FAITH IN GOD, COUNTRY

40 Home From The War

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The second group of 20 repatriated U.S. prisoners of war returned to mainland America today. Their spokesman called them men who "have lived with loyalty."

Navy Capt. James B. Stockdale, 49, of Abingdon, Ill.,

POWs List, Page 12-B stepped down from the giant Starliner jet to the cheers of about 100 well-wishers and said, "It's hard to believe we have come home."

LOYALTY

He thanked the people for their loyalty, adding: "The men who follow me down that ramp know what loyalty means because they have been living with loyalty, living on loyalty, the past several years."

It was, he said, "loyalty to each other, loyalty to the military ethic, loyalty to our commander in chief."

His eyes filled with tears as he talked and he hesitated between phrases.

The first of two flights today followed Wednesday's joyous arrival of 20 men held captive in Vietnam for as long as eight years.

JOY TO THE WORLD

Twenty more men were in another plane approaching the California coast after the long flight from the Philippines.

Stockdale was shot down Sept. 8, 1965 on a bombing mission over North Vietnam.

All 20 on today's first flight were scheduled to fly on to military hospitals near their homes.

Joy was the theme of Wednesday's welcome of the first POWs.

TEARS FLOW

"For over seven years that I was a prisoner of war, I never shed a tear. In the last two days, I've shed many tears — not of sadness, but of joy," was Lt. Col. Harlan P. Chapman's homecoming comment.

The Fremont, Calif., officer, the first returning Marine, was among the first planeload of former POWs to arrive Wednesday at Travis, the jumping-off point for 2.2 million fighting men over the past decade.

Two other former prisoners arrived home Tuesday under less happy circumstances — to go to the bedsides of seriously ill mothers.

FLAG WAVING

It was a subdued, military-like but emotional homecoming at this sprawling base 50 miles northeast of San Francisco on Wednesday — the low-key reception President Nixon had requested.

A cheering, flag-waving crowd of 2,000 — mostly base personnel and military families — greeted the homecoming plane from behind rope barricades.

Three of the former prisoners embraced their wives as they stepped from the plane. The others continued on by military limousine or hospital plane to waiting families at 10 military hospitals in five states.

Led by Navy Capt. Jeremiah A. Denton, the returnees emerged one by one from the C141 hospital plane that had brought them from the Philippines via Hawaii. Their names were announced over a loud speaker system.

MEN STUNNED

Asked what kept the prisoners going through their long ordeal, Denton, a prisoner of war for seven years and nine months, said:

"I believe over 99 per cent would say it was faith in God and, second, faith in country. I don't mean to put country second. I simply mean that communion with God was improved by the rigors of our experience."

Acting as spokesman, the 48-year-old father of seven children from Virginia Beach, Va., said the men were happy, healthy and "a little stunned" in anticipation of being reunited with their families.

The general public was bamed from the base, but about 2,500 of the 12,000 civilian and military personnel who work or live on the base crowded into a roped-off spectators area outside the terminal.

HOME AT LAST — Air Force Maj. Arthur Burer is hugged by his wife, Nancy, as his son, Robert, rushed up to greet him upon his arrival early today at Andrews Air Force Base. Burer of Rockville, Md., was in the first group of POW's returned to the United States.

HUGS HIS WIFE — Lt. Commander Paul E. Galanti hugs his wife Phyllis after his arrival today at the Norfolk Naval Air Station. Galanti was shot down over North Vietnam 6 1/2 years ago. Mrs. Galanti is the chairman of the board of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia.

RING RETURNED — Mrs. Andrea A. Arouri of Yuba City, Calif., places a wedding band on the finger of her returning POW husband, Lt. William Y. Arouri, as he arrives at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., Wednesday. Arouri had left his personal belongings in Guam, where he was based, when he left on a combat mission in December, 1972. He was captured on the mission and the belongings were sent to Mrs. Arouri who wore the ring around her neck until Wednesday.

Kermit Firm Is Awarded Grady School Contract

LENORAH — Contracts exceeding $200,000 have been awarded for improvements to and extension of the Grady Independent School District.

Oasis Builders of Kermit, with a low base bid of $196,900, was awarded the contract for adding 16,000 square feet of space. Included in the additions are two new classrooms, a teacher work room and a new gymnasium.

In addition, Oasis was given a $6,800 contract for remodeling parts of the existing plant.

The architecture will be the same as the present building — tile inner walls and red brick exterior, according to Rihard and Huckabee, Andrews, the architects of the one-story project.

Trustees of the district also extended the contract of Bill Baker, superintendent, to 1975, and renewed the contract of Gary Harrell, coach, for 1973-74. The contract with Jimmy Stallings as assessor-collector for the district was extended through March 1, 1974.

April 7 was officially declared as the date for the annual trustee election with the polls open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Grover Springer will be the judge and Floyd Martin the alternate. Absentee voting will be handled by Doris Stevenson, Martin County clerk in Stanton.

Trustees whose terms are expiring are Sammy Yates and George Sawyer, both of whom plan to announce for re-election.

UNMANNED VEHICLES IN COLLISION HERE

Two cars managed to collide here early Wednesday without a driver in either one of them.

A car which belongs to Texas Electric, was parked in front of the Haskell Holland residence and was apparently being warmed up by the owner, who had returned to the house.

The car got out of control and rolled down a hill and struck a parked vehicle belonging to Luiz Ramirez, 1501 E. 5th.

MOM'S GREETING — Mrs. Leonard F. Ray, early today as she hugged her returning POW son, Air Force Capt. James E. Ray, Conroe, Tex. Ray was one of the first 20 POW's that was released by North Vietnam. Ray's F-105 fighter-bomber was shot down on May 1966. Ray will spend several days in the Lackland AFB hospital.

'WE WERE PROUD TO HAVE SERVED WHERE DUTY CALLED'

Texas' Johnnies Are Marching Home: Hurrah! Hurrah!

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Honored to be "the first to return to our Lone Star State," two young Texans ended a long journey home to freedom and families from prisoner of war camps in Vietnam today.

REUNION

Ray made a brief statement

he had written on yellow paper, which he said was for both himself and Wallingford.

While Wallingford's parents awaited a reunion with him across town at Brooke Army Medical Center, Ray's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Ray of Conroe and Mrs. Ann Duncan of Denver, Colo., were standing in the chill night air on the Kelly runway to hug him.

"We are proud to have served where duty called," said Ray in his prepared statement. He offered condolences to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson on the recent death of the former president — "my first commander-in-chief," Ray said.

Ray also mentioned "the families of those who will not be returning."

SEVEN YEARS AGO He said, "God bless you in time of tribulation and God bless America."

In the small crowd greeting the two men were six relatives and about three dozen newsmen, the only outsiders allowed on the base as Ray and Wallingford stepped from the plane under a full moon. Wallingford, 24, already knew he would find a girl he left behind, although he thought she would be married by now.

Ray was accompanied off the plane by a brother, Leonard F. Ray Jr. who flew to meet him and came back with him en route to Wilford Air Force Medical Center at Lackland Air Force Base.

GOD BLESS YOU The two former POWs had changed planes on the West Coast, where they separated from others in a group of 20 returnees in the first large batch to leave Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines for the United States.

Wallingford was released Monday in South Vietnam after less than a year in captivity.

Ray, 31, was captured nearly seven years ago. Ray, a graduate of Texas A&M, "appears, as you saw, in pretty good shape," said Col. Earl Collins, Air Force Operation Homecoming spokesman here. Collins said he did not know what illnesses, if any, Ray may have suffered in his imprisonment.

Ray's debriefing and processing at Wilford Hall will take from one to two weeks, Collins said.

Ray, who asked that arrangements be made for him to make his statement on arrival here, also expressed interest in being interviewed later. No interviews were permitted today.

His mother was wearing what appeared to be a pink orchid and her smile spread across her face as she stood next to the plane in the minutes before Ray, then Wallingford, loped down the ramp at the rear of the aircraft.

LOST WEIGHT

According to Army Col. Joseph Israeloff, Wallingford "had lost considerable weight—he had been wounded."

Collins said Col. James Lamar, 45, whose wife, Gladys, lives in Little Rock, Ark., would be the next returnee at Wilford Hall, and would possibly arrive late this afternoon.

Lamar was first identified as a POW in a 1970 Hanoi broadcast. (See HURRAH, Pg. 2-A, Col. 4)

Adding Sunshine To Lives Of Elderly Is Aim Here

By JOHN EDWARDS
The first of Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) volunteers have begun work in Big Spring. "Just being here is the most important thing, really," Miss Nancy Easley, program director, said in an interview at the Big Spring Nursing Home. "Our idea is to make life a little brighter in these wards," said Mrs. Marshall Brown, one of the first volunteers. Activities with nursing home patients will include dominoes, bingo, crafts and arts and picnics when it gets warmer.

AT SALVATION ARMY
Wednesday, Miss Pearl J. Monroey, 207 1/2 E. 9th St., started work as a volunteer secretary-clerk at the Salvation Army. She plans to return more often than just that one day each week. "I told Major (Donald T.) Nelson I found it to be very fascinating," Miss Monroey said. Working here was her idea. Her assistance will allow Major and Mrs. Nelson to devote more time to visiting members of the church, shut-ins, residents of nursing homes and other work. Miss Easley hopes to have 75 retired persons over 60 years of age enrolled in the program by next December. There is no educational prerequisite to joining RSVP volunteers.

RSVP here serves Howard, Dawson and Mitchell counties. And Miss Easley divides her time between Big Spring, Lamesa and Colorado City. SHUT-IN, NOT OUT
Those who cannot leave home are being organized also. A program where shut-ins alternate calling each other daily is being organized. Volunteers shut-ins will help prepare mail for the approaching Cancer drive. And they will be asked to mail

San Dimas Parson Due At Meeting
The Rev. David Ray, a native of Texas, will visit Abilene March 7 for a Friendship Meeting. The program is scheduled for Holiday Inn, West Highway 80 and is to begin at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served. The Rev. Ray graduated from Abilene High School in 1954, served three years as a naval aviator, and completed his undergraduate work at Wayland College in Plainview, Tex. Before moving to San Dimas, Calif., a suburban area of Los Angeles, he pastored the First Congregational Church in Tulsa. Rev. Ray now is senior minister of the famed Valley Community Drive-In Church in San Dimas. The unique facility accommodates 1,000 worshippers in the glass sanctuary and another 1,200 in the drive-in section. In addition, he is founder-director of the non-denominational television and literature outreach of Inspirational Living.

Man At Liberty On Bond Here
A 30-year-old Colorado City man was released from Howard County Jail this morning on bonds totaling $1,500. A warrant had been issued by Mitchell County on a complaint of defrauding by worthless check. Bond of $1,000 was set in Big Spring although a complaint charging second offense driving while intoxicated was not yet filed here. Highway Patrolmen arrested the suspect at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

No Candidates For Forsan Posts
FORSAN — Three of five city council members face expiring terms, but no one has announced whether they will run for re-election. Mrs. Susan Gaston, John B. Anderson and Bobby S. Wash hold positions, which will be considered at the election held in conjunction with the school board election April 7. Mayor Curtis (Jack) Lamb said the deadline for filing for absentee voting at City Hall will run March 18-April 3.

WEATHER
NORTHWEST AND SOUTHWEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy north portion and increasing cloudiness south tonight with occasional light rain or snow. Partly cloudy north and considerable cloudiness south Friday with occasional light rain or snow. No important temperature changes. Low tonight 22 to 24. High Friday 28. Probability 62 extreme southwest.

Lamesa Speaks At Conference
D. L. Adcock, Lamesa farmer and ginmer, will be among the dozen Texans who will appear on the program of the two-day 1973 Western Cotton Production Conference in Lubbock March 7-8. Adcock will discuss the rick compactor as a factor in the cotton harvest. More than 400 producers are expected for the parley which will feature 25 major presentations by 18 speakers.

cast. His F105 jet was hit by anti-aircraft fire on a low-level mission over North Vietnam May 6, 1969.

Like Air Force Capt. Ray, he was assigned to Korat Air Base in Thailand. Military spokesmen said Wallingford's father, a retired lieutenant colonel, had left Oklahoma City Wednesday to see his son for the first time in almost three years.

Wallingford's mother, who now lives in Austin, also made the trip to Brooke Army Medical Center where Wallingford will be quartered in the suite once set aside for former President Lyndon Johnson. Mrs. Wallingford said she has been "floating on cloud nine."

Maxine Herndon, 21, of Houston, said she would be with Mrs. Wallingford this weekend in a reunion with the young man who said to his mother about her: "You mean she's not married yet."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ray of Conroe said their son had already seen his brother in the Philippines, when the brother, also an Air Force captain, managed to visit him at Clark and was present when James called home. Young Ray said he was fine, except for losing a tooth.

Brooke is readying itself for three more soldiers expected to be here by the weekend from Clark. They are, according to a spokesman, Spec. 4 Keith A. Albert, 23, of Thibodeaux, La.; CWO James F. Hestland, 23, of Oklahoma City and Capt. Johnnie Ray of Pauls Valley, Okla.

Bank Stock Split Voted

Stockholders of Security State Bank have approved a 2-1 stock split, J. D. Nelson, president, said today. The split was proposed at the end of 1972 subject to ratification of the stockholders at the annual meeting.

Members also returned the same board, which in turn named the same officers in the bank. Security State showed in excess of $10 million assets at the end of the year and had $275,000 in capital stock and $275,000 in certified surplus.

Renamed to the board were Marvin M. Miller, chairman, W. L. Wilson Jr., vice chairman, J. R. Anderson, D. A. Brazel, G. C. Broughton Jr., Joseph W. Burrell, Harold L. Davis, Ray K. Horton, W. K. Jackson, Richard Johnson, Guilford Jones, J. Arnold Marshall, J. D. Nelson, Dr. R. R. Ramsey, Dr. Clyde E. Thomas.

Officers are J. D. Nelson, president; Darlene Dabney, cashier; Lonnie Bartley, and Oneta McDaniels, assistant vice presidents, and Pat Young, assistant cashier.

'Mr. Peepers' Found Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Wally Cox, television's shy "Mr. Peepers," was found dead today in his Bel Air home, city firemen said. Firemen said they found the 48-year-old comedian dead about 7:45 a.m. after being summoned to the home. The cause of death was not immediately known.

Texas Women Take Over Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas legislators honored the women of Texas today, in fact turned the legislature over to them for half an hour. "It is the living women we honor today," said Speaker Price Daniel Jr. in opening remarks for Susan B. Anthony Day, which was observed by both the Senate and House by special resolution. All women employees of the legislature were special guests for the program honoring the woman suffrage leader of several decades ago.

EQUAL RIGHTS
"It is because of Susan B. Anthony and many women like her that women can now vote, that the equal rights amendment to the United States Constitution is near ratification," Daniel said. All women senators and representatives had a part on the program. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby sat on the stage as an observer. "There has never been a time of greater opportunity, or of greater need for contributions from every one," said Mrs. Dolph Briscoe, wife of the governor. "We women can make a significant contribution to the future of this great state."

Before the special program the House finally passed and sent to the Senate, on voice vote, a bill that would make state and local governments liable for property damage caused by official vehicles up to $10,000. Local governments could either buy insurance for protection or pay damages out of ad valorem taxes. Also passed to the Senate, on a 118-3 vote, a bill that would let about 15 school districts in the state borrow money to replace federal aid that has been withheld for impacted areas.

Also sent to the senate was a bill that would let cities with more than 5,000 population issue bonds without voter approval to improve city-owned ports. Wednesday afternoon the House quickly gave final approval to a watered down collective bargaining rights bill for fire fighters and policemen. There was none of the furor of earlier debate. It goes to the Senate for expected controversial consideration there in both committee and floor debate.

BARGAINING VOTE
The bargaining rights bill passed on a voice vote Wednesday, with no discussion, compared to nearly eight hours of heated arguments Monday and Tuesday. Before winning tentative approval, 104-88, on Tuesday, the bill was diluted with an amendment giving firemen and police officers bargaining power but only after approval from their local voters. Strikes would be prohibited, as they are now. Cities would have to pay firemen and policemen the wages prevailing in their area for comparable work.

FREE LUNCH
A House bill that would give teachers' duty-free lunch periods, at an estimated state and local cost of about $12 million a year, was postponed until March 19. Rep. Hilary Doran, D-Del Rio, raised a point of order that bills spending state money can not be considered ahead of the general appropriations bill, until after the first 70 days of a session. March 19 is the 70th day.

The Senate approved Wednesday, 26-4, and sent to the House a proposed constitution change giving cities and counties the right to protest creation of conservation and reclamation districts.

Pokes Prosper At El Paso

DENVER, Colo. — More than $22,500 was paid to winners at the Southwestern International Livestock Show rodeo in El Paso, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said. Six cowboys won more than $1,000 each during the five-day contest, which ended Sunday. Biggest winner was Bill Duvall, Checotah, Okla., who took the steer wrestling average of nine seconds for $1,411 altogether.

Among the event leaders of RCA are: All-around cowboy — Larry Mahan, Dallas, $7,362; and Doug Brown, Silverton, Ore., $6,586; saddle bronc riding — Mahan $3,254, and John Forbee, Kaycee, Wyo., $3,051; bareback bronc — Ace Berry, Modesto, Calif., $4,082, and Mahan $2,888; bull riding — Spunky Browne, Wilburton, Okla., $3,907, and Brown $3,732; calf roping — Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, $3,154, and Phil Lyne, George West, Tex., $6,398; steer wrestling — Billy Hale, Checotah, Okla., $5,089, and Bussy Kaul, Hereford, Tex., $4,132. GRA barrel racing — Jeana Day, Woodward, Okla., $1,330, and Terri Himes, Beulah, Colo., and Big Spring, Tex., $816.

Four Spots Open On School Board

COAHOMA — There will be four places to be filled on the Coahoma school board trustees election on April 7. Three of the places will be for a three-year term and one place will be for a one-year term. Wayne Leard, who has moved from the district, had one year remaining on his term. Board members re-filing for the election are A. D. Greenfield, O. D. O'Daniel Jr., and Donald Webb.

THEFTS

Mrs. Norman English at credit office of Montgomery Ward reported a stolen purse with cash and credit cards. Kathryn McKinsey, Gall Route, reported a 1964 car stolen at 423 Dallas. Julia Romas Abbott, 1500 Mesquite St., reported her purse containing a check book, driver's license and $40 was stolen or lost Sunday. Jimmy Stack, Gall Route, reported his wallet containing $40, a driver's license and pictures gone since Saturday.

'One Heckuva Snow Storm' In Panhandle

By The Associated Press
"One heckuva snow storm," as one observer described it, dumped a travel-stalling blanket on part of the Texas Panhandle today. Police dispatcher Raymond Root at Dumas relayed reports from motorists of 6 to 8 inches of snow southward toward Amarillo. Weather service radar spotted lighter snowfall from that area as far south as Childress and Plainview, where it appeared off to light flurries, and also between Vega and Dimmit in the same section.

"They tell us one heckuva storm hit from about 12 miles south of Dumas to the Canadian River bridge," Root said. "One truck driver said it took him from 11:05 p.m. to 2 a.m. to drive the 40 miles from Amarillo to Dumas." Aside from clouds spreading over the Lower Rio Grande Valley and a few patches of high clouds in far West Texas, skies were clear over the rest of the state.

It was downright chilly in most sections, with early morning temperatures as low as 15 degrees at Perryton in the northeast corner of the Panhandle—where skies were clear. Other cool spots included Abilene, Dalhart and Marfa 23, Wichita Falls 25, Amarillo 28, Wink 28, Midland 29, Childress, Dallas, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Lufkin, Mineral Wells and Waco 30, San Angelo 31 and El Paso, San Antonio, Texarkana and Tyler 32. Readings elsewhere ranged up to 47 at Brownsville on the south tip of the state.

Situation In Laos Is Normal

VIENTIANE (AP) — At the Vientiane airport, a Royal Air Lao turboprop comes down slowly over the Mekong River to land. The passengers rush to one side of the four-engine Electra to watch the white vapor trails of U.S. B52s high above returning to their base in Thailand after a bombing raid in northern Laos.

The plane lands and taxis past a four-engine Russian transport that has just disgorged a smaller AN10 plane from its cargo hold. The AN10 will fly a courier run to the headquarters of the Communist rebels, the Pathet Lao, in Sam Neua, 192 miles to the northeast.

chat with two government soldiers as they wait for a Pathet Lao bus to take them to the rebel headquarters, downtown opposite the morning market.

At Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma's modern green-and-white villa near the Mekong River, Phoumi Vongvichit, the secretary general of the Pathet Lao's political arm, arrives for a session of the long-running peace talks.

NO IT WON'T

A cease-fire will come Thursday, says one diplomat. No it won't, says another, it will be Saturday. He got the word from someone who knows someone who saw Souvanna the day before yesterday.

In short, the situation in Laos is normal, meaning confused. "Critical but not desperate," is the way one observer puts it.

"There is less to Laos than meets the eye," says one diplomat sipping a Ricard in Le Spot, Vientiane's only discotheque, where shapely young daughters of Lao generals dance with their French boyfriends to the deafening sound of a Thai band.

But for many, many others the war is a sad matter.

Laos, a buffer state between the Thais and the Vietnamese and a corridor between North and South Vietnam, has been wracked by more than 10 years of fighting between rival Laotian factions and between the adversaries of the Vietnam war.

A kingdom of only 2.6 million people, it has had at least 50,000 of them killed. The Lao army is reduced to conscripting 14-year-olds.

There are about 600,000 refugees from U.S. bombing and North Vietnamese shelling, half of them being cared for by U.S. aid.

The country is bankrupt. Its exports come to only one-seventh of its imports, and the $188 million U.S. aid it gets every year is more than the gross national product.

NEW PRESSURE

The Pathet Lao, backed by 65,000 North Vietnamese, control three-fourths of the country and half the population. In recent weeks, they have put heavy new pressure on weakened government forces and consolidated their hold.

U.S. warplanes continue to fly up to 100 strikes a day in support of the Laotian army.

The air strikes are called in by U.S. Air Force forward air controllers based at Nakorn Phanom, on the Thai side of the Mekong within artillery range of Communist forces at Thakhek.

U.S. advisers are still in the field with units of the Lao army, irregulars, Thai mercenaries and Gen. Vang Pao's so-called clandestine army that is financed and ramrodded by CIA men.

The Vietnam cease-fire agreement says that "foreign countries shall put an end to all military activities in Cambodia and Laos" and that the "internal affairs of Cambodia and Laos shall be settled by the people of each of these countries without foreign interference." So a cease-fire agreement between the government and the Pathet Lao should mean — at least on paper — an end to the American and North Vietnamese involvement.

COMPLICATED

A political settlement is more complicated. The Pathet Lao claim to represent two of the three factions which the 1962 Geneva accords recognized for inclusion in a coalition government: neutralists, rightists and leftists.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, a neutralist at that time, now claims to represent the neutralists and rightists. But it is reported that Souvanna has agreed to 50 per cent Pathet Lao representation in the government, with the rightists getting six cabinet seats; the leftists, six; and the six neutralist seats being evenly divided between Souvanna's faction and the pro-Pathet-Lao faction.

But nobody professes to know what Souvanna's role would be.

NATIONAL MERIT FINALIST—Senior Marie Boadle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boadle, is presented a certificate as a National Merit Finalist by Roger Tucker, high school counselor.

Marie Boadle Eligible For Scholarship Event

Marie Boadle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boadle, 2505 Fisher, was named a National Merit Scholarship finalist according to word received by John Smith, principal of Big Spring High School.

The senior girl from Big Spring joins 14,500 seniors across America who will now compete for approximately 3,000 National Merit Scholarships.

Marie was the only semifinalist from Big Spring to advance to the status of finalist competition.

Board Gives Up In Hair Fight

SNYDER — Snyder school trustees apparently threw in the sponge, the scissors and the hair clippers Wednesday when they suspended the school's dress code section regulating the length of boys' hair.

The new proposal, as presented by the student council, provides that boys' hair should be neat, clean and well-groomed. Hair length should be left to the parents and the individual. Sideburns and mustaches are acceptable, provided they are neat and trim.

To Share Proceeds

Twenty-five per cent of the proceeds from the 4T Ranch field day Feb. 20 at 1 p.m. in Georgetown will go to the Cattlemen's Roundup for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene. The sale will feature semen from 25 outstanding Charolais sires. Individuals unable to attend are invited to bid on any of the vials by writing the 4-T ranches.

School Pacts Are Extended

COAHOMA — Principals of the school and the athletic director have had their contracts extended.

The Coahoma Independent School District board at its meeting this week extended contracts of Bill Easterling, high school principal, Rob Ethridge, junior high principal, and W. A. Fishback, elementary principal, through 1975.

The contract of Norman Roberts, athletic director, also was extended through 1975.

The board also approved the makeup of five days lost due to bad weather.

These include the past Monday, which would have been an off day, Monday, March 19, Monday, April 23, and Thursday and Friday, May 24-25. The school term ends on May 25, 1973. Teacher in-service sessions will be held on Saturdays, said W. A. Wilson, superintendent.

Named as an equalization board by the trustees were Buddy Barr, Pete Banks and H. C. Wallin, with Jasper Gibson and Earl Hull as alternates.

Trade Practices Bill Moves Along

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Senate Human Resources Committee has approved a bill that would allow the attorney general to recover damages for victims of deceptive trade practices or advertising.

The committee voted 9-1 Wednesday night in favor of the bill after amending it to exempt insurance companies except where they practice deception outside regulations adopted by the State Insurance Board.

Insurance lobbyists Robert Sneed and Will Davis of Austin urged the committee to exempt the insurance industry because otherwise it would be subjected to dual control.

Earlier in the six-hour hearing, Atty. Gen. John Hill argued for the bill, saying the insurance industry should be included. Any broad-based consumer bill should not exclude the insurance industry, he said.

On the need for the bill, Hill said all his office can do today is file a motion for injunction to stop the deceptive trade practice or advertising.

"We can't get any relief for a citizen, and that's all he or she is interested in."

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, would allow the attorney general to seek actual damages, treble damages, attorney's fees, court costs and punitive damages for deceptive trade practices.

"We can't tolerate, we shouldn't tolerate the people who contrive to operate businesses to deceive the public," Hill said.

Among those who testified against the bill was Gene Fondren, representing the Texas Automobile Dealers Association.

"Regrettably, some of the complaints about our products or our ability to service those products are justified," Fondren said.

He was not opposed to the entire bill, he said, but he did object to punitive damages in addition to all the other penalties it provided.

"It is possible, without setting out on a deliberate course to find yourself in trouble" with the multitude of governmental rules businessmen must live with, Fondren said.

Herbert G. Tigner of Houston, who said he was president of several insurance companies, spoke of the "utterly ruthless clobbering that would be inflicted (by the bill) on a man trying to build an organization from the beginning."

"It's a miracle if you win a lawsuit if you are an insurance company, whether you're right or wrong," Tigner said.

Fem Would Solve Energy Crisis With Electricity

Dale Stice, Midland, attorney for Forrest Oil Corp., defined "the energy crisis" for Downtown Lions Club members Wednesday, and made a pitch for the majority unification bill now before the Texas legislature.

He spoke at the club's Wednesday luncheon at the Settles, illustrating his address with slides prepared by the Texas Midcontinent Oil and Gas Association.

The growing gap between reserves and leap-frogging demands is frightening, he said. Equally frightening to him was that not all people in the nation are aware of this. He illustrated:

"One woman said she was not worried about the oil and gas shortage, she would just switch to electricity," said Stice. "In Texas, 97 per cent of the electricity generated comes from oil and gas. At the national level, 80 per cent comes from fossil fuels."

Projecting to 1985, he said that the glamorized but yet largely undeveloped nuclear fuels would increase from its present one per cent to perhaps 11 per cent of the nation's electric power. Coal will about hold its own, but unless national energy policies change oil and gas will diminish.

Besides, said Stice, the percentage of domestically produced petroleum will decline — unless there is a reversal, from the present 75 per cent of total consumption today to 40 per cent in 1985. This, he added, would jeopardize national security in case of an emergency.

Beyond this, the economic stability of the country and particularly this area depends upon a program of exploration and development of new and existing oil supplies, he noted.

The Hightower-Finley bills (SB 120 and HB 311) now before the legislature would be a step in the direction of increasing the percentage of recoverable oil in already proven reserves. Currently, nearly 100 per cent of all interests must agree to unitize, and this is almost impossible," he said. The measure would provide that when 75 per cent of operators and working interests agree, with concurrence of the Texas Railroad Commission, then a field or portion of a field could be unitized to promote secondary and other means of greater recovery of oil.

Jack Lemons, president, said that there are now seven entries in the club's queen contest, which will be next Wednesday. The board meets Thursday 6:30 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club.

BS Schools Must Comply With Kindergarten Rules

In 1970, the state legislature set up a gradual kindergarten program which will make kindergarten available to all Texas five year olds by 1978.

The first three years of the program were designed to include only those five year olds considered educationally deprived due to a language handicap, or from a family with a low income by State Board of Education standards.

This program has been in progress in Big Spring those three years. Another phase of the program is added next September.

For the first time, some five year olds will be included who are not among the language handicapped or economic deprived.

For the next two years, children who are five years, seven months old will also be offered kindergarten. This means that any five year old born after Sept. 2, 1967 and prior to Feb.

1, 1968 may attend kindergarten here next year.

STATE MAKES RULES

The local school does not set up this requirement, Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent pointed out. The requirements are set up and funded by the state and the local schools can no more diversify from this than they can the rule of a child's being six by Sept. 1 for the first grade.

"We don't make the rules, we simply try to abide by them," Hise added. Last week, the school sent out notices to parents and some of the parents have indicated that they do not understand the cutoff deadline.

"The school officials may not completely understand the selection of the cutoff deadline either, but they are instructed to go by it," Hise pointed out.

Starting in 1975, the change drops to five years, four months and by 1977 and thereafter, kindergartens will be open to all five year olds.

MARRIAGE NOT LEGAL

Cannibalism Is Still Practiced

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The adventure of Wyn Sargent, an American writer-photographer who married a tribal chief in the jungles of West Irian, ended today. The Indonesian government ordered her to leave Indonesia by Saturday.

Miss Sargent, a tall, slim woman in her 40s, said in a telephone interview she had exciting moments during her 4 1/2-month experience among one of the most primitive and savage tribes in the world, "where cannibalism is still practiced."

AXE FOR THE CHIEF

She said her Jan. 8 marriage to Obaharok, a tribal chief from the territory of Siapakosi Muliame near the muddy frontier town of Wamena in the central highlands of the Baliem Valley, was not legal "for both of us agreed not to legalize the marriage."

"When I first tried to see Obaharok, he had 30 warriors around the village to keep foreigners out. But I brought three gifts — an axe, a long knife and a spade — for the chief," she said, "and he was overwhelmed."

"I married Obaharok to bring the three savage warring tribes to live together in peace and harmony. And it was only a traditional wedding," Miss Sargent said she spent some exciting time trying to bring the hostile tribes together in friendship in the jungle region by becoming a blood sister to two tribal chiefs and by going through a traditional wedding with Obaharok.

BLASTS SEX RUMOR

"They cut my wrist and the wrists of the other two chiefs, bled them together with my hands and thus made us blood brothers and sister," Miss Sargent related.

She was expelled from the jungle area because the military command felt her activities were "detrimental to the development of the region."

Miss Sargent claimed the warring savage tribes of Analoga, Wiyagoba and Siapakosi, Multama terrorists, are now living in peace and harmony.

Miss Sargent, a widow from Huntington Beach, Calif., said she first came to West Irian to take pictures and study the life of the West Irian tribes and "certainly not to study the sex life of the tribes."

"I only need 50 days more to complete my work so that I can say with satisfaction that my work has brought peace and harmony among the hostile tribes," she added.

Chicken, Pizza, Steak And Enchiladas Popular

By ANN STEVENS

Man does not live by bread alone, but also by corn dogs, hamburgers and chicken fried steak.

At least that is what Ray Lawlis, director of cafeteria services for the Big Spring Independent School District, will tell you.

Lawlis is responsible for making out menus by which some 4,000 Big Spring school children can gain adequate nourishment and hopefully contentment for 40-45 cents a day.

With the spiraling costs of food today, particularly that of meat, this is not an easy job, especially when there are state nourishment requirements to be met.

4,000 EAT

Lawlis estimated that an average of 4,000 of the 7,000 children in the district eat in the cafeterias each day.

State daily requirements for lunch is called the "Type A" lunch include two ounces of protein (meat, fish or cheese-three-fourths cup of fruit and/or vegetable, milk, one roll or slice of bread and one-half teaspoon butter.

"We usually exceed the required amounts every day. For instance, we try to give each child two rolls a day, whereas only one is required," Lawlis said.

Foods which have been determined as very popular in the elementary schools are corn dogs and hamburgers. The favorites of secondary school students are chicken fried steak, fried chicken, pizza and enchiladas.

Claiming the dubious honor of least-liked food by the students are green vegetables such as spinach and broccoli.

Food for the district is purchased from various wholesale distributors at an estimated cost for 1972-73 of $297,000.

STARTING AT 7

Menus are planned two weeks in advance. Some 36 cooks prepare food for the 16 schools in five kitchens. Food preparations begins each school day at 7 a.m., continuing through the morning until serving time, which begins shortly after 11 in all the schools.

Kitchens are located at Marcy Elementary, Bauer Elementary, Runnels Junior High, Goliad Junior High and Big Spring High. The prepared food is transported in thermostatically controlled containers in side vans to the schools without kitchens. Transporting begins at 9:30 each morning.

With the cost of a lunch 40 cents in the elementaries and 45 cents in the secondary schools, the school district about breaks even, Lawlis said.

ALSO SNACK BARS

The federal government reimburses the district some eight cents per 40-cent lunch served.

Interracial Marriages Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau reported today a significant increase in interracial marriages between the 1960 and 1970 official population counts.

The bureau said the 1970 census showed a total of 16,419 black men who had married for the first time during the decade and whose marriages were still intact had married white women.

In 1960, it said, a similar report showed only 7,534 such marriages occurred in the previous decade.

The number of white men with black wives whose recent first marriages were still intact totaled 7,352 in 1970 compared with 6,082 in 1960, the report said.

The total of all interracial marriages with black husbands and white wives was 41,223 in 1970 compared with 25,496 in 1960. The bureau said this total was irrespective of the year in which the marriages took place.

In the free lunch program, in which Lawlis estimates a third of the children participate, the government reimburses the district 40 cents per lunch.

Besides the regular Type A lunches, cafeterias in the junior high and high school also include snack bars which serve hamburgers, French fries, Cokes, etc.

Lawlis said that probably 25 per cent of the junior high and high school students buy snack bar food in place of or in addition to the regular hot lunches.

"The snack bar lunch does compete with the Type A lunch. Some kids spend as much or more at the snack bar for 'junk' as they would getting a regular lunch," Lawlis said.

Reason for having snack bars seems to be the closed campuses at the three secondary schools. This is also the reason why students in the upper level schools get a choice of two meats in the regular lunch.

FEW BRING SACKS

Lawlis said that probably not more than three per cent of the students bring sack lunches, because it costs their mothers more to pack a lunch at going food prices than the 40 cents it would cost for a child to buy a school lunch.

Besides the 36 cooks, the district employs some 73 other persons as cook helpers, servers, dishwashers, cashiers and managers.

Of course, after all the purchasing, menu planning and food preparation, there is one perennial pea under the mattress — student complaints.

"It kinda burns you," Lawlis confessed. "I guess they expect steak every day, but you do the best you can."

HIGHER PRICES Devaluation Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 10-per-cent dollar devaluation will mean higher U.S. prices for such popular items as Japanese tape recorders, German automobiles and French wines.

And, if it works out, U.S. businessmen will find their products more competitive in foreign countries.

The effect of a devaluation is to make the cost of foreign goods more expensive, since the dollar will buy less internationally, and the price of U.S. goods cheaper in foreign markets.

But this won't necessarily be universal. Monday's devaluation may not have that impact on Canadian and British goods, since both these countries have floating currencies, meaning their values are dependent on the market from day to day.

FACE TO FACE

The prices in these instances depend on what happens to the dollar face-to-face with the values of those currencies.

But West Germany and France are keeping a fixed rate of value for their currencies. Thus, a $2,000 German car theoretically should cost $200 more, and a $5 bottle of French wine, 50 cents more.

It's not always this simple, however. Some companies find ways to cut their profits to hold down prices and maintain a share of the U.S. market.

Most Americans won't notice that a devaluation has taken place unless they're planning a foreign trip and are ready to trade in their dollars for foreign currency.

But a devaluation will have its domestic impact just the same. It contributes to the rate of inflation by raising import prices.

HARD TIME

How much impact on inflation is hard to measure. Imports make up about 6 per cent of total domestic economic output, however.

The effect on U.S. jobs, a long-range factor, is even harder to measure. If the U.S. move proves successful, imports would be slowed and exports stimulated. The slowing of imports presumably would save some industries having a hard time competing against foreign goods. Export stimulation means more business, and thus more jobs.

But devaluations always take a long time to show a favorable impact in this way. It may be a year, two years or longer.

What the United States is hoping for is a turnaround in the big deficit in its balance of trade, which rose to a record $6.5 billion in 1972.

The latest devaluation also could speed up the process of reforming the shattered world monetary system, as well as worldwide trade negotiations.

INTERNAL REVENUE CORNER Dishonest Tax Preparers And How To Spot Them

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers. Q. Is it true that this year's Federal income tax return asks questions related to Federal revenue sharing?

A.) Yes. Your 1972 Form 1040 and short Form 1040A ask two questions related to the sharing of Federal money with state and local governments. One question asks the location of your principal place of residence (state, county, locality and township); the second question asks for the number of your dependents who are filing a return of their own or who did not live at your principal place of residence at the end of 1972.

You must supply the correct information in your answers to these questions to ensure that your state, county and local community receive their rightful share of revenue sharing funds.

Q.) Does every taxpayer have to give his state, county, locality and township in answering the revenue sharing question on place of residence?

A.) All of this information may not be required. Only certain states have townships and these are specified in your tax form instructions. If your state is not listed there, you can leave this column of your tax return blank. Secondly, there are a few places, such as Baltimore City, Md. and St. Louis, Mo., that are not within a county. Once again, these areas are listed in your instructions.

Unless you lived outside the U.S. on Dec. 31, 1972, you must enter the abbreviation for your state in the column provided. In addition, if you lived inside an incorporated city, town, or village, print the name of the municipality in the "locality" column. If you did not live inside the boundaries of such a location, check the box in this column.

Q.) Can you give me some tips on how to guard against dishonest tax preparers.

A.) The IRS offers the following advice to taxpayers seeking assistance from commercial income tax return preparers: never sign a blank return; do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil because it can be changed later; do not allow your refund check to be mailed to the preparer; avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles; and avoid the preparer who advises a taxpayer to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income.

In addition, taxpayers should insist that the tax preparer sign the return he prepares and enter his tax identifying number. Finally, be sure to keep a copy of your return.

Q.) What are the rules for deducting finance charges on department store revolving charge accounts?

A.) You may deduct the "finance charge" levied by retail stores on your revolving charge accounts if the charges are based on your unpaid balances and computed monthly. Also, in the case of bank credit card plans, you can deduct the finance charge if no part of this amount is for service charges, loan fees, credit investigation fees, etc.

However, if you buy items on the installment plan and the carrying charges are separately stated, but the interest charge cannot be ascertained, deduct the lower of (1) 6 per cent of your average unpaid monthly balance or (2) the actual charge for the year. For more details, see IRS Publication 545, "Income Tax Deduction for Interest Expense." Use the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a free copy.

Q.) I had no income tax liability for 1972, but I'm filing a return to recover income tax withheld from my pay. Can I still designate $1 of the tax withheld towards the Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

A.) No. You can only make the $1 check-off if you had an income tax liability. This does not mean that because you are getting a refund, you can't use the $1 check-off, but it does mean that you must be able to show tax on line 20 of your Form 1040 or line 21 of your short Form 1040A to use the check-off.

Film Benefits Local Drive

The Howard County Association for Retarded Children is conducting its third annual fund raising drive. Tickets costing $1.50 each for adults and children are being sold for the color movie, "Hey, I'm Yogie Bear." Two color cartoons will also be shown in the Big Spring High School auditorium at the 7 p.m. showing Monday, April 16. Proceeds from the ticket sales will go toward sending children to the Prude Ranch at Fort Davis and sending some to the Texas Olympics for Retarded Children.

Money is being saved, also, to build a workshop or center for retarded children. Tickets are being sold to organizations and individuals in advance. So far, about 600 tickets have been sold but spokesmen said sales were behind.

Those interested in purchasing tickets may call 263-8346. Mrs. Preston Bridges is president of the association locally. Her phone number is 263-6797.

Family Support Act Projected

WASHINGTON — Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, has introduced legislation to enable the nationwide court system to enforce child support orders issued by State courts; thus lowering welfare costs.

In offering "The Federal Family Support Act," Tower said the measure would "begin to resolve the problem of soaring welfare costs." He said the bill would "help break the poverty cycle for many of our nation's families with dependent children" and "attack the root of the problem facing many families now receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)."

The proposal would impose criminal penalties to up to $2,500 fine or imprisonment, or both, of up to three years for parents who travel across state lines to avoid compliance with court-ordered child support.

Court Awards Car To DPS

The Texas Department of Public Safety won ownership of a 1971 Plymouth through a 118th District Court ruling Wednesday afternoon.

District Judge R. W. Caton ruled that Michael Keith Fryar, 1406 E. 18th St., lost title to the car on the basis of a statute dating since 1955, which permits seizure of vehicles used to hold or transport narcotics.

In his motion to see the car forfeited, District Attorney Robert H. Moore III claimed the vehicle was used to "facilitate possession of contraband narcotics."

Guilford L. Jones, defense attorney, announced his intention to appeal.

A complaint charging his client with possession of marijuana will be considered by the grand jury convening this morning.

Highway Patrolman John Ferguson arrested Fryar one mile north of Big Spring on Farm Road 700 on Jan. 17.

TO MAKE ARM TWISTING A CRIME

'Legislative Bribery' Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Speaker Price Daniel Jr. has moved quickly to undo a committee decision weakening his bill to make certain kinds of legislative arm twisting a crime.

Daniel called Chairman Bob Vale, D-San Antonio, of the House Rules Committee after learning of the committee action and later said the committee would reconsider on Monday.

The committee voted Wednesday to stand on the floor a complete rewrite of Daniel's "legislative bribery" bill, sponsored by Rep. Bob Hendricks, D-McKinney.

PROMISES
In place of Daniel's detailed listing of acts that would constitute "legislative bribery" in behalf of speaker candidates, the committee bill refers only to bribery in the sense of money, gifts or promises of employment. Penalties would range from two to five years in prison.

Daniel said he was unaware of the committee action until The Associated Press asked for comment.

"The committee is going to reconsider its vote on Monday and take another look at it. I hope it (the revised bill) will be stronger than it is. I hope to get back what I had originally," Daniel said in an interview.

He added that he planned to lobby the members of the committee between now and Monday.

BLOCKED
Daniel's original bill was designed to stop the use of a speaker's or other representative's power over legislation to secure votes in speaker races—a major criticism of former Speaker Gus Mutscher's administration.

House members choose one of their own number as speaker at the beginning of each legislative session.

The original bill would have prohibited anyone from offering, threatening or agreeing to cause a legislative action, such as passage or defeat of a bill, in return for votes for speaker. It also would have forbidden deals that would "confer any economic benefit on any person in exchange for votes for speaker."

Rep. Ray Hutchison, R-Dallas, tried to delay action on the substitute bill for a week.

A voice vote on tabling his motion was taken. The "ayes" and "noes" sounded about equal, but Vale quickly declared, "The ayes have it," and the postponement was blocked.

Texarkana Kidnaper Shot Down
TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — "He cut me and I got mad, mommy. I didn't cry. I kicked him in the face," said 9-year-old Barry Johnson Wednesday, his mother reported, after a night of horror.

The youngster and his mother, Mrs. Jimmy Johnson, 32, were kidnapped Tuesday night by a man whose proposal of marriage was turned down by Mrs. Johnson. Officers said the boy's throat was cut and Mrs. Johnson tied up.

Not long thereafter, Michael Hilliard, 26, of Texarkana, Texas, was hit with a volley of police bullets. He died about two hours later in a hospital.

Texarkana, Ark., Police Chief John Butler said Hilliard was hit by three .357 Magnum bullets — once in the chest, once in the stomach and once in the right temple.

Relating the incidents in an interview, Mrs. Johnson said, "He took me into another room and tied my hands behind my back, tied my feet and gagged me, telling me not to call police and he would be back later to talk. I broke the tape on my feet and ran to a nearby service station for help."

A patrolman, testifying at a coroner's inquest, which ruled justifiable homicide in Hilliard's death, said Mrs. Johnson told officers that Hilliard had asked her to marry him, and that when she refused, the violence began.

Butler said Mrs. Johnson told police that Hilliard took her and her son Barry out to eat, at which time the marriage proposal apparently was made, and next took them to a vacant apartment where he gagged her and the child with tape.

Police said Mrs. Johnson told them she was able to escape and ran to a service station on the state line dividing this border city and called police.

After getting a description of Hilliard's car, two patrolmen spotted the vehicle parked behind the service station.

"When they pulled up behind the car, Hilliard jumped out firing," Butler said. "He fired pointblank at the officers but missed them. The patrolmen returned the fire, knocking Hilliard to the ground."

Butler said the patrolmen found the child locked in the trunk of Hilliard's car. "The child said, 'He cut my throat,'" Butler said.

Butler said the child was slashed "from ear to ear" with what was believed to have been a razor. He underwent surgery late Tuesday night and was listed in fair condition at a hospital.

Three Men Taken To State Prison
A sheriff's deputy took three persons convicted of felonies to the Texas Department of Corrections facilities in Huntsville Wednesday.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said another man serving time there will be interviewed in connection with a burglary but declined to immediately disclose which burglary was the subject of the interview.

Transferred to prison were Michael Ralph Green and Henry Webster, both of whom were convicted of drug charges, and Robert F. Rutherford, whose probation was revoked Tuesday. Rutherford was sentenced to four years.

Discrimination Plain Stupid?

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Two 30-second commercials about a common female complaint are scheduled to be broadcast here this weekend on WCBS-TV. They'll try to sell an idea instead of a product.

Their message is that job discrimination because of sex is just plain stupid. The commercials, called public service announcements, are being shown at no cost to the sponsor.

The sponsor is the National Organization for Women NOW, an activist women's rights group that hopes CBS' four other television stations and other broadcasters will run the ads.

Both commercials are low-key. One shows a baby girl, with an off-screen female voice saying: "This healthy, normal baby had a handicap: She was born female."

"When she grows up, her job opportunities will be limited and her pay low," the voice says, adding that job discrimination based on sex is both illegal and a waste of human resources.

The other commercial illustrates the waste by showing a young woman, with a college degree and academic honors, being interviewed by a man in the personnel department.

"You know, of course, that we start all our girls in the typing pool," he tells her.

The commercials, filmed last October at CBS' owned-and-operated station in Philadelphia, were put together by NOW members with the CBS Television network footing the production costs.

They came after two years of work by NOW members to find a way of starting a free national campaign to get their message across to the public, says Midge Kovacs, a NOW official here.

Although WCBS-TV officials say they'll run the ads, their counterparts at CBS-owned stations in Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago and Los Angeles still have to decide if they'll carry them.

But at least it's a start, says Midge Kovacs.

"We hope these announcements will raise questions in people's minds as to women's role in our society and if women have been fairly treated," she said.

Good News For Boaters

DALLAS (AP) — A spokesman for the Corps of Engineers said today that the corps will not charge for use of boats on lakes it manages.

The spokesman said that a statement in the Federal Register apparently had been misinterpreted to mean that the corps would charge as much as $5 a day for allowing privately-owned boats to operate on corps-managed lakes.

Instead, said the spokesman, the fees will be in case some individual or group wishes to rent a boat from some federal agency such as the Forest Service.

Rumors that individuals who have boats will be charged a fee became widespread recently and caused considerable concern among boat owners.

The spokesman said the corps does not own any boats and thus has none to rent. He said federal law requires the corps to allow free access to lakes.

The corps spokesman also said that Federal Register mention of fees for use of boat ramps probably will not apply anywhere in Texas. He said the reference was to certain machines used to get boats into and out of the water.

Proposed POWs - Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new car, a vacation in the Bahamas and free advice from a psychic who reads the future are among the grab bag of gifts proposed for the returning prisoners of war.

Dozens of offers from private industry, organizations, groups and individuals are flowing into the Pentagon. Each is being screened for "appropriateness and legitimacy," says Capt. A. R. Hawkins, head of the Pentagon's Office of Community Relations.

Defense Department regulations prohibit members of the armed forces from accepting gifts from a person or firm doing business with the Pentagon, but beyond that the men will be free to accept what they want.

Hawkins says the chief concern is that the repatriated prisoners not be exploited or be used in endorsements for products.

Each man will be informed of the offers after leaving the military hospital to which he will be shipped, and "it will then become a personal matter between the man, his family and the person or organization making the offer," Hawkins said in an interview.

In addition to these gifts, the 31 stateside hospitals at which the freed POWs will be treated have received numerous offers of assistance.

A bottling company wants to provide free soda machines at one hospital. At another, free television sets were offered.

The commanding officer in each of these hospitals will decide whether to accept these offers.

Hawkins would not disclose names of the prospective donors or discuss in detail the gifts being offered returning servicemen.

Cent Can Save Motorist $2 In State Inspection

There isn't much to be had for a penny these days, but Texas motorists are advised by the Tire Industry Safety Council that one cent could save them two dollars or more.

Every car in Texas must now have its tires inspected for proper tread depth as part of annual motor vehicle inspections under a new state law effective Jan. 1, 1973.

Each inspection costs $2, and the owner of a car rejected because of bald tires will have to pay another $2 to get his car reinspected plus, of course, the price of new tires, according to the council.

A motorist can check to see if his tires meet the tread requirements of 1-16 inch by inserting a penny into the tread groove of the tire. If the top of Lincoln's head is visible in two or more adjacent grooves, the tire has worn to the minimum.

Tires also have built-in "wear bars" which indicate when the tread is worn out. These bars appear as smooth bands running across the tread face when the tread has worn to the minimum depth.

The car inspector at one of the some 30 inspection stations here in Big Spring said that most of the cars he has checked so far have passed the tire tread test.

"That 1-16" requirement is pretty low. Most people replace their tires before they get that low," said the inspector at S & S Wheel Alignment.

Studies show that bald tires are up to 44 times more likely to suffer disintegration as new tires. The risk of skidding is doubled with bald tires.

Safety experts have long held that every third car on the road is riding on at least one bald tire. If this estimate holds true for Texas, it may be that 1.8 million passenger cars in the state represent a highway hazard.

West's preemptive bid of four hearts made it extremely difficult for his opponents to probe for their best contract. North's holding fully warrants a double and although at this level it is intended primarily for penalties, partner is at liberty to take it out if he has sufficient distributional values.

South was unwilling to settle for whatever profit was available in defending against West's bid and since a scientific investigation could not be inaugurated at such an advanced level, he decided to gamble out a slam by proceeding directly to six spades.

West opened the king of hearts and South won the trick in his hand with the ace. The anemic trump holding in the dummy was a distinct disappointment to the declarer. He would gladly have traded one of North's minor suit kings for the king of spades.

South's sole concern was to limit his loss in the trump suit to one trick. The normal procedure with nine cards is to play the ace and then lead up to the jack. If the suit is divided evenly, or if East holds a singleton king or queen, the defense wins only one trick.

West's preemptive bid indicated that he had either a seven or eight card heart suit which made it unlikely that he held three spades. In fact, of the two defenders, he was the one more likely to be short in that suit. South decided therefore to make an unorthodox play in trumps which might improve his prospects if West had a spade honor.

The north hand was entered with the king of clubs and the jack of spades was led. Thinking that declarer was about to take a finesse, East covered with the king. South played the ace and West dropped the queen. The nine of spades dislodged East's ten and this was the only trick taken by the defense because South drew the seven of spades with the eight when he regained the lead and claimed the rest.

Perhaps East should not have covered the jack of spades, particularly since the trump suit appeared to offer the only prospect for the defense to score any tricks—however, declarer earns our praise for a well calculated play. Observe that, if West's lone spade is the ten, then the jack is the only lead that will enable South legitimately to limit his loss in the trump suit to one trick.

Hunting, Fishing Fees Hike Shapes

AUSTIN (AP) — A House committee indicated Wednesday it will act quickly on a bill to raise hunting and fishing license fees, which received support from a major Texas sportsmen's organization.

The bill was sent to a subcommittee along with several proposed changes, with instructions to report back to the full House Environmental Affairs Committee next Wednesday.

If the bill passes both Houses in its present form, resident fishing license fees would be increased from $2.15 to $4.25 a year. General hunting licenses would increase from $3.25 to $5.25. A new small game license, which would not entitle one to hunt deer or other large animals would cost $4.25.

Rep. Ben Atwell, D-DeSoto, said the added revenue is needed to increase up the special fund that pays for many of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's game management and regulation activities.

He said the fund has a projected deficit of $6.4 million as of Aug. 31, 1974.

"Most of the sportsmen want to pay this because of the results they get," Atwell said. He said fast action is necessary because the new license fees would take effect Sept. 1, and the department needs four or five months to design and print new license forms.

Cecil Reid, executive director of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, testified in favor of the bill "simply because the department will be broke if we don't get some money."

He said $3 million was "siphoned off" the fund for "a worthless fish pass" near Corpus Christi. The pass was opposed by some members of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

There was no opposition testimony.

Executive And Congress In Conflict From Start

By OMAR BURLESON,
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The impoundment of funds by the President is nothing particularly new. Every President since Thomas Jefferson has at times and to some extent declined to spend money appropriated by Congress.

The present head-on collision between the White House and the Congress runs more deeply than just the refusal of Mr. Nixon to spend funds for certain purposes.

Primarily, there are three issues. The first is the President's Constitutional power as commander-in-chief to commit the Armed Forces in an undeclared war such as those in Korea and Vietnam.

THE SECOND underlying controversy, is the executive selecting the particular programs to be cut or eliminated.

Thirdly, are the miseries of Congress over what is considered to be an abuse by the White House of "Executive Privilege." This simply means the refusal to allow members of the executive establishment to testify before congressional committees.

The controversy on the war-making power is particularly an issue in the U.S. Senate but sniffs over into the House of Representatives, as it did in the last Session of the Congress. Nothing was done but a measure has been reintroduced to require specific congressional authorization within 30 days of any commitment of American troops to combat. If the consent of Congress was not cleared, the President would be required to call off any hostilities immediately.

This facet of the argument comes in conflict with the constitutional power of the President as commander-in-chief of our Armed Forces. It is an awkward situation to say that the President could impound money earmarked for National defense but has no similar right as chief executive to touch other federal appropriations.

ON THE MATTER of executive privilege, a number of eminent lawyers doubt that this long-established principle is in reality, constitutional law. There are those who think the privilege has been abused to protect administrations from embarrassment and to keep vital information from the public.

EVEN MORE profound in its significance, is President Nixon's proposal to reverse the flow of power to Washington from State and local government. He proposes to dismantle certain grant-in-aid programs and substitute direct grants in some form of revenue sharing to local governments. He says this would put power back where it belongs — in the hands of the people being served.

THESE ARE really the underlying issues in the controversy now raging and Mr. Nixon, like presidents before him, will find it difficult to dismantle any large part of the federal bureaucracy. If he does there will have to be clear evidence that local governments will receive federal funds to assist the poor, the elderly, public education, and other programs expected and demanded by the people — and not look otherwise to Washington.

HANDFULL OF MEN DID SURVIVE Custer's Last Stand

By SUE KENNEDY
Capitol News Service

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — So you think nobody returned from the Battle of the Little Big Horn in 1876, better known as Custer's (as well as 225 soldiers') Last Stand.

Lt. Col. George A. Custer's horse was supposedly the lone survivor, sighted by Indians several days later. Watching aghast, they thought the spirit of the "Great White Father" had returned for vengeance.

LITTLE-KNOWN
But a little-known historical fact is that a handful of Custer's company was listed as survivors.

While the battle raged in the valley of southeastern Montana Territory, south of the Yellowstone River, the supply train of the 7th U.S. Cavalry Regiment came winding through the valley on the steamboat Far West.

And a onetime Springfield resident who lived to tell his story to his children was on that steamer.

It's not too often one comes across living history books, but Mrs. Margaret Brinkman and her 92-year-old father, John Brinkman, are the direct descendants of William H. Brinkman, formerly of Springfield. He had been assigned to commissary duty in Custer's 7th at Ft. Lincoln, Neb., in 1871.

"Custer was supposed to wait for the supply train," Mrs. Brinkman stated. "But grandpa was late. That's why he didn't get killed, too."

A large reproduction of the battleground hangs on a living room wall.

LITTLE BIG HORN BIBLE — John Brinkman, son of a survivor of Custer's Last Stand, holds a Bible that was used in a wedding ceremony just before the legendary 1876 massacre.

WITH A CROSS
"We used to have an original oil hanging in dad's 'saloon' that was given to grandpa by Anheuser-Busch just after the battle." According to Mrs. Brinkman, it showed the battle in the valley where it actually took place, "not up on the hill like it shows in reproductions and in movies."

"I watched every movie there is on the battle. You know, they marked where each man died with a cross."

"I heard this tale so many times when I was a kid, I used to get sick of it," she laughed. The Sioux and Cheyenne were on the warpath because the treaty of 1868 had been broken by the white man. Indians had been given the western half of present-day South Dakota for a permanent reservation, with hunting rights extending to the Big Horn Mountains of Wyoming.

Less than six years later, in 1874, Col. Custer led his 7th Regiment on a reconnaissance patrol in the Black Hills, the heart of the Indian reservation. Gold was discovered and a flood of settlers converged upon the territory.

RESISTANCE
Indian chiefs counseled renewed resistance to the white man — hostilities flared.

History accounts state that Custer divided his troops into groups for a three-pronged attack on the Sioux and Cheyenne on July 25, 1876. Three companies each were given to Maj. Marcus A. Reno and Capt. Frederick W. Benteen. Five companies went with Custer.

Custer advanced his troops on the Indian encampment toward what is now Reno Creek and the Little Big Horn River.

Reno had been ordered to pursue a band of Sioux. Battleworn, he was joined later by Benteen. Custer's forces had disappeared over the ridges of Weir Point just ahead.

Relating the story her grandfather told, Mrs. Brinkman said, "Custer was supposed to wait for Reno in the valley. Instead he went on ahead."

Details of the attack are very hazy, historically, and historians comment that "whatever Custer's plan, it died with him that day."

MARRIAGE YARN
Mrs. Brinkman spins a yarn of the marriage of her grandparents at Ft. Lincoln.

Typical of those days was the call of "westward ho." The irresistible lure of frontier adventure enticed many away from the safety of home.

Margaret O'Neill of St. Paul, Minn., ventured westward to work for Gen. Dandy as a housemaid at Ft. Lincoln. "She didn't know about the Indian attacks, though," Mrs. Brinkman said. "And after she was there a couple days, she decided that was enough. But she couldn't get a wagon train back for several weeks."

So, as the story goes, she went shopping at the commissary one day and met William Brinkman. They fell in love, which somehow dispelled her fear of Indian attacks, and she decided to stay.

WELL LIKED
The military wedding in 1874 in Custer's parlor at the fort was attended by Tom Custer, a relative of the colonel.

"Grandpa drew the attention of Custer," Mrs. Brinkman said. "He was just one of those men that everybody liked, like my dad here."

"One time when the Indians attacked the fort, they had to hide my aunt (the couple's first child born in 1875) in the oven."

ANOTHER STORY
Brinkman was discharged in 1876, and the couple returned to Springfield. The ex-soldier was engaged in a variety of trades, with the longest stint as a teamster.

"The only thing we have left of value (besides memories) is the Bible — and grandpa's military discharge papers," said Mrs. Brinkman.

Flipping to the page bearing the marriage certificate of her grandparents, Mrs. Brinkman told how the Bible had been handed down through her family. "But I'd sure like to know where that painting from the saloon went to."

But as yarns go, that's another story.

Charge Three With Sodomy At Austin

AUSTIN (AP) — Three persons, including the county attorney of Callahan County, were arrested Tuesday in an Austin city park restroom and charged with sodomy, Austin police said.

Named in the felony charges filed before Justice of Peace Don Cantrell were James Paul Shanks, 40, Baird, Callahan County attorney; Roberto Muniz Caraveo, 28, a state Department of Community Affairs employee; and Ronald Burke, 30, Austin sales clerk.

Shanks, who was represented by Austin lawyer Bill Fitzgerald, was released on personal bond of $1,000. The other two also posted $1,000 bonds each.

City Park Ranger Vernon Gunn said he was in Peace Park in civilian clothes and saw six men enter the men's room there. He said three of them came out and left the park.

Gunn said he went to the rear of the rest room and observed the three men remaining. Then he identified himself and arrested the three, Gunn said. He called for help with his portable radio and the three were picked up by Austin police.

Sgt. Jack McCown, chief of the park rangers, said plain clothesmen had been patrolling Peace Park because of "numerous complaints of underhanded activities detrimental to the neighborhood."

Officers At Webb Presented Medals

Six officers at Webb have received medals for outstanding actions.

Lt. Col. Robert G. Mathews, new chief of personnel, was awarded the Bronze Star Medal (first oak leaf cluster). This is Col. Mathews' second award.

Two officers, Maj. Franklin A. Marano and First Lt. Warren J. Hodges, received the Distinguished Flying Cross for singular performance of duty while participating in aerial action.

Meritorious Service Medals, presented for "outstanding service to the United States," went to Lt. Col. George D. Courington, commander of the 82nd Flying Training Squadron; Capt. Marsha B. Tripp; and Capt. Brent B. Levells.

Freshmen Interested In Academic Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — This year's college freshmen describe themselves as more middle-of-the-road politically and more interested in academic success than their predecessors, says a nationwide survey by the American Council on Education.

Freshmen reporting they had participated in demonstrations before entering college declined from 31.5 per cent last year to 9.2 per cent this year.

LESS BEER
The survey released this week indicated that fewer freshmen expect to get married during, or immediately after, college. Cigarette smoking is up; beer drinking is down; and there is increasing interest in joining fraternities and sororities.

About 46 per cent of the freshmen said they favored legalizing marijuana, up from 38.7 per cent last year and 19.4 per cent in 1968.

There was a significant swing away from the physical sciences, engineering and education as major areas of study. About 12 per cent plan to become teachers, compared to 23.5 per cent in 1968. The survey indicated an increasing interest in careers in health care and law.

POLITICAL VIEW
The survey was based on responses from 188,900 freshmen at 373 schools across the country.

The percentage of freshmen describing themselves as middle-of-the-road politically increased from 44.4 per cent in 1969 to 46.8 per cent last year and 48.3 per cent this year.

Students defining themselves as far left or liberal declined from 38.1 per cent last year to 35.2 per cent this year. In 1969, 32.6 per cent of the freshmen considered themselves left or liberal.

About 16.6 per cent of the freshmen said their political views were conservative or far right, compared with 15.2 per cent last year. In 1969, 22.9 per cent said they were moderately or strongly conservative.

Freshmen who feel the federal government is not doing enough to promote school desegregation declined from 51.7 per cent last year to 48.4 per cent this year. There was an increase from 48.1 per cent to 50.3 per cent in students who feel the courts are too concerned with the rights of criminals.

REPUTATION
The percentage of blacks among those entering college increased from 6.3 per cent last year to 8.7 per cent this year. Increasing interest in academic success was reflected in responses to several questions.

The academic reputation of the college was cited by 48.4 per cent of the freshmen as a very important reason for selecting their school. Last year, 36.1 per cent said it was important.

Freshman who said they expect to make at least a B average increased to 32.7 per cent from 23.6 per cent last year. In one year, there was an increase from 42 per cent to 48 per cent in students who sideoned college in students who said they planned to do graduate study in some field.

She's Youngest Of Four Baggerleys At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK (AP) — When Camille Baggerley arrived at Texas Tech from her home in Spearman, she found a ready-made family already here.

Camille is the youngest of four Baggerleys at Tech. The family includes Karen, big brother Steve, and his wife Becky. And just to round things out, Becky's younger sister, Cissy Bean, is also a Tech student. The Beans are from Tularosa, N.M.

Cissy Bean and Camille Baggerley live in dormitories on the campus. Karen lives in an apartment with three sorority sisters. Steve and Becky live across town.

Even though they live apart, the Baggerleys are a close family. The girls said they see each other frequently, but seldom manager to get all five together at one time. "We're close, but we all lead our separate lives too," said Karen. "About the only time we all really get together is when we are home for a holiday."

Steve is the big brother of the Baggerleys. Cissy Bean says he is her big brother, too. His record for repairing broken stereo sets and cajoling cranky cars has given him the title of Mrs. Fixit.

The Baggerleys are pursuing different majors. Steve is a senior majoring in mechanical engineering.

Becky is a junior majoring in elementary education.

Karen has completed two years at Texas Tech as a major in microbiology. She is now in the nursing program at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Camille is a freshman majoring in special education.

The last member of the family, Cissy Bean, is also a freshman. Her major is clothing and textile engineering.

Such diversified majors make textbook trading very difficult, agreed the Baggerleys. "But," said Camille, "Steve sure is handy to have around when it comes to helping me with chemistry."

Boarding Tax Is Given Approval

MIDLAND — The Midland city council has approved on second reading the establishment of a $1 head tax at Midland-Odessa Regional Air Terminal.

The decision was reached although there is a possibility such a tax may soon be made illegal by the U.S. Government. The tax goes into effect April 1, only those boarding planes will be required to pay.

Airport director Wilson Banks told the council that the U.S. Senate has passed a bill which would outlaw head taxes but councilmen indicated they would take up that matter if it becomes law.

Wholesale Price Index Skyrockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose sharply in January for the second straight month, largely because of increases in prices of farm products, the government said.

The report presaged large increases in consumer prices. Likely, the sharp advances in wholesale prices will be reflected soon in the Consumer Price Index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Wholesale Price Index went up by 1.3 per cent in January on an adjusted basis and 1.1 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis. Despite the huge increase, the rise was less than the similarly sharp increases in December.

The BLS said that consumer finished goods went up 1.6 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 1.4 per cent on an adjusted basis.

The report was the first issued since President Nixon dropped most mandatory wage-price controls on Jan. 11. But the administration had expected some bulge in prices in the early part of its Phase 3 wage-price restraints.

STRONG DEMAND

The BLS said the increases in farm products could be blamed on "the effects of severe weather and exceptionally strong export demand."

The rise in farm products alone was 4.9 per cent, reflecting higher prices for livestock, fresh and dried vegetables, live poultry, plant and animal fibers, eggs, milk and wheat.

The only declines were for fruit and oil seeds and grains other than wheat.

There were substantial increases in the wholesale prices of such processed foods as meats, poultry and fish. Also, manufactured animal feeds, dairy products, cereal and bakery products were up sharply at the wholesale level.

FARM PRODUCTS

The BLS said that prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds rose by 3.3 per cent, or almost 40 per cent at an annual rate. With the seasonal factors taken in, the rise in prices of farm products was 2.9 per cent.

Despite the big increases in farm and food prices, the report showed that prices of industrial commodities rose less sharply. The industrial commodities index is regarded as one of the most sensitive gauges of inflation in the economy.

According to the report, prices of industrial commodities went up 0.5 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 0.3 on a seasonally adjusted basis.

But this was still an acceleration from the rise in prices of industrial commodities, and represented the largest one-month rise since November.

Fed Jurors Refuse To Indict Reporter Whitten, 2 Indians

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury today refused to indict a reporter and two Indians on charges of possessing documents stolen from the Bureau of Indian Affairs that the case be dropped. Whitten, in a hallway interview afterward, said he felt the government had wanted to show that he and his boss, syndicated columnist Jack Anderson, had paid for the three cardboard cartons of documents. They had not, he said.

THEY HAD NOT

The FBI arrested Whitten and Adams Jan. 31 as they carried three cartons allegedly containing the stolen documents from Adams' apartment to Whitten's car. Adams says he was returning the documents to the FBI, via the BIA, and that he had asked Whitten to assist him in exchange for an exclusive story. Miss Collins, the government says, picked up the documents at a bus station the previous night, allegedly accompanied by a police informer who posed as an Apache.

FREE

The government contends the three intended to convert the stolen documents to their own use. The government said an unnamed informer was their source of information about the intended use of the documents. News reports here identified the informer as a District of Columbia policeman John G. Arelland.

Anderson said the grand jurors questioned him on whether "Les had spoken to me in advance about plans to return the documents—and he had—and whether he had paid for the documents." He said the documents had been offered to Whitten free.

BASIC ROLE

Whitten said he replied that "the news belonged not to the government but to the people" and that subsequently he felt "reporters had a perfect right to take information from the documents to give to the people."

Adams said he was asked about the purposes of his being the conduit from Indians to the

Sam Anderson Proposed For State CTA Award

Big Spring teachers have nominated Selmer M. (Sam) Anderson for a Texas Association's Administrator-of-the-Year award.

The Big Spring CTA has nominated Anderson to be considered with other selected administrators from over the state.

CTA will present three Administrator-of-the-Year awards at its annual state convention Feb. 22-24 in Houston. The awards are made according to the scholastic population of the school district. Big Spring, with 6,800 students, falls into the second category for districts with 4,001-8,000 students. Anderson will be competing against nine other FIRE PREVENTION WINNER — Little Lisa Tibbs, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Roy W. Peterson, 701 Highland Drive and a member of Mrs. Claude Newland's sixth grade class at College Heights, had her fire prevention poster selected to compete in the statewide competition being held in Austin April 5-6. She received word from Monahans of her win at a district level. Her grandfather, A. D. Meador, is fire chief here.

Tough Cop Tactics Jar Peace-Keeping

SAIGON (AP) — Tough cop tactics of the South Vietnamese guards at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base are jarring the delicate peacekeeping machinery.

The Polish and Hungarian delegations to the International Commission for Control and Supervision are threatening to move their troops out of the commission's compound at the base and take up quarters in downtown Saigon.

Sources close to the commission say the Poles are furious because their chief delegate, Bogdan Wasilewski, has been stopped several times at the gates and required to show his identity cards although his car was flying the commission flag. Once, he was forced to let his car be searched.

SCOUT CAR

The Hungarians, most of them senior officers in distinctive pointed caps, object strongly to having to pass through the guard posts of another nation, particularly one whose peacekeeping activities they are supposed to be monitoring.

Canadian officers in limousines and scout cars flying the red Maple Leaf flag have been delayed for as long as four hours at the main gate in almost invariably futile attempts to escort Canadian and U.S. journalists to their compound.

"I try to hang as much shoulder out the window as possible every time I go past that guard point so they'll see the gold bars. But it doesn't always work," said a Canadian colonel. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese members of the Joint Military Commission say they complained this week to William H. Sullivan, visiting U.S. deputy assistant secretary of state for East Asian affairs, about their virtual imprisonment in a run-down barracks compound in a remote corner of Tan Son Nhut.

WELCOME CONTACT

Since their arrival in Saigon, the Communist delegates to the four-party commission have let it be known that they welcome contact with Western journalists. The South Vietnamese government blandly insists it is not preventing anyone from contacting them inside their heavily guarded compound; but, every time a reporter approaches the gates, he is "detained" and his press credentials are lifted.

Pham Duong Hien, the government's press chief, told newsmen last week that the government had no objections to their making contact with the Communists at their compound. He assured them that their difficulties at the airport were the result of a "lack of coordination" between officials and the airport authorities.

Like the Vietnamese air force, Tan Son Nhut always has been a more or less independent center of power, politically apart from, and sometimes openly defiant of, the presidential palace and the downtown politicians.

BEAT ON IT

Two North Vietnamese representatives of the Joint Military Commission ran into trouble today in Hue, where a dozen South Vietnamese surrounded their car, beat on it with bamboo sticks and wet one of the men with some sort of liquid thrown into the car. The assailants backed away when an escort of South Vietnamese MPs got out of their car, and the North Vietnamese were not hurt. They lodged a complaint with the International Commission.

The Vietnamese in Hue are particularly bitter against the North Vietnamese because of massacre of thousands of civilians there by the Communists during the 1968 Tet offensive.

The United States asked the Saigon government today to investigate Communist charges that tear-gas grenades were

'Stolen' Friend

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NEW PATTERN: (Q.) My best friend and I were friends with this other girl. We went places together, all three of us, but my friend and I were always best friends.

Well, all of a sudden this girl started becoming more chummy with my friend. She told her secrets and would not tell me. They did things together at school and left me out of it.

I like this girl very much and I don't want to lose her as my best friend. I don't think it's fair for this other girl to steal her from me. Can you help me?

(A.) I can help you, but not to get back on a "best friend" basis.

You must face the fact that people do not often steal our friends. What happens is that our friends leave us of their own free will. This sometimes happens because we haven't been selective enough in choosing friends. It sometimes happens because we and our friends are getting older and changing.

Another factor in your case is that a three-way friendship is usually not as sturdy as a two-way friendship. I suggest you be friendly to both girls you have written about and at the same time cultivate several more friends.

FUNNY STORY
A South Vietnamese spokesman claimed that the incident involved mosquito spray, not tear gas, and said it was "a very funny story."

The Saigon government released hundreds more Communist prisoners today in Quang Tri Province below the demilitarized zone and at Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon. It was the fourth day of prisoner releases.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, reported that more than 2,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been released, including more than 600 women Viet Cong. He said the Communist side has released more than 700 South Vietnamese soldiers.

Hien also reported there were 171 Communist violations of the cease-fire during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today, with 219 Communist troops and 54 South Vietnamese killed, 244 government troops wounded and 20 South Vietnamese missing.

MEANINGS: (Comment) I am sending you an original, unpublished piece I have written. I call it "Mrs. Whatt A. Lyar." Here it is:
"She said:
"I've heard so much about you. (What was her name again?) Do have a seat.
"Oh, I love your outfit! (I wouldn't be caught dead in it.) Do tell me where you got it.
"You don't have to go just now. (Yes you do, yes you do.) Stay and have dinner with us, I insist.
"It's been so nice having you. (Finally she's going.) Do come and see us again.
"Good-bye."

1 drained canned pimiento, minced
2 tbsps. minced green olives
2 tbsps. finely chopped walnuts
2 tbsps. mayonnaise
Mix together all the ingredients. Use as a filling for sandwiches. Makes about 1 cup cheese spread.

sifted flour, cheese cubes and a couple of spoonful of soup. Repeat layers until all ingredients are used. Bake on second shelf of oven at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes or until potatoes are tender.

BAKED BEANS

1 large can pork & beans
1/2 cup catsup
2 tbsps. mustard
1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 cup onion, chopped
Combine all ingredients in a heavy skillet or saucepan. Mix well and simmer 15 to 20 minutes.

BEEF STROGANOFF

1 round steak
4 tbsps. butter
1 cup onion, chopped
1 clove garlic
2 cups sliced button mushrooms
3 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. catsup
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
2 cans beef bouillon
3/4 cup dry white wine or 1/4 cup bourbon or 1 cup beer
1 12-oz. carton sour cream
3 cups cooked rice
Cut steak in 1/4-inch slices. Melt two tablespoonsful of butter in skillet. Sear beef on all sides until brown. remove and set aside. Saute onion, garlic and mushrooms in same skillet in remaining butter for about five minutes. Add 1/4 cans beef bouillon, catsup, salt and pepper. Mix flour with remaining 1/4 can bouillon to form a smooth paste. Add gradually, stirring until smooth and thickened. Reduce heat, add wine and sour cream and blend well. Add beef and simmer for about five minutes. Serve over rice.

HOT BUTTERED RUM

8 ozs. dark rum
4 twists lemon peel
4 sticks cinnamon
6 to 8 cloves
4 cups cider
4 patties butter
Bring cider to boil and pour into four cups. To each cup add two ounces rum, one lemon peel twist, one stick cinnamon, one to two cloves and a pat of butter.

She Took Cooking Lessons Via Long Distance Telephone

By Barbara Lord
Mrs. Bob Nourse recalls that several times shortly after she got married she called her mother long distance to ask how to cook something. It was only about 40 miles, so the bills weren't bad, but now that the Nourses are in Texas, and both sets of parents are in Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. Nourse is on her own in the kitchen.

"Luckily, I've learned a little bit about cooking during six years of marriage," said Mrs. Nourse (Linda). "But, I still have a long way to go before I feel comfortable at it."

Capt. Nourse is a T-38 flight examiner at Webb Air Force Base. The Nourses have two children, Cheryl, 3, who attends Jack 'n Jill Nursery three days a week, and Andy, nine weeks.

Mrs. Nourse is happiest when she's busy, and between her family activities and a wide range of other interests, there's seldom time for a dull moment.

SPORTS FANS

Outside activities for Mrs. Nourse include three bowling leagues where she carries about a 150 average and serves as secretary for two of the leagues. She also plays bridge with the Officers' Wives Club and socially.

Capt. and Mrs. Nourse enjoy many sports together. Capt. Nourse also bowls. They are avid water skiers and developed an instant liking for snow skiing during their initial attempts at the sport. They also enjoy fishing and camping.

Since moving to Big Spring about two years ago, Mrs. Nourse has considered home decorating her principal hobby. At 2606 Lynn, the Nourses have made considerable improvements in their home. Capt. Nourse attempted his first woodworking project and made an attractive bookcase room divider between the living room and kitchen. Mrs. Nourse adds lovely accents to the early American decor through decoupage and crewel embroidery projects. In Cheryl's room she painted colorful mushrooms around both windows to match the fabric in the draperies. The Nourses both like to refinish furniture and are constantly on the lookout in antique and junk stores for bargains they can restore.

SOCIABLE

Despite what seems to be a never-ending circle of activities, the Nourses always have time for parties and friends. Formal entertaining is rare, but impromptu get-togethers are frequent.

"Quite often we'll invite people over for breakfast following a party at the Officers' Club," said Mrs. Nourse. "Bob loves to cook breakfast. Everything we do is very informal, and I prefer to keep it that way. If friends come for dinner it's usually something that can be charcoaled outside, and Bob handles that job, too."

Mrs. Nourse said she isn't a good enough cook yet to look forward to giving dinner parties, but she does have a collection of recipes she wants to try.

"I'm not much of an experimenter, but I'm getting better," she said. "I can't taste things to see what they need, because I don't know enough about foods and spices to know what it's supposed to taste like. Luckily, I married a meat and potato man."

Capt. and Mrs. Nourse are both from Indianapolis, Ind. where they have lived since they were small children. They began dating as juniors in high school. Capt. Nourse received his bachelor's degree in zoology from Indiana University and lacks about six credits for his master's degree. Mrs. Nourse attended Purdue before transferring to IU where she studied nursing.

Pantry Pickups

As a sauce for a steamed pudding mix together 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup heavy cream and 1/4 cup butter in the top part of a double boiler; cook over boiling water for 15 minutes.

To make a syrup for pancakes combine a cup of firmly packed dark brown sugar with half a cup of water. Stir over medium heat until sugar dissolves, then cook until syrup is as thick as you like. Stir in a little butter.

Try, Try Again

Once again we have a fresh example of the rigid enforcement of a code which means that city firemen cannot cross an invisible line and put out or help put out a fire on the other side. This happened in a part of the Kentwood area last weekend. City crews, first on the scene, likely could have held damage down considerably. Instead, before the volunteer county units could arrive, the loss was total.

Now we understand most of the reasons behind this. The city cannot legally perform services or functions outside its boundaries except by some contractual arrangement. Moreover, when city agents cross that invisible line, neither they nor the city is protected by insurance. If equipment were to be damaged, or firemen injured or killed, there would be no financial protection.

But why can't the county contract to underwrite city equipment and personnel when performing these special services, and perhaps some reasonable remuneration or exchange of services to compensate for the actual expense of providing security and protection to specified areas on the periphery of the city limits.

Both the city and county governments are supposed to be serving the people. It's time for both bodies to sit down and hammer out some sort of workable common sense arrangement.

This may call for less rigidity by the city and a little more money by the county. It's obvious that the system of volunteer county units has severe and dangerous limitations, and the gap needs to be closed.

One Way You Can Help

It's surprising the political leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties haven't been making an appeal for taxpayers' funds. Under federal law a taxpayer this year can designate $1 of his or her taxes to the 1976 presidential election campaign fund of one's preference. Or if one doesn't have a preference, the dollar can be put into a nonpartisan general account for all eligible candidates.

While the taxpayer is not required to turn over the money to politics, to those who hold the view that campaign fund-raising sometimes get out of hand, it's not a bad idea. And it doesn't cost the taxpayer anything extra. The $1 is taken out of the taxes one already would have been required to pay.

The results: If those 28 million citizens who voted for the Democratic presidential nominee in November channeled their funds into the Democratic party's fund, there would be just about $112 million waiting for the party's presidential candidate. If those who voted for the Republican candidate did likewise, the GOP's candidate would have sufficiently more.

It's something each taxpayer should consider when making out his income tax return. By the voluntary public financing of political elections, perhaps this nation won't find it necessary to repeat Common Causes' court action demanding an accounting of campaign funding and contributors.

'Look At Dan'

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Everybody has their own family jokes and one of ours is that nearly every time Dan Rather comes on national television making a comment, some comedian at my house will say, "Hey, Mama, look at Dan."

Back in 1962, I almost blew my one national television performance. CBS and Dan Rather were in Pecos putting the Estes story on CBS Reports.

I WAS ASKED TO comment on the newspaper war and they had written out the two sentences that I was to be allowed to say.

The scene was filmed in the newspaper office at the front counter with me behind the counter and Dan Rather leaning over the counter asking his supposedly impromptu questions.

The cameramen spent 15 minutes setting up lights and equipment. Then they stood me where they wanted me and said, "Mrs. Carpenter, look at Dan. Lean a little to the right, no a little to the left, and look at Dan. No a little more forward. No a little more back. And look at Dan. Mrs. Carpenter, now look at Dan."

My three kids were standing over in the corner about to crack up laughing.

FINALLY, THEY GOT us settled just right and Dan asked his question, "Why did the Pecos Independent begin the investigation of the Billie Sol Estes affair?" All I remember about my answer is that the first word of the sentence was, "Actually..."

About the time I said, "Actually," the cameramen halted everything and said, "Wait, wait, wait. Somebody turn off the air conditioner. It's too noisy. Now, Mrs. Carpenter, look at Dan."

And away we went again. The second time I said, "Actually..." the cameraman screamed, "Wait, wait, wait. Somebody over there stop clattering that typewriter. Everybody be quiet. Now, Mrs. Carpenter, look at Dan."

WELL BY THEN, I couldn't remember my answer... so when he asked his question, I answered (expecting to be stopped), "Actually, anybody watching this filming would know why television will never completely replace newspapers." And the cameraman screamed, "Mrs. Carpenter, that's not funny." And we went through the whole thing again, finally getting my minute and a half on national television filmed for posterity.

The other night when my son and I were watching Rather comment on the Prisoners of War, he said, "Mama, look at Dan. He looks older." And I answered, "So do we all, kid. You were six that day and now you're 17. So look at Dan."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I have a serious problem with my in-laws. My father-in-law is overly affectionate toward me, and takes liberties which are improper. My mother-in-law is the domineering type, and is forever telling me how to run my home. My doctor says for health's reasons, I should clear out, but my husband disagrees. Please advise.

R.P. The Bible plainly teaches that upon marriage, one is to be loyal to your own spouse, and avoid any entanglements that complicate the marital bond. This includes parents. To put it in the language of Genesis 2:23: "A man leaves his father and mother, and is joined to his wife in such a way that the two become one person."

One marriage counselor I know claims that the first component of good inter-personal relations in the home is freedom. He quotes Nietzsche as defining "freedom" as the capacity "to become what we truly are." A newly married couple needs the time and the occasion to "become what they truly are." With your in-laws, you are nothing but a puppet.

In the Bible verse quoted above, the word "leave" certainly doesn't mean to sever the relationship. It does mean, however, that loyalty and basic commitment shifts from the parental home to the new family unit. Even where fiances prohibit the newly married from living in separate quarters, you may and must function as a separate entity. I tell you, the only extramarital relationship that helps a marriage is the presence and power of God. I hope you know it.

Crime, Punishment

William F. Buckley Jr.

Time and again we see political liberals struggling to uncoil themselves from misdeeds they are primarily responsible for having constricted themselves in. There is no better example than the recent recommendation of sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole. The governor is in this blind, of course, because of his doctrinaire opposition to capital punishment.

IF ONE defers to the commandment that under no circumstances should the state execute a convicted man, then of course the question is closed, and there is no point in arguing the case.

Surely the proposal of Nelson Rockefeller is more cruel to an offender than anything an executioner does to him. And those who opposing capital punishment lay special stress on the awful effect of executions on society should pause. Surely it demeans a society more to rule that under no circumstance whatsoever will society forgive a man, at any point in the future, than to execute him. An execution causes the society that sanctioned it to wince. External incarceration, other than for the purpose of protecting society against an unrehabilitated criminal, causes society — or should — nothing less than an encephalopathic cry of the heart.

IT IS instructive to recall that the mood, when Leopold and Loeb were convicted, was in favor of executing them. They had committed a crime against an innocent little boy which was, quite simply, unpardonable. The judge, yielding to the entreaties of a very persuasive attorney, ruled instead that because of their tender age he would sentence them to life plus life — that he would throw away the key. Thus did he appease the public. But as the years went by, Loeb died in prison, and then Leopold, after a dozen appeals for clemency, finally received parole, went off to do medical missionary work in Puerto Rico, and in due course died.

It was right to let Leopold go, finally. It is anti-human to proscribe compassion; to say to oneself — I forbid forgiveness, and I enjoin my successors to forbid forgiveness; indeed, I call on the legislature to deprive my successors of the executive privilege to commute a sentence.

AND YET one's heart cries out also for means by which to express oneself on the hideousness of the trade by which the pusher makes his living (and states his habit). Nelson Rockefeller has tried to simulate the crime of peddling heroin where it belongs — as among the most heinous of human professions. Having eliminated the death penalty, he wishes to prescribe the most horrible thing this side of the death penalty. He has succeeded only in prescribing something more horrible than the death penalty.

THE LEGISLATURE in Albany would do well, of course, to attempt to make the working distinct between the professional pusher and the pusher who is driven only by the desperation of his own craving. Granted the line blurs, and granted also that some in the latter category graduate into the former. But even as he recognizes there are differences between murder as a crime of passion, and murder for hire, there are analogous differences among dope pushers. The emphasis should be made on reasonably distinguishing between the two: perhaps the cash volume of the transaction is the best test. A jury is probably the most competent judge, in any case. And then, the professionals should be sentenced to death.

Has Tongue, No Teeth

NEW YORK (AP) — The giant anteater's nozzle-shaped snout can get more than a foot long, but its mouth is no wider than the head of a thumbtack, according to the World Book Encyclopedia.

The animal has no teeth. It licks ants off the ground with its tongue, which is like a sticky worm.

Hal's Handout Man

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The handout man hasn't been around today. He wasn't here yesterday. But you can bet he'll be around tomorrow—or the day after, for sure.

Sooner or later each week, and sometimes twice in a week, a shadow will fall across my desk. I'll look up and standing there will be the finest actor I've ever met—the handout man.

And unconsciously, I'll reach in my pocket and hand out two one-dollar bills to him.

The handout man isn't a professional actor. He's a middle-aged panhandler, growing old ungracefully, who has been haunting me for 20 years. In that time I figure I've handed him out $1,500 — enough to keep me in cheap cigars in my own old age.

I've known my handout men in my life, but none who has had the lasting quality shown by Jack, an itinerant Homer who acts out the roles he creates.

The main trouble with Jack isn't the money he takes from your pocket but the time he takes from your busy day while he tells his story and gives his performance. You break his heart and lower his dignity if you won't listen to his story and watch his performance before giving him his $2.

Each time they are different. One day he comes in dressed with the distressed charm of an oil salesman whose well has just run out of oil. This is when he tells you of the big job he almost landed but just missed.

Milkmen To The Rescue

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Manchester milkmen are getting together to aid old folks who are ill and alone in their homes.

Their assignment is to spot the teletalk distress signals of unopened milk bottles piling up on the porch. In an emergency they will use a special telephone link to call the social services department.

Organizers hope the scheme will spread to other parts of Britain.

Word Is Not Wicked

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If I am three months pregnant and lose my baby without doing anything to cause it, is that called an abortion or a miscarriage?

I loved my baby and didn't do anything to cause me to lose it. But I have been told that if it was at three months, it was an abortion, and after that it was a miscarriage.

Would you write the difference? — D.B.

Either term means the loss of the fetus, or forming baby. The difference is the stage at which the baby is lost.

Up to about 12 to 16 weeks, the term "abortion" is customarily used. After that it is a "miscarriage."

pregnancy because something was wrong with the pregnancy. These are called "spontaneous abortions," and are caused by nature, but not brought about deliberately.

The principal causes of spontaneous abortion are death of the fetus; or some disorder of the placenta or generative tract. Nature terminates the pregnancy to avoid bringing into the world an infant that may be born dead or seriously handicapped in some way. In most instances the mother should be glad that nature does this. (Having one spontaneous abortion does not mean that the next baby won't be perfectly normal and healthy.)

Miscarriage is usually the result of some such disorder as diabetes or toxemia; or because the placenta is in an abnormal location; or because the unborn fetus has, from one cause or another, died.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read in a magazine once that a person gets iron from cast iron skillet. Could you tell me how much? — L.F.

usually because of a conspiracy by his enemies.

The late Lon Chaney was known as "The man with a thousand faces." I think Jack has him beat by at least one role.

This day he's on crutches, the other day on a cane. Last week his daughter became a drug addict, and he's trying to raise enough money to get her off the habit. This week his son will probably break his arm—again. Next week his wife will have another female operation, and the week after that he himself will have to have his 25th—or is it 26th—operation for a hernia.

Jack has a regular route of 25 to 30 clients, and plods it as conscientiously as a mailman. He has the persistence of a bloodhound, and if you play hide-and-seek from him successfully one week, he simply makes two calls next week.

A number of us have tried to help Jack. But what good would we do if—an unlikely event—we did succeed in reforming him?

We'd only wreck the career of a fine actor—and good acting is scarce enough in America as it is.

Mysterious Words

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — You may be forgiven if you cannot understand the jargon of the financial, monetary and economic worlds today any better than you did in high school.

The words of the money world are mysterious and complex. The balance of payments, for example, is an anomaly. It is never in balance. There is always a plus or a minus in payments, but never, ever a balance.

THE MONEY crisis today is in part a reflection of a minus payments situation, which means we spent more abroad than foreign nations spent here. Last year the figure was $11.16 billion. Such a deficit weakens confidence.

The extent to which language sometimes obscures the reality is illustrated by the extended effort of the Germans to support the contention that the mark is worth 31.63 cents. But the market seems to declare otherwise.

In its attempt to prove that figure correct, the Germans have been forced to buy up $5 billion at that price. So long as they poured out marks in exchange for dollars they could maintain that price, maybe.

JUST BEFORE the currency markets closed because of the confusion, demand for marks in exchange of dollars had forced the mark price to 31.9 cents. The Germans were still resisting, but the realities of the market appeared to be winning.

The confusion of meanings is very evident in Phase Three, which supposedly has brought pricing that is unencumbered by the federal bureaucracy and which relies instead on voluntary restraint.

What is voluntary restraints? Some have described it as strong moral suasion in place of firm government controls — a return of authority to private enterprise with the government only wagging an admonishing finger.

LESS TRUSTING souls fear that a clinched fist is at the end of that upraised arm of government and so, a bit cynically, they have called it compulsory volunteerism or mandatory free enterprise.

President Nixon, whose policy it is, has more than once suggested it is a very formidable type of control.

"I want you to know there's a stick in the closet," he is said to have told John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council. "It's a very big stick, and I'll never hesitate to use it." That is the President's definition.

THE PRIME rate, which banks are holding "voluntarily" to 6 per cent lest they get struck by the big stick, is supposedly the rate given the most credit-worthy customers, with other rates stopped higher from it.

But some bankers wonder if the thing exists at all, and if it does, what significance it has. Many would like to abolish it because they fear it is only a red flag run up in the face of an angry government.

Aw, Forget It!

FEMALE SHERIFF ON DUTY

Officer's Skirt Gets In The Way

By CAROL INFRANCA
Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES — A .38 caliber revolver in one hand and a foot-long flashlight in the other, Lovette Caples cautiously followed her partner up the stairs.

She came down the stairs, pursued her revolver, and said: "It was a false alarm. Most of them are. The owner set off the burglar alarm by accident."

ONE OF 20
Deputy Lovette Caples is one of 20 female deputies trained for patrol duty by the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department. A month ago she received special instruction in firearms, weaponless defense, patrol procedures, communication, emergency vehicle operations, investigation and practical field problems.

She was then paired with a male partner.

The female deputy volunteered for the pilot project. It will determine whether the role of lady deputies will be expanded.

PATIENCE
Being studied in the project is "the effect a woman's innate qualities of patience, empathy and tact will have on highly emotional situations," a Sheriff's Department spokesman said.

Another item to be evaluated will be the physical and emotional problems lady deputies encounter in their general enforcement field assignments.

TRIAL BASIS
One handicap Deputy Caples has already encountered is her uniform.

Since she has been assigned to patrol on a trial basis for one year, her uniform is the same one she wore while working in Sybil Brand Institute for Women — a skirt and blouse with a shoulder purse.

Her heavy revolver is kept in her purse and it must be toted with her while she is in the field. "Actually, this strap ripping a hole in my shoulder feels fine," she chided.

When uniforms are changed Deputy Caples hopes she'll be the "first to know."

The Sheriff's Department veteran of four years said one of the most "exhilarating" tasks she has had to perform during her month on patrol involved investigation into an audible burglar alarm that sounded as she and her partner drove by.

POSSIBLE ENTRY
"In order to get to the back of the building to investigate the alarm, we had to get over a seven-foot brick wall," the 5-foot 3-inch lady deputy said.

With a little help from her partner, 27-year-old Gary Huffman, Deputy Caples managed to scale the wall. She then discovered she had to climb on a truck in order to reach the top of the building to conduct an investigation for possible entry points on the roof.

She admits her efforts were hampered "a little" by her skirt.

FANTASTIC
Reaction to a female deputy on patrol has been "fantastic," Deputy Caples said.

While getting into her patrol vehicle in front of the sheriff's station, three little girls ran up to the car to give her a flower.

Deputy Caples smiled, thanked them and placed the flower on the dashboard of the patrol car where it remained while she and Deputy Huffman chased burglar alarms.

"Pauses for coffee are often interrupted," she said.

EXPENSIVE
"One evening I just finished paying for a huge dinner and I was carrying it out to the car when Gary told me to throw it in the trash because we had to leave," she said. ("This (patrol) is getting to be expensive.")

Deputy Caples is still having a little difficulty determining when her patrol vehicle is being called over the car radio.

"Sometimes I'll ask Gary if that call was for us seconds after he steps on the gas," she said.

"We had to learn the radio calls when we went for our special training," she said. "But that's a lot to remember after a cram course."

The courses Deputy Caples and the 19 other women went through at the academy included a great deal of role playing, she said.

"One evening we got killed several times," she said. "Better we get blown up role playing at the academy than in the field," she said.

KILLING
One example of a mock "killing":

She stopped a vehicle and asked for the driver's license. The driver pulled a revolver out of his pocket and fired "point-blank" at her.

Deputy Caples said her husband prompted her to volunteer for patrol duty.

"He's a 15-year veteran with LAPD," she said.

Bob Caples, who had worked patrol for 10 years before he began teaching at the Police Academy, told her it was an opportunity for her to "really get to do something."

The 31-year-old deputy's teenage daughter and teen-age stepchildren haven't really said anything about her new job.

"Oh, they tell their friends their mom is a cop and arrests people, but other than that, they haven't said much," she said.

SHE LOVES IT
Deputy Caples loves every part of her patrol duty. Working up to 12 hours on a p.m. shift doesn't bother her. Her patrol duties begin at 3 p.m. Often she doesn't leave the station until the same time the next morning.

Deputy Caples' partner said he got her as a partner "probably because I stepped on somebody's toes."

Huffman said Deputy Caples "get along fine," but Huffman feels patrol duty is "no place for a woman."

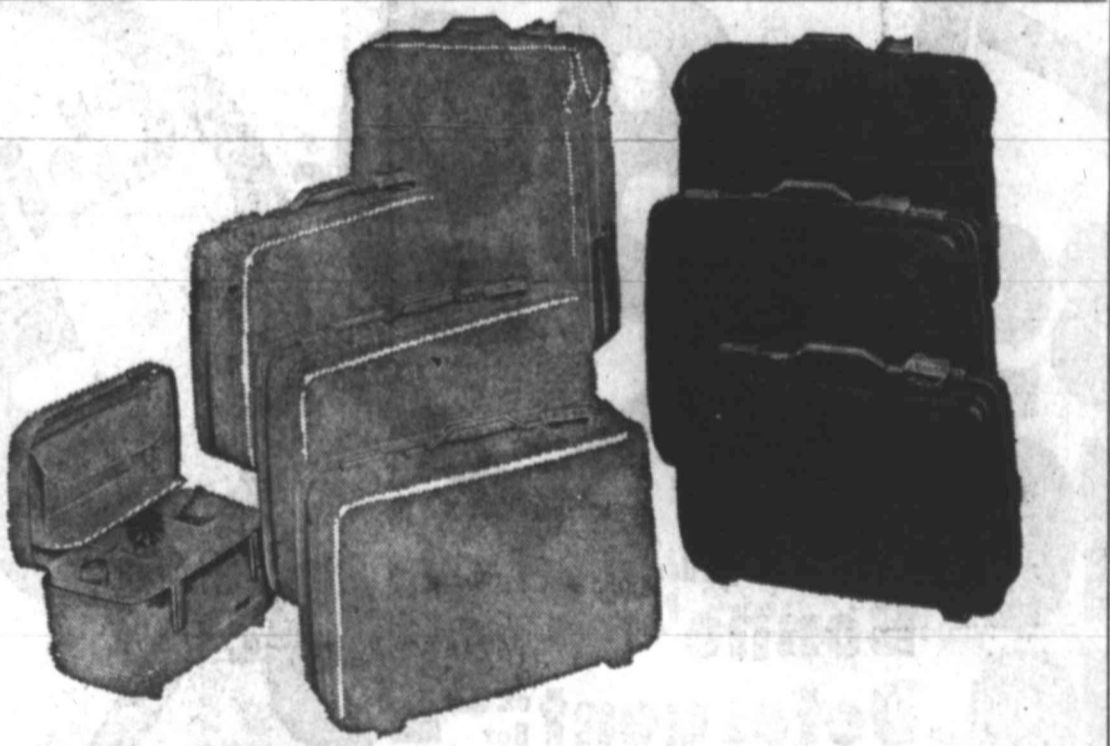

JUST THE FACTS, MA'AM — Lovette Caples can be seen cruising Los Angeles streets in her patrol car several nights a week. It's part of a new experimental program to produce female sheriffs.

Stolen Pickup Is Recovered

The Department of Public Safety has recovered the pickup said to be stolen from Ernest Jones, San Angelo, and located a suspect, the sheriff's office learned Wednesday.

W. D. Spencer, Tokio, is the owner of the pickup borrowed by Jones, who told a sheriff's duty here his companion assaulted him and took the pickup at a nearby U.S. 87 rest area Monday night. The pickup was found on a highway near San Angelo.

Ford Fined $7 Million For Tampering

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. was fined $7 million Tuesday on charges that its employees illegally tampered with 1973 Ford cars undergoing antipollution tests, the Justice Department said.

Ford filed a no contest plea to a 350-count criminal information, filed in the U.S. District Court in Detroit by the Justice Department, and signed a consent decree concluding a civil suit.

The court proposed the maximum fine of $3.5 million in the criminal case. It also approved a $3.5 million penalty agreed to by Ford and the government in the civil case.

In addition, Ford was enjoined from committing similar violations in the future. The matter goes back to last April and May when Ford submitted its antipollution test data required for federal certification of its 1973 cars.

On May 16, the firm withdrew its applications and told the Environmental Protection Agency they had been based on tests which included unauthorized and previously unreported maintenance.

Ford resubmitted its applications and repeated the testing. The EPA turned over to the Justice Department its evidence and asked Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst to take appropriate action. The EPA said the fact that Ford executives voluntarily reported the problem did not excuse the alleged violations.

The Clean Air Act and EPA regulations make it a criminal offense knowingly to submit false information on testing and reporting of maintenance on prototype engines.

The criminal information charged Ford with making four false reports to EPA in its applications for certification of four sizes of engines.

SH Kats Remain On Top

By The Associated Press
Sam Houston State has convinced all but two of the voters in The Associated Press poll that it is the best small college basketball team in America.

State 20-0 for the season, received 13 of the 15 first place ballots cast and earned 296 points for a wide lead over Augustana.

The other two No. 1 votes went to Augustana and unranked Bluefield.

Sam Houston State retained its No. 1 rating with three impressive victories last week, including one over third-ranked Stephen F. Austin, 81-67.

Augustana won its two games last week to remain No. 2 and Austin remained third despite the loss to Sam Houston. Philadelphia Textile and Assumption, Mass., both won twice last week and exchanged places in the poll, with Textile moving to No. 4 and Assumption slipping to fifth.

Roanoke remained No. 6 with two victories last week and Wisconsin-Eau Claire took over No. 7 after running its record to 15-3 with a pair of victories. Louisiana Tech and Kentucky State, seventh and ninth respectively a week ago, met at eighth place, tied with 92 points.

Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 18-3 for the season, remained No. 10.

Rentzel's Trial Slated March 26

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wide receiver Lance Rentzel of the Los Angeles Rams is scheduled to go on trial March 26 on charges of possessing marijuana and cocaine.

The trial date was set Tuesday by Superior Court Judge William Caldecott. The National Football League player pleaded innocent.

Whatshisname OK By Colts' Thomas

BALTIMORE (AP) — Howard Schnellenberger has a name too long for newspaper headlines, but he has many qualities which appeal to General Manager Joe Thomas of the Baltimore Colts.

As a result, Thomas has hired the former assistant coach of the Miami Dolphins to become head coach of the revamped Colts.

"I was first looking for a man who could discipline himself," Thomas said Wednesday when he announced the signing of Schnellenberger to a long-term contract.

"A coach like that," Thomas added, "is then able to discipline his assistants, and this carries through to the football team."

The Dolphins posted a 34-7-1 record during the three seasons.

Forsan, Blackwell In 11-B Struggle

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes host Blackwell Friday night at 8:30 p.m. in a crucial Dist. 11-B game for both teams.

The Buffs, 16-9 on the year, are 4-1 in second half play and tied with Sterling City for the loop lead. Blackwell tied for the first half crown, and is 4-2 in the second half.

A 5 p.m. B game will precede the varsity battle.

Tenth-Ranked Terps Flop Again; Heels Rap Driesell & Co. 95-85

By The Associated Press
Lefty Driesell took his show out of town and it bombed again.

Wright JC Holds No. 1

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Wright Junior College of Chicago ran its season record to 27-1 by defeating Prairie State and Joliet JC, and remained No. 1 in the Weekly NJCAA basketball poll.

Gulf Coast JC of Panama City, Fla., hung on to second place, with Vincennes UJC in third place. Copiah-Lincoln of Wesson, Miss., boasting an 18-0 record, moved into fourth, with the College of Southern Idaho rounding out the top five.

Western Conference leader South Plains, 23-4 on the year, moved into the top 20 for the first time this year, ranking in a tie for 16th. The Texans are tied with Cisco Junior College, No. 7 a week ago.

Another Texas team, Henderson County JC of Athens, is 19th.

Alvin Meador of Frank Phillips College, a WC member, is No. 4 among the nation's scorers, averaging 29.1 points a game.

Bay College of Maryland, which has the nation's scoring leader in D. Kelly, is the team offense leader with a 104.3 point per game average. Casper College of Wyoming, allowing 52.2 points a game, is No. 1 in team defense.

Schnellenberger served as offensive coordinator and coach of the Miami receivers. But he has been associated with winners much longer than that.

While he assisted George Allen at Los Angeles for four seasons, the Rams had a 40-13-3 record. And, prior to that, Schnellenberger served as an aide to Bear Bryant as Alabama won national collegiate titles in 1964 and 1965.

Although there will be many new players on the Colts this season because of mass trading by Thomas, Schnellenberger said it was a definite advantage to be taking over a team once coached by Shula.

He referred to the terminology, or numbering system for plays and formations, which are similar at Miami and Baltimore.

Before trading eight Colts, including quarterback Johnny Unitas and five other veterans over 30, Thomas fired head coach Don McCafferty last October and then released interim coach John Sandusky and his staff at the end of the season.

Baltimore's 5-8 record last season was its first losing record since 1956, and Schnellenberger said he recognized that Colts' fans were used to winning, "and winning big."

"I'll try to bring the Colts back to the level of excellence they've enjoyed over the years," he said, and then added: "as quickly as I can."

conference. I think there may be too much emphasis placed on winning."

The Tar Heels' George Karl led all scorers with 22 points. Jim O'Brien and John Lucas paced Maryland with 18 points apiece.

Dennis Duval scored 28 points and led Syracuse over St. John's before 9,521 screaming fans at Manley Field House. It was the 30th consecutive victory at home for the Orangemen over a three-year period.

Florida State ran off 12 straight points early in the second half to take the lead over Jacksonville for good as the Seminoles upset the 12th ranked Dolphins in a battle of NCAA tournament at-large hopefuls.

Lawrence McCray led Florida State with 21 points, while Butch Taylor paced Jacksonville with 23.

ALI BENDS LOW—Muhammad Ali bends low to try to avoid a combination of punches by Britain's Joe Bugner in their fight at Las Vegas, Nev. Wednesday night. Ali won the 12-round bout by a close decision.

Ali Tops Bugner In Close Decision

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Muhammad Ali came up with a commodity in short supply for him in these days of devaluation of the dollar — an opponent who looks good against him.

The former heavyweight champion of the world collected $275,000 for his Wednesday night fight against England's Joe Bugner who forced him to 12 full rounds before losing a close decision.

Muhammad went into the scrap at the Las Vegas Convention Center favored by 8-1 or more. In the seventh round, the 22-year-old Briton belted him with a right cross to the head which Ali reviewed with "I was semi knocked out."

He didn't appear to be and won the round on the cards of all three judges. And he also won the final three to insure his victory.

Bugner looked clumsy at times but threw punches so willingly that Ali could never get any rhythm.

With the 1,500 Britishers in attendance among the crowd at the Convention Center, Bugner was the favorite and a return match between the European heavyweight champion and Ali in London could undoubtedly be a money maker.

And since George Foreman, the current champion, has shown no immediate inclination to meet Ali, who won the title nine years ago, big money fights are what he wants.

And Joe Frazier, the only man to beat Ali in his 41-1 career, also seems unanxious for a return bout.

All sliced Bugner's eye in the first round, the first cut the Briton has suffered in five years of professional fighting. Danny Holland the cut man in the Bugner corner, kept the slice under control except for the 10th round when Ali opened it with left jabs.

But by the 11th, when Ali rallied in his stretch drive for victory, the cut was halted again.

All told newsmen that Bugner "could be the world champion within two years," but stressed that was only after he himself retired. And a couple of days before, Ali had said he might fight until he was 40.

But the betting favorite didn't move with his former speed and he wasn't able to find Bugner with knockdown punches, even though he was unmarked.

"He is much better than when we sparred in Ireland," Ali declared. "He had good footwork and he really moved about this ring."

All weighed 217½ while the Hungarian-born Bugner weighed 219.

Sweetan Cleared

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gerald Gallinghouse says he is dropping prosecution of former New Orleans Saints quarterback Karl Sweetan and his cousin Wayne Boswell in an alleged pro football play book sale scheme.

Saints Coach J. D. Roberts reported to National Football League authorities last June that Sweetan and Boswell had offered to sell the 1971 book of game plays of the Los Angeles Rams, for whom Sweetan had also played.

The NFL turned the matter over to the FBI, and agents arrested Sweetan and Boswell. They were accused of transporting stolen property across state lines and using telephone lines in a scheme to defraud.

Gallinghouse said the long federal investigation established that the two offered to sell the Rams play book to Roberts. However, he said, the probe "did not establish beyond any reasonable doubt that the true value of these materials was in excess of $5,000, which is an essential element of the federal crime of interstate transportation of stolen property . . ."

TCIL Playoffs To Open Friday

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Defending 3-A champion Dallas Bishop Dunne will play Houston Mount Carmel in the opening round of the annual Texas Catholic Interscholastic League state basketball tournament here Friday.

A total of 12 games will be played in three divisions with the Dunne-Mount Carmel tilt winding up the action at 9 p.m.

The other class 3-A game at 7:30 p.m. matches San Antonio Central Catholic and El Paso Cathedral, a pairing of nine-time champions.

Laredo St. Joseph's returns to defend its class 2A crown and Corpus Christi Incarnate Word is back to defend its girls' division championship.

The class 2A pairings match Galveston O'Connell and Lubbock Christ the King at 2:30 p.m. and St. Joseph's against Ennis St. John's at 4 p.m.

The girls' games will find Houston St. Plus meeting Lubbock Christ the King in the tournament opener at 1 p.m. and Incarnate Word facing Dallas Bishop Lynch at 6 p.m.

Commissioner Standing Firm On TV Blackout Policy

Cooley News Service

If National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle has his way — and he usually does — television NFL home games will be blacked out locally from now on. So will next year's Super Bowl VIII, for 75 miles around, whether it's a sellout or not, the way Rozelle sees it.

NFL television policies, especially those relating to local and regional blackouts, have been bugging the public for some years, to a point where the courts constantly have been called in to referee.

So far in each case the judges have upheld Rozelle's contention that the league has a right to impose local TV blackouts on grounds a local home game telecast would cut deeply into the gate.

To clear the air of disputes over NFL television policies and its right to impose them on the public, Rozelle put together a pamphlet tracing the history of blackouts back to 1950, when the Los Angeles Rams permitted local home game television. Despite the Rams' 9-3 record and Western Conference Championship that year, coupled with the infancy of TV, regular season home game attendance dropped by 46 per cent.

The pamphlet also gives Rozelle a chance to answer some of the questions — a few of them loaded — about why the NFL is so firm in opposition to lifting home game blackouts. Some of his answers indicate that even with blackouts attendance isn't always that great.

A questioner asked why home game blackouts weren't lifted if "practically all NFL games are sold out?"

"Practically all NFL games are not sold out," Rozelle replies. "Last year, 46 per cent, or 82 of 182 NFL games, did not sell out. There were 518,703 unsold tickets for 82 games."

"Only nine of the 24 teams sold out all their home game tickets in 1972, and only seven did so in advance of the season."

Why not at least televise locally the games which are sold out?

"If people now believe practically all NFL games are sold out (when 45 per cent are not), they logically would tend to expect practically all NFL games to be televised locally," Rozelle explains. "Such an expectation would compound the already existing variables of team standing, relative quality of opponents, weather conditions, etc., which already result in highly fluctuating attendances, even in sold-out parks."

"Fans buy tickets hoping their team will have a favorable won-lost record, hoping to see strong visiting teams, hoping for pleasant weather on game day. But it is inconceivable fans would buy tickets in an effort to put the game on television.

"The result could only be fewer sellouts and diminished attendance."

Why did the NFL relent and permit televising of Super Bowl VII locally in Los Angeles?

Congressional pressure to make some concessions in the dispute over blackouts was one reason, Rozelle says.

"We believed also the Super Bowl game was the only NFL game that afforded the chance for experimentation, though television considerations had played a major role in producing 30,000 empty seats at an earlier Super Bowl game in Los Angeles (in 1967)."

Rozelle also notes that while this year's Super Bowl was a sellout, 8,478 tickets were bought but not used, despite ideal weather conditions.

The Jan. 14 Super Bowl game was televised locally in Los Angeles on an experimental basis after all 99,182 tickets were sold more than 10 days in advance.

Some folks can't understand why Rozelle is so concerned about no-shows — the people who buy tickets but don't go "to the NFL," he explains,

"today's no-show is tomorrow's lost fan. Even the possibility of local TV of the home games would give him an overriding reason to stay home, above and beyond weather factors, team performance and the availability of two other attractive NFL games on TV."

"But no-shows affect others, too — the taxpayers who have built public stadiums where parking and concession income have been projected to pay off civic debt; any parking, or concession operator who has contracted with a stadium operator, and the many local businesses whose work force is at least partially dependent on fans attending football games."

Sloan On Job At Vanderbilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Steve Sloan, the Southeastern Conference's newest and youngest head football coach, Wednesday began the task of rebuilding Vanderbilt's sagging football fortunes.

"I had a lot of people tell me not to take the Vanderbilt job," the 28-year-old former Alabama standout said shortly after his selection was announced.

"But I felt that it was right for me," he added.

The Commodores have been without a coach since Jan. 15 when Bill Pace quit as coach and athletic director. As his successor was being announced Wednesday, Pace was being introduced as a new assistant on the New England Patriots' staff headed by former Oklahoma mentor Chuck Fairbanks.

Sloan leaves the offensive coordinator's post at Georgia Tech.

Hawks Seek Eighth Straight Win Tonight Against Amarillo

It'll be a big, healthy bunch of Badgers from Amarillo invading Howard County gym tonight at 7:30 p.m. to take on the streaking Jayhawks in a Western Conference tussle.

And for the Badgers, there's still time to salvage some of the honor due a defending conference champion.

Amarillo, 10-13 on the year and 2-10 in WC play this time around, will be trying not to become the Jayhawks' eighth victim in a row, and at the same time would like to avenge an 87-83 loss to HCJC in Amarillo a month ago.

Coach Harold Wilder's Hawks, meanwhile, must keep from looking forward to a return date with WC leader South Plains and a probable berth in the NJCAA Region V cage meet in Brownwood later this month. The Hawks are 22-11 on the year and stand 10-2 in conference action.

That record includes a 12-2 record on their home court.

A pair of 6-6 freshmen from Mississippi, Taylor Williams and Thomas Bledsoe, should be the main forces in the Jayhawk lineup, each averaging over 19 points a game. Bledsoe is back to full speed following a shoulder injury three weeks ago, and Williams, who hit his peak when he had to help pick up slack, is averaging 28 points per outing in the Hawks' current win streak.

Both are averaging over 15 rebounds a game, and over 500 from the field.

Another Hawk starter, No. 3 scorer Leroy Lumzy, is also above the 500 mark in field goal accuracy and is hitting at a 17.5-point-per-game clip. Herbie Lee, the team's assist leader, and Mike Randle round out the starting lineup.

They'll have to stop high-scoring guard Harold Rhodes, a 6-1 ace who is averaging 29 points a game. Rhodes, a freshman from Florence, Ala., will be surrounded by plenty of size in 6-8 Daryl Peterson, 6-5 Allen Clifton and 6-7 Mike Martin, the only sophomore in the lineup. David Nevarez, a 6-0 guard, lends a hand in the scoring attack.

Also expected to see action for the Badgers is 6-6 Robert Wallace, an all-district performer at Big Spring High School last season and former teammate of Randle. The pair graduated together last year.

Philadelphia Ends 20-Game Skid On Goal-Tending Call

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia 76ers are still having trouble putting the ball in the basket, but that doesn't stop them from winning a game once in a while.

Losers in their last 20 contests, the National Basketball Association's worst team finally came up with a victory—but needed a goal-tending call to do it Wednesday night.

"Tremendous," shouted jubilant Kevin Loughery, the 76ers' coach, after his bunch defeated the Bucks 106-104 on a goal-tending call against Milwaukee's Dick Cunningham with 16 seconds left.

The winning goal, credited to Fred Boyd, sent the 76ers charging into their dressing room amid shouts and hoops. It appeared that they had won the NBA title.

"We beat a real, good club, too," added Loughery, who took over the wobbly team this year after Roy Rubin was fired. "Leroy Ellis was unbelievable. He scored 36 points and did everything a basketball player could do. And he even blocked their last shot."

In the other NBA games Wednesday night, the Chicago Bulls nipped the New York Knicks 100-98; the Boston Celtics trimmed the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 104-101; the Baltimore Bullets stopped the Seattle SuperSonics 107-106 and the Phoenix Suns smashed the Buffalo Braves 124-107.

76ers Win, Whoop It Up; Bucks' Jabbar In Hospital

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Comedian Jackie Gleason's stock line, "How sweet it is," might be the best way to describe the feeling of the Philadelphia 76ers as they ended a 20-game losing streak, longest in National Basketball Association history.

The sad sacks of professional basketball beat the tough Milwaukee Bucks 106-104 Wednesday night on a goal-tending basket with 16 seconds remaining. Rookie Freddy Boyd put the shot up, and Dick Cunningham illegally touched it coming off the glass.

While the 76ers whooped it up for the first time since defeating Seattle last Jan. 6, the Bucks suffered not only the ignominy of losing to the worst team in basketball, but also the loss of its 7-foot-2 star center, Kareem Abdul Jabbar.

Jabbar, who scored 29 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, drove for the basket at the end of the third period, crashed into Philadelphia's Leroy Ellis, plummeted to the floor and lay still. Milwaukee's trainer ago,

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Obviously, things are looking pretty sweet right now for Coach Harold Wilder and his Howard County Jayhawks.

It was just three weeks ago that the Hawks dropped an 81-72 decision to South Plains, and the possibility of a mediocre season began to creep into the backs of some minds. Not since the 1965-66 Jayhawks finished 14-16 — the only losing season in more than two decades at HCJC — had things looked quite so, well, vanilla.

The loss was the second in Western Conference play for the Hawks, and leading scorer and rebounder Tom Bledsoe came out of the game with his shoulder strapped to his side — to be left that way for 10 days, said the doctor. Bad scene, huh, especially when you noticed that the Jayhawks had a four-game week coming up. One didn't know just how long the 15-11 record would hold up.

What has happened since isn't much — just seven straight victories and a virtually-cinched berth in the Region V tournament, slated for Brownwood the end of the month. And though it's a bit of a longshot, there's still a chance for the WC crown.

What happened? Organization, says Wilder. "Five of the last seven games we've won were by five points or less," he explained. "Now that our freshmen are more organized and used to the system, we're winning the kind of games that we were losing earlier in the season."

And when you talk about Jayhawk freshmen, you've just about got the whole team on your mind. Only Herbert Lee, the slick 5-9 playmaker, is a sophomore among the regular bunch of 6-6 Bledsoe, 6-6 Taylor Williams, 6-4 Mike Randle and 6-1 Leroy Lumzy.

In what we big time sports writers call "close games" — that's the ones decided by five points or less — the Hawks are 8-7 on the year. But in their last five "close" ones, like we said, they're 5-0. Now that's class.

When it comes time to select the eight representatives to the Region V tournament Sunday, things could get tense. HCJC, South Plains, and Cisco all appear to be cinches, but the other five places aren't so clear.

Schreiner Institute and McClellan County are another couple of pretty sure bets, then come Hill County, Ranger, Weatherford, Western Texas, New Mexico Junior College and Clarendon all with a chance. Also, you really can't rule out Odessa College and Frank Phillips.

Wilder found out this week he's a member of the six-man selection committee, but he doubts that he'll be able to throw his weight around much. All he wants is a chance anyway. He figures his Hawks can take it from there.

Here's another item that might interest the more confident Jayhawk fans... reserved seat tickets for the NJCAA tournament in Hutchinson, Kan., are on sale at the Hutchinson American Legion headquarters. And they're just 15 bucks.

Vote On Shell's Offer Rejected

HOUSTON (AP) — A request for a membership vote on a company contract proposal has been turned down by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, now in the third week of a strike against two Shell Oil Co. facilities in nearby Deer Park.

Roy Barnes, president of OCAW Local 3-467, said Wednesday members of the union voted overwhelmingly not to have the election on Shell's offer on a two-year contract. The election was requested last week by federal mediator E. D. Kincaid.

Some 1,800 employees have been on strike since Jan. 26 at Shell's refinery and chemical plant. Safety and health and pension issues are said to be the main stumbling blocks in the dispute.

Union officials said no bargaining sessions have been scheduled. John Pratt, Shell's refinery manager, said it was "unfortunate" the membership vote was not taken.

"We have felt that the local officials have refused our offer based on orders from officials in Denver," Pratt said. "And we understand that 33 per cent or less of the union membership attended the meeting (rejecting the election request)."

Barnes said the union hall was full at the time of the vote and that all his members had been given an opportunity to attend.

Meanwhile, lawyers for Shell and the union agreed Wednesday to a temporary injunction handed down by District Court Judge Madison Rayburn which bars union members from allegedly interfering with plant traffic.

The suit claimed that nails and tacks had been placed around the entrances at times, causing damage to company vehicles.

A hearing date on the merits of the case was not set immediately.

Couple Married In Crestview Church

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Beverly Peters and Tim Winn at three o'clock Feb. 3 in the Crestview Baptist Church and the couple is now residing in Big Spring.

The Rev. Jim Wilkerson, pastor, performed the rites as the couple stood before an altar decorated with white carnations and intertwined with ivy. Graduated white wedding tapers flanked the altar.

Mrs. Patsy Scott, organist, provided a prelude of traditional wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ginn IS 20 Trailer Park, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Winn of Coahoma.

The bride wore a street-length dress fashioned in white double knit with an empire bodice, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. White lace overlaid the bodice which topped an A-line skirt. Her shoulder-length illusion veil fell from a white bow interspersed with lace, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Friendship Club Has Breakfast

Mrs. M. B. McFaul was hostess when Friendship Breakfast Club met Tuesday at Holiday Inn. As members presented thoughts on friendship, special remembrance was made of Mrs. Oscar Williams, a member who is hospitalized. The next meeting will be at 9 a.m., March 13 at Holiday Inn. At that time, birthdays will be observed for Mrs. Frank George and Mrs. J. C. Pyle.

tions centered with white baby rosebuds.

Miss Kelli Striegler served as maid of honor wearing an empire gown of orange double knit featuring short sleeves, A-line skirt and sweetheart neckline. She carried a bouquet of daisies.

Jim Harlowe of Austin was best man, and serving as ushers were Robert Winn of Bryan, brother of the bridegroom, and Davis Sellars of Austin. Altar tapers were lighted by Gaylen Kelly.

A reception honored the newlyweds at the Ponderosa Restaurant immediately following the ceremony. An ecru lace cloth covered the servicing table which was centered with an arrangement of white carnations. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and crystal appointments were used.

Mrs. R. D. Kelly of Carlsbad, N.M., served refreshments.

Winn graduated from Coahoma High School and attended Howard County Junior College and the University of Texas. He is presently employed by Three-Way Welding Co. Mrs. Winn is a graduate of Big Spring High School and works at the Ponderosa Restaurant.

Attending the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Cherault, Odessa.

Honored At Gift Tea

Mrs. Wayne Leverett, the former Twilla Coffman, was honored with a gift tea Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Johnson, St. Lawrence.

The honoree was presented a corsage of red carnations as was her mother, Mrs. Harvey L. Coffman, and her grandmother, Evette Coffman and Cheryl Coffman.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with pink linen overlaid with a white crocheted cloth. Appointments were of crystal and silver.

Members of the house party were Miss Phyllis Johnson, Miss Deborah Robinson, Miss La Nita Eason and Miss Carolyn Spurny.

Five band students from Runnels and Goliad junior high schools were honored as top salespersons for fruit cakes during November and December, 1973, at a recent banquet at La Posada Restaurant.

Mrs. Jerry Barker, chairman of the band's fundraising fruit cake sales, presented certificates and gifts to Melody Dabney and Kathy Rhymes, both of Goliad, and Adrian Ayala, Darrell Stephens and Michael Stephens, all of Runnels.

James Baum was emcee for the banquet. Others assisting with the program were Charles Wash, Band Boosters president, and Bill Bradley.

Certificates were also presented to other band members. They were Jennifer Speegle, Pam Davis, Suzanne Ellison, Gay Humphrey, Lisa Kelly, Kathy Moore, David Trim, Gregg Cline, all of Runnels; Suzie Orr, Mike Wells, Debbie Shroyer, Jack Sawyer, Cindy Rudd, Randy Roberts, Janice Morgan, Debbie Morales, Lisa Laudonny, Darlene Emerson, Patricia Chanall, Bob Goodwin and Joy Chandler, all of Goliad.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Owens.

Mrs. C. Leek Gets Certificate

Mrs. Charles Leek was given a certificate of perfection Monday evening by Mrs. Lee Thackrey, lodge deputy for John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 at the IOOF Hall.

Several members attended a meeting of the Midland lodge recently, where Mrs. Thackrey presented a 25-year pin to Mrs. S. F. Hubble. Others attending were Mrs. LaVerne Rogers, Mrs. Leek and Miss Juanita Hamlin.

Mrs. A. I. Johnson, noble grand, presided Tuesday when 21 members reported 29 visits to the sick.

Honored for their birthdays were Mrs. M. O. Roberts, Mrs. Everett Hood, Mrs. Barney Hughes and Mrs. Leek.

Xi Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, attended the review Tuesday of the book, "The Devil and Aunt Serena," at the county library, presented by Mrs. R. L. Akins of Brady.

Following the review, members went to the First Federal Community Room for a business meeting, with Miss Beverly Jones as hostess.

Tentative plans were made for a Las Vegas party March 31 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMillan.

Mrs. R. W. Blasingame was honored as chapter, valentine queen at a party Friday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass.

The next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m., Feb. 27 in the home of Mrs. Horace Rankin. A program of arts and crafts will be presented.

for Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

The women agreed a speaker should "humanize" a talk by making it about a subject with which everyone can identify. They said names should be used that are familiar.

The speakers stressed the importance of using enough detail to make a talk interesting, but not so much that it becomes boring. They said public speakers should address a group with concrete and familiar words that will create pictures in the minds of the audience.

A group discussion about television talk show hosts followed the program. Mrs. Schuetter and Mrs. Harrington displayed pictures and asked members to give a one-word description of the emotion expressed in each picture.

Mizpah discs were presented to Mrs. Joseph Dobry, Mrs. Richard Ranaudo and Mrs. Joe Coffman who are moving from Big Spring. Members agreed to contribute to the Meistersingers trip fund.

Hostesses were Mrs. Coy Mitchell and Mrs. Robert Wilson. An "Ides of March" party is scheduled March 24 at the Webb Air Force Base pavilion.

Miss Amelia Jara Is School Beauty

Miss Amelia Jara, a senior at Monahans High School, was selected recently as "MHS Most Beautiful." Judging for the competition was done by members of the Art Department at North Texas State University. After graduation in June, Miss Jara plans to attend NTSU.

Miss Jara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Severo F. Jara and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Rubio, all of Monahans. She is also the granddaughter of Mrs. Eugenia Fierro, 706 NW 5th, Big Spring.

Ceremony Performed Thursday Evening

Mrs. Marie Price and Dr. C. A. Aagesen are on a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico, following their marriage Wednesday evening in the chapel of First United Methodist Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor, and the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church, before an altar enhanced with pink roses, candles and greenery. Mrs. Ernest R. Faubion was pianist, and the vocalist was Mrs. Don Newsom.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of hot pink chiffon styled with high collar and sheer puffed sleeves cuffed at the wrists. A band of self fabric marked the empire line of the bodice. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. N. M. McMichael of Ira served as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown in light blue chiffon and carried a nosegay of roses.

Attending the wedding from their home in Chicago, Ill., were the bridegroom's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Aagesen III, and their daughter, Miss Lisa Aagesen. The younger Dr. Aagesen served as best man, and Miss Aagesen was the flower girl.

Upon returning from Acapulco, Dr. and Mrs. Aagesen will reside at 508 Highland Drive.

Survey Shows What Senior Citizens Need

Surveys completed by local senior citizens are coming in to Howard County Council on Aging, and many more are expected.

Preliminary review of the first 50 returned surveys reveals 28 residents who live alone, 20 who do not drive and 14 who think they might be interested in doing some volunteer work outside their homes.

In reply to survey questions about telephones, 12 residents have indicated that they would welcome a daily phone call to make sure they are all right, and 28 have indicated their willingness to call another person for this purpose.

Of the first surveys returned, all but six were signed. Name and address are optional on the forms.

A number of senior citizens are making use of their surveys to convey additional information: desire to receive the council newsletter, comments about local transportation, health care, grocery prices, employment opportunities, names of friends who need surveys and wishes of success to the council.

About 4,000 survey forms and information sheets have been distributed by Howard County Council on Aging since Feb. 1. The council hopes through the survey to discover needs and interests of residents over 55.

Persons who have received surveys are urged to complete them as soon as possible and send them to the County Home Demonstration Office, Box 790, Big Spring, or drop them in the Jaycee Community Suggestion Box in the 200 block of West Third Street.

Persons wishing to fill out the survey who have not received one should call the home demonstration office, 7-8469.

TO DEAL WITH ISSUES—Carol Kummerfeld, director of the newly-created women's division of the Civil Rights Commission, said in a Washington interview she plans to deal with issues which cut across both racial and sex discrimination lines.

"A Nurse Needs To Understand Laws"

"As nursing becomes more complex, the practicing nurse needs a general understanding of some of the laws that affect her directly," said Mrs. E. P. Driver, speaking Tuesday at a meeting of District 24, Texas Nurses Association in the home of Mrs. Lee Bulter, 2604 Rebecca.

Mrs. Driver said the American Nurses Association is concerned for the health and welfare of the public, and for that reason, it supports the principle that everyone in the nursing field should be licensed.

state licensing authority promises evidence that the nurse has met minimum practice nursing," said Mrs. Driver. She said nursing is one of the health professions regulated by law in every state, as well as the District of Columbia and United States territories of Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, Texas was first licensed in 1909.

Mrs. Driver briefly outlined the Nursing Practice Act, which she said grants rights and confers responsibilities to protect the general public.

"Because laws are made, they may vary from state to state," said Mrs. Driver, "but the basic elements are the same."

The Nursing Practice Act provides for establishment of a board of nursing which reviews applications, conducts examinations, maintains a registry and is responsible for initiating legal action in cases of practicing without a license or license suspension.

Mrs. John Payne presided at the business meeting.

Plans were made for the next meeting, 7 p.m., March 13 at the Holiday Inn. Miss Dorothy Blume, an official from the TNA office in Austin, will be guest speaker.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
With all the embroidery that is being done now, I'm sure my idea will help someone.

To keep my thread handy and untangled, I tore a piece of old sheet to cover a throw pillow. On the sheet I copied the color numbers, staggering each row.

Put this to the throw pillow at each corner. Now, under each number place a drapery hook. Sort the thread according to numbers and hang them over the hooks.

Now all you have to do, is refer to the chart number and take off a piece of chart numbers and colors. thread. No need to do both small chair close to the I place the pillow on a chair where I work... Jane Richardson

Dear Heloise:
I only wish you had begun writing your column when I first started housekeeping 22 years ago, then "necessity was the mother of invention" for me, and even though I am not so financially strapped, I find more pleasure from "making do" or inventing some gimmick than I get going out and purchasing the same thing.

Dear Heloise:
When potty training my little girl, I found that unfastening and fastening the snaps on her one-piece outfits was really a chore. I hit upon the idea of cutting off the elastic part around the leg and the snaps. It opens up into a short A-line dress — perfect

Dear Heloise:.. My husband's pet peeve was a cold, wet, flapping shower curtain liner. He tried a couple of things.

He hit upon the idea of plastic clothespins, with fishing weights tied to them.

When the curtain needs washing, all I have to do, is unsnap the clothes pins. Sure works great in a large shower stall and no more grouchy husband when he takes his daily shower... Jane

"All great minds run in the same channel," so they say! One of you gals also suggested the fishing weights, but used safety pins for the fastening.

Keep fishing for new ideas, gals! ... Love, Heloise

World President Of Beauceants To Visit Here

Mrs. Clarence W. Fagerstrom, St. Paul, Minn., who serves as supreme worthy president of the world for Social Order of the Beauceants, will visit the local Beauceant Assembly at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 16 at the Masonic Temple.

Final plans for the event were made Monday. The visit will also be her official inspection of Midland Assembly No. 143, and members of that assembly will be present.

A dinner honoring Mrs. Fagerstrom will be held at 6 p.m. in the Settles Hotel, and a reception will be held for her following the meeting at Masonic Temple. Mrs. Ralph LaLonde presided Monday, and memorials were made to Knights Templar Eye Foundation in honor of R. V. Middleton.

Walking Papers

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a very wealthy married man for the last three years. I was married when we started seeing each other, but I got a divorce because he said if I were "free" he would divorce his wife and marry me.

He told me that he had not laid a hand on his wife for five years, now all of a sudden she's pregnant! (He explained it by saying he had to give her something for their last anniversary!)

I am wondering now if I am foolish to wait for him? He has children, and so have I. I quit work to be available to see him during the day, but there are days I never see him, and I am getting bored. He takes good care of me financially, but I am a young woman yet and need to know the future is secure.

I have had offers of dates with other men, but have stayed true to him. Please tell me if you think I'm being played for a fool. Or should I wait out his wife?

Tired and impatient
DEAR T. AND L.: Why don't you give HIM something for his anniversary? His walking papers. If it's security you're after, you won't find it with him.

DEAR ABBY: When you go to a restaurant and order a sandwich, and it comes with a few slices of pickle on the edge of the plate, are you supposed to eat the pickle? Or is it just there for decoration?

We took a survey at our school. Out of 125 students, 75 rejected the pickle, and 50 ate it (mostly with their fingers). Can you just imagine all the pickles that are wasted in the city of New York alone? How would you vote, Abby?

IN A PICKLE
DEAR IN: With the pickle eaters.

DEAR ABBY: You have absolutely made my year! I have had 21 years of means and groans because of the name I gave my youngest daughter. And then you come along and print a letter from a girl who at age 18 actually CHOSE that very name out of all the names in the world!

My thanks to you, and to Bethany Lyn Brown from the mother of another Bethany Lyn. MRS. HULL

DEAR ABBY: I have read that the quality of one's voice changes with age, and I'm sure it's true. And that is my problem because my husband said to me the other day: "I can't help it, but your voice just grates on my nerves!"

I have always been considered a good conversationalist and my personality has been described as "bubbling." But now I am so self-conscious about my voice I don't talk any more than I absolutely have to. And when I do talk to my husband, I try to use different tones and pitches so as not to irritate him.

I would be very grateful to you or to any of your readers if this condition of mine could be improved. Thank you. UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: On the chance that your problem is medical, first you should see a throat specialist for a complete examination of your vocal chords. If you are healthy, a speech therapist or a voice coach might be very helpful. Your local college (speech or drama department) can make recommendations. And good luck!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

State President Will Visit Rebekahs In Area

Mrs. I. O. Collins was presented a certificate of merit Tuesday by Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284. The award was made by Mrs. Travis Melton at the IOOF Hall.

Also, Mrs. Melton announced the chapter is invited to Kermit March 3 when Mrs. Betty Adams, Rebekah state president, will visit West Texas lodges.

Mrs. Joe Awtry, noble grand, presided. Mrs. A. G. Hall, district deputy president, announced a general school of instruction for District 11 is scheduled at 8 p.m., Feb. 27 at the IOOF Hall.

Following business, a Valentine party was held. Games were led by Mrs. Lonnie Griffith, Mrs. J. E. Brown and Mrs. J. R. Petty. Mrs. Logan Grider was pianist.

Honored for their birthdays were Jim Mitchell, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. J. L. Unger and Mrs. Collins. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don Chapman of Odessa.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Joe Jacobs, Mrs. Collins, and Mrs. A. F. Gilliland from a table decorated in a valentine theme.

A LOVELIER YOU

Exercise Routines Contour Thighlines

By MARY SUE MILLER
If your figure problem takes the form of a thick or flaccid thigh, a solution is found in this routine:

1. Lie face down on floor with backs of hands under forehead, and legs stretched straight. Bend knees and try to touch heels to buttocks. Holding knee bend, alternately bounce thighs against floor — 10 counts in all. Relax and repeat twice.

2. On back, stretch out at right angles to a wall so that feet press against it. Now push down hard with left foot and at the same time, pull up hard in left thigh muscles; hold for 10 slow counts. Relax and work with right leg.

Alternating sides, repeat 5 times.

3. Standing erect, point left foot to left and bend knee; slide right foot to right as far as possible. Shift weight to right foot and bend knee, straightening left leg. Continue to shift from side to side for 10 to 20 counts.

Performed daily in the order given, the exercises force the muscles to "grip" the flesh. The flesh firms and trims in direct ratio to the strength of the grip. Consistent work is necessary for best results. So go to it and keep at it.

And, please note, a very long or a very brief girdle is indicated, while awaiting improvements. Any garment that cuts the thigh midway is apt to cause fleshy problems.

LEGLINE TRIMMERS
If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new leaflet, "Legline Trimmers," which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin.

Midlander Raps School Buses Law

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas law allows school buses to pack on as many pupils standing in the aisles as the bus will eat, and Sen. W. E. Snelson, D-Midland, says it is dangerous and he wants to change it.

Another reason to abolish the law, Snelson told the Senate Education Committee today, is that unless Texas makes an effort to change the law the federal government could cut off 10 per cent of Texas' federal highway funds.

But he asked the committee to delay action on his bill wiping out the bus law because, he said, if pupils were not allowed to stand there would not be enough buses to transport them.

W. E. Hale, inspector for the Department of Public Safety, said there are 1,200 school bus accidents in Texas each year, and many injuries result from students being forced to stand. But he said if the current law was rescinded, and not replaced with another law, "it would authorize as many as could crowd onto the bus—there would be limitation."

Now, if a bus seats 30, an additional 30 can stand.

Hale said there are only six body manufacturers for school buses in the United States and orders are backed up six months.

One of the problems of crowded buses, said Leon Graham of the Texas Education Agency, is that drivers pick up "ineligible" riders—meaning those who live within two miles of the school.

He predicted that by the end of the next school year, or May 1974, the agency "will have eliminated standees on school buses."

Snelson's bill was sent to a subcommittee at his request, pending completion of a study by the education agency.

Morahan Retires From THP Duty

MIDLAND — Maj. E. K. Browning Jr., commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety's 49-county West Texas region, announced today the retirement of Highway Patrol Capt. George L. Morahan March 1 after 42 years of service.

Capt. Morahan began his career with the DPS Oct. 14, 1931, when he joined what was then the Highway Motor Patrol, being operated under the Texas Highway Department. He was stationed as patrolman in San Angelo, Schulenburg, Hillsboro, Mineral Wells, Abilene, Stamford and Sherman. He was promoted to Sergeant in 1938 and was stationed in Pecos, El Paso, Corpus Christi and Ft. Worth. He was promoted to Captain in 1947 and served in Wichita Falls, Pecos and Abilene, where he has headed the Abilene highway patrol district since 1951.

Capt. Morahan is to be replaced March 1 by Captain Homer Bailey, who has served twice before in Abilene, once as Morahan's assistant.

Quake Sympathy

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea and North Vietnam have sent messages of sympathy to Communist Chinese leaders following a strong earthquake in south-central China Feb. 6 that caused death and destruction, the official Hsinhua news agency reported today.

Car Plunge Kills Four

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Four youths were killed Tuesday night when their car plunged into a lake near here and sank, state police said.

The victims were identified as Randy Hight, about 18, of Judsonia, driver of the car; and James R. Ramsey, Charles R. Ramsey and Debra Ramsey, all of Kensett, and ranging in age from about 9 to 15.

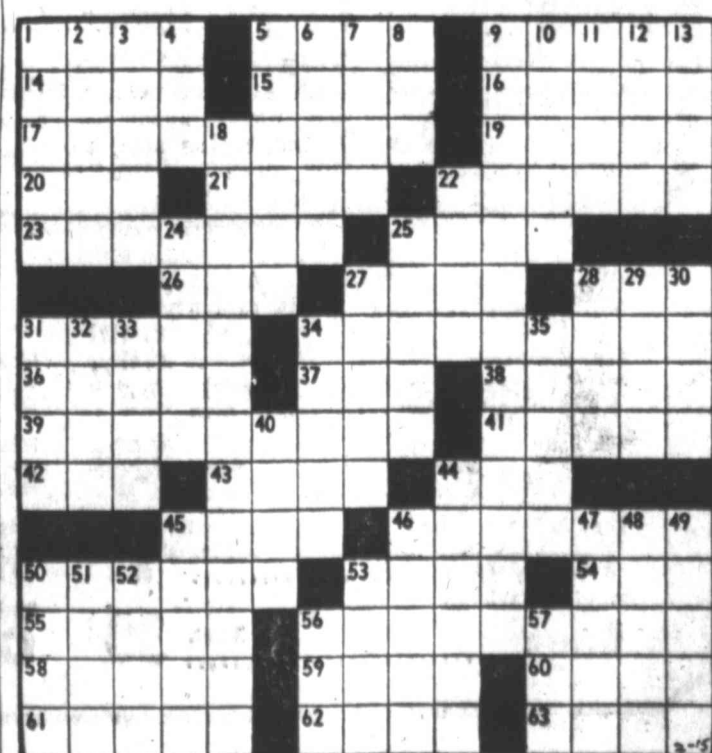

James Baker, about 17, of Kensett escaped and was admitted to a Searcy hospital.

State police said the accident occurred shortly after 7 p.m. Officers said witnesses told them the car was traveling on a county road and ran a stop sign at its intersection with Arkansas 36, jumped 80 feet of ditch into an embankment at the side of a small lake, then flipped over the embankment and 60 feet out into the water. The car with the bodies in it was pulled out about 10 p.m.

Sirloin Steak

FURR'S PROTEIN, LB. $1.19

HUNGARIAN ROUND STEAK

Yield: 4 servings

2 to 2 1/2 pounds ProTen Beef Round Steak, 1 inch thick
1/2 cup fat 1/4 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup beef bouillon
3 carrots, pared and sliced diagonally
2 medium onions, sliced and separated into rings
1 teaspoon paprika 1 cup dairy sour cream

Melt fat in a large skillet. Combine flour, salt and pepper, reserving 2 tablespoons. Dip meat into seasoned flour. Brown meat slowly on each side in melted fat. Add beef bouillon, carrots, and onion; simmer 1 hour. Remove lid and add carrots and onion, simmer an additional 30 to 35 minutes, or until carrots are tender. Remove meat and vegetables to a hot platter. Fold sour cream into sour cream. Gradually blend in 2 tablespoons of seasoned flour. Add cream mixture to meat juices and heat slowly for 5 minutes. To serve spoon gravy and vegetables over meat and serve hot.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Think in terms of your own needs and significance to them. Think of making big headway with your own initiative. You will be gaining the progress that you want, however, you need to systematize and handle these matters wisely. If you have some unfinished jobs that can bring you success, concentrate upon them now.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Talk over with right people your finest aims and gain their ideas and cooperation so you obtain them more quickly, successfully. Show you are a person of real ability. Evening is best spent in home.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Sit down with those at home and try to harmonize your ideas and efforts more wisely so everyone is happier and more successful. Use different tactics and get better results with long-range aims. Show you have determination.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Make appointments early with persons who can help you gain your aims and keep them on time is best way to proceed now. Find the right methods to make big headway with allies, both new and old. Forget all that extravagance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you get in touch with an expert and talk over that plan you have in mind, you then know for sure what to do about it. Hit on the right system, also. Contide in late in p.m. and get good advice.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Sit down with those at home and try to harmonize your ideas and efforts more wisely so everyone is happier and more successful. Use different tactics and get better results with long-range aims. Show you have determination.

U.S.-Cuba Pact Signing Staged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S.-Cuban agreement to curb air and sea hijacking goes into effect this morning with simultaneous signing ceremonies here and in Havana.

The 11:30 a.m. time was set at Cuba's request, with Secretary of State William P. Rogers acting for the United States and an unnamed Cuban official signing a separate text in Havana.

Although the exact text was kept under wraps prior to the actual signing, U.S. officials Wednesday night confirmed the basic effects as reported earlier by The Associated Press.

These included provisions for prosecution or extradition of persons charged with hijacking a plane or a ship and a U.S. pledge to enforce its neutrality laws barring use of American property or soil to harass Cuba.

The pact is not retroactive and will not affect hijackers who already have fled to one country or the other.

In addition, the United States retains its traditional policy of accepting as a political refugee a person who arrives without having endangered the crew or passengers of a ship or plane.

This had been a problem in the 2½ months of negotiations. Cuba originally wanted the agreement to cover such acts as the seizing of a crewless or passengerless craft.

The result of the negotiations, which were conducted indirectly through the Swiss ambassadors in Havana and Washington, were described as highly satisfactory from the U.S. view.

Officials said the agreement would be both a real and psychological block for hijackers. But in spite of these benefits, the American officials repeated that the agreement is not considered an opening to better general relations with Cuba.

They say President Nixon has not changed his position of last November when he said the Fidel Castro government would have to change its generally hostile attitude toward Washington and stop its policy of exporting revolution to other hemispheric nations.

THEN, LATER AND LATEST—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who is undergoing hair transplants, shows the success of the operation to date. He is shown as he appeared in December 1970, left, as he appeared at a committee meeting with bandaged head in March 1972, center, and as he appeared Tuesday at the Capitol.
