

Flu Epidemic In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — London flu has reached epidemic proportions in Oklahoma; the state epidemiologist said Friday. Nearly 400 cases have been reported since the first of the year, said Dr. Stanley W. Ferguson. He added that reported cases are only 10 to 20 percent of the total number occurring. "It's definitely an epidemic," he said. The London flu virus passes through the air, Dr. Ferguson said, and is especially dangerous to persons with lung or heart disorders or metabolic malfunctions. Persons with chronic diseases and those over 65, he said, should see a doctor if they begin to experience the symptoms—an abrupt onset of chills, fever, sore throat, coughing and muscular aches. There is no treatment for the virus, only for the symptoms. "Get plenty of sleep, drink large amounts of fluids and avoid large crowds."

HOUSE APPROVES SIX REFORM BILLS

Wipe Egg Off Their Faces

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Those faint-hearted critics who predicted the reform movement in the Texas Legislature would last about two weeks are having to wipe egg off their faces. With a scant month gone by, six reform type bills have passed the House, most with big majority votes.

Opposition will be rougher in the Senate but chances are good that several will finally become law, including stronger lobby controls and tighter reins on conference committees.

'OPEN RECORDS' Ready for action in the House, probably the next week, is an "open records" bill and soon will come a compromise code of ethics commission measure and limits on campaign spending.

The latest tally shows that both the House and Senate have passed a resolution creating the Texas Constitution Revision Commission along with a $900,000 appropriations bill to finance its operations.

Also passed by the House were bills to curb the power of conference committees in compromise talks on taxing and spending bills, a bill to revise present law on opening all meetings of governmental bodies to the public in giving newsmen privilege against disclosure of confidential information and in regulation of lobbying activities.

IMPORTANT ACTION

Speaker Price Daniel Jr. said he had been assured by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby that any and all reform bills passed by the House would be given immediate Senate committee hearings.

Daniel said he realized that Senate rules require a four-fifths majority vote for any legislation to be considered on the floor prior to March 9. "I sincerely hope that Senate action on these important measures will come as soon thereafter as possible," Daniel said.

Daniel at first expressed concern when Hobby told newsmen that he felt the Senate should put off action on lobby control, ethics and campaign finance bills until after a Citizens Conference on Ethics and Government called by Hobby for March 20-21. Easily the most worried persons in the Texas Capitol the past week were the plentiful lobbyists, both amateur and professional. They congregated in hallways, listed to lengthy debate on lobby controls and complained about discrimination. DUTCH TREAT Some called it the "lobby retirement act" and others said it

GRAND BALL HELD Formal Re-Opening Of Driskill Hotel

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — One of the most historic gatherings of Texas gubernatorial families ever held took place Saturday for the formal re-opening of the Driskill Hotel in downtown Austin.

Every Texas governor since 1886, the date of the Driskill's original opening, had a spot in the presentation ceremony staged on the grand stairway of the remodeled hotel. Some former governors were present in person, others had kinsmen as a representative.

THEN AND NOW

The grand ball Saturday was one of two gala events sponsored by the Austin Heritage Society, with the proceeds going toward historic preservation projects in the Austin area.

The gubernatorial families will be honored guests again Sunday at a tea dance and a "Then and Now" fashion show. The historic hotel closed in 1969 because of financial misfortunes but came alive again in 1971 when interested citizens formed a new corporation to renovate and reopen the hotel. It will be operated for the public corporation by Braniff International Airlines.

Gun Arrests At Ft. Hood

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The FBI said agents arrested four GIs Saturday in connection with the holiday season theft of military weapons at Ft. Hood, Tex.

James B. Adams, special agent in charge of the San Antonio FBI office, said the servicemen were charged with theft of government property and were to appear before a U.S. Magistrate in Waco, Tex.

The complaint against the men, alleged they stole "30 M16 rifles, five .45-caliber pistols and other miscellaneous items from Ft. Hood, Tex., between Dec. 21, 1972 and Dec. 27, 1972," the FBI said.

The complaint lists the value of the rifles alone at $3,510. The arrests of the four men, all members of the same unit at Ft. Hood was made "without incident," Adams said.

The FBI identified those arrested as Michael Owen Denton, 23, of Riverside California; James Gerald Long, 20, of Keyes Park, Ill.; Darrell Dean Loftis, 21, of Central City, Neb., and Patrick Ray Carey, 19, of Salem, Indiana.

The FBI said Denton was taken into custody in Little Rock, Ark., while the arrests of the other three were made in Killeen, Tex., near Ft. Hood.

The arrest and recovery of "a number of weapons" taken in the thefts "resulted from joint investigative activities of the federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, with assistance of Ft. Hood military authorities, the FBI said.

Short Agenda

LAMESA — Selection of a depository for county funds for 1973-74 heads the list of items on the agenda of the Dawson County Commissioners Court here Monday. The court will open bids for a car for the sheriff's department, also set salary for the district attorney's secretary. Other items are consideration of routine reports.

Charge Dismissed

A complaint charging Douglas Leonard Smith, 19, of Mitchellville, Iowa, with possession of marijuana was dismissed in 118th District Court Friday afternoon.

This Area Has Minimal Pollution, Tests Show

Weekly tests conducted here for about a year indicate minimal air pollution in Big Spring, a spokesman for the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit said.

The gas bubbler shown in the photograph and a vacuum pump with an attached filter are run for 24-hours every six days to determine the amount of various pollutants in the air. This equipment is operated on top of the fire station at Birdwell Lane and 11th Place.

After pollution collection, the paper filter and gas collected in liquid media are sent to a State Health Department lab. From these pollution samples, the State Health Department determines how much foreign material was in the air. Results are used for state-wide evaluations and also are reported to local health units. Among impurities measured in Big Spring air are sulfur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide, ammonia, lead, sulfate, nitrate and particles (which are mainly dust).

Disclaims Liability In Bus-Truck Tragedy

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An Iowa insurance firm is seeking a federal court injunction to prevent the estates of 19 victims of a bus-truck crash near Fort Sumner last December from filing insurance claims against it.

Automobile Underwriters Crop. of Iowa, which insured truck driver Erby G. Wilmeth, filed its petition in U.S. District Court.

The suit contends the accident was caused by the negligence of the State High Commission, bus driver Jerry Estes of San Antonio, Tex. and the Texas firm that leased the bus to Woodlawn Baptist Church of Austin, Tex.

The firm named as defendants the estates of the 19 Woodlawn members, mostly young persons, killed in the Dec. 26 crash on a narrow U.S. 60-84 bridge; the 17 injured bus passengers; Estes, who was killed in the collision; and Transportation Enterprises, Inc. of Austin, which owned the bus.

Automobile Underwriters said in the suit it disclaims any liability for the tragedy and asked for a restraining order to keep the defendants from instituting legal proceedings affecting the insurance coverage.

The suit also asks the court to decide which, if any, of the defendants are entitled to compensation from the $110,000 policy.

The accident involving a loaded cattle truck driven by Wilmeth, who was injured, and the bus carrying the Woodlawn group to an outing in northern New Mexico occurred east of Fort Sumner.

State police have declined to fix responsibility for the accident with either driver. Federal, state and local investigations have criticized the bridge described as outdated, too narrow and lacking adequate warning signs.

The suit said the Highway Commission had the duty "to maintain the ridge and highway in question in a safe and reasonable manner."

Russian Spy Satellites Eye Yankees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia achieved nearly year-round coverage of the United States with its spy satellites in 1972, Pentagon sources report.

The Russians were able to get 354 days of photographic coverage by overlapping flights of their 29 reconnaissance satellites. This was 28 days longer than the year before.

Meanwhile, defense sources said there is evidence the Russians are trying to get improved picture detail.

Intelligence officials said the first Soviet spy satellite of 1973, launched in January from Tyuratam in central Russia, went into a lowered orbit for better camera resolution. This path carried the satellite to within 92 miles of the earth's surface, 22 miles closer than past reconnaissance vehicles.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union rely heavily on satellite systems which aim cameras, eavesdropping devices and other sensitive intelligence-gathering equipment from orbits passing over strategically important territory.

Neither country discusses spy satellites publicly, perhaps to avoid a clash over the sticky issue of sovereignty of space over its territory.

The closest Russia and the United States have come to any open mention of spy satellites was a joint statement last May when they signed the first phase nuclear-arms-control pact. They agreed that each "shall use national technical means of verification at its disposal" to guard against cheating.

And both Russia and the United States promised, in effect, not to try to knock down each other's satellites carrying out this mission.

This country's spy satellites have enabled it to monitor Soviet missile tests, which are not announced by the Russian government.

Waco Will Honor Baylor's Prexy

WACO — Dr. Abner V. McCall, 10th president of Baylor University, will be honored with an Abner V. McCall Recognition Day March 30 in Waco.

A group of about 30 business, political, religious and civic leaders of Texas met recently on the Baylor campus to discuss plans for the event including convocations on campus during the week, an afternoon reception and a banquet at the Waco Civic and Convention Center. About 2,000 persons are expected to attend the banquet.

McCall, who came from an orphanage to lead a major university, began as an instructor and assistant professor of law at Baylor from 1938 to 1942.

From 1948 to 1959, McCall was dean of the Baylor School of Law. He served as an associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas in 1956, a position that gave him the name "Judge," and became executive vice president of Baylor in 1959, and in 1961 was inaugurated as 10th president.

Cowboys From Slaughter Spread Shot Up Stanton

STANTON — The first major disturbance and an arrest which followed in Stanton, then Marienfield, occurred back on March 3, 1883, according to early day records collected by Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders.

A group from the ranch of Col. C. C. Slaughter started out for Midland. They loaded up the supply wagon and along with a chuck wagon and cook and four cowhands, they started back to the headquarters on Mustang Draw.

When they got to Stanton, they began to shoot up the town. First a gunsmith named Joe Fiedler, who had a location two blocks south of the present courthouse down by the railroad tracks stepped out in the street and tried to slow down the group that exercising its collective trigger finger.

The group from the Slaughter Ranch began to shoot at the gunsmith. Peter Gladen, a construction worker, came out and caught the bridle of a horse ridden by a cowhand named John Doggie.

Doggie was placed under arrest but he was in no mood to be arrested and in the melee that followed he was shot off his horse as he tried to break away.

Another man in the group was shot in the arm and captured and the rest thundered out of town on horseback and fled to Midland.

Winrock Farms Buys NM Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winrock Farms has purchased 20,000 acres near the New Mexico border to be used in its production of beef cattle.

Winrock Farms is owned by former Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Winrock General Manager Robert D. Child said acquisition of the land completed a lease-purchase agreement entered into in February, 1970, with A. W. Lair, a Canyon, Tex., lawyer, who formerly owned the land.

Child said the regional headquarters of the new Winrock division would be on the property near Textline, Tex. Child said Bill Steed, former manager of the Smith Estates farming operation at Wheatley, Ark., would manage the new division.

The ranch boss, a fellow named O'Keefe, came in and paid a $15 fine. John Doggie was buried in the old Catholic Cemetery in Marienfield, now Stanton.

The law at that time was A. D. Gerhard and he was a constable. Martin County did not yet have a sheriff.

Economy Pass Introduced By Bus Firm

Recently, President Nixon urged the United States travel industry to expand its efforts to promote tourism within our country during the Bicentennial period.

Because of President Nixon's interest in Bicentennial activities, Greyhound has introduced a new economy pass, the Greyhound Ameripass, good for 60 days of almost limitless travel in the U.S. and Canada. Available to all U.S. residents, the Ameripass will cost $149.50, or less than $2.50 a day.

Using Ameripass, a traveler is limited only by his imagination as to where he wants to go or what he wants to see. He can go almost anywhere, any time, day or night, even on weekends and holidays. He can stop wherever and whenever he wishes. The traveler has unlimited access to Greyhound's entire 100,000 miles of routes.

And that's not all — Greyhound has also made arrangements with scores of hotels across the U.S. and Canada to give Ameripass travelers substantial discounts on hotel accommodations.

Also, Greyhound has arranged for Ameripass travelers to get special rates on many Grayline sightseeing tours operating in major cities, and the Avis Rent-A-Car System has agreed to give Ameripass holders worthwhile discounts on most of their rental plans.

Purpose of Greyhound Ameripass is to provide Americans with an extraordinarily economical way to travel extensively during the period leading up to the Bicentennial celebration.

Tax Table Is Prepared For Use Of Tax Payers

For those who itemize deductions in preparing their income tax reports, the Internal Revenue Service has prepared a table which can be used to determine the general sales tax to be entered on Schedule A, For 1940.

The table can be used only by those living in Texas cities which have a one per cent sales tax, in addition to the State of Texas sales tax. Big Spring is such a city.

If the taxpayer is able to establish that he has paid a larger amount than that shown, he is entitled to deduct a larger amount. The sales tax paid on the purchase of an automobile can be added to the table amount.

The table:

FROSTY TASTE TREAT — Little Lisa Leal and Johnny Green, both 9, pause with their third grade teacher Jan Wieg and while scooping up fresh snow for homemade "snow ice cream." Many West Texans may use this process in making the sugary winter treat.

Snow Ice Cream Is Easy To Make, Kids Insist

By ANN STEVENS
Encyclopedias will tell you that ice cream is made from a standard mixture of milk, cream and sugar, but though a process of sterilization and homogenization...
But, if willing to risk the possibility of a little honest dirt, anyone can make basic ice cream with the aid of Jack Frost.
What is commonly known as "snow ice cream" was the only brand known to many Americans during the Depression Days when money to buy the grocery store variety was scarce.

The only problem with the snow mixture is that it can be made only during the winter, not in the hot summer when such a frozen delight would really hit the spot.

LOTS OF FUN
Be that as it may, the fun of making the snowy treat outweighs any disadvantages, so the process did not die out with the Depression.

Lisa Leal, a nine-year-old third grader at Bauer Elementary School, said the best way to make the ice cream is to scoop up the top layer of good, clean snow, then mix sugar and milk into it.
"You take it inside to eat it," she said, "because it's just too cold outside." Lisa said she made snow ice cream during the last big snowfall before Wednesday's.

Another Bauer third-grader, Johnny Green, described a similar method of making snow ice cream. He said that although it can get sloshy, it tastes real good with vanilla mixed in, and can be more fun to eat than bought ice cream.
Both children are members of Jan Wiegand's third grade class. The class recently read a story of how snow ice cream is made up north using honey sapped from a tree and heated.

At least half the children in the class said they have made or eaten the homemade treat.

MAY COME AGAIN
Judging from the recent weather and from the probability that the groundhog saw his shadow Feb. 2, it seems that opportunities to make snow ice cream may come again this winter.
First-timers at the process may either try to catch falling snowflakes in a pan or scoop up the light powdery snow after it has fallen.

Flavoring possibilities are as varied as are the makers' imaginations, but vanilla is one of the most common ingredients.

As their forefathers and mothers did before them, many West Texans will once again go "back to nature" during the next snowfall and produce the frosty treat, the fun of which no bought ice cream can match.

Presidents Of 8 Jucos To Meet Here Feb. 14

Presidents from eight West Texas two-year colleges will be meeting on the Howard County Junior College campus for a called regional conference to begin at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

This West Texas Council of Community Colleges will consider plans for out-of-district offerings for the eight member institutions for the 1973-74 academic year, said Dr. Thomas Salter, HCJC president.

Plans for courses and instructors in the San Angelo and Lamesa Service Centers will probably be discussed, Dr. Salter said. The eight colleges participating are Ranger, Cisco, El Paso Community, Midland, Odessa, South Plains, Western Texas and HCJC.

The reason for the creation of the council stems from the fact that the Texas College Coordinating Board is placing control of course offerings in the hands of eight regional councils, said Salter.

Meeting concurrently on the campus, but in a separate facility will be a fine arts representative from each of the colleges in the council.

Mrs. Mary Skalicky, chairman of the Music Department, will host the group, and she will be joined at lunch by all of the fine arts instructors at HCJC to dine with the various regional representatives.

Purpose of the fine arts sessions will be to discuss ways by which the eight colleges and the council of presidents can share programs that would ordinarily be beyond the financial and logistical potential of any one college.

The fine arts group will also discuss ways of sharing programs that are already available on the respective campuses, as well as methods to utilize more optimally the various faculty members that are teaching at the eight colleges, Salter said.

This would mean that several colleges within a close proximity might make use of the teaching abilities of a single instructor.

"The idea is to have more grass-roots control of community colleges that were established in the first place by the people," said Dr. Salter. "It is believed that this will enhance the opportunity for the colleges to serve the immediate needs of the community."

Salter says he thinks that over a period of time the newly created council will be able to solve many problems relating to the offering of extension courses by one college in a community near another campus. He says it should also enhance the transferability of courses between member colleges.

"This will be the first time that we have had the opportunity to have such a distinguished group of college administrators on our campus," Dr. Salter explained. Dr. Robert Clinton, president of Western Texas College in Snyder, will chair the council of presidents

Tower Talks Retired Pay For Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., has made the latest entry in a growing congressional dispute over whether benefits for retired servicemen should be increased.

Tower's proposal, introduced Thursday, would restrict retirement pay increases to servicemen reaching age 60 who already were retired in 1958 or who had 10 years of service before that date.

Tower introduced a bill as a compromise between an increasing mood in Congress against further military retirement increases and more expensive proposals that could cost as much as $170 billion over the next 28 years.

A Senate move last year to increase retirement pay, over the opposition of chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, was blocked in the House. A House Armed Services subcommittee later blocked any increase.

However, the administration again is trying to get Congress to approve pay hikes for retirees in a ratio to increases in active duty pay boosts.

Since military pay has increased faster than the consumer price index in the past 15 years, the administration wants recomputation at age 60 for retirees of less than 25 years service and at 55 for those with 25 or more years of service.

Net Income Up

LOS ANGELES — Getty Oil Company's estimated 1973 consolidated net income, including extraordinary items, is presently forecast to be $118 million, or about $6.24 per share. George F. Getty II, executive vice president and chief operating officer, said comparable 1972 consolidated net income was $92.7 million, or $4.86 per share.

Paris Something Special To All Who Visit There

A European tour offer that perhaps never again can be offered, due to soaring costs, is being made to Big Spring and area people.

Presto Tours of Dallas, in cooperation with The Herald and the First National Bank here, are making the trip possible. For $540, inclusive from Dallas (or $590 from the Midland-Odessa Air Terminal), the purchaser can visit Paris and Vienna. The seven-night, eight-day odyssey starts March 31 and ends April 7.

The tour includes lodging in first-class hotels for six nights, continental breakfasts each morning, round trip air transportation on Braniff International and Swissair, transfers between airports and hotels, tours of both cities, admission to Vienna's famed Spanish Riding Academy, a theater ticket, five aperitifs (each at a different restaurant), an afternoon tea and pastry in a leading Paris department store, tips and taxes.

Reservations should be made by March at the First National Travel and Ticket Service, PO Box 1351, Big Spring or by calling (915) 267-5513.

Deposits of $100 will be required from those subscribing to the plan.

Paris, which the tourists will visit after leaving Vienna, is the city everyone hopes to visit at one time or another during his lifetime.

ESSENCE
It's not what Paris gives or does, but what Paris is that captures one's heart. Perhaps that is the essence of all great loves.

In recent months, Americans returning from the French capital, and trying to explain their enduring affection for it, have re-echoed this feeling. Choosing to ignore political barnacles, they have pushed on into the stream of Paris life, to become participants as well as observers, and that is how their real meeting with Paris came about; not at the airport or the hotel — those were merely the first handshakes.

Paris is for people. With the warm days of spring, one becomes more and more aware of the human aspect of Paris. An expansive sound of voices comes out into the streets. Doors closed to winter winds now stand open. People gather to chat in the sun. Tables and chairs are brought outdoors, and at the sidewalk cafes Parisians sip their coffee or aperitifs together in the open air, as they have ever since open-air cafes appeared on the Paris scene.

On benches in the parks, mothers, nannies, the old people and weary walkers or simply sun and shade lovers rest, as children play around them, or sail their boats on an ornamental pond nearby. The bench-sitters watch the walkers-by and vice-versa, each savoring Paris in his own way.

Strolling through the city is an ever-absorbing pastime. It is in walking and watching that one gets to know what Paris is, beyond the sophisticated attractions, the lavish luxuries, the glitter and glory of the moneyed world. Beneath the dazzle and polish is the day-to-day Paris of the people.

LIVED IN PLACE

Paris is a thoroughly lived-in place (except of course during the general vacation exodus of late summer). It has superb museums — some of the finest in Europe — but lining both the majestic boulevards and the humble side streets are ancient and beautiful houses, often worthy in themselves to be museums, yet occupied by ordinary as well as extraordinary people. The hallowed Palais Royal, a stone's throw from the Louvre, for instance, is discreetly divided into apartments, and has counted among its tenants the flamboyant but profoundly sensitive Colette, one of France's greatest woman writers, and Jean Cocteau.

There are also countless quiet corners of Paris where celebrities have their homes; where they can walk to the bakery down the street and carry off a yard of unwrapped crusty French bread, or sit on a bench and talk to "the locals," without being mobbed by curious onlookers.

Innumerable shopkeepers live in the buildings that house their shops. At noon they roll down the shutters, and climb upstairs to lunch, or walk to the corner cafe for a "coup de rouge" with their working neighbors.

In American cities, rarefied artisan shops are now being carefully revived. In Paris they are there, everywhere, because they always have been.

Jamars Buy Daily Index

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. (AP) — The Daily Index has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jamar of Brownwood.

The purchasing firm, owned by the Jamars, is Mineral Wells Newspapers, Inc. The Jamars own the Advance Publishing Co. which publishes the Mineral Wells Advance, a semi-weekly. The two firms will be merged, Jamar said Friday.

The sale was effective Feb. 1. The money involved was not disclosed.

Don Dillard, 34, Jamar's son-in-law, has been named general manager of the Index. The newspaper now will be known as the Mineral Wells Index.

The Jamars also own interests in cable television, radio stations and banking.

Knights Templar Capture Honors

The Big Spring Commandery No. 31 of Knights Templar captured both the Kidd banner and the Gilbough banner in competition with six other commanderies in District 9.

James D. Berry, Austin, grand warden and who was the inspecting officer here Jan. 30, notified Ervin Daniels, commander, of the double honor. In both tactics and in ritualistic work, the local commandery scored victories by a wide margin.

WHY NOT ENGRAVED MARKS?

Proof Of Ownership Needed For Goods

By JOHN EDWARDS
The key to recovering stolen goods is proof of ownership, said Jack H. Jones, captain of the police criminal investigation division.
You need to keep records of serial numbers on some items and label valuables not permanently marked with serial numbers.
Not only will this information help police find stolen goods locally, but positively identifiable valuables are reported to computers in Austin and Washington, D.C. When items are recovered elsewhere, law officers check with computer records.
PROGRAM FOR ID
Electric engraving pencils may be borrowed from the police station so that items without numbers can be etched with your driver license number or other identification. Police will record this information if you desire.
Free booklets at the station may be used to keep records of serial numbers and other identifying marks. Stickers telling prospective thieves that goods have marked for identification also are available for vehicle and building windows.
Sponsoring "Operation Identification" are the Big Spring Association of Insurance Agents and Big Spring Police Association.
Retail outlets and manufacturers usually keep record of serial numbers and respective purchasers. But, Jones noted, such records are not kept often for other types of merchandise.

And, if you bought a gun second-hand, ownership may be impossible to prove if you cannot give its serial number.
TO CATCH A THIEF
Remembering your license plate number sometimes enables police to recover a stolen vehicle within minutes after it is taken, Jones said.
When a car must be temporarily abandoned, notify police so it may be watched, Jones advised. He suggested citizens report suspicious persons loitering around homes and businesses at unusual times.
To convict a man of burglary, the state must prove the suspected force — even opening a door is enough — to enter and entered with intent to commit a felony, Jones said.
For example, persons shoot-

Detective Dies In Gun Battle

LUBBOCK (AP) — Authorities in Lubbock have filed charges against an Illinois ex-convict in connection with the fatal shooting of a police detective outside downtown hotel here Friday.
Dead on arrival at West Texas Hospital was a nine year veteran of the force, 32-year-old Larry Jack Stevens, who suffered the fatal gun shot wound close to the heart, about mid-afternoon Friday, officers said.
Murder with malice charges were filed against 24-year-old James Emanuel of Lubbock.
Investigators said Stevens, a father of three, was shot as he attempted to question Emanuel in connection with an undisclosed investigation.
According to police reports, Stevens followed Emanuel outside the In Town Inn, where a witness said Stevens showed his badge when Emanuel reportedly shoved him, drew a gun and began firing. He also was hit. Police Chief J. T. Ally said Stevens emptied his gun before slumping to the ground.
When he asked Emanuel what happened, Love said the gunman replied: "I shot him and he shot me."

Center Changes Abortion Policy

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor University Medical Center announced Saturday it has revised its abortion policy to permit operations during the first 12 weeks of gestation.
A spokesman said that the patient's desire for an abortion will be only one factor in the decision which will be based on the physician's judgment that the procedure is medically advisable.
"Termination of pregnancy after the first 12 weeks will require therapeutic justification," the spokesman said.
He said the new policy was established "after consultation in the religious, moral, medical and legal fields in an effort to reach an answer that recognizes the commitment of Baptists to preserve the value and dignity of human life and fulfills the medical center's obligations to the patients and public."

Racial Quota At Cop Shop

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal court ruling has placed a temporary racial quota on hiring of police officers here, but the city solicitor's office is confident a final ruling will find the police department's hiring practices are not discriminatory.
City Solicitor Martin Weinberg also said Friday the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals decision upholding a lower court order that the Philadelphia Police Department hire one black applicant for every two white candidates accepted would have no immediate effect.
The decision upheld a temporary order issued by U.S. District Judge John P. Fullam. At the same time, the appeals court struck down a Fullam order governing promotion policies within the department.
According to the city solicitor, the order is effective only while Fullam considers a broader case charging discrimination in the city's police department testing.

Open-Door Policy Wins New Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The veil of secrecy shielding the operations of many House committees was lifted high this week as the open-door policy won new support.
But there still were some major holdouts.
The Judiciary Committee and the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee decided to hold their business meetings in the open. Business meetings are those in which legislation is actually written.
The Appropriations Committee, long a citadel of closed-door meetings, decided to follow the policy of most other panels and open its hearings to the public. But it will continue to write money bills behind the closed doors of 13 subcommittee rooms.
Of the other large committees, Agriculture, Public Works, Rules, Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and Banking and Currency will continue to hold more closed than open mark-up sessions.
Armed Services and Foreign Affairs have not decided their policy, but the latter departed from past custom and heard Secretary of State William P. Rogers in open session this week.

Plows Churning Soil In Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Plows churning the soil in many sections of Texas last week showed that the spring planting season is approaching. Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.
Generally favorable weather and drying fields boosted field activities, he said.
Cotton and grain sorghum farmers in the Rio Grande Valley were ready to plant. Cotton farmers in High and Rolling Plains and part of Far West Texas tried to complete harvest operations.

Southwest: Small grains need rain and warm weather for maximum growth. Cabbage, carrots, cauliflower and spinach are moving to market. Melons are being planted in Frio County. Early peaches are blooming in Frio, Bexar and Atascosa counties. Heavy supplemental livestock feeding continues.
South: Farmers in the Rio Grande Valley are ready to begin planting cotton and grain sorghum. Harvesting of citrus and winter vegetables is active in the Valley. Oats are providing good grazing. Livestock are in good condition.

GARDEN AREA

Small grain crops made some improvement as warmer weather prevailed in most areas of the state, he said. Excess soil moisture still limited grazing in some sections.
Land preparation for spring vegetable planting gained momentum in eastern and southern areas. Vegetable harvesting was active in the San Antonio winter garden area and in the Rio Grande Valley.
Livestock feeding remained heavy over most of Texas. Grazing conditions were generally below average.
District agriculture agents gave these reports:
South Plains: Cotton harvesting should be completed with another week or so of good weather. Warmer weather is boosting small grain growth. High winds caused some injury to wheat. Livestock conditions are improving.
Rolling Plains: About 20 per cent of the cotton crop is still out. Small grain growth is improving. Some fields are being grazed. Greenburg damage is appearing in a few counties. Some livestock feeding continues.
North Central: Small grains are making good growth. Most fields are too wet for grazing. Some spring vegetables are being planted by hand as fields are too wet for machinery. Beets, collards, turnips and green onions are being harvested. Livestock feeding remains heavy.
Far West: Cotton is still being harvested in the Midland-Stanton area. Supplemental feeding of sheep and cattle is active. Ranges are supply dry grass. Some counties report sheep losses from grazing bit-terweed. Sheep and goat shearing are underway.

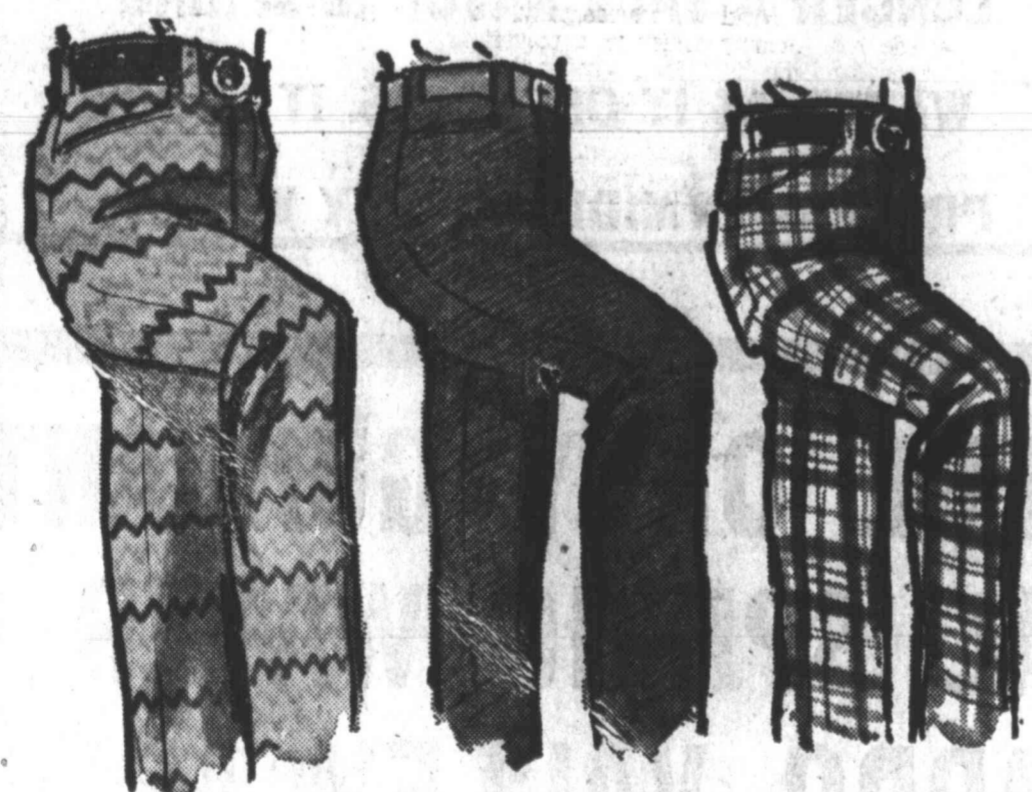

HCJC Trustees To Meet Tuesday

The regular February meeting of the Howard County Junior College board of trustees is set for Tuesday 5:15 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Student Union building. Trustees earlier in the month held a special meeting to consider the resignation of Dr. Marshall Box as dean of vocational-technical education, and to name a successor. Also, the board filed application for land surplus to the Webb AFB mission.

Pecos Leads In Drilling

Pecos County held the lead in active drilling in the Permian Basin at the end of the past week with 26 rigs going, a gain of one for the week.
Second place was held by Eddy County, N.M., with 19, a gain of four; third by Ward County with 16, a decrease of two; and fourth by Martin County with 11, a decline of one.
There were 197 active rigs, an increase of 21 for the week in the basin. In this area, however, the picture was fairly stable. Borden had two, a gain of one; Dawson five, a gain of two; Glasscock none, a loss of one; Midland four, unchanged; Mitchell none, down one; Reagan seven, the same; Scurry two, up one. Howard County showed no active rigs.

Jones Key Figure In Jackets' Attack

BROWNWOOD — David Jones, 6-3 senior forward-guard on Howard Payne College's nationally-ranked basketball team, has seen his name in print more in programs than newspapers.

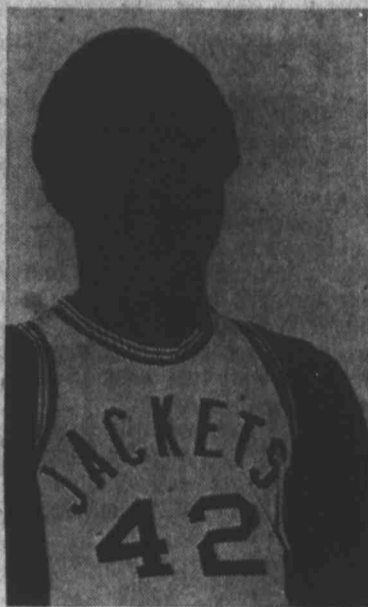

That's chiefly because this cat-quick co-captain on coach Ken Henson's 18-4 Yellow Jackets has been one of those players who seldom stands out in statistics normally kept on cage teams.

You know the kind — scoring percentages, averages and total points.

Little David, who has been battling the Goliaths of the Lone Star Conference four seasons now, has been a yoeman for the Yellow Jackets and a nemesis for opponents during his career at HPC.

He's been a largely unsung member of the famed Jones Gang, which also includes 6-foot All-America guard and scoring sensation Tom Jones of Crane.

David has fought more than taller opponents while playing first for the late Glen Whitis and more recently for Henson.

DAVID JONES

Last season, he saw his chances for a fine junior year go down the drain after coming down with hepatitis and sitting out a big part of the campaign.

This season, he's jostled with stomach problems, which often have left him weak and not really 100 percent in many games.

Despite his problems,

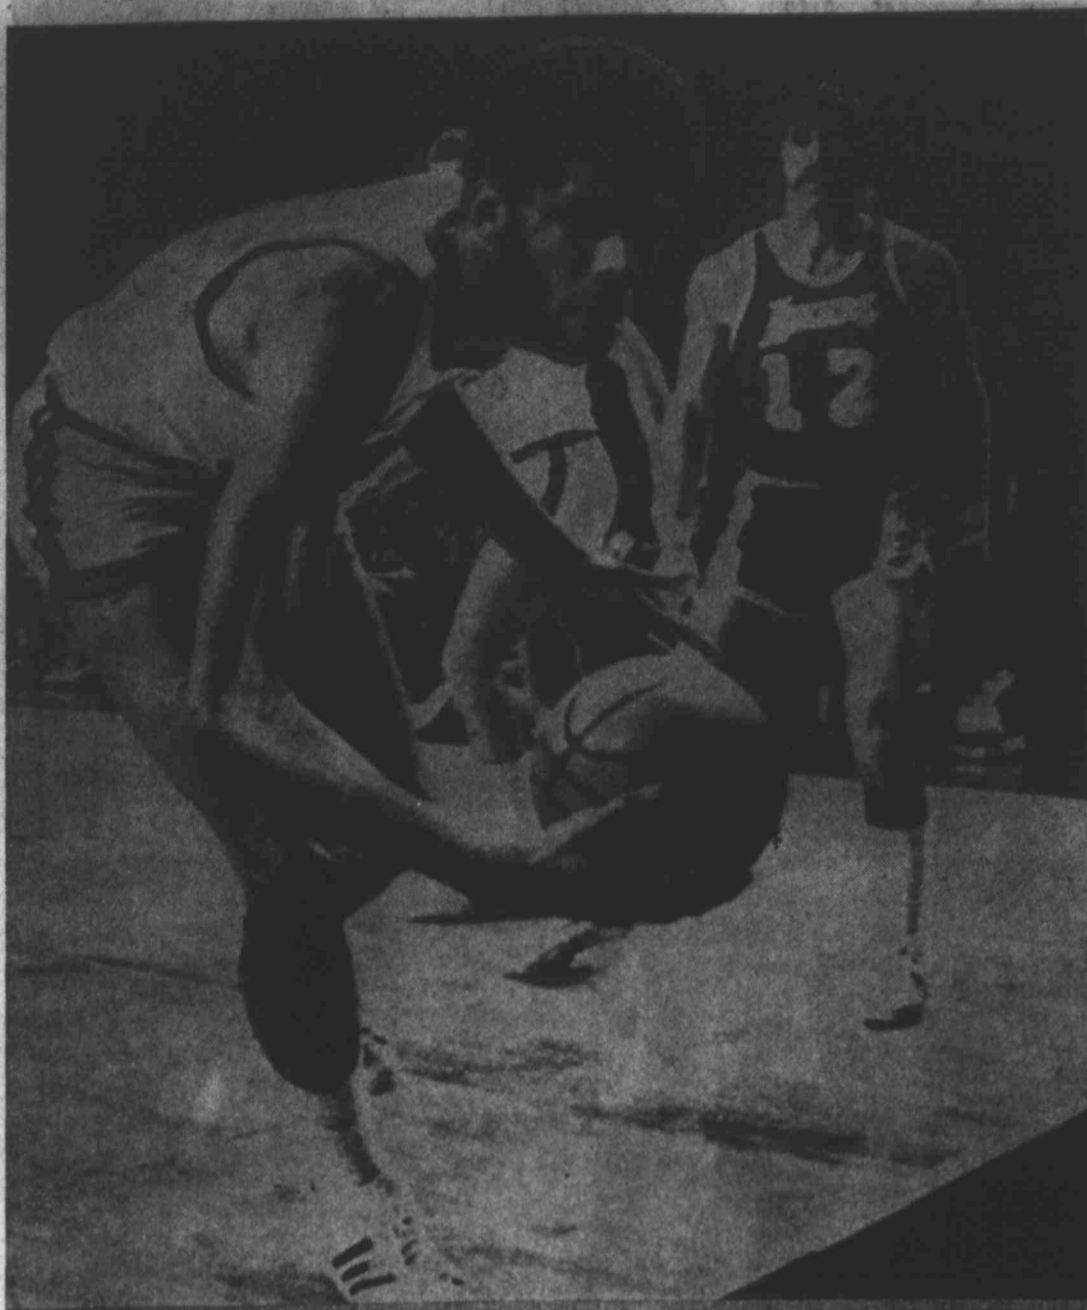

David has done his share of the work in making HPC ranked in the top 10 of the NAIA this season. He's averaged 12.4 points per game and 6 rebounds. His best scoring night came against St. Edward's of Austin when he got 22.

More important, he's been a cog in a Payne defense which has been the key reason for the team's rolling to 18 wins in their 22 games to date.

"David is as quick as anyone I've ever coached," says Henson. "The worth of his play to our team is seldom reflected in post-game stats. He's a great defensive player who regularly forces turnovers and steals balls. I hate to lose him to graduation."

After graduation, David hopes to get a shot at professional football, of all things, as a defensive back prospect. He's received correspondence from the Dallas Cowboys.

In high school, he was a track and field standout at Stanton, where he specialized in the long jump and sprints.

Cougar Comeback Sinks USL, 82-80

HOUSTON (AP) — Louis Dunbar hit a jump shot from the top of the key with eight seconds left Saturday to give the 11th ranked Houston an 82-80 basketball victory over 13th ranked Southwestern Louisiana.

Dwight Lamar took the inbounds pass for Southwestern Louisiana and dribbled the length of the court but his final shot at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

Southwestern Louisiana led 40-39 at the half and increased that lead to nine points—65-56—with 10:50 left on the clock. Houston chipped away at the lead and went ahead 68-67 on Dwight Jones' layup with 7:53 left. USL generally held a two-point lead until Jones' two free throws tied it 80-80.

Dunbar of Houston and Larry Fogle of USL each had 26 points to lead all scorers. Jones had 20 for Houston.

Longhorns Get Nod In SWC 'Better' Products Of Houston Ghetto

LUBBOCK (AP) — Defending co-champion Texas has been picked as the pre-season favorite for the 1973 Southwest Conference baseball season in a poll by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

The Longhorns topped the balloting with 55 points followed by Texas Christian 49 points, Texas A&M 38, Rice 32, Texas Tech 27, Houston 25, Baylor 15 and Southern Methodist 11.

Play begins Feb. 22 for conference schools.

This is the fifth year of the Avalanche-Journal poll and Texas has been picked No. 1 each time.

Texas and TCU shared the title last year.

The Longhorns lost heavily via graduation, including their entire infield. However, Texas has some top pitchers returning, including Ron Rosovsky 11-4 and Zane Grubbs, who was rugged in the playoffs. The outfield of Terry Pyka, Tom Ball and Charlie Crenshaw is another bright spot.

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's for the Cougars. And both overcame tough Fifth Ward produced its share of dropouts, hustlers and junkies. It also produced world heavyweight champion George Foreman and playmaking guard Jerry Bonney of the 11th ranked University of Houston basketball team.

And Bonney knew about Foreman long before Joe Frazier knew he existed.

"Yeah, Foreman and I went to E. O. Smith (junior high) together," Bonney recalled. "He used to take my lunch money away from me. He was real big and strong then, too, and was sort of a bully. We laugh about it now, but I haven't seen him since he won the title."

Bonney and Foreman went their separate ways, Foreman becoming the heavyweight king and Bonney playing basketball.

"We teach the kids how to play different sports and we impress on them that not everyone can become a big-time pro star and that it's necessary to go to school and get an education," Bonney said. "Kids need to be involved in a worthwhile activity."

Bonney will graduate in May with a degree in physical education and political science and plans to go to law school unless he gets a chance to play professional basketball.

Bonney, nicknamed Judge because of his interest in the law, is optimistic about his future either way.

He's also relieved that Foreman won't be needing his lunch money anymore.

Behagen Paces Gophers To Slim Win Over OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ron Behagen contributed 33 points Saturday, leading Minnesota to an emotional, nationally televised Big Ten basketball victory over Ohio State, 80-78.

Behagen, a 6-foot-10 senior from New York City, was one of two Minnesota players suspended for the season after a bloody brawl last year between the two rivals.

This time, however, the game between the fifth-ranked Gophers and the Buckeyes was played without incident before a sellout crowd of 13,489.

Ohio State's Luke Witte, hospitalized after last year's melee, poured in a season-high 25 points and grabbed 11 rebounds before fouling out with more than four minutes to go.

Corky Taylor of Minnesota, the other player suspended last year, played briefly and scored two points.

Mark Wagar, of Ohio State, also hospitalized after the brawl Jan. 25, 1972, did not play this time.

Minnesota outscored the Buckeyes 14-2 in one stretch of the second half for a 56-48 margin and led the rest of the way. Minnesota pushed its record to 15-2. The Gophers are 5-2 in the Big Ten.

Howard Payne Adds 11th Tilt

BROWNWOOD — An 11th opponent — Lamar Tech of Beaumont — has been added to Howard Payne College's 1973 football schedule, according to head coach Dean Slayton.

The non-conference tilt is scheduled Sept. 15 in Beaumont and eliminates an open date the Lone Star Conference Yellow Jackets had announced earlier.

The Lamar Tech game represents HPC's second of the season next fall. The team kicks off its '73 slate against Texas Lutheran in another non-conference tilt Sept. 8 in Brownwood.

The Jackets open league play against Stephen F. Austin Sept. 22 in Nacogdoches. Homecoming for HPC comes Oct. 20 against Tarleton State of Stephenville.

Cotton Parley Set In March

LUBBOCK — Some of the western states' leading cotton producers and industry officials will gather here March 7-8 for what is generally considered one of the most important annual meetings of people concerned with cotton — the Western Cotton Production Conference. Donnel Echols, Lamesa, Plains Cotton Growers president, will preside.

On tap for the two-day meeting are several key issues affecting the cotton industry, particularly in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. Among these are the latest developments in harvesting and storage, new data on weed control and herbicide usage, projections of the future of cottonseed flour, air pollution and its affect on growers, and the government's farm program.

The conference, to bring together scientists, producers, and officials from a host of organizations, will focus on cultural practices, research developments, and new technology. Its theme is, "Putting It All Together."

"The southwestern area of the nation has common environmental problems," says Dr. Robert Metzger, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock. "Climate, cotton breeding, diseases and other factors common to this area produce those problems and issues which we will be discussing. The program also will touch on broader matters such as the government's farm program and possibly the rapidly changing market situation."

Among those addressing the expected capacity audience at Lubbock's Ko-Ko Inn will be officials of national cotton groups, specialists from Extension services and Experiment stations, officials of agricultural-related organizations and producers.

A special technical conference on cotton diseases will precede the regular meeting. Beginning at 9 a.m. on March 6, the special session will include presentations and panel discussions on such diseases as Verticillium wilt and bacterial blight which have caused increasing economic loss in recent years.

for about three months and we really love each other.

Well, we wanted to get to know each other a little better so we skipped a couple of classes together. Her parents found out and won't let me come over or even talk to her at school. What can I do? — In Trouble in Louisiana.

(A.) Both you and your girl friend were foolish. You have plenty of time to get acquainted without skipping school to do it.

Now you must let her parents know you realize you made a mistake and that you won't do it again.

Ask her mother and father to let you visit them and talk to them about some more sensible arrangement for seeing their daughter.

TIGHT REIN: (Q.) Denise is my best friend at school. She has a lot of problems. She is never allowed to go out. This means seven days and nights a week. She can't go out after school. She can't go out with a girl, much less a boy.

She can't have any phone calls. She has to wear dresses to school every day. No pants ever. She can't wear pants at home either.

I can't go over to her house! When she is at home she can't come to the car to talk to me, even for a second. She has to stay on her front porch.

Her parents won't let her talk to them about any of this. What can I do to help Denise? — Disturbed in Maryland.

(A.) Perhaps Denise has been guilty of some major indiscretion, and her parents have put her on discipline. Perhaps it is only temporary.

I hope so. For if it isn't, and you have described it faithfully, and Denise is permanently cut off from social activity, then she is likely to be badly hurt, and her parents may eventually be hurt too.

You can help Denise by being sympathetic, listening to her, and being cheerful in the time you two have together at school.

Encourage her to take part in all the activities she can at school; encourage her to keep trying to talk with her parents. But do not try to step personally into her trouble at home. In other words, do not meddle.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 2022, Houston, Texas 77081.)

"HAVE A HEART" says Richard Atkins to his pretty wife, Linda, and who can deny that a heart full of candy makes marriage even sweeter on Valentine's

Day? The Atkins' have been married for 11 years, and there's plenty of love (and chocolates) to share with the children, Craig, Carrie-Beth and Hays.

VALENTINES are serious business when a fellow is four years old — and a little unsure of the consequences. Bert Patterson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Patterson, cautiously offers a lacy token of affection to his friend, Cathy Hildebrand, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand. Both youngsters are students at Farrar Private School.

♥ Everybody Loves Somebody

LOVE IS expressed with diamonds by Bill Jenkins who places an engagement ring on the finger of his future bride, Beverly Doering. On Valentine's Day they'll be preparing for their wedding Saturday in the First Christian Church. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Doering and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jenkins.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE

Broadway Musical Drawing Crowds To Midland Theatre

Some of the reviewers are rating "1776," the current production of the Midland Community Theatre, as the best yet. This is the long-running and award-winning Broadway musical, and the rating says something about the quality of the production which puts a historical and musical spotlight on the triumvirate of John Adams, Ben Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, with help from Abigail Adams and Martha Jefferson. There is backup from a large cast in the chorus and other scenes. Other presentations are set for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, as well as Feb. 22, 23 and 24. Matinees are 2 p.m. today and Feb. 18.

Martin Best, the English troubadour noted for ancient tunes and ballads, will be at Texas Tech Monday to present his "songs with lute and guitar." It's on the university series but open to the public ($1.50 and $4). Best seeks to review the art of the minstrel — an entertainer and musical newspaperman in the medieval courts of Europe.

Also at Tech is an exhibit of paintings by Tom Cosgrove, Southwestern artist noted for subtle uses of color. The display remains up through Feb. 23 at the Department of Art gallery on campus.

Music Opportunities Day will be observed Saturday at Angelo State University at San Angelo. Any high school student is invited to investigate what a career in music has to offer. There will be chances to audition, to take music theory and literature tests, and to visit with someone on the music faculty. March 17, the department will have its second annual student composition day. High school and junior college students are invited to enter their compositions.

A Folk Festival is also slated at Angelo State Feb. 19-March 2. This includes arts and crafts exhibits, demonstrations, lectures, folk dances and music — even folk foods. All activities are open to the public in the Houston Harte Center. Nancy Lester, Big Spring, will take part Monday, Feb. 19, with a demonstration of palmyristy. Alma Bell Salmon and Ben Miller of Snyder, have paintings in the folk gallery. A complete program can be had from the English department.

Any young musical artist between the ages of 20 and 32 years of age is eligible to submit an application for the 10th annual national competition for operatic artists, auspices of the Baltimore Opera Company. This is second only in size to the Metropolitan talent search. The address is 11 E. Lexington Street, Baltimore, Md. 21202, and deadline for applying is April 23.

The Heritage Museum family is enthused over the gift by Ted O. Groehl during the week. He presented the museum with a complete set of Southwestern Historical Quarterlies from 1949-72, and promised to keep them coming. Gerri Atwell, curator, points out that these will be invaluable in historical research. The executive board, incidentally, will meet 5 p.m. Thursday at the museum.

Fans of Boots Randolph and Floyd Cramer will have a chance to hear them, along with Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass, at Lubbock Municipal Auditorium Friday, Feb. 23. Starting time is 8:15 p.m.

H. Douglas Pickering, professor of painting and sculpture at Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh, has been named to the faculty of the University of Texas-Permian Basin. He assumes his duties July 1. During his career he has received numerous citations and has been at the Mellon institute since 1960.

If you love good art and are down Houston way, the Museum of Fine Arts has added three paintings to the continuing exhibition, "Masterpieces of Five Centuries." The new ones include "The Milner Sisters" by George Romney, 18th century British artist; "Madonna and Child" by Bartholome Estaban Murillo, 17th century Spanish artist; and "The Watering Place" by Thomas Gainsborough.

Opening for Seven Seas, between Arlington Stadium and Six Flags, has been set for March 17 on weekends only until May 27 when the summer daily season opens.

The Smithsonian Traveling Exhibition Services has presented the Jean Louis Berlioz exhibit, "The Indians of Texas in 1839," to the Museum of the Southwest in Midland as part of its permanent collection. The exhibit is based on studies by the French-born botanist during a Mexican expedition in Texas. On display at the museum through March 5 is a layout, "tribal customs of South Africa," as well as "Phenomenon of Peter Max."

Civic Art Club Plans Executive Meeting

The Ever Ready Civic Art Club met Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Charlie Merritt, 1011 N. Gregg, with Mrs. Beryle Perkins, vice president, presiding. The invocation was by Mrs. Bobbie Williams.

Mrs. Glenn Person, district president informed club members of the district executive board meeting which will be held Feb. 18 at the Family Planning Center of the Nolan County Community Action Council, Sweetwater, beginning at 2 p.m. Mrs. Lillian Deaver, board chairman, will preside.

Final plans will be announced soon for the district convention which will be held at Midland in April.

It was announced that plans are being made for the state convention slated July 9-11 in the Adolphus Hotel, Dallas, with the theme, "The Challenge of the Open Doors — to Social, Economic, Educational and

There are 19 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. The granddaughters will alternate at the guest registry.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiser were married Feb. 14, 1923 at the courthouse in Sweetwater. She is the former Iva Hale, born Feb. 15, 1903 in Grayson County. Mr. Kiser was born Feb. 19, 1903 in Oklahoma. (It was still Indian territory at that time.)

TRAVELS

Mr. and Mrs. Kiser made their first home at Eskota where he farmed for a year before going to work for Texas and Pacific Railway. The Kiser family lived in numerous places during the more than 30 years he remained with the T&P before retiring Aug. 3, 1944. The Kisers lived in Hot Springs, N.M. for the next two years then, in 1946, returned to Big Spring where he was chief deputy sheriff for Howard County for seven years.

Joining a construction company, Procon Inc., Mr. Kiser was a general foreman, and the firm built refineries in several Texas cities and in Ohio. Leaving that job in 1956, he operated a service station in Pasadena, Texas before returning to Sand Springs. Mr. Kiser has been a Church of Christ minister for 27 years, at different times serving churches in Sand Springs, Loraine and Groom, and he has been a church elder for a number of years. Mrs. Kiser is also a member of the Church of Christ.

HOBBIES

Mr. Kiser said he enjoys "a few hobbies", two of which are carpentry and fishing, while Mrs. Kiser likes to sew and crochet.

For the open house, Mrs. Kiser will wear a pale pink patterned dress and will be presented an orchid corsage. Her husband will receive a gold boutonniere. Refreshments will be served from a table covered with a white crepe cloth accented with gold satin wedding bells. The tiered cake will feature gold satin hearts on the top, and the centerpiece will be a gold compote arranged with gold spider mums, greenery and small white satin hearts with streamers.

Psychology Of Foods Explored

The College Park Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Bobby Richardson, where it was reported that the club will serve at the Senior Citizen luncheon Feb. 21 at the county barn. The club will also supply five pies and two workers for the concession stand at the stock show March 24.

Club members agreed to contribute $5 to the high school Meistersingers to aid them in their fund-raising drive for the upcoming trip to Europe.

Miss Sherry Mullin gave the program, "Psychology of Foods." After members played a quiz game, Miss Mullin explained that the reasons people eat the food they do include nationality, background, religion, age, fads and superstition, family, economics and emotions.

She also discussed the importance of well-balanced meals and distributed pamphlets. More pamphlets on nutrition and food preparation are available at the extension office at the courthouse.

Guests present were Mrs. Marvin Dixon and Mrs. J. C. Ray.

The next meeting is March 20 at the home of Mrs. Douglas Bartosh, 1600 Sycamore. Jack White will give the program on new traffic signs.

Historical Group Delays Meeting

The Historical Survey Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 20 in the Chamber of Commerce conference room. A conflict forced a week's postponement from the usual meeting date. Reports from committee members will be heard Feb. 20, and a film tracing early trails across Texas will be shown.

Silver Anniversary Is Celebrated Friday

The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Milton N. Lewis was observed Friday evening when a party was held in their honor at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Hostesses were their daughters, Mrs. Howard D. Williams, Honeybrook; and Mrs. Jerry Harbour and Mrs. Martin C. Newton, both of Big Spring. Miss Dianne Cole presided at the guest register.

The honoree was attired in a floor-length dress of aqua knit, styled with stand-up collar and long, belled sleeves trimmed with white lace. She was presented a corsage of red rosebuds.

The refreshment table, covered with aqua satin and lace, was centered with an arrangement of aqua roses and featured a tiered cake decorated with aqua roses. Cake, punch and coffee were served by Mrs. Newton and Mrs. Harbour.

Mrs. Lewis is the former Juanita Wright, and the couple was married Feb. 7, 1948 in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wright, 1613 E. 16th. Lewis is the son of the late Pink N. O'Briant and Mrs. Nettie Lewis O'Briant who now resides at Big Spring Nursing Inn. She is a former Stanton resident.

The Lewises are members of Birdwell Lane Baptist Church where he is a deacon and she teaches a Sunday school class. They both sing in the choir.

Lewis has been employed at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company for 24 years, and his wife is co-owner and operator of the Royal Beauty Center, 4103 Wasson Road. For recreation, he likes to hunt and fish. Mrs.

Lewis, who enjoys traveling recently returned from a trip to Paris and Rome. Their son-in-law, Martin Newton, is serving with the Army in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have three grandchildren, Candee Sue Williams, Bryan Harbour and Brent Newton.

'Women Executives Not Getting Breaks'

By ELSIE VIDER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Just a year ago, it seemed that feminists were making gains in one of their most basic demands: equal employment opportunity. It appeared that the days of automatically relegating qualified women to clerical positions were over.

Long live the woman executive.

The women's liberation movement and its attendant publicity had made more employers aware that qualified women were available for top jobs. Pressure from women's groups and women already employed was mounting.

Last April, the U.S. Labor Department's Revised Order 4, requiring many federal contractors to actively recruit and hire women at all job levels, became effective. For the first time, many companies were virtually forced to seek women for executive positions.

Some anticipated a spurt of demands for qualified women.

Fordyce, Andrews & Haskell, a New York executive search consultant, set up a women's division. The Ms. Exec division of Anita Reiser Personnel Service and the MS Management Services division of Newtime agency were established to place women in executive, management and professional positions. Female-oriented recruiting conferences, symposiums and seminars came into vogue. The whole employment industry prepared. But the big rush never came. Elizabeth Weld, director of search for women executives for Fordyce, Andrews & Haskell, said: "Although a lot of lip service has been paid, things are not as we hoped."

Anita Reiser complained that "things aren't moving quite as fast as they could be."

Why? Miss Weld said that, since the summer, government pressure on big companies to hire women has let up.

"People just aren't knocking themselves out to place women," said Frank Hastings of Frank Hastings Associates, an executive search firm.

"Not enough consideration is given the fact that women and minority groups have not had the same opportunities for success as white men," said Jo Ganz of Ms. Exec.

Employers not seriously interested in hiring women can insist on experience and education standards difficult for many job-seekers to produce.

"One way of getting around the law is claiming that you can't find qualified women," Miss Weld said.

Anita Reiser and Jo Ganz put part of the blame on the lagging job market.

"The timing is right in terms of the idea but not in terms of implementing the law," Mrs. Reiser said. "In the green years on Wall Street, we had less trouble placing women than now."

But Mrs. Ganz is optimistic that "once the economy picks up, women will get a piece of the action."

Naivete on the part of women was blamed by Newtime's Joan Baeder. "There are women who have been at corporations for years, and they're so brainwashed. They make $10,000, and they think that's it."

She encourages women to be creative and resourceful in their approach to the business world and advises that women still in college devise a program that would give them practical experience in their field and "a handle" when the time comes to seek a job.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH G. BIRKHEAD

Reception Set Today In Coahoma Church

The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Keith G. Birkhead will be celebrated today with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m. in the annex of First Baptist Church, Coahoma. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

Hosting the affair with the Birkheads will be their son, Keith G. Birkhead Jr., and his wife, Edna, of Hobbs, N.M. Joining the receiving line will be the honorees' granddaughters, Miss Vanessa Birkhead, a student at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, and Miss Karen Birkhead of Hobbs.

Members of the house party will be Mrs. B. F. Logan, Mrs. Tom Moore and Mrs. Lou Logan, all of Colorado City; Mrs. R. L. Fitzgerald, Grapevine; Mrs. Bobby Hood, Fort Worth; Mrs. Paul Allen, Mrs. Ernest Garrett, Mrs. Don McKinney, Mrs. H. E. Keaton and Mrs. O. J. Bohannon.

Pantry Pickups

When you package sliced meat for freezing, place the slices close together to prevent drying. Wrap tightly in moisture- and vapor-proof paper.

To prevent chocolate from changing color, store it in a reasonably cool place.

To simmer means to cook just below the boiling point.

Active dry yeast stays fresh if stored in the refrigerator or some other cool place, but the expiration date on the package should be observed.

In bread making, salt slows and stabilizes the fermentation of yeast and also strengthens the gluten in the flour.

Broccoli Added To Spaghetti Dish

Make spaghetti a little different next time.

SPAGHETTI WITH BROCCOLI
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen chopped broccoli
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup olive oil
1 large clove garlic, crushed
1 pkg. (8 ozs.) thin spaghetti
Grated Parmesan cheese

In a small saucepan cook broccoli according to package directions with 1/4 teaspoon salt; cook until extremely soft — about 12 minutes. Drain, saving liquid. In the same saucepan, heat olive oil with garlic; stir in cooked, drained broccoli. In a large pot, cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain. Toss with broccoli sauce, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 cup of the drained broccoli water. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese. Makes 3 servings.

First Baptist Church Scene Of Ceremony

Miss Mary Ann Rios and S. Sgt. Wilfredo Gonzales of Webb Air Force Base were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Kenneth Patrick in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

A heart-shaped arch, flanked by arched candelabra holding votive cups, was centered with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli, and nuptial selections were played by Mrs. James E. Settles, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Domingo Rios, Sterling City Rt., and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Gonzalez, who came from their home in Brooklyn, N.Y. to attend the wedding.

The bride appeared in a formal gown of Chantilly lace and sheer organza styled on princess lines with a scalloped neckline, full bishop sleeves and a cathedral train. Her full-length mantilla was edged with lace, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, English ivy and pink lily of the valley tied with satin streamers.

MAID OF HONOR

Miss Sabrina Cervantes, Midkiff was the maid of honor, and other attendants were Mrs. Eugene Smith, Miss Neomi Abreo, Miss Peggy Smith and Miss Emma Hernandez. Miss Cervantes wore a gown of pale green crepe with full chiffon sleeves trimmed with white lace. The other attendants wore similar gowns in orchid, yellow, pink and blue. Each carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers tied with long streamers.

Carlos Rios, brother of the bride, served as best man, and groomsmen were Eugene L. Smith, Airman 2.C. David Birman, Airman Gary Roth and Airman I.C. Jack Stephens, the latter three from Webb AFB. Amy Martinez was the flower girl, and Israel Martinez was the ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Immediately after the nuptial service, the newlyweds were honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. Refreshments of cake and punch were served by Miss Della Smith and Miss Gloria Gonzalez from a table covered with a red satin cloth overlaid with white tulle. Brass candelabra flanked an arrangement of pink carnations and pink hearts. Appointments were crystal and silver, and the tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Other out-of-town guests were the bridegroom's brother and sister, Saul Gonzalez and Miss Ann Gonzalez, and his niece, Miss Liza Gonzalez, all of Brooklyn.

The couple will reside at 1205 Lamar St.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I've been wanting to write you about the many uses for my handy travel iron.

I bought the travel iron a couple of years ago when my husband was on the road for 10 weeks. He saved a small fortune doing his own washing at the laundromat and touching up the shirts with the travel iron. (Wasn't he a doll to do that?) But those permanent press shirts are so easy even a man can do it, if he wants to!

Since then it's been used again for travel, but it is also a handy item at home. For instance:

One obvious use is as an emergency iron. When my regular iron went out, what a lifesaver this one was!

It's handy to use when sewing. In fact, the "new" sewing iron put out recently was a duplicate of mine, only in a pastel color.

It's much easier to use than a regular iron for ironing tiered ruffles such as on square dance skirts or children's clothing. Gets between the folds much more easily because it's narrower and lighter.

My young daughter uses it as a practice iron to begin learning how to iron. What better way to encourage her to help later on than to let her start young while she's really interested. She can handle it so easily, and does most all my flatwork for me. Works better for doll clothes too.

I'd say that iron was a pretty good investment, wouldn't you? . . . Jan Anderson

Dear Heloise:

I discovered something that may interest your readers.

I recently transferred my wife from a hospital to an extended care facility.

They do the patients' laundry there on the premises so I was obliged to use an indelible laundry marking pen to put her name on all her gowns, pajamas, and other clothing.

I struggled along trying to do this on nylon fabrics — impossible on such material. It would just slip and slide around.

Then an idea struck me. I bought a roll of double-stick plastic tape, tore off a piece of suitable length and stuck it to the top of my desk. Then I placed the nylon fabric on the upper sticky surface, stretching it to provide a smooth flat and now nonsliding surface on top.

I could print my wife's name as easily as on a piece of paper.

After printing the name on three garments, I removed the sticky tape and replaced it with a piece of fresh tape. . . Mr. W. H. Scheer

Dear Heloise:

Never, but never throw away anything that is still good or has more use or wear left in it!

If you can't make use of it, or are tired of it, give it to someone less fortunate than yourself who can, and will be glad to receive it!

It is a crying shame — some of the perfectly good things that are thrown away! . . . Mrs. G.D.K.

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Party At State Hospital Climaxes 18-Year Career

A reception Friday honoring Mrs. S. C. (Dorothy) Hassel marked the end of a career of over 18 years at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Hassel, who began working at the hospital July 10, 1954, has served on almost every unit, and for the past seven years, has been supervisor of Unit 5.

During this time, she has witnessed many progressive changes at the hospital, such as the "Open Door Policy," the placement of residents on unit by geographical location; and the housing of both males and females in separate parts of the same unit. These and many other changes, Mrs. Hassel considers successful, and she praises the superintendent, Dr. Preston Harrison, who has instigated them.

A tribute to Mrs. Hassel's competence is the statement made by Mrs. Claude Van Vleet, director of nursing service. "Mrs. Hassel's assistance to her patients during these years has been invaluable." Patients showed their appreciation with the presentation of a silver tray. A 400-day clock was a gift from staff members working on the unit.

MRS. S. C. HASSEL

"It has been a rewarding 18 years," said Mrs. Hassel. Her philosophy has been to treat people as she would like to be treated.

Mrs. Hassel, who intends to remain active, feels that a person can be young if they act young. In regard to her retirement plans, she said it offers "a chance to stay at home with my husband."

The Hassels will soon move to a mobile home in Forsan. They have four daughters, 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

SHE'LL TRY HER WING—Lt. (j.g.) Judith Ann Neuffer of Wooster, Ohio, is named the first woman to enter the Navy flight training program. With her at the Pentagon is Navy Secretary John W. Warner who announced that eight women will enter the program at Pensacola, Fla. Lt. Neuffer, 24, is presently stationed in San Diego, Calif. She holds a model of the 0130 Hercules cargo plane.

Male Life Span Little Improved

The life expectancy of the average 40-year old American male is only slightly better now than it was in 1960, says Project Health, Searle Educational System's preventive medicine teaching program. It said the United States ranks only 29th in male life expectancy from birth.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Miss Patricia A. Marks became the bride of Robert M. Keister Saturday with Chaplain Neil Daley performing the ceremony in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base. Mrs. James E. Settles was organist.

Parents of the couple are M. Sgt. and Mrs. James R. Marks, 3701 Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark T. Keister, Williamsport, Pa.

SCHOOLS
The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, is currently employed in the theater at Webb AFB. The bridegroom is a graduate of Jersey Shore High School, Jersey Shore, Pa. and plans to attend college in Williamsport, Pa., where the couple will reside.

Carrying a bouquet of white carnations with blue streamers, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white knit with empire bodice accented with a deep ruffle and a high ruffled collar. Long, sheer sleeves ended in a ruffle over the hands, and ruffling was repeated at the hemline of the A-line skirt. A bandeau of lace flowers trimmed with seed pearls held her elbow-length veil of illusion.

Miss Ann Thorp attended the bride as maid of honor, and the other bridal attendants were Mrs. R. P. Lavergne, Miss Sharon Thorp and Miss Janet Rennaux. They wore navy blue gowns accented with ruffles and styled with red and white polka dot sheer sleeves. Each of the women carried a single blue carnation tied with satin ribbons.

BEST MAN
Airman Jerry Rogers of Webb Air Force Base was best man, with groomsmen being Sgt. R. P. Lavergne and Airman I. C. Wayne Cockman, both of Webb AFB, and Richard Marks, brother of the bride. The ushers were M. Sgt. Alvin Gaston and T. Sgt. Thomas Blumsetter.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, where refreshments were served by the bridesmaids. The bridegroom's parents were among those attending from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Keister are presently on a wedding trip to Mexico.

New President For Republicans

AUSTIN (AP) — Directors of the Texas Federation of Republican Women selected Mrs. Robert C. McArthur of San Antonio as federation president.

She succeeds Mrs. Maurice Angly Jr. of Austin who resigned in December, and will serve until the federation state convention Oct. 10-12 in Houston.

Other officers selected by the board of directors to fill vacancies were Mrs. A. Lloyd Byram of Beaumont, first vice president; Mrs. Wesley H. Mowery of Fort Worth, third vice president, and Mrs. John Rouse, Bryan, fifth vice president.

Dainty Cookies With Good Taste

These are very thin, brittle and lacelike.

CRISP WAFER COOKIES

- 1/2 cup corn syrup
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup unsifted flour
- 1/2 cup chopped (medium fine) walnuts

Into a 1-quart saucepan turn the corn syrup, butter and brown sugar. Bring to a boil, stirring several times, remove from heat at once. Add the flour and stir until blended; stir in the walnuts. Drop level teaspoons of the mixture, 3 inches apart, onto a greased and floured large cookie sheet — no more than 6 to a sheet. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until cookie batter spreads and browns — 8 to 10 minutes.

Let cookies set partly, about 30 seconds, then remove at once with a wide spatula to a wire rack to cool. If cookies harden before you remove them, soften them in the oven. With a pastry brush, brush off any pan coating adhering to them. Store in a tightly covered tin box. Makes about 3 dozen.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Davis, Odessa, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Debrah Jean, to Joe Dean West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. West, 2703 Clanton, Big Spring. The wedding is scheduled March 31 at First Presbyterian Church, Odessa, with Dr. Joe M. Brown officiating.

'AUTHORITIES LEAVE US ALONE' Despite Unlawfulness, Midwifery Flourishes

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Despite a California law barring the practice, seven local women operate a midwife service for expectant mothers who want to give birth at home "no matter what."

"We want to help people who want to have babies at home like me," Dor Gruver said in an interview, Monday. "It used to be that people were scared to do it because there was no one to help them. Now they realize they can have what they want."

Mrs. Gruver, 22, said she "doesn't feel like a criminal" although she knows midwifery is illegal in California.

"The authorities have left us alone and the doctors hate us but leave us alone," she said. "We're not hiring anyone. It's a satisfying experience for me and for the people I'm doing it for." Santa Cruz County Dist.

Atty. Peter Chang said officials are concerned about the practice but it is hard to prove a case since most people who use midwives will not take them to court.

The midwives educate the woman and her husband about pregnancy and give training in natural childbirth, Mrs. Gruver said.

"We're not one sided," said Mrs. Gruver, who runs a local seed store with her husband. "We tell some women they'd be better off in a hospital."

"But some women are going to have them at home no matter what. While I feel it is in a sense unsafe, I'd rather have knowledge than have them do it without any."

seven women needing medical attention were taken to hospital emergency wards and recovered fully.

However, she said only one of the midwives is a registered nurse, and local doctors will not come to a woman's home to assist if there is a complication.

"For doctors it's just a job," said Mrs. Gruver. "Most of the women here have had children and can sympathize with women in labor better. We don't feel a woman should have to fight to have her baby the way she wants."

Mrs. Gruver characterized the woman who seeks a midwife as a young person usually between 19 and 24 "who is into early things" and is often poor.

"Having your baby at home makes it a whole family thing," she said. "There's nothing like your own bed and what a thrill for a husband to help deliver his own child."

Decorate With Color, But Know The Rules

These color rules can be applied to whatever decorating color scheme you choose. There are three basic types: one color, related and complementary. If you have a strong preference for a particular color, in many varying shades and tints, the one-color plan might be a good one for you. A neutral one-color scheme is a safe choice for those who are uncertain about their color preferences, for it permits unlimited experimentation with various colors as accents. For example, in an all-white room a different choice of flowers and of other small accessories can alter the whole mood. Imagine the yellow of springtime daffodils and mimosa, or the bright zinnia colors of summer, and you will get the idea.

Using a related-color plan, you might combine yellow, orange and red, or going the other way around the color wheel, yellow, green and blue.

Whichever plan you elect, the first step is to choose your major color, the one to be used on the largest expanses, such as floor or walls. Next select a secondary color (or shade) for the second largest areas, perhaps the upholstery or drapery fabrics. Then add a few other colors, in small amounts, for accent in accessories.

SHELL METHOD.

There are so many possibilities in working out a color plan that it is sometimes difficult to choose among them. One way to start is to visualize your major color as a shell, or setting, for family activities. Is it becoming to you personally, or to whoever will be the room's main occupant? Does it suit the room's function? Is it compatible with the mood you want the room to have — formal or informal, warm or cool, intense or tranquil?

If the color you have chosen satisfies you on all these points, you might consider using it, in closely adjacent values of light or dark, for ceiling, walls, floor and window draperies. Furniture and accessories can be in related or contrasting colors, or, if you prefer the one-color look, in more widely differentiated values of the same color.

TEXTURE

To avoid monotony in the extensive use of a single color, as required by the shell method, it is important to vary textures. Texture both affects color and sets it off, owing to the play of light. Smooth surfaces reflect light, rougher ones partially absorb it. Thus the same color may appear lighter or brighter or darker and richer, depending upon the nature of the material.

Light also sets up a fascinating and ever-changing pattern of shadows in textured material, varying its color according to the angle from which it is viewed. A room in which the carpet is a shag or twist, the walls either painted or covered with such as burlap, grass cloth or canvas, and the curtain fabrics of an open weave that allows light to come through can never have an uninteresting one-note look, even though a single color is repeated in all three major decorating elements.

AVOID MISTAKES

It isn't necessary to use your major color quite so extensively as the shell method prescribes. But for harmonious decorating, it is wise to make up your mind about what your major color is. New techniques and materials make possible a breathtaking range of effects undreamed of a few decades ago. It's easy to go overboard and use so many hues, in roughly equal amounts, that the decorating scheme lacks any one strong color note to which the others can be keyed.

Another mistake to avoid is the use of certain colors only because they are currently in fashion. You may have to live with a carpet or a major piece of furniture for some time. Be careful, too, about choosing colors so brilliant that you tire of them easily.

'Quotable Women'

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I abhor chauvinistic nationalism or radicalism of any color or type, but I would like to ask a question: Would this sort of war or the savage bombing which has taken place be tolerated for so long, had the people been European?" Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, speaking to the Press Foundation of Asia's "One Asia Assembly"; her first major speech since the Vietnam truce agreement.

"Man's inhumanity to man is not dictated by race. Witness the manner in which the new Nigeria was born, the new Bangladesh was born and the horrible bloody distress now in Northern Ireland." A member of Britain's Labor party, Shirley Williams, rejecting the implication in Mrs. Gandhi's speech that the Vietnam war was racially motivated.

"There is a tradition of equality between men and women in Israel, but not in orchestra conducting. I don't worry about it any more, though." Dalia Atlas, a member of Israel's corps of conductors.

"I've given up trying to anticipate what might be in store. I'm very happy in Katmandu. It's a very interesting place to be as well as a pleasant place to be. It doesn't create any problems for me. I'm perfectly happy to go along with whatever the President decides." Mrs. Ellsworth Bunker; she and her husband are the United States' only husband and wife ambassadorial team.

"My whole purpose in this was not to get into George Mason University, but I wanted to get this crazy law changed. I have heard women complain about it for years." Judith Ramig, speaking about her triumph over a Virginia state law which would have required her to pay nonresident tuition fees at George Mason University because of her marriage.

"Writing is all trial and error — one needs both luck and persistence." — British mystery writer Dame Agatha Christie, 82, in a letter to an 18-year-old Miami girl.

Now I have the authority to speak for Australia overseas and tell people what a good life we have here." — Shane Gould, the 16-year-old swimming star who was named Australian of the year by a national committee.

"Whether it is Christian or Moslem places, Israel has no interest in being administrator of religious places." — Premier Golda Meir of Israel after meeting with the Pope.

"The lib people in America could work at wiping out the word housewife and its lackluster meaning. I prefer the French mistress de maison (mistress of the house)." — Actress Olivia de Havilland.

"It's an added detriment because women on ships are still thought of as 'ho, ho, what a morale booster.' Everyone will think they're just joining the Navy to be on ships with all those men." — Lt. Lavonne DeLaere, a naval personnel officer, speaking of recruitment trends after the ruling permitting women to serve on ships.

"So many have expressed sorrow since last Monday that my husband had no knowledge of the cease-fire agreement in Southeast Asia. I think his friends should be told that fate was kind. Lyndon did know that peace had come." Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Good Choppers

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: That dentist who said that with proper dental hygiene and periodic checkups one could keep his own teeth forever was wrong.

I inherited soft, rotten teeth, and no amount of dental care or treatment could save them. I spent a fortune and suffered for years trying to save mine, but I lost them all at age 33.

Now, at age 57 I am delighted with my falsies. I can eat corn on the cob, caramel apples — anything you can eat, and I wouldn't have my own teeth back for a million dollars.

Oh, another fringe benefit: I can take out my teeth and entertain my grandchildren by dancing a wild flamenco, using my dentures as castanets. I'll bet YOU can't do that, Abby!

GRANNY FANNY IN L.A.
DEAR GRANNY: You're right, I can't. But I can do a wild kazatsky with my originals.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law recently had her first baby. It was a 9-lb. "premature" child, arriving six months after the wedding — but that's another story.

Anyway, she has asked me for a list of my friends and relatives to whom she should send birth announcements. Abby, I really don't feel like giving her a list because she did not acknowledge many of her wedding gifts from my friends and relatives, and I kept getting calls (and letters) asking me if she had received a gift. (And this was four and five months after the wedding.)

I realize that she may not have been feeling well, but she's a 22-year-old college graduate who did not have to go to a job anywhere, and she has had a fulltime maid since the day she got back from her honeymoon.

So, I ask you, what would YOU do? MOTHER-IN-LAW DEAR MOTHER: I'd tell her I don't feel like giving her a list. And I'd tell her why.

DEAR ABBY: Lots of folks write to tell you that you were wrong, but I am writing to tell you that you were right. Also to say that I am sorry I didn't take the advice you gave me back in 1960 when I asked you what to do about a husband who used to beat me up so bad he'd put me in the hospital.

You said: "Get rid of him, Honey, before he maims you for life." Well, I didn't get rid of him, I took him back and gave him another chance. And I hate to tell you how many more beatings and chances there were after that.

Finally, on the night of June 17, 1972, we had another bad fight. My brother happened to come by at the time, and he tried to help me, but my husband shot and killed my brother on the spot. He also put a bullet through my right rib cage, shot a part of my right arm off, fractured my skull, gave me a concussion and broke my ear drum. The cops came in and killed him while he was trying to escape.

Even though I was in the intensive care unit for weeks, I am still alive, but like you told me back in 1960, someday that man would maim me for life. And he did.

SHOULD HAVE LISTENED IN PHILLIPS, ME.

DEAR ABBY: We have just moved to Twin Falls, Idaho, and I am eight months pregnant, but I am unable to find a doctor who will see me unless I have my bill paid IN FULL in advance.

My husband filed bankruptcy last year, and we can't get a loan to take care of this, so what am I to do?

Cutting Hair Is Big Decision
Bianca Jagger — Nicaraguan wife of Mick — has cropped off her beautiful long black tresses. Says her hairdresser Ricki Burns, "The decision was not taken lightly."

I supposed to do? We aren't deadbeats, we are honest people who ran into a lot of hard luck. My husband is working now, and I know we could get this paid on time, but not all at once in advance.

I called the mayor but couldn't get past his secretary. By coincidence, the only neighbor I know is also pregnant, and is due about the same time I am. Yesterday she told me she had just seen her doctor who had been taking care of her from the beginning, and HE told her he wanted HIS bill paid in full in advance or he wouldn't deliver her baby!

My husband and I even considered having our baby born at home to save hospital expenses, but if something went wrong, we'd never forgive ourselves. Abby right now we don't know which way to turn. Can you save us with a miracle?

DESPERATE IN TWIN FALLS

DEAR DESPERATE: Call your County Welfare Department and tell them DEAR ABBY told you to call. Then tell them what you've told me. I cannot believe that ALL the doctors in that city demand cash in advance or no delivery. (And if you have twins in Twin Falls, are you charged double?)

DEAR ABBY: Tell that poor woman who claims that she felt like a "castrated animal" after her hysterectomy to get help fast. I am 64 and had a hysterectomy for cancer five months ago, and I can tell you it didn't "castrate" me by any means. I have never felt better, nor more like a woman. Tell that lady to get back with the program before her husband begins to program someone else's computer.

STILL OPERATING IN WALL WALLA

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69790, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Long-Distance Commuting Is Way Of Life With Airlines

DALLAS (AP) — For a growing number of airline personnel, long-distance commuting — like 1,500 miles from home to job — is a way of life.

For example, Peggy Cope commutes 1,500 miles from Los Angeles to her job in Dallas. Jonie Banquerizo comes from even farther away — Acapulco. Nicky Edwards zips over from Illinois and Kitty Billie makes it to Dallas from a farm in Medina, Ohio.

The young women are among many airline employees who now commute to their Dallas-originating flights. Stewardesses with most airlines are now given the choice of living in their base city or commuting from distant home cities. And, because stewardesses now are allowed to marry, more and more of them choose to live where their husbands are employed and then fly to their own jobs.

"I don't mind commuting," said Kathy Hergott, "actually, I'm home more this way with layovers in New York." She has flown with Braniff International seven years and commuted for three. She lives in Manhattan with her advertising-executive husband.

Mrs. Nicky Edwards is a Frontier stewardess. She commutes from O'Fallon, Ill., because her husband is a physical therapist technician at an Air Force Hospital there.

"Next year, when he completes his military service, we'll move to Dallas," she said.

American Airlines

stewardess Sherrie Dspue commutes to Dallas from Tulsa, where her husband is employed. "I Never missed my flight, though I came close once when two commuting flights were cancelled. It was a little hairy," she recalled.

Many stewardesses have commuted an average of three years. Most look on commuting as a necessary, but often inconvenient way to retain a job.

Dan Schoeman, an insurance man in Orlando, Fla., explained his wife Julie's job in Dallas: "It's money. If she joined another airline she'd lose her five-year seniority and they get paid on seniority." Julie flies a DC-10 to San Francisco.

Commuting stewardesses come to Dallas from as far away as the Panama Canal Zone. Jonie Banquerizo commutes from Acapulco where her husband is in the night club business. "I can't work for a Mexican airline," she explained, "because they require Mexican citizens."

Commuting is not all from distant points to Dallas. Virginia Vance goes the opposite direction. She is based in Los Angeles and flies from there to Vietnam and then back home to Dallas. "I prefer Dallas to L.A. and have adopted it as my home," she said.

A LOVELIER YOU Emotional Reaction Effects Complexion

By MARY SUE MILLER

The emotional reaction to acne often gets out of proportion to its medical significance. Acne is not a disease.

Eruptions are but a manifestation of glandular imbalance associated with adolescence, a not abnormal occurrence and nothing to be ashamed of. Never painful!

What hurts like fury is the emotional disturbance acne so often triggers. The resulting black moods, antagonisms and nervous tension serve not at all to improve the situation. Tension and nerves actually work against the skin, even clear skin. The effect on an ailing complexion amounts to pure aggravation.

It's a kind of round-robin. The look of acne upsets you and your upset tells on your skin. To keep the tides of tension from rising obviously is desirable, and not only for the sake of your complexion but also for your general well-being.

The best antidotes are nine hours sleep, mild exercise in the fresh air, a balanced diet and a well-regulated schedule of activities. You must learn to pace yourself — not to plan more tasks or activities for yourself than you can comfortably get through. That does not mean that you should pamper yourself and play Camille.

The idea is to keep going and keep your cool. Then you'd be so nice to be with, everybody will be myopic when it comes to your skin.

ACNE FACTS

Is acne your problem? If so write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, requesting her leaflet, "Facts About Acne." Advice covers medical and home care; use of cosmetics; diet and tension control. Please enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Men Saluted

Men figure more prominently in The Liberated Woman's Appointment Calendar (Universe Books) for 1973. Saluted are some men who no longer find it amusing to be called male chauvinist pigs — men such as John Kenneth Galbraith and Walter Lippman. Their pertinent statements have been included in the calendar.

SETS DATE — Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Holloway, Stanton, announce the engagement and forth coming marriage of their daughter, Carolyn Kay Holloway, to Larry Dewayne Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Adams of Stanton. The couple will be married April 23 in the First Baptist Church, Stanton, with the Rev. Charles Carter of San Angelo officiating.

IMAGE IS FELT Camera Will Change Lifestyle Of Blind

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Stanford University scientist says he believes a newly developed camera that enables a blind person to "read" ordinary printed material will change the lifestyle of blind persons.

The device, developed at Stanford and called Optacon, uses a camera about the size of a pocket knife to photograph each printed letter. The picture is converted electronically to be displayed as an "image" on a grid of vibrating needles on another instrument about the size of a book.

'A' FEELS

"The blind person feels with his fingertips precisely what the camera sees," said Dr. John G. Linvill, chairman of Stanford University's electrical engineering department. "An 'a' feels to him what an 'a' looks like to you."

Dr. Linvill, who headed the team which developed the device, described the Optacon today in a paper presented to a science writers' seminar in ophthalmology sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc., of New York, a national research foundation.

COMPETITIVE

He said a blind person experienced in using the Optacon can read about half as quickly as an experienced Braille reader. However, he said, Optacon eliminates converting printed material to Braille's groups of dots pressed into paper to represent letters.

Mize Presents Computer Paper

STILLWATER — Three faculty members of the school of industrial engineering and management at Oklahoma State University were invited to present papers before the 1973 Winter Simulation Conference held in San Francisco recently.

Dr. Joe H. Mize, head of the school, presented "Multiple Sequence Random Number Generators," a paper concerned with the construction of computer simulation models. Also on the program were Dr. Palmer Terrell and Dr. Hamed K. Eldin.

WIRELESSED FOR SOUND — This discotheque in Copenhagen features wireless headsets which allow the dancers to swing to either of two programs of music.

Dr. Mize, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Mize, Big Spring, graduated from high school here and did his undergraduate work at Purdue. He served on the faculty at Purdue University.

People Don't Realize What They Are Eating

HOUSTON (AP) — A nutrition specialist says most people don't realize what they are eating.

Leona Allman says the new food labeling rules of the Food and Drug Administration can change the eating habits of the country.

Mrs. Allman, of the Dallas office of the FDA, said the labeling won't help the consumer, however, unless a massive educational program is successful in teaching the consumer how to read the labels.

She said in an interview that Texas was one of five states among 10 surveyed by the FDA that was found to have relatively poor nutritional standards. The survey, which lasted from 1968-70, and a subsequent White House conference, triggered the new regulations, she said.

"The mandate to the FDA came from the White House and has been in the planning stage for two years," she said. "It was obvious from the study that most people simple don't realize what they are eating."

Lightweight Stardom Past: Michael Caine

NEW YORK (AP) — What's it all about, Alfie? "I feel an era of lightweight film stardom has gone by," answers the man who made him famous, Michael Caine. East End London's cinema playboy is girding for another of those career shifts that somehow occur for him with clockwork regularity each passing decade.

because I've made $5 million along the way. So what am I going to do, shoot myself?" The cause of mildly combative Caine euphoria is "Sleuth," a just-released suspense film made in stellar tandem with Lord Olivier, who picked him for an emotive sparring partner although they had never met.

came along. Because I think you have to take every opportunity and smash the daylight out of it, so to speak. "When I couldn't really find anything to top this, I did nothing."

WITH HER LOVE — Barbara Streisand ponders both her sleeping husband (David Selby) and her role in today's society in "Up the Sandbox," which opens Wednesday at the R-70 Theatre.

African, Amazon Scenes Part Of Streisand Film

"The thing I hate most in the world is saying goodbye," Barbara Streisand said over her shoulder as her rented Mercedes Benz pulled away from a crowd of Africans, following the completion of two weeks of location shooting on "Up the Sandbox," a comedy drama about a Manhattan housewife with an overactive life — one which takes her to Africa and captures a tribe of Amazon warriors who have mastered the secret of painless childbirth. The film opens Wednesday at the R-70 Theatre.

Could she imagine living in Africa? "Oh please, I've lived too long in another world. If I wanted to live this way it would be in upstate New York, 40 minutes from the city and about 20 seconds from the nearest telephone."

All of the African sequences were filmed in a desolate village of mud and dung covered huts just outside the Sanburo Game Reserve and populated by members of the Sanburo tribe, blood drinking first cousins to the more celebrated Masai tribe, a male dominated society where warriors spend the day posing, painting themselves with ochre and fixing elaborate head dresses woven from sheepwool and kept in place by animal grease. The women who adorn themselves with multi-layered beaded necklaces and go bare-breasted, do the real work of the village. They build the house, tend to the children, gather the food and serve their men. Streisand found this experience "somewhat disturbing."

Yet she made some friends in Africa that she'll never forget. Like the girl with the best singing voice in the village. "We just found each other, I didn't sing. She didn't. Water just finds its own level I guess."

KISSING HIS MOTIVE
Puberty and the lure of greaseland occurred almost simultaneously. Shy Michael got into a youth club drama class because he was the only boy "and I figured sooner or later we'd do romantic scenes and I'd get kissed."
His official thespic career began at 20, following two years of military service in Germany and Korea. He signed on as a provincial stock company, three years later ascended to bit roles on London television.
"On my 29th birthday I had 79 cents in my pocket," he recalls. "On my 31st, I was a dollar millionaire."
In between there had been a West End play which resulted in his first film, "Zulu," and overnight acclaim. There have been 22 more movies since, in seven of which he found personal satisfaction. Come March, Caine turns 40, a milestone which he regards optimistically.

SON ACCOMPANIED STAR
"Do you know" explains Barbara, "that these women are not permitted to experience pleasure, nor are they permitted to show pain. They can't even scream when they have a baby. They seem happy, but wow. Who am I to say anything to preach. Until I got to understand them a little more, boy, I wanted to!"
The whole African experience has been one of opening up for the young woman from Polansky Street in Brooklyn. She is very glad that she brought her young five year old son Jason Gould along with her on this adventure. "I Mean all my life I've been scared to death of animals. I'm a person whose whole life has been full of fear. You know the whole Jewish mother syndrome. I mean I was scared to look at animals in the zoo. But here it all seemed so natural. Although if I never see another wild animal again I think I can survive. But it was all so natural. And I felt part of it. I know that Jason is not going to be afraid of the way I was. It is all worth it for that."

Humor Book Due Review
Mrs. R. L. Atkins will review the book, "The Devil and Aunt Serina" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Howard County Library.
This humorous book deals with three girls growing up in rural Indiana during the 30s and how they survived the well-meaning tyranny of their Aunt Serina.
New books of Howard County Library include:
"FIRE IN THE LAKE," by Frances Fitzgerald. An intimate picture of the tragic Vietnamese people and their way of life is painted by a woman who lived in and reported from Vietnam.
"DEATH AND LIFE OF MALCOLM X" by Peter Goldman. This account of Malcolm X emphasizes his later years, the power struggle with Elijah Muhammad and his suspension from the Muslims.
"WOMEN AND MADNESS," by Phyllis Chesler. This book is concerned with the dramatically increasing numbers of American women of all classes and races who are seen or who see themselves as neurotic or psychotic and seek help through therapy or institutions.

Band Vs. Drugs
NEW YORK (AP) — Grand Funk Railroad, a rock trio, has presented a check for $40,000 to Phoenix House, a drug rehabilitation treatment program.
The check represents the group's earnings from two recent New York concerts and a recent TV special. The donation was one of the 10 largest ever received by Phoenix House and the largest ever received from a rock group.
The members of the group, Mark Farner, Don Brewer and Mel Schacher, have taken public stands against hard drugs and decided to do something to demonstrate their feelings.

Gas Firm Starts New Construction

ODESSA — Perry Gas Processors, Inc., has announced the start of construction on new manufacturing facilities and offices outside the southwestern boundaries of Odessa.
The new corporate headquarters at 2501 East Pearl will have 6,600 square feet. Additionally, some three acres of equipment-yard and storage space will be developed.
The company majors in contract gas-treating services, but supports sales. Charles R. Perry, president, said the plant expansion is required to meet an increased demand for skid-mounted, package-type field-treating units which the company designs and fabricates here.

Festival Slated

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Nearly 1,000 young musicians and dancers from many countries are expected here next August for the International Festival of Youth Orchestras.
Ten or 12 orchestras and student ballet and dance companies, chamber ensembles and folk music groups will be in Aberdeen from Aug. 8 through 17 and then move to London for the final two days of the festival.

Cap Rock Trio Plan For Meet

STANTON — Three executives of the Cap Rock Electric Coop here will attend the 31st annual confab of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association in Dallas Feb. 25-March 1.

James Eiland, Cap Rock's executive manager; O. B. Bryan, manager; and Glenn Cantrell, board president, will be among the 10,000 representatives of the nearly 10,000 rural member coops from 46 states.

Theme of this year's meeting is "Time of Crisis" concerning the dilemma rural electric systems face as a result of the Nixon administration's termination of the direct loan program of the Rural Electrification Administration.

"This is the most serious challenge that rural electric systems have been confronted with since the inception of the REA program almost 37 years ago," said Robert Partridge, NRECA general manager.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, will give the opening day address. He is co-sponsor of a bill to restore the REA direct loan program to its previous status.

Also scheduled to speak or participate in forum discussions are Rep. J. J. Pickle (D-Tex.), Sen. Charles Mathias (R-Md.), Sen. Richard Clark (D-Iowa) and REA Administrator David Hamill.

The three Howard County representatives will also attend a meeting Feb. 27 of the Cooperative Finance Corporation.

Aides' Pacts To Be Studied

A review of administrators' contracts and an official calling of the school election will top the agenda of the Big Spring Independent School district board when they meet at 5:15 p.m. Monday at the board room.

Among the administrative contracts to be reviewed are the assistant superintendents of instruction, personnel services, business manager, director of business manager, director of school cafeterias, administrative assistant for special federal programs, high school principal and assistants, vocational education administrator and junior high and elementary principals.

The board will also order the school board election and hear a report on the county trustee election.

Other items on the agenda include resignations and employment of personnel, requests for waivers of retirement, the proposed school calendar for 1973-74, a budget amendment for the summer work-study program, the OASI budget amendment, and the official transfer of the Center Point property.

Reports will include an analysis of the collections of the tax department and the January report of Southwestern Appraisal Co., Inc.

Piggly-Wiggly Buys Show Beef

Piggly Wiggly purchased over 12 tons of 4-H Club and FFA champion and show beef at the 1973 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, it was announced by Mr. E. W. Keeling, president of Shop Rite Foods, owners and operators of 169 Piggly Wiggly Supermarkets in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Total weight of the beef purchased by Piggly Wiggly was 25,620 pounds.

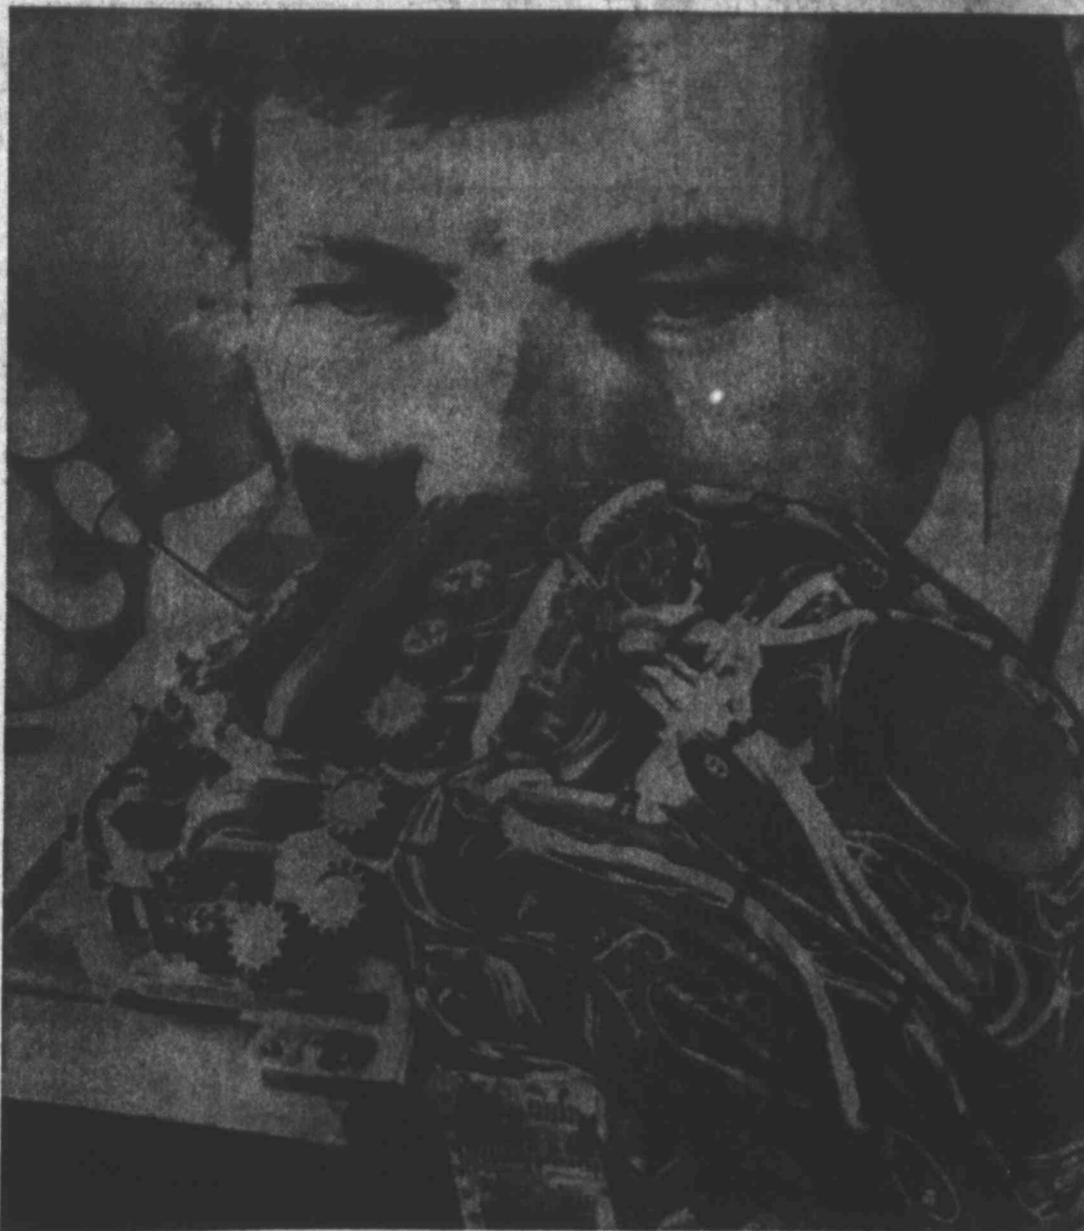

The purchases, which were made Jan. 30 at the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, totaled $15,052.75 for 25 cattle shown by members of 4-H clubs and FFA groups from communities in East, West and North Central Texas. Money received by the young club members for their animals will go largely for higher education for these students.

Keeling said, "Piggly Wiggly takes pride each year in participating in and supporting the activities of 4-H and FFA groups throughout Texas and New Mexico. We indeed consider it a privilege."

Orson Welles Owes Uncle Sam

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Actor Orson Welles and his wife owe the State of California $32,681 in back income taxes and interest, the state has contended in a lawsuit filed here.

The taxes are owed for the years 1956 and 1957, and the amount sought also includes interest through December 1972, the suit filed here said.

Ragsdale Named Prexy Of RCA

DENVER, Colo. — Bob Ragsdale of Chowchilla, Calif., has been elected 1973 president of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, an association spokesman said today.

Ragsdale, 36, joined the association in 1960 and has consistently been among the top 15 winners in calf roping and steer wrestling each year since. In 1972 he finished runnerup for the world champion all around cowboy title, with winnings of $36,435.

Increase In Commuter Students Spurs Changes

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — An increase in commuter students and steady declines in dormitory residency is causing changes at North Texas State University. More than 43 per cent of the students live outside Denton.

A yearly report by the Office of Institutional Analysis said the number of commuters increased by nearly 500 this school year.

Residents continued to decline, dropping by more than 500 students this year and falling just below 20 per cent of the student population, the report showed.

The report said the number of non-dormitory students living in Denton has remained virtually stable at about 39 per cent of the enrollment.

The trend toward more commuters resulted in formation in October of the North Texas Commuters Association (NTCA) by Lon Darley, a junior from Dallas.

"We felt that there was a real need for more representation of commuters," Darley said.

The school has between 400 and 500 students signed up as members, Darley said. The organization is working with the administration and student government to help the situation of commuters on the NTSU campus.

Darley named parking as a major problem. He said that a new bus shuttle system where students can catch buses to the main campus from Fouts Field is under way in an effort to improve the situation.
