SOVIET AIRLINER Air Crash Claims 77 Persons

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — A three-jet Soviet airliner crashed in smoke and flames while landing at Prague airport today. Western airline sources said 77 of the 99 persons aboard perished.

The sources said there were 22 survivors — 14 of the 87 passengers and 8 of the 12 crew members.

The captain, blood streaming from his face, was seen being led to an ambulance.

Without giving details, the official Czechoslovakia news agency CTK confirmed the plane crashed "during a landing maneuver" and "some of the crew and passengers survived." The crash was the second air disaster to strike Soviet aviation in the last four months. Last Oct. 13, 176 persons died when a Soviet airliner crashed near Moscow in the worst recorded civil air disaster to date.

An Austrian Airlines employe at Prague's Ruzyně Airport said persons who had witnessed today's crash told her the plane caught fire as it was approaching touchdown at about 10:15 a.m. No explosion was heard.

"The plane hit the ground with one wing and then crashed, disintegrating," she said.

There was a low overcast, but no rain.

Immediately after the crash, the airport was closed.

First unofficial reports said as many as 300 persons might have been killed in the crash.

Derailment Investigation

DOECENA, Ala. (AP) — Federal authorities are investigating a freight train derailment and fire that caused the evacuation of this small suburban community near Birmingham because of the threat of toxic gas fumes and explosions.

There were conflicting reports as to the number of persons evacuated after the Frisco Railroad freight train derailed and several tank cars containing toxic chemicals caught fire early Sunday.

Sgt. Bob Gardner of the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department said at least 500 families — about 2,500 persons — were told to leave their homes because of possible danger from toxic fumes. But Alabama State Trooper Neil English said only about 500 persons were evacuated.

Skipper Lepich, director of disaster services for the Alabama division of the Red Cross, said mobile units were set up in nearby Pratt City and Enley and the evacuated families were provided food and blankets.

W. A. Rogers of the Federal Railroad Administration said residents of Doecena were allowed to return to their homes late Sunday.

He said there were no injuries and that his agency and others were conducting an investigation of the incident.

Jim Felder, a spokesman for DuPont Chemical Co., said two of the cars contained acrylonitrile, a chemical used in the manufacture of synthetic materials.

LABOR LEADERS, NIXON HUDDLE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon met for 45 minutes today behind closed doors with the nation's most powerful labor leaders and later told newsmen they discussed a number of points "of mutual interest."

The President said he would leave it to AFL-CIO President George Meany, who had greeted the President with a warm handshake, to elaborate at a later news conference.

But the President volunteered that he had expressed to the 35-member AFL-CIO Executive Council his appreciation for the support "most of the leaders" of organized labor had given "our programs of national defense and to achieve peace with honor."

Labor officials who participated in the closed door meeting said Nixon pledged to implement an "open door policy" at the White House and said he hoped it would lead to continued exchanges of views.

"He wants support, obviously, on his trade bill," said one AFL-CIO official who was in the meeting. "But he didn't ask for a thing," said another labor informant.

Fed Judge Guilty Of Taking Bribe

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal Judge Otto Kerner was convicted today of accepting racing stock as a bribe while he was governor of Illinois.

Kerner, 64, was the first active member of the U.S. Court of Appeals ever convicted in a criminal trial.

He and his codefendant, Theodore J. Isaacs, were found guilty of conspiracy, bribery, fraud and income tax evasion. Kerner was also convicted of perjury and making false statements to a federal agent.

The seven women and five men of the U.S. District Court jury had deliberated since Saturday for a total of 16 hours before the verdict was returned at 12:45 p.m. EST.

83 YEARS
Kerner faces a maximum sentence of 83 years in prison and fines of $93,000.

Isaacs, 62, who served as director of revenue under Kerner, faces a maximum sentence of 73 years and $73,000 in fines.

Kerner and Isaacs were accused of accepting racing stock worth $300,000 for $50,000 in exchange for insuring that certain racing groups received favorable meeting dates.

Kerner, a former U.S. attorney, a major general in the National Guard, and governor of Illinois from 1961 to 1968, was appointed to the federal appeals court in 1969 by the late President Lyndon Johnson.

CONSPIRACY
He and Isaacs were indicted Dec. 15, 1971 by a federal grand jury. He has been on leave with pay from the appeals court since his indictment.

Kerner showed no emotion as the clerk read the jury verdict that he and Isaacs were "guilty as charged in the indictment."

Both men were charged with one count of conspiracy, four counts of promotion bribery, eight counts of mail fraud and two counts of income tax evasion. Kerner was charged with one count of perjury and one count of making a false statement to a federal agent.

Judge Robert L. Taylor of Knoxville, Tenn., appointed to preside at the trial because of Kerner's relationship with other judges in the Northern District of Illinois, did not set a date for sentencing. He granted defense lawyers 30 days to file motions.

Neither Kerner nor his lawyer, Paul R. Connolly, commented after the verdict. Isaacs' lawyer, Warren Wolfson, said, "We have no plans for an appeal right now."

The courtroom was packed for the reading of the verdict, although the Federal Building was closed because it was a legal holiday. Kerner's two adopted children, Tony and Helena, sat in the first row near the defense table as they had during the trial, which began Jan. 3.

The government called 40 prosecution witnesses and produced over 6,000 pages of documents during the trial. Their key witnesses were Mrs. Marjorie Everett, former head of Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises; and William S. Miller, chairman of the Illinois Racing Board during Kerner's administration.

Miller, 72, also was indicted but testified against Kerner after the government agreed to dismiss charges against him.

Mrs. Everett testified that $300,000 worth of racing stock was made available to Kerner and Isaacs. Miller testified that he relayed the stock offer to Kerner in the governor's office on Nov. 9, 1962.

The government also charged that Kerner and Isaacs concealed ownership of the stock through complicated financial transactions and through improper filing of tax returns in 1966 and 1967.

Kerner, who authored the 1968 Presidential Commission report on Violence in America, was accused of lying to a federal grand jury when he denied he ever discussed racing dates with Illinois legislators or racing board members.

Kerner, a Democrat, testified for 3½ days in his own behalf. The defense argued that the government prosecutor, Republican James R. Thompson, was "out to get Kerner."

States by Wednesday morning at the latest.

Navy Lt. James W. Bailey, 30, of Kosouko, Miss., left Clark Field aboard a C-141 medical transport with a flight and medical crew of 11 persons.

Bailey was rushed through medical and administrative processing at Clark because his father has been hospitalized after a heart attack. This was also the reason for his early release by Hanoi, which had not originally included him on the list of 20 POWs for release Sunday.

Another Navy lieutenant, Robert E. Wideman, 29, of Bay Village, Ohio, stayed behind so that Bailey could leave.

Bailey's four-engine jet transport was due in Memphis, Tenn., at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday, a spokesman said. He is to finish medical processing at the U.S. Navy Hospital there.

Operation Homecoming spokesmen said that all 20 men released Sunday were in good condition.

HEALTH GOOD
"Their health is so good that in some cases we have had to assign two escorts per returnee," a spokesman said.

"The returnees were going through their processing faster than one escort could keep up with."

Most of them completed telephone calls to their families. But like the first 142 men who arrived at Clark a week ago, those released Sunday got little sleep during their first night in freedom.

"One man was up all night, one only got one hour's sleep," a spokesman said.

"They were talking all night, elated," he said.

Informed sources at Clark said the POWs, when told by the North Vietnamese Saturday of their impending release, thought it was a trick and said they would not leave the prison.

"Their understanding was the release would come in four equal groups as stated in the protocols," the source said.

NOT A HOAX
But North Vietnam advanced the release date for the 20 as an expression of appreciation for U.S. presidential adviser Henry Kissinger's recent visit.

Not until Sunday morning, when a member of the International Commission for Control and Supervision convinced them it was not a hoax, did they agree to board the buses for Gia Lam airport, the source said.

A LEVY ON CARS Lake Visitors May Pay Fee

For the first time in Big Spring history, a $1 entrance fee may be levied on all vehicles entering the Moss Creek Lake area if the City Commission lends its approval to a new ordinance at its next meeting.

City Manager Harry Nagel said the entrance fee will include the 50-cent per day fishing permit cost which is already in effect.

Fees of a season fishing permit will increase from $10 to $15 a year for married couples and from $5 to $7.50 for individuals.

The ordinance would also change the age at which exemption from fees is allowed. It would be lowered from 17 years old to 15 years old.

Also included in the ordinance are provisions forbidding hunting, bow-fishing, shooting of firearms and swimming.

Nagel said hunters should be barred at the lake area because of excess danger and because surrounding landowners have complained of cattle being shot.

Last year, the city collected $6,900 in fees from the several hundred thousand people who visited the lake.

Moisture Total Is Double The Norm

Snow the end of last week pushed the precipitation total, which already was above normal, even higher.

The Big Spring Experiment Station has measured a total of 2.44 inches of moisture this year. Normal for the Jan. 1-Feb. 19 period is 1.03 inches of precipitation.

Included in the total for 1973 is 0.20 inches of moisture for the weekend. Snow depth was measured at 2.5 inches.

Fugitive Frees His Girl Friend

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Breakouts from two jails early today sent officers looking for a man accused of burglary and his girl friend, held for possible parole violation.

Officers said Charles Boyce Hardin, 27, picked the lock of his cell at Brownwood, then went through the roof and down a tree.

A little later, officers said, he freed Kay Cagle, 21, from the Mills County Jail at Goldthwaite, 30 miles from Brownwood. Officers would not say how Hardin got Miss Cagle out.

Officers quoted Hardin as saying earlier that he would free Miss Cagle if he could escape.

Plane Crash Kills Ex-Dallas Cowboy

BATTLEGROUND, Wash. (AP) — Lynn Douglas Hoyem, a former professional football player for the Philadelphia Eagles and Dallas Cowboys, has been identified as one of three persons killed Saturday in light plane crash.

Hoyem, 33, of Renton, Wash., was listed as the pilot of a twin-engine Aero Commander that crashed in a wooded area near Battleground on a flight from Salem, Ore., to Seattle.

Other victims were identified as Alfred C. Allen Jr., 36, and James G. Owen, 27, both of Bellevue. Hoyem, a graduate of Long Beach State, was a guard with the Cowboys and then moved to the Eagles in 1964 where he played for five seasons.

He became a pilot for Northwest Airlines about four years ago and was on furlough from the airline at the time of the crash.

Machine-Gun Two Mailmen

BELFAST (AP) — A gunman believed to be a Protestant machine-gunned two Roman Catholic mailmen in the back in Belfast Sunday, and British troops claimed they shot a guerrilla in a clash with snipers early today in a Catholic section of the city.

The death of the two mailmen raised to 728 the confirmed toll in three and a half years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

MEN ARE BEASTS, EX-SEXPOT SAYS

PARIS (AP) — Brigitte Bardot has become a bitter recluse who says she's allergic to humanity. The sexpot of the sixties says acting is "not the center of my life" and adds she may quit making movies in two years and retire to a farm.

Miss Bardot, who turned 38 last September, has made fewer and fewer movies in recent years and rarely turns up in the papers.

Miss Bardot, who has been married three times and had a series of semipermanent boy friends, made it clear, according to the magazine that, her fascination with men is drying up.

"I hate humanity. I am allergic to it. I see no one; I don't go out ... I am disgusted with everything ... Men are beasts, and even beasts don't behave like them."

Wyn Sargent Keeps Quiet About Chief

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Adressess Wyn Sargent, the divorcee who married an Indonesian cannibal chieftain and then was expelled from the country, was back in the United States today—but with little to say.

Dressed in a green blouse and green slacks, the tall and slim free-lance writer-photographer refused to talk to newsmen after she got off a flight arriving from Hong Kong Sunday night.

Miss Sargent, 42, had said she married the jungle chief Obaharak in Indonesia to try to exert influence to end local warfare and "bring three savage, warring tribes to live together in peace and harmony."

She said she went there to observe and photograph the people.

SEN. SAM J. ERVIN Attracts Controversy Like Lightning Rod

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam J. Ervin, the Senate's second oldest man, tells down home stories with a flourish of his eyebrows, attracts controversy like a lightning rod and holds the Constitution in almost biblical reverence.

Passing out pocket-size copies of the 184-year-old document, the Democratic senator and former North Carolina Supreme Court judge, now 76, commands nearly every strategic point in this year's battles between Capitol Hill and President Nixon's White House.

Starting Tuesday, Ervin opens a new set of hearings on proposals to protect the 1st Amendment, rights of newsmen and shield them from court orders to disclose confidential sources.

Just concluded are several heated sessions of Ervin's separation-of-powers subcommittee on an Ervin bill to limit the president's ability to impound funds authorized by Congress.

He has been in the center of moves to restrict the doctrine of executive privilege as a device to prevent Congress from questioning key presidential aides.

The Senate has approved, 84 to 13, an Ervin bill requiring Senate confirmation of Roy L. Ash and all his successors as director of the Office of Budget and Management, a post Ervin calls the second-most important job in the federal government.

As he has since he took office in June of 1954, Ervin is approaching his assignments with the Constitution as both rule-book and guidebook.

"The Constitution is the finest thing to come out of the mind of man and the experience of man," he said during a civil-rights filibuster in the 1960s. "I am going to do the best I can to see that this Constitution is handed down to my grandchildren in as good a shape as it was when I came into this world."

SAME WORDS

In the 1970s he is using much the same words in telling officials of the Nixon administration the Constitution won't allow them to take some of the actions they are taking.

"I challenge the President to show me a syllable in the Constitution that gives him the power to impound funds," Ervin told Ash at a hearing earlier this month.

Then, in virtually the next breath, he said he agrees with Nixon that some current programs should be stopped or cut back and said he would even vote against overriding a presidential veto on some of them.

But the issue, he said, is "whether the current trend toward executive usurpation of legislative power is to continue unabated until we have arrived at a presidential form of government."

OH, HE LAUGHS

In the hearing that followed, Deputy Atty. Gen. Joseph T. Sneed contended the president has an inherent, implied right in the Constitution to impound funds if that is needed to stem inflation and to "faithfully execute" conflicting laws.

Ervin said he could find no such language in his copy of the Constitution and told Sneed: "You make the best possible defense—for a guilty client."

The constitutional quotes and the offhand remarks are made with a twist of the bushy, white eyebrows that sometimes seem to lead an independent life of their own at the top of Ervin's jowled and fleshy red-cheeked face.

And when the story is funny or if he likes the line, he laughs as long and hard as anyone.

Anderson Still In Dark About Edict By Jurist

Supt. Sam Anderson said that he has had no new communication from the government in connection with school districts found by HEW to be in presumptive violation of court rulings.

Supt. Anderson said the announcement Saturday by a Washington, D.C. federal court judge's order that the Nixon administration force integration or cut off financial aid was made known to Big Spring Schools only through the stories in the newspapers.

According to the news story, those Texas schools found to be in presumptive violation of court rulings included Big Spring, Corsicana, Goose Creek, Grand Prairie, Marshall and Victoria.

The last time Big Spring School officials have seen or heard from any HEW officials was early last summer when the government officials spent five days here checking for compliance and submitted a report.

Texas schools listed as in substantial racial disproportion were San Antonio, Seguin, Taylor, Sweetwater, Calhoun, Lamar, Snyder, Plainview, Kingsville, Wilmer-Hutchings, Brownfield, McKinney, Galveston, Brownwood, Levelland, Fort Bend, Northside, Monahan, Wickert-Poyte, Tazarkana, Jacksonville, Hardin, Jefferson and Mineral Wells.

A 58-year-old Vealmoor man was arrested by the Texas Highway Patrol Friday for communicating a deadly threat, then released on his personal recognizance as authorized by County Judge A. G. Mitchell.

GM Builder Mott Dies

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — "Opportunity is not closed," Charles Stewart Mott once said. "There's still a premium on brains and energy—but not for every Tom, Dick and Harry looking for a coffee break."

Mott, the auto industry pioneer and philanthropist who died Sunday at 97, exemplified his philosophy on work and opportunity.

The son of a cider and vinegar manufacturer, he helped mold General Motors Corp. into the world's largest industrial organization and founded the world's fifth largest charitable foundation.

During his life he gave away more than $130 million and was said to have been worth $1 billion at one time.

Mott, whose Flint wheel and axle plant was a cornerstone of General Motors when it was formed early in the century, served on the board of directors until his death.

"The contribution of Charles Stewart Mott to the corporation spanned virtually its entire history," said GM Board Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg. "Few men deserve the title of pioneer more than he."

Despite his generosity, Mott was frugal in personal dealings. He bought his suits off the rack and drove low-priced GM cars.

At his death, his Mott Foundation was worth about $400 million. In 1963 he endowed it with nearly two million shares of GM stock.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, with burial in the Mott family mausoleum.

Survivors include his widow, Ruth Rawlings Mott, a son, Stewart Rawlings Mott; and four daughters, Almee Butler of St. Paul, Minn., Maryanne Turnbull Meynet of Santa Barbara, Calif., Elsa Beatrice Ives of New York City and Susan Elizabeth Webb of Birmingham, Ala.

IT FINALLY HAPPENED — Will Rogers finally met a man he didn't like: Old Man Winter, who brought a tear to the eye and cheek of the Rogers statue at the Will Rogers Memorial Center at Fort Worth. Freezing temperatures quickly froze the droplet.

Nation Heading For Depression?

OKLAHOMA-CITY (AP) — The buying power of one-fourth of the people in a state, then the economy is going to suffer," he said.

Stone said the biggest blows would come from the loss of the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, which provides grants to farmers for soil conservation, and the lifting of planting quotas, which he said would force more farmers to plant more crops and risk the chance of lower prices.

He also mentioned the elimination of an emergency loan program that allows farmers to borrow federal money to compensate for losses from droughts, freezes and other natural disasters, and the raising of interest rates for loans to rural electric cooperatives.

There also is concern about a possible loss of price supports when the legislation which provides for them expires at the end of 1973, he said. Under this plan, farmers are permitted to borrow from the government on the value of their produce until they can sell it for a satisfactory price.

Stone said these price supports, as well as the other programs, are necessary for the livelihood of farmers.

There is no way the farmer can recover the lost income by passing along extra costs to consumers, he said.

Stone said the agriculture industry is at the mercy of a president who does not have sufficient interest in its welfare.

Council Considering Cost Of New Xerox Equipment

Salesmen with Xerox and a cancer insurance program made presentations to County Commissioners Court this morning.

Representatives of Xerox were given no decision about the question of replacing copying equipment in the county clerk's office. The court wants to study the cost of using present equipment compared to use and lease of new equipment.

Howard County pays $1,380 plus some for excess paper for a Xerox machine in the basement of the county clerk's office and owns a 20-year-old copier there.

Two new pieces of equipment would be leased to the county for $550 per month, included in this price is maintenance and some paper.

If new equipment is leased, the old large copier could be sold and the leasing the Xerox machine now in the basement discontinued.

One of the two Xerox representatives, Don Hughes, suggested the court lease the equipment for a 90-day trial period.

INDIAN GIVING

"Just like a man buying his wife a diamond ring and letting her wear it a couple of weeks. How you going to get rid of it," County Judge A. G. Mitchell asked.

Mitchell suggested J. Walter Unger, a Big Spring insurance salesman, find the minimum number of county employees who must participate for groups rates—five.

Unger wanted the court to sanction group cancer insurance to be purchased by interested parties and billed to each family separately. Groups rates reduce the cost per family from $60 to $45, he said.

Commissioner Bill Crooker opposed the idea, because he felt it would sound like the court was endorsing the policy. But Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas had no objection.

DIESEL INCREASE

Mitchell told the court their diesel supplier wanted to increase the contract amount paid for the fuel because the price of diesel had increased. Mrs. Virginia S. Black, county auditor, said Howard County government used 40,470 gallons of diesel last year.

This fuel contract expires March 15, Mrs. Black said.

In earlier business, Marvin Hanson, road administrator, told the court fence building for the Rankin-O'Daniel Road was continuing.

Kazoo In Pocket Proves Painful

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — Michael Burke, 29, walked into the Sportsman's Tavern and accidentally dropped his kazoo down one of the pockets of a coin-operated pool table.

He reached in for the kazoo and found that his hand had stuck.

The fire siren in this community of 7,200 screamed, bringing out in force the town's volunteers, known as the Fire Ladies.

Armed with axes, firemen took just a few minutes to break open part of the pool table and free Burke's by-then swollen hand and the kazoo.

Burke was happy, but the tavern's owner wasn't. He said he would charge Burke for the pool table cost—$750.

Kissinger Briefs Japan's Leaders On Reconstruction

TOKYO (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger briefed Japan's leaders today on his visits to Hanoi and Peking and heard them express hope the reconstruction of Vietnam can begin soon.

Arriving from the Chinese mainland, where on Saturday he had an unexpected two-hour meeting with Chairman Mao Tse-tung, President Nixon's national security adviser went directly into a one-hour and 40-minute conference with Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka and Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira.

THEY ARE EAGER

Afterward, Ohira told newsmen little more than that the talks revolved around a wide spectrum of subjects, including Vietnam reconstruction, the international monetary situation and China's relations with the United States and Japan.

Kissinger confided to the Japanese the gist of his talks with Mao, but Ohira said he had been asked not to disclose it. Nixon's director of communications, Herbert Klein, indicated an announcement will be made on Kissinger's return to the United States.

On Vietnam reconstruction, in which the Japanese are eager to participate, nothing was said about definite future plans, Ohira said.

Kissinger made no statement on his arrival, and the U.S. Embassy said he would have nothing to say for publication during his overnight visit.

NO INFO

The Florida White House announced that Kissinger held a final five-hour meeting Sunday with Premier Chou En-lai. The announcement said the talk, like the others the American envoy held with the Chinese leaders, was "frank and wide-ranging," but it gave no information on what was said.

This brought Kissinger's formal discussions with Chou, Chairman Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese leaders to a total of about 20 hours since the American's arrival in Peking Thursday.

The Japanese believe Kissinger's unexpected two-hour meeting with Mao Saturday set the seal to an important diplomatic development, possibly an agreement to establish some kind of mutual permanent representation following withdrawal of American troops from Taiwan.

No agenda for the Kissinger's talks with Tanaka has been announced, and the visit—Kissinger's third to Japan—had all the earmarks of something arranged at the last minute.

KEYS TO PEACE

Though Japan is regularly described as one of the keys to peace in Asia, there has been a tendency to overlook it during U.S. negotiations with other powers in Asia. It has not been invited to the international conference on Vietnam opening in Paris Feb. 28.

But Japan is the No. 1 economic power in Asia and has expressed eagerness to participate in the economic recovery of both Vietnam. It is considered possible that Nixon will bring it into some unilateral approach to the problem, particularly in view of mounting opposition within the American Congress to unilateral U.S. aid to North Vietnam.

Of even greater concern to Tanaka is what the Nixon administration proposes to do next in the monetary field. Following the devaluation of the dollar and a 16 percent upward float of the yen, Japanese economists are waiting for the other shoe to drop.

Exporters fear another American surcharge on imports. Since nothing so far appears to have seriously affected Japan's booming export trade, some Japanese businessmen are urging the government to maintain the emergency control measures invoked last November. The problem continues to be Japan's $4 billion surplus in its trade with the United States.

The conference is being sponsored by the state legislature and the Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education in Texas.

Strong Lobbying By Lesbians Takes Convention By Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by women who admit to being lesbians, the gay-liberation movement is fighting for acceptance by "straight" feminists at the convention of the National Organization for Women.

The homosexuals won rhetoric in the NOW bylaws at a meeting 18 months ago. Now they have organized to get action in support of their particular causes.

The strong lobbying by lesbians has taken the convention by surprise.

Most NOW members realize homosexuals suffer double discriminations and favor NOW acting in their behalf.

She predicted resolutions expected to be approved at this convention will clear the way for future cooperation between NOW and gay-lib chapters on legislation concerning women's rights.

"I don't see any absorption of gay lib into NOW," Ms. Abbott, who prefers that form of address, said in an interview, "but NOW will be free to work with gay-lib forces from now on."

BIG BEEF

"Our big beef is with the NOW legal-defense-and-educational fund," she said, "because they will not take a lesbian mother's case. They are clearly gunshy about us."

She said lesbians don't want to scuttle or crimp NOW's drives for the equal-rights amendment or any other women's-rights measures.

"We want our issues to be considered important alongside others," she said. "I think the fear of us is inflated."

Ms. Abbott estimated that 10 percent of the estimated 2,000 NOW members attending the convention are lesbians.

For the first time, there was a lesbian caucus and a sexuality-and-lesbianism workshop, and lesbians infiltrated other workshops to see that resolutions were worded the way they wanted.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Ron Mercer was notified today of his acceptance in the Academy of Organization Management to be held at the University of Notre Dame in September.

Mercer was one of only 30 chamber managers and association executives in the country accepted for participation in the institute to last one week yearly for three years.

To be accepted, Mercer had to pass an entrance examination which he described as "tough." The 30 highest scorers on the exam were accepted.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the academy will feature in-depth study of how to work with volunteers. These must be completed by the 30 enrollees.

Mercer said he went through a similar institute at the University of Oklahoma in 1967 where he was one of 80 in the nation to be accepted.

"I feel that this is really an honor," he said. "They don't have to let you in." Tuition for the coursework is $300.

Prison Break, Eight Back

MCALLESTER, Okla. (AP) — A team from the Oklahoma State Penitentiary was searching this area today for the last of nine convicts who tunneled beneath a prison wall Friday night.

The latest to be caught was John Engberg, Cushing, Iowa, who held Allen Boatright hostage at gunpoint Saturday night, and forced him into his car. Boatright's home did not have a telephone but Boatright's wife ran to a neighbor and telephoned police.

An Oklahoma Highway Patrol car spotted the auto near Wilburton and arrested Engberg without resistance.

He was serving 50 years for armed robbery.

That left only Jack O. Stewart, who was serving 35 years for the kidnaping and beating of a Muskogee County deputy sheriff in 1970.

The inmates got out of the prison through a laboriously excavated tunnel beneath the prison wall.

It was the largest prison break ever recorded here.

Gas Processors Meet Feb. 22

The Permian Chapter of the Natural Gas Processors Association will hold its February meeting at the Fort Stockton Country Club Feb. 22.

Officers for 1973 will be elected. Outgoing officers are R. W. Schutt of Shell Oil, Midland chairman; K. W. Hill of Atlantic Richfield, Midland, vice chairman; and R. E. Leever of Vinson Supply, Odessa, secretary-treasurer.

Tape Recorder Is Left By Thief

A thief was apparently frightened off at noon Saturday at East Fourth Street Baptist Church, but not before he had taken around $7 in small change from the church office.

However, a tape recorder was hastily set down in the area between the office and the sanctuary. The custodian found it covered with snow.

The Rev. Dale Cain, pastor, said that the office door had been jimmied open and that it apparently happened during the noon hour Saturday and that when the custodian returned, the culprit apparently fled the scene.

Millionaire Crazy About Playing The Money Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I would rather play the game of money than do anything else. I've tasted blood and I want more, but I am not a man living a life of quiet desperation," says 34-year-old millionaire Peter Traynor.

In four years he has put together a $20 million business that invests money for physicians. The company, Leverage

Funding Systems, showed a $200,000 profit the first year and a $2 million profit last year.

The company's stock has shot from $1 to $20 a share.

Traynor says, "I am not a man living a life of quiet desperation, I am a man who measures the success of what I am doing, the way time measures a runner's speed. I am compelled to know how good I am."

Traynor is good—the ultimate salesman, say some of his associates.

In high school in Boston he turned an afternoon lawn mowing job into an $18,000-a-year part-time landscape business by his junior year.

He came to California 10 years ago and started selling insurance. His first year total was $3 million, second year $8.5 million and third year $12 million.

"I came to California to be successful," he recalled in an interview. "I observed successful men and emulated their style, their techniques, their disciplines. Everything I do is geared to success, every step I take is calculated to take me closer to where I want to go."

Traynor quit his insurance job, built his investment business and is now branching out into the movie business. Hoping to attract the thrill show fans, he has filmed "Steel Arena," about a daredevil stunt driver.

Traynor, who is married and has four children, rises each working day at 6:30 a.m., slips into a sweat suit, drives his $20,000 Mercedes from Beverly Hills to UCLA and jogs seven miles.

Where does the money game end?

"By the time you reach the goal you set out to reach, there's another one ahead of you," Traynor says. "So the game goes on."

Four Hit-Run Cases Checked

All wrecks in the city limits here Sunday were hit-and-run accidents.

At 11:15 a.m. at 1705 Settles, an unknown vehicle struck a parked vehicle belonging to Abbie Berier, San Angelo and left the scene.

At 12:50 p.m., another unknown vehicle struck a parked car belonging to Karla Sewart, 1400 Virginia, and also left the scene.

In mid-afternoon, a vehicle struck another parked car at 2001 Johnson belonging to Larry Broughton and at 8:14 p.m. at 5th and Bell, a car struck a vehicle driven by Edward Chavarria, 507 W. 6th and kept going.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠63 ♥Q962 ♠AKQ8 ♣742
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♥ 1 ♠ ?
What do you bid?
A.—Three hearts. An approach bid of two diamonds, while it might work out as well, is not our choice. The three heart bid describes a hand with four trumps and at least 12 supporting points. Having made this call we are relieved of obligation to take any further drastic step.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠8 ♥K986 ♠K1053 ♣J873
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♥ Dbl. ?
What do you bid?
A.—Three hearts. On hands of only moderate strength where a takeout double has been made and you possess a good fit with partner's opening, best results are usually obtained by offering an immediate jump raise. This serves to disrupt enemy communications, but at the same time does not prevent partner from proceeding to game if he has a really good hand.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K2 ♥A632 ♠86542 ♣K2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ 1 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—Two spades. A doubton honor is deemed to be normal trump support for an overall bid of one no-trump, for your hand is not exactly balanced and none of your strength is in the adverse bid suit.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ7 ♥AJ1063 ♠J6 ♣K87
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 2 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—Three clubs. This hand possesses tremendous offensive possibilities despite partner's failure to take positive action. A jump rebid in spades is acceptable, but the jump bid is preferred because of your tolerance for a red suit contract should partner have great length in either of those suits. A reopening double is not recommended because of your lack of preparation for a "leave in."

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠QJ32 ♥1053 ♠73 ♣Q753
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Dbl. 2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ 3 ♠ ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. What appears to be a very indifferent holding to you should prove very welcome to a partner who could first double and then contract for nine tricks entirely on his own. Your trump holding plus the doubton diamond should bring that total to 10.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ63 ♥865 ♣KJ4 ♣KQ9
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. At the outset your hand appeared to be the veriest of minimums, but in the light of bidding developments you have a very representative holding and it is suggested that you contract for game. Had partner's second bid been in hearts, no such action could be contemplated.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J93 ♥K1065 ♣KJ10873
Partner opens one no-trump. What is your response?
A.—Three clubs. This is perhaps somewhat abnormal, but we can think of no better call. If partner rebids three hearts, a return to three no-trump is indicated. If he bids anything other than three no-trump, then you should attempt to play at a minor suit contract.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ98542 ♥KQ8 ♣KQ8
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♠ Pass Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three clubs. This hand possesses tremendous offensive possibilities despite partner's failure to take positive action. A jump rebid in spades is acceptable, but the jump bid is preferred because of your tolerance for a red suit contract should partner have great length in either of those suits. A reopening double is not recommended because of your lack of preparation for a "leave in."

Charged With Six Slayings, Might Be Involved In More

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Authorities say they have not decided whether a former honor student charged in six slayings here since January may have been involved in the shooting deaths of four young men.

The bodies of the four men, described as in their late teens or early 20s, were found Saturday at a forest campsite. Each

He Kept Up His Exercise Routine

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Before his plane was shot down over North Vietnam, Marine Lt. Col. Edison W. Miller stayed in shape by running about three miles a day. He kept up the practice even while confined to a prison cell.

A Marine spokesman said Miller, who was hospitalized here Friday after landing in San Diego, ran 6,000 steps in place in his cell each day, the equivalent of about three miles. He said Miller also did 100 pushups each day.

Doctors here said Miller appeared to be in good shape, the spokesman said.

Millions Of Comrades Being Investigated

MOSCOW (AP) — Millions of comrades are being investigated to determine their fitness to carry the little red card that labels them among the elite-members of the Soviet Communist party.

It's the first party purge in 19 years.

Every one of the nation's 14,453,321 card holders is subject to the purge. It will take two years to complete, and no one knows how many will be expelled from the party.

'CARD EXCHANGE'

A tame version of Mao Tse-tung's Cultural Revolution, the "card exchange" was devised by party chieftain Leonid Brezhnev two years ago to "cleanse" the party of "passive and indifferent" comrades.

Special investigative committees have been set up at every level of society—from the small state farm to government ministries—to study members' everyday behavior, and ideological, political and professional standards.

MAIN TARGETS

Behind the ideological rhetoric is a determined Kremlin effort to boost the stagnant economy, revitalize party ranks, crush growing corruption and strengthen the party's influence in Soviet society.

Members have had to turn in their cards for renewal. Only those whose records meet the required standards will get them back with the stamp of approval as the "finest, worthiest representatives of the Soviet people."

Party members control virtually every aspect of political, military and economic life in this country.

Numbering only 6 per cent of the population, they wield at least 95 per cent of the power.

The main targets of the purge are those who have contributed to the failure of many of the party's national economic plans.

Ex-Mob Boss Costello Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — For millions of Americans, Frank Costello was the shadowy underworld kingpin with the raspy voice and fidgeting hands who testified in 1951 that he was a reformed bootlegger and gambler.

Costello's hands betrayed his nervousness, but his televised testimony before Sen. Estes Kefauver's crime-investigating committee contributed little to the knowledge about the "prime minister of the underworld."

The racketeer who survived a gangland assassination attempt and won a 14-year battle against deportation died Sunday in Doctors Hospital at 82. He had suffered a heart attack 11 days earlier.

He was reported to have amassed a fortune in prohibition bootlegging, slot machines and real estate.

Born Francesco Castiglia, he came to the United States from Naples at the age of four and grew up in East Harlem and Greenwich Village. From card games and punchboards, he parlayed his operations into slot machines, gambling joints and legitimate investments.

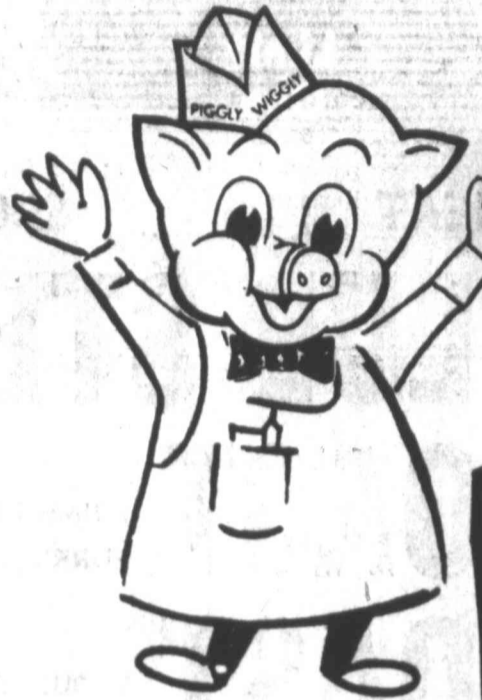

The government lost a number of cases against Costello, but his refusal to describe his monetary worth to the Senate committee got him an 18-month sentence in 1952.

Biggest Drug Raid In History Of Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sixty-three persons in Pulaski County have been arrested and charged with various narcotic violations in what police termed the biggest drug raid in the history of Arkansas.

The raids occurred late Saturday and early Sunday. Police said that in addition to the 63 persons charged, others had been arrested by late Sunday but not charged.

Lt. Walter E. "Sonny" Simpson, public information for the Little Rock Police, said the purpose of the raid was to identify pushers rather than occasional drug users. He said most of those arrested were charged with felony convictions involving the sale of narcotics.

Frank Look At Franking

The congressional franking privilege is at best a notable contribution to the public welfare, at worst a self-serving abuse of the public trust. There is need for regulatory legislation to further its good aspects yet nevertheless cut down on the chances of abuse.

Some of the diverse materials legitimately mailed under the frank — questionnaires, reports, farm yearbooks, congressional newsletters and the like — may be considerable help to the constituents of a senator or representative; may, for one thing, help citizens to form sound judgment on important questions. There are, however, ways of using the free mailing privilege to perpetuate men in office or at least give them a great advantage over their challengers.

It is not as simple as it might seem to decide fairly what material may be mailed free and what ought to be paid for by a member of Congress seeking re-election. There is reason to hope that this may be achieved by a special subcommittee of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee which is soon to have hearings on the subject.

The intention of the subcommittee, headed by

Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, is not so much to restrict as to clarify. The legality of mailing certain materials under the frank is confirmed in the proposed legislation. At the same time, it would prohibit use of the privilege to mail self-serving items. Among these are mass mailings including biographical data about a member of the congressman's family and mass mailings to all households in a district within 60 days of an election.

The rationale is sound. Members of Congress should enjoy wide latitude in use of the frank to be of service to their constituents, but there should be firm restrictions to prevent self-serving abuse of the privilege.

A Global Problem

The fact that pollution is a global problem has been emphasized by new reports of chemicals, oil, tar and plastics floating in large areas of the Atlantic.

Government scientists have found contaminants from the North Atlantic to the Caribbean. Not even the vast oceans are exempt from the debris and waste of modern society.

The oceans are a vital part of the earth's biosphere, the thin film of living matter supplied by delicate and continuing interaction of solar energy, water and plant life.

The oceans also hold an important part of the world's food supply a supply which becomes more important as the population increases and other resources dwindle.

Chunks of tar and oil are not only unsightly and messy for beach visitors. They and other chemicals are a threat to the ocean food chain. They also could be a threat to the oceans' role of producing oxygen, nitrogen and water.

A global pollution problem requires global cooperation, with international agreements crubbing pollutants. The protection of air and water is the concern of all. The time to stop it is now.

Unscientific Ideas

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

During a wet spell, a woman in the northeastern part of Howard County put through a call to the offices of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and petitioned management to turn off the water spigots.

SHE WAS convinced the so-called rain-makers hired by the firm had outdone themselves milking the exclusive and elusive clouds of precious moisture. It so happened that the firm hired to seed the clouds had run its course a couple of weeks previously. What rains that fell after that time could only be attributed to God and Mother Nature.

The scientific approach to rain-making dates back a few years, even in West Texas.

IN 1891, one Sen. Charles B. Farwell of Illinois talked Congress into appropriating $10,000 for the purpose of investigating the virtues of a rain-making machine. The apparatus, duly patented in the nation's capital, was tried out on a ranch near Midland in August of that year. It didn't produce rain, possibly because there was very little cloud cover with which to work but more likely due to the fact that it was a hare-brained scheme.

The apparatus was one of the many inventions approved by the U.S. Patent Office which never panned out.

CONSIDER MARTIN Goetze's "device for producing dimples," patented in May, 1896. Dimples were then all the rage and Goetze saw the chance to "make a million."

Goetze's machine looked not unlike a brace-and-bit. It produced pain but not dimples and both Goetze and his machine soon faded into limbo.

Washing machines have been on the market for close to a hundred years. The ones built and patented by one Thomas J. Moroney in 1882 were described as being "big as a barn and more complicated than an IBM computer."

IT NOT ONLY washed clothes but boiled grain and vegetables for the farmer's stock at the same time. It was also known to explode at times, and when it did, it rearranged the landscape with a conglomerate of clothes, grain and vegetables.

A fellow named Gastron Bozorian set out to make a fortune with a portable shower bath he invented in 1878. Needless to say, he didn't die rich. His shower came equipped with foot pedals, which caused the water to circulate. The water, it might be added, had to be used over and over.

A 'VENTILATING costume' was patented in 1853 but never did catch on with the public. Theoretically, it took advantage of all the breezes that came man's way as he walked along and cooled his body temperature. The contraption looked not unlike so many Venetian blinds and was even worn on the hat and the pants legs. It never became a hot item in the stores.

SIMPLE INVENTIONS like the bottle cap, the safety pin and the paper clip have made mints of money for their creators. But those kind of patents are far outnumbered by the whacky inventions blessed by the patent office.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

How can we regain the respect for authority we once had in this country? Is the answer in better trained and more dedicated police? Does it lie perhaps in stricter laws and tighter enforcement? What are your views on this?

J.K.Y. Once a policeman's weapon was described as "half the power of God on his hip." I think history proves that even if that weapon contained "all" the power of God, it still wouldn't change the attitudes of some. You have to go deeper to the human heart. This is where attitudes are born — for better or for worse.

Remember a tough teacher I had, whose strong-armed tactics failed completely to subdue the class ruffians. On the other hand I recall an elderly frail lady, who seldom lifted a hand in physical discipline, but who had the respect and admiration of every kid in the school.

The truth is that any authority that works, and that causes those under it to mature and develop is in partnership with God. What power and authority a Moses had, or an Elijah, or a Joseph. It came not by training or dedication, or equipment, but by a spirit of humility and dependence on wisdom from above.

Law and order supporters mean well, but unless human government is aligned with the purposes of God, as realized through a simple faith, they are destined for failure, or at best — a half-success.

If our forefathers had more respect for authority than we, could it be because there was a religious character to our beginnings — and now so many have renounced that. Let faith take root again — so will America's greatness.

Your 62nd Birthday

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — To all the people in the world who will be 62 years old this month, greetings.

Congratulations, fellow survivors. How are you doing? To all the people in the world who will be born this month, greetings, too. Welcome to the universe, kiddies. Let's see what you can do to it.

At 62, another birthday doesn't have the ring of doom that it does at 40 to a man and at 30 to a woman. One has become accustomed to the passage of time, accepts it, and in a way is even a bit proud of reaching another niche in it.

After all, the whole human race considered, there are still probably more people who don't reach 62 than do. That makes you more durable than a majority of the people who have ever drawn breath and known the agony and loveliness of earth.

What does it feel like to be 62? Well, there is still plenty to do at 62 but, in this man's case at least, there is also something of an inclination to let the fellow start doing more of it.

At 62, do you feel dramatically different? Does something especially bad happen to you? Do you hate life because you cannot escape the realization that there is a smaller store of it left than you have already used up? Does zest vanish?

No, indeed! Well, then, at 62 does something remarkably good happen to you? Do you suddenly see all the errors of your ways, and reform and become a saint? No, indeed, indeed! The truth is that on your 62nd birthday you wake up pretty much the same fellow you put to bed just a few hours before. If you're the grateful kind, however, you may say a small prayer of thanksgiving in your heart and that you have reached another milestone of living. Then you scratch yourself, paw the clabber out of your eyes, and get up and face the world as usual.

I've noticed one thing: people who get mad at life and the world in their early 60s often don't live long enough for Uncle Sam to hand them their pension meal ticket.

I've noticed another thing: people who develop a philosophical attitude toward life are more likely to last a long, long time. They drain the last drop of goodness that lies in the cup, and overlook the slight taste of dregs it has. The tremendous pagantry of the seasons remains to them a mighty catharsis of the soul.

So, for those of us reaching 62 this month — or any month — let bells ring, trees bud, birds sing, flowers bloom, and people smile because we've reached this mile!

(Editor's note: Boyle won't be 62 until Wednesday, so don't expect a column from him that day. By then he'll probably be deep in mourning.)

Biaggi's Boom

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

NEW YORK — Law-and-order Rep. Mario Biaggi's accelerating campaign for mayor of New York has now begun to panic the liberal establishment because of meetings such as one held in the Bronx congressman's cramped midtown Manhattan office the other day.

A BIAGGI AIDE, wearing a Jewish prayer cap, ushered in an orthodox rabbi from Flatbush. The rabbi mournfully explained that "they" were planning a new school near his synagogue with black students bused in to attend it. That, said the rabbi, would break up the Jewish community. But when he left the Congressman, he was smiling, telling everyone that Biaggi understood the problem and would have heavy, heavy support from his congregation.

SUCH INCIDENTS have erased the certainty of the liberals, reported by six weeks ago, that the humanitarian tradition of the city's Jewish voters would reject ex-police lieutenant Biaggi. Biaggi is making so much headway among lower middle-class Jewish voters that he has become the early favorite for the May Democratic primary.

"It's really terrifying," one highly placed New York Democrat told us. "I mean Biaggi could actually win." His terror stems not only from Biaggi's ideological positions (pro-police and anti-busing) but also Biaggi's threat to forces politically dominant in this city for generations.

BIAGGI, a much-decorated, 23-year police veteran who entered politics in 1968, is the much-feared Enemy No. 1 to the various establishments who share power here: reformers, Democratic machines, city hall, civil rights and peace activists.

His basic support comes from lower-income white ethnics, mostly Italians and Irish alienated from the eight-year liberal administration of Mayor John V. Lindsay. One wide-eyed liberal politician who recently watched Biaggi address a rally of such ethnics told us: "It was like Eleanor Roosevelt in a synagogue."

The genuine enthusiasm at a $10-a-head fund-raiser (3,500 attending) in the New York Coliseum Feb. 9 impressed professional politicians.

BUG OPPOSITION from white ethnics was not enough in 1969 to send the re-election of Lindsay, who ended with grudging Jewish support. This time, however, street crime is a potent issue.

Indeed, Biaggi's principal opponent (now ahead slightly in the polls) is not one of the half-dozen liberal hopefuls but an old-line Democratic regular: city controller Abraham D. Beame, who is promising not safe streets but unaccustomed frugality at city hall. Whether that is potent enough to hold the Jewish vote is increasingly doubtful. "Beame's bookkeeper," says Biaggi. "I can hire my own bookkeeper."

ALTHOUGH BEAME has Brooklyn regular Democratic leader Meade Esposito and may end up with Bronx leader Pat Cunningham, the party machines are shadows of their former selves and notoriously unsuccessful in recent Democratic primaries. Beame's closest advisers only hope Jewish voters prefer the Jewish bookkeeper to the Italian supercop.

Entrenched Democratic powers are grasping at straws. There was briefly talk — never grounded in reality — about liberal Republican Sen. Jacob Javits becoming the fusion candidate for mayor. Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who really wants only to block a third term for his arch-enemy Lindsay.

MOREOVER, BIAGGI is no right-wing ideologue innately offensive to New York's working class. He votes with the left in Congress on the Vietnam war, the supersonic transport (SST) and child day-care centers (infuriating the state Conservative party, which endorsed him for Congress).

But the primordial issue in the great cities is street crime, and on this Biaggi has mass support against the establishment.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the difference between Bell's palsy and tic douloureux? From what I read, the symptoms seem to be the same. — L.S.

Dear Doctor: My mother has Bell's palsy. Our doctor tells us that the only thing to do is keep warm, etc. We would like to know more about it. — M.B.

Both ailments involve nerves in the face — "tic" involves the fifth cranial nerve; Bell's palsy the seventh or "facial" nerve.

But the big difference so far as a patient is concerned is the pain. With "tic," this is extreme pain, which comes in periodic attacks.

With Bell's palsy, the problem is not pain, but rather paralysis of muscles in the face. This results in drooping of the eyelid and the corner of the mouth. This droop is continuous, rather than coming in spasms, as does the pain of "tic."

"Tic" sometimes requires such drastic treatment as paralyzing or even cutting the affected nerve, although sometimes medication is sufficient. The pain is so sharp that the patient doesn't have to be argued into seeing a neurologist.

Bell's palsy, on the other hand, doesn't cause the agony of "tic" and is more a problem of appearance than anything else. Saying that treatment is to "keep warm, etc." condenses too much into the "etc."

True, heat is important in permitting the paralyzed nerve to recover its normal function, but there are other important matters, depending on the particular case. Large doses of vitamin B are useful.

Likewise it is important to maintain muscle tone. While the nerve is paralyzed, the muscles do not respond; and without activity, muscles lose tone.

Therefore sometimes physical therapy is employed to maintain tone. In more stubborn cases, electrical stimulus may be employed to activate the muscles and thus prevent them from losing tone from too much inactivity.

Many cases, however, clear up spontaneously without any complicated treatment. Most clear up within about two months. Others may take six months or more — and in those cases considerably more care has to be taken to maintain and improve muscle tone.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 15-year-old daughter tells me all her friends douche with water to be sure they have no offensive odor although she showers every day.

I always felt that to douche was harmful unless ordered by a doctor. She says I'm old-fashioned. — O.D.

No, you're not old-fashioned; she is. Granted, many women douche without harmful consequences, but sometimes they develop itching or irritation from washing away the natural secretions that belong there.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you get V.D. from kissing a person? About five months ago I was with this boy who is well known for his sexual contacts. I kissed him several times. Later I got a big sore on my mouth. I thought it was a cold sore and so did my mom but it went away and I forgot about it. Now I am worried. Do I have V.D.? — J.B.

How should I know? That's what I keep saying about V.D.: the way to find out is to have tests for it. Go to your doctor now.

Draft Counseling

Omar Burleson

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
(Substituting for Omar Burleson)

DETROIT (AP) — Scores of anxious young men used to crowd into an office in Central Methodist Church every Sunday night, hoping they'd find a way out of fighting in a distant, unpopular war.

With U.S. involvement in Vietnam ending and the draft calls cancelled, there were only seven counselors left Sunday night to shut down the Detroit Draft Counseling Center.

"It's kind of like Dick Gregory's joke that all the people employed by the NAACP want civil rights — but not too fast," said head counselor Lee Abisch, expressing regret about the center's closing.

"WE ALL SAID" we were working to end the need for our existence," he said. "All along we would have been delighted to see the draft ended, and I feel the same way now."

At the height of the war in 1970, as many as 50 counselors would meet every week, as draft counseling centers sprang up around the country. The church donated the space and counselors worked as volunteers.

Although the counselors almost never learned the ultimate fate of the people they served, Abisch believes more than a thousand men got out of the draft because of the center — "People who otherwise would have had to go to the Army, to jail or to Canada."

The idea was to tell people their rights and use every available legal means to get the men out of the draft. These included winning disability and conscientious deferments, playing on technical mistakes made by the Selective Service System and loopholes in the law, and employing a variety of stalling tactics.

COUNSELOR Ronnie Sisk said she joined the center two years ago when "the war was still going on but demonstrations were already out of it. This was something constructive."

"We had an impact in shaping people's attitude toward the war," she said. "Year by year the number of conscientious objector applications increased. So, obviously, people's consciousness was raised."

The draft counseling business died a slow death. First the lottery eliminated the fears of the young men who drew high numbers. Vietnam troop withdrawals and cuts in the size of the Army did the rest.

Recently, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird announced an end to all draft calls except for doctors and dentists, although the machinery of the draft system will be maintained on a standby basis.

Draft counseling started as a radical activity but changed as the draft slowed, Abisch said. "People who came in three years ago were very politically radical. You didn't find people who wanted out of the draft so they could continue their jobs at Chrysler's tank plant."

"THE PEOPLE coming in recently were those who didn't want to be inconvenienced for two years."

Title Seven: Bias On Bikes

To help its employees get around the premises, a large company kept a supply of bicycles available at all times. But all the bicycles were men's. Women workers finally went to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission with a charge of "discrimination on the basis of sex."

AT THE HEARING, they pointed out that men's bicycles were just not suitable for them, especially since they were also forbidden to wear slacks. This impressed the Commission, which duly upheld their complaint.

The bicycle case is typical of the wide variety of issues that have arisen under famed Title Seven of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Women have also complained — almost always with success — about hiring practices, dress codes, height requirements, smoking privileges, hours of work, and seniority rules.

"TITLE SEVEN," said one court, "rejects the notion of romantic paternalism toward women and seeks to place them on an equal footing with men."

In fact, men too have won victories under the same law. For example, the Commission found sex discrimination in another company that gave half-hour lunch periods to its women employees but only 20 minutes to men.

NEVERTHELESS, Title Seven does not apply to hardship situations that are not based on discrimination between the sexes. Take this case:

A saleswoman accused her department manager of violating Title Seven by deliberately making her life miserable. She said he made fun of her, gave her hard assignments, and bawled her out viciously. It turned out, however, that her fellow men in the same department had the same tale of woe. Since male and female employees were being treated with equal harshness, the Commission decided to turn down the woman's complaint.

THE COMMISSION said she had not proven a violation of Title Seven, but merely that the department manager was a very nasty fellow.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Cecelia Ann Arcand, bride-elect of Robert J. McKenzie, was honored recently at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Harold Rosson, 2805 Ann.

The honoree was attired in a blue hostess skirt and sweater, and was presented a corsage of burgundy-tinted carnations tied with blue ribbons. Her mother, Mrs. A. A. Arcand, was also given a corsage, and hostesses wore wedding bell corsages with blue ribbons.

The refreshment table was covered with a floor-length cloth of white and blue embroidered organdy. Centering the table was an arrangement of blue and burgundy carnations, white daisies and blue candles in a milk glass bowl. Women Are Urged To Fight For Rights

"Femininity was described by an anonymous male as 'looking pretty and elegant, not arguing, not being pushy and wanting to please a man all the time,'" said Mrs. Mary Dudley Tuesday to the 1970 Hyperion Club.

"This definition makes no allowances for female differences," continued Mrs. Dudley. "Women are programmed at a very early age to be a reflection of her husband and to be behind the man in marriage. She is dependent; he is independent."

"Stand Up and Be Counted" was the program presented by Mrs. Dudley and Mrs. Dannie Botros in the home of Mrs. Ron Medley, 2805 Gollad. The speakers reviewed legal and emotional aspects of the women's liberation movement.

"A stereotype person is any person required to live a certain role because of cultural pressures," Mrs. Dudley said. "We must encourage children's individuality and allow them to be themselves. Encourage boys or girls to be sensitive and warm, to be their own person and to take their own direction."

"Who says a woman must feel guilty for the time spent pursuing her work, recreation or hobby? A man pursues his interests without guilt. When a woman perceives all of the false-ness society has made for her, what must she do?" asked Mrs. Dudley. "She must fight."

Mrs. Botros, who has been active locally in the women's liberation movement and who attended the recent National Women's Political Caucus in Austin, discussed legal aspects of women's rights.

She said it was apparent at the caucus that Texas women feel left out of power and feel they are a long way from full partnership in the political world.

"Women must be made aware of the issues that affect them," said Mrs. Botros. "For example, legislation concerning welfare is important to women, because only one of every 200 people on welfare are men. The rest are women and children."

Mrs. Botros outlined eight bills up for legislation by the United States Congress in 1973, which she said women should familiarize themselves with and speak out about to their congressmen.

The bills included the equal rights amendment, higher education bill, coeducational bill, child care programs, inter-banking and credit bill, enforcement of minimum wage bill, medical care and national health insurance bill and pension and social security reform bill.

Concluding, both Mrs. Dudley and Mrs. Botros urged women to get involved and speak out for the rights they are entitled to.

Mrs. O. H. Ivie was cohostess for the meeting, and presided during the business portion. Members agreed to contribute to the Boys' Club of Big Spring to aid in paying tutors. They will also sponsor a youth membership at the YMCA.

Mrs. Robert Massengale was a guest. The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., March 13 in the home of Mrs. Curtis Strong, 2803 Gollad. Mrs. Clyde Angel will present the program, "Fascinating Womanhood."

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED—The marriage of Miss Diane Patrick Tipton to Charlie Ray Lewis, is being announced by the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. James W. Tipton, 507 Highland. Lewis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Lewis, 1219 E. 17th. The couple, married Feb. 13 in Mexico, is residing at 1403 Johnson. Both are graduates of Big Spring High School and are attending Howard County Junior College. Lewis is employed by Intech.

Sorority Hears About Antiques In Homes

"Many of us have valuable items in our home and don't realize it," said Mrs. Rex Zant Thursday for Alpha Eta Upsilon Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Zant said the dictionary defines connoisseur as a "competent critic," and she expanded the definition to say it is a collector of valuable items.

"Quilts were made by our grandmothers as a necessity or for a mark of beauty in the home," said Mrs. Zant. "Today they are valuable, not only for their sentimental value, but as a great demand in antique markets."

Mrs. Zant said Wedgewood china can still be bought new but is considered an antique. She showed several items from her home that are antiques, including a spoon holder, old mason jars, antique silver and old money.

Mrs. Darrell Bearden, vice president, announced May 1 is the deadline for members to submit entries in the BSP International short story and poetry contest.

In other business, members agreed to assist in the "mother's march" to aid the March of Dimes. A garage sale was planned to raise funds to purchase eyeglasses and shoes for needy children in the area. Date of the sale will be announced.

The next meeting is slated at 9 a.m., Feb. 22 in the home of Mrs. Bearden, Ackery.

Center Point HD Members Hear Precautionary Home Safety Tips

Methods of assuring more safety in homes were outlined by Mrs. Jack Smith Tuesday for Center Point Home Demonstration Club in her home at 103 N. Wasson Road.

Mrs. Smith said there were 28,000 accidents in 1972 to people over the age of 45, which could probably have been prevented with safety devices.

Some precautions suggested by Mrs. Smith included having well-lighted stairways; removing all slipping and tripping hazards; wiping up spilled liquids immediately; using canes if a person is unsteady; installing hand rails and grab bars in tubs and showers; and avoiding loose strings, untied belts and shoestrings.

Mrs. Bob Wren presided, and announced a county-wide health program will be presented by the Permian Basin Planning Committee in April.

Other upcoming events include a book review by Mrs. Jane Thomas, at 11 a.m. March 28 in the county fairbarns. The public is invited to attend. Members will help operate a concession at the 4-H fat stock show March 22-24 at the fair barns.

The monthly luncheon for Howard County's senior citizens will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Wednesday at the fair barns. Anyone needing transportation may call the HD agent's office at 267-8469. A food leader's course will be held at 2 p.m., Monday in the agent's office, and the public is invited to attend.

It was also announced the Texas HD Association's spring conference will be April 5 in Colorado City. Howard County clubs are in charge of reservations.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Billie Grimes and Mrs. Susie Sunday. Mrs. Sunday won the attendance prize. The next meeting will be Feb. 27 in the home of Mrs. C. T. Lindley, 1405 E. 19th, and Sherry Mullin, HD agent will be the guest speaker.

Clip Draperies

Lined drapes are difficult to wash at home. But if you know they are washable it is suggested you snip the linings on three sides to avoid uneven shrinkage.

Tips Given For Sewing Sports Coat

"The type of material used will determine whether or not you get the professional look you desire when making a man's sports coat," said Mrs. J. Hardegree Wednesday to Coahoma Home Demonstration Club.

Hints on how to make a knit sports coat were given by Mrs. Hardegree, who emphasized that a woman's dress knit will not produce a high grade tailored jacket. She said to be sure fabrics are prepared for sewing, and she stressed that knits must be preshrunk like woolen fabrics.

"Knits are stretched when manufacturers put them on the bolt," said Mrs. Hardegree. "Therefore, they must be put back to their original shape." She suggested checking with the salesclerk to determine best method of preshrinking. She said jackets should not be washed after completion, and that the lining of a coat should be slick and smooth to enable the wearer to slip in and out of it easily.

Mrs. A. C. Hale presided, and announced 7 book review will be presented March 28 at the county fair barns by Mrs. Clyde Thomas. The event will begin at 10 a.m. and will include a covered dish buffet.

A poem, "The Good Old Days," written by former member, Mrs. Elvie Blalock, was read. Mrs. Lillian Hall was a guest.

The next meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. March 14 in the home of Mrs. A. C. Hale.

A Hero To Her

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: On Dec. 26, just a few moments after I heard that Harry Truman had died, your CBS radio program came on and the entire program was your personal tribute to Harry Truman!

Were you in the studio at the time? I can't believe you spoke extemporaneously about Mr. Truman for five minutes without some preparation.

I was always under the impression that you taped your radio programs weeks — perhaps months in advance of their broadcast dates.

If your tribute to Harry Truman was taped in advance, did you have a premonition (through E.S.P. or some kind of psychic phenomenon) that Mr. Truman was going to die on that day, or was it an incredible coincidence?

It was not only a beautiful tribute, it was interesting and informative. If you have a copy of that script, will you please publish it in your column? I would like to keep it, since Harry Truman was one of my heroes too.

CURIOUS IN L. A.
DEAR CURIOUS: My tribute to Harry Truman was taped at the Hollywood CBS radio station long before his last illness, and it was sheer coincidence that I scheduled it to be aired on the very day he died. Although I have some fairly accurate premonitions, I lay no claim to having E.S.P.

I read it from a script which I had written months ago. And here it is: "Mr. Truman has long held a very special place in my affection. Although I do not collect autographed pictures of celebrities, there is one hanging on the wall of my den of Harry Truman.

"We never met, but we have a mutual friend — Mr. David Noyes, who collaborated with Truman on his book 'Mr. Citizen.' Mr. Noyes told me that Bess and Harry enjoyed reading Dear Abby in the Kansas City Star, whereupon I told Mr. Noyes that I was a Truman fan, too. For one thing, my late father bore a striking resemblance to Truman — particularly in photographs. Same broad smile, thinning hair, and spectacles. In addition, my father was a devoted Democrat. I can still remember the horse laughs Abe Friedman got back in Sioux City, Iowa, when he predicted that Harry Truman would beat Tom Dewey in 1948!

"So I asked David Noyes (who was on his way to Independence, Mo.) to ask Mr. Truman to please send me an autographed picture of himself. I received not only one picture — but TWO!

"The first bore a huge ink blot on the bottom, where Truman's old-fashioned fountain pen had leaked (about midway through the inscription), but the second picture was neatly inscribed. "With kindest personal regards to Abe's daughter from Harry Truman, July 30, 1964."

"When the name of Harry Truman is mentioned, some of his detractors will remind you that he couldn't even make a success of a little haberdashery business in Kansas City. They fail to mention (or perhaps did not know) that Harry Truman refused to file bankruptcy and let his creditors hold the bag. He paid back every cent — and it took him 10 years to do it!

"Not many people knew that after Harry's graduation from high school in Independence he received an appointment to West Point, but was rejected because of poor eyesight. However, he enlisted in the field artillery in World War I, saw action abroad, and returned a captain.

Life: 'Just One Big Recycling Process'

"Life is a big recycling process in which some organisms utilize the wastes produced by others," said Mrs. R. L. Nall Thursday for Big Spring Credit Women.

"We live on plants in two ways," continued Mrs. Nall. We breathe in their waste oxygen, and we eat living and dead parts of plants as food. In turn, plants live on us and other animals. They breathe in our waste product carbon dioxide through pores in their leaves. Their roots take up calcium, magnesium, potassium and decaying bodies, and these elements are made available to plants by the decomposition brought about by soil microbes."

Mrs. Nall read excerpts of an article, "Who Ate Roger Williams?", taken from the February issue of Natural Food News. The article told how the burying ground of Roger Williams, founder of Providence, R.I., and his wife was searched in order to erect a suitable monument in his memory. Upon finding the graves, it was discovered everything had "passed into oblivion." An apple tree near the graves had sent two main roots into the coffins which absorbed all organic matter, flesh and bones of Roger Williams.

"The story illustrates how matter passes from animal back to vegetable, and from vegetable to the animal kingdom again," said Mrs. Nall. "All living creatures have worked together for millions of years to keep the recycling process going in nature.

"Most of our pollution problems originate because certain things cannot be recycled, or are not being recycled effectively," concluded Mrs. Nall. "The things which are not recycled literally clog some part of the environment. When that happens, we and other living organisms are in trouble."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. W. E. Moren, 1301 Eleventh Place, with Mrs. Fred Crossland, a guest, as cohostess.

Members agreed to support Lydia Rodriguez of San Antonio for an office in Credit Women International. In other business, Mrs. Glenda Myrick was accepted as a member. The group agreed to give $50 to the Meistersingers trip fund.

The next meeting will be March 1 at the Settles Hotel.

Dickson Proves Himself With San Diego Win

SAN DIEGO (AP) — For several years Bob Dickson had been an object of pity, of concern, of puzzled looks and occasional head-shaking. The bright promise of certain stardom had not been fulfilled. One-third of the time last season he couldn't even get into a tournament.

He'd even thought of quitting the pro golf tour. It all ended Sunday when Dickson reached in the cup on the 72nd hole to pluck out the ball that made him a winner for the first time since 1968.

"It was, well, it was a kind of animal joy," said the soft-spoken 29-year-old from Tulsa, Okla., a three-stroke winner in the Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf Tournament. "It's just the way it was meant to be." Said Australian veteran Bruce Crampton, who opened the gates for Dickson with a fantastic collapse on the final five holes.

Dickson won it with a par 72 for the final round on the sunny Torrey Pines Golf Course, a 7,047-yard layout stretching along rugged cliffs facing the Pacific Ocean. He finished with a 278 total—10 under par.

Crampton, a 37-year-old who won both Arizona tournaments this year and was threatening to make the tour his personal toy, lost one stroke on each of four consecutive holes down the stretch and could do no better than a fat 76.

That dropped Crampton back into a four-way tie for second at 281. Also at that figure were Phil Rodgers, veteran Billy Casper and Grier Jones. Casper had a 71, Rodgers closed with a 66 and Jones a 75.

Tied at 282 were Tommy Jacobs, Miller Barber, Dave Eichelberger and Hale Irwin. Jacobs had the day's best round, a 65. Barber took a 66, Eichelberger 73 and Irwin 72.

British Open champ Lee Trevino really never was in it. He had a final 74 for 291. Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer did not compete.

The victory was particularly sweet for the usually articulate Dickson, who could only murmur: "I'm still semi-numb."

He came on the tour with some of the most impressive credentials ever put together. He swept the amateur championships of America and Britain in 1967 and was the first man to take them both in the same year since the immortal Bobby Jones. He won the Halg Open as a rookie pro and was tagged with a "can't miss" label.

Then it all went wrong. He slumped in 1969. By 1970 he was back among the rabbit ranks as a Monday morning qualifier. His game was shot. His length off the tee was gone. He had troubles with his grip, with his swing.

His fellow pros spoke in locker room whispers of his problems.

Dickson never complained. Never once. But he did, at one time, think of giving up the tour. Last year he entered 36 tournaments. In 12 of them he didn't qualify.

"This time it all turned around. For the first time in 4 1/2 years I finally played four rounds of good to better than good golf," he said.

Here are the top final scores and money winners Sunday in the $70,000 Andy Williams San Diego Open Golf Tournament on Torrey Pines Golf Course.

HCJC Visits Frank Phillips In WC Battle

BORGER — Frank Phillips College and its famous one-man gang takes on the Howard County Jayhawks tonight at 7:30 p.m. in a Western Conference engagement.

Alvin Meadors, the No. 4 scorer in the nation with a 30-point per game average, will be trying to outdo HCJC's three-man threat of Taylor Williams, Thomas Bledsoe and Leroy Lumzy, who are averaging almost 60 points between them.

The Jayhawks, 24-10 on the year and 11-2 in WC play, will be trying to retain the momentum which has carried them to an eight-game winning streak. The Hawks learned Sunday they'll be headed for the Region V NJCAA tournament in Brownwood next week, while Frank Phillips, 4-8 and 10-11, was left out in the voting.

Bledsoe and Williams, a pair of 6-7 freshmen from Mississippi, are hitting 20.2 and 19.7 points a game, respectively, and grabbing 14.9 and 15.1 rebounds and outing Lumzy, a 6-1 freshman, is hitting over 53 per cent from the line this year, including 34 of his last 36 attempts.

Mike Randle, a 6-4 freshman with a 7.6 mean, and 5-9 assist leader Herbert Lee, the only sophomore in the line up, rounded out the first five. Lee is hitting 11.9 points a game.

The 6-2 Meadors scored 41 points against the Jayhawks when the two teams met in the first round of conference play. HCJC won, 92-78 in Big Spring.

REGION V CAST NAMED Hawks Meet Hill In Opener

Third-seeded Howard County, victor of a 4 p.m. battle between Western Texas College and Snyder and McLennan Community College, McLennan, 21-12 at 9 p.m.

Region V directors met Sunday in Abilene to decide the top eight teams. Howard County, South Plains and Brownwood (25-4) Western Texas are representatives of the Western Conference, and Ranger, Cisco, Hill and McLennan participate in the Northern league. Schreiner is independent.

Winner of next week's meet advances to the national tournament in Hutchinson, Kan. March 13-17.

It's the seventh consecutive trip to the regional meet for the Jayhawks of Coach Harold Wilder, and their lone adventure to the national event came four years ago under coach Buddy Travis, now at South Plains.

Though the cast will be completely different, Howard County and Hill are fairly good friends already. Hill eliminated the Archie Myer-led Hawks 100-98 two years ago and went on to win the tourney and a berth in the national action. Last year, Hill was seeded No. 1, but was upset by New Mexico Junior College in the first round.

Hill isn't quite as powerful this time, standing 18-14 on the year and second in the Northern Conference with a 9-3 mark.

Howard County, meanwhile, is 24-10 on the season and still in a position to win the Western Conference with a 11-2 record. The Hawks are currently on an eight-game win streak — or nine, including the forfeit earned late last week when it was discovered that Cisco Junior College had played five games with an ineligible player, including one against HCJC.

Cisco was nationally-ranked at the time with a 22-5 record, but five forfeits dropped them to 17-10 on the season, still good enough for a place in the regional meet.

The Cisco-Schreiner winner meets the South Plains-Ranger victor at 9 p.m. Thursday. Hill winner takes on the survivor of the Western Conference-McLennan battle at 7 p.m. Finals are set for next Friday at 9 p.m., and a third place game will be played at 7 p.m.

Now we're in every game physically—but we must get in each one more cerebrally, too. Once we do that we'll be really tough," said Sonics Coach Bucky Buckwalter.

Seattle was plenty tough for the Celtics, who needed Don Nelson's tip-in in the closing seconds for the victory that enabled them to open a 3-1/2 game Atlantic Division lead over the Knicks.

Archie Clark, who missed Baltimore's first 43 games while holding out for more money, rounded into shape just in time for the clash with Milwaukee. He hit a season-high 25 points, including two on free throws with five seconds to go after the Bucks had wiped out the Bulls' 10-point lead.

The Pistons had the best time in their history in their run against Kansas City-Omaha. The 44-point final margin of victory matched the biggest winning spread in their history. The Bulls took a three-point first-period lead and stretched it to 11 at the half against the Rockets. Chet Walker added 21 for Chicago.

Philadelphia 76ers, the laughingstock of the National Basketball Association this season, are beginning to make even veteran coaches like Red Holzman take notice.

"We're a pro basketball team and now we're playing like a pro basketball team," veteran player and rookie Coach Kevin Loughery beamed Sunday after his 76ers won their third game in four starts, stunning the New York Knicks 114-98.

"Their defense was very good and they switched off really well," Holzman added.

The 76ers, who had lost 11 straight after Loughery succeeded Roy Rubin as coach last month, broke a 20-game losing streak Wednesday night with a 106-104 victory over Milwaukee, beat Detroit Friday night and lost 107-89 to the Knicks Saturday night.

Philadelphia's record now is 7-59, still worst in NBA history.

In Sunday's other NBA games it was Boston 106, Seattle 105; Baltimore 96, Milwaukee 93; Detroit 144, Kansas City-Omaha 100; Chicago 110, Houston 99; Cleveland 122, Buffalo 98; Portland 119, Phoenix 118, and Atlanta 99, Los Angeles 92. On Saturday it was Milwaukee 111, Kansas City-Omaha 104; Houston 127, Phoenix 110; Los Angeles 110, Portland 103; Boston 116, Golden State 106; Cleveland 106, Detroit 104.

Only games scheduled: Philadelphia 114, New York 98; Detroit 144, Kansas City-Omaha 100; Baltimore 96, Milwaukee 93; Cleveland 122, Buffalo 98; Boston 106, Seattle 105; Chicago 110, Houston 99; Portland 119, Phoenix 118; Atlanta 99, Los Angeles 92.

Steers Visit Permian In Season Cage Finale

ODESSA — The Big Spring Steers, making their late surge a bit later than usual, close out the 1972-73 basketball season here tonight at 8 p.m. against the Odessa Permian Panthers.

It's the only action in District 5-AAAA, as all the other teams in the league — with the exception of Midland and Midland Lee — finished out their slates Friday. The Steer-Panther tilt is a makeup game postponed from the first half, while Lee and Midland High have yet to decide the district, or even the city championship.

The two teams will meet Thursday for the crown at 8 p.m. in Midland High gym.

Under coach Ron Plumlee, the Big Springers peaked in the second half, but had only a 2-5 mark to show for their efforts. The Steers are 15-17 on the season, and hope for their third straight win in the finale tonight.

Permian is 16-14 on the season, and both teams were 2-4 in the first half without the one game. Permian won the first matchup with the Steers, 62-54.

Senior Kevin Miller and John Thomas Smith will lead the Steer effort after outstanding games against San Angelo Friday, and help will come from 5-8 Willie Williams, Tim Dunn, Alan Davis, Randy Marshall and Bobby Webb.

Jack Wood and Gary Bond sparked the Panthers in the first game, along with David Nelson and Andy Burk.

Bearcats Can Clinch A Tie Against Tribe 76ers Continue Surge In NBA

By The Associated Press Sam Houston State can be on easy street until March 1 if the Bearcats post a victory over McMurry tonight in Huntsville.

The No. 1 team in the nation in all small college polls, Sam Houston (22-0) can clinch at least a tie for the 40th Lone Star Conference championship tonight. After that, only two games will remain on the regular season schedule.

A tie is all the Bearcats need to advance to the NAIT's District IV playoffs in a best-of-three set against Big State conference champion St. Mary's, starting in San Antonio March 7.

Owners of 28-game winning streak, which began last season, the Bearcats stretched their LCS record to 15-0 with a 106-85 win over Howard Payne (19-6) Saturday. Earlier in the week, the Bearcats whipped Angelo State (4-18) 81-61.

Virtually out of the running for the LSC crown, No. 4 ranked Stephen F. Austin (22-3) posted wins of 103-68 over Sul Ross (10-18) and 103-81 over McMurry (14-11) last week.

Against McMurry, the Lumberjacks had a 30-point, 22-rebound performance from 6-7 Pete Harris as well as a 52-36 advantage at the half.

Philadelphia 76ers, the laughingstock of the National Basketball Association this season, are beginning to make even veteran coaches like Red Holzman take notice.

"We're a pro basketball team and now we're playing like a pro basketball team," veteran player and rookie Coach Kevin Loughery beamed Sunday after his 76ers won their third game in four starts, stunning the New York Knicks 114-98.

"Their defense was very good and they switched off really well," Holzman added.

The 76ers, who had lost 11 straight after Loughery succeeded Roy Rubin as coach last month, broke a 20-game losing streak Wednesday night with a 106-104 victory over Milwaukee, beat Detroit Friday night and lost 107-89 to the Knicks Saturday night.

Philadelphia's record now is 7-59, still worst in NBA history.

In Sunday's other NBA games it was Boston 106, Seattle 105; Baltimore 96, Milwaukee 93; Detroit 144, Kansas City-Omaha 100; Chicago 110, Houston 99; Cleveland 122, Buffalo 98; Portland 119, Phoenix 118, and Atlanta 99, Los Angeles 92. On Saturday it was Milwaukee 111, Kansas City-Omaha 104; Houston 127, Phoenix 110; Los Angeles 110, Portland 103; Boston 116, Golden State 106; Cleveland 106, Detroit 104.

Tech Owns Two-Game Lead In SWC As Ponies Stumble

By The Associated Press Texas Tech has taken a two-game lead in the Southwest Conference basketball race with four to play, and with its closest challengers faltering badly, appears to have a stranglehold on a championship.

The Red Raiders upped their record to 9-1 Saturday night with 65-61 victory over Rice, while Southern Methodist, now second at 7-3, fell to lowly Texas Christian 80-76. It was only TCU's fourth victory in 21 games this season, and second in 10 SWC contests.

Tech, which only needs a tie in the final period. Sammy Hervey scored 35 for the Mustangs in their losing cause. Eddie Fitzhugh with 18 and Lynn Royal's 17 equaled Hervey's total in the rough and tumble game.

"I was fouled a lot that wasn't called," Hervey said, "but I fouled a lot, too. So that isn't the point. The point is, we lost this one."

In other games Saturday, Arkansas (6-4) took over third place with a 76-64 triumph over Baylor, (5-5), while Texas (4-8) edged Texas A&M (5-5) 71-68 at Austin's Gregory Gym.

Owners of 28-game winning streak, which began last season, the Bearcats stretched their LCS record to 15-0 with a 106-85 win over Howard Payne (19-6) Saturday. Earlier in the week, the Bearcats whipped Angelo State (4-18) 81-61.

Virtually out of the running for the LSC crown, No. 4 ranked Stephen F. Austin (22-3) posted wins of 103-68 over Sul Ross (10-18) and 103-81 over McMurry (14-11) last week.

Against McMurry, the Lumberjacks had a 30-point, 22-rebound performance from 6-7 Pete Harris as well as a 52-36 advantage at the half.

Lead Poisoning Kills Unlucky Seven In Texas

By The Associated Press
 Motor vehicle accidents and shootings accounted for most of the violent deaths throughout the state during the recent weekend.
 The death toll by midnight had climbed to 22 with 13 persons killed in motor vehicle accidents, seven in shootings and a service station operator beaten to death.
 George Pigg, 78, of Stephens County, was killed and three persons injured late Sunday in a head-on auto crash near Ivan. He was dead on arrival at Breckenridge hospital.
 Mark Lindley Jr., 41, of Houston was killed Sunday when two cars collided at the south entrance to the Baytown tunnel under the Houston Ship Channel. Three other persons were injured.
BEATEN TO DEATH
 Emil J. Colar, 52, also of Houston, died in a hospital Sunday of injuries he suffered in a two-car collision on Farm Road 1900 11 miles south of Tomball.
 Late Friday night a Fort Worth couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wayne Newton, died when their car went out of control on US 77 three miles south of Robstown near Corpus Christi.
 A San Marcos resident, Felix Guadalupe Juarez, 42, was killed Friday night in a two-car, head-on collision on Interstate 35 two miles north of New Braunfels.
 In other violent incidents:
 Leamer C. Levy, 42, of Port Arthur was beaten to death, apparently with a tire tool, police said Saturday night. Officers said robbery was the motive. A watch dog at the filling station was locked in a store room.
 Amarillo officers held a 23-year-old man in the beating death of four-month-old Christina J. Archer. The infant died late Saturday after being brought to an Amarillo hospital. She was the daughter of Mrs. Melvin C. Archer whose husband is with the military forces in South Vietnam.

SHOT TO DEATH
 Two Plainview men were shot to death early Sunday on a farm east of Hart in the Texas Panhandle. Killed were Jerry Wayne Walker, 25, and his father-in-law, William Walker, 74. Officers held a 34-year-old man in the county jail at Dimmitt in connection with the slayings.
 Mrs. Annie Riley, 75, was fatally injured Sunday when she was struck by a car on a San Antonio street. Mrs. Riley died shortly after the accident.
 Robert Wilson Holmes, 54, of Tomball died from a shotgun blast as he drove his pickup truck on a highway adjacent to a small Houston parking lot. Another man driving by, Joe Larry Willis, 23, of Houston, was wounded by the gunfire. Police arrested a 21-year-old man whom witnesses said grabbed a gun off a hardware store rack and began firing without provocation.
 A young policeman, Joseph Scottino, 22, of Pantego, near Fort Worth, was killed accidentally when his gun apparently went off while he was investigating a robbery.
SHOT IN STOMACH
 Police said that Scottino found the door of a warehouse open about 3 a.m. Saturday and went inside to investigate. Officers said that while he was in the attic, he fell through the ceiling causing the pistol to discharge. He was killed by a single shot that struck him in the face.
 In Houston, police said Robert E. Henry, 47, was shot to death Friday night in an attempted robbery of the hamburger stand he owned.
 Henry's wife said that two men entered the establishment and asked for the contents of the cash register. She said she refused and Henry asked the men to leave. Then, one of them shot Henry in the stomach.

POOL GAME
 Also in Houston, police were still searching Sunday for a gunman who shot and killed Ralph Wesley Chatham Friday. Investigators said the 34-year-old Chatham was killed when he was shot in the face following an argument over 25 cents in a pool game at a lounge.
 In Dallas, a shooting at a card game Friday night cost the life of a man and left another critically wounded. The dead man was identified as Dozier Allen, 51.
 In Wichita Falls officers were investigating the death of a youth whose body was found Saturday in the charred wreckage of his automobile near this North Texas city.
BODY BURNED
 Investigators said that the car was only slightly damaged after it hit a pole and they are checking the possibility of murder and arson. The body was burned beyond recognition.
 Two Dallas residents died Friday night when their car hit the rear of a truck parked on the shoulder of Interstate 45 near Huntsville.
 The victims were identified as Louis Ray McPherson, 38, driver of the car, and his wife Eddie, 37.
 Billy Ray Paul, 26, of Conroe was killed Saturday when the car he was driving ran off State Highway 105 and struck a tree about nine miles west of Cleveland.
 In Houston Glen Alan Lonie, 31, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision. Three other persons were injured slightly.
 Also in Houston, a one-car accident cost the life of a 20-year-old Blake H. Fedder.
 Police said Fedder's car went out of control in the west part of Houston, overturned and then skidded 88 feet on its top.

 Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

UNPLANNED: (Q) Last summer Lynn and I went together about three weeks and then he told me he loved me. A few nights later we got carried away and did something we hadn't really planned to do.
 Two days after that night he called me. He said his mother had found out about us and told him to break up with me, and he was going to.
 I still care about him a lot. How can I get him back? — Loser in Louisiana.
 (A.) Please do not blame Lynn's mother. Blame yourself. Lynn wanted you to do what you did, but he didn't believe you would. When you did, he changed his mind about you. This may not seem fair, but it is the way many boys are.
 Think about this when you find another boy you can genuinely care for. And go slow.
STEPMOTHER: (Q) When my mother died my father remarried. On the day of the wedding my stepmother and I got into a fight and ever since then we have had fights. It's been six months. I don't like her and I don't love her. She feels likewise about me. Please tell me what to do. —13 in Texas.
 (A.) You do not have to like or love your father's new wife. And you should not feel guilty or angry because you don't. But for his sake — and for your own — you should try to avoid fights with her.
 If you can be peaceful and forgiving, you will discover that as day follows day and year follows year you will see qualities in her that are likable —possibly even lovable.
 She will observe similar qualities in you. The time will come when you can respect each other, be friendly, possibly even love each other.
