven years or 175 years, based on the 25 consecutive life sentences.

Corona, the father of four small daughters, has been behind bars since early on May 26, 1971, when Sutter County sheriff's deputies began unearthing body after body in peach orchards near Yuba City.

Kill Texan In Shootout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young Texas man wanted in connection with a liquor store robbery was shot and killed and a policeman was seriously wounded in a shootout, authorities say.

Police said officers stopped a car early Monday because they believed it was used in a liquor store holdup Saturday in which a clerk was wounded.

As policemen approached the vehicle, officers said, they noticed the driver had a pistol.

The officers said they fired at the young man twice before he drove away, and when they stopped the car again the man jumped from the vehicle and fired at them before they gunned him down.

The dead man was identified as Edward Johnson, 19, from Denton, Tex. Authorities said he was wanted there on a felony warrant charging him with burglary and carrying a concealed weapon.

Old Ridge Lee Is World Beater

WELLINGTON (AP) — Fifty thousand daughters of the late Ridge Lee Master Owl are living in New Zealand, and perhaps not surprisingly his friends are claiming old Ridge Lee was a world beater. The poor old fellow died recently, seven years after joining the New Zealand Dairy Board's pedigree Jersey bull team of sires.

In his day Ridge Lee was responsible for the insemination of 290,000 dairy cows. About 15,000 of his inseminations were successful, and there would have been at least 70,000 females (slightly more male cattle are born than females). So the dairy people are agreed that at least 50,000 of the old boy's daughters are on New Zealand dairy farms today.

IN AIR SERVICES FIGHT

Other Affected Cities May Be Asked To Help

By ANN STEVENS
A two-pronged effort to fight the intended pull-out of Texas International Airlines from Howard County has been initiated by a 20-member group of interested citizens and businessmen.

Meeting yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce, the group elected Robert Whipkey chairman of a committee which may grow to state-wide proportions and affect national legislation.

Committee members agreed to take action immediately to contact the 12 other Texas cities in which the airlines intends to discontinue service and to try to form a statewide group of cities of like size to fight similar airline pull-outs.

In a second prong to the attack, the members agreed to alert local Congressmen and others in Washington to the intention of airlines to eliminate service from smaller cities because of "nonprofitability."

IN PROTEST
Action came in protest of the TIA's recent notification to the county of its intention to file a motion with the Federal Aviation Agency to discontinue service.

TIA has served Big Spring and Howard County as a feeder airline connecting smaller Texas cities with regional centers.

Chamber of Commerce President George McAlister said at the meeting, "We're not going to take this lying down. It's going to affect our future growth."

He said that a Congressional campaign would have to be launched to get subsidies earmarked for air service to the smaller communities.

"I think the issue is strong enough to get the ear of some Congressmen. Our local Congressmen should be a part of the argument," McAlister noted.

Paul Meek, president of Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., said, "At one time we had over 600 boardings here (Howard County Airport) a month. Now they've got them down to about 350."

TAMPERING CLAIMED
Meek suggested, and several others concurred, that the airlines purposely tampered with flight scheduling so that boardings would drop, allowing them to discontinue service to the county.

Whipkey pointed out that local merchants should also be willing to join the protest because of their interest in maintaining air freight service. "That is almost as important as passenger service," he said.

Local Postmaster Frank Hardesty, contacted after the meeting, said a discontinuation of TIA service would not affect postal service here as the local office handles airmail through Midland.

Hardesty said the post office stopped utilizing TIA service here about six months ago because it is a waste of time to try to keep TIA here, the entire committee seemed agreed that it would be worthwhile to begin a delaying action to at least make an effort to fight the airline's move.

Meek said that the other 12 Texas cities and several New Mexico cities in which TIA wants to drop service as well as other small cities, should be more than willing to cooperate in the fight to get airline service subsidized for the smaller communities.

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas County Grand Jury returned welfare fraud indictments against 15 women Monday, some of them on charges of working fulltime while claiming part-time employment.

Other charges against the women were for drawing welfare while owning two rental houses, claiming support for children not living with the recipient, and receiving welfare payment for children already covered by Social Security benefits.

TARS Plan New Program

Programs, particularly in the area of physical activity, were outlined at a state board meeting of TARS (Teen-Age Retarded Service) at Rocky Ranch near Wimberly during the week. Attending from here were Anna Marie Smith, chapter president, and Pat Biby and Doug Peercy. Emphasis was put upon TSAP (Texas Special Athletic Program) in which softball will be one of the activities. There will be play for all ages, and teams will come from Big Spring, Midland and other points. Boys are especially needed, as volunteers to work with the players. And her program is TSO (Texas Special Olympics), which will be an enlargement of the athletic program, but on a statewide basis at the University of Houston May 17-19. The TARS chapter here, said Anna Marie, is now taking approximately a score of retarded young people bowling regularly. Also planned is a Valentine party at Immaculate Heart of Mary Cafeteria Feb. 10 from 8 p.m.-10 p.m. with a live band led by Buster Green.

Murder For Hire Trial Hits Snag

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge Darrell Hester granted a continuance Monday in the murder for hire trial of a Houston man charged in the 1968 shooting death of a Central Texas grain dealer. He was forced to do so after a legislator was hired for the defense.

Charles V. Harrelson, 35, is charged with murder in the shooting death near McAllen of Sam Degella Jr. of Hearne. Harrelson was tried on the same charge in Edinburg but that jury could not reach a verdict.

By state law, a trial must be postponed if a legislator is one of the lawyers and the legislature is sitting. Harrelson's trial had been set for Feb. 14 in Judge Hester's court. Defense lawyer Thomas Sharpe Jr. filed a motion last Friday asking for a continuance on grounds that state Rep. Luther Jones Jr., D-El Paso, had been hired on the defense team along with Sharpe and Percy Foreman of Houston. Judge Hester, apparently upset when Foreman failed to appear for a pre-trial hearing last

Sailors, Take Own Warnings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Small boat sailors are going to have to display a little more initiative hereafter in figuring out the weather. Instead of issuing "small craft warnings," the National Weather Service is going to broadcast "small craft advisories" to reflect more accurately the true nature of their content. It will be up to the boatmen to decide whether the observed or predicted conditions constitute real danger to them.

Dallas 'Bad Man' Gunned To Death

DALLAS (AP) — George Edward Picazo, 35, released from jail less than 27 hours earlier, died Sunday night when he was hit by three .45-caliber pistol slugs.

Officers quoted witnesses as saying Picazo was driving a car when a passenger in the front seat fired, then leaped from the moving vehicle. The car stopped when it nosed into a utility pole. Picazo, police said, served six prison terms on convictions ranging from burglary to narcotics possession and smuggling. He was released from jail at 8:30 p.m. Saturday after posting bond in a burglary case.

Enchanted Lake Does Its Thing

SAN ANDRES, Mexico (AP) — Though Mexico has many lakes which dutifully follow the laws of nature, one persists in being the exception to the rule — it loses water during rainy periods and gains water during dry spells. The Enchanted Lake, as it is called by inhabitants of this town 325 miles west of Mexico

City, is set in the cone of an extinct volcano. According to townspeople, the lake drops about two feet in heavy rain, and regains its level during draughts. No concrete explanation has been found for the water's capricious behavior. The erratic rise and fall of the water, and an apparent high amount of sulfur which occasionally kills the fish, causes natives to believe that "there one becomes bewitched."

Another Block In The Wall

News that Walls Industries, Inc. has announced its decision to construct and operate a clothing manufacture plant here is welcome on every hand. It is a tribute to the indefatigable work of the Industrial Foundation and the Chamber of Commerce industry committee. The results there have achieved within the past few years is remarkable, and there is no reason to suppose that they will not continue their vigilant efforts.

The news also is another block in the wall of evidence that projects 1973 as a banner year in the history of the city's economy and development.

In this respect, the announcement of the new industry reflects a revival of community spirit in pressing toward those things which not only provide a wider economic base, but which also look toward the plus qualities and instructions which will make living here a satisfying as well as profitable experience.

It is incumbent, therefore, upon the community to maintain this new vigor, to work aggressively to be of service to our newer industrial citizens, to look to our educational and manpower systems to maintain adequate pools of trained or trainable labor.

We not only want companies to locate here, but we want them to do well as a result of this decision.

Welcome Acknowledgment

A presidential "confession" may obtain freedom for the man who may become America's last prisoner of war.

John T. Downey has been a prisoner in China since Nov. 9, 1952 when he and another Central Intelligence Agency employee parachuted in to set up sabotage operations.

The official U.S. government position has been that Downey and Richard Fecteau, his companion, were civilian employees of the Army whose plane had been blown off course.

President Nixon dispelled that pretense at his press conference when he said Downey's case "involves a CIA agent." Fecteau was released last year after serving a 20-year sentence. Downey's life sentence has been reduced to 25 years.

Two Air Force pilots who crashed in China after raids on North Vietnam are to be released along with the other Vietnam POWs, the President said. This would leave Downey the only POW, from a war that ended almost 20 years ago.

The President broke usual procedure by acknowledging Downey. Spies and agents usually are disowned upon capture. But if it means obtaining the agent's release after two decades, the step is welcome.

Plenty To See

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

Austin is a delightful town — a place where politicians and purists are compatible — and people know the value of pleasure.

THERE ARE never enough days for me in Austin. The few hours I spent there Monday didn't allow time for pleasurable things, but lobbies were full of literature, and I scooped up a handful on the run. Next time around, I'll try to see:

The Texas Archives and Library which displays historic relics and documents of Texas under six flags. The old Land Office Building, at 11th and Brazos, which is now the home of the Daughters of the Confederacy Museum and the Daughters of the Republic of Texas Museum. It was constructed in 1857, and visitors can see relics of the Confederacy and records and exhibits of Texas Republic Days, along with relics used by early settlers.

The Millet Opera House at 110 E. 9th was built in 1878 by Capt. C. F. Millet, and it was the city's opera house until the Hancock Theatre was built in 1898. Among those who performed there were Otis Skinner, Lily Langtry and Edwin Booth.

THE GOVERNOR'S Mansion at 11th and Colorado is a stately old mansion and the oldest building in the Capitol complex. Its dignified white columns and broad veranda portray antebellum days when the Republic of Texas was in the making.

The LBJ Library, located on 14 acres of land on the University of Texas Campus, houses all of the important papers of Lyndon Baines Johnson, 36th president of the United States. It is the most popular of Austin's new tourist attractions.

LAGUNA GLORIA, located at the end of W. 35th on Lake Austin, is a museum and home of the Texas Fine Arts Association. Originally, it was the site selected by Stephen F. Austin as his homestead, and the museum contains a fine selection of paintings and works of art.

Texas Memorial Museum, located at 24th and Red River, is a Texas museum consisting of four principal divisions — anthropology, botany, zoology, geology and history. The center room commemorates notable events in Texas history, and a marvelous statue of a group of Mustangs is in front of the museum.

AND THAT'S just a start. It's a wonderful place for vacationers of all ages, so don't pass it up if you're in that area next summer.

Frank Shakespeare

William F. Buckley Jr.

Mr. Frank Shakespeare has now stepped down as director of the United States Information Agency. And several newspapers have dispatched him — with considerable rancor. I take leave to dissent . . .

I MET FRANK Shakespeare casually, about 10 years ago. I knew about him then only that he was a successful young executive in CBS, and that he had a natural affinity for — what he understood to be the purpose of America, viewed from a perspective now almost 200 years old. And a heightened concern for the obligations of America, in a world divided for the most part between those who are hostile to freedom, and those who are indifferent to it.

When Mr. Nixon was elected, he asked Shakespeare to stay with him, and to take charge of the United States Information Agency. I know that he was not disposed to accept the assignment, in part because he felt that it was time now to return to his profession, in part because he felt he had consummated his commitment, and that he had not before thought in terms of helping to administer a fresh regime, only of midwifing one. Mr. Nixon, in any case, prevailed, and Shakespeare found himself directing a very large agency, with 10,000 employees, which was never altogether sure what was its function.

I THINK IT accurate to suggest that Frank Shakespeare believes that truth ought to be the tuning fork of our information policy. But in order to make even that statement coherent, it becomes necessary to acknowledge, however spokelessly, two things.

One of them is that as a nation we are modestly, but documentably, committed to certain human values, and that necessarily we make judgments with some reference to those values. Another is that the exigencies of diplomacy are not to be confused with the philosophical elaboration of a just society.

The Damage Bill

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — If all goes well with the peace accords, it will just be a matter of time before the United States sends a team of damage experts to Hanoi to estimate what it will cost to rebuild North Vietnam. The price tag last year was $2.5 billion, but this was before the carpet bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong at Christmas.

America by $500 a car. "How far is it into town?" one of the Americans asks. "Ordinarily, 20 minutes. But, unfortunately, the Bridge of Peace and Conciliation Heartbreak was hit by a 'smart bomb' from one of your B-52s and, therefore, it will take two hours," the minister says.

I CAN SEE the U.S. team of experts arriving at the Hanoi airport and being greeted by Ho Gap, the North Vietnamese Minister for Reconstruction.

"Welcome to our humble country. Forgive us for the condition of our airport which unfortunately was destroyed by your excellent and talented Air Force."

"We did all this?"

"Yes, BUT PLEASE do not apologize. We know the airport you will build us will more than make up for it — something on the order of Dulles near Washington, D.C. Our engineers estimate that with Communist labor it should not cost more than $40 million, give or take $10 million, for what I believe you people refer to as 'overruns.'"

"Can't we talk about this later?" one of the U.S. damage experts asks.

"Forgive me for thoughtlessness. Please get in the trucks and we will take you there."

"TRUCKS?"

"Alas," the minister says, "our private automobiles were all destroyed in your protective-reaction strikes of Dec. 15. But we have plans to build a new automobile factory to produce the 4-door 'Ho Chi Minh' with an ankle engine. We think we can undersell the Japanese in nothing whatsoever about a doctor examining you to see whether some physiological condition is causing the trouble. That sometimes is the case, and then the ordinary methods just aren't going to help.

I'd suggest that you send for my booklet on correcting bed-wetting (25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope) and have your parents read it, with special emphasis on the fact that a medical examination sometimes is indispensable in difficult cases.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I saw what you wrote about imipramine which helped stop bed-wetting.

I'm 14 and have been wetting the bed all my life. I've tried everything. My parents tried offering me money every week I didn't wet the bed. They tried cutting down on my fluids. That didn't work. They tried waking me up through the night but I would still wet the bed.

A friend told me to take a teaspoon of honey every night but that wouldn't help. Anything

I have a daughter who has a fine sense of morals. She is God-fearing, honest and with clean habits. A friend, however, has been trying to interest her in homosexuality, arguing that it is in the interest of ecology and overpopulation. To my surprise, my daughter looks favorably upon this proposition, and I am tremendously disturbed. Please say something to help young people caught up in this perversion. A Mother.

The fact that homosexuality has become more militant in our society, shouldn't obscure its basic nature. There are even those today displaying a measure of pride in this disorder. Unfortunately, the more they claim society's persecution of them the more readily, young people, like your daughter, are enamored of exploring it.

Mother, you can tell your daughter that no less than a professor of clinical psychiatry at Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons was quoted in the New York Times as saying: "Homosexuality is a psychiatric or emotional illness."

Beyond that, the Scriptures put it in straight talk. The law of Moses forbade relations with one's own sex. The apostle Paul was even more vehement. He said in Romans first chapter: "Instead of believing what they knew was the truth, they chose to believe lies . . . and indulged in sex sin with each other. Instead of having a normal sex relationship, they burned with lust for each other. When they gave God up . . . God gave them up . . . and as a result, getting paid within their own souls with the penalty they deserved."

I get many letters on this subject, and I don't mean to be glib in suggesting a remedy, where it is honestly sought. The forgiveness of God, through our faith, plus the new resolve of will that His grace provides, is the only answer.

'Kiss Me, Daddy'

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the hardest ordeals of parenthood is facing up to the realization that after a certain age your children use home only as a resting place between flights that take them farther and farther away.

Whether this is a good or bad thing, generally, I can't say. In Tracy's case, I suppose, the answer still depends on whether she goes on now to make college a meaningful part of her life.

The house seems so empty when they have gone. That is the way my apartment seems now — now that my daughter, trailing clouds of exhaust smoke that obscured the ecology of our neighborhood, has driven off for another try at higher education.

Certainly, however, she has matured considerably during her semester off. During this period she wangled a job as copy boy. Although she did her work well, she came early to a realization that being a copy boy was hardly a permanent career for a 19-year-old young lady.

As a freshman last year, Tracy Ann loved picturesque little Windham College and its lovely hillside setting in old Putney, Vt., but failed to set any scholastic records.

These six months have been among the happiest of my life to me. During this time Tracy has learned to keep house, cook, and be a pleasure to her father — so much of a pleasure that I have forgiven her the years of hellism she has put me through during her early teenhood.

So she decided to take a semester off, a decision I acceded to reluctantly only on her promise that she would return to school at the end of that time. It has become commonplace now for thousands of young students to drop out of college for a time in order, as so many of them say, "to find myself."

"Well, dear," I told her as she was packing for her return to college, "I hope you have found yourself."

"I never was lost," she replied. "I always have known who I am, Daddy. But I am still not sure of where I am going. But I think I would like to do something with the English language."

"That made me feel a bit sad. For I have been trying to do something with the English language for nearly 62 years, and wonder whether I have succeeded in doing anything but blurt myself. It isn't easy to make a dent in the English language."

"Kiss me, Daddy." We kissed. Tracy bent her head a moment, then the car roared off. She never waved or looked back.

That was less than 24 hours ago. Yes, the house is already silent and empty. What will it be like through all the days to come?

Why do people have children anyway? They just grow up and leave you a prisoner of your echoing memories.

Air Story Mostly Fiction

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've been reading a paperback novel about a nurse who by mistake gave a patient a 10 cc. syringe of air instead of medicine. The patient died in a few minutes. Now is this true or is it fiction? — B.M.

bubbles may occur from severe injuries, or in the decompression illness of divers — "the bends."

Put it down to fiction — with a small tinge of factual possibility. Makes a dramatic story, though, doesn't it?

There are certain things very wrong about the fictional story, things that just don't fit with the way things really happen.

There is such a thing as an "air embolism," that is, a bubble of air in an artery. This can, depending on where it lodges and how big it is, cause a stoppage of the blood flow to the part of the body served by that artery.

For one, the nurse wouldn't have been injecting into an artery. She might, however, have been injecting into a vein. And in venous injections, it is drilled into nurses (and doctors) until it is second nature to make sure there are no visible bubbles before a needle is ever inserted. And as for an empty syringe?

If, by some quirk, the nurse's accidental bubble of air happened to go almost instantly to the heart or some critical point in the central circulation area, then I suppose the story would be possible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I saw what you wrote about imipramine which helped stop bed-wetting.

But of this I can assure you: there are more reliable ways to cause death — including some that appear in fiction. You see, I read a paperback novel and, then, too!

I'd suggest that you send for my booklet on correcting bed-wetting (25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope) and have your parents read it, with special emphasis on the fact that a medical examination sometimes is indispensable in difficult cases.

Talks To Press

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has been urged for some time now to have more conferences with the press. He held a long session with newsmen on Wednesday morning of this week. The President was candid and covered a lot of ground. While the session was not televised, a stenographic transcript of it was made available to the press later in the day. The questions and answers were printed in full by a few newspapers the next day. Some filled portions were shown by TV news programs.

"Well, it takes two to heal wounds, and I must say, when I see that the most vigorous criticism or, shall we say, the least pleasure out of the peace agreement comes from those who were the most outspoken advocates of peace at any price. It makes one realize whether some want the wounds healed. We do."

THE PRESIDENT was very firm on the question of amnesty for those who had deserted during the war or refused to comply with draft orders. He said:

"Certainly I have sympathy for any individual who has made a mistake. We have all made mistakes. But also, it is a rule of life, we all have to pay for our mistakes. . . ."

"MANY AMERICANS paid a very high price to serve their country, some with their lives, some as prisoners of war for as long as six to seven years, and, of course, two and a half million, two to three years out of their lives, serving in a country far away in a war that they realized had very little support among the so-called better people, in the media and the intellectual circles, and the rest, which had very little support, certainly, among some elements of the congress, particularly the United States Senate, but which fortunately did have support among a majority of the American people, who some way, despite the fact that they hammered night after night, and day after day, with the fact that this was an immoral war, that America should not be there, that they should not serve their country, that morally they should do was desert their country. . . ."

"NOW, AMNESTY means forgiveness. We cannot provide forgiveness for them. Those who served paid their price. Those who deserted must pay their price." (Copyright, 1973, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Gift That Counts

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've had a three-year romantic relationship with this guy who has got to be the cheapest man in the world. We get along just great until about two weeks before Christmas, then he picks a fight with me over nothing and we break up and I don't hear from him until after New Year's. Then he calls up and says he's sorry, and like an idiot I start up with him again.

Things are wonderful between us until just before Valentine's Day, which just happens to be my birthday. Then he pulls the same trick and disappears again.

HAD IT IN CORPUS CHRISTI DEAR HAD IT: Why don't you let him hang around until Washington's birthday? Then bury the hatchet and sever the relationship.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's favorite sister made an announcement yesterday. The man she's been going with for the past year is going to "join" her in her home.

She is 53 and was widowed several years ago. The man who is "joining" her proposed marriage to her several months ago, but she refused his offer because it would deprive her of collecting a pension left to her by her former husband.

I cannot approve of this arrangement and I told my husband that I do not wish to be in their company in the future. He feels that since it is HIS sister, he has to accept it, and he wishes to remain friendly with them. NOT A PRUDE

DEAR NOT: If you choose to avoid your sister-in-law, that's your privilege, but since she is your husband's favorite sister, you can expect to be left at home while HE sees her. If you think you're punishing her by absenting yourself from her company, think again.

DEAR ABBY: You frequently receive letters from long-suffering wives who complain because their husbands have a habit of getting "lost" in bars on their way home from work.

Allow me to suggest a solution which was used with considerable success by one such wife in Omaha:

As was his custom when detained at the bar, the husband of the "case" telephoned home. The instant he heard his wife on the receiver at the other end of the line, he began, "Now, honey, before you say anything, I just want to..."

He stopped talking when he heard his wife's voice. She was speaking in calm, modulated tones:

"... When and if you decide to come home, you will find your dinner in the oven. But I won't be there. Don't try to find me. And by the way, go to hell. This is a recording."

The husband rushed home in a panic. The house was dark. The wife's car was missing from the garage.

To his relief, the husband found his wife in bed. The voice he had heard was no recording, it was "live."

ROBERT McMORRIS (OMAHA WORLD HERALD) DEAR ROBERT: Chalk one up for the lady in Omaha!

WEEKEND GUESTS — It was a "working weekend" for these Senior Girl Scouts who were guests in Big Spring Saturday and Sunday as they competed for the opportunity to participate in international events. They are, left to right on front row, Val Hildreth, Lubbock; Susan Grine, Odessa; Peggy Pittenger, El Paso; and Lynn McRae, Wichita Falls. On the back row, they are Karen Van Matre, Hobbs, N.M.; Jane Borland and Janice Borland, both of Ennis; Sandi Hite, Amarillo; Lisa Fitzgerald, Midland; Karen Stewart, Snyder; and Judi Wilkerson, Ennis.

International Weekend Gives Challenges To Senior Scouts

Senior Girl Scouts from New Mexico and Texas met and conquered their "challenges" during the International Weekend they spent here Saturday and Sunday in the home of Mrs. Larson Lloyd.

Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas was cohostess for the event, which was the final step in the selections of girls who will be eligible to participate in Scouting events in Sweden, Peru, Greece, France and New Zealand. Some of the girls may also be sent to conferences being held at the four World Scout Centers in Switzerland, Mexico, India and England.

As part of their "international challenge," the girls had as guests Saturday two local residents, Danny Valdes and Tito Arencibia, who conversed with them in order that the girls might indicate their ability to speak Spanish.

Another challenge was provided in another area when Mrs. Jerry Avery, student loan officer at Howard County Junior College, was a guest and purposely locked keys inside her car in order for the girls to determine the best way to handle the problem. During their stay here, the girls toured the junior college with Mrs. Avery.

Mrs. Lloyd and Mrs. Thomas prepared the first meal for the girls, but the remaining meals were planned and prepared by the Scouts themselves, including the shopping, in order that they might learn about budgeting.

Saturday evening, the Scouts went to the Youth Center at Webb Air Force Base for informal recreation, and Sunday morning, they attended services at the Tolleit All-Faith Chapel at Big Spring State Hospital. There, they were introduced to Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent, and Chaplain Lee Butler, as well as some of the patients.

Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Lloyd held private interviews with each girl during the afternoon, and afterward, each girl evaluated each other and the weekend in written reports. The women will now rank and rate the girls, sending the information to the regional headquarters for further action.

The girls were judged on their ability to cope with new situations, meet new people and to organize within her group to reach a common goal. They were also tested on their awareness of national and international current events, human relations skills, communication skills and their acceptance and application of the values of Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Dale Smith assisted the hostesses in providing transportation for the visitors during the weekend.

Forsan Club Studies World's First Ladies

"First Ladies of the World," a program which provided brief biographies of seven women, was given by Mrs. T. M. Dunagan and Mrs. W. R. Cregar Monday evening for the Forsan Study Club.

Included in the women discussed were Indira Gandhi, India; Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, United States; Mrs. Harold Wilson, United Kingdom; Mrs. Charles DeGaulle, France; and the wives of Joseph Broz (Tito), Yugoslavia; Francisco Franco, Spain; and Fernando Marcos, Philippines. The speakers considered Mrs.

Johnson the "most active" of the women, and she was quoted as saying "Never say anything you wouldn't want printed on page one of a newspaper."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, with Mrs. Dunagan as cohostess. Mrs. Orrian Billings was named chairman.

The next meeting will be Feb. 19 in the Cregar home where Miss Susan Elrod will speak on her recent European tour. Miss Elrod and Miss Carol Harris were guests at the meeting Monday.
