United States Resumes Air Activity Over Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has resumed limited air activity over Laos in response to a request from Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma, it was learned today.

However, officials in Washington said details would have come from the U.S. Pacific Command in Honolulu.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, meanwhile, that the United States is hopeful that the two-day-old cease-fire would be fully implemented soon and that the renewed fighting would end soon.

The renewed U.S. air activity came in the wake of a request by Prince Souvanna, who told a news conference:

"If the other side does not keep their words, we are not obliged to keep ours."

U.S. air attacks on the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao stopped several hours before the cease-fire went into effect at noon Wednesday. It was the third cease-fire in Laos in more than two decades of war.

Prince Souvanna said the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao launched a general offensive in northern and southern Laos Wednesday and committed at least 29 major violations of the truce. The premier said he would protest to the International Control Commission, although it is not yet operational.

"Ninety per cent of the violations are being done by foreign troops," he said, referring to the 65,000 North Vietnamese troops estimated to be in Laos.

Souvanna confirmed that government forces had been forced to give up the important southern town of Paksong after the cease-fire.

He said the most serious attacks were in the southernmost 4th Military Region, where the Communists attacked in force.

This is the area of the Ho Chi Minh Trail, North Vietnam's supply line to Communist forces in South Vietnam. It is also the traditional stronghold of the Laotian right-wingers who are the chief foes of the Pathet Lao.

Reliable sources said the North Vietnamese continued their offensive Thursday night, shelling towns and government positions in both northern and southern Laos.

FIRE RAGES FOLLOWING PIPELINE EXPLOSIONS—At least four persons perished during a series of explosions and fire at a liquid petroleum pipeline about 10 miles east of Austin Thursday night.

Hey Buddy, Is Anything Bugging You?

CHICAGO (AP) — The spotlight on electronic eavesdropping in the Watergate case has meant a bonanza for a firm that specializes in debugging.

"Business always has been good," says Ed Bray, a partner of American Security Agents, Inc. But since political spies bugged the Democratic National Headquarters last summer in Washington's Watergate complex "we've gotten about 25 per cent more jobs and the inquiries have gone up 50 per cent," he adds.

The 48-year-old former Chicago policeman and Joe Paolella, 44, a former Secret Service agent who had been attached to the White House detail, started the company two years ago and made detecting and detaching wiretaps and electronic bugs the big part of it.

The two charge $100 to survey a room and can complete a "sweep" in 10 to 15 minutes.

They use a "surveillance transmitter locator," about the size of a bowling ball, and a "hummer," a cube measuring about a foot on each side. The hummer emits a sound of a specific frequency that is tuned in on the locator and traced to the hidden bug.

The bugs have been pulled out of lamps, furniture, law books, wall sockets, desks, file cabinets and, of course, telephones and telephone lines.

The partners say most of their jobs are in the offices of corporation executives and lawyers. Domestic strife is the next biggest source of business.

"We get a lot of calls from wives or husbands who are planning divorces and think their bedrooms are bugged," Bray said. "Sometimes they are, too, but actually we find taps or bugs in about only 25 per cent of our jobs."

"The rest are just spy-jitters or have big imaginations. In this business, you need a lot of nuts."

What Happened To Libyan Airliner Over Desert?

By HAL McCLURE
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Flight 114 was lost.

The three-jet Boeing 727 of Libyan Arab Airlines had taken off from Tripoli, made a brief stop at Benghazi in eastern Libya and was now in the vicinity of Cairo.

NOT SURE

Where, exactly, the French pilot, Capt. Jacques Bourges, 42, was not sure.

Aboard Bourges' plane were 104 passengers — all Arabs except for two Germans and an American — and a crew of nine, including five French nationals.

The passengers included Wladyslaw Borysgolebski, 62, a Polish-born resident of Chicago; the 26-year-old sister of the Libyan ambassador in London and a former Libyan foreign minister, an Egyptian waiter flying to Cairo to meet his fiancée, plus women and children.

Bourges and the four other French crewmen were on contract to the Libyan airline from Air France. One of the two stewards was Jean-Pierre Burdiat, 42, of Paris. In all, 20 Air France crewmen fly with the Libyan airline.

BLOWING SAND

It was 1:45 p.m. in Cairo. Cairo traffic control had watched Flight 114 as it approached the sprawling city from the west. So far, the flight had been routine except that blowing sand that restricted visibility.

Bourges reported Flight 114 over Fayoum, about 12 miles southwest of Cairo.

Cairo gave him permission to descend and to prepare for a landing on runway 23 heading southwest.

Time 1:50 p.m.; Control was surprised to see Flight 114 fly eastward toward the Suez Canal and the Israeli-occupied Sinai Desert. Cairo momentarily lost contact.

Steward Burdiat later recalled: "It was my understanding our compass was not working."

Wednesday, Feb. 21, had not been a routine day for Israeli forces in the Sinai. Shortly after midnight an Israeli strike force landed in northern Lebanon and attacked seven guer-

HUMAN EXPERIMENTS

Paid To Take LSD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Probing the ethics of human medical experiments, a Senate panel has been told of children subjected to asthma attacks, men paid to take LSD, and experimental pregnancies.

Such experiments are widespread, not rare, and subject to no standards aimed at protecting the rights of the human subjects involved, the health panel was told Thursday.

PREGNANT IDEA

The testimony before the subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., came as a prelude to an examination of research into psychosurgery, electric stimulation of the human brain and the behavioral research of Harvard University scientist B. F. Skinner.

Dr. Robert M. Veatch gave details of case studies on "questionable" human research projects compiled by the Institute of Society, Ethics and the Life Sciences, Hastings-On-Hudson, N.Y.

He declined to provide the researchers' names or where the research was conducted.

Veatch said these included hundreds and perhaps thousands of "experimental pregnancies" produced in tests on the effectiveness of various birth control methods.

In one such test, he said, a long-term contraceptive implant was imbedded under the skin of the forearm. Forty-eight of the women became pregnant.

These were other experiments detailed by Veatch:

—Researchers gave 41,119 patients enrolled in a major group health plan a pain-tolerance test as part of a regular checkup. The subjects were told the test measured pressure.

PAIN

"Each subject placed his heel in a vise-like machine and was instructed to stand the pressure as long as he could. Researchers then compared age, sex and racial differences in pain tolerance."

—Nine children aged 11 to 16, all suffering from asthma, were subjected intentionally to 55 so-called "challenge" doses of an asthma-producing drug to test the effectiveness of another drug in blocking the attacks.

"Every child experienced at least one reaction described by the researcher as repeated in five of the nine children... followed by increased and repeated asthma for a further day or two."

—Twenty-four men answering an advertisement were paid $2-an-hour to undergo experimentation in the use of LSD to study long-range change in personality, performance and attitude.

Damaged Streets Giving City Workmen Headaches

Rain and slushy snow, which have been almost continuously on the ground lately, are responsible for many tora streets and for slow progress of several building projects, according to James Campbell, city public works director.

"I don't know if it is ever going to dry up," Campbell said, "but until it does, all we can do about the holes in the streets is to temporarily patch them for the sake of keeping traffic moving."

Campbell said that after each rain or snowfall, the city must asphalt chugholes and repair torn intersections, but that later moisture comes along and undoes these repairs.

"When it all dries up, we'll go in and permanently patch up all the holes," he said.

Also being delayed by wet weather is construction on the new tennis center at the Dora Roberts Community Center and on additional stalls at the municipal golf shed.

"It needs to be a lot drier before we can begin any asphaltting at the tennis center," Campbell said. Boss-Linam Electric Inc., hired by the city to handle wiring and lighting, has finished installing an underground cable and pole bases at site, according to Campbell.

Framework for the golf shed is up, he noted, but wet weather has delayed erecting of walls, doors and roofing. "Work on the shed is about 30 per cent completed," Campbell estimated.

Price Of Free Gold Spirals To New Peaks

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar, devalued less than two weeks ago, plunged to its floor in hectic trading on European exchanges early today, but prompt support by a number of state banks brought a partial recovery. The price of free gold soared to new peaks.

The dollar slump came amid widespread rumors that the nine European Common Market countries were preparing to free their currencies for a joint float in relation to the American money.

Such a move would end government support of the dollar in most of West Europe and the floating-currencies would most likely rise further.

Switzerland's big three banks halted trading in gold at one point during the morning in an effort to calm the market. When dealings resumed two hours later, they were held to a "limited scale."

Some Swiss exchange offices reported scattered protests from U.S. tourists being given nearly 25 per cent less Swiss francs for their dollars than they obtained two weeks ago.

Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, Anthony Barber, hinted at an early floating of all Common Market currencies during House of Commons debate late Thursday on the international money situation.

Exchange dealers emphasized that trading was hectic but not heavy. Dollar selling was persistent but relatively small.

Dealers in some markets were too busy to give reasons for the wild selling of dollars and the continuing boom in gold, but it looked like a loss of confidence in paper money.

The dollar was steady in Tokyo, where the market opens earlier than elsewhere. It managed to gain half a yen to close at 265.50.

But in Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam and Frankfurt, the dollar plunged to its lowest permitted level before the state banks of Belgium, the Netherlands and West Germany started buying to support the rate.

The Swiss national bank was also reported supporting the dollar even though the Swiss franc has been floating for more than a month.

OSD GIVES OK Webb Projects Clear Hurdle

The Secretary of Defense has given approval to two construction projects proposed for Webb AFB, Congressman Omar Burleson has learned.

In turn, Rep. Burleson notified Mayor Wade Choate, who visited him recently in Washington, D.C. concerning the projects, of the favorable status.

Both the airman's dormitories (under which the present frame quarters for some 500 airmen would be replaced by more permanent-type construction) and cold storage facilities were included in the approval.

Rep. Burleson quoted from a letter by Leslie E. Turner, acting assistant Secretary of the Air Force for installations.

"These two projects have been approved by the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD)... The proposed FY (fiscal year) 1972 Military Construction Authorization Bill, which includes these projects, is presently in the final stages of preparation, and it is expected that the requested legislation will be sent to Congress some time in March."

If congressional action is favorable and the bill finally approved, the next step would be to obtain appropriations.

Amtrak Will Serve Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Rep. Alan Steelman, R-Tex., announced here today that Amtrak will reroute its daily Chicago-Houston train, the Texas Chief, through Dallas.

The change, which has been approved by Amtrak's board of directors, Steelman said, will be effective June 29. A news release issued earlier said the date would be June 10, but Steelman said Amtrak officials in Washington confirmed the June 29 date this morning.

No One Is Entered In Trustee Race

Deadline for filing for a position on a school board is March 7 and there are thus far no applicants.

Incumbents who have not yet announced whether they will seek re-election are Roy Watkins, board president, and Delnor Poss.

BOATERS ARRIVE SAFE—Larry McCrary and his son, Gary, 8, of Kingsport, Tenn., arrived in Key West, Fla., Thursday evening after drifting for two days across the gulf stream in a disabled 19-foot boat. Six others were also on the boat and all were rescued and reported unharmed.

TO COPE WITH ENERGY SHORTAGES

'Get Us Back On Track'

HOUSTON (AP) — The exploration manager for a major offshore operator says larger federal oil and gas lease sales "would get us back on the track to do something about the nation's energy shortages."

"We believe at least 3 million acres could and should be offered annually," said R. W. Bybee of the Exxon Co. USA.

SAFEGUARDS

"The orderly development of such acreage can be accomplished with adequate environmental safeguards."

Bybee was among the final witnesses Thursday as the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management ended a two-day hearing on the proposed sale of 124 Texas tracts and five nearby Louisiana tracts totaling 697,643 acres and believed to hold potential reserves of 30 to 60 million barrels of oil and 5.4 to 7.6 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

About 1 million acres were involved in two Louisiana offshore sales last year.

Bybee said he had known producing areas in mind while making the 3 million acre recommendation but he said such unexplored Gulf of Mexico areas as South Texas, Alabama, and Florida also should be opened.

"The South Texas area opposite Corpus Christi and Brownsville should be opened at an early time," he said.

TEXAS WATERS

"The industry has been operating off Louisiana only 25 years but the opening of completely unexplored areas would mean that additional reserves could be found for many, many years to come."

None of the hearing's 75 witnesses opposed the sale that would more than double federal areas under lease off the Texas coast. All but 25,000 of the proposed acres are in Texas waters.

The hearing panel headed by deputy Asst. Interior Secy. Curt Berkund also heard a Nixon administration energy policy advisor predict Thursday that supply shortages will force some type of rationing this year.

GAS RATIONING

Dr. John J. McKetta, who became chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee in 1970, did not elaborate while being questioned by Berkund. The University of Texas chemical engineering professor earlier had testified, however, that "there is no way the United States can meet the tremendous demand requirements between now and 1985 without increasing energy imports sharply or unless there is a very severe rationing program."

Berkund returned to the rationing question later after hearing Richard C. Dixon, Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. vice president for gas supply, discuss curtailment and supply problems. "Earlier today we heard a prediction of rationing in 1973," Berkund said. "We've also heard a lot about curtailment of gas deliveries. Can you say the difference between rationing and curtailments?"

"I personally don't see any difference between the two," Dixon replied.

Thomas J. Joyce, chief of the Federal Power Commission's Bureau of Natural Gas, earlier had said 14 gas pipeline companies found it necessary to curtail by 1.2 trillion cubic feet their deliveries to firm gas customers between November, 1970, and November, 1972. He said similar deficiencies for the 12 months ending in March have been projected at 1.1 trillion and that an FPC staff reports indicates continuing and increasing supply difficulties to the year 1990.

IMPORTS

Bybee also told Berkund substantial Gulf of Mexico reserves remain to be found in water depths beyond 400 feet. The water depths for the 129 tracts in the proposed sale range from 12 to 390 feet.

Berkund said some inland refineries were not operating at capacity because of supply shortages. He asked Bybee what effect oil discoveries in the proposed lease areas would have on such a situation.

"The oil would be piped into Texas and Louisiana and forestall some imports of foreign supplies," Bybee said.

"Our refinery here at Baytown currently is having to import foreign crude while some inland refineries are processing at less than capacity."

A final decision on the sale is expected about mid-May. June 19 has been mentioned as a possible sale date.

Florist Federal Union Winner Of Honor Award

The West Texas New Mexico Florist Federal Credit Union has earned a Thrift Honor Award for its success in stimulating savings among small savers, according to Ray K. Mosenbaker, regional director of the National Credit Union Administration.

The WTNM credit union was formed through the members of West Texas and New Mexico Florist Association Inc.

It has a membership of approximately 400 members from all over the United States and Mexico. The association was chartered in Amarillo in 1953.

The 20th convention of the association returns to Amarillo this year with a design school theme of "Bell in Texas."

Odesa has requested the 1974 convention with the Permian Basin Florist Association being the 1974 host organization. Averi Quigley of Big Spring is president of the PBFA.

Big Spring florists who are members include Mr. and Mrs. Bill Draper of Faye's Flowers, Jessie Lee Townsend and Q. T. Coots of Estahs Flowers, Averi and John Quigley of Quigley's Flowers, Roy Pete of Inland Port 213. He is a charter member.

The credit union recently attained a monthly rate of growth of 5.8 per cent in share accounts $20,000 and under. On Oct. 31, 1972, the credit union had 114 members who had saved a total of $28,000. It was chartered in 1969.

Rodney Sanders, Roswell, N.M., is president of the credit union and Mrs. Katherine B. Ramsey is treasurer.

Presently there are over 18,000 federally chartered credit unions including the WTNM.

Voting Favorable For Union Merger

Webb AFB Federal Credit Union's annual shareholders meeting drew a record turnout of 510 members Thursday evening, and it was SRO at Withycombe Hall.

Two Incumbents In School Race

FLOWER GROVE — Three positions will be filled in the April 7 Flower Grove School trustee election.

Incumbents Darrell Froman and Jimmy Heald have already filed for re-election. Deadline for filing is March 7.

Those planning to enter the race must register with the office of School Supt. J. W. Massengale at the school.

Election judges will be Mr. and Mrs. Murray Cook. Those casting absentee ballots can obtain ballots from Mrs. Doris Stephenson, Martin county clerk.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m., election day. Absentee balloting must be done between the hours of 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The board will meet Monday to elect officers for the year. Balloting continues on a proposed merger in which the Howard County (federal) Government Employees Credit Union would become a part of Webb AFB Credit Union, but the returns thus far are overwhelmingly in favor by a ratio of approximately 70-3.

It is understood the Howard County unit also is favoring heavily. Target date, if approved, is April 1. A branch office would be set up downtown as a convenience to off-base members. The Webb unit also operates a branch at Fort Walters near Mineral Wells.

At the meeting Thursday evening numerous prizes were given, topped by a color television to Foster Shirley.

Webb AFB Credit Union had open house Thursday to present its new 1,782-square foot administrative offices addition. More than 1,100 visited the facility.

Annual reports at the meeting showed loans of $13,248,000 during the past year, members shares of $12,635,000, and total assets of $13,746,000.

'Morning After Pill' Due To Get FDA Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Birth control will enter a new dimension soon when the government formally approves the controversial drug—DES as a "morning-after pill" for women who didn't or couldn't take precautions before intercourse.

Knowledgeable authorities say the Food and Drug Administration's announced decision to approve what had been widespread unapproved prescribing is likely to make the drug available to more women.

Some experts contend the FDA is moving too quickly, while questions of safety remain unanswered.

But the government says that diethylstilbestrol, or DES, taken as directed, is safer than an abortion.

Council To Talk About Thoroughfare

Hank McDaniel moved a fence back for a county road and "has" yet to see the road constructed by the county, County Judge A. G. Mitchell said.

This is one of four items listed for the County Commissioners' Court session 9 a.m. Monday.

Authorizing Mitchell to sign a lease for Center Point School property is also up for discussion. Approving bills and hearing the weekly report of Marvin Hanson, road administrator, are regular items which appear on the agenda as usual.

More Than 100 Indicate They'll Attend Clinic

More than 100 reservations have been received for the Permian Basin Dental Society annual clinic here Saturday.

Dr. Charles M. Silberstein, New York City, will be the guest clinician, making a presentation on "Oral Implantology — Theory and Application." This deals with the special field of implanting devices to which dentures may be attached.

His initial presentation will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Allred Building on the Big Spring State Hospital Campus. Dr. W. B. Hardy, in charge of the hospital's dental department, said that experience had indicated that attendance will be twice the number of the reservations made at this stage.

Basin Dental Society, and Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the hospital. After the morning and afternoon presentations and demonstrations Dr. Silberstein will conduct summation periods. A business meeting will conclude the meeting at 4 p.m. Registrants will have luncheon at the hospital.

Police Jail 37 NMSU Students

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Police jailed 37 New Mexico State University students today after a second night of confrontations that left the NMSU campus littered with debris.

The sheriff's officers said the students were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and failure to obey officers as 180 state, county, city and NMSU officers made several sweeps across the campus late Thursday night and early today.

No serious injuries were reported. The troubles stemmed from a decision by NMSU regents against permitting men and women students' visitation privileges in dormitories.

ABOUT NORMAL

A woman in the university information office, Irene Lewis, looking out her office window this morning, said, "It's very quiet out there. It looks about normal as far as students moving around" to early classes.

There were unconfirmed reports that some students would boycott classes today.

Groups of from about 250 youths to less than a dozen clashed with police in sporadic incidents from 10:45 p.m. until order was restored at 1 a.m.

The final clash came when officers in some 30 patrol cars dispersed about 50 students who had barricaded Locust Ave. on the south end of the campus and showered newsmen and passing cars with rocks.

Officials reported a number of windows smashed in campus buildings and in a police car temporarily left unattended. Several street lights also were broken.

Two officers and one student reportedly suffered minor injuries from rocks.

Dorms at NMSU, with an enrollment of about 8,500, were closed to nonresidents at least until noon today.

And the administration was granted a temporary injunction Thursday that prohibits activities that would hinder university operations, including demonstrations, blocking streets and sidewalks and occupying buildings.

"Appropriate university disciplinary measures will be taken as violators of university regulations and state laws are identified," he said.

Eight Rewarded In Annual Feast

Sale Of Pancakes Grosses $1,309

After approximately 1,000 people had been served pancakes and bacon, the Kiwanis Club grossed $1,309 from its annual pancake supper held last night.

Proceeds of the feast go to support projects such as buying eye glasses for the needy and sponsoring the Key Club.

The club also donates money to the West Side Community Center, the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, the Kiwanis Camp and the Salvation Army Summer Camp for boys and girls.

"Quite a few people went back for seconds," said club member Harold Canning. "We had a good turnout in spite of the bad weather."

Selfish Sister

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SELFISH SISTER: (Q) I despise my sister. She is 9 years old and is very selfish and unfair. She is a crybaby. She whines when she doesn't get her way. She doesn't give a hoot about anybody but herself. All she wants is to have everything her way. I have reached the point where I could kill her.

Recently she got a kitten. We both love him dearly. But just because it's her kitten, nobody else can touch him. Every time I just pick him up, she takes him away from me. What can I do about my sister and her kitten? — Mad in Maryland.

(A.) First of all, be patient. Many 9-year-olds have not yet learned that the world is here for everyone — not just them.

The world is a very good teacher, though, and your sister will learn soon that stepping on others can cause pain.

Do not go to your parents and complain about your sister. Instead, if a pet is really what you want, ask them to get you one.

They need to know what is going on, but informing them indirectly will make a stronger impression on them.

HANDY SANDY: (Q) I have known Sandy since we were in grade school. We are in the eleventh grade now. We have always told each other everything but something has come up that I haven't been able to talk to her about.

She is getting a reputation. She likes boys and isn't too careful about what she does with them.

I hope you won't think I'm jealous, or anything. I have a boy friend I love very much. He knows about Sandy but isn't interested in dating her. We just both dislike the idea of her getting hurt. But what can I say to her? — Reluctant in Rhode Island.

(A.) You can tell her the truth, that she is getting a reputation. You are the one to do it. Tell her, lovingly but frankly.

The talk may cost you her friendship, but if it helps her, it will be worth it.

Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Most questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 202, Houston, Tex. 77001.

'THE WAR WAS SUPPOSED TO BE OVER'

His Son Dies Of Injuries

MULBERRY GROVE, Ill. (AP) — "If the war was supposed to be over, if there was supposed to be no more shooting, then how come they did what they did?" asked Leland Scroggins.

He learned on Thursday that his 25-year-old son, Army Spec. 5 James Scroggins, had died of injuries suffered when his Chinook helicopter was shot down by enemy ground fire north of Saigon a week ago.

COME HOME

"In his last letter, he said: 'Dad, I've been grounded. I've got orders to come home,'" the father recalled.

Because he thought his son no longer was flying, Scroggins said, "When I saw the news report (of the crash), I said to myself 'I am sorry for all those other boys, but I'm happy my boy wasn't on it.'"

He learned later during a visit at his in-laws that his son was aboard the craft.

Scroggins said his son was on his second tour of duty in Vietnam. During a leave in January, he had returned home to be with his wife, Aurelia, and daughters, Theresa, 2, and Tracy, 1.

STAY WITH GIRLS

After the crash, residents of this southern Illinois town collected money to help send James' wife and mother to visit him in an Okinawa hospital.

Mrs. Scroggins talked briefly with her husband by telephone last Saturday and told him she was coming.

"His wife talked to him for about 30 seconds," said the elder Scroggins. "He said, 'No, you stay with the girls.'"

It was the last time Aurelia heard her husband speak. When she saw him in Okinawa, he was unable to talk.

The body will be flown home next week.

Number Of Phones Is Up By 2.6 Per Cent Here

The number of telephones in service — a barometer of community growth — climbed to more than 21,001 in Big Spring as of December 31, 1972.

The figure was released by Harry Sawyer, Southwestern Bell manager, who said it represents an increase of 2.6 per cent in telephone growth for the city in 1972.

"Because of telephone growth in cities such as Big Spring, Southwestern Bell in 1972 became the largest telephone company in the Bell System and the largest non-government owned phone company in the world," the manager said.

Southwestern Bell serves more than 11,477,000 phones in a territory composed of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri and a small portion of Illinois.

Not only has the number of phones in Big Spring increased, but so has the number of calls being made by customers. Company records indicate the number of calls made here during an average business day in November 1972, totaled 100,285, a 3.3 per cent increase over the average November day in 1971.

Sawyer said telephone growth is expected to continue at a healthy pace. The company forecasts that there will be 25,275 telephones in Big Spring by the end of 1976.

To keep pace with growth in Big Spring, Southwestern Bell recently completed installation of central office equipment that will allow for 500 more telephone numbers to serve the city. A similar installation project to add 800 telephone numbers will begin later this year and be completed in early 1974.

Another project scheduled for 1973 is the addition of feeder cable west to Webb AFB.

Sawyer said the 1973 construction budget for Southwestern Bell's San Antonio Area, of which Big Spring is a part, will be $182 million, an increase of $30 million over 1972. The San Antonio Area covers approximately two-thirds of the western part of Texas.

Airmen Can Try For Scholarships

The Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) scholarship and commissioning program was recently authorized to allow active duty airmen to compete for AFROTC scholarships.

To be eligible, airmen must be qualified for and agree to enter the program in a flying (pilot or navigator) category. Airmen must have one year of active duty prior to entering the program.

Airmen will be discharged from the Air Force and enlisted in the United States Air Force Reserve to attend college on a full time basis to allow them to earn their undergraduate degree before being commissioned.

For more information on the program, contact the Base Education Office extension 2464, or the Consolidated Base Personnel Office, ext. 2151.

Lewis To Do Fair Tapes

A Big Spring firm — Orange House Productions — has been awarded a contract by the Texas Tourist Bureau to produce public service radio spots for the Texas Arts & Crafts Fair.

Bob Lewis, who heads the company, said that production will start immediately for the tapes advertising the fair May 25-28 on the Schreiner Institute grounds at Kerrville.

Lewis — who may be more familiarly known to many as Tumbleweed Smith in his Texana vignettes — earned the designation by submitting a sample tape in which he interviewed Stimson R. Bahlen, Slaton, who makes and plays dulcimers, a flat stringed instrument that may be played by plucking or tapping.

Tourist agency representatives said they were pleased with Lewis' folksy approach to the subject.

"In making the 30-second tapes, Lewis will use excerpts from numerous interviews with people who displayed wares at last year's arts & craft fair and who plan to be exhibitors again. Once he produces the finished tape, he will duplicate it in containers which will be sent to the tourist agency, which will handle the distribution to the radio stations.

Texan Accused Of Drowning Boy Says He Doesn't Recall

HOUSTON (AP) — George P. Geistwhite, accused of drowning a boy by pushing the wheelchair-confined youth into a lake, says he cannot remember the incident.

"At a certain point, it also lntely blacks out for me. I don't remember what's been described here," Geistwhite, 37, said between sobs while testifying at his trial Thursday.

TERRIBLE

"I think maybe it's a blessing I don't remember it. What a terrible, terrible thing."

Geistwhite, a salesman, is charged with murder in the death of Tracy Gene Squier, 11. Tracy Gene and his brother, James Douglas Squier, 10, both confined to wheelchairs by muscular dystrophy, were fishing last May 19 off a boat dock at nearby Seabrook when their wheelchairs were pushed into Clear Lake.

Tracy Gene drowned. Members of the family jumped into the water and were able to save James Douglas.

STRUGGLED

Geistwhite also is charged with attempted murder for allegedly pushing James Douglas' wheelchair into the water.

Geistwhite noticeably struggled to control his emotions during his testimony.

"You haven't looked at the jury one time during this trial—are you able to look at it now?" defense lawyer Bob Tarrant asked Geistwhite.

Geistwhite put his head in his hands and sobbed. District Court Judge Miron A. Love excused him from the stand and Geistwhite kept his eyes averted from the jury as he walked to his chair.

INSANE

Both sides were expected to present closing arguments today.

Ruth Geistwhite of Natchtoches, La., testified that her son "had to be insane."

"He could not have done that in his right mind," Mrs. Geistwhite said.

She said her son had been nervous and depressed and "went to pieces" every time he came to Houston. She said he visited Houston the last time to look for a job.

Houston psychiatrist Alfred H. Vogt, testifying for the defense, said "there was nothing but craziness in this act."

"I think he (Geistwhite) was actually psychotic at the instant this occurred."

Child Abuse Conference

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Parents who beat their children were probably abused themselves as children, the nearly 800 participants in a national child abuse conference have been told.

Featured speaker at the two-day seminar was the California woman who founded Parents Anonymous and who appeared under the pseudonym "Jolly K."

Child abusers are often persons who themselves were abused and haven't yet learned to handle stress, she said.

She described her organization as a similar to Alcoholics Anonymous, but with the goal of providing help for abusive parents.

"Parents going to parents anonymous are scared," she said. "Ninety-nine per cent were abused themselves as kids and they are alienated from society because of those early experiences."

The speaker said there are 60,000 reported cases of child abuse in the country each year and these represent only a fraction of the real number.

The conference will continue through noon today.

West had book in his own hand, and he surveyed the dummy to see where an additional trick might be developed. It was obvious from South's opening bid that the declarer had virtually every missing high card, including the ace of hearts and the queen of diamonds. Possession of the ace of hearts alone assured South of no losers in the red suits. Unless East had some unexpected value in trumps, the situation appeared hopeless for the defense.

Presently West saw a way to promote an additional trick provided his partner had an intermediate card in spades. He continued with a third round of clubs, deliberately presenting South with a ruff and discard. Declarer trumped with North's deuce of spades and then led a spade from dummy.

East played the seven of spades, South put up the jack and West was in with the ace. Now came a fourth round of clubs. East made telling use of the ten of spades by ruffing in with that card. South overruffed with the queen and cashed the king. However, by now, West's nine of trumps was established as the setting trick.

BLAME NIXONITES State Welfare Board Seeks Higher Budget

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The state welfare board, blaming the Nixon administration has asked for a welfare budget that would exceed planned legislative appropriations by $57 million.

Commissioner R. W. Vowell said the new Social Security Act amendments passed by Congress would place a huge financial burden on the states, even though the amendments transfer some welfare areas from state to federal control.

Vowell said "the latest budgetary and regulatory activity of our benevolent federal administration... is chopping away at programs that serve the young and defenseless in our nation."

The welfare budget recommended by the board for 1974 would require about $361 million in state funds. That would produce about $1 billion for welfare programs when federal matching funds are mixed in.

But the Legislative Budget Board doggedly trying to avoid new taxes, has recommended only $303 million.

Vowell told the board the state's biggest new burden would be for aid to families with dependent children and medical expenses. The state would also have to assume food stamp burdens for some persons and will have to pick up the cost for all 45 of its adoption workers, Vowell said.

The board also adopted a resolution to institute its own food stamp distribution program. That was necessary, Vowell said, because the U.S. Postal Service has so far failed to provide such distribution.

Nominations should be sent to the Texas Farm and Ranch

Safety Council, Box 489, Waco, Texas 76703.

Acts of life-saving heroism in a farm or ranch environment during the 1972 calendar year are eligible for the award. The nomination should include a detailed narrative of the incident, the names of all persons involved, and the location and date. ## Brush Is Still Grave Problem

LUBBOCK — More than 82 per cent of Texas' grasslands are infested with brush, making its control a problem of growing concern to livestock men and conservationists throughout the state.

Efforts have been made to control brush by chemical means, rootplowing, chaining, roller chopping, discing, grubbing and shredding. While all these methods are effective, they are not used extensively because of cost and damage to native grasses. Better methods of brush control are being researched in study conducted by the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

The study is aimed at developing inexpensive, practical and effective methods of brush control which can gain widespread acceptance.

Among the brush control methods under research at the university is shredding. Dr. Thomas G. Carpenter, associate professor of agricultural engineering, said, "Shredding has not been widely utilized primarily because of the physical limitations of available equipment."

The professor said there is a need for equipment constructed specifically for brush shredding.

The studies have shown flat-type shredders to be most effective for large brush control but that properly designed rotary shredders can also be used effectively. A moderate blade-tip speed, sufficient to cut the brush material, results in lower power requirements at lower cost and a higher degree of safety than extremely high speed operation, said Carpenter.

The professor said the advantages of shredding include leaving a relatively clean swath without leaving large pieces of brush to clear, stack and destroy. Shredding mulches brush into small pieces of woody material which quickly degrade where they lie. Shredding does not harm native grasses as do some methods of brush control and the mulching effect is likely to prove beneficial to newly growing grasses, said Carpenter.

MONEY IN MEXICO Corruption Snags Fight Against Brown Heroin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two congressmen say that narcotics traffickers, aided by widespread official corruption at all but the highest levels, have turned Mexico into one of the most important sources of illicit drugs entering the United States.

NEXT TO TOP
They quoted U.S. narcotics enforcement agents as describing Mexico as "a major producer, transshipment point and marketplace of drugs entering the United States. In relation to our drug problem, it is probably second only to France in significance."

Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., said that before Mexico's emergence as the key transit country for overseas heroin entering the United States, Argentina had been the center for Latin American narcotics smugglers. In recent years, he said, Argentine police have effectively cracked down on the French-Corsican rings that had operated out of Buenos Aires.

Steele and Rep. Morgan F. Murphy, D-Ill., said in an interview that Mexican President Luis Echeverria Alvarez and Pedro Ojeda Paullada, his attorney general, are "sincerely concerned, sincerely interested in providing cooperation" in halting drug trafficking through their country.

BIG DROP
But after that level of commitment to stemming the narcotics trade, "there's a hell of a big drop," Steele said. The congressmen said U.S.

agents in Latin America told them that "in a practical sense, corruption in Mexico is so imbedded that any solution to the narcotics problem would be difficult."
Still, Steele said, the Mexican attorney general conferred with U.S. officials recently, then three days ago moved police and Army troops into the state of Sonora near San Luis, arrested 15 persons and confiscated 9.5 tons of marijuana and one kilogram (2.2 pounds) of heroin.
Murphy and Steele visited five Latin American countries early this year to study U.S. drug-control assistance for the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

They said U.S. agents told them that so-called brown heroin, produced from Mexican opium, has begun to appear in U.S. East Coast cities where U.S. efforts in the Middle East created a shortage of Turkish heroin.

POOR PAY
Previously, they said Mexico had paid $100 million for U.S. drug-control assistance. Steele said that Mexico had paid only $50 million for the same assistance in 1972.

$145 Million Bond Election

HOUSTON (AP) — A city official predicts 130,000 persons will vote in Houston's $145 million bond election Saturday.
Jack B. Dienna of the city legal department said a more intensive campaign is being waged in behalf of the bond issue.
If the 130,000 prediction is correct it would be about 50,000 more than voted in the last city bond election three years ago.
If approved, the bonds would finance a three-year capital improvement program.

Tinker Air Base Thefts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two of four men recently accused by a federal grand jury of stealing some $100,000 in equipment from Tinker Air Force Base pleaded guilty to part of the charges.

William Rufus Gilbert, 33, Oklahoma City, an employe of the 44th Medical Evacuation Hospital Army Reserve Unit, and George Andrew Speeris, 43, LaPorte, Tex., a retired Army lieutenant colonel and former adviser to a Tinker reserve group, entered pleas before U.S. District Court Judge Fred Daugherty.

The judge postponed sentencing pending a report from the probation office.

Speeris pleaded guilty to the grand jury's charge of conspiracy. Gilbert pleaded guilty to two counts of stealing movie camera sets, a check writing machine, 753 bricks, drafting machines, recorders and an ohm meter.

'The Reasoner Report' To Commence Saturday

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A new half-hour show is making its debut this weekend on ABC Television. It's called "The Reasoner Report" and will contain investigative, feature and headline news stories.

TERRIBLE HOUR
Alas, it will commence each Saturday at a terrible hour — 6:30 p.m. EST. That isn't the best of all possible times to draw a big audience.

But at least it's the start of another badly needed network news program to augment the regular half-hour news diet offered by the three networks each weeknight.

HARD, EXPENSIVE
The anchorman of the new show is Harry Reasoner, who joined ABC in 1970 after 14 years of gently humorous essays and hard-news reporting for CBS. He currently is co-anchorman of the ABC Evening News with Howard K. Smith.

What brought on the new program?

"Well, I think it's a logical step in an upgrading process that has been going on at ABC news for the past eight or nine years," Reasoner said. "It's been a very slow, hard, expensive process."
"But now we're at the point where the (ABC) Evening News is fully competitive with the other network news programs. And the next step is to expand into what you might loosely call documentary programming."

He said his new show generally will have one investigative or documentary story that runs 12-14 minutes, plus two or three shorter pieces on various subjects.

How does he find time for the new show, along with his regular evening news chores?

"I DON'T"
"In a very real way, I don't," Reasoner said. "Obviously, most of the work on it is being done by Ernie Lelser (the show's executive producer) and his staff."

He noted that a similar weekend news show with a magazine-type format — CBS' "60 Minutes" — has two anchor men who do virtually all the reporting on that program.

"Unlike '60 Minutes,' we'll use a good many complete stories from ABC correspondents, which in effect means all I'll do is introduce them," Reasoner said. "But I will do as many as I can."

He didn't know what stories would be in the premier show.

"We're trying to keep it as timely as possible," Lelser said. "We probably won't know what we'll go with until this Thursday and that may be the way things happen each week."

Ex-Mayor Stokes, Wife Separated

Stokes, co-anchorman on WNBC-TV's 6 p.m. news program here, said Wednesday "Mrs. Stokes and I have been formally separated since the first of January. I have no further comment."

Solution Could Be Problem

The acid test of a solution is whether or not it will become, instead, part of the problem. On those grounds, the bill offered by Sen. Jack Ogg of Houston to require all Texas school districts with 10 per cent or more Mexican-American school children to begin bilingual education in all first-grade classrooms this fall defeats itself. The aim of Ogg's bill are laudable; bilingual education should be expanded, so as not to penalize those students from Spanish-speaking backgrounds and to give all Texas children the benefits of experience with two languages and two cultures. But the mechanics of putting it into operation as widely as he wants, certainly by this September, are just not there. Ogg's bill would require approximately 70 counties to begin the bilingual program in first grades this September. Included among them would be the giant Houston school system, as well as probably all systems in South Texas and far West Texas. Where are such great numbers of teachers competent to teach in both Spanish and English going to be found? In those districts which have made a beginning on bilingual education, finding enough teachers has been a constant problem.

With all districts required to supply bilingual first-grade education this fall, the recruiting problems would multiply. The most likely results would either be widespread noncompliance, or inferior education for all first-graders, English- and Spanish-speaking. As Sen. Ogg observes, many school districts have dragged their feet in meeting the need for bilingual education programs. But compelling the impossible won't solve the problem. Hopefully a comprehensive bilingual education bill can be hammered out in committee in Austin, a bill which will consider not only what is desirable and necessary but what is practical and possible.

Can Learn New Tricks, Too

People not only can learn new tricks as they get older, they also can get smarter. That is the finding of a University of Santa Clara (Calif.) psychologist. Following up on earlier testing of the same people, Dr. John Kangas has found that the intelligence quotient (IQ) can be improved with age. Dr. Kangas found that the mean IQ of 48 persons went up about 20 points between the first time they were tested, more than 40 years ago, and recent tests in their middle age. The 48 are among a group of 212 who were tested in 1931 with the Stanford-Binet IQ test.

Dr. Katherine Bradway, another psychologist, followed with tests in 1941, when the mean IQ has risen to 113.3 compared to an original of 110.7, and again in 1956, when the mean rose to 124.1. Kangas tested the same people again in 1969 and found a mean IQ of 130.1, a rise of almost 20 points. These statistics could indicate that old theories about a fixed IQ are wrong. Learning and growing are possible until physical deterioration sets in. The findings should be a boost to those who felt they were over the hill mentally at 40. And the youth cult is in for a jolt too.

An Alien Tongue

Around The Rim

Ann Stevens

What's a shag? What does MA mean? Who is Thomas Eagleton? What is a clog? What happened at Kent State? Why isn't Louis Armstrong still singing? Questions easy enough for most Americans, except for those who've been away from the States six or seven or even eight years in a prison camp. TO THOSE of us who did not heartily support the war effort in Vietnam, the return of the POWs may seem overemotional. Their dramatic comeback to Clark Air Base and on to America has dominated the headlines of every daily newspaper, the air time of every radio and television broadcast since Hanoi began the release. Speeches and interviews can easily fall into a rut and become stereotyped. There was once a film entitled "What Do You Say to a Naked Lady?" By the same token, what do you say to a wife whom you have not seen for years? Or to a school age child you remembered only as a baby? "Hello," of course, is good for a start, and "I love you" a good follow-up. THE UNCERTAINTINESS of these opening moments and days, the trauma of calling years into account, may seem slushy and sentimental to us readers and viewers who are not personally affected. It is hard for us to imagine the vacuum that would be created in our lives if all communication, all news of the world we live in — whether handwritten or printed, broadcast or televised, personal or official — was suddenly and continually cut off. And now, on reaching home soil these men are being exposed to a home sweet home different than the one they left. UNFAMILIAR TERMS confront them. Fashions have drastically changed. The newsmakers are different. Congressmen have come and gone. Presidents have died. Income tax forms have been altered. Traditional holidays have been rescheduled. The price of a Coke and a postage stamp have gone up. Little things, yet it is always those that are the most irritating, the most depressing. Personally, I know not one man held captive in Vietnam, not one man returning now and facing these problems. Yet, as a human being, I can feel for them and empathize. I know that if I were finally returned to a former world after being thrust into an unnatural vacuum for a lengthy period of time I would appreciate the empathy and patience of others. It seems so little to expect.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Recently, it was reported that a teacher of a Social Studies class invited a prostitute to talk to his students. In the same article was the reaction of a local minister, who said, "It's out of the realm of morality and respect for someone like that to be called in." Now isn't it worse for a minister to have a "holier-than-thou" attitude than for the school to sponsor such a visitor? N.A. The readers need to know some other statements you made — like "God commands us not to judge others," and "Jesus loves and forgives everyone." These are true, but they should never be grounds for foolish actions. God expects us to make judgments on alternative choices, with the good of every party in mind. After all, we are our brother's keeper. I rather suspect the teacher was headline hunting, more than seeking to give insights into a contemporary problem. To the extent that visit lent approval, or even toleration of a vice, it was ill-advised. Now for the other matter of the minister's reaction. He was evidently asked for an opinion, and shared it. His disapproval is not the same as being "holier than thou." As a clergyman, he knows the Scripture which declares that "all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." The occasion involving Christ and the woman taken in adultery (John

The Reds' Plan

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Having so disrupted the proposed inspection process that fighting has continued unabated during nearly four weeks since the "ceasefire" in Vietnam, Hanoi now can be counted on to renege on its agreed troop withdrawal from Laos. THIS ADDS up to a coherent Communist strategy: maximum military pressure in South Vietnam as the U.S. totally disengages. By stalling inspection through the four-power Joint Military Commission (JMC), the Communists have permitted heavy operations by North Vietnamese troops throughout South Vietnam. But to survive in the south, these troops need their logistical base in Laos, where 60,000 North Vietnamese regulars are stationed and showing no sign of leaving. Thus, with the war supposedly ended, yet another Indochinese challenge is posed for President Nixon. Experts here believe only heavy U.S. pressure can force Hanoi to keep its promise and withdraw its men from Laos. But Hanoi is counting on Mr. Nixon's iron resolve finally to submit to overwhelming American sentiment to get out of Indochina and stay out.

When it was broken, the Vietnam representative — Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra, actually a North Vietnamese officer and member of Hanoi's Communist central committee — instigated more delay. He demanded the U.S. abandon its bases in South Vietnam, though Woodward insisted all bases had been turned over to the Saigon government. Tra next plunged into the quagmire of mutual prisoner exchanges though this was clearly out of the JMC's jurisdiction. The result: no inspection teams were sent into the interior while fighting equalled — sometimes surpassed — the peaks of the last six months. During one night last week, Communist gunners fired 1,400 mixed mortar and artillery rounds into South Vietnamese airborne troops at Quang Tri. THOUGH international inspection teams have finally gone into the field, their effectiveness is questioned. Whatever the inspection teams accomplish, however, Hanoi is planning a continued military presence in South Vietnam. Nobody familiar with the country believes the Communists could win an internationally supervised referendum today. Instead, they are banking on military muscle to win them heavy representation in a national assembly without risk of elections. But that muscle depends on the logistical base in Laos, and experts here believe the North Vietnamese have no intention of withdrawing troops from Laos.

Fits Crime

NEW YORK (AP) — The growing national concern for the environment is reflected in law enforcement officers taking a stricter approach to motorists who litter, reports Keep America Beautiful Inc., the national environmental organization. Many communities are imposing "cleanup" penalties on convicted litterers rather than fines, says KAB. The person convicted may be sentenced to spend three days cleaning up litter along the highway where he was arrested, or from a beach or mile-long stretch of highway.

Broken Arrow Blonde

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — When I used to get my hair cut in a Broken Arrow, Okla., barber shop — where farmers took showers in the back — that Annie Oakley would someday cut my hair, I wouldn't have believed it. Now I believe it. Annie, who works in the Star-mountain Barbershop in a Charlotte shopping center, and a lot of other women are cutting men's hair these days. No more than one per cent of the nation's barbers are women, according to Nelson Snyder, secretary-treasurer of Associated Master Barbers and Beauticians, a national group of mostly shop owners with headquarters in Charlotte. Women have recently begun to attend barbering schools in greater numbers, Snyder said. The result? Well, men, perhaps aren't going to be what they used to be. Saturday afternoon at the barber shop used to be a time for trading hunting and fishing stories, football and baseball opinions and off-color jokes. I thought about that as I browsed through the barber shop's reading material before plopping myself down in Annie's leatherette barber chair. How can you casually open up to the centerfold of Playboy while a brunette peers over your shoulder? I took a copy of Sports Illustrated. I tried to start a conversation with Annie. "I don't keep up with sports," she said in a soft Southern accent without breaking rhythm with the scissors. We ended up talking about how much nicer it was to cut men's hair than to work in a beauty shop and about Annie's background. A native of Albermarle, N.C., she found barbering schools in North Carolina closed to her in 1964. She moved to Houston, Tex., where she got her diploma and worked for awhile. One thing about Annie, she may not know much about football, but she has soft hands and doesn't pop your head around like she was changing a tire, as some men barbers do. As I prepared to leave I caught some of her conversation with her next customer. "Yes, we went to the mountains to see the leaves," she said. I wonder if an old, yellow dog lies on his back outside the shop in Broken Arrow sunning his belly, and if that picture of the scantily clad blonde is still on the wall.

Taking Blood Pressure

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why is it that no doctor or nurse seems able to get a blood pressure reading from my right arm? The only thing the doctors have told me is, "Don't worry about it." I do not think that is an acceptable answer. I am 76 — F.H.P. You didn't mention how long this has been so, but if you aren't having any trouble with the arm — and you don't say so — perhaps the best advice is just that, "Don't worry about it." There are several possible explanations. There may be a congenital defect in the artery serving the arm, or there may be pressure on the artery from an extra rib on the right side of your neck, or pressure from one of the long muscles in the front of the neck, or even pressure on the artery from a tumor. In the last named case, I am sure you would be having symptoms other than inability to get a blood pressure reading. As to the others, I would have to assume that, since the arm remains healthy, enough collateral circulation has built up so the arm gets adequate blood flow — but you do not have a strong pulsing of blood through the main artery. Evidently the various doctors agree that lack of a blood pressure reading does NOT indicate that your right arm is not getting enough blood flow from other sources. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you send me a booklet on angina pectoris? What causes it? Is there any cure? My husband has it and it seems to require oxygen, and also takes medication for pain. Why does he require oxygen? — B.C. Angina is a weakness of the heart, with pain resulting when the heart is called upon to do more work (pump more blood) than it comfortably can. Oxygen isn't customarily needed, although keep in mind that one of the services performed by the circulation of blood is distributing oxygen throughout the body. Your husband may, of course, have some other problem (such as emphysema) in addition to the angina. It is a common but not a simple affliction, so you would do well to read my booklet on "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." This is available to anyone by mail; just mail 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald and ask for the booklet on angina. Dear Dr. Thosteson: A man in a health food store bought a large amount of a product known as sea salt. I asked him what for, and he said if you have a water-retention problem, it keeps it away. I have been on a salt free diet for several years, and if what this man said were true, why don't doctors recommend it instead of salt substitutes, since this product tastes like real salt? — Mrs. M.A.N. Because sea salt IS real salt, and it WON'T prevent water retention. It will make it worse. High blood pressure can be controlled. To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, get "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. To obtain a copy of this helpful booklet, write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Binding The Wounds

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — After every war you must have someone to bind the country's wounds. The man in the Nixon Administration in charge of binding wounds is Dr. Friedrich Feldkamp who has his offices and operating room in the basement of the White House. DR. FELDKAMP was gracious enough to see me between operations. "How are you doing, Doctor?" "It's very difficult," he said. "I would have no trouble binding the wounds if it weren't for 'Them.'" "Who are 'They'?" "YOU KNOW very well who 'They' are," Dr. Feldkamp said. "The ones who wanted us to bug out in Vietnam. The ones who refuse to give the President credit for achieving a peace with honor. The ones who are demanding amnesty for the draft-dodgers and deserters. How can I bind the wounds of the country when 'They' keep attacking us?" "YOU'RE A doctor," I said. "Surely you can figure out some way of binding the wounds of the country in spite of the differences of opinion." "It takes two parties to heal wounds. Why should we bind the wounds if 'They' won't?" Dr. Feldkamp replied angrily. "I am very sympathetic with your position," I said, "but it seems to me the binding of wounds after a war has to come from the top. If you people refuse to bind the wounds, they will still be there." "I WOULD like to remind you," Dr. Feldkamp said, "that we didn't make those wounds. If 'They' had kept their mouths shut, the war would have been over four years ago. 'They' opened the wounds so, by gosh, let them suffer for a while." "If you're not willing to bind those wounds, what wounds are you willing to bind?" "We'll bind any wounds in the country providing 'They' say we were right in what we were doing, that there was no other way of doing it and if we had to do it again, those who disagreed with us would support us. That's what the President calls 'going the extra mile.'" THE DOOR opened and the nurse rushed in. "Doctor, we have a bad wound outside. It has to do with reparations for North Vietnam. The people want to know why we're sending blood to Vietnam when so many people are bleeding at home." "I can't bind that one," the doctor said, "unless we raise taxes, and we're not about to do that." The nurse walked out and Dr. Feldkamp said to me, "Everyone expects miracles." ## Pros, Cons Of Nursing Homes Aired By BSP

STANTON (SC) — Advantages and drawbacks of rest homes were discussed by Mu Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Monday evening in Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Billy Hendricks, administrator and co-owner of Mountain View Lodge, Big Spring, was guest speaker.

He outlined phases of nursing home operation, including rules, regulations, facilities and services. Members of the group agreed a rest home is needed in Stanton, and that such a facility would help Stanton Hospital because there would be residents from surrounding areas who would, in turn, use the hospital.

Carol Anderson presided, and the chapter contributed $10 to the BSP International Endowment Fund. Members are selling the book, "Beta Sigma Phi Party Ideas," for $3.50.

Jami Rhodes won the attendance prize. Plans were made for a Hawaiian party for rushers March 5.

Genealogy Research Simplified

Determining the relationship of descendants, using the common or canon law method, was explained by Mrs. John Damron Thursday evening during a meeting of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring.

She placed emphasis on the importance of counting the generations to each descendant from the nearest progenitor in order to determine the relationship of the descendants. A question and answer session followed, and Mrs. Damron distributed charts to members to add to their genealogical aids.

Miss Bernice Cason presided as plans were initiated for a field trip and a workshop. Miss Sue Faulkenberry was a guest.

The next meeting will be March 8 in the Howard County Library.

Say Goodbye

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a divorced man for two years now. He has a child by his ex-wife, and my problem is that he keeps reminding me in no uncertain terms that his child will always come first. I just can't accept this. I don't think any woman could. We have had several very serious arguments over this. He tells me he loves me, then he quickly reminds me that his child will always come first. (This child lives with his ex-wife, but he has generous visitation rights.)

After he's had a few drinks he talks about marriage, and I think he really means it, but when it comes to setting a date, he has so many reasons why he has to wait.

There's only one big problem, Abby. I really love this man in spite of everything. So what should I do?

DEAR FOOLISH: I'll tell him your name isn't Abby.

Visits In Odessa — Mrs. FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. John Cardwell is in Odessa for the weekend to visit her son-in-law and daughter, the Travis Briehaupt.

"Avis," and you don't intend to try harder because you're Number Two. I respect a divorced parent who considers his child, but the closest, most enduring relationship of all is the husband-wife relationship. Kiss the man goodbye before he heats you to it. He's trying to discourage you.

DEAR ABBY: Those meat-eaters who throw a fit about harvesting wildlife have got to be some of the biggest hypocrites of all time.

Just where do they think beef, pork and mutton come from? Anybody who's raised a 4-H calf or nursed along an animal or an orphan lamb knows that these animals are every bit as lovable as the majestic buck or graceful doe.

How much kinder is death from a hit on the head with a sledge hammer than a bullet? All meat eaters are guilty.

In case you're wondering, I eat meat. And no, I don't hunt. And yes, I love animals (present population, one dog, four cats, six horses, and one pig).

Ex-POW And Wife Renew Nuptial Vows

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Army Capt. Johnnie Ray and his wife, Dorothy, have renewed their marriage vows Wednesday, as she puts it, it was as if the former POW "were dead and now he's alive."

Ray, 25, from Pauls Valley, Okla., emerged last week from a Viet Cong prison camp and was flown to the Army's Brooke Army Medical Center here to be reunited with his family.

Mrs. Ray, the mother of three, felt she might not see her husband again when the Army listed him as missing in action after the South Vietnam unit he was advising was overrun April 1972, in Tay Nin province, South Vietnam.

The brief ceremony in the Ft. Sam Houston chapel was "mostly her idea" and Mrs. Ray, 22, bought a new white wedding dress for it, said Army Chaplain Robert Howerton of Mountain Home, Ark. She said she was as nervous as when she and Johnnie Ray were first married four and one-half years ago, the chaplain said. At Ray's right hand was Army Sgt. Ken Wallingford, another Viet Cong captive who officials said had an adjoining "cage" in the same camp as Ray and was released at the same time. In the small audience was a third ex-POW now at Brooke Army Medical center, Specialist Albert of Thibodaux, La.

Ray himself appeared as nervous as if it were his first time at the altar. He smiled when his slender brunette wife appeared at the chapel door and she smiled at him later when she looked into his face and began to repeat her vows. "She said it was as though he was dead and now he's alive. She even used the word 'resurrection,'" according to Howerton, who counseled the Baptist couple beforehand. "She was anxious for God to bless their reunion," said the chaplain.

Asked if the couple plan a second honeymoon, the chaplain said, "I'm sure they do."

Activities In Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — The L. S. Camps have returned from Odessa following a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Boyd Brawley who has been ill.

Weekend guests of Mrs. M. M. Fairchild were her son, Dan Fairchild; her daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Digby; and Teresa Digby, all of Odessa.

Attending funeral services in Graham for Mrs. Sam Ragland, mother of Mrs. A. L. Hawkins, a former Forsan resident, were Mrs. J. W. Overton, Mrs. John Cardwell, Mrs. T. R. Camp, Mrs. H. H. Story and the T. T. Henrys. The Henrys went to Rising Star to visit relatives before returning home.

The J. L. Overton family was in Fort Worth recently where the children showed lambs in the fat stock show.

Mrs. H. H. Story has returned from Lubbock where she visited her brother, Wallace Stockton, a patient at Methodist Hospital.

Mrs. L. B. McElrath has returned from Austin where she spent several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Al White, who underwent back surgery. Her grandson, Buster White, also had surgery. While en route, Mrs. McElrath visited her brother and family, the O. W. Smiths; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Fry; and a brother-in-law and family, the Raymond McElraths, all of Coleman.

Baptist Association Slates Youth Music Festival Here

By MARJ CARPENTER Churches in the Big Spring Baptist Association will enter choirs, groups and individuals in the annual associational youth music festival Monday 7 p.m. at College Baptist Church. The public is invited.

At least five churches will have 16 entries, according to Dan McClinton, Baptist Temple music director and associational music leader. These will include the grade choirs such as children, youth, adults, also ensembles, and individuals in solos and hymn playing.

Judges from Odessa and Abilene will rate the choirs, groups and individuals according to a standard. There is no competitive rating.

Those earning superior rankings — particularly the children and youth choirs — are eligible to advance to the state festivals.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS of Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, Inc. (TANE), in Dallas today named Rev. R. R. Holton executive director to succeed Rev. Albert F. Tucker, who is retiring after 20 years in that position.

Holton, a Baptist minister, was associate executive director for the past 12 years. He started with TANE as a speaker the same year that Tucker, a named honorary vice president, actively on the boards of Methodist minister, became of the TANE press division executive director after 21 years in the pastorate. Tucker was time basis. He will also continue International Reform Federa-

COLORFUL REMEMBRANCE — Members of the board remembered Miss Arah Phillips' birthday Thursday with a portable television set. This was in appreciation of 13 years she has given as the principal of Jack & Jill School, operated as an adjunct to the First Church of God, 2009 Main. Miss Phillips gave her time to directing the school even before her retirement as director of physical education for women at H.C.J. Making the presentation are the Rev. Edwin Beasley, pastor, and Andrew Dickson, member of the board for the school.

'Now Clap Your Hands Or Simply Honk Your Horn'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL Associated Press Staff Writer

Church authorities are taking a harder look at the youthful Jesus movement and find some of its methods shallow, devious and potentially harmful. Its energies also seem to be running out in some areas.

"The danger is that many young people may be so scarred by their experience that they will be 'burnt out' as far as future religious experience goes," concluded the Rev. Laurence Murphy, a Roman Catholic, after a special study of the movement.

Another critique came from a Protestant theologian, the Rev. Walter R. Beach, of Washington, D.C., who pointed out that the "Jesus people," in shunning the organized church, are ignoring a key teaching of Jesus himself.

Jesus stressed the importance of the church, Dr. Beach said, adding: "Apart from his intention to form a church, the events recorded in the Biblical Book of Acts are unintelligible." That book describes formation of the church.

Father Murphy, director of the U.S. Catholic Conference's division of higher education in Washington, said the movement is "frequently antirational," frequently very manipulative, and "often utterly naive."

A "very simplistic mentality" is found throughout much of the movement, he said, suggesting that it is "easy to be saved if you love Jesus, clap your hands or honk your horn." The focus is on "feelings, emotions, 'experiences' 'charismatic' leaders use techniques to persuade and even to coerce young people," he added. "They manipulate their emotional needs... and at times quite knowingly use the Bible dishonestly."

Dr. Beach, field secretary of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, pointed out that the Jesus movement largely rejects the organized churches.

Jesus, in voicing his objective of founding "my church," said: "The powers of death will not prevail against it."

Nevertheless, Dr. Beach said, organized Christianity might well follow one example of the Jesus people in going "into the market place, into the arena of the world's activity, where people are."

Then in September, Lutheran ministers from Stephenville and Cleburne began organizing a Lutheran congregation here. Twelve Lutheran families who previously had to drive to Stephenville, Cleburne, Weatherford or Fort Worth to worship, met with the two ministers.

"They asked us if we would like to have a church here," Swenson says, "and we said, 'Yes, we would.' It was up to us to get a meeting place."

So Swenson and others contacted a Presbyterian elder and received permission to use the sanctuary also.

"Eventually we will build a church," says Swenson, formerly a member of a Fort Worth church. "We don't know how soon it will be. It depends on how many members we can get."

The Catholics also plan to build their own church some day. They have purchased property west of town but don't expect to build for a few years.

A graduate of Wayland Baptist College, Holton did graduate work at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and studied at the Institute of Scientific Studies for the Prevention of Alcoholism, and the National Temperance Training School. He has helped direct the TANE-Baylor Seminar on Alcohol and Narcotics Studies annually for the past 14 years at Baylor University in Waco.

TANE is supported financially by churches of some 19 denominations, business, industry, and individual contributions. Its purpose is to prevent alcohol and drug problems through education. Programs include a 202-man speakers bureau, public school assembly programs, teacher training workshops, publishing books, production of audio visual education kits and other materials for all school grades, a free film lending library provides films for schools and churches in Texas, legislative information service, research, and public information. TANE last year answered requests for information from some 2,000 students and 3,000 teachers.

Sherman Given Probated Terms

Joe Sherman Jr., 36, pleaded guilty to three counts of subsequent offense driving while intoxicated and one felony worthless check indictment Thursday afternoon.

District Judge R. W. Caton probated the four five-year sentences. Although the terms of probation will run concurrent, Caton said the defendant could be sentenced to five, ten, fifteen or twenty years if the probation is revoked.

Indictments say Sherman was first convicted of driving while intoxicated in Gaines County in April, 1964. He was convicted Thursday afternoon of subsequent driving while intoxicated offenses dated Oct., 1970, May, 1972, and April, 1972.

Sherman also was convicted passing a worthless check at Pinkie's East Store in June, 1970.

Snow Chills Plains Area

By The Associated Press

Accumulated snow chilled the Panhandle-Plains sector today although skies had started clearing in that part of Texas.

A little more snow, piling nearly 8 inches deep in places, fell during the night before the overcast lifted, and light rain, drizzle or fog slowly tapered off over most areas east of a line from Wichita Falls to Del Rio.

Some of the heaviest snowfall mantled the South Plains, where 7.5 inches accumulated west of Lamesa. Lubbock measured 6.5 inches and Plainview 6 inches. The National Weather Service reported amounts from 3 to 6 inches were common.

Where it wasn't snowing it was raining. Every reporting station measured moisture Thursday. Midland's .64 inch was the largest.

Because of the snow cover, travel advisories remained in force today for the West Texas areas west of the Pecos River.

Early morning temperatures dropped to 17 degrees at Plainview and 18 at Lubbock. Other points in the freezing zone were Wichita Falls 23, Amarillo and Dalhart 24, Childress 27, Wink 29 and Midland 31.

Readings in other sections ranged up to 50 at McAllen and 51 at Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Out-Of-State Farmers Come Calling Saturday

Out of state farmers are flying to area counties Saturday as part of 140 Farmers Union members coming to Texas counties with Farmers Union groups.

Area counties expecting guests include Martin, Mitchell, Glasscock, Dawson, Midland, Runnels and Lubbock.

Through a Farmers Union program, these farmers are coming at their own expense to participate in membership drives and to view Texas farming practices.

"Most of them never have seen cotton," Ronnie Deatherage, president of the Martin County Farmers Union, said.

H. A. Duge, president of the Dawson County Farmers Union, said out-of-state agricultural men have come to West Texas three times through this program in recent years.

Three farmers from the Dakotas will be met at the Lubbock airport at 11:30 a.m. Saturday and will stay with Martin County families until Tuesday.

First, they will enjoy a dinner and tour the Plains Cotton Grower Gin in Lubbock Sunday, the Dakotans will tour Martin County Monday and Tuesday, they will participate in a Farmers Union membership drive.

While in Martin County, they will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Butch Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tate, Tarzan, and Mr. and Mrs. Deatherage, Lenora.

Two out-of-state farmers planning to visit Dawson County will fly to Abilene Saturday morning. Duke is waiting for more details about the visitors, but mentioned similar plans for three times through this program in recent years.

Computerization Helps In Legislative Fight

During the 62nd Legislature (1971-72), over 3,000 bills were considered in the Texas House of Representatives alone — more than double any other session's total. That number is expected to rise by some 50 percent during this 140 day session.

But the Texas House has made a major breakthrough in solving the problems of recording the legislation in the daily House Journal.

That breakthrough is computerization.

The State of Texas is one of the first states in the nation to use computers in the daily routine of legislative business.

For one bill to become law is a complicated process. It first must be introduced to the legislative body and referred to committee where the bill is debated in public hearing. The committee must refer the bill back to the membership where the issue is discussed by the body before the majority may vote for or against it. If it passes one house (either the House or the Senate), it must then travel to the other to undergo the same process. When it passes there by a majority, it then goes to the Governor for his signature or veto.

The status of a bill — where it stands in this lawmaking process — must be followed daily. "Without computers," Jeanette Burk, House Journal clerk, explains, "we spent many hours during the session and the interim deciphering the entire journey of each bill. Now the computers tell us instantly."

How the computers may further expedite work is noted in the hang-over from the previous session. The staff is still working to compile the bound volumes from the regular and four called sessions during 1971-72, and months more may be required to complete the job. After the current session, however, Mrs. Burk expects that computers will print out and index the journal in four or five months.
